- History cannot change – so, in God’s plan what does change? Our hearts/minds/characters
- What did Adam’s choice do to human history?
- What course was humanity on as God created them?
- What course after Adam sinned?
- God also intervened, introducing a new element, to alter the natural course of history that Adam’s choice set in motion. What did God do?
- Does that give us a new history?

Turn to THURSDAY's lesson, read third paragraph, "The whole doctrine..."

Thoughts?

Does God cancel our history? Does He rewrite history? Does He erase our history and rewrite in the record books of heaven his history? Do we all suddenly remember being born in Bethlehem in a manger?

Do you find this expressed in the most clear and effective way?

Why do you think they take the tack of changing our history?

We have been hammering this theme, but it is at the root of all these misconceptions – if you accept that God's law is imposed, and therefore the imposer of law in order to be just, must impose punishment for breaking the law. Then, the just imposer of punishment, must have an accurate record, or history of your crimes/sins, so that proper punishment can be carried out. Justice, in this system requires all crimes/sins to be punished, so if any unpaid crime remains God would have to inflict punishment, so we must have the records changed to show our crimes erased, less we still be punished.

But all this fantasy arises because of accepting Imperial Rome's version of law. Once we realize God's laws are the laws He built His universe to run upon, like the laws of health, then we realizes the records don't get erased but stand, what changes is the heart/mind/character of the sinner, who has sinfulness erased out of the heart. But the recorded history of the universe will stand.

The history of our lives will stand. And it is this history that makes what God did so much more powerful in healing and transforming us.

The lesson points out that our lives run in a line, or are linear. Is God's existence linear? In other words, is God confined within the constraints of time, does He live within the flow of time, or is God outside the bounds of time?

Any inspiration to give insight into this?

- “I am the Alpha and the Omega,” says the Lord God, “who is, and who was, and who is to come, the Almighty.” Rev 1:8
- I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. Rev 21:6
- I am the Alpha and the Omega, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the End. Rev 22:13

One of the founders of our church saw it this way:

I Am means an eternal presence; the past, present, and future are alike to God. He sees the most remote events of past history, and the far distant future with as clear a vision as we do those things that are transpiring daily. We know not what is before us, and if we did, it would not contribute to our eternal welfare. God gives us an opportunity to exercise faith and trust in the great I AM (Lt 119, 1895). {1BC 1099.5}

What is the significance of this?

- What would it mean if God were constrained to a linear existence?
 - Would He then have some power which limited Him in some way?
 - Would He truly be master of everything or would time be over Him?
 - Would He be able to tell the future accurately?
 - Would He be able to apply Christ’s achievements to those who lived before Christ?
- If God is outside time, what would this mean?

- That He created time and is outside of and over the flow of time
- He can control time, thus stop the sun in its orbit to lengthen the day for Joshua, or slow time down or speed time up, or create time dilation fields in which time moves faster in one place than another. Thus, 6000 years may pass on earth, while 6 days pass in heaven, so God is not slow in keeping His promises.
- We recognize more of the sacrifice Christ made when He assumed humanity, He stepped into time and lives a linear existence
- He can take all Christ achieved and apply it to all who trust Him no matter where in time.
- He can predict accurately the decisions of all people because he sees them happening or does God not know the choices and is only a good calculator ---

Back to SUNDAY

Read fourth paragraph, “We are talking...” thoughts?

Does God know only the “possible” choices humans can and will make, or the actual choices they will make?

In other words does God know all the possible choices of all persons of all time and all the possible consequences, but doesn't know exactly which choices will be made until the person makes them, or does He know the actual choices before they are made?

I believe this view limits God to a linear existence, but with an infinite brain and thus He is a great cosmic calculator, but is constrained within the flow of time.

If we believe God is outside the flow of time then it makes sense He can observe the freewill decisions of beings in what is our future and know how events will unfold.

What evidence do we have either way?

- The number of ark's to build – how did He know only 8 would get on? Or was the preaching of Noah a fraud?
- The prediction of what choosing to have kings would do to the people of Israel
- The prophecies of Daniel
- Calling Cyrus by name 150 years before Cyrus was born to be the ruler to let Israel go
- Malachi prophecy of John the Baptist being the forerunner of Christ

MONDAY

Read second and third paragraph, “The reader...” thoughts?

First question – do we have evidence from history that history and the Bible harmonize? Is there archeological evidence that the Bible is reliable?

- Dead Sea scrolls
 - The Dead Sea Scrolls are perhaps the greatest archaeological find of our time. Produced by Jewish monastic Essenes, the scrolls number about 800; 200 of which are of biblical material. In 1947, shepherds discovered them quite by accident in caves above the Wadi Qumran Valley, northwest of the Dead Sea. A few of the scholars and archaeologists who contributed to their discovery and verification include E. L. Sukenik, G. Lankester Harding, Roland G. de Vaux, Yigael Yadin and William F. Albright.
 - The Dead Sea Scrolls contain at least fragments of every book in the Old Testament except the book of Esther. More than ten scrolls were beautifully preserved intact including two copies of Isaiah. 1 Professor Millar Burrows of Yale University assigns these copies to the first century BC. Johns Hopkins University Professor William F. Albright places them more conservatively in the second century BC.²

- These copies of Isaiah, written 1,000 years earlier than the previously oldest known copies have proven to be "word for word identical with our standard Hebrew Bible in more than 95 percent of the text. The five percent of variation consisted chiefly of obvious slips of the pen and variations in spelling. [emphasis mine] " ³

Do the decisions of humans have a role to play in the shaping of history?

- Or is God forcing people to make decisions the way He wants?
- Or is God making decisions and changing people's memories about what happened?

How do you balance God's foreknowledge, sovereignty and human free will choices in the forging of history?

Could Jonah give us an example?

Have you ever wondered why God called Jonah to be His messenger to Nineveh? Jonah hated the Ninevites. He didn't want to go, in fact ran away when God told him to go.

Could all of this been known to God before God made His choice, and God incorporated his knowledge of Jonah's choices into why He chose Jonah?

- Do you ever do this? Do you ever anticipate a person's choices and incorporate your belief about what they will do into a choice or action you are going to take? Does your anticipation of their choice, and utilizing that information in your choice, take away their free choice?

If we assume God knows how a person will choose, then it could very well be like this:

- God looks down upon Nineveh and sees how selfishness is running out of control.
- God loves these people and wants to turn them around, yet they are in darkness about God and worship a pagan God, Dagon – the God of the fish.
- God wants to send a message of salvation, a message to repent – who does God choose? To whom will the people of Nineveh listen?
- God looks at Jonah, looks at how Jonah will respond, sees his refusal to go and his running to the sea and God says – That is exactly who I need! (And remember Jonah is already a prophet, who has dedicated Himself to God to be God’s man, used as a soldier in God’s cause).
- So God calls Jonah – and Jonah freely chooses to flee to the sea.
- God uses His power to bring a great storm, which causes Jonah to be thrown into the sea
- God uses His power to direct a great fish to swallow Jonah, and swim to the shore near Nineveh and vomit Jonah up
- Perhaps, some persons from Nineveh were nearby, and what would they have seen? A giant fish coughing up Jonah, who then goes to the city and tells the people who worship the fish God to repent – and they do.

In this story, does God violate anyone’s free will? Does He use His knowledge to orchestrate events to bring about healing and His will, all within the bounds of free will? Did His knowledge of future events restrict the liberty of Jonah?

Do our choices then play a role in the shaping of history?

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “Of course...” This is well said, “love that is forced cannot be love.”

So, understanding this, can God, at anytime say, “If you don’t respond to my love, by loving surrender to me, I will be forced by holiness and justice to kill you?”

Do you see the fundamental problem with the idea that God must inflict suffering, punishment and death upon those who don’t surrender to Him? It destroys love and incites rebellion.

The lesson recounts the prophecies of Daniel, the rise and falls of kingdoms and then, in paragraph four states, “The amazing...” thoughts?

How did He know it way in advance? In advance of who? In advance of us, but not in advance of Himself – He lives outside the flow of time and thus He has already observed/experienced the victory over sin, which is yet in our future.

How does God interact with human free will to bring about decisions for His cause?

Read Daniel 10:12-14, 20,21

¹² Then he continued, “Do not be afraid, Daniel. Since the first day that you set your mind to gain understanding and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard, and I have come in response to them. ¹³ But the prince of the Persian kingdom resisted me twenty-one days. Then Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, because I was detained there with the king of Persia. ¹⁴ Now I have come to explain to you what will happen to your people in the future, for the vision concerns a time yet to come.”

²⁰ So he said, “Do you know why I have come to you? Soon I will return to fight against the prince of Persia, and when I go, the prince of Greece will come; ²¹ but first I will tell you what is written in the Book of Truth. (No one supports me against them except Michael, your prince.

What do you understand is going on in this section?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “No matter...” thoughts?

What are those two antagonistic principles?

How are they revealed through history?

How are they revealed today, in our community, in our lives?

Read paragraphs 4-6, “Satanic agencies...” thoughts

Do you agree with this description? What do you find noteworthy?

First, who killed Christ at the Cross?

What did the Father do to Christ at the Cross?

What do we learn from this regarding the two antagonistic principles?

What do you make of the idea that angels still didn’t comprehend all that was involved – what more was to be revealed regarding the two antagonistic principles?

- That God’s principles applied to the lives of sinners, transforms and heals
 - Paul changed from wanting to stone, to wanting to give his life for others

- Rev 12:11 they do not love life so much as to shrink from death
- That Satan's principles unrestrained, destroy everything

Any other thought on what is more to be revealed?

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, "Our sins have been..." thoughts?

What do you hear? What does this mean?

How did Jesus become our sin bearer?

He who could have doomed His enemies to death bore with their cruelty. His love for His Father, and His pledge, made from the foundation of the world, to become the Sin Bearer, led Him to endure uncomplainingly the coarse treatment of those He came to save. It was a part of His mission to bear, in His humanity, all the taunts and abuse that men could heap upon Him. The only hope of humanity was in this submission of Christ to all that He could endure from the hands and hearts of men. {DA 700.5}

Is this what it means to bear our sins?

Could it mean simply that he endured what our sinfulness brought with it and overcame restoring mankind to its perfect original ideal?

In quoting the prophecy of the rejected stone, Christ referred to an actual occurrence in the history of Israel. The incident was connected with the building of the first temple. While it had a special application at the time of Christ's first advent, and should have appealed with special force to the Jews, it has also a lesson for us. When the temple of Solomon was erected, the immense stones for the walls and the foundation were entirely prepared at the quarry; after they were brought to the place of building, not an instrument was to be used upon them; the workmen had only to place them in position. For use in the foundation, one stone of unusual size and peculiar shape had been brought; but the workmen could find no place for it, and would not accept it. It was an annoyance to them as it lay unused in their way. Long it remained a rejected stone. But when the builders came to the laying of the corner, they searched for a long time to find a stone of sufficient size and strength, and of the proper shape, to take that particular place, and bear the great weight which would rest upon it. Should they make an unwise choice for this important place, the safety of the entire building would be endangered. They must find a stone capable of resisting the influence of the sun, of frost, and of tempest. Several stones had at different times been chosen, but under the pressure of immense weights they had crumbled to pieces. Others could not bear the test of the sudden atmospheric changes. But at last attention was called to the stone so long rejected. It had been exposed to the air, to sun and storm, without revealing the slightest crack. The builders examined this stone. It had borne every test but one. If it could bear the test of severe pressure, they decided to accept it for the cornerstone. The trial was made. The stone was accepted, brought to its assigned position, and found to be an exact fit. In prophetic vision, Isaiah was shown that this stone was a symbol of Christ. He says: {DA 597.5}

"Sanctify the Lord of hosts Himself; and let Him be your fear, and let Him be your dread. And He shall be for a sanctuary; but for a stone of stumbling and for a rock of offense to both the houses of Israel, for a gin and for a snare to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And many among them shall stumble, and fall, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken." Carried down in prophetic vision to the first advent, the prophet is shown that Christ is to bear trials and tests of which the treatment of the chief cornerstone in the temple of Solomon was symbolic. "Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious cornerstone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste." Isa. 8:13-15; 28:16. {DA 598.1}

What was the purpose of these tests and trials which Christ was to bear? Why was He "bearing" it? Was it for the purpose of healing and transforming mankind back into God's original ideal? And is this depicted in the Biblical metaphor of building the Temple in heaven?

Tell him this is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the LORD. ¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the LORD, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.' Zechariah 6:12,13.

He bore our iniquity, sinfulness, selfishness, and bore up under the external infliction of what sinful does to another, and overcame the internal temptation to act in self interest that comes our fallen humanity, in order to heal and restore humanity back into unity with God!

Is there any way the idea of Christ bearing our sins can be presented that misrepresents what Jesus did and also misrepresents God's character?

How might that be?

Glimpses of Our God Lesson 10 1Q 2012

The Promise of Prayer

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, quote from Steps to Christ, "Our heavenly Father waits..." thoughts?

What is God's attitude toward hearing our prayers?

What is prayer?

Dictionary definition:

a (1) : an address (as a petition) to God or a god in word or thought <said a prayer for the success of the voyage> (2) : a set order of words used in praying

b : an earnest request or wish

Thoughts?

Do you have a definition of your own?

Here is how one of the founders of our church described prayer:

Our life is to be bound up with the life of Christ; we are to draw constantly from Him, partaking of Him, the living Bread that came down from heaven, drawing from a fountain ever fresh, ever giving forth its abundant treasures. If we keep the Lord ever before us, allowing our hearts to go out in thanksgiving and praise to Him, we shall have a continual freshness in our religious life. Our prayers will take the form of a conversation with God as we would talk with a friend. He will speak His mysteries to us personally. Often there will come to us a sweet joyful sense of the presence of Jesus. Often our hearts will burn within us as He draws nigh to commune with us as He did with Enoch. When this is in truth the experience of the Christian, there is seen in his life a simplicity, a humility, meekness, and lowliness of heart, that show to all with whom he associates that he has been with Jesus and learned of Him. {COL 129.3}

What do you think of the definition of prayer as conversation with a friend?

In order to have such an interaction what would be necessary? Can you have conversation as with a friend, with a stranger? Would it be necessary to get to know a person before we converse with them like a friend?

When we get to know a person, do we suddenly make an intentional choice to talk differently to them, or as we get to know them do we find our conversation becomes more open, intimate and interactive?

What happens in a relationship if you do all the talking but never stop to let the other respond?

I have many patients who pray daily, but they never stop to listen to God.

How do we listen to God?

- Reading His Word
- Meditating upon nature
- Listening to His Spirit, the still small voice
- Contemplating history, recent events, circumstances of life and God's character and principles
- Remaining open to truth
- Studying the Word with others

What do you find most helpful in getting to know God?

SUNDAY

The title is "The Power of Prayer"

During a recent US Presidential race, the candidates were in a debate and a reporter asked one if he believed in the power of prayer. His answer was, "No, but I pray every day."

Think about this answer – What was the point of this answer? To try and not offend anyone – to win the agnostics by saying he didn't believe in prayer, so don't believe in God, and to win those who do by saying, nevertheless, I pray.

If you were asked, do you believe in the power of prayer, what would you have said?

Does it depend upon to whom one is praying?

What is the power of prayer?

Read first and second paragraphs, “One day...” thoughts?

This is well said, - one of the powers, perhaps the primary power, prayer has is on the one praying. Prayer changes the person who prays. So, is it important to be sure to whom we are praying?

Do all Christians pray to the same God?

When Jesus said, “they will come to me in the last day and say, Lord Lord...” to whom is He referring? Is He referring to agnostics and atheists? No, He is referring to people who are claiming to be praying to Him, these are professed Christians, but He never knew them.

How can this be? How can a person pray to Jesus and yet not be a Christian?

In rejecting the truth, men reject its Author. In trampling upon the law of God, they deny the authority of the Law-giver. It is as easy to make an idol of false doctrines and theories as to fashion an idol of wood or stone. By misrepresenting the attributes of God, Satan leads men to conceive of Him in a false character. With many, a philosophical idol is enthroned in the place of Jehovah; while the living God, as He is revealed in His word, in Christ, and in the works of creation, is worshiped by but few. Thousands deify nature while they deny the God of nature. Though in a different form, idolatry exists in the Christian world today as verily as it existed among ancient Israel in the days of Elijah. The god of many professedly wise men, of philosophers, poets, politicians, journalists--the god of polished fashionable circles, of many colleges and universities, even of some theological institutions--is little better than Baal, the sun-god of Phoenicia. {GC 583.1}

Thoughts?

Do you believe it is possible to hold to false ideas about God, while using the right name for God, thus be worshipping a false god?

Notice, she states that it is by trampling upon God's law that one misrepresents God's character and creates a false picture of God.

What do you understand God's law to be?

- Love does no harm to its neighbor. Therefore love is the fulfillment of the law. Romans 13:10
- The entire law is summed up in a single command: "Love your neighbor as yourself." Galatians 5:14
- If you really keep the royal law found in Scripture, "Love your neighbor as yourself," you are doing right. James 2:8
- Jesus replied: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments." Matt 22:37-40
- The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul. Ps 19:7
- Our only definition of sin is that given in the word of God; it is "the transgression of the law;" it is the outworking of a principle at war with the great law of love which is the foundation of the divine government. GC 493
 - An outworking of a principle, not a specific behavior!
- The law of God, from its very nature, is unchangeable. It is a revelation of the will and the character of its Author. God is love, and His law is love. Its two great principles are love to God and love to man. "Love is the fulfilling of the law" (Rom. 13:10). The character of God is righteousness and truth; such is the nature of His law. Says the psalmist: "Thy law is the truth"; "all thy commandments are righteousness" (Ps. 119:142, 172). And the apostle Paul declares: "The law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good" (Rom. 7:12). Such a law, being an expression of the mind and will of God, must be as enduring as its Author. {Reflecting Christ 46.5}

- Why is the law unchangeable?
- Because life is constructed to operate upon it
- Because it is not imposed, but an expression of the Creator
- But turning from all lesser representations, we behold God in Jesus. Looking unto Jesus we see that it is the glory of our God to give. "I do nothing of Myself," said Christ; "the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father." "I seek not Mine own glory," but the glory of Him that sent Me. John 8:28; 6:57; 8:50; 7:18. In these words is set forth the great principle which is the law of life for the universe. All things Christ received from God, but He took to give. So in the heavenly courts, in His ministry for all created beings: through the beloved Son, the Father's life flows out to all; through the Son it returns, in praise and joyous service, a tide of love, to the great Source of all. And thus through Christ the circuit of beneficence is complete, representing the character of the great Giver, the law of life. DA 21

What is God's law? The law of love, which is the template upon which God built His universe. How has this law been changed in the minds of men?

When Constantine converted Christianity changed its idea of God's law from the principle He built life to operate upon, to the Roman concept of law, a set of rules put upon people to govern their behavior and test their obedience. And just as EGW states above, when this change in God's law was accepted, the view of God's character was changed from a being of love, to a universal emperor who must inflict punishment for disobedience.

It was stated that if we change God's law, that we change who we worship and end up worshipping a false god like Baal.

Could modern Christianity, do exactly what Jesus predicted, exactly what the GC predicted and be infected with a distortion of God's law, which changes the character of God in such a way that it becomes Baal worship?

Who was Baal?

Baal was the son of El (i.e. El-ohim or El-Shaddai). He was the god of weather. Often called, 'Almighty' and "Lord of the Earth." Baal was the god who brought rain, thunder, lightening, who fertilized the earth, controlled the sun and brought the harvest. Baal fought the great serpent leviathan as well as battled against Mot, the god of death. And most amazing of all, it was taught that Baal died in his battle with Mot and was resurrected from the dead to bring life to earth. ⁱ

So what was the problem with worshipping a god who was the "husband and protector of Israel," the son of El, who controlled the weather, who brought rain, sunshine, and fertility, who blessed with full harvest, who warred against the great serpent and death, who died and was resurrected to bring life to the earth? What was wrong with this god? What made Baal worship false?

Here is what one Christian writer, and a founder of our church, identifies as the central distortion in Baal worship:

"Determined to keep the people in deception, the priests of Baal continue to offer sacrifices to their gods and to call upon them night and day to refresh the earth. With costly offerings the priests attempt to appease the anger of their gods;"
PK 124.2.

And the Bible confirms this:

"So the prophets prayed louder and cut themselves with knives and daggers, according to their custom, until blood flowed." 1 Kings 18:28 ¹

So what is Baal like? A god who must be appeased!

If you have a law, which is the law of love, the law upon which life is built, and that law gets broken what is the problem?

- Life cannot continue in such a state, breaking the law results in death.

Then what is needed needed?

- Restoration, recreation, renewal, rewriting the law in the heart and mind, putting the person back into harmony with the law of live – which is exactly what Jesus came to do.

If you have a law that is like Rome, imposed upon subjects to control behavior and test obedience, if this law is broken what is the problem?

- The ruling authority is offended, sovereignty is questioned

What is needed?

- Punishment, legal payment, appeasement of the ruling authority

What did Satan attempt to do in regard to how we understand the sacrifice of Christ? Here is what one of the founders of our church states:

¹ Some may attempt to argue that what made Baal worship false was its gross and hedonistic practices. We assert that all such degradation is the outgrowth of worshipping a god who must be appeased, assuaged or propitiated. In the Dark Ages these ugly practices of worshipping such a god were evidenced in the inquisition and burning people at the stake. The gross forms of their worship were the fruit of the real problem, which was accepting a god who had to be paid by sacrifice to grant blessings, a god who would inflict punishment if sacrifices were not brought. And Revelation tells us that those who hold to this view of God will again torture and kill in the name of their god.

- While God has desired to teach men that from His own love comes the Gift which reconciles them to Himself, the archenemy of mankind has endeavored to represent God as one who delights in their destruction. Thus the sacrifices and the ordinances designed of Heaven to reveal divine love have been perverted to serve as means whereby sinners have vainly hoped to propitiate, with gifts and good works, the wrath of an offended God. {PK 685.2}

Does it make a difference if we pray to Jesus or if we pray to Baal?

What if we pray to Baal but call him Jesus?

Does it make a difference if we pray to a God who loved us so much that He gave His life to heal us and save us from our terminal condition, or if we pray to a God who is angry and wrathful and sent His Son, and executed His Son in our place, but if we don't accept that propitiation of blood, then God will kill us?

Are we changed by how we conceive of God?

What is the final message of mercy to lighten the world? The truth about God's character of love! COL 415.

Read third paragraph, "As the person wrote..." thoughts?

Why ask God for something if He already knows we need it?

Why did God take the children of Israel out of Egypt to a dead end at the Red Sea where they could be trapped by Pharaoh's army?

To give them an opportunity to put their trust in Him, so that He could demonstrate His ability to deliver them from everything, even things which appear humanly impossible.

So, why do we pray if God already knows?

Why do you talk with your spouse about stuff your spouse already knows?

If your children win a ball game, and you were watching, on the way home do the kids replay the game with you. “Hey did you see me catch that fly ball? When I stole second I bet you thought they were going to get me didn’t you?” Why do you have such a conversation if you already saw it happen?

Does it do something for the relationship? Do we draw closer to each other by sharing the experience this way? Is there joy that comes when we rejoice together, or bonding that comes when we cry together?

Does God want us to pray (talk with Him) because He wants to share life with us? He wants to bond with us, to have unity with us? Is this why we come to Him even when He already knows?

What about the question of whether our prayers will change what God will do? Or perhaps, if we pray will God help us do something He has explicitly told us not to do or that He doesn’t want us to do?

Maybe – what food did God provide for the children of Israel in the desert? Manna, what did they beg for? Fleshpots of Egypt, what did God want them to eat? Who brought the quail? Why did God bring the quail?

Did God want them to have kings? Did He warn them specifically against it? Who chose their first two kings? God did. Why did God choose their first two kings?

Does this give us pause as we put our requests before God? How are we to bring our requests before God? What about making known our hearts desires, but also saying, “But God, I know you know what is best, if this will be harmful, if this is outside your plan, then don't grant my request, even though I really really want it." "Oh, and if you don't grant it can you give me a clue to understand so I can be at peace?"

What about such a prayer?

Read last paragraph, "No question..." thoughts?

How does prayer work?

- How does conversation work?
- How do relationships work?
- Is this not how prayer works?
- Is prayer not a vehicle of communication within a relationship and it works based on the quality of the relationship – thus the prayer of a righteous man avails much – why?
 - Because the righteous man has a close relationship with God and knows God, which will, 1) affect the quality of the prayer and 2) have a greater resonance with God's methods, principles, cause, goals, purposes and thus God rejoices in such prayers.
 - The prayers of the selfish man, limit God's actions, like a child who begs their parent to give them something the parent knows will harm the child – the parent loves the child, but such a request limits what the parent can do.

If we understand something do we lose faith? Is it that the more ignorant we are the more faith we have, but the more knowledge and experience of God we have the less our faith?

Turn to TUESDAY's lesson – read last paragraph, "To a great degree..." thoughts?

What do you think about this idea? Because we cant see God and cant see our prayers extend to heaven then we have faith? Does that mean when Christ returns and we get to see Him face to face, and have conversation with Him face to face we will say, “Jesus before you came and I couldn’t see you or hear you, I had great faith, but now that I can see you and hear you I don’t have faith any more.”?

Is our faith based on ignorance and lack of understanding or is it just the opposite, the more understanding and evidence the stronger our faith?

MONDAY

The lesson points out that Jesus needed prayer – why?

What does it tell us about Jesus that He needed prayer?

What does it tell us about how Jesus accomplished what He did on earth?

Upon whose power did He rely to overcome temptation?

Was Jesus victorious on earth by the exercise of His own inherent divine power, or by exercising His human brain in a trust relationship with His Father?

Is there a lesson for us?

WEDNESDAY

Read bottom two paragraphs, “Notice, however...” thoughts?

What do you hear? What is it the lesson is trying to say?

Is it true that if we don’t confess we aren’t forgiven, or is it more clear to say if we don’t confess we don’t experience forgiveness?

Does God wait until we confess before He forgives? Or does He forgive first and then we confess and repent in response to His forgiveness?

What evidence from Scripture?

- While we were yet sinners Christ died for us (Rom 5:8) – which came first God’s forgiving love or our repentance
- The kindness of God leads us to repentance (Rom 2:4)
- Those who crucified Christ, Christ forgave, did they ever confess or repent?
- Do heathen gods forgive first or wait until the worshipper confesses with offerings to propitiate the wrath of the offended god and then forgive
- If we say God doesn’t forgive until we confess are we making God out to be like Baal?
- Is asking for forgiveness and repenting from sin the same?
- Pagans ask for forgiveness, do they necessarily repent?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “Someone sits in...” thoughts?

What is wrong with this picture or process?

How does this type of prayer enter religion?

How about someone praying for legal pardon for their sins while they continue to live a sinful life?

Read third paragraph, “If we regard...” thoughts?

What does it mean that “the Lord will not hear us”?

Does it mean He doesn’t actually know what we prayed? Or does it mean when we regard iniquity in our hearts we really don’t want God in our lives or His plan to be actualized in our lives? Thus God reads our hearts intentions and not our words, so He doesn’t listen to what we say, but listens to what our hearts cling to or genuinely choose?

A man who beats his wife and while hitting her tells his wife he only does it because he loves her, does she hear his love? Why not is she deaf? What does she hear? He doesn't love her for his behavior overrules his words.

What this passage means if we cling to known sin, we are saying we don't want freedom from it, no matter what our words say, and God listens to our hearts intents, not our words.

What do you hear in this sentence, "Our own merit will never commend us to the favor of God; it is the worthiness of Jesus that will save us, His blood that will cleanse us; yet we have to a work to do in complying with the conditions of acceptance."

Glimpses of Our God Lesson 12 1Q 2012

Love Stories

SABBATH

Read memory text:

The LORD has appeared of old to me, saying: “Yes, I have loved you with an everlasting love; Therefore with lovingkindness I have drawn you. Jer 31:3

Thoughts about this passage? What do you hear?

Anyone want to share how in their life they have experienced God draw them with lovingkindness?

- God’s acceptance of me after I have fallen, made bad decisions, “sinned” yet, He gently picks me up, bandages my emotional wounds and let’s me know He loves me. I have never experienced God say, “I told you so” or rub my nose in my mistakes – have you?
- Through friends and people who know God and who know my mistakes and yet they still love me and don’t condemn me.
 - One of ways people are often drawn away from the church, is when they have made a mistake, when they have violated their own morals, values, principles, is to be “accepted” by those who don’t believe in God and don’t hold those values, while they feel judged and fear condemnation from people in the church!
- Through my wife, Christie, who shows me God’s love all the time!
- Through numerous events where God has shown His personal interest in my life

Do you hear anything in this passage about how love works?
Does this passage give any insight into what method love uses?

How does God reach us? With lovingkindness! What does that look like?

It reminds me of Romans 2:4 “The kindness of God leads us to repentance.”

Do you believe this is true? Is love always kind? Or is love ever unkind?

Consider discipline –

- If a parent loves their child, will the parent discipline or not discipline?
- Is discipline loving or unloving, kind or unkind?
- Does discipline take away freedom, or assist the child in gaining freedom? How?

So, if love always seeks to draw with loving kindness, can we use this fact as a measuring stick to test certain doctrines or theories taught about God?

Does love use power to inflict harm for the purpose of causing torture, with no hope of recovery?

- A doctor will reduce a dislocated hip, which is quite painful, is the doctor trying to inflict pain?
- Will a doctor, get a whip and beat a terminal patient to death who refuses treatment?
- A loving parent may discipline a child who is disobedient, and the discipline may be painful for the child (and parent)
- But will a loving parent torture and execute a disobedient child?

Does the fact God always acts with lovingkindness rule out certain interpretations of scripture?

Then how do we understand this passage:

And that servant, who knew his lord's will, and made not ready, nor did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes; ⁴⁸but he that knew not, and did things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. And to whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required: and to whom they commit much, of him will they ask the more. Luke 12:47,48

Is this passage suggesting God is using power to inflict torture upon unrepentant sinners at the end of time to punish them for sin?

Does the passage say the servants were killed? Were servants valuable? Did owners of slaves generally kill their slaves who disobeyed?

If we interpret this passage as infliction of punishment to destroy, what does it do to our understanding of God's character of love?

If a man says to a woman, "with lovingkindness have I drawn you" I have pursued you with patience, kindness and love, but if you don't love me, if you don't do as I say, I will beat you until you die." What happens in the heart of the woman?

Can God's kindness lead us to repentance, if He is also saying to us, "if you don't love me I will torture and kill you?"

Why do some insist God is a torturer?

Perhaps it is because of misunderstanding of the divine character, Read first paragraph, "Love, is perhaps..."

Thoughts? What do you think about the way this is stated, "Love, is perhaps, the most readily recalled attribute of God?"

I am not an English professor, so some of you help me out. Is saying “God is love,” the same as saying “love is an attribute of God?”

To me, saying love is an attribute, diminishes God’s character from love, to an admixture of various attributes, “loving” being one attribute among many.

I think this is a fundamental mistake of those who believe God will torture His children in the end. Could it be they see God’s character as something other than love, rather than seeing all aspects of His being, all His “attributes” as expressions of His character of love?

I have heard it expressed like this, “God is not only loving, He is also just.”

Think of this statement, what it means, and how severely it undermines God’s character?

- You and I can be loving, but are we love?
- To change “God is love,” to “God is loving” is an infinite diminishment of God’s character, and then to split His character and say “He is not only loving, He is also just,” diminishes Him further.

Why? Because love is always just, or another way to say it is, justice is an expression of love.

What is Biblical Justice? It is always an expression of selfless love!

- ▶ “Defend the poor and fatherless; Do justice to the afflicted and needy.” (Psalm 82:3)
- ▶ “Wash yourselves clean. Stop all this evil that I see you doing. Yes, stop doing evil and learn to do right. See that justice is done---help those who are oppressed, give orphans their rights, and defend widows.” (Isaiah 1:16-17 – GN)

- ▶ “The LORD is waiting to be kind to you. He rises to have compassion on you. The LORD is a God of justice.”
(Isaiah 30:18 – God’s Word)
- ▶ “This is what the LORD says to the dynasty of David:
‘Give justice each morning to the people you judge! Help those who have been robbed; rescue them from their oppressors.’” (Jeremiah 21:12 – NLT)
 - ▶ What do you hear? Is justice punishing the oppressors, or delivering the oppressed?
 - ▶ The Jewish word for Justice is Tsedaka, and means charity, the giving of your resources, time, energy to help someone else, without expecting something in return.
 - ▶ So Biblical Justice is delivering the oppressed NOT punishing the oppressor!
 - ▶ Where did the idea originate that Justice is punishing the oppressor rather than delivering the oppressed?
 - ▶ Acceptance of Imperial Rome’s change to God’s law
 - ▶ If God’s law is the law upon which life is built, when someone breaks that law, the just or right action to take is to heal them, save them, deliver them.
 - ▶ If we saw a suicidal person jump off a building, it would not be right to seek to punish, them, it would be right to seek to save them.
 - ▶ if we saw a suicidal person hang themselves, i.e. breaking the law of respiration, what would the “just” or “right” action be? Would it be “right” or “just” to punish them or to save them if we could?
 - ▶ But if we accept Imperial Rome’s version of God’s law, as an imposed law, then when the law gets broken we must inflict punishment. In this view God is no longer love, but something else, in the image Satan has cast of a god who is punishing, powers over, an authoritarian being.

Thoughts?

SUNDAY

Describes the first human love relationship – Adam and Eve, who were made in the image of God, and told to be fruitful and multiply.

God designed us to, not only experience emotional love, but physical union within that love relationship.

Why? What does it say about God that He created us this way?

God wants us to experience love, unity, intimacy, trust, peace, joy, pleasure, happiness, all of which is best experienced in relationship.

Why does He want us to experience these things? Because God is love and we are made in His image and when we live in harmony with His methods it is designed to be joyous, pleasurable, fulfilling, rewarding, happy.

How does Satan attack God's design for pleasure?

God designs us to experience pleasure as a result of living in harmony with His methods, design, and natural law.

- If we exercise regularly, we naturally experience endorphins, enkephalins, elevations in dopamine all of which cause elevations in mood
- If we help another person we naturally experience calming of fear circuits and activation of ACC with subsequent increase joy, pleasure, and happiness.

- If we love another person, genuinely we experience dopamine and oxytocin increase, calming of amygdala and peace, joy and pleasure
- Sex, within a healthy selfless marriage, not only brings the physical pleasure, but results in bonding, brain changes with increase oxytocin and dopamine which results in abiding trust, peace, joy, contentment and eradication of anxiety and fear.

How does Satan attack God's design for pleasure?

- By getting people to seek to simulate the pleasure circuits of the brain directly, not as a result of right doing, or a consequence of healthy action.
- Drugs cause an artificial increase in dopamine, without exercise, which damages the pleasure centers of the brain, increases activity in the fear circuits, impairs development of prefrontal cortex, causing us to be more selfish and less able to think rationally.
- Sex, outside a healthy marriage relationship, brings momentary pleasure, but also increased anxiety, worry, fear of rejection, guilt.
- Dominating another person, revenge seeking, can give a momentary sense of gratification and pleasure, but with subsequent fear, worry of retaliation, guilt, fear of getting found out etc.
- Satan's methods bring momentary pleasure, but activation of fear circuits, worsen anxiety, elevate inflammatory cascades, damage body, and ruin character as we become more and more self protective and self focused.

Read the fourth paragraph, "In verse 24..." thoughts?

Question, what happens when a spouse marries, but doesn't leave mother and father, usually emotionally, and continues to put the desires, wishes, feelings, needs, and expectations of the parents ahead of the spouse?

Do healthy relationships, with parents or spouse, result if this occurs?

Why do some people do this? Fear, not love, it is fear of rejection, fear of disappointing someone, fear of hurting someone's feelings, fear of abandonment etc., that motivates such action, not love.

Read bottom green section, "Romantic love..."

What can we do to enhance the likelihood of having healthy, Godly relationships?

1. Healthy relationships require healthy people, the number one action you can take is to, through God's grace, become the healthiest person you can be.
2. Honesty, communicate openly, truthfully in love.
 - a. If wife cooks a meal and you really don't like it, what do you do when she asks? Thank her, love her for her energy to provide, but tell her that that particular dish doesn't stimulate your taste buds in enjoyable ways.
 - b. If she asks you if you like her hair, or a dress, etc. If you don't, tell her. She might be disappointed in the moment, but if you are lovingly honest, when you do tell her she looks great, or you like you hair she will know you mean it.
 - i. Further, if you always say yes, avoid telling her things you don't like, she will lose respect for you and your ideas become meaningless.
 - ii. If you act in fear of your spouse's responses, then you are not acting in love.
3. Affirm each other regularly, purposely find aspects of each other that you genuinely appreciate and tell each other, on a daily basis.
4. Pray and study God's word together
5. Have joint mission, projects, endeavors, hobbies, recreation, share life together.

6. Respect the freedom of the other. If you disagree with your spouse on any aspect of life, diet, TV, church attendance, etc. lovingly share your concerns, but leave them free to make up their own mind. If you restrict liberty, love will be destroyed.
7. Work through problems together, don't try and protect the other by holding back on things that trouble you. All relationships have problems, what defines a relationship is how those problems are handled. If needed get professional counseling.
8. Don't try and fix your spouse, love them, share with them your understanding, ideas, perspectives, including your loving insights about them, but always leave them free to change themselves.

MONDAY

The lesson describes various Biblical romances, Abraham and Sarah, Isaac and Rebekah, Jacob and Rachel, and asks what mistakes were made that caused problems in these relationships?

What mistakes were made?

- Lying
- Bringing other women into the bedroom
- Inequality
- Lack of trust in God
- Others?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Genesis shows..." thoughts?

Would you agree that God's design for human romance is one man and one woman in a marriage relationship, in which children are born? Wasn't the original instruction to be fruitful and multiply? So wasn't it God's design, not only to experience romantic love, but the production of offspring?

How has sin damaged God's original design?

- Polygamy
- Homosexuality
- Celibacy
- Infertility
- Out of marriage sexual relationships
- Adultery
- Pornography
- Paraphelias (pedophilia, voyeurism, frotteurism) etc.
- Forced marriage
- Submission of one spouse to another
- Domestic violence (spouse abuse, physical, emotional, sexual, spiritual)

All of these are a result of sin? But, are all of these sin? Some are, some are not.

What would your hypothesis be regarding domestic violence in the church – same frequency as the non-believing world, higher or lower frequency for those who claim Christ as their savior?

Research done by Rene' Drumm, Chair, Department of SWS at SAU, documents that domestic violence in the SDA church is no different than the unbelieving world.

Why might this be?

Could it be that accepting a false view of God, a god who is wrathful, punitive, authoritarian, one who requires legal payment, fails to transform the heart?

It is a law that we become like the God we worship and admire, so what happens if we worship an authoritarian god, who must be appeased?

WEDNESDAY

Read paragraphs 3 and 4, “The answer...” thoughts?

According to Jewish tradition, which book of the Old Testament Bible is considered the Most Holy Place of the Bible?

Song of Solomon – and what is this book about?

Does it bother anyone that this book of Scripture, was written by someone who had 700 wives? Did it take that many wives to figure out the wisdom of this book?

What is the message of the Song of Solomon?

Close your heart to every love but mine;
hold no one in your arms but me.

Love is as powerful as death; passion is as strong as death itself.

It bursts into flame and burns like a raging fire.

⁷ Water cannot put it out;
no flood can drown it.
But if anyone tried to buy love with wealth, contempt is all they would get. So 8:6,7

What is the message of these verses?

What are we to learn about God’s love for us from the way He designed marriage and romantic love to be?

- Love sacrifices self for the object of its love
- Love knows no fear
- Love never gives up
- Love seeks the best
- Love is patient
- Love is kind
- Love finds joy in the success of others

- Love builds up
- Love heals
- Love gives the benefit of the doubt
- Love forgives before it is asked
- Love leaves free

Glimpses of Our God Lesson 13 1Q 2012

The Promise of His Return

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: “And behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to give to every one according to his work.”
Rev 22:12

Thoughts?

What do you think of the promise to return quickly?
What does it mean?

- That the actual time frame of his return will be quick? In other words very few minutes, hours, days?
- That He is doing all in His power to return as quickly as possible – in other words, He isn’t initiating any delay, but is in fact, trying to remove any obstacle that would cause delay, so He is return as quickly as is actually possible?
- But do not forget this one thing, dear friends: With the Lord a day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like a day. ⁹The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance. 2Pet 3:8,9

What does this mean? Is it poetic or literal?

- Has God created some type of bubble in which earth operates separated, isolated, insulated, from the rest of the universe?
- Is it possible earth is in a time dilation field, where time passes slower outside the field than inside?
- If that were the case then the Lord has been gone only 2 days since He made the promise to return quickly.

The lesson offers another possible explanation for Christ coming quickly – read THURSDAY’s last paragraph, “In one sense...”

Thoughts?

Do you think when Christ said He will come quickly He was actually meaning we will die soon, sleep in the grave, be unaware of thousands of years and so it will seem like He is returning quickly?

I personally don’t find this idea satisfying. I think it is an important idea to remember in our personal journey, that at any moment life could be cut short, so we need to live in a constant state of unity with Christ.

But – it undermines a sense of hope to think that “quickly” means when we die. In fact, if we were to promote the idea that we can be with Christ quickly by dying – might that have a potential negative outcome?

What do you think it means that He has a reward to give according to each person’s work? What work?

The SDA Bible Commentary states, on this passage:

Work. Gr. ergon, “an act done.” The singular number suggests that the word is used collectively of the acts that make up the life as a whole that a person has lived. The effects of the grace of Christ or of the rejection of that grace are also taken into account when the “work” of man is examined (see on Eze. 18:22, 24).¹

What do you understand this to mean?

¹ The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary, Volume 7. 1980 (F. D. Nichol, Ed.) (896). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

- God keeps a list of works, deeds, acts and if we do good works we earn, from God, good rewards and if we do evil works we earn, from God, punishment?
- Does it mean something else?

What about Jesus parable about workers in the field –

- Does God want us to work for Him?
- Do we have a work to do?
- Does our work achieve us rewards?
- Does God pay us for our work?

What about when they asked Christ what work they had to do?

Do not work for the food that perishes, but for the food that endures for eternal life, which the Son of Man will give you. For it is on him that God the Father has set his seal.”²⁸ Then they said to him, “What must we do to perform the works of God?”²⁹ Jesus answered them, “This is the work of God, that you believe in him whom he has sent.” Jn 6:27-30

How does this fit in to the working in the Lord’s field? And what is the balance in receiving rewards?

It again goes back to how you understand God’s law:

If God’s law is natural:

- You exercise regularly – which is work to do, is there a reward for doing this? What is the reward? From where does it come?
 - The reward comes from the natural results of operating in harmony with God’s design
- If you eat healthy foods and avoid toxic substances, a diligent work, is there a reward? From where does it come?

- If you love others more than self, give of yourself to bless others, is there a reward? From where does it come?
- If you smoke two packs of cigarettes per day, is there a reward/punishment? From where does the “reward” come?
 - The punishment comes from the natural results of operating out of harmony with God’s design
- If you cheat on your spouse is there a reward/punishment? From where does the “reward” come?
 - While the spouse may leave, isn’t the true “punishment” the damage to conscience, character, that cheating inflicts? Thus the punishment comes from the natural result of operating outside God’s design for life.

If law is imposed:

- If you pay your taxes honestly, is there a reward? From where does the reward come?
 - The government - police, fire department, roads, currency, defense...
- If you cheat on your taxes or simply don’t file them, is there a “reward”/punishment? From where does it come?
 - The government – fines and imprisonment
- If you violate traffic laws by speeding, but not natural law of physics by getting in a wreck, and you are caught, is there a reward? From where does it come?

When we mix the natural and imposed laws:

- If you study regularly for school, is there a reward? From where does the reward come?
 - Natural – development of mind, brain circuits, knowledge, wisdom
 - Imposed – letter grades, diplomas
- If you cheat in school, is there a reward? From where does it come?

- Natural – damage to conscience, character
- Imposed – expelled from school, fail class
- If you train for and compete in the Olympics is there a reward?
 - Natural – better health, self discipline, improved confidence, developed brain circuits
 - Imposed – medals, endorsement contracts
- If you do illegal drugs is there a “reward”? From where?
 - Natural – damage to brain, body, character, possible death if overdose
 - Imposed – arrest, fines, jail

In God’s kingdom how does it work? Do we earn rewards or punishments that are externally imposed by God, because His law is imposed? Or when we live in harmony with His design/laws, there are natural benefits, or rewards?

What is the balance between what Christ does for and in us and our work and reward?

I thought this Christian author said it nicely in a book entitled God’s Amazing Grace:

In His divine arrangement, through His unmerited favor, the Lord has ordained that good works shall be rewarded. We are accepted through Christ’s merit alone; and the acts of mercy, the deeds of charity, which we perform, are the fruits of faith; and they become a blessing to us; for men are to be rewarded according to their works. It is the fragrance of the merit of Christ that makes our good works acceptable to God, and it is grace that enables us to do the works for which He rewards us. Our works in and of themselves have no merit. . . . We deserve no thanks from God. We have only done what it was our duty to do, and our works could not have been performed in the strength of our own sinful natures. {AG 244.2}

What do you hear?

- God's design, or ordained construction of the universe, is that life operates on natural law with built in inherent rewards for living in harmony with His methods and principles.
- We could do no work to create a remedy to our terminal state.
- Christ's merit, or the remedy He achieved, is the only solution to our condition. Thus God only accepts us healed, remaining in an unhealed, terminal state is unacceptable to God.
- When we partake of that remedy we get better. The improvement is not something we earn, but is evidence of having partaken of the remedy. Christ is our remedy, when we partake of Him our characters get better, and we begin to have signs or evidence of that improvement, which are the good works, or living in harmony with His kingdom of love.
- These good works themselves, bring with them built in blessings of joy, better relationships, better physical health etc. as we are again in harmony with God's design

Here is the next paragraph from the previous quotation:

We need . . . to bring the light and grace of Christ into all our works. We need to take hold of Christ and to retain our hold of Him until we know that the power of His transforming grace is manifested in us. We must have faith in Christ if we would reflect the divine character. . . Faith in the Word of God and in the power of Christ to transform the life will enable the believer to work His works. {AG 244.3}

What do you hear being described? A legal solution, or a healing process? What enables us? It is the transforming power of Christ in us, which we experience when we trust Him!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “The description...” thoughts?

The lesson states, “The last chapters in the books of Isaiah and Revelation assure us that the destruction of sin is coming and that God’s kingdom will be restored.”

What does this mean?

- What do you understand God’s kingdom to be?
- How will sin be destroyed?
- Where does sin exist or occur?
- If sin exists in the hearts/minds of intelligent beings, then how does God eradicate it, without destroying the being?
- Can this be done by power, force, might?
- What method does God use?
- What happens to those who refuse to have their hearts, minds, characters cleansed from the infection of sin/selfishness?
- In the US Military it is illegal to commit adultery and one can be prosecuted and sent to prison for adultery.
 - What happens to a person who breaks God’s law for marriage and has unprotected sex and gets HIV infected?
 - What happens if that person believes their problem is a problem with the government, for adultery, rather than the problem being infected with HIV and so they seek a lawyer to defend them and eventually gets a legal pardon, but don’t get treatment for HIV?
- What happens to the minds, hearts, characters of persons, who are born in sin, conceived in iniquity, if they believe their problem is a legal problem with God’s government, and they accept a legal solution of having Jesus be their lawyer in heaven to defend them and their sins paid by Jesus’ blood, but never experience the actual transformation of heart and mind?

- Does this give us some insight into why God is waiting to return?
 - He wants all to be saved
 - But, many have been tricked into believing they have a legal problem, rather than an actual condition of heart/mind so they have false security believing they are saved, while their spiritual condition only worsens.
- Are our hearts and minds ready to stand in His presence?

WEDNESDAY

The first paragraph asks the question, how are we to understand the delay in the second coming of Christ?

Why has Christ delayed His return?

Is there anything we can do to speed His return?

And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come. Mt 24:14

What kingdom?

Jesus said, "My kingdom is not of this world. If it were, my servants would fight to prevent my arrest by the Jews. But now my kingdom is from another place." Jn 18:36

What kingdom? How would you differentiate the kingdom of Christ from the kingdoms of the world?

The germ in the seed grows by the unfolding of the life-principle which God has implanted. Its development depends upon no human power. So it is with the kingdom of Christ. It is a new creation. Its principles of development are the opposite of those that rule the kingdoms of this world. Earthly governments prevail by physical force; they maintain their dominion by war; but the founder of the new kingdom is the Prince of Peace. The Holy Spirit represents worldly kingdoms under the symbol of fierce beasts of prey; but Christ is "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." John 1:29. In His plan of government there is no employment of brute force to compel the conscience. The Jews looked for the kingdom of God to be established in the same way as the kingdoms of the world. To promote righteousness they resorted to external measures. They devised methods and plans. But Christ implants a principle. By implanting truth and righteousness, He counterworks error and sin. {COL 77.1}

What do you hear?

- What are the kingdoms of the world based upon?
 - Brute force, coercive power –
 - What kind of law do such governments employ?
Imposed law!
 - What then do we do to God's kingdom when we promote the idea He uses an imposed law?
 - What kind of method would God be using if He were to use His power to inflict punishment?
- What is Christ's kingdom based upon?
 - The law of love, which is the design for life emanating from God's own nature!
- What message from Christianity has gone to the world?
 - If you don't accept Christ you will burn in hell
 - God is required to use power to punish sinners
 - God will torture the wicked
 - If you worship on the wrong day you will get the mark of the beast and God will throw you in the lake of fire
 - Justice demands God inflict punishment upon sinners
- What is the true kingdom of God?

- The kingdom of selfless love
- For God so loved the world...
- Greater love has no man than he give his life...
- This is how we know what love is...
- Not by might nor by power....
- Create in me a clean heart...
- I will write my laws on their minds....

Christ delays, waiting for the gospel of the kingdom to go to the world. It is our time, our generation, our privilege, our opportunity to take this message to the world. God is not like Satan and tradition has made Him out to be!

We will be opposed, but we must not fail. If we would do our job, if we would take this message to the world, Christ will come! Do you believe it? Will you become a part of a movement, a team, to share this message with the world?

At the end of class today we will share how we are working to spread this message and how you can be part of this ministry!

THURSDAY

Paul states in 2Thes 2:1-4:

Concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our being gathered to him, we ask you, brothers, ² not to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord has already come. ³ Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. ⁴ He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God.

What is Paul talking about?

- That Satan was going to counter attack what Christ accomplished at the Cross, and infect the spirit temple with lies about God and Christ, so that humanity would end up worshipping Satan's false view of God rather than the truth.
- But God prophesied through Daniel (8:14) that before the end comes the truth about God would be recovered and the sanctuary would be cleansed from the lies about God.
- What were those lies?
 - God's law is imposed
 - God must inflict punishment on sinners
 - Christ came and God punished Him
 - God still seeks to punish sinners but Christ pleads in our behalf
 - Jesus is our lawyer in heaven to protect us from legal punishment
 - God is returning to punish unrepentant sinners
 - We can have safety from God's anger and wrath if we accept the blood payment to our legal record in heaven.

This is the distortion that the vast majority of the Christian world accepts, because they accepted Imperial Rome's view of God's law and subsequently the law Giver.

We are privileged to share a message which will cleanse the mind of these distortions and bring people back into unity with Christ and His Father.

MONDAY

Read top Dark Section, "How does Peter..." thoughts?

If there was no second coming, would you live your life differently than you currently do? Why or why not?

- If there was no speed limit would you drive differently than you do?

- Yes, in some places, – why? Because we wouldn't have to worry about punishment
- If there was no tax law would you pay differently to the government than you do?
 - Yes, why? Because we wouldn't have to worry about punishment
- Do we do what we do only because of avoidance of punishment or hope of reward?
- Smoking is legal for adults – why don't we smoke?
- Some states have legalized certain uses of marijuana, if it were legal would you use it? Why not?
- There is no law against poking yourself in the eye with a pen, why don't you do it?
- There is no governmental reward for not poking yourself in the eye with a pen, so why avoid doing it? Or is there a reward?

So back to the question, if there is no second coming, given the way God has constructed His universe, is there really a better way to live than in harmony with His methods and principles?

So do we do what we do because of fear of punishment, or hope for reward, or because it is really the most sensible way to live?

I liked the way this was said in a book called Christian Education:

Let the youth be led to understand the object of their creation,--to honor God, and bless their fellow-men; let them see the tender love which the Father in heaven has manifested toward them, and the high destiny for which the discipline of this life is to prepare them,--the dignity and honor to which they are called, even to become the sons of God,-- and thousands would turn with contempt and loathing from the low and selfish aims and the frivolous pleasures that have hitherto engrossed them. They would learn to hate sin, and to shun it, not merely from hope of reward or fear of punishment, but from a sense of its inherent baseness,--because it would be a degrading of their God-given powers, a stain upon their God-like manhood. {CE 69.3}

Is this what we teach our young people? Is this what the church teaches its members? Do you see how this description is based upon understanding God's law as natural, not imposed?

The lesson asks us to consider several Bible passages:

- “Do not let your hearts be troubled. Trust in God; trust also in me. ² In my Father's house are many rooms; if it were not so, I would have told you. I am going there to prepare a place for you. ³ And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come back and take you to be with me that you also may be where I am. John 14:1-3
- “In the time of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor will it be left to another people. It will crush all those kingdoms and bring them to an end, but it will itself endure forever. Dan 2:44
- Repent, then, and turn to God, so that your sins may be wiped out, that times of refreshing may come from the Lord, ²⁰ and that he may send the Christ, who has been appointed for you—even Jesus. ²¹ He must remain in heaven until the time comes for God to restore everything, as he promised long ago through his holy prophets. Acts 3:19-21

What do these passages mean to you?

TUESDAY

Read last paragraph, “Of course...”

Thoughts? What do you like, or find encouraging about this paragraph?

The paragraph uses a metaphor of ransom – what does this metaphor actually mean? How would you explain it to someone who believes it is a literal blood payment?

How can the metaphor do harm?

Does it help by clarifying God’s law as natural or imposed? What difference does it make to look through these two lenses at this metaphor?

Read bottom green section SUNDAY’s lesson, “Some Christians...” thoughts?

How is this true and untrue?

- Didn’t Jesus say the kingdom of God is within you?
- What did this mean?
- Is it wrong to work with God to experience His restored kingdom within us?
- But, is this the same as God’s ultimate restoration of His universe?
- It would be a mistake to conclude the only kingdom is the internal restoration of a Christlike character within a sinful world?
- And wouldn’t it be disappointing if there was no more than this?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 2 2Q 2012

Every Member Ministry

SABBATH

Read Memory Text “But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light;” 2Peter 2:9

Thoughts?

What does this text mean to you?

What are we to proclaim? His praises – which means what?

- Sing songs?
- Prayers of praise?
- Something else?

According to the dictionary, praise is the expression a favorable judgment, or to give commendation.

In light of the controversy over God’s character, does it give any insight into what our praise is supposed to be? What our praise is to achieve? What purpose it is to function?

Genuine praise from God’s representatives is not simply singing songs of praise, or thanking Him in prayer for blessings, but much more significantly is revealing the truth about God, in both our words and the way we live our lives.

It reminds me of the 3rd angels message, “Fear God and give glory to Him for the hour of his judgment has come.” – the hour for Him to be praised – or judged correctly!

We are to reveal God in our lives, demonstrating that His remedy to sin works, that we are changed, by His presence, from selfishness to love for others, thus bringing honor and glory to God in the time he is being judged.

Or, another way to say it is, as His agents, representatives, priests, we commend Him or make a good judgment about Him! Thus helping others to see Him in a commendable light so they also can judge rightly about Him.

What would the darkness we are called out of be and what is the light?

Would the darkness be the darkness of misunderstanding about God?

Jesus is the light that lightens all men (John 1) – the light about what?

Jesus said if we have seen Him we have seen the Father. Do we let our light about God's character, methods, and the principles upon which He built the universe to run, to so shine that the darkness of fear and misunderstanding are driven back?

Would anyone like to share how their view of God has changed over time and the difference that has had on their lives?

Would anyone like to share what they have found effective in revealing this light into the darkness of misunderstanding about God?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "Too often..." thoughts?

Do you believe all those who have experienced God's renewal of their heart have a ministry for His kingdom?

What can we minister to spread the kingdom of God?

- Teachers and speakers
- Organizers
- Helpers
- Health care providers
- Technical people
- Writers
- Animators
- Administrators
- Accountants
- Missionaries
- Evangelists
- Builders
- Mechanics
- Electricians, plumbers, carpenters etc. etc.

Is there any honest activity that is not useful in God's cause?

What can we do with our ministry to become more effective in spreading this message outside our group?

- Webcasting starting next week – thanks Dean! Without Dean this ministry would not reach outside the room in which we meet. God has truly blessed us by bringing Dean to be part of our ministry!
- TV programming we are partners with Heartwise Ministries and the first show to air in May 2012
 - This class is financially supporting our ministry which has partnered with HeartWise ministries. The new studio is built and open house is this Thursday April 5 from 5-7 p.m. We are all invited to the open house. I invite you to come. I can tell you this is the best TV studio in Chattanooga. You will love it when you see it. God is really blessing this ministry.
 - Keep praying for this ministry. The devil has been very busy trying to stop it. You know the obstacles we have endured, well Dr. Marcum has received numerous phone calls from all over the country and visits from people locally telling him that he should not be partnering with Come and Reason, telling him of the problems with his message of focusing on bringing people to a relationship with a God of love. He has even received some death threats. Satan is scared because he knows his time is short and lies cannot stand up to the truth!

- We will also need volunteers to help run the cameras, answer telephones each Thursday. Some of you have already volunteered. If you are interested in helping let us know.
- Books –
 - Dr. Marcum's book The Ultimate Prescription does a wonderful job of presenting the truth of God's character of love through the life of a cardiac patient and the laws of health
 - Could it Be This Simple has helped tens of thousands
 - Change Your God Change Your Brain: How Your View of God Changes Your Brain will be published by IntersVarsity Press late this year. God is blessing in its development. Dr. Larry Crabb, psychologist author, world renowned speaker, Dr. Michael Lyles, Christian Psychiatrist and board member of the American Association of Christian Counselors, Dr. Tim Clinton Founder and President of the American Association of Christian Counselors, Dr. Gregg Jantz, author of more than 30 books, president of founder of A Place of Hope in Edmonds WA, are all writing endorsements for this book.
- Bible Study guides – our board has voted to create new Bible study guides that will focus on the truth of God's character. Charles Mills is the editor, and we already have four principal contributors. These guides will not be dated and will be written for all Christians.
- Magazines – Fundamental Focus – our ministry has contacted Genesis Road Ministries which produced the magazine and asked that the magazine be edited for all Christians not just one denomination and then we would purchase 20,000. They have agreed and will have those soon. We can share this with our friends regardless of denomination.

- Webcards for sharing
- Many of you invite people to listen online and come to class
- Start a Bible study in your home
 - Is anyone participating in a Bible study?
 - Has anyone ever been involved in a Bible study?
- Share what your understanding of God's character and methods has done for you
- Think for yourself, question, search for truth, don't allow others to form your beliefs for you
- Seminars – we have our first “Modern Medicine, Biblical Technology, and the Brain” Seminar scheduled for the trade center this October 13. We will need people to help us do the various administrative and preparatory activities. Kathy Kiley has agreed to help coordinate the volunteers so some of you may be hearing from her.
- Other ideas?

The second paragraph points out that Paul says the believers are to be equipped for ministry.

What can we do to help equip you for ministry? Is there anything we can provide, assist, do to prepare you for your ministry?

Would any of you like us to have some Let's Talk meetings on how to graciously answer questions that arise?

The paragraph states we are to carry a message of love and grace to the world. How is the message we are to carry different from what every other church carries to the world?

If we innocently included distortions about God's character do such distortions still undermine the message of love and grace?

Doctrines are important as they inform us about God and His character, methods principles – what doctrines help you see God more clearly?

- The law of love
- God as creator
- Jesus is fully divine
- The trinity
- The nature of mankind – mortal not immortal
- The healing model of atonement
- The healing model of the end of sin and sinners
- Others?

What traditional doctrines or ideas have made it harder to see God clearly?

- Jesus is not fully God
- God requires appeasement or payment to forgive
- God uses His power to inflict punishment on sinners
- There is no trinity
- Man is immortal and the wicked will burn in hell forever
- Jesus died to pay our legal debt
- Others?

Read last paragraph, “Jesus is not...” thoughts?

What is the difference between a serving friend and friendly service?

Does Jesus call us to service? How do we harmonize Jesus call to be a servant with John 15:15 when Jesus said,

- I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master’s business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you.

Did Jesus say in this verse we are not to serve? No! What is the difference between a servant and a friend?

Friends UNDERSTAND their master, servants do not!

- Servants, “God said it, I believe it, that settles it. We don’t ask questions if God said it that is good enough.”
- Friends, seek to understand the Master and will ask questions of the Master, especially if they are concerned the action would hurt the Master.
- Servants never consider what will hurt the Master they are concerned with not being punished by the Master.
- Friends are willing to risk punishment to protect the Master.

- Abraham, a friend of God, questioned Him about Sodom. Why? What was Abraham’s concern?

- Moses, also described as a friend of God, questioned God about destroying Israel – why? What was Moses’ concern?

Remember the movie It’s a Wonderful Life? In the beginning George is a young boy working for a pharmacist and the pharmacist got word his son had been killed and made a mistake filling a prescription. He ordered George to take it. George was concerned it was wrong and tried to tell the pharmacist, but the man was upset and yelled at George, George persisted and the man hit him, but he still persisted and the man finally listened and George was right and the man hugged George.

Was George just a servant, or a friend?

Why is it so many insist we remain as unthinking servants?

Why does Christ not simply order us into service?

- What kind of service does He want?

- Only the service that springs from love and love cannot be commanded.
- So, what does this mean?
- Servant mentality is not pleasing to God, only friendship mentality is what He wants!

Think about your children. When they are small, immature, they often may obey because they are told to do so. They don't understand why, they just do it. But what if your child never progressed beyond that, as an adult they continue to wait for you to tell them everything to do before they did it?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Sometimes..." thoughts?

Do you ever find you are working to undo the work of others? As a doctor, I have patients who sometimes come to me on 4,5,6 or more medications, diagnosed with illness for which I find no evidence and I will find it necessary to undo many things done by someone, before the patient gets well.

Spiritually, do we ever find we are working in fields that have been filled with weeds, distortions about God, ideas that close minds?

What kind of ideas close minds and prevent the truth from penetrating?

- Rumors and gossip about the person bringing the gospel message
 - Those who opposed Paul spread rumors about him to try and undermine his influence so people would not listen to him. Do we struggle with such tactics today?
- Belief that truth is determined by feelings rather than facts
- Belief that truth was discovered by the reformers and we only need to know what they knew

- The Jews in Christ's day believed they had Moses and the Prophets, and knew what it all meant and were not open to grow.
- Do we ever find church leaders today who hold to concepts hundreds of years old, doggedly unwilling to allow the truth to grow and advance?
- Belief that others, who were so loving and kind, like grandma, couldn't be wrong
 - Do we find good people, people with hearts oriented to do right, can still have erroneous beliefs?
- Belief that God's law is imposed

Do we need more workers in the field? Do we need more people sharing this message about God?

What can we do to have more workers in the field?

Why are we not more passionate to tell people? Do we have the same motivation to tell people the truth about God as we do to tell people our team won the Super Bowl?

We certainly would appreciate more prayer warriors, people who will pray for this ministry and people who will pray that God will bring more people to this ministry to help spread this message about Him!

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "The local church..." – thoughts?

What do you understand the church to be?

How does one become part of the Biblical body?

When Martin Luther was ex-communicated from "the church" of his day, was he no longer a member of the church? Or, were the church authorities the ones who were not members of the church?

If someone today is not affiliated with a particular denomination or group, does that necessarily mean they are not part of God's church?

Where should our loyalty be – to Christ and His kingdom or to a denominational organization?

But does that mean we should not belong to a denominational church?

What is the benefit of meeting together? Could our ministry be as effective if we all stayed at home each week and studied our Bibles on our own?

The lesson suggests we need unite on areas of evangelism and witnessing – what do you think are the central points upon which we must unite?

Are there doctrinal points upon which we must unite? What are those points?

- The truth about God's character of love
- The truth about God's law of love
- The truth about what Christ accomplished
- The truth about God's calling for each of us
- The truth about our condition
- The truth about God's solution for our condition
- Others?

Are there methodological points on how we evangelize on which it is helpful we unite?

- Speak truth, in love, and leave people free – under this umbrella is not almost any specific method okay
 - TV, radio, internet, print, door to door, Bible studies, community seminars, literature sharing, visitations, health ministry, debate, music, art, helping disaster victims, helping the disabled, etc.

etc.

- What would you like to do to help spread this message? If we can help you let us know what you need to enable, empower you!

Read second paragraph, “The apostle...” thoughts?

- Is there anything we are doing that is inhibiting your ability to contribute?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Yesterday...” thoughts?

What happens if someone doesn’t feel strongly that they are working with God – does that mean that they aren’t?

Are our feelings a good barometer of whether we are or are not working with God?

Is there a difference from knowing and feeling?

What is it we can have confidence in regardless of how we feel?

Testable truths –

- Gravity won’t change based on our feelings
- The law of entropy won’t change based on our feelings
- The law of love won’t change based on our feelings
- The law of liberty won’t change based on our feelings
- God’s character of love won’t change based on our feelings, He is the same yesterday, today and tomorrow!

What can our feelings change? The way we feel! And if we aren’t careful, if we permit it, our feelings can lead us into temptation and we can change our beliefs, and actions based on a change in feelings. But feelings do not determine truth or change reality!

Read second paragraph, “The Scriptures...” thoughts?

What do you understand God’s amazing grace to be? How has that grace impacted your life?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “This week...” thoughts

- Would it be beneficial to have a periodic meeting to share how people are sharing this message and the response they are receiving? And then talk about what we can learn from these experiences to be more effective?
- Does anyone have a report they would like to share of how they shared this message with others?
- Russ Crear told me that he was on the plane riding back from Florida and starting talking to a woman next to him and then they mentioned Come and Reason and this class and they found out both listen to this class. The lady was Lori, Russell’s sister. Anyway, they spent the time on the plane talking about this picture of God and as they were getting off the plane Russ looked to the woman on the other side and apologized for not talking with her and she said, “Oh no, I was so blessed by your conversation. I enjoyed so much hearing about such a loving God as you were describing.”

FRIDAY

Read question number 1 and discuss?

- Is this an absolute reality stated, or a generally good idea?
- What if this were stated about the church when Christ was on earth?
- What if the church leaders won’t unite with the laity in finishing the work but insist on taking a course as the church leaders did 2000 years ago, or the church leaders did to Martin Luther?

- Is it a dangerous position to be a leader and believe you are there to defend the traditions of the church?
- How can we reach out in a constructive way to church leaders to help them grow in their understanding when they may be afraid they will lose their job if they should start teaching this message about God?

Read and discuss question 2 - thoughts?

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 3 2Q 2012

Spiritual Gifts for Evangelism and Witnessing

Read Memory Text – Eph 4:11, 12: “It was he who gave some to be apostles, some to be prophets, some to be evangelists, and some to be pastors and teachers, ¹² to prepare God’s people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up.

Thoughts?

Does this text represent all the Spiritual Gifts?

1Cor 12:27,28:

Now you are the body of Christ, and each one of you is a part of it. ²⁸ And in the church God has appointed first of all apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then workers of miracles, also those having gifts of healing, those able to help others, those with gifts of administration, and those speaking in different kinds of tongues.

Does this list all the Spiritual gifts?

Does a gift have to be listed in the Bible in order to be a spiritual gift?

Can you think of others not listed?

- Metal working and artistic skills
- Music
- Technical skills – working with computers, internet, TV, radio,
- Writing, editing, publishing,
- Mechanical skills
- Others?

Is there a difference between natural talents and spiritual gifts? How would you describe the difference?

The Moody Handbook of Theology describes the difference as:

COMPARISON OF NATURAL AND SPIRITUAL ABILITIES

Comparisons	Natural Talents	Spiritual Gifts
Source:	From God Through parents	From God Independent of parents
Possessed:	From birth	Probably from conversion
Purpose:	To benefit mankind on the natural level	To benefit mankind on the spiritual level
Process:	Must be recognized, developed, exercised	Must be recognized, developed, exercised
Function:	Ought to be dedicated by believers to God for His use and glory	Ought to be used to God's glory

Thoughts?

Any questions about the gifts listed in the texts above?

SUNDAY

Does every member of the church receive spiritual gifts?

Do you know yours, keeping in mind gifts are different from natural talents?

Read second paragraph, “We have already...” thoughts?

Does the equipping with gifts come fully developed or do the gifts themselves require use, exercise, and will expand with development?

What is the purpose of spiritual gifts? Are the gifts given primarily for the development of the individual person, or are they given for the development of the body of believers?

If a person refuses to allow the gift to be manifest in them, what might happen? Might God give that gift to another, not to punish the one who didn't utilize it, but because the church needs the blessing of that gift?

Once someone receives a spiritual gift, is it like other gifts, theirs to use as they freely want? Or does the spiritual gift function by continual interaction with the Holy Spirit? In other words, it is the Holy Spirit enabling and providing the ability and only in unity and harmony with the Holy Spirit does the gift work?

Was Samson's strength a Spiritual Gift?

- What was the purpose of giving Samson strength?
- Was it for the building up, edifying of Israel?
- Did the Spirit control how Samson used this strength?
- Did Samson have great leeway in how he used this gift?
- Did it require Samson to stay in unity with God?
- Did Samson eventually lose this gift? Why?
- Why did Samson get this gift back? Was it magic hair growth? Or was it a change in heart?
- Do you think Samson regretted losing this gift?

What about Solomon?

- Did Solomon get a spiritual gift of wisdom?

- Did God control the use of that gift?
- Did Solomon have great leeway in how he used it?
- Did Solomon eventually lose that gift? How and why?
 - I would like to suggest that Solomon, like Samson, when he turned to pagan worship and sacrificing his own children had lost the gift of wisdom. And he spent many years doing foolish things.
- Did he get the gift back? Why? How?
 - In later life he repented and was inspired to write Ecclesiastes

Can a spiritual gift be lost? What about the gift of prophecy?
 Can a person be gifted with prophecy but reject it and then have that gift lost? Can other gifts be lost if not used?

- Do you think persons who lose gifts regret it?

What can we do to not lose the gifts we have been given?

What can we do to maximize the usefulness of the gifts we have been given?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph – “To a certain...” thoughts?

What does it mean to be “called?” To receive a call from the nominating committee, pastor or elder?

Is calling anything more than an invitation? When Jesus told the parable of the wedding and the heralds went out with invitation – does that represent God’s calling?

Is the invitation to salvation freely offered to all? So could we say God calls the entire human race that is capable of receiving a call?

Are some humans beyond receiving the call, in other words beyond understanding, comprehending and responding to the invitation? Yet does the invitation still get sent to the entire world?

What about being called to the clergy? What is that calling? Is it different than any other calling? How can one know if they are called to any ministry or position in the church?

- Is it a feeling of conviction?
- Is it a desire for that office?
- Is it a sense of duty or obligation?
- James says we are tempted by our desires, so if someone has a desire to be a pastor, does that necessarily mean that desire is from God?

Do people ever believe they are called by God to a certain role when they are not?

Does God every gift someone because they asked for the gift?

Are we told to ask for wisdom and that God will honor it? Is this the only gift we are supposed to ask from God?

Does a gift of the Spirit mean character transformation? If a person has received spiritual gifts, but doesn't experience character transformation to be more like Christ, what might happen over time? Might those gifts be lost?

TUESDAY

What can we do to discover our gifts? Any idea?

Read last two paragraphs, "When someone..." thoughts?

Can you think of anything else?

What gets in the way of discovering our spiritual gifts?

- Fear?
- Anger?

- Selfishness?
- Pride?
- Hurt?
- Misconceptions about God?
- False beliefs about what the gifts are, how they work, the role of believers in the church?
 - For instance – what about a woman being gifted to be a pastor? Might this be overlooked if she has been taught her entire life only men can be pastors?
- Any other beliefs that might obstruct our recognition of a spiritual gift?
 - How about our beliefs about healthy living? Do we undermine our ability to be used by God and for the manifestation of gifts if we are unhealthy?
 - Will God override our choice to lead an unhealthy life by supernaturally giving us exceptional health?
 - Will an unhealthy brain undermine the gift we have been given?
- Television, video games?

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, “It is significant...” thoughts?

What church? Is it a single denominational church? Is it all denominations? Is it the church invisible?

Was Martin Luther gifted? When the organized church booted him out, did he lose his spiritual gifts?

Does that tell us something? If the gifts of the Spirit are given by God for the health and benefit of the church, and they are not lost by a person when the organized church rejects that person with their gifts, what does this mean about what constitutes the church, as far as God is concerned?

What should you do if you know what your gifts are but the organized church won't let you use your gifts?

Say you have the gift of preaching but the church won't let you preach, or teaching and the church won't let you teach?

Did Jesus have the gift of teaching? Did he wait for church leadership to recognize His gift before He taught?

Did the disciples have gifts? Did they wait for the organized church to endorse them before they began ministering their gifts in God's cause?

Should we just strike out on our own and ignore the organized church?

What is the balance between following God's leading and gifting in your life and receiving the endorsement of an organized church?

Read fifth paragraph, "Spiritual gifts..." thoughts?

Do you think Martin Luther had desire for unity? Did he seek to cause a break or to reform and purify his church?

Throughout history do we find that Spirit filled individuals led to reforms and those reforms brought division with church leadership?

Christ said:

"Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I did not come to bring peace, but a sword. ³⁵ For I have come to turn " 'a man against his father, a daughter against her mother,

 a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law—³⁶ a man's enemies will be the members of his own household." Matt 10:34-36

What do you think about this? Was Christ not Spirit led? Did He not have gifts of the Spirit? Was He misusing His gifts because His ministry led to breakdown of unity in the organized church of His day? Should He have succumbed to church leadership?

As I considered the next questions I found myself quite disturbed and sad as I contemplated the evidence from history. I also found myself becoming frightened, lest I find myself in such a place.

- Can anyone think of a time in history where the leadership of an established organized church stood on the right side of advancing truth?
- Does the Spirit lead individuals away from the true body of Christ? No!
- Does the Spirit lead individuals away from organized churches? What do the lessons of history say?

What would those who wrote this paragraph say to persons coming to a Revelation seminar who were currently members of a Baptist, Methodist, Episcopalian, Presbyterian, Catholic or other church and those members said, “Our pastor told us the Spirit doesn’t lead people away from the church?”

My view is that the Spirit always works on the heart to transform the person to be like Jesus and leads us into the unity of love, and in the practicing of Godlike methods. Then the Spirit leads the individual to the place where the Spirit wants the individual:

- Jesus filled with the Spirit was led to the wilderness, then to the Temple to confront the leaders, not to get the blessing of the leaders
- Elijah led to confront a king and spiritual leaders
- Paul led to the desert, and then to the Gentiles, and at times confronted spiritual leaders
- Stephen led to confront the Jews in Jerusalem, to confront church leaders

- John the Baptist led to confront the nation and a king and church leaders
- Timothy and Titus to churches in Greece and Asia minor, and had conflict with local leaders

Do we believe that evangelism is about making people members of one particular denomination, or leading them to a genuine healing relationship with Jesus Christ and allowing the Spirit to lead that person where the Spirit wants them?

Then, within various organizations the Spirit leads us to unite together in common purpose to make the truth about God known. Thus the Spirit seeks to cut away things that interfere with this work.

In our individual lives the Spirit “circumcises the heart” meaning He cuts away attachments to worldliness, selfishness, fears, insecurities, and relationships that would undermine our growth in Christlikeness – including relationships with organizations who teach false views of God or which undermine our spiritual growth.

In the church body it seems the Spirit would be working to cleanse the church from influences that misrepresent God and undermine the work of preparing the world for Christ’s return, i.e. undermine the presentation of the truth about God.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is making the point that not everyone is gifted with the same gifts, for a reason. As Paul uses the metaphor of the body, and the body wouldn’t be very good body if all the parts were a foot, or a mouth, or an eye, that it works best when each part fulfills its purpose.

Likewise in the church while there may be spokespersons, teachers, preachers, evangelists, they wouldn’t be very effective if there weren’t many more people working behind the scenes to organize, plan, set up, clean, prepare etc.

In the military for every soldier who carries a weapon there are many more soldiers who work behind the scenes supporting and supplying the ones in combat. Without those support soldiers the combat troops would soon become ineffective. In fact, one of the most effective strategies in stopping an advancing army is to cut their supply lines, to make ineffective the work of the non-combat forces.

In the church there are many on the front lines, but for every effective person speaking, preaching, teaching, holding seminars, conducting Bible studies there are many, many more behind the scenes and without those the work would come to a screeching halt.

How many went to the open house at Heartwise and saw the TV studio?

Our ministry and Heartwise are a good example of this. While myself, Russell, Wendell and others teach here, Dr. Marcum, myself and others will be on the TV programming, none of this would get outside the room to reach anyone if it wasn't for many of you who work behind the scenes here and at the studio.

- TV camera people,
- answering phones,
- running the computers,
- updating the websites,
- organizing, planning,
- preparing materials,
- writing the study guides
- praying daily for these ministries and the people involved,
- supporting with financial support,
- and more!

This is a team effort and we each have a role to play. If you are not currently involved and want to be, please let us know, we can always use more help.

The greatest joy in my life is to present the truth about God's kingdom and see minds that were held in captivity of fear and insecurity about God set free. To see the lights go on, to see the joy in the heart of another, to see the frantic, chaotic, living replaced with peace and self control. This brings joy. If you have never had the joy of sharing the truth about God and His kingdom and methods of love what can we do to help you experience this joy?

Anything you need from us to equip you in your circle of influence?

FRIDAY

Read comment 1 at the top. "In consultation..." thoughts?

How many would like us to develop a training seminar, put on over a weekend in which we would provide materials and courses designed to teach you how to share this message effectively?

Read and discuss questions 1 and 2.

Lesson # 4: Evangelism and Witnessing as a Lifestyle

1. Read for Introduction:

- a. Key Thought: Whether we acknowledge it or not, all believers preach a message by the example of their lives.
 - i. For you personally, does this statement provoke reassurance or guilt?
 - ii. Why?

2. Sabbath Afternoon:

- a. Read Paragraph #1: It has often been said. . .
 - i. “That Christianity. . .a way of life, a lifestyle. . . .”
 - ii. What is the emphasis when we talk about lifestyle?
 - (1) (Behavior, actions, what I do.)
 - iii. What is the important core of Christianity?
 - (1) (To know God)
 - (2) (John 17:3) This is eternal life: to know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you sent.
 - (3) How do we come to know God?
 - (a) Interaction with Him
 - (b) Christianity is not a lifestyle: It is a relationship that produces a lifestyle.
 - (i) Our concentration should be on walking with Him, not on our behavior.
 - (ii) Where is our focus if we concentrate on behavior?
 - 1) (If we concentrate on our behavior, our emphasis and focus will be on ourselves.)

(iii) Our focus should be on God and our service for others.

(c) We bring our lives to the law and to the cross for examination, but not for our witness.

3. Second and Third Paragraph: “It is also true. . .” “Even if we don’t intend it, those who watch us do learn from us.”

a. We are an influence.

i. Do we have to do anything to generate an influence?

ii. It is not what we do for ourselves, Love is what we do for others.

b. Matthew 7: 16, 20 “By their fruits ye shall know them”

i. God’s Word Translation: “by what they produce”

c. Matthew 7:17, 18 (Luke 6:43,44) Mat_7:17 Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. Mat_7:18 A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.”

i. It is not what we “should” produce, but what we are able to produce as a natural act or process of who we are.

ii. Great is the work and mission of women, especially those who are wives and mothers. They can be a blessing to all around them. They can have a powerful influence for good if they will let their light so shine that others may be led to glorify our heavenly Father. Women may have a transforming influence if they will only consent to yield their way and their will to God, and let Him control their mind, affections, and being. They can have an influence which will tend to refine and elevate those with whom they associate. But this class are generally unconscious of the power they possess. They exert an unconscious influence which seems to work out naturally from a sanctified life, a renewed heart. It is the fruit that grows naturally upon the good tree of divine planting. Self is forgotten, merged in the life of Christ. To be rich in good works is as natural as their breath. They live to do others good and yet are ready to say: We are unprofitable servants. {2T 465.1}

- iii. This is a natural law of how we are made. Just like all the other laws of respiration, nutrition, hydration, etc, this is another law of life.
- iv. Will God supernaturally produce good fruit from a bad tree?
- v. Will He supernaturally produce good behavior or outcomes from a human who is not transformed into His image?
- vi. What about (Rom 8:28) “We know that in all things God works for good with those who love him, those whom he has called according to his purpose.”
 - (1) If this is true, does it matter what we do?
 - (2) What is the purpose of us doing good things?
 - (a) (we get to participate with God in His work)
 - (b) (It is a privilege - It is fun - That is how we are designed.)
 - (3) Thoughts on Romans 8:28
 - (a) all things are not good
 - (b) all men are not transformed
 - (c) all things that happen to us are not good

- (d) The end result of all things may not be good - until the earth is made new and sin is eradicated.
- (e) God is with us, even to the end of the age.

- (f) And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. Romans 8:28. {FLB 64.1}

The fact that we are called upon to endure trial shows that the Lord Jesus sees in us something precious which He desires to develop. If He saw in us nothing whereby He might glorify His name, He would not spend time in refining us. He does not cast worthless stones into His furnace. It is valuable ore that He refines. {FLB 64.2}

God never leads His children otherwise than they would choose to be led, if they could see the end from the beginning and discern the glory of the purpose which they are fulfilling as co-workers with Him. {FLB 64.3}

All that has perplexed us in the providences of God will in the world to come be made plain. The things hard to be understood will then find explanation. The mysteries of grace will unfold before us. Where our finite minds discovered only confusion and broken promises, we shall see the most perfect and beautiful harmony. We shall know that infinite love ordered the experiences that seemed most trying. {FLB 64.4}

He who is imbued with the Spirit of Christ abides in Christ. The blow that is aimed at him falls upon the Saviour, who surrounds him with His presence. Whatever comes to him comes from Christ. He has no need to resist evil, for Christ is his defense. Nothing can touch him except by our Lord's permission, and "all things" that are permitted "work together for good to them that love God." {FLB 64.5}

Our heavenly Father has a thousand ways to provide for us of which we know nothing. Those who accept the one principle of making the service of God supreme, will find perplexities vanish and a plain path before their feet. {FLB 64.6}

As a little child, trust to the guidance of Him who will "keep the feet of his saints." 1 Samuel 2:9. {FLB 64.7}

As we commit our ways to Him, He will direct our steps. {FLB 64.8}

- d. If we are talking about what we are doing, we can be fooled by ourselves.
 - i. Mat 7:22 Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, didn't we prophesy in your name? Didn't we force out demons and do many miracles by the power and authority of your name?' Mat 7:23 Then I will tell them publicly, 'I've never known you. Get away from me, you evil people.'

- 4. “The last prayer that Christ offered for His disciples before His trial was that they might be one in Him. Satan is determined that this oneness shall not be; for it is the strongest witness that can be borne that God gave His Son to reconcile the world to heaven. But the union for which Christ prayed must exist among God's people before He can bestow on the church the enlargement and power that He longs to bestow on it.”

- 5. Schism and division are not the fruits of righteousness; they are of the wicked one. The great hindrance to our advancement at this time is the selfishness that prevents believers from having true fellowship with one another. The last prayer that Christ offered for His disciples before His trial was that they might be one in Him. Satan is determined that this oneness shall not be, for it is the strongest witness that can be borne that God did indeed send His Son to reconcile the world to heaven.-- Letter 41, Feb. 24, 1903, to Dr. F. E. Braucht, a physician laboring in Chicago. {UL 69.5}

- 6. Sunday’s Lesson: Bottom Paragraph - “We must not . . .”
 - a. Can this be hidden?
 - b. Do we have to be careful that we make sure someone will notice our good works?
 - i. We have to be careful that “we use the Law appropriately” to diagnosis whether we are following Christ. ((1Ti 1:8 GNB) We know that the Law is good if it is used as it should be used.)

7. Sunday’s Lesson: Grey Box at bottom of page:

- a. Divide this box into 2 sections:
 - i. First two questions: How have you been affected by those whose actions matched their profession? How have you been affected by those whose actions didn’t match their profession?
 - (1) Are our (or other’s) assessments always correct?
 - (a) 2 Corinthians 10:7 (2Co 10:7) You are looking at the outward appearance of things. Are there some there who reckon themselves to belong to Christ? Well, let them think again about themselves, because we belong to Christ just as much as they do.
 - (b) 1 Samuel 16:7 (1Sa 16:7) But the LORD said to him, "Pay no attention to how tall and handsome he is. I have rejected him, because I do not judge as people judge. They look at the outward appearance, but I look at the heart."
 - (2) What Biblical examples can you list to illustrate this point?
 - (a) Judas
 - (b) Christ
 - (c) Hannah at the temple
 - (d) John the Baptist’s assessment of Christ
 - (i) Matthew 11:18 (Mat 11:18) When John came, he fasted and drank no

wine, and everyone said, 'He has a demon in him!'

- (ii) Matt 11:1 - 19 John mistook Jesus for someone else, yet he was the greatest prophet that ever lived.
- (iii) John 7:33 - 36 Pharisees didn't recognize him for who He was.
- (iv) John was the 'greatest prophet' ever and he made a mistake of assessment.
- (e) Isaiah 53.4 "We esteemed Him smitten of God"
 - (i) How many of us have at some time or other thought that it was God who beat up on Christ and tortured Him for our sins? That it was God who exacted the price for our sins on Him?

ii. Second Section: What will help you to always remember that your actions will influence others, one way or another?

- (1) What is the emphasis here?
 - (a) (Our actions and what people see.)
- (2) What should be our emphasis?
 - (a) our relationship with Christ/God
- (3) The Law (or some other external guide/instrument) is only helpful as a diagnostic aid, not a blueprint for action.
 - (a) Romans 2:15 GNB (Rom 2:15) Their conduct shows that what the Law commands is written in their hearts. Their consciences also show that this is true, since their thoughts sometimes accuse them and sometimes defend them.

- (b) Romans 3:20 (Rom 3:20) For no one is put right in God's sight by doing what the Law requires; what the Law does is to make us know that we have sinned.
- (c) Romans 7:7 (Rom 7:7) Shall we say, then, that the Law itself is sinful? Of course not! But it was the Law that made me know what sin is. If the Law had not said, "Do not desire what belongs to someone else," I would not have known such a desire.

8. Monday's Lesson: Read the first paragraph - "Each day we all . . .

- a. Are we suppose to bring every one to a full knowledge of Christ?
- b. Do we bring every one to a full knowledge of Christ?
- c. Jesus knew that his disciples after their busy labors would derive great benefit by engaging in private communion with him and with their brethren. He knew that a season of rest and recreation, apart from the multitude and the scene of their labors, would invigorate them, and he sought to withdraw them from busy cities to a quiet resort where they might have a season of precious fellowship with him and with each other. Would that all missionaries and workers in the various branches of the cause of God would bear in mind that though Jesus could work miracles, though he had empowered his disciples to work miracles, he commanded that his worn followers should go apart into the country for rest. Self-denial is required of the disciples of Christ, and self-sacrifices must be made; but care must also be exercised lest through human infirmity and feebleness the work of God be marred. The Lord knoweth our frame, he remembereth that we are but dust. Our God is ever merciful, full of compassion, and reasonable in all his requirements. He does not require that we shall pursue a course of action that will result in the loss of our health or the enfeeblement of our powers of mind. He would not have us work under a pressure and strain until exhaustion follows, and prostration of the nerves. The Lord has given us reason, and he expects that we shall exercise reason, and act in harmony with the laws of life implanted within us, obeying them that we may have a well-balanced organization. Day follows day, and each day brings its responsibilities and duties, but the work of tomorrow must not be crowded into today. The workers in the cause of God should feel how sacred is its character, and they should prepare themselves for tomorrow's work by a judicious employment of their powers today. {RH, November 7, 1893 par. 6}

- d. All who are under the training of God need the quiet hour for communion with their own hearts, with nature, and with God. In them is to be revealed a life that is not in harmony with the world, its customs, or its practices; and they need to have a personal experience in obtaining a knowledge of the will of God. We must individually hear Him speaking to the heart. When every other voice is hushed, and in quietness we wait before Him, the silence of the soul makes more distinct the voice of God. He bids us, "Be still, and know that I am God." This is the effectual preparation for all labor for God. Amidst the hurrying throng, and the strain of life's intense activities, he who is thus refreshed, will be surrounded with an atmosphere of light and peace. He will receive a new endowment of both physical and mental strength. His life will breathe out a fragrance, and will reveal a divine power that will reach men's hearts.--The

- e. Our God is ever merciful, full of compassion, and reasonable in all His requirements. He does not require that we shall pursue a course of action that will result in the loss of our health or the enfeeblement of our powers of mind. He would not have us work under a pressure and strain until exhaustion follows, and prostration of the nerves. The Lord has given us reason, and He expects that we shall exercise reason, and act in harmony with the laws of life implanted within us, obeying them that we may have a well-balanced organization. Day follows day, and each day brings its responsibilities and duties, but the work of tomorrow must not be crowded into today. The workers in the cause of God should feel how sacred is its character, and they should prepare themselves for tomorrow's work by a judicious employment of their powers today.--Review and Herald, Nov. 7, 1893.
- f. Prepare! Prepare! should be sounded in the ears of the people. For the great day of God's wrath is coming, and who shall be able to stand; and while messengers cry to God to prepare and get ready, they must be awake and have energy themselves and let it tell to all that hear them that they are standing between the living and the dead. Preachers and people who believe the third angel's message should set a holy, lively example. Their conversation and actions should show that they are looking for the appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ.--Manuscript 1, 1855, pp. 1,2. (Untitled, undated.)
- g. Read Monday's Lesson paragraph four (4).
 - i. God understands the need for more workers and will supply them.

- ii. Is that our job? To supply the workers?
 - iii. Is it our job to compel someone else in our church community to be a worker?

- h. The highlighted box at the bottom of the page: What is compassion?

- 9. Tuesday's Lesson:
 - a. Paul's all things to all people
 - b. Fourth paragraph: "Of course this is what Jesus did. . .
 - i. He didn't just talk in their language, but saw what they wanted / needed.
 - c. Examples: woman at the well, farmers, fisherman, etc.
 - d. Why did it not work for the rich young ruler?
 - i. (He was interested in himself only.)
 - ii. Compare to the woman at the well
 - (1) Immediately went back to town and brought others.

- 10. Wednesday's Lesson: Begins by discussing our care for others. Then the second paragraph talks about hospitality.
 - i. What is love?
 - ii. How do we convey love?
 - iii. How is hospitality different from love?
 - b. The story of the demon-possessed man in Mark 5:1 - 19.
 - i. Jesus forbid the healed demoniac from going with him and directed him to return to his village.
 - (1) What was the purpose of the command?
 - (2) Was it so that Christ would get a better reception next time he came by?
 - (3) What did this directive do for the former demoniac?
 - (4) What is the effect of other centered activity of love?
 - (a) It is how we are designed to function

- (b) We are happiest when we are helping others
 - (c) In our damaged state we do not have complete “normal” comprehension. Some people still haven’t figured out that Christmas gifts are much more fun giving than receiving.
 - c. In the fourth paragraph we are encouraged to “have friendships outside of our circle of believers.”
 - i. Are there dangers here?
 - ii. Is this a “tool” we are to “use”?
 - iii. What about medicine?
 - (1) Why is it described as the right arm of the gospel?
 - (2) Can good health be compelled?
 - (3) God wants us to be healed from our sickness of sin.
 - d. Read aloud: Luke 14:12 - 14 (Luke 14:12) Then Jesus said to his host, "When you give a lunch or a dinner, do not invite your friends or your brothers or your relatives or your rich neighbors---for they will invite you back, and in this way you will be paid for what you did. (Luke 14:13) When you give a feast, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, and the blind; (Luke 14:14) and you will be blessed, because they are not able to pay you back. God will repay you on the day the good people rise from death."
 - i. What does this have to do with friendship evangelism.
 - ii. Is friendship evangelism a tool
11. Thursday’s Lesson: Widening Your Friendship Circle
- a. Read the first paragraph
 - b. What is the purpose of having friends “outside of the fellowship.”?

- c. Is it for the purpose of “reaching people with the gospel message” that we are to have such friends?
 - i. Is that truly being a friend?
 - ii. When you get married, is it the healthiest relationship if we enter into this bond with the idea that we are going to change our new marriage partner?
 - iii. Did Jesus heal the sick, just so they would listen to his depiction of the kingdom of God?
- d. What ways have you worked to form friendships with non-Christians?
- e. Does how you “keep the Sabbath” prevent you from interacting with others?
 - i. Why?
- f. Do you have any recreation?
 - i. Adventists are great at work, but traditionally have not been very good at play.

12. Friday’s Lesson:

- a. Discussion Questions:
 - i. #2: Think about your church as a whole. How integrated into the community is it? If your church vanished tomorrow, how much difference to the community would that make? Would it make any difference at all?
 - ii. When we first moved to Chattanooga,
 - (1) “they live out there and don’t come in here”
 - (2) “I don’t know much about them”

13. Quotations to consider:

- a. Character is power. The silent witness of a true, unselfish, godly life carries an almost irresistible influence.

By revealing in our own life the character of Christ we co-operate with Him in the work of saving souls. It is only by revealing in our life His character that we can co-operate with Him. And the wider the sphere of our influence, the more good we may do. When those who profess to serve God follow Christ's example, practicing the principles of the law in their daily life; when every act bears witness that they love God supremely and their neighbor as themselves, then will the church have power to move the world. {COL 340.2}

- b. It is not the opposition of the world that most endangers the church of Christ. It is the evil cherished in the hearts of believers that works their most grievous disaster and most surely retards the progress of God's cause. There is no surer way of weakening spirituality than by cherishing envy, suspicion, faultfinding, and evil surmising. On the other hand, the strongest witness that God has sent His Son into the world is the existence of harmony and union among men of varied dispositions who form His church. This witness it is the privilege of the followers of Christ to bear. But in order to do this, they must place themselves under Christ's command. Their characters must be conformed to His character and their wills to His will. {RC 222.4}

- c. Those who have genuine love for God will manifest an earnest desire to know His will and to do it. Says the apostle John, whose epistles treat so fully upon love, "This is the love of God, that we keep his commandments" (1 John 5:3). The child who loves his parents will show that love by willing obedience; but the selfish, ungrateful child seeks to do as little as possible for his parents, while he at the same time desires to enjoy all the privileges granted to the obedient and faithful. The same difference is seen among those who profess to be children of God. Many who know that they are the objects of His love and care, and who desire to receive His blessing, take no delight in doing His will. They regard God's claims upon them as an unpleasant restraint, His commandments as a grievous yoke. But he who is truly seeking for holiness of heart and life delights in the law of God, and mourns only that he falls so far short of meeting its requirements. [pg 82] {SL 81.1}

We are commanded to love one another as Christ has loved us. He has manifested His love by laying down His life to redeem us. The beloved disciple says that we should be willing to lay down our lives for the brethren. For "every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him" (verse 1). If we love Christ, we shall love those who resemble Him in life and character. And not only so, but we shall love those who have "no hope," and are "without God in the world" (Eph. 2:12). It was to save sinners that Christ left His home in heaven and came to earth to suffer and to die. For this He toiled and agonized and prayed, until, heartbroken and deserted by those He came to save, He poured out His life on Calvary. {SL 82.1}

- d. The more we contemplate the character of Christ, and the more we experience of His saving power, the more keenly shall we realize our own weakness and imperfection, and the more earnestly shall we look to Him as our strength and our Redeemer. We have no power in ourselves to cleanse the soul temple from its defilement; but as we repent of our sins against God, and seek pardon through the merits of Christ, He will impart that faith which works by love and purifies the heart. By faith in Christ and obedience to the law of God we may be sanctified, and thus obtain a fitness for the society of holy angels and the white-robed redeemed ones in the kingdom of glory. {SL 83.2}

- e. Union With Christ Our Privilege “It is not only the privilege but the duty of every Christian to maintain a close union with Christ and to have a rich experience in the things of God. Then his life will be fruitful in good works. Said Christ, "Herein [Pg 84] is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit" (John 15:8). When we read the lives of men who have been eminent for their piety we often regard their experiences and attainments as far beyond our reach. But this is not the case. Christ died for all; and we are assured in His word that He is more willing to give His Holy Spirit to them that ask Him than are earthly parents to give good gifts to their children. The prophets and apostles did not perfect Christian character by a miracle. They used the means which God had placed within their reach; and all who will put forth the same effort will secure the same results. {SL 83.3}
- f. The foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. 2 Timothy 2:19. Self-denial, self-sacrifice, benevolence, kindness, love, patience, fortitude, and Christian trust are the daily fruits borne by those who are truly connected with God. Their acts may not be published to the world, but they themselves are daily wrestling with evil, and gaining precious victories over temptation and wrong. Solemn vows are renewed, and kept through the strength gained by earnest prayer and constant watching there unto.

The ardent enthusiast does not discern the struggles of these silent workers; but the eye of Him who seeth the secrets of the heart notices and regards with approval every effort put forth in lowliness and meekness. It requires the testing time to reveal the pure gold of love and faith in the character. When trials and perplexities come upon the church, then the steadfast zeal and warm affections of Christ's true followers are developed....

The humble in heart, who have daily felt the importance of riveting their souls to the eternal Rock, will stand unmoved amid the tempests of trial, because they trusted not to themselves.... A healthy man, who is able to attend to the vocations of life and goes forth day after day to his labor with buoyant spirits and with a healthy current of blood flowing through his veins, does not call the attention of everyone he meets to his soundness of body. Health and vigor are the natural conditions of his life, and therefore he is scarcely conscious that he is in the enjoyment of so rich a boon.

Thus it is with the truly righteous man. He is unconscious of his goodness and piety. Religious principle has become the spring of his life and conduct, and it is just as natural for him to bear the fruits of the Spirit as for the fig tree to bear figs or for the rosebush to yield roses. His nature is so thoroughly imbued with love for God and his fellow men that he works the works of Christ with a willing heart.

All who come within the sphere of his influence perceive the beauty and fragrance of his Christian life, while he himself is unconscious of it, for it is in harmony with his habits and inclinations. He prays for divine light, and loves to walk in that light. It is his meat and drink to do the will of his heavenly Father. His life is hid with Christ in God.—The Sanctified Life, 11-13.

- g. Those who take pains to call attention to their good works, constantly talking of their sinless state and endeavoring to make their religious attainments prominent, are only deceiving their own souls by so doing. A healthy man, who is able to attend to the vocations of life and who goes forth day after day to his labor with buoyant spirits and with a healthy current of blood flowing through his veins, does not call the attention of every one he meets to his soundness of body. Health and vigor are the natural conditions of his life, and therefore he is scarcely conscious that he is in the enjoyment of so rich a boon.

Thus it is with the truly righteous man. He is unconscious of his goodness and piety. He prays for divine light, and loves to walk in that light. It is his meat and drink to do the will of his heavenly Father. His life is hid with Christ in God; yet he does not boast of this, nor seem conscious of it. God smiles upon the humble and lowly ones who follow closely in the footsteps of the Master. Angels are attracted to them, and love to linger about their path. They may be passed by as unworthy of notice by those who claim exalted attainments and who delight in making prominent their good works, but heavenly angels bend lovingly over them and are as a wall of fire round about them.

The Sanctified Life, pg 12

- h. It is not only the privilege but the duty of every Christian to maintain a close union with Christ and to have a rich experience in the things of God. Then his life will be fruitful in good works. Said Christ, "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit" (John 15:8). When we read the Christ died for all; and we are assured in His word that He is more willing to give His Holy Spirit to them that ask Him than are earthly parents to give good gifts to their children. The prophets and apostles did not perfect Christian character by a miracle. They used the means which God had placed within their reach; and all who will put forth the same effort will secure the same results. Sanctified Life, pg 83

Lesson 5 Sequential Evangelism & Witnessing

Sabbath's lesson

"I fed you with milk and not with solid food; for until now you were not able to receive it" (1 Corinthians 3:2, NKJV).

"In all evangelism and witnessing, it is important that we first present the simple truth of the gospel."

What is the "simple truth of the gospel"??

Sunday's lesson -- Sequential Evangelism and Felt Needs

What are "felt needs"?? are there any unfelt needs??

Luke 9:10-17. 10 When the apostles returned, they reported to Jesus what they had done. Then he took them with him and they withdrew by themselves to a town called Bethsaida, 11 but the crowds learned about it and followed him. He welcomed them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who needed healing. 12 Late in the afternoon the Twelve came to him and said, "Send the crowd away so they can go to the surrounding villages and countryside and find food and lodging, because we are in a remote place here." 13 He replied, "You give them something to eat." They answered, "We have only five loaves of bread and two fish—unless we go and buy food for all this crowd." 14 (About five thousand men were there. But he said to his disciples, "Have them sit down in groups of about fifty each." 15 The disciples did so, and everyone sat down. 16 Taking the five loaves and the two fish and looking up to heaven, he gave thanks and broke them. Then he gave them to the disciples to distribute to the people. 17 They all ate and were satisfied, and the disciples picked up twelve basketfuls of broken pieces that were left over.

Matt 25: 31-46. 31 "When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit on his glorious throne. 32 All the nations will be gathered before him, and he will separate the people one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. 33 He will put the sheep on his right and the goats on his left. 34 "Then the King will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world. 35 For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, 36 I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me.' 37 "Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? 38 When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? 39 When did we see you sick or in prison and go to visit you?' 40 "The King will reply, 'Truly I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me.' 41 "Then he will say to those on his left, 'Depart from me, you who are cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. 42 For I was hungry and you gave me nothing to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me nothing to drink, 43 I was a stranger and you did not invite me in, I needed clothes and you did not clothe me, I was sick and in prison and you did not look after me.' 44 "They also will answer, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or needing clothes or sick or in prison, and did not help you?' 45 "He will reply, 'Truly I tell you, whatever you did not do for one of the least of these, you did not do for me.' 46 "Then they will go away to eternal punishment, but the righteous to eternal life."

Does this apply to the guy with the sign at the end of the freeway off ramp??

Monday's lesson -- Milk and Solid Food.

What is the milk of the gospel?? What is the solid food??

- Reliability of Bible Milk / Solid Food??
- Christ's mission Milk / Solid Food??
- God's Character Milk / Solid Food??
- Our Character Milk / Solid Food??
- Sabbath Milk / Solid Food??
- State of the dead Milk / Solid Food??
- Dietary restrictions Milk / Solid Food??
- 2nd Coming of Christ Milk / Solid Food??
- God's Law Milk / Solid Food??
- Sin Milk / Solid Food??
- Heaven / Hell Milk / Solid Food??
- Destruction of wicked Milk / Solid Food??
- Sanctuary [Heavenly/Earthly] Milk / Solid Food??

Does it matter where we begin??

Heb 5:11-6:3. 11 We have much to say about this, but it is hard to make it clear to you because you no longer try to understand. 12 In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! 13 Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. 14 But solid food is for the mature, who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil. 6:1 Therefore let us move beyond the elementary teachings about Christ and be taken forward to maturity, not laying again the foundation of repentance from acts that lead to death,[a] and of faith in God, 2 instruction about cleansing rites,[b] the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment. 3 And God permitting, we will do so.

John 16: 12-16. 12 "I have much more to say to you, more than you can now bear. 13 But when he, the Spirit of truth, comes, he will guide you into all the truth. He will not speak on his own; he will speak only what he hears, and he will tell you what is yet to come. 14 He will glorify me because it is from me that he will receive what he will make known to you. 15 All that belongs to the Father is mine. That is why I said the Spirit will receive from me what he will make known to you."

Tuesday's lesson -- Testing Truths

What have been some "testing truths" in your experience??

John 6: 53-66. 53 Jesus said to them, "Very truly I tell you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. 54 Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise them up at the last day. 55 For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink. 56 Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me, and I in them. 57 Just as the living Father sent me and I live because of the Father, so the one who feeds on me will live because of me. 58 This is the bread that came down from heaven. Your ancestors ate manna and died, but whoever feeds on this bread will live forever.” 59 He said this while teaching in the synagogue in Capernaum. 60 On hearing it, many of his disciples said, “This is a hard teaching. Who can accept it?” 61 Aware that his disciples were grumbling about this, Jesus said to them, “Does this offend you? 62 Then what if you see the Son of Man ascend to where he was before! 63 The Spirit gives life; the flesh counts for nothing. The words I have spoken to you—they are full of the Spirit[?] and life. 64 Yet there are some of you who do not believe.” For Jesus had known from the beginning which of them did not believe and who would betray him. 65 He went on to say, “This is why I told you that no one can come to me unless the Father has enabled them.” 66 From this time many of his disciples turned back and no longer followed him.

How is this concept a “testing truth”? The lesson suggests that many who heard this message understood it, but rejected it. Any other thoughts??

John 14:15. 15 “If you love me, keep my commands.

How is this a “testing truth”? What are Jesus’ commands? Does our view of God change our perspective on “commands”?

Wednesday’s lesson -- Measuring Spiritual Growth

The lesson suggests one good way to measure growth is by asking questions [see below]. Any other ways we can think of??

“Some typical questions might be, What do you think these verses are saying to us today? How would you share this Bible truth with a friend? How do you feel about God’s promise to you? What changes do you think you need to make in your life, in your attitude toward others, and in how you live in general, because of what you have been studying? How do these truths help you to love Jesus more? Of all the things you have been learning, what impresses you the most? What gives you the most hope? The most fear [emphasis added]?”

If we are causing an increase in fear, might there be something that needs correcting in the message?? Certainly, some spiritual “infants” might naturally experience fear with any new concepts, but this should be short lived.

The lesson makes the great point that Bible studies and other evangelistic presentations should be orderly and logical, with the simple principles covered first, then moving to more complex issues. What should be the starting point for the vast majority of people??

Thursday’s lesson -- Preparing a Harvest

Revelation 14:15. Then another angel came out of the temple and called in a loud voice to him who was sitting on the cloud, "Take your sickle and reap, because the time to reap has come, for the harvest of the earth is ripe.

As the seed sown produces a harvest, and this in turn is sown, the harvest is multiplied. In our relation to others, this law holds true. Every act, every word, is a seed that will bear fruit. Every deed of thoughtful kindness, of obedience, of self-denial, will reproduce itself in others, and through them in still others. So every act of envy, malice, or dissension is a seed that will spring up in a "root of bitterness" whereby many shall be defiled. Hebrews 12:15. And how much larger number will the "many" poison! Thus the sowing of good and evil goes on for time and for eternity. {PK 86.2}

We cannot possibly know how far reaching one word or act of kindness will be in the hands of the Holy Spirit in transforming someone's character.

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 6 2Q 2012

Personal Evangelism and Witnessing

Read Memory text: "You are my witnesses," says the Lord, "and My servant whom I have chosen." (Is 43:10)

Thoughts?

What does it mean? Is this speaking only of the Jewish nation or would this include all those who accept Jesus as their Savior?

What does it mean we are his witnesses? About what? To whom? For what purpose?

Romans 3:4 "God must be true, even though every human being is a liar. As the scripture says, "You must be shown to be right when you speak; you must win your case when you are being tried." GNT

Is God being tried? Does He need witnesses?

Does Revelation 14 bear on this trial of God? "Fear God and give glory to him for the hour of his judgment has come."

Is this, rather than speaking of a time when God sits in judgment of us, speaking of a time when His witnesses are called to bear Him glory because the hour He is being judged has come?

Doesn't the Revelation 14 text go on to say we are to return to the right knowledge of God as creator? And what does Paul say we see when we look into creation?

Rom 1:20 God's eternal power and divine nature! We are called to reveal God's character of love and turn minds of men back to God as creator, not just that He is powerful, but to show them His design for life, the law of love in action in nature.

How will that help? Why is revealing God's law of love in nature needed by God at this time in earth's history?

Two grand theories have enveloped the world and hold the minds of men in bondage:

- Penal Substitution – God is a being who must kill, punish, torture and who needs to be appeased, propitiated etc. And in reaction to this distorted view of God that came out of the Dark Ages....
- Evolutionary theory and there is no God

At this time in earth's history these two distortions fight back and forth for converts and both cloud the mind. God is calling a people to show the perfect harmony that exists between His character of love and the laws of nature & science - the protocols upon which life was constructed.

We are to give God glory by revealing His character of love in our lives and teach people how God built the universe in harmony with His character of love, thus turning the minds of men back to the Creator God!

What were the allegations made against God?

- God is arbitrary makes up laws and rules because He is powerful, thus misuses His power
- Severe and unforgiving (one small mistake and poof your toast)
- Controlling
- Power over – threatens to get conformity
- Domineering
- No freedom
- Willing to sacrifice others but not self

How did God answer the allegations?

God made planet earth and mankind in His image.

- How does this planet, mankind answer the allegations?
- The law of love as the protocol upon which life was constructed – what does it reveal?

But mankind chose to follow Satan – which means what?

Our characters were changed from love to be selfishness. Who then did we reveal?

- And all nature groans under the weight of the survival of the fittest principle and
- What does nature now reveal? A clear cut revelation of God, or a battle between two antagonistic principles?

Christ came to do what?

- Reveal truth about God
- To destroy the lies of Satan (which is Satan's power) thus disarming and destroying Satan
- Destroy death
- Heal mankind to eternal life

If Christ did this, if He revealed the truth about God, if His life is the answer to the questions about God – what are we witnesses of or for or to?

Do we have something to witness to in regard to God Himself?

I tell you the truth, anyone who has faith in me will do what I have been doing. He will do even greater things than these, because I am going to the Father. Jn 14:12

Thoughts? What could we do greater than Jesus?

Does this text have something to do with our witness?

What does a witness do?

If a doctor claims to have a cure for cancer, what would the doctor need? Medical records? Or actual patients who were sick and now well? Would there need to be patients, those who have been seen to be sick, who have been seen as ill by someone other than the one claiming to have a cure, and then wouldn't those patients need to be seen well, cancer free?

Is there a difference between presenting a person who has never had cancer and is therefore cancer free, and one who has had cancer and is now cancer free?

Is there a difference in God's healing solution in what we see in the life of Jesus and what we see in the lives of the saved?

If a patient with cancer takes a remedy that cures the patient, does the patient become a witness for that doctor and his treatment? Does the patient get to brag and take any credit to themselves? No!

This is our situation – we get to be witnesses to our incredible heavenly Physician, who loves us, woos us, draws us, gave Himself to achieve the Remedy, and then works with us, patiently, slowly healing as we are able to tolerate (i.e. allow Him). We get to tell of His character, reveal His character in our lives and to live out His love in how we treat others.

Our lives show how He is so gracious. Was there ever any reason for the Father to be disappointed with Jesus? Or did the Father say, this is my Son in who I am well pleased?

What about us? Is there ever any reason for God to be disappointed with us? Yet, how does He treat us? Does His treatment of us, despite our failings, sickness, twisted hearts, reveal something about the Father?

Consider the list of people who have been His witnesses recorded in Scripture, what do we learn about God from these witnesses:

- Adam and Eve
 - Incredible Creator
 - Giver of freedom, intelligence, individuality, procreative power, dominion, and everything for health, happiness
 - When they fell, how did God approach them – what do we learn about God?
- Noah
 - The world is dying, bent on self-destruction, what do we learn about God through Noah?
 - Did God want the world to die? Or did He warn and try to save?
- Abraham
 - What about Abraham's idols? How did God treat Abraham?
 - What about Abraham's lies? How did God treat him?
 - What about when Abraham argued over Sodom?
 - What about when Abraham took other wives?
 - What does Abraham's life witness about God?
- Lot (and his daughters) – what do we learn about God?
- Jacob/Israel
 - What do we learn about God?
- Moses
 - Moses was a murderer – How did God treat Moses?
 - When God called Moses, how did Moses respond?
 - When God said He was going to wipe out Israel what did Moses say?
 - What is Moses' witness about God?
- Gideon
 - What about Gideon's faith? Strong or weak?
 - What do we learn about God in responding to Gideon as He did?
- Samson

- What does Samson's life witness about God?
- Gives gifts but doesn't control
- Patiently waits for us to be willing to be healed
- David
 - Murderer, adulterer, violent man – How does God treat David?
 - And what do we see in David's life?
 - Does it witness something about God?
- Solomon
 - What witness does he give about God?
 - Who wrote Ecclesiastes?
- Manasseh
 - Manasseh brought prostitutes into the temple
 - Sacrificed his own son to Moloch
 - Was taken captive, but repented and God had him restored to his throne
 - What witness does Manasseh give about God?
- Your life – what do we learn about God from your life and mine?
 - If we have messed up, done awful things, can we still be witnesses for God, if we surrender to Him and allow Him to work in our lives?
 - What do we witness about God?
 - Do we witness about Him by what we tell others, how we describe Him? What about how we treat others?
 - But what if we, in our human weakness, have moments in which we don't act graciously – what then?
 - How will God treat us?
 - Will He cast us off?
 - How should we respond after a mistake?
 - Can we still be used of God if we have made mistakes?
 - How should we treat someone who has made mistakes? How would God treat them?

God takes the worst cases and heals, restores, cleanses, recreates. The weak things of the world to confound the wise!

Read Key Thought: “Those who have the joy of assurance of salvation will want to lead others to experience the same.”

Thoughts?

Does the idea of assurance of salvation bring peace or anxiety?

Do you think this is a helpful question to ask people, “Are you saved?” or “Do you have assurance of salvation?”

Would it be different if we asked, “Do you have assurance of friendship with God?”

Does that question “feel” different to you?

- If you have a restored “friendship” with God, wouldn’t that necessarily result in salvation?
- But where is the focus of the assurance of salvation question?
 - Isn’t it on self, which increases fear, because we are looking at ourselves. Whereas the friendship with God question is looking at God! This is the key.

It is like a cancer patient looking at their cancer and asking if they have assurance they are going to get well, what happens? Worry, fear, insecurity, as they see lesions and problems from the cancer, which is in the process of being healed.

But if they instead focus on their doctor, (assuming the doctor has a cure that works 100% of the time) then they see him, his confidence, smile, assurance that all is going well and fear is removed.

We are not to focus on self, our status, our “sins” but our focus is to be on God. Jesus said, “Life eternal is knowing God.” Jesus did not say, “Life eternal is getting your sins pardoned” or even “getting yourself cured.” These outcomes happen when we genuinely know and trust God!

Can the idea of “assurance of salvation” actual make it harder for some to be saved?

- Could a person accept, say the idea of “legal payment” and experience “assurance of salvation” that all their sins are paid, but still not know God and thus be lost? While feeling assured they are saved?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Our personal...” thoughts?

Can we share knowledge, facts, truths?

Can we share errors, distortions, misunderstandings?

Can we make it easier or harder for people to know God depending on what we share?

Can we tell others about our relationship with God? Can we pass on a relationship?

What is our first duty? Is it not to know God intimately for ourselves? And then represent Him as accurately as possible?

Read second paragraph, “Of course...” thoughts?

Does what we have read here mean she has left the church? If one leaves a denomination, does that mean one is not part of God’s family or true church?

Does it sound judgmental to suggest if a person leaves a denominational group they have left the faith, or are lost, or have left God?

Could God actually lead people out of a particular church?

Regardless of what church, isn’t it generally the case the people in the church who was left regard those leaving as lost?

Why? Is it because those leaving are lost, or because those staying need to justify their staying, and are afraid to consider the possibility the one leaving may be moving forward in light and truth?

This process is called devaluation. It classically happens when a woman, who having been mistreated, beaten by her husband, leaves him and he accuses her of being unfaithful. He devalues her to avoid accepting the problems in himself.

Of course, people can leave the church because they are turning their back on God and His true kingdom, but is that always the reason?

What is the reason to belong to one particular denomination over another?

Would it be because you can fulfill God's purpose for your life more effectively within that group? So that you can collaborate with others in doing what God has called you to do?

Wouldn't it be great if some denominational church, instead of trying to make other's members of that denomination, would focus its evangelistic energy on helping each person attain God's plan for their life? Helping each person find where God wants them and supporting them in that mission?

Remember the movie Miracle on 34th street? The person playing Kris Kringle was Macy's Santa and he started sending people to other stores to get what they wanted, and suddenly Macy's was getting all this great good will. He was showing genuine concern for the happiness of the customer and not seeking to promote what was best for Macy's.

What would happen if denominational churches were not focused on making people loyal to the denomination, but focused on helping people find God's will for their lives and fulfilling that purpose? Even if that meant staying in another denominational church?

Do you think in the end it would draw more people to that church because they would experience that organization genuinely interested in their welfare?

What message is sent if we imply that if you don't belong to a certain organization you will be lost, or if you don't worship on a certain day you will get the mark of the beast? Would this draw people or drive them away?

Should we presume to know where the Holy Spirit wants another person to work?

MONDAY

Read last paragraph – “The early movement...” thoughts?

Come and See – what can we invite people to come and see?

It seems there invitation was fairly easy – Jesus was on earth, come and see Jesus for yourself, watch Him, talk to Him, listen to His sermons, see Him heal the sick, feed the hungry, confront the arrogant theologians, get to know Him.

Do you think you would be able to invite people more easily if Jesus were here in person?

If we knew Jesus would be physically visiting us next week, would it be easier to invite people? Why?

What can we invite people to come and see now, today?

Can we invite people to come and reason? Come and think, evaluate and consider the truth Jesus revealed for themselves and decide for themselves whether they want to know this God?

Can we invite people to get to know us? And if they get to know us will that encourage them to know God or not?

Would you want to get to know God if the only example you knew was you?

TUESDAY

Last sentence of first paragraph states, “However, the Bible reveals to us that God is not necessarily looking for those who are the most qualified as much as those who are willing to be used, whatever their gifts or talents.”

Thoughts?

Middle of the lesson it states, “God does not focus upon past performance but upon personal potential. Each believer has tremendous potential to contribute to the Lord’s work.”

Thoughts? If we are to reveal God should we have the same attitude toward others?

Do we find that organizations, people in organizations, you and me, are willing to overlook past mistakes and value people and join with people to work for God’s cause?

Or do we focus on the past? Continue to see people through the lens of past difficulties?

What do we say about God when we behave this way?

What might cause a person to look at past mistakes rather than current condition and whether the person has experienced change of heart?

If we view a person through the lens of sickness, struggling with disease, and mistakes happen, do we consider them differently than if we view them through the lens of an imposed law?

Have they paid for what they have done yet? Or, that was a symptom of heart sickness, but they are being healed?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Do actions...” thoughts?

How does it look to act like you love God? Would it depend on the God you love?

Might a person burn someone at the stake, shoot an abortion doctor, protest a homosexual for the love of the god they serve? And might such action be in harmony with the god they worship?

But, is such a god like Jesus? Do we ever find Jesus burning people at the stake, using power to coerce, stoning the adulterer etc? Isn't God just like Jesus?

Why do people want to represent God differently than Jesus did?

Read third paragraph, “We can imagine...” thoughts? Why would one take an argumentative and nagging approach?

Could it have anything to do with the kind of god the person was converted to? Could it have anything to do with her understanding of God's law? If God's law is imposed and God is required to impose penalties, might she feel obligated to pressure her husband into conformity of behavior?

What if she saw her husband struggling with a disease? Might she express her concern, love, desire for his wellness, and yet not be argumentative?

How can we be more effective in warning others of the danger of alienation from God and His kingdom of love, without sounding threatening, condemning, critical, arrogant, mean spirited, etc.?

How do we warn of the dangers of smoking, drinking, drunk driving, drugs etc?

Is this how we should warn of alienation from God and His kingdom?

Would this require we change our view of His law from an imposed view to a natural view? And sin as a condition out of harmony with God's design for life?

THURSDAY

First paragraph asks, "Are you aware of what strategies your church has in place in its work to lead people to Jesus?"

Thoughts?

Are the strategies leading to Jesus or to church affiliation and denominational loyalty? Are these one and the same?

Jesus told the religious leaders of His day,

"Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You travel over land and sea to win a single convert, and when he becomes one, you make him twice as much a son of hell as you are." Mt 23:15

Are we in danger of doing the same thing today?

What did Jesus mean? Doesn't it mean that they filled the minds of these converts with more distortions about God, more errors regarding God's kingdom, more confusion over God's law of love such that the person who converted was actually had more barriers to knowing God than they did before conversion.

Could this happen in churches today? Could churches bring people to know about doctrines, but those very doctrines, which might be correct in and of themselves, be presented in ways that misrepresent God and thus add layers of barriers to knowing God?

For instance, could a person be converted to the seventh-day Sabbath, but have it presented as an arbitrary test of obedience, from an arbitrary god? So they are converted to a right doctrine, but a false god?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, “While we would...” thoughts?

How can we ensure we are cooperating with the Holy Spirit?

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 7 2Q 2012

Cooperate Witnessing and Evangelism

Read Memory Text “And the things that you have heard from me among many witnesses, commit these to faithful men who will be able to teach others also.” 2Tim 2:2

Thoughts? Any ideas what Paul taught Timothy that Timothy is to teach others, who are to teach others?

Could the verses that follow give any clues? Read 2Tim 2:3-7:

Here is the NIV:

Endure hardship with us like a good soldier of Christ Jesus. ⁴ No one serving as a soldier gets involved in civilian affairs—he wants to please his commanding officer. ⁵ Similarly, if anyone competes as an athlete, he does not receive the victor’s crown unless he competes according to the rules. ⁶ The hardworking farmer should be the first to receive a share of the crops. ⁷ Reflect on what I am saying, for the Lord will give you insight into all this.

Thoughts? What are the examples Paul gave? Is there a theme? A principle? Something that would give insight into what Paul taught Timothy, and that Timothy is to teach others?

Here is my paraphrase:

2Tim 2:3 Remember we are on the same team, so endure with us the hardship of advancing the Remedy as a dedicated soldier of Jesus Christ. ⁴ No active duty soldier spends his energy on civilian matters, but carries out his orders to please his commander. ⁵ Similarly, an athlete will never win a competition if he fails to exercise, work out, or operate in harmony with the laws of health. ⁶ And it is the farmer who is diligent, who plants, waters, fertilizes and operates in harmony with laws of nature that receives the best crop. 7 Meditate on the principles of God's kingdom I am describing, for the Lord will help you understand all of this.

Is Paul saying that God's kingdom is not arbitrary, is not built on civilian laws and rules, but has natural laws? That we should not get diverted into the governments of the world, either in their politics, or allowing their concept of law to enter out theology, but we should remember how an athlete wins, he exercises and naturally gets stronger and more proficient, and a farmer works in harmony with the laws of nature and reaps the benefits.

Is Paul actually pointing to the evidence of nature to help Timothy understand and remember God's kingdom of love is built on natural laws of giving? And we are to teach others these same principles?

SUNDAY

The lesson title is "Letting the Left and Right Hand Know."

Historically, within this church, what has been considered the "right hand" of the gospel?

The medical missionary work is to be to the work of the church as the right arm to the body. The third angel goes forth proclaiming the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. The medical missionary work is the gospel in practice. All lines of work are to be harmoniously blended in giving the invitation: "Come; for all things are now ready." {8T 77.2}

Again and again I have been instructed that the medical missionary work is to bear the same relation to the work of the third angel's message that the arm and hand bear to the body. Under the direction of the divine Head they are to work unitedly in preparing the way for the coming of Christ. The right arm of the body of truth is to be constantly active, constantly at work, and God will strengthen it. But it is not to be made the body. At the same time the body is not to say to the arm, "I have no need of thee." The body has need of the arm in order to do active, aggressive work. Both have their appointed work, and each will suffer great loss if worked independently of the other.--Testimonies, vol. 6, p. 288. {ChS 134.4}

Thoughts? Why is the medical ministry to be the right arm of the gospel?

The health message is to be the right arm of our work because it not only opens doors, but models most powerfully the plan of salvation as God's plan to heal us from sin and restore His law of love in our minds. It is "the gospel in practice." Why? Because the practice of medicine operates upon natural laws of health, which are based upon the law of love.

Only in cooperation with God's design template are physical ailments cured and that means leading people to understand the law of love. As they see this law in nature, through the health message, their minds can be elevated to see the reality of God's character. The reason it is the "right arm" and not the "body," is that we need mental/spiritual healing, not just physical healing. We need heart/mind renewal with fear and selfishness removed and love restored within. So if we made the medical missionary work the "body," we would merely help people live longer in sin, rather than helping them experience, through the Holy Spirit, renewal of mind, heart and character.

Thoughts? Have we done this as a people? What has gotten in the way?

When we divorce Scripture from Science, from God's laws of health, from the laws of nature God built His universe to run upon, then we get confused and misunderstand God's character, Word and intent.

Read first paragraph, "Most people..." thoughts?

What should our goal be as a ministry?

MONDAY

How do you define evangelism? Do you have any ideas on avenues to evangelize?

What can we do to be more effective?

What can we do to get this message to others?

Don't we have to provide a message that resonates with where people are, what they are struggling with, that makes sense to them, that meets a need they actually have?

We are going to have a Potluck followed by Let's Talk, Saturday June 16, and I will present the program on Domestic Violence in the church that I presented at the AACC and then we will have a discussion. We will plan on webcasting this so anyone can participate live and recording it for a future DVD set. Please invite friends from other churches who can't come to our class to come to this event.

Do you have ideas on what we can do to create materials which reveal the truth about God, His methods and principles in a way that connects to where people are today?

I have discovered that there are no children's materials available that teach this message. No children's books, no children's lessons, nothing for our kids. No wonder so many grow up confused, we indoctrinate the children on legal God constructs, teach them beasts, and scary scenarios of wrathful punishment and then are surprised when many leave the church or reject God.

Wouldn't it be great if we could develop children's material? It would take a team. One person couldn't do it.

TUESDAY

Working together as a team.

First I want to thank all of you who are already engaged and involved and part of our team. So many of you are active and working to make this ministry thrive.

Any ideas on how we can coordinate and work together more effectively to expand the impact and reach of this message?

Read third paragraph, "Without question..." thoughts?

Do you experience this solid team, connection, support in the church? What about in our class? If not what can we do to build this cohesion?

In the military one of the keys to success is morale and cohesion. If morale and cohesion break down then the fighting effectiveness of the unit is lost. But a unit with high cohesion and morale, even when outnumbered and poorly supplied can rally and turn a battle.

One of the methods to create morale and cohesion is to have soldiers train together and face obstacles, challenges, difficulties, which they overcome by working together. They are put in situations where they depend on each other and learn to trust each other. They must get to know each other, and actually come to love each other. The bonds of camaraderie forged in battle are some of the strongest human bonds formed.

How can we as a class, as a community, forge such bonds?

Do you notice a similar dynamic in the upper room? Christ had just been killed, the community of His followers were under attack, their lives were in danger, and they were putting themselves in harms way meeting together, and opening their homes up to hide and protect each other.

In this state they pulled together, facing a common enemy, and reached out together for God's grace, protection and interventions.

Do we face a common enemy? Do you experience the reality of that enemy or is it more theoretical? "Oh Yeah, that old devil, he's such a trouble maker...." Or do you recognize this is a life and death struggle in which we are engaged?

Do you get riled, upset, incensed?

Which is more dangerous, and also more offensive, putting a bottle of poison in the kitchen cabinet labeled with skull and crossbones, with bold letters "POISON" or putting the poison in a juice bottle which advertises the health benefits of drinking the juice?

Which is more dangerous, and therefore more outrageous, those who reject God altogether, or those who claim to be followers of God, but who misrepresent Him?

I had a patient once, some time ago, a Christian, church attender, married to an active member in their church. The wife prior to ever meeting the man she married, had had a one time sexual encounter in her adolescence, never again. Since marriage she has been faithful, and never even considered straying from her marriage vows. Her husband, views porn regularly, and talks about other women he is attracted to, and he constantly criticizes his wife for being an adulterer for having slept with someone before they were married. He accuses her of being defiled, of deceiving him, of not being pure, of being unholy, of being unworthy, because she had sex before marriage and he never did.

Thoughts about this?

Does this offend you? Are you outraged by it? Why? Why is this offensive?

Do we have an enemy who is attacking? How does the enemy work? Do we unite together, or do we get played, used, by the enemy to attack each other?

I look back on my life and I sadly have made mistakes, found myself being critical, rather than simply focus on presenting the love of Jesus, the truth of God's kingdom. It sickens me to realize how many times I have fallen short, and I don't want to fall short any more!

I want us to pull together, to work together, to present the truth about God's kingdom of love, to drive back the distortions and lies, to knock down the strongholds of Satan.

What can we do to experience greater unity, cohesion, friendship and mutual support?

Read bottom pink section, "Eager to witness..." thoughts?

How do we balance the reality that a group can protect us from certain errors or mistakes, with not surrendering our individuality to the group?

I have been shown that many who profess to have a knowledge of present truth, know not what they believe. They do not understand the evidences of their faith. They have no just appreciation of the work for the present time. When the time of trial shall come, there are men now preaching to others, who will find, upon examining the positions they hold, that there are many things for which they can give no satisfactory reason. Until thus tested, they knew not their great ignorance. {CW 39.2}

And there are many in the church who take it for granted that they understand what they believe, but, until controversy arises, they do not know their own weakness. When separated from those of like faith, and compelled to stand singly and alone to explain their belief, they will be surprised to see how confused are their ideas of what they had accepted as truth. Certain it is that there has been among us a departure from the living God, and a turning to men, putting human wisdom in place of divine. {CW 39.3}

How do we balance the safety that comes from being part of a group, with the danger that can come from surrendering our thinking to the group?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “When a unified church...” thoughts?

What is the task at hand? What is our mission at this time in earth’s history?

I love this quotation from one of the founders of our church:

“It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth...The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love.” Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

I so much want to tell the truth about God – and I am so imperfect at it. Yet, Christ calls upon us, imperfect, sinful, human’s to be his witnesses.

What methods do you find effective in telling people about God?

What obstacles do you run into as you try and share?

- Theological –
- Business of life (yours and the society)
- Financial
- Family conflict or crisis
- Avenues to share
- Fear of rejection
- Lack of confidence in one's ability
- Human prejudice
- Personality differences
- Gossip/rumor
- Evolutionary theory

First paragraph states that we are commanded to love one another, what do you understand that to mean?

- To have positive feelings for each other?
- To act in harmony with God's methods and principles when dealing with each other?
- To actually regard, value and care about each other – more than self?

What can we do to experience this growth in love?

Read bottom pink section – “As you think...”

Thoughts?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “It has been..” thoughts?

What does it mean to be incorporated into the body of Christ?

Does it mean “accepted”? Does it mean to experience oneself as valuable, precious, useful, and part of something larger than oneself?

What are the obstacles to incorporating people?

- People themselves are elusive – hold back, are often spectators and afraid to commit
- We often don’t reach out and ask for involvement – why?
- Differences in people
 - Different views on what is to be done?
 - Different views on how to do it?
 - Different visions?
 - Different views about God?
 - What about different views about women leadership?
 - What about different sexual orientation? Does this paragraph about incorporating people into the body of Christ apply to homosexuals? Can they be incorporated into the body of Christ? Why or why not?
 - Is advocating for the loving outreach to homosexuals the same as promoting homosexuality as God’s design?
 - Can a church love homosexuals, even include them in ministry, choir, usher, greeter, working with visitation, helping others, and simultaneously send a message that homosexuality is not God’s design for human relationships?
 - Can a church include people with blindness, deafness, and send the message that blindness and deafness are not God’s design for humanity?
 - Can a church include sinners and send the message that sin is not part of God’s design?
 - Where is the balance between loving people in sin and sending the message that sin is destructive and not part of God’s design?

Read second paragraph, “The Christian’s...”

How can we help members mature? What can we do to foster spiritual growth?

Do we need to spend more time together?

- I know when trying to recover from injury and going to PT we often need to spend more than 1 hour a week with the physical therapist, and then do we need to spend time each day doing the exercises prescribed?
- Do we need to have activities designed to foster personal growth and victory?
- Have we fallen into complacency, business with life, have we allowed the cares of the world to begin choking out the good seed?

FRIDAY

The lesson suggests that evangelism have some form of evaluation – how can we evaluate the effectiveness of our ministry?

Churches generally use membership numbers and tithe/offering tallies to measure effectiveness.

Can you think of other measures?

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 8 2Q 2012

Equipping for Evangelism and Witnessing

Read Key thoughts: “Whatever the important proper training, we must first be grounded in our relationship with Jesus before we can be ‘properly equipped’ to effectively witness for our faith.”

Thoughts?

What would it mean to be grounded? What would you say is necessary?

- Those Christ healed went and did what?
 - The blind man did what?
- The woman at the well went and did what?
- Did they witness about Christ?
- What was their relationship to Christ?

I am not saying we should not be grounded in our relationship with Jesus, I am only trying to establish what being grounded is?

- Is it grounded in the reality that Jesus is Savior?
- Is it grounded in the reality that Jesus is God?
- Is it grounded in the knowledge that He is not only Savior, but is also good, loving, kind, and trustworthy? That He is interested in our welfare and restoration?
- Is it grounded in a trust relationship with Him?

We are talking about witnessing and being grounded, last week someone brought to my attention Philippians 1:15-18:

It is true that some preach Christ out of envy and rivalry, but others out of goodwill. ¹⁶ The latter do so in love, knowing that I am put here for the defense of the gospel. ¹⁷ The former preach Christ out of selfish ambition, not sincerely, supposing that they can stir up trouble for me while I am in chains. ¹⁸ But what does it matter? The important thing is that in every way, whether from false motives or true, Christ is preached. And because of this I rejoice.

Thoughts? Some versions say they preach Christ for profit, why is Paul rejoicing rather than trying to stop it?

Would this be true today, should we rejoice when people preach Christ out of selfish ambition and to gain profit? Are they representing Christ and His kingdom correctly, or are they misrepresenting God and making it harder for people to come to Christ?

Why did Christ chase out the moneychangers from the Temple?

I love this description in the book Desire of Ages:

As Jesus came into the temple, He took in the whole scene. He saw the unfair transactions. He saw the distress of the poor, who thought that without shedding of blood there would be no forgiveness for their sins. He saw the outer court of His temple converted into a place of unholy traffic. The sacred enclosure had become one vast exchange. {DA 157.2}

Christ saw that something must be done.

Numerous ceremonies were enjoined upon the people without the proper instruction as to their import. The worshipers offered their sacrifices without understanding that they were typical of the only perfect Sacrifice. And among them, unrecognized and unhonored, stood the One symbolized by all their service. He had given directions in regard to the offerings. He understood their symbolical value, and He saw that they were now perverted and misunderstood. Spiritual worship was fast disappearing. No link bound the priests and rulers to their God. Christ's work was to establish an altogether different worship. {DA 157.3}

With searching glance, Christ takes in the scene before Him as He stands upon the steps of the temple court. With prophetic eye He looks into [the future], and sees not only years, but centuries and ages. He sees how priests and rulers will turn the needy from their right, and forbid that the gospel shall be preached to the poor. He sees how the love of God will be concealed from sinners, and men will make merchandise of His grace. As He beholds the scene, indignation, authority, and power are expressed in His countenance. The attention of the people is attracted to Him. The eyes of those engaged in their unholy traffic are riveted upon His face. They cannot withdraw their gaze. They feel that this Man reads their inmost thoughts, and discovers their hidden motives. Some attempt to conceal their faces, as if their evil deeds were written upon their countenances, to be scanned by those searching eyes. {DA 157.4}

The confusion is hushed. The sound of traffic and bargaining has ceased. The silence becomes painful. A sense of awe overpowers the assembly. It is as if they were arraigned before the tribunal of God to answer for their deeds. Looking upon Christ, they behold divinity flash through the garb of humanity. The Majesty of heaven stands as the Judge will stand at the last day,--not now encircled with the glory that will then attend Him, but with the same power to read the soul. His eye sweeps over the multitude, taking in every individual. His form seems to rise above them in commanding dignity, and a divine light illuminates His countenance. He speaks, and His clear, ringing voice--the same that upon Mount Sinai proclaimed the law that priests and rulers are transgressing--is heard echoing through the arches of the temple: "Take these things [away]; make not My Father's house an house of [commerce]." {DA 158.1}

Thoughts?

What were the spiritual leaders doing? They were doing their ministry for selfish ambition, but Christ didn't rejoice in it, why? Because they made God's house appear to be thievery, they misrepresented God.

Then how can Paul be rejoicing in the situation? And should we today?

What was the circumstance for the new Christian church?

- Was Christianity widely known and accepted?
- Did they have established synagogues/churches in every city?
- Would there be large groups waiting to book meeting halls for famous preachers?
- Was their religion approved and given protection by the state?
- Would they be risking their lives to preach Christ?
- Did the Jewish nation have an official relationship with Rome?
- Was their power still being bargained for between the Jews and Rome?
- Did the emerging Christian church, at that time, have any official relationship with the state?
- Did the emerging church have any power to bargain for?
- Could the church expect the protection of the state?

And converts, was it popular to be a Christian when Paul was writing?

Would this make a difference in why Paul was rejoicing in Christ being preached for whatever motive, but also why Christ was offended by what the Jews were doing?

What about today? Should we rejoice or grieve when people present Christ for selfish ambition or as a way to get rich?

Read first paragraph – “It is highly...” thoughts?

- Are there people in church organizations without any personal assurance of salvation?
- Are these people ever involved in evangelism?
- If a person without assurance of salvation is witnessing, to what are they witnessing?
 - What might be a problem with this?
 - What might they convert people to?
- Where is the focus when we focus on “assurance of salvation?” Is it on knowing God and Jesus or on ourselves, our condition and situation?
- When you are in love what do you want to talk about and think about, the person whom you love, or how you now have assurance that your situation is better, that you are not alone, that you have someone to help with the bills etc.
 - Is the focus on you, or on the other person?
 - Isn't the assurance you have subsumed under your love for that person?
- Yet there is a sense our joy, love, admiration, devotion derives from our awareness of being saved, delivered, rescued, etc.
 - If we were dying of cancer and then cured, wouldn't delivery from that disease give us joy, wouldn't it generate in us appreciation for those who helped get us well?
 - What would be more powerful, the promise of cure, or experiencing the cure?
 - What brings greater assurance, the promise of legal pardon, or experiencing a renewed heart/mind and trust relationship with Jesus?
 - The plan of salvation, the plan of healing, starts here and now, and as we experience the work of the Holy Spirit actually transforming us, we experience greater love for and confidence in God!
- Could a person have “assurance” and actually not be saved? How, can you think of such a situation?

What do you understand the relationship between doctrinal and spiritual to be?

- Would spiritual be the personal relationship with God, developing a love for God and others, character development?
- Would doctrinal be the specific beliefs one holds?
- But, what is the purpose of doctrine if they don't inform us about God?
- Do doctrines affect the spiritual? How?
 - Scientific studies have documented that extrinsic religiosity was a significant predictor of child abuse potential, intrinsic religiosity was not (Dyslin & Thomsen, 2005)
 - This means spiritual development reduces abuse, while doctrinal religious structure increases abuse
 - Physical abuse has a negative relationship with spiritual development, but not with religiosity (Webber & Cummings, 2003)
- When Jesus said that God is spirit and wants his followers to worship Him in spirit and in truth, to what was He referring?

What do you think of the trend to move away from doctrine and focus only on spiritual development?

- Left brain is the more analytic, facts oriented, doctrinal oriented part of the brain. The right brain is more involved with experiencing the connections with others, sense of self and others.
- The Holy Spirit focuses where?
 - Both – the Spirit of Truth and Love and truth is left brain and love/relationships/connectedness is right brained.

Is there danger in focusing on doctrine without spiritual development? What might that be?

Is there danger in focusing on spiritual development without pursuing more accurate doctrinal understanding? What might that be?

How can we achieve a proper balance?

- Make all our doctrines connect to the truth about God, as revealed in Christ, and help in our relationships with God and others?
- If some doctrine undermines what Christ revealed about God it is wrong
 - In other words if some doctrine makes God out to be different in character than Jesus revealed it is wrong!
- If some doctrine violates God's testable laws, like law of love, law of liberty, law of worship etc. then it is wrong

SUNDAY

The lesson talks about training people to witness for Christ. What training do you believe would be helpful?

- Is it training in the truths of God's kingdom?
 - The law of love, liberty, worship
 - The origin of sin
 - The purpose of creation of man
 - How Satan prosecutes his war, his methods of attack
 - God's methods of combating Satan
 - The two antagonistic principles at war in our lives
 - The purpose of Christ's mission to earth
 - What was accomplished by Christ?
 - How this translates into practical application to our lives today?
 - God's plan for the future?
- What about training on speaking skills?
- What about training regarding interpersonal dynamics?
- What about psychological training?

What training would you like so you would feel confident, comfortable and ready to tell people about God's kingdom?

If we were to have training sessions what would you want included in those sessions to help you?

How many of you would be interested in having some ready to use slide kits and programs you could use to share this message?

Where would you use them? What would you want them to contain?

Is anyone willing to help plan and organize such events?

MONDAY

Read third paragraph, "The principle of learning..." thoughts?

What did they observe? Did they see a tribunal? They observed healing, feeding, teaching, what was happening?

Jesus was imparting, giving, distributing love, resources, substance, energy from Jesus to the people. He was giving of self to heal body and mind/heart/character.

Would Jesus be doing this if He held a grudge? Would Jesus be doing this if He was against sinners?

Was Jesus carrying out His own purposes or the Father's?

Would Jesus be doing healing, feeding, giving of self to heal and uplift if the Father was against us, if the Father held grudges or was unforgiving?

Then did Jesus come with the Father's love and forgiveness to dispense, or did He come to earn, enable, or otherwise put God into a position where God was willing to forgive?

What about Jesus authority over sickness, disease, demons, evil powers? Did He have authority? What does this say the idea that Satan was the actual ruler of earth? Did Satan have any real, valid, legitimate claim to earth?

Was Jesus always the rightful ruler of earth? Did Jesus need to do anything to get His rightful rulership back, or did He need to do something to convince intelligent beings of the reality and righteousness of His rulership?

Where did Satan have to be defeated by Christ –

- In a heavenly courtroom to gain some legal verdict from His Father over Satan?
- In some actual physical confrontation to defeat Him in strength power and might?
- In the minds of intelligent beings exposing Satan as liar and fraud and confirming God and Christ as completely trustworthy, loving and honorable?
- The only place Satan has power is in the minds of intelligent beings, and Christ only needs to defeat Satan in the minds of intelligent beings. There is never a need for any courtroom, legal defeat of Satan.
- In Zech 3, when Satan is accusing the high priest, the angel of the Lord, (Christ), doesn't engage in legal arguments, doesn't plead His blood, doesn't beg His Father, doesn't even acknowledge the allegations of the devil. No! He simply heals the person, removes the sin and creates righteousness within!
- When Christ resurrected Moses and the devil attempted to debate and argue, Christ didn't give him any discussion, simply rebuked Satan and raised Moses.

Any theory which has God or Christ doing something to earn, merit, reclaim, attain, legally achieve any power from Satan is based on the false premise that Satan actually has anything to be taken.

The battle is always and only been in the minds of intelligent beings, who do we trust, what do we believe.

This is why Christ never argues with Satan, never responds to Satan's accusations, never listens to what Satan says.

Instead Christ heals, feeds, frees, raises from the dead, cleanses, restores, recreates. Christ doesn't argue with Satan, He defeats him by revealing the truth about God to win us to trust, by healing humanity in His own personhood 2000 years ago and by healing and setting people free from lies, fear, and selfishness whenever one of us will let Him.

What do we learn by observing what Christ did? To actually go out and teach the truth, heal, feed, set minds free. Don't waste time arguing over whether you have the right to do it, speak the truth in love and let the Holy Spirit bring conviction!

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "No matter...." Thoughts?

What happens when we begin to put into practice what we have learned?

Ideas become behaviors, behaviors reinforce the ideas, neural circuits change, repeated behaviors become habits as neural circuits become established and reinforced and we slowly are changed and transformed.

Does this always happen in a positive direction?

WEDNESDAY

Learning through "failure" what do you think about the title?

Here are a couple of quotations attributed to Thomas Edison:

- I am not discouraged, because every wrong attempt discarded is another step forward.
- I have not failed. I've just found 10,000 ways that won't work.
- Many of life's failures are men who did not realize how close they were to success when they gave up.
- Nearly every man who develops an idea works at it up to the point where it looks impossible, and then gets discouraged. That's not the place to become discouraged.
- Show me a thoroughly satisfied man, and I will show you a failure.

Thoughts?

What is the point of the first quotes? Every attempt that didn't work is not a failure but a lesson learned, information gained, experience attained. If we use such experience we grow wiser with each experiment.

The last quote – did it remind you of anything in scripture? It reminded me of Laodicea – complacent and satisfied with their station and success. Are we resting satisfied with where we are as individuals, a church, as a ministry?

Read first paragraph, “Sometimes...” thoughts?

What do you think about setting baptismal goals? Do you think Peter had a goal of 3000 baptisms at Pentecost? Should our goal be on who responds, or on how well we present the truth, how well we fulfill God's purpose for us?

Moses didn't get great response from Pharaoh, Elijah didn't get a great response from Ahab and Israel, Jesus got initial amazing response, but then everyone left, Stephen didn't get a great response from his preaching –

How do we set goals? What is a healthy way to measure our effectiveness in achieving our goals?

Will everyone respond to the Lord the first time they hear a message presented?

While the Holy Spirit calls everyone to the same character development, to love God and others, does the Holy Spirit call everyone to the same organization? Why or why not?

Doesn't the Holy Spirit want men and women working for Him everywhere, to be salt to the earth? Would that mean He would want to have people loyal to Him in other organizations? Until the great shaking?

THURSDAY

What does success look like? How can we measure it?

What do we learn from success? Can you name any lessons we learn from success?

- To give God the glory and credit
- Are we not to experience any joy or happiness about our participation?
- Story of the man who bought a run down old farm, spent several years fixed it up, rebuilt barn, planted crops and turned it into a beautiful productive farm. Then a new pastor moved to town and came out to the farm and commented to the farmer, "You and God have done a wonderful job on this place," to which the farmer replied, "You should have seen it when God had it all to Himself."

What else do we learn from success?

- What works
- What resonates with people
- What gets through

FRIDAY - Read and discuss questions 1, 2.

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 9 2Q 2012

Releasing Into Ministry

Read Memory Text – “And how shall they preach unless they are sent? As it is written: ‘How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the gospel of peace, who bring glad tidings of good things!’” (Rom 10:15 NKJV)

Thoughts about the memory text?

Paul is referencing Isaiah 52:7

How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of those who bring good news, who proclaim peace,
who bring good tidings,
who proclaim salvation,
who say to Zion,
“Your God reigns!”

What do you think about Paul not quoting exactly the reference in Isaiah? Have you noticed NT writers frequently do this? Why? What are the possibilities?

- Don't have a text available and quoting from memory and make a mistake? How do you feel about that if this is being inspired by the Holy Spirit? Does it affect your understanding of inspiration if the Holy Spirit allows mistakes into the text?
- The writer purposely changes the quote to shape it for his current audience, leaving out sections deemed irrelevant. What if we were to do that?

What is the message of good news? What is the message of peace? What is the message of salvation?

In Isaiah it has a first reference to deliverance from Babylonian captivity, but it also is a prelude to Isaiah 53, the prophecy of the Messiah.

So, what is the good news of peace and salvation that we have to take to the world?

I was reading in a book Rediscovering the Scandal of the Cross by Green and Baker, the following:

We must face the reality that, even when it is articulated by its most careful and sophisticated adherents, penal substitutionary atonement remains susceptible to misunderstanding and even bizarre caricature. Accordingly, the drama of the death of Jesus becomes a manifestation of God's anger – with God as the distant Father who punishes his own son in order to appease his own indignation. One of us has received a report from a friend leading a Sunday school class in which a boy observed, “Jesus I like, but the Father seems pretty mean!” “Why is God always so angry?” another friend asked. “A policeman with a billy club writing up a ticket for yet another of my transgressions; an official at a basketball game always blowing the whistle: ‘Foul! Foul! Technical foul! You’re out of here!’ – these are the images of God I knew,” our friend observed. p. 30

They also observe:

If, at least to a significant degree, penal substitutionary atonement has been a “culture product” of life in the West, is it any surprise that proclamation of the gospel grounded in this theory has tended to fall on deaf ears in other social worlds? Christian missionaries from the West, armed with this central affirmation of the gospel – namely, the good news that Jesus has come to take away your guilt, that Jesus has been punished for you so that God can declare you not guilty – have often reported their surprise upon discovering the huge populations of the world for who guilt is a nonissue. p. 29

Thoughts?

I have contended for some time that Christ hasn't returned because the gospel of the kingdom has not gone to the world as a witness to all nations. I found it reaffirming that these authors, find the doctrine of penal substitution to be the main construct and manifestation of Christianity that has gone to the world, yet they also find it is merely a product of western culture, not based in Scripture and not effective in reaching the world for Christ.

Do we have a message that resonates for all humans? What is that message? What is the good news you would take?

The world currently operates upon two antagonistic principles, love and selfishness, good and evil, light and dark, yin and yang. Eastern philosophies, and all humans recognize these two principles:

- Plants produce fruit, grains, nuts and beautiful flowers and scents – yet also poisons, thistles and thorns
- Animals are loving, loyal, yet also ferocious and dangerous
- Rain refreshes the land, yet storms destroy
- Despots can murder millions yet love their families
- Christianity teaches battle between carnal and spiritual man

Do we have a message that addresses this? It reminds me of one of the founders of our church who said:

The student should learn to view the word as a whole, and to see the relation of its parts. He should gain a knowledge of its grand central theme, of God's original purpose for the world, of the rise of the great controversy, and of the work of redemption. He should understand the nature of the two principles that are contending for supremacy, and should learn to trace their working through the records of history and prophecy, to the great consummation. He should see how this controversy enters into every phase of human experience; how in every act of life he himself reveals the one or the other of the two antagonistic motives; and how, whether he will or not, he is even now deciding upon which side of the controversy he will be found. Ed 191

Do we understand the two antagonistic motives? Can we explain them? Can we express them in terms that connects with other cultures? Do we have any good news to address this problem?

In Eastern philosophy yin and yang is conceptualized not in moral tones, but as positive and negative in everything always balanced. They include things like male and female, back and front, light and dark, hot and cold, up and down, and that as the yin reaches its pinnacle it automatically leads to yang and vice versa.

And the two must be joined together to have a whole like male and female, or light and dark.

What is your understanding of this philosophy? Any strengths? Any weaknesses? Any obvious errors?

- There are aspects of this that are true – male and female as God designed are required to make one whole human
- Front and back of the hand are required to make a whole hand, but so are the sides
- Wheat fully grown yang – goes back to seed, yin – the cycle of life
- So the yin and yang touch on the circle of love, the law of love as God designed the universe to operate
- But the concept that there is no good or evil is, in my mind, a state of denial – there is good and there is real evil in this world. The idea that there is no good or evil actually perpetuates Satan's goal, which is the eternal existence of good and evil.
- The Eastern philosophy suggests, like the wheat, that death is part of the cycle of life and one must perpetually die and experience reincarnation.

How do you understand the humanity's problem and the good news God has provided to solve the problem and how might you share it with someone from the East?

What about affirming the circle of life, the law of love, the giving to live as seen in nature? What about exploring with them what happens when the circle is broken? So evil would be something that interferes with the seed falling to the ground and growing again.

But is there a difference between a plant and an intelligent sentient being? How do you present eternal life, the possibility of never dying, living forever without pain, suffering, death?

And that in Christ the two antagonistic forces met head to head and love overcame selfishness.

What would you say to those who see a recycling of energy, that when we die the energy that was in us returns to the universe and when someone is born the energy that was ours is being used by them?

Does Christianity have something to say to people who think like this?

Our bodies will return to the dust of the earth, and the breath of life will go back to God, who gave it to us. Ecc 12:7 GNB

Does this have anything to say about energy returning to God? And does God dispense the energy again?

What is the error in the idea that the return of energy in the form a new life, baby being born, is reincarnation as they teach in the East?

It undermines individuality – how many individuals are there?
 With the increase in population if everyone is reincarnated where are the new lives coming from?

Consider water used in the body – when we die the water goes back into the cycle of water reused throughout the earth, when a new baby is born some of the water in their body may have been used in many people before, but does that mean the baby is one of those previous people?

What good news do we have for people in this view?

What about the story of creation, of the introduction of sin, which caused the two antagonistic principles, and a future in which no recurring cycles of rebirth and suffering over and again, but free from suffering and elimination of pain?

Another aspect is shame versus guilt. In the book,
Rediscovering the Scandal of the Cross the authors point out that western cultures have guilt based philosophies while eastern cultures have shame based philosophies.

Here are some of the differences between guilt and shame:

Shame	Guilt
Focus on self	Focus on the act
Nature of fault
Failure to meet self-expectations	Offense against legal exp.
Internal Reaction
Embarrassment/Disgrace	Condemnation/Remorse
Self-depreciation	Self-accusation
Fear of abandonment	Fear of punishment
Resentment	Anger
Self-isolation	Self-justification
Alienation	Hostility

Social Reaction

Ridicule & exclusion	Blame & hold responsible
Disgrace & hold in contempt	Accuse & condemn
Disapprove & reproach	Punish & retaliate

Remedy

Identification & communication	propitiation through restitution or penalty
Love banishes shame	Justification banishes guilt

Here is a story told in the book to illustrate this difference:

A tragic accident provided...[the] first clues as to why the common penal substitution explanation of atonement, so clear and logical to Western missionaries, had not satisfied this Japanese church leader. A young man from [the local] congregation was driving a company truck and accidentally hit and killed two women walking by the side of the road. The police and court demonstrated more concern for the relationships and people's responses than to written codes. They handled the case in a way markedly different from American legal processes. The young man immediately confessed that the accident was his fault because he had been going too fast. The judge put him in custody but released him to attend the funerals of the two women who had been killed. The judge attended the funerals also and carefully observed not only how the young man behaved but how the families responded to him. In the meantime the police carefully investigated and exonerated the young man. They said he could not have been going as fast as he reported, and they discovered that the company truck had a steering defect. The young man was let out of jail to do a work of public service for the rest of the year, and then he was fully released and rehabilitated. The case demonstrated...that the Japanese had a difference concept of how justice is achieved... (Green, J., Baker, M., Rediscovering the Scandal of the Cross, Intervarsity Press, p. 154)

Thoughts? With this in mind do we have any Good News to take to people in Japan?

Would the message, “Jesus died to pay our legal penalty and take away guilt” reach people in this society? No! What about when Adam and Eve sinned they shamed themselves and humanity, and Jesus came to remove that shame, heal mankind and restore honor to humanity?

Here is one of many quotes that communicate such an idea, imagine sharing this with someone from a shame based society:

Christ came to give expression to the law of God, to represent the Father's character. He came to minister to man, to restore in him the moral image of God. Tho he was rich, yet for our sake he became poor, that we through his poverty might be made rich. {ST, August 26, 1897 par. 3}

God did not create man sinful. Adam came forth from the hand of his Maker without the taint of evil. The holy pair might have retained their innocence, had they lived by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God, had they refused to listen to the strange voice declaring another story than that which God had told them. But they abused their high and holy privileges. They were left free to choose between good and evil, and they chose the evil. And as they chose to believe the lie of Satan and disobey the express command of God, that which was pure and godlike in their nature became perverted and defiled... {ST, August 26, 1897 par. 4}

In his humanity, Christ lived a perfect life, thus elevating humanity in the scale of moral worth with God. With his human arm Christ lays hold of man, while with his divine arm he grasps the throne of the Infinite. Thus he imbues man with his own spiritual nature, and lifts him to his side, to be cherished and loved as the Father loves his Son. {ST, August 26, 1897 par. 6}

There are many such quotations – what is the purpose of Christ in this view? Restoration of humanity, taking away shame, restoring humanity back to God’s original ideal, including in moral worth and station.

SUNDAY

Read first sentence, “Many church leaders...” I want to go on record I am willing to share – if you would like to help out we have so many places and opportunities to share this message.

Here are the new pamphlets we have purchased, which describes the beauty of God’s character so share with all Christians. I have several boxes here today and if you want a box to take please feel free to do so. I am putting them in my waiting room at my office. Feel free to do likewise at your office if you would like.

If you have ideas about how to promote this message let us know.

Anyone interested in working as an organizer, planner, administrator helping with all the coordination etc. let us know.

MONDAY

In the first paragraph the lesson suggest that there is fear behind the professional only mindset that a non professional might do something wrong in evangelism and turn people away from Christ and His church.

Thoughts about this?

The lesson asks us to consider what Christ said in Mt 7:17,18:

Likewise every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. ¹⁸ A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, and a bad tree cannot bear good fruit.

How does this help us in determining who is qualified for evangelism?

The lesson asks, “How do we determine between good and bad fruit, and how should the church leadership as a whole be involved in this process? Also, how do we do this without judging others?”

Thoughts about this?

When you go to the grocery store and pick out fruit, determining the good from the bad fruit, are you judging the fruit? Or can you do that without judging which is good and which is bad?

Or perhaps they are saying we could not judge good and bad fruit, but mature and immature fruit? In other words someone may be “good” but immature and therefore not ready to lead evangelism?

But, are there bad apples in the mix? How do we determine this? Do we judge people or do we judge the ideas they put forth, the picture of God they teach, and how it affects people?

Like a remedy a doctor puts forth – could a doctor have a good heart and put forth a purported remedy, intending to help, but it is actually ineffective?

Could a profit motivated doctor put out a remedy, not interested primarily in helping but in making money, but nonetheless the remedy works?

Should we concern ourselves with the motives or the message? And what if good people, with good motives are ignorantly, but passionately, putting forth messages that don't heal, and even perhaps harm? How should we respond?

What is our responsibility? Is it to silence them or to present a healing remedy clearly so people can choose for themselves?

The lesson points out a key – “If we give adequate attention to the leading of people into a meaningful and deepening relationship with Jesus, the Holy Spirit will ensure that they bear the right fruit.”

This is well said – how can we focus our efforts in helping this become a reality for our ministry?

TUESDAY

The lesson brings up a great point, namely that different people, from different backgrounds, cultures, generations, races will respond differently, so each of us can go places and be effective where others of us cannot. Some of you will be able to talk to and witness to people who would never listen to me. And I may be able to witness to some who wouldn't listen to you.

This is a powerful truth that I want us all to embrace, don't think you are not qualified to tell others about God as Jesus revealed. You may be the only person that a particular individual will ever listen to.

What if each one of us were constantly alert for opportunities to share the truth about God's kingdom, methods, principles and what Christ accomplished for us? Do you think we would reach more people collectively than if only a few speak publicly?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Spiritual growth...” thoughts?

What have you found has helped in your spiritual growth?

- Quiet time with God – prayer
 - How many minutes a day do you get with silence, no radio, TV, computer, ipad, iphone, just silence to think?
 - How often to you seek to quiet your mind?
- Meditation on creation
- Study God’s word
- Sharing with others and study with others
- Helping other people
- Others?

Read second paragraph, “A valid question...” thoughts?

How can you tell truth from error? What methods do you use?
What tools are helpful?

- Opinions of others? (Bible commentaries for instance?)
- It feels right?

What are the sources of information from which we can draw?

- Scripture
- God’s laws in nature
- Experience (including experience with God, revelation from God, experience with others, observation, etc)

How do we use these?

- Use all of Scripture requiring all the inspired writings to harmonize
- Require all three sources of information to harmonize – God who inspired Scripture is also the God who created nature and thus the laws of nature
- Reject interpretations that violate the laws of nature
- What is the difference between a natural law and evidence from nature?
 - Natural law – gravity, thermodynamics, law of - liberty, law of love

- Evidence in nature – fossils, complexity of life
- Laws are constants and can be used as boundaries for our ideas. Evidence of nature is open to interpretation, when, how, why are there dinosaur fossils?
- What are some principles for interpreting Scripture correctly?
 - Pray for wisdom and don't seek to understand God on your own.
 - Have a humble heart willing to learn
 - But don't be gullible, require answers to be evidence based and sensible
 - Important to understand the context
 - But equally important not to be tied to tightly to the context – much of Scripture has meaning outside the local setting in which it was originally written. Plus, primary purpose of Scripture is God revealing himself to us. So, we must use the entire scripture to draw the fullest picture of God
 - Old Testament best understood through the lens of Jesus – not the other way around
 - Evidence texts enlighten or inform the claims texts (i.e. Christ's life inform us to the meaning of the text, "God is love.")
 - Let Scripture define itself, don't bring local, or recent definitions to the subject
- Others?

THURSDAY

The lesson discusses harmony and differences amongst those who are witnessing for the Lord.

If differences arise between people witnessing for the Lord, even publicly, and heatedly, does that necessarily mean either person is not working for the Lord? What about Peter and Paul? Was there a heated public disagreement? But weren't both still working for the Lord?

But, was one of them in error? Does being wrong on an idea, point, interpretation, presentation, mean one is not working for the Lord?

What would move one outside the Lord's team? Would refusal to follow truth, refusal to grow, refusal to give up error and instead hold to error take one away from God's team? If Peter would have rejected Paul's redirection, and insisted on going down the path of the Judiazers, would he have remained on God's team?

We all have errors, misunderstandings, incomplete perspectives, constructs that are in some way distorted – yet this doesn't remove us from God's team. As long as our hearts remain open to truth, willing to grow, humbly willing to investigate ideas that are different, and allowing evidence to lead us and change our beliefs as new truth unfolds.

If we however, close our minds to truth what happens?

God never urges any one on in wickedness. He never leads man to become desperate in his rebellion. He will not that any should perish, but that all should be saved. But he forces no one to accept the light. If, after bearing long with man, God sees that he will not submit, he leaves him to work out his natural hatred. He gives him up to the worst of all tyrants,--self. {YI, May 25, 1899 par. 9}

From those who will not see the light, who are determined to go on in the hardness of their hearts, God gradually withdraws the restraining power of his grace. {YI, May 25, 1899 par. 10}

Today, as in the days when Christ worked his wonderful miracles, the truth of God is made known. Men have within themselves the evidence of its divinity. The Holy Spirit impresses their minds by the manifestation of divine power. If received, the light sent from God leads to freedom, life, and salvation. But if by resistance, preconceived opinions are strengthened, if the God-given blessing is not received, the light becomes darkness. {YI, May 25, 1899 par. 11}

Thoughts? Does this give any insights?

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 10 2Q 2012

A Love Response

Read memory text: “If you love me keep My commandments.”
(John 14:15)

When you hear the memory text what comes to mind? What thoughts, feelings and attitudes does it stimulate? How do you hear it?

- A nice suggestion?
- A dictator’s order?
- A manipulation “If you love me....”
- A doctor’s prescription?

What does it mean? Why would we keep his commands if we love him? How is Christ saying this different from a spouse saying, “If you love me you will obey me and do what I say?” Or is it the same? If we love our spouses should we speak to them this way? Then why does Christ speak to us this way?

If your spouse was dying of a terminal condition, and you actually had a treatment protocol that would save them. And perhaps your spouse didn’t understand anything about the seriousness of their condition or the necessity of the treatment, might you say “If you love me you will follow my directions”?

And what is the difference in saying, “If you love me you will following my directions” and “If you love me you’ll wash my car”?

Is it that the directions for cancer treatment are selfless directions, whereas wash the car is selfish commands?

What are Christ’s commands?

Read first paragraph, “Although our memory...” thoughts?

Can you name Christ's commands?

- Love God
- Love others
- Make disciples, spread Gospel, help the needy
- Ten Commandments
- Aren't all of these expressions of love?

So, what is the basis for Christ's commands? Are they not all selfless commands, instructions on how to cooperate with God to live in harmony with God's law of love?

Does it make a difference if we follow Christ's command or not? What difference does it make?

- Does it make a difference in God's attitude toward us?
- Does it make a difference in us?
- This is what science says about altruism, volunteerism or loving others:
 - Dozens of studies over several decades have examined relationships between volunteer work and health-related outcomes. Most studies have shown positive volunteering-health associations. Among, youth, evidence suggests that volunteer work is associated with a plethora of positive developmental outcomes, such as academic achievement, civic responsibility, and life skills that include leadership and interpersonal self-confidence (Astin & Sax 1998).ⁱ
- Four studies between 1996 and 2003 evaluated the effect of volunteerism and longevity in the elderly. Controlling for confounding variables, such as health when entering the study, all four studies "reported that volunteers tended to live statistically longer than those who did not volunteer."ⁱⁱ

- Not only do volunteers live longer but they live better:
 - Several studies have examined the relationship between volunteering and physical functioning. Moen, Dempster-McClain, and Williams (1989) studied 427 women who resided in upstate New York and were both wives and mothers in 1956. Over the next 30 years, compared to nonvolunteers, women who did any volunteering had better physical functioning in 1986, after adjusting for baseline health status, level of education, and number of life roles. Similarly, Luoh and Herzog (2002) found that, compared to nonvolunteers or those volunteering less than 100 hours, those who were volunteering 100 hours or more in 1998 were approximately 30% less likely to experience physical functioning limitations, even after adjusting for demographics, socioeconomic status, baseline functioning limitations, health status, paid employment, exercise, smoking and social connections. Moorow-Howell and colleagues (2003) examined data collected between 1986 and 1994 from more than 1,500 U.S. adults, finding that volunteering predicted significantly less functional disability 3 to 5 years later, after adjusting for demographics, socioeconomic status, marital status, and informal social integration.”ⁱⁱⁱ

When we give of ourselves we operate in harmony with God’s design for life and are healthier. Does it go beyond just physical benefits?

I have many patients who tell me they want to be happy. As I have looked at this, it appears to me that happiness is a by-product, a result of being healthy – Healthy physically, mentally, emotionally, spiritually, relationally. When we are healthy in every aspect of our lives happiness is a result, but sickness in any area undermines happiness.

What does this have to do with obeying God's commands?

God's commands are the manufacturer's maintenance instructions. Just as your automobile comes with maintenance instructions and if you follow them the car stays in better shape with less problems, so too, God has given us such instructions. When we follow them, we are healthier, and subsequently generally happier.

Does it matter if we do these things out of obligation or out of love? Does it matter what we believe when we do them?

I have a patient 38-year-old lady who has struggled with esteem issues and depression her entire life. She also has struggled with weight issues. Recently she has made some marked improvements in her life. The appointment before last we reviewed, that despite her belief that she is failure, and can't succeed, and is not any good, that she has a master's degree, works for a fortune 500 company as an executive, gets outstanding reviews, has been in a stable relationship for 7 years, and is financially stable. We reviewed that the facts of her life contradict the story she tells herself about herself.

When she came in to her most recent appointment she told me that it was really hard to change years of negative thinking but she forced herself to start telling herself that she was a good person, a responsible person, a reliable, honest, decent human being and stopped recycling the negative thoughts.

She told me that she had joined weight watchers and the first 5 weeks, before she changed her thinking she lost 5.5 pounds, but over the next 4 weeks after she started thinking positively she lost 11 pounds, double the weight loss in 1 less week.

She didn't make any more changes in her diet, in fact she said that weight watchers gives some extra points you can use if you want and during those four weeks she actually ate a little more than the 5 weeks before, and did no more exercise, so why the greater weight loss?

First, she wasn't just telling herself positive thoughts, she was telling herself positive thoughts that were true. If she had been telling herself positive thoughts that were not true it would not produce benefit because she would know it was a lie.

One possible reason is this outcome: Negative thinking activates the stress circuitry of the brain, which increases stress hormones and inflammation. This causes insulin resistance, with subsequent increase release of insulin, so higher insulin levels. Insulin causes the body to store energy. And the body stores energy as fat. When she had more positive thinking she had less stress and reduced the stress hormones, and inflammatory factors reducing insulin thus reducing the pressure to store fat allowing for greater weight loss.

Truly, God's methods of truth and love are healing.

SUNDAY

Read third paragraph, "Our love for God..." thoughts? How do we experience God's love?

Anyone like to share how you have experienced God's love in your life?

- From others? I have experienced love from you, from your kindness, affection, acceptance knowing my shortcomings, yet still being my friend.
- I have experienced God's love in situations in which he has provided answers, insights, and interventions, deliverance.
- I have experienced God's love in the quiet moments, the heartache, the comfort in painful times.

Do you find it hard to experience God's love? Is it harder than experiencing love from people?

What barriers have you found to experiencing God's love?

The fact we can't see and touch God? Does the fact Jesus left the earth make it easier or harder to experience God's love?

What might the situation be like if Jesus were physically on earth today? Would most of us get a chance to know him personally? Do we have a greater opportunity for personal fellowship in the current situation than most people had 2000 years ago?

Read next paragraph, "Our love for God..." very well said, thoughts about this?

What gets in the way of knowing God? What helps in knowing God?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Over the centuries..." thoughts?

Have you ever heard appeals that stimulated guilt? Have you ever lived under a church-induced burden of guilt?

Do such approaches generally work to help people find a saving relationship with God?

The next dark section states, "Read Romans 3:19,20. What did the apostle Paul mean when he said the whole world is guilty before God?"

Read Romans 3:19,20:

Now we know that whatever the law says, it says to those who are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.

²⁰ Therefore by the deeds of the law no flesh will be justified in His sight, for by the law is the knowledge of sin. (NKJV)

Thoughts? What does it mean? What do you hear by this idea of being guilty before God?

Here is my paraphrase of these two verses:

^{3:19} Now we know that the 10 Commandments are like a medical diagnostic instrument, identifying infection and diagnosing disease. It diagnoses accurately everyone who is infected with distrust of God, filled with selfishness and is dying of sin, so that everyone who claims to be sin-free or free of selfishness will be silenced and the entire world will recognize its need of God's healing solution. ²⁰ Therefore, no one will be recognized as having a healthy relationship with God and being like Christ in character by adhering to a set of rules; rather, it is through the 10 Commandments that we become aware of our sickly state of mind. (my paraphrase)

Thoughts? Does "guilty" give us the right sense of the meaning Paul is trying to convey?

Read the next paragraph: "The way Paul..."

Thoughts?

Does the law communicate a sense of accountability, or a sense of reality, what our situation actually is?

Read the next two paragraphs, "The law's function..." thoughts?

Yes the law is like a mirror which reveals our situation, or condition, but cannot cure. But what does this mean, "After we come to Christ we are no longer motivated by guilt, because the guilt has been washed away, covered by the righteousness of Jesus.”?

If you are cleaning your house is there a difference between washing something and covering something?

Which is it? Does God wash us or simple cover our defects?

Now, what about washing of guilt? Is this legal guilt or emotional guilt? Which of us are legally guilty of being born sinners?

But, do we struggle with emotional guilt? Where does this guilt come from? From the condition of sinfulness? From bad theology? From both?

Do we need to feel guilty for being sinners? Did anyone in this room have a choice not to be born a sinner? If you were born this way without a choice is it your fault?

Then why does the lesson suggest we should experience guilt?

Maybe they are suggesting we should experience guilt for the “sins” we have committed?

Imagine an HIV infected man and woman get together and have a baby born HIV infected, did the baby do anything wrong? Should the baby feel guilty about being HIV infected?

Will the baby have symptoms of this infections? Can the child do anything, by him/herself to avoid having symptoms? Should this HIV infected child feel guilty for having symptoms? Is there anything the baby can do to cure itself, by itself? Will it need something outside itself to cure it?

We are born sinful, not by our choice, will there be symptoms of this condition? What do we call those symptoms? Sins, can anyone of us, unaided, avoid sinning? Can any of us cure ourselves? Should we feel guilty for these symptoms?

If there is a remedy that will cure the HIV child, but the child refuses to take the remedy, and instead prefers to be sick, should the child feel guilt for that?

If there is a remedy for sinfulness, and we refuse that remedy should we feel guilt for that?

So, what guilt is rightly ours? Is it not the guilt for rejecting the remedy, and choosing instead to persist in a life of sin? Can we, because of Christ's victory, because of God's interventions, experience a change in our hearts, minds, characters so that sin becomes repulsive? Can we actually long to be free of it, and when we slip up and fall short are grieved in our hearts?

He has made it possible for us to choose to say no to destructive impulses. We don't have to lie, steal, pillage, rumor monger etc. If we persistently, habitually, repeatedly, engage in those activities it is not simply because we were born sinful, but because we go about rejecting God's grace, his remedy in our lives, we are responsible for those sins, and the guilt is ours!

The real question we need to ask is, not have I sinned, but have I rejected God and his remedy for my sin condition?

Read James 2:10:

For whoever keeps the whole law and yet stumbles at just one point is guilty of breaking all of it.

Then read last paragraph, "The fact that an offense..."

Thoughts?

What is the focus? What do you hear the lesson suggesting is the problem? Notice how it makes one guilty of defying "the God who commanded it." What are they saying is the problem?

Do they make it sound like this is an offense to God? Have you ever heard it suggested that it offends God when we sin?

In their book Rediscovering the Scandal of the Cross by Green and Baker they state:

Whatever meaning atonement might have, it would be a grave error to imagine that it focused on assuaging God's anger or winning God's merciful attention...The Scripture as a whole provides no ground for a portrait of an angry God needing to be appeased in atoning sacrifice." (p. 51)

What do you think it means to offend in one point is guilty of breaking all?

Her is my paraphrase: "For who ever loves in one area, but lives selfishly in another area is still out of harmony with God's design." James 2:10

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "What would you think..." thoughts?

Did any politicians come to mind?

Read last paragraph, "We are not just talking..." thoughts?

Would you have expressed it as "In any loving relationship our motivation is to please the one who is the object of our love."?

That might work if the one on the other side of the relationship is perfect and healthy and always does and wants what is right, but could that be a dangerous principle, if the one on the other side of the relationship is unhealthy?

If we have a person, spouse, or child, or friend, who is immature and into self-gratification, not self-improvement, then if we love them do we do what will please them?

Why or why not? What might be a problem with this idea?

Can you think of another principle? What about doing what is right, healthy and reasonable, what is in their best interest not necessarily what will please them?

Or, we will do what would please them only if they are operating upon God's principles?

What about the idea that whatever we do for God that doesn't come from a desire to please him means we don't understand what it is to have a love relationship? Because God is perfect, and he is always interested in our eternal good, it is safe to always seek to please him. Right?

Read bottom pink section – thoughts?

Can we bless others if our actions are not motivated strictly by love?

Can a doctor, or nurse, or PT, or dentist, or auto mechanic, or hair stylist, or repairman etc. do something that is a blessing to another, simply because they want to make money or promote their reputation?

Can a brother or sister babysit a younger sibling, rather than go out with friends, because they are ordered by their parents to do it, not out of love, yet still be a blessing to their younger sibling?

Can a person do something out of love that injures another and is not a blessing? Can a doctor, maybe a missionary doctor, not even getting paid, but motivated by love to help others, prescribe the wrong medication that causes a bad outcome?

How do we break these things down?

Regarding the character development of the person doing the action the motivation is what matters, not the specific action or outcome. If the motivation is right, and one is doing their best, then the character still develops along healthy lines, regardless of outcome.

However, if the motivation is selfish, the character is marred regardless of outcome.

Regarding others, often the outcome is more important than motive. Could a person motivated by love, affection, desire to help, be misunderstood and be accused of interfering or causing problems, or even betrayal?

This is why we are not to judge, man looks on the outward appearance but the Lord looks upon the heart.

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “Legalism in the Christian...” thoughts?

Is this the only type of legalism or can you think of another?

What about the legalism of God executing Christ in our place so our legal penalty can be paid? Isn't this another form of legalism?

Read last paragraph, “A legalistic religion...”

Notice the legalism described in the lesson doesn't result in actual character transformation, but instead in a certain arrogance, Pharisaism, selfishness.

But what about the idea that our problem is legal and we need legal solution, does that result in character transformation, or instead a false security of legal pardon?

If our diagnosis is wrong our solution is wrong. If we move the problem out of our heart, mind and condition, and into a heavenly court, or heavenly record, then rather than getting healed, we build a false confidence on getting a legal declaration of innocence, which leaves us just as sick and terminal.

And in the Great Controversy, our witness for God is in being healed. If we failed to experience God's healing, but go about claiming legal pardon, or declared innocence, we will misrepresent God.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "The Bible..." thoughts?

What do these terms mean to be adopted, or born again? How do you understand them?

Are these literal or metaphorical? What are they trying to teach or convey? That a change happens in us, and in our relationship to God, what change?

Is it a legal change or an actual change in us? Why are we "adopted"? If we are God's by creation, why the need for "Adoption"? What does this metaphor teach? Was it for all humans or was Paul using it to help Gentiles overcome Jewish bigotry?

Born again, means? A renewed heart and mind, and when this happens we are again united with God, loyal to him again. Who gets changed in this process? Does God's attitude toward us change or our attitude toward him change?

Consider the prodigal son, though born a son, when did he cease to function as a son? When did he again get his sonship back, the ring of family authority on his finger? Did the father change or the son?

Read second paragraph, “The effective...” thoughts?

This is well said, giving up the past, what does it mean to give up the past?

History cannot be changed, our records in heaven do not get erased, what gets changed is our hearts, we give up the past, give up:

- Trying to undo past mistakes and instead live by new principles
- Trying to have a different childhood
- Trying to change our parents
- Trying to re-parent our children
- Reliving the past over and over again in our minds

Instead we surrender ourselves, including our histories, and accept a change in inner motivation, drive, desire, principles, longings, a change of heart. We get changed, not our history, and with this change we begin choosing differently, orienting our goals, actions in Godly directions.

We give up:

- Unhealthy friends and associates
- Destructive habits and practices
- Immoral material and media

Not because we are afraid of what God will do, but because we no longer want those things infecting, dominating, controlling and destroying us!

And we establish and engage in:

- New and healthy relationships
- Church fellowship
- Fellowship and communion with God
- Bible study prayer
- Helping others
- Truth based thinking
- Evidenced based decision making
- Grace and tolerance for others
- Hope for the future
- Trusting God with outcomes
- And more...

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 12 2Q 2012

Evaluating Witnessing and Evangelism

Read Memory Text: “To one who listens, valid criticism is like a gold earring or other gold jewelry.” (Prov 25:12 NLT)

Thoughts?

Does this mean that valid criticism should be discarded like gold jewelry? Or, is it saying that gold jewelry is something consider precious, that should be applied and worn, that can enhance us, and like such jewelry we should apply and be enhanced by valid criticism?

What would make criticism valid?

- Truthfulness
- Accuracy
 - Can someone be accurate without being truthful? No.
 - Can someone be truthful without being accurate?
 - Can a person present, honestly, what they believe to be a criticism, but from their understanding and perspective, still be inaccurate?
 - What would this mean about hearing criticism of someone you trust and you know is being very honest and sincere?
 - Would it mean that you must still filter their criticism through your own, Holy Spirit enlightened, mind and come to your own conclusion?
- Pertinent
 - Can something be pertinent without being truthful and accurate? No, but...
 - Can criticism be truthful, and accurate, but not pertinent? Examples?
 - The youth’s that criticized Elisha for being bald, it was truthful, and accurate, but it wasn’t pertinent

- Applicable or usable
 - Can criticism be truthful, accurate, and pertinent, but not applicable or usable?
 - Criticize meeting facility, and the critique is truthful, accurate, pertinent, but not applicable because the cost of changing facilities are prohibitive.
- Hearable, meaning presented in a way it can be understood and accepted – so presented in love
 - Can criticism be truthful, accurate, pertinent, and applicable, but presented in such a way that it is misunderstood, offensive, or unacceptable?

Read second paragraph, “Sometimes large sums...” thoughts?

What constitutes “minimal results”? What standard are we using to evaluate our efforts? What measuring devices are appropriate? What are inappropriate?

- Converts?
- Donations?
- Letters/emails of support and appreciation?
- TV or radio ratings?
- Number of hits on the website?
 - Can one have success in all these areas without actually be working for God’s kingdom?
 - How many pro-sports teams, movie stars, music idols, and others succeed in all of these?
 - Does that mean such measures are without merit?
- Are there any other measures to consider in our evaluation?
- What about the quality of the message itself?
- What about the transforming impact it has on the lives of people?
 - Do people become less fearful?
 - Do they love others more?
 - Do they become kinder, gentler, more altruistic?

- What about, on an individual assessment basis, the motives of those doing the ministry?
- Other measures?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Evaluation will take...”

Thoughts? Would you have chosen a different word than professionalism? “those who attend public meetings expect a high level of _____”?

- Honesty
- Integrity
- Sincerity
- Truth
- Christlikeness
- Something real, not something performed?
- Caring about the people being spoken to?

Do you think that if you heard the prophets or Apostles preach, would you have written that those presentations had a high level of professionalism?

I am not criticizing professionalism at all. I am a medical professional. We work very hard to do all of our work for the Lord to the highest standards, professionally. I think this is quite a good thing – I am only asking, is it number one?

Can you have professional presentations that don’t present the truth? Could a professional presentation mislead?

Wouldn’t the most important thing in a presentation be truthfulness, and Christlikeness, revealing the truth about God and His kingdom? And, of course, to the highest professional standards we are capable of, but I would not want any one of you here or online, who have come to know the truth of God’s kingdom, to wait for professional “training” or some other “professional” opportunity to share this truth. If God opens an opportunity for you to speak, ask the Holy Spirit to enable you, prepare your best, and go share what you know about God!

Read second paragraph, “When God’s Word...” thoughts?

Is it important to evaluate our responses to God’s standards, directions and commands?

- But before we evaluate our responses to His standards would it be important to first evaluate God’s standards, directions and commands? Or should we just do what it says, “God said it, I do it, that settles it”?
 - What about the command to not cook a kid in its mother’s milk
 - Stone a child for cursing their parents
 - Women not being allowed to speak in church
 - Women being submissive to their husbands
 - Using the tithe to buy fermented wine to drink and rejoice before the Lord

Is it appropriate, to question and evaluate God’s instructions before acting upon them?

The next paragraph points out that Paul gave certain qualifications for deacons and elders, meaning that a certain evaluation was necessary. Why do you think Paul said that church leaders should not be given to “too much wine” rather than church leaders should not drink any wine? And then told Timothy that he should drink a little wine to help with his stomach?

Should we think about this instruction, or just accept it and have a periodic libation?

The last paragraph reminds us of our commission, instruction, to take the gospel to the entire world, should we ever stop and ask, “what message are we to be taking?”

If you were Satan, would you try to infect the gospel message with distortions so that people actually went into the world proclaiming a false gospel, thinking all the time they were taking the truth?

Has this actually happened?

How can we present the gospel in a modern world so that it becomes relevant to people today?

What barriers have you found in presenting the gospel?

Dr. Marcum and Heartwise Ministries has teamed up with Come and Reason Ministries to present the gospel, the truth about God's kingdom of love to the world, by showing how Scripture and science harmonize, how God's methods heal, how medical science confirms Bible wisdom. This fall our first annual seminar, Modern Medicine, Biblical Technology and The Brain will endeavor to present the gospel in simple and practical terms that has relevance to people's lives today.

What ways have you found to be helpful?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "While there..."

THANK YOU to all of you who are part of this ministry! Those who come each week to class, those who listen online, those who share this message in your community, our prayer partners, those who donate, those who are writing study guides, those helping with all the technical responsibilities.

We are a team, working together, why? Because we have found something worth sharing. We have found God beautiful, trustworthy, reliable, and reasonable. We have come to know Jesus and seen some of what He came to reveal about His Father. And we have been changed, experienced greater peace, and joy, and love, and want to share a healing message to set other minds free from lifelong fear and insecurity.

The lesson asks us to read Heb 10:24,25:

And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds. ²⁵ Let us not give up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another—and all the more as you see the Day approaching.

Thoughts?

Is it beneficial to meet together? What is the benefit?

- Love, acceptance, support, encouragement, friendship
 - To experience, after stumbling, after falling, after being caught in adultery and thrown down publicly, the grace of Christlike love and restoration!
- Growth in knowledge, learn new perspectives
 - To study together, to remove distortions, misunderstanding, to come to a clearer knowledge of God and His methods
- To pool our resources, energies, talents and skills to be more effective in reaching others

What interferes, stops, hinders, undermines, obstructs people from meeting together and helping each other?

- Fear and selfishness –
 - fear of getting hurt, rejected, embarrassed, gossiped about, laughed at, fear of not being loved,
 - anger, resentment, hurt over mistreatment or failure to be acknowledged, valued or appreciated
 - active expulsion, or rejection by others
- Lack of relevance to the daily life
- Believing church is primarily about saving you – rather than the truth that church is primarily about equipping you and putting you to work to spread the healing message with others.

- When people believe church is primarily about their salvation then they conclude, “I don’t have to go to church to be saved.”
- Other obstacles?

How do we help each other grow spiritually?

WEDNESDAY

Read top Bible passage, “But the Lord said to Samuel, ‘Do not look at his appearance or at his physical stature, because I have refused him. For the Lord does not see as man sees; for man looks at the outward appearance, but the Lord looks at the heart.’” (1Sam 16:7, NKJV)

Thoughts?

How do you apply this passage to your life?

First – to yourself?

- Do you judge yourself more by outward appearance or by the heart?
 - If you study in school, do your best, but get a “C” how do you judge yourself? A winner?
 - If you train diligently for a race and do your best but come in last place, how do you judge yourself?
 - If, as a parent, you did all you knew how to do for your children, your heart orientation was for their good, but they grew up and left the church and went into wild living – how do you judge yourself?
 - Are we at peace with ourselves, knowing that our heart motives are surrendered to God and seeking his will, or do we judge self as failing if events we can’t control don’t turn out the way we would like?
 - Are we judging by the heart or by the outward appearance?

Second, how do we apply this to others?

- Do we judge others by heart motive or by outward appearance?
- Dress?
- Day of week they worship upon?
- Eating at restaurants on Sabbath?
- Wearing jewelry?
- Or perhaps, following Christ, preaching the gospel, seeking to raise funds to help the poor and needy – you know, just like Judas did?
- Do we judge by outward appearance on the heart?

Read last paragraph, “How do we as sinners...” thoughts?

The lesson suggests the spiritual disciplines noted in the texts above:

- Mt 26:41 – watch and pray
- 1Thes 5:17 – pray continually
- Rom 8:6 – surrender mind to the Spirit
- Eph 6:17,18 – helmet of salvation and sword of spirit, the word of God
- 2Tim 2:15, 16 - know God’s word
- Ps 1:2 – delight in his law

Thoughts? Could someone watch, pray, study Bible, claim the helmet of salvation and a mind surrendered to the spirit, and promote God’s law and still be lost?

Did those who crucified Christ claim all of this?

And of course all of these are vital – but can you think of other evidences to evaluate?

- Do they love others?
- Are they tolerant of differences?

- Do they leave others free?
- Do they treat the fallen with grace, compassion and love?
- Do they gossip, or protect reputations?
- Seek to help people more than seeking to keep rules?
- What picture of God are they revealing?
- Do they live in harmony with God's testable laws?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "The very reason..." thoughts?

How are we doing? Let's step back a minute and take lessons from the Jewish nation in Scripture:

- What was their calling, mission?
 - To prepare the world for the first advent of the messiah
- What is the mission of the SDA church?
 - To prepare the world for the second advent of the messiah
- What did God give them to help in their mission?
 - Prophetic messages
 - Sabbath
 - Health message
 - Blessings of tithing and giving offerings
 - Sanctuary message
 - School system
- What did God give the SDA church to help in their mission?
 - Prophetic message
 - Sabbath
 - Health message
 - Blessings of tithing and offerings
 - Sanctuary message
 - School system
- How did the Jewish nation do?
- How are we doing?

- What was the problem with the Jewish nation? What got in the way? Here is how one Bible commentator put it:
 - The law of Jehovah was burdened with needless exactions and traditions, and God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God. Jesus came to teach men of the Father, to correctly represent him before the fallen children of earth. Angels could not fully portray the character of God, but Christ, who was a living impersonation of God, could not fail to accomplish the work. The only way in which he could set and keep men right was to make himself visible and familiar to their eyes. {ST, January 20, 1890}
 - Examples?
 - Sabbath burdened by human rules, Christ healed on Sabbath, but they wanted to stone him.
 - Failure to treat all men equal, Christ brought salvation to Jews and Gentiles.
 - Corban – rather than honoring parents
 - Willingness to pull an animal out of a ditch on Sabbath, but not help a human.
- Is there anything interfering with our mission to take the gospel to the world?
 - Is our problem similar? Is it over some misrepresentation of God's law, which misrepresents him?
 - The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering,—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. {GC88 582.2}

- What has happened to our church? We, like the Jews, have accepted the idea that God's law is imposed, rather than the truth that God's law is the law of love, the principle upon which life is built to operate.

TUESDAY

Bottom paragraph refers to Jesus critique of the Pharisees evangelism, that they made converts twice the sons of hell. What was it about their evangelism that did this? What were they doing that caused people to be more tied to Satan's kingdom? Did they teach...

- The wrong Sabbath?
- The wrong clean and unclean foods?
- Not to tithe?
- The wrong sanctuary?
- The wrong sacrifices to bring to sanctuary?
- Not to pray?
- In evolution?

What was it they taught that enslaved the mind deeper into Satan's kingdom?

That God would use his power to punish the Romans! In other words, that God uses power to force his way, inflict torment, torture, and death, that God punishes those who disagree with him. When we accept this view of God we become twice the son of hell.

Read top dark section, "Read the following..."

Thoughts? What does this mean to you?

- Fear – awe, admire, be amazed, humbled – Does God want us to be afraid he is seeking to harm us? In other words, does God want us to be terrified or afraid of him?

- Walk in all his ways – Why? What does it mean to walk in his ways? What are his ways? Aren't his ways the design parameters for life, so wouldn't it be like saying, breathe, or drink, or eat the foods God created for human nutrition, or love others?
- Love him – Why? From where does our love for God originate? Is it not in response to his love for us?
- Serve – Why? Because we are servants and the master commands, or because we are loving friends and eagerly volunteer to serve because we love and agree with him?
- Why does it say his statutes and commands are for our good? What happens if we disobey them? Will God be forced to punish or do we deviate from the law of life?

Middle of the page it says, “The texts say that God “requires” (or “asks”) these things of us. How are we to understand the meaning of this in the context of salvation by faith alone?”

Jesus achieved the remedy to sin, singly and alone, and there is nothing we can do to improve upon, create, or add to this remedy. However, we must actively participate in the application of this remedy to our lives. To experience God's healing it is a cooperative effort of the Holy Spirit applying to our lives what Christ achieved.

Can God save someone against their will?

Can a person save themselves without God?

It is a cooperative effort, that we must actively choose to participate in.

Here is how one of the founders of our church put it:

- The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who

- would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power. It is the Spirit that makes effectual what has been wrought out by the world's Redeemer. It is by the Spirit that the heart is made pure. Through the Spirit the believer becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Christ has given His Spirit as a divine power to overcome all hereditary and cultivated tendencies to evil, and to impress His own character upon His church. {DA 671.2}
- While God was working in Daniel and his companions "to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Phil. 2:13), they were working out their own salvation. Herein is revealed the outworking of the divine principle of cooperation, without which no true success can be attained. Human effort avails nothing without divine power; and without human endeavor, divine effort is with many of no avail. To make God's grace our own, we must act our part. His grace is given to work in us to will and to do, but never as a substitute for our effort. {LHU 193.4}
 - We are laborers together with God. This is the Lord's own wise arrangement. The cooperation of the human will and endeavor with divine energy is the link that binds men up with one another and with God. The apostle says, "We are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building" (1 Corinthians 3:9). Man is to work with the facilities God has given him. "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling," He says. "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Philippians 2:12, 13).--MS 113, 1898. {2MCP 694.3}
 - There are two grand forces at work in the salvation of the human soul. It requires the cooperation of man with the divine agencies-- divine influences, and a strong, living, working faith. It is in this way only that the human agent can become a laborer together with

God. The Lord does not sanction in any one of us a blind, stupid credulity. He does not dishonor the human understanding, but, far from this, He calls for the human will to be brought into connection with the divine will. He calls for the ingenuity of the human mind, the tact, the skill, to be strenuously exercised in searching out the truth as it is in Jesus. . . . Ye are labourers together with God. {OHC 310.5}

FRIDAY

Read first two paragraphs, "Have you ever..."

I do not want our ministry to be a one man band, I want all of you to be active participants, because what we are doing is not about me, it is about God, His kingdom of love, and its power to heal and transform lives.

Read and discuss the three questions.

Announcement:

October 13, 2012 our first annual Modern Medicine, Biblical Technology and Your Brain, Seminar. The event will go from 8:30 a.m. – 5 p.m. and our lectures will be:

The Balance in Healthcare – Jim Marcum, M.D.

The time to use modern medicine, the time to use lifestyle changes will be explored. Also, the role of the Great Physician in healing will be emphasized. Dr. Marcum will give an update on the latest technology and show non-traditional ways to change the chemistry. The importance of understanding an optimizing brain function will be introduced.

The Developing Brain – Timothy R. Jennings, M.D.
FAPA

Experience changes brain structure and function. Beginning before conception, continuing in utero and through life, explore how environment, experience and choice alter human DNA and impact brain structure and function. The human brain is pliable and changeable and our experience causes our brain to change. This change begins in our parents genes prior to our conception, continues in the womb and persists throughout life. In this presentation we will explore how parental choices affect the developing brain and follow that through into childhood to explore how healthy nurturing, traumatic experience, diet, addictive substances, television, and even belief in God alter our, genes, brain structure and brain function.

The Science of Belief – Timothy R. Jennings, M.D.
FAPA

Our brains are in a constant state of flux. Moment by moment new connections are forming, idle tracks are being pruned back and brain circuits are changing.

Discover how our beliefs change our brain wiring, our physical health, and even which genes are turned on or turned off. Could our belief in God actually make a difference? Are some God constructs healing while others are harmful? Do your beliefs matter – more than you ever knew.

Prolonged Exposure – Jim Marcum, M.D.

This lecture will enlighten the audience on the cause of disease. We will show how the lectures given by Dr. Jennings is unique in modern medicine and how the brain is at the base of treatment as well as cause of illness. We will discover why 1:4 have mental health problems and how medicines may not be the answer.

Depression - Timothy R. Jennings, M.D. FAPA

Depression – Have you ever been depressed? Or known someone who was depressed? Did you know depression is a complex disorder with alterations in both brain and body, loss of brain volume with altered brain circuits and even change in genetic expression? Come discover how you can minimize your risk of depression, drug free interventions that can treat depression, and changes in your daily routines that can protect your brain.

The Aging Brain – Timothy R. Jennings, M.D. FAPA

What happens to the brain as we age? Are we doomed to lose our memories and become senile? Are there choices we can make to protect our brain from the ravages of time? Come discover science-based, Biblically sound, interventions which will protect your brain and diminish your risk of dementia.

Evangelism and Witnessing Lesson 13 2Q 2012

A Perpetual Ministry

Read Memory text, "What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it? It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and put in his garden; and it grew and became a large tree, and the birds of the air nested in its branches." (Luke 13:18,19, NKJV)

Thoughts?

What does this parable tell you about God's kingdom? One of the founders of our church commenting on this verse and said in the book Christ Object Lessons page 77:

The germ in the seed grows by the unfolding of the life-principle which God has implanted. Its development depends upon no human power. So it is with the kingdom of Christ. It is a new creation. Its principles of development are the opposite of those that rule the kingdoms of this world. Earthly governments prevail by physical force; they maintain their dominion by war; but the founder of the new kingdom is the Prince of Peace. The Holy Spirit represents worldly kingdoms under the symbol of fierce beasts of prey; but Christ is "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." John 1:29. In His plan of government there is no employment of brute force to compel the conscience. The Jews looked for the kingdom of God to be established in the same way as the kingdoms of the world. To promote righteousness they resorted to external measures. They devised methods and plans. But Christ implants a principle. By implanting truth and righteousness, He counterworks error and sin. {COL 77.1}

Thoughts?

What is the principle of life? The law of love! Which emanates from where?

What are the methods of the world? What are the methods of God's kingdom?

What is God seeking to do in order to create mankind anew? To implant something in the heart, what is it? Can it be put there by force or might? If force and power, or threat and coercion are used to try and put truth/love into the heart, what gets put into the heart instead?

What does this truth do to all the theories of an angry, vengeful and punishing God? Why do so many insist that God will use the methods of Satan, coercion, force, power to punish the wicked? Continuing from Christ Object Lessons:

Not only is the growth of Christ's kingdom illustrated by the parable of the mustard seed, but in every stage of its growth the experience represented in the parable is repeated. For His church in every generation God has a special truth and a special work. The truth that is hid from the worldly wise and prudent is revealed to the child-like and humble. It calls for self-sacrifice. It has battles to fight and victories to win. At the outset its advocates are few. By the great men of the world and by a world-conforming church, they are opposed and despised. See John the Baptist, the forerunner of Christ, standing alone to rebuke the pride and formalism of the Jewish nation. See the first bearers of the gospel into Europe. How obscure, how hopeless, seemed the mission of Paul and Silas, the two tentmakers, as they with their companions took ship at Troas for Philippi. See "Paul the aged," in chains, preaching Christ in the stronghold of the Caesars. See the little communities of slaves and peasants in conflict with the heathenism of imperial Rome. See Martin Luther withstanding that mighty church which is the masterpiece of the world's wisdom. See him holding fast God's word against emperor and pope, declaring, "Here I take my stand; I can not do otherwise. God be my help." See John Wesley preaching Christ and His righteousness in the midst of formalism, sensualism, and infidelity...{COL 78.2}

The great leaders of religious thought in this generation sound the praises and build the monuments of those who planted the seed of truth centuries ago. Do not many turn from this work to trample down the growth springing from the same seed today? The old cry is repeated, "We know that God spake unto Moses; as for this fellow [Christ in the messenger He sends], we know not from whence he is." John 9:29. As in earlier ages, the special truths for this time are found, not with the ecclesiastical authorities, but with men and women who are not too learned or too wise to believe the word of God. {COL 79.1}

Wow! Did you get all of that from the parable of the mustard seed? Thoughts?

Should we be discouraged if ecclesiastical authorities don't value what we are doing, but instead accuse us of contradicting 500 years of Christian thought?

Are we presenting a message consistent with God's kingdom as represented by the mustard seed? Or, are we acting like those who reject the advancing truth, the truth for this generation?

SUNDAY

First sentence states, "It must be emphasized again that witnessing and evangelism must continue as long as there are people who need salvation."

Let's break witnessing and evangelism up and evaluate them separately – first, what about witnessing and the idea that it must continue as long as people need salvation?

Is that long enough? Will there be a purpose, a need, for witnessing beyond the time people need salvation? What need and what purpose for witnessing after the earth is made new and what evidence do we have that it will go on?

Here is one Bible commentator, from the book Great Controversy, see if you agree with this, remembering that much symbolic language is used:

Upon the crystal sea before the throne, that sea of glass as it were mingled with fire,—so resplendent is it with the glory of God,—are gathered the company that have “gotten the victory over the beast, and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name.” [Revelation 15:2.] With the Lamb upon Mount Zion, “having the harps of God,” they stand, the hundred and forty and four thousand that were redeemed from among men; and there is heard, as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder, “the voice of harpers harping with their harps.” [Revelation 14:1-5; 15:3; 7:14-17] And they sing “a new song” before the throne, a song which no man can learn save the hundred and forty and four thousand. It is the song of Moses and the Lamb,—a song of deliverance. None but the hundred and forty-four thousand can learn that song; for it is the song of their experience,—an experience such as no other company have ever had. “These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth.” These, having been translated from the earth, from among the living, are counted as “the first-fruits unto God and to the Lamb.” “These are they which came out of great tribulation;” [Revelation 14:1-5; 15:3; Revelation 7:14-17.] they have passed through the time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation; they have endured the anguish of the time of Jacob's trouble; they have stood without an intercessor through the final outpouring of God's judgments. But they have been delivered, for they have “washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.” “In their mouth was found no guile; for they are without fault” before God. “Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple; and he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them.”

 [Revelation 14:1-5; 15:3; Revelation 7:14-17.] {GC88 648.3}

What song are they singing? What does it mean to stand without an intercessor? What is the traditional explanation? What is your explanation?

Why are they without fault before God?

- Does their song, the song of their experience give witness to anything?
- Does their being without fault before God give witness to anything?
- To what does their song, their experience, their lives give witness?
- To whom does their lives give witness?
- Are they giving witness to those who need salvation?
- What is the purpose for witnessing for God at this time?

Consider this quotation from Desire of Ages page 26:

Of His people God says, "They shall be as the stones of a crown, lifted up as an ensign upon His land. For how great is His goodness, and how great is His beauty!" Zechariah 9:16, 17. The exaltation of the redeemed will be an eternal testimony to God's mercy. "In the ages to come," He will "show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us through Christ Jesus." "To the intent that . . . unto the principalities and the powers in the heavenly places might be made known . . . the manifold wisdom of God, according to the eternal purpose which He purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord." Ephesians 2:7; 3:10, 11, R. V. {DA 26.1}

Through Christ's redeeming work the government of God stands justified. The Omnipotent One is made known as the God of love. Satan's charges are refuted, and his character unveiled. Rebellion can never again arise. Sin can never again enter the universe. Through eternal ages all are secure from apostasy. By love's self-sacrifice, the inhabitants of earth and heaven are bound to their Creator in bonds of indissoluble union. {DA 26.2}

Why can sin never rise again?

- Is there something about Christ's work that precludes sin from ever rising again?
- Does our witness have any purpose in demonstrating the effectiveness of Christ's work?
- Are we to be witnesses for God throughout eternity future of the horrors of sin and the incredible grace and goodness of God?
- Does our witness have some part to play in inoculating the universe from sin ever arising again?
- Might we travel the universe giving our witness of what God has done for us?
- Will it be a witness to those in need of salvation?

What about evangelism – as long as there are any people who need salvation it must continue?

- Will there come a time when people will not longer need salvation? When will that time be?
- What causes that time to happen?

Read second paragraph, "It seems..." thoughts? What do you think of this formula?

- How do we get people's attention about God and the gospel message?
 - Super Bowl ads?
 - Billboard about the mark of the beast?
 - Protesting abortions or homosexuals?
 - News releases that God is punishing sin every time a natural disaster strikes?

- Ideas?
- How do we secure their interest?
 - Do we have anything to offer that is actually interesting?
 - Is it interesting to discover how the universe runs?
 - Is it interesting to discover the truth about God, the GC, how mankind came into being, what happened to God's design, the infection that brings devastation, and God's healing solution?
 - Are there mysteries of the universe that we have answers to?
- Do we offer anything that people actually desire?
 - Do the answers to the mysteries we provide supply an actual need of people today?
 - Does the gospel message we present, if applied, actually transform lives for the better? Or, does the message do as Christ told the Jews in his day, make the convert twice the son of hell?
- What undermines or decreases people's desire for the gospel message?
 - Preconceived ideas – been there, done that, doesn't work?
 - Dislike for the gospel they have heard?
 - Business of life – no time?
 - Gospel they have heard isn't relevant to their lives?
 - Failure to appreciate their need?
 - Failure to appreciate what is being offered?
 - Already found something mysterious, and believe they already have secret knowledge, but have believed falsehood?
- How do we avoid getting drowned out by the background noise of so many other "gospels" being presented?
 - Present evidence based, testable truths that leave people free to think
 - Love people who disagree
- How can we present the message of God in a way that it rises above so many other messages? Or do we believe all messages are equally valuable and there isn't anything really different about what we are presenting?

- The message we present must be reasonable, evidence based, understandable, and applicable.
- The message must have a real, transforming impact on the lives of people.
 - In other words, it must be real and substantive.
- We must demonstrate the power of God's kingdom of love in our lives so that others can see the difference, in love, forgiving hearts, kindness, mercy, grace, gentleness, meekness, goodness, truthfulness, and the subsequent peace, joy, happiness, healthiness that we experience.
- People are hurting, afraid, lonely, suffering. Sin is painful, scary, and cruel. The world is hungering for something real to deliver them from the misery of this world – do we have something that is real and brings peace?
- Then we must tell people.

Bottom paragraph states, “In the end, although we are called to help people in whatever situation we find them, and to minister to their needs however we can, we must never forget that their greatest need is salvation in Jesus.” Thoughts?

How does this relate to the health message?

- What is the purpose of the health message?
 - Is it primarily to help people live a few years longer?
 - No, it is to teach the plan of salvation through the laws of health, and by living in harmony with the laws of health maintaining greater mental efficiency and usefulness for God's cause
 - What is the danger in presenting the health message disconnected from the gospel?
 - What is the danger in presenting the gospel disconnected from the health message?
- I recently heard a program which presented many scientific facts about the dangers of eating high cholesterol foods, animal products etc, but never really connected it with our relationship with God.

- Did the antediluvians have a problem with high cholesterol, Diabetes, obesity? No! They had a problem with their relationship with God. This is the primary issue!
- If we hold to an imposed law construct does it impact how we present the health message? How?
- Will there be people in heaven who ate pork regularly, throughout their lives, even drank wine regularly?
- Will there be vegans who won't be in heaven?
- Then what is the importance of the health message? Learning how God's laws work, how He designed life to operate, and then choosing to live in harmony with His design. But if we choose to live healthfully, but misunderstand the divine character as an imposer of law and punisher of lawbreakers then we have missed all the health message is designed to teach.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "A vital part..." thoughts? What gets in the way of nurturing people who come into the church?

- Could it be misunderstanding of what the church is to do in the lives of people?
- Could the church struggle with intolerance?
- Could there be an idea that we must get conformity?
- Could the church, be like the Jews 2000 years ago, and believe God practices principles of coercion, therefore do likewise?
- Does the church ever exert pressure upon people to change, a pressure that if one doesn't conform they are not accepted?
- Do we ever send messages that our love for people is conditional based on their willingness to live by what we believe is the right way for them to live?

- Will we love people just as much if they don't go to church on Saturday or Sunday – say Friday?
- Will we love people just as much if they are gay?
- Will we love people just as much if they eat meat, or like contemporary music, or wear jewelry?
- Or do we send signals that say, you are tolerated, but not appreciated? You can attend but cannot contribute until you conform? Until you remove your jewelry we can't have you on platform?

What is the balance between loving people unconditionally and calling sin by its right name?

How would we treat someone who was blind, deaf, who was struggling with cancer, tuberculosis, HIV, tobacco addiction, drug addiction?

- If someone was struggling with any of these problems would we love them less?
- Would we treat them differently? Absolutely – how?
 - Would we provide assistance to help the blind person navigate the stairs, hallways etc.?
 - Would we provide sign language translation for the deaf?
 - Would we provide isolation masks for the TB patient?
 - Would we visit those too sick to come to church, and help with meals?
 - Would we provide support groups for the addicted?
 - Would we treat them differently? Absolutely – why? Because their condition requires it!
 - And what would all our “different” treatment be focused upon doing?
- Would we exclude them from our love? Would we judge them as unworthy to be involved? Would we ostracize them?
- Would we allow them to be in ministry? If we didn't why would we not allow it? Only if their condition precluded it and we would work to get them to a condition in which they could be involved.

- Is this how we treat those we see in sin? Why or why not?

The next paragraph states that new Christians need to be nurtured, brought up, trained, fostered, educated in the ways of the Lord. What are your thoughts about that?

- Is there a difference in educating in the ways of the Lord and educating in the ways of the church? What differences?
- What are the ways of the Lord? Would they not be the law of love, the law of liberty, the principles of truth, love, freedom? Teaching the history of the GC over God's character? Educating on the devastation caused by deviating from God's design, the truth about God's character etc?
- Is this different from educating about church ritual?
- What can our class do to help people grow in the Lord?
- We are having our first public seminar this fall, after the seminar what kind of follow up can we provide for those who want more?

Bottom pink section, "Does your church..." thoughts?

TUESDAY

Training the trainers – who of you would be interested in helping us develop a training the trainers course/curriculum?

How many would be interested in attending a seminar designed to teach you how to teach others?

What elements would you like included in this?

- Critical thinking skills training?
- Principles of Bible study?
- God's laws?

- Public speaking skills?
- How to ask questions?
- How to hear what is not being said?
- Others?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is about reaching out to those who have left the church and bringing them back into fellowship.

What did you take away from the lesson?

The lesson suggests we need to create a loving and nurturing environment that will help those who join us want to stay.

The lesson also suggests that people, at times, leave over doctrine, but usually the reason they leave is not doctrinally related, but personal. Thoughts?

I question this – I think doctrine is at the core to why people leave – that we have presented a false system of heavenly legalism, with an imposed law construct, and legal payment requirements for salvation. On this foundation we have laid, Sabbath, State of the Dead, Trinity, Creation, Sanctuary, Health Message etc. A person may not leave because they no longer agree with one of these specific doctrines, but I would like to suggest, the underlying legal construct is at the root of leaving. Why?

First, because the underlying legal construct doesn't connote a loving and nurturing atmosphere, regardless of how hard they try, its foundation is imposed rules/laws with imposed punishments and the organization will eventually act this way toward those who deviate from the "rules."

Second, such constructs ultimately make the reasons for being involved in church arbitrary, there really isn't a good reason other than God and the Bible says so. This is not compelling.

Imagine teaching your children to brush their teeth, but never teaching them why, the only reason they ever know is that “mommy said so.” Will they likely keep it up after they leave home? But if they understand the natural law behind it, and the reason for it, then they are much less likely to stop brushing when they grow up.

Likewise, presenting Sabbath and other doctrines as imposed rules, with the reason no more than God says so, is unsatisfying and increases the likelihood of people leaving, however when people understand God’s law is the law upon which life is built then they are much less likely to choose to leave it.

Thoughts?

The lesson suggests we read 2Cro 5:18-20:

All this is done by God, who through Christ changed us from enemies into his friends and gave us the task of making others his friends also. ¹⁹Our message is that God was making the whole human race his friends through Christ. God did not keep an account of their sins, and he has given us the message which tells how he makes them his friends.

20 Here we are, then, speaking for Christ, as though God himself were making his appeal through us. We plead on Christ’s behalf: let God change you from enemies into his friends! (GNT) thoughts? How do we do this? What is the message that we have that turns people from enemies to friends?

THURSDAY

The lesson talks about people going out the back door of the church and the second paragraph states, “Discovering the back...” thoughts?

What is the back door? How would you define it?

What are reasons people leave?

- They disagree with what the organization teaches and stands for
- They have been hurt
- They have gotten busy and stay away
- They have done something and are embarrassed to return
 - Divorce
 - Addiction
 - Criminal arrest
 - Gained weight
 - Disfiguring scar
 - Lost their job, lost their home, bankruptcy
- Missed a few weeks and no one noticed or called
- Others?

How can we help people from wandering off and getting lost?

How can we keep people engaged?

The US Army is organized into: Armies, Divisions, Brigades, Battalions, Companies, Squads, Individuals. At each level there is someone assigned to account for their members, all the way down to the individual squad member. If someone is missing people notice.

Should we have a more structured organization, would you prefer greater accountability so if you are not here it is noticed, or do you prefer greater anonymity?

How do we find the balance of letting people know they are missed with they are not here, with the freedom to know that they are valued and loved and there is no pressure to be here?

FRIDAY

Asks the question how can we be sure that an evangelistic event is more than just a one time event?

What would each of you like to help you prepare for follow up of our seminar in October?

Read and discuss questions 2 and 3

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 1 3Q 2012

The Gospel Comes to Thessalonica

A little history of Thessalonica:

The City of Thessalonica.

The city of Thessalonica flourished for hundreds of years, partly because of its ideal location. It was situated on the banks of a hospitable harbor in the Thermaic Gulf near the northwest corner of the Aegean Sea. In the Apostle Paul's day it was the chief seaport of the Roman province of Macedonia. Thessalonica ranked with Corinth and Ephesus, the main ports of the provinces of Achaia and Asia, as a great shipping center.

Thessalonica also enjoyed another advantage. The Egnatian Way, the main Roman road from Rome to the Orient via Byzantium (modern Istanbul), passed through the city. This put Thessalonica in direct contact with many other important cities by land as well as by sea. It was one of the most important centers of population in Paul's day, occupying a strategic location both governmentally and militarily.

Estimates of the population of Thessalonica in New Testament times place it at near 200,000 (Everett F. Harrison, Introduction to the New Testament, Grand Rapids: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1964, p. 245). Most of the inhabitants were native Greeks, but many Romans also lived there. Orientals and Jews likewise populated the city. Wherever commerce flourished in the ancient world one would find Jewish businessmen. The Jewish synagogue in Thessalonica was influential; many Greek proselytes were present when Paul preached there (Acts 17:4).

First Thessalonians reflects the moral climate of the city. The pagan Greek religion of the largest segment of the population produced many forms of immorality but whetted the appetites of some for spiritual reality. Evidently the higher standards of Judaism attracted disillusioned Greeks, Romans, and Orientals to the synagogue.

Thessalonica was built by Cassander in 315 B.C. near the site of an ancient city called Therma, named for the hot springs in the area. He chose this place for its excellent location and named it after his wife, Thessalonica, who was a half sister of Alexander the Great. Cassander was a Greek general under Alexander.

Many years later, when the Romans conquered the area (168 B.C.), they divided Macedonia into four districts and named Thessalonica the capital of one of these. In 146 B.C. the Romans reorganized Macedonia and made Thessalonica the capital of the new province which encompassed all four of the older districts. In 42 B.C. Thessalonica received the status of a free city from Anthony and Octavian (later called Caesar Augustus) because the Thessalonians had helped these men defeat their adversaries, Brutus and Cassius. The Romans ruled Thessalonica with a loose hand; though the Roman proconsul (or governor) lived there, no Roman troops were garrisoned in the city. The citizens were allowed to govern themselves, as in a Greek city-state, which they did through a group of five or six politarchs, a senate, and a public assembly.

In World War I the Allies based soldiers in Thessalonica, and during the Second World War the Nazis extracted 60,000 Jews from the city and executed them. Thessalonica still exists today with a population near 300,000. It is called Salonica (or Thessaloniki)¹

¹ Walvoord, J. F., Zuck, R. B., & Dallas Theological Seminary. (1983-). Vol. 2: The Bible knowledge commentary : An exposition of the scriptures (687). Wheaton, IL: Victor Books.

Luke gave a detailed account of Paul's ministry in Thessalonica (Acts 17:1–10). Paul taught in the synagogue for three Sabbaths. He worked to bring in support (1 Thess. 2:9; 2 Thess. 3:8) and also received offerings from the Philippian church (Phil. 4:16).

Paul was forced out of the city and went to Berea (Acts 17:11–12). Jews from Thessalonica disrupted the ministry in Berea, forcing Paul to depart (Acts 17:13–15). Paul moved on to Athens and left Silas and Timothy in Berea to continue the work. Silas and Timothy eventually joined Paul in Athens (1 Thess. 3:1–2). From there Paul sent Timothy to Thessalonica. Paul had gone on to Corinth where Timothy again caught up with him and brought news from Thessalonica (Acts 18:1–5). Paul wrote 1 Thessalonians from Corinth.²

Thoughts about the history of Thessalonica?

Read Memory text 1Thes 2:13: “And we also thank God continually because, when you received the word of God, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men, but as it actually is, the word of God, which is at work in you who believe.”

Thoughts about this?

How do you think the Thessalonians knew this was the word of God?

- Checked it with OT Scripture?
- Had miraculous signs and wonders?
- Conviction in their hearts by the HS?
- It made sense?
- It was more reasonable than any other religion they had heard?

² Hughes, R. B., & Laney, J. C. (2001). Tyndale concise Bible commentary. The Tyndale reference library (615). Wheaton, Ill.: Tyndale House Publishers.

It was a pretty radical teaching Paul brought them, but, were they prepared because of their own prior beliefs? What were some of the common pagan concepts?

Was it surprising for them to hear that a god left heaven and became a man? Or that God was interacting with men?

What was the typical character traits of the gods of the Greeks? Weren't they fairly selfish in character? Didn't they use power, might, lightening bolts, etc. to force their way?

Did the gods of the Greeks demonstrate selflessness or did they incite fear?

Would it have been appealing to hear a message that God is actually like Jesus? Could this contrast in character have met the longing of the heart – to be loved, for a Savior to deliver, rather than a deity to demand sacrifice from the worshiper?

From Rediscovering the Scandal of the Cross by Green and Baker:

“Among the Greeks and Romans, then, sacrifices were offered in recognition of the supremacy of the gods and in exchange for their favors. Walter Burkert refers to this function of worship as ‘crisis management.’ Although he is aware that, in ancient Greece, sacrificial rites fostered fellowship among the worshipers who shared in the sacrificial meal, he also recognizes that ‘adversity teaches prayer.’

All the great crises that leave men helpless even when united may be interpreted as caused by the wrath of the Stronger Ones, gods and heroes: bad harvests and infertility of the soil, diseases of men and cattle, barrenness of women and abnormal offspring, civil wars and defeat by a foreign army. Conversely, if these powers are appeased, all kinds of blessings must return, rich harvests, healthy children, and civil order. The traditional means to secure the one and prevent the other are sacrifice and prayer especially in the form of vows.

“This does not mean that the Gentiles among whom Paul proclaimed, and to whom he wrote, concerning the cross of Christ were well-prepared culturally for this message... It does mean, however, that Paul’s Gentile audiences were likely to read the story of the cross with certain guiding presuppositions. Chief among these would have been the arbitrariness of the gods, whose anger must be turned away and whose benefits must be sought. It is puzzling that many of our American readers share these same assumptions about God – in spite of the fact that neither the Scriptures of Israel nor Paul himself supports this view.” (p. 50-51)

Thoughts? How many today approach God in “crisis management” mode – trying to appease him and obtain blessings?

Do you think the Greeks, getting a glimpse of a God who sacrifices Himself, rather than demands sacrifice, resonated with this truth?

The last paragraph states, “But our confidence in God is even more solidly grounded when it is based on the clear teaching of His Word.”

Thoughts about this idea?

If the Word is so clear why are there so many Christian denominations and so many disagreements even within the same denominations?

Is it because the Word is vulnerable to the culture lens of the reader? And could it be that this vulnerability to cultural interpretation and misunderstanding is magnified because the Word is used in isolation and other threads of evidenced are excluded?

I want to suggest a new method of studying God, let's call it the Integrative Evidence Based Approach and it requires we harmonize three threads of evidence:

- Scripture
- God's laws in nature
- Experience

Here are a couple of quotations from one of the founders of our church that supported this approach:

- In the study of the sciences also, we are to obtain a knowledge of the Creator. All true science is but an interpretation of the handwriting of God in the material world. Science brings from her research only fresh evidences of the wisdom and power of God. Rightly understood, both the book of nature and the written word make us acquainted with God by teaching us something of the wise and beneficent laws through which he works. {CE 66.2}
- Rightly understood, both the revelations of science and the experiences of life are in harmony with the testimony of Scripture to the constant working of God in nature. {Ed 130.3}

What do you think about an approach that requires integration of all three threads of evidence? Does it offer any benefits to approaches that use only the Scripture? What benefits?

Which is more likely to end up with erroneous beliefs – Scripture only, or an integrated approach that requires harmony of all three threads?

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Acts 16:9-40 and asks why the people reacted so negatively to the gospel.

In the account Paul presented the gospel to Lydia and her family and they accepted it quite readily. Then a slave with a demonic spirit, who was used for fortune telling, followed Paul and Silas shouting that they are bringing the truth for salvation. Paul cast out the demon and the owners of the slave aroused opposition to Paul and Silas for the loss of the slave's abilities and their means of making money.

So, why did the town get aroused against Paul and Silas? Because the owners of the slave were upset at losing their "cash cow."

When you read the story did you wonder why the demon inspired the woman to follow them and shout they were bringing the truth for salvation? What reasons could there have been?

- Demons are notorious for telling the truth and promoting the gospel?
- Demons are helpless and are compelled to tell the truth in the presence of an Apostle?
- To discredit the work of Paul – how many believed the spiritual women?
- To distract Paul and unsettle him?
- To ultimately entice them to cast out the demon so the owners would turn the city against them?

Thoughts?

Read first paragraph, "The gospel..." thoughts?

How do you hear this paragraph? Would you express it differently? How?

How do you define forgiveness? Is it God's personal pardon? Is it reconciliation with God? Is it transformation of the believer back to God's ideal?

Are people sometimes confused by this question? Could statements like this be part of the problem?

David was pardoned of his transgression because he humbled his heart before God in repentance and contrition of soul, and believed that God's promise to forgive would be fulfilled. He confessed his sin, repented, and was reconverted. In the rapture of the assurance of forgiveness, he exclaimed, "Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile." Psalm 32:1, 2. The blessing comes because of pardon; pardon comes through faith that the sin, confessed and repented of, is borne by the great Sin Bearer. Thus from Christ cometh all our blessings. His death is an atoning sacrifice for our sins. He is the great Medium through whom we receive the mercy and favor of God. {OHC 83.5} 1891

What do you think? How do we understand such statements?

What about covering of sin?

In Hebrew there is something called parallelism in which one verse is followed by another which expands or elaborates on the previous verse.

Example:

"But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream." Amos 5:24

The heavens are telling the glory of God; and the firmament proclaims his handiwork. Ps 19:1

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile." Psalm 32:1, 2

Do you see the parallelism? Sins forgiven parallels with the Lord not imputing iniquity – to forgive means not to hold it against someone.

And to cover parallels with “in whose spirit is no guile”

Fantastic – notice it is not a covering up, but a cleansing such that no guile is in the spirit of the forgiven.

The Hebrew translated to cover can mean – “to keep to oneself, to not respond with knowledge, i.e., keep information from others, though known and understood by oneself”³

So Happy is the man whose sin is forgiven, who isn’t exposed, humiliated, ruined, who God doesn’t find fault with and in whose spirit is no evil.

Here is a clarifying comment from the same author 5 years later:

But forgiveness has a broader meaning than many suppose. When God gives the promise that He "will abundantly pardon," He adds, as if the meaning of that promise exceeded all that we could comprehend: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways My ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts." Isaiah 55:7-9.
God's forgiveness is not merely a judicial act by which He sets us free from condemnation. It is not only forgiveness for sin, but reclaiming from sin. It is the outflow of redeeming love that transforms the heart. David had the true conception of forgiveness when he prayed, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." Psalm 51:10. And again he says, "As far as the east is from the west, so far hath He removed our transgressions from us." Psalm 103:12.

{MB 114.1} 1896

Notice, forgiveness is not about covering up our sinful condition, but about removing sinfulness from us, so that no guile is left in our spirit!

Then why the language of pardon?

Because we need the assurance of His pardon because sin causes guilt and fear, and we doubt He could possibly love us and want us after we have sinned. Consider the evidence:

- Adam and Eve in the garden – what did they do? Ran and hid, why? They were afraid, where did the fear originate? What did God do? How did He respond?
 - Did God forgive before or after they repented?
 - But what needed to be communicated in order to bring them to repentance?
 - The truth about God's forgiveness so their fear would be removed.
 - The kindness of God brings us to repentance (Rom 2:4)
- What about the woman caught in adultery? What did Jesus do? Who do we see when we see Jesus?
 - Did God (in human form) forgive first or did she repent first?
 - What empowered her to live a better life?
- What about those who put Christ on the Cross? What did Jesus do?
 - Did Jesus forgive?
 - Did they repent?

- And the Scripture says,
 - “While we were still sinners Christ died for us.”
 - “If God is for us who can be against us...”
 - “For God so loved the world that he gave...”

The evidence reveals that God is forgiving, without any action from anyone, including Christ, but we could not be healed, reconciled, rebuilt, restored to unity with God without the action of Christ.

We need to hear the assurance from God that he forgives, pardons, doesn't condemn, to calm our sin-based fears of condemnation and rejection, but God has nothing originating in him that requires action in order for him to forgive or pardon.

Read second paragraph, “Being that the gospel...” thoughts?

This certainly is a reason some people reject the gospel – is it the only reason? Do you think this reason would be why Buddhist monks reject the gospel, for money, sex and power? Can you think of any other reasons?

- Don't believe they actually have a problem that needs fixing
- Don't believe in the gospel they have heard – because it doesn't merit belief
- Believe the problem is something other than it is and thus have another solution, like meditation, reincarnation etc.

Bottom green section asks, “What are the things of the world that, if we're not careful, can draw us away from the Lord?”

- Worries
- Bills
- Health problems
- Politics – in the civil government and in the church

- Ball teams
- Entertainment
- Substances
- Sex
- Relationships
- Education
- Career
- Worldly system of government and law accepted into the religion, such that we become controlling and Pharisaical

MONDAY

Paul's preaching strategy - what do you understand the strategy of Paul to be?

Read bottom green – “Notice that Paul...” This is correct, Paul tried to understand the minds, biases, belief, attitudes of his audience and then shape the gospel to their understanding.

Is Paul the only one who did this in Scripture?

What does this mean for how we must read and interpret Scripture?

Could the various metaphors of Scripture be crafted to the mindset of the audience being addressed? In other words, might we err in making too much out of a particular example, metaphor or angle of approach?

I am thinking particularly of any legal language, would Paul tend to use more legal examples when speaking to Jews who were very legalistic? Does that mean we should understand Paul to be promoting a legal gospel?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Since ancient times...” thoughts?

What led to the elimination of the suffering texts? Would it be a misunderstanding of the problem?

If the problem was that God was offended and God needed appeasement by sacrifice that might lead to one type of interpretation of Scripture. If understanding the problem is that mankind is defective and needs fixing, then that would lead to another type of interpretation.

Read third paragraph, “Of course, a major problem...” thoughts?

Do we as Christians do any better job of incorporating a balanced view of God’s character? Or do we present God as two faced, a god who is not only loving, but also just, a god who returns with a look of love on his face for the righteous, but a look of anger and wrath on his face for the wicked?

Will Christ come with two faces?

The Jews wanted a Messiah who would use power to destroy their enemies, and what do Muslims want in their Twelfth Imam?

- A powerful deliverer who will punish and destroy their enemies.
- And what do Christians preach about Jesus’ return?

What is the difference between what the world is waiting for today and what the Jews were wanting 2000 years ago?

Did Jesus change His character in the last 2000 years? Will He who forgave his enemies and told us to love our enemies come back with something other than love for his enemies?

The lesson suggests there is much confusion about the second coming – what is the second coming of Christ confused with or about?

Could it be the common teaching of the second coming and how Christ will treat the wicked, fits more with the beast of revelation than with the Lamb of God?

What will Christ's attitude be toward the wicked in the end? If he has a forgiving heart, why do they perish? Because their condition is not healed – they die of a terminal condition.

Bruce Reichenbach in The Nature of the Atonement describes that sin kills, whereas God, through Christ, heals:

Why is the death of the Servant of Physician necessary? For most atonement theories this is the heart of the problem. If God is omnipotent and merciful, why demand a route to salvation that exacts the price of the death of God's Son?

Our response can be traced to the virulence of our disease borne by the Servant. What he takes on is no trivial matter; the wages of sin are death (Rom 6:23). Death, in some form, came into the world through sin (Rom 5:12). Christ voluntarily assumes this virulent poison, so strong that it brings death, ours and his, but at the same time not so strong that death can permanently hold the Physician. The death is in the sin. Our sin, not God, kills the Physician. God's part is in mercy to send his Servant/Physician to heal and then to restore him to life and power.ⁱ

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Suffering Before Glory

What does the title mean to you?

Can you think of any examples other than Jesus?

- Olympic Gold medal winners – do they suffer before glory? How, why?
- Nobel Prize Winners – any suffering before glory? How, why?
- Great artists – any suffering before production of masterpieces? How why?
- Individual character development and victory – any suffering before glory? How and why?

Why is there suffering before glory?

What do you think of this quotation, do you agree?

A refining, purifying process is going on among the people of God, and the Lord of hosts has set His hand to this work. This process is most trying to the soul, but it is necessary in order that defilement may be removed. Trials are essential in order that we may be brought close to our heavenly Father, in submission to His will, that we may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness. . . . The Lord brings His children over the same ground again and again, increasing the pressure until perfect humility fills the mind, and the character is transformed; then they are victorious over self, and in harmony with Christ and the Spirit of heaven. The purification of God's people cannot be accomplished without suffering. . . . He passes us from one fire to another, testing our true worth. True grace is willing to be tried. If we are loath to be searched by the Lord, our condition is one of peril. . . . {ML 92.2}

It is in mercy that the Lord reveals to men their hidden defects. He would have them critically examine the complicated emotions and motives of their own hearts, and detect that which is wrong, and modify their dispositions and refine their manners. God would have His servants become acquainted with their own hearts. In order to bring to them a true knowledge of their condition, He permits the fire of affliction to assail them, so that they may be purified. The trials of life are God's workmen to remove the impurities, infirmities, and roughness from our characters, and fit them for the society of pure, heavenly angels in glory. . . . The fire will not consume us, but only remove the dross, and we shall come forth seven times purified, bearing the impress of the Divine. {ML 92.3}

Thoughts? Why is there suffering?

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, “What we can see here...” thoughts?

Why is the gospel for all people? Because all suffer with the same problem and need the same solution.

Do we ever struggle with communicating the equality of all men, the commonality of all humans, the underlying difficulty with which we all struggle?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1 and 2

¹ Beilby, J., Eddy, P., The Nature of the Atonement, Intervarsity Press 2006, p. 137.

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 2 3Q 2012

Preserving Relationships

What are the only things we get to take to heaven? Ourselves and our loved ones – nothing else on earth goes – we don't take our houses, cars, computers, computer games, books, Bibles, websites, artwork, clothes – and thankfully we don't even take these bodies!

We only take ourselves and the people we love. Should this truth make a difference to us in how we live?

The key thought states, "True evangelism leads to relationships that can stand the test of time."

Thoughts? What is necessary for a relationship to stand the test of time?

- Trust
- Love – Godlike love

And what is necessary for trust and love?

- Individual trustworthiness of character, i.e. renewed hearts where we love others more than self – which means a relationship with God
 - Which requires coming back to the truth about God as revealed in Christ
- And this change of heart, with trustworthy character results in:
 - Honesty
 - Patience
 - Freedom – love doesn't exist in an atmosphere without freedom
 - Understanding
 - Kindness
 - Truthfulness – with ourselves and others
 - Self-control

- Genuine caring for the wellbeing of others

What causes relationships to fail?

- Selfishness is the obvious answer but can anyone give some examples of what selfishness does to relationships?
- 2 weeks ago we had a Let's Talk on Domestic Violence – we discovered that people can appear pious, righteous, devoted to God on the outside, but be selfish and demanding, and abusive.
- Insecurity – fear what does fear do in a relationship?
 - Suspiciousness
 - Accusations
 - Control
 - Monitoring
 - Jealousy
 - Envy
- Addictions
- Resentment/bitterness/unforgiveness
 - Because we are human we do make mistakes, so we will be disappointed, let down, hurt by others
 - If we don't forgive, if we hold grudges what happens to the relationship?
 - What happens to us?
 - What prevents people from forgiving?
 - Fear – of getting hurt
 - Desire for revenge/wanting to make people pay
 - False sense of justice, its not fair....
 - What enables people to forgive?
 - Experiencing forgiveness themselves
 - Understanding the true nature of God's kingdom and the true nature of sin
 - Love for others
 - And where do these attributes originate? From God
- Biases, bigotry, prejudice, false beliefs

What does God provide for us that assists us in developing relationships that last?

- Grace – forgiveness, mercy, a new start with a new heart!
- A relationship with Him and the presence of His Spirit
- A new perspective
- Purpose
- Love
- Wisdom

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “When someone preaches...” thoughts?

Have you ever experienced anything like this?

What do you think are the reasons people would do this? What are the possibilities?

- Purposeful opposition to understood truth because don’t want to accept the consequences of what the new truth would mean?
- Unwillingness to accept a new truth because the result would cause emotional distress –
 - Spent 20 years writing a systematic theology text on a certain atonement model – but new evidence demonstrates that model is wrong, would one have a difficult time accepting evidence demonstrating the model is wrong?
 - New truth results in conflict with loved ones?
 - New truth results in change in lifestyle, diet, friends, work, habits, day of worship?
 - New truth could result in loss of reputation, scientist accepts God and creation?
- Genuinely believes the lie and is convinced the truth is destructive?

What is the best way to handle such opposition?

From the book Christ Triumphant:

Let Christ be seen in all that you do. Let all see that you are living epistles of Jesus Christ. . . . Let your life win the hearts of all who are brought in contact with you. There is too little done at the present time to render the truth attractive to others. There have been some who have, in speaking to the people, felt like making a raid on the churches. They sour minds by their censoriousness [judgmental and critical attitude]. We want our hearts mellowed by the love of Jesus. That is in God's order. If not presented in the most pleasant, acceptable form, truth will be unpalatable to many. While we must present the truth in contrast with error, let it be presented in a manner that shall create as little prejudice as possible. . . . {CTr 329.2}

Thoughts?

Out of the book Evangelism:

The best way to deal with error is to present the truth, and leave wild ideas to die for want of notice. Contrasted with truth, the weakness of error is made apparent to every intelligent mind. The more the erroneous assertions of opposers, and of those who rise up among us to deceive souls, are repeated, the better the cause of error is served. The more publicity is given to the suggestions of Satan, the better pleased is his satanic majesty.-- Testimonies to Ministers, p. 165. (1892) {Ev 166.1}

What do you think of these ideas?

It seems when people oppose the truth the best approach is to remain Christlike, and I will admit, it is a real spiritual battle, but with God's grace, remain loving, present the truth in love and leave others free.

What about the idea of contrasting truth with error? Why is this sometimes necessary?

- In order to help those in error to understand and comprehend the difference between the truth and error
- But, we do not contrast the two in order to humiliate, demean, criticize, hurt others or to aggrandize self.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Persecution can be a two-way...” thoughts?

What would you suggest would be examples of inappropriate behavior?

- In the next paragraph the lesson points out that Paul said some of the Thessalonians were “busybodies” – what does that mean? How could that cause problems?
- What about criticizing a church group or other organization?
- Billboards calling certain behaviors Satanic or Mark of Beast?

In the 1890’s the US congress was poised to pass legislation that would require all citizens to observe Sunday as a religious day. If the government should pass laws requiring all businesses to close on Sunday and proclaim Sunday as a day of worship and spiritual renewal – what should our response be? Should we purposely stand up and draw attention or should we be cooperative?

Here is one person’s thoughts, written when congress was debating passing such laws:

To defy the Sunday laws will but strengthen in their persecution the religious zealots who are seeking to enforce them. Give them no occasion to call you law-breakers... Keep right on with your missionary work, with your Bibles in your hands, and the enemy will see that he has worsted his own cause. One does not receive the mark of the beast because he shows that he realizes the wisdom of keeping the peace by refraining from work that gives offense, doing at the same time a work of the highest importance.--Testimonies, vol. 9, p. 232. {ChS 163.4}

Sunday can be used for carrying forward various lines of work that will accomplish much for the Lord. On this day open-air meetings and cottage meetings can be held. House-to-house work can be done. Those who write can devote this day to writing their articles. Whenever it is possible, let religious services be held on Sunday. Make these meetings intensely interesting. Sing genuine revival hymns, and speak with power and assurance of the Saviour's love. Speak on temperance and on true religious experience. --Testimonies, vol. 9, p. 233. {ChS 164.2}

Wow, is this how you would have responded? What are the pros and cons to doing this?

What do you think are the motives of those who wanted to legislate religious observance?

I heard on the news this week that the US park service is considering banning motorcycles from many of the parks because so many complaints, the noise from some bikes can be heard over 12 miles away in some parks. The reason they are considering this is not a desire to punish motorcycle riders, but to protect the tranquility of the parks for all who enjoy them.

Do you think those who promote Sunday legislation are motivated by a similar desire, not to make others worship or believe as they do, but to protect a day they find special from what they perceive as being polluted or desecrated?

What is the problem with this type of thinking? That other people can desecrate your spiritual experience by failing to observe your beliefs.

In Romans 14:5 Paul says “One man considers one day more sacred than another; another man considers every day alike. Each one should be fully convinced in his own mind.”

First, what does it say about God that he gives us genuine freedom to make up our own minds?

And a few verses later Paul states, “if anyone regards something as unclean, then for him it is unclean.” (vs. 14)

What do you understand these passages to mean?

How can something be sin because we think it is sin?

If you believe the lie that eating cheese is sin, what will happen every time you eat cheese? Your orbital and medial PFC will fire, impairing dorsolateral PFC, activating amygdala, causing the experience of fear, guilt, anxiety, shame, insecurity, activating the body’s immune system, activating inflammatory cascade, resulting in damage to brain and body.

Further, how does the person who feels guilt, anxiety, fear and shame act? Do they feel insecure, do they run and hide from God?

So, what is the problem – eating cheese? No! The problem is believing the lie, because lies believed break the circle of love and trust, activate fear circuits, and result in selfishness, severing our trust and unity with God!

But what about if you believe a lie in the other direction, as was taught 120 years ago by doctors, that cigar smoke is good for lung disease? If you believe this lie what happens? You smoke cigars with a clear conscience, but what happens to your body, including your brain? They get damaged.

But what if you believe a lie that the apple you just ate has been poisoned? What will happen?

The belief in a lie doesn't make something harmful good, but will cause something good to become harmful.

Satan is the father of lies and he seeks to infect our minds with lies so that our internal mental, physical and spiritual health will be damaged.

What would you say if a person bought 1000 Bibles and publicly burned them to protest Christianity?

What would Muslims do if someone publicly burned Korans?

What is the spiritually mature response?

- Does the burning of a sacred book change God?
- Does the burning of a sacred book by another person change you? – It depends on what you believe in regard to the act – this is Satan's trick – if he can get another person to do something, that infects your mind with a lie, he can get you to act destructively.
 - If you believe that God is offended, that it is blasphemous, that such action requires punishment and thus we riot to burn the embassy of a particular nation or hang the person who did it, then we are damaged.
 - But if we believe that the other person is only demonstrating what is in their heart. If we cling to the truth that all sacred books are going to be burned when Christ comes anyway, and that burning a book doesn't change God, His methods, or the truth of God's kingdom, then we have compassion for the one closing their mind to truth. We speak like Jesus, "Father forgive them, they don't know what they are doing."

In the bottom section the lesson points out that the Bereans were more noble because they checked everything Paul said with the OT scripture.

Why is this a good idea? As we have said in here many times, this class is not here to tell you what to think, but is here to get you to think for yourself, to get you to examine the evidences and come to your own conclusions.

The lesson states as Christians “we have many things to learn and many to unlearn.”

What gets in the way of learning new things and unlearning old things?

- If we believe something is true how easy is it for us to “unlearn” it?
- Could it be a mindset that believes “I’ve got the answer I don’t need to be confused with any other possibilities?”
- Do we want to “arrive” at the truth, or do we want to be “growing” in the truth? Understanding that God is infinite and there is an infinity of new truth to discover?

Bottom green section asks, “What are some examples of the Christian church acting in ways that were clearly in the wrong?”

- Crusades
- Inquisition
- Burning people at the stake
- What about using church resources and energy to seek to get the “right” politicians in office? Did Jesus or the Apostles ever seek political change?
 - Is the church to focus on changing the state, or changing the hearts of men?
- What about public statements that blame God for natural disasters – accusing God of punishing cities for wickedness?

- Other examples?

TUESDAY

Read bottom green section, “How well...”

Do you think it is important to know what is being taught by other religious groups and by the non-religious community?

Why is this important?

If you don't know what the ideas, beliefs, arguments, biases of others are does it make it more difficult to present the truth effectively?

Then, with this attitude in mind, would we expect that if a Christian university, in its biology department, taught evolution, so that the students could be familiar with the way the science is presented in the non-believing community, the constituency of that Christian university would be supportive and thankful of such a good job in educating their young people?

Have you ever heard of a case in which a Christian university's faculty were attacked by their own constituency for trying to educate their students about evolution?

Why are some in the religious community afraid to have the evolution science presented?

Why are almost ALL those in the scientific community afraid to have creation science presented?

Could it be that both groups suffer from the same underlying problem – fear that evidence could undermine their beliefs?

I love this comment by one of the founders of our church:

There is no excuse for anyone in taking the position that there is no more truth to be revealed, and that all our expositions of Scripture are without an error. The fact that certain doctrines have been held as truth for many years by our people, is not a proof that our ideas are infallible. Age will not make error into truth, and truth can afford to be fair. No true doctrine will lose anything by close investigation. {CW 35.2}

Do you notice that many scientist are not willing to be fair, they refuse to include evidence that undermines their preconceived ideas.

A book by Sanders, Genetic Entropy, does a great job of documenting the DNA evidence that the theory of evolution is wrong. He demonstrates the mutation rate in the DNA is so high that natural selection cannot eliminate the damaging mutations and over time all life on earth is in a slow state of decline. But much of the scientific community refuses to acknowledge this evidence and continues blindly down a path that is becoming increasingly exposed as wrong.

Do Christians do the same thing in any way? How?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson reviews how Paul approached people differently in different cities and affirms Paul for being flexible and not using a cookie cutter approach to evangelism.

What are different ways we can reach people with the truth about God and His kingdom of love?

- Making the truth about God's character of love the center
- Daniel/Revelation seminars
- Health fairs/seminars
- Creation science seminars
- Social events
- Bible study groups with friends/neighbors

- Book by book approach looking for truth about God
- Other ideas?

THURSDAY

The lesson points out that Paul had real heart connection and concern for the people in Thessalonica, and he longed to present the believers to Christ.

What can we do to develop closer relationships with each other and those with whom we share Christ?

Is it easier to connect with some people than with others?

If you find that it is difficult to feel a connection with some people does that mean there is necessarily something wrong with you or them?

Why is it sometimes difficult to experience a connection with others?

- Different personalities can be so different they just don't mesh – does that mean either one is necessarily “wrong”?
- Some people do have hardened hearts and are closed off
- Some people do have biological problems, which make connecting to others difficult
- Some people have been injured, hurt, abused, and have been so traumatized they are afraid to trust or get close

Is there a difference between loving others and trusting others?

What is the difference? What are we called to do?

When should we trust?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 3 and 4

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 3 3Q 2012

Thessalonica in Paul's Day

Read memory text: "Though I am free and belong to no man, I make myself a slave to everyone, to win as many as possible" (1Cor 9:19).

Thoughts?

Is Paul a slave? No – he states explicitly he is free – but makes himself a slave, meaning he freely chooses to act the part of a slave, but he is not a slave.

What is he trying to communicate here?

Would it have anything to do with the law of love?

Is he saying, that once he was set free from sin and death by Christ, he freely chose to become a servant, to give of himself in order to reach others so they might be free?

What kind of relationship does God want from us? That of friends or slave?

Or does he want free slaves? Those who freely choose to live lives that love others, that we freely choose to give of ourselves to help others?

This week Stephanie gave birth to Lennox Nicole – our new granddaughter – and we have already observed how both Michael and Stephanie are now slaves to that child. They have chosen to freely enslave themselves for the welfare of their child. And what motivates them?

For Christ's love compels us, because we are convinced that one died for all, and therefore all died. And he died for all, that those who live should no longer live for themselves but for him who died for them and was raised again. 2Cor 5:14,15

What compels? Love, and what does it look like? That we no longer live for self but for God and others.

Isn't that what Paul means when he says though free he is a slave? A slave to loving other people?

Could this type of language ever be misunderstood? How might it be misunderstood?

Could people actually misconstrue Paul's words to mean that God wants us to relate to him like a master and a slave, "God said it, I believe it, that settles it." And what might be at the root of such a misunderstanding?

Could it be a misunderstanding about God's character and law of love?

SUNDAY

The lesson suggests we read John 11:48-50:

If we let him go on like this, everyone will believe in him, and then the Romans will come and take away both our place and our nation."

⁴⁹ Then one of them, named Caiaphas, who was high priest that year, spoke up, "You know nothing at all! ⁵⁰ You do not realize that it is better for you that one man die for the people than that the whole nation perish."

And then the lesson asks, "How were the political and religious decisions regarding the ministry of Jesus impacted by the arrival of the Romans in first-century Palestine and Jerusalem? Think through the logic expressed here. In what frightening ways does it make sense?"

Thoughts?

Do you think that if the Romans were not occupying Israel when Jesus arrived, that if the leaders of Israel were independent, King Herod, Caiaphas, etc. that they would have treated Jesus differently?

Do you think Jesus was treated the way he was because of the Roman occupation?

No, then what is going on in this passage? The Romans get used as a tool to manipulate the other leaders into turning against Christ.

“I tell you the truth,” Jesus answered, “before Abraham was born, I am!” At this, they picked up stones to stone him, but Jesus hid himself, slipping away from the temple grounds. Jn 8:58,59

²² Then came the Feast of Dedication at Jerusalem. It was winter, ²³ and Jesus was in the temple area walking in Solomon’s Colonnade. ²⁴ The Jews gathered around him, saying, “How long will you keep us in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us plainly.”

²⁵ Jesus answered, “I did tell you, but you do not believe. The miracles I do in my Father’s name speak for me, ²⁶ but you do not believe because you are not my sheep. ²⁷ My sheep listen to my voice; I know them, and they follow me. ²⁸ I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; no one can snatch them out of my hand. ²⁹ My Father, who has given them to me, is greater than all; no one can snatch them out of my Father’s hand. ³⁰ I and the Father are one.”

³¹ Again the Jews picked up stones to stone him, ³² but Jesus said to them... Jn 10:22-32

Now the crowd that was with him when he called Lazarus from the tomb and raised him from the dead continued to spread the word. ¹⁸ Many people, because they had heard that he had given this miraculous sign, went out to meet him. ¹⁹ So the Pharisees said to one another, “See, this is getting us nowhere. Look how the whole world has gone after him!” Jn 12:17-19

Were they concerned about the welfare of the nation or their own power and position?

What is going on here? These people are theologians, Bible professors, priests, pastors, leaders in the church. They have spent their entire lives promoting the “gospel” and working for God.

What would motivate people, who are leaders in the church, to want to stone someone?

- The belief that they are the bastions of truth, of orthodoxy and they must protect the poor ignorant masses from being deceived by others?
- That God wants them to act in ways that use power to coerce, pressure, stone those who present a message they don't agree with?
- That they recognize the rising popularity and are threatened with losing their own standing as the bastions for truth and thus losing power over others?

How should we treat people today who present a message that differs from ours?

Is it okay to openly debate, to openly present ideas that disagree with others, as long as one remains focused on the ideas, concepts, evidences, perspectives and continues to value the other person?

Is it okay to attack someone personally?

Why is it people will attack a person rather than the message? Is it because they can't refute the message so they want to distract away from the message onto other issues of controversy?

So what approach should we take? Present the truth in love and leave others free!

So back to the question in the lesson – was Christ treated as he was because of the Roman occupation? I don't believe so, but the Roman occupation was used to manipulate others into killing Christ.

Does the argument of the Jews make sense, better for one to die than the entire nation?

Or is it better for the entire nation to die than for us to do wrong, violate God's law and dishonor our Creator before the universe?

When we are faced with threats is it better to stay true to principle and honor our Creator or to sacrifice the innocent in order to protect ourselves, camouflaged as protecting the nation?

What happened in Nazi Germany? How many used this rationale?

What does Bible prophecy say in regard to the future? Might we be faced with decisions of compromise principle in order to save what appears to be a larger group?

How about at the end of every action, every communication, every decision, we were to end with this sign off: "To the Honor of Our Creator!"

Consider the implication, might it impact what we do? We live with the entire universe watching – do we live to honor our Creator in all that we do? Should we?

Bottom green section states, "How does the current political situation in your community affect the work of the church?"

Thoughts?

Should our churches be politically active?

- Prolife versus prochoice?
- Democrat or Republican?
- Pro-environment?
- Campaign for officials who support our values?
- Religious liberty?

Do we ever notice Christ or the Apostles focusing on politics in Rome?

Here is what one of the founders of our church said:

There is a large vineyard to be cultivated; but while Christians are to work among unbelievers, they are not to appear like worldlings. They are not to spend their time talking politics or acting politics; for by so doing they give the enemy opportunity to come in and cause variance and discord. {Counsels for the Church 316.5}

God's children are to separate themselves from politics, from any alliance with unbelievers. Do not take part in political strife. Separate from the world, and refrain from bringing into the church or school ideas that will lead to contention and disorder. Dissension is the moral poison taken into the system by human beings who are selfish. 570 {CCh 316.6}

Christianity. How many there are who do not know what it is. It is not something put on the outside. It is a life inwrought with the life of Jesus. It means that we are wearing the robe of Christ's righteousness. In regard to the world, Christians will say, We will not dabble in politics. They will say decidedly, We are pilgrims and strangers; our citizenship is above. {PH086 24.2}

God has warned His people not to become absorbed in politics... We are not to give our minds to political issues. God's people are walking contrary to His will when they mix up with politics, and those who commence this work in the Southern States reveal that they are not taught and led by God, but by that spirit which creates contention and strife and every evil work. We are subjects of the Lord's kingdom, and we are to work to establish that kingdom in righteousness.-- Letter 92, 1899, p. 5. (To "Dear Brethren," typed June 16, 1899.) {3MR 41.1}

Neither you nor any of your brethren had any work to do in arguing or writing or taking any part whatever in politics. God was dishonored by all who acted any part in politics. God has chosen a people who are to proclaim the third angel's message to the world. They are to be a separate and peculiar people in this world of churches who are transgressing His commandments. . . .{3MR 41.3}

The Lord would have His people bury political questions. On these themes silence is eloquence. Christ calls upon His followers to come into unity on the pure gospel principles which are plainly revealed in the word of God. We cannot with safety vote for political parties; for we do not know whom we are voting for. We cannot with safety take part in any political schemes. We cannot labor to please men who will use their influence to repress religious liberty... The people of God are not to vote to place such men in office; for when they do this, they are partakers with them of the sins which they commit while in office. {FE 475.2}

Thoughts?

Is the church to spend its energy on politics? Why or why not?
Is the church to spend its energy on promoting a message that transforms the hearts of men?

What kinds of methods are used in politics? Can we achieve God's goals while using Satan's methods?

Then what do you make of this by the same author?

Every individual exerts an influence in society. In our favored land, every voter has some voice in determining what laws shall control the nation. Should not that influence and that vote be cast on the side of temperance and virtue? . . . {GW 387.1}

The advocates of temperance fail to do their whole duty unless they exert their influence by precept and example--by voice and pen and vote-- in favor of prohibition and total abstinence. We need not expect that God will work a miracle to bring about this reform, and thus remove the necessity for our exertion. We ourselves must grapple with this giant foe, our motto, No compromise and no cessation of our efforts till the victory is gained. . . . {GW 387.3}

Thoughts? What do you hear in this passage? Does it sound political? Or does it sound civic responsibility? Is there a difference?

Is there a difference from fulfilling your duty as a citizen to live in harmony with God's principles, to witness the truth of his kingdom, to be a blessing to your community, to stand up for healthy principles, and becoming politically active? Or, should we become politically active on issues that are in harmony with God's kingdom?

Is there a difference in voting for a person and voting on a particular law?

Would it be okay to become political for a policy but not a person?

I thank the Lord with heart, and soul, and voice that you have been a prominent and influential member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. In the providence of God you have been led to the light, to obtain a knowledge of the truth. . . . This light and knowledge you need to bring into your work, as you associate with women whose hearts are softened by the Spirit of God, and who are searching for the truth as for hidden treasure. For twenty years I have seen that the light would come to the women workers in temperance lines. But with sadness I have discerned that many of them are becoming politicians, and that against God. They enter into questions and debates and theories that they have no need to touch. Christ said, "I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." {DG 126.3}

What is going on – didn't we just hear admonition to be active in the temperance movement including voting, but now counsel against becoming politicians for the temperance movement?

What do you hear going on?

In this election year, what are the principles a Christian should apply to their lives in regard to politics?

MONDAY

Let's examine some of the common cults in Thessalonica in Paul's day. But before we do, let's set the context:

- Did Satan know a Messiah was promised? Yes Genesis 3
- Did Satan have a good idea when the Messiah would appear? Yes Daniel 7-9. (just like the wise men of the East)
- Did Satan have some general concept of what Christ was going to do based on the OT scriptures and Jewish practices?
- Do you think Satan sat back on a recliner waiting to see what would happen, or would he try to confuse the minds by creating various counterfeits?

Osiris:

Osiris was considered not only a merciful judge of the dead in the afterlife, but also the underworld agency that granted all life, including sprouting vegetation and the fertile flooding of the Nile River. He was described as the "Lord of love", "He Who is Permanently Benign and Youthful" and the "Lord of Silence". The Kings of Egypt were associated with Osiris in death — as Osiris rose from the dead they would, in union with him, inherit eternal life through a process of imitative magic. All people, not just pharaohs, were believed to be associated with Osiris at death, if they incurred the costs of the assimilation rituals.

Osiris mystery festival was celebrated in two phases, began on November 13 commemorating the death of the god, which was also the same day that grain was planted in the ground. "The death of the grain and the death of the god were one and the same: the cereal was identified with the god who came from heaven; he was the bread by which man lives. The resurrection of the god symbolized the rebirth of the grain."

The germinating seed symbolized Osiris rising from the dead.

The first phase of the festival was a public drama depicting the murder and dismemberment of Osiris, the search of his body by Isis, his triumphal return as the resurrected god, and the battle in which Horus defeated Set.

The passion of Osiris was reflected in his name 'Wennefer' ("the one who continues to be perfect"), which also alludes to his post mortem power.

Parts of this Osirian mythology have prompted comparisons with later Christian beliefs and practices.

The Egyptians of every period in which they are known to us believed that Osiris was of divine origin, that he suffered death and mutilation at the hands of the powers of evil, that after a great struggle with these powers he rose again, that he became henceforth the king of the underworld and judge of the dead, and that because he had conquered death the righteous also might conquer death...In Osiris the Christian Egyptians found the prototype of Christ, and in the pictures and statues of Isis suckling her son Horus, they perceived the prototypes of the Virgin Mary and her child... And Osirian traditions became incorporated into Christian teachings, particularly in the apocryphal gospel of Nicodemus and Christ's descent into Hades.

Biblical scholar Bruce M. Metzger notes that in one account of the Osirian cycle he dies on the 17th of the month of Athyra (approximating to a month between October 28 and November 26 in modern calendars), is revived on the 19th and compares this to Christ rising on the "third day" but he thinks "resurrection" is a questionable description.

Serapis:

Serapis (Σέραπις) or Sarapis (Σάραπις) is a Graeco-Egyptian god. Serapis was devised during the 3rd century BC on the orders of Ptolemy I of Egypt as a means to unify the Greeks and Egyptians in his realm. The god was depicted as Greek in appearance, but with Egyptian trappings, and combined iconography from a great many cults, signifying both abundance and resurrection. His cult was spread as a matter of deliberate policy by the Ptolemaic kings. Serapis continued to increase in popularity during the Roman period, often replacing Osiris as the consort of Isis in non-Egyptian temples. The destruction of the Serapeum by a mob led by the Patriarch Theophilus of Alexandria in 389 is one of the key events in the downfall of ancient paganism, and the cult ceased to exist with the abolition of paganism in 391 AD.

Critics list Serapis of Egypt with minor details as having a story "very similar to that of Christ," offering these points:

- He was called the "Good Shepherd"
- He was considered a healer
- Christianity adapted the Serapian practices of using lights, bells, vestments, processions, music, etc.
- Serapis was a sacrificial bull, as Christ was a sacrificial lamb
- Serapis was annually sacrificed for the sins of Egypt

Many Greek gods contributed to his nature, including: Zeus, Helios, Hades and Aesculapius. Zeus brought to him the attribute of presiding over nature. From Helios he received the aspects of sovereignty and sun-god. Hades linked him to the afterlife and Aesculapius gave him the art of healing.

Cabirus:

The lesson tells of a person named Cabirus who spoke up for the disenfranchised and was eventually murdered by his two brothers and became a godlike figure to the Thessalonians.

The literature seems to be split on this. There are several references to this story and concept in the historical record, but the majority of the references I could find described another god named Cabirus.

Karl P. Donfried in his article on the Cults of Thessalonica supplies reports that the city worshipped multiple cults, but most importantly that of Cabirus, who was the cities chief deity. According to Donfried, and others Cabirus was significantly connected with fertility and thus Paul mentions that the believers "turned to God from idols" (1:9) maintain personal "holiness (2:10-12) and avoid fornication (4:3). He contrasts holy living with the "passionate lust of the heathen" (4:4). Paul's only other references to sexual immorality are found in 1 Corinthians and in a catalogue of works of the flesh in Gal. 5:19. Like Thessalonica, the city of Corinth was dominated by a sexual cult (Aphrodite). (Karl P. Donfried, "The Cults of Thessalonica And The Thessalonian Correspondence," New Testament Studies, Vol. 31, No. 3 (July 1985): 336-356)

Thoughts about these various gods worshipped in Thessalonica during Paul's day? How might these concepts impact the willingness of the believers to accept what Paul was teaching?

Do you see how the minds of men were confused by pagan beliefs? Do you see how Satan sought to counterfeit the truth to make it harder for the gospel to be believed?

Does this give insight as to how easy it was for pagan god constructs to enter Christianity? Especially in regard to God's character and law?

How would you approach the people knowing they believed such ideas?

Do we struggle today with any pagan constructs infecting Christian teachings?

TUESDAY

Read third paragraph, "The gospel has the greatest..."

What do you think of the idea of experimentation in presenting the gospel?

And what about the idea that it works best when the gospel impacts the needs of people?

Why is it often true that the gospel advances in times of trial and strife? Is it because such difficulties make us aware of how much we need something more than self, something more than this world can offer?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson talks about the popular philosopher coming to town to share philosophy and gain a following in order to make some money.

Read the last two paragraphs, “The dark side...”

How should we handle the issue of money and the gospel today? Should we accept travel expenses to go and present the gospel message? Should we accept speaking fees?

Should we fund ourselves and pay our own way? Is there a difference between covering expenses and making a profit?

What are your thoughts about this?

THURSDAY

Why did they meet in home churches? Was it because this is the best method or because that was their only option?

Should we take home churches as the eternal model of church meeting places?

What lesson do we draw from Paul’s example of providing for his own expense?

Is there a difference in what Paul did, in a time when travel took weeks and months to get from one place to the next, and once in town one would often stay an extended period, and today in which one might fly in for a weekend and then out?

Is there a difference in speaking at an event and living in a community?

Was Paul wanting to demonstrate that he had something to give to them and was not trying to get something from them? Is that the principle? Can we demonstrate that principle today? How?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1 and 3.

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 4 3Q 2012

Joyous and Thankful

Read Memory Text 1Thes 1:2,3:

- We give thanks to God always for all of you, constantly mentioning you in our prayers, ³ remembering before our God and Father your work of faith and labor of love and steadfastness of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ. (ESV)
- We always thank God for you all and always mention you in our prayers. ³For we remember before our God and Father how you put your faith into practice, how your love made you work so hard, and how your hope in our Lord Jesus Christ is firm. (GNT)

Thoughts? While they are saying the same thing does one version resonate more with you?

SUNDAY

In reference to the memory text the lesson asks, “For what things are Paul, Silas, and Timothy giving thanks? What do these things mean in a practical sense? That is, how would they be manifested in the daily life?”

Thoughts?

What would it mean? Would it not mean that the people have accepted Gods Remedy to their sinful state? Would it not mean they are getting well?

If you were a parent and your children were all infected with a terminal disease, and you brought a remedy, and when you checked back you noticed the fever was down, the bleeding had stopped, the appetite had improved, their color was better, they were getting up and playing games again – would you not rejoice in all of these things? Why would you rejoice? Would it be because all of this is evidence that they were being healed and restored?

What does it mean to be saved? Doesn't it mean to be restored to Godliness, to God's original design?

Then wouldn't we expect the symptoms of sin to remit and the signs of spiritual health to appear?

Is this what Paul is thankful for?

What are the signs of spiritual health? As the lesson asked, what does it look like to put your faith into practice?

- Stop practicing pagan rituals?
- Stop practicing worldly principles, cheating, extorting, selfishness?
- Trusting God with how things turn out?
- Seeking to help one another?
- Sharing the message of God's kingdom with others?
- Changing one's lifestyle habits to move into harmony with God's design for life?
 - Any examples?
- Change relationships?
- Others?
- Do we need to make any changes in our lives?

MONDAY

Monday's lesson talks about being chosen, elected, and if we have time we will return this idea. But let's read the second paragraph, "Some Christians have taken..." thoughts?

Does it sound like the lesson is connecting lifestyle choice with our salvation?

What is the place for lifestyle and behavior in our salvation?

Is our salvation based on our lifestyle and behavior choices?

- Eating cheese?
- Eating meat?
- Refusing to exercise?
- Drinking coffee?
- Getting Tattoos?
- Wearing Jewelry?
- Watching non-Christian TV?
- Gossip?
- Smoking cigarettes?
- Drinking alcohol?
- Owning a store/restaurant that sells alcohol?
- Working on Sabbath?
 - Nurse, ER MD, Paramedic, Fire department, Police department, Coast Guard Rescue, cook at restaurant, cook at SAU cafeteria, banker, auto-mechanic, welder, plumber, electrician?
- Smoking marijuana?
- Premarital sex?
- Viewing porn?
- Promoting porn?
- Visiting prostitutes? – How about for single persons in states where it is legal?

What impact does lifestyle choices play on our salvation?

Are some lifestyle choices inconsequential while other choices are clearly destructive and still others are healing?

- Does the circumstance matter?
- Does the heart motive matter?
- What is the balance between lifestyle choice and salvation?
- Who is to determine for each of us where the line is to be drawn?
- Is the bottom line issue one of choosing self, selfishness, self-indulgence over God and his methods of love?

WEDNESDAY

1Thessalonians 1:6 tells us that they were “imitators” of Paul, and the lesson rightly points out that Christ is our ultimate role model, but often we benefit from human role models.

What concerns should we have in following the example of others? What about following the example of Apostles and Prophets?

Should we follow the lead of an Apostle, say like Paul, without thinking for ourselves? Is it safe to disagree with a prophet?

What about when Peter wouldn't mix with Gentiles? Should his example have been followed?

What about the old prophet in 1Kings 13 who told the young prophet to come and eat with him, but he was lying?

The old prophet answered, “I too am a prophet, as you are. And an angel said to me by the word of the LORD: ‘Bring him back with you to your house so that he may eat bread and drink water.’ ” (But he was lying to him.) ¹⁹ So the man of God returned with him and ate and drank in his house.

²⁰ While they were sitting at the table, the word of the LORD came to the old prophet who had brought him back. ²¹ He cried out to the man of God who had come from Judah, “This is what the LORD says: ‘You have defied the word of the LORD and have not kept the command the LORD your God gave you. ²² You came back and ate bread and drank water in the place where he told you not to eat or drink. Therefore your body will not be buried in the tomb of your fathers.’ ” 1Kings 13:18-22

Should we blindly follow the example of those inspired by God?

Last week we read some passages from the following from one of the founders of our church:

Every individual exerts an influence in society. In our favored land, every voter has some voice in determining what laws shall control the nation. Should not that influence and that vote be cast on the side of temperance and virtue? . . . {GW 387.1}

The advocates of temperance fail to do their whole duty unless they exert their influence by precept and example--by voice and pen and vote-- in favor of prohibition and total abstinence. We need not expect that God will work a miracle to bring about this reform, and thus remove the necessity for our exertion. We ourselves must grapple with this giant foe, our motto, No compromise and no cessation of our efforts till the victory is gained. . . . {GW 387.3}

Was she right? Should she have been followed on this issue, or was she, on this issue, like Peter when shrinking away from Gentiles?

- What method was she advocating?
 - Was she urging us to present the truth in love and leave others free? Or, was she urging that we use the power of the state to enforce a particular religious view on others in society that don't hold that view?
 - Don't some religious groups use alcohol in their services?
 - Is this method any different than using the state to enforce worship on a particular day?
- Prohibition was eventually passed, and how did it actually work out? Was society better for it? Or, did it result in more rebellion, conflict, violence, crime, etc? Why? What happens when liberty is violated? Love is destroyed and rebellion is incited.
- If an Apostle, like Peter, makes a mistake, as he did regarding associating with Gentiles, does that mean he is not inspired?
- What does it mean?

- Does anything we have said suggest we are in favor of alcohol? NO! Alcohol destroys. I deal with families that have been ruined by alcoholism, drunkenness, etc. We are not advocating alcohol – what are we advocating? Freedom! We present the truth in love and leave others free!

The lesson says in fourth paragraph, “God’s Word can always be trusted.” Thoughts about this? It is true – does that mean how people understand, interpret, or teach God’s Word can always be trusted?

Can the trustworthy Word of God be misunderstood? Is it easy or hard to misunderstand God’s Word?

What makes it easy to misunderstand it and what makes it hard to misunderstand it?

The lens we use to view God’s Word through.

If we view God’s Word through a lens in which God’s law is imposed, God is arbitrary, God is severe, God uses His power to inflict pain and suffering – then God’s Word is easily misunderstood.

If however, we view God’s Word through the lens of God’s law of love, the design protocol upon which life is built, through the life of Jesus who revealed selfless love perfectly, then God’s Word is hard to misunderstand.

THURSDAY

In 1Thes 1:8-10 Paul notes that the Thessalonians had become known in other regions by the way they were living. What do you think had changed that caused others to take note?

In verse 10 Paul states that Christ is going to save us from the wrath to come – what is this talking about?

What do we understand God's wrath to be? God letting go to reap what people choose. What references support this?

In Hard Sayings of the Bible published by IVP we read:

The human condition, which Paul describes in Romans 1:18-32, is not something caused by God. The phrase "revealed from heaven" (where "heaven" is a typical Jewish substitute word for "God") does not depict some kind of divine intervention, but rather the inevitability of human debasement which results when God's will, built into the created order, is violated. Since the created order has its origin in God, Paul can say that the wrath of God is now (constantly) being revealed "from heaven." It is revealed in the fact that the rejection of God's truth (Rom 1:18-20), that is, the truth about God's nature and will, leads to futile thinking (Rom 1:21-22), idolatry (Rom 1:23), perversion of God-intended sexuality (Rom 1:24-27) and relational-moral brokenness (Rom 1:28-32). (emphasis theirs)

The expression "God gave them over" (or "handed them over"), which appears three times in this passage (Rom 1:24,26,28), supports the idea that the sinful perversion of human existence, though resulting from human decisions, is to be understood ultimately as God's punishment which we, in freedom, bring upon ourselves.

In light of these reflections, the common notion that God punishes or blesses in direct proportion to our sinful or good deeds cannot be maintained... God loves us with an everlasting love. But the rejection of that love separates us from its life-giving power. The result is disintegration and death. (Kaiser, W., et al., Hard Saying of the Bible, Intersity Press, 1996, p. 542-543)

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

The lesson asks, “How do we gain assurance that we are right with God?”

Thoughts about this question?

What makes us “right with God?”

What makes us “not right” with God?

The lies we believe about God and our fallen natures, our selfish motives.

What makes us right? The truth about God, which destroys lies, restores to trust, and in trust we open the heart, and the HS comes and restores Christlikeness within, we become partakers of the divine nature!

Here is what one of the founders of our church said:

Christ came to save fallen man, and Satan with fiercest wrath met him on the field of conflict; for the enemy knew that when divine strength was added to human weakness, man was armed with power and intelligence, and could break away from the captivity in which he had bound him. Satan sought to intercept every ray of light from the throne of God. He sought to cast his shadow across the earth, that men might lose the true views of God's character, and that the knowledge of God might become extinct in the earth. He had caused truth of vital importance to be so mingled with error that it had lost its significance. The law of Jehovah was burdened with needless exactions and traditions, and God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God. Jesus came to teach men of the Father, to correctly represent him before the fallen children of earth. Angels could not fully portray the character of God, but Christ, who was a living impersonation of God, could not fail to accomplish the work. The only way in which he could set and keep men right was to make himself visible and familiar to their eyes. That men might have salvation he came directly to man, and became a partaker of his nature. {ST, January 20, 1890 par. 6}

What an incredible paragraph. What did you hear?

- When man is armed with power and intelligence we can break away from Satanic captivity – what captivity?
- Satan had misrepresented God and holds our minds captive in fear as we believe God is a cruel tyrant.
- The law of God was represented as that of Rome, burdened with rules and seen as imposed, rather than seen as the law of love
- Jesus came to reveal God, to destroy lies, to win us to trust and to provide us with his nature!

Three paragraphs later in the same article we read:

Oh, that men might open their minds to know God as he is revealed in his Son! Truth came forth from the lips of Jesus, uncorrupted with human philosophy. His words were from heaven, such as mortal lips had never spoken nor mortal ears ever heard. His heart was an altar on which burned the flames of infinite love. Goodness, mercy, and love were enthroned in the breast of the Son of God. He set up his tabernacle in the midst of our human encampment, pitched his tent by the side of the tents of men, that he might dwell among them and make them familiar with his divine character and love. No one could love Christ and pay homage to him without serving and honoring the infinite God. Those who had an appreciation of the character and mission of Christ, were filled with reverence and awe, as they looked upon him and felt that they were looking upon the temple of the living God. Officers were sent to take the Son of God, that the temple in which God was enshrined might be destroyed. But as they drew near and heard the words of divine wisdom that fell from his lips, they were charmed, and the power and excellence of his instruction so filled their hearts and minds that they forgot the purpose for which they had been sent. Christ revealed himself to their souls. Divinity flashed through humanity, and they returned so filled with this one thought, so charmed with the ideas he had presented, that when the leaders of Israel inquired, "Why have ye not brought him?" they replied, "Never man spake like this man." They had seen that which priests and rulers would not see,-- humanity flooded with the light and glory of divinity. Those who would behold this glory would be drawn to love Jesus and to love the Father whom he represented. Christ exalted the character of God, attributing to him the praise, and giving to him the credit, of the whole purpose of his own mission on earth,--to set men right through the revelation of God. In Christ was arrayed before men the paternal grace and the matchless perfections of the Father. In his prayer just before his crucifixion, he declared, "I have manifested thy name." "I have glorified thee on the earth; I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." When the object of his mission was attained,--the revelation of God to the world,--the Son of God announced that his work was accomplished, and that the character of the Father was made manifest to men. {ST, January 20, 1890 par. 9}

Thoughts? What did you hear in this paragraph?

What was the method that Christ used to reach man, to set us right with God? To reveal the truth about God.

So what is it that gives us assurance with God? Coming back to a true knowledge of God as revealed in Jesus!

What is the temple of God? The living intelligent being, where God dwells by his Spirit. Christ came so that the temple could be rebuilt and that God could again dwell in his temple.

When we speak of the cleansing of the temple, what does it mean? Does it not mean cleansing the minds of men from the lies about God, so that the hearts can be cleansed from selfishness and fear?

MONDAY

Read 1Thes 1:4

- Our brothers and sisters, we know that God loves you and has chosen you to be his own.

Top section of the lesson asks, “What does it mean that God has chosen or elected us? Does that mean we don’t really have a choice? On the other hand, does it mean that someone who is not chosen by God cannot have salvation even if he or she wants it?”

Thoughts? Any other Bible texts come to mind?

- For those God foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the likeness of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brothers. ³⁰ And those he predestined, he also called; those he called, he also justified; those he justified, he also glorified. (Rom 8:29,30)

Thoughts about this text – first – if God doesn’t have foreknowledge then who was he predetermining to conform to the likeness of his Son?

If God doesn't have foreknowledge about who will be saved, then does this text have any meaning?

The Greek for foreknow is proginōskō from which we get prognosticate, to foretell. And means to know beforehand.

- All things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do (Heb. 4:13)
- declaring the end from the beginning (Isa. 46:10)

Foreknowledge is part of God's supreme omniscience – to remove it is to diminish him.

Some people get confused about this because they believe that if God foreknows then we have no choice – but the foreknown events do not occur because they are foreknown, they are foreknown because they will take place.

It is our freewill choices that provide the foreknowledge that God knows. In other words God foreknowledge is informed by our choices.

But, what about predestined – does God predetermine who will be saved? Here is what Graham Maxwell says about this passage in Romans:

- Predestinate. Gr. proorizō, “to mark off beforehand.” The word is translated “determined before” in Acts 4:28, and “ordained” in 1 Cor. 2:7. God predestinated those whom He foreknew. To use human language, as God foresaw, and thus foreknew, each generation of men that would come upon the stage of this world's action, He coupled immediately with His foreknowledge the decision to predestinate them all to be saved. God never had any other purpose than salvation for the members of the human family. For God “will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim. 2:4). He is “not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Peter 3:9). “As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live” (Eze. 33:11). Christ Himself said, “Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Matt. 11:28). “Whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev. 22:17). “For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (John 3:16)...

Salvation is not forced upon us against our will. If we choose to oppose and resist God’s purpose, we shall be lost. Divine foreknowledge and divine predestination in no way exclude human liberty. Nowhere does Paul, or any other Bible writer, suggest that God has predestined certain men to be saved and certain others to be lost, regardless of their own choice in the matter.¹

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1, 3, 5

¹ The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary, Volume 6. 1980 (F. D. Nichol, Ed.) (575–576). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

3rd Quarter 2012
Lesson 5 The Apostolic Example

Sabbath's Lesson

“But just as we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, so we speak, not to please man, but to please God who tests our hearts” (1 Thessalonians 2:4, ESV).

What does it mean to be approved by God?? What sort of ministry is “pleasing to God”?? What does it mean to have our hearts tested by God?? To be entrusted with which gospel?? Don't most ministers think they are approved by God?? Does He approve of all ministers?? All versions of the gospel?? How can we discern the differences since we cannot read hearts or minds??

Sunday's Lesson

Read Acts 16:16-40

16 Once when we were going to the place of prayer, we were met by a female slave who had a spirit by which she predicted the future. She earned a great deal of money for her owners by fortune-telling. 17 She followed Paul and the rest of us, shouting, “These men are servants of the Most High God, who are telling you the way to be saved.” 18 She kept this up for many days. Finally Paul became so annoyed that he turned around and said to the spirit, “In the name of Jesus Christ I command you to come out of her!” At that moment the spirit left her.

19 When her owners realized that their hope of making money(was gone, they seized Paul and Silas and dragged them into the marketplace to face the authorities. 20 They brought them before the magistrates and said, “These men are Jews, and are throwing our city into an uproar 21 by advocating customs unlawful for us Romans to accept or practice.”

22 The crowd joined in the attack against Paul and Silas, and the magistrates ordered them to be stripped and beaten with rods. 23 After they had been severely flogged, they were thrown into prison, and the jailer was commanded to guard them carefully. 24 When he received these orders, he put them in the inner cell and fastened their feet in the stocks.

25 About midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God, and the other prisoners were listening to them. 26 Suddenly there was such a violent earthquake that the foundations of the prison were shaken. At once all the prison doors flew open, and everyone's chains came loose. 27 The jailer woke up, and when he saw the prison doors open, he drew his sword and was about to kill himself because he thought the prisoners had escaped. 28 But Paul shouted, “Don't harm yourself! We are all here!”

29 The jailer called for lights, rushed in and fell trembling before Paul and Silas. 30 He then brought them out and asked, “Sirs, what must I do to be saved?”

31 They replied, “Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved—you and your household.” 32 Then they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all the others in his house. 33 At that hour of the night the jailer took them and washed their wounds; then immediately he and all his household were baptized. 34 The jailer brought them into his house and set a meal before them; he was filled with joy because he had come to believe in God—he and his whole household.

35 When it was daylight, the magistrates sent their officers to the jailer with the order: “Release those men.” 36 The jailer(told Paul, “The magistrates have ordered that you and Silas be released. Now you can leave. Go in peace.”

37 But Paul said to the officers: “They beat us publicly without a trial, even though we are Roman citizens, and threw us into prison. And now do they want to get rid of us quietly? No! Let them come themselves and escort us out.”

38 The officers reported this to the magistrates, and when they heard that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens, they were alarmed. 39 They came to appease them and escorted them from the prison, requesting them to leave the city. 40 After Paul and Silas came out of the prison, they went to Lydia's house, where they met with the brothers and sisters and encouraged them. Then they left.

Consider the experience of Paul and Silas earlier in Philippi. How many of us would have been willing to continue preaching Christ and Him crucified??

Might their visible wound lent credibility to the source of the Gospel??

Monday's Lesson

The lesson gives three [3] keys to persuading people to change their minds. Ethos: a valid argument based on the character of the speaker. Logos: the quality/logic of the argument itself. Pathos: The appeal of the argument or speaker to the listener's emotions.

Based on our class' approach to study, should either of these be weighed more heavily?? Which one is most important?? Least?? Should they harmonize like science, Scripture, and experience??

In I Thes. 2:3 Paul uses three [3] words to describe poor motivations for ministry. Error, Impurity, Deception.

Will it make any difference whether we are sincerely preaching an erroneous gospel, or the correct gospel based on self promotion, or if we are intentionally trying to deceive? Does the Law of Gravity care whether we step off a cliff in error, or follow someone we admire off the cliff, or if we are deceived in to jumping off the cliff?? Does the Law of God function any differently??

Tuesday's Lesson

Which comes first, the cart or the horse? Which comes first, the "behaviors" or a transformation of character? Which pleases God? [see Matt 7: 21-23]

21 "Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only the one who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. 22 Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name and in your name drive out demons and in your name perform many miracles?' 23 Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'

The lesson states: “Human beings need a sense of worth in order to function. We often seek this worth by accumulating possessions, by achievements, or through the positive opinions that others express about us. But all these sources of self-worth are fragile and so temporary. Genuine and lasting self-worth is found only through the gospel. When we fully grasp that Christ died for us, we begin to experience a sense of worth that nothing in this world can shake.”

Will our “self-worth” be any different based on which gospel we believe? Consider the gospel that has Jesus standing between us and an angry God pleading for mercy because we are covered by His blood, and has paid the penalty for sin. Does that gospel do much for our “self-worth”?

Now, consider the gospel that has Jesus standing at the right hand of God pleading with us to take the healing remedy for our sinful disease, and allow Him to transform our characters in to His likeness. Would this gospel do any more for our “self-worth”?

I see a trend in society to reward everyone for “trying”. Schools don’t give out grades anymore, because if we gave a child a D or F, it might damage their self esteem. Athletic events have no “winners or losers”, because half of the participants will have damage to their self esteem. Parents try not to let their children fail for fear of damage to self esteem. Governments give people free food, housing, health care, cell phones, etc. just to please them. Does this make any sense? Which is more beneficial to self esteem? To get a D in a class, realize that you didn’t do your best, apply yourself the next semester, and raise your grade to a B or A, or to not get a grade at all? What about doing the best you possibly could, and still receive a D?

Shouldn’t we wrestle with the gospel and our salvation, and make mistakes? How will we learn anything if we don’t?

Wednesday’s Lesson

In the 3rd paragraph, the lesson states: “While Paul’s primary motivation was to please God, in verses 7 and 8 he expresses an additional motivation—his great affection for the Thessalonians themselves. Verse 8 uses the language of emotional warmth. Preaching the gospel was much more than a duty for Paul; he gave his heart, even his whole self, to the people.”

I am going to suggest that the lesson has the cart before the horse. I think that Paul’s primary motivation was revealing Christ’s love for his fellow man, and this, by default, is pleasing to God. I believe that the Pharisee’s primary motivation was to please God, and look how that worked out for them. Thursday’s, and Friday’s lesson agrees with me.

[TH] “The key is the love Paul had for his converts. He did all he could to model authenticity for them; yet, he realized that there were things that they were not ready to handle (see also John 16:12). So, he worked with his hands and adapted his instruction, all in order to avoid putting unnecessary barriers in the way of people's acceptance of the gospel. A powerful lesson in self-sacrifice for sure. "

[FR] "No matter how high the profession, he whose heart is not filled with love for God and his fellow men is not a true disciple of Christ. . . . He might display great liberality; but should he, from some other motive than genuine love, bestow all his goods to feed the poor, the act would not commend him to the favor of God."—Ellen G. White, The Acts of the Apostles, pp. 318, 319.

Also, in the last paragraph, the lesson states that [in I Thes. 2: 7,8] we see an appeal to the emotional bond between Paul, et. al, and the Thessalonians, and that "the gospel is at its most powerful when it touches the heart."

Are there any churches or gospels that focus only on the emotional response? Is this healthy? I'm going to suggest the gospel is at its most powerful when it transforms the heart in to the heart of Christ. EGW states that this is the "miracle of miracles." [AA 476]

Thursday's Lesson

We could probably have spent all day on this lesson alone. Did God ever intend for ministers to only work at ministry? Are they supposed to be entertainers 1 day a week, spending the other 6 preparing to entertain?

This is EGW's summary of Paul's education: "Though Paul sat, a diligent student, at the feet of Gamaliel, he also learned a trade. He was an educated tentmaker. It was the custom among the Jews, the wealthy as well as the poorer classes, to train their sons and daughters to some useful employment, so that should adverse circumstances come, they would not be dependent on others, but would have educated ability to provide for their own necessities. They might be instructed in literary lines, but they must also be trained to some craft. This was deemed an indispensable part of their education." {TDG 203.2}

Solomon gives us other insight. [see Prov. 14:23, 20:13, 21:5, 23:21, 24:34, 28:19]

How different would our church look if it were modeled after the early church?

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 6 3Q 2012

Friends Forever

Read Memory Text: "May he strengthen your hearts so that you will be blameless and holy in the presence of our God and Father when our Lord Jesus comes with all his holy ones."
(1Thes 3:13)

Thoughts?

What does it mean to be "blameless"?

- Innocent?
- Not our fault?
- Healed and without residual defect of character?

What does it mean to be "holy"?

- In harmony with God?
- Love others more than self?

Here is a quotation from a book, Thoughts From the Mount of Blessings, written by EG White one of the founders of our church:

The great principles of the law, of the very nature of God, are embodied in the words of Christ on the mount. Whoever builds upon them is building upon Christ, the Rock of Ages. In receiving the word, we receive Christ. And only those who thus receive His words are building upon Him. "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." 1 Corinthians 3:11. "There is none other name under heaven, given among men, whereby we must be saved." Acts 4:12. Christ, the Word, the revelation of God,-- the manifestation of His character, His law, His love, His life,--is the only foundation upon which we can build a character that will endure. {MB 148.2}

We build on Christ by obeying His word. It is not he who merely enjoys righteousness, that is righteous, but he who does righteousness. Holiness is not rapture; it is the result of surrendering all to God; it is doing the will of our heavenly Father. When the children of Israel were encamped on the borders of the Promised Land, it was not enough for them to have a knowledge of Canaan, or to sing the songs of Canaan. This alone would not bring them into possession of the vineyards and olive groves of the goodly land. They could make it theirs in truth only by occupation, by complying with the conditions, by exercising living faith in God, by appropriating His promises to themselves, while they obeyed His instruction. {MB 149.1}

Religion consists in doing the words of Christ; not doing to earn God's favor, but because, all undeserving, we have received the gift of His love. Christ places the salvation of man, not upon profession merely, but upon faith that is made manifest in works of righteousness. Doing, not saying merely, is expected of the followers of Christ. It is through action that character is built. "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." Romans 8:14. Not those whose hearts are touched by the Spirit, not those who now and then yield to its power, but they that are led by the Spirit, are the sons of God. {MB 149.2}

Do you desire to become a follower of Christ, yet know not how to begin? Are you in darkness and know not how to find the light? Follow the light you have. Set your heart to obey what you do know of the word of God. His power, His very life, dwells in His word. As you receive the word in faith, it will give you power to obey. As you give heed to the light you have, greater light will come. You are building on God's word, and your character will be builded after the similitude of the character of Christ. {MB 150.1}

Christ, the true foundation, is a living stone; His life is imparted to all that are built upon Him. "Ye also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house." "Each several building, fitly framed together, groweth into a holy temple in the Lord." 1 Peter 2:5, R.V.; Ephesians 2:21, R.V. The stones became one with the foundation; for a common life dwells in all. That building no tempest can overthrow; for-- "That which shares the life of God, With Him surviveth all." {MB 150.2}

Thoughts about this quotation?

- The great principle of the law is love, which is the very nature of God
- Christ is the fulfillment of God's law of love and perfect expression of his character
- He who unites with Christ chooses to live in harmony with God's principles, and thus builds upon Christ
- Holiness is not a euphoric experience, but actual state of being, of choosing, of living in harmony with God's design protocols for life.
- Our choices, works, are not motivated from fear, insecurity, need for approval, duty even, but from love and reason.
 - Why does a husband buy flowers for his wife, because if he doesn't he is afraid she will be mad? Because if he doesn't he is afraid she will reject him? Because it is his duty and he must in order to fulfill his obligations? Or because he loves her?
 - Why does he not cheat on her? Because of fear or because of both love and reason, understanding God's design template for health and realizing love is selfless and healthy relationships cannot exist in violations of God's design?
- Our choices, based on our motivations, change us
- As we choose to do what we understand is right we get healthier and understand more
 - If we are physically unhealthy we don't have to know every detail of human physiology – we need simply to start doing what we currently know is healthy for us –

- Stop smoking
 - Stop drinking
 - Start exercising
 - Stop drugs
 - Get regular sleep etc.
 - With each truth applied we get healthier and our minds improve and we discover more truth to apply
- In choosing to trust God, in choosing to act in love, in choosing to surrender to Christ, we unite with him and receive the indwelling of his Spirit, which imparts to us the life of Christ

So, this verse from my paraphrase:

May he solidify your characters in purity and love so that you will be found Christlike in God's presences when our Lord Jesus comes back with all those in unity with him.

Is it possible? Can we be blameless and holy, without defect, restored to Godliness when Jesus comes?

Would God call us to this if it were not possible?

What would that look like?

⁴³ "You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.'⁴⁴ But I tell you: Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you,⁴⁵ that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous.⁴⁶ If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that?⁴⁷ And if you greet only your brothers, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that?⁴⁸ Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect. (Mt 5:43-48)

What does it look like to be holy and blameless? Would it be loving others more than self? Would it be being like Jesus in character, in the way we treat others?

Would it be in possessing a character that chooses to do right, even if it means injury to self?

- Jesus in the wilderness – tempted to turn bread to stone, chose to do right and not use power selfishly even if it meant starvation
- What about refusing to bow to Satan to save his own life?
- What about if home threatened to be foreclosed and refusing to cheat to save your home?
- What about make a mistake at work which could result in your censure, cover it up, or own up?

SUNDAY

Read second paragraph, “With verse 14...” thoughts?

Why does persecution happen? What causes a person to persecute another because of their beliefs?

- Control and power –
 - Chinese government realizes that religious beliefs have the power to topple governments, thus they repress religion and promote atheism, with the position that the state supersedes religious belief.
 - Papal/protestant conflicts – the papal system in history was not primarily concerned with saving souls, but retaining political power, thus it worked to repress the reformation to prevent removing its funding and power base
 - England in the 16th century put do death many Catholics because of fears that they were undermining the government. The pope gave a bull (edict) that Catholics were absolved of their loyalty to the protestant English government, which incited fear in the government of Catholics

- Misguided beliefs about God
 - Saul of Tarsus – sought to persecute because he believed he was doing God’s will
 - Certainly there are those of other religions, Catholic, Protestant and otherwise who have thought they were doing God’s will while persecuting others
 - They will put you out of the synagogue; in fact, a time is coming when anyone who kills you will think he is offering a service to God. ³ They will do such things because they have not known the Father or me. Jn 16:2,3
 - Puritans in America persecuted those who didn’t attend Puritan services believing they were protecting society
 - Islam – uses government to enforce religious law, stoning people for conversion to Christianity.

S.P. Haynes in his book, Religious Persecution: A Study in Political Psychology, published in 1904 states:

“For the priest, above all, toleration is necessarily a hard virtue. One ought not to lay great stress upon the old argument of the Hallam and Macaulay school as to the strength of vested interests, though it has a certain historical importance because the priest must subsist somehow. Vested interests are, after all, merely a secondary factor. But in the priest the emotional bias of the ordinary man has tenfold strength. By a natural process men who cling most to the instinct of veneration of the past and of enthusiastic obedience to present authority are drawn to the priesthood. They are often the most loveable and the most human of their kind; but their very strength of conviction and inaccessibility to plain reasoning in certain matters makes real tolerance for them extremely difficult. Indeed, they have often frankly admitted, especially in these days, that supernatural truths are bound up with the heart and not the head.” (Haynes, S.P., Religious Persecution: A Study in Political Psychology. Duckworth & Co., London, 1904 p. 4).

Thoughts?

He is saying that there is a selection bias in which people who tend to have strong convictions, who are emotionally driven, and less objectively minded are over represented in the clergy. Thus, he argues that the clergy is more vulnerable toward persecuting others while thinking they are doing right.

Thoughts?

Two general types of intolerance:

- Intolerance within an organization, where if you don't conform to the ecclesiastical authority you are censured and expelled, and
- Civil intolerance. Haynes would argue that the clergy are intolerant within their organizations more so than other people, and when the government is overly influenced by the clergy then civil intolerance occurs.

Thoughts?

Kohlberg gave other insights into why persecution develops, and it has to do with spiritual maturity – or lack there of, with spiritually immature individuals persecuting the spiritually mature.

KOHLBERG'S STAGES OF MORAL DEVELOPMENT

A. PREMORAL OR PRECONVENTIONAL STAGES: Behavior motivated by anticipation of pleasure or pain.

STAGE 1: PUNISHMENT AND OBEDIENCE:

Avoidance of physical punishment and deference to power. The immediate physical consequences of an action determine its goodness or badness.

The atrocities carried out by soldiers during the holocaust who were simply "carrying out orders" under threat of punishment, illustrate that adults as well as children may function at stage one level.

STAGE 2: INSTRUMENTAL EXCHANGE:

Marketplace exchange of favors or blows. "You scratch my back, I'll scratch yours." Justice is: "Do unto others as they do unto you." Eye for an eye mentality. Wrong doing must be punished.

Vengeance is considered a moral duty.

B. CONVENTIONAL MORALITY: Acceptance of the rules and standards of one's group.

STAGE 3: INTERPERSONAL CONFORMITY:

Right is conformity to the behavioral expectations of one's society or peers. Individuals act to gain approval of others.

Good behavior is that which pleases or helps others within the group. "Everybody is doing it." One earns approval by being conventionally "respectable" and "nice."

Sin is a breach of the expectations of the social order.

Retribution, however, at this stage is collective. Individual vengeance is not allowed. Forgiveness is preferable to revenge. Punishment is mainly for deterrence. Failure to punish is "unfair." "If he can get away with it, why can't I?"

STAGE 4: LAW AND ORDER:

Respect for rules, laws and properly constituted authority. Defense of the given social and institutional order for it's own sake.

"Justice" normally refers to criminal or forensic justice. Justice demands that the wrongdoer be punished, that he "pay his debt to society," and that law abiders be rewarded. "A good day's pay for a good day's work."

Injustice is failing to reward work or punish demerit.

Authority figures are seldom questioned. "He must be right. He's the Pope (or the President, or the Judge, or God)."

STAGE 4 ½:

Between the conventional stages and the post-conventional Levels 5 and 6, there is a transitional stage. College-age students that have come to see conventional morality as relative and arbitrary, but have not yet discovered universal ethical principles, may drop into a hedonistic ethic of "do your own thing." This was well noted in the hippie culture of the 1960's. Disrespect for conventional morality was especially infuriating to the Stage 4 mentality, and indeed was calculated to be so.

C. POSTCONVENTIONAL OR PRINCIPLED MORALITY: Ethical principles

STAGE 5: PRIOR RIGHTS AND SOCIAL CONTRACT:

Moral action in a specific situation is not defined by reference to a checklist of rules, but from logical application of universal, abstract, moral principles. Individuals have natural or inalienable rights and liberties that are prior to society and must be protected by society.

Retributive justice repudiated.

The statement, "Justice demands punishment," which is a self-evident truism to the Stage 4 mind, is just as self-evidently nonsense at Stage 5. Retributive punishment is neither rational nor just, because it does not promote the rights and welfare of the individual. Only legal sanctions that fulfill that purpose are imposed-- protection of future victims, deterrence, and rehabilitation.

The freedom of the individual should be limited by society only when it infringes upon someone else's freedom.

STAGE 6: UNIVERSAL ETHICAL PRINCIPLES:

An individual who reaches this stage acts out of universal principles based upon the equality and worth of all human beings.

Persons are never means to an end, but are ends in themselves. Having rights means more than individual liberties.

This is the "Golden Rule" model. A list of rules inscribed in stone is no longer necessary.

At this level, God is understood to say what is right because it is right; His sayings are not right, just because it is God who said them.

Persons at this level have accepted God's invitation to "come and let us reason together".

THE FOLLOWING ARE OBSERVATIONS THAT WERE MADE BY KOHLBERG

1. STAGE DEVELOPMENT IS INVARIANT.

One must progress through the stages in order, and one cannot get to a higher stage without passing through the stage immediately preceding it.

2. IN STAGE DEVELOPMENT, SUBJECTS CANNOT COMPREHEND MORAL REASONING AT A STAGE MORE THAN ONE STAGE BEYOND THEIR OWN.

3. IN STAGE DEVELOPMENT, MOVEMENT THROUGH THE STAGES IS EFFECTED WHEN COGNITIVE DISEQUILIBRIUM IS CREATED, THAT IS, WHEN A PERSON'S COGNITIVE OUTLOOK IS NOT ADEQUATE TO COPE WITH A GIVEN MORAL DILEMMA.

4. IT IS QUITE POSSIBLE FOR A HUMAN BEING TO BE PHYSICALLY MATURE BUT NOT MORALLY MATURE.

5. KOHLBERG BELIEVED THAT ONLY ABOUT 25% OF PERSONS EVER GROW TO LEVEL SIX, THE MAJORITY REMAINING AT LEVEL FOUR.

The Bible enjoins principles of modesty, humility, and wise stewardship of the money. Application of these principles might preclude the purchase of expensive jewelry, furs, flashy cars, or other items primarily for show. A person functioning at level six would have no problem applying these principles. Persons functioning at a level four on the other hand, might make rules about "jewelry" (in a church for instance) or red dresses, or cosmetics. But they might not even notice a flashy car or the lady who wears a new dress every single week. Those things aren't on the list. If Kohlberg's observation is true, then level 6 thinkers would be in the minority. They might even be misunderstood and persecuted by a level 4 majority (Christ being the primary example).

STAGE THEORY AND THE ATONEMENT

Level 1: Man sinned and offended God. God responded with angry vengeance taking the life of Jesus.

Level 2: God somehow struck a bargain with the Devil, a market place exchange of Christ's life, paid as a ransom to the Devil, in trade for the devil's releasing his hostages. In the popular version, Satan found out too late that God had conned him, when Christ rose from the dead.

Level 3-4: The Law must be kept. Man broke the Law. Someone had to pay the penalty. "The wages of sin is death." Jesus paid that penalty. The integrity of the Law was maintained.

There is an aspect of truth on the law must be kept when the law is understood as the law life is built upon.

Level 5-6: He demonstrated that separation from God is death. ("Why have you forsaken me?") Since we separate ourselves from Him, not He from us, He is not our executioner. He allowed Satan to play out his hand, exposing his selfish character for all both man and angels to see, and thus erasing all sympathy for the accusations of the fallen foe. God's character was vindicated.

Level 7: Atonement becomes at-one-ment. God did what it took to win our love and trust, destroy the infection of sin and restore us to unity with Him again. Neither God, nor His law, defined as the eternal principles upon which He bases His government, change, but our understanding of His law changes, and God speaks to us at each level of our understanding. It is a mistake to cling to expressions appropriate to an earlier age of understanding, regardless of how valid and useful they were in their own context, when more appropriate expressions exist.

We must be patient with our brethren who perhaps are just beginning their maturing process, and allow the pastor to preach for them sometimes. For even as God was laying down detailed concrete rules for the Israelites, He was already looking forward to the day when He would "write His laws on our hearts."

Why does persecution happen? Because people at one level feel a moral obligation to enforce the rules on those they believe are not following them.

The lesson asks us to read 1Thes 2:14-16:

For you, brothers, became imitators of God's churches in Judea, which are in Christ Jesus: You suffered from your own countrymen the same things those churches suffered from the Jews, ¹⁵ who killed the Lord Jesus and the prophets and also drove us out. They displease God and are hostile to all men ¹⁶ in their effort to keep us from speaking to the Gentiles so that they may be saved. In this way they always heap up their sins to the limit. The wrath of God has come upon them at last.

Then the lesson points out that passages such as this have been used to justify anti-Semitism. But, also points out that Paul was not speaking about a race of people, but a specific group of people identified, not by race, but by character – that of opposing God and His kingdom of love.

The lesson then asks, "How much ethnic prejudice lingers in our own hearts?"

Thoughts?

Do we have problems with people of different ethnic backgrounds?

Is it appropriate to judge someone by the color of their skin?
No!

Can there be tensions between two groups of people that are simply a result of taste, preference, experience, and have nothing to do with judgmentalism, prejudice, bias etc.?

For instance, could one group of people not enjoy the music common to another group? Does that mean one is racist?

Could one group not enjoy the food, spices, etc. of another group? If you don't like the food, music, even clothing, its just not what you enjoy, does that mean you are racist?

Can you love people from all backgrounds, while you don't enjoy the music, food, or clothing of that culture?

How about if one culture likes church to end at noon and another culture likes church service to end at 4 p.m. – if one doesn't like church ending at 4 p.m. does that mean they are racist?

The issue is – do we love people, and how we treat them!

Are all people equal? How are people equal?

Equal in moral worth and value as human beings.

Are all people equal in abilities? Do our abilities define our worth as human beings?

Can we ever confuse the two? What about in the military when it recognizes the moral equality of men and women – but some confuse their physical inequality and ignore the limitations of women in combat roles that might require them to carry a 250 pound wounded soldier over their back to an aid station?

If one recognizes objective differences in ability, does that mean one is racist, sexist, or prejudiced?

What is our responsibility as Christians when dealing with people from different races and cultures? To love people!

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “Paul wants...” thoughts?

What do you think about the idea of giving criticism under the umbrella of love and concern for the one being criticized?

Good idea, right?

Have you ever had someone take this approach and you felt it was contrived, manipulative, “John, we’re only interested in what’s best for you...”

How do you tell the difference between someone who really cares, and someone who is pretending to care?

Would it be in the ultimate decisions, actions, behaviors?

I saw that many have taken advantage of what God has shown in regard to the sins and wrongs of others. They have taken the extreme meaning of what has been shown in vision, and then have pressed it until it has had a tendency to weaken the faith of many in what God has shown, and also to discourage and dishearten the church. With tender compassion should brother deal with brother. Delicately should he deal with feelings. It is the nicest and most important work that ever yet was done to touch the wrongs of another. With the deepest humility should a brother do this, considering his own weakness, lest he also should be tempted. {1T 166.1}

I have seen the great sacrifice which Jesus made to sacrifice. Said Jesus: "Love one another, as I have loved you." Do you feel, when a brother errs, that you could give your life to save him? If you feel thus, you can approach him and affect his heart; you are just the one to visit that brother. But it is a lamentable fact that many who profess to be brethren, are not willing to sacrifice any of their opinions or their judgment to save a brother. There is but little love for one another. A selfish spirit is manifested. {1T 166.2}

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

Read fourth paragraph, “Christian suffering...” thoughts?

What do you think about the idea of suffering?

Have you suffered? Do we have to wait until the “time of trouble” to suffer?

Have you ever been discouraged by suffering?

- Finances, too many bills, bankruptcy
- Loss of job
- Health problems
- Divorce
- Death of a loved one
- Isolation, loneliness
- Addiction,
- Betrayal
- Have you ever been misrepresented, lies told about you?
- Abused?

How do we handling suffering – as Christians? When we are tempted to despair?

Are we tempted to become angry, resentful, cynical, apathetic, give up?

Into the experience of all there come times of keen disappointment and utter discouragement--days when sorrow is the portion, and it is hard to believe that God is still the kind benefactor of His earthborn children; days when troubles harass the soul, till death seems preferable to life. It is then that many lose their hold on God. . . . Could we at such times discern with spiritual insight the meaning of God's providences we should see angels seeking to save us from ourselves, striving to plant our feet upon a foundation more firm than the everlasting hills, and new faith, new life, would spring into being.... {CC 213.3}

Thoughts?

Read bottom green “What are things...” thoughts?

- Pray
- Bible study
- Know God
- Live healthfully
- Practice our trust in God
- Surrender control of outcomes to God

WEDNESDAY

Read last paragraph, “What was lacking...” thoughts?

What does it mean when we realize there is growing to do?
Does it mean we are not “right with the Lord” until we finish growing? Does it mean we are “lost” until we finished growing?

Or, does it mean, that we can only grow if we are in a saving relationship with the Lord? If spiritual growth is happening, if maturing of character is occurring, if spiritual wisdom, insight, love for others is increasing – would not all of this be evidence that one is in a saving relationship with Jesus, because such growth cannot occur outside that relationship?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph “The second coming...” thoughts?

What does it mean every act of abuse will be brought to justice?

What does it mean every act of love or kindness will be recognized and rewarded?

How would you explain it?

- God will punish the wicked?

- Sin pays its own wage, which is death if not remedied?
- God endows rewards
- The rewards are built into the kindness as we experience the transformation that comes when living in harmony with God?
- We get recognition and affirmation from other intelligent beings?
- We experience love and acceptance from other righteous beings?
- All?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 7 3Q 2012

Living Holy Lives

SABBATH

The lesson states, “Paul speaks very clearly about the need to avoid sexual immorality. He’s very strong in his language here saying that those who reject his instruction are, in fact, not rejecting him but the Lord.”

How would you define sexual immorality?

Is it like Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart said in the 1964 case of Jacobellis vs Ohio, on the issue of obscenity in the public square:

I shall not today attempt further to define the kinds of material I understand to be embraced within that shorthand description ["hard-core pornography"]; and perhaps I could never succeed in intelligibly doing so. But I know it when I see it, and the motion picture involved in this case is not that. (Justice Potter Stewart, concurring opinion in Jacobellis v. Ohio 378 US 184 (1964), regarding possible obscenity in The Lovers.)

Do we know sexual immorality when we see it?

Do you consider the following to be sexually immoral?

- Obviously sexual assault/abuse/molestation of any kind is immoral
- Paraphilia’s? (pedophilia, voyeurism, frotteurism)
 - What is not practiced but fantasized about?
 - What happens to the brain, character, if focus on such material?
- What about Adultery?
 - 22 percent of married men admit to having an affair
 - 14 percent of married women admit to having an affair

- However, a 2002 study found that 45-55% of married women and 50-60% of married men engage in extramarital sex at some time during their marriage (Atwood & Schwartz, 2002 - Journal of Couple & Relationship Therapy)
- Only 46% of men believe that online affairs are adultery. (DivorceMag)
 - What do you think?
 - What would contribute to the idea that online affairs are not adultery?
 - Could it be teachings – even in the church, that the only way to commit adultery is through physical sex? What some call “violation of the marriage bed”?
- According to a private investigative company who investigated thousands of people for infidelity:
 - 99.9 percent of those who commit adultery deny they are having an affair and attempt to hide the truth! The exception is when they confess without being forced into it.
 - 70-80 percent who willingly confess to infidelity recovery and enjoy a stronger marriage in time.
 - What are the implications of these stats? Denial and deception reveal a heart continuing to operate from selfishness – thus no heart change, voluntary confession is a step toward honesty and truthfulness, with increased likelihood of repentance and heart change to live other-centered rather than self-centered lives, thus the voluntary confession increases the change of a healthy outcome.
- Prostitution – is prostitution immoral?
 - Have you heard about Logan Campbell – an Olympian from New Zealand competing in taekwondo?
 - After returning from the Beijing Olympics he had bills from travel, equipment, and training of over $120,000 and preparation to go to the London Olympics was going to cost another $200,000. What to do?

- He opened a brothel – which is legal in New Zealand
 - He came under scrutiny from the New Zealand Olympic committee and the publicity resulted in large corporate donations to they taekwondo fund and therefore he sold his brothel on 2011
 - When asked about it he said, "It's a legal business in New Zealand. It's completely different from other countries in the world. There was no – I don't know – no one was forced into the industry, and they're not doing it because they are in poverty because we have a really good welfare system. It's more of like a higher-class thing than you see around the world. I think a lot of people don't understand that. As compared ... to places like Thailand [where] I know what it's like in the poorer countries, where people don't have a choice to get into that sort of industry. But in New Zealand it's completely different, so it's fine."
 - He said his parents didn't object to him running the brothel, especially after his mother met several of the women who worked for him. He said, "I've never had anyone in New Zealand be like, 'Why did you do that? That's not right,' or anything like that."
(<http://sports.yahoo.com/news/olympics--new-zealander-used-brothel-to-fund-olympic-taekwondo-training.html>)
 - Do we recognize sexual immorality when we see it?
- Premarital sex?

- According to the 2007 Youth Risk Behavior Survey found the percentage of high school students who have engaged in sexual activity to be:
 - 32.8% of 9th graders
 - 43.8% of 10th graders
 - 55.5% of 11th graders
 - 64.6% of 12th graders
- The average teen watches 15,000 sexual acts on TV and in movies per year – and studies show that the more sexual content in the programming the younger kids have sex. Is it immoral for parents to let their children watch such programming?
- Do we recognize sexual immorality when we see it?
- Playboy magazine and others like it?
- Pornographic video, internet?
 - $57 billion annual worldwide industry
 - 25% of all web searches are for porn
 - What about if done in anime?
 - What happens to the brain, character if use porn, even anime porn?
- Sports illustrated swimsuit edition?
- Victoria Secrets TV show?
- Victoria Secret stores?
- Cheerleaders at ball games? Outfits that are sexually provocative? Is this sexually immoral?
- Advertising with sexually provocative content?
- R Rated Movies?
- Flirting with someone when married?
- Flirting with someone when single?
- Lewd jokes?
- Music with sexual references and innuendo?
- Homosexuality?
- Sex change operation?
- Self-gratification?

MONDAY's lesson at the bottom states, "The word for 'sexual immorality' is porneia in the Greek, which would today cover everything from pornography to prostitution, to any sexual activity outside of marriage.”

Can you have sexual immorality within marriage?

This is a comment from a founder of this church:

- Because they have entered into the marriage relation, many think that they may permit themselves to be controlled by animal passions. They are led on by Satan, who deceives them and leads them to pervert this sacred institution. He is well pleased with the low level which their minds take; for he has much to gain in this direction. {1MCP 224.3}

He knows that if he can excite the baser passions and keep them in the ascendancy, he has nothing to be troubled about in their Christian experience; for the moral and intellectual faculties will be subordinate, while the animal propensities will predominate and keep in the ascendancy; and these baser passions will be strengthened by exercise, while the nobler qualities will become weaker and weaker.--2T 480 (1870). {1MCP 224.4}

- Thoughts? Agree, disagree? Why?
- Can sex within marriage be immoral? Can sex within marriage be damaging to husband and wife? Yes, what factors would contribute to damaging changes of sex within a marriage?
 - Selfishness – when the partner is seen as an object rather than a person
 - When sex is about self, not about loving the other
 - When domination, control, humiliation is involved
 - When sex violates the dignity of the other
 - When coercion is used
 - When sex is abusive
 - When genuine love is absent and fear is present
 - Why? – because oxytocin and vasopressin, neurochemicals that promote bonding is released when sex happens within a loving marriage. These brain chemicals prevent negative brain changes we see in addiction, including sexual addiction. But, the release of oxytocin and vasopressin is impaired when fear circuits fire. The fear circuits fire when selfishness increases, but the Anterior Cingulate Cortex, where we experience other-centered love, turns off the fear circuits. So, sex in a loving marriage results in bonding of the two people and no pathological brain changes, but sex outside a loving marriage results in fear circuit firing, reduction in oxytocin/vasopressin and increased pathological brain changes consistent with addiction.

- What about homosexual marriage? If the states make it legal is it then okay?
 - Can a person be saved if they are actively engaged in ongoing sexual immorality? (i.e. they never give it up?)
- Polygamy?
 - Was it immoral when Abraham, Jacob, David and Solomon did it?
 - Did Abraham, Jacob, David and Solomon ever give it up?
 - Were they saved?
 - What does this mean? How could they be? Did they ever give it up?
 - If polygamy is immoral then how could they be saved in such relationships?
 - Is polygamy immoral if it is legal in the country where it is practiced?
 - What about David and Bathsheba? Immoral for David to have adulterous relationship with her? Why, was it not immoral, and sinful, for him to marry her?
 - Because in that culture a woman had no standing. What David did to Bathsheba, by the affair, and by murdering Uriah, was to take from her her dignity, station in society, financial security, income, sustenance. If he would have not married her he would have acted selfishly. It was an act of redemptive love, to as far as possible restore to Bathsheba what he had taken, and he could do this only by marrying her.

- This is level six moral development thinking. Level four people can't understand this. It confuses them, because the rules say polygamy is sin, and sin is bad, and must be punished. But God operates on principles and principles of love are not bound by rules.
- So the OT people who practiced polygamy were saved because they experienced a change in heart where they died to self and loved others more than self. Thus, self-gratification no longer controlled them.
- Sexual immorality will keep someone from eternal life, if such activity prevents heart transformation – which it will do, unless overcome. In the case of polygamy, they overcame the carnal drives, but the circumstance was such that to rid themselves of their wives would have been an additional act of selfishness. So they instead loved and protected their wives.
- This has been a difficult issue in the church in places in the world where polygamy is practiced. I have read that in some regions where polygamy is legal a man cannot become a Adventist if he has more than one wife, so this has led to some individuals casting aside his least favorite wives. Others advocate for allowing membership if all the wives voluntarily want to stay.

So, how would you define sexual immorality? Would it not be actions, thoughts, behaviors, attitudes that degrade and destroy the image of God within you or another? Activities, practices, thought processes which increase selfishness and decrease genuine other centered love?

SUNDAY

The lesson speaks of Paul's desire for the believers to abound more and more in love, holiness, and Christian unity with one another looking forward to Christ's return.

What does this love look like?

What interferes with this type of love?

- Our biological drive to watch out for self
- Misunderstanding – perceiving threat when none exists
- Miseducation – what we have learned throughout life which biases us against others
- Business of life
- The false America dream –
 - The America dream is to have your own home, car, TV, capitalism, to get stuff. The more stuff the happier, and here, you can have a car loan, a mortgage, a loan for furniture, a credit card all in order for you to fulfill your dream and get stuff.
 - It is a lie, a trap, debt enslaves, and obstructs our ability to give freely to others because we are too busy worrying about paying our bills to have time to volunteer to help others.

Paul is pointing the Thessalonians toward an eternal dream, the hope of Christ's return, a universe in which there is no selfishness, pain, suffering, debt, in which all love each other more than self.

This should be our dream, our hope, our focus, our passion!

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “First Thessalonians....” Thoughts?

What do you think of the idea that sexual immorality is a bad idea because God will take vengeance upon you if you do it?

If that is true that God will use his power to exact vengeance on those who have struggled with sexual immorality? if we could just only get Jesus to persuade God not to be so vengeful, to be kind and gracious, then there would be nothing wrong with sexual immorality – right? WRONG!!!!

Is the problem with sexual immorality (or immorality of any kind) that God will be the avenger or that such actions is out of harmony with God’s design and is inherently destructive?

This idea is closely related to another myth about God and sex, namely that children come forth from God’s action, or another way to say it, God causes pregnancy, or God creates babies, or children are a gift from God.

What is the more precise truth? That procreative ability is a gift from God, which he leaves the human agent free to use as the human being chooses – in harmony with God’s design or out of harmony. As the lesson states at the bottom of the page, sexuality is a gift from God.

Should a woman who is raped and becomes pregnant turn to God and thank him for being raped?

Sexuality is a gift, and as all gifts, God leaves us free to use or abuse the gift. If we abuse the gift of sexuality are there damaging consequences? Like what?

- STDs

- Damaged self-respect
- Altered intimacy and ability to love others
- Damaged self image
- Pregnancy
- Children being born without loving parents
- Damaged character
- Seared conscience
- Others?

If you are interested in reading more about the impact of pornography on the brain I recommend a book, Wired for Intimacy: How Pornography Hijacks the Male Brain by William M. Struthers. Very well done.

TUESDAY

The lesson points out that Paul admonishes the Thessalonians not to be like Gentiles. What do you think this means?

The lesson states, “Gentile society as a whole had little or no sexual restraint in Paul’s day.”

And later the lesson states, “In today’s world many find sexual restraint of any kind distasteful.”

Thoughts?

Are we as Christians to be different than the non-believing world? Are we?

He said to me, “Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the house of Israel are doing in the darkness, each at the shrine of his own idol? They say, ‘The LORD does not see us; the LORD has forsaken the land.’” Again, he said, “You will see them doing things that are even more detestable.” (Eze 8:12-13).

What kinds of things were they struggling with in the darkness? Was it sexual immorality? And who was struggling? The elders – would this have any application to the church today?

How are Christians different than non-believers?

- Affirm a belief in God
- Practice religious observances, Sabbath, church attendance, baptism, communion, holy-days, give tithes offerings etc.
- Education?
- Beliefs about marriage

How are we not different?

- Born in a terminal condition suffering from the same problem and needing the same solution
- Church has same level of problems as the world – abuse, addiction, obesity,
- Dress?
- What we watch, read, and games we play?
- How we invest our money and time?
- Our debt to income ratio?
- Our expectations for government and community?

Are there areas we need to change to be more Godly and less worldly?

WEDNESDAY

Sexual beings according to God's design.

Have you ever thought why God made us the way he did?

What is the primary purpose of sex? Is it primarily about pleasure? Or is it about something else?

- Reproduction?
- Intimacy? “The two shall become one flesh”?
- Does this design say anything about God?
- Does the way God made Adam and Eve have any higher meaning than mere physical pleasure? Is it also an object lesson for:
 - I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me. I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me. (Jn 17:20-23)

Read last paragraph, “On the other hand...” thoughts?

Are there problems when people believe sex is primarily about pleasure?

Studies suggest that worldwide 7-39% of men visit a prostitute sometime in their life, many become long term customers of the same prostitute.

Why do men often turn to prostitutes and pornography?

- Because they want physical gratification without commitment or responsibility.
- It avoids the fear of rejection
- It is straightforward exchange with no hidden expectations, and no after experience arguments or expectations.

Sex alters one’s mood and neurochemistry, and sexual gratification with porn or a prostitute results in neurological changes increasing sexual addiction, and loss of self-control.

THURSDAY

The title for the day is “Mind Your Own Business.” What do you think about the title?

Read last paragraph states, “Paul’s solution to the Thessalonian problem was to encourage them to be ambitious (‘aspire’), not for power or influence but to live a ‘quiet life’ (4:11) that would involve minding one’s own business and working with one’s hands.”

Thoughts?

What does it mean to mind one’s own business?

- To purposely ignore the needs of those around?
- To pretend others have no issues or problems?
- To not offer to help?
- Is the idea of minding one’s own business about being a hermit, isolating from others, disengaging from others?
- Or is it about only being involved in healing, loving, redemptive, supportive, and nurturing ways – while not hurting others; we don’t gossip, rumormonger, or meddle in the free will choices of others?
- But, do we intercede in love to help someone struggling?

What about on a community level – are we to mind our own business when the government goes to war, passes laws that infringe on personal liberty?

How do the Amish stay so disengaged and uninvolved? Is there culture a healthy Christian model or is it too extreme? Why or why not?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

Lesson 8 – The Dead in Christ

Sabbath's Lesson

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first” (1 Thessalonians 4:16).

What does it mean to be “dead in Christ”? What does it mean to be alive in Christ?? How has Satan caused so much confusion regarding the subject of human death?? Might there be some connection with the first lie humans ever heard [see Gen. 3:4]?? How does God's Law fit in to any / all of this?? What does most of Christianity's understanding of human death say about God?? Is our [Adventist's] view any better? What does the Bible say “death” is??

- HELL -- Psalm 55:15, Psalm 139:8, Proverbs 5:5, Proverbs 9:18, Proverbs 15:24, Isaiah 14:9, Ezekiel 32:27]
- PIT -- Job 33:18, Job 33:22, Job 33:24, Job 33:28, Job 33:30, Psalm 28:1, Psalm 30:3, Psalm 30:9, Psalm 49:9, Proverbs 1:12
- SLEEP -- Job 14:12, Psalm 13:3, Psalm 76:5, Psalm 76:6, Jeremiah 51:39, Daniel 12:2, John 11:11-14, 1 Corinthians 15:51, 1 Thessalonians 5:10.

How do we estimate the damage caused by humanity's belief in the immortality of the soul? What sorts of devil's doctrines have been developed from this lie?? An eternal hell?? Abortion is murder?? Prayer for the souls of dead?? Catholic indulgences?? Jihads / Holy wars?? Departed loved ones appearing to the living bringing wisdom and guidance 13 Brothers and sisters, we do not want you to be uninformed about those who sleep in death, so that you do not grieve like the rest of mankind, who have no hope. 14 For we believe that Jesus died and rose again, and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. 15 According to the Lord's word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left until the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep 16 For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. 17 After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. 18 Therefore encourage one another with these words. 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18.

Sunday's Lesson

Any ideas about the errors in thinking Paul was dealing with?? Were the Jews in unity regarding the state of the dead [Matt 22:23, Acts 23:8]??

The lesson asks: “What does it mean to ‘live like a Seventh-day Adventist.’”? Any thoughts??

The Seventh-day Adventist Church, teaches that the first death, or death brought about by living on a planet with sinful conditions (sickness, old age, accident, etc.) is a sleep of the soul. Adventists believe that the body + the breath of God = a living soul. Like Jehovah's Witnesses, Adventists use key phrases from the Bible, such as "For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward; for the memory of them is forgotten" (Eccl. 9:5 KJV). Adventists also point to the fact that the wage of sin is death and God alone is immortal. Adventists believe God will grant eternal life to the redeemed who are resurrected at Jesus' second coming. Until then, all those who have died are "asleep." When Jesus the Christ, who is the Word and the Bread of Life, comes a second time, the righteous will be raised incorruptible and will be taken in the clouds to meet their Lord. The righteous will live in heaven for a thousand years (the millennium) where they will sit with God in judgment over the unredeemed and the fallen angels. During the time the redeemed are in heaven, the Earth will be devoid of human and animal inhabitation. Only the fallen angels will be left alive. The second resurrection is of the unrighteous, when Jesus brings the New Jerusalem down from heaven to relocate to Earth. Jesus will call to life all those who are unrighteous. Satan and his angels will convince the unrighteous to surround the city, but hell fire and brimstone will fall from heaven and consume them, thus cleansing Earth of all sin. The universe will be then free from sin forever. This is called the second death. On the new earth God will provide an eternal home for all the redeemed and a perfect environment for everlasting life, where Eden will be restored. The great controversy will be ended and sin will be no more. God will reign in perfect harmony forever.(Rom. 6:23; 1 Tim. 6:15, 16; Eccl. 9:5, 6; Ps. 146:3, 4; John 11:11-14; Col. 3:4; 1 Cor. 15:51-54; 1 Thess. 4:13-17; John 5:28, 29; Rev. 20:1-10; Rev. 20; 1 Cor. 6:2, 3; Jer. 4:23-26; Rev. 21:1-5; Mal. 4:1; Eze. 28:18, 19; 2 Peter 3:13; Isa. 35; 65:17-25; Matt. 5:5; Rev. 21:1-7; 22:1-5; 11:15.)

Monday’s Lesson

Think about what it would mean to attend the funeral of a loved one WITHOUT our understanding of death / resurrection / God’s Law / etc. It’s not a comforting thought, is it?

The lesson states: “A further element is the pagan background of most of the believers to whom Paul is writing (1 Thess. 1:9). Though the mystery religions of the time offered a picture of the afterlife, most pagans had no hope of life after death.”

I’m not sure I agree with this statement. Egypt, Greece, Rome, and many other ancient religions offered some “hope” of afterlife. Is it reasonable to think that Satan would have deceived Eve with an offer of immortality, and then stopped offering that, since it worked so well?? Hardly.

Tuesday's lesson

The lesson, correctly, points out that v. 14 has been used by those who believe in the immortality of the soul to prove that God brings the "dead in Christ" with Christ at His 2nd coming. This would contradict v. 16, where Paul states clearly, that the "dead in Christ" will rise 1st and then those who are alive will be caught up to meet Christ in the air afterward.

What sorts of parallels can we draw between Christ's death, and resurrection?? [John 20:17]. Does our understanding of God's Law give us any other perspective?

Wednesday's Lesson

Note the bottom section. The lesson would have us believe that common sense, our experience, and science do not support our belief in the events surrounding the 2nd coming of Christ. Is this accurate??

Thursday's lesson

Where is the focus, with most of humanity, at the time of a loved one's departure from this life??

How should our experience be different? What does "comfort one another" really mean??

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 9 3Q 2012

Final Events

This week we tackle, what many find to be a troubling topic, how do we reconcile the idea that God is love, with judgment and punishment for sin.

Can we be honest with the Bible text and retain a loving God? How can understand references that suggest punishment and judgment without inciting fear of God?

The Bible does speak of fear – but, according to the Bible, from where does fear originate? From sin – but have you ever noticed how many people are afraid of God?

As soon as Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because they were “afraid.” Fear is part of the infection of sin, and throughout history, sadly this fear as been misdirected at God and theologies have been constructed which attempt to resolve our fear of God, when our fear originates in sin itself.

This week’s lesson also provides a great example of how, when we accept the distortion that God’s law is imposed like that of a Roman Emperor, then we read into the Bible false ideas that the Bible does not teach and are not found in the text.

Let’s start by reading 1 Thes 5:1-11

Now, brothers, about times and dates we do not need to write to you, ² for you know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night. ³ While people are saying, “Peace and safety,” destruction will come on them suddenly, as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape.

⁴ But you, brothers, are not in darkness so that this day should surprise you like a thief. ⁵ You are all sons of the light and sons of the day. We do not belong to the night or to the darkness. ⁶ So then, let us not be like others, who are asleep, but let us be alert and self-controlled. ⁷ For those who sleep, sleep at night, and those who get drunk, get drunk at night. ⁸ But since we belong to the day, let us be self-controlled, putting on faith and love as a breastplate, and the hope of salvation as a helmet. ⁹ For God did not appoint us to suffer wrath but to receive salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ. ¹⁰ He died for us so that, whether we are awake or asleep, we may live together with him. ¹¹ Therefore encourage one another and build each other up, just as in fact you are doing.

Then SUNDAY read first paragraph, “Though the specific...”

Did you hear anything about a judgment from God in these paragraphs?

When one accepts that God imposes law, then one must conclude that the consequences one experiences for disobedience to God’s law is imposed by God, or that God’s wrath is something that he inflicts to punish for sin.

What does the Bible teach?

Romans 1:18-32 – tells us that God’s wrath is giving people up...

From Hard Sayings of the Bible:

In some sense, God’s wrath is built into the very structure of created reality. In rejecting God’s structure and establishing our own, in violating God’s intention for the creation and substituting our own intentions, we cause our own disintegration. P 542

The human condition, which Paul describes in Romans 1:18-32, is not something caused by God. The phrase “revealed from heaven” (where “heaven” is a typical Jewish substitute word for “God”) does not depict some kind of divine intervention, but rather the inevitability of human debasement which results when God's will, built into the created order, is violated. Since the created order has its origin in God, Paul can say that the wrath of God is now (constantly) being revealed "from heaven." It is revealed in the fact that the rejection of God's truth (Rom 1:18-20), that is, the truth about God's nature and will, leads to futile thinking (Rom 1:21-22), idolatry (Rom 1:23), perversion of God-intended sexuality (Rom 1:24-27) and relational-moral brokenness (Rom 1:28-32). P 543

The expression "God gave them over" (or "handed them over"), which appears three times in this passage (Rom 1:24,26,28), supports the idea that the sinful perversion of human existence, though resulting from human decisions, is to be understood ultimately as God's punishment which we, in freedom, bring upon ourselves. P 543

In light of these reflections, the common notion that God punishes or blesses in direct proportion to our sinful or good deeds cannot be maintained... God loves us with an everlasting love. But the rejection of that love separates us from its life-giving power. The result is disintegration and death. P 543 (Kaiser, W., et al., Hard Saying of the Bible, Intervarsity Press, 1996)

One of the founders of our church also saw it this way:

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. {1SM 235.2}

Thoughts?

But some will inevitably point to the plagues of Revelation, which are to be poured out and say, "see God does punish." What do you say to those who turn to passages that say the cup on iniquity was full, God's patience reached its limits, vengeance is the Lord's, the cup of God's wrath and fury will overflow, and use the plagues of Revelation as evidence that God inflicts punishment for sin?

Here is what our church saw such issues more than 100 years ago. Do we see it the same still, or has something happened to our thinking?

God bears long with the rebellion and apostasy of His subjects. Even when His mercy is despised and His love scorned and derided, He bears with men until the last resource for leading them to repentance is exhausted. But there are limits to His forbearance. From those who to the end continue in obstinate rebellion, He removes His protecting care. Providence will no longer shield them from Satan's power. They will have sinned away their day of grace. {RH, September 17, 1901 par. 7}

God keeps a reckoning with the nations. Not a sparrow falls to the ground without His notice. Those who work evil toward their fellow men, saying, How does God know? will one day be called upon to meet long-deferred vengeance. In this age a more than common contempt is shown to God. Men have reached a point in insolence and disobedience which shows that their cup of iniquity is almost full. Many have well-nigh passed the boundary of mercy. Soon God will show that He is indeed the living God. He will say to the angels, "No longer combat Satan in his efforts to destroy". Let him work out his malignity upon the children of disobedience; for the cup of their iniquity is full. They have advanced from one degree of wickedness to another, adding daily to their lawlessness. I will no longer interfere to prevent the destroyer from doing his work." {RH, September 17, 1901 par. 8}

What is being described in these various quotations? Here is a second quote from more than 100 years ago:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

thoughts?

Read the second paragraph, "Many people..."

What did you hear? Did you hear the idea that the "biblical concept of judgment" includes "threat, condemnation, and execution?" But also keeping record of your good deeds to give you rewards?

Does such a concept cause you to have greater trust in God or more fear? Does God appear more loving or more arbitrary and stern?

How do we understand judgment?

- First judgment is an ability, and God has perfect judgment, he judges, estimates, diagnoses all things exactly as they really are.

Do God's judgments cause reality to be as it is, or do his judgments simply perfectly assess what actually is? When God judges Satan as beyond healing, does God's judgment cause it to be this way, or does God's judgment merely assess and accurately conclude it is this way?

- Second, judgment as an act – judicial and medicinal? God does make interventions based on his judgments, but God's interventions are always therapeutic and beneficial, unfortunately if one looks through the lens of a false law construct then one reads punishment and fails to see healing intervention, or diagnostic assessment.

Look at the third paragraph, "The two-sided nature..."

Thoughts? How do you hear it?

The lesson uses judgment and consequences? Do you hear those the same? When the two are used together it could mean, the consequence is going before the judge and receiving your punishment, or, the judge assesses accurately the consequence that results from one's choice. Which do you believe is meant here?

Those who interpret these passages as punishment for sin do so because of misconceptions about God and his law. God had already disclosed to Adam and Eve what the punishment for sin is – death – not pain in childbirth, wife's subordination to husband or difficulty in agriculture. These events were a result of disruption to God's design and God's interventions to save and heal mankind.

After Adam and Eve sinned, humanity no longer naturally, automatically, sought to love one another, but instead sought to put self first. And God describes how women, being weaker, would be dominated by man because of sin, not because of God. Men dominate women, not because it is godly, but because of fear, insecurity and selfishness in the heart of the men who do so.

As we experience God's healing power in our lives, as selfishness is purged and love is restored within the marriage relationship, we return more fully to God's original ideal – true and genuine equality. Each partner sacrifices himself to uplift the other, to promote the welfare of the other, and to protect the other. Look at how Jesus treated women. Quite different from the men of his day.

The pain of childbirth is a powerful object lesson allowing women to experience greater insight into the heart and mind of God. Knowing labor will be painful, why do women choose to have children? In the aftermath of labor, the pain of it, why do women rejoice? Is it not because of love? Doesn't love for their children overcome their pain and fear of labor to bring forth new life?

Likewise, the Bible says, "for the joy set before Him" Christ endured the cross (Heb 12:2). It was for our rebirth that Christ labored as a human and suffered through the cross. Thus the birthing process allows women to appreciate in a small way the pain and suffering God went through to rebirth us in newness of life and also the joy in God's heart to see us renewed.

Therefore, Genesis 3:16 does not reveal God "punishing" mankind for sin, but God diagnosing and describing how life will be different because of sin.

In Genesis 3:17 again God looks good as He works to save and heal mankind. In this verse our Savior is pronouncing the natural consequence that impacted nature when God's rule of love was replaced by Satan's rule of survival of the fittest as a result of Adam's abdication of his rule to the devil.

Paul says in Romans 8:22 that all nature groans under the weight of sin. God is announcing in Genesis 3:17, that, for mankind's sake, He would not intervene to prevent the law of sin and death from impacting the earth, but the earth was now under the curse of sin. Why did God allow this? As a protection for mankind in a world of sin.

Once Adam and Eve sinned their natural tendency was toward sin and selfishness. Industry, work, is a hedge of protection from the power of the carnal nature. Maybe you have heard the old saying, "Idle hands are the devil's workshop." A powerful truth is espoused in this statement. Idleness allows the carnal mind time to wander away from the right and engage in unhealthy and destructive practices. Therefore, to protect man, to keep his time occupied, to teach self-discipline, self-mastery and diligence, God announced that it was for man's sake that He would not stop the earth from changing.

Further, there is a powerful spiritual lesson in allowing the curse of sin to change the earth, which was also for man's sake. Imagine you have a garden, one you have faithfully tended and is producing a bountiful harvest. What will happen to your garden if you stop tending it? Will it continue to produce good fruit, or will the weeds come up and eventually destroy it?

In a similar way, ever since Adam and Eve sinned, our minds naturally bring up weeds, selfish thoughts, ideas, and conceptions. It is Christ who works through the Holy Spirit to plant the seeds of truth in our minds. He then nurtures and protects the seeds of truth to grow into the fruits of a Christ-like character. It is by utilizing the Sword of the Spirit (which is the Word of God, the truth) that we work with Christ to weed our minds; we uproot the lies and false theories that keep us captive, and instead maintain a healthy and productive mental garden.

So, we find that as soon as mankind fell into sin the natural consequence of deviation from God's law of love was destroying mankind and nature. But God was right there intervening, not to punish, but to save and heal. What an awesome God we serve!

But when we misconstrue God's law we misconstrue the meaning of what we read in Scripture and misrepresent God to be like that which Satan alleges.

What about judicial judgment, that which determines the outcome of one's life? Many point to places in Scripture like the Great White Throne judgment, or where Paul states everyone will stand before the judgment seat of God, and conclude God's government is like a human court room and God's judgments decide our destiny and punishment.

Here is what our church taught more than 100 years ago, what do you think, agree or disagree?

They thought themselves passing judgment on Christ; but in rejecting Him they were pronouncing sentence upon themselves. "He that is of God," said Jesus, "heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God."

The lesson is true for all time. Many a man who delights to quibble, to criticize, seeking for something to question in the word of God, thinks that he is thereby giving evidence of independence of thought, and mental acuteness. He supposes that he is sitting in judgment on the Bible, when in truth he is judging himself. He makes it manifest that he is incapable of appreciating truths that originate in heaven, and that compass eternity. DA 468

The people who beheld the Saviour at His advent were favored with a fuller manifestation of the divine presence than the world had ever enjoyed before. The knowledge of God was revealed more perfectly. But in this very revelation, judgment was passing upon men. Their character was tested, their destiny determined. {DA 475.2}

Thoughts?

What determined their destiny? How they responded to the truth of God's character of love. Who determines your destiny? Whose decisions judge you?

Read bottom green question, "How does the truth..." thoughts?

What is the implication of the question? That when we stand in the judgment God isn't judging us he is judging Christ.

Any problems with this theory?

If you went to the doctor sick and he came in to examine you, would you shove your healthy brother in front of you and say, examine him instead and put his result in my medical record?

Had an email exchange with Brad Cole this week in which we discussed the origin of the legal model of salvation. I suggested that the legal model is not Biblical, but inspired by Satan. But another friend pointed out all the law used by God at Sinai supports the legal model of atonement, I replied that the law given at Sinai was not given as a model of atonement, but like a parent gives rules to protect their children until they grow up. So, in function the law was the healing model acted out as God sought to bring the Israelites to maturity. The model given at Sinai was the sanctuary, which is about healing.

Brad responded with:

The legal model ultimately was "inspired" by the Adversary to:

1. paint God in an arbitrary light
2. blind us to the reality of natural consequence from breaking the Law of Love (as opposed to imposed penalty for breaking an arbitrary rule)
3. blind us to what God really wants to accomplish (which is healing) and to keep us fixated on a legal fix that has no transforming power.

If you haven't visited godscharacter.com recently I encourage you to do so. Dean just rebuilt their website and it is great, and they have so much really good material there.

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "Many today feel..." thoughts?

Notice how the lesson cites Romans 1:18, but doesn't cite verses 24, 26, 28 which explains that God's wrath is letting go as we discussed earlier?

What does it mean to "pile up wrath for the day of wrath"?

Every time we sin we experience guilt, we don't like guilt so we want it to resolve. If we refuse to repent and experience regeneration of the HS, then we instead deny and distort to avoid the reality of our condition. And the next sin, lie and distort, and the next and next etc. So with each sin we are piling up more and more lies and warping our minds more and more and hiding more and more from the reality of our own condition so that when we one day stand face to face with the source of all truth, what will it be like?

Read third paragraph, "While we cannot..." thoughts?

What do you think of this idea that “The biblical concept of the wrath of God is more like a nation’s need for justice in relation to lawbreakers who abuse and oppress others.”

This statement is what in medicine we call pathognomonic—the pathology, the sickness, is named in the sign or symptom itself. A pathognomonic symptom means when you see it you know what disease you are dealing with, the symptom names the problem.

This statement reveals that those who wrote this operate under the Imperial Roman imposed law construct believing God runs his universe like Rome runs its government, like human governments, imposing law, which require the ruling authority to impose penalties lest unpunished rebellion ensue.

Here is how our church considered this more than 100 years ago:

The germ in the seed grows by the unfolding of the life-principle which God has implanted. Its development depends upon no human power. So it is with the kingdom of Christ. It is a new creation. Its principles of development are the opposite of those that rule the kingdoms of this world. Earthly governments prevail by physical force; they maintain their dominion by war; but the founder of the new kingdom is the Prince of Peace. The Holy Spirit represents worldly kingdoms under the symbol of fierce beasts of prey; but Christ is "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." John 1:29. In His plan of government there is no employment of brute force to compel the conscience. The Jews looked for the kingdom of God to be established in the same way as the kingdoms of the world. To promote righteousness they resorted to external measures. They devised methods and plans. But Christ implants a principle. By implanting truth and righteousness, He counterworks error and sin. {COL 77.1}

Clearly something has changed in our church. This idea that God must inflict punishment upon sinners is Satan's lie about God. It is the root of paganism, it leads to appeasement theologies. It causes fear of God and alienates people from him. We cannot lighten the world for Christ's return until we throw off such distorted God concepts!

WEDNESDAY

What does it mean to be spiritually asleep?

What can we do to stay awake and alert?

What do you think will awaken the church to give the message to the world?

What do you think of the idea of the General Conference President to mail the Great Controversy to every home in America?

Do you think it will win friends or create enemies and put up barriers?

Instruction has been given me that the important books containing the light that God has given regarding Satan's apostasy in heaven should be given a wide circulation just now; for through them the truth will reach many minds. Patriarchs and Prophets, Daniel and the Revelation, and The Great Controversy are needed now as never before. They should be widely circulated because the truths they emphasize will open many blind eyes.... Many of our people have been blind to the importance of the very books that were most needed. Had tact and skill then been shown in the sale of these books, the Sunday-law movement would not be where it is today.--CM 123. {PM 356.3} (1905)

God would be pleased to see The Desire of Ages in every home. In this book is contained the light He has given upon His Word... {The Publishing Ministry 357.3}

The Great Controversy should be very widely circulated. It contains the story of the past, the present, and the future. In its outline of the closing scenes of this earth's history, it bears a powerful testimony in behalf of the truth. I am more anxious to see a wide circulation for this book than for any others I have written; for in The Great Controversy, the last message of warning to the world is given more distinctly than in any of my other books.--CM 126, 127. {PM 358.1} (1906)

Was there something different about the US in the 19th century that would have made the book more acceptable than today?

As an example of the attitudes of the US people toward the Catholic church during that period of history, in the early 1850's Pope Pius IX contributed a block of marble for the building of the Washington Monument which was under construction. . In March 1854 members of the American Party stole the Pope's stone as a protest and supposedly threw it into the Potomac (it was replaced in 1982).

What does it tell you about the attitudes of the average American that the stone was replaced in 1982? What happened when the pope came to visit Denver a few years back?

In the 19th century a book which took a hard line toward Catholicism and its abuses during the Dark Ages had traction and much sympathy from the US reading audience. What about today?

Is the issue we need to focus people's attention upon the Catholic church, or the controversy over God's character and law of love?

MONDAY

Read the second paragraph, “The threefold...” thoughts?

What does it mean to prepare?

- Leave the city and get a house in the woods?
- Stock up on food and water?
- Be sure you have confessed all your sins?
- Get baptized?
- Become so settled into the truth of God and his kingdom of love, both intellectually and spiritually that you cannot be moved?

Could it mean preparing character ready to meet Jesus?

The five foolish virgins had lamps (this means a knowledge of Scripture truth), but they had not the grace of Christ. Day by day they went through a round of ceremonies and external duties, but their service was lifeless, devoid of the righteousness of Christ. The Sun of Righteousness did not shine in their hearts and minds, and they had not the love of the truth which conforms to the life and character, the image and superscription, of Christ. The oil of grace was not mingled with their endeavors. Their religion was a dry husk without the true kernel. They held fast to forms of doctrines, but they were deceived in their Christian life, full of self-righteousness, and failing to learn lessons in the school of Christ, which, if practiced, would have made them wise unto salvation.-- Review and Herald, March 27, 1894. {ChS 263.1}

Have you ever considered the idea that one’s Christian life deceives one into a false sense of security obstructing the work of the Holy Spirit in renewing the heart?

They [five foolish virgins] were lulled to sleep by the cry of peace and safety, and did not keep their lamps trimmed and burning. Aroused to their darkness they plead for oil, but it is impossible for one Christian to impart character to another soul. Character is not transferable. Those who are ease-loving, world-loving, fashion-loving professors of Christianity will not go in to the marriage supper of the Lamb with those who are represented by the five wise virgins... {TMK 215.2}

Thoughts? Is character transferable? What about Christ's character transferred to us?

Read bottom green section "How do we live..." thoughts?

TUESDAY

Read third paragraph, "In these verses..." thoughts?

Will believers be surprised by the second coming of Christ?

Why not? In what light do they live?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1 and 3

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 10 3Q 2012

Church Life

When you hear the title what do you think?

- All persons who make up the body of Christ?
- A specific denomination?
- A specific local congregation?

When we think church life – do all church's have the same "life"?

Are all churches equally healthy? Can you describe a variety of experiences one might encounter in across the landscape of Christianity?

- Extremes – snake handling, poison drinking, white supremacists, those who espouse violence in the name of Christ
- Traditional – high church – formalism and rituals, Catholicism, Episcopal, Presbyterian
- Experiential – encounter churches- Pentecostalism
- Teaching/education – know the doctrines, know the Bible
- Contemporary – modern music, jeans, no pews
- Unitarian –

Where would Adventism fit?

Are all church encounters equally healthy? What would be practices that would tend toward a healthy church?

- Evidences of the Holy Spirit – which are what?
 - Truth, love and freedom
- Churches active in outreach, community, fellowship, loving others?
- Churches which engages the reason, uses an evidence based approach?

- Church which present truth, in love and leaves people free?
- Would how women are treated in the organization be an indication of spiritual health?
- If women are second class members, devalued in some institutionally sanctioned fashion, under the umbrella of holiness, would this indicate anything?
- If freedom to ask questions and hold divergent views, while still living a life of love, kindness, gentleness, patience, meekness, self-control, was not tolerated would this indicate anything in regard to the health of the church?
- If the church held power over individuals, particularly holding some element of forgiveness and salvation over the believer requiring the believer to give money or do certain rituals or else the church would not grant them rites necessary to salvation, would this be a sign of anything?
- If a church teaches a God construct that induces fear – sign of anything?

What about within the same denomination, are all congregations equally healthy places – equally alive with God's grace?

Would the picture of God that is taught impact the practices and ultimately the health of the church?

MONDAY - Read third paragraph, "In contrast..." thoughts?
How do we encourage the timid?

- Does the social environment of the church encourage or discourage people?
- If the social group is a critical, cutting, fault finding, negative, laughing at mistakes, judgmental environment, will that result in the timid being encouraged?
- Why does the church often have difficulty loving the sinner while hating the sin? Why does the church struggle to make the sinner feel welcome, valued and cherished, while simultaneously making it clear the sin is to be hated? Why do 12 step meetings do such a better job at this?

- I believe it is because 12 step meetings operate under God's law of love, i.e. they approach the problem as a violation of the laws of health, this is a sickness to be cured.
- But churches too often operate under imposed law, and violations are crimes to be punished.

Thoughts?

SABBATH - Read Memory text: "Do not despise prophecies, but test everything; hold fast what is good." 1Thes 5:20,21

Thoughts about this? What principle do you hear espoused? Is there a principle of openness to new ideas?

WEDNESDAY – Relating to "New Light"

Read first paragraph, "In 1 Thessalonians..." thoughts?

- What does it mean to despise prophecy?
- What is the gift of prophecy?
- Who is a prophet?
- Is it only those who make predictions of future events?
- Or is the gift of prophecy, the gift of being a spokesperson for the Lord, one who speaks the truth of God's kingdom?
 - How did the Jewish leadership treat prophets in the OT?
 - How did they treat Christ and the Apostles?
 - Would you consider Martin Luther a prophet? How was he treated?
 - What about other Reformers?
 - Jones and Waggoner? Did they bring new light? How were they treated?

Here is a comment from one of the founders of our church regarding how “new light” has been treated through history:

As the light and life of men was rejected by the ecclesiastical authorities in the days of Christ, so it has been rejected in every succeeding generation.

Again and again the history of Christ’s withdrawal from Judea has been repeated. When the Reformers preached the word of God, they had no thought of separating themselves from the established church; but the religious leaders would not tolerate the light, and those that bore it were forced to seek another class, who were longing for the truth. In our day few of the professed followers of the Reformers are actuated by their spirit. Few are listening for the voice of God, and ready to accept truth in whatever guise it may be presented.

Often those who follow in the steps of the Reformers are forced to turn away from the churches they love, in order to declare the plain teaching of the word of God. And many times those who are seeking for light are by the same teaching obliged to leave the church of their fathers, that they may render obedience. {DA 232.2}

Do you think this is an accurate observation of history? Do you think this continues to occur today? Why does this happen?

What about E.G. White? I have had emails and inquiries from all over the world regarding how I use EGW – “Why don’t you use here name? Why do you refer to here writings as ‘one of the founders of our church’ or ‘historic Adventism?’” Is EGW a prophet – and the answer is – what difference does it make?

Is something true because a prophet says it, or is it true because it’s true?

I have a relative who doesn't want anything to do with EGW writings because he is convinced she plagiarized some of her writings. My response is so?

If you had a loved one dying with a particular terminal illness, and a doctor wrote out a treatment that actually worked, if applied and would cure those with the illness. But sometime later it was discovered the doctor had plagiarized what he wrote from others, would you say, "well if its plagiarized then I won't use that treatment, even if it does work, or would you say, I don't care, it works!"

The question with EGW or any other writer, including Bible writers is – is what they have written true? If it is not, disregard it, if it is then utilize it. Don't get tricked into devaluing truth because of who wrote it.

Spokespersons for God, whoever they are, speak the truth, as they know it, but since truth is unfolding, then even the spokesperson, being finite, may very well change what they taught at one point and teach something else later. Any examples?

- The Levitical laws – taught by God at one point, but not later
- Others?

In what ways can we "quench the Spirit"?

The lesson gives three –

- Ignore the work of a true prophet
- Misinterpret the words of the prophet
- Give prophetic authority to someone not under the influence of the Holy Spirit

Are there other ways to quench the Spirit?

- Closing the mind to truth?

SUNDAY

Read fourth paragraph, “The language...” thoughts?

What do you think of the description of “carefully diagnose the condition of their followers...” and “apply the appropriate remedy”?

Is the lesson saying that God diagnoses and provides remedy? I like this language, don't you?

Then the paragraph finishes with “God is the model of leadership...”

Is it important to hold the right picture of God? Consider the following story and what it implies about the god being worshipped:

(CNN) -- An 11-year-old Christian girl has been arrested after being accused of blasphemy by burning pages of the Quran in Pakistan's capital, Islamabad.

According to a statement released by the president's office Sunday, the girl, identified as Ramsha, was accused by a local resident of burning pages of the Muslim holy text after she gathered paper as fuel for cooking.

Local media reports said the girl has Down syndrome. CNN was unable to confirm these reports, and a local police official said they are not true.

Qasim Niazi, the police officer in charge of the station near where the incident took place, said the girl does not have a mental disorder but is illiterate and has not attended school.

The accused girl had told him she had no idea there were pages of the Quran inside the documents she burned, he added.

Niazi said that 150 people had gathered on Friday where the neighborhood's Christian population lives and threatened to burn down their houses.

"The mob wanted to burn the girl to give her a lesson," he told CNN.

Other Christian families living in the area have fled fearing a backlash, he added.

The statement from President Asif Ali Zardari said he has called for an urgent report on the incident and added that vulnerable sections of society must be protected "from any misuse of the blasphemy law."

"Blasphemy by anyone cannot be condoned but no one will be allowed to misuse blasphemy law for settling personal scores," said the president's spokesman, Farhatullah Babar.

Critics of the controversial law say it is being used to persecute religious minorities....

The legislation makes it a crime punishable by death to insult Islam, the Quran or the Prophet Mohammed.

Pakistan is home to about 2 million Christians, who make up more than 1% of Islamic nation's population, according to government statistics.

What do you think of this report?

- What kind of a god would want his followers to treat others this way?
- What kind of a god would need his followers to treat others this way?
- Do their actions reveal anything about the kind of god they worship?
- Why is there god not capable of dealing with blasphemy on his own?

Do you think Christians or Jews have a better track record of dealing with blasphemy?

Read bottom green section, "In some cultures..." thoughts?

How should we relate to church leadership? Now this discussion we are about to have is for the spiritually mature, parental guidance is recommended.

First Question – who is the leader of the church? Who is the leader of the universe? How does God/Christ want us to relate to him? How does God relate to us? What methods has God used in leading his church? Keep this in mind as we go through the rest of the questions.

How did Christ relate to church leadership in his day?

- Did he allow church leadership to dictate his beliefs? Or,
- What he taught?
- How he treated others including women?
- How he kept the Sabbath?
- How he kept the law?
 - Does God want to dictate our beliefs, what we teach, how we treat others, how we keep the law? No! God wants us to do what's right because it is right, because we freely want to, not because he says so.
- Did Christ's teachings challenge practices that the Jewish leadership claimed were Biblical? (not stoning the woman caught in adultery, healing on Sabbath, teaching to love enemies)
- Did Jesus following the decisions of the Sanhedrin?
 - Why not?
- Did Jesus, and what he taught, cause division in Judaism?
- Do we have problems when leadership focuses on unity rather than truth, rather than allowing truth to unfold?

At the recent ASI meeting Ted Wilson, the President of the GC and, Mark Finley, the assistant to the President, were asked questions about church leadership, women's ordination and how members should relate to church leadership.

Mark Finley used the example of the meeting in Acts when Paul and others came to the leaders in Jerusalem to ask if the church should require Gentiles to be circumcised or observe feasts and the decision was to only require them to avoid idols, and food strangled and not to eat blood. Then he asked what if the various churches would have each done their own thing? And then he suggested we should follow this model because it brought unity.

Thoughts? Do you have any questions you would like to ask him?

I would ask Mark, what if the council at Jerusalem determined that the Gentiles should be circumcised and should observe feast days, and even followed Peter's advice and decide Jewish converts shouldn't associate with Gentile converts, then should the churches have followed that decision from leadership, for the sake of unity? Should Martin Luther have followed the decision of the church leaders of his day?

What he failed to make clear was that in the example from Acts the leadership in Jerusalem made the right decision, the decision which granted the most freedom and reduced restrictions. When it comes to women's ordination the leadership is making the decision with the most restriction and least freedom to more than half the church.

In Christ's day were the masses tending to follow the Jewish leaders, or was Christ drawing the masses away from what the Jewish leaders were teaching? Shouldn't Christ have taught the people to follow church leadership? Or, shouldn't the masses have said, "Well the Sanhedrin hasn't decided yet whether Jesus is telling the truth, and they say we shouldn't help people on Sabbath, so I must follow the decision of the General Conference for the sake of unity. Because it is better for one man to die than for the nation or church to fracture."

Thoughts?

The GC President said that when the church meets in General Conference session, with representatives from the entire world, that the Holy Spirit leads what is happening and when the GC votes an issue that it is a Holy Spirit led decision and thus should decide the issue and other individuals or groups should conform to the decision by the GC session. He referenced this quotation from EGW:

I have been shown that no man's judgment should be surrendered to the judgment of any one man. But when the judgment of the General Conference, which is the highest authority that God has upon the earth, is exercised, private independence and private judgment must not be maintained, but be surrendered.
(3Testimonies, p. 492, 1875)

Should we accept this without thinking? Should we read and study and research and think?

Here is are some others quotations from EGW a little later in her life, note the change. For those who believe she was inspired, was she less inspired with these?

If it were possible, the enemy would clog the wheels of progress and prevent the truths of the gospel from being circulated everywhere. With this object he leads men to feel that it is their privilege to control the consciences of their fellow-men according to their own perverted ideas. They dismiss the Holy Spirit from their councils, and then, under the power and name of the General Conference, they invent regulations through which they compel men to be ruled by their own ideas and not by the Holy Spirit. . . . {Christian Leadership 31.5}

There is need of an education in regard to the rights and duties of men in authority who have lorded it over God's heritage. When a man is placed in a position of trust, who knows not what kind of spirit he should exercise in dealing with human minds, he needs to learn the very first principles as to his authority over his fellow-men. Right principles must be brought into the heart, and wrought into the warp and woof of character.-- Letter 83, 1896 (May 22, 1896 to O. A. Olsen). {ChL 32.1}

Thoughts? What right principles might she be referring to? Could it be the principles of truth, love and freedom?

"It has been some years since I have considered the General Conference as the voice of God." --17MR 216 (1898). LDE 50.3

One day at noon I was writing of the work that might have been done at the last [1901] General Conference if the men in positions of trust had followed the will and way of God. Those who have had great light have not walked in the light. The meeting was closed, and the break was not made. Men did not humble themselves before the Lord as they should have done, and the Holy Spirit was not imparted. {LDE 57.1}

The voice of the General Conference has been represented as an authority to be heeded as the voice of the Holy Spirit. But when the members of the General Conference Committee become entangled in business affairs and financial perplexities, the sacred, elevated character of their work is in a great degree lost. The temple of God becomes as a place of merchandise, and the ministers of God's house as common businessmen. Their work is brought down on a level with common things. Business cares and perplexities unfit them for the consideration of matters relating to the spiritual interests of the work, which require the keenest perception, the most careful thought, the most delicate tact, and the deepest spiritual insight. {14MR 278.3}

How should we respond to leadership?

Remember, the purpose of our class is not to tell you what to think, but to challenge you to think for yourself, to get you to examine the evidence, to exercise your God given reasoning powers and come to your own conclusions and in so doing remove lies, distortions and come to an ever increasing knowledge of and love for the truth. Because the truth always leads back to God!

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “Paul encouraged...” thoughts? What do you think of the idea of warning those who won't support themselves, when they are capable?

What warning should they be given?

- Those that don't work won't eat? 2Thes 3:10
- That failure to provide for oneself, when one is capable...?
- That their own character development is being hindered?
That they are going down a path of self-destruction?

Should social programs be designed to give away, or help restore and build up? To return a person to self-sufficiency?

What if a person would rather be homeless and beg and dumpster dive than get a job? What should we do?

What if mental illness is involved? Should we institutionalize people who are not a danger to self or others, and want to be free, but are impaired so they end up on the street?

Thoughts?

The sixth paragraph states, “But when leaders retaliate, it demonstrates that their leadership was not motivated by the spirit of Christ. It is crucial to sound church leadership to keep the good of others in mind.”

What does it look like in action when we practice Christ's methods in leadership?

What does it look like when church leaders retaliate?

- What did they do to Christ?
- How were the apostles treated?
- Martin Luther?
- What about EGW in our own organization? Was shipping her to Australia retaliation?

TUESDAY

First paragraph states, "Christians need to learn how to accept and how to offer constructive criticism."

Thoughts?

Any ideas to improve our ability to do this?

- Recognize our need – we are not perfect and always have room to grow
- Recognize the feedback you receive is the perspective of the other person and will be give through the lens of their mind, beliefs, perspectives, understanding, biases etc. which means it may be accurate or inaccurate
- Recognize the motive of the one giving the feedback, regardless of accuracy, is the person for me, or are they working their own agenda?
- Examine the methods employed in giving the feedback, is coercive pressure used, are you left free?

Any ideas on what interferes?

- Fear and selfishness – our own ego and pride
- Personality conflicts
- Misunderstanding

The lesson emphasizes the importance of rejoicing and being thankful for what Jesus has done – do we have anything to be thankful for?

Anyone what to share?

THURSDAY

End-Time Holiness

What does it mean? Why is it important?

When Christ comes what happens to those who have not experienced renewal of heart to be like him in character?

Is end time holiness real; is it achievable? Is it something declared or experienced, a reality that occurs in the believer?

What interferes with achieving this? Would it be lies about God, his law, his methods?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss the questions

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 11 3Q 2012

Promise to the Persecuted

What comes to mind when you hear this title?

The first thing I thought of was, deliverance – what about you?

Were you surprised what the lesson is actually about?

SUNDAY

Read 2Thes 1:1,2:

Paul, Silas and Timothy, To the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace and peace to you from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Then read first paragraph, “Paul, as he does....” Thoughts?

Is there a limit to God’s grace? Does God ever stop being gracious?

What is the traditional definition of grace?

From the book, The Cross of Christ, by George Knight, which some of our critics have held up as the textbook for the atonement, states:

“...the basis of God’s justice is what Paul called grace. The simplest definition of grace is unmerited favor. In other words, grace means that people receive what they do not deserve.” (p. 16 emphasis theirs)

Thoughts?

Unmerited favor – if God’s favor is based on grace, and grace is unmerited favor, why do traditional theologies teach that we are to claim the merits of Christ when we approach God? Or that we are to present Christ's merits in our behalf?

Is grace, in the traditional view, actually Christ merited favor? Doesn't the traditional view of presenting Christ's merits to the Father in our behalf, to achieve avoidance of wrath, or mercy, or salvation, undermine the entire concept of grace?

Does Christ have to earn favor with God for us? Here are a couple of further quotations from the book, The Cross of Christ:

"Paul always speaks of people being reconciled to God (2Cor 5:19; Rom 5:10; Col. 1:20). He never refers to God being reconciled to us. In spite of that fact, [my comment - he just affirms the Bible nowhere refers to God being reconciled to man, yet now he denies this fact and argues that "in spite of what the Bible says" God did have to be reconciled to man] however, we should recognize that sin affected both sides. Humanity's rebellion and sense of guilt alienated it from God, while God was separated from humankind by His necessary hatred of and judgment on sin (His wrath). Christ's sacrificial death (propitiation) removed the barrier to reconciliation from God's side." (Knight, George, The Cross of Christ, p. 74.)

"Leon Morris writes that *if God's 'wrath is regarded as a very real factor so that the sinner is exposed to its severity, then the removal of the wrath will be an important part of our understanding of salvation...' In other words, Gods' wrath must be propitiated or turned away from the sinner. That was one aim of Christ's self-sacrifice on the cross." (Knight, George, The Cross of Christ, p. 64)

Thus Revelation 19 and 20 represent Armageddon as having two significant engagements – one at the beginning of the millennium and the other at the end. The Second Armageddon engagement finds God executing His ultimate wrath not only on Satan, but on those sinners who have refused to accept (1) His principles into their lives and (2) Christ's vicarious sacrificial propitiation (the basis of grace) that turned aside the divine wrath (judgment on sin). (Knight, George, The Cross of Christ, p. 107).

What does traditional Christianity teach? That grace is not free, but earned at a high price by the blood payment of Christ. God, if not for the blood payment of Christ, would be wrathful – this is not a god of grace being taught, but a pagan god construct who must receive some payment to merit his grace.

But the Bible is clear – God is gracious, His mercies are freely given and Christ was given as an expression of His grace to achieve His plan to redeem, not as a means to get grace.

Here is an article, written by Ellen White, one of the founders of our church, in December 1914, less than a year before her death. Keep in mind the quotes from The Cross of Christ which represents the predominate view in our church today and notice how far our church has drifted from its origins in understanding God and the plan of salvation. My insertions are in red:

The law of love is the foundation of God's government, and the service of love the only service acceptable to heaven. [Why?] God has granted freedom of will to all, endowed men with capacity to appreciate His character, and therefore with ability to love Him, and to choose His service. So long as created beings worshiped God, they were in harmony throughout the universe. While love to God was supreme, love to others abounded. As there was no transgression of the law, which is the transcript of God's character, no note of discord jarred the celestial harmonies. [Where does the law originate? Is it imposed or, as it is an expression of God's character is as eternal as God?] {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 1}

"Kept in Silence from Times Eternal"

But known unto God are all His works, and from eternal ages the covenant of grace (unmerited favor) existed in the mind of God. It is called the everlasting covenant; for the plan of salvation was not conceived after the fall of man, but it was that which was "kept in silence through times eternal, but now is manifested, and by the Scriptures of the prophets, according to the commandment of the eternal God, is made known unto all the nations unto obedience of faith." Romans 16:25, 26, A. R. V. {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 2}

Redemption Not an Afterthought

The purpose and plan of grace existed from all eternity. [Why? Is it because grace is an expression of God's character who existed from all eternity? Does it remind you of the eternal gospel of the first angel?]

Before the foundation of the world it was according to the determinate counsel of God that man should be created and endowed with power to do the divine will. The fall of man, with all its consequences, was not hidden from the Omnipotent. Redemption was not an afterthought, a plan formulated after the fall of Adam, but an eternal purpose, suffered to be wrought out for the blessing not only of this atom of a world, but for the good of all the worlds that God had created. {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 3}

Before Him who rules in the heavens, the mysteries of the past and the future are alike outspread; and God sees, beyond the woe and darkness and ruin that sin has wrought, the outworking of His purpose of love and blessing. Though clouds and darkness are round about Him, yet righteousness and judgment are the foundation of His throne. {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 4}

Made Known in His Love

Through creation and redemption, through nature and through Christ, the glories of the divine character are revealed. [Why is this important?] By the marvelous display of His love in giving "His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life," the character of God is revealed to the intelligences of the universe. Through Christ our heavenly Father is made known as the God of love. {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 5}

Heaven in Sadness--the Angels Perplexed

When man sinned, all heaven was filled with sorrow; for through yielding to temptation, man became the enemy of God, a partaker of the satanic nature. The image of God in which he had been created was marred and distorted. The character of man was out of harmony with the character of God; for through sin man became carnal, and the carnal heart is enmity against God, is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. [What does this mean? What does it imply? If God's law is imposed what is the result? If God's law, is as stated above the law of love, what is the result of being out of harmony with it? Then what would be needed to save mankind?] {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 6}

To the angels there seemed to be no way of escape for the transgressor. [Why do you think? Do you think the angels thought of God as severe and unforgiving? Or did they see the change in the character of man and couldn't conceive how mankind could be healed?] They ceased their songs of praise, and throughout the heavenly courts there was mourning for the ruin sin had wrought. Out of harmony with the nature of God, unyielding to the claims of His law, naught but destruction was before the human race. [Why was destruction before the race? Because God would impose it or because deviation from God's design, law, results in destruction?] Since the divine law is as changeless as the character of God, there could be no hope for man unless some way could be devised whereby his transgression might be pardoned, his nature renewed, and his spirit restored to reflect the image of God.

[What do you hear? Why is the law changeless? What is necessary for man to be saved? "his nature renewed and spirit restored to reflect the image of God – why?"] {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 7}

Divine love had conceived such a plan. It was through Satan's misrepresentation of God's character that man was led to doubt the reality of His love, and came to look upon God as his enemy. As Satan had done in heaven, so he did on earth,--declared God's government unjust, the restrictions of His law unnecessary, and bade men, as he had angels, to throw aside the yoke and let the dictates of their own nature be their only guide and law. He promised liberty; but as he himself is the servant of corruption, he brought the race into bondage to sin, misery, and death. He represented God as claiming all, and giving nothing, as requiring men's service for His own glory, but denying Himself nothing for man's good. {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 8}

He Alone Could Save

In the work of creation, Christ was with God. He was one with God, equal with Him, the brightness of His glory, the express image of His person, the representative of the Father. [Why is it important to realize Christ is fully God? What do we lose if we deny the Trinity and make Christ a lesser being?] He alone, the Creator of man, could be his Saviour. No angel of heaven could reveal the Father to the sinner, and win him back to allegiance to God. [If an angel couldn't reveal the Father who could? God himself!] But Christ could manifest the Father's love; for God was in Christ, reconciling the world to Himself. Christ could be the "day's man" between a holy God and lost humanity, one who could "lay His hand upon us both." {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 9}

None but Christ could redeem man from the curse of the law. He proposed to take upon Himself the guilt and shame of sin,--sin so offensive in the sight of God that it would necessitate separation from His Father. [What does this mean? He took our legal penalty, or our condition? Was this legal guilt or emotional guilt? Notice it is connected with shame, thus indicating it is not a legal state he took, but the actual state of our condition, guilt ridden and filled with shame. And for what purpose did he take our condition upon himself? To be legally punished by his Father or to heal and restore humanity back into harmony with God?] Christ proposed to reach to the depths of man's degradation and woe, and restore the repenting, believing soul to harmony with God. [What does it mean to restore "the believing soul to harmony with God"? Is it a declaration or an accomplishment, something real in the believer?] Christ, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world, offered Himself as a sacrifice and substitute for the fallen sons of Adam, though in this offering all heaven was involved in infinite sacrifice. [Does this sound like one member of the Godhead earning grace with his merits from another member? Or is the Godhead working in unison to achieve their common goal of the salvation of mankind?] {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 10}

He So Loved that He Gave

But the Father so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that through His smitten heart a channel might be found for the outflowing of infinite love for fallen man. Man had become so degraded by sin, his nature so perverted by evil, that it was impossible for him of himself to come into harmony with God, whose nature is purity and love. [What do you hear? What is God's attitude? What is man's condition? Where is the obstacle to reconciliation in God?

In God's law or in man's condition? Then what would be Christ's mission?] But Christ redeemed him from the condemnation of the law, and imparted divine power, and through man's cooperation, the sinner could be restored to his lost estate. [How did Christ redeem us from the condemnation of the law? What does the law condemn? Deviation from it – then redemption would entail restoration to harmony with the law.] {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 11}

The grace of Christ alone could change the heart of stone to a heart of flesh, make it alive to God, and transform the character, so that a degraded child of sin might become a child of God and heir of heaven. [Wow – what is being described, legal pardon, payment, or transformation and renewal?] Man had no power to justify the soul, to sanctify the heart. Moral disease could be healed only through the power of the great Physician. [What is justification? Being set right with God – which actually means what? Putting the heart of mankind back into harmony with God, healing!] The highest gift of heaven, even the only-begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth, was able to redeem the lost. [How? By fixing mankind, cleansing, renewing, developing a perfect human character in harmony with God!] {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 12}

The only hope for the fallen race was found in becoming reconciled to God. Satan had so misrepresented God that man had no true conception of the divine character. Christ came to the world, and in carrying out the plan of salvation, revealed the fact that "God is love." {ST, December 15, 1914 par. 13}

Thoughts?

Are you tired of this world of sin? Are you longing for your heavenly home? Why has Christ not returned? What is God waiting for? For the gospel (good news) of his kingdom of love to go to the world then the end will come. For people to realize the truth about him, and the reality that they can experience real transformation of character here and now! Has this message of God's character of love and God's grace achieved through Christ been taken to the world, or has a pagan counterfeit been championed by Christianity – including our own church?

TUESDAY

Read the second and third paragraph, “The word...” thoughts?

What to you hear suggested? What is the lesson implying with “the people of God are vindicated and those who persecuted them receive the same kind of experience they inflicted on others...Those who persecuted the people of God will one day face the justice of God.”?

Are they suggesting that God will use his power to inflict torture, torment, punishment, pain, suffering on his children to make them pay for their sins, and they call it justice?

Read WEDNESDAY first and second paragraph, “Many people are uncomfortable...” thoughts?

What do you hear? Do you hear God being represented or do you hear Satan's lies about God being represented?

What are the problems with this view and what Scriptural, science, or experience evidence can you cite to support your concerns?

- Jesus said “my kingdom is not of this world.” (Jn18:36)
 - Paul said “For the wisdom of this world is foolishness in God's sight. (1Cor 3:19)
 - Earthly governments are represented as ferocious beasts which tear and destroy, Christ is the lamb of God
 - “For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways,” declares the LORD. “As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts. As the rain and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return to it without watering the earth and making it bud and flourish, so that it yields seed for the sower and bread for the eater...

(Isa 55:8-10)

- What is being described?
 - Earthly governments rule exactly as the lesson states by force, might, infliction, arbitrary imposed law
 - God's law is the law of love, which is the design protocol for life – punishment is inherent in the sin – not inflicted by God.
 - The lesson has taken the foolishness of worldly governments and applies it to God's government alleging God's government operates like sinful man's and then call it justice – it is a lie!
- The law of liberty – a testable principle of God's government
 - 'Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit,' says the LORD Almighty. (Zech 4:6)
 - When freedom is violated, love is destroyed, rebellion is instilled in the heart and individuality is eroded over time, unless freedom is restored. This is a testable law, try it and see.
 - God cannot win the war for the loyalty of hearts and minds by threats. If the punishment comes out from God then freedom doesn't exist and love cannot exist. This is one of the cores to Satan's lies about God – that no real freedom exists and thus God is not love.
 - Even Gandhi, who was not Christian understood this when he said, "An eye for and eye will make the whole world go blind."
 - Jesus taught to turn the other cheek, to freely forgiven, to not seek vengeance.
 - Some might ask then, what is Biblical vengeance doesn't Romans 12:19 "vengeance is mine says the Lord” What does this mean? What definition do you use for vengeance, human diction or Bible?

- Therefore the Lord, the LORD Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel, declares: “Ah, I will get relief from my foes and avenge myself on my enemies. I will turn my hand against you; I will thoroughly purge away your dross and remove all your impurities. Isaiah 1:24,25
- The Spirit of the Sovereign LORD is on me, because the LORD has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim freedom for the captives and release from darkness for the prisoners, ² to proclaim the year of the LORD’s favor and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all who mourn, ³ and provide for those who grieve in Zion— to bestow on them a crown of beauty instead of ashes, the oil of gladness instead of mourning, and a garment of praise instead of a spirit of despair. Isa 61:1-3
- What is the vengeance of God? Turning enemies into friends – His vengeance is not on sinners but on sinfulness. He attacks and destroys sin! This is His vengeance which purges and cleanses the sinner! The greatest vengeance God can have on Satan is healing and restoring all those who trust Him!

Isn’t it time we take the truth about God to the world? I challenge you to start confronting the lies about God with gracious presentation of the truth as Jesus revealed. Invite your friends over, have a Bible study, ask questions, expose the lies. Let’s start a spiritual fire, focusing on God’s character of love! Let’s work to set people free!

Read fourth paragraph, “Through His own experience...” thoughts?

While will the suffering not be more than is necessary? According to the lesson? Because Jesus has perfect ability to inflict only what each person deserves. What is the law concept this idea is based upon? An imposed law, just as the lesson examples of speeding and tax law, imposed by a governing authority, requiring the imposition of punishments.

Can you think of a better reason why people won't suffer more than is necessary? What if the law is the design protocol life is built upon?

- Why does a person who jumps off a building not suffer more than necessary?
- What about the person who lights themselves on fire?
- What about the person who cheats on their spouse?
- Are there inherent built in punishments for violating the law upon which life is built?
- What do you hear described in this quotation?
 - We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. {1SM 235.2}
 - Those who hold to the idea God must inflict punishment claim this quotation is dealing with the inherent punishment built into nature and the laws of health, but deny this applies to sin.
 - Here is another quotation – what do you think?
 - The principles of kindness, mercy, and love, taught and exemplified by our Saviour, are a transcript of the will and character of God.

Christ declared that He taught nothing except that which He had received from His Father. The principles of the divine government are in perfect harmony with the Saviour's precept, "Love your enemies." [What kind of law is being described here?] God executes justice upon the wicked, for the good of the universe, and even for the good of those upon whom His judgments are visited. [What do you hear in this statement? What might it mean?] He would make them happy if He could do so in accordance with the laws of His government and the justice of His character. [Why can't he? Why can't you make someone healthy who smokes 2 packs per day, or someone happy who lies, cheats, steals and murders?] He surrounds them with the tokens of His love, He grants them a knowledge of His law, and follows them with the offers of His mercy; but they despise His love, make void His law, and reject His mercy. While constantly receiving His gifts, they dishonor the Giver; they hate God because they know that He abhors their sins. The Lord bears long with their perversity; but the decisive hour will come at last, when their destiny is to be decided. [Who decides their destiny?] Will He then chain these rebels to His side? Will He force them to do His will? {GC 541.4}

Those who have chosen Satan as their leader and have been controlled by his power are not prepared to enter the presence of God. [Why? Because they haven't had their sins legally pardoned, or is there something actually defective in them?] Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. [Is this different than remain unpardoned in their record book?] Can they enter heaven to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC 542.1}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to heaven and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,-- every soul filled with love, every countenance beaming with joy, enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb, and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,--could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb? No, no; years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for heaven. Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from heaven is voluntary with themselves, and just and merciful on the part of God. {GC 542.2}

Like the waters of the Flood the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. {GC 542.3}

Wow – what is the source of suffering? Their own unhealed sinful condition!

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “The full sentence in this...” thoughts?

What do you think? How would you respond now? Why are the wicked destroyed? What causes their suffering?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss the questions

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 12 3Q 2012

The Antichrist

Read 2 Thes 1:1-2:

Concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our being gathered to him, we ask you, brothers, ² not to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord has already come. [Apparently people were going around and misrepresenting what Paul was teaching.] ³ Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. ⁴ He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God.

⁵ Don't you remember that when I was with you I used to tell you these things? ⁶ And now you know what is holding him back, so that he may be revealed at the proper time. ⁷ For the secret power of lawlessness is already at work; but the one who now holds it back will continue to do so till he is taken out of the way. ⁸ And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord Jesus will overthrow with the breath of his mouth and destroy by the splendor of his coming. ⁹ The coming of the lawless one will be in accordance with the work of Satan displayed in all kinds of counterfeit miracles, signs and wonders, ¹⁰ and in every sort of evil that deceives those who are perishing. They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. ¹¹ For this reason God sends them a powerful delusion so that they will believe the lie ¹² and so that all will be condemned who have not believed the truth but have delighted in wickedness. ¹

¹ The Holy Bible: New International Version. 1984 (2 Th 2:1–12). Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

Who is antichrist? I did a search on Wikipedia and here is a historic overview of what has been taught regarding antichrist:

Polycarp (ca. 69 – ca. 155) warned the Philippians that everyone who preached false doctrine was an antichrist.^[7]

Irenaeus (2nd century AD – c. 202) wrote the figure of the Antichrist was the "recapitulation of apostasy and rebellion." He uses the 666 to numerologically decode several possible names. Some names that he loosely proposed were "Evanthos", "Lateinos" ("Latin" or pertaining to the Roman Empire). In his exegesis of Daniel 7:21, he stated that the ten horns of the beast will be the Roman empire divided into ten kingdoms before the Antichrist's arrival.^[8]

Tertullian (ca.160 – ca.220 AD) held that the Roman Empire was the restraining force written about by Paul in 2 Thessalonians 2:7-8. The fall of Rome and the disintegration of the ten provinces of the Roman Empire into ten kingdoms were to make way for the Antichrist.^[9]

Cyril of Jerusalem, in the mid-4th century, taught that the Antichrist will reign as the ruler of the world for three and a half years, before he is killed by Jesus Christ right at the end of his three-and-a-half-year reign, shortly after which the Second Coming of Jesus Christ will happen.

John Chrysostom (c. 347–407) warned against speculations and old wives' tales about the Antichrist, saying, "Let us not therefore enquire into these things". He preached that by knowing Paul's description of the Antichrist in 2 Thessalonians Christians would avoid deception.^[13]

Jerome (c. 347-420) warned that those substituting false interpretations for the actual meaning of Scripture belonged to the "synagogue of the Antichrist".^[14] "He that is not of Christ is of Antichrist."^[15] To Jerome, the power restraining this mystery of iniquity was the Roman Empire, but as it fell this restraining force was removed.

Augustine of Hippo (354 – 430) wrote "it is uncertain in what temple [the Antichrist] shall sit, whether in that ruin of the temple which was built by Solomon, or in the Church."^[20]

Pope Gregory I wrote to Emperor Maurice A.D. 597, concerning the titles of bishops, "I say with confidence that whoever calls or desires to call himself 'universal priest' in self-exaltation of himself is a precursor of the Antichrist."^[21]

Archbishop Arnulf of Rheims disagreed with the policies and morals of Pope John XV. He expressed his views while presiding over the Council of Reims in A.D. 991. Arnulf accused John XV of being the Antichrist while also using the 2 Thessalonians passage about the Man of Sin, saying, "Surely, if he is empty of charity and filled with vain knowledge and lifted up, he is Antichrist sitting in God's temple and showing himself as God." This incident is history's earliest record of anyone identifying a pope with the Antichrist.^[22]

Cardinal Benno, wrote long descriptions of abuses committed by Pope Gregory VII, including necromancy, torture of a former friend upon a bed of nails, commissioning an attempted assassination, executions without trials, unjust excommunication, doubting the Real Presence in the Eucharist, and even burning it.^[24] Benno held that Gregory VII was "either a member of Antichrist, or Antichrist himself."^[25]

Eberhard II von Truchsees, Prince-Archbishop of Salzburg in 1241 at the Council of Regensburg denounced Pope Gregory IX as "that man of perdition, whom they call Antichrist, who in his extravagant boasting says, I am God, I cannot err."^[26]

Many Protestant reformers, including Martin Luther, John Calvin, Thomas Cranmer, John Thomas, John Knox, and Cotton Mather, identified the Roman Papacy as the Antichrist.^[30]

In calling the pope the "antichrist," the early Lutherans stood in a tradition that reached back into the eleventh century. Not only dissidents and heretics but even saints had called the bishop of Rome the "antichrist" when they wished to castigate his abuse of power.^[31]

William Tyndale, an English Protestant reformer, held that while the Roman Catholic realms of that age were the empire of Antichrist, any religious organization that distorted the doctrine of the Old and New Testaments also showed the work of Antichrist. In his treatise The Parable of the Wicked Mammon, he expressly rejected the established Church teaching that looked to the future for an Antichrist to rise up, and he taught that Antichrist is a present spiritual force that will be with us until the end of the age under different religious disguises from time to time.^[32]

Futurism, a product of the Counter-Reformation, was advanced beginning in the 16th century in response to the identification of the Papacy as Antichrist. Francisco Ribera, a Jesuit priest, developed this theory and St. Bellarmine codified this view of a personal Antichrist to come just before the end of the world and to be accepted by the Jews and enthroned in the temple at Jerusalem — thus endeavoring to dispose of the exposition which saw Antichrist in the pope. Most premillennial dispensationalists now accept Bellarmine's interpretation in modified form. Widespread Protestant identification of the Papacy as the Antichrist persisted in the USA until the early 1900s when the Scofield Reference Bible was published by Cyrus Scofield. This commentary promoted Futurism, causing a decline in the Protestant identification of the Papacy as Antichrist.

Some US Futurists hold that sometime prior to the expected return of Jesus, there will be a period of "great tribulation"^[34] during which the Antichrist, indwelt and controlled by Satan, will attempt to win supporters with false peace, supernatural signs. He will silence all that defy him by refusing to "receive his mark" on their right hands or forehead. This "mark" will be required to legally partake in the end-time economic system.^[35] Some Futurists believe that the Antichrist will be assassinated half way through the Tribulation, being revived and indwelt by Satan. The Antichrist will continue on for three and a half years following this "deadly wound".^[36]

Latter-day Saints

In Mormonism, the Antichrist "is anyone or anything that counterfeits the true gospel or plan of salvation and that openly or secretly is set up in opposition to Christ. The great antichrist is Lucifer, but he has many assistants^[45] both as spirit beings and as mortals."

Islamic views: Masih Ad-Dajjal (Arabic: الدَّجَال, literally "The Deceiving Messiah"), is an evil figure in Islamic eschatology. He is to appear pretending to be God at a time in the future, before Yawm al-Qiyamah (The Day of Resurrection, Judgment Day). He will travel around the globe entering every city except Mecca and Medina obliging people to believe in him as a God. Then Isa (Jesus) will descend from the sky to the White lighthouse in eastern Damascus, Syria, placing his hands on the backs of two angels at the time of Fajr. This will happen at the time of the Dajjal and Isa will be the one to eventually defeat the Dajjal, killing him with his spear.^{[47][48]}

Ahmadiyya

The Ahmadiyya teachings interpret the prophecies regarding the appearance of the Dajjal (Anti-Christ) and Gog and Magog in Islamic eschatology as foretelling the emergence of two branches or aspects of the same turmoil and trial that was to be faced by Islam in the latter days and that both emerged from Christianity or Christian nations. Its Dajjal aspect relates to deception and perversion of religious belief while its aspect to do with disturbance in the realm of politics and the shattering of world peace has been called Gog and Magog. Thus Ahmadis consider the widespread Christian missionary activity that was 'aggressively' active in the 18th and 19th centuries as being part of the prophesied Dajjal (Antichrist) and Gog and Magog emerging in modern times. The emergence of the Soviet Union and the USA as superpowers and the conflict between the two nations (i.e., the rivalry between communism and capitalism) are seen as having occurred in accordance with certain prophecies regarding Gog and Magog.^[49]

Thoughts?

What or who is antichrist?

- The man of lawlessness – what does that mean?
 - What law? How might this be manifest?
 - Might it be manifest by replacing God’s law of love, the design for life, with imposed human law constructs?
- Daniel describes a little horn that grew great, but “not by its own power.” So where does the little horn get his power? Revelation 13:2 tells us the power comes from the dragon. But what is the dragon’s power?
 - The little horn power throws truth to the ground and causes deceit and the dragon is the father of lies (John 8:44).
 - “Since the children have flesh and blood, he [Christ] too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death--that is, the devil” Hebrews 2:14.
 - What is the power of death? And how can the devil hold it? Christ gives us the insight we need in John 17:3 “Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent.”
 - Satan’s power is the lies he tells that we believe, which alienate us from God!

- The little horn power sets itself up against the prince and the dragon fought against Michael the Prince (Revelation 12:7).
 - What kind of warfare is this? How do they fight against God?
 - 2Cor 10:3-5
- The little horn power takes away the daily sacrifice
 - What does this mean?
 - The daily sacrifice is just a metaphorical way of saying God's entire plan to heal and restore from sin. God's plan of salvation was taken away. The dragon creates a false system, a system that supplants God's plan (Mark 4:15, 2Cor 11:14, 2Thes 2:9). The dragon's false plan does not result in healing and restoration but is a plan that degrades the human being.
 - What does that false system look like? What are the elements?
- The little horn power brought the place of his sanctuary low. The dragon establishes the synagogue of Satan (Rev 2:9, 3:9) a false sanctuary, a spirit temple filled by the Satanic spirit. The man of sin sets himself up in God's temple proclaiming himself to be God.
 - What does this mean? What is God's temple? How could this man of sin enter into God's temple? Which temple?
 - 1CO 3:16 Don't you know that you yourselves are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you? 17 If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him; for God's temple is sacred, and you are that temple.
 - 2Cor 6:16 What agreement is there between the temple of God and idols? For we are the temple of the living God. As God has said: "I will live with them and walk among them, and I will be their God, and they will be my people."
 - EPH 2:19 Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's household, 20 built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. 21 In him the whole building is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. 22 And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit.

- 1PE 2:4 As you come to him, the living Stone-- rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him-- 5 you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ. 6 For in Scripture it says: "See, I lay a stone in Zion, a chosen and precious cornerstone, and the one who trusts in him will never be put to shame." 7 Now to you who believe, this stone is precious. But to those who do not believe, "The stone the builders rejected has become the capstone, " (see Zech chapter 4) 8 and, "A stone that causes men to stumble and a rock that makes them fall." They stumble because they disobey the message--which is also what they were destined for. 9 But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people belonging to God, that you may declare the praises of him who called you out of darkness into his wonderful light. 10 Once you were not a people, but now you are the people of God; once you had not received mercy, but now you have received mercy.
- Heb 3:6 But Christ is faithful as a son over God's house. And we are his house, if we hold on to our courage and the hope of which we boast.

What is the temple that has been defiled? Here is what our church thought over 100 years ago:

In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,--from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Mal. 3:1-3. {DA 161.1}

What is the temple? The human mind/soul?

And what defiles the soul temple? The lies about God that Adam and Eve believed that broke their trust and confidence and relationship with God, resulting in fear and selfishness, and the continued lies that we believe that prevent us from trusting God and being reconciled to Him.

If those persistent lies about God are not removed by the truth about God that Jesus Christ has brought, then Satan's principles of selfishness continue to grow – the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits. These destructive elements strengthen within and instead of Christlike character developing we develop the character of the rebel, the Satanic character; and the soul, the individual created with dignity, nobility of character, in God's image to represent Him to an onlooking universe, the being designed to be the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit instead of revealing Godlike character becomes a synagogue of Satan and the habitation of devils and reveals the Satanic character, ultimately ending in desolation and destruction.

Thoughts?

So what is antichrist trying to do? Establish his character, his methods, in the Spirit temple, which means what? Trying to make us like Satan, selfish, arrogant, mean, unkind, cruel, exploitive of others, unloving, impatient etc.

Now, here is one reference from one of the founders of the SDA church regarding antichrist:

Christ is the only true standard of character, and he who sets himself up as a standard for others is putting himself in the place of Christ. And since the Father "hath committed all judgment unto the Son" (John 5:22), whoever presumes to judge the motives of others is again usurping the prerogative of the Son of God. These would-be judges and critics are placing themselves on the side of antichrist, "who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshiped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God." 2 Thessalonians 2:4. {MB 125.3}

The sin that leads to the most unhappy results is the cold, critical, unforgiving spirit that characterizes

Pharisaism. When the religious experience is devoid of love, Jesus is not there... {MB 126.1}

When men indulge this accusing spirit, they are not satisfied with pointing out what they suppose to be a defect in their brother. If milder means fail of making him do what they think ought to be done, they will resort to compulsion. Just as far as lies in their power they will force men to comply with their ideas of what is right. This is what the Jews did in the days of Christ and what the church has done ever since whenever she has lost the grace of Christ. Finding herself destitute of the power of love, she has reached out for the strong arm of the state to enforce her dogmas and execute her decrees. Here is the secret of all religious laws that have ever been enacted, and the secret of all persecution from the days of Abel to our own time. {MB 126.2}

Christ does not drive but draws men unto Him. The only compulsion which He employs is the constraint of love. When the church begins to seek for the support of secular power, it is evident that she is devoid of the power of Christ--the constraint of divine love. {MB 127.1}

Thoughts? Agree or disagree? What methods does the antichrist power use? Deceit, criticism, judgmentalism, coercion, power to intimidate. What does revelation say about the beast power? No one can buy or sell... the use of coercive power.

What is happening in the world today? Do we find religious people, devoid of love and grace, seeking the strong arm of the state to enforce its rules? What about Islam? Are they seeking to use the state to enforce their religious rules? What about Christianity?

Given all we have read, do you have any thoughts on what Daniel 8:14, 2300 years until the sanctuary will be cleansed, is referring to?

- Would it be referring to cleansing our minds from the lies of Satan?
- Cleansing our characters from the methods of Satan?
- Cleansing a people, spirit temple, ready to meet Christ?
- “The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use. {3MR 231.3}
 Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}

What about this quotation, what is being described?

Many exalt human reason, idolize human wisdom, and set the opinions of men above the revealed wisdom of God. This affords opportunity for the working of Satan, and the spirit of Antichrist is far more widespread than any of us imagine. . . . {7BC 950.2}

The maxims of the world, that know not God, have been worked into the theories of the church. In the eyes of men, vain philosophy and science, falsely so-called, are of more value than the Word of God. The sentiment prevails to a large extent that the divine Mediator is not essential to the salvation of man. A variety of theories advanced by the so-called worldly-wise men for man's elevation, are believed and trusted in more than is the truth of God, as taught by Christ and His apostles. {7BC 950.3}

Thoughts? Are you aware of any theories based on worldly wisdom infecting Christianity? What might some of those theories be?

- Evolutionism
 - Science so called
- Penal substitutionary atonement
 - Based on worldly governmental design, logic, and principles.
 - Which leads to the “justified” use of coercive power as sin must be punished.
 - Moves the work of Christ away from the spirit temple and into a distant building hidden somewhere in the cosmos. It prevents the cleansing of the sanctuary and instead promotes a legal process in a building in heaven in which record books are examined and forgiveness stamped next to names.

What do you think of the destruction of the antichrist? How is he destroyed?

Verse 8: And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord Jesus will overthrow with the breath of his mouth and destroy by the splendor of his coming.

What does that mean? Does it sound similar to Rev 19:19-21:

Then I saw the beast and the kings of the world and their armies gathered together to fight against the one sitting on the horse and his army. ²⁰ And the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet who did mighty miracles on behalf of the beast—miracles that deceived all who had accepted the mark of the beast and who worshiped his statue. Both the beast and his false prophet were thrown alive into the fiery lake of burning sulfur. ²¹ Their entire army was killed by the sharp sword that came from the mouth of the one riding the white horse. And the vultures all gorged themselves on the dead bodies.

What kills the antichrist? Overthrown by the breath of his mouth and destroyed by his splendor, and killed by a sword coming out of his mouth? What does this mean?

SUNDAY

Read fourth paragraph, “no matter how...” thoughts?

I hear it frequently, “I heard Come and Reason teaches dangerous ideas, that the death of Jesus isn’t necessary for our salvation...” When asked, have you listened for yourself or gone off what someone told you? Have you asked that person who told them?

Do we believe salvation is possible without the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ? Absolutely not! Without what Jesus accomplished no human could be saved. Yet some misrepresent us and because of such misrepresentation prevent others from examining the evidence for themselves.

This happened to Graham Maxwell frequently and he eventually wrote a short paper entitled The Scourge of Theological Gossip. I have included the link to this in our notes:

<http://pineknoll.org/component/content/article/1212>

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Paul's overview – the day of the Lord will not occur until Satan's counterattack against Christ's mission happens first.

His counterattack will focus on the cross to misrepresent it, and distort it so badly that Satan's ideas will be accepted as true into the heart/mind of God's people. He will set himself up in God's temple, and Satan's idea of God will be established there.

Thus God prophesied through Daniel (8:14) that 2300 years would pass before enough truth would be recovered for the sanctuary to be cleansed.

We are taking a message of God's kingdom to the world which is designed to free minds from the distortions about God that have infected Christianity.

Thoughts?

TUESDAY/WEDNESDAY discussed above

THURSDAY

What does it mean God sends powerful delusion? God using his power to create mental illness?

No, it is the way the Bible attributes to God the outworking of His natural laws. God is love and he built the universe to operate in harmony with his character of love. Love requires freedom. Thus, when people choose to reject truth, what is the only option left, on any subject? A lie, they are given over to believe a lie because of their own freewill choice to reject the truth.

It is God's doing in that God chose to create a universe in which genuine freedom exists, rather than a universe inhabited by robots preprogrammed by him.

Read second paragraph, "In today's..." the lesson describes this correctly, but don't you find it interesting that when it comes to the Bible language of God making them delusional, the lesson correctly understands that it is describing God allowing them to reap what they have chosen, rather than inflicting it on them. Yet, when it comes to their eternal death they lesson can't apply this same truth and instead insists on God as the source of inflicted death?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1 and 2

1 and 2 Thessalonians Lesson 13 3Q 2012

Keeping the Church Faithful

What do you think the title means? Faithful to Christ or faithful to the denominational organization? Is there a difference? Should there be?

What does it mean for the church to be faithful to Christ?

- Teach the truth about him
- Use its resources to take the gospel to the world (the true gospel)
- Practice his methods/principles (truth, love, freedom)

In practical terms what does it look like for the church not to be faithful?

- What about the church teaching views of God that incite fear of God?
- What about the church diverting its energy and resources into politics?
- What about the church using methods of coercion?
- What about the church refusing to grow in truth?

SABBATH

Read Memory text: “So then, brothers, stand firm and hold to the traditions that you were taught by us, either by our spoken word or by our letter.” (2Thes 2:15)

Thoughts?

Who decides what are the traditions to which we should hold and what are the traditions we should abandon?

Read first paragraph, “Churches are a lot...” thoughts?

Would this include the persistence on denying ordination to women?

What is present truth? Who determines it? How can we tell? What methods do we use?

Does our church today hold the following attitude that was written by one of our founders more than 100 years ago?

We have many lessons to learn, and many, many to unlearn. God and heaven alone are infallible. Those who think that they will never have to give up a cherished view, never have occasion to change an opinion, will be disappointed. As long as we hold to our own ideas and opinions with determined persistency, we cannot have the unity for which Christ prayed. {RH, July 26, 1892 par. 7}

There is no excuse for anyone in taking the position that there is no more truth to be revealed, and that all our expositions of Scripture are without an error. The fact that certain doctrines have been held as truth for many years by our people, is not a proof that our ideas are infallible. Age will not make error into truth, and truth can afford to be fair. No true doctrine will lose anything by close investigation. {CW 35.2}

We are living in perilous times, and it does not become us to accept everything claimed to be truth without examining it thoroughly; neither can we afford to reject anything that bears the fruits of the Spirit of God; but we should be teachable, meek and lowly of heart. There are those who oppose everything that is not in accordance with their own ideas, and by so doing they endanger their eternal interest as verily as did the Jewish nation in their rejection of Christ. {CW 35.3}

The Lord designs that our opinions shall be put to the test, that we may see the necessity of closely examining the living oracles to see whether or not we are in the faith. Many who claim to believe the truth have settled down at their ease, saying, "I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing." -- Review and Herald, December 20, 1892. {CW 36.1}

How shall we search the Scriptures? Shall we drive our stakes of doctrine one after another, and then try to make all Scripture meet our established opinions? or shall we take our ideas and views to the Scriptures, and measure our theories on every side by the Scriptures of truth? Many who read and even teach the Bible, do not comprehend the precious truth they are teaching or studying. {CW 36.2}

Thoughts?

Do you like the attitude expressed in these quotes? Do you hear the doctrine of infallibility?

Do we have minds that remain open to new ideas?

Do we have minds that, while open to new truth, are fortified against deception?

How can we be open to new truth without being overly vulnerable to deceit?

- Think for yourself, don't allow another person to do your thinking for you. Hear what others say, then study the evidence for yourself
- Build your beliefs on testable truths, not claims without evidence. Then require your beliefs to harmonize with the testable truths.
 - Law of love as a design template
 - Law of worship, we become like what we worship
 - Law of liberty, love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom
- Use the life of Jesus as a lens which theories of God must conform
- Understand God's law as natural not imposed and examine theories through the law of love

How should we handle diversity of belief, opinion, and tradition?

If everyone is thinking alike, then somebody isn't thinking.

George S. Patton

Do we want everyone thinking alike? What do we want?

- Everyone operating from the same principles, motives of love, beneficence, kindness...
- We want everyone to have character like Jesus
- But we do not want everyone to have the same thoughts, ideas, talents, ways of thinking, skills, personalities... etc.
- When people have the character of Christ, loving others more than self, but also have differences of personality, ways of thinking etc. what will that look like?
 - What about when it comes to questions of music?
 - Church liturgy?
 - Dress?
 - The color of carpet for the church?
 - Women's ordination?
 - Why Christ had to die?
 - How are such things handled?
 - Are all issues equally important?
 - Do we change our view on truth in order to maintain peace?
 - What do we do? We present the truth in love and leave others free to decide for themselves. Which means will still love others, we don't work behind the scenes to injure, hurt, or damage the reputation of others.
 - We still want those who see things different than us to be our friends and neighbors in heaven.
 - Think about your own family members who see things differently, regardless of whether they believe the same as you, don't you want them to be in heaven?

- Shouldn't we cultivate such an attitude toward all people?
- Even those who burn our embassies?

SUNDAY

Read second paragraph, "The lives of..." thoughts? The lesson states, "Though salvation is a gift, the believer experiences it through sanctification of the Spirit and belief in the truth."

I am not disagreeing with this statement, just wondering if it is easily understood? What do you understand this means?

How would you say the believer experiences the gift of salvation?

Here is a statement from one of the founders of our church, do you agree?

Christ, the way, the truth, and the life, gave himself for a fallen world, and in him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. No greater gift can be bestowed upon man than that which is comprehended in Christ. And yet men wait, refusing to give to God the allegiance of the heart. But let the impenitent look to the plan of redemption, and ask themselves, "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation?" [what does this mean? Escape what? The inflicted wrath of an offended God, or our own terminal condition? Does it make a difference which way you understand it?] It is perilous to neglect to render to God the full consecration of all our powers, for he has given them to man in trust. Will you not ask yourself, "How is it with my soul?" The great gift of salvation has been placed within our reach at an infinite cost to the Father and the Son. To neglect salvation, is to neglect the knowledge of the Father and of the Son whom God hath sent in order that man might become a partaker of the divine nature, and thus, with Christ, an heir of all things.[what did you hear? The gift of salvation cost BOTH Father and Son. Why is to neglect salvation to neglect the knowledge of Father and Son? What was Christ's purpose? To somehow enable human beings to partake the divine nature, which means what?] A neglect to lay hold of the priceless treasure of salvation, means the eternal ruin of your soul. [why does it mean this?] The peril of indifference to God and neglect of his gift, is measured by the greatness of salvation. God has done to the uttermost of his almighty power. The resources of infinite love have been exhausted in devising and executing the plan of redemption for man. God has revealed his character in the goodness, the mercy, compassion, and love manifested to save a race of guilty rebels. What could be done that has not been done in the provisions of the plan of salvation? If the sinner remains indifferent to the manifestation of the goodness of God, if he neglects so great a salvation, rejects the overtures of divine mercy, refuses the gift of life purchased by the precious blood of Christ, what could be done to touch his hard heart? {RH, March 10, 1891 par. 2}

Thoughts? What do you hear being described? What problem is being addressed? Is it in harmony with 2Cor 10:3-5, that the war is over the knowledge of God?

So how does the sinner experience salvation? Is the description above in harmony with John 17:3, life eternal is knowing God?

What about his one:

The heart must be cleansed from its impurity; self-will must be exchanged for God's will; God's ways must be chosen before our own ways. Many names are registered on the church books that have no place in the Lamb's book of life. Let the question be asked with deepest concern, "Is my name written there?" {ST, December 15, 1887 par. 9}

The great gift of salvation is freely offered to us, through Jesus Christ, on condition that we obey the law of God; and individually we are to accept the terms of life with the deepest humiliation and gratitude. [what does it mean to obey the law of God? To keep the rules? To avoid work on a certain day? Or to be in harmony with the design template upon which life was built? What are the terms of life? "We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love our brothers. Anyone who does not love remains in death." (1JN 3:14) For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me will find it. (MT 16:25)] None will ever enter the city of God who do not reverence the statutes of its government; and now is the time allotted to us to gain the mastery, through divine grace, over every rebellious thought and action; to work out our own salvation, not with boasting self-confidence, but with fear and trembling. [How do we work out our own salvation?] We are not to pander to the prejudices and customs of this world at the expense of our obligations to God. We should live as in the sight of Heaven, with no other object for our ambition and toil than the glory of our Creator and Redeemer; live, believing that "every one of us shall give account of himself to God." We should ask ourselves, Am I fashioning my character after the Pattern God has given me? Is my eye fixed on Jesus? and are my actions controlled by the influences of Heaven? ... We are to be in the world but not of it -- shining with the reflected light of Jesus. We must not live for self, blending into the darkness of the world; but kept from its evil we must give our lives into an active, earnest service, as faithful soldiers for the Captain of our salvation. This will sanctify the soul. While we seek the salvation and benefit of others, we shall be workers together with God, learning his methods and partaking of his power. {ST, December 15, 1887 par. 10}

Thoughts? What do you hear being described regarding salvation?

Why does living, through God's grace, to serve others result in sanctifying the soul? Does this mean we save ourselves? What does it mean? What is the balance between what Christ did for us and what we must do?

Do you hear Christ did something for us, which brings us the knowledge of God? And with that knowledge we respond with choices to align ourselves with him, in trust, we value and cherish his law of love. In trust we open the heart, experience his Spirit, which enlightens, and convicts, and gives us new desires. Then we exercise our power of choice to choose to harmonize with God's methods in the actions we take, in so doing we are empowered by the Spirit to live a life of love.

But, when we exercise our choice to love, we often will confront our own feelings of fear, or conflict with others. It is in choosing to do what is right, because it is right and we know it is right, that we experience growth and maturity.

The next paragraph states, "People's grasp of truth often slips with the passage of time, which is why we must always be affirmed by those who preach and teach us."

Thoughts? A lot of truth in this, our minds are so weak, we forget so easily, and if we don't use and reinforce it then we forget.

How can we help ourselves not forget?

Is there a difference in forgetting what your spouse asked you to pick up at the grocery store, and forgetting you love your spouse, or who your spouse is?

Is there a difference in forgetting what nations the 10 horns represent and forgetting your love for God, or who God is?

But, we can't forget who God is, if we never actually knew him. Is it possible for people to be raised in Christian families and churches and never actually know God? We can't forget something/someone we never knew.

What do you think about the idea that oral tradition is less subject to unintentional distortion than written tradition as it contains gestures, tone of voice etc.?

While it is true that it contains these gestures and tones which convey a richer meaning and detail, it remains subject to the accuracy of human memory. Maybe video tradition is less subject to distortion?

Last paragraph states, "But written tradition, as in the letters of Paul, is less subject to intentional distortion by those who would alter the gospel for their own purposes." Thoughts?

Do you agree with this? If we are talking about whether you get the information from the Bible yourself, or from the oral report of someone purposely twisting it, then yes written is less subject to distortion. But what if you are getting your Bible study from your preacher, commentary, theology professor and not studying for yourself?

How many tracts, books, and sermons are filled with Bible quotes, yet misrepresent God?

Does having the exact words of Scripture ensure the message will not be distorted?

Does it matter with what lens we come to the Scripture?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "In today's..." thoughts?

While many laugh at the idea of Satan, others live in fear of Satanic and demonic powers. Do we need to fear the power of Satan? Why or why not?

The fourth paragraph states, “The good news is that, though Satan is more powerful than we are, the Lord is more powerful than Satan, and we can find safety and power in the Lord.”

Thoughts?

Nothing false stated here – but is there a slant that might be misunderstood?

Is the controversy between Christ and Satan over who has the most power? Or was it over the use of power?

When we think of God’s power – what comes to mind? What is God’s power? Is the God’s power that Scripture talks about merely the power of physical might or something else?

Paul speaks of the power of the gospel – what is that power? Where does the gospel wield its effect?

Power is of two kinds. One is obtained by the fear of punishment and the other by acts of love. Power based on love is a thousand times more effective and permanent than the one derived from fear of punishment. – Mahatma Gandhi

I know men and I tell you that Jesus Christ is no mere man. Between Him and every other person in the world there is no possible term of comparison. Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne, and I have founded empires. But on what did we rest the creation of our genius? Upon force. Jesus Christ founded His empire upon love; and at this hour millions of men would die for Him. – Napoleon Bonaparte

Paul talks of the divine weapons which demolish Satanic strongholds – where are those strongholds and what are the weapons?

Which is stronger – hate or love?

- Hate is powerful, no doubt, look at all the pain, suffering, and destruction that has come because of hate. But love is more powerful, love will destroy hate.
- Why does a soldier voluntarily get out of a foxhole under fire, and intentionally put themselves in harms way? Is it because of hate for the enemy or love for their friends?

Which is strong – lies or truth?

- Lies are powerful, no doubt, the Great Controversy and all the pain and suffering is due to lies – but what destroys lies – the truth and the truth is more powerful!

Which is stronger – slavery or freedom?

- What wins the loyalty of the heart? Slavery or freedom? Which has more power to build loyalty, threat of punishment or delivery from bondage, without anything expected in return?
- Greater love has no one than to give his life for a friend!

God doesn't need to coerce, or trick, or threaten, or impose his way, he has won our hearts, he has achieved our Remedy, and he has given it to us freely. He just longs for us to partake!

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “By the time Paul...” thoughts?

What do you think of authority?

What makes the teachings of Christ and the Apostles authoritative?

They are true, they are right, they are the expressions that the universe was constructed upon.

Then, do we take it because it they said it, or because it is true?

Then does it require we think about what they said and ensure we accurately understand what they meant, lest we take an authoritative instruction and turn into a lie?

Read last paragraph, “Paul was not idle...” thoughts?

Disorderly - anyone who did not follow the teachings and practices of the apostles?

Thoughts?

Any practices come to mind?

- Like not baptizing people at the moment of conversion and instead substituting the sinners prayer and putting someone through six months indoctrination first?
 - I would like to suggest that the way tradition currently handles conversion undermines the work of the Holy Spirit. That first love, which led to conversion, was in Bible times immediately validated with public baptism and the person was accepted, as they are, validated only on their acceptance of and love for Christ. It was grace – accepted into full membership, without works.
 - But we have interposed something between the believer and their “first love.” Tradition has put the barrier of indoctrination, required doctrinal learning, attestation to loyalty to an institutional church, change of lifestyle, jobs, diet, and dress all before baptism, which says you are not accepted as a Christian until you work to change. By this time love is driven out of the heart and replaced with a burden of do's and don'ts.

- I have a hypothesis that if we returned to the Biblical model, baptizing people at conversion, then mentoring them in love, the church would be filled with people on fire for God and who love each other.
- Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Read last sentence of third paragraph and then fourth and fifth paragraphs, "If anyone is not willing..." thoughts?

How should we deal with members who are capable but won't work? What about non-members, those along the interstate with signs, "will work for food?"

Where do we draw the line between loving support and allowing someone to go hungry?

If the people on the interstate actually want only some money for food how long do you think they need to stand there to get enough for a meal?

Have you noticed when food bank certificates started being available where people could stop and give a certificate to such a person for a free meal, that the signs started changing around town to "out of town and car broke down" "Disabled and need rent money"

How do we minister to the genuine needy without becoming cynical because of the many scams going on?

What about this group Paul described who didn't contribute to the church but sat around criticizing what others were doing? How do we respond to such people?

Who is being damaged by such behavior? First themselves, and then any who are sucked in to their duplicity, and those whose reputations and ministry they are able to undermine.

But is there a difference in the type of damage done?

- What type of damage is done to the one gossiping?
- What type of damage is done to the one gossiped about?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “The matter of church...” thoughts

What issues are appropriate for church discipline?

- Open ongoing sin
- Open rebellion against the principles of the gospel
- What about: “The hasty, reckless use of the faculty of speech lies at the foundation of nearly all the church troubles that exist. Evilspeaking should be dealt with as a misdemeanor that is subject to church trial and separation from church membership if persisted in; for the church cannot be set in order in any other way.”--Ms 74, 1897. {VSS 31.2}

Read second paragraph, “Matthew 18...” thoughts?

How about if the offender is an influential church leader and the offended is a timid young woman? Should the offended then go? What if the offender swore her to secrecy and convinced her it would be sin to say anything of his action toward her?

Read the third paragraph, “Here is the problem...” thoughts?

Which do you understand it to be? Is it the second, forgiveness, love, compassion – but what is not included? Trust – until when?

Isn't the goal of church discipline, the same as family discipline, to teach, heal, redeem and save the person from themselves, to help them overcome weakness in their character?

Do we still love our children when we discipline them? Were you ever disciplined as a child? Do you know you were still love?

Do we treat members of our church in such a way that they know we still love them when we discipline them?

How can we achieve this?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1, 2

Announcements:

- October 20, at the Trade Center, Chattanooga 9a.m.-5p.m. Modern Medicine, Biblical Technology and Your Brain. Seats limited sign up at our website.
- We need 13 more volunteers to help with the webcasting so that people can only do it once every 3-4 weeks. Please see Dean if you are willing
- Come and Reason Ministries, in partnership with Heartwise Ministries has started a weekly TV program Heart of Health. In order to get our signal onto the satellites for broadcast a $10,000 encoder was needed. Thanks to your generosity Come and Reason Ministries was able to purchase this piece of equipment and on October 4 the signal will go nationwide on WTNB and My FamilyLife TV. We are negotiating with other networks also. Keep us in your prayers.

Growing in Christ Lesson 1 4Q 2012

Introduction – read first paragraph, “Everyone believes...” thoughts?

We have power over what we believe, but what we believe has power over us – power to heal and power to destroy – the question is what you believe.

Satan’s power is the power of deception, to get us to believe lies, and getting us to believe lies changes us.

Everyone is free to believe as they choose, but all beliefs are not equally healthy. Believing the truth that God is love and exactly as Jesus revealed him to be is healing, while believing God is angry and wrathful is actually destructive.

What kind of a belief must one hold if they believe their god is honored when they riot and kill people because of a cartoon or movie?

Read next paragraph, “For Seventh-day Adventists...” thoughts?

- Is it our common beliefs that hold us together?
 - Common beliefs can hold people together, no doubt
 - Political parties and cults hold common beliefs
- Should there be something more holding us together just our common beliefs?
 - What about the Holy Spirit?
 - What about experiencing renewal of heart?
 - What about practicing God’s methods of truth, love, freedom – the respect for all people, the principles of peace?
 - What about bonds of love?
 - What about common purpose, common mission?
- Can one hold to all 28 fundamentals, to the point they would die for them, and still be God’s enemy?
 - Were many of the Jews in Christ’s day, held together by common beliefs? And were many of them willing to die for their beliefs?
 - Were many of those same Jews enemies of Christ?
- How is it that one can believe the right “doctrines” and still be God’s enemy?
 - Read next paragraph, “Some argue that...” thoughts?
- How can one believe right “doctrines” and still be God’s enemy?
 - By making the assumption that truth and one’s doctrines are synonymous – what is the danger in this idea?
 - Did you notice the shift from doctrine to truth? Are these two statements the same:
 - What matters is your love for Christ not doctrine AND
 - What matters is your love for Christ not truth?
 - OR

- The Bible never separates love for Christ from love for truth AND
- The Bible never separates love for Christ from love for doctrine?
- By making doctrine stand alone beliefs, proving each and every doctrine as if each doctrine stood on its own, rather than recognizing, presenting and experiencing each true doctrine is simply a manifestation of God's character of love!
 - If the doctrine is disconnected from God's character of love and made stand alone beliefs then it and the organization that does this, becomes warped and the doctrine becomes what is worshipped and not God.
- Does knowing doctrine result in a love for God?
 - It depends on what doctrine you know AND how you understand the purpose of doctrine.

Read next paragraph, "The Seventh-day Adventist Church..." thoughts?

What is a creed?

I looked up the definition on Webster's online dictionary and this is what the definitions of a creed are:

- 1: a brief authoritative formula of religious belief
- 2: a set of fundamental beliefs

Okay, if a creed is a set of fundamental beliefs, why is it so necessary to claim our fundamentals are not a creed?

Has something changed in the SDA church since its inception that we are trying to deny? In previous lessons we have identified a stark difference in what our founders taught about the purpose of Christ's mission to earth and what is taught today.

But what about creeds, did our founders have a different idea in regard to setting out a list of fundamental beliefs as a test of fellowship? And if so why? And what are the dangers of making creeds?

- Rome withheld the Bible from the people, and required all men to accept her teachings in its place. It was the work of the Reformation to restore to men the Word of God; but is it not too true that in the churches of our time men are taught to rest their faith upon their creed and the teachings of their church rather than on the Scriptures? Said Charles Beecher, speaking of the Protestant churches: “They shrink from any rude word against creeds with the same sensitiveness with which those holy fathers would have shrunk from a rude word against the rising veneration for saints and martyrs which they were fostering. . . . The Protestant evangelical denominations have so tied up one another's hands, and their own, that, between them all, a man cannot become a preacher at all, anywhere, without accepting some book besides the Bible. . . . There is nothing imaginary in the statement that the creed power is now beginning to prohibit the Bible as really as Rome did, though in a subtler way.” {GC88 388.2}

Do you think creed power is prohibiting the Bible in our church?

- When God's Word is studied, comprehended, and obeyed, a bright light will be reflected to the world; new truths, received and acted upon, will bind us in strong bonds to Jesus. The Bible, and the Bible alone, is to be our creed, the sole bond of union; all who bow to this Holy Word will be in harmony. The Review and Herald, Dec. 15, 1885. {1SM 416.2}

What is suggested happens when the Bible alone is our creed? New truth are received and incorporated into practice and lighten the world. What do the new truths do? Bond us to Jesus! What is the concern with having creeds or fundamental beliefs? They obstruct the receipt of unfolding truth?

Have we actually seen this happen?

Here is another concern regarding creeds from our founders:

- Christ was not exclusive, and He had given special offense to the Pharisees by departing in this respect from their rigid rules. He found the domain of religion fenced in by high walls of seclusion, as too sacred a matter for everyday life. These walls of partition He overthrew. In His contact with men He did not ask, What is your creed? To what church do you belong? He exercised His helping power in behalf of all who needed help. Desire of Ages, p. 86.
 - He didn't ask on what day you worship, what food do you eat, to what atonement model do you ascribe
 - He lived God's law of love!
 - Creeds cause division, how many SDAs are afraid to interact with those who worship on Sunday?
 - How many people of other denominations shrink back from interacting with each other?

- Oh, how Christ longed to open to Israel the precious treasures of the truth! But such was their spiritual blindness that it was impossible to reveal to them the truths relating to His kingdom. They clung to their creed and their useless ceremonies when the truth of Heaven awaited their acceptance. DA 241
 - Can creeds, fundamental beliefs, become an end in themselves and thus close the mind to truth about God's character?
 - This is why we have purchased and are distributing Fundamental Focus because it takes the 28 Fundamental Beliefs and refocuses them all back on the central truth – God's character of love!

If our church founders held the attitude toward creeds as I have read, do you see how some might become defensive about establishing a creed?

The lesson states it well in the second to last paragraph of the introduction: “Doctrines, then, are not as an end in and of themselves. They are a means to an end, and that end is Jesus, knowing Jesus for ourselves and growing in Him.”

Nothing wrong knowing what one believes, or being able to identify those beliefs clearly, but the true purpose of each and every belief is enlighten us about God, connect us to God, reveal God to us. If separated from God our beliefs, even if factually correct, become obstructions to salvation (like the Jews wanting Christ off the Cross to keep Sabbath. Their belief in the Sabbath obstructed love for God).

Lesson 1 The Great Controversy: The Foundation

When you hear this title, what comes to mind?

What is the Great Controversy? How would you describe it? Here are some questions to consider as we go through the lesson:

- What is the controversy about or over?
- Is it about who is most powerful?
- Is it fought with physical arms or might?
- Where is the battleground?
- What are the weapons employed?
- Who are the chief antagonists?
- How does Satan win?
- How does God win?
- How do you and I fit in?
- Whose side do we want to be on?
- Whose side are we on?
- How can you tell?

SABBATH

Memory text, “ ‘ And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her Seed; He shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise His heel” (Gen 3:15)

Thoughts? What does this mean?

What was the sin of Adam and Eve?

- Taking the fruit OR believing lies about God which resulted in distrusting God and the subsequent taking of the fruit?
- The introduction of the quarterly talked about the power of what we believe – Satan’s power is in lies, as we believe lies we are changed. Here is how one of our founders saw it:
 - “When we speak of unbelief, we do not mean that a person believes nothing. The mind must rest upon something; and when it does not grasp truth, it lays hold of error. All men in one sense believe, and the effect produced upon the heart and character is according to the things believed. Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors, and it was only by repentance toward God and faith in the promised Messiah that they could hope ever to regain the lost image of God. {RH, January 5, 1886 par. 8}
 - Through belief in Satan's misrepresentation of God, man's character and destiny were changed, but if men will believe in the Word of God, they will be transformed in mind and character, and fitted for eternal life. To believe that "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16), will change the heart, and reproduce in man the image of God.

{1SM 346.1}

Thoughts?

Do these quotations remind you of any Scripture?

- 2Cor 10:3-5 – waging war over the knowledge of God
- Romans 1:18-32 – believing lies about God damages the mind
- John 17:3 – life eternal is knowing God
- John 8:32 – truth will set you free
- Isa 1:18 – Come and Reason with God and be cleansed

SUNDAY

The first paragraph reminds us that there are “radically different views regarding what the conflict is about, who’s involved, what’s at stake, and how it is going to end.”

Thoughts?

What are some of the different views?

- Yin/Yang – good and evil are not opposites and against each other, but two sides of the same energy, required for balance in the universe, there are no individual evil or good beings opposing each other, every living being contains both good and evil in balance and – thus the end is an eternity in which good and evil exist for eternity. A concept known as eternal dualism.
 - This is Satan’s goal a universe in which good and evil exist eternally
 - But the Bible teaches there was a time in eternity past when no evil existed, only good
 - That evil originated in Satan and spread to earth

- And that a future will arrive in which evil will be exterminated and the entire universe will again be good, in perfect harmony with God.
- How has the idea of eternal dualism, the eternal existence of both good and evil infected Christianity?
 - A universe in which we have heaven and an eternal burning hell in which the devil and sinners exist and suffer forever – (eternal dualism)
 - A universe in which God is the source of pain, suffering and death which he inflicts upon unrepentant sinners to exact justice to make them pay for their sins, thus God good and evil exist eternally in the character of God.
- Another view of the GC is, some allege the Bible teaches myths and the players are interpreted as concepts or forces of good and evil rather than real sentient beings.

Read last paragraph, “In fact, while secularism...” thoughts?

How might you present the ideas in a way that a scientific mind would be more open to consider?

What about instead of using the terms angels and demons, we use “extraterrestrials” and talk about intelligent life not originating on planet earth caught up in a conflict in the universe? Aren’t angels “extraterrestrials” Does it take away from anything if we call them that?

Is the issue over what we call angels, or over God’s character and methods versus Satan’s?

MONDAY

What do you understand led to Lucifer’s fall?

- The lesson states, “pride, autonomy, and independence” thoughts?

- Read second paragraph, “At least three issues...” thoughts?
- Is there something wrong, sinful, about autonomy and independence? I hear these words synonymous with freedom, how do you hear them? Maybe the lesson means instead of autonomy and independence, rebellion and defiance?
- What is “lawlessness”?
- So Satan was in rebellion and defiance of what? God’s design for life, God’s methods and principles, and ultimately God himself.
- What about instead of “pride, autonomy and independence” we use, Pride, selfishness, jealousy, rebellion and defiance?
- We do have autonomy and independence in all our choices, we just are not free of the natural consequences of those choices. We are free to break any of God’s laws, we just can’t avoid what happens when we do.
- So what is the restraining power? God’s imposed punishment, or the design protocols of life?
- In the end why will there be no more wickedness? What does God “give” to the obstinately rebellious? Freedom, independence and autonomy – He gives them what they have insisted upon, complete freedom to experience what it is like separated from him and to step outside his law of love – and what exists there? NOTHING! And thus they cease to exist!

How did Lucifer get 1/3 of other angels to follow him?

- By convincing the angels that God’s law is imposed and God is therefore arbitrary, and the only consequences to disobedience are those punishments inflicted by God. Thus, if we resist him, and get enough followers God will be forced to accept our terms.
- “Christ came to save fallen man, and Satan with fiercest wrath met him on the field of conflict; for the enemy knew that when divine strength was added to human weakness, man was armed with power and intelligence, and could break away from the captivity in which he had bound him. Satan sought to intercept every ray of light from the throne of God. He sought to cast his shadow across the earth, that men might lose the true views of God's character, and that the knowledge of God might become extinct in the earth. He had caused truth of vital importance to be so mingled with error that it had lost its significance. The law of Jehovah was burdened with needless exactions and traditions, and God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God. Jesus came to teach men of the Father, to correctly represent him before the fallen children of earth. Angels could not fully portray the character of God, but Christ, who was a living impersonation of God, could not fail to accomplish the work. The only way in which he could set and keep men right was to make himself visible and familiar to their eyes. That men might have salvation he came directly to man, and became a partaker of his nature.” {ST, January 20, 1890 par. 6} thoughts? Agree? What does arbitrary mean?

Webster’s online dictionary has the following definitions for “arbitrary”:

- 1: depending on individual discretion and not fixed by law <the manner of punishment is arbitrary>
- 2: marked by or resulting from the unrestrained and often tyrannical exercise of power
- 3: a: based on or determined by individual preference or convenience rather than by necessity or the intrinsic nature of something
- b : existing or coming about seemingly at random or by chance or as a capricious and unreasonable act of will Thoughts? If God is like this, could he be trusted? What teachings do we hear today that make God out to be this way?

- Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience?
- God is required to inflict punishment?
- God said it, I believe it, that settles it?
- God's way or the highway?

What happens when we use methods that are severe, exacting and arbitrary? Listen to this, which is a letter from EGW to a church member over 100 years ago. Consider if you have ever known of a family like this:

Brother M, you have not taken a judicious course with your family. Your children do not love you. They have more hatred than love. Your wife does not love you. You do not take a course to be loved. You are an extremist. You are severe, exacting, arbitrary, to your children. You talk the truth to them, but do not carry its principles into your everyday life. You are not patient, forbearing, and forgiving. You have so long indulged your own spirit, you are so ready to fly into a passion if provoked, that it looks exceedingly doubtful whether you will make efforts sufficient to meet the mind of Christ. You do not possess the power of endurance, forbearance, gentleness, and love. These Christian graces must be possessed by you before you can be truly a Christian.

What is being described? What is suggested will happen when we interact with those who practice methods that are severe, exacting and arbitrary? Does love grow?

So, if Satan can get us to believe God is severe, exacting and arbitrary, what kind of Christians might we become? Could we become like those who put Christ on the cross?

WEDNESDAY

Read first two paragraphs beginning at: “God worked through the...” thoughts?

Fought over what issues?

Are they saying the fight is over understanding or misunderstand God and what he is doing? And that the tools God has provided to enlighten us the devil tries to twist to misrepresent God, or something else?

How has the sanctuary been misrepresented?

- That the blood of animals atones for sin – in OT times
- That God requires sacrifice as an appeasement or propitiation of his anger and wrath
- That the barrier between God and man is God’s inability to look upon sin
- That the plan of salvation is a market place transaction, one member of the Godhead bribing or paying off another member to with his blood
- That there is a smoke filled building in heaven in which Christ lights incense and mixes it with prayers and pleads to his Father to be merciful to us
- That there is a golden chest in heaven with stone tablets carved out of rock from earth
- That when God attempts to look at our records Jesus intervenes to obstruct his view by replacing what is recorded there with his record.
- That committees sit in heaven reviewing the sins of the wicked and voting on how long each person must burn in the flames before they are executed.

Read last paragraph, “Meanwhile, the book of Hebrews...”

Read Hebrews 9:24: “For Christ did not enter a sanctuary made by human hands, a mere copy of the true one, but he entered into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God on our behalf.” (NRSV)

What does this mean? Do you think 2Cor 5:1 has any bearing?

“Now we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, an eternal house in heaven, not built by human hands.”

Is the sanctuary in heaven, the one not built with human hands, constructed out of inanimate material or living beings? Who is to dwell in the Sanctuary? Where would the living God of love abide? A lifeless, cold, inanimate edifice? Or within the hearts, minds of living beings?

Created beings can build inanimate builds, only God can construct living beings!

Does the following passage have any bearing on this:

Eze 28:14 You were anointed as a guardian cherub,
 for so I ordained you.
 You were on the holy mount of God;
 you walked among the fiery stones.
 15 You were blameless in your ways
 from the day you were created till wickedness was found in you.
 16 Through your widespread trade
 you were filled with violence,
 and you sinned.
 So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God,
 and I expelled you, O guardian cherub,
 from among the fiery stones.
 17 Your heart became proud
 on account of your beauty,
 and you corrupted your wisdom
 because of your splendor.
 So I threw you to the earth;
 I made a spectacle of you before kings.

¹⁸ By your many sins and dishonest trade
you have desecrated your sanctuaries.
 So I made a fire come out from you,
 and it consumed you,
 and I reduced you to ashes on the ground
 in the sight of all who were watching.
 Eze 28:14-18 NIV

What do you think it means? What are his sanctuaries? What of the following is it connected?

These are the words of him who is the First and the Last, who died and came to life again. ⁹ I know your afflictions and your poverty—yet you are rich! I know the slander of those who say they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan. Rev 2:8,9

What are the synagogue or sanctuaries of Satan? Here is what one of the founders of our church thought, do you agree?

Satan has a large confederacy, his church. Christ calls them the synagogue of Satan because the members are the children of sin. The members of Satan's church have been constantly working to cast off the divine law, and confuse the distinction between good and evil. Satan is working with great power in and through the children of disobedience, to exalt treason and apostasy as truth and loyalty. And at this time the power of his satanic inspiration is moving the living agencies to carry out the great rebellion against God that commenced in heaven. {Christian Experience and Teaching 207.1}

What is the synagogue of Satan constructed out of? If the synagogue of Satan is the people who identify with him, who operate by his principles, who have his character reproduced within, then wouldn't the heavenly sanctuary be built out of God's loyal children?

What does Scripture teach?

We went through this a few weeks ago, so I am not going to relist the texts, but the sanctuary is built out of living stones, together to be a house for the Lord. We are a temple for the Lord where he dwells. Jesus said destroy this temple and he would raise it in three days.

EGW in DA 161 says when Christ cleansed the earthly temple he announced his mission to cleanse the human soul from sin. That temple was an object less that every being was created to be a dwelling place for God.

All through inspiration it is the same!

Satan wants to direct us away from the high calling God created us to be, beings to be temples where God dwells, to an idea of a smoky building in heaven where records are being reviewed. An idea that books are cleansed not people. It is time we grow out of the metaphor and step into the reality of God's kingdom and fulfill the purpose for which we were created, to be a dwelling place for God and reveal his character to the world!

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Prophecy provides..." thoughts?

What are Satan's tactics? Flattery, inducements, coercion, death penalty.

What do Christians say Christ will do when returns? Offer the inducement of salvation, use power to inflict punishment for disobedience, and then execute those who remain rebellious, who does this sound like?

The third paragraph references the message of the three angels, what is that message? Can anyone tell me in clear terms?

- A first messenger from God came with the message to Admire God and reveal his true character of love in your life
- To Remember him who created all things, and the principles upon which life was designed to operate – the law of love, the principle of giving, which reveals God’s true character of love
- Because the hour in which he will be judged is at hand and
- A second messenger from God came saying, do what the first angel said because, the churches have fallen into Satan’s lie about God and teach an imposed law construct in which God is the imposer of law and the imposer of penalties, a being represented as arbitrary and severe and have made all the nations think God is like this.
- A third messenger came and said, if anyone agrees with this beastly picture of God, or practices such monstrous methods their characters will be permanently warped and they will experience the full force of their choice when God returns and they are bathed in the fire of his presence. Then unremedied sin will not be restrained and they will be tormented and consumed in the presence of the angels and the lamb.
- And the memory of their choice, and how unremedied sin tortures and kills will be recalled by the saved forever and ever.

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “The cryptic language...” thoughts?

Does this passage have any affect on how we view and understand the OT Scripture? Should it? How?

In light of this passage, how do we understand the flood, Sodom, the first born of Egypt and the rest? What is going on behind the scenes?

What does Genesis 3:15 tell us about God's plan?

- That Christ is coming – why?
- Why is God going to send Christ?
- What if God doesn't send Christ?
- Does Satan know the implications of Christ's planned condescension?
- What do you think Satan's reaction was to hearing Genesis 3:15?

Do you think the OT is a history of how mankind was caught up in the war between God and Satan? How Satan was working to cut mankind off from God permanently, and how God was working to keep contact with man, and the channel open for the Messiah?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

Announcements:

Next week is the Modern Medicine, Biblical Technology and Your Brain Seminar at the Trade Center in Chattanooga starting sharply at 9 a.m.

Most of you have already signed up; we have about 100 seats left, please invite those who you think would be interested and willing to come. We want to have a full audience, as we will be making a DVD series from these presentations. If some of you teach at the college this would be a great seminar to invite some college students to attend. People can sign up at our website comeandreason.com home page.

Because of the seminar next week we will not meet here for class. Today we will do lesson 4 at our regular time and lesson 5 at 11:30 – 12:30. We will record lesson 5 and webcast it next week at our regular class time.

Update on Heart of Health Live, the TV program we have partnered with Heartwise Ministries to produce, is currently broadcasting every Thursday at 6 pm on:

- Charter Channel 5 WTNB in Cleveland/Dayton/Athens
- Channel 10 in Dalton/Calhoun/ Ft. O/ Northern GA
- Digital 51.1 WDNN in Chattanooga
- Nationwide on Myfamilytv.tv
- heartwiseministries.org.
- We will go live worldwide on 3ABN the first Thursday in January.
- LifeTalk radio wants to air the program live on their radio stream.
- The program is rebroadcast on Legacy and we will send to SmartLifestyle as well.

Pray that God will use this show to reach millions with the message about Him!

Growing in Christ Lesson 4 4Q 2012

Salvation: The Only Solution

SABBATH

In the first paragraph the lesson describes salvation beautifully:

“God’s part in the controversy has been to stop, and ultimately eliminate, the deleterious effects of sin, not just on the earth but on the creation as a whole. God’s action to rescue the creation from the destructive results of sin constitutes the doctrine of salvation.”

Thoughts?

Isn’t that well said? Do you notice how sin is described as destructive, and the destruction is a result of sin not an infliction by God? And God is described as a deliverer, rescuer or healer? Well done!

Where is sin? If we want to find sin where do we have to look?

- Is the decay we see in nature, what Paul describes as all nature groaning under the weight of sin, sin?
- Or is the decay we see the result of sin? Like fever the result of disease but the fever isn’t the disease?

So, if God is going to eliminate sin from his creation from where does it need to be eliminated? The hearts, minds and characters of intelligent beings?

What if we are afraid of God – what impact will that have on his ability to eliminate sin? Does our fear or distrust of God impact God’s ability to eliminate sin?

What method does God use to eliminate sin?

Christ! Christ is God's method, vehicle, means to eliminate sin from his creation. How?

- By revealing truth, which destroys lies and restores to trust
- By cleansing humanity from the infection of sinfulness in his own mission in humanity on earth

With Christ's victory in hand, how does God eliminate sin from us? Truth, presented in love, leaving us free to choose to enter into a relationship with him, to trust him. Can sin be eliminated from our hearts and minds without our voluntary choice to cooperate with God?

So God works to restore us to trust so we will voluntarily open the heart and cooperate with him for our healing and restoration.

- The Holy Spirit presents truth to our minds in ways we can comprehend
- We are left free to choose what we will do with that truth
- When we choose to act in harmony with the truth we receive divine power to enable us to succeed with the choice
- Christ procured the remedy to sin, single handedly, and there is nothing we can do to add to that remedy
- But we must choose to participate in the remedy Christ achieved, to trust God, to open the heart, to act on what we know is right.
- Our personal, individual choices will have no bearing on the salvation of the human species – that was achieved by Christ
- Our personal individual choices will have no bearing on the eternal elimination of sin from the universe, that will be achieved by Christ
- Our personal choices do have a direct bearing on our eternal destiny, and can impact specific other people influencing their eternal destiny

SUNDAY

What is the “scope” of the sin problem?

- John 2:25 - He did not need man’s testimony about man, for he knew what was in a man.
 - Which means what?
 - That he knew man believed lies about God, didn’t understand the truth of God’s methods, and that selfishness and fear were the primary motives in man?

- Ps 59:2 - Deliver me from evildoers and save me from bloodthirsty men.
 - Which means what?
 - That mankind is defective, and selfish, and even if Satan were eliminated mankind is still in a terminal condition.

- Jer 17:9 - The human heart is deceitful above all things and beyond cure. Who can understand it?
 - Which means what?
 - Our motives are deviant from God’s design and we will lie to ourselves

- Rom 5:12 - Therefore, just as sin entered the world through one man, and death through sin, and in this way death came to all men, because all sinned—
 - Which means what?
 - Our condition is terminal, but it is not our fault, we were born with this terminal condition. But despite it not being our fault if we don’t experience remedy we will die eternally.

- James 1:13-15 - When tempted, no one should say, “God is tempting me.” For God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone; ¹⁴ but each one is tempted when, by his own evil desire, he is dragged away and enticed. ¹⁵

Then, after desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death.

- Which means what?
 - Our defective minds, filled with fear and insecurity tempt us to be selfish and live out of harmony with God's design, and this results in death
- 2 Thes 2:10 - and in every sort of evil that deceives those who are perishing. They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved.
 - Which means what?
 - Truth heals and if we refuse the truth we cannot be healed.
 - Why does truth heal? Because truth displaces lies, leads us back to God and God's design protocols for life.

Thoughts? What do these text reveal about the scope of the sin problem?

Where does sin occur? In our hearts and minds! Then what needs to be cleansed? Our hearts and mind!

What about the prophecy of Daniel 8:14, that 2300 years and the sanctuary will be cleansed? What is to be cleansed?

Do record books in heaven contain sin? When we hold a Bible in our hands and read of David's misdeeds do we possess sin in our hands? If we were to burn the Bibles, or use an eraser to erase what is recorded there would we be destroying sin?

If Christ were to erase records in heaven would he be destroying sin? No! Sin happens in hearts and minds and it is hearts and minds that God wants to cleanse, not the recorded history of the universe.

MONDAY

The lesson points out that sin needed immediate attention – why? If penal substitution is correct, and the problem is that the governing authority must inflict punishment, then why did sin need immediate attention?

But, what was the immediate attention that God provided? Right in Eden? Gen 3:15 – “I will put enmity between you and the woman...”

What does this action by God tell us about what needed immediate intervention? Did God need immediate appeasing, placating or propitiating, or did mankind need something done within him immediately? What did God do and why?

God put a desire for good in the heart of man, a conviction of wrongdoing, a longing for something better. If God had not intervened in our hearts humanity would have a perfect unity with Satan. Paul puts it this way:

the sinful mind is hostile to God. It does not submit to God’s law, nor can it do so. Those controlled by the sinful nature cannot please God. Rom 8:7,8

What is Paul saying? What would be the condition of our hearts and minds if not for God’s grace intervening in our hearts to cause enmity with Satan?

Is the heart of humanity the only place God intervened or interceded after Adam’s sin? Where else?

With the principalities and powers of darkness, God sends his agencies to hold in check evil forces:

- hedge of protection around Elisha
- angels fighting for mankind in Daniel chapter 10
- four angels holding back the four winds of strife

And one other place, God intervenes/intercedes with sin in man's behalf. Christ interceded with the natural course sin would take within mankind when "God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God." (2Cor 5:21) In other words, sin would have destroyed humanity, but Christ stepped into humanity and intervened to change the trajectory and alter the outcome of what sin should have done to the species by overcoming sin and curing humanity.

So, what kind of intervention/intercession is this? God intervening with God not to punish? Or God intervening with the enemy of good, and with the natural consequences of what unremedied sin does to God's creation in order to heal and save?

TUESDAY

Read middle dark section, "Christ's sacrificial death..." thoughts?

This is a most important question, for how one answers this question impacts how one understands the character and trustworthiness of God.

The lesson uses words like justification, sanctification and glorification.

I liked how in Tuesday's lesson they equated justification with reconciliation and sanctification with regeneration. This is well done.

But in THURSDAY's lesson, things get a little confusing. Let's read first paragraph of Thursday's lesson:

"The experience of justification..."

And then in the third paragraph it states, "His perfect life is credited to you as if it were yours."

Thoughts?

This is a proffered solution, but what is this solution to address? In other words, what is the problem this solution is designed to fix?

This solution is addressing something called retributive justice, and is the basis of penal substitution theory. The idea that justice requires the infliction of punishment for breaking the law and that the ruler must inflict such punishment lest unpunished rebellion persist.

The concept of penal substitution originated sometime after Constantine, when the idea of God's law was changed from the law of love to an imposed law construct. It arose during the Middle Ages when people thought it was just to:

- Publicly beat people who broke some social rule
- Beat children at school
- Imprison people who honestly couldn't repay a debt
- To burn people at the stake who believed differently

I want to recommend a new book that just came out in August 2012 - Healing the Gospel: A Radical Vision for Grace, Justice and the Cross by Derek Flood

He opens the book describing his experience as a teen having a personal encounter with Jesus and the experience of peace, love, joy and renewal and acceptance with Christ. He goes on to describe how he wanted to share this incredible experience of being loved by God with everyone so he went to church, but something was different. I quote:

I quickly discovered that the message I was taught to share with others was very different from what I had actually experienced. It seemed more like bad news, and led to all sorts of awkward conversations like this:

Jesus died for you!

Why did Jesus have to die?

Because of our sin.

What if we haven't sinned?

"All have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God." No one can keep the law.

But if no one can keep it how can we be blamed for that?

Because "the wages of sin is death" and so justice requires that you be sent to be tormented in Hell for all eternity.

That's awful!

Yes, but there's good news: God has provided a way out by sacrificing his Son.

God kills his own son?

Yes, that's how much he loves you.

Why would that make things better?

Because it satisfies God's need for punishment. Sin must be paid for with blood because "without blood there is no forgiveness."

I feel ill.

Can't you see this is God's mercy and love? Don't you want to open your heart and let him into your life?

I think I have to go now. (p 1,2)

He goes on to say:

I was taught to tell people that they deserved to be punished by God forever. Taught that we should see ourselves as worthless, totally depraved, capable of nothing good apart from God. I was taught that the reason Jesus died was because God demanded that someone had to suffer the penalty of sin, someone had to be punished to appease God's wrath. No wonder I got a cold shoulder when I tried to share this "good news" with people. (p 2)

Behind all of this lies an image of God as a judge who is primarily concerned with satisfaction of punitive justice. (p 3)

Thoughts? Have you ever been presented with such concepts? And do such ideas engender trust or undermine it? Who would want to undermine trust in God by presenting him like this?

Now listen to this from the same book:

...we think that the gospel is rooted in the idea that Jesus had to die to fulfill the 'demands' of (punitive) justice. This is an understanding of the atonement known as penal substitution, "penal" meaning punish, and "substitution" meaning that Jesus is punished instead of us...

What I propose is that the above is not at all what the Bible teaches, and instead is a result of people projecting their worldly understanding of punitive justice onto the biblical text. The New Testament, in contrast, is actually a critique of punitive justice. It presents it as a problem to be solved, not as a means to the solution. The problem of wrath (that is, punitive justice) is overcome through the cross, which is an act of restoration – restoring humanity to a right relationship with God. In other words, restorative justice is how God in Christ acts to heal the problem of punitive justice.

Love is not in conflict with justice, love is how justice comes about because the New Testament understanding of justice is ultimately not about punishment, but about making things right again. (p 8)

Thoughts? Justice is about making things right again. Notice in this view justice is doing what is just or right, which is an expression of love. This stands in stark contrast to human governments which conceive of justice as inflicting punishment.

In Chapter Two Flood states:

Beginning in chapter two [of Romans], Paul has been criticizing the assumption of his religious audience who are calling out for justice in the form of retribution and punishment. Now he proposes that God's justice really comes through God's action in Christ to restore all humanity in love. Restorative justice instead of punitive justice...

Paul then goes on to explain how God's restorative justice in Christ comes about: God acts in Christ to make us good. A key concept here is "justification" which normally refers to legal acquittal, i.e., declaring a person innocent in court, and has often been mistranslated as such in Romans. But if that were the case then Paul's entire argument would fall apart. He is arguing that it was just for God not to punish sinners as his audience wished. If his only reason was that God had declared these sinners innocent, this would have been seen by his audience as a profound injustice – the acquittal of the guilty... God brings about true justice, Paul tells us, by making sinners into saints. This act of redemptive transformation is nothing short a miracle and happens through relationship – through being loved by God, and God's goodness making us good. Paul goes on to explain in Romans 7-8 that as God's Spirit indwells us, as we experience Christ's indwelling love, we are relationally transformed into his likeness. This way of the Spirit brings life, Paul says, but the way of law (i.e. the way of retributive justice) brings death.

Thoughts?

I recommend this book to you. It is quite well done. We see this message appearing all over as the Holy Spirit is awakening the world from its slumber so the way may be prepared from the coming Bridegroom!

Read fourth paragraph, "The experience of forgiveness..." thoughts?

What are they saying? To what are they saying the sinner is vulnerable? Are they saying that sinners are vulnerable to God wrathfully actions to injure and destroy them? And that forgiveness protects us from God?

Are they saying that the barrier removed is a barrier of God's wrath?

"Christ's self-sacrifice is pleasing to God because this sacrificial offering took away the barrier between God and sinful man in that Christ fully bore God's wrath on man's sin. Through Christ, God's wrath is not turned into love but is turned away from man and borne by Himself." (Seventh-day Adventist Believe 27, p. 111)

Thoughts?

Do such constructs engender trust in God? Do you see the root problem? Those who think this accept the idea that God's law is like human law, imposed and therefore God must act like human governments and impose punishment or there is no justice.

How can we free our church these ideas and help our church leaders extricate themselves from these distortions? We can't take the gospel to the world when we are embracing Satan's view of justice.

Read last paragraph, "Repentance is a prerequisite..." thoughts?

What does this mean?

- God is willing to forgive but won't forgive until sinners repent?
- God remains unforgiving, resentful, a grudge holder until sinners repent?
- God forgives everyone, but not everyone opens their hearts to experiences the forgiveness which would lead them to repentance?

Which comes first, God's forgiveness or sinner's repentance?

"God's kindness leads you toward repentance" (Rom 2:4)

If God is unforgiving would that lead toward repentance?

Read bottom paragraph WEDNESDAY's lesson, "We are told..."

The lesson supports that it is God's kindness, love that leads us to repentance, then is there a problem if we suggest that forgiveness is not given before repentance?

Is there a difference between being forgiven by God and "experiencing" forgiveness?

Those who put Christ on the cross, what did Christ say? "Father forgive them..." did Christ forgive them? Did Christ have authority on earth to forgive sins? Did they open their hearts to experience this forgiveness? Were they saved? Were they now Jesus' friends?

Do the wicked in the end die forgiven or unforgiven by God?

Does God spend eternity holding grudges, resentful and with an unforgiving heart?

Read bottom pink section Wednesday's lesson, "What are some..." thoughts?

FRIDAY

Read top paragraph, "The plan for our redemption..." thoughts?

What does it mean an unfolding of the principles that are the foundation of God's throne?

Is this suggesting something about how God's character, government, kingdom operate?

Read and discuss questions 2, 3

Growing in Christ Lesson 5 4Q 2012

Growing in Christ

Read Memory Text: “Having disarmed principalities and powers, He made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them in it.” (Colossians 2:15).

Thoughts?

What does it mean to disarm principalities and powers, to expose them publicly and to triumph over them?

The lesson in the first paragraph states, “Jesus has defeated satanic powers and evil forces; through Christ, victory over these powers, including their past manifestations in a person’s life, is possible; and finally, there are conditions in order for these victories to be realized in a person’s experience.”

Thoughts?

What are the principalities?

What are the powers of these principalities?

How did Jesus expose them, triumph over them and disarm them?

How does that benefit us?

What do you think the lesson means by “through Christ, victory over these powers, including their past manifestation in a person’s life, is possible?”

Does it mean victory over habits, addictions and patterns of sinfulness, which would actually be ongoing struggles rather than past manifestations?

Does it mean victory over the punishment God must inflict for past sins?

Let's examine our memory text in detail starting in Col 2:8

⁸ See to it that no one takes you captive through hollow and deceptive philosophy, which depends on human tradition and the basic principles of this world rather than on Christ.

What does it mean to be taken captive? What is being utilized to take people captive? False ideas, lies, misrepresentations, distortions, addictions (self indulgence), fear, abusive power structures. So, what kind of warfare is this? What weapons are used? Where is the battle fought?

Does this give any insight into what might be necessary to "disarm" the powers?

Does verse 8 give any insights as to what the lies might look like?

- They are based on human traditions and basic principles of the world.
- What are the basic principles of the world? Survival-of-the-fittest, retribution, kill or be killed, justice requires enforcement of punishment.
- In other words, isn't the Bible telling us we will be deceived when we conceive of God and his government to operate like worldly governments on the same principles?
- And how do such governments work?
 - The person must work to overcome on their own, prove their innocence, or in Jewish tradition, keep a bunch of ceremonial laws, and in our day our minds are taken captive when we teach God, like a Roman emperor must inflict punishment, be appeased, have payments made etc.

Verse 9,10:

⁹ For in Christ all the fullness of the Deity lives in bodily form, ¹⁰ and you have been given fullness in Christ, who is the head over every power and authority.

What is important to note in this passage?

- Jesus is God, complete and full.
- What we see in Jesus is true of God.
- And because Jesus became human, we are given fullness, or health, or restoration via Christ who is over all things.

But notice in verse 11 and 12 how we are give fullness in Christ:

¹¹ In him you were also circumcised, in the putting off of the sinful nature, not with a circumcision done by the hands of men but with the circumcision done by Christ, ¹² having been buried with him in baptism and raised with him through your faith in the power of God, who raised him from the dead.

What does this mean? Is this describing a legal accounting of one's historic records, or is this describing an actual change occurring within the heart/mind of the believer?

Someone emailed me this week and was asking what Christ was doing in the heavenly sanctuary, would this passage have application to Christ's work in the sanctuary? Notice, Christ is doing something inside the heart and mind of the believer, would that be considered "cleansing" of the heart and mind? And are we not a temple of God?

Or is the cleansing of the heavenly sanctuary unrelated to the work of Christ to cleanse the heart and mind?

When people talk about Christ cleansing the records in heaven, what do they mean? Can we give a better description?

What is the way Christ cleanses heavenly records? The answer typically given is, "by his blood." But Jesus said in John 6 the blood needed to be ministered where? Into us – so how do we connect the blood going into us with the cleansing of our records?

The records in heaven are like medical records, they keep an accurate record of our actual condition, I even believe it is a perfect copy of our individuality and identity. So, the pathway to change the records in heaven is through the heart/mind of the believer. As Christ works in us to heal and restore the record of the condition of our characters is changed, why? Because we are actually changed by the internalization of Christ into the heart.

What about verses 13-15:

¹³ When you were dead in your sins and in the uncircumcision of your sinful nature, God made you alive with Christ. He forgave us all our sins, ¹⁴ having canceled the written code, with its regulations, that was against us and that stood opposed to us; he took it away, nailing it to the cross. ¹⁵ And having disarmed the powers and authorities, he made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them by the cross.

What does it mean dead in sin and uncircumcision of our sinful nature?

Isn't this describing an actual condition of being, rather than a legal predicament? Doesn't it mean living out of harmony with God's design for life? Having selfishness as the primary motivator of action in our hearts rather than love? Would it be saying you were in a terminal state, out of harmony with how God constructed life to operate? But God sent Christ, to take our condition and cure it!

But there is another level of understanding to Christ cancelling the written code and it has to do with having cancelled the fallen way the written code was used.

In his book, Healing the Gospel: A Radical Vision for Grace, Justice and the Cross, Derek Flood describes how God ordained entities, structures, or elements became fallen and how Christ's mission was also to redeem these things as well as individual people. He speaks of how families have become fallen and often injure, how conscience is fallen and gives cruel oppressive guilt. And how God's law had become understood in a fallen way. He writes:

To speak of the law only as 'abolished' and 'destroyed' does not take into account the large purpose of restorative justice, which ultimately seeks to restore these systems to serve their proper role under Christ. Second, at the same time—especially because of the church's history of collusion with abusive power—we dare not whitewash over the New Testament's very real critique of the abuse of religious authority exemplified in Jesus' confrontation with the Pharisees, and in Paul's critique of the law which the early church picked up on in the language of 'abolishing' the powers. Just as we need to be self-aware and introspective, we also need to be aware of how authority can become fallen. As history shows, the church has not been particularly good at this, often defending the status quo rather than those on the margins.

Thoughts?

The written code itself, given to help teach and lead people to a right knowledge of God, had become perverted and misused to misrepresent God and actually damage people. Thus the system had to be taken away and God's law put in its proper place – which is “written upon the heart and mind” and the organized church was to operate from God's methods of love, including loving one's enemies, and not as a hierarchical top down authoritative dictator.

What does the passage mean “he forgave our sins?” The Greek means literally our shortcomings and mistakes, our falling short of God's ideal wasn't held against us, and that God's grace, forgiveness, not holding it against us preceded the change and healing brought about by Christ in us.

So, it isn't we repent, experience a transformation and then God doesn't hold our mistakes and shortcomings against us. But it is very much like a doctor, with a patient who is sick, coughing, vomiting, spitting up blood etc. and the doctor doesn't hold any of those symptoms, those evidences of coming up short of good health, against the sick patient. Rather the doctor acknowledges the symptoms as evidence of sickness and sets about healing the condition. This is what God is doing in Christ, healing and restoring.

What about cancelled the written code that was against us?

Paul is dealing with a mindset of people, who operate in a legal framework of ordinances to be done to merit, achieve, or earn salvation. They misunderstood the purposes of the OT sacrificial system with its rules and regulations.

What was the purpose of that system? Was that system devised as a means to bring salvation? Did that system heal sinners? Did the blood of animals achieve restoration with God? No!

That entire system was a primitive method of teaching, for primitive minds. It was a theater, a drama, a play to act out with symbols the future reality to be achieved by Christ. But it had a deeply visceral purpose as well, to bring sin and God's plan home to the heart. Flood states in his book:

We cannot truly understand something when we observe it "objectively" from a distance. We understand when it pounds in our chest, when it impacts us. We only truly know something when we are in the middle of it. These are vital matters of life and death that cannot be captured in a simplified formula, but must be articulated narratively and poetically as living ideas that move and touch us at the core of who we are.

Do you see how the OT sacrificial system would have made salvation issues pound in your chest? If you had to put the knife to the throat of the lamb, as the lamb looks into your eyes and then you have to cut its throat?

Did that experience save, or was that experience designed to reach into the substance of a person and make real what is transpiring for their salvation?

But the Jews forgot the purpose of the symbols and thought they somehow had merit in themselves and had come to misconstrue the meaning as appeasement. Thus the system had to be replaced, so when Christ achieved the reality that the symbolic play was to teach, there was no longer any purpose in continuing on the play, drama, symbols as they would only obscure the reality achieved in Christ. Thus, Christ put an end to the drama, play, or script, nailing it to the cross as fulfilled.

Now, as we go to verse 15, what do we understand thus far?

- We are in a war waged in our minds/hearts with weapons of deceit, distortion, fear and selfishness which promote methods of the world, survival-of-the-fittest, and principles of earthly governments projected upon God and heaven
- When we believe God is like earthly governors we are taken captive by evil forces and our healing is obstructed
- God battles with truth, love, freedom and actual restoration achieved through Christ in order to heal us and cleanse his universe
- When we trust Christ we experience actual transformation of our hearts and minds and have the worldly methods cut away and are renewed with God's law of love within

- The old system of symbols is replaced with the reality of Jesus

And thus in verse 15 how did Christ disarm the powers of evil, triumph over them and expose them?

- At the cross love and selfishness stood face to face, Satan was exposed as a liar and fraud
- Christ was revealed as love and Satan as selfish and malevolent
- Death was revealed to come out from Satan and his methods NOT from God
- Christ was revealed to be safe with all power as he wouldn't use power to protect self, thus Satan's lies about God abusing power were destroyed
- Christ destroyed the infection of selfishness in man thus restoring mankind back to God's original ideal, within the human brain Christ assumed
- Christ victory, achieved by the exercise of his human brain also revealed there was nothing wrong with mankind when God created him, i.e. no manufacturer's defect – God wasn't to blame for Adam's fall. If Christ could choose perfectly in a humanity defective by sin, Adam could have done so in Eden in a perfect humanity.
- Therefore:
 - Satan's weapons of deceit were destroyed by the revelation of truth at the cross,
 - his weapon of selfishness within mankind was destroyed by perfect love chosen and exercised by Christ's human brain at the cross.
 - Thus Satan's methods were exposed as the source of suffering, pain and death, while God's methods were revealed as the basis for life, health and happiness.
- Satan's power has been broken

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Christianity is...”

Thoughts?

I found the language interesting as it appears to be a mixture of legal and healing language, which to me wasn't as clear as it could have been.

What does it mean that the people without Christ are enslaved to sin and “under a death sentence”? Does it mean that death sentence is a legal imposed punishment, or that is the death sentence of a terminal condition? Does it make a difference which way we understand it? Why?

I like very much how the lesson states “The sinner’s plight required outside intervention, and this intervention comes at a price.” When you hear this what comes to mind?

A person in renal failure requires outside intervention, and that intervention comes at a price – means what? Is that what is happening with sinful mankind?

The lesson rightly points out that the price of our salvation was “the death of Jesus on the cross.” But it doesn't explain why. Why is that the price?

The paragraph rightly points out we are enslaved to sin, so if our salvation requires freedom from such enslavement what would Christ's death need to accomplish?

We are talking about the “price” for our salvation. To whom is the price paid?

What is the price to save someone in renal failure? Is it simply the medical bills? What about in a society where all medical care was provided freely, is there still a price to pay to save someone in renal failure? What is that price? Isn't it a new kidney – and to whom is that price paid?

What is the price of our freedom from sinfulness? Is it not a new heart and right spirit, and new nature, having the law written on the heart, having the mind of Christ, being circumcised in the inner man? Who achieved this perfect human condition? Christ! And to whom is this condition given or paid?

Is it given to God? Did God need a new humanity, a new nature, to have the law written on his heart? Or is it given FREELY to human beings!

And besides our own sinful/selfish natures that enslave us, what else entraps us? Lies about God! And Christ is the truth, and brought us the truth, and exposed the truth at the Cross at great expense to himself. To whom was this truth “paid”?

Who is the only being in the universe who did not need this truth? God! The only being in the universe who DID NOT NEED the death of Christ is God! All the other intelligences did, yet Christianity teaches Christ's death was for God, how twisted.

What are Bible metaphors for truth?

- Light
- Sword
- Salt
- Blood

Here is what one Christian author wrote:

- In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life. (Fundamentals of Christian Education 378).

- The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb. (Christ's Object Lessons 102).

Who is the only being who did not need truth presented to him? God – then if we understand the truth is symbolized by blood, we realize God is the ONLY being in the universe who didn't need the blood of his Son.

We need to “eat the flesh and drink the blood” but the Father didn't need it.

Col 1:19,20 states: “For God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross.”

Notice heavenly things were reconciled to God at the cross, through the shed blood. Heavenly beings needed to see the truth about God as revealed in Christ, to see Satan exposed, to see what humanity can be when in perfection as God designed. Thus, the only being in the universe who didn't need the Cross is the one we have the “blood” of the Cross being directed toward.

Do you see how backward it is to suggest Jesus is in heaven ministering his blood to the Father?

Do you see a problem with this? Why do we do it? Because we have accepted exactly what the Paul is warning us against, we have accepted human tradition and the principles of the world as models for God's character and government.

Read the second paragraph, “From the New Testament...” thoughts?

This is right- Christ did take our place, our condition and suffered in our place for the purpose of exposing Satan, destroying Satan's lies about the Father, revealing the truth about God's character and government AND curing and healing our condition!

In his book Derek Flood writes of the early church fathers in the first few centuries after Christ:

For example, Athanasius writes, "The death of all was consummated in the Lord's body; yet, because the Word was in it, death and corruption were in the same act utterly abolished." Here we have substitutionary language, "the death of all was consummated in the Lord's body," understood in the context of Christus Victor, resulting in "death and corruption" being "utterly abolished." The death sentence is not fulfilled, it is erased. Athanasius writes that Christ "assumed a human body, in order that in it death might once for all be destroyed, and that men might be renewed according to the Image." Similarly, Gregory of Nazianzus writes, "For my sake he was called a curse, who destroyed my curse." Again vicarious language (Christ cursed "for my sake") is coupled with a Christus Victor theme (the curse – that is, the sentence of the law—is "destroyed" not satisfied)....

Here the medical paradigm, prevalent among the church fathers, is helpful: Seen through the lens of the patristics' image of salvation as healing, we can think here of a doctor who, while recognizing that certain behaviors can lead to injury and sickness, nonetheless seeks to heal the patient. We have a grave wound, but Christ is a greater physician. As Augustine puts it, "Of my own so deadly wound I should despair, unless I could find so great a Physician." Punitive justice wounds, but restorative justice heals. The purpose of Christ's taking on human wretchedness, suffering, and sin, was for the sake of our healing and renewal.

This view of salvation as healing, sanctification, and re-creation is captured well by Gregory's well known formulation, "What is not assumed is not healed, but what is united to God is saved." ... It is succinctly stated in the classic formula of Irenaeus: God became what we are, so we could become what he is (i.e. Christlike).

MONDAY

Read top paragraph, "When we understand..." thoughts?

How would you answer this question?

Does the answer to this question give insight as to Christ's purpose and what he accomplished for us?

Are we bound by God's anger and wrath at sin? Is God angry and wrathful at sin? Yes, why? Because sin binds and destroys his children! So where is God's anger and wrath focused as the sinner or the sin?

Does God need to have his anger at sin propitiated, assuaged, or in any way mollified? No! God's anger at sin will NEVER change. God's anger at sin is like a doctor's anger and wrath at cancer, or Ebola, or HIV – Doctors never lose their anger and wrath at disease, and will always want to destroy disease. But doctors NEVER want to destroy their patients.

So, if we are not bound by God's anger and wrath at sin, did Christ need to do anything to free us from God's anger and wrath? No! Christ's entire mission was the express will and acting out of the Father's purpose to destroy sin and restore humanity back to unity and at-one-ment with God!

Read fourth paragraph, "What makes it so bad..." thoughts?

How do we experience freedom from temptations that originate within us?

Let's discuss practical and real actions we can take to experience victory!

- Can we free ourselves? Do we need outside help? Then what is the first step to freedom? Admitting we have a terminal condition, that we didn't choose, that we cannot fix ourselves. Then, we must find the outside solution
- Where do we find the solution to our condition? In Christ. What does this require of us? We must trust God/Jesus, but what does trust require? That we must actually know him, not merely know about him. Then what is required to know Jesus? We must actually spend time with him. How do we do that?
 - Bible study, thoughtful exploration of the meaning
 - Examine nature and science studying God's character revealed there, harmonizing it with scripture
 - Experience – what impact does love, altruism, someone genuinely putting you first, loving you, forgiving and accepting you despite knowing your shortcomings have upon you? What impact does it have when you love others like this? What impact does it have to forgive? What impact does it have to act selfishly, to hold grudges, to seek revenge? What impact does it have to leave others free? What impact does it have to try and control others?
 - Which methods heal and restore, which methods damage and alienate?
- Pray, talk to God daily as with a friend
- Care for the spirit temple, with healthful living and regular sleep and rest for mind. Not because such actions merit or earn you salvation points, but because such actions keep your brain healthier and reduce the pressure of insecurity, fear, doubt, anxiety, and allow you to think more clearly and stay calmer. And the mind can comprehend truth and a higher order of thinking when healthy, thus grow and expand.

- Exercise our choice to do what we know is healthy, right and reasonable because we know it to be so, regardless of how it feels or what others think
- Avoid filling our minds with material that is contrary to God's principles. By beholding we are changed, our neural networks rewire based on the materials we spend time thinking about and focusing upon.
- Guard our hearts, what we love and attach to, whether it be political parties, sports teams, property, money, stocks, movie stars, alma maters, family, friends, religious organizations, or missions.
- Build your belief systems upon evidence-based truths and don't believe non-sense.
- Think for yourselves and don't let others think for you, as Paul said, "every person must be fully persuaded in their own mind."
- After examining the evidence of God's trustworthiness as revealed by Christ. After examining the evidence of beneficence versus selfishness and the consequences to both. After examining your own experiences in light of Scripture, do you find God trustworthy, his methods perfect, supreme, and utterly desirable? Do you find yourself in need of a change? Then, humble yourself before God and invite him into your heart to enlighten, transform, renew, ennoble, guide, strengthen, direct.
- Then choose, to act upon the truth you understand and practice in your daily life the principles of God's government, ever expanding your thinking and understanding of God's character and government.
- This would include living to give, sharing what you know and have to bless and reach others to set their minds free.
- After choosing to do in governance of self that which you understand is right, is in harmony with God's design and purpose, then trust God with how things turn out.

- Finally, don't confuse feelings and temptations with being renewed. We will experience temptation until glorification, but temptation is not the same as love for sin and selfishness.

WENDESDAY

Read third paragraph, "In Isa. 24:21..." thoughts?

How were they subjugated in Christ? What does that mean?

That their weapons were effectively neutralized with the truth Christ revealed and the perfection of character he achieved? In other words once vaccinated we don't fear a disease? The truth about God as revealed in Christ, once solidified in the character inoculates the mind from deception, our trust in God becomes grounded and we become so settled into the truth both intellectually and spiritually that we cannot be moved.

Our hearts become changed that we love God and others more than self, we stop acting on fear based self first mode and trust God with our lives, our families, our futures, our finances, our very being and instead focus, moment by moment of living in harmony with God's methods. Like Job, in the face of trial, understanding only partly, we still trust God!

What do you think it means that evil men and angels will suffer punishment? How do you understand such an idea?

Are there ways to teach this that actually serve Satan's agenda, that obstruct God's healing plan? How?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Christ came into the world..." thoughts?

What are the works of the devil?

- Lies, primarily about God
- Distrust in God
- Selfishness (lawlessness)
- Fear of God
- Death
- Others?

How does Christ destroy these works?

- Reveals truth, which destroys lies and restores trust
- Loves perfectly with his human brain thus destroying selfishness in the humanity he assumed, thereby perfecting humanity and destroying death, which results from being out of harmony with God's design for life (lawlessness).

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, "Many people..." thoughts?

What do you understand this to mean? What do you understand naturalistic or naturalism to mean?

It means there is no God, therefore all things happen naturally without any supernatural input.

I have had discussions recently with people who don't believe in God. Those who take the naturalistic approach claim they are being scientific. They claim they are going on the scientific evidence, which means evidence which can be reproduced and verified by experiment.

Can we currently, by scientific experiment show anyone God?

Can scientists show us the big bang?

Neither can show us evidence of the origination points for the universe in a scientific reproducible way.

But what about the premises upon which each theory is built, which is more “scientific” evolution or creation?

Evolution: Something comes from nothing – can we demonstrate this in any experiment? No, not scientifically valid premise.

Creation: Something comes from something else – can we demonstrate this in an experiment? Yes, scientifically valid premise.

Evolution: Life comes from non-living matter. Can we demonstrate this in an experiment? Not scientifically valid premise.

Creation: Life comes from living matter. We can demonstrate this over and over again. Scientifically valid premise.

Evolution: Complexity comes from chaos without any intelligent input whatsoever. Can we demonstrate this in an experiment? No, so not a scientifically valid premise.

Creation: Complexity comes from chaos with intelligent input. We can demonstrate this over and over again. So, this is a scientifically valid premise.

Evolution: Random mutation of the genetic code, which happens through unintelligent random forces, combined with natural selection, results in advancement of a species over time. Can we demonstrate this with experiments? No, thus scientifically invalid premise.

Creation: Random mutation of the genetic code, which happens through unintelligent random forces, results in slow degradation of a species over time. Can we demonstrate this with experiments? Yes, thus a scientifically valid premise.

So, what we find is that the premises upon which evolutionary theory are based are not scientific, while the premises upon which creation is based are all testable, reproducible and thus scientific.

Growing in Christ Lesson 6 4Q 2012

Victory Over Evil Forces

Read Memory Verse

“Now, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us.” Romans 8:37

Thoughts?

What does this mean? What does it look like to be more than conquerors?

Does it mean that, if we eat right, rest on the right day, pray before our contest that we will win our Olympic event?

Does it mean that we will be voted into whatever office for which we run?

Does it mean we will get the job for which we apply?

Does it mean we will avoid bankruptcy, imprisonment, perhaps even torture or death?

Do people ever get discouraged because they read this text, claim this promise for such matters, but don't get the outcome they expect? Is this promise to guarantee us earthly victories – or conquering of self, fear, selfishness despite the difficulties we experience?

Were the following conquerors?

- Job
- Joseph
- Daniel and the 3 worthies
- Jesus
- The Apostles
- Stephen

What about these?

- Pilate
- The Caesars
- Caiaphas
- Annas

What determines whether one was a conqueror or not? Is it earthly success? What was it?

What about today – what does this text mean to us today? Do we sometimes, in the middle of health problems, financial problems, family problems, legal problems feel that we are failing?

Is success determined by the problems we face or how we face the problems?

Is success determined by the obstacles in life or by how we live while going through those obstacles?

Do we look beyond the immediate to the eternal?

Do we see obstacles as opportunity to reveal God's power in our lives? And what is that power? The power to love, the power to serve, the power to forgive, the power to lay down our lives for our enemies?

How do we obtain victory over evil forces? What methods do we use? Can we obtain victory over evil forces by the exercise of might and power?

What type of victory is genuine victory?

- Is it domination of our enemies?
- Is it occupation of our enemy's lands?
- Is it extermination of our enemies?

Or, is it winning our enemies to become our genuine friends?

I want to read you a passage from Scripture – it is powerful, it illuminates how we are to view and understand reality, it discloses God’s methods for victory, why Christ came to earth and how we can participate in that victory – listen carefully (2Cor 5:16-21)

No longer, then, do we judge anyone by human standards. Even if at one time we judged Christ according to human standards, we no longer do so. ¹⁷Anyone who is joined to Christ is a new being; the old is gone, the new has come. ¹⁸All this is done by God, who through Christ changed us from enemies into his friends and gave us the task of making others his friends also. ¹⁹Our message is that God was making the whole human race his friends through Christ. God did not keep an account of their sins, and he has given us the message which tells how he makes them his friends.

²⁰ Here we are, then, speaking for Christ, as though God himself were making his appeal through us. We plead on Christ’s behalf: let God change you from enemies into his friends! ²¹Christ was without sin, but for our sake God made him share our sin in order that in union with him we might share the righteousness of God.

Notice we don’t use human standards of determination – because man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart.

God does not want to simply change behavior, to have a group of conquered people, submissive beings, passive beings, mindless servants or slaves who cower in the corner of his almighty presence waiting for him to command them to action – NO! God wants to change the hearts of people so that we are actually his friends!

And notice Christ came to share in our terminal condition in order that we might partake of his perfection, in order that we might be healed!

How do we gain the victory? By force, might, political intrigue? Or by truth, love and freedom – listen to these two quotes:

I believe that unarmed truth and unconditional love will have the final word in reality. That is why right, temporarily defeated, is stronger than evil triumphant.
Martin Luther King Jr.

Do to us what you will and we will still love you...But be assured that we will wear you down by our capacity to suffer, and one day we will win our freedom. We will not only win freedom for ourselves; we will appeal to your heart and conscience that we will win you in the process; and our victory will be a double victory. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Read first paragraph, “In some parts of the world...” thoughts?

What is the Christian notion of salvation from sin taken to the world? Is it one that represents the truth about God, or do we make it harder for people to find healing of heart and peace of mind?

When Christ was on earth he counseled the religious leaders of his day that when they found a convert they made him twice the son of hell than they were. Are we in danger of doing the same? How?

I received the following on our ministry facebook page yesterday:

Tim I posted this: Whenever God has disciplined us, it has never been for punishment, but always for redemption. He does not seek to destroy, but to heal and save. Got a good deal of positive responses, but my pastor responded with: "This implies punishment and redemption are mutually exclusive concepts." I have been praying for a clear response. Don't want to mess up an opportunity. ONLY if it is easy for you, do you have a brief response you could suggest.

How would you respond?

My response:

You could respond by saying, "it depends on what one means by punishment" if one means "discipline" action taken to heal, restore, correct, teach, redirect then they are not mutually exclusive, but if you mean actions designed to exact vengeance, inflict pain and suffering then yes, they are mutually exclusive because such punitive action actual obstructs the avenues through which God heals and saves.

The teaching of a scrutinizing, punishing God is one of the greatest obstacles to salvation - here's why. Consider the example of someone struggling with paraphelia (sexual perversion) when under scrutiny they rarely if ever act out. Why? For the same reason people don't speed when a police officer is following - fear! But, when parapheliacs have scrutiny removed they almost all relapse into their destructive behavior - why? no heart change. Just like what happens when the police officer turns off and leaves one alone.

When people worship a God who incites a sense of "scrutiny" with fear of punishment, (angels recording misdeeds which will be dealt with in the judgment) it can result in behavioral modification - classic religious person. But no actual heart change, thus no conversion - i.e. no salvation despite the many rituals and religious meetings and sermons preached.

It is only when God is presented as a God of love that a person willingly opens their heart to him to come in and cleanse, restore, and recreate in righteousness, true conversion and salvation.

So, yes, a punishing God construct incites fear, shuts down trust, and closes the avenues for salvation. Whereas, a God of love, as Jesus revealed instills trust, opens hearts and results in genuine transformation and healing.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “The Christian would...” thoughts?

What are the ungodly “powers”? How did Christ’s death expose them? How do we experience the victory over those powers?

Some theorize that the battle between Christ and Satan had legal ramifications of who had the right to rule on earth, and Christ gained a legal victory over Satan and thus took away Satan’s legal claim to be ruler of earth Thoughts?

Some permutations of the Christus Victor theology has ideas that suggest Satan has some real power, either legal or physical, which required Christ to actually defeat Satan either legally, physically, or both, in order to reclaim earth, thoughts?

Where is the battle fought? In the hearts, minds and characters of intelligent beings. Then, what is Satan’s power that holds us? Is it a legal power? Do we need a legal victory in some cosmic court? Is it physical power that holds us; do we need someone to physically fight Satan and take the strong man captive and let us go?

Or, is it a battle waged inside of us, and we need delivery from lies and delivery from our own fear and selfishness, which finds Satan and his methods desirable and resists God and his methods?

- How difficult would it be for God to physically defeat one of his created beings in a combat of physical might and power?
- Is there any evidence that Satan could ever compete with God on the level of physical might and power?
- Is there any evidence Satan could compete with God in creative power?

So, God could defeat Satan physically as easily as a child throws a penny to the ground – but that is not the problem, thus models that suggest a physical conflict distract us from the real issue.

What about legal battles – did Satan make legal claims to planet earth and the souls of human beings? Yes –

The devil led him up to a high place and showed him in an instant all the kingdoms of the world. ⁶ And he said to him, “I will give you all their authority and splendor, for it has been given to me, and I can give it to anyone I want to. ⁷ So if you worship me, it will all be yours.” LK 4:5-7

But does he have legal claims?

Is there a difference between making a claim and actually having a claim? Was Satan telling the truth? Or, was he lying when he said the earth was his?

Here is one Christian commentators view, which I agree with:

When Satan declared to Christ, The kingdom and glory of the world are delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it, he stated what was true only in part, and he declared it to serve his own purpose of deception. Satan's dominion was that wrested from Adam, but Adam was the vicegerent of the Creator. His was not an independent rule. The earth is God's, and He has committed all things to His Son. Adam was to reign subject to Christ. When Adam betrayed his sovereignty into Satan's hands, Christ still remained the rightful King. Thus the Lord had said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever He will." Daniel 4:17. Satan can exercise his usurped authority only as God permits. {DA 129.4}

When the tempter offered to Christ the kingdom and glory of the world, he was proposing that Christ should yield up the real kingship of the world, and hold dominion subject to Satan. This was the same dominion upon which the hopes of the Jews were set. They desired the kingdom of this world. If Christ had consented to offer them such a kingdom, they would gladly have received Him. But the curse of sin, with all its woe, rested upon it. Christ declared to the tempter, "Get thee behind Me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." {DA 130.1}

If someone came into your house and stole your child, and then later made a legal claim that the child is theirs? Would that claim actually be true and make the child theirs?

Does Satan have a legal claim? No! It is a lie and a fraud and thus Christ did not have to defeat Satan legally.

So Christus Victor is not a legal victory it is not a victory over Satanic physical might and power – then what is it?

If someone stole your child and made a claim it was theirs, and raised the child to believe it, while the claim would be false, what would need to happen for the child to return to you? The truth would need to penetrate the lies and set them free. They would need to get to know you and bond with you.

Where does Satan actually have power, at least three places?

- power of lies, that we believe that hold us in bondage and

- the power of our carnal nature – we have bonded to sin or sinful things and like sin and don't want to let it go
- the power of the law of sin and death, which is the law of being outside of God's design for life.

What happens if someone holds your head under water? The law of respiration is being broken and that broken law holds a power over you which is non-compromising and will destroy you unless you are put back in harmony with the law.

Satan's power is the power to get us to deviate from God's law, by deception and temptation.

We have no enemy without that we need to fear. Our great conflict is with unconsecrated self. When we conquer self, we are more than conquerors through Him who has loved us. (Counsels on Stewardship 21)

What do you think of this statement? Where is the battle fought? Where does Christ work to achieve victory today?

In the hearts and minds of men!

The second paragraph states that those who accept Jesus will "know by experience the power of God in their lives."

What do you think this means? What is the power of God? What does it look like in the life? How will it impact those who experience it?

- Will it result in greater ability to discern truth from error?
- Will people become more thoughtful and intelligent or more mindless and robotic?
- Will it result in greater love for others and less selfishness?
- Will it result in willingness to help, give, put self in harms way for another?
- Will it result in greater peace in the face of adversity?

- Will it result in a larger perspective of reality?
- Will it result in a loving concept of God?

Read last paragraph, “As a consequence....” Thoughts?

Subjection means to be placed under the authority and control of another – was the universe not under the authority of Christ before the Cross? Is it under greater authority now than before?

At the Cross did Christ add to his inherent abilities? Or was his divine self already infinite in all abilities?

Then what happened at the Cross? Christ perfected humanity, he merged his divine nature permanently to human nature, and revealed the truth which exposes Satan and his methods in the minds of all who love truth, thus casting Satan out of the sympathy of all heavenly beings.

Truth and love defeated lies and selfishness at the Cross, where? In the hearts and minds of intelligent beings!

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Romans 8, lets read verses 26,27:

²⁶ In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We do not know what we ought to pray for, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groans that words cannot express. ²⁷ And he who searches our hearts knows the mind of the Spirit, because the Spirit intercedes for the saints in accordance with God’s will.

What does this mean? How do you understand it?

Would it be like a person in the hospital, sick, writhing in pain, knowing something is wrong but not knowing what, and a doctor intercedes for him because the doctor knows exactly what to do and makes the interventions necessary to bring healing?

What is the message of Romans 8? Is it that we have one member of the Godhead working to intercede with another member of the Godhead, or instead, the entire Godhead working together to intercede with the destructiveness of sin in order to heal and restore us?

Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, ² because through Christ Jesus the law of the Spirit of life set me free from the law of sin and death. Romans 8:1-2

³¹ What, then, shall we say in response to this? If God is for us, who can be against us? ³² He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all—how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? ³³ Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. ³⁴ Who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us. Romans 8:31-34

Notice we have Christ, the Holy Spirit and the Father all interceding in our behalf – interceding with what or whom, and to what purpose? How do you understand the meaning?

God intercedes with us, in our hearts and minds, with Satanic powers to protect, and with the course of sin by becoming sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God!

The lesson states the Spirit helps us in our trials – are trials different that abuse?

Jesus warned “And if anyone causes one of these little ones who believe in me to sin, it would be better for him to be thrown into the sea with a large millstone tied around his neck.” Mk 9:42

Abuse is not a trial from God to develop character- abuse is an attack from Satan to destroy people! But, despite abuse God's grace can still heal.

TUESDAY

Read James 4:7: "Submit yourselves, then, to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you."

What does this mean?

How does Satan wield power?

- Christ on the Temple tower, display of wealth – to achieve what?
- Job – Natural disasters – to achieve what?
- Job – loss of health – to achieve what?
- Jesus – attacked by the mob, mocked, beaten, crucified, to achieve what?

In all of Satan's attacks, what his goal? What is he trying to achieve? What is his target? Your power of choice! To get people to choose selfishness, to get people to distrust God! He works to confuse minds, discourage, dishearten, darken, and incite selfishness, hatred and vengeance.

What causes the devil to flee?

Surrendering to God, Jesus, does something that causes the devil to flee – what?

When we surrender to Jesus what happens in us? We are changed to be more like Christ – How? truth replaces lies in our minds and love destroys selfishness, thus we are fortified against his weapons.

But, what does it mean the devil will flee? Does it mean that if you are tight with the Lord you won't be bothered with troubles? That the devil will leave you, your family, your health, your finances, your house, your car, your friends alone?

What does it mean he will flee? Does it mean that a particular temptation, if not given in to will lose attraction, appeal, power in your heart and mind and thus the devil leaves that approach, looking for another? Or something else?

WEDNESDAY

Examples of Victory – when we think about Christian victory, what comes to mind? What do Christian victories look like?

- Victory over fear
- Victory of bigotry, bias, prejudice
- Victory over selfishness
- Victory over addiction
- Victory over destructive habits
- Victory over self
- Victory over lies
- Victory over resentment, bitterness and hurt
- One day victory over disease and ultimately death
- What about victory over enemies – how? By love, by turning them into friends.

Read second paragraph, “It is quite interesting...” thoughts?

What do you think it means power over demons and unclean spirits?

Are demons and unclean spirits different? Why use two words?

The Greek for demons is a word which refers to demons, devils, the Greek for spirits is “pneuma” from which we get pneumonia, and in Scripture is the same word used for Holy Spirit, Christ’s Spirit, spirit of men, wind, breath, and Christ’s last breath, giving up the ghost and ghost as an apparition on the lake.

Is it possible that the word demon refers to evil fallen angels, the sentient beings of angelic nature who operates in league with Satan and opposed to God, whereas evil spirit refers to the evil motive, attitude, longing, desire in the heart of the person?

Have you ever heard of someone delivered from an addiction that actually had the desire taken away miraculously? Could that have been removing the “evil spirit” which had been developed within the person?

How does Satan gain “possession” of a human being?

What is the actual avenue, gateway, access point to the human being? The human nervous system, ultimately the brain.

If that is so – then what methods might be necessary to get possession of the human being? Would it require affecting the human brain?

And can we describe what a human being looks like who is under demonic influence or control and contrast it with what a human being looks like under Holy Spirit control?

Holy Spirit Control: Fruits of the spirit, kind, patient, honest, loyal, loving, self-controlled, forgiving, gracious, merciful, understanding, seeking to uplift and heal others, lover of truth, respectful, loves enemies and seeks peace, humble, protects the reputation of others...

Demonic influence or control: Angry, resentful, bitter, hostile, selfish, addicted, loss of self-control, agitated, impulsive, impatient, given to fits of rage, cruel, unkind, unforgiving, exploits and injures others, bigoted, sexist, arrogant, prejudice, manipulative, deceitful, malicious, gossip...

And in general, could we categorize the types of influences upon the human brain as healthy, neutral or harmful?

And which type of influence would you surmise would move a human brain toward demonic control and thus for the person to look like the description above?

- Alcohol, illegal drugs, tobacco – why?
- Believing lies – why?
- Holding resentment – why?
- Acting selfishly – why?
- Exploiting others –why?
- Rock, rap, country music? why?
- Television and movies – why?
- Sexual promiscuity – why?
- Gossip – why?
- Lying – why?
- Cheating – why?
- Sleep deprivation – why?
- Failing to rest – why?
- Junk food diet – why?
- Sedentary lifestyle – why?
- Overwork – why?
- No Bible study, prayer, meditation – why?
- Social isolation –why?

What kinds of choices, actions fortify the brain against demonic influences?

- Surrender mind to the Holy Spirit, which requires what?
- We come to a knowledge of God such that we trust him, which requires what?
- We love the truth and develop minds that are willing to pursue the truth
- Avoiding toxins (alcohol, tobacco, drugs)
- Avoiding unhealthy food choices
- Get rest

- Learn to solve problems
- Forgive others
- Set healthy boundaries
- Don't lie, cheat, steal, gossip
- Be judicious with your entertainment
- Exercise
- Bible study, prayer, meditation, fellowship

Do we see there are sound reasons to following the principles God has given us – reasons that protect the brain, the access point to demonic influences. We can open avenues or close avenues based on the choices we make, thus we gain self-mastery as we come under the influence of the Holy Spirit, or we lost self-control as we come under the influences of demonic forces.

Are there some symptoms which can present in both groups, those influenced by demons and those filled with the Holy Spirit?

- Schizophrenia
- Epilepsy
- Blindness
- Deafness
- Anxiety/depression/bipolar etc.

Can unhealthy spirituality and demonic influences be a causative factor to these problems?

Can someone who is Spirit filled have these problems?

What does this mean? Don't use these as evidences of demonic influence.

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, "Acts 16:16-18 presents an..." thoughts?

Could this same thing happen today when various people perform miraculous healing in the name of Jesus but the Jesus they are pointing people to is not the Jesus of the Bible?

How can we tell?

How can one tell the work of the true Spirit from false spirits?

FRIDAY

Read Friday's lesson and discuss the paragraphs and questions.

What is the tempter's power? Lies, fear, selfishness?

What does it mean find refuge in the name of Jesus? Name refers to character, so we find refuge in the character of Jesus. When we surrender the heart to Jesus the Holy Spirit comes in and reproduces in us the character of Christ and the principles of Satan lose their appeal and thus the avenues of the heart become closed to Satanic attack.

SS Lesson 7 Arming for Victory

Sabbath's / Sunday's Lessons

“Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.” Eph 6:13.

What is the purpose of “armor”?

1. Protection.
2. Recognition of a soldier.
3. To instill fear in the opposition [armored vehicles / tanks / etc.]. See James 2:19.

¹⁰ Finally, be strong in the Lord and in the strength of his might. ¹¹ Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the schemes of the devil. ¹² For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the cosmic powers over this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places. ¹³ Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand firm. ¹⁴ Stand therefore, having fastened on the belt of truth, and having put on the breastplate of righteousness, ¹⁵ and, as shoes for your feet, having put on the readiness given by the gospel of peace. ¹⁶ In all circumstances take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming darts of the evil one; ¹⁷ and take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, ¹⁸ praying at all times in the Spirit, with all prayer and supplication. To that end keep alert with all perseverance, making supplication for all the saints, ¹⁹ and also for me, that words may be given to me in opening my mouth boldly to proclaim the mystery of the gospel, ²⁰ for which I am an ambassador in chains, that I may declare it boldly, as I ought to speak.

³ For though we walk in the flesh, we are not waging war according to the flesh. ⁴ For the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh but have divine power to destroy strongholds. ⁵ We destroy arguments and every lofty opinion raised against the knowledge of God, and take every thought captive to obey Christ. 2 Cor. 10:3-5 ESV.

- Belt [Girdle] of Truth. Belt serves as an anchor for other parts of the armor. Girdle ?? covering our nakedness.
- Breastplate of Righteousness – guarding our hearts. Changing our hearts from the inside out.
- Shoes for the Gospel of Peace [NOT the gospel of anger and punishment].
- Shield of Faith [to extinguish flaming darts]
- Helmet of Salvation [note Salvation is occurring in our minds [hearts]]
- Sword of the Spirit [Word of God] Note Heb. 2:12 and Rev. 19:15.

Does this struggle involve Christians only or is every human part of this warfare??

Jer. 31:33 ESV For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, declares the LORD: I will put my law within them, and I will write it on their hearts. And I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

Rom. 2:13-16. For it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous before God, but the doers of the law who will be justified. ¹⁴ For when Gentiles, who do not have the law, by nature do what the law requires, they are a law to themselves, even though they do not have the law. ¹⁵ They show that the work of the law is written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness, and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even excuse them ¹⁶ on that day when, according to my gospel, God judges the secrets of men by Christ Jesus.

Monday's lesson

The 4th paragraph states: "At the same time, though this righteousness includes living a righteous life, we must always remember the other aspect of righteousness, and that is the righteousness of Christ, which covers the believer and remains the believers only hope of salvation.

What would be better on the battlefield, a vest made of Kevlar, or to be made completely bullet-proof yourself?? What would be better to the HIV patient, to live life in quarantined in a plastic tent, or to be disease free??

Tuesday's Lesson

"Ephesians 6:15 may be translated in different ways: feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace, having feet fitted with the readiness of the gospel of peace, or having shod your feet with the equipment of the gospel of peace. The key is a Greek word that can mean preparedness, as in a prepared foundation or base. Hence, the gospel of peace as a prepared foundation is the peace a Christian experiences as a result of having been reconciled with God through the blood of Christ. This reconciliation gives the Christian a firm foothold from which to engage in the spiritual battle that we all face."

I think this is well said if understood correctly. We have been reconciled with God through the blood [life, death, resurrection] of Christ. The really good news is God is exactly as Jesus revealed him to be. How many people did Jesus condemn to hellfire when He was here on earth?? How much "wrath" was displayed during his ministry??

The lesson next mentions the "shield" which was typically made of wood, covered in leather, which would extinguish the fiery arrows that hit it. [Last paragraph / pink section] – "This kind of faith is primarily faith in action, a faith that, while including doctrinal truth, goes beyond mere belief. It is a faith that manifests itself in an active defense against the assaults of the enemy. Of course, we can't save ourselves, and we can't fight the devil ourselves; our battle is to daily choose the Lord and His ways over anything the devil will throw before us." See James 2:17.

Wednesday's Lesson

Isa. 59:14-17. "Justice is turned back, and righteousness stands far away for truth has stumbled in the public squares, and uprightness cannot enter. ¹⁵ Truth is lacking, and he who departs from evil makes himself a prey. The LORD saw it, and it displeased him that there was no justice. ¹⁶ He saw that there was no man, and wondered that there was no one to intercede; then his own arm brought him salvation, and his righteousness upheld him. ¹⁷ He put on righteousness as a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his head; he put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and wrapped himself in zeal as a cloak."

The lesson suggests that God is wearing the helmet of salvation. I see this more of a messianic prophecy where God provided a Man to bring salvation, and righteousness to the rest of humanity. Note the garments of "vengeance", and remember all of the references to removing our "dirty rags" and covering us with a robe of pure white.

As mentioned above, the helmet of salvation is covering the head. Isn't this where our healing [salvation] occurs??

It's very compelling that these metaphors were written, by inspired men, some 2000 years ago, long before "science" knew about the location and purpose of the pre-frontal cortex in the brain. Of course, our Creator knew this, and inspired these specific ideas. This is one of many reasons I believe that Scripture is the Word of God, and not some nice history book or fanciful literature.

Sword of the Spirit.

Heb. 4:12. ¹² For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and of spirit, of joints and of marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart.

Rev. 19:11-16. ¹¹ Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war. ¹² His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name written that no one knows but himself. ¹³ He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God. ¹⁴ And the armies of heaven, arrayed in fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses. ¹⁵ From his mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron. He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty. ¹⁶ On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords.

John 1:1-5. In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. ² He was in the beginning with God. ³ All things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. ⁴ In him was life, and the life was the light of men. ⁵ The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.

Thursday's Lesson

What does it mean to be "praying always"?? Are we to get on our knees, and turn toward Jerusalem 3X/day, like Daniel?? Are we to always close our eyes?? [I think some people actually drive like this –I see them every day]. Does a soldier, caught behind enemy lines, risk capture if he lets his guard down, even for a moment?? Are we not in enemy territory?? Are we not at war [see Friday's lesson]??

The lesson asks a great question: "Why is praying for ourselves more important for us spiritually than having others pray for us (however important that is)? What does personal prayer do for you that the prayers of others just can't?"

Growing in Christ Lesson 8 4Q 2012

The Church: In Service to Humanity

What do you think about the title?

What does church service to humanity look like?

- Preaching the gospel
- Health care
- Child care – adoption, orphanages, etc.
- Help to the homeless and poor
- Agricultural education and development
- Social development
- Education
- Prison ministry
- Food banks
- Toys for tots
- Addiction programs
- Others?

What do all of these specific interventions have in common? What methods do they practice? What motive? Is the church to reveal God? And what do such service reveal about God's methods?

If the church is to reveal God in our service:

- Should the church require the people in need to get an intercessor to plead with the church before we minister to them?
- Should the church require some payment before we minister?
- Should the church seek to punish those who refuse our ministry?
- Why would such actions be inappropriate?
- But, what if a church teaches God does such things?
 - Crusades

- Inquisition
- Witch trials
- Sunday laws
- Saturday laws
- Political activism – AKA modern day crusades

Can every one of the diversions be presented as a service to humanity? What makes the difference?

Method – I heard a Methodist educator give a sermon once, and he described how he and a group of students were going into the Soviet Union during the height of the Cold War. He reported how they had packed Bibles into their suitcases to distribute once in country. When they came to the boarder crossing they were to be inspected and a discussion arose – should they lie – should they tell the truth? What should they do?

He said, “We cannot win battles for God by using Satan’s methods.” This is brilliant!

So when they got to the boarder, no one lied, but what happened when they were inspecting the passports many of the men had grown beards during the travels and the guards required them to shave in order to match their pictures. The guards were so caught up in laughing at the men shaving they never asked nor inspected the luggage.

“We cannot win battles for God by using Satan’s methods.”

This is brilliant – but sadly too often forgotten, Satan is much more concerned about method that specific conduct. He doesn’t care upon which day you worship, as long as the method and mode of worship is forced, coerced, obligatory, like those who put Christ on the Cross. Once freedom is violated, either by an external human governmental force, or by ones belief in a punitive God, “obey or I will kill you” then right behavior results in destruction of character and Satan wins.

This is why many young people rebel and leave the church, they cannot separate the method from the specific action. Their God given judgment rebels against ungodly methods, and distortions of God's motive, but when such satanic methods are applied to one of God's truths, both often get tossed.

We must present the truth in harmony with God's character and methods.

Thus, as Christians when we consider service to humanity, we must think beyond mere specifics, but to methods and principles we utilized to implement our plans.

When we think about Godly service, using Godly methods, what is the greatest service we can provide to humanity, that stands above all others? Revealing the truth about God – why?

- Because the goal is eternal healing, not mere temporal healing. Temporal deliverance is to open the mind to an eternal deliverance. And only the truth about God can set the mind free, restore to trust and result in eternal life.

And what are ways to reveal this truth?

- Preaching and teaching
- Healing ministry – the right arm of the gospel
- Helping people in need
- Giving of self for the benefit of others
- And perhaps the most difficult - How we conduct ourselves when attacked and mistreated

In other words, acting out, living out, God's methods of love in our lives – this reveals God to people.

What are ways we are serving humanity in our class?
 What more can we do? Is there something you would like to do to add to our ministry to humanity?

Read first paragraph, “For many...” thoughts?

Satan works hard against organized religion? Really?

- Who led the people into apostasy in OT times? Was it the soldiers? The tax collectors? The doctors? The artisans? Or was it the priests?
- Who led the people to reject and crucify Christ? Was it the Romans? The prostitutes? The tax collectors? Or was it the leaders of the organized religion?
- Who led the nations to military conflict in the Dark Ages?
- Who led out in persecuting the Reformers?
- Who do we believe the Bible prophecies will organize the world to oppose the remnant? Organized religion.

So is Satan against organized religion? Not at all, he loves organized religion – what is he against? He is against the truth about God’s character of love, God’s methods of love.

So, when people rail against organized religion, could it be they are railing against how organized religion gets misdirected into misrepresenting God and abusing power?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “When we speak...” thoughts?

From what was the church called out of?

- Paganism?
- Agnosticism?
- Hinduism?
- Judaism?

Called into what?

Called out for what purpose?

The lesson states in the third paragraph that the Jews were called out to be God's special people – for what purpose were the Jews called out?

Were the Jews called out for exclusive salvation? In other words did one have to be a Jew in order to find salvation?

Then why were the Jews called out? Were they called for a specific mission? What was that mission? Were they given any blessings, tools, equipment to accomplish that mission? Such as what?

And what did Jesus say 2000 years ago to those who were seeking to convert people to this “God called out” people?

What would cause someone who was called out of paganism, into “God's chosen” to become twice the son of hell? Can we articulate and specify what would happen in the mind to cause that? Are there specific ideas or beliefs that if brought into the mind, darken the mind and make it harder to find God? What might some of those be, specifically as taught in Judaism?

- God is arbitrary – the Sabbath an arbitrary test of obedience
- God is a respecter of people, meaning he is a racist and prefers descendants of Abraham to others
- God is punitive, don't do what God wants and he punishes
- God requires appeasement – blood must be brought in order to get forgiveness
- God is unfair, he cheats at the temple by exchanging an unfair rates.
- God is a manipulator, there are loopholes to get what one wants, corban to avoid responsibility
- God is selfish, wants to get praise and attention for himself, priests make a show in order to be seen,

- God is sexist and demeans and abuses women requiring them to be subordinate and under the rulership of men

Do we struggle with any of these problems today? Could we convert an atheist to Christianity and actually make them more entrapped into Satan's lies about God?

Read last paragraph, "Ecclasia is the..." thoughts? Are they saying that the church is not a particular denomination but each denomination is part of the church?

Then what does it mean to be called out of Babylon because Babylon is fallen? From what are people being called out of? Is it not religious systems, including Christianity, that has lost the truth about God's character of love and his methods of love and replaced the truth with Satan's view that God imposes law and must punish the lawbreaker?

And what are they being called into? A movement that promotes the everlasting Good News that God is love and his methods are the methods of love, exactly as Jesus revealed them to be.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "The church as..." thoughts?

What was Christ's mission?

John 17:4-6:

"I have brought you glory on earth by completing the work you gave me to do. And now, Father, glorify me in your presence with the glory I had with you before the world began. I have revealed you to those whom you gave me out of the world. They were yours; you gave them to me and they have obeyed your word."

I found this article while trolling through old documents written in the 19th century. I found it profound, lets go through it and see what was being published and put forth in 1897 regarding Christ's mission to earth, and think if the church continues to present this message, or has something changed:

January 21, 1897 Christ's Mission to Earth.

It is important that we each study to know the reason of the life of Christ in humanity, and what it means to us,--why the Son of God left the courts of heaven,--why he stepped down from his position as Commander of the heavenly angels, who came and went at his bidding,--why he clothed his divinity with humanity, and in lowliness and humility came to the world as our Redeemer. {YI, January 21, 1897 par. 1} [Do we know why? Does the reason make a difference? What reasons have you heard?]

It was the marvel of the heavenly hosts that Christ should come to earth and do as he did,--that his life here should be one of poverty, in such incomparable contrast with his glory in the heavenly courts. He might have come attended by the angelic throng; for the heavenly angels would have regarded themselves as honored in being his body-guard, in serving and worshiping him. But we read that "though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich." Christ's entire life was one of self-denial. He received of his Father that he might impart to others. {YI, January 21, 1897 par. 2} [what is being described? Is a certain "law" being described? And what did Christ reveal about his character? And who did he reveal? Why was it necessary to reveal this? Was this part of the reason he came?]

Before the universe of heaven, Christ condescended to take upon him the form of humanity, and stand among the lowly ones of earth, that he might reach them where they were, and by precept and example teach them, that though among the poor and oppressed, they might be pure, and true, and noble. [why did he come as a human? To reach us because we couldn't comprehend him and to teach us what?] He came to reveal to the world that the life and character need not become contaminated amid poverty and lowliness. The lily that rests upon the bosom of the lake may be surrounded with weeds and unsightly debris, yet, unsullied, it opens its fragrant white blossom to the sunlight. It strikes its channeled stem down through the mass of rubbish to the pure sands beneath. Refusing everything that would defile, it gathers to itself only those properties that will develop into the spotless, fragrant flower... {YI, January 21, 1897 par. 3} [Do we believe this is true for us? Can we choose to act as Christ acted? Can we choose to fill the mind with truth, wholesome things and refuse the defiling stuff?]

We would ask you, dear young men and women, Will you accept this Jesus as your personal Saviour? Will you consider the life of Christ? His was a life of perfect obedience. He came to live the holy law of God in human nature. {YI, January 21, 1897 par. 5} [what did Christ reveal in his life about God's holy law? Is the obedience of Christ different than that of the Pharisees who prided themselves on obedience to the law? Were they proclaiming obedience to two different laws? What then was the difference?]

The subject of obedience involves eternal interests. Through his misrepresentation of God, Satan had made the law appear as an arbitrary exaction, enforced by God to keep his creatures from a higher education in the knowledge of good and evil. [what did Satan do? He misrepresented God and did what to the law? Made it appear imposed, arbitrary, which means what? It was no longer understood as the law upon which life was built. And God is presented as an enforcer of law. Do we find this depiction of God going on in Christianity today?] It was this knowledge of evil that the Lord did not wish our first parents to obtain. He wanted them to be wise through understanding only that which it was for their happiness to know. But by the disobedience of Adam, the flood-gates of woe were opened upon our world. It was then that Christ offered himself as man's substitute and surety, and consented to come to earth, and meet the tempter, who, through falsifying the character and purposes of God, had caused the ruin of our first parents. {YI, January 21, 1897 par. 6} [How did Satan ruin our first parents? Then would Christ's mission need to deal with those falsifications? And who did Christ come to meet on the field of battle? He came to defeat Satan, Christ did not come to confront his Father and pay his Father with a sacrifice.]

Adam received the commandments of God, and disobeyed them. In this he became disloyal to God; he dishonored him, and was classed as one with the first apostate. In yielding to temptation, he forfeited the light and favor of God. [what does forfeited mean? In tying weights on his legs and jumping in the ocean he forfeited the light of the sun and the favor of oxygen] But though Adam broke away from its claim, the law of God did not lose one jot or tittle of its force. The Lord did not change one precept of his law, in order to meet man in his fallen condition. [Why?] ... But in order to meet its claims, the Lord made an offering for sin, in the person of Jesus Christ, thus demonstrating to the world the immutability of his law. While he expressed his love for men, in giving his Son to die for them, he declared that its divine statutes cannot be changed or abolished. {YI, January 21, 1897 par. 7}

What does this mean? Meet the claims of the law? What did Christ need to do to meet the claims of the law and why was it necessary?

From the same author:

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

Thoughts? What is being described? Christ's mission is just as Scripture teaches to:

- Reveal the truth about the Father John 17:4-6
- Destroy him who holds the power of death that is the devil Heb 2:14
- Destroy death and bring life and immortality to light. 2Tim 1:9,10
- Destroy the devil's work 1Jn 3:8, and the devil's work is to destroy the image of God in man and replace it with the image of Satan (set himself up in God's temple proclaiming himself to be God)

Christ came to reveal the truth to win us to trust, reveal Satan as liar and fraud, and to fix mankind, to restore the human species back into what God created mankind in Adam to be.

Why is the truth of God's character and the work of Christ so poorly understood? I found this in my trolling through old material, and it humbled me. And I pray not to allow myself to become like this, but realize I am tempted to be just like this:

Christ had many truths to give to His disciples, of which He could not speak, because they did not advance with the light that was flashed upon the Levitical laws and the sacrificial offerings. They did not embrace the light, advance with the light, and follow on to still greater brightness as Providence should lead the way. {16MR 123.1}

And for the same reason Christ's disciples of 1897 do not comprehend important matters of truth. So dull has been the comprehension of even those who teach the truth to others that many things cannot be opened to them until they reach heaven. It ought not to be so. But as men's minds become narrow, they think they know it all, and set one stake after another in points of truths of which they have only a glimpse. They close their minds as though there were no more for them to learn, and should the Lord attempt to lead them on, they would not take up with the increased light. They cling to the spot where they think they see a glimmer of light, when it is only a link in the living chain of truths and promises to be studied. They know very little of what it means to follow in the footsteps of Christ. {16MR 123.2}

The harmonious relation of truth, like links in a chain, will, just as fast as the mind is quickened by the Spirit of God to comprehend light and in humbleness of mind appropriate it, be dispensed to others, and give the glory back to God. The development of truth will be the reward to the humble-hearted seeker, who will fear God and walk with Him. The truth which the mind grasps as truth is capable of constant expansion and new developments. While beholding it, the truth is seen in all its bearings in the life and character, and becomes more clear and certain and beautiful. As the mind grasps it in its preciousness, it becomes elevated, ennobled, sanctified. -124- {16MR 123.3}

Thoughts?

Last paragraph in Tuesday's lesson tells us that evangelism is the mission of the church – what do you understand evangelism to be?

Is it first and foremost bringing people the truth about God and Christ, to convert them to Christ? Or is it about converting people to denominations? Is there a difference or is it the same thing?

MONDAY

The lesson talks about unity in the church, that we should be one as Jesus and the Father are one, that in Christ there is neither slave or free, Jew or Gentile, but all made one in Christ.

What does this mean on a practical level? What does it look like in the world today?

Read bottom pink section – “Some people...” thoughts?

What do you think about this analogy? Does the church ever turn on its own?

In the body when autoimmune reactions happen is there something wrong with the body or the immune system or could it be either?

Often, something happens that legitimately triggers an immune response, but then once the offending agent is dealt with by the immune system cannot calm itself down and begins attacking the body.

In the church, could it be that a legitimate issue needed to be addressed, but the process of addressing a particular problem changes the focus away from Christ and once our eyes are off Christ we start seeing more and more human foibles, problems, defects and go ever deeper into the “clean up the other people” mode of action?

What about ecumenicalism? If we are to be united, why do many oppose ecumenicalism?

WEDNESDAY

Read third paragraph, “There is no question...” thoughts?

Are there points that, if held in common, enhance and promote unity? What might those be?

- God’s character of love
- The law of love as the design template of life, the principle of giving
- Sin as a deviation of the design for life that inherently causes pain, suffering and death
- That love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom
- That all people are infected with the same terminal condition
- That all people are of equal value and moral worth
- Others?

Are there beliefs that have as a consequence the incitation of division?

- God is authoritarian and uses power to rule over
- God’s law is arbitrary
- God requires appeasement or payment
- God plays favorites, likes Jews better than Gentiles and men better than women, and whites better than blacks

What did Jesus reveal about God when he was here?

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, “We need to remember...” thoughts?

What does it mean to respect church authority? Where do we draw the line between bowing to church authority and refusing to do so?

Did church authorities come to Christ and attempt to direct his ministry? Did he surrender to church authority?

Okay, what about the followers since?

Should Martin Luther have surrendered to church authority when he was ordered to recant? Why or why not?

What about other reformers?

What if today a church board voted for a member to stop teaching a Bible Study Class – what action should a person take?

Can a church exercise authority in violation of the truth? So if a church board votes to take action against advancing truth, should a member follow that directive?

Where does genuine authority come from?

If someone in office speaks a lie are they speaking with authority? Which was more authoritative, Bill Clinton's denial of a relationship, or Monica's dress?

FRIDAY

Growing in Christ Lesson 9 3Q 2012

The Church: Rites and Rituals

Thoughts about the title?

Key thought: “God has instituted ordinances that, properly understood, help to reinforce our faith.”

What is the “key” to the key thought? “properly understood”

What happens if the ordinances, rituals, and rites, instituted by God are not properly understood?

Any examples of problems with such rituals not being properly understood?

Isaiah 1:10-20

- ¹⁰ Hear the word of the LORD,
you rulers of Sodom;
listen to the law of our God,
you people of Gomorrah!
- ¹¹ “The multitude of your sacrifices—
what are they to me?” says the LORD.
“I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals;
I have no pleasure
in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats.
- ¹² When you come to appear before me,
who has asked this of you,
this trampling of my courts?
- ¹³ Stop bringing meaningless offerings!
Your incense is detestable to me.
New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations—
I cannot bear your evil assemblies.
- ¹⁴ Your New Moon festivals and your appointed feasts
my soul hates.
They have become a burden to me;

I am weary of bearing them.
 15 When you spread out your hands in prayer,
 I will hide my eyes from you;
 even if you offer many prayers,
 I will not listen.
 Your hands are full of blood;
 16 wash and make yourselves clean.
 Take your evil deeds
 out of my sight!
 Stop doing wrong,
 17 learn to do right!
 Seek justice,
 encourage the oppressed.
 Defend the cause of the fatherless, plead the case of the widow.
 18 “Come now, let us reason together,” says the LORD.
 “Though your sins are like scarlet,
 they shall be as white as snow;
 though they are red as crimson,
 they shall be like wool.
 19 If you are willing and obedient,
 you will eat the best from the land;
 20 but if you resist and rebel,
 you will be devoured by the sword.”
 For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

What do you hear in this passage? What does it mean? What are the take home points?

- Were the rituals they were doing made up on their own, or were instituted by God?
- Was God happy with them performing the rituals, he instructed them to carry out?
- Why not?
- What does God NOT have pleasure in?
 - The blood of bulls and lambs and goats
- What does God have pleasure in?

- Loving others, helping people
- What is it in the beginning of this section God calls them to pay attention to?
 - His law – which is what?
- What then does he call them to act like later in the section?
 - To do justice – which is what?
 - Why is this justice and not the infliction of punishment?
 - Because God’s justice is restorative, not punitive!
 - If you haven’t read the book Healing the Gospel by Derek Flood, I highly recommend it. It does such a powerful job of making it clear the Bible teaches restorative justice, not punitive justice.
- What does reasoning have to do with pleasing God?
- Did you notice that reasoning and cleansing are linked? Why?
- Why will they be blessed if they obey, but destroyed by the sword if they don’t? Is God threatening them?
 - If a doctor said, “if you stop smoking, drinking, using IV drugs, and start eating healthy, exercising, and loving God and others you will get healthier, feel better, have less disease, but if you don’t you will die miserably” – would the doctor be threatening?

When we think of Rituals and Rites, what are some of the legitimate purposes of these ordinances?

- Teaching – education
- Group unity and cohesion
- Increase trust as adherents to rituals communicate their intentions and commitments to the group and their ideals
- Change of mindset, empowerment, mental health improvement, increased confidence, commitment
 - Does being knighted have an impact on one’s mindset?

- Does receiving a military commission and taking one's oath of office have an impact?
- How much more if that ritual is also accompanied by a belief of divine empowerment?
- A review of 850 studies conducted during the 20th century on religious ritual and mental health found:
 - “The majority of well-conducted studies found that higher levels of religious involvement are positively associated with indicators of psychological well-being (life satisfaction, happiness, positive affect, and higher morale) and with less depression, suicidal thoughts and behavior, drug/alcohol use/abuse. Usually the positive impact of religious involvement on mental health is more robust among people under stressful circumstances (the elderly, and those with disability and medical illness).” (Rev. Bras. Psiquiatr. vol.28 no.3 São Paulo Sept. 2006 Epub Aug 10, 2006)
- What about improving moral order in society? Do religious rituals improve social morality?
 - An article, God's, Rituals and the Moral Order, Journal for the Scientific Study of Religion Volume 40, Issue 4, pages 619–636, December 2001, found that in a study of 427 societies, moral order was only improved when rituals were carried out by those who also held a belief in “powerful, active, conscious, morally-concerned gods.”
 - Which means what? The rituals were meaningless in and of themselves to improve morality, it was the connection to the intelligent, moral higher power that had the impact on societal improvement.

Have you been through any rituals that impacted you?

- Graduation? Does it make a difference to graduate, to get that diploma or not get that diploma? Does it change, in any way, your mindset, your sense of self? How is it different to get the education, but be one music class short of the degree, and to actually get the diploma?

- What about religious rituals? Have you experienced any of those that impacted your life?

Does one have to participate in a ritual in order to experience salvation?

Then what is the purpose of the ritual?

SUNDAY

Read first two paragraphs, “During the early...” thoughts?

What do you understand the difference between the common understanding of sacrament versus ordinance to be?

A sacrament, is some type of mystical, magical, process in which divine power gets infused into a person because of the sacrament.

Does it sound kind of like, hocus pocus?

According to the Oxford English Dictionary – the term Hocus Pocus is a term used by jugglers and magicians to make things appear and disappear. And, it is thought to have its origins in the Latin, hoc est corpus, which was said by the priest as he places the communion wafer upon the lips, transubstantiating it from bread to the literal flesh of Christ – as they taught it.

From the Oxford English Dictionary:

“1655 Ady Candle in the Dark 29, I will speak of one man... that went about in King James his time.. who called himself, The Kings Majesties most excellent Hocus Pocus, and so was called, because that at the playing of ever Trick, he used to say, Hocus pocus, talontes, vade celeriter jubeo, a dark composure of words to blinde the eyes of beholders to make his Trick pass the more currently without discovery. 1694 Tilloston sermon xxvi (1742) II. 237 In all probability those common juggling words of hocus pocus are nothing else but a corruption of hoc est corpus, by the way of ridiculous imitation of the priests of the Church of Rome in their trick of Transubstantiation.” (Oxford English Dictionary, second edition, 1989 Vol. VII, p 281).

Thoughts?

Is there a difference between a symbol and a sacrament?

- Do the symbols have the ability to infuse “grace”?
- Does the symbols possess some power, or ability to change the life?
- What if a person believes in the symbol, the ritual, can the symbols, if believed in, actual result in a transformation in function in a person, including biological changes in neurochemistry?

Have you heard of a placebo and/or nocebo effect?

What we believe has power to change us, neurologically and psychologically.

In an article published in 2002 in the Am Journal of Public Health, voodoo death is documented throughout various cultures in the world (Cannon WB. “Voodoo” death. Am Anthropologist. 1942: 44 (new series):169–118., Am J Public Health. 2002 October; 92(10): 1593–1596.)

- In Brown’s New Zealand and Its Aborigines there is an account of a Maori woman who, having eaten some fruit, was told that it had been taken from a tabooed place; she exclaimed that the sanctity of the chief had been profaned and that his spirit would kill her. This incident occurred in the afternoon; the next day about 12 o’clock she was dead.

- At a Mission at Mona Mona in North Queensland were many native converts, but on the outskirts of the Mission was a group of non-converts including one Nebo, a famous witch doctor. The chief helper of the missionary was Rob, a native who had been converted. When Dr. Lambert arrived at the Mission he learned that Rob was in distress and that the missionary wanted him examined. Dr. Lambert made the examination, and found no fever, no complaint of pain, no symptoms or signs of disease. He was impressed, however, by the obvious indications that Rob was seriously ill and extremely weak. From the missionary he learned that Rob had had a bone pointed at him by Nebo and was convinced that in consequence he must die. Thereupon Dr. Lambert and the missionary went for Nebo, threatened him sharply that his supply of food would be shut off if anything happened to Rob and that he and his people would be driven away from the Mission. At once Nebo agreed to go with them to see Rob. He leaned over Rob's bed and told the sick man that it was all a mistake, a mere joke—indeed, that he had not pointed a bone at him at all. The relief, Dr. Lambert testifies, was almost instantaneous; that evening Rob was back at work, quite happy again, and in full possession of his physical strength. . . .
- In an article which included a section on death from malignant psychic influences, Dr. Cleland mentions a fine, robust tribesman in central Australia who was injured in the fleshy part of the thigh by a spear that had been enchanted. The man slowly pined away and died, without any surgical complication which could be detected. Dr. Cleland cites a number of physicians who have referred to the fatal effects of bone pointing and other terrifying acts. In his letter to me he wrote, "Poisoning is, I think, entirely ruled out in such cases among our Australian natives. There are very few poisonous plants available and I doubt whether it has ever entered the mind of the central Australian natives that such might be used on human beings." . . .

- [E]vidence of the possibility of a fatal outcome from profound emotional strain was reported by Mira in recounting his experiences as a psychiatrist in the Spanish War of 1936–39. In patients who suffered from what he called “malignant anxiety,” he observed signs of anguish and perplexity, accompanied by a permanently rapid pulse (more than 120 beats per minute) and a very rapid respiration (about three times the normal resting rate). These conditions indicated a perturbed state deeply involving the sympathico-adrenal complex. As predisposing conditions Mira mentioned “a previous lability of the sympathetic system” and “a severe mental shock experienced in conditions of physical exhaustion due to lack of food, fatigue, sleeplessness, etc.” The lack of food appears to have attended lack of water, for the urine was concentrated and extremely acid. Towards the end the anguish still remained, but inactivity changed to restlessness. No focal symptoms were observed. In fatal cases death occurred in three or four days. Postmortem examination revealed brain hemorrhages in some cases, but, excepting an increased pressure, the cerebro-spinal fluid showed a normal state. The combination of lack of food and water, anxiety, very rapid pulse and respiration, associated with a shocking experience having persistent effects, would fit well with fatal conditions reported from primitive tribes.

Dr. Marin Samuels, world renowned Neurologist from Harvard University, wrote an article published in the journal Circulation entitled Contemporary Reviews in Cardiovascular Medicine: The Brain-Heart Connection. (Circulation. 2007; 116: 77-84).

In the article he wrote:

- ...evidence has accumulated to support [Dr. Cooper’s] concept that “voodoo” death is, in fact, a real phenomenon but, far from being limited to ancient peoples, may be a basic biological principle that provides an important clue to understanding the phenomenon of sudden death in modern society as well as providing a window into the world of neurovisceral disease (also known as psychosomatic illness).

George Engel collected 160 accounts from the lay press of sudden death that were attributed to disruptive life events. He found that such events could be divided into 8 categories: (1) the impact of the collapse or death of a close person; (2) during acute grief; (3) on threat of loss of a close person; (4) during mourning or on an anniversary; (5) on loss of status or self-esteem; (6) personal danger or threat of injury; (7) after danger is over; (8) reunion, triumph, or happy ending. Common to all is that they involve events impossible for the victim to ignore and to which the response is overwhelming excitement, giving up, or both.

Any examples of this in Scripture? What about Ananias and Sapphira? Could they have died of a similar cause?

What does scripture say about Satan's power?

- Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil – Heb 2:14

What is Satan's power? He is the Father of lies, and to the degree he can get us to believe lies, falsehood, he has power over us.

Does this have any implication for religion and religious beliefs?

Does it have any impact on rituals and rites? Do rituals, sacraments and rites, have power because they impact the beliefs of the person? - Yes, this is exactly how they exert their power.

And what did Jesus said, would set us free?

WEDNESDAY

The Lord’s Supper – Communion

What festival did the Communion replace? Who is the one who made this change? Jesus himself.

What did the Passover symbolize? What was the meaning of putting the blood on the doorpost of the home?

- We have made the proper ritual sacrifice, so God won’t come in here and destroy? The blood will be seen by God and God will pass over us and leave us alone?
- Or, we have sacrificed an offering to show our love and respect, and placed the blood on the door symbolizing that we have placed God’s character on our home, our lives, our being and we invite you in to dwell with us and protect us from all that would destroy? Thus the destroyer passes by because we are at-one with God?

Are we destroyed by uniting with God and inviting him into our lives, or when we go our own way and separate from him?

So, what does the Communion service symbolize? The internalization of Christ into the heart, affections, and character, becoming one with him in method, purpose and motive.

I was emailed a link in which a Catholic priest and a protestant theologian discussed the Eucharist and transubstantiation:

<http://amazingdiscoveries.org/12.10.24-debate-about-the-mass-and-transubstantiation>

They went back and forth over things like whether a priest could stand if for Christ, over sacrificing Christ again and again, over it being a violation of the law to eat blood etc.

But the real issue was uncovered when The Catholic priest said:

“There are two elements to any sacrifice the immolation and the offering. The immolation is a bloody death. The lamb is slain, what is precious about that is the life in the blood of the lamb is precious and that pays back God. That’s how the Old Testament rituals used to work. The immolation happened once but the offering is something Christ does for all eternity. He is right now in the presence of the Father, in the holy of holies, in the eternal presence, offering himself to the Father for the forgiveness of our sins.... Christ isn’t killed again and again and again, he is offered [in the Eucharist] in the same eternal presence as Christ offers himself.”

The priest said it was in this offering of his sacrifice over and over again that the sins were paid for. So each time we sin, we must take mass in order to have the sacrifice of Christ pay for that sin.

How do you think the protestant theologian responded? The protestant theologian responded, with the argument that Christ is not in heaven offering his sacrifice over and over, but offering his merits to the Father over and over. So to the protestant theologian, each time we sin we don’t need to go to a priest and take mass to have Christ’s sacrifice presented to the Father to pay for our sins. Our sins were paid for, past, present and future, all at the Cross. No, when we sin we go to Christ, who presents his merits to the Father, reminding the Father that he has already paid for our sins so the Father can forgive us and not punish us.

Thoughts? Don’t you see Satan laughing? Here we have Catholics and Protestants arguing, for centuries, whether Jesus is offering his sacrifice to God over and over again to pay for our sins, or whether he is offering his merits to remind the Father that our sins are paid for.

What is the problem?

Daniel 7, the little horn power would seek to change God's law – how? By getting us to replace the truth that God's law is the law of love, the design protocol upon which life was built, with the idea that God's law is like a Roman emperor, put upon us to test our obedience.

Catholic and Protestant alike have accepted this change in God's law and both teach that Christ needed to die to pay for our sin, and both teach that Christ works to present something to the Father so the Father won't punish us.

But, the truth is God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. That God so loved the world he sent his son. That the fullness of the Godhead dwelt in Christ bodily, so that even though he knew no sin, he became sin for us, so that we might become the righteousness of God.

When we accept the lie that God's law is imposed, then we create false doctrines that breaking the law requires the lawgiver to punish and Christ died to offer himself to the Father to pay the penalty for our sin.

When we accept the truth that God's law is the principle of love upon which life was built, we realize that breaking the law is incompatible with life and Christ died to destroy the infecting principle of selfishness and actually restore humankind back into harmony with God's design for life.

We have a message that is to lighten the world, to free minds from this insidious distortion of God and his character of love and people need this message, including many well meaning, sincere, good-hearted church leaders.

TUESDAY

The ordinance of humility, or foot washing – read second paragraph, “Our world is so...” thoughts?

Do you think that our world gets it backward? Is getting it backward restricted to the world, or has such backward thinking entered the church? Any examples of getting it 180 degrees backward?

- Hell – the place of eternal burning and consuming fire is the place you don’t want to be, but Scripture teaches that place is God’s presence “our God is a consuming fire” and the righteous will spend eternity there (Isa 33:14,15)
- Christ as mediator is pleading his blood to the Father in our behalf – but scripture teaches that God was in the Son reconciling the world to himself. That Christ is God’s ambassador, envoy, and mediator to his intelligent beings to bring created beings into an ever-closer relationship with God. Christ mediates God’s grace to man, not to God.
- Justice – God is required by justice to punish sinners – but the Bible teaches that God’s justice is restorative, healing the damage, turning enemies into friends, not punishing the fallen.
- Judgment – that “fear God and give glory to him for the hour of his judgment has come.” Is taught to mean that God is sitting in judgment and determining who will be saved and who will be lost. When the Bible actually teaches, God has been falsely accused, and at the end of time, before Christ returns, God calls people to make a right judgment about him and trust him. Thus Paul says, in Romans 3:4, “You must be shown to be right when you speak; you must win your case when you are being tried.”

Have we struggled with a backward view? What underlies this? Misunderstanding God and his character of love, his law of love, his methods of love. When we project earthly, worldly, human governmental concepts onto God we get it backward.

So, what about the ordinance of humility. In God's kingdom the first will be last, and the least will be the greatest – why?

What is God's law? The law of love, the principle of giving and the more you give the more you receive. This is how it operates, give little receive little, give much receive much.

Thus those who are the greatest in serving others are the greatest in the kingdom of God.

MONDAY

Baptism – what do you understand baptism to be and what is its significance?

Read second paragraph, “Baptism symbolizes a...” thoughts?

What did circumcision represent in the Old Testament? What kind of circumcision are we to have today?

No, a man is a Jew if he is one inwardly; and circumcision is circumcision of the heart, by the Spirit, not by the written code. Rom 2:29

What does this text mean? Can a ritual act as an infant result in healing of the character? No, and if the ritual act was required, what about women? Were only men saved?

What was the purpose of this act? Why not something different? What was the benefit?

- Walking around in the community can you tell who is circumcised and who is not? Why not? Because the “change” is in a place that is not viewable publicly.
- Walking around in the community can you tell who is circumcised in heart, i.e. converted and who is not? Why not?
- Circumcision, would it be painful?
- Is conversion painful? Why?
- Did people circumcise themselves?
- Do we cut the ties from our own hearts?
- Circumcision typically happened as infants
- We are to have our hearts cut away from the ties to the world when we are babes in Christ, reborn into his kingdom
- Were some circumcised as adults? Was it harder?
- Are there some who are in the church for years before their hearts are circumcised, is it often harder on them?
- And symbolically, God created us as sexual beings, to reveal things about his nature. As two beings come together in love, they join together and create beings in their image. Circumcision could represent removing any barrier to that union.
- Likewise circumcision of the heart is to remove any barrier to our intimacy and union with God.
- Was circumcision, perhaps, instituted by God, because he knew the nature of the temptation the Jews would face in the fertility cults around?

Did the physical act of circumcision, do anything to the heart? Or was the heart to change and be committed to God first and then the act of circumcision was performed?

What about baptism? What is the baptism that actually heals? It is the immersing of the mind, heart, self into oneness with God via the Holy Spirit. Being washed and renewed by the Holy Spirit, which is then followed by baptism in water.

Read the third paragraph, “Many years...” thoughts?

Any thoughts on infant baptism?

One of the arguments for those who practice infant baptism is that, as the lesson states, baptism replaced OT circumcision, and circumcision was done on infants, therefore baptism is done on infants of believers, and on new converts at any age.

Thoughts?

From the Catholic Catechism:

"Born with a fallen human nature and tainted by original sin, children also have need of the new birth in Baptism to be freed from the power of darkness and brought into the realm of the freedom of the children of God, to which all men are called . . . The Church and the parents would deny a child the priceless grace of becoming a child of God were they not to confer Baptism shortly after birth" (p 1250).

What truths are presented in this theology, and what problems are presented?

- Truth - That since Adam all humanity is fallen, born with a condition they didn't choose, but which operates outside God's design and if not remedied will result in death
- Problem – a ritual, done by the church, with ceremonial water, has some transforming, healing, or saving power. That the problem is something other than what happens in the mind, heart, character.
- Problem – The idea that a ritual done by the church to a child who is unaware results in “rebirth”.
- Problem – if this ritual isn't performed and a child dies their salvation is in jeopardy.
- What does this say about God?

THURSDAY

Anticipating the second advent – are we? Are we really anticipating it?

This past week after the election I had several patients quite distraught over the outcome, and worrying about the future of our nation. Should we worry about the future of our nation? Why or why not?

What did Jesus say would happen before his return?

Jesus answered: “Watch out that no one deceives you. ⁵ For many will come in my name, claiming, ‘I am the Christ,’ and will deceive many. ⁶ You will hear of wars and rumors of wars, but see to it that you are not alarmed. Such things must happen, but the end is still to come. ⁷ Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places. ⁸ All these are the beginning of birth pains. MT 24:4-8

When a woman goes into labor, does she turn to her husband and say, “Can’t we put this off for 9 more months?”

How many today say they want to put off the coming of the Lord?

Does a woman going into labor expect it to be pleasant? Then why does she want to do it? What comes at the end of labor? Do we expect delivery? Do we expect celebration and joy?

Is there any thing we can do to hasten the day of his coming?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 2-4

This Thursday was Thanksgiving in the United States, a holiday that traces its origins back to the Pilgrims in 1621 in Plymouth Massachusetts.

It is a time where the nation pauses to give thanks for all that God has done for us, and I would like to give thanks,

- For Jesus Christ, who brought us the truth and overcame what we never could.
- For the Holy Spirit who takes all Christ achieves and works constantly to reproduce Christ in us.
- For the Father and his methods of truth, love and freedom.
- For God's angels who minister to us and protect us
- For the freedom and opportunities we have in this country
- I wanted to give thanks to God for you – As Paul wrote to those in Thessalonica, telling them how he always thanked God for them.
- I thank God for you. For your love of this message, for your generosity in supporting the spread of this message, for your attendance, for your volunteer work in set up, broadcast, sharing materials, for sharing with others, for your love and support.
- I want to thank God for Dr. Jim Marcum and his ministry, and all the work he has done and is doing to tell the truth about God.
- I am thankful for all the avenues God is opening to share this message, the speaking opportunities, the broadcast opportunities, the publishing opportunities, and the friends we are making in various organizations to spread this message.

Thank You –

And are there any who would like to express their thanks to God for something this a.m.?

Growing in Christ Lesson 10, 4Q 2012

The Law and the Gospel

What do you think about when you hear this title?

Memory Text: “Now by this we know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments. He who says, ‘I know Him,’ and does not keep His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.” (1Jn 2:3,4 NKJV)

Thoughts?

What does the passage mean? What is the relationship between knowing God and keeping his commandments?

Why do you think the NKJV was chosen? Listen to some other versions?

- We know that we have come to know him if we obey his commands. ⁴The man who says, “I know him,” but does not do what he commands is a liar, and the truth is not in him. (NIV)
- If we obey God’s commands, then we are sure that we know him. ⁴Those who say that they know him, but do not obey his commands, are liars and there is no truth in them. (GNT)

Do you think the lesson authors are trying to tie the gospel, not to Christ’s commands, or instructions, or methods, but to the list of 10 Commandments?

Here is my paraphrase:

We can be confident that we have come into unity with him when we practice his methods, live his principles and obey his teachings. The man who says, “I am a Christian,” but does not love others and does not put Christ's commands into practice misrepresents God and his entire life is a lie. There is no truth in such a person.

Thoughts?

Read first paragraph, "The law and the character of God..." thoughts?

What is the relationship between God's law and God's character?

What do you understand the law of God to be?

There are two general types of law – natural, intrinsic, and imposed, enacted.

Which type is God's? What difference does it make?

Position Statement of our Class:

- God is love and God's law is the law of love, which is the law of life. The law of love cannot be arbitrary, created, enacted, or legislated. God's law of love originates in the heart and character of God and thus has no beginning point and no ending point. It is immutable and can never be changed. God's law of love is the design template for life. All life is constructed to exist only in perfect harmony with this law. Deviations will bring the natural results of pain, suffering, and death, unless remedied by God Himself.

This is a strong position – upon what do we base such a position? I would suggest we should be able to provide evidence that this position is true from inspired sources, such as Scripture, from science and from experience.

Let's start with Scripture – any evidence to support this from Scripture?

Evidence from Scripture that the law of God is the law of love which is the law of life:

- Love does no harm to its neighbor. Therefore love is the fulfillment of the law. Romans 13:10
- The entire law is summed up in a single command: “Love your neighbor as yourself.” Galatians 5:14
- If you really keep the royal law found in Scripture, “Love your neighbor as yourself,” you are doing right. James 2:8
- Jesus replied: “Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.’ This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: ‘Love your neighbor as yourself.’ All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments.” Matt 22:37-40
- In the way of righteousness there is life; along that path is immortality. Pr 12:28
- He who pursues righteousness and love finds life, prosperity and honor. Pr 21:21
- The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul. Ps 19:7

Evidence from other Christians who have studied God’s Word and come to the same conclusion that God’s law is the law life is built upon, which is an expression of his character of love:

- In living for self he has rejected that divine love which would have flowed out in mercy to his fellow men. Thus he has rejected life. For God is love, and love is life. COL 258
- Our only definition of sin is that given in the word of God; it is "the transgression of the law;" it is the outworking of a principle at war with the great law of love which is the foundation of the divine government. GC 493
- The law of love being the foundation of the government of God, the happiness of all created beings depended upon their perfect accord with its great principles of righteousness. GC 493

- The law of God, from its very nature, is unchangeable. It is a revelation of the will and the character of its Author. God is love, and His law is love. Its two great principles are love to God and love to man. "Love is the fulfilling of the law" (Rom. 13:10). The character of God is righteousness and truth; such is the nature of His law. Says the psalmist: "Thy law is the truth"; "all thy commandments are righteousness" (Ps. 119:142, 172). And the apostle Paul declares: "The law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good" (Rom. 7:12). Such a law, being an expression of the mind and will of God, must be as enduring as its Author. {RC 46.5}
- But turning from all lesser representations, we behold God in Jesus. Looking unto Jesus we see that it is the glory of our God to give. "I do nothing of Myself," said Christ; "the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father." "I seek not Mine own glory," but the glory of Him that sent Me. John 8:28; 6:57; 8:50; 7:18. In these words is set forth the great principle which is the law of life for the universe. All things Christ received from God, but He took to give. So in the heavenly courts, in His ministry for all created beings: through the beloved Son, the Father's life flows out to all; through the Son it returns, in praise and joyous service, a tide of love, to the great Source of all. And thus through Christ the circuit of beneficence is complete, representing the character of the great Giver, the law of life. DA 21
- As the Supreme Ruler of the universe, God has ordained laws for the government not only of all living beings, but of all the operations of nature. Everything, whether great or small, animate or inanimate, is under fixed laws which cannot be disregarded. There are no exceptions to this rule; for nothing that the divine hand has made has been forgotten by the divine mind. But while everything in nature is governed by natural law, man alone, as an intelligent being, capable of understanding its requirements, is amenable to moral law. To man alone, the crowning work of his creation, God has given a conscience to realize the sacred claims of the divine law, and a heart capable of loving it as holy, just, and good; and of man prompt and perfect obedience is required. Yet God does not compel him to obey; he is left a free moral agent. {ST, April 15, 1886 par. 2}

- In some sense, God's wrath is built into the very structure of created reality. In rejecting God's structure and establishing our own, in violating God's intention for the creation and substituting our own intentions, we cause our own disintegration. Kaiser, W., et al., Hard Saying of the Bible, Intervarsity Press, 1996, P 542
- The human condition, which Paul describes in Romans 1:18-32, is not something caused by God. The phrase "revealed from heaven" (where "heaven" is a typical Jewish substitute word for "God") does not depict some kind of divine intervention, but rather the inevitability of human debasement which results when God's will, built into the created order, is violated. Since the created order has its origin in God, Paul can say that the wrath of God is now (constantly) being revealed "from heaven." It is revealed in the fact that the rejection of God's truth (Rom 1:18-20), that is, the truth about God's nature and will, leads to futile thinking (Rom 1:21-22), idolatry (Rom 1:23), perversion of God-intended sexuality (Rom 1:24-27) and relational-moral brokenness (Rom 1:28-32). Kaiser, W., et al., Hard Saying of the Bible, Intervarsity Press, 1996, P 543

Evidence From Science: As cited above, nature reveals the law of love, giving, as the principle upon which life is built, and violations automatically result in disintegration and death.

- The circle of giving – the sun gives energy to plants, which, through circles internal to the plants (Kalvin Benson cycle), converts the energy to chemical energy and produces the by product of oxygen for us. We eat the plants and the chemical energy is utilized via internal circles (citric acid cycle) and we give back to the plants

CO2 and by-products of digestion. A never-ending circle of giving that life is built to operate upon.

- In Ezekiel 10 God's throne sits upon the rotating wheels within wheels, a fit pictograph of the multiple layers of circles of giving that God built life to operate upon.

Evidence from Experience:

- When you give of yourself for the wellbeing of others what happens within you?
- When you take for yourself at the expense of others what happens in you?
- “Dozens of studies over several decades have examined relationships between volunteer work and health-related outcomes. Most studies have shown positive volunteering-health associations. Among, youth, evidence suggests that volunteer work is associated with a plethora of positive developmental outcomes, such as academic achievement, civic responsibility, and life skills that include leadership and interpersonal self-confidence (Astin & Sax 1998).” (Post, S. Altruism and Health Perspectives from Empirical Research, Oxford University Press, New York, 2007: p. 20, 21).
- Four studies between 1996 and 2003 evaluated the effect of volunteerism and longevity in the elderly. Controlling for confounding variables, such as health when entering the study, all four studies “reported that volunteers tended to live statistically longer than those who did not volunteer.” (Ibid p. 22).
- “Several studies have examined the relationship between volunteering and physical functioning. Moen, Dempster-McClain, and Williams (1989) studied 427 women who resided in upstate New York and were both wives and mothers in 1956. Over the next 30 years, compared to non-volunteers, women who did any volunteering had better physical functioning in 1986, after adjusting for baseline health status, level of education, and number of life roles. Similarly, Luoh and Herzog (2002) found that, compared to non-volunteers or those volunteering less than 100 hours, those who were volunteering 100 hours or more in 1998 were approximately 30% less likely to experience physical functioning limitations, even after adjusting for demographics, socioeconomic status, baseline functioning limitations, health status, paid employment, exercise, smoking and social connections. Morrow-Howell and colleagues (2003) examined data collected between 1986 and 1994 from more than 1,500 U.S. adults, finding that volunteering predicted significantly less functional disability 3 to 5 years later, after adjusting for demographics, socioeconomic status, marital status, and informal social integration.” (Ibid)

Thoughts? Do we find evidence from Scripture, science and experience that confirms God’s law is the law of love, the principle of giving upon which life is built to operate?

How is this tied to the gospel- the good news?

What did Satan say about God and God’s law?

That God’s law is not the law upon which life is built, and that breaking God’s law doesn’t result in death?

- You won’t die if you eat the fruit – there isn’t anything wrong with sin, there is certainly something wrong with God, he might lash out and kill, but you won’t die if you eat the fruit. God’s law is not the principle life is built upon, but God is an arbitrary taskmaster who puts rules on us. God might inflict the punishment of death, but you won’t die from eating the fruit.

And what has Christianity taught? That God is required to kill, that you don’t die from breaking the law you die from the law giver imposing punishment upon you to kill you.

One of the founders of our church said it explicitly:

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. DA 761

Notice the type of law that Satan alleged in Eden, what he suggested?

What is taught today?

In the book the Cross of Christ, by George Knight we read:

- “The dual facts of the necessity of cosmic moral stability and the divinely decreed death penalty for rebellion against the divine government placed God in a predicament, because His nature consisted of mercy as well as justice.

“The same God.’ Loraine Boettner writes, ‘who is a God of mercy and who in virtue of His justice must punish sinners...For Him to fail to punish sin would be for Him to remove the penalty against it, to consent to it or to become partaker in it, and therefore to violate His own nature and to destroy the moral order of the universe....’

“In that context, Satan set off a new barrage of charges against the God who would like to forgive, but was ‘stuck’ with enforcing the penalty of the broken law.”
(p. 20,21)

Thoughts?

What is the underlying assumption, which these authors have accepted that take them down this line of thinking? God’s law is imposed – having accepted this lie, then they are stuck in Satan’s view of God’s character.

What kind of God is God if he must use his power to inflict punishment, i.e. kill his children? Who made this argument? Satan – this is Satan’s view of God and it is rife in Christianity.

One of the founders of our church said something quite profound:

In seeking to cast contempt upon the divine statutes, Satan has perverted the doctrines of the Bible, and errors have thus become incorporated into the faith of thousands who profess to believe the Scriptures. The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering--a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. {GC 582.2}

Do we believe God’s kingdom, government, law is an expression of His character of love, or do we believe God is like a Roman emperor, who uses power to impose laws upon his subjects? It is “a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition.”

Derek Flood in his book, Healing the Gospel: A Radical Vision for Grace, Justice and The Cross he writes:

Love is not in conflict with justice, love is how justice comes about because the New Testament understanding of justice is ultimately not about punishment, but about making things right again. (p 8)

Paul then goes on to explain how God’s restorative justice in Christ comes about: God acts in Christ to make us good. A key concept here is “justification” which normally refers to legal acquittal, i.e., declaring a person innocent in court, and has often been mistranslated as such in Romans. But if that were the case then Paul’s entire argument would fall apart. He is arguing that it was just for God not to punish sinners as his audience wished. If his only reason was that God had declared these sinners innocent, this would have been seen by his audience as a profound injustice – the acquittal of the guilty... God brings about true justice, Paul tells us, by making sinners into saints. This act of redemptive transformation is nothing short a miracle and happens through relationship – through being loved by God, and God’s goodness making us good. Paul goes on to explain in Romans 7-8 that as God’s Spirit indwells us, as we experience Christ’s indwelling love, we are relationally transformed into his likeness. This way of the Spirit brings life, Paul says, but the way of law (i.e. the way of retributive justice) brings death. (p.12)

Thoughts?

When we believe the lie that God’s law is imposed, we believe Satan’s lie that God much punish sinners. When we believe the truth that God’s law is the design protocol upon which life is built, then we recognize death is inevitable for all out of harmony with the law, and God’s justice is restorative, healing, putting his creation back into harmony with himself and his design for life.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to differentiate the various types of laws in Scripture – any thoughts?

What are the different and types of law and what are their purposes?

- Ceremonial
 - Deals with the script for the play, drama, to reenact the plan of salvation
 - A teaching tool

- Civil
 - Social order
- Health
 - To minimize disease
- Moral
 - Diagnose our defect of character
 - Set a hedge of protection

Ways Satan has used the laws that God has given to cause confusion and harm?

- Law as a remedy – i.e. we can keep it and be right with God
- No difference between the types of law, God said it, therefore we must do it all
- All law has been done away with at the cross, including the laws of health therefore we eating anything is okay
- The law is a codification of behaviors, which we must adhere to, lest we get punished
- God's love for us is dependent upon our keeping the law
- If I break the law, I need Jesus to protect me from God's just punishment
- God's law is impossible to obey, therefore God sent Christ to pay the penalty, and today we can't keep the law, we continue to live in sin, breaking the law of God, until Christ comes
- People who don't keep the law, the way we keep the law, are not saved
 - When I was stationed at Fort Stewart, Georgia there was not a church within 50 miles for me to attend. On base a small group of SDAs would meet in the military chapel. About 20-30 people would meet, 5-10 were military the rest were local people from the community. There were no musicians amongst the group, so one of the radiology technicians from the hospital, who was a lovely Baptist lady, volunteered her time to play the piano for song service and special music every week.

- One week, the Bible Study portion the lesson was going over Matthew 5 and Jesus comments about not coming to change the law but to fulfill it. The local person who was leading the lesson began speaking about the Sabbath and the Sabbath commandment. He then began berating this volunteer for being a Sabbath breaker and not loving God because she was breaking the commandments.
- Who was actually keeping the commandments – the woman who sacrificed her time to help others or the Sabbath keeper who condemned her? It smacked so much of the parable of the Good Samaritan who helped the beaten man while the Sabbath keepers walked by.

MONDAY

The Moral Law – refers to what? The 10 Commandments – when did the 10 Commandments come into existence?

Were they always in existence? Or were they added because of sin?

Did angels need a commandment to honor mother and father, to not commit adultery?

How do we measure the Sabbath? By the rotation of earth around a sun that didn't exist until day 4 of creation of this solar system.

For whom did Jesus say Sabbath was created? It was created for man – then did it exist prior to creation of this world? No Biblical evidence it existed before earth was created. One of the founders of our church didn't think it did:

- If man had kept the law of God, as given to Adam after his fall, preserved by Noah, and observed by Abraham, there would have been no necessity for the ordinance of circumcision. And if the descendants of Abraham had kept the covenant, of which circumcision was a sign, they would never have been seduced into idolatry, nor would it have been necessary for them to suffer a life of bondage in Egypt; they would have kept God's law in mind, and there would have been no necessity for it to be proclaimed from Sinai or engraved upon the tables of stone. And had the people practiced the principles of the Ten Commandments, there would have been no need of the additional directions given to Moses. {PP 364.2}

- But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of. In their ministry the angels are not as servants, but as sons. There is perfect unity between them and their Creator. Obedience is to them no drudgery. {MB 109.2}

Paul taught in Galatians that the law was added, which law?

- I am asked concerning the law in Galatians. What law is the schoolmaster to bring us to Christ? I answer: Both the ceremonial and the moral code of ten commandments... "The law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Gal. 3:24). In this scripture, the Holy Spirit through the apostle is speaking especially of the moral law. {1SM 233, 234}

Then why was the law added?

- The law was added so that the trespass might increase. Romans 5:20

Why was this necessary?

Then for whom was the law given?

- We know that the law is good if one uses it properly. ⁹ We also know that the law is made not for the righteous but for lawbreakers and rebels, the ungodly and sinful, the unholy and irreligious; for those who kill their fathers or mothers, for murderers, ¹⁰ for adulterers and perverts, for slave traders and liars and perjurers—and for whatever else is contrary to the sound doctrine ¹¹ that conforms to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which he entrusted to me. 1Tim 1:8-11

Who is the written law, moral law, 10 Commandments for?
The wicked, the sinner, the trespasser –why?

Who is the MRI for? Those who are sick? Why? To diagnose, for what purpose? To condemn so we can punish? No to convict so the person will go to the doctor for healing.

The commandments were given to expose sin and lead us to a Savior, to convince us how terrible our condition is, how we can do nothing to fix it ourselves, so we will stop trying and surrender to the One who has the remedy!

Did God take risks in the use of law? What risks? What does it say about God that he would take such risks?

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “The law...”

The lesson agrees that the law was only to diagnose and not cure.

Other thoughts?

Read first paragraph, “Though many...” thoughts?

What does it mean the law remains binding? How would you explain it?

How is it good news that the law remains binding?

Because God built his universe to operate on very reliable, predictable, and unchanging principles. This brings security and peace to our lives. Think how awful and terrifying life would be if the laws of nature suddenly were inconsistent, changing from moment to moment?

But what about the idea that the 10 Commandments remain binding? That the law of love is the design principle for life and deviations are destructive and harmful. But could such a statement connote an erroneous idea?

What if one believes that the Commandments are imposed, and therefore keeps them because they are obligated to what might happen? Here is one description, do you agree or disagree? Why?

- The man who attempts to keep the commandments of God from a sense of obligation merely--because he is required to do so--will never enter into the joy of obedience. He does not obey. When the requirements of God are accounted a burden because they cut across human inclination, we may know that the life is not a Christian life. True obedience is the outworking of a principle within. It springs from the love of righteousness, the love of the law of God. The essence of all righteousness is loyalty to our Redeemer. This will lead us to do right because it is right--because right doing is pleasing to God. {COL 97.3}
- A sullen submission to the will of the Father will develop the character of a rebel. By such a one service is looked upon as drudgery. It is not rendered cheerfully, and in the love of God. It is a mere mechanical performance. If he dared, such a one would disobey. His rebellion is smothered, ready to break out at any time in bitter murmurings and complaints. Such service brings no peace or quietude to the soul. {ST, July 22, 1897}

What happens in a relationship if your spouse smokes, and you condemn it, and they quit, not because they agree it is harmful, or want to, but only because they feel obligated to? Will love grow in that relationship? Or does resentment grow, and ultimately rebellion?

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “Yet, as we know...” thoughts?

What do you think about obeying because we are “obligated?”

Why should we obey?

Would the people who wrote this paragraph, tell a woman in the church, whose husband steals from her to get money for gambling, drugs, alcohol – that because he is violating the commandment in one place he is violating it everywhere, including the adultery commandment and she has Biblical grounds for divorce?

What do you think? If they can make their argument to condemn Sabbath breaking, then doesn't their argument hold true for adultery? If they wouldn't make the second argument, but promote the first what does this reveal? Perhaps a legalistic, arbitrary view of God's law?

Do we render obedience to a commandment, or do we render obedience to God?

What is the difference?

What about healing on Sabbath? The Jews didn't like Jesus healing on Sabbath, because they were being obedient to the commandment. Jesus, on the other hand was being obedient to God and healed on the Sabbath. But, please take special note of what Jesus did – did He heal only emergency cases on Sabbath?

One person was paralyzed for decades, could it not have waited one day? What does it tell us Jesus wouldn't wait one day to heal on the Sabbath?

It is lawful to do good on the Sabbath day, and in fact it is a violation of the law of love to avoid doing good in order to keep the Sabbath – this is rendering obedience to the Sabbath and disobedience to God.

Has Satan ever succeeded in using the Sabbath to promote disobedience to God, to obstructing the truth about God, to creating a barrier to fulfilling God's will on earth? How?

So, what does genuine Sabbath keeping look like?

Does it not look like Jesus? We live the truth in love and leave others free?

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "Since the divine law..." thoughts?

What does this mean, how would you explain it?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

Growing in Christ Lesson 11 4Q 2012

The Christian Life

Read Memory Text: “By this we know love, because He laid down His life for us. And we also ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.” (1Jn 3:16 NKJV)

Thoughts about the memory text? What does it tell us about love?

God is love, so does it tell us anything about God?

Do you know anyone who loves you enough to lay down their life for you?

What is your attitude toward that person? If you know someone loves you that much, does it increase trust or decrease trust?

Do we know God and his love for us?

Why do many adolescents fail to trust their parents, despite the fact their parents would lay down their life for them?

Guilt, engaging in activities for which they feel guilt and shame, and this results in fear – fear of what the parents will say or do.

Just as Adam and Eve ran as soon as they sinned, because they were afraid, so too when we sin we often run not only from God, but from those closest to us because we are afraid, afraid of what they will think, of seeing disappointment in their eyes, of being rejected, or perhaps of being punished.

What is your reaction when it is suggested to lay down your life for others?

Do you get a cognitive dissonance? Do you get your brain going, “that is a beautiful ideal,” but your gut going, “no way”?

From where is that gut reaction coming?

How do we overcome such a gut reaction that we are willing to give for others?

Just after midnight on Feb. 3, 1943, when the Army ship Dorchester was torpedoed by the Germans just south of Greenland, its passengers and crew had 25 minutes to get off the boat. As 902 people went for the life jackets, it quickly was discovered there weren't nearly enough. Of the 13 lifeboats, only two functioned.

In the ship's final minutes, Methodist senior chaplain George Lansing Fox, Rabbi Alexander Goode, Dutch Reformed minister Clark V. Poling and Roman Catholic priest John P. Washington, were helping passengers leave the vessel. Then four men appeared, all of them without life jackets.

The chaplains quickly gave up their own vests and went down with the ship, perishing in the freezing water. Survivors saw them, locked arm in arm, praying and singing the Navy hymn, “Eternal Father, Strong to Save” just before the ship dove beneath the waves.)Read more: DUIN: Self-sacrifice tale one for the ages - Washington Times <http://www.washingtontimes.com/news/2009/feb/01/self-sacrifice-tale-one-for-the-ages/#ixzz2DLDSMeID>)

How could these men so calmly make this choice?

What brings a person to, as Revelation 12:11 says, “Not love their own life so much as to shrink from death?”

Was it easier for those men to make the choice together rather than alone?

Are those who have surrendered to Christ ever truly alone?

But what if we worship a God who is arbitrary and severe and seeking primarily to punish?

Naturalists argue that it is normal to seek to save self, even kill to save self, how can people go against their own nature?

I have been crucified with Christ and I no longer live, but Christ lives in me. The life I live in the body, I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me.
Gal 2:20

What does this mean? This is really the rubber on the road, the root issue, the bottom line, have we had a fundamental change in heart motive such that we would give our lives for others? Have we entered into the joy of living a love-life?

It is Christmas season, a time when we have opportunity to give of self to bless and help others. Have you found a place to give?

Read second paragraph, "The Bible emphasizes..." thoughts?

While knowing the truth, the reality of how the universe works, what some might call right doctrine, is important, aren't they suggesting that it is more important to "live right"? Aren't they suggesting one could even live right while not knowing right doctrine, and conversely, one could know right doctrine and not live right?

Could someone who isn't a Christian, i.e. they haven't accepted Jesus Christ as Savior, still live a Christian life?

For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. ¹⁴ (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, ¹⁵ since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.) Rom 2:13-15

Thoughts?

Do we have any concerns about what Paul is saying? Can someone be saved without Jesus Christ? Absolutely not!

Salvation is found in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given to men by which we must be saved.” (Acts 4:12)

Then what is Paul talking about?

Is there a difference between being saved by Christ, and knowing one is being saved by Christ?

How many people on earth is God trying to save?

This is good, and pleases God our Savior, ⁴ who wants all men to be saved and to come to a knowledge of the truth. (1Tim 2:3,4)

Then, isn't God working to save people before they even know it is him? Isn't the Holy Spirit striving in the hearts of men, even if those men have not had the blessing of Scripture to inform them it is the Holy Spirit?

And if those men respond to the Holy Spirit, and love God's methods, principles, and laws, even if they haven't heard about Christ – will the Holy Spirit still write the law into their hearts and minds? And, will they still benefit from all Christ has done for them?

If someone asks him, ‘What are these wounds on your body?’ he will answer, ‘The wounds I was given at the house of my friends.’(Zech 13:6)

What is the implication of this passage? Is it that some might not know what happened Jesus was wounded?

What are the implications for evangelism? What is the central most important truth to bring people to know? The truth about God!

What about the Sabbath, the state of the dead, baptism, and all the other doctrines? One can believe the right thing about all of this and still hold to Satan’s view of God and thus be God’s enemy. The most basic truth that evangelism must start with is, the truth about God in the setting of the Great Controversy and all doctrines must connect to the truth about God and make it more visible to see and understand.

Read next paragraph, “The Christian is saved...” thoughts?

Can we reveal the truth about God, if we focus only on the right doctrines? Have many with right doctrine actual obscured the truth about God? To whom are we to reveal the truth about God?

SUNDAY

Read last paragraph, “The Bible teaches...” thoughts?

What does it mean to glorify God? Does it mean singing praise songs, waving palm branches, shouting hosannas?

Why does God want us to glorify him? Does he need our praise? For whose need is it? Who benefits from our glorifying God with our lives?

It is for our good, and the good of other created beings, for us to glorify God – why?

Any Bible texts come to mind when we think about glorifying God?

“Fear God and give glory to him for the hour of his judgment has come.” Rev 14:7

Is there any connection between this message in Revelation and God’s original purpose in the creation of man?

In whose image was humanity created? Was there any special purpose for this?

What has Satan sought to do in regard to the image of God in man?

The Bible describes demoniacs, those who have been taken over by demons, what kind of character do they reveal?

God is working to restore his image in us, is there a last day purpose for this? Does it have anything to do with fulfilling the gospel commission?

Is God’s purpose of restoring his image in us impaired by distorted God constructs?

How could Satan take Revelation 14:7, the call to glorify God and turn it into an action that fosters his agenda?

What if we misconstrue God as a God who imposes law, and as the imposer of law he must sit in judgment over his subjects in order to mete out just punishments upon him? What would such a construct do? What impact does such an action have on intelligent beings?

What method does the beast system of revelation utilize to achieve its end? Threat, coercion, force and punishment. What method is attributed to God by one type of interpretation of Revelation 14:7, the same as the beast – is there something wrong?

MONDAY

Speaks of tithes and offerings, if the cattle on a 1000 hills are God's, why does he instruct us to give tithes and offerings?

Does God need our money? Do we need to give?

Consider the analogy of the water pipes in your home – connected to a municipal source, fresh and clean abundant water – but what if you walk away and don't come back for 20 years, what is the quality of the water as you turn on the tap?

God's love is abundant and pure and it only flows into our hearts as we give it away. Tithes and offerings are prescriptions from God to teach us how to give and how to trust him with outcomes.

Read question 2 in Friday's lesson: "Dwell more on the whole..." thoughts?

What is the purpose of the tithe? It is for the purpose of spreading the gospel, to win souls to God's kingdom.

To whom should the tithe be paid? Here is one view from one of the founders of our church:

"There are ministers' wives--Sisters Starr, Haskell, Wilson, and Robinson--who have been devoted, earnest, whole-souled workers, giving Bible readings and praying with families, helping along by personal efforts just as successfully as their husbands. These women give their whole time, and are told that they receive nothing for their labors because their husbands receive wages. I tell them to go forward and all such decisions will be revised. The Word says, "The labourer is worthy of his hire." Luke 10:7. When any such decision as this is made, I will, in the name of the Lord, protest. I will feel it my duty to create a fund from my tithe money to pay these women who are accomplishing just as essential work as the ministers are doing, and this tithe I will reserve for work in the same line as that of the ministers, hunting for souls, fishing for souls.{DG 106.1}

It has been presented to me for years that my tithe was to be appropriated by myself to aid the white and colored ministers who were neglected and did not receive sufficient properly to support their families. When my attention was called to aged ministers, white or black, it was my special duty to investigate into their necessities and supply their needs. This was to be my special work, and I have done this in a number of cases. No man should give notoriety to the fact that in special cases the tithe is used in that way... {2MR 99.3}

I have myself appropriated my tithe to the most needy cases brought to my notice. I have been instructed to do this, and as the money is not withheld from the Lord's treasury, it is not a matter that should be commented upon, for it will necessitate my making known these matters, which I do not desire to do, because it is not best. {2MR 99.5}

Some cases have been kept before me for years, and I have supplied their needs from the tithe, as God has instructed me to do. And if any person shall say to me, Sister White, will you appropriate my tithe where you know it is most needed, I shall say, Yes, I will; and I have done so. I commend those sisters who have placed their tithe where it is most needed to help to do a work that is being left undone. If this matter is given publicity, it will create a knowledge which would better be left as it is. I do not care to give publicity to this work which the Lord has appointed me to do, and others to do. {2MR 100.1}

I send this matter to you so that you shall not make a mistake. Circumstances alter cases. I would not advise that anyone should make a practice of gathering up tithe money. But for years there have now and then been persons who have lost confidence in the appropriation of the tithe, who have placed their tithe in my hands, and said that if I did not take it they would themselves appropriate it to the families of the most needy ministers they could find. I have taken the money, given a receipt for it, and told them how it was appropriated. {2MR 100.2}

Thoughts?

What is the purpose of the tithe? It is to promote the gospel message.

According to EG White when she didn't give her tithe to the organized church, but used it to help those promoting the gospel, did the money get put into the "Lord's treasury"?

Why does she say she didn't want to broadcast this around? Because the church organization would falter if everyone felt free to do anything with the tithe.

What is the point? That each person has their own relationship with God, the tithe is God's and he can direct its use and some persons may come under conviction, as EGW and others she worked with did, to direct their tithe toward other laborers who are not funded by the church, and we should not condemn them or judge them for it.

I also think this is another great example of how God doesn't set up cookie cutter rules that apply to all people, in all circumstances, but operates upon principles, and those principles can be applied differently depending on situation.

But far too many people don't like to think, and get confused, and feel more secure if they are simply given a "rule" do this, they do it and feel good about doing "right". No work on Sabbath, great, sorry can't heal on Sabbath, the rule says don't do it. "I fell so good that I am doing what is right..." The rule says, give your tithe to a systemized organization, great, give blindly, never question what message, what picture of God the organization is spreading with the tithe, but we can feel good we are keeping the rule.

Does God want more from us than mere rule keeping? Does he want us to enter into an intelligent relationship with him, in which we understand who he is, what he is trying to accomplish and use our energies to work along with him?

Just to be clear, lest someone take this discussion and suggest things I have not said. I have not soliciting for anyone to send their tithe to our ministry. I am advocating for each person to become an intelligent friend of God, to stop blindly following rules without thinking, to use all your resources to promote the spread of the truth about God that will lighten the world, in the places you know God would have you use those resources.

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “To define something...” thoughts?

I agree with this, but had several questions – has it been your experience that within Christianity genuine equality between husbands and wives, men and women is promoted?

Does this mean that if Christianity fails to promote genuine equality between husband and wife they are violating God’s plan for marriage?

What is the purpose of emphasizing these truths about marriage? Could it be some feel marriage is under attack? From where?

Read fourth paragraph, “Together with issues...” thoughts?

The lesson asks what biblically based counsel can we bring to these issues?

How many of these issues are confused because of how the church and local culture interact?

For instance, polygamy – culture practiced this and so did God's children for centuries. What about cohabitation? What is the difference between cohabitation and marriage? Does culture make a difference?

According to Wikipedia, in ancient Greece, no special civil ceremony was required for marriage, only mutual agreement and the fact the couple regarded each other as husband and wife. In other words, they cohabitated. Greek men married in their late 20's and women late teens.

In ancient Roman there were several types of marriages. The traditional form called conventio in manum required a ceremony with witnesses and was also dissolved with a ceremony.^[44] In this type of marriage, a woman lost her family rights of inheritance of her old family and gained them with her new one. She now was subject to the authority of her husband. There was the free marriage known as sine manu. In this arrangement, the wife remained a member of her original family; she stayed under the authority of her father, kept her family rights of inheritance with her old family and did not gain any with the new family.^[45] The minimum age of marriage for girls was 12.^[46]

From the early Christian era (30 to 325 CE), marriage was thought of as primarily a private matter, with no uniform religious or other ceremony being required.^[48] However, bishop Ignatius of Antioch writing around 110 to bishop Polycarp of Smyrna exhorts, "[I]t becomes both men and women who marry, to form their union with the approval of the bishop, that their marriage may be according to God, and not after their own lust."^[49]

In the 12th century, women were obligated to take the name of their husbands and starting in the second half of the 16th century parental consent along with the church's consent was required for marriage.^[50]

With few local exceptions, until 1545, Christian marriages in Europe were by mutual consent, declaration of intention to marry and upon the subsequent physical union of the parties.^{[51][52]} The couple would promise verbally to each other that they would be married to each other; the presence of a priest or witnesses was not required.^[53] This promise was known as the "verbum." If freely given and made in the present tense (e.g., "I marry you"), it was unquestionably binding;^[51] if made in the future tense ("I will marry you"), it would constitute a betrothal. One of the functions of churches from the Middle Ages was to register marriages. There was no state involvement in marriage and personal status, with these issues being adjudicated in ecclesiastical courts. During the Middle Ages marriages were arranged, sometimes as early as birth, and these early pledges to marry were often used to ensure treaties between different royal families, nobles, and heirs of fiefdoms. The church resisted these imposed unions, and increased the number of causes for nullification of these arrangements.^[50] As Christianity spread during the Roman period and the Middle Ages, the idea of free choice in selecting marriage partners increased and spread with it.^[50]

The average age of marriage for most Northwestern Europeans from the late 14th century into the 19th century was around 25 years of age;^{[54][55][56]} as the Church dictated that both parties had to be at least 21 years of age to marry without the consent of their parents, the bride and groom were roughly the same age, with most brides in their early twenties and most grooms two or three years older,^[56] and a substantial number of women married for the first time in their thirties and forties, particularly in urban areas,^[57] with the average age at first marriage rising and falling as circumstances dictated. In better times, more people could afford to marry earlier and thus fertility rose and conversely marriages were delayed or foregone when times were bad, thus restricting family size;^[58] after the Black Death, the greater availability of profitable jobs allowed more people to marry young and have more children,^[59] but the stabilization of the population in the 16th century meant less job opportunities and thus more people delaying marriages.^[60]

Thus far marriage through western society has been primarily a church institution, without any state involvement. Divorce, annulment was not done by the state, but by the church. Something changed, what?

As part of the Protestant Reformation, the role of recording marriages and setting the rules for marriage passed to the state, reflecting Martin Luther's view that marriage was a "worldly thing".^[61] By the 17th century, many of the Protestant European countries had a state involvement in marriage.

As part of the Counter-Reformation, in 1563 the Council of Trent decreed that a Roman Catholic marriage would be recognized only if the marriage ceremony was officiated by a priest with two witnesses. The Council also authorized a Catechism, issued in 1566, which defined marriage as, "The conjugal union of man and woman, contracted between two qualified persons, which obliges them to live together throughout life."^[63]

In the early modern period, John Calvin, and his Protestant colleagues reformulated Christian marriage by enacting the Marriage Ordinance of Geneva, which imposed "The dual requirements of state registration and church consecration to constitute marriage"^[63] for recognition.

Thoughts? Do you find it interesting that marriage was a strictly religious institution until the Reformation, and it was the Reformers who merged church and state on this issue?

Are we now finding that the merger of church and state is causing problems? Christians invited the state into the marriage institution, and now the state is redefining it, and many Christians are unhappy about this. Should this be another lesson in church/state relations?

Does it trouble you that this is an example of church/state union orchestrated by Protestantism? What is the lesson?

How should we deal with this issue today?

Is there a difference between what you choose to do in your personal life, and what one should seek government to do in regard to marriage?

Is there a difference between Biblical marriage and marriage as sanctioned by a human government, i.e. legal marriage?

- Should the church seek to get the state to enforce the church's view of marriage?
- Would you be happy Muslims became a majority and legalized polygamy?
- What about in the days past when in Utah polygamy was legal?

- Is there a difference in spiritual union, marriage blessed by God, and legal marriage?
- Do the state and the church serve the same master?
- Do the state and the church have the same agenda?
- Do the state and the church concern themselves with the same elements of marriage?
- Church is concerned with God's blessing, unity of two individuals in a holy covenant, spiritual wholeness, honoring God with one's life, revealing the truth of God's character as he designed marriage to do, family integrity, raising children in Godly ways, etc.
- Is the state concerned about any of these? With what is the state concerned? Legal contracts, who inherits whose

- property, who is the legal guardian, who makes legal health care decisions, not who is united by God.
- Should, adults, in our society be allowed to enter into legal contracts regarding the disposition of their property, guardianship, medical decision-making etc.? What if those adults are homosexual?
 - Can we live in peace with those who enter into such contracts, even if they call in marriage?
 - But, is every “marriage” blessed by God?
 - Can people get legally married, but not experience the marital union as God designed?
 - Read third paragraph, “Of course....”
 - Is every marriage a marriage that has been united by God?
 - Are some marriages actually traps of Satan?
 - Can two people get married legally, and not be married in God’s eyes?
 - What about homosexual marriage?
 - What about some heterosexual marriages?

So, is there a difference between a church sanctioning an action, and the state sanctioning it?

What system do you prefer – the one in which such matters are decided by the church – as in the Middle Ages, the one we have in which these matters are decided by the state, or a mixed system in which one has to get both the state and church to agree?

What about divorce? Last week the lesson stated that a judge who broke the Sabbath commandment was guilty of breaking all 10 because if you break in one point you break in all points. Does that mean a spouse who steals from their spouse to support a drug habit is guilty of adultery?

Yes or no? What is adultery? Betrayal, selfishness, giving your heart to another, a break down of love.

Is this another issue where we are to think for ourselves?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Jesus tells us...” thoughts?

What does it mean to love someone as we love ourselves?

- To love automatically?
- To do unto others as we want done to us?
- Other insights?

I read this in Derek Flood’s book, Healing the Gospel, and found it gave a particular insight:

“C.S. Lewis once commented that he found the distinction of ‘loving the sinner but hating the sin’ to be absurd. How can you separate the two? How can you hate what someone does, but not hate them? Until it occurred to him that there was one man who he had been doing this with his entire life- himself. Loving our enemies simply means loving others the way we love ourselves.” (Flood, D. Healing the Gospel: A Radical Vision for Grace, Justice, and the Cross).

Thoughts? Do we love self by recognizing who we are is not defined by the mistakes we make, not defined by the struggles we battle, or the sinful nature with which we are encumbered, but we know, we are God’s creation, made in his image, and when he we see ourselves past the difficulties, and love ourselves in spite of our shortcomings?

Does it mean to love others for who they were designed to be, and when we see someone who is “evil” that we don’t hate them, we experience compassion, pity, sadness for them as they don’t know the joy of God’s kingdom? And does that lead us to treat them with love, with kindness, and thus heap burning coals on their head?

But are there some, who rather than loving their selves, they hate their own selves? They spend years in self-flagellation and self-punishment, guilt ridden, with self-loathing and self-disgust?

What would you say to someone like this?

Read last paragraph, "The redemption that the sinner..." thoughts?

THURSDAY

Read fourth paragraph, "Parents cannot..." thoughts?

Do you agree, disagree? Why or why not?

Read next paragraph, "2. Civic Duties..." thoughts?

If we model ourselves after Christ and the Apostles, how did they go about fulfilling their civic duty? How did they go about opposing discrimination? What about slavery? Didn't they go about it by working to change the hearts of men so that people loved others more than self?

Kelley Lorencin (the author of the Fundamental Focus magazine) is coming to the McDonald Road SDA Church. She will be doing vespers on Sabbath, Dec 15, 2012, starting at 4:30pm. This would be a wonderful opportunity for your members to come and invite their friends to enjoy some good music and some good news about God.

Growing in Christ Lesson 12, 4Q 2012

Last Things: Jesus and the Saved

Read memory text, Acts 3:19-21: “Repent therefore and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, so that the time of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord, and that He may send Jesus Christ, who was preached to you before, whom heaven must receive until the times of restoration of all things, which God has spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began.”

Thoughts?

From where will our sins be blotted out? Recorded history or our characters/hearts/minds?

And what is being refreshed? Is there a connection between blotting out our sin and refreshing? Is refreshing another way of saying renewal, recreation, regeneration? And from where does this refreshing come? The presence of Jesus – Jesus is the source of our renewal.

And when does this refreshing come, this renewal of heart, this healing of character, before or after the second coming?

And what imagery does the Bible use to teach God’s plan to regenerate mankind back into his original ideal and then bring us back into perfect fellowship with him? The sanctuary.

SUNDAY & MONDAY

The Heavenly Sanctuary

What is the heavenly sanctuary? We talk about this a lot, but we make assumptions that are not in evidence, so let's take a minute and examine the evidence for the heavenly sanctuary.

The whole point of what we are saying is that we have such a High Priest, who sits at the right of the throne of the Divine Majesty in heaven. ²He serves as High Priest in the Most Holy Place, that is, in the real tent which was put up by the Lord, not by human hands.

³ Every High Priest is appointed to present offerings and animal sacrifices to God, and so our High Priest must also have something to offer. ⁴If he were on earth, he would not be a priest at all, since there are priests who offer the gifts required by the Jewish Law. The work they do as priests is really only a copy and a shadow of what is in heaven. It is the same as it was with Moses. When he was about to build the Sacred Tent, God said to him, "Be sure to make everything according to the pattern you were shown on the mountain." Heb 8:1-5
GNT

What does this text tell us, that there is a sanctuary in heaven, and what Moses built was a shadow of it, built after what Moses saw, and what did Moses see? Did Moses see the sanctuary in heaven?

Moses saw a "pattern" of the sanctuary in heaven. When you see a pattern for a dress, are you seeing the dress? When you see blueprints, are you seeing the building?

So, should we conclude, that in heaven we have a giant tent made out of goatskins, acacia wood, gold, and silver?

No, this would be a false conclusion – all the old symbolism was merely to teach us a greater reality.

First, there is a sanctuary in heaven, it is greater and grander than anything on earth, and what we see on earth is not a miniature duplicate of what is in heaven, but a symbolic representation of what is in heaven.

Next question, according to Scripture, out of what is the sanctuary in heaven built?

- 1Cor3:9 For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, God's building.
- 1Cor 3:16 Don't you know that you yourselves are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you? 17 If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him; for God's temple is sacred, and you are that temple.
- 2Cor 6:16 What agreement is there between the temple of God and idols? For we are the temple of the living God. As God has said: "I will live with them and walk among them, and I will be their God, and they will be my people."
- EPH 2:19 Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's household, 20 built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. 21 In him the whole building is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. 22 And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit.
- 1PE 2:4-7 As you come to him, the living Stone--rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him-- you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ. For in Scripture it says:
 "See, I lay a stone in Zion, a chosen and precious cornerstone, and the one who trusts in him will never be put to shame." Now to you who believe, this stone is precious. But to those who do not believe, "The stone the builders rejected has become the capstone, "

- Heb 3:6 But Christ is faithful as a son over God's house. And we are his house, if we hold on to our courage and the hope of which we boast.

What do these text tell us about the sanctuary? Does it give us any indication from what the heavenly sanctuary is constructed?

So we believe there is a sanctuary in heaven, we have two options regarding what type of temple this is, one made of inanimate material, gold, pearls, wood, stone, etc. or one made of intelligent living beings.

So far, which do you think is most likely?

Let's look at other scripture and ask, does this scripture make more sense if the heavenly sanctuary is made out of intelligent beings, or inanimate material:

Tell him this is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the LORD.¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the LORD, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.' Zech 6:12,13

Intelligent beings or inanimate material? If the temple is a building built out of inanimate material, why would Christ have to leave heaven in order to build it? What does this mean? If the heavenly sanctuary is constructed from intelligent beings, including humans, then does it make sense he had to leave heaven in order to build it?

2CO 5:1 Now we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, an eternal house in heaven, not built by human hands. ² Meanwhile we groan, longing to be clothed with our heavenly dwelling, ³ because when we are clothed, we will not be found naked. ⁴ For while we are in this tent, we groan and are burdened, because we do not wish to be unclothed but to be clothed with our heavenly dwelling, so that what is mortal may be swallowed up by life. (2Cor 5:1-4)

More consistent with an inanimate building or living being?
And which type of sanctuary can a human being build? Which type is only built by God without human hands?

HEB 8:10 This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the Lord.

I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts.
I will be their God,
and they will be my people.

What temple is the law being put into in the new covenant, an inanimate building or living being?

- Heb 9:9 This is an illustration for the present time, indicating that the gifts and sacrifices being offered were not able to clear the conscience of the worshiper.
- Heb 9:14 How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from acts that lead to death, so that we may serve the living God!
- Heb 10:2 “If it could, would they not have stopped being offered? For the worshipers would have been cleansed once for all, and would no longer have felt guilty for their sins.”

- Heb 10:22 sprinkled to cleanse us from a guilty conscience and having our bodies washed with pure water.

What type of sanctuary, inanimate, living being?

Daniel 8:14 – 2300 days and the sanctuary will be cleansed?
Inanimate building or living being?

Concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our being gathered to him, we ask you, brothers, ² not to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord has already come. ³ Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. ⁴ He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God. 2Thes 2:1-4

Mal 3:1-3 The Lord will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the LORD Almighty. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Then the LORD will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness...

What type of temple? Inanimate or living being?

REV 21:9 One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came and said to me, "Come, I will show you the bride, the wife of the Lamb." 10 And he carried me away in the Spirit to a mountain great and high, and showed me the Holy City, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God. 11 It shone with the glory of God, and its brilliance was like that of a very precious jewel, like a jasper, clear as crystal. 12 It had a great, high wall with twelve gates, and with twelve angels at the gates. On the gates were written the names of the twelve tribes of Israel. 13 There were three gates on the east, three on the north, three on the south and three on the west. 14 The wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them were the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

To what is this referring? What does the city represent? The Bride of Christ, which is what? The Church, which is made out of what? People, living beings. This is symbolic, describing the people of God. The city is built upon the Apostles with Christ the chief cornerstone. The gates are the 12 tribes, symbolizing it is build out of the people of God.

- The church is the bride of Christ, and her members are to yoke up with their Leader. God warns us not to defile our garments (Letter 123 1/2, 1898). {7BC 986.2}
- God calls the church His body. The church is the bride, the Lamb's wife. God is the Father of the family, the Shepherd of the flock. But a mere outward connection with any church will not save a man. It is personal faith in a personal Saviour which brings the soul into spiritual union with Christ. This truth Christ plainly teaches in the sixth chapter of John.-- Ms 121, 1899, p. 17. {16MR 277.1}
- I feel a divine jealousy for you, for I betrothed you to Christ to present you as a pure bride to her one husband. 2Cor 11:2 RSV

The city is measured and is in the shape of a cube, and the Most Holy Place of the sanctuary is, in the shape of a cube – any clue to what it means?

- The New Jerusalem is made of gold, the Most Holy Place is lined with gold, and Malachi 3 says Christ comes to the Temple to purify the priesthood of believers like gold and silver, and Christ said to the church of Laodecia to buy from Him gold tried in the fire.

- The city has the names of the 12 tribes on the gates and the 144,000 are from the 12 tribes
- The foundation of the New Jerusalem is the 12 Apostles and the Lamb, and the foundation of the church is the 12 Apostles and the Lamb
- The wall of the city is made of Jasper and Christ in Rev 4:3 appears as Jasper, thus the city is “covered” or dressed in Christlikeness
- The city shines with the glory of God, and what is that glory? Who is to “give glory to God”?

The city comes down to where? A great mountain!

In the last days the mountain of the LORD's temple will be established as chief among the mountains; it will be raised above the hills, and all nations will stream to it. (Isa 2:2, Mic 4:1)

What is the temple? From what is it constructed? Upon what is it built? A great mountain, then what is the mountain?

ISA 30:29 And you will sing as on the night you celebrate a holy festival: your hearts will rejoice as when people go up with flutes to the mountain of the LORD, to the Rock of Israel.

Who is the Rock of Israel? Jesus is the mountain that the temple is built on – the temple is the church of which Christ is the chief cornerstone!!!

Daniel 2:35 Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver and the gold were broken to pieces at the same time and became like chaff on a threshing floor in the summer. The wind swept them away without leaving a trace. But the rock that struck the statue became a huge mountain and filled the whole earth.

From what is the temple constructed?

Rev 3:12 Him who overcomes I will make a pillar in the temple of my God. Never again will he leave it. I will write on him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which is coming down out of heaven from my God; and I will also write on him my new name.

Why will we never leave the temple? Because the temple is constructed out of living beings, we are the temple!

Comparison of the Old to the New:

- In the old – blood ministered throughout; in the new – blood to be ingested by believer (Jn 6)
- In the old – priests ate the meat of the sacrificial animal – in the new the priesthood of believers are to eat ingest Christ's flesh (Jn 6)
- In the old the law was written on stone and kept in the most holy place – in the new the law is written on the heart and mind and kept in the holy place of the heart
- In the old the MH place covered in gold, in the new the believer is to buy gold from Christ
- In the old the Priests wore robes of white, in the new the priesthood of believers are to be arrayed in the perfections of Christ's character
- In the old the Priests took the blood from point to point, in the new the priesthood of believers takes the truth from person to person
- In the old the priests washed in the water from the laver before they ministered the blood, in the new the priesthood of believer is washed by the Holy Spirit before they minister the truth about God
- In the old the priests, and only the priests, met every Sabbath in the Holy Place and ate the showbread, in the new the priesthood of believers meet every Sabbath in the church and eat the word of God.

God's law could not be kept/deposited/written in a building either in heaven or on earth because God's Law is the Law of Love and Liberty. It is a living Law; a Law that cannot be contained on stone, a Law that cannot be understood by words merely, a Law that in order to be seen and understood could only be kept/deposited/written in a living being – ADAM.

Adam was created to be the temple of God to be the repository of God's living Law of Love and Liberty. Adam was created to be the living showcase of God's character. Mankind is God's temple – the very creation designed by God to be the repository of His great Law of Love and Liberty.

But this temple has been defiled by lawlessness, by replacing God's Law of Love and Liberty with the Law of sin and death. God is working to cleanse the temple of humanity and restore His Law of Love and Liberty in us so that we can once again take our place in God's order, as the living Temple of God, the place where the Law of Love and Liberty is written and revealed.

But the Temple (mind) was defiled, God's Law displaced. So Christ came to rebuild the temple. "But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His TEMPLE. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul." DA 161. Christ is working to cleanse our hearts and minds. To cleanse the temple of our minds! Not some building in heaven!

A few quotes from one of the founders of our church:

In the building of the sanctuary as a dwelling place for God, Moses was directed to make all things according to the pattern of things in the heavens. God called him into the mount, and revealed to him the heavenly things, and in their similitude the tabernacle, with all that pertained to it, was fashioned. {Ed 35.2}

So to Israel, whom He desired to make His dwelling place, He revealed His glorious ideal of character. The pattern was shown them in the mount when the law was given from Sinai and when God passed by before Moses and proclaimed, "The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." Exodus 34:6. {Ed 35.3}

But this ideal they were, in themselves, powerless to attain. The revelation at Sinai could only impress them with their need and helplessness. Another lesson the tabernacle, through its service of sacrifice, was to teach--the lesson of pardon of sin, and power through the Saviour for obedience unto life. {Ed 36.1}

Through Christ was to be fulfilled the purpose of which the tabernacle was a symbol--that glorious building, its walls of glistening gold reflecting in rainbow hues the curtains inwrought with cherubim, the fragrance of ever-burning incense pervading all, the priests robed in spotless white, and in the deep mystery of the inner place, above the mercy seat, between the figures of the bowed, worshiping angels, the glory of the Holiest. In all, God desired His people to read His purpose for the human soul. It was the same purpose long afterward set forth by the apostle Paul, speaking by the Holy Spirit: {Ed 36.2}

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." 1 Corinthians 3:16, 17. {Ed 36.3}

We are God's great building. Every stroke, every stone put into the building is only a part of the whole. Every worker is himself to become just what God designs he should be in building his own life with pure, noble, upright deeds, that at the end he may be a symmetrical structure, a fair temple, honored by God and man... Each is to stand upon his watchtower and listen attentively to that which the Spirit has to say to him, for every word and act leaves an impress not only on our characters, but upon the characters of others engaged in the work. The Lord would have you stand forth as Daniel, every phase of your character under His own ministrations, that day by day you may grow into a structure that will stand forth, not as a perfect whole in itself, but connected with the work of other chosen workmen, as a beautiful temple for the Lord, a living witness to the value, stability, and nobility of the man who keeps his eye single to the glory of God.

Your faculties are separate and distinct, yet each is dependent for its success upon the other. So each day God works with His building, stroke upon stroke, to perfect the structure, which thus grows into a holy temple for the Lord. One stone mislaid affects the whole building. This figure represents human character, which is to be wrought upon, point by point. There is not to be a flaw in it, for it is the Lord's building. Every stone must be perfectly laid, that it may endure the pressure placed upon it. God warns you and every worker to take heed how you build, so that your building may bear the test of storm and tempest because it is riveted to the eternal Rock. Take heed how you build. Every hour may be spent in placing the stone on the sure foundation, ready for the day of test and revelation, when we shall be seen just as we are. This warning God presents to me as essential in your case. He loves you with a love that is immeasurable. He loves your brethren in the faith, and He works with them to the same end that He works with you. His church upon the earth is to assume divine proportions before the world, as a temple composed of living stones, every stone emitting light. This building is to be the light of the world, a city set on a hill, which cannot be hid. It is composed of stones laid close together, stone fitting to stone, making a solid building. All the stones are not of the same form or shape. Some are large, some are small, but each has its own crevice to fill. And the value of each stone is determined by the light it reflects to the world. This is God's plan, and He would have all who profess to believe His word fill their respective places in the great, grand work for this time.

We are, dear and much-beloved brother, living amid the perils of the last days. Every mental and physical power is to be cultivated, for all the powers are essential to make the church a building which will represent the wisdom and character of the great Designer. We are to cultivate the talents given us by God. They are His gifts, and are to be used in their right relation to each other, so as to make a perfect whole. God gives the talents, the powers of the mind; man makes the character. The mind is the Lord's garden, and man must cultivate it earnestly in order to form a character after the divine similitude. The Lord has wrought with you, my much-respected brother, enabling you to act your part as His workman; but there are other workmen who must act their part as God's agents, His members, who help to compose the whole body. Bear in mind, all are to be united as parts of a great machine. The Lord's church is composed of His living, working agencies who derive their power to act from the Author and Finisher of their faith. The great work resting upon God's individual workers is to be carried forward in symmetrical harmony. Manuscript Releases, Volume 2 [Nos. 97-161, 1958-1964]. 1993; 2002 (339). Ellen G. White Estate.

The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use. {3MR 231.3}

Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}

So, when we speak of the heavenly sanctuary what are we speaking about?

Does this impact how we interpret the meaning of the symbolism? Do you have any questions about the symbolism?

What is Christ doing in heaven? He is directing his agencies for the healing of his people on earth!

TUESDAY

Read the third paragraph, "The second coming..." thoughts?

Satan will seek to deceive people before Christ's return – any thoughts on how he will do this?

What would Satan do that would cause people to believe he is Jesus?

What if people believed that Jesus/God imposes law, and even though he is patient, and kind, and loving, eventually, as a just ruler, he must punish rebellion? If people believe this about God, is it not a setup to be deceived by Satan?

When Satan comes pretending to be Christ and he speaks melodious words, he heals disease and appears to raise the dead, then he speaks about the need to come into unity. He states rebellion must be done away with. He reminds everyone of all he has done, including dying for their sins, but if people refuse to come to him, he will sadly be forced to execute, but before he does he will discipline with limitations on buying and selling, sanctions, imprisonment, and then, only the most obstinate will be sentenced to a just execution by a "holy" god.

How many will be duped by this?

How can you tell if it is Satan or Christ?

- By his feet? If the feet don't touch?
- By every eye seeing him? What does it mean? Every eye sees him at once, or wherever he goes he heals blindness so every eye sees him?
- What about the brightness of his coming, if he had some of his angels come in brightness, could you tell they weren't quite as bright as God's angels? "They are only 60 watts we are waiting for the 100 watt angels?"
- By the Sabbath? (Then why weren't the Jews 2000 years ago able to recognize Jesus? They had the Sabbath!)

The only way to tell is to know God, his law of love, his character, His methods, to understand how God actually works, to reject Satan's idea of who God is and how God works. Those who promote the idea that God, in justice, must use his power to inflict punishment are setting the world up to accept Satan's counterfeit.

I like this description of why the wicked are not in heaven and God's attitude toward them:

Those who have chosen Satan as their leader and have been controlled by his power are not prepared to enter the presence of God. Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. Can they enter heaven to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC 542.1}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to heaven and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,-- every soul filled with love, every countenance beaming with joy, enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb, and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,--could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb? No, no; years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for heaven. Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from heaven is voluntary with themselves, and just and merciful on the part of God.

{GC 542.2}

Like the waters of the Flood the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. They have no disposition to submit to divine authority. Their will has been exercised in revolt; and when life is ended, it is too late to turn the current of their thoughts in the opposite direction, too late to turn from transgression to obedience, from hatred to love.
{GC 543.1}

THURSDAY

Do we go to heaven when we die? If the dead are not in heaven, where are they?

Death and Resurrection – read 1Thes 4:13-18

Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. ¹⁴ We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. ¹⁵ According to the Lord's own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep. ¹⁶ For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. ¹⁷ After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. ¹⁸ Therefore encourage each other with these words.

Who does the Lord bring with him when he returns? Those who have “fallen asleep” in Jesus, then where were they? Were they in heaven with Jesus?

Then what about:

the dust returns to the ground it came from,
and the spirit returns to God who gave it. Ecc 12:7

Thoughts?

When God formed Adam’s body out of the dirt of the earth, the body wasn’t alive until God breathed into Adam the “breath” of life and Adam became a living being. (Gen 2:7) The “breath” breathed into Adam is the Hebrew neshamah, the same “breath” of life the animals receive. (Gen. 7:21, 22; Eccl. 3:19) And, when a person dies there is “no breath [neshamah, life] left in him” (1 Kings 17:17). But, interestingly, even though this “breath” is no longer in the dead body, the Scripture uses a different word to describe what returns to God at death.

Ecclesiastes tells us that, at death, the ruach returns to God who gave it. (12:7) Ruach occurs 377 times in the Old Testament and is translated “breath” of the body 33 times as in Eze 37:5. So, on the surface, one could argue that God gave the “breath” of life and at death it returns to God. Yet, ruach is also translated as “spirit” or vitality 76 times (Jdg 15:19), “courage” (Jos 2:11), “temper” (Jdg 8:3), the seat of emotions 3 times (1Sam 1:15), moral character 16 times (Eze 11:19), and the “mind” 9 times (Eze 11:5). What this suggests is that the “breath” given to Adam became personalized and what returns to God is more than just life energy, it is the individuality of the sentient being.

Jesus said in Matthew 10:28 don’t fear the one who destroy the body, but the one who can destroy both body and soul.

The Greek for soul is $\psi\upsilon\chi\acute{\eta}$ psuche, from where we get “psyche,” which is the root for words like psychiatry and psychology, and it means the individuality or consciousness of the person.

Do these text give us insight into what Paul is talking about when he says Christ brings with him those who have fallen asleep?

I have electronic medical records in my office. I use a laptop connected via a wireless connection to a server in another room. Everything I record on my laptop is automatically backed up on the server in the other room. If someone were to destroy my laptop, smash it, melt it, we could say that my laptop is “dead.” But if I get a new piece of hardware (a new laptop) and connect it to my server and download all the stored information I have just “resurrected” by laptop.

I believe this is what the Jesus and the Bible are teaching. During our life everything we do, all the choices we make are forming our characters, our individualities. And everything going on in the mind is recorded (backed up) perfectly in the “Lamb’s book of life,” God’s heavenly “server.” If someone kills us, “destroys the body” they cannot touch the “psuche” our individuality which is stored perfectly safe in heaven. When we die, the spirit (ruach), our unique individuality, returns to God, safely stored awaiting download into a new body. Then when Christ returns he brings with him the stored individualities of all the saints and downloads them into perfect bodies created by Christ and thus they are resurrected to live eternally, joining those who are alive and transformed in a twinkling of an eye. We will discuss the end of the wicked in a later chapter.

Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. God in His own time will call forth the dead, giving again the breath of life, and bidding the dry bones live. The same form will come forth, but it will be free from disease and every defect. It lives again bearing the same individuality of features, so that friend will recognize friend. There is no law of God in nature which shows that God gives back the same identical particles of matter which composed the body before death. God shall give the righteous dead a body that will please Him. {Hvn 40.1}

When All Things Become New

Read Memory Text: “And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes; there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying. There shall be no more pain, for the former things have passed away.” Rev 21:4

When will all tears be wiped away? Before or after the millennium? Wouldn't it be after since it is in conjunction with there being no more death?

What about the sentence there will be no more sorrow or crying – if this is true, wouldn't it rule out the possibility of an eternal burning hell?

In other words, if there were an eternal burning place of torment, then wouldn't there be sorrow and crying by some of God's children for all eternity, so this verse would not be true?

As we talk about the events in Revelation 20-22 – what should we keep in mind?

- Do we know for certain what everything means?
- Or, is this both highly symbolic language and events that have not yet happened, therefore, we must remain open to possible change in our understanding?
- If someone believes differently than we do about these events does that mean they are not saved?
- Should we make certain interpretations of these verses a test of fellowship?
- Should we get upset or angry if someone understands these verses differently than we do?
- Can we explore different ideas, about the future, than what we have always been taught without getting upset?
- Are there any baseline points or ideas that we can use to know whether certain interpretations are true or not?

- God's character of love? Can we use the law of love and liberty to determine whether certain interpretations are accurate or not?

SUNDAY

Let's read Revelation chapter 20 together.

The Millennium – what do you understand this to be?

What have you heard regarding the teaching of the millennium?

When does it begin? When does it end?

Read the last paragraph, "That beginning..." thoughts?

What is this bottomless pit? How is Satan bound? Is it an action of force, or is he bound by circumstances?

Why doesn't God leave the wicked humans alive on earth for the 1000 years? Could they actually live? What would it be like to live on earth with no Holy Spirit, with Satan in full control, with nothing but evil in the heart and no righteous to attack? How is the earth described? Is it described as a great abyss, which is the same description as the earth in Genesis 1:1, the earth was void, without form and darkness covered the face of the deep. Could it be, without God here to sustain earth, that things revert back to chaos and human life is not sustainable in the vacuum of a black hole?

Does it make a difference to our salvation to be certain on this?

What difference does it make to understand this one way or another? Does it have any bearing on how we understand God and his methods?

Last week we explored some of the symbolism of the sanctuary service – this week we explore more symbolism, symbolism of prophecy. Do you think there could be a connection?

Is the millennium referenced anywhere OT sanctuary service?

What about the Day of Atonement – what happens on that day, what is symbolized and then what is the feast that follows?

The High Priest goes into the MH place and then comes out to where the people are and puts his hands on the head of the scapegoat and the scapegoat is taken into the wilderness – then, later in the cycle of events is the feast of tabernacles, which ends the yearly cycle.

What does this represent? Christ in heaven working to bring his people into “at-one-ment” unity, reconciliation with God, working to cleanse the people from everything that separates them from God. This would include removing the lies from our minds about God, exposing Satan as the deceiver he is, and transforming our characters to be like Christ’s.

Then, after his work in the MH place is done, he comes out, to where the people are, he comes back from heaven to where we are, and Satan is recognized, seen to be the true source of the lies, and rebellion, and he is held accountable by all living intelligences and is left alone in the wilderness of this world for 1000 years. Then, sometime later, God and the saved return and the final events take place, the earth is renewed, and we dwell on earth with God forever – we tabernacle with the Lord on earth forever.

Thoughts?

The scapegoat – were sins placed on the scapegoat – i.e. bad deeds, or was the acknowledgement that he is the source of lies placed on the scapegoat. In other words, we see the scapegoat for what he is and thus hold him responsible for the unwarranted attack on God, the deception of man, and the pain and suffering he has caused? “It is you Satan, that caused this, not God!”

- 12 How you have fallen from heaven,
 O morning star, son of the dawn!
 You have been cast down to the earth,
 you who once laid low the nations!
- 13 You said in your heart,
 “I will ascend to heaven;
 I will raise my throne
 above the stars of God;
 I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly,
 on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain.
- 14 I will ascend above the tops of the clouds;
 I will make myself like the Most High.”
- 15 But you are brought down to the grave,
 to the depths of the pit.
- 16 Those who see you stare at you,
 they ponder your fate:
“Is this the man who shook the earth and made kingdoms tremble,
 17 the man who made the world a desert, who overthrew its cities and would not let his captives go home?” ISA 14:12-17

Thoughts?

Notice, the description is that the people awaken and recognize Satan for what he is, a deceiver, the responsibility for sin is placed back on Satan.

What does the laying on of hands symbolize? Some suggest it is the transfer of sin – what do you think?

Could it mean anything else?

Take the blasphemer outside the camp. All those who heard him are to lay their hands on his head, and the entire assembly is to stone him. Lev 24:14

What is being symbolized here? Were the people transferring sins to the person? What were they doing?

Were they perhaps saying, your fate is on your own head, what happens to you is based on who you are, we recognize you for what and who you are?

Could the symbolism of the High Priest represent the recognition that Satan's demise is on his own head, we see him for who and what he is?

MONDAY

Read Revelation 20:4 – thoughts? What does it mean?

Read last two paragraphs, “One of the three....”

Thoughts?

What does this mean? What are they going to be judging?

Let's read Rev 20:4 from a variety of versions:

- I saw thrones on which were seated those who had been given authority to judge. NIV
- Then I saw thrones, and those who sat on them were given the power to judge. GNT
- And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them ASV
- And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. NKJV

Thoughts?

- Does it mean we are judicial agents, determining guilt and innocence and meting out proper imposed punishments?
- Or, does it mean we are given the ability, the power, to rightly judge what has happened in the Great Controversy and why the wicked experience what they do?
- In other words, our minds are healed and we understand things correctly now?
- If the judgment is actually created beings, sitting around in committee, weighing the evidence for and against individuals, determining either guilt/innocence, or accepting God found them guilty and we are merely determining the length of their fiery punishment before execution – what would this mean about God and his law?

Is God's law imposed or natural? Does God's law have built in consequence or are the consequences for breaking God's law externally imposed by God?

Does it make a difference regarding the kind of being God is and our ability to trust him?

Which view increases trust in God, which view undermines trust in God?

If you had broken both the imposed law of not speeding, and the natural law of physics by running off the road and having your body impact a fixed object at high speed, do you want to see law enforcement or a judge? Do you want to see EMTs and the doctor?

Does it make a difference how we view God in our ability to trust him? Why do so many religious teachers insist on presenting God as a law enforcer? Who benefits from this?

When we think of the judgment described in Rev 20, who benefits from this judgment?

So what do you understand happens during the 1000 years?

What does it mean that death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire? Does it mean death was killed? How does one kill death? Would it be through life? What is the lake of fire?

Is sin composed of material substance, matter? Can fire burn sin? What is sin composed of? What consumes it? Where does the fire originate? Does it have any connection with Bible description of God's presence being a fire?

TUESDAY

What do you understand happens at the end of the 1000 years?

The New Jerusalem comes down from heaven, filled with the saints of God, with God and Jesus, and angels, and the wicked humans are raised to life and are on earth with wicked angels and Satan.

The gates of the New Jerusalem are open and Satan and his evil hoard go about making implements of war – for some period, then when they march on the city to attack it the gates are closed.

What are the implications of this? Why resurrect the wicked to do this? What is revealed by this experience?

When they march on the city, God unveils himself and the fire of his presence begins to flow over the earth – the fire of love and truth. The wicked, who had been deceived, are no longer deceived and realize they have been lied to. They turn on those who have lied to them and many are killed in the slaughter. Then, the fires of truth continue to burn through the minds of people and they come face to face with unremedied sin in their characters and this causes terrible agony as they experience themselves for what they are and, eventually die.

Then, fires of combustion consume all nature that has been polluted, deformed, and defective from sin, and the earth is made new.

Here is one description from a book called Early Writings:

Then Jesus and all the retinue of holy angels, and all the redeemed saints, left the city. The angels surrounded their Commander and escorted Him on His way, and the train of redeemed saints followed. Then, in terrible, fearful majesty, Jesus called forth the wicked dead; and they came up with the same feeble, sickly bodies that went into the grave. What a spectacle! what a scene! At the first resurrection all came forth in immortal bloom; but at the second the marks of the curse are visible on all. The kings and noblemen of the earth, the mean and low, the learned and unlearned, come forth together. All behold the Son of man; and those very men who despised and mocked Him, who put the crown of thorns upon His sacred brow, and smote Him with the reed, behold Him in all His kingly majesty. Those who spit upon Him in the hour of His trial now turn from His piercing gaze and from the glory of His countenance. Those who drove the nails through His hands and feet now look upon the marks of His crucifixion. Those who thrust the spear into His side behold the marks of their cruelty on His body. And they know that He is the very one whom they crucified and derided in His expiring agony. And then there arises one long protracted wail of agony, as they flee to hide from the presence of the King of kings and Lord of lords. {EW 292.1}

All are seeking to hide in the rocks, to shield themselves from the terrible glory of Him whom they once despised. And, overwhelmed and pained with His majesty and exceeding glory, they with one accord raise their voices, and with terrible distinctness exclaim, "Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord!" {EW 292.2}

Then Jesus and the holy angels, accompanied by all the saints, again go to the city, and the bitter lamentations and wailings of the doomed wicked fill the air. Then I saw that Satan again commenced his work. He passed around among his subjects, and made the weak and feeble strong, and told them that he and his angels were powerful. He pointed to the countless millions who had been raised. There were mighty warriors and kings who were well skilled in battle and who had conquered kingdoms. And there were mighty giants and valiant men who had never lost a battle. There was the proud, ambitious Napoleon, whose approach had caused kingdoms to tremble. There stood men of lofty stature and dignified bearing, who had fallen in battle while thirsting to conquer. As they come forth from their graves, they resume the current of their thoughts where it ceased in death. They possess the same desire to conquer which ruled when they fell. Satan consults with his angels, and then with those kings and conquerors and mighty men. Then he looks over the vast army, and tells them that the company in the city is small and feeble, and that they can go up and take it, and cast out its inhabitants, and possess its riches and glory themselves. {EW 293.1}

Satan succeeds in deceiving them, and all immediately begin to prepare themselves for battle. There are many skillful men in that vast army, and they construct all kinds of implements of war. Then with Satan at their head, the multitude move on. Kings and warriors follow close after Satan, and the multitude follow after in companies. Each company has its leader, and order is observed as they march over the broken surface of the earth to the Holy City. Jesus closes the gates of the city, and this vast army surround it, and place themselves in battle array, expecting a fierce conflict. Jesus and all the angelic host and all the saints, with the glittering crowns upon their heads, ascend to the top of the wall of the city. Jesus speaks with majesty, saying, "Behold, ye sinners, the reward of the just! And behold, My redeemed, the reward of the wicked!" The vast multitude behold the glorious company on the walls of the city. And as they witness the splendor of their glittering crowns and see their faces radiant with glory, reflecting the image of Jesus, and then behold the unsurpassed glory and majesty of the King of kings and Lord of lords, their courage fails. A sense of the treasure and glory which they have lost rushes upon them, and they realize that the wages of sin is death. They see the holy, happy company whom they have despised, clothed with glory, honor, immortality, and eternal life, while they are outside the city with every mean and abominable thing. EW 293

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

The New Earth – how do you think God will recreate the earth, in one quick moment, or will he do it in six days and rest on the seventh?

Which would you prefer? Would you like to see it done all over again as he did in the beginning?

Read second paragraph, "The word translated..." thoughts?

What was God's purpose in Genesis? A showcase for his law of love, in a living being, an entire civilization and ecosystem governed by his methods and principles of love. Adam and Eve were to govern earth, now Jesus governs the universe from earth. Any thoughts or implications?

Read Rev 21:9-22:5 then read last paragraph, thoughts?

I believe there is a literal city, a physical place we will dwell. But, do you believe this is literal or metaphorical?

Can someone, including God, marry an inanimate object? Doesn't marriage require two consenting beings? Does marriage, as God designed and would participate in, require love, affection, unity of heart and mind? So, could the marriage of the lamb really be to an empty city made out of inanimate material?

Note the city is adorned like a bride, what adornments would a city need? Would it not be adorned with the living beings who are in unity with God?

So, while I believe there is a literal city, in which we will live, and a literal earth, upon which we will dwell, I believe this description is highly metaphorical to describe the people of God, built together into a dwelling place for God.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Perhaps there isn't..." thoughts?

What did sin do that caused a separation between God and man?

What is changed such that the separation no longer exists?

Read second paragraph, "Also, true fellowship..." thoughts?

What do you think the fellowship, relationship, between man and nature will be?

If we are to be a dwelling place where God dwells by his Spirit, if we are to be in such unity with God that we can communicate with him at all times, share our thoughts and know his presence, and if we were created in his image to reveal him, do you think we will be able to commune with nature, animals in a similar way? Do you think we will be able to have awareness of what is going on in a plant? Will we have ability to control inanimate nature?

Read last two paragraphs, thoughts?

Isn't the size of the universe amazing? Isn't the God who built it amazing?

Is the size of the universe alone, sufficient reason for God to be worthy of our worship? 19th century theologian George MacDonald said:

What is the deepest in God? His power? No, for power could not make him what we mean when we say God. A being whose essence was only power would be such a negation of the divine that no righteous worship could be offered him; his service would be only fear.¹

Thoughts?

Isn't it God's character of love that merits our humble devotion and love?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "In the typical..." thoughts?

What do you think this means? Does it make a difference to you if you believe the heavenly sanctuary is built out of mortar and brick, versus built out of living beings?

SUNDAY

The lesson contrasts the Bing Bang theory with Biblical Creation – which is more reasonable, which has more evidence to support it, which is more scientific?

Read first paragraph, “There are many...” thoughts?

Do you agree the universe has a beginning? Do you think Genesis 1:1 is the best Scripture to use for the beginning of the universe?

If not, what scripture would you use?

- In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. ² He was with God in the beginning. Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made. Jn 1:1-3
- In the past, God spoke to our ancestors many times and in many ways through the prophets, ²but in these last days he has spoken to us through his Son. He is the one through whom God created the universe, the one whom God has chosen to possess all things at the end. Heb 1:1,2
- By faith we understand that the universe was formed at God’s command, so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible. Heb 11:3
- He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. ¹⁶ For by him all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things were created by him and for him. ¹⁷ He is before all things, and in him all things hold together. Col 1:15-17

What is different about these texts than the Genesis 1:1 text?

Could the Genesis 1 text be referring only to the creation of earth and our solar system, whereas the other texts are more encompassing?

“Where were you when I laid the earth’s foundation?
Tell me, if you understand.
5 Who marked off its dimensions? Surely you know!
Who stretched a measuring line across it?
6 On what were its footings set,
or who laid its cornerstone—
7 while the morning stars sang together
and all the angels shouted for joy? Job 38:4-7

What does this indicate? That angels were already in existence before earth was created – meaning what about the universe? There was something already here when earth was created, so Genesis 1 likely doesn’t refer to the creation of the universe but the creation of our solar system.

One of the founders of our church understood Scripture to teach that the universe was already in existence when earth was created.

Angels on probation had been deceived by Satan, and had been led on by him in the great rebellion in heaven against Christ. They failed to endure the test brought to bear upon them, and they fell. Adam was then created in the image of God and placed upon probation. He had a perfectly developed organism. All his faculties were harmonious. In all his emotions, words, and actions, there was a perfect conformity to the will of his Maker. {Con 18.2}

The King of the universe summoned the heavenly hosts before Him, that in their presence He might set forth the true position of His Son and show the relation He sustained to all created beings. The Son of God shared the Father's throne, and the glory of the eternal, self-existent One encircled both. About the throne gathered the holy angels, a vast, unnumbered throng-- "ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands" (Revelation 5:11.), the most exalted angels, as ministers and subjects, rejoicing in the light that fell upon them from the presence of the Deity. Before the assembled inhabitants of heaven the King declared that none but Christ, the Only Begotten of God, could fully enter into His purposes, and to Him it was committed to execute the mighty counsels of His will. The Son of God had wrought the Father's will in the creation of all the hosts of heaven; and to Him, as well as to God, their homage and allegiance were due. Christ was still to exercise divine power, in the creation of the earth and its inhabitants. But in all this He would not seek power or exaltation for Himself contrary to God's plan, but would exalt the Father's glory and execute His purposes of beneficence and love. {PP 36.2}

Thoughts?

What do you think of the last parenthetical statement, “scientific views, even those once deemed sacrosanct, are often changed or refuted.” Is this a bad thing or a good thing?

What about religion, theology, should we in our religious beliefs have a willingness to refute previously held beliefs, if the evidence supports it, even if they are “sacrosanct”?

But as real spiritual life declines, it has ever been the tendency to cease to advance in the knowledge of the truth. Men rest satisfied with the light already received from God's word and discourage any further investigation of the Scriptures. They become conservative and seek to avoid discussion.

"There is no excuse for any one in taking the position that there is no more truth to be revealed, and that all our expositions of Scripture are without an error. The fact that certain doctrines have been held as truth for many years by our people, is not a proof that our ideas are infallible. Age will not make error into truth, and truth can afford to be fair. No true doctrine will lose anything by close investigation." Review and Herald, Dec. 20, 1892 (2RH 623:1:1); CWE 35; compare RH July 26, 1892; The Ellen G. White 1888 Materials 991

"However long men may have entertained certain views, if they are not clearly sustained by the written word, they should be discarded.

"I have been shown that many who profess to have a knowledge of present truth know not what they believe. They do not understand the evidences of their faith. . . . When the time of trial shall come, there are men now preaching to others who will find, upon examining the positions they hold, that there are many things for which they can give no satisfactory reason. Until thus tested they knew not their great ignorance. And there are many in the church who take it for granted that they understand what they believe; but, until controversy arises, they do not know their own weakness. When separated from those of like faith, and compelled to stand singly and alone to explain their belief, they will be surprised to see how confused are their ideas of what they had accepted as truth. . . .

"Experience is said to be the best teacher. Genuine experience is indeed superior to mere theoretical knowledge, but many have an erroneous idea as to what constitutes experience. Real experience is gained by a variety of careful experiments, made with the mind free from prejudice, uncontrolled by previously established opinions and habits. The results are marked with careful solicitude. . . .

"That which many term experience is not experience at all. . . . There has not been a fair trial by actual experiment and thorough investigation, with a knowledge of the principles involved in the action. . . .

"Here is where we have met the greatest difficulties in religious matters. The plainest facts may be presented, the clearest truths, sustained by the word of God, may be brought before the mind; but the ear and the heart are closed, and the all-convincing argument is, 'my experience.' Some will say, 'The Lord has blessed me in believing and doing as I have; therefore I cannot be in error.' 'My experience' is clung to, and the most elevating, sanctifying truths of the Bible are rejected. . . .

"Many examples might be given to show how people have been deceived by relying upon what they supposed to be their experience." Christian Temperance and Bible Hygiene 109-110

Thoughts about this attitude?

How are we to determine what we believe? The Integrative Evidence Based approach, which integrates three threads, Scripture, Science and Experience, finding the answer in which all three harmonize.

Read the 2nd and 3rd paragraphs, “As with Genesis 1:1... thoughts?”

The Big Bang postulates that the universe came from nothing, from no pre-existing matter. So what is the difference between this and the Big Bang?

While God was not dependent upon pre-existing matter, as the lesson points out, did the universe come from absolutely nothing, or from something? Is God nothing? Or is God something real? Is God pre-existent? So if everything came from God then did it come from nothing or from something? This is a critical difference between the Big Bang and Creation.

What evidence to you cite that supports creation over evolution?

- Evolution is contrary to natural laws (without exception) whereas creation is consistent with natural laws—for example, creation is consistent with the laws of thermodynamics and law of biogenesis. Evolution violates those laws.
 - The fundamental premises to each theory:
 - Something comes from nothing, or something comes from something (1st law of thermodynamics, energy is conserved)
 - Complexity comes from chaos without intelligent input, or with intelligent input (2nd law of thermodynamics, without energy put into a system it decays)
 - Life comes from non-life, or life comes from life? (the law of biogenesis)
- There are no known biological processes for evolution into higher levels of organization and complexity—mutations are degenerative and none have been documented to actually advance a species. Read Genetic Entropy by Sanford for documentation of this.
- Geologic landforms and sedimentary features are consistent with a worldwide flood as described in the Book of Genesis.
- There is no credible technique for establishing the age of sedimentary rock—fossil dating used to establish the age of sedimentary rock suffers from circular reasoning and guesswork, all based on the assumption of evolution.
- The standard geologic column with transitional creatures evolving toward more complex forms, as depicted in most science textbooks, is fictitious, and cannot be found anywhere in the real world.

- There are no transitional forms—there is not one single example of evolution! There should be billions of examples of transitional forms with transitional structures if evolution were true, but there are none. The bottom line, speciation has never been observed to occur within living populations. Therefore the idea of one life form evolving to another higher life form is not scientific, it is fiction or fantasy. Science requires observable, reproducible results. This idea has neither.
- Carbon-14 has been found in coal and diamonds supposedly hundreds of millions of years old. (C-14 has a relatively short life-span dissipating completely in 50,000 years.)
- Abundant daughter isotopes are indicative of accelerated nuclear decay associated with creation and not slow and gradual processes over billions of years.
- Evidences of accelerated nuclear decay in igneous rocks found worldwide are helium in zircon crystals, radiohalos and fission tracks, and rapid magnetic field reversals and decay.
- The seven day weekly cycle in all cultures of the world, no natural phenomenon can explain it. The Bible does.
- The law of love, as the circle of giving that all life is created to operate upon, and is observable and testable.

So, which theory is more scientific? Creation is abundantly more consistent with the evidence. Therefore, creation is more scientific than evolutionary theory of origins.

MONDAY

Read paragraphs 1-4 “Not just...” thoughts?

Any questions?

Do you agree with the idea that everything is carefully balanced? Is it consistent with a designer?

Where did all the water for the flood come from?

A water layer above the earth – okay, and if so, what does this also explain? The apparent age of organic material that existed before the flood. C14, is used to date organic material, and C14 is created from solar radiation. If there was a water layer above the earth before the flood then living matter before the flood would appear much older as it starts with less C14.

But, then what do we do about the last paragraph, that the earth is positioned in the exact right temperate zone from the sun? If there was a water layer above the earth, reducing solar radiation, then would the earth still be in the right zone? And how did such a water layer stay above the earth?

Perhaps, the Bible gives us an answer:

- The moon will shine like the sun, and the sunlight will be seven times brighter, like the light of seven full days, when the LORD binds up the bruises of his people and heals the wounds he inflicted. Isa 30:26

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Though we cannot...” thoughts?

Here is a description from the book Education:

- Upon all created things is seen the impress of the Deity. Nature testifies of God. The susceptible mind, brought in contact with the miracle and mystery of the universe, cannot but recognize the working of infinite power. Not by its own inherent energy does the earth produce its bounties, and year by year continue its motion around the sun. An unseen hand guides the planets in their circuit of the heavens. A mysterious life pervades all nature--a life that sustains the unnumbered worlds throughout immensity, that lives in the insect atom which floats in the summer breeze, that wings the flight of the swallow and feeds the young ravens which cry, that brings the bud to blossom and the flower to fruit. {Ed 99.1}

The same power that upholds nature, is working also in man. The same great laws that guide alike the star and the atom control human life. The laws that govern the heart's action, regulating the flow of the current of life to the body, are the laws of the mighty Intelligence that has the jurisdiction of the soul. From Him all life proceeds. Only in harmony with Him can be found its true sphere of action. For all the objects of His creation the condition is the same--a life sustained by receiving the life of God, a life exercised in harmony with the Creator's will. To transgress His law, physical, mental, or moral, is to place one's self out of harmony with the universe, to introduce discord, anarchy, ruin. {Ed 99.2}

Thoughts?

This is very significant, scientists can take a seed and study it, break it down to its various chemical and biological components, but science cannot take those base elements and build a seed that actually grows. There is something science cannot explain, create, reproduce – life. The spark that makes things reproduce and grow. That life energy originates in God.

Read third paragraph, “Many scientists...” thoughts?

Is this perhaps a straw man set up by scientists? Of course God is not “restricted” by the laws of nature, why? Because all natural law originates with the builder of the universe.

Does God violate his laws? Is God restricted by the laws of nature?

Is walking on water a violation of natural law? Or could it be an exercise of natural law beyond our understanding?

If all things originate from God, hold together by his constant care, then, does he know how the laws work beyond our ability?

When God exercises his power, does he ever exercise it in ways that violate his nature and character of love?

Is nature built to operate in harmony with God's character of love?

Then whatever God is doing, it is in harmony with natural law, as natural law is an expression of God's character of love God doesn't operate contrary to his own character.

Can God express his character in "laws" or methods not yet understood by humans?

So it is a straw man to argue God is restricted by natural law- but in reaction, could it be an error to argue God operates contrary to natural law?

WEDNESDAY

Jesus, Creator of Heaven and Earth – why do you think the Scripture makes it clear that Jesus is the member of the Godhead through whom the universe was created?

Were the Father and Holy Spirit not capable? Of course they were, so was there a specific reason it was Jesus?

And is this reason also connected to why Jesus was the member of the Godhead who became human and died to save us?

With whom did Lucifer allege equality? Do we have any indications of this from Scripture?

- 12 "How you are fallen from heaven,
 O Lucifer, son of the morning!
 How you are cut down to the ground,
 You who weakened the nations!
- 13 For you have said in your heart:
 'I will ascend into heaven,
 I will exalt my throne above the stars of God;
 I will also sit on the mount of the congregation
 On the farthest sides of the north;

- 14 I will ascend above the heights of the clouds,
I will be like the Most High.⁷
15 Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol,
To the lowest depths of the Pit. Isa 14:12-15 NKJV

To whom is this referring? Satan before his fall – how do other versions render verse 12, what NKJV call Lucifer?

- How you have fallen from heaven, morning star, son of the dawn! NIV
- How you are fallen from heaven, Day Star, son of Dawn! NRSV

Does this suggest anything in your mind?

And we have the word of the prophets made more certain, and you will do well to pay attention to it, as to a light shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts. 2Pet 1:19

The morning star refers to who? Jesus – and the Greek is phosphoros, which in the Latin is Lucifer.

φωσφόρος [phosphoros /foce·for·os/] adj. From 5457 and 5342; TDNT 9:310; TDNTA 1293; GK 5892; AV translates as “day star” once. 1 light bringing, giving light. 2 the planet Venus, the morning star, day star. 3 metaph. Christ.¹

Lucifer means light bearer, and who does John say is the light which lightens all men?

And throughout Scripture Jesus, prior to His incarnation is described as appearing in the form of an angel.

For I do not want you to be ignorant of the fact, brothers, that our forefathers were all under the cloud and that they all passed through the sea.² They were all baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea.³ They all ate the same spiritual food⁴ and drank the same spiritual drink; for they drank from the spiritual rock that accompanied them, and that rock was Christ. 1Cor 10:1-4

The member of the Godhead who led the children of Israel through Moses was Jesus Christ.

Now Moses was tending the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian, and he led the flock to the far side of the desert and came to Horeb, the mountain of God.² There the angel of the LORD appeared to him in flames of fire from within a bush. Moses saw that though the bush was on fire it did not burn up.³ So Moses thought, “I will go over and see this strange sight—why the bush does not burn up.”

⁴ When the LORD saw that he had gone over to look, God called to him from within the bush, “Moses! Moses!” Exodus 3:1-4

Notice the angel of the Lord appeared to him in the flames and God called to him from the bush.

The point is simple, God is infinite, beyond the understanding and engagement of finite beings and is described as living in “unapproachable light” 1Tim 6:16,17. Therefore, God, longing intimacy with his creatures has always had one member of the Godhead interact on the level of his creation, that member is Jesus and prior to his incarnation Jesus manifested himself in the form of an angel. He was not an angel, but manifested as an angel.

Jesus was/is God. Lucifer, however alleged equality with Jesus and claimed no difference between the two. This is the distortion he used to cause disaffection and jealousy in heaven and undermined trust in the Father suggesting the Father played favorites in allowing Jesus to enter into counsels with the Father Lucifer could not.

With this perspective do we gain any insight into why Jesus was the member of the Godhead that created?

THURSDAY

The Creator Among Us

After Lucifer started his lies about God, what did God in heaven do? He announced the truth that Jesus was equal with the Father and then Christ went about showing his equality by creating earth and life on earth.

How did Lucifer respond in heaven to that?

We have a ruler over us, someone who abuses power, someone who Lords over, someone who will not sacrifice himself for others. I like the description found in the book Patriarchs and Prophets, do you like it or have problems with it?

The King of the universe summoned the heavenly hosts before Him, that in their presence He might set forth the true position of His Son and show the relation He sustained to all created beings. The Son of God shared the Father's throne, and the glory of the eternal, self-existent One encircled both. About the throne gathered the holy angels, a vast, unnumbered throng--"ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands" (Revelation 5:11.), the most exalted angels, as ministers and subjects, rejoicing in the light that fell upon them from the presence of the Deity. Before the assembled inhabitants of heaven the King declared that none but Christ, the Only Begotten of God, could fully enter into His purposes, and to Him it was committed to execute the mighty counsels of His will. The Son of God had wrought the Father's will in the creation of all the hosts of heaven; and to Him, as well as to God, their homage and allegiance were due. Christ was still to exercise divine power, in the creation of the earth and its inhabitants. But in all this He would not seek power or exaltation for Himself contrary to God's plan, but would exalt the Father's glory and execute His purposes of beneficence and love. {PP 36.2}

The angels joyfully acknowledged the supremacy of Christ, and prostrating themselves before Him, poured out their love and adoration. Lucifer bowed with them, but in his heart there was a strange, fierce conflict. Truth, justice, and loyalty were struggling against envy and jealousy. The influence of the holy angels seemed for a time to carry him with them. As songs of praise ascended in melodious strains, swelled by thousands of glad voices, the spirit of evil seemed vanquished; unutterable love thrilled his entire being; his soul went out, in harmony with the sinless worshippers, in love to the Father and the Son. But again he was filled with pride in his own glory. His desire for supremacy returned, and envy of Christ was once more indulged. The high honors conferred upon Lucifer were not appreciated as God's special gift, and therefore, called forth no gratitude to his Creator. He gloried in his brightness and exaltation and aspired to be equal with God. He was beloved and revered by the heavenly host, angels delighted to execute his commands, and he was clothed with wisdom and glory above them all. Yet the Son of God was exalted above him, as one in power and authority with the Father. He shared the Father's counsels, while Lucifer did not thus enter into the purposes of God. "Why," questioned this mighty angel, "should Christ have the supremacy? Why is He honored above Lucifer?" {PP 36.3}

Leaving his place in the immediate presence of the Father, Lucifer went forth to diffuse the spirit of discontent among the angels. He worked with mysterious secrecy, and for a time concealed his real purpose under an appearance of reverence for God. He began to insinuate doubts concerning the laws that governed heavenly beings, intimating that though laws might be necessary for the inhabitants of the worlds, angels, being more exalted, needed no such restraint, for their own wisdom was a sufficient guide. They were not beings that could bring dishonor to God; all their thoughts were holy; it was no more possible for them than for God Himself to err. The exaltation of the Son of God as equal with the Father was represented as an injustice to Lucifer, who, it was claimed, was also entitled to reverence and honor. If this prince of angels could but attain to his true, exalted position, great good would accrue to the entire host of heaven; for it was his object to secure freedom for all. But now even the liberty which they had hitherto enjoyed was at an end; for an absolute Ruler had been appointed them, and to His authority all must pay homage. Such were the subtle deceptions that through the wiles of Lucifer were fast obtaining in the heavenly courts.

{PP 37.1}

There had been no change in the position or authority of Christ. Lucifer's envy and misrepresentation and his claims to equality with Christ had made necessary a statement of the true position of the Son of God; but this had been the same from the beginning. Many of the angels were, however, blinded by Lucifer's deceptions. {PP 38.1}

What do you think of this description? Does it give some sense to what the struggles were in heaven? Does it give some reason as to why Christ was the member who created? What does it reveal? It demonstrates that Christ and Lucifer are not the same. Christ is fully God, the creator. Lucifer is a created being.

Does it also give insight into why Christ came to save us? He created us, we are evidences of His creatorship, Satan may allege, he can't create things right, look how messed up this is. And, Satan alleged that Christ was no a ruler over them. Suggesting Christ was selfish and wouldn't sacrifice himself for others. He was projecting his own evil character upon God and Christ.

“Satan had accused God of requiring self-denial of the angels, when he knew nothing of what it meant himself, and when he would not himself make any self-sacrifice for others. This was the accusation that Satan made against God in heaven; and after the evil one was expelled from heaven, he continually charged the Lord with exacting service which he would not render himself. Christ came to the world to meet these false accusations, and to reveal the Father.” RH, February 18, 1890

Thoughts?

The lesson describes Christ's miracles, which are phenomenal to be sure- but seems to use these as evidences to prove Christ is the creator – what is the problem with this argument?

Jesus gave them this answer: “I tell you the truth, the Son can do nothing by himself; he can do only what he sees his Father doing, because whatever the Father does the Son also does.”²

So Jesus said, “When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am the one I claim to be and that I do nothing on my own but speak just what the Father has taught me.”³

Jesus lived as a man and overcame as a man, and the miracles he performed were not done by exercising his own divine ability but by trust in his Father. Just as other humans have done. In fact, one of the great points of Jesus temptations was to use his own divine ability to perform miracles, thus doing something no other human could do.

Many humans were used by God to perform miracles, Elijah raised the dead child, Elisha floated an axe head, Moses parted the sea, the Apostles healed many diseases – yet none of these miracles proved they were the Creator.

Creation: Forming the World

SABBATH

Read second paragraph, “Some scholars...” thoughts?

Any concerns with the arguments of this paragraph?

Why do you think they chose the word “impose”? Would you have described it differently?

Is “impose” a purpose, and “created for a purpose” the same?

Does “impose” connote a certain lack of freedom, a certain constraint, and/or control, almost sounding as if it is a big puppet show?

Where is the line drawn between God’s design, God’s parameters for operation, even God’s intention and planned purpose for his creation, and freedom within God’s creation?

Does “nature” have freedom? What does one define as nature? Is humankind part of “nature”? Are animals part of nature?

Do birds have “freedom” to choose where to build their nest, or is God deciding where they build their nests?

Does God create an environment, atmosphere, design for the health and welfare of his creation based on constants, protocols, “laws,” and then give real freedom for his creation to operate within those parameters or not? OR does God impose his will upon creation enforcing things go his way?

If it is the second, then why did sin happen? Was it God’s imposed way?

Are we then arguing for theistic evolution? In other words, if we argue God imposes his way, then aren’t arguing that the way events unfolded was in harmony with God’s way, and he therefore uses the methods of evolution for his purposes?

Theistic evolution has arisen as people have attempted to merge ideas from science and the Bible. But, why is theistic evolution an impossible concept to derive if one uses the Bible?

Theistic Evolution Untenable:

- Days were created in 24 hour periods- evolution cannot happen that fast
- If days are interpreted to mean eons of time, then no life could have evolved because the plants were created on day three and sun on day four

- Theistic evolution is a direct assault on God's character and law – how?
 - God is love and his law is the law of giving and beneficence
 - Theistic evolution is built upon the law of death, me first, kill or be killed, the strong destroying the weak in order to save self. This is an argument based on Satan's lies about God.
- If theistic evolution is true then sin is undefinable, because there is never a time when exploiting others to advance self is not needed to continue our growth and improvement. When does a mollusk become accountable for survival? When is a rodent accountable for killing to survive? Etc. etc. When does accountability begin? With the gorilla, homo erectus, Neanderthal, or homo sapien? Again part of Satan's strategy is to confuse facts and make sin something "arbitrary." So Satan would allege that sin "began when God said it does because he is God and God does what he wants." This obscures the truth that God built his universe upon unchangeable protocols, and violations of those protocols are destructive.
- Without an atmosphere solar radiation would be so intense that life couldn't evolve – how did an oxygen rich atmosphere evolve without plants that produce oxygen?
- If we suggest an oxygen rich primordial soup, how did living cells evolve in an oxidizing, high radiation environment?

Can you think of any Bible texts that reveal God's foreknowledge regarding how people would question creation and begin thinking that things came along naturally on their own?

First of all, you must understand that in these last days some people will appear whose lives are controlled by their own lusts. They will mock you⁴ and will ask, "He promised to come, didn't he? Where is he? Our ancestors have already died, but everything is still the same as it was since the creation of the world!" They purposely ignore the fact that long ago God gave a command, and the heavens and earth were created. The earth was formed out of water and by water, and it was also by water, the water of the flood, that the old world was destroyed. 2Pet 3:3-6

Do you hear a prediction, that at the end of time people would forget about creation, and purposely choose to believe that things continue along naturally? Doesn't this sound like a prediction that evolutionary theory would come along at the end of time?

What is the difference between the theory of evolution and adaptation as God designed?

- Evolution states no God, no Intelligent Creator, only natural random forces involved in creation of the cosmos and life.
- Evolution states that random forces cause random mutations, that along with selection pressure result in a slow gradual advancement of the species.
- Creation says, that God created the universe and then life, and he built into his design for life the ability to change and adapt based on one's own choices and experiences. In other words,

God didn't design us like we design wind up toys, that have the appearance of life, but only do the exact same thing over and over again. No, God built us with ability to actually change ourselves, down to our DNA and then create beings in our own image, for good or for bad as we decide.

- Thus, adaptation, neural rewiring, physical change, DNA change, based on choice and experience, epigenetic modification and transposons, which change the person and their offspring, is exactly how God created life to operate. This is not speciation, one species becoming another species, but the same species changing and adapting based on choice and need.
- Any examples of adaptation?
 - Darwin's famous finches – with all the different beaks, didn't happen over millions of years due to random mutation, but happened in 1-2 generations due to environment and epigenetic modification. Amazingly, Darwin's finches are evidence of creation, not evolution.¹
 - Not all changes, since humankind deviated from God's design are adaptive and consistent with how God designed life to operate.
 - Telomere shortening, which contributes to aging
 - Epigenetic modification in response to famine, which contributes to obesity in offspring
 - Epigenetic modification related to alcohol, which results in offspring of mothers who drink while pregnant have change in taste receptors such that alcohol tastes better than if mother didn't drink while pregnant
 - And a recent study found that epigenetic modification of how the brain responds to testosterone may contribute to homosexuality. Females get an epigenetic marker that prevents their brains from masculinizing when exposed to testosterone. Male brains don't have this epigenetic change. Sometimes, however, the epigenetic modifier, which should be removed from mother's DNA doesn't get removed and her son's brain doesn't respond to testosterone normally, and thus doesn't masculinize.²

So, when Adam and Eve sinned, they actually changed themselves, in character, but because of the way God built them, they changed biologically as well. Thus God's healing plan involves both, we get

MONDAY

Read top dark section “Then God said...” thoughts?

What points do you take from this passage?

What are the possible meanings to “Let there be light”?

- God was presenting truth and thus it was the light of truth that we revealed on day one
- God lives in unapproachable “light” thus it was the light of God’s presence showing up to create
- It was some form of physical light with photons, heavenly flashlights, to give light to God’s workspace
- It was God dissipating a black hole in the Milky Way and light from the rest of the suns in the Milky Way was now flowing
- Other possible meanings?

Which do you like best and why? Which fits the available evidence best and what are the weaknesses with each position?

- God was presenting truth but this week is about creation, was God creating truth? The text goes on to describe night and day, light and dark, which seems to lean away from a metaphorical interpretation to something happening more literally.
- God does lives in unapproachable “light” but again, the context is about creating or doing something creative, was God creating the light that always emanates from his presence?
- It was some form of physical light with photons, heavenly flashlights, to give light to God’s workspace. Physical light would be consistent with God creating, or acting to cause something not already happening to happen, thus physical light seems likely, but there is no account in the Bible or natural world of a new source for this light being created.

- It was God dissipating a black hole in the Milky Way and light from the rest of the suns in the Milky Way was now flowing in this newly created solar system. This fits the context of the description of earth before creation, it fits with God acting with creative power to do something, it fits with the physical reality of the universe with the light of millions of suns being seen, it fits with Scripture's account of angels singing when earth was created.

What do you think about the idea that God divided the light from the darkness and called the light day and the darkness night, so that the evening and the morning were the first day, yet the Sun of our solar system wasn't created until day four?

What are the possible explanations?

- Moses was writing to a group of people who were familiar with night and day, and he wanted to be sure they understood the time period involved in each creation day was a normal 24 hour earth day and not some expanse of time
- God's presence, was more brilliant than the sun and as the earth was created it rotated on its axis and as it turned in relationship to God, it had a light and dark phase lasting 24 hours since its rotation was set at a constant rate. God then named these periods day and night, and on day four created the sun to light it when God's physical presence wasn't here.
- Other?

What are the reasons you like one over the other? Any evidence for either?

TUESDAY

Read top section, "Then God said..." thoughts?

What do you find important about this?

Do you notice the water was divided into that above the atmosphere and that below it? Why is this important? Does it give us any insight regarding the condition of the earth today and how to understand geology and dating of the earth?

This provides a sound basis for the Biblical flood, the geological changes based on the flood, and the explanation for why C14 dating cannot be trusted to give reliable dates. The waters above the earth would have provided protection from solar radiation, reducing C14 in the atmosphere before the flood and for many years after the flood thus, one of the assumptions required for C14 reliability is that C14 in the atmosphere be in steady state is false. So the older something actually is, its age is falsely magnified as it starts with less C14 than we have in the atmosphere today.

Imagine if this water above the earth had some type of circulatory pattern – what might that have resulted in? Would it have distributed the heat from the sun creating a uniform temperature around the globe? There would have been no rain, just heavy dew. Do you think the water above the earth was in some liquid state, or was it in a vapor? If in a liquid state do you think the atmosphere thinned at higher altitudes as it does now? Would trees grow taller if the atmosphere didn't thin? Would birds fly higher? Do you think any birds or other animals could have flown in and out of that water canopy? What might the sun have done if a bird flew threw it, causing shimmers? Might the sky have been a kaleidoscope of incredible beauty?

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Read top dark section – “Try to envision...” thoughts?

Certainly, it was an amazing display of might and power, incredible, awesome. Did God take any risks in doing so? How might Satan have used this against God and what was God's answer for it?

Might Satan have alleged God was just trying to intimidate, to use force, to pressure his intelligent beings into conformity? If this idea was believed what would have been the result? Would love have grown or been lost?

How did God deal with such an allegation?

The Sabbath – which reveals what? God's character of love, truth, presented in love, leaving his intelligent beings free! Day 1-6 we learn God has power, it is day seven that reveals the true nature of the one wielding the power, and confirms he is reliable and trustworthy!

So what does genuine Sabbath observance look like? Is it confined to avoidance of work and church attendance? No, those who put Christ on the cross wanted him off to keep the Sabbath. Genuine Sabbath observance only happens when the individual has God's law written upon the heart and they practice God's methods in their lives, presenting the truth, in love and leaving others free!

On day three of creation – what did God do? He created land and plants – what do you think it was like?

And consider the earth, before the flood, before the upheaval, with beautiful stones and precious metals used by God to create. Were river beds mud, or rubies, sapphires, diamonds, with gold and platinum? With a million kaleidoscopes of light shimmering and glimmering across them – amazing beauty.

Here is one description I like:

In the days of Noah a double curse was resting upon the earth in consequence of Adam's transgression and of the murder committed by Cain. Yet this had not greatly changed the face of nature. There were evident tokens of decay, but the earth was still rich and beautiful in the gifts of God's providence. The hills were crowned with majestic trees supporting the fruit-laden branches of the vine. The vast, gardenlike plains were clothed with verdure, and sweet with the fragrance of a thousand flowers. The fruits of the earth were in great variety, and almost without limit. The trees far surpassed in size, beauty, and perfect proportion any now to be found; their wood was of fine grain and hard substance, closely resembling stone, and hardly less enduring. Gold, silver, and precious stones existed in abundance. {PP 90.1}

Thoughts?

Do you think the earth, when God formed it, had mountains so high a human couldn't survive there? Do you think there were mountains with sharp, ragged, rocky projections?

Listen to this description and see if you think this is reasonable or not?

When God had formed the earth, there were mountains, hills, and plains, and interspersed among them were rivers and bodies of water. The earth was not one extensive plain, but the monotony of the scenery was broken by hills and mountains, not high and ragged as they now are, but regular and beautiful in shape. The bare, high rocks were never seen upon them, but lay beneath the surface, answering as bones to the earth. The waters were regularly dispersed. The hills, mountains, and very beautiful plains, were adorned with plants and flowers, and tall, majestic trees of every description, which were many times larger, and much more beautiful, than trees now are. The air was pure and healthful, and the earth seemed like a noble palace. Angels beheld and rejoiced at the wonderful and beautiful works of God. {3Spiritual Gifts 33.1}

If this is true, what does it say about our minds? When you see mountains, like the Rockies, do you see beauty? But, when you see a person with a bone sticking out of their leg to you think, "how beautiful?"

What does this say about our viewpoint?

THURSDAY

The lesson asks us to read 2Cor 4:6, lets start in verse 1 and read through verse 6:

Therefore, since through God's mercy we have this ministry, we do not lose heart. ² Rather, we have renounced secret and shameful ways; we do not use deception, nor do we distort the word of God. On the contrary, by setting forth the truth plainly we commend ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God. ³ And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing. ⁴ The god of this age has blinded the minds of unbelievers, so that they cannot see the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God. ⁵ For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, and ourselves as your servants for Jesus' sake. ⁶ For God, who said, "Let light shine out of darkness," made his light shine in our hearts to give us the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Christ.

Thoughts about this passage? What do you hear? What is Paul talking about? What is he using as a reference or object lesson?

Here are some high points; let's see if this makes a picture for us:

- God is merciful and sent Christ to provide what we need for salvation
- This provides hope for a real solution to our condition
- We respond by choosing to give up the destructive ways of the world
- Thus we don't lie, deceive, distort
- We instead are lovers of truth
- But, the Remedy, the gospel, is "veiled" – what is this referring to? Veiled where and by what?
- Veiled in the minds of those who have not accepted the truth and their minds are blinded to God and his methods and character by believing lies
- And what is it that shines into the heart that frees the mind? The light of the truth of God, his character, methods and principles as revealed by Jesus
- What metaphorical, symbolic, system is Paul utilizing to teach this?
- The Sanctuary service
 - The priests are the believers, who enter the Holy Place, which symbolizes the church, where the lamp of God's Word, and the Bread of life – Jesus is, and the golden altar – representing the hearts renewed with love for God that offer prayers to God are. The Holy Place is where the daily priests, those dressed in white robes would go each Sabbath to eat the showbread, which symbolizes the believers having renewed characters to be like Jesus worshipping together each Sabbath and partaking of Christ. But as we long to see God, we look to the Most Holy and something obstructs us – what?
 - A veil – and on the veil? Angels – and what is Satan? An angel, who is the Father of what? Lies, about who? God and what do those lies to in our minds? Veil our minds to the truth about God. And what did Jesus do? He destroyed those lies, and what happened at the Cross when Christ died? The veil was torn and the obstruction between the believers and God was removed and we can see past the lies and see the truth about God clearly now.

Thoughts?

Read third paragraph, "Yet, the 'gods' of evolutionary..." thoughts?

I agree with this. It makes an excellent point – but what does this excellent point also indict? The idea that God kills, or God is the source of death, or that God executes the wicked.

Notice how they rightly say, death "came as a natural result of rebellion against His good rulership."

Isn't it interesting when exposing the weakness of evolution they see the problem with making God out to be the source of death, but some who embrace this truth will still defend the idea of God being the source of death when it comes to the destruction of the wicked and call it "justice"?

Why? What does it reveal?

FRIDAY

Read Questions 1: "Identify..." thoughts

- The balance in the ecosystem – we provide CO₂ to the plants and the plants provide O₂ to us. How did the plants survive for millions of years with no CO₂? How did any O₂ requiring organism survive without the plants providing oxygen?
- What about chlorophyll producing plants? Which convert sun's energy to usable chemical energy? How did life begin before the mechanism to convert the sun's energy to chemical energy was in place?

Read and discuss questions 2 and 3

Origins Lesson 3 1Q 2013

The Creation Completed

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “The fourth day...” thoughts?

The lesson suggests three possibilities:

- God’s presence was a source of physical light, the earth rotated at its same constant rate and thus had a light, dark phase.
 - This is consistent with the text and other Scriptures that describe God as living in unapproachable light.
- The Sun, Moon, Stars were “appointed their functions” at that time?
 - Which means what? They were not functioning before they were appointed? So before they were appointed, their light didn’t travel the universe and shine onto the planets? Or does it mean they didn’t have light until they were appointed? Which would mean they weren’t a sun, moon or stars, so then we are back to the same problem.
- That volcanic dust or clouds obscured the view until day four
 - Which means what? That the earth had hot, volcanic disruptions etc. Does that fit with creation account?

Any other possibilities? That day 1-3 were written this way by Moses as a means to communicate to humans these periods were 24 hours in length, a normal earth day, and not some expanse of time.

Which do you like best?

MONDAY

Creation of air and water animals – thoughts?

Read last paragraph, “Few living creatures...” thoughts?

Do we really think, these incredibly engineered, living animals, evolved on their own by random chance?

What about eagles, hawks, and falcons – what do you think they were like before sin? Or vultures, buzzards, and condors, what did they eat before sin?

Do you think God created animals to kill each other, or animals that fed on carcasses?

In fact, what did the carrion birds eat before the flood? Do you think animals were dying frequently before the flood?

Evolutionary theory would point to these animals and the Biblical account and attempt to suggest that the Bible is wrong; it takes millions of years for a species to evolve into the efficient killing machines of eagles and falcons. Therefore, the evolutionist argues either the Bible is wrong and God didn't create, or God created through evolution, or God created animals to kill each other, which means God isn't a God of love.

What do you say to such an argument?

Two main arguments which are consistent with Scripture:

1. Given what we know about epigenetic modification of the Darwin's finches, it is not unreasonable to believe these changes occurred after sin and in a very short time span. (See last week's notes)
2. Adam's sin gave satanic agencies access to life on planet earth and Satan began messing with the code. Jesus said that an enemy planted the tares in the field, meaning purposeful intent
 - a. One commentator wrote the following in 2Selected Messages page 288:

Christ never planted the seeds of death in the system. Satan planted these seeds when he tempted Adam to eat of the tree of knowledge which meant disobedience to God. Not one noxious plant was placed in the Lord's great garden, but after Adam and Eve sinned, poisonous herbs sprang up. In the parable of the sower the question was asked the master, "Didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?" The master answered, "An enemy hath done this" (Matthew 13:27, 28). All tares are sown by the evil one. Every noxious herb is of his sowing, and by his ingenious methods of amalgamation he has corrupted the earth with tares. {2SM 288.2}

Thoughts?

I really don't know what a bird of prey would look like without a beak ideal to tear flesh or talons ideal to kill, but these changes are consistent with a creation designed to modify itself based on need, choice, exposure, environment etc. and one infected by selfishness and sin.

TUESDAY

Creation of Land Animals

Read last paragraph, "The phrase..." thoughts?

Does this mean one species can become another species? Or is it saying that genetic design allows for recombination within certain limits? Or are there no limits?

Does one species change into another species? Can new species be created through natural selection?

What about through intelligent, purposeful, manipulation? Some Christian writers have thought this has happened:

Every species of animals which God had created was preserved in the ark. The confused species which God did not create, which were the result of amalgamation, were destroyed by the flood. Since the flood, there has been amalgamation of man and beast, as may be seen in the almost endless varieties of species of animals, and in certain races of men. {1Spirit of Prophecy 78.2}

Does this suggest there were species that were not created in Eden? Where did they come from? What does this mean about the “fixity” of the species?

What species were not on the ark? Dinosaurs? Science would tell us that dinosaurs are life forms from an evolutionary path of millions of years. But, what different conclusions might we draw if we consider the possibility that dinosaurs are actually hybrid organisms?

Amalgamate means: to unite in, as if in an amalgam; especially : to merge into a single body.

Do you think this idea of amalgamated species is reasonable or pure fiction?

1991 geneticists inserted human genes into pigs and pigs produced human blood.

2003 Pig human chimeras were developed in which pig embryos had human cells injected into them and piglets were born that had both human and pig cell lines.

2003 FDA approved Glowfish for sale in the US, which are Zebra fish, that have a foreign gene, derived from jellyfish, inserted into its genome that causes it to fluoresce.

In 2011 news services reported that researches in Great Britain had created 155 human/animal embryos, in which animal and human DNA had been mixed. This was done under the stated purpose of research to find cures for various diseases.

Thoughts?

If we believe the Bible account, prior to the flood people lived almost 1000 years, compared to most not even reaching 100 years today. So, prior to the flood, living beings had approximately 10 times the vitality that we have today. Does this have any implication in regard to the ability to get amalgamated species to live? Would it be more difficult or easier before the flood?

Additionally, do we believe the humans before the flood would have had brains less developed and capable than ours, or more efficient than ours?

Then, given what we can do, with the weakened genetics and weakened mental abilities, is the conclusion about amalgamated species before the flood unreasonable? Not at all. It is the best explanation for such things as dinosaurs and also could explain some other fossils such as Neanderthal and other “subhuman” type remains.

What is a soul? From where does a soul come? When does a soul come into existence? If we clone a human from a skin cell, will the new human have a soul? From where did will it come?

The Greek for soul is “psuche” or psyche, and means the identity, individuality, personhood of the being.

So, when does individuality come into existence?

If a baby is born without a brain, does it have a soul? Does it have individuality?

Does a soul operate outside the brain?

Here is one person’s perspective:

The brain nerves which communicate to the entire system are the only medium through which Heaven can communicate to man, and affect his inmost life. Whatever disturbs the circulation of the electric currents in the nervous system, lessens the strength of the vital powers, and the result is a deadening of the sensibilities of the mind.-- T., V. II, p. 347. {Healthful Living 54.3}

Thoughts? Do you agree? Do you think there is some other organ through which God can communicate to man? Do you think that the “soul” can operate independently of a brain?

Science has found no avenue to affect an individual that does not utilize or go through the brain. Science has found no evidence of individuality operating outside the brain.

Consider the analogy of a computer – can software operate without hardware? Software is the individuality, it is what makes the computer unique – and the software can be stored without operational hardware, but it cannot operate without hardware.

Likewise our individualities can be stored without a brain, but cannot function without a brain.

Thus Scripture teaches that at death our individualities are safely stored with God in heaven, that we don’t need to fear the one who can destroy the body (hardware) but cannot destroy the soul (psyche, individuality, or software), and that when Christ returns he “brings with him” those who have fallen asleep, and “downloads” them into new bodies at the resurrection. Thus, they begin to “operate” or live again.

What about near death experiences NDE?

Reports of NDE experiences go back almost 2000 years and are reported by approximately 20% of people who suffer a heart attack and are revived.

Interestingly, however, a person does not have to be near death to experience a NDE. A 1990 study at the University of Virginia Health Sciences Center in Charlottesville of 58 people who had experienced NDEs found that half would have survived without medical care. Something as innocuous as fainting can produce an NDE.

There are many theories about the cause of NDEs to include hypoxia (lack of oxygen to the brain), which could trigger seizures in the temporal lobes and cause the symptoms of NDE, hypotension (loss of blood pressure to the brain), endorphin and enkephalin (brain produced mood elevators and pain killers) release, drugs injected during resuscitation, low blood sugar and other metabolic processes.

Recently, Kevin Nelson a neuropsychologist at the University of Kentucky has done research into NDEs and offered a most reasonable explanation. NDEs are actually a form of sleep disorder called REM intrusion in which dreams occur in a non-sleep state. During this time a person is awake but paralyzed, may experience the sensation of floating, will have vivid dreams that would be experienced more like a hallucination and have out of body experiences. All of this will be remembered quite vividly after the event is over with a sense of conviction to the veracity of the experience.

A study published in 1994 by Thomas Lempert, then at the Rudolph Virchow Clinic in Berlin, Germany, documented how volunteers made themselves faint through a combination of hyperventilating, standing and breath-holding. Many of them experienced euphoric NDE-like sensations such as floating out of their body, entering another world, or encountering supernatural beings. This is thought to be due to activating the vagus nerve which stimulates the brainstem to cause these NDEs. This would explain the high occurrence of NDE in people being resuscitated from a heart attack as vagal nerve stimulation occurs during this process.

The Bible is silent on near death experiences. In fact the Bible record would tell us the dead know nothing (Ecclesiastes 9:5,6). Jesus said that His friend Lazarus was “asleep” and He was going to wake him up (John 11:11). Once Jesus resurrected Lazarus, after four days in the grave, the Bible provides no report that Lazarus had anything to tell about what happened to him while he was dead. In fact, in 100% of the cases in the Bible where a person died and was resurrected the Bible records nothing from them of their experience while dead. Therefore, given the Biblical and scientific evidence I would conclude that NDEs are not spiritual experiences of someone crossing over to the other side, but physiological experiences of a stressed and near failing brain.

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “The Hebrew word...” thoughts?

The paragraph said, “God’s special blessing rests on the seventh day.” What is that special blessing? What is it that one can experience on the seventh day, or gets from the seventh day that they cannot experience or get on the sixth day, or the first day?

The lesson suggests, “Thus, God gave special significance to the Sabbath in the context of the relationship between God and humans.” And in the last paragraph states, “God rested from His acts of creation and devoted His time to relationship with His creatures.”

Thoughts?

Is it true that God is a relational being and created his intelligent beings for relationship with him? Absolutely!

Is this reason the reason for the Sabbath? Does this reason separate the Sabbath from the other six days of the week?

Does God only engage in relationship on Sabbath? Does God not associate, visit, relate with his creatures on the other days of the week? If people work on Sabbath and rest on a different day of the week, seeking to spend time with God on another day, will God be unavailable? Will God refuse?

While it is true that God is love, and enjoys spending time with his children, and does spend time with us on Sabbath, is this reason exclusive to the Sabbath? Then does this “separate” the Sabbath from other days? So, I would suggest that while we can definitely experience a blessing of relationship with God on the Sabbath, the special blessing of the Sabbath is not the fact we can spend time with God as we can do that every day – then what is the special blessing?

What about the stated purpose that the Sabbath was created for man to rest? Is that the special blessing? Can man only rest on Sabbath? For the millions of people who rest on a different day of the week, will their bodies not experience rejuvenation and refreshing? Is it only on Sabbath that one can experience rest? So, does the idea of the Sabbath being created for humans to rest separate it from the other days?

The blue section at the bottom states, “God commands us to give one-seventh of our lives to the remembrance of the act of Creation.” Thoughts about this?

Do you agree with this? Are we commanded to do this?

Any problems with this idea?

- Reminds me of one Sabbath we went to church, the opening prayer the pastor prayed, “Lord we are here today, not to hear the special music, not to visit with friends, not even to hear the sermon. No, Lord, we are here for one reason, and one reason only, because you commanded us to be here.”

- Really? If this were the reason what is the problem? What happens to love in an environment when obedience is forced or coerced?
- What kind of God does such a teaching make God out to be?
- What then happens to our treatment of others on the Sabbath?
- Why wouldn't the Jews help others on the Sabbath? Because they were commanded not to do any work! They wanted to obey the rule!
- Was the Sabbath created before or after sin entered the universe? After, what does this mean?
- Were there created beings in existence before the Sabbath? Did those beings appreciate God as creator, or only after the Sabbath?
- Is the issue in the GC who has the power to create? Or is the issue in the character of the one who wields the power?
- If we make the Sabbath only about God being creator what danger do we run?
 - 19th Century Theologian George MacDonald said, "What is the deepest in God? His power? No, for power could not make him what we mean when we say God. A being whose essence was only power would be such a negation of the divine that no righteous worship could be offered him; his service would be only fear."¹
- Why did the Commandment say in Exodus to remember God as creator?
 - To whom was it written? To the Jews who just came out of Egypt, and what were their minds filled with?
 - What were the 10 plagues of Egypt designed to do? The plagues were all designed to show that the gods of Egypt were false, and the commandments were given to these people because they had forgotten so much.
 - They had forgotten God, his character, methods, principles and that he was creator. So the Sabbath was given first to remind them of this. But God gave them the 10 Commandments again, this time the Sabbath reminded them of something else:
 - "Observe the Sabbath day by keeping it holy, as the LORD your God has commanded you. Six days you shall labor and do all your work but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the LORD your God. On it you shall not do any work, neither you, nor your son or daughter, nor your manservant or maidservant, nor your ox, your donkey or any of your animals, nor the alien within your gates, so that your manservant and maidservant may rest, as you do. Remember that you were slaves in Egypt and that the LORD your God brought you out of there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm. Therefore the LORD your God has commanded you to observe the Sabbath day. Dt 5:12-15

Why don't we say that the Lord gave the Sabbath to command us to spend one seventh of our time remembering he delivered us from slavery in Egypt? Because this was written to the Jews – was the version written in Exodus written to a different group?

Now, what is the point of all of this? Is it to say that because the 10 Commandments were written to the Jews that it is okay for us to have other gods before the true God, or it is okay to take God's name in vain, or it is okay to murder, commit adultery etc. No, of course not, and neither are we in any way undermining the Sabbath when we recognize these 10 Commandments were written to the Jews.

What we are doing is recognizing that the reasons given to that group spoke to a particular need and significance they had. We need to understand the truth about God, his character, methods and purposes in creating the Sabbath in its context to fully appreciate it.

We absolutely want to remember God as creator, but why? Which member did the creating? Why do we want to remember that? Why was that in question?

And what was the context in which the Sabbath was created?

Is there any evidence that there was a weekly Sabbath before creation of this planet?

Why wasn't there one? Because it wasn't needed before Satan made his allegation against God.

Before Satan alleged God abuses his power, and that God doesn't grant real freedom there was no need for God to make a special demonstration of the freedom that has always been there, thus no need for a Sabbath created for his creatures to consider the evidence God has provided. But after sin, after the questions about God's character were raised, the Sabbath became a necessary gift to reveal the truth about God's character that has always been true- that God operates with truth, presented in love, leaving beings free!

Notice, God provided evidence that Christ is fully God when Christ revealed his creatorship and then God "rested" for the universe to consider what had just happened and been revealed. But the second great work Christ accomplished, our redemption at the Cross, was immediately again followed by Christ "resting" in the tomb for the Sabbath and giving the universe time to reflect and considered consider what Christ had just done.

What does the existence of the Sabbath reveal about God? More than he is creator, it reveals the character of the one who creates! It reveals His methods, of truth love and freedom!

THURSDAY

The lesson emphasizes that the days of creation week were 24 hour time blocks and not eons of time. What evidence do you find most persuasive of this?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "As stated..." thoughts?

What is the problem with the argument of using the Bible to suggest a day is like a 1000 years, and extrapolating that creation days were like 1000 years?

Peter's point is that "For the Lord" a day is like a 1000 years and a 1000 years is like a day, not for the creation. He is saying that God is not bound by time; God doesn't live in a linear existence. But created beings are constrained by time. Thus creation was built into the fabric of space/time by a creator who lives outside of space/time. So to suggest that space time doesn't operate with an earth day being a 24 hour earth day, is like saying water doesn't contain oxygen. In some other reality perhaps there is something called water that doesn't contain oxygen, but not in this reality. And in some other place a planet's light/day cycle might be a 1000 years, but not on earth, on earth it is 24 hours. And on earth, space time operates in constant ways.

Read last paragraph, "But the infidel..." thoughts?

Why is this the worst kind of infidelity? Because it masquerades as righteousness!

Read question 2: "Why is it important to understand that science, for all the good that it does, is still merely a human endeavor?"

Thoughts about this question?

What about this question, "Why is it important to understand that church attendance, for all the good that it does, is still merely a human endeavor?"

Can church attendance be a merely human endeavor? Can church attendance be blessed by God and accompanied by the working of the Holy Spirit?

Can science be merely a human endeavor? Can science be blessed by God and accompanied by the working of the Holy Spirit?

What is science? It is conducting careful experiment, with reproducible evidence and following where the evidence leads.

I read this two weeks ago, but in response to what appears to be an attack against science, I thought it deserved to be read again:

"Experience is said to be the best teacher. Genuine experience is indeed superior to mere theoretical knowledge, but many have an erroneous idea as to what constitutes experience. Real experience is gained by a variety of careful experiments, made with the mind free from prejudice, uncontrolled by previously established opinions and habits. The results are marked with careful solicitude. . . .

"That which many term experience is not experience at all. . . . There has not been a fair trial by actual experiment and thorough investigation, with a knowledge of the principles involved in the action. . . .

"Here is where we have met the greatest difficulties in religious matters. The plainest facts may be presented, the clearest truths, sustained by the word of God, may be brought before the mind; but the ear and the heart are closed, and the all-convincing argument is, 'my experience.' Some will say, 'The Lord has blessed me in believing and doing as I have; therefore I cannot be in error.' 'My experience' is clung to, and the most elevating, sanctifying truths of the Bible are rejected. . . .

"Many examples might be given to show how people have been deceived by relying upon what they supposed to be their experience." Christian Temperance and Bible Hygiene 109-110 (1890 - Originally written in 1865 in a series "How to Live"); Testimonies, vol. 3, p. 71; RH July 27, 1886; The Health Reformer , June 1, 1872; Australasian Signs of the Times, Dec. 19, 1904; The Watchman, Sept. 1, 1908

Creation, a Biblical Theme

Before we get started an announcement. I want to thank Dean, for doing research regarding one of the speculative ideas I have suggested several times in class. Specifically, the idea that on day one of creation week of planet earth that God may have dissipated a black hole in space and used the matter from the black hole to make the earth, sun, moon and planets of our solar system.

Dean has done some research and the current science of physics and astrophysics does not provide a basis to support the idea that structural, formed, matter exists within a black hole.

Therefore, I want to emphasize when I suggest such an idea it is speculation and not fact. And because we want to be consistent with the integrative evidence based approach where Scripture, science and experience harmonize I plan to back off this speculation unless science one day provides other evidence. Perhaps then the best explanation is that day one describes an interstellar space with a large planetary mass/asteroid/comet etc.

The point where Scripture and science agree is that Genesis one doesn't describe the creation of the entire universe, but the creation of earth and our solar system. This is the main point of the suggested idea that a black hole might be involved.

Thanks – Dean for making sure our speculative ideas are clearly delineated from more certain facts.

SABBATH

Read memory text:

“Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. ⁷ He said in a loud voice, “Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.” Rev 14:6,7

Thoughts?

What are the key points of this passage? What is the meaning?

- A message is to be broadcast around the world
- To be in awe and amazement and admiration and adoration of God and
- To have your hearts and minds healed to reveal his character, i.e. give him glory
- Because the hour in which he is being judged has come, and he needs his witnesses, those who demonstrate his methods and principles work to heal and restore

- Because only the one who created life to begin with is capable of taking sinners and recreating, healing, restoring them back to their original design

What are the reasons that Revelation 14 draws our attention to God as creator?

- Is it as simple as some suggest, ensuring we attend church and close business on one particular day of the week? Didn't the Jews who crucified Christ do that?
- To draw our attention to his original creation, i.e. his protocols for life the law of love
- To distinguish God from false gods who cannot create
- To instill hope, the creator can fix what is broken in us. Don't be afraid, God can fix us!

SUNDAY

The creation of man, any questions or thoughts about what happens in Genesis two?

What is the significance of man being created first and woman being created from the "rib" of man?

It goes against nature – where in the natural world do you find a human male giving birth to a female? Do we find females giving birth to males? Might it imply something regarding Moses' inspiration for this text? If he was working only from human knowledge would he have likely written it this way?

Any significance to the fact that it is written this way? What about the genetics of males and females? Does a woman have the genetics to make a man? Does a man have the genetic material to make a woman?

Isn't it interesting, that Moses wrote this in a way that is consistent with advanced scientific knowledge, something that wasn't known when he wrote Genesis.

Do facts like this make the Bible account more credible to you?

What is the significance that God chose to make Eve from tissue taken from Adam's side?

She was to be a helper one who walks along side – does this sound like anything else in Scripture – a helper that walks along side? A paraclete? This is a description also used for the Holy Spirit, the "helper" who walks along side.

Do you think it is mere coincidence that the Holy Spirit is described as a helper, one who walks along side us to help us, and woman was created from the side of Adam to be a helper to walk along side?

What is the Holy Spirit to help us with? The Holy Spirit is called the Spirit of truth and love – what was woman created to help man with?

Truth and Love? Could Adam know the fullness of Godlike love without someone for him to serve, without someone for him to give himself for? And then someone to receive that love and give of herself in return? And don't women have the ability to draw out love from our hearts? And do spouses serve as mirrors for each other, to reflect and reveal things in each other that we would not see in ourselves?

In whose image was mankind made? As the Father Son and Spirit live in a triune perfection of love, God made human beings to be dwelling places for his Spirit, thus Adam, Eve and God are to exist in a triune perfection of love.

This can only happen when the heart has been healed, when we die to self, when we experience recreation within, when we love others more than self.

And this only happens when the lies about God are removed.
Here is what one Christian author wrote in Patriarchs and Prophets:

God Himself gave Adam a companion. He provided "an help meet for him"--a helper corresponding to him--one who was fitted to be his companion, and who could be one with him in love and sympathy. Eve was created from a rib taken from the side of Adam, signifying that she was not to control him as the head, nor to be trampled under his feet as an inferior, but to stand by his side as an equal, to be loved and protected by him. A part of man, bone of his bone, and flesh of his flesh, she was his second self, showing the close union and the affectionate attachment that should exist in this relation. "For no man ever yet hated his own flesh; but nourisheth and cherisheth it." Ephesians 5:29. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they shall be one." {PP 46.2}

God celebrated the first marriage. Thus the institution has for its originator the Creator of the universe. "Marriage is honorable" (Hebrews 13:4); it was one of the first gifts of God to man, and it is one of the two institutions that, after the Fall, Adam brought with him beyond the gates of Paradise. When the divine principles are recognized and obeyed in this relation, marriage is a blessing; it guards the purity and happiness of the race, it provides for man's social needs, it elevates the physical, the intellectual, and the moral nature. {PP 46.3}

Thoughts?

What do you think of that last section, when the divine principles are recognized and obeyed, the marriage relationship elevates the physical, intellectual and moral nature?

Science has shown that healthy marriages result in better physical and mental health and longer life than living single, but conflictual marriages result in worse physical and mental health than living single.

Do you think marriage is under attack? How? What do you think is the most serious attack on marriage?

- Cohabitation without marriage
- Polygamy
- Homosexual marriage
- Godless marriage, i.e. no God, just evolved, humanism
- Marriages amongst those who believe in God but who believe in a punishing God, and husbands dominate and control their wives who are treated as less than equals? (Christian, Jewish, Islamic, Eastern)
- Others?

My view is the greatest attack on marriage is when people profess to represent Christ and then men dominate, abuse, mistreat, demean, and belittle their wives, or treat them as inferior and require their submission, including church sponsored tenants of inequality.

The more we are healed and become like God designed, the more equality is experienced between men and women, husband and wife.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on the Psalms and how the Psalmist credits God with creation – did you have questions about any of these texts?

Should these texts be taken literally, as in each detail is accurate, or poetically, in that God is recognized as creator but every detail may not be accurate?

Ps 24:1,2:

The earth is the LORD's, and everything in it, the world, and all who live in it; for he founded it upon the seas and established it upon the waters.

Thoughts?

Does it sound like Genesis 1:1, that there was something here, watery and deep before God terraformed planet earth? There is a harmony in the Scripture that supports the idea that Genesis doesn't describe creation of the universe, but terraforming earth and this solar system.

Ps 74:16,17:

The day is yours, and yours also the night; you established the sun and moon. It was you who set all the boundaries of the earth; you made both summer and winter.

Thoughts? Is this literal or poetic, recognizing God as creator and the source of the laws of nature that result in the seasons changing, but not necessarily that God created summer and winter, or is it literal God created summer and winter?

In other words, did God “create summer and winter” or are summer and winter part of the change that came with sin? I read this in Patriarchs and Prophets, do you agree or think this is off base?

In humility and unutterable sadness they [Adam and Eve] bade farewell to their beautiful home and went forth to dwell upon the earth, where rested the curse of sin. The atmosphere, once so mild and uniform in temperature, was now subject to marked changes, and the Lord mercifully provided them with a garment of skins as a protection from the extremes of heat and cold. {PP 61.5}

Do you think there were extremes in weather before sin? Would winter, with freezing snow be an extreme of whether?

Were there seasons with fall, with leaves falling off and dying before sin?

I read the following in the book Conflict and Courage – do you agree, or is this just wild speculation?

Although the earth was blighted with the curse, nature was still to be man's lesson book. It could not now represent goodness only; for evil was everywhere present, marring earth and sea and air with its defiling touch. . . . {CC 19.2}

In drooping flower and falling leaf Adam and his companion witnessed the first signs of decay. Vividly was brought to their minds the stern fact that every living thing must die. Even the air, upon which their life depended, bore the seeds of death. {CC 19.3}

As Adam witnessed the first signs of decay in the falling leaf and in the drooping flowers, he mourned more deeply than men now mourn over their dead. The dying flowers were not so great a cause of grief, because they were more tender and delicate; but when the tall stately trees cast off their leaves to decay, it presented before him the general dissolution of beautiful nature, which God had created for the especial benefit of man. {CC 22.3}

Thoughts?

Does it sound like they had seasons? So, does it sound like God created summer and winter? Or is summer and winter a result of sin changing God's creation?

This lets us explore a variety of questions – how do we understand Scripture? Do we take it concretely and literally? Do we understand the intent, that nature, life, the planet etc. was created by God, but nature, as Paul says in Romans 8 groans under the weight of sin, thus nature doesn't reveal itself to us as God created it. So we see God's handiwork, but that handiwork is marred by sin?

Then why did the Bible writer attribute to God summer and winter?

- Was it just a poetic description of attributing to God all that exists?
- Was it an ignorant mind who didn't understand how nature changed since sin?
- Was he perhaps attributing to God the flow of time, the changing of seasons, i.e. the changing of events, that God doesn't hold us in stasis, but things unfold over time?
- Was the expression literal or poetic?

Is there a danger in reading Scripture and taking it concretely and holding to it obstinately? How about those Scriptures which describe God as angry or punishing?

Does it trouble you to discover that not everything in Scripture is to be taken literally, that we are to think and reason?

Last week we spoke of changes in the animal kingdom, as I was reading the references above regarding the dying leaf, I read the following:

Continually they [Adam and Eve] were reminded also of their lost dominion. Among the lower creatures Adam had stood as king, and so long as he remained loyal to God, all nature acknowledged his rule; but when he transgressed, this dominion was forfeited. The spirit of rebellion, to which he himself had given entrance, extended throughout the animal creation. . . . {CC 19.4}

Does this make sense, that God created earth as a microcosm of the universe, a “theater unto angels and men” (1Cor 4:9), with Adam and Eve representing the Godhead to govern earth with love, and that their rebellion against God, then resulted in nature demonstrating that rebellion with the animals rebelling against them, and all nature infected with selfishness?

TUESDAY

Read Job 38:4-7

- “Where were you when I laid the earth’s foundation?
Tell me, if you understand.
5 Who marked off its dimensions? Surely you know!
Who stretched a measuring line across it?
6 On what were its footings set,
or who laid its cornerstone—
7 while the morning stars sang together
and all the angels shouted for joy?”

What do you think? What is the implication of the fact angels were singing for joy? That the universe already existed when earth was created.

The Hebrew for “angels” in this passage is ben and means son and in some versions is translated not as angels but as the sons of God. What might this imply?

In the genealogy of Christ in Luke 3:38 we have each person listed as the son of, son of Enosh, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God.

What might this imply?

That God’s representative “sons” from other worlds came together before God, Job 1:6 references this. And they watched as God created earth, and they sang for joy at its foundation – why?

Whenever the living creatures give glory, honor and thanks to him who sits on the throne and who lives for ever and ever, ¹⁰ the twenty-four elders fall down before him who sits on the throne, and worship him who lives for ever and ever. They lay their crowns before the throne and say:

¹¹ “You are worthy, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power,
for you created all things, and by your will they were created and have their being.” Rev 4:9-11

What is going on that the intelligent beings in heaven sing together for joy when earth is created, that the intelligent beings shout worthy is the Lord for creating all things? Is it more than just appreciation of a new creation? Is there something bigger happening?

Do you get the imagery of the Great Controversy being played out with intelligences through the universe watching?

I continued looking, in the visions of my head as I lay in bed, and there was a holy watcher, coming down from heaven.... The sentence is rendered by decree of the watchers, the decision is given by order of the holy ones... (Daniel 4:13,17)

Did you know the Bible teaches that there are intelligent beings watching? What are they watching? Are they really watching you and me, merely, or are they watching something bigger being played out upon the landscape of planet earth? What Paul said, we are a spectacle to angels and men (1Cor 4:9)?

Can you see the stadium filled with adoring fans, watching as the two opponents take the field, the challenger, Lucifer the light bearer versus the champion Jesus - The Bright and Morning Star. Cheering and joyous shouting is heard as Jesus, the reigning and undefeated champion speaks and earth is created. Dismay from Lucifer, the challenger, and cries of unfair, unfair, cheater echo from his fanbase.

What do you think about this scene? Why did the sons of God sing for joy? What did Jesus create?

Psalms 8:4-9:

When I look at the sky, which you have made, at the moon and the stars, which you set in their places- what are human beings, that you think of them; mere mortals, that you care for them? Yet you made them inferior only to yourself; you crowned them with glory and honour. You appointed them rulers over everything you made; you placed them over all creation: sheep and cattle, and the wild animals too; the birds and the fish and the creatures in the seas. O LORD, our Lord, your greatness is seen in all the world! GNB what are human beings that you are mindful of them, mortals that you care for them? Yet you have made them a little lower than God, and crowned them with glory and honor. Ps 8:4,5 NRSV thoughts? He created human beings, a little lower only than himself, not lower than angels, above angels, with dominion and creative powers – why? To be his answer, to be his evidence, to reveal the truth about him in the controversy with Satan. We are to reveal God’s character and methods of love, this is our purpose!

WEDNESDAY

Read memory verse, Isa 45:18:

For this is what the Lord says— he who created the heavens, he is God; he who fashioned and made the earth, he founded it; he did not create it to be empty, but formed it to be inhabited—he says: “I am the Lord, and there is no other.”

Thoughts? Why do the prophets, over and over again, emphasize God as creator? At that time, were there competitor gods that vied for their worship?

On a hill east of Jerusalem, Solomon built a high place for Chemosh the detestable god of Moab, and for Molech the detestable god of the Ammonites. 1Kings 11:7

Before we look at these detestable gods, does anyone remember where the Moabites and Ammonites came from?

³³ That night they got their father to drink wine, and the older daughter went in and lay with him. He was not aware of it when she lay down or when she got up.

³⁴ The next day the older daughter said to the younger, “Last night I lay with my father. Let’s get him to drink wine again tonight, and you go in and lie with him so we can preserve our family line through our father.” ³⁵ So they got their father to drink wine that night also, and the younger daughter went and lay with him. Again he was not aware of it when she lay down or when she got up.

³⁶ So both of Lot’s daughters became pregnant by their father. ³⁷ The older daughter had a son, and she named him Moab; he is the father of the Moabites of today. ³⁸ The younger daughter also had a son, and she named him Ben-Ammi; he is the father of the Ammonites of today. Gen 19:30-38

Thoughts? What do you learn from this?

Did you notice it was written to make Lot to look out the best? He was seduced and tricked by his daughter, the “roofied” him. But they didn’t have roofies, they just used alcohol.

What does it say about Lot that he would be willing to get drunk? What does this say about the daughters?

And what does this story say about God? Why were Lot and his daughters living in a cave? Because their city burned, but why weren’t they burned in the city? Because God sent angels to deliver them from the city. What does this mean?

If these people could live like this, why did God consider them righteous enough to bring out of Sodom?

What is God looking for in us in order for him to send angels to deliver us? Perfection? Sinlessness? That we eat the right foods and avoid certain drinks? Or is God looking at the heart for one specific finding - Healability? Something left in us that is healable? And a willingness to allow him to work in our lives to heal and restore us?

God isn’t viewing the world through a legal lens. He isn’t viewing the world through a lens of keeping a list and checking it twice, searching to see whose naughty or nice – No!

He is viewing the world through a lens of his Creatorship, how he built life to operate, where it deviates from his design and what needs to be done to restore it. Then in our individual lives he is assessing, is our condition treatable, or have we so persisted in rebellious living, living outside his design, that we have destroyed the faculties that respond to love and truth i.e. are beyond healing. Evidently, as bad as Lot and his daughters appear, they were not beyond healing! Do you find, that while Lot and his daughters look terribly sick, God looks amazingly good!

So back to these false gods, Chemosh and Molech. They shared a common origin, they started out as one god, but over the course of years denominated into two different gods one for the Moabites and one for the Ammonites, but they shared basically the same characteristics. Both Chemosh and Molech were gods of fertility and believed to have characteristics similar to Baal, and both of these gods, required, at times, human sacrifice.

Dagon was god of the Philistines. The Philistines rejoiced to Dagon when Sampson was captured. When they captured the ark they put it in front of Dagon and Dagon was face down in front of the ark one day and then his hands and head broke off the next. When king Saul was killed in battle they took his armor and head and put it in front of Dagon. Dagon was the god of grain and fertility, and it is debated to be related to fish. Some have his consort a fish goddess and over the centuries some cultures may have adapted him to serve their seafaring needs.

Now summon the people from all over Israel to meet me on Mount Carmel. And bring the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal and the four hundred prophets of Asherah, who eat at Jezebel's table." 1Kings 18:19

Who was Asherah and Baal?

Asherah as a goddess of fertility and was the consort of El, the high god of the Canaanite pantheon of gods and El is the father of Baal.

Ēl is called again and again Tôru 'Ēl ("Bull Ēl" or "the bull god"). He is bātnyu binwāti ("Creator of creatures"), 'abū banī 'ili ("father of the gods"), and 'abū 'adami ("father of man"). He is qāniyunu 'ōlam ("creator eternal"), the epithet 'ōlam appearing in Hebrew form in the Hebrew name of God 'ēl 'ōlam "God Eternal" in Genesis 21:33. He is ḥātikuka ("your patriarch"). Ēl is the grey-bearded ancient one, full of wisdom, malku ("king"), 'abū šamīma ("father of years"), and 'ēl gibbōr ("Ēl the warrior"). (from Wikipedia)

Under Ahab Israel built temples to both Asherah and Baal. Manasseh, son of Hezekiah, who had Isaiah sawed in half, worshipped Asherah and offered his own son as burnt offering to Molech. Josiah later cleansed Jerusalem of these gods.

Baal worship involved many animal sacrifices and priests acting as intermediaries. Baal was also known as Baal-Hadad and was the god of thunder, lightning, storms and weather, the god of fertility. At their temples were "holy prostitutes" both male and female.

"The Hebrew noun ba'al means 'master', 'possessor' or 'husband'. Used with suffixes, e.g. Baal-peor or Baal-berith, the word may have retained something of its original sense; but in general Baal is a proper name in the OT, and refers to a specific deity, Hadad, the W Semitic storm-god, the most important deity in the Canaanite pantheon.

"Yahweh was 'master' and 'husband' to Israel, and therefore they called him 'Baal', in all innocence; but naturally this practice led to confusion of the worship of Yahweh with the Baal rituals, and it became essential to call him by some different title; Hosea (2:16) proposed 'îš, another word meaning 'husband.'" ¹

Baal was the son of El (i.e. El-ohim or El-Shaddai). He was the god of weather. Often called, 'Almighty' and "Lord of the Earth." Baal was the god who brought rain, thunder, lightning, who fertilized the earth, controlled the sun and brought the harvest. Baal fought the great serpent leviathan as well as battled against Mot, the god of death, who was his brother another son of El. And most amazing of all, it was taught that Baal died in his battle with Mot and was resurrected from the dead to bring life to earth. ⁱⁱ

Do you notice any common theme amongst all these pagan gods? What did they all claim? That they had power over life, fertility, produce, harvest, weather. In other words, they claimed they were creator. Thus we have God repeatedly reminding the people that he is the true creator.

Do you see the similarities between the true and the false? Do you see how Satan attempts to impersonate the true with his distortion of the true?

Does it bother you that these pagan religions have so much in common with the truth? Don't be bothered. Think about it, any counterfeit attempts to approximate or appear genuine – so are counterfeit dollars printed in pink? Why not? The closer to the genuine the better able to deceive.

So, what was the problem with worshipping a god who was the "husband and protector of Israel," the son of El, who was worshipped as the creator, who controlled the weather, who brought rain, sunshine, and fertility, who blessed with full harvest, who warred against the great serpent and death, who died and was resurrected to bring life to the earth? What was wrong with this god? What was Elijah opposing? What made Baal worship false? Was it that they had the wrong set of syllables? No, as they called Yahweh baal, husband and protector. Then why did God get so upset with this?

Was it only because they had fertility associated? Or was it something else?

Here is what one Christian writer identifies as the central distortion in Baal worship:

"Determined to keep the people in deception, the priests of Baal continue to offer sacrifices to their gods and to call upon them night and day to refresh the earth. With costly offerings the priests attempt to appease the anger of their gods;" (Prophets and Kings 124)

And the Bible confirms this:

"So the prophets prayed louder and cut themselves with knives and daggers, according to their custom, until blood flowed." 1 Kings 18:28

The root, core problem with all the false gods, is that they represent God's character falsely. They represent God as a being who requires payment, appeasement, sacrifice. This is paganism at its root.

So what is the problem with worshipping a false, punitive god-construct? Failing to remember God as creator, and the protocols of love upon which he creates?

But they would not listen and were as stiff-necked as their fathers, who did not trust in the LORD their God. They rejected his decrees and the covenant he had made with their fathers and the warnings he had given them. They followed worthless idols and themselves became worthless. They imitated the nations around them although the LORD had ordered them, “Do not do as they do,” and they did the things the LORD had forbidden them to do. 2Kings 17:14-15

We become like the God we worship and admire. This is why God continually calls us back to the knowledge of him. It is not because he needs our worship, it is because we need to worship him! Satan is the father of lies, and as he gets us to believe lies about god, to worship false god constructs he has power over us and we destroy ourselves and become worthless.

Today, we don't have problems with fertility rites in the church, but do we have problems with appeasement theologies misrepresenting God?

If we want to gospel to go to the world, to do our mission so that Christ will return, we as members in the church must rise up and present the truth about God's character of love, lovingly meet with our pastors and leaders and show them the truth, but we must stop taking pagan God constructs to the world!

THURSDAY

Paul is in Athens and appeals to the philosophers there, on what basis does he approach them?

He reaches out to them with one of their gods, the unknown god, he uses one of their god constructs and then introduces the creator through that.

What does it say about his approach? Did he start by condemning their false gods?
How might we use Paul's approach today?

Lesson 5: Creation and Morality

Sabbath's Lesson

¹⁶ And the LORD God commanded the man, saying, "Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat; ¹⁷ but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it. For in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die."

Did God tell our 1st parents that He would kill them for eating the forbidden fruit?? Did He tell them they would immediately keel over dead?? Or, was He telling them something about how His government functions, and how they were made in relationship to that government??

The lesson speaks of "Human rights". Do humans have any rights?? Are not "rights" based on some form of government?? Does God's government grant humans rights or privileges?? Or both?? Or neither?? Do the differences between imposed vs natural laws give us any clarity with regard to human rights??

Is it our "right" to love the Lord our God with all our heart, soul, and mind, and to love our neighbor as ourselves?? Is it our privilege?? Or, is it the foundation of life itself??

Let's review some Laws:

1. The Law of Love – The Cornerstone of God's government. All of the following laws are an expression of the Law of Love.
2. Physical Laws – Gravity, Thermodynamics, Momentum, Motion, Chemical Laws.
3. Health Laws – Healthy diet, plenty of water, exercise, fresh air, 7-8 hrs sleep, etc. Note: Health laws are intimately linked to physical laws.
4. Worship Laws – By beholding, we become changed.
5. Law[s] of Liberty – Love cannot exist without freedom / liberty.

Do we have any "rights" under these sets of Laws??

Where do humans get their "moral compass" from?? Answer this question, and you will have a powerful argument against the religion of evolution.

Search "Evolution of morality" sometime, and see what you come up with. I found the results dizzying.

If, as the humanist, would have us believe, morality has evolved over millions of years, doesn't that invalidate the theory of evolution itself?? If survival of the fittest is the "norm", than morality has no place to exist. Human's moral code is a pillar to support our being made in the image of a loving, intelligent Creator.

Sunday's Lesson – Dependence on the Creator

Consider the type of Creator we have. One powerful enough to speak our solar system into existence, yet loving/caring enough to kneel down and form man [with our infinitely complex systems – skeletal, muscular, nervous, circulatory, endocrine, lymphatic, reproductive, digestive, integumentary] from dirt, and woman from his flesh.

It stands to reason that a designer that installs so much complexity in to a creation would have recommended methods [rules] for operation, and that deviations from those recommendations would cause damage [in some cases, irreparable].

Consider the following passage from PP. This gives us some perspective on how dependent we are on our Creator.

The Levites, in their hymn recorded by Nehemiah, sang, "Thou, even Thou, art Lord alone; Thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things therein, ... and Thou preservest them all." Nehemiah 9:6. As regards this world, God's work of creation is completed. For "the works were finished from the foundation of the world." Hebrews 4:3. But His energy is still exerted in upholding the objects of His creation. It is not because the mechanism that has once been set in motion continues to act by its own inherent energy that the pulse beats and breath follows breath; but every breath, every pulsation of the heart, is an evidence of the all-pervading care of Him in whom "we live, and move, and have our being." Acts 17:28. It is not because of inherent power that year by year the earth produces her bounties and continues her motion around the sun. The hand of God guides the planets and keeps them in position in their orderly march through the heavens. He "bringeth out their host by number: He calleth them all by names by the greatness of His might, for that He is strong in power; not one faileth." Isaiah 40:26. It is through His power that vegetation flourishes, that the leaves appear and the flowers bloom. He "maketh grass to grow upon the mountains" (Psalm 147:8), and by Him the valleys are made fruitful. "All the beasts of the forest ... seek their meat from God," and every living creature, from the smallest insect up to man, is daily dependent upon His providential care. In the beautiful words of the psalmist, "These wait all upon Thee.... That Thou givest them they gather: Thou openest Thine hand, they are filled with good." Psalm 104:20, 21, 27, 28. His word controls the elements; He covers the heavens with clouds and prepares rain for the earth. "He giveth snow like wool: He scattereth the hoarfrost like ashes." Psalm 147:16. "When He uttereth His voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and He causeth the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; He maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of His treasures." Jeremiah 10:13. {PP 115.1}

Monday's Lesson – In the Image of God.

We have discussed, many times, what it means to be created in the image of God. Is there anything new we can discover??

We were given the gift of creation / reproduction. So were the mammals, birds, fish, insects, etc.

We were given dominion over the animals. Why?? What makes man so very different?? [see below].

Though formed from the dust, Adam was “the son of God.” {PP 44.3}

He was placed, as God’s representative, over the lower orders of being. They cannot understand or acknowledge the sovereignty of God, yet they were made capable of loving and serving man. The psalmist says, “Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of Thy hands; Thou hast put all things under his feet: ... the beasts of the field; the fowl of the air, ... and whatsoever passeth through the paths of the seas.” Psalm 8:6-8. {PP 45.1}

Man was to bear God’s image, both in outward resemblance and in character. Christ alone is “the express image” (Hebrews 1:3) of the Father; but man was formed in the likeness of God. His nature was in harmony with the will of God. His mind was capable of comprehending divine things. His affections were pure; his appetites and passions were under the control of reason. He was holy and happy in bearing the image of God and in perfect obedience to His will. {PP 45.2}

As man came forth from the hand of his Creator, he was of lofty stature and perfect symmetry. His countenance bore the ruddy tint of health and glowed with the light of life and joy. Adam’s height was much greater than that of men who now inhabit the earth. Eve was somewhat less in stature; yet her form was noble, and full of beauty. The sinless pair wore no artificial garments; they were clothed with a covering of light and glory, such as the angels wear. So long as they lived in obedience to God, this robe of light continued to enshroud them.

Consider this passage:

Our first parents, though created innocent and holy, were not placed beyond the possibility of wrongdoing. God made them free moral agents, capable of appreciating the wisdom and benevolence of His character and the justice of His requirements, and with full liberty to yield or to withhold obedience. They were to enjoy communion with God and with holy angels; but before they could be rendered eternally secure, their loyalty must be tested. At the very beginning of man’s existence a check was placed upon the desire for self-indulgence, the fatal passion that lay at the foundation of Satan’s fall. The tree of knowledge, which stood near the tree of life in the midst of the garden, was to be a test of the obedience, faith, and love of our parents. While permitted to eat freely of every other tree, they were forbidden to taste of this, on pain of death. They were also to be exposed to the temptations of Satan; but if they endured the trial, they would finally be placed beyond his power, to enjoy perpetual favor with God. {PP 48.4}

God placed man under law, as an indispensable condition of his very existence. He was a subject of the divine government, and there can be no government without law. God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automaton. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character. Such a course would have been contrary to God’s plan in dealing with the inhabitants of other worlds. It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan’s charge of God’s arbitrary rule. {PP 49.1}

The lesson references Gen 9:6. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the image of God made He man.

Is this God's ideal for humanity, or was He warning humans of consequences of certain behaviors??

James 3:9 points out the hypocrisy of blessing God's name, and cursing man [made in God's image] with the same mouth.

Tuesday's Lesson – Made of One Blood

I have found it disturbing to consider that Adam/Eve's immediate offspring produced offspring of their own [very incestuous], however, when we consider we all have the same DNA as Adam & Eve did, aren't we still brothers and sisters?? Doesn't scripture refer to us being "related" many times??

The lesson makes an excellent point: "If we ever needed proof of how far fallen we are, of how badly sin has damaged us, we have it in the sad fact that humans often treat one another worse than some people treat animals."

Have you ever watched a man get killed in a movie, and not flinch, but feel horrified when a horse falls to the ground, or a dog gets hurt?? I am ashamed to admit, I have.

Wednesday's Lesson – The Character of our Creator

Matt. 5:43-48. ⁴³ "Ye have heard that it hath been said, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy.'⁴⁴ But I say unto you, love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them that despitefully use you and persecute you,⁴⁵ that ye may be the children of your Father who is in Heaven. For He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.⁴⁶ For if ye love them that love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans the same?⁴⁷ And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? Do not even the publicans so?⁴⁸ Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father who is in Heaven is perfect.

Luke 10:25-37. ²⁵ And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and tested Him, saying, "Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"²⁶ He said unto him, "What is written in the law? How readest thou?"²⁷ And he answering said, "'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself.'²⁸ And He said unto him, "Thou hast answered right; this do, and thou shalt live."²⁹ But he, wanting to justify himself, said unto Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"³⁰ And Jesus answering said, "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves, who stripped him of his raiment and wounded him and departed, leaving him half dead.³¹ And by chance there came down a certain priest that way. And when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.³² And likewise a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him and passed by on the other side.³³ But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came to where he was. And when he saw him he had compassion on him,³⁴ and went to him and bound up his wounds, pouring on oil and wine; and he set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn and took care of him.³⁵ And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host and said unto him, "Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again I will repay thee."³⁶ Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?"³⁷ And he said, "He that showed mercy on him." Then said Jesus unto him, "Go and do thou likewise."

What do these passages tell us about the character of our Creator, and how we are to represent His image??

Thursday's Lesson – Morality and Accountability.

The lesson seems to revert back to a "penal substitution" model here. How is morality & accountability linked?? How are life and breathing linked?? Conventional Christianity would have us believe we are either rewarded for doing/saying the "right" things, or punished for doing/saying the "wrong" things. The lesson states: "The difference between the two groups in Jesus' parable [ref. Matt 25:31-40 – sheep/goats] is how each person treated those who were in need."

Is that the fundamental difference?? Might there be some deeper difference?? What if He had said the healthy come stand on My right, and the sick stand on My left?? What is the decision Jesus makes, based upon??

ON WHETHER WE ARE A LAMB OR A GOAT, HEALTHY OR SICK. It's not some arbitrary decision made based on our behaviors. It's a DIAGNOSIS of our condition. The behaviors [right or wrong] are signs and symptoms of health or illness. The wicked [sick] would be miserable in heaven, where love is the Law. God in love, mercy, truth, and justice, gives them up to their condition and wishes.

Origins Lesson 6 1Q 2013

Creation and the Fall

SABBATH

Read memory verse: “And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will crush your head, and you will strike his heel.” Gen 3:15 NIV

Thoughts?

Why did God say he would put enmity between fallen humans and Satan?

Would humans have any desire to resist Satan if God did not specifically act to put a desire for good in our hearts?

This text, for those who believe the Bible, is a powerful text against the “natural good” we all have in our hearts. We don’t have natural good. Humans left to themselves, since the fall, cannot advance, evolve to higher levels, develop in positive lines or even be good people. All goodness comes from the work of the Holy Spirit in the heart, even in those who don’t believe in God.

What do you think of this perspective from Signs of the Times?

The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God, and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship. {ST, July 11, 1895 par. 5}

Do you agree?

What other implications come from the memory text? Do you think Satan understood the meaning, in general terms, that God was going to contest his claim to earth and send a Savior?

Do you think Satan stood by idly for thousands of years awaiting the arrival of Jesus? Or, did Satan actively seek to obstruct God’s plan?

And what as the key to God’s plan? Jesus coming to earth – so what would be the key to Satan’s opposition? Trying to stop Jesus from coming to earth and partaking of our humanity. How might that have been accomplished? By getting 100% of all humans to permanently close their hearts and minds to God. Would God force a woman against her will to be the mother of Jesus? Would God want a woman whose heart was hardened against him to be the mother of Jesus?

Does this give us any insight into what we see transpiring in the OT? Does it give any insight into God's actions in the OT? Was God punishing, or was God therapeutically acting to keep open the channel for the Messiah?

Read first two paragraphs, "A comic used to play..." does anyone remember this?

But, can the devil make anyone choose evil, choose to sin? No! This is powerful to remember – the devil can lie, twist, distort, coerce, manipulate, misrepresent, trick, pressure, tempt, but he cannot force a person to choose. He can play on our worst fears. He can, at times, orchestrate pain and suffering, but he cannot make us do anything.

Read next paragraph, "For some people..." thoughts? What do you think of this idea that the devil is a "defeated foe"?

Has he surrendered?

Has he been destroyed?

Has he been imprisoned?

If he is defeated, why are we still here? Why is there still pain and suffering? Why do we teach he is coming one day to impersonate Christ and deceive the entire world if he is defeated?

What does "defeated" mean?

I looked it up in the dictionary and there are listed three definitions:

1. listed as an obsolete definition is: Destroy
2. a: Nullify (defeat an estate) b: Frustrate (defeat a hope)
3. to win victory over: beat (defeat an opposing team)

Okay, Satan has not been destroyed, yet. His work has not been nullified, but Jesus did win a victory. So, Satan was defeated in his ability to destroy humanity, to misrepresent God throughout the universe, and to maintain his claim to earth. Because of Jesus the human race is already saved, the beings throughout the universe have already rejected Satan, and Satan knows his hold on earth is lost. However, is the war over?

Would you describe it differently, put it in a different tense?

- Satan and his cause are ultimately defeated and will one day be eliminated?
- Christ won the victory over evil forces at the Cross, but the application of that victory, in order to permanently eradicate evil is ongoing?

MONDAY

The lesson points out how the serpent took what God had said and subtly changed it to create a lie. Then asks, “How often do we face the same thing today: someone comes with teachings that, on most points but not all, are in harmony with Scripture? It’s the few points that aren’t that can ruin everything else. Even mixed with truth, error is still error.”

Thoughts?

This is an excellent point; the most effective lies are those that are mostly true. The complete falsehoods are the easiest to recognize and expose, it is the lies that are the closest to the true that are the hardest to spot. Just like any counterfeit currency, the closer to the true, the harder to spot.

So, what would happen if some agency within the federal government started printing counterfeit currency? Wouldn’t this be the most difficult to spot or recognize? In fact, might many people accept it as genuine?

So, what is the source of the most potent counterfeits or lies about God? From the government – and where did the war begin? In heaven, with whom? Lucifer who held high office in God’s government.

2000 years ago from where did Christ experience his greatest opposition? From the Romans who worshipped idols? Or was his greatest opposition from the Jewish religious authorities – from God’s representatives?

What about today? Could there be individuals in church leadership that are actually spreading lies about God?

Is it wrong to ask such questions? Should we believe that anyone who is in leadership in the church is appointed by God, or “God’s anointed” and therefore we should accept their perspectives, ideas, views, beliefs, interpretations of Scripture without studying for ourselves to know the truth?

Read the dark section midway down, “Read Matthew 12:7-9...”

You hypocrites! Isaiah was right when he prophesied about you: “ ‘These people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me. They worship me in vain; their teachings are but rules taught by men.’ ”

Thoughts?

Is the lesson suggesting we are not to think but to take the Bible only as it reads? What about DT 14, take the tithe and buy fermented wine and rejoice before the Lord. Let’s not add any human thinking to it, let’s just take it as it reads, or should we think about it?

Is Jesus reproving them for the addition of “human thinking” to the Word of God? Interestingly, that is not what the Scripture says, it was for adding human rules, human methods, human principles. In other words, they were not adding their understanding and insights about God’s kingdom of love, but adding their selfish worldly ways and claiming it was God’s way.

What other kind of thinking are we supposed to have? Are we not supposed to read the Scripture and examine it with our “human thinking” and clarify or rightly understand it?

When we read prophecy and interpret the meaning of the symbolism, concluding that a particular beast represents a particular nation or political power, arising at a particular time, whose thinking is coming to these conclusions? And are these conclusions obvious in the text or are we adding our thinking to what is written in the text?

Last paragraph, the lesson makes an excellent point, “The problem with sin is not a lack of rules but a reprobate heart. Even in secular society, we often hear calls for more laws against crime when there are already sufficient laws in existence. We do not need more laws so much as we need new hearts.”

This is extremely well said. Have we seen this very phenomenon happen over the past few weeks? Will more gun control laws actually stop evil in our country?

Everyone of the shootings was done by someone who was breaking multiple laws including the law against murder. Does anyone really think that a person willing to commit multiple murders is going to say, “Well I was going to commit murder, but whoa, there is a law against using a gun not registered to me, don’t want to break that law, shucks, guess I won’t kill all those people.”

The lesson is right, the world is getting worse because God is being pushed aside, selfishness is gaining greater hold on more and more hearts, and men respond by piling up more and more laws, which will ultimately avail nothing.

Why do you think the Bible teaches that before Christ comes laws restricting buying and selling, unless you have the mark of the beast, will occur? Because things continue to get worse and worse, and a godless world will pass more and more laws trying to control the hearts of men. Will it work?

Can we control the hearts of men by passing laws? Can God control the hearts of men by passing laws? Do you see the problem with so much of what is taught in religion? All too often God is presented as passing laws, and then enforcing those laws upon pain of death – this is the beast system. We must stop describing God in this way!

In the bottom green section it asks, “How can we be sure that the standards and rules we apply aren’t going to lead us astray?” Thoughts?

How about by not creating concrete rules to apply in all situations, but instead we understanding the principles and live by those?

Any examples of how living by rules, without understanding the principles, results in harm, whereas principled living is healthy?

There was an old movie called Zulu, which documented the Battle of Rorke's Drift, where 156 British soldiers held off 4000 Zulu. In the early part of the film they depicted when the Zulu army attacked a British column. As the soldiers were running out of ammunition they ran to the quartermaster to get resupply, but the quartermaster refused to dispense ammunition without the proper paperwork filled out and submitted, in spite of being in the middle of a battle. He was a stickler for the rules. Needless to say they were wiped out.

Do we ever follow rules in such a way we miss the bigger picture and instead injure and harm?

I heard one health conscience person say, "I am going to following the health message even if it kills me."

TUESDAY

What do you think about the title to Tuesday's lesson, Deceived by the Evidence?

Is there something wrong with evidence? Is there something wrong with looking for evidence? Utilizing evidence in our decision-making?

Could the title be heard in such a way that one could misconstrue and conclude that evidence is not to be used in our religious beliefs or faith based decisions? What do you think of the relationship between evidence and faith?

I was in Salt Lake last week doing a seminar and one of the things that I have discovered about our Mormon friends is that they approach evidence differently that we do. They often will hear the evidence, but then pray for a feeling of conviction to tell them whether to believe the evidence or not. In other words, the feeling of conviction is accepted as supreme evidence despite whatever other evidence has been presented.

Here is a quote many of you have heard, do you agree with this perspective?

"God never asks us to believe, without giving sufficient evidence upon which to base our faith. His existence, His character, the truthfulness of His Word, are all established by testimony that appeals to our reason; and this testimony is abundant. Yet God has never removed the possibility of doubt. Our faith must rest upon evidence, not demonstration. Those who wish to doubt will have opportunity; while those who really desire to know the truth, will find plenty of evidence on which to rest their faith." Steps to Christ 105 (1892); 9MR 202; compare Education 169

Is there a problem with evidence, or is there a problem with how one uses evidence? Is there a difference in appealing to our reason with evidence and appealing to our feelings?

So, is the title correct that Eve was deceived by evidence, or was Eve deceived by Satan, who manipulated and misrepresented the evidence?

For instance, she had the evidence of a talking serpent, who was in the forbidden tree. But was the talking serpent evidence that the tree ennobled and elevated, or that another being was manipulating the serpent? So, Eve wasn't deceived by evidence but by a misconstruing of evidence, by having only partial evidence at her disposal, and by ignoring the other evidences God has given of his generosity, love, goodness and trustworthiness.

Read second paragraph, "Eve uses three lines of evidence..." thoughts?

When did the Lord say the tree wasn't good for food? Did the Lord say don't eat of the tree because it was a bad food choice, because it was high in trans fats, because it was poisonous in some way?

One of the founders of our church had an opinion about the quality of the fruit of the tree:

The fruit of the tree of knowledge was not in itself injurious. It was used merely as a test of their obedience to God. Will they be obedient to God's requirements, or not? {9MR 232.2}

So was the problem the nutritional quality of the fruit? When Eve concluded it was good for food, this wasn't a false conclusion any more than you would conclude that the produce in the supermarket is good for food. But, when you conclude that the produce in the supermarket is good for food, does that mean you are free to take what you want and leave the store without paying? Why not? Is the question of leaving the supermarket with the produce one of whether it is good for food, or whether it is yours to take?

In fact, what would have been the point of putting a poisonous tree in the garden? If God would have done this, something that had wart covered, foul smelling fruit, would it have been much of a test for them? Or if it had been laced with cyanide, Eve eats, drops dead and Adam cries, but the sin problem is taken care of right? Wrong, because what would that prove? God poisons his creatures and now we can't trust God, Satan's allegations would be proved true, if that had happened.

What was the issue with the tree of knowledge? Wasn't the purpose to put Adam and Eve in a position that they would have to exercise their own individuality, their own intelligence, their own God-given ability to make choices and choose to remain loyal, thus develop mature character and become so settled into the truth about God and their loyalty to him that they could not be moved?

The tree was put there as a simple tool to help these free beings develop loyalty and maturity, something that could only happen by the free-exercise of their power of choice. From the book Conflict and Courage:

God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automation. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character. . . . It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. {CC 13.3}

Read last paragraph, “We are told that Eve...” thoughts?

Why did Adam choose to eat the fruit if he wasn't deceived?

Do we have similar temptations today, being tempted to follow others when we ourselves know a better way? Why do we do it?

- Fear of rejection
- Fear of abandonment
- Fear of loneliness
- Desire to be liked/loved
- Seeking to please others
- Some confused sense of duty or obligation
- Women - believing the lie that as wife you must follow your husband's leadership, even when you are convinced your husband is wrong and going against God's will
- Others?

WEDNESDAY

Read top section, “In Genesis 3...” thoughts?

- Was this an interrogation?
- Was it an investigation?
- Or was it a gentle reaching out to reestablish contact with a loved one?

The lesson then points out that God's first declarative statement recorded in Scripture is a condemnation of the serpent not humanity, well said.

Read third and fourth paragraphs, “Notice, too, that only...” thoughts?

Is this what happened? Did God pronounce judgment upon them, or did something else happen?

What did God just promise in verse 15? That the serpent would be defeated and a Savior is coming. So, what would be the next logical thing God would do...

If God is a punishing God like Satan alleges? If God uses arbitrary imposed law like Satan alleges? Then the next most logical thing would be for him to pronounce judgments and punishments – BUT WHAT IF God is not a punishing God and Satan lied? What if God is a God of love and life emanates from him, and his law is the protocol upon which life is built? Then after pronouncing to the serpent the coming Savior, then what would God do next? Diagnose them, describe for them the symptoms and intervene with therapeutic interventions designed to heal!

- After Adam and Eve sinned, humanity no longer naturally, automatically, sought to love one another, but instead sought to put self first.
- What effect does the infection of selfishness have upon human nature and how we treat each other?
- So, would one expect the strong to dominate the weak if selfishness rules in the heart? So when God pronounced that Eve would be dominated by Adam, i.e. women subjected to the domination of their husbands, was God inflicting this, or diagnosing and describing one of the natural consequences of what sin does to God's creation? It distorts and perverts the equality God designed. Is this God inflicting something?
- What about pain in childbirth? Inflicted by God, or result of being out of harmony with God's design and nature no longer operating as he built it to? Why did God comment on this particular result then?
- The pain of childbirth is a powerful object lesson allowing women to experience greater insight into the heart and mind of God. Knowing labor will be painful, why do women choose to have children? In the aftermath of labor, the pain of it, why do women rejoice? Is it not because of love? Doesn't love for their children overcome their pain and fear of labor to bring forth new life? Likewise the Bible says, "for the joy set before Him" Christ endured the cross (Heb 12:2). It was for our rebirth that Christ labored as a human and suffered through the cross. Thus the birthing process allows women to appreciate in a small way the pain and suffering God went through to rebirth us in newness of life and also the joy in God's heart to see us renewed.
- What about the pronouncement that Adam would have to labor to produce food from the earth? A punishment inflicted or a consequence with blessing?
- In Genesis 3:17 again God looks good as He works to save and heal mankind. In this verse our Savior is pronouncing the natural consequence which impacted nature when God's rule of love was replaced by Satan's rule of survival of the fittest as a result of Adam's abdication of his rule to the devil.
- Paul says in Romans 8:22 that all nature groans under the weight of sin. God is announcing in Genesis 3:17, that, for mankind's sake, He would not intervene to prevent the law of sin and death from impacting the earth, but the earth was now under the curse of sin. Why did God allow this? As a protection for mankind in a world of sin.
- Once Adam and Eve sinned their natural tendency was toward sin and selfishness. Industry, work, is a hedge of protection from the power of the carnal nature. Maybe you have heard the old saying, “Idle hands are the devil’s workshop.” A powerful truth is espoused in this statement. Idleness allows the carnal mind time to wander away from the right and engage in unhealthy and destructive practices. Therefore, to protect man, to keep his time occupied, to teach self-discipline, self-mastery and diligence, God announced that it was for man’s sake that He would not stop the earth from changing.

- Further, there is a powerful spiritual lesson in allowing the curse of sin the change the earth, which was also for man’s sake. Imagine you have a garden, one you have faithfully tended and is producing a bountiful harvest. What will happen to your garden if you stop tending it? Will it continue to produce good fruit, or will the weeds come up and eventually destroy it? In a similar way, ever since Adam and Eve sinned, our minds naturally bring up weeds, selfish thoughts, ideas, and conceptions. It is Christ who works through the Holy Spirit to plant the seeds of truth in our minds. He then nurtures and protects the seeds of truth to grow into the fruits of a Christ-like character. It is by utilizing the Sword of the Spirit (which is the Word of God, the truth) that we work with Christ to weed our minds; we uproot the lies and false theories that keep us captive, and instead maintain a healthy and productive mental garden.

So, do we find that God pronounced “judgment” and inflicted punishment, or that God diagnosed accurately, then described the symptoms resulting from the natural consequences of deviation from his methods and utilized those results to provide therapeutic tools for our salvation?

We must stop presenting God in the same light as the beast of revelation. Is it not time we stand up and reject these distortions and embrace the truth about God as Jesus revealed?

THURSDAY

Read second and third paragraphs, “Thus, in Scripture...” thoughts?

What is being suggested is the good news? That we are spared condemnation? If that is the good news, what does it imply? From where does such suggested condemnation come? From God who it is suggested must judge.

So according to this view, from where does the condemnation come? From God, and Christ spares us this condemnation, so what is Christ sparing us from? Not from sin, but from God’s condemnation of sin – do you see the subtle lie built into this theory which has infected Christianity?

Here is from 27 Fundamental Beliefs:

“Christ’s self-sacrifice is pleasing to God because this sacrificial offering took away the barrier between God and sinful man in that Christ fully bore God’s wrath on man’s sin. Through Christ, God’s wrath is not turned into love but is turned away from man and borne by Himself.”¹

“For a loving God to maintain His justice and righteousness, the atoning death of Jesus Christ became ‘a moral and legal necessity.’ God’s ‘justice requires that sin be carried to judgment.

God must therefore execute judgment on sin and thus on the sinner. In this execution the Son of God took our place, the sinner's place, according to God's will." ⁱⁱ

Is this the gospel or is this the great lie told in heaven and to Adam and Eve and has been infecting the church since Apostolic times?

Read last paragraph, "In Revelation 14:6..." thoughts?

What is the problem with this paragraph?

It has the focus in the wrong place, this is not a description of God sitting in judgment, this is a description of God being judged by his creatures. Revelation 14 comes after Revelation 13 in which two beasts deceive the entire world, and get the entire world believing lies about God. Then the good news is to enlighten the world and we are to give glory to God because the time has come for us to judge rightly who God really is and throw off the lies of Satan.

Does anyone have any concerns or questions or reasons why they would be uncomfortable with this passage referring to God being judged by us, rather than us being judged by God?

SUNDAY

The lesson speaks of the serpent being more crafty or cunning and how Satan is the father of lies. The lesson goes on to say in the last sentence, "We must be vigilant (1Pet 5:8) in order to resist his devices."

Paul, actually goes further and say we are in a war and have divine weapons to "demolish" everything that sets itself up against the knowledge of God.

As we consider Satan's attacks, regardless of the method he uses, what is his goal? What is Satan always trying to achieve no matter what method he uses?

- Severing your connection with God
- Destroying the faculties you have that respond and interact with God

So, what are some of Satan's tools, tricks, tactics, methods to separate you from God and keep you from reconciling to God?

- Lies
 - about God
 - about yourself and your condition
 - about God's law
 - about how God deals with sin
- Antithetical beliefs (getting us to believe two things that are opposites)

- God is love but will inflict pain and suffering to punish sin
- God is love but predetermines who is saved or lost
- Symbolism without meaning
 - Power in the blood, cleansed by the blood, washed in blood
 - Covered by robe
- Faith without evidence, reason, or thinking
- Surrendering your thinking to someone else
- “Sinful Living” that damages the brain/body
- Refusal to forgive
- Others

Through a Glass, Darkly

SABBATH

Read memory text, “The wisdom of this world is foolishness in God’s sight. As it is written; ‘He catches the wise in their craftiness.’” (1Corinthians 3:19 NIV)

Thoughts?

What is the wisdom of this world? In this world what is the “wise” method, action, principle of conduct?

- Survival of the fittest
- Do unto others before others do unto you
- Arm yourself and watch your back (Peter had the same philosophy, remember he carried a sword)
- Kill or be killed
- Kill them all and let God sort out the innocent
- Might is right
- If you don’t get caught it isn’t cheating
- It’s only illegal if you get caught
- Rules are meant to be broken
- Someone’s got to pay
- No good deed goes unpunished
- Justice requires punishment
- Happiness comes from winning – from beating the other person
- Happiness comes from richness – getting more than the other person
- Happiness comes from power – over other people
- Happiness comes from – gratifying self, regardless of other people

A few years back a local pastor shared the following Sports Illustrated story in a sermon:

- Olympic athletes – 1997 poll
 - It was a poll of Olympic athletes and aspiring Olympians. 198 sprinters, swimmers, power-lifters and others answered two questions:

Q) You are offered a banned performance-enhancing substance with 2 guarantees: you will not be caught and you will win your competition. Would you take it?

A) 195 – yes, 3 – no

Q) You are offered a banned performance-enhancing substance with 3 guarantees: you will not be caught, you will win every competition you enter for the next five years and, you will die from the side effects. Would you take it?

A) More than half – yes

source: Sports Illustrated, April 14, 1997

Does this sound wise to you? Is the wisdom of the world foolishness? Why?

Let's re-examine the common ideas above and consider their "wisdom."

- The strong survive
 - Based on what principle? And what does this principle actually lead to if followed?
 - Adolf Hitler practiced what principle? Those with power could dominate and destroy the weak. He not only killed Jews, Slavs, Gypsies, but all the infirmed, mentally ill, mentally retarded, elderly in nursing homes, and recidivist criminals. He wanted to purify the gene pool. He practiced the principle of evolution and wanted to use power to remove from the gene pool what he considered weak genes to create a master race. This is the theory of godless evolution carried out to its logical, moral-less end.
 - Where does this principle lead?
- Do unto others before others do unto you
 - Based on what principle?
- If you don't get caught it isn't cheating
 - Based on what kind of law?
 - If you don't get caught smoking by your mother, do you get healthier?
- Rules are meant to be broken
 - Based on what kind of law?
- Someone's got to pay
 - Based on what kind of law?
 - Do we see this in theology?
- No good deed goes unpunished
 - Based on what underlying principle?
- Justice equals punishment
 - Based on what kind of law?
 - Do we have to punish people who refuse to exercise by giving them obesity and heart attacks?
 - What happens to the criminal who injures another?
 - What is the just course of action in God's government?
- Happiness comes from winning – from beating the other person
 - Based on what principle?
 - What if you love the other person? Do parents ever let their children win? Why?

- When does the person become more important than the game?
- Happiness comes from richness – getting more than the other person
 - Based on what principle?
 - What if you love the other person? Do parents ever go without in order to provide for their children? Are they less happy when they do?
- Happiness comes from power – over other people
 - Based on what principle?
 - Do parents have power over their children?
 - And does such power make the parents happy? Or do the parents experience real happiness when their children mature to the point that the parents can relinquish such overseeing power and set them free? So happiness comes when such power is surrendered!
- From where does happiness come?
 - Healthiness – the healthier we are mentally, physically, relationally and spiritually the happier we are, the more diseased we are in these areas the more unhappy we are.
 - And what contributes to healthiness? Being in harmony with God’s design, his natural law, the law of love.
 - Then what contributes to unhealthiness? Violating God’s design
 - And worldliness is a methodology in violations of God’s law of love, thus it is foolishness.

In the memory text how does God “catch” them? In their craftiness – give them enough rope and they hang themselves. Their own methods, being out of harmony with how God built life to operate, destroys them. And they can’t figure why they aren’t happy.

SUNDAY

The title for the day is “The Earth is the Lord’s” – what do you think about the title?

This is a true statement and has significant implications to how we understand Scripture and God’s conflict with Satan.

Has the earth ever been Satan’s? Did Satan ever have “ownership” over the earth? Did Satan ever claim the earth as his? But was it his? What difference does this make?

Some theologies have ideas that when Christ came to earth to battle Satan for the salvation of mankind and the ultimate eradication of sin, that his battle with Satan included some “legal” battle for the ownership of earth. Did it?

When Satan offered all the kingdoms of the earth to Christ, saying,

I will give you all their authority and splendor, for it has been given to me, and I can give it to anyone I want to. So if you worship me, it will all be yours. (Lk 4:5-7) was he speaking the truth? Was the world his? Did he own it? Could he give it to whoever he wanted? Or did Satan claim it was his, but it was actually Christ's?

If it was actually Christ's then was there ever a need for Christ to legally win the earth?

Where did Christ need to prove his case, in some celestial court, or in the minds of intelligent beings?

I agree with the position taken in Desire of Ages on this issue:

When Satan declared to Christ, The kingdom and glory of the world are delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it, he stated what was true only in part, and he declared it to serve his own purpose of deception. Satan's dominion was that wrested from Adam, but Adam was the vicegerent of the Creator. His was not an independent rule. The earth is God's, and He has committed all things to His Son. Adam was to reign subject to Christ. When Adam betrayed his sovereignty into Satan's hands, Christ still remained the rightful King. Thus the Lord had said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever He will." Daniel 4:17. Satan can exercise his usurped authority only as God permits. {DA 129.4}

When the tempter offered to Christ the kingdom and glory of the world, he was proposing that Christ should yield up the real kingship of the world, and hold dominion subject to Satan. This was the same dominion upon which the hopes of the Jews were set. They desired the kingdom of this world. If Christ had consented to offer them such a kingdom, they would gladly have received Him. But the curse of sin, with all its woe, rested upon it. Christ declared to the tempter, "Get thee behind Me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." {DA 130.1}

If someone kidnapped your child, and later claimed the child was theirs, would their claim make it so?

What if your child was stolen as an infant, raised by them, and grew up believing the kidnapper was their parent, even having affection and heart bond for them. Would the child then be theirs? What would be necessary for the child to be "yours" again? And in what way do you want the child to be yours? As property you own? Or as a being that loves and trusts you?

Does this scenario have any bearing on what Christ came to accomplish?

With these thoughts in mind, let's read the third paragraph, "A favorite..." thoughts?

What do you think of this idea? Does it sound right? Does it sound close to being right, but like something is just not quite right?

- Is it true God is creator?
- Is it true all things come from him?
- Is it true that there is no more legitimate claim to ownership than creatorship? I would question this.

- Do artists, graphic designers, software designers, inventors etc. always own what they create? Is their creatorship of something the most legitimate claim to ownership?
- Did God make us in his image? Yes, did he give us the ability to procreate? Yes, so what would you think if your parent came to you today and said, “I created you I own you. Don’t argue there is no greater claim to ownership than creatorship.” Is there something wrong with this idea?

What kingdom wants to “own things”? Did the Roman empire want to “own” things, lands, properties, wealth, even slaves? Is God’s government like this?

Read next paragraph, “Not only does...” thoughts?

God could certainly take the position presented here, but does he? Does God choose to “own” us?

Imagine one day, in the not too distant future, a human creates artificial intelligence, a cybernetic entity that can think for itself, could the creator of that entity choose to set it free, and while creating it, no longer “own” it?

Does God take the position of “owning” us, or the position of setting us free?

How does the emphasis of ownership represent God? In what light does it cast his character? Does it make him seem more like a power-over kind of being, a Roman emperor type leader?

What if we view God instead as the Scripture describes him, as our Heavenly Father? Parents procreate their children, do loving parents treat their children like property owned, or in some other fashion? What light does a parent-like construct put God in?

And, where does the ownership idea put the burden of work? Does ownership make a subtle suggestion that we are obligated to God, we are his property, servants or slaves and must obey?

Where does the parent view place the burden of work? God is our Heavenly Father, and he is constantly working for our good, health, protection, development, salvation, to love and heal and restore, just like a good parent. And we respond to his tender love and care by freely choosing to obey, not obeying out of obligation to our “owner.”

But what do we do with texts that say, “you are not your own, you were bought with a price. Therefore, honor God with your bodies.” 1Cor 6:18,19?

Is Paul saying you are a slave, property, don’t think, don’t ask questions, don’t grow, don’t develop, just do what the Master says? Or is he saying, God loved you so much he paid the ultimate price for your salvation, don’t squander what he died to give you?

What about the idea that we are all completely dependent upon God for our existence? It is true, just like we are dependent upon oxygen, food, water, but do these own us?

Read last paragraph, “More so, we are...” thoughts?

What does it mean that death denudes life of all meaning and purpose? Maybe the lesson means any ongoing, future, meaning and purpose because one is dead. But surely not that death denudes the life the person lived of meaning and purpose?

Did Christ die? Is his life without meaning and purpose?

How about others, if they die, even the wicked in the end, will their lives be without meaning and purpose?

Did Satan’s life have a meaning and purpose? Yes, it was purposefully destructive and meant to undermine God and his kingdom of love. And did we learn something from his life? Will his death denude his life of this meaning?

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “The curse on the ground...” thoughts?

From where did the curse come? It is, as the lesson states, “a result of sin”?

What happens when we deviate from God’s design from life? This is the curse of sin.

Read last paragraph, “The Flood...” thoughts?

What does this sentence imply? “God graciously promised not to curse the earth again, but the soil we have inherited is a far cry from the rich, productive soil God originally created.”

Does this suggest that the curse came from God? Did the curse come from God or from deviating from God’s design? How would you say it?

Does it make a difference if we say God inflicted the curse, rather than God permitted the results of sin to be manifested, and this is the curse and God pronounced the results of sin, but did not cause those results?

What difference does it make if we make God out to be the source of the curse?

- Cain and Abel, the sons of Adam, were very unlike in character. Abel feared God. Cain cherished rebellious feelings, and murmured against God because of the curse pronounced upon Adam, and because the ground was cursed for his sin. 1SP 54

Who did Cain blame for the curse? And what did choosing to view God as a curser, an inflictor of curses, do to Cain’s attitude?

But from where did the problems with earth's productivity arise – from God inflicting it, or from earth deviating from God's design and being infected with Satan's principle of selfishness?

- Christ never planted the seeds of death in the system. Satan planted these seeds when he tempted Adam to eat of the tree of knowledge which meant disobedience to God. Not one noxious plant was placed in the Lord's great garden, but after Adam and Eve sinned, poisonous herbs sprang up. In the parable of the sower the question was asked the master, "Didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?" The master answered, "An enemy hath done this" (Matthew 13:27, 28). All tares are sown by the evil one. Every noxious herb is of his sowing, and by his ingenious methods of amalgamation he has corrupted the earth with tares. {2SM 288.2}

Thoughts?

FRIDAY

Read question 2 – thoughts?

Is science an entirely human undertaking? Or is science, science, and can be taken up by those who reject God and want to rely only on their own minds, but can also be taken up and practiced by those who surrender themselves to God and cooperate with him for their understanding?

The duties and qualifications of a physician are not small...Every bit possible of that knowledge that is termed science should be acquired, while the seeker daily acknowledges that the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. Every item of experience and everything that can strengthen the mind, should be cultivated to the utmost of their power, while at the same time they should seek God for his wisdom, their consciences illuminated, quick, and pure; for unless they are guided by the wisdom from above, they become an easy prey to the deceptive power of Satan. Counsel to Physicians and Medical Students, p. 17. {Healthful Living 255.4}

God is the foundation of everything. All true science is in harmony with his works, all true education leads to obedience to his government. Science opens new wonders to our view; she soars high and explores new depths; but she brings nothing from her research that conflicts with divine revelation. Ignorance may seek to support false views of God by appeals to science; but the book of nature and the written word do not disagree; each sheds light on the other. Rightly understood, they make us acquainted with God and his character by teaching us something of the wise and beneficent laws through which he works. We are thus led to adore his holy name, and to have an intelligent trust in his word.--S. of T., 1884, No. 12. {HL 286.1}

Many teach that matter possesses vital power. They hold that certain properties are imparted to matter, and it is then left to act through its own inherent power; and that the operations of nature are carried on in harmony with fixed laws, that God himself cannot interfere with. This is false science, and is sustained by nothing in the word of God. Nature is not self-acting; she is the servant of her Creator. God does not annul his laws nor work contrary to them; but he is continually using them as his instruments. Nature testifies of an intelligence, a presence, an active agency, that works in, and through, and above her laws. There is in nature the continual working of the Father and the Son. Said Christ, "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work." {HL 290.1}

God has finished his creative work, but his energy is still exerted in upholding the objects of his creation. It is not because the mechanism that was once been set in motion continues its work by its own inherent energy that the pulse beats, and breath follows breath; but every breath, every pulsation of the heart, is an evidence of the all-pervading care of Him in whom we live and have our being. It is not because of inherent power that year by year the earth produces her bounties, and continues her motion around the sun. The hand of God guides the planets, and keeps them in position in their orderly march through the heavens. It is through his power that vegetation flourishes, that the leaves appear and the flowers bloom. His word controls the elements, and by him the valleys are made fruitful. He covers the heavens with clouds, and prepares rain for the earth; he "maketh grass to grow upon the mountains." "He giveth snow like wool; he scattereth the hoarfrost like ashes." "When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he causeth the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures."--S. of T., 1884, No. 12. {HL 290.2}

Thoughts? What are the implications? Do you believe this to be true? Then what would happen if God were to withdraw his presence? What would happen to nature? And when God let's go, or withdraws, what is that called in Scripture? God's wrath! Could it also be called a curse? And the earth is going to feel this coming, Revelation describes it as 7 last plagues. But what would cause God to withdraw? Where is God's dwelling place on earth? Does God force his way into hearts? So what happens when humans close their hearts permanently to God? He leaves them to themselves to reap what they have chosen – which will be what?

And what about the idea that our heart beats and we breathe because of God's sustaining energy? What would this mean regarding the tree of life? Would we have life separate from God, if we could just get a piece of that fruit?

TUESDAY

Read the memory text at the top of the page, "The Lord said unto Satan, 'Whence comest thou?' Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, 'From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it.'" (Job 1:7)

What do you understand is going on here and the implication this conversation?

Satan appears before a gathering of God's representatives in heaven. He seems to be alleging he is there as earth representative. What does God do? No, you don't represent earth, Job doesn't recognize you. Then what happens? And what do we learn from the story of Job?

- God is not the destroyer Satan is
- Angels can't read hearts and minds, if they could none would have followed Satan in the first place, and all would have known Satan lied about Job without Job going through what he did.
- God does know the future and the hearts of his creatures, thus he could with confidence call Job to the witness stand of the universe, knowing his testimony would be true
- The issue is over God's trustworthiness and Satan tried to misrepresent God
- And, as the last paragraph points out, Satan has the ability to affect nature and the weather causing disasters, when God removes his restraining hand. What importance does this fact have for us today?

Rev 7 describes the four angels holding back the four winds of strife and the angels are described as having power to harm the land and sea and trees. How does these angel harm? By letting go what they are holding back. Does Job give us any insight into what they are holding back?

I love this quote from one of the founders of our church, she put this pieces together and came to this conclusion, which is so different than traditional views of God, but absolutely in harmony with Scripture:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reprovcs, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3 thoughts? Have many conceive of God as a punishing God? In our own Bible commentary in Revelation we describe the plagues as God using his power to inflict terrible suffering and death upon his children. We must come back to the truth about God! We must reclaim the message our church was founded upon, and we must begin telling the truth about God's character, methods, principles so people can be informed of his true character so they won't be deceived by Satan's master deception, of a punishing God who must inflict torture and death.

We live in terrible times and God is waiting for the good news about him to lighten the world so minds can break free of these lies! We are privileged to take this incredible good news to the world.

WEDESDAY

The title of the day's lesson is "The 'Wisdom' of the World", read first paragraph, "As humans..." thoughts?

The lesson is right that mere knowledge, facts, information is not the same as wisdom. What is wisdom?

The dictionary says wisdom is:

- a : accumulated philosophic or scientific learning : knowledge
- b : ability to discern inner qualities and relationships : insight
- c : good sense : judgment
- d : generally accepted belief <challenges what has become accepted wisdom among many historians — Robert Darnton>
- e : a wise attitude, belief, or course of action
- f : the teachings of the ancient wise men

Which of these definitions do you like best? How would you define wisdom?

Rightly discerning and applying information to one's life in harmony with God's design, principles and methods?

The lesson points out that our knowledge in science and information has grown significantly over time, but what about our knowledge of God? Has our theology grown? Has our insight into God's kingdom, methods, and the achievements of Christ grown? And if not, why not? Why are we stuck teaching centuries old, out dated, Dark Ages views of God?

I was listening to a presentation on Revelation by Sigve Tonstad on godscharacter.com and saw this quote. It is profound. It from a book looking at the early church history, and examines the first church historian Eusebius. Note, what transpired, this is a quote:

"There are no reserves in the stilted encomium with which Eusebius closes his history, no wistful regret for the blessings of persecution, no prophetic fear of imperial control of the Church. His heart is full of gratitude to God and Constantine. And it is not only his feelings that are stirred. He is ready, with a theory, indeed a theology, of the Christian Emperor. He finds a correspondence between religion and politics... With the Roman Empire monarchy had come on earth as the image of the monarchy in heaven." S.L. Greenslade, Church and State from Constantine to Theodosius (London: SCM Press, 1954).

Wow, did you hear that? One of the first church historians recounts how the Roman system was viewed as God's method of governing heaven. This is the root of paganism in the church, the change in God's law as predicted by Daniel, and accepted by all Christian churches, including many in our own church.

This is why God waits. He waits for the gospel to go to the world. He waits for the truth about his kingdom of love to be presented. He wants for people to come to know him and reject the beastly views of God that has intoxicated the entire world!

Thoughts?

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, “Many have looked...” thoughts?

When you consider the vastness of the universe, do you grow in admiration for God, or when you consider the universe and then look around at the pain, suffering, abuse, exploitation, sin on earth, question how God could allow this, and whether God even exists?

What do you say to those who seeing evil, question the existence of God?

Lesson Study #8

Jesus, Provider and Sustainer

Sabbath's Lesson

“And my God will meet all your needs according to the riches of His glory in Christ Jesus.” Phil. 4:19, NIV.

What are the riches of God's glory?? What did Christ reveal about God's glory?

Sunday's Lesson

Just for consideration:

The stellar disk of the Milky Way Galaxy is approximately 100,000 ly (31 kpc) in diameter, and is, on average, about 1,000 ly (0.3 kpc) thick.^[2] As a guide to the relative physical scale of the Milky Way, if it were reduced to 100 m (110 yd) in diameter, the Solar System, including the hypothesized Oort cloud, would be no more than 1 mm (0.039 in) in width. The nearest star, Proxima Centauri, would be 4.2 mm (0.17 in) distant.^[nb 3] Alternatively visualized, if the Solar System out to Pluto were the size of a US quarter (25 mm (0.98 in)) in diameter, the Milky way would be a disk approximately 2,000 km (1,200 mi) in diameter, having roughly one-third the area of the United States.^[22]

^[2]Christian, Eric; Safi-Harb, Samar. "How large is the Milky Way?". NASA: Ask an Astrophysicist. Retrieved 2007-11-28.

^[22] http://www.nasa.gov/audience/foreducators/5-8/features/F_How_Big_is_Our_Universe.html

These are some staggering numbers, but wait – it's estimated: The observable universe contains between 10^{22} and 10^{24} stars (between 10 sextillion and 1 septillion stars).^{[44][45][46][47]} To be slightly more precise, according to the Sloan Digital Sky Survey, "[by] a conservative estimate.... the currently observable universe is home to of order 6×10^{22} stars"^[1] These stars are organized in more than 80 billion galaxies, which themselves form clusters and superclusters.^[48]

Two approximate calculations give the number of atoms in the observable universe to be close to 10^{80} .

*“By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of His mouth.”
“For He spake, and it was done; He commanded, and it stood fast.” Psalm 33:6, 9.*

¹God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spoke in times past unto the fathers by the prophets, ²hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son, whom He hath appointed Heir of all things, by whom also He made the worlds, ³who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself purged our sins, sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high, ⁴ being made so much better than the angels, as He hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they. Heb. 1:1-4.

¹⁶ For by Him were all things created that are in heaven and that are on earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones or dominions or principalities or powers: all things were created by Him and for Him. ¹⁷ And He is before all things, and by Him all things consist. Col. 1:16, 17.

The Levites, in their hymn recorded by Nehemiah, sang, "Thou, even Thou, art Lord alone; Thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things therein, ... and Thou preservest them all." Nehemiah 9:6. As regards this world, God's work of creation is completed. For "the works were finished from the foundation of the world." Hebrews 4:3. But His energy is still exerted in upholding the objects of His creation. It is not because the mechanism that has once been set in motion continues to act by its own inherent energy that the pulse beats and breath follows breath; but every breath, every pulsation of the heart, is an evidence of the all-pervading care of Him in whom "we live, and move, and have our being." Acts 17:28. It is not because of inherent power that year by year the earth produces her bounties and continues her motion around the sun. The hand of God guides the planets and keeps them in position in their orderly march through the heavens. He "bringeth out their host by number: He calleth them all by names by the greatness of His might, for that He is strong in power; not one faileth." Isaiah 40:26. It is through His power that vegetation flourishes, that the leaves appear and the flowers bloom. He "maketh grass to grow upon the mountains" (Psalm 147:8), and by Him the valleys are made fruitful. "All the beasts of the forest ... seek their meat from God," and every living creature, from the smallest insect up to man, is daily dependent upon His providential care. In the beautiful words of the psalmist, "These wait all upon Thee.... That Thou givest them they gather: Thou openest Thine hand, they are filled with good." Psalm 104:20, 21, 27, 28. His word controls the elements; He covers the heavens with clouds and prepares rain for the earth. "He giveth snow like wool: He scattereth the hoarfrost like ashes." Psalm 147:16. "When He uttereth His voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and He causeth the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; He maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of His treasures." Jeremiah 10:13. {PP 115.1}

²⁸ For in Him we live, and move, and have our being; as also certain of your own poets have said, 'For we are also His offspring.' Acts 17:28.

In the bottom section of Sunday's lesson, it asks: "With all this in mind, how do we understand the reality of free will and free choice?" Does the following passage give us any insight? Does the type of Law one believes in make any difference??

God placed man under law, as an indispensable condition of his very existence. He was a subject of the divine government, and there can be no government without law. God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automaton. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character. Such a course would have been contrary to God's plan in dealing with the inhabitants of other worlds. It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. {PP 49.1}

The law of God is as sacred as God Himself. It is a revelation of His will, a transcript of His character, the expression of divine love and wisdom. The harmony of creation depends upon the perfect conformity of all beings, of everything, animate and inanimate, to the law of the Creator. God has ordained laws for the government, not only of living beings, but of all the operations of nature. Everything is under fixed laws, which cannot be disregarded. But while everything in nature is governed by natural laws, man alone, of all that inhabits the earth, is amenable to moral law. To man, the crowning work of creation, God has given power to understand His requirements, to comprehend the justice and beneficence of His law, and its sacred claims upon him; and of man unswerving obedience is required. {PP 52.3}

Of course, God provided Adam & Eve with food, and garments of light, but have you ever considered God provided mankind with work for his benefit even before his fall?? Many, today, regard “work” as a four-letter word [mainly because it is], but was this the original intent??

To the dwellers in Eden was committed the care of the garden, “to dress it and to keep it.” Their occupation was not wearisome, but pleasant and invigorating. God appointed labor as a blessing to man, to occupy his mind, to strengthen his body, and to develop his faculties. In mental and physical activity Adam found one of the highest pleasures of his holy existence. And when, as a result of his disobedience, he was driven from his beautiful home, and forced to struggle with a stubborn soil to gain his daily bread, that very labor, although widely different from his pleasant occupation in the garden, was a safeguard against temptation and a source of happiness. Those who regard work as a curse, attended though it be with weariness and pain, are cherishing an error. The rich often look down with contempt upon the working classes, but this is wholly at variance with God’s purpose in creating man. What are the possessions of even the most wealthy in comparison with the heritage given to the lordly Adam? Yet Adam was not to be idle. Our Creator, who understands what is for man’s happiness, appointed Adam his work. The true joy of life is found only by the working men and women. The angels are diligent workers; they are the ministers of God to the children of men. The Creator has prepared no place for the stagnating practice of indolence. {PP 50.1}

Tuesday's Lesson

Is evil natural, as some suggest? Or is there a much bigger picture? Think about how far humanity has degraded to refer to hurricanes, earthquakes, tornadoes, etc as “acts of God”? Not only does God get blamed for not preventing these things, He gets credited with causing them, and thus becomes the source of death and destruction in the minds of many. Satan is continually seeking to misrepresent the character of God, and in place put his own.

Job 42

¹Then Job answered the LORD and said: ²“I know that Thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withheld from Thee. ³‘Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge?’ Therefore have I uttered what I understood not, things too wonderful for me, which I knew not. ⁴‘Hear, I beseech thee, and I will speak; I will question thee, and declare thou unto Me.’ ⁵I have heard of Thee by the hearing of the ear, but now mine eye seeth Thee. ⁶Therefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes.” ⁷And it was so, that after the LORD had spoken these words unto Job, the LORD said to Eliphaz the Temanite, “My wrath is kindled against thee and against thy two friends; for ye have not spoken of Me the thing that is right, as My servant Job hath. ⁸Therefore take unto you now seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to My servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering. And My servant Job shall pray for you; for him will I accept, lest I deal with you after your folly in that ye have not spoken of Me the thing which is right, like My servant Job.”⁹ So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did according as the LORD commanded them. The LORD also accepted Job.¹⁰ And the LORD released Job from captivity when he prayed for his friends. Also the LORD gave Job twice as much as he had before.¹¹ Then came there unto him all his brethren and all his sisters, and all those who had been of his acquaintance before, and ate bread with him in his house. And they bemoaned him and comforted him over all the evil that the LORD had brought upon him. Every man also gave him a piece of money, and every one an earring of gold.¹² So the LORD blessed the latter end of Job more than his beginning; for he had fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand sheasses.¹³ He had also seven sons and three daughters.¹⁴ And he called the name of the first Jemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Kerenhappuch.¹⁵ And in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job, and their father gave them an inheritance among their brethren.¹⁶ After this Job lived one hundred and forty years, and saw his sons and his sons’ sons, even four generations.¹⁷ So Job died, being old and full of days. Some of Job’s questions were unanswered, as are some of ours. Is this a cause for a loss of faith, or do we still have ample evidence of God’s trustworthiness?

Wednesday’s Lesson

The lesson mentions the “wind” as a tool of God’s providence. Apart from the obvious, how does the wind differ so much from rain, sunshine, flowers, animals, etc??

Read 2 Kings 20: 8-11.

⁸ And Hezekiah said unto Isaiah, “What shall be the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up into the house of the LORD the third day?”⁹ And Isaiah said, “This sign shalt thou have of the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that He hath spoken: Shall the shadow go forward ten degrees or go back ten degrees?”¹⁰ And Hezekiah answered, “It is a light thing for the shadow to go down ten degrees; nay, but let the shadow return backward ten degrees.”¹¹ And Isaiah the prophet cried unto the LORD; and He brought the shadow ten degrees backward, by which it had gone down on the dial of Ahaz.

God apparently reversed the Earth’s rotation just to give evidence of favor to ONE man.

In Joshua 10, He apparently stopped the rotation of Earth for about 24 hrs.

Can science explain these phenomena? Does this mean that Scripture is not to be trusted, or is science inadequate in it’s explanations?

Thursday’s Lesson

Jesus is not only the provider for undamaged creation [angels, other unfallen worlds], but he sustains our damaged world. Tim refers to it as having us on life support in order for a remedy to be administered. This is a great analogy. Without his energy, humanity would have self destructed long ago. Satan miscalculated God's love for fallen humanity. He thought that he could induce mankind to sin, and God would leave the tree of Life available, so sinful man would live forever [see PP Ch. 3]. God, in mercy, removed the tree of life, and provided a remedy for healing mankind, restoring him back to his noble pre-fall state.

Matt. 6: 25-34.

²⁵ "Therefore I say unto you, take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?"²⁶ Behold the fowls of the air, for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?"²⁷ "Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?"²⁸ And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow. They toil not, neither do they spin,²⁹ and yet I say unto you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.³⁰ Therefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?"³¹ Therefore take no thought, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'Wherewith shall we be clothed?'³² (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek.) For your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.³³ But seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.³⁴ "Take therefore no thought for the morrow, for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

Friday's Lesson

More P&P. I love this passage.

Yet men of science think that they can comprehend the wisdom of God, that which He has done or can do. The idea largely prevails that He is restricted by His own laws. Men either deny or ignore His existence, or think to explain everything, even the operation of His Spirit upon the human heart; and they no longer reverence His name or fear His power. They do not believe in the supernatural, not understanding God's laws or His infinite power to work His will through them. As commonly used, the term "laws of nature" comprises what men have been able to discover with regard to the laws that govern the physical world; but how limited is their knowledge, and how vast the field in which the Creator can work in harmony with His own laws and yet wholly beyond the comprehension of finite beings! {PP 114.3}

Origins Lesson 9 1Q 2013

Marriage: A Gift From Eden

SUNDAY

Read Genesis 2:18: “And the Lord God said, ‘It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make an help meet for him.’”

Thoughts?

Why was it not good for man to be alone? Read second paragraph, “God had declared...” thoughts?

This is well said, and the bottom of Tuesday’s lesson it says, “It is the husband’s privilege to give himself to his wife in loving service, as Christ gave Himself for the church.” This is well said.

Man was made in the image of God and Adam needed Eve, someone he could serve in order to enter into Godlike love. And Eve would receive that love and it would return to Adam in appreciative, loving care, service and regard.

This is God’s ideal for marriage what happened? What went wrong? What is the state of marriage today?

According the CDC, last survey 2002 posted on their website

- http://www.cdc.gov/nchs/data/series/sr_23/sr23_028.pdf
- 28% of men and women aged 15-44 cohabitated before marriage
- 23% of women and 18% of men married without ever cohabiting.
- 15% of men and women had only cohabited (without ever marrying).
- Approximately two-thirds of first marriages lasted 10 years or more
- In contrast to marriages, only about a quarter of men’s and one-third of women’s first cohabitations were estimated to last 3 years without either disrupting or transitioning to marriage. More than half of first cohabitations were expected to transition to marriage within 3 years.
- The first cohabitations of men and women with no high school diploma or GED were the most likely to remain intact for at least 3 years, whereas the first cohabitations of men and women with a bachelor’s degree or higher were more likely to transition to marriage within 3 years.

- 8% of currently married women's husbands were not employed at the date of interview in 2002, while 15% of currently cohabiting women's male partners were not employed.
- Married persons live longer, have higher rates of health insurance coverage and lower prevalence of cardiovascular disease than unmarried persons. Research also indicates that marriage is positively associated with the health and well-being of children. Children born to unmarried mothers are at greater risk than children born to married mothers for poverty, teen childbearing, poor school achievement, and marital disruption in adulthood.
- From 1987 to 2002, the percentages of women between ages 35 and 39 who had ever cohabited doubled, from 30% to 61%. Yet studies have emerged that suggest that cohabitators do not show the same level of health benefits as married persons but may show greater health benefits than divorced, separated, widowed and never-married persons. Cohabitators also report lower levels of relationship quality and lower household incomes than married couples.
- Studies have found that persons who cohabit prior to marriage are more likely to have their marriages dissolve than those who did not cohabit premaritally.
- Studies comparing child academic outcomes and behaviors in cohabiting and married parent households conclude that children living in families where the mother is cohabiting do not fare as well as those where the mother is married.

Thoughts?

SABBATH

Read first two paragraphs, "Think of the blessings..." thoughts?

Why do so many marriages fail? Why do so many people experience pain and anger rather than joy and peace?

It is suggested that if the divine principles are recognized and obeyed then marriage becomes a blessing. Could it be that people experience pain and anger because the divine principles are not being obeyed? What are those principles and what interferes with them being obeyed?

Was marriage designed by God to be an expression and experience of his law of love? Operating upon what principle?

Could marriage, after sin, have taken on a legal, imposed law, construct, in which persons now were legally obligated – both by state and distorted views of God's government?

If people operate under the natural law, law of love, construct, then what is the basis for marriage? How do such marriages function? What causes the bond? How do the partners treat each other?

If people operate under the imposed law construct, then what is the basis for marriage? How do such marriage function? What causes the bond? How do the partners treat each other?

What is love? Love is the principle of beneficence, of giving. Is there a difference in marrying to share your life, to give to love another, and in marrying because one needs to be loved?

Is there a difference in giving in love and living in fear of what the other will think, say, or do? Does love live in fear of rejection? Does love live in fear of abandonment? Does love live in fear of disapproval, criticism, or other mistreatment?

What does the church teach about the role of husband's and wives in marriage? While there is much said about equality, has it been your experience that in practice the church promotes equality between husbands and wives? What examples can you give?

Have you ever heard a pastor tell a husband he should submit to the insights and wisdom of his wife, not because she was his wife, but because she was right? Does the church, inadvertently put husbandly authority over wisdom, healthy decision making and right choices, suggesting the wife should submit to husband's leadership?

If we view God's government as a human government, with a ruler imposing law and enforcing obedience on threat of punishment, will it affect our marriages? How?

Could it result in increased Domestic Violence? If you haven't watched our lecture on DV in the church, I recommend it – Domestic Violence rates in the church are no different than those in the community at large.

But should they be? Should those who profess to be followers of Jesus abuse their spouses less than those who do not profess to follow Jesus? Then what is the problem?

2Tim 3:1-5

- But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God—having a form of godliness but denying its power.
- Verse 6: They are the kind who worm their way into homes and gain control over weak-willed women

Thoughts?

MONDAY

Read third paragraph, “But God had a reason...” thoughts? What does this idea of one flesh mean to you? What are the implications? Does the fact Eve was taken from Adam’s rib have any implications beyond marriage and into the plan of salvation?

How many intelligent species did God create on planet earth? According to Scripture, has every human being come from Adam, including Eve? The Bible teaches that human life began with Adam, and every other human life is an extension of Adam.

So, when Adam and Eve deviated from God’s design, sinned, they changed themselves. If God wants to heal this creation, to save this creation, this species, what is necessary? If Christ was not born of our humanity then he is not part of this species and the Remedy he achieved is not for us. But he did become part of our humanity, taking up our infirmities, be made like us in every way, to help human beings as the Scripture teaches. Why? Because a human being had to develop a perfect human character, any other species would not have benefited us, but benefited that species.

Thus the Bible teaches Christ is the second Adam, in other words, when we surrender to Christ, the Holy Spirit comes in and we can be transformed to partake of his character, such that we are now grafted into Christ and are part of the healed, renewed, transformed creation that comes from bonding with Christ through the work of the Holy Spirit. This is described as writing the law on our hearts and minds.

What does it mean the two shall become one?

“My prayer is not for them alone. I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, ²¹ that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me. ²² I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: ²³ I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me. JN 17:20-23

Does this passage and the passage on the marriage partners becoming one have any relation?

In Mark chapter 12 the Sadducees came to Jesus and asked the question about the woman who married a man with six brothers, her husband dies and a brother marries her, and each time the husband dies until she marries all seven. They ask Jesus who will be her husband in heaven.

What do you think of Jesus’ reply? Here is the Message version of Jesus’ reply:

Jesus said, “You’re way off base, and here’s why: One, you don’t know your Bibles; two, you don’t know how God works. After the dead are raised up, we’re past the marriage business. As it is with angels now, all our ecstasies and intimacies then will be with God. MK 12:24,25

Do you think the passage in John, where Jesus prayed for all his followers to be one has bearing on this? Do you think the message goes far enough? Is it possible that in heaven we will be so united in love, that we will love others more deeply, intimately, selflessly, completely than we even love our spouses now, and everyone there will love us that much? Will there be a unity of all intelligent beings, beyond our ability to comprehend, that is like Jesus prayed for, that we will be one, AS the Father and he are one?

TUESDAY

Read fourth paragraph, “Jesus also emphasized...” thoughts?

Let’s read what Malachi had to say about divorce, Mal 2:13-16:

Another thing you do: You flood the Lord’s altar with tears. You weep and wail because he no longer pays attention to your offerings or accepts them with pleasure from your hands. ¹⁴ You ask, “Why?” It is because the Lord is acting as the witness between you and the wife of your youth, because you have broken faith with her, though she is your partner, the wife of your marriage covenant.

¹⁵ Has not the Lord made them one? In flesh and spirit they are his. And why one? Because he was seeking godly offspring. So guard yourself in your spirit, and do not break faith with the wife of your youth.

¹⁶ “I hate divorce,” says the Lord God of Israel, “and I hate a man’s covering [his wife - margin] with violence as well as with his garment,” says the Lord Almighty. So guard yourself in your spirit, and do not break faith. Mal 2:13-16 NIV

Thoughts?

What position is a healthy position for Christians to take on the subject of divorce?

Does the way we see God’s law enter the picture? If we see God’s law as imposed how do we consider divorce? It is a legal obligation, and unless someone breaks a specific proscribed “exception clause” i.e. adultery, one cannot get out of the legal binding contract. But if one breaks that clause then one may exit the relationship. If one divorces, without the legal exception having been committed, then one is viewed as sinning and themselves committing adultery.

What if one sees God’s law as the law of love? Then how does one see divorce?

Does the Bible teach God hates divorce? Why?

Divorce is like an amputation – do doctors hate amputations? Why do doctors do amputations? When a limb is gangrene and beyond saving.

What do doctors hate worse than amputations? The death of their patients.

What does God hate worse than divorce? The destruction and eternal loss of his children. Are some marriages so abusive that to stay in the marriage would destroy one or both partners?

Here is The Message version of Malachi 2:13-16:

You fill the place of worship with your whining and sniveling because you don't get what you want from God. Do you know why? Simple. Because God was there as a witness when you spoke your marriage vows to your young bride, and now you've broken those vows, broken the faith-bond with your vowed companion, your covenant wife. God, not you, made marriage. His Spirit inhabits even the smallest details of marriage. And what does he want from marriage? Children of God, that's what. So guard the spirit of marriage within you. Don't cheat on your spouse.

¹⁶ "I hate divorce," says the God of Israel. God-of-the-Angel-Armies says, "I hate the violent dismembering of the 'one flesh' of marriage." So watch yourselves. Don't let your guard down. Don't cheat. Mal 2:13-16

Thoughts?

What about the MT 5:31,32:

"It has been said, 'Anyone who divorces his wife must give her a certificate of divorce.'³² But I tell you that anyone who divorces his wife, except for marital unfaithfulness, causes her to become an adulteress, and anyone who marries the divorced woman commits adultery.

Thoughts? Here is my paraphrase:

MT 5:31 "It has been said, 'Anyone who divorces his wife must do it legally, giving her a divorce certificate to protect her rights. ³² I'm here to tell you a deeper reality: divorce happens when love breaks down and selfishness wins. No one wants to lose a limb, but we sever a gangrenous limb to save the person, to sever a healthy limb is damaging and wrong. Likewise, anyone who divorces their spouse, except for the gangrenous situation of marital betrayal, inflicts unfaithfulness upon their spouse and whomever the divorced spouse should later marry.¹

Thoughts?

So, how do we now understand Christ's statement about God hating divorce, but God giving divorce because of the "hardness" of their hearts? Doctors hate amputations but do amputations because of the necrosis of the tissue. Likewise, God hates divorce, but authorizes divorce when hearts are so necrotic with selfishness the option for healing is gone.

What is adultery? Is it merely physical sex, or is it betrayal of heart? Is it the failure to love your partner more than self?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “One of the greatest...” thoughts?

What do you think of the idea that God “has set some rules.”

What type of law does such a statement sound like the authors are operating under, natural or imposed?

Would you word it differently, how?

I would reword the middle sentence as follows, “That is, it’s not something we can just do with as we please WITHOUT CONSEQUENCE, God has CREATED LIFE TO OPERATE UPON UNCHANGABLE PROTOCOLS AND ONLY HARMONY WITH THOSE PROTOCOLS RESULT IN HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

The lesson asks us to read Matthew 5:27-30:

“You have heard that it was said, ‘Do not commit adultery.’²⁸ But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart.²⁹ If your right eye causes you to sin, gouge it out and throw it away. It is better for you to lose one part of your body than for your whole body to be thrown into hell.³⁰ And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It is better for you to lose one part of your body than for your whole body to go into hell.

Thoughts? What does it mean? Did you notice how Jesus defines adultery as betrayal of heart, not mere behavior? Why do churches have such trouble with understanding this? Because they have accepted the lie that God’s law and government are like a Roman emperor, imposed.

Here is my paraphrase:

MT 5:27 “You know the Scripture says, ‘Do not commit adultery.’²⁸ But I am here to tell you a deeper reality: God is concerned with character and anyone who looks on another lustfully commits adultery and corrupts their heart.²⁹ If you are vulnerable to visual temptation then throw away the media and don’t look at sensual material. You should be so resolutely committed to doing what is right that you would rather lose part of your body than lose eternal life.³⁰ And if you are tempted by what you touch, then touch only that which is good. You should be so resolutely committed to doing what is right that you would rather lose part of your body than lose eternal life.

Thoughts?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “It is well-known...” thoughts?

What are the implications that unfaithful people are called adulterous? Does it give any insight into what the true nature of adultery is? What is the problem if we limit adultery to physical sex?

Why do so many people fall into the trap of reductionistic thinking and claiming that adultery is limited to physical sex with someone other than the spouse?

Read second paragraph, “At the same time...” thoughts?

What beautiful reality is this pointing toward? How is this possible? Will it be achieved by following rules? Will it be achieved by living by principles, through trust in God?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-4

Origins Lesson 10 1Q 2013

Stewardship and the Environment

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “According to Genesis 1:26...” thoughts?

Do you think Adam could affect the weather? Why or why not? Any evidence to suggest he might have had such ability?

- If he was given dominion over the planet, and if he was made in God’s image, and if they were to govern like God governs, it makes sense he would have such delegated ability
- After Satan usurped Adam’s authority from him Satan demonstrated ability to affect weather, we see this in the book of Job, but perhaps this was just some ability Satan possessed on his own, or perhaps it was authority wrested from Adam.

What are some reasons you can think of that Adam was given dominion on planet earth?

- Reveal God is not selfish and does share power, authority, ability with his creatures, including creative ability and authority to govern
- Showcase God’s character and methods in governing his universe
 - How would Adam reveal this?
 - Would Adam, before sin (even after) eat animals?
 - Would Adam have exploited the animals for gain?
 - Why not? No need, any other reason?
- Demonstrate the limitations in our relationship with God – how?
 - What limited the intimacies and shared knowledge, decision making, planning etc., between Adam and the animals?
 - Was it Adam’s unwillingness?
 - Was it an inherent inability to participate with Adam?
 - Would this teach anything about our relationship with God?
 - Which has the bigger gap, Adam and a lion, or God and a human?

Do you think C.S. Lewis’ depiction of Narnia is accurate? Do you think the animals could talk to Adam, or Adam could communicate with the plants? I read this in a book called Patriarchs and Prophets, what do you think?

The holy pair were not only children under the fatherly care of God but students receiving instruction from the all-wise Creator. They were visited by angels, and were granted communion with their Maker, with no obscuring veil between. They were full of the vigor imparted by the tree of life, and their intellectual power was but little less than that of the angels. The mysteries of the visible universe--"the wondrous works of Him which is perfect in knowledge" (Job 37:16)--afforded them an exhaustless source of instruction and delight. The laws and operations of nature, which have engaged men's study for six thousand years, were opened to their minds by the infinite Framer and Upholder of all. They held converse with leaf and flower and tree, gathering from each the secrets of its life. With every living creature, from the mighty leviathan that playeth among the waters to the insect mote that floats in the sunbeam, Adam was familiar. He had given to each its name, and he was acquainted with the nature and habits of all. God's glory in the heavens, the innumerable worlds in their orderly revolutions, "the balancings of the clouds," the mysteries of light and sound, of day and night--all were open to the study of our first parents. On every leaf of the forest or stone of the mountains, in every shining star, in earth and air and sky, God's name was written. The order and harmony of creation spoke to them of infinite wisdom and power. They were ever discovering some attraction that filled their hearts with deeper love and called forth fresh expressions of gratitude. {PP 50.3}

So long as they remained loyal to the divine law, their capacity to know, to enjoy, and to love would continually increase. They would be constantly gaining new treasures of knowledge, discovering fresh springs of happiness, and obtaining clearer and yet clearer conceptions of the immeasurable, unfailing love of God. {PP 51.1}

Thoughts?

- What do you think it means held converse with leaf and flower and tree?
- What does it mean God's name was written on every aspect of nature?
- The laws of nature – what would they teach?
- What does loyalty to God's law have to do with an ability to expand one's comprehension and understanding?

As I was preparing for this week's lesson I came across an interesting quotation and wanted to read it to you and get your thoughts. It was written over 100 years ago in a magazine called Signs of the Times, Feb 1, 1899:

But since sin entered the world, men have been serving self. The world today takes much satisfaction in talking of the progress of the age. But in this God does not delight. In the antediluvian world there were many wonderful works of art and science. Fresh from the hand of the Creator, these descendants of Adam possessed capabilities that we do not now see. But they forgot God; and so it is today. Men have sought out many inventions; but what is the influence exerted by the improvements and the abundant facilities for intercourse that are everywhere seen? Men have not kept God's commandments, and therefore the railways, the telegraph wires, the cables that connect the nations and kingdoms of the earth, have not brought the fallen world any nearer the higher world. {ST, February 1, 1899 par. 4}

Obedience to God's law brings men into harmony with heavenly intelligences. It is the duty of each human being to offer God whole-hearted service, to strive to find the right path, the narrow way, that leads through the gate of self-denial into the city of God. The road that leads to death is broad, and full of indulgence; but at the end thereof is no city whose builder and maker is God. The road that leads to heaven is narrow, and few there be that find it; for by no device can this path be made smooth or easy. "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life," Christ declared. "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me." {ST, February 1, 1899 par. 5}

Thoughts? What do you hear? Have you ever heard similar language before?

Do you hear this through the lens of imposed law, or the law of love? Which makes more sense and why?

I found it fascinating to read this through the lens of God's law of love, the protocol upon which life is built. Notice, this says that if we step outside of God's design for life, don't keep his commandments, we are not ennobled despite our intellectual inventions. Further, it is through obedience to God's law we are brought into harmony with heavenly beings – which means what? That when we harmonize with the protocols that God constructed life to operate upon we unite with the rest of God's universe. And through self-denial is the gate to God's city, which means what?

That it is by love that we enter into God's kingdom, and love is not self-seeking. This means we die to selfishness, but it doesn't mean we abuse and mistreat ourselves, it doesn't mean we flagellate ourselves or do various forms of ritualistic punishment. It means we choose to love others more than self and say no to those actions and choices that are contrary to how God constructed life to operate.

Doesn't it all make sense when we understand God's law as the law of love, the design template upon which life is built? But if we see it as many have taught it, as an imposed set of rules, enforced by a powerful governor, then what view do we get?

I read this from Review and Herald July 25, 1871, consider if the underlying problem between the two groups is attributable to how we see God's law:

Christians should be the most cheerful and happy people that live. They may have the consciousness that God is their father, and their everlasting friend. But many professed Christians do not correctly represent the Christian religion. They appear gloomy, as if under a cloud. They often speak of the great sacrifices they have made to become Christians. They appeal to those who have not accepted Christ, representing by their own example and conversation that they must give up everything which would make life pleasant and joyful. They throw a pall of darkness over the blessed Christian hope. The impression is given that God's requirements are a burden even to the willing soul, and that everything that would give pleasure, or that would delight the taste, must be sacrificed. {RH, July 25, 1871 par. 1}

We do not hesitate to say that this class of professed Christians have not the genuine article. God is love. Whoso dwelleth in God, dwelleth in love. All who have indeed become acquainted, by experimental knowledge, with the love and tender compassion of our Heavenly Father will impart light and joy wherever they may be. Their presence and influence will be to their associates as the fragrance of sweet flowers, because they are linked to God and Heaven, and the purity and exalted loveliness of Heaven are communicated through them to all that are brought within their influence. This constitutes them the light of the world, the salt of the earth. They are indeed saviors of life unto life, but not of death unto death. {RH, July 25, 1871 par. 2}

Even the great God is a lover of the beautiful. He has given us unmistakable evidence of this in the work of his hands... {RH, July 25, 1871 par. 4}

God, who made the Eden home of our first parents so surpassingly lovely, has also given the noble trees, the beautiful flowers, and everything lovely in nature, for our happiness. He has given us these tokens of his love, that we may have correct views of his character. He has implanted in the hearts of his children the love of the beautiful. But by many this love has been perverted. The benefits and beauties which God has bestowed upon us have been worshiped; while the glorious Giver has been forgotten. This is stupid ingratitude. We should acknowledge the love of God to us in all his creative works, and our heart should respond to these evidences of his love by giving him the heart's best and holiest affections. {RH, July 25, 1871 par. 5}

Thoughts?

Read second paragraph, "According to Genesis 2:19... thoughts?"

Names did have great meaning in biblical times, - when were biblical times? Would that be during the times when the Bible was being written? And were the names significant because of the Hebrew culture?

Was Adam alive during the time the Bible was being written, or part of the Hebrew culture?

Adam means – man –

Eve means? Genesis 3:20 Adam calls his wife Eve, the Bible commentary states the following regarding her name:

Eve, chawwah. Chawwah means "life," and is here translated Zoe by the LXX [Septuagint]. It is an old Semitic form, found also in old Phoenician inscriptions, but was no longer used in the Hebrew language at the time the Bible was written. This has been suggested as indicating that Adam spoke an old Semitic language. If Moses had used a contemporary Hebrew equivalent, he would have written the woman's name chayyah instead of chawwah, but by giving the name in an unusual archaic form he shows that his knowledge goes back into the remote past. In ch. 4:1 chawwah was roughly transliterated Eua by the LXX, whence comes our English "Eve."¹

So it wasn't Adam and Eve, it was Adam and Chawwah?

¹ The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary, Volume 1. 1978 (F. D. Nichol, Ed.) (235). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

So where might Moses have gotten knowledge of old Phoenician inscriptions? Could his education in Egypt have had anything to do with it? Or did God give him a direct spelling of this word?

Regardless, Eve/Chawwah means life, or mother of the living. Interesting name, what do you think?

Read last paragraph, “Adam was assigned the task....” Thoughts?

How is the environment treated today? Do we respect and care for the environment? Do we have any responsibility to do so?

What factors lead humanity to damage the environment?

- Ignorance
 - Inventions intended to help having unforeseen affects, chemicals, technology etc.
- Selfishness - greed- capitalism
 - Purposeful exploitation for gaining wealth
 - Corporate farms
 - Genetic engineering of plants
 - Deforestation
 - Strip mining
 - Ivory
- Selfishness – seeking power
 - War
- Selfishness - sport
 - Hunting animals to extinction
- Selfishness - vanity
 - Using animal products, mink etc. for self aggrandizement
- Selfishness – appetite

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Creation of the animals...” thoughts?

No doubt it is God’s will the animals should exist – question:

- Is it God’s will the animals should be in rebellion to human beings?
- Is it God’s will the animals should exist in the condition and state we find them today?

So, while it is God’s will they should exist, what impact in our decision making does it have when we realize that nature, including the animals, are not currently in the state God created them?

Do we find, for instance, that as good stewards, we might need to kill animals?

- Rabid animals?
- Diseased animals – mad cow disease?
- Cull populations to prevent mass starvation, because no natural predators?
- Kill predators to protect neighborhoods, pets, livestock?
- What about rats, and mice?
 - Bubonic plague happened because of rats
- What constitutes an animal?
 - What about roaches, ants, termites, wasps, hornets, bees – killer bees, mosquitos, ticks, spiders, flies, fleas, lice, bacteria?

So, are there times, in this world of sin, where, as stewards, we need to kill animals?

What about using animals for food? Why or why not?

- Not God's original design
- Not as healthy than a balanced vegetarian diet
- Misrepresents God's intention with the powerful preying on the weak
- Yet, Jesus ate animals and even prepared them for his disciples, what do we make of this?
- If Jesus did it why shouldn't we?
- What is the difference in today's world that the earth 2000 years ago?
 - Pollution and industrial farming have markedly deteriorated the quality of animal products and now animal products are more toxic and harmful than 2000 years ago
 - The population is so large that we are eating animal population to extinction, many fish species have been or are almost gone in the wild.
- Are there times and situations today where it is best to eat meat?
 - What about those places in the world where mass famine, and aid agencies bring in flour, and you can eat bread and chicken, but there are no fruits or vegetables? Is it better to just eat corn cakes or wheat bread three times per day, or eat some chicken with it?

Should animals be used for research? Why or why not?

- Should a dog and monkey have been sent into space before people?
- What benefits have resulted from animal research?
 - 1880s Emil von Behring isolated diphtheria toxin using guinea pigs, leading to the development of a vaccine and the essential elimination of this disease from the human experience and winning the Nobel Prize
 - 1921 Fredrick Banting, doing experiments on dogs discovered insulin and thus the treatment for diabetes, also leading to a Nobel Prize

- 1943 Samuel Waksman discovered streptomycin and coined the term antibiotics. Corwin Hinshaw and William Feldman experimented with guinea pigs using streptomycin to cure tuberculosis. Waksman won the Nobel Prize in medicine for discovery of antibiotics
- 1940's Jonas Salk and his team used rhesus monkeys to develop polio vaccine, which has helped hundreds of millions and basically eliminated the disease where the vaccine is used. 100,000 rhesus monkeys were used to create the vaccine.
- 1940s John Cade tested lithium in guinea pigs as an anticonvulsant, but discovered the animals were calmer and it was used as a mood stabilizer, prior to this animal testing bipolar patients were treated with lobotomy and electroconvulsant therapy
- 1960s Albert Starr developed heart valve replacement technology doing experiments on dogs
- 1968 Carpentier made heart valve replacements for humans using pig valves
 - Over 300,000 people receive heart valve replacement each year from their designs
- 1970s leprosy treatment was developed using armadillos

Should animals be used in research?

Should animals be used for clothing? Why or why not? Does it depend on situation and circumstance? What were Adam and Eve's first clothes after sin? Was God not capable of providing them something out of polyester? Or at least wool?

Should animals be used for sport? Does it again depend on what sport?

- Horse and dog racing?
- Polo?
- Hunting?
- Rodeo?
- Bull fighting?
- Circuses?
- Zoos?

Here is a quotation from one of the founders of our church:

It is because of man's sin that "the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together" (Romans 8:22). Suffering and death were thus entailed, not only upon the human race, but upon the animals. Surely, then, it becomes man to seek to lighten, instead of increasing, the weight of suffering which his transgression has brought upon God's creatures. He who will abuse animals because he has them in his power is both a coward and a tyrant. {2MCP 514.2}

A disposition to cause pain, whether to our fellowmen or to the brute creation, is satanic. Many do not realize that their cruelty will ever be known, because the poor dumb animals cannot reveal it. But could the eyes of these men be opened, as were those of Balaam, they would see an angel of God standing as a witness to testify against them in the courts above. A record goes up to heaven, and a day is coming when judgment will be pronounced against those who abuse God's creatures.--PP 443 (1890). {2MCP 514.3}

Thoughts?

Do you agree it is satanic to have a disposition to want to cause pain and to inflict suffering? Then, what about various views of God which suggest he must inflict torture and suffering upon the wicked? Wouldn't such depictions also be satanic?

What do you think of the language describing a record kept in heaven in the courts above and judgment pronounced against them etc? Is this describing reality, or using a language necessary for the audience? Who is this written to impress, the tender hearted, or those being cruel to animals? And what kind of language is necessary when dealing with such people? This is why God said in OT times, "Israel is stubborn like a mule, how can I feed them like lambs in a meadow?" and in love, he often threatened.

When you read such judicial language in Scripture, look at who is being spoken to, it is language for the primitive, the hardened in heart, those who don't know God or his methods. As Paul said to Timothy, the law was NOT given for the righteous, but for the wicked.

TUESDAY

Read fourth paragraph, "By pointing us to..." thoughts?

What significance do you find in the Sabbath? Why is it important today? Is the primary importance of the Sabbath to remind us that God - the powerful - created?

I would suggest it is not about creative power, but about creative principle. Satan hasn't alleged God isn't powerful, so pointing to God's power in creation doesn't answer the questions, nor deter Satan's war against God.

But, when we realize the Sabbath in its context - truth, presented in love, leaving us free – and, the reminder that the Sabbath points us to creation – we realize the Sabbath is an evidence of God's character of love AND calls us to remember the principles upon which God built creation to operate.

In other words, Sabbath calls us to remember how God built creation to operate, upon what law. When we consider creation, what is the law it operates upon? The law of love, a natural law, not an imposed law.

This is why Satan hates Sabbath – and any ecclesiastical authority that votes to change the Sabbath can only do so after it first accepts the lie that God's law is imposed. What church committee ever decided to change the law of gravity, or the law of respiration? None, because they recognize these are natural laws and cannot be changed because they are part of how life is built to operate. If Christian groups would have remembered God's law, as revealed in creation, which the Sabbath reminds us of, they would never have consider they could change the Sabbath – for the Sabbath's existence is evidence of God's nature and character of love.

People can certainly change the day upon which they worship, but they cannot change the law God built life to operate upon, nor can the evidence given by God and embodied in the Sabbath ever be changed.

But when we suggest the Sabbath is an imposed arbitrary test of obedience, then we take this amazing evidence of God's natural law and his character of love and we twist it to misrepresent God and support Satan's attack against God.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "As we have seen..." thoughts?

When we realize that everything God created was perfect when he created it, then what does this mean when we realize we are born defective? Does it give any insight into God's hand in our individual existence? Can we lay at God's hand birth defects?

- Should people who have children born with birth defects suggest it was God's will they have such children?
- Should doctors refuse to correct congenital defects claiming God created the baby that way and who are they to counter the divine will?
- Does God create sinners? Are we born "in sin conceived in iniquity"? (Ps 51)
 - Then is God actively creating each of us?
- No, God created man with an ability to pro-create and human beings are able to use the ability to produce children in their image

Is evolution the only model that incorporates the ideas of sickness and death being part of the landscape of our eternal reality? No, Eastern philosophies teach the eternal existence of good and evil in balance. And this idea has infected Christianity with the teaching of an eternal burning hell – a universe in which good and evil exist eternally, or a God who is the source of suffering and death – thus a universe in which good and evil exist eternally within God.

The eternal dualism theology leads to fear and fear leads to selfishness. It is one of the distortions that undermines our unity with God and impairs our ability to experience genuine healing.

Read last paragraph, "Let none..." Thoughts?

Is intemperance sin? What is sin? Transgression of the law, or lawlessness, or violating the design protocols upon which life is built. So, what is intemperance? Violating the design protocol for physical health. Is this sin? Why? Because we broke a rule and an external authority is watching, keeping a record, and will judge and punish us unless we accept Jesus payment to avoid our punishment? Or, because intemperance violates the design life was built upon? And what happens when we violate that design? We destroy ourselves leading to what? And what does sin lead to?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “We often tend...” thoughts?

How do you like this suggestion? Do you like the “obligated” language? When you accept Rome’s Imperial law construct, obligation results in what? Rebellion, here is a quotation from one of our founders:

The man who attempts to keep the commandments of God from a sense of obligation merely--because he is required to do so--will never enter into the joy of obedience. He does not obey. When the requirements of God are accounted a burden because they cut across human inclination, we may know that the life is not a Christian life. True obedience is the outworking of a principle within. It springs from the love of righteousness, the love of the law of God. The essence of all righteousness is loyalty to our Redeemer. This will lead us to do right because it is right--because right doing is pleasing to God. {COL 97.3}

What do you hear? Is there a difference in doing something out of obligation and doing it out of agreement, loyalty, principle?

What is the difference?

What is someone said, it is our obligation to drink water, is it true? Why? If we insist on thinking of our relationship with God in obligatory terms, then at least do so through the lens of natural law.

Matthew 25 talks about the talents and how if they are invested a person gets more and if they are not then they are taken from the person, what does this mean? Why are talents taken if we don’t use them and why does the one who invests them get more?

This has to do with natural law and how God designed us to function. When we exercise and develop our abilities our neural circuits naturally expand and we actually develop more abilities. But when we fail to develop our abilities the neural circuits are pruned and we lose what we have. How does God look through this understanding?

But what if this is instead viewed through imposed law, then how does the parable of the talents look?

FRIDAY

Read question 1 – what is the greater gap, human to pig, or God to human? How big a condescension would it be for a human to become a pig? How big a condescension for Christ to become human?

Origins Lesson 11 1Q 2013

Sabbath: A Gift From Eden

Before we begin this lesson I wanted to follow up from last week on a quote regarding sugar and meat. This is from Councils on Health 152:

I frequently sit down to the tables of the brethren and sisters, and see that they use a great amount of milk and sugar. These clog the system, irritate the digestive organs, and affect the brain. Anything that hinders the active motion of the living machinery affects the brain very directly. And from the light given me, sugar, when largely used, is more injurious than meat. {CH 150.2}

Processed sugar is highly oxidizing, which means it increases the production of molecules that cause oxidative damage to the body and brain. Studies show that people who eat high sugar diets, fast foods, boxed foods, doughnuts, muffins, cookies, cakes etc. have a 40% higher rate of depression than people who don't eat such a diet.

High oxidation increases inflammation which increases risk of cardiovascular disease and accelerates aging. In our DVD set Modern Medicine, Biblical Technology and The Brain there is a lecture, The Aging Brain. In that lecture I document the science of aging and how oxidizing factors accelerate the aging process, including the impact sugar has on aging.

SABBATH

The lesson this week is on the Sabbath – what are the questions, issues, concerns, relevance of the Sabbath?

Any questions about which day of the week is the Sabbath?

Have any of you received emails or other correspondence targeting SDAs, using a variety of Bible texts and EGW quotes to allege that the Sabbath of the Bible is not every Friday sunset to Saturday sunset, but that the Bible Sabbath is based on the lunar calendar rather than solar?

If you haven't been subject to this yet, don't get concerned. The arguments are based on a faulty integration of disparate pieces of information, while ignoring evidence that reveal the conclusion is false.

For instance, in the Bible there are annual festivals, like Passover etc. which were called Sabbaths, and were calculated based on the lunar calendar, and Judaism also had new moon Sabbaths which were observed with each new moon.

However, there is also a weekly Sabbath, laid out in Genesis 2, at the end of seven-day creation week, confirmed in Exodus 16 during the wandering in the wilderness when Manna was being supplied for six days followed by the Sabbath for decades, and written down in the 10 Commandments. Yet, those who argue the Sabbath isn't every seventh day on Saturday attempt to use Scriptures that refer to festivals and new moon Sabbaths and apply them to the weekly Sabbath in an effort to suggest the weekly Sabbath is of no importance, or even some suggest a false Sabbath.

Further, they argue that the Bible teaches that the Sun, Moon and stars were given to determine times and seasons, therefore the Sabbath must be determined by the phases of the moon. This again misapplies Scripture and undermines the significance of the weekly Sabbath. One of the powerful evidences of the Sabbath is that its existence is not determined by astronomical factors, but as an evidence of God's character of love. To argue it is determined by phases of the moon undermines the truth of God's character and the evidences he has provided.

They also argue that the current Sabbath is based in the Gregorian calendar, not the Jewish calendar. This argument fails to realize that the Gregorian calendar is concerned with the dates of the year, not the weekly cycle, so when the calendar went into place the "date" changed but the day of the week did not. For instance, Thursday October 4, 1582, was followed by Friday October 15, 1582. The dates changed, but the weekly cycle was not affected.

Evidences for a weekly Sabbath from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday:

- Genesis 2:2
- Exodus 16
- Exodus 20 the 10 Commandments
- The Jewish people who generation after generation, in an unbroken chain of human history worship on the same Sabbath each week since Exodus 16.
- Jesus worshipped on the same Sabbath as the Jews today
- The New Testament has many Sabbath controversies, but none revolved around which day was Sabbath. All were about what activities were appropriate for the Sabbath.
 - The point being is that if the Jewish leadership was upset because Jesus healed on Sabbath, or the disciples picked grain on Sabbath – how much more conflict would have occurred if any attempts to change the day the Sabbath was observed was taking place?
- The languages of the world, many of which have Sabbath for the name of the seventh day of the week.

- Documents of history which record the historical accuracy that Saturday is the day the Jews observed when Christ was on earth, and the early Christians observed.
- The seven day weekly cycle in history – all cultures regardless of religion operate on a seven day weekly cycle – why? Because of creation week, not astronomical events.
- The admission of the Catholic Church that the Sabbath of the Bible is Saturday. “The church after changing the day of rest from the Jewish Sabbath or seventh-day of the week to the first, made the third commandment refer to Sunday as the day to be kept holy as the Lord’s day.” Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. 4, p. 153.

So, if you get hit with this idea that the Bible Sabbath is based on lunar cycles, don’t be distressed, you can certainly take the time to investigate it yourself, but you will find that the arguments are convoluted, confusing, contradictory, and filled with much hyperbole, like “truth is unfolding, we should not let tradition hold us to any view” etc. which are true, but which provide no evidence for the position they are advocating.

So, moving on.

Is the Sabbath important at this time in earth’s history? Why? What difference does it make?

The Seventh-day Adventist Church has held a certain view of the importance of the Sabbath. I will read a view often promoted and would like your response. There are longer versions of this, but this gets the point across:

- The sign, or seal, of God is revealed in the observance of the seventh-day Sabbath, the Lord's memorial of creation. . . . The mark of the beast is the opposite of this--the observance of the first day of the week.--8T 117 (1904). {LDE 224.3}

Thoughts?

Any concerns or questions about these statements?

Questions:

- Is the issue in our salvation, in our preparation to meet Jesus, in our being ready to translate into heaven without seeing death as simple as which day of the week a person worships upon?
- If a person absolutely insists on worshipping on the Bible Sabbath does that guarantee they won’t get the mark of the beast?
- Those who crucified Christ 2000 years ago wanted Him off the Cross by sunset why? So they could keep the Sabbath – does that mean they had the seal of God?
- Does Satan care if a group of people worships on Sabbath as long as they worship him?
- How should we understand the statements above that we just read?

What is a mark or sign?

A symbol that stands for or signifies something else:

- The sign of the cross stands for what?
- The mark of the fish stands for what?
- The goat's head symbolizes what?
- A pentagram is a mark of what?

So:

- If someone wears a cross are they saved because it is the sign of our crucified Savior?
- If someone has a fish sticker on their car does that mean they are saved because it is a sign of Jesus?
- If someone has a goat ornament hanging on their Xmas tree, does that mean they are condemned because a goat's head symbolizes Satan?
- Or, if someone has a pentagram on their car does that mean they are lost because pentagrams can represent the demonic?
- If someone worships on Sabbath are they saved because it is a sign of God?

So, the passages we read state that the Bible Sabbath and its observance, is a sign or seal of God, whereas Sunday and its observance is a mark symbolizing the beast.

Question, are these days themselves the reality, or symbols, signs, marks of some other deeper reality, just as a fish, cross, pentagram or goat's head?

Could a person wear the flag or uniform of one country, which marks them as being a member of that country; the uniform being an external visible sign of whom they serve, but could the person actually be a traitor and fighting for the other side?

US Army Major Nidal Hasan, shot and killed 13 people at Ft Hood November 2009. Whose uniform was he wearing? Whose side was he on?

Even if we accept that the day upon which one worships can be a mark of loyalty to one side or the other, does that actually inform us of whom is on which side?

Is it possible the days mentioned are signs because they symbolize something that demarcates God's government from Satan's? Could they stand as signals, signets, of the mode of governing each side uses? Could these days, in their origin as days of worship, contain the very elements of the two types of governing – God's vs Satan's?

Keep that idea in mind and let me read a few more quotes from the same person we read earlier about the seal of God and the mark of the beast.

The third angel is to go forth with great power. Let none ignore this work or treat it as of little importance. The truth is to be proclaimed to the world, that they may see the light. {Christ Triumphant 350.3}

This is our work. The light that we have upon the third angel's message is the true light. The mark of the beast is exactly what it has been proclaimed to be. All in regard to this matter is not yet understood, and will not be understood until the unrolling of the scroll, but a most solemn work is to be accomplished in our world. The Lord's command to His servants is "Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins." {CTr 350.4}

Thoughts? Are we open to expand our understanding of this topic, or do we rigidly cling to a very concrete application, the literal two days of the week and fail to comprehend the deeper reality these two days signify?

Here are some more quotes:

Why are men not interested to know what constitutes the mark of the beast? Exodus 31:12-17. The Sabbath question will be the issue in the great conflict in which all the world will act a part. [How does the entire world act a part? Will Muslims give up Friday and start worshipping on Sunday? What about agnostics and atheists? Or, is it these two days stand as signs of something more, and everyone will choose one or the other of two methods, of which these days stand as symbols?] Revelation 13:4-17. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 3}

"Christ died to save sinners, not in their sins, but from their sins. [Imposed law constructs all teach that we are saved in our sins, from the legal penalty, but not saved from our sins, that we continue live sinfully until Christ returns. The truth is that God actually transforms us here and now and we stop living for self, and live loving God and others more than self] The warning given in Revelation shows us the terrible consequence of transgression. By lips that will not lie, God's law is declared to be holy, just, and good. Our duty to obey this law is to be the burden of the last message of mercy to the world.¹ God's law is not a new thing. It is not holiness created, but holiness made known. It is a code of principles expressing mercy, goodness, and love. It presents to fallen humanity the character of God, and states plainly the whole duty of man. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 4}

"'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength.' This command contains the principles of the first four precepts. And 'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Upon these two great principles, the Word of God declares, hang all the law and the prophets. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 5}

"These principles are made known by the third angel's message, which declares that the Creator has always required and always will require obedience to his royal law. [Why does the Creator require obedience? Why does the Creator require we breathe? Because that is how life is built to operate. Remember the law is not holiness created but holiness made known. The commandments did not impose a law, but made the law known] But this law has been disregarded and transgressed, and is now being ignored by the churches. Human enactments are placed where God's law should be. Sunday, a child of the Papacy, has taken the place of God's holy Sabbath. As Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image, and set it up to be worshiped by all, so Sunday is placed before the people to be regarded as sacred. This day bears not a vestige of sanctity, yet it is held up to be honored by all. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 6}

Thoughts?

What is the implication of changing the Bible Sabbath for Sunday? What does this act mean in regard to how God and his government are understood? How can a church vote to change the day of worship? What must first happen concerning God's law? What church committee has ever voted to change the law of gravity, or the law of thermodynamics, or the law of respiration? Why don't they vote to change these?

So what does it mean if an ecclesiastical board votes to change the Sabbath? That they believe God's law is imposed, and therefore believe God is like a Roman emperor a cosmic dictator. And accepting this change in the law is the root to the beast system.

So let's review – what makes the Sabbath holy?

- What significance is it that the Sabbath was “made” or created?
 - It is not “legislated” any more than any other aspect of God's creation. The earth was made, the animals were made, angels were made, mankind was made, and the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath.
- What significance is it that the Sabbath was “made”?
 - When was the Sabbath made?
 - What was happening in the universe?
- What did God do? He RESTED – what does that mean?
 - If he RESTED what was God not doing? He was no longer prosecuting His war, his case. He wasn't pressing his agenda. He wasn't intimidating. He wasn't using his power to force his way!
- It is God's Sabbath – the day He rested, the day He revealed by action how He handles opposition, how He treats enemies, how He deals with allegations and rebellion. He gives us freedom!
- What does it reveal that God created the Sabbath in the context of an assault on his right to rule?
- The Sabbath was “made” as further evidence of God's character of love, truth presented in love leaving us free. The first six days of creation week we learn God has power, but the Sabbath reveals God does not coerce or pressure or threaten with His power, but leaves us free. The Sabbath is evidence of God's character of love, established upon the principles of truth, love and freedom.
- What is the significance that the Sabbath points us to remember our Creator – could it be to remember how creation is built to operate, upon what law?

- What do we learn of God when we realize Jesus rested in the tomb during the Sabbath?
 - Do we learn the Sabbath exists because God is not like Satan alleges, that God presents truth, in love and leaves us free. Thus the Sabbath is invested with God's character of love, and it can never be removed or changed, only obscured by lies and misrepresentations.

Therefore the Sabbath stands symbolic, as a sign, of those who value God's law of love, and practice his methods of presenting the truth in love and leaving others free.

Then what is the mark of the beast?

The time has come for the true light to shine amid moral darkness. The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the word of God. {RH, July 13, 1897 par. 5}

What decisions did the beast make and what ideas did it advocate that are in direct opposition to the word of God?

That God's law is imposed, and as an imposed law it can be changed, amended, abrogated, altered, thus, under the imposed law construct Sabbath can be changed to Sunday. And, imposed laws require judicial proceedings, investigation, records, judgments, imposed punishments. Therefore, coercive pressure is used to punish law breakers and ensure obedience.

Sunday, being established upon the basis of imposed law becomes a sign or insignia or mark of those who practice such methods. So:

- Muslims, who would kidnap and kill people who believe differently, who would gain governmental power to enforce their religious law, but never worship on Sunday, are still practicing the methods of the beast and thus will receive the mark of the beast.
- Seventh-day Adventists who worship on Sabbath but teach the Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience, that God's law is imposed, and God is an imperial dictator who must impose punishment, will like the Pharisees 2000 years ago, oppose the kingdom of love and receive the mark of the beast – which is what? Coming to the same conclusions about God and his law and advocate the same ideas about God!

The Sabbath, being established in the context of an assault on God's rulership, as a day filled with evidence, leaving beings free, stands as a symbol or sign of God's character of love, pointing to creation reminds us of the natural law God built life to operate upon, and pointing to the Cross reminds us of God's selflessness and his use of power.

Thus the issue in the end, of which the two days stand as signs, is the issue of God's law of love, versus Satan's imposed law construct; God's rule of love versus Satan's rule of fear and selfishness;

God's natural law versus worldly imposed laws. It comes down to the methods one practices and the two days are symbolic of two systems.

Here is another quote from the same founder who wrote the others we have read:

In striking contrast to the wrong and oppression so universally practised were the mission and work of Christ. Earthly kingdoms are established and upheld by physical force, but this was not to be the foundation of the Messiah's kingdom. In the establishment of his government no carnal weapons were to be used, no coercion practised; no attempt would be made to force the consciences of men. These are the principles used by the prince of darkness for the government of his kingdom. His agents are actively at work, seeking in their human independence to enact laws which are in direct contrast to Christ's mercy and loving-kindness. {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 2}

Prophecy has plainly stated the nature of Christ's kingdom. He planned a government which would use no force; his subjects would know no oppression. [no arrests, no detainments, no imposed punishments, no force] The symbols of earthly governments are wild beasts, but in the kingdom of Christ, men are called upon to behold, not a ferocious beast, but the Lamb of God. Not as a fierce tyrant did he come, but as the Son of man; not to conquer the nations by his iron power, but "to preach good tidings unto the meek;" "to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;" "to comfort all that mourn." He came as the divine Restorer, bringing to oppressed and downtrodden humanity the rich and abundant grace of Heaven, that by the power of his righteousness, man, fallen and degraded though he was, might be a partaker of divinity. [which is healing and restorative, an expression of the law of love, the law life is built to operate upon] {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 3}

Those who promote a god who acts like a Roman emperor, who imposes law, who inflicts punishment, are actively promoting the system of the beast.

Scripture is clear God's law is the law of love, an expression of God's character not an imposed law:

- Love does no harm to its neighbor. Therefore love is the fulfillment of the law. Romans 13:10
- The entire law is summed up in a single command: "Love your neighbor as yourself." Galatians 5:14
- If you really keep the royal law found in Scripture, "Love your neighbor as yourself," you are doing right. James 2:8
- Jesus replied: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments." Matt 22:37-40
- In the way of righteousness there is life; along that path is immortality. Pr 12:28
- He who pursues righteousness and love finds life, prosperity and honor. Pr 21:21

- The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul. Ps 19:7

History supports the change in the law of God was a change from the natural law of love to an imposed law construct:

Peter Leithart, in his book, Defending Constantine, documents that Constantine used imposition of law to support the church:

[Constantine's] rhetoric against both pagans and Jews was forceful, sometimes vicious, and this, along with the legal restrictions, created an atmosphere that discouraged but did not destroy paganism. He Christianized public space in Rome, funded the restoration of sacred sites in Palestine and founded Constantinople... When disputes arose in the church, Constantine believed it was his right and duty as Roman emperor to guide the warring factions toward a resolution... Once the bishops had arrived at a decision, Constantine accepted it as a divine word and backed up conciliar decisions with legal sanctions, mainly exile for those found guilty of heresy.”¹

Notice that the church was supportive of Constantine's use of state power to promote its position and agenda in society. Where was Romans 14, “let every person be fully persuaded in their own mind.”

But even more telling is the first church historian, Eusebius:

“There are no reserves in the stilted encomium with which Eusebius closes his history, no wistful regret for the blessings of persecution, no prophetic fear of imperial control of the Church. His heart is full of gratitude to God and Constantine. And it is not only his feelings that are stirred. He is ready, with a theory, indeed a theology, of the Christian Emperor. He finds a correspondence between religion and politics... With the Roman Empire monarchy had come on earth as the image of the monarchy in heaven.” S.L. Greenslade, Church and State from Constantine to Theodosius (London: SCM Press, 1954).

So what is the mark of the beast?

Regarding God as the beast does and using the methods of the beast – which is teaching God imposes laws, and as an imposer of law must impose penalties, and therefore must be appeased. And using power to coerce and punish those who disagree.

Examples:

- Inquisition
- Burning people at the stake, both Catholic and Protestant
- Salem witch trials
- Islamic Sharia Laws enforced by governments

Here is another quote from one of the founders of our church, consider it in light of what we have presented:

Be sure the Sabbath is a test question and how you treat this question places you either on God's side or Satan's side. The mark of the beast is to be presented in some shape to every institution and every individual.--Ms 6 1889, p. 6. (Written Nov. 4, 1889.) {3MR 189.2}

Thoughts about this?

How is the Sabbath a test question? It is to be presented in some shape to every institution... Is it which day merely, or is it what the day symbolizes, what the day signifies in regard to God, his character and method of governing?

Now in light of what we have thus far studied, consider these quotes:

As I was preparing the lesson for this week, reading many sources, I came across this, what do you think?

As the work of God's people moves forward with sanctified, resistless energy, planting the standard of Christ's righteousness in the church, moved by a power from the throne of God, the great controversy will wax stronger and stronger, and will become more and more determined. Mind will be arrayed against mind, plans against plans, principles of heavenly origin against principles of Satan. Truth in its varied phases will be in conflict with error in its ever-varying, increasing forms, and which, if possible, will deceive the very elect. . . . {CTr 361.3}

What is the Great Controversy over? Have we seen this played out in our own experience? Do we see a battle over God's character ongoing right now?

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY

Read Wednesday third paragraph, "The scoffers..." and Thursday fourth paragraph, "Also, look at the theme..." thoughts?

What do you understand the judgment taking place before Christ comes to be?

Read Daniel 7:20-22, 25

I also wanted to know about the ten horns on its head and about the other horn that came up, before which three of them fell—the horn that looked more imposing than the others and that had eyes and a mouth that spoke boastfully. ²¹ As I watched, this horn was waging war against the saints and defeating them, ²² until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom... He will speak against the Most High and oppress his saints and try to change the set times and the laws.

Who is the little horn? What does it mean he will war against the saints? What law does he try and change? How has he succeeded? And he succeeds until when?

The above rendering is from the NIV which many, who assume the legal model, prefer. But does the meaning of the passage change when we read from the King James Version?

Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom. Daniel 7:22

Which translation is more accurate? The Hebrew word translated “pronounced” actually means “to give” or “to impart” and thus the KJV would be more accurate in this context. Why do the saints of God need judgment (another word for discernment) imparted to them? The Daniel text tells us the horn warred against the saints and was defeating them. What kind of warfare was going on?

For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. 2 Cor 10:3-5

What kind of war? Where is it being fought? This is a war between truth and lies, centering on God’s character, and being fought in our minds! Amazingly, Paul makes the connection to the cleansing of the Temple even closer and shows how the Temple is connected to this war going on in our minds:

Concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our being gathered to him, we ask you, brothers, not to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord has already come. Don’t let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God’s temple, proclaiming himself to be God. 2Thes 2:1-4

Paul is describing the exact same events as Daniel 7 in which evil powers war against the saints and oppose God. In the aftermath of Christ’s death, resurrection, and ascension into heaven, did this man of lawlessness ride into heaven overthrow God, set himself up in God’s temple in heaven, and proclaim himself to be God? No, where did this happen? In the Spirit Temple! In our minds! Therefore, the cleansing of the temple, as described in the Bible, is the cleansing of our minds from the lies about God, which wins us back to trust and results in our cleansing from sin.

And what is kept in the Most Holy Place? Consider this description written by Ellen White:

The temple of God was opened in heaven, and I was shown the ark of God covered with the mercy-seat. Two angels stood one at either end of the ark, with their wings spread over the mercy-seat, and their faces turned toward it. This... represented all the heavenly host looking with reverential awe toward the law of God which had been written by the finger of God. Jesus raised the cover of the ark, and I beheld the tables of stone on which the ten commandments were written. I was amazed as I saw the fourth commandment in the very center of the ten precepts, with a soft halo of light encircling it. Said the angel, ‘It is the only one of the ten which defines the living God who created the heavens and the earth and all things that are therein. When the foundations of the earth were laid, then was also laid the foundation of the Sabbath. ... The man of sin who exalted himself above God, and thought to change times and laws, brought about the change of the Sabbath from the seventh to the first day of the week. In doing this he made a breach in the law of God. Just prior to the great day of God, a message is sent forth to warn the people to come back to their allegiance to the law of God which antichrist has broken down. Attention must be called to the breach in the law by precept and example. I was shown that the third angel proclaiming the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus, represents the people who receive this message and raise the voice of warning to the world, to keep the commandments of God and his law as the apple of the eye, and that in response to this warning many would embrace the Sabbath of the Lord.” {LS80 236.3}

What do you hear? Do you hear this through imposed law or natural law?

Do you hear that this is a symbolic description of a people who have embraced the law of love, who have surrendered to God, who practice his methods of Truth, Love and Freedom and thus have the law written on their heart – the Most Holy Place of the Spirit Temple – and this is symbolized by the Sabbath, which God made to reveal his methods. Thus the cleansing of the Temple, is the establishing of God’s law in the heart of believers, when they make the right judgment about God and his law of love. And the man of sin fights against this with imposed law constructs, even if the law imposed is the Sabbath of the Bible.

MONDAY

Read Deuteronomy 5:12-15:

“Observe the Sabbath day by keeping it holy, as the Lord your God has commanded you. ¹³Six days you shall labor and do all your work, ¹⁴but the seventh day is a Sabbath to the Lord your God. On it you shall not do any work, neither you, nor your son or daughter, nor your manservant or maidservant, nor your ox, your donkey or any of your animals, nor the alien within your gates, so that your manservant and maidservant may rest, as you do. ¹⁵Remember that you were slaves in Egypt and that the Lord your God brought you out of there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm. Therefore the Lord your God has commanded you to observe the Sabbath day.

Why the difference here than Exodus a memorial of Creation?

In the setting of the Great Controversy, over two forms of governing, what would be the purpose of emphasizing the deliverance from Egypt?

What governmental type of system did Egypt employ? And what happened to the decedents of Jacob in Egypt under this type of government?

Does delivery from this form of governing play into the purpose of the Sabbath and reveal anything about the two kingdoms?

Read Exodus 31:13:

Then the Lord said to Moses,¹³ “Say to the Israelites, ‘You must observe my Sabbaths. This will be a sign between me and you for the generations to come, so you may know that I am the Lord, who makes you holy.

How is a Sabbath a sign that God makes us holy? What is a sign? What does the Sabbath reveal? What type of law is being described when God says he will “make us holy”? Do you notice it doesn’t say “I will declare you holy”?

The “declare holy” idea stems from the beast system, the system in which we have an imposed law by a supreme dictator, who, when appeased, declares holiness which does not actually exist.

But, under God’s natural law of love view, we realize we are actually out of harmony with God and his design protocols for life. When we come back to a knowledge of God, and surrender to him freely, he actually gives us new motives, desires, attitudes, a new heart and right spirit, he “makes” us holy – literally, such that we are in harmony with him. We love God and others more than self.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on Jesus and how he observed the Sabbath. It contrasts how the religious leaders criticized the disciples for picking grain on Sabbath, but Jesus found no fault.

Do you see two different law constructs underlying the response of the Pharisees and that of Jesus? Who was operating on imposed law? Who was operating on natural law?

When Jesus healed on Sabbath did he heal only emergencies? Why did he heal conditions that had persisted for decades on Sabbath? What was the point?

To expose that the falsehood of imposed law constructs, rules that must be enforced are revealed to be wrong. That the Sabbath is a day made to live in harmony with God’s kingdom of love – and love works to heal, save, and restore is revealed to be right.

Origins Lesson 12 1Q 2013

Creation and the Gospel

SABBATH

Read memory text, “For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive.” (1Cor 15:22, NIV).

Thoughts?

What does it mean that in Adam all die? What are the possibilities?

- Adam transgressed the law and was sentenced to death and all his children are born under his death sentence
- Adam actually changed his nature such that without divine intervention his condition is terminal and all his children are born with the same terminal condition?

Does it make a difference how we understand the meaning of “in Adam all die”? And does it make a difference regarding how we understand what Christ came to do?

If we choose the first option, that Adam was condemned legally and sentenced to death and all humans are under a legal death sentence imposed by God, then what will we think Christ came to do?

If we choose the second option, that Adam actually changed his nature to be out of harmony with the way life was designed to operate, and we are “born in sin, conceived in iniquity” a terminal condition, then what will we understand Christ came to do?

Origen of Alexandria who lived 185-254 CE, was a leading Christian thinker of his day and wrote extensively in defence of Christianity, in particular in rebuttal of philosophical attacks against Christianity, that criticized Christians in believing in a God who would allow himself to be crucified. The philosophy of Rome was that God is like a Roman emperor and no intelligent person would believe in a God like Jesus. One of the chief antagonists to Christianity was a man named Celsus who wrote a scathing rebuke of Christianity in the second century. He viewed God as Sovereign and that only a fool would believe God would allow himself to be abused. Celsus said:

It is mere impiety, therefore, to suggest that the things that were done to Jesus were done to God. Certain things are simply as a matter of logic impossible to God, namely those things which violate the consistency of his nature: God cannot do less than what it befits God to do, what it is God's nature to do. Even if the prophets had foretold such things about the Son of God, it would have been necessary to say, according to the axiom I have cited, that the prophets were wrong, rather than to believe that God has suffered and died.¹

¹ Celsus on the True Doctrine, 100.

What view of God is he presenting? God as Roman emperor and over the next few centuries the church rejected the Bible's view of God and accepted Rome's, which is Satan's view of God.

Origen countered Celsus and said,

However, although we have boldly and rashly committed these few remarks to writing in this book, perhaps we have said nothing significant. But if anyone with the time to examine the holy scriptures were to collect texts from all the sources and were to give a coherent account of evil, both how it first came to exist and how it is being destroyed, he would see that the meaning of Moses and the prophets with regard to Satan has not even been dreamt of by Celsus or by any of the people who are dragged down by this wicked daemon and are drawn away in their soul from God and the right conception of Him and from His Word.²

If one believes Celsus, that God rules like a Roman emperor, and yet try to fit the Bible teaching into Celsus' philosophy, then what will they teach Christ came to do? Pay a legal penalty!

If one believes like Origen, that God is like Jesus, a being of love, and refuse to try and conform the Bible to Celsus' philosophy, then what will they believe Christ came to do? Heal and restore his creation! Notice what Origen wrote:

We certainly do not deny that free will always will remain in rational natures, but we affirm that the power of the cross of Christ and of his death which he undertook at the end of the ages is so great that it suffices for the healing and restoration not only of the present and the future but also of past ages. It suffices not only for our human order, but also for the heavenly powers and orders. For according to the Apostle Paul's own pronouncement: Christ has made peace 'through the blood of his cross' not only with 'the things on earth' but also with 'the things in heaven.'³

The lesson references 1John 3:8 that Jesus came to destroy the works of the devil; what do you understand those works to be?

- Satan is the father of lies, did Christ come to destroy lies?
 - How?
 - By revealing the truth – about what?
 - God, himself, exposed Satan as liar, demonstrated nothing wrong with the way God built humankind, that obeying rules without love makes enemies, why death comes and from where
- Satan is a murderer from the beginning, the author of death, did Christ come to destroy death?
 - How?

² Contra Celsum 6.44.

- By destroying the infection of selfishness in humankind and restoring God's law of love, the protocol for life back into humanity
- Satan works to efface the image of God in man and put Satan's image where God's should be;
 - "The life of Christ is to be revealed in humanity. Man was the crowning act of the creation of God, made in the image of God, and designed to be a counterpart of God; but Satan has labored to obliterate the image of God in man, and to imprint upon him his own image." Lift Him Up 48.
 - Did Christ come to destroy the work of Satan and restore the image of God in man?
 - How? By developing a perfect character

Did you notice that the lesson states that sin causes separation from the Father? This is well said and quite right!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "As we all know..."

How did they "fall" into sin?

What is sin? Why is it sin? How did Satan get them to fall into sin?

Why does sin bring death?

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- Broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness
- Fear and selfishness result in acts of sin
- This is a terminal condition – out of harmony with how life is built to operate

Read second paragraph, "God held a trial..." thoughts?

Did God hold a trial? Which lens is such a view looking through? The lens of imposed law.

These ideas are evidence that those who hold it have accepted Rome's view of God's law. That God's law is imposed and as the imposer of law he must hold trials, he must investigate, he must hold accountable, he must punish...

But it is all distorted because the law is not imposed. God's law is the law of love, emanating from his character and is the protocol upon which life is built.

Thus, this is not a trial, but a manifestation of grace, a reaching out to reconcile, a gentle intervention to bring hope and healing.

God had been lied about – Adam and Eve had believed Satan's version of God's character, that he is selfish, restrictive, mean, unforgiving, severe.

What we see here is NOT God holding a trial to get them to take responsibility, but God gently approaching them to demonstrate that he IS NOT condemning them nor seeking to punish them.

God is the one on trial and God's actions demonstrate he is not the trial judge. "Adam, who told you you are naked? You didn't hear me finding fault and pointing out your problems. That's coming from your own conscience."

Read last paragraph, "Death came in a most..." thoughts?

What lens does this view look through? The lens of imposed law – and who does this view have as being the source of death?

Can someone provide a Bible text that says an animal died?

Notice everything said in this paragraph is supposition, it is surmised, it is imagined, it is NOT from the Bible. God provided the skins, but nowhere in Scripture does it say God killed an animal. Nowhere! That is all read in, from finite human minds who, having accepted Satan's version of God's law, believe God must be the cosmic executioner and therefore God killed the animals, and since the animals represent Jesus, God killed his Son on the cross.

This is false! Which is harder for God to do, create a living animal, or create an animal skin? Given all the explicit and detailed and particular description of animal sacrifice throughout the OT, including Abel's sacrifice, do you really think it was an oversight that the Bible didn't include God killing an animal to provide skins, if in fact God did kill the animal?

If we stick to the Bible, then God provided animal skins, but God did not kill the animals. God provided His Son as our Savior but God did NOT kill his son.

Are you sick of this world? Are you tired of all the sickness, disease, suffering and death? Are you longing for Jesus to come? Why do you think he hasn't?

Jesus said, "When the gospel of the kingdom shall be taken to the entire world as a witness to all nations then the end will come." What kingdom? The kingdom of heaven or the kingdom of love.

I suggest the reason Christ has not returned is because Christianity has accepted a lie about God's law, that it is imposed, rather than the law of love, and having accepted that lie, has taken a false gospel to the world in which God is portrayed as a killer, an executioner, the source of death. This is not the gospel and God is waiting for us to take the truth about him to the world.

Lest you think I make this up, here are a few quotations, all from our church, which we believe has a special mission to take the truth about God to the world in order to lighten it for Christ's return.

“For a loving God to maintain His justice and righteousness, the atoning death of Jesus Christ became ‘a moral and legal necessity.’ God’s ‘justice requires that sin be carried to judgment. God must therefore execute judgment on sin and thus on the sinner. In this execution the Son of God took our place, the sinner’s place, according to God’s will.” (Seventh-day Adventist Believe 27, p. 111).

And this has led to theologians writing things like this:

“Why did God the Father choose a cross to be the instrument of death? Why did He not choose to have Christ instantly beheaded or quickly run through with a spear or sword? Was God unjust in executing judgment on Christ with a cross when He could have done it by beheading, a noose, a sword, a gas chamber, a bolt of lightning, or a lethal injection?” (Whidden, W., Ministry Magazine, February 2007. <http://www.ministrymagazine.org/archive/2007/February/sinners-in-the-hands-of-god.html>.)

In the December, 2007 issue of Adventist Review World:

“One of the fundamental problems of the Moral Influence Theory is that it rejects the substitutionary nature of Christ’s death. The idea that God had to kill the innocent instead of the guilty in order to save us is considered a violation of justice.” (emphasis mine). (Rodriguez, A., Adventist World Review, December 2007; p. 40).

From one of our own Bible study guides the following:

“The Hebrew wording in both Leviticus 9:24 and 10:2 was the same: ‘and fire came out from before the Lord and consumed.’ (9:24, NKJV). Consumed what? In the first case, the offering; in the other, the sinners. What a powerful representation of the plan of salvation. At the Cross, the ‘fire from God,’ the wrath of God, ‘consumed’ the offering, and that was Jesus. (Goldstein, C., Adult Sabbath School Bible Study Guide, 3 Quarter 2011, Pacific Press, p. 40).

Did God execute His Son on the Cross? Did fire come down from heaven and consume Christ? Or was Christ murdered at the instigation of Satan and unholy men? Is God the source of killing, execution, and death, or does death arise from sin? The idea that God requires sacrifice to assuage, appease, or propitiate His wrath is pagan and Isaiah prophesied we would misunderstand what Christ did just that way:

“Surely he took up our infirmities and carried our sorrows, yet we considered him stricken by God, smitten by him, and afflicted.” Isa 53:4

How can Christ return when this lie about God is permeating the world? When our own church promotes such ugly distortions about His character, and when leaders show no interest in changing the message going forward?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “All throughout...” thoughts?

This is well said, God’s response has been redemptive and loving.

What about the idea that Adam and Eve didn’t understand the full meaning of what they had done? Did you notice the first paragraph in Sunday’s lesson it said, “They had been warned, and they understood what they had been told.”

Did they understand, really understand, or did they not understand?

Here is a section from one of the founders of our church, notice the progression of what is being described, from Desire of Ages p. 761,762:

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. [Whose argument is this? What kind of law is Satan describing God’s law to be?] When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. {DA 761.4}

If we stop right here many Christians get confused, they don’t see a problem with Satan’s argument. In fact, I heard one pastor actually say that this statement by Satan isn’t false, that Satan was stating a truth here. Why? Because they are stuck under the imposed law construct and this argument is from that viewpoint. If you believe God imposes law and rules like a Roman emperor, then Satan’s version of things will sound right.

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love. Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. [Why not? If the problem is legal, why would Christ pay Satan’s legal debt? If the law is imposed this would make God out to be restrictive and selective in who he is willing to save. Christ would die for humans but not angels. But when we understand the truth, that God’s law is the design for life, then we realize a being can so damage themselves that no amount of truth or love will have any impact on them. They are terminal. This is what happened to Lucifer.] But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. {DA 761.5}

Through Jesus, God's mercy was manifested to men; but mercy does not set aside justice. The law reveals the attributes of God's character, and not a jot or tittle of it could be changed to meet man in his fallen condition. [Why can't the law be changed to meet man in his fallen condition? Because it is the protocol upon which life is built] God did not change His law, but He sacrificed Himself, in Christ, for man's redemption. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. {DA 762.1}

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. [Why does the law require a righteous life, perfect character?] He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. [What does imposed law constructs say results in forgiveness? A legal payment of Christ's blood] More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

What is being described? Healing and restoration!

Do you see the difference between an imposed law construct which distorts God into a cosmic executioner and the law of love which has God as our loving Savior seeking to heal and restore?

WEDNESDAY

Read last paragraph, "On the cross..." thoughts?

What law is the lens such a paragraph is based upon?

Did the standing of Christ change before the Father?

What was Christ's standing before the Father prior to the Cross, during the Cross and after the Cross?

It depends on the law one uses to look at these issues. If one accepts Rome's imposed law, then Christ had a legal status change from innocent Son, to guilty sinner, and God executed his Son, and the Son died in our place, then rises again as the innocent Son. Honestly, it is a very weird and bizarre twist of the mind to even conceive of such a thing.

If one understands the truth that God's law is the law of love, then one sees that Christ is the means whereby God achieves his goal of restoring humanity back into unity with Himself. Thus, Christ's standing never changes with the Father, Christ is constantly the avenue, vehicle, means whereby God achieves His healing goal. Consider this quote:

As a remedy for the terrible consequences into which selfishness led the human race, God gave His only begotten Son to die for mankind. How could He have given more? In this gift He gave Himself. "I and My Father are one," said Christ. By the gift of His Son, God has made it possible for man to be redeemed and restored to oneness with Him. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Love is the great principle that actuates unfallen beings. With amazement the angels behold the indifference that those who have light and knowledge manifest toward a world unsaved. The heavenly host are filled with an intense desire to work through human agencies to restore in man the image of God. They are ready and waiting to do this work. The combined power of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost is pledged to uplift man from his fallen state. Every attribute, every power of divinity has been placed at the command of those who unite with the Saviour in winning men to God. O, that all would appreciate the truth as it is in Jesus. O, that all would love God in return for the love wherewith He has loved them. {WB, September 9, 1902 par. 4}

Sin has extinguished the love that God placed in man's heart. The work of the church is to rekindle this love. The church is to co-operate with God by uprooting selfishness from the human heart, placing in its stead the benevolence that was in man's heart in his original state of perfection. {WB, September 9, 1902 par. 5}

What was Christ's standing? He was God's Remedy to sin! He was God's remedy before, during and after the Cross!

The Holy Spirit was the highest of all gifts that He could solicit from His Father for the exaltation of His people. The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power. It is the Spirit that makes effectual what has been wrought out by the world's Redeemer. It is by the Spirit that the heart is made pure. Through the Spirit the believer becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Christ has given His Spirit as a divine power to overcome all hereditary and cultivated tendencies to evil, and to impress His own character upon His church. {DA 671.2}

When we understand Christ is the remedy to sin, did Christ's standing with the Father change?

How can the church rekindle God's love in man if it continues to misrepresent God's law, character, methods and government?

FRIDAY

Read second paragraph, "In that thick..." and compare this with the last paragraph on Wednesday, "On the cross..."

Thoughts?

Read and discuss question 4, “Critics...” thoughts?

If we believe in a healing model – shouldn’t Christ have understood beforehand what was required of him, what he would need to achieve, and what the outcome would be – i.e. he would rise again? Yes, he did know, and he told his disciples repeatedly he would rise again.

But, if we hold a imposed law, penal legal model, this isn’t fair, because in that model death is supposed to be eternal, and the penalty must be paid. Those with the legal model have a problem when the fact that the penalty of eternal death has not been paid, because Christ rose from the grave. So they make another bizarre and weird twist of the mind in order to pretend their legal model works. They say that Christ thought he was going to die eternally and because he felt and thought it then it was the same as dying eternally. And thus, they find questions like this difficult.

I do believe, in his humanity he didn’t see through the portals of the tomb. He knew he would rise again by faith and trust in his father, but experienced the same human emotions of fear and uncertainty that we struggle with. Thus his human experience was like ours. Yet his human experience of emotional turmoil was NOT like ours in that he was not ignorant of his father, nor his father’s plan, methods, principles, laws. Christ’s mind did NOT operate in the darkness of Satan’s imposed law construct.

This means, that though Christ emotionally felt the anguish, fear, turmoil of separation from his father he UNDERSTOOD who he was, why he was here, what was happening and why and that this was necessary for the healing and restoration of humanity and ultimate elimination from sin.

Just as a person who understands that a dislocated finger needs to be reduced, they have fear, they have anxiety, they experience pain, they are tempted to pull back, they don’t see the future in any miraculous vision, but by faith in their knowledge of the laws of health and the doctor that is going to reduce the dislocation, choose to surrender to the intervention, understanding the ultimate outcome.

Our Savior was intelligent, wise, and loving. He knew what was happening and why, and he chose to go through the horrors of the cross because he KNEW what he would accomplish by it!

MONDAY

Sin and Death – did you read the lesson for the day? Did you find help in understanding the connection between sin and death?

The last paragraph was the most helpful, “If life comes...” thoughts?

This is well said – what a contrast to the idea that God has to execute.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “The great news of the...” thoughts?

First question, what is the gospel? Is the great news that Jesus died for our sins, or that God is not who Satan says he is?

Why was Jesus’ death necessary for our salvation? How would you describe it, given all we have discussed today?

Read last paragraph, “Indeed, the person who...” thoughts?

Can you describe what Christ came to achieve in different words?

Origins 1Q 2013 Lesson 13

Creation, Again

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “One thing...” thoughts?

The lesson reports that in the science view “the same cold and mindless forces of chance” that brought the world into existence will destroy it.

Are they suggesting that the world is destroyed instead by an intelligent force?

Are they suggesting God is the destroyer?

Perhaps not because I do like how the lesson expressed it in third paragraph, “The new creation...” Thoughts? Isn’t this well said, “sin brings death and suffering and God’s law is the law of life”?

I have had many conversations with people who will say in one moment the law of God is the law of life, and sin brings death, but at the next moment talk about God punishing and destroying. So...

Who does Inspiration teaches is the destroyer?

You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father’s desire. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies. (JN 8:44)

I like to examine how our church founders saw things. Consider some of these quotations, who is the destroyer – do you agree?

Satan is the destroyer; the Lord is the Restorer. The Lord has not worked as a physician in the way that He desires to work, because, He says, Ye will not come to Me, that I may give you life. We look to every source for relief except to the One who proclaimed over the rent sepulcher of Joseph, “I am the resurrection, and the life.” . . . {CTr 239.2}

Jesus Christ is the Restorer. Satan, the apostate, is the destroyer. Here is the conflict between the Prince of life and the prince of this world, the power of darkness. . . . The world’s Redeemer did not design that His purchased inheritance should live and die in their sins. What, then, is the matter? Why are so few reached and saved? It is because so many of those who profess to be Christians are working in the same lines as the great apostate. They let Satan devise and plan for them. He makes them apostates, disloyal to God, rebels against His precepts and laws...{CTr 247.2}

What do you think this might look like – working in the same lines as the great apostate?
What might it look like if Satan devises and plans the work?
Could it look like doing mission work, sending missionaries?
Could it look like building hospitals and schools?
What religious organization has the largest church run health care system in the world? The Catholic Church. What religious organization has the second largest church run healthcare system in the world? The SDA church.
What religious organization has the largest church run educational system in the world? The Catholic Church. What religious organization has the second largest church run educational system in the world? The SDA church.
What does it look like to work in the same lines Satan works, to let him devise and plan the work?
Could this be referring to embracing the same ideas about God's law and government that Satan devised? That God imposes law and imposes penalties? That sin must be punished, as Satan had urged?
Could this be referring to Christians accepting penal models of atonement with a wrathful God?
What happens in the mind if we accept lies about God's law?
What happens in the character if we believe God must punish?
Does Satan care if we run schools and hospitals as long as we enslave people into a fear based, self-centered religion of works that fails to transform the life and heal the heart?

I received an email this week from a friend in LLU. He told me that the Adventist Theological Society is going to be doing a presentation on the atonement in Loma Linda this weekend. He forwarded me this from their online journal:

Many world religions teach that when their gods are angered by the misbehavior (sin) of their followers/worshippers, the gods need to be appeased—usually through sacrifices. In this way the wrath/anger of the god or gods is turned away from the worshipper, and the god or gods are no longer displeased. This is called propitiation. [do you see the basis of paganism, the idea of appeasement, an angry wrathful god who must have something done to him to turn anger and wrath away from the sinner?]

But in Christianity, the sinner is doomed to face the wrath of God against sin. God gave Christ, however, as a substitute for the sinner. Because Christ carried our sins on Himself at the cross, He faced the wrath of God for all sinners. He became the propitiation for the sins of the world (1 John 2:2; 4:10) and therefore met the demands of divine law and justice.

His death satisfied and appeased a God who hates sin and is radically opposed to it. His holiness and justice demand that atonement be made to change the condemned condition of the sinner, who faces the wrath of God. Ikechukwu Michael Oluikpe (Perspectives Digest, A Publication of the Adventist Theological Society, vol 18, issue 1)

<http://www.perspectivedigest.org/article/91/archives/18-1/god-s-loving-wrath>

Thoughts?

Do you hear any difference in the two gods being described? Both are angry, both are wrathful, both require something be done to the god in order for the god not to lash out and destroy the sinner. Yet the so called Christian version has a god who would be willing to vent his wrath on an innocent so that the guilty could get off. It is even more disgusting and revolting than the typical pagan view. Think about it – a human king has laws, if you break them he uncompromisingly will punish – but, there are penalties you can pay and if you pay those taxes, tariffs, fines, you can have your sins pardoned. But there is another king, he also imposed a law, and he is unwilling to allow any taxes or fines to pay him for your sin, but what he is willing to do is find an innocent person and torture them and kill them and allow the guilty to claim, that act of wrath and venting of fury be applied to the account of the guilty.

Which is a more horrendous view of God?

I thought a lot about this passage this week – and I noticed one reason this is so appealing to some and so offensive to others. If you focus on God, His character, how He is being portrayed, whether He is kind and trustworthy or presented on another light, then such portrayals are offensive and rejected.

But if you focus on self, focus on your fear of punishment, focus on how one can get out from under one's problems and escape from execution, then this penal model has appeal. Hey, I can be wicked, I can sin, I can do bad and all my sins are placed on Christ and he gets punished for me – cool. I get off.

When we consider the two antagonistic principles at war – God's character and law of love versus Satan's character and law of fear and selfishness, it becomes obvious that this penal model is built on fear and selfishness. It is exactly pagan. It is Satan's view of God and it infects our church, our minds, our families and the lies must be destroyed by the truth!

Here are a couple of quotes from early Adventist pioneers. The first is by EG White, the second by George Fifiel:

Determined to keep the people in deception, the priests of Baal continue to offer sacrifices to their gods and to call upon them night and day to refresh the earth. With costly offerings the priests attempt to appease the anger of their gods;" PK 124

Did you notice this description is that baal required appeasement, and what did the ATS article say Christ died to do? "His death satisfied and appeased a God who hates sin and is radically opposed to it." This is baal worship.

At the 1897 General Conference Session of Seventh-day Adventists, Pastor George E. Fifiel, Secretary of the New England Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, gave a powerful sermon on this subject. Here is an excerpt:

"In Christ Jesus we...[are] the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner-stone... This is as near to the Lord as we can get. This is the at-one-ment; this is why he bore our griefs and carried our sorrows, that he might do that for us by breaking down all those things which separate hearts from hearts, both human and divine. Notwithstanding this, we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted [Isa 53:4]. That was what we thought about it. We said, God is doing all this; God is killing him, punishing him, to satisfy his wrath, in order to let us off. That is the pagan conception of sacrifice. The Christian idea of sacrifice is this. Let us note the contrast. ‘God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believes in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.’ That is the Christian idea. Yes, sir. Indifference keeps, hatred keeps, selfishness keeps... But love, and love only, sacrifices, gives freely, gives itself, gives without counting the cost; gives because it is love. That is sacrifice, whether it is the sacrifice of bulls and goats, or of him who is the Lamb of God. It is the sacrifice that is revealed throughout the entire Bible. But the pagan idea of sacrifice is just the opposite. It is that some god is always offended, always angry, and his wrath must be propitiated in some way.

“If it is an ordinary case, the blood of bulls and goats will suffice; but if it is an extraordinary case, the blood of some innocent virgin or child must flow; and when the god smells the blood, his wrath is appeased. We talk of pagan immortality, pagan Sunday, pagan idolatry, etc.; but it seems to me that the lowest thought is that men have brought this pagan idea of sacrifice right into the Bible, and applied it to the sacrifice of the cross. So the Methodist Discipline uses these words: ‘Christ died to reconcile the Father unto us,’ that is, to propitiate God so that we could be forgiven – paganism straight out. Why, brethren and sisters, it is the application of the pagan conception of sacrifice to the sacrifice upon the cross, so that that wonderful manifestation of divine love, which God intended should cause all men, all beings in the universe, to wonder and adore, has been turned around and made a manifestation of wrath to be propitiated in order to save man. (1897 General Conference Daily Bulletin Sermon Series number 1)

Thoughts? What view of God is presented in the ATS article?

With such a view it is no wonder some teach God is the destroyer.

THURSDAY

In Thursday’s Lesson it talks about how sin broke down relationships, our relationship with God and with each other. After sin, man was afraid of God, Adam blamed Eve, Cain killed his brother, and people have been fighting each other since.

God has a plan to restore us to relationship – and notice before he comes there is a prophecy about restoring relationships – consider this and the connection in light of what we just studied regarding baal worship:

See, I will send you the prophet Elijah before that great and dreadful day of the Lord comes. He will turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers; Mal 4:5,6

What does this text have to do with restored relationships? What message would Elijah have that would restore relationships?

What undermines relationships?

Lies believed break the circle of love and trust – Satan lied about God and the lies about God broke our relationship with Him and each other.

The Elijah message, the message to go to the world before Christ comes will be a message that turn the hearts of people to each other again – how? Could it be by presenting the truth about God character and methods of love, which removes fear and restores trust and love?

What did Elijah call the children of Israel to do? To stop worshipping Baal, and who was Baal?

Baal was the son of El (i.e. El-ohim or El-Shaddai). He was the god of weather. Often called, ‘Almighty’ and “Lord of the Earth.” Baal was the god who brought rain, thunder, lightening, who fertilized the earth, controlled the sun and brought the harvest. Baal fought the great serpent leviathan as well as battled against Mot, the god of death. And most amazing of all, it was taught that Baal died in his battle with Mot and was resurrected from the dead to bring life to earth. ¹

So what was the problem with worshipping a god who was the “husband and protector of Israel,” the son of El, who controlled the weather, who brought rain, sunshine, and fertility, who blessed with full harvest, who warred against the great serpent and death, who died and was resurrected to bring life to the earth? What was wrong with this god? What was Elijah opposing? What made Baal worship false?

That they had to provide sacrifices to appease the anger and wrath of Baal – the view in which Christ died to appease his Father is Baal worship and God is calling for a people to reject it, present the truth, demolish the lies that break love and trust and turn the hearts of the parents back to the children.

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- Truth believed restores trust and opens the heart to love

- Broken love and trust results in fear and selfishness
- Restored trust results in love flowing in the heart

- Fear and selfishness results in acts of sin
- Restored love and trust results in acts of righteousness

- Acts of sin destroy
- Acts of righteousness heal

Who is the destroyer? Here are few more quotes:

Satan works through the elements also to garner his harvest of unprepared souls. He has studied the secrets of the laboratories of nature, and he uses all his power to control the elements as far as God allows. When he was suffered to afflict Job, how quickly flocks and herds, servants, houses, children, were swept away, one trouble succeeding another as in a moment. It is God that shields His creatures and hedges them in from the power of the destroyer. But the Christian world have shown contempt for the law of Jehovah; and the Lord will do just what He has declared that He would—He will withdraw His blessings from the earth and remove His protecting care from those who are rebelling against His law and teaching and forcing others to do the same. Satan has control of all whom God does not especially guard. He will favor and prosper some in order to further his own designs, and he will bring trouble upon others and lead men to believe that it is God who is afflicting them. {DD 33.3}

Thoughts? What is being described? Why would God withdraw his protective hand?

Upon coming up out of the water, Jesus bowed in prayer on the river bank. A new and important era was opening before Him. He was now, upon a wider stage, entering on the conflict of His life. Though He was the Prince of Peace, His coming must be as the unsheathing of a sword. The kingdom He had come to establish was the opposite of that which the Jews desired. He who was the foundation of the ritual and economy of Israel would be looked upon as its enemy and destroyer... {DA 111.3}

The Saviour's glance seems to penetrate heaven as He pours out His soul in prayer. Well He knows how sin has hardened the hearts of men, and how difficult it will be for them to discern His mission, and accept the gift of salvation. [Do we still today have hardened hearts and have difficulty discerning his mission? Do we still see God and Jesus as the destroyer?] He pleads with the Father for power to overcome their unbelief, to break the fetters with which Satan has enthralled them, and in their behalf to conquer the destroyer. He asks for the witness that God accepts humanity in the person of His Son. {DA 111.6}

Who is the destroyer? What does Satan destroy?

Satan destroys truth, freedom, goodness, health, and life, and brings death –

But doesn't the Bible teach God also destroys? What does God destroy?

- Christ took human flesh that “by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death, that is the devil” Heb 2:14
- “by his death he destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light” 2Tim 1:9,10
- By his death he might “destroy the devil’s work.” 1John 3:8

Let's compare and contrast:

Satan destroys truth; God destroys lies and brings truth

Satan destroys freedom; God destroys slavery and brings freedom

Satan destroys goodness; God destroys wickedness and brings righteousness
Satan destroys health; God destroys sickness and brings health
Satan destroys life; God destroys death and brings life!

How does one destroy lies – with truth – who is the source of truth?

Jesus!

How does one destroy slavery – with freedom – in whom is our freedom found?

Jesus!

How does one destroy wickedness – with righteousness – who is our righteousness?

Jesus!

How does one destroy sickness – with health – who is our Physician?

Jesus!

How does one destroy death – with life – and who is the resurrection and life?

Jesus!

So, in the end, when God destroys all that Satan brought, how does He do it? Does He do it by using power to inflict pain and suffering? NO! That is Satan's method. He does it by being Himself, full and unveiled. Listen to this:

The people who rejected Christ were soon to see their city and their nation destroyed. Their glory would be broken, and scattered as the dust before the wind. And what was it that destroyed the Jews? It was the rock which, had they built upon it, would have been their security. It was the goodness of God despised, the righteousness spurned, the mercy slighted. Men set themselves in opposition to God, and all that would have been their salvation was turned to their destruction. All that God ordained unto life they found to be unto death. In the Jews' crucifixion of Christ was involved the destruction of Jerusalem. The blood shed upon Calvary was the weight that sank them to ruin for this world and for the world to come. So it will be in the great final day, when judgment shall fall upon the rejecters of God's grace. Christ, their rock of offense, will then appear to them as an avenging mountain. The glory of His countenance, which to the righteous is life, will be to the wicked a consuming fire. Because of love rejected, grace despised, the sinner will be destroyed. {DA 600.2}

What do you understand this to mean?

How and why does destruction come to the wicked?

How did the crucifixion of Christ result in their destruction of those who rejected Jesus?

How was it that the salvation despised was that which destroyed them?

What happens in the hearts of people who reject Christ? To those who crucified him? Their hearts harden, they become more selfish.

What kinds of behaviors to such people engage in? Would they be peaceful, kind, gentle people, or would they be violent, rebellious, unruly?

What did the Jews do after the crucifixion and under the Roman rulership? They rebelled and what did that result in?

What was the cause of their destruction? Their own rebellion which resulted from their hardened hearts because they rejected Jesus.

Had they accepted Jesus they would have been renewed and lived in peace, seeking to love others and minister to the Romans. Just as Paul counseled the NT church to do. And that would not have resulted in their destruction as a nation.

Then how do we explain the persecution of Christians?

The persecution of Christians was the persecution of individuals, inspired by Satan to destroy all those who would not follow him.

That persecution was brought about by the growth in Christianity and by the selfishness and jealousy and fear in the hearts of the non-Christians in power, not because the Christians were antagonizing and inciting conflict.

Further, the persecution against the Christians was not targeted at a nation, and national sovereignty wasn't affected by that persecution.

So, how was it the Jewish nation was destroyed? By what? “the goodness of God despised, the righteousness spurned, the mercy slighted”

Will it be different in the end or the same? Here is another quote:

God's long-suffering has ended. The world has rejected His mercy, despised His love, and trampled upon His law. [What law?] The wicked have passed the boundary of their probation, [What is that boundary?] and the Lord withdraws His protection, and leaves them to the mercy of the leader they have chosen. Satan will have power over those who have yielded themselves to his control, and he will plunge the inhabitants of the earth into one great, final trouble. As the angels of God cease to hold in check the fierce winds of human passion, all the elements of strife will be let loose. [What winds are let loose?] The whole world will be involved in ruin more terrible than that which came upon Jerusalem of old. {Mar 275.3}

In the midst of the time of trouble--trouble such as has not been since there was a nation--His [God's] chosen ones will stand unmoved. Satan with all the hosts of evil cannot destroy the weakest of God's saints. [Is that referring to eternal or temporal destruction?] {Mar 275.4}

What is the cause of the destruction of the wicked? Unremedied sin! God's love despised, his methods rejected, his salvation and healing spurned, which results in what?

Why doesn't God just use His power to transport people into heaven anyway?

The sinner could not be happy in God's presence; he would shrink from the companionship of holy beings. Could he be permitted to enter heaven, it would have no joy for him. The spirit of unselfish love that reigns there—every heart responding to the heart of Infinite Love—would touch no answering chord in his soul. His thoughts, his interests, his motives, would be alien to those that actuate the sinless dwellers there. He would be a discordant note in the melody of heaven. Heaven would be to him a place of torture; he would long to be hidden from Him who is its light, and the center of its joy. {Hvn 65.3}

It is no arbitrary decree on the part of God that excludes the wicked from heaven; they are shut out by their own unfitness for its companionship. The glory of God would be to them a consuming fire. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them.—SC 17, 18. {Hvn 66.1}

What law is described at work here? Natural law, it is the actual condition of the person that determines their destiny, not a decree on the part of God!

MONDAY

From dust to life – the lesson talks about God creating Adam from dust, breathing into him the breath of life and Adam became a living being, and then at death Adam returning back to dust.

But it also points out in that the Scripture describes a resurrection in which people will live again. Question – will the people who live again, who are resurrected be the same people, with their own identities, individualities, characters?

Did Adam’s character, individuality exist before God breathed into Adam the breath of life?

So when Adam died and his body returned to dust what returned to God? Was it the same “breath” that God breathed into Adam, or modified in some way so that it was uniquely Adam?

The Hebrew word translated “breath” that God breathed into Adam is the Hebrew neshamah, the same “breath” of life the animals receive. (Gen. 7:21, 22; Eccl. 3:19) And, when a person dies there is “no breath [neshamah, life] left in him” (1 Kings 17:17). But, interestingly, even though this “breath” is no longer in the dead body, the Scripture uses a different word to describe what returns to God at death.

Ecclesiastes tells us that, at death, the ruach returns to God who gave it. (12:7) Ruach occurs 377 times in the Old Testament and is translated “breath” of the body 33 times as in Eze 37:5. So, on the surface, one could argue that God gave the “breath” of life and at death it returns to God. Yet, ruach is also translated as “spirit” or vitality 76 times (Jdg 15:19), “courage” (Jos 2:11), “temper” (Jdg 8:3), the seat of emotions 3 times (1Sam 1:15), moral character 16 times (Eze 11:19), and the “mind” 9 times (Eze 11:5). What this suggests is that the “breath” given to Adam became personalized and what returns to God is more than just life energy, it is the individuality of the sentient being.

Jesus said in Matthew 10:28 don’t fear the one who destroy the body, but cannot destroy the soul. The Greek for soul is ψυχή psuche, from where we get “psyche,” which is the root for words like psychiatry and psychology, and it means the individuality or consciousness of the person. And in first Thessalonians chapter four Paul says:

Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. According to the Lord’s own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep. For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. (vs 13-17) (emphasis mine)

Did you notice Paul says when God returns he brings with him those who have fallen asleep – they are asleep, but they are with Jesus and he brings them with him. What does this mean?

Could it mean the breath that return to God at death was more than life energy, that it was the unique identity of the person?

Perhaps this quote from one of the founders of our church will help:

Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. God in His own time will call forth the dead, giving again the breath of life, and bidding the dry bones live. The same form will come forth, but it will be free from disease and every defect. It lives again bearing the same individuality of features, so that friend will recognize friend. There is no law of God in nature which shows that God gives back the same identical particles of matter which composed the body before death. God shall give the righteous dead a body that will please Him. {6BC 1093.2}

This is exactly consistent with the Bible which uses the Hebrew Ruach as both breath and character.

How do you put all of this together? Consider a computer, with wireless backup to a server – if someone kills the hardware, and you get a new computer, connect it to the server and download your unique data, you have just resurrected your computer.

The Bible teaches that the Lamb's book of life is some storage device where the "names" of the righteous – what is the name symbolic of in the Bible? Character, where the characters of the righteous are stored. So when Christ returns he brings with Him the heavenly "server" "Lamb's book of life" and downloads the "characters" of the righteous into new bodies and they live again!

What is the implication when we put this together with the idea of destruction and God's actions in the OT?

What does the Bible teach is the wages of sin? Sleep awaiting resurrection, or eternal non-existence?

Who has died eternal non-existence? No one! Not even Jesus! He didn't have to because He destroyed death, the infection of sin and cured humanity thus he rose again, with His same character and identity. This same Jesus, the Bible says.

It is only if you accept Satan's version of God's law that it is imposed, that god must be appeased that one has to teach Jesus died the second death, because the penalty must be paid etc. But when we accept the truth, that God's law is the law of love, the design protocol upon which life was built to operate, then we realize Christ didn't come to appease His Father, but to cure and heal mankind. His death was the means of eliminating the infection of sin and cleansing the species, thus He rose again with His perfected character intact!

So, if no one has died the eternal destruction that is the wages of sin, what is the implication for the OT? God has not "destroyed" anyone! God, may have put some people to sleep – but sleep is not destruction!

Because God will not violate freedom, will not coerce, will not inflict punishment for sin, some go to extremes and suggest God never uses might or power for any reason. This is not true. God doesn't use might or power to heal to restore trust, but he does use might and power – in the same way a doctor does, or a loving parent does, in order to heal and protect.

A doctor may amputate to save, a doctor may commit someone against their will or medicate an insane person not punish but to protect and restore to sanity. A parent may discipline, God disciplines those he loves. And a parent may use the power of the state to incarcerate those out of control, not to punish, but to protect – all involved including the criminal.

TUESDAY

Read the first and second paragraph, "Adam was..." thoughts?

Any questions or concerns about what is stated?

What about the idea that "Jesus won back the earth from Satan's dominion"?

Any questions about this?

Is the earth Satan's legally? Who is the ruler of earth? God – how about after the fall?

When Satan declared to Christ, The kingdom and glory of the world are delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it, he stated what was true only in part, and he declared it to serve his own purpose of deception. Satan's dominion was that wrested from Adam, but Adam was the vicegerent of the Creator. His was not an independent rule. The earth is God's, and He has committed all things to His Son. Adam was to reign subject to Christ. When Adam betrayed his sovereignty into Satan's hands, Christ still remained the rightful King. Thus the Lord had said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever He will." Daniel 4:17. Satan can exercise his usurped authority only as God permits. {DA 129.4}

Christ didn't "win back" the earth from Satan – he won back the minds of intelligent beings from Satan's lies and is winning back human beings from distrust of him. But the earth has always been his.

God has permitted Satan to have some authority and freedom on earth to demonstrate his principles and methods. Thus on earth today we live in a dualistic pocket of reality – a pocket of reality in which two antagonistic principles are operating in conflict with each other?

But this is artificial – it is not how God created the universe and only exists because God actively sustains this artificial pocket of reality in mercy to give humans opportunity for healing, to win us back to him!

Read last paragraph, “Those who are saved...” thoughts? What does it mean that we will be given authority as kings and priests?

How does Christ rule? By service – by love, by self-sacrifice, which means will are given authority to love others more than self, to rule by the law of love, to humble ourselves to serve others. This is what we will do in heaven!

WEDNESDAY

More restoration – what more will be restored than we have already talked about?

What about our pets, animals?

And how will they relate to one another?

What animals are you looking forward to petting the most?

FRIDAY

Read first two paragraphs, “And the years...” thoughts?

A non-dual state, a state in which only good exists and no evil.

Spiritual Adultery (Hosea)

INTRODUCTION TO STUDY GUIDE

Read first two paragraphs, “The mind...” thoughts?

Do you think the word “sin” is overused to the point we become unresponsive, or wrongly responsive to it? “How did we get in this mess? Sin” – does that really say anything?

What is sin? Answers I have heard over the years include:

- Doing bad things
- Bad stuff
- Disobeying God
- Breaking the Commandments
- Transgression of the Law
- Failing to love
- Not having faith
- Selfishness

Would it be important to have a healthy understanding of what “sin” is?

In the second paragraph when it says, “humans sin – therefore humans die” what do you think of this?

When the disciples asked Jesus, who sinned that this man was born blind? What did Jesus say?
Neither.

Humans sin therefore they die – do newborns commit sin? Do unborn fetuses commit sin? Do they die?

Do we die because we commit sin, or do we die because we are born sinful?

We are born in sin conceived in iniquity (Ps 51:5)

Is there a difference from having a sin condition, and actually committing sin?

Who chose for you to be a sinner? Did you make that choice?

We were born this way because we are descended from Adam and Adam changed himself.

So, back to the question – what is sin? “transgression of the law” or being deviant from the way life was designed to operate. Sin is disharmony with God’s character, law, methods, principles, and design protocols of love. And being out of harmony with the way life is built to run results in what? Death!

So humans die because we sin, or another way to say it is, because we have a condition that is terminal and without remedy naturally results in death.

But if we have the idea that sin is an act first and that bad act results in imposed death – then we are on a different plane of understanding.

This same idea underpinned distorted ideas about God 2000 years ago. Health and wealth was thought to come from God and sickness and disease and poverty was thought to be evidence of curse from God. In other words both positives and negatives were believed to be imposed by God, which means they believed in what kind of law? Consider this quotation what do you think?:

It was generally believed by the Jews that sin is punished in this life. Every affliction was regarded as the penalty of some wrongdoing, either of the sufferer himself or of his parents. It is true that all suffering results from the transgression of God's law, but this truth had become perverted. [Why does all sin result in suffering? From where does the suffering arise? How had the idea become perverted? Is the suffering from sin inflicted by God?] Satan, the author of sin and all its results, had led men to look upon disease and death as proceeding from God,--as *punishment arbitrarily inflicted on account of sin. [Do we still here this preached today?] Hence one upon whom some great affliction or calamity had fallen had the additional burden of being regarded as a great sinner. {DA 471.1}

Thus the way was prepared for the Jews to reject Jesus. [What prepared the way for the Jew to reject Jesus?] He who "hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows" was looked upon by the Jews as "stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted;" and they hid their faces from Him. [How many Christians teach today that God was the one striking His Son at the Cross? Are Christians preparing to reject Jesus a second time by accepting the same lies the Jews did?] Isaiah 53:4, 3. {DA 471.2}

God had given a lesson designed to prevent this. The history of Job had shown that suffering is inflicted by Satan, and is overruled by God for purposes of mercy. But Israel did not understand the lesson. The same error for which God had reproved the friends of Job was repeated by the Jews in their rejection of Christ. {DA 471.3}

Thoughts?

Read paragraphs 3-7, “Yes, humans die...” thoughts?

What is it God does for us that we could not and cannot do for ourselves?

How does he save us from death?

What is the cause of death? Do you see this question takes us back to the two laws?

If we believe in an imposed law and a god in the image of a Roman emperor then we believe the cause of death is a “just” inflicted execution by the ruler of the universe. And Jesus came to appease the wrath of God and pay the legal penalty.

But if we believe the law is the design protocol upon which life is built, then we believe death is the result of being out of harmony with God and His design. Then we realize Jesus came to reveal the truth to break the bonds of deception and win us to trust, destroy death by curing humanity’s sin condition, and restoring the image of God in man!

So the introduction concludes nicely with, “The message is that God wants to save us from our sins, to save us from the devastation that sin, rebellion, and disobedience bring. Over and over in these books we see the Lord pleading with His people to repent, to put away their sins, to return unto Him, to find life, not death, salvation, not damnation, hope, not despair.”

Let that be our focus this quarter

Spiritual Adultery (Hosea) Lesson 1

SABBATH

Let’s start our reading Hosea 1:4-11:

⁴ Then the LORD said to Hosea, “Call him Jezreel, because I will soon punish the house of Jehu for the massacre at Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of Israel. ⁵ In that day I will break Israel’s bow in the Valley of Jezreel.”

⁶ Gomer conceived again and gave birth to a daughter. Then the LORD said to Hosea, “Call her Lo-Ruhamah, for I will no longer show love to the house of Israel, that I should at all forgive them. ⁷ Yet I will show love to the house of Judah; and I will save them—not by bow, sword or battle, or by horses and horsemen, but by the LORD their God.”

⁸ After she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, Gomer had another son. ⁹ Then the LORD said, “Call him Lo-Ammi, for you are not my people, and I am not your God.

¹⁰ “Yet the Israelites will be like the sand on the seashore, which cannot be measured or counted. In the place where it was said to them, ‘You are not my people, they will be called ‘sons of the living God.’ ¹¹ The people of Judah and the people of Israel will be reunited, and they will appoint one leader and will come up out of the land, for great will be the day of Jezreel. Hosea 1:4-11

Let’s now read the memory text:

I will plant her for myself in the land;
I will show my love to the one I called ‘Not my loved one.’ (Lo-Ruhamah)
I will say to those called ‘Not my people,’ (Lo-Ammi) ‘You are my people’; and they will say, ‘You are my God.’” Hosea 2:23

Thoughts?

What was Hosea's life supposed to teach?

Do we see the life of Hosea acting out more than just the Jews? When Gomer has children not from Hosea – do we see the type of God accepting people into his family that were not of Abraham?

Why is the idea that the promises made to Abraham are fulfilled in the Christian church more appealing than the idea that genetic descendants of Abraham are still going to fulfill those promises?

- The problem of sin and its solution is a human race problem, initiated in Adam and solved in Christ. Abraham and his descendants are a small subset of this larger human family tree, but “God so loved the world...”
- Jesus told the genetic descendants of Abraham that their father was Satan – why? Because Jesus taught it was about character not genetics.
- If God chose people for salvation based on genetics it would make God out to be a racist
- Martin Luther King Jr. said: “I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character.”
- Do you think Martin Luther King Jr. was wrong? Do you think Jesus would say to Mr. King, well actually, character isn't what's important, it's whose genes you have.

What kind of God does it make God out to be to teach that genetic descendancy has some advantage, or that God has some different path to salvation other than Jesus for the genetic descendants of Abraham?

Gen 18:18 Abraham will surely become a great and powerful nation, and all nations on earth will be blessed through him.

Which means what? That the descendant of Abraham, Jesus, will bring salvation for all human beings, “For God so loved THE WORLD...”

ISA 42:6 "I, the LORD, have called you in righteousness;
I will take hold of your hand.
I will keep you and will make you to be a covenant for the people and a light for the Gentiles,

ISA 42:7 to open eyes that are blind, to free captives from prison and to release from the dungeon those who sit in darkness.

Thoughts?

ISA 56:3 Let no foreigner who has bound himself to the LORD say,
"The LORD will surely exclude me from his people."

And let not any eunuch complain,
"I am only a dry tree."

ISA 56:4 For this is what the LORD says:

"To the eunuchs who keep my Sabbaths, who choose what pleases me and hold fast to my covenant--

ISA 56:5 to them I will give within my temple and its walls a memorial and a name better than sons and daughters;

I will give them an everlasting name that will not be cut off.

ISA 56:6 And foreigners who bind themselves to the LORD to serve him,

to love the name of the LORD,
and to worship him,

all who keep the Sabbath without desecrating it and who hold fast to my covenant--

ISA 56:7 these I will bring to my holy mountain and give them joy in my house of prayer.

SUNDAY

Read third paragraph, "There are important..." thoughts?

What is adultery? Is it different in marriage than with God?

Is marital adultery physical whereas adultery with God is with the heart Or is marital adultery also with the heart?

How does the Lord handle our adultery with Him?

- He forgives
- He seeks to restore
- He pleads, begs
- He warns – of what?
- He lets go to reap pain and suffering
- He rescues and pleads and loves and forgives and leave free
- And lets go to reap pain and suffering
- And refuses complete reconciliation until the heart is healed.

MONDAY

Continues the issue of spiritual adultery - What is spiritual adultery? How did the Jews commit spiritual adultery? What did they do?

Read the second paragraph, “The prophet Jeremiah...” Thoughts?

The lesson suggests that idolatry is viewed as spiritual adultery – what do you think? Consider this quotation from one of the founders of our church:

Thousands have a false conception of God and His attributes. They are as verily serving a false god as were the servants of Baal. Are we worshiping the true God as He is revealed in His Word, in Christ, in nature, or are we adoring some philosophical idol enshrined in His place? God is a God of truth. Justice and mercy are the attributes of His throne. He is a God of love, of pity and tender compassion. Thus He is represented in His Son, our Saviour. He is a God of patience and long-suffering. If such is the being whom we adore and to whose character we are seeking to assimilate, we are worshiping the true God. {FLB 59.8}

Do I need to review any of the quotes from last week’s lesson? Do we have a problem with idolatry today? Do we have a problem with spiritual adultery today, every bit as serious as the Jews did?

Read third paragraph, “The expression...” thoughts?

Is it possible for us to use God’s gifts in a way that works against God’s cause? How?

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Hosea chapter two:

- 1 Say of your brothers, ‘My people,’ and of your sisters, ‘My loved one.’
- 2 Rebuke your mother, rebuke her, for she is not my wife, and I am not her husband. Let her remove the adulterous look from her face and the unfaithfulness from between her breasts.

What do you understand this to mean?

- Is it talking about Gomer or the people of Israel or the Christian Church or all of humanity or all of it?
- Why are they not husband and wife?
- What is implied by unfaithfulness from between her breasts?
What lies below the breast? The heart – is it suggesting that the issue of unity, of genuine marriage, intimacy is a heart bond, and they have not united their hearts with God?

- 3 Otherwise I will strip her naked and make her as bare as on the day she was born; I will make her like a desert, turn her into a parched land, and slay her with thirst.

Thoughts? What does this mean?

- Will God inflict this or is this an expression of what happens to the soul separated from God?
- When Revelation describes Laodicea as wretched, poor, blind and naked, is it speaking physical nakedness? What about here in Hosea?
- When Jesus told the woman at the well to ask him for living water so she would never thirst again, was he speaking of H₂O? What about in this text?

4 I will not show my love to her children, because they are the children of adultery. “

What does this mean?

- Does is say God does not love her children?
- Or is God not able to show his love because such blessings would be misused, would be misunderstood, would be taken as evidence of blessings from the false god and solidify her children in rebellion against God?

5 Their mother has been unfaithful and has conceived them in disgrace. She said, ‘I will go after my lovers, who give me my food and my water, my wool and my linen, my oil and my drink.’

6 Therefore I will block her path with thornbushes; I will wall her in so that she cannot find her way.

What does this mean?

- Does God actively inflict harm, or is this a description of the natural consequences built into reality that occurs when we step out of harmony with God’s design?
- What happens to the drug addict? The porn addict? The adulterer? The smoker?
- When we violate God’s law do we reap consequences that hurt like thorn bushes?
- And if we thrash around, frantic to free ourselves to we get confused, lost, overwhelmed, and unable to find our own way?
- Is this an infliction or the natural result of choosing to live out of harmony with God’s design?

7 She will chase after her lovers but not catch them; she will look for them but not find them. Then she will say, ‘I will go back to my husband as at first, for then I was better off than now.’

What is being described?

- Reality bears in and despite frantic efforts to find peace in the ways of the world, there is no peace, and joy cannot be caught there.
- So the awareness leads to a conclusion – what?
- To go back to her husband, in this case God – but what is the motive?
- Does she go back because she has come to love God? Or because she realizes she gets better treatment with him? So the motive to return is still selfish.

- This is how we all come to Christ, we come to him broken, hurt, beaten down, frustrated with self and the world, discouraged, lost, hopeless, seeking relief for self. We come initially not primarily because we love him, but because we need him.
- And how does Christ receive us? With love and grace.
- And what happens within us as we experience God's love and grace, so undeserved? We love Him in return!
- Is there a lesson here in how we should treat others?
- Do we see a problem in the Middle East today in choosing another path in how they treat those who betray them? And does that path lead to love and trust?

8 She has not acknowledged that I was the one who gave her the grain, the new wine and oil, who lavished on her the silver and gold— which they used for Baal.

What is described?

- How many fail to give God glory for their talents, abilities, health, temporal blessings, but instead use those for self-advancement and self-glorification, which results in what?

9 Therefore I will take away my grain when it ripens, and my new wine when it is ready. I will take back my wool and my linen, intended to cover her nakedness.

10 So now I will expose her lewdness before the eyes of her lovers; no one will take her out of my hands.

11 I will stop all her celebrations: her yearly festivals, her New Moons, her Sabbath days—all her appointed feasts.

12 I will ruin her vines and her fig trees, which she said were her pay from her lovers; I will make them a thicket, and wild animals will devour them.

13 I will punish her for the days she burned incense to the Baals; she decked herself with rings and jewelry, and went after her lovers, but me she forgot," declares the Lord.

What does this mean?

- How does God punish?
- Is it infliction, or is it that He allows us to reap what happens when we go down selfish paths?
- And when we turn away from God to do our own thing, what does He do?

14 Therefore I am now going to allure her; I will lead her into the desert and speak tenderly to her.

15 There I will give her back her vineyards, and will make the Valley of Achor a door of hope. There she will sing as in the days of her youth, as in the day she came up out of Egypt.

16 "In that day," declares the Lord, "you will call me 'my husband'; you will no longer call me 'my master.' [baal]"

What is the Hebrew for “my master”? It is baal – you will no longer call me baal?

- What does this imply?
- In Hebrew baal also meant husband and protector, but a domineering controlling, dictatorial husband, very much like we still see in Middle Eastern families. And it became confused with the false god baal, so it stopped being used. God here says they will no longer call me baal.
- Does it imply that people would misconceive God as a baal, as a dictator, imposer of rules and laws, punisher, task master, but a time would come when they would see Him for who he really is?
- What does it look like to consider God to be like baal? To believe he requires appeasement and inflicts punishment for sin.
- Has Christianity struggled with seeing God like baal?
- Has the time come to no longer see God this way?

Notice what follows when we stop seeing God as baal, when we finally return to the truth of who God is as revealed in Jesus:

17 I will remove the names of the Baals from her lips; no longer will their names be invoked.

18 In that day I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and the creatures that move along the ground. Bow and sword and battle I will abolish from the land, so that all may lie down in safety.

19 I will betroth you to me forever; I will betroth you in righteousness and justice, in love and compassion.

20 I will betroth you in faithfulness, and you will acknowledge the Lord.

21 “In that day I will respond,” declares the Lord— “I will respond to the skies, and they will respond to the earth;

22 and the earth will respond to the grain, the new wine and oil, and they will respond to Jezreel.

23 I will plant her for myself in the land; I will show my love to the one I called ‘Not my loved one.’ I will say to those called ‘Not my people,’ ‘You are my people’; and they will say, ‘You are my God.’ ”

Thoughts?

Is this speaking only to genetic descendants of Abraham or to all of us? And what is the message?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Hosea 4:1-3 presents...” thoughts?

Failed to live up to the terms of the covenant – what covenant?

The Old or New Covenant?

When did Israel fail to live up to the terms of the Old Covenant?

What is the Old Covenant? How would you describe it?

Listen to these two quotes both from the book The Faith I Live By, do you agree with these conclusions?

Another compact--called in Scripture the "old" covenant--was formed between God and Israel at Sinai, and was then ratified by the blood of a sacrifice. . . . {FLB 78.2}

God . . . gave them [Israel] His law, with the promise of great blessings on condition of obedience: "If ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then . . . ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and an holy nation." Exodus 19:5, 6. The people did not realize the sinfulness of their own hearts, and that without Christ it was impossible for them to keep God's law; and they readily entered into covenant with God. Feeling that they were able to establish their own righteousness, they declared, "All that the Lord hath said will we do, and be obedient." Exodus 24:7. They had witnessed the proclamation of the law in awful majesty, and had trembled with terror before the mount; and yet only a few weeks passed before they broke their covenant with God, and bowed down to worship a graven image. They could not hope for the favor of God through a covenant which they had broken; and now, seeing their sinfulness and their need of pardon, they were brought to feel their need of the Saviour revealed in the Abrahamic covenant, and shadowed forth in the sacrificial offerings. . . . {FLB 78.3}

The terms of the "old covenant" were, Obey and live: "If a man do, he shall even live in them;" but "cursed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this law to do them." Ezekiel 20:11; Leviticus 18:5; Deuteronomy 27:26. The "new covenant" was established upon "better promises"--the promise of forgiveness of sins, and of the grace of God to renew the heart, and bring it into harmony with the principles of God's law. {FLB 78.4}

The only means of salvation is provided under the Abrahamic covenant. {FLB78.5}

Thoughts?

- How would you describe the Old Covenant?
- What was the agreement?
- When was this covenant broken?
- Were the sacrifices part of the Old or New Covenant?
- What happens under the New Covenant that didn't happen under the Old? A renewed heart in the believer – healing!

Here is the second quote from Faith I Live By:

As the Bible presents two laws, one changeless and eternal, the other provisional and temporary, so there are two covenants. The covenant of grace was first made with man in Eden, when after the Fall, there was given a divine promise that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. To all men this covenant offered pardon, and the assisting grace of God for future obedience through faith in Christ. It also promised them eternal life on condition of fidelity to God's law. Thus the patriarchs received the hope of salvation. {FLB 77.2}

This same covenant was renewed to Abraham in the promise, "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." Gen. 22:18. This promise pointed to Christ. So Abraham understood it, and he trusted in Christ for the forgiveness of sins. It was this faith that was accounted unto him for righteousness. The covenant with Abraham also maintained the authority of God's law. [which law?] The Lord appeared unto Abraham, and said, "I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect." The testimony of God concerning His faithful servant was, "Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws." Gen. 17:1; 26:5. . . . {FLB 77.3}

The Abrahamic covenant was ratified by the blood of Christ, and it is called the "second," or "new," covenant, because the blood by which it was sealed was shed after the blood of the first covenant. {FLB 77.4}

The covenant of grace is not a new truth, for it existed in the mind of God from all eternity. This is why it is called the everlasting covenant. {FLB 77.5}

There is hope for us only as we come under the Abrahamic covenant, which is the covenant of grace by faith in Christ Jesus. The gospel preached to Abraham, through which he had hope, was the same gospel that is preached to us today. . . . Abraham looked unto Jesus, who is also the author and the finisher of our faith. {FLB 77.6}

Thoughts?

What are the two laws?

What do you make of this quote?

Under the new covenant, the conditions by which eternal life may be gained are the same as under the old--perfect obedience. Under the old covenant, there were many offenses of a daring, presumptuous character, for which there was no atonement specified by law. In the new and better covenant, Christ has fulfilled the law for the transgressors of law, if they receive Him by faith as a personal Saviour. "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God." Mercy and forgiveness are the reward of all who come to Christ trusting in His merits to take away their sins. In the better covenant we are cleansed from sin by the blood of Christ (Letter 276, 1904). {7BC 931.10}

What do you hear in this passage?

- Both laws required perfect obedience? Why? Because life is built to operate upon God's law, it is the design protocol for life.
- What is the difference then?
- In the first, the Remedy, the perfection comes from the sinner, which of course fails
- In the second, the Remedy, the perfection of character, comes from Christ, which He perfectly achieved.

So the problem with Israel? They failed to understand the nature of God's kingdom of love, the law upon which life is built, and saw God like Baal, imposer of law and therefore they responded with works to try and both keep the law and appease God.

And, having gone down the trail of imposed law and legal requirements, how did they treat each other?

- Multitude of manmade regulations, rituals, rules
- False picture of God taught
- Exploitation of others
- Hard heartedness
- Fraud and cheating at the Temple etc. etc.

What about Christianity today? Any similar issues?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "The name Hosea..." thoughts?

What do you understand the purpose of judgment to be? Would you see it as diagnosis? Correctly diagnosing what is wrong for the purpose of leading people to repentance and healing?

The lesson states the problem was the "people's lack of knowledge, the knowledge of God, that led them into rebellion..."

What interferes with our knowing God?

- Bad theologies taught in church
- Bad science taught in schools
- Bad examples in leadership and society
- Television
- Novels
- Video games
- Alcohol, drugs
- Unhealthy diet?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-4

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 2 2Q 2013

Love and Judgment: God's Dilemma (Hosea)

Before we turn to the lesson I wanted to share something I read in a devotional book this week. As you know, our view is that Christ achieved remedy for our sinful condition. We have taught that, as Jesus said, the Holy Spirit takes what Christ achieved and makes it known to us, or reproduces His victory, His character in us. I read the following this week in a book called That I May Know Him p. 94:

The Holy Spirit reveals Christ to the mind, and faith takes hold of Him. If you accept Christ as your personal Saviour, you will know by experience the value of the great sacrifice made in your behalf upon the cross of Calvary. The Spirit of Christ working upon the heart conforms it to His image, for Christ is the model upon which the Spirit works. By the ministry of His Word, by His providences, by His inward working, God stamps the likeness of Christ upon the soul. {TMK 94.4}

To possess Christ is your first work, and to reveal Him as One who is able to save to the uttermost all who come to Him is your next work. To serve the Lord with full purpose of heart is to honor and glorify His name by dwelling upon holy things, by having a mind filled with the vital truths revealed in His Holy Word.... {TMK 94.5}

Goodness, meekness, gentleness, patience, and love are the attributes of Christ's character. If you have the spirit of Christ, your character will be molded after His character. {TMK 94.6}

SABBATH

What do you think about the title to this week's lesson?

Read memory text: "But you must return to your God; maintain love and justice, and wait for your God always" (Hosea 12:6)

What do you think about the idea of maintaining love and justice?

What do you understand love to be?

What is justice? The following is based on an excerpt from my new book, The God-Shaped Brain: How Changing Your View of God Transforms Your Life

On September 20, 2011, just nine days after terrorists attacked the United States in four hijacked passenger jets, President George W. Bush addressed a joint session of Congress. In that speech, President Bush stated, "Whether we bring our enemies to justice or bring justice to our enemies, justice will be done." (p. 186)

What is President Bush suggesting justice is? Hunting down and killing those who were behind the attacks.

Do you think the president's words reflected God's attitude toward wayward humanity? Does the "justice" of a vengeful nation accurately represent the justice of God? (p. 186)

Is it right to conclude God runs his universe like sinful beings run earthly governments? Or do we misrepresent God and obstruct his healing love when we construe God's justice to be like our own? (p. 187)

Was Jesus suggesting God's government is different from ours when he said, "My kingdom is not of this world" (Jn 18:36)? Is there a reason the Bible uses ferocious beasts to represent earthly governments but a lamb to represent Jesus? Could this suggest something different about how the two systems operate? Could human justice and God's justice be different? (p. 187)

What is the basis of justice? How do we determine what is just and what is unjust?

Justice in any system is based on the law of that organization. Punching someone in the face is just in boxing but unjust in baseball. The rules of the various sports governing bodies determine what a just or unjust action is. Driving at 160 miles per hour on the autobahn in Germany is just (or right), but not so in the United States because the United States has a different set of laws. (p. 188)

What is the basis of justice in the US? The constitution and the laws passed by the government.

What is the basis of justice in God's government? The law of love!

Is God's government like human governments? Is God's law like human laws?

How would you describe the difference to someone you met in the airport?

Notice what how the Bible describes justice:

- Wash yourselves clean. Stop all this evil that I see you doing. Yes, stop doing evil and learn to do right. See that justice is done—help those who are oppressed, give orphans their rights, and defend widows. (Is 1:16-17 GNT)
 - What is justice here?
- The Lord longs to be gracious to you; he rises to show you compassion. The Lord is a God of justice. (Is 30:18 NIV)
 - How is this justice?

- This is what the Lord says to the dynasty of David: ‘Give justice each morning to the people you judge! Help those who have been robbed; rescue them from their oppressors.’ (Jer 21:12 NLT)
 - What is justice here?

What is Biblical justice? Saving the oppressed NOT punishing the oppressor. Why? Because when we remember God’s law is the law upon which life is built infliction of punishment is never needed. We don’t have to punish the person who jumps off a bridge, or hangs themselves, breaking God’s law always results in pain, suffering and death, unless the Designer intervenes to heal and restore.

And what stops God from healing and restoring one of us? We do!

Read last paragraph WEDNESDAYs lesson, “Hosea 11 teaches...” thoughts?

What underpins the misunderstanding so many have regarding the difference between loving discipline and angry vengeance? Misunderstanding God’s law and projecting human imposed law constructs upon God and His divine government.

Listen to this quote from a book, Prophets and Kings p. 311:

In Isaiah's day the spiritual understanding of mankind was dark through misapprehension of God. Long had Satan sought to lead men to look upon their Creator as the author of sin and suffering and death. Those whom he had thus deceived, imagined that God was hard and exacting. They regarded Him as watching to denounce and condemn, unwilling to receive the sinner so long as there was a legal excuse for not helping him. The law of love by which heaven is ruled had been misrepresented by the archdeceiver as a restriction upon men's happiness, a burdensome yoke from which they should be glad to escape. He declared that its precepts could not be obeyed and that the penalties of transgression were bestowed arbitrarily.

Thoughts? Do we have such problems today with God’s law being misunderstood and people conceiving of God as the author of death? Even in an online forum of people who share our views this is a problem.

What do you understand death to be? Are first death and second death the same? If we construe them as the same do we have a problem?

Is death, which God told would result from unremedied sin, sleep in the grave until resurrection? Or is death from sin an eternal eradication of the person, both body and individuality?

Is the wages of sin death or sleep until resurrection?

MT 10:28 says that death is destruction of body and “soul” which the Greek for soul is psyche, mind, individuality, identity.

The death in which individuality is destroyed is called the second death. But when Jesus went to the funeral of a little girl what did He say? She's not dead but asleep. And how did they respond? They laughed, why? From a human perspective she was dead, but Jesus said she was asleep. Was Jesus lying? Was He trying to confuse? No, Satan is the author of confusion. Then what was Jesus doing? Was he being the light which lightens all men?

How did Jesus describe Lazarus' condition to the disciples? Lazarus is asleep and I need to go wake him. Both of these two people were asleep and both were raised and their identities were intact. What does this mean?

Has anyone considered the possibility that the second death is actual death, it is non-existence, it is when the individuality, character, identity is permanently erased and is the result of sin and thus is from Satan. But the first death does not destroy the individual, does not erase identity or destroy character, but merely suspends the person in time. Therefore the first death is not the outgrowth of unremedied sin, but only occurs because God has been "interfering" with the natural results of what sin would otherwise do in order to heal and save.

If God did not step in (in multiple ways) when man fell into sin, eternal extinction of the species would have already happened, because that is what sin does. But it hasn't happened because God has been holding in check the full consequences of sin. Thus, the first death, sleep, is a mercy, an artificial state caused by God's grace to allow for the delivery and saving of the race, the minimizing of suffering and pain, and the elimination of sin.

Satan would love for us to lump God's mercy and his evil into the same camp and attribute both to the same cause, but then we miss the reality of what is transpiring.

It is true if there were no sin there would have been no sleep in the grave, but sleep in the grave is not the natural result of sin, but an artificial state, a mercy, held by God's power, for the purpose of salvation.

Back to SABBATH, read first paragraph, "A common way..." thoughts?

What are some metaphors used in Scripture to teach us truths about God, His relationship with us, the plan of salvation etc.?

- Husband/wife (church bride of Christ)
- Parent/child (prodigal son)
- Ransom
- Purchase
- Legal payment
- Legal judgment
- Robe of righteousness
- Cleansed by blood
- Washed in blood
- Record books in heaven
- Sanctuary
- Sheep/goats
- Wheat/tares
- War
- Sword
- Crowns
- Name (give a new name)

What about “healing”? Is the healing model a metaphor or is it the actual reality to which all the others point?

A few years ago when we discussed with local leaders what we teach, we were criticized because it was claimed we present only one metaphor when the Scripture is rich with many metaphors.

Their criticism would have some merit, IF, and only IF, we conclude healing is not real, but healing is only a metaphor, not a reality. So, is healing, recreation, renewal, regeneration, restoration – are these metaphor or are these the reality all the other metaphors are trying to lead us to understand?

It is my belief that healing, restoration, recreation, renewal is a reality of God’s plan. That we will be recreated, healed, restored to perfection. This is NOT a metaphor. Therefore, healing of God’s creation is the reality all other metaphors are trying to enlighten us about.

So, be on guard, because one of the latest strategies of those who cling to metaphor, cling to symbolism, refuse to step from the shadows into the light of reality... In other words, for those who prefer the legal model, one of their latest strategies is to suggest that, “of course there is healing” but it is only part of a larger reality that includes the legal aspects as well. They suggest that God heals, but only after He legally pardons and accepts the blood of Christ as a legal payment. What they are trying to suggest is that the healing view is a small subset of a larger landscape of multiple metaphors, and only those who accept all the metaphors are balanced.

The problem is they have taken the reality that God is trying to teach through metaphor and denied it is real and instead made it symbolic, which destroys the power of truth and actually undermines healing!

So don’t fall into that trap when they say there are multiple metaphors. Say, “Absolutely, there are multiple metaphors. But we are moving past metaphor to understand the eternal reality to which all the metaphors point. And that reality is that God is love. He built His universe to operate upon the protocols of love. And Christ came to restore His creation back into harmony with His design protocols for life. This is healing and restoration – a reality, not a metaphor!”

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Ephraim was the name...” thoughts?

Why did Ephraim turn to other nations? What was the motive? Was it fear and a desire for “self-preservation”?

Where does the fear motive originate in human history?

As soon as Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because they were afraid...

While God built us with the ability to experience fear, like we have the ability to experience pain, was it His plan that we should experience either?

In fact, fear is a kind of emotional pain. It occurs when something is not as God designed it to be.

When you come face to face with a lion, bear, tiger, etc. would you experience fear? The naturalists would say this is normal, survival-of-the-fittest, but was it God's design we experience fear when we are near such animals?

Why do we experience fear? Because all nature groans under the weight of sin. Because nature is not operating as God designed. Fear happens, like pain, when things are not working as God designed.

What examples can you give from Scripture of actions taken based on fear?

- Aaron making the golden calf under pressure from the people
- Saul trying to kill David
- Saul going to the witch of Endor
- Saul's suicide
- Israel's turning to Egypt for help from the Assyrians
- It is better for one man to die than the entire nation – what is the principle? Fear based survival of self.

Any examples in Scripture of love and trust in God overcoming fear?

- Moses in Pharaoh's court
- Gideon
- Daniel and the 3 worthies
- Jehoshaphat
- Jesus
- Stephen
- Paul

Any examples in human history of actions based on fear?

- The inquisition
- The cooperation with Nazi's during WWII
- A high school chemistry teacher late on her car payments....
- Racism, sexism, bigotry, family violence
- Expelling people from fellowship in your church?

Any examples in history of love overcoming fear?

- Corrie Ten Boone
- Marian and Barbie Fisher
- Martin Luther King Jr.
- Gandhi

What do you see as the difference? Do you see the two antagonist motives or principles involved in each?

Do you see that we are infected with fear, and fear drives us toward selfishness and a willingness to hurt others to protect self? But love casts out fear, causes us to sacrifice self to protect others. It is love that is the basis of life and fear and selfishness are the basis of death.

Satan will work to inflame our fears in order to get us to choose to act selfishly, which will injure us further. Any examples of how this happens in our lives?

- Fear of rejection causes persons to go along with others when they believe it is wrong
 - which result in guilt, shame and loss of effectiveness in revealing the truth about God until the guilt and shame are resolved
- Fear of financial failure causes people to worry about the future
 - lose sleep, have increased stress, inflammatory cascades and more physical and mental health problems, become more pessimistic, negativistic and ultimately lose effectiveness in spreading love.
- Fear of financial failure causing one to put their trust in retirement plans, savings accounts, stocks, bonds, etc.
 - which results in preoccupation with the world, constant monitoring of financial markets, calculating to protect self-interest and reduced trust in God for how things will turn out.
 - David was scolded for taking a census – why? Because when he knew how many soldiers, chariots, archers, spearmen, cavalry he had he would be tempted to but his sense of security and trust in the might of arms and not God. We do the same with our money...
- Fear of financial loss causing one not to take a mission trip...
- Fear of abandonment causes people to stay in abusive relationships, which destroys all parties and undermines fitness for God's cause

How do we overcome fear?

Do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand. (Isa 41:10)

- Do you get the picture of a father walking with his child holding his hand? Are children afraid when holding the hand of the parent?
- What happens when a child is separated from its parent? What emotion do they experience?
- Do we walk through life holding God's hand? Why not, He has His hand outstretched to us!

Doubts and fears grow by indulgence, and the more they are indulged, the harder are they to overcome. It is safe to let go every earthly support and take the hand of Him who lifted up and saved the sinking disciple on the stormy sea. {4T 558.1}

Only the sense of God's presence can banish the fear that, for the timid child, would make life a burden. Let him fix in his memory the promise, "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him, and delivereth them." Psalm 34:7. Ed 255

Thoughts? What protects us from fear? Does that mean we are not to experience fear, or not to be controlled by fear?

It is not the will of God that His people should be weighed down with care. But our Lord does not deceive us. He does not say to us, "Do not fear; there are no dangers in your path." He knows there are trials and dangers, and He deals with us plainly. He does not propose to take His people out of a world of sin and evil, but He points them to a never-failing refuge. SC 122

So, in this world of sin will we experience fear? When we do what are we to do? Are we to react like the world, go into self-protection mode and let fear control us?

This is extremely hard, this is a battle with self; we are so wired to do this. It feels so good to take action to make the fear go away. But, what other option do we have?

We have Jesus. We can go to him with our fear. We can say, "Lord, I don't want to make fear based decisions, I want to make love based decisions. Pour your love into my heart. Help me see past my fear, past my insecurity to you and give me love for others." Then choose to act in accordance with what you know God's will is, in harmony with His methods and trust Him with outcomes.

One of the traps that inflame fear is when we forecast the future and try to make decisions which will make the future unfold the way we want.

- Recently, I have been tempted along these lines. I have been invited to take a three-week trip to Singapore and Australia to speak at three different cities. I know God is opening the way, yet fears arise: How will the class do without me for three weeks? Will people stop coming? What about my office, making payroll for my staff, paying my bills?
- We have made the decision to take this trip, planning as best we can with forethought, but trusting God with taking care of our needs.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, "In Bible times..." thoughts?

What does it mean to be yoked to Christ? Is being yoked to Christ the same as losing one's freedom? Or is being yoked to Christ the means of achieving one's freedom? If so how?

Are we saved by our own effort?

While God saved the human species, in the person of Jesus, can God save any individual without the participation of that individual?

So, what does it mean to yoke with Christ? Consider these quotations, do you agree or disagree? What are the implications?

While God was working in Daniel and his companions "to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Phil. 2:13), they were working out their own salvation. Herein is revealed the outworking of the divine principle of cooperation, without which no true success can be attained. Human effort avails nothing without divine power; and without human endeavor, divine effort is with many of no avail. To make God's grace our own, we must act our part. His grace is given to work in us to will and to do, but never as a substitute for our effort. {LHU 193.4}

We are laborers together with God. This is the Lord's own wise arrangement. The cooperation of the human will and endeavor with divine energy is the link that binds men up with one another and with God. The apostle says, "We are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building" (1 Corinthians 3:9). Man is to work with the facilities God has given him. "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling," He says. "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Philippians 2:12, 13).--MS 113, 1898. {2MCP 694.3}

There are two grand forces at work in the salvation of the human soul. It requires the cooperation of man with the divine agencies-- divine influences, and a strong, living, working faith. It is in this way only that the human agent can become a laborer together with God. The Lord does not sanction in any one of us a blind, stupid credulity. He does not dishonor the human understanding, but, far from this, He calls for the human will to be brought into connection with the divine will. He calls for the ingenuity of the human mind, the tact, the skill, to be strenuously exercised in searching out the truth as it is in Jesus. . . . Ye are labourers together with God. {OHC 310.5}

Agree or disagree? So how do you explain the balance in our salvation so that we don't fall into the ditch of salvation by our works? Earlier we read a quote that our first work is to possess Christ – is that salvation by works?

So the balance is as follows:

- The Remedy to sin was fully achieved by Christ and no one else.
- We can do nothing to add to what Christ has done to save mankind, but, each person now must choose to open their heart in trust to receive from the Holy Spirit the benefit of Christ's victory in their life.
- When we do this a supernatural transformation of character, desire, motive, and attitude takes place.

- In this process there is a daily, ongoing, and constant cooperative work of the individual with the Divine in which the person chooses to continue to follow the direction of the Heavenly Physician until they are one day fully healed and set free to be self-controlled beings operating on the law of love, which has been fully restored into the heart. (Heb 8:10).

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

Read top Bible verses and then first paragraph, "In these verses..." thoughts?

Do you like to see God portrayed as tender and compassionate? Absolutely, this view is correct.

What do you understand "His anger can be terrifying..." to mean?

Why is there fear of God?

When the people heard the thunder and the trumpet blast and saw the lightning and the smoking mountain, they trembled with fear and stood a long way off. They said to Moses, "If you speak to us, we will listen; but we are afraid that if God speaks to us, we will die." Moses replied, "Don't be afraid; God has only come to test you and make you keep on obeying him, so that you will not sin." But the people continued to stand a long way off, and only Moses went near the dark cloud where God was. Exodus 20:18-21

Thoughts? Why were the people afraid but Moses was not? Was God showing one thing to the people and something different to Moses? Were the people hearing thunder and Moses hearing the tympany section of the heavenly orchestra?

Listen to this commentary on those verses:

During that long time spent in communion with God, the face of Moses had reflected the glory of the divine Presence; unknown to himself his face shone with a dazzling light when he descended from the mountain. Such a light illumined the countenance of Stephen when brought before his judges; "and all that sat in the council, looking steadfastly on him, saw his face as it had been the face of an angel." Acts 6:15. Aaron as well as the people shrank away from Moses, and "they were afraid to come nigh him." Seeing their confusion and terror, but ignorant of the cause, he urged them to come near. He held out to them the pledge of God's reconciliation, and assured them of His restored favor. They perceived in his voice nothing but love and entreaty, and at last one ventured to approach him. Too awed to speak, he silently pointed to the countenance of Moses, and then toward heaven. The great leader understood his meaning. In their conscious guilt, feeling themselves still under the divine displeasure, they could not endure the heavenly light, which, had they been obedient to God, would have filled them with joy. There is fear in guilt. The soul that is free from sin will not wish to hide from the light of heaven. {PP 329.5}

Where does fear of God originate? In our guilt, in our misunderstanding of Him, on our self-condemnation we project our own self-dissatisfaction onto God and believe Him to be of the same selfish character as we are.

In other words, unremedied sin is the source of fear. God is love!

Read next paragraph, “Through Moses...” thoughts?

What were the special privileges afforded to Israel? Did they get a special pass into heaven? Did they get an avenue to salvation not available to any other human being? What is their privilege?

- To be the conduit for the Messiah
- To be his helpers to teach the plan of salvation
- To be the repository of His teaching tools on earth – the Scripture, the Sanctuary, the Feast days, the principles of beneficence incorporated into their government (Jubilees, cities of refuge, system of justice)
- The health laws
- To be a kingdom of priests

Read next paragraph, “All who in this world...” thoughts?

What does it mean to go through the school of sorrows?

Does it mean God inflicts suffering and pain? No!

It means this – Once there is brokenness there is no path that is pain free.

- If you have a broken leg, no option is pain free – do nothing continued pain and worsening disability, go to surgery and PT, pain, but recovery and healing.
- We are in a broken, sick, sinful condition, there is no path forward without pain, do nothing, continued pain and worsening of our condition. Surrender to Christ and the path to overcome our defects can be painful, sorrow will often be part of the process as we must cut ties to unhealthy things and people to which we have become attached. But the outcome is healing, restoration, and one day an eternity without pain or sorrow.

It also means, in this world of sin it is impossible to avoid pain, but misery is optional.

Consider again the 23rd Psalm – when we follow our Shepherd he leads us into the valley of the shadow of death, not the valley of death, for the purpose of dying to self in order to restore our soul and lead us in the path of righteousness for His name sake!

THURSDAY

Read top section, “Some ancient scholars...”

Is it only ancient scholars that viewed God this way? Do we have people who still struggle with this concept today?

Who was the member of the Godhead that acted in OT times? It was Jesus. In both Old and New Testaments we see Jesus as the active agent working and revealing God.

For I do not want you to be ignorant of the fact, brothers, that our forefathers were all under the cloud and that they all passed through the sea. ²They were all baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea. ³They all ate the same spiritual food ⁴and drank the same spiritual drink; for they drank from the spiritual rock that accompanied them, and that rock was Christ. 1Cor 10:1-4

Do you see any differences in God of the OT and God as revealed in Jesus in the NT? What differences do you see? How do you explain those differences?

What is transpiring on earth? Is there a conflict involving more than human beings?

Could mankind be saved without Jesus becoming human? Does that have any bearing on what we see in the OT? Was Satan trying to obstruct Jesus from coming to earth, to close the avenue for the Messiah? Was Christ working to keep that avenue open?

Once Christ came and completed his mission, was there any need to continue working in that way?

Do we see all through the OT the grace, love, compassion, mercy, patience of God? Yet, do we see the condition of humanity so degraded that at times God needed to intervene to keep open the avenue for the Messiah?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 3 2013

Lesson 2 Clarification

How many were here last week? My responses raised some questions and confusion online and I received multiple inquiries I need to clarify.

Evidently, my responses regarding the flood and Sodom led some to think I teach that God never used his power to put people into the grave. Let me clarify.

I believe God hasn't used his power to punish sin. But God has used his power therapeutically, intervening to save the human race, and at times has put people in the grave:

- First born of Egypt
- Sodom
- The platoons that came to arrest Elijah
- Nadab and Abihu

But none of these were punishments for sin. They were various types of therapeutic interventions.

Doctors don't punish patients for non-compliance, but doctors do amputate gangrene limbs, excise cancerous lesions, and confine and restrain psychotic violent patients. In history, there are times God has acted to limit the spread of wickedness in order to keep open the avenue for the Messiah to come. But this is not punishment for sin. It is grace, mercy and love stooping to do what needs to be done in order to save.

I have done a lot of thinking after last week's lesson and the text that kept coming to mind was John 15:15 "I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you."

- What is the mindset of a slave?
- Why do slaves obey?
- Because the master said it and if you don't obey what happens?
 - Punishment
- How does a slave view the law of the master?
 - Imposed rules enforced by punishment.
- Jesus said, I don't want you to be my slaves, I want you to be my friends! Don't think of me like a slave master.

So what about a friend? What is the difference between the way a slave and a friend think?

A friend understands the master. He understands how the master has built things to operate. It isn't "do it because the master says so or else," but because one understands all the damage and destruction that will happen if one steps out of the master's plan. What kind of law is this? Natural law.

God is longing for us to come to know Him, to know His design, methods, principles and stop relating to Him like slaves! Satan wants us to be nothing more than mindless slaves.

A Holy and Just God

SABBATH

What comes to mind when you hear the lesson title for this week?

Last week we explored Biblical justice, contrasting it with justice of the world. We explored how justice in any system is based on the laws or rules of that system.

We saw that there are two ways to conceive of God's law – the design protocols life is built upon – natural law, and an imposed Roman type law construct.

We explored that if one views God's law as a Roman imposed law then in that model justice requires imposition of punishment by the ruling authority.

But we also noted that if one views God's law as the protocol upon which he built life to operate then justice requires the Designer to heal and fix what is broken. We reviewed texts like:

- "Defend the poor and fatherless; Do justice to the afflicted and needy." (Ps 82:3)
- "Wash yourselves clean. Stop all this evil that I see you doing. Yes, stop doing evil and learn to do right. See that justice is done---help those who are oppressed, give orphans their rights, and defend widows." (Is 1:16-17 – GN)
- "The LORD is waiting to be kind to you. He rises to have compassion on you. The LORD is a God of justice." (Is 30:18 – GW)
- "This is what the LORD says to the dynasty of David: 'Give justice each morning to the people you judge! Help those who have been robbed; rescue them from their oppressors.'" (Jer 21:12 – NLT)

We discovered that God's justice, according to Scripture is, delivering the oppressed not punishing the oppressor.

Thoughts or questions thus far?

But we also enjoyed the company of Andrew and Lily who had multiple questions. They are not alone. I really appreciated their input and questions last week because they represent so many who see the universe and God's government through the lens of imposed law.

They cited the passage in Romans, "vengeance is mine says the Lord" and we explored that Biblical vengeance is destroying sin, cleansing the sinner. God takes vengeance on sin like a doctor takes vengeance on polio. What are doctors working to do with polio? Destroy it! Are they working to destroy those infected with polio? NO!

God hates sin but loves sinners. Satan wants to confuse our thinking so that we think of sinners as sin – not the same.

But, many people struggle with these concepts, many struggle with how to deal with people who mistreat others here, like a murderer or rapist. I received the following email awhile back and wanted to share a little more of how we deal with this in my new book:

Previously I attended your class for two weeks back in 2009. You might remember that I was previously a [Christian] pastor for 15 years. I am currently enrolled [in] law school...

As I was reviewing this week's outline where you stated:

"When one accepts that God imposes law, then one must conclude that the consequences one experiences for disobedience to God's law is imposed by God, or that God's wrath is something that he inflicts to punish for sin."

Since I am [in law school I am] developing my views of criminal punishment and civil sanctions. Should I relate my view of God into the courtroom? More specifically, there are two views of punishment, Utilitarianism and Retributivism.

Utilitarianism seeks to reform the criminal, reason with the criminal, and the focus is on therapy and psychiatric care. This view also incarcerates the criminal to convince the general community to forego criminal conduct in the future. Finally it teaches the convicted what conduct is impermissible.

Retributivism seeks to punish the criminal for freely violating the rules. This view gratifies the passion for revenge. Retributive punishment is the means of securing a moral balance in society where the inmate pays his debt to society. Retributivism seeks punishment as a way to right a wrong and corrects the claim.

It appears that the wrong view of God has much in common with the Retributivism view of criminal punishment. While the utilitarianism view of criminal punish has much in common with the restoration view of salvation.

But should I look to the heart-wise, healing, loving picture of God view when it comes to criminals? Should my decision of how I view God relate to what punishment a murderer, rapist, burglar, and thief receives? In other words, should I be using my influence to end punishment of criminals? So criminals can be set free from prison and be placed in rehabilitation groups, therapy, etc. Or suppose criminals were not sent to jail, just allow them to reap the natural consequence of their sins?

What would you say to him? How do you answer such questions? What is justice to a criminal on earth?

“Many people get confused about God’s law because God, just like a loving parent, has used imposed rules as stopgaps to help his immature people.

When a mother puts a rule in place not to play in the street lest the child get spanked, the real problem in breaking the rule is not the spanking (imposed penalty), but the violation of the natural law of physics when a car collides with the body of the child. The imposed rule, with its imposed penalty, is intended to protect the child, the unknown driver, and even the parent from the result of violation of natural law if the child is hit by a car. The spanking is not intended as retribution, but is a stopgap to help keep the child safe until the child is mature enough to govern itself and not play in the street... The God-Shaped Brain: How Changing Your View of God Transforms Your Life p. 189

Does retribution:

- Do good to those who have been offended
- Resurrect the murdered person
- Heal the broken bone
- Restore one’s innocence
- Recover stolen goods
- Or heal, develop, save, or transform the sinner/criminal

So what is the purpose of retribution? Does it serve love or does it serve selfishness?

Does that mean we should ignore criminals? Let them get away with it?

First, do they get away with it? Why or why not?

- Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows. The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction...Gal 6:7,8
- We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. {1SM 235.2}

When we sin we actually damage ourselves. Why? Because God's law is a natural law. It is the law upon which life was built to operate. One doesn't have to punish those who violate it because the violation destroy the very faculties that respond to love and truth, the consciences become seared, the character warped, the reason impaired, until those who persist in it become nothing but brute beasts.

So, when a earthly government steps in to arrest and incarcerate a person who has lost self-governance and is acting out to hurt others in society, that act can be done with a desire to seek vengeance, but it can also be done with a desire to protect society, AND the criminal from damaging themselves further. Incarceration can give the criminal time to reflect and consider their course and repent and become a friend rather than an enemy. This is God's justice, healing and delivering those oppressed by sin, AND turning enemies into friends:

Anyone who is joined to Christ is a new being; the old is gone, the new has come. All this is done by God, who through Christ changed us from enemies into his friends and gave us the task of making others his friends also. Our message is that God was making the whole human race his friends through Christ. God did not keep an account of their sins, and he has given us the message which tells how he makes them his friends. Here we are, then, speaking for Christ, as though God himself were making his appeal through us. We plead on Christ's behalf: let God change you from enemies into his friends! (2Co 5:17-20 GNT)

Thoughts?

What does a Just God look like? Like Jesus!

Read Memory Text: "The Lord thunders at the head of his army; his forces are beyond number, and mighty are those who obey his command. The day of the Lord is great; it is dreadful. Who can endure?" (Joel 2:11)

What does this text mean to you?

Read first paragraph, "In the massive locust plague..." thoughts?

Are they saying God brought the locust plague and draught? What do you think?

It can be confusing, because God did bring plagues in Egypt for what purpose? To expose the gods of Egypt as false.

God did hold the rain for Elijah, for what purpose? To show the impotence of Baal.

So, does that mean every plague in nature or every natural disaster is a direct infliction by God?

Here is one view, do you agree with it, from Patriarchs and Prophets p. 428:

Moses faithfully set before the people their great sin. It was God's power alone that had preserved them in "that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water." Deuteronomy 8:15. Every day of their travels they had been kept by a miracle of divine mercy. In all the way of God's leading they had found water to refresh the thirsty, bread from heaven to satisfy their hunger, and peace and safety under the shadowy cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night. Angels had ministered to them as they climbed the rocky heights or threaded the rugged paths of the wilderness. Notwithstanding the hardships they had endured, there was not a feeble one in all their ranks. Their feet had not swollen in their long journeys, neither had their clothes grown old. God had subdued before them the fierce beasts of prey and the venomous reptiles of the forest and the desert. If with all these tokens of His love the people still continued to complain, the Lord would withdraw His protection until they should be led to appreciate His merciful care, and return to Him with repentance and humiliation. {PP 428.3}

Because they had been shielded by divine power they had not realized the countless dangers by which they were continually surrounded. In their ingratitude and unbelief they had anticipated death, and now the Lord permitted death to come upon them. The poisonous serpents that infested the wilderness were called fiery serpents, on account of the terrible effects produced by their sting, it causing violent inflammation and speedy death. As the protecting hand of God was removed from Israel, great numbers of the people were attacked by these venomous creatures. {PP 429.1}

What did God do? Why did God do it? Was God inflicting punishment? Was God setting people free to experience what they persistent chose, rebellion from Him?

Do you think it was different with rebellious Israel and Judah later?

So God actively engages to expose false gods, and God actively engages to protect the avenue for the Messiah, and God withdraws and allows one to reap what they have chosen when rebellion persists....

MONDAY

Read last paragraph, "Throughout Scripture, God is described..." thoughts?

Is the lesson suggesting God sends natural disasters?

What do you think?

Any evidences?

Exodus – Nile turns to blood, darkness, hail that burns, locust, earthquake. What was the purpose of those disasters? To expose false Gods – to punish? Or to save? What was the intended effect? To deliver people's minds from believing a lie. These were given as evidences to break the people out of worshipping false God's, not as punishment.

What about the first chapter of Job – did natural disasters strike Job's family? Who brought them? Satan, who did Job's friends say did it? God!

When the disciples were on the lake and Christ was sleeping in the boat and a great storm came, so severe that fisherman who spent their lives on the lake were terrified, who do you think brought that storm? Was God behind it, or perhaps was Satan trying to destroy Christ and his disciples?

What about at the end of time, the plagues that happen in the future? The lesson suggested the Joel sees in the plagues a prediction of how it will be in the end. Is it God actively inflicting, or God withdrawing His protection?

Rev 7:1-3:

After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth to prevent any wind from blowing on the land or on the sea or on any tree. ² Then I saw another angel coming up from the east, having the seal of the living God. He called out in a loud voice to the four angels who had been given power to harm the land and the sea: ³ "Do not harm the land or the sea or the trees until we put a seal on the foreheads of the servants of our God."

What do you hear this quotation saying?

So we have examples where God acted and we have examples where God stepped back and removed protection. What are the differences?

God's actions were always trying to stop rebellion, expose lies, and His withdrawal was always when no other intervention would work.

So, what about the end of time the troubles to come? Would this be a time when everything else has failed? Here is a quotation from one of the founders of our church that seems to be in harmony with Rev 7:1-3:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproveth, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of."

Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

If God's law is natural, does He have to inflict punishment for disobedience?

Do we do God good service or misrepresent Him and obstruct his purpose and even delay his return if we say, "Katrina was God's punishment on New Orleans for its wickedness?"

SUNDAY

Read 2nd and 3rd paragraphs, "Joel uses four..." thoughts?

What do you understand regarding the hardships of Israel? Why did they go through so much?

What was God's purpose for Israel?

Last week Collegedale Church put on its annual Easter Pageant. What is the purpose of that pageant? It is a theatrical enactment in which people can participate, for what purpose? To teach people.

Does that pageant save anyone? Can a person be saved by dressing up and participating in the pageant?

The nation of Israel were actors – they had a grand stage, great costumes, and a very detailed script. They were to enact, through drama, the plan of salvation. Was salvation found in dressing up in their costumes and performing their rituals?

Could people be saved, before Christ became incarnate, without participating in the Jewish theater? What about Enoch? How about without, as far as is recorded in the Bible, sacrificing animals to God? What about the widow of Sarepta who sheltered Elijah or Naaman?

The widow of Sarepta and Naaman the Syrian had lived up to all the light they had; hence they were accounted more righteous than God's chosen people who had backslidden from Him and had sacrificed principle to convenience and worldly honor. {AA 416.3}

So, God's purpose was for Israel to act out the plan and stay faithful and receive untold blessings, which would reveal God's plan to heal and save. But they chose to follow their own script, do it their way. They accepted Satan's view of God and so what did God do? He used their choices to still teach the truth, but all in symbol and theater – how?

By demonstrating that choosing Satan's way results in pain, suffering, loss, famine, desolation and even death. When they refused God's way He removed His protection and Israel reaped what they chose and they ended up in captivity, just as when we choose to violate God's design we end up captive to sin, addiction, fear, and disease.

So, divine judgments, are they punishment for sin upon Israel, or God's judgment of what was necessary to wake them up to their foolishness, and teach the truth that God's law is a natural law and behavior has consequences. If you choose rebellion God sets you free to reap what you have chosen.

TUESDAY

The lesson talks about the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost and the latter rain before Christ returns.

What do you think obstructs this from happening? What would be necessary for it to happen?

Will God pour out His Spirit upon individuals to empower them to misrepresent Him? Here are four quotes from one of the founders of our church:

- The outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost was the former rain, but the latter rain will be more abundant. The Spirit awaits our demand and reception. Christ is again to be revealed in His fulness by the Holy Spirit's power. {COL 121.1}
- The third angel's message is swelling into a loud cry, and you must not feel at liberty to neglect the present duty, and still entertain the idea that at some future time you will be the recipients of great blessing, when without any effort on your part a wonderful revival will take place. . . . Today you are to have your vessel purified, that it may be ready for the heavenly dew, ready for the showers of the latter rain; for the latter rain will come, and the blessing of God will fill every soul that is purified from every defilement. It is our work today to yield our souls to Christ, that we may be fitted for the time of refreshing from the presence of the Lord--fitted for the baptism of the Holy Spirit. . . . {Ev 701.4}
- The Holy Spirit is waiting for channels through whom to work. If all would do the work to which they were appointed, thousands of people might be saved. Satan will not always triumph. The Spirit of God will be poured out upon the church just as soon as the vessels are prepared to receive it. . . . {Christ Triumphant 45.2}
- The disciples did not ask for a blessing for themselves. They were weighted with the burden of souls. The gospel was to be carried to the ends of the earth, and they claimed the endowment of power that Christ had promised. Then it was that the Holy Spirit was poured out, and thousands were converted in a day.--Southern Watchman, Aug. 1, 1905. {Christian Service 252.9}

Thoughts? Is there anything we can do to prepare for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit? Are we ready? Will the Spirit enable us if we are ready to tell the truth about God?

Perhaps we should not ask for the Holy Spirit, but ask to be ready for the Holy Spirit.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "The darkening..." thoughts?

What do you hear? Do you hear a suggestion that the historic interpretation of these signs being fulfilled more than 150 years ago and in some cases more than 250 years ago, are being relinquished and a more metaphorical interpretation is being used?

I think they might be on to something. Prophecies are highly symbolic. What do you think of the idea that the pagan god constructs will be turned to darkness?

The middle of the lesson asks, "While Christ's appearance will terrify the unrepentant, how will the righteous welcome their Lord?"

Thoughts? Why will the appearance of Christ terrify the unrepentant, because He is terrifying, or because of something within the unrepentant that causes the terror?

Why is there fear of God?

- When the people heard the thunder and the trumpet blast and saw the lightning and the smoking mountain, they trembled with fear and stood a long way off. They said to Moses, "If you speak to us, we will listen; but we are afraid that if God speaks to us, we will die." Moses replied, "Don't be afraid; God has only come to test you and make you keep on obeying him, so that you will not sin." But the people continued to stand a long way off, and only Moses went near the dark cloud where God was. Exodus 20:18-21

Thoughts? Why were the people afraid but Moses was not? Was God showing one thing to the people and something different to Moses? Were the people hearing thunder and Moses hearing the tympany section of the heavenly orchestra?

Listen to this commentary on those verses:

- During that long time spent in communion with God, the face of Moses had reflected the glory of the divine Presence; unknown to himself his face shone with a dazzling light when he descended from the mountain. Such a light illumined the countenance of Stephen when brought before his judges; "and all that sat in the council, looking steadfastly on him, saw his face as it had been the face of an angel." Acts 6:15. Aaron as well as the people shrank away from Moses, and "they were afraid to come nigh him." Seeing their confusion and terror, but ignorant of the cause, he urged them to come near. He held out to them the pledge of God's reconciliation, and assured them of His restored favor. They perceived in his voice nothing but love and entreaty, and at last one ventured to approach him. Too awed to speak, he silently pointed to the countenance of Moses, and then toward heaven. The great leader understood his meaning. In their conscious guilt, feeling themselves still under the divine displeasure, they could not endure the heavenly light, which, had they been obedient to God, would have filled them with joy. There is fear in guilt. The soul that is free from sin will not wish to hide from the light of heaven. {PP 329.5}

Where does fear of God originate? In our guilt, in our misunderstanding of Him, on our self-condemnation we project our own self-dissatisfaction onto God and believe Him to be of the same selfish character as we are.

In other words, unremedied sin is the source of fear. God is love!

After Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid why? Where did their fear originate? Where was the source of their fear? Was God being terrifying? Was He threatening? Yet they were still terrified? Why?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “Biblical prophets...” thoughts? What would you say to someone who presents God in this light?

What does God destroy? Sin, pain, suffering, selfishness, death, the grave, lies. How?

Truth destroys lies
Health destroys disease pain and suffering
Life destroys death
Love destroys selfishness

So how does God destroy? By being Himself, the source of truth, love and life!

Read third paragraph, “The Lord sustains...” thoughts? Does the Lord desolate the earth or is the earth desolate because the Lord let’s go and allows Satan to have his way?

Why does the earth lay bare for 1000 years? Because the Lord and all those in whom the Spirit of the Lord dwell are gone and Satan has full control of the planet!

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 2-5

Brad Cole posted this on an online forum recently:

“A choice is made to come to God or to turn away from God. Those who turn away are united to the ways of Satan's kingdom which is selfish and violent to the core. Since sin entered the universe, God has been restraining the winds of destruction for humans and even for rebellious angels - giving rain to the righteous and the unrighteous. When all "rebels" are finally and fully left to their own ways, unrestrained by God's loving protection, there is violence, death and destruction. Separation from God does lead to death - Sin leads to death. EGW describes this chaos as breaking out, "His power is at an end. The wicked are filled with the same hatred of God that inspires Satan; but they see that their case is hopeless, that they cannot prevail against Jehovah. Their rage is kindled against Satan and those who have been his agents in deception and with the fury of demons they turn upon them." (GC pg. 671-2). She then quotes Ezekiel 28..."they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness. They shall bring thee down to the pit." And then she quotes Isaiah 9:5, "Every battle of the warrior is with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood..." So, there is God's fire, but there is also another fire at work. The passages I quoted in Revelation suggests to me that we are missing something to our picture of things if we don't also incorporate this aspect. For me, this view of the end does not support Satan's original claim that sin does not lead to death.”

Lesson 4: Lord of All Nations (Amos)

SABBATH

⁸ The lion hath roared! Who will not fear? The Lord GOD hath spoken! Who can but prophesy?
⁹ Proclaim in the palaces at Ashdod and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, “Assemble yourselves upon the mountains of Samaria, and behold the great tumults in the midst thereof and the oppressed in the midst thereof. ¹⁰ For they know not to do right,” saith the LORD, “who store up violence and robbery in their palaces.”

Key Thought: “Acts of inhumanity are sins against God and will be judged accordingly.”

 Which filter are we going to view this lesson with?? God angry because his imposed law has been broken, therefore, needing to punish his children in order to maintain order and holiness?? OR A parent concerned over the path chosen by His children that will ultimately lead to their destruction??
**

SUNDAY

Crimes against Humanity

In Amos 1, 2 some of the crimes listed are: Human trafficking, perpetual anger, killing pregnant women, dishonoring a treaty, disrespect of the dead, taking bribes, dishonesty, AND, in Amos 2:4,

“Thus saith the LORD: “For three transgressions of Judah, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof, because they have despised the law of the LORD, and have not kept His commandments; and their lies caused them to err, after which their fathers have walked.”

Did they despise the imposed law, or the Natural Law, the Law of Life itself??

At the end of the 3rd paragraph, the lesson states, “From God’s perspective, the person who assists and supports a crime, is as guilty as the person who commits it.” Any thoughts?? Is this correct?? Do we have any scripture to support or refute this statement?? Does it matter which filter we use??
Matt. 18: 5-7.

⁵ And whoso shall receive one such little child in My name, receiveth Me. ⁶ But whoso shall cause one of these little ones who believe in Me to fall, it were better for him that a millstone were hung about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. ⁷ “Woe unto the world because of offenses! For it must happen that offenses come, but woe to that man by whom the offense cometh.

Consider this scenario: Two men in a moving van stop to ask you for directions to a specific address. You give them detailed directions and go on about your day. The following day, you see a news story that the people who live at that address were robbed of everything they own. You assisted the crime. Now what??

The 4th paragraph starts with, “ Because God is all-sovereign, He holds the destiny of all the world in His hands.” Is this correct?? Any scripture to support or refute?? Which Law construct was this statement made from?? Did God hold Lucifer’s destiny in His hands? Is there anyone, whose destiny, God does not hold in His hands?? Mine and Yours. He doesn’t make our choices for us.

I think the author is trying to say that eventually, God’s Will will be done on earth, “as it is in Heaven.” We have the choice to accept or reject. We have the power to accelerate or decelerate this process.

MONDAY

Justice for the oppressed

Is God a Socialist? Is the lesson’s author one?? What does “Social Justice” mean?? We hear a lot about it these days from political figures, who should remain nameless. Does God’s view about social justice differ from humanity’s??

In many cases means which should be devoted to the missionary work is diverted into other channels, from mistaken ideas of benevolence. We may err in making gifts to the poor which are not a blessing to them, leading them to feel that they need not exert themselves and practice economy, for others will not permit them to suffer. We should not give countenance to indolence, or encourage habits of self-gratification by affording means for indulgence. While the worthy poor are not to be neglected, all should be taught, so far as possible, to help themselves. {CS 166.1}

There are two classes of poor whom we have always within our borders—those who ruin themselves by their own independent course of action and continue in their transgression, and those who for the truth’s sake have been brought into straitened circumstances. {4MR 134}

In the 4th paragraph, the lesson states, “The Bible clearly teaches that social justice should be a natural product of the gospel.” I couldn’t agree more. Note: Natural product – Natural Law. Does it matter which Gospel??

TUESDAY

The Peril of Privilege

Are there any parallels between the Israel of Amos’ day, and present day SDA’s?? What privileges do we have in common??

Education, Higher socio-economic status, A unique understanding of scripture, Waiting on a messiah [1st vs 2nd advent], Knowledge of health laws.

Are SDA's honest in all of their financial dealings? Do we care for our worthy poor? Have we robbed God? Have we grown fat and lazy, like Sodom?

Read Luke 12: 43-51.

⁴³ Blessed is that servant whom his lord, when he cometh, shall find so doing. ⁴⁴ In truth I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath. ⁴⁵ But if that servant say in his heart, 'My lord delayeth his coming,' and shall begin to beat the menservants and maidens, and to eat and drink and be drunken, ⁴⁶ the lord of that servant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him asunder and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. ⁴⁷ And that servant, who knew his lord's will and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. ⁴⁸ But he that knew not and committed things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required; and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more. ⁴⁹ "I am come to send fire on the earth, and what will I, if it be already kindled? ⁵⁰ But I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how I am straitened till it be accomplished! ⁵¹ Suppose ye that I have come to give peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather division.

Is, as the lesson asserts, the principle taught, by our Savior: "when great privileges in life are abused, they will be replaced by great penalties"? Is this what really happens, first of all, and if so, why??

"God speaks to his people in blessings bestowed; and when these are not appreciated, he speaks to them in blessings removed, that they may be led to see their sins, and return to Him with all the heart." PP 470.

WEDNESDAY

Israel's Rendezvous with God

Read Ex. 20: 18,19.

¹⁸ And all the people saw the thunderings and the lightnings, and the noise of the trumpet and the mountain smoking; and when the people saw it, they removed and stood afar off. ¹⁹ And they said unto Moses, "Speak thou with us and we will hear; but let not God speak with us, lest we die."

This was the first experience of Israel "meeting their God". What caused the fear?? Was Israel afraid of "meeting their God" in Amos' day?? Was there, perhaps a memory of that first meeting, passed down from generation to generation??

In the 3rd paragraph, the lesson states, “The people of Israel did not behave like normal people anymore, and God found it impossible to get their attention. Moreover, God’s judgments had resulted in the hardening of the people’s hearts.”

Any thoughts?

Refer to PP 470 above for some insight.

More insight. 19MR 181.1 (Manuscript Releases Volume Nineteen [Nos. 1360-1419])

Why were the eyes of the people blinded, and their hearts hardened? As they listened to Christ’s words and witnessed His miracles, they were convinced of His divinity. The Spirit of God impressed their hearts, leading them to say, This is indeed the Messiah, the One for whom we have looked, the Desire of all nations. But they hardened their hearts, and refused to accept Him. To a great degree, the priests and rulers were responsible for the people turning away from the truth to the maxims of men. And today the preachers of the people are following the footsteps of the priests and elders of the Jewish nation. When conviction is trampled on, the light that has shone into the chambers of the mind grows dim, and the darkness of error takes the place of the bright beams of the Sun of Righteousness.

RH September 14, 1905, par. 7 (The Review and Herald)

Often the professed followers of Christ are found with hearts hardened and eyes blinded, because they do not obey the truth. Selfish motives and purposes take possession of the mind. In their self-confidence they suppose that their way is the way of wisdom. They are not particular to follow exactly the path that God has marked out. They declare that circumstances alter cases, and when Satan tempts them to follow worldly principles, they yield, and, making crooked paths for their feet, they lead others astray. The inexperienced follow where they go, supposing that the judgment of Christians so experienced must be wise.

CT 364.2 (Counsels to Parents, Teachers, and Students)

Let me tell you what I know of this heavenly Guest. The Holy Spirit was brooding over the youth during the school hours; but some hearts were so cold and dark that they had no desire for the Spirit’s presence, and the light of God was withdrawn. The heavenly Visitant would have opened the understanding, would have given wisdom and knowledge in all lines of study that could be employed to the glory of God. He came to convince of sin and to soften the hearts hardened by long estrangement from God. He came to reveal the great love wherewith God has loved these youth....

ST November 5, 1896, par. 10 (The Signs of the Times)

The Holy Spirit comes to convince of sin, and to soften hearts hardened by estrangement from God. It comes to reveal the love wherewith God loves us, and the possibilities that open before every believing child of God. But are not some afraid of this heavenly guest? At times it comes with an all-pervading influence, but is it received? Do those to whom it comes bow before God with contrite hearts, pleading that they may be prepared to receive the blessings he is presenting to them? I entreat of all to receive this heavenly visitant as an abiding guest; for it will guide you into all truth, and give you joy and peace in the Lord.

What do the above passages tell us about who bears the responsibility of hardened hearts?? What do they tell us about God's relationship to hardened hearts??

Let's be very clear on this: Whether it's blessings given or removed, whether it's discipline given or protection from Satan's decided attacks on us, EVERY THING GOD DOES IS A REVELATION OF HIS LOVE FOR HUMANITY. Even "God's wrath" of LETTING THEM GO at the time of the final judgment is a revelation of God's love.

THURSDAY

The Pride that Leads to a Fall

This focuses on the book of Obadiah, and his prophecies regarding Edom [Esau's descendants]. Certainly, the Edomites treated their blood relatives poorly, and the lesson states, "Edom will drink God's cup of wrath, while the fortunes of God's people will be restored." Edom's "kicking Israel while they were down" is a revelation of character, of rejecting the Law of Life.

My question, regarding pride leading to a fall, is: Are SDA's proud of their day of worship, their education system, their health message, their diets, their knowledge of Scripture, especially prophetic Scripture?? Was there another group on Earth with these privileges that completely missed God's 1st Advent?? Are we in danger of missing the 2nd Advent due to misunderstanding God's character, and His Law, which is based on His character of Love??

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 5 2Q 2013

Seek the Lord and Live! (Amos)

SABBATH

Read memory text, “Seek good and not evil, that you may live: and thus may the Lord God of hosts be with you, just as you have said!” (Amos 5:14 NASB)

Thoughts?

What is the relationship between seeking good, not evil, and living?

What are the options?

- Is it speaking of temporal life or eternal life, or both?
- Is it speaking of natural consequences, live healthy and live longer?
- Is it speaking of imposed penalties, do right or else government will execute you?
- Is it speaking of the law of love and its protocols upon which life is built?

What does seeking good and subsequent life have to do with God being with them? Is there a connection that ties goodness, life and God together?

Read last paragraph, “This week, as we continue...” do you agree God is the only true Source of life? Then, what is connection between good, life and being together with God?

What is the reason for death? If death results from being separated from God, from being evil, deviant from God and his design, from failing to be reconciled to Him, then is what Jesus and the Bible writers called “sleep” in the grave, i.e. first death, awaiting resurrection a result of separation from God?

When Jesus surrendered his spirit into the Father’s care – was Jesus spirit separated from God, or safe and secure with God?

Remember this quote from one of the founders of our church?

Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. {6BC 1093.2}

Does this sound like one is separated from God in the “first” death or the “sleep” death?

There would be no death of any kind if there were no sin, however, it seems the first death it is an artificial state permitted by God's grace to allow for salvation. Death, that is the full consequence of unremedied sin, happens after the "judgment" and is the condition in which body, psyche, mind, character, soul, spirit etc. are all eternally destroyed, and from which no one ever rises again.

Thoughts?

SUNDAY

Read second paragraph, "The purpose of the funeral song..." thoughts?

Return to the Lord and they would live – thoughts? For how long would they live if they return to the Lord? Of those who returned to the Lord, and there were a faithful remnant, how many of them lived – are alive today?

Did those who rejected the Lord and those who remained faithful all go into the grave? So, what does it mean return to the Lord and live if they all in fact died?

Could it be talking about death that is the wages of sin, and not temporary sleep in the grave?

Jesus said: "I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in me will live, even though he dies; and whoever lives and believes in me will never die. Do you believe this?" (Jn 11:25,26)

Thoughts? How do you understand this text? How is it if we believe in Jesus we never die? Did the Apostles believe in Jesus?

What is death? What causes it, first death, second death etc. and most importantly what is God's involvement in death?

To review - If there were no sin there would be no death of any kind!

First point – all death is a result of sin.

But, are the first death and second death the same? First death is sleep, a state in which our identity and individuality is safe with Christ in heaven, awaiting resurrection, and second death is the complete separation from God, the total destruction of body, individuality, mind, character, spirit and soul – nothing left for all eternity and no resurrection.

If the wages of sin is second death, then why is there a first death?

Keeping those two states in mind, what do you make of these texts:

- As for you, you were dead in your transgressions and sins, in which you used to live when you followed the ways of this world and of the ruler of the kingdom of the air... Eph 2:1,2
 - What does this mean?
 - Condemned by a supreme dictator to be executed, under an imposed death sentence
 - Or, your condition was terminal, like a person who was exposed to toxic doses of radiation – dead, but not quite yet?
- You, however, are controlled not by the sinful nature but by the Spirit, if the Spirit of God lives in you. And if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Christ. But if Christ is in you, your body is dead because of sin, yet your spirit is alive because of righteousness. Rom 8:9,10
 - What does this sound like, an imposed death sentence, or a terminal condition?
- When you were dead in your sins and in the uncircumcision of your sinful nature, God made you alive with Christ. He forgave us all our sins, having canceled the written code, with its regulations, that was against us and that stood opposed to us; he took it away, nailing it to the cross. Col 2:13,14
 - What does this mean? How do you hear it?
 - Here is my paraphrase of this text:
When your condition was terminal and selfishness reigned unchecked in your mind and your heart was tied to the destructive cravings and practices of the world, God intervened and brought you the life giving remedy – Jesus Christ. He reclaimed you from your terminal condition, nullifying the pathology report which certified you as dead in sin; he made it clear the written code, with its regulations, was only a diagnostic instrument designed to expose our terminal state and teach us the need for a true cure; he nailed it to the cross.
- But the widow who lives for pleasure is dead even while she lives. 1Tim 5:6
 - What does this mean?
 - Dead and alive at the same time?
 - Does the Bible have difficulty because of the limitation of the human language?
 - So in this case, she remains terminal, in a condition which will die eternally, even though she has not yet died eternally.
- Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life, but whoever rejects the Son will not see life... John 3:36
 - What does this mean?
 - Are they not alive?

Here are some quotes, do they have any insight we can use?

- God is the fountain of life, and we can have life only as we are in communion with Him. Separated from God, existence may be ours for a little time, but we do not possess life.

"She that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth." 1 Timothy 5:6. Only through the surrender of our will to God is it possible for Him to impart life to us... {MB 61.2}

If you cling to self, refusing to yield your will to God, you are choosing death. To sin, wherever found, God is a consuming fire. If you choose sin, and refuse to separate from it, the presence of God, which consumes sin, must consume you. {MB 62.1}

- What do you understand this to mean?
 - What is the cause of death?
 - Is sleep in the grave the death of sin?
 - What is God's role in death?
- Adam could not transmit to his posterity that which he did not possess; and there could have been no hope for the fallen race had not God, by the sacrifice of His Son, brought immortality within their reach. While "death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned," Christ "hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." Romans 5:12; 2 Timothy 1:10. And only through Christ can immortality be obtained. {Darkness before Dawn 14.3}
 - What does this sound like?
 - Does death here sound like an imposed penalty by God who must execute the disobedient, or a terminal condition which Christ came to cure?
 - The Saviour saw that man has vast powers and capabilities for good, which can be used in the upbuilding of God's kingdom. He came to restore to life those dead in sin. His voice is to be heard saying, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead." "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath He given to the Son to have life in himself."

To arouse those spiritually dead, to create new tastes, new motives, requires as great an outlay of power as to raise one from physical death. It is indeed giving life to the dead to convert the sinner from the error of his ways; but our Deliverer is able to do this; for He came to destroy the works of the enemy. And will He not accomplish that which He has pledged himself to perform? {RH, March 12, 1901}

 - What is death?
 - Is death a punishment inflicted by God or a result of sin, being deviant from God's design?
 - What is God doing in regard to death? Seeking to heal and restore!
 - Man is dead, without God, and without hope in the world. But over the rent sepulcher of Joseph, Christ proclaimed, "I am the resurrection and the life." Not only will all who are in the graves hear His voice and come forth, He is today the Restorer of those dead in sin. Today Jesus is working His miracles. The great Physician stands by the side of the faithful worker, saying to the repentant, discouraged soul, "Son, thy sins be forgiven thee." {ST, June 6, 1900 par. 12}
 - What does it mean we are dead without God?
 - What is the cause of death?
 - Selfishness brings spiritual death. {8T 135.3}
 - What is spiritual death?

- Having a character and mind that is out of harmony with God
- Being in a terminal condition, dead in trespass and sin
- What does spiritual death result in if unremedied?
 - Eternal death and destruction of body, mind, spirit etc.
- The polluted stream represents the soul that is separate from God. Sin not only shuts away from God, but destroys in the human soul both the desire and the capacity for knowing Him. Through sin, the whole human organism is deranged, the mind is perverted, the imagination corrupted; the faculties of the soul are degraded. {PK 233.1}
 - What is the cause of death?
- God does not stand toward the sinner as an executioner of the sentence against transgression; but he leaves the rejecters of his mercy to themselves, to reap that which they have sown. Every ray of light rejected, every warning despised or unheeded, every passion indulged, every transgression of the law of God, is a seed sown, which yields its unfailing harvest. The Spirit of God, persistently resisted, is at last withdrawn from the sinner, and then there is left no power to control the evil passions of the soul, and no protection from the malice and enmity of Satan. {GC88 36.2}
 - What is God's role in the death of the wicked?
 - Why does God NOT have to execute sinners?
 - Is this really that hard to understand?
 - Why is it then that so many teach God inflicts torture and death as punishment?
 - Because they have accepted Rome's view of God's law that it is imposed and therefore justice requires imposed penalties.
 - Do you notice all of these texts and quotes make sense when we realize the truth that God's law is the protocol upon which life is built, the living expression of love.

The lesson points out in the third paragraph that God calls the people to hate evil and love good, "In other words, a change in the people's attitudes will lead to a change in their actions."

Thoughts? This is well said – a change in the attitudes – how do we experience that?

- A revival and a reformation must take place under the ministration of the Holy Spirit. Revival and reformation are two different things. Revival signifies a renewal of spiritual life, a quickening of the powers of mind and heart, a resurrection from the spiritual death. Reformation signifies a reorganization, a change in ideas and theories, habits and practices. Reformation will not bring forth the good fruit of righteousness unless it is connected with the revival of the Spirit. Revival and reformation are to do their appointed work, and in doing this work they must blend.-- Review and Herald, Feb. 25, 1902. {ChS 42.2}

Revival – to revive – to bring back to life – to resurrect – to renew... and from where does such new life come?

When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 3:11.4}

We become partakers of the divine nature as we surrender to Christ and the Holy Spirit takes what Christ has achieved and recreates us in His image!

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “More than most other...” thoughts?

What are some examples of empty rituals and dead formalism that Israel practiced?

- Sacrifices
- Ceremonial washing (they criticized Christ’s disciples for eating without washing their hands)
- Sabbath observance
- Prayers
- Offerings
- Feast days

Was there anything wrong with the actual action? What was the problem?

They did it without meaning, their hearts and minds were not changed, they acted without thought, without intention, without understanding, without love. Doing it from fear, from mystical and magical thinking, from the idea that it was a requirement.

Do we have any of these problems in Christianity today? Examples?

- Dress
- Church attendance
- Diet
- Prayer
- Offerings
- Communion
- Baptism
- Sinner’s prayer

Is there anything inherently wrong with any of these actions? Where would the problem be? In the heart motive.

Is there a central root lie that, if believed, would contaminate all of our behaviors and spiritual exercises? Yes, the lie about God's character, government, methods and law.

If we believe God imposes law and therefore God imposes punishment, then what is the reason we do what we do? And then we fall into dead formalism and empty ritual.

WEDNESDAY

Read first chapter, "In Amos 8, the prophet..." thoughts?

How do you understand what is happening between God and Israel at this time in history?

First – the famine of the land, not the famine for God's Word – what are the possible reasons?

- Nature falling apart, just random forces
- God withdrawing protection and Satan acting to cause famine
- God acting to cause the famine by holding back rain
 - God inflicting punishment upon them for not doing what He said?
 - God therapeutically intervening to reveal the impotence of their false God's and shake them out of their false beliefs?

Second – what about the famine for God's Word – why? What are the possible reasons?

- God is withholding the truth about Himself
- The truth is revealed, but the hearts of people are hard and reject it
- Consider the parable of the sower and the seed falling on the path and stony ground.

Why do people insist on depicting God as one who inflicts pain and suffering on His children?

Do loving parents ever give their children vaccines? Or discipline? What if such acts were never understood as loving interventions to protect and teach, but instead were always cast as evidences of inflictions of punishment?

Bottom pink asks, "In what ways is it possible to silence the voice of God in our lives?" Thoughts?

- Rejection of truth
- Preference for lies
- Continued, willful, persistent, unrepentant sinfulness – damages the faculties that recognize and respond to truth
- Alcohol, drugs – damage the mind
- Certain entertainments, fill mind with distorted ideas, activate unhealthy brain circuits
- Refusal to help others

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, “Our standing before God...” thoughts?

What does this mean? That we are saved by knowledge? Or that we are saved by having a healed character, by having the law of love restored in us so that we love God and others more than self?

Then, what is the point of evangelism?

What breaks the circle of love and trust and incites fear and selfishness? Lies, and lies about God are most destructive.

So, what sets free? Truth, therefore, evangelism is to spread the truth about God, and His kingdom, to provide greater opportunity for people to embrace the truth and experience healing of heart and mind.

It is true that the Holy Spirit works to enlighten everyone, through whatever truth is available to each person. If someone doesn't have Scripture, God uses science and nature, or personal experiences, or people, or circumstances.

But, while each avenue of evidence, Scripture, Science, Experience, can be used by God to bring people to a saving relationship with Him, it is easier for Satan to confound and confuse the evidence if the three threads are separated from each other.

How many times have well meaning people, come to a group who didn't have Scripture, but who had been following the Holy Spirit with the light they had, and then used the Scripture, separated from science and experience to lead them away from God?

When the Jews came to the Gentiles and demanded circumcision, and other formalism, they had the Scripture – but were they using it to lead people closer to God? Are we ever in danger of doing this?

- Those whom Christ commends in the judgment may have known little of theology, but they have cherished His principles. Through the influence of the divine Spirit they have been a blessing to those about them. Even among the heathen are those who have cherished the spirit of kindness; before the words of life had fallen upon their ears, they have befriended the missionaries, even ministering to them at the peril of their own lives. Among the heathen are those who worship God ignorantly, those to whom the light is never brought by human instrumentality, yet they will not perish. Though ignorant of the written law of God, they have heard His voice speaking to them in nature, and have done the things that the law required. Their works are evidence that the Holy Spirit has touched their hearts, and they are recognized as the children of God. {DA 638.2}

Read question 1 – thoughts? What things that were considered shameful and taboo and are now practiced and deemed good?

- Scripture being read and studied by lay persons in their own language?
- Women's ordination?
- People deciding where to give their tithes and offerings to support the gospel rather than allow church hierarchy to decide?
- Homosexuals being treated with compassion rather than stoning?

Read and discuss question 2

TUESDAY

The second paragraph states, "Among those who did not like Amos' preaching was Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, who accused Amos of conspiracy against Israel's king."

Why would the priest oppose the message from God? Shouldn't we expect the priest to support messages from God?

If the person was a priest, doesn't that mean they are anointed of God, or as some might say, "God's anointed"? So shouldn't people defer to the priest?

Are there any lessons for us today? If someone is ordained, pastor or priest does that mean they, necessarily, will be on God's side and support truth from God's messengers?

So how do we handle a situation when a pastor or priest opposes truth as we understand it?

How did David treat king Saul? Did David cooperate with king Saul's agenda? Did David seek to harm king Saul? Did David follow God's will for his life despite the anointed of the Lord opposing him?

Is there a lesson here?

Read last paragraph, "However, speaking the truth..." thoughts?

When this happens in the church today what is it called? Those speaking the uncomfortable truth are often accused of teaching heresy.

As the light and life of men was rejected by the ecclesiastical authorities in the days of Christ, so it has been rejected in every succeeding generation. Again and again the history of Christ's withdrawal from Judea has been repeated. When the Reformers preached the word of God, they had no thought of separating themselves from the established church; but the religious leaders would not tolerate the light, and those that bore it were forced to seek another class, who were longing for the truth. In our day few of the professed followers of the Reformers are actuated by their spirit. Few are listening for the voice of God, and ready to accept truth in whatever guise it may be presented. Often those who follow in the steps of the Reformers are forced to turn away from the churches they love, in order to declare the plain teaching of the word of God. And many times those who are seeking for light are by the same teaching obliged to leave the church of their fathers, that they may render obedience. {DA 232.2}

Read first paragraph, “The prophet turns...” thoughts?

Any confusion?

What is the “punishment” for sin? Eternal death – so if God is inflicting the punishment for sin, which is eternal death, then how can he, after inflicting this, turn and save?

So, what is the problem? Describing the punishment from sin as coming from God, and failing to describes God’s actions as interventions to heal and save.

Read Amos 9:11,12:

“In that day I will restore David’s fallen tent. I will repair its broken places, restore its ruins, and build it as it used to be, so that they may possess the remnant of Edom and all the nations that bear my name,” declares the LORD, who will do these things.

Read fourth and fifth paragraphs, “Many Jewish teachers...” thoughts?

Do you agree? The Messiah was coming to save all people, not just Jews! If so, then what was the purpose of the Jewish nation?

Major Lessons from Minor Prophets Lesson 6 2Q 2013

Eager to Forgive (Jonah)

SABBATH

Read key thought: “The book of Jonah reveals, among other things, that God is more willing to forgive others than we often are.”

Thoughts about this?

Does it almost sound like God is willing to forgive – but not always willing, just more willing than us most of the time?

How do you understand forgiveness? What is it?

Is forgiveness and legal pardon the same? Do you get a different definition and understanding of forgiveness depending on which law, imposed or nature, you look through?

Have you been taught God forgives us?

Have you ever heard Jesus paid our sin penalty?

Is that confusing? If you owed someone $10,000 and couldn't pay, and your brother stepped up and paid your $10,000 debt, what would you think if the person to whom the money was paid, after receiving the money looked at you and said, “Now that your debt has been paid, I forgive you your debt.” How does that sound to you?

Do you notice many Christian theories put God in such a position – Jesus died to pay our debt, yet the Father forgives us our debt.... Something doesn't quite seem right does it? What is wrong with this picture?

What about Heb 9:22:

- In fact, the law requires that nearly everything be cleansed with blood, and without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness. (NIV)
- And according to the law, I may almost say, all things are cleansed with blood, and apart from shedding of blood there is no remission. (ASV)

Which do you like better? According to the lexicon the Greek translated either forgiveness or remission is:

ἄφεσις [aphesis /af-es-is/] n f. From 863; TDNT 1:509; TDNTA 88; GK 912; 17 occurrences; AV translates as “remission” nine times, “forgiveness” six times, “deliverance” once, and

“liberty” once. 1 release from bondage or imprisonment. 2 forgiveness or pardon, of sins (letting them go as if they had never been committed), remission of the penalty.¹

So since it can be either, what makes the difference?

The law lens one looks through: If one looks through the imposed law then one sees legal payments, debts that need paid and thus forgiveness or pardon, but if one looks through the natural law, then one sees healing, or remission.

If someone has cancer we want the cancer to go into remission – to remit to their precancerous state. In regard to sin in our lives what do we want, mere pardon, or to have sin remit, have our characters healed and cleanse?

God forgives from his heart, without the death of Christ, but it took the death of Christ to have sin remit, to cleanse us to actually heal us.

Here is what one of the founders of our church wrote:

But forgiveness has a broader meaning than many suppose. When God gives the promise that He "will abundantly pardon," He adds, as if the meaning of that promise exceeded all that we could comprehend: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways My ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts." Isaiah 55:7-9. God's forgiveness is not merely a judicial act by which He sets us free from condemnation. It is not only forgiveness for sin, but reclaiming from sin. It is the outflow of redeeming love that transforms the heart. David had the true conception of forgiveness when he prayed, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." Psalm 51:10. And again he says, "As far as the east is from the west, so far hath He removed our transgressions from us." Psalm 103:12. {MB 114.1}

Thoughts?

Then how do we understand 1John 1:9:

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness.

Is it like the first paragraph suggests, Jonah “suspected that these non-Hebrew people might repent of their sins and that God would forgive them.”

What about the idea the people might repent and God would forgive them?

What comes first, our repentance, or God’s forgiveness?

If we don't repent does God have a heart of forgiveness or unforgiveness?

So, are those who don't repent forgiven or unforgiven?

It depends upon which law lens and upon whose heart you are looking – the unrepentant are forgiven in the heart of God, but they remain unforgiven, i.e. unhealed, in their heart because they never received the forgiveness freely extended by God.

Consider those who crucified Christ – he forgave them, yet they remained his enemies; they weren't forgiven in their hearts, even though they were forgiven in God's heart.

This is critical to consider. The heart of paganism, and false Christianity, is that God doesn't forgive until some legal payment happens, Christ's blood, and then not until we repent. This is all a lie. God forgave us and thus sent Christ to lead us back to Him, but many refuse to repent. God's heart remains forgiving, but they remain terminal and unhealed.

Thoughts?

SUNDAY

Read second paragraph, "Nineveh was historically..." thoughts?

Would it help or hurt if we changed it to say instead of "Because God is the Lord of all nations and all people are accountable to Him..." to "Because God is the Lord of all nations and He loves all people..."?

What does the accountable to Him seem to focus on? What kind of ideas or feelings does this description engender?

Does it enhance your desire to be with God?

Remember the analogy of breaking both the laws of health and the government by doing IV heroin and getting endocarditis – do you want to go before the judge knowing he will hold you accountable? Do you want to go to the doctor? What makes the difference?

How do we portray God as a judge or doctor?

Which law is actually more powerful and uncompromising the law used by the judge or the law used by the doctor?

Read fifth paragraph, "Jonah ran from God..." thoughts?

Why do people run from God?

- Fear
- Guilt and shame
- Feel unworthy
- Believe lies about God
- Don't recognize a need
- Don't trust Him, He might want them to do something like go to Nineveh
- Don't want to give up some earthly pleasure
- Other?

What do you think of this rhetorical question, “After all, if there is no higher power to answer to, why not do whatever you want?”

What does this question imply?

What is the reason for doing right and avoiding wrong? Not because sin is inherently evil, not because sin damages, but because one must answer to God. And what if there were no God? Then, according to this logic, there is no reason not to do bad stuff because there isn't anyone ultimately to answer to.

So, if God could only get a grip on his anger and wrath, we could live fine for all eternity in sin, because there isn't anything wrong with sin there is something wrong with God – this is SATANs argument and position.

Why don't we do whatever we want? The ceremonial laws were done away with at the Cross so why don't we eat whatever we want? Because the laws of health were not done away with.

The reason we do not do whatever we want is because selfishness violates God's design for life, his law, and automatically damages the sinner, sears the conscience, warps the character and leads to fear, anxiety, inflammatory states and ultimately ruined relationships, health and death. Sin is incompatible with the way God constructed life to operate.

But this question makes it sound like if we could just get God out of the way then we could do whatever we want. And many theologies are based on this very thing –

- Jesus is my substitute, all my sins past present and future are laid on him and he stands before the Father and takes the punishment for me.
- Or, Jesus pleads his blood to the Father in my behalf,
- or Jesus hides me with his robe of righteousness –

In other words, all these theologies are designed to take God out of the picture because we believe falsely that if He was in the picture He would strike out against us. This is Satan's view based on imposed law constructs.

Bottom pink section states, “We believe that God not only sees all that we do but knows ever our thoughts... How differently would you act if, at all times, you were keenly sensitive to the fact that God does know your every thought?”

Thoughts?

Is this a comforting or disturbing thought?

Does it depend on the kind of being you understand God to be?

If one views God as a God of stern justice, who must impose punishment for disobedience, what would likely be the response of realizing God reads all of our thoughts?

What if one viewed God as the Creator, who built his universe to operate upon the law of love, and doesn't ever inflict punishment, but is constantly seeking to heal and restore all deviations from his design for life back into harmony for our good and happiness?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "In Jonah 1..." thoughts?

What do you think of the idea of casting lots? Doesn't this passage give us a clear Biblical example of using lots? The Bible said it, I believe it, that's all there is to it – right or wrong?

In what ways are lots used today?

- Coin toss
- Drawing straws
- Opening Bible randomly and pointing finger in and believing it is a message from God
- Paper with yes and no on either side and drop it
- Dice
- Rock paper scissors
- Magic 8 ball

Casting lots and these other methods are a form of divination – a form of trying to determine answers without use of reason or investigation of evidence. This is the same root method of spiritualism –

- Ouija board
- Tarot cards
- Palm reading
- Astrology

All trying to get knowledge, answers, without using their reasoning powers and/or investigating the evidence, and without using their God-given individuality in self-determination.

These methods seek to turn off the higher faculties and surrender one's responsibility to some other party or method.

Here is what one of our founders said:

Let none be led from the sound, sensible principles that God has laid down for the guidance of His people, to depend for direction on any such device as the tossing up of a coin. Such a course is well pleasing to the enemy of souls; for he works to control the coin, and through its agency works out his plans. Let none be so easily deceived as to place confidence in any such tests. Let none belittle their experience by resorting to cheap devices for direction in important matters connected with the work of God. {6BC 1054.7}

The Lord works in no haphazard way. Seek Him most earnestly in prayer. He will impress the mind, and will give tongue and utterance. The people of God are to be educated not to trust in human inventions and uncertain tests as a means of learning God's will concerning them. Satan and his agencies are always ready to step into any opening to be found that will lead souls away from the pure principles of the Word of God. The people who are led and taught of God will give no place to devisings for which there is not a "Thus saith the Lord" (SpT, Ser. B, No. 17, p. 28). {6BC 1054.8}

I have no faith in casting lots. We have in the Bible a plain "Thus saith the Lord" in regard to all church duties. . . . Read your Bibles with much prayer. Do not try to humble others, but humble yourselves before God, and deal gently with one another. To cast lots for the officers of the church is not in God's order (Letter 37, 1900). {6BD 1054.9}

Thoughts?

TUESDAY

The lesson points out that in Jonah chapter 2 Jonah celebrates deliverance from the perilous depths.

Many stories in the Bible are recorded there because they not only have historical context, but also are themselves metaphors of God's plan of redemption.

- The children of Israel in bondage in Egypt, metaphor for humans in bondage to sin.
- Moses a deliverer, represents Christ our deliverer etc. etc.
- Manna from heaven represents Jesus, the bread of life
- All the miracle births representing Jesus:
 1. Sarah- Isaac – Mount Moriah willing to be sacrificed
 2. Rebekah – Jacob – who became Israel the father of the nation built upon twelve sons, Jesus the cornerstone of the church built upon twelve apostles
 3. Rachel – Joseph – who sold into slavery (becomes a servant), became ruler to save people from famine, Jesus humbled himself to be a servant but is exalted to be ruler
 4. Monoah's wife – Samson – blessed with strength to deliver Israel from bondage of oppressors and rule over them, Jesus has the strength to deliver us from sin and rule the universe
 5. Hannah- Samuel – who became High Priest, Jesus is our High Priest
 6. Shunammite woman – child died and resurrected, of course Jesus died and rose again

7. Elizabeth – John the Baptist – who greatest of prophets, and Jesus was the greatest of all prophets

What about Jonah any application of his experience to a larger reality?

- Called by God
- Ignore God's call and does own thing
- Experiences storms of life
- Tries to hide from reality
- Reality finds him/you anyway
- Find self sinking into the depths out of control
- God steps in to help, to deliver, but perhaps seen as terrifying and destructive, being consumed or destroyed, but God carries you through the dark days where you languish in reflection
- Leads to repentance
- God returns one to self-governance, autonomy, puts you back on mission for Him

Thoughts?

Has anyone gone through experiences in which difficulties brought them closer to God?

WEDNESDAY

Read Jonah 3:1-5:

Then the word of the Lord came to Jonah a second time: ²“Go to the great city of Nineveh and proclaim to it the message I give you.”

³Jonah obeyed the word of the Lord and went to Nineveh. Now Nineveh was a very important city—a visit required three days. ⁴On the first day, Jonah started into the city. He proclaimed: “Forty more days and Nineveh will be overturned.” ⁵The Ninevites believed God. They declared a fast, and all of them, from the greatest to the least, put on sackcloth.

Thoughts?

What do you think of this evangelistic style? Why do you think it worked?

Do you think the preaching was accompanied by the work of the Holy Spirit which brings conviction of sin?

When the Ninevites repented, do we have any record of them engaging in sacrifice?

How is it God was able to turn from his anger, from their destruction when no sacrifice was offered, no blood, no animal, no temple service, no atonement service?

Where did their sin go? Didn't their sin have to be placed on a lamb, and then that sin be transferred to the sanctuary and then at the end of the year have that sin removed by a special service?

What does this story tell us about some of the things we have been taught or assume regarding how sin is dealt with by God?

Were animal sacrifices necessary for salvation, even in OT times? What was necessary in all times?

Repentance, change of heart, turning away from selfishness and opening the heart to God to heal and restore in love and righteousness.

What did the Ninevites do? They repented and turned away from evil.

Why do so many get caught up into ritualistic religions and fail to see the real matter, what is the condition and quality of the heart/character?

How many religious wars are started over transformation of character, in other words people fighting because those people are too kind, patient, generous, loving, meek, self-controlled etc.?

How many religious wars were fought over rituals, rites, and theological ideas? It doesn't matter that they are kind, loving, patient, etc. they still haven't been baptized in the right way, or they don't take the right communion, or worship on the right day...

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Jonah 4 reveals..." thoughts?

What does this tell us? Any other examples of people used by God who had serious problems in their lives?

- Abraham polygamist and liar
- Jacob liar and cheat
- Moses murderer
- Rahab prostitute
- Samson philanderer
- David polygamist and murderer
- Solomon polygamist and worshiper of Moloch
- Peter impetuous and selfish
- Martin Luther prejudice against the Jews.

Is there a lesson for us regarding how we treat people and God's attitude toward people's usefulness for his cause?

Is it possible that some of the best people in God's cause are those who have made the biggest sins and then repented?

- Saul who was a Pharisee of Pharisees, later called himself the chief of sinners?
- Peter after his denial
- Moses after the murder –

Is it possible it is after these mistakes, where our own human strength has failed us, that we are brought to repentance and lose confidence in self and depend more fully in God and thus are much more useful to God?

The third paragraph states, "He could not control his desire for vengeance. He was small-minded and ill-tempered."

Do we today have people who prefer to see the wicked die in the end, the wicked suffer in flames and long for God to stick it to them? Who long for God to take vengeance on them?

Is such an attitude Godly?

FRIDAY

Question 1 states "The book of Jonah teaches that God is in full control of nature."

Does the book of Jonah teach this? Would you say it differently?

Are there any events occurring in nature for which God is not in full control?

When Job's children were killed was it because God was in control of nature?

In Revelation 7, when the four angels let go the four winds and nature falls apart, is God in control of those tragic events?

- Nature is certainly sustained by God – but what happens when God withdraws? Can Satan affect nature?
- Can humans affect nature?
- What about Global warming? Is God in control of this?
- What about survival of the fittest and animals who are predators, if God were in full control of nature would animals kill each other?

Read question 2 – "But Nineveh has more than a hundred and twenty thousand people who cannot tell their right hand from their left, and many cattle as well. Should I not be concerned about that great city?" Jonah 4:11

Thoughts? What lessons do we take from this insight into God's heart?
Discuss question 3.

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 7 2Q 2013

God's Special People (Micah)

SABBATH

Read Micah 6:6-8:

With what shall I come before the Lord and bow down before the exalted God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?

⁷ Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousand rivers of oil? Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

⁸ He has showed you, O man, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God.

Thoughts?

What does this text mean?

Last week we asked the question, How could God forgive Nineveh when they didn't bring any animal sacrifices, they didn't worship at the Temple, when they didn't have their sins confessed on a lamb and the blood taken into the Sanctuary – so how was God able to forgive them?

What about this text? Does it give any indication regarding the value of animal sacrifice and the Temple service? Did any of that ritualistic activity, ever, at any time in human history, provide Remedy for sin?

What would it mean if sacrificing of animals actually did provide the solution for sin?

- Christ's death wasn't necessary
- We could accomplish our own salvation by killing animals
- If the animal sacrifice actually resulted in salvation, then the purpose of the death of the animal would be for what? Appeasement – thus if one promotes the idea that animal sacrifice was necessary for salvation, one is promoting paganism.
- What was the purpose of the sacrificial system?
 - Theater to act out the plan of salvation
 - Bring conviction to make a person sick at the idea of sin

What is God then saying here through Micah? What does he want from his people?

He wants transformation of the heart, mind, character – any other passages that support this?

- “I tell you the truth, no one can see the kingdom of God unless he is born again.” John 3:3

- “The Lord your God will circumcise your hearts and the hearts of your descendants, so that you may love him with all your heart and with all your soul, and live.” DT 30:6
- “Create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me.” PS 51:10
- “Therefore say to the house of Israel, ‘This is what the Sovereign Lord says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. ²³ I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, declares the Sovereign Lord, when I show myself holy through you before their eyes. ²⁴ ‘For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. ²⁵ I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. ²⁶ I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. ²⁷ And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. Ezekiel 36:22-27

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

What is it God wants to do for us? Through all of these passages what law have you heard in action? The law of love – the design for life which needs to be restored in us! What are we supposed to do?

Read first paragraph, “The prophet Micah...” thoughts?

What makes sin, such as dishonesty, injustice, bribery etc. “fatal”?

- It breaks the law and the lawgiver must execute the death sentence upon you?
- OR, it violates the protocol upon which life is based?

Does it make a difference how one understands why sin is fatal? What difference does it make?

Read next paragraph, “Yet, through...” thoughts?

Was God punishing Israel? Why or why not?

What is the punishment for sin? Is this punishment inflicted or is it the natural consequences?

When we see God act, directly in some way, is it punishment or therapeutic intervention?

Does it make a difference how we see it? What difference does it make?

SUNDAY

Read first two paragraphs, “In Micah 1:1-9...” thoughts?

The lesson takes the position that God is bringing “destructive judgment” and that is what Micah describes in these verses. Let’s read the verses and see what you think:

- ¹ The word of the Lord that came to Micah of Moresheth during the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah—the vision he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.
- ² Hear, O peoples, all of you, listen, O earth and all who are in it, that the Sovereign Lord may witness against you, the Lord from his holy temple.
- ³ Look! The Lord is coming from his dwelling place; [where is his dwelling place?] he comes down and treads the high places of the earth.
- ⁴ The mountains melt beneath him and the valleys split apart, like wax before the fire, like water rushing down a slope.
- ⁵ All this is because of Jacob’s transgression, because of the sins of the house of Israel. What is Jacob’s transgression? Is it not Samaria? What is Judah’s high place? Is it not Jerusalem?
- ⁶ “Therefore I will make Samaria a heap of rubble, a place for planting vineyards. I will pour her stones into the valley and lay bare her foundations.
- ⁷ All her idols will be broken to pieces; all her temple gifts will be burned with fire; I will destroy all her images. Since she gathered her gifts from the wages of prostitutes, as the wages of prostitutes they will again be used.”
- ⁸ Because of this I will weep and wail; I will go about barefoot and naked. I will howl like a jackal and moan like an owl.
- ⁹ For her wound is incurable; it has come to Judah. It has reached the very gate of my people, even to Jerusalem itself.

Thoughts? What did you hear? Do you hear God threatening “destructive judgment”?

- Did God destroy any of the people?
- But did any of the people get destroyed?
- What or how did they get destroyed?
- Did the Babylonians destroy them?
- Did unremedied sin destroy them?

What did God say he would destroy?

- Isn’t God threatening to destroy lies, false gods, destructive ideas, distorted worship?

- For what purpose? To punish? Or to help free the minds of the people from eternal destruction?

So, is God punishing, or is God mercifully intervening to deliver and save?

When we recognize God built his universe to operate on love, and that selfishness and fear bring destruction – then we see God acting to counter selfishness and restore love. God is working like a doctor, to oppose infection, the infection of lies, fear, selfishness. Thus, when they are being damaged by false God concepts, rather than ignoring them, God intervenes to shake them out of their delusions and open the opportunity to see the truth.

This is mercy – it is not infliction of punishment for sin.

The punishment for sin is eternal non-existence and what causes this? Unremedied sin!

MONDAY

Read third paragraph, “One of the constant...” thoughts?

Several issues to discuss in this paragraph, what about the idea of divine retribution?

What does this language connote? Does it sound like a God who inflicts punishment? Does it sound arbitrary, in other words, that if God didn't inflict it they wouldn't experience it?

They mention that God warned them over and over in Deuteronomy that the blessings of God were dependent upon their obedience. This is absolutely true, but why?

- Does it mean, if you disobey I will kill, torture, harm,
- Or if you disobey you will take yourselves out of harmony with me and my methods and the result is ruin and death?
- In other words, does retribution mean inflicted externally or natural results?

If you hold an imposed law concept then what does retribution mean?

If you hold a natural law concept then what does retribution mean?

So before I read any other sources, thinking it through, knowing God's law is the law of love – then, what would you conclude retribution to be? The natural results of being out of harmony with God's design for life – NOT inflicted punishment.

Notice how retribution was used by one of the founders of our church:

Upon the slothful servant the sentence was, "Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents." Here, as in the reward of the faithful worker, is indicated not merely the reward at the final judgment but the gradual process of retribution in this life. As in the natural, so in the spiritual world: every power unused will weaken and decay. Activity is the law of life; idleness is death. "The manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal." 1 Corinthians 12:7. Employed to bless others, his gifts increase. Shut up to self-serving they diminish, and are finally withdrawn. He who refuses to impart that which he has received will at last find that he has nothing to give. He is consenting to a process that surely dwarfs and finally destroys the faculties of the soul. {COL 364.1}

What kind of law is described in this paragraph? How is retribution used? Does retribution of this kind frighten you? Does it make you afraid of God?

Against every transgression of the laws of life, nature will utter her protest. She bears abuse as long as she can; but finally the retribution comes, and it falls upon the mental as well as the physical powers. Nor does it end with the transgressor; the effects of his indulgence are seen in his offspring, and thus the evil is passed down from generation to generation. {Christian Temperance and Bible Hygiene 44.4}

All who indulge the appetite, waste the physical energies, and weaken the moral power, will sooner or later feel the retribution that follows the transgression of physical law. {CD 161.4}

Again, how is retribution used? What law is being described? What kind of God is behind such a system?

Jacob in his distress was not overwhelmed. He had repented, he had endeavored to atone for the wrong to his brother. And when threatened with death through the wrath of Esau, he sought help from God. "Yea, he had power over the Angel, and prevailed: he wept, and made supplication." "And He blessed him there." Hosea 12:4; Genesis 32:29. In the power of His might the forgiven one stood up, no longer the supplanter, but a prince with God. He had gained not merely deliverance from his outraged brother, but deliverance from himself. The power of evil in his own nature was broken; his character was transformed. {Ed 147.3}

The same experience is repeated in the history of Jacob's sons--sin working retribution, and repentance bearing fruit of righteousness unto life. {Ed 148.1}

God does not annul His laws. He does not work contrary to them. The work of sin He does not undo. But He transforms. Through His grace the curse works out blessing. {Ed 148.2}

How is retribution described? Do you agree – retribution is not inflicted but it is the natural result of rebellion against God's design for life?

What about the end of sin and sinners, retributive justice, will it be different?

Note this description from one of the founders of our church. Consider how much has changed over the last 150 in how we present things:

God has given to men a declaration of his character, and of his method of dealing with sin. “The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty.” [Exodus 34:6, 7.] “All the wicked will he destroy.” “The transgressors shall be destroyed together; the end of the wicked shall be cut off.” [Psalm 145:20; 37:38.] The power and authority of the divine government will be employed to put down rebellion; yet all the manifestations of retributive justice will be perfectly consistent with the character of God as a merciful, long-suffering, benevolent being. {GC88 541.2}

Okay – what does this mean? How do you hear it? Does it sound scary? Does it sound like God will use power to inflict torment and punishment?

Think about what kind of law God’s government and universe are built upon, then consider the meaning of the passage. Before I read what comes next, what would you anticipate? A description of a system like human courts in which God inflicts punishment, or a system in which sinners are themselves out of harmony with God’s design and thus suffer from their terminal condition?

God does not force the will or judgment of any. He takes no pleasure in a slavish obedience. He desires that the creatures of his hands shall love him because he is worthy of love. [Can this happen if God is threatening to torture and kill those who don’t love Him? Can God get this with imposed law?] He would have them obey him because they have an intelligent appreciation of his wisdom, justice, and benevolence. And all who have a just conception of these qualities will love him because they are drawn toward him in admiration of his attributes. {GC88 541.3} [Does understanding the law of love as God’s design for life draw you to love him more? But what happens if we have, instead of just conceptions of God’s qualities, have false ideas and see God as imposer of law and punisher?]

The principles of kindness, mercy, and love, taught and exemplified by our Saviour, are a transcript of the will and character of God... The principles of the divine government are in perfect harmony with the Saviour's precept, “Love your enemies.” [what kind of law is described, imposed, or design protocols, principles?] God executes justice upon the wicked, for the good of the universe, and even for the good of those upon whom his judgments are visited. He would make them happy if he could do so in accordance with the laws of his government and the justice of his character. He surrounds them with the tokens of his love, he grants them a knowledge of his law, and follows them with the offers of his mercy; but they despise his love, make void his law, and reject his mercy. While constantly receiving his gifts, they dishonor the Giver; they hate God because they know that he abhors their sins. The Lord bears long with their perversity; but the decisive hour will come at last, when their destiny is to be decided. [what is described? How is God acting? Who decides their destiny] Will he then chain these rebels to his side? Will he force them to do his will? {GC88 542.1}

Those who have chosen Satan as their leader, and have been controlled by his power, are not prepared to enter the presence of God. Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. [Why are they this way? What causes it? And what is the result of having character fixed like this? Is this describing imposed punishment, or natural result?] Can they enter Heaven, to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could Heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC88 542.2}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to Heaven, and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,— every soul filled with love; every countenance beaming with joy; enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb; and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,—could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb?—No, no; [Why not? Is God unwilling? Is God angry? Does God have a rule which requires Him to inflict punishment upon them because they failed to do the right ritual, be baptized in the right way, confess the forgotten sin, claim the blood of Jesus?] years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for Heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of Heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for Heaven. [Why are they not in heaven? They are unfit, is this imposed, or natural] Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from Heaven is voluntary with themselves, and just and merciful on the part of God. {GC88 542.3}

Like the waters of the flood, the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. {GC88 542.4} [What is described? What is retributive justice here executed by God? An infliction of arbitrary power to torture? Or the reaping of the natural results of persist violation of God's design for life?

Do many Christians today believe that divine retribution is imposed? And that we are protected from it by accepting Jesus' payment for our sin? Then are such Christians in danger of believing that because they have accepted Jesus they are free from divine retribution – i.e. the natural results of breaking God's design for life?

- How about how many don't think lifestyle choices matter because Jesus paid their sin debt – we can eat whatever...
- How many think they can watch whatever they want, because they accepted Jesus as their Savior?
- How many think there is no retribution, consequence, for worshipping an angry, wrathful god?

TUESDAY

Read Micah 5:2-4 – thoughts?

Read second paragraph, “Out of a little...” thoughts?

When does Jesus “rule” begin? Did he rule when he came to earth?

Does Jesus rule on earth right now? What prevent Jesus from ruling on earth now? Is it Satan that stops him from ruling or something else?

Could it be Jesus doesn’t rule on earth now because we are ready for his rule?

What do you think of this perspective from Christ Object Lessons:

Christ is waiting with longing desire for the manifestation of Himself in His church. When the character of Christ shall be perfectly reproduced in His people, then He will come to claim them as His own. {COL 69.1}

It is the privilege of every Christian not only to look for but to hasten the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, (2 Peter 3:12, margin). Were all who profess His name bearing fruit to His glory, how quickly the whole world would be sown with the seed of the gospel. Quickly the last great harvest would be ripened, and Christ would come to gather the precious grain. {COL 69.2}

Is this consistent with what Peter wrote about God not delaying his return but not wanting any to be lost?

What prevents Christ’s character from being reproduced in his people? Could it be persistent lies about God and his law taught within the church?

Read last paragraph, “As incomprehensible as it is...” thoughts?

It really is incomprehensible that the Creator became human – what does such a thing do for you?

I received an email last week from someone who asked, why did it have to be Jesus, why not a perfect angel come to earth and be sacrificed for our sin – thoughts?

- Who are Satan’s allegations against?
- What would we learn about God if an angel died with the intent to save us?
- Could an angel become human?
- Did it require a human to be victorious in order to save mankind?
- Why Jesus instead of the Father?

THURSDAY

Read first two paragraphs, “Micah’s book begins...” thoughts?

What do you think they mean by “There are people who try to explain away or deny the reality of God’s judgments?”

- Are they talking about Universalism? That in the end everyone will be saved?
- Or are they talking about Theistic Evolution – God created it, wound it up, but now lets it run itself. He isn’t involved?
- Or are they talking about the idea that God’s judgments are not punishments but therapeutic interventions?

Do we deny God’s judgments? Or do we understand them in the context of His character and law of love?

Does it make a difference which lens one is looking through?

When they say “God’s justice is the other side of his love and concern.” What do you hear?

Is God two-faced? As Graham Maxwell used to say, will Jesus come back with love on his face for the righteous and an angry scowl on his face for the wicked? Does God have two faces? Or is God love?

Is God any less love to the wicked as to the righteous? What makes the difference? The attitude of God or the condition of the one interacting with God?

Is punishment “God’s word”? Or is “punishment” the result of breaking God’s word?

Think about it – God’s word creates, “By the word of the Lord were the heavens made, their starry host by the breath of his mouth.” PS 33:6

God’s Word was made flesh – God’s Word is Life – God’s Word Creates – it is the violation of God’s word, the breaking of God’s law, the transgression of God’s design for life, the deviation from the protocols upon which life is built and that results in punishment!

How diabolical – to attribute to God’s word the punishment that comes from the transgression of God’s word.

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “The prophet declares...” thoughts? What is justice according to Scripture?

Do you see how answering this question determines what kind of person one becomes?

If God is an imposer of law and thus God’s justice is inflicted punishment upon the oppressor – then we have religions like:

- Christianity in the Dark Ages – crusades, inquisition, burning at the stake

- Islam – intolerance of freedom of conscience, kill people who convert, kill people or treat your ideas and beliefs with what you consider to be profane
- Judaism which crucifies the innocent Lord
- Nations which hunt down and kill offenders

But when one sees God as the Builder, the Designer, the One who constructed the universe to operate upon the law of love – then one sees deviations are destructive and God’s justice is delivering the oppressed and healing the damage caused by sin and oppression. In that case we have religions like:

- Jesus – giving life for others
- Marion and Barbie Fisher – the Amish girls who stood up and asked to be shot first in order to protect their friends
- Kent Whitaker who forgave his son for having his wife and family killed
- Feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, visiting those in prison, delivering the oppressed

Thus God’s justice is realized at the second coming when the dead are raised, the sick are healed, the abused are delivered, the broken are restored, and the persistently rebellious are mercifully set free to their ultimate end.

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 8 2Q 2013

Trusting God's Goodness (Habakkuk)

SABBATH

Read memory text: "For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." (Habakkuk 2:14)

Thoughts?

What does the text mean? The knowledge of the glory of the Lord?

What is the glory of the Lord?

- Fire?
- Power?
- Energy?
- Authority?
- Character?

How would you build a case that God's character is His glory, not the might and power?

- Then Moses said, "Now show me your glory." And the Lord said, "I will cause all my goodness to pass in front of you, and I will proclaim my name, the Lord, in your presence. (Exodus 33:18,19)
- Who of you is left who saw this house in its former glory? How does it look to you now? Does it not seem to you like nothing?... 'The glory of this present house will be greater than the glory of the former house,' says the LORD Almighty. 'And in this place I will grant peace,' declares the LORD Almighty." (Hag 2:3,9)

The second temple was so small the people wailed and mourned when they remembered Solomon's temple – but the glory of the second would be greater than the glory of the first – how?

Because Jesus would come in person to the second, but wait, what happened on the day Solomon's temple was dedicated? God's presence came down in brilliant glory and filled the place, so bright the priests couldn't enter.

So, God's presence came to both earthly temples, yet the Bible says the glory of the smaller one, the one that didn't have the bright shining glory, would be more glorious than the first. How and why? Why was the second more glorious?

Because God's glory is not might, power, or brilliant light – it is His character of love and where was God's character of love most powerfully revealed? In the life of Christ!

So, if the glory of the Lord is His character, what does it mean that the earth will be filled with the knowledge His glory? That the earth will be filled with the knowledge of His character of love!

Listen to this from a book Christ Object Lessons, written more than 100 years ago. Do you agree?

“It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth... The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love.”
Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

How is the knowledge of God to be made known in the world?

Do we have any role to play?

What prevents this from happening?

This is message that Come and Reason Ministry is passionate to take to the world. It is our mission, to as clearly as possible, reveal the true character of God!

Over the last several years we have seen a groundswell of support for this message and doors are opening. We invite your continued prayer and support that the truth about God will go forward and the world will be lighted with His glory!

SUNDAY

Read Habakkuk 1:2-4:

How long, O Lord, must I call for help, but you do not listen? Or cry out to you, “Violence!”
but you do not save?
Why do you make me look at injustice?
Why do you tolerate wrong?
Destruction and violence are before me;
there is strife, and conflict abounds.
Therefore the law is paralyzed,
and justice never prevails.
The wicked hem in the righteous,
so that justice is perverted.

Thoughts?

The prophet is asking, how long they must endure? What about today? Do we ever wonder how long?

What is the answer? How long must we endure the injustice of sin? As long as it takes! As long as there is hope for any to be saved.

Why were the injustices occurring in Habakkuk's day? To whom is Habakkuk referring? It is to the Jewish people, the Jewish leaders he is referring when he speaks of injustice and abuse. He longs for God to bring reform, and he asks how long.

Why doesn't God simply send lightening bolts and fix it?

He can't – why not?

What is the just thing from God's perspective? To heal and set right.

Many times on issues like this, justice, judgment, atonement, satisfaction, etc. we have conflict with others who seem to not appreciate what we are saying, and may even oppose it. As you know in this class we have for some months now explored truth by contrasting the two ways God's law is conceived – natural or imposed. It struck me this contrast of the two laws also helps clarify much of the terminology used in Scripture, and exposes why there is so much confusion. Thus I've created a comparison chart of keywords and how they are defined under each of these two law constructs. It's on the last page so you can print it out on one sheet.

Read third paragraph, "Being a prophet..." thoughts?

Why does God allow injustice to continue?

What does God want from us?

Obedience? What does that mean? Does God want behavioral conformity, or love, loyalty, devotion, understanding commitment and agreement?

Can one get love, devotion, loyalty, understanding commitment and agreement by using force to threaten? What is the only way for God to get what He wants?

To leave people free and allow the two antagonistic principles to be revealed, and then people freely choose to trust God, open the heart and He pours out His Spirit which takes what Christ achieved and reproduces it us!

Read last paragraph, "Babylon's ruthless..." thoughts?

What does it mean that Babylon was a rod of God's anger?

What is God's anger? Does it make it sound like God is using Babylon to inflict punishment upon Israel?

How does the Bible describe God's anger?

Before we read the Scripture, think it through, use the two law concepts and predict, based on your knowledge of God's law what God's anger actually does.

If God's law is imposed, then what would His anger look like? Infliction of hostilities, punishment, torment etc.

If God's law is natural, then what does His anger look like?

Did anyone ever see the old western starring John Wayne and William Holden called The Horse Soldiers? It was about a troop of Union soldiers going on a raid deep into the Confederacy. William Holden played the division surgeon. In the movie one of the scouts got shot in the leg. The doctor cleaned the wound and then tied some moss around it. Later in the movie the doctor saw the scout limping and examined the leg and it was all gangrenous. The doctor asked what happened to the moss – the scout said it was itching so he took it off.

The doctor became angry – why? And the doctor then worked to amputate the leg, why? Was the doctor happy about amputating the leg? Did the doctor ever seek to hurt or punish the patient, even when angry? What law was the doctor operating under?

So, before we read Scripture, knowing God's law is the law of love, the design protocol upon which life is built, what would you predict God's anger to be – infliction of punishment, or letting go to reap the results of one's choice?

- “My anger will flame up like fire and burn everything on earth. It will reach to the world below and consume the roots of the mountains. I will bring on them endless disasters and use all my arrows against them.” (Deuteronomy 32:22,23 – GN)... “They fail to see why they were defeated; they cannot understand what happened. Why were a thousand defeated by one, and ten thousand by only two? The Lord, their God, had abandoned them; their mighty God had given them up.” (Deuteronomy 32:29,30 – GN)
- “When that happens, I will become angry with them; I will abandon them, and they will be destroyed. Many terrible disasters will come upon them, and then they will realize that these things are happening to them because I, their God, am no longer with them.” (Deuteronomy 31:17 – GN)
- “I will fight against you with all my might, my anger, my wrath, and my fury. I will kill everyone living in this city; people and animals alike will die of a terrible disease.... Anyone who stays in the city will be killed in war or by starvation or disease...It will be given over to the king of Babylonia, and he will burn it to the ground. I, the LORD, have spoken... (Jeremiah 21:5,6,9-10 – GN)
- “Very well, then, I will give you freedom: the freedom to die by war, disease, and starvation.” (Jeremiah 34:17 – GN)

- “You will feel my anger when I turn it loose on you like a blazing fire. And I will hand you over to brutal men, experts at destruction.” (Ezekiel 21:31 – GN)
- “I will hand you over to other nations who will rob you and plunder you.” (Ezekiel 25:7 – GN)
- “The king killed the young men of Judah even in the Temple. He had no mercy on anyone, young or old, man or woman, sick or healthy. God handed them all over to him.” (2 Chronicles 36:17 – GN)
- “I will attack the people of Israel and Judah like a lion. I myself will tear them to pieces and then leave them. When I drag them off, no one will be able to save them. I will abandon my people until they have suffered enough for their sins and come looking for me. Perhaps in their suffering they will try to find me.” (Hosea 5:14,15 – GN)
- God’s anger is revealed from heaven against all the sin and evil of the people whose evil ways prevent the truth from being known. God punishes them, because what can be known about God is plain to them, for God himself made it plain...They say they are wise, but they are fools; instead of worshiping the immortal God, they worship images made to look like mortals or birds or animals or reptiles. And so God has given those people over to do the filthy things their hearts desire, and they do shameful things with each other. They exchange the truth about God for a lie; they worship and serve what God has created instead of the Creator himself, who is to be praised forever! Amen. Because they do this, God has given them over to shameful passions....Because those people refuse to keep in mind the true knowledge about God, he has given them over to corrupted minds, so that they do the things that they should not do.” (Romans 1:18,19,22-26,28 – GN)

What is God’s anger? Letting His persistently rebellious children go to reap what they have chosen. For what purpose? So that they might realize the error of their ways and come back to Him for healing and salvation.

The reason the truth about God’s character of love, the knowledge of His glory is not being more clearly seen is because many in church leadership has accepted the imposed law construct and thus misrepresent God and His government. Examine history you will find it the same.

We need to pray for our leaders, love them, and help them see that the law is not imposed and God is not like a cosmic Roman emperor.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “In Habakkuk 1...” thoughts?

What do you think about the way this is being framed? What is the misunderstanding?

If a patient with infection refuses antibiotics, does the doctor use bacteria to punish the patient? Absolutely not, but if the bacteria is a pathogen and virulent will the patient suffer? Absolutely!

The problem with which so many struggle, is operating under the false paradigm of imposed law, thus they see God inflicting what He allows to happen through Babylon.

So how did God utilize Babylon? Did God force the Babylonians to come and raid and destroy Judah? Did God prod, cajole, encourage, bribe, threaten or in any other way use His power to make Babylon violent and abusive?

Think what they are saying? They are suggesting God is behind the actions of Babylon – this is totally false!

God withdrew His protection because of their persistent rebellion, and the Babylonians do what they do – they attack, because they have already gone down the pagan path and operate under selfishness and not love.

Read third paragraph, “Habakkuk 2:2-4 is one...” wow, that sounds very important, let’s read it:

² Then the Lord replied: “Write down the revelation and make it plain on tablets so that a herald may run with it.

³ For the revelation awaits an appointed time; it speaks of the end and will not prove false. Though it linger, wait for it; it will certainly come and will not delay.

⁴ “See, he is puffed up; his desires are not upright— but the righteous will live by his faith—

Thoughts? What does it mean the righteous will live by faith?

The lesson suggests that it means a legal belief in which we have faith that God credits to our heavenly account the legal record of Jesus and we are declared righteous, even though we are not righteous.

This, is again, based on the false premise that God’s law is imposed. It is commonly held, it has deep roots in tradition and it is distorted.

Let’s give some real examples of the just living by faith.

The three worthies on the plain of Durah – what was their choice – bow or don’t bow. What is the just or right thing for them to do? Can they, by their choice control the outcome, what happens? So what is their decision, in governance of themselves to be based upon? Faith that God will take care of how things turn out, if they make the just or right decision in governance of themselves.

What about Abraham, who trusted God and was recognized as righteous?

What came first, God’s recognition that Abraham was set right with God, or Abraham having a change of heart where he actually trusted God?

Our natural hearts an “enmity” toward God. We do not naturally trust Him. When Abraham trusted God it was evidence or proof of a change in Abraham, thus God recognized that change and declared what He actually saw in Abraham’s character. Thus Abraham was recognized as having been “set right” with God, from distrust to trust.

Yes, there was still clean up work in Abraham’s life to do, but once a person genuinely trusts God with their life, the clean up work is easy for God. The hard part is getting us over ourselves, our distrust and the lies we believe about God so we genuinely trust Him.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “God’s answer to Habakkuk...” thoughts?

Why is the punishment on the enemy in measure for measure? Remember Jesus said, “Do not judge, or you too will be judged. ² For in the same way you judge others, you will be judged, and with the measure you use, it will be measured to you.” (MT 7:1,2)

Why? What does this mean?

Think through the two law options –

If you believe God’s law is imposed, then what does the measure for measure principle mean? It means God keeps track of what you have done and inflicts the same thing upon you. Like a Saudi court recently sentencing a man to paralysis for causing the paralysis of another.

But what if you look through the natural law lens? It means when you perpetrate evil upon another you are changing your character. If you murder you are a murderer in heart, if you steal you are a thief, if you lie, you are a liar – thus the very evil you do to another actually sears into your character and you become that evil. Thus you suffer proportionally to the evil you inflict on another. This is what Paul meant when he said they pile up wrath for the day of wrath.

Read fourth paragraph, “God’s ultimate answer...” thoughts?

What enables you to trust God? Does your trust go up when you understand God’s law of love and the way He constructed life to operate?

But, can people have false faith? Can people have faith that David Koresh was Jesus on earth and have peace as the fires consumed them?

So faith alone is not enough, it must be faith in the truth!

How can we tell if our faith is wisely placed? The Integrative-Evidence Based approach – harmonizing, Scripture, Science and Experience.

Science alone – risks evolutionism

Experience alone – risks mysticism

Scripture alone – risks false faith, faith in a false religious system that fails to heal. Look at all the religions of the world, including Christianity with 34,000 different Christian groups all claiming the Bible as their basis of faith.

Sola Scriptura has been misused and misapplied – when Martin Luther used it he used it to defend against tradition that was not supported by God’s Word. But today, theologians use this to exclude God given evidences in nature, science and experience, thus creating an atmosphere in which gross error occurs.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Habakkuk expresses...” thoughts?

Are God’s judgments ever without mercy?

Again, using the two laws – if you view God’s law as imposed what are God’s judgments? Imposed punishments.

But if you view God’s law as natural, then what are His judgments? Therapeutic interventions to minimize suffering and bring healing.

Habakkuk longs for a display of power – what kind of power do you think?

What are the different kinds of power and what are the pros and cons of each?

Power of creation – might, physical power, power over the elements. What can be achieved with this kind of power? What cannot be achieved? What are the risks of using this kind of power?

Paul talked about the power of the gospel – what is that? The power of truth and love – what kind of power is that? What can it achieve? What are the risks of using this kind of power?

Which kind does God use? Has God used both? But which is the one that wins the war?

Zech 4:6 “not by might nor by power but by the Spirit says the Lord.”

THURSDAY

Habakkuk struggles with the question of why the righteous suffer and how to make sense of injustice happening upon the earth?

Thoughts?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, “There is an answer...” I like very much what this says.

How does God answer? Not by claims, proclamation, declaration, but by evidence!

Far too much bad theology comes because people read Scripture, find texts where God threatens, but then fail to see God’s actions, what actually happens. What does God do?

God allows events to unfold so that we may all see how His natural law of love works and that the violations of such law brings natural consequences not imposed penalties.

Read and discuss questions 2,3

	Natural Law (Law of Love) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Protocols life is built upon • Violations inherently damage • God works to heal • Problem is sin in man • Christ died to Remedy man and destroy sin 	Imposed Law <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Arbitrary rules • Violations- external punishment • God must inflict punishment • Problem wrath in God • Christ died to appease God and pay a legal penalty
Justification	Setting man right in heart with God	Declaring man legally right with God
Judgment by God	Diagnosis, therapeutic interventions, pronouncement of natural result	Legal finding and determination of arbitrarily imposed punishment
Forgiveness	The experience of God freely forgiving AND the sinner repenting, resulting in actual reconciliation	Legal pardon, because of a legal payment
Salvation	The experience of trusting God and accepting Jesus Christ into the heart, which results in healing and restoration to God's original ideal	Legally accepting Jesus' blood payment and having "pardon" entered into heaven's record books
Atonement	Being at-one with God	Appeasement, paying legal penalty
Satisfaction	God being satisfied with Christ perfectly completing his mission to reveal the truth and provide the Remedy which restores humans back into God's perfect ideal	God receiving legal payment of His Son's blood to "satisfy" His demand for retribution
Justice	Delivering the oppressed	Punishing the oppressor
Vengeance	Healing the damage caused by sin, i.e. destroying sin and its results	Punishing sinners for their crimes
Wrath	Letting go to reap the natural results of one's choice	Infliction of external pain, suffering, and punishment
Anger	God's rage at sin and outrage at the damage caused to the object of His love (like a doctor angry at disease but never the sick patient) and the letting go to receive what a non-compliant patient chooses	God's outrage at how He has been treated, His incensed and hostile response to violations of His law and disrespect toward Him and the infliction of punishment for such disobedient behavior
Heavenly Records	The exact transcript of each individual character (like medical records) documenting the true heart condition of each person, and the history of the Remedy offered and either applied or rejected with its results	A legal tally of every sin committed and accurate notation of each crime confessed and notated pardon by each act as the blood of Jesus is applied to the heavenly transcript

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 9 2Q 2013 The Day of the Lord (Zephaniah)

Before we get into the lesson, what is the context of Zephaniah's message?

Who is he speaking to?

The people of Judah and the nations surrounding them. What were the conditions in Judah at the time? Idolatrous nation...See 2 Kings 21-25; 2 Chron. 33-36.

How had the nation gotten to this point? After Hezekiah's death, Manasseh became king and led the country so far into idolatry so that "they did more evil than the nations" they had displaced in Canaan. (2 Chron. 33:9)

Who was king? Josiah. What was the king doing? Attempting reform. What was his reformation like? He destroyed the high places, "did away with" the false priests, broke down Asherah poles, tore down the shrines of the male prostitutes which were in the temple, desecrated sites and shrines and he tried to get rid of everything else that was dedicated to false gods. The Bible says during his lifetime, the people "did not fail to follow the Lord, the God of their fathers" (2 Chron. 34:33.)

Was Josiah successful? Not really.

How do we know? As soon as he was gone, the people returned to their false gods.

What does this tell us about the state of their hearts even during the reformations of Josiah? They were heard-hearted...they conformed outwardly, but there was no real heart change.

With all this in mind, let's take a look at Sunday's lesson.

SUNDAY

First paragraph of Sunday's lesson: "The focal point of Zephaniah's message is the "day of the Lord" (Zeph. 1:7). For biblical prophets, the day of the Lord refers to a specific period of time in which God intervenes in human affairs in order both to save and to judge."

Is this, in fact, what the biblical prophets say the day of the Lord is? Let's look at some other texts that mention the day of the Lord:

Isaiah 2:6 (vs. 6-22 describe the Day of the Lord)

[The Day of the Lord] You, Lord, have abandoned your people, the descendants of Jacob. They are full of superstitions from the East; they practice divination like the Philistines and embrace pagan customs.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

God has abandoned His people because they turned to other gods, silver, gold, idols made by men. Ultimately, the day of the Lord is a day when only the Lord will be exalted, and the idols will totally disappear. Those described in this passage who flee from God are those who bowed down to their idols.

Ezekiel 7:19-22

They will throw their silver into the streets, and their gold will be treated as a thing unclean. Their silver and gold will not be able to deliver them in the day of the Lord's wrath. It will not satisfy their hunger or fill their stomachs, for it has caused them to stumble into sin. They were proud of their beautiful jewelry and used it to make their detestable idols and vile images. Therefore I will turn these into an unclean thing for them. I will hand it all over as plunder to foreigners and as loot to the wicked of the earth, and they will defile it. I will turn my face away from them, and they will desecrate my treasured place; robbers will enter it and desecrate it.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

Note verse 22, "I will turn my face away from them," which is how all the doom comes upon them. In the next chapter, God says, "do you see what they are doing—the utterly detestable things the house of Israel is doing here, things that will drive me far from my sanctuary?" And what had they done? They had set up idols in God's temple.

Ezekiel 30:1-4

The word of the Lord came to me: "Son of man, prophesy and say: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: Wail and say, Alas for that day! For the day is near, the day of the Lord is near—a day of clouds, a time of doom for the nations. A sword will come against Egypt, and anguish will come upon Cush. When the slain fall in Egypt, her wealth will be carried away and her foundations torn down.'

What is actually happening here? Is this God acting? Or is it an accurate prediction of the coming Babylonian army?

Joel 2:28

[The Day of the Lord] “And afterward, I will pour out my Spirit on all people. Your sons and daughters will prophesy, your old men will dream dreams, your young men will see visions.

Joel 2:31

The sun will be turned to darkness and the moon to blood before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

This section (Joel 2:28-32) speaks of events to happen before the coming of the great and dreadful (Hebrew word here can mean something to be feared OR revered). Verse 32: “And everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved...” This day of the Lord appears to be the second coming.

Joel 3:14

Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision! For the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision.

Interesting that here it refers to a decision, and moves on to talk again of “the Lord will be a refuge for his people.” What are the multitudes deciding?

Amos 5:18

[The Day of the Lord] Woe to you who long for the day of the Lord! Why do you long for the day of the Lord? That day will be darkness, not light.

Amos 5:20

Will not the day of the Lord be darkness, not light— pitch-dark, without a ray of brightness?

Who is God talking to here?

Those who have religious feast & assemblies and are sacrificing to Him...but what does He want...verse 24: “But let justice roll on like a river, righteousness like a never-failing stream.” Justice and righteousness are here said to be the same, and this is what God wants...not an outward performing of the religious traditions, but heart change that actively seeks to put things right. So what is actually happening? What day is being predicted? See verse 27 “Therefore I will send you into exile beyond Damascus, says the Lord, whose name is God Almighty.”

Obadiah 1:15

“The day of the Lord is near for all nations. As you have done, it will be done to you; your deeds will return upon your own head.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

This is part of a prophecy against Edom, citing how they stood by and watched and rejoiced over the calamity of their “brother.” Their own attitude, their own violence brings destruction back upon themselves.

Malachi 4:5

“See, I will send the prophet Elijah to you before that great and dreadful day of the Lord comes.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

Again, here, the day of the Lord is a prediction of the second coming, when the wicked are consumed, but the righteous rejoice in the same light that consumes the wicked. Before that day, however, “Elijah” will come...and what was Elijah’s message? Worship the true God, leave the false gods behind...and the true God is a God of love...this message will, indeed, “turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers” because those who truly love the true God...will have their hearts transformed into HIS character of love.

Acts 2:20

The sun will be turned to darkness and the moon to blood before the coming of the great and glorious day of the Lord.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

Here, Paul is quoting from Joel 2:28-32...but instead of “dreadful” he calls the day glorious. Why the difference? Is it because the day IS glorious to those who know God?

1 Thessalonians 5:1-9

[The Day of the Lord] Now, brothers and sisters, about times and dates we do not need to write to you, for you know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night.

While people are saying, “Peace and safety,” destruction will come on them suddenly, as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape.

But you, brothers, are not in darkness so that this day should surprise you like a thief. You are all sons of the light and sons of the day. We do not belong to the night or to the darkness. So then, let us not be like others, who are asleep, but let us be alert and self-controlled. For those who sleep, sleep at night, and those who get drunk, get drunk at night. But since we belong to the day, let us be self-controlled, putting on faith and love as a breastplate, and the hope of salvation as a helmet. For God did not appoint us to suffer wrath but to receive salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.

What is the day of the Lord like in this passage?

What action is God taking?

Referring to the second coming, describes the difference between those who are surprised and find destruction and those who “live in the light.” Very good description of WHY some receive that day with great joy.

There seems to be two different types of references here: 1) the day of the Lord meaning a day when God steps back and lets the natural consequences of their choices occur and 2) the day of the Lord meaning the day Christ returns to earth to take His people home.

Which do we have in Zephaniah? I think we have both...but let's look at the evidence:

Read Zeph. 1:1-3 Which type of reference does this sound like? What evidence in this passage brings us to that conclusion? Is there any room to see this passage both ways?

Read Zeph. 1:4-9 Which type of reference does this sound like? What is God saying he will remove? (see verses 4-6 & 9) What are these verses talking about...what were the people of Judah doing? Why does he point to “those clad in foreign clothes”? (v.8) Why does he mention “all who avoid stepping on the threshold”?

The word translated as “punish” is “paqad”...it means to inspect or look after. In the Young's Literal Translation it says, “laid a charge.” It's translated in the OT as “number” 110 times.

It could be a reference to the superstitious practice the Philistines developed after their god Dagon was broken into pieces with his hands on the threshold. It could also be referring to the pagan practice of having a shrine at the threshold, which had an indentation to receive the blood of the sacrificed animal...again, a pagan practice. (Source: Henry Clay Trumbull's The Threshold Covenant: <http://archive.org/details/thresholdcovanan00trum>)

Would you say that God is angered by idol worship?

Why? Because it changes his children. God made us with the ability to change ourselves based on our choices, habits, and worship. We become like the god (or God) we worship. If we worship the true God, whose very being and character is love, then we become more loving people.

The majority of the people of Judah at the time of Zephaniah appear to be worshipping idols. How were they treating others? (see Zeph 3:1-5)

What about the nations surrounding Judah...what kind of people were they? (Feared by the nations, cruel people, people of force and coercion.)

What kind of gods were they worshipping?

Philistines – primary god was Dagon, second only to El, (one of four sons), and father to Baal.

Moab – Chemosh was the national deity of the Moabites whose name most likely meant "destroyer," "subduer," or "fish god." Human sacrifice was included in the worship of Chemosh.

Ammon – Chemosh seems also to be the national deity of the Ammonites as well. Moabites and Ammonites were descended from the two sons of Lot. Ammonites eventually worshiped Molech, who seems to have derived from Chemosh. "Molech was a fire-god with the face of a calf; his images had arms outstretched to receive the babies who were sacrificed to him. Like their god, the Ammonites were cruel. When Nahash the Ammonite was asked for terms of a treaty (1 Samuel 11:2), he proposed gouging out the right eye of each Israelite man. Amos 1:13 says that the Ammonites would rip open pregnant women in the territories they conquered.

Read more: <http://www.gotquestions.org/Ammonites.html#ixzz2T0dUP0dB>

Assyria – The chief god was Asshur. All other primary gods whom they worshiped were related to the objects of nature. Assyrians were known for their cruelty & ferocity...capital city was Ninevah.

When Judah abandoned and rejected God, and started worshipping the false gods of the nations around them, they became like those nations, and like their gods.

How would you describe our nation? Do you think we're moving faster towards being a peace-loving nation? Does this tell us anything about the gods we worship? Should we evaluate the information we receive via the media, society, or our churches to determine what kind of god is being promoted? How do we evaluate these things? What should be our standard?

MONDAY

Read the first two paragraphs.

In Zephaniah 2:1-3, we see the prophet's call to repentance. Even though the destruction is imminent, there is still time to be sheltered from calamity, but only if the nation will repent. The wicked who refuse to repent will be consumed on the day of judgment like chaff.

With the words "Seek the Lord," Zephaniah is encouraging those who humble themselves before God to hold firm in their faith. The prophet teaches that to seek the Lord is the same as seeking righteousness and humility. This attitude of repentance is essential in order to escape the coming judgment.

What was the imminent destruction Judah was being warned of? Were the wicked "consumed like chaff"? What actually happened? Were those who were faithful to God "sheltered from calamity"? What evidence do we have that they weren't?

Why does Zephaniah address this command to "Seek the Lord" to the "humble of the land," "who do what he commands"? What does it mean to be humble?

The word translated "humble" in the NIV is anav (aw-nawv), and means "meek" The Strong's definition is poor, humble, afflicted, meek (a. poor, needy; b. poor and weak; c. poor, weak and afflicted; d. humble, lowly, meek)

Quotes regarding the meek:

He has set us an example in order that we may know how to walk in conformity with His will. Christ is a true Shepherd. His example, if followed, will lead us aright. How precious was His gentle spirit. He was meek and lowly in heart. No jealousy, no envy, no iniquity was found in Him. He passed over the same ground where Adam fell, thus showing us that it is possible for man to overcome. Those who follow Christ will be obedient; they will not trample on one of God's holy precepts (Manuscript Releases Volume Five [Nos. 260-346], Page 258).

All the disciples had serious faults when Jesus called them to His service. Even John, who came into closest association with the meek and lowly One, was not himself naturally meek and yielding. He and his brother were called "the sons of thunder." While they were with Jesus, any slight shown to Him aroused their indignation and combativeness. Evil temper, revenge, the spirit of criticism, were all in the beloved disciple. He was proud, and ambitious to be first in the kingdom of God. But day by day, in contrast with his own violent spirit, he beheld the tenderness and forbearance of Jesus, and heard His lessons of humility and patience. He opened his heart to the divine influence, and became not only a hearer but a doer of the Saviour's words. Self was hid in Christ. He learned to wear the yoke of Christ and to bear His burden.

Jesus reproved His disciples, He warned and cautioned them; but John and his brethren did not leave Him; they chose Jesus, notwithstanding the reproofs. The Saviour did not withdraw from them because of their weakness and errors. They continued to the end to share

His trials and to learn the lessons of His life. By beholding Christ, they became transformed in character... (Our Father Cares, page 191).

The soul that loves God, rises above the fog of doubt; he gains a bright, broad, deep, living experience, and becomes meek and Christlike. His soul is committed to God, hid with Christ in God. He will be able to stand the test of neglect, of abuse and contempt, because his Saviour has suffered all this. He will not become fretful and discouraged when difficulties press him, because Jesus did not fail or become discouraged. Every true Christian will be strong, not in the strength and merit of his good works, but in the righteousness of Christ, which through faith is imputed unto him. It is a great thing to be meek and lowly in heart, to be pure and undefiled, as was the Prince of heaven when He walked among men (God's Amazing Grace, page 109).

Daniel was among the captives when the Babylonians invaded...is there any evidence that he demonstrated meekness?

The lesson says in the third paragraph of Monday's lesson, "The humble are those people who have remained faithful to God and who are led and taught by Him. The psalmist says: "Good and upright is the Lord; therefore he instructs sinners in his ways. He guides the humble in what is right and teaches them his way" (Ps. 25: 8-9, NIV)." Why does God specifically guide and teach the humble? Because they are the ones open to His guidance!

Please read the quote in pink at the bottom of Monday's lesson:

"Nothing is apparently more helpless, yet really more invincible, than the soul that feels its nothingness and relies wholly on the merits of the Saviour. By prayer, by the study of His word, by faith in His abiding presence, the weakest of human beings may live in contact with the living Christ, and He will hold them by a hand that will never let go."—Ellen G. White, Ministry of Healing, p. 182.

Does this quote give us any insight into what being sheltered by God really means? Does this "sheltering" happen from or IN our circumstances? God's people throughout earth's history have been persecuted, abused, and misused...yet they were "sheltered" in God.

TUESDAY

Let's look at the middle, bold section on Tuesday's lesson: Read Zephaniah 3:1-5. Who is being condemned, and why? Ask yourself, How could God's people, those given so much light and truth, end up so corrupted? How can we protect ourselves from having the same thing happen to us?

What had the people done that led them to this point? They exchanged the truth of God for a lie...Romans 1 tells us what happens when people do that. Would you say that's an accurate description of the people of Judah at this point in their history? So...how can we protect ourselves from having the same thing happen to us?

Second paragraph: The capital city of Judah lies at the heart of Zephaniah's concern. He indicts its leaders concerning the city's moral degradation. The corruption stems directly from the failure of its leaders to live up to their designated roles and responsibilities (compare with Jer. 18:18, Ezek. 22:23-30). The corrupt court run by officials is likened to "roaring lions," and the judges are characterized as "evening wolves." The temple is faring no better because the priests do not teach God's Word, nor do the prophets speak the truth. (emphasis mine)

WEDNESDAY

Read the verse at the top of Wednesday's lesson:

"The Lord your God is with you, he is mighty to save. He will take great delight in you, he will quiet you with his love, he will rejoice over you with singing." (Zeph. 3:17, NIV).

How does Zephaniah describe those over whom God is singing?

Zeph. 3:13 "The remnant of Israel will do no wrong; they will speak no lies, nor will deceit be found in their mouths. They will eat and lie down and no one will make them afraid."

What does this description sound like to you? These are people who know God, who have His love in their hearts, who have been healed by His truth! God rejoices over those who have been healed.

With this thought in mind, what is God's goal? To save as many as will allow Him to heal them. What then, is our role? (See Mark 13:10 and 2 Peter 3:12) How are we doing in that role?

Some suggestions for related passages:

Psalms 119:1-3 "Blessed are they whose ways are blameless, who walk according to the law of the Lord. Blessed are they who keep his statutes and seek him with all their heart. They do nothing wrong; they walk in his ways.

Rev. 14:5 (description of the 144,000) "No lie was found in their mouths; they are blameless."

THURSDAY

The lesson suggests that we read Nahum to find God's answer to injustice...the first paragraph of Thursday's lesson says:

“The prophecy of Nahum is God’s Word against the kingdoms of this world as represented by Nineveh. As the prophet looked at his world, he saw the hand of God moving against the Assyrian Empire. He announced that its capital city, Nineveh, would soon fall, never to rise again. Nahum spoke with absolute confidence because he knew God’s character and, through the gift of prophecy (Nah. 1:1), he had been shown by the Lord what would happen. The Lord will not leave the guilty unpunished (Nah. 1:3, Exod. 34:6-7).”

How does this idea make you feel about God? The KJV in both texts says that God will “by no means acquit the guilty.” Does this sound different to you? Why? God will certainly not declare the guilty innocent for that wouldn’t be true. Instead, he tells them, “nothing can heal your wound; your injury is fatal” (Nah. 3:19).

What caused the downfall of the Assyrians? Their own cruelty. Jesus said, “all who draw the sword will die by the sword” (Matt. 26:50).

FRIDAY

Further Study:

“With unerring accuracy the Infinite One still keeps account with the nations. While His mercy is tendered, with calls to repentance, this account remains open; but when the figures reach a certain amount which God has fixed, the ministry of His wrath begins. The account is closed. Divine patience ceases. Mercy no longer pleads in their behalf.”—Ellen G. White, Prophets and Kings, p. 364.

“Before the worlds unfallen and the heavenly universe, the world will have to give an account to the Judge of the whole earth, the very One they condemned and crucified. What a reckoning day that will be! It is the great day of God's vengeance. Christ does not then stand at Pilate's bar. Pilate and Herod, and all that mocked, scourged, rejected, and crucified Him will then understand what it means to feel the wrath of the Lamb. Their deeds will appear before them in their true character.”—Ellen G. White, Testimonies to Ministers, p. 132.

So what exactly is the wrath of the Lamb? “Their deeds will appear before them in their true character.” The truth can no longer be avoided, it must be faced...they see themselves and all their actions in light of the truth, and see the awfulness of their own character.

More context previous quote (PH086 28.3-29.3):

When Christ looked down from the crest of Olivet, he saw this state of things existing in every church. The warnings come down to all that are following in the tread of the people of Jerusalem, who had such great light. This people is before us as a warning. By rejecting God’s warnings in this our day men are repeating the sin of Jerusalem. The Lord sees what the human agent does not see and will not see,—the outcome of all the human devising in Battle Creek.

He has done all that a God could do. He has flashed light before the eyes of the people, that their sins might not reach the boundary where repentance cannot be felt. But by a long process of departure from just and righteous principles, men have placed themselves where light and truth, justice and mercy are not discerned. This course has become part of their very nature.

I call upon all who have united in a course of action that is wrong in principle to make a decided reformation, and forever after walk humbly with God. The world is soon to be judged. A righteous God must avenge the death of his Son. Today men are choosing Barabbas, and saying, Crucify Christ. They will do this in the person of his saints. They will go over the same ground as the Jewish priests and rulers did in their treatment of Christ. He, the Son of God, and an innocent man, was murdered because he told men truths that it did not please them to hear. Yet he was the Son of the infinite God.

Those who today despise the law of Jehovah, showing no respect for his commandments, are taking sides with the great apostate. They proclaim to a sin-corrupted world that the law of God is null and void. Those who declare this as truth deceive the people, and have virtually nailed the law of Jehovah to the cross between two thieves. What a thought!

Before the worlds unfallen, and the heavenly universe, the world will have to give an account to the Judge of the whole earth, the very one they condemned and crucified. What a reckoning day that will be! It is the great day of God's vengeance. Christ does not then stand at Pilate's bar. Pilate and Herod, and all that mocked, scourged, rejected, and crucified him will then understand what it means to feel the wrath of the Lamb. Their deeds will appear before them in their true character.

--Special Testimony to Battle Creek Church, 1898

Discussion Questions:

- Some of the people in Zephaniah's time did terrible things against both the Lord and their fellow countrymen, while others were just complacent as such evils unfolded. Which of these two sins do you think is worse in God's eyes? Justify your answer.

Both sins sear the conscience and do damage to the sinner. How should we react to the sins/evils around us?

- Go back over the final question at the end of Monday's lesson, where these words were quoted: "Nothing is apparently more helpless, yet really more invincible, than the soul that feels its nothingness and relies wholly on the merits of the Saviour." What does it mean to rely "wholly on the merits of the Saviour"? How do these words reveal to us the great truth of salvation by faith in Christ alone, and why is that truth so central to all that we believe? If we do not rely on His merits, on whose merits can we rely?

How is this traditionally interpreted? His merits are applied to our account? God no longer sees us, but sees Jesus instead? What does it really mean? His merits are applied in our hearts, in our minds, transforming our characters, renewing us in His image!

- Why is it so easy, especially for those who live in wealth and comfort, to forget just how utterly dependent we are upon God for everything that we have? How can we protect ourselves from this fatal delusion?
What about merely being “busy”? Isn’t it possible to forget our dependence on God when we’re too busy? Is anything this world has to offer better than what God offers? Are we living our lives as if we believe that statement? Or do our lives tell a different story?
- Dwell more upon this idea of the Lord singing and rejoicing over His people. We tend to think of ourselves singing and rejoicing over God and what He has done for us. What does it mean that He sings and rejoices over us? How could that be, considering the rather pathetic state in which we all find ourselves?

God rejoices over the prodigals who return, who are healed. He eagerly waits for them to realize their pitiful state and return to Him. Do we have the same attitude/love for the lost? Do we have the same burden for their salvation?

Evangelism Page 282

Work for the salvation of souls as though you knew by sight that you were in full view of the whole universe of heaven. Every angel in glory is interested in the work being done for the salvation of souls. We are not awake as we should be. All the angelic host are our helpers. “The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; He will save, He will rejoice over thee with joy; He will rest in His love, He will joy over thee with singing.” O cannot we then work with courage and faith. “In that day it will be said to Jerusalem, Fear thou not: and to Zion, Let not thine hands be slack.” Only have faith. Pray and believe, and ye shall see the salvation of God.—Letter 126, 1896. (Evangelism Page 282)

Testimonies for the Church Volume 5, Page 650

If you work for souls with humble, trustful dependence upon God, if the radiance of His Spirit is reflected from you in a Christlike character, if sympathy, kindness, forbearance, and love are abiding principles in your life, you will be a blessing to all around you. You will not criticize others or manifest a harsh, denunciatory spirit toward them; you will not feel that their ideas must be made to meet your standard; but the love of Jesus and the peaceable fruits of righteousness will be revealed in you.

“The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance.... And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. Let us not be desirous of vainglory, provoking one another, envying one another.”

The enemy will seek to intrude himself even amid your religious exercises. Every avenue will need to be faithfully guarded lest selfishness and pride become interwoven with your work. If self has really been crucified, with the affections and lusts, the fruit will appear in good works to the glory of God. I entreat you, in the fear of God, not to let your works degenerate. Be consistent, symmetrical Christians. When the heart has given its affections to Christ, old things have passed away, and all things have become new.

Our religion must be intelligent. The wisdom from above must strengthen, establish, and settle us. We must go on and on, forward and upward, from light to still greater light, and God will still reveal His glory to us as He doth not unto the world. (Battle Creek, Michigan, January 6, 1889)

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 10 2Q 2013

First Things First (Haggai)

SABBATH

Haggai – prophet of the OT. It is believed by most scholars that Haggai was a child when Israel went into captivity and he saw the first temple. He was approximately 80 years old when he wrote his prophetic message. His entire prophetic work occurred in a span of four months from late August to mid December of 520 BC. His book was written to inspire a distracted and disengaged Israel to resume its reconstruction of the Temple in Jerusalem.

The message is essentially: consider what you are doing – you are spending wealth, time, energy on building for yourselves but you are neglecting rebuilding the house of the Lord.

Thoughts about this?

Haggai's message stimulated the people in such a way that they reprioritized and fully reengaged the building project and the Temple was completed very quickly thereafter.

Many of the stories of the OT are not only historical, but chosen by God for incorporation into Scripture because they have object lesson application. In other words, the stories teach a larger truth. Any larger truth in the history of Israel and Haggai that applies to us today?

After Christ's victory 2000 years ago, after his resurrection, the first fruits taken from the grave and into heaven with Him, the gospel freeing minds on earth...after all this, did the people of God experience an attack and were they taken into captivity in any way? How?

Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. ⁴ He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God. 2Thes 2:3,4

What do you hear in this passage? Could we say the "temple" had been run down? Corrupted? Contaminated? What temple is Paul speaking about?

When did this man of sin arise? In the first century or after the first century? After, thus it is not referring to the physical temple in Jerusalem that was destroyed by Rome in AD 70.

What temple is being referred to? The temple of the mind, the temple where the Holy Spirit dwells – and Paul says this man of sin will set himself up there. How?

Could it be the man of sin caused so many lies about God, God's character, methods, law and principles to be accepted that the minds of the people became darkened, distorted and the Spirit temple was defiled and broken down?

Is it possible that today God is waiting for a people to stop building for self, stop promoting self, stop acting primarily to advance self, and instead to humble themselves before God for the renewing of their minds, the cleansing of the Spirit Temple?

Haggai is a lesson book, calling us to return to the worship of the true God, but have we gotten our priorities right? Jesus said,

Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' ²³ Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!' MT 7:22,23

Paul said:

But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. ² People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, ³ without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, ⁴ treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God— ⁵ having a form of godliness but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them. 2Tim 3:1-5

Notice, these people are religious, claiming to be followers of Christ, Christians, yet their minds are not renewed, their "temples" have not been rebuilt into Christlikeness! They use religion for their own purposes to advance self!

What is the core that underpins such distorted religion? A distorted view of God as a Roman emperor who must impose laws and punish the disobedient! A God who requires legal payment to propitiate sin.

When this view of God was accepted into the church, the church began to use the power of the state to enforce its way. Instead of sacrificing self for others, the world saw people using the name of Jesus to:

- carry out crusades
- burn people at the stake
- conduct the inquisition
- conduct witch trials
- engage in slavery and burn crosses in the yards of people of different color
- shoot abortion doctors
- harass, persecute and murder homosexuals
- in many other ways use Satan's methods attributing them to God and thus misrepresent the divine character.

The Spirit Temple is broken down and God is calling for a people, at this time in earth's history to cleanse the temple. To present the truth about God, which destroys the lies, to experience the cleansing power of the Holy Spirit and to live lives that love God and others more than self. We practice His methods of presenting the truth in love and leave everyone else free to decide for themselves.

Do we see a lesson in Haggai for us today? What can we do to advance this final message of mercy?

WEDNESDAY

Read last paragraph, "God promised that the..." we went over this last week, so this week can someone from the class review the evidence for us, why is the second smaller temple more glorious than Solomon's?

Read bottom pink section, "Read Heb 8:1-5..." thoughts?

Heb 8:1-5:

The point of what we are saying is this: We do have such a high priest, who sat down at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven, ² and who serves in the sanctuary, the true tabernacle set up by the Lord, not by man. ³ Every high priest is appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices, and so it was necessary for this one also to have something to offer. ⁴ If he were on earth, he would not be a priest, for there are already men who offer the gifts prescribed by the law. ⁵ They serve at a sanctuary that is a copy and shadow of what is in heaven. This is why Moses was warned when he was about to build the tabernacle: "See to it that you make everything according to the pattern shown you on the mountain."

Thoughts? What does it mean that Jesus serves in the true tabernacle set up by God?

What is He doing in the true tabernacle?

Is He cleansing the sanctuary? What does this mean?

What is it that defiles the sanctuary in heaven?

Where did sin begin? In heaven, with whom? Lucifer, who occupied what position? Covering cherub, where? In the Most Holy Place in heaven. So, before man ever existed, what contaminated the heavenly sanctuary? Lies about God!

And, this gives insight into why Colossians says, "and through him [Christ] to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross." (1:20)

Before any earthly sin, heaven was contaminated with lies about God and Christ came to reveal the truth to cleanse heaven from those lies.

After God made human beings, what was the first thing that contaminated the Spirit Temple, the mind, character and soul of our first parents in Eden? Lies about God! The exact same defiling agent, lies about God, contaminated heaven and the minds/characters/souls of humanity.

What then is needed to cleanse the Spirit Temple? The truth about God, and Jesus said, “you will know the truth and the truth will set you free.” Jn 8:32

I found this quotation in my reading and really liked how it amplifies Christ’s words that truth sets free:

“The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb.” (Christ’s Object Lessons 102).

What do you think of the blood of Jesus being a symbol of the truth about God? Do you remember any symbolism with blood being taken into the sanctuary in order to cleanse it? Where did Jesus, in John 6, say His blood was to be applied?

So what is Christ working in the heavenly sanctuary to cleanse? Could it be His people?

One of the founders of our church thought this was exactly it. Here is from the book The Great Controversy:

“The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of Days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi[3:1-3], are descriptions of the same event;”(p. 426).

And what does Malachi 3 describe?

“...The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple...behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner’s fire or a launderer’s soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver.”

Who are the Levites? The Priesthood of believers, the faithful people, those who trust God!

“You also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.” (1Pet 2:4) What is another name for a “spiritual house”? A sanctuary! “You also, like living stones, are being built into a sanctuary...” And just a few verses down Peter repeats this reality for emphasis, “But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood...” (1Pet 2:9).

What is Jesus doing in the heavenly sanctuary? Cleansing His people from the lies about God and from the infection of selfishness and fear that result from believing those lies and leads to destructive behavior. He is writing His law upon the tablets of the heart, which means He is restoring His law of love as the operating motive into those who trust Him. Thus, those who are ready to meet Jesus when He comes are described in Revelation as “they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death.” (12:11)

This morning I was reading a daily devotional book, That I May Know Him and read May 24 and May 25, here is an excerpt:

The Word of God has served as a mighty cleaver to separate the children of God from the world. [what is another way to describe the Word of God? Truth, the blood of Christ, which is to be taken into the heart] As they are taken out of the quarry of the world they are as rough stones, unfit for a place in the glorious temple of God. But they are brought into the Lord's workshop, to be hewed and squared and polished, that they may become precious, accepted stones. This work of preparation for the heavenly temple [what temple?] is going on continually during probationary time. We are naturally inclined to desire our own way and will, but when the transforming grace of Christ takes hold upon our hearts the inquiry of our souls is, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" When the Spirit of God works within us, we are led to will and to do of the Lord's good pleasure, and there is obedience in heart and action.... {TMK 150.2}

We are to occupy some place in the Lord's spiritual temple, and the important question is not as to whether you are a large or a small stone, but whether you have submitted yourself to God that He may polish you and make you emit light for His glory. If we are in the Lord's temple we must emit light. Are we permitting the heavenly Builder to hew and square and polish us? Have we faith to rest in Him? {TMK 150.4}

The Jewish Temple was built of hewn stones quarried out of the mountains, and every stone was fitted for its place in the Temple, hewed, polished and tested, before it was brought to Jerusalem. And when all were brought to the ground, the building went together without the sound of an ax or hammer. This building represents God's spiritual temple, which is composed of material gathered out of every nation and tongue and people, of all grades, high and low, rich and poor, learned and ignorant. These are not dead substances, to be fitted by hammer and chisel. They are living stones quarried out from the world by the truth, and the great Master Builder, the Lord of the temple, is now hewing and polishing them and fitting them for their respective places in the spiritual temple. When completed, this temple will be perfect in all its parts, the admiration of angels and of men, for its builder and maker is God. Truly, those who are to compose this glorious building are "called to be saints." {TMK 151.5}

What is the temple in heaven constructed out of? What is Christ doing in the heavenly temple?

MONDAY

The lesson points out that the people had lost sight of God and their mission, and Haggai came with a message, to which the people responded. The lesson states, “They ‘feared the Lord’ (vs. 12 NIV) and showed this by worshipping Him and giving Him due attention.”

Thoughts?

What do you think of this idea of fear of God and worshipping God based on fearing Him?

Some criticism of my new book has come in and one of the criticisms is that I downplay fear and suggest God doesn’t want us to be afraid of Him. The critics point out that the Bible says “the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.” (Ps 111:10, Pr 1:7, 9:10) Thus they conclude God is the source of fear and wants to instill fear in us.

What do you say?

When Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because...why? They were afraid – from where did that fear arise? Was God threatening them? Was God their enemy? Did God want them afraid of Him?

The Bible says, perfect love casts out all fear – what does this mean? God is love, so if we come into a relationship with God in which love rules, what happens to fear? It goes away.

But the Bible does say that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom how can we understand this?

Two ways – first, fear can be understood as awe, admiration, respect, and if we have awe and respect for God then we begin to esteem, admire, follow, listen, learn and then emulate the Lord thus we grow in wisdom.

Second, if we are behaving in self-destructive ways, like the Jews at Sinai, and God thunders, then like Israel we may be afraid, and if the fear leads us to stop the destructive “orgy” of sin and begin listening to God then wisdom begins. But, if we listen and come to know God what happens to fear? It goes away, as evidenced by Moses standing there when God thundered saying, “There is no reason to be afraid.”

So, from where does fear come? Does it come from knowing God or from not knowing Him and being alienated and separated from Him?

Who wants us to be afraid of God?

It is a sad commentary when well meaning Christians actually attribute to God motives and methods of the enemy!

So, if God doesn't want us to be afraid, then why does God act in ways, like thundering at Sinai, that He knows we will respond to with fear?

Because, like a loving parent, He won't sit by quietly and watch us destroy ourselves. Before it is too late He will do all in His power to get our attention and attempt to bring us to repentance and salvation, even if as some point our rebellious ways are so loud we cannot hear the "still small voice." Then, in love, He will thunder, hoping it will get through to us. Very much like a parent giving their small child vaccines, knowing the child will not understand, might even be afraid, but never wanting the child to experience such, yet giving the vaccine anyway to protect the child.

TUESDAY

And when the people responded to Haggai's message with fear, Haggai told them, "Do not fear!" Just like a parent who comforts their child who has just received vaccine telling them, its okay, they don't need to be afraid.

But, if we fail to understand this truth about God, and instead promote the idea that fear is what God wants, what is the problem? What does fear lead to?

What happens if we respond to God and obey Him out of fear?

Fear and Love are inversely proportional. Let's use the integrative evidenced based approach and test this:

Scripture: "There is no fear in love. But perfect love drives out fear, because fear has to do with punishment. The one who fears is not made perfect in love." 1John 4:18

Science: In the brain, the ACC is the part where we experience altruistic, other-centered love – and when the ACC is active it actually calms the brain's fear circuitry. But when the fear circuitry is active it impairs the ACC and higher cortical functions.

Experience: What is your experience? When you have been in a moment of genuine love, when you cared and loved another more than self, what happened to your fear? Then, when you have been terribly fearful, worried, anxious, what happened to your ability to put others first?

What happens in the heart of those who worship out of fear and never transition to love?

Such worship actually destroys love, incites rebellion, results in legalistic attitudes, we become hard hearted religionists who become judgmental and intolerant of others who deviate from the strict code we have established. The liberty of others threatens our fragile false security and our fear leads us to seek to enforce on others what we believe is right.

Does God want us to be afraid of Him or love Him? Then does fear come from God? No, fear comes from alienation from God, from not knowing Him!

The lesson states, in regard to how the people responded to Haggai's message, "The godly response of the leaders and the people testified to the spiritual reformation that had taken place."

Thoughts? What is a godly response? Does it matter to which "god" one believes?

For instance, when calls went out for commitment to the Lord's cause at approximately 1000 years after Christ, how did the people respond? With the Crusades. Did they think theirs was a godly response?

Any examples of people responding to "god" but their behavior and actions reveal that they are worshipping a different "god" than you do?

What is the point of bringing this up?

Remember the text we quoted earlier where Jesus warned that in the last days people will think they are following Him but He never knew them.

Is it possible to be a Christian, to attend church faithfully, to be a regular tithe payer and offering giver, to be a teacher, deacon, elder, bishop, pastor, priest and dedicate your life to serving Christ and still not know Him and actually be working for the enemy?

How can this be? What are the roots of it and how can we ensure we are not among that group?

The Integrative Evidence-Based approach

- Scripture, Science and Experience harmonized, provides testable truths that are reproducible, reliable, and transformational
- Go to Scripture putting God at the center, what does the Scripture teach about God
- Make Jesus Christ the lens through which we require our conclusions of God to harmonize, while holding steadfastly to the other two threads of evidence
- Put into practice the principles of love
- Think for yourself, let every person be fully persuaded in their own mind, Rom 14:5

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "The final message..." thoughts

What do you understand the God's judgment to be?

Do you see God through the lens of natural law, the law of love, the design parameters upon which He constructed life to operate or do you see God through the lens of imposed law, like a Roman emperor?

If God is seen through the lens of the law of love – then how do we understand His judgment?

- It is the accurate diagnosis of what the actual condition of each person is
- It is also the therapeutic intervention to heal and restore, and
- The final judgment or diagnosis of the wicked that they are terminal and nothing more can be done. “Ephraim is joined to idols; leave him alone!” Hosea 4:17
- God in the end judges that, for some, they are beyond healing, they have destroyed the faculties that respond to love and truth and there is nothing more than can be done. Thus, He sets them free to reap what they have chosen, eternal separation from Him, who is the source of life. He grants them the most merciful outcome, not eternal existence in sin, but the freedom to be separate and pass from all suffering.
- Christ in this view was God’s means of revealing the truth and providing remedy to cure the terminally deviant human condition
- Thus those who accept Christ are judged, diagnosed, by God as having been healed and restored to righteousness

But, if we see God through the lens of imposed law how do we see judgment?

- A legal verdict found for or against the sinner
- A penalty, determined by God, is externally inflicted upon the unrepentant to make them pay for their disobedience, either inflicted torment and then execution, or eternal torment inflicted by God
- Christ in this view is punished by His Father in our place
- Christ’s blood is a commodity to be obtained and bartered with the Father to appease His anger and wrath at sin and pay our legal debt to the heavenly government
- Those who accept the blood of Christ are legally declared not guilty and the Father is legally prevented from tormenting and executing them

Which view do you find more reasonable?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “For over a year...” thoughts? How do you understand what is described here?

God actively sent suffering, pain, hardship, disease OR God actively set them free to experience what they persistently chose, life without Him?

Does it make a difference how we understand it? What difference does it make?

Is God’s action punishment? Or, is it loving discipline? Is there a difference? What is the difference?

In People Magazine, March 18, 2013 p 94, there is an article about Pat Summit – the famous and incredibly successful coach of the Tennessee Lady Vols basketball team.

For those outside the US, Pat Summit is the all time winningest coach in NCAA basketball history, men or women. She won 8 National Championships and the only coach in NCAA history with over 1000 wins.

As many of you know she has sadly been diagnosed with Alzheimer's dementia. People Magazine quotes a section from her recent book, "I know that Alzheimer's has brought me to a point that I was going to arrive at someday anyway. With or without this diagnosis, I was going to experience diminishment. We all do. [And] I know God doesn't take things away to be cruel. He takes things away to lighten us. He takes things away so we can fly."

Thoughts?

Now this is a very tricky idea to consider – will a loving parent take away things for our blessing?

Does God ever take things away?

- Nebuchadnezzar's sanity for 7 years
- But then God restored his sanity and the king was converted

While God may therapeutically intervene to bring conviction and a person to repentance, should we conclude that sickness and disease are from God? Is God the source of disease? Does disease occur in harmony with God's will? Or is disease the outworking of deviations from God's design, will and purpose?

Should we attribute to God's account the numerous birth defects, diseases and sickness with which humanity suffers?

Does that mean then that sickness is because a person is due to an individual sinning? Not necessarily! But because nature is out of harmony with God's design. Certainly, one could abuse themselves with tobacco, alcohol, drugs and cause disease, but the disciples asked Jesus, "who sinned that this man was born blind, him or his parents." And the answer was neither. Also, the case of Job makes it clear that disease can happen to the righteous. But, is disease brought directly by God? Does God act to cause it?

Where would you draw the line?

How do we understand God using everything for good if we trust Him? Not everything is good, but if we trust God He can bring good out of evil.

Read last paragraph, "The Lord used..." thoughts?

Why could God not be honored when His house sat in ruins?

What about the end of the day's lesson, the observation that the people lost a sense of their divine mission as a remnant of God – and the question if there is any lesson for us?

What is the lesson for us? Do we have a divine mission?

How would you state our mission? What is it?

- To spread the gospel? What is this?
- To lighten the world for Christ's return, or prepare the world for the Second Advent – what does that mean, what does it look like?
- To tell the truth about God's character of love, how do we do that? What do we say that will be heard? How many Christians currently believe that the God they worship is not love?
- Others?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss question 3

Major Lessons from Minor Prophets Lesson 11 2Q 2013

Visions of Hope (Zechariah)

SABBATH

Key Thoughts states, “Though Israel had been punished for its sins, it was time for its people to live again in relationship with God according to His promises.”

What do you think of this idea? Think about it? Any concerns?

The marriage relationship is often used as a metaphor for the relationship God has with His people. Let’s take the key thought and apply it to husband and wife.

“Though Susie had been punished for her transgressing her husband’s rules, it was time for her to live again in relationship with her husband according to His promise not to beat her anymore.”

Really? Does this idea really work for anyone? How can intelligent people really put forth such beliefs?

Ideas such as this attributed to God are evidence of how deeply the lies about God and His methods have penetrated into the psyche of good Christian people.

Now, remember, the disciples had so much distortion about God in their minds that even after 3.5 years with Jesus they still didn’t comprehend his mission or God’s true character and Peter is arguing with Christ the night before the crucifixion and attacking people with his sword.

Good people who are on God’s side may have distortions about God – but they also have hearts that long to grow in their knowledge and experience with God. They have minds that love the truth and recognize the truth is unfolding and they need to keep moving forward, rather than defending old traditions. This is why the disciples, steeped in misunderstanding, were able to be Christ’s true representatives, but the priests and Pharisees were not .

Would a wife ever genuinely love and trust her husband who beats her for not following his rules? Some have argued yes, that in certain cultures this is very appropriate and women get upset if their husbands stop beating them because they think their husband’s don’t care anymore. Thoughts about this?

In relationships dominated by coercive power, abuse, beatings, the victim, whether child, spouse, or kidnapped person, will often come to long for the approval and attention of the one in power – so they will feel safe. If some women find themselves in a culture in which this ugly distortion of healthy relationships happen, they may also find that they have, as a survival mechanism, come to experience the beatings in positive ways – but is it really healthy and positive?

Can we, love, trust and grow into the fullness of our own individuality in a relationship dominated by threat, coercion and imposed punishments?

This idea that the punishment for sin is inflicted by God a lie – so how can we restate the metaphor of marriage that more accurately represents Israel's condition?

Though Susie, because of her repeated infidelity, has suffered the pain and distress of living alienated from her husband, her husband continued to love her and now it was time for Susie to live again in relationship with him, according to his promised devotion to her.”

Thoughts?

Why did Israel end up in captivity? Was God inflicting punishment?

Read first paragraph, “On the wall of an old...” thoughts?

In the 19th century there was a great spiritual awakening in America, with many people returning to a relationship with God, and taking seriously Jesus' promise to come again. Many Christian groups began longing for and looking toward the return of Christ. Some set dates, only to have disappointment follow disappointment. And several new church groups arose from this passion to see Jesus come again. The SDA church was one of those.

May 21, 2013 celebrated the 150th anniversary of the founding of the SDA church – the church with its mission to prepare for the second advent of Jesus. Do Christians today, still have passionate expectation that Jesus will return soon, or have we either lost hope, or just fallen asleep, fallen into complacency and believe Jesus will come one day, but not in our lifetime?

What do you think of these two questions?

- Do you believe Jesus will come soon?
- Do you believe Jesus can come soon?

Do you hear them the same, or do they imply different things?

“Do you believe Jesus will come soon?” implies that God has a set timetable and Jesus return is preprogrammed, like a time bomb, and when the clock hits a certain point it will go off and He will come regardless.

“Do you believe Jesus can come soon?” implies that God is waiting for certain conditions to occur before Christ returns. While God knows the day and hour of Christ's return, because God knows the future, what determines the time is not some preset clock, but the condition of certain things on earth, which we could influence.

Which idea do you think is more accurate?

What can we do to hasten the day?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “The return...” thoughts?

How do you answer the questions?

“Would they be safe and secure in their land, or would enemies come again to harass them?”

- Would the people likely have had this concern? Most certainly...
- But, who was their primary enemy? In other words, what was the greatest threat to their security and safety in the land? Other nations or their own apostasy?
- Why did they end up being taken captive? Because they refused to follow God’s methods and He set them free to go their own way.
- Is there a lesson in this for us? Do we ever suffer in this world because of doing our own thing and refusing to follow God’s plan, design, methods for our lives?
- And in the aftermath, do we live in fear of suffering similarly again?
- What is the greatest threat to our personal security and peace in this world?

The next question, “Had God forgiven their past unfaithfulness, or would He continue their punishment?”

- Is this a legitimate question? Or does this question arise from some misunderstanding?
- What is the false premise that this question is based upon?
 - That God’s law is imposed, and God is the imposer of punishments.
- What impact does it have on people to believe this lie?
- What about today, do we ever struggle with such lies?
- How do such ideas affect our relationship with God?

The next paragraph tells how Zechariah saw in vision the angel of the Lord move to intercede for Judah. With whom does the angel of the Lord intercede?

TUESDAY

Read Zech 3:1-8:

Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the Lord, and Satan standing at his right side to accuse him. 2 The Lord said to Satan, “The Lord rebuke you, Satan! The Lord, who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you! Is not this man a burning stick snatched from the fire?”

3 Now Joshua was dressed in filthy clothes as he stood before the angel. 4 The angel said to those who were standing before him, “Take off his filthy clothes.” Then he said to Joshua, “See, I have taken away your sin, and I will put rich garments on you.” 5 Then I said, “Put a clean turban on his head.” So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him, while the angel of the Lord stood by. 6 The angel of the Lord gave this charge to Joshua: 7 “This is what the Lord Almighty says: ‘If you will walk in my ways and keep my requirements, then you will govern my house and have charge of my courts, and I will give you a place among these standing here. 8 “ ‘Listen, O high priest Joshua and your associates seated before you, who are men symbolic of things to come: I am going to bring my servant, the Branch.

Thoughts?

Let’s identify the players, who is who and what means what?

- Who is Joshua the High Priest?
 - Literally he is the first High Priest after captivity.
- Who does Joshua represent in the symbolism?
 - The people – anyone else?
- What is another name for Joshua?
 - Jesus, and Jesus is our High Priest.
- Who is the accuser?
 - Satan, the adversary.
- Who is the angel of the Lord?
 - Jesus.
- What is the fire from which the burning stick is plucked?
 - Deviation from God’s design, i.e. sin
- What does it mean burning stick?
 - Sinful humankind
- What do the filthy clothes represent?
 - Defective human character, our hearts and minds filled with fear, selfishness, guilt, shame, arrogance, pride.
- What does it mean to take away the filthy clothes and put on clean clothes?
 - Removing fear and selfishness from the character and restoring in our hearts self-sacrificial, Christlike love!
- Who is the Branch?
 - Jesus

So what do you gather from this vision story? What does it mean?

Adam deviated from God’s design and humanity was infected with fear and selfishness, operating on Satan’s principles, being burned up by sin, dying in the fires of selfishness. Jesus came and “became sin though He knew no sin that we might become the righteousness of God.” He took our sinful state upon Himself to cure it. Thus the angel of the Lord and the High Priest represent Jesus doing for us what we could not do for ourselves. Jesus takes away our sinfulness, literally. He “destroyed sin and brought life and immortality to light.” Jesus Christ actually cleansed the species human, by His singular victory! He now holds the cure, the keys to salvation and eternal life.

Satan is a legalist, an imposed law proponent, who claims it is not fair and Jesus can’t do this. Every sin must be punished urges Satan. Satan brings up long lists of misdeeds, arguing every one must be punished, but Jesus says, “the Lord rebuke you.” Just as He did when He resurrected Moses.

So, Satan, not getting anywhere with Jesus and God with his legal arguments, turns to humanity and begins filling the minds of men with all kinds of legal ideas about God’s government.

Then Satan fills our minds with accusations,

- accusing us of falling short, of committing too many sins, of being too defective for God to love and save, of being unworthy.
- Satan accuses us to discourage us and convince us we are beyond hope.
- He fills our minds with lies about God, presenting God as a being who must inflict punishment for sin – but Jesus says, “the Lord rebuke you Satan.” And Jesus says to each of us, “see I have taken away your sin.”

With whom is Christ pleading?

- Is there any hint in this passage that Jesus is pleading to His Father?
- According to this passage, who would need to hear Jesus pleas?
- Who would be troubled by Satan’s allegations?
- Would Satan’s allegations trouble God?
- In other words, would God get confused and uncertain and start doubting Himself after hearing Satan’s allegations?
- Who would?
- We get distraught, upset, doubt when Satan makes his allegations.
- Then who needs to hear Christ’s pleas? We do.

Here is a quote from a book called Amazing Grace. What do you think about the idea put forth?

Satan knows that those who ask God for pardon and grace will obtain it; therefore he presents their sins before them to discourage them. Against those who are trying to obey God, he is constantly seeking occasion for complaint. Even their best and most acceptable service he seeks to make appear corrupt. By countless devices, the most subtle and the most cruel, he endeavors to secure their condemnation. {AG 316.2}

From who is Satan seeking to secure the our condemnation?

If you have an imposed law construct, then you falsely believe it is God.

If you have a natural law construct, then you realize we are sick, God has the remedy, He will provide it to absolutely everyone who will accept it, and it works to heal 100% of those who take it. Do doctor condemn to death patients they can heal?

If a patient comes to the ER with infection from years of IV drug use – and the doctor has antibiotics, will the doctor, hold “court” ask for witness, hear the accusation of those who want to see the patient die, examine a list of misdeeds, and then make a legal judgment and pronounce the death sentence upon the patient, and then, execute the patient?

Will the doctor examine the patient, hear the history, the facts of what has happened, from the patient and family and medical records, if the patient has been there before? Will the doctor make a judgment, diagnosis? And judging that the patient has a terminal infection, that if not cured will kill the patient, what does the doctor do, if the doctor has antibiotics that will cure them? Give them the remedy.

So, who must Satan get to condemn the sinner so that the sinner won't get the remedy? The sinner must condemn themselves, the sinner must be tricked by Satan into believing they are beyond healing, they are not worth saving, they are too far gone to matter, thus they won't take the remedy.

Here are some Bible texts, notice what the Bible says regarding God's condemnation of sinners:

John 3:16,17:

“For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. ¹⁷ For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him.”

“neither do I condemn you.” Jesus said to the woman caught in adultery (JN 8:11)

Romans 8:31-39:

³¹ What, then, shall we say in response to this? If God is for us, who can be against us? ³² He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all—how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? ³³ Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. ³⁴ Who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us. ³⁵ Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? ³⁶ As it is written:

“For your sake we face death all day long;
we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered.”

³⁷ No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. ³⁸ For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, ³⁹ neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

So, if God is not condemning us, whom is Satan seeking to get to condemn us? Ourselves!

Then to whom is Christ pleading? Christ is pleading with you and me to trust Him and reject the lies about the Father.

Do we ever struggle because we have mistakenly thought Jesus needs to plead to His Father?

Have we ever struggled with guilt and memories of past failings, thinking we have messed up so bad we are beyond hope? Who is behind such ideas? If those thoughts enter the mind, what is the proper response? “The Lord rebuke you Satan!”

The second paragraph states, “While Joshua is interceding before God for the people, Satan is bringing accusations against them based on their sinfulness.”

Thoughts about this? Any concerns? Where does the text say Joshua is interceding before God for the people?

Do you see how much is read into the text that isn’t there, and all based on an imposed law construct.

Who does Joshua represent? Jesus – and what is Jesus doing? He is taking our sinfulness, our iniquity upon Himself, and removing the iniquity and developing perfect character! He is cleansing the Spirit Temple. Jesus is recreating humanity back to God’s original ideal. And Satan is there the entire time accusing and attempting to derail the process.

Read third paragraph, “The Lord rejects...” thoughts? What are your thoughts about this? Where in this passage is there anything about the full measure of divine punishment? Where do such ideas arise? What impact do such ideas have upon people?

WEDNESDAY

Read Zechariah 4:1-6:

Then the angel who talked with me returned and wakened me, as a man is wakened from his sleep. ² He asked me, “What do you see?”

I answered, “I see a solid gold lampstand with a bowl at the top and seven lights on it, with seven channels to the lights. ³ Also there are two olive trees by it, one on the right of the bowl and the other on its left.”

⁴ I asked the angel who talked with me, “What are these, my lord?”

⁵ He answered, “Do you not know what these are?”

“No, my lord,” I replied.

⁶ So he said to me, “This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel: ‘Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit,’ says the LORD Almighty.

Thoughts?

What is the vision about?

From what is the lampstand constructed? Solid gold, what does the lampstand with seven bowls represent?

“Thy word is a lamp unto my feet a light unto my path.” PS 119:105

The Word of God – and what is that?

- The Bible?
- The Living Word, Jesus – Logos, “The Word was made flesh...”

What do the seven lights represent?

Verse 10 says these are the seven “eyes” of the Lord – what does this mean?

Some Bible commentators suggest this represents God’s “all knowing presence”. What do you think?

What did Jesus say we are to be for Him? We are a light unto the world. We are to represent Him!

We are to let our High Priest, Jesus, work in our hearts, trimming the wick of our lives, so we shine brightly for Him. Could the seven lights, also called the seven eyes, represent those who are Christ’s followers, those who are connected to the solid gold lampstand and Christ shines out through them?

What is the eye symbolic of? Knowledge, intelligence, awareness. So, I would like to suggest the seven lights represent the people of God, who are “enlightened” and have spiritual insight and intelligence. These are not the believers trapped in darkness and misrepresent God, but those who have been filled with the Holy Spirit and have the light of truth shining through them.

The Hebrew Lexicon says the word translated eye is:

עַיִן, עֵינַיִם [‘ayin /ah·yin/] 1612a, 1613; GK 6412 and 6524; 887 occurrences; AV translates as “eye” 495 times, “sight” 216 times, “seem” 19 times, “colour” 12 times, “fountain” 11 times, “well” 11 times, “face” 10 times, “pleased + 3190” 10 times, “presence” eight times, before” eight times... “conceit” four times, “think” four times, and translated miscellaneous 66 times. 1 eye. 1a eye. 1a1 of physical eye. 1a2 as showing mental qualities. 1a3 of mental and spiritual faculties (fig.). 2 spring, fountain.¹

So, what does this symbolism mean? That we are to go forward renewed by the Holy Spirit to reveal the light of truth about God, intelligently, dispelling the darkness of lies about God.

The lesson states in the last paragraph, “By the Spirit, God provides the power for us to do His work now as He did then. Therefore, the work is accomplished not by human might of force but by the Lord working through those who are open to be used by Him.”

Thoughts? This is certainly true – the work is accomplished by the Holy Spirit, not by our own human effort.

Do you have any concerns about this however?

Does the Scripture actually restrict the limitation of achieving God's purposes by might and power to human might and power? Notice how the lesson attempts to insert the idea this is only stating that human might and power cannot achieve God's purposes, leaving open the idea that God can achieve what He wants by exercising His might and power. Can He?

What is it that God wants? He wants us to completely love and trust Him. Can He achieve that by using might and power?

If might and power achieves God's goals, then why didn't He use might and power on Lucifer in heaven? If might and power exercised by God could bring an end to the conflict then why did Jesus have to die?

Might and power cannot achieve God's goal to destroy the lies about Him, reveal the truth of His character of love and win us back to love and trust. This is the work of the Spirit, which is called the Spirit of truth and love! It is by presenting the truth in love and leaving others free that God wins!

Read Zechariah 6:12,13:

Tell him this is what the Lord Almighty says: 'Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the Lord. ¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the Lord, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.'

Thoughts?

Who is the Branch? Jesus and what does it mean He will branch out from His place? Where is his place?

In heaven – does it say He will leave His place? Is there a difference between branching out and leaving? What is the difference?

A branch stays connected to its source – did Jesus leave heaven, or did He branch out from heaven? When Jesus came to earth and became incarnate, what did He do? He connected His divinity with our humanity! His divinity branched out from heaven – yet He retained His connection to heaven.

Jesus is the connecting link, the conduit, the branch, through which God's love flows back into the species human.

What does it mean He will build His temple? Don't some teach the actual temple already exists in heaven? If so, then why does Jesus need to branch out from heaven to build His temple?

As I was studying this week I came across this article in an old journal, Signs of the Times, written Dec 12, 1895. Consider how some Christians used to think about God, what do you think of this?

In the prayer of Christ for his disciples, he said concerning them: "The glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one: I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one [in spiritual union]; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me." {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 1}

The glory of Christ is his character, and his character is an expression of the law of God. He fulfilled the law in its every specification, and gave to the world in his life a perfect pattern of what it is possible for humanity to attain unto by cooperation with divinity. In his humanity Christ was dependent upon the Father, even as humanity is now dependent upon God for divine power in attaining unto perfection of character. God's law is an exponent of his character, an expression of his holiness; but, viewed by him who has fallen through sin, it is a voice of condemnation, a ministration of death. [Why? How do you understand the law, imposed or natural? If the law of respiration is violated, and you are under water, will the law be a ministration of death? Why? Can the law change to meet you underwater? No, if you are to live, you must be brought back into harmony with the law. But if you conceive the law as imposed, then why does death ensue? Because God is described as killing.] It is not in the province of law to pardon the transgressor; for "by the law is the knowledge of sin." "By the law shall no flesh be justified." No ray of hope shines forth from the law to the sinner, and its transgressor can find no answer from the law to his anxious inquiry, "What shall I do to be saved?" "How shall I be just with God?" {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 2}

But through Christ a way of escape has been provided. Our Redeemer came in the flesh to condemn sin in the flesh, to lay hold of the repenting soul with an unyielding grasp, and at the same time to grasp the throne of God, becoming the connecting link between humanity and divinity, between earth and heaven. He is the only refuge for the guilty soul. In searching to know God, man is directed to Christ, who lived out the law of God, and manifested to the world the attributes of the Father. In the Son of God the inexpressible goodness of God is revealed; for in him mercy and truth meet together, righteousness and peace kiss each other. "God so loved the world, that he gave his only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Christ in the flesh, condemning sin in the flesh, was a perfect revelation of God to the world. Christ declared: "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 3}

In answer to the request of Philip, "Lord, show us the Father, and it sufficeth us," Jesus said: "Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself; but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works." The Lord Jesus is the embodiment of the glory of the Godhead. The light of the knowledge of the glory of God is seen in the face of Jesus Christ. God has revealed himself to men; he stooped to take upon him our nature, and in his Son we see the glory of the divine attributes. Those who see not in Christ the divine character are in the shadow of Satan's misrepresentation of divinity.

"The god of this world hath blinded the minds of them that believe not, lest the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them." "Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high." "In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins; who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature." {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 4}

In Christ Jesus is a revelation of the glory of the Godhead. All that the human agent can know of God to the saving of the soul, is the measure of the knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus, to which he can attain; for Christ is he who represents the Father. The most wonderful truth to be grasped by men is the truth, "Immanuel, God with us." Christ is the wisdom of God. He is the great "I AM" to the world. As we contemplate the glory of the divine character as revealed in Christ, we are led to exclaim, "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God!" This wisdom is displayed in the love that reaches out for the recovery of lost and ruined man. {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 5}

The work of God in the creation of man needed no undoing. There was nothing imperfect, nothing incomplete. He spake and it was done. The very dust of the ground from which man was formed was pure, and the breath of life which God breathed into his nostrils was holy. He was placed in Eden, the garden of God, and its atmosphere was undefiled, and from the beams of the sun in the heavens which blessed and cheered the earth, to the fountains and streams that watered the garden, all was holy, all was clothed with spotless purity and unexcelled loveliness, and was in harmony with the character of the Father and the Son, by whom the worlds were made, and in whom was life, and the life is the light of men. [All was in harmony with the character of God, meaning? All operated upon the design template of love, the principle of giving, as God designed it] {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 6}

But in the transgression of man both the Father and the Son were dishonored. Man committed sin, and sin is the transgression of the law, which is holy, just, and good. [which means what?] Through sin the temple of God which he had builded for his own indwelling and glory, was reduced to ruin, was fallen and in decay. [what temple? Then what temple needed cleansing?] Satan beguiled the holy pair to their own destruction, and introduced an element of character that was antagonistic to God and to their fellow-creatures. [what element? Selfishness, antagonistic to love, the principle of survival of the fittest kill or be killed. How was it introduced? Lies believed break the circle of love and trust....] Before the entrance of sin, the hearts of God's children had been filled with love toward their Creator, and they were in harmony with his will; but upon yielding to the tempter a warring element began to work in the human agent. Even the earth itself shows the curse of transgression, and signs of enmity appear. Darkness covers the earth like the pall of death, and will continue to shroud the glory of God until death is swallowed up in victory. {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 7}

In the creation of God before the entrance of sin, every part of nature was in perfection; God had nothing to take down as unnecessary to his plan. He needed to set into operation no power by which to dispossess; he needed to inaugurate no opposing force. But through the calamity of sin, the work of disintegration was begun, and the beautiful temple of God's building was defiled and laid in ruins. [the work of disintegration, what is that? What is being said? That sin violates the parameters upon which life is built and natural results in decay, ruin and death, unless God intervenes to heal and restore. What temple is being ruined? What temple did Christ come to build? What temple is being cleansed? How?] God no longer was a dweller in the heart of man. To oppose and bring to naught the work of the enemy, the promise was given, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel." {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 8}

In the councils of heaven, hope was furnished for the fallen race. Jesus Christ offered his life as a ransom for the lost, as the price by which he might purchase the right to re-create the sinner, and form again the image of God in the soul. [What is ransom? The price necessary to set one free from captivity or bondage. What holds us in bondage? The lies about God we believe and our carnal nature. What then is the price for our freedom? The truth about God which restores to trust and a new nature, both of which Christ achieved.] Fallen man was to be renewed in the divine likeness. He was to be uplifted, to be pardoned and redeemed, not by the law, but by Jesus Christ, our Righteousness. Angels fly through the midst of heaven, proclaiming the glad tidings that a ransom has been found, and that the treasures that have been hidden from ages and generations in Christ, are to be displayed before a wondering universe. {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 9}

In Christ is found a resource that has never before been called out. Clothing his divinity with humanity, with the wealth of the treasures of heaven at his command, he was to come to our world to counteract the ruin that Satan has wrought. [not to pay a legal penalty, but to counteract the ruin, to rebuild humanity, to restore mankind into God's original ideal] What a scene was that when angels, cherubim, and a seraphim rejoiced as they hastened through the heavenly courts, proclaiming that a ransom had been found, and that God could be just, and yet be the justifier of him who believes in the ransom that had been provided! The law could be magnified and made honorable, and yet fallen man could be restored to more than his former dignity and glory, and exalted as an overcomer of the Satanic hosts. Every one who should believe in Jesus, should be recreated to walk in newness of life, and from the ruins that Satan had wrought through sin, should arise in purity and holiness the fallen temple of the Lord. Man was to be reconstructed, to be formed after the image of Jesus Christ, the Wisdom of God. "Unto whom coming, a living stone, rejected indeed of men, but with God elect, precious, ye also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God through Jesus Christ." {ST, December 12, 1895 par. 10}

Thoughts? Isn't this an amazing article? What has happened to our church? We have been hijacked by an imposed law construct, with a distorted god who is like a Roman emperor who must inflict punishment, who must receive legal payment... The truth is we are defective because of sin and Christ came to counteract the damage sin has caused and to rebuild us into His image!

MONDAY

Read Zech 2:10,11:

“Shout and be glad, O Daughter of Zion. For I am coming, and I will live among you,” declares the Lord. 11 “Many nations will be joined with the Lord in that day and will become my people. I will live among you and you will know that the Lord Almighty has sent me to you.

Thoughts?

What is promised?

- Jesus is coming to live on earth with us
- From what Jesus accomplishes all people of the world, the entire human race, will be blessed, and people from all nations will partake the remedy and be reconciled to God.
- What is the significance of saying “you will know that the Lord Almighty has sent me to you.”?

THURSDAY

First sentence of second paragraph states, “God’s answer through Zechariah is twofold: first it is necessary that God’s people remember the past so that they don’t repeat it.”

This is sound advise – remember the past so we don’t repeat it. Do we? Have we remembered the past, or are we repeating it?

Are we vulnerable to repeating mistakes made by humans in the past? Can you name any?

- Misunderstanding God’s character
- Misconstruing God’s law as imposed
- Believing rituals are important in their own right
- Placing behavior over character (i.e. don’t heal on Sabbath, MT 5, it is more than avoiding the behavior of adultery, but having a new heart)
- Disfellowshipping someone for divorce
- Others?

Major Lessons From Minor Prophets Lesson 12 2Q 2013

Heaven's Best Gift (Zechariah)

SUNDAY

The lesson for the day focuses on Zechariah chapter eight, which is about restoration of Zion. Verses 1-3:

Again the word of the LORD Almighty came to me. ² This is what the LORD Almighty says: "I am very jealous for Zion; I am burning with jealousy for her."

³ This is what the LORD says: "I will return to Zion and dwell in Jerusalem. Then Jerusalem will be called the City of Truth, and the mountain of the LORD Almighty will be called the Holy Mountain."

Thoughts?

What is Zion?

Historically, Zion initially meant the southern mount in Jerusalem on which stood a Jebusite fortress which was conquered by David, and where David built his home, thus called the City of David. The ridge on which this fortress was built had a northern mount, called Mount Moriah. It was here that Solomon's Temple and Palace were built. Thus, after Solomon the entire ridge was often referred to as Zion. Further, since the Temple was built on the "sides of the north" this term refers to the place where God dwells and from where God rules. Thus when Scripture states that Lucifer wanted to sit on the sides of the north, it is saying that Lucifer wanted to occupy God's throne. Take God's place in God's Temple.

This is the literal historic reference to Zion. But, as we have discussed many times in here, the literal stories of ancient Israel often are enacted object lessons for a future reality – does this apply to Zion?

What about Hebrews 12:22,23:

But you have come to Mount Zion, to the heavenly Jerusalem, the city of the living God. You have come to thousands upon thousands of angels in joyful assembly, ²³ to the church of the firstborn, whose names are written in heaven.

Thoughts? Is the Mount Zion spoken of in Hebrews the physical mountain located in the Middle East today? What is being referred to in Hebrews?

When we read about Zion, about promises to restore Zion, about people coming to Zion – should we be thinking about the earth as it is today and restoring some ruins in earthly Jerusalem, or is Scripture pointing us toward the new heaven and new earth when all sin, pain, suffering and death are eternally gone?

And what about the idea of God being jealous for Zion, what would this then mean?

Is God jealous for a physical location, dirt, bricks and mortar? Is God of the same mindset as so many in the Middle East who are fighting for real estate?

When God says He is jealous, for what is He jealous?

Read first paragraph, “God’s plan was...” thoughts? When will Jerusalem be a safe place? What will make Jerusalem a safe place?

What makes a city an unsafe place? What are the possibilities?

- Toxins or poisons – Chernobyl
- Biological hazards or disease – typhoid, yellow fever etc.
- Wild animals
- Untrustworthy and dangerous people

When speaking of making the New Jerusalem a safe place which is the biggest obstacle for God to accomplish and why?

Is it difficult for God to cleanse the environment from toxins, destroy disease or tame wild animals? Is there anything that obstructs God from turning untrustworthy and dangerous people into trustworthy friends?

Would it be necessary for God to heal people, to transform them so all the inhabitants are trustworthy friends in order for Jerusalem to be a safe place?

What obstructs that process?

- Lies about God
- Lies about God’s law
- Lies about the gospel and the plan of salvation
- Which perpetuates fear
- Our own selfish natures, which is inflamed by the lies believed
- Satan and his agencies

Does God have a role for us to play in helping to make Jerusalem a safe place?

Which Jerusalem? What is our role?

Read Zech 8:20-23:

²⁰ This is what the LORD Almighty says: “Many peoples and the inhabitants of many cities will yet come, ²¹ and the inhabitants of one city will go to another and say, ‘Let us go at once to entreat the LORD and seek the LORD Almighty. I myself am going.’ ²² And many peoples and powerful nations will come to Jerusalem to seek the LORD Almighty and to entreat him.”

²³ This is what the LORD Almighty says: “In those days ten men from all languages and nations will take firm hold of one Jew by the hem of his robe and say, ‘Let us go with you, because we have heard that God is with you.’ ”

Thoughts? What does this mean?

Is this talking about earthly Jerusalem, or is Jerusalem here used symbolically to represent those who know God?

What does it mean ten men from all languages and nations will take firm hold of one Jew because God is with him or her?

What were the Jews supposed to do? Did they do it?

Then, has God given up? To whom will people from all nations turn in order to find the truth about God? If someone is genuinely united with God, and witnesses the truth about God, and from their witness leads people to God, would they be one of the “Jews” referred to in this passage?

A man is not a Jew if he is only one outwardly, nor is circumcision merely outward and physical. ²⁹ No, a man is a Jew if he is one inwardly; and circumcision is circumcision of the heart, by the Spirit, not by the written code. Such a man’s praise is not from men, but from God. Rom 2:28,29

So, what do we conclude from this?

Is Zechariah prophesying of a day, when people, who have been transformed in the inner man, such that Christ’s character, God’s law of love, has been reproduced in them, will lead people from the world back to God?

Then, should we ask, Are we one of those people?

What do we need in order to be one of those people?

- We need to know God, His law of love, His methods, and be able to help people differentiate the truth from the lie
- We need the Holy Spirit to reproduce in us Christlike character so we live out His methods of beneficence in our lives
- We need to demonstrate progressive growth in character, become more like Jesus each day

Read fifth paragraph, “The gospel accounts...” thoughts? Is that what the Bible actually says, that Jesus will draw “all peoples” to Himself, or is this altered in some way?

The Greek doesn't have the word "people" or "men" but simply, "all." Jesus when lifted up will draw "all" unto Himself." What is the difference?

Col 1:20 "all things in heaven and earth are reconciled to Christ at the cross." The unfallen beings in the universe needed the Cross to refute the lies, reveal the truth about God and solidify them in their loyalty. Thus, Christ drew men, but also angels to Himself at the cross and solidified the universe in loyalty to God.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Jesus' triumphal entry..." thoughts?

How does Jesus bring this? How does He achieve it?

What are the options?

- Imposed Law View
 - Deviations from the law are not in themselves destructive, and do not in themselves bring death, but instead bring condemnation from the ruling authority.
 - The ruling authority has set death as the imposed penalty and is now required to inflict it
 - Christ came to take the sinners' place on death row and pays the legal penalty, earning the right of pardon from His Father
 - He offers the legal payment to humans
 - Those who accept it get pardoned
 - Those who don't accept the payment find God will use divine power to torture and kill, thus sending a message throughout the universe, that God has the right to kill if you don't accept the payment of Christ
 - In the future sin never rises again because if it does God just kills the rebellious
 - Thus, fear of God's punishment prevents rebellion, i.e. eternal fear of God
 - Problem – perfect love casts out all fear, but this traditional model perpetuates eternal fear and destroys love and trust in God
- Natural Law View
 - Sin is deviation from God's design for life
 - Humankind is actually in a terminal state, out of harmony from God's design
 - God sent Christ, to take our iniquity, our sinfulness, our terminal state upon Himself and cure it, according to God's purpose
 - All who are won back to trust in God, by the truth Jesus revealed, open their hearts and experience via the Holy Spirit the reproduction of Christ's character within, thus it is "no longer I that live but Christ lives in me."
 - Those who refuse to trust God die of their terminal condition, not as an infliction from God.
 - The saved see and comprehend that God did everything to save those who were lost and realize those lost died from their condition not from an infliction from God

- Love and trust for God, and love for His methods increase and the universe is eternally safe because it is inhabited only by individuals who love God and others more than self, and would rather die than ever harm another.

Which view do you like better? Which view is more consistent with the evidence? Which view is more consistent with the character Jesus revealed?

Read second paragraph, “When Jesus triumphantly...” thoughts?

Why were some rejoicing in the idea of Christ using military might to overthrow the Romans?

What about today? Are any Christians falling into the same trap? Do some Christians teach Jesus, 2000 years ago, despite horrible abuse and mistreatment loved perfectly, but after going to heaven has, over the last 2000 years, had a change of heart and doesn’t come back the gentle loving Jesus, but instead an angry wrathful Attila the Hun type of being – coming to torture and destroy?

Do people ever actually stop and think about what they are saying?

When Jesus comes back what character will He have? It will be perfect love!

But will His perfect love prevent the suffering and loss of the wicked? Why not? What is the cause of their suffering? Is it inflicted by Jesus?

I have been accused of teaching Universalism because I teach that God doesn’t have to inflict death and that God continues to love everyone. The reason some think this is because they are stuck in an imposed law construct and haven’t yet comprehended the truth of God’s design for life. Thus, if we take away God inflicting death, to those stuck in that false model they conclude then everyone must be saved.

But, I do not teach Universalism. Sadly, some will die terribly, just as some patients, who refuse rehab and continue to drink a fifth of vodka a day, die terribly. But the patient/sinner doesn’t die as an infliction at the hands of the doctor/God. The wicked in the end die as a result of their terminal condition, NOT as an infliction from the hand of God.

If we teach that the wicked die because God inflicts it, then we perpetuate eternal fear of God and rebellion never ceases.

TUESDAY

Read Zech 12:10:

And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and supplication. They will look on me, the one they have pierced, and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child, and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son.

Thoughts?

To what is this passage referring?

- Is it applicable only to the tribe of Judah, David's literal descendants?
- Is it applicable only to Jews, the literal genetic descendants of Jacob?
- Is it applicable to all those who have been renewed like Abraham and experience grace poured upon them?

What does it mean they will mourn?

Read Zech 13:1-2:

“On that day a fountain will be opened to the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to cleanse them from sin and impurity.

² “On that day, I will banish the names of the idols from the land, and they will be remembered no more,” declares the LORD Almighty. “I will remove both the prophets and the spirit of impurity from the land.

Thoughts? What do you hear in this passage? Is there a promise? What is the promise?

Is it a promise of legal pardon, or of healing and transformation?

How is it we miss this throughout Scripture?

Read Zech 13:6:

If someone asks him, ‘What are these wounds on your body?’ he will answer, ‘The wounds I was given at the house of my friends.’

What do you think this is referring to? Is it suggesting that in the new heaven some will not understand the story of Jesus and need to be instructed?

WEDNESDAY

Read Zech 13:7-9:

⁷ “Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, against the man who is close to me!”
declares the LORD Almighty.

“Strike the shepherd,
and the sheep will be scattered,
and I will turn my hand against the little ones.

⁸ In the whole land,” declares the LORD,
“two-thirds will be struck down and perish;
yet one-third will be left in it.

⁹ This third I will bring into the fire;

I will refine them like silver and test them like gold.
They will call on my name
and I will answer them;
I will say, 'They are my people,' and they will say, 'The LORD is our God.' ”

Then Read second paragraph, “In Zechariah 13:7-9 the prophet...” thoughts?

What does it mean the “Lord’s judgment goes out against the Good Shepherd?”

Are they suggesting God inflicted something upon Jesus? That God acted like a human judge and imposed punishment upon Jesus?

How do you understand God’s law? Imposed or natural?

If God’s law is imposed, like a Roman Emperor, then God is seen as imposing punishment, as judging Jesus and inflicting punishment upon Him.

How do we see it if we understand God’s law is the design parameters for life, that humankind is out of harmony with those parameters and in a terminal condition? Then what is God’s judgment of Christ? That this is the only pathway whereby Christ can accomplish God’s purpose of rebuilding and restoring humanity to God’s original ideal.

Consider some of these quotes from various Christian organizations and publications and answer, Are they coming from the law of love, natural law, God’s design for life, or a human, Roman-like imposed law construct?

- Here is a statement from a paper called, “A Call to Evangelical Unity,” from Christianity Today, June 14, 1999:
“We affirm that the atonement of Christ by which, in his obedience, he offered a perfect sacrifice, propitiating the Father by paying for our sins and satisfying divine justice on our behalf according to God's eternal plan, is an essential element of the Gospel.”
- And this is from Foundations of Pentecostal Theology:
“The word “propitiation” properly signifies the turning away of wrath by a sacrifice. Thus it signifies appeasement... According to Leon Morris: “The consistent Bible view is that the sin of man has incurred the wrath of God. That wrath is averted only by Christ’s atoning offering. From this standpoint his saving work is properly called propitiation.”¹
- In the book, The Cross of Christ, we read:
“Paul always speaks of people being reconciled to God (2Cor 5:19; Rom 5:10; Col. 1:20). He never refers to God being reconciled to us. In spite of that fact, [my comment - he just affirms the Bible nowhere refers to God being reconciled to man, yet now he denies this fact and argues that "in spite of what the Bible says" God did have to be reconciled to man] however, we should recognize that sin affected both sides. Humanity's rebellion and sense of guilt alienated it from God, while God was separated from humankind by His necessary hatred of and judgment on sin (His wrath). Christ's sacrificial death (propitiation) removed the barrier to reconciliation from God's side." ⁱⁱ

What is suggested as separating God and man? Notice, according to this view, it isn't sin, it is God's hatred and judgment – i.e. God's hostile attitude that separates us from Him. And thus they teach that a barrier to our relationship was removed from God's side. Do you realize how totally horrible, false, even Satanic this idea is?

God has nothing wrong in Him that He needed Christ to die to fix. Yet, this false theology, which dominates much of church leadership, is what is promulgated, and it obstructs the completion of the gospel commission.

- Here are two quotations from Seventh-day Adventist 27 Fundamental Beliefs:

"Christ's self-sacrifice is pleasing to God because this sacrificial offering took away the barrier between God and sinful man in that Christ fully bore God's wrath on man's sin. Through Christ, God's wrath is not turned into love but is turned away from man and borne by Himself." ⁱⁱⁱ

"For a loving God to maintain His justice and righteousness, the atoning death of Jesus Christ became 'a moral and legal necessity.' God's 'justice requires that sin be carried to judgment. God must therefore execute judgment on sin and thus on the sinner. In this execution the Son of God took our place, the sinner's place, according to God's will." ^{iv}

- From Ministry Magazine:

"Why did God the Father choose a cross to be the instrument of death? Why did He not choose to have Christ instantly beheaded or quickly run through with a spear or sword? Was God unjust in executing judgment on Christ with a cross when He could have done it by beheading, a noose, a sword, a gas chamber, a bolt of lightning, or a lethal injection?" ^v

- Angel Rodriguez, of the Biblical Research Institute writes:

"One of the fundamental problems of the Moral Influence Theory is that it rejects the substitutionary nature of Christ's death. The idea that God had to kill the innocent instead of the guilty in order to save us is considered a violation of justice." (emphasis mine). ^{vi}

Did God execute His Son on the Cross? Or was Christ murdered at the instigation of Satan and unholy men? Is God the source of killing, execution, and death, or does death arise from sin? The idea that God requires sacrifice to assuage, appease, or propitiate His wrath is pagan and Isaiah prophesied we would misunderstand what Christ did just that way:

“Surely he took up our infirmities and carried our sorrows, yet we considered him stricken by God, smitten by him, and afflicted.” Isa 53:4

What happens in the heart of beings if they believe God is the source of inflicted death?

We misunderstand because we have accepted a lie about God’s law, that God runs His universe like sinful human beings run earth. How many want to live in a universe run like we run our planet?

Jesus said, “My kingdom is not of this world.”

God’s ways are NOT our ways – yet we doggedly persist in misrepresenting God’s kingdom as being like fallen human governments.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “In the last chapter...” thoughts?

Do you think the last chapter is referring to earthly Jerusalem in a literal sense, or is it a symbolic sense?

When Paul refers to those who are God’s children being part of heavenly Jerusalem, could Zechariah apply to those?

Will the wicked of the world, one day, attack the righteous? And does Scripture refer to the righteous as the bride of Christ? And what else is the bride of Christ described as in Scripture?

I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband... One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came and said to me, “Come, I will show you the bride, the wife of the Lamb.” ¹⁰ And he carried me away in the Spirit to a mountain great and high, and showed me the Holy City, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God. ¹¹ It shone with the glory of God, and its brilliance was like that of a very precious jewel, like a jasper, clear as crystal. Rev 12:2,9,10

Could Zechariah be referring to the time when the world turns against God’s people on earth and attempts to kill them?

Read third paragraph, “The closing section...” thoughts?

Why will the entire city be filled with the holiness of the temple?

What is the temple constructed from?

What is the New Jerusalem?

What is the shape of the MH place?

What is the shape of the NJ?

Read last paragraph, “When these glorious...”

FRIDAY

Read question 1 – thoughts? Is there a difference in being gracious, kind, loving, seeking to relieve suffering, helping those down trodden, and seeking to gain control of government and fix the problems of sin through governmental policy and legislation?

Where do we draw the line between living Christian lives, representing Christ, ministering to others, and being diverted into false politics and using the church’s energy and resources on trying to reform government instead of people?

Read question 2 – thoughts?

Why is it that without Christ’s first coming there would be not second, other than the obvious mathematical fact that two always follows one? What is the functional reason that the first coming, in which Christ suffered and died, had to precede the coming in which sin is eliminated?

Read question 3 – thoughts?

What do you understand the outpouring of the Holy Spirit to be? What is its purpose? Is there any reason it hasn’t occurred?

Major Lessons from Minor Prophets Lesson 13 2Q 2013

Lest We Forget (Malachai)

SABBATH

11 My name will be great among the nations, from where the sun rises to where it sets. In every place incense and pure offerings will be brought to me, because my name will be great among the nations,” says the Lord Almighty. Mal. 1:11.

Why did [does] God want “His name” great among the nations? According to the Greeks, their “gods” actually needed the prayers and admiration of mortal humans to derive their immortality. Does God need our praises? Is He so insecure that He needs His name “great among the nations” to feed His ego? Who does this actually sound like? [see Isa. 14: 13].

“The central message of Malachi is that while God revealed His love for His people throughout their history, that love also made His people accountable to Him. The Lord expected the chosen nation and its leaders to obey His commands.” WHY did God expect the “chosen nation & its leaders” to obey His commands?? Which Law lens are we looking through?

SUNDAY – Great is the Lord

Did God really hate Esau?? or was it the other way around? Why was God turning the Edomites territory in to a wasteland? Was it out of perverse pleasure? Was He trying to teach Israel something? Was He trying to reach a wayward child [Edom] with the only means left that might wake them up??

Why were “blemished sacrifices” such a problem? God tells Israel that He would prefer them to shut the temple doors instead of bringing diseased animals for sacrifice [v.10]. What does it mean when God says “Cursed is the cheat who has an acceptable male in his flock and vows to give it, but then sacrifices a blemished animal to the Lord. For I am a great king,” says the Lord Almighty” in verse 14? Did God act to curse these men/women or did something occur naturally? Which Law lens are we looking through??

The lesson states, “The animals were to be without blemish because Jesus had to be without blemish in order to be our perfect sacrifice.” Any thoughts??

MONDAY – Loving & Respecting Others

7 “For the lips of a priest ought to preserve knowledge, because he is the messenger of the Lord Almighty and people seek instruction from his mouth. 8 But you have turned from the way and by your teaching have caused many to stumble; you have violated the covenant with Levi,” says the Lord Almighty. 9 “So I have caused you to be despised and humiliated before all the people, because you have not followed my ways but have shown partiality in matters of the law.” Mal. 2: 7-9.

Which law is God speaking of here? Shouldn't our “imposed” laws here on Earth be reflections of God's “natural” Law? If so, why should decisions be impartial?? What would showing partiality to the wealthy, the Jews, our friends/families say about God and His Law??

In the 2nd paragraph of Monday's lesson we read:

“God had intended that marriage should be a commitment for life. In Malachi's time, however, many men were breaking the vows that they had made early in life with, as the prophet said, the “wife of your youth.” Seeing their wives grow older, the husbands would divorce them and marry younger and more attractive women. For this reason, God says, He hates divorce (Mal. 2:16). This strong statement reveals how serious God is about marriage commitments, which so often people take very lightly. The strict rules in the Bible about divorce show just how sacred marriage is.”

Is the reason “God hates divorce”, men leaving their wives for younger women? Really?? Perhaps “God hates divorce” because it hurts/damages his loved children. Perhaps He hates divorce because it misrepresents His relationship with his loved children. Perhaps it goes much deeper, even. Any thoughts??

15 Has not the one God made you? You belong to him in body and spirit. And what does the one God seek? Godly offspring. So be on your guard, and do not be unfaithful to the wife of your youth. Mal. 2:15.

Might “Godly offspring” be more likely to be produced from a divorce, as opposed to being raised under the umbrella of a poisonous marriage??

TUESDAY – Tithe in the Storehouse.

3 “I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come,” says the Lord Almighty. 2 But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. 3 He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Then the Lord will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness, 4 and the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable to the Lord, as in days gone by, as in former years. Mal 3: 1-4.

We have been over this passage many times in our class. For me, it never gets old. The Lord's messenger will purify His Church [The Levites, A Priesthood of Believers, etc] with fire [see Mal 4: 2 & Thursday's lesson]. Note that the purification [healing/transformation] occurs BEFORE the acceptable offerings are given. Character transformation changes behaviors.

8 "Will a mere mortal rob God? Yet you rob me. "But you ask, 'How are we robbing you?' "In tithes and offerings. 9 You are under a curse—your whole nation—because you are robbing me. 10 Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house. Test me in this," says the Lord Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that there will not be room enough to store it. 11 I will prevent pests from devouring your crops, and the vines in your fields will not drop their fruit before it is ripe," says the Lord Almighty. 12 "Then all the nations will call you blessed, for yours will be a delightful land," says the Lord Almighty. Mal. 3: 8-12.

Without going in to details, I can speak from personal experience that this passage is trustworthy. Scripture, Science, & Experience in harmony with one another.

Have you ever asked why God wants us to give back 10%?? Does this have relationship to 2 Peter 1: 4? Partaking of the "divine nature"? What is God's nature? Is it not Love, Forgiveness, giving of one's self for the uplifting of others??

WEDNESDAY – A Scroll of Remembrance.

14 "You have said, 'It is futile to serve God. What do we gain by carrying out his requirements and going about like mourners before the Lord Almighty? 15 But now we call the arrogant blessed. Certainly evildoers prosper, and even when they put God to the test, they get away with it.'" Mal. 3: 14-15.

Apparently, the Jews had similar concepts of imposed law that we struggle with. Do "evildoers" really ever "get away with it"? We have learned that sin, not God, damages the sinner. There is NEVER a "getting away with it."

17 "On the day when I act," says the Lord Almighty, "they will be my treasured possession. I will spare them, just as a father has compassion and spares his son who serves him. 18 And you will again see the distinction between the righteous and the wicked, between those who serve God and those who do not. Mal 3: 17-18.

Why will God "spare" a certain group, and not others? What will be the distinction between "the righteous, and the wicked?"

Imposed Law = Decision [possibly arbitrary] based on accepting a blood payment stamped next to our names in a book in heaven, and a punishment according to the measure of wrath stored up against us.

Natural Law = An accurate diagnosis of our condition, correctly documented in the medical records, and a loving giving over to our choices.

THURSDAY – The Sun of Righteousness.

The 1st paragraph of Thursday's lesson is a very uplifting passage. OK, maybe not. Which Law lens is being used here?? The lesson references John 3: 16 as a support text.

16 For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. 17 For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. 18 Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because they have not believed in the name of God's one and only Son. 19 This is the verdict: Light has come into the world, but people loved darkness instead of light because their deeds were evil. 20 Everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for fear that their deeds will be exposed. 21 But whoever lives by the truth comes into the light, so that it may be seen plainly that what they have done has been done in the sight of God. John 3: 16-21.

I think the verses 17-21 provide a better support. v. 20: "everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for FEAR that their deeds will be exposed." Take this in context with "the Sun of Righteousness is rising with healing in His wings [rays]." If we come in to the light [of healing], while under the umbrella of God's limitless grace, we will be healed. If we persist in evil, our characters will become so warped that we will run and hide from the light [beg for rocks and trees to bury us].

Tim uses the comparison of coming out of a cave at 2 AM vs 2 PM. Which is more tolerable? Gradual sunrise or abrupt?

The lesson suggests this healing is some time in the future. I respectfully disagree. I think it has been happening since mankind fell. God, through Christ, has been trying to heal mankind since the beginning, and it's only under the protection of His grace that the healing can take place. Once the "Sun" has fully risen, time is up.

The lesson also mentions the "Elijah message" to be delivered before Christ's 2nd advent. Which message is this, and how can we play a role in delivering it?

Revival and Reformation Lesson 1 3Q 2013

Revival: Our Great Need

What is Revival?

Dictionary:

- 1: an act or instance of reviving; the state of being revived: as a : renewed attention to or interest in something b : a new presentation or publication of something old c (1) : a period of renewed religious interest (2) : an often highly emotional evangelistic meeting or series of meetings
- 2: restoration of force, validity, or effect (as to a contract)

Do you like these definitions?

In FRIDAY's lesson there is a quotation from a periodical published in 1902 which states:

A revival and a reformation must take place under the ministration of the Holy Spirit. Revival and reformation are two different things. Revival signifies a renewal of spiritual life, a quickening of the powers of mind and heart, a resurrection from the spiritual death. Reformation signifies a reorganization, a change in ideas and theories, habits and practices. Reformation will not bring forth the good fruit of righteousness unless it is connected with the revival of the Spirit. Revival and reformation are to do their appointed work, and in doing this work they must blend.-- Review and Herald, Feb. 25, 1902.

What do you here revival to mean in this article?

Which definition, that in the dictionary, or that from the article, do you identify with? Which definition is the one you believe the church actually needs?

Do you agree that revival and reformation must blend together?

What do you believe is necessary for revival and reformation, obviously the presence of the Holy Spirit, anything else?

Is there anything we can do to cooperate with the Holy Spirit to experience, promote, generate, stimulate, ignite revival and reformation?

I read the following in a book called Conflict and Courage:

Samuel visited the cities and villages throughout the land, seeking to turn the hearts of the people to the God of their fathers; and his efforts were not without good results. After suffering the oppression of their enemies for twenty years, the Israelites "mourned after the Lord." Samuel counseled them, "If ye do return unto the Lord with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only." Here we see that practical piety, heart religion, was taught in the days of Samuel as taught by Christ when He was upon the earth. Without the grace of Christ the outward forms of religion were valueless to ancient Israel. They are the same to modern Israel. {CC 145.2}

There is need today of such a revival of true heart religion as was experienced by ancient Israel. Repentance is the first step that must be taken by all who would return to God. No one can do this work for another. We must individually humble our souls before God and put away our idols. When we have done all that we can do, the Lord will manifest to us His salvation. . . . {CC 145.3}

Thoughts?

What is repentance? Do we have a desire in our heart to truly be transformed, or is it an understanding in our heads, while our hearts desire the things of the world?

Did you notice the author said, "When we have done all we can do, the Lord will manifest to us His salvation..." What is "all we can do?" choose to open the hear to Christ, choose to reach out to Him, choose to apply to our lives what He reveals, choose to surrender ourselves to Him, choose to repent.

And what is another word for salvation? Healing – if we choose Christ, and choose do trust Him, then we experience actual transformation of character, healing of mind, renewal of heart, this is salvation, culminating in complete recreation at the second coming.

What prevents us from experience revival?

In a chapter entitled A Need for Revival, in a book called, Counsels for the Church, written more than 100 years ago, I read this:

I am instructed to say to our people: Let us follow Christ. Do not forget that He is to be our pattern in all things. We may safely discard those ideas that are not found in His teaching. I appeal to our ministers to be sure that their feet are placed on the platform of eternal truth. [not some human theory that popped up in the last 500-1000 years] Beware how you follow impulse, calling it the Holy Spirit. Some are in danger in this respect... {Counsels for the Church 326.1}

The enemy is seeking to divert the minds of our brethren and sisters from the work of preparing a people to stand in these last days. His sophistries are designed to lead minds away from the perils and duties of the hour... {CCh 326.2}

What obstructs true revival?

- Holding to beliefs that are not found in Jesus' teachings
- Claiming theories and ideas based on human constructs of government, justice, law rather than eternal truth
- Substituting impulse/emotions for the working of the Holy Spirit
- Allowing our minds to be diverted by sophistries away from duty to the Lord

Any examples of each of these?

- Holding to beliefs that are not found in Jesus' teachings
 - Penal/legal theologies is the most obvious
 - Rule keeping more important than people, so chastise the woman who divorces her physically abusive husband because he didn't commit physical adultery
- Not holding to eternal truth
 - Replacing God's law of love with imposed law
 - Making God out to be the source of inflicted death rather than the source of life
- Substituting impulse/emotions for the working of the Holy Spirit
 - Moses striking the stone
- Allowing our minds to be diverted by sophistries away from duty to the Lord
 - Pursing political solutions to achieve God's kingdom, get the right judge, senators, congressman, president elected to get the laws passed we believe are necessary to advance our religious agenda, rather than seeking to lead people to a knowledge of God and His kingdom of love

What are keys to revival?

- Humble heart
- Repentance
- Giving up known activities that incite fear and selfishness
- Studying God, His methods, design for life, which are found in His Word, nature and our experiences.
- Using Christ as a lens, a touchstone to test our theories and rejecting false ideas about God that incite fear
- Understanding God's law as the law of love, the design protocol of life
- Choosing to apply God's principles to our lives
- Trusting God with outcomes
- Growing in the truth – be open for our ideas to change with more evidence
- Giving of ourselves to help others

What suggestions do you have that we as a Ministry can do to contribute to revival and reformation?

Here is what we are doing:

- Praying daily for God's presence, Spirit, wisdom, agencies to empower and enable us to present the truth in love and to open doors of opportunity and bring willing people to join in sharing this message
- Studying God's Word searching for ever increasing insight into His design, plan and methods
- Giving of our time and resources to share these life changing truths with others
- Writing, speaking, designing materials to share
- Producing materials to share
 - DVD sets
 - Books
 - Bible Study Guides
 - Webcasts
 - Blogs
 - Video blogs
 - Fundamental Focus Pamphlets
- Support Heartwise Ministries and Heart of Health Live TV program
- Support the building of a bakery in Uruguay to help young people afford a Christian education
- Reaching out to connect with others to share this message about God

 - I just got back from an all day seminar at Rolling Hills church just outside Los Angeles California. What a wonderful church and group of people, who heard about our ministry and this message about a year ago. A few people began listening online and then a few more and soon many members of the church were finding revival and reformation in this healing message about God. As an expression of their appreciation for our ministry and to help promote what we are doing they gave a donation of $1000 to Come and Reason Ministries at the end of the Seminar last week.
 - I will be going to Germany in July and speaking in Aachen and Berlin, in August I will be speaking in Singapore and then in Australia at Perth, Avondale College, and Brisbane.
 - We are planning another seminar here in Chattanooga for the fall and will give more details as they unfold.
- By the end of this year our ministry will have produced and distributed, not just to random people, but only to people who have chosen to receive the materials:
 - Over 17,000 DVD sets
 - 20,000 Bible Study Guides
 - Over 11,000 Could It Be This Simple?
 - Over 10,000 Fundamental Focus
 - Plus all the free downloads
- We currently have people who follow us and are part of our online family from:
 - Australia

- South Africa
 - Germany
 - Sweden
 - Iceland
 - Japan
 - Philippines
 - Zimbabwe
 - Singapore
 - Saudi Arabia
 - United Kingdom
 - Canada
 - Most of the states in the US
 - Other countries I don't know about
- And this message is reaching beyond denominational boundaries. Our materials are being used by people of many Christian traditions:
 - SDA
 - Baptist
 - Methodist
 - Roman Catholic
 - Presbyterian
 - Non-denominational community churches

This has all been possible because this message frees people, their hearts burn within, and without solicitation people have sent donations to support in producing these materials to share with others.

When people see God as a being of love, and understand the law of love as the design protocol for life does it bring revival? Here are some emails we have received:

Thank you for coming to SLC. I've been watching your [class] and have listened to your seminars online which are incredibly helpful in understanding more and more about God's love and His amazing handiwork. Your presentation here was so full of practical information. I am blessed and sincerely grateful for your time, effort and your compassion toward others for understanding truth about God and His design for man... Like many others, I have struggled so long with some of the issues you discuss and by His grace, He has shown me that I, (we ALL), are fearfully and wonderfully made. With the knowledge you've shared, I'm better equipped to continue growing forever in Christ.

Kindly note that your approach to the gospel has revolutionized my relationship with God...I have experienced tremendous spiritual growth as I begin to relate with this awesome loving God whose character over the centuries has been deliberately distorted by the father of lies so as to cut us away from experiencing the love of God.

I would love for you to send me Dr. Jennings' Healing the Mind DVDs. I have given out about a hundred disks with his mp3's and so many have been so blessed by them.... including me. It took me years to get over mental and physical abuse from my childhood and that only happened because I have always loved to read almost everything and found help from everywhere... but if I had had the information in Dr. Jennings presentations.... oh... it would have been so much quicker and easier.

There was one lady that started attending our church some time ago; when she talked to anyone she mostly looked at her feet and spoke so shyly, hesitant, insecure, stuttering. One day she opened up to me about her childhood. She was... [severely abused as a child]. Immediately I told her she needed to listen to the Healing the Mind seminar. The very next [weekend] she came up to me at church, actually looking at me, and thanked me profusely over and over, and every time I saw her for weeks. I kept telling her to thank God and finally had to ask her not to thank me again. What an amazing change! She was a couple inches taller because the slump in her shoulders was gone, her marriage improved immensely, she would deal with the difficulties of it, she went back to work, etc., etc.

My husband and I have been listening to your [Bible Study] lessons this quarter from our home in Indiana. What you have been presenting about the imposed law construct and the natural law construct (and thus God's true character) has been revolutionary to our faith! We are still trying to work out all of our questions so that the natural law construct makes perfect sense in accordance with scripture...

And this was posted on an individual's facebook page:

Over the last few months, I've had a lot of time to sit and contemplate. Why am I here, slowly wasting away with ALS alone? (Without my wife) What did I do wrong? Was I a bad person? Was I too selfish? I felt there were probably a thousand reasons why, but what were they? She had said more than once that there were many roads taken and reasons for why we were where we were... I wanted to self reflect and really think and get down to the very depths of my soul and figure out what went wrong, what could I have done different.

Somewhere during my soul searching my sister, who was also going through a divorce, was watching a DVD of a presentation by a psychiatrist so I sat down to learn what I could and apply it to my situation. The psychiatrist's name was Dr. Tim Jennings and as I listened to him I was drawn in by his plain and to the point approach. He presented in a very articulate manner and was easy to understand. I listened to his words intently but it was soon over as I had come in on the tail end of it. I asked my sister about more information on him and she informed me that he was coming to the Cleburne SDA church for a weekend seminar in February and he had a book called “Could it be this Simple.” Well, I attended the seminar, every minute of it. Then I listened to the audio version of “Could it be this Simple” three times, and then I bought a Kindle and read it. As soon as the Kindle version of his newest book “The God Shaped Brain” became available, I read that. Altogether, I gathered the information I needed to find the answers I was looking for deep in my soul. What I found is this, that by having a misguided view of God and not aligning myself with His universal laws of love and liberty, I have made many errors in my selfish nature throughout my life doing things, and saying things that seemed right to me, but weren’t. I take full responsibility for that... Two things are for sure, I am eternally grateful to have a creator that has no limits on what he will forgive in me, and I’m grateful to have such a great family especially my sister and my daughters that continuously support me. And let’s not leave out all the great friends I have.

But, I learned so much more, that my view on the character of God is skewed, and that my view about God’s law is just wrong. As new light was sinking into me my heart was uplifted. I encourage everyone to read these books. They have cleared so many issues up for me. No longer will I argue on this side or that side about God’s law. No longer will I look at another who has a different sin as mine with a critical eye. All of Jesus’ teachings make sense to me now as does the Old Testament. I wish I was good enough with words to explain everything but the books do it so much better than I could. It is worth the time invested to see the light that I now see. It has changed my life and my soul is rejoicing.

That is what the truth about God does. It restores trust and results in actual transformation here and now.

I share this message about God because it has brought me into a relationship with my Creator that makes me a better person. I have less fear and the immature elements of my character are slowly replaced with maturity. I could never go back to the old fear inducing religion that promised legal pardon but had no power to change the heart.

Does anyone want to share how changing their view of God has impacted them?

SABBATH

Read memory text: “ ‘ Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him and he with Me.” (Rev 3:20 NKJV)

Thoughts?

What is the door to which Christ is knocking? What are the implication that He knocks? What does it mean He comes in and dines with us?

SUNDAY

The lesson talks about the church of Laodicea.

Let's read Rev 3:14-22:

“To the angel of the church in Laodicea write:

These are the words of the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the ruler of God's creation. ¹⁵ I know your deeds, that you are neither cold nor hot. I wish you were either one or the other! ¹⁶ So, because you are lukewarm—neither hot nor cold—I am about to spit you out of my mouth.

¹⁷ You say, ‘I am rich; I have acquired wealth and do not need a thing.’ But you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind and naked. ¹⁸ I counsel you to buy from me gold refined in the fire, so you can become rich; and white clothes to wear, so you can cover your shameful nakedness; and salve to put on your eyes, so you can see.

¹⁹ Those whom I love I rebuke and discipline. So be earnest, and repent. ²⁰ Here I am! I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in and eat with him, and he with me.

²¹ To him who overcomes, I will give the right to sit with me on my throne, just as I overcame and sat down with my Father on his throne. ²² He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.”

Thoughts? What does this passage mean to you?

Do you hear threat? Do you hear love? Do you find it hopeful or discouraging?

From my paraphrase:

Rev 3:14 “To the messenger for my children – the church at Laodicea write:

This message is from Jesus, the Consistent, the Reliable, Faithful and True witness, who is the origin of God's creation. ¹⁵ I know your choices. I know that you are neither on fire with love nor do you appear cold with selfishness. I wish you were either on fire for my kingdom, or clearly opposed to it! ¹⁶ But, because you are a lukewarm mix of cold hearts practicing selfish methods while appearing to be on fire for my kingdom, you misrepresent me and make me sick to my stomach. I am about to vomit you out. ¹⁷ You claim to be spiritually rich, full of heavenly treasure, thinking you have the truth and are in need of nothing. But you are so self-deceived you don't realize you are devoid of my character of love, decrepit, pathetic, bereft of true godliness, with minds so closed you can't even comprehend truth. You stand naked and exposed. ¹⁸ My prescription for you is to exchange your corrupt motives for the gold of godly love purified through fiery trials, so you can be rich in what heaven values. Exchange your filthy selfish characters for the perfect character of Christ, pure and white, so you can cover the shame of your imperfection. And apply the salve of the Holy Spirit to your minds so you can see and understand the reality of your condition and God's kingdom of love.

Rev 3:19 It is those I love that I diagnose and provide these therapeutic interventions. So take ownership of yourselves, turn away from destruction and apply the Remedy. 20 I am here now! I am standing at the door to your hearts, knocking with truth and love. If anyone hears my voice and opens their heart, I will come in and commune with them and they with me.

Rev 3:21 Everyone who prevails by completing the treatment and lives in harmony with my methods of love until the end, will sit enthroned with me just as I overcame and sit enthroned with my Father. 22 Those whose minds are open to truth will understand what the Spirit reveals to the churches.

Thoughts?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Commenting on Revelation...” thoughts?

The lesson rightly points out that “An insipid religious experience is one that is lifeless.”

What might be the reason for this?

- “The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul.” Ps 19:7
- “He who pursues righteousness and love finds life, prosperity and honor.” Pr 21:21

Can anyone make a connection between these two texts and how an insipid religion is lifeless and what brings life to our religious experience?

- What is the basis of life?
- What law is life built upon?
- What if one substitutes a different law construct?

Do you see the connection between the truth about God’s character of love, His design protocol of love, giving, beneficence, and life? Do you see how if one removes God’s character and design of love and substitutes an imposed law construct one ends up with a lifeless religion?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “There is a gap...” thoughts?

How would you describe that gap? How have you seen the disparity present itself?

- Christian homes have the same rate of domestic violence as non-Christian homes
- History of Catholic and Protestant violence (northern Ireland most recently)
- Chastising, censuring, criticizing people who are going through marital difficulties and divorce

- Spreading rumors about others
- Other examples?

What contributes to the gap between what Laodicea does and says?

- Could it be holding to a misdiagnosis?
 - If one believes they have a certain condition, and they take the remedy for the condition which they believe they have – will they experience a certain confidence?
- But what is the diagnosis is wrong?
- Consider a child, whose parent tells them not to eat the berries on the bushes outside the house. The child is told if they do eat the berries they will be spanked. The child disobeys and eats the berries. Sometime later father sees the child with berry juice on their clothes and face and asks the child if they ate the berries.
 - What will the child think is the problem?
 - What will the child desire from the parent?
 - But what if the berries were poison? What is the real problem?
 - Is the father going to kill the child for their disobedience?
 - What is the father's attitude toward the child?
 - Might the father be upset, even angry? Why?
 - Does the distress of the father ever lead the father to want to kill the child?
 - What does the child need? A remedy!
 - If the father has the ability to remedy the child, will he?
 - Does any of this apply to our situation?
 - Does any of this explain the gap between what Laodicea claims and what it does?

This is the problem with Christianity today – it has accepted a false diagnosis that God is angry, mad, and we are in legal trouble with God and thus it teaches a false remedy, one of legal payment to appease an angry God, when what we need is actual remedy, transformation, healing of heart and mind.

Why don't those who are in this state realize it?

Read second paragraph, "One of Satan's..." thoughts?

And what did these Sabbath keepers do to God in human flesh?

Are we any better as a group than they were? But why aren't we? Don't we have advantages they didn't have?

Read bottom green section, "What ways..." thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “There is hope...” thoughts?

What would you say the divine remedy is?

Truth about God dispels the lies and wins us to trust – restored trust we open the heart and the Holy Spirit comes in. The Holy Spirit reproduces in us the perfect character of Christ, thus it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me. He writes the law of love on the heart again and we live acts of love and righteousness.

But it all starts with the truth about God!

Read second paragraph, “Jesus is going from door to door...” thoughts?

What does it mean to “buy” from Jesus gold tried in the fire?

With what do we “buy”? I thought it was a free gift to all who accept it? Why are we told here to buy?

- We buy by means of “barter” we exchange
 - our unrighteousness for His righteousness
 - our filthiness for His purity
 - our selfishness for His love
 - our terminal condition for His eternal life

The bottom green section talks about how Jesus knocks on the door to the heart and asks, “How resistant am I to opening the door to Him? If you are resistant, ask yourself, ‘Why?’ What is holding you back? What sin, what indulgence, don’t you want to let go of, or what is it that you find hard to let go of?”

Thoughts?

It certainly could be “sin” addiction, power, fear of the consequences of being honest about oneself that prevents the opening of the heart, but could it be something else?

Could it be lies about God that cause us to not trust Him? Could it be the idea that God must punish sin wherever it is found? Could it be distorted God concepts that incite fear keep the door if the heart closed to Him? Could there be people who, as we read in yesterday’s lesson, are behaviorally very religious and keep the rules, yet whose hearts are closed to God? Is it some sin that is holding them back? Fear, pride, and perhaps misunderstanding of God?

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, “The book of Revelation mentions...” thoughts?

What is the significance of the throne of God being mentioned? What does a throne represent? When you think of God’s throne what comes to mind?

In Ezekiel chapter 10, what did Ezekiel see the throne sitting upon? A rotating wheel within a rotating wheel. What does this symbolize?

Does this have anything to do with the Lamb that was slain?

Do you see the connection between God’s character of love, and the law of love, the principle upon which life is built to operate? In other words, God’s government, God’s throne, is built upon the law of love!

Read last paragraph, “Christ uses His greatest...” thoughts?

How do we make these truths real, rather than just wishful thinking?

FRIDAY

Read second paragraph, “The counsel of...” thoughts?

Do you notice the white clothing is worked into the character, doesn’t cover over evil character? And it results in purity of heart and motive.

What does it mean to wash in the blood of Jesus?

What is the blood of Jesus representative of?

Revival and Reformation Lesson 2 3Q 2013

Prayer: The Heartbeat of Revival

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: “ ‘If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will you Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!’” (Matthew 7:11 NKJV)

Thoughts? What is the description of God in this text? God is good. Do we ever have other thoughts about God? When it comes to prayer, to going to God, do we go with a certainty that God longs to give us good things?

Does God do good for us only when asked or does God use His resources to give us good things even if not asked? Was Christ given to the human race? Was this a good gift? Did we ask?

What is the purpose of asking?

- It is an acknowledgment on our part of our need, our inability to provide it for ourselves, our understanding that God can provide our need
- It keeps us humble, by waiting to give certain gifts until asked God helps us remember our true situation and condition, mitigate against arrogance, pride, complacency
- Reminds us that the gifts are gifts, which hopefully instills understanding for their use
- Our asking gives God our permission to work in our lives. Why is this necessary? Because He respects us, our individuality, our freedom and won't use force or coercion. He waits to be invited into your life, heart, mind.

Read first paragraph, “God moves powerfully as...” thoughts?

If people don't pray does God move less powerfully?

Does God need people's prayers in order to move powerfully?

- Not in the grander scheme of things, toward bringing an end to the conflict
- But, if we don't pray we limit what God can do for us, in us and through us and thereby we limit our usefulness in His cause

What is prayer?

I read the following from a book, The Faith I Live By written more than 100 years ago:

If we keep the Lord ever before us, allowing our hearts to go out in thanksgiving and praise to Him, we shall have a continual freshness in our religious life. Our prayers will take the form of a conversation with God as we would talk with a friend. He will speak His mysteries to us personally. Often there will come to us a sweet, joyful sense of the presence of Jesus. . . .

Prayer turns aside the attacks of Satan. {FLB 225.7}

Thoughts?

Yesterday, a friend gave me a gift a devotional book by Sarah Young entitled Jesus Calling – has anyone heard of it? In the preface she describes how she came to a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Then she tells how her prayer life grew, until she began to not just talk to God, but to sit quietly and listen for Him to speak back to her and would write down what He spoke to her. This daily devotional book are the communications she wrote down from Jesus during her private devotional time, written in the first person where “I” is Jesus speaking. Here is June 29’s devotion:

As You get out of bed in the morning, be aware of My Presence with you. You many not be thinking clearly yet, but I am. You rearly morning thoughts tend to be anxious ones until you get connected with Me. Invite Me into your thoughts by whispering My Name. Suddenly your day brightens and feels more user-friendly. You cannot dread a day that is vibrant with My Presence.

You gain confidence through knowing that I am with you—that you face nothing alone. Anxiety stems from asking the wrong question: “If such and such happens, can I handle it?” The true question is not whether you can cope with whatever happens, but whether you and I together can handle anything that occurs. It is this you-and-I-together factor that gives you confidence to face the day cheerfully. Psalms 5:3; Psalms 63:1; Philippians 4:13

Thoughts?

Do you like the idea of prayer taking the form of conversation with a friend? Do you like the idea of Jesus speaking His mysteries to us personally?

Well I was familiar with this idea and quotation, so when I read the title of an article “Praying to God is like talking to a friend” it caught my attention.

In the article, it cited recent brain research by Uffe Schjodt, who examined with MRI scans the brains of 20 Christians while they prayed. The researcher said, “It’s like talking to another human. We found no evidence of anything mystical.”

Interestingly though, the areas that lit up that are similar to talking with a friend only happened with improvised prayer. When people recited the Lord’s Prayer the same areas lit up as when reciting a nursery rhyme, which are areas associated with rehearsal, repetition and recall. In other words reciting memorized prayers are not the same as talking with a friend. Memorized prayer is done from rote and the heart is not in it. And such prayer won’t bring about the transformational experience, its basically fake and brain scans can see the difference.

But when individuals prayed spontaneously, they activated the same brain regions which activate when we are aware of another intelligent person activating circuitry that is linked with the theory of mind - an awareness that other individuals have their own independent motivations and intentions (Social Cognitive and Affective Neuroscience, DOI: 10.1093/scan/nsn050).

These areas process desire and contemplate how the other might react to the expressed desire, as well as the prefrontal cortex which anticipates what the other person might do, and memories areas associated with previous encounters filling in context for this encounter. In other words it is relational interaction.

As a comparator, they also had the people make a wish list for Santa Claus, but in this task the prefrontal cortex didn't activate, so the region of the brain that interacts with another was not involved. Thus the individuals viewed Santa as fictional but God as a real individual and brain scans could see the difference.

Further, the prefrontal cortex doesn't activate when people interact with inanimate objects such as a computer, because the brain doesn't expect reciprocity or have the need to think about what the computer wants or intends.

Thoughts? Back to the quote I just read:

If we keep the Lord ever before us, allowing our hearts to go out in thanksgiving and praise to Him, we shall have a continual freshness in our religious life. Our prayers will take the form of a conversation with God as we would talk with a friend. He will speak His mysteries to us personally. Often there will come to us a sweet, joyful sense of the presence of Jesus. . . . Prayer turns aside the attacks of Satan. {FLB 225.7}

Notice, if we keep the Lord ever before us, allowing our hearts to go out in thanksgiving and prayer, then our prayers will take the form of conversation with God as with a friend. She had this exactly right. We must come to experience God as a real individual being, before our prayers become transformational. If we pray from rote, when we merely do ritualized religious activities our prayers will not be the prayers as with a friend. Our brains will not experience the positive brain changes and we won't be transformed to be ever more like Christ if we merely do proforma prayer.

In other words, bowing five times per day and going through a regimented prayer ritual to tick off one's religious duty fulfilled, will not result in a relationship with God.

Studies show that religiosity is a predictor of abuse against one's family, spouse and child abuse. Why? Because ritualized religious activity does not engage the prefrontal cortex, does not draw out the mind and heart into intimacy with God for actual transformation.

And does prayer make a difference in our lives?

In the aftermath of 9/11/2001 terrorist attack, University of Michigan scientists evaluated the impact of prayer in coping with trauma and discovered that students who prayed in the aftermath of the trauma had better psychological adjustment 1 year later than those who did not pray.

But they also evaluated Muslim refugees of Kosovo and Bosnia and found that many of them also prayed to cope with the stress, 60% of whom had PTSD. Interestingly, they found that 77% of them had “negative” forms of prayer, such as praying their enemies “would pay for what they have done.” In other words, prayers of vengeance.

They found that positive prayers and practices were related to high levels of optimism, hope and healthy adjustment, but justice-seeking and anger-related religious practices that sought vengeance were related to reduced levels of optimism, hope and healthy adjustment. (Journal of Personality Volume 73, Issue 3, p 763-792, June 2005)

Thoughts?

What does prayer do for/to those who pray? It changes them – but the kind of prayer and to whom they pray makes the difference.

What does prayer do for/to God?

Examples of prayer?

- Abraham regarding Sodom – what do we learn from this?
 - Did God have to tell Abraham what He was going to do?
 - Why did God tell Abraham?
 - Did God know Abraham’s heart and how Abraham would respond?
 - Why tell Abraham?
 - Could it be that this entire encounter with God was recorded in Scripture for the purpose of disclosing God’s desire not to destroy the cities, but that, like a cancer that needed to be excised, these cities needed to be eliminated, not to punish the people, but to protect the innocent and keep open the channel for the Messiah?
 - So what did Abraham’s prayer accomplish in this case? Communication from God, which informed Abraham of God’s attitude, willingness to be patient, and also that the condition of the people were beyond healing, and there was nothing God could do for them, but God could intervene to protect the rest of humanity.
- Paul and the thorn in the flesh
 - “To keep me from becoming conceited because of these surpassingly great revelations, there was given me a thorn in my flesh, a messenger of Satan, to torment me. ⁸ Three times I pleaded with the Lord to take it away from me. ⁹ But he said to me, “My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness.” Therefore I will boast all the more gladly about my weaknesses, so that Christ’s power may rest on me. ¹⁰ That is why, for Christ’s sake, I delight in weaknesses, in insults, in hardships, in persecutions, in difficulties. For when I am weak, then I am strong.” 2Cor 12:7-10
 - What do we learn from this prayer?
 - That God hears but doesn’t always give us what we ask for
 - Why? Because God is interested in our ultimate good, and is also working out a larger plan. Thus, when we trust Him we are willing to have events go as He would direct them – Joseph would not at age 17 chosen to be sold into slavery, but at age 30, understood and was at peace with how God permitted events to unfold for a larger good.

- Jesus and prayer to His Father throughout His life
 - What do we learn from Jesus' many prayers?
 - We need daily communication with God
 - Prayer is more than just a needs list, it is relationship
 - Prayer keeps the mind clear on the true nature of reality as we keep in tune with God

SUNDAY

The first paragraph reviews the rapid spread of the gospel in the first century after Christ and asks the question, “What was their secret?”

Thoughts?

What message did they take to the world? Could their secret have been that they had seen past the distortion of Satan and seen God's true character, His true kingdom, methods, motives, law of love?

Was the secret that they knew God, as a being of love, had a personal friendship with God and loved Him and His way of doing things?

Did you notice in the New Testament they didn't require people to go through months of indoctrination, give up habits, change jobs, and attest to believe certain historic figures before they could be baptized?

Could their method of preaching God's love and salvation through the remedy achieved by Jesus with immediate baptism for those who were so convicted have made it easier to come back into a relationship with God?

Could our modern method of saying the sinner's prayer, followed by months of indoctrination, required lifestyle transformation and oaths of loyalty to institutions be obstacles to spreading the gospel?

Read last paragraph, “Pastor R. A. Torrey...” thoughts?

In the bottom green section the lesson points out one obstacle to prayer is that we can get too busy to pray. What other obstacles are there to prayer in addition to being too busy?

- Lack of desire
- Lack of belief that God exists
- Lack of trust in God
- Believing one is too sinful for God to love
- Believing one can handle things on their own

- Believe the issue is too insignificant to trouble God with
- Not realizing one's need of prayer
- Not knowing how to pray
- Other obstacles?

If someone told you they don't know how to pray what would you tell them?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Christ was continually..." thoughts?

What process is being described in this paragraph? Do you see God's law of love in action? Do we learn something about the Father from this? What?

Read bottom green section, "Spend a few moments..." thoughts?

When I was in undergraduate school, pre-med, I was taking full load of classes 15-18 hours a semester, working full time as an ICU nurse, giving Bible studies to a student at the University, was a big brother to a young man, and without intent found that my study time had slipped by and a major physics exam had snuck up on me. It was scheduled for first period the next day and I had to work 3-11 p.m. in the ICU that evening. I prayed that God would allow it to be a quiet evening in the ICU so in between my responsibilities I could find some moments to review the material for my exam. I went to work and discovered there was only 1 patient in the ICU, a man who had chest pain and was on observation status. He was simply to be monitored on the heart monitor through the night. When I did my assessment I told him what I was doing and low and behold, he was a physicist that worked in nuclear power. He told me to bring my book over and gave me a tutorial – and I got an A on my exam the next day.

Christie and I have prayed that God would open avenues to allow us to share this healing message about Him with others, and He has blessed by opening the way for two books to be published. This is a real answer to prayer. When we moved to this area we searched the local churches for some pastor or class that shared this perspective, but found none, so we prayed. He has answered our prayers with this class and this Ministry and all of you who love this message and work with us to share it with others. And our friends around the world who have joined us in sharing this message in their community. And it continues to grow!

Would any of you like to take a moment and share an experience when God answered your prayers?

TUESDAY

Read Matthew 18:19,20:

“And I tell you more: whenever two of you on earth agree about anything you pray for, it will be done for you by my Father in heaven. For where two or three come together in my name, I am there with them.”

Then read second paragraph, “The promise...” thoughts?

What does it mean proportionate to the unity of the members? Unity in what way? We are unified in our human condition – we all suffer in sin, we all age, we all die the first death, so what is this unity that empowers our corporate prayers?

Would it mean we have unity of heart, share the same appreciation and love for God, His methods, His kingdom of love, love fore each other and have a unified purpose to share this truth with others? Something else?

What would you like for us to pray for as a united group?

The lesson gives the example of the church 2000 years ago praying for the deliverance of Peter and he was miraculously delivered.

What would you like us to pray for? Let’s do that now.

WEDNESDAY

Read first three paragraphs, “Have you ever...” thoughts?

In prayer we can absolutely do what the lesson describes, freely acknowledge our dependency upon God, but can people pray without acknowledging our dependence upon God? In other words, just because people pray does it mean they have surrendered their lives to God?

I remember a presidential primary in which one of the candidates, whose wife was suffering with cancer, was asked during a debate if he believed in the power of prayer. He said, “No, but I pray for my wife every day.”

I don’t know whether he prayed or not, or simply said this is a political answer, but what is God to do for those who pray out of obligation, out of duty, out of habit, out of form, using prayer wheels, using prayer beads, using computer generated prayers, using memorized prayers, praying without actually believing in God?

Don’t such activities become superstitious? Don’t such activities work to darken the mind? Don’t such prayers actually close the heart to God?

What kind of prayer does God want? Why does God want us to pray?

The lesson asks us to read 2Cor 10:3-5:

For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. ⁴ The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. ⁵ We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ.

Thoughts?

What are the weapons we use?

- Truth
- Love
- Freedom
- Prayer
- Praise
- Song
- Meditation
- Study
- Work/discipline
- Service
- Evidence
- Reason
- Experience
- Scripture

What weapons to we not use?

- Lies
- Emotions as a determiner of truth or choice
- “God said it, I believe it, that settles it.”
- Threat, coercion, force
- State authority

In a devotional book, This Day with God, after reading Cor 10:3-5, this is the devotion for the day:

In dealing with unreasonable and wicked men, those who believe the truth are to be careful not to bring themselves down to the same level, where they will use the same Satanic weapons that their enemies use, by giving loose rein to strong personal feelings, and arousing against themselves and against the work the Lord has given them to do, passion and bitter enmity. Keep Jesus uplifted. We are laborers together with God. We are provided with spiritual weapons, mighty to the pulling down of the strongholds of the enemy. We must in no case misrepresent our faith by weaving unChristlike attributes into the work. We must exalt the law of God, as binding us up with Jesus Christ and all who love Him and keep His commandments. We are also to reveal a love for the souls for whom Christ has died. Our faith is to be demonstrated as a power of which Christ is the Author. And the Bible, His word, is to make us wise unto salvation. {TDG 99.2}

Let the righteousness of Christ, with its life-giving influence, into the soul, and then you can sing, He forgiveth all our iniquities. You say, I am full of spiritual disease. The great Physician is calling you to come to Him, that He may heal you. He healeth all our diseases. The worst of these diseases are envy, jealousy, evil-surmising, evil-speaking, a desire to follow plans that counterwork the work of God. The lives of all ought to be holy, but they are full of depravity, and because of this, men are easy subjects for Satan's temptations. But if Christ abides in your heart, you can say, He redeemeth our life from destruction: He crowneth us with lovingkindness and tender mercy. [How does he redeem? By healing our characters!!!] Then let songs of praise be upon our lips and in our heart. Meditate upon Christ's sufferings for us. In the place of watching to find something to accuse and condemn in others, thank the Lord that there is forgiveness with Him. Christ is grieved when we criticize and accuse; for this is the work of Satan. Let us draw water from the wells of salvation, and praise the Lord. {TDG 99.3}

It is not sermonizing that gives evidence that the soul is born again. An appreciation of Christ's tenderness toward the sheep of His pasture gives evidence of this. {TDG 99.4}

THURSDAY

Read first three paragraphs, "There are many..." thoughts? What methods have you found effective?

What do you think of the non-formula in the last paragraph:

- Praise and adoration
- Thanking God for his goodness
- Confession of our faults
- Thanking God for forgiveness
- Supplication, presenting our requests and needs
- Submission to His will
- Thanking Him for hearing and doing according to His will

What if you don't follow the procedure?

Revival and Reformation Lesson 3 3Q 2013

The Word: The Foundation of Revival

What do you think of the title?

When you think of “The Word” what comes to mind? What do you think the authors intended? By the weight of the lesson, they intend the Bible.

So, when we think about using the Bible as our source of authority are there any “rules” “methods” “principles” “guidelines” that enhance our ability to get what God wants us to get out of it?

Can we give a list of guidelines to enhance our effectiveness in relying on the Bible?

First, we want to affirm our belief in the Bible as the inspired Word of God. Having said that, can the Bible, even though inspired by God, be used in a way that misleads?

Did Satan quote Scripture in an attempt to deceive Christ?

What is the lesson from this observation? That just quoting a passage of Scripture is not sufficient to determine truth.

Further, according to the Christian Encyclopedia 2001 there are 34,000 different Christian groups all claiming the Bible supports them. How can that be?

Because the Bible can be on the innocent end, misunderstood, and on the malicious end, twisted, manipulated, and purposely distorted. And using the Bible in isolation can increase the risk of misunderstanding.

What can we do to minimize the likelihood of misunderstanding the Bible?

- Include all of it – Don’t pick and choose the portions we like, but require all of it to harmonize. If we find some portion of Scripture contradicting another portion, then we need to find an understanding that harmonizes them.
 - The critics don’t like this. That we are not to interpret the plain passages, the non-comparable, non-prophecy parts but take it as it reads. But they don’t require the Scripture to harmonize. They cut and divide – that’s old dispensation this is new dispensation. Or they just refuse to incorporate the texts “I don’t know how that fits.”
- Study with a heart longing for truth submitted to the guidance of the Holy Spirit
- Think and reason with your mind enlightened by the Holy Spirit
- Use all the threads of evidence God has provided, the integrative evidence based approach
 - Scripture “All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness” (2Tim 3:16)

- Science “For since the creation of the world God’s invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse.” (Rom 1:20) (emphasis mine)
- Experience “Taste and see that the Lord is good” (Ps 34:8)
- Always require the written Word to be interpreted through the lens of the living Word – Jesus. Do pigeon hole Jesus’ actions and teachings into traditions of the Old Testament symbolic system. He was the fulfillment of that system and it needs to be interpreted through Him.
 - Jesus taught that God provided three threads to be harmonized, Scripture, Science/Nature, Experience
 - Jesus taught using Scripture:
 - He quoted it, read in in Synagogue
 - Jesus taught using examples in nature
 - wheat falls to ground dies to bring live, tell the signs of the weather but cannot tell signs of the times, parable of sower, provisions for sparrows and the lilies of the fields
 - Healing – demonstrating the plan of salvation by healing
 - Jesus taught using experience:
 - “Then he said to Thomas, ‘Put your finger here; see my hands. Reach out your hand and put it into my side. Stop doubting and believe.’” (Jn 20:27)
- Read a variety of versions, the original languages if possible, but remember the words are not inspired, the authors were inspired and they used human words to convey ideas. So it is the idea that is to be sought, and an idea can sometimes be lost in the words.

The principle of sola scriptura espoused by Martin Luther was for the purpose of confronting traditions that had entered the church based on superstition and paganism. Martin Luther was saying basically, I can’t allow tradition to be my determiner, it must be demonstrated also in Scripture.

But this principle has been perverted by modern theologians to exclude other evidences God has provided and this exclusion of other evidences causes the gospel to be obstructed.

Our position requires the harmony of Scripture, Science and Experience – notice the difference in dealing with tradition with the Scripture and integrating science, experience and Scripture together:

Tradition – celibacy for those in the priesthood – Martin Luther found that Scripture did not support this thus he rejected this tradition.

Science – eating a diet that avoids animal products is healthier, and if one does eat animal products if they eat a Mediterranean diet, high in vegetable products and limiting the meat to mostly fish and a few kosher meats they are healthier. Guess what the Scripture says? The same thing, and what does experience say? The same thing.

But, when one uses Scripture only, one can misunderstand passages like:

- “What goes into a man’s mouth does not make him ‘unclean,’ but what comes out of his mouth, that is what makes him ‘unclean.’ “ MT 15:11
 - One can conclude this passage is speaking about the physical laws of health, when in reality it is dealing with spiritual principles of character development.
- Or “They forbid people to marry and order them to abstain from certain foods, which God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and who know the truth.” 1Tim 4:3
 - One could conclude that all food is good to eat, but notice, the text says foods which God created to be received...

When we use Scripture alone, we can easily, and without malice or purposeful intention to twist, misunderstand. And many Christians have rightly concluded that one is not “ceremonially” unclean by eating non-kosher meat because the ceremonial laws have been done away with. But they have wrongly concluded that the laws of health were done away with at the Cross. Using the integrative evidence based approach brings balance so we don’t fear condemnation from God for what we eat, but we understand His design for health and life and want to live in harmony with it.

When it comes to our theology of God it is the same. Texts by themselves are easily misunderstood. But when we require them to harmonize with the Law of Love and the Law of Liberty – which are testable and reproducible, and which we can experience in our own lives, then certain ideas of God must be rejected. Like God is the source of inflicted pain and suffering, saying, “love me or else I’ll kill you.”

SABBATH

Memory Text: “Plead my cause and redeem me; revive me according to Your word.” (Ps 119:154).

What does this text mean?

What does God’s word say about reviving us? How does it suggest we are revived?

One idea put forth is that we are revived by a legal transaction between Jesus, the Father and us. Jesus pays a penalty, then pleads to the Father the blood He shed in order to spare us the inflicted torture and death the Father would otherwise impose upon us.

Can someone show me that? Can someone demonstrate that in a testable manner? Even if it were true, how does God being restrained by His Son revive us?

Do you see how backward such ideas are?

The Scripture actually presents a different idea:

- “The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul.” Ps 19:7
- “He who pursues righteousness and love finds life, prosperity and honor.” Pr 21:21

What do these texts suggest to us about reviving?

Is there a connection between God’s law and revival?

How would you explain it? The imposed view is penal payment – but what if we use science and experience, then what do we discover?

- The law of love is the principle of giving upon which life is built and we see this throughout nature
 - Many examples given previously (breathing, food cycles etc)
- This law of giving is seen in experience
 - Youth who volunteer experienced greater
 - academic achievement, civic responsibility, and life skills that include leadership and interpersonal self-confidence¹
 - Adults who volunteer (after accounting for variables such as education, baseline health, smoking, etc.)
 - Live longer, have less illness, less disability, less depression, less dementia and live independently longer than those who did not.²

So how does the Lord revive us? By presenting the truth about Himself, His government, methods, principles, that win us to trust. When we trust Him, we open the heart and the Holy Spirit comes into the heart and we enter into a relationship with God in which we experience His love for us. The Holy Spirit takes all Christ achieved and reproduces it in us. Thus it is no longer “I that lives but Christ lives in me.” In that love relationship we desire to live like Him. We begin:

- to give instead of take,
- to trust instead of doubt,
- to pray instead of worry,
- and we experience a change, greater peace, healthier relationships, and better physical health.
- We are revived as we come back into harmony with God and His design for life!

We are not revived by claiming a legal payment while living outside God’s design for life.

The lesson states that when people discover the truth in the Word the Holy Spirit will move upon them. “God will honor their commitment by pouring out His Holy Spirit in abundance, and the whole world will be lightened with the glory of the three angels’ messages. The Holy Spirit will be poured out beyond measure, and the gospel will be carried to the ends of the earth, and Jesus Christ will return (Matt 24:14)”

Wow – don’t you long for this? Don’t you long for the Lord to return?

And I believe the lesson is right, when the gospel of the kingdom is preached to the entire world the end will come.

What is preventing this?

What about the linkage between the gospel and the three angels' messages?

What is the first message?

Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people.⁷ He said in a loud voice, “Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.”

The eternal gospel from this angel is that the same message that Jesus said needed to go to the entire world as a witness to all nations?

Can someone tell me what that good news message is?

- The truth about God's character of love, His methods of love, His law as the design template for life, His actions to intervene to save and heal, that He is not against us but for us.

What message has gone to the world?

- God is required by law to inflict punishment, kill and torture and is appeased, propitiated from this work by the blood of Jesus

But the first angel is calling people to be amazed with God, give him glory, which means to reveal the truth of His character and methods in our lives, because it is time for Him to be judged! It is time for the world to decide, trust God or not!

What is the message of the second angel? How is it connected to the first message?

⁸ A second angel followed and said, “Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, which made all the nations drink the maddening wine of her adulteries.”

The first message presents the truth about God's character of love, His methods of love and the second points out that the system of religion that has dominated the world has fallen into confusion about God and teaches ideas that intoxicate the world into a false belief system about God and His methods, causing their hearts to distrust Him i.e. be adulterous.

Do we see this? Have the religious institutions of the world been corrupted with a false view of God?

Here is my paraphrase of the three angel's messages:

Rev 14:6 Then I saw another messenger flying in midair, and he had the eternal good news about God's character of love to proclaim to everyone living on earth, to every nation, tribe, language and people, which represents a movement of people who arise to proclaim the truth about God's character of love throughout the world. 7 He said in a clear resounding voice, "Be in awe of God, and glorify him by living his methods of love, because the hour has come for everyone to make a judgment about God and worship the Creator who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and springs of water."

Rev 14:8 Then I saw a second messenger follow the first proclaiming throughout the world, "Don't trust Babylon the Great, a symbolic description of religions that misrepresent God; it is fallen into the lies about God and intoxicates the world with its pagan views of God, maddening them with its adulterous idea that God coerces and must inflict punishment if not properly appeased."

Rev 14:9 A third messenger followed them and proclaimed in a voice heard throughout the world, "If anyone gives worth and honor to the beastly system of coercion by choosing the methods of the beast and thus marking themselves as loyal in heart by embracing the character of the beast or marking themselves as loyal in deed by practicing his methods, 10 they will reap the full fury of unremedied sin when God let's go his protective hand. They will experience immeasurable torment of mind and burning anguish of heart when they stand in God's fiery presence and are bathed in unquenchable fire of truth and love, all in the very presence of Jesus and the holy angels. 11 And the memory of their suffering and the lesson of their self-destructive choices will never be forgotten throughout all eternity future. There will be no peace of mind, day or night for those who prefer the methods of the beast and model after him, nor for any who choose to mark themselves as followers of the beast." 12 This requires patient endurance on the part of the healed who live God's methods of love and remain true to Jesus.

SUNDAY

The lesson points out that King David found strength in God's Word. Then in the green section it asks, "How can you learn to draw hope, strength, assurance, and light from the Word of God?"

Thoughts?

What Bible passages have brought you hope, strength, assurance and light?

- "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. ¹⁷ For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. John 3:16,17
- I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you. Jn 15:15

- Then neither do I condemn you... Jn 8:11
- So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand. Is 41:10

MONDAY

Read Heb 4:12: “For the word of God is living and active. Sharper than any double-edged sword, it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow; it judges the thoughts and attitudes of the heart.”

Thoughts?

What does it mean the word of God is living and active?

From the SDA Bible Commentary:

That is, “living.” It takes a living and active force to create in man a new heart and to renew a right spirit within him (cf. Ps. 51:10). The “word” of God is living, and imparts life. Thus it was in the work of creation (Ps. 33:6, 9 and thus it is in the re-creation of the image of God in the soul of man. Christ, the incarnate Word, likewise has life in Himself (John 1:4, 12; 5:26). The “word of God” is the energizing force in conversion. The Christian is “born again, ... by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Peter 1:23).¹

What does it mean, penetrates the dividing of soul and spirit?

The Greek is psuchē and pneuma, soul and spirit. Some commentators suggest it means life and breath. Other thoughts?

What do you think of the idea that soul refers to our individuality, our unique individual self, our personhood, our individual wants, longings, desires; whereas spirit refers to the higher faculties of reason and conscience, where our good judgment lies?

And the Word is to separate the two so we are able to discern the right from the wrong, gain mastery over the passions, and choose to do the right, knowing it is right, despite the desires of the soul, even sometimes despite the agony of the soul?

In Gethsemane – Christ’s soul anguished, He was in emotional turmoil, yet He understood His situation, trusted His Father, and chose to do what He knew what right despite what He felt. Is this an example of the Word enlightening the mind and separating the spirit from the soul?

¹ The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary, Volume 7. 1980 (F. D. Nichol, Ed.) (424). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

What about joints and marrow? What might this refer to?

Is it saying the word gets down to the very roots of life in the person, changing from the inside, not just the behavior?

Marrow in Scripture refers to the source of life, the joints refer to living one's life. What might the metaphor refer to?

How do these text influence our understanding?

- his body full of fat and the marrow of his bones moist. Job 21:24 RSV
- My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness; And my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips; Ps 63:5 ASV
- My strength is gone, gone like water spilt on the ground. All my bones are out of joint; my heart is like melted wax. Ps 22:14 GNB

Now consider this version GNB of Heb 4:12:

The word of God is alive and active, sharper than any double-edged sword. It cuts all the way through, to where soul and spirit meet, to where joints and marrow come together. It judges the desires and thoughts of the heart. GNB

Does it make a difference in what we think is happening if we view the word separating joints and marrow versus separating soul and spirit where joints and marrow meet?

I like the GNB better. I believe it is saying that God's word, the truth, enlightens our minds and separates us from the carnal nature, the temptations that come from our own desires (James 1), and does this down at the most intimate level where our very life originates and is joined together.

Here is my paraphrase of Heb 2:14:

^{Heb 4:12} For the word of God is the living and active revelation of the truth about God, His methods and principles and the real basis of life in the universe. It is sharper than any two-edged sword, it penetrates the deepest recesses of the mind and separates the thoughts and feelings, habits and motives; it diagnoses the true intentions, attitudes and principles of the heart.

So with all we have reviewed about the Word, its ability to penetrate the inmost being, separate the good from the evil and renew us in righteousness – what is that Word?

Well, if we read the context in Heb 4:2 – what do we find?

For we have heard the Good News, just as they did. They heard the message, but it did them no good, because when they heard it, they did not accept it with faith.

The “Word” is the Gospel, the Good News – which is what?

It is the truth about God, His character of love, His law of love. The law being the protocols upon which life is built, an expression of His character of love, the principles of giving. It is the good news that, while we are sick, terminal “dead in trespass and sin” God is always for us. He is using all His energies to save and heal. It is the good news that God is NOT like the enemy has suggested, an imposer of laws, a judgmental being, bent on punishing who requires appeasement and payment.

Thus, the good news about God, when understood, frees the heart from fear. In trust we open the heart and the Spirit comes in, bringing all Christ achieved and reproducing it in us. We are actually transformed to beings of love. Love for God and others! We are no longer controlled by fear and selfishness, thus the word divides, or separates the spirit from the soul, cleansing and restoring!

This is the same message as that of the three angels, the message which is to go to the world to enlighten the world about God so people will experience genuine transformation and be ready to meet Jesus when He returns.

I was raised an SDA and brought up in a system in which we had many rules, and God was a being to be feared, for justice required He punish disobedience. I was taught the law and that other non-SDA Christians were in trouble with God because they didn't keep the law. Thus, I was instilled with a sense of spiritual superiority because we were right, the remnant, the only ones true to God.

So, when I was young I had a great sense of spiritual confidence, arrogance really, pride and looked down on other Christians as being in the dark. They were to be pitied.

Then, I discovered, while many of the facts I had been taught were correct, they had all been presented coated in distortions about God and particularly His methods. God was presented as arbitrary, the Sabbath as an arbitrary test of obedience. The law was a list of rules imposed to test our loyalty, and God would punish if we didn't obey.

I came to realize the truth of God's law, His character and came to no longer be afraid of God and instead love Him, adore Him, just like to be with Him and hang out with Him.

But, another problem arose for me. Some of you may have picked up on it over the years. Something I have really struggled in my heart with, and this week a light went off for me.

When I came to see God in His true light, as Jesus revealed Him to be, and my love for Him grew, I simultaneously realized much of what I had been taught was wrong and I had a sense of betrayal, anger, resentment tempting me toward my church. How could my church hold to these distortions?

In my frustration, I became embarrassed to be identified as a Seventh-day Adventist. When people would ask me I would say, “tell me what you think one is and I will tell you whether I am one.” Or if they asked what church I belonged to I would try to evade because I saw so much legalism within the church, so much opposition to the God of love, that I didn't want people to think I viewed God in that way.

Then, this week it hit me. Jesus belonged to a religious system that was corrupt, dominated by people who were legalistic, who cherished an imposed law construct and who horribly misrepresented God. Yet, He came and not only revealed the truth about God – but in Jesus we see true Judaism. What the religious leaders lived out is false Judaism. Jesus didn't say "I am leaving Judaism." Rather, He revealed the reality of what that system was suppose to teach all along.

So, I made up a little comparison between Jesus and the Pharisees:

Jesus

Pharisees

Jew
Kept Sabbath
Believed Creator God
Prayed
Honored Sanctuary
Ate right diet
Dressed right
Kept feasts
Believed Scripture

Jew
Kept Sabbath
Believed Creator God
Prayed
Honored Sanctuary
Ate right diet
Dressed right
Kept feasts
Believed Scripture

WHAT WAS THE DIFFERENCE?????????

Lived law of love
True Judaism

Lived imposed law
False Judaism

Paul makes this clear in Romans:

A man is not a Jew if he is only one outwardly, nor is circumcision merely outward and physical. ²⁹ No, a man is a Jew if he is one inwardly; and circumcision is circumcision of the heart, by the Spirit, not by the written code. Such a man's praise is not from men, but from God. (2:28,29)

The law of love is written on the heart of the true Jew! (Heb 8:10)

Then I considered my situation today and contrasted a true Adventist from a false Adventist and this is what I came up with (I am not attacking the church. I am exposing a false manifestation of the church. This is what we are talking about reform, reformation this quarter. Eliminating false constructs that infect the church):

True SDA

False SDA

Keep Sabbath
Believes Creator God

Keep Sabbath
Believes Creator God

Prays
Honors Sanctuary
Eats right diet
Observes communion
Believes Scripture
Dress right

Prays
Honors Sanctuary
Eats right diet
Observes communion
Believes Scripture
Dress right

WHAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE?????

Lives law of love
Teaches God's law is natural

Lives imposed law
Teaches God is imposer of punishment

Then I came across this from one of the founders of our church:

A deep and thorough work of reform is needed in the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The world is not to be allowed to corrupt the principles of God's commandment-keeping people. Believers are to exert an influence that bears witness to the power of heavenly principles. Those who unite with the church must give evidence of a change of principle. Unless this is done, unless the line of demarcation between the church and the world is carefully preserved, assimilation to the world will be the result. {2MCP 559.3}

Our message to the church and to our institutions is: "Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matthew 3:2). The attributes of Christ's character are to be cherished, and these are to become a power in the lives of God's people.--MS 78, 1905. {2MCP 559.4}

What does it mean "heavenly principles"? What is the difference between heavenly principles and worldly principles?

Here are a couple of more quotes from the same author. This provides the historic context to determine what a true Adventist is and expose false Adventism:

- The law of love being the foundation of the government of God, the happiness of all created beings depended upon their perfect accord with its great principles of righteousness. {GC 493.2}

What is the principle of heaven? The law of love!

- The law of God, from its very nature, is unchangeable. It is a revelation of the will and the character of its Author. God is love, and His law is love. Its two great principles are love to God and love to man. "Love is the fulfilling of the law" (Rom. 13:10). The character of God is righteousness and truth; such is the nature of His law. Says the psalmist: "Thy law is the truth"; "all thy commandments are righteousness" (Ps. 119:142, 172). And the apostle Paul declares: "The law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good" (Rom. 7:12). Such a law, being an expression of the mind and will of God, must be as enduring as its Author. {RC 46.5}

Again the principle of heaven is love! Any arguments or disagreements? So what opposes the law of love?

- Our only definition of sin is that given in the word of God; it is "the transgression of the law;" it is the outworking of a principle at war with the great law of love which is the foundation of the divine government. GC 493
- At the cross of Calvary, love and selfishness stood face to face. Here was their crowning manifestation. Christ had lived only to comfort and bless, and in putting Him to death, Satan manifested the malignity of his hatred against God. He made it evident that the real purpose of his rebellion was to dethrone God, and to destroy Him through whom the love of God was shown. {DA 57.2}

What is the principle of the world? Selfishness – and how does one govern the selfish? With imposed laws, with threats, with punishment! It is the principle of the world.

- In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. {DA 761.4}
 - What type of law is Satan's allegations based upon?
 - Arbitrary, imposed law
 - Those who teach the imposed law are forwarded Satan's arguments
 - We are talking about revival and reformation this quarter and the quote I read said we as a church need to reform, to have a change in principle, to embrace the principles of heaven, not the principles of the world.
 - How do human governments operate? On imposed law, imposed punishments. Do we teach God operates like this? It is time to return to the truth about God as Jesus revealed!

Thus – true Adventism, as in all true Christianity, is being like Jesus living the law of love, the principle of heaven. Whereas false Adventism, as in all false Christianity, is living the principles of the world, teaching an imposed law system.

TUESDAY

What do you understand the relationship to be between Jesus, the living Word and the Bible, the written Word?

- Who inspired the Bible writers?
- Which member of the Godhead taught men the truth? (1Cor 10:1-3)
- Does the Holy Spirit speak on His own, or only what He hears? From whom does the Holy Spirit hear?
- Who is the member of the Godhead through which all things were created?
- Who is the member of the Godhead who took upon Himself our humanity in order to heal and recreated it in righteousness?

- When we study the Bible should we require Jesus to conform to our understanding of Old Testament symbolism, or should we interpret the Old Testament through the lens of Jesus and what He taught?
- So, what do we conclude about death if we use Jesus as the lens?
- What do we conclude about God “killing” if we use Jesus as the lens?

The bottom green question asks a great question – “Why can’t we trust our feelings?”

WEDNESDAY

Read first two paragraphs, “Speaking of the time...” thoughts?

What do you understand faith to be?

- Ultimately, isn’t it trusting God with how things turn out?
- Choosing to live what one knows is right, even under threat, because one trust God with the outcome?

Read third paragraph, “Faith, truth faith...” thoughts?

Believing in Bible promises means what?

- Does it mean finding a Bible promise to quote for every situation in life and expecting, by using these quotes like magic incantations one can make life go the way one wants?
- What does it mean?

Read fourth paragraph, “Our Spiritual...” thoughts?

Don’t people who handle snakes and drink poison claim to accept the Word of God by faith? Is something more than accepting the Word of God by faith required to be genuinely faithful? Are we to think? Are we to reason? Are we to understand?

If we think and reason does that mean we don’t have faith?

If we ask questions, if we say, that doesn’t make sense, does that mean we don’t have faith?

FRIDAY

Read second paragraph, “Those who...” thoughts?

Read and discuss questions 1 and 2.

Lesson 4: Witness and Service: The Fruit of Revival

Sabbath

The lesson states this better than I can, so I copied/pasted it here:

“But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth” (Acts 1:8, NKJV).

“The purpose of revival is to fill our hearts with such a love for Jesus that we long to share this love with every person possible. In genuine revival, our own hearts are awakened to God’s goodness, compassion, forgiveness, and power. We are so charmed by His love and transformed by His grace that we cannot be silent.

In contrast, a “revival” that focuses on one’s “spiritual experience alone” misses the mark. If it develops attitudes critical of others who do not measure up to one’s “standard of holiness,” it is certainly not heaven inspired. If the emphasis of revival is to merely change external behavior rather than to change hearts, then something is wrong.

Changed hearts lead to changed behavior. Genuine revival never leads to self-centeredness or, especially, to self-sufficiency or self-exaltation. Instead, it always leads to a selfless concern for others. When our hearts are renewed by God’s grace, we long to bless and serve those who are in need. All genuine revival leads to a renewed emphasis on mission and service. [emphasis added].”

I think this is very eloquently said. Too many times, we seem to put “the cart before the horse” and look at outward behaviors in ourselves & others [where they are much easier to observe and criticize], and we think that by changing our behavior[s], we can change our hearts. Only the Holy Spirit can change the human heart. It is true that our behavior[s] can help or hinder this process, but the heart must be healed first.

Sunday

Christ’s parting Commission and Promise.

Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, 20 teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age.” ... Matt. 28:19-20.

And He said to them, “Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. Mark 16:15.

And He opened their understanding, that they might comprehend the Scriptures.

⁴⁶ Then He said to them, “Thus it is written, and thus it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead the third day, ⁴⁷ and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in

His name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. ⁴⁸ And you are witnesses of these things. Luke 24:45-49.

So Jesus said to them again, "Peace to you! As the Father has sent Me, I also send you." John 20:21.

Again, the lesson succinctly states: "Once Christ ascended to heaven, His church was to be a visible manifestation of His love and grace to the world. The disciples had a mission. They had a message to share. They had a task to complete. They were to carry on the work that He began."

Has the Christian church fulfilled our Savior's wishes?? Has the SDA church??

Monday

Receiving the Promise

The lesson suggests that the ratio of Christians to the rest of the world's population was 1:580,000 at the time of the Day of Pentecost. How long would it take 1 person to tell 580,000 about the gospel?? Let's get some perspective: Have you ever heard the problem – would you rather have $5 million right now, or have one penny doubling every day for one month?? The answer is the doubling penny every day for a 31 day month resulting in a total of $10,737,418.23. This is a simple geometric progression with a constant ratio of 2.

So, if one person told another about his/her conversion experience and what Christ has done for him/her, and it doubled every day for a month, more than 10 million people would have heard about it. And that's just with human effort. The Holy Spirit could make this an exponential progression and then ...

Have we done our job?? What needs to happen first?? Doesn't it matter which gospel is being presented?? Is it no wonder that Christ has not come yet??

Tuesday

The Power of Personal Testimony

The lesson is dead on again with the following: "Religious ritual has little power to change lives. Religious formalism leaves people spiritually barren. Doctrine alone will not transform hearts. The power of New Testament witnessing was rooted in the genuineness of lives changed by the gospel. The disciples were not play-acting. They were not going through the motions. Theirs was not some form of artificial spirituality. An encounter with the living Christ had changed them, and they could not be silent any longer."

AMEN.

This is what our Saviour was referring to when he told the woman at the well she should seek the “living water”, and again in John 7: 38, “...whoever believes in me [Christ], rivers of living water will flow from within them.”

Sometimes this transformation occurs quickly [as with Saul of Tarsus / Paul], however most times it is the work of a lifetime.

An upright character is of greater worth than the gold of Ophir. Without it none can rise to an honorable eminence. But character is not inherited. It cannot be bought. Moral excellence and fine mental qualities are not the result of accident. The most precious gifts are of no value unless they are improved. The formation of a noble character is the work of a lifetime and must be the result of diligent and persevering effort. God gives opportunities; success depends upon the use made of them. {PP 223.1}

“Our confession of His faithfulness is Heaven’s chosen agency for revealing Christ to the world. We are to acknowledge His grace as made known through the holy men of old; but that which will be most effectual is the testimony of our own experience. We are witnesses for God as we reveal in ourselves the working of a power that is divine.” The Desire of Ages, p. 347.

The lesson asks a poignant question. “What kind of personal testimony do you have that tells of what the Lord has done for you??” More specifically, has conformity with God’s Natural Law produced any changes in your life? Any thoughts??

Wednesday

A Witnessing Faith is a Growing Faith.

“Activity is a Law of Life.” Well said. More importantly, it is a natural Law, not an imposed law. God created life to move. From the smallest sub-atomic particles to colossal super-galaxies, everything is in motion. Stagnation is death. Here we can see Scripture, science, and our experience in perfect harmony.

This is a Law that I see every day in my practice. When a patient stops moving a body part, joints/connective tissues get stiff and resistant to motion. Sometimes a restoration of motion is painful and even produces bruising. Any parallels with a return to mental, emotional, or Spiritual motion? The lesson states the law of multiplication is a divine principle. More than a multiplication by 2, as in the penny reference above, the Holy Spirit can multiply by numbers we cannot even fathom. Has anyone told you, “you just need more [stronger] faith”? Have you ever told anyone else they need more faith? How does one “get more faith”? What does much of Christianity teach strengthens our faith? What actually strengthens our faith?? Hint: see above.

Note Matt. 10:8. “Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out demons. Freely you have received, freely give.”

Do we not have access to the same power the disciples had?? Have we raised any dead lately??

Thursday

Revival, Witnessing, and Divine Intervention.

Does our class have any evidence of divine intervention regarding it's growth?? Have we not experienced some of the same things the early Christian church dealt with? Thankfully, none of us have imprisoned or tortured – yet. We have, though, been lied about, been dismissed from our congregation, been mistreated, all due to wanting to share our message. Has this mild persecution resulted in growth or decay of our ministry??

Consider the example given in the lesson of Philip and the Ethiopian. After Philip shared the true gospel of Jesus of Nazareth, he baptized him right away. He didn't baptize him in to a denomination. He didn't wait until the Ethiopian had given up his cigarettes, or became a vegetarian. Anything we can learn from this experience??

Lesson # 5 - Obedience: The Fruit of Revival

July 20, 2013

Read the memory text: 2 Corinthians 10:4-5 (NKJV)

"For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty in God for pulling down strongholds, casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ,"

This is a very familiar text for this class.
Typically we read verse 3 along with it.

SABBATH

Obedience is the fruit of revival

- a. Obedience to what?
 - i. a church?
 - ii. the church?
 - iii. a set of doctrines or rules of behavior?
 - iv. The memory text says 'obedience to Christ'
 - i. What does that mean?
- b. The church I belong to has acceptable patterns of behavior:
 - i. why do the members perform certain acceptable behaviors and avoid other unacceptable behaviors?
 - i. if the rules weren't there, would the behavior be any different?
 - ii. What is the source of your behavior restrictions?
 - iii. Do rules or law have anything to do with it?

The title to the lesson says obedience is the fruit of revival.

- a. Metaphor: fruit of revival.
 - i. If you plant a fruit, what do you get?
 - ii. You do not get another fruit; you get a plant. (assuming the seed is in the fruit)
 - iii. If you plant a fruit (obedience), you will not get another fruit (salvation).
 - iv. If you plant the obedience without revival, you might get the seeds of rebellion or a stone fruit, a stony heart of rebellion.

- b. At the bottom of the second paragraph of Sabbath's lesson there is a statement about the result of Welsh miners coming to Christ.
- c. "This truly is the fruit of conversion"
- d. Revival in one's heart is different than revival of a nation or people.
 - i. One implies the return and rejuvenation of a previous conversion experience, whereas the other implies the conversion of new hearts and lives for God.
 - ii. Whatever the entity, there is behavior changes that accompany all hearts that are on fire for God.

Obedience

- a. Definition of obedience [Miriam-Webster Online]
- b. Definition of OBEDIENT
 - i. submissive to the restraint or command of authority
 - ii. willing to obey
- c. obe·di·ent·ly [adverb]
- d. Examples of OBEDIENT
- e. Origin of OBEDIENT
 - i. Middle English, from Anglo-French, from Latin oboedient-, oboediens, from present participle of oboedire to obey
- f. First Known Use: 13th century
- g. Related to OBEDIENCE
- h. Synonyms: compliance, conformity, submission, subordination
- i. Antonyms: balkiness, contrariness, contumacy, defiance, disobedience, frowardness, insubordination, intractability, noncompliance, obstreperousness, rebelling, rebellion, rebelliousness, recalcitrance, refractoriness, self-will, unruliness, waywardness, willfulness
- j. Related Words: abidance, agreeability, amenability, teachableness, tractability, tractableness, trainability; acquiescence, capitulation, obeisance, obsequiousness, submissiveness, surrender, yielding; deference, docility, dutifulness, humility, meekness, modesty, servility, slavishness, subordinateness, subservience, subserviency; inhibition, repression, restraint, suppression; control, discipline, dutifulness, order
- k. Near Antonyms: noncooperation, recusancy; disrespect, impudence, insolence, rudeness; insurgence, insurgency, insurrection, mutiny, outbreak, revolt; hardheadedness, mulishness, mutinousness, obstinacy, obstinateness, perversity, pigheadedness, stubbornness; misbehavior, mischievousness, naughtiness; dissent, dissidence

What is your emotional reaction to the word Obedience?

- a. Why is obedience a "dirty" word?
- b. Currently it is a very uncommon word.
- c. Word History App or Google Ngram
 - i. peak about 1800 - 1830 as a fairly common word and decline to 1940 and continued to rare at present
- d. recent blogger about religion/Sunday School Teacher: "I don't like it" "my least favorite word"
- e. parents in my office: foreign concept for children to be taught to obey,
 - i. behavior is now controlled, but not obedience
 - ii. Obedience is not expected, especially for the male gender child

Obedience previously was to be included in the bride's wedding vows, but not the groom's vows

Obedience in dictionary and on internet search response

- a. Military (in response to authority)
- b. Religion (in response to creed or leaders)
- c. Animals (dog obedience schools)

Graham Maxwell in his book, "Servants or Friends" described three forms of obedience in relationship to God

- a. Obedience Type 1: "I do what I do because God has told me to, and he has the power to reward and destroy."
 - i. may not agree that it is a good idea
 - ii. may not act in that manner if God hadn't said to do so
 - iii. Is that the reason you do not murder or commit adultery, because God said you musn't? Are you saying that you might do it otherwise, but you can't afford to incur his displeasure?"
- b. Obedience Type 2: I love God and want to please Him, so I do what he says to do
 - i. again, there is no value to what He says, only that I want to make Him happy because I love Him
 - ii. Do we make Him happy when the only reason we do not kill our mother-in-law is that He said not to do so?
- c. Obedience Type 3: I obey because I agree with Him that it is a good counsel and appropriate behavior. "I have found it to be right and sensible to do so, and I have increasing admiration and reverence for the one who so advised and commanded me in the days of my ignorance and immaturity. And being my still somewhat ignorant and immature, I am willing to trust and obey the one whose counsel has always proved to be so sensible, when he tells me to do something beyond my present understanding.” Servants or Friends? Another Look at God, Pineknoll Publications

- d. He does not obey “The man who attempts to keep the commandments of God from a sense of obligation merely—because he is required to do so—will never enter into the joy of obedience. He does not obey. When the requirements of God are accounted a burden because they cut across human inclination, we may know that the life is not a Christian life. True obedience is the outworking of a principle within. It springs from the love of righteousness, the love of the law of God. The essence of all righteousness is loyalty to our Redeemer. This will lead us to do right because it is right—because right doing is pleasing to God.” – {COL 97.3}

SUNDAY

- a. Read the first two paragraphs
- i. “It results in a changed life.”
 - ii. “The results of revival are not necessarily positive feelings. They are a changed life. Our feelings are not the fruit of revival. Obedience is. This is evident in the lives of the disciples after Pentecost.”
 - iii. I would have to add the word “only”. Positive feelings are not the only result from revival, but it definitely has been present in my life when I have been influenced by the Holy Spirit. Both. Not either / or.

MONDAY

- a. Read the second paragraph
- i. “The infilling of the Holy Spirit. . . At times the spiritual warfare was fierce, . . .”
 - i. Read the memory text again.
 - ii. Is spiritual warfare visible?
 - iii. Is it external persecution or internal?
 1. See 2 Corinth 10:3 - 6
 2. (This discussion is similar to the one about the difference between Sin & sins.)
 - a. We often spend our energies fighting sins in our life, but instead should be fighting Sin, estrangement from God, and the sins will take care of themselves.

- ii. In the heart of Christ, where reigned perfect harmony with God, there was perfect peace. He was never elated by applause, nor dejected by censure or disappointment. Amid the greatest opposition and the most cruel treatment, He was still of good courage. But many who profess to be His followers have an anxious, troubled heart, because they are afraid to trust themselves with God. They do not make a complete surrender to Him; for they shrink from the consequences that such a surrender may involve. Unless they do make this surrender, they cannot find peace. {Desire of Ages 330.3}
 - iii. It is the love of self that brings unrest. When we are born from above, the same mind will be in us that was in Jesus, the mind that led Him to humble Himself that we might be saved. Then we shall not be seeking the highest place. We shall desire to sit at the feet of Jesus, and learn of Him. We shall understand that the value of our work does not consist in making a show and noise in the world, and in being active and zealous in our own strength. The value of our work is in proportion to the impartation of the Holy Spirit. Trust in God brings holier qualities of mind, so that in patience we may possess our souls. {Desire of Ages 330.4}
- b. Read the last half of paragraph 4: “It’s not out of the realm . . .”
- i. Will this be because they were disobedient? To whom?

TUESDAY

- a. Read the highlighted paragraph at the bottom of the page:
 - a. " Try to put yourself. . ."
 - b. ". . .face and do things we do not understand. . . ."
- b. If we do not understand them, how do we know we are to do them?
- c. The story is referenced regarding Saul’s Damascus Road experience and the subsequent visit by Ananias.
 - a. How did Ananias know to do what he was asked to do?
 - b. Are we to do things we do not understand?
 - i. (Act 17:30) "God overlooked the times when people didn't know any better. But now he commands everyone everywhere to turn to him and change the way they think and act.
 - ii. If we have done this in the past: Is this one of the foolishness that God “winked at” or overlooked?
 - c. If we do not understand them, how do we know what we are to do?
 - d. If we do not understand them, how do we know we are to do them?
 - e. How did Ananias know to do what he was asked to do?
 - f. What is the difference between what Ananias was asked to do, what Abraham was asked to do (with the sacrifice of Isaac) and what a person who is experiencing revival is suppose to do?

- i. it is a matter of how close we know God.
 1. Paul was not given the full commission on the road to Damascus. He had other influences and revelations.
 2. Abraham had at least a 20+ year relationship
 - a. He had also spoken to God in a conversation, face to face.

WEDNESDAY - Paul vs Agrippa - who had it right?

- a. Acts 26:19 (NASBStr) “So, King Agrippa, I did not prove disobedient to the heavenly vision,”
 - i. Paul was not ready to accept what God had to say to him for three days.
 - ii. After preaching briefly immediately after his conversion, he went to the wilderness, and then went back to tent making in Tarsus.
 - iii. Paul did not immediately complete his entire commission. (time in Jerusalem, the wilderness, at tent making trade before he was called by Barnabas)

THURSDAY

- a. Read the third paragraph: “Jesus was a servant to the Father’s will. . . .”
- b. What is it called when you desire the best for another? LOVE

FRIDAY

- a. Discussion Question #1 is the story of Ananias & Sapphira.
- b. Does this story say anything at all about obedience?
 - i. If so, what?
 - ii. In what way were they disobedient?
 - i. Who were they disobedient to?
 - ii. What were they disobedient about?

The Character of a Rebel by EGW “God knows that if we were left to follow our own inclinations, to go just where our will would lead us, we would fall into Satan’s lines and become possessors of his attributes. Therefore the law of God confines us to the will of One who is high and noble and elevating. He desires that we shall patiently and wisely take up the duties of service. It is for our present and eternal good to work the works of God. If His will is cheerfully and gratefully accepted, the results will be seen in the service rendered and in the character developed.” – {12MR 235.2}

A sullen submission to the will of the Father will develop the character of a rebel. Service is looked upon by such a one in the light of drudgery. It is not rendered cheerfully and in the love of God. It is a mere mechanical performance. If he dared, such a one would disobey. His rebellion is smothered, ready to break out at any time in bitter murmurings and complaints. Such service brings no peace or quietude to the soul. – {12MR 236.1}

fruit of the Spirit

- a. 22But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, 23gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law.

final pronouncement of God

- a. let him be filthy still, etc
- b. (Rev 22:10-12) Then the angel said to me, "Don't seal up the words of the prophecy in this book because the time is near. Let those who don't have God's approval go without it, and let filthy people continue to be filthy. Let those who have God's approval continue to have it, and let holy people continue to be holy. "I'm coming soon! I will bring my reward with me to pay all people based on what they have done.

At the end of time there will be a revival of obedience, enforced by a false christ.

“A mere participation in religious services and ordinances does not make a sinner a Christian. A wicked man does not become righteous merely by associating with those who fear God. A man is made holy, and acceptable with God, only when his unclean heart is made clean by the grace of Christ, through faith, and by obedience to words of truth and righteousness. A work of reformation and restoration must take place in every heart. Those who have had great light and many privileges may perform some good works, notwithstanding their impenitence and their refusal to be saved in God’s appointed way. But these good works do not cleanse the soul from corruption. Only those who accept the light of God’s truth, choosing to obey him, will be cleansed from the defilement of sin.” – {RH December 19, 1907 Par. 11}

“The material world is under God’s control. The laws of nature are obeyed by nature. Everything speaks and acts the will of the Creator. Cloud and sunshine, dew and rain, wind and storm, all are under the supervision of God, and yield implicit obedience to His command. It is in obedience to the law of God that the spire of grain bursts through the ground, “first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear.” Mark 4:28. These the Lord develops in their proper season because they do not resist His working. And can it be that man, made in the image of God, endowed with reason and speech, shall alone be unappreciative of His gifts and disobedient to His will? Shall rational beings alone cause confusion in our world? – {COL 81.3}”

“God stands toward His people in the relation of a father, and He has a father’s claim to our faithful service. Consider the life of Christ. Standing at the head of humanity, serving His Father, He is an example of what every son should and may be. The obedience that Christ rendered God requires from human beings today. He served His Father with love, in willingness and freedom. “I delight to do Thy will, O My God,” He declared; “yea, Thy law is within My heart.” Psalm 40:8. Christ counted no sacrifice too great, no toil too hard, in order to accomplish the work which He came to do. At the age of twelve He said, “Wist ye not that I must be about My Father’s business?” Luke 2:49. He had heard the call, and had taken up the work. “My meat,” He said, “is to do the will of Him that sent Me, and to finish His work.” John 4:34. – {COL 282.3}”

“The divine Son of God saw that no arm but His own could save fallen man, and He determined to help man. He left the fallen angels to perish in their rebellion, but stretched forth His hand to rescue perishing man. The angels who were rebellious were dealt with according to the light and experience they had abundantly enjoyed in heaven. Satan, the chief of the fallen angels, once had an exalted position in heaven. He was next in honor to Christ. The knowledge which he, as well as the angels who fell with him, had of the character of God, of His goodness, His mercy, wisdom, and excellent glory, made their guilt unpardonable. – {Con 21.1}”

“His lessons of instruction and His holy life, if followed, would stay the tide of physical and moral wretchedness that has so defiled the moral image of God in man that he bears scarcely a resemblance to the noble Adam as he stood in Eden in his holy innocency. Every prohibition of God is for the health and eternal well-being of man. In obedience to all the requirements of God there will be peace and happiness unaccompanied with shame or reproaches of conscience.” – {Con 72.3}

“Their obedience to the laws of God would make them marvels of prosperity before the nations of the world. He who could give them wisdom and skill in all cunning work would continue to be their teacher, and would ennoble and elevate them through obedience to His laws. If obedient, they would be preserved from the diseases that afflicted other nations and would be blessed with vigor of intellect. The glory of God, His majesty and power, were to be revealed in all their prosperity. They were to be a kingdom of priests and princes. God furnished them with every facility for becoming the greatest nation on the earth....” – {CH 204.3}

“The wondering crowd that pressed close about Christ realized no accession of vital power. But when the suffering woman put forth her hand to touch Him, believing that she would be made whole, she felt the healing virtue. So in spiritual things. To talk of religion in a casual way, to pray without soul hunger and living faith, avails nothing. A nominal faith in Christ, which accepts Him merely as the Saviour of the world, can never bring healing to the soul. The faith that is unto salvation is not a mere intellectual assent to the truth. He who waits for entire knowledge before he will exercise faith, cannot receive blessing from God. It is not enough to believe about Christ; we must believe in Him. The only faith that will benefit us is that which embraces Him as a personal Saviour; which appropriates His merits to ourselves. Many hold faith as an opinion. Saving faith is a transaction by which those who receive Christ join themselves in covenant relation with God. Genuine faith is life. A living faith means an increase of vigor, a confiding trust, by which the soul becomes a conquering power.” {DA 347.1}

“ We hear so many things preached in regard to the conversion of the soul that are not the truth. Men are educated to think that if a man repents he shall be pardoned, supposing that repentance is the way, the door, into heaven; that there is a certain assured value in repentance to buy for him forgiveness. Can man repent of himself? No more than he can pardon himself. Tears, sighs, resolutions—all these are but the proper exercise of the faculties God has given to man, and the turning from sin in the amendment of a life which is God’s. Where is the merit in the man to earn his salvation, or to place before God something that is valuable and excellent? Can an offering of money, houses, lands, place yourself on the deserving list? Impossible!

There is danger in regarding justification by faith as placing merit on faith. When you take the righteousness of Christ as a free gift you are justified freely through the redemption of Christ. What is faith? “The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen” (Hebrews 11:1). It is an assent of the understanding to God’s words which binds the heart in willing consecration and service to God, Who gave the understanding, Who moved on the heart, Who first drew the mind to view Christ on the cross of Calvary. Faith is rendering to God the intellectual powers, abandonment of the mind and will to God, and making Christ the only door to enter into the kingdom of heaven.

When men learn they cannot earn righteousness by their own merit of works, and they look with firm and entire reliance upon Jesus Christ as their only hope, there will not be so much of self and so little of Jesus. Souls and bodies are defiled and polluted by sin, the heart is estranged from God, yet many are struggling in their own finite strength to win salvation by good works. Jesus, they think, will do some of the saving; they must do the rest. They need to see by faith the righteousness of Christ as their only hope for time and for eternity. {FW 25.3}

Confessions and Repentance: The Conditions of Revival

SABBATH

Read memory text: “He who covers his sins will not prosper, but whoever confesses and forsakes them will have mercy.” (Proverbs 28:13, NKJV)

What does this mean?

Does it make a difference how we understand this verse if we look through natural or imposed law?

What does this mean if we read it through the lens of imposed law?

- That those who cover their bad deeds will get caught and punished, but those who acknowledge and confess their sins will receive legal pardon

What does it mean through the lens of natural law?

- Those who cover their disease will not partake of remedy and the disease only worsens ultimately killing them. But those who acknowledge their diseased hearts/minds/characters, confessing before God their true condition and need, will find merciful healing and transformation of character.

How do you hear the verse?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “During the weeks...” thoughts?

What do you think it means to be in “one accord”?

Does it mean they all agreed on the 10 horns? Or they all agreed on who they should eat and associate with? What foods to eat? Whether to circumcise or not? What were they in one accord regarding?

Could it have been they agreed upon:

- Their need for Jesus?
- That Jesus was the true revelation of God?
- That Jesus is God in human form?
- They were united in their longing for His presence?
- Could it also be they agreed on their inability to fix their own situation and they were all in the same boat, even if they didn’t see all things the same way?
- God’s kingdom is the kingdom of Love and God’s law is the law of love?

- Did they agree on God's methods, truth, love and freedom?

What about today? When we talk about unity in Christ, what should be the central focus of that unity?

- The way we baptize?
- How we hold communion?
- What day we worship upon?
- What foods we eat?
- The 2300 day prophecy?
- Our atonement model?
- The mark of the beast?
- OR
- God's character and methods? Truth, love, freedom!
- God being Designer not Dictator and His law being natural not imposed?
- Jesus reveals God?
- Our acknowledgment of our sinful condition and our need for Christ?

Why is there so little unity in Christianity, according to the Christian encyclopedia, 34,000 different Christian groups – why?

How is it that Satan is so successful in causing division and disunity when Jesus brought a message of love and unity?

Could it be by getting people to operate on imposed rules rather than the law of love?

In other words it is more important to keep the rules, be right, than to love others more than self?

What do Christians "fight" over? The doctrines – but what is the central purpose of all doctrine? To reveal the truth about God.

The problem arises when we divorce the doctrines from God's character of love and make them stand alone testing "truths". We get our proof texts to prove the state of the dead, the Sabbath, the little horn of Daniel, the 2300 days and all of it dissected, separated and disconnected from the larger reality of God's character and methods of love and the controversy over His law and rulership.

It is only by putting these things back into this context, anchoring them to God's love that we can find unity.

Consider, does it matter if someone worships on the "right" day, if they crucify Jesus? But what of the Roman who trusted Jesus – never sacrificed at the Temple, never was circumcised, never obeyed the doctrinal rules, but Jesus said, no greater faith did he find in Israel.

The message is about God – Satan diverts us as he gets us to fight over side issues. We must love God and each other and be gracious, allowing God to lead people to whichever organization he wants them in.

One of the problems is that too many Christians believe salvation is found in organizations, institutions, rather than in Christ. Thus we insist when we evangelize that people join our institution. Our ministry wants people united with Christ, and leave it to the Holy Spirit to lead them to whichever field He has for them to work.

Read second paragraph, “Peter makes two...” thoughts?

What do you understand the idea of repentance being a gift to mean?

What do you understand repentance to be?

Is it not a change in heart motive such that we no longer desire the sin, but are repulsed and sickened by it? Are we able to change the motives of the heart? So, genuine repentance is an evidence of the Holy Spirit working on the heart to change the desires and motives. It is part of the renewing, healing, reviving process that God is seeking to accomplish in each of us.

In my preparations for class I came across this quotation in a book entitled Faith and Works page 38:

Repentance, as well as forgiveness, is the gift of God through Christ. It is through the influence of the Holy Spirit that we are convicted of sin and feel our need of pardon. None but the contrite are forgiven; but it is the grace of God that makes the heart penitent. He is acquainted with all our weaknesses and infirmities, and He will help us. {FW 38.2}

Some who come to God by repentance and confession, and even believe that their sins are forgiven, still fail of claiming, as they should, the promises of God. They do not see that Jesus is an ever-present Saviour; and they are not ready to commit the keeping of their souls to Him, relying upon Him to perfect the work of grace begun in their hearts. While they think they are committing themselves to God, there is a great deal of self-dependence. There are conscientious souls that trust partly to God and partly to themselves. They do not look to God, to be kept by His power, but depend upon watchfulness against temptation and the performance of certain duties for acceptance with Him. There are no victories in this kind of faith. Such persons toil to no purpose; their souls are in continual bondage, and they find no rest until their burdens are laid at the feet of Jesus. {FW 38.3}

Thoughts?

First, what does “none but the contrite are forgiven” mean? That God is unforgiving – or that only the contrite experience the forgiveness God freely offers?

What about the idea that some are depending on self and the performance of certain duties to be accepted with God? What might that look like?

What would cause one to believe such a thing?

I had a patient in my office this week who said he no longer believes in God, despite believing his entire life until recently. I asked him to tell me what happened that he quit believing in God. He recounted two experiences. The first was listening to Contemporary Christian music and having people at his conservative Christian college tell him he was going to go to hell for listening to this music. The second, he struggled with depression and was told repeatedly by church leaders if he prayed he would be delivered. He prayed for hours and hours, months and months and only got worse, so concluded God doesn't exist.

Were the people who told my patient such things described in the quotation I read? Believing they have to do certain duties to be accepted by God? Failing to trust Him and putting the work on self?

Read last paragraph, "Repentance and confession..." thoughts?

What does it mean the goodness of God leads us to repentance? How do we come to know that God is good?

If the goodness of God leads to repentance, then what would one of Satan's strategies be to obstruct people from coming to God in repentance?

Would it be to get us to conceive of God as something other than good, perhaps "just", where just means the inflictor or proper punishment?

Read bottom green section, "Why is it so difficult..." thoughts?

Is it not fear? Sin severs the circle of love and trust and incites fear and the desire to protect self. Thus, we are afraid of rejection, punishment, retaliation, embarrassment, humiliation, not being loved or liked or accepted etc. etc. so we attempt to hide and cover our defects.

Why would you be afraid to share in this group you have been struggling with gambling, alcohol, narcotics, pornography, or some other issue? What stops you from sharing this here? Is it not fear of how you will be treated? Rather than loved, supported, encouraged, instead shunned, criticized and belittled?

Consider, if you were struggling with a physical illness, might you ask for help? And how does the church treat those struggling with physical illness? With compassion, grace, love and support. Why are we so callous to those suffering with spiritual sickness, i.e. sin? Because the church has been infected with the imposed law lie, and thus do not see sin as a disease, a deviation from God's natural law that we need to be healed from, but instead as willful violations of rules, that require punishment. Which leads to the idea, "You aren't sick, You're bad!"

Remember our memory verse for this week, those who seek to cover their sin don't prosper. Does the distortion of imposed law lead us, through religious teachings, to attempt to hide and cover our sin? What about when we make theories in which we can hide behind Jesus? Is it not another deception, another sophisticated way in which Satan's view of God has infected the church – we hide behind the robe of righteousness, we have Jesus stand between us and the Father, we are covered by the blood, we have our records erased by the blood etc. etc. etc. All mechanisms designed to hide our sins, rather than heal us from our sins.

All of this stems from accepting the lie that God's law is imposed. When we return to the truth that God's law is the design protocol upon which life is built, and we are out of harmony, then, we like David, pray, "Search me and see the wicked way IN ME and create in me a clean heart oh God!"

No sick person goes to the doctor and then asks the doctor to examine their healthy brother in their place, or asks the nurse to erase the medical record so the doctor won't know what is wrong.

But most criminals who appear before the judge hire lawyers whose job is to obstruct the truth, to hide the evidence of their guilt and to erase the record of their crimes.

Who, having committed a crime wants to go before the judge? Who, when sick, wants to go to a compassionate doctor?

We must come back to the truth about God and His law of love and present Him as our Heavenly Physician and stop this ugly Judge presentation, then genuine repentance and revival can occur. As long as we insist on taking the penal view of God to the world we obstruct the unity and reformation God wants for His people.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Repentance is a God-initiated..." thoughts?

Repentance is sorrow for the sin, but also a change in heart motive so that the sin becomes repulsive. And it does include the willful choice to disengage and turn away from deviations from God's design.

Read last paragraph, "When the apostle Paul..." thoughts?

Why was Paul so freely able to talk about his past in this way? Could it be that he had experienced an actual change of motive, no longer motivated by a desire to protect and save self, but genuinely interested in glorifying God and saving others?

Do you think this would result in a change of brain circuitry?

What is the difference between acknowledging one's self as the chief of sinners, and feeling too sinful to be saved?

When we wallow in sinfulness, loathing ourselves as too defective to be loved, too worthless to be saved, too awful for forgiveness, and thus constantly feel insecure and fearful, who have we put at the center of our lives? Have we died to self in such a state, or is this a way of putting self in the center of all?

Two types of narcissists – narcissism is self-centeredness, self-love. The Kernberg narcissist is the proud, self-inflated, egotist who walks in and believes everyone should stop in awe because he or she has arrived. The isle at the store should part to allow him/her to check out etc.

Kohut narcissist, is the opposite, the one who feels too low for anyone to like, so when walking in the mall and passes a couple of teen girls who giggle as they walk by thinks, “they are laughing at me.” Self is put at the center of everything, but not in an inflated way, in a demeaned way. But, self is still at the center. These people often become meek, church workers, always volunteering, always helping, not for love but for fear of others not liking them if they ever say no.

We must put Christ in the center, and surrender self to Him.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Genuine repentance...” thoughts?

What is the purpose of confessing specific sins rather than just general confession?

Is it that God will not forgive, unless He hears the specific sin committed confessed? Or is it something else?

Could it have anything to do with our heart, character, brain? Could the confession of specific sin, have some part to play in our actual recovery? If we refuse to acknowledge our defects, or specific shortcomings, do we obstruct the work of the Holy Spirit by our refusal to be truthful?

So is the confession of specific sin a “legal” requirement, or required by our own condition? The truth must be brought to bear in our minds. Our condition requires it, not God’s heavenly court reporter.

Read third paragraph, “The purpose...” thoughts?

I think this is well said, our confession enables us to receive His forgiveness, His love, His presence.

Are there ideas in this paragraph that apply to other areas, like the judgment?

What is the only variable in the “judgment”? Is it God’s attitude or is it the condition of our hearts?

Read bottom green section, “However much we long...” thoughts?

How do we respond to those who have done us wrong and NEVER ask for forgiveness?

Why did Jesus pray, “forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors”?

If we refuse to forgive others, what does that say about our hearts? Are we open to the grace of God working in us? Are we loving, kind and merciful or are we selfish and vengeful?

Does forgiving those who have done us wrong mean we approve of what they have done?

Does forgiving those who have done us wrong mean they get away with it?

When we forgive those who have done us wrong who gets changed by our forgiveness?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “There are specific examples...” thoughts?

What do you understand the first sentence to mean? There were people who sought repentance but were not forgiven by God?

Did they seek repentance? One could argue they didn’t, they sought to avoid the pain, suffering and consequences their sin brought, but not a new heart.

Did they experience forgiveness? No, but does this mean they were not forgiven by God?

What does this idea that they were not forgiven by God imply? It implies an imposed law construct.

Is the problem we have in our sinful state God’s unwillingness to forgive, or God’s inability to forgive because some legal requirement hasn’t been met, and something needs to be done so God will forgive, whether it be our repentance, confession, or the blood payment of Christ – OR is the problem our sinful condition itself?

In other words, what obstructs our salvation – God’s attitude of unforgiveness, or our attitude of selfishness and distrust of God?

So, if forgiveness means God’s heart, God’s personal pardon – then doesn’t that happen for everyone?

But, if forgiveness means the entire process of reconciliation then, only those who open their hearts to God in trust experience forgiveness. So if the authors meant the entire process of reconciliation, then they are right, but it would be nice for them to clarify that God forgave, but the sinners didn’t receive it, thus they did not experience forgiveness, i.e. were not in a forgiven state, even though God forgave.

What evidence for this view?

Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon.

“For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways,” declares the Lord. As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts.” ISA 55:7,8

Those who put Christ on the Cross – did they seek forgiveness? Did Christ forgive them, so they were forgiven by God, but were still in an unforgiven state because they didn’t receive the forgiveness freely offered.

Read last paragraph, “True repentance...” thoughts?

This is well said, and what leads to true repentance? A knowledge of God! Understanding His methods, principles, character and law of love we want to repent and turn away from deviations from God’s design for life. But when we believe in imposed law, then we don’t want to admit we are wrong we want to find an excuse so we can have a legal loophole, or cover our sins.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “Confession lances the boil...” thoughts?

Do you notice that the lesson rightly points out that forgiveness is freely extended or offered from Christ? Which means, because Christ is God, all are freely forgiven from God’s side of the equation – because the problem in sin is not legal, it is the actual condition of the person who is out of harmony with the way God built life to operate.

Thus, even though God holds no grudges, God is forgiving to all, only those who repent, who open the heart in trust, experience the forgiveness God extends freely and are reconciled, or restored to God’s original methods of love and at-one-ment with God. Thus only those who accept God’s forgiveness are forgiven in experience.

Read second paragraph, “Is guilt good or bad?...” thoughts?

What is the purpose of guilt?

What is the cause of false guilt?

False guilt in some way is a result of believing a lie. “It was my fault” for something that wasn’t. “I should have known” something that was unknown, etc.

And others will often try to manipulate you with false guilt. Here are some examples:

1. Make you believe they will suffer greatly if you do not respond positively to their request(s).

- If you break up with me I'll kill myself, implying it will be your fault
 - Solution – the truth – only person to keep you safe from you is you, your behavior is not love, and surrender is violation of Law of Liberty
- Oh, if you can't take me to the store that's okay. I've been suffering with this pain so long a few more days won't matter. Implying it is your fault they are in pain.
 - Solution – the truth – you're right I'll be over later.
- 2. Respond to your irrational self by reinforcing your irrational thinking, giving you a sense of blame, for past, present, or future actions.
 - I thought you said you were a loving parent but every time I want to do something fun you say no.
 - Solution – the truth – because I love you the answer is no!
- 3. Feign or fake hardship, illness, discomfort, unhappiness, incompetence, or other negative behavior to arouse your sense of guilt and have you take over their tasks or duties
 - Oh I just can't clean like I used to. My back hurts so much when I vacuum.
 - Solution – the truth – If your back hurts maybe you should vacuum in smaller increments
- 4. Build a case with moral absolutes to convince you of the "right way" to do things, avoiding that negative feeling of guilt for themselves.
 - God teaches that wives are to be submissive to their husbands – don't you want to follow God's Word?
 - Solution – the truth – God teaches equality and wives are to submit to Christlike treatment from their husbands
- 5. Build up scenarios that portrays you at fault for inaction, thus guaranteeing your sense of guilt and your willingness to do anything to alleviate it.
 - Where were you? If you would have been here this mess would have never happened.
 - Solution – the truth – What happened in my absence by someone else is not my responsibility
- 6. Accuse you of misdeeds, words, or actions to arouse your sense of guilt and make you believe you are the one with a problem in an interpersonal relationship difficulty. (This effectively takes the pressure off of them.)
 - You're always in a bad mood. Every time I say something you find fault. There's no talking to you – you take everything the wrong way.
 - Solution – the truth – I'm not always in a bad mood, I don't always find fault, I don't take everything wrong – these allegations are exaggerated expressions of frustration

FRIDAY

Read first sentence, "Confession will not be acceptable to God without sincere repentance and reformation." Thoughts?

What does this mean? Is it confusing? Why is it not acceptable to God?

If it said, “Bathing is not acceptable to God without soap and water” would that be confusing? Why would bathing not be acceptable without soap and water? Because it really wouldn’t be bathing, we wouldn’t be clean, and God wants us clean.

So, is confession really confession without repentance and reformation?

God doesn’t want simple confession. He wants us healed, restored, cleansed, renewed, saved. Thus He it is not “okay” or “acceptable” to Him if we try and substitute a false remedy that gives us false security but doesn’t transform and heal.

Read question 1, “What crucial...” thoughts? Was Jesus just “willing” to forgive, or did Jesus actually forgive?

Read and discuss questions 2-4.

Revival and Reformation Lesson 7 3Q 2013

Unity: The Bond of Revival

Thoughts about the title?

What does unity mean to you?

Any thoughts on what humanity, human relationships, would have been like had Adam and Eve not sinned?

What would you suggest interferes with unity?

Fear – when Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because they were afraid – when God came looking for them in the garden, what was the state of Adam and Eve’s “unity”? Did Adam stand by Eve? Or did Adam try to separate himself from her? “It wasn’t me, it was the woman...” Why?

Imagine what Eve felt? “Thank you for your honesty husband” Doubtful – do you think she felt betrayed, hurt, saddened?

What caused the disunity?

Lies believed broke the circle of love and trust – broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness – this breaks unity.

Lies, fear and selfishness.

How do lies, fear and selfishness undermine unity today?

Why is there so much disunity within Christianity? Is it because truth and love predominate? Is it because the church is infected with lies, fear and selfishness?

What is God’s solution to bring unity?

- Truth and Love
- The Holy Spirit, which is the Spirit of Truth and Love
- Jesus who embodied Truth and Love
- God who is the source of Truth and Love
- The Bible which teaches Truth and Love

Truth destroys lies, wins to trust, in trust the heart is opened and God pours His love into our hearts (Rom 5:5) and we stop living to protect self but to love God and others.

If God's solution is Truth and Love, taught by the Bible, brought by Christ, administered by the Spirit, then how does Satan counter God's remedy in the church?

By lies – what kind of lies are in the church and obstruct unity?

- Unity is found in correct doctrines rather than a personal relationship with Christ that changes the heart (The Apostles in came into unity, but still disagreed on various doctrines. Peter had to be corrected by Paul later.)
- Because unity is found in correct doctrine we must have doctrinal police to examine doctrines and determine who is of the unified faith...
- Because unity is found in correct doctrines we must attack other institutions that hold different doctrines
- Unity is found in correct behavior – dress, diet, day of worship, rather than in a change of heart motive found in relationship with Christ
- Unity is found in accepting legal solutions to our sin problem, rather than in heart transformation to be like Jesus
- Unity is found by conformity to a vote of church leadership, rather than unity is found in a love relationship with God that changes the heart
- The idea that if someone believes or practices religious rituals that are different it is sin
 - Is it sin to wear jewelry? Then what about the father putting a ring on the prodigal's finger
 - Is it sin to eat meat? Then what about Jesus' feeding the thousands with fish?
 - Is it sin to attend church on any day of the week? Like Wednesday prayer meeting or Sunday school?

Why do some people get angry and upset when others believe or practice differently? For instance, why are some in the church upset if others worship on a different day, or wear jewelry, or eat a different diet, or eat in a restaurant on Sabbath, or believe their deceased loved ones are in heaven or not?

Do we get angry or upset if, as non-smokers, we meet someone who believes smoking is good for their health? Why not? Do we get angry or upset if we meet someone who believes brushing and flossing one's teeth is harmful and therefore they don't do it? Why not?

Why do we get angry and upset if others don't believe the same way about God and religion as we do?

Why do some get divisive and seek to punish those who practice differently? Punishment could be removing from church office, spreading rumors or posting blogs attacking a person's teachings, or stoning, shooting, rioting and executing those who offend by speaking ill of one's spiritual leader or books.

Why do people get divisive and attack those who practice differently? Are such behaviors evidences of love?

In our own church, do our leaders deal with differences in love or fear and selfishness?

Is there a difference between attacking ideas, lies, distortions with truth, and attacking people?

Are we to present the truth in such ways that lies are overturned? Can we do that without attacking people who may believe those lies?

Can you love someone who believes differently than you? Can you fellowship with someone who believes differently than you?

Where do you draw the line in such fellowship, when we consider the Bible counsel to separate from those of the world, and the warning that bad company corrupts good character?

Do we find unity in denominational boundaries and doctrinal teaching, or do we find unity in Christ?

I have much greater unity with those who love God and others, regardless of denomination, than those of my denomination who are like the Pharisees in Christ's day, legalistically keeping the rules and aggressively protecting the "standards." What about you?

SUNDAY

The lesson refers us to Jesus prayer in John 17. Let's read some of John 17 together:

After Jesus said this, he looked toward heaven and prayed: ¹ "Father, the time has come. Glorify your Son, that your Son may glorify you. [what does this mean? How is Christ glorified and how did He glorify the Father?] ² For you granted him authority over all people that he might give eternal life to all those you have given him. [What does this mean? Christ has the responsibility to save humanity] ³ Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent. [What is life eternal? And what is Christ providing?]⁴ I have brought you glory on earth by completing the work you gave me to do. [what work?] ...

²⁰ "My prayer is not for them alone. I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, ²¹ that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me. ²² I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: ²³ I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me. [What does this mean? To be one – is this the same as at-one-ment? Did Jesus come to achieve atonement? What is atonement? How did Jesus achieve it? Is Jesus Himself telling us in this prayer? What is the glory of God? His character – Jesus gives us His character as Jesus possessed and revealed the true character of the Father!]

¹ The Holy Bible: New International Version. 1984 (Jn 17:1). Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

It is by coming back into the unity of God's character of love that we are reconciled to God. The lies are displaced, trust is reestablished, and the Holy Spirit takes all Christ achieved and reproduces it in us! It is amazing, beautiful, powerful and simple. God is Love. Life is built to operate upon love. Sin is selfishness and destroys. Christ came to reveal God, restore Love into the human species, develop a perfect character, and win us back to trust so that we might receive new hearts and minds, operating again on love.

This is the only unity that matters. This is the unity that comes from God and restores us to eternal life!

MONDAY

New Testament Illustrations of Unity read first paragraph, "The New Testament..." thoughts?

What was the society of the world like 2000 years ago? Was it much different in method and principle that ours today? In some ways was it even worse?

- Government sanctioned slavery
- Government sanctioned discrimination
- Government sanctioned immorality
- Government sanctioned violence – gladiators
- Government sanctioned worship – paganism

Did Christ and the Apostles seek to change the government? What was the mission of the church when led by Christ and the Apostles? To change the hearts of people.

What about today? What is supposed to be the mission of the church?

Is the church vulnerable to being derailed from its mission? How? Could it be derailed through trying to change the government?

- Abortion law
- Marriage law
- Promoting various candidates etc.

Has the recent laws regarding gay marriage brought more unity? Has the recent court rulings brought greater demonstrations of love, grace, kindness from the Christian community?

What is happening that Christians are responding with something other than love?

Could it be fear? Could these rulings incite fear in the hearts of Christians that cause them to justify unloving actions in order to protect what they believe is sacred?

Is this different that Muslims who act unloving when someone profanes the Prophet? Why do they do it? They believe they are protecting something sacred. Are such behaviors acts of love or motivated by fear?

What should be the Christian response when others act in ways that are contrary to our beliefs?

What should be the Christian response when the government acts in non-Christian ways, passing laws that promote, what we believe, is immoral?

Jesus said, “My kingdom is not of this world.” We are in the world, not of the world.

We must remember, the United States is NOT God’s kingdom on earth. It is a human government, and like all human governments, operates on imposed law, run by selfish humans.

We are to promote the kingdom of God, not the kingdom of one earthly government. And how would you describe the kingdom of God?

And how would God’s kingdom respond to the ruling on gay marriage?

With Love and Truth! And what is the truth? In our world, marriage has two aspects. The sacred and the legal. The governments of the earth have the responsibility for legal, statutory aspects of human contract law, property, guardianship, inheritance, etc. including marriage and who can benefit from the legal protections and benefits of marriage contract law.

But human governments cannot and do not determine holiness, sacredness, sanctity, and spiritual unity or blessing associated with marriage. So, when a human government passes laws that homosexuals may marry, they can speak within the bounds of their authority and grant legal privileges for property, health care decision making, tax breaks etc. They cannot make something holy or blessed.

Do we get insecure, threatened, fearful, when activities are promoted that don’t correspond to ours? What is the Christian response? To love everyone, regardless of sexual orientation, and to promote the truth of God’s character, methods and design and leave it up to the Holy Spirit to convict of sin.

The lesson refers to the imagery of the Bible in regard to the unity that we are supposed to experience in the church. Paul uses the imagery of the body, and how we are all members of the body – how does this imagery help in your understanding of how we are to be unified together?

In the body are all the components alike? Do they all share the same appearance? Do they all have the same strengths and weaknesses? Do all the components of the body have the same abilities? Do they all have the same function? How are they unified?

Peter uses the illustration of a holy building – a temple, sanctuary – built together into a house for the Lord. How does this imagery help?

Who is the builder? Who brings the various pieces into alignment? Who is the building built upon? What is the implication for unity? We cannot be unified with each other until we first are unified with Christ!

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “The disciples were...” thoughts?

Do you agree? We need to unite upon the gospel – how would you describe the gospel? What is the good news upon which we need to unite?

Is it not the truth about God’s character and methods of love, how He built the universe to run and His plan through Christ to restore His universe back to His original ideal?

I want to thank all of you, here and around the world, who are uniting with us, who are unifying with us on the truth about God’s character of love. Through your support this gospel message is penetrating. Yet, as the message grows so does the opposition.

As you know I will be going to Singapore and Australia to do a series of presentations. I was notified last week, that one of the venues cancelled as a Chaplain was approached by someone who disagrees with this perspective and misrepresented what we teach. When the person who is organizing my schedule asked what was the problem, the Chaplain refused to discuss it.

Many of you are praying for this ministry regularly – we are thankful for your prayers and I would like to ask for your continued prayer, that God will move upon the hearts of people to prepare them to hear and give me the ability to present the truth about His kingdom in the most effective way possible. Also, please pray that doors of opportunity will continue to open and opposition will be moved out of the way.

The lesson speaks about present truth and that the church has been given a mission to prepare the world for Christ’s return, the message of the three angels of Revelation 14 which is the “everlasting gospel in the context of judgment, of obedience, and the Lord’s return.”

What do you think of the idea of the gospel in the context of judgment? Can it be presented in a way that actually obstructs the gospel?

What is the everlasting gospel? The truth about God’s character of love!

What if we present the gospel as Jesus dying to pay or legal penalty, in the context of God sitting in judgment of sin, and Jesus paying the penalty to turn away the Father’s wrath, so God will judge us saved, but that God will judge condemn and punish those who don’t accept the legal payment of Christ? If we present the first angel in this context are we presenting the eternal gospel or are we obstructing it?

It is my position we are obstructing the gospel with these ideas and obscuring the truth and delaying the second coming. The first angel says we are to worship him who made the heavens, earth, seas – in other words the text is telling us we are being called back to worship the Designer, the Creator, and reject the dictator views of God which infected the church when Constantine converted. God's law is love and God's character is love! This is the eternal good news – God is NOT like Satan alleges, a cosmic dictator who inflicts punishment on law breakers. Sin destroys, God heals!

WEDNESDAY

Read last two paragraphs, “The Jerusalem Council...” thoughts? What is the lesson suggesting?

Is the lesson suggesting that, when the church meets in official session, and determines a doctrinal issue, that members are to surrender their thinking and agree with the decision of the church leadership?

Thoughts?

- Isn't that the same argument made by the Catholic church to Martin Luther and other Reformers?
- Should the Reformers have accepted the decision of the church councils?
- Should we today go along with the church leadership and General Conference votes, regardless of what the vote says, or only if we are convinced the decision is in harmony with God and His truth?
- What about women's ordination? This argument, the church in General Conference session has voted and the various divisions should abide by that vote. Thoughts?

Those who promote the position of the lesson will quote the following from one of the founders of our church, which was written in 1875:

I have been shown that no man's judgment should be surrendered to the judgment of any one man. But when the judgment of the General Conference, which is the highest authority that God has upon the earth, is exercised, private independence and private judgment must not be maintained, but be surrendered. (3 Testimonies, p. 492, 1875)

Thoughts? Do we say, “well if she said it then we must believe” or do we think for ourselves? Is anyone uncomfortable questioning the decisions of the General Conference? Is anyone uncomfortable questioning after hearing what I just read? Why?

Here are some others quotations from EGW a little later in her life, note the change. For those who believe she was inspired, was she less inspired with these?

If it were possible, the enemy would clog the wheels of progress, and prevent the truths of the gospel from being circulated everywhere. With this object he leads men to feel that it is their privilege to control the consciences of their fellow-men according to their own perverted ideas. They dismiss the Holy Spirit from their counsels, and then, under the power and name of the General Conference, they invent regulations through which they compel men to be ruled by their own ideas and not by the Holy Spirit. {1888 1527.2}

The plans to obtain control of human minds and ability are as strange fire, which is an offense to God. And who are those who dare engage in this work? Men who have revealed that they do not have self-control, that they are not divested of selfishness. Unless these men shall themselves turn unto the Lord, they will die in their sins. There is scarcely a vestige of genuine truth remaining in them. The effort to manage others, which is made by those who cannot manage themselves, is one of the greatest fallacies that could exist. Let those who love to rule, begin the work where it should have begun years ago; let them rule themselves, and show that they are in subordination to God's rule, that they have been converted at heart. Then they will at least not make their fellow-men groan under the galling yoke of their restrictive policy. Then there will be fewer prayers sent up to heaven in anguish of heart because of their selfish oppression. {1888 1528.1} [how many Christians have been discouraged, left the church, because of restrictive rules put upon them by someone in church leadership? How many have failed to experience the grace, peace, love and joy of God, because someone in leadership has made religion an onerous and restrictive set of rules and burdens? Should we blindly surrender our judgment to the General Conference?]

"It has been some years since I have considered the General Conference as the voice of God." --17MR 216 (1898). LDE 50.3

One day at noon I was writing of the work that might have been done at the last [1901] General Conference if the men in positions of trust had followed the will and way of God. Those who have had great light have not walked in the light. The meeting was closed, and the break was not made. Men did not humble themselves before the Lord as they should have done, and the Holy Spirit was not imparted. {LDE 57.1}

Thoughts? Should we blindly adhere to the rulings of the General Conference or any other human body, or should we humbly, prayerfully, study for ourselves and decide for ourselves?

Here is a quotation from one of the pioneers of our church found in The Desire of Ages:

As the light and life of men was rejected by the ecclesiastical authorities in the days of Christ, so it has been rejected in every succeeding generation. Again and again the history of Christ's withdrawal from Judea has been repeated. When the Reformers preached the word of God, they had no thought of separating themselves from the established church; but the religious leaders would not tolerate the light, and those that bore it were forced to seek another class, who were longing for the truth. In our day few of the professed followers of the Reformers are actuated by their spirit. Few are listening for the voice of God, and ready to accept truth in whatever guise it may be presented. Often those who follow in the steps of the Reformers are forced to turn away from the churches they love, in order to declare the plain teaching of the word of God. And many times those who are seeking for light are by the same teaching obliged to leave the church of their fathers, that they may render obedience. {DA 232.2}

Do we expect the final work to be done from the General Conference? Or is the final work to be done by you and me?

Don't be discouraged, embrace the truth about God's character of love and dedicate yourself to sharing it, and when you do, expect all manner of evil to be said against you falsely, because the devil wants to shut down every source of light.

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "Every Christian..." thoughts?

What, according to this, is to be the ambition of the believer? Do you agree?

And is there a connection to revealing Christ in our characters and experiencing unity? Is it not the key?

As I have travelled around the world, I have found the most wonderful unity and bonds of friendship with those who love God and cherish His character of love.

FRIDAY

Read and discuss question 1 – does this question sound like they are most concerned with presenting God's kingdom of love, or protecting an institution, and even restricting its growth and movement forward in the truth?

Read question 3 – discuss – how do we, move forward in the truth and challenge our church to grow in the most gracious way possible?

Lesson 8: Discernment: The Safeguard of Revival

SABBATH

“Consider how I love Your precepts; revive me, O LORD, according to Your lovingkindness. The entirety of Your word is truth, and every one of Your righteous judgments endures forever” (Psalm 119:159-160, NKJV).

What is “discernment”?

1. the quality of being able to grasp and comprehend what is obscure : skill in discerning
2. an act of perceiving or discerning something.

Discern:

1. to detect with the eyes <discerned a figure approaching through the fog>
 - a. to detect with senses other than vision <discerned a strange odor>
2. to recognize or identify as separate and distinct : discriminate <discern right from wrong>
3. to come to know or recognize mentally <unable to discern his motives>

Origin: Middle English, from Middle French discerner, from Latin discernere to separate, distinguish between, from dis- apart + cernere to sift.

Any thoughts regarding the story told of the man claiming he was cured of lung cancer while smoking a cigar? How do the two law concepts relate?

SUNDAY

God’s Will and His Word

“All true spirituality is focused on knowing God and doing His will (John 17:3, Heb. 10:7).” AMEN. Well said.

Isn’t the root of all [spiritual] discernment the knowledge of God and His ways/methods/principles??

What is God’s will? Is it not for EVERYONE to be healed, and none be lost? Is it not for those on the path to healing to share the source of our healing with those who are “dying”? Is it not to have a people who speak about God “that which is right”? Did not Christ do “God’s Will” in completely revealing God Himself [Heb. 10:7]?

The lesson states “the Word of God is the foundation and heart of all true revival.” How, then, can we have upwards of 34,000 sects of Christianity all using the same Word of God? Might there be something else involved? Think the three threads of scripture, science, and our experience [relationship].

MONDAY

God's Love and His Law

Is there any difference between God's love and His Law??

God is the life-giver. From the beginning, all His laws were ordained to life. But sin broke in upon the order that God had established, and discord followed. So long as sin exists, suffering and death are inevitable. It is only because the Redeemer has borne the curse of sin in our behalf, that man can hope to escape, in his own person, its dire results. {AG 73.3}

“Revival is all about knowing Jesus. It is a reawakening of the spiritual faculties of the soul. It is a personal and vital experience with the Savior. Knowing Jesus-really knowing Him as a friend-is the essence of all revival. From the depth of his personal experience with Jesus, the apostle Paul shared that he is praying for the Ephesians to “know the love of Christ which passes knowledge; that you may be filled with all the fullness of God” (Eph. 3:19, NKJV.)” Again, very well said from the lesson.

³ Now by this we know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments. ⁴ He who says, “I know Him,” and does not keep His commandments, is a ^dliar, and the truth is not in him. ⁵ But ^ewhoever keeps His word, truly the love of God ¹is perfected ^fin him. By this we know that we are in Him. ⁶ ^gHe who says he abides in Him ^hought himself also to walk just as He walked. 1 John 2: 3-6.

⁷ Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God. ⁸ He who does not love does not know God, for God is love. 1 John 4:7-8.

²⁰ If someone says, “I love God,” and hates his brother, he is a liar; for he who does not love his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen? ²¹ And this commandment we have from Him: that he who loves God must love his brother also. 1 John 4: 20-21.

TUESDAY

Formalism, Fanaticism, and Faith

Do we see any examples of formalism in Christianity today?? in Adventism?

- Baptism by immersion vs sprinkling. Baptism by an ordained minister.
- Rote / perfunctory prayer.
- Only certain types of music allowed in church / on Sabbath.
- Day of worship. Might we worship on the “correct” day and miss the relationship with its Creator? Might we worship on the “incorrect” day and love with all our hearts/minds/spirits?
- What foods are acceptable, etc.
- Being resistant to new “light” – greater revelations of God.

What about fanaticism??

- Following false messiahs.
- “Faith” healings, Snake handling, speaking in tongues, etc.
- Bombing abortion clinics / shooting physicians who perform abortions
- Belief that if a church doesn’t have 10,000 members or more, a coffee shop, and its own football team, it has nothing to offer.
- Belief that if a church has more than 30 members, it has nothing to offer.
- Failure to test new “light” against Scripture, known science, and our experience.
- Belief that only men have anything to contribute to a worship service or discussion about religion.

What is “Faith”? see Heb. 11: 1

1 Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. 2 For by it the elders obtained a good testimony. 3 By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that the things which are seen were not made of things which are visible.

Substance = under standing. How many of us can conclusively prove that Earth was created in 6 days?? How many have “faith” [based on understanding] that the Earth was created in 6 days?

WEDNESDAY

Ministry and Miracles.

I saw a billboard that asked “Do You Need a Miracle?” Come to our church on this date and we guarantee you one. I didn’t need a miracle, so I didn’t go. I wondered, though, if people were disappointed.

We have discussed many times in class that miracles are NOT for the strong in faith, they are for the weak.

The lesson states: “False revivals emphasize spectacular signs and wonders; genuine revivals recognize that the greatest miracle is a changed life.” Yet again, well said. The greatest miracle is our character transformation, and it’s what we will spend eternity sharing with angels and un-fallen intelligent beings. What does the following passage represent?

12 I tell you for certain that if you have faith in me, you will do the same things that I am doing. You will do even greater things, now that I am going back to the Father. 13 Ask me, and I will do whatever you ask. This way the Son will bring honor to the Father. John 14: 12-13. CEV.

Ever notice that the Son was glorifying the Father and vice versa? What does this tell us about their relationship?

What about this one?

⁹ The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders, ¹⁰ and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, that they might be saved. ¹¹ And for this reason God will send them strong delusion, that they should believe the lie, ¹² that they all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness. II Thess. 2: 9-12.

Why do the wicked die in the end?? BECAUSE THEY DID NOT RECEIVE THE LOVE OF THE TRUTH. How much more clear can Scripture be??

THURSDAY

Fruits and Gifts

Have you ever known someone with strong discernment?? Were they born with it, or were they reborn with it? see I Cor. 12: 10.

How can we be more discerning?

*13 For every one that useth milk is unskilled in the word of righteousness, for he is a babe.
14 But strong meat belongeth to those who are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil. Heb. 5: 13-14.*

What is the purpose of ALL of the spiritual gifts?? The building up and strengthening of the body of Christ [the Church].

Can we have discernment without the specific gift of the spirit? Can we use discernment for self instead of building up the church?

Why do we need to look for fruits of the Spirit as well as gifts??

Reformation: The Outgrowth of Revival, Lesson 9, 3Q 2013

What exactly is reformation?

According to dictionary.com:

re·form

noun

1. the improvement or amendment of what is wrong, corrupt, unsatisfactory, etc.
2. an instance of this.
3. the amendment of conduct, belief, etc.

verb (used with object)

4. to change to a better state, form, etc.; improve by alteration, substitution, abolition, etc.
5. to cause (a person) to abandon wrong or evil ways of life or conduct.
6. to put an end to (abuses, disorders, etc.).
7. to abandon evil conduct or error: The drunkard promised to reform.

Are there different types of reformations? (social, political, medical, spiritual) How does social, political, or medical reform happen? Who is responsible for these types of reformations? What is the normal method for these types of reform? (change the laws to change behavior)

How does spiritual reformation happen? Who is responsible for spiritual reformation?

being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus. (Philippians 1:6) for it is God who works in you to will and to act according to his good purpose. (Philippians 2:13)

Is spiritual reformation the same thing as sanctification? Who is responsible for sanctification?

“Then I asked, ‘Who are you, Lord?’

“ ‘I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting,’ the Lord replied. ‘Now get up and stand on your feet. I have appeared to you to appoint you as a servant and as a witness of what you have seen and will see of me. I will rescue you from your own people and from the Gentiles. I am sending you to them to open their eyes and turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan to God, so that they may receive forgiveness of sins and a place among those who are sanctified by faith in me.’ (Acts 26:15-18)

Yet I have written you quite boldly on some points to remind you of them again, because of the grace God gave me to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles. He gave me the priestly duty of proclaiming the gospel of God, so that the Gentiles might become an offering acceptable to God, sanctified by the Holy Spirit. (Romans 15:16)

SABBATH

Memory Text: “For both He who sanctifies and those who are being sanctified are all of one, for which reason He is not ashamed to call them brethren” (Hebrews 2:11, NKJV).

But of Him you are in Christ Jesus, who became for us wisdom from God—and righteousness and sanctification and redemption— that, as it is written, “He who glories, let him glory in the LORD.” (1 Corinthians 1:30-31, NKJV)

It is because of him that you are in Christ Jesus, who has become for us wisdom from God—that is, our righteousness, holiness and redemption. Therefore, as it is written: “Let the one who boasts boast in the Lord.” (1 Corinthians 1:30-31, NIV)

But God has brought you into union with Christ Jesus, and God has made Christ to be our wisdom. By him we are put right with God; we become God's holy people and are set free. So then, as the scripture says, “Whoever wants to boast must boast of what the Lord has done.” (1 Corinthians 1:30-31, GNB)

The sanctification of the soul by the working of the Holy Spirit is the implanting of Christ's nature in humanity. Gospel religion is Christ in the life—a living, active principle. It is the grace of Christ revealed in character and wrought out in good works. The principles of the gospel cannot be disconnected from any department of practical life. Every line of Christian experience and labor is to be a representation of the life of Christ.

Love is the basis of godliness. Whatever the profession, no man has pure love to God unless he has unselfish love for his brother. But we can never come into possession of this spirit by trying to love others. What is needed is the love of Christ in the heart. When self is merged in Christ, love springs forth spontaneously. The completeness of Christian character is attained when the impulse to help and bless others springs constantly from within—when the sunshine of heaven fills the heart and is revealed in the countenance. {COL 384.2}

If Christ is our sanctification, is there anything we can do to cooperate? (Get with Christ!) And how do we do that?

“Sanctify them by the truth; your word is truth. As you sent me into the world, I have sent them into the world. For them I sanctify myself, that they too may be truly sanctified.” (John 17:17-19)

Does this give us any insight into how we cooperate? How does the truth sanctify? How do we become acquainted with the truth? (Scripture, science, experience) Do you think it’s enough if all we do is let someone else study it and present their findings? Why not? How important is it, then, to study for ourselves? If it is so important, are we doing it? If not, why not? What are some of the things you have experienced that get in the way of studying? For myself: Lack of time, busy doing other things,

“Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.” Romans 10:17. The Scriptures are the great agency in the transformation of character. Christ prayed, “Sanctify them through Your truth; Your word is truth.” John 17:17. If studied and obeyed, the word of God works in the heart, subduing every unholy attribute. The Holy Spirit comes to convict of sin, and the faith that springs up in the heart works by love to Christ, conforming us in body, soul, and spirit to His own image. Then God can use us to do His will. The power given us works from within outwardly, leading us to communicate to others the truth that has been communicated to us. {COL 100.1}

So, why are the Scriptures “the great agency in the transformation of character”?

Is it possible to be familiar with the word, and not sanctified? How do we know? What evidence do we have for this?

John 5:38-40 But you do not have His word abiding in you, because whom He sent, Him you do not believe. You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and these are they which testify of Me. But you are not willing to come to Me that you may have life.

So, how did they manage to study the word diligently and still miss the sanctifying truth? Some possible answers: 1) studied to affirm what they already thought, 2) misunderstood God’s character, 3) trusted their own understanding rather than asking God to lead them, 4) they did not study to know God.

Without the Spirit of God a knowledge of His word is of no avail. The theory of truth, unaccompanied by the Holy Spirit, cannot quicken the soul or sanctify the heart. One may be familiar with the commands and promises of the Bible; but unless the Spirit of God sets the truth home, the character will not be transformed. Without the enlightenment of the Spirit, men will not be able to distinguish truth from error, and they will fall under the masterful temptations of Satan. {Christ's Object Lessons 408.3}

The class represented by the foolish virgins are not hypocrites. They have a regard for the truth, they have advocated the truth, they are attracted to those who believe the truth; but they have not yielded themselves to the Holy Spirit's working. They have not fallen upon the Rock, Christ Jesus, and permitted their old nature to be broken up. This class are represented also by the stony-ground hearers. They receive the word with readiness, but they fail of assimilating its principles. Its influence is not abiding. The Spirit works upon man's heart, according to his desire and consent implanting in him a new nature; but the class represented by the foolish virgins have been content with a superficial work. They do not know God. They have not studied His character; they have not held communion with Him; therefore they do not know how to trust, how to look and live. Their service to God degenerates into a form. "Indeed, to them you are nothing more than one who sings love songs with a beautiful voice and plays an instrument well, for they hear your words but do not put them into practice." Ezekiel 33:31. The apostle Paul points out that this will be the special characteristic of those who live just before Christ's second coming. He says, "In the last days perilous times shall come: for men shall be lovers of their own selves; ... lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof." 2 Timothy 3:1-5. {COL 411.1}

So how can we make sure that we avoid the problem the Pharisees and those described in 1 Tim. had? What does it sound like that they missed in their study? What, then, should be the focus or purpose of our study? (Relationship with God...getting to know Him better)

Read the first paragraph in Sabbath's lesson:

Revival is an ongoing process. Daily our Lord invites us into the joy of His presence. Just as Israel was nourished by the manna that fell from heaven, Jesus spreads out a spiritual banquet for us every day. Daily our souls are nourished, our spirits refreshed, and our hearts revived as we kneel quietly before His throne, meditating upon His Word. True spiritual renewal leads to a change in our thought patterns, habits, and lifestyle; it's what we call a "reformation."

Why is revival an ongoing process? How important is it to study daily? How can we make sure that we study correctly? (In other words, how do we make sure we don't end up like the Pharisees, having knowledge of God's word, but not knowing Him?) Some suggestions:

- Ask the Holy Spirit to guide our study, specifically for the purpose of getting to know Jesus
- Have an open mind
- Study through the lens of Jesus' life and natural law
- Make sure all three threads are in harmony (Scripture, science, experience)

Does our method for studying the Bible matter? What are some positive methods for studying? (Inductive Bible study; reading whole books to get the “big picture”; word studies; thematic studies; studying in small groups; application studies-SOAP: Scripture, Observation, Application, Prayer)

We cannot obtain wisdom without earnest attention and prayerful study. Some portions of Scripture are indeed too plain to be misunderstood; but there are others whose meaning does not lie on the surface, to be seen at a glance. Scripture must be compared with scripture. There must be careful research and prayerful reflection. And such study will be richly repaid. As the miner discovers veins of precious metal concealed beneath the surface of the earth, so will he who perseveringly searches the word of God as for hid treasure, find truths of the greatest value, which are concealed from the view of the careless seeker. The words of inspiration, pondered in the heart, will be as streams flowing from the fountain of life.

Never should the Bible be studied without prayer. Before opening its pages, we should ask for the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit, and it will be given. When Nathanael came to Jesus, the Saviour exclaimed, “Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile.” [John 1:47.] Nathanael said, “Whence knowest thou me?” Jesus answered, “Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig-tree, I saw thee.” And Jesus will see us also in the secret places of prayer, if we will seek him for light, that we may know what is truth. Angels from the world of light will be with those who in humility of heart seek for divine guidance.

The Holy Spirit exalts and glorifies the Saviour. It is his office to present Christ, the purity of his righteousness, and the great salvation that we have through him. Jesus says, “He shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you.” [John 16:14.] The Spirit of truth is the only effectual teacher of divine truth. How must God esteem the human race, since he gave his Son to die for them, and appoints his Spirit to be man's teacher and continual guide. {CE 58-59}

What are some negative methods? (taking things out of context; studying to prove our own points, biases, or ideas; leaving Jesus out of the study; never studying for application)

What should we do with what we learn as we study?

But the seed on good soil stands for those with a noble and good heart, who hear the word, retain it, and by persevering produce a crop (Luke 8:15). (in other versions of the parable, retain=accept, understand)

He replied, “My mother and brothers are those who hear God’s word and put it into practice (Luke 8:21).

Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on the rock. The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house; yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the rock (Matt. 7:24-25).

Then Jesus came to them and said, “All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age” (Matt. 28:18-20).

Here is a beautiful description of the sanctifying work of God’s Word on our hearts:

The truths of the word of God meet man’s great practical necessity—the conversion of the soul through faith. These grand principles are not to be thought too pure and holy to be brought into the daily life. They are truths which reach to heaven and compass eternity, yet their vital influence is to be woven into human experience. They are to permeate all the great things and all the little things of life.

Received into the heart, the leaven of truth will regulate the desires, purify the thoughts, and sweeten the disposition. It quickens the faculties of the mind and the energies of the soul. It enlarges the capacity for feeling, for loving.

The world regards as a mystery the man who is imbued with this principle. The selfish, money-loving man lives only to secure for himself the riches, honors, and pleasures of this world. He loses the eternal world from his reckoning. But with the follower of Christ these things will not be all-absorbing. For Christ’s sake he will labor and deny self, that he may aid in the great work of saving souls who are without Christ and without hope in the world. Such a man the world cannot understand; for he is keeping in view eternal realities. The love of Christ with its redeeming power has come into the heart. This love masters every other motive, and raises its possessor above the corrupting influence of the world.

The word of God is to have a sanctifying effect on our association with every member of the human family. The leaven of truth will not produce the spirit of rivalry, the love of ambition, the desire to be first. True, heaven-born love is not selfish and changeable. It is not dependent on human praise. The heart of him who receives the grace of God overflows with love for God and for those for whom Christ died. Self is not struggling for recognition. He does not love others because they love and please him, because they appreciate his merits, but because they are Christ's purchased possession. If his motives, words, or actions are misunderstood or misrepresented, he takes no offense, but pursues the even tenor of his way. He is kind and thoughtful, humble in his opinion of himself, yet full of hope, always trusting in the mercy and love of God.

The apostle exhorts us, "As He which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy." 1 Peter 1:15, 16. The grace of Christ is to control the temper and the voice. Its working will be seen in politeness and tender regard shown by brother for brother, in kind, encouraging words. An angel presence is in the home. The life breathes a sweet perfume, which ascends to God as holy incense. Love is manifested in kindness, gentleness, forbearance, and long-suffering.

The countenance is changed. Christ abiding in the heart shines out in the faces of those who love Him and keep His commandments. Truth is written there. The sweet peace of heaven is revealed. There is expressed a habitual gentleness, a more than human love.

The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb. Through its life-giving power it brings all there is of mind and soul and strength into harmony with the divine life. Man with his human nature becomes a partaker of divinity. Christ is honored in excellence and perfection of character. As these changes are effected, angels break forth in rapturous song, and God and Christ rejoice over souls fashioned after the divine similitude. {COL 100-102.3}

Don't you want that kind of change? Do you think it's worth the effort of spending time with God in prayerful study of His word? Why do you think it can be so hard for us to do something we want to do, that we know is so important, and for which the benefits are a relationship with Jesus and eternal life? (Because we have an enemy who will do all he can to keep us from moving into that relationship with Jesus.)

If reformation is an outgrowth of revival, and revival is the result of a growing relationship with Jesus, then is it likely that the prophets would call for reformation?

SUNDAY

So, let's take a look at Sunday's lesson, titled, "The Prophet's Appeal for Reformation." It starts with this sentence: "God often sent His prophets to lead Israel into revival." Why did God need to do this? Because they had drifted away from Him...the relationship was suffering as a result of their choices.

Let's look at the second paragraph in Sunday's lesson:

Revival and reformation occurred in the Old Testament when there was a renewed heart commitment to obey God's will. When Israel "turned to its own way" and "everyone did what was right in his own eyes" (Judg. 21:25), God withdrew His blessing, and the nation faced disaster and defeat.

Is a "renewed heart commitment to obey God's will" all that is needed for revival and reformation? What happened shortly after the Israelites left Egypt and promised to obey all that God had said?

So let's look at the example the lesson points to...the story in 2 Chronicles 20:1-20. Three neighboring countries band together to make war on Jehoshaphat. When he hears of this, the first thing he does is proclaim a fast. What is the purpose of fasting? Is it reform-oriented, or relationship-oriented?

The second thing Jehoshaphat does is pray. What is the purpose of prayer? Is it reform-oriented, or relationship-oriented?

At the end of his prayer, Jehoshaphat says, "We do not know what to do, but our eyes are upon you." (vs 12) and all of Judah is there with him before the Lord.

Does all of this sound like a call to reform or a call to relationship? It's all about the relationship!

MONDAY

Let's look at Monday's lesson, titled, "Paul's Appeal for Reformation in Corinth"

First two sentences: In his letter to the Corinthians, Paul expresses great concern regarding their spiritual condition. Many members had drifted from God's ideal.

What is God's ideal that they had drifted away from? Were their actions the problem, or were they the symptom of the problem?

The lesson suggests we look at some verses in 1 Corinthians to see Paul's counsel for the church:

1 Cor. 6: 19-20 Do you not know that your bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own; you were bought at a price. Therefore honor God with your bodies.

Does this sound like an appeal for reformation, or a reminder of relationship? How does the reminder that we are designed to be temples for God's presence affect what we do?

1 Cor. 9:24-27 Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one gets the prize? Run in such a way as to get the prize. Everyone who competes in the games goes into strict training. They do it to get a crown that will not last, but we do it to get a crown that will last forever. Therefore I do not run like someone running aimlessly; I do not fight like a boxer beating the air. No, I strike a blow to my body and make it my slave so that after I have preached to others, I myself will not be disqualified for the prize.

What is the prize Paul is talking about here? Eternal life? And what is eternal life? (John 17:3 Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent.) So what is it that the runners are fixing their eyes on? Does this sound like an appeal for reformation, or an appeal for relationship?

1 Cor. 13

If I speak in the tongues of men or of angels, but do not have love, I am only a resounding gong or a clanging cymbal. If I have the gift of prophecy and can fathom all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have a faith that can move mountains, but do not have love, I am nothing. If I give all I possess to the poor and give over my body to hardship that I may boast, but do not have love, I gain nothing.

Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge, it will pass away. For we know in part and we prophesy in part, but when completeness comes, what is in part disappears. When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put the ways of childhood behind me. For now we see only a reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known.

And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love.

Does this sound like an appeal for reformation, or an appeal for relationship?

1 Cor. 15: 1-2 Now, brothers and sisters, I want to remind you of the gospel I preached to you, which you received and on which you have taken your stand. By this gospel you are saved, if you hold firmly to the word I preached to you. Otherwise, you have believed in vain.

What was the gospel he preached to them that he is reminding them of here?

1 Cor. 2:1-2 When I came to you, I did not come with eloquence or human wisdom as I proclaimed to you the testimony about God. For I resolved to know nothing while I was with you except Jesus Christ and him crucified.

What is the testimony about God? What do we learn when we focus on Jesus Christ? Does this sound like Paul was preaching a gospel of reformation, or a gospel of relationship?

Let's look at the last few sentences on Monday's lesson:

The Holy Spirit brought the Corinthians spiritual renewal. This revival brought a corresponding reformation. Reformation led to changed habits, changed lives, and changed relationships. The Corinthians still faced spiritual challenges. They had their share of trials, but they made significant advances in their Christian faith. Revival and reformation are not some panacea to solve all of our spiritual problems. They are part of an ongoing faith journey.

Why are revival and reformation “part of an ongoing faith journey?”

TUESDAY

“Revelation's Appeal for Reformation in Ephesus

To the angel of the church in Ephesus write: These are the words of him who holds the seven stars in his right hand and walks among the seven golden lampstands. I know your deeds, your hard work and your perseverance. I know that you cannot tolerate wicked people, that you have tested those who claim to be apostles but are not, and have found them false. You have persevered and have endured hardships for my name, and have not grown weary.

Yet I hold this against you: You have forsaken the love you had at first. Consider how far you have fallen! Repent and do the things you did at first. If you do not repent, I will come to you and remove your lampstand from its place. (Rev. 2:1-5)

What kind of people are being described here? Are these worldly ungodly people? They're a church, with lots of good actions...but what are they missing?

Why would God say He would "remove your lampstand from its place" if they do not repent? Why would you remove a lamp? Only if the light wasn't working, right? What did they use in their lamps to power the light? Oil...which represents what? The Holy Spirit. And what does the Holy Spirit do? He dwells in our hearts, recreating Jesus' character in us. Without the relationship, the light goes out.

Jesus pointed out the power of false teaching to destroy the appreciation and desire for truth. "No man," He said, "having drunk old wine straightway desires new: for he says, The old is better." All the truth that has been given to the world through patriarchs and prophets shone out in new beauty in the words of Christ. But the scribes and Pharisees had no desire for the precious new wine. Until emptied of the old traditions, customs, and practices, they had no place in mind or heart for the teachings of Christ. They clung to the dead forms, and turned away from the living truth and the power of God.

It was this that proved the ruin of the Jews, and it will prove the ruin of many souls in our own day. Thousands are making the same mistake as did the Pharisees whom Christ reproved at Matthew's feast. Rather than give up some cherished idea, or discard some idol of opinion, many refuse the truth which comes down from the Father of light. They trust in self, and depend upon their own wisdom, and do not realize their spiritual poverty. They insist on being saved in some way by which they may perform some important work. When they see that there is no way of weaving self into the work, they reject the salvation provided.

A legal religion can never lead souls to Christ; for it is a loveless, Christless religion. Fasting or prayer that is actuated by a self-justifying spirit is an abomination in the sight of God. The solemn assembly for worship, the round of religious ceremonies, the external humiliation, the imposing sacrifice, proclaim that the doer of these things regards himself as righteous, and as entitled to heaven; but it is all a deception. Our own works can never purchase salvation.

As it was in the days of Christ, so it is now; the Pharisees do not know their spiritual destitution. To them comes the message, "Because you say, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and know not that you are wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked: I counsel you to buy of Me gold tried in the fire, that you may be rich; and white raiment, that you may be clothed, and that the shame of your nakedness does not appear." Revelation 3:17, 18. Faith and love are the gold tried in the fire. But with many the gold has become dim, and the rich treasure has been lost. The righteousness of Christ is to them as a robe unworn, a fountain untouched. To them it is said, "I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent.” Revelation 2:4, 5.

“The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, Thou wilt not despise.” Psalm 51:17. Man must be emptied of self before he can be, in the fullest sense, a believer in Jesus. When self is renounced, then the Lord can make man a new creature. New bottles can contain the new wine. The love of Christ will animate the believer with new life. In him who looks unto the Author and Finisher of our faith the character of Christ will be manifest. {DA 279-280}

Let’s look at the bottom of Tuesday’s lesson:

Ephesus, here, is equated with the New Testament church from approximately A.D. 31 to A.D. 100. These early Christians were zealous for their faith. They labored unceasingly for the advancement of the gospel. The disciples diligently preserved the doctrinal purity of the church. They had no tolerance for heresy and were fierce defenders of truth.

As time went on, however, the members began to lose their “first love.” They substituted duty for devotion. Doing Jesus’ work became more important than their relationship with Him. Gradually and almost imperceptibly, their experience with Jesus began slipping away. They were laboring hard to defend the faith, but something vital was missing in their own spiritual experience. Love for Jesus and for one another was desperately lacking.

How do you think they “lost their first love?” If a married couple ceases talking, does that affect the relationship? If they stop spending time together, continuing to learn and appreciate each other, does that affect the relationship? What if just one does this? Does the relationship still suffer?

Let’s look at the questions at the bottom of Tuesday’s lesson:

What was it like when you first came to know Jesus? How can you still maintain that “first love”? Why is it so important that you do? What things threaten to turn you away from that love?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson suggests that we naturally think about Martin Luther when we think about reformation... What kind of person was Martin Luther? What was the first message that turned his life around?

When it appeared to Luther that all was lost, God raised up a friend and helper for him. The pious Staupitz opened the word of God to Luther’s mind and bade him look away from himself, cease the contemplation of infinite punishment for the violation of God's law, and look to Jesus, his sin-pardoning Saviour. "Instead of torturing yourself on account of your sins, throw yourself into the Redeemer's arms. Trust in Him, in the righteousness of His life, in the atonement of His death.... Listen to the Son of God. He became man to give you the assurance of divine favor." "Love Him who first loved you."—Ibid., b. 2, ch. 4. Thus spoke this messenger of mercy. His words made a deep impression upon Luther's mind. After many a struggle with long-cherished errors, he was enabled to grasp the truth, and peace came to his troubled soul. {GC 123.3}

Interesting, isn't it, that the first thing to give him hope was someone telling him to look away from himself & look to Jesus? After this, he devoted himself even more to studying the Bible, and after much urging also to preach. Then he visited Rome, and it was there, after seeing the material wealth but spiritual poverty of the church leaders that he heard the phrase, "the just shall live by faith" while climbing Pilate's staircase. He eventually stood to oppose the sale of indulgences, which the church had set up in order to raise money to build St. Peter's Church in Rome.

Luther, though still a papist of the strictest sort, was filled with horror at the blasphemous assumptions of the indulgence mongers. Many of his own congregation had purchased certificates of pardon, and they soon began to come to their pastor, confessing their various sins, and expecting absolution, not because they were penitent and wished to reform, but on the ground of the indulgence. Luther refused them absolution, and warned them that unless they should repent and reform their lives, they must perish in their sins. In great perplexity they repaired to Tetzl with the complaint that their confessor had refused his certificates; and some boldly demanded that their money be returned to them. The friar was filled with rage. He uttered the most terrible curses, caused fires to be lighted in the public squares, and declared that he "had received an order from the pope to burn all heretics who presumed to oppose his most holy indulgences."—D'Aubigne, b. 3, ch. 4.

Luther now entered boldly upon his work as a champion of the truth. His voice was heard from the pulpit in earnest, solemn warning. He set before the people the offensive character of sin, and taught them that it is impossible for man, by his own works, to lessen its guilt or evade its punishment. Nothing but repentance toward God and faith in Christ can save the sinner. The grace of Christ cannot be purchased; it is a free gift. He counseled the people not to buy indulgences, but to look in faith to a crucified Redeemer. He related his own painful experience in vainly seeking by humiliation and penance to secure salvation, and assured his hearers that it was by looking away from himself and believing in Christ that he found peace and joy. {GC 129}

How did Luther know the teaching of the indulgence sellers was wrong? Because he had studied and learned of Christ for himself. What were his opponents like? What was it that turned them away from hearing Luther's message?

Many dignitaries, of both church and state, were convicted of the truthfulness of his theses; but they soon saw that the acceptance of these truths would involve great changes. To enlighten and reform the people would be virtually to undermine the authority of Rome, to stop thousands of streams now flowing into her treasury, and thus greatly to curtail the extravagance and luxury of the papal leaders. Furthermore, to teach the people to think and act as responsible beings, looking to Christ alone for salvation, would overthrow the pontiff's throne and eventually destroy their own authority. For this reason they refused the knowledge tendered them of God and arrayed themselves against Christ and the truth by their opposition to the man whom He had sent to enlighten them. {GC 131}

What motivated his opponents? Self! And what motivated Luther? Love for God, love for truth, and love for the people. What were some of the results of Luther's stand for truth?

Luther's teachings attracted the attention of thoughtful minds throughout all Germany. From his sermons and writings issued beams of light which awakened and illuminated thousands. A living faith was taking the place of the dead formalism in which the church had so long been held. The people were daily losing confidence in the superstitions of Romanism. The barriers of prejudice were giving way. The word of God, by which Luther tested every doctrine and every claim, was like a two-edged sword, cutting its way to the hearts of the people. Everywhere there was awakening a desire for spiritual progress. Everywhere was such a hungering and thirsting after righteousness as had not been known for ages. The eyes of the people, so long directed to human rites and earthly mediators, were now turning in penitence and faith to Christ and Him crucified. {GC 133}

Despite all the opposition and persecution Luther faced, he still stood. What was it that kept him so strong?

"O almighty and everlasting God," he pleaded, "how terrible is this world! Behold, it openeth its mouth to swallow me up, and I have so little trust in Thee.... If it is only in the strength of this world that I must put my trust, all is over.... My last hour is come, my condemnation has been pronounced.... O God, do Thou help me against all the wisdom of the world. Do this, ... Thou alone; ... for this is not my work, but Thine. I have nothing to do here, nothing to contend for with these great ones of the world.... But the cause is Thine, ... and it is a righteous and eternal cause. O Lord, help me! Faithful and unchangeable God, in no man do I place my trust.... All that is of man is uncertain; all that cometh of man fails.... Thou hast chosen me for this work.... Stand at my side, for the sake of Thy well-beloved Jesus Christ, who is my defense, my shield, and my strong tower.”—Ibid., b. 7, ch. 8.

An all-wise Providence had permitted Luther to realize his peril, that he might not trust to his own strength and rush presumptuously into danger. Yet it was not the fear of personal suffering, a dread of torture or death, which seemed immediately impending, that overwhelmed him with its terror. He had come to the crisis, and he felt his insufficiency to meet it. Through his weakness the cause of truth might suffer loss. Not for his own safety, but for the triumph of the gospel did he wrestle with God. Like Israel’s, in that night struggle beside the lonely stream, was the anguish and conflict of his soul. Like Israel, he prevailed with God. In his utter helplessness his faith fastened upon Christ, the mighty Deliverer. He was strengthened with the assurance that he would not appear alone before the council. Peace returned to his soul, and he rejoiced that he was permitted to uplift the word of God before the rulers of the nations.

With his mind stayed upon God, Luther prepared for the struggle before him. He thought upon the plan of his answer, examined passages in his own writings, and drew from the Holy Scriptures suitable proofs to sustain his positions. Then, laying his left hand on the Sacred Volume, which was open before him, he lifted his right hand to heaven and vowed “to remain faithful to the gospel, and freely to confess his faith, even should he seal his testimony with his blood.”—Ibid., b. 7, ch. 8. {GC 156-157}

He kept his mind stayed on God...he continued to study for himself...he was open to having others show him his errors if they showed him from Scripture how he was wrong.

Luther ended up excommunicated by the pope, and in danger for his life. I read this interesting quote regarding the presenting of truth:

Opposition is the lot of all whom God employs to present truths specially applicable to their time. There was a present truth in the days of Luther,—a truth at that time of special importance; there is a present truth for the church today. He who does all things according to the counsel of His will has been pleased to place men under various circumstances and to enjoin upon them duties peculiar to the times in which they live and the conditions under which they are placed. If they would prize the light given them, broader views of truth would be opened before them. But truth is no more desired by the majority today than it was by the papists who opposed Luther. There is the same disposition to accept the theories and traditions of men instead of the word of God as in former ages. Those who present the truth for this time should not expect to be received with greater favor than were earlier reformers. The great controversy between truth and error, between Christ and Satan, is to increase in intensity to the close of this world’s history.

Said Jesus to His disciples: “If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his Lord. If they have persecuted Me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept My saying, they will keep yours also.” John 15:19, 20. And on the other hand our Lord declared plainly: “Woe unto you, when all men shall speak well of you! for so did their fathers to the false prophets.” Luke 6:26. The spirit of the world is no more in harmony with the spirit of Christ today than in earlier times, and those who preach the word of God in its purity will be received with no greater favor now than then. The forms of opposition to the truth may change, the enmity may be less open because it is more subtle; but the same antagonism still exists and will be manifested to the end of time. {GC 143-144}

Do you think you could stand in the face of opposition? Would you be prepared? Do you have the relationship with Christ, that, with eyes fixed on Him, would give you what you need to face trouble and persecution?

THURSDAY

First paragraph on Thursday’s lesson:

The Seventh-day Adventist Church is a reform movement.

Is being a “reform movement” a good thing? Should our church be a reform movement, or a revival movement? Which do you think would be more powerful?

Continuing that paragraph: It was raised up by God to restore biblical truths lost sight of many centuries ago. Although the Holy Spirit worked powerfully through the Reformers, there were vital truths that they did not fully understand. God still had more truth to reveal to His people.

Does God still have more truth to reveal to His people? How long will there be more truth to reveal? Will there ever be a time when we “know it all”? Read the next two paragraphs:

God is not interested in our understanding truth merely to fill our minds with more religious knowledge. Biblical truths are windows into His very heart. They reveal something about His character. The more clearly that we understand the truths of His Word, the more completely we will understand the depth of His love. False doctrine distorts His character. Truth unmask the devil's lies and reveals who he really is (take, for instance, eternal torment in hell as a prime example of what lurks in Satan's heart).

From the inception of the great controversy in heaven, Satan has attempted to malign the character of God. He has lied about God's intentions toward His creatures. But, in the life that He lived, in the truths that He taught, and in the death that He died, Jesus revealed what His heavenly Father was really like.

Read God's end-time message of revival and reformation (Rev. 14:6-7, 12).

Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. He said in a loud voice, “Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.” Rev 14:6-7

This calls for patient endurance on the part of the people of God who keep his commands and remain faithful to Jesus. Rev. 14:12

What do these verses teach us about the character of God? What is the eternal gospel? How do we give God glory? What are His commands? What does it mean to remain faithful to Jesus? How does this impact the revival of His people?

What happens when a revival begins? I read a very interesting quote:

When churches are revived, it is because some individual seeks earnestly for the blessing of God. He hungers and thirsts after God, and asks in faith, and receives accordingly. He goes to work in earnest, feeling his great dependence upon the Lord, and souls are aroused to seek for a like blessing, and a season of refreshing falls on the hearts of men. The extensive work will not be neglected. The larger plans will be laid at the right time; but personal, individual effort and interest for your friends and neighbors, will accomplish much more than can be estimated. It is for the want of this kind of labor that souls for whom Christ died are perishing. {Christian Service 121}

So according to this quote, how many people does it take to start a revival? Just one! So the bottom-line question would be...who will be that one?

FRIDAY

Further Study: “A revival and a reformation must take place under the ministration of the Holy Spirit. Revival and reformation are two different things. Revival signifies a renewal of spiritual life, a quickening of the powers of mind and heart, a resurrection from spiritual death. Reformation signifies a reorganization, a change in ideas and theories, habits and practices. Reformation will not bring forth the good fruit of righteousness unless it is connected with the revival of the Spirit. Revival and reformation are to do their appointed work, and in doing this work they must blend.”-Ellen G. White, The Advent Review and Sabbath Herald, Feb. 25, 1902.

“Whatever may be their profession, it is only those who are world servers at heart that act from policy rather than principle in religious things. We should choose the right because it is right, and leave consequences with God. To men of principle, faith, and daring, the world is indebted for its great reforms. By such men the work of reform for this time must be carried forward.”-Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, p. 460.

Discussion Questions:

- In the call for revival and reformation, what must come first, revival or reformation, and why?
- Why are revival and reformation things of the heart more than anything else? Why must they start individually, with each of us making a conscious choice to renew our walk with the Lord, to draw closer to Him, ~~and to seek more earnestly than ever to do His will?~~ What is the danger of waiting for the person next to you in the pew to do this, or waiting for the pastor to initiate this? Why must you, yourself, now, make the choice to surrender even more fully to the Lord so that He will work in you?
- Nothing could kill the call to revival and reformation more than a harsh and judgmental spirit toward those who don't seem to live up to the standards that we think they should. How can we learn to avoid that dangerous pitfall while at the same time standing for the truths that have been entrusted to us?

Lesson 10 Reformation: The Willingness to Grow and Change

Is there ever a time when we are not changing?

- The better question is: Is there ever a time we are not growing?
- Can we grow in the wrong direction?
- The question is not whether we are growing or not, the question is into what likeness are we growing/changing.
- We are changing and growing, whether we like it or not.

Read the Memory Verse:

- James 4:6-7 (NKJV)
 - a. But He gives more grace. Therefore He says: "God resists the proud, But gives grace to the humble." Therefore submit to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you."
- Why does God resist the proud?
 - a. Is it because he is "a jealous God" and he will "have no other gods before" Him?
 - b. Is it against God's law?
 - c. Is it because it is not in our best interest to be proud?
 - d. One of my main tasks as a pediatric orthopaedic surgeon is to monitor my patients bone growth.

It is upsetting to me, if I see one of their bones growing crooked.

Many times it is nothing they directly did to cause it, but other times it is.

Why am I concerned?

I want the best for "my kids."

- We will self-destruct if we continue into our own selfish and proud direction.
- We will grow into beings that are terminal by our condition.
- We are God's children and He wants the best for His kids.
- How does He give grace to the humble?
 - a. Is this an arbitrary imposition on God's part?
 - b. Scenario #1: We fulfill certain requirements and conditions; therefore, we are given (rewarded) with gifts which we otherwise would not be eligible to receive. It is at this point that we are given a quantity of grace. (How do we measure that? A cup full?, etc) If we get enough of this good stuff along with other good stuff called faith, and it is then that we are declared righteous and thereby saved.
- "To be pardoned in the way that Christ pardons, is not only to be forgiven, but to be renewed in the spirit of our mind. The Lord says, "A new heart will I give unto thee." The image of Christ is to be stamped upon the very mind, heart, and soul. The apostle says, "But we have the mind of Christ" (1 Corinthians 2:16). Without the transforming process which can come alone through divine power, the original propensities to sin are left in the heart in all their strength, to forge new chains, to impose a slavery that can never be broken by human power." – {3SM 190.2}

When you read this memory text, what do you understand the phrase "submit to God" means.

- Is this a command to 'arbitrarily' give up your desires and submit to someone else's (God) desires or plans for you?
- Could this not be that your desires are so in harmony with God that you are doing "God's will."
- See Friday's quote: second paragraph, DA 668 "All true obedience comes from the heart. It was heart work with Christ. And if we consent, He will so identify Himself with our thoughts and aims, so blend our hearts and minds into conformity to His will, that when obeying Him we shall be but carrying out our own impulses. The will, refined and sanctified, will find its highest delight in doing His service. When we know God as it is our privilege to know Him, our life will be a life of continual obedience. Through an appreciation of the character of Christ, through communion with God, sin will become hateful to us." – {DA 668.3}
- Reading the same memory text from a different translation and reading one prior text that gives a reason for our actions.
 - a. James 4:5-7 (God's Word) "Do you think this passage means nothing? It says, "The Spirit that lives in us wants us to be his own." But God shows us even more kindness. Scripture says, "God opposes arrogant people, but he is kind to humble people." So place yourselves under God's authority. Resist the devil, and he will run away from you.
 - b. The reason that God shows us this kindness and wishes us to be changed from arrogant people into humble people is that He wants us to be His own.
 - c. The way we were designed and created to be his humans.
 - d. This was the design template, the original plan, and Christ's work was to come to this earth that we might be re-created into His likeness and once again be like Him.
 - e. That is an amazing reality.

SABBATH

READ THE FIRST PARAGRAPH: "Before Pentecost. . ."

Was this any different after Pentecost?

Acts 1:6-8 (NASBStr) "So when they had come together, they were asking Him, saying, "Lord, is it at this time You are restoring the kingdom to Israel?" He said to them, "It is not for you to know times or epochs which the Father has fixed by His own authority; but you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be My witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and even to the remotest part of the earth."

What was the result of the Pentecost experience?

So, if that was the result, what was the purpose of the Pentecost experience and transformation?

So was the purpose of the Pentecost outpouring of the Holy Spirit for the believers or for the unbelievers?

- God's gifts to us are not for us.
- It is not about us, it is about OTHERS/HIM.
- We are so polluted and changed by this infection of selfishness, that we (most of the time) think about how God's gifts are given to us for our purposes or wishes.
- The gifts of the Spirit are not about us.

Read second paragraph: But the emphasis should not be on our own growth, development or changes.

As we work for others we grow. The focus should not be on our own growth and change. It should always be on our service for others. But as we work for others. As we work for God with others, we will grow and change into His likeness.

SUNDAY

The disciples growth and changes:

- Luke 9:54 (NKJV) "And when His disciples James and John saw this, they said, "Lord, do You want us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, just as Elijah did?"
- Matthew 20:21 (NKJV) "Grant that these two sons of mine may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on the left, in Your kingdom."

Read the bottom pink section for Sunday's lesson:

- How do we know that our feelings of discouragement are not reality in God's Kingdom?
- Samuel 12:22 (KJV)"For the Lord will not forsake his people for his great name's sake: because it hath pleased the Lord to make you his people."
- Hebrews 13:5-8 (GW)God has said, "I will never abandon you or leave you." So we can confidently say, "The Lord is my helper. I will not be afraid. What can mortals do to me?". . . . Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever."

How can you measure spiritual growth?

- Tests and trials are a way for God to reveal to us our - spiritual condition and needs.
- Are there any other ways?
- What are your thoughts?
- "In the kingdom of God, position is not gained through favoritism. It is not earned, nor is it received through an arbitrary bestowal. It is the result of character. The crown and the throne are the tokens of a condition attained—tokens of self-conquest through the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ." – {AA 543.1}

Read the first paragraph: "Change comes. . ."

The lesson asks us to read Phillipians 2:12-14

Do you have a favorite translation?

This usually is not one of my favorites, but the Amplified Version has a great rendering for this passage.

Philippians 2:12-14 (AMP) "Therefore, my dear ones, as you have always obeyed [my suggestions], so now, not only [with the enthusiasm you would show] in my presence but much more because I am absent, work out (cultivate, carry out to the goal, and fully complete) your own salvation with reverence and awe and trembling (self- distrust, with serious caution, tenderness of conscience, watchfulness against temptation, timidly shrinking from whatever might offend God and discredit the name of Christ). [Not in your own strength] for it is God Who is all the while effectually at work in you [energizing and creating in you the power and desire], both to will and to work for His good pleasure and satisfaction and delight. Do all things without grumbling and faultfinding and complaining [against God] and questioning and doubting [among yourselves],"

The fifth paragraph: "God will not rip some selfish thought out of our minds." Read on to the end of the paragraph.

How is it that we are changed?

Also read 2 Corinthians 3:18 (TEV) "All of us, then, reflect the glory of the Lord with uncovered faces; and that same glory, coming from the Lord, who is the Spirit, transforms us into his likeness in an ever greater degree of glory."

We change into what we look at and admire.

- If we are looking at the wrong things, we will become the wrong people.
- If we look at the true Christ, we will become Christlike.

TUESDAY

Read the second paragraph: "Both Peter and Thomas had one striking feature. . ."

This discusses human judgment.

- Can we use any other judgement?
- After Pentecost, were they less human?
- Was Adam more or less human after the fall?
- What are we talking about when we discuss human judgment?

- What does the Holy Spirit (God, Jesus, God the Father) do to us when we are filled with their presence?
- How do we know that we are using good judgment?
- In a meeting with some powerful people this week, I was told that I was blind to reality.
 - a. How do we have discernment?
 - b. How do we know if what we are sensing or hearing is reality?
 - c. When it says in the Bible, "Thy word is truth."

What does it mean?

How are we to know in our daily lives what is truth?

WEDNESDAY

Read the first introduction to Wednesday's lesson:

Why did the Prodigal Son decide to return?

He was hungry/starving.

- There was food at home.
- The slaves at home had food.
- He realized his need.
- He realized there was something better somewhere else.
- When did he realize what his father was really like?
 - a. Prior to his departure?
 - b. In the pig pen?
 - c. After his return?
 - d. It wasn't until he came back home that he realized how gracious his father truly was.
 - e. It was only after the son looked at the father in "new eyes" that he was able to see what his father was really like.
 - f. We are not sure just how far his understanding truly went. It is not part of the story. All we know is that he came home.
 - g. We hope the son got to the point the he understood his father's love and character. All we know is that he came home for the food and that he participated in a party.
 - h. We maybe do not seldom come to many of our foundational realizations at the time things are happening. It is only after the events have occurred, that we often realize their true meaning. That is what it means at this time to be human. We may develop differently in heaven, but for now, it is only after the fact that most of us have true insight. This is true whether we are contemplating prophecies, doctrines or our personal relationships.
 - i. Jesus's instructions to Peter before his fall. (See Luke 22:31)
 - j. Jesus's statements on why he gave prophecies. (See John 13:19, 20 and John 16:4)
 - k. This may be a later time.

1. 2 Peter 3:18 (GW)"But grow in the good will and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Glory belongs to him now and for that eternal day! Amen."

Read the highlighted sentence in the last paragraph.

- "Revival occurs when God's love breaks our hearts. Reformation occurs when we chose to respond to a love that will not let us go."

THURSDAY

Read the first paragraph:

- Is this true? (I think so.)
- Do you have another explanation?
- But...

Christ also healed the man, because that is what God is like. Christ did not have an ulterior motive. That is the kind of being God is! He wished he could have healed everyone of them, but that would probably have created such a crisis, that his life on earth would have been cut short. He didn't heal everyone, not because he couldn't or didn't want to, but because the Jewish leaders were so deformed of mind that he dare not. (See Desire of Ages, chapter)

Read the first question of the day: "Why do you think Jesus asked . . ."

- Christ asked him if he truly wanted to get well. The man heard an accusation of 'why are you still here after 38 years.'
- It is not true that all who suffer want to be healed.
 - a. I have met many who do not want to be healed.
 - b. That is their identity and source of personhood.
 - c. They receive some identity from their disease and they play a role.
 - d. This also goes to the point of Christ's later admonition to (v.14) "stop sinning."

Stop acting in a way that continues the sin/disease problem.

This was not an arbitrary command.

The man was not punished for his sins with this disease.

The laws of God that were broken, were not arbitrarily meted out punishment. There are many reasons why bad things happen to people good or bad. Christ was not telling him, "Stop the in or I or my Father will punish you with a worse evil." God wishes the best for His children and guides them with infinite love and compassion.

Read the pink paragraph at the bottom of the page:

- It is to experience who God is.
- It is not about us, it is about Him.

- On the cross Christ forgave those who nailed him there, but without their understanding of Who. He. Was. They are not going to accept what He gives.

FRIDAY

Read the last question, the last sentence: "What principles can we find in the Bible that will enable us to have the victories that we are promised?"

For me it is not a principle, it is a person. When you realize who God is and what He is really like, then you will trust H.I.M. for the victories that are promised. You are trusting Him for the strength, and the victories because you have come to know Him and Jesus Christ who He has sent. (This is true faith.)

The Bible is not about principles or rules or laws or guidelines. Although one can find plenty of all of these in the Bible. The Bible is truly about God. Who is God and what is He like. That is the fundamental message of all inspired scripture.

Revival and Reformation Lesson 11 3Q 2013

Reformation: Thinking New Thoughts

Before we start the lesson I wanted to give a report on our trip to Singapore and Australia:

We had a wonderful time in both places – so many people shared with us how their lives have been changed because of this message about God.

Special thanks to Kok Tho Yip, his wife Roxanna and Carolyn Lim who coordinated the events in Singapore.

Special thanks to Simon Harrison who coordinated events in Australia and also did the artwork of the brain for the book and my presentations.

And Simon's wife, Wendy, sent a few gifts back for members of the class. Those who have arrived on time today are getting a special blessing from Wendy in Australia.

Your prayers were answered in our trip to Australia. I just wished each of you could have been there to see the smiles, joy, happiness, enthusiasm of those who are part of this movement to tell the world about God's character of love!

Please Pray for our upcoming Events:

September 6: Dr. Jennings will be speaking at The National Boomers Conference in Allen, Texas (just outside of Dallas). Sponsored by the Texas Baptist Convention.

September 11-14: Dr. Jennings and nine others (Laurie and Peter Cooper, Tim and Brittany Ryder, Christie Jennings, Tamara Slocum, Stephanie Land, Dean and Zoe Scott) will be at the World Convention of the American Association of Christian Counselors. Dr. Jennings will do a 3 hour seminar on The God Shaped Brain, a 1 hour lecture on The Aging Brain, and we will have a booth and be giving away our materials. There will be over 7000 Christian counselors and pastors in attendance.

October 1: Come and Reason Ministries is partnering with J103's Pastor's Breakfast here in Chattanooga. They expect 400-500 pastors from our area to attend. You will hear ads for Come and Reason on J103 and also we will be there with a booth and give away our materials to these pastors.

October 15: Come and Reason Ministries is partnering with Men's Ministries Network and J103 for Mobilize Chattanooga...One man at a time, an evening with Ben Carson.

Also, our new Bible Study guide The Cosmic Conflict over God's Character is done – the digital version is already available on our website for download. The hard copy versions are being printed.

God is blessing this ministry and we are seeing such tremendous successes in opening minds, freeing people from living in the bondage of oppressive god concepts. Keep praying and keep sharing!

SABBATH

Read memory text: “If then you were raised with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ is, sitting at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things above, not on things on the earth.” (Colossians 3:1,2 NKJV)

Thoughts? What does “raised with Christ” refer to? What is the connection between being raised with Christ and where our minds focus? Can our minds focus and be set on heavenly things if we have not been raised with Christ?

What is the concern if, after we have been raised with Christ, we allow our minds to move away from heavenly things?

Read first paragraph, “Isaac Watts is credited...” thoughts?

Isn't it true? Our mind, our character, is really what makes the measure of a man.

Read second paragraph, “Isaac Watts was right...” thoughts?

What do you think it means to bring our thoughts into harmony with Christ's?

If we don't keep our thoughts in harmony with Christ's, but we still claim to be Christian what might our thoughts trend upon?

Will we be concerned with self?

- Certainly there would be the classic self preoccupations of worrying about what others think of us, worrying about the future, worrying about things we have no control over, with plotting, planning, calculating constantly how to get our own way.
- But, what about these thoughts, do you think these are thoughts that are in harmony with Christ's, or a subtle form of self-focus?
 - “I hope there isn't some sin I have committed that will keep me out of heaven.”
 - “Will God be mad if I eat this or watch that?”
 - “I can't help this person on Sabbath because I would break the commandment and sin.”
 - “I can't be friends with homosexuals because they are sinners and I am going to keep myself pure and follow Bible standards.”

If are thoughts are brought into harmony with Christ's do we live in fear of sinning? Do we live in fear of doing something wrong? Do we live in fear of God punishing us if we disobey?

Or if our thoughts are in harmony with Christ's might our thoughts be less self-focused and more like this:

- “Awesome are you ways oh God, amazing are your designs. I am so overwhelmed with your goodness, and humbled by your love.”
- “How can I share your beauty and love with others?”
- “What can I do to help relieve someone else’s burdens?”
- “Thank you God for the blessings you have provided!”
- “God thank you for the opportunity to help this person on your Sabbath day.”

thoughts?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Our thoughts will ultimately dictate our...” thoughts?

There is much truth in this paragraph, our thoughts do influence us and our behavior influences our thoughts.

But to me, it is even more than this – we are not only influenced by our thoughts, but by our feelings, attachments, beliefs, imagination, and relationships. And in my experience it is the feelings which are the most troublesome and confuse the thoughts. The Bible supports this in James 1.

All of our experiences are processed (or not) through our thoughts. If we are going to make changes we generally need to think about it. Thus what we think, how we think, the methods we utilize in thinking become critical.

Do you ever analyze your thoughts? What tools do you use to determine if your thoughts are healthy? How can you tell if what you believe is reliable? My first book, Could It Be This Simple?, which we have here for anyone to take with them at no cost, was written to help people put their minds in balance, learn to think well. But, in addition to understanding our minds there are other tools to use when are minds are in balance.

I highly recommend the Integrative-Evidenced Based Approach:

- Examine what you believe in light of Scripture
- Test what you believe against the laws of nature
- Use your experience to test cause and effect
- Ask is my belief supported by all three threads or is something inconsistent?
- Pray to God for wisdom, insight, understanding – then study all three threads
- Discuss and study with others

Read third paragraph, “As we behold...” thoughts?

Do you believe this to be true? It is. So what happens if we believe distorted ideas about God?

Paul tells us in Romans chapter one that our minds become darkened, depraved and futile when we accept lies about God.

Why? What actually happens?

When we accept God concepts that incite fear we damage ourselves, activate fear circuits, incite false guilt, ultimately disrupt brain networks, interfere with ability to resolve emotional stress. This results in greater inflammation in the body, which reacts upon the brain causing destructive brain changes. Further, it results in loss of ability to discriminate and think healthfully. We become more self-referenced and begin creating theologies with protecting self at the center, like:

- Covered by the robe of righteousness means we are being hidden from God by Jesus
- Covered by the blood means that Jesus covers our defects so God can't see them
- We have the blood of Jesus applied to our record in heaven so the heavenly Judge can't use it against us
- We create the lie that Jesus died to propitiate and appease His Father's wrath.

Notice the focus of all these theories – it is self-protection and what they all assert is that we need protection from God.

But the truth is much different – the truth is that God is always on our side, and has been working through Christ to heal and restore. The metaphors, rightly understood, mean something quite different.

This is from a book called Christ's Object Lessons. Object Lessons are parables or metaphors which teach a greater reality. We want the greater reality. I agree completely with this perspective on being covered by the robe – notice how it is described here:

Only the covering which Christ Himself has provided can make us meet to appear in God's presence. This covering, the robe of His own righteousness, Christ will put upon every repenting, believing soul... {COL 311.3}

This robe, woven in the loom of heaven, has in it not one thread of human devising. Christ in His humanity wrought out a perfect character, and this character He offers to impart to us... When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 311.4}

What does this author suggest the covering with Christ's righteousness means? Covering something up so God can't see or an actual, real, literal, internal change in the heart and mind of the believer? So, why if we are covered by the robe of Christ's righteousness is it that the Father doesn't see our sinfulness? Because we have been healed, transformed, and sin has been removed from our hearts!

Which do you like better?

When we worship a distorted god we get more fearful and more self focused with distorted theologies. But when we worship a God of love brain science documents that we reduce inflammatory cascades, experience growth in circuits that correspond to love, empathy, and self-governance, and improve memory. We are literally transformed to be live lives that love others!

The last paragraph states, “Reformation is all about looking to Jesus.” Looking to Jesus for what? For what should we look to Jesus?

- Love
- Truth
- Healing
- Wisdom
- Comfort
- Assistance
- Deliverance
- What else?

Can we look to Jesus in ways that are not helpful, even harmful? How?

- Did they look to Jesus to use power to throw off Rome and dominate their enemies?
- March 5, 2006 Louis Farrakhan: “The Bible says that in His Second Coming, He will have a sword dripping with blood in His hand. He is not coming back to teach. He is coming back to kill the enemies of His teaching and set up a new government.”
- Do people look to Jesus for health and wealth? Can this be a means of misrepresenting God and injuring others? How?
- What about when pastors tell people with depression to look to Jesus and pray more and they won’t need medication?

What happens if we look to Jesus for our purposes, our wishes, and the fulfillment of human carnal desires? Examples?

- Would prayers of vengeance be Godly? But we see David praying this way in Scripture? So isn’t it Godly if it is in Scripture?
- What about praying for the fleshpots of Egypt, or a king?
- Do we ever pray for things that go against God’s will?
- What is the danger?
- If our hearts are determined to have it, and we are going to rebel completely against God without it, He might let us have our request – Why? Because He doesn’t want to lose contact with us and He would rather us get hurt by our own stubbornness while still connected to Him, so He can pick us up and heal us, then for us to permanently close the heart to Him.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “Here is one simple...” thoughts?

Does it matter what we bring into our minds?

- Babies under 1 watch approximately 1 hour or more of TV per day
- 7 studies have now confirmed that babies who watch TV, any TV include things like Baby Einstein, have delayed language development
- There are no studies that show TV watching of educational material to under 2 y/o has any benefit
- Children get greater than 6 hours per day of electronic media - TV, music, video games, computers, texts, tweets, cell phones etc.
- 50% of teens have a TV in their bedroom
- Average American teen watched/s:
 - Over 200,000 acts of violence
 - 15,000 sexual acts per year
 - 2000 beer/wine commercials per year
- Children don't differentiate between reality and TV and can't distinguish the qualitative difference in information, i.e. they believe what is happening on TV is real and reliable
- Teen programming has more sexual content than adult programming, but less than 10% of the content shows responsible behavior

Theatrical entertainment activates mood circuits and deactivate higher cortical circuits, thus studies show that the more theatrical entertainment the greater problems with concentration and impulse control.

In other words, theatrical entertainment actually changes the brain structure undermining self-control and increasing aggression – regardless of the rating of the programming.

G-rated or R-rated both increased violence and impaired concentration in multiple studies. But educational television did not.

It is not the box, but the content on the box – documentaries, lectures like our seminar DVDs do not cause these negative brain effects why?

Because educational programming requires the activation of the higher cortex to think, process, reason, contemplate, reflect, consider etc. Firing these circuits helps them grow. Whereas, theatrical entertainment fires the mood circuits while not activating the higher cortex faculties of reason etc.

Does it matter what we watch? Absolutely!

TUESDAY

Read middle section – 2Cor 10:3-5 – what does it mean? What does it mean the weapons are spiritual?

- The weapons are in harmony with God's kingdom of love
- What kind of weapons would those be? In other words, what would those weapons do, what impact or effect when wielded would these divine weapons have?
- The weapons would be healing and restorative not weapons that injure or harm!

- Consider an antibiotic is a weapon against disease, but what does it do? It heals the person while destroying the infection. Likewise, Spiritual weapons ALWAYS heal the sinner, while destroying the sin!
- What are those weapons?
- Truth, Love, Freedom are the big three!
- Truth destroys lies, but heals the mind of the person who partakes the truth
- Love destroys fear and selfishness, but heals the heart of those who partake of and practice love and heals relationships
- Freedom destroys control, coercion, manipulation and unhealthy attachments healing the lives of those caught in relational bondage and heals individuals and relationships

What are carnal weapons?

- Lies – which break the circle of love and trust inciting fear
- Fear – which undermines love and increases selfishness and self protective thoughts and actions
- Selfishness – which results in actions that incite more fear, greater distrust, damage to self and relationships
- Any activity that inflicts injury, harm, pain, suffering on another
- All of these injure the character, mind, brain, body of the person who practices them

While I was at Avondale the chaplain there, Wayne French gave me a paper on Spiritual Abuse. In it were the following definitions of spiritual abuse:

1. Spiritual abuse is the violation of our trust placed in God by someone who betrays that trust by using God's name to gain entrance into our secret soul, destroying our experience of the goodness of God.
2. Spiritual abuse is the exploitation of our sacrificial love for God as a means of advancing organizational and institutional goals, leaving our spirits under-nourished and our lives over-burdened.
3. Spiritual abuse is the addictive power of legalistic theology that creates guilt in order to dispense grace, leaving us spiritual cripples bound to one another by the invisible cords of co-dependency.
4. Spiritual abuse is the silent cancer of secret gossip and malicious rumour [sic] that causes a feeding frenzy among the sharks submerged in the troubled waters of church conflicts. We are unaware of the damage until we stand up and attempt to walk out, and find we have no legs.

Thoughts?

Are these examples of carnal weapons? How could such destructive weapons enter the church and be utilized under the guise of righteousness to destroy?

Could it have anything to do with how one conceives of God's law and thus God's character? Could it be related to having fear based God concepts that result in need to protect self?

Why is it so important to bring every thought into captivity to Christ?

The thoughts we think determine which neural circuits fire, and it is the circuits we fire that grow stronger while those we leave dormant are actually pruned.

Discuss BDNF, proBDNF and neural plasticity.

Read third paragraph, “Billy Graham is quoted...” thoughts?

Where do we draw the line on who is responsible for what we view?

Should we spend our energy ensuring every woman is covered from head to toe any time she leaves her home so no male is ever tempted to think a lustful thought? Or, should we develop a character that doesn't go down those trails, and if our eyes do fall upon something inappropriate we voluntarily turn away?

What is the balance between our responsibility for what we view and think and what others put out there?

Do parents and society have a responsibility to protect children from advertisers?

What is the state's way to protect others? By coercion and laws.

What is God's way? By converting the heart. What would society be like if populated only by people who loved genuinely for others and always wanted to protect, uplift and promote the welfare of others? Would there be any need to protect children from advertisers in such a society? This is God's plan!

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “For the New Testament...” thoughts?

What is the relationship between body and mind?

Consider a computer hardware and software, but in which both can affect the other. In the brain the “software” changes the “hardware”, new neurons grow depending on what the software chooses. But also, if the hardware is damaged the software doesn't work as well.

Studies show that lifestyle significantly affects brain function:

- Those who eat fast food and junk food have 40% higher rate of depression than those who do not
- Recent research documented that children who drink soda 1-4 per day had impairments in concentration and impulse control and had more behavior problems, regardless of soda type. Diet, regular, caffeinated or not.

- Sleep deprivation impairs PFC function undermining concentration and increasing irritability, thus making self-governance more difficult
- Obesity increases inflammation, which damages brain cells. Obese persons at age 70 had 8% less brain matter and the brain appeared 16 years older than normal weight persons at age 70

Read last paragraph, “The Holy Spirit...” thoughts?

The paragraph states we should surrender our lifestyle practices that are not in harmony with God’s will to Him. How do we tell what practices are in harmony with His will?

- Scripture? Which means what? That we should eat kosher meats? As the Bible teaches? Or should we go against the Bible and be vegetarians? (Do you see how one can take a truth and turn it? Does the Bible teach to eat kosher meats? Yes, Does it teach vegetarianism after sin? No, But which is the healthiest diet? A balanced vegetarian diet. Are we really going against the Bible to be vegetarian? Of course not! Why? Because the vegetarian diet is based on the principles of Scripture moving back toward God’s original design, but without a specific dietary plan laid out. Whereas, kosher diet is specifically spelled out in Scripture. So those who like rules, spelled out, with to do lists often read Scripture and fail to grow to its truly highest ideals.)
- So how do we have lifestyle practices in harmony with God’s will? What are they?
 - Vegetarianism?
 - What about sugary foods?
 - What about exercise?
 - What about excessive study?
 - Here is one comment I found in a book called Child Guidance, what do you think:
 - Intemperance in study is a species of intoxication; and those who indulge in it, like the drunkard, wander from safe paths and stumble and fall in the darkness. The Lord would have every student bear in mind that the eye must be kept single to the glory of God. He is not to exhaust and waste his physical and mental powers in seeking to acquire all possible knowledge of the sciences, but is to preserve the freshness and vigor of all his powers to engage in the work which the Lord has appointed him in helping souls to find the path of righteousness. {CG 396.4}
 - Overwork?
- Science?
- Do circumstances or situations ever make a difference?
 - Should we advocate everyone in all parts of the world be vegetarian? Or should that only be for people who have access to a balanced and wholesome vegetarian diet?
 - Should people in third world countries eat fish and chicken?
- How can we tell what is the best?
- What about principles? I.e. the principle of doing what is most healthy with what one has and the knowledge one possesses?

Is this one of the areas that every person should be fully persuaded in their own minds? Why?

Well what if a person does exercise, but is doing it under protest, hates it, and the entire time activates stress circuits? Will that benefit them in the same way as doing an exercise they enjoyed would? No it won't

The paragraph makes a great point that Satan wants to control our minds through our bodies, whereas Jesus wants to control our bodies through our minds.

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "The goal of revival..." thoughts?

What is central to having the light of God shining through us? Would it not be to actually come back to the truth about God's character of love?

And what does it mean to live a distinctly different lifestyle?

Does it mean – dress in obviously peculiar ways so that one draws attention to oneself and advertises they are a member of a particular organization, i.e. military uniform, wearing a yamaka, or headdress?

Or perhaps, it means avoiding certain foods, worshipping on a particular day, but didn't people 2000 years ago live very different, stand apart based on their religion and yet kill Jesus?

So is the primary issue in living a distinctly different lifestyle one of external behavior? NO!

The primary, central, element to living a different lifestyle is living a lifestyle that is not self-centered. We live a lifestyle of love, kindness, humility, seeking to be of service, to bless others.

But this idea of living a different lifestyle has been corrupted to allow selfishness to reign in Pharisaism, as we pride in our restrictive diet, "I am going to follow the health message even if it kills me." We pride in our refusal to wear jewelry and makeup, thus making a greater spectacle of ourselves, then if we would use some modest cosmetics.

God is calling for a people who are not self-focused but genuinely living lives that love Him, want to reveal Him as Jesus did in loving others!

Read last paragraph, "The Old Testament..." thoughts? They quote a text from Isaiah 55, what is the context of that text? God's Justice is not like ours! God's justice is freely pardoning, delivering and healing. It is restorative, whereas ours is vengeful. Thus God's ways are not like our own.

We are to live radical, loving, free pardoning, forgiving others, lives that contradict the world's definitions which have crept into the church.

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, “Many profess...” thoughts?

Does it matter of what kind of God we spend our time thinking about?

Read and discuss questions 2-4

Revival and Reformation Lesson 12 3Q 2013

Reformation: Healing Broken Relationships

SABBATH

Read second paragraph, “In this week’s lesson...” thoughts?

The paragraph stated, “They include breaking down the barriers in our relationship with God...” thoughts about this?

What are the barriers in our relationship with God?

- Lies we believe about Him
- Our own selfish natures
- Fear we have of Him
- Guilt and shame in our hearts
- Fear of not being loved, not being good enough
- Hardened heart which loves self and the world
- Pride
- Anger at God for some perceived injustice
- Others?

How are these barriers broken down?

- Lies we believe about Him
 - Broken down by truth
- Our own selfish natures
 - Broken down by surrendering to a God we trust and infused with His love
- Fear we have of Him
 - Trust and love in a relationship with God
- Guilt and shame in our hearts
 - Experiencing forgiveness, repentance and new heart/motives
- Fear of not being loved, not being good enough
 - By being loved by God and other Christians, by experiencing change in heart and moving the focus from self to others
- Hardened heart which loves self and the world
 - Often a painful experience that awakens one to the reality that their way doesn’t work
- Pride
 - Often a humbling experience, met with grace and love
- Anger at God for some perceived injustice
 - Seeing the truth about God as revealed in Christ and understanding the perceived injustice in a more accurate light

What about this as a barrier?

- “Paul always speaks of people being reconciled to God (2Cor 5:19; Rom 5:10; Col. 1:20). He never refers to God being reconciled to us. In spite of that fact, however, we should recognize that sin affected both sides. Humanity’s rebellion and sense of guilt alienated it from God, while God was separated from humankind by His necessary hatred of and judgment on sin (His wrath). Christ’s sacrificial death (propitiation) removed the barrier to reconciliation from God’s side.” (Knight, George, The Cross of Christ, p. 74.)

Thoughts? Does God have a barrier to reconciliation in His heart, on His side, that needs Christ to do something to remove it?

- “Christ’s self-sacrifice is pleasing to God because this sacrificial offering took away the barrier between God and sinful man in that Christ fully bore God’s wrath on man’s sin. Through Christ, God’s wrath is not turned into love but is turned away from man and borne by Himself.” (Seventh-day Adventist Believe 27, p. 111.)

What is the barrier between God and man according to this passage?

Is that correct? Is the obstacle to our salvation in God’s heart? Who would want us to believe this?

John the Baptist said that Jesus came to take away the sin of the world.

What happens when we believe the barrier to our relationship with God is God’s attitude? Does it instill trust?

Would such teachings advance or hinder God’s work on earth?

Recently, I have received correspondence from listeners who have thought I have been attacking the church. First, I want to thank each of you for sharing your concerns and giving me an opportunity to respond.

Sometimes, when a doctor diagnoses a patient, and then informs a patient of the diagnosis, the patient feels uncomfortable, embarrassed, and fears being ridiculed or put down. But the doctor doesn’t expose the “defects” in the patient to the patient in order to hurt, criticize, mock, or in anyway attack the patient.

The doctor has a heart of love for the patient and wants to heal the patient, but one cannot heal until one admits what the problem is, so we must start with accurate diagnosis.

When I point these things out I am not attacking the church. I am attacking distortions that have infected the church and undermine our mission, for the purpose of healing in the church. Jump to FRIDAY read question #3:

“If we look at our church, that is, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, as a whole, what is the greatest thing holding us back from the kind of revival and reformation that will be needed in order to reach the world? Is it our teachings and doctrines? Of course not. These are the very things that God has given us to proclaim to the world...”

Do you agree? Do we have a problem with our doctrine about God? About what His character and justice looks like? Has our church, along with the rest of Christianity, been infected with an imposed law construct and therefore a dictator view of God, in which God is angry and wrathful and Jesus must do something to remove a barrier to our salvation from God’s side?

Here is the historic SDA view, written in 1902:

To break down the barrier that Satan had erected between God and man, Christ made a full and complete sacrifice, revealing unexampled self-denial. He revealed to the world the amazing spectacle of God living in human flesh, and sacrificing Himself to save fallen men. What wonderful love! ST Sep 24, 1902

So, in our modern view, in what is being printed today, we have God generating within His heart a barrier to our reconciliation, but the Bible and our founders taught that the barrier Christ came to remove was erected by Satan.

Do we have a problem, an infection? Is it an attack on the church to point it out, or is it love for the church? When a doctor rightly diagnosis a patient with anthrax, is he attacking the patient? If the patient was in denial and the doctor was passionately arguing for the patient to take the remedy, would he be attacking the patient?

I am NOT attacking this or any other church or group. I am attacking an infection of thought, a false construct, a distortion about God that has entered modern Christian thought which undermines our ability as a church to complete the work God has given us to lighten the world with the truth about His character of love!

Thoughts? Do we need more evidence? Are you convinced there is a problem?
Any suggestions on how to solve this problem?

SUNDAY

Read first and third paragraphs, “Paul and Barnabas...” thoughts?

The last paragraph says, “Paul’s ministry was enriched by the young preacher, whom he had obviously forgiven. The barrier between them was broken, and they were able to work together in the cause of the gospel.”

Thoughts?

What does the lesson suggest was the barrier that was removed? The lesson is suggesting that Paul was unforgiving toward John Mark and that it was his unforgiveness that was the barrier.

Do you see how this is a mirror to the theology that claims our problem is God's wrath and unforgiveness, and God must forgive us in order to be reconciled to Him?

I suggest this is in error. I suggest that Paul didn't have an unforgiving attitude toward John Mark, but Paul didn't trust John Mark's ability to handle the responsibilities placed on him and therefore didn't want to rely on him, i.e. work with him.

In other words, the barrier was not in Paul's unwillingness to forgive, but in John Mark's maturity and ability to handle the responsibility. And what changed was the same thing that changed for Peter – think about Peter. He denied the Lord, Jesus was not unforgiving, but there was a barrier to Peter's usefulness, Peter's maturity. After his denial, Peter went out wept bitterly and found grace, resolve, and a new motive of loyalty. Then Jesus could rely upon Peter.

Likewise, John Mark, needed some time to reflect on his fearfulness, his walking away from mission, and determine in his own mind that he was committed, and willing to sacrifice self for the cause of Christ. Evidently, he came to this point and then Paul was able to rely and value John Mark.

Where is the problem in our relationship with God – His ability and willingness to forgive, or our ability to trust and obey Him?

Do you see how this thread of thinking, this theology to make the problem with the offended person's willingness to forgive, subtle protects self. It isn't me, the sinfulness in my heart that is a barrier, it is God's anger, wrath that needs to be resolved. John Mark didn't need reformation – Paul did.

Thoughts?

When a breach in relationship occurs – it is true the offended party must have a forgiving heart, but forgiving the offender alone does not reconcile a relationship, why? What else is needed? The offender must actually experience a change in heart such that they have matured, learned, grown, and are not as likely to continue to make the same mistake over and again.

Questions about forgiveness and reconciliation?

MONDAY

Discusses the runaway slave Onesimus and his owner Philemon. Any questions or thoughts about this?

What did Paul instruct Onesimus to do? Go back to his slave owner. Is that all Paul did? What else did Paul do? He wrote a letter to Philemon reintroducing Onesimus as a brother in Christ.

What impact would this have upon Philemon, if Philemon operates under the law of love?

How would Onesimus treat Philemon from this point forward?
Do you notice that Paul did not address the issue of social justice or the morality of slavery? Why not?
Is there any lesson there for us and the mission of the church?
If all people loved others more than self, would there be slavery?

Have you ever found it bizarre that the first words of our Constitution,

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—

were written by men who owned slaves?

What lesson do we learn from this? That good men can be blind to some areas of their own minds. Thus we see Nicodemus and Saul of Tarsus who were good men, but had blind spots in their understanding and application that required maturing.

Today, there are many good people who are teaching penal views of God, but the key for each of us, is a willingness to grow in our understanding of God, to reexamine or beliefs in light of new evidence and to advance where the truth leads.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read 1Cor 3:5-11:

What, after all, is Apollos? And what is Paul? Only servants, through whom you came to believe—as the Lord has assigned to each his task. ⁶ I planted the seed, Apollos watered it, but God made it grow. ⁷ So neither he who plants nor he who waters is anything, but only God, who makes things grow. ⁸ The man who plants and the man who waters have one purpose, and each will be rewarded according to his own labor. ⁹ For we are God’s fellow workers; you are God’s field, God’s building.

¹⁰ By the grace God has given me, I laid a foundation as an expert builder, and someone else is building on it. But each one should be careful how he builds. ¹¹ For no one can lay any foundation other than the one already laid, which is Jesus Christ.

What is the principle of unity and relationship Paul is describing here?

That none of God’s workers are to be worshipped. All of Christ’s true workers don’t seek self-glory, but seek to turn hearts to Christ. Thus, we don’t build factions of this group or that group based on the personality of individuals, we unite in the truth about God as revealed in Christ.

All of our building of character must be built upon what Christ has accomplished for us and thus we grow in Christlikeness of character, but also grow in Christlikeness of understanding of God’s character and design for His universe.

Do we have factions in Christianity? Why?

I want to see us all come back under one head, Jesus Christ! What prevents unity?

I suggest it is focusing on doctrines that are separated from the truth about God's character of love.

When we have an imposed law construct then we can have an infinite number of permutations of how arbitrary law is written and applied. Thus theologies get subtle differences that become focal points for divergence and disagreement.

The Catholic Priest and Protestant theologian arguing over whether Christ is offering His "sacrifice" (Catholic position) or "merits" (Protestant position) to the Father to assuage His wrath and obtain our forgiveness, is a classic example.

A trivial point, made into a huge deal, while both are blind to the fact they are bowing before a false god concept of a being who requires appeasement and payment in order to forgive. Why? Because both operate upon the imposed law and think something has to be offered to the offended god. They just disagree on what.

When we come back to seeing God as Designer, Builder and His law as love, the design parameters for life, then we see we are deviant from His original design and God is working to heal and restore us.

Consider a medical analogy – we have an injury and need Physical Therapy. One person is doing exercises with free weights, another is doing exercises with nautilus equipment, and another is actually using heavy objects around the home, and another is doing pushups, pullups, situps, and heavy rubber bands. They each have different "rules" and "exercises" which they argue are the orthodox or correct way to grow stronger and the other ways of exercising are sinful.

But the person, who lives on principles and natural law, realizes that the specific weight used isn't important as long as the application actually strengthens, heals and restores function and doesn't add injury.

Religious application - Does it matter if we have piano or not in our church music? Some churches this is a big deal, no instruments. Others criticize those who won't allow instruments in the church. But does it matter one way or the other? What does matter? Are we growing to be like Jesus in character, loving God and others more than self and developing minds that love truth! If some people come to grow into Christlikeness without a piano and others with a piano, what does it matter?

We are divided because we believe in an imposed law construct from a dictator, and once we believe we understand His rules, then it is imperative we keep those rules and anyone who isn't keeping it is a "law breaker" and therefore must be either confronted, avoided, chastised or punished. And if we can't get everybody to keep the same rules, then we need to have our own club, i.e. denomination of those who agree with our rules.

We need to present the truth about God's character of love! His methods and principles of love and then we see it doesn't matter which weights are used, as long as one is in harmony with God's design for life and growing ever more like Jesus in character!

Thoughts?

Does this mean then that anything goes? No standards as long as one is sincere?

Consider the medical analogy with the weights, will anything work? Or will some applications actually injure or damage?

Spiritually, will anything work to heal the mind, restore the character, return one to genuine unity with God? No, some activities will actually darken the mind and harden the heart.

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

There are several things very well stated in this lesson. Read third paragraph, "It is true..." thoughts?

Isn't this well said?

Back to second paragraph, "Christ took the initiative..." thoughts?

What do you think of this idea that "we were reconciled to God while we were sinners"?

The Scripture says, "Since we have now been justified by his blood, how much more shall we be saved from God's wrath through him! ¹⁰ For if, when we were God's enemies, we were reconciled to him through the death of his Son, how much more, having been reconciled, shall we be saved through his life!" Romans 5:9,10

Who is the "we" that is reconciled to God through Christ's death?

Which view do you hold, imposed or natural law?

The imposed proponents say that all humanity had their sins, past, present and future, placed upon Christ at the Cross and Christ suffered the legal penalty thus paying the legal price at the cross, removing wrath from God's side and thus humans are legally reconciled even though they are still God's enemies in heart.

Our view would say that the human species was reconciled to God, or put back into its original intended condition in its created perfection and relationship with God in the person of Jesus Christ. And Jesus obtained the Remedy that all humans may freely partake in order to be reconciled to God individually. But, only those who partake the remedy are actually reconciled to God.

This is why Paul talks about Christ being the second Adam and how all humans sinned in Adam and the human race was saved in Christ.

We can see the difference between the work of God to restore the human species back to His original ideal and our individual restoration when we contrast Romans 5:1 with Romans 5:9, note the difference:

Therefore, since we have been justified through faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ... (Romans 5:1)

“Since we have now been justified by his blood, how much more shall we be saved from God’s wrath through him!” (Romans 5:9)

Do you notice in one passage we are justified or set right through faith, but in the other passage we are set right through his blood, which is a metaphorical way of saying His self-sacrificial death?

What is going on? When Paul describes being “justified by his blood” he is focusing on the work God needed to accomplish to heal, fix, remedy, restore the species human back to God’s original intent. Christ did this alone, without any help from any other human. In Jesus humanity became what God intended Adam to be. Thus, “we” the species of planet earth, genetic descendants of Adam, have a Champion, who has made our species perfect and right in every way and restored the human species back to right relationship with God.

But in the “justified by faith” passage Paul is talking about each individual human choosing to trust God, open their heart, and experience the application of Christ’s achievements via the work of the Holy Spirit within.

Again, no legal transaction going on in a courtroom in heaven, but the Designer, Builder, Creator, is actually recreating humanity back to His original intent, through the achievements of Jesus Christ!

Read last paragraph, “Forgiveness is releasing...” thoughts?

Did Christ release us from “His” condemnation? What is implied in this passage?

When we have an imposed law construct, then one must hold that God, in order to be just, must rightly condemn the breakers of His imposed law. So, Christ naturally condemns us, but then, taking the punishment upon Himself He releases us from the condemnation He previously held.

But, what did Christ say to the woman caught in adultery? “neither do I condemn you.”

What did Jesus say to Nicodemus in John 3:17?

For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him.

Jesus was NEVER condemning toward us! Therefore, He didn't have to release us from His condemnation.

When a doctor sees a patient who is ravaged with cancer – does the doctor “condemn” the patient? But if nothing is done to put the cancer into remission is the patient in a “condemned” state? By what? By their condition!

We must reject the imposed law, and come back to the truth about God's law and understand that our condition, our hearts, minds, characters, separate from God are defective and terminal. It is our own unhealed condition that condemns us, not God. God longs to heal us!

But if we believe God is the source of condemnation, then what does that do to our desire to go to Him? Do you see Satan's strategy? Do you see how Christianity has been infected with lies which paralyze our ability to complete our mission?

Will Christ be reconciled to all humans? Does He want to be? Yes, then why isn't He? What is the lesson for us?

THURSDAY

The lesson talks about the three steps in resolving conflict with someone in the church.

First step, talk to them one on one. If this doesn't work, take one or two others with you who are to act as mediators to help bring reconciliation. Then if necessary go before the church, which could mean the entire church or the church leadership team.

What are your thoughts about this?

What has been your experience with this process?

I have found it depends totally on the heart willingness of the people involved.

If people actually want to find healing and pursue the truth, then this process will work well. But what if people are not motivated for healing and truth?

This process can be completely corrupted to promote one's own agenda especially when church politics get involved and the disagreement is with people in position of authority within the institution.

FRIDAY

Discuss question 1

Lesson 13 Revival and Reformation

The Promised Revival: God's Mission Completed.

SABBATH

First: What is God's Mission? Has it already been completed, or is it yet to happen??

“Therefore be patient, brethren, until the coming of the Lord. See how the farmer waits for the precious fruit of the earth, waiting patiently for it until it receives the early and latter rain. You also be patient. Establish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is at hand” (James 5:7, 8, NKJV).

“The challenge of preaching the gospel in the context of the three angels' messages to the entire world may seem impossible. Although the Seventh-day Adventist Church is growing rapidly [is it??], it is not keeping up with the population. There are multiple areas of the world where the name “Seventh-day Adventist” (much less our message) is not known. [is this a bad thing?]

The reality of this harsh fact leads to serious questions. Is it possible for the gospel to be preached to the entire world in this generation? Will there be some unusual breakthrough that will dramatically speed up the proclamation of the three angels' messages? [Does it matter which gospel is presented?]

There is always one thing to keep in mind when we discuss this topic: the mission is God's, and He will accomplish it. At the same time, however, we must remember that we have been called to a crucial role in that final work, as well.” [emphasis – mine.]

Wasn't God's mission to restore mankind to his/her original nobility after Creation? To restore a correct understanding of God in man's mind/heart? To have mankind in harmony with His Law? Unselfish, kind, living out His perfect Law in heart, mind, and behavior. Didn't He accomplish this a little over 2,000 years ago? If so, what's left?

SUNDAY

What is the “power” spoken of when “the Holy Spirit has come upon you”? The Holy Spirit is also known as the Spirit of Love, and Truth. How does this fit?? What are the fruits of the Spirit? [see Galatians 5, 22,23.] What is the “power” of these fruits? How powerful is self-control? Which is more powerful? Thermonuclear destruction or Creator of Life? Love or hate, selfishness or selflessness? Death or Life? Disease or healing?

“No matter how challenging the task, the promises of God are sure. Jesus' statement that ““this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come”” (Matt. 24:14, NKJV) is a promise. The proclamation of the gospel to the entire world may seem impossible, but God's power will overcome every obstacle. Every person on planet Earth will have a reasonable opportunity to hear and understand God's message of love and truth before the return of our Lord (See Rev. 18:1.)”

It still matters which gospel is being preached.

MONDAY

Doesn't it make sense that God would provide some sort of illustration for humanity, since he has known, from the Beginning, how long this process would take, and how many would accept His grace, as revealed in Jesus of Nazareth, and how many would reject it? We see this illustration in the early / latter rain metaphor. The real question is, are we now receiving the latter rain, or are we hindering it?

The plant grows by receiving that which God has provided to sustain its life. It sends down its roots into the earth. It drinks in the sunshine, the dew, and the rain. It receives the life-giving properties from the air. So the Christian is to grow by co-operating with the divine agencies. Feeling our helplessness, we are to improve all the opportunities granted us to gain a fuller experience. As the plant takes root in the soil, so we are to take deep root in Christ. As the plant receives the sunshine, the dew, and the rain, we are to open our hearts to the Holy Spirit. The work is to be done “not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.” Zechariah 4:6. If we keep our minds stayed upon Christ, He will come unto us “as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth.” Hosea 6:3. As the Sun of Righteousness, He will arise upon us “with healing in His wings.” Malachi 4:2. We shall “grow as the lily.” We shall “revive as the corn, and grow as the vine.” Hosea 14:5, 7. By constantly relying upon Christ as our personal Saviour, we shall grow up into Him in all things who is our head.

The wheat develops “first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear.” The object of the husbandman in the sowing of the seed and the culture of the growing plant is the production of grain. He desires bread for the hungry, and seed for future harvests. So the divine Husbandman looks for a harvest as the reward of His labor and sacrifice. Christ is seeking to reproduce Himself in the hearts of men; and He does this through those who believe in Him. The object of the Christian life is fruit bearing—the reproduction of Christ's character in the believer, that it may be reproduced in others. COL 66.1.

TUESDAY

What were the prerequisites for the Early rain? See Acts Ch. 1, 2.

- Unity of purpose
- Unity of knowledge of God's character as revealed by Jesus
- Continual prayer
- Sharing resources with each other
- Teachable spirits
- NO unity of doctrine or denomination

Might it make sense that the prerequisites haven't changed?? Isn't God still waiting on a people to fully reveal the "power" [see Sunday's lesson] of a transformed heart and mind?? A people unwilling to keep this power to themselves, and build a fortification of doctrines to protect their "truth"? A teachable people?

The great outpouring of the Spirit of God, which lightens the whole earth with His glory, will not come until we have an enlightened people, that know by experience what it means to be laborers together with God. When we have entire, wholehearted consecration to the service of Christ, God will recognize the fact by an outpouring of His Spirit without measure; but this will not be while the largest portion of the church are not laborers together with God. God cannot pour out His Spirit when selfishness and self-indulgence are so manifest; when a spirit prevails that, if put into words, would express that answer of Cain,—“Am I my brother's keeper?”—The Review and Herald, July 21, 1896.

The lesson states that “all spiritual revival and genuine reformation lead to a passionate desire to witness.” I would take it a step further, and say we cannot help but witness.

WEDNESDAY

3rd paragraph. “The symbolism of fire is a symbol of the glory, presence, and power of God manifest in the ministry of the Holy Spirit. To be baptized with fire is to be immersed in the glory of God's presence through the Holy Spirit in order to witness in His power. Moses met God at the burning bush and then left the glory of His presence in order to witness to Pharaoh. Elijah witnessed to Israel in the glory of God's fiery presence on Mount Carmel. When tongues of fire fell on Pentecost, the disciples witnessed in languages that they had never before known. The baptism of the Holy Spirit is immersion in the presence and power of God in order that we can effectively witness of His glory. Once again, in the last days of earth's history, God's people will be immersed in His presence, filled with His power, and sent out to witness of His glory to the world.”

This is a powerful paragraph, especially if one takes it to its rational conclusion, and applies it to the destruction of the unrighteous. Won't every human be “baptized” with the fire of God's presence eventually?

THURSDAY

The lesson suggests that the book of Revelations can be summed up thusly: Jesus wins, satan loses. I suggest it is summed up: God Is Love. Just like the summation of the entirety of Scripture, and Creation. 1st paragraph:

“Here is good news: the same Jesus who defeated Satan on the cross will come again and triumph over the powers of hell and put a full end to evil (Rev. 19:19-21; Ezek. 28:18-19). Evil will not have the last word. Poverty and pestilence will not have the last word. Sickness and suffering will not have the last word. Chaos and crime will not have the last word. Disease and death will not have the last word. Instead, God will.”

What will God’s last words be? “Up yours, wicked”? “Is it hot in here, or is it just me”? “Burn, burn, burn”? NO. It will be something like, “I love you, satan. There will, forever, be a hole in my heart where you used to be. I will miss you very much.”

FRIDAY

1st question in the green section below.

“...Ellen G. White wrote: “The message will be carried not so much by argument as by the deep conviction of the Spirit of God.” In class, discuss what you think that means. What does it not mean? After all, our message is very logical, very reasonable, and it comes with some very powerful arguments in its favor. How are we to understand, then, what she is telling us?”

Thoughts?

4th Quarter 2013 – The Sanctuary

Lesson 1: The Heavenly Sanctuary

SABBATH

This week: each day was about a different aspect of the heavenly sanctuary

- a. Where does God live
- b. God's Residence
- c. Throne Room
- d. Worship in Heaven
- e. Courtroom
- f. Place of Salvation
- g. Statements about heaven with commentary.

What is the sanctuary doctrine?

From: <http://www.adventist.org/beliefs/fundamental/#24>.

Christ's Ministry in the Heavenly Sanctuary: There is a sanctuary in heaven, the true tabernacle which the Lord set up and not man. In it Christ ministers on our behalf, making available to believers the benefits of His atoning sacrifice offered once for all on the cross. He was inaugurated as our great High Priest and began His intercessory ministry at the time of His ascension. In 1844, at the end of the prophetic period of 2300 days, He entered the second and last phase of His atoning ministry. It is a work of investigative judgment which is part of the ultimate disposition of all sin, typified by the cleansing of the ancient Hebrew sanctuary on the Day of Atonement. In that typical service the sanctuary was cleansed with the blood of animal sacrifices, but the heavenly things are purified with the perfect sacrifice of the blood of Jesus. The investigative judgment reveals to heavenly intelligences who among the dead are asleep in Christ and therefore, in Him, are deemed worthy to have part in the first resurrection. It also makes manifest who among the living are abiding in Christ, keeping the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus, and in Him, therefore, are ready for translation into His everlasting kingdom. This judgment vindicates the justice of God in saving those who believe in Jesus. It declares that those who have remained loyal to God shall receive the kingdom. The completion of this ministry of Christ will mark the close of human probation before the Second Advent. (Heb. 8:1-5; 4:14-16; 9:11-28; 10:19-22; 1:3; 2:16, 17; Dan. 7:9-27; 8:13, 14; 9:24-27; Num. 14:34; Eze. 4:6; Lev. 16; Rev. 14:6, 7; 20:12; 14:12; 22:12.)

My version:

There is a heavenly place where God the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are united in performing functions for this time in behalf of this earth and the entire universe. At the conclusion of this work, Christ will come for his faithful children and the Great Controversy between God and His Adversary Satan will be concluded.

Mechanical Puzzles: I love to work mechanical things, including mechanical puzzles. Usually there is a central trick or key to solving the puzzle. When you first look at the puzzle, it may seem incomprehensible. Once you have figured out the puzzle, it is great! All you can see, is the solution. There are several ways of relating to others who haven't figured it out yet...

- a. Superiority (Pharisee)
- b. Proselytize (that is all they can talk about)

What gives a person the most enjoyment

- a. Figuring it out themselves
- b. If you tell them, they may "know" but really haven't experienced it.
- c. (Psa 34:8 GW) "Taste and see that the LORD is good. Blessed is the person who takes refuge in him." Or (Psa 34:8 GNB) "Find out for yourself how good the LORD is. Happy are those who find safety with him."

4. Why was the sanctuary doctrine such a big deal to the early Seventh-day Adventist believers and the former Millerite followers who formed this church?

- a. They were devastated by Great Disappointment
- b. They knew God had led them in the past, but this was a blocked path they couldn't see around.
- c. The presence of the Heavenly Sanctuary was a true life changing "Ahaa" moment.
- d. They learned something about God that was not possible for them to learn in any other way.

God had revealed everything to them, but it wasn't in their paradigm. When Christ revealed it we said, "AHA, So that is what God is really like."

- a. It wasn't just explanation of a mental puzzle
- b. We don't realize how far we have come from those first Ahaa moments.

If it was so good for the early Seventh-day Adventist believers, why is the Sanctuary motif not good news to the current Seventh-day Adventist church member?

- a. (<http://www.adventist.org/beliefs/> doesn't even mention it.)
- b. They don't understand it.
- c. We do not understand what Christ is really doing.
- d. We do not understand who God is and what He is really like.
- e. If God is who He says He is, then truly whatever He is doing in the Sanctuary is Good News.

Read the second paragraph of the Introduction to the Lesson"

- a. "The sanctuary formed the template to help us understand Jesus as our Sacrifice and High Priest."
- b. Realizing it was not understood correctly by the Children of Israel, shouldn't it be the other way around? Shouldn't Christ be the explanation of what should have gotten from the sanctuary and it's services.
- c. We should look at Christ as the true picture and then understand the sanctuary from what Christ has shown us.

The last sentence of the first paragraph is then true: “This earthly sanctuary, however, only modeled the heavenly one, which is the true center of God’s presence and of His activity in the universe.”

The second page: “The subject of the sanctuary was the key which unlocked the mystery of the disappointment of 1844. . . It revealed the position and work of His people.”

The last paragraph of the second page of the introduction: “The sanctuary discloses the heart of God. Studying the sanctuary will bring us close to the presence of the Supreme and to the personality of our Savior and draw us into a deeper personal relationship with Him.

But not if all we see is the furniture and ritual.

Second paragraph, page two, Introduction: “the sanctuary message is the Adventists’ unique doctrine.

Survey of coworkers:

- a. Word association
- b. What does this word mean?
- c. Use it in a sentence as if you were giving a hint at a spelling bee.
- d. Most common response: Church
 - i. The place in the church where you hold services.
- e. Second response
 - i. Safety
 - ii. A place where you are safe
 - a) A bird sanctuary
 - b) The dictator sought sanctuary in the church.
- f. I think it is telling that someone who has lived all their life within 15 miles of 6000 doctrine Seventh-day Adventists cannot come up with a single reference to the “unique doctrine” of the church is the sanctuary a safe place? For us?
- g. There is going to be a model of the Children of Israel’s mobile desert sanctuary set up on Standifer Gap within the next several weeks.
 - i. How much of the energy will be getting the furniture right?
 - ii. How much of my time is getting the character of God right?
 - iii. The fact that Jesus and the Father and the Holy Spirit are all working in Heaven, for my benefit.
 - iv. Unfortunately, the tabernacle is often no better than a mechanical puzzle, parts of which we still haven’t figured out.

MEMORY TEXT

“Then hear in heaven Your dwelling place their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause.” 1 Kings 8:49

SABBATH

Does God need a dwelling place?

If He doesn't need one, why does He have one?

If He does need one, why does He need it?

Last sentence of Sabbath Afternoon's lesson: “What He is doing in the sanctuary is, indeed, for us.”

- a. Is it for anyone else?
- b. How about the unfallen angels?
- c. How about the unfallen worlds that have not sinned?
- d. Is what Christ is doing now or what He did on the cross for them as well?
- e. Do you have any scripture to support your conclusions?
 - i. (1Co 4:9) For it seems to me that God has given the very last place to us apostles, like people condemned to die in public as a spectacle for the whole world of angels and of human beings.
 - ii. (Col 1:19, 20) For it was by God's own decision that the Son has in himself the full nature of God. Through the Son, then, God decided to bring the whole universe back to himself. God made peace through his Son's blood on the cross and so brought back to himself all things, both on earth and in heaven.
 - iii. Eph 3:9-10 “. . . God, who is the Creator of all things, kept his secret hidden through all the past ages, (10) in order that at the present time, by means of the church, the angelic rulers and powers in the heavenly world might learn of his wisdom in all its different forms.
 - iv. 1Pe 1:12 God revealed to these prophets that their work was not for their own benefit, but for yours, as they spoke about those things which you have now heard from the messengers who announced the Good News by the power of the Holy Spirit sent from heaven. These are things which even the angels would like to understand.

SUNDAY

Opens with several Bible quotes

- a. Jeremiah 23:23, 24 “Do I not fill heaven and earth?”
- b. Psalms 139 “nobody can flee from God”
 - i. Example: Jonah
 - a) Have you ever wished you could flee from God? Why?

- c. Acts 17: 27, 28 Paul argues that God is close to everyone, at least in a spiritual sense”
 - i. Why was this last phrase added?
 - ii. Is God close to us physically?
 - iii. Are there some who are closer to God than others? If so in what way?
 - a) What does this say about God?

Fourth Paragraph: “God is generally present everywhere; yet, He chooses to reveal Himself in a special way in heaven and, as we will see, in the heavenly sanctuary.

Bottom shaded text: There are many things that are difficult for us to imagine or understand, such as the dwelling place of God. Yet, the Bible says that this dwelling place is real. How can we learn to trust in all that the Bible teaches us, no matter how hard it is sometimes to understand? Why is it important for us to learn to trust even when we don’t understand?

- a. Why do we trust ‘even when we don’t understand?’
- b. Because we have a relationship that has experience.
- c. It is a relationship of trust.
- d. We know who we believe in.

MONDAY

Imagery of the Bible as God as King.

Heavenly throne

Several statements regarding God, God’s throne and His Kingship.

Last sentence, first paragraph: In most of the Biblical depictions of God’s throne “God is acting for or speaking in behalf of the righteous.”

- a. He is not speaking on His own behalf, except in the sense that it is done for others.
- b. That shows the character He has.

God as sovereign

- a. Not only in the future but already in the here and now.
- b. what does it mean that God is sovereign?
- c. A local religious radio station makes a big emphasis of God as Sovereign as one of the radio station’s central points.

God is independent and superior to the rest of the universe.

5th Paragraph is Ellen G. White quote:

“As in obedience to His natural laws the earth should produce its treasures, so in obedience to His moral law the hearts of the people were to reflect the attributes of His character.” The Adventist Home, p. 144.

The 'moral law' is the natural law of the mind and heart.

Shaded area at bottom of page: "How can we better manifest goodness, righteousness, and justice in a world filled with evil, unrighteousness, and injustice? Why must we do these things?"

- a. Would it make sense to ask the question: Why must you use clean gas in your car and lawn equipment?
- b. Why shouldn't you put sand or sugar in your gas tank?

TUESDAY

Revelation 4 & 5

- a. The throne room in heaven is depicted with Christ as a slain lamb opening a scroll with seven seals. The throne and its surrounding beings are depicted symbolically (are we sure what it looks like?).

WEDNESDAY

Read the texts for the day: Psalms 11:4-7, Habakkuk 2:20

Would you have seen these two texts as pointing to a courtroom scene?

I would like to contrast the Courtroom motif with a Doctor's Office (something which I am much more familiar)

Do you have scriptural illustrations of how the Sanctuary was used as a courtroom or a doctor's office in the Old or New Testament?

- a. Christ healing of the ten lepers
- b. dispute management during the exodus

Was this an internal function or external function?

Was this a tabernacle function or a priestly one?

- a. We as New Testament Christians are described as a kingdom of priests.
- b. We are to have good judgment.
 - i. 1 Corinthians 6

What is the difference between a courtroom and a doctor’s office?

Characteristic	Courtroom	Doctor’s Office
Is there fear associated with both?
What are people afraid of?
Are there investigations involved in both?
What is the purpose of the questions that are voiced in both?	Truth?	Truth
Is it important for the truth to be know in both? Why?
What kind of law is typically used in each one?
What is justice when applied to each room?	Process	The Right Thing. Right Function. Right Outcome.
Is pain sometimes felt in either room?
What is the hoped for outcome in. . .?
Define justice in each room?

Third paragraph: “Divine judgment involves both the wicked and the righteous. While the wicked receive a punishment similar to that received by Sodom and Gomorrah, the upright “will behold His face” (Psalms 11:6, 7 NASB)”

- a. Won’t both the righteous and the wicked see His face? Some will like it others will not.
 - i. See Revelation 1:7 “Look, he is coming on the clouds! Everyone will see him, including those who pierced him. All peoples on earth will mourn over him. So shall it be!”
 - ii. Isa 25:9 “On that day his people will say, "This is our God; we have waited for him, and now he will save us. This is the LORD; we have waited for him. Let us rejoice and be glad because he will save us."”
 - iii. Who is going to be in the fire?

- a) Isa 33:14-15 (GNB) “The sinful people of Zion are trembling with fright. They say, “God's judgment is like a fire that burns forever. Can any of us survive a fire like that?” (15) You can survive if you say and do what is right. Don't use your power to cheat the poor and don't accept bribes. Don't join with those who plan to commit murder or to do other evil things.”

Shaded area at bottom of page: “However much we cry out for justice, we often don't see justice in the present. Why, then, must we trust in God's justice? Without that promise, what hope do we have?

- a. The song: “My hope is built on nothing less, than Jesus blood and righteousness”
i. When I was trying to remember the words of this song I sang, “Jesus love and righteousness”
b. John 14:9 Jesus answered, "For a long time I have been with you all; yet you do not know me, Philip? Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. Why, then, do you say, 'Show us the Father'?"

THURSDAY

Why is it a place of salvation?

Question at top of page:

- a. Read Hebrews 8:1, 2
b. What is Christ doing at the throne of God?
c. We have a High Priest at the right hand of God. What does that mean?
d. Before someone goes too far the road of what Christ is doing and His actions in relationship to the Father, we need to read again Romans 8:31-39 (GNB).

In the preceding verses Paul has just outlined how Christ is for us, the Holy Spirit is for us and God the Father is for us. We read:

“In view of all this, what can we say? If God is for us, who can be against us? (32) Certainly not God, who did not even keep back his own Son, but offered him for us all! He gave us his Son---will he not also freely give us all things? (33) Who will accuse God's chosen people? God himself declares them not guilty! (34) Who, then, will condemn them? Not Christ Jesus, who died, or rather, who was raised to life and is at the right side of God, pleading with him for us! (35) Who, then, can separate us from the love of Christ? Can trouble do it, or hardship or persecution or hunger or poverty or danger or death? (36) As the scripture says, "For your sake we are in danger of death at all times; we are treated like sheep that are going to be slaughtered." (37) No, in all these things we have complete victory through him who loved us! (38) For I am certain that nothing can separate us from his love: neither death nor life, neither angels nor other heavenly rulers or powers, neither the present nor the future, (39) neither the world above nor the world below---there is nothing in all creation that will ever be able to separate us from the love of God which is ours through Christ Jesus our Lord.”

We then are told to read Revelation 1:12-20, 8:2-6, 11:19, and 15:5-8.

“A careful study of these scenes reveals that they are interconnected, showing an internal progression in the salvation accomplished by God: from Christ on earth to His heavenly ministry in the first and second apartments to His high priestly ministry’s end and finally to the new earth tabernacle.”

The Sanctuary Lesson 2 4Q 2013

“Heaven” on Earth

SUNDAY

This quarter we are studying The Sanctuary. Much confusion arises because the word can rightly refer to several things. What can the word “sanctuary” legitimately refer to?

- A retreat for rest and rejuvenation
- A safe haven
- A place of worship
- A place where God dwells
- Our bodies and minds
- The corporate church
- A tent built by Moses
- A building built by Solomon and Herod
- Jesus and His human body
- Something in heaven
- Others?

And has sanctuary ever been attributed to be something it was not legitimately intended to refer to? For instance, the earth in the early 19th century?

Can confusion arise if we read something about the sanctuary which refers to one meaning and we are thinking of the other?

Sunday’s lesson points out parallels between the Garden of Eden and the sanctuary suggesting that perhaps Eden was the first sanctuary on earth. Thoughts?

The lesson gives many examples of the similarities between Eden and the Sanctuary:

- A place where they communed with God and where God walked
- Adam and Eve were to tend and keep it as the Levites were the sanctuary
- Garden like imagery appears in the sanctuary
- Cherubim guarded the way to Eden after the fall and are on the lid to the ark
- Six days of Creation where God spoke followed by the Sabbath and the Sanctuary was given to Moses in six phases where God spoke followed by the instructions for the Sabbath

Thoughts?

Do you see any other lessons from Eden, the first sanctuary?

What was Eden constructed out of?

- Living organisms – any lessons in that regarding God’s Heavenly sanctuary?
- 1 Cor 4:9 says that we are a theater a spectacle to angels and men. Was that true in Eden? Were angelic beings watching what transpired in Eden?
- In whose image were Adam and Eve created? What role did they play in the theater of newly created earth? Who did Adam and Eve represent?
- And where did they dwell?
- They dwelt among the living organisms of earth, tending and keeping it, providing for the welfare, good, and growth of all the living creatures in the Garden. What do we learn about God and His heavenly sanctuary from this?
- God’s heavenly sanctuary is built out of living organisms and God dwells amongst His living beings constantly ministering to us for our good, our health, our eternal growth in love and grace.
- Adam named the animals – any lesson there in our relationship with God?
 - In the Bible name refers to character. In the microcosm of Eden, where Adam and Eve represent the Godhead, and the animals represent living beings beneath the Godhead, what is the significance of Adam naming the animals?
 - God knows our true characters, and calls us by our real names?
 - To him who overcomes, I will give some of the hidden manna. I will also give him a white stone with a new name written on it, known only to him who receives it. Rev 2:17
 - Him who overcomes I will make a pillar in the temple of my God. Never again will he leave it. I will write on him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which is coming down out of heaven from my God; and I will also write on him my new name. Rev 3:12
 - Any significance? We will discuss the new Jerusalem later in the lesson, but be thinking how it connects to sanctuary themes.

In the sanctuary built by Moses the law was in the ark – where was the law in Eden?

- Written into every living thing, the entire ecosystem is an expression of God’s law of love as all nature is built to operate upon it.
- But the pinnacle, the showcase of God’s law, was the most holy place of Adam and Eve’s heart/mind, where God placed His law of love.
- The law of love is a living law, the template of life, and could only be understood written upon the tablets of the hearts of living beings.

And right in the middle of the Eden Sanctuary we find two trees the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil, where Satan approached them with lies, and the Tree of Life. What does this tell us about the heavenly sanctuary?

- What symbolized by the Tree of Life?
- Adam and Eve could eat of it and sustain life – suggesting what?
- Who is the bread of life? In sanctuary they ate the sacrificed lamb. Jesus said unless you eat my flesh and drink my blood you have no part with Him.

- Could the Tree of Life represent Jesus who is our sustainer and from whom we receive life? The sun represents the Father who lives in unapproachable light (1Tim 6:16) and Jesus receives from the Father and becomes the conduit through which God's life flows out to all?
- As long as they were filled with love and truth they had unhindered access to the Tree of Life. Symbolically, representing their unhindered relationship with God. I like how this is described in the book Desire of Ages:
 - But turning from all lesser representations, we behold God in Jesus. Looking unto Jesus we see that it is the glory of our God to give. "I do nothing of Myself," said Christ; "the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father." "I seek not Mine own glory," but the glory of Him that sent Me. John 8:28; 6:57; 8:50; 7:18. In these words is set forth the great principle which is the law of life for the universe. All things Christ received from God, but He took to give. So in the heavenly courts, in His ministry for all created beings: through the beloved Son, the Father's life flows out to all; through the Son it returns, in praise and joyous service, a tide of love, to the great Source of all. And thus through Christ the circuit of beneficence is complete, representing the character of the great Giver, the law of life. {DA 21.2}
- And what of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil, what does it represent?
- Where did lies begin in heaven? Right in the most holy place with Lucifer. Right in the middle of the heavenly sanctuary. Again, what kind of sanctuary? It is built out of what? Living organisms.
- I like this description in the RH January 5, 1886:
 - Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors, and it was only by repentance toward God and faith in the promised Messiah that they could hope ever to regain the lost image of God.
 - Lies believed break the circle of love and trust...
 - Only by changing their belief about God, i.e. repentance, change of thought, attitude etc., and being restored to trust in God, could they hope to be healed and restored to righteousness
- So, Adam and Eve had to choose between two "trees" which represented Jesus and Lucifer – the two methods in competition for the hearts of intelligent beings. God's methods of love as revealed in Jesus or Satan's methods of lies, selfishness, and fear as represented in the Tree of Knowledge.
 - And what did lies do to the sanctuary? It defiled it. The heart of man became corrupt, the sanctuary defiled and what was needed? The sanctuary needed to be cleansed? And this is what Christ came to do!

Does the sanctuary built by Moses contain imagery depicting Satan's lies which needed to be destroyed by the work of Christ?

The veil – consider the imagery of the sanctuary and what it symbolically is trying to teach.

- The priests in their white robes represent the converted. Those who have had rebellious hearts converted to trust God and now live to represent Him, thus wearing the righteousness of Christ in character depicted by the white robes.
- Only the priests could enter the Holy Place, where we find the Lampstand, filled with Oil and giving light – symbolic of the living and written Word of God, which is a light unto our path, enlightening our minds via the work of the Holy Spirit.
- The showbread which was eaten only by the priests on Sabbath, representing the bread of life, partaking the character of Christ and internalizing the truth about God into our minds, as we practice His methods of truth, love and freedom, all symbolized by the Sabbath, the day upon which they ate the bread.
- And the golden altar, upon which incense was burned, representing the prayers of the converted ascending to God from hearts purified by the righteousness of Christ and filled with the Holy Spirit.
- As the priests were in the Holy Place, longing to see God more fully, something prevented it, what? The veil, and what was sewn on the veil? Angels. Symbolically, what is being taught?
 - That angelic beings obstruct our clear view of God, which means what? Satan and his angels lie about God obstructing our clear understanding of God.
 - “And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing. The god of this age has blinded the minds of unbelievers, so that they cannot see the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God.” 2Cor 4:3,4
- At the Cross, when Christ completed His mission of revealing fully the truth about God’s character of love, the lies were destroyed and the veil was torn open. The lies that obstruct our knowledge of God were destroyed.
 - Those who believe the lies about God and have the truth about God obstructed are perishing. Their minds are veiled to the gospel, the good news about God that Christ revealed. But to those who have seen the light, the truth about God, are being renewed and cleansed to be like Him.
- Additionally, Satan tempts us through our fallen natures and Christ destroyed the infection to our nature at the Cross and in His person renewed the human species back to God’s original design. Thus the two barriers to being united with God – lies we believe about Him, and our fallen natures which prefer selfishness to selfless love, were both destroyed at the Cross, thus the veil was torn open. Satan and his minions were defeated.

The Sanctuary in Eden, and the original in heaven, are made out of living organisms and there was no blood, no slaughtered animals, no death in those sanctuaries. But the one built by Moses was made out of non-living matter, dead material and it was filled with blood and had a constant stream of slaughtered animals. Why? What is being depicted?

Our terminal condition is being depicted!

The sanctuary God built was contaminated by sin, the design protocols for life were broken and thus the system, as it is, is dead. We are “dead in trespass and sin.” But, the blood, representative of Christ’s life, was spread throughout the system, symbolizing that Christ would come, take upon Himself our terminal condition, develop a perfect human character, eliminate the infection of fear and selfishness, and cleanse the sanctuary, restoring it to God's original ideal and bringing humanity back from the dead.

Do you see how all of this can be understood without ever having to resort to payment, appeasement, punishment etc.? When we see God's law as the expression of His character, the design protocols of life, then we can discern the beauty of the symbols and realize He is working to heal and restore us back into perfection!

Thoughts?

MONDAY

The title of the lesson is quite right, "Copy of a Pattern." Read first paragraph, "The Scriptures clearly teach..." thoughts?

What does this mean when we consider any lessons we might draw regarding the earthly sanctuary?

When a tailor or seamstress get a "pattern" for a dress, do we, from viewing the pattern, get a clear understanding of what the dress will look like?

Moses was show the pattern, the blueprint, the outline, not the actual sanctuary. What is the implication?

Could it be that the real sanctuary is too complex for Moses to understand? It had to be put in a simplistic pattern?

And, what do we get when we build the sanctuary at Sinai? Do we get the reality? Do we actually get a miniature of what is in heaven?

- Do you think there is a slaughterhouse in heaven in which animals are being slain?
- Do you think Jesus is in heaven offering incense and smoke to His Father?
- Are they eating showbread or roasted lamb?
- Is there a lamp burning oil giving light so Jesus can see in the sanctuary in heaven?
- Is Jesus pleading His blood to the Father every time we seek His grace in our lives?

What is going on? What is this pattern to reveal? Read third paragraph, "The book of Hebrews explains..." thoughts?

Notice the lesson rightly points out that "As a shadow is always a mere representation of something real, and an imperfect and faint representation at that, the earthly sanctuary is a mere representation of the heavenly."

We make grave mistakes to extrapolate the shadow and blow it up in our imagination and plug Christ into a larger version in heaven.

The last paragraph the lesson states, “Because the correspondence runs from type (original) to antitype (copy), we can see in Hebrews that the heavenly model that Moses had seen is referred to as ‘type’ or ‘pattern’ (Heb 8:5) and the earthly sanctuary as ‘antitype’ or ‘copy’ (Heb 9:24).” Thoughts?

Any concerns with this? Was Moses shown the original? No, Moses was shown a pattern of the original. This is a big difference as we already discussed. We can use type and antitype language if we want, but we shouldn’t conclude that the type in this case was the original, it was the pattern of the original Moses saw.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “One of the themes in the Gospel...” thoughts?

Jesus declared Himself to be the temple, what should we conclude from Jesus words?

Was Jesus suggesting that the pattern shown Moses, from which the OT system was built, was in some way a pattern of God’s design for humanity? And Jesus, the second Adam, assumed upon Himself the sanctuary God created in Eden, but which had been defiled by Adam, and Jesus cleansed and rebuilt it back to God’s original intent?

Any passages that might inform us on this idea?

Tell him this is what the Lord Almighty says: ‘Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the Lord. ¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the Lord, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. Zech 6:12,13

Why does He need to branch out and build the Temple if it already exists in heaven? Unless, it is speaking of the true Temple, where God’s law is to be written upon the heart, which was defiled by Adam and which Christ was to cleanse?

Other texts?

- 1cor3:9 For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, God's building.
- 1CO 3:16 Don't you know that you yourselves are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you?
- EPH 2:19 Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's household, ²⁰ built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. ²¹ In him the whole building is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. ²² And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit.

- 1PE 2:4 As you come to him, the living Stone--rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him-- 5 you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.
- Heb 3:6 But Christ is faithful as a son over God's house. And we are his house, if we hold on to our courage and the hope of which we boast.

Can we make the case that God's sanctuary is built out of intelligent beings?

What then do you understand Heb 8:1,2 to mean?

- "The point of what we are saying is this: We do have such a high priest, who sat down at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven, and who serves in the sanctuary, the true tabernacle set up by the Lord, not by man."

Thoughts? It is saying the true sanctuary was not built by humans, right? Who built Adam and Eve? Who built the angels? Who built Eden? Is the true sanctuary intelligent living beings built by God? Consider this passage:

- 2CO 5:1 Now we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, an eternal house in heaven, not built by human hands. ² Meanwhile we groan, longing to be clothed with our heavenly dwelling, ³ because when we are clothed, we will not be found naked. ⁴ For while we are in this tent, we groan and are burdened, because we do not wish to be unclothed but to be clothed with our heavenly dwelling, so that what is mortal may be swallowed up by life.

What does this mean? Is it saying that the sanctuary built by God, and not by humans, is the sanctuary of the human being? Where does God want to write His law?

- This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the Lord. I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people. No longer will a man teach his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the Lord,' because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest. (Heb 8:10:11)

Do we have any Biblical evidence that the Sanctuary God created, without the help of human hands, was His intelligent creatures. Adam defiled his sanctuary, we are born in defiled sanctuaries, Christ came and took up our infirmities, our iniquity, and as He told the Jews, will rebuild the Temple in 3 days after they destroyed it.

Did you notice how because of Jesus, God cleanses us by writing the law in our hearts and minds?

Consider this passage:

You were anointed as a guardian cherub,

- for so I ordained you.
You were on the holy mount of God;
you walked among the fiery stones.
15 You were blameless in your ways
from the day you were created
till wickedness was found in you.
16 Through your widespread trade
you were filled with violence,
and you sinned.
So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God,
and I expelled you, O guardian cherub,
from among the fiery stones.
17 Your heart became proud
on account of your beauty,
and you corrupted your wisdom
because of your splendor.
So I threw you to the earth;
I made a spectacle of you before kings.
18 By your many sins and dishonest trade
you have desecrated your sanctuaries.
So I made a fire come out from you,
and it consumed you,
and I reduced you to ashes on the ground
in the sight of all who were watching.
19 All the nations who knew you are appalled at you;
you have come to a horrible end and will be no more.” Ezek 28:14-19

Thoughts?

Read last paragraph, “All who did service...” thoughts?

What law is referred to in this passage? The law of love, the design template for life, or Imperial Roman rules imposed and policed by the ruling authority?

How do you see the law of love in the sanctuary?

The entire system is a mini-theater, a drama, designed to act out a simple teaching – we are separated from God, alienated, dying. But through Christ we are brought back into unity with our heavenly Father and healed from all defects.

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “Paul speaks in...” thoughts?

Is the church (people who are saved not the building) “real” or metaphor? If one believes the sanctuary is composed of the “church” is one believing in a real sanctuary or a metaphor? In other words, which is the real sanctuary, the one were God wants to dwell, a building made of inanimate material or the hearts and minds of living beings?

Where did Satan want to enthrone himself in a building made out of dead matter or in the hearts and minds of living beings as the one most loved and adored?

- You said in your heart, “I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain. (Is 14:13)

Where did Satan want to be enthroned?

Any concerns if we move away from metaphor to reality and instead of talking of symbols we talk of the way things actually are? Or is it more comforting to discuss blood, altars, incense, and coverings?

Read first sentence bottom pink section, “Of course, we are saved by Christ’s righteousness, which covers us completely.”

Beautiful metaphor – what is the reality this metaphor attempts to communicate?

Here is one description which attempts to move away from metaphor to reality, see if this is the common view we hear in church:

When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 3:11.4}

Thoughts? Is there a difference between covering over disease and actually curing it?

God, through Christ cures, heals, restores, recreates you and me back to His original design. This is God’s plan of salvation. It is real. It is described in many symbolic ways, including cleansing of the sanctuary, but the real cleansing is when the hearts and minds of His intelligent beings have been cleansed from fear, insecurity, shame, guilt, selfishness, lies, evil and renewed in purity, holiness, righteousness, love and unity with Him.

God longs for a people to think, to reason with Him, to move past the dark symbols and into the light of the reality of his universe.

THURSDAY

The lesson asks us to read Revelation 7:15-16:

“they are before the throne of God and serve him day and night in his temple; and he who sits on the throne will spread his tent over them. Never again will they hunger; never again will they thirst. The sun will not beat upon them, nor any scorching heat.

Thoughts?

Is this literal or metaphorical? What does it mean? Does God put a tent over us? Are we trapped for eternity in a building in heaven? Are we thinking literal building, or interpreting the symbols to the reality of the temple being constructed out of living stones?

If we are the temple does it make any difference?

Read last paragraph, “John does not...” thoughts?

What else does the Bible say about the New Jerusalem?

I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband. Rev 21:2

Who is the bride of Christ? The church!

One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came and said to me, “Come, I will show you the bride, the wife of the Lamb.”¹⁰ And he carried me away in the Spirit to a mountain great and high, and showed me the Holy City, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God. Rev 21:9,10

What is the bride of Christ? Is it inanimate material or is the Bride of Christ the church, composed of intelligent living beings?

The city has twelve gates with the names of the twelve tribes and twelve foundations with the names of the twelve apostles. What does this mean? Is it literal, or symbolic? And if symbolic, symbolic of what?

And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, “Now the dwelling of God is with men, and he will live with them. They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God. Rev 21:3

The dwelling of God is with who? And what is the dwelling of God also known as? The Temple or Sanctuary.

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "A fear of making..." thoughts?

If we consider the temple to be real, physical, built out of real flesh and blood living intelligent beings have we spiritualized it away?

Consider this quotation from one of the founders of our church:

The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use.

Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}

Come And Reason Ministries presents a FREE, three-session Seminar/Webinar Saturday, November 9, 2013 from 2-6 p.m. Eastern Time, hosted by Hamilton Community and Rock Point Churches.

If you are local and would like to attend pre-registration is required at comeandreason.com

If you would like to watch the FREE webinar go to comeandreason.com on November 9 and follow the links.

The three presentations are:

The God-Shaped Brain: How Changing Your View of God Transforms Your Life

Our brains are in a constant state of flux. Moment by moment new connections are forming, idle tracks are being pruned back and brain circuits are changing. Discover how our beliefs change our brain wiring, our physical health, and even which genes are turned on or turned off. Do your beliefs matter – more than you ever knew!

Objectives:

- Identify the relationship between belief and physical and mental health
- Examine the scientific evidence documenting how a change in belief can alter brain function resulting in a change in health
- Formulate a methodology for separating healthy from unhealthy beliefs

Designer or Dictator an Exploration of God's Law and Justice

How we view God changes us, physically and spiritually. How we conceive of God's law and justice fires either love circuits or fear circuits and impacts our ability to love and trust. In this presentation Dr. Jennings explores the Biblical record of God's law and how tradition slowly changed humanity's conception of God and His law.

Objectives:

- Differentiate between natural and imposed law
- Differentiate the justice of natural versus imposed law
- Explore the divergence of love versus fear based beliefs upon religious and social activities

Buddha, Jesus and the Brain

Buddha and Jesus are the two individuals who have perhaps impacted more people with their ideas and examples than any others in history. This presentation will contrast the philosophical differences underpinning their teachings while examining what recent brain science reveals about Eastern vs Biblical meditation.

Objectives:

- Contrast the differences in philosophical underpinnings between the teachings of Buddha and Jesus
- Examine the impact meditation has upon brain function and structure

- Identify the physical health outcomes of meditation

The Sanctuary Lesson 3 4Q 2013

Sacrifices

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “Central to the...” thoughts?

Do you agree that sacrifice is central to the entire gospel? If so, how is sacrifice central?

What is the gospel? I looked up on several websites and here are some definitions of the gospel I found online:

The gospel is the good news of the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ that provides full and free deliverance from the power and penalty of sin according to the grace of God alone through faith in Jesus Christ alone. (<http://www.gospeloutreach.net/gospel.html>)

The gospel is the singularly most important communication of God to man. In Jesus who is God the Son, we have the revelation of God’s love and sacrifice that saves us from God's righteous judgment upon sinners. (<http://carm.org/what-gospel>)

The Gospel is called the ‘good news’ because it addresses the most serious problem that you and I have as human beings, and that problem is simply this: God is holy and He is just, and I’m not. And at the end of my life, I’m going to stand before a just and holy God, and I’ll be judged. And I’ll be judged either on the basis of my own righteousness – or lack of it – or the righteousness of another. (<http://www.ligonier.org/learn/articles/what-gospel/>)

In a day of depressing headlines and uncertainty all around us, good news is very welcome. What better news could there be than as the old hymn says: “The vilest offender who truly believes, that moment from Jesus a pardon receives?” When Christians refer to the “Gospel” they are referring to the “good news” that Jesus Christ died to pay the penalty for our sin so that we might become the children of God through faith alone in Christ alone. (<https://bible.org/article/what-gospel>)

Thoughts? What do you hear in these definitions of the gospel?

Who is placed at the center of all these definitions? Do you notice how these subtly place self at the center?

- Do you notice how God is depicted in all of these supposed gospels?
- Do you notice the tension in these gospels between God and man?
- As these gospels are described did you experience God and sinners being on the same side?

The Bible refers to the gospel as:

- The gospel (good news) of God Rom, 1:1 (and many other places)
- The gospel (good news) of God's Son, Rom 1:9
- The gospel (good news) of Jesus Christ the Son of God, Mark 1:1
- The gospel (good news) of God's grace, Acts 20:24

Is the gospel about us? Or is it about God?

If the good news is about God shouldn't it present God in a way that is actually good? Do you notice how many of these so called gospels present Jesus as good, but the Father as not so good?

Here are some other texts:

- The gospel (good news) of the kingdom Mt 24:14
 - What kingdom?
 - Where is the focus of this gospel?
 - Is the gospel about God's heavenly kingdom or our salvation?
 - Jesus told Nicodemus, "no one can see the kingdom of God unless he is born again." (Jn 3:3) If the gospel is the gospel of the kingdom of heaven, and one must be born again to see it, then is being born again the same as the gospel?
- Revelation 14 tells us an angel comes from heaven with an "eternal" gospel. (14:6)
 - What does eternal mean? not just eternity future, but eternity past
 - Was there a gospel of God before sin? Was there good news about God before sin?
 - What did the war in heaven start over?
 - If you were lied to and told that your spouse was cheating, what would be good news to you? The truth that your spouse is loyal!
 - Is the good news primarily about us or about God?
- Most significantly the Bible also describes the gospel as the "gospel of the glory of Christ", which the Bible then defines as "the light of the knowledge of the glory of God." 2Cor 4:4-6
 - What is the gospel? What is the good news? The truth about God as revealed in Christ!
 - Is the gospel primarily about our deliverance from sin or primarily good news about God Himself?

The gospel is the good news that God is NOT the kind of being Satan has alleged, that God's kingdom is NOT like human kingdoms. Did you notice that the gospel definitions I read said things about Jesus paying our penalty so we could be saved, or forgiven or pardoned? But the Bible says:

Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon. "For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways," declares the Lord. "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts. (IS 55:7-9)

Did you notice that God freely pardons? And this free pardon is NOT the way of humans, our ways are lowly, God's ways are higher, holier, loftier than ours. Yet, we insist on lowering God down to our human methods, motives, and actions and teaching a false gospel that God is the source of pain and suffering and God must inflict it on His children. Rather than freely pardon, we say that God pardons after Jesus pays a penalty in our behalf.

Thus, all the gospel definitions we read earlier, are definitions based on false premise and misunderstanding of God's law. These false gospels are what arise when people fail to see God as Creator and Builder and instead believe God runs His universe like humans run earthly governments with imposed laws that have no inherent consequence and thus require the ruling authority to police breeches in the law, have judgments and inflict punishments. Then the gospel becomes perverted to mean Jesus paying our legal penalty.

But the gospel is the good news about God Himself, that God is not like a Roman dictator. God law isn't imposed. God builds, God creates, God designs and His law is an expression of His character and He constructed the universe to run in harmony with His own nature of love. Deviations from this design protocol are not compatible with life. Therefore, we are dead, terminal, in trespass and sin, and God so loved the world that He sent His only Son that whoever trusts Him will be saved. He did not send His Son to condemn the world but to save it through him!

So, then, now that we know the gospel is about God, His character of love, His methods of love, His kingdom of love, then how do we understand the connection of sacrifice with the gospel?

Would it be that God sacrifices to fix what Adam broke?

The first paragraph says the basic meaning of sacrifice "describes the act of approaching, the act of bringing something into the presence of God."

What does this suggest? How can it be rightly understood and how can it be easily misunderstood? Does the law concept one hold impact how one understands it?

If one believes God's law is like human law, imposed and then enforced, then what does one believe sacrifice to approach God means? Payment, appeasement of the offended deity.

But if one believes God's law is the design parameters for life and we are out of harmony, then what does one understand sacrifice to mean? First, Christ's sacrifice to remedy our situation, to actually cure humanity. Second, denial of self, the sacrifice of the destructive things our hearts have become attached to, the dying to self, the crucifixion of selfishness, for the purpose of being restored into harmony with God so that we may experience regeneration and eternal life.

Notice, sacrifice is NEVER to appease, influence, alter, impact or change God. It is the process necessary to heal and transform sinners.

Thus the next paragraph has it right, “Similarly, the English word offering comes from the Latin offerre, the presentation of a gift. The word sacrifice is a combination of the Latin Sacer (holy) and facere (make) and refers to the act of making something sacred.”

Thoughts?

Doesn't this mean the act of healing, restoring, cleansing, recreating, purifying, the sinner? In other words, the sacrifice is NOT for God's need, to pay penalty, to appease anger, to turn away or absorb wrath, but to heal, transform and regenerate humanity back into God's original design!

As the Scripture says, “God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.” (2Cor 5:21)

So why does God WANT sacrifice? Because He wants to see us healed, saved, restored, cleansed! And we can only be healed through the sacrifice Christ has made.

Was sacrifice needed in heaven before sin? Was sacrifice needed in Eden before sin? What does this tell us? That sacrifice is the means of healing, restoring, cleansing the sinner.

Now listen carefully so you don't misunderstand – the sacrifice of Jesus for the eradication of sin, salvation of humanity, securing of the universe, is not The good news, it is the expression, outworking, effective action of the Good News of who God is! In other words, the good news is about God and His character which is fully expressed in the actions of Christ sacrificing Himself for our salvation. But the good news about God was true before He sacrificed Himself, it was just obscured by Satan's lies. Thus the good news is always about God!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Adam and Eve lived...” thoughts?

Did God “grant” them face to face communication or did God “design” and “desire” face to face communication with them?

Does it make a difference to say God “granted” them faced to face communication? What does it suggest? Does it subtly suggest that perhaps they had to petition, that it was an inconvenience to God, that God really didn't desire it Himself?

Read second paragraph, “Adam and Eve...” thoughts?

Does such language give anyone pause? Does it confuse anyone? What does it mean? How do we understand it? How do you handle such descriptions?

Thoughts?

From whose perspective is this being described? “Adam and Eve stood as criminals before God...”
From God’s perspective, Adam and Eve’s or both?

Is it likely, Adam and Eve felt condemned, but where did such condemnation arise? Did they hear God in the garden condemning them? “Adam who told you you are naked?” Implies what? “Adam I didn’t say that. Your own conscience is condemning you. You are changed! Your condition is out of harmony with how I built life to operate.”

Is their condemnation coming from God or from their own condition?

So, after Adam and Eve changed themselves, God goes on to tell them all the consequences of what their actions have caused, but also, the promise of a redeemer to heal and save. Was God punishing or was God informing when He told of the curse on the ground etc.?

Well here is another quote from the same author that the Study Guide quotes. Does this make it more clear?

Satan had peculiar interest to watch the development of events immediately after the fall of Adam to learn how his work had affected the kingdom of God, and what the Lord would do with Adam because of his disobedience. The Son of God, undertaking to become the Redeemer of the race, placed Adam in a new relation to his Creator. He was still fallen; but a door of hope was opened to him. The wrath of God still hung over Adam, but the execution of the sentence of death was delayed, and the indignation of God was restrained, because Christ had entered upon the work of becoming man's Redeemer. Christ was to take the wrath of God which in justice should fall upon man. He became a refuge for man, and although man was indeed a criminal, deserving the wrath of God, yet he could by faith in Christ run into the refuge provided and be safe. In the midst of death there was life if man chose to accept it. The holy and infinite God, who dwelleth in light unapproachable, could no longer talk with man. No communication could now exist directly between man and his Maker. {RH, February 24, 1874 par. 29}

Does this make it more clear? What law construct to you read such ideas through?

Did you notice the last two sentences, no direct communication with man was possible – who spoke to Adam in Eden telling him of his expulsion from Eden? Who spoke to Moses on the mountain? So, do we take all of this literal, or realize there is some generalities going on that need to be more precisely understood?

Let’s break it down:

The Son of God, undertaking to become the Redeemer of the race, placed Adam in a new relation to his Creator. He was still fallen; but a door of hope was opened to him.

- What is the relation Adam has without Jesus?
- Before sin it was open and free, after sin, separation, disconnect, dying in terminal condition separated from the source of life

- What is the new relation that Adam has because of Jesus?
- Jesus becomes the connecting link to restore Adam back into unity with God, to heal Adam and reconnect Him to the source of life.

The wrath of God still hung over Adam, but the execution of the sentence of death was delayed, and the indignation of God was restrained, because Christ had entered upon the work of becoming man's Redeemer. Christ was to take the wrath of God which in justice should fall upon man.

- What does this mean?
- What is wrath – the Biblical definition of wrath?
- “When that happens, I will become angry with them; I will abandon them, and they will be destroyed. Many terrible disasters will come upon them, and then they will realize that these things are happening to them because I, their God, am no longer with them.” (Deuteronomy 31:17 – GN)
- “I will fight against you with all my might, my anger, my wrath, and my fury. I will kill everyone living in this city; people and animals alike will die of a terrible disease.... Anyone who stays in the city will be killed in war or by starvation or disease...It will be given over to the king of Babylonia, and he will burn it to the ground. I, the LORD, have spoken...I will set your palace on fire, and the fire will burn down everything around it. I, the LORD, have spoken.” (Jeremiah 21:5,6,9-10,14 – GN)
- “The LORD has abandoned his people like a lion that leaves its cave. The horrors of war and the LORD’s fierce anger have turned the country into a desert.” (Jeremiah 25:38 – GN)
- “Very well, then, I will give you freedom: the freedom to die by war, disease, and starvation.” (Jeremiah 34:17 – GN)
- “You will feel my anger when I turn it loose on you like a blazing fire. And I will hand you over to brutal men, experts at destruction.” (Ezekiel 21:31 – GN)
- “I will attack the people of Israel and Judah like a lion. I myself will tear them to pieces and then leave them. When I drag them off, no one will be able to save them. I will abandon my people until they have suffered enough for their sins and come looking for me. Perhaps in their suffering they will try to find me.” (Hosea 5:14,15 – GN)
- God’s anger is revealed from heaven against all the sin and evil of the people whose evil ways prevent the truth from being known. God punishes them, because what can be known about God is plain to them, for God himself made it plain... They say they are wise, but they are fools; instead of worshiping the immortal God, they worship images made to look like mortals or birds or animals or reptiles. And so God has given those people over to do the filthy things their hearts desire, and they do shameful things with each other. They exchange the truth about God for a lie; they worship and serve what God has created instead of the Creator himself, who is to be praised forever! Amen. Because they do this, God has given them over to shameful passions....Because those people refuse to keep in mind the true knowledge about

God, he has given them over to corrupted minds, so that they do the things that they should not do.” (Romans 1:18,19,22-26,28 – GN)

What is God’s wrath according to Scripture? Letting go to reap what sin does.

So how do we understand the quotation that the wrath of God hung over Adam and eventually fell upon Christ?

- That Adam’s own choice changed Adam and put Him outside the design protocol God constructed life to operate upon. God respects the free choices of His creatures and without some actual change in mankind man would reap what He had chosen, complete and total separation from God. But Christ, chose to take Adam’s condition, i.e. place, and cured the condition, thus restoring humanity back to God’s ideal. At the Cross God surrendered Christ, let Him go, to the free choice Christ made, to go through that awful experience of destroying the infection of fear and selfishness, aka sin.

He became a refuge for man, and although man was indeed a criminal, deserving the wrath of God, yet he could by faith in Christ run into the refuge provided and be safe. In the midst of death there was life if man chose to accept it. {RH, February

- Why could God’s forgiveness alone, personal pardon in Eden not save Adam? Because pardon doesn’t fix what is broken. Christ came to fix mankind, to actual heal, transform and renew humanity.
- Thus, Christ took our terminal condition and at the Cross the Father let Christ go to reap what Christ had chosen – which was what? To save us!
- When reading difficult, dark speech language like the two earlier quotes, do we bring other references from the same author to bear to give further insight to potential meaning, like this one:

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. {1SM 235.2}

- When we bring it all together, what emerges? That Adam and Eve deviated from God’s design and stood outside the “law”, which is the design parameters for life. This is a terminal condition. They stood condemned, by their condition, and because God is a God of truth, He truthfully acknowledges, or judges their condition to be terminal. But His judgment doesn’t cause it to be such.

- God did not want humanity to die from their terminal condition, thus Christ committed Himself to become human for the purpose of reconciling humanity back to God. What did this require? To fix the deviation in God's design. To restore humanity back into harmony with God. God was not changed by sin, mankind was, thus Christ died to heal the human race, not to assuage the anger and wrath of God.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, "God established..." thoughts?

Is the paragraph talking about the sacrifices done by the patriarchs or since Sinai? It appears Sinai since it talks about all the types of sacrifices one could bring.

Do you agree with their conclusion that God set this up so believers could enter into close relationship with Him?

Does this mean that without these sacrifices believers could not enter into close relationship with Him?

Then, could believers enter into close relationship with God without animal sacrifices?

Then, what was the purpose of the sacrifices of animals? Was it designed to BE the way into relationship with God or to TEACH the way into close relationship with God?

Too often through human history God gives teaching tools to teach a greater reality, and people mistakenly think the teaching tool is the reality.

Imagine using mirror as an analogy of looking into God's law to see the defects in one's character – but then people mistake the teaching tool for the reality and believe mirrors are necessary to see the defects of sin. So people build churches and houses and sanctuaries and worship centers with lots of mirrors. We create mirrors in the shape of crosses, ensure people carry them with them everywhere. We institute a mirror service where we all pull out a mirror and looks into them. We have a mirror moment before major tests and sporting events. Mirrors become holy relics passed down from generation to generation. We aren't allowed to place other objects on top of the mirror. Only sacred water can be used to clean the mirrors.

Do you see a problem with this?

Thus, the sacrifices, which were only to teach the way back into close relationship with God, became misunderstood as the means to a close relationship with God. And people have taken the teaching tool and extrapolated false ideas about God and the heavenly sanctuary.

Christ is the means, the way, the truth and the life. It is through Christ that we enter into close relationship with God.

TUESDAY

Abraham and Isaac at Mt Moriah – thoughts or questions about this?

Why did God instruct Abraham to do this?

An explanation is offered in the lesson, read second paragraph, “It was to impress...” thoughts?

Did Abraham’s behavior demonstrate accurately the behavior of God toward Jesus?

Did God doubt and need to have His faith tested?

Did God use His power to kill Jesus?

No! When one accepts the imposed law construct, then one misunderstands this entire account and believes it is a mini crucifixion and extrapolates falsely that God killed Jesus. But they fail to actually apply what happened. First, Abraham did NOT kill Isaac. So even, if one does, incorrectly, try to extrapolate the lesson to God and Jesus, then one must conclude that God did NOT kill Jesus, but that is not what they do.

This exercise was NOT to teach what God did to Jesus but to teach Abraham something about God’s heart and willingness to sacrifice to save us and strengthen Abraham’s faith in God.

When Jesus said that Abraham longed to see his day and saw it, he was referring to Mt Moriah. What did Abraham see there?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “In a passage...” thoughts?

How do you understand this?

If a person was dying of renal failure and needed a kidney transplant could one say, the laws of health demand it. Thus the donor is meeting “legal” requirements, where “legal” refers to the laws of health? But would using such language help us understand or hinder our understanding?

This is the problem with legal language, if one has clear comprehension of God’s law, as the protocols upon which life is built, then legal language can be used, but far too often the language is misunderstood and instead darkens the mind and misrepresents God because people falsely conclude God’s law is imposed like human law.

If we have imposed law constructs then the blood (life) becomes legal payment, rather than healing solution. People teach ideas that the blood of Jesus, instead of cleansing from sin, is taught to contaminate with sin. Have you ever heard the blood of Jesus being taught to contaminate?

The ransom concept is also misunderstood in the imposed model to be a legal price paid to free us from our legal condemnation etc.

But, what is the function of a ransom? To free one held in captivity or bondage.

And what holds us in bondage? Lies we believe and our own terminal condition.

Thus what is the ransom that frees us from this bondage?

- The truth about God that destroys lies AND
- A perfect human nature achieved singly by Christ
- The sanctuary service depicted this in many places. The blood is symbolic of the truth about God and the perfect nature that is applied throughout thus cleansing all it comes in contact with. Not contaminating it.
- The animal, representative of Christ, when the sins were confessed, symbolizes Christ taking our terminal condition. The animal was slain, and the fat of the inner organs were cut away and burned. This symbolizes the work Jesus did at the Cross of destroying the infection of sin, which tempts us to act selfishly. Some might say the carnal nature. And the rent veil also symbolizes the destruction of lies and the fallen nature, which opens the way back to God.

To whom is the ransom “paid”?

In other words, who needs the truth and the new nature to set them free? We do. Christ did this for us! The Father didn’t need the truth presented to Him and the Father doesn’t need a new nature developed for Him.

This idea of ransom being paid to God or the law is a lie, based on a false law construct which came out of Imperial Rome and has infected the church and actually obstructs God’s plan to heal and restore us. Our minds need cleansing!

THURSDAY

First paragraph, “Though after Christ’s...” thoughts? Why was there no more need for animal sacrifices?

What was the need before Christ’s death? If the need was to teach something, then why is that need gone? Because the system was corrupted to teach lies about God and obstruct the truth and God didn’t want us falling back into that corruption.

Sadly, many have done just that by the way the OT sacrificial system is taught, as a system of legal payments, again misrepresenting God.

What teaching tools has God given us to help us learn in the aftermath of Christ’s death?

Communion – what do we learn from these symbols? Can it be misunderstood and actually cause misunderstanding about God? How?

Are we cleansed by the wafer or the wine? What is its purpose?

Other lessons?

Baptism, are we cleansed by water baptism? Or is it a teaching tool a symbol to teach the real cleansing of our hearts and minds being immersed by the Holy Spirit?

Others?

What does it mean to be a living sacrifice? We present ourselves to God to be cleansed, healed, restored, to be made holy and renewed in Godliness.

What does this look like?

We say no to selfishness and yes to love for God and others. We are willing to sacrifice self to promote the kingdom of God.

What can we do to cooperate with this?

What defiles the soul?

- Lies about God
- Deviations from God's design, such as selfishness

FRIDAY

Read question 1 and discuss

Read and discuss question 2

The Sanctuary Lesson 4 4Q 2013

Lessons from the Sanctuary

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “The sanctuary...” thoughts?

Which direction should we go to direct the current of our study, use the OT sanctuary to understand the gospel, or use the gospel of Jesus to understand the sanctuary?

Which is better, to study a shadow to understand the object casting the shadow, or to study the object to understand its shadow?

One of the major problems with most OT theology and sanctuary teaching is that they study the shadow to try to understand Christ and His mission and ministry, rather than studying Christ to understand the OT sanctuary.

This is from a book called Christ’s Object Lessons, published in 1900, yet this idea is still not utilized to understand the sanctuary:

The significance of the Jewish economy is not yet fully comprehended. Truths vast and profound are shadowed forth in its rites and symbols. The gospel is the key that unlocks its mysteries. Through a knowledge of the plan of redemption, its truths are opened to the understanding. Far more than we do, it is our privilege to understand these wonderful themes. We are to comprehend the deep things of God. (133)

Thoughts?

Several points if you think this is right:

- At the time Christ’s Object Lessons was written (1900) the significance of the sanctuary service was not fully comprehended. Meaning – much of what was written before that was limited, partial, incomplete and perhaps misunderstood. Yet, we cling to descriptions from more than a century ago as if it is the clearest and final understanding of the sanctuary symbolism.
- The gospel is the key. We must first have a right understanding of the gospel to understand the symbols. If we misunderstand the gospel as paying legal penalty, we will necessarily misunderstand the sanctuary. The gospel, as we discussed last week is the Good News about God’s character as revealed in Christ. Only those who rightly understand the gospel will uncover the meaning of the sanctuary symbols. 2Cor 4:4-6
- We have much more to learn, truth is progressive. We need to stop resting complacent on ideas hundreds of years old and instead move forward in our understanding.

Thoughts?

In the lesson is a little diagram of the sanctuary. I thought this week we could explore some of the symbols and meaning of this system and how it was designed to teach the true gospel.

First, some general principles we will use to decode the symbols:

- The OT Sanctuary was a teaching tool. Everything in it was a symbol of something else. Not one element was to be taken literal. It was not to be taken concretely, but translated into its ultimate reality. Just as letters are symbols that make up words which represent realities, i.e TREE is not a tree, but is a symbolic representation of a tree. So too, all the symbols of the sanctuary represent other realities. It is these realities we seek.
- Some of the symbols may have more than one meaning, just like words can have more than one meaning, (lamp represents living and written Word)
- Some realities are represented by more than one symbol, just like objects can have more than one name. (Lamb and High Priest represent Jesus etc. daily priests and the vessels that carried the blood represent the converted working with God to share the gospel)

So let's examine the meaning of the various elements

THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL:

- The children of Israel represented what? The entire human race. The twelve tribes represent peoples from all nations, tribes and kindreds.
- The came out of Egypt, and Egypt represented what? The sinful world
- Pharaoh represented who? Satan
- Moses represented who? Jesus
 - The ark Moses was found in represented what? Jesus. Moses was to be drowned in the Nile, as all baby boys were (Ex 1:22). But the ark preserved Moses, representing Jesus the ark for the human race that saves the race from drowning in sin.
 - Moses also, was taken into the house of Pharaoh and raised there. Jesus came to earth and was raised in the domain of the prince of this world.
 - Moses went to the wilderness to overcome his self-dependence and came back to deliver the people from bondage. Jesus went into the wilderness to be tempted by Satan and overcome temptations to act in self-interest and returned to deliver the people from sin. As Jesus said:
The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, Because he anointed me to preach good tidings to the poor: He hath sent me to proclaim release to the captives, And recovering of sight to the blind, To set at liberty them that are bruised, proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord. (Luke 4:17-19)
- They marched through the Red Sea – the waters of the Red Sea represent the grave. The cloud that hovered over them represented the Holy Spirit. Moses represents Christ holding the grave open. Their going through represented baptism, death to the old life, leaving the world of sin (Egypt) and rising from the water in new life. Thus the children of Israel were baptized when they when through the Red Sea.(1Cor10:2) Moses held up his hands represents Christ interceding in our behalf. The two assistants holding up Moses hands represents Christ's human agents on earth spreading the gospel, living lives of love and truth, cooperating with God to restrain and keep open the way of salvation.

- Pharaoh's army destroyed in the sea represents Satan's agents who die as a result of unrestrained and unremedied sin, when God withdraws His protective hand and allows the natural results to take its course.
- The people marched in order through the Red sea and on their journey in the wilderness: Judah the first tribe, Dan the last.
 - Judah is the tribe from which kings came, and from which Jesus descended, and thus leads Israel. Dan means God is judge and represents the final end when God's judgment is realized and sin is eradicated.
 - This also represents Jesus who is the King of kings and Lord of lords at the head of humanity and the righteous judge, as all judgment was placed in His hands, at the end of humanity. He is thus the beginning and the end, the alpha and omega, the first and the last. All graphically depicted in the symbolic way this drama is carried out.
- Then in construction of the sanctuary, God chose Bezaleel from the tribe of Judah and Oholiab from the tribe of Dan to be the two lead craftsmen to make the sanctuary and its items. Bazaleel from Judah and Oholiab from Dan, represent Christ, the first and the last, the King and the Judge, the Beginning and the End, the one who branched out from his place in heaven to build His sanctuary.
 - Tell him this is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the LORD.¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the LORD, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.' Zech 6:12,13
- The tribes camped around the sanctuary on three tribes on each of the four sides with the Levites closest as a connecting link between the people and the other tribes.
 - This represents the world, the Levites represent those who have accepted salvation and are on God's team working to bring the gospel of God's kingdom to the rest of the world. The other twelve tribes represent the nations, tribes, and kindreds of the world, who will ultimately be saved from all parts of the world.
 - The 12 Tribes and The Outer Court represent the world
Revelation 7:4 144,000 represent the saved from the 12 Tribes and Revelation 21:12 New Jerusalem 12 gates names of the 12 tribes

MOSES

Represents Christ prior to His incarnation (Moses goes into God's presents to speak with Him and from Moses comes all the instructions for the sanctuary. Represents Christ working with the Father in heaven to formulate and carry out the plan of salvation prior to Christ's incarnation.)

THE LAMB

Represents Christ in His human incarnation on this earth

- JN 1:29 The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and said, "Look, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!"

THE HIGH PRIEST

- represents Christ after his resurrection and ascension (Heb 4:14 “Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has gone through the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess.”)
- Christ didn’t become High Priest until after His incarnation, death and resurrection:
 - For this reason he had to be made like his brothers in every way, in order that he might become a merciful and faithful high priest in service to God, and that he might make atonement for the sins of the people. Because he himself suffered when he was tempted, he is able to help those who are being tempted. Hebrews 2:17,18

In order to understand the meaning of the symbols, we have to determine the general lesson being taught. Are we viewing this through the penal, imposed law model or the natural healing model? What is the key? The gospel, which is what? Misunderstand the gospel and misunderstand the symbols.

What, in general, is the lesson that the sanctuary is to teach? Reconciliation with God. God’s plan to save humanity from sin.

What is the problem that needs resolving? Is the problem of sin a problem or defect in God or God’s law? Or is the problem/defect in humanity?

So, when we interpret these symbols are we interpreting them in ways that suggest something is being done to God and/or His law, or that something is being done to heal and restore man?

THE COURT

- Contains the Brazen altar and the laver both made out of bronze.
- THE BRAZEN ALTAR
what does it symbolize?
 - The altar was constructed out of Shittam wood, which was symbolic of corruptible humanity, overlaid with bronze, symbolic of our defective condition being judged or diagnosed as such.
 - Thus the bronze altar represents the starting point in salvation process. Step one of the 12 steps – “we admit that we are powerless over alcohol and our lives have become unmanageable.” The first step in any healing process is admitting we have something wrong. It is the place of “judgment” or diagnosis, where we acknowledge something is wrong and we are powerless to cure ourselves and thus are in need of an external remedy or Savior. This is the first step, where we all must start, fall down and acknowledge our condition, our sinfulness, and our need of a Savior. The Bronze altar, step one in the salvation/healing process.
 - When an animal was slain the inner fat, the fat around the organs, was removed and burned on the brazen altar, representing the work of Christ in taking our sinful condition upon Himself and destroying the infection of fear and selfishness at the Cross when He was tempted to save self, but didn’t give in to those temptations. He cleansed the inner man.

- The blood represents the perfect character of Christ and the truth about God. The blood was poured out at the base of the altar and applied to the horns. This represents a complete cleansing of the heart and renewal in the truth about God as the foundation of salvation or healing, and then the character transformation as the blood is applied to the horns. Our thoughts being brought into harmony with His etc.
 - "I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink." John 6:53-55
 - "For the life of a creature is in the blood, and I have given it to you to make atonement for yourselves on the altar; it is the blood that makes atonement for one's life." Leviticus 17:11
 - The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb. {COL 102.3}
 - In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life." Fundamentals of Christian Education 378.1
- THE HORNS
represent the power of sin in our lives, the defects of character that are in need of removal and transformation by the work of God through Christ in our lives.
 - "To the arrogant I say, 'Boast no more,' and to the wicked, 'Do not lift up your horns. Do not lift your horns against heaven; do not speak with outstretched neck.' "Ps 75:4,5
 - The sin offering for the non-priest Jew would have the blood placed on the horns of the brazen altar, in addition to being poured out at the base. Representing what? The conversion of the life and the removal of character defects and renewal in Christlike character
- THE FIRE
God the HS, on altar before blood applied the working of HS to bring conviction and draw to conversion, and after blood applied to bring transformation, consuming of the old man and regenerating the new.
 - Gen 3:15 And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers;
 - Luke 24:32 They asked each other, "Were not our hearts burning within us while he talked with us on the road and opened the Scriptures to us?"
 - Acts 2:3,4 They saw what seemed to be tongues of fire that separated and came to rest on each of them. All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them.
- THE LAVER:
The washing of the HS and Truth
 - Only the Priests and High Priest washed in the laver
 - The laver was made out of solid bronze with no wood and filled with water. The water is symbolic of God the Holy Spirit, which fills the laver. The laver represents the Word of God. The laver was constructed out of the mirrors the women brought out of Egypt (Ex 38:8). This aptly represents the purpose of God's Word to expose our defects and diagnose our condition. (James 1:22-25)

Titus 3:4-7 "But when the kindness and love of God our Savior appeared, he saved us, not because of righteous things we had done, but because of his mercy. He saved us through the washing of rebirth and renewal by the Holy Spirit, whom he poured out on us generously through Jesus Christ our Savior, so that, having been justified by his grace, we might become heirs having the hope of eternal life."

Individual sacrifice

Eph 5:25-27 "Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her to make her holy, cleansing her by the washing with water through the word, and to present her to himself as a radiant church, without stain or wrinkle or any other blemish, but holy and blameless." Corporate sacrifice

We find this theme of washing with the word of God to cleanse our characters carried over by Jesus in the foot washing service.

- Our feet symbolize our journey through life
 - Naked feet symbolize revealing truthfully our life journey to our brothers and sisters in Christ
 - Washing by another symbolizes others, directed by the Holy Spirit, using God's Word, methods and principles to help us clean up our journey, removing the impure practices from our lives and to experience cleansing of character
 - Washing other's feet reveals our willingness to help others who reveal their life journey and share how they have gotten themselves dirty with sin, clean up their lives and characters by the application of Gods' Word, methods and principles
- THE VESSELS THAT CARRIED THE BLOOD FROM SACRIFICE TO APPLICATION POINT:
Represent the believers who take the truth about God and the character of Christ, in action, deed, the way they live and the gospel preached to others.
 - Acts 9:15 But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel:"
 - 2Tim 2:21 But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honour, and some to dishonour. 21 If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work.
- THE DAILY PRIEST
 - The priesthood of believers
 - JN 20:21 Again Jesus said, "Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you."
 - 1PE 2:5 you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.

- WHITE ROBES:

- The character of Christ reproduced within the believer
- Now Joshua was dressed in filthy clothes as he stood before the angel. The angel said to those who were standing before him, "Take off his filthy clothes." Then he said to Joshua, "See, I have taken away your sin, and I will put rich garments on you." Then I said, "Put a clean turban on his head." So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him, while the angel of the LORD stood by. (Zech 3:3-5)
- Then one of the elders asked me, "These in white robes--who are they, and where did they come from?" And he said, "These are they who have come out of the great tribulation; they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. (Rev 7:13,14)
- Only the covering which Christ Himself has provided can make us [ready] to appear in God's presence. This covering, the robe of His own righteousness, Christ will put upon every repenting, believing soul...

This robe, woven in the loom of heaven, has in it not one thread of human devising. Christ in His humanity wrought out a perfect character, and this character He offers to impart to us. "All our righteousness are as filthy rags." Isa. 64:6. Everything that we of ourselves can do is defiled by sin. But the Son of God "was manifested to take away our sins; and in Him is no sin." ... By His perfect obedience He has made it possible for every human being to obey God's commandments. When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 3:11.4}

THE COVERINGS OF THE SANCTUARY

- ANGELS EMBROIDERED ON THE FIRST COVERING/LAYER
the onlooking universe who are watching things both in heaven and on earth as well as ministering to us on earth (this first layer of the Tabernacle had 10 curtain panels, two sets of 5, woven from white linen thread, 1/3 dyed crimson and 1/3 dyed royal blue. The two sets were joined together with 50 gold clasps).
 - MT 18:10 "See that you do not look down on one of these little ones. For I tell you that their angels in heaven always see the face of my Father in heaven.
 - HEB 1:14 Are not all angels ministering spirits sent to serve those who will inherit salvation?
- GOATS HAIR CURTAIN
 - Symbolic of human sinfulness, fallen human nature
 - Goats were often symbols of deception (Rebekah used a goat to deceive Isaac. David's wife Michal used goat's hair pillows to deceive Saul's messengers. In the judgment metaphor the wicked are describes as goats.)

- Made of eleven curtain panels sewed together into two groupings, one of six and one of five, joined together with 50 bronze clasps (hooks and rings or similar).
- The one of six (six is the number of fallen man) had the front panel folded lengthwise (doubled in the bible) that hung over the opening to be seen from the court – symbolic of our sinful nature in constant and daily need of Christ’s healing presence. It is to remind us that on this earth we are still in our fallen “tent” and in daily need of the renewing of God’s grace.
- The one of five panels (five is the number of grace) is symbolic of Christ who took our fallen condition upon Himself in order to cure and overcome. In eleven instances goats were used as sin offerings, thus symbolizing Christ taking our sinful condition upon Himself to cure it.
- The combination of the five curtain panels (grace) and the six curtain panels (man) make eleven which is symbolic of the chaos of sin overcome by the grace of God through Christ
- RAMS SKIN DYED RED
 - Rams were the animals offered to consecrate the priesthood
 - Jesus is of course our High Priest who brings the healing solution.
 - The Rams skins were died red, symbolic of the perfect life of Christ, which He surrendered to remedy our sin condition. This red rams skin covered the goats hair curtain, symbolic of Christ’s righteousness which will become our character and overwrite our sinfulness, when He writes His law on our hearts and minds
- BADGER OR DUGON (SEA MANATEE) SKIN

(the meaning of the Hebrew word is obscure as badgers were uncommon in the Sinai desert, but manatees were plentiful in the Red Sea)

 - A tough, durable, impenetrable leather covering which withstood all that nature could throw against it, heat of the sun, rain, storms. Thus representative of Christ our righteousness and our shield of faith which withstands the attacks of the enemy. No matter what the prince of this world throws at Christ He withstood it, and no matter what Satan throws at us, when we are surrendered to Christ His victory will sustain us.

THE BOARDS IN THE SANCTUARY

- Consider the symbolism and lesson: to make boards for the sanctuary, trees had to be cut down, severed from their roots in the earth and stripped of all their branches, i.e. earthly fruits. The board represent the saved who become part of God’s sanctuary, the building blocks of it. They must be cut away from their roots in the sinfulness of this world, and stop producing fruits of sin.
- The boards, representing the believers who compose the sanctuary, are wood, earthly, but covered in gold symbolizing being purified by Christ. We must be purified by Christ, have our roots in this world severed, and cut away our self-righteousness then be renewed in Christ’s perfect character, in order to dwell in the house of the Lord forever.
- There were 10 boards on the north and south sides of the sanctuary, symbolic of completion. On the east end were six boards, with two corner boards that partially overlapped the first and last. Six symbolic of man, two symbolic of unity with Christ, equals eight, symbolic of New Beginning. Thus, man (6) when united in Christ (2) has a new beginning (8).

- The boards were to stand upright, which is symbolic of those renewed in Christ to stand upright for God's kingdom.
- Each soldier when registered had to give a half shekel of silver to the temple (regardless of whether the soldier was rich or poor). Silver is symbolic of at-one-ment. Being united back with God.
- It took 3,000 shekels to make one talent (about 120 pounds, silver having the same density/weight as lead), which was the weight of one socket (foundation). Each board stood upon two sockets, equivalent to the atonement money of 12,000 soldiers. Symbolically, that atonement, bringing us together again and uniting us to God cost God greatly. And we are only able to stand upright as we are anchored in what Christ has done for us.
- The boards were then held together with five poles (probably about 3 to 4 inches in diameter) made of the same acacia tree wood as the boards and covered in gold, symbolic of Christ's dual nature, human/divine. The five poles symbolized grace.
- Four poles went through solid gold rings, one per pole per board, attached to the outside of the boards. The middle pole did not. It went through holes bored into the middle of the boards pinning them all together from one end to the other, a fitting representation of "Christ in you the hope of glory."

THE HOLY PLACE

Represents the Church:

- The Door represents Christ our door, our gate, the way back into unity with the Father
- Through the door, the light of the lamp shone out into the courtyard. This represents Christ the light which comes from Christ and shines out from the church into the world. Through Christ, shines the light of truth which lightens all men, shining out into the world.
- Five pillars overlaid with gold and with gold crowns on the top, represent grace (the number five) of God through Christ. The pillars of wood, covered in gold crowned with gold, represent Christ, the means of bringing God's grace and healing solution.
- The curtain contained the same colors as the curtain to the Most Holy Place, significant in that what obstructed the view of God was similar in general appearance to Christ who is the door into God's presence. The counterfeit closely approximates the genuine. Lucifer in heaven a covering Cherub claimed equality with Christ.
- But notice that the door to the church (Holy Place), was open through Christ, but the way to ultimate unity with God was obstructed until Christ's death. Christ was NOT the obstruction to God, but was the new and living way through the obstruction. The obstruction was Satan's lies and our carnal nature. Christ destroyed both at the Cross.

THE LAMPSTAND

the Word of God – the written and living Word

- PS 119:105 "Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path."
- The central stand represents Christ made from gold
- There were 7 lamps but six branches this represents the church, the six branches humans (six the number of a man) united with Christ the central stand makes seven lamps, the number of perfection.

- The bowl on the lampstand – the heart of the believer where the Word and Spirit burn within recreating Godlike character and the heavenly light as a witness for God – the bowl connect to the lamp is like branch connected to the vine
- The almonds carved on the lampstand represent the fruit of the Spirit which are manifest in the church
- The High Priest and only the High Priest trimmed the wicks each morning and evening, symbolizing Christ working in our hearts to trim away defects of character so we can shine more brightly for Him
 - MT 5:14 "You are the light of the world. A city on a hill cannot be hidden. 15 Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on its stand, and it gives light to everyone in the house. 16 In the same way, let your light shine before men, that they may see your good deeds and praise your Father in heaven.
 - MT 25:7 "Then all the virgins woke up and trimmed their lamps. 8 The foolish ones said to the wise, 'Give us some of your oil; our lamps are going out.'

THE OIL

the Spirit of God

- 1SA 16:13 So Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the presence of his brothers, and from that day on the Spirit of the LORD came upon David in power. Samuel then went to Ramah.
- Christ was anointed with the HS at the beginning of His ministry

THE TABLE

represents Christ

- Made of wood, covered in gold, represents Jesus our incarnate God, who took humanity (wood) upon Himself and perfected it (gold) and from who we receive all spiritual nurturance (bread)
- The table had a border or crown on it, measured a handsbreadth high. The only measure in the sanctuary that wasn't in cubits. It surrounded the 12 loaves, which represents God's protective hand about His remedy for His people.

THE 12 LOAVES OF SHOW BREAD

(the bread of the presence) represent Christ – the bread of life, the truth of God as revealed in Christ in sufficient quantities for the entire worldwide church

- John 6:35 "Then Jesus declared, "I am the bread of life. He who comes to me will never go hungry, and he who believes in me will never be thirsty."
- The loaves were made out of fine flour, with no lumps, and no leaven, representing the purity of Christ without sin
- The Hebrew for cakes challah according to Strong's is usually a cake that is punctured or perforated, symbolic of Christ's body which was pierced for us.
- Incense was placed on top of the two stacks of loaves and every Sabbath the priests would join with the High Priest who would burn the incense on the golden altar and then eat the loaves.

Which symbolizes what? Believers coming together on Sabbath, joining with their High Priest Jesus, offering prayers and praise to God (incense) and partaking of the Word (bread)

THE WINE

The truth about Christ which continues to provide the church and individual believers with spiritual nurturance

- Matt 26:-29 “Then he took the cup, gave thanks and offered it to them, saying, "Drink from it, all of you. This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins. I tell you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on until that day when I drink it anew with you in my Father's kingdom."

THE GOLDEN ALTAR

Represents the converted heart which is a member of the body of Christ and growing in grace, because prayers are offered from the converted, not unconverted:

- PS 141:2 May my prayer be set before you like incense; may the lifting up of my hands be like the evening sacrifice.
- Rev 5:8 And when he had taken it, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb. Each one had a harp and they were holding golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints.

- INCENSE

Christlike character – burned by High Priest

- 2CO 2:14 But thanks be to God, who always leads us in triumphal procession in Christ and through us spreads everywhere the fragrance of the knowledge of him. 15 For we are to God the aroma of Christ among those who are being saved and those who are perishing.
- But to pray in Christ's name means much. It means that we are to accept His character, manifest His spirit, and work His works. {DA 668.2}

- FIRE

the HS working within the heart to enlighten, transform, heal, ennoble

- MT 3:11 "I baptize you with water for repentance. But after me will come one who is more powerful than I, whose sandals I am not fit to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire.

- HORNS

The remnants and vestigial defects of character and remaining elements of selfishness and scars from sin which are being cleansed and healed and purified by the continual partaking and application of Jesus

- The horns of the golden altar are smaller than the Brazen, symbolizing the growth in righteousness and transformation of character.
- When priests offered sin offerings the blood was placed on the horns of the golden altar, not brazen altar, symbolizing the continual need for Christ's transforming power in the hearts/minds of believers

- GOLDEN CROWN

Represents the crown of victory in Christ

- No crown on the brazen altar as it represents the unconverted heart

THE VEIL WITH EMBROIDERED ANGELS

Divided the Holy from Most Holy, obstructing the view of the Most Holy. This symbolizes the lies of Satan which separate us from God, and our carnal nature which Christ assumed and destroyed.

- 2 Cor 2:3,4 And even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled to those who are perishing. 4 The god of this age has blinded the minds of unbelievers, so that they cannot see the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God.
- Heb 2:14, John 17:3, Heb 10:20

MOST HOLY PLACE

Heaven and the believer in full unity and oneness with God

- THE ARK

The heart of the believer who has God's law written in the heart - Christlike character reproduced within, the living bread of heaven dwelling with and who through God's grace is a branch plucked from the fire through the victory and healing of Jesus Christ - it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.

- (HEB 8:10 "This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the Lord. I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people.")

And the order of items placed in the ark - manna, then Law, then rod, we partake of Christ (manna) experience conversion and in trust open the heart, he writes His law upon the heart and mind, and we are transformed from being dead in sin to alive in Christ and bring forth fruits of righteousness (Aaron's rod that budded)

- SHIKINAH

God the Father who lives in unapproachable light

- THE MANNA

- Christ the bread of life - the pure heavenly truth without any remaining distortions in our minds
- John 6:48-51 "I am the bread of life. Your forefathers ate the manna in the desert, yet they died. But here is the bread that comes down from heaven, which a man may eat and not die. I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. This bread is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world."

- THE 10 COMMANDMENTS

- Christ the true source of the Law of Love
- MT 5:17 "Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but to fulfill them.

- AARON'S ROD

- Christ, who took upon Himself our dead, defective humanity and by combining it with His divinity overcame the infection of selfishness which brings death and out of this dead humanity that He accepted from Adam He brings forth new life
- THE LID (MERCY SEAT)
Christ – hilistereon the place and means of reconciliation –the one who through all things in the universe hold together:
 - The lid was made out of solid gold, fit representation of Christ’s perfect character. It also was not given any dimensions. This means it is boundless. Christ our Savior and His grace, mercy, love, healing power is boundless.
 - Romans 3:25 “God presented him as a sacrifice of atonement, through faith in his blood. He did this to demonstrate his justice, because in his forbearance he had left the sins committed beforehand unpunished”
 - Eph 1:9, 10 “And he made known to us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he purposed in Christ, 10 to be put into effect when the times will have reached their fulfillment--to bring all things in heaven and on earth together under one head, even Christ.”

READ THE MEANING

Let’s examine the differences between the sin offerings for Priests and Non-priest Jews.

NON-PRIEST

- Confess on head of animal – sin happens in mind
- Sinner cuts the throat – once lies about God believed separate from source of life – death ensues
- Blood – represents the life, love, character of God
- Carried by priest in vessels – both represent believers sharing the truth
- The blood poured around brazen altar and applied to horns – the truth and character of Christ applied entirely to the uncovered heart
- The Brazen altar with blood applied – the newly converted heart/babe in Christ
- The washing of the organs – the cleansing of the mind from lies by the truth of God’s Word enlightened by the Holy Spirit
- Separating the fat the destruction of the carnal nature
- The burning of the organs the renewal of mind, recreation within, the elimination of old habits, conditioned responses etc.
- The Lamb’s meat eaten by the daily priests – the internalization of Christ’s character, truths, principles methods etc. and growth in spiritual strength as we minister the truth to others

PRIEST

- Confess on head of animal – sin happens in mind
- Sinner cuts the throat – once lies about God believed separate from source of life – death ensues
- Blood – represents the life, love, character of God

- Carried by priest in vessels – both represent believers
- Sprinkled before veil – removes the lies told by the believer, heals the church
- Placed on horns of golden altar – removes and heals residual defects of character
- Pour remainder at base of brazen – witness to the world of the grace of God
- Remove fat and burn, symbolic of destruction of carnal nature achieved by Christ
- Wash and burn organs – witness to the victory achieved by Christ over sin

SUNDAY

Read last paragraph, “Another purpose...” Thoughts?

Was this to teach about how God can stand to be near us, or how we can be healed to be near Him?

The sanctuary came down and was amongst them. Jesus came down from heaven and dwelt amongst us. He did this to provide the way and means of restoration to God. It wasn't to enable God to dwell with us, it was to enable us to dwell with God.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Exodus 40:9,10 shows us that...” thoughts?

Do you agree? I guess it depends on what we are separating from?

Holiness can mean separate and unique from the sinful world, but on the other side of that coin, it also means, unity and likeness to God. Jesus prayed that we would be one with Him and the Father, and all things are going to be brought together under one head, Jesus.

So, holiness separates from the world, but unites with God.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “On top of the ark...” thoughts?

The Greek is hilisteron, which means lid or cover, to the ark. Luther translated it as Gnadenstuhl, German for Mercy Seat, and it was translated by Tyndale into English as mercy seat.

But it really means, Jesus is the place and means of reconciliation with God.

Here is my paraphrase of Romans 3:21-25:

But now God has revealed, a healthy state of being – a character that is right and perfect in every way, that did not come from the written code, but is exactly what the Scriptures and the 10 Commandments were pointing your minds toward.²² This perfect state of being comes from Christ and is created within us by God when we trust him. Our trust in him is established by the evidence given through Jesus Christ of his supreme trustworthiness. There is no difference amongst any ethnic group, ²³ for all humanity is infected with the same disease of distrust, fear and selfishness, and are deformed in character and fall far short of God's glorious ideal for mankind. ²⁴ Yet all, who are willing, are healed freely by God's gracious remedy that has been provided by Jesus Christ. ²⁵ God presented Jesus as the way and means of restoration. Now, through trust established by the evidence of God's character revealed when Christ died, we may partake of the remedy procured by Christ. God did this to demonstrate he is right and good, because in his forbearance he suspended, for a time, the ultimate consequence of being out of harmony with how he designed life to exist and has been falsely accused of being unfair. ²⁶ So, he did it to demonstrate how right and good he is at the present time, so he would be seen as being right when he heals those who trust in Jesus.

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "At the dedication..." thoughts?

What about a place for thanksgiving, rejoicing, dedication, prayer, communion with God, reconciliation, triumph, victory, renewal...?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss question 1

Lesson 5 Atonement: Purification Offering.

SABBATH

“The sacrificial system is, probably, the best known part of the sanctuary service because it’s the part that points directly to Christ’s sacrifice. The blood of the animal that died for the sinner becomes a symbol for the blood of Christ, who died for us.”

Is that really what the blood of the animal symbolizes?

SUNDAY

“As anyone who knows the Lord can testify, sin separates us from God. The good news is that the Lord has put in place a system to heal the breach caused by sin and to bring us back to Him. At the center of this system is, of course, the sacrifice.”

Is the death of so many animals really good news? See Ps. 51: 7, Isa. 1: 11-18, Hosea 14:2.

The lesson asks, “Is God justified in forgiving the sinner? After all, is not the sinner unrighteous and, therefore, worthy to be condemned? [see Deut. 25:1].”

This is the sort of mentality that develops when we view the OT sanctuary system through the imposed law lens, instead of through the example of Jesus of Nazareth. The lesson chooses to further explain via an example of a dishonest man getting a dishonest woman to lie about one of her sons murdering the other one, and states that she gives King David a pass, because she and her family will take all of the blame of acquitting the one son of murder.

But wait, it gets better: “Similarly, God takes over the guilt of sinners in order to declare them righteous. For us to be forgiven, God Himself must bear our punishment. This is the legal reason why Christ had to die if we were to be saved.”

I don’t know where to begin with this statement. First, God HEALS the sinner in order to declare them righteous, otherwise God would be a liar. Second, God is forgiveness, so we default as forgiven. Forgiven does NOT equal saved. God did not have to bear our punishment in order for us to be forgiven. He did have to die in order for our salvation, however, and it has NOTHING to do with the legal profession. He died in order to reveal His character, Satan’s character, and our characters, and to provide a means for healing us, and restoring us back to “atonement” with Himself.

But forgiveness has a broader meaning than many suppose. When God gives the promise that He “will abundantly pardon,” He adds, as if the meaning of that promise exceeded all that we could comprehend: “My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways My ways, saith the Lord.

For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts.” Isaiah 55:7-9. God’s forgiveness is not merely a judicial act by which He sets us free from condemnation. It is not only forgiveness for sin, but reclaiming from sin. It is the outflow of redeeming love that transforms the heart. David had the true conception of forgiveness when he prayed, “Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.” Psalm 51:10. And again he says, “As far as the east is from the west, so far hath He removed our transgressions from us.” Psalm 103:12. TMB 114. [emphasis provided].

MONDAY

This one was so good, I had to include it in its entirety. My commentary is in italics.

“The goal of the offering was to remove sin and guilt from the sinner [the goal of the offering was to show the individual that sin separates from God – cutting the circulation of blood/life], to transfer responsibility to the sanctuary [to show that deviations from God’s natural Law lead to death], and to let the sinner leave forgiven and cleansed [sinner are already forgiven, but NOT healed]. (In extremely rare cases one could bring a certain amount of fine flour as a purification offering, and although this purification offering was bloodless, it was understood that “without shedding of blood there is no forgiveness [remission]” [Heb. 9:22, NASB]).

The ritual itself included the laying on of hands, the death of the animal, blood manipulation, the burning of fat, and the eating of the animal’s flesh. The sinner who brought the offering was granted forgiveness [because God IS forgiveness], but only after the blood ritual [could the sinner begin to experience God’s freely given forgiveness /“atonement”]

A crucial part of this process involved the laying on of hands (Lev. 1:4, 4:4, 16:21). This was done so that the offering “may be accepted for him to make atonement on his behalf” (Lev. 1:4, NASB). The offering applied only for the one who put his hands on the animal’s head. According to Leviticus 16:21, the laying on of hands would be accompanied by a confession of sin; this would acknowledge the transfer of sin from the sinner to the innocent animal [it would acknowledge that sin kills, not God].

The slaughter was, of course, basic to any animal offering. After the animal was killed, the spilled blood was used to make atonement on the altar (Lev. 17:11). Because the sins had been transferred to the animal by the laying on of hands, we should understand the death of the animal as a substitutionary death [only if we believe in a Satanic version of God. The lesson is: sin pays its own wage, not that God would substitute His only Son in order to appease His righteous indignation]. The animal died in the place of the sinner [the animal died because the sinner cut its throat – the lesson being that sin kills]. This may explain why the act of killing the animal had to be performed by the sinner, by the guilty one, and not by the priest.

Next time you are tempted to sin, envision Jesus dying on the cross and see yourself putting your hands on His head and confessing your sins over Him. How might this concept, played out in your mind, help you to understand just what it cost in order to be forgiven [seriously?]? How could this idea help you to resist succumbing to that temptation?

TUESDAY

“The sin of Judah is written with a pen of iron, and with the point of a diamond: it is graven upon the table of their heart, and upon the horns of your altars.” (Jer. 17:1).

This is from Tim’s notes from last week:

“The blood represents the perfect character of Christ and the truth about God. The blood was poured out at the base of the altar and applied to the horns. This represents a complete cleansing of the heart and renewal in the truth about God as the foundation of salvation or healing, and then the character transformation as the blood is applied to the horns. Our thoughts being brought into harmony with His etc.

- "I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink." John 6:53-55
- “For the life of a creature is in the blood, and I have given it to you to make atonement for yourselves on the altar; it is the blood that makes atonement for one's life.” Leviticus 17:11
- The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb. {COL 102.3}
- In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life.” Fundamentals of Christian Education 378.1
- THE HORNS represent the power of sin in our lives, the defects of character that are in need of removal and transformation by the work of God through Christ in our lives.
 - “To the arrogant I say, ‘Boast no more,’ and to the wicked, ‘Do not lift up your horns. Do not lift your horns against heaven; do not speak with outstretched neck.’ ”Ps 75:4,5
 - The sin offering for the non-priest Jew would have the blood placed on the horns of the brazen altar, in addition to being poured out at the base. Representing what? The conversion of the life and the removal of character defects and renewal in Christlike character.”

We see that two altars were used with horns on the corners of each. On the altar of burnt offering the horns were long and sharp, on the altar of incense the horns were shorter and blunted. We learned that the outer altar represents the unconverted heart/mind, and the inner altar represents the converted one, hence the shortening/dulling horns [representing the sinful nature diminishing in size/scope]. With this in mind, how do we understand the above text from Jeremiah, and, more to the point, how do we understand the lesson’s assertion that blood transfers sin to the sanctuary? If that were the case, wouldn’t the inner altar’s horns be longer/sharper? Which lens are we looking through?

Again from the lesson: “Finally, the burning of the fat on the altar indicated that everything about the purification offering belonged to God (Lev. 3:16).”

Thanks to the death of Jesus, symbolized by those sacrifices, our sin has been taken away from us, placed on Him, and transferred to the heavenly sanctuary. This is central to the [distorted] plan of salvation.

How does the sanctuary service help us to understand our utter dependence on God for forgiveness of our sins? What comfort does this truth bring you? At the same time, what important responsibilities follow? (See 1 Peter 1:22.)”

We learned last week that the fat burning symbolizes the complete eradication of sin in our lives through the healing power of the Holy Spirit. Think about the biblical language of “sweet savor / smell” of sacrifices. Have you ever smelled hair or fat burning? Is the smell appealing or revolting? How, then can it be referred to as fragrant? Also, has our sin been placed on Jesus?? or did he take on our sinful “nature” and provide a remedy to heal it?

Does the lesson’s interpretation of the sanctuary service comfort you?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson invites us to read Lev. 6:25-6, and Lev. 10: 16-18, and asks us “what crucial truth is revealed here?” Well, it depends on which lens we view the service doesn’t it? Did the priests actually “bear away” the sin[s] of the sinner/congregation, or was God trying to teach both the sinners and the priests something else? See John 6: 54, 56.

Yet again, from the lesson:

“How does the eating of the sacrifice contribute to the process of atonement [how indeed]? Eating was required only of those offerings in which blood did not enter the holy place; that is, the offerings of the leader and the commoner. The Bible explicitly said that by eating the sacrifice the priests would “bear away the guilt,” which would “make atonement” for the sinner. To carry the sinner’s guilt implies that the sinner now goes free [only from a penal substitution viewpoint].” From a healing substitution viewpoint, Jesus took on our terminal condition, and healed it. He now offers us the free remedy.

“The priest’s work of bearing another’s sin is exactly what Christ did for us. He died in our place. We conclude, then, that the priestly work at the earthly sanctuary typifies Christ’s work for us, because He has taken upon Himself the guilt [result, i.e. death] of our sins [sinful nature].”

THURSDAY

“In the Bible, Micah 7:18–20, with its emphasis on forgiveness, is immediately followed by Nahum 1:2-3, with its emphasis on judgment. This unfolds the two dimensions of God’s dealings with us: forgiving the repentant and punishing the wicked. Both sides belong to God. He is Savior and Judge. These two aspects of God’s character are complementary, not contrary. A compassionate God can also be a just God. Knowing this, we can rest assured in His love, in His forgiveness, and in His ultimate justice.”

FRIDAY

“Some have argued that the whole concept of substitution is unfair. Why should the innocent die in the place of the guilty? However, because this is a truth that is not only clearly taught in the Bible but is central to the core theme of the Bible, how do we answer that charge? Might the “unfairness” of it all help us to understand the grace that was displayed in order to bring us forgiveness? That is, in what ways might this “unfairness” help to show just how great and merciful and loving our God really is?”

What shows how great and merciful and loving our God really is, that He would demand His innocent Son to die to appease his wrath, and maintain justice, OR that God Himself came and died to win us back to trust, and restore the broken circle of love and trust? How sad. Pray for our church.

The Sanctuary Lesson 6 4Q 2013

The Day of Atonement

SABBATH

We are studying The Day of Atonement – what does atonement mean?

Dictionary definition has several:

- the reconciliation of God and humankind through the sacrificial death of Jesus Christ
- reparation for an offense or injury : satisfaction
- obsolete : reconciliation

From The God-Shaped Brain:

Atonement is one of those words whose meaning has changed. I remember when I used to believe God's law was an imposed law, it affected how I understood God's Word. Like many, I thought that atonement meant "satisfaction or reparation for a wrong or injury; to make amends." I drew all kinds of wrong conclusions: like Jesus had to die to appease the Father's wrath toward my sin. As long as I believed that distortion, love didn't flow in my heart. It was the truth that set me free and opened my heart to love.

I discovered when the King James Bible was translated into English in 1611, atonement had a different meaning than we typically ascribe today. In the 16th and 17th centuries the word "one" was not only a noun but also a verb. If two people were at odds and I wanted to bring them back into friendship I might say, "I am going to one them." I am going to bring them back into unity, into oneness. This concept quickly became known as "at-one" or "atone." We pronounce it atone rather than at-one because that is the old English pronunciation. When you are all by yourself, you are not "all one" but "alone." The process of uniting warring factions is, therefore, called atonement. (p. 177)

Here is the reference for this section of the book:

"atone: short for the phrase 'set or make at one'... make one, put at one, unite... From the frequent phrases 'set at one' or 'at onement,' the combined atonement began to take the place of onement early in the 16th c., and atone to supplant one vb. about 1550. Atone was not admitted into the Bible until 1611, though atonement had been in since Tindale. (Simpson, J., Weiner, S., The Oxford English Dictionary Second Edition, Clarendon Press, 1989, p. 754-755.)

When we think of the Day of Atonement, are we thinking of the Day of Reconciliation, the Day of Unity, the Day of Oneness, the Day when all are One with God? Or do we think something else?

Thoughts?

Before we even explore the meaning of this ritual day, we have to decide which trail we are going down. Do we go down the legal, imposed law trail, or do we see things through the natural law, God's design protocols for life?

The imposed law trail results in appeasement, payment and legal conclusions.

The natural law trail results in actual reconciliation, restoration and unity with God.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "Throughout the year, all kinds of sins and ritual impurities were transferred to the sanctuary. With the Day of Atonement comes a time for their removal."

Can anyone show me a Bible text where the sanctuary was contaminated, defiled, or in other ways corrupted by the application of the blood of the sacrificial animal?

It is true, that during OT times the sanctuary was, in violation to God's instructions, defiled by prostitutes, by pagan symbols, by offering pigs, but where is there a Biblical record of the blood of the sacrificial animal defiling the sanctuary?

The idea that the blood of the sacrificial animal contaminates the sanctuary is a result of starting down the wrong trail. In other words, if we have a legal model: the law is broken; we must keep a record of sin in order to have just punishments meted out etc. then we find ourselves with this idea that the blood transfers the sin to the sanctuary, to keep a record for proper punishment and thereby contaminates it.

But, again, can anyone show a Biblical record of this? Interesting isn't it, that every time the blood of the sacrificial animal touched anything it made it holy.

This is totally consistent with the healing model. The blood, metaphor for the life of Christ and the truth Christ brought, cleanses from lies and selfishness. When we understand God's law as the design protocols for life, sin is deviation from that design, which is incompatible with life, then we realize the application of the blood does not contaminate, but heals.

During the daily sin offerings the sinner confessed sin on head of animal and then cut the throat, the daily priests, not high priest, took the blood in vessels to the various points. This symbolizes the work of sharing the gospel to heal believers, conversion and sanctification. Our ministry in God's cause, sin is being removed from the sinner by the blood of the lamb. It represents the writing over the old character with the new character of Jesus.

Day of Atonement – is the time, in the annual cycle when unity is achieved.

The sacrificial goat does not have sin confessed on it, but yet it is offered as a sin offering. What does this mean?

No sin confessed but offered as a sin offering, why? Because it is not about the conversion, confession, repentance or surrender of the heart of the sinner, which is symbolized in the sin offering sacrifice, what happened daily.

The Day of Atonement is about the work of the High Priest in cleansing, restoring and reuniting people with God. The goat is not slain by a person confessing sin, but by the High Priest, which represents Christ. This is representative of Christ's self-sacrifice – Christ's work in the cleansing the soul from sin.

Consider the various activities in the sanctuary and our role in salvation:

- We can confess our sins (daily sacrifice)
- We can accept Jesus and all He has done
 - the blood applied to brazen altar represents conversion
 - the blood applied to the golden altar represents sanctification
 - the eating of the sacrificial lamb by the priests, the continual internalization of Christ into the heart
- We can witness the truth and share the gospel, the work of the daily priests and the vessels which carried the blood.
- We can study the word of God, wash in the laver.
- We can fellowship together with other believers studying God's word, eating the bread each Sabbath in the holy place.
- We can experience the work of the Holy Spirit within, the fire in the altars.
- We, united with Christ and empowered by the Holy Spirit, can be a light to the world, the lampstand.
- But only Jesus can actually cleanse and restore us and make us holy and reunite us, make us at-one with God.
 - Thus only the High Priest burned incense on the altar, representing the character of Christ going up before God from the hearts of believers in praise and prayer.
 - Only the High Priest trimmed the wicks of the lamp, represented the work of Christ in the heart of the believer cutting away the sinful traits and making us more like Him a light to the world.
 - And only the High Priest was in the Temple officiating and working on the Day of Atonement, representing Christ's work of cleansing the heart from sin and restoring the character of His people into perfection. He is preparing His bride for the wedding.
- Day of atonement is also about corporate cleansing, preparing the bride for Christ's return
- Settling into the truth that cannot be moved
- Preparing the people of God to see God face to face

During the time the High Priest is doing this work the people, all the people, were fasting and praying, representing their devotion to cleanse their minds and cooperate with God for the full cleansing from sin.

Leviticus 16 documents the procedure for the High Priest on the Day of Atonement. It first starts with the bull slain by Aaron for the sin of Aaron and his family. This was a sin offering, and when Aaron went into the MH place, with the blood of this sin offering, he took the censor and two handfuls of incense and burned it to have the smoke of the incense hide Aaron from seeing the mercy seat. What would this mean?

The mercy seat represents what? Christ in His perfection. The smoke from the incense represents what? Christ-like character going up from the heart of the believer, in this case Aaron, in prayers and praise and adoration. So, what is represented? Without a renewal of Christ-like character in us we cannot see God or be reconciled to Christ. Or another way of saying it is: it is only through a Christ-like character we are able to see Christ and be reunited back to God.

After the bull for Aaron and his family, then Aaron has two goats, that are as alike as can be. He casts lots over them one for the Lord's goat. What does this represent. Satan attempts to impersonate Christ. Satan's lies, Satan's false system is as close to the truth as Satan can make it appear, yet it is still a false system. November 9 we will expose this false system and how it damages our minds, the Spirit Temple, in our God and Your Brain Seminar.

Then Aaron sacrifices the Lord's goat and takes the blood and goes back in as the High Priest but without the censor and without the incense, - which represents what? Jesus' work of applying His character and the truth to bring the universe back into unity. The blood is sprinkled on the lid and in front of it 7 times. Why? What does it represent?

One of the errors that has been made in understanding this is the incomplete understand of the ark. Some of the historic views focus on the law beneath the mercy seat and exclude the other elements within the ark. Further, they claim the law that is in the ark is the broken law, and thus the blood is to pay the penalty for the broken law. But, beneath the lid is also the manna, and the rod that budded. Those who take the broken law position fail on multiple points.

First, they ignore the other two elements that are in the ark, resulting in creating a distorted idea of what the ark represented and create a false legal picture.

Second, they fail to realize which law is in the ark. If you remember there were two sets of commandments given to Moses. The first one, what happened? It was broken! The second one was not broken. Which went into the ark? If God wanted to represent the broken law, which was covered by Christ and some legal payment of blood being made, why didn't he have the pieces of the broken law put in the ark? No, God had them put the unbroken law into the ark, which represents the restoration of God's law written into the heart of the believer, perfectly!

Those who take the position that it is to represent the broken law, err, why? Because they go to the text with presuppositions, already believing that the broken law required legal payment so they interpret the symbols to fit their preconceived ideas.

But if we let the symbols and Scripture speak for themselves, and we understand God's character of love and law upon which He constructed the universe, then we see something entirely different.

We realize the law under the lid is not the broken law, but the law unbroken, restored in the heart of the believer. This idea is reinforced when we include all three elements together in the order they were placed in the ark:

- Manna – the bread of life taken into the heart of the believer restores trust in God
- Law – once trust is restored the law is written on the heart, it is the law kept, the law of love, the renewed character here represented not the broken law. This is the new covenant.
- Rod that budded – once the law is written on the heart we are no longer dead in trespass and sin, but renewed, reborn to live lives of righteousness and bring forth fruits of righteousness

The lid covers because it is only as we are united with Christ, have His character overwriting our selfish character that we can be renewed into righteousness. Further, it was Jesus who provided the remedy which heals us, the truth which destroys lies and restores trust, and a perfect character which we receive when we trust Him.

Then what is happening on the Day of Atonement? It is the final settling into the truth that one cannot be moved, on a global scale, preparing the world for Christ's return.

The sprinkling of the blood on the mercy seat represents the sealing, the settling into the truth so that they cannot be moved, which occurs before the second coming, and only happens to those who have partaken of Jesus (manna), had the law written on the heart (tablets), and been renewed to bring forth fruits of righteousness (Aarons rod).

Notice the Most Holy Place is being purified from the sins of the people, because it stands in the middle of the camp which is unclean. (Lev 16:15,16)

What does this symbolize? The cleansing of the Bride of Christ, the church. The Sanctuary in this feast represents the corporate temple of God. Know ye not that you are a temple of God?

The church is in the world and the world is corrupt. Thus before Christ returns the church needs to be purified, settled into the truth such that it cannot be moved.

This is done by the settling of all the believers who comprise the church, those long time members, represented by the golden altar and the blood of the goat applied there, and the new converts, represented by the brazen altar and the blood of the goat applied there.

MONDAY

First sentence “The primary function of the high priest was to mediate between God and humankind.”
Thoughts?

Here is one Bible commentator who has a slightly broader perspective, do you agree or disagree, and what are the implications:

“While we rejoice that there are worlds which have never fallen, these worlds render praise, and honor, and glory to Jesus Christ for the plan of redemption to save the fallen sons of Adam, as well as to confirm themselves in their position and character of purity. The arm that raised the human family from the ruin which Satan had brought upon the race through his temptations, is the arm which has preserved the inhabitants of other worlds from sin. Every world throughout immensity engages the care and support of the Father and the Son; and this care is constantly exercised for fallen humanity. Christ is mediating in behalf of man, and the order of unseen worlds also is preserved by his mediatorial work. Are not these themes of sufficient magnitude and importance to engage our thoughts, and call forth our gratitude and adoration to God?” {RH, January 11, 1881 par. 4} thoughts? The Bible says in Colossians 1:18-20 that all things in heaven and earth are reconciled to Christ at the cross. Heavenly things being reconciled.... Interesting.

How do you understand mediation?

Read third paragraph, “The blood of Christ...” thoughts?

The blood... releases the repentant sinner from the condemnation of the law – why?

What releases the tuberculosis patient from the condemnation of the laws of hygiene and health? Being cured. The blood of Christ is a metaphor, it is not literal red corpuscles that cleanse. When Jesus said unless you eat my flesh and drink my blood he wasn't speaking cannibalism. The blood represents the life of Jesus taken into the heart/mind of the believer, such that “it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.” We receive a new heart and right spirit, the law is written upon the heart. Thus, the blood, applied to the heart, cleanses the conscience and mind of the believer, curing, healing, restoring to righteousness and thus, once renewed, the law finds nothing in the believer to condemn.

The blood, i.e. life of Jesus, doesn't cancel or erase history, thus the sin is not cancelled. David after repentance still had the scars and problems of his sin to deal with, even though his heart was cleansed.

It stands on record in the sanctuary, until the day of Atonement, meaning what?

- What do we understand the sanctuary to be symbolic of?
- According to Scripture the sanctuary is built out of intelligent beings
- What is the war over? 2Cor 10:3-5 it is over God, and what are the weapons Satan uses?

- Lies, about who? And where do lies infect or contaminate?
- And who has been damaged by sin?
- So what needs cleansing from sin?
- And who does Satan blame for all the pain and suffering? God,
- So after we are forgiven, and experience new motives in the heart, what remains to be removed?
- The responsibility of all sin remains until the end when all the blame will finally be placed upon Satan and God will stand fully vindicated.
- This is represented by the blood applied to the mercy seat, golden altar and brazen altar and then hands on the Scapegoat – that the minds of the believers have all the lies about God removed and all finally see the reality that the pain and suffering from sin originated in Satan and he is held responsible in the MINDS of all the saved and God stands cleared and vindicated, thus WE ARE RESTORED to unity AT-ONE with God!
- So the record of the history of sin stands, because God doesn't erase history, yet the sinner is cleansed and renewed from sin. Thus, throughout all eternity future the record, recorded history, will remain in our minds and will bring us joy as we eternally recall all God, through Jesus, has done to save and heal us.

TUESDAY

Read third paragraph, “The ritual with the live goat...” thoughts?

The lesson suggests that atonement was made with the live goat in a punitive sense, meaning that the sins were placed upon the scapegoat for ultimate punishment.

Thoughts?

They quote Lev 16:10 in support of this idea

But the goat chosen by lot as the scapegoat shall be presented alive before the Lord to be used for making atonement by sending it into the desert as a scapegoat.

Does the text say the atonement via the scapegoat is through punishment, or punitive means?

How does sending the scapegoat into the desert make atonement?

It depends on what you believe the problem of sin to be. What do you believe the problem sinned caused, the solution, and what the various elements represent in reality.

If the problem of sin is deviation from God's design, at the root are lies and selfishness. If that problem infected humans and resulted in humans operating deviant from God's design and therefore are in a terminal condition, and the solution being the truth to displace lies, restore trust and the receipt of a new nature procured by Christ, then we can understand the meaning of the elements.

- The blood represents the truth, which being placed upon the head of the scapegoat means we see reality as it is.
- The placing the hands on the head of the scapegoat and confessing the sins represents the removal of all the lies about God, the misunderstanding, the fear, hate, resentment, blame etc. that we have held against God and placing it where it belongs, on the originator of all these problems.
- We see the truth about God, about Jesus, about the origin of sin, about how sin infected us, about the damage sin does to the mind, about Satan and his true character and the responsibility for it all rests upon Satan who originated the lies and thus it all goes back on his head.
- The minds of all the saved are cleansed from all the lies and Satan is held responsible in the minds of all loyal intelligences.
- Going out into the wilderness represents that Satan is gone from existence, he and his lies never again to infect the people of God, thus the universe, freed from lies and selfishness are at-one with God again.

This is described in Isa 14:12-17:

How you have fallen from heaven, O morning star, son of the dawn!
You have been cast down to the earth, you who once laid low the nations!
¹³ You said in your heart, "I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain.
¹⁴ I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High."
¹⁵ But you are brought down to the grave, to the depths of the pit.
¹⁶ Those who see you stare at you, they ponder your fate: "Is this the man who shook the earth and made kingdoms tremble, ¹⁷ the man who made the world a desert, who overthrew its cities and would not let his captives go home?"

Other problems with the punitive position, the punitive adherents also claim that all sins, past present and future were placed on Christ and punished in Christ, but they now have the sins, already punished in Christ, being placed upon the scapegoat and being punished again in the scapegoat. Any concerns about this?

This is the problem with imposed law penal theories, they are inherently inconsistent and make God out to be arbitrary.

So, if not punitive, then what? What does the blood represent? Here is one commentator:

- The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb. {COL 102.3}

- In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life.” Fundamentals of Christian Education 378.1

Do you notice how this Bible commentary has the blood cleansing, healing, restoring, not contaminating?

But the truth brought home to the minds of those who have solidified themselves in lies causes suffering. Thus the suffering of the scapegoat, Satan, is not punitive, not an infliction, but the natural result of what happens when a person who hides in lies is confronted with the truth.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph at the top, “Thus in the ministration...” thoughts?

Do you hear two types of issues are being describe, something going on daily and something going on annually.

What is represented by the daily activities? The conversion and healing of the individual from sin.

What about the annual events, according to this passage? Something occurring on a larger scale, and the Day of Atonement cleansing the universe from sin, not just the individual sinner.

FEASTS: Represent the history of the plan of salvation being played out from Adam’s sin until the second coming.

Passover – as soon as man fell into sin God passed over their sins Romans 3:25 he left the sins committed before hand unpunished. Christ was the lamb of God slain from the foundation of the world.

Unleavened bread – immediately began dispensing truth unmixed with error to nurture and save, but it was mixed with bitter herbs, representing the bitterness of sin in this world.

Thus the feast of unleavened bread symbolized the internalization of the truth about God as revealed in Christ.

Feast of Weeks (Pentecost)– The truth spreads and takes root in many hearts and a harvest is experienced.

Trumpets – a special message for the end time – something special is about to happen prepare.

Atonement –

- reunification with God, oneness with God,
- full healing, settling into the truth that one cannot be moved,

- sealing of God, the cleansing of the church to meet Christ,
- making a right judgment about God so that the lies about Him have been removed from the minds of the believers.

Tabernacles – second coming where we tabernacle with God for eternity in our earth renewed, our new Eden home symbolized by the green branches.

When did the fulfillment of the Day of Atonement start? 1844, based on what? Daniel 8:14 and what does it mean to cleanse the sanctuary in light of what we understand the sanctuary to be?

Just prior to the Daniel 8:14 text the Bible says that out of one of the horns that made up the divisions of the Greek Empire would rise a “little horn” which would reach the host of heaven and bring the place of the sanctuary low. How did this little horn power defile the heavenly sanctuary AFTER the fall of the Greek Empire? Did this power enter heaven where God sits? Of course not, then how did it defile the sanctuary in heaven after the fall of the Greek Empire?

“But you have come to Mount Zion, to the heavenly Jerusalem, the city of the living God. You have come to thousands upon thousands of angels in joyful assembly, to the CHURCH of the firstborn, whose NAMES are WRITTEN IN HEAVEN.” Hebrews 12:22,23.

Notice the church has its membership registered in heaven. Satan defiles the heavenly sanctuary by defiling the membership of the church here on earth, by infecting their minds with lies about God.

Paul says, “Don’t let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God’s temple, proclaiming himself to be God.” (2Thes 2:3,4)

He is talking about that same little horn power that sets itself up in the church defiling the membership with lies about God and thus defiling the heavenly temple where God’s church is registered.

And what was presented that defiled the sanctuary?

Constantine converted and the church was infected with an imposed law construct and God was represented as a dictator who must punish sin. The atonement was perverted to be the payment of legal penalties and thus the minds of men, the membership of God’s church, was contaminated with lies about God and needs cleansing. Listen to what the first church historian taught:

Eusebius – First Church Historian (263-339 CE) said “There are no reserves in the stilted encomium [praise] with which Eusebius closes his history, no wistful regret for the blessings of persecution, no prophetic fear of imperial control of the Church. His heart is full of gratitude to God and Constantine. And it is not only his feelings that are stirred. He is ready, with a theory, indeed a theology, of the Christian Emperor. He finds a correspondence between religion and politics... With the Roman Empire monarchy had come on earth as the image of the monarchy in heaven.” S.L. Greenslade, Church and State from Constantine to Theodosius (London: SCM Press, 1954).

But, the cleansing of the sanctuary, which began in 1844, was to remove this distortion about God from the minds of men. Thus EGW taught:

While God has desired to teach men that from His own love comes the Gift which reconciles them to Himself, the archenemy of mankind has endeavored to represent God as one who delights in their destruction. Thus the sacrifices and the ordinances designed of Heaven to reveal divine love have been perverted to serve as means whereby sinners have vainly hoped to propitiate, with gifts and good works, the wrath of an offended God.” (Prophets and Kings, p. 685)

Why does the penal legal distortion about God defile the heavenly sanctuary? Because the sanctuary is made out of God’s intelligent beings.

When God cleanses His temple notice what he cleanses:

MAL 3:1 "See, I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the LORD Almighty.

MAL 3:2 But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. 3 He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver.

Listen to this quote from one of the founders of the SDA church. It gives us insight into how people in the 19th century saw this:

The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi, are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25. {Mar 248.3}

God cleanses His Temple by cleansing the very building blocks of this living breathing, loving, cohesive, unity of intelligent being where God dwells by His Spirit and character of Love! He brings all things in heaven and earth back into unity and oneness with Him and then once again one pulse of harmony runs through the entire universe!

Do you see how legal this sounds? Are sinners acquitted? When in universal history will it ever be true that Adam did not sin, that we did not sin? To acquit means to declare not guilty. This is the lie the penal group puts God in the role of telling – but it is false.

We are not acquitted we are healed, cured, cleansed, thus we are examined and found to be “without blemish” as the Scripture says! (Rev 14:5 ASV)

The Sanctuary Lesson 7 4Q 2013

Christ Our Sacrifice

Last week someone inquired about a quotation in the GC in which EGW said:

Day by day the repentant sinner brought his offering to the door of the tabernacle and, placing his hand upon the victim's head, confessed his sins, thus in figure transferring them from himself to the innocent sacrifice. The animal was then slain... The blood, representing the forfeited life of the sinner, whose guilt the victim bore, was carried by the priest into the holy place and sprinkled before the veil, behind which was the ark containing the law that the sinner had transgressed. By this ceremony the sin was, through the blood, transferred in figure to the sanctuary. {GC 418.1}

I got several emails this week from people questioning how we could come to our conclusions in light of this statement.

Truth is unfolding. One of the problems with many religious people and organizations, is that when they come to an idea, with truth in it, they lock down, and stop growing. 2000 years ago the Jews had much truth, they knew that the time for the Messiah was to come was at hand, they knew He would be born in Bethlehem, they knew many things, but they also had many misunderstandings about God and the meaning of their system that prevented them from accepting Jesus.

Likewise, many religious people have beliefs that are filled with truths, but can also have some misunderstanding. But, when they come to a belief they become afraid to change that belief. Fortunately, EGW didn't have this problem. The writer of the quote we just read grew in her perspectives, insights and understandings with time, meaning what she wrote at one point in time isn't necessarily the final word on any subject. For instance:

- The Lord loves those little children who try to do right, and he has promised that they shall be in his kingdom. But wicked children God does not love. He will not take them to the beautiful City, for he only admits the good, obedient, and patient children there. {Appeal to Youth 61.3} 1864
- Jesus would have the fathers and mothers teach their children this beauty of character. He would have them teach their children that God loves them, that their natures may be changed, and brought into harmony with God. Do not teach your children that God does not love them when they do wrong; teach them that he loves them so that it grieves his Spirit to see them in transgression, because he knows they are doing injury to their souls. Do not terrify your children by telling them of the wrath of God, but rather seek to impress them with his unspeakable love and goodness, and thus let the glory of the Lord be revealed before them. {BEcho, February 1, 1892 par. 9}

What should a spiritual, God filled church member have done with the quote in 1864? Should they have said, “well if EGW says it, who am I to question?” Or should the person have said, “I don’t believe that is correct?”

When Peter the Apostle refused to interact with the uncircumcised, why didn’t some of the local church members reject this idea, think for themselves, and tell him he was wrong? Could it be they were conditioned to believe if one has the gift of prophecy then their ideas are more right? That we are not to question those with the gift or prophecy but to just believe? Was Peter right? What is the lesson?

And what did Ellen White say about how we should understand and use her writings?

- I recommend to you, dear reader, the Word of God as the rule of your faith and practice. By that Word we are to be judged. A Sketch of the Christian Experience and Views of Ellen G. White, p. 64 (1851). (Reprinted in Early Writings, p. 78.) {3SM 29.1}
- The Spirit was not given--nor can it ever be bestowed--to supersede the Bible; for the Scriptures explicitly state that the Word of God is the standard by which all teaching and experience must be tested. . . . (Isaiah 8:20).--The Great Controversy, Introduction, p. vii. {3SM 30.5} (1888).
- The testimonies of Sister White should not be carried to the front. God's Word is the unerring standard. The Testimonies are not to take the place of the Word... Let all prove their positions from the Scriptures and substantiate every point they claim as truth from the revealed Word of God.--Letter 12, 1890. {Ev 256.2}
- Our position and faith is in the Bible. And never do we want any soul to bring in the Testimonies ahead of the Bible. --Manuscript 7, 1894. {Ev 256.3}
- The Lord desires you to study your Bibles. He has not given any additional light to take the place of His Word. This light is to bring confused minds to His Word, which, if eaten and digested, is as the lifeblood of the soul. -- Letter 130, 1901. {3SM 29.2}
- We have many lessons to learn, and many, many to unlearn. God and Heaven alone are infallible. Those who think that they will never have to give up a cherished view, never have occasion to change an opinion, will be disappointed. As long as we hold to our own ideas and opinions with determined persistency, we cannot have the unity for which Christ prayed. {Christian Experience and Teaching 203.2}

The point of what we said last week is that if we don’t find in the Scripture a certain point, then we must take the Scripture and interpret all other writings through the Scripture.

One other point on this idea that the blood of the animal contaminated the sanctuary. Consider this, if we believe the blood of the animal in the type (the model) contaminated, then are we to conclude, when Jesus moved the application to reality in John 6, when He said we must drink His blood, that then, when we partake of Jesus, (symbolized by the blood) when we take Him in, we are being contaminated, sin is being transferred into the Spirit Temple?

We cannot have it both ways as some would like. Either the blood of the sacrificial animal contaminates or it cleanses. The Bible is 100% consistent in that the blood of the sacrificial always cleansed and made holy.

SABBATH

Memory verse: “He Himself bore our sins in His body on the cross, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness; for by His wounds you are healed.” 1Pet 2:24 NASB

Thoughts?

Interesting verse, because this is frequently used by those who hold to penal substitution, yet those who take that view don’t even apply what the text says. But, perhaps they are at a disadvantage because of the way one word was translated.

Do you notice how the translation says he bore our “sins” in His body but then says that we might die to “sin”?

In English, is there a different connotation, meaning, between “sins” and “sin”?

Would the text suggest something different if it read this way:

“He Himself bore our sin in His body on the cross, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness; for by His wounds you are healed.”

What do you hear differently between bore our “sin” versus bore our “sins”?

The Greek is the exact same in both places, which means the translators must decide when to use the word “sins” and when to use the word “sin”? If they have an imposed law bias, then they falsely believe that each individual act of sin must be punished, thus they translate “sins” instead of “sin” in the first phrase.

When we hold the design law model, the healing model, we recognize Christ took our condition upon Himself and cured it, thus he took our iniquity, our fallen state, our sinfulness, or our “sin”.

Which is more consistent with the very text itself. Notice how this text says nothing about penal payments, or legal requirements, but it does say that we are being healed by what Christ has done and that Christ died so we might live righteously, not so we could be declared righteous.

In other words, the context itself supports our view and refutes the penal view.

Read first two paragraphs, “Catholic priest...” thoughts?

What makes Christ’s sacrificial death more significant than Kolbe’s?

Multiple points:

- Christ overcame alone – without the comfort of the Holy Spirit or His Father
- Christ’s sacrificial death, by the exercise of His human brain destroyed the carnal nature, the desire to save self, by perfect sacrificial love.
- Christ died without the experience of hope. The martyrs died, with the presence of the Holy Spirit bringing comfort and encouragement, they didn’t experience themselves as abandoned and cast off. They had hope for security in the resurrection. As such, they did not have the full weight of the carnal nature pulling on them and distressing them as Christ did.
- Christ could have delivered Himself from death and destroyed those killing Him, but He didn’t. What does this reveal?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Isaiah...” thoughts?

The lesson suggests the passage provides “clear evidence that Jesus’ death is atonement in the form of penal substitution...”

The lesson claims five points to prove this:

- He suffered for others
- His suffering brought benefit to others
- It was God’s will for Christ to do this, and our iniquity was place upon Christ
- Jesus is righteous
- He was an atoning sacrifice

These five points are absolutely true – and yet, nowhere can you find penal substitution in it. Penal substitution is a manmade theory, based on believing Imperial Rome’s idea of law. It is this distortion, above all others, that has infected Christianity, distorted the truth about God, and prevented the Christian church from completing the mission Jesus gave us to prepare the world for His return.

When we see God’s law as the law of love, the design protocols for life, then we see that healing substitution is the correct view. Let’s reexamine the five points, then the text itself.

Consider the analogy of someone in renal failure needing a kidney transplant:

The one who saves the dying by donating the kidney:

- Suffers for another
- His suffering brings benefit to the other

- It is the will of the loving Father to provide the healthy kidney to save the dying person and, the sickness and pain due the one dying, will be taken upon the person donating the kidney, i.e. the healthy person loses the kidney, and the sick person loses a dead kidney but gets a healthy one
- Jesus is righteous i.e. The one donating the kidney is perfectly healthy
- Jesus is an atoning or reuniting sacrifice. His sacrifice brings healing, reconciliation, oneness. Thus the one donating the kidney, by healing the dying patient reunites them with the living, brings them back into harmony with how life is built to operate.

Thoughts?

Let's look at Isaiah itself chapter 53 starting verse 2:

He grew up before him like a tender shoot, and like a root out of dry ground. He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him, nothing in his appearance that we should desire him.

³ He was despised and rejected by men, a man of sorrows, and familiar with suffering. Like one from whom men hide their faces he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

⁴ Surely he took up our infirmities and carried our sorrows, yet we considered him stricken by God, smitten by him, and afflicted.

[notice that he took our infirmities, our sickness, our sinfulness, yet we would misunderstand and think God was striking him, punishing him]

⁵ But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was upon him, and by his wounds we are healed.

[But, it wasn't God doing this to Him, it was our transgressions, our evil that crushed Him. Our sinful condition caused Him grief, both within and from without. And the purpose He suffered was not to pay legal payment, but so that through his ordeal we could be healed, which meant He was procuring the Remedy to our condition]

⁶ We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to his own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all.

[Yes the sinfulness, the iniquity, with which we all are infected was laid upon Christ. He took our sinfulness and overcame, cured, eradicated it]

⁷ He was oppressed and afflicted, yet he did not open his mouth; he was led like a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is silent, so he did not open his mouth.

⁸ By oppression and judgment he was taken away. And who can speak of his descendants? For he was cut off from the land of the living; for the transgression of my people he was stricken.

⁹ He was assigned a grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no violence, nor was any deceit in his mouth.

¹⁰ Yet it was the Lord's will to crush him and cause him to suffer, and though the Lord makes his life a guilt offering, he will see his offspring and prolong his days, and the will of the Lord will prosper in his hand.

[It was the Lord's will to provide the Remedy which would cure mankind. Christ's mission, to be the second Adam, to take up mankind broken off in Adam and carry it to completion, to cure the condition was absolutely, God's will. God was in the Son reconciling the world to himself. It was only through this path that sin could be eradicated and man saved, and it was God's will to accomplish this.]

¹² Therefore I will give him a portion among the great, and he will divide the spoils with the strong, because he poured out his life unto death, and was numbered with the transgressors. For he bore the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

Thoughts?

Now I want to share with you a portion of a sermon delivered by George Fifield, SDA pastor, at the 1897 General Conference session:

"YOU will find the basis of our study this evening in the fifty-third chapter of Isaiah and the third verse: "He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not."

In connection with this I will read several other verses of the same chapter, and also a translation, which will enable us to obtain the thought more clearly:

"Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions. He was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed."

The other translation reads: "Surely he bore our griefs, yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was pierced through by our sins; he was crushed by our misdeeds. The chastisement of our peace lay upon him, and in his wounds there became healing for us. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all."

Another translation: "The Lord let all our misdeeds come upon him..."

Translation: "It pleased the Lord to let him be crushed; he hath made him sick; when his soul hath given a trespass offering, he shall see seed and live long." The thought is clearly enough expressed in the Authorized Version, but since we are liable sometimes to receive the wrong thought, the translation helps us to see it more clearly.

The third verse states and vividly contrasts the true and the false idea of Christ's mission, and of his work, and of the atonement. One is what was, and the other is what we thought was; one is truth, the other is falsehood; one is Christianity, the other is paganism. We would do well to study every thought in that text. "Surely he hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows; he was pierced through by our misdeeds, and God permitted it because in his stripes there was healing for us. But we esteemed him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. Whose griefs? Whose sorrows? - Ours.

The grief and the sorrow that crushed the heart of Christ, and took him from among the living, so that he died of a broken heart, was no strange, new grief or sorrow. It was not something unlike what we have to bear; it was not God arbitrarily putting upon him our sins, and thus punishing our sins in him to deliver us.

He took no position arbitrarily that we do not have to suffer. It was our griefs and our sorrows that pierced him through. He took our sinful natures, and our sinful flesh, at the point of weakness to which we had brought it, submitting himself to all the conditions of the race, and placing himself where we are to fight the conflict that we have to fight, the fight of faith. And he did this by the same power to which we have access. By the Spirit of God he cast out devils; through the eternal Spirit he offered himself without spot; and the Spirit of God rested upon him, and made him of quick understanding in the things of God. It was our sins that he took; our temptations.

He took our sorrows, our griefs, all the conflicts of our lives upon him, and was tempted in all points as we are. He took the injustices of our lives upon him too. It is a fact that you and I have to suffer for many things for which we are not at fault. All my suffering is not the result of my sin. Some of it is; but just as long as sin exists, injustice exists. As long as men sin, men will be sinned against. Just so you and I will have to suffer for the sins of others; and so God, to show that he knew and realized all that, let him that was perfectly innocent, take the injustice and sin of us all. O brethren and sisters, he did not bear some other grief or some other sorrow, but he bore our griefs and our sorrows. He was pierced through by them, and the Lord permitted it, because there was healing in it for us; not that he might appease God, or reconcile him unto us.

Every passage of Scripture that refers to the reconciliation or atonement, or to the propitiation, always represents God as the one who makes this atonement, reconciliation, or propitiation, in Christ; we are always the ones atoned for, the ones to be reconciled. For us it was done, in order that, as Peter says, he might bring us to God.

The only way to do this is by destroying sin in us. He took our sins upon him in order that he might bring us to God. It was that he might break down the high middle wall of partition between human hearts and God, between Jew and Gentile, between God and man; that he might make us one with him, and one with one another, thus making the at-one-ment, or the atonement.

In Christ Jesus we who were sometimes afar off were made nigh by the blood of Christ, so that we are no longer strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner-stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth into an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit."

This is as near to the Lord as we can get. This is the at-one-ment; this is why he bore our griefs and carried our sorrows, that he might do that for us by breaking down all those things which separate hearts from hearts, both human and divine. Notwithstanding this, we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. That was what we thought about it. We said, God is doing all this; God is killing him, punishing him, to satisfy his wrath, in order to let us off. That is the pagan conception of sacrifice. The Christian idea of sacrifice is this. Let us note the contrast. "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." That is the Christian idea. Yes, sir. Indifference keeps, hatred keeps, selfishness keeps, or gives, if at all, but grudgingly, counting the cost, and figuring on some larger return at some future time. But love, and love only, sacrifices, gives freely, gives itself, gives without counting the cost; gives because it is love. That is sacrifice, whether it is the sacrifice of bulls and goats, or of him who is the Lamb of God. It is the sacrifice that is revealed throughout the entire Bible. But the pagan idea of sacrifice is just the opposite. It is that some god is always offended, always angry, and his wrath must be propitiated in some way.

Thoughts?

The battle between the truth about God's character of love and Satan's mischaracterization is the battle that has raged since the war broke out in heaven. This is not a new battle. It is THE battle and we are in the middle of it. Every Christian church is in the middle of this battle. Which version of God will you choose? On which side will you expend your resources, abilities, heart and soul? Who will you reveal in your life?

The last paragraph notes that in the New Testament they recognized Christ's fulfillment of this prophecy in Isaiah 53. Let's note how the New Testament writers used it:

Isa 53:4:

Surely our griefs He himself bore, and our sorrows He carried; yet we ourselves esteemed Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.(NAS)

Matt 8:16-17:

And when evening had come, they brought to Him many who were demon-possessed; and He cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all who were ill 17 in order that what was spoken through Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, saying, "He Himself took our infirmities, and carried away our diseases." (NAS)

Bearing our griefs and carrying our sorrows does not mean that Christ "paid the penalty" for our sins, but instead means that he took away from us our griefs and sorrows (ie took away our sicknesses). I'd like to think that the sickness he took away was not just physical, but also spiritual.

Isa 53:5

But He was pierced through for our transgressions, He was crushed for our iniquities; the chastening for our well-being {fell} upon Him, and by His scourging we are healed. (NAS) and He Himself bore our sins in His body on the cross, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness; for by His wounds you were healed.

1 Pet 2:24-25

For you were continually straying like sheep, but now you have returned to the Shepherd and Guardian of your souls. (NAS)

By His scourging we are healed does not represent a "legal" transaction in heaven where God's attitude toward us is "healed", but instead represents a change in our heart, where we die to sin and live to righteousness, returning to God instead of straying from Him.

Thoughts?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Jesus died for..." thoughts?

Do you hear "sins" or "sin"? It can be translated either?

The lesson says in the second paragraph, "In simple terms, in order for humanity to be saved, Jesus had to die. There was no other way." This is absolutely correct. We want to affirm this truth.

But the great divergence has to do with WHY?

Penal view has the obstacle to our salvation being God's anger, God's wrath, God's law, God's justice, God's need, in other words something on God's side needed to be fixed so we could be saved. They couch it in words like "justice" or "holiness" etc. But in the end, it is a lie. It is pagan.

Our view has the barrier being sin, sinfulness of our hearts, lies about God we believe, our own carnal nature. The defect which separates us is in us and Christ came to fix sinful humanity to bring us back into unity with God. We believe there was no other way to accomplish this other than the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, "Christ's blood..." thoughts?

First, when you hear “blood” do you think literal or symbolic? Is it literal red corpuscles or does the blood symbolize something else?

The lesson claims it does not represent Christ’s life, but Christ’s death. Why do they make this claim?

When they say the death – they are focusing on the “death penalty.” In their penal view, they need the death payment to be made, so they claim the blood is about the death to ensure the legal payment is made.

But, what did Christ say, “This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many,” (Mt 14:24) What is being poured out? His life is being poured out, yes in death, but where is Christ focusing? On the sacrificed life, given for many.

Is Christ focusing on His death, “this is my death which is poured out” or “this is my life which is poured out”?

When He said in John 6, unless you drink my blood or eat my flesh, was He saying “unless you drink my death?” Or was He saying unless you internalize my life?

The death of Christ, in Bible symbolism is represented in Baptism, where we die to the old self, are buried with Christ and rise in newness of life.

Those who take the penal view focus on the death, because they believe that the law requires a death payment. But, not so, here is how our church viewed it over 100 years ago: (notice several points, who originates the legal model and the claim that sin must be punished? What does the law actually require?)

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. {DA 761.4}

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love. Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. {DA 761.5}

Through Jesus, God's mercy was manifested to men; but mercy does not set aside justice. The law reveals the attributes of God's character, and not a jot or tittle of it could be changed to meet man in his fallen condition. God did not change His law, but He sacrificed Himself, in Christ, for man's redemption. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. {DA 762.1}

[Why could the law not be changed? Because the law are the protocols upon which life is built. To change the law would be to destroy life. The law of respiration cannot be changed to meet the person who has tied a plastic bag over their head. What needs to change in the condition of the person. Thus, Christ was sacrificed for man's redemption, to reconcile man back to God, to restore man back to harmony with God. Actual transformation. Notice the very next words of what the law required. Satan alleged all sin must be punished. Penal substitution theology supports Satan's claim, stating all sin must be punished. Notice how our church thought over 100 years ago on what the law required...]

The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

What is happening? Christ is the means whereby the law is sustained and the sinner is restored to harmony with it. This is justice. This is doing right. This is healing. All this inflicted punishment for sin is pagan and based on Satan's false presentation of God's law as imposed.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks why it was crucial that Jesus be sinless?

Can you provide remedy for the disease if you are dying from the disease?

Read fourth paragraph, "Jesus, the.." thoughts? Is this clear to you? How would you explain it?

Read last paragraph, "Through Christ's death..." thoughts?

Are we presented to the Father, and then as the Father comes to see us, Jesus magically jumps in the way, and the Father sees His Son and says, "Why Son you are perfect. I won't look at the disgusting sinner hiding behind you but will pretend he is as perfect as you."

Or, is it something else? How about this, the way our church viewed it over 100 years ago:

This robe, woven in the loom of heaven, has in it not one thread of human devising. Christ in His humanity wrought out a perfect character, and this character He offers to impart to us... By His perfect obedience He has made it possible for every human being to obey God's commandments. When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 311.4}

Is this Jesus standing in our place legally? Or is this Jesus healing, curing, restoring in US His perfection? This is the truth. The legal, penal substitution model has infected our church and obstructs our mission to lighten the world for Christ's return.

We cannot do our mission as a people until we throw off these distortions and come back to the truth about God's law, character and what Christ has accomplished for us and what He will do in us if we let Him!

THURSDAY

Read third paragraph, "Some of those..." thoughts?

What do you think of the idea, that those who deliberately reject God do not "have any efficacious sacrifice for their sins."

What does it sound like the problem with sin is, and the problem with rejecting God and His plan?

Does it sound like the problem is that they don't have the proper sacrificial payment to offer to God, in order to get God to forgive them? This is pagan, based on accepting the lie about God's law. It places the problem with sin upon God and God's attitude needing appeasement or the law needing payment.

Think of it this way, imagine someone dying of anthrax infection, and a doctor spends his life fortune, sacrificing all he has to develop Cipro (a remedy) and offers it freely to the dying patient, but the patient refuses it. What happens? Do we say, well without Cipro there isn't a sacrifice which will be efficacious? Or, would we realize there is no remedy? Yes the doctor sacrificed to develop the remedy, it was through the sacrifice that the remedy was achieved, but it is the remedy that cures.

Jesus, through His sacrificial death, provided Remedy for sin! If we reject it, we die in our trespass in sin, unhealed.

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "What Martin Luther..." do you notice how it is all about healing and transformation, not about legal payment? Read and discuss questions 1-3.

The Sanctuary Lesson 8 4Q 2013

Christ, Our Priest

Before we start I need to follow up on a question that came in from an online viewer last week.

An online viewer to my weekly Bible Study Class asked this week how do I understand this quotation from an article in Signs of the Times Dec 23, 1886:

The altar and the promise stand side by side, and one casts clear beams of light upon the other, showing that the justice of an offended God could be appeased only by the death of his beloved Son.

I deferred answering because I wanted to know the context, what altar was referred to etc. I am glad I did. The context of the article is that of Cain and Abel. The altar is the altar built by Cain and Abel, at the instruction of Adam.

The author contrasts the attitudes of the heart of Cain and Abel.

The article starts out with this:

These two brothers, Cain and Abel, represent the whole human family. They were both tested on the point of obedience, and all will be tested as they were. Abel bore the proving of God. He revealed the gold of a righteous character, the principles of true godliness. But Cain's religion had not a good foundation; it rested on human merit. He brought to God something in which he had a personal interest,--the fruits of the ground, which had been cultivated by his toil; and he presented his offering as a favor done to God, through which he expected to secure the divine approval.

Note the context is over character, one of love and trust versus pride and selfishness. The article describes how Abel understood the principles of God's government, how God is always the giver, not the receiver, but Cain sought to put God in the role of receiving the offerings to earn favor.

Abel worked with God to act out a lesson, Cain sought to appease God with payments.

So, with this context what does the quote mean?

Through which "law" lens to you understand justice? Imposed law or designer law, the protocols upon which life is built?

What is God's justice? Doing what is right, doing what is right as defined by the law of love, which is what? What does love require? To heal, to restore, to redeem, to save.

Thus the promise given to Adam, that the seed of the woman would crush the serpent's head, but the serpent would bruise his heel stands beside the altar, which visually acted out the selfless sacrifice of Christ to achieve what was promised. The promise and the theater (altar) enlightened each other.

Then what about the justice being appeased? Again which law lens do you look through?

If the imposed law then one believes this is legal payment to an offended God. But the article itself disallows this interpretation, as it makes clear throughout that the gifts are not given to God, which Cain tried to do, but are from God to man for man's need. Here is another example from the article:

Man, in the pride of his heart, would like to believe that he can confer some favor upon God; that our heavenly Father may be the receiver, and not always the giver. But God will not be bribed.

God is not bribed. The barrier set up between God and man is that of sin in man, thus what is required is provided by God to fix the problem of sin in man.

It is offensive to God (as it is to any being with a heart of love) to see pain, suffering, death, which occur when God's design for life is broken. Thus God hates sin because it breaks the protocols upon which life is constructed, inflicts pain, suffering, death and is an offense to the pure loving heart of God.

Therefore, if we look through the lens of designer law, the law upon which life is built, we see that the sacrifice of Christ was the only means to please God's purpose in saving mankind.

Do you think I am being dishonest with the quote? Well, here is the dictionary definition of the word appease:

“to make (someone) pleased OR less angry by giving or saying something desired”

What would please God, after Adam deviated from God's design and plunged humanity into a death spiral? Would it not please God to see mankind delivered and saved? Is this not what God desired? Thus, the only way God's justice of love could be pleased was through the death of Jesus, who provides remedy for the terminal condition Adam inflicted upon the world, fulfilling God's desire to save the human race!

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “After his resurrection...” Thoughts?

Why, after the resurrection, why after the Old symbolic system was done away with, why after Christ fulfills what the Old system pointed toward do we still insist on using symbolism to describe things? Why not just state it plainly?

What does it mean to be “covered by faith by His blood”? Does it mean we are washed in plasma?

One of the rituals of ancient Rome is that they would sacrifice bulls. Gladiators would do this and walk beneath the bull as it was sacrificed and have the blood of the bull wash over them and they were literally covered in the blood of the bull.

Is it talking about actually being covered by blood? What does it mean?

It depends on the lens you interpret the symbols through.

Penal/Imposed Law

Blood is legal payment
Pays for our bad deeds/sins
Covers our defects of character
Removes record of sin from books
Symbolic of death

Healing/Design Law

Blood symbolizes Remedy
Heals the heart/condition
Transforms our character
Removes sinfulness from hearts
Symbolic of life (Love/Truth)

The founders of our church saw it the way I do, sadly most of Christianity, including many of our current church leaders, see it through Roman Imperial law constructs. Here are some quotes written over 100 years ago to show you how our church started out:

- The atonement of Christ is not a mere skillful way to have our sins pardoned; it is a divine remedy for the cure of transgression and the restoration of spiritual health. It is the Heaven-ordained means by which the righteousness of Christ may be not only upon us but in our hearts and characters (Letter 406, 1906). {6BC 1074.2}
- In the beginning, man was created in the likeness of God, not only in character, but in form and feature. Sin defaced and almost obliterated the divine image; but Christ came to restore that which had been lost. GC 645
- When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 311.4}
- The law of God should be loved and honored by His true people now more than ever before. There is the most imperative necessity of urging the injunction of Christ upon the minds and hearts of all believers, men and women, youth and children: "Search the Scriptures." Study your Bible as you have never studied it before. Unless you arise to a higher, holier state in your religious life, you will not be ready for the appearing of our Lord... Much time should be spent in prayer, that our garments of character may be washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb. {5T 717.1}

- The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb. {COL 102.3}
- In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life.” Fundamentals of Christian Education 378.1

Thoughts?

Do you think we need to move past symbols to reality?

Read second paragraph, “This week...” thoughts?

What does it mean Jesus is “standing in the presence of God ministering the merits of His sacrifice in our behalf”?

What are the merits of His sacrifice? It depends on the lens through which you view it. Let’s contrast the two lenses:

Penal/Imposed Law

Merits = Credits/Points/Payment
Presented to God to earn favor
Offered to earn pardon
Applied to record books

Healing/Design Law

Merits = traits of character
Presented to us to earn trust
Offered as remedy to cure hearts
Reproduced in people

Why do we end up with such confused thinking? Because the filters/lenses/biases people have when they read. The Bible is written in many symbols, riddles, dreams, metaphors, parables, and “dark speech” and thus is open to wide interpretation. When people read they bring with them their preconceived ideas and understand the symbols and metaphors through those lenses. (This is why we use the integrative evidenced based approach, harmonizing Scripture, Science and Experience)

Here is a quotation from a founder of our church. Consider how this is most frequently understood, and how do you understand it or explain it?

The world's Redeemer possessed the power to draw men to Himself, to quiet their fears, to dispel their gloom, to inspire them with hope and courage, to enable them to believe in the willingness of God to receive them through the merits of the divine Substitute. As subjects of the love of God we ever should be grateful that we have a mediator, an advocate, an intercessor in the heavenly courts, who pleads in our behalf before the Father. {LHU 320.2}

Thoughts? Does this quote from the same person give additional insight to what might have been meant?

While Jesus, our Intercessor, pleads for us in heaven, the Holy Spirit works in us, to will and to do of His good pleasure. All heaven is interested in the salvation of the soul. Then what reason have we to doubt that the Lord will not and does not help us? . . . {2MR 37.1}

Thoughts? Jesus pleads, but all heaven is interested in our salvation, what does this mean? It means that those in heaven do not need persuasion. So if Christ's pleading is not to persuade the beings in heaven, including His Father, then it must be need to persuade others, who? He is pleading in heaven, through the HS to us!

- We are the ones who doubt God's goodness.
- We are the ones burdened by guilt and shame and lies to think we are too far gone, too sinful, too wicked, too unholy for God to still love.
- We are the ones who doubt that Christ's love, Christ's righteousness could still be for us.
- We are the ones who are confused, groping in the darkness of this world seeking for the light and Christ from heaven that pleads, through the Holy Spirit, to you and to me, "I love you. Don't give up! Listen to my voice. Follow me. I will never leave you nor for sake you. Trust me, let me into your heart, choose me and I will heal you!"

Satan has lied and Christianity has been infected with his lies about God's law being imposed, and therefore the solution and pleas of Christ are directed toward God and God's law rather than toward you and me! This penal idea undermines trust and obstructs Christ's ability to actually heal us.

MONDAY

The lesson starts with Romans 8:31-34, lets read it:

³¹ What, then, shall we say in response to this? If God is for us, who can be against us? ³² He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all—how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? ³³ Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. ³⁴ Who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us.

Read first paragraph, "The background..." thoughts?

What is the lesson trying to say? What lens do they read the Scripture through?

The Roman Imperial law lens – but notice the Scripture does not have a legal courtroom described, if any kind of court is described it is a royal court, the place where God rules, but not a legal courtroom.

Read the next paragraph, "However, we do not..." thoughts?

Why, according to the lesson, do we need not fear?

Did you notice anything in the Bible text that was overlooked by the lesson? “also” Jesus is “also” interceding for us? Also means what? In addition to who, in addition to the Father, read verse 28:

Rom 8:28: “And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him...”

Who is working for our good? And what about verse 26?

In the same way, the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We do not know what we ought to pray for, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with groans that words cannot express.

So who is interceding for us? God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit – ALL THREE are interceding FOR us. One member is NOT interceding with another member of the Godhead, instead all three are working together to intercede for us – with what or whom?

Could it be like this?

- The Father intercedes by providing all the resources in heaven for our defense and restoration, thus He intercedes with the principalities and power of darkness. He sends the angels to hold the four winds, and to create protective hedge against evil forces, and to watch over His people. (Jesus said the angels of the children always have access to the Father). He also sent the most precious resource of all, His very own Son!
- The Holy Spirit intercedes in our hearts and minds, to enlighten with truth, convict of wrong, to draw with love, to woo to a better way, to make us dissatisfied with sin and create a longing for our heavenly home, and to apply what Christ achieved in us.
- Jesus intercedes with the course of sinfulness itself by becoming sin, though He knew no sin, so that we might become the righteousness of God. In other words, humanity, in Adam, was on a terminal course, but Jesus, by becoming human changed the outcome, interceded in the trajectory that the species was racing toward and offers, a new destination, instead of eternal death in Adam, we can have eternal life in Christ.

Do you see, in the healing model, how all three are working together, all three are interceding with the power of sin, evil, darkness for our recovery and salvation. But in the imposed law model, Jesus is often presented as interceding with His Father to plead His blood payment to an offended god.

Read the last paragraph to get a sense of this distortion: “Our Advocate...”

Read second to last paragraph, “This truth becomes...” again this is a distortion from accepting the false law construct, believing the lie that sin must be punished. Where did this lie originate? Here is what our church used to teach:

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. {DA 761.4}

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love. Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. {DA 761.5}

Through Jesus, God's mercy was manifested to men; but mercy does not set aside justice. The law reveals the attributes of God's character, and not a jot or tittle of it could be changed to meet man in his fallen condition. God did not change His law, but He sacrificed Himself, in Christ, for man's redemption. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. {DA 762.1}

[Why could the law not be changed? Because the law are the protocols upon which life is built. To change the law would be to destroy life. The law of respiration cannot be changed to meet the person who has tied a plastic bag over their head. What needs to change is the condition of the person. Thus, Christ was sacrificed for man's redemption, to reconcile man back to God, to restore man back to harmony with God. Actual transformation. Notice the very next words of what the law required. Satan alleged all sin must be punished. Penal substitution theology supports Satan's claim, stating all sin must be punished. Notice how our church thought over 100 years ago on what the law required...]

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

What is happening? Christ is the means whereby the law is sustained and the sinner is restored to harmony with it. This is justice. This is doing right. This is healing. All this inflicted punishment for sin is pagan and based on Satan's false presentation of God's law as imposed.

Also, the word “parakletos” is the same word used by Jesus to tell disciples that the “comforter” would come to them. It means someone who walks alongside to provide help, to guide, to assist, to lead into truth, to lead out of darkness. Thus, it is NOT a legal term, but a healing term, a “helper” to help use in our time of need.

Jesus is our “helper” along with the Father and the Holy Spirit. As Hebrews says, “surely it is not angels he helps, but Abraham’s descendants.”

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Christ is called...” thoughts?

When we think mediator what do we think?

A go between? Yes, Christ is the go between. When did Christ become the one who goes between God and His creatures? Was it only after sin, or even before sin?

God lives in “unapproachable light” (1Tim 6:16), it is not about photons, but about knowledge, truth, wisdom and all the prerogatives of divinity. God is infinite in all things. Finite beings cannot enter into infinity, it is unapproachable to us. Thus, if we cannot approach infinity and God longs for closeness with His finite, yet intelligent, creation, what is required? A member of the Godhead to leave infinity and interact on the level of the creation. This member has always been Jesus.

Prior to actually partaking of humanity and becoming human, Jesus used to “manifest” (not actually be) Himself in the form of an angel (see Exodus 3) and other places.

So, Jesus has always been mediating, interceding, going between the Godhead and His creation. But, because of Imperial Roman law constructs we have interpreted 180 degrees backward what His mediation is about.

Rather than seeing Jesus mediating a new covenant, a new relationship, a healing remedy in which Jesus cures us and returns us to unity with the Father, we have described Jesus as pleading a legal payment to His Father, or Jesus hiding the truth of our condition from the Father etc. etc.

The third paragraph is correct, Jesus came to restore the connection between God and man that was broken by sin. This required fixing man, not changing God.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson points out correctly that Jesus was tempted in everyway, just like us, but without sin. It points to the experiences in the desert when Satan tempted him. And yes, Jesus did experience external temptation from the enemy as we do. But, this wasn’t the most powerful, nor the most significant, in my view.

Notice how Satan approached in the desert. He approached through the three primary avenues of our carnal nature – the lust of the flesh – appetite, the lust of the eyes – greed (all the cities), and the pride of life, throw yourself down and show us how special you are.

But later, Christ experienced even more powerful temptations. The most powerful temptations came in Gethsemane and crucifixion weekend, when he experienced temptation, from His own human emotions, when He felt emotions of fear, loneliness, rejection, hurt, humiliation, shame, when He was rejected by His friends, cursed by His followers, spit upon by His people, whipped by strangers, stripped naked and hung out before the world, mocked, belittled, teased, and then tempted by others to save Himself repeatedly. To be without sleep, dehydrated, weak, and feeling all alone, without even the comforting sense of His Father.

Then the devil hit him with coercion, pressure, threat, intimidation, rejection of friends, physical abuse and death.

It was an awful time, yet what did He do? He loved, constantly, totally, insistently, completely, perfectly. His human brain, though tempted, He never surrendered, never gave up, never quit, never stopped loving, but surrendered self in love for you and for me!

Yes, He knows the power of what our fallen nature does to us. He knows exactly the horror of fear, and the pull to act to protect self, and therefore we can have confidence that we are not alone. God really does understand!

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “As we have seen...” thoughts?

Yes, sin is bad, it is terrible – but is sin terrible because Jesus died? If Jesus had not died for us, would sin be less terrible? But if Jesus had not died for us would God be as good?

Why could animal sacrifices not suffice to deal with sin?

The legal model would say that it is because sin is so terrible, so offensive, it requires a payment that is more valuable than an animal, a perfect sinless payment, the death of Jesus.

But, again, it is because they have accepted the false law construct. The answer is quite simple, animals don't possess a human nature. Therefore, the death of an animal could not cure the human condition, cleanse the human conscience, or renew the human nature.

Thus Hebrews says:

This is an illustration for the present time, indicating that the gifts and sacrifices being offered were not able to clear the conscience of the worshiper...¹¹ When Christ came as high priest of the good things that are already here, he went through the greater and more perfect tabernacle that is not man-made, that is to say, not a part of this creation. ¹² He did not enter by means of the blood of goats and calves; but he entered the Most Holy Place once for all by his own blood, having obtained eternal redemption. ¹³ The blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer sprinkled on those who are ceremonially unclean sanctify them so that they are outwardly clean. ¹⁴ How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from acts that lead to death, so that we may serve the living God! (Heb 9:9-14)

Let us draw near to God with a sincere heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled to cleanse us from a guilty conscience and having our bodies washed with pure water. (Heb 10:22)

Notice, that the sacrifice of Christ was not to cleanse a building in heaven, to gain legal status change, but to actually cleanse us by restoring us into God's design, by healing and transforming us back to rightness, also known as righteousness.

FRIDAY

Read and discuss question 4, "The book of Hebrews..." thoughts?

I was emailed a link in which a Catholic priest and a protestant theologian discussed the Eucharist and transubstantiation:

<http://amazingdiscoveries.org/12.10.24-debate-about-the-mass-and-transubstantiation>

They went back and forth over things like whether a priest could stand in for Christ, over sacrificing Christ again and again, over it being a violation of the law to eat blood etc.

But the real issue was uncovered when The Catholic priest said:

"There are two elements to any sacrifice the immolation and the offering. The immolation is a bloody death. The lamb is slain, what is precious about that is the life in the blood of the lamb is precious and that pays back God. That's how the Old Testament rituals used to work. The immolation happened once but the offering is something Christ does for all eternity. He is right now in the presence of the Father, in the holy of holies, in the eternal presence, offering himself to the Father for the forgiveness of our sins.... Christ isn't killed again and again and again, he is offered [in the Eucharist] in the same eternal presence as Christ offers himself."

The priest said it was in this offering of his sacrifice over and over again that the sins were paid for. So each time we sin, we must take mass in order to have the sacrifice of Christ pay for that sin.

How do you think the protestant theologian responded? The protestant theologian responded, with the argument that Christ is not in heaven offering his sacrifice over and over, but offering his merits to the Father over and over.

So to the protestant theologian, each time we sin we don't need to go to a priest and take mass to have Christ's sacrifice presented to the Father to pay for our sins. Our sins were paid for, past, present and future, all at the Cross. No, when we sin we go to Christ, who presents his merits to the Father, reminding the Father that he has already paid for our sins so the Father can forgive us and not punish us.

Thoughts? Don't you see Satan laughing? Here we have Catholics and Protestants arguing, for centuries, whether Jesus is offering his sacrifice to God over and over again to pay for our sins, or whether he is offering his merits over and over to remind the Father that our sins are paid for.

What is the problem?

Daniel 7, the little horn power would seek to change God's law – how? By getting us to replace the truth that God's law is the law of love, the design protocol upon which life was built, with the idea that God's law is like a Roman emperor, put upon us to test our obedience.

Catholic and Protestant alike have accepted this change in God's law and both teach that Christ needed to die to pay for our sin, and both teach that Christ works to present something to the Father so the Father won't punish us.

But, the truth is God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. That God so loved the world he sent his son. That the fullness of the Godhead dwelt in Christ bodily, so that even though he knew no sin, he became sin for us, so that we might become the righteousness of God.

When we accept the lie that God's law is imposed, then we create false doctrines that breaking the law requires the lawgiver to punish and Christ died to offer himself to the Father to pay the penalty for our sin.

When we accept the truth that God's law is the principle of love upon which life was built, we realize that breaking the law is incompatible with life and Christ died to destroy the infecting principle of selfishness and actually restore humankind back into harmony with God's design for life.

We have a message that is to lighten the world, to free minds from this insidious distortion of God and his character of love and people need this message, including many well meaning, sincere, good-hearted church leaders.

The Sanctuary Lesson 9 4Q 2013

The Pre-Advent Judgment

For those who haven't heard, both the NAD and the IED have voted to approve ordination of women to the gospel ministry. From Spectrum:

The Inter-European Division's recommendation stems from several points:

- The Bible does not specifically define what ordination for pastoral ministry is.
- There are no direct statements in the Bible either commanding or prohibiting women's ordination.
- As the church felt free to develop its organizational structure to further its mission based on biblical principles, division BRC members consider ordination not as a doctrinal or biblical issue, but something that must be handled at an administrative level.
- There are no clear biblical principles that would require or guide the application of the principle of headship in the family or the church.
- The Old Testament priesthood has its fulfillment in the unique priesthood of Christ, which is the basis for the priesthood of all believers.
- BRC members were unclear over why ordination requires a differentiation between genders that doesn't exist in other levels of ministry or service, such as teachers, deacons, prophets and leaders.

How long have their conclusions been true? Were their conclusions true before they concluded it? What took so long?

This is a great example of unfolding truth – how an organization can doggedly hold to a certain idea, based on bias, presupposition, assumption, tradition, preconceived ideas, and yet that idea not have any basis in Scripture or be true.

Do you think women's ordination is the only idea in Christianity like this?

What about the Pre-Advent Judgment? Might it have ideas that need to be advanced?

What is your understanding of the pre advent judgment?

- What is it to accomplish?
- For whose benefit?
- What is being examined?
- Who is being judged?

A little history of this doctrine. William Miller was a Baptist preacher who studied Daniel and Revelation prophecies and in the 1830's became convicted to preach on the fulfillment of these time prophecies, particularly Daniel 8:14, culminating on October 22, 1844. Unto 2300 days then the sanctuary will be cleansed, was calculated to finish 1844, and the event was thought to be the second coming.

Well, Christ didn't return and there was a great disappointment, with the vast majority of the Millerites returning to their denominational churches. A handful of those Millerites continued to study and came to believe that the date was rightly calculated, but the error was in understanding the sanctuary. The Millerites understood the sanctuary to be the earth, but in fact it is not, and they discovered there is a "heavenly sanctuary" and this prophecy refers to this sanctuary, not the earth.

This led to the development of the pre-advent judgment doctrine in which the church teaches that in 1844 Christ entered the MH place of the heavenly sanctuary to initiate the final phase of the work before the advent.

But this doctrine has been debated in the church since its inception and has been under a progressive transformation since its inception. Initially, after the earth as the sanctuary was rejected, it was taught that 1844 was the close of probation and no one else could be saved after that date. Then it was updated to teach that Christ's mission changed at that date from Holy to Most Holy Place, and investigation of records began to determine who would be taken in the first resurrection. Later the idea that angels needed to be certain the saved were "safe to save" was proposed, and the idea that God's government was being vindicated in this process was included.

- 1887 Dudley Canright questioned the doctrine and chose to leave the church and became a strong critic of the church.
- 1905 Albion Ballenger was disfellowshipped for questioning the doctrine.
- 1930 William Fletcher resigned because of questions about this doctrine.
- 1931 Louis Conradi had his ministerial credential removed and chose to leave the church because of questions about the sanctuary doctrine.
- 1945 Harold Snide from what is now SAU withdrew from the church because of questions about this doctrine.
- 1956 Robert Greive, an Australian leader, had questions about the investigative judgment had his ministerial credentials withdrawn and then left the church.
- 1979 Desmond Ford went public with questions about the Sanctuary which resulted in Glacier View meetings in 1980, and the church revoked his ministerial credentials one month later, and it was reported that that resulted in 182 pastors in Australia and New Zealand resigning between 1980 and 1988, which was about 40% of the pastorate in that region.
- Since 1980 most people in the SDA church have been afraid to ask legitimate questions for fear the church administration will take action against them.

So, can we explore the question of the investigative judgment, honestly, with sincere hearts, searching for the unfolding truth, or must we shy away, parrot back the standard lines and refuse to "investigate" the investigative judgment doctrine?

I will share my view on this, as long as we can agree that my view is not the final word, it is understandably developing. I may not have every portion correct, and don't claim to, but only to honestly investigate the question seeking for answers that harmonize with the totality of Scripture.

Can we do this? Or must we conclude there is nothing more to understand or learn and close our minds to any advancing light?

Because this is a unique SDA teaching, we will necessarily review some of the documentation from the early years of the SDA church.

My approach is upon the landscape of the Great Controversy over God's character which began before humankind was created. This landscape informs us of this issue and what is actually transpiring.

As you review this doctrine do any questions come to your mind? As I was studying this topic several questions came to my mind:

- Why does the Heavenly Sanctuary need cleansing, and from what?
- By what means is it cleansed, and who cleanses it?
- Is this cleansing related to judgment?
- If so, who is being judged?
- Why does it take so long?
- Who needs the investigation?
- Who is being investigated?
- What relevance does any of this have for me here on earth?
- Does the Bible teach any sanctuary in existence, other than the one in heaven, in 1844 and since?

Why do we need to build on history? Why can't we just accept what the founders of the church have laid down and stick with that? Well, one of the founders, Ellen G. White, said in 1900, long after the foundational understanding was laid:

“The significance of the Jewish economy is not yet fully comprehended. Truths vast and profound are shadowed forth in its rites and symbols. The gospel is the key that unlocks its mysteries. Through a knowledge of the plan of redemption, its truths are opened to the understanding. Far more than we do, it is our privilege to understand these wonderful themes.” COL 133.

As a physician one of the first principles we are taught is to diagnose because if the diagnosis is wrong, most of the time, the treatment will be wrong. So we need to start with some diagnostic questions:

1. What sanctuary needed cleansing?
2. What is the problem with the sanctuary that it needs cleansing? And then after answering these two questions we can answer
3. How is the sanctuary cleansed?

What sanctuary needs cleansing? The founders of the SDA church established that the “heavenly sanctuary” needs cleansing, but, is that the only sanctuary the Bible teaches that needs cleansing? Paul tells us of another sanctuary that needs cleansing, “Don't you know that you yourselves are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you? If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him; for God's temple is sacred, and you are that temple.” (1 Corinthians 3:16,17).

Do you and I need cleansing from sin? Is this part of the sanctuary message? If so how? Again from one of the SDA founders:

“In the building of the sanctuary as a dwelling place for God, Moses was directed to make all things according to the pattern of things in the heavens. God called him into the mount, and revealed to him the heavenly things, and in their similitude the tabernacle, with all that pertained to it, was fashioned.

“So to Israel, whom He desired to make His dwelling place, He revealed His glorious ideal of character. The pattern was shown them in the mount when the law was given from Sinai and when God passed by before Moses and proclaimed, "The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." Exodus 34:6. . .

“Through Christ was to be fulfilled the purpose of which the tabernacle was a symbol-- that glorious building, its walls of glistening gold reflecting in rainbow hues the curtains inwrought with cherubim, the fragrance of ever-burning incense pervading all, the priests robed in spotless white, and in the deep mystery of the inner place, above the mercy seat, between the figures of the bowed, worshiping angels, the glory of the Holiest. In all, God desired His people to read His purpose for the human soul. It was the same purpose long afterward set forth by the apostle Paul, speaking by the Holy Spirit:

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." 1 Corinthians 3:16, 17. (Education 34-36).

“In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,—from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Mal. 3:1-3. (DA 161).

So what sanctuary needs cleansing?

Well certainly the sanctuary of the human soul needs cleansing.

Was this sanctuary still on the earth in 1844?

One of the assumptions made by the Millerites was that the sanctuary was the earth, the cleansing was the second coming. When the Lord didn't come some people reevaluated and drew a conclusion: The Bible doesn't teach the earth is the sanctuary. The OT sanctuary wasn't on the earth at that time, so they concluded the only sanctuary left to be cleansed was the one in heaven. Is that the only sanctuary, according to Scripture? No, the sanctuary of the human soul needs to be cleansed as well.

Then what about the "heavenly sanctuary"? Does it need cleansing? First, what is the heavenly sanctuary? Does inspiration give us any insight as to what constitutes the sanctuary in heaven? From what is it built?

"Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's HOUSE [sanctuary/temple], built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. In him the whole building [sanctuary/temple] is joined together and rises to become a HOLY TEMPLE in the Lord. And in him YOU too [you all] are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit. Ephesians 2:19-22.

"As you come to him, the living Stone--rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him-- YOU also, like LIVING STONES [building blocks of the Temple], are being built into a SPIRITUAL HOUSE [Temple] to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ." 1 Pet 2:4,5.

From the Bible, if we use it, then we must conclude the sanctuary in heaven is built by God, without human hands, and the building material IS intelligent beings. Did some of the founders of the SDA church think this?

There are many quotes, like the two I gave above that any reasonable person would understand teaches God's true tabernacle is built out of intelligent beings. But here is another, and there are more, that leave no doubt:

The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use. {3MR 231.3}

Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}

So does the sanctuary of the human soul need cleansing? And, what about the sanctuary in heaven? If it is constructed out of beings then would it need cleansing

Satan defiles the heavenly sanctuary by defiling the membership of the church here on earth, who are the actual building blocks of that heavenly house.

So, the sanctuary in heaven and the sanctuary of the human soul, both need cleansing! Then from what do they need cleansing?

Let's start with the heavenly sanctuary, what defiles the heavenly sanctuary?

"From the opening of the great controversy it has been Satan's purpose to misrepresent God's character and to excite rebellion against His law, and this work appears to be crowned with success." (PP 338).

Satan, the angel formerly known as Lucifer, occupied the position of covering cherub. Where did the covering cherub stand? Where was his place in heaven? In the Most Holy Place in the sanctuary in heaven. Before man ever sinned, before man even existed, Lucifer sinned in the sanctuary in heaven misrepresenting God's character. The first defilement of the sanctuary in heaven was not your sin and my sin it was Lucifer's sin, his lies about God, his misrepresentations about the character of God, which started right in the heavenly throne room, and which defiled the sanctuaries of heavenly beings. 1/3 of the angels were defiled, the unity, the peace, the sanctuary in heaven was disrupted:

- You were anointed as a guardian cherub, for so I ordained you. You were on the holy mount of God; you walked among the fiery stones.
- ¹⁵ You were blameless in your ways from the day you were created till wickedness was found in you.
- ¹⁶ Through your widespread trade you were filled with violence, and you sinned. So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God, and I expelled you, O guardian cherub, from among the fiery stones.
- ¹⁷ Your heart became proud on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom because of your splendor. So I threw you to the earth;
I made a spectacle of you before kings.
- ¹⁸ By your many sins and dishonest trade you have desecrated your sanctuaries. Ezek 28:14-18

From one of the SDA founders:

“Satan had accused God of requiring self-denial of the angels, when he knew nothing of what it meant himself, and when he would not himself make any self-sacrifice for others. This was the accusation that Satan made against God in heaven; and after the evil one was expelled from heaven, he continually charged the Lord with exacting service which he would not render himself. Christ came to the world to meet these false accusations, and to reveal the Father.” (RH, February 18, 1890).

“God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God.” (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890).

So, from what does the sanctuary need cleansing? The heavenly sanctuary, first, needs to be cleansed from Satan’s lies about God, that God is selfish, unwilling to serve, that He is severe, exacting, revengeful and arbitrary. And secondly, as our founders have established, the heavenly sanctuary needs to be cleansed from the sins of the people.

But what about the sanctuary of the human soul, from what does it need cleansing?

“Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors...” (RH, January 5, 1886 par. 8).

What was the first thing that defiled the sanctuary of the human soul? Lies about God! It was not what we call sin, the passions, lusts, earthliness. The first thing to contaminate the Spirit Temple was lies about God. The exact same thing that contaminated the Heavenly Sanctuary! It was only after the Spirit Temple was contaminated with lies about God that it was further defiled with passions, the selfish lusts, earthly desires and evil habits, but only after the mind was already contaminated with lies about God.

So from what does the sanctuary need cleansing?

- The heavenly sanctuary needs cleansing from the lies that Satan told about God and the recorded sins of the people.
- And the Spirit Temple, the sanctuary of the human soul, needs cleansing from the lies that Satan told about God and defilement of sin, the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits.
- Both sanctuaries need cleansing from the exact same things!
- If this is confusing, how we as individuals can be temples, but collectively also be a sanctuary – consider building a super computer, which can be done from multiple individual computers connected in parallel. If some of the individual computers are infected with a virus, then the entire supercomputer can be infected, and certainly won't work properly. In order to "cleanse" the super computer, one must cleanse each individual computer that makes up the whole.
- Likewise, the cleansing of the heavenly sanctuary IS the cleansing of the individual members who make up the whole.

Now how is the prophecy of Daniel 8 related to the cleansing of these two sanctuaries?

In this chapter there is a little horn power described as defiling the sanctuary, but the little horn power is not the ultimate enemy of God. He is just one of the many faces God's true enemy uses. Let's look at the power behind the little horn?

The Little Horn Power	The Power Behind the Little Horn
Grew great but not by own power	Received power from Dragon Rev. 13:2
Threw starry host down & trampled them	Dragon's tail swept 1/3 of stars from heaven Rev. 12:3
Set itself up to be like the Prince	Dragon fought against Prince Michael Rev. 12:7
Took away the daily sacrifice	Dragon created false system Mark 4:15, 2Cor 11:14, 2Thes 2:9
Brought the sanctuary low	Dragon establishes synagogue of Satan Rev 2:9, 3:9
Throws truth to ground & deceives	Dragon is father of lies John 8:44
Persecutes the saints	Dragon persecutes the saints Rev. 12:13-17

Where does the little horn get his power? From the dragon - Satan! But now the question is: what is the dragon's power?

“Since the children have flesh and blood, he [Christ] too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death--that is, the devil” Hebrews 2:14.

Did you know that the devil holds the power of death? What is the power of death? And how can the devil hold it? Christ gives us the insight we need:

John 17:3 “Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent.”

What is eternal life? Knowing God! If eternal life is knowing God, then what would eternal death be? Not knowing God! Then what would Satan’s power be? The lies that he tells about God, that we believe, that keep us from knowing God!

- What was the first thing that contaminated the heavenly sanctuary? Lies about God!
- What was the first thing that contaminated the sanctuary of the human soul? Lies about God!
- And what was the first lie told in heaven by Satan, according to one of the founders of the church, who helped form the investigative judgment doctrine?
- In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. {DA 761.4}

So what defiles the soul temple?

- The lies about God that Adam and Eve believed that broke their trust and confidence and relationship with God;
- The continued lies that we believe that prevent us from trusting God and being reconciled to Him.
- If those persistent lies about God are not removed by the truth about God that Jesus Christ has brought, then Satan’s principles of selfishness continue to grow – the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits.
- These destructive elements strengthen within and instead of Christlike character developing we develop the character of the rebel, the Satanic character;
- and the soul, the individual created with dignity, nobility of character, in God’s image to represent Him to an onlooking universe, the being designed to be the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit, instead of revealing Godlike character, becomes a synagogue of Satan and the habitation of devils and reveals the Satanic character, ultimately ending in desolation and destruction.
- The abomination that causes desolation is the abomination of lies about God, told by Satan in heaven and religious systems on earth, that results in the desolation of the image of God in man, the destruction of character and ultimately the desolation of the sanctuary – the sanctuary of the human soul.
- This abomination is manifest from the Dragon – who first lied in heaven, that God is unforgiving, every sin must be punished urged Satan (DA 762), and God’s law is imposed, but this abomination is manifest through the church that has accepted a change in God's law, that it is like Imperial Rome's, imposed rather than the truth that God's law is the design protocol upon which life is built. This distortion leads to multiple false doctrines that contaminate the mind, incite fear of God and defile the Spirit Temple.

- God needs to cleanse our minds from the false constructs that cause fear, legalism, penal atonement models, punishing God concepts and bring us back into trust relationship with Him, so He can then cleanse us from fear and selfishness and prepare us to walk into heaven!
- We are called back to worship the Designer, the Creator and reject the dictator view of God that is promulgated in penal atonement theories.

In fact the little horn power is said to make war and be winning until something happens, what?

Daniel 7:21,22 gives insight:

As I watched, this horn was waging war against the saints and defeating them, until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom.

The above rendering is from the NIV which many, who assume the legal model, prefer. But does the meaning of the passage change when we read from the King James Version?

Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom. Daniel 7:22

Which translation is more accurate? The Hebrew word translated "pronounced" actually means "to give" or "to impart" and thus the KJV would be more accurate in this context.

Why do the saints of God need judgment or discernment imparted to them? The Daniel text tells us the little horn warred against the saints and was defeating them. What kind of warfare was going on?

For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. 2 Cor 10:3-5

What kind of war? Where is it being fought? This is a war between truth and lies, fought in our minds and centering on God's character! Amazingly, Paul makes the connection to the cleansing of the Temple even closer and shows how the Temple is connected to this war going on in our minds:

Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God. 2Thes 2:2-4

Paul is describing the exact same events as Daniel 7 in which evil powers war against the saints and oppose God. In the aftermath of Christ's death, resurrection and ascension into heaven, did this man of lawlessness ride into heaven overthrow God, set himself up in God's temple in heaven and proclaim himself to be God? No, where did this happen? In the Spirit Temple! In our minds!

Therefore, the cleansing of the temple as described in the Bible is the cleansing of our minds from the lies about God, which wins us to trust and results in our cleansing from sin.

We have identified the two sanctuaries, the sanctuary in heaven and the sanctuary of the human soul.

- Both were defiled by lies about God.
- Both defiled by the sins of the people, either the actual sin in the Spirit Temple or the recorded sin in the Heavenly Temple.
- But what is the connection between sin in us and our record in heaven? In other words, why is it so vital to cleanse those records, and how are they cleansed?
 - “Remember, your character is being daguerretyped [photographed] by the great Master Artist in the record books of heaven, as minutely as the face is reproduced upon the polished plate of the artist. What do the books of heaven say in your case? Are you conforming your character to the Pattern, Jesus Christ? Are you washing your robes of character and making them white in the blood of the Lamb? "Behold, I come quickly; and My reward is with Me, to give every man according as his work shall be" [Revelation 22:12]. . . . {Testimonies on Sexual Behavior, Adultery and Divorce 62.1}
 - Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. God in His own time will call forth the dead, giving again the breath of life, and bidding the dry bones live. The same form will come forth, but it will be free from disease and every defect. It lives again bearing the same individuality of features, so that friend will recognize friend. There is no law of God in nature which shows that God gives back the same identical particles of matter which composed the body before death. God shall give the righteous dead a body that will please Him. {6BC 1093.2}

The heavenly sanctuary is composed of living beings. Currently, the individualities of those who have died are stored safe with Christ in heaven. What is recorded there is your character, your heart, your individuality. Thus, the heavenly sanctuary is contaminated by us, literally. If we are defiled our characters are defiled and they are recorded there. Thus, the cleansing of the sanctuary entails, just what the Bible teaches, Christ purifying and cleansing His bride, the cleansing of our characters, the removal of defects from us. The records in heaven merely record the reality of our hearts and minds.

We have identified that both sanctuaries have contaminated by lies about God and the sins of the people, now we must explore what it is that cleanses.

What cleanses the sanctuary? What cleanses the sanctuary in heaven and the sanctuary of the human soul?

And of course we all know this answer, we have been taught this since childhood- “The blood of Jesus” cleanses. But what does that mean? How does the blood of Jesus cleanse?

Jesus said,

“I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink.” (John 6:53-55).

We know that Jesus was not promoting cannibalism, so His words must mean something else, what does it mean to drink His blood and eat His flesh?

“In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life.” (Fundamentals of Christian Education 378).

Could the flesh and blood of Christ have something to do with truth? Could truth have something to do with cleansing the sanctuary?

“The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb.” (Christ’s Object Lessons 102).

The blood is symbolic of the truth that Jesus brought, the truth about God which wins to trust, but the blood is symbolic of more: Leviticus 17:11,14 tell us that the life is in the blood.

Thus the blood is also symbolic of the perfect life of Jesus, which those who trust Him receive. Thus the two phases of Christ’s mission, the two phases in our salvation: Christ came to reveal truth to win to trust, but Christ also came to develop a perfect character which He offers as a free gift to all who trust Him.

Therefore, the blood is symbolic of the truth revealed by Christ which cleanses the Spirit Temple of the lies about God and wins to trust and the blood is also symbolic of His perfect life, His perfect character which is reproduced in the Spirit Temple by the working of the Holy Spirit. Thus to partake of His blood is to partake of the truth about God and the character of Christ, which cleanses the Spirit Temple from sin.

In the book The Great Controversy Ellen White states,

“The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of Days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi[3:1-3], are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25.” (p. 426).

Notice we have four texts that describe the same event. Let’s look at the first three.

Daniel 8:14 “Unto 2300 days and then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.” If you look in the SDA Bible commentary you will discover that the Hebrew word translated cleansed is more accurately translated justified. Unto 2300 days and then shall the sanctuary be justified.

But what does justified mean? To set right, to put in order, to put what is out of line back in line. For those of you who have a word processor on your computer there is a command at the top which allows you to justify your margins. If you justify the margins what happens? Everything that is out of line is put in line, everything that is out of order is put in order, everything that is out of harmony is put in harmony, everything that is wrong is set right.

Now the question is: what needs justifying? What is wrong that needs to be set right? What is out of line that needs to be put in line? What is out of order that needs reordering? What is out of harmony that needs to be brought back into harmony? The mind, heart and character of mankind! Let’s see if the evidence supports this.

Remember in the quote above four texts are all referring to the same event. We have just examined Daniel 8:14, but look at the Malachi 3:1-3 which is describing the same event,

“...The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple...behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver.”

What does a refiner’s fire and launderer’s soap do? They cleanse! Remember Daniel 8:14 unto 2300 days and then the sanctuary will be cleansed or justified or set right. And what does Malachi say He cleanses when He comes to His temple? The Levites!

Well who are the Levites?

“You also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.” (1Pet 2:4)

What is another name for a “spiritual house”? A sanctuary!

“You also, like living stones, are being built into a sanctuary...” And just a few verses down Peter repeats this reality for emphasis, “But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood...” (1Pet 2:9).

2300 days then shall the sanctuary be justified or set right, 2300 days and He shall come to His temple and He shall purify or cleanse the Levites – the priesthood of believers, the sanctuary of the human soul. How does the cleansing of the Spirit Temple, the sanctuary of the human soul affect the sanctuary in heaven? How are the two sanctuaries related in this cleansing? Well there was another text referring to the same event, the Daniel 7 text. “The Ancient of Days took his seat...The court was seated, and the books were opened.” (Daniel 7:9,10).

What books and for what purpose? Two options:

Roman Imposed Law	Designer Law of love
Books have list of sins	Books have record of God’s action in lives of sinners
Heaven investigates sinners	Sinners investigate God
God determines innocence/guilt	Sinners determine whether to trust God

What is more likely?

- God is love 1Jn 4:8
- Love keeps no record of wrongs 1Cor 13:5
- But the Bible says there are heavenly records – what does it mean?

When I was in med school, doing ER rotation...

The records are there to exonerate and defend God, NOT condemn and judge us!

What did the war in heaven, initiated by Lucifer, start over? Lucifer alleged God could not be trusted. How did Satan spread his rebellion to earth? He deceived our first parents in regard to God’s trustworthiness.

We are fighting a thought war and are to demolish everything that sets itself up against “the knowledge of God!” (2Cor 10:5). Jesus said that life eternal is “knowing God” (John 17:3)

In Romans 3:4 Paul tells us that God is the One on trial, the One accused and the One who will be proved innocent:

God forbid: yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged. KJV

May it never be! Rather, let God be found true, though every man be found a liar, as it is written, “That You may be justified in Your words, And prevail when You are judged.” NASB

Certainly not! God must be true, even though every human being is a liar. As the scripture says, “You must be shown to be right when you speak; you must win your case when you are being tried.” GNT

No! God will continue to be true even when every person is false. As the Scriptures say: “So you will be shown to be right when you speak, and you will win your case.” NCV

In heaven, when God opens the books, who is being examined, God or us? Whose books are these? Have we kept these books or has God kept these books? These books are God’s books. Why would God need to open His books and why would God need to open His books about us?

In this time, this special period of history, this Day of Atonement time, when Satan is standing and accusing, God is saying, “I want to take away your defective and damaged character and restore in you my character!” Right now, today, God wants to heal you and me! In this post 1844 period it is a time for cleansing from sin, for the restoration of the image of God within, to have new garments of Christlike character.

“This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the Lord.”

After what time? Could it be the longest time prophecy in the Bible, the longest time prophecy in the Bible that has to do with the cleansing of the sanctuary?

“I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts.”

The law is a transcript of God’s character. I will put my character in their hearts and minds. I will clothe them with rich clothing. It all means the same thing, the recreation of Christlike character within. The Spirit Temple being cleansed!

“I will be their God, and they will be my people. No longer will a man teach his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, ‘Know the Lord,’ because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest.” (Hebrews 8:10,11).

“This is life eternal that they might know you the only true God and Jesus Christ whom you have sent (John 17:3).

The lies of Satan have been blown away. They are no longer operating in the mind. We are back in unity with God. We are back in unity with Christ. We are back in oneness – at-one-ment! The day of at-one-ment, the day of recreation of Christlike character within!

Imagine you have a child who has metastatic cancer, cancer all over their body. The doctors have told you the case is terminal; there is nothing that can be done. But you have heard of a doctor out west that no matter what disease the person has that goes to him, they always leave with a clean bill of health. So you pack up your child. You gather all the medical records, the bone scans, biopsy reports, CT Scans, MRI’s, everything that documents the extent of the disease and you go to this doctor. Finally, you get your day with the doctor. You hand him the medical records documenting in great detail the extent of the cancer which is ravaging your child's body. Then the doctor takes the records and begins to remove all the pages documenting any record of disease and inserts clean blank sheets of paper. And when he has replaced the entire record with blank paper he hands it back and says, "There, no more record of disease. You go on home." Are you satisfied? If you have a doctrine that teaches Christ is in heaven cleansing record books without doing something in you, you are in trouble!

But what if you go to this doctor and he looks at the records documenting the cancer in your child, and then he goes and examines and begins to intervene in your child, what do you want to happen? You want the cancer to go into remission! "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission" (Hebrews 9:22). When cancer goes into remission the cancerous cells remit to their original, normal, healthy non-cancerous state. The cancer is gone. Without the shedding of blood we could not be remitted to our original sin-free state, to our original Christlikeness of character! Without the shedding of blood, without the truth being internalized, without the victorious life and self-sacrificing death of Christ we cannot be restored, we cannot be healed!

And so, the doctor treats your child and the medical records shows the disease, shows the damage caused by the disease, but also shows the treatment applied and the record now shows your child is cancer free! God has records in heaven showing our sickness of heart and mind and the damage sin has caused in us. And hopefully, His records are also showing that we are partaking of His remedy, His treatment, and the records are showing that the sickness of sin is being removed, the rich garments are being put on, the cancer of sin is going into remission, the character of Christ is being reproduced within, the law of God is being written on the heart!

"The cases of all are pending in the heavenly sanctuary. Day by day angels of God are watching the development of character... All defects must be remedied. The character must be assimilated to the character of Christ... At an infinite cost a fountain has been prepared for our cleansing. In the blood of the Son of God we may wash our garments of character, and make them white." (ST, April 17, 1901).

"Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come." (Rev. 14:7). What is God's glory? His character, and how do we give Him glory? By allowing Him to heal us so we reveal His character at the time of His judgment! "Through trial and persecution the glory--the character--of God is revealed in His chosen ones." (AA 576).

Daniel is told in vision that an evil power would arise that would lie, distort, misrepresent God and defile the Spirit Temple by getting humans to accept, worship and teach a false picture of God. That it would be 2300 years before enough truth would be recovered for Christ to empower His people on earth with judgment to break free from the lies and be cleansed in their minds and characters, which is confirmed by Mal 3, the cleansing of the Levites.

In summary, what cleanses the two sanctuaries? The two sanctuaries need to be cleansed from Satan's lies about God. What cleanses us from the lies about God? The "blood of Christ" "the life of Christ" the significance of truth about God revealed by Jesus. Every one of the specific lies that Satan made about God was answered in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ!

But after the sanctuaries are cleansed from the lies about God they also need to be cleansed from the sins of the people, the Spirit Temple from the damage that sin has caused and the Heavenly Temple from the record of sin. What cleanses us from this? God actually, literally, genuinely heals the damage, recreates us in character, rewrites His laws on the heart and mind, restores His image within! When the lies of God have been removed so that we again trust God and open the heart to Him, then the Holy Spirit is poured out and takes what Christ has achieved and reproduces it in us. The Holy Spirit actually dwells in us, dwells in the Spirit Temple healing, transforming, recreating us into Godlikeness! And thus we are cleansed and the records in heaven document this healing and transformation!

And what about the other lies of Satan, that God is unjust if He should forgive and heal and restore sinners? That it's not fair for God to save human sinners but not save him and his evil angels? That God is not allowed to forgive and pardon us? That sin requires God to exact punishment? How do these false allegations get resolved? How are the sanctuaries cleansed from these lies?

God opens His books and allows Himself to be investigated! God allows his conduct in handling the sin problem to be investigated! And He is glorified in His methods and principles as they are demonstrated to bring life, to bring health, to bring healing, to bring restoration, to bring unity – at-one-ment. And He is glorified in the lives of the saints who bear witness that even though we were branches burning in the fire, branches damaged and marred by the fire, that He can put out the fire of sin in us and actually cleanse and restore and recreated us to be just like Jesus!

Opening Questions:

- Why does the Heavenly Sanctuary need cleansing, and from what?
 - Because Satan told lies about God which caused deviation from God's design and fear and selfishness has damaged his children
- By what means is it cleansed, and who cleanses it?
 - By the victory of Jesus Christ, who revealed the truth and procured a perfect character, which we receive by trust
- Is this cleansing related to judgment?
 - Yes, it is only by coming to the right judgment about our situation, our condition, God, His character, methods, Christ and what He has done and choose to surrender to God and cooperate with Him that we can be healed/cleansed
- If so, who is being judged?
 - God has been lied about and thus God has provided the truth, that we must evaluate and judge in order to choose to trust Him
- Why does it take so long?
 - Because Satan has a counterfeit to God's law, an imposed system, that has infected the church and darkens the minds and misrepresents the truth about God, and results in a false system in which people claim legal pardon, but don't experience restored trust with God nor regeneration of character within.

- Who needs the investigation?
 - We do, we need to investigate the truth and be set free by it
- Who is being investigated?
 - God
- And what relevance does any of this have for me here on earth?
 - It is the process of conversion and transformation which is perfectly recorded in heaven, thus cleansing the record of my life from the defects of sin
- Does the Bible teach any sanctuary in existence, other than the one in heaven, in 1844 and since?
 - Yes, the Spirit Temple

SABBATH

The lesson states in the first paragraph, “The visions of Daniel 7 and 8 reveal that at some point in history this heavenly work of Christ in our behalf had entered a new phase, the judgment.... (From last paragraph) He judges in their behalf before the onlooking universe and grants them entrance into Christ’s eternal kingdom, the culmination of all their hopes as followers of the Lord.”

Thoughts?

Which law model is this through? Is our eternal destiny determined by God’s judgment of us, or our judgment of Him?

Does God’s judgments of us determine our destiny, or confirm our diagnosis, the actual condition of our hearts? Does God’s judgment determine the condition of our hearts? Then what does? Our judgments of Him!

When God judged “Ephraim is tied to his idols leave him alone.” Did God’s judgment cause Ephraim to be tied to his idols and beyond healing?

Likewise, in the judgment in heaven, to the degree God makes judgments, it is only the accurate diagnosis of what condition we are actually in. What determines our condition, and thus our eternal destiny, is NOT God’s judgment of us, but our judgment to trust or not to trust Him with our lives!

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses on Daniel 7 and claims it is a judicial judgment scene, but the text does not actually say so, that has to be read in. What the text actually describes is the coronation of Christ. Thus the court that is set is not a judicial court but a royal court:

“As I looked, “thrones were set in place, and the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him.

Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him. The court was seated, and the books were opened....“In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was one like a son of man, coming with the clouds of heaven. He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence. He was given authority, glory and sovereign power; all peoples, nations and men of every language worshiped him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will not pass away, and his kingdom is one that will never be destroyed. Daniel 7:9,10,13,14

Notice, nothing about judgment, judicial findings are expressed in the text, nothing about sinners standing before the judgment seat of God is expressed in the text.

This is the Royal Court of the universe which is holding the Coronation of Christ! Some are uncomfortable with this conclusion and rest their entire position on the Hebrew word "diyn" which is translated "court" claiming this Hebrew word refers to a judicial proceeding. I refer them to The Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament published in 1980 by Moody Press which supports "diyn" as I have rendered it above.

Read bottom pink section, "Imagine being..." does such a picture cause you to have more or less fear? As soon as Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because they were afraid. Fear is part of the infection of sin. But perfect love casts out fear.

Who wants to promote ideas about God that incite fear? Satan, because such ideas undermine trust.

Consider the analogy, used last week in our seminar, of a IV heroin user, who having used dirty needles is now sick. Does he want to go to the magistrate and be examined, judged and sentenced? No! Does he want to go to the doctor and be examined, judged (diagnosed) and sentenced (treatment prescribed)? Yes.

The imposed law concept is the infection from the little horn power, which began in heaven with Satan's lies that sin must be punished, and has led to this false idea of a dictator god who sits in judgment and hands out punishments.

But the truth is that God is the Designer, the Creator, and sin deviates from His design and He accurately diagnosis what is wrong and will heal and restore all who trust Him.

MONDAY

The last paragraph states, "We cannot answer the charges of Satan against us. Christ alone can make an effectual plea in our behalf. He is able to silence the accuser with arguments not founded upon our merits, but on His own."

Thoughts?

To whom is Christ pleading? Would He not be presenting His pleas to those who are being negatively impacted by Satan's accusations? In other words, to those who actually listen to and consider what Satan has to say?

Are there any beings in heaven who listen to what Satan has to say?

From the same author who wrote the quote above consider this:

Satan saw that his disguise was torn away. His administration was laid open before the unfallen angels and before the heavenly universe. He had revealed himself as a murderer. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he had uprooted himself from the sympathies of the heavenly beings. Henceforth his work was restricted. Whatever attitude he might assume, he could no longer await the angels as they came from the heavenly courts, and before them accuse Christ's brethren of being clothed with the garments of blackness and the defilement of sin. The last link of sympathy between Satan and the heavenly world was broken. {DA 761.2}

What could Satan NOT do after the cross? Accuse us before the heavenly universe!

Then to whom is Satan presenting his accusations? To US!

“You are sinful. You have gone too far. You are too corrupt. God doesn't love sinners. Don't waste your time going to Jesus. Just give up. Your salvation is lost. You've committed the unpardonable sin.”

But Jesus makes an effectual plea – to whom? Who needs to hear Christ's pleading? This sinner burdened with guilt and shame, being assailed by Satan's accusations!

Thus, the Holy Spirit comes to us:

I have much more to say to you, more than you can now bear. ¹³ But when he, the Spirit of truth, comes, he will guide you into all truth. He will not speak on his own; he will speak only what he hears, and he will tell you what is yet to come. JN 16:12,13

Notice Jesus has much to say to us, but He sends the Spirit, who speaks not for Himself, but only what He hears, from who? Jesus pleads, via the Spirit to you and me!

TUESDAY

The little horn wars against the saints and is winning, until judgment is imparted to the saints. As was discussed above, the war is over the knowledge of God and the little horn power introduced a false law, imposed law, with a false legal, penal system, which infects the minds of people and obstructs God's healing plan.

The little horn was winning until judgment, or discernment, was imparted to the saints such that they could reject the lies and come back to the truth about God as revealed in Jesus. Primarily, about His law as the law of love, the design protocols upon which life is built and thus Jesus mission to heal and save rather than pay legal penalties.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson speaks about God's love and justice. How would you describe God's justice?

If you were at the seminar last week how would you describe God's justice?

The little horn power, which promotes the imposed law concept, teaches that God's justice is the infliction of punishment. This is false.

God's justice, according to Scripture, is the delivering of the oppressed and healing the broken.

Thus, read the last paragraph, "The great controversy..." note dualism, the condition of good and evil existing together is eliminated.

Eastern religions teach eternal dualism that good and evil exist together for all eternity. Christianity, has been infected with this idea in the guise of two ideas:

1. Penal theologies in which God is the source of life, but also the source of death as He inflicts pain and suffering and death originates in God as the just punishment for sin
2. Eternal burning hell

As we discovered in the seminar last week, these are both lies and God is the source of life, but Satan is the murderer from the beginning, sin kills, not God and death does not originate or come from God!

The universe will be restored to oneness with God and dualism will be eliminated.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph "Why would anyone..." those with penal views have difficult time understanding this, and create all kinds of false ideas to deal with it.

Like, God judges Jesus in our place, or our records get erased before God gets a look at them etc.

But, when we come back to the truth about God's law of love, we realize that God judging us is God diagnosing us, which is then followed by His healing and restoring us. So we pray like David, "search me and see the wicked way in me, create in me a clean heart oh God..."

The last paragraph states, in regard to the righteous, "their sins are forever blotted out..."

From where are the sins blotted out? From the hearts, minds and characters of the saved, NOT from the recorded history of the universe.

Read bottom pink, thoughts?

By teaching the truth about God's design for life, the law of love, and God's judgment is the diagnosis of our condition in order to heal.

FRIDAY

Read main paragraph, "Satan has an..." this is the same as what we discussed in Monday's lesson, Christ pleading to us because we are being duped by Satan's allegations.

Read and discuss questions 1 and 2

Has the SDA church presented the true gospel about God's character of love, or has it, like all other churches, been infected with imposed law and false penal legal models which misrepresent God and prevent the gospel from going to the world?

The Sanctuary Lesson 10 4Q 2013

The Eschatological Day of Atonement

Review the Opening Questions from last week's lesson:

From Last week's Lesson # 9 MONDAY

The last paragraph states, "We cannot answer the charges of Satan against us. Christ alone can make an effectual plea in our behalf. He is able to silence the accuser with arguments not founded upon our merits, but on His own."

Thoughts?

To whom is Christ pleading? Would He not be presenting His pleas to those who are being negatively impacted by Satan's accusations? In other words, to those who actually listen to and consider what Satan has to say?

Are there any beings in heaven who listen to what Satan has to say?

- Does God give credence to Satan's allegations?
- When Jesus went to raise Moses from the dead and Satan protested, was there a trial, a court scene? Did Jesus make pleas to the Father in Moses behalf, or did Jesus merely rebuke the liar?
- In Zech 3, when the High Priest is standing there and Satan begins accusing, do we see a court scene with Jesus pleading to His Father or presenting any arguments about His blood etc? No, Jesus merely rebukes the devil, in other words He say, "be quiet, no one here cares what you have to say."

So, are there any beings in heaven who listen to Satan's arguments?

From the same author who wrote the quote above consider this:

Satan saw that his disguise was torn away. His administration was laid open before the unfallen angels and before the heavenly universe. He had revealed himself as a murderer. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he had uprooted himself from the sympathies of the heavenly beings. Henceforth his work was restricted. Whatever attitude he might assume, he could no longer await the angels as they came from the heavenly courts, and before them accuse Christ's brethren of being clothed with the garments of blackness and the defilement of sin. The last link of sympathy between Satan and the heavenly world was broken. {DA 761.2}

What could Satan NOT do after the cross? Accuse us before the heavenly universe!

Then to whom is Satan presenting his accusations? To US!

"You are sinful. You have gone too far. You are too corrupt. God doesn't love sinners. Don't waste your time going to Jesus. Just give up. Your salvation is lost. You've committed the unpardonable sin. God in order to be just must punish sin, and you know you have sinned so God must punish you."

But Jesus makes an effectual plea – to whom? Who needs to hear Christ's pleading? This sinner burdened with guilt and shame, being assailed by Satan's accusations!

Thus, the Holy Spirit comes to us, as Jesus said:

I have much more to say to you, more than you can now bear. ¹³ But when he, the Spirit of truth, comes, he will guide you into all truth. He will not speak on his own; he will speak only what he hears, and he will tell you what is yet to come. JN 16:12,13

Notice Jesus has much to say to us, but He sends the Spirit, who speaks not for Himself, but only what He hears, from who? To whom is the Spirit listening? Could it be to the One who sent the Spirit? Jesus pleads, yes He does. He pleads to those He loved so much that He died to save. Via the Spirit, Jesus pleads to you and me!

“I love you! Don’t listen to the lies of Satan. You are worth the universe to me. I gave my life to save you. You haven’t gone to far. Let me heal you. Trust me and I will cleanse your mind, renew your heart and take away your fear. I will heal your wounds, and give you a new heart and right Spirit. It isn’t about mistakes you have made in the past, but about the condition of your heart, mind and character today. And if you let me I will heal you!”

What are the implications? That this entire courtroom drama, that has been presented to us, with Satan in heaven accusing us, and Jesus defending us and God sitting in judgment over us, is a distortion of reality. It is a result of accepting the Roman Imperial law concept, and all its subsequent legal constructs.

The war is in our minds over our beliefs and knowledge about God! God is waiting for a people who actually know Him! Who will trust Him. Who will open their hearts to Him and then He can heal and renew them!

SUNDAY

First paragraph the lesson points out that the little horn power of Daniel takes away the “daily” what do you understand this to be?

The daily is reference to the work of Jesus to heal us. When Paul says, “I die daily” it was in reference to this daily work of surrendering to Jesus and allowing Jesus into the heart to cleanse and restore.

The penal model comes to a different view because it is built on the foundation of the little horn distortions of God’s law – what are those distortions?

That God’s law is imposed not the design protocols upon which life is built.

Thus, the change in the law is the change from the Creator, Designer law, to law that mirrors manmade rules.

Thus, having accepted the lie that God’s law is imposed, they focus on the problem being wrong rituals, or wrong legal applications of Christ’s blood, rather than damage to the mind because we accept false ideas about God.

For instance, many Protestant groups suggest taking away the daily is when a Catholic priest offers the Eucharist, and thus replaces Christ. But then they turn around and present the same distorted legal system, with Jesus pleading to the same distorted god.

I was emailed a link in which a Catholic priest and a protestant theologian discussed the Eucharist and transubstantiation:

<http://amazingdiscoveries.org/12.10.24-debate-about-the-mass-and-transubstantiation>

They went back and forth over things like whether a priest could stand in for Christ, over sacrificing Christ again and again, over it being a violation of the law to eat blood etc.

But the real issue was uncovered when The Catholic priest said:

“There are two elements to any sacrifice the immolation and the offering. The immolation is a bloody death. The lamb is slain, what is precious about that is the life in the blood of the lamb is precious and that pays back God. That’s how the Old Testament rituals used to work. The immolation happened once but the offering is something Christ does for all eternity. He is right now in the presence of the Father, in the holy of holies, in the eternal presence, offering himself to the Father for the forgiveness of our sins.... Christ isn’t killed again and again and again, he is offered [in the Eucharist] in the same eternal presence as Christ offers himself.”

The priest said it was in this offering of his sacrifice over and over again that the sins were paid for. So each time we sin, we must take mass in order to have the sacrifice of Christ pay for that sin.

How do you think the protestant theologian responded? The protestant theologian responded, with the argument that Christ is not in heaven offering his sacrifice over and over, but offering his merits to the Father over and over.

In the Protestant view, all sins were placed on Christ at the Cross and paid for there, but when we pray for forgiveness, the Jesus goes to the Father and reminds the Father of what He already did, in paying for the sins and claims his “merits” i.e. I earned the right to get forgiveness from you for them.

So to the protestant theologian, each time we sin we don’t need to go to a priest and take mass to have Christ’s sacrifice presented to the Father to pay for our sins. Our sins were paid for, past, present and future, all at the Cross. No, when we sin we go to Christ, who presents his merits to the Father, reminding the Father that he has already paid for our sins so the Father can forgive us and not punish us.

Thoughts? Don’t you see Satan laughing? Here we have Catholics and Protestants arguing, for centuries, whether Jesus is offering his sacrifice to God over and over again to pay for our sins, or whether he is offering his merits over and over to remind the Father that our sins are paid for.

What is the problem?

Daniel 7, the little horn power would seek to change God’s law – how? By getting us to replace the truth that God’s law is the law of love, the design protocol upon which life was built, with the idea that God’s law is like a Roman emperor, put upon us to test our obedience.

Catholic and Protestant alike have accepted this change in God's law and both teach that Christ needed to die to pay for our sin, and both teach that Christ works to present something to the Father so the Father won't punish us. Which mean, both views distort God's character and misrepresent Him, thus obstructing His healing plan. The gospel has not gone to the world, instead a false gospel, based on a false view of God's law has gone to the world.

The truth is God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. That God so loved the world he sent his son. That the fullness of the Godhead dwelt in Christ bodily, so that even though he knew no sin, he became sin for us, that we might become the righteousness of God.

And this focus on imposed law, with arguments over differences in proper ritual, application or practice, and not focusing on the truth about God's character, has led to splitting and fracturing of Christianity into various groups and turning on one another, like in the third paragraph, "The little horn..." thoughts?

Is the greater emphasis on papal Rome or on Christian Rome?

- Does one have to be papal, or Catholic, to worship the Imperial god of Rome?
- Does one have to belong to a particular organization in order to value and cherish the lies of the little horn?

In rejecting the truth, men reject its Author. In trampling upon the law of God, they deny the authority of the Law-giver. It is as easy to make an idol of false doctrines and theories as to fashion an idol of wood or stone. By misrepresenting the attributes of God, Satan leads men to conceive of Him in a false character. With many, a philosophical idol is enthroned in the place of Jehovah; while the living God, as He is revealed in His word, in Christ, and in the works of creation, is worshiped by but few. Thousands deify nature while they deny the God of nature. Though in a different form, idolatry exists in the Christian world today as verily as it existed among ancient Israel in the days of Elijah. The god of many professedly wise men, of philosophers, poets, politicians, journalists--the god of polished fashionable circles, of many colleges and universities, even of some theological institutions--is little better than Baal, the sun-god of Phoenicia. {GC 583.1}

Many SDAs want to make the problem with God's law in Christianity about which day one worships upon. They fail to recognize that the Jews who crucified Christ wanted Him down by sunset in order to keep the Sabbath. One can have the right day and still be God's enemy.

Thus, many SDAs because they have accepted an imposed law construct, and teach God runs His universe like humans run human governments, needing legal payment and inflicting torture and death, are still trapped in the false system with distortions about God, regardless of what day they worship upon.

It is not about organizational affiliation it is about God. Who is God and what God are you worshipping? The Designer or Dictator?

But sadly, we seem to fall into denominationalism and cast criticisms at those who practice differently than us, music, worship style, baptism, day one attends church, clothing style etc. all the while worshipping the same dictator god.

MONDAY

How long? How long until the sanctuary is cleansed? Thoughts?

Why does it take so long? What is the hold up?

If it was a process of God going through records – how long would that take?
If it was the process of angels going through records how long would that take?

What is the delay? What happens when the Lord finishes cleansing the sanctuary? The second coming – so what would delay that?

The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance. 2Pet 3:9

So, according to Peter, what is the cause of the delay? People not being ready for Jesus to return and thus, in mercy, He waits.

Jesus predicted such a delay in the parable of the 10 virgins, and remember this quotation:

“The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of Days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi[3:1-3], are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25.” (p. 426).

- So Daniel 8:14 predicts the time, sometime after 1844.
- Daniel 7 tells us it is a time when Jesus is coronated and the saints of God receive wisdom, discernment or judgment, and during this time the church is composed of wise and foolish members, and there is a delay in Christ completing the cleansing, such that the virgins fall asleep waiting for Him.
- Malachi 3 tells us it is a time when the Levites are cleansed, thus the sanctuary being cleansed is the sanctuary composed of living beings
- And Matthew 25 tells us there is a delay, because some of the “virgins” didn’t have oil and the Bridegroom wanted to give them time to get some, but instead they fell asleep

From my paraphrase:

Matthew 25:1 “At that time in earth’s history, God’s people on earth will be like ten undefiled bridesmaids who took their lamps and went out into the dark world to meet the bridegroom. 2 While all ten were sincere students of the word, only five were wise, the other five foolish. 3 The five foolish went out into the dark world with their lamps of God’s word, but they didn’t fill themselves with the oil of the Holy Spirit. 4 The wise, however, not only carried their lamps of God’s word, but also filled the jars of their hearts with the Holy Spirit. 5 The bridegroom took much longer than they expected in coming, and all ten bridesmaids became drowsy and fell asleep.

6 “In the middle of the night a loud cry was heard: ‘The bridegroom is here! Come and meet him!’

7 “All ten bridesmaids awoke and prepared their lamps to shine brightly. 8 But the foolish ones realized they could not, not without the oil of the Holy Spirit. So they looked to the five wise and said, ‘Give us some of your oil; our light is going out.’

9 “But the five wise said, ‘We can’t! The oil of the Spirit, that enables us to shine brightly, is only provided in sufficient quantities for each lamp. You must go to the source yourselves and get your own supply.’

10 “While the foolish ones were out searching for oil, the bridegroom arrived. The bridesmaids who were prepared went in to the reception with him and the door was closed tightly.

11 “Later the foolish ones came banging on the door shouting, ‘Master, let us in!’

12 “But he replied, ‘The truth is, you’re not my friends. I don’t know you.’

13 “So stay alert, be vigilant, because you don’t know when the Lord will return.”

Thoughts?

So, what is putting the church to sleep? Jesus is delaying His return to give time for the church to get ready, but the church is sleeping, meaning it isn’t able to get ready while asleep, and by the time the cry goes out that the Lord is coming, it is too late to get ready.

So, what is putting the church to sleep? What does alcohol do to a person? It intoxicates, numbs the reason and puts to sleep.

Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. ⁷ He said in a loud voice, “Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.”

A second angel followed and said, “Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, which made all the nations drink the maddening wine of her adulteries.” Rev 14:6-8

What is the maddening wine of her adulteries?

Rev 17 gives a little more insight:

One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and said to me, “Come, I will show you the punishment of the great prostitute, who sits on many waters. ² With her the kings of the earth committed adultery and the inhabitants of the earth were intoxicated with the wine of her adulteries.”

Rev 18 says the same, that before the second coming, the message of Revelation 14 will be given again by another messenger, or group of people:

After this I saw another angel coming down from heaven. He had great authority, and the earth was illuminated by his splendor. ² With a mighty voice he shouted:

“Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great! She has become a home for demons and a haunt for every evil spirit, a haunt for every unclean and detestable bird. ³ For all the nations have drunk the maddening wine of her adulteries. The kings of the earth committed adultery with her, and the merchants of the earth grew rich from her excessive luxuries.”

⁴ Then I heard another voice from heaven say: “Come out of her, my people, so that you will not share in her sins, so that you will not receive any of her plagues; ⁵ for her sins are piled up to heaven, and God has remembered her crimes.

Thoughts? What does all of this mean?

Note, God’s people are in fallen Babylon – that is where the church is, and those in Babylon are drunk on the wine from the harlot. And what is the wine? It is the false doctrines, the lies, the distortions, and the primary lie is the prophesied change to God’s law foretold by Daniel. This system would seek to change God’s law, and that attempt warred against the saints, corrupted the minds of men and has put the church into a deep spiritual slumber.

Why? Because it leads to a false legal security which numbs the need for true regeneration, i.e. for true infilling of the Holy Spirit.

- If the law is like ours, imposed and breaking the law requires the ruling authority to impose proper punishment
- The solution is to get the proper payment made to the ruling authority and then have that payment applied to one’s account
- Then, when we claim the blood of Jesus and believe it is applied to our records in heaven, we go to spiritual sleep believing “I accepted Jesus as my Savior, all my sins, past present and future have been paid for and the Father has accepted Jesus in my place, thus forgiveness is stamped by my name in heaven and when the Father looks at me I am covered by the robe of righteousness and the Father can’t see my true corrupt character beneath.”

This wine of false legal system has infected the church and lulled millions into a spiritual apathy in which they have false security of legal salvation, but no actual regeneration of heart, renewal of character. In other words, they have their lamps, Bibles, but they don’t have oil the Holy Spirit within regenerating and renewing the heart. Why, because the heart isn’t the problem in the legal model, it is the legal record that is the problem. We need to wake the sleeping saints up, in time for them to open their hearts for actual transformation. Then what the Bible actually teaches will be true:

- Create in me a new heart...
- Renewal of the heart by the Holy Spirit
- Remove heart of stone put in heart of flesh
- Write the law on the heart and mind
- Have the mind of Christ
- Be renewed
- Be reborn
- Be recreated
- Be regenerated
- The old is gone the new has come

The entire Scripture teaches a real, actual, regeneration of the believer when filled with the Holy Spirit. But the little horn power has infected Christianity with a false law, and false god construct that lulls them into a false security, thus putting them into a spiritual sleep.

Here are these verses from my expanded paraphrase:

Rev 14:6 Then I saw another messenger flying in midair, and he had the eternal good news about God's character of love to proclaim to everyone living on earth, to every nation, tribe, language and people, which represents a movement of people who arise to proclaim the truth about God's character of love throughout the world. 7 He said in a clear resounding voice, "Be in awe of God, and glorify him by living his methods of love, because the hour has come for everyone to make a judgment about God and worship the Designer, Creator and Builder who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and springs of water, which all operate upon his law of love."

8 Then I saw a second messenger follow the first proclaiming throughout the world, "Don't trust Babylon the Great, a symbolic description of religions that misrepresent God; it is fallen into the lies about God and intoxicates the world with its pagan views of God, maddening them with its adulterous idea that God coerces and must inflict punishment if not properly appeased."

Revelation 17:1 One of the seven angels who had one of the seven bowls came to me and said, "Come with me and I will show you the damning end of the great prostitute who sits upon the many waters, symbolic of false religion that misrepresents God. 2 The leaders of the world took their governments into bed with her, sharing in her plans, plots and methods, and the people of earth had their minds so filled with her lies about God and his methods they were like drunks, stuporous and unable to be reasoned with or embrace the truth."

Revelation 18:1 After this I saw another messenger coming down from heaven, symbolizing the Godly origin of his message. He had the great authority and power of truth, and the earth was illuminated by his splendor. 2 With a voice reverberating throughout the earth he shouted: "Babylon the Great, is a fallen system of tradition, fable and falsehood distorting the truth about God. Every demonic distortion about God, every evil attitude toward God, and all filthy and destructive heart motives find their home with her. 3 For she intoxicates the world with her pagan views of God, maddening them with her adulterous idea that God coerces and must inflict punishment if not properly appeased. Earth's leaders corrupt themselves with her by practicing her methods, and people not anchored in God's kingdom of love, but who wander from philosophy to philosophy, stuff their minds with her smorgasbord of lies.

4 Then I heard another voice calling from heaven saying: "Come out of her, my people. Leave that confusing mess of evil thinking so that you will not share in her spiritual sickness and rebellion, and so that you will not receive the suffering she has chosen;

So, could the church be asleep because it has been infected with lies about God from that little horn power? And those lies are primarily about God's law, that it is imposed, and God is a punishing being?

TUESDAY

The lesson talks about the little horn power attacking God's people, what does this mean?

Is the primary attack upon God's people physical, or is it mental?

What did Jesus say, "Don't be afraid of the one who can destroy the body, but the one who can destroy body and soul" MT 10:28

2Cor 10:3-5 we war against everything that sets itself up against the knowledge of God.

Thus, the war is over ideas, concepts, beliefs, that end up influencing us, changing us and destroying us.

Consider the power a belief can have over you. If your employer does various health screenings, and one day they do some blood work, and a person in a lab coat calls you into the office and says, "We are sad to tell you that when we ran your blood it came back HIV positive." Now they are lying, but if you believe the lie, what happens inside of you?

Will you lose peace, have anxiety, fear, will this lie affect your relationships?

What has actually changed? Only what you believe, but that change in belief has biological changes in your brain and body, it changes your perceptions about yourself, it alters how you relate to others etc.

Satan gains his power over us by what he gets us to believe.

Think about all the superstitions people believe and how it affects their minds, bodies, relationships...

This is what Paul was addressing in Romans 14, when people were afraid to eat meat offered to idols. Paul said, if your faith is great, meaning if you understand reality and realize that an idol is nothing but inanimate material and cannot affect the nutritional quality of the food, then eat anything. But, if your faith is weak, and you believe the idol alters the food such that if you eat it now the idol has cursed your or has some power over you, then don't eat.

The issue isn't the idol, but the belief one has, and if Satan can get you to believe you are cursed, or too sinful to be saved, or harassed by demons, or contaminated spiritually, or committed the unpardonable sin etc. etc. he then gains power in your mind!

This is one of the problems people have with the sanctuary symbolism, they think that sin can contaminate objects. Sin is transferred to the priest and then to the temple in heaven and the objects must be cleansed. This is like the food be contaminated by being offered to idols. Objects cannot be contaminated sin. Sin doesn't happen in stone, wood, metal. Sin happens in living souls, in minds, hearts, characters.

But to the degree Satan can get us to believe the objects are contaminated, and Christ is cleansing objects, including record books, then he exerts power over us, keeping us in the "dark" and putting us to sleep.

Thoughts?

WEDNESDAY

Read last paragraph, "The horn's war..." thoughts? Can anyone tell me the historical interpretation of this?

This is considered to be speaking of the time prophecy in Revelation 13, in which the beast persecutes for 1260 days, time, times, half a time, or 42 months, which all prophetically are interpreted to mean 1260 years.

The time frame for this is historically said to be from 538 CE, when Justinian's general, Belisarius defeated the last of the Arian nations, the Ostrogoths, drove them out of Rome and turned over the city to the Bishop of Rome.

1260 years later, would be 1798, and that year, the French general Berthier, enters Rome, declares it a Republic, takes the pope captive, exiles him to France where the pope dies a prisoner.

Because of this prophecy, and the history of the Dark Ages, and the physical persecution such as burning at the stake, crusades, inquisition, many have concluded that the war against the saints is/was a physical war.

Thoughts?

When Jesus said, "You have heard that it was said, 'Do not commit adultery.' But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart." MT 5:27,28

He was saying that the physical actions are a result of heart defects. Is this true only for adultery?

Remember the law of worship, or modeling, by beholding we become changed? We become like the God we worship. Therefore, the reason the church persecuted others and violated human rights, was because it had been infected with lies about God. It had accepted a change in God's law as imposed and imposed laws require imposed punishments. It falsely viewed God's government as a government like Imperial Rome, made up of imposed rules requiring the ruling authority to police the laws and punish law breakers. Therefore, as "God's church on earth", it naturally practiced those methods.

But the real war, was not a physical war, it was a war of ideas, of beliefs, of concepts about God. And while political powers have come along to restrain the physical persecution of religious institutions, the churches, all of them, remain infected with the lies about God and His law.

Do you notice how this paragraph has God in the role of punishing?

Where did this lie originate?

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. {DA 761.4}

Do you hear this very lie being taught in our lesson? No wonder the Lord hasn't come, we, our very own church, perpetuating the lie that Satan proclaimed in the opening of the war in heaven.

God wants a people to tell the truth about Him. He wants a people to come back into a true love relationship with Him, a people who actually know Him, and realize He is exactly like Jesus revealed!

And how did Jesus treat sinners? Neither do I condemn you! I did not come to judge or condemn but to save!

Even though all judgment is given to me it is the truth that will judge you, by your very words you will be judged.

In other words, Jesus revealed the reality of our condition judges us, either reconciled to God and renewed in heart such that we live in God's presence, or solidified in selfishness such that God's presence is torture to us and when He appears we beg for the mountains to fall on us.

THURSDAY

Goes through the process of calculating the 2300 year prophecy, starting and ending points and how they came to those dates.

Bottom line, from the time when the decree to restore and rebuild Jerusalem – which was 457 BC, until the end of the 2300 years, which ended 1844.

What is the significance of the prophecy?

- Does one have to understand the time prophecy in order to be saved?
- Does one have to agree on the time prophecy and what it means in order to be saved?
- Can someone have the wrong understanding of the prophecy and be saved?
- Can someone have the right understanding of the prophecy and be lost?

What is the importance of the prophecy?

Its primary purpose, in my estimation, is to give hope to people on earth that the Lord is returning, and confidence in God, His foreknowledge and His outworking of His overriding plan.

One of the potential problems with Bible prophecy is over valuing or mis-valuing it. What I mean is valuing the prophecy for something it was not intended for – like one must have the right interpretation in order to be right with God, or must have the right interpretation in order to be useful in God's cause.

Not so – the Bible says:

If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am only a resounding gong or a clanging cymbal. ² If I have the gift of prophecy and can fathom all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have a faith that can move mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. ³ If I give all I possess to the poor and surrender my body to the flames, but have not love, I gain nothing.

⁴ Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. ⁵ It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. ⁶ Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. ⁷ It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres.

⁸ Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge, it will pass away. ⁹ For we know in part and we prophesy in part, ¹⁰ but when perfection comes, the imperfect disappears. ¹¹ When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put childish ways behind me. ¹² Now we see but a poor reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known.

¹³ And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love. 1Cor 13

What is necessary for salvation – in fact, what IS salvation? It is restoring love into the heart, mind, character of the person. Salvation does not exist without love restored in the heart!

Thus, if one has love restored in the heart, which is a work of the Holy Spirit, who applies what Christ achieved, they are saved, but without that restoration then everything else, including right understanding of prophecy doesn't matter!

Here is my paraphrase of chapter 13:

1Cor 13:1 If I am gifted to speak the language of men and angels, but do not have God's love in my heart, I am only making meaningless noise, because I remain terminal and dying. 2 If I am gifted with prophetic insight and understand all mysteries and knowledge, and if I am trusted to move mountains, but do not have God's love in my heart, I am a fraud because I am still dying in sin and am nothing at all. 3 If I give away all my possessions to the poor, and die as a martyr tied to a burning stake, but don't have God's love in my heart, I am still unhealed and have gained nothing.

4 Love is the principle upon which life and health is built to operate, and when active in intelligent beings, love is patient and kind. Love gives in order to bless others and does not envy, boast, or promote self. 5 Love is not intrusive, rude, selfish, irritable or hot tempered. And love doesn't hold grudges or keep a record of wrongs. 6 Love takes no pleasure in evil but rejoices with the truth. 7 Love always protects, heals, restores, builds up, trusts, hopes and perseveres.

8 Love originates in God and therefore will never stop and never fail. But one day, prophecies will cease, talking will be paused, and human knowledge will fade. 9 We are finite, knowing just a part of all truth and prophecy is just a piece of a greater whole. 10 But when God restores the universe to His perfect design of love, all imperfection will disappear. 11 When I was a child, I talked like a child bragging about myself, I thought like a child focusing on the do's and don'ts, and I reasoned like a child. But when I grew up I embraced God's kingdom of love and put the childish ways behind me. 12 Our minds are so darkened by selfishness that we see God's kingdom poorly, like a reflection in a cloudy mirror, but when he returns we shall see perfectly – face to face! Right now I know only part of God's reality; then I will have all questions answered and fully know the truth, just as God fully knows me.

13 So these three endure, trust, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love.

The Sanctuary Lesson 11 4Q 2013

Our Prophetic Message

This past Thursday was Thanksgiving here in the US.

Thanksgiving in the US has its tradition in the Pilgrims of Plymouth in present-day Massachusetts, who celebrated in 1621 the first American Thanksgiving.

This tradition continued throughout the colonies in various communities, called in the fall to celebrate a good harvest. These celebrations were to thank the Almighty for His blessings and called by the various local clergy up until 1682 when both church and state leaders called for the celebration of thanksgiving.

During the Revolutionary War both General George Washington and the Continental Congress had various thanksgiving celebrations to give thanks to God for events favorable to the cause of the revolution.

As President, George Washington proclaimed the first nation-wide thanksgiving celebration in America for November 26, 1789, “as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favours of Almighty God.” (Hodgson, Godfrey (2006). A Great and Godly Adventure; The Pilgrims and the Myth of the First Thanksgiving. New York: Public Affairs. p. 167)

Thanksgiving, currently celebrated on the fourth Thursday in November by federal legislation in 1941, has been an annual tradition in the United States by presidential proclamation since 1863 and by state legislation since the Founding Fathers of the United States.

Since we have members of our online class all over the world, I thought I would mention other countries also have annual Thanksgiving Celebration:

Canada

history similar to the US but celebrates it in October.

Liberia

West African country was colonized by free blacks (most of whom had been formerly enslaved) in 1820, Thanksgiving is celebrated on the first Thursday of November.

The Netherlands

Many of the Pilgrims who migrated to the Plymouth Plantation had resided in the city of Leiden from 1609–1620, many of whom had recorded their births, marriages and deaths at the Pieterskerk. To commemorate this, a non-denominational Thanksgiving Day service is held each year on the morning of the American Thanksgiving Day in the Pieterskerk, a Gothic church in Leiden, to commemorate the hospitality the Pilgrims received in Leiden on their way to the New World.

Norfolk Island

In Australia, Thanksgiving is celebrated on the last Wednesday of November, similar to the pre-World War II American observance on the last Thursday of the month. This means the Norfolk Island observance is the day before or six days after the United States' observance. The holiday was brought to the island by visiting American whaling ships.

Grenada

Thanksgiving Day which is celebrated on October 25. Even though it bears the same name, and is celebrated at roughly the same time as the American and Canadian versions of Thanksgiving, this holiday is unrelated to either of those celebrations. Instead the holiday marks the anniversary of the U.S.-led invasion of the island in 1983, in response to the deposition and execution of Grenadian Prime Minister Maurice Bishop.

Germany

The Harvest Thanksgiving Festival (Erntedankfest) is an early October, German festival. The festival has a significant religious component to it, but also, like its North American counterpart, includes large harvest dinners (consisting mostly of autumn crops) and parades.

Japan

Labor Thanksgiving Day is a national holiday in Japan. It takes place annually on November 23. The law establishing the holiday, which was adopted during the American occupation after World War II, cites it as an occasion for commemorating labor and production and giving one another thanks.

Today, would anyone like to thank God for things you are thankful for?

- I am thankful to God for Jesus Christ, for bringing us the truth about God procuring the Remedy to sin we could not procure for ourselves
- I am thankful for the way God runs His universe, truth, love and freedom
- I am thankful for the privilege of sharing the truths He has revealed to me with others
- I am thankful for Christie who shows me God's love every day
- I am thankful for being raised in the church, even though many things I was taught were presented through a legal lens, it provided me a foundation of data from which I could pull when I got old enough to think for myself
- I am thankful God created us with the ability to think
- I am thankful for you, our Ministry friends and supporters who have provided your time, energy, funds, presence, prayers to help spread this message, and because of your support we have touched tens of thousands of lives.

Anyone want to share a thanks?

Back to the Lesson

What is our prophetic message? Revelation 14:6-12 the three angels messages?

Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. ⁷ He said in a loud voice, “Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.”

How do you explain the message of the first angel?

- Angel = messenger
- Flying through air = message heard around the world
- Eternal gospel = the eternal truth about God, His character, methods, principles that have been obscured by Satan’s lies
- Fear God = be in awe, admiration and respect
- Give Him glory = reveal His character of love and His methods of living in your actions, words and deeds
- The hour of His judgment = the time in human history when God can finally be judged correctly, when we have a message clear enough that people can make a correct judgment on who God is and reject the lies of Satan
- Thus, with the correct understand of God we are called back to worship the Designer and reject the dictator view of God which has infected Christianity.

Thoughts?

The Second Angel:

⁸ A second angel followed and said, “Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, which made all the nations drink the maddening wine of her adulteries.”

What does this mean? How do you understand it?

- Angel = messenger, which is to follow the first
- The second message cannot be effectively given, until the first is given. So what happens if we have never given the first, but an imperial, distorted view of the first message? How has the first message been distorted?
 - Having accepted the false law construct, the judgment is not seen about us coming to the right judgment about God, but about God sitting in judgment of us to determine guilt and innocence and proper punishments
 - Worship the Creator is distilled down and interpreted to mean the single act of going to church on Saturday. And this is distorted to promote Satan’s view of God, when it is taught that the Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience. In other words, when it is taught there is no logical reason for the Sabbath, the only reason is because God commands us to do it takes the Sabbath, designed by God to reveal His character of love, and twists it to promote Satan’s lie that God is arbitrary.
 - From the lesson

- WEDNESDAY last paragraph, “The Sabbath is the central issue in the conflict over God’s commandments. As with no other commandment, the designated day of worship is suited for a test of loyalty because it cannot be deduced by logical reasoning. We keep it only because God has commanded us to do so.”
- Dictionary definition of arbitrary:
 - based on or determined by individual preference or convenience rather than by necessity or the intrinsic nature of something
 - existing or coming about seemingly at random or by chance or as a capricious and unreasonable act of will
 - marked by or resulting from the unrestrained and often tyrannical exercise of power
 - not restrained or limited in the exercise of power : ruling by absolute authority
- Do you hear the lesson is suggesting that the Sabbath is arbitrary, there is no reason, it is not intrinsic, but only an external command by absolute authority

What was the historic SDA view?

Let it be made plain that the way of God's commandments is the way of life. God has established the laws of nature, but His laws are not arbitrary exactions. Every "Thou shalt not," whether in physical or in moral law, implies a promise. If we obey it, blessing will attend our steps. God never forces us to do right, but He seeks to save us from the evil and lead us to the good. {MH 114.2}
