

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 1

The Call of Wisdom

I received this email this week:

So very much have I been blessed by your ministry and after watching with profound insights of God's love illuminating in a much more tangible way than ever before, I would like to share many of your DVD presentations with family and friends.

I am not a "lifer" Adventist but came to be a seeker of truth as an adult about 15 years ago and was baptized into "the church" from a Lutheran background. Since then I have been acclimated to "SDA" system of worship and thinking to the point of becoming depressed and overwhelmed with obsessive thoughts of not being fit for heaven, scared to the point of anxiety/panic attacks of the judgment and daily trying to figure out what more I should do or not do to become "ready" for the 2nd coming. After saturating myself through the years with "proof Bible texts" to support all the fundamental beliefs and every publication that Ellen White wrote I became a narrow minded, critical and arrogant, yet well liked "Adventist", I taught Sabbath School, a Bible worker, and was elder's wife as well holding other reputable positions in the church. I became so enthralled with reaching that plateau of Christian perfection that I allowed my self to take on a martyr role and continue in an abusive marriage for 20 years because that was considered "unconditional agape" love and God "hates divorce" as my Pastor reminded me. After emotionally breaking down I did divorce and mournfully stopped for about a year attending church for lack of any sympathy or support and abandonment I felt from my brothers and sisters in the Lord. I cried in isolation for God to bring back the joy of my salvation that once reigned in my heart years ago.

After much counseling from the Domestic Violence Center who very much respected my spiritual perspective I began a new journey of discovering a God who loved me for me. I now attend a small SDA church in a different state that truly knows how to love unconditionally each other quirks and all.

A new sister in the Lord gave me your DVD on the God shaped brain and it ignited further study on your website. I still struggle at times with the realization of God's love being so calming and peaceful and restorative that I almost feel guilty for not feeling guilty when I bask in it's freedom. I press on ~~~

*Please send me 3 sets each of all 3 of your "free dvd" seminars.
I am anxious to smile as I share....Thank you!*

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “From Eden...” No doubt wrong choices are responsible for tragedy, but a specific action is described as causing the human mind to become confused – what is it?

The mingling of evil and good – how do we see this happening? How did it happen in Eden?

By suggesting lies about God.

How does it happen today?

- By mixing God’s design law with human imposed law, which results in arguing God is arbitrary.
 - Example – which was written in a blog by proponents of the penal view this week – God makes the laws of nature, which have natural consequences, but God’s moral laws are imposed and have no natural consequences and require God to punish.
- By mixing God’s freedom with coercive practices
 - Example – in Jesus we are free, but if we don’t accept Jesus He will kill us, or we have freedom to choose to obey God or not, but if we choose not to obey He will torture and kill us, and we can never escape it, other than by submitting and obeying
- By mixing two characters into the Godhead,
 - Example - Jesus is the God who loved us so much He died for us, but the Father is the God who is angry and wrathful and requires a legal payment not to kill us
- By mixing forgiveness with legal payment – think about it – if you forgive someone a debt, can you also collect it? And if you collect the debt can you turn around and say, “Now that I have been paid in full, I forgive your debt.”
 - I posted this on a website this week and a theologian said, “God can forgive because he is the one who collected the payment.”
 - This is contradictory and confused and misrepresents God.
- By mixing life and death in the character of God
 - Example – this is done by teaching God is the source of life and also the source of inflicted death

Any other examples? Is it any wonder Christianity is confused? And it is amazing the resistance to eliminating these lies.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “In Proverbs...” What do you think of this use of the word, “judgment”?

I like how it is used here, but can judgment mean something other than discernment, wisdom?

The word can also mean a judicial decision, or the judicial event in which one is judged.

Can you think of a place in Scripture where the word means wisdom or discernment, but penal theologians have taught it means God's judicial act?

How about Daniel 7 and Revelation 14?

These texts are part of the Investigative Judgment (IJ) doctrine, which has God and others, in heaven, reviewing record books, to determine the fate of the people on earth, or so it is commonly taught, because they approach the inspired record with a penal presupposition and misinterpret judgment to mean judicial act, rather than discernment or wisdom. Let's look at the evidence:

From one of the founders, who established the doctrine of the IJ:

The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi, are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25. {FLB 207.4}

There are several texts that refer to the same event – Daniel 8:14, Daniel 7:9-14,21,22, Malachi 3:1-4, and the parable of the 10 virgins in Matthew 25. Each of these passages gives insight into the investigative judgment.

Daniel 8:14 is merely predicting the time this event will begin, no other significant details are given in the 8:14 text.

In Daniel 7 we are given more insight, but what is being described?

“As I looked, “thrones were set in place, and the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him. Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him. The court was seated, and the books were opened....“In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was one like a son of man, coming with the clouds of heaven. He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence. He was given authority, glory and sovereign power; all peoples, nations and men of every language worshiped him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will not pass away, and his kingdom is one that will never be destroyed. Daniel 7:9,10,13,14

What did you hear being described?

Those with a legal/penal preconceived idea about what is going on, read this as a court of law, or a judicial proceeding and the books are the books to judge us by. Much is read in that is not in the text.

If we take a more straightforward approach and ask what is being described in the context of the passage another idea emerges.

What is being described is not a judicial proceeding. Instead what is described is a Royal Court! It is the Royal Court of the universe which is holding the Coronation of Christ!

Some are uncomfortable with this conclusion and rest their entire position on the Hebrew word "diyn," which is translated "court," claiming this Hebrew word refers to a judicial proceeding. I refer them to The Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament published in 1980 by Moody Press, which says:

This word, with its derived noun diyn is nearly identical in meaning with šhaphat {shaw-fat} (q.v.) and its derived noun mišhpāt {mish-pawt} (q.v.). It appears only twenty-three times, a fraction of the times šhaphat and mišhpāt appear. Of the twenty-three appearances, five are in parallel with šhaphat (Jer 5:28; 22:16; Prov 31:8; Ps 7:8 [H 9]; 9:8 [H 9]) and twice more it is associated in the text with mišhpāt (Ps 72:2; Jer 21:12). Thus nearly a third of its occurrences show how closely the idea of diyn was identified or associated with the root šhaphat. The verb also occurs in Ugaritic and in parallel with tp (the cognate of šhaphat) (Fisher, RSP, vol. I, p. 166). Likewise a similar—nearly identical as far as it goes—list of terms is associated with diyn, demonstrating the near identity of meaning: with mēyšhar {may-shawr} "uprightness," "equity" (Ps 96:10; cf. Ps 75:2); and with gaša (Ps 54:1 [H 3]; cf. Ps 72:4). As with šhaphat it represents God's government as both among his people (Israel) and among all peoples (Ps 135:14 "people"; Ps 7:8 [H 9] "peoples" cf. Ps 72:2; Ps 9:8 [H 9]). As far as the small number of occurrences allows a test, the range of meanings is exactly the same: to govern, in the whole range of activities of government: legislative, executive, judicial, or otherwise. See the discussion of šhaphat and mišhpāt. The difference between the terms is simply that diyn is poetic, probably also an archaic and more elegant term. Of the twenty-three occurrences, only one is outside the Protestant grouping of poetical and poetical-prophetic literature. The exception is the single passive form—a Niphal participle (II Sam 19:9 [H 10]). The chief theological significance of this word is that apparently like šhaphat it embodies the idea of government, in whatever realm, in all its aspects.[1]

Therefore, I believe that the above credible authority on Hebrew supports "diyn" as I have rendered it above. Once we recognize that the court seated is the Royal Court of the universe convening for the governmental action of coronating Christ, we can more clearly understand what occurs during the investigative judgment.

Daniel 7:21,22 gives insight:

As I watched, this horn was waging war against the saints and defeating them, until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom.

The above rendering is from the NIV, which many, who assume the legal model, prefer. But does the meaning of the passage change when we read from the King James Version?

Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom. Daniel 7:22

Which translation is more accurate? The Hebrew word translated “pronounced” actually means “to give” or “to impart” and thus the KJV would be more accurate in this context.

Why do the saints of God need judgment imparted to them? Because it is another word for wisdom or discernment, why do they need this imparted? The Daniel text tells us the horn warred against the saints and was defeating them. What kind of warfare was going on?

For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. 2 Cor 10:3-5

What kind of war? Where is it being fought? This is a war between truth and lies, centering on God’s character, and being fought in our minds! Amazingly, Paul makes the connection to the cleansing of the Temple even closer and shows how the Temple is connected to this war going on in our minds:

Concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our being gathered to him, we ask you, brothers, not to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord has already come. Don’t let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God’s temple, proclaiming himself to be God. 2Thes 2:1-4

Paul is describing the exact same events as Daniel 7 in which evil powers war against the saints and oppose God. In the aftermath of Christ’s death, resurrection, and ascension into heaven, did this man of lawlessness ride into heaven overthrow God, set himself up in God’s temple in heaven, and proclaim himself to be God? No, where did this happen? In the Spirit Temple! In our minds! Therefore, the cleansing of the temple, as described in the Bible, is the cleansing of our minds from the lies about God, which wins us back to trust and results in our cleansing from sin.

Daniel is told in vision that an evil power would arise that would lie, distort, misrepresent God, and defile the Spirit Temple by getting humans to accept, worship, and teach a false picture of God. According to our understanding of interpreting prophetic time, it would take 2,300 years before enough truth would be recovered for Christ to empower His people on earth with judgment (discernment) to break free from the lies and be cleansed in their minds and characters.

All of this is confirmed for us by the other text describing the same event as Daniel 8:14, Malachi 3:1-3:

Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come,” says the Lord Almighty. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner’s fire or a launderer’s soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver.

What is getting cleansed during the investigative judgment? The Levites. And who are the Levites? The Priesthood of believers (1Pet 2:5,9).

God is cleansing His people from what? 1) the lies about Him which keep us from trusting Him and 2) when we are won back to trust, He cleanses us from sin. God writes His law of love into our hearts. He restores His character of righteousness in us. This is what is happening during the investigative judgment.

How does this happen? By our investigating the truth about God as revealed in Christ, rejecting the lies, and clinging to the truth and trusting God!

But this has been obstructed by accepting the lie that God’s law is functionally like human law, imposed without inherent consequence. Thus the horn wages war and defeats the saints unless the saints obtain wisdom from God, discernment to realize God’s laws are not like human law.

This is the same problem we find in interpreting Rev 14, the message of the first angel – when read through human/worldly law lens we misunderstand the message and take a distorted picture of God to the world – thus we FAIL in doing the work of the three angels. This is why in Revelation 18 the message is to be given again, because it didn’t do its work the first time!

What does it mean “the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom”? I think it has two applications – one for the infant – and one for the mature.

For those, who just out of slavery are having an orgy around a golden calf and God thunders, which caused fear, but in this fear they stopped their orgy, and then started listening – wisdom began. And what did they hear Moses say – “There is no need to be afraid.”

And for the mature – fear is awe, admiration, adoration, in which we humble ourselves into honest seekers of truth willing to learn and be instructed by our amazing God. This attitude opens the mind for wisdom to grow.

MONDAY

True education – what does it look like? The lesson asks us to read Proverbs 1:8-19:

Listen, my son, to your father's instruction and do not forsake your mother's teaching.
⁹ They are a garland to grace your head and a chain to adorn your neck.
¹⁰ My son, if sinful men entice you, do not give in to them.
¹¹ If they say, "Come along with us;
let's lie in wait for innocent blood,
let's ambush some harmless soul;
¹² let's swallow them alive, like the grave,
and whole, like those who go down to the pit;
¹³ we will get all sorts of valuable things and fill our houses with plunder;
¹⁴ cast lots with us;
we will all share the loot"—
¹⁵ my son, do not go along with them, do not set foot on their paths;
¹⁶ for their feet rush into evil, they are swift to shed blood.
¹⁷ How useless to spread a net where every bird can see it!
¹⁸ These men lie in wait for their own blood;
they ambush only themselves!
¹⁹ Such are the paths of all who go after ill-gotten gain;
it takes away the life of those who get it.

What did you hear?

Wisdom avoids selfishness – it avoids violating the law of love, it avoids hurting others.

Why is this wise? Because life is built on the law of love and to violate the law of love results in something to the violators – what? The text tells us –

¹⁸ These men lie in wait for their own blood;
they ambush only themselves!

¹⁹ Such are the paths of all who go after ill-gotten gain;
it takes away the life of those who get it.

Wow! Incredible – but Satan has cast a distortion over the minds of many, so many read this as the wicked create a legal ledger of bad deeds, to which God will one day act as executioner and torture and kill them. Not so – sin pays its wage; the wage is death.

The lesson quotes one of the founders of our church as stating, “In His wisdom the Lord has decreed that the family shall be the greatest of all educational agencies. It is in the home that the education of the child is to begin. Here is the first school.” AH 182.

What do you think the primary, the most basic, the most important lesson of all is? What is the lesson that the family is to teach above all others?

Love!

Infants that are not held, caressed, loved, have altered brains with upregulated fear circuitry and subsequent increased problems with anxiety, depression and relationship difficulties later in life.

We are born infected with selfishness and fear. The home is to nurture the child in love, true love, which sets health boundaries, holds the child to account, but always in love, always with the goal to protect and restore, always with forgiveness, never with vengeance.

The family is to teach the child the meaning of selfless service, of caring for someone more than self. The family is to teach the lesson of community, of connecting, of having a purpose larger than self. The family is to teach God’s design for life, of the loving parents sacrificing self for the welfare of their children, but risking being misunderstood to do what is best for their children.

And as the child grows, what is God’s method to achieve this?

Jesus followed the divine plan of education. The schools of His time, with their magnifying of things small and their belittling of things great, He did not seek. His education was gained directly from the Heaven-appointed sources; from useful work, from the study of the Scriptures and of nature, and from the experiences of life--God's lesson books, full of instruction to all who bring to them the willing hand, the seeing eye, and the understanding heart. {Ed 77.2}

Consider these lesson books:

- What is learned from useful work?
 - Self-mastery
 - the joy of accomplishment
 - the law of cause and effect

- What is learned from Scripture?
 - The truth about God in the setting of the GC
 - The purpose of man and our place in God's kingdom
 - The rise of evil
 - God's solution to the sin problem in the person of Jesus
 - The ultimate end and how we can participate with God in His plans
- What is learned from nature?
 - How the law of love functions
 - Design law
 - how deviations from the design result in ruin and death
- What is learned from experience?
 - the application of God's principles to life
 - the development of character
 - the establishment of habit
 - the solidification into the truth by experience

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "While sinners..." This is quite a revelation to the difference in how truth and lies operate.

Truth operates in the open, broadcast aloud, lies operate behind the scenes, secretly, not wanting to be exposed to the light of truth. I came across this commentary describing the origin of evil in heaven:

Leaving his place in the immediate presence of God, Lucifer went forth to diffuse the spirit of discontent among the angels. Working with mysterious secrecy, and for a time concealing his real purpose under an appearance of reverence for God, he endeavored to excite dissatisfaction concerning the laws that governed heavenly beings, intimating that they imposed an unnecessary restraint. GC 495

And Jesus speaking to the Sanhedrin:

"I have spoken openly to the world," Jesus replied. "I always taught in synagogues or at the temple, where all the Jews come together. I said nothing in secret. Jn 18:20

What do you learn when you find out people go behind the scenes to discredit another person's views, to get speaking engagement canceled, and refuse an open discussion of the difference?

¹⁶For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. ¹⁷For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. ¹⁸Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because they have not believed in the name of God's one and only Son.¹⁹ This is the verdict: Light has come into the world, but people loved darkness instead of light because their deeds were evil.²⁰ Everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for fear that their deeds will be exposed.²¹ But whoever lives by the truth comes into the light, so that it may be seen plainly that what they have done has been done in the sight of God. Jn 3:16-21

What does this mean? What do you hear?

Why do people in evil or sin not want to come into the light? What obstructs?

Could it be the lies they hold about what it would mean to come into the light?

Could it be fear, fear of reprisal, punishment, recrimination?

Could it be distorted God concepts that present God has having a legal responsibility to punish sin keeps people hiding in the darkness?

If you believed your doctor was going to punish you for not following his directions – your cholesterol is high, and the doctor has recommended a change in diet, but you have continued eating ice cream, cheese, meat, would you go back to the doctor if you believed he would torture and kill you for not obeying him?

This is what happens in the minds of people who accept the legal lies about God. They don't want to go to God thus they created theologies based on the lies to make them feel safe.

This week it was revealed in an online blog that those who hold the penal view of God find security, NOT in trusting God, but in the "legal payment" Jesus made. In their minds, because of the legal payment made to God by Jesus God cannot touch them. Think about it, their entire theology presents God just as Satan alleged, a God who is revengeful, who will use His power to destroy, but who is legally restrained from doing so because Jesus made the proper legal payment.

This view of God stands in stark contrast to the view we present. We present a God who loved us so much He provided the Remedy to our situation we could never provide, and who will only cry if we refuse it, but will not use His power to destroy us. Thus, we like Jesus can say, "into your hands I surrender my spirit."

In our view our security is found in our trust in God – in their view security is found in a legal payment to God to be protected from God.

This is why they so vehemently attack our view because it frightens them to think about going before God without a legal payment.

In the second paragraph, “The reason that people reject wisdom has nothing to do with the wisdom itself and everything to do with the character of those who reject it.”

This is well said – but also in addition to character perhaps ability to comprehend?

Jesus used to say “Let him who has eyes see and ears hear.” Not everyone is able or willing to understand what is written or said.

Read the last paragraph, “Those who reject...” What do you think of the first sentence? Do you believe this is true? How do you hear the meaning of it?

Through imposed law, it is taught the fruit they reap is the inflicted torture and punishment from God.

Through design law, they reap what happens when one persistently chooses to deviate from God’s design, pain, suffering, culminating in eternal destruction.

Why do people come to believe fables? It sounds very much like God giving them over to a strong delusion to believe a lie – why are they given over to a strong delusion? Because they didn’t love the truth, and if one rejects the truth, the only thing left is falsehood and lies.

WEDNESDAY

Read Proverbs 2:1-5:

My son, if you accept my words and store up my commands within you,
² turning your ear to wisdom and applying your heart to understanding—³ indeed, if you call out for insight and cry aloud for understanding,
⁴ and if you look for it as for silver and search for it as for hidden treasure,
⁵ then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God.

What are the conditions to receive God’s wisdom and the knowledge of the Lord?

- Willingness to be teachable such that one can take in and assimilate the truth
- An application of your mind to contemplate and understand the meaning of the truth
- Reaching your mind out to God to connect to Him for insight and understanding as you contemplate the deep meaning

- Approach God's truth as of greatest value, something you actually desire to know and assimilate
- Then you will come into a true knowledge of God, His methods, principles and kingdom of love

Where can this breakdown and obstruct our growth in wisdom?

- Arrogance, being part of the chosen people, who "have the truth" and thus we don't need to be teachable because we already know it
- Believing the lie that the Bible is not to be thought about, contemplated, or understood deeply, but merely taken as it reads. "The Bible said it, I believe it, that settles it."
- Studying on one's own, or through other human agencies disconnected from the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit
- Valuing the defense of one's own held belief system rather than a humble willingness to move beyond one's current understanding
- Defending traditional and historic beliefs rather than moving forward in unfolding truth

Read Proverbs 2:10-22:

For wisdom will enter your heart,
and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul.
¹¹ Discretion will protect you,
and understanding will guard you.
¹² Wisdom will save you from the ways of wicked men,
from men whose words are perverse,
¹³ who have left the straight paths
to walk in dark ways,
¹⁴ who delight in doing wrong
and rejoice in the perverseness of evil,
¹⁵ whose paths are crooked
and who are devious in their ways.
¹⁶ Wisdom will save you also from the adulterous woman,
from the wayward woman with her seductive words,
¹⁷ who has left the partner of her youth
and ignored the covenant she made before God.
¹⁸ Surely her house leads down to death
and her paths to the spirits of the dead.
¹⁹ None who go to her return
or attain the paths of life.
²⁰ Thus you will walk in the ways of the good and keep to the paths of the righteous.
²¹ For the upright will live in the land,
and the blameless will remain in it;

²² but the wicked will be cut off from the land, and the unfaithful will be torn from it.

What do you hear?

For wisdom will enter your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul. [Understanding reality, how it operates, understanding the truth about God, His character is freeing to the mind and pleasant to the soul]

¹¹ Discretion will protect you, and understanding will guard you. [We are protected when we take time to think and don't act merely on emotion. To reason out from cause to effect, in the knowledge of God's design for life and health. In doing this our understanding guards us from damaging choices.]

¹² Wisdom will save you from the ways of wicked men, from men whose words are perverse, [what are the ways of wicked men? What is the root of wickedness? It is selfishness, it is about protecting self, survival of self. Wisdom saves us from mistakenly acting selfishly and notice how choosing selfishness is described because it deviates from how life is designed to operate]

to walk in dark ways,

¹⁴ who delight in doing wrong
and rejoice in the perverseness of evil,

and who are devious in their ways.

¹⁶ Wisdom will save you also from the adulterous woman,
from the wayward woman with her seductive words,

¹⁷ who has left the partner of her youth
and ignored the covenant she made before God.

¹⁸ Surely her house leads down to death and her paths to the spirits of the dead. [why does this lead to death? Because it deviates from the design of love. It is self-centered and dishonest. It betrays trust and results in increased fear and insecurity, which causes one to become more self-centered and vicious cycle down]

¹⁹ None who go to her return
or attain the paths of life.

²⁰ Thus you will walk in the ways of the good
and keep to the paths of the righteous.

²¹ For the upright will live in the land, and the blameless will remain in it; [why do the righteous remain in the land when God returns and makes all things perfect? Because they are also restored to God's design and prepared to live in the unveiled presence of God's glory]

²² but the wicked will be cut off from the land, and the unfaithful will be torn from it. [What happens to the wicked? What does it mean cut off from the land? While will they be cut off? What cuts them off?]

THURSDAY

Read Proverbs 3:7,8:

Do not be wise in your own eyes;
fear the Lord and shun evil.
⁸ This will bring health to your body and nourishment to your bones.

Why? Is it because if you do the right thing, God performs a miracle to give you better health?

Or is it part of how we were designed to operate upon the law of love and deviating from that law results in destruction to our health?

When we deviate from the law of love – by exploiting another, by grudge holding and resentment, we disrupt our brains salience network and activate our fear circuitry. This results in release of inflammatory factors in our body, which cause:

- Insulin resistance
- DM II
- increase risk of heart attack and stroke
- damage brain cells, increasing risk of mood disorders and dementia
- activate osteoclasts causing osteopenia and osteoporosis

But when we live in harmony with God's design we calm the fear circuitry and stop this inflammatory cascade and it is healthy for our body's and bones here and now, and ultimately to eternal life when all things are made new.

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "The youth..." Is it true that life originates with God and is sustained by being connected to Him?

Then what happens if one disconnects?

Read and discuss questions 1 & 2

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 2

From Ears To Feet

I received this email this week from a physician in California:

Dr. Jennings, I can't begin to tell you what a blessing the God and Your Brain DVD's have been to my patients. I am continually getting great reports from them and several have said they have never heard anything like this before. It has opened up new avenues of thought, and now they notice the imposed law ideation when they listen to sermons in the church or on TV.

The [Bible Study] lessons have continued to "feed us" as we listen to these weekly. The Journal of the Watcher is truly inspired and I have been telling my patients and church members about how this points out so clearly the Law is indeed a Law of Love. I especially like how this exposes sin as selfishness and self-preservation, the opposite of God's character and His desire for us to be like Him. I would like to have the cards for promoting this app and I am out of the God and the Your Brain again. Do you have any new materials? I don't know how you would possibly have time!

We are praying for this message to be spread far and wide, but also to get the message back into the church.

And this was posted on our Facebook page this week:

Dr. J and the Come and Reason Class, after reading the blogs from the Compass Magazine, I felt compelled to write and let you all know I am praying for your ministry and your outreach. I am also praying for those who need to live more fully in the love of Jesus Christ. This past summer, my sister sent me a link to Come and Reason lesson studies and I've been "going" to church ever since, sometimes twice a day! All of my life I have lived in FEAR of God and His wrath, BUT I took comfort in the love of Jesus. It was as if Jesus was shielding me with His body from God's anger towards me - much like an abused mom will shield her children from an abusive father. So I grew up in a very contradictory, conflicted Adventist home, where Sabbath Sundown (Friday night) was the beginning of our own controversial showdown and by (Saturday) sundown we all felt a massive relief that it was all over.... Needless to say, I went down the destructive path of tribulations and ego, but through it all, I always felt I had Jesus by my side. Finally, the Biblical contradictions and what was going on in my daily life got to be too much and I said ENOUGH! The only truth I was going to follow was how Jesus lived His life, here on Earth- love one another as I have loved you. It was a message that gave the early Christians heart and soul - what they needed to face Rome's arena. I decided I wanted to have in my life the message those early Christians had in their hearts when they faced their mortal death. Plus, I knew there was more to God than what I learned from my past, for Christ said, if you know me, you know the Father. So I am ever so grateful when I opened the door to Come and Reason! I am uplifted by the comments made in class, too. When the one lady said it was really hard for her to "rethink" or "re-understand" how she saw God, I thought - ME, TOO! Most lessons, I listen to over and over again, read the notes, look up the texts, go for a walk with God, and then listen to the lesson again. It is very hard to break down those contradicting walls of viewpoints where God says I so loved the world that I gave my only begotten Son, to where it is preached from our pulpits how BAD, BAD, BAD we all are and how God can't wait to get rid of BAD, BAD, BAD people..... I must say it has been very hard to scrape the mark of the beast from my forehead and hand.....and I might have some deep scars from it, but I rejoice in the love and freedom I now have in my heart, mind, and soul. Thank you so much Come and Reason class for opening up such a HUGE door for me.... rather a whole new world for me and I actually look forward to church now! I have passed on this message and link to my friends and family. They are also reaping the benefits of this message of true love. Even my mother has found comfort in the Come and Reason classes. I would love for her to fully embrace the fact that she is a part of the Kingdom of Heaven instead of hoping for it, "if only she was good enough"..... That just really breaks my heart. Thank you Come and Reason class for being part of my journey and thank you for being a part of my family.

SABBATH

Read bottom paragraph, "It's not enough..." So, how do we choose the right and not the wrong? What is necessary before we choose?

Differentiating the right from the wrong – how do we get the ability to do that?

We have much to say about this, but it is hard to make it clear to you because you no longer try to understand. ¹² In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! ¹³ Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. ¹⁴ But solid food is for the mature, who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil.

So, the mature have the ability to distinguish the difference between good and evil – but how did they get this ability? By constant use of something – what? Constantly using solid food, - what is this solid food they are using?

Well, maybe we can figure that out by understanding what milk is – milk is for the infants, and as infants we are not yet acquainted with righteousness – so what is infant formula? Or said another way, what is the religious formula that infants like?

Heb 6:1,2:

Therefore let us move beyond the elementary teachings about Christ and be taken forward to maturity, not laying again the foundation of repentance from acts that lead to death, and of faith in God, ² instruction about cleansing rites [baptism], the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment.

What do you hear is infant formula?

1. Do's and don'ts, the commandments, behavioral religion, keeping track of deeds and sins – any examples of this type of infant formula theology?
 - a. Notice, it isn't that this isn't part of the journey – it is just the starting point, the infant stage, we can't grow up if we aren't first born as babies in the world – and likewise we can't grow up to be mature Christians if we are first reborn as babes in Christ.
 - b. There is a healthy level of repentance from acts that lead to death, when we realize the truth of God's design for life, His character of love, and surrender ourselves in trust to Jesus. This is David praying, search me and see the wicked way in me, create in me a clean heart oh God!

- c. However, at this stage we come to conviction of our sinful selves, and it is typically very childlike; we feel guilty and ashamed of the bad things we have done, and live in fear of punishment and rejection. At this stage we are vulnerable to have our understanding of God distorted and because we feel bad about ourselves, we accept the lie that God is mad at us; because we punish ourselves in our own minds, we believe the lie that God wants to punish us; because we want to do something to “make up” for our badness, we believe the lie that God needs something done to Him to make up for our badness. Thus we fall victim to the false legal theology and gratefully accept Jesus’ payment for our sins and for being our substitute. We are thankful to know that the Father won’t punish us because Jesus took our punishment. We experience great relief and peace but are still unacquainted with righteousness because we believe lies about God and our own sin condition.
 - d. But it is so wonderful to be free from the terrible torment of guilt, fear and shame in which we lived before coming to repentance from our acts that lead to death, that many stay here as babies in their experience with God and develop an entire theology based on baby formula, mixed with their childlike view of God’s law, distorted to be like imposed human law – this is penal substitution theology.
 - e. I have patients, who have had homes in which parents were loving and nurturing and shouldered so many of life’s responsibilities and the children lived in such fear of making mistakes that they didn’t want to grow up and preferred to be cared for and stay childlike in their functioning. Some Christians are so afraid of making mistakes they don’t want to grow up so they stay childlike in their belief system and functioning.
2. Faith in God – how is this infant formula?
- a. Because faith, or trust, is the also a starting point, it is in faith that we confess, repent from acts that lead to death, but our faith is to grow beyond that of its infant form.
 - b. But sadly many don’t grow past this level, life is all about repenting from acts and having faith that Jesus has paid the penalty. They stay infants, unacquainted with righteousness claiming faith in the legal payment made to protect us from God, but not living in a daily faith relationship with God who sent His Son to provide what was necessary to restore us to righteousness.
 - i. Infant faith – Rahab lies in faith & Gideon and the fleece
 - ii. Mature faith – the three worthies in Daniel, the centurion who said just command my servant be well and it will be so & Paul going to his death in Rome – having faith in God not to be miraculously delivered
3. Instructions about baptism – how is this infant stuff?
- a. Again, it is a starting point, it is the beginning of the new life in Christ, it is the mere change in heart attitude toward God, it is not the experience of victory over self, the crucifying of the flesh, the establishment of mature character, the growth in wisdom and understanding – it is merely a basic understanding that God can be trusted, surrendering of self to Him and a choice to commit one’s life to Him.
 - b. And many infants, will request rebaptism, because they think it is somehow meritorious to salvation

4. Laying on of hands
 - a. Another elementary or starting point, after trust, repentance and surrendering self, and publicly committing self to start your life anew as a newborn babe in Christ through baptism, then the laying on of hands to impart the Holy Spirit to nurture, enlighten, and help your grow – but this is again a starting point.
5. Resurrection of the dead
 - a. This is one of the basic teachings, that helps us overcome our fears and survival-of-the-fittest instincts of self-preservation. When we first come to Christ we generally come focused on self, fear of punishment, fear of dying, fear of facing our record of sin or others knowing our sins, and thus, as babes we are given the promise of resurrection to calm our fears. Just as when an angel appeared to prophets and they were afraid, the first thing said was something to reassure “don’t be afraid you are highly esteemed.” So, too, in our infancy, we must be reassured of the resurrection and that death will not be victorious – God says “Don’t be afraid, I have overcome death.”
6. Eternal judgment
 - a. Another basic teaching for the infants, who come all self focused, fearful of getting punished, relieved to experience God’s grace and forgiveness, reassured of the resurrection, yet, like children consumed with self, wanting to be sure everything is “fair” and those who haven’t repented get what is due them. So, God gives them a basic teaching, there will be a final judgment, you can stop worrying, stop keeping score, stop holding resentments, forgiven and trust me, I settle up accounts in the end.
 - b. But we are to mature past this level, to grow up to understand judgment is actually the accurate diagnosis of the condition of each character. The infants are not acquainted with righteousness because they stay focused on repentance from acts that lead to death, and thus falsely teach that unrepentant acts must be punished, and promote a human imposed law construct of courtrooms, judicial proceedings and imposed punishments. The mature, have grown and realize that sin damages the sinner and those who refuse the infusion of Christ via the Holy Spirit will be diagnosed as terminal and let go to reap what they have chosen.

Notice that the mature develop by practice the ability to discern good from evil. But the immature, do not develop the ability to think for themselves, instead they surrender their thinking to others, theologians, pastors, parents and trust others to do their thinking for them.

Listen to this quotation from one of the founders of our church:

“If we mistake the wisdom of man for the wisdom of God we are led astray by the foolishness of man's wisdom...”

One of the most common ways this happens is the exchanging of God’s design law for human imposed law, teaching that God’s law requires God to impose punishments. If you read the Compass Magazine blog and dialogue you saw this very clearly.

What are the three threads of evidence? Scripture, Science and Experience – and without bringing the knowledge Scripture and science into personal experience it is useless. This is another reason penal theologies fail – they look at sin and its solution as something happening in a courtroom in heaven, rather than experiential in the believer. As a psychiatrist, working with people, I realized true religion is transformational in the believer; it actually heals, restores, and results in peace of mind and victory over selfishness. Penal views fail as they focus on legal pardon, not transformation, and thus are not loved based but fear based in their primary motivation]

“They have not been in the habit of prayerfully considering for themselves, with unprejudiced, unbiased judgment, questions and subjects that are new and that are ever liable to arise. They wait to see what others will think. If these dissent, that is all that is needed to convince them that the subject under consideration is of no account whatever. Although this class is large, it does not change the fact that they are inexperienced,,,

Haven’t done it for themselves, i.e. no experience, in any subject matter this is a problem. If study swimming from a book, but never swim, no experience and will drown unless a lifeguard pulls you out, so if one isn’t experienced with thinking for themselves what happens

“and weak-minded through long yielding to the enemy, and will always be as sickly as babes, walking by others' light, living on others' experience, feeling as others feel, and acting as others act. They act as though they had not an individuality. Their identity is submerged in others; they are merely shadows of those whom they think [are] right. Unless these become sensible of their wavering character and correct it, they will all fail of everlasting life; they will be unable to cope with the perils of the last days. They will possess no stamina to resist the devil, for they do not know that it is he. Someone must be at their side to inform them whether a foe or a friend is approaching.” {2T 129.2}

She is simply saying, if they read about swimming, but never swim, they will be unable to cope when the ship goes down and they need to swim on their own – they won’t be able to and will drown. This is what penal substitution theology does to people. It indoctrinates them into a thoughtless system of rules teaching them to believe without thought.

Consider this out of the book education:

“Every human being, created in the image of God, is endowed with a power akin to that of the Creator-- individuality, power to think and to do. The men in whom this power is developed are the men who bear responsibilities, who are leaders in enterprise, and who influence character. It is the work of true education to develop this power, to train the youth to be thinkers, and not mere reflectors of other men's thought. Instead of confining their study to that which men have said or written, let students be directed to the sources of truth, to the vast fields opened for research in nature and revelation. Let them contemplate the great facts of duty and destiny, and the mind will expand and strengthen. Instead of educated weaklings, institutions of learning may send forth men strong to think and to act, men who are masters and not slaves of circumstances, men who possess breadth of mind, clearness of thought, and the courage of their convictions.” {Ed 17.2}

What does a reflector do? It reflects the light of another – but a reflector as no light of its own to give! Jesus said:

“You are the light of the world. A town built on a hill cannot be hidden. Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on its stand, and it gives light to everyone in the house. In the same way, let your light shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your Father in heaven.” Mat 5:14-16

We cannot be lights in the world if we do not think for ourselves, if we do not develop the ability to reason, to weigh evidences, to integrate divergent threads.

I am concerned that some educators in our institutions are more concerned with indoctrinating into “right” theology, than teaching students how to think and reason and weigh evidences for themselves.

Come and Reason Ministries is NOT here to teach you WHAT to think, but to teach you HOW to think, how to reason, how to weigh the evidences, so you can develop the ability to discern the right from the wrong in any circumstances and you can be the masters of destiny!

So, what is necessary to be able to choose the right from the wrong? The ability to discern the right from the wrong. And what is necessary to do that? Practicing thinking for yourself, weighing the evidences God has provided, not allowing others to do your thinking for you – and experiencing for yourself the truth in your life. Using the divine plan of education which is the integration of Scripture, Science and Experience.

I came across this article this week in my reading and it was so powerful and made such a distinction between mature and immature I wanted to share it with you:

“There are two classes of educators in the world. One class are those whom God makes channels of light, and the other class are those whom Satan uses as his agents, who are wise to do evil...

What do you think this author will say next as the distinguishing issue separating those who are channels of light from God and those who are Satan’s agents? Do you think it will be the 10 Commandments, which day one worships upon or the judgment?

“One class contemplates the character of God, and increases in the knowledge of Jesus, whom God hath sent into the world. This class becomes wholly given up to those things which bring heavenly enlightenment, heavenly wisdom, to the uplifting of the soul. Every capability of their nature is submitted to God, and their thoughts are brought into captivity to Christ. The other class is in league with the prince of darkness, who is ever on the alert that he may find an opportunity to teach others the knowledge of evil...

What do those who God makes channels of light focus upon? The truth of God’s character as revealed in Jesus! And what is the knowledge of evil? Lies about God’s character, the mixing of evil with good – we went through examples of that last week, like mixing God’s design law with human imposed law, or God as the source of life and inflicted death.

“If place is made for him, he will not be slow to press his way into heart and mind...” {CE 70.2}

“Is it the Lord's purpose that false principles, false reasoning, and the sophistries of Satan should be kept before the mind of our youth and children? Shall pagan and infidel sentiments be presented to our students as valuable additions to their store of knowledge?...

What is the essence of paganism? That God must be paid, appeased, or some legal blood payment made.

“The works of the most intellectual skeptic are works of a mind prostituted to the service of the enemy, and shall those who claim to be reformers, who seek to lead the children and youth in the right way, in the path cast up, imagine that God will be pleased with having them present to the youth that which will misrepresent his character, placing him in a false light before the young? -- God forbid.”

“The greatness and power with which the Creator endowed Lucifer he has perverted; and yet, when it suits his purpose, he can impart to men sentiments that are enchanting...

This is quite profound, because there is error that some who profess to promote the truth of God’s character fall into. Some look into the OT and suggest every time the Bible teaches God used power to put people into the grave, it was actually Satan. They teach Satan has lost all control and can only act out to destroy when unrestrained. Not so, Satan can act as an angel of light and even perform miracles of healing if it suits his purposes. In the OT, God did act in some very specific circumstances to put people into the grave – but it is an error to ever view this as punishment for sin. Every act was an act of mercy and love, a therapeutic intervention to keep open the channel for the Messiah! Each of those persons will live again.

“Everything in nature comes from God; yet Satan can inspire his agents with thoughts that appear elevating and noble. Did he not come to Christ with quotations of Scripture when he designed to overthrow him with his specious temptations? This is the way in which he comes to man, as an angel of light disguising his temptations under an appearance of goodness, and making men believe him to be the friend rather than the enemy of humanity. It is in this way that he has deceived and seduced the race,--beguiling them with subtle temptations, bewildering them with specious deceptions...

What belief would you suggest is the most predominant belief today that beguiles humanity into Satan's camp? It is the lie about God's law being imposed, and thus God, in order to be just must inflict punishment. This lie taints all other beliefs, from the atonement, to how we understand the stories in the Bible, right on through to the final end of sin and sinner. Notice, the description this author gives of Satan's distortions that beguile humanity.

"Satan has ascribed to God all the evils to which flesh is heir...

What evils does the flesh have? We are petty, jealous and demand vengeance. Thus, Satan represents God as an angry revengeful deity, who won't forgive without payment, and must kill His own Son to vent His wrath.

"He has represented him as a God who delights in the sufferings of his creatures, who is revengeful and implacable. It was Satan who originated the doctrine of eternal torment as a punishment for sin, because in this way he could lead men into infidelity and rebellion, distract souls, and dethrone the human reason...

Why does the doctrine of eternal torment dethrone human reason? Because it is antithetical, it is contradictory, it is unreasonable – why? Because it contradicts the teaching that God is love – so on the one hand we teach God is love, and we know love can only exist in an atmosphere of freedom, but then this doctrine teaches, if you don't love God He will torture you for all eternity. Or, we teach God is all knowing, and knows the future, but somehow He still gave man immortality in Eden, and when human beings sinned they were destined to suffer for all eternity if they didn't repent. God hates it but, His hands are tied having already given them immortality – thus again we dethrone human reason by suggesting an all-wise, all-knowing God couldn't figure out the future, or He did know but still gave them immortality, thus contradicting the idea He is truly good and love! Is the doctrine of eternal torment the only doctrine that dethrones human reason? No! The doctrine of Penal Substitution does as well, because it requires one to believe contradictory things, like God is love, but God will kill you if you don't accept the payment of Jesus. This contradicts the law of liberty, and there are many more such contradictions.

"Heaven, looking down, and seeing the delusions into which men were led, knew that a divine Instructor must come to earth. Men in ignorance and moral darkness must have light, spiritual light; for the world knew not God, and he must be revealed to their understanding...

What is the primary issue that men didn't know that they needed to know? The truth about God!

“Truth looked down from heaven and saw not the reflection of her image; for dense clouds of moral darkness and gloom enveloped the world, and the Lord Jesus alone was able to roll back the clouds; for he was the light of the world...

What is moral darkness? The darkness that impairs our ability to tell what is good and evil.

“By his presence he could dissipate the gloomy shadow that Satan had cast between man and God. Darkness covered the earth, and gross darkness the people. Through the accumulated misrepresentations of the enemy, many were so deceived that they worshiped a false god, clothed with the attributes of the satanic character...

What does this look like? Is this still happening today? Yes, this is why Malachi prophesied before the coming of the Lord Elijah would have to come again to call people back from the worship of a false god to worship of the God of love!

“The Teacher from heaven, no less a personage than the Son of God, came to earth to reveal the character of the Father to men, that they might worship him in spirit and in truth...

What was the issue that Christ came to reveal? Why?

“Christ revealed to men the fact that the strictest adherence to ceremony and form would not save them; for the kingdom of God was spiritual in its nature...

Whoa! A legal religion will not work! No amount of right behavior will save us. No legal claim works, for it is spiritual not legal in its nature. It must be experienced in the heart/mind/character of the believer!

“Christ came to the world to sow it with truth...

Where is truth sown? In inanimate material, or into hearts and minds?

“He held the keys to all the treasures of wisdom, and was able to open doors to science, and to reveal undiscovered stores of knowledge, were it essential to salvation. He presented to men that which was exactly contrary to the representations of the enemy in regard to the character of God...

And what did Christ reveal? Are we still teaching things about God that are exactly contrary to what Christ revealed about the character of God?

“and sought to impress upon men the paternal love of the Father, who "so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life..." [John 3:16.] He taught them honesty, forbearance, mercy, and compassion, enjoining upon them to love not only those who loved them, but those who hated them, who treated them spitefully. In this he was revealing to them the character of the Father, who is long-suffering, merciful, and gracious, slow to anger, and full of goodness and truth...

What was revealed about the Father? Does legal penalty theologies teach this about God? No, it teaches God cannot and will not forgive without a legal payment. That our security is not in a trust relationship with God, but in a legal payment made to God to protect us from God. God cannot pour out His Spirit upon us until we disabuse ourselves of this lie about Him!

Those who accepted his teaching were under the guardian care of angels, who were commissioned to strengthen, to enlighten, that the truth might renew and sanctify the soul...

What does the truth do? It renews and sanctifies the soul. And where is the truth to be applied? To God or into the minds and hearts of sinners? And what is a metaphor for the truth? The blood of Jesus! Thus Jesus taught we are to drink His blood. But the legal view has the blood, i.e. the truth, being applied to God! This again cheats the sinner from partaking what Christ has provided.

“Christ declares the mission he had in coming to the earth...

What do you think that mission was? The lie of the legal view is to do something to God legally to restrain God's wrath from killing us. Notice what this author says.

“He says in his last public prayer, "O righteous Father, the world has not known you: but I have known you, and these have known that you have sent me. And I have declared unto them your name, and will declare it; that the love wherewith you have loved me may be in them, and I in them." [John 17:25, 26.] ...

What was His mission? To reveal the Father – for what purpose? So the lies may be dispelled and we can actually know God for ourselves so that His love may be restored in us!

“When Moses asked the Lord to show him his glory, the Lord said, "I will make all my goodness pass before thee." [Exodus 33:19.] "And the Lord passed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty. . . . And Moses made haste, and bowed his head toward the earth, and worshiped." [Exodus 34:6-8.] ...

Why does God not clear the guilty? Because those who refuse Him remain in their terminal condition and cannot be cleared. Reality is what reality is – we are either reconciled to God and healed to be like Him, love restored in us, or we remain selfish. God CANNOT heal a mind, transform a character, against the free will of that person. Thus He cannot clear the conscience, clear the heart, clear the mind, clear the character of the guilty, those who distrust Him. The legal view would have you misunderstand this and think God cannot clear the legal record of the guilty who haven't accepted the legal payment. This lie diverts the mind away from what God is actually trying to do – heal His children, to clear their minds, hearts and characters of sin. Thus the legal view causes people to rest secure in a false system that leaves them in the bondage of sin, while they claim healing. It is diabolical and it has infected our church and holds millions captive!

“When we are able to comprehend the character of God as did Moses, we too shall make haste to bow in adoration and praise. Jesus contemplated nothing less than "that the love wherewith Thou hast love me" [John 17:26.] should be in the hearts of his children, that they might impart the knowledge of God to others.

O what an assurance is this, that the love of God may abide in the hearts of all who believe in him!...

What is necessary for this love to abide in our hearts? Rejecting the lies and returning to the truth such that we trust Him!

“O what salvation is provided; for he is able to save unto the uttermost all that come unto God by him. In wonder we exclaim, How can these things be? But Jesus will be satisfied with nothing less than this...

Why will nothing less that this satisfy Jesus and God? Because this is the basis for life. Just as a parent whose child was dying from cancer would be satisfied with nothing less than complete healing of their child, so too God is only satisfied with the complete healing and restoration of His children.]

“Those who are partakers of his sufferings here, of his humiliation, enduring for his name's sake, are to have the love of God bestowed upon them as it was upon the Son. One who knows, has said, "The Father himself loveth you." [John 16:27.] One who has had an experimental knowledge of the length, and breadth, and height, and depth of that love, has declared unto us this amazing fact. This love is ours through faith in the Son of God, therefore a connection with Christ means everything to us. We are to be one with him as he is one with the Father, and then we are beloved by the infinite God as members of the body of Christ, as branches of the living Vine...

What does it mean, if we accept Christ by faith, THEN we are beloved of the infinite God? Doesn't God love us before? Yes He does, “For God so loved the world...” This is talking, not about God's love for us, but our ability to be-loved by the Father. We cannot be-loved, i.e. have the love of God flow into and through us UNTIL we are connected to Christ. The Father's love is obstructed from us until we are united in a trust relationship with Jesus, then we are branches on the Vine.

“We are to be attached to the parent stock, and to receive nourishment from the Vine. Christ is our glorified Head, and the divine love flowing from the heart of God, rests in Christ, and is communicated to those who have been united to him. This divine love entering the soul inspires it with gratitude, frees it from its spiritual feebleness, from pride, vanity, and selfishness, and from all that would deform the Christian character..." {CE pp 73 - 75}

"To save the transgressor of God's law, Christ, the one equal with the Father, came to live heaven before men, that they might learn to know what it is to have heaven in the heart..."

What did Christ come to do to save us? Reveal the Father so that God's law of love can be restored into the HEARTS of those who trust Him. It is not a legal payment made in heavenly courts!]

"He illustrated what man must be to be worthy of the precious boon of the life that measures with the life of God. {CE 76.2}

The life of Christ was a life charged with a divine message of the love of God, and he longed intensely to impart this love to others in rich measure. Compassion beamed from his countenance, and his conduct was characterized by grace, humility, truth, and love. Every member of his church militant must manifest the same qualities, if he would join the church triumphant...

Why? What is the church militant – it is the church at war – what kind of war? A war over the knowledge of God, thus in order to triumph, we must come back to the truth about God as revealed in Jesus, trust Him such that we open our hearts to Him and experience His love reproduced in us!

"The love of Christ is so broad, so full of glory, that in comparison to it, everything that men esteem as great, dwindles into insignificance. When we obtain a view of it, we exclaim, O the depth of the riches of the love that God bestowed upon men in the gift of his only begotten Son!

When we seek for appropriate language in which to describe the love of God, we find words too tame, too weak, too far beneath the theme, and we lay down our pen and say, "No, it cannot be described." We can only do as did the beloved disciple, and say, "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." [1 John 3:1.] In attempting any description of this love, we feel that we are as infants lisping their first words. Silently we may adore; for silence in this matter is the only eloquence. This love is past all language to describe. It is the mystery of God in the flesh, God in Christ, and divinity in humanity. Christ bowed down in unparalleled humility, that in his exaltation to the throne of God, he might also exalt those who believe in him, to a seat with him upon his throne. All who look upon Jesus in faith that the wounds and bruises that sin has made will be healed in him, shall be made whole.

The themes of redemption are momentous themes, and only those who are spiritually minded can discern their depth and significance...

What does it mean to be spiritually minded? To think through the lens of Jesus Christ enlightened by the Holy Spirit. To reject the views of the world, including worldly imposed law constructs]

“It is our safety, our life, our joy, to dwell upon the truths of the plan of salvation.” {CER pp 76-77}

What does it mean our safety, life and joy to dwell these truths? Because by beholding we are changed, we are set free and transformed.

“Faith and prayer are necessary in order that we may behold the deep things of God. Our minds are so bound about with narrow ideas, that we catch but limited views of the experience it is our privilege to have. How little do we comprehend what is meant by the prayer of the apostle, when he says, "That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height, and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God. Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen. [Ephesians 3:16-21.]" -- Review and Herald, Nov. 17, 1891.

Do you see how the truth about God's character of love is obscured by teaching God's law is imposed and God is the source of inflicted pain and suffering? It undermines love. The doctrine of penal substitution is part of the reason why our church has stumbled in finishing the work of taking the final message to the world. It misrepresents God because it mixes truth and error.

We must reject it and come back to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and all that in them is! We must worship the Designer!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “The act of...” Does the Bible put the seat of wisdom in the ears instead of the brain? NO! The ears are metaphor to teach what? To teach that wisdom is not in hearing the words, but in understanding the words, which is in the brain/mind.

Thus Jesus said over and over again, “Whoever has ears let him hear.” Which means, whoever has a mind open to comprehend and understand the truth, let him understand.

The lesson states the first act of wisdom is to listen – but what does this mean?

It means, not to hear what is being said, but to comprehend, to understand, which is not with the ears, but with the mind – haven't you heard people say:

- Do you hear what I am saying?
- Are you listening?
- Do you hear me?

Are these words about the actual hearing or about understanding? Likewise, when it comes to wisdom from God it starts with a mind open to think, to reason, to contemplate, to comprehend, to understand, to investigate, to search for the truth.

From the book Christ's Object Lessons:

Merely to hear or to read the word is not enough. He who desires to be profited by the Scriptures must meditate upon the truth that has been presented to him. By earnest attention and prayerful thought he must learn the meaning of the words of truth, and drink deep of the spirit of the holy oracles. {COL 59.5}

Infants don't do this – infants take the reading of the word at face value – The Bible said it, I believe it that settles it. Those who defend the legal position take this infant approach to reading the Scripture, think concretely, insist on using symbolic language without searching for the meaning of the metaphor. In recent online discussions with those who hold the legal view, they consistently went back to the metaphor of blood, and the blood being offered to the Father. They refused to interpret the meaning of the blood, or to think through Jesus' words about how we must drink His blood.

The lesson asks us to read Proverbs 5, which is about being wise and not listening to the alluring temptations of the adulteress.

Read second paragraph, "The first danger..." I like where the lesson is leading that the first danger lies with ourselves, but I would go more basic than merely looking at our words and suggest the first danger lies with our hearts, our minds, our motives, our beliefs, our fears, our insecurities, our pride etc. It is from the abundance of the heart that the mouth speaks... so our words will reflect the heart – our first danger is the quality of our heart.

We must have new hearts and right motives. This is another problem with legal/penal theologies, they place the focus on legal pardon and forgiveness, claiming the legal work of Christ in heaven to get your legal salvation, but cheat people to a great degree from the victorious life in Christ. They claim they teach about sanctification, but in the legal model, sanctification is very much bent toward a will power works system of rules to restrict bad behavior.

There is no power in that theology, it traps people in a false security of believing they are saved, while they continue to destroy their souls with sinful living, even if that living is religious in nature, like the Pharisees in Christ's day.

The message of Jesus is, "I love you and worked out a perfect human life, that you could not work out for yourselves. If you get to know me, and stop being afraid of me, and open your heart in trust, I will send the Spirit who will GIVE you a new heart and right spirit. You won't have to work to change yourself, because you can't change yourself. You will instead have my character, my law of love, written into your heart, mind, character. You will be renewed in mind to be like me. Your thoughts will be brought into unity with mine and you will find peace and joy for your soul."

This is the Gospel – that God is not like Satan says, that Jesus came to reveal the Father to us, to win us to trust, and develop a perfect humanity to provide us as a free gift if we will surrender to Him and allow His Spirit to live in our hearts.

But self doesn't want to surrender, so self deceives and teaches a legal religion in which self survives under the cloak of accepting a legal payment applied in the ledgers of a heavenly court.

Now, back to the power of words – because while it is true that words reveal what is in the heart, they also have power to react upon the mind to reinforce thoughts. This is out of the book The Desire of Ages:

Closely connected with Christ's warning in regard to the sin against the Holy Spirit is a warning against idle and evil words. The words are an indication of that which is in the heart. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." But the words are more than an indication of character; they have power to react on the character. Men are influenced by their own words. Often under a momentary impulse, prompted by Satan, they give utterance to jealousy or evil surmising, expressing that which they do not really believe; but the expression reacts on the thoughts. They are deceived by their words, and come to believe that true which was spoken at Satan's instigation. Having once expressed an opinion or decision, they are often too proud to retract it, and try to prove themselves in the right, until they come to believe that they are. It is dangerous to utter a word of doubt, dangerous to question and criticize divine light. The habit of careless and irreverent criticism reacts upon the character, in fostering irreverence and unbelief. Many a man indulging this habit has gone on unconscious of danger, until he was ready to criticize and reject the work of the Holy Spirit. Jesus said, "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." {DA 323.1}

Read first paragraph, "Someone once said..." Why? Why do we need protection from our friends?

Because the closer we are to someone, the more we trust them, the greater their influence, the easier their ideas can influence us, the more quickly we are to accept what they say without investigation, without examination, without thinking it through for ourselves. Because we find them trustworthy we are more easily swayed, so if a friend is deceived they have more power to deceive us. Examples:

- Lucifer in heaven – one of the reasons he was so successful in deceiving 1/3 of the angels is because they trusted him
- Adam and Eve –
- Samson and Delilah –

Thus, we must always think for ourselves and evaluate for ourselves the evidence, not accusing someone of lying, but realizing a person could sincerely believe a lie and not realize they themselves have been tricked or deceived.

Read second paragraph, “While the torah...” What is justice? Doing what is right or just – and in God’s universe what determines what is right or just? God’s law – which is what? The law of love – so how do we apply it this context?

We consider what action is designed to be most beneficial to the other person – in their eternal best interest.

Thus 2Thes 3:10 “The one who is unwilling to work shall not eat.”

How is this an act of love?

So balancing the two – when do we loan and when do we not?

Read last paragraph, “No matter...” Why is this so important? What are the potential problems if we fail to do this?

Never set a boundary you are not willing to enforce – why?

Don’t commit to things you cannot fulfill – why?

Because it undermines your integrity – it teaches people that you don’t keep your word, that you cannot be relied upon, you cannot be trusted and within your own mind it undermines confidence, produces guilt, shame, fear, insecurity, doubt.

Why then would people make promises they cant keep?

- Fear of rejection
- Wanting to be liked

- Good intentions, but not actually considering the costs
- Wanting to, but not having the ability to, so agreeing because they want to show their support, but failing because they don't have the ability

WEDNESDAY

What lessons can we learn from the ant?

1. To communicate
 - a. Some ants leave chemical signals to lead their coworkers to the food sources
 - b. other ants have teacher ants that when they find food go back and lead by instructing and showing the way to the food
2. To nurture and protect the next generation
3. To ignore little distractions and stay on mission
4. To work together as a team for the larger purpose
5. That we are not alone
6. To share what we have with others
 - a. whether knowledge or resources or energy or ability
 - b. this is the law of love in action giving for the benefit of others
7. That success requires the ability to adapt and change to our surroundings
8. That success only comes through application and work
9. If obstacles occur, don't give up
10. If an obstacle is too big for you, then get help
11. Prepare for the future by making wise decisions today

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "If you indulge..." Discuss BDNF and ProBDNF and neuroplasticity

Read bottom paragraph, "Meanwhile..." Sin does harm both the one sinned against and the sinner, what is the difference in the type of harm each experience?

The one sinned against can be harmed:

- physically
- emotionally
- relationally
- financially
- occupationally
- and tempted to do evil in response, but, they are not harmed spiritually unless they choose to harbor resentment, bitterness, anger, unforgiveness and malice in the heart

The one who sins damages:

- character
- reason
- conscience
- integrity
- reputation
- relationships
- health

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 3

A Matter of Life and Death

SABBATH

Read memory verse: “For the commandment is a lamp, and the law a light; reproofs of instruction are the way of life.” (Prov 6:23 NKJV)

What does it mean? Why is the commandment a lamp and the law a light?

I checked the SDA Bible commentary on this passage and this is what it said:

Those who regard the law as an arbitrary forbidding of desirable pleasures have an entirely perverted idea. The law is a lamp to enlighten the mind and show the way of happiness, peace, and eternal life¹

Do you agree that those who present God’s law as arbitrary have a perverted idea of the law?

So, how is the law a light? Only when understood as Design Law, as the protocols upon which life operates, then it enlightens our mind to God’s character, how the universe operates, how life and health and relationships actually work.

When we infect the idea of God’s law with human law, imposed law, then we darken the mind. This battle between God’s design law of love and imposed rules that require external enforcement is at the root of the controversy between Christ and Satan and the oscillation between enlightenment and darkness.

- Prior to sin in heaven no concept of law and all beings lived in an enlightened state
 - Satan alleged God’s law is imposed rules and God an arbitrary dictator and 1/3 of the angels became darkened
- God created earth, built upon Design law, the law of love built right into the fabric of reality. Adam and Eve lived in a free and enlightened state. God warned them that to deviate from the design would take them out of harmony from how life is constructed and they would die.
 - Satan alleged God simply made up rules arbitrarily is trying to keep them from full happiness and development by restricting their choices. That they really wouldn’t die if they ate the fruit, implying it would require God to kill. Something many theologians today teach.

¹ Nichol, F. D. (Ed.). (1977). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 3, p. 967). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

- God worked through His friends in human history to teach the truth about His kingdom. Israel was given a beautiful theater and script to act out the problem of sin, how deviation from the design destroys, yet how God would send a savior to restore us to unity.
 - Satan infected their mind with distortions about God's law and had them view it as imposed rules to keep on pain of inflicted death. Thus, they fell into darkness of mind and hardness of heart.
- Jesus came and was the light of the world to reveal the truth about God's character and methods of love.
 - Satan twisted everything Christ did and opposed Christ through the religious institution that had accepted the lie about God's law. They preferred the darkness of a dictator God and imposed punishments to the light of Christ and therefore killed Christ.
- God sent His Holy Spirit poured out upon the church empowering them to lighten the world with His character of love. And the early church loved each other, lived communally, shared to help each other, refused to try and take over the state or fight with the state.
 - Satan countered by infecting the church with imposed law constructs when Constantine converted, teaching that God's law is like human law, imposed requiring God to be paid a legal penalty by the death of His Son. And the world fell into an age of Darkness – the Dark Ages. Why? Because they rejected the truth about God and His design law, accepting Satan's lie about God and God's law.
- Then the Reformation began, when people began looking to Scripture and began throwing off some of the imposed law ideas. The most distorted and extreme of these ideas. And what happened? The renaissance the world moved out of darkness into an age of enlightenment. And this was fueled by science, which began working on design law.
 - Satan responded by contrasting design law found in science and nature with the arbitrariness of law taught in religion and infected humanity with the idea of atheism. And the world began fracturing into divergent forms of darkness.
- God continued to bless the Reformation, bringing more and more light, leading us back to an integrative evidence based approach, where we harmonize all three threads, Scripture, Science, and Experience – through the lens of design law.
 - Satan has countered by working to reject the integrative approach for sola scriptura, rejecting design law for imposed law, and continued promotion of arbitrary God constructs – thus paralyzing the church and preventing the final message to prepare the world for Christ's return.

I received this email this week:

Dear Dr. Jennings and the team at Come and Reason Ministries,

Thank you for your message of God's Natural Law of Love and the message of true healing which Jesus accomplished and offers to me. My husband and I have experienced significant healing in our happiness and how we see others in just a short year after learning that the imposed law system is not from God. We are eager to learn to treat others with the same love, other centered, as God has shown to us through your messages, and to keep giving Him glory (telling others of His character of love and life and giving and freedom).

It is beyond me how any church leader, pastor or theologian could not want to believe the natural law construct. It offers the most realistic explanation of forgiveness and righteousness by faith I have ever heard, and I doubt that anybody could make this stuff up...it is just so NOT like the way we usually think. The punishment by a Roman dictator explanation is the perfect one for us to make up...my sinful nature naturally wants to be controlling or to be controlled to make me feel better about my survival and my guilt. How sick is that? Anyway, I am really praying that this message spreads. Now that God has given me the chance to see the truth about Him, I have started to read E. G. White's book, The Desire of Ages, and it makes sense! Finally. She was an amazing friend of God.

I am a substitute teacher for an adult Sabbath School class at our church. One Sabbath after class, our young adult Sabbath school leader came up to me and said, "I am hearing a lot of Tim Jennings from you today." His wife held up the printed notes from your class as I held up mine. We were both excited and surprised. I am very happy that at least two families in our church are not only benefiting from your ministry and message of truth, but that we are teachers and can keep urging our fellow believers to think and to gain from these truths, too. We are happy to be making a contribution to your ministry today on the internet, in hopes that God will multiply it for His use, especially as you prepare for the GC session this July in San Antonio, Texas.

Please send us four copies of each of your DVD seminars. We are eager to share them with family, church members and people in the community. We have a huge Baptist Church here in Tyler, Texas. It is my secret hope that God will see fit to have them bring you to speak to them. I would like to give copies of your seminars to their pastoral staff.

Thoughts?

Read first two paragraphs, "Two brothers..." What is this story a good example of and what is it a poor example of?

This is a good example of childish thinking – how children reason. They are concerned with whether mommy will be mad. They are not concerned about living in harmony with how life is designed, only with mommy's response to their behavior. This is childish thinking and because they understand their mommy loves them they rightly concluded mommy wouldn't kill them if they ate some of the cake, so they eat the cake.

However, this is a bad example to teach what the problem is with eating the cake without permission. This makes it appear legal, imposed, threat of punishment. But the real problem is the breakdown of love and trust in the hearts and characters of the boys. Their actions would incite in them fear and insecurity, guilt and shame, and result in activating stress circuits, survival modes of trying to protect self, likely blaming each other when mother came home, trying to make excuses to justify. In other words, they changed themselves. It was an unavoidable, natural result of deviating from the law of love.

I suspect there are people who when reading this example will think like children in its application to God and Eden, but will conclude God doesn't love as much as that mother, and He will use power to kill, except for Jesus who steps in and offers Himself so the Father won't kill us.

Such concepts are, like the SDA Bible commentary said, "perversion" of the truth about God and His law. First, Jesus was the member of the Godhead who created Adam and Eve. Jesus was the member of the Godhead who told them of the danger in eating the fruit. And the Father, Son and Holy Spirit all three love us so much they would NOT kill Adam and Eve for eating of the fruit.

No, but what they did do is warn Adam and Eve of what would happen to them if they deviated from how life is designed to operate, how they would be changed and that change would separate them from the source of life and cause them to die.

The last paragraph states, "In the end, our ultimate destiny, our eternal destiny (and what could be more important than that?), rests upon the choices that we make here, now."

I believe it is true that our destiny, our eternal destiny rests upon the choices we make here and now – but, what of the parenthetical question – what could be more important than that?

Does that idea tend to direct us toward a selfish, childish, salvation? Is there nothing more important than I get saved?

Did Moses think this when God sounded angry with the people? No, Moses thought God's reputation and even the people were more important than self – why? Because Moses loved God and others, parents, how many of you would sacrifice your life for your child – is there anything more important than your destiny?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "As we saw..." Generally, in the Bible the heart refers to the mind, whereas the bowels refer to the emotions.

Then spake the woman whose the living child was unto the king, for her bowels yearned upon her son, and she said, O my lord, give her the living child, and in no wise slay it. But the other said, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it. 1Kings 3:26 KJV

The real mother, her heart full of love for her son, said to the king, “Please, Your Majesty, don’t kill the child! Give it to her!”

But the other woman said, “Don’t give it to either of us; go ahead and cut it in two.” 1Kings 3:26 GNT

So, what does it mean to have the law written in the heart?

It is the same as the seal of God – it is being so settled into the truth both intellectually and spiritually that one cannot be moved – and what does that mean?

The truth is the truth about God, His character and Design for love i.e. His law of love.

Intellectually would mean our ability to understand and appreciate love, how it functions, God as the source of love and life and what actions are inconsistent with this, so that we cannot be deceived by presentations of God that are contrary to His character of love.

Spiritually means we love it, not only do we understand it, but as the primary motivator in our lives this is what we love, long for, desire to be like and nothing could displace this from our heart’s affection and longing.

MONDAY

Read the bottom paragraph, “Since the Fall...” How is it true that our hope for eternal life cannot be found in the law?

- When we view the law as a system of rules to be observed or obeyed, then our healing cannot come from the law
- When we view God’s law as imposed and salvation a legal right, and we get it by claiming the blood of Jesus to protect us from God, and that justification is a legal notation in record books in heaven, where God declares us righteous even though we are not – I question whether this can result in salvation

How is it not true? In other words, how can our hope be found in the law?

- When we view the law as Design law, the law of love, an expression of the divine character, then the more we understand and experience it the more we are won to trust in the God who is love, (in other words our distrusting hearts are reset to a state of trust in God, this is setting us right or justification) in that trust we open our hearts and the Spirit comes in and writes the law on our hearts and minds (this is sanctification). Thus we become like Christ in character by the power of God restoring the law of love in us!

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “When a religious person...” Examples of using religion to justify iniquity?

- All acts of selfishness done in God's name
 - Corban
 - Racism, castism
 - Inequality of the sexes, using religion to suggest that just because of genetics one person has a higher station in God's cause than another
 - The perversion of marriage with women being held in some form of subjugation in their own homes by authoritarian dictator husbands
 - Refusing to help another because it is Sabbath
- Retribution and vengeance done in God's name
 - Burning people at the stake
 - Taliban killing people who convert to Christianity
 - Seeking to expel people from Christian fellowship for holding different views on matters
- Nothing more dangerous in the world than someone on a mission for God, who doesn't actually know God!
- others?

Read the last paragraph, "The law is..." What do you think of, "Only the imperative of the law and the duty of obedience will help us resist her alluring words..."

Does the law help us resist? Or does the law point out danger, error, sin, but the power to resist comes from Christ?

And if we view the law through the Roman lens does it provide power, or undermine power to resist? It undermines it. Imposed law constructs create self-centered hard-hearted Christians that look like Pharisees. Those with will power over sensual sin, diet, drugs, alcohol, sex, and thus don't stumble with these issues in life, will often end up arrogant, proud, judgmental, critical, and without grace or compassion. They, under the guise of religion, abuse people struggling with temptation, because they focus on the law and the legal solution to it.

We must come back to the truth of God's law, that it is design law, the law of love and understanding when we are deviant we go to our Creator and ask Him to heal and restore and give power to live victoriously!

When we realize the design law is God's law, then when someone tempts us we see it like them tempting us to join do drugs – while the experience might be "pleasurable" we understand it is actually damaging to us and them. We are not mad at them, we have compassion and concern, for them and have no desire to join them in their self destruction. All sin is like this!

Does the lesson sound like it is focusing on performance, behavior, rather than heart motive?

What is really at issue – the behavior or the motive? What is the problem if one make sin about the behavior merely?

People will falsely judge others, but worse, people will commit sin by keeping the rules. Why didn't the Levite and Priest help the man beaten beside the road in Jesus' parable? Because they were keeping to their rules to not become unclean – keeping the law caused them so sin, because they viewed the law as rules, rather than design law of love.

Would it be sin for a person who understood that sexual behavior outside of marriage is wrong, to knowingly, willfully, choose to over and over again go to a person knowing that going to them would result in a sexual act between the two?

Years ago I had a patient, who told me her father used to molest her and her little sister. Father had a particular pattern of coming home from work, before mother got home, and molesting the girls. Typically, he would violate only one on any given day. As the time for him to come home approached my patient's little sister would begin hyperventilating, panicking, crying, become terrified and hide under the bed. My patient hated to see her sister like this, so my patient began purposely presenting herself to her father, knowing exactly what would transpire, in order to protect her little sister. Was it sinful for my patient to do this? Or, was it an incredible act of self-sacrifice to protect another?

Sin is violation of love – it is selfishness – one way selfishness can express itself is through sexual indulgence to gratify self – persons who cheat to gratify self. Many Christians, who do not think, who take a legal approach to Christianity, view the Commandment as a rule of behavior and thus determine adultery is about the act, about behavior.

However, a mature Christian realizes it isn't the act, it is the motive of the heart. Thus, in the case of my patient, even though she knowingly chose to take an action which repeatedly resulted in a sexual act, it was NOT an act of selfishness or self-gratification on her part, it was an act of self-sacrifice, and therefore was an act of love, totally in harmony with God's character and nature.

Was sexual relations between David and Bathsheba sin? When did sexual relations between David and Bathsheba no longer constitute sin? Why?

WEDNESDAY

Read first two paragraph, "Right after his warning..." Can we agree that desperation does not justify sin? Absolutely, the question is what is sin?

The lesson wants us to focus merely on behavior and not think – so lets try that approach.

The Commandment says not to work on Sabbath, so on Sabbath you see a person beside the road who has been beaten. You are a nurse or doctor or EMT, but off duty, because it is the Sabbath and you don't work on Sabbath. If you are a thoughtless rule keeper you don't help the person because you must obey the law – but if you understand the law is the law of love, then you are compelled to love others, especially on Sabbath and you gladly work to save them.

The issue is NOT the behavior, but the motive – are you acting for self or selflessly loving others – the person who keeps the Sabbath and doesn't help the person is acting selfishly, more concerned about their legal condition with God than loving another person.

Any other examples?

What about you are in Afghanistan today as an aide worker helping people. The Taliban kidnaps an American journalist and is threatening to behead him. An opportunity presents for you to rescue him, but the only way to do so is to steal one of the Taliban trucks and sabotage the others by cutting their tires so they can't follow. What do you do? Is it sin to steal?

Even if a person believes that stealing the truck to save the journalist is sin, and would condemn themselves to hell if they did, but they choose to do it anyway, is that sin or a supreme act of self sacrifice and love? “Greater love has no man than to give his life for a friend.”

This week someone emailed me a link to the Record an SDA publication in the Pacific Union. It had the following article. I have included the link in the notes:

Date line changed in Samoa

Apia, Samoa

On Thursday, December 29, at midnight, Samoa skipped forward a day to Saturday, December 31, in order to align its calendar with Australia, New Zealand and Asia. In so doing, the government eliminated an entire Friday from the weekly cycle. The change resulted in Saturday being renamed Sunday, and Sunday being renamed Monday.

In line with biblical precepts on the subject, the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Samoa continues to observe the biblical Sabbath on the seventh day of the weekly cycle, irrespective of the change of name to Sunday... Similar changes to the IDL have already taken place with Samoa's near neighbours, Kiribati and Tonga. Consistency has been the hallmark of the Churches position in dealing with government inspired changes in the recording of time.

http://record.adventistconnect.org/site_data/88/assets/0034/6941/RECORD_2_lowrez.pdf

So, in three countries SDA churches have had splits some now meet on Sunday each week other on Saturday – thoughts?

What would you do? What is the right response?

Do you see this is only a problem for those with an imposed law construct. Understanding design law, and that the Sabbath was designed by God as a day of rest in Eden, then one doesn't have a problem at all, why?

Are those people in Australia and New Zealand and Asia, who observe the Sabbath, actually breaking the Sabbath and worshipping on Friday?

Then, if those persons in Samoa and Tonga etc. worship at the same time as the people of Australia and New Zealand, how is it some other day?

The Sabbath that Jesus kept 2000 years ago in Jerusalem, is the same weekly day that the Jews in Jerusalem keep today. The earth rotates on its axis and thus, no matter where we are in the world, we can observe the same day as they do in Jerusalem. The only question is, do we start and end that day before or after they do in Jerusalem?

The governments of the world determine the international date line, this is not established in God's word. Since the governments chose to realign their day, they didn't switch to a different day, they only moved the Sabbath to begin and end at a different time in relationship to Jerusalem, either before or after, but the same day. Moving the worship to Sunday in those countries means they are actually worshipping on a different day than Jerusalem.

Is God looking on the behavior of those SDAs now worshipping on Sunday, or those worshipping on Saturday, or the heart motive of each?

What about the rest of Christianity whose hearts are right with God, but worship on Sunday?

What about killing another person, is it always sin to do so?

- Killing others – could a person make a decision based on love to end the life of another?
 - The flight in PA in 2001 when the passengers realized they had been hijacked and the hijackers were intent on using the plane they were in to kill others. The passengers chose to assault the hijackers, kill if necessary to stop them. Right or wrong? Could their actions have been an expression of love?
 - More than 20 years ago here in Chattanooga, a man walked into the ICU at one of the hospitals and shot his wife in the head. They had been married more than 40 years and had had a massive stroke and was on a ventilator. She had told him she never wanted to be kept alive like this. The doctors wouldn't remove her from the ventilator. This was in the days before advanced directives, so he shot her. Was it an act of love or selfishness?
 - I remember watching a western when I was a kid. The movie depicted two close friends who were cowboys. One of them was captured by Apache and was staked out and being tortured. The friend was on a ridge above watching the thousands of Indians torture his friend. He shot his friend through the heart giving him a quick death. Was it an act of selfishness or love?

- What about man who walks in and a crazed person on crack is threatening his family? What if it was his son?
 - If you knew your wife was in saving relationship with Jesus – what would be her eternal destiny if she died?
 - If believed your son hadn't yet accepted Christ and was crazed on drugs threatening to kill your wife, what would be his eternal destiny if you shot and killed him to save your wife?
 - If you love them both, and want to spend eternity with both, what action do you take and why? Who needs time to come to repentance? Does this give any insight as to why God sometimes doesn't act to stop crimes?
 - Does it give insight as to why we are not to judge another?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Most people don't think..." What does it mean the wages of sin is death? Why?

What did God mean when He told Adam in the day you eat you will die?

If we teach that God must kill, which is not what the Bible teaches, what are the consequences for believing this? Here are the lies:

- Good and evil exist eternally in God's character as He is the source of both life and death
- Nothing wrong with sin, something wrong with God, if He would leave us alone and not kill us we could live forever in sin
- Sin is a legal problem requiring a legal solution, which results in false security and people continuing in their terminal condition but believing they are saved
- Makes God out to be a dictator and undermines trust

1st Quarter 2015 Proverbs Lesson 4

Divine Wisdom

Memory Text: “The Lord possessed me at the beginning of His way, before His works of old”
Proverbs 8:22 NKJV

- Is there any other kind of wisdom
- Wisdom is “Fullness of knowledge and its application”
- Knowledge and practice for good / right
- Knowledge of evil and its practice for lies and distortion

When Adam and Eve rebelled:

they did receive knowledge of Good & Evil

- Was that wisdom?
- Was it given to them?
- Who gave it to them?

Wisdom

One of the definitions of wisdom is “the accumulated knowledge of the ages.” Just because knowledge is accumulated, does not mean it is good.

Time

does not sanctify error

Just because a belief is held for a long period of time, does not mean it is truth

Popularity

In this day and age, opinion polls are considered extremely important: Just because something is held to be true by a large number of people, does not mean it is true or good.

Sincerity

Just because a person is sincere does not mean what they believe is correct.

- A person sincerely driving on the wrong side of the road is not likely to safely arrive at their destination.
- A person sincerely going in the wrong direction will not arrive on time, at the right place or with the right outcome.
- Sincerely operating on the wrong extremity will result in the right outcome.

It may be important to differentiate Wisdom from Righteousness. Righteousness: the right thing to do. It is right because it leads to the right outcome, it is consistent with how something was designed.

You can't make something “right” by declaring it to be so.

- You can only make a judgement based on what something is.

- The quality of that judgement is based on
- Who is making the judgement and are they competent to do so.
- How accurate is the benchmark or mechanism for measurement.

I personally do not believe that even God can make something so by declaring it to be so unless that declaration implies Action of Creation.

SABBATH

Read Sabbath Afternoon's lesson from the lesson guide

Thinking about Wisdom and Divine Wisdom

- Did the Pharisees have truth?
- Did they have wisdom?
- Did they have understanding?
- How are we as current day Christians different?

Paint by numbers vs art

- Both are visual depictions of reality
- From a distance they may even seem similar
- What is the difference?
- How do you see Divine Wisdom?
- Is it artistry or paint by numbers?

When we hear statements about God filling us and living His life out through us, what does that look like?

Christ is waiting with longing desire for the manifestation of Himself in His church. When the character of Christ shall be perfectly reproduced in His people, then He will come to claim them as His own.

It is the privilege of every Christian not only to look for but to hasten the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, (2 Peter 3:12, margin). Were all who profess His name bearing fruit to His glory, how quickly the whole world would be sown with the seed of the gospel. Quickly the last great harvest would be ripened, and Christ would come to gather the precious grain. {COL 69.2}

We are to pray for divine enlightenment, but at the same time we should be careful how we receive everything termed new light. We must beware lest, under cover of searching for new truth, Satan shall divert our minds from Christ and the special truths for this time. I have been shown that it is the device of the enemy to lead minds to dwell upon some obscure or unimportant point, something that is not fully revealed or is not essential to our salvation. This is made the absorbing theme, the "present truth," when all their investigations and suppositions only serve to make matters more obscure than before, and to confuse the minds of some who ought to be seeking for oneness through sanctification of the truth.—Preach the Word, p. 4 (1891).{CW 49.2}

It is the first and highest duty of every rational being to learn from the Scriptures what is truth, and then to walk in the light and encourage others to follow his example. We should day by day study the Bible diligently, weighing every thought and comparing scripture with scripture. With divine help we are to form our opinions for ourselves as we are to answer for ourselves before God.

The truths most plainly revealed in the Bible have been involved in doubt and darkness by learned men, who, with a pretense of great wisdom, teach that the Scriptures have a mystical, a secret, spiritual meaning not apparent in the language employed. These men are false teachers. It was to such a class that Jesus declared: "Ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God." Mark 12:24. The language of the Bible should be explained according to its obvious meaning, unless a symbol or figure is employed. Christ has given the promise: "If any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine." John 7:17. If men would but take the Bible as it reads, if there were no false teachers to mislead and confuse their minds, a work would be accomplished that would make angels glad and that would bring into the fold of Christ thousands upon thousands who are now wandering in error....{DD 38.4}

Wisdom Cries Out

Wisdom and Folly are described in anthropomorphic terms.

In the second paragraph: "However one understands these metaphors, what is clear is that wisdom is to be communicated, it is heard by all who will listen.

Can this be done? Can wisdom be communicated?

"Be still and know that I am God"

Paul's discussion with the church based in the center of Greek hedonism has something for us to consider:

1 Corinthians 1:17-25 GNB (17) Christ did not send me to baptize. He sent me to tell the Good News, and to tell it without using the language of human wisdom, in order to make sure that Christ's death on the cross is not robbed of its power. (18) For the message about Christ's death on the cross is nonsense to those who are being lost; but for us who are being saved it is God's power. (19) The scripture says, "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise and set aside the understanding of the scholars." (20) So then, where does that leave the wise? or the scholars? or the skillful debaters of this world? God has shown that this world's wisdom is foolishness! (21) For God in his wisdom made it impossible for people to know him by means of their own wisdom. Instead, by means of the so-called "foolish" message we preach, God decided to save those who believe. (22) Jews want miracles for proof, and Greeks look for wisdom. (23) As for us, we proclaim the crucified Christ, a message that is offensive to the Jews and nonsense to the Gentiles; (24) but for those whom God has called, both Jews and Gentiles, this message is Christ, who is the power of God and the wisdom of God. (25) For what seems to be God's foolishness is wiser than human wisdom, and what seems to be God's weakness is stronger than human strength.

MONDAY

Wisdom and Creation

There is a discussion about how Wisdom was in the beginning with God. Third paragraph:

“Yet, the word “beginning” in Proverbs 8:22 is used somewhat differently from the way it is used in Genesis 1. In Genesis 1:1, the word is related to the Creation itself, while in Proverbs 8:22, the word is related to God Himself, to His way (derek), which means His nature. Thus, wisdom is part of the very nature of God Himself.”

How do we know that?

Read last paragraph: “So, wisdom does not originate in us, . . .”

TUESDAY

Rejoicing in Creation

Read Proverbs 8:30-31 GNB “I was beside him like an architect, I was his daily source of joy, always happy in his presence -- (31) happy with the world and pleased with the human race.”

Wisdom is happy in God’s presence and pleased with the human race. When do we find God dancing?

Luke 15:7 – 10 There is a party in heaven when a lost one is saved.

WEDNESDAY

Wisdom’s Appeal

Read the second, third and fourth paragraphs. Why do you have to keep working at obtaining the wisdom of God? Why can’t you “coast?”

Read the highlighted paragraph at the bottom of the page. It says, “Happiness can be an elusive thing: the more we strive for it, the harder it seems for us to attain it.”

The United States Declaration of Independence says:

“When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. . .”

Is this wrong? How do we pursue Happiness? Is there a system or method that works better than others? Then why are people so unhappy?

Consider 1 Timothy 6:6 GW translation says “A godly life brings huge profits to people who are content with what they have.”

That is not what you will hear from any advertisement on TV / Radio / Personal Media

THURSDAY

Lesson: Either/Or

We now have a portrayal of Wisdom and Folly the Thursday’s lesson compares the two.

Read the middle three paragraphs. Have you heard wisdom and folly calling out in the streets? Who has a louder voice? How can you tell who is calling?

Can you trust your conscience to be accurate? Why or why not?

Why is Folly incorrect or a poor choice? It is not how we are made? It doesn’t obey the “rules” upon which life is constructed. It doesn’t make sense when true discernment is used to “judge” it.

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 5

The Blessings of the Righteous

SABBATH

Read memory text: “Blessings are on the head of the righteous, but violence covers the mouth of the wicked.” (Prov 10:6 NKJV)

What does this mean?

- Why are blessings upon the righteous?
 - righteous means those who are right – but in what way?
 - right in heart with God, right in their heart motives of love, restored to at-one-ment with God
 - Why is there blessing in this?
 - Because God is the source of life and health and happiness – BECAUSE all creation is designed to exist and operate only in harmony with Him. Atonement with Him means coming back into unity with how life is built to operate and there is blessing.
- Why upon their heads?
 - Because the head is symbolic of the mind, it is where we think, feel, worship, exist – thus it is in our heads that we choose to surrender to Christ, to open our being to the healing power of the Holy Spirit and in our heads/minds where we are renewed to be like Christ.
 - In the New Testament the word for soul is psyche, it is our individuality our personhood, which is what is renewed to be like Christ here and now. We don’t get new biology until the second coming, we get a new heart and right spirit now!
 - The greatest blessing is to have a character like Jesus and a mind at peace!
- Why does violence cover the wicked?
 - What happens when a person steps off a speeding train?
 - What happens when someone smokes, does illegal drugs etc?
 - What happens to the heart, mind, character of rapist?
 - Activities that deviate from design destroy, i.e. are violent
- What does it mean it covers their mouth?
 - What comes out of the mouth of the wicked?
 - Lies, falsehood, deceit, self-promotion
 - and what do lies do? They break the circle of love and trust, they break the design and result in death, violence.

Read first paragraph “As the title...” What are the implication for our theology that the word which is translated righteous is the same word translated justice? Not only is it the same Hebrew word translated this way, but in the Greek it is the same, one word translated to two in English – what is the potential problem for us?

That it allows an entire way of thinking that was never intended by God or the inspired writers – specifically, the entire penal/legal way of thinking.

Righteousness is a condition of being right, right in heart, mind, character motive with God. Justice is the same word – so what does it mean?

It is the process of doing what is right in harmony with God and his methods of love!

The just are those who do the right thing, and the right thing is defined by God's law of love, which is God's design for how the universe operates, not a code of imposed rules.

The book of Proverbs is the instruction on what is right. In other words, on how things actually work, on the way things are designed to function.

It is not a book of imposed rules or laws. Look at the wisdom of the Proverbs, it is all about cause and effect, about how deviation from God's design results in harm, but harmony with God's design is life!

There is no place for imposed legal penal law constructs in God's government. These ideas are part of sin, are part of a fallen world. And translating the one word into two, is one factor, amongst many, that has allowed a false legal theology to overtake much of Christianity.

THURSDAY

What is the reward of the righteous?

Being restored to God's original design to live as God originally intended!

The second paragraph states, "though we are sinners, by faith we can be 'justified freely, by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.'"

What does this mean?

What does it mean to be justified?

Do you understand this from level four and below or level five and above?

Level four and below, it is a legal fiction, created in the minds of legal thinking theologians, that doesn't actually exist in reality. It can be a helpful metaphor for the immature but it is not the reality of the universe.

It is presented something like this: justification is the legal declaration of one to be righteous in God's accounting books, even though one has not yet been made righteous. This legal righteousness is allowed because Jesus is righteous and His achievements are legally credited to your account in heaven, if you accept Him.

They make it much too complicated, confusing, and convoluted. This legal concept introduces dangerous conflicts. For instance, it has God declaring righteous people who are not. This happens because, in the legal model, justify means something different than what the Bible teaches.

When you justify the margins on your Word document what are you doing? Setting them in line, putting them right. This is justification, taking what is out of harmony with God and putting it in harmony, setting sinners right with God.

Now, this setting right of the human species was done singularly by Jesus Christ, in His life, death and resurrection, He cured the sin condition of this species.

Setting right an individual, is when a person whose natural heart condition is against God, at enmity toward God, distrusting of God, and changing that heart condition to one that genuinely trusts God.

Thus, the heart against God as been set right, put right or justified when it is changed from distrust to trust. This is when God counts or recognizes or declares someone righteous or justified.

Thus in Romans chapter 4, "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness."

From my paraphrase: "Abraham trusted God, and his trust was recognized as righteousness, because the distrust caused through Satan's lies had been removed, and through trust he was endowed with a new heart, right motives and Christlike principles."

Which came first, the change in Abraham's heart toward God, or God's recognition that Abraham was righteous?

The Bible metaphor for sin is leprosy – when did the High Priest declare, or account, or reckon someone clean, before or after they were made clean? Christ cleansed the lepers and then told them to go to the priest to be "declared" clean. When was Abraham "accounted" righteous, before or after he trusted God?

thoughts?

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Proverbs 10:1-7: "A wise son brings joy to his father, but a foolish son brings grief to his mother."

- Isn't this how it always is, when the son does something great dad says "That's my boy," when he messes up dad turns to mom and says, "Look what your son has done now."

² Ill-gotten treasures have no lasting value, but righteousness delivers from death.

- Why? Because ill-gotten is obtained from means outside God's design and results in damage to the soul and eternal loss, What does it profit a man to gain the world and lose his soul?
- righteousness is being set right, put right, or restored to the way God constructed life to operate and thus delivers from death

³ The Lord does not let the righteous go hungry, but he thwarts the craving of the wicked.

- Is this speaking of physical food?
- Do righteous people ever starve?
- Did Jesus go hungry in the wilderness?
 - While God does provide the sunshine and the rain it is for both the righteous and the wicked.
 - The people operating at level two would take passages like this and turn them into a Bible promise book and claim them, and then when things happen that don't fit their understanding they lose faith and walk away from God.
 - No one was more righteous than Jesus and He went hungry for physical food, but He never went hungry for spiritual food.
 - "Meanwhile his disciples urged him, "Rabbi, eat something." But he said to them, "I have food to eat that you know nothing about." Then his disciples said to each other, "Could someone have brought him food?" "My food," said Jesus, "is to do the will of him who sent me and to finish his work. (John 4:21-24)"
- What does it mean to thwart the cravings of the wicked? What do the wicked crave? How are those cravings thwarted?
 - By God's divine weapons – truth thwarts lies, freedom thwarts coercion, and love thwarts selfishness. God's goal is to thwart the wicked by replacing lies, fear and selfishness with truth love and freedom in the hearts of the wicked.

⁴ Lazy hands make for poverty, but diligent hands bring wealth.

- What does this mean?
- Is it always true?
- If you see someone in poverty does that always mean they are lazy?
- It is a general principle that no effort in doesn't generally result in positive results out
- Or is this not talking about physical wealth at all, but spiritual wealth, is it true that laziness will result in poverty of soul, but diligence to do the Lord's will results in wealth of character?

⁵ He who gathers crops in summer is a prudent son, but he who sleeps during harvest is a disgraceful son.

- What is this verse about?
- Is it about farming?
- Or is it about fulfilling one's duties?

⁶ Blessings crown the head of the righteous, but violence overwhelms the mouth of the wicked

- Why?

⁷ The name of the righteous is used in blessings, but the name of the wicked will rot.

- What does this mean?
- What is the significance of the name?
- It is a reflection of the character
- Thus, the character of the righteous will be a blessing – to whom?
 - To themselves, others and to God think 3 angels, to give glory to God by revealing Him in their character
- The character of the wicked rots, which means what?
 - It decays, corrodes, is destroyed by its own condition

MONDAY

The lesson speaks about how important the mouth is, how powerful, why?

The mouth communicates ideas; it is a distribution point of concepts, beliefs, thoughts, which can infect the minds of others.

Consider a virus infecting your computer – false ideas can infect the mind and corrupt one's peace, break relationships, turn people, if the person hasn't, in a relationship with the God of heaven, developed the ability to think and reason for themselves.

Consider how many young people are convinced to join various violent extremist groups. Why? How does this happen? By using the mouth, to speak words, to convey falsehood which infect the vulnerable minds of others ultimately destroying. Proverbs 10:11 states:

“The mouth of the righteous is a fountain of life, but the mouth of the wicked conceals violence.”

What does it mean? How is the mouth of the righteous a fountain of life?

John 8:32 – you will know the truth and the truth will set you free – free from what?

To what do we need to be freed?

- Lies about God
- Fear and selfishness (carnal nature)

How does truth do this? What truth? The truth about God as revealed in Christ destroys the lies and wins us to trust, in trust we open the heart and experience God's love and trust and fear and selfishness are overcome.

How does the mouth of the righteous connect with this? Because the mouth of the righteous shares the truth about God, His methods, principles, and lead people out of the lies back to the source of life.

How does the mouth of the wicked conceal violence?

- By lying – how, what lies?
- Blame, displacement, externalization, distortion
- By lying about sin – sin isn't harmful, sin doesn't destroy, God is harmful, God destroys, God must punish sin. These lies conceal the true destructiveness of sin and trap people in cycles of violence

Read last paragraph, "Remember too..." What does this mean?

Does sustaining everything by his powerful word mean by his powerful speech? Or does word in this context represent something more than just speech, such as God's authority?

By faith we understand that the universe was formed at God's command, so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible. Heb 11:3

Does God's command have to be verbal, spoken?

There is a certain deliverance theology in which people take passages like this concretely and teach it is the words spoken are somehow powerful and if one speaks the right words they gain power or mastery over something or get what they name. It is a deception, there is no magic in the right words one says, it is in the truth, the meaning, the understanding, which heals the mind and restores one to the source of all truth. And it is God's ability, His authority by which He created.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is about truthfulness versus lying. Read first paragraph, "Philosopher Sissela Bok..." What is lying?

- telling falsehood
- partial truth but not all the truth?
- body language intending to deceive?
- withholding information with the intent to deceive?
- telling something false while thinking it is true?
- telling a falsehood to advantage self?

Read second paragraph, “Ellen G. White wrote:...” Lying is an abomination – what constitutes lying? Does it require purposeful intent? Is it a lie if one innocently gets their facts wrong? Any Bible examples?

- Abraham – told Pharaoh that Sarah was his sister – was this a lie?
- Rahab – stated the spies were not hidden in her place – was this a lie?
- Which was the more blatant falsehood?
- Who was chastised by God?
- What makes the difference?

The lesson quote states “dissembling to suit one’s own selfish plans...”

- Abraham lied to protect self, based on fear, distrusting God to protect him
- Rahab lied to protect others, aligning herself with God and trust Him

Where do we find her in Hebrews? Why is she in the hall of faith? Did it take faith, belief in the true God to hide the spies and side with them and lie to the guards? Did God condemn her for her lie? Did God commend her for lying? Did He commend her for her faith? What did Rahab know about God and His kingdom? Very little, but she did choose to side herself with God and put herself in harms way to be on His side. In other words the lies were not designed to protect herself, they actually put her in danger for the sake of God and others. Perhaps, had she had more time to grow in God’s ways she would have said something else, but this is an example of faith.

Consider the issue of lying in light of the commandments and the seven levels of development – first is there a commandment that says, “Thou shall not lie”?

It actually says, “Thou shall not bear false witness against thy neighbor.”

Is there a difference? What difference?

All the commandments are expressions of love: take no action that is harmful, against love toward God and man. Thus, breaking the commandment is making false statements that are against someone, which is not simply against their person or reputation, but providing them with false information that could injure them.

Those operating at level four and below approach the commandments, including this one, from a self-centered point of view.

- How do I keep this so I don't break the rules,
- so no sin is recorded in my record books,
- so I don't get in legal trouble with God,
- so I won't do anything wrong,
- so God can't punish me.
- It is not through the lens that loves others, glorifies God and fulfills His purpose.

Consider this Bible story from 1 Kings 22:

For three years there was no war between Aram and Israel. ² But in the third year Jehoshaphat king of Judah went down to see the king of Israel. ³ The king of Israel had said to his officials, "Don't you know that Ramoth Gilead belongs to us and yet we are doing nothing to retake it from the king of Aram?"

⁴ So he asked Jehoshaphat, "Will you go with me to fight against Ramoth Gilead?"

Jehoshaphat replied to the king of Israel, "I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses." ⁵ But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, "First seek the counsel of the Lord."

⁶ So the king of Israel brought together the prophets—about four hundred men—and asked them, "Shall I go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

"Go," they answered, "for the Lord will give it into the king's hand."

was this lying bearing false witness or if they believed what they said is it not a lie?

⁷ But Jehoshaphat asked, "Is there not a prophet of the Lord here whom we can inquire of?"

Why did Jehoshaphat ask for a prophet of the Lord, didn't he already ask for one? Then was it an attempt to deceive him when they brought the 400? Would that be a violation of the commandment?

⁸ The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man through whom we can inquire of the Lord, but I hate him because he never prophesies anything good about me, but always bad. He is Micaiah son of Imlah."

"The king should not say that," Jehoshaphat replied.

⁹ So the king of Israel called one of his officials and said, "Bring Micaiah son of Imlah at once."

¹⁰ Dressed in their royal robes, the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting on their thrones at the threshing floor by the entrance of the gate of Samaria, with all the prophets prophesying before them. ¹¹ Now Zedekiah son of Kenaanah had made iron horns and he declared, "This is what the Lord says: 'With these you will gore the Arameans until they are destroyed.'" were these men lying, bearing false witness?

¹³ The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said to him, “Look, as one man the other prophets are predicting success for the king. Let your word agree with theirs, and speak favorably.”

Is he encouraging Micaiah to lie?

¹⁴ But Micaiah said, “As surely as the Lord lives, I can tell him only what the Lord tells me.”

Does this mean what Micaiah says later is from the Lord?

¹⁵ When he arrived, the king asked him, “Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?”

¹⁶ The king said to him, “How many times must I make you swear to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the Lord?”

was Micaiah’s initial answer a lie? Was Micaiah lying to Ahab or telling the truth? Then why did Ahab respond by saying he had to get Micaiah to swear to tell the truth? Didn’t Micaiah just agree with the other 400? Do you think Micaiah’s tone said something that made it clear his words were sarcastic, mocking or not to be taken seriously and Ahab knew it? Why would he do this? Could it be to draw contrast to the flattering false prophecies the 400 had been telling Ahab and what Micaiah was about to tell him? Was this statement factually true? But was it a lie?

¹⁷ Then Micaiah answered, “I saw all Israel scattered on the hills like sheep without a shepherd, and the Lord said, ‘These people have no master. Let each one go home in peace.’”

¹⁸ The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Didn’t I tell you that he never prophesies anything good about me, but only bad?”

“One suggested this, and another that. ²¹ Finally, a spirit came forward, stood before the Lord and said, ‘I will entice him.’

²² “ ‘By what means?’ the Lord asked.

“ ‘I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets,’ he said.

“ ‘You will succeed in enticing him,’ said the Lord. ‘Go and do it.’

²³ “So now the Lord has put a lying spirit in the mouths of all these prophets of yours. The Lord has decreed disaster for you.”

Is Micaiah lying? Does the Lord send angels to be lying spirits? So if the Micahiah is not lying, but the Lord doesn’t send lying spirits, what is going on? Micaiah is telling a “story” for the purpose of communicating a truth, one truth, the answer to the question – should Ahab go to battle, will he be victorious. This question was answered truthfully and accurately, the rest of the story was told, not to accurately represent how the falsehood got into the prophecy of the other prophets, but to present the fact that what Ahab was previously told was a lie in the most convincing way to Ahab. To warn him.

²⁴ Then Zedekiah son of Kenaanah went up and slapped Micaiah in the face. “Which way did the spirit from the Lord go when he went from me to speak to you?” he asked.

Is Zedekiah lying when he claims to have the spirit of the Lord speak through him?

²⁵ Micaiah replied, “You will find out on the day you go to hide in an inner room.”

²⁶ The king of Israel then ordered, “Take Micaiah and send him back to Amon the ruler of the city and to Joash the king’s son ²⁷ and say, ‘This is what the king says: Put this fellow in prison and give him nothing but bread and water until I return safely.’ ”

²⁸ Micaiah declared, “If you ever return safely, the Lord has not spoken through me.” Then he added, “Mark my words, all you people!”

What does it mean to break the commandment? Did Micaiah break the commandment of God while fulfilling God’s purpose as His prophet? Do we ever think too childish, too concretely, too much focus on self and our behavior and less on motive and mission? “I love Ahab and Israel and want to protect him/them from doing something foolish, so I will tell truthfully that his going to war is a mistake, but will put it in a story setting designed to convince him of its veracity”

With this in mind, what course of action should we take when God’s Law is in conflict with man’s rules, regulations, code of conduct or ethical requirements?

I am a psychiatrist. There are manmade rules, laws, which govern patient confidentiality. In addition, I have given my word and promise to my patient to protect their confidentiality... Imagine your pastor comes to see me as a patient because he is struggling with an addiction. The only time I have ever met your pastor is as my patient. I come and do a seminar in your city, but not at your church, and during one of the breaks you ask me, “Do you know Pastor_____?” What do I say? Do I say, “I’m sorry, but because medical ethics, rights of patient confidentiality I am not allowed to answer your question”?

“I have much to tell you but you cannot yet bear it?”

“I have never met him outside my office”?

Do I say, yes or no?

If I say yes in a way that allows the idea that he might be my patient, not only do I harm your pastor, what if you were in marriage counseling with your pastor and he was really helping you, but you now were to discover he was in counseling for some mental health problem, might that undermine your confidence in him and harm you? And might you get less out of his sermons? And might you be tempted to gossip and tell what you know? And might others get harmed in the church with this news?

What is the principle? Love your neighbor which means what? Don't take actions that harm, take actions that protect, heal, restore. Here is another comment from EGW:

The command, "Thou shalt not bear false witness," means very much more than we realize. False witness is borne again and again in flippant speech concerning even the workers whom God has sent. The seeds of envy, of evil thinking and evil speaking, germinate and produce a harvest of their kind, to be garnered by the one who planted the seed. "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Letter 9, 1892). {1BC 1106.4}

What do you hear is the root of false witness? Envy, evil thinking and speaking. What makes it evil? Selfishness, so speech designed to hurt another is false witness. But did you notice something else quite profound is in this quote?

The harvest is reaped by those who planted the seed – in other words, she is saying those who bear false witness, who speak in envy, reap the results of what they have done. What does this mean? Why do they reap the results?

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. {1SM 235.2}

When we act selfishly we change us; when we foster envy, speak evilly, those actions become more deeply rooted in us. This results in greater fear and insecurity. We become more afraid that others will find out what evil we have said, that we will experience reprisal or retaliation, our reputation will be hurt etc. so we become more selfish, seek to protect self more and act more evilly toward others, unless we genuinely repent.

The bottom of the second paragraph pointed this out as well, in different words it said this, "but he finally reaches the place where he can trust no one. Himself a falsifier, he has no confidence in the words of others."

This is reaping the seeds of one's own sin, changing one's own mind, altering the ability to discern truth and error. Psychologically, this is an example of projection, in which one's own defect of character is so intolerable that one projects it out on others and believes everyone else would do to you the same evil you would do to them.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “The integrity...” What does this mean?

What is the source of destruction according to this text? Does destruction come from God? What other evidence from Scripture?

- Wages of sin is death Rom 6:23
- sin when full grown brings forth death Jm 1:15
- Those who sow to the carnal nature from that nature reap destruction Gal 6:8

Have you ever seen this?

- What happens to the person who cheats, not once and repents, but who lives as a cheat?
- What happens to the person who steals, not once or twice and repents, but who lives as a thief?
- What happens to the sensualist?
- What happens to the bigot, sexist, racist?

Do we see, that people who deviate from God’s design of love, are damaged and destroyed over time?

Read second paragraph, “The sense...” What motive is this appealing to? What level of development? Is such a person spiritually mature? What is the difference between this and Christian maturity?

Does this give insight as to why the Scripture teaches those still on milk, immature, are not acquainted with righteousness?

Last paragraph, “On the other...” So what is the difference in these two paragraphs between the wicked and the righteous?

The righteous – according to the lesson, have the ability to look into the future and delay immediate gratification for better long-term payout, whereas the wicked can only think of the right now, immediate reward.

Do the wicked ever make long-term plans, delay immediate gratification for a greater later gratification?

While the generalizations have some truth in them, they miss the point. The issue is about motive, do we love God and others and seek to do His will in helping others, or are we seeking PRIMARILY for self? The wicked seek to gratify and protect self at the expense and exploitation of others, whether immediate gratification or delayed. Generally, those who are seeking to gratify self lose self control and become more and more indulgent and impulsive, but others do not.

Read second paragraph in FRIDAY's lesson, "The greatest deception..."

Read and discuss questions 1 and 2 in Friday's lesson.

What You See Is NOT What You Get

Has anyone here heard of WYSIWYG or know what it means? I first heard the term “What You See Is What You Get” in relation to my line of work in computers. Remember a word processing program called Word Perfect? Dark blue background with white text? It was a powerful program with many publishing options and capabilities...but no matter what document formatting you put in place, nothing changed on the screen...always a blue background with white text. In fact, the only way to even see what sort of formatting had been applied was to “Reveal Codes” (Alt-F3 for the nerds like me), which sort of gave you a look under the covers to see which text was bolded or underlined or formatted differently...and the only way to truly see what your document looked like was to physically print it out. Then, along came Microsoft Word and the age of WYSIWYG editing and programming, where everything on the screen looks exactly the way it will look when it’s printed or rendered. The premise of this week’s lesson is that we very seldom have this level of insight into our environment and our relationships and our situations...and what we see is often not what we get. The lesson says, “We see so little, and what we do see always comes filtered through our own minds – including our own preconceived notions, biases, distortions, dysfunctions. Our eyes, our ears – even all our senses – still only give us a very narrow view of the big picture.

- Think about the limited view of reality we have...right here in this room. There are things out there that we know are real; yet, we can’t sense them or see them in any way. How many radio waves are in the air all around you right now (cell phones, satellite programs, wireless networks)? What about whenever 2 or 3 are gathered in my name, God is there in the midst of them? Do we start to understand how limited our senses are?

Saturday’s memory text from Proverbs 14:12 says, “There is a way that seems right to a man, but its end is the way of death.” Any thoughts on what this means?

- We tend to have fairly narrow, myopic perspectives...and everything tends to revolve around us. We are very focused on and make judgments based on external behaviors, because we cannot really see other’s heart motives. We are kind of control freaks who don’t like to admit that we are really helpless in our condition, and completely dependent on God for our existence, and in desperate need of a savior...and when I say “we” here, I really mean me. So we careen blindly on with plans that seem so selfishly right...and many times lead us straight into disaster.
- Can you think of any folks in the Bible who likely thought they were doing exactly the right thing but were actually (without intervention) on the path to death?
 - Adam & Eve

- Cain
- Everyone on earth other than Noah's family
- Lot's wife
- Moses (prior to conversion)
- Nadab & Abihu
- Saul
- David (prior to conversion)
- The text's author Solomon

“Solomon's course brought its sure penalty. His separation from God through communication with idolaters was his ruin. As he cast off his allegiance to God, he lost the mastery of himself. His moral efficiency was gone. His fine sensibilities became blunted, his conscience was seared. He who in his early reign had displayed so much wisdom and sympathy in restoring a helpless babe to its unfortunate mother, fell so low as to consent to the erection of an idol to whom living children were offered as sacrifices. He who in his youth was endowed with discretion and understanding, and who in his strong manhood had been inspired to write, ‘There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death’, in later years departed so far from purity as to countenance licentious, revolting rites connected with the worship of Chemosh and Ashtoreth. He tried – but at what cost! – to unite light with darkness, good with evil, purity with impurity, Christ with Belial. From being one of the greatest kings that ever wielded a scepter, Solomon became a profligate, the tool and slave of others. His character, once noble and manly, became enervated (weakened/debilitated/fatigued) and effeminate. His faith in the living God was supplanted by atheistic doubts. Unbelief marred his happiness, weakened his principles, and degraded his life. The justice and magnanimity of his early reign were changed to despotism and tyranny. Poor, frail human nature! God can do little for men who lose their sense of dependence upon Him. [PK 58.1]

- Judas
- Pilot -
- Peter (prior to conversion)
- Saul/Paul (prior to conversion)
- Ananias & Saphira

Is it related to what Paul talks about in 1 Corinthians 13:12? – “We don't yet see things clearly. We're squinting in a fog, peering through a mist. But it won't be long before the weather clears and the sun shines bright! We'll see it all then, see it all as clearly as God sees us, knowing him directly just as he knows us." In the interim, we have to walk by faith and not by sight.

We can be so easily deceived about the external world, and sadly we can be deceived about ourselves...so how do we protect ourselves from these deceptions?

Any Biblical counsel that comes to mind on how we can avoid being deceived?

- Proverbs certainly provides some basic counsel about not leaning on our own understanding – Prov 3:5 says “Trust God from the bottom of your heart; don’t try to figure out everything on your own. Listen for God’s voice in everything you do, everywhere you go; he’s the one who will keep you on track. Don’t assume that you know it all. Run to God! Run from evil! Your body will glow with health, your very bones will vibrate with life! Honor God with everything you own; give him the first and the best.”
- 2 Cor 5:7 tells us to “Walk by faith and not by sight” or “It’s what we trust in but don’t yet see that keeps us going.”
- Psalm 37:23 – The Lord makes firm the steps of the one who delights in him.
- Prov 16:9 – A man’s mind plans his way, but the Lord directs his steps and makes them sure.

In what ways might our unique insight into the Great Controversy perspective can help keep us from being so small-minded and self-focused

- reminds us that it is not all about me...God has been accused and his character maligned
- there is a war being waged for hearts and minds and souls
- helps us maintain a something bigger than ourselves viewpoint

Come and Reason practical concepts that can help protect ourselves from self-deception

- Applying natural law principles can help immediately breaks down bias, distortions and subjectiveness. Natural laws are applied in a very rational, objective, unbiased manner...100% consistent, constant, unwavering, unchangeable.
- The 3-pronged Scripture/Science/Experience integrative evidence based approach can provide meaningful perspective while removing distortion and emotion by allowing you to test theories/situations against all 3 zones.
- Learning to think and reason for yourself...learning to seek and love the truth. I spent some years of my life in a situation where I did not really want to know the truth...because I was pretty sure I wouldn’t like the truth if I knew it...so I became quite adept at avoiding and distorting and denying the truth. Which, of course, did not make the truth any less true. As Tim has said, you cannot bend the truth...you can only bend your mind around the truth – like when you hold up a glass lens between your eye and a telephone pole. To you, the pole looks bent even though it is still perfectly straight. I believe for sure the most important truth to know and the truth that “sets us free” from Satan’s lies...is the truth that God is exactly who Jesus revealed Him to be. But I believe when He said, “you will know the truth and the truth shall set you free” he was talking about all truth...and that this love of truth and pursuit of truth could be liberating in every area of our lives – because that’s how we were made. Has anyone else ever experienced this? When you have come to really know and accept the truth...in a relationship? Maybe in a job/career choice? Which college to attend or major course of study? A medical diagnosis or condition? Please don’t misunderstand that this is easy or not a struggle...but for me, even if the truth is unpleasant, frightening, painful, or even heartbreaking...if I search for the truth, if I am open to it, acknowledge it, accept it, and even embrace it...I find even a painful truth can be liberating and freeing...and puts me in a much better position to be able to handle and meet the situation head-on versus being self-deceived and in denial. Thoughts?

SUNDAY/MONDAY

The Assurance of the Fool & The Fear of the Wise

Fool Speaks Proudly – proud words have resulted in a blow to his lips, an outcome contrasted against the lips of the wise, which are preserved. And, never missing an opportunity to mention it, the quarterly says the “rod” associated with the fool’s lips in Proverbs 14:3, implies the fool’s eventual punishment. Is this really what the text implies?

- The NLT reads, “A fool’s proud talk becomes a rod that beats him, but the words of the wise keep them safe.” The Amplified Bible says, “In the fool’s own mouth is a rod to shame his pride.”
- Luke 6:45 – A good man out of the good treasure of his heart brings forth good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart brings forth evil. For out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.
- Matthew 12:37 – For by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned.
- Another, similar proverb found in chapter 17 verse 28 reads, “Even dunces who keep quiet are thought to be wise; as long as they keep their mouths shut, they’re smart.”...which is rumored to be the basis for a familiar quote often attributed to Mark Twain or Abraham Lincoln: “It is better to remain silent and be thought a fool, than to speak and remove all doubt.”

Wise Speak Humbly – The wise restrain their mouths as evidenced by silent reflection...they really listen thoughtfully, consider opposing ideas, weigh out evidence, and try to learn from others. Is this a struggle for anyone here...to “restrain their mouths”? And in this culture of social media, it is not just our mouths we have to restrain...but maybe our keys on a keyboard.

Fool Mocks Wisdom – a fool appears to seek wisdom, but is skeptical of it and doesn't believe in true wisdom. He will not find it because, in his own mind, there is no wisdom apart from himself. If the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, believing you are wise in and of yourself has to be at the opposite end of that spectrum, and you will start to see this as a theme when describing fool psychology. Most damaging is mocking and misunderstanding the destructive power of sin that often accompanies the imposed law construct...where the fear of punishment and of the punisher far outweighs any fear of sin's damaging effects and the natural law consequences.

Wise Value Learning & Knowledge (& Truth) – Sitting at the feet of a teacher requires a posture of humility and a teachable spirit. It is difficult to be taught or to learn anything if you think you already know it all. The wise are in a constant search for wisdom and knowledge, and enjoy the experience of learning and growing. How is mastering this skill important for eternity?

- God is infinite, we are finite...the gap between us is and will always be...infinite. We will spend all eternity learning and growing and being enlightened by more and more and more truth. If we don't enjoy and value that experience here on earth, then we probably won't like it up there either.

Fool Is Credulous – gullible, naïve, imprudent, unconsidered, uncritical...the quarterly says he has lost the ability to think critically about what he hears, and believes "every word" or everything he reads on the Internet. The lesson also points out some of the paradox and irony of a secular society that laughs at or impugns belief in God or intelligent design or creation...even though some of their beliefs – big bang/evolution, when tested, can appear quite foolish and require even more faith.

Wise Are Cautious – The wise are acutely aware that evil exists, and recognize the destructive power of sin...so they are careful. I would say that the wise understand the nature of God's natural laws and consequences. They do not rely on their own feelings and personal opinions, but practice a more integrated evidence-based approach to discern good from bad, right from wrong, truth from lies.

Fool Is Impulsive – Because fools believe they have the truth within themselves, they react quickly, impulsively without taking time to think. I mean think of the Twitter-sphere culture we have going on right now. Do we see any quick, impulsive, knee-jerk reactions happening today? It is painfully obvious that most took no time to think about comments being made...to the world...into perpetuity. Any thoughts on how this ability to spout off our thoughts to the world at every whim...with a certain degree of anonymity...have further impacted our ability to be "foolish" in this regard?

- Kids not getting into their college of choice
- Not being hired for jobs
- Losing jobs/losing customers/losing sponsors or advertisers

Wise Are Calm – The lesson indicates that faith in God allows the wise to relax, practice self-control, and the fear of God gives them confidence. No argument here...but doesn't it really depend which God you believe in...and which law lens you look through...whether fearing and trusting God makes you calm and gives you peace? Tim has mentioned an analogy he uses with his patients who are struggling with being told to "just trust God" or "turn your life over to God". He tells them to imagine walking at the mall and having a stranger ask for their house keys and saying, "It's OK...you can trust me." Would they feel comfortable giving a stranger the keys to their house...would that make them feel calm and peaceful? If not, then how could they possibly turn the keys to their life over to a stranger...it is so important that we get to know God for who he really is and what he is really like. Only then can we be confident putting our trust in him and be filled with his peace that passes all understanding.

Fool Oppresses Others – Fools are intolerant of others, and will oppress and treat them with contempt. These are the tactics of Satan...the characteristics of the beast system – coercion, intolerance, force, oppression. How often are these taken in the name of the church? In the name of God? Any examples?

- Roman church
- Crusades
- Rwanda/Genocide
- Pro-Life
- Isis

Wise Are Compassionate & Sensitive – The quarterly points out the inextricable link between the most important commandments – "Love the Lord your God and your neighbor as yourself." We cannot love God and treat other people poorly...I think that is profound. The greatest expression of our faith is how we deal with others, especially those in need. Agree or disagree?

TUESDAY

The Eyes of the Lord

Tuesday's text is from Proverbs 15:3 and says, "The eyes of the Lord are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good." The MSG says, "God doesn't miss a thing." The lesson asks, "How does this text make you feel and why? Does how you feel depend on what law lens you look through?"

- Does this text bring to mind the recording angel that used to stand in the front of the church during children's story with a clipboard and pen, poised to write down every possible behavior infraction?
- What have we learned about natural law concepts that lets us know this text is not about a heavenly watchdog or police force?

- His eyes are everywhere because He is omnipotent...omnipresent...and He sees everything, because natural laws have natural consequences. If we have been converted and healed, he sees it...if we have not been converted and remain terminal, he sees it.

The quarterly talks about Solomon's understanding that true wisdom is the ability to correctly discern between good and evil – the right from the wrong, which I think is accurate and well-said. But then, it goes rather predictably into the heavenly recording angel mindset that God sees everything we do, even if no one else does, and that on a human level, knowing this should help us to remember to always do good instead of evil...and to not be fooled into thinking that just because we might seem to get away with doing evil for now, in the long run we never do. Do we believe this is why God desires for us to do what is right...because we know He's watching and He sees everything and He won't let us get away with it?

- This is at the very bottom, most elementary level 1/2 on the moral development scale – punishment/reward. “A sullen submission to the will of the Father will develop the character of a rebel. The service is looked upon by such a one in the light of drudgery. It is not rendered cheerfully and in the love of God. It is a mere mechanical performance. {TMK 120 (That I May Know Him)}
- “We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. This is why it is so dangerous to mock sin as fools do! By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death.” {ISM 235}
- No one “gets away” with stepping off the Empire State Building in violation of the law of gravity...no one gets away with tying a plastic bag over their head in violation of the law of respiration...natural law requires no monitoring, no recording, no enforcement...imposed laws are the only kind that require external enforcement. There are no gravity police required.

WEDNESDAY

The Joy of the Lord

Here are the elements of Proverbs 15 that speak specifically to happiness and joy:

- V13: A cheerful heart brings a smile to your face; a sad heart makes it hard to get through the day.

- V14: An intelligent person is always eager to take in more truth; fools feed on fast-food fads and fancies.
- V15: A miserable heart means a miserable life; a cheerful heart fills the day with song.
- V30: A twinkle in the eye means joy in the heart, and good news makes you feel fit as a fiddle.
- Clearly, we are not promised a life without trials...in fact, the opposite is true based on scripture. Matthew 6:34 says “So do not worry about tomorrow; it will have enough worries of its own. There is no need to add to the troubles each day brings,” and in John 16:33, Jesus says, “I’ve told you all this so that trusting me, you will be unshakable and assured, deeply at peace. In this godless world you will continue to experience difficulties. But take heart! I’ve conquered the world.” But we are also advised to have a merry heart, to be content in all circumstances, rejoice in trials...in fact, to count it all joy. So it would seem that the key to deep, lasting joy is not in the changing details of our circumstances...but rather in how we respond to them based on our trust in the constant, unchanging goodness of God.
- The quarterly suggests the parallels between verses 13 and 14 indicate that the “merry heart” is the “heart of him who has understanding” – the heart of one who has faith and sees redemption beyond the immediate ordeal. This is why it is so crucial that we know for ourselves, from our own experience, the reality of God and His love. Then, whatever trials come, whatever suffering we face, those with understanding can endure, because they know God’s love for themselves.
- This chapter also introduces another important idea that joy comes more from what we give than from what we receive – a good word shared with others will bring joy to the giver. Who here hasn’t experienced the blessing that comes from blessing others – in word or deed or both?
- Another related factor that contributes to our level of happiness and joy...is developing an attitude and a practice of gratitude – keeping a gratitude journal. Many research studies exist related to this subject...I will site only a few of their findings on the results of establishing a regular habit or practice of being grateful:
 - Woods, et al., 2008 – A relative absence of stress and depression
 - Emmons and McCullough, 2003 – Progress towards important personal goals
 - Emmons and McCullough, 2003 – Higher levels of determination and energy
 - Algoe and Haidt, 2009 – Closer relationships and desire to build stronger relationships
 - Emmons and McCullough, 2003 – Increased levels of happiness – by up to 25%!
 - One of the founders of our church agreed and wrote this in a book called “Ministry of Healing” around 100 years before those studies were conducted: “Nothing tends more to promote health of body and of soul than does a spirit of gratitude and praise. It is a positive duty to resist melancholy, discontented thoughts and feelings – as much a duty as it is to pray. If we are heaven-bound, how can we go as a band of mourners, groaning and complaining all along the way to our Father's house? Those professed Christians who are constantly complaining, and who seem to think cheerfulness and happiness a sin, have not genuine religion. {MH 251}

The Sovereignty of God

1st paragraph in the lesson says, “The bible acknowledges the value of human responsibility and freedom. Yet, the Bible also affirms God's control over the course of events.” Thoughts? Does this minimize the incredible importance of freedom? Isn't freedom valued...above all in God's government.

We prepare, we make plans...but the last word still belongs to God. Does it? Our preparations are not worthless, with an attitude of seeking and submission and desire for direction.

- The thing is...God is infinite; therefore, accomplishing God's will can have an infinite number of avenues. What is God's will for me...for all of us? To be healed, to be restored, to be set right with Him. And He has promised that He can use every single thing that happens in our lives to complete that good work in us and perfect our characters. This is what Tim means when he talks about trusting God with outcomes – we are responsible for our own conduct – as students, as parents, as spouses, etc. God has promised to work all things for our good (Romans 8)...He has even promised that the work our enemies intend for harm will be used for good (Genesis 50:20), so we do our work, our due diligence and then trust Him with the outcome.

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 7

Dealing With Fights

I received these two email recently:

I would like to thank you for changing the way our family now looks at God, the Bible and the plan of salvation especially in the light of the great controversy. I will say that together with the books and discussion materials of Graham Maxwell and your work our spiritual lives have been fundamentally changed. Our children now frequently comment how much clearer the Bible is and how much more sense looking at the law from a design protocol standpoint as compared to the imposed constructs that we grew up with. Understanding things this way has resulted in so much more freedom but without compromising anything since we essentially live the same lives (and follow the same rules) not because we HAVE to but because we WANT to and understand WHY and because it is RIGHT not just because the Bible, someone else, or even God says that we said so. Thank you once again for your ministry.

I want to start out by Praising God for who He is. He is most loving and gracious. I also want to thank God for the message of love and the true picture of God and His character that He uses you to tell the world. I was raised in a SDA home, went to SDA schools through high school. I am 65 years old now but when I was about 35 or so I started to question the God that we were preaching. I started to look into it but was afraid to say too much for I sounded like I was not following the "truth". Every time I would say something some pastor or an elder would stop me, saying that if I do not believe what the church was teaching than I wasn't a true follower of the teaching of the "remnant church".

My curiosity peaked and in the late nineties I wanted to leave the church because I could not stand the God that we were preaching. I did not leave but was not active either. Meanwhile I decided to dig into the Bible, searching for the God that My mind was looking for. In the year 2003 I started to be active again and in the year 2005 I began to teach Sabbath School. I decided that I would start to teach what I've found in my search. Something amazing happened. My class grew but the leaders of the church I went to started to look at me closely and were not wanting me in a leading position. I was determined.

It was studying the lessons of the Glimpses of God that really got to me. I hated that quarterly and threw the whole book away, wrote to the Sabbath School Department at the GC and complained about the trash that we allow to be taught around the world. But something good came out of it. I was still teaching Sabbath School and I needed something to teach. I went searching in the Internet and God be the glory, I found Come And Reason by Dr. Jennings. This has been the best find in my whole life. Now I speak with authority. Not because of Dr. Jennings, but because of the materials I find that support the Bible teaching of the God I love best.

Thank you again and may God be glorified.

May God continue to bless you and your ministry.

SABBATH

What fights are we dealing with?

- Wars between nations?
- Fights between political parties?
- Fights between factions in the church?
- Fights between our children?
- Fights between spouses?
- Fights with coworkers?
- Fights between police officers and citizens?
- Fights between parents and their children?
- Fights between students, or students and teachers or teachers and the school boards....

Is there really a limit on the places where we find fights in this world of sin? Read memory verse,

“Better is a dry morsel with quietness, than a house full of feasting with strife.” Prov 17:1

The text is focusing our attention on the home – which is a good place to start, since the family is the social bedrock of our society. If our families are in conflict, then our society will suffer.

What is the point of the proverb? Here is the GNT:

Better to eat a dry crust of bread with peace of mind than to have a banquet in a house full of trouble.

Isn't the point that mental and relational peace, health, and wellbeing, is worth more than riches or extravagance? Is this limited to food? Do you believe this is true? Well science tells us the following:

- Individuals with major mental health disorders that have a primary biological cause, such as schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, schizoaffective disorder, do much worse if they live in homes with high conflict. This is true even if the mentally ill person is not directly involved in the conflict.
- Divorce is less damaging to children than living in a home with high parental conflict.
 - The research has found that children do the best, i.e. grow up to have less mental health problems, less substance use problems, have greater academic achievement, better sense of personal wellness if they come from homes in which there is a mother and father who get along, operate maturely in love.
 - The next best outcome for children is when they come from single parent home in which there is low conflict.
 - Children did better and grew up with less problems in single parent, low conflict homes, than in homes in with both parents but where there was high levels of argument, fighting and stress.
 - And the worst for children is single parent homes in which there is high conflict

- Such high conflict homes actually alter brain development such that children grow up with upregulated fear circuitry and less developed prefrontal cortex ability to problem solve and calm their fear circuitry. They also have distorted internalizations of events that negatively alter their sense of self, contributing to poor decision-making later in life.
- An 11 years study of 10,000 men and women ages 36-54, found those who had highest family conflict had 2-3 times the risk of dying in middle age as those who did not have family conflict. The cause of the deaths were cancer, heart disease, suicide, liver disease and alcohol abuse.
 - High stress causes inflammatory cascades which increase risk of heart disease, obesity and DMII, also interfere with immune system thus increasing cancer risks, cause glial brain damage contributing to depression and thus increased suicide, and increased use of alcohol contributing to liver disease.
- A 32-year prospective study of over 800 individuals, which identified three measures of childhood adversity, overt physical or sexual abuse, severe neglect, or severe socioeconomic deprivation. They broke the subjects into three groups, those with none of these adverse events, those with one, and those with two or three. Then followed them for 32 years and documented who developed depression, 11% of those with no adverse events developed depression, 20% with 1 adverse event developed depression and 30% of those with two or three adverse events. They also examined who developed DMII, obesity and hypercholesterolemia, and the percentages were the same as those for depression.

Why does the Commandment teach that if we honor our parents we will live long on the earth?

Because our child-parent relationships are our primary relationships and serve as a template upon which other relationships are built. If these primary relationships are conflictual, untrusting, fear ridden, etc. it upregulates fear circuitry, causing difficulty in calming oneself, difficulty in trusting others, difficulty in future relationships, with repeated cycles of conflict, with firing of fear circuits, increased inflammation, which contributes to metabolic illness and early death. Unless, we experience healing through God's grace and love in other healthy relationships later in life.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Proverbs 17:9 and 19:11,

Whoever would foster love covers over an offense, but whoever repeats the matter separates close friends. Proverbs 17:9

A person's wisdom yields patience; it is to one's glory to overlook an offense. Proverbs 19:11

What does this mean and what does it not mean?

What does it mean to cover over an offense? Does it mean to cover up? Was destroying the Watergate tapes covering over an offense? If we destroy evidence in a criminal case are we following Bible principles?

What does cover mean? Consider the following definitions of cover, and ask which apply to Christ and us?

- to hide, conceal –
 - Does Christ hide or conceal our condition from the Father?
- but also to protect –
 - Does Christ protect us? Yes, but from whom? Does He protect us from the Father or from Satan and sin?
- or to serve as a substitute – to cover for them
 - Does Christ act as our substitute, stand in our place for us? How? In a legal action from the heavenly tribunal? No! By taking our condition and curing it, something we could never do!
 - He also stands as Adam's substitute in being the repository of God's character and law, and revealing God's character perfectly.
- to make an excuse or alibi
 - Does Christ make excuses for us? No!
- to intervene to cover their mistake
 - Does Christ cover our mistakes? Yes, how? By healing, restoring, intervening, protecting, giving multiple opportunities to try again.
- to back them up, in card game when playing partners, you can cover someone else's bad card with a higher one of your own
 - While Christ doesn't play cards with us, does He back up our decisions and sometimes "trump" or overrule what we would do, when we trust Him, for our good? Yes!
- Or merely, according to the context, not repeating it, not spreading it, to keep information confidential, to protect a person's reputation
 - Does Christ repeat our sins or failings or most shameful moments, or does He protect our reputations and not repeat it?
 - 1Cor says "love keeps no record of wrongs."

Here is the passage from the GNT:

If you want people to like you, forgive them when they wrong you. Remembering wrongs can break up a friendship.

And from the Message:

Overlook an offense and bond a friendship; fasten on to a slight and—good-bye, friend!

So what does it mean to cover an offense? Could it mean, that you see offenses as symptoms of a person's struggles, weaknesses, character flaws – and if you love them, you don't embarrass them to expose them, you seek to help them heal from what causes them to offend?

If you had a friend who received a steroid injection because of respiratory distress, but had a psychotic reaction from it, which caused them to say vulgar things, what would you do? Would you want to post their struggles on Facebook, or protect them and cover for them and get them to treatment?

What about someone struggling with fear, insecurity and selfishness, which causes them to act out? Do we see people as sick in heart and mind, needed the healing of God's love and truth, and so we seek to protect their reputation and cover for them?

When the Pharisees brought the woman caught in adultery before Jesus, they were Christ's enemies, trying to trap Him. He knew their secret sins. He could have exposed them as hypocrites, but what did He do? He wrote in the sand, no names, just the sins and each person was convicted, and left, but He didn't expose anyone. He protected the reputation of His enemies – Wow!

Read first two paragraphs, "When someone..." How can this idea of covering a sin be misunderstood and cause confusion and misrepresent God?

- When we view things through the imposed law model and present sin as breaking rules, which offends the ruling authority, causing God to be upset, wrathful, angry and needing to vent His wrath, and Jesus as the one who came to assuage or propitiate God's wrath, then we introduce the idea that we need to cover up our sin from God.
- With the imposed law model we distort the metaphor of the robe of righteousness teaching falsely that it is to cover us so God can't see our sinfulness – rather than teaching the truth that we are transformed in heart and mind to be like Christ.
- Likewise the imposed law model causes us to distort the meaning of the blood, instead of realizing it represents Christ's perfect sinless life that we partake, we falsely teach it is applied to our records to cover the records of our sins so the Father won't see it and judge against us
- When we understand design law, that we are out of harmony with God's design and in a terminal condition, and God is like Jesus – perfect love, with a longing to heal. Then we pray like David, "search me and see the wicked way in me... create in me a clean heart oh God." We don't want to cover our defects, we want our defects fully exposed before God, because He is the only one who can heal us from them!

How can we understand this in a healthy way?

- By realizing we don't want to reveal a person's struggles to those who would either be damaged by the knowledge, or use the knowledge to do harm
- Thus, we might, like a doctor, share the knowledge with another health care provider, get a consult, with someone qualified to not only help, but keep confidences. But we would not share this information with those who have no need to know, or who would be harmed by the knowledge.

Read last paragraph, "One does not..." this is well said and this focuses on what the church is supposed to be – family – in which we love each other, and when we see someone else mess up, our heart longs for their wellness, we want to see them overcome and we intervene to assist them, to minimize the pain and suffering in their lives and others.

But, when we forget we are to love each other, and instead get focused on institutional loyalty and correctness, then we believe we have a duty to report the offender, to have the offender disciplined or sanctioned, or removed from office or fired from their job in the institution. And if that doesn't work, then we believe we must spread the report of what we believe is an offense to warn others because we must protect the institution and hold up institutional standards.

Also, helping others in the church family, doesn't mean merely delivering people from their situation, relieving burdens or life problems. It means helping a person develop Christlike character, and the Bible teaches it is struggles, the difficulties, the trials that help us grow and mature.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to look at Proverbs 18, lets examine some of the texts and unpack what they mean. This is from the Message version:

Loners who care only for themselves spit on the common good.

What is the lesson? These people lack compassion, love, and are self-centered. They want what they want and will undermine the good of others to get it.

² Fools care nothing for thoughtful discourse; all they do is run off at the mouth.

Have you known people like this? They talk and talk, but won't listen and don't seek to understand?

³ When wickedness arrives, shame's not far behind; contempt for life is contemptible.

Is shame after wickedness imposed, inflicted, or the natural result of deviating from God's design? What does shame do? How does it impact a person? What does it do to relationships?

Why is contempt for life contemptible? The attitude, or mindset, that doesn't value life, is to be devalued. We should seek to eliminate attitudes that devalue or fail to cherish life. Why? Who is the source of life? Who is the source of death?

What about all the infatuation in society with death? Is it a sign of corrupt character?

⁴ Many words rush along like rivers in flood, but deep wisdom flows up from artesian springs.

I know some people who talk and talk and move from one subject to another constantly as a way of never dealing with reality. They have hurts, wounds, unresolved issues, and they avoid dealing with them by constantly talking, but never learning.

⁵ It's not right to go easy on the guilty, or come down hard on the innocent.

What does it mean to go easy on the guilty? Why is it not right? If we said, it is not right to easy on the sick, what would we mean? If we went easy on someone who had a broken leg, might we not push them to do PT?

Why is that not right?

⁶ The words of a fool start fights; do him a favor and gag him.

Wow, don't you like this one? Do you think society would be better off if we could do this? Yes, but notice, to whom you are doing a favor, not to society, but to the fool!

⁷ Fools are undone by their big mouths; their souls are crushed by their words.

What does this mean? How does the words of a fool crush their own soul?

Listen to this commentary from the book The Desire of Ages:

Closely connected with Christ's warning in regard to the sin against the Holy Spirit is a warning against idle and evil words. The words are an indication of that which is in the heart. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." But the words are more than an indication of character; they have power to react on the character. Men are influenced by their own words. Often under a momentary impulse, prompted by Satan, they give utterance to jealousy or evil surmising, expressing that which they do not really believe; but the expression reacts on the thoughts. They are deceived by their words, and come to believe that true which was spoken at Satan's instigation. Having once expressed an opinion or decision, they are often too proud to retract it, and try to prove themselves in the right, until they come to believe that they are. It is dangerous to utter a word of doubt, dangerous to question and criticize divine light. The habit of careless and irreverent criticism reacts upon the character, in fostering irreverence and unbelief. Many a man indulging this habit has gone on unconscious of danger, until he was ready to criticize and reject the work of the Holy Spirit. Jesus said, "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." {DA 323.1}

⁸ Listening to gossip is like eating cheap candy; do you really want junk like that in your belly?

I think this is a great analogy – because it is like cheap candy, it isn't good for us, yet just like cheap candy we eat it anyway.

⁹ Slack habits and sloppy work are as bad as vandalism.

How many times have you been inconvenienced, had to do more work, call in repairmen etc. because someone did sloppy work or didn't do their job right?

Anyone in the healthcare industry who has ever had to deal with Medicare, Medicaid or insurances, knows how frustrating it is to deal with people who don't do their job right. It is like vandalism, it causes damage.

¹⁰ GOD's name is a place of protection—good people can run there and be safe.

What does this mean? God's name, calling out the words, "Jesus saves" or "God help me?" Is this what it means? Or are we protected in our minds, souls, characters, when we abide in His character, practicing His methods?

¹⁵ Wise men and women are always learning, always listening for fresh insights.

Are we lovers of truth, recognizing we are finite, so there is always more to learn. Do we hunger to expand our understanding and learn more? Or are we fearful of new insights and seek to shut down new light in defense of tradition?

²² Find a good spouse, you find a good life—and even more: the favor of GOD!

This is so true – I can testify to the truth of this one! Any verses you wanted to unpack?

WEDNESDAY

Prov 18:17 The first speech in a court case is always convincing—until the cross-examination starts!

What is the wisdom in this proverb? This is not only true in court; it is true in life. You want to hear both sides of a story.

Sadly, many people who disagree with what we teach do so because they have listened to gossip and the allegations of some, but haven't taken the time to actually investigate for themselves or listen to our side. When people do this, almost always they are persuaded to our way of seeing things. It happened again this week in CA two people came to me and let me know that certain things were being said that I teach that concerned them, but when I explained what I actually teach, the two persons said they agree with our views.

Have any of you ever experienced this?

Read third paragraph, “Only God...” What is being said here? Is it being said that God, not needing a “second opinion,” doesn't need the input, information, testimony, evidence, perspective of others in order for Him to know the truth?

What does this mean then in regard to what we teach regarding the judgment?

Do some versions of Christianity teach God has record books and that He investigates the records to determine guilt and innocence and that He listens to the “second opinion” of Jesus who pleads to the Father in our behalf?

Have you heard Jesus can empathize with us because He suffered in human flesh, and thus He is able to share His perspective with the Father? Would that be God seeking a second opinion?

All of these ideas are false and distorted – The lesson is correct, the Father doesn't need a second opinion – which means He doesn't need to investigate evidence. He doesn't need to hear testimony. He doesn't have to be pled with – not because He is closed minded, but because He already knows everything in 100% accurate ways. He knows every side of every argument and the secret motives of the heart. And because He is love, He is always on our side seeking to heal and restore! He doesn't have to be convinced by anyone to do so. "If God is for us..." Rom 8:31

What are further implications?

What about the presentation of blood in the OT sanctuary service? How many times have we heard the idea that the blood is being presented to God?

What is the blood symbolic of? The life of Jesus and the truth about God – does the Father need the truth about Himself, that Jesus revealed, presented to Him? Does the Father need the perfect life of Christ given to Him?

Who does? We do, we need the truth to win us to trust, and in trust we need to internalize the character of Christ, i.e. eat His flesh and drink His blood (Jn 6), so that we become partakers of the divine nature, and it is no longer "I that lives but Christ lives in me."

THURSDAY

Read proverbs 19:1 "Better to be poor and honest than a rich person no one can trust."

Read middle paragraph, "The book of Proverbs..." Why is it better? Because if we lie and cheat our recording angels will take note of it, it will be in the heavenly ledger, and it will one day show up in heavenly court and we will be punished? Or, if we lie and cheat we sear our consciences, warp our characters, damage our reasoning ability, destroy the faculties that respond to love and truth and take ourselves so out of harmony with God and His design that we are beyond healing?

Prov 19:3 People ruin their lives by their own stupidity, so why does God always get blamed?

Isn't that a great one? God gets blamed because people don't want to admit to their own folly, or take responsibility for their own actions. They want to make excuses.

And the most "stupid" action people take that ruin their own lives, is when they find themselves in bad situations, they try and fix it themselves. In other words, many people who have sinned, feel guilt and shame and don't simply return to God in humble repentance. People don't accept responsibility for their shortcomings, seeking what they can learn, how they can mature, and instead seek to hide reality from themselves and others. Learning that God is trustworthy is essential in healing!

If you find yourself in a hole – quit digging!

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “True love is not blind...” What do you understand is the relationship between love and justice?

What is justice? What law lens to you understand this word through?

Through imposed law, justice is about inflicting punishment for breaking the rules. This is the theology of penal substitution and those who hold that God’s law is no different than sinful beings, rules imposed.

In the modern media the idea of justice is consistently represented as inflicting punishment, giving payback. In TV crime dramas, when talking with families of victims, law enforcement will say “help us get the person who murdered your sister, she deserves justice.” Justice is presented as catching and punishing perpetrators.

Is this the Bible view of Justice?

But, when we recognize God as Creator and His laws are the protocols reality is constructed to operate upon, then we understand justice involves restoring deviations from the design back to harmony with the design.

Thus, if you see a friend stealing and you want to do justice, you want to see your friend transformed to be honest and trustworthy, you want His mind, heart and character set right, exacting vengeance doesn’t do anything to bring about repentance – in fact, Romans says, “The kindness of God leads us to repentance.”

If you have a friend involved in porn, what does justice demand? If you want to do what is right by your friend, you want to deliver your friend from this destructive behavior, not punish them for it. You want them set right again.

But, when we have an imposed law construct, we believe that broken rules require punishment and thus we seek to inflict pain and suffering and call it justice. Or worse, we teach God is the source of pain, suffering and death inflicted upon the unrepentant.

Read second paragraph, “For example...” Can a person actually be just, be right, do right, if they don’t understand how things are designed to work, what healthy looks like, what is the proper way for things to function?

Justice is doing what is actually in harmony with God’s design.

What does charity have to do with going to court? I don’t see the relationship?

But, if one is charitable in a court setting, what is one seeking for the one on trial? To get them off? Or to see that person transformed in character? So if one were charitable to a drug addict in court, if no other reasonable option exists to give their brain time to heal, one might sentence them to prison to give them opportunity to detox their brain. This would not be punitive, but redemptive.

Likewise, when one understands the nature of sin, and is dealing with someone deemed to be a recidivist criminal, who has no concern for others and blatantly states their desire to continue hurting others, what does love do? Love, wants to protect them from the ongoing damage to their own mind, conscience, soul that such unruly behavior causes, as well as protecting society at large, thus incarceration for some might be the greatest blessing we can provide.

Read last paragraph, “In His act...” Why does he not palliate the sin? Because what does sin do to the sinner?

- Had the woman already been damaged by her conduct?
- Had her esteem been lowered?
- Was she already struggling with fear, insecurity, guilt, shame, self loathing?
- Was her mind being warped by her destructive choices?

Jesus’ refusal to condemn was evidence that He knows sin doesn’t require His condemnation because it destroys. The problem with sin is not that God is angry or mad at us, but that we are damaged by it! Thus, Jesus says to her, “I don’t condemn you. I am here to save you. I know what you were doing, and even if you weren’t caught and thrown before me, you would have gone home ashamed, guilt ridden, fearful, damaged by your own choices, go home and stop damaging yourself, live a better life.”

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 8 - Words of Wisdom

I received this email this week:

I listen to something of yours almost every day and am greatly blessed by your ministry. I give out 'Watcher' cards at every opportunity, and also DVD sets, books and cards. I wish everyone could have the chance to see our Loving God and learn of His beautiful law of love and design for all life, His plan for healing our sin-sick hearts and minds, for securing the universe against this sin mess ever rising up again for all eternity, the way you and others now present it! It makes so much sense, is so hopeful, motivating, exciting!

Now for my story and prayer request:

Late last night I had a great fright, finding a young man inside my enclosed porch trying to open the back door of my house. I came face to face with him through a window in the door before I realized what was happening. I live alone, and was very frightened! I was not very kind, shouted at him, demanded he leave my house, and when he didn't, I called 911, retreated to the next room, with a locking door. I could still see him through a window in that door. He stood there, face pressed to my glass door, turning the doorknob and trying to get in until the police came, arrested him and took him away. I was asked to write a statement and then call to have an officer come back to pick it up.

I was quite shaken but very thankful things hadn't turned out much worse! He was a 19-year-old kid from out of town, highly intoxicated, thought he was at a buddy's house and was determined to get inside. I felt compassion for him and prayed that I could think of something to do with this opportunity, and not waste it.

After I wrote my statement, I prayed for wisdom, for some way to help this young man, who is about the age of my own nephew. Then I knew what I needed to do. I wrote the following letter, and slipped it inside the plastic cover of my last set of Healing the Mind DVD set.

"To the young man who came to my door tonight -

You gave me a bad fright trying to open my back door late this evening. I realize now you were not here to steal or harm me, but were just very drunk, lost and disoriented. My heart truly goes out to you.

I started thinking maybe it was not chance that brought you here. Maybe the God who created you and loves you guided you to this house because you are losing your way and need someone to care before it's too late.

I'm trying to think of what I would want a kind stranger to do for my son if he were in your place. Then the idea came to give you my favorite DVD set, a series of talks by a very smart and compassionate man who makes it his life work to help people learn to make better choices and live life the way we were designed to live - happy and satisfied, meeting our full potential.

I hope you will take the time to watch them. They may be completely strange, like nothing you would usually watch. But something here might give you answers to life's hard questions, may help you navigate through this difficult time. Please watch them.

I hate to see any young person wasting the precious gift of life, hurting their chance for a good future. You might have wandered into the house of a person with a deadly weapon tonight, and might not be here now. Please realize you are making some choices that could have very dire consequences. Don't throw your future away. You can do anything you choose to do. With God's help, you can make it great!

I don't know your name but I am praying for you.

The officer, when he came back to pick up my written statement last night would not take the letter and DVDs to give to the young man in jail, but he told me how I could accomplish it.

I had some legwork today, signing a request for the police case report at the police station so I could get the young man's address, explaining to them what I wanted to do. The secretary nearly wept, and within 2 hours she had everything typed up and ready for me to pick up. I had his name and address, packaged up the DVDs, and just got home from the post office after mailing them with my letter (no return address!).

The seeds are planted. I'm so thankful I had your material here to share, and now am praying that this young man will be convicted of truth, won to trust in his healing and loving Creator, that his life will be saved for God's kingdom.

Please pray for this young man, Odin is his name.

And could you please send me 5 more sets of Healing The Mind DVDs?

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, "To some degree..." Any thoughts or questions on the relationship between genetics and environment?

Genetics provide the potential and set limits, environment determines the shape, development, and ultimate expression of the biological potential.

Genetics provides the library of information, the instruction manual to make all aspects of our bodies, but environment effects how that library of information is expressed, which books are opened and which are closed.

Read second paragraph, "Unfortunately," God has provided us the Holy Spirit – What does the Holy Spirit do for us and when?

- Works in our hearts before we even know about God or choose God instilling a desire for good, causing enmity between us and Satan
- Enlightens with truth, convicts of right and wrong
- Leaves us free to choose for ourselves
- Provides insight, wisdom, enlightenment
- Provides power to do the right when we choose the right
- Provides new motives and desires
- Transforms the heart/mind as we choose to participate with God in His methods and plans

SUNDAY

"We Are All Equal" Thoughts about the title? How is this title true? How has this title been misunderstood in our society today to cause significant problems?

It is true that we are all of equal moral worth! We are equally loved by God, equally valuable in God's sight and all equally in need of the same solution from God because we all suffer from the same condition.

But, is it true we are all equal in talent, ability, capacity?

How has the idea of moral equality bled over into equality of ability or talent or capacity within our society and what problems does this cause?

First, the idea gets in the minds of people that if someone can do something then so can I – rather than each person having an opportunity for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, there is the idea that everyone should experience the same results or successes. This leads to competition, jealousy, and insecurity self doubt if one doesn't do as well as another.

Second, in our educational system, because we all have equal worth as humans, and deserve equal opportunity, some have made the mistake of thinking all are of equal ability and therefore proscribing a rigid educational pathway, pigeon-holing, everyone down the same track regardless of ability, capacity or talent.

This has resulted in serious damage to individuals and society.

Are all people equally gifted with musical ability? Or athletic ability? What would happen if our society required every person to be competent enough to have a career as a musician? Consider the results of years of musical education on those without musical ability, or athletic training for the non athletes?

In our current educational system, everyone is force-fed the same education regardless of talent, capacity or ability – because everyone is “equal.”

Individuals who are not academically gifted, but perhaps mechanical geniuses, are forced down the same academic pathways, in which they struggle, their egos are damaged, and results in loss of esteem, confidence and in adolescence, where there is a need to find someplace where they are affirmed many drop out, join gangs, and/or rebel against the establishment.

How much better, to identify the talents and skills of individuals and foster their development, tracking people into vocations, putting young people into apprenticeships rather than academics if they are better suited for it? What would happen in our society if young people were given basic reading, writing and math skills, but then educated down pathways that allowed their talents and abilities to be refined and developed?

Read first paragraph, “Unlike the theory...” What does it mean and what does it not mean that “all humans were created by God”?

The lesson refers us to Acts 17:26:

From one man he made all the nations, that they should inhabit the whole earth; and he marked out their appointed times in history and the boundaries of their lands.

Does this give any insight? What was the method, as the Bible states, that God used to make all nations?

God made one man – and gave that one man, along with his wife, the ability to procreate beings in their image. And it was through this design, this ability, that all other people came.

What are the implications of this truth? Does this mean God is directly involved with the creation of every individual human being?

When a man rapes a woman and she gets pregnant, is God creating? Or is that man abusing an ability God designed into the human species?

Any implications on this? If God creates us as we are – then is it God's will for some people to be born with congenital defects? And if doctors fix those defects are they going against the divine will? Of course not!

What do you say to the person who asks: "Why did God create my child with schizophrenia? Why did God want us to have a Down's Syndrome baby? Why did God create me with bipolar disorder?"

Does God create defects, disease, imperfection? Does God create beings sinful? And since we are all born in sin, we can be certain that God is not directly creating any of us, but we are all created by God in Adam, as the Scripture says!

Who are the three humans God had a direct hand in creating? Adam, Eve and the incarnation of Christ – and they all started out sinless, Jesus stayed that way, Adam and Eve did not.

Read third paragraph, "Sin is another..." Is it only the "promise" of eternal life that we can have? In other words, when a person exercises faith in Jesus, accepts Him as their Savior – are they only getting future eternal life insurance? The promise of eternal life – or are they getting a very real new life here and now?

- Do they get a new heart and right spirit, here and now?
- Do they get relief of guilt and shame here and now?
- Do they get purity of character here and now?
- Do they get transformed here and now to be like Christ?
- Do they get new desires and lose desire for sin and selfishness, here and now?

I believe, presenting legal salvation, undermines the full life Christ wants us to experience. I believe focusing on future eternal life, undermines the freedom, joy, victory, peace and transformation that is to be ours here and now! Do we get eternal life – absolutely – but that life starts NOW!

"This is life eternal...." John 17:3

Jesus said, "whoever lives by believing in me will never die." John 11:26

Is eternal life something that we have promised to us if we have faith in Jesus, or something we actually have, possess, here and now?

Read last paragraph, "If man cannot..." How do you balance that with these statements:

- While God was working in Daniel and his companions "to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Phil. 2:13), they were working out their own salvation. Herein is revealed the outworking of the divine principle of cooperation, without which no true success can be attained. Human effort avails nothing without divine power; and without human endeavor, divine effort is with many of no avail. To make God's grace our own, we must act our part. His grace is given to work in us to will and to do, but never as a substitute for our effort. {LHU 193.4}
- There are two grand forces at work in the salvation of the human soul. It requires the cooperation of man with the divine agencies-- divine influences, and a strong, living, working faith. It is in this way only that the human agent can become a laborer together with God. The Lord does not sanction in any one of us a blind, stupid credulity. He does not dishonor the human understanding, but, far from this, He calls for the human will to be brought into connection with the divine will. He calls for the ingenuity of the human mind, the tact, the skill, to be strenuously exercised in searching out the truth as it is in Jesus. . . . Ye are labourers together with God. {OHC 310.5}

How is salvation wholly of Christ and no work of ours, yet it requires our work of cooperation?

Think design law and it all becomes clear. We are born in a terminal condition, out of harmony from God's design. Christ, and Christ alone, took this condition upon Himself, and by the exercise of His will, cured the condition procuring remedy for humanity. He lived a life in perfect harmony with God and thus developed a perfect human character. This is our Remedy. We cannot do this; we can only choose to partake of what He has developed in our behalf. But the partaking is not the developing.

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Rom. 3:26. {DA 762.2}

Note how the justification happens, according to this passage? It is by becoming partaker of the divine nature, by partaking of Jesus in trust, and receiving through the Holy Spirit a new heart and right spirit, thus we are set right in heart and mind, justified.

This stands in stark contrast to the legal fiction often taught that justification is when God declares us righteous, even though we are not.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Their works...” What does it mean their works follow them? What kind of work? What is our work?

After surrendering in trust to Jesus, after experiencing His indwelling presence, our work is to stay connected with Christ and then be a conduit to share His love and truth to others.

Jesus said, as the Father sent Him so He sends us, to do what? To share the truth that sets minds free and restores people to a trust relationship with God.

And if this is our work, what follows behind such work? People, lives of people being touched, impacted, changed, transformed, renewed as they come to partake of Jesus! We have no power to heal a life, we only have the ability to share the Remedy – Jesus who heals and transforms!

TUESDAY

Read Proverbs 20:17 “Food gained by fraud tastes sweet, but one ends up with a mouth full of gravel.”

What does it mean? Does it apply to food only? Why does it turn to gravel? What would gravel do in the mouth? Damage and destroy; what does fraud, deceit, thievery do to the mind and character?

“Do not say, “I’ll pay you back for this wrong!” Wait for the Lord, and he will avenge you.” Proverbs 20:22

What does this mean? If one is an immature Christian – level 1-4, looking at life through the lens of imposed law, how does one understand this text?

As you know I am going to Australia in a few months, a lot of preparation has been going on there. But, also some opposition. One individual has posted a lengthy attack against what we teach online. In that attack the following is said by the person who opposes what we teach:

“Now to me it seems perfectly rational that a loving God would nevertheless be willing to be fair even if being so was painful to himself. To inflict pain on the man that ordered torture for a humble servant of Jesus seems only just. In fact, it is when the persecutors are already dead that the blood of the martyrs calls out for God to avenge “our blood” in Revelation 6. So painful punishment seems rational to me and irrational to Jennings.

And in another place says this critic says regarding the 10 last plagues:

These plagues are punitive rather than corrective. (That is, they occur after the close of human probation.) And the suffering is fair, it is just. God is “holy” who judges the wicked. That is obvious, “manifest”, according to the righteous ones in Rev 15.

This is what happens when one sees God’s law as imposed, rather than design protocols. It seems only right to inflict torture and punishment for breaking the rules. The problem of course, is that those who hold this position, don’t understand reality; they don’t understand the nature of how life is built and what sin does. Sin severs from God’s design and damages and destroys those who participate in it. Those who hold the view God must inflict torture, are operating upon Satan’s view of God’s law.

Listen to an historic SDA view of the 10 last plagues:

I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way; They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of. (Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3)

Or here is another historic quote:

God keeps a reckoning with the nations. Not a sparrow falls to the ground without His notice. Those who work evil toward their fellow men, saying, How doth God know? will one day be called upon to meet long-deferred vengeance. In this age a more than common contempt is shown to God. Men have reached a point in insolence and disobedience which shows that their cup of iniquity is almost full. Many have well-nigh passed the boundary of mercy. Soon God will show that He is indeed the living God. He will say to the angels, "No longer combat Satan in his efforts to destroy". Let him work out his malignity upon the children of disobedience; for the cup of their iniquity is full. They have advanced from one degree of wickedness to another, adding daily to their lawlessness. I will no longer interfere to prevent the destroyer from doing his work." {RH, September 17, 1901 par. 8}

Or from the Bible:

After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds of the earth to prevent any wind from blowing on the land or on the sea or on any tree. ² Then I saw another angel coming up from the east, having the seal of the living God. He called out in a loud voice to the four angels who had been given power to harm the land and the sea: ³“Do not harm the land or the sea or the trees until we put a seal on the foreheads of the servants of our God.” Revelation 7:1-3

What are these angels of God doing? Holding back, but what power are they described as having? Power to harm – how? By letting go, letting go of what? So where does the actual destruction originate?

Satan is the destroyer, God is the restorer, Satan is the source of death, God is the source of life. To present it otherwise is to cast God in the robes of Satan!

Another historic view:

The Saviour in His miracles revealed the power that is continually at work in man's behalf, to sustain and to heal him. Through the agencies of nature, God is working, day by day, hour by hour, moment by moment, to keep us alive, to build up and restore us. When any part of the body sustains injury, a healing process is at once begun; nature's agencies are set at work to restore soundness. But the power working through these agencies is the power of God. All life-giving power is from Him. When one recovers from disease, it is God who restores him. Sickness, suffering, and death are work of an antagonistic power. Satan is the destroyer; God is the restorer. Faith I Live By165

How must Satan rejoice to have so many Christians teach God is the destroyer and source of death?

What is God's Vengeance, according to the Bible?

Therefore the Lord, the Lord Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel, declares: “Ah! I will vent my wrath on my foes and avenge myself on my enemies. I will turn my hand against you; I will thoroughly purge away your dross and remove all your impurities. Isa 1:24,25

Read first paragraph, “A person's character...” Several questions that come to mind from this paragraph:

- Which is more important – character or religious affiliation?
- Can someone have Christlike character and not be a member of an organized church?
- Can someone have eternal life and not be a member an institutional church?
- What does helping the poor mean? It is giving handout or hand up? What is the difference?
- Do we help more by supplying answers, or giving opportunities to solve problems?
- Do we help more by lifting burdens, or by assisting people in lifting their own burdens?
- Can success be given to a person?
- In Christian worldview, what does a successful life look like?
- Does it look like developing a Christlike character?

- Can Christlike character be given to a person?
- How can we create opportunity for personal development, hope, and atmosphere's for success?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "The Hebrew..." Is it true that parents and educators are responsible for their children's future?

What are parents and educators responsible for? For their conduct in parenting and educating! Are parents and educators responsible for outcomes?

The lesson refers us to Proverbs 22:6, "raise a child..." It can be interpreted either two ways, "raise a child in the way he should go" or "raise a child according to his way" and when he is old he will not depart from it.

Which is the more accurate in regard to actual outcome promises? The second! When God raised Lucifer and Adam, there were no mistakes – He did everything perfectly – then if the first were true, God would be responsible for failing to parent Lucifer and Adam correctly, but this is not the case.

It is a proverb, telling us that if we fail to do any job, let the child be in charge of it's rearing, it will grow up self centered, self indulged, narcissistic and will not depart from it.

However, the traditional interpretation can be used to teach a general principle, that good outcomes are enhanced by good investments, but such good investments do not guarantee good outcomes.

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions 1-3

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Where: Hamilton Community Church at 7997 Shallowford Road Chattanooga

Schedule:

2:00-3:00 Growing Up in Christ: The 7 Levels of Moral Decision Making

How do you determine what is right and wrong (moral decision-making)? Do you look to a higher authority – parent, teacher, political leader, pastor, priest, or deity to tell you? Do you look for consensus amongst peers, or perhaps a code of rules or system of established laws? Or do you have another standard? In this lecture we will examine seven levels of moral decision-making identifying a progression from more childlike perspectives to maturity.

3:00-3:15 Break

3:15-4:15 Becoming a Spokesperson for God: Telling the Story of the Cosmic Conflict from Beginning to End

Are you able to present a cohesive story of the conflict between Christ and Satan from the opening of the conflict in heaven? How Satan duped innocent angels, God's response, the spread of sin to planet earth, God's actions in human history and the back and forth battle between Christ and Satan throughout human history, culminating in our present circumstance? In this lecture Dr. Jennings presents a compelling case demonstrating that every action of God's has been redemptive and therapeutic designed to counter some attack of Satan's in order to save and heal humanity.

4:15-4:30 Break

4:30-5:30 Answering Tough Bible Questions

Have you ever struggled with tough Bible questions? Dr. Jennings will provide compelling and convincing answers that make sense and reveal a beautiful and gracious Creator God to the following questions:

- Why curse the ground?
- Why man to rule over woman?
- Why God killed people in the Old Testament

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 9

Words of Truth

SABBATH

Read first two paragraphs, “Some of this week’s...” Were the truths not divine revelations until Solomon wrote them? If the same truth were written by an Egyptian philosopher would it be less divinely inspired?

The wise men from the East were philosophers. They belonged to a large and influential class that included men of noble birth, and comprised much of the wealth and learning of their nation. Among these were many who imposed on the credulity of the people. Others were upright men who studied the indications of Providence in nature, and who were honored for their integrity and wisdom. Of this character were the wise men who came to Jesus.

The light of God is ever shining amid the darkness of heathenism. As these magi studied the starry heavens, and sought to fathom the mystery hidden in their bright paths, they beheld the glory of the Creator. Seeking clearer knowledge, they turned to the Hebrew Scriptures. In their own land were treasured prophetic writings that predicted the coming of a divine teacher. Balaam belonged to the magicians, though at one time a prophet of God; by the Holy Spirit he had foretold the prosperity of Israel and the appearing of the Messiah; and his prophecies had been handed down by tradition from century to century. But in the Old Testament the Saviour's advent was more clearly revealed. The magi learned with joy that His coming was near, and that the whole world was to be filled with a knowledge of the glory of the Lord. {DA 59.3}

Is truth less inspired if it comes from a non-Christian source?

One of the criticisms of some of the immature in Christ, is to criticize the source, rather than look at the message itself.

Some time ago, when I first became familiar with Kohlberg and his six levels of moral development and presented them, one of the legally minded critics of ours argued that I was using human philosophers rather than inspired sources.

Do, you see the foolishness of such arguments? If it is truth, then it is inspired for all truth comes from God. But people argue this as a way of devaluing and ignoring the truth and rejecting something that doesn't fit with their view of things.

I have seen this same method done with Ellen White, someone is concerned she plagiarized something – so they don't want to read her writings. Misses the entire point – I give them this analogy:

Imagine your wife had cancer, an oncologist published a new treatment in the Archives of Internal Medicine, which works, and puts the cancer into remission for all who take it. But, you discover he plagiarized, i.e. copied his research from someone else, would you then not provide the treatment for your wife?

The question isn't whether something was plagiarized but whether it is true!

Likewise, if you are talking to non-SDAs regarding EGWs writings, and they ask if they are inspired, what do you say? This is my response:

Isn't it true that spiritual things are spiritually discerned? And that the carnal mind cannot understand spiritual truth without the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit? Then to the degree any human writes spiritual truth, whether Billy Graham, Max Lucado, Martin Luther or Ellen White, they are only able to do so because that truth was revealed to them by the Holy Spirit. Don't get distracted arguing whether she was inspired or not, instead focus on what she wrote and decide if it contains truth or not.

Have you developed the ability to recognize truth without someone else telling you that it is true?

Can you recognize Bible truths without an Ellen White statement that supports it?

- All truth, whether in nature or in revelation, is consistent with itself in all its manifestations. {CE 193.3}
- In the pursuit of knowledge, he is searching for truth; and all truth comes from God, the source of truth. {CE 246.1}

When we think of the levels of moral decision-making, what level does one have to achieve to discern what is true?

Level five is the minimal level – level four and below are what Paul describes as immature, those who are not acquainted with righteousness and haven't developed the ability to discern the right from the wrong.

Level five loves others more than self and determines what is true and right by whether it helps others, is healing, is in their eternal best interest.

Level four, is much more preoccupied with factual correctness, defined doctrines, creeds, fundamental beliefs, correct rituals, precise definitions, agreement in cognitive understanding and behavioral conformity. Even if it hurts others to achieve it.

Just look at the Reformation and how people were willing to burn people at the stake because they believed differently about sacred relics, or the role of the church, or the validity of the Pope as vicar of Christ etc. The immature must enforce adherence to a way of thinking rather than promoting freedom of conscience.

Why did persecution of people who believe differently stop? Was it because the religious people matured and granted freedom, or the states stepped in and stopped the religious from having control of political power?

What is happening with some segments of Islam today? Where Islam gains control of governments what transpires? Why? Would Christians do better?

What about today, do some struggle with the ability to discern truth for themselves today? What kind of law would be recognizable as truth to all people, whether believers and non-believers?

Design law – examples?

SUNDAY

What do you think of the title, the knowledge of truth? Is there a difference between knowing something or someone and knowing about something or someone? What is the difference?

So what is the knowledge of truth? It is not mere awareness, but experience with the truth.

What do you think about this description of knowledge and education?

"The highest education includes the knowledge of the word of God, and is comprehended in the words of Christ, "That they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

The highest class of education is that which will give such knowledge and discipline as will lead to the best development of character, and will fit the soul for that life which measures with the life of God... The highest education will be that which will teach our children and youth, our teachers and educators, the science of Christianity, that will give them an experimental knowledge of God's ways, impart to them the lessons which Christ gave to his disciples of the paternal character of God. {RH, April 28, 1896}

What does this mean? It means God is Creator and His laws are the design parameters of life, which are scientific, have cause and effect, and can be tested. And we are to move past superstitious beliefs, to scientific ones in regard to our understanding of God, His character of love, the nature of sin, and how sin deviates from design and damages the deviant and how God's method heal.

What do you think of this quote – quite profound?

Experience is said to be the best teacher. Genuine experience is indeed superior to mere theoretical knowledge, but many have an erroneous idea as to what constitutes experience. Real experience is gained by a variety of careful experiments, made with the mind free from prejudice, uncontrolled by previously established opinions and habits. The results are marked with careful solicitude, and an anxious desire to learn, to improve, and to reform on every point that is not in harmony with physical and moral laws.

That which many term experience is not experience at all; it has resulted from mere habit, or from a course of indulgence, thoughtlessly and often ignorantly followed. There has not been a fair trial by actual experiment and thorough investigation, with a knowledge of the principles involved in the action. Experience which is opposed to natural law, -- which is in conflict with the unchangeable principles of nature, -- is not to be relied upon. Superstition arising from a diseased imagination is often arrayed in opposition to reason and to scientific principles. To many a person, the idea that others may gainsay what he has learned by experience, seems folly, and even cruelty itself. But there are more errors received and held through false ideas of experience than from any other cause. There are many invalids today who will ever remain such because they cannot be convinced that their experience is not to be relied upon. {BEcho, December 19, 1904}

Is God's law natural – the unchangeable principles of nature? What is superstition?

- Superstition is believing that if you break a mirror you have 7 years bad luck, or walk under a ladder you have bad luck, or see a black cat you have bad luck...
- Superstition is believing if you eat food offered to an idol you are under the power of the idol
- Superstition is believing if you stop and get gas in your car on Sabbath you are under Satan's power
- Superstition is believing if you go to a movie theater God's angels wait at the door
- Superstition is living in violation of God's law, i.e. design for life, and then praying for deliverance from the consequences. Smoking a pack a day and praying for healthy lungs, cheating on your spouse and praying for a happy marriage.
- Superstition is believing if you name something you have power over it
- Superstition is believing that only the King James Bible contains truth
- Superstition is believing rituals have power and must be done in the right way, or the right geographic location
- Superstition is believing one is in legal trouble with God and God requires a legal payment not to kill you
- Superstition is believing anything that requires you not to think, to shut down reasoning and to believe things that are not consistent with the evidences God has provided

What is true knowledge? It is not theoretical, cognitive, but experiential. Sadly, many Christians rest satisfied on theoretical knowledge of a superstitious nature and thus have no power and live in fear and insecurity.

With this in mind read fifth paragraph, "2. conviction..." What do you think of this definition of faith?

It is a false definition that misleads. It leads to superstition and belief in incredulous things.

Faith by definition is NOT the belief in things we don't understand, but trust in someone we know without doubt is trustworthy. Our faith is in God, not in the knowledge of the universe. And while there may be facts we don't understand, our faith is not in the facts, or the outcomes of things, but in the One who has given His life for us.

Therefore, our faith is never blind, never ignorant, never without evidence, never in something we don't understand, because God has revealed Himself to us and provided the supreme evidence of His trustworthiness.

This idea of faith in something without evidence, is one of Satan's deceptions to get people not to think and thus make them vulnerable to believe anything, and if a false believe they currently cherish is questioned, they are conditioned to fear that questioning is a lack of faith, so they continue to hold to false ideas.

But God says, "Come let us reason together..."

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Though it's always..." What do you hear as the reason stealing is wrong? Because God sees them and God has special concern for the helpless, i.e. because some external authority is overseeing the enforcement of law and will one day punish?

Read next sentence, "Indeed, Proverbs 22:23 implies that even if the thief gets away with no human punishment, God will repay."

At what level of maturity is this operating? Level four and below.

It is true that stealing is wrong – but why? What does it do to the thief? It sears the conscience, damages the reason, warps the character, inflames selfishness and ultimately destroys.

So how does God repay? What method does He use?

What law lens do you see this through?

Who created reality? Whose law does the fabric of the cosmos operate upon? What happens when one deviates from the design for life?

So, how does God repay? By removing His restraining hand and allowing people to reap what they have chosen.

Read third paragraph, "So, this warning..." What is suggested as the reason to be discouraged from stealing? There is an accounting and one day you will get punished for doing wrong.

What is the problem with this theology and reasoning? First, to what motive does it appeal? Selfishness, protecting self, avoiding punishment – therefore, is it appealing to a converted or unconverted heart?

This is language spoken to children, immature, infants, who according to Heb 5 are not righteous – this is what Paul says in 1 Timothy that the law was not given for the righteous but for the wicked... People whose hearts are selfish, whose minds are immature, do require being approached in this way, however, this is merely to bring them to a point of realizing what is wrong and showing them their helpless state.

So, first problem is it appeals to selfish motives what is another problem?

To obey for this reason actually creates rebels against God. People either become hard-hearted Pharisees who become petty spies and judges, seeking to behaviorally monitor and police others in their religious organization, or they reject God and leave the church.

The man who attempts to keep the commandments of God from a sense of obligation merely--because he is required to do so--will never enter into the joy of obedience. He does not obey. When the requirements of God are accounted a burden because they cut across human inclination, we may know that the life is not a Christian life. True obedience is the outworking of a principle within. It springs from the love of righteousness, the love of the law of God. The essence of all righteousness is loyalty to our Redeemer. This will lead us to do right because it is right--because right doing is pleasing to God. {COL 97.3}

A sullen submission to the will of the Father will develop the character of a rebel. By such a one service is looked upon as drudgery. It is not rendered cheerfully, and in the love of God. It is a mere mechanical performance. If he dared, such a one would disobey. His rebellion is smothered, ready to break out at any time in bitter murmurings and complaints. Such service brings no peace or quietude to the soul. {ST, July 22, 1897}

First it appeals to selfishness, second it incites rebellion and what is another problem with this type of theology?

It misrepresents God and His law as dictator like – God's law becomes like created beings make, and God is represented as an enforcer, the source of pain, suffering and death. Thus, ultimately this theological approach undermines trust in God, obstructs the work of the Holy Spirit and keeps people trapped in religious cycles of abuse and violence – thus we have what Paul warned the end of time would be like:

But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God— having a form of godliness but denying its power. 2Tim 3:1-5

Such presentations misrepresent God as being no better than fallen beings, creating rules and enforcing those rules. His law is not the law of life, but a list of rules that require coercive enforcement. This is the essence of the beast.

In Bible imagery beasts represent earthly governments – and earthly governments reign by imposed laws and coercive enforcement. The mark of their power and authority is the ability to coerce and control through external threat and punishment. It is beastly to behave this way.

Thus those who receive the mark of the beast in the forehead are those who actually believe God is like this, a cosmic enforcer, authoritarian god who imposes external punishments. And those who receive the mark in their hand are those who practice the methods of coercing other's consciences. It is beastly to do so.

The specific doctrine is irrelevant – whether it is day of worship, form of baptism, method of communion, matters not, it is the method of coercing others to conform, the violation of God's law of love and liberty that makes it beastly.

Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power. Desire of Ages 759

God could have destroyed Satan and all his sympathizers as easily as one can pick up a pebble and cast it to the earth. But by so doing he would have given a precedent for the exercise of force. All the compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. He would not work on this line... This principle is wholly of Satan's creation. Review & Herald, September 7, 1897

What is compelling power? So what of the teaching that God will use power to torture and kill people who disobey – is that freedom or compelling power? It is the way human governments operate, and thus is beastly and we must stop presenting God as a beast!

TUESDAY

Title “Being Jealous of the Wicked” and the lesson asks, “Why would someone envy the wicked?” The lesson suggests it is because of the immediate gain or reward, thoughts?

I would like to suggest it is because of the perceived reward, which is based on failure to understand God's law and the nature of sin.

When one operates level four and below, and conceives of God's law as imposed, like human law without inherent consequence, then one falsely believes if one can break the law without getting caught one gets an advantage.

A patient of mine came in one time very upset because of a situation at work. My patient was the secretary for a VP at her work, and across the hall was another secretary for another VP. Their work responsibilities did not overlap, so if one of the secretaries didn't do something it did not put more work on the other.

However, my patient was distraught because the other secretary would spend much of her day reading novels, doing her nails, talking to friends on the phone, playing games on the computer, while my patient worked all day at her job. The longer this went on the more my patient got angry, irritated and resentful to the point it was interfering with her sleep, she ruminated about it constantly. It just wasn't fair in her mind.

What was the problem for my patient? It was not understanding reality and how it works, but conceiving of reality through human law. She thought as long as the lady wasn't getting caught she was getting away with it and thus getting a better deal than herself, or stated another way, it was making my patient feel like she was being mistreated or taken advantage of.

So, I asked my patient, "If you agreed to wash my car for $100 and I gave you the $100 but you never washed my car, how would you feel?" She said, "I would feel guilty and ashamed." "Would you have as much peace, personal integrity, confidence, and satisfaction with yourself?" She said no.

Then I asked her, "So what if you agree to work for someone take their pay, but don't do the job?" She paused and thought and then realized, the other secretary wasn't getting a better deal, she was damaging her character, searing her conscience, warping her mind!

This is how reality works – we cannot be well or get well outside of God's design for life. There is never a reason to be envious of the wicked if we understand reality.

But, again it comes back to how do you understand God's law and character?

In the third paragraph the lesson states, "the temptation of sin is that its reward is immediate..." Thoughts?

This is often true, but not always true. Sometimes people plot vengeance that takes years to realize. The 9/11/2001 attacks on this country, took years of plotting and planning to carry out and achieve. Many other examples could be given. But it is true, that much sin brings an immediate gratification.

WEDNESDAY

The title for the day is "What We Put in Our Mouths" and the first sentence says, "It is no accident that the first human temptation concerned food."

When I read this I laughed, because it is implying that the temptation regarding food was somehow calculated by the enemy, i.e. it wasn't an accident. Well it is true it wasn't an accident – but why?

If God had said, regarding a small beautiful pond, “All the bodies of water upon the earth you may swim in, except this pond. In the day you swim in this pond you will surely die.” what then would they have been tempted upon?

The reason the temptation focused on what they ate, is because God set up the issue that way, not because the devil saw some weakness in their appetite he sought to take advantage of. They had no weakness in desire, lust, passion, appetite. It wasn't about appetite, it was about trust in God!

The second sentence states, “It was being disobedient and eating of the wrong thing that brought sin and death into the world.” Thoughts?

This is only a partial truth – and misleads focusing again on imposed law constructs and behavioral approach to right and wrong.

Consider this view from one of the founders of the SDA church:

“Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors...” Review & Herald 1/9/1886

What was it that changed them – eating the fruit, or believing lies about God?

Remember that cascade of destructive events:

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness
- fear and selfishness result in acts of sin
- acts of sin result in damage to mind, body, character

The act of taking the fruit was the results of believing lies and broken trust with the change of heart motive of love to fear and selfishness. Thus, the sin was in the change of heart to distrust God and was manifested in acting for self by taking the fruit. There was nothing wrong with the fruit; there was something wrong with believing lies about God, distrusting Him and then acting selfishly.

People at level four development and below, want to focus on behavior, rather than love for God and His design for life.

Read second and third paragraph, “Who hasn't seen...” No doubt alcohol in society has caused untold pain, suffering and deaths.

- Average age of first drink is 12
- 20% of teens 12-20 are binge drinkers
- Adolescent drinkers scored worse than non-users on vocabulary, general information, memory, memory retrieval and at least three other tests

- Perform worse in school, are more likely to fall behind and have an increased risk of social problems, depression, suicidal thoughts and violence
- Alcohol affects the sleep cycle, resulting in impaired learning and memory as well as disrupted release of hormones necessary for growth and maturation
- Alcohol use increases risk of stroke among young drinkers
- <http://www.ama-assn.org/ama/no-index/physician-resources/9416.shtml>
- Adults (ages 18+): Approximately 17 million adults ages 18 and older (7.2 percent of this age group) had an alcohol use disorder (AUD) in 2012. This includes 11.2 million men (9.9 percent of men in this age group) and 5.7 million women (4.6 percent of women in this age group).³
 - About 1.4 million adults received treatment for an AUD at a specialized facility in 2012 (8.4 percent of adults in need). This included 416,000 women (7.3 percent of women in need) and 1.0 million men (8.9 percent of men in need).
- Youth (ages 12–17): In 2012, an estimated 855,000 adolescents ages 12–17 (3.4 percent of this age group) had an AUD. This number includes 444,000 females (3.6 percent) and 411,000 males (3.2 percent).
 - An estimated 76,000 adolescents received treatment for an AUD at a specialized facility in 2012 (8.9 percent of adolescents in need). This included 28,000 females (6.3 percent of adolescent females in need) and 48,000 males (11.7 percent of adolescent males in need).

Alcohol-Related

Deaths:

- Nearly 88,000 people (approximately 62,000 men and 26,000 women) die from alcohol related causes annually, making it the third leading preventable cause of death in the United States.
- In 2012, alcohol-impaired-driving fatalities accounted for 10,322 deaths (31 percent of overall driving fatalities).
<http://www.niaaa.nih.gov/alcohol-health/overview-alcohol-consumption/alcohol-facts-and-statistics>

Was it possible, in Bible times, without refrigeration, to consistently store juices without it either turning to wine or vinegar?

What do you make of 1Tim 3:8:

- In the same way, deacons are to be worthy of respect, sincere, not indulging in much wine, (NIV)
- Deacons likewise must be dignified, not double-tongued, not addicted to much wine, ESV
- Likewise must the deacons be grave, not doubletongued, not given to much wine, KJV
- Church stewards must also be honorable people, dedicated, responsible with mature character, not drunkards, The Remedy

Or 1Tim 5:23:

- Stop drinking only water, and use a little wine because of your stomach and your frequent illnesses. NIV
- (No longer drink only water, but use a little wine for the sake of your stomach and your frequent ailments.) ESV
- Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities. KJV
- As you travel, don't be so insistent on water only; impure water may be causing many of your digestive problems. Drink a little wine, as the wine will often kill the contaminants and reduce your risk of sickness. The Remedy

What is the Bible position on alcohol consumption and why?

There is no doubt that alcohol is dangerous and contributes to much pain and suffering – does that mean alcohol use is always sin?

What is the antidote for overdose with antifreeze? If your teenager tried to commit suicide by drinking antifreeze what would you do?

The antidotes for ethylene glycol poisoning are ethanol and fomepizole. This antidotal treatment forms the mainstay of management of ethylene glycol poisoning. The toxicity of ethylene glycol comes from its metabolism to glycolic acid and oxalic acid. The goal of pharmacotherapy is to prevent the formation of these metabolites. Ethanol acts by competing with ethylene glycol for alcohol dehydrogenase, the first enzyme in the degradation pathway. Because ethanol has a much higher affinity for alcohol dehydrogenase, about a 100-times greater affinity, it successfully blocks the breakdown of ethylene glycol into glycoaldehyde, which prevents the further degradation. Without oxalic acid formation, the nephrotoxic effects can be avoided, but the ethylene glycol is still present in the body. It is eventually excreted in the urine, but supportive therapy for the CNS depression and metabolic acidosis will be required until the ethylene glycol concentrations fall below toxic limits. Pharmaceutical grade ethanol is usually given intravenously as a 5 or 10% solution in 5% dextrose but it is also sometimes given orally in the form of a strong spirit such as whisky, vodka, or gin. Brent, J. (2001). "Current management of ethylene glycol poisoning".

How many have ever had cough syrup prescribed by a doctor? Most have alcohol in them. If anyone has taken liquid Nyquil, you have had alcohol.

So, what is the Bible principle? It is in operating in harmony with God's design to promote what is healthiest for the body, including the brain. If one has an illness of some kind, which is damaging the body, and alcohol can cure that illness, then as long as the cure isn't worse than the illness it is in harmony with God's plan to use the cure, as in the case of antifreeze poisoning.

Why does the liver have enzymes to break down alcohol? Because our own GI systems produce alcohol as products of digestion, and the liver is designed to break it down before it reaches the brain. Intoxication occurs when enough alcohol makes it through the liver to the brain to alter brain function.

The Bible's injunction is against drunkenness, and any activity which undermines health and brain function.

Level 1-4 thinking wants to make rules, no alcohol ever, or all alcohol is sin. Level 5-7 understand God's design for life and realize we don't purposely do things that deviate from the design and injure, but realize also that sometimes in this world of sin a substance like alcohol can actual heal a person and save their lives and thus it is within God's design and plan to use in such circumstance.

THURSDAY

Read dark section at the top, "When I say..."

Read next two paragraphs, "Years ago..." How do you understand it? Consider which law lens one views this through.

Level 1-4 thinking, viewing it through the lens of imposed laws, thinks God has some judicial proceeding in which He determines your guilt or innocence for failing to act and then puts on you a proper punishment for failing to act.

Level 5-7 understand reality doesn't actually work this way – so how is it that God requires their blood at our hands?

It is via our restoration to love – consider the story of the woman being attacked, you looked out your window and did nothing and she was killed, and later you discovered it was your wife, mother, daughter, girlfriend – you could have acted to save them, but you didn't – now what do you experience?

This is what the saved will experience when they are restored to love and didn't share the life saving message of Jesus with other – they will grieve, hurt, and anguish at themselves because they lost someone they loved, and realize it might not have been that way had they acted in love for the other person.

Read third paragraph, "The law of Moses..." How do you understand this? Which law lens?

Level 1-4, seeing life through an earthly legal mindset again falsely concludes God, in some tribunal, holds one legally accountable and puts a punishment upon them.

But levels 5-7 realize the nature of sin, it is deviation from how life is built and results in pain and suffering and death, and is contagious, spreads to others if it is not checked, thus they report it as a way, NOT to seek retribution, but to stop the spread of a deadly disease, to quarantine people who need to be stopped from spreading sin sickness.

Imagine how you would feel if you knew someone was actively infected with Ebola and you said nothing, knowing they were going to the subway, to get on a plane to fly to NY? And then a plague spreads – would you bear any responsibility? Why?

This is why we warn those involved in sinful activity and those who are able to intervene with those involved.

This is also why the intervention is like a kiss on the lips, an act of love to save.

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, “Souls around us...” What is more than a Sabbath religion? Why do we need more than that?

What is a Sabbath religion? Is it level 1-4, keeping the law, but not loving people, not understanding God’s design?

Read and discuss questions 2 and 3

2:00-3:00 Growing Up in Christ: The 7 Levels of Moral Decision Making

How do you determine what is right and wrong (moral decision-making)? Do you look to a higher authority – parent, teacher, political leader, pastor, priest, or deity to tell you? Do you look for consensus amongst peers, or perhaps a code of rules or system of established laws? Or do you have another standard? In this lecture we will examine seven levels of moral decision-making identifying a progression from more childlike perspectives to maturity.

3:00-3:15 Break

3:15-4:15 Becoming a Spokesperson for God: Telling the Story of the Cosmic Conflict from Beginning to End

Are you able to present a cohesive story of the conflict between Christ and Satan from the opening of the conflict in heaven? How Satan duped innocent angels, God's response, the spread of sin to planet earth, God's actions in human history and the back and forth battle between Christ and Satan throughout human history, culminating in our present circumstance? In this lecture Dr. Jennings presents a compelling case demonstrating that every action of God's has been redemptive and therapeutic designed to counter some attack of Satan's in order to save and heal humanity.

1st Quarter 2015 – Proverbs

Lesson 10 – Behind The Mask

SABBATH

“Do not exalt yourself in the presence of the king, and do not stand in the place of the great”
(Proverbs 25:6, NKJV).

The 1st lesson speaks about deception [Satan’s deception of Eve, and appearing as an “angel of light”], and calls “self-pretention” a more dangerous deception. I think they have the same source – SELF. Think about why Satan would present himself as he was originally created, instead of what he’s become.

Don’t we all have “masks” to varying degrees? Has anyone heard of “progressive disclosure”? It’s a technique related to learning very detailed processes [usually with computer / web systems], however, it is also used in sales, and even evangelism. Do we, tell our Catholic brethren, interested in SDA doctrines, that we believe the Papacy represents the antichrist in our first conversation or do we typically disclose this little tidbit later? Do we reveal all of our closet’s skeletons at the beginning of a dating relationship or sometime later? Even Jesus wanted to tell His disciples “more”, but they were not ready [see John 16:12], so His disclosure had to be progressive. Bear in mind, Love sometimes avoids telling the truth [if it will injure], and Selfishness sometimes tells the truth [see I Sam 28 – Saul consulting the witch of Endor]. Satan impersonated Samuel, and told the truth about what would happen in the future. His intent, however, was to discourage Saul [see PP Chapters. 66, 67].

Most of us have heard about someone [usually a politician] who has falsified a job application, falsely claimed military service [aka “stolen valor”], or exaggerated their abilities/endeavors [ref. Brian Williams, NBC news]. When their deceptions are discovered, what happens? What happens is the deception is never discovered? Which is more dangerous? Does it matter which “Law” lens this is being viewed through?

SUNDAY

The Mystery of God.

From the lesson:

“Physicist David Deutsch wrote that “every- day events are stupendously complex when expressed in terms of fundamental physics. If you fill a kettle with water and switch it on, all the supercomputers on Earth working for the age of the universe could not solve the equations that predict what all those water molecules will do—even if we could somehow determine their initial state and that of all the outside influences on them, which is itself an intractable task.” — David Deutsch, The Beginning of Infinity: Explanations That Transform the World (New York: Penguin, 2011), Kindle edition, locations 1972–1975.

First, I think this is one of the more compelling arguments for Creation [intelligent design], as I’ve ever read. Is there more we can glean from this passage?

“It is the glory of God to conceal a matter, But the glory of kings is to search out a matter. As the heavens for height and the earth for depth, So the heart of kings is unsearchable.” Prov. 25: 2, 3

Why is it God’s glory to “conceal a matter”? Why is it the glory of kings to search out a matter? Is this God’s only glory? Does it make a difference which “matters” are concealed/revealed? Does it make a difference how they are concealed/revealed? How [if, at all] is this related to “Natural Law”?

Why is there a tendency, in Christianity, to just give up on searching out the mysteries of God? While there is an obvious, insurmountable gap between finite created beings, and their infinite Creator, does this mean we should just not bother? Should we just “have more faith” [see the colored section at the bottom of today’s lesson]? Might there be some benefit from wrestling with some of these “mysteries”? [see Isa. 1:18] Might we develop a better appreciation for an infinite God, while bettering ourselves as well? Might we have a better insight in to the 1st Commandment [see Ex: 20: 2,3]?

MONDAY

The Fool as Wise.

Is truth actually “relative”? The lesson gives the example of people, in different countries driving on the Left or Right side of the road. Which type of “Law” determines which side of the road will be driven on? Do the laws of physics [momentum, inertia, friction, acceleration] care which side of the road we drive on?

I have the expensive hobby of high performance driving, where I take my car to a local race track and “drive it like I stole it.” The general manager of the driving club likes to tell us in the 2nd day’s drivers meeting, that the laws of physics have not changed overnight, and we still need to drive within our abilities. Can the laws of physics be changed to meet us “in our condition” if we decide to drive on the wrong side of the road?

The lesson goes on to speak of our “moral law”. Any connection between driving on the wrong side of the road, or without brakes, and our moral code? What are some of the parallels or differences?

Why is “God’s foolishness” wiser than “man’s wisdom”? [I Cor 1: 25] How can “doing what’s right in our own eyes” lead to trouble? [see Prov 14:12 & 16:25]

How do we see “the folly of fools” play out today? Anyone here on Facebook or Twitter? Anyone watch the news?

TUESDAY

The Sluggard.

“The sluggard buries his hand in the dish; he is too lazy to bring it back to his mouth” (Prov. 26:15, NIV).

Ever meet anyone like this? Solomon has a lot to say about the lazy “sluggard” [see Prov 6: 6, 9; 10:26; 12:24, 27; 13:4; 15:19; 19:24; 20:4; 21:25; 24:30; 26:13-16]. We see laziness surrounding us today in our nation of plenty. What is the real problems with the “sluggard”? In addition to the numerous personal and social problems, THE CONDITION IS NOT COMPATIBLE WITH LIFE. Does this change our conception of the 4th commandment now?

8 “Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. 9 Six days you shall labor and do all your work, 10 but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord your God. In it you shall do no work: you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your male servant, nor your female servant, nor your cattle, nor your stranger who is within your gates.

Verse 9 can be read as permission to work 6 days OR a command to work 6 days because that’s how life operates. Everything in Creation is in motion. From the subatomic quarks, leptons, & bosons to single cell organisms to human beings to colossal super galaxies 4 billion light years across, everything moves, because motion is life is motion.

Why was Sodom destroyed? Most of Christianity would say it was God’s anger at homosexuality. His Word says otherwise.

Look, this was the iniquity of your sister Sodom: She and her daughter had pride, fullness of food, and abundance of idleness; neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy [emphasis added.] Eze. 16:49

The true joy of life is found only by the working men and women. The angels are diligent workers; they are the ministers of God to the children of men. The Creator has prepared no place for the stagnating practice of indolence. PP 50.

Did you know that God “works”? [see John 5:17]

WEDNESDAY

The Friend as Enemy

The lessons asks, “When can a rebuke be a sign of love?” Simple answer – When it’s in their best interest. Love does what’s right because it’s right.

We all struggle with this either with friends or family. How many have held their tongue when a young person was dating/marrying someone “unfit”? When the inevitable train wreck happened, how many asked their friends/family “Why didn’t you say something, then?”

THURSDAY

The Enemy as Friend

We even have a label for this kind of friend “a frenemy” [An enemy disguised as a friend - Urban Dictionary].

Read Prov 26:17-23. Any of this sound familiar? Do we know any eloquent speakers whose words don’t match their works [think church and national leadership]? Satan, himself, is an eloquent orator, however, he’s also known as the “father of lies”. How will we be able to distinguish the difference? I love the quote from the bottom of Tuesday’s lesson:

“In the judgment men will not be condemned because they conscientiously believed a lie, but because they did not believe the truth, because they neglected the opportunity of learning what is truth.”—Ellen G. White, Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 55.

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 11

Living by Faith

SABBATH

Read memory text, “The fear of man brings a snare, but whoever trusts in the Lord shall be safe.”
Proverbs 29:25 NKJV

What does this mean? Safe from what? In what way? Is it talking about physical safety? Were the Apostles, other than John, failing to trust the Lord? Were they kept safe?

While there is no doubt God can, and sometimes does, intervene for our physical safety (Daniel in the Lion’s den, the three worthies in the fiery furnace) more often people die as martyrs. So, what do we make of this text?

What does fear do to a person? It causes them to be more selfish, increases the survival-of-the-fittest drive. It decreases the capacity for thinking and for altruistic other-centered actions. Thus, fear is a snare; it leads us to make foolish decisions.

Any examples?

- From my book the example of the chemistry teacher and her students who were failing her class...
- How many people lie because they are afraid of how someone will react if they speak the truth? What does lying do to the liar?
- In relationships, if someone is in a fear based relationship, afraid of rejection, afraid of not being loved, afraid of being alone, how do those relationships work? And what happens to the person who is always so fearful?

What does trust do to fear? It diminishes it. Thus, we are able to think and act more reasonably, in harmony with God’s design for life.

What about those who trust the Lord? Trust God for what?

A few months back I spoke to a very nice Jewish psychologist, who has written several books, has his own foundation, doing great work with boys. I asked him about how he saw God, and he told me that most of the Jews he knows don’t believe in God. He said to be Jewish today isn’t to have a belief in God but to belong to the tribe, to share their traditions, rituals, festivals, music, food etc. He said that after WWII and the holocaust most Jews gave up a belief in God.

Do you know anyone that had trusted God, but then life didn’t turn out how they expected and they either blamed God or rejected the idea of God?

What does this say about their trust in God?

It suggests to me people who have the idea of God, but don't actually know God. It suggests to me a pagan view of God, that God is a being who they "trust" has power, and they "trust" will do what we want Him to do when we do the right rituals, say the right prayer, claim the right promises, use the right words, pray in the right name, confess the right sins, have the right amount of faith. Do you see the problem?

This so called trust is not trusting a being you know and love so much you give your life to Him and know He has a plan. No, this type of trust is the trust we have in a tool, in an appliance, in a machine – we put our quarters in and push the right buttons in the right sequence and expect to get the candy we claim is ours by right of using the right blood quarters. When we don't get it, then we either doubt ourselves, thinking we are too sinful, doubt we have done the right ritual, or doubt the goodness or existence of God.

This is not trust in God. This is not faith in God. This is the false faith we get from penal legal religion.

Genuine trust in God is surrendering self into His hands and trusting the outcome to Him, even if it is painful now, trusting that God has a better plan in the end – Joseph, Job, Daniel, Stephen.

This type of trust only occurs when we actually know God, have a heart connection with Him and understand His character and methods of love.

Those who trust God like this choose to be honest, they choose to grant others freedom, they choose to give rather than take, even if they are physically abused here, like the Apostles, in the end they will be safe.

Read first paragraph, "So many voices..." thoughts?

This gives me opportunity to plug our seminar March 21, the first talk will be the 7 levels of moral decision making, how do we know what is right and wrong. We will explore this in detail, give many examples and help move from immature thinking to mature thinking.

What about the answer in the study guide, "The answer is found in God and His written revelation. We must come to rely on God and obey His Law."

Didn't the Jews who crucified Christ have this same standard for determining what is right and wrong? And didn't they repeatedly cite the written word and the law in accusing Jesus? Why did they want Him off the cross before sunset? Because they were relying on God and obeying His law.

So, while it is true we must turn to God and His law to know what is right or wrong, the lesson left out one critical key that makes all the difference – what lens are you using when you turn to God and His law?

Are you going to God and His law with the lens over your mind of imperialism, believing God's laws are of the same type as created beings make, rules without inherent consequence, a god who is like a human dictator, and who uses threats to enforce his rule?

Or do you have the lens of God who is love, the Creator, Designer whose law is the protocol upon which life operates?

The Jews 2000 years ago viewed things through imposed law, and Jesus constantly tried to elevate their thinking back to Design Law.

Look at what Jesus did to their legal, imposed law lens:

“You have heard that it was said, ‘Eye for eye, and tooth for tooth.’ But I tell you, do not resist an evil person. If anyone slaps you on the right cheek, turn to them the other cheek also. And if anyone wants to sue you and take your shirt, hand over your coat as well. If anyone forces you to go one mile, go with them two miles. Give to the one who asks you, and do not turn away from the one who wants to borrow from you. “You have heard that it was said, ‘Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.’ But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be children of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? And if you greet only your own people, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect. Mt 5:38-48

In order to be children of God, what did Jesus say we must do? We must love others, including our enemies. We must stop thinking through human law lenses, stop retribution as justice, stop teaching God is the source of inflicted punishment for sin. We must return to seeing God as Creator who is love and His law as the protocols of life!

What does it mean God causes the sun to rise on the evil and the good, sends rain to the righteous and unrighteous? That God's laws are design laws, these are the laws nature runs upon, and God's laws don't change based on the goodness or badness of the person. People either choose to live in harmony with God's design or reject God's design to their own destruction.

Read second paragraph, “Jesus told us...” Seek first the kingdom of God – which is what? Is it a place or a way of living? Is it not the kingdom of love, truth and freedom, which is reproduced within us?

What of this sentence, “We can learn to trust God only by living a life of faith.” What do you think this means?

I think it would have been more helpful to say it this way – as we exercise our trust/faith in God our trust/faith will grow stronger. Just as we exercise any ability, that ability grows stronger.

SUNDAY

What do you think of the title, Keep the Law?

Which lens do you hear it through? Might it have been more helpful to say, Live in Harmony with God's Design? Do you hear this differently than Keep the Law?

How do you hear the phrases differently? Which draws you in? Does "keep the law" sound like a command, an order? If so, it plants seeds of rebellion because it feels like freedoms are being eroded.

But, does "live in harmony with God's design" sound like a command, or wise counsel, which leaves you free? Which draws you in to want to do it?

Read second paragraph, "What made the people..." thoughts?

What do you think about "their concrete choices in life"? Does God want us to be concrete in our thinking and simply follow a list of rules for our behavior in what we eat, drink, dress, and worship practices?

What is the problem with concrete thinking, concrete decisions to follow codes, rituals, rules, lists?

Such an approach damages the mind and impairs development, thinking and growth in godliness.

People who take this approach will often become obstacles to God's work.

Examples:

- I'm going to keep the health message even if it kills me
- Refusing life-saving medicine because it isn't on the approved list of natural remedies
- Refusing to buy an engagement ring, so purchases an engagement watch instead
- Believing ritual has ability to save – thus argue over method of ritual baptism, communion, or any other ritual
- Believing there is power in the blood, rather than realizing the blood is symbolic and the power is in the one who shed His blood and the truth He revealed that sets us free
- Believing we are right with God when we attest to the right list of doctrines, thus become thought police and set up tests of orthodoxy, rather than tests of character – i.e. opportunities to love others

Listen to what God says to those concrete thinkers:

"The multitude of your sacrifices— what are they to me?" says the Lord. "I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals; I have no pleasure in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats. When you come to appear before me, who has asked this of you, this trampling of my courts? Stop bringing meaningless offerings! Your incense is detestable to me. New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations— I cannot bear your worthless assemblies. Your New Moon feasts and your appointed festivals I hate with all my being. They have become a burden to me; I am weary of bearing them. When you spread out your hands in prayer, I hide my eyes from you; even when you offer many prayers, I am not listening. Isaiah 1:11-15

What was the problem?

- Were they doing the wrong rituals?
- Were they worshipping on the wrong day?
- Were they wearing the wrong clothes?
- Were they eating the wrong foods?
- What was the problem?

They did it without thought. They didn't comprehend, understand, think, thus they were not growing in mind and character; they were actually being damaged by their concrete religion.

And what does God say to them in verses 18? Come let us reason...

It is in reasoning with God that we are cleansed from sin. Because it is in reasoning with God that we comprehend the truth about Him, His character of love, His design for life, and we have the lies displaced, trust and admiration grow, we choose to follow His methods and our brains are rewired, our characters renewed.

What does God want? Does He want concrete thinkers? Absolutely not! Satan wants concrete thinkers because he can keep them trapped in fear and mindless rounds of rituals.

I came across this historic view written in 1889:

When Jesus spoke to the people they were astonished at his doctrine; for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. The scribes had labored to establish their theories, and they had to labor to sustain them, and to keep their influence over the minds of the people by endless repetition of fables and childish traditions. The loftiest models of public instruction consisted largely in going through heartless rounds of unmeaning ceremonies and in the repetition of frivolous opinions. The teaching of Jesus inculcated the weightiest ideas and the most sublime truths in the most comprehensible and simple manner, and "the common people heard him gladly." This is the kind of instruction that should be given in our Sabbath-schools, Light, Heaven's light, must be reflected from Jesus, the wonderful Teacher, and the souls of the children and youth must be illumined with the divine glory of his character and love. Thus the children may be led in beautiful simplicity to "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." Sabbath School Worker April 1, 1889 par. 11

Wow – first do you agree with this description? What lessons do we learn?

- It is damaging to indoctrinate people into meaningless ritual, ceremonies, theories, creeds, fundamental beliefs
- Religious leaders tend to do this to maintain their powerbase and control over people who surrender their thinking to others
- Jesus didn't work in this way – He taught truths understandable to the people in simple terms, yet profound and life changing
- His methods was the integrative evidenced based approach in which He took Bible truth and demonstrated it via nature and life experiences
- Our Bible classes are to use the same methods, with the unwavering focus on God's character of love!
- When we do this, we participate in Jesus plan to remove the sin of the world, not, as is taught by tradition, that Jesus came to remove the wrath of God which stands as a barrier between us and God.

The critical thing is how one sees God and His law. Do you see God as dictator and his laws as rules? If so, then one becomes a concrete thinker and simply does what the rules say.

But, God has invited us to reason with Him. Jesus told His disciples they were His friends because He wanted them to understand and not be concrete slaves simply doing what they are told. (Isa 1:18, Jn 15:15)

We must grow up and understand God's law, His design for life, and how it impacts every aspect of life.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “No matter how crucial...” What law are they talking about? The written law, the 10 Commandments and the writings of Moses and even the prophets. The lesson is correct in the first sentence, that the law is not the source of life. That it was given to point out sin, or our sick condition.

Is the law they are speaking of in the form of the law that was in heaven and Eden that sinless beings broke?

Or was the written law, including the 10 Commandments added later because sinful humans needed it?

We know that the law is good if one uses it properly. We also know that the law is made not for the righteous but for lawbreakers and rebels, the ungodly and sinful, the unholy and irreligious, for those who kill their fathers or mothers, for murderers, for the sexually immoral, for those practicing homosexuality, for slave traders and liars and perjurers—and for whatever else is contrary to the sound doctrine that conforms to the gospel concerning the glory of the blessed God, which he entrusted to me. 1Tim 1:8-11

What law is the law that is not for the righteous?

- Is the law of love for the righteous? Absolutely!
- Is the law of truth, the law of liberty and the law of worship for the righteous? Yes!
- Is the law of gravity, the laws of health, the law of exertion for the righteous? Yes!
- God's laws are for the righteous!

Then what is Paul talking about when he says the law was made not for the righteous but for the wicked? He is talking about the 10 Commandments and other written laws, the codification of God's design, written especially for the need of beings out of harmony with that design to diagnose them so they will accept God's remedy.

Here is an historic SDA view:

If man had kept the law of God, as given to Adam after his fall, preserved by Noah, and observed by Abraham, there would have been no necessity for the ordinance of circumcision. And if the descendants of Abraham had kept the covenant, of which circumcision was a sign, they would never have been seduced into idolatry, nor would it have been necessary for them to suffer a life of bondage in Egypt; they would have kept God's law in mind, and there would have been no necessity for it to be proclaimed from Sinai or engraved upon the tables of stone. And had the people practiced the principles of the Ten Commandments, there would have been no need of the additional directions given to Moses. {PP 364.2}

I am asked concerning the law in Galatians. What law is the schoolmaster to bring us to Christ? I answer: Both the ceremonial and the moral code of ten commandments... "The law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Gal. 3:24). In this scripture, the Holy Spirit through the apostle is speaking especially of the moral law. {1SM 233, 234}

But I liked this quote the best, what do you understand it to say?

The law was not spoken . . . exclusively for the benefit of the Hebrews. God honored them by making them the guardians and keepers of His law, but it was to be held as a sacred trust for the whole world. The precepts of the Decalogue are adapted to all mankind, and they were given for the instruction and government of all. Ten precepts, brief, comprehensive, and authoritative, cover the duty of man to God and to his fellow man; and all based upon the great fundamental principle of love. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself." Luke 10:27.

God's law is not a new thing. It is not holiness created, but holiness made known. It is a code of principles expressing mercy, goodness, and love. It presents to fallen humanity the character of God, and states plainly the whole duty of man. {FLB 86.3}

What does it mean? Was the 10 Commandment codification of the law of love in existence before the fall of humanity? No! That codification of the law of love was adapted for fallen humanity. Why didn't it exist in that form before the fall of humanity? Because it wasn't needed.

However, the law of love always existed and can never be changed, for it is the protocols life is built to operate upon.

The 10 Commandments are an adaptation of the law of love and thus are helpful in diagnosing us and leading us to Christ for healing of our hearts and minds!

The lesson asks us to read Galatians 3:24:

So the law was our guardian until Christ came that we might be justified by faith.

What does this mean? Which law lens do you look at this through?

If looking through imposed human law, justification is a legal transaction in a courtroom.

If looking through Design law, justification is setting right, putting right, making right, healing, cleansing, renewing, what is wrong or out of line i.e. it is healing the heart/mind of the sinner, putting the sinner back in a right relationship with God.

Thus, in Romans 4:3 when Abraham trusted God he was recognized as righteous. Abraham's heart first changed from distrusting God to trusting God, and then he was recognized as being justified, or set right with God because his heart was right with God. This is true justification – the other thing – that God declares you righteous even though you are not, based on the legal accounting of Jesus record in place of your record commonly passed off on Christians has a form of godliness but no power. It focuses the work of God into a legal courtroom in the cosmos, rather than inviting the Holy Spirit in to transform and set right the heart, mind, character of the sinner.

Read last paragraph, "The word understand..." What do you think about tying faith with intelligence and thinking? Yes, faith is based on the evidence of the faithfulness of the one we have faith in. Or said another way, our trust is to be based on the trustworthiness of the one in whom we trust.

This is why Paul says in Romans 3:4 God may you be proved right when you are judged.

God has been lied about, our confidence, trust or faith in Him is undermined by the lies of Satan. God wants to reestablish in us trust in Him, and thus He sent His Son, so that whomever has seen Jesus as seen the Father and this truth will set us free from the lies of Satan, and the power of Satan is broken in our lives and we are restored to a trust relationship with God. Our hearts are set right with God, this is justification!

But this requires, as Paul says in Romans 14, that every person must be fully persuaded in their own mind. How is this to happen? What persuades you? For you to think and reason through the evidence enough that you are willing to engage and experience for yourself the trustworthiness of God and His methods in your life!

What do you think of this commentary:

All whom God has blessed with reasoning powers are to become intellectual Christians. They are not requested to believe without evidence; therefore Jesus has enjoined upon all to search the Scriptures. Let the ingenious inquirer, and the one who would know for himself what is truth, exert his mental powers to search out the truth as it is in Jesus. Any neglect here is at the peril of the soul. We must know individually the prescribed conditions of entering into eternal life. We must know what is the voice of God, that we may live by every word that proceeds out of his mouth. We cannot allow these questions to be settled for us by another's mind, or another's judgment. We must search the Scriptures carefully with a heart open to the reception of light and the evidences of truth. We cannot trust the salvation of our souls to ministers, to idle traditions, to human authorities, or to pretensions. We must know for ourselves what God has said. Review and Herald, March 8, 1887

WEDNESDAY

Asks us to read Proverbs 29:13:

The poor and the oppressor have this in common:
The Lord gives sight to the eyes of both.

Read first paragraph, “The poor and the rich...” The poor and the rich have equal value in moral worth as human beings, as descendants of Adam. Further, the laws of physics and health, which govern life and eyesight, operate exactly the same for both the poor and the rich. Light doesn’t travel differently if one is rich or poor, neurons don’t fire differently if one is rich or poor. God’s laws cannot be changed based on one’s status.

But, imposed laws can be changed based on status – thus when the church adopted the imperial law view, the idea God’s laws are like human laws, imposed rules, the rich were able to have different standards than the poor. In the Dark Ages indulgences were common. The rich could pay the church for certain sins and it would not be counted against them, it was like paying a fine, which can work with imposed laws. But, it doesn’t work at all with God’s design laws.

Does the proverb mean God created one to be rich and one to be poor?

If a person is born into poverty and another born into wealth, did God do that?

If one person is born with great abilities, and another born with disabilities, did God do that?

Remember the text we read a few weeks back:

He made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth Acts 17:26

God created humanity in Adam – but humanity has the ability to decide whether to procreate or not. We determine with whom we produce children. God doesn't decide this; thus He doesn't choose for one person to be born in one condition and someone else in another.

What about Proverbs 29:19:

Servants cannot be corrected by mere words;
though they understand, they will not respond.

Does this suggest that at level 1 decision making it takes some form of threat or coercion to get immature, childlike thinkers to do right. They might understand, but they still require some threat in order to act?

Is this why Jesus said to His disciples, "I no longer call you servants rather I call you friends..." Jn 15:15

THURSDAY

What does the title, Loving the Truth, mean? How does that operate in reality?

When Christ returns, amongst the saved, how many, at the moment of His return, will know correctly every detail of the Bible? NONE!

How many will love and trust God? All. How many will hunger and thirst for what is right, for the truth, will long to have any misunderstandings corrected? In other words, will love to grow in the truth? All

The lost are those who can't be taught, whose minds are settled into their version of the "truth" and attempts to correct them result in rebellion; they are closed to truth and love.

We read in Proverbs 29:1:

Whoever remains stiff-necked after many rebukes will suddenly be destroyed—without remedy.

Does this have any bearing on the wicked in the end and why they die? Does it have any bearing on 2Thes 2:10 describing why the wicked die:

They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved.

Is it important only for theology? What about in life, do we have problems if we don't love the truth? Examples?

- Patient who stopped taking their meds for diabetes and high blood pressure because they were “healed” and ALSO stopped checking their blood sugar and blood pressure. Why did they stop checking?
 - Because they believe lies about God and what genuine faith is. They believe that faith means not asking questions, that if they should check it would be a sign of doubt and lack of faith, and thus the healing wouldn't happen, or be continued etc.
 - This demonstrates superstition, and a belief in Satan's view of God.
 - God is the God of truth. Jesus said He did everything in the open, nothing in secret – why? Because the truth doesn't need to hide, it wants to be revealed.
 - When Jesus healed people He told them to go and be examined, to have their condition scrutinized.
 - If a person believes they have been healed, then they should keep checking their blood sugars, and blood pressures etc. If, in fact, they were healed, then the evidence will demonstrate it and they can rejoice.
 - But, persons who refuse to check the evidence, demonstrate a lack of faith, a fear based belief system, in which they doubt their own healing and therefore live in fear of looking at the evidence.
- Person in relationship with someone who has defects of character that disqualifies them to be with, but the person denies, distorts, and makes excuses – doesn't want to acknowledge the truth – why?
 - Because they are afraid to see it because they would lose admiration and desire for the person and the relationship would end. Thus, they deceive themselves to believe the person is better than they really are

But – you can never avoid the truth, you can only delay the day you deal with it! Deal with truth here and now you do so under God's grace and experience healing of your heart, mind and character. For those, described in Thessalonians they refuse to deal with the truth about their own characters and thus solidify themselves in rebellion against God and there is no remedy for them.

FRIDAY

Read question one – “Russian author...” Why is it some think a belief in God is illogical? That faith in God is without logic?

I would suggest, it is because of the imposed law construct, which is arbitrary, and makes very little sense. But, when we come back to see a God of love, then we realize how truly sensible God is and His design for life.

It is interesting that the authors suggest Leo Tolstoy came to believe in something that isn't logical, given what he eventually came to know.

Listen to these quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church and then a quote from Leo Tolstoy:

- In living for self he has rejected that divine love which would have flowed out in mercy to his fellow men. Thus he has rejected life. For God is love, and love is life. E.G. White, Christ's Object Lessons 258
- But turning from all lesser representations, we behold God in Jesus. Looking unto Jesus we see that it is the glory of our God to give. "I do nothing of Myself," said Christ; "the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father." "I seek not Mine own glory," but the glory of Him that sent Me. John 8:28; 6:57; 8:50; 7:18. In these words is set forth the great principle which is the law of life for the universe. All things Christ received from God, but He took to give. So in the heavenly courts, in His ministry for all created beings: through the beloved Son, the Father's life flows out to all; through the Son it returns, in praise and joyous service, a tide of love, to the great Source of all. And thus through Christ the circuit of beneficence is complete, representing the character of the great Giver, the law of life.
Desire of Ages 21
- Love is life. All, everything that I understand, I understand only because I love. Everything is, everything exists, only because I love. Everything is united by it alone. Leo Tolstoy

Does it sound like he came to some illogical belief?

Proverbs 1Q 2015 Lesson 12

The Humility of the Wise

SABBATH

Memory text, “Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” MT 5:3 NKJV

What does it mean to be poor in spirit? To be humble.

What is humility, what does the word humble mean?

Here are dictionary definitions – which apply to the Biblical concept of humility?

1. not proud or arrogant; modest
2. having a feeling of insignificance, inferiority, subservience, etc.:
In the presence of so many world-famous writers I felt very humble.
3. low in rank, importance, status, quality, etc.; lowly: of humble origin; a humble home.
4. courteously respectful: In my humble opinion you are wrong.
5. low in height, level, etc.; small in size: a humble member of the galaxy.

The primary Biblical definition is the first, it is about character. Depending on the company, the second definition could apply, however, the second definition could also be exploited to cause one to waiver in duty.

The lesson points out the virtue of humility, why is humility a virtue?

If one is humble, they are open to be taught, they can learn, they can accept correction.

What is the difference between being humble and being insecure, fearful, having low self-esteem, allowing people to exploit, abuse or walk on you?

Can a person be humble and confident at the same time?

Moses was the meekest, or most humble, man in the world, but did he allow people to walk on him? Did he refuse to stand for what is right? Did he cower before Pharaoh?

Jesus was meek and humble, did He have low self-esteem, lack of confidence? Was He afraid to speak the truth in love, even if it was confrontational?

What is the essential element of humility? It is not self-loathing, or insecurity, or fear, or low self-esteem. It is an other-centered orientation to living. It is a mindset that does NOT seek to promote self, but instead considers others more valuable than self. Thus, with love for the other, one will, in love confront, stand for the right, be firm and confident in one's duties, but not because one has confidence in self, but confidence in God, His methods and your mission in His cause.

I found these quotes this week, what do you think?

The spirit of the slothful servant we are often fain to call humility. But true humility is widely different. To be clothed with humility does not mean that we are to be dwarfs in intellect, deficient in aspiration, and cowardly in our lives, shunning burdens lest we fail to carry them successfully. Real humility fulfills God's purposes by depending upon His strength. {COL 363.3}

And why should not a man thus privileged become intellectually strong? Again and again have worldlings sneeringly asserted that those who believe present truth are weak-minded, deficient in education, without position or influence. This we know to be untrue, but is there not some reason for these assertions? Many have considered it a mark of humility to be ignorant and uncultivated. Such persons are deceived as to what constitutes true humility and Christian meekness.-- {Christian Education 243.2}

A Christian reveals true humility by showing the gentleness of Christ, by being always ready to help others, by speaking kind words and performing unselfish acts, which elevate and ennoble the most sacred message that has come to our world. {CET 74.2}

Skepticism and unbelief are not humility. Implicit belief in Christ's word is true humility, true self-surrender. {DA 535.2}

Implicit belief in Christ's word, i.e. Scripture, what does this mean? Does it mean, "God said, I believe it, that settles it?" No, it does not mean a thoughtless following of Bible statements, but accepting the Scriptures are inspired, but still requires we prayerfully think through the meaning, comparing Scripture with Scripture and with science and experience to ensure we get the most mature and healthiest understanding.

The precious grace of humility is sadly wanting in the ministry and the church. Men who preach the truth think too highly of their own abilities. True humility will lead a man to exalt Christ and the truth, and to realize his utter dependence upon the God of truth. It is painful to learn lessons of humility, yet nothing is more beneficial in the end. The pain attendant upon learning lessons of humility is in consequence of our being elated by a false estimate of ourselves, so that we are unable to see our great need. Vanity and pride fill the hearts of men. God's grace alone can work a reformation. {Lift Him Up 282.3}

The lesson title: Who Do You Think You Are? How do you answer this questions? What is a healthy answer to this question?

Have you heard people describe answers that degrade and demean the human being and themselves. We are so sinful we are nothing?

Have you heard of Worm Theology? Perhaps from Ps 22:6 "But I am a worm and not a man"

From Wikipedia: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Worm_theology

Worm Theology is a term used for the conviction in Christian culture that in light of God's holiness and power an appropriate emotion is a low view of self. Some might suggest that because of this view God is more likely to show mercy and compassion. The name may be attributed to a line in the Isaac Watts hymn Alas! and Did My Saviour Bleed (Pub 1707), which says "Would he devote that sacred head for such a worm as I?"... Furthermore, worm theology can be attributed to a recognition of the ugliness of sin, resulting in contrition.

Some might suggest adherents of worm theology have inner wounds that they are not necessarily aware of, and such a belief just matches what they feel about themselves and sometimes others. On the other hand God detests sin so much because it separates us from Himself; it could then be argued that in our sin we are as worms in God's sight.

C.S. Lewis expresses the view, "Whenever we find that our religious life is making us feel that we are good-above all, that we are better than someone else-I think we may be sure that we are being acted on, not by God, but by the devil. The real test of being in the presence of God is that you either forget about yourself altogether or see yourself as a small, dirty object." (Mere Christianity 1952, P.124)

How would you answer the question, Who Do You Think You Are?

- I am a child of God!
- Born in sin, conceived in iniquity (Ps 51)
- Defective from birth, terminal in selfishness and fear
- Yet loved of God so much that Jesus came to deliver me and cure me (Jn 3:16)
- Though born defective and terminal, I accept and partake of what Jesus has procured and have a new heart with a desire to be more like Jesus every day, yet acutely aware of how much more healing needs to happen within me

Read question 1 and discuss

"Dwell on the plan of salvation and what was required to save us. That is, we are so fallen, so corrupt, so evil, that mere regeneration would not be enough to redeem us from sin. No matter how much we are changed and restored, that regeneration and restoration cannot save us. We need a substitute, someone who legally stands in our place and whose righteousness alone is enough to make us right with God. What should this reality itself tell us about why arrogance and pride have to be some of the worse sins in fallen beings like us?" thoughts?

What is revealed about the author's mindset from the question? They are operating at level four and below. They are stuck in a false paradigm.

They still see God's law no different than the type of law created beings make, rules that require legal action and enforcement.

This week I was listening to Christian radio talk program and a woman was on from a well known worldwide ministry talking about how we must teach our children Bible truths.

This is part of what was said:

Even for little children, hell might upset them, Satan and demons might upset them, and we don't want to upset them so we've watered down the gospel. You know, so it comes to this, God loves you and has a wonderful plan for your life and part of that plan is to know Jesus and to invite Him into your heart because if you don't you might be separated from God in eternity. So accept Jesus into your heart and He will love you and there you go, life turns out great and then you get to go to heaven.

There might be some remnants of truth in that but... I think we're actually manipulating children by not sharing them the full truth. Jesus did not die on the cross just because I don't want to be separated from God. He died on the cross because somebody had to be violently, there had to be a blood sacrifice for the sin that I had committed because my sin is so heinous against a holy God. And the cross is a bloody violent picture of how horrible our sin is. Now while we don't want to go into too much detail when they're young. We have to let them know that when Christ died on the cross it was a punishment and if Christ doesn't take the punishment then we have to be punished. And I will be punished in a place called hell"

Host: "there are adults, perhaps listening right now, who discount the idea of the wrath of God. Your painting a picture of a vengeful, sadistic, violent God who is taking it out on His Son instead of taking it out on you and me and that is just not the God of the Bible."

Smith – "If I was sarcastic I would say what Bible are you reading. But I don't want to be sarcastic so I won't say that. So what I'll say is let's not go from one end of the pendulum to the other. One end of the pendulum is we only talk about the vengeance and wrath of God which is required because of His justice. The other extreme is we only talk about the love of God. I'll even say when it comes to the love of God we've redefined hell to say something like well hell is where you are separated from God. My question is separated from what? If God is omnipresent He is everywhere including hell and hell serves a purpose in the bigger universe and for God. So what are we separated from? I'm separated from His love and mercy and kindness, but I am also separated from God when I go to heaven because I am separated from His condemnation and from the wrath that I deserve.

After we die we are all separated from God in a sense, the question is what are you separated from. Go ahead and tell the children the truth and as they get older you can go into more and more detail but when they are younger to say there is a God who created you and because He created you He owns you. You owe Him your allegiance because He is worthy, He is your master, He created you. And when you do not think, live, feel, behave in such a way that gives Him the glory and honor He is deserving of that is called sin. It is cosmic treason. And when you sin, God must, because of His holy sovereign justice punish you. And either we get in trouble and we take the punishment or someone has to do it for us.

And God out of His great love for us came as a man and lived a perfect life and died the perfect death and rose again to conquer sin and death and in knowing that and accepting that Christ as God was our punishment paid that penalty and when I repent and receive Christ as that substitutionary atonement then I enter into a relationship with God that lasts the rest of my life and for eternity but the moment I accept Christ into my life I actually enter into a cosmic battle because I enter spiritual warfare. I go in as a warrior for my king. I'm not going to Walt Disney World and vacation the rest of my life. So what pictures are we giving children of this God who is worthy of our allegiance and himself paid a violent sacrifice for our debt. We water everything down through this moralistic lens to protect children from something they don't really need to be protected from. Chris Fabry Live with Elizabeth Smith from Moody Bible Institute March 5, 2015

This line of thinking, this presentation of God is the infection that obstructs the church from completing its mission. It is based on the lie that God's law is operationally, functionally, qualitatively no different that created beings make, rules imposed without inherent consequence. This is the thinking of children, infants, who, according to Hebrews 5 are not acquainted with righteousness.

What they say is reality – is not reality, it is fantasy, reality does not actually work like they describe it. Do we need a substitute in order to be saved? Absolutely! Yes we do – but not for legal purposes, we need a substitute to fix what Adam did to this creation, to restore humanity back to God's original design. This is what Christ achieved.

And with the Remedy procured by Christ, we are regenerated back to God's original design.

This idea, the theology in this question is what Paul wrote to Timothy that would be in the last days, a form of godliness but denying the power thereof. This legal theology, which devalues the regeneration of our hearts and minds, directs people into a false legal security in which hearts remain selfish and fear ridden, claiming legal security from a god presented as a stern judge bent on killing those who have broken his rules.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Proverbs 30:1-3 and 32,33 – would someone like to read this for us?

"I am weary, God,
but I can prevail.
² Surely I am only a brute, not a man;
I do not have human understanding.
³ I have not learned wisdom, nor have I attained to the knowledge of the Holy One.

³² "If you play the fool and exalt yourself, or if you plan evil,
clap your hand over your mouth!
³³ For as churning cream produces butter, and as twisting the nose produces blood, so stirring up anger produces strife."

The lesson states that for a king to write this it is quite a contrast to what kings normally write about themselves.

What is the message of these verses? That our strength and health and happiness and success come only as we realize our own condition, see God for who He is, trust Him over ourselves, and choose to walk in harmony with His design.

Notice the verses tell us

- That in our own strength we cannot succeed, but with God we can.
- Our natural selves are brute, survival of the fittest driven, seeking to get our own way, and thus without true understanding or wisdom, such a way of living doesn't know God or Jesus
- It is foolish, i.e. outside what is healthy, to be proud and promote oneself, it is destructive to do so
- And life operates upon Design law with cause and effect, thus just as churning cream creates butter or twisting the nose causes it to bleed, so too inciting anger results in conflict and strife

The two sentences say: "Pride arises in those who don't know the Lord in a personal way. In contrast, the person who lives in communion with God, will be humble, for he or she is constantly in touch with the One who is infinitely greater than any of us."

This almost sounds right doesn't it? Any thoughts or ideas that come to mind that call this into question?

My mind is sensitive to absolute statements and would have had no difficulty had they said, the knowledge of the Lord protects us from pride and vanity. Maybe I am misunderstanding this, but it sounds like the lesson is suggesting that pride can only arise in those who don't have a personal knowledge of the Lord, am I misunderstanding this? My mind thought of something I read long ago in the book Desire of Ages:

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love. Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. {DA 761.5}

Does this sound like a being who didn't have a personal knowledge of God?

I believe Lucifer did have a personal knowledge of God, but he chose to devalue that knowledge and he chose to become prideful and promote self despite the knowledge of God.

Also, did you notice what this author said was the hope of mankind and what humankind needed to be drawn back to God? Why was this needed by man? Because man did NOT know the fullness of God's character of love, thus human beings could be won back to trust in God by a revelation of God's character of love, but Lucifer already knowing the fullness of God's character of love and having rejected it, there was no more to do to win Him to trust.

God could have used power to cower, to intimidate, to coerce Lucifer into line – but such methods are contrary to His character. God wins by revelations of truth which brings people to love and trust, thus for Lucifer, having rejected the full revelation of God’s character of love there was nothing more God could do for him.

Read Proverbs 30:4-6:

- ⁴ Who has gone up to heaven and come down?
Whose hands have gathered up the wind?
Who has wrapped up the waters in a cloak?
Who has established all the ends of the earth?
What is his name, and what is the name of his son?
Surely you know!
- ⁵ “Every word of God is flawless;
he is a shield to those who take refuge in him.
- ⁶ Do not add to his words, or he will rebuke you and prove you a liar.

The Proverb is trying to draw our minds to the reality of how little we know and how little we can do – that we are finite, not infinite, we cannot create reality, the fabric of the cosmos, and we should be humble in that knowledge.

What about verse six, what does it mean, “Do not add to his word, or he will rebuke you and prove you a liar.”

Does it mean do not add any actual words, or do not change the meaning or ideas of God’s word?

For instance, when we read a Bible verse and it say, “God is love” and a person adds, “God is love, all the time” or “God is love, selfless, beneficent, self-sacrificing” has the person added words? Yes, have they changed the meaning? No!

I believe the passage is speaking of changing the meaning, not adding actual words that connote or describe the same meaning or expand the meaning or make the meaning easier to understand.

Consider all the Bible commentaries, which seek to explain the Bible, they are adding words or explanations to the Bible, but not seeking to change the meaning. Also, consider translations, when the Bible is translated many words are added, that are not in the original language, but in an attempt to present the right meaning.

However, when words are added, that do change the meaning, and this has happened, like all the legal interpretations and explanations, those explanations will be proven false, just as the Proverb says, because reality doesn’t work that way and reality will reveal such explanations are false.

Middle paragraph states, “The expression ‘knowledge of God’ is to be understood as meaning ‘knowledge about God.”

When Jesus said, “This is life eternal that they might know you the only true God and Jesus Christ whom you have sent.” (Jn 17:3) was he speaking of knowledge about, or actually knowing?

Are we saved by knowing about God, or by knowing God?

Do Satan and his angels know about God? But do they know Him in the intimate, trusting relationship knowledge?

What about the last sentence, “Who are we—whose understanding of even the simplest things in nature is clouded and full of mystery—to challenge the Word of God, even the parts that baffle or disturb us?”

We certainly are not here to “challenge” the word of God, i.e. to suggest God’s Word is not reliable, or that we know better than God’s Word – never.

But we are God’s children, created in His image, with individuality, power to think and act, and are to develop those abilities and become understanding friends of God who rightly comprehend the meaning of Scripture.

Thus, we are not to approach Scripture as merely words written down to be accepted as they read, but truths of God to be thoughtful contemplated and understood and then assimilated into our own characters.

Therefore, we will never challenge the authority of God’s word, but will frequently challenge our own and other people’s interpretation as to the meaning of God’s word.

Are we, as humble believers in God, who value and trust His word, supposed to challenge the meaning and interpretation we hear and are told? How about if that other person is a church leader, pastor or even prophet of God, are we still to think through and question the ideas if it doesn’t make sense to us, with a genuine desire to find the truth?

Should the church members in the New Testament have challenged Peter when he refused to eat with the uncircumcised fellows? Can error be challenged by anyone, or must the person also be an anointed Apostle or prophet of God?

Any examples in your life?

TUESDAY

Read verses 7-9:

- ⁷“Two things I ask of you, Lord;
do not refuse me before I die:
- ⁸Keep falsehood and lies far from me;
give me neither poverty nor riches,
but give me only my daily bread.
- ⁹Otherwise, I may have too much and disown you and say, ‘Who is the Lord?’

Or I may become poor and steal, and so dishonor the name of my God.

I really liked this proverb – first, it is a request for the truth, to have a mind that understands reality, that isn’t deceived. That has been my prayer for years and years.

There was a time in my life when I didn’t understand the value of truth. I was afraid of the truth. I was in a relationship many years ago and had strong feelings, and there were truths that verified that the relationship was not healthy, but I didn’t want to acknowledge those truths, because it would have meant ending the relationship. But, I discovered through that experience that, one can never avoid the truth only delay the day you deal with it. And when you delay the problems, pain, and suffering is much worse the longer you delay.

So, years ago I began praying, “God help me comprehend truth, in all domains, at the earliest possible moment I am capable. Give me a heart that loves the truth, a mind sensitive to truth and the ability to assimilate the truth.”

And then also the prayer regarding wealth – what is the benefit to pray for one’s daily bread, just as Jesus taught us to pray?

The Proverb suggests that with too much wealth we might become self-dependent and forget all comes from God, and with poverty our desperation might lead us to steal.

But, providing for our daily needs, puts us in a position where we have the opportunity to develop trust in God, each day, week, month, trusting God to provide our needs and when He does this exercise in trust is suppose to result in increasing confidence or faith in Him and decreased fear and insecurity.

How does the devil cheat us from experiencing the blessing of ever increasing strength and trust?

By getting us to focus on the future, which is unknown to us, and having us create imaginary scenarios in our minds in which we don’t have the resources to provide for our needs, thus we begin to worry, doubt and live in fear and anxiety, rather than in peace trusting the Lord, because we remember how He has delivered in the past.

I really like this quote:

We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord has led us, and his teaching in our past history. We are now a strong people, if we will put our trust in the Lord; for we are handling the mighty truths of the word of God. We have everything to be thankful for. If we walk in the light as it shines upon us from the living oracles of God, we shall have large responsibilities, corresponding to the great light given us of God. We have many duties to perform, because we have been made the depositories of sacred truth to be given to the world in all its beauty and glory. We are debtors to God to use every advantage he has entrusted to us to beautify the truth of holiness of character, and to send the message of warning, and of comfort, of hope and love, to those who are in the darkness of error and sin. {General Conference Daily Bulletin, January 29, 1893 par. 5}

Read second paragraph, “Before we ask... Any concerns about this paragraph?

What about, “This is why the confession of sin is a prerequisite for forgiveness.”

This statement is poorly worded, because it is stated through the imposed law model.

Did those who crucified Christ confess their sin? Did Jesus forgive them? Does Jesus have the power in heaven and earth to forgive sins?

So were these evil men forgiven by God? Yes, and this disturbs the legal adherents greatly, because they falsely believe our problem is legal, and what we need is the proper payment to the legal authority to get forgiven or pardoned. But, here we have those who crucified Christ being forgiven by God the Son, BUT did they receive the forgiveness? No!

Why, even though God forgave them, were they unforgiven? It is true that confession/repentance is necessary for a person to receive God’s forgiveness, and thus move from an unforgiven state to a forgiven state of being. But it is not true, that confession/repentance is necessary in order for God to forgive, or that God refuses to forgive those who don’t repent or confess – He forgives everyone, but only those who humble themselves in confession and repentance open their heart to receive God’s grace and forgiveness and thus move from a state of unforgiveness to forgiveness.

This is Design law, it is reality, it is the change in actual state of being, not some legal mechanism, in a court of law, which is what people think when looking through imposed law lenses.

WEDNESDAY

Read Proverbs 30:11

¹¹ “There are those who curse their fathers and do not bless their mothers;

What is the proverb speaking about? Does it remind you of the commandment to honor your mother and father?

What does it mean to honor mother and father? What does honor mean?

1. honesty, fairness, or integrity in one's beliefs and actions:

How would one be honest, fair, or act with integrity to a parent who was: 1. sexually abusing them 2. constantly verbally abusing them 3. stealing the child’s Christmas gifts to pawn in order to buy drugs etc. etc.

2. a source of credit or distinction:

How does one do this? By developing one’s abilities and living to fulfill God’s purpose for your life

3. high respect, as for worth, merit, or rank:

How does one respect a parent who acts disreputably? What if the parent defiles themselves? What if a child was raised in a Muslim home and converts to Christianity and the parents allege to do so dishonors them as parents and therefore they should not become a Christian?

THURSDAY

Read Proverbs 30:24-28:

- ²⁴ “Four things on earth are small,
yet they are extremely wise:
²⁵ Ants are creatures of little strength,
yet they store up their food in the summer;
²⁶ hyraxes are creatures of little power, yet they make their home in the crags;
²⁷ locusts have no king,
yet they advance together in ranks;
²⁸ a lizard can be caught with the hand,
yet it is found in kings’ palaces.

Note they are appealing to nature to teach things about God, just as Romans 1:20 says – this would be the integrative evidenced-based approach.

Any lessons you wish to discuss from these verses?

1st Quarter 2015 – Proverbs Lesson 13

Women and Wine

SATURDAY

Memory text from Proverbs 31:2-4 MSG says,

“Oh, son of mine, what can you be thinking of! Child whom I bore! The son I dedicated to God! Don’t dissipate your virility on fortune-hunting women, promiscuous women who shipwreck leaders. Leaders can’t afford to make fools of themselves, gulping wine and swilling beer, Lest, hung over, they don’t know right from wrong, and the people who depend on them are hurt.”

Do we see any of this happening today...any leaders making fools of themselves? Are wine and/or women generally a factor?

Saturday’s lesson points out the shift that takes place over the course of the book of Proverbs. It starts out with the teachings of a father and ends up here in chapter 31 with the teachings of a mother...and Solomon’s mother warns her son against the two most serious threats to the king: wine and women. Any thoughts on why these particular teachings came from Solomon’s mother? What sort of special insight might she and his father have into this specific situation?

This association of wine and women was deliberate, because both could be very powerful influences on men in positions of power. And although finding a virtuous woman could be beneficial, there were really no upsides to the influence of alcohol.

The father’s introductory advice was concerned with the spiritual acquisition of wisdom...and now the mother’s concluding chapters are concerned with applying wisdom in real life...because the spiritual principles taught by the father means nothing if the mother’s practical advice is not followed. How many have found this to be true in their own lives and in their own quest for knowledge? This is the “Experiential” arm of our integrative evidence based approach. This is the difference between knowing about something or how to do something...and actually doing it. So this week, we are going to dive deeper into the practical advice given by Solomon’s mom.

SUNDAY

A Toast “To Life”?

In many cultures, drinking alcohol is associated with all aspects of living a good life...living the good life. Think about the advertisements you see during an average football game telecast...or the print ads you might see in a single Sports Illustrated magazine. What is the consistent theme and what do you see consistently depicted?

- Beautiful people, usually attractive and attracted couples
- Fun – party atmosphere, good friends, good food, good times
- Wealth, affluent lifestyles
- Celebration, your team always wins

We toast at weddings, at birthdays, on New Years, to celebrate...anything – wishing each other a long, healthy life, when, as the quarterly says, “ironically, each toast/glass may very well work to negatively impact health and shorten life.” Of course, this is always disguised in beautifully designed bottles, slick marketing campaigns, clever commercials and songs, and even some “scientific” findings that help comfort drinkers in thinking that alcohol is in any way good for them.

Solomon warned of these deceptions previously back in Prov 23:30-35 MSG:

“Who keeps getting beat up for no reason at all? Whose eyes are bleary and bloodshot? It’s those who spend the night with a bottle, for whom drinking is serious business. Don’t judge wine by its label, or its bouquet, or its full-bodied flavor. Judge it rather by the hangover it leaves you with—the splitting headache, the queasy stomach. Do you really prefer seeing double, with your speech all slurred, Reeling and seasick, drunk as a sailor? “They hit me,” you’ll say, “but it didn’t hurt; they beat on me, but I didn’t feel a thing. When I’m sober enough to manage it, bring me another drink!”

The warning is reiterated in verses 4-5 that we read in Saturdays lesson, and is directed specifically to kings and those in leadership, but are there any applications to each of us as followers of Christ?

One of the founders of the Adventist church had this to say on the subject:

“Intemperate persons should not by vote of the people be placed in positions of trust. Their influence corrupts others, and grave responsibilities are involved. With brain and nerve narcotized by tobacco and stimulus they make a law of their nature, and when the immediate influence is gone there is a collapse. Frequently human life is hanging in the balance; on the decision of those in these positions of trust depends life and liberty, or bondage and despair. How necessary that all who take part in these transactions should be those who are proved, those of self-culture, those of honesty and truth, of staunch integrity, who will spurn a bribe, who will not allow their judgment or convictions of right to be swerved by partiality or prejudice. Only men and women of strict temperance and integrity should be admitted to our legislative halls and chosen to preside in our courts of justice. Property, reputation, and even life itself are insecure when left to the judgment of those who are intemperate and immoral. How many innocent persons have been condemned to death, how many more have been robbed of all their earthly possessions, by the injustice of drinking jurors, lawyers, witnesses, and even judges! – BLJ 177 (To Be Like Jesus)

While the effects of alcohol are bad enough for “common folks”, for a king or someone in power or a leadership role, the results can be disastrous. What is at stake is the capacity to discern between right and wrong through clear, undistorted judgment. A drunk king or judge or dictator, etc. may “forget the law”, may not correctly distinguish what is right or wrong...and may subsequently issue distorted judgments – declaring the guilty to be innocent and the innocent guilty. Isn’t this what happened to Aaron’s sons? Remember they were Israelite priests...they got drunk and had trouble performing the sacrificial ceremony correctly. Mrs. White says:

“When indulging their appetite for wine and while under its exciting stimulus, their reason was clouded, and they could not discern the difference between the sacred and the common. Contrary to God’s express direction, they dishonored Him by offering common instead of sacred fire. [God visited them with His wrath; fire went forth from His presence and destroyed them.]”—Ellen G. White, Testimonies for the Church, vol. 3, p. 295.

Can anyone recall any other biblical examples in which alcohol or drunkenness brought terrible, long-lasting results?

- Noah and his sons [Gen. 9:18–27]
- Lot and his daughters [Gen. 19:30–38]).

And don’t assume this can happen only if the leader is physically drunk at decision-making time. A little research into the physiological effects of alcohol reveals that it clouds the areas of the brain where moral thinking is done. Heavy drinking reduces brain cell production in the hippocampus, the part of the limbic system that governs self-control (ironically the self-control required to stop drinking), memory, and emotional response...however, after a 1 week period of abstinence, new cell production begins again. The point is, if you destroy enough brain cells with alcohol use...your judgment can be impaired even when you’re sober.

The prohibition of wine drinking and alcohol consumption has to do with basic wisdom, science, physiology – all three prongs of the integrative evidence based approach are covered, and as such, should apply to every human being. Doesn’t this sound a lot like natural law concepts?

The pink box at the bottom of Sunday's lesson asks: Who hasn't seen the devastating effects of alcohol in so many lives?" I gathered some Google statistics on alcohol use/abuse, many that I am sure we could validate just by a show of hands in this room, but here's what I found:

- Alcohol is the number one drug problem in America.
- Americans spend $197 million each day on alcohol.
- In the United States, nearly 14 million adults, or every one in 13 adults, abuse alcohol or have an alcoholism problem...but since an alcoholic's spouse, children, and family suffer due to the alcoholic's condition, there are an estimated 40 – 50 million people affected by alcoholism.
- Several million more partake in risky alcohol consumption that could potentially lead to abuse, and over three million American teenagers aged 14 to 17 have an alcohol problem.
- Compared to adult drinkers who start drinking around age 21, youth who begin drinking before the age of 15 are twice as likely to abuse alcohol and four times more likely to develop dependence on the drug.
- Approximately 53 percent of Americans have one or more close relatives who have an alcohol dependency problem.
- 43 percent of American adults have been exposed to the problem of alcoholism in the family, either as something they grew up with or something they experienced with a spouse or a partner.
- Today, it is estimated that 6.6 million children under the age of 18 live with a parent who struggles with alcoholism.

Not included in the above statistics are alcohol's "other victims" - those affected by alcohol though they are not alcoholics and may not even drink at all. Consider that alcohol is a contributing factor in the following:

- 73% of all felonies
- 73% of child beating cases
- 41% of rape cases
- 81% of wife battering cases
- 72% of stabbings
- 83% of homicides
- In the United States, a person is killed in an alcohol-related car accident every 30 minutes.

Mrs. White said this...not just about alcohol's other victims...but about just our ability to influence others:

"The influence of an ill-regulated family is widespread, and disastrous to all society. It accumulates in a tide of evil that affects families, communities, and governments. It is impossible for any of us to live in such a way that we shall not cast an influence in the world. No member of the family can enclose himself within himself, where other members of the family shall not feel his influence and spirit. The very expression of the countenance has an influence for good or evil. His spirit, his words, his actions, his attitude toward others, are unmistakable. If he is living in selfishness, he surrounds his soul with a malarious atmosphere; while if he is filled with the love of Christ, he will manifest courtesy, kindness, tender regard for the feelings of others and will communicate to his associates, by his acts of love, a tender, grateful, happy feeling. It will be made manifest that he is living for Jesus and daily learning lessons at His feet, receiving His light and His peace. He will be able to say to the Lord, ‘Thy gentleness hath made me great.’ ”—The Adventist Home, pp. 33, 34.

MONDAY

A Toast to Death

Monday’s lesson in the quarterly looks at Prov 31:6-7, and attempts to define what Solomon’s mother means when she writes,

“Let beer be for those who are perishing, wine for those who are in anguish! Let them drink and forget their poverty and remember their misery no more.”

In the MSG, the text reads:

“Use wine and beer only as sedatives, to kill the pain and dull the ache of the terminally ill, for whom life is a living death.”

And isn’t this the exact reason why many folks drink?! To forget and escape their poverty, their misery, and other facets of their condition that they can’t cope with. The quarterly appears to reject those interpretations by pointing out that elsewhere in Proverbs, the use of the expression “who is perishing” repeatedly refers to “the wicked”, and this may be the intended reference here as well...supported by the seeming foolishness of giving something inherently unhealthy to someone who is already in poor health or dying, not to mention the reasons for not giving a depressant to someone who is already depressed.

Did everyone read the powerful quote from Mrs. White at the bottom of Monday’s lesson? “Satan gathered the fallen angels together to devise some way of doing the most possible evil to the human family. One proposition after another was made, till finally Satan himself thought of a plan. He would take the fruit of the vine, also wheat, and other things given by God as food, and would convert them into poisons, which would ruin man’s physical, mental, and moral powers, and so overcome the senses that Satan should have full control. Under the influence of liquor, men would be led to commit crimes of all kinds. Through perverted appetite the world would be made corrupt. By leading men to drink alcohol, Satan would cause them to descend lower and lower in the scale.”—Ellen G. White, Temperance, p. 12. Based on the statistics we just reviewed, it is easy to see why Satan chose this method of harming the human family.

TUESDAY

A Virtuous Woman

Let’s have someone read the familiar description of the virtuous woman in Proverbs 31...someone please read verses 10-31 of chapter 31.

Did anyone else here think the perfect “virtuous woman” described in Prov 31 only referred to amazingly ideal married females? I always kinda thought it did! But, as the quarterly suggests, there are many indications that the author may be writing about broader concepts here. There are many prior passages in Proverbs that give us good reason to think that the “virtuous woman” may represent wisdom itself...wisdom personified. The quarterly states that chapter 31 pictures wisdom “not as some lofty and unreachable ideal, but as a very practical and approachable woman who could become our life companion.” So no one else has ever read this description and seen a “lofty and unreachable ideal”? I guess I’m the only one then.

But to shift the paradigm to see true, practical wisdom being described here makes the concept a little easier to digest and absorb. The lesson also points out that this last teaching about wisdom is delivered through a beautiful acrostic poem (definition: An acrostic poem is a type of poetry where the first, last or other letters in a line spell out a particular word or phrase), where each verse begins with a Hebrew letter following the alphabetic order, similar to the book of Lamentations and many of the Psalms. Anyone else have to look that one up?

So let’s take a look at the Proverbs 8 passage on wisdom...and compare it with the virtuous woman we have described here in Proverbs 31, and see if we can find any similarities:

- Precious and worth finding - Prov 31:10 / 8:35
- Worth more than rubies - Prov 31:10 / 8:10-11, 18-19
- Provides food - Prov 31:14 / 8:19
- Strong - Prov 31:17, 25 / 8:14
- Wise - Prov 31:26 / 8:1
- Praised - Prov 31:28 / 8:34
- Tons of strong correlations between the two concepts it seems.

Amassing information and acquiring knowledge is easier than ever in this “information age”...but does this necessarily equate to wisdom? We have mentioned in this class that knowledge is knowing that a tomato is a fruit...but wisdom is knowing not to put it in a fruit salad. There is very little evidence to suggest that this abundance of information has not made this generation any wiser than previous ones. As Martin Luther King Jr. said, “We have guided missiles...and misguided men.”

WEDNESDAY

She Works

This virtuous woman seen in Proverbs 31 is not lazy...she is very active and works hard in many areas. This industrious quality is mentioned throughout the book of Proverbs when contrasting the wise versus the foolish. Proverbs 6:6-11 reads:

“You lazy fool, look at an ant. Watch it closely; let it teach you a thing or two. Nobody has to tell it what to do. All summer it stores up food; at harvest it stockpiles provisions. So how long are you going to laze around doing nothing? How long before you get out of bed? A nap here, a nap there, a day off here, a day off there, sit back, take it easy—do you know what comes next? Just this: You can look forward to a dirt-poor life, poverty your permanent houseguest!”

Contrast that description of a lazy fool with our virtuous woman, who bargain hunts, knits, sews, travels, organizes her home, feeds her family, saves her money, buys and sells property, plants a garden, helps the poor, designs and sells clothes – and verse 11 says that she does all this work with her hands willingly.

The lesson makes an interesting observation that this very spiritual person is never depicted praying or meditating, but rather is shown as an efficient and productive woman, like Martha in the gospels. To be spiritual does not mean that we should be idle, all under the pretext that we are too concerned with highly important religious issues, and thus have no time to take care of “trivial” matters – remember the parable of the talents in Luke 16?

Also, has it ever struck anyone else how odd this entire description is of a woman in Biblical times? Women were merely property in those days...just above a slave on the social ladder...and if they weren't married – single, divorced, widowed didn't matter...they needed to be attached to a man, or if they were married but couldn't have children, they were basically nothing...value-less. Even married women had no rights, could not own property, they could not vote, there was no equal rights amendment, no equal pay act. But that's the opposite of what is described here. This woman sounds like she rocks! She is working it – literally – day and night. She has many responsibilities and she gives them her constant attention.

I am not sure this is exactly how we and society are teaching girls to measure and value their worth today. I mean what sort of role models and standards are they being given? They are taught that their looks...their bodies...their outward appearance are paramount – such shallow and superficial markers...such vain and empty measures. And the magazine images inundating them are complete photoshop fantasy! I am encouraged to see an increasing number of these fallacies being exposed by the publishing of unretouched photos, but it's going to take a whole lot more to change the unhealthy feelings of inadequacy caused by the unattainable pictures of perfection. Oh, that we could develop a meaningful way to teach the concepts of this chapter...that charm can mislead, and that beauty soon fades...but this woman's true beauty is found in her character and how those facets of character are made manifest in her life and works. Throughout the entire book, readers have been warned of ungodly, "strange" women whose seductive powers cause ruin. This final portrait is in contrast to those women, describing a feminine role model of wisdom and godly values. This amazing, talented, industrious, successful woman who develops a virtuous character, and who really knows God – that's what matters...she is to be praised.

This character that we are developing while here on earth...is the one we will take with us into all eternity. I work in the technology/computer field, so I really like Tim's hardware/software analogy when describing what happens with our character. If you are not familiar with the analogy, he describes our physical body as the hardware – so the physical computer/laptop, the electronics, the components. In case you are unaware, our hardware is deteriorating and degrading...literally breaking down while we are here on this earth. In contrast, our characters, our personalities, the essence of who we are...are being formed, and developed, and cultivated...hopefully perfected during our time on this earth. All the while we are alive and that character development is taking place, our character software is being constantly "backed up" on heavenly servers... the fact that we know have servers and software in the "cloud" just makes the analogy even better. We could use the current example in the news about Mrs. Clinton's email server, but that's probably a whole nother class. Anyway, when we die and are buried our hardware is in the ground, but our character software remains on the heavenly servers...just as it was. And when we get new hardware at the resurrection, it gets downloaded onto that new, immortal hardware just as it was...for all eternity! So, can you see how critically important it is to develop a character that is fit for eternity while we are here? It was to be Adam and Eve's main purpose...it was one of the perfectly accomplished goals of Christ's time here on this earth...so how much more important must it be for us in this life?

"A great name among men is as letters traced in sand, but a spotless character will endure to all eternity."—Ellen G. White, God's Amazing Grace, p. 81.

The lesson makes another important point regarding our work and effort: they can only really be tested by time. Only the future will testify to the quality of our deeds. To work wisely is to work with the future in mind, not just for an immediate reward...perhaps never more true than when raising children?

THURSDAY

She Cares

The lessons asks what other important characteristics are seen in this women in verses 26-31?

- She speaks with wisdom and gives faithful instruction
- Orders the affairs of her household and is never idle
- Her children arise and call her blessed
- Her husband praises her and the whole city honors her

She is known for her wisdom and her kindness...and they are related. The quarterly argues that kindness is another form of wisdom, especially when we understand that wisdom isn't just what we know but what we say and do and how we say and do. Take a look at the 3rd paragraph in Thursday's lesson...it says, "Notice, too, the phrase the 'law of kindness.' That is, kindness is not just some fleeting attribute that escapes from her mouth now and then. It is a law, a principle of her very existence. How powerful it would be if the 'law of kindness' were to guide all that came out of our mouths." It sounds suspiciously like the author has stumbled upon some natural law concepts here when referencing the law of kindness.

Ellen White said this on the subject:

"Kindness and love and courtesy are the marks of the Christian.... In our association with each other let it be ever remembered that there are chapters in the experience of others that are sealed from mortal eyes; there are sad histories that are written in the books of heaven but are sacredly guarded from prying eyes. There stand registered long, hard battles with trying circumstances, arising in the very homes, that day by day sap the courage, the faith, the confidence, until the very manhood seems to fall to ruins. But Jesus knows it all, and He never forgets. To such, words of kindness and of affection are welcome as the smile of angels; a strong, helpful grasp of the hand of a true friend is worth more than gold and silver. The true, honest expression of a sister, or brother, or friend, given in genuine simplicity, has power to open the door of hearts which need the fragrance of Christlike words and the simple, delicate touch of the spirit of Christ's love. – {ML 178.4 (My Life Today)}

Dwell more on the idea that although we have a lot of knowledge for our time, we don't necessarily have more wisdom. In what ways can knowledge without wisdom be even more dangerous than a lack of knowledge without wisdom? What are some recent examples we can see of just how damaging knowledge without wisdom can be?

The book of Proverbs is filled with practical wisdom. This should tell us that our religion, even with all its lofty theology and spiritual dimensions, has a very practical side to it, as well. How can we make sure that we don't neglect the practical aspects of faith as we seek to fulfill its theological and spiritual dimensions?

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 1

The Coming of Jesus

SABBATH

When you hear the title what do you think? I think the second coming, but the title is actually referring to His incarnation, His first coming.

Read memory text, “For with God nothing will be impossible.” Luke 1:37

This text serves as a good example of verses that can be misused, misunderstood, misapplied, i.e. the dangers of taking a Bible text by itself and believing it without thinking through what it actually means.

Is this statement true, as it reads?

- “For God cannot be tempted by evil” James 1:13
 - Can we say it is impossible for God to be tempted by evil?
- “The hope of eternal life, which God, who cannot lie, promised long ages ago: Titus 1:2
 - Can we say it is impossible for God to lie?

So are there some things impossible for God? Any others?

- Can God sin?
- Can God save a person against that person’s will? Why or why not?
- What does salvation actually mean? It means reconciliation to God in a trust relationship of love. Can trust and love be forced? So, can God save someone who refuses?

So, are there some things impossible for God? Why?

Because of His character and nature of love, which is the template and design parameters upon which reality exists. He cannot create a reality deviant from Himself, from love, because He is the source of life and only in Him does the universe hold together. Disintegration occurs without Him. This is reality.

So, when the text says “For with God nothing will be impossible” it is true in its context, which is in the context of telling a virgin she will get pregnant and conceive.

But taking this text blindly, simply believing it without thought, without understanding reality, is one way many distortions get taught about God. Thinking God can do anything, people then blame God when life doesn’t go the way they want it to.

Some, teaching the idea that all things are possible for God, that He therefore wanted Adam and Eve to sin, or that God causes evil, or that God makes all our choices for us, or that God chooses who will be saved and lost etc.

This leads to magical thinking, people do rituals to get God to give them what they want, people pray for things impossible for God to do such as heal a marriage in which the partners cheat on each other, lie to each other, abuse each other etc. Or, universalism, which teaches God saves everyone, but He cannot save those who won't allow Him.

Are there other passages of Scripture that pop into your mind that are taken as a proof text and applied where they don't belong?

Read first paragraph, "The Gospel of Luke..." Did you notice Luke was a physician? And what did the Study Guide note the doctor did? He presented facts, evidence, reliable testable data!

Doctors think through the lens of evidence and want people to be persuaded to understand and see reality as it actually is, just as the Study Guide says in the second paragraph, to believe reality not myth.

Are there myths taught in Christianity today?

- The Universe was created 6000 years ago (Job 38:6.7); The Bible doesn't teach this, the earth was terraformed sometime in the last 10,000 years, but the universe is billions of years old.
- Leadership in the church is for men only
- Leadership in the church is for those with theology degrees only
- God is the source of death which He inflicts as punishment for disobedience
- God requires some payment in order to assuage His wrath
- Sin is a legal problem
- Others?

SUNDAY

Read bottom pink section – "Luke, an inspired author..." What is the issue? Why is this being pointed out?

What is the concern for those who have lost confidence in certain sources because of allegations of plagiarism? They fear the information is not reliable – why do they fear this?

This question helps us consider the thinking of the immature versus the mature.

Children, the immature, don't know how to think things through for themselves. They don't know how to evaluate evidence, integrate diverse threads of evidence, weigh various points of view, test against reliable standards, and come to healthy conclusions.

So, children want, seek, demand, an authority figure to tell them the answer, to make a ruling, they turn to mommy or daddy, whose right, or the teacher, or the umpire, referee, or judge, or the pastor, pope, Bible.

Many Christians operate at this level, not wanting to think through issues, not wanting to research, weigh evidences, integrate divergent sources of information, but instead simply want to be told the answer. They want a concise list of rules, dos and don'ts they can feel safe observing. They rest secure in someone else's conclusions. "My mommy said..." "My Pastor said..." "My Bible says..."

Those who want a rulebook get very concerned about who has been writing the rules. They have magical thinking about the Bible, and if something undermines their confidence in the source, not having the ability to assess the source material for themselves, they throw it out.

This is how many use the Bible and other Christian writings, as a rule book, a code, an external authority to make judicial rulings on thoughts, beliefs, and behaviors. We don't need to think, to weigh evidences, to understand God, His design, His principles, comprehending our duty in God's purposes, no, we need to find the right rule and apply it.... We are so concerned about being right, we want a ruling so we can feel good about ourselves and feel safe in what we are doing.

I get this frequently, people come up to me or email me and ask: "Is it right to work on Sabbath as a nurse and keep the pay? Is it right to eat this, or drink that? Is it right to divorce a spouse who ... fill in the blank?" etc.

But this approach is distinctly non-Biblical – Paul, in Romans 14 – addressed issues of worship, including Sabbath, and said every person must be fully persuaded in their own mind. Not, every person must submit their mind to the proper ruling authority.

Sadly, many times in church history, the institutional church has come down with rulings and mandated membership conform their beliefs to the ruling of the church. Again, this is not Biblical.

Presenting truth, in love and leaving people free is Biblical. Why? Because what God wants is love and trust, and love and trust can only occur when individuals come to understand reality for themselves. A person cannot love another because someone said, "It is the rule you must love him, and if you don't, well that is treason, law breaking, and God will kill you. So obey and love him."

Submission by rule leads to rebellion – it is only in an atmosphere of freedom that love grows.

And this comes back to which type of law one is operating upon. Imposed law requires a ruling authority to rule – natural law requires educators to educate, but deviants are left free to reap what they sew. We educate upon the dangers of smoking, drinking, drugs, unhealthy diet, premarital sex, pornography, rejecting the truth about God, etc. etc. but leave people free, and if they choose to do these things they reap the consequences and the consequences are ALWAYS damaging and eventually bring its harvest.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “The birth stories...” The lesson points out that the births of John the Baptist and Jesus were both miraculous – but it is important to note, the miracle performed in each case was quite different, and I want to note this because when it comes to pregnancy many people get confused by this.

What was the miracle performed in Elizabeth’s case, which is also the same miracle performed in all the cases in the Bible of women who were barren getting pregnant?

Did God perform a miracle to get them pregnant? No, the miracle performed was one of physical healing, like healing blindness, or deafness, but in these cases God healed or restored their ability to reproduce. The women still had natural relations with their husbands that got them pregnant. God did not get them pregnant.

Mary was different. In her case no miracle was performed to heal a physical defect or malady that prevented her from conceiving. In her case, God did instill a pregnancy in her, a true miracle birth.

When we speak of miracle births it also gives opportunity to demonstrate how Bible history also serves the purpose of revealing a larger reality. There are many examples of this: The family of Jacob:

- Brothers betray brother – symbolic of Lucifer’s betrayal of Christ
- The children of Israel as slaves in Egypt, symbolic humanity slaves in sin
- Pharaoh symbolic of Satan enslaving and abusing
- Moses a deliverer – symbolic of Christ our deliverer
- Attacks against the gods of Egypt – symbolic of Christ’s attacks against the lies of Satan
- Walking through red sea – symbolic of baptism
- Manna from heaven – symbolic of Jesus the bread of heaven

There are 7 examples of barren women who were healed and gave birth and they are all types of Christ. Real people, real history, but also serve as object lesson of Christ:

1. Sarah – Isaac – Mount Moriah symbolic of Jesus to be sacrificed
2. Rebekah – Jacob – who became Israel, twelve sons, Jesus twelve apostles to foundation of the church

3. Rachel – Joseph – who sold into slavery, became ruler to free the people; Jesus went into the slavery of sin in order to free us from it
4. Monoah's wife – Samson – blessed with strength to deliver Israel from bondage and rule over them; Jesus our shield and strength and to rule the universe
5. Hannah – Samuel – who became High Priest
6. Shunammite woman – child died and resurrected
7. Elizabeth – John the Baptist – who greatest of prophets

Isn't it odd – that God chose Abraham to be the family through which the Messiah would come, and the first three generations – Sarah, Rebekah and Rachel are all barren, and all require a miracle healing to conceive? What are the chances? Random? Or is there a great controversy going on? Was Satan afoot trying to obstruct God's plan by causing health problems? We don't have any inspired word that this happened, but I wonder?

Third paragraph states, "John was to be a preparer of the way for Jesus." What does this mean? Prepare how? Prepare what?

John was to prepare the minds of people to be ready to receive Jesus as Messiah. How?

John was basically diagnosing people as terminal in sin, telling them if they didn't recognize they were terminal and turn back to God for healing they would die. He wanted to introduce uneasiness with their current system and way of thinking, to cause them to be dissatisfied with their rituals and routines which had no power to heal them of their fear and selfishness and instill a longer for something better.

This he did and then Jesus came as the better way, the true Way, Truth and Life! And the people responded.

John was called the second Elijah – to prepare for the first Advent.

Do we have a role today to present a message of truth, like John, which exposes the failing of much of religion in the world today and motivate people out of complacency and stir up a desire for something better?

There is a prophecy in Malachi about Elijah coming before the second coming – why? What is the purpose?

Has the church found itself in a similar place as Israel 2000 years ago, popular, but powerless, filled with routine, ritual, rote performance and people stuck in sin?

Is there to be a message which is to cause people to be dissatisfied with the status quo, realize we have a terminal condition, and point them to a real remedy that heals?

Come to our seminar this afternoon, the second talk, becoming a spokesperson for God is all about this very topic.

TUESDAY

Read third paragraph, “The virgin birth of Jesus...” Why is the virgin birth of Jesus important?

- Establishes Jesus as something other than a mere product of sinful beings
- Why is it important that He was born of a sinful woman, rather than just coming as a man to earth?
- What was His mission? To do what?
 - To reveal the truth about God in order to expose Satan, destroy Satan’s lies and win beings to trust – could He have done that by just appearing as a man? Yes. Was that His total mission? No!
 - What else? He had to destroy death (2Tim 1:10) and had to destroy the devil’s work (1John 3:8) – and cure the human condition (Heb 2:14). Could He have done this without being born of a sinful woman? No – why?
 - Because the only way to cure this creation was to become a partaker of it, to be an actual descendant of Adam, and with the abilities of a human being, exercising a human brain, restore God’s design, God’s law of love into the species created to be its repository. Jesus Christ, in His humanity, developed a perfect human character, restoring God’s image into the species human, and destroyed the infection of selfishness – this destroyed death, the devil’s work and cured the terminal condition.

What do you think of this: “Every human question, no matter how natural or logical, must give way to the divine answer. Be it Creation or the Cross, the Incarnation or the Resurrection, the downpour of manna or the outpouring at Pentecost—the divine initiative demands human surrender and acceptance.”

What is meant by divine initiative? If it means, the evidence is so clear, so self-evident, the weight of truth and evidence itself demands we recognize it by its overwhelming clarity and reality, then okay, well and good. But, what if it means, God, declares the truth and then He demands we surrender and accept, is that the same thing? What is the problem with such a position?

It doesn’t persuade, it doesn’t convince, it doesn’t transform, it doesn’t ennoble, develop, mature, solidify in righteousness. Such a position as God demands and we must believe, makes us into mindless robots and this is not what God wants. It is a false idea, based on a core truth but twisted subtly to destroy the image of God in man.

John 15:15 Jesus gives the ideal by telling His apostles He wants them to be His friends, not mindless slaves, because friends understand. He wants our understanding, not mere agreement. Because understanding increases our admiration, appreciation, awe, love, affection, devotion, loyalty.

Read bottom pink section, “Some secular cultures...” Are they suggesting God does things that are not scientific? Are they suggesting God does things that don’t make sense, that are unreasonable, that defy reality, that goes against the laws of nature?

Or are they suggesting only, that our understanding of science is limited and it is grandiose to think our finite minds can conceive of infinity, and therefore to suggest God be restricted to our current understanding of science is foolish?

Which way do you think things will go in the future: as we grow in our understanding of God and His design, as we live through eternity future, will we find things become less and less understandable, more and more mysterious and unclear, or that God and His actions become ever more clear, with sound reasons, in harmony with His own nature and design, i.e. the laws of nature?

For instance, the virgin birth, do you think God did this without using DNA and RNA? If DNA and RNA were used then was science involved? Was nature and nature's laws involved? But who is the author of nature and science? God is – to suggest God's ways are somehow outside of nature and science is suggesting God violates His own design for reality.

The problem is only in our limited understanding, not in science and nature.

WEDNESDAY

When you consider Jesus in a manger in Bethlehem, what is significant to you in this story? Has it become told so often that it has become a story without meaning?

Have you ever sat for a moment and considered, what it would be like to go to a barn, find a 17 y/o girl with her husband and newborn baby, and be told that child is the Creator God from heaven.

First, would you have a hard time believing it?

Second, when you did believe it what happens in you?

Do you want to worship Him or try to take possession of Him? Do you think how can I humble myself before Him, or how can I use Him? Do you feel safe and secure with a God who has to have his diaper changed?

What law lens are you considering this through? If your view is through imposed law, and we need a powerful authoritative deity, then seeing Jesus as a babe might be scary.

But, if we see through design law, and realize our condition is terminal, and this baby is the cure, the remedy, then we are in awe, reverent and in great appreciation!

Read last paragraph, “Luke’s record...”

- What is the significance that Jesus is the Savior of all people?
- There is no Jew or Greek, male or female etc. why? Because the entire human race has the same terminal condition, and Jesus is the Remedy for all human beings who partake, regardless of ethnicity, religious affiliation, sex, nationality etc.
 - i.e. design law – laws of health make no distinction for nationality etc. likewise the Remedy for sinfulness makes no distinction based on race etc.
 - But arbitrary laws, imposed rules can and do make distinction. Diplomats get special privileges when it comes to the laws of the nation they are visiting, police and other government officials get special privilege in observing the imposed laws of the land. But laws of health, physics, and God’s laws of love, liberty, truth, worship etc. make no distinction between people.
- What is the significance that there is no other Savior than Jesus?
 - Simply that Jesus is the only cure – does that mean a person has to know about Jesus to partake of the Remedy He has procured? i.e. only those who are baptized into Christianity can be saved?
 - If Penicillin cures a particular infection – does someone have to know about Penicillin to benefit from taking it? Do they have to call it Penicillin to benefit from taking it? How about they take the Penicillin, but call it Shaman’s magic milk, will calling it Shaman’s magic milk make it less effective, turn it into something else?
 - If a person responds to the Holy Spirit and chooses love, truth, freedom, whose character are they choosing? If they live to love others more than self, whose character are they living by?
 - Romans 1:20 God’s divine nature is seen in what he has made so men are without excuse
 - For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God’s sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous.¹⁴ (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law. ¹⁵They show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts sometimes accusing them and at other times even defending them.) Romans 2:13-15

- ¹³For it is not those who hear about love, truth and freedom who are healthy and right in God's sight, but it is those who internalize in their hearts and minds the principles of love, truth and freedom and have characters transformed to be like Jesus who are diagnosed as righteous.¹⁴(Indeed, when Gentiles, who have not heard the truth about God's character, methods and principles as revealed in Scripture, internalize in their characters God's methods of love, truth and freedom which they have understood from God's revelation in nature, they are in harmony with God and his great law of love, even though they have not had the benefit of Scripture,¹⁵ since they reveal that the infection of selfishness has been removed and love has been written in their hearts, their consciences are cleansed and are in harmony with God, and their thoughts are able to discern the right from the wrong - the healthy from the unhealthy.) The Remedy Rom 2:13-15
- Revelation 12:11 these are they who do not love their lives so much as to shrink from death
- Those whom Christ commends in the judgment may have known little of theology, but they have cherished His principles. Through the influence of the divine Spirit they have been a blessing to those about them. Even among the heathen are those who have cherished the spirit of kindness; before the words of life had fallen upon their ears, they have befriended the missionaries, even ministering to them at the peril of their own lives. Among the heathen are those who worship God ignorantly, those to whom the light is never brought by human instrumentality, yet they will not perish. Though ignorant of the written law of God, they have heard His voice speaking to them in nature, and have done the things that the law required. Their works are evidence that the Holy Spirit has touched their hearts, and they are recognized as the children of God. {DA 638.2}

So, no one can be healed to be like Christ without the victory that Christ procured at the Cross. But, that doesn't mean there is some mechanical, legalistic process a person must go through in some ritualistic way claiming the right words etc. No, it is about character, about being restored to Christlikeness in heart where we love others more than self and have fear and selfishness purged by love.

This is only possible because of the victory of Jesus and even those who haven't heard of Christ, but who are transformed to love are transformed only as they partake of Christ via the work of the Holy Spirit.

THURSDAY

The lesson points us to Simeon's prophecy in Luke 2:25-35, from The Remedy:

In Jerusalem was a faithful and pure-hearted man named Simeon. He was waiting to see the deliverer, promised to come through Israel, and his mind was enlightened by the Holy Spirit.²⁶ The Holy Spirit had revealed to him that he would not die before he had seen God's Remedy.²⁷ Impressed and directed by the Holy Spirit, he went to the temple courts. When Mary and Joseph brought baby Jesus to fulfill the rituals required by the script,²⁸ Simeon held him in his arms and praised God. He said:

²⁹"Sovereign God, you have kept your promise to me and now I can retire in peace.³⁰ For with my own eyes I have seen your Remedy,³¹ whom you have sent for all the people to behold,³² a beacon of truth to enlighten the world and for the complete restoration and glorification of your triumphant people."

³³The boy's father and mother were deeply moved by what this man said about Jesus.³⁴ Then Simeon gave them his blessing and said to Mary, the boy's mother: "This child's purpose and mission is to cause the downfall of selfishness and the rising up of love in those who overcome with God, and to be the supreme evidence of God's character of love, but many will oppose him.³⁵ As a result the true thoughts and motives of many hearts will be revealed, and a sword will pierce your soul."

The Book of Luke 2015 Q2 Lesson 2

Baptism and the Temptations of Christ Jesus

A friend of mine from another faith visited Come and Reason with me one week and concluded that we surely do like to get into the details. She had never attended a religious service that talked about anything other than the basic Christian beliefs about loving God how His grace covers our sins.

She wondered if we believed that going into this depth was what we thought had to be done in order to be saved.

I responded that according to the Bible, trust and belief in God enough to keep allowing Him into your heart to do his work of healing was what saves a person.

However, the reason we take delight in digging deeper can best be expressed by

- Proverbs 24: 3-4: "By wisdom a house is built, and through understanding it is established; through knowledge its rooms are filled with rare and beautiful treasures."
- Isaiah 33: 6: "He will be a sure foundation for your times, a rich store of salvation and wisdom and knowledge; the fear of The Lord is the key to this treasure."

So let's see what rare and beautiful treasures The Lord can show us today to give beauty to our inner rooms!

INTRODUCTION

What I like about the book of Luke

Luke - Physician, a converted Gentile - not one of the 12 disciples.

Like the physicians of today, including those that attend this class, he was on a quest for honest answers, and he wasn't afraid to dig for the facts, try to understand them and to present them as understandably as he knew how. He said:

"Many have undertaken to draw up an account of the things that have been fulfilled among us, just as they were handed down to us by those who from the first were eyewitnesses and servants of the work. Therefore, since I myself have carefully investigated everything from the beginning, it seemed good also to me to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, so that you may know the certainty of the things you have been taught."

Luke writes this gospel to present Jesus as a Savior for the whole human race. The stories emphasize how kind and loving Jesus is to those despised by society (such as tax collectors, Samaritans, the poor, and women). He stresses the importance of prayer in Jesus' life.

He emphasizes facts, healing, miracles, parables, with a focus on making the events clear to the Gentiles - how to be saved

Only Luke and Matthew go into the detail of Jesus' genealogy.

Luke is the only one of the gospels to document Zechariah's prophecy about the roles of his son John the Baptist and Jesus:

Luke 1:67-79. "His father Zechariah was filled with the Holy Spirit and prophesied: 'Praise be to the Lord, the God of Israel, because he has come and has redeemed his people.

He has raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David (as he said through his holy prophets of long ago), salvation from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us - to show mercy to our fathers and to remember his holy covenant, the oath he swore to our father Abraham: to rescue us from the hand of our enemies, and to enable us to serve him without fear in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

And you, my child, will be called a prophet of the Most High; for you will go on before The Lord to prepare the way for him, to give his people the knowledge of salvation through the forgiveness of their sins, because of the tender mercy of our God, by which the rising sun will come to us from heaven to shine on those living in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the path of peace."

Luke is also the only gospel to document Simeon being moved by the Spirit to go to the temple, where he said:

Luke 2:30-32, 34, 35: "My eyes have seen your salvation which you have prepared in the sight of all people, a light for revelation to the Gentiles and for glory to your people Israel....This child is destined to cause the falling and rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against, so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed...."

All of the Gospels discuss the baptism of Jesus and the Spirit descending on Jesus in the form of a dove, but They vary in what a voice from heaven says:

- Matt: This is my Son, whom I love, with him I am well pleased
- Mark and Luke: You are my Son, whom I love, with you I am well pleased
- John: does not mention the voice, but says that John was told by the one who sent him to baptize with water that the one upon whom the dove comes down and remains is the One who baptizes with the Holy Spirit - the Son of God

Only John does not discuss the temptations, but goes straight from Jesus' baptism to gathering disciples.

Luke and Mathew go into detail about the temptations.

SABBATH

This historic figures mentioned give us a date around AD 27 or 28 for the start of the ministry of John the Baptist and Jesus points out that God chose a “lowly” man as Jesus’ herald, not one of the world’s “great men”

Tornado – the 7 huge, ancient oaks twisted and broken off, but wildflowers still all over the yard,

SUNDAY

What does repentance mean?

A change of mind – that changes the pattern of your life

“To baptize means to dip or immerse fully in water. Even before John, Jews commonly practiced this when Gentile proselytes chose to join the Jewish faith. In inviting Jews to be baptized, John the Baptist was setting forth a new principle: baptism is an occasion to publicly renounce one's old sinful ways and to prepare oneself for the coming of the Messiah”

Baptism - symbolic of death of body and spirit, resurrection to new life and spirit

Total immersion is used to symbolize whole hearted - not partial giving over – an “all in” total change of heart, as in:

- plant dies, its seed goes into soil, comes to life as a new plant.
- What Jesus was talking to Nicodemus - you must be born again.

John the Baptist said in Luke 3:16, 17:

"I baptize with water, but one more powerful than I will come, the thongs of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. His winnowing fork is in his hand to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn; but he will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.

How does Jesus baptize with the Holy Spirit and with fire?

HOLY SPIRIT

Matt. 28:18-20: "Then Jesus came to them and said, 'All authority in heaven and earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.'

- Mark 16:15-18: "He said to them, 'Go into all the world and preach the good news to all creation. Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. And these signs will accompany those who believe: In my name they will drive out demons; they will speak in new tongues; they will pick up snakes with their hands, and when they drink deadly poison, it will not hurt them at all, they will place their hands on sick people, and they will get well."

- John 20:21: "Again Jesus said, 'Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you.' And with that he breathed on them and said, 'Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive anyone his sins, they are forgiven; if you do not forgive them, they are not forgiven.'"
- Luke 24: 49: "I am going to send you what my Father has promised; but stay in the city until you have been clothed with power from on high."
- Acts 1:4-8: "On one occasion, while he was eating with them, he gave them this command, 'Do not leave Jerusalem, but wait for the gift my Father promised, which you have heard me speak about. For John baptized with water, but in a few days you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit....you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.'"
- Acts 2:1-12: When the day of Pentecost came, they were all together in one place. Suddenly a sound like the blowing of a violent wind came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting. They saw what seemed to be tongues of fire that separated and came to rest on each of them. All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them. Now there were staying in Jerusalem God-fearing Jews from every nation under heaven. When they heard this sound, a crowd came together in bewilderment, because each one heard them speaking in his own language. Utterly amazed, they asked, 'Are not all these men who are speaking Galileans? Then how is it that each of us heard them speaking in his own native language? Parthians, Medes and Elamites; residents of Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya near Cyrene, visitors from Rome (both Jews and converts to Judaism); Cretans and Arabs -we hear them declaring the wonders of God in our own tongues.'"
- Acts 2:36--39: "Therefore let all Israel be assured of this: God has made this Jesus, whom you crucified, both Lord and Christ.' When the people heard this, they were cut to the heart and said to Peter and the other apostles, 'Brothers, what shall we do?' Peter replied, 'Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins. And you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. The promise is for you and your children and for all who are far off - for all whom the Lord our God will call.'"

FIRE

- Malachi 3:2-5: "But who can endure the day of His coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire, or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites, and refine them like gold and silver. Then The Lord will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness, and the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable to The Lord, as in days gone by, as in former years."
- Malachi 4:1-3: "Surely the day is coming, it will burn like a furnace. All the arrogant and every evildoer will be stubble, and that day that is coming will set them on fire,' says The Lord Almighty. 'Not a root or a branch will be left to them. But for you who revere my name, the sun on righteousness will rise with healing in his wings. And you will go out and leap like calves released from the stall. Then you will trample down the wicked; they will be ashes under the soles of your feet on the day when I do these things,' says The Lord Almighty."

- Isaiah 43:1-3: "Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have summoned you by name; you are mine. When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and when you pass through the rivers, they will not sweep over you. When you walk through the fire, you will not be burned, the flames will not set you ablaze. For I am The Lord, your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior...since you are precious and honored in my sight, and because I love you."
- Isaiah 33: 14-16: "The sinners in Zion are terrified; trembling grips the godless. "Who of us can dwell with the consuming fire? Who of us can dwell with the everlasting burning? He who walks righteously and speaks what is right, who rejects gain from extortion and keeps his hand from accepting bribes, who stops his ears against plots of murder and shuts his eyes against contemplating evil - this is the man who will dwell on the heights, whose refuge will be the mountain fortress. His bread will be supplied and water will not fail him. Your eyes will see the king in his beauty and view a land that stretches afar."
- Jeremiah 23:29: "Is not my word like a fire," declares the Lord, "and like a hammer that breaks a rock in pieces?"

MONDAY

Why did Jesus have to be baptized?

In Mathew 3: 13-15, when John tried to deter Jesus from being baptized by John, Jesus said, "it is proper for us to do this to fulfill all righteousness."

What does to fulfill all righteousness mean?

His ministry included being an example for us of how to be full of righteousness:

1. Start with a decision to give up our life, which leads to destruction, (Baptism into the water)
2. Begin living a new life (Baptism coming out of the water)
3. Allow the Holy Spirit to fill and correct our deficiencies, (the Holy Spirit descending like a dove on Jesus following his baptism)
4. Ultimately not love our life so much as to shrink from death (the cross)

Jesus sought baptism not because He needed it as part of a post-repentance process, but to set an example for others (Matt. 3:14, 15)

Three important factors stand out concerning the baptism of Jesus:

1. John 1:29 - The Baptist's proclamation, "Behold! The Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!"
2. The Holy Spirit's anointing Him for His mission ahead

3. The heavenly proclamation that Jesus is the Son of God, in whom the Father is well pleased.”

Luke 3:21,22 - All 3 of the trinity Godhead show up in this verse - Jesus, Holy Spirit and God's voice from heaven stating that Jesus was His son, and that he was pleased with Him.

God doesn't waste words, so why did he need to say, "with you I am well pleased?"

- Show the unity and mutual support of the Trinity Godhead
- Give Jesus authority in the eyes of the witnesses
- Demonstrate his stamp of approval

Why did the Spirit come down in the shape of a dove?

Gen 8:8-12: Noah sent out a dove 3 times to see if the water had subsided and new growth began.

Matt 10:16: I am sending you out like sheep among wolves. Therefore be as shrewd as snakes and as innocent as doves.

Why do we baptize each other?

Rom 6: 1-11: "What shall we say then? Shall we go on sinning so that grace may increase? By no means! We died to sin; how can we live to it any longer, or don't you know that all of us who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? We were therefore buried with him through baptism into death in order that just as Christ was raised from the dead, through the glory of the Father, we too may live a new life. If we have been united with him like this in his death, we will certainly also be united with him in his resurrection. For we know that our old self was crucified with him so that the body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves to sin...because anyone who has died has been freed from sin. Now if we died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with him. For we know that since Christ was raised from the dead, he cannot die again; death no longer has mastery over him. The death he died, he died to sin once for all; but the life he lives, he lives to God. In the same way, count yourselves dead to sin but alive to God in Christ Jesus."

TUESDAY

“In the wilderness, when the Savior was weak for 40 days of fasting, when the journey ahead looked bleak and wary, Satan took personal command in his attack against Jesus. ‘Satan saw that he must either conquer or be conquered. The issues of this conflict involved too much to be entrusted to his confederate angels. He must personally conduct the warfare’. E G White, The Desire of Ages, p. 116”

Mathew 4: 1-3 says: That he was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil. And that after fasting forty days and forty nights, he was hungry. The tempter came to him...

Luke 4:1,2 says: “Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the desert, where for forty days he was tempted by the devil. He ate nothing during those days and at the end of them he was hungry”

So, let's see if we can understand why 40 days, rather than 30, 28, 15, etc

Research through the Bible came up these other instances of 40 days or years (in prophecy a day is counted as a year):

- Gen. 7: 17-23 - flood 40 days - until everything with breath died
- Gen. 50:1-3 - Joseph had his father embalmed for 40 days, as that is how long it takes to embalm someone
- Ex. 16: 35 - Israelites ate manna for 40 years
- Ex. 24: 18 - Moses on the mountain with God for 40 days and nights
- Ex. 34:28 - Moses back up on the mountain with God for another 40 days and nights without eating or drinking.
- Numbers 13:25 - at the end of 40 days, the spies came back from exploring the land of Canaan.
- Numbers 40:33 - Israelites told by God that they will spend 40 years in the wilderness until all of the people of military age and above were dead, one year for each day the spies were checking out Canaan since they did not trust God. To humble and test them.
- Deut 8:4 - the Israelites' clothes and sandals did not wear out or their feet swell for the 40 years
- Joshua 14:6-9 - Caleb was 40 years old when he was sent out to spy the land of Canaan
- Judges 3:7-11 - the land had rest for 40 years from after Othniel, the brother of Caleb, overcame the king of Aram until he died.
- Judges 8:28 - the land had peace 40 years after Gideon subdued Midian
- Judges 13:1 – Again the Israelites did evil in the eyes of the Lords, so the Lord delivered them into the hands of the Philistines for 40 years.
- 1 Samuel 4:18 – Eli had led Israel 40 years when he fell backward off his chair, broke his neck and died after hearing that his sons had been killed and the ark was captured.
- 1 Samuel 17:16 – David killed the Philistine Goliath after Goliath had come forward every morning and evening for 40 days to take his stand against Israel.
- 2 Samuel 5:4 – David reigned as king for 40 years
- 1 Kings 11:42 – Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel 40 years
- 1 Kings 19:8 – Elijah was fed by an angel, and strengthened by that food, he traveled 40 days and 40 nights until he reached Horeb, the mountain of God.
- 2 Kings 12:1 – Joash reigned as king in Jerusalem 40 years.
- Ezekiel 4:4-6 – God told Ezekiel to lie on one side 390 days, one day for each year of Israel's sin. Then lie down on the other side for 40 days, one day for each year of Judah's sin.

- Ezekiel 29:9-16 – God said Egypt and her cities would be a desolate waste for 40 years and disperse the Egyptians among the nations because they said they made the Nile, and mistreated God’s people.. But after 40 years, he would gather the Egyptians and return them to Upper Egypt, where they will be the lowliest of kingdoms and never again exalt itself above the other nations. Israel will never have confidence in Egypt again and will be a reminder of their sin in turning to Egypt for help.
- Jonah 3:4 – Jonah warned the people of Nineveh that in 40 days, Nineveh would be overthrown.
- Acts 1:3 – Jesus appeared to his apostles over a 40 day period after his resurrection, speaking about the kingdom of God.
- Acts 7:23 – When Moses was 40, he killed an Egyptian who was mistreating an Israelite, then fled to Midian to live as a foreigner
- Acts 7:30 – After 40 years had passed, God appeared to Moses in a bush to begin his leadership of the Israelites.

In the Bible, often one day is symbolic of a year, for instructional purposes, as noted in some of the instances above.

Consider that 40 years is a useful adult lifespan – Israel counted adults from military age up, and priests retired at age 60.

Some quotes from one of the founders of the SDA Church, Ellen G. White:

“Moses was the prospective ruler of Egypt, but God could not take him from the king’s court to do the work appointed him. Only when he had been for forty years a faithful shepherd was he sent to be the deliverer of his people.” Gospel Workers, p. 332 [My note – note year as a shepherd for each year leading Israel]

“With Christ, as with the holy pair in Eden, appetite was the ground of the first great temptation. Just where the ruin began, the work of our redemption must begin. As by the indulgence of appetite Adam fell, so by the denial of appetite Christ must overcome.” And when He had fasted forty days and forty nights, He was afterward an hungered”...From the time of Adam to that of Christ, self-indulgence had increased the power of the appetites and passions, until they had almost unlimited control. Thus men had become debased and diseased, and of themselves it was impossible for them to overcome. In man’s behalf, Christ conquered by enduring the severest test. For our sake He exercised a self-control stronger than hunger or death. And in this first victory were involved other issues that enter into all our conflicts with the powers of darkness.”

“Christ fought the battle upon the point of appetite, and came off victorious; and we also can conquer through strength derived from him. Who will enter in through the gates into the city? Not those who declare that they cannot break the force of appetite. Christ has resisted the power of him who would hold us in bondage; though weakened by his long fast of forty days, he withstood temptation, and proved by this act that our cases are not hopeless. I know that we cannot obtain the victory alone; and how thankful we should be that we have a living Savior, who is ready and willing to aid us!" Christian Temperance and Bible Hygiene 19.2

"In the wilderness of temptation, Christ was without food forty days. Moses had on especial occasions been thus long without food. But he felt not the pangs of hunger. He was not tempted and harassed by a vile and powerful foe as was the Son of God. He was elevated above the human, and especially sustained by the glory of God which enshrouded him." Confrontation 34.1

Why without food?

"When Jesus entered into the wilderness, He was shut in by the Father's glory⁷. Absorbed in communion with God, He was lifted above human weakness. But the glory departed, and He was left to battle with temptation. It was pressing upon Him every moment. His human nature shrank from the conflict that awaited Him. For forty days He fasted and prayed. Weak and emaciated from hunger, worn and haggard with mental agony, 'His visage was so marred more than any man, and His form more than the sons of men.' Now was Satan's opportunity. Now he supposed that he could overcome Christ."

"Christ entered upon the test upon the point of appetite, and for nearly six weeks resisted temptation in behalf of man. That long fast in the wilderness was to be a lesson to fallen man for all time. Christ was not overcome by the strong temptations of the enemy, and this is encouragement for every soul who is struggling against temptation. Christ has made it possible for every member of the human family to resist temptation. All who would live godly lives may overcome as Christ overcame, by the blood of the Lamb, and the word of their testimony. That long fast of the Saviour strengthened Him to endure. He gave evidence to man that He would begin the work of overcoming just where ruin began, on the point of appetite." Counsels on Diet and Foods, pages 185, 186.

In our sick state of the ebola of sin, it is hard to resist temptation to eat a snack if it has been a long while since a meal, for example; but if we miss several days of meals, we feel like we could gnaw our arm off! And we aren't the nicest folks to be around when we are "starved", are we? Yet we haven't gone anywhere near 40 days and 40 nights without eating.

It is humanity at its weakest point

The First Temptation:

Satan said to Christ: 'If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread' (Luke 4:3).

What is Satan trying to do in this account that reflects what he attempted to do in heaven?

Jesus had already been confirmed to be the Son of God by God's voice from heaven at his baptism. Bread making wasn't the issue (which would have been a simple thing for the Creator of the universe), it was:

- Doubt in that heavenly assurance. In heaven Satan challenged the authority of Jesus. He does so here as well.
- It was also an attempt to incite Jesus to "save himself"

Who looked more like the Son of God at that point?

Jesus doesn't give His opinion, or take the offensive to back Satan off, but quotes scripture, "It is written, Man does not live on bread alone" (Deut. 8:3).

Satan has no response to this.

WEDNESDAY

The Second Temptation:

Luke 4:4-8: "The devil led him up to a high place and showed him in an instant all the kingdoms of the world. And he said to him, 'I will give you all their authority and splendor, for it has been given to me, and I can give it to anyone I want to. So IF you worship me, it will all be yours.'

Satan offers all the reward of ownership of the earth, with none of the self sacrifice to get it.

"One of the issues in Lucifer's rebellion against God in heaven is that of worship; well summarized by Isaiah 14: 13, 14: 'to ascend to heaven, to exalt his throne above the stars of heaven, to be like the Most High.'

"Satan was trying to divert Christ's perspective from His divine priority and to entice Him with pomp and glory for no greater price than just a bow. He was trying to get the authority and worship that he failed to get in heaven."

Shows Satan has no idea what the Most High is really like, or how to be like the Most High or what real worship is.

Once again, Jesus doesn't give His opinion, or argue, but quotes scripture: Jesus answered, 'It is written: "Worship the Lord your God and serve him only." (Deut. 6:13)

Matthew 4:10 indicates that Jesus also said, "Away from me, Satan" during this temptation, clearly showing that Jesus knew exactly who He was dealing with.

Satan has no response to this.

THURSDAY

The Third Temptation

Satan finally decides to quote scripture himself and see if that will work. He knows the scripture, but misinterprets it.

Luke 4:9-12: The devil led him to Jerusalem and had him stand on the highest point of the temple. “IF you are the Son of God,” he said, “throw yourself down from here. For it is written: ‘He will command his angels concerning you to guard you carefully; they will lift you up in their hands, so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.’ (Ps 91:11, 12)

Here is Jesus on the very temple where God dwells among His people and where they worship Him as God.

OK, if you aren’t going to save your self from starvation or take the world for yourself with just a bow rather than self sacrifice, let God/the angels save you.

Jesus again answered with only scripture: ”It says, ‘Do not put the Lord your God to the test.’” (Deut. 6:16)

Satan had no answer for this.

“God has indeed promised the protection of his angels, but only in the context of doing His will, such as in the case of Daniel and his companions.”

Is this always the case?

What about good people, God’s people who are killed, raped, tortured, abused in all different ways? Where are the angels protecting them?

Luke 4: 13: “When the devil had finished all this tempting, he left Him until an opportune time.”

Did Satan ever give up tempting Jesus?

Note four major biblical teachings on temptation:

1. No one is free from temptations
2. When God allows temptations to come to us, He also provides grace to resist and strength to overcome
3. Temptations do not come the same way every time
4. No one is tempted beyond his or her strength to bear (1 Cor. 10:13)”

FRIDAY

Is temptation sin?

James 1:12-15: “Blessed is the one who perseveres under trial because, having stood the test, that person will receive the crown of life that the Lord has promised to those who live him. When tempted, no one should say, “God is tempting me.” For God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone; but each person is tempted when they are dragged away by their own evil desire and enticed. Then, after desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death.”

In what ways can idolatry be much more subtle than bowing down and worshiping something other than the Lord?

If a person has something or someone else they are passionate about, would you say that thing or person “has their heart?”

Referring to the time when Joseph and Mary headed home from Jerusalem and didn’t realize Jesus was not with them:

“If Joseph and Mary had stayed their minds upon God by meditation and prayer, they would have realized the sacredness of their trust, and would not have lost sight of Jesus. By one day’s neglect, they lost the Saviour; but it cost them three days of anxious search to find Him. So with us; by idle talk, evil speaking, or neglect of prayer, we may in one day lose the Saviour’s presence, and it may take many days of sorrowful search to find him, and regain the peace that we have lost.” EG White, The Desire of Ages, p 83

Who is Jesus Christ? He is our Creator, Savior, Friend. Jesus is a being of supreme love, kindness, grace, gentleness, goodness, yet all powerful, with life original in himself, underived from another.

What are some of the other views of Jesus and what problems do these other views present to the plan of salvation?

- Jesus is a prophet – not the Son of God
 - The war started in heaven over God trustworthiness, His character, His law, and the position of Christ in heaven
 - If Jesus was a prophet we learn nothing about God, other than God was willing to sacrifice one of His creatures, but not sacrifice Himself
 - Additionally, Jesus brings nothing to the equation, to our situation, to the problem other than what was inherited from Adam and what all humans inherit, thus, if just a prophet, He has nothing with which to remedy our terminal, sinful, condition.
 - This teaching leaves man hopeless – further it makes the problem of sin a defect in God, His wrath or anger and the plan of salvation based on some work of the worshipper, claiming the blood payment etc.
 - Finally, the idea of Jesus being only a prophet is based on misunderstanding God, His law, the nature of sin as being somehow a breaking of the rules, being in trouble with the one in charge, and thus needing to do something to God or change God. It fails to realize the condition of humanity was changed when Adam sinned and needed fixing.

- Jesus is a created being, but Son of God
 - Again, we learn nothing about God's character other than His willingness to sacrifice one of His creatures to save Himself.
 - If this were true Jesus would not be the source of life, so He does not have life to give to those who are terminal in sin.
 - It makes God out to be arbitrary and legalistic as Jesus becomes nothing more than a legal payment to an offended God.
- Jesus is the divine offspring of God, second to God, but of the same substance and not created like other created beings.
 - Undermines God's character of love because teaches there was a time in eternity past in which there was a singularity, a single supreme being, with no other in existence, thus no object to love or sacrifice self for. Thus, the teaching that God is love and His character is constantly and always love is undermined.
 - Jesus becomes sacrificed to protect the Father – even though those who take this approach suggest it is a bigger sacrifice for a father to sacrifice their child than to sacrifice themselves.
 - But such a conclusion is predicated on the character of the father who is sacrificing his son. If God is love, then sacrificing his son would be harder than sacrificing himself. But, if God is the kind of being Satan alleges, i.e. selfish, then this would not be true. Many selfish parents sacrifice their children to protect themselves.
 - Thus, the sacrifice of a son, less than Himself, doesn't reveal whether the Father is love or not. It reveals the Son loves us, but we still don't know about the Father. Only, if the Son is fully God in all ways, can we accurately and confidently know God is love, for Jesus said, "If you've seen me you've seen the Father." Thus, we can know it was a great sacrifice for God to surrender His Son.
 - And because in this view the Son is less than God, we don't actually learn about God, we learn about the Son. But, when we accept Jesus is fully God, then we not only learn about the Son, we also learn about the Father and Jesus' words, "if you seen me you've seen the Father" have deeper meaning.
- Jesus was not born of a fallen human woman, but of a sinless human woman
 - First, how did Mary become sinless without Jesus? And who were her parents? From where did she get her sinless humanity? And if Mary could somehow obtain sinlessness without Jesus, then why not the rest of humanity, what was the reason for Jesus at all, if one could become sinless without Him?
 - Second, if this is true then we cannot be saved – why? Because, in this view, Jesus didn't partake of the human nature that needed to be cured, so whatever He did on earth did not procure a remedy for our situation.
 - This theory is based on accepting a false law construct, i.e. God's law is imposed, and that sin is breaking the rules and is offensive to God, so offensive that sin cannot exist in God's presence, so Mary had to be without sin in order to carry Jesus. And the problem is God is offended and God needs to be propitiated. This view denies that Christ came to cure the human condition. This entire theory is based on accepting a lie about God's law.

- Jesus was not born of humanity, but merely appeared to do His mission at age 30
 - Again, this leaves us without remedy because Jesus, in this view, didn't partake of our condition and thus didn't overcome and cure it. He didn't develop throughout his life, by the exercise of His human brain, a perfect human character. So no remedy exists.
 - It is also based on the idea that God's law is imposed and what was needed was to reveal the truth about God and pay a legal penalty, but not actually cure the human condition by developing a perfect human character while being tempted in every way just like us, as the Scripture teaches.

So who is Jesus? God the Son who became human, and overcame sin as a human being, by the exercise of His human brain, developing a perfect humanity and eliminating from the humanity He partook, the infection of fear and selfishness. Thus Jesus is the Vine, the source, the conduit, through which God's perfect character of love flows back into the species human. All who trust Him receive His victory reproduced in them, such that "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me." We actually get new desires, motives, longings, insights, and make new choices to live in harmony with God and His design of love!

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Luke 7:17-22, let's read through vs. 23, here is from The Remedy:

After this, news about Jesus spread like wildfire throughout Judea and the surrounding country.

¹⁸John's students told him everything Jesus was doing. He called two of them ¹⁹and sent them to Jesus to ask, "Are you the one who God promised to send, or should we look for another?"

²⁰When the students came to Jesus, they said to him, "John the Baptist sent us to ask you, 'Are you the one who God promised to send, or should we look for another?'" ²¹As they stood watching, Jesus demonstrated God's methods; he cured many people of disease, infections, and mental oppression, and to those who were blind he gave sight. ²²Then he turned to John's students and said, "Go back and tell John what you have witnessed here. The blind see, the paralyzed walk, those with leprosy are cured, the deaf hear, the dead are raised to life, and the Remedy is given freely to the poor." ²³Happy and healthy is person who doesn't reject me."

Why did John ask? What type of coming did the Jews expect? Was Jesus coming fulfilling their expectations? How did Jesus respond to John's question? He gave evidence – and what did His evidence reveal?

Level 1-4 – God has power and Jesus is from God because He has power.

Levels 5-7 – God not only has power, but God is love. He uses His power only to bless, to heal, to dispel evil, to cure. He gives of Himself for our good. God is compassionate, forgiving, gracious, trustworthy and His purpose is to restore this creation to a love relationship with Him, not establish authority in order to rule in dominance like earthly governments.

What do people expect today about the second coming of Christ?

- Secret coming
- Vengeful coming with powerful destruction of enemies and infliction of punishment

Will Jesus come in either of these ways? Did people miss out on Jesus' first coming because they had false expectations? Is there risk of the same problem today?

What caused the people to have false expectations about His first coming?

They didn't understand God's law and character. They viewed God through the lens of human imposed laws and governments, and thought God's justice looked like our own. They therefore expected Him to come, use power and might to destroy His enemies and inflict punishment upon them.

What about today – do many good people misunderstand God and His law, and thus His character? Do many people believe God's law is no different in quality to sinful humans, imposed rules requiring external enforcement and thus it seems only just to them that God should come and inflict pain, suffering and death for disobedience?

This is Satan's goal, to set the world up to accept him as Jesus, and only those who have come back to the truth about God's character of love, and worship Him who is the Designer, the Creator and understand His law as Design law will recognize the fraud.

So what will Christ's coming be like?

- The protective hand of God, which has shielded sinful earth from the full reality of God and His universe is removed and earth is brought out of its shielded position and enters into the fullness of God's presence? And what happens? The righteous living are transformed, the righteous dead are raised to eternal life, and the wicked on earth are so overwhelmed with truth and love that their fearful and selfish minds can handle it and they shut down, go into sleep mode, awaiting resurrection at the end of the 1000 years.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, "In Luke 1:31, 32... What throne did Lucifer want to usurp? Was it merely a piece of furniture?

Did Lucifer want to sit upon a particular chair? No, Lucifer wanted to enthrone himself in the minds of intelligent creatures as the one most loved, adored, worshipped, admired, and to whom beings were loyal.

Satan wanted to dethrone God, not from a chair or building, but from the hearts and minds of intelligent beings. And if this was his goal, what is the method to achieve this? To lie about God such that trust, love and admiration of God is replaced with fear, selfishness and loathing of God.

Jesus would defeat Satan and this strategy – how? What method did Jesus use to defeat Satan?

Hebrews 2:14, “by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death that is the devil.”

How did Jesus destroy Satan and his power?

Here is a great historical quote that says it very nicely, understanding the war, as it says in 2Cor 10:3-5 is over the knowledge of God being fought out in the minds of intelligent beings:

"In the atonement the character of God is revealed....In the contest between Christ and Satan, during the Saviors earthly ministry, the character of the great deceiver was unmasked. Nothing could so effectually have uprooted Satan from the affections of the heavenly angels and the whole loyal universe as did his cruel warfare upon the worlds redeemer.GC.493.

Satan saw that his disguise was torn away. His administration was laid open before the unfallen angels and before the heavenly universe. He had revealed himself as a murderer. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he had uprooted himself from the sympathies of the heavenly beings. Henceforth his work was restricted. Whatever attitude he might assume, he could no longer await the angels as they came from the heavenly courts, and before them accuse Christ's brethren of being clothed with the garments of blackness and the defilement of sin. The last link of sympathy between Satan and the heavenly world was broken. {DA 761.2}

What caused Satan's movements to be restricted? Was it some imposition of power on God's part, or the minds of heavenly beings closing to the influence of Satan?

What will it take to restrict Satan's influence on earth, the use of some imposition of power from God, or the minds of humans being so settled into the truth about God that they are closed to Satan's lies and influence?

What do you see happening in the world, is Satan's power being more and more restricted because minds are closing to his lies? Or, are more and more people accepting Satan's method of rulership, and teaching God is like Satan in character, a being who must inflict punishment? How many people believe justice is killing one's enemy? This is Satan's view of justice, not God's.

And what is happening in the world? People are being drawn more and more into a worldview in which they believe it is right and just to inflict pain, suffering and death on one's enemies.

Read fourth paragraph, “Yet, the relationship...” In His pre-incarnate state, Jesus did interact with the Father as equal. But, during His 33 years on earth, did Jesus maintain the close tie with the Father through His divinity?

Jesus was fully divine, but did He use His divinity to maintain the connection, or did He maintain His connection with the Father as a human being would, by faith and trust in the Father?

- Jesus said He did nothing on His own –
- He was tempted in all points like us, but divinity cannot be tempted, so this was His humanity being tempted.
- His humanity needed to exercise faith/trust in the Father, and exercise perfect decision making in that relationship with His Father, thus He maintained His connection with His Father with His human nature.
- He was tempted to use His divine power, but He never did, instead keeping His humanity connected by a faith/trust relationship with His Father

It is true He was always divine, and therefore was always still connected to the Father, but in some way we cannot fully understand, His human nature did not benefit from His own divine abilities or connection, but stayed connected to the Father as a human would. In fact, His divine nature caused His trials and ordeal on earth to be more severe. He was tempted to use divine powers we are never tempted to use – and the intensity of the breaking up of His relationship with the Father at Gethsemane and Calvary was infinitely more severe because of His connection with the Father than anything any human being will ever experience.

Here are a couple of historic quotes:

But He humbled Himself, and took mortality upon Him. As a member of the human family, He was mortal; but as a God, He was the fountain of life to the world. He could, in His divine person, ever have withstood the advances of death, and refused to come under its dominion; but He voluntarily laid down His life, that in so doing He might give life and bring immortality to light. He bore the sins of the world, and endured the penalty, which rolled like a mountain upon His divine soul. He yielded up His life a sacrifice, that man should not eternally die. He died, not through being compelled to die, but by His own free will. {FLB 46.7}

As a remedy for the terrible consequences into which selfishness led the human race, God gave His only begotten Son to die for mankind. How could He have given more? In this gift He gave Himself. "I and My Father are one," said Christ. By the gift of His Son, God has made it possible for man to be redeemed and restored to oneness with Him. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Love is the great principle that actuates unfallen beings. With amazement the angels behold the indifference that those who have light and knowledge manifest toward a world unsaved. The heavenly host are filled with an intense desire to work through human agencies to restore in man the image of God. They are ready and waiting to do this work. The combined power of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost is pledged to uplift man from his fallen state. Every attribute, every power of divinity has been placed at the command of those who unite with the Saviour in winning men to God. O, that all would appreciate the truth as it is in Jesus. O, that all would love God in return for the love wherewith He has loved them. {Worker's Bulletin, September 9, 1902 par. 4}

Read second paragraph, “The humanity...” Why is it essential that Christ was fully God and fully man?

Read sixth paragraph, “Fourth, note how complete...” What do you think about His foreknowledge? Did Jesus have foreknowledge or only predictions and hopes, like any other human and then went on to fulfill His predictions. Like a ball player pointing to center field to hit a homerun, and then hits the home run to center field?

Does God have real foreknowledge or only educated guesses?

This issue, every time I discuss it, gets some real intense feedback from a few people. Let me put those people in the best light – those whom I have talked to who reject God has foreknowledge, do so because they want to protect God’s reputation as a being of love. In their view, they believe that if God knows our decisions before we make them, then we are not free, and if we are not free then there is no love. So, their motive is to present God as a being of supreme love.

I respect that, and most of the people who hold to Open Theism, would agree with us on many of the major points we teach, because they truly believe in a God who is love and gives us real freedom, just as we do.

As far as I can tell, thus far in my understanding, the divergence comes on the question of whether knowing the future causes the future, i.e. takes away freedom or not. If it were true, that to know the future would be a preprogramming of choices, in which we were all simply carrying out computer programmed operations from a supreme programmer, then I would also reject the idea of God’s foreknowledge. So to view foreknowledge like this would result in a need to reject the idea of foreknowledge.

However, I believe such a construct is extremely restrictive and is evidence of a finite mind trying to force an infinite God into a construct of its own devising.

In my understanding, foreknowledge does not equal causality. To foreknow something doesn’t cause the being making the decision to make that decision. But this is philosophical, we should look at evidence of history and Scripture to weigh in on our conclusions.

Since we are talking about Jesus we will look at His life today.

- Did Jesus know what Judas would do i.e. betray Him, before Judas betrayed Him? Did Jesus foretell it? Did Jesus cause Judas to betray Him or was Judas’ choice freely made?
 - Jesus own words: “I am not referring to all of you; I know those I have chosen. But this is to fulfill this passage of Scripture: ‘He who shared my bread has turned against me.’ “I am telling you now before it happens, so that when it does happen you will believe that I am who I am. Jn 13:18,19

- Does it sound like Jesus is guessing?
 - Does it sound like Jesus is acting like a fortune teller?
 - When Jesus revealed the future of Judas' actions, did Jesus make the decision for Judas? Or was Judas still free to make his own decision?
 - Did Jesus in fact try and reach Judas and convert him to loyalty?
- Here is an historic quote, "But Judas did not come to the point of surrendering himself fully to Christ. He did not give up his worldly ambition or his love of money. While he accepted the position of a minister of Christ, he did not bring himself under the divine molding. He felt that he could retain his own judgment and opinions, and he cultivated a disposition to criticize and accuse." {DA 716.4}
 - Does this sound like someone who Christ was controlling?
 - How could Jesus know what choices Judas would make unless He had foreknowledge? Or do we suggest Jesus was guessing?
- Did Jesus predict He would be crucified?
 - How did Jesus know they would crucify Him?
 - They had dragged him out to throw Him off a cliff at one point, they wanted to stone Him at another point.
 - They did stone Stephen without permission of the Romans, so how did Jesus know they would put Him on trial, turn Him over the Romans and crucify Him?
 - Could He actually know all these decisions so accurately without foreknowledge?
 - And did Jesus' foreknowledge cause them to do this?
- Did God (Jesus before incarnation) predict He would be crucified between two thieves and have his clothes gambled over?
 - How could He know this if He didn't know the choices men would make before they made them?
 - And was an angel there forcing the soldiers to put Jesus in the middle and then gamble over his clothing? Or were these choices made by those people?

There are multiple more examples that demonstrate God does know the future, but we are still free. It gives me confidence to trust a God who respects my choices, but isn't caught by surprise.

Here is another historic quote:

He that rules in the heavens is the one who sees the end from the beginning--the one before whom the mysteries of the past and the future are alike outspread, and who, beyond the woe and darkness and ruin that sin has wrought, beholds the accomplishment of His own purposes of love and blessing. Though "clouds and darkness are round about Him: righteousness and judgment are the foundation of His throne." Psalm 97:2, R.V. And this the inhabitants of the universe, both loyal and disloyal, will one day understand. "His work is perfect: for all His ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is He." Deuteronomy 32:4. {PP 43.1}

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Luke 9:18-27, this is from The Remedy:

¹⁸When Jesus was again alone with his interns, he asked them, "Who do the people say that I am?"

²¹Jesus gave them strict warning not to tell this to anyone else at this time.²²Then he told them what would transpire. "The Son of Man must bear the hostility, abuse, mistreatment, and rejection of the church leaders, elders, chief priests, theologians who teach a legal religion, and then be killed, and on the third day raised back to life."

²³Then Jesus said to them all, "If anyone wants to follow me into unity with my Father, he must surrender his life, willingly choose to die to selfishness and follow me in love."²⁴Whoever follows the survival-of-the-fittest instinct and seeks to save his or her life will lose it because the infection of selfishness will not be eliminated, but whoever loses his life in love for me will find eternal life for he or she will have been restored back to God's design for life, selfless other-centered love.²⁵What good does it do to selfishly hoard all the treasures of the world only to die eternally, consumed by selfishness?²⁶If anyone is ashamed of me and my methods of truth and love, the Son of Man will be ashamed of him or her, ashamed they are not healed and able to live in his presence when he comes in his unveiled splendor and in the fullness of his Father's glory with his holy angels.²⁷I tell you the plain truth; some of you right here will not sleep in death before you see the Son of Man glorified in his kingdom of love."

THURSDAY

The Transfiguration – what was its purpose? Why do you think Moses and Elijah were sent to speak with Jesus? Who did they represent?

It is the second coming, the glorification of Christ in miniature, Moses represents the saved raised from the dead, and Elijah those translated without seeing death, and Christ glorified.

What might they have spoken about? Here is a description from the book The Desire of Ages:

Bearing the weakness of humanity, and burdened with its sorrow and sin, Jesus walked alone in the midst of men. As the darkness of the coming trial pressed upon Him, He was in loneliness of spirit, in a world that knew Him not. Even His loved disciples, absorbed in their own doubt and sorrow and ambitious hopes, had not comprehended the mystery of His mission. He had dwelt amid the love and fellowship of heaven; but in the world that He had created, He was in solitude. Now heaven had sent its messengers to Jesus; not angels, but men who had endured suffering and sorrow, and who could sympathize with the Saviour in the trial of His earthly life. Moses and Elijah had been colaborers with Christ. They had shared His longing for the salvation of men... Elijah had known loneliness of spirit, as for three years and a half of famine he had borne the burden of the nation's hatred and its woe. Alone he had stood for God upon Mount Carmel. Alone he had fled to the desert in anguish and despair. These men, chosen above every angel around the throne, had come to commune with Jesus concerning the scenes of His suffering, and to comfort Him with the assurance of the sympathy of heaven. The hope of the world, the salvation of every human being, was the burden of their interview. {DA 425}

Do you think they also mentioned, how they had stumbled, but had confidence Jesus would succeed?

Bottom pink section, states, “Thus, even Jesus Himself, who had comforted so many others, sought solace and comfort for Himself. What should that tell us about how even the strongest spiritually among us, even our leaders, teachers, and guides, can at times need solace, encouragement, and help from others?”

How many fear seeking comfort, solace, encouragement? Should we?

2nd Quarter 2015 Lesson 4 – The Call to Discipleship

SABBATH

“Then He said to them all, ‘If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me’ ” (Luke 9:23, NKJV).

I like the definition of Disciple = Pupil, from the lesson. Since Christ is the source of infinite knowledge, we will always be learning [see the 1st Commandment].

“God takes men as they are, and educates them for His service, if they will yield themselves to Him. The Spirit of God, received into the soul, will quicken all its faculties. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, the mind that is devoted unreservedly to God develops harmoniously, and is strengthened to comprehend and fulfill the requirements of God. The weak, vacillating character becomes changed to one of strength and steadfastness. Continual devotion establishes so close a relation between Jesus and His disciple that the Christian becomes like Him in mind and character.”—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 251.

It’s reassuring that God “takes men as they are, ...” It’s clear that we need to be teachable to be true disciples.

SUNDAY

Fishers of Men

What can we learn from the miracle of Luke 5: 1-11?

1. Nature obeys it’s Creator.
2. When God gives, He gives abundantly.
3. We need to be willing to follow, even if we don’t know the outcome.
4. We may be called to give up what we have become accustomed to.
5. We see the presentation of Truth [Christ’s teaching from the boat], the application of His Truth [“nevertheless, at Your word.”], evidence of Trustworthiness [boatloads of fish], recognition of God’s Holiness / our sickness [“Depart from me, for I am a sinful man.”], the beginnings of the eradication of fear/selfishness [“Do not be afraid. From now on you will catch men.”], and strengthened faith / works [leaving the boats / catch and following Jesus].
6. Anything else?

I like the lessons observation in the bottom section about Peter’s sinfulness prompting him to want to be separated from Jesus. It wasn’t “The Lamb’s” wrath wanting Peter gone, was it? “What is it about sin ... that pushes us away from God?” Thoughts? Which Law lens are we looking through?

MONDAY

Selection of the Twelve

Why twelve apostles? Why were none of them “church leaders”? What were their names?

When morning came, he called his disciples to him and chose twelve of them, whom he also designated apostles: Simon (whom he named Peter), his brother Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James son of Alphaeus, Simon who was called the Zealot, Judas son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor. Luke 6: 13-16.

I forgot there were 2 Judases. Also, interesting that He included a “Zealot” in the bunch.

Is there a significance in the number 12? 12 months, 12 hours AM/PM, 12 sons of Jacob [including Joseph’s Ephraim and Manasseh] leading to the 12 tribes of Israel, Christ was 12 years old when he is first recorded as speaking [teaching the church leaders], Rev 12:1 mentions a woman [symbolic Bride of Christ] wearing a crown of 12 stars, and the 144,00 [12 X 12 X 1,000], 12 layers of the Holy City’s foundation, 12 gates in to the Holy City, the City, itself, being a 12, 000 furlong [1500 miles] cube. Any other 12’s you can think of?

What is common to the twelve apostles? What is different about them?

TUESDAY

Commissioning of the Apostles

What insights can we glean from Christ giving the 12 power and authority to cast out all demons, and to cure disease? To proclaim the Kingdom of God, and heal the sick? Why take nothing with them, save the clothes on their backs? Why stay only in one house?

This is a wonderful EGW quote from the lesson:

“As the will of man co-operates with the will of God, it becomes omnipotent. Whatever is to be done at His command may be accomplished in His strength. All His biddings are enablings.”—
Ellen G. White, Christ’s Object Lessons, p. 333.

All His biddings are enablings. Does this give us any additional insights on the Ten Commandments?

They were to preach “the Kingdom of God” and its nearness. What is the Kingdom of God that they were to preach? Is it sensible that this was done in concert with the healing of the sick?

WEDNESDAY

Sending the Seventy

Luke Ch. 10 states that Christ prepared seventy-two to precede Him to the towns He was to travel. Was this just good marketing or something else? Why not greet anyone on the road? Note in v. 16: “Whoever listens to you listens to me; whoever rejects you rejects me; but whoever rejects me rejects him who sent me.”

Also, in v. 18: “I saw Satan fall like lightning from Heaven.” Why did Jesus use this simile? Was He talking about a past or future event? or both?

The lesson makes an excellent point in the last part of the 2nd paragraph:

“But what is important is that Jesus, as a trainer of leaders for the church, has left a strategy not to concentrate power and responsibility in a few but to spread it across the spectrum of disciples.”

Has Protestant Christianity followed this model, or have we followed the Imperial Roman model?

The lesson asks a great question in the bottom section. “What are some of the things that we have seen that prophets and kings wanted to see, but didn’t?”

THURSDAY

The Cost of Discipleship

Here’s another EGW quote from PP 599, 600 [emphasis supplied]:

All things in nature testify to the tender, fatherly care of our God and to His desire to make His children happy. His prohibitions and injunctions are not intended merely to display His authority, but in all that He does He has the well-being of His children in view. He does not require them to give up anything that it would be for their best interest to retain.

Note that God does not arbitrarily “just throw His weight around”. Does this give us some better perspective and understanding on the Ten Commandments? Especially the 4th one?

If God does not require us to give up anything beneficial, then what is the real cost of discipleship?

From Friday’s Lesson:

“Lifting the cross cuts away self from the soul, and places man where he learns how to bear Christ’s burdens. We cannot follow Christ without wearing His yoke, without lifting the cross and bearing it after Him. If our will is not in accord with the divine requirements, we are to deny our inclinations, give up our darling desires, and step in Christ’s footsteps.”—Ellen G. White, Sons and Daughters of God, p. 69.

Look at Luke 9: 23-27.

23 Then he said to them all: “Whoever wants to be my disciple must deny themselves and take up their cross daily and follow me. 24 For whoever wants to save their life will lose it, but whoever loses their life for me will save it. 25 What good is it for someone to gain the whole world, and yet lose or forfeit their very self? 26 Whoever is ashamed of me and my words, the Son of Man will be ashamed of them when he comes in his glory and in the glory of the Father and of the holy angels. 27 “Truly I tell you, some who are standing here will not taste death before they see the kingdom of God.”

What does He mean “take up their cross daily and follow me”? How do we lose our life if we want to save it, and save it if we lose it for Him? Also, what did He mean by “..., some who are standing here will not taste death before they see the Kingdom of God.” ?

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 3

Christ as the Lord of the Sabbath

I received this email recently:

First and foremost, thank you for The Remedy Bible, understanding made easy.

I have been following your classes since 2009 and been most blessed person. I have tremendously grown from glory to glory as I have learnt not to reflect attitudes of other men, and have learnt the art of being fully persuaded in my own mind before I can adapt or pass on anything to the next person.

I have been appointed to lead a Sabbath School Teachers' lesson whereby I would facilitate among Sabbath school teachers! I normally contribute from the terraces so to speak, so this appointment most probably was a result of the quality of discussions I contribute -they are REASONABLE and integrated - scripture, science and experience. My first reaction was to decline as I knew I would be at tangent between the long held fables and tradition as standard belief with my view premised on a God who designed the universe according to His design template of natural law. However, I overcame fear and it is during the Sabbath School lessons that I have the opportunity to share the good news about God. I ask for prayers to be able to witness for God without fear of rejection.

If you will note too, that the Lesson 12 of the quarter on Proverbs used your book as resource material, I feel so so encouraged that we are indeed unmasking the devil.

May God continue to bless you, and I know one day God will allow an opportunity to open a Theology University, may I be amongst the first to enroll at your bible school. I actually encourage you to, as this will be a sure way to undo what has been held for 500 years about God. I am 50 years and with the way you share the truth about God, feel I have a brand new mind that can easily process anything in that regard.

Thank you once more Dr. Jennings.

SABBATH

Read memory text – Mark 2:27,28, from The Remedy:

After a moment to let them think he said, "The Sabbath was created as a gift for humanity, to be a blessing for human beings. Human beings were not created as a gift for the Sabbath.²⁸ Understand this clearly, the Son of Man doesn't serve the Sabbath, it serves him."

What does it mean the Sabbath was made for man? How is the Sabbath for man?

Remember the Sabbath to keep it holy – which day of the week has more “worldly” activity, partying, etc.? Could it be Friday night and Sabbath? Does all the wickedness done by humans make the Sabbath less holy?

Can anything you do make the Sabbath less holy? Then what does it mean to keep the Sabbath holy? Are we keeping the Sabbath holy, or are we keeping ourselves holy?

And, can you keep yourself holy only one day a week? Or, to be holy one must be holy every day of the week?

Read second paragraph Friday's lesson:

No other institution which was committed to the Jews tended so fully to distinguish them from surrounding nations as did the Sabbath. God designed that its observance should designate them as His worshipers. It was to be a token of their separation from idolatry, and their connection with the true God. But in order to keep the Sabbath holy, men must themselves be holy. Through faith they must become partakers of the righteousness of Christ. DA 283

So, then what is the purpose of the Sabbath and what does it mean to “keep it holy”?

What does it mean to be holy?

“It is not enough for us to know and respect the words of the Scriptures. We must enter into the understanding of them, studying them earnestly. . . . Christians will reveal the degree to which they do this by the healthiness of their spiritual character. We must know the practical application of the Word to our own individual character-building. We are to be holy temples, in which God can live and walk and work.” {LHU 105.5}

“Holiness is not rapture: it is an entire surrender of the will to God; it is living by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God; it is doing the will of our heavenly Father; it is trusting God in trial, in darkness as well as in the light; it is walking by faith and not by sight; it is relying on God with unquestioning confidence, and resting in His love.” {AA 51.2}

“True holiness is wholeness in the service of God. This is the condition of true Christian living. Christ asks for an unreserved consecration, for undivided service. He demands the heart, the mind, the soul, the strength...

Why does Christ demand this? Because it is His right? Because He has paid the price? Because He is Creator? Because He is Sovereign? No, He demands this because He is the source of life, health, happiness, and only in a surrendered relationship with Him can we have life and health and happiness. It is for our good, not His need. Anything else and we cut ourselves off from life.

“... Self is not to be cherished. He who lives to himself is not a Christian.

“Love must be the principle of action. Love is the underlying principle of God's government in heaven and earth, and it must be the foundation of the Christian's character. This alone can make and keep him steadfast. This alone can enable him to withstand trial and temptation...”

“This is the religion of Christ. Anything short of it is a deception. No mere theory of truth or profession of discipleship will save any soul [Jennings - no mere legal accounting]. We do not belong to Christ unless we are His wholly. It is by halfheartedness in the Christian life that men become feeble in purpose and changeable in desire. The effort to serve both self and Christ makes one a stony-ground hearer, and he will not endure when the test comes upon him.” {COL 48-50}

Read second paragraph, “Indeed, ‘Christ, during... What are the “binding claims of the Sabbath”?”

What does this mean? How do you hear it? Does it mean some legal restriction? Some legal command, and if you break the legal command to cease and desist you will be punished?

Which law lens do you understand the “binding claims of the Sabbath” through? Do you view it through human law, impose rules requiring external enforcement, or Design Law, protocols upon which reality functions?

If we think Design Law what does “binding claims” mean?

What does the word claim mean? An assertion of fact – what fact does the Sabbath assert?

- God is Creator
- God's law is Design Law
- God's methods are Truth presented in Love leaving us Free
- The Sabbath claims God does not impose rules and threaten us with imposed punishments. That God presents evidence in love, and leaves us free and this wins us to loyalty to Him.

What does binding mean?

- Anyone ski or snowboard? What are the fasteners that fasten the boots to the ski or board called? Bindings – and what is their function? To hold or bind the ski and boot together
- What are the “binding” claims of the Sabbath?
- The truths about God, evidenced by the Sabbath, His character of truth, love and freedom, embodied in its creation, that when understood and recognized, “bind” us to Him.
- Thus, the Sabbath is a sign that God sanctifies, or heals and restores us to righteousness. How?
- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust –
- Truth believed destroys lies and wins to trust, and in trust we open the heart to receive the HS who heals and restores us in righteousness
- The Sabbath, when rightly understood, claims God is a God of love, truth and freedom, these claims when realized and internalized into the heart as reality bind in love and trust to God and result in our opening the heart and being sanctified or renewed by His Spirit.

Thus, in the quote, the author noted, that the Jews perverted the Sabbath so that the character of God was obstructed by their rules and restrictions.

Presenting the Sabbath as a legal requirement, filled with legal restrictions, an arbitrary test of obedience, one distorts the claims of the Sabbath and presents the Sabbath to claim God is a dictator and thus the Sabbath becomes a tool to harden hearts and turn people away from God.

The true claims of the Sabbath is that God is love who presents truth in love leaving us free; those who accept these claims find their hearts bound to God in loyalty, trust and love.

But, those who reject these claims, and instead teach God's law is not Design Law upon which creation operates, but are imposed rules like created beings make, distort God's character to be like fallen human beings, regardless of which day they go to church, and thus are not Sabbath keepers. They would be like the Jews who crucified Christ and wanted Him off the cross in time to observe the right day of the week.

Here is an historic quote from one of the founders of the SDA church:

"In presenting the binding claims of the law, many have failed to portray the infinite love of Christ. Those who have so great truths, so weighty reforms to present to the people, have not had a realization of the value of the atonement Sacrifice as an expression of God's great love to man. Love for Jesus, and Jesus' love for sinners, have been dropped out of the religious experience of those who have been commissioned to preach the gospel, and self has been exalted instead of the Redeemer of mankind. The law is to be presented to its transgressors, not as something apart from God, but rather as an exponent of His mind and character. As the sunlight cannot be separated from the sun, so God's law cannot be rightly presented to man apart from the divine Author...

Which is closer to the sun/sunlight analogy, Imposed law – God making up rules, or Design law, God creating reality to operate in harmony with Him and He is the constant source of life energy that sustains it all? So when we present imposed law constructs we separate the law from God's character of love.

"The messenger should be able to say, "In the law is God's will; come, see for yourselves that the law is what Paul declared it to be--'holy, and just, and good.' "It reproves sin, it condemns the sinner, but it shows him his need of Christ, with whom is plenteous mercy and goodness and truth. Though the law cannot remit the penalty for sin, but charges the sinner with all his debt, Christ has promised abundant pardon to all who repent, and believe in His mercy...

Why can the law not remit the penalty of sin? Why can the law of health not remit the penalty of drinking poison? What can remit the penalty of drinking poison? What does charge the sinner with all his debt mean? It means diagnosis him accurately with all his defectiveness and deviations from God's design. And the abundant pardon, what does it mean? It is to those who repent, they receive transformation and renewal to be restored to God's design, thus the cancer of sin remits, the character remits back to God's original intent.

“...The love of God is extended in abundance to the repenting, believing soul. The brand of sin upon the soul can be effaced only through the blood of the atoning Sacrifice...”

What does this mean? The love of God is poured out upon those who turn to God in trust. Sin marred or branded the character of humanity to look like Satan, selfish and fearful. The blood is metaphor for the life, and only Christ destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness and perfectly restored God’s character into the human species, thus only through Christ’s life, of which we are privileged to partake by trust, do we experience rebirth, with new heart motives of love and trust.

“... No less an offering was required than the sacrifice of Him who was equal with the Father. The work of Christ--His life, humiliation, death, and intercession for lost man--magnifies the law, and makes it honorable.” {1SM 371.1}

What binds us to God? Love and the law rightly understood is an expression of God’s love, and is the protocol upon which all life is built

SUNDAY

The lesson points out that it was Jesus’ custom to go to the synagogue on Sabbath – why?

Was Jesus going to the synagogue on Sabbath because the law required going to the synagogue on Sabbath?

Why did He go? Where would He find those whom He came to save on Sabbath? At the synagogues, thus He went to reach them with the truth. If they were having an outdoor revival meeting on Sabbath, and the synagogue was closed, would Jesus have gone to the synagogue and sat by Himself on Sabbath?

Sabbath “observance” is not about being at a particular physical location, but having a particular heart and mindset with God. And in that heart and mindset carrying out and fulfilling God’s purpose for your life, every day of the week, including on the Sabbath day.

The lesson asks, “Why should we make it our custom to go to church on the Sabbath, as Jesus went to the synagogue on the Sabbath?”

Does it matter to which church one is going?

- Are there places in the world where there are no churches to attend?
- Are there churches in the world that are so unhealthy it would be damaging to attend? Didn’t Christ tell His apostles that in some circumstances shake the dust off your feet and leave?
- I say this because church attendance should not be from level four and below, rules that we must keep and if we don’t go to church on Sabbath we are sinning.
- But, assuming there is a church to attend, and that church is not a destructive place to be, why attend church on Sabbath?

- To fellowship together
- To encourage others and be encouraged by others
- To learn from each other
- To minister to others
- To share together the love of God
- To celebrate God with people who love Him and appreciate Him as you do
- To coordinate and work together for ministry and mission
- To pool resources to sharing the gospel message
- other reasons?

What would be a immature, childish reason to attend church on Sabbath? Because God commanded us to be here... this is like your adult child telling their friends they brush their teeth because mommy commands it.

Read bottom pink section, “Those who accuse...” I have many patients who are burned out and exhausted. They work full time and have families and home responsibilities. They go to church on Sunday morning, but as soon as church is over they are busy with the problems of life again, laundry, housecleaning, yard work etc. And the thought of taking one day in seven off, results in guilt, feeling as if they are not fulfilling their duties. Understanding the truth about the Sabbath, that it is a gift for mankind, that it provides an oasis in time to come away from responsibilities, work without guilt for leaving other duties undone, and immerse oneself in the larger reality of God, His kingdom of love and community.

The first paragraph points out one of the main reasons it was important for people to attend synagogue was that it was a place to hear God’s Word. And this doesn’t mean hear a sermon; it means to actually hear the Scripture read. People didn’t have Bibles in their own possession, so going to synagogue was essential to be able to hear the Word of God read each week.

Read Luke 4:18-21

“The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to set the oppressed free,¹⁹ to proclaim the year of the Lord’s favor.”

²⁰ Then he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant and sat down. The eyes of everyone in the synagogue were fastened on him. ²¹ He began by saying to them, “Today this scripture is fulfilled in your hearing.”

What does it mean? What did Christ come to do? Christ’s mission was to:

- Reveal the truth about God to those poor in spiritual wisdom and understanding –
 - Why was this needed? And what is this revelation supposed to accomplish?
- Bring freedom to those in bondage
 - From what bondage was Jesus coming to free them?
 - Fear of death Heb 2:14
 - Lies about God (Jn 8:32)
 - Their own carnal nature (1Jn 4:8)
- Provide insight, wisdom and discernment to those in the darkness of superstition and legal views of God
 - Was this needed?
 - What is the problem with viewing God through legal lenses?
- Free those oppressed by sin
 - How does sin oppress today and how does Jesus free?
 - Disease – freed through ultimate restoration at the second coming, and sometimes physical healing here, but comfort while suffering here.
 - Abuse – healing of heart and mind, the gift of forgiveness – how is being able to forgive those who do us wrong a gift to us?
 - Freedom from guilt and shame – how? By partaking of Christ and experiencing a new heart and right spirit, repentance and rebirth
 - Others?

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “On this single...” What gave Jesus’ teaching authority?

- Was it the weight of his office?
- Was it the charisma of His voice and personality?
- Was it the grandeur of His appearance?
- Was it His personal testimony?

What gave His teaching authority?

It was the authority of truth itself, that He presented the truth of Scripture evidenced in nature and tied to real life experiences, so that all could see how reality actually works. His words made sense and actually worked in the real world.

He didn’t teach fable and superstition and religious dogma based only on tradition or human interpretations.

Here is an historic quote:

“The King of glory stooped low to take humanity. Rude and forbidding were His earthly surroundings. His glory was veiled, that the majesty of His outward form might not become an object of attraction. He shunned all outward display. Riches, worldly honor, and human greatness can never save a soul from death; Jesus purposed that no attraction of an earthly nature should call men to His side. Only the beauty of heavenly truth must draw those who would follow Him. The character of the Messiah had long been foretold in prophecy, and He desired men to accept Him upon the testimony of the word of God.” {DA 43.1}

Do we present truth in ways that makes sense and actually works in the real world?

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, “While walking through a field...” At what level were the Pharisees operating? Level four and below, law and order, legal religion, imposed law constructs.

At what level was Christ operating? Design law, God’s design for His creation, thus it was better to provide what was necessary for human health and welfare, than to keep a rule which injured God’s Spirit Temple.

The Pharisees, would rather keep a rule in order to honor the little theater, the object lesson, the shadow, the stage play, the physical building built out of inanimate material, but Jesus pointed out that these are just shadows of a larger reality and David did not sin by taking the bread used in the play only by priests, and using it to provide sustenance to the true temple of God.

Are there any examples today where people get confused between metaphor, stage play, simile, analogy, parable, and reality and are injured by staying stuck in the metaphor?

- Viewing God’s Sovereignty through human authority models
 - Sees God imposing, rather than God ruling through His character of love.
 - Romans 9 – Paul makes the point God has mercy on who He has mercy... The point, the Jews were jealous that Gentiles were being included in salvation and Paul argues, who are you to argue with God’s Sovereignty, God’s way is the way of love, inclusion, healing.
 - But, some view these passages through human authority models and view God as imposing and predetermining some for salvation and some for damnation – in other words interpret it as God being restrictive.
- Viewing Jesus’ victory at the cross through legal metaphor
- Thinking there is some power to cleanse from sin in religious ritual, whether baptism, communion, or foot washing.
- Thinking the “name” of Jesus means the syllables used when speaking rather than the character of God – thus think if they put a tagline at the end of a prayer, “in Jesus name” they have prayed in Jesus name.
- Others?

Read last paragraph, “Although all the...” Why is it “lawful” to do good on the Sabbath? Because good is love and the Sabbath is the evidence of God’s character of love, so living in harmony with the law of love is how life is constructed to operate and to which the Sabbath is evidence.

The problem with legal Sabbath keeping is that it moves the focus away from love for God and others, to self. “Am I breaking the Sabbath? Am I sinning? Am I doing what I am supposed to do? Am I... Am I... Am I?”

True Sabbath keeping doesn't focus on self, it focuses on God and others, seeking to celebrate God and be a blessing to our fellow human beings.

Read bottom pink question, “Think how...” What can we do to ensure we don't fall into the same trap?

- Move away from imposed law construct to design law, thinking how things are designed by God to actually work and living in harmony with God and His design.

THURSDAY

Why did Jesus heal on the Sabbath over and over again? Were His healings on Sabbath emergency cases? Could they have waited until after the Sabbath? Why would He cure chronic medical conditions on Sabbath?

From the book The Desire of Ages:

“Jesus had come to “magnify the law, and make it honorable...” He had come to free the Sabbath from those burdensome requirements that had made it a curse instead of a blessing.

“For this reason He had chosen the Sabbath upon which to perform the act of healing at Bethesda. He could have healed the sick man as well on any other day of the week; or He might simply have cured him, without bidding him bear away his bed. But this would not have given Him the opportunity He desired. A wise purpose underlay every act of Christ's life on earth. Everything He did was important in itself and in its teaching. Among the afflicted ones at the pool He selected the worst case upon whom to exercise His healing power, and bade the man carry his bed through the city in order to publish the great work that had been wrought upon him. This would raise the question of what it was lawful to do on the Sabbath, and would open the way for Him to denounce the restrictions of the Jews in regard to the Lord's day, and to declare their traditions void.

“Jesus stated to them that the work of relieving the afflicted was in harmony with the Sabbath law. It was in harmony with the work of God's angels, who are ever descending and ascending between heaven and earth to minister to suffering humanity...”

“Should God forbid the sun to perform its office upon the Sabbath, cut off its genial rays from warming the earth and nourishing vegetation? Must the system of worlds stand still through that holy day? Should He command the brooks to stay from watering the fields and forests, and bid the waves of the sea still their ceaseless ebbing and flowing? Must the wheat and corn stop growing, and the ripening cluster defer its purple bloom? Must the trees and flowers put forth no bud nor blossom on the Sabbath?

“In such a case, men would miss the fruits of the earth, and the blessings that make life desirable. Nature must continue her unvarying course. God could not for a moment stay His hand, or man would faint and die. And man also has a work to perform on this day. The necessities of life must be attended to, the sick must be cared for, the wants of the needy must be supplied. He will not be held guiltless who neglects to relieve suffering on the Sabbath. God's holy rest day was made for man, and acts of mercy are in perfect harmony with its intent. God does not desire His creatures to suffer an hour's pain that may be relieved upon the Sabbath or any other day. {DA 206 - 207}

FRIDAY

Read and discuss question 1 – who are deceived about God's law? How about those who wanted Christ off the cross so they could keep the Sabbath? Are there people today who might know which day of the week is the Sabbath of the Bible, avoid work and go to church on that day, but are still deceived about the Sabbath? How so? By believing it is an arbitrary test, in an imposed law construct by a dictator God who must inflict punishment for disobedience!

Read and discuss question 2 – it is evidence that Satan lied, and reveals the truth about God's character of truth, love and freedom.

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 6

Women in the Ministry of Jesus

I received this email recently:

I write this to you from The Netherlands. My wife and I watch your ministries every Friday (one day before Sabbath). I got to know you through my wife. I met my wife in The Netherlands in the summer of 2013. She is an American. We fell in love and married last year in Houston, Texas. For the first time in my life, I gave my whole heart to a woman and decided to drop myself in to the unknown.

When I met my wife, I was an atheist. As a man of science I could not believe in metaphysics. I considered people who believed in God, as morons who did not have enough education to understand the world and those who believed in God were afraid of life. You have to understand Dr. Jennings: I have written a book where I even advocate being an atheist.

Meeting the love of your love changes a man. How could it be, that at that moment in time in The Hague that we could meet and fall in love? Does coincidence exist? Leap of faith?

Couple of days after we met, we were walking in The Hague and I am not quite sure, but religion became a topic. I said to her: " religion is an opium for the people to stay stupid". At that moment, I didn't know she was Seventh day Adventist. She responded: " well, I don't agree with you because I have felt that God exists...

I started to get interested. Not because I didn't know what is written in the Bible or anything else. No, I started to get interested because here she was: an intelligent lady, who had an academic background that believed in God.

After that, she went back to US and through modern technology (Skype and Whatsapp), we kept in touch and my love for her grew every day. She went to church and because time difference, I had to stay up bit late, otherwise, I wouldn't talk or see her. She told me every week about the topic of the church.

Well, to keep the story short, I got baptized in the church and got married with the love of my life. I did that at first because the parents of my wife did not want her to marry a guy who wasn't a Seventh day Adventist. So, I did that, because I loved her and there isn't a thing I wouldn't do for her.

Since summer last year, we watch your ministries in The Netherlands. My wife really respects you a lot! At first I didn't like watching your ministries, to be honest. But after a while, I understood what Christianity is. Your words corresponded with my brain. I went from an atheist to a Seventh day Adventist. For that, I am grateful. The process of how and why is to long to write. I could write a book about this! We will keep watching you and perhaps we see you on YouTube talking about this email.

SABBATH

Read memory text, Galatians 3:26-28: “For you are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus... There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus.”

What does this text mean?

Paul cites three major divisions of society, three areas that in his day caused division, discrimination, and conflict. Do you notice anything about these three divisions? They are representative of all types of divisions:

- Slave and Free – are divisions caused by the choices of sinful human beings to act in selfishness
- Jew and Greek – are the divisions caused by sin affecting nature and the changes over time of genetic expression and language evolution, i.e. the changes in race and culture
- Male and Female – are the divisions created by God into the creation to start with, which were intended for mutual benefit, but which have been exploited because of sin. In the beginning there were two, but the two were to be one. This unity of the two, male/female was broken by sin, but in Christ is to be restored.

Other examples of divisions that impact humanity and in which category to they fall?

- Religious division – manmade (slave and free category)
- Age divisions – manmade biases to a biological reality
- Political division – manmade
- Sports team division – manmade
- National division – manmade
- Sexual identity division – mixed category, some manmade as Paul speaks about in Romans, others a result of sin damaging God’s creation with genetic and biological defects.

What causes conflictual division? Fear and selfishness, which results from what? Believing lies about God that break the circle of love and trust. We see others, with differences, not as individuals to celebrate, love and promote, but as competition, threats, and objects to either own, control, exploit, or destroy.

When people don’t fit our mold we, rather than re-examining our beliefs and views to see if they are in harmony with God’s design, too often seek to find fault in what is different, devaluing others.

For instance:

In 1851, Samuel A. Cartwright, a Louisiana surgeon and psychologist, published a report in the New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal on what he deemed to be common diseases among black people in the South.¹ One of them was drapetomania, described as “the disease causing slaves to run away.”

During the Civil Rights Movement, some doctors began diagnosing Black-Americans in the South who were advocating for civil rights with a subtype of schizophrenia, characterized as having a desire to advocate for their rights.²

Not to be outdone, after several racial killings, a group of Black psychiatrists sought to classify extreme bigotry as a mental disorder.³

1. Cartwright S. Report of the diseases and peculiarities of the Negro Race. New Orleans Med Surg J. 1851;691-715.
2. Metzl JM. The Protest Psychosis: How Schizophrenia Became a Black Disease. Boston: Beacon Press; 2011.
3. Bell C. Racism: a mental illness? Psychiatr Serv. 2004;55:1343.

But, back to the issue of women in society:

Are women morally equal to men? Are they treated equally in societies around the world?

- Until the 20th century, U.S. and English law observed the system of coverture, where "by marriage, the husband and wife are one person in law; that is the very being or legal existence of the woman is suspended during the marriage". (Blackstone, William. "Extracts from William Blackstone's Commentaries on the Laws of England 1765-1769". Archived from the original on 5 October 2008. Retrieved 15 March 2015.)
- U.S. women were not legally defined as "persons" until 1875 (Minor v. Happersett, 88 U.S. 162). ("Legacy '98: Detailed Timeline". Legacy98.org. 2001-09-19. Retrieved 2010-11-20.)
- French married women obtained the right to work without their husband's permission in 1965, and in West Germany women obtained this right in 1977. During the Franco era, in Spain, a married woman required her husband's consent (called permiso marital) for employment, ownership of property and traveling away from home; the permiso marital was abolished in 1975.
- Women in parts of the world continue to lose legal rights at marriage. For example, Yemeni marriage regulations state that a wife must obey her husband and must not leave home without his permission.
- In Iraq, the law allows husbands to legally "punish" their wives.
- In the Democratic Republic of Congo, the Family Code states that the husband is the head of the household; the wife owes her obedience to her husband; a wife has to live with her husband wherever he chooses to live; and wives must have their husbands' authorization to bring a case in court or to initiate other legal proceedings.
- In Afghanistan, a wife who leaves her marital home risks being imprisoned for "running away".

Do you think women were treated better in Christ's day?

A common prayer of Jewish men was “Blessed are you, Lord, our God, ruler of the universe who has not created me a woman.”

Why do you think men prayed thanks that they were not created a woman? Was it because they recognized how hard the lives of women were/are? How unfair the lives of women were/are?

What do you think it means that they didn’t pray, “Blessed are you, Lord, our God, ruler of the universe, help me bless and improve the lives of women.”?

Do you think it means that they thought the way women were treated was in harmony with God’s will? How could they think this? By viewing God’s law as imposed and God as a dictator, this is why God got blamed for so much in OT times and even today.

- The sovereignty of God is misconstrued through imposed law lenses to be God imposing outcomes and causes events
- So, people think if a person dies in an accident “God took them” or “What sin did they have that God didn’t protect them?”
- If a person gets a disease of sickness, “God is punishing them for some sin.”
- If a natural disaster happens, “God is punishing”
- When the prophet Micaiah spoke to Ahab he told the king that the false prophets were lying to him. (1Kings 22) But how? By telling him that God sent lying spirits into the mouth of the other prophets. Why did he say it this way? Because King Ahab viewed God as in control and causing events, causing outcomes.
- Any examples today?

What about the treatment of women today? Are women treated as equals in the church today?

Should we have women pastors? What about a female president of the local conference, union, division or General Conference?

Does God discriminate based on gender?

What is the only true, reliable, valid point of discrimination of people in general? Harmony or disharmony with God and His law of love! It is about character, not gender.

This is what Paul is saying in our memory text, when we are united in Christ, partaking of the divine nature, we have new hearts, selfishness is replaced by love and we live in unity with God and each other.

But selfishness in the heart causes damaging division, including religious division and division in the church, but argued on the basis of righteousness. It is some of the grossest misrepresentations about God. These types of arguments have been made about blacks, women and other groups.

It is and always has been about character thus the Bible only has two groups:

- Wheat and tares
- Fruitful vine and withered vine
- Sheep and goats
- Righteous and wicked
- Saved and lost
- Living and dead
- Christlike and Satan-like

So how did Christ treat women? As equally valuable, as human beings made in God's image with worth possessing minds that think and reason and understand.

There are some quantifiable differences between men and women:

- Physically women are smaller and less physically weaker
- Women can give birth men cannot
- Women have barr body in every cell, which is turned off randomly, some cells have X chromosome from father turned on, while others from mother. This can be one factor why women are more susceptible to autoimmune diseases.
- If a woman has given birth, some fetal stem cells transferred into her blood and will become part of her body, differentiating into various cells. Another potential reason for autoimmune diseases.
- Male and female brains are different.
 - Mathematical abilities. An area of the brain called the inferior-parietal lobule (IPL) is typically larger in men, especially on the left side, than in women. This section of the brain is thought to control mental mathematical ability, and probably explains why men frequently perform higher in mathematical tasks than do women. The IPL on the right side processes sensory information, and the larger right side in women allows them to focus on, "specific stimuli, such as a baby crying in the night."
 - Men process information more efficiently in their left hemisphere, women process information equally efficient in both hemispheres.
 - This contributes to women being more relationally oriented, empathic and more likely to want to comfort, while men are more task oriented.
 - Do we see this difference in the relationship between men and women in the life of Jesus?
 - Who stayed by the cross and who fled?
 - Reaction to stress. Men tend to have a "fight or flight" response to stress situations while women seem to approach these situations with a trying to befriend the person
 - Do we see this in the difference of men and women in the life of Christ?
 - Nicodemus sought Jesus out at night fearful of being seen
 - Mary came into the middle of a meeting to anoint Jesus' feet
 - Those who tended the swine ran from Jesus and their owners asked Jesus to - leave the region

- The woman at the well asked Jesus into her heart and went to her town and told them all He had done bringing them to meet Jesus

Are we bound by our biological differences? Or can men and women both respond positively to Jesus, or reject Him, regardless of their gender?

SUNDAY

What do you think of Sunday's lesson? Women at the advent of Jesus? Elizabeth, Mary and Anna

Here are three faithful women who trusted God, and despite a culture of bigotry, discrimination, male domination, they didn't become embittered and were thus able to be part of God's team.

Do you think Elizabeth and Mary would have been useful to God's cause if they allowed the abuse and mistreatment done to women to fill them with anger, resentment and bitterness?

What about today, when we are done wrong, is it important to not allow the sins of others to infect our hearts and minds?

What is God's weapon for preventing the sins of others from infecting our minds? Forgiveness, loving others and having an attitude of forgiveness towards them – not making excuses for their wrongs, but refusing to have your own heart and mind poisoned by their wrongs.

MONDAY

The lesson points out, in Christ's healing of people, compassion was more important than ceremonies.

This is because Jesus was operating at level 6&7, the reality of God's kingdom of love, built upon the law of love, understanding humans are deviant from the design and in need of healing, restoration. Thus, His focus is about restoration and healing, not rule keeping.

We see this all through His ministry.

- In the Sermon on the Mt. He contrasted behavior from heart motive, "you say if you commit adultery..."
- He changes their level two thinking about eye for an eye and tells them to love your enemies, to give your coat, to walk an extra mile
- He tells them no merit in their legal fasting to get righteousness points in their legal accounting system, but to do the fast of self-denial and actually bless others, give to the needy, and that stores up treasure in heaven
- That it is the heart, the character that determines the fruit of the tree and the behaviors ultimately reveal what is in the heart

- Thus He says in Mt 5:17-20 that our righteousness must be more than the legal rule keeping of the Pharisees. Here is from The Remedy:
¹⁷ "And don't think that I have come to destroy what the Old Testament (Torah and Prophets) taught about God and his methods; I have not come to destroy them but to fulfill them."¹⁸ Here is the simple truth: heaven and earth would disappear if even the slightest change to God's design protocol for life, what you call his Law, were made. I am not here to destroy the Law, but accomplish everything it requires.¹⁹ Anyone who violates God's design (law) and teaches others to do so is out of harmony with heaven, but anyone who practices God's methods (law) and teaches others to do so is in harmony with the kingdom of heaven.²⁰ I tell you plainly, if your characters are not renewed with righteousness surpassing that of the Pharisees and lawyers, it simply won't be possible for you to enter the heavenly kingdom of love.

In last week's lesson on Wednesday the lesson pointed out how the Pharisees criticized Christ's disciples for picking heads of grain on Sabbath.

At what level were the Pharisees operating? Level four and below, law and order, legal religion, imposed law constructs.

At what level was Christ operating? Design law, God's design for His creation, thus it was better to provide what was necessary for human health and welfare, than to keep a rule which injured God's Spirit Temple.

The Pharisees, would rather keep a rule in order to honor the little theater, the object lesson, the shadow, the stage play, the physical building built out of inanimate material, but Jesus pointed out that these are just shadows of a larger reality and David did not sin by taking the bread used in the play only by priests, and using it to provide sustenance to the true temple of God.

Are there any examples today where people get confused between ceremony, metaphor, stage play, simile, analogy, parable, and reality and are injured by staying stuck in the metaphor?

- Viewing God's Sovereignty through human authority models
 - Sees God imposing, rather than God ruling through His Design of love.
 - Romans 9 – Paul makes the point God has mercy on who He has mercy... The point, the Jews were jealous that Gentiles were being included in salvation and Paul argues, who are you to argue with God's Sovereignty, God's way is the way of love, inclusion, healing.
 - But, some view these passages through human authority models and view God as imposing and predetermining some for salvation and some for damnation – in other words interpret it as God being restrictive.
- Viewing Jesus' victory at the cross through legal metaphor
- Thinking there is some power to cleanse from sin in religious ritual, whether baptism, communion, or foot washing.
- Thinking the "name" of Jesus means the syllables used when speaking rather than the character of God – thus think if they put a tagline at the end of a prayer, “in Jesus name” they have prayed in Jesus name.

- Believing the OT feast days have some actual value other than a teaching object lesson and thus promote the idea they must be observed in order to experience salvation
- Others?

The bottom pink section states, “In these stories, it was the power of Jesus’ words that brought a dead son back to his mother and a dead daughter back to her father.”

What do you think the lesson authors mean?

If they mean, this was done at Jesus command, by the exercise of divine energy, without the use of CPR, ventilators, organ transplants, crash carts, defibrillators etc, then absolutely right.

But we MUST avoid the idea that the power was in the words. We must avoid going down the trail of searching for the right combination of words, incantations, mantras in order to harness supernatural power. It wasn’t the words that had power; it is God who stood there in human flesh that has power!

TUESDAY

The lesson points us to the story of the woman who anointed Jesus feet with expensive oil and how she was looked down upon by Simon the Pharisee and even the Apostles.

Some suggest this woman was Mary Magdalene, who was sexually exploited by her uncle Simon, who was the one hosting the feast as a way to try and compensate Jesus for healing him of leprosy. She was the sister of Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the dead, and the same woman caught in adultery and thrown down before Jesus. Jesus not only saved her life from the mob, but treated her with grace and dignity and for the first time since she was abused made her feel like a person, someone to be loved for who she was not exploited for her body and then criticized as a defiled sinner.

Now, considering all of this, knowing the biases against women, knowing the biases against prostitutes, do you think it took courage to go in and do what she did? What motivated her? Love! Love casts out all fear!

Do you think, if all these elements are true, or just some of them, she had great love for Jesus?

And how did Jesus respond to Simon? “He who is forgiven much loves much.” Which Simon took to mean what? But what was Simon missing? And thus Simon failed to love much.

Read bottom pink section, “It’s easy...” Is there a difference between judging others and understanding the reality of the character and condition of others, i.e. diagnosing others?

Judging comes from insecurity and a need to promote self by putting others down and faultfinding. It leads to discrimination, or actions of punishment, chastisement, shunning, expulsion etc.

Understanding reality, the actual condition of the other person, is motivated by love, and leads to wisdom in dealing with others, first not trusting the untrustworthy, but second, setting healthy boundaries designed to lead an untrustworthy person to Christ for healing and restoration.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to consider Martha and her concern for service and hospitality, to the point of criticizing Mary for not helping out in the kitchen.

THURSDAY

The lesson asks us to consider the story in Luke 1:1-8, from The Remedy:

¹Then Jesus told a parable to his interns to help them understand the importance of regular conversations with God and not to quit talking with him.²He said: "There was a judge who didn't believe in God or care about the welfare of people.³And a widow, who had been exploited, kept petitioning the judge to do what was right and restore what her adversary had taken.

⁴"The judge refused for a long time. But he finally said to himself, 'Even though I don't believe in God or care about people,⁵I am tired of this woman bothering me, so I will do what is right and she will finally leave me alone!' "

⁶Then the Lord explained, "Take a lesson from this unjust and godless judge.⁷If he, not caring about anyone but himself, finally did the right thing, won't God set all things right for his children who cry out to him constantly? Will he ignore them?⁸I tell you truly, he will set all things right, and quickly. But when the Son of Man comes, will he find any on earth who trust him to set things right?"

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 7

Jesus, the Holy Spirit, and Prayer

"So I say to you, ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. 10 For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened." Luke 11:9, 10

First paragraph, pg 85 "Of the three synoptic Gospels, Luke speaks more often than do the others about Jesus' relationship to the Holy Spirit. While Matthew refers to the Spirit 12 times and Mark does so 6 times, Luke has 17 references in his Gospel and 57 in the book of Acts. From the conception of Jesus into humanity (Luke 1:35) to the directive establishing His global mission (Luke 24:44-49), Luke sees an operational link between Jesus and the Holy Spirit. The link is basic to understanding the ministry of our Savior. Likewise, Luke shows the importance of prayer in Jesus' life and mission. Fully divine, equal with the Father and the Spirit, Jesus in His humanity left us an example in regard to prayer."

- Why?
- Because He thought He was supposed to leave us a pattern?
- Was Jesus just play acting?
- Jesus called Himself the Son of Man (the human)
- Or, did he really have to maintain a connection with God to live His life successfully?
- He had to pray and maintain a connection with God the Father and the Holy Spirit because He was human. And that is how humans were created to function.
- If He needed to maintain a constant connection, we do too. He showed us what it truly is to be human.
- When we get to heaven in the earth made new, we will still be communing with our Father, Brother and Holy Spirit because that is how we are made.
- Our prayer life is learning to commune with God and becoming one in purpose, principle and motive with Him.

Second paragraph, pg 85 "If Jesus saw the need for prayer, how much more must we need it?"

- Do we need prayer and the Holy Spirit more than Christ did?
 - If so, why?
 - What is the difference?
 - If Jesus had an advantage, is the expectation of victorious Christian living a false hope?
- Look at Lesson 6 (last week's lesson): Monday - May 4
 - In the highlighted section at the bottom of the page it is referencing the two stories for that day's lesson: The story of the resurrection of the man at Nain and the story of Jairus daughter being raised from the dead.

- It says: “In these stories, it was the power of Jesus’ words that brought a dead son back to his mother and a dead daughter back to her father.”
- It was the power of God, the embodiment of Life. It wasn’t magic words. “I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in me will live, even though he dies; and whoever lives and believes in me will never die.” John 11:25, 26

The Prayer Life of Jesus

It lists 6 prayers of Christ for illustration

Baptism (Luke 3:21)

Before choosing His 12 Disciples (Luke 6:12, 13)

- Luke 5:27 call of Matthew
- Luke 5:29 Matthew’s feast for friends
- Luke 6:12, 13 Prayer of selection

Prayed for his disciples (Luke 9:18)

Before the transfiguration (Luke 9:28-36)

In Gethsemane (Luke 22:39-46)

Commission of His life on the cross (Luke 23:46)

What other prayers of Christ would you choose to illustrate Christ’s prayer life?

What does each instance say about

- God
- humanity?

My list

- John 17 (on the way to the garden)
- Luke 11:2 (“Lord’s prayer”)
- John 11:41, 42 (at the raising of Lazarus)
- John 12:28 at the last feast of Passover, Christ said, “Father, glorify Your name.”

If Jesus did not use any power that his followers cannot use, then were not all of his miracles a form of prayer?

Are we too busy to pray?

- No other life was ever so crowded with labor and responsibility as was that of Jesus; yet how often He was found in prayer! How constant was His communion with God! Again and again in the history of His earthly life are found records such as these: “Rising up a great while before day, He went out, and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed.” “Great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by Him of their infirmities. And He withdrew Himself into the wilderness, and prayed.” “And it came to pass in those days, that He went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God.” Mark 1:35;

Luke 5:15, 16; 6:12. {DA 362.3}

SUNDAY

Jesus and the Holy Spirit

Luke’s discussion of Christ and the Holy Spirit is much more widespread than the other gospels.

Could it be that the Holy Spirit was much more evident in the events of his other book, The Acts of the Apostles, and there was a connection there.

Paragraph #3: “The Spirit that ever linked Christ to His Father and the redemptive mission is the same Spirit that would strengthen the disciples in their journey of faith. Hence, the crucial importance of the Spirit in Christian life:”

“Blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is the gravest of all sins (Luke 12:10)

- Why?
- There have been several instances in which someone commits a very public suicide. In so doing, some individuals have been noted to turn off the two-way communication system to their base. The only communication for reversal of their path has been cut off. There is no hope at that point.

TUESDAY

The Model Prayer: Part 1

The model prayer Luke 11:1-4

- Father
- Hallowed be your name
- Your kingdom come
- Give us each day our daily bread
- Forgive us our sins
 - For we have a forgiving spirit and have forgiven
- Lead us not into temptation

Your will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

- How is that done?
- Natural obedience
 - Law as a new concept to angels

“Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.” Matthew 6:10.

The will of God is expressed in the precepts of His holy law, and the principles of this law are the principles of heaven. The angels of heaven attain unto no higher knowledge than to know the will of God, and to do His will is the highest service that can engage their powers.

But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of. In their ministry the angels are not as servants, but as sons. There is perfect unity between them and their Creator. Obedience is to them no drudgery. Love for God makes their service a joy. So in every soul wherein Christ, the hope of glory, dwells, His words are re-echoed, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God: yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. {Pr 294.4}

The petition, "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven," is a prayer that the reign of evil on this earth may be ended, that sin may be forever destroyed, and the kingdom of righteousness be established. Then in earth as in heaven will be fulfilled "all the good pleasure of His goodness." 2 Thessalonians 1:11.

WEDNESDAY

The Model Prayer: Part 2

"Give us day by day our daily bread"

- Daily dependence upon God
- God as our creator and sustainer

"Forgive us our sins"

- God's forgiveness is not merely a judicial act by which He sets us free from condemnation. It is not only forgiveness for sin, but reclaiming from sin. It is the outflow of redeeming love that transforms the heart" TMB pg 114

Read Luke 11:9-13 out loud from Amplified Version.

9 So I say to you, Ask and keep on asking and it shall be given you; seek and keep on seeking and you shall find; knock and keep on knocking and the door shall be opened to you.

10 For everyone who asks and keeps on asking receives; and he who seeks and keeps on seeking finds; and to him who knocks and keeps on knocking, the door shall be opened.

11 What father among you, if his son asks for a loaf of bread, will give him a stone; or if he asks for a fish, will instead of a fish give him a serpent?

12 Or if he asks for an egg, will give him a scorpion?

13 If you then, evil as you are, know how to give good gifts [gifts that are to their advantage] to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask and continue to ask Him!

More Lessons on Prayer

Parable of Friend at Midnight

Second paragraph - "Prayer is the breath of the soul"

Excellent analogy

Second paragraph, last sentence

- “Such persistence is not to change God’s mind but to strengthen our trust.”
- Does persistent begging increase your trust?
- Don’t try this with someone you care about?
- Then why with God?
- Then is this begging? There must be something different in how we pray than how we often approach our petitions in prayer.
- It changes us, how?

Bottom half of page is the parable about the Pharisee and the Tax Collector at church praying.

- Why do people have to make themselves look good to God?
 - (He knows us and what we are like)

Pg 96: The model prayer: the Lord’s Prayer recognizes the centrality of God. A prayer must begin there; otherwise, it ceases to be one. The prayer also take note of us - we are the other end of Prayer’s connecting link.

- For what purpose? It is for others.
- We are in the middle. A waypoint of God’s grace to others. Our prayers are not for us, but for us to help others.
- “In Christ the cry of humanity reached the Father of infinite pity. As a man He supplicated the throne of God till His humanity was charged with a heavenly current that should connect humanity with divinity. Through continual communion He received life from God, that He might impart life to the world. His experience is to be ours.” DA 363

A verse sent out to the Deaconesses this week

- 1 Corinthians 15:58 New Living Translation “So, my dear brothers and sisters, be strong and immovable. Always work enthusiastically for the Lord, for you know that nothing you do for the Lord is ever useless.”

To the consecrated worker there is wonderful consolation in the knowledge that even Christ during His life on earth sought His Father daily for fresh supplies of needed grace; and from this communion with God He went forth to strengthen and bless others. Behold the Son of God bowed in prayer to His Father! Though He is the Son of God, He strengthens His faith by prayer, and by communion with heaven gathers to Himself power to resist evil and to minister to the needs of men. As the Elder Brother of our race He knows the necessities of those who, compassed with infirmity and living in a world of sin and temptation, still desire to serve Him. He knows that the messengers whom He sees fit to send are weak, erring men; but to all who give themselves wholly to His service He promises divine aid. His own example is an assurance that earnest, persevering supplication to God in faith—faith that leads to entire dependence upon God, and unreserved consecration to His work—will avail to bring to men the Holy Spirit’s aid in the battle against sin. {AA 56.1}

Every worker who follows the example of Christ will be prepared to receive and use the power that God has promised to His church for the ripening of earth’s harvest. Morning by morning, as the heralds of the gospel kneel before the Lord and renew their vows of consecration to Him, He will grant them the presence of His Spirit, with its reviving, sanctifying power. As they go forth to the day’s duties, they have the assurance that the unseen agency of the Holy Spirit enables them to be “laborers together with God.”

Our Saviour showed perfect confidence that His heavenly Father would not suffer Him to be tempted above what He should give Him strength to endure, but would bring Him off conqueror if He patiently bore the test to which He was subjected. Christ had not of His own will placed Himself in danger. God had suffered Satan for the time being to have this power over His Son. Jesus knew that if He preserved His integrity in this extremely trying position an angel of God would be sent to relieve Him if there was no other way. He had taken humanity and was the representative of the race. {Con 51.2}

The Mission of Jesus.

SABBATH

“The Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.” Luke 19:10.

Is this an adequate mission statement for Jesus’s mission? Was there more? [See 2 Tim. 1: 10, Heb. 2: 14, 1st John 3: 8.] What about those who don’t want to be “found” or “saved”?

I’ve seen several cars driving around with the bumper sticker stating “Born OK the First Time.” How do these folks fit in to Jesus’s mission?

How does the Law lens we view His Mission with make a difference?

The following are the first 2 results of a Google search of “Jesus’s Mission”.

“So we have to ask ourselves: do we have faith that the shed blood of Christ declares God’s right-ness? If so how was God right in allowing His son, who had done no sin to die? How was he right in raising him from the dead?

Well, it was right Jesus died because he was of “flesh”. He bore sin prone and mortal nature (the ‘diabolos’) – the source of human sin. Jesus’ sacrifice declared that God was right to execute His judgement on man because of sin and because man bears this nature. However, it was also right that God raised him from the dead because he had overcome that nature and offered himself as a sacrifice. It was right God changed his flesh nature and gave him spirit nature. It is belief in this “righteousness” of God which is the mechanism for being acceptable before God.” <http://www.the-gospel-truth.info/bible-teachings/jesus-christ-his-true-purpose-and-mission/>.

Many believers know that Jesus Christ was the Son of God, but we should also understand His mission, how He fulfilled it, and what that means to each of us. Christ had a twofold goal in coming to earth as a baby: to provide us with a tangible image of who God is, and to die in our place to pay our penalty for sin.

What an incredible plan! The omnipotent, omniscient Lord had existed since eternity past (John 1:14, John 1:14). And yet for a time, He set aside power and strength that were rightfully His, so that He could become like us. Because God-in-human-flesh lived His life before men, we can better understand our heavenly Father (Colossians 1:15).

Through Christ’s sacrifice, we are invited into an eternal relationship with God. You see, Scripture finds every descendant of Adam guilty (Isaiah 53:6; Romans 3:23), and the punishment for sin is death (Romans 6:23). The penalty must be paid by the shedding of blood (Leviticus 17:11). Yet the Father can accept nothing less than a perfect sacrifice (Deuteronomy 17:1). The Savior - who was fully God, fully man, and 100 percent innocent - died a humiliating, excruciating death to pay the debt we couldn't afford. He is the only one who could lay down His life to save us and bridge the gap between each person and the Father.

There is no possible way for us to earn our salvation. It is an awesome gift that the Father freely offers to each one of us. The only "condition" is that we receive Jesus Christ as our personal Savior and follow Him. Have you chosen to accept this amazing blessing from the Father's hand?

Imposed Law View

- Jesus came to pay the penalty for my sins [past, present, future].
- Jesus came to endure the Father's wrath.
- Jesus came to shed His blood so I can use it as "white-out" on my heavenly records, and He can plead with His Father to be merciful because I'm covered with the blood [save us IN our sin].
- Jesus came so His Father could kill Him.

Natural Law View

- Jesus came to take on my sinful nature, defeat the inherent selfishness in His human brain, develop a cure for our terminal condition, and offer the cure as a gift to all who freely choose to cooperate with the cure [save us FROM our sin].
- Jesus came to reveal the Father's character of Love, Truth, and Freedom, and to reveal what God's wrath really is [a letting go, giving up, "My God, why have you forsaken me?"].
- Jesus came to pour out His blood [life] because if He had used his divine power at any time to stop evil men from killing Him, Satan's allegations would have been correct. Our heavenly records accurately reveal healing interventions attempted, made, refused, and will correctly document our diagnosis of healed or terminal.
- Jesus came to exercise His free choice to lay down His life and to take it back up again.

The Lost Sheep and the Lost Coin

With the illustrations of the lost sheep / coin, Jesus chose to appeal to His listeners experiences. He did not use the two other threads of Scripture or Nature [one could argue that the sheep would be part of Nature] this time. Why?

“The coin, though lying among dust and rubbish, is a piece of silver or gold still. Its owner seeks it because it is of value. So, every soul, however degraded by sin, is in God’s sight accounted precious. As the coin bears the image and superscription of the reigning power, so man at his creation bore the image and superscription of God; and though now marred and dim through the influence of sin, the traces of this inscription remain upon every soul.”—Ellen G. White, Christ’s Object Lessons, p. 194.

MONDAY

The Parable of the Lost Son: Part 1

The lesson does a great job of summing this up, so let’s take a look.

1. “Give Me.” Where is the focus in this demand? We have all been enticed by the “greener grass” of Sin. We have, at times, had a distorted concept of true Freedom [usually during our teen years]. This misunderstanding of the Law of Liberty is what led to 1/3 of the angels following Lucifer, and Eve’s downfall. TRUE Freedom only exists within the framework of God’s design laws. For example, are the heroin addict, smoker, alcoholic, glutton, gossip, or the manipulative free, or are they slaves to their issues?
2. “Why Me?” Where is the focus in this question? The son came to his senses after realizing that his “freedom” was actually slavery.
3. “Make Me.” Where is the focus in this statement? Even though the younger son is starting to realize his mistake[s], and begin the process of a return home, his focus is still on self.

TUESDAY

The Parable of the Lost Son: Part 2

4. The return home. This “was a journey of repentance.” God is ALWAYS forgiving, so the healing / restoration of our relationship must begin with our sincere repentance, and allowing God to transform our characters. The lesson lists acknowledgement, confession, contrition, & petition.
5. The Waiting Father. Our Heavenly Father is continually waiting on us to “return home” and he will always welcome us with open arms and binding up our wounds.
6. The Rejoicing Family. Scripture tells us ALL of Heaven rejoices with the healing of one sinner. [Luke 15: 7].
7. The Elder Son. Symbolic of the Church Leadership in Christ’s day [? and present day].

Lost Opportunities

The Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus. First read Chapter 21 in Christ Object Lessons:

In the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, Christ shows that in this life men decide their eternal destiny. During probationary time the grace of God is offered to every soul. But if men waste their opportunities in self-pleasing, they cut themselves off from everlasting life. No after probation will be granted them. By their own choice they have fixed an impassable gulf between them and their God.

This parable draws a contrast between the rich who have not made God their dependence, and the poor who have made God their dependence. Christ shows that the time is coming when the position of the two classes will be reversed. Those who are poor in this world's goods, yet who trust in God and are patient in suffering, will one day be exalted above those who now hold the highest positions the world can give but who have not surrendered their life to God.

"There was a certain rich man," Christ said, "which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day. And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table."

The rich man did not belong to the class represented by the unjust judge, who openly declared his disregard for God and man. He claimed to be a son of Abraham. He did not treat the beggar with violence or require him to go away because the sight of him was disagreeable. If the poor, loathsome specimen of humanity could be comforted by beholding him as he entered his gates, the rich man was willing that he should remain. But he was selfishly indifferent to the needs of his suffering brother.

There were then no hospitals in which the sick might be cared for. The suffering and needy were brought to the notice of those to whom the Lord had entrusted wealth, that they might receive help and sympathy. Thus it was with the beggar and the rich man. Lazarus was in great need of help; for he was without friends, home, money, or food. Yet he was allowed to remain in this condition day after day, while the wealthy nobleman had every want supplied. The one who was abundantly able to relieve the sufferings of his fellow creature, lived to himself, as many live today.

There are today close beside us many who are hungry, naked, and homeless. A neglect to impart of our means to these needy, suffering ones places upon us a burden of guilt which we shall one day fear to meet. All covetousness is condemned as idolatry. All selfish indulgence is an offense in God's sight.

God had made the rich man a steward of His means, and it was his duty to attend to just such cases as that of the beggar. The command had been given, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Deuteronomy 6:5); and "thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" (Leviticus 19:18). The rich man was a Jew, and he was acquainted with the command of God. But he forgot that he was accountable for the use of his entrusted means and capabilities. The Lord's blessings rested upon him abundantly, but he employed them selfishly, to honor himself, not his Maker. In proportion to his abundance was his obligation to use his gifts for the uplifting of humanity. This was the Lord's command, but the rich man had no thought of his obligation to God. He lent money, and took interest for what he loaned; but he returned no interest for what God had lent him. He had knowledge and talents, but did not improve them. Forgetful of his accountability to God, he devoted all his powers to pleasure. Everything with which he was surrounded, his round of amusements, the praise and flattery of his friends, ministered to his selfish enjoyment. So engrossed was he in the society of his friends that he lost all sense of his responsibility to co-operate with God in His ministry of mercy. He had opportunity to understand the word of God, and to practice its teachings; but the pleasure-loving society he chose so occupied his time that he forgot the God of eternity.

The time came when a change took place in the condition of the two men. The poor man had suffered day by day, but he had patiently and quietly endured. In the course of time he died and was buried. There was no one to mourn for him; but by his patience in suffering he had witnessed for Christ, he had endured the test of his faith, and at his death he is represented as being carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom.

Lazarus represents the suffering poor who believe in Christ. When the trumpet sounds and all that are in the graves hear Christ's voice and come forth, they will receive their reward; for their faith in God was not a mere theory, but a reality.

"The rich man also died, and was buried; and in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame."

In this parable Christ was meeting the people on their own ground. The doctrine of a conscious state of existence between death and the resurrection was held by many of those who were listening to Christ's words. The Saviour knew of their ideas, and He framed His parable so as to inculcate important truths through these preconceived opinions. He held up before His hearers a mirror wherein they might see themselves in their true relation to God. He used the prevailing opinion to convey the idea He wished to make prominent to all—that no man is valued for his possessions; for all he has belongs to him only as lent by the Lord. A misuse of these gifts will place him below the poorest and most afflicted man who loves God and trusts in Him.

Christ desires His hearers to understand that it is impossible for men to secure the salvation of the soul after death. "Son," Abraham is represented as answering, "remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed; so that they which would pass from hence to you can not; neither can they pass to us, that would come from thence." Thus Christ represented the hopelessness of looking for a second probation. This life is the only time given to man in which to prepare for eternity.

The rich man had not abandoned the idea that he was a child of Abraham, and in his distress he is represented as calling upon him for aid. "Father Abraham," he prayed, "have mercy on me." He did not pray to God, but to Abraham. Thus he showed that he placed Abraham above God, and that he relied on his relationship to Abraham for salvation. The thief on the cross offered his prayer to Christ. "Remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom," he said. (Luke 23:42.) And at once the response came, Verily I say unto thee today (as I hang on the cross in humiliation and suffering), thou shalt be with Me in Paradise. But the rich man prayed to Abraham, and his petition was not granted. Christ alone is exalted to be "a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins." Acts 5:31. "Neither is there salvation in any other." Acts 4:12.

The rich man had spent his life in self-pleasing, and too late he saw that he had made no provision for eternity. He realized his folly, and thought of his brothers, who would go on as he had gone, living to please themselves. Then he made the request, "I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him [Lazarus] to my father's house; for I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment." But "Abraham saith unto him, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them. And he said, Nay, father Abraham; but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rose from the dead."

When the rich man solicited additional evidence for his brothers, he was plainly told that should this evidence be given, they would not be persuaded. His request cast a reflection on God. It was as if the rich man had said, If you had more thoroughly warned me, I should not now be here. Abraham in his answer to this request is represented as saying, Your brothers have been sufficiently warned. Light has been given them, but they would not see; truth has been presented to them, but they would not hear.

“If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead.” These words were proved true in the history of the Jewish nation. Christ’s last and crowning miracle was the raising of Lazarus of Bethany, after he had been dead four days. The Jews were given this wonderful evidence of the Saviour’s divinity, but they rejected it. Lazarus rose from the dead and bore his testimony before them, but they hardened their hearts against all evidence, and even sought to take his life. (John 12:9-11).

The law and the prophets are God’s appointed agencies for the salvation of men. Christ said, Let them give heed to these evidences. If they do not listen to the voice of God in His word, the testimony of a witness raised from the dead would not be heeded.

Those who heed Moses and the prophets will require no greater light than God has given; but if men reject the light, and fail to appreciate the opportunities granted them, they would not hear if one from the dead should come to them with a message. They would not be convinced even by this evidence; for those who reject the law and the prophets so harden their hearts that they will reject all light.

The conversation between Abraham and the once-rich man is figurative. The lesson to be gathered from it is that every man is given sufficient light for the discharge of the duties required of him. Man’s responsibilities are proportionate to his opportunities and privileges. God gives to every one sufficient light and grace to do the work He has given him to do. If man fails to do that which a little light shows to be his duty, greater light would only reveal unfaithfulness, neglect to improve the blessings given. “He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much.” Luke 16:10. Those who refuse to be enlightened by Moses and the prophets and ask for some wonderful miracle to be performed would not be convinced if their wish were granted.

The parable of the rich man and Lazarus shows how the two classes represented by these men are estimated in the unseen world. There is no sin in being rich if riches are not acquired by injustice. A rich man is not condemned for having riches, but condemnation rests upon him if the means entrusted to him is spent in selfishness. Far better might he lay up his money beside the throne of God, by using it to do good. Death cannot make any man poor who thus devotes himself to seeking eternal riches. But the man who hoards his treasure for self can not take any of it to heaven. He has proved himself to be an unfaithful steward. During his lifetime he had his good things, but he was forgetful of his obligation to God. He failed of securing the heavenly treasure.

The rich man who had so many privileges is represented to us as one who should have cultivated his gifts, so that his works should reach to the great beyond, carrying with them improved spiritual advantages. It is the purpose of redemption, not only to blot out sin, but to give back to man those spiritual gifts lost because of sin’s dwarfing power. Money cannot be carried into the next life; it is not needed there; but the good deeds done in winning souls to Christ are carried to the heavenly courts. But those who selfishly spend the Lord’s gifts on themselves, leaving their needy fellow creatures without aid and doing nothing to advance God’s work in the world, dishonor their Maker. Robbery of God is written opposite their names in the books of heaven.

The rich man had all that money could procure, but he did not possess the riches that would have kept his account right with God. He had lived as if all that he possessed were his own. He had neglected the call of God and the claims of the suffering poor. But at length there comes a call which he cannot neglect. By a power which he cannot question or resist he is commanded to quit the premises of which he is no longer steward. The once-rich man is reduced to hopeless poverty. The robe of Christ’s righteousness, woven in the loom of heaven, can never cover him. He who once wore the richest purple, the finest linen, is reduced to nakedness. His probation is ended. He brought nothing into the world, and he can take nothing out of it.

Christ lifted the curtain and presented this picture before priests and rulers, scribes and Pharisees. Look at it, you who are rich in this world’s goods and are not rich toward God. Will you not contemplate this scene? That which is highly esteemed among men is abhorrent in the sight of God. Christ asks, “What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?” Mark 8:36, 37.

Application to the Jewish Nation

When Christ gave the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, there were many in the Jewish nation in the pitiable condition of the rich man, using the Lord’s goods for selfish gratification, preparing themselves to hear the sentence, “Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting.” Daniel 5:27. The rich man was favored with every temporal and spiritual blessing, but he refused to cooperate with God in the use of these blessings. Thus it was with the Jewish nation. The Lord had made the Jews the depositaries of sacred truth. He had appointed them stewards of His grace. He had given them every spiritual and temporal advantage, and He called upon them to impart these blessings. Special instruction had been given them in regard to their treatment of their brethren who had fallen into decay, of the stranger within their gates, and of the poor among them. They were not to seek to gain everything for their own advantage, but were to remember those in need and share with them. And God promised to bless them in accordance with their deeds of love and mercy. But like the rich man, they put forth no helping hand to relieve the temporal or spiritual necessities of suffering humanity. Filled with pride, they regarded themselves as the chosen and favored people of God; yet they did not serve or worship God. They put their dependence in the fact that they were children of Abraham. “We be Abraham’s seed,” they said proudly. (John 8:33.) When the crisis came, it was revealed that they had divorced themselves from God, and had placed their trust in Abraham, as if he were God.

Christ longed to let light shine into the darkened minds of the Jewish people. He said to them, “If ye were Abraham’s children, ye would do the works of Abraham. But now ye seek to kill Me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God. This did not Abraham.” John 8:39, 40.

Christ recognized no virtue in lineage. He taught that spiritual connection supersedes all natural connection. The Jews claimed to have descended from Abraham; but by failing to do the works of Abraham, they proved that they were not his true children. Only those who prove themselves to be spiritually in harmony with Abraham by obeying the voice of God, are reckoned as of true descent. Although the beggar belonged to the class looked upon by men as inferior, Christ recognized him as one whom Abraham would take into the very closest friendship.

The rich man though surrounded with all the luxuries of life was so ignorant that he put Abraham where God should have been. If he had appreciated his exalted privileges and had allowed God’s Spirit to mold his mind and heart, he would have had an altogether different position. So with the nation he represented. If they had responded to the divine call, their future would have been wholly different. They would have shown true spiritual discernment. They had means which God would have increased, making it sufficient to bless and enlighten the whole world. But they had so far separated from the Lord’s arrangement that their whole life was perverted. They failed to use their gifts as God’s stewards in accordance with truth and righteousness. Eternity was not brought into their reckoning, and the result of their unfaithfulness was ruin to the whole nation.

Christ knew that at the destruction of Jerusalem the Jews would remember His warning. And it was so. When calamity came upon Jerusalem, when starvation and suffering of every kind came upon the people, they remembered these words of Christ and understood the parable. They had brought their suffering upon themselves by their neglect to let their God-given light shine forth to the world.

In the Last Days

The closing scenes of this earth’s history are portrayed in the closing of the rich man’s history. The rich man claimed to be a son of Abraham, but he was separated from Abraham by an impassable gulf—a character wrongly developed. Abraham served God, following His word in faith and obedience. But the rich man was unmindful of God and of the needs of suffering humanity. The great gulf fixed between him and Abraham was the gulf of disobedience. There are many today who are following the same course. Though church members, they are unconverted. They may take part in the church service, they may chant the psalm, "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God" (Psalm 42:1); but they testify to a falsehood. They are no more righteous in God's sight than is the veriest sinner. The soul that longs after the excitement of worldly pleasure, the mind that is full of love for display, cannot serve God. Like the rich man in the parable, such a one has no inclination to war against the lust of the flesh. He longs to indulge appetite. He chooses the atmosphere of sin. He is suddenly snatched away by death, and he goes down to the grave with the character formed during his lifetime in copartnership with Satanic agencies. In the grave he has no power to choose anything, be it good or evil; for in the day when a man dies, his thoughts perish. (Psalm 146:4; Ecclesiastes 9:5, 6).

When the voice of God awakes the dead, he will come from the grave with the same appetites and passions, the same likes and dislikes, that he cherished when living. God works no miracle to re-create a man who would not be re-created when he was granted every opportunity and provided with every facility. During his lifetime he took no delight in God, nor found pleasure in His service. His character is not in harmony with God, and he could not be happy in the heavenly family.

Today there is a class in our world who are self-righteous. They are not gluttons, they are not drunkards, they are not infidels; but they desire to live for themselves, not for God. He is not in their thoughts; therefore they are classed with unbelievers. Were it possible for them to enter the gates of the city of God, they could have no right to the tree of life, for when God's commandments were laid before them with all their binding claims they said, No. They have not served God here; therefore they would not serve Him hereafter. They could not live in His presence, and they would feel that any place was preferable to heaven.

To learn of Christ means to receive His grace, which is His character. But those who do not appreciate and utilize the precious opportunities and sacred influences granted them on earth, are not fitted to take part in the pure devotion of heaven. Their characters are not molded according to the divine similitude. By their own neglect they have formed a chasm which nothing can bridge. Between them and the righteous there is a great gulf fixed.

THURSDAY

Was Blind but Now I See.

Among the publicans there was a confederacy, so that they could oppress the people, and sustain one another in their fraudulent practices. In their extortion they were but carrying out what had become an almost universal custom. Even the priests and rabbis who despised them were guilty of enriching themselves by dishonest practices under cover of their sacred calling. But no sooner did Zacchaeus yield to the influence of the Holy Spirit than he cast aside every practice contrary to integrity.

No repentance is genuine that does not work reformation. The righteousness of Christ is not a cloak to cover unconfessed and unforsaken sin; it is a principle of life that transforms the character and controls the conduct. Holiness is wholeness for God; it is the entire surrender of heart and life to the indwelling of the principles of heaven. {DA 555.6}

Jesus the Master Teacher

Any thoughts on why Jesus took on this role of “master teacher” during his earthly ministry? Is this ownership of this title limited only to his 30 or so years on this earth...or has always been and will forever be our master teacher?

- Unfallen beings/Lucifer?
- Creation?
- Adam and Even in the Garden of Eden?
- Abraham, Isaac, Jacob...the Israelites?

We just finished an amazing study of Tim’s first book, CIBTS, at Hamilton Community Church...Russell really did a great job...and I left there marveling even more at how fearfully and wonderfully we are made – particularly our minds and our brains. And I left there even more firmly convinced that an integral part of our healing, our character development, our being set right...is the healing of our minds and setting those back in harmony with how they were originally designed. If the new covenant experience is to have the law of love written on our hearts and minds, I know at least for me, my mind is going to have to be healed in order for that to happen! The very name of this class and this ministry speaks to the importance and value that comes from reasoning out and wrestling through these issues with a teachable spirit. One of the founders of our church agrees:

“The agency of the Spirit of God does not remove from us the necessity of exercising our faculties and talents, but teaches us how to use every power to the glory of God. The human faculties when under the special direction of the grace of God, are capable of being used to the best purpose on earth, and will be exercised in the future immortal life. Ignorance will not increase the humility or spirituality of any professed follower of Christ. The truths of the divine word can be best appreciated by an intellectual Christian. Christ can be best glorified by those who serve him intelligently. The great object of education is to enable us to use the powers which God has given us in such a manner as will best represent the religion of the Bible and promote the glory of God. We are indebted to Him who gave us existence for all the talents which have been intrusted to us; and it is a duty we owe to our Creator to cultivate and improve upon the talents he has committed to our trust. Education will discipline the mind, develop its powers, and understandingly direct them, that we may be useful in advancing the glory of God.” – {CE 203.2}

So in Saturday’s lesson, the quarterly describes the desperate conditions on the earth at the time Christ came over 2000 years ago. Did you read this?

“Humanity seemed to be fast reaching its lowest point. The very foundations of society were undermined. Life had become false and artificial. Disgusted with fable and falsehood, seeking to drown thought, men turned to infidelity and materialism. Leaving eternity out of their reckoning, they lived for the present.”

I mean, is this a description of BC Rome...or yesterday's headlines? It says that understanding this background will help us better understand why Jesus taught the things he did...thoughts? Perhaps Christ taught the things he did...because we have gotten so out of harmony with who and how he made us to be. And would he teach different things if He came back today?

Much of the quarterly's Saturday lesson content came from Chapter 8 in the book of Education – entitled The Teacher Sent From God...but it is the rest of that chapter I think is so insightful and so profound...it's kind of long, but I want to read it to you, if you don't mind. I hope I can make it through the whole quote because it really speaks to my soul. I believe it also speaks so powerfully to what we teach and to the concepts that inspired this ministry...and it goes a long way toward explaining Christ as the Master Teacher.

“There was but one hope for the human race—that into this mass of discordant and corrupting elements might be introduced a new leaven; that there might be brought to humankind the power of a new life; that the knowledge of God might be restored to the world. Christ came to restore this knowledge. He came to set aside the false teaching by which those who claimed to know God had misrepresented Him. He came to manifest the nature of His law, to reveal in His own character the beauty of holiness. Christ came to the world with the accumulated love of eternity. He showed that the law of God is a law of love, an expression of the Divine Goodness. He showed that in obedience to its principles is involved the happiness of everyone, and with it the stability, the very foundation and framework, of human society. God's law is given as a hedge, a shield. Whoever accepts its principles is preserved from evil. Fidelity to God involves fidelity to humans. Thus the law guards the rights, the individuality, of every human being. It ensures their well-being, both for this world and for the world to come. To the obedient it is the pledge of eternal life, for it expresses the principles that endure forever. Christ came to demonstrate the value of the divine principles by revealing their power for the regeneration of humanity. With the people of that age the value of all things was determined by outward show. As religion declined in power, it increased in pomp. The educators of the time sought to command respect by display and ostentation. To all this, the life of Jesus presented a marked contrast. His life demonstrated the worthlessness of those things that most people regarded as life's great essentials. His education was gained directly from the Heaven-appointed sources—from useful work, from the study of the Scriptures and of nature, and from the experiences of life. [Hopefully those sound really familiar to you!] “The Child grew, and became strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.” Luke 2:40. Thus prepared, Jesus went forth to His mission, exerting upon men, women, and children an influence to bless, a power to transform, such as the world had never witnessed. Anyone who seeks to transform humanity must understand humanity. Only through sympathy, faith, and love can people be reached and uplifted. Here Christ stands revealed as the Master Teacher. He alone has perfect understanding of the human soul. Christ alone had experience in all the sorrows and temptations that befall human beings. Never was another so fiercely beset by temptation. Never another bore so heavy a burden of the world's sin and pain. Never was there another whose sympathies were so broad or so tender. A sharer in all the experiences of humanity, He could feel not only for, but with, every burdened and tempted and struggling one...[what does it mean to you to know the God of the universe feels for you and with you when you are burdened and tempted and struggling?] What He taught, He lived. “I have given you an example,” He said to His disciples, “that you should do as I have done to you.” “I have kept My Father’s commandments.” John 13:15; 15:10. Thus, in His life, Christ’s words had perfect illustration and support. And more than this; what He taught, He was. His words were the expression not only of His own life experience but of His own character.” – {Ted 49.3}

Have you ever had that kind of amazing teacher? The one who could motivate you...the one who could explain inexplicable concepts in a way you could understand...the one who gave you those light bulb a-ha moments. If, in our degenerated state, we can still produce incredible teachers like that...can you even imagine what kind of teacher Christ was? Have you ever registered for a class...headed off to the campus bookshop...only to discover that your professor wrote – literally authored the textbook?? A whole different level of learning takes place in those classes...I’m wondering if this was the disciples experience – learning from the author of the law of love...from the designer and creator of humanity!

SUNDAY

The Authority of Jesus

This week’s memory text from Luke 4:32 says, “And they were astonished at His teaching, for His word was with authority.” The Greek word translated as “astonished” in this text literally means “blown away”...those who were listening to or seeing Jesus act with authority were “blown away” and “dumbfounded”...such was the power of his authority.

Now Luke was acquainted with the role of authority – all types of authority – he was a physician, he was a scholar, he traveled with Paul and witnessed his ecclesiastical authority. He had rubbed shoulders with all kinds of authority...at all levels of authority, but he repeatedly emphasized in his writings that Jesus and his authority were unmatched. Why?

Jesus was born in the piddly...some some might say little hick town...of Nazareth, he grew up in a humble carpenter’s home, he was not rich, we do not have Biblical evidence that he went to university or seminary, he held no position of power. So, what is it that people were seeing? Where did he get this authority from to confront virtually everyone – Roman rulers, Jewish scholars, rabbis, secular & religious leaders, and ordinary folks? Why were these folks all so blown away? Why was His authority so noticeable and so in contrast to what folks were accustomed to?

The scribes and religious leaders spoke BY authority – quoting those who preceded them – but Jesus spoke WITH authority. With authority as the Creator, with the authority of the Father who sent Him, with the authority of His perfect life, Jesus spoke and acted so that even his enemies had to admit that “no man ever spoke like this Man!” Not just in words and works, but in life as well, Jesus spoke with absolute certainty, without contradiction or confusion. Christ’s authority derives from the fact that He was the very embodiment of truth. From the previous Education quote, “What He taught, He was...Not only did He teach the truth, but He was truth. It was this that gave His teaching, power.”

Sunday's lesson gives these Biblical examples from Luke of Christ's authority being recognized. Let's have some folks look up Luke 4:31-37, Luke 5:24-26, and Luke 8:22-25.

- Luke 4:31-37 – teaching people in Capernaum on Sabbath. “They were surprised and impressed – His teaching was so forthright, so confident, so authoritative, not the quibbling and quoting they were used to.” Not to mention that His voice spoke demons into submission...He was “the talk of the town.”
- Luke 8:22-25 is the familiar story of the disciples in the boat that night during the awful storm, when Christ commanded “Peace be still”...and the awestruck disciples said “Who is He anyway, that even the winds and the waves obey Him?”
- Luke 5:24-26 – familiar story of the paralyzed man who was lowered down through the room by his friends. “Which is simpler to say, ‘I forgive your sins’ or to say, ‘Get up and walk’? Just so it’s clear that I’m the Son of Man and am authorized to do either, or both, ‘Get up. Take your bed and go walk.’”

“Christ spoke with authority. Every truth essential for the people to know He proclaimed with the unfaltering assurance of certain knowledge. He uttered nothing fanciful or sentimental. He presented no sophistries, no human opinions. No idle tales, no false theories clothed in beautiful language, came from His lips. The statements that He made were truths established by personal knowledge. He foresaw the delusive doctrines that would fill the world, but He did not unfold them. In His teachings He dwelt upon the unchangeable principles of God’s word. He magnified the simple, practical truths that the common people could understand and bring into the daily experience. Christ might have opened to men the deepest truths of science. He might have unlocked mysteries that have required centuries of toil and study to penetrate. He might have made suggestions in scientific lines that would have afforded food for thought and stimulus for invention to the close of time. But He did not do this. He said nothing to gratify curiosity or to satisfy man’s ambitions by opening doors to worldly greatness. In all His teaching, Christ brought the minds of men in contact with the Infinite Mind. He did not direct the people to study men’s theories about God, His word, or His works. He taught them to behold God as manifested in His works, in His word, and by His providences.” – {8T 201.3}

Does doing things in God’s name...saying, “God led me to this” automatically give us or our actions authority? How do we know?

- Integrative-evidence based approach
- Prayer for wisdom, discernment, investigation, practice
- Investigation of Doctrine --

“There is no excuse for anyone in taking the position that there is no more truth to be revealed, and that all our expositions of Scripture are without an error. The fact that certain doctrines have been held as truth for many years by our people, is not a proof that our ideas are infallible. Age will not make error into truth, and truth can afford to be fair. No true doctrine will lose anything by close investigation. We are living in perilous times, and it does not become us to accept everything claimed to be truth without examining it thoroughly; neither can we afford to reject anything that bears the fruits of the Spirit of God; but we should be teachable, meek and lowly of heart. There are those who oppose everything that is not in accordance with their own ideas, and by so doing they endanger their eternal interest as verily as did the Jewish nation in their rejection of Christ. The Lord designs that our opinions shall be put to the test, that we may see the necessity of closely examining the living oracles to see whether or not we are in the faith. Many who claim to believe the truth have settled down at their ease, saying, "I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing."—The Review and Herald, December 20, 1892. – {CW 36.1}

Christ's Greatest Sermon

The quarterly states that Christ's Sermon on the Mount, including the golden rule, is often hailed in literature as "the essence of Christianity." Has anyone ever heard referred to like that? Oh, that it were true! It is also referred to as the "ordination charge to the 12", since it appears to take place chronologically immediately after the 12 disciples were chosen. Luke's account is found in Luke 6:20-49...and the first part of this sermon is commonly referred to as "the Beatitudes". This story is only recounted in two of the gospels, and it seems that Luke (or Luke's translators) kept his interpretation much more literal and temporal. So let's take a look at some of the backwards upside-down math at work in God's kingdom. What traits are declared as blessed?

- Poor/poverty (poor in spirit)
- Hungry (hunger and thirst for righteousness)
- Weeping/mourning
- Hated/excluded/insulted/rejected/persecuted for righteousness sake

And then the "woe untos":

- Rich/self-satisfied
- Well-fed
- Laugh/everything is fun and games
- Popular/flattered/concerned with what others think

Can you imagine how strange and crazy and illogical and backwards these concepts must have sounded to the new disciples? His Kingdom is nothing like worldly kingdoms, his government operates nothing like earthly governments, and I would submit that his natural design laws are nothing like human imposed laws. Well, then it probably got even weirder in verses 27-38. The Message reads like this:

"To you who are ready for the truth, I say this: Love your enemies. Let them bring out the best in you, not the worst. When someone gives you a hard time, respond with the energies of prayer for that person. If someone slaps you in the face, stand there and take it. If someone grabs your shirt, giftwrap your best coat and make a present of it. If someone takes unfair advantage of you, use the occasion to practice the servant life. No more tit-for-tat stuff. Live generously. Here is a simple rule of thumb for behavior: Ask yourself what you want people to do for you; then grab the initiative and do it for them! If you only love the lovable, do you expect a pat on the back? Run-of-the-mill sinners do that. If you only help those who help you, do you expect a medal? Garden-variety sinners do that. If you only give for what you hope to get out of it, do you think that's charity? The stingiest of pawnbrokers does that. I tell you, love your enemies. Help and give without expecting a return. I promise—you will never regret it. Live out this God-created identity the way our Father lives toward us, generously and graciously, even when we're at our worst. Our Father is kind; you be kind. Don't pick on people, jump on their failures, criticize their faults—unless, of course, you want the same treatment. Don't condemn those who are down; that hardness can boomerang. Be easy on people; you'll find life a lot easier. Give away your life; you'll find life given back, but not merely given back—given back with bonus and blessing. Giving, not getting, is the way. Generosity begets generosity." Luke 6:27-38 - The Message

Isn't it tough to get your mind around these concepts on some days?

Mrs. White says this about the Sermon on the Mount in Testimonies Volume 7:

"The Sermon on the Mount is heaven's benediction to the world, a voice from the throne of God. It was given to mankind to be to them the law of duty and the light of heaven, their hope and consolation in despondency. Here the Prince of preachers, the Master Teacher, utters the words that the Father gave Him to speak. The Beatitudes are Christ's greeting, not only to those who believe, but to the whole human family. He seems to have forgotten for a moment that He is in the world, not in heaven; and He uses the familiar salutation of the world of light. Blessings flow from His lips as the gushing forth of a long-sealed current of rich life. Christ leaves us in no doubt as to the traits of character that He will always recognize and bless. From the ambitious favorites of the world He turns to those whom they disown, pronouncing all blessed who receive His light and life. To the poor in spirit, the meek, the lowly, the sorrowful, the despised, the persecuted, He opens His arms of refuge, saying: "Come unto Me,... and I will give you rest." Matthew 11:28. Christ can look on the misery of the world without a shade of sorrow for having created man. In the human heart He sees more than sin, more than misery. In His infinite wisdom and love He sees man's possibilities, the height to which he may attain. He knows that, even though human beings have abused their mercies and destroyed their God-given dignity, yet the Creator is to be glorified in their redemption. The Sermon on the Mount is an example of how we are to teach. What pains Christ has taken to make mysteries no longer mysteries, but plain, simple truths! There is in His instruction nothing vague, nothing hard to understand. "He opened His mouth, and taught them." Matthew 5:2. His words were spoken in no whispered tones, nor was His utterance harsh and disagreeable. He spoke with clearness and emphasis, with solemn, convincing force. "And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at His doctrine: for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes." Matthew 7:28, 29. — {7T 269.6}

Quarterly states: "The golden rule of love – no other command of Jesus is more debated and considered more difficult to keep." Agree?

Quarterly states: “Note Christ’s insistence on Forgiveness, liberal giving, exemplary living, and tolerance.” Why the insistence on these?

TUESDAY

A New Family

Jesus introduced a new concept of neighbor, a new concept of family – not defined by the usual exclusivity of caste, color, language, tribe, or religion. There was no division. Under the banner of agape love – unmerited, nonexclusive, universal, and sacrificial – Christ created a new family, one in harmony with His original design. This family reflects the original, universal, and ideal concept enshrined in the Genesis creation, which attests that every human being is created in the image of God (Gen. 1:26-27) and, therefore, equal before Him.

What are some of the typical walls and divisions that Christ tore down in His ministry?

- Profession/reputation – tax collectors, prostitutes, “sinners”
- Dead/unclean, lepers, demon possessed, disfigured
- Poor, maimed, lame, blind

The family of Christian discipleship ought to be no less close and binding than the ties of having common parents. To Jesus the true test of family is not blood relationships but doing the will of God. It seems like we are not quite there, are we? In this world? In this country? In this denomination?

WEDNESDAY

Love Defined: The Parable of the Good Samaritan: Part 1

Only Luke records the parable of the good Samaritan (Luke 10:25-37). This parable illustrates the horizontal dimension-the kind of love that should characterize human life – refusing to acknowledge any barrier between humans but living instead within Jesus' definition of a neighbor: that all human beings are children of God, and deserve to be loved and treated equally.

When Jesus asked the lawyer, “What is written in the law?” what did he say? So he knew God’s law of love, at least he knew enough to recite it. During the time of Jesus, it was the customary for prominent Jews, such as this lawyer, to wear a phylactery on their wrist. It was a little leather pouch containing large portions of the Torah, including the one that would answer Jesus' question. Jesus’ question directed the lawyer to what was written in Deuteronomy (Deut. 6:5) and Leviticus (Lev. 19:18) – the very thing he was likely carrying in his phylactery. He had the answer on his wrist and on his lips, but not in his heart. Jesus directed the lawyer to a great truth: eternal life is not a matter of keeping rules but calls for loving God absolutely and unreservedly and likewise all God's creation-our neighbor, to be precise. And when the lawyer pushes further, either out of ignorance or out of arrogance, and asks: Who is my neighbor? Christ responds with the familiar parable of the Good Samaritan.

Did you know that this story really happened? Mrs. White tells us in the Desire of Ages that the parable of the good Samaritan is not an “imaginary scene, but an actual occurrence, which was known to be exactly as represented. The priest and the Levite who passed by on the other side were in the company that listened to Christ's words (499).

Why is it significant that the priest and the Levite did not stop and help the man in need? By all appearances, they were the ones you would expect to do it! They were just like the attorney – they knew what was written in the law, they could recite it from memory, they were probably wearing it on their arm. But there had been no conversion, no heart change. The Samaritan had perhaps never heard “the law”, and yet his heart had obviously been transformed by the Holy Spirit to operate in compassion and unselfish love.

What is important to remember, is that this parable does not say anything about what we can do to be saved. Its emphasis is on how a converted person on the path to healing (or a “saved” person) ought to live.

“In His life and lessons, Christ has given a perfect exemplification of the unselfish ministry which has its origin in God. God does not live for Himself. By creating the world, and by upholding all things, He is constantly ministering for others...This ideal of ministry God has committed to His Son. Jesus was given to stand at the head of humanity, that by His example He might teach what it means to minister. His whole life was under a law of service. He served all, ministered to all. Thus He lived the law of God, and by His example showed how we are to obey it.” {DOA 649}

“In His teaching He ever presented the law as a divine unity, showing that it is impossible to keep one precept and break another; for the same principle runs through all. Man's destiny will be determined by his obedience to the whole law. It is not possible for the heart in which Christ abides to be destitute of love. If we love God because He first loved us, we shall love all for whom Christ died. We cannot come in touch with divinity without coming in touch with humanity; for in Him who sits upon the throne of the universe, divinity and humanity are combined. Connected with Christ, we are connected with our fellow men by the golden links of the chain of love. Then the pity and compassion of Christ will be manifest in our life. We shall not wait to have the needy and unfortunate brought to us. We shall not need to be entreated to feel for the woes of others. It will be as natural for us to minister to the needy and suffering as it was for Christ to go about doing good...Wherever there is an impulse of love and sympathy, wherever the heart reaches out to bless and uplift others, there is revealed the working of God's Holy Spirit. In the depths of heathenism, men who have had no knowledge of the written law of God, who have never even heard the name of Christ, have been kind to His servants, protecting them at the risk of their own lives. Their acts show the working of a divine power. The Holy Spirit has implanted the grace of Christ in the heart of the savage, quickening his sympathies contrary to his nature, contrary to his education. The “Light which lighteth every man that cometh into the world” (John 1:9), is shining in his soul; and this light, if heeded, will guide his feet to the kingdom of God.” – {COL 385.1}

Following Jesus in Everyday Life

Report from Australia / New Zealand Trip:

First, thanks to Wendell Moses, Russell Atkins and Lori Atkins for teaching class while I was away. People came up and told me in Australia what a great job all three of you are doing!

Thanks to this class for your support. It is you, this core class who has come to love this message about God, and who has stuck together over the past five years – yes it has been five years since we founded Come and Reason Ministries. And it is because of your love for this message that the trip to Australia, New Zealand and so many other places, along with all our materials to share has been made possible!

And Thanks! To all our online family and friends, who as you have heard this message, have joined with us and share it in your community, keep us in your prayers and financially support in creating all the materials we give away. All of you are part of this movement which is having a HUGE impact on Christianity. I can't tell you the number of places this message is now being taught – schools, doctors, nurses, churches of multiple denominations – people coming back to church who have left, people accepting God who never had before. So thank you each and everyone for your support, for the experiences I am about to share from our trip would not have been possible without all of you!

We want to express our overwhelming appreciation for Simon Harrison, our manager in Australia who has worked tirelessly to bring off this entire event. I wish all of you could meet Simon. He is an amazing Christian gentleman, humble, gentle, faithful, diligent, immaculate attention to detail, seeks only to give glory to God, a great father to four beautiful children. He just does a fantastic job of representing us and this message down under. For those going to the GC in July you will get a chance to meet Simon as he will be helping us out at our booth.

We flew into Brisbane Friday May 1, and were scheduled to speak that evening, but Brisbane experienced extreme rain of over 3 inches per hour, causing flooding so we had to cancel the Friday evening meeting. But, it all worked out because we did that program Sabbath morning and during our Sabbath program had over 700 people, standing room only at the Springwood SDA church.

We met so many wonderful people. The message was enthusiastically received. We want to tell our new friends hello:

Pastor Kendal Cobbin and his lovely wife Lenelle
Pastor Cara Dale
Don & Deanna Pitchford
Pastor Mike Brownhill

The Big added bonus was that Louis Johnson, who did all the artwork and music score for Journal of the Watcher flew in from Dubai to spend the weekend with us. Louis is such an amazing talent and uses his abilities to bring glory to God and share this message of God's character of love. We are truly blessed to have Louis as part of our international family.

We presented Sunday at an Anglican Church in Brisbane, and one of the conference officers for the Anglican church, Ralph Bowles introduced me telling his audience he had read The God-Shaped Brain and he really loved the view of God it presented. There were multiple priests and educators present who all expressed appreciation for the message and we gave away our DVDs which were enthusiastically received.

We drove to Toowoomba and spoke to the community, which was overwhelmingly positively received. And really enjoyed ourselves with our new friends there:

Arlagene and Daryl Groves
Adrian Fitzpatrick (Darling Down Christian School Principal)

We next flew to Perth, the other side of the country, where I presented to an inter-denomination group of Christian counselors, doing an all day seminar. Again, overwhelming positive response and they have already invited me back. I also spoke at Livingston and Freemantle SDA church, again with very positive responses. We gave away our DVDs at every one of these events.

Hello and a big thanks to:

Christian Counselors Assoc. Team & Keren Masters
Pastor Paul Goltz (Livingston SDA)
Pastor Clem & Julie Van Ballegooyen (Fremantle SDA)
Jan Chapman
Nathaniel Harrison
Jeanelle and Keith Hockley

We were blessed to get to spend some time with Simon's children, Maddie, Christian, Kyra and Daniel, and his mother Shirley and her husband John, brother Nat & Julie and their children. And a BIG thanks to Wendy for her friendship, time, energy and support!

On Sunday we flew to Melbourne where we held a three day seminar for a inter-denominational group of Christian counselors. Again extremely well received. Want to say a big thank you to Tamara Auora for all her help in organizing the Melbourne event.

And thanks to Emanuel & Nada Millen and Emanuel's parents, and William and his wife and daughter!

Thursday we flew to Sydney where we did a TV interview for Adventist media, thanks Kent Kingston (Adventist Media Centre) which is to be broadcast on the Hope channel in Australia and USA. Then on to the San, which is the Adventist Hospital in Sydney. We presented the God Shaped Brain lecture and it was very enthusiastically received, and was given a tour of their new facility – amazing new hospital. Thanks to Dr. Alex Currie (SAH) and Suzanne Hadfield.

Thursday and Friday we presented at Avondale College, then an all day seminar in Maitland. We really appreciate Wayne French, chaplain at Avondale who helped coordinate the event and picked us up from the airport. And Rick and Darlene Sharp, the pastor at Maitland who has been such a big supporter of this picture about God. Also, we are thankful to Brenden Wooley, who has loved this message and purchased given away over 200 of The God-Shaped Brain he was kind enough to drive us from Maitland to Sydney, a two hour drive.

We also want to thank:

Matt & Heidi Thompson so enthusiastic in sharing this message with young people
Pastor Bradley Rea (Interview for You Tube Channel)
Brad Horne (Who helped organize our resources)

Our final Sunday we flew to Auckland, NZ and spoke at the Our Feet on the Rock Australian/New Zealand SDA Education Summit. We had such a wonderful reception and fellowship with the teachers and church leaders there. We want to especially thank:

Daryl Mudoch, National Director Adventist Schools Australia

Rosalie MCFarlane, Director Education New Zealand Pacific Union Conference
Lyndon Chapman, Associate Director Education Adventist Schools Australia
Ken Weslake Director for Education Pacific Division
And all the wonderful teachers, principals, church officials who made our reception so wonderful.

And a special thanks to Stephen Davies, who took us in his private plane for a flight over Auckland and the surrounding countryside.

And on Tuesday evening we spoke to the community in New Zealand, who filled the auditorium and just loved this message about God. Thanks to Terry and Richard Marsters who love this message and worked for weeks organizing the event and then showed us around New Zealand before we flew home yesterday.

And, if I forgot to mention someone – please forgive me as I am still jet-lagged as I write this just getting home after 29 hours of travel.

SABBATH

Read memory text: “And the apostles said to the Lord, ‘Increase our faith’” (Luke 17:5, NKJV).

What does this mean? When you hear the word faith what comes to mind? Does it mean: a religious organization such as a system of belief or confidence and trust?

I think the text is speaking of confidence and trust. How would Jesus do this? From where does faith originate?

From what is faith based and what increases it?

- Evidence (truth)
- Experience
- Trials that put the truth/evidence to test and results in confirming outcomes and strengthen our confidence i.e. our faith

Is this how you have been taught to experience faith, through experience and evidence? How much of Christianity is declarative – believe, why? Because I said so, the Bible says so, the church says so, God says so...? Trust the Bible because it is inspired...

Does God want us to believe on declarations? On the road to Emmaus what method did Christ use?

We give our children didactic education, i.e. education on stories in the Bible, memory texts, doctrines and supposed rationales for those doctrines, but do we, after didactic education, have specified applications, in which the children go out and practice applying what they were taught in lecture?

Isn't this what Christ did? He taught them, then demonstrated in action what He taught, and then sent them out to get experience relying upon Him, practicing His methods, teaching His truths.

In the military soldiers are given lectures, and then taken out into the field and given opportunity to practice, whether it be with a weapon, or how to navigate using a compass, or how to stop a wound from bleeding or how to apply a field dressing, or how to load and unload a stretcher onto a jeep, or helicopter etc.

In nursing school, medical school, dental school, students are given lectures and then given opportunity to practice applying what they have learned in real life.

What would happen if soldiers or health care providers only got lectures, no hands on application of what they heard in lecture and then found themselves dealing with real world problems?

Do our children struggle to apply God's truth in real life because it has been didactic, theoretical, without real world application?

We met some wonderful people in Australia who have developed an entire new Biblical educational plan for children in Adventist Education, (Lenelle Cobbin was one of a group who helped develop this) which is now being implemented in North American schools. It focuses on Head, Heart, Hands, Feet, meaning, after teaching a concept they focus on making that truth about God real in the experience of the child, then applying that truth in action with doing for others and then sharing that truth with others. And the overwhelming emphasis is on God's character of love!

Read first paragraph, "Though a great teacher..."

If Jesus didn't establish a school of theology and philosophy, what did He establish? A Remedy! Which consisted of what?

- The truth about God & Himself to win us to trust them
- The truth about sin to reveal it is the deviation from God's design law of love and causes death
- The truth about Satan to sever trust in him
- A new perfect humanity, a human character perfected by the choices made with a human brain – The human brain of Jesus Christ!

As the lesson states, He did reveal the truth about God's character, why was this necessary?

What is meant by the language, "He also paid the penalty for sin so that human beings, despite their fallen nature, could be redeemed."?

Do you see a contradiction in the statement? Note how the lesson rightly identifies our problem, our "fallen nature," but then confuses the solution with some legal payment. That would be like saying, He paid our speeding fine so that despite having leukemia we could be redeemed.

It is the confusion that comes from accepting Imperial Rome's change to God's law that Daniel prophesied about and thus failing to diagnose properly our condition.

It would be better to leave out the legal language, or clarify it. God and Christ paid a high price to fix the damage Adam's sin did to humanity. That price is what was needed to reveal the truth, destroy death, restore humanity back to God's ideal and expose Satan as liar and fraud.

Read the third paragraph, "The call to be part..." thoughts? What is the point the lesson is trying to teach in this paragraph?

It on the surface almost sounds right and good, but perhaps weaves a subtle message that Christ would not prefer be sent. It sounds, like the lesson is suggesting as we surrender to Christ we stop thinking for ourselves, we become mindless slaves living to hear what He says so we can do it, no questions. If that is what is being suggested, do you think Jesus wants that?

What does it mean, "what He says becomes the disciple's law of life." What do you think of this phrase "law of life"? What is the law of life? It is the law of love. And is it the law of life because Jesus says it, or does He say it because that is the way life actually works?

When they use the word law and law of life, what do you hear being described? A law that is the protocol upon which God constructed reality to operate, or do you hear something that sounds more like a ruler dictating rules and requiring obedience from subjects. Is this God's desire for us, or does God want friends, who when they don't understand will actually question Him?

In the OT who are the two people identified as God's friends?

Moses and Abraham – and what did both of them do? Both questioned God. When God sounded as if He was going to destroy Israel, Moses questioned Him, and God didn't destroy them. And when God told Abraham He was going to destroy Sodom and the cities on the plain, Abraham questioned Him, and negotiated what Abraham thought was a sure deal that would avoid the cities being destroyed.

God didn't get offended by this, but was quite pleased to have thinking friends, who loved Him and loved their fellow human beings and wanted to protect and save others. This is God's heart. God is love and He always wants to heal and save.

What is allegiance to Christ and His will? Is it allegiance to power? To position? What is our allegiance to Christ to be based upon, power, force, threat, coercion or love?

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Luke 11:37-54, from The Remedy:

³⁷When Jesus had finished speaking, a legal theologian of the Pharisee sect invited him home to eat; so Jesus went and reclined at the table.³⁸ But when Jesus didn't first do a ceremonial washing of his hands before the meal, the Pharisee was shocked.

³⁹So the Master tried to enlighten him and said, "You legal and behaviorally focused Pharisees work so hard to make yourselves look good on the outside, but the inside, the heart, is full of selfishness, arrogance, and greed."⁴⁰You really don't understand God's kingdom of love! Did not God, who crafted your outside in his image, also design your inside, your heart and character, to be like him?⁴¹So give from your inside, your hearts, to help the less fortunate, and then everything about you will be clean.

⁴⁴"Misery is yours, you legal theologians, Pharisees; you're like unmarked graves, appearing inviting like a lawn but beneath the surface is death and decay."

⁴⁵One of the Supreme Court lawyers challenged him. "But Doctor, don't you realize what you're saying is rude and offensive? You insult us."

⁴⁶Jesus answered him, "And misery is yours, you lawyers, because you create a false legal religious system with so many imposed rules. You burden people needlessly with guilt and fear, and you won't make any effort to help them.

⁴⁷"Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion. You build tombs and memorials to God's spokespersons, but it was your ancestors who killed them."⁴⁸Thus the memorials you build are a witness against you for your hearts are no different than those who killed them."⁴⁹Because of your false remedy and penal legal trickery, God in his wisdom said, 'I will send them my spokespersons, instructors and Bible scholars; some they will execute, others they will persecute.'⁵⁰Understand then, this generation is responsible for rejecting the witness of every prophet who has been killed since the creation of the world,⁵¹from the murder of Abel to that of Zechariah, who was killed in church right at the altar. I tell you truly, this generation is responsible for rejecting all the evidence those righteous witnesses gave.

⁵²"Misery is yours, you lawyers and legal theologians. You have the Scriptures, the keys to the knowledge of God's kingdom of love. But you have refused to understand it and have created a false legal interpretation that prevents others from understanding it."

⁵³When Jesus left that place, the legal theologians of the Pharisee sect and the lawyers aggressively opposed him and followed him berating him with questions, ⁵⁴trying to trick him into saying something they could use against him.

Read third paragraph, “For example, while tithing...”

- What are the demands of love and justice?
- Are love and justice different?
- What does love demand?
- What does justice demand?
- What is justice?
- Do you get a different justice if you change the law?
- What does justice look like if the law is the law of love, the protocols upon which life is designed to operate?
- If someone breaks design law protocols, like hanging themselves, what is the justice action to take when dealing with them?
- What does justice look like when one thinks through imposed law constructs?
- What is God’s justice?
- What was the justice God taught in the OT?
- What does it mean then when we hear justice requires God inflict death?

Seventh paragraph states, “Meanwhile, the Pharisees honored the prophets no longer alive but worked against the living ones.”

Do we have this problem today, honor God’s dead spokespersons but working against those who are carrying His message forward today?

What is the reason?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Fear God and give glory to Him...”

What does this mean? I am genuinely unsure of what the authors are trying to convey? If they are trying to convey admiration, awe, overwhelming humility at the wisdom of God and the awareness of His infinite goodness and knowledge, then yes, I agree, this leads us to trust Him and want to following Him and stand with Him.

But, if they are suggesting that God is powerful, and is our rightful owner and thus claims our loyalty to Him because of this, and that having fear of God involves mindless loyalty and blind acceptance of His decrees then I would disagree.

How would you state the first of the three angel's messages?

Read second paragraph, "The passage..." It seems very much like a contradiction from the first paragraph, in the first paragraph they said "fearing God is not being afraid." Rightly so, but in this paragraph, they say "We need not fear forces that can only affect our body in the present world. Instead, we must fear and obey God because in His hands is our eternal destiny."

Any concerns about this?

Does it sound like terror-based theology? Be afraid of God because He can not only hurt your body but also destroy your soul?

But is this what Scripture actually teaches? Is our eternal destiny decided by God? No! God has already chosen us. He has chosen every human being for salvation in Jesus; the determination of our salvation is now up to us whether we will choose Him!

This smacks of the penal/legal theologies, which put God in role of arbiter and imposer of punishments and leads people to be more afraid of God who is trying to save them than sin that is destroying them.

Read third paragraph, "While Jesus refuses..." Why is the 10th Commandment relevant? What makes it relevant?

Why is it perhaps the most relevant of all the commandments?

Romans 7:7-12 from The Remedy:

⁷What shall we say then? Is the law evil and selfish because it increases the amount of evil and selfishness we see? Absolutely not! I would not have known what evil and selfishness looked like if it wasn't for the diagnostic efficacy of the law. I would not have realized that coveting was evil and selfish if the law didn't say, "Don't covet."⁸ But selfishness, taking advantage of the fact that the law is only a diagnostic instrument and not a Remedy, magnified every covetous desire within me. For apart from the diagnostic ability of the law, sin is unrecognizable.⁹ Once I thought I was healthy and free from the infection of distrust, fear and selfishness, but then the commandment examined me, exposed how utterly infected I was and diagnosed me as terminal.¹⁰ I discovered that the very commandment given only to diagnose my condition I had unwittingly attempted to use as a cure, and thus my condition only worsened.¹¹ For selfishness, taking advantage of the fact that the commandment could only diagnose and not cure, deceived me into thinking I could be cured by working to keep the commandments, but instead my terminal state only worsened.¹² So understand this: the law diagnoses perfectly, and the commandment is the standard of what is right and good, set apart by God to reveal what is evil and destructive.

Why is the commandment not to covet relevant? Because it is the only one of the 10 Commandments that cannot be done behaviorally, it is the one that makes it clear that all 10 Commandments are diagnostic and intended to reveal the condition of the heart and are not a remedy to be applied to behavior.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Luke 12:35-53, let's read it from the NIV first, discuss it and then from The Remedy.

35“Be dressed ready for service and keep your lamps burning, 36like servants waiting for their master to return from a wedding banquet, so that when he comes and knocks they can immediately open the door for him. 37It will be good for those servants whose master finds them watching when he comes. Truly I tell you, he will dress himself to serve, will have them recline at the table and will come and wait on them. 38It will be good for those servants whose master finds them ready, even if he comes in the middle of the night or toward daybreak. 39But understand this: If the owner of the house had known at what hour the thief was coming, he would not have let his house be broken into. 40You also must be ready, because the Son of Man will come at an hour when you do not expect him.”

41Peter asked, “Lord, are you telling this parable to us, or to everyone?”

42The Lord answered, “Who then is the faithful and wise manager, whom the master puts in charge of his servants to give them their food allowance at the proper time? 43It will be good for that servant whom the master finds doing so when he returns. 44Truly I tell you, he will put him in charge of all his possessions. 45But suppose the servant says to himself, ‘My master is taking a long time in coming,’ and he then begins to beat the other servants, both men and women, and to eat and drink and get drunk. 46The master of that servant will come on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he is not aware of. He will cut him to pieces and assign him a place with the unbelievers.

47“The servant who knows the master’s will and does not get ready or does not do what the master wants will be beaten with many blows. 48But the one who does not know and does things deserving punishment will be beaten with few blows. From everyone who has been given much, much will be demanded; and from the one who has been entrusted with much, much more will be asked.

49“I have come to bring fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled! 50But I have a baptism to undergo, and what constraint I am under until it is completed! 51Do you think I came to bring peace on earth? No, I tell you, but division. 52From now on there will be five in one family divided against each other, three against two and two against three. 53They will be divided, father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law.”

What is the lesson? What does it mean beaten with many blows or few blows? This is often used by those who want to teach God is the source of inflicted suffering and punishment.

The lesson states, “An neglect of faithfulness on the pretext that ‘My master is delaying his coming’ is placing oneself under the severest form of God’s judgment.”

What does this mean? Do you understand these passages through imposed law models and then teach God will make the severest judicial finding against you and inflict the severest punishment on you?

Does such a teaching reduce fear of God and instill trust? No, it destroys trust, destroys love and incites rebellion. This is a subtle lie about God, based on accepting lies about God’s law, which people put forth in the guise of sounding righteous but which actually obstructs the work of God in people’s lives.

Here is from the Remedy, design law lens, expanded paraphrase, see if this changes our understanding to see God as love:

³⁵“Be dressed and prepared to serve; keep your minds alert and your hearts burning with the desire to help, ³⁶like people eagerly anticipating their lord's return from a wedding reception, who, when he knocks, they instantly open the door for him. ³⁷It will be a joyful day for those servants who are prepared and watching for their lord to return. The truth is, he will have them sit at the banquet table and he will serve them. ³⁸It will be a joyful day for those servants who are prepared and ready when their master arrives, even if he arrives in the middle of the night. ³⁹Understand the importance be being ready: if a homeowner knew the exact time a thief was coming, he would not have been unaware and his house would not have been burglarized. ⁴⁰You must live in a state of readiness because the Son of Man will return at a time you don't expect.”

⁴¹Peter asked, "Lord, did you tell this parable for us, or for everyone?"

⁴²Jesus gave this answer. "Who then is an intelligent and wise manager, one qualified to share the Remedy effectively in order to nurture the master's staff? ⁴³It will be the most awesome experience for that aide when the master returns to find him or her reliably doing so. ⁴⁴Truly, that aide will be trusted with all the master possesses. ⁴⁵But what if the master's aide is self-centered and says to him or herself, 'The master has been gone a long time, who knows when he will return,' and rather than nurturing the staff, he berates, abuses and misleads them and then goes and uses the master's resources to party with gluttons and drunkards.⁴⁶ That aide will be totally surprised, caught completely unaware, on the day his master returns. The master will let that wicked servant go, cutting their relationship and casting him out with all the other counterfeits and frauds who have peddled false remedies.

⁴⁷"The aide who understands the Master, his design, the problem being addressed, how to apply the Remedy, and either doesn't do so or applies a false remedy, will suffer many blows - a guilty conscience, warped character, damaged reason, broken relationships and ultimately a destroyed soul.⁴⁸ But the one who doesn't know about the Remedy or how to apply it and therefore doesn't do so or applies a false remedy will suffer few blows - regret, disappointment, and grief. The more you are given, the more you have to share with others; the greater your abilities, the more you have to give away.

⁴⁹"I have come to ignite the fire of truth and love upon the earth, and oh how I wished it was already an inferno!⁵⁰ But I have a mission to complete, and the pressure on me to complete it is overwhelming.⁵¹ Do you think I have come to make peace with this selfish world? Absolutely not! I have not come to make peace with selfishness but to cut selfishness out of the hearts of men.⁵² From now on, those who choose the Remedy will cut dysfunctional family ties, and a family of five will be divided two against three and three against two.⁵³ Love will free a son from selfish loyalty to his father's ambitions and feuds, and a father from the selfish exploits of his son; love will sever a daughter from the control of an oppressive and manipulative mother, and a mother from the selfish demands of her daughter; love will cut through the fear and hostility a daughter-in-law has toward her mother-in-law, and mother-in-law toward daughter-in-law."

Read the last paragraph, "The ancient prophet's..." What kind of war are we in? Where is the battlefield? The mind, what are the weapons of God, truth, love, freedom, forgiveness, repentance, prayer, God's Word...

What do you think of the last sentence, "Only by continual faith in the Christ of the cross can one win the final victory."

True – yet can even the Christ of the cross be misunderstood and misrepresented? Can even Christ be represented as being killed by His Father, to appease His Father's wrath and thus is in heaven pleading to His Father to protect us from Him? If we worship such a God is our faith strengthened or undermined? Is love built up or fear?

Yes, we must come back to the Christ of the cross, but only when rightly understood through the lens of design law. Christ fulfilling God's purpose to restore this creation back to His design of love! Christ is not working on God, but working for God, to reveal God and accomplish God's purpose of healing and saving this creation.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “The Father, the Son...” Can the cross be presented in a way that is actually bad news rather than good news?

How so? And what underlies such views?

The second paragraph says we are to be Jesus’ witnesses, to witness what?

So the dragon was enraged with the woman, and went off to make war with the rest of her children, who keep the commandments of God and hold to the testimony of Jesus. Rev 12:17

What does this mean? The answer is found in Rev 19:10:

Then I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me, "Do not do that; I am a fellow servant of yours and your brethren who hold the testimony of Jesus; worship God. For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy."

Well what is the spirit of prophecy? It is the spirit that inspired the prophets. In other words, the testimony of Jesus is the truth about His Father that Jesus Himself revealed, and is the same truth the Spirit inspired the prophets to tell. Those who are the remnant, that Satan hates, are those who live in harmony with God’s design law, and tell the truth about God’s character of love as Jesus did.

Thus, Rev 12:17 from The Remedy:

Then the dragon was frantic with hate and rage at the woman and went off to make war against the remnant of her children, the end-time people who still embrace and practice God's methods of love and hold true to Jesus' testimony about his Father.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “Jesus’ answer is unique in the history...” Do we believe Jesus? Do we believe Jesus does not rule by coercion, by threat, by intimidation, by the infliction of pain, suffering, punishment?

Then why does almost all of Christianity teach that Jesus is coming back with a rod of iron to take vengeance on His enemies?

Will the exercise of power get God what He wants? First, what does God want from us? Our love and trust, which causes us to open our hearts and then our healing and transformation back to His design in order to prevent us from dying from the terminal condition with which we were born.

Can God get love and trust by the exercise of might and power? Zech 4:6 “not by might nor by power but by my Spirit says the Lord.”

And how does the Spirit work? Love and truth.

Do we have evidence to support this declaration of Scripture?

What happened in history when God used power?

- An angel with flaming sword barred the way to the tree of life
 - They rebelled into violence
- The flood
 - Built tower of Babel
- Sodom
 - Moabites and Ammonites
- 10 Plagues of Egypt
 - Worship golden calf
 - Murmur against God
- Thunder at Sinai
 - Grumble against Moses
 - Complain about the diet want meat
 - Hardened hearts 40 years in desert
- Mt. Carmel
 - Persistent rebellion and idol worship
 - Eventual captivity

Love and trust cannot be commanded or engendered with threat, use of power or punishment. Thus the entire penal presentation of God is proved to be false.

Even someone as corrupt as Napoleon Bonaparte understood this:

I know men and I tell you that Jesus Christ is no mere man. Between Him and every other person in the world there is no possible term of comparison. Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne, and I have founded empires. But on what did we rest the creation of our genius? Upon force. Jesus Christ founded His empire upon love; and at this hour millions of men would die for Him.

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 11

The Kingdom of God

I received this email this week:

May 27, 2015

Dear Dr. Jennings,

As an introduction, I'm the one who has a supply of your books and dvd's in my studio to give out to my clients here in Montrose, Colorado! ☺

The reason I am writing is that I wanted to share with you an essay that our daughter, Sami, wrote for her final bible assignment. She just completed the 6th grade. I had requested from the Principal of [her Christian school] to teach her bible class at home 1st hour then bring her to school for all the other classes. He agreed! ☺ (That was an answer to prayer!) The entire year, he never asked anything about her bible class, what we were doing, etc. We listened primarily to bible study lectures by Dr. Brad Cole from godscharacter.com. and to your bible study class at church Sabbaths. (Orchard Valley Christian Fellowship) We also used the Fundamental Focus booklet and listened to Dr. Randy Robert's podcasts from lluc.com. We learned so much together!

I prayed for wisdom to know what to do for Sami's last bible assignment. I was impressed to have her write an essay coming from the perspective of Jesus asking his disciples, "Who do you say that I am?" from Mark 8:29. She completed her essay with cover illustration and title Thursday, the day before her last day of school. We prayed to God for an indication if it would be a good idea to share her essay with her Principal or not. Well, the very next day, Friday morning, in chapel, her Principal read the very same scripture!

Sami described chapel that morning like this in regards to his reading the question, "Who do you say that I am?": "[The Principal] read the disciple's answers and didn't answer the question really. He said that there is nothing about you that can make God love you. (Sami said her mouth dropped open.) He said that we are not acceptable in God's sight and only by what Jesus did can God accept us."

We did deliver her essay to her Principal. We are praying that his mind be open, that he be willing to investigate further after reading her essay. I have attached the essay with this letter in the email.

Enjoy!

Many Blessings to you and staff! Thanks for your wonderful ministry!

Rhonda Hodges

"Who Am I?"

My mom gave me two simple questions to answer for my End-of-the-Year Bible project. My project is to summarize all of the things I have learned with an essay. These questions were coming from the perspective of Jesus, saying, Who do you think I am?, and, What is the Gospel to you? Of all the questions I have answered, these two were the simplest, but yet the most complicated. Here is my answer: There are a lot of different beliefs out there such as what people think of Jesus, but this particular question is addressing one person, which is me. I support my answer with evidence based on Scripture 100%. Jesus is the very begotten Son of God. (John 3:16) The answer is plain and simple. But could there be more under the obvious answer? Jesus is the exact representation of His Father. Meaning that His Character is the same as God the Father. God sent His Son into this world that He might free us from the bondage of sin and its destructive grip that it has on us. Jesus said, "If you have seen me you have seen the Father." (John 14:9)

I have a question also: If God gets so angry over our sins, and if Jesus is exactly like His Father, then at the cross, wouldn't Jesus kill his enemies and punish those who were torturing Him? If you look through the judgmental perspective, that would make sense, but if you look at the bigger picture, from Genesis to Revelation, you will see that God isn't mad at anyone. I often see God as a Great Physician who wants us to take the remedy for our sins. This is having the likeness of Christ in you. I also see God as a perfect Father who wants us to trust Him with our lives. God does not punish His wicked children in Hell forever. He loves us too much for that to even cross His mind! His "wrath" is just plainly letting us go. (Romans 1:18,24,26,28) I personally think wrath should be replaced with some other words such as pity, or sadness. (Hosea 11) The word wrath makes people form a totally different view of God because on this earth, wrath in our dictionary means anger of some sort. God's world is different than ours and sometimes words He used to represent something, got misused, misunderstood, and formed false images of God in people's minds. Like a father, though, God does discipline His children if He has to. (Heb. 12:111)

There was yet another part of the question. It asks "What is the Gospel?" My understanding is that God is not the kind of person His enemies have portrayed Him to be. He is not the liar Satan had said God was in the Garden, (Rev 12:9, Gen 2:1617, 3:14) and He isn't the wrathful, arbitrary, and severe Judge in the end either. (Jn 12:44-50) His Judgment is based on love (1 Cor. 13) and is WAY BEYOND our level of thinking.

This is my understanding of Jesus and the Gospel. This is the larger view to me and I am proud to know such a loving knowledge about God's true character. I really hope that such knowledge will spread to the people around me.

God Bless, Sami

SABBATH

When you hear this title, The Kingdom of God, what comes to mind? What is the kingdom of God?

The lesson in the first paragraph states, "the kingdom of God is an expression of what God had done in history for the human race as He deals with the problem of sin and brings the great controversy with Satan to an ultimate and decisive end."

Thoughts about this? I don't disagree with this statement, but find it without substance, without definition, and thus too easily misunderstood as God using might and power to bring about His kingdom.

What is the kingdom of God like?

What references, evidence, do you use to inform you as to the meaning of this phrase, The Kingdom of God?

Let's look at some Scripture and see what we discover:

- He also said, "This is what the kingdom of God is like. A man scatters seed on the ground. ²⁷ Night and day, whether he sleeps or gets up, the seed sprouts and grows, though he does not know how. ²⁸ All by itself the soil produces grain—first the stalk, then the head, then the full kernel in the head." MK 4:26-28
- Again he said, "What shall we say the kingdom of God is like, or what parable shall we use to describe it? ³¹ It is like a mustard seed, which is the smallest seed you plant in the ground. ³² Yet when planted, it grows and becomes the largest of all garden plants, with such big branches that the birds of the air can perch in its shade." MK 4:30-32
- ²⁰ Again he asked, "What shall I compare the kingdom of God to? ²¹ It is like yeast that a woman took and mixed into a large amount of flour until it worked all through the dough." LK 13:20,21

What is being described in these passages? In these passages how is the kingdom of God functioning? What kind of law is involved?

Jesus is describing Design law, laws upon which reality is constructed to operate; NOT arbitrary rules like created beings impose. Keep this in mind as we examine other texts.

- But if I drive out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come upon you. MT 12:28
 - What do you learn about the kingdom of God from this passage?
 - What is the kingdom of God doing in this passage? It frees, it heals, it restores, it delivers
 - How does the Spirit of God work to achieve freedom?
 - Not by might nor by power but by the Spirit says the Lord. Zech 4:6
 - Does God drive out demons by force or some other method?
 - The Spirit is the Spirit of truth and love – what is the character of Satan and demons? Selfishness and lies – and what does truth and love do to those solidified in selfishness and lies?
 - Is the battle between Christ and Satan a battle of might and power?
 - Can God win the war by using coercive power? Why not?
 - What does a win look like for God? What is it that constitutes success on God's part? That His intelligent beings love and trust Him and operate in harmony with His character and law of love. Can love and trust be achieved by threat, coercion and force?
 - So what do we learn about the kingdom of God from this passage?
 - God's kingdom is the kingdom of love, which life is built upon, and the kingdom of truth; and God's kingdom heals, frees and delivers. Those solidified in opposition can't stand to be a part of it and flee from the presence of God.
- Again I tell you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God." MT 19:24
 - What is being taught about God's kingdom in this passage?

- In Christ's day, the religious establishment taught that health and wealth were signs of being right with God. Thus a rich man, not only found earthly comfort and financial security in his wealth, but also found a false spiritual security taking his wealth as evidence he was right with God.
- The eye of the needle is not speaking of a tool used to sew clothing, but of a gate in the walls of cities. After sunset the gates of a city would be closed and a small passage would be available to enter the city after dark. It was large enough for only a man to walk through and was called the eye of the needle. Camels would have to kneel down and crawl through to enter and this was difficult, but not impossible.
- Putting both these facts together, Jesus is saying it is easier to get a camel to kneel down and go through the eye of the needle, than to get a rich man to kneel down, humble himself and acknowledge his wealth means nothing, but only a true change of character matters.
- Again, what type of kingdom? A kingdom of heart change, a kingdom of love – actual state of being, not rules.
- “What do you think? There was a man who had two sons. He went to the first and said, ‘Son, go and work today in the vineyard.’²⁹ “ ‘I will not,’ he answered, but later he changed his mind and went.³⁰ “Then the father went to the other son and said the same thing. He answered, ‘I will, sir,’ but he did not go.³¹ “Which of the two did what his father wanted?” “The first,” they answered. Jesus said to them, “I tell you the truth, the tax collectors and the prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God ahead of you.³² For John came to you to show you the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him, but the tax collectors and the prostitutes did. And even after you saw this, you did not repent and believe him. MT 21:28-32
 - What do you learn about the kingdom of God from this passage?
 - God's kingdom is about reality, what actually is, not what one declares, claims, proclaims, or names. In other words, one may call themselves Christian, but if the heart is not changed it doesn't matter.
 - Proclaiming loyalty to God means nothing, being renewed in heart and character to be like Jesus, loving God and others more than self is what matters, no matter what one proclaims. Like Paul, one may proclaim they are the greatest of all sinners, and proclaim they are unworthy of salvation, but if the heart is renewed they are in unity with God.
 - This again, is Design Law, not imposed rules! It is fixing what is actually wrong in the character of human beings.
- “Therefore I tell you that the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a people who will produce its fruit. MT 21:43
 - What is being taught by this passage?
 - Why is the kingdom of God removed from them?
 - Because they rejected God's kingdom
 - Why was the kingdom of God given to others?

- Because they accepted it!
 - To whom does God offer His kingdom?
 - What determines whether a person is part of God's kingdom or not? Their choice in accepting or rejecting it!
- After John was put in prison, Jesus went into Galilee, proclaiming the good news of God. ¹⁵ "The time has come," he said. "The kingdom of God is near. Repent and believe the good news!" MK 1:14,15
 - What kingdom was near?
 - What is the text referring to? The arrival of Jesus!
 - Was John referring to a kingdom of might and power?
 - What kind of kingdom were the religious leaders looking for?
 - Did their view of God's kingdom, i.e. believing it was to be like a human kingdom, ruled by might and power and infliction of punishment, impair their ability to be part of God's kingdom?
 - What is taught today, by the majority of Christianity, about what to expect at the second coming? What kind of kingdom is taught? What do most Christians teach God will do to the wicked and unrepentant? What do you think such teaching does in the hearts of people, prepare them to be part of God's kingdom, or separate them from God's kingdom?
- When Jesus saw this, he was indignant. He said to them, "Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. ¹⁵ I tell you the truth, anyone who will not receive the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it." MK 10:14,15
 - What is being taught about God's kingdom here?
 - One must be teachable like children, open to learn and to love and trust just like children in order to enter God's kingdom.
 - Is entering God's kingdom about understanding the correct doctrines, adhering to the right rituals, getting the correct interpretation of Bible prophecies? Do children enter this way?
 - It is about entering into a love and trust relationship with God. Thus our doctrines are important as they inform us about God. If our doctrines are erroneous they can cause us to believe lies about God, thus undermining love and trust.
- One of the teachers of the law came and heard them debating. Noticing that Jesus had given them a good answer, he asked him, "Of all the commandments, which is the most important?" ²⁹ "The most important one," answered Jesus, "is this: 'Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is one. ³⁰ Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength.' ³¹ The second is this: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' There is no commandment greater than these." ³² "Well said, teacher," the man replied. "You are right in saying that God is one and there is no other but him. ³³ To love him with all your heart, with all your understanding and with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself is more important than all burnt offerings and sacrifices." ³⁴ When Jesus saw that he had answered wisely, he said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God.” And from then on no one dared ask him any more questions. MK 12:28-34

- What do you learn of God’s kingdom?
- What kind of law is described?
- From where does such motive originate?
- Read last paragraph in Sabbath’s lesson, “The kingdom of God...”
- ¹⁶ “The Law and the Prophets were proclaimed until John. Since that time, the good news of the kingdom of God is being preached, and everyone is forcing his way into it. ¹⁷ It is easier for heaven and earth to disappear than for the least stroke of a pen to drop out of the Law. LK 16:16,17
 - What is being taught?
 - Why is it easier for heaven and earth to disappear than for the law of God to be changed?
 - What kind of law is God’s law?
 - Design law, the protocols upon which reality exists, the fabric of the cosmos is built upon this law, which has its origins in God. To change the law would be to change God and that is harder to do than to destroy the universe.
 - There was a time in eternity past before God created matter and life – God’s law of love still existed but there was no heaven or earth – thus it is easier to go back in time to a point before God created anything, i.e. for heaven and earth to disappear, than to destroy God, which would be required to change the law!
 - But this is only true when one realizes God’s law is Design law, the protocols upon which reality is built. If one believes God’s law is functionally like human law, rules imposed, then one reads Jesus’ words differently. One believes God’s law could change if God were willing to give new edicts, but God is uncompromising and would rather destroy His universe than change His rules, and thus it is taught that God will destroy those who break His rules as punishment.
 - Here is the passage from The Remedy: “The symbols and metaphors of the Old Testament were proclaimed until John. Since that time, the good news of what it all means, the reality of the true Remedy from God’s kingdom of love is being made known, and it is compelling all who understand to partake and enter.”¹⁷ It is easier to erase heaven and earth and start again than to change in the slightest God’s design protocol for life, what you call his Law.”
- ²⁰ Once, having been asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, Jesus replied, “The kingdom of God does not come with your careful observation, ²¹ nor will people say, ‘Here it is,’ or ‘There it is,’ because the kingdom of God is within you.” LK 17:20,21
 - What do we learn about God’s kingdom from this passage?
 - It is not about rule keeping, and never can be why?
 - Because God’s kingdom is the reality of how He built life to operate, love in all spheres of action. This is having selfishness removed and love written in. It is coming back into unity with God, an actual change in the state of being. Love acts differently in different situations, and one cannot make up a rule for all situations.

Rule keeping invariably end up focused on self and failing to love!

- Penal legal theologies deny reality and make salvation about rule keeping, focusing on self, our sins, our condemnation, our deserved punishment and legal loopholes to avoid what is taught we legally deserve. Often, it is taught that Jesus' rule keeping in our behalf is necessary for our salvation and then our careful observations of the right ways to accept His legal payment etc.
- ³ In reply Jesus declared, "I tell you the truth, no one can see the kingdom of God unless he is born again." (JN 3:3)
 - What does this tell us about God's kingdom?
 - Keep in mind that the Bible teaches, every eye shall see him, including those who pierced him, but Jesus said only those born again can see the kingdom of God – what does it mean?
 - The unrepentant, the wicked, those who rise to march on God's city under Satan's banner, seeking to overthrow Jesus – see Jesus in His glory, high and lifted up. They see the splendor, the brightness, the power – but this is NOT the kingdom of God. They see all these things through the lens of Satan's lies about God and believe God and Jesus are beings of great power and might, but also anger and wrath and are coming to punish them. They cry, like the demons who met Jesus, have you come to punish us?
 - Thus, they see the physical aspects of God's kingdom, but don't see God's kingdom because God's kingdom is not about the physical, it is about the true character of God and this they do NOT see.
- For the kingdom of God is not a matter of eating and drinking, but of righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Spirit... Rom 14:17
 - What do you hear about God's kingdom from this?
 - It is about the heart renewed in love, living in harmony with God's design for life.
 - Such transformation of character cannot be achieved by getting on a vegan diet, or drinking organic juices,
 - But, can a person violate God's design laws with a wrong diet and thus damage their brain and inflame passions and impulses and make it harder to experience God's kingdom of love?
 - Can a person ingest drugs that inflame selfishness and markedly increase the cravings and desires to seek to please self? Does such actions make it harder to experience the kingdom of love?
 - Can this happen with food and drink?
 - What kind of law is being causing such problems?
- For the kingdom of God is not a matter of talk but of power. 1Cor 4:20
 - What is being described about God's kingdom here?
 - Again, it isn't about what one claims, proclaims or names, but about what one experiences

- God's kingdom has the power to heal and transform beings from fear based, self-centered beings seeking to gratify self, into beacons of truth, love and compassion emanating goodness, mercy and love!
- Then I heard a loud voice in heaven say: "Now have come the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ. For the accuser of our brothers, who accuses them before our God day and night, has been hurled down.¹¹ They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death. Rev 12:10,11
 - What is taught in this passage?
 - Why do they have salvation?
 - What is the power and the kingdom of God?
 - How are these saved individuals described?
 - What is the blood of the Lamb?
 - What is the word of their testimony?

SUNDAY

Read Luke 1:32, 33 "He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne of his father David, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever; his kingdom will never end."

Read last paragraph, "The passage..." What do you understand this passage is teaching? How did Jesus defeat Satan?

- By revealing the truth about God and Himself He defeated Satan's lies about God
- By choosing with His human brain to love perfectly, to never act selfishly, to develop a perfect character, He defeated Satan's goal to destroy God's image in man and defeated Satan's attempt to make humanity like Satan in character
- By choosing to surrender to death, and refusing to exercise His power to stop death from taking Him, Jesus defeated death and brought life and immortality to light
- By all of this Jesus established a healed and perfected humanity and became the second Adam, the true Sovereign of humanity

MONDAY

Read Luke 18:29, 30: "I tell you the truth," Jesus said to them, "no one who has left home or wife or brothers or parents or children for the sake of the kingdom of God³⁰ will fail to receive many times as much in this age and, in the age to come, eternal life."

Read last paragraph, "Read again, Luke..." What is being described? What is the issue? Is Jesus telling us to leave family behind?

What is being taught?

That we are terminal, all of us, and only by partaking the Remedy Jesus has procured can any of us live. Imagine, you and your entire family are infected with a terminal infection but there is a remedy. You love your family and want to help them, but you have no remedy, if you want to help them what must you do? Do you stay with them, or go get the remedy? You cannot get well until you partake the remedy, but you also cannot share the remedy with your family until you partake it yourself! Thus, if we refuse to leave our families to partake of Jesus, we remain terminal and incapable of ministering God's healing love and truth to others. Why? Because we don't possess it!

Further, without partaking of Jesus, without the Spirit, we don't even recognize what is wrong with us and have nothing to offer others.

Thus, it is necessary to put Jesus first, in order to connect to the only source of life, and then be a conduit of truth and love to our family members.

TUESDAY

Read Luke 4:16-21:

He went to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and on the Sabbath day he went into the synagogue, as was his custom. And he stood up to read. ¹⁷ The scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Unrolling it, he found the place where it is written:

¹⁸ "The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor.

He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to release the oppressed,

¹⁹ to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

²⁰ Then he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant and sat down. The eyes of everyone in the synagogue were fastened on him, ²¹ and he began by saying to them, "Today this scripture is fulfilled in your hearing."

What does the prophecy mean? How did Jesus fulfill it?

Who are the poor to whom Jesus has good news? Poor in what? Remember the beatitudes – blessed are the poor in spirit – meaning what? He brings good news to those who recognize their spiritual need, their sickness of heart and mind, their defectiveness of character, who are humble and know they need a cure.

What is the good news He brings to the poor? The truth about God which frees them from the lies and wins them to trust, and a new heart/right spirit built upon love and trust, which casts out fear and selfishness and recreates those who partake into God's image.

Who are the prisoners that Jesus frees, and from what does He free them?

We are held in the bondage of sin, by what? Lies we believe about God that prevent us from genuinely surrendering to Him, and our own selfish natures.

How does He free us? By revealing the truth to win us to trust, and by developing a perfect character that He offers freely to us, thus when we trust we become “partakers of the divine nature” and “it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.”

What does recovery of sight to the blind mean? Is it primarily physical blindness, or spiritual blindness, failing to see God and reality (self, sin, Satan, universe, Great Controversy) as it really is?

WEDNESDAY

The Kingdom of God and the Second Coming – how do you understand the events of the second coming? Does your current understanding fit with the kingdom of love as Jesus revealed?

How is the second coming taught that actually denies the kingdom of God?

- Christ coming with vengeance, rod of iron, to crush His enemies and punish the wicked
- Christ uses power to enforce His rule over the nations
- Others?

How can we present the Second Coming in harmony with God’s kingdom of love, yet be true to Scripture regarding the fate of the unrepentant?

THURSDAY

The lesson states, “God must always be God; to probe His mind, to predict the preciseness of His plans, to penetrate His secrets is not the task of flesh and blood. He knows when the kingdom of glory should come, and He will bring it to pass in His own time...”

What do you hear? A sovereign God who is in control and will do what He wants when He wants and we have no right to ask questions or expect understanding, “God said it, I believe it, that settles it”?

Let’s break down these multiple claims and examine each for accuracy and truth.

- God must always be God... which means what? God will be Himself, true to His own nature and character and cannot be otherwise. True!
- to probe His mind is not the task of flesh and blood – can finite beings enter infinity? No, God lives in unapproachable light, unapproachable because He is infinite and we are finite, and thus it is true we are not capable of probing the mind of God, but it is not because God is selfish, restrictive, elite, dominate, secretive, or in anyway uses authority, position, power to demand such lower beings never presume to probe His mind. He actually invites us to know Him, as far as we are capable of knowing Him.

- to predict the preciseness of His plans... Is God random, chaotic, unpredictable? Are God's laws arbitrary, changing, unpredictable? Or, if one knows God and God's laws, can they actually predict certain actions because those actions are the only outcome possible? For instance, can we predict God will always act in love? Now, the precise action in each circumstance we may not predict, but can we predict it will always be in love? Can we predict His plan to destroy sin and selfishness and restore the universe to unity with Him? Why? How certain? But if one has an arbitrary God, with imposed law, then His actions become unpredictable, it all depends on His whims, not His character.
- to penetrate His secrets? No, we cannot penetrate His secrets, only those which He reveals God does know the future and when the kingdom of glory will come, but does that mean it is happening on a particular date because God preset a date and says, "Ready or not hear I come" Or is the date set by events God knows will transpire, yet God does not impose those events? Thus God waits to for those events to happen in the lives and hearts of people? In other words, God wants love and trust, which must be freely chosen, and thus waits for humans to choose to accept or reject Him and His methods?

FRIDAY

Read second paragraph, "We are now..." What is this metaphor of being rough stones taken from? What is the point or lesson?

Read and discuss the questions

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 12

Jesus in Jerusalem

SABBATH

When you think of Jerusalem what comes to mind? What do you know about Jerusalem?

- Jerusalem is on a plateau in the Mountains of Judea between the Mediterranean and the Dead Sea.
- One of the oldest cities in the world
- Founded around the 4th millennium BCE
- First settled most likely by Canaanites, then was part of the Egyptian empire, then the Jebusites and David conquered it from the Jebusites
- Has been destroyed twice
- Besieged 23 times
- Attacked 52 times
- Captured and recaptured 44 times
- It is considered holy by three major religions
- The Dead Sea Scrolls (1QapGen 22:13) equates Jerusalem with the earlier "Salem" (שֶׁלֶם), said to be the kingdom of Melchizedek in Genesis 14:18.
- The Bible sometimes refers to Jerusalem as Salem:
His tent is in Salem, his dwelling place in Zion. Ps 76:2

The following description is consistent with several historical references I checked:

As soon as David was established on the throne of Israel he began to seek a more appropriate location for the capital of his realm. Twenty miles from Hebron a place was selected as the future metropolis of the kingdom. Before Joshua had led the armies of Israel over Jordan it had been called Salem. Near this place Abraham had proved his loyalty to God. Eight hundred years before the coronation of David it had been the home of Melchizedek, the priest of the most high God. It held a central and elevated position in the country and was protected by an environment of hills. Being on the border between Benjamin and Judah, it was in close proximity to Ephraim and was easy of access to the other tribes. {PP 703.1}

In order to secure this location the Hebrews must dispossess a remnant of the Canaanites, who held a fortified position on the mountains of Zion and Moriah. This stronghold was called Jebus, and its inhabitants were known as Jebusites. For centuries Jebus had been looked upon as impregnable; but it was besieged and taken by the Hebrews under the command of Joab, who, as the reward of his valor, was made commander-in-chief of the armies of Israel. Jebus now became the national capital, and its heathen name was changed to Jerusalem. {PP 703.2}

The name Jerusalem has several possible derivations, but the one most likely is:

The form Yerushalem or Yerushalayim (Jerusalem) first appears in the book of Joshua and is thought to be a combination of Yhwh and Shalem, or Salem—God’s City of Peace.

What is the significance of Jerusalem today? Does it matter?

Does John 4:19-24 apply? Here it is from The Remedy:

Shocked and somewhat uncomfortable with such a personal revelation, the woman said, "Sir, to know such things you must certainly be a prophet.²⁰ So please help me with a problem. Our people have always worshiped God here on this mountain, but you Jews claim that the place we must worship God is in Jerusalem; which is it?"

²¹Jesus declared, "Believe me, dear woman, the place where one worships God is not important; it is the condition of the heart of the worshiper that matters. Very soon you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.²² You Samaritans worship a confusing tradition of rituals that does not enlighten the mind and have no ability to heal the worshiper; we worship the Creator God and our minds are enlightened and healed by him because all he asks of us is sensible and reasonable. The plan to heal humanity from the infection of selfishness and sin is provided through the Jews.²³ The time has now come that all true worshipers will worship the Father with an intelligent reasonable understanding of who he is - loving, admiring and respecting the truth about his nature, character, and methods; these understanding worshipers are the kind the Father seeks.²⁴ God is intelligent and reasonable, and his worshipers must worship him intelligently and reasonably, appreciating and valuing the truth of God's methods and principles."

What do you think of the idea that geographic location in worship is important? Is it?

How do you compare the Jerusalem on earth today with the New Jerusalem?

What was the foundation of the Old Jerusalem, in other words, how did it get established?

- Violence, war, conquest, coercion

What is the foundation of the New Jerusalem, how does it get established?

- A different kind of war – a war with divine weapons to demolish strongholds – what are the weapons the new Jerusalem is founded upon?
- Love, truth, freedom

What type of worship happened in the Temple of the Old Jerusalem? Why did Jesus “cleanse” it twice?

- At its best it was shadowy, symbolic, ritualistic enactments
- At its worst it was penal, legal worship, in which sins must be punished and payments made to propitiate sin

What type of worship happens in the New Jerusalem?

- Open face to face relationship of love and trust in which beings damaged by defective thinking, selfish motives, are healed and restored to truth, love and freedom, genuine unity of the being with God. Living in reality as God designed it, no more hiding behind shadows and symbols.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “He was born...” How does the death of Jesus reconcile us to God?

- Does it do something to God?
- Does it do something to God’s law?
- Does it do something in the species human?
- What is the problem that sin caused the plan of salvation is designed to fix?
- How does Christ’s death fix this problem?

Read last two paragraphs, “This amazing...” What happened that was according to God’s amazing plan?

- Was it God’s plan that Satan rebel?
- Was it God’s plan that Adam sin?
- Was it God’s plan that Judas betray Jesus?
- Was it God’s plan that the disciples run away and Peter deny Jesus?
- Was it God’s plan the Jews reject Jesus and crucify Him?
- What was God’s plan?
- Was it God’s plan to love always?
- Was it God’s plan to heal and save?
- Was it God’s plan to send Christ to fix that which Adam broke?
- Did God’s plan take into account what Satan, Adam, Judas, the disciples, the Jewish nation and others did?
- Does taking into account what others do, and thus plan accordingly what God, through Christ, does, mean God wanted the others to do as they did?

MONDAY

Read Luke 19:46, “It is written, My house is the house of prayer: but you have made it a den of thieves.”

What was the problem happening in God’s house?

What was it about what was happening that caused Jesus to be offended? How do we understand the story and Jesus' actions?

If we answer from the 7 levels note the responses:

1. Jesus is mad and seeking to punish them with a whip because they are not doing what God says.
2. They are breaking the deal they made with God by going off script, thus justice requires that Jesus, acting for God, must punish them.
3. All nations recognize the absolute power of its rulers. Jesus is ruler of God's house and thus he is demonstrating his right to rule.
4. They are breaking God's law and breaking the law requires punishment. Jesus as judge is stepping in to judge them and inflict just punishment.
5. Jesus is overcome with love for the people. He understands human beings are terminal in sin, and the Temple was designed to be a teaching tool leading people to God for healing. But, the religious leaders were doing the opposite; they were making it harder for people to come to God for healing. Thus, Jesus revealed God loves. Love refuses to collude with lies and always seeks to free us from falsehood and lead us back to him for healing. Love notes Christ never hit people, only furniture, and his demeanor was so full of grace, love and compassion that the children were not frightened, but stayed behind, along with the sick.
6. He contrasted God's law of love versus selfishness – the worldly system of selfishness was demonstrated by the moneychangers, and resulted in turmoil, anxiety, fear, stress, and division. He drove them out and then gave freely of himself to heal and restore—without charging the people, demonstrating how love works.
7. Understanding God's creation is built to operate upon love, and selfishness infects the heart of humans breaking the design resulting in death, Jesus used the object lesson of the Temple, filled with selfish, greedy people to demonstrate his purpose to cleanse the hearts of men from fear and selfishness.

In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,—from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Malachi 3:1-3. {DA 161.1}

What is the lesson? What was Jesus announcing? What kind of law is being described in Jesus true mission?

What do you think of when you think of cleansing the sanctuary? Do you think of cleansing the hearts and minds of people from sin, or something else? Here is another historic reference from the book The Great Controversy.

The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of Days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi, are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25. {GC 426.1}

What does this mean? What is it Christ does when He comes to His temple as described by Malachi? He cleanses – what? The Levites, and who are they? The believers in Christ, the priesthood of believers—thus cleansing the sanctuary is the work of cleansing the hearts, minds, characters of God's people of lies about him and from fear and selfishness, establishing Spirit temples where God again dwells.

This requires, while God is searching us to find any wicked way in us, so that He might create in us a clean heart and right spirit, i.e. investigating our characters to accurately diagnose, we are to be investigating the truth about Him, to be won back to trust, so that we will open the heart and allow Him in, in order to be healed by the Spirit, who takes what Christ achieved and reproduces it in us. Metaphorically speaking, it is the application of the blood to the temple to cleanse it from sin....

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "The parable of the wicked..." What happens to the wicked? What is it the owner does to them?

A week or so ago I was listening to local Christian radio in the car when the DJ read the following, in all seriousness. It is from When Christ Comes by Max Lacado:

Does hell serve a purpose? As much as we resist the idea, isn't the absence of hell even worse? Remove it from the Bible and, at the same time, remove any notion of a just God and a trustworthy Scripture. Let me explain.

If there is not hell, God is not just. If there is no punishment of sin, heaven is apathetic toward the rapists and pillagers and mass murderers of society. If there is no hell, God is blind toward victims and has turned his back on those who pray for relief. If there is no wrath toward evil, then God is not love, for love hates that which is evil.

To say there is no hell is also to say God is a liar and his Scripture is untrue. The Bible repeatedly and stoutly affirms the dualistic outcome of history. Some will be saved. Some will be lost... p. 117

Upon what moral level of development is this argument based? This is level four thinking – and what is the foundation of level four thinking? What type of law construct?

This is human law construct. This is the theology one gets when one rejects God's law of love, the protocols reality is built upon and instead teaches God's law functions no differently that what fallen human beings make, rules without inherent consequence.

Remember, God is the Creator, His law is the law upon which reality is built to exist, upon which the fabric of the cosmos operates. His law is Design law, and deviations from His law is incompatible with life. But, created beings cannot build reality, we cannot create – thus we make up rules without inherent consequence for breaking, and thus we use power over to enforce those rules and punish rule breakers.

Satan is setting the world up to accept his impersonation of Christ. How? By getting people to believe God functions like we do, and God's law and justice is like our own. When the false Christ comes he will ultimately say, if you won't obey me, justice requires I punish you. And those who accept the god like this will say, "This is our god we have waited for him."

WEDNESDAY

Some of the Jews in Christ's day believed that paying taxes was betrayal of their loyalty to God, thus they resented taxes and tried to trap Jesus with the question, should they pay taxes to Caesar.

Read last paragraph, "Christ's reply..." Do we find ourselves today torn between God and Caesar,

God and the government? How and where?

- Service in the armed forces?
- Use of violence in law enforcement?
- Removing headdress for passport and driver's license photos?
- Government laws requiring insurance companies to provide birth control pills?
- Governments requiring parents to get medical care, i.e. medications and/or vaccines for their children?

What is the balance in dealing with laws that impact a person's beliefs and conscience?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Jesus founded the Lord's Supper..." First, was Jesus founding a ritual, a sacrament, a new festival to be observed annually instead of the Passover? Did they, that night, have food/drink that was somehow different than what could be found in any home on any day of the week?

- The bread in the sanctuary, the loaves in the Holy Place, were different in recipe and with incense sprinkled upon them, that made them different than the bread one could get in the market. What about the bread for this last supper in the upper room?
- Was Christ instituting a ritual, a meal with special implements, or was Christ saying: "Whenever you get together and break bread and drink wine, remember me, think of me, think of my broken body, my shed blood, and think of why, think of what I am accomplishing for you."

What do you think about this sentence: "It was as impossible for Israel to free itself from Egyptian bondage as it is for us to free ourselves from the consequences of sin."?

Any concerns?

Why do you think they said, "free ourselves from the consequences of sin" rather than "free ourselves from sin"?

When one holds to the imposed law model, the problem with sin is the inflicted punishment, the consequences, thus it is falsely taught we must be freed from the consequences of sin. But, the Bible teaches something different, that Jesus is the Lamb of God that takes away the SIN of the world, not the consequences of the sin of the world.

In fact, will the consequences of sin ever be taken away?

- Why is there first death experience? because of sin – will that experience be taken away from the billions who have already died the first death? Not, will they be resurrected, but will their dying the first death be taken away?
- What about suffering, sickness, disease, injuries, wounds, assaults, rapes... why do such

- occur? Because of sin – will those historic events be taken away?
- Why did Jesus have to die? Was it a consequence of sin? Will the death of Jesus be taken away?

The consequences of sin will not be taken away – SIN will be removed, and the damage from sin will be healed, hearts renewed, biology perfected, the ecosystem restored to perfection, but our memories of these events, the historic reality will always remain.

Read third paragraph, “Jesus’ assertion that His blood...” What is meant by remission of sin? Which law lens?

If we view it through imposed law lens we stay stuck on the metaphor of the courtroom judge investigating books and rendering legal pardons and erasing records after pardon.

From the book, When Christ Comes by Max Lacado:

Imagine this event. You are before the judgment seat of Christ. The book is opened and the reading begins—each sin, each deceit, each occasion of destruction and greed. But as soon as the infraction is read, grace is proclaimed.

Disrespected parents at age thirteen. – pardoned
Shaded the truth at age fifteen. – pardoned
Gossiped at age twenty-six. – pardoned
Lusted at age thirty. – pardoned
Disregarded the leading of the Spirit age forty. – pardoned
Disobeyed God’s word at age fifty-two. – pardoned

The result? God’s merciful verdict will echo through the universe. For the first time in history, we will understand the depth of his goodness. Itemized grace. Catalogued kindness. Registered forgiveness. We will stand in awe as one sin after another is proclaimed, and then pardoned. Jealousies revealed, then removed. Infidelities announced, then cleansed. Lies exposed, then erased. p 108-109

Again what law lens is this view presenting?

This is human law – not God’s law. This is the view of cleansing record books of sin, not cleansing hearts and minds of sin. This view doesn’t bring peace, it incites fear, it undermines trust. We must come back to worship the Creator, whose record books reveal something completely different – they reveal the accurate condition of each person, including the symptoms of our terminal condition (sins), but God’s records also reveal when the remedy is applied and who is cured. Thus the books reveal the incredible power of God’s love and grace to heal and restore all who let him.

FRIDAY

Read and discuss question 2

Are they suggesting there is no place for psychopharmacology? Are they saying that if you have a life as Christ designed, no one would ever need psych meds?

This would be like saying, if we live like Christ wants us to, we will never get any physical health problem—because depression is a physical health problem, which affects brain, immune system, and body.

The Book of Luke 2Q 2015 Lesson 13

Crucified and Risen

SABBATH

When you think of the Crucifixion and Resurrection – what comes to mind?

Do you understand any of it? Why did Christ have to die? What was accomplished?

Just this morning I received an email with a link to a blog by Brian Zahnd regarding the Cross:

Jesus Died for Us...Not for God

<http://brianzahnd.com/2015/04/jesus-died-us-god/>

Brian Zahnd

“You killed the Author of life, whom God raised from the dead.” –The Apostle Peter, Acts 3:15

Golgotha is where the great crimes of humanity — pride, rivalry, blame, violence, domination, war, and empire — are dragged into the searing light of divine judgment. At Golgotha we see the system of human organization that we blithely call “civilization” for what it is: an axis of power enforced by violence so corrupt that it is capable of murdering God in the name of what we call truth, justice, and liberty.

Golgotha is also the place where the love of God achieves its greatest expression. As Jesus is lynched in the name of religious truth and imperial justice he expresses the heart of God as he pleads for the pardon of his executioners. At the cross we discover that the God revealed in Christ would rather die in the name of love than kill in the name of freedom. Our savior is Jesus Christ, not William Wallace.

The cross is both hideous and glorious, simultaneously ugly and beautiful. It’s as hideous as human sin and as glorious as divine love. It is a collision of sin and grace. But it is not a contest of equals. In the end love and beauty win. We call it Easter.

What the cross is not is a quid pro quo where God agrees to forgive upon receipt of his Son’s murder. What the cross is not is an economic transaction whereby God gains the capital to forgive. These legal and fiscal models for understanding the cross simply will not do.

Jesus does not save us from God, Jesus reveals God as savior. What is revealed on Good Friday is not a monstrous deity requiring a virgin to be thrown into a volcano or a firstborn son to be nailed to a tree. What is revealed on Good Friday is the depths of human depravity and the greater depths of God’s love.

Before the cross is anything else, it is a catastrophe. It is the unjust and violent lynching of an innocent man. It is the murder of God. Jesus is sacrificed by the Father only in this sense: The Father sent his Son into our system of violent power (civilization) to reveal how utterly sinful it is — so sinful that it will murder the Innocent One. God did not will the murder of his Son, he simply knew it would occur. But even Plato knew that. In imagining what would happen to a perfectly just man in our unjust world, Plato said, “our just man will be scourged, racked, fettered...and at last, after all manner of suffering, will be crucified.” (The Republic, Book II, p. 37) Plato wrote that three centuries before Christ. God knew what Plato knew. For Jesus to proclaim and inaugurate the kingdom of God in the midst of our unjust and violent world would require a supreme sacrifice.

The death of Jesus was a sacrifice. But it was a sacrifice to end sacrificing, not a sacrifice to appease an angry god. It was not God who required the sacrifice of Jesus, it was human civilization. A system built upon violent power cannot tolerate the presence of one who owes it nothing. The sacrifice of Jesus was necessary to convince us to quit producing sacrificial victims; it was not necessary to convince God to forgive. When Jesus prays for forgiveness on the cross he was not acting contrary to the nature of God, he was revealing the nature of God as forgiving love.

Think of it this way: Where do we find God on Good Friday? Is God found in Caiaphas seeking a sacrificial scapegoat? Is God found in Pilate requiring a punitive execution? Or is God found in Jesus, absorbing sin and responding with forgiveness?

The Apostle Paul says God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. (2 Corinthians 5:19) And this should not be misread as God reconciling himself to the world...as some mistaken atonement theories do! Jesus died for us...not for God.

The crucifixion is not what God inflicts upon Jesus in order to forgive, the crucifixion is what God in Christ endures as he forgives. The cross is where God absorbs sin and recycles it into forgiveness.

The crucifixion is not the ultimate attempt to change God's mind about us — the cross is the ultimate attempt to change our mind about God. God is not like Caiaphas seeking a sacrifice. God is not like Pilate requiring an execution. God is like Jesus, absorbing sin and forgiving sinners.

The cross is not about payment, the cross is about forgiveness.

Good Friday is not about divine wrath, Good Friday is about divine love.

Calvary is not where we see how just God is, Calvary is where we see how unjust civilization is.

As long as we think Jesus died for God instead of dying for us, we will never see the sinfulness of human civilization and the beauty of the divine alternative: the kingdom of God.

The justice of God is not retributive justice. In the end retributive justice changes nothing. The justice of God is entirely restorative. The only thing God will call justice is setting the world right, not punishing the innocent. (Our sense of retributive justice is derived from the fact that we are more punished by our sins than for our sins.)

The bottom line is this: God did not kill Jesus, human civilization did. We did. Jesus absorbed the blow in love and forgave us. The Father vindicated his Son on Easter. Now Jesus calls us to follow him into the kingdom of grace, the kingdom of love, the kingdom of God.

Let us follow the Lamb.

BZ

Read first paragraph, "From childhood..." What was the Father's will for Jesus?

- "God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself" 2Cor 5:19

Does this text give any indication of what God's will was for Jesus?

- "I have brought you glory on earth by finishing the work you gave me to do... I have revealed you..." John 17:4,6

Does this text give any indication of what was necessary in order to achieve that reconciliation? Why was this necessary? Why is this the determining factor?

Is anything else necessary in order to reconcile use to God besides revealing God, which destroys lies and wins us to trust?

Yes, a new nature – thus Jesus became the second Adam and developed a perfect humanity by the exercise of His human brain.

Read the second paragraph, "Throughout..."

How do you understand the "must"? Why "must" Jesus do this? Did Jesus not have an option? He did. Jesus was not required to this for some need of His own, or because He was robotic in some way and was preprogrammed to carry out certain actions. Here is a quote from the book The Desire of Ages:

The grain of wheat that preserves its own life can produce no fruit. It abides alone. Christ could, if He chose, save Himself from death. But should He do this, He must abide alone. He could bring no sons and daughters to God. Only by yielding up His life could He impart life to humanity. Only by falling into the ground to die could He become the seed of that vast harvest,--the great multitude that out of every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, are redeemed to God. {DA 623.4}

He had freedom and He could choose not to do these things, but such a choice had consequences.

So, it should be: IF, then He must, and the IF is IF He wants to rid the universe of sin, refute the lies of Satan, redeem and heal humanity then He must. Why? Why could He not save Himself and us?

Because that is how reality works. God is love, God wants His intelligent creatures to love and trust Him and operate in harmony with His character of love. Love cannot be programmed like a computer, it requires real freedom, further love cannot be obtained by force, deceit, threat, or punishment. Therefore, the only means to fix this creation and to restore the universe to love was for Christ to become part of this creation and actually live perfectly, love perfectly, as a member of this species and ultimately refuse at all costs, including the cost of His own life, to act in self interests, thus destroying the infection of fear and selfishness and establishing a new and perfected humanity.

SUNDAY

As we review the record of Jesus' experience in Gethsemane, what do we learn?

- Did Jesus struggle in Gethsemane?
- What was the source of His trial, pain, suffering?
- Was God inflicting it upon Him?
- Did He experience human emotions?
- What impact did his human emotions have upon him? In what directions did they pull Jesus? Was Jesus tempted by His own human emotions?
 - Heb 4:15 and James 1:14 would support that He was
- Why did an angel come to Jesus?
- What did the angel do for Jesus?
- What would have happened had the angel not strengthened Jesus?
- What does this mean? What do we learn?
- Why does death happen?
- What is the source of life? God, what does sin do? Separates us from God—the source of life—and results in death.
- Jesus, “who knew no sin became sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God.” In Gethsemane, Jesus experienced what unremedied sin results in, and felt the unity with His Father disintegrating, and He fell down dying.
- Did God lay a hand on Jesus in Gethsemane or at the Cross?
- Was Jesus helpless, or could He have at any time stopped what was happening and return to heaven? What does it mean that He didn't?

Here is a historical quote from a founder of the SDA church:

To the heart of Christ it was a bitter task to press His way against the fears, disappointment, and unbelief of His beloved disciples. It was hard to lead them forward to the anguish and despair that awaited them at Jerusalem. And Satan was at hand to press his temptations upon the Son of man. Why should He now go to Jerusalem, to certain death? All around Him were souls hungering for the bread of life. On every hand were suffering ones waiting for His word of healing. The work to be wrought by the gospel of His grace was but just begun. And He was full of the vigor of manhood's prime. Why not go forward to the vast fields of the world with the words of His grace, the touch of His healing power? Why not take to Himself the joy of giving light and gladness to those darkened and sorrowing millions? Why leave the harvest gathering to His disciples, so weak in faith, so dull of understanding, so slow to act? Why face death now, and leave the work in its infancy? The foe who in the wilderness had confronted Christ assailed Him now with fierce and subtle temptations. Had Jesus yielded for a moment, had He changed His course in the least particular to save Himself, Satan's agencies would have triumphed, and the world would have been lost.

{DA 486.1}

Agree or disagree? Why?

MONDAY

Top of the page, “Then Satan entered Judas, called Iscariot, one of the Twelve.” (Luke 22:3)

And what happened after “Satan entered Judas”?

- Did Judas levitate?
- Did Judas begin having objects float around the room?
- Did Judas talk in a weird voice?
- Did Judas begin frothing at the mouth?
- Did Judas go into hysterics?

What did Judas do? He acted selfishly, deceitfully, evilly! He rejected truth. He rejected love. He betrayed the one he claimed to love and serve. He joined with the religious institution of his day, used coercive power and took away Jesus’ freedom.

The point—does having Satan enter a person mean that person will necessarily manifest supernatural signs and wonders?

TUESDAY

Read first two paragraphs, “For all else...” Do people have a choice in whether they accept the God Jesus revealed at the Cross or reject Him? And if a person judges Jesus to be a fraud and rejects the God of love preferring a god of coercive power, what is the result?

What if a person accepts Jesus, but misinterprets the entire meaning through the lens of imperial law, and thus believes God was executing Jesus at the cross?

Here is another quote from The Desire of Ages:

At the cross of Calvary, love and selfishness stood face to face. Here was their crowning manifestation. Christ had lived only to comfort and bless, and in putting Him to death, Satan manifested the malignity of his hatred against God. He made it evident that the real purpose of his rebellion was to dethrone God, and to destroy Him through whom the love of God was shown. {DA 57.2}

By the life and the death of Christ, the thoughts of men also are brought to view. From the manger to the cross, the life of Jesus was a call to self-surrender, and to fellowship in suffering. It unveiled the purposes of men. Jesus came with the truth of heaven, and all who were listening to the voice of the Holy Spirit were drawn to Him. The worshipers of self belonged to Satan's kingdom. In their attitude toward Christ, all would show on which side they stood. And thus everyone passes judgment on himself. {DA 57.3}

In the day of final judgment, every lost soul will understand the nature of his own rejection of truth. The cross will be presented, and its real bearing will be seen by every mind that has been blinded by transgression. Before the vision of Calvary with its mysterious Victim, sinners will stand condemned. Every lying excuse will be swept away. Human apostasy will appear in its heinous character. Men will see what their choice has been. Every question of truth and error in the long-standing controversy will then have been made plain. In the judgment of the universe, God will stand clear of blame for the existence or continuance of evil. It will be demonstrated that the divine decrees are not accessory to sin. There was no defect in God's government, no cause for disaffection. When the thoughts of all hearts shall be revealed, both the loyal and the rebellious will unite in declaring, "Just and true are Thy ways, Thou King of saints. Who shall not fear Thee, O Lord, and glorify Thy name? . . . for Thy judgments are made manifest." Revelation 15:3, 4. {DA 58.1}

Do we believe that a person, by how they judge God, actually passes judgment upon themselves?

But is it in the verbal acknowledgement and profession of faith that one passes their judgment? In other words, is it by taking a public stand, being baptized, and proclaiming with one's mouth that they believe in Jesus? Or is it by loving and trusting God with one's entire being, which may result in taking that public stand...?

Can a person state publicly that they don't believe in Jesus but still be saved?

Would it depend on who they understand Jesus to be? If they have been presented with a Jesus from the Crusades, and they reject a god who would slaughter people who believe differently, does that mean they have rejected the true Christ?

Didn't Jesus say many false messiah's would go out into the world?

So, what is it we must make a judgment about? Who God is, and then whether we love and trust this God. It is not enough to believe in God, the devils believe in God and it terrifies them, why? Because while they believe He is real, they also believe lies about His character. We must do more than believe IN God, we must actually "know" Him for who He is as revealed in Christ, then we also love and trust Him!

In C.S. Lewis' last book of the Narnia series Lewis describes a Calormene soldier named Emeth and his encounter with Aslan the lion. Emeth was a worshipper of Tash, and as a result was terrified when he came face to face with Aslan. This is that encounter from the book:

I fell at his feet and thought surely this is the hour of death, for the Lion will know that I have served Tash all my days and not him.

But Aslan's response?

Son thou art welcome. But I said, alas Lord I am no son of thine but the servant of Tash. He answered, Child all the service thou hast done to Tash I account as service done to me.

I questioned the Glorious One: Lord, is it then true that thou and Tash are one? The Lion growled and said, It is false. Not because he and I are one, but because we are opposites, I take to me the services which thou hast done to him. For I and he are of such different kinds that no service which is vile can be done to me, and none which is not vile can be done to him. Therefore if any man swear by Tash and keep his oath for the oath's sake, it is by me that he has truly sworn, though he know it not, and it is I who reward him. And if any man do a cruelty in my name, then, though he says the name Aslan, it is Tash whom he serves and by Tash his deed is accepted".

Emeth questions once more:

Lord, I have been seeking Tash all my days.

Beloved, said the Glorious One, unless thy desire had been for me thou shouldst not have sought so long and so truly. For all find what they truly seek.

So is how one responds to Christ the dividing line? Absolutely, but it divides on how one responds to the character and methods of Christ, not the idea of Christ. Does one value love, truth and freedom, believe God is like Jesus and surrender in trust to Him? OR does one value power, force and legal justice and thus believe in a authoritarian god who will torture and kill those who refuse him?

WEDNESDAY

The Resurrection – the lesson asks, “Why is the resurrection of Jesus so pivotal in apostolic preaching and in the faith of the early church?”

Paul says in 1Cor 15:14: “If Christ is not risen, then our preaching is empty and your faith is also empty.”

If Christ has not risen again, then God is not the source of life, Christ didn't procure remedy, and our belief is a fraud.

In considering the resurrection, I wanted to share 2Cor 5:1-10 from The Remedy:

¹Now we know this earthly body is like a tent or hospital gown that wears out easily and leaves us exposed. And if this earthly body, our individuality currently occupies, is destroyed, we have an eternal body that will never wear out, a heavenly dwelling place for our individuality not built by human hands.²Meanwhile, the older we get, the more we groan, longing to be free of this deteriorating body and clothed in our perfect heavenly body,³ because when we have exchanged this mortal body for our heavenly one, we will not be found sick, dying and exposed.⁴For while we are in this collapsing tent, we groan with the burden of aging and slow decay. We don't want to die to be rid of this worn-out body, but to be translated directly into our heavenly body so that this mortal may be swallowed up by eternal life.⁵Now God's intention for us has never changed. He created us to live eternally and has given us the Spirit to heal our minds as the first phase of our restoration, guaranteeing our future complete recreation.

⁶We certainly know that as long as this frail body is our home, we remain away from the Lord⁷but we live by trusting God with how things will turn out, not by waiting to see the future restoration.⁸Therefore, we are confident while in the mortal body, even though we prefer to be translated into our heavenly body and be at home with the Lord.⁹Our goal is to please him by living in harmony with his design for life, whether we are in this mortal body or our heavenly one¹⁰for we will all appear in Christ's examining room so that each one may be accurately diagnosed and receive what his or her condition warrants, whether from compliance or non-compliance with God's treatment plan.

THURSDAY

After His resurrection Jesus used several methods for communicating this truth to His followers. What methods of communication were used?

- Road to Emmaus – Jesus took them through Scripture showing how all the prophecies were fulfilled in His life
- The angel proclaimed it to the women at the tomb
- The women proclaimed it to the disciples
- Jesus appeared to the followers, Mary, Emmaus, upper room
- Jesus ate fish – why?
- Jesus told Thomas to put his hands in Christ's side why?

Why is it important to include all three evidentiary threads, Scripture, science and experience?

Because any one by itself can be twisted, manipulated, misunderstood.

- Scripture alone is used to teach many things that contradict reality
- Experience alone can be unreliable,
 - consider someone giving false testimony, but they are very sincere and believable,
 - or consider magicians how they can make something seem to be real, but it isn't

- Science alone, often has only partial evidence

FRIDAY

Read top paragraph, “The significance...” thoughts? Did angels need the cross?

For it was the Father's good pleasure for all the fullness to dwell in Him, and through Him to reconcile all things to Himself, having made peace through the blood of His cross; through Him, I say, whether things on earth or things in heaven. Col 1:19,20

For it seems to me that God has put us apostles on display at the end of the procession, like those condemned to die in the arena. We have been made a spectacle to the whole universe, to angels as well as to human beings. 1Cor 4:9

It was revealed to them that they were not serving themselves, but you, in these things which now have been announced to you through those who preached the gospel to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven-- things into which angels long to look. 1Pet 1:12

Read question 1 – What do you think of their idea of faith? What is our faith in, the things we can't see or understand, like eternal life, mansions in heaven, resurrection – or is our faith in God? And has Jesus come to reveal God to us so we can see and understand Him?

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 1

The Missionary Nature of God

INTRODUCTION

In the first paragraph the lesson quotes Jesus, “All authority has been given Me in heaven and earth. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age.” (Mt 28:18-20)

What does it mean? Let’s break it down point by point:

- Who are disciples? Followers willing to be taught, to learn and apply what they learn to their lives.
- What is baptism? Is it a ritual or something else? It is about dunking in water, or about immersing the mind/heart into God?
- What does “in the name” mean? Is it about syllables? Or, is it about character?
- What does observe mean? To keep certain holidays, feast days? Or does it mean to live in harmony with God’s design?
- What did Jesus command? To love—but can love be commanded? Then why did He do it?
- So what is the message that the disciples of Jesus are to learn, assimilate into their lives, immerse others in and observe? Is it not the truth about God’s character of love, kingdom of love, methods of love, design protocols of love that life is constructed to operate upon?

Here is MT 28:18-20 from The Remedy:

Then Jesus walked up to them and said, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me.¹⁹ So go and spread the Remedy to the entire world, teach the people of every nation, immersing their hearts and minds into the character and methods of the Father and of the Son and the Holy Spirit,²⁰ and teach them to live in harmony with the law of love, the design protocols upon which life is built, exactly as I have instructed you. And you can be sure that I am always with you, all the way, right through to the very end of time."

Is this the way you think of the gospel commission? Or do we have some other idea?

Is the gospel commission to get people to join a certain denomination? Is it to get them to change their lifestyle (aren’t there many health-conscience people that have no interest in God?) Is it about getting people to worship on a certain day? What is the gospel commission?

Read second paragraph, “It’s not hard...” When you hear the first of the three angel’s messages, what do you hear?

What is the war between good and evil center upon? The truth about God (2Cor 10:3-5)

Who is the one who has been accused of being unjust and untrustworthy? God!

Who did Paul say would win his day in court? God! (Rom 3:4)

So, what is the final message to go to the world? Would it not be the good news about God, that allows people to make a right judgment about him so they can be saved?

Here is Rev 14:6-8 from The Remedy:

Then I saw another messenger flying in midair, and he had the eternal good news about God's character of love to proclaim to everyone living on earth, to every nation, tribe, language and people, which represents a movement of people who arise to proclaim the truth about God's character of love throughout the world.⁷ He said in a clear resounding voice, "Be in awe of God, and glorify him by living his methods of love, because the hour has come for everyone to make a judgment about God and worship the Designer, Creator and Builder who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and springs of water, all of which operate upon his law of love."

Where do we find ourselves now in God's plan? Does God have a plan for His people to be missionaries in the world today? If so, what is the message we are to be taking to the world?

We often hear things like the "remnant of God," what message are they to take to the world?

Rev 12:17:

And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

- Who is the dragon? Satan
- Who is the woman? God's people, the true church invisible
- Who is the remnant? The end time people who remain true to God
- What does keep the commandments of God mean? Live in harmony with God's design for life, His law.
- What is the testimony of Jesus that they have?

At this I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me, "Do not do it! I am a fellow servant with you and with your brothers who hold to the testimony of Jesus. Worship God! For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy." Rev 19:10

What is the spirit of prophecy? One interpretation of this phrase is, an institution in which one member of that institution was blessed with a particular gift of the spirit, called the gift of prophecy.

I think that particularly interpretation misdirects our focus and our message away from the central issue in the war, which is about God, and subtly directs our attention toward putting a church institution at the center. 2000 years ago a group of people were God's chosen on earth to fulfill a mission of evangelizing the world for Christ's first advent. They were blessed with many members who had the gift of prophecy. And this caused them to think of themselves as special, elite, and caused them to believe it was essential, above all else, that their nation survive. Thus, putting their institution at the center, Caiaphas said, "What fools you are! ⁵⁰Don't you realize that it is better for you to let one man die for the people, instead of having the whole nation destroyed?" Jn 11:49,50

If we interpret the phrase "For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy" to mean a single person, now deceased, who was gifted with the gift of prophecy, do we subtly shift the focus where Scripture does not actually lead? (Note, I am not questioning at all whether the gift of prophecy was manifested in a person or not. The Jewish nation clearly had many prophets, yet it did not protect them from, as a nation, choosing institutional loyalty over loyalty to God.)

Here is Rev 19:10 from the Good News Translation:

I fell down at his feet to worship him, but he said to me, "Don't do it! I am a servant together with you and with your fellow-believers, all those who hold to the truth that Jesus revealed. Worship God!" For the truth that Jesus revealed is what inspires the prophets.

Does this suggest another meaning? What truth would it be that Jesus revealed that would have inspired the prophets? What is the central issue in the war? Who is on trial? What is the truth Jesus said He came to reveal?

Here it is from The Remedy:

I was so overwhelmed with awe I fell down to honor him, but he told me, "Don't honor me! I am a fellow worker on God's team with you and with your brothers and sisters who hold to the testimony Jesus revealed about his Father. Give honor to God and worship him! For the testimony Jesus gave about his Father is the same as that which inspired the prophets."

What is our mission as missionaries today? Is it not to present the truth about God, first, last and always? Here is a quote from one of the founders of our church:

"It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth...The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love.” Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

Is this the message we are taking to the world, or instead, have we also taken a dictator god to the world, a god who imposes laws and imposes rules, only telling people we know his true rules and you have a wrong set of rules, come keep the rules we have?

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “Our world...” Are we all sinners? Yes—but how did we become this way?

Ps. 51:5 we were born this way—we didn’t choose to be this way! And therefore, it isn’t our fault we are this way. But even though not our fault, we are still terminal.

Consider a child with HIV infected parents, born HIV infected. Did the child do anything wrong? No, but does the child still have a condition that will kill it? This is our situation, we are not born guilty, we are not under legal condemnation, we are born with a condition that is deviant from God’s design and we need healing.

Read second paragraph, “All is not lost...” Jesus died for our sins, which means what? What law lens do you use?

Is God’s law design law, protocols upon which life is built or functionally, no different that what created beings make, rules that require external enforcement and inflicted punishment?

Pause and think about it and then think, through both views, what does it mean Jesus died for our sins?

What is the Catholic understanding of how Jesus death deals with our sins?

I watched a discussion between a Catholic Priest and Protestant theologian on this question. The Catholic Priest said our sins are dealt with when we confess and partake of the Holy Communion, i.e. the Eucharist which becomes the literal flesh of Jesus when one partakes. The Protestant theologian challenged this saying that the Bible says Jesus died, once for all, and alleged that the Catholic view teaches Jesus dies over and over again every time the Eucharist is taken. The Priest responded with this explanation:

“There are two elements to any sacrifice the immolation and the offering. The immolation is a bloody death. The lamb is slain, what is precious about that is the life in the blood of the lamb is precious and that pays back God. That’s how the Old Testament rituals used to work. The immolation happened once but the offering is something Christ does for all eternity. He is right now in the presence of the Father, in the holy of holies, in the eternal presence, offering himself to the Father for the forgiveness of our sins.... Christ isn't killed again and again and again, he is offered [in the Eucharist] in the same eternal presence as Christ offers himself."

<http://amazingdiscoveries.org/12.10.24-debate-about-the-mass-and-transubstantiation>

The priest said it was in this offering of his sacrifice over and over again to God that the sins were paid for. So each time we sin, we must take mass in order to have the sacrifice of Christ pay God for that sin.

How do you think the Protestant theologian responded? The Protestant theologian responded, with the argument that Christ is not in heaven offering his sacrifice over and over, but offering his merits to the Father over and over again to pay for our sins.

In the Protestant view, all human sins were placed on Christ at the Cross and paid for there, but when we pray for forgiveness, then Jesus goes to the Father and reminds the Father of what He has already done in paying for the sins and claims his "merits" as the payment He offers to the Father.

What is the basis of their argument? They both believe God's law is no different operationally than human law, rules imposed that require punishment. Thus, both believe Jesus had to do some legal action to pay for those sins, and that the Father as the supreme Judge must have something offered to Him to satisfy His sense of justice and deal with His anger and wrath. The Catholic view, it is Jesus' sacrifice being offered to the Father, the Protestant view, it is Jesus' merits being offered to the Father.

What do you think? What do you understand if you step back and realize God's law is design law, that deviations are destructive to the deviant and if God does nothing, the sinner dies eternally. Then, what do you understand dying for our sins to mean?

Here are a few quotes from one of the founders of our church:

"In assuming human nature, that he might reach to the very depths of human woe and misery and lift man up, Christ has shown what estimate he places upon the human race. In this work everything was at stake. Satan claimed to be the lawful owner of the fallen race; [who takes a legal approach?] and with what persistent effort did he seek to overthrow Christ through his subtilty! It was only by the most desperate conflict with the powers of Satan that Christ could accomplish his purpose of restoring the almost obliterated image of God in man, and place his own signature upon his forehead. It was a desperate battle; for Satan had so long worked in league with human intelligencies as to almost completely intercept every ray of light shining from the throne of God upon the human mind. The cross of Calvary alone could destroy the works of the devil. In that wondrous sacrifice all eyes were called to 'behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world.' The love of Christ kindles in the heart of all who continue to behold him. {General Conference Daily Bulletin, March 2, 1897 par. 17}

In the beginning, man was created in the likeness of God, not only in character, but in form and feature. Sin defaced and almost obliterated the divine image; but Christ came to restore that which had been lost. GC 645

Weakened through sin, we can not of ourselves keep the law of God. But Christ came to our world to restore the moral image of God in men, and to bring them back from the path of disobedience to a path of obedience. His mission to the world was to reveal the character of God by living the law, which is the foundation of his government; and those who will accept him as their personal Saviour will grow in grace, and in his strength will be enabled to obey the law of God. {ST, February 11, 1897 par. 15}

Christ came to give expression to the law of God, to represent the Father's character. He came to minister to man, to restore in him the moral image of God. Tho he was rich, yet for our sake he became poor, that we through his poverty might be made rich. {ST, August 26, 1897 par. 3}

How does God get a new heaven and new earth? What is the key to making it new? Is it merely a issue of recreating physical matter? Or is it something more? It is about having an environment without fear, without selfishness, where all beings are 100% trustworthy all the time and love others more than self?

How does God get such a place? Can He get this by force and power?

God can only get what He longs for, the restoration of His character of love into His children, when we come back to a true knowledge of Him – and this cannot happen until we reject the imposed law construct and come back to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and all that is in them – Designer worship!

WEDNESDAY

God's Initiative to Save Us – what does this title mean? Do you believe it?

From what is God saving us? Is God working through Christ to save us from Himself, from the punishment He would inflict on us if Christ didn't die for us? Absolutely not! But this is what is often taught.

God is working through Christ to heal us (save, Greek sodzo means to save), from sin, which is a state of being deviant from His design. He is working to set us right, or make us right, which is the same as to make righteous or justify. However, because of the infection of imposed law, the term justify has been twisted to mean legal adjustment rather than actual change within the heart and mind of the believer in Christ. See the last paragraph, “God ‘made Him who knew...” notice how the last sentences says so we can be “counted as righteous” no, it is so we can be MADE righteous, actually healed, actually restored, actually recreated to have the mind of Christ!

Our natural heart is “enmity” toward God, i.e. opposed to God, selfish rather than selfless, and thus out of harmony with God’s design for life. This is a terminal condition. Romans 4 tells us Abraham trusted God and THEN, after his heart was changed from distrust to trust, he was recognized or counted as righteous. The change in Abraham came first, the accounting or recognition was a recognition of what was real, what had actually transpired in the heart/mind of Abraham, not as penal/legal theologies state, a declaration of righteousness even though we are not.

SUNDAY

We are talking about Biblical Missionaries – why do you think the lesson focuses on the creation of Adam and Eve?

The lesson will go on to discuss free will and love, and then the fall, but for right now, is there some aspect of God’s missionary nature that was being expressed in the creation of Adam and Eve?

What was happening in the universe when this earth was created? War had already broken out in heaven—what kind of war? A polemic (Rev 12) – which is a war of words, over what? Over God’s trustworthiness—so how did God respond?

God provided evidence: He began to create a new solar system, with a new planet teeming with life and with new intelligent beings who were given procreative ability and dominion to govern, and then God rested His case. Why? What was revealed? What were the charges of Satan that were refuted by God’s work during creation week of planet earth?

Paul says that we are a spectacle, a theater, to angels and men (1Cor 4:9)

Was God being a missionary by creating planet earth and were Adam and Eve to be missionaries to angels?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “Embedded in the Creation...” Why was it wrong to eat from the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge? The lesson states we have the capacity for moral judgment, which is the ability to tell right from wrong – so why don’t we examine the question of eating from the Tree of Knowledge through the seven levels.

1. Level One—Reward and Punishment: It is wrong to eat from it because God will punish. It is right not to eat because God will not punish.
2. Level Two—Marketplace Exchange: It is wrong to eat because it breaks the deal with God and would lose His blessings and place in the garden. It is right not to eat to keep all the benefits from God.
3. Level Three—Social Conformity: It is wrong to eat if my community says it is wrong, it is right to eat we, as a community, agree it is right.
4. Level Four—Law and Order: It is wrong because it breaks God's law and is treason against the divine government, which would require a just God to inflict the death penalty. It is right not to eat because we avoid legal trouble with God.
5. Level Five—Love for Others: It is wrong to eat because it would be an act of selfishness, taking what is not one's own. When we love others we don't take what is another's for ourselves. It is right not to eat because we want to protect the best interests of the other.
6. Level Six—Principle-Based Living: It is wrong to eat because it would deviate from God's design and infect them with a terminal condition. It is right not to eat because they continue to live in harmony with His design of love.
7. Level Seven—Understanding Friend of God: It is wrong to eat because it breaks trust with God, which violates the law of love, alters their condition, and obstructs God's purpose for the creation of earth and humankind.

Read second paragraph, "God could..." What would be lost had He done this? The ability to love!

Read fourth paragraph, "Because of its divine..." This is so well said – do you agree?

If it is against the character of God to force compliance or obedience how do we apply this fact to our theology?

Are certain teachings ruled out if this is true?

If someone said to you, "You are free to obey me or not. That is your choice, but if you don't I will torture and kill you." Are they respecting your freedom?

But, what if they said, "I have to torture and kill you because the law requires it and I must be just—but remember you are free and I would never coerce you"?

So, if God is not threatening to kill us if we disobey, does that mean everyone will be saved? Why not?

The critical issue is: how do we understand God's law – if we accept the lie that it functions like human law, rules imposed, we inevitably teach God inflicts punishment, which contradicts His character, the law of liberty and coerces.

We must come back to understanding God as Creator, and His law as the protocols upon which life is constructed, then deviations are understood to destroy the deviant as God leave all free who choose to persist in deviation from His design. Death comes from sin, living outside the law life was designed to operate upon, not from God!

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Eating a little..." What do you think "stern necessity" means? Had it been some stern necessity would that had made a difference?

Why did God give the clear instructions? What was the purpose for Him telling them not to eat of the fruit? Why did He put the tree in the Garden in the first place?

Here are a couple of historic quotes:

God would not permit Satan to follow the holy pair with continual temptations. He could have access to them only at the tree of knowledge of good and evil. E.G. White, Story of Redemption 31

God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automaton. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character... It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. E.G. White, Conflict and Courage 33

Do you agree? If you understand Design Law then this reasons fit perfectly, but if operating level four and below, under imposed law concepts, then other reasons come to mind.

Read second paragraph, "Likewise, we must..." How does God get us to choose to follow Him? What method does He use?

Truth, presented in love, leaving us free! As the lesson says, He never coerces. How much of Christianity violates this by presenting God as threatening to punish disobedience?

So, what does it mean to cherish God's Word? Does it mean a "God said it, I believe it, that settles it” attitude? Is it “My Bible says” attitude?

What is the problem with cherishing the Word of God like this? First, it doesn’t require one to actually understand what is meant, thus misunderstanding occurs and people can actually go out in God’s name and misrepresent Him.

Further, if one has a thoughtless attitude, just obey, they only have to be convinced the messenger is from God and they do what they are told, no questions. Remember the story of the young and old prophet? (1Kings 13)

Who were called God’s friends in the Old Testament? Abraham and Moses, and what did they do when God came with instructions? How did they respond to God’s Word?

- When God told Moses he needed him to be a spokesperson what did Moses do? Did he cherish that information? Did he argue?
- When God told Moses he was going to destroy Israel, what did Moses do?
- When God told Abraham that he was going to destroy Sodom, what did Abraham do? Did he cherish God’s Word, or question it?

God wants us to understand, so if we don’t, he wants us to ask questions, with a heart of true concern for God, to truly know and be in harmony with Him. He hates blind obedience, thoughtless adherence to rules, because such practices obstruct our growth and healing and actually separate us from God.

Fourth paragraph quotes Genesis 3:24: “After he drove the man out, he placed on the east side of the Garden of Eden cherubim and a flaming sword flashing back and forth to guard the way to the tree of life.”

What are the implications? If, as many Christians believe, human beings possess innate immortality, why bar them from the tree of life?

What was the reason for barring them? To prevent sinners from having access to the fountain of youth, which is what I believe the tree of life actually was—a source of perfect nutrition that prevented physiological aging and healed all physiological problems. But, the tree of life would not have prevented Cain from smashing Abel’s head with a rock, or beheading, or vaporization in a nuclear explosion. True immortality comes only from God, not from a tree.

Imagine, what would have happened on earth if the tree had remained accessible to sinful beings? Who do you think would have controlled it?

Just consider how evil would have been multiplied and magnified on earth had that happened. Thus, God, in great love and mercy, limited evil by preventing sinful beings from having access to a youth promoting, healing resource.

THURSDAY

What is our mission? What is the message we have to offer? Do we have something to say that people need to hear? What?

What does salt do? Not only does it enhance flavor, it increases thirst – are we to make the gospel more palatable and cause people to thirst for more?

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 2

Abraham: The First Missionary

SABBATH

What do you think about the title? Was Noah a missionary? Was Enoch a missionary?

Read memory text, Galatians 3:6-8:

Consider Abraham: “He believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness.”
⁷ Understand, then, that those who believe are children of Abraham. ⁸ The Scripture foresaw that God would justify the Gentiles by faith, and announced the gospel in advance to Abraham: “All nations will be blessed through you.”

The lesson chose to use the NIV – what do you hear when you hear this verse?

What law lens to you understand it through? Is God’s law like human law, rules imposed and we are in legal trouble with the ruling authority? If we view it through that lens what kind of theories do we come up with?

This is from the SDA Bible Commentary on this verse (which is not inspired, but just intelligent honest people sharing what they think it means):

Accounted. Or, “counted,” “reckoned.” Abraham’s faith was credited to his account in heaven, thus balancing the account. Accordingly, God considered Abraham a righteous man. [according to this why did God consider Abraham righteous? Because of an adjustment in a legal document in heaven, not because Abraham was actually righteous. In other words, it puts God in the position of dealing in fantasy not reality.] Works had nothing to do with his attainment of this favorable credit rating in the books of heaven. God simply offered it to him and he accepted it by faith, believing that God meant exactly what He said. His own efforts could never have purchased this blessed status. See on Rom. 4:9–13.

Faith does not satisfy the demands of the law, for the law requires perfect obedience. Therefore, if one is to be justified by faith, it must be on the basis of some other principle than the works of the law. [Do you see the difficulty this author has in trying to reconcile the issues? The problem is the author is trying to come up with a solution to justification based on the premise that God’s law operates like human law, rather than design law. Why does the law require perfect obedience? For the same reason the law of respiration require we breathe, it is how life is constructed. Yet, this view suggests if we find someone suffocating all they need to do is have faith in someone who is not and have their breathing credited to their account and they will be recognized to be breathing.] To be credited as righteous means being forgiven and admitted to the favor of God. [what is suggested as the reason we are not in the favor of God? That God hasn't forgiven because we haven't received the proper legal payment for the heavenly court.] Man can do nothing to deserve the gift of Christ's righteousness; he cannot claim it on the basis of merit. Divine grace makes it possible for a just God to consider repentant sinners righteous. Vol 7, p. 954

So, was Abraham is actually righteous or only declared to be righteous? The typical position taken by those who teach God's government operates like a human government, is that God declares a person righteous based on the legal application of Jesus' perfect sacrifice in our behalf, even though we are not righteous. This puts God in the position of declaring falsehoods – God declaring Abraham righteous even though Abraham is not righteous.

This happens because they are operating in a fantasy world (and I mean that literally not pejoratively). They have a construct that is not real, a false reality – the idea that God's law is imposed rules.

This is from Enhances Strong's Lexicon, the word translated accounted or credited:

λογίζομαι [logizomai /log·id·zom·ahee/] v. Middle voice from 3056; TDNT 4:284; TDNTA 536; GK 3357; 41 occurrences; AV translates as “think” nine times, “impute” eight times, “reckon” six times, “count” five times, “account” four times, “suppose” twice, “reason” once, “number” once, and translated miscellaneous five times. 1 to reckon, count, compute, calculate, count over. 1a to take into account, to make an account of. 1a1 metaph. to pass to one's account, to impute. 1a2 a thing is reckoned as or to be something, i.e. as availing for or equivalent to something, as having the like force and weight. 1b to number among, reckon with. 1c to reckon or account. 2 to reckon inward, count up or weigh the reasons, to deliberate. 3 by reckoning up all the reasons, to gather or infer. 3a to consider, take into account, weigh, meditate on. 3b to suppose, deem, judge. 3c to determine, purpose, decide. Additional Information: This word deals with reality. If I “logizomai” or reckon that my bank book has $25 in it, it has $25 in it. Otherwise I am deceiving myself. This word refers to facts not suppositions.¹

When we come back to worship the Creator, Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and realize God's laws are the protocols upon which reality functions, then we realize several key facts.

1. When Adam sinned humankind was changed (God and God's law were not changed)
2. This change in human kind altered what was right, i.e. the way God built it, to something that was wrong, or deviant from the design. Another way to say this, what was right-eous became un-right-eous
3. The natural state of the mind/heart/character of humans after Adam and Eve's fall is

“enmity” toward God. In other words, we don’t trust God. Our inherited state of being is, not right or, unrighteous.

4. Abraham experienced a change in his heart attitude toward God, moving from distrust to trust—first. Thus, his heart attitude toward God was “set right.” And only AFTER this change IN Abraham did God recognize Abraham as being set right, or righteous. Why? Because Abraham actually was set right in his heart attitude and relationship with God and therefore, because of that change in heart attitude he was able to partake of the Remedy Christ achieved. Thus, the victory of Christ is NOT applied to record books in heaven, but into the hearts, minds, characters of those who trust in God, such that we become partakers of the divine nature, and it is no longer I that lives but Christ lives in me.

This is reality, a real, actual change in the believer in Christ. This is justification or righteousness by faith. And what this looks like is dying to selfishness and experiencing renewal of love as the driving motive in one’s character.

This Galatians 3:6-9 from The Remedy:

Consider Abraham: "He trusted God, and his trust was recognized as righteousness, because the distrust caused through Satan's lies had been removed, and through trust he was endowed with a new heart, right motives, and Christlike principles."⁷ Be clear on this: All those who trust God, as Abraham did, experience the same transformation of character and are considered children of Abraham.⁸ The Scriptures foretold that God would set the Gentiles right with him by trust - just like Abraham - and announced this incredible good news to Abraham: "All nations, peoples and ethnic groups will be blessed through you."⁹ So those who trust God experience healing of heart and mind just like Abraham - who trusted God.

SUNDAY

Read Genesis 12:1-3 at the top of the page, “The Lord...” What do you make of this portion of the passage, “I will bless those who bless you, and whoever curses you I will curse...”?

What law lens do you see it through? Is God a dictator or Designer?

Those who operate at level four and below hear these words and think: God has two faces. He has a kind and merciful side that blesses us if we do what he wants, but he also has a stern, vengeful side that will use power to torment and punish those who don’t do what he says.

Is this how you hear it? Can anyone bring in any Bible texts that might shed light on this?

Through whom is the Remedy for sin coming? Didn’t God just promise that it is through Abraham that all nations will be blessed, that it is through Abraham that the Messiah will come?

Then what does it mean, contextually, for someone to bless Abraham? It means they value, cherish, rejoice, celebrate and identify with Abraham and his mission and want to support the fulfillment of God's purpose. And what would such persons do when presented with the opportunity to partake of God's Remedy? And would that be a blessing?

What does it mean to curse Abraham? What attitude would one have toward Abraham and his descendants, including Jesus? And if one chooses to curse Jesus what happens? If one rejects the Remedy what happens? What does God do? He let's go – and if you have a terminal condition and the one with the Remedy grants you your choice to refuse the Remedy, what happens? You are cursed – remember Scripture, “cursed is the one who is hung on a tree.” Jesus was let go by the Father, abandoned, and that was God's curse.

To all those who curse Abraham and thereby curse God and God's Remedy, hardening their hearts and refusing to trust God as Abraham did, God let's them go and they die of their terminal condition – this is God's curse.

Here is a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church:

God pledges himself to bless those who will obey his commandments... With these words of light and truth before them, how dare men neglect so plain a duty? How dare they disobey God when obedience to his requirements mean prosperity in temporal and spiritual things, and disobedience means the curse of God? Satan is the destroyer. God cannot bless those who refuse to be faithful stewards. All he can do is to permit Satan to do his destroying work. We see calamities of every shape and in every degree coming upon the earth, and why?--The Lord's restraining power is not exercised. The world has disregarded the word of God. They live as though there were no God. Like the inhabitants of the Noachic world, they refuse to have any thought of God. Wickedness prevails to an alarming extent, and the earth is ripe for the harvest...
{Pamphlet 166 10.1}

Read last paragraph, “Many of us are tested...” What comes to mind when you hear the concept of being tested by God?

- Is God examining you like a schoolteacher in order to find out what you know?
- Is God testing you like a human government tests operatives, to see if you are loyal or treasonous?
- Is God testing you to see how much you can take?

Which law lens do you hear this through?

What design law applies? The law of exertion – if you want something to get stronger you must exercise it, if you don't use it you lose it.

What does God want for us? He wants us to grow, develop in ability in Christlike character, in trust in him, which requires what? That we exercise our trust in him!

Consider it pure joy, my brothers, whenever you face trials of many kinds, ³ because you know that the testing of your faith develops perseverance. ⁴ Perseverance must finish its work so that you may be mature and complete, not lacking anything. Jas 1:2-4

What does this mean in the context of how reality works?

Consider going to a physical therapist after months in a cast. They start you out with two pound weights, and you struggle, but as you gain strength, and it becomes easy to lift two pounds, what does the therapist do? Add weight, and you struggle again, and when it becomes easy what does the therapist do? Add weight, why? Is the therapist trying to burden you, overwhelm you, discourage you? No, to strengthen you to recover your autonomy.

What is the last fruit of the Spirit – self-control – how do you think God gets us there?

Does this mean we are saved by works? Absolutely not! We get a new heart and right spirit by God's grace through trust/faith. But, with that new heart and spirit, we team up with God, via the Spirit and choose to exercise our abilities to mature, develop, and grow.

This is design law – we must exercise our trust in God in order for it to grow!

God cannot save a person against that person's will – but salvation is not a mere legal assent, or ritual performed, it is healing, it is a relationship with God that grows by experience each day. So a person who claims legal forgiveness, but chooses to live outside God's design law of love, is not healed/saved, they continue to be hardened and damaged by such deviations (sin). This is why Jesus said many will come to him in the last days claiming to be his but he never knew them. This is what Paul means about those who have a form of godliness but not power.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Lot was..." Now think about Lot for a minute, where do we find Lot in the New Testament? Peter describes Lot as a righteous man whose conscience was tormented by the wickedness of Sodom. (2Pet 2:7)

Do you think righteousness and unrighteousness at Sodom was primarily about maintaining healthy sexual boundaries?

It is often taught this way, but let's consider some facts:

- When all the men of the city turned out and demanded the angels, who were in the form of men, to sexually abuse what did Lot do?
 - He offered his daughters to them to sexually abuse
 - “Lot went outside to meet them and shut the door behind him ⁷ and said, “No, my friends. Don’t do this wicked thing. ⁸ Look, I have two daughters who have never slept with a man. Let me bring them out to you, and you can do what you like with them. But don’t do anything to these men, for they have come under the protection of my roof.” Gen 19:6-8
 - Remember lot is considered a righteous man—how is this an act of righteousness?
- After Lot leaves Sodom did he eventually have children? Who were the mothers of his children?
 - His daughter, Lot had incest with his daughters, yes they got him drunk, but consider that for a minute...
 - If someone gets drunk are they now excused for their choices?
 - Are they responsible for getting drunk in the first place?
 - Does this mean Lot had an alcohol problem? But he is still considered righteous?
 - Where were they living at the time? A cave in the mountains (Gen 19:30) So who do you think Lot, in his drunken state, thought was available for intimate physical relations?
- So what are the implications regarding Lot and him being considered righteous?

Was the issue of Sodom being a wicked city primarily an issue of sexual sin?

What was it that made the city so wicked?

‘Now this was the sin of your sister Sodom: She and her daughters were arrogant, overfed and unconcerned; they did not help the poor and needy. ⁵⁰ They were haughty and did detestable things before me. Therefore I did away with them as you have seen. Ezek 16:49,50

What was it that made them wicked? Selfishness, greed, pride, arrogance, lack of compassion, no love!

Lot demonstrated hospitality to the strangers. Lot welcomed them to his home, used his resources to provide for them, and was willing to sacrifice his own family members to protect them – these are acts of love. The men of Sodom cared only for themselves and were willing to abuse others to gratify self.

Are we suggesting sexuality cannot be abused, exploited, and there are no acts of sexual sin – Absolutely not! Of course people can abuse themselves and others via the avenue of sexuality, but we are speaking of what is primary – the character and it is defect in character, being selfish, being exploitive of others, pride, arrogance, etc. which is the root.

War broke out on the plane, and some kings came along conquered Sodom and took Lot and his family captive. Abraham organizes a force and pursues them and defeats them freeing Lot and his family.

Read third paragraph, “To the kings...” What do you think about Abraham’s victory revealing the power of God?

Note what Paul says in Romans:

I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: first for the Jew, then for the Gentile. 1:16

So when you think about power, what comes to mind? There is physical power, but there is another kind of power – the power of truth and love. Which is more powerful?

Does God use both types? Yes, why? Because of whom he is dealing with. Who needs physical power used? What level of development needs to see displays of physical power? Why?

And do displays of physical power win God what he wants? Why not?

- Can’t get love by force
- Can’t get trust by force
- Physical signs and wonders can be counterfeited
- Actions based on fear, because of power and might, inflame selfishness, they don’t cure it!

When Christ returns how is it described in Revelation returning with a sword coming out of his mouth that strikes down the nations – what does that sword represent? The Sword of Truth and Love and truth destroys lies and love destroys selfishness. So those who have solidified their beings upon lies and selfishness will be destroyed by the unveiling of infinite truth and love!

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “The Lord wanted...” Do we need to leave our past behind? In what ways?

- Leaving immaturity for maturity
 - When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I became a man, I put childish ways behind me. 1Cor 13:11
 - In what context is this passage found? In the chapter on love! Love is mature, selfishness is childlike. Think again of the seven levels of development and how the first four, including the legal model, are all selfish, childlike approaches, not love. The first four are based on fear – fear of getting punished, fear of not getting the deal, fear of rejection, fear of legal trouble. We must leave our immature way of thinking behind, leave magical thinking behind, leave fantasy behind and come to understand how reality actually works.

- What are examples of magical thinking- magical thinking is the belief that a causal relationship exists between things that have no causal relationship in reality:
 - step on a crack break your mother's back
 - break a mirror get seven years bad luck
 - "my daddy moved out because I didn't eat all my peas. If I would have eaten all my peas daddy would still be here."
 - If I say this prayer every day for thirty days God will bless me
 - If I claim the blood of Jesus to my heavenly record then I am declared to be righteous, even though I am still unrighteous
- Leave our past mistakes behind
 - But one thing I do: Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is ahead, ¹⁴ I press on toward the goal to win the prize for which God has called me heavenward in Christ Jesus. Philippians 3:13:14
 - We must stop living in guilt over past shortcomings, stop beating ourselves up and accept and embrace our new hearts and lives in Jesus!
 - So you cheated on an exam in 7th grade, or had sex before marriage, or viewed porn, or lied, or committed adultery or whatever. History cannot be changed, what can change is your heart, mind, character. You can be reborn in Christ.
 - David through all eternity future will still have murdered Uriah and had adulterous relationship with Bathsheba. History doesn't change, what did change was David, he was recreated in the inner man and had a new heart and right spirit. We must move forward, in truth, in the reality of God's kingdom of love.
 - But the childish way of thinking is rules oriented, thinking God is mad and must punish, and we stay focused on legal accounting and getting our penalty paid, thus we never actually moved forward and live a life of love!
- Leave our losses behind and move forward
 - But Jesus told him, "Follow me, and let the dead bury their own dead." MT 8:22
 - When my father died I grieved. And there is an appropriate time for grieving – but I realized, I would not father by living in the past, the only way I would see my father again was by letting go the past and moving forward. As God brings about his plan, when Christ returns again, then we can be with our departed loved ones. Thus, we move forward, we don't let ourselves get stuck in the past.
 - Deep-Space 9 analogy
- Leave our destructive habits behind
 - Put to death, therefore, whatever belongs to your earthly nature: sexual immorality, impurity, lust, evil desires and greed, which is idolatry. Col 3:5
 - We must say no to the deviations from God's design
 - The Holy Spirit brings new desires, new motives, new wisdom and leads us to points of decision. We know the choices we must make, but we don't get the divine power over habits until we choose to do what we know is right for us. THEN we are imbued with divine power sufficient to do what we have chosen.

- Leave our grudges and resentments behind
 - Love keeps no record of wrongs 1Cor 13:5
 - When we live in love we don't hold grudges, we grieve the destruction of character our enemies are inflicting upon themselves. We pray like Stephen as he was being stoned, Father don't lay this to their account.
- Leave our disappointments and unfulfilled desires behind—so may of my patients had problems in their childhood, parents who abused them, abandoned them and they live continually in the pain of that unfulfilled childhood.
 - We come, as citizens of heaven, to build upon the foundation of Jesus Christ, are members of his family, and have loyalty and purpose in seeking his kingdom fulfilled.

Read third paragraph, “Amazing, too, was...” What do you think of this definition of faith? In what is our faith, is it our destination or in the one who is leading?

If we know, if we can see it, does our faith get undermined? Well, when Christ returns again, and we meet him face to face, do we say: “Well before you returned and I couldn't see you I had real faith in you. But now that you are here I don't have faith in you anymore?”

Of course not! Our faith increases as we gain understanding and evidence!

WEDNESDAY

At the end of the first paragraph it states, “Despite his faults, Abraham was still used by the Lord because Abraham wanted to be used by Him; and thus, the Lord was able to mold His character.”

This really resonated with me. I remembered years ago, when I was around twenty, I heard a song by a Christian group called Petra that became a real prayer for me. It is called:

I Am Available

Words and music by Bob Hartman

Based on Matthews 9:37-38, Romans 12:1

I don't have much to offer you, I don't have much to give There's so much I may never be as long as I may live
I may never be all I want to be although I'll always try
But if you choose me, to use me, there's just one reason why

(Chorus)

I am available, I am available

I will go when you say go

I am available, I am available
I will stop when you say no
My whole life was incomplete till I laid it at Your feet
So use me as You will
I am available

I'm not the most dependable - sometimes you can't rely
There's no excuse, there's no defense, there's only one reply

I know that my ability is not Your main concern
It's my availability and willingness to learn

I think this is so true – God wants people who are willing. He will provide what is necessary to do whatever he asks you to do!

THURSDAY

Read top dark section, “Abraham will surely...” Did Abraham’s descendants become a great nation? What nation? Who are the descendants of Abraham?

³⁹ “Abraham is our father,” they answered.

“If you were Abraham’s children,” said Jesus, “then you would do the things Abraham did.

⁴⁰ As it is, you are determined to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham did not do such things. ⁴¹ You are doing the things your own father does.”

“We are not illegitimate children,” they protested. “The only Father we have is God himself.”

Jesus said to them, “If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and now am here. I have not come on my own; but he sent me. ⁴³ Why is my language not clear to you? Because you are unable to hear what I say. ⁴⁴ You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father’s desire. In 8:39-44

Here is The Remedy

John 8:39 “Abraham is our father,” they shouted. “If you were more than genetic descendants, if you were children of Abraham in values and character, then you would practice the methods Abraham did, and embrace the truth. ⁴⁰ But instead, you prefer lies, and are determined to kill me, the one who has brought you the truth—the only Remedy to heal you—which God himself gave me. Abraham did not reject truth or prefer lies. ⁴¹ But you don’t practice Abraham’s values. No! You are doing what your own father does.” “We were not born illegitimately!” they protested; “The only Father we have is God himself.”

John 8:42 With tears in his eyes, Jesus replied, “If God were really your Father, you would love me, for I came from the Father and am an exact representation of him. I have not come on my own account but as his ambassador to reveal him to the world. ⁴³ Why don’t you understand what I am saying to you? Because your minds are so darkened with your preconceived ideas and your preference for a god like yourselves, that you are unwilling to open your minds and receive the truth I bring. ⁴⁴ You belong to your father, the devil; you prefer his methods, share his motives, and carry out his desires.

Who is a descendant of Abraham? All those, who trust God like Abraham did!

2015 3Q “Biblical Missionaries” Lesson 3

The Unlikely Missionary

SABBATH

“And there were many in Israel with leprosy in the time of Elisha the prophet, yet not one of them was cleansed—only Naaman the Syrian” (Luke 4:27, NIV).

Now, for some context:

16 Then Jesus went to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and on the Sabbath he went as usual to the synagogue. He stood up to read the Scriptures 17 and was handed the book of the prophet Isaiah. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it is written, 18 “The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has chosen me to bring good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set free the oppressed 19 and announce that the time has come when the Lord will save his people.”

20 Jesus rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant, and sat down. All the people in the synagogue had their eyes fixed on him, 21 as he said to them, “This passage of scripture has come true today, as you heard it being read.”

22 They were all well impressed with him and marveled at the eloquent words that he spoke. They said, “Isn't he the son of Joseph?”

23 He said to them, “I am sure that you will quote this proverb to me, ‘Doctor, heal yourself.’ You will also tell me to do here in my hometown the same things you heard were done in Capernaum. 24 I tell you this,” Jesus added, “prophets are never welcomed in their hometown. 25 Listen to me: it is true that there were many widows in Israel during the time of Elijah, when there was no rain for three and a half years and a severe famine spread throughout the whole land. 26 Yet Elijah was not sent to anyone in Israel, but only to a widow living in Zarephath in the territory of Sidon. 27 And there were many people suffering from a dreaded skin disease who lived in Israel during the time of the prophet Elisha; yet not one of them was healed, but only Naaman the Syrian.”

28 When the people in the synagogue heard this, they were filled with anger. 29 They rose up, dragged Jesus out of town, and took him to the top of the hill on which their town was built. They meant to throw him over the cliff, 30 but he walked through the middle of the crowd and went his way. GNT .

How would our church leaders react to someone coming in to the GC claiming to be God’s Son, and spoke in glowing terms about some medieval Pope? They might not try to throw him off of a cliff, but ...

Why do you think Jesus referenced Naaman, and not the Jewish captive maiden who pointed Naaman to Elisha?

In the last sentence, the lesson states we can see “a model for how the plan of salvation works.” I completely agree.

Any payment[s] required by an angry God? In fact, when Naaman tried to pay for his healing, Elisha refused. What does this tell us? Did Naaman place one of his healthy subordinates in the river in his place? Did Elisha declare him healed without it actually being so? If Naaman, had refused to submerge in the Jordan, would Elisha or God have set him on fire?

What actually happened? HEALING by faith in a Savior [evidenced by works], and restoration to the design protocols of life.

For a review: Leprosy [aka Hansen’s Disease] is caused by a bacterial infection, and while contagious [usually from respiratory secretions], it’s not considered highly contagious. It is generally more prevalent in poverty stricken areas with poor sanitation [e.g. 900 BC Syrian battle camps]. There are some studies suggesting a genetic predisposition for the infection. The infection causes granulomas of nerves, the respiratory tract, skin, and eyes often resulting in a diminished ability to feel pain and loss of parts of the extremities due to repeated injury. More than 50% of all current new cases of leprosy occur in India, and the USA has about 200 new cases / year.

Any insights as to why Leprosy is used in Scripture as a metaphor for sin?

SUNDAY

He Had it All ... But,

I’ve been unable to discover whether or not leprosy was as “feared” by heathen nations as it was by the children of Israel, however, one could conclude that even if it didn’t carry the “legal” stigmas [see below], it was disfiguring and potentially lethal.

4. The [Jewish] Legal Attitude: It should be observed here that the attitude of the Law toward the person, garment or house suspected of leprosy is that if the disease be really present they are to be declared unclean and there is no means provided for cure, and in the case of the garment or house, they are to be destroyed. If, on the other hand, the disease be proved to be absent, this freedom from the disease has to be declared by a ceremonial purification. This is in reality not the ritual for cleansing the leper, for the Torah provides none such, but the ritual for declaring him ceremonially free from the suspicion of having the disease. This gives a peculiar and added force to the words, "The lepers are cleansed," as a testimony to our Lord's Divine mission. <http://biblehub.com/topical/l/leprosy.htm>

Most of Israel viewed leprosy [as well as any other malady] as a judgment from God [see Num. 12: 9-14]. Note verse 9 – “God’s anger burned against them, and He left.”

From the lesson:

“Personal life disruptions, tragedies, and transitions can make people more open to spiritual truth and set them on a search for God. Physical, psychological, political, or other disasters can open people up to the reality of the Divine. Personal loss, national catastrophes, and wars are major motivators that cause people to seek a power greater than them- selves. The church has long been aware that increased soul-winning results tend to come in areas in which people are struck by personal or societal suffering.”

This is well said, and true. Does this mean that God brings / allows our suffering in order to get us to pay attention, or are there more explanations? Consider what the primary cause of leprosy is currently. <http://www.cdc.gov/leprosy/exposure/index.html>

An Unlikely Witness

Might this captive girl have been living out, as best she understood, the design laws [Love, Liberty, Worship, Health, etc.] which is what the nation of Israel failed to do? Just like Joseph, Daniel, & his three friends, she gave a revelation of the Designer that enlightened the darkness of a community steeped in serving gods that demanded appeasement. Are we not ALL witness/missionaries – from Lucifer, Adam/Eve, right down to you & I?

Also interesting, is the approach that Benhadad and Naaman take to secure favor / healing by bringing costly gifts [appeasement].

What does Israel’s king’s reaction tell us?

TUESDAY

Elisha the Prophet

Just a review of Elisha’s situation: He was the son of a wealthy land owner, who left the wealth to follow Elijah. Before Elijah was taken to Heaven in a chariot of fire, he asked for, and was granted a “double portion” of the Holy Spirit. He was a vehicle for God’s power in that he, parted the Jordan with Elijah’s mantle, he prophesied victory, and drought relief when the armies of Judah, Israel, and Edom were allied against the Moabites, he directed Naaman to wash in the Jordan river to cure his leprosy, he cursed, in the name of God, a group of rowdy youths and two bears tore them to pieces, he was the instrument for the multiplication of olive oil so the widow could be released from her debts, he prayed for the birth of a son for the wealthy woman to reward her hospitality, and subsequently for the resurrection of the same son, he “cured” the poisonous porridge, made the axe head float, fed 100+ men with a few loaves of bread and a few fish, he instructed the king how to avoid the Syrian forces, revealed to his servant the angels circling them, then blinded the group come to assassinate him, and led them to be fed by his king, before having them released to return home. Even after his death, he performed a miracle [2 Kings 13: 21].

WEDNESDAY

The Healing of Naaman

What do we see of Naaman's character in this story?

- He's reached "rock bottom"
- He attempts to buy his own healing [30,000 pieces of silver & 6,000 pieces of gold – roughly $3.75 million assuming 1/2 ounce / piece].
- He's teachable – he listened to his wife's servant, Elisha, and his soldiers [the most valuable commanders listen to the soldiers observations and opinions in order to make the difficult tactical decisions].
- He's grateful – he returned to say "thank you" unlike the nine lepers Christ healed.
- He's concerned about being a "stumbling block" to others [bowing in the temple of Dagon with the his king].

Any insights as to why Elisha didn't adhere to custom and bring Naaman in to his house and feed him & his company?

THURSDAY

A New Believer

"Now I know that there is no God in all the world except in Israel. So please accept a gift from your servant" (2 Kings 5:15, NIV).

Imagine the wonder of Naaman, being steeped in appeasement-based idolatry, now healed by following some simple directions. Symbolically born again, and unable to constrain himself, acknowledging the Creator with: "there is no God in all the world, except in Israel."

From the lesson: "The confession that the God of Israel is sovereign in the world is the main theme of the Bible."

I respectfully disagree. "God Is Love" is the main theme of the Bible.

Also quoted in the lesson: "Let this point be fully settled in every mind: If we accept Christ as a Redeemer, we must accept Him as a Ruler. We cannot have the assurance and perfect confiding trust in Christ as our Saviour until we acknowledge Him as our King and are obedient to His commandments. Thus we evidence our allegiance to God. We have then the genuine ring in our faith, for it is a working faith. It works by love."—Ellen G. White, Faith and Works, p. 16.

This passage [along with nearly every other one] leads to very different conclusions based on which Law lens you read it with.

2015 Q3 “Biblical Missionaries” Lesson 4 The Jonah Saga

We are studying Lesson 4 in the current quarterly Biblical Missionaries, and this lesson is titled “The Jonah Saga”. Probably one of the most familiar stories in the entire Bible...and it really was a saga wasn’t it? Because it is more of a saga with lots of drama, I thought I would start out with a little funny story. Some of you may not know this, but my mom has a budding career in stand-up comedy...so I am always kind of on the lookout for material for her, and I found this little ditty that happens to be about Jonah. This is why you should never argue with children...A little girl was talking to her teacher about whales. The teacher said it was physically impossible for a whale to swallow a human, because even though the whale is a very large mammal its throat is very small. The little girl stated that Jonah was indeed swallowed by a whale. Irritated, the teacher reiterated that a whale could not swallow a human - it was physically impossible. The little girl said, "Well, when I get to heaven, I will ask Jonah." The teacher asked, "What if Jonah went to hell?" The little girl replied, "Then you ask him." There is no theological concepts included there...just a little lighthearted comedy.

So it’s a well-known story, a truth-is-stranger-than-fiction kind of story, it is just chock full of valuable object lessons we can learn from. Let’s try to make a comprehensive list of typical object lessons gleaned from the story of poor Jonah:

- God has a specific plan or calling for each of our lives
- You can’t run from god or His plan...or you can run but you can’t hide
- Amazing insight into the grace, longsuffering, and patience of God that He wants not even one of His children to be lost, and will go to such extraordinary measures to save us
- Provides a dramatic picture of God’s discipline, correction, and protection...even in the midst of rebellion
- The teacher’s notes say, “By the end of the lesson, you should be able to comprehend the magnitude of God’s love for outsiders and the mission responsibility of insiders.” Any thoughts about that statement?
- The teacher’s quarterly summarizes the lesson this way: “The book of Jonah shines a bright light on the wideness of God’s mercy and the depth of His patience, both for the pagan sinners of Nineveh and the reluctant prophet God chooses for His mission. As the drama unfolds, we’re left with no doubt that relying on our own wisdom and inclinations is a poor way to approach mission. Only through submission to God’s leading can we begin to understand the scope of His mission plan and our role within it.” I think this is well-written and a nice summary...thoughts?
- So let’s take a look at the memory text in Sabbath’s lesson...it is not taken from the book of Jonah, but speaks to the heart of what motivated God to call Jonah to the mission field. “I now realize how true it is that God does not show favoritism but accepts from every nation the one who fears Him and does what is right.” Acts 10:34, 35, NIV. Of course, this is Peter speaking to Cornelius after they both had visions and Peter went to his house and ended up baptizing him and his whole family. So we know even in the New Testament that Jews had trouble accepting that gentiles were included in God’s plan of salvation...but back in Jonah’s day, despite repeated statements to the contrary, popular Israelite theology believed that God intended to limit salvation to only his chosen people. So Jonah is the only OT prophet we know of who was directly called to be a foreign missionary, and the four chapters of this brief book give an honest record of both the positives and the negatives in his reluctant pioneering missionary experience...and it really tries to show Jonah’s inner struggle, fear, and very human reaction to God’s calling.

SUNDAY

The Flawed Prophet

Jonah was born just a few miles from Nazareth, and he had some other interesting parallels to another Galilean prophet 750 years later. The quarterly lists several texts that give us a picture of Jonah, and he seems to be a study in contrasts:

- Mix of strength and weakness
- Self-willed and rebellious, but teachable and eventually obedient...so although he initially runs away from his mission assignment, when he finally steps up to the job he ends up leading an entire pagan city to conversion
- Loyal to God, courageous, selfless and willing to die to save the heathen sailors, he believed in prayer, but also narrow-minded, selfish, and vindictive...he was a poet and became emotionally attached to a plant, but he could also be callous in the potential destruction of an entire city.
- The quarterly calls this a “strange mixture”, but does anyone else find these descriptions frighteningly familiar? Doesn’t this sound like all of us? Doesn’t this describe each of your children at one time or another? I mean I identify with every one of these traits! #iamjonah

And Jonah is just one in a long list of flawed prophets, priests, kings, and disciples who were used by God in spite of (or because of) their character flaws – get your minds around that. Our part in vindicating and glorifying God’s character is the very real transformation of our hearts, minds and characters that takes place when we are won back to trust and His Holy Spirit is poured out into us. Mrs. White says that our hearts are united with His heart; our wills are merged in His will; our minds become one with His mind; our thoughts are brought into captivity to Him (ST 11/22/1905). Wow...I really want that, don’t you? When Moses offered to have his name removed from the book of life in order to save the Israelites, doesn’t it make his testimony much more powerful to know that he started out as a murderer and a reluctant leader? What if we didn't know about David's adulterous and murderous past? Peter's cowardice and prejudice? Paul's Isis-like persecution of the first Christians? To me, it is these traits being transformed, these character corrections that stand as of the most powerful evidence that God exists...and that his methods and design principles work!

The pink box at the bottom of Sunday's lesson asks, "What hope can we draw for ourselves from the fact that God uses flawed and damaged people to work for Him in reaching out to others? It is the ONLY hope we have, if we have any hope of being involved in the process! And I believe it is our testimony of this transforming work in our lives that constitutes the "greater things" Christ talks about in John 14 when he says, "Believe me: I am in the Father and my Father is in me. If you can't believe that, believe what you see – these works. The person who trusts me will not only do what I'm doing but even greater things, because I, on my way to the Father, am giving you the same work to do that I have been doing." This story...our story...of being lost once and now found, of being blind and now being able to see, of amazing grace that saved a wretch like me...Jesus doesn't have this story to tell – telling that story to others is up to us.

MONDAY

An Early Missionary

In Monday's lesson, the quarterly makes a point of contrasting God's desire/design for Israel – live out their religion (all of which pointed to the plan of salvation), making the nation so attractive that other nations would come to them for guidance. Wouldn't it be amazing if we could all do that – make our lives such a reflection of Christ's love and character that people come to us, in search of what we have?

So Jonah is characterized as a forerunner of the New Testament disciples...and instead of waiting for folks to come to him, he was told to go to Nineveh...and he was less than excited about this prospect.

To put this into some current perspective, Nineveh was over 500 miles east of Jonah's hometown on modern-day Iraq. It was a big city...one of the capitals of Assyria, which by the way had brutally attacked and conquered Israel a few years earlier – an event still very much alive in Israelite memories. The quarterly says Jonah imagined it as an unclean center of idolatry, brutality, and totalitarianism. A few years earlier, Assyria, of which Nineveh was one of the capitals, and according to Nahum, Nineveh was "the city of blood, full of lies, full of plunder, never without victims!"(Nah. 3:1, NIV). He asks, "Who has not felt your endless cruelty?"(vs. 19, NIV). No doubt Jonah was well aware that the Assyrians had finely nuanced ways of mass killing and were experts in impaling and mutilating human bodies. Perhaps he felt it wasn't an ideal location for a public evangelist to begin a campaign. And yet God's command was clear. But it wasn't just fear that spurred Jonah's disobedience. Historians tell us that Jonah would have felt a sense of cultural superiority and religious prejudice against the pagan Ninevites. It's a human tendency that is alive and well today – isn't it? As Christian author Anne Lamott puts it in her book, Bird by Bird:

"You can safely assume you've created God in your own image when it turns out that God hates all the same people you do."—Anne Lamott, Bird by Bird (New York: Anchor Books, 1994), p. 22

Can you think of any places in the world today that could be described this way? Really not much has changed. It was very much like being asked today to go be a Christian missionary in Iraq (literally), Iran, Syria, or Afghanistan. Yikes! No wonder his first inclination was to run in the opposite direction!

Jonah 1:3-17 reads,

"But Jonah got up and went the other direction to Tarshish, running away from God. He went down to the port of Joppa and found a ship headed for Tarshish. He paid the fare and went on board, joining those going to Tarshish—as far away from God as he could get. But God sent a huge storm at sea, the waves towering. The ship was about to break into pieces. The sailors were terrified. They called out in desperation to their gods. They threw everything they were carrying overboard to lighten the ship. Meanwhile, Jonah had gone down into the hold of the ship to take a nap. He was sound asleep. The captain came to him and said, "What's this? Sleeping! Get up! Pray to your god! Maybe your god will see we're in trouble and rescue us." Then the sailors said to one another, "Let's get to the bottom of this. Let's draw straws to identify the culprit on this ship who's responsible for this disaster." So they drew straws. Jonah got the short straw. Then they grilled him: "Confess. Why this disaster? What is your work? Where do you come from? What country? What family?" He told them, "I'm a Hebrew. I worship God, the God of heaven who made sea and land." At that, the men were frightened, really frightened, and said, "What on earth have you done!" As Jonah talked, the sailors realized that he was running away from God. They said to him, "What are we going to do with you—to get rid of this storm?" By this time the sea was wild, totally out of control. Jonah said, "Throw me overboard, into the sea. Then the storm will stop. It's all my fault. I'm the cause of the storm. Get rid of me and you'll get rid of the storm." But no. The men tried rowing back to shore. They made no headway. The storm only got worse and worse, wild and raging. Then they prayed to God, "O God! Don't let us drown because of this man's life, and don't blame us for his death. You are God. Do what you think is best." They took Jonah and threw him overboard. Immediately the sea was quieted down. The sailors were impressed, no longer terrified by the sea, but in awe of God. They worshiped God, offered a sacrifice, and made vows. Then God assigned a huge fish to swallow Jonah. Jonah was in the fish's belly three days and nights." (MSG)

The quarterly lists out several object lessons we can glean from this narrative, and none of these was on my original list:

- The winds and the waves obey their creator, even when we do not – evidence of his design laws and our freedom.
- Jonah slept during the storm while even the gentile crew prayed – perhaps another forerunner to the NT disciples, in the garden of Gethsemane.
- There was true selflessness and compassion shown on both sides – Jonah was honest in admitting that he caused the calamity, and was willing to sacrifice himself to save others/strangers. The gentile sailors shown compassion to Jonah in their reluctance to toss him overboard even though their own lives were at risk.
- Jonah testified of the true God and creator, and the amazed sailors become Jonah's first converts – even though he was not actively engaged in "mission work" or soul seeking. We can never underestimate the magnetic power of presenting the creator/designer God as Jonah did.

TUESDAY

In the Belly of the Big Fish

The quarterly mentions an interesting tidbit about the phrase "three days and three nights" being an old figure of speech used to express the time needed for the imaginary journey to Sheol, the Hebrew name for the realm of the dead...and also a symbolic pointer to the death and resurrection of Christ, as written in Matthew 12:40

"Jesus said, "You're looking for proof, but you're looking for the wrong kind. All you want is something to titillate your curiosity, satisfy your lust for miracles. The only proof you're going to get is what looks like the absence of proof: Jonah-evidence. Like Jonah, three days and nights in the fish's belly, the Son of Man will be gone three days and nights in a deep grave."

So, down in the belly of the fish, in what looks to be a rather hopeless situation, Jonah finally begins some serious prayer...in the form of a psalm containing five parts:

- Introduction
- Description of the distress
- Cry to God for help
- Report of God's action
- Promise to keep any vow made and testify to God's saving action...sound familiar?

So, after he made his way back onto dry land, Jonah finally accepted his gospel commission and took God's message to the Gentiles...and in so doing became the most successful missionary in the OT.

“Jonah’s rescue witnessed to God’s saving mercy. His seaweed-draped arrival on the beach testified to God’s determination to save even sinful Assyrians from death.” Thoughts about that statement?

WEDNESDAY

The Nineveh Generation

The quarterly points out the two important verbs in the Jonah 3 commission – Go and Proclaim. Go out into the nations versus expecting other nations to come to you...and “Proclaim”, the quarterly says that “Proclamation has always been important in the Bible, and is still the most effective way of spreading the gospel message.” Agree or disagree? Thoughts? And what gospel message are we proclaiming?

Let me read the last several paragraphs in Wednesday’s lesson, in case you missed them...because we always seem to end up back here sooner or later:

“God’s message is generally threat and promise, judgment and gospel. His stark proclamation was, “Forty more days and Nineveh will be overthrown” (vs. 4, NIV). That was the judgment. <Was it? Foreknowledge?> Yet, there was also the promise of hope, of deliverance, of salvation (there must have been because the people heeded the message and were saved). Even with the “everlasting gospel” at the heart of it, Revelation 14:6–12 also warns about judgment. Gospel and judgment go hand-in-hand: the gospel offers us God’s way to avoid the condemnation that judgment would justly bring upon us all Judgment would bring upon us? Who is judgment? The implication here is, of course, God.

So this author is obviously writing from an imposed law point of view here. What is God’s way to avoid the “condemnation” that tying a plastic bag over our heads would justly bring upon us all? What is God’s way to avoid the “condemnation” that a terminal disease would justly bring upon us all? No preaching of the gospel is fully effective unless judgment is taught. “Political correctness,” which leads to a watering down of these stark elements and downplaying differences between religions or even between different Christian traditions, is risky. Though in mission we need to adapt our presentation for the people we are trying to reach (contextualization), we must never do so at the expense of the message God has given us to proclaim.

The pink box states, “God has given us some wonderful promises, and stern warnings too. What should this story teach us about the conditionality of these promises and warnings? Are they conditional? Or are the cause and effect outcomes of natural laws absolutely guaranteed?”

There is a blurb in the teacher’s quarterly about the decline in mission support in our denomination. If Sabbath School mission offering trends are any indicator, then the grand narrative of global outreach has indeed lost a great deal of its shine for Seventh-day Adventists.

In 1932, during the Great Depression, per capita giving to the church’s Sabbath School mission offerings was $5.83 per member for that year. More than eighty years later, with wages exponentially higher, the per capita mission giving was actually lower, with an average of $4.81 per member in 2010. (See Gina Wahlen, “100 Years of Mission Giving,” Adventist World, Nov. 1, 2012, pp. 16–19.) What attitudes do you think are driving this trend? Is it possible the attitude and message in the previous paragraph are what is driving it...our message?

THURSDAY

Jonah’s Lament

Remember the hashtag...#iamjonah. Jonah chapter 4 confirms that the greatest obstacle for God to get his prophet involved in world mission was not distance, wind, sailors, fish, or Ninevites...it was the prophet himself. Jonah is the only person in scriptures who accuses God of being gracious, compassionate, and slow to anger, abounding in love and who relents from sending calamity. One would think most people would view these aspects of God with thankfulness. One would think that...right? Has this been your experience when sharing this message about a God of love? Does anyone think it is by chance or coincidence that this view of God...by one of his prophets...is shared in scripture for us?

The quarterly includes this quote from Prophets and Kings:

“When Jonah learned of God’s purpose to spare the city that, notwithstanding its wickedness, had been led to repent in sackcloth and ashes, he should have been the first to rejoice because of God’s amazing grace; but instead he allowed his mind to dwell upon the possibility of his being regarded as a false prophet. Jealous of his reputation, he lost sight of the infinitely greater value of the souls in that wretched city. The compassion shown by God toward the repentant Ninevites ‘displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was very angry.’ (p. 271)

Does anyone else believe this is prophetic? Have we seen folks get angry when extolling the gracious, compassionate, abounding love and forbearance of a God is not required to punish sins?

We are asked to read Jonah 4:10-11, and describe what these texts teach us about the contrast between God's character and man's sinful nature. Why should we be glad that God, not fellow human beings, is our ultimate Judge? What law lens are you looking through? Why should you be glad that Doctor Moses is diagnosing your orthopedic issues and operating on you...and not me?

How often do we find ourselves more concerned about our own personal issues, many of which at times can really be trivial, than about the lost souls who need healing and transformation? Based on what we have witnessed this past week in our own church.

“In the history of Nineveh there is a lesson which you should study carefully. . . . You must know your duty to your fellow beings who are ignorant and defiled and who need your help.”—Ellen G. White, The Southern Work, p. 80.

What is our duty to these fellow beings? When is the last time we were genuinely upset at the thought of millions of people not knowing Jesus? Are we seeing these folks through God's eyes?

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 5

Exiles as Missionaries

(announcements and GC update at end of notes)

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses on Daniel and Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego as captives in Babylon and Medo-Persia.

Read first paragraph, “Daniel, whose name...” When you think a missionary is, what comes to mind?

Do you think Daniel thought of himself as a missionary? What made him a missionary?

Does this mean, that people in their routine, day-to-day jobs, are also missionaries?

Is a missionary – someone on a mission? Do we have a mission? What is our mission?

Ellen White, one of the founders of the SDA church, said this:

The mission of the church of Christ is to save perishing sinners. It is to make known the love of God to men and to win them to Christ by the efficacy of that love. The truth for this time [what is the truth for this time? The final message of mercy is the truth about God’s character of love!] must be carried into the dark corners of the earth, and this work may begin at home. The followers of Christ should not live selfish lives; but, imbued with the Spirit of Christ, they should work in harmony with Him. {3T 381.1}

There are causes for the present coldness and unbelief. [what might those be?] The love of the world and the cares of life separate the soul from God. [What are these? love of the world just isn’t hedonism, it includes the love of the world’s ways, loving how the world runs its government, and preferring this method to God’s so much one teaches God runs His universe the same way. And cares of life, don’t mean sinful things, but failing to keep balance and allowing healthy activities in excess to overwhelm and exhaust.] The water of life must be in us, [what is the water of life?] and flowing out from us, springing up into everlasting life. We must work out what God works in. [what does this mean? how does this apply to the idea of salvation is by grace and not works versus the idea that without works faith is dead? How does the legal view fail here and the healing view find perfect expression?] If the Christian would enjoy the light of life, he must increase his efforts to bring others to the knowledge of the truth. [what does this look like? and how can this be misdirected?] His life must be characterized by exertion and sacrifices to do others good; and then there will be no complaints of lack of enjoyment. {3T 381.2}

Dann Wyatt one of our online members emailed me this quote from Oswald Chambers this week:

Reconciliation means the restoring of the relationship between the entire human race and God, putting it back to what God designed it to be. [What did God design it to be? What is God working for, legal pardon or restoration to His design?] This is what Jesus Christ did in redemption. [What did Jesus do? He took broken humanity and in His person cured it, restored it to God's design and unity with God. He procured the Remedy, which restores all who partake to unity with God.] The church ceases to be spiritual when it becomes self-seeking, only interested in the development of its own organization. [Wow, do denominations ever get caught into this trap?] The reconciliation of the human race according to His plan means realizing Him not only in our lives individually, but also in our lives collectively. Jesus Christ sent apostles and teachers for this very purpose—that the corporate Person of Christ and His church, made up of many members, might be brought into being and made known. We are not here to develop a spiritual life of our own, or to enjoy a quiet spiritual retreat. We are here to have the full realization of Jesus Christ, for the purpose of building His body. <http://utmost.org/the-spiritually-self-seeking-church/>

Do you agree?

How can the mission of the church be derailed?

- By becoming involved in the issues of the world (politics)
- By coming to love the world and its methods (teaching and practicing the imperial law methodology in the church)
- By focusing only on one's spiritual development and ignoring the community of believers
- By focusing on organizational development rather than the salvation of souls (the Jews who crucified Christ said, "It is better for one man to die than the nation.")
- By sectarian fighting over legal definitions of certain passages, and by focusing on organizational growth, "sheep stealing" rather than delivering individuals from fear and selfishness and establishing them in a love/trust relationship with Jesus Christ and His Father.

Read second paragraph, "The book of Daniel..." What does it mean that they were saved without the priesthood, temple and sacrifices?

Were these rituals needed for the salvation of anyone? No, then why were they given? What was there purpose?

They were merely teaching tools to teach a greater reality, but the rituals had no power to heal from sin.

Did one have to be an Israelite to be saved? (Melchizedek, Nebuchadnezzar, Naaman, the wise men from the east, widow in Zarephath). Then what was the benefit?

And if these people, Jews in Babylon and non-Jews could be saved without the ritual feasts, sacrifices etc., what does this reveal about the idea some are promoting today of the need to observe the OT feast days?

The observation of certain religious rituals or feasts is not a requirement to salvation. The only requirement is partaking of Jesus Christ and being restored into God's design for life. If a particular activity helps in that goal, excellent, then do it.

Think about singing hymns. Do we have to sing hymns to be saved? But could singing hymns help us in our experiencing Christ? Could singing hymns focus our minds, calm our fears, open our hearts, draw us closer in our relationship with God? This is how the various rituals and religious festivals are supposed to function, merely as activities designed to assist in reconnecting us with God for healing and restoration of our hearts and minds.

Read last paragraph, "Every institution..." What was the knowledge Joseph and Daniel took to Egypt and Babylon?

Do we have any evidence they promoted to Pharaoh or the King the weekly Sabbath? The Sanctuary service? What did they present to these people?

They presented a God who is Creator – which means what? What kind of law does the Creator run His universe upon?

- They presented a God who knows the future, who is compassionate, who wants to save. Daniel and his three friends modeled the power of design law in their lifestyle, showing when one puts into their bodies the foods God designed the body to run upon the body, including the brain, is healthier and more effective.
- They also modeled how they were wiser because of worshipping the only true God, another design law – the law of worship.
- They modeled an understanding of how reality works, rather than a religion of superstition, contradictions, irrational beliefs, with which much of religion today struggles.

What is to be the message we are to present? The truth about God – which is what?

Within Christianity as a whole, is the message of God's character of love the primary message that has gone to the world?

What about in our denomination, is the message of God's character of love the central message? Do we struggle with preoccupation with institutional survival to interfere with the actual work of saving souls, the actual work of presenting the truth about God?

MONDAY

Monday's lesson starts with the story of Daniel 2 which is the story of Nebuchadnezzar having a dream that troubles him and telling his wise men they must tell him his dream and interpret it or he will have them all killed. They cannot, and then Daniel and his friends pray and it is revealed to Daniel.

Daniel goes to the king and the king asks, "Are you able to tell me what I saw in my dream and interpret it?" (Dan 2:26)

Now, if you were asked this, wouldn't it be easy, without arrogance or pride, simply to have answered, "Yes, king, I know what you dreamt and what it means."?

But notice Daniel's answer:

Daniel replied, "No wise man, enchanter, magician or diviner can explain to the king the mystery he has asked about,²⁸ but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries. He has shown King Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in days to come. (Dan 2:27-28)

What is the point of Daniel's answer? To give credit to God, to bring the king an awareness of the Creator! What was the purpose of the dream? What was the dream?

Daniel had a perspective that was not self-focused, not focused on saving his own life. He realized that this was opportunity to enlighten Nebuchadnezzar, thus his answer is about revealing eternal truth to the king, rather than answer in a way that protects himself. This was a love-based answer!

What is the rock that crushes described in the dream? It is the kingdom of God, which is founded upon what? Jesus – what does it mean that the rock crushes? What does it crush? How does it crush?

From the Remedy 1 Pet 2:6-9 it says:

This is exactly what the Scripture is talking about:

"See, I will put a Stone in the land of promise, an especially chosen, perfect, foundation Stone, and whoever trusts in him and is put in harmony with him will never be put to shame."

⁷For you, who know and trust God, this Stone is life's one true treasure; but to those who don't know and trust God, "This Stone was thought to be worthless and rejected, but is actually the one upon which all life is built.

⁹But you who trust God and build upon the Stone are a select and special people, royal ministers of God's healing Remedy, a clean and purified nation, a people whose hearts and minds are in unity and oneness with God, that you may commend, with your words and lives, him who called you out of the darkness of fear and selfishness into his wonderful light of truth and love.

The lesson points out that when the three were thrown in the fiery furnace that Nebuchadnezzar recognized the fourth as one like the Son of God because the captive Hebrews told him about God.

Why didn't Nebuchadnezzar already know about God? Weren't the Jews supposed to be a kingdom of priests to tell the entire world about God?

Why were they in captivity? Because they refused God's protection and God removed his restraining hand and the Babylonians took them captive, and in this situation the Holy Spirit was still working with both Daniel and his friends and on the pagan king. What lesson do we learn for today?

Read bottom green section, "How important..." When is character most clearly revealed? During good times or during trials?

- Trials reveal character – because it is an opportunity to uncover whether one is concerned with others or self (recent movie in which a person who seemed magnanimous, until a earthquake hit and then it was all watch out for himself)
- Use of money – the widow and her mites
- At the GC our booth was the only one that gave away everything and didn't sell anything. People were stunned and kept commenting how can we do it? Or, they couldn't believe it.
- When the Jews were plotting against Jesus and lying about Him, criticizing Him, He didn't retaliate, but treated them with love. We have tried to model this, by refusing to retaliate against those who have gone around and said negative things about us, instead just focus on telling the truth about God.
- We discovered the power of having a message to share, of having the message of God's truth and love to share, in comparison to some persons who focus on criticizing and fault finding in others.

TUESDAY

The Persians overthrow Babylon and what happens to Daniel? What does this imply? What amazing person Daniel must have been to have been kept in a position of leadership by a conquering force.

The king gets tricked into throwing Daniel into the lion's den, and we all know what happens—but read the second paragraph, which is quoting Daniel 6:25-27: "Then King Darius..." thoughts?

What motivated Darius to do this?

- Did Darius believe in Daniel's God?

- What does it appear, from this Scripture, that Darius understands about God?
 - That God is powerful, creator, enduring
 - Does this proclamation indicate Darius understood God's character and methods of love? Why or why not?
 - What method did Darius use to "evangelize" about God?
 - A governmental edict forcing worship – this is consistent with viewing God through imposed law lenses, which is the great infection of Christianity. Notice, Darius is converted away from his false god to the true God of Daniel, but still views the true God through the lens of dictatorship. This is what has happened to Christianity – exchanged the truth of God's law of love for a lie, that God's law is rules imposed.

WEDNESDAY

Read top paragraph, "Daniel was not merely..." What do you think about the meaning of this? Is God the one causing the events in nations or God foreknows the events and thus can accurately predict them?

Did God cause Nebuchadnezzar to invade Israel? Did God cause the Israelites to worship false gods and thus reject God's protection? Were the Babylonians a country of conscientious objectors that were forced by God to invade Israel? Did God cause the Persians to invade Babylon? Whose spirit is inciting selfishness, pride, power-seeking, leading to war? Does the Holy Spirit bring division and fighting? So is God causing these events, or accurately foretelling what He knows will transpire?

Consider Daniel 10:12-13, 20:

Then he continued, "Do not be afraid, Daniel. Since the first day that you set your mind to gain understanding and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard, and I have come in response to them. ¹³ But the prince of the Persian kingdom resisted me twenty-one days. Then Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, because I was detained there with the king of Persia. ¹⁴ Now I have come to explain to you what will happen to your people in the future, for the vision concerns a time yet to come."... ²⁰ So he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? Soon I will return to fight against the prince of Persia, and when I go, the prince of Greece will come;

Who is the prince of Persia? Satan is called the prince of this world, so the prince of Persia, who fights against God's angels, would be who? One of Satan's minions, as would be the prince of Greece, and what is the battlefield these angels are fighting upon? The mind of the king of Persia – the time for the fulfillment of prophecy of 70 years captivity and the release of the Jews has come. Gabriel is working to enlighten the king of Persia and inspire him with love and truth, the prince of Persia is working to obstruct truth and incite selfishness.

Now, why is Michael the only one left to help Gabriel? If only 1/3 of the angels fell with Satan, and 2/3's are still on God's side, why is Michael the only one who can help Gabriel, but the prince of Persia can get help from the prince of Greece?

Because this isn't a battle over numbers, or power, or might, it is a battle of truth and love versus lies and selfishness. Gabriel took the position vacated by Lucifer, thus there is no created being with greater knowledge of God's character of love. Only Jesus, God Himself possessed more truth and love than Gabriel, thus only Jesus is left to bring additional truth and love about God to bear in the heart and mind of the king! The prince of Greece can come help the prince of Persia because multiple lies can be told from variety of different perspectives inciting fear and selfishness.

Read third paragraph, "And this gospel..." What is the gospel of the kingdom? What is the abomination that causes desolation?

Imperialism – in all its form – so:

- When the Roman legions surrounded Israel using imposed rules, power, coercion and infliction of punishment and death, they surrounded the theater, and in graphic display acted out what happens when such methods are used—pain, suffering, famine, rebellion, death
- When Constantine converted and the spirit temple was surrounded by imperialism in the form of changing the idea of God's law from the design law of love, to imperial rules which require force and imposed punishment, what happened? Pain, suffering, famine of truth and love, desolation of the character of people who took the name Christian, rebellion, war, crusades, torture, intolerance, destruction and the darkest time in human history.
- Today, when Christianity presents God operating no differently than a sinful human government the minds of men are infected, the characters corrupted and desolation of godliness results, which will lead to a recurrence in the world of a time in which religious people will seek to control governments to enforce their methods.

Here is a quote from the book The Great Controversy:

"When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoso readeth, let him understand:) then let them which be in Judea flee into the mountains." Matthew 24:15, 16; Luke 21:20, 21. When the idolatrous standards of the Romans should be set up in the holy ground, which extended some furlongs outside the city walls, then the followers of Christ were to find safety in flight. {GC 25.4}

Notice the idolatrous standards – what are the idolatrous standards, merely the poles that carried the Roman symbols or something else?

Israel is an object lesson. Israel represents the world, the non-priests the unconverted people, the priests the converted people, the temple God's body of believers being healed and reconciled to Him through Christ.

The Romans and their pagan standards represent Satan's war against God's truth to surround the world with such pagan views of God that no one, Christian or non-Christian can see the truth about God.

The law of Jehovah was burdened with needless exactions and traditions, and God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God. Jesus came to teach men of the Father, to correctly represent him before the fallen children of earth. Angels could not fully portray the character of God, but Christ, who was a living impersonation of God, could not fail to accomplish the work. The only way in which he could set and keep men right was to make himself visible and familiar to their eyes. That men might have salvation he came directly to man, and became a partaker of his nature...

Christ exalted the character of God, attributing to him the praise, and giving to him the credit, of the whole purpose of his own mission on earth,--to set men right through the revelation of God. [to set right is to justify] In Christ was arrayed before men the paternal grace and the matchless perfections of the Father. In his prayer just before his crucifixion, he declared, "I have manifested thy name." "I have glorified thee on the earth; I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." When the object of his mission was attained,--the revelation of God to the world,--the Son of God announced that his work was accomplished, and that the character of the Father was made manifest to men. {ST, January 20, 1890}

When Constantine converted the church was infected with the lie that God's law is like human law, rules imposed. The minds of humanity became surrounded with such distortions that they came to conceive of God as one who is arbitrary, severe, unforgiving and who is the source of inflicted punishments upon the wicked. This is the abomination of lies that desolates the true church of God.

Thousands have a false conception of God and His attributes. They are as verily serving a false god as were the servants of Baal. Are we worshiping the true God as He is revealed in His Word, in Christ, in nature, or are we adoring some philosophical idol enshrined in His place? God is a God of truth. Justice and mercy are the attributes of His throne. He is a God of love, of pity and tender compassion. Thus He is represented in His Son, our Saviour. He is a God of patience and long-suffering. If such is the being whom we adore and to whose character we are seeking to assimilate, we are worshiping the true God. {FLB 59.8}

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “Daniel was an...” Wasn’t the decree to return to Israel and rebuild the temple before the events in the book of Esther? So, was Esther there “involuntarily”?

Notice the contrast between Esther and Daniel – what stands out to you?

What is the critical issue, the specific behavior, or the heart motive to love others, be willing to sacrifice self, loyalty to God?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss the questions

Update from General Conference of SDA 2015, San Antonio, TX:

First I want to thank God for His amazing blessing in enabling this ministry to have a booth at the GC event. I also want to thank this class, who five years ago chose to help establish this ministry and has faithfully supported us. I also want to thank our online, worldwide class who also has been supporting us. Without all of you we could never have had such a successful event. Finally I want to specifically thank those who volunteered their time to come to San Antonio and help us man the booth:

- Dean and Zoe Scott
- Jim and Carla Harris (from Michigan)
- Russell Atkins
- Lori Atkins
- Chip and Laurie Liles
- Dennis and Kathy Kiley
- Cirsten Weldon
- Christie Jennings
- Luann Serafine (from California)
- Simon Harrison (from Australia)
- James and Donna Ehrlich
- Special guest helper (Kara Dale from Australia)

Our booth at the Exhibit Hall at the GC 2015 in San Antonio was an overwhelming success. We had people come up to us from all over the world, (Canada, Mexico, Costa Rica, Brazil, Argentina, Bermuda, Trinidad, Dominican Republic, Jamaica, England, Sweden, Germany, France, China, Singapore, Australia, New Zealand, Jordan, Taiwan, Botswana, Kenya, Congo, Puerto Rico, and others I can't remember) many in tears of joy, telling us how much our ministry means to them, how they listen to our classes, watch our DVDs and how their lives have been changed.

We had others, many others, who took the material for the first time and then brought friends the next day to get material telling us how they started reading or watching the night before and found it was already changing their lives. More pastors than we can count came up and told us how much the material is helping, and many took boxes back to distribute in their churches. Union and Conference officials from various parts of the world came by and told us what a blessing our ministry was for them and requested material for their pastors. One Union Ministerial Director has requested 500 of each of our DVDs to give to every pastor in his union.

I was interviewed on an FM radio station MCU 91.1, 91.3, 91.5 in Jamaica, which broadcast while we were there and the host came to our booth the next day telling us what incredibly positive feedback they were already receiving.

I did three Hope Channel interviews, one already broadcast, the others to broadcast later.

We took 10,000 each of God and Your Brain, Healing the Mind and God and Your Church, 10,000 each of CIBTS English and Spanish and 12,500 Study Guides, along with other cards and flyers.

We gave out all 10,000 of the Healing the Mind and somewhere around 9000 of each of the other DVDs, about 8000 of each of the CIBTS and 7500 of the Study Guides.

Dean is writing an article to submit to the Southern Tidings about our Ministry and booth at the GC. He asked those involved to share any thoughts or moments from their time at the GC. Luann Serafine, one of our online class members, who came to the GC just to help us at our booth spent several days with us and sent this:

A year ago, thereabouts, a friend told me to go to a website...he said, "I think you will really appreciate it." So, I did just that.

*Amazingly, what I found that day on the Come and Reason Ministries website (and what I continue to find) is an open invitation to join the ongoing dynamic and robust conversation - about all the things that really matter in this life!

Part of my professional background includes approximately a decade immersed in emergency services, fire, rescue, medical transport, with an additional 20 years of trauma, emergency nursing beyond that.

While working to help patients in my care, I have listened to story after story. The similarities we all share have become very visible to me. A common thread might read, "my day started like any other...I was...and then - it just happened so fast – now everything has changed." The unthinkable circumstance or event shows up at the door. And thus, the difficult conversations come to all of us whether we are prepared or not. As a nurse, I continue to find myself very briefly in the midst of someone else's story, and perhaps a pivot point in life. Each time it happens it is clear I have been handed a role to play.

The critical question for me has always been, 'so what do you have to give them right now that will be real, and have lasting and meaningful value?' It takes only a few passes in this scenario for a person to discover that all the conventional, traditional religious or scripted secular answers (those I was given in my past or in my training) fall woefully deficient in the face of raw reality.

At Come and Reason Ministries I have found tools to help others, and myself, in just these kinds of moments.

Come and Reason Ministry is a community of people, a team, unafraid to look at the reality of the world we live in. Open minds willing to study and think through biblical principles – applying these concepts to every aspect of our existence here as it really is. I have discovered a sanctuary of contemplative free thought in this community of people. By using the online presentations at C&R, the seemingly divergent and disconnected ideas of the past are now melting away. Conflicting concepts are now merging seamlessly into a beautiful cacophony of integrated truth about God's love, about the freedom He has handed to us that we may know truth and live love abundantly. These tools have changed my life.

When you discover truth that has the power to change your world, and change the lives of those around you - how can you not want to jump in and help share these same tools and resources with anyone and everyone who will listen?

In San Antonio, TX, only a few blocks away from the Texas shrine of freedom...The Alamo, I saw hundreds of people from the four corners of the earth truly free to search for truth. I watched those who took a moment to stop at the Come and Reason Ministries booth, and indulge in the freedom of thought God calls us into, exploring ideas and concepts about His love.

In the eyes of so many, I saw the same light of understanding go on. Over and over, I can still see the many smiles of excitement – and how folks would return with their friends. One very tall woman, beautiful, articulate - educated, wearing a lovely purple dress stands out in my mind. As some of us spoke with her I could see her eyes dance as she experienced rapid-fire 'aha' moments.

It was such a joy to place into the hands of so many people, free to them, the very tools that have been helping me over the past year.

We can all see that the whole world is now deeply embroiled in a war where the real theater of battle is in the mind, in our thoughts, contained in our world-views of how life should be and how God operates His Universe. Thank you Come and Reason Ministry team for reaching out to all of us – helping us to have the conversations that are very overdue. Waking us up to the awareness that God has already handed us the most powerful weapons in the universe to win this war against evil, sickness, loss, and death.

These are truth, freedom, and love – and they are best revealed through the heart and life of our Lord Jesus – our most intimate friend...forever.

Luann's beautiful testimony represents so many verbal testimonies we heard from all over the world during the GC. Thanks to each one of you for enabling this ministry to share this message with the world.

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 6

Esther and Mordecai

SABBATH

Read the first three paragraphs, "Esther was used..." What do you think of the idea of Esther's faithfulness?

We are looking at it from thousands of years downstream, through the perspective of history. Try for a moment to put yourself as one of her contemporaries, would you have viewed her as being faithful?

What does it mean to be faithful? Faithful to what or to whom?

- Were Esther and her uncle Mordecai following the Lord's directions for their lives?
- From the book Prophets and Kings we have this commentary:

Under the favor shown them by Cyrus, nearly fifty thousand of the children of the captivity had taken advantage of the decree permitting their return. These, however, in comparison with the hundreds of thousands scattered throughout the provinces of Medo-Persia, were but a mere remnant. The great majority of the Israelites had chosen to remain in the land of their exile rather than undergo the hardships of the return journey and the re-establishment of their desolated cities and homes. {PK 598.1}

A score or more of years passed by, when a second decree, quite as favorable as the first, was issued by Darius Hystaspes, the monarch then ruling. Thus did God in mercy provide another opportunity for the Jews in the Medo-Persian realm to return to the land of their fathers. The Lord foresaw the troublous times that were to follow during the reign of Xerxes,--the Ahasuerus of the book of Esther,--and He not only wrought a change of feeling in the hearts of men in authority, but also inspired Zechariah to plead with the exiles to return. {PK 598.2}

"Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the north," was the message given the scattered tribes of Israel who had become settled in many lands far from their former home. "I have spread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, saith the Lord. Deliver thyself, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babylon. For thus saith the Lord of hosts; After the glory hath He sent me unto the nations which spoiled you: for he that toucheth you toucheth the apple of His eye. For, behold, I will shake mine hand upon them, and they shall be a spoil to their servants: and ye shall know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me." Zechariah 2:6-9.... {PK 599.1}

It was those "whose spirit God had raised" (Ezra 1:5) who had returned under the decree of Cyrus. But God ceased not to plead with those who voluntarily remained in the land of their exile, and through manifold agencies He made it possible for them also to return. The large number, however, of those who failed to respond to the decree of Cyrus, remained unimpressible to later influences; and even when Zechariah warned them to flee from Babylon without further delay, they did not heed the invitation. {PK 599.3}

- Which group of Jews did Esther and Mordecai fall into, those who faithfully returned to Israel or those who remained “unimpressed”?
- So, were Esther and Mordecai obedient to God’s plan, going where He instructed or not?
- Did God cast them off or turn His back on them?
- Did Esther and Mordecai, and the rest of the Jews who remained, suffer hardship and difficulty they might have avoided, had they followed God’s plan from the beginning?

How would you define faithful? The lesson states she worked “undercover”

- Do we view acting in ways to deceive as being faithful?
- Does working undercover meaning purposely choosing to mislead?
- And, BEFORE Esther became queen, what did the interview process with the king entail?

Before each young woman was taken to the king’s bed, she was given the prescribed twelve months of beauty treatments—six months with oil of myrrh, followed by six months with special perfumes and ointments. ¹³ When it was time for her to go to the king’s palace, she was given her choice of whatever clothing or jewelry she wanted to take from the harem. ¹⁴ That evening she was taken to the king’s private rooms, and the next morning she was brought to the second harem,* where the king’s wives lived. There she would be under the care of Shaashgaz, the king’s eunuch in charge of the concubines. She would never go to the king again unless he had especially enjoyed her and requested her by name.

¹⁵ Esther was the daughter of Abihail, who was Mordecai’s uncle. (Mordecai had adopted his younger cousin Esther.) When it was Esther’s turn to go to the king, she accepted the advice of Hegai, the eunuch in charge of the harem. She asked for nothing except what he suggested, and she was admired by everyone who saw her. Esther 2:12-15

If Esther was your daughter would you have advised her to tell the king, we can only talk, but for the rest, we must wait until marriage?

Or, was it part of her “undercover” work to do this, obviously no Persian woman would object, so if she objected she would reveal her beliefs were based on something other than the pagan gods of Persia.

So, how was Esther faithful?

So what did she do? She put her life on the line to save others. She was safe in her position; she could continue to hide who she was, but she instead chose to risk her own life in order to try and save others. This was an act of love, this act, more than anything else, modeled, revealed, demonstrated, God's character of love and thus was faithful to God and His kingdom of love.

This is the faithfulness we see in Rahab—who is in the hall of faith because even though she hid spies and lied, her heart action was one of self-sacrificial love. She wasn't lying to protect herself, or thinking of herself, she was protecting others to the best of her ability from evil forces.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read from the first chapter of Esther, the account of the king's party, drunkenness, requesting Queen Vashti to dance, her refusal and banishment.

In the first paragraph it states, "Whatever her response, she faced a dilemma of losing status, and her courageous choice to retain self-esteem in the face of an autocratic ruler's base desires prepares the reader to understand the power for good that a principled woman could exert, even in a male-dominated royal court."

What principle, according to the lesson, did the queen stand for? Herself – her pride, her reputation, her self-esteem—is that a godly principle?

Why do they validate this as noble? Is it noble to stand for one's pride, to refuse actions that would humiliate and demean us?

When Jesus was being mistreated, should he have stood on principle of retaining self-esteem and refused to be demeaned and lose status?

Why does the lesson validate this self-first principle? Because when one looks through the lens of imposed law, one focuses on the right behavior – since her behavior was "right" in refusing to indulge the lewd request, the authors sought a motivation that caused the behavior. In this case, it was self-esteem, pride. I think the authors are probably right in identifying pride as the reason for Vashti's refusal, however, is this to be validated as honorable?

Which is better to do the wrong action for the right reason or the right action for the wrong reason?

Just look at what God blessed – Vashti stands up for self and is desposed, Esther sacrifices self for others and is blessed. Rahab sacrifices self for others and is blessed. (Both Esther and Rahab did actions that are outside the 10 Commandments, but heart motive was right)

Jesus said in MT 5...

Much of the Christian world falls into the Vashti trap, looking through imposed law lens, they validate prideful, selfish behavior as honorable if it behaviorally follows within their rule set. These were the Pharisees in Christ's day. They would find honorable the son who donated his property to Corban, and refused to care for his family.

Of course, what God ultimately wants is maturity of character that is intelligent and understands His design and purposes so that the motives and behaviors are in perfect harmony. But in the maturing process, heart motive is what matters, not the specific behavior—so back to Vashti:

Could her refusal of the king have been an act of love—could Vashti have loved her husband and realized he had put himself in a compromising situation and she weighed which course would cause him the least eternal damage—refusing him and thus causing political embarrassment, or agreeing and adding the guilt of debasing his wife to his conscience?

Was it God's desire for these events to happen? Did God cause the king to get drunk and demand his wife dance? Did God cause Vashti to refuse?

- Were the king's motives in sending for Vashti motives of godly love?
- Was Vashti's refusal motivated by love?
- So, then, were these actions fruits of the Spirit of love?
- Who is the motivator toward selfishness?
- What happens when selfishness rules our decision-making?

Read bottom green section, "So far in the story..." Do you agree we should stand on principles? And is there a difference between principles and rules? But do the principles one is standing for matter?

- Do parents, of certain religious groups, who refuse to give their children life-saving medicine stand on principle? What principles?
- Do people who vandalize abortion clinics do so on principle? What principle?
- Do people who refuse to eat out on Sabbath stand on principle? What principle?

Here is a photograph of a sign in the window of a public restaurant, called Schilo, in San Antonio during the GC

The voucher is a piece of paper, purchased for $10.00 that one would use on Sabbath and exchange for food. In principle, what is the difference from using the voucher on Sabbath, than using a piece of paper with a US President on it?

- Were the Jews who crucified Christ standing on principle? The principle of self-preservation?
- Will the persecuting powers who constitute the beast of Revelation and persecute God's children do so on principle? What principle?

Does our view of God and His law make a difference as to what principles we hold?

So, we do need to stand on principle—but do we need to identify upon which principles we are standing?

I was listening to Moody radio this week and they were discussing God’s character and they were making the point that most important thing in a person’s life is the view of God they hold.

They went on and talked about the parable of the landowner who hired workers at different times of the day. They explained it as God being able to do what He wants with His resources and how humans have selfish motives that interpret things through a “what is earned” mentality, and that with God we don’t earn anything.

Are there other ways to understand the parable? What difference when we understand the parable through design law, the reality to which the parable is actually pointing?

In the parable each of the workers received the same wage, a denarius. What does the coin represent? What is the reality? What is the wage that is paid by God to those who work in His field? A healed character, reconciliation with God and eternal life, it is not an arbitrary payment, it is design law payment, thus it is fair. And the opposite payment is likewise design law – as the Bible says, “the wages of sin is death.”

Now, in the parable, who had the advantage, those who experienced God’s love and truth, converted, gave up fear and selfishness as their prime motive for life, and entered into the field of God’s service early in life like Daniel, or those who are like the thief on the cross, enter at the last hour?

It is only when we see through imposed law lenses, which is the payment of a coin, an arbitrarily determined compensation/reward, that an unfairness element enters.

Jesus told this parable to show them how their imposed law view fails, how thinking through that lens creates tension and factions and divides, and thus challenged them to rethink – God’s universe is somehow different than what we think.

Sadly, many Christians today still struggle to understand the reality of this parable as they are stuck in imposed law views.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Esther’s decision, based on Mordecai’s instruction, to conceal her Jewish identity? What do you think about this?

Is there a difference from withholding information and actively seeking to obstruct, obscure or intentionally mislead?

In this case, was it merely not disclosing, (like Christ did to His disciples, “I have much to tell you but you cant yet bear it”) or was it actively misleading?

From the SDA Bible commentary on Esther 2:7:

'Ester. This may possibly be a Persian loan word. It closely resembles Stâreh, a modern Persian name meaning “star.” This name is transliterated into Greek as Aster or Esther (LXX). The Greek root aster appears in such English words as “aster,” “star,” and “asteroid,” which means “starlike.” The Babylonian form of the word was Ishtar, which became Ashtoreth (plural Ashtaroth) and Astartē in Greek. In Babylon the planet Venus was deified as Ishtar. Mordecai’s selection of a Persian name may have been due to a desire to conceal Esther’s Jewish ancestry (v. 10).¹

Is it sin to actively conceal information? What did Jesus mean when He said, “Don’t cast your pearls...”?

The lesson contrasts Jesus’ conversation with the woman at the well, where He openly disclosed that He was the Messiah, to His refusal to openly declare this to the Jewish leadership and asks why the difference – thoughts?

Was it about what Jesus understood the various persons would do with the information? In the case of the woman at the well Jesus knew she would use it to spread the gospel. But what would the Jewish leaders have done if Jesus had declared to them He was the Messiah? Would they not have used this to crucify Him for blasphemy?

But did Jesus ever seek to actively mislead people in regard to His identity? He might not have made a verbal declaration of His identity to some, but He also never sought to conceal His identity.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “In Esther...” Do you agree with the lesson, Mordecai was following the commandment – the commandment says don’t do it, so I don’t do it?

It could be that; it could be Mordecai was only keeping a rule, level four and below action. But couldn’t it be much more?

- Couldn’t Mordecai be at level five development and have actually had a relationship with God and loved God and thus refused to betray that love relationship and refused to be disloyal to God?
- Couldn’t it be that Mordecai was at level six development and understood the law of worship and that to worship any man would not only violate the law of love, but damage everyone involved and Mordecai would not collude with actions that would destroy himself and others?

- Couldn't it be that he was at level seven and understood God had a purpose and would work through the lives of those who trust Him to bring about great good if they stay faithful, and thus he chose not to bow as part of God's greater purpose?

Why do we always have to make it about rules and obeying rules?

What do you think of the famous words of Mordecai to Esther, "Who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

The lesson asks: in what way does this apply to your life?

WEDNESDAY

Read bottom paragraph, "Though Mordecai..." What is the balance between loyalty to God and the state? Are they the same?

Are we to have loyalty to the state? Where does "render to Caesar what is Caesar's" begin and end?

Does the state have a claim on your heart? On your love? On your conscience?

What does it have a claim on? On your cooperation with its governance in harmony with God's design... so does the state have a claim on your cooperation with...

- Slavery
- Jim Crow laws
- taxes?
- What about when taxes are used by the state to fund activities against your conscience?

How do we find that balance between our loyalty and love for God and our country?

Have you ever travelled in a foreign country? While you were there did you enjoy it? Did you obey their laws? But did you care about their politics? Why or why not? If you didn't care about their politics was it because, even though you were in their country, you were not of their country?

Is this how we are to be as Christians, in the world, but not of the world? Do we get derailed when we get too emotionally tied to national identity?

Which government on earth represents God's government? So, good Christians are to be the best citizens, loyal to good living, obedient to laws for social order, safety, and functioning of society, but not burdened with trying to reform the government to become God's kingdom on earth.

Instead, Christians focus on spreading the truth about God to remedy the sin-condition of every human being on planet earth.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “No question...” What do you think about fear-based evangelism? How can fear be used appropriately in today’s society, and how is it misused?

- Should we be afraid to jump off the Empire State building?
- Is it wrong to teach our children to fear walking out into traffic?
- Should we be afraid of partaking illegal drugs—why? Because they are illegal and one might get arrested and prosecuted by the state? Or are we afraid of the damage the drugs will do to our brains and bodies?
- Can we present the gospel in a way that incites fear – but fear of what? Fear of unremedied sin, it sears the conscience, warps the character, destroys relationships, incites fear, guilt, shame, damages the health and results in pain, suffering and death! Why? Because sin is deviation from how God constructed life to operate and it is always damaging.
- But, what about when evangelism presents a message that causes people to be afraid of God? What happens when God is presented as the one who inflicts pain, suffering, death on law breakers? What happens when people are taught that sin is wrong because God gets angry and God keeps records to judge and inflict torture and suffering upon the unrepentant? It might convert people to systems of religion, but such teaching does not bring people to love and trust God. Instead, they live in fear of God and create false theologies to protect themselves from Him.

FRIDAY

Read top paragraph, “The decree...” Who do you think trampled the Sabbath commandment more, the Roman centurion who came to Jesus and asked to have his servant healed, but never kept a Sabbath, OR the Jews who put Christ on the Cross and wanted Him off by sunset in order to “keep” the Sabbath?

Which were the greatest Sabbath breakers and why?

Of what is the Sabbath a sign? Of God’s creatorship, which calls us back to be aware of what? How God’s universe runs, how it is designed and created to operate, back to His law, which is design law. Further, it is a sign that God is the One who makes us holy, or heals us, and restores us back to His original design, which again is design law.

The Sabbath is holy because it was made that way. No amount of sinful living on the Sabbath can change the holiness of the Sabbath. So, when the Commandment says: “Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy...” It means, remember to keep yourselves holy, because the only way to keep the Sabbath holy is to be holy people, which means having been reborn to have the law of God written on the heart and mind.

The specific actions are not the primary issue; it is the heart/mind/character of the person that determines whether they are keeping the Sabbath holy.

The Sabbath was created in the midst of a war over God's trustworthiness, when God is being accused of ruling His universe with the same methods created beings use—imposed rules enforced with coercive pressure. The Sabbath is evidence this allegation is a lie, because during creation week of planet earth God is presenting truth in love and then steps back and rests His case giving all intelligences freedom to think for themselves. It is just the opposite of an imposed rule; it is the creation of perpetual freedom to think.

But the system of the beast is a system that operates like beasts operate, and how do beasts operate? By coercion, kill or be killed, survival-of-the-fittest. Thus human governments make laws, and use power to force compliance on pain and death. The mark of the beast is the mark of this type of governing, those who agree that God actually works this way and makes up rules and inflicts punishments mark themselves in their foreheads. Those who go along for advantage practicing methods of coercive pressure mark themselves in their hands as practicing the methods of the beast.

Sadly, many Christians are looking for a God to come and operate just like the beast, use power to coerce and pressure conformity and punish those who don't conform.

Read question 2, "Both ancient..." How did the cannon come to be? Why are some books in and some books out? Did God choose which books are in and which are out? God inspired writers to write, but who selected which got in? Why do some Bibles include the Apocrypha and others do not?

- 13. Temple service

 - e. Hosea: going after his wayward wife
 - f. “In every page, whether history, or precept, or prophecy, the Old Testament Scriptures are irradiated with the glory of the Son of God. So far as it was of divine institution, the entire system of Judaism was a compacted prophecy of the gospel. To Christ “give all the prophets witness.” Acts 10:43. From the promise given to Adam, down through the patriarchal line and the legal economy, heaven’s glorious light made plain the footsteps of the Redeemer. Seers beheld the Star of Bethlehem, the Shiloh to come, as future things swept before them in mysterious procession. In every sacrifice Christ’s death was shown. In every cloud of incense His righteousness ascended. By every jubilee trumpet His name was sounded. In the awful mystery of the holy of holies His glory dwelt.” {DA 211.5}

15. Monday: The Desire of Ages

a. Read the Preface to the Desire of Ages

In the hearts of all mankind, of whatever race or station in life, there are inexpressible longings for something they do not now possess. This longing is implanted in the very constitution of man by a merciful God, that man may not be satisfied with his present conditions or attainments, whether bad, or good, or better. God desires that the human shall seek the best, and find it to the eternal blessing of his soul.

Satan, by wily scheme and craft, has perverted these longings of the human heart. He makes men believe that this desire may be satisfied by pleasure, by wealth, by ease, by fame, by power; but those who have been thus deceived by him (and they number myriads) find all these things pall upon the sense, leaving the soul as barren and unsatisfied as before.

It is God’s design that this longing of the human heart should lead to the one who alone is able to satisfy it. The desire is of Him that it may lead to Him, the fullness and fulfillment of that desire. That fullness is found in Jesus the Christ, the Son of the Eternal God. “For it was the good pleasure of the Father that in Him should all the fullness dwell;” “For in Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.” And it is also true that “In Him ye are made full” with respect to every desire divinely implanted and normally followed.

Haggai calls him “The Desire of all nations,” and we may well call him “The Desire of all ages,” even as He is “The King of ages.”

1. The desire of everyone everywhere
2. It was also the desire of the universe: Other angels and other worlds “desire to look” into the mysteries of God’s love. (See 1 Peter 1:12)

2. Tuesday: Mission to the Jews

3. “Multitudes who were not interested in the harangues of the rabbis were attracted by His teaching. They could understand His words, and their hearts were warmed and comforted. He spoke of God, not as an avenging judge, but as a tender father, and He revealed the image of God as mirrored in Himself. His words were like balm to the wounded spirit. Both by His words and by His works of mercy He was breaking the oppressive power of the old traditions and man-made commandments, and presenting the love of God in its exhaustless fullness.” {DA 204.4}

4. Why was Christ sent “only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel”

5. Why did Christ send the 12 disciples to the Jews only, and then in the great commission send them to the world?

1. Why were they sent to the Jews first?

1. The prejudice of the Jews would have kept them from hearing the message if it was given in a different order
 2. God gives us what we need. That may not be the eventual best, but “we might not be able to stand it”
 3. The sequence of Acts 1:8 was due to the hardness of their hearts. The compassionate heart of God was yearning for all to hear his message of love.
6. They were the only people that had a religious language that would enable them to understand.
1. John 3:3 “Unless one is born again he cannot see the kingdom of God”
 1. One meaning of this is that unless you have ‘ears to hear’ God’s word, you cannot comprehend what God is saying
 2. The children of Israel did have an advantage in being prepped for Christ’s coming
 3. Few took advantage of that blessing
 4. The leaders were blinded to the message by their hardened hearts and minds
 5. It is a warning to us about the difficulty of comprehending what we are hardened against.
7. At the bottom paragraph: the concept of a established center for a foundation for missions.
1. Is this valid?
 2. Is this the only way of working?
 3. Is this the best way of working?
 4. Read 2 Kings 5:1 - 6
 1. How far apart were these two cities? 135 - 150 mi
 2. He was sent with 750 pounds of silver, 150 pounds of gold, and ten changes of clothes as a gift.
 3. Tell me again about the center of evangelism that prompted this result.
 5. Where was the center of evangelism for Elijah?
 6. Abraham
 7. How was the news of the gospel spread during the first century?
 1. Was the center of Jerusalem the organized force that planned and spread the good news?
 2. Read Acts 8:1 - 5, 12, 25

The Place of Visitation Evangelism in Finishing God’s Work on Earth—How can the great work of the third angel’s message be accomplished? It must be largely accomplished by persevering, individual effort, by visiting the people in their homes.—Historical Sketches, 150. {WM 97.1}

1. One of the most effective ways in which light can be communicated is by private, personal effort. In the home circle, at your neighbor’s fireside, at the bedside of the sick, in a quiet way you may read the Scriptures and speak a word for Jesus and the truth. Thus you may sow precious seed that will spring up and bring forth fruit.—Testimonies for the Church 6:428, 429.

Repaid a Thousand Times—Wake up, brethren and sisters. Don’t be afraid of good works. Be not weary in well-doing, for you shall reap in due time if you faint not.... Encourage in yourselves a love of hospitality, a love to help those who need help.

You may say you have been deceived, bestowing your means upon those unworthy of your charity, and therefore have become discouraged in trying to help the needy. I present Jesus before you.... One soul wrenched from Satan's grasp; one soul you have benefited; one soul encouraged! This will a thousand times pay you for all your efforts. To you Jesus will say, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me." Should we not ladly do all we can to imitate the life of our divine Lord?—The Review and Herald, April 20, 1886.

Vital to Our Own Eternal Destiny—As you engage in this work you have companions unseen by human eyes. Angels of heaven were beside the Samaritan who cared for the wounded stranger. Angels from the heavenly courts stand by all who do God's service in ministering to their fellow-men. And you have the cooperation of Christ Himself. He is the Restorer, and as you work under His supervision you will see great results. Upon your faithfulness in this work, not only the well-being of others, but your own eternal destiny depends.—Christ's Object Lessons, 388.

Christ Enters the Homes With Them—The Lord desires that the truth shall come close to the people, and this can be accomplished only by personal labor. Much is comprehended in the command, "Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that My house may be filled." There is a work to be done in this line that has not yet been done. Let God's workers teach the truth in families, drawing close to those for whom they labor. If they thus cooperate with God, He will clothe them with spiritual power. Christ will guide them in their work, entering the houses of the people with them and giving them words to speak that will sink deep into the hearts of the listeners. The Holy Spirit will open hearts and minds to receive the rays coming from the Source of all light.—The Review and Herald, December 29, 1904.

Bring Hope to the People—It is impossible for the man who believes in Christ to see the work that needs to be done and yet do nothing. Daily we are to receive from Heaven the healing balm of God's grace to impart to the needy and suffering. Christ's followers are to learn of the woes of the poor in their immediate vicinity and seek to bring them relief. Those who have a dark and disagreeable life are the very ones whom we should bid to hope because Christ is their Saviour. Are there not those who can go from house to house, from family to family, and repeat the A B C of true Christian experience?—The Review and Herald, April 11, 1912.

E. G. White's Experience in Visitation—I remember when the converting power of God came upon me in my childhood I wanted everyone else to get the blessing that I had, and I could not rest till I had told them of it. I began to visit with my young companions and went to their houses to talk with them and tell them my experience, how precious the Saviour was to me, and how I wanted to serve Him, and how I wanted them to serve Him also. So I would talk of the preciousness of Christ, and I would say, "Won't you kneel down and pray with me?" Some would kneel and some would sit in their chairs, but before we gave up, everyone would be on her knees and we would pray together for hours, till the last one would say, "I believe that Jesus has forgiven me my sins." Sometimes the sun would begin to make its appearance in the heavens before I would give up the struggle. There is a great power in Jesus.—Manuscript 10, 1888.

The "First Works" Bring Results—The reason so many fail to have success is that they trust in themselves altogether too much, and do not feel the positive necessity of abiding in Christ, as they go forth to seek and save that which is lost. Until they have the mind of Christ and teach the truth as it is in Jesus, they will not accomplish much....

The atmosphere of the church is so frigid, its spirit is of such an order, that men and women cannot sustain or endure the example of primitive and heaven-born piety. The warmth of their first love is frozen up, and unless they are watered over by the baptism of the Holy Spirit, their candlestick will be removed out of its place, except they repent and do their first works. The first works of the church were seen when the believers sought out friends, relatives, and acquaintances, and with hearts overflowing with love, told the story of what Jesus was to them and what they were to Jesus.—Testimonies to Ministers and Gospel Workers, 167, 168.

You Are a Letter; Deliver It!—The apostle Paul says to the disciples of Jesus, “Ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ,” “known and read of all men.” In every one of His children Jesus sends a letter to the world. If you are Christ’s follower, He sends in you a letter to the family, the village, the street, where you live. Jesus, dwelling in you, desires to speak to the hearts of those who are not acquainted with Him. Perhaps they do not read the Bible or do not hear the voice that speaks to them in its pages; they do not see the love of God through His works. But if you are a true representative of Jesus, it may be that through you they will be led to understand something of His goodness, and be won to love and serve Him.—Steps to Christ, 119.

2. Wednesday: Mission to the Gentiles

3. Thursday: The Great Commission

4. Friday:

5. Teachers Comments:

6. Read the Step 4 description of Legates within the Roman government. Is this a good job or a bad job?

7. In the teachers quarterly notes, one of the final activities is:

1. Invite class members to imagine that they are “drawing up the terms” for someone to become a Christian – a member of the family of God. What would the list look like? Discuss one another’s ideas.
2. Is this not what every religious creed does?
 1. Builds wall of separation between the ins and the outs?
 2. At this point in my life, this is not a good exercise. I already am too willing and able to devise human restrictions on God’s love and acceptance.
 3. I need to be more willing to see God’s love to all
 4. “Man looks on the outward appearance, God looks on the heart”
 5. I do not need any encouragement to build walls of definition to separate me from God’s love.

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 8

Cross Cultural Missions

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: “Behold! My Servant whom I have chosen, My Beloved in whom My soul is well pleased! I will put My Spirit upon Him, and He will declare justice to the Gentiles.” (MT 12:18 NKJV)

To what is this passage referring? Who is the One speaking? Who is the Servant spoken of?

What will He declare to the Gentiles?

What is justice?

When you think of justice, what comes to mind?

Which law lens do you understand this word through?

What law is human justice based upon? Imposed rules.

How does human justice function? Coercive enforcement, externally inflicted punishments upon law breakers.

What law is God’s justice based upon? Design law, the law of love, the principle of giving, Freedom, Truth.

How does God’s justice function? By seeking to deliver, save and heal those who are breaking the law

- Defend the poor and fatherless; Do justice to the afflicted and needy. (Psalms 82:3)
- Wash yourselves clean. Stop all this evil that I see you doing. Yes, stop doing evil and learn to do right. See that justice is done — help those who are oppressed, give orphans their rights, and defend widows. (Isaiah 1:16-17 GNT)
- The Lord longs to be gracious to you; he rises to show you compassion. The Lord is a God of justice. (Isaiah 30:18 NIV)
- This is what the Lord says to the dynasty of David: ‘Give justice each morning to the people you judge! Help those who have been robbed; rescue them from their oppressors.’ (Jeremiah 21:12 NLT)

From an article by Christianity Today on Biblical Justice:

Biblical justice involves making individuals, communities, and the cosmos whole, by upholding both goodness and impartiality. It stands at the center of true religion, according to James, who says that the kind of "religion that God our Father accepts as pure and faultless is this: to look after orphans and widows in their distress and to keep oneself from being polluted by the world" (James 1:27). Earlier Scripture says, "The righteous care about justice for the poor, but the wicked have no such concern" (Prov. 29:7). <http://www.christianitytoday.com/le/2010/summer/biblicaljustice.html>

Biblical justice is delivering and restoring the oppressed not punishing the oppressor!

Then if justice is restoring the oppressed what is justification? Would it not be restoring the sinner to a state of being just or right? This is exactly what justification is; it is reality; it is not legal fiction. The species human was justified, or made right, healed to perfection in the humanity of Jesus Christ. We as individuals are set right, made right, justified, restored to rightness when we trust God, our heart of distrust is changed to trust and in trust the Holy Spirit takes what Christ achieved and reproduces it in us!

So, what is the significance of Jesus bringing justice to the Gentiles?

That God is the Creator of humanity and all human beings are members of one species, and that God's plan to save is for the entire human race, not just one subgroup of that race.

Rom 11:32 (The Remedy):

from God's perspective, all humanity is infected with the same illness of distrust and selfishness, and the entire human race is dying and in need of the same Remedy; and God mercifully offers full healing and restoration to all who trust him.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read John 4:4-30, from The Remedy:

John 4:4 On his way to Galilee, he had to pass through Samaria, ⁵ and came to a town called Sychar, near the parcel of land Jacob had given to his son Joseph. ⁶ This is where Jacob's well was located. Jesus was tired from his journey and sat down by the well. It was about noon.

John 4:7 While Jesus was resting at the well, a Samaritan woman came to draw water. Jesus asked her, "Would you be kind enough to give me a drink?" ⁸ (Jesus was alone because his disciples had gone to town to buy food.)

John 4:9 The Samaritan woman was momentarily stunned by Jesus' request because Jews were notorious for discriminating against Samaritans (women in particular), and wouldn't even talk to them. Once she recovered from her shock, she said to Jesus, "What's going on that you, a Jew, would ask me, a Samaritan woman, for a drink?"

John 4:10 Jesus, with courtesy and respect, said, “If you knew the gift that God has provided for all humanity, and who it is that is asking you for a drink, you would ask me and I would give you the water of eternal life.”

John 4:11 “Sir,” the woman replied, “the well is deep and you have nothing with which to draw the water. So, where do you propose to get this water of eternal life? ¹² Are you greater than our father Jacob, who dug this well and drank from it himself, as did all of his family and their flocks and herds?”

John 4:13 Jesus patiently answered, “Everyone who drinks of the water from this well, in just a short time becomes thirsty again, ¹⁴ but whoever drinks the water of life I give him will never thirst again. In fact, the water of life I give will actually become a new fountain inside him that will overflow to eternal life.”

John 4:15 Upon hearing what Jesus said, the woman eagerly requested, “Sir, please give me this water so that I won’t ever get thirsty again and have to keep coming here to draw water.”

John 4:16 Jesus told her, “Go, get your husband and come back.”

John 4:17 She replied, “I don’t have a husband.” Jesus gently said to her, “You are right when you say that you have no husband. ¹⁸ In fact, you have had five husbands, and the man you now live with is not your husband. So, when you said you don’t have a husband, that was quite true.”

John 4:19 Shocked and somewhat uncomfortable with such a personal revelation, the woman said, “Sir, to know such things you must certainly be a prophet. ²⁰ So please help me with a problem. Our people have always worshiped God here on this mountain, but you Jews claim that the place we must worship God is in Jerusalem; so, which is it?”

John 4:21 Jesus declared, “Believe me, dear woman, the place where one worships God is not important; it is the condition of the heart of the worshiper that matters. Very soon you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem. ²² You Samaritans worship a confusing tradition of rituals that doesn’t enlighten the mind and has no ability to heal the worshiper; we worship the Creator God and our minds are enlightened and healed by him because all that he asks of us is sensible and reasonable. The plan to heal humanity from the infection of selfishness and sin is provided through the Jews. ²³ The time has now come that all true worshipers will worship the Father with an intelligent, reasonable understanding of who he is—loving, admiring and respecting the truth about his nature, character, and methods. These understanding worshipers are the kind the Father seeks. ²⁴ God is intelligent and reasonable, and his worshipers must worship him intelligently and reasonably, appreciating and valuing the truth of God’s methods and principles.”

John 4:25 The woman said thoughtfully, “I know that the Savior of the world (called Christ) is coming. When he comes, he will make plain the truth about God and untwist all the confusing ideas about the Father. He will destroy the lies of Satan that prevent us from knowing God. He will explain the real problem regarding the infection of selfishness and sin within mankind, and he will reveal God’s plan to heal and restore mankind to God’s original ideal.”

John 4:26 Then Jesus proclaimed, “I, who stand before you and am speaking with you, am he.”

John 4:27 Just as Jesus said this, his disciples returned and were shocked to find him talking with a woman, and not just any woman, but a Samaritan. They were too insecure to ask, “Why are you talking with her?” or “What do you want with her?”

John 4:28 After hearing what Jesus had just told her, the woman forgot all about her water jar, rushed back to town and said to the people, ²⁹ “Come, see a man who knew everything about me. Could this be the Savior we have been waiting for – the Christ?” ³⁰ The townspeople were so intrigued by the woman’s testimony that they made their way toward Jesus.

What do you think about this woman’s current living situation? What do you think about her relationship history?

If a woman came to church today who had been married five times and was now living with someone who wasn’t her husband would you ask her to be a missionary for your church?

Did Jesus invite her to be a missionary for Him? How could He?

- Didn’t Jesus worry, living as she was, that if she told people about Him that some people might think He condoned living together before marriage?
- Did Jesus have a different standard in selecting who can be a gospel worker than churches do today?
- Should we tell people, in their current situation, about Jesus? Should we share the water of life with them? The cohabitor, the alcoholic, the prostitute, the homosexual, the criminal – should we share Jesus with them and ask them to share with others or should we require them to change their situation first?
- Did Jesus restrict Mary Magdalene from association with Him? Was she a member of his “group”? Why was she permitted?
- Why was the rich young ruler not instantly admitted to Jesus group?
- What was the difference?
 - Jesus was looking for people who were humble, teachable, and loved others
- Who would have been first to be accepted to our church board?
- Do we focus too much on behavior and not enough on character?

Read the last paragraph, “Also, we shouldn’t...” Did Jesus follow Jewish customs when in Israel? Or, did Jesus follow Jewish customs only when they didn’t interfere with His mission?

- Was it customary to heal on Sabbath? Did Jesus?
- Was it customary to pick grain on Sabbath? Did the disciples?
- Was it customary to instruct people to carry their mat on Sabbath? Did Jesus give such instructions?
- Was it customary to drive moneychangers out of the Temple? Did Jesus?
- Was it customary for religious leaders to visit homes of tax collectors? Did Jesus?

Jesus didn't let custom interfere with His mission, but He also didn't purposely violate customs that had no bearing on His mission. He didn't seek to antagonize.

MONDAY

The lesson talks about the Roman centurion who asked Christ to heal his servant, and had faith he only needed to command and it would be done. It points out the large cultural divide and how the centurion was sensitive to the Jewish custom of not going into a Gentile home.

How does culture play in our witnessing today? Do we allow cultural differences to interfere with sharing Christ?

Think about the treatment of blacks in America, particularly the southern states, after the end of slavery up through the 1960s—by white Christians.

Have you ever seen some historical films with southern white leaders speaking about integration?

What about today? Do we have cultural barriers today?

What about witnessing to Muslims? How would you approach one?

Do we have biases toward Christians of other denominations? Do we see other Christians as part of the body of Christ or do we see them as needing conversion?

How much of our practices are cultural versus God directed?

- Sabbath practices? (Not recognition of Sabbath sacredness, but the actual practices of what one does on Sabbath)
- Dress
- Music
- Worship
 - Liturgy – is this God directed or cultural
 - Holidays – God directed or cultural
 - Tithe – God directed or cultural
 - Diet – God directed or cultural
 - This week I received the newsletter from LLU regarding the Adventist

Health Study. As many of you know, and some who might be in it, they have been following several hundred thousand Adventists for years monitoring disease in association with which diet they practice.

- In this newsletter, they focused on colorectal cancer, which kills more people in the US each year than any cancer besides lung.
- The diet groups are non-vegetarians, semi-veg, pesco-veg, lacto ova veg, and vegan.
- All veggie groups had lower colorectal cancer rates than the non-vegetarian group – but which had the lowest?
- Here were the four group's reduced risk percent, as compared to non-veggie group:
 - 8%
 - 16%
 - 18%
 - 43%

Can you guess which group had their risk reduced by 43%?

- 8% - Semi-vegetarian
- 16% - Vegan
- 18% - lacto ova vegetarian
- 43% - pesco-vegetarian

All groups of vegetarians had more plant fiber in their diet than the non vegetarians, which is a significant factor, but not the only factor as the vegan group had more plant fiber than any group, but didn't have the lowest risk. But the authors noted that other factors included the differences in the pesco group of omega 3 fatty acids, Vit D and arachidonic acid.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Luke 8:26-39 (from The Remedy):

LK 8:26 They sailed on to the region of Gerasenes, across the lake from Galilee. ²⁷ When Jesus went ashore, a man from the town, whose mind was controlled by evil angels, confronted him. The man had not worn clothes or lived in a house for a long time, but lived in the graveyard. ²⁸ When he saw Jesus, he fell down at his feet and began shouting as loud as he could, "What do you want with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? Please don't torture me!" ²⁹ Jesus commanded the evil intelligence to leave the man's mind. Many times through the years it had taken control of his mind and, though he was chained hand and foot and guarded, had broken the chains and driven the man into desolate places.

LK 8:30 Jesus asked him, "What is your name?"

"Legion," he replied, because many evil intelligences had taken control of his mind.

³¹ They begged Jesus repeatedly not to order them into isolation from living beings.

LK 8:32 There was a large herd of pigs feeding on the hill nearby. The evil angels begged Jesus for permission to take control of the pigs, and he gave it. ³³ The fallen angels left the mind of the man and went into the minds of the pigs; the herd went berserk and stampeded down a steep bank into the lake and drowned.

LK 8:34 When those tending the pigs saw what had happened, they ran into town and told everyone, ³⁵ and the people came out to see it for themselves. When they came to Jesus, they found the man, whose mind had been freed from demons, sitting at Jesus' feet, dressed, calm and coherent; and this frightened them. ³⁶ Those who had seen all that transpired told the new arrivals how the man had been freed from the evil agencies. ³⁷ Then all the people from the region of Gerasenes were so terrified, that they asked Jesus to leave, so he got in the boat and left.

LK 8:38 The man whose mind had been freed from demons begged to go with Jesus, but Jesus had another mission for him. He told him, ³⁹ "Go home and tell everyone how much God has done for you." So the man went away and told everyone he encountered how much Jesus had done for him.

While I believe this story literally happened, does it also serve as an object lesson? How?

- What is our condition separated from Christ?
- What would our minds be like without Jesus?
- Here is a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church:
 - The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God, and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship. {ST, July 11, 1895 par. 5}
 - thoughts? So, what would be the condition of our mind without the intervention of God? We would be like the demoniac!
- Where did the demoniac stay? In a graveyard, what is our condition without Christ? Dead in trespass and sin (Col 2:13)
 - Deviation from God's design law is always terminal!
- When the demoniac came into Christ's presence what happened?
 - Protestations, acting out, fear, attempt to avoid, redirect focus, attack the other, "What are you doing here, have you come to torture."
 - What happens when the truth first comes to our awareness – conviction, fear, protestations, externalization, attempt to redirect attention away onto others.

- What did Jesus do? He freed the man and restored his soul!
 - What happens to us when we come to Jesus? We are freed!
- Where did the evil angels go?
 - Into the pigs – which symbolically represents what?
 - Brute beasts, those who are no longer in God's image or under the influence of God's Spirit – and such individuals run headlong into self-destruction, just as the pigs did: "The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction;" Gal 6:8

What about the question of demonic activity versus insanity? What is insanity? being insane, which means what?

Dictionary definition:

1. not sane; not of sound mind; mentally deranged.
2. relating to, or characteristic of a person who is mentally deranged
3. utterly senseless

What determines whether an action is sane, rational, reasonable, sensible or insane, irrational, unreasonable, senseless?

Isn't it the understanding of reality one holds?

Through what lens do you use to determine reality, whether something is wise or foolish?

- Is it wise or foolish to, when you are behind in your bills, to give tithe and offering? Does the motive matter?
- Is it wise or foolish to give with the idea and reason that God has promised if I give He will return more to me, so it is the best financial investment. And if I don't give I break my contract with God and He won't give back to me? This is level two maturity, making a deal, and the motive is selfish.
- But, if one loves God and others, and recognizes the importance of the gospel going to the world, and one gives regardless because they value their love for God and His mission over their own situation, then is this wise or foolish?

From the Remedy:

¹Cor 1:9 For the Scriptures reveal that God's method of self-sacrificing love will destroy the world's wisdom of promoting self first; the apparent logic of working for self-exaltation, fame, personal advancement or financial wealth, rather than bringing healing and restoration, will be shown to actually accelerate the damage to one's mind and character.²⁰ So then, what value is there in the wisdom of the selfish man? Or the agnostic professor? Or the atheistic scientist? Or the psychologist of the New Age? God has shown that all "wisdom" based on the principles of this world is in reality foolishness, silliness, nonsense!²¹ For after those who value the methods of the world rejected God and denied his existence, God joyfully revealed his wisdom by actually healing and transforming all those who trust him on the basis of the simple message of God's selfless love revealed by Jesus.²² The Jews, and many like them, demand supernatural signs and wonders, which (they fail to realize) can be counterfeited, and the Greeks look only for intellectual explanations,²³ but we preach God's self-sacrificing character of love revealed by Christ crucified. It's a roadblock to the egocentric Jews, and utter nonsense to the self-seeking Gentiles,²⁴ but to all those who respond to God's call, whether Jew or Gentile, Christ is the embodiment of the character, wisdom and power of God!²⁵ For the simple love of God is wiser than all humankind's self-centered scheming; God's love literally heals and restores. And this love of God, which appears weak to the world, is stronger than all the strength of selfish humanity.

What is insanity? Believing reality works like the world says it does, choosing to diverge from God's design law and claim one gets healthier in the process:

Here is one historic view:

"Today the world is mad: an insanity is upon men and women, and is hurrying them on to eternal ruin. Every species of indulgence prevails, and men have become so infatuated with vice that they will not listen to warnings or appeals." {Mar 108.1}

All sin is selfishness. [what is sin? deviation from the law, lawlessness, which is failure to love, or selfishness] Satan's first sin was a manifestation of selfishness. He sought to grasp power, to exalt self. A species of insanity led him to seek to supersede God. [what does this mean? Why was this insane? Because it was like saying, I will stop breathing so I can live longer] And the temptation that led Adam to sin was Satan's declaration that it was possible for man to attain to something more than he already enjoyed, possible for him to be as God Himself. The sowing of seeds of selfishness in the human heart was the first result of the entrance of sin into the world. God desires every one to understand the evil of selfishness, and to co operate with Him in guarding the human family against its terrible, deceptive powers. The design of the gospel is to confront this evil by means of remedial missionary work, and to destroy its destructive power by establishing enterprises of benevolence. {Worker's Bulletin, September 9, 1902 par. 3}

As a remedy for the terrible consequences into which selfishness led the human race, God gave His only begotten Son to die for mankind. How could He have given more? In this gift He gave Himself. "I and My Father are one," said Christ. By the gift of His Son, God has made it possible for man to be redeemed and restored to oneness with Him. "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Love is the great principle that actuates unfallen beings. With amazement the angels behold the indifference that those who have light and knowledge manifest toward a world unsaved. The heavenly host are filled with an intense desire to work through human agencies to restore in man the image of God. They are ready and waiting to do this work. The combined power of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost is pledged to uplift man from his fallen state. Every attribute, every power of divinity has been placed at the command of those who unite with the Saviour in winning men to God. O, that all would appreciate the truth as it is in Jesus. O, that all would love God in return for the love wherewith He has loved them. {WB, September 9, 1902 par. 4}

Sin has extinguished the love that God placed in man's heart. The work of the church is to rekindle this love. The church is to co-operate with God by uprooting selfishness from the human heart, placing in its stead the benevolence that was in man's heart in his original state of perfection. {WB, September 9, 1902 par. 5}

What do you think about this quote? What is insanity according to this perspective? Selfishness, survival-of-the-fittest, why? Because it is deviant from God's design for life and results in death. What is the remedy for this type of insanity? What would you call someone in layman's terms who had this form of insanity? Would you call them demon possessed?

Consider this quotation by the same author, writing a letter to a husband and wife about what is described as a self-centered wife:

She has well learned the secret of acting for effect, of creating a sensation to call attention to her small self. I have seen but few persons as successful in making self the center of attraction when there was so little sweet, noble, genuine attractiveness in the character.

But unless she changes her course, this acting for effect, this desperate maneuvering to force the attention of her husband and gain his sympathy, will finally be repeated once too many times, and God will give her fully into the hands of Satan. Unless there is a change, a time will come soon when this lower nature in the wife, controlled by a will as strong as steel, will bring down the strong will of the husband to her own low level. His will would then be merged in that of the impulsive, inconsistent, insane wife. He would no longer be a man, for the satanic mold upon the character of the wife would be upon him also. His sympathies would no longer be pure and uncorrupted, like fine gold, but they would be deteriorated. His energies would be enfeebled, his life distorted.

Brother Craig has felt that it was his duty to fight her battles, become as inconsistent in her behalf as she is herself, see through her eyes, and contend for her rights; for unless he does this, she will indulge in those awful outbursts of passion. [this is violation of the law of liberty, where wife creates emotional drama and consequences to punish the husband for not giving her her way, and thus he begins losing himself and seeing the world through the wife's eyes.] Her oft-repeated assertions draw upon his sympathies, and a continual burden is cast upon him by her manufactured physical disabilities. [The person who is unhappy, not getting their way, and then experiences numerous physical maladies.] In her mother's house her will was law. However inconsistent and perverse her course, it was regarded as resulting from a physical condition for which all allowance must be made. It was thought that her every demand must be met.

But the folly of the mother and other relatives must not become the folly of the husband. Should he follow in their footsteps, his life and hers also would be wrecked. Better would it be had they never been born. As it is, she is a fit subject for the insane asylum; for God has shown me that she throws herself wholly into the hands of Satan, soul, body and spirit, and his power through her is deadening the fine sensibilities of right and integrity in her husband.

If she were a child, she could be treated as such; these outbursts of temper could be punished as those of a self-willed, passionate child. But she is a woman, and her husband cannot force her perverse will to be reasonable. Never will this exacting temperament be improved by yielding to it. Her tragical performances are enacted to frighten her husband into complying with her demands, and he must yield or have a scene. As Satan sees how he can work through her when she thus casts soul and body into his hands--that he can use her as he pleases--he will throw her into these paroxysms more and more, whenever her will is crossed. In this case it is not the woman whom Brother Craig is dealing with, but a desperate, satanic spirit. MR 16 pg 301

What do you hear in this description? Extreme selfishness, selfishness that destroys the person but also works to destroy those in relationship with the person. This is not mental illness as we know it. There are no hallucination, no other beings speaking through her mouth, no levitation, not supernatural manifestations – just pure evil, which is selfishness that destroys.

A great book that exposes human evil that hides as righteousness, is People of the Lie by M. Scott Peck. The first two thirds of this book is excellent, unbelievable in its detail to uncover this type of evil masquerading as the righteous in our families, churches, and communities. The last 1/3 of the book I don't agree with, when he gets into demonic possession and exorcism.

So, let me be clear, schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, schizoaffective disorder, major depression, delirium, dementia and other psychiatric disorders are NOT demonic activity or disorders. These are disorders of brain and body, with a wide range of genetic and environmental contributing factors.

WEDNESDAY

Read third paragraph, “Nevertheless, Samaritans...” What do you think about the idea that Gentiles were not Jesus immediate goal?

The Bible quote is interesting one for those who have a “literal” view of Bible translation – note the verse Mt 15:24 “I was sent only to the lost sheep of Israel.”

Do we take this literally? Or do we understand something is meant beyond the literal reading?

When we talk about cross-cultural differences does one's view of Scripture come in? Do we have cross-cultural views of Scripture?

What do we understand about this?

How does inspiration work? What in the Bible is inspired? Are the words inspired?

Here is one view – do you agree?

The Bible is not given to us in grand superhuman language. Jesus, in order to reach man where he is, took humanity. The Bible must be given in the language of men. Everything that is human is imperfect. Different meanings are expressed by the same word; there is not one word for each distinct idea. The Bible was given for practical purposes. {1SM 20.2}

The stamps of minds are different. All do not understand expressions and statements alike. Some understand the statements of the Scriptures to suit their own particular minds and cases. Prepossessions, prejudices, and passions have a strong influence to darken the understanding and confuse the mind even in reading the words of Holy Writ. {1SM 20.3}

The disciples traveling to Emmaus needed to be disentangled in their interpretation of the Scriptures. Jesus walked with them disguised, and as a man He talked with them. Beginning at Moses and the prophets He taught them in all things concerning Himself, that His life, His mission, His sufferings, His death were just as the Word of God had foretold. He opened their understanding that they might understand the Scriptures. How quickly He straightened out the tangled ends and showed the unity and divine verity of the Scriptures. How much men in these times need their understanding opened. {1SM 20.4}

The Bible is written by inspired men, but it is not God's mode of thought and expression. It is that of humanity. God, as a writer, is not represented. Men will often say such an expression is not like God. But God has not put Himself in words, in logic, in rhetoric, on trial in the Bible. The writers of the Bible were God's penmen, not His pen. Look at the different writers. {1SM 21.1}

It is not the words of the Bible that are inspired, but the men that were inspired. Inspiration acts not on the man's words or his expressions but on the man himself, who, under the influence of the Holy Ghost, is imbued with thoughts. But the words receive the impress of the individual mind. The divine mind is diffused. The divine mind and will is combined with the human mind and will; thus the utterances of the man are the word of God.-- Manuscript 24, 1886 (written in Europe in 1886). {1SM 21.2}

This is mature, level seven, understanding of reality. Those who can only use one version of the Bible, or take the words as inspired and get upset of one rephrases the words with new words that express the same meaning, show they are still struggling to grow up to the full stature of children of God.

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, “What we see here are...” What does, “What a sign that the world was ready for His atoning death!” mean?

How does Jesus death atone? How has the cross been presented to the world?

Does Satan have a version of Christ’s death on the cross that he presents to the world? What is that version?

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 9

Peter and the Gentiles

At the end of last week's lesson we closed on the story of Jesus healing the demoniac. I gave a quotation from a letter written more than 100 years ago from EG White to a man and his wife, describing extreme selfishness with tantrums as demonic.

What I didn't discuss is that mental illnesses such as bipolar, schizophrenia, schizoaffective d/o, depression, OCD and others, are physical problems with brain and body and NOT demonic activity.

What we are promised now is new characters, we don't get new physiology until the second coming. Thus, a person can have a saving relationship with Jesus and still struggle with a mental health problem.

SABBATH

Read Memory Text:

Then Peter said to them, "Repent, and let every one of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. ³⁹ For the promise is to you and to your children, and to all who are afar off, as many as the Lord our God will call." Acts 2:38,39 NKJV

What does this text mean? The text is filled with words that have become common use in Christianity, but do we know what they mean?

Repent—what is repentance?

What does it mean to be baptized? Going through a ceremony with water and saying the words "I baptize you in the name of Jesus"?

Does it mean having your mind and heart immersed into the truth about God, opening the heart to God and receiving the Holy Spirit to recreate the character of Christ within and enable one for duty?

Can one go through the symbolic water baptism and still not be baptized into Jesus Christ?

What does it mean by "in the name of Jesus"?

- Does it mean speaking the words "in the name of Jesus"?
- "But to pray in the name of Jesus is something more than a mere mention of that name at the beginning and ending of a prayer. It is to pray in the mind and Spirit of Jesus, while we work his works, believe his promises, and rely on his matchless grace." {ST, August 21,

1884 par. 13}

What does, for the remission of sins mean?

What law lens are you looking through?

If through imposed law it means someone paying a penalty to the legal authorities for your sins and you by accepting that payment can have the sins erased from your legal ledger.

If you look through Design Law, you understand that remission of sin is like the remission of cancer. When cancer goes into remission it means the cancer cells have either been eliminated or remitted back to their precancerous condition. Sin going into remission is having sinfulness, fear and selfishness, in our hearts removed and our characters remit back to God's original design—like Jesus perfect love!

Read second paragraph, "Peter worked..." What are the unchangeable divine absolutes versus cultural practices?

- Covering head while in church or while praying?
- Length of one's hair?
- Growing a beard?
- Women speaking in church?
- Ordination of men or women?
- Wearing shoes in sanctuary?
- Baptism in water?
- Partaking of communion ceremony?

How much of our religious practice is simple application of divine absolutes, and how much of it is cultural rituals?

What does it look like to carry out divine absolutes?

All the nations will be gathered before him, and he will separate the people one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. ³³ He will put the sheep on his right and the goats on his left.

³⁴ "Then the King will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world. ³⁵ For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, ³⁶ I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me.'

³⁷ "Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? ³⁸ When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? ³⁹ When did we see you sick or in prison and go to visit you?’

⁴⁰ “The King will reply, ‘I tell you the truth, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me.’ MT 25:32-40

Is this what true religion looks like? Why? What divine absolute is being expressed here?

- This is the law of love in action—giving to others

What about this passage:

“You have heard that it was said, ‘Eye for eye, and tooth for tooth.’ ³⁹ But I tell you, Do not resist an evil person. If someone strikes you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also. ⁴⁰ And if someone wants to sue you and take your tunic, let him have your cloak as well. ⁴¹ If someone forces you to go one mile, go with him two miles. ⁴² Give to the one who asks you, and do not turn away from the one who wants to borrow from you.

⁴³ “You have heard that it was said, ‘Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.’ ⁴⁴ But I tell you: Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, ⁴⁵ that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. MT 5:38-45

What is divine absolute and what is cultural? What about “eye for eye”—divine absolute or cultural practice?

Some believe if God says it then it is a divine absolute, but did God ever give instructions that were cultural practices or rituals?

Why is loving others a divine absolute? What makes it so? What happens if you don’t do this?

What about this?

Jesus replied: “ ‘Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.’ ³⁸ This is the first and greatest commandment. ³⁹ And the second is like it: ‘Love your neighbor as yourself.’ ⁴⁰ All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments.” MT 22:37-40

Is this a divine absolute? How and why?

- Law of love but also the law of worship—by beholding we become changed
- Love your neighbor, means don’t steal, murder, betray, bear false witness or covet – why? What happens to the one who breaks the law? They are damaged, they sear their conscience, warp their character, harden their heart, thus are deviant from design protocol, i.e. divine absolute. Absolute because life is absolutely created to operate upon this protocols.

Can you think of any other divine absolutes?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Jesus’ last words...” What do you think of the interpretation of “a divine mandate?” When you read Acts 1:8 do you hear a mandate?

The word “mandate” most commonly means an authoritative order or command – is that what you hear?

The authors left off the first phrase of this passage in Acts, lets hear the entire verse:

But when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, you will be filled with power, and you will be witnesses for me in Jerusalem, in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.

Does this sound like a mandate, as in authoritative order, or more like a prophecy, a description of what they would do when the Holy Spirit came upon them?

Does it make a difference if we hear it as an order or we hear Christ’s words as predictive, telling what would happen?

If a doctor had a patient with pneumonia and said to them, “I give you this mandate: You are to cough no more!” Is that the same as saying, “When the antibiotics finish their work in you, you will cough no more.”?

How do you hear the 10 Commandments—as mandates, or descriptions of what we will be like when we surrender ourselves into His hands?

Second paragraph states, “The Great Commission found its first fulfillment on the Day of Pentecost. The outpouring of the Holy Spirit had as its aim the evangelization of the world.”

Absolutely right! But what was the world to be evangelized about? What is the message that is to be taken to the world?

- We are sinners—criminals and all guilty in God’s heavenly court, sentenced to eternal punishment? But God loved us too much, so He sent His Son and punished Jesus in our place? If you accept the payment of Jesus’ blood to the Father in your behalf, you can be declared legally righteous?
- OR—God is not like you have been taught! God is not a cosmic judge waiting to sentence you and His law is not a list of imposed rules He polices. God is like Jesus and His law is love! Yes, we are sinners—which means we are sick of heart and mind, selfish rather than loving and thus deviant from God’s design. Without remedy our condition is terminal. But God loved us too much to let us die, so He sent His Son to take this terminal condition upon Himself and cure it. And all those who trust Him will receive the Remedy of a new heart and character achieved by Jesus and applied in us by the indwelling Spirit and will be restored to harmony and unity with God and His kingdom of love.

Which message is to go to the world? Which has?

MONDAY

The story of Cornelius and his conversion – the lesson points out that the question the church struggled with then was, “Can a Gentile become a Christian without first becoming a Jew?”

Do we have similar questions today?

- Can a person be saved without being a member of our denomination?
- Can a person be saved without a baptism ceremony in the name of Jesus?
- Can a person be saved without becoming a Christian?
- Can a person be saved who tells you they reject Christianity?

What does it mean to be saved?

What law lens to you look through to answer the question?

Through the imposed law lens it means that you must accept the legal payment of Jesus in your behalf; you must publicly declare it; you must go through the ritual of baptism and if you don't then your sins remain on the record books of heaven and you will be executed by God. But if you do accept the legal payment, God declares you righteous, even though you are not.

If you look through Design law you realize that life only exists in harmony with God, who is the source of all life. Thus He created all life to operate in harmony with Himself. Deviations from His design separate us from Him and are terminal. Salvation is being reconciled to God and experiencing, via the work of the Holy Spirit the application of Christ's character into our hearts so that we have a new heart and right spirit, that we love others more than self. Such a transformation cannot be accomplished by human effort; it cannot be accomplished by religious ritual; it cannot be accomplished by psychotherapy or human philosophy—it can ONLY be accomplished by God, taking the victory of Jesus and making it real and applicable in our hearts and minds.

So this means everyone who is saved is saved only because of the Remedy achieved by Christ.

Does that mean then, that the Holy Spirit requires the right syllables (i.e. the words “In the name of Jesus”) to be spoken before the Spirit will apply Christ's victory to someone's heart? Or will the Spirit work in any heart that is willing?

For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse... All who sin apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who sin under the law will be judged by the law. ¹³ For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. ¹⁴ (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, ¹⁵ since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.) ¹⁶ This will take place on the day when God will judge men's secrets through Jesus Christ, as my gospel declares. Rom 1:20, 2:12-16

Here are two historic quotes in harmony with Romans:

Those whom Christ commends in the judgment may have known little of theology, but they have cherished His principles. Through the influence of the divine Spirit they have been a blessing to those about them. Even among the heathen are those who have cherished the spirit of kindness; before the words of life had fallen upon their ears, they have befriended the missionaries, even ministering to them at the peril of their own lives. Among the heathen are those who worship God ignorantly, those to whom the light is never brought by human instrumentality, yet they will not perish. Though ignorant of the written law of God, they have heard His voice speaking to them in nature, and have done the things that the law required. Their works are evidence that the Holy Spirit has touched their hearts, and they are recognized as the children of God. {DA 638.2}

Among earth's inhabitants, scattered in every land, there are those who have not bowed the knee to Baal. Like the stars of heaven, which appear only at night, these faithful ones will shine forth when darkness covers the earth and gross darkness the people. In heathen Africa, in the Catholic lands of Europe and of South America, in China, in India, in the islands of the sea, and in all the dark corners of the earth, God has in reserve a firmament of chosen ones that will yet shine forth amidst the darkness revealing clearly to an apostate world the transforming power of obedience to His law.-- Prophets and Kings, pp. 188

What does it mean to be saved? There is no legal aspect in the sense of courtrooms, legal proceedings, dealing with record books, paying penalties or anything else associated with human type law systems.

God's law is not like created beings can impose, God is Creator and His law holds the very fabric of the cosmos together! Salvation means healing those who are deviant from that Design and Jesus is our Remedy. He overcame where we could not!

Listen to this historic quote:

"In assuming human nature, that he might reach to the very depths of human woe and misery and lift man up, Christ has shown what estimate he places upon the human race. In this work everything was at stake. Satan claimed to be the lawful owner of the fallen race; [notice who takes the legal approach!] and with what persistent effort did he seek to overthrow Christ through his subtility! [What subtility? The subtle change in the way intelligent beings understand God's law. By making God's law appear imposed and then claiming legal rights and the need for justice. He paints God as the cosmic executioner and the entire world is drinking this poisonous view of God.] It was only by the most desperate conflict with the powers of Satan that Christ could accomplish his purpose [and what do you think this author says that purpose was? To regain legal rights? To make legal payments?] of restoring the almost obliterated image of God in man, and place his own signature upon his forehead. {General Conference Daily Bulletin, March 2, 1897 par. 17}

Or this one:

In his humanity, Christ lived a perfect life, thus elevating humanity in the scale of moral worth with God. [In His human brain Christ developed a perfect human character, thus elevating humanity from deviant to harmony with God and His law of love] With his human arm Christ lays hold of man, while with his divine arm he grasps the throne of the Infinite. Thus he imbues man with his own spiritual nature, and lifts him to his side, to be cherished and loved as the Father loves his Son. [What does "imbues" mean? We become partakers of the divine nature! It is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me. We are recreated within with new motives! We partake of the remedy Christ procured!] {ST, August 26, 1897 par. 6}

The atonement of Christ is not a mere skillful way to have our sins pardoned; it is a divine remedy for the cure of transgression and the restoration of spiritual health. It is the Heaven-ordained means by which the righteousness of Christ may be not only upon us but in our hearts and characters (Letter 406, 1906). {6BC 1074.2}

Notice, it is restoration of righteousness within! This is salvation and it is only possible through Christ, even for those who don't know Christ or have never heard of Christ. If they have opened their heart to the Holy Spirit and experienced a new heart of love, it was only possible because of Christ's victory, procuring a perfect character and the Holy Spirit applying in that human what Christ achieved.

Read last paragraph, "Notice, too, what..." Did Cornelius sin when he bowed down to worship Peter? Why or why not?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Then Peter began..." What is the point of what Peter learned?

What do we learn about God from this story?

With what is God concerned?

- Occupation?
- Organizational affiliation?
- Ethnic group?
- Dress?
- Behavior?
- The name people call God in worship?
- Worship style?
- Character of the worshipper?

Which are important and why?

While all but character are ultimately not important, how can most impact what is important, namely, character?

- Occupation?
 - Are there certain occupations that make it easier or harder to develop godly character?
 - Occupations which are service oriented, health care, teaching, clergy, are these helpful? How?
 - Police, military, lawyers, politicians, pornographers, fashion designers/models, could these create obstacles? How?
- Organizational affiliation?
 - Does the religion one holds, including with which group one affiliates, have the ability to impact their character development?
 - Does the religious group to which one belongs have the ability to impact thinking or lack thereof?
- Ethnic groups?
 - Could our ethnic group, how we were raised, impact our character development?
 - Could our attitude towards those of different ethnicity affect our character development?
- Dress?
 - Can dress affect behavior?
 - Is there a objective reason for certain standards in dress?
- Behavior?
 - Do our behaviors reinforce attitudes?
 - Does behavior matter?
 - But, can one have right behavior and wrong character?
- The name people call God in worship?
- Worship style?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “As we saw...” What changed Peter? He had a vision, which challenged his biases.

Read last paragraph, “There is a lesson...” What do they mean “Christian uniqueness and finality”?

How do you approach non-Christian religions? What do you find lacking in the following religions?

- Judaism
 - Many Jews no longer believe in God, to them being Jewish is part of belonging to the “tribe” to the culture and practices, but believing in God isn’t necessary
 - God’s law is imposed
 - God is either disinterested or the punisher of lawbreakers
- Islam
 - God’s law is imposed
 - God is a punishing god to the unfaithful
- Buddhism
 - Has no God
 - Operates on the landscape of dualism, the eternal existence of both good and evil, which is asserted to provides balance to the universe

What about Christianity?

- Within Christianity—what makes it better?
 - God’s law is love, the protocols reality is built upon
 - God became human to reveal Himself to us in order to win us to trust and also to take our terminal condition upon Himself in order to cure His creation.
 - Is this the picture of God Christians have taken to the world?
 - What picture has been taken to the world?

How is the god, whose followers fly planes into buildings, different from the god whose followers blow up abortion clinics?

How is the god who wants his followers to enforce Sharia laws through state legislations different from the god of those who want Sunday legislation or other restrictions on liberty?

When one does believe in God, but worships a god whose law is imposed, then one becomes like that god and sees no reason why the government shouldn’t impose just moral laws.

But when one worships the God who is love and who created reality to operate in harmony with His own character of love, one realizes that love cannot be imposed, legislated or enforced, it can only be won in an environment of genuine freedom.

THURSDAY

The lesson points out that the Jews had a great regard for the Old Testament laws and rituals. What was the purpose of those laws and rituals?

- Some were good community health measures
- Some were good civil organizational measures
- Some were part of the “stage play” they were enacting
- Some were descriptions of God’s design for life

The issue is differentiating those that matter, from those that don’t.

What did the church of the New Testament come up with?

“It is my judgment, therefore, that we should not make it difficult for the Gentiles who are turning to God. ²⁰ Instead we should write to them, telling them to abstain from food polluted by idols, from sexual immorality, from the meat of strangled animals and from blood. Acts 15:19,20

From The Remedy:

"Therefore, it is my judgment that we should not put obstacles in the way of the non-Jews who are turning to God and desire to partake of the Remedy.²⁰ Instead, let's send them a letter advising them to live pure lives: to keep their hearts pure toward God and therefore avoid anything that leads the mind toward idols; to keep their relationships pure and therefore avoid all sexual impurity; and to keep their bodies pure by not eating blood, raw meat, or any meat from animals whose blood was not drained.

What was the purpose? To help them come to know God and not put barriers in their way.

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 10

Philip as Missionary

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: “ ‘But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.’”
Acts 1:8

What power? When you hear power what comes to mind?

What kind of power would they receive?

The power of God—but what kind of power is that?

What was the result of the power they received? In other words, what did they do with the power?

- Died to self and loved other people, lived selflessly
- Devoted their lives and resources to taking God’s Remedy to others
- Spoke and everyone heard in their own language (universal translator)
- Cast out demons
- Healed the sick
- Walked out of locked prisons
- Immune to snake bite
- Protected from storms
- Warned about threats
- Given wisdom
- Given visions and spiritual insight

What kind of power do these events represent?

- The power of truth and love! This is the power of God, the double streams of fire that fell on Pentecost. The fire of God’s presence. This is cleansing fire, cleansing from sin and deviation from God’s design.
- Thus, such a power results in physical and spiritual healing
- This power opens avenues of communication and removes obstacles to spreading the Remedy

What did we not see evidenced by this power?

- Coercion, intimidation, pressure, control, or anything that would undermine liberty
- We did not see violence, physical weapons, rioting
- We did not see fighting for one’s rights
- Deceit or manipulation

- Politics or any other attempt to change the state government

Some might be thinking, but what about Ananias and Sapphira? What do you think? Was this God acting to punish? Was God coercing? Was God putting pressure on people to give to the cause or else?

Or did these two people reap in their own selves what happens when the unhealed are faced with intense exposure to love and truth? Was their experience the shock of being exposed and confronted by the truth—what they knew and therefore, believed to be true?

What happens when people believe something strongly and are confronted in a sudden and shocking way?

- 1587 Soares de Souza—first westerner to document, amongst the Tupi-nambas Indians the sudden death of those who were condemned and given the death sentence by their medicine man.
- 1875 Varnhagen documented amongst the Brazilian Indian tribes that the chiefs or shamans could cause death by fear.
- 1906 Leonard documented in Africa amongst the Lower Niger people: “I have seen more than one hardened old soldier dying steadily and by inches because he believed himself bewitched; no nourishment or medicines that were given to him had the slightest effect either to check the mischief or to improve his condition in any way, and nothing was able to divert him from a fate which he considered inevitable. In the same way, and under very similar conditions, I have seen Kru-men and others die in spite of every effort that was made to save them, simply because they had made up their minds, not (as we thought at the time) to die, but that being in the clutch of malignant demons they were bound to die.”
- 1682 Merolla, Congo: “A young negro on a journey lodged in a friend’s house for the night. The friend had prepared for their breakfast a wild hen, a food strictly banned by a rule which must be inviolably observed by the immature. The young fellow demanded whether it was indeed a wild hen, and when the host answered ‘No,’ he ate of it heartily and proceeded on his way. A few years later, when the two met again, the old friend asked the younger man if he would eat a wild hen. He answered that he had been solemnly charged by a wizard not to eat that food. Thereupon the host began to laugh and asked him why he refused it now after having eaten it at his table before. On hearing this news the negro immediately began to tremble, so greatly was he possessed by fear, and in less than twenty-four hours was dead.”

(Psychosomatic Medicine: May 1957 - Volume 19 - Issue 3 - ppg 182-190)

So, what view of God do you think Ananias and Sapphira held? Then what was a possible outcome being confronted as they were?

Acts 5:1-11 From The Remedy:

¹A man named Ananias and his wife Sapphira agreed to sell a piece of property and give the entire amount to the Lord's cause. ²When the Lord blessed it and the property sold for more than expected, Ananias, with the full consent of his wife, kept back the unexpected extra and turned in only what the property was thought to be worth. As he lay the offering at Peter's feet, ³Peter said, "Ananias, why did you choose to side with Satan and fill your heart with greed? You lied to the Holy Spirit and chose to keep some of the money you received for the land. ⁴Wasn't the land yours before you sold it? You didn't have to promise to give all the money from the sale. Were you not free to promise only a portion? Why would you promise it all and then hold a portion back? You haven't lied to finite humans; you have lied to God."

⁵ When Ananias was confronted with the truth, it shocked him, and he fell down and died. All who heard what happened were overcome with fear. ⁶ The young men came right in, wrapped up the body, carried it out and buried it.

⁷ Three hours later, Sapphira, Ananias' wife came in, but she didn't know what had happened to her husband. ⁸ Peter asked her, "Is this the entire price you and Ananias received from the sale of the land?" "Yes, that's the full price," she answered.

⁹ Peter confronted her with the truth: "What were you and your husband thinking, lying to God? A few hours ago your husband, when confronted with the truth of what you have done, died. The men who buried him are coming through the door, and they will carry you out and bury you also."

¹⁰ When she heard this, it shocked her, and she fell down and died. Then the young men came in and finding she was dead, carried her out and buried her beside her husband. ¹¹ The entire congregation and all who heard about this were gripped with fear.

Then what about this commentary found in The Acts of the Apostles?

Afterward, Ananias and Sapphira grieved the Holy Spirit by yielding to feelings of covetousness. They began to regret their promise and soon lost the sweet influence of the blessing that had warmed their hearts with a desire to do large things in behalf of the cause of Christ. They thought they had been too hasty, that they ought to reconsider their decision. They talked the matter over, and decided not to fulfill their pledge. They saw, however, that those who parted with their possessions to supply the needs of their poorer brethren, were held in high esteem among the believers; and ashamed to have their brethren know that their selfish souls grudged that which they had solemnly dedicated to God, they deliberately decided to sell their property and pretend to give all the proceeds into the general fund, but really to keep a large share for themselves. Thus they would secure their living from the common store and at the same time gain the high esteem of their brethren. {AA 72.1}

But God hates hypocrisy and falsehood. [Why does God hate it? What happens in the character of His children to harbor such attitudes? And what influence on others do hypocrites have? What did Lucifer do in heaven?] Ananias and Sapphira practiced fraud in their dealing with God; they lied to the Holy Spirit, and their sin was visited with swift and terrible judgment. When Ananias came with his offering, Peter said: "Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost, and to keep back part of the price of the land? Whiles it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God." {AA 72.2}

What do you understand this to mean "visited with swift and terrible judgment."

Does it say they were visited with swift and terrible punishment? No! What they were confronted with was immediate diagnosis, i.e. judgment, revelation of the truth of their situation. They were exposed as liars and frauds; and they were judged right then and there to be hardened against God. And what happened? They fell down and died.

They were overcome with guilt and shame—do we find this incredible to believe? Ignoring the evidence given above, do we believe that Jesus, who knew no sin, became sin for us? That He experienced what unremedied sin does in order for us to be saved? And when did this happen to Him? In Gethsemane, and what would have happened to Jesus in Gethsemane if God didn't intervene and send an angel to strengthen Him? He would have died, from what? From the mental anguish of being separated from His Father, which is the result of what unremedied sin does.

What do you think of this commentary, regarding the idea of the judgments of God:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

What are God's judgments? They are His accurate diagnosis of each and every heart and situation! And His actions are always in harmony with His nature, character and law of love, always designed to heal and restore, but under the principle of liberty, because love only exists in an atmosphere of liberty. Thus, those who choose to live independently from God, will eventually be set free to experience what they have chosen, but only when they have passed the point that no amount of truth and love has any more impact upon them.

What do you think of this commentary:

Under the demonstration of the Holy Spirit's power, the Jews saw their guilt in refusing the evidence that God had sent; but they would not yield their wicked resistance. Their obstinacy became more and more determined, and worked the ruin of their souls. [what worked the ruin of their souls. What kind of law is this?] It was not that they could not yield, for they could, yet would not. It was not alone that they had been guilty, and deserving of wrath, but that they armed themselves with the attributes of Satan, and determinedly continued to be opposed to God. Every day, in their refusal to repent, they took up their rebellion afresh. They were preparing to reap that which they had sown. The wrath of God is not declared against men merely because of the sins which they have committed, but for choosing to continue in a state of resistance, and, although they have light and knowledge, repeating their sins of the past. If they would submit, they would be pardoned; but they are determined not to yield. They defy God by their obstinacy. These souls have given themselves to Satan, and he controls them according to his will. {Testimony to Ministers 74.2}

How was it with the rebellious inhabitants of the antediluvian world? After rejecting the message of Noah, they plunged into sin with greater abandon than ever before, and doubled the enormity of their corrupting practices. Those who refuse to reform by accepting Christ find nothing reformative in sin; their minds are set to carry their spirit of revolt, and they are not, and never will be, forced to submission. The judgment which God brought upon the antediluvian world declared it incurable. {TM 75.1}

What type of law is being described here? Why does God's wrath come? What is God's wrath? What law lens do you understand it through?

- The city of murderers is doomed! I myself will pile up the firewood. Bring more wood! Fan the flames! Cook the meat! Boil away the broth! Burn up the bones! Now set the empty bronze pot on the coals and let it get red-hot....You will not be pure again until you have felt the full force of my anger. I, the Lord, have spoken. The time has come for me to act (emphasis mine). (Ezek 24:2, 9-14)
- "For a fire has been kindled by my wrath, one that burns to the realm of death below. It will devour the earth and its harvests and set afire the foundations of the mountains. I will heap calamities upon them and spend my arrows against them." (DT 32:22, 23)
- "If only they were wise and would understand this and discern what their end will be! How could one man chase a thousand, or two put ten thousand to flight, unless their Rock had sold them, unless the Lord had given them up?" (emphasis mine DT 32:29, 30)

- Paul makes this abundantly clear in Rom 1:18-32 when he says the wrath of God is being seen against all godlessness and he tells us three times in verses 24, 26 and 28 that God's wrath is giving people up to reap what unremedied sin does—pain, suffering and death.

So what power did the Apostles receive and wield? The power of truth and love under the principle of freedom!

They were empowered to be witnesses to Jesus – to witness what? To give witness to what?

- The truth about Jesus' resurrection
- The truth about God's kingdom of love and methods of governing
- The truth about God's Remedy to sin, procured by Christ and freely offered to all

What has been the witness of the Christian church? Has it consistently revealed the love of Jesus?

SUNDAY

Philip the Evangelist—there are two Philips in the New Testament, Philip the Apostle and Philip the Evangelist.

What do you think Philip said when he entered new areas to evangelize about Jesus?

Today, do you think John the Baptist's approach, standing on a street corner and proclaiming the need to repent, would work? Why or why not?

Was the message taken by the early church about a risen Jesus, not only true, but new and fresh and revitalizing? And what did that message focus upon? Was it not Jesus, His victory over sin and the offer for renewal of heart and mind?

Has something happened to the message since that time? What?

The message was corrupted by a system of beliefs that doesn't bring peace and joy, but fear and burdens. The "gospel" presented to the world most often today, is, functionally, no different than human systems of governing. Thus, it is not new, it is not fresh, it is not revitalizing, it is fear inducing, burden inflicting and hope destroying. When we present a god that harmonizes with Satan's view of God then our message is devoid of power. It has a form of godliness but no power thereof!

Examples:

- God's law is imposed, no different functionally than human laws
- God, therefore, is the source of inflicted punishment
- Sins are bad deeds which are being recorded and if you don't get them—each one—legally taken care of God will torture you to death

- The church is God's authority on earth and holds the keys to salvation, thus one must follow the dictates from church headquarters in order to be saved
 - Institutional ritual control (sacraments) if the institution doesn't baptize can't go to heaven, if the institution doesn't do last rights can't go to heaven, if the institution doesn't hear your confession can't go to heaven. If you don't pay your tithes to the institution you can't go to heaven...
- Once the idea of an imposed law was accepted then all types of arbitrary beliefs and rules infected Christianity:
 - Indulgences
 - Elite clergy separate from the laity
 - Holy relics with sacred powers
 - Penance
- Crusades, inquisitions, torture
- Christianity is seen as a system of coercive and arbitrary power and thus God is portrayed in this false light

Further, under this human imposed law system, many words lost their true meaning:

- Being saved rather than meaning being healed, renewed, reconciled in heart and mind to God to love Him and others, came to mean having your sinful deeds accounted for either in the church system of confession, penance, indulgence or in the heavenly accounting of the application of Jesus' blood to your heavenly records
- Becoming a Christian, rather than becoming a person who loves Jesus and His Father with all your heart and practices God's methods of love—thus revealing Christ's character of truth and freedom in dealing with others, came to mean belonging to an institutional religion and affirming their creed.
- Christianity, rather than being the unfolding of never-ending truth, became the bastion of closed-minded rigid thinkers who establish mountains of traditions, doctrines and beliefs designed to obstruct truth and keep people in fear of God and loyal to the institution.

MONDAY

The lesson is focused on Acts 6:1-7, which is the struggle of the rapid growth in the early church and the Apostles getting bogged down with administrative and organizational issues. They decided to select seven others who would be deacons, to take these responsibilities off the shoulder of the Apostles, so the Apostles could do their work in spreading the gospel.

I know that our ministry needs some more people who would be willing to help Dean run the equipment each week, set up, take down, control room. He would like enough people that no one would have to do it more than once a month. But recently that has not been the case. If you would be willing to help out with our broadcast team please see Dean after class.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Acts 8:1-8, from The Remedy:

¹ And Saul stood there, applauding his murder. That very day, terrible persecution broke out against those in Jerusalem who had partaken of the Remedy and were part of the church—the Lord's 'spiritual health-care' team. They all scattered throughout Judea and Samaria—all, that is, except for the Twelve. ² Men who were loyal to God buried Stephen and grieved deeply for him, ³ but Saul set out on a mission to destroy the church. He went on a house-by-house search and dragged away any who had partaken of the Remedy, imprisoning both men and women.

⁴ Those who had scattered out from Jerusalem spread the Remedy wherever they went. ⁵ Philip took the truth of the Messiah to a city in Samaria. ⁶ When the people heard the beauty and clarity of the Remedy he presented, and saw the miraculous healings, they were riveted to his every word. ⁷ Evil spirits shouted in protest as they were driven out, and many paralyzed and crippled people were healed. ⁸ So the city was filled with great joy.

What do you think about miracles in evangelism today?

Would our efforts be helped by miracles? What is the problem with relying on miracles for evangelism?

- Deuteronomy 13:1-3. "If a prophet arises among you, or a dreamer of dreams, and gives you a sign or a wonder, and the sign or wonder which he tells you comes to pass, and if he says, 'Let us go after other gods,' which you have not known, 'and let us serve them,' you shall not listen to the word of that prophet or to that dreamer of dreams." (RSV)
- Matthew 24:24. "If anyone says to you then, 'Look, here is Christ!' or 'There he is!' don't believe it. False christs and false prophets are going to appear and will produce great signs and wonders to mislead, if it were possible, even God's own people!" (Phillips)

So based on these Bible texts one of the founders of the SDA church wrote:

- "The way in which Christ worked was to preach the Word, and to relieve suffering by miraculous works of healing. But I am instructed that we cannot now work in this way; for Satan will exercise his power by working miracles. God's servants today could not work by means of miracles; because spurious works of healing, claiming to be divine, will be wrought. MM 14
- "As spiritualism more closely imitates the nominal Christianity of the day, it has greater power to deceive and ensnare. Satan himself is converted, after the modern order of things. He will appear in the character of an angel of light. Through the agency of spiritualism, miracles will be wrought, the sick will be healed, and many undeniable wonders will be performed. And as the spirits will profess faith in the Bible, and manifest respect for the institutions of the church, their work will be accepted as a manifestation of divine power." Great Controversy 588 (1888)

Miracles can be counterfeited—truth is truth and once one understands reality, how it works, miracles cannot persuade one away from it. Thus, truth doesn't need a miraculous sign to validate it!

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "According to Acts..." Have you ever had the difficulty of dealing with someone who restricted the evidence they would accept?

What about those who will only read the KJV of the Bible? Or those who reject the integration of science and experience, or some who reject Scripture and will only accept science and experience?

How do you approach such people? Do you understand God's design well enough in all spheres that you can speak about His kingdom to everyone?

Jesus quoted Scripture to the Pharisees and Sadducees, meeting them with what they touted as their source of authority. The people didn't know that much Scripture, so He met them with examples from nature and their own life experiences to illustrate and demonstrate the truth of God's kingdom.

Read last paragraph, "The Spirit of the Lord..." Isn't this profound? Someone was converted to Christ, based on the truth about Jesus and His accomplishments, and then was baptized into the church, without being run through the 28 Fundamentals? How could this be?

Why don't we do it this way today? Is it because we are afraid, afraid the institution will be infected and controlled by people to haven't accepted our creed?

Read bottom green section, "Philip explained to the Ethiopian..." Can anyone tell me what the central message of Jesus is?

- Jesus died for our sins?
- Jesus paid the price?
- Jesus redeems us from God's wrath?
- Jesus covers us with His righteousness?
- Jesus shed His blood for our salvation?

Are these the central message of Jesus' mission?

"I have brought you glory on earth by completing the work you gave me to do... ⁶ I have revealed you to those whom you gave me out of the world. They were yours; you gave them to me and they have obeyed your word." Jn 17:4,6

What did Jesus say was His primary work? Revealing the truth about God, why?

- What did the war in heaven start over?
- How did sin infect humanity?
- Lies believed broke the circle of love and trust
- Broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness
- Fear and selfishness result in acts of sin
- Acts of sin damage mind, body, character and result in death
- Healing starts with the truth about God which destroys lies and restores trust
- Restored trust results in opening the heart and God pours His love in
- Trust and love results in acts or righteousness
- Acts of righteousness result in growth in godliness and spreading His kingdom of love and truth

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, “At this stage...” What do you think about the fact four of his daughters were given the gift of prophecy?

Do you think God has a different view of the role of women in the church than they did then and than we do today?

What does it say about God that He empowered women with such gifts?

What about the last sentence of that paragraph, “This testifies to good parenting and true godliness in this pioneering Christian family.”

Does it? Is the lesson suggesting then, that if children go wayward there was bad parenting?

What about God’s parenting of Lucifer and Adam and Eve? Did they go wayward because of bad parenting?

What injury do we do to people to think so narrowly?

What is the balance in the relationship between parenting and outcomes?

FRIDAY

Read and discuss questions

1. Is Christianity unified or fragmented? Over 34,000 different Christian groups exist. If the gospel breaks down barriers and creates unity, then what does it mean that Christianity is fractured into over 34,000 different groups? Could it mean that Christianity is not promoting the true gospel but a false gospel?

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 11

Paul: Background and Call

SABBATH

Before we get started I wanted to thank Cami Hilton for finding the quotation I asked about last week, she texted it to me before class was over.

We have united in earnest prayer around the sickbed of men, women, and children, and have felt that they were given back to us from the dead in answer to our earnest prayers. In these prayers we thought we must be positive, and if we exercised faith, that we must ask for nothing less than life. We dared not say, “If it will glorify God,” fearing it would admit a semblance of doubt. We have anxiously watched those who have been given back, as it were, from the dead. We have seen some of these, especially youth, raised to health, and they have forgotten God, become dissolute in life, causing sorrow and anguish to parents and friends, and have become a shame to those who feared to pray. They lived not to honor and glorify God, but to curse Him with their lives of vice. {Pr 233.1}

We no longer mark out a way, nor seek to bring the Lord to our wishes. If the life of the sick can glorify Him, we pray that they may live, nevertheless, not as we will but as He will. Our faith can be just as firm, and more reliable, by committing the desire to the all-wise God and, without feverish anxiety, in perfect confidence trusting all to Him. We have the promise. We know that He hears us if we ask according to His will.—(Counsels on Health, 378, 379.) {Pr 233.2}

When you think about Paul, his background and call, what lessons can we learn?

- How God turns enemies into friends!
 - How did God reach Paul?
 - First, by the witness of Stephen’s selfless and pure character and forgiving heart; second, by a lancing confrontation—after Saul’s conscience had been eating at him, Jesus lanced through the last layers of denial and the truth won out.
- The reality of a new life in Christ
 - What was the primary, i.e. foundational root, change in Paul when he converted? Fear and selfishness (survival of the fittest) was replaced with love for God and others. He died to self. Thus rather than seeking to use his life to destroy others, he was willing to sacrifice his life to save others.
- The ability to overcome a bad reputation
 - How did Paul do this?
 - By, over time, living and presenting the truth in love and leaving others free
- That moving forward in God’s plan may result in loss of previously valued relationships, position, authority...

- What did Paul lose? The respect and power of the institutional church, but we also learn...
- That rejection by religious authorities, arrest, criminal prosecution does not mean one is in the wrong
- The importance of thinking for oneself
 - How important is this?
 - Do you notice through history, those in the wrong try to use organizational pressure to intimidate those with the truth into conformity?
 - Ahab and Elijah (other kings and prophets)
 - Jewish leaders and Jesus
 - Roman church and Reformers
 - British Empire and Gandhi
 - Islamic terrorists and the anyone who would criticize their prophet or religion
 - What about our own church, are there elements of this behavior that creep in?
- Following Jesus, while rewarding, can be painful, costly and exhausting
- That when one understands reality, as God as genuinely created things to operate, and His character as revealed in Christ, then all loss for Christ's sake is actually gain!

Read memory text: "But the Lord said to Ananias, 'Go! This man is my chosen instrument to proclaim my name to the Gentiles and their kings and to the people of Israel. I will show him how much he must suffer for my name.'" (Acts 9:15 NIV)

What do you understand this to mean? What does it mean to proclaim Jesus' "name"?

- Jesus as the Savior of the world?
- Jesus as "King of Kings"?
- Jesus as absorber of wrath?
- Jesus as payer of legal debt?
- Jesus as shield from a "just and punishing god"?

If you were given 5 minutes to proclaim the name of Jesus before an audience of people who have not accepted Him, what would you say?

What do you think of Exodus 33:18,19, 34:6,7 in regard to proclaiming the name of Jesus?

Then Moses said, "Now show me your glory."

¹⁹ And the Lord said, "I will cause all my goodness to pass in front of you, and I will proclaim my name, the Lord, in your presence. I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion. ²⁰ But," he said, "you cannot see my face, for no one may see me and live.... ^{34:6} And he passed in front of Moses, proclaiming, "The Lord, the Lord, the compassionate and gracious God, slow to anger, abounding in love and faithfulness, ⁷ maintaining love to thousands, and forgiving wickedness, rebellion and sin. Yet he does not leave the guilty unpunished;”

Is this Old Testament text referring to Jesus? How do you know? 1Cor 10:1-3 – the rock from which Israel drank was Jesus!

One of the founders of the SDA church commented on this passage from Exodus:

The glory of God is His character. While Moses was in the mount, earnestly interceding with God, he prayed, "I beseech thee, show me thy glory." In answer God declared, "I will make all my goodness pass before thee, and I will proclaim the name of the Lord before thee; and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy." The glory of God--His character--was then revealed: "The Lord passed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty" (Exodus 33:18, 19; 34:6, 7). {AG 322.2}

This character was revealed in the life of Christ. That He might by His own example condemn sin in the flesh, He took upon Himself the likeness of sinful flesh. Constantly he beheld the character of God; constantly He revealed this character to the world. {AG 322.3}

Christ desires His followers to reveal in their lives this same character. In His intercessory prayer for His disciples He declared: "The glory [character] which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one; I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me" (John 17:22, 23). {AG 322.4}

What does it mean to proclaim the name of Jesus? To reveal His character!

What was Paul's mission in regard to proclaiming the name of Jesus? To reveal in every way possible, in clearest light, the truth of God's character of love as revealed by Jesus.

What is our mission today? Are we doing this?

From a book entitled Christ's Object Lessons:

"It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth...The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love." Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

Read last paragraph, "Paul is credited..."

SUNDAY

Read last, "Paul's pharisaic..." What are divine absolutes and what were some of the cultural additions which Paul differentiated?

Cultural Additions:

- Circumcision
- Ceremonial cleansing, washing, dressing
- Sacrificial system at the Temple
- Bigotry and social isolation from non-Jews
- Law-keeping as a means of salvation
- Phylacteries
- Placing prayers/scripture on the mantle of door
- Male domination of women in families, society and religious institution
- others?

Divine Absolutes:

- Love does no harm to its neighbor. Therefore love is the fulfillment of the law. Rom 13:10
- " 'Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' ³⁸ This is the first and greatest commandment. ³⁹ And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' ⁴⁰ All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments." MT 22:37-40
- What about the 10 Commandments? Why are these divine absolutes?
- Any others?

What about today: are the following divine absolutes or cultural additions?

- Circumcision of the body?
 - Circumcision of the heart, cutting away ties to worldly and selfish things and establishing the heart ties to God and heavenly things?
- Baptism in water?
 - Baptism by the Spirit?
- Communion ceremony of physical bread and wine?
 - Communion with God partaking of the Word of God (bread) and character of Christ (wine)?
- Foot-washing service?

- Humbling self in love to serve others, seeking to help them experience Christ and the washing away of sin from their characters?
- Phylacteries
 - Are we to have God's word, truth, character written into our hearts and lived out in our lives?
- Attending organized religious services?
 - Fellowshiping together with those who love Christ, sharing, supporting, working together to spread the truth about God and love others in your community?
- Singing of hymns or other praise songs?
 - Having a life that praises God with a song of loving experience in the service of others?
- Avoiding work and going to church on the seventh day of the week?
 - Having God's law of love, truth, liberty written upon the heart, such that you live by presenting the truth in love, leaving others free, validating the character of God of which the Sabbath is a sign?
- Asking God for legal pardon for sin?
 - Humbling oneself in repentance before God and experiencing in one's heart rebirth, death to selfishness, and love for God and others?

What did we just do? We moved past symbol, ritual, metaphor, which are all unnecessary, to the reality to which they point! And the reality is necessary!

What about Acts 15:20: "Instead we should write to them, telling them to abstain from food polluted by idols, from sexual immorality, from the meat of strangled animals and from blood."

Are these divine absolutes? Why or why not?

- How do idols pollute food?
 - Is it a change in nutrition?
 - It is an issue of belief/worship. This is design law, by beholding we become changed and lies believed break the circle of love and trust.
 - Thus, don't believe lies and don't worship false god constructs, because doing so damages the person.
- Sexual immorality?
 - What happens?
 - It is violation of design law, altering brain circuitry, inflaming selfish and fear circuits, thus obstructing healing of mind and character.
- Meat from strangled animals or blood?
 - What is the problem?
 - It also violates design law.
 - Humans were not designed to eat meat, and the blood carries waste products, but also stress hormones, and eating raw meat, drinking blood increases disease risk, and when the body is unhealthy the mind is compromised.

MONDAY

Read top paragraph, “Personality traits...” How do you distinguish the difference between personality traits and character?

Personality traits are aspects of a person that are considered more hardwired in, whereas character traits are elements of our personhood that are developed through life experience and choice.

Personality traits:

- Openness
 - Outgoing adventurous type people, enjoy new ideas, often artistic
 - In a 2011 study people who took psilocybin, (hallucinogenic mushrooms) had increased openness lasting up to a year, why? Because the chemical made alterations in the hardwiring.
 - Recent research explored the therapeutic potential of this ability of psychedelic drugs to alter hard wiring in OCD and PTSD. In one study PTSD patients were given a single dose of MDMA (ecstasy) while two therapists spent the entire day with the patient, supporting, and working through their experience. This was repeated in one other session. A control group was given a placebo and two therapists spent the day with them working through their issues. The results were 83% of the active group experienced such a marked improvement in their CAPS (Civilian Administered PTSD Scale) score from 80, indicating significant impairment, to 25 that they no longer met criteria for PTSD. Only 25% of the control group experienced this level of improvement. Further research is ongoing. [http://www.psychcongress.com/blogs/andrew-penn-rn-ms-np-cns-aprn-bc/how-psychedelics-may-accelerate-psychotherapy-mdma-psilocybin?e=\[email\]](http://www.psychcongress.com/blogs/andrew-penn-rn-ms-np-cns-aprn-bc/how-psychedelics-may-accelerate-psychotherapy-mdma-psilocybin?e=[email])
- Conscientiousness
 - Organized, duty focused, responsible, reliable and achievement focused
- Extraversion
 - Social butterflies, outgoing, engaging, like the limelight
- Agreeableness
 - warm, kind, compassionate, hospitable
- Neuroticism
 - Anxious worrier, often struggle with anxiety and depression

Each of the above are personality types.

Character traits include:

- Love versus selfishness
 - Can either of these character traits manifest in all the personality types?

- Joy versus dissatisfaction?
- Peace versus turmoil?
- Patience versus impatience?
- Honesty versus deceitfulness?
- Kindness versus cruelty?
- Goodness versus spitefulness?
- Faithfulness versus disloyalty?
- Reliability versus unreliability?
- Gentleness versus violence?
- Self-control versus impulsiveness/emotion-control?

How does one develop mature traits of character? By a trust relationship with Jesus Christ, in which one chooses to actually live in harmony with Him and actually give, self-restrain, be patient, choose kindness, choose to forgive etc.

TUESDAY

In the second paragraph, “Paul couldn’t preach or teach about what he didn’t know. No, instead he would preach and teach out of his own experiences with, and knowledge of, the Lord, all the time in harmony with the Word of God.”

This is an excellent point on several levels:

- Lecturing or teaching material one doesn’t actually understand makes for poor teaching, and typically results in introducing errors.
- Teachers who don’t really know their material have difficulty with questions and often use words the audience doesn’t actually understand
- One sign of a great teacher (Jesus was the best ever) is the ability to explain complex topics in ways non-experts, young people and children can understand
- The lesson is also rightly promoting integrating our experience with Scripture! If we also harmonize our experience and Scripture with God’s laws in science and nature we can achieve a very health world view.

The bottom of Tuesday’s lesson identifies five results of authentic missionary work:

1. Open people’s eyes—make God real
 - a. How do we do this?
 - b. What about the integrative evidence based approach, in which we show how Scripture is demonstrated in science and works in experience?
 - c. One of the most effective ways I have found is discussing Design Law with people, helping them get their minds around living in harmony with how life was constructed to operate. Most religious people I deal with, regardless of religion, don’t view their religious beliefs this way. Most view it through the lens of imposed laws, rules to keep based on levels 1-4:

- Get reward or avoid punishment
 - Make a deal—saw a television crime program in which a Muslim man was attacking other Muslims, and when interviewed by police his reason was, he had rigidly kept all the rules of Islam his entire life, and Allah didn't bless him like he was supposed to... How many Christians have the same struggle, go to church, pay tithe, etc. then a child gets sick and dies, or they lose a job etc. and they get angry at God? I have a patient right now who is angry at God because her son was killed in a MVA, black ice, hit by a truck. She expects, because she did right, that God was supposed to protect her son—thoughts?
 - Conform to be accepted by a group
 - Avoid legal trouble with God.
- d. Doesn't God become real when we see how His law functions in every aspect of our lives, in reality?
- e. How else can we make God real?
2. Move from darkness to light, ignorance to enlightenment
- a. What is required to move from darkness to light?
- A willingness to do so
 - This is the verdict: Light has come into the world, but men loved darkness instead of light because their deeds were evil. ²⁰ Everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for fear that his deeds will be exposed. ²¹ But whoever lives by the truth comes into the light, so that it may be seen plainly that what he has done has been done through God.” John 3:19-21
 - How do you deal with those who don't want to come into the light?
3. Turn from the power of Satan to God
- a. What is Satan's power & what is God's power?
- b. Satan's power—lies, coercion, manipulation, fear
- c. God's power—truth, love, freedom
4. Receive forgiveness of sins
- a. What does this mean?
- b. Could it be presented in a way that darkens the mind rather than enlightens? how?
5. Receive a place among the sanctified; this means membership in God's church, regardless of ethnicity, gender, or nationality
- a. Does it mean membership in an institutional entity?
- b. What is it to be amongst the sanctified?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “One thing is certain...” What does it mean to keep Christ and Him crucified central to the message?

Is it possible to take Christ and Him crucified to the world, yet actually obstruct people from knowing God?

- What about promoting physical manifestations of the event, crucifixes or crosses held as magic wands, teaching these have power over demons, and wearing one protects against evil forces?
 - What do such ideas do to the mind?
 - What view of God do they generate?
- What about teaching Christ died to pay our legal penalty to an offended and angry god?
- Others?

What is an effective and healthy way to present Jesus and Him crucified?

- Before we can answer this question effectively, accurately, in a healthy and helpful way several foundational ideas must be understood—What are these ideas?
 - What was the problem that the death of Christ was designed to fix?
 - And that question requires us to understand the reality upon which God’s universe, government, kingdom operates. In other words, an understanding of God’s law.
- If we understand God’s law as functioning no different that created beings make, rules imposed, then we construe the problem of sin as a legal one, and we interpret the cross to mean something it doesn’t—dealing with legal penalties. This not only obstructs the power of what Christ accomplished at the cross, we lead people further from the true God, because we end up presenting God as the source of inflicted pain, suffering and death.
- When we understand that God is Creator, Builder of reality, and that His universe is constructed to operate in harmony with Himself, then we understand God’s law is the protocols upon which all life is built to function and sin is deviation from that design, resulting in death unless the Designer intervenes to heal and restore. We understand then, what the Bible says, “the wages of sin is death” or “sin when full grown brings forth death.” With this view in mind we realizes Christ came to heal and restore His creation back to God’s original design from the damage that sin has done to it—not to pay a legal penalty to an offended God.
- So, what was the problem sin caused that Christ addressed and fixed via His life, death and resurrection?
 - Lies about God were destroyed as Jesus revealed the truth about God and exposed Satan as a liar (Heb 2:14)
 - Destroy the infection of selfishness and fear, which is the carnal nature, thereby destroying death (2Tim 1:10)
 - Developing a perfect human character in harmony with God’s design/law of love (Heb 5:8, 1John 3:8)
- Jesus, God’s Son, who has life original in Himself, became human, partaking of our terminal condition, and died in order to cure this condition and restore humankind back to God’s original design.
- All those who trust in Him can receive freely, via the work of the Holy Spirit, a new heart with new motives, such that fear and selfishness are replaced by love and trust. Then it “is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.”

THURSDAY

The lesson suggests we read Galatians 2:1-17, but we will read through verse 20, this is from The Remedy:

Gal 2:1 It wasn't until fourteen years later that I returned to Jerusalem, and this time I took Barnabas and Titus along. 2 I went because of what had been revealed to me, and I presented to them the good news that I teach among the Gentiles—God's plan to heal and restore all humanity. I presented this good news privately to those who were looked upon as leaders, because I was concerned that my efforts to promote the freedom all humankind experiences in Christ might have been in vain. 3 But such was not the case, as evidenced by the fact that Titus, who was with me (and Greek by birth), was not required to be circumcised. 4 This issue came up because some individuals, pretending to be our brothers in Christ, had snuck in to spy on us and criticize the freedom we have in Christ, and attempted to enslave our minds again with meaningless rules and rituals. 5 But we were not swayed by them for one second, so don't waver, but cling to the truth of the good news we have presented to you.

Gal 2:6 As for those men and women in leadership, whom some consider important (their position doesn't matter to me because God does not judge by earthly, external appearances), they contributed nothing to my message. 7 On the contrary, they recognized the truth and power of my message and realized that I had been entrusted with the responsibility of taking this healing message to the Gentiles, just as Peter had been sent to the Jews. 8 For there is only one healing truth and one God—the source of this Remedy. God was working both in Peter's ministry as an ambassador of God to the Jews, and in mine as his ambassador to the Gentiles. 9 James, Peter, and John, who are considered pillars in the church, recognized God's graciousness at work in me and accepted me and Barnabas as co-workers with them in distributing God's healing Remedy. They agreed that we should take this message to the Gentiles, while they focus their energies on enlightening the Jews. 10 The only requirement they asked of us was that we remember the needs of the poor—something I was already eagerly doing.

Gal 2:11 But when Peter came to Antioch, I opposed him openly and publicly, because he was clearly wrong, and, if not corrected, would cause serious confusion. 12 You see, prior to the arrival of certain church leaders from church headquarters, who valued the Jewish traditions, he would socialize and eat with the Gentiles. But when these leaders arrived, he suddenly distanced himself and wouldn't socialize with the Gentiles for fear of what these leaders, who promoted circumcision, would think. 13 The other Jewish believers followed his lead and joined him in this hypocrisy, and there was danger of an artificial class distinction being established; and because of their inconsistent and hypocritical behavior, even Barnabas was led astray.

Gal 2:14 When I realized that they were not acting in accordance with the truth or the good news about God and his desire to freely heal all humankind, it became necessary to take a public stand, and I said to Peter in front of them all, “You are a Jew, yet you have experienced the freedom that Jesus brought and no longer live under the restrictions of all the Jewish traditions and rituals. Why, then, are you forcing the Gentiles into the bondage of Jewish customs and traditions?”

Gal 2:15 “We, who were born Jewish—part of God’s specially chosen educational team, blessed with the symbolic teaching tools, and not part of the ignorant Gentile world—16 clearly know that a person is set right with God not by rituals, symbols, or keeping to a certain educational script, but simply by trusting Jesus Christ. We, too, have been won back to trust by the evidence of God’s true character and methods revealed by Christ and thus our minds are set right with God by trust in Christ, and not by rituals or adhering to a certain set of rules, because it is not possible to heal the mind and set the heart right with God by behaviorally following a set of rules.

Gal 2:17 “If, while we seek to be healed and set right with God through the truth that Christ has revealed, it becomes obvious that the infection of selfishness has not been eradicated from our hearts, does that mean that Christ promotes selfishness? Absolutely not! 18 If I stop taking the Remedy and re-infect myself with selfishness, I only prove that I am sick and out of harmony with God’s law of love and life. 19 For through the written law I was diagnosed as terminal so that I might give up trying to cure myself and instead trust God and live for him. 20 The old ‘me’ who lived for self—who sought to get instead of give, the ‘me’ who lived on the survival-of-the-fittest principle—died when I recognized the true significance of all Christ has done. That old ‘me’ no longer lives, but Christ—with his character of self-sacrificing love—now lives in me. The life I now live in this body I live by trust in the Son of God, who loved me and freely gave himself to win me back to trust and to purge humanity from selfishness and death.

What was the problem Paul faced? What was the danger to Peter’s behavior?

The were allowing imposed law ideas, arbitrary rules, to creep in, rather than operating in harmony with Design Law and partaking of Christ’s victory in our behalf through trust.

Do we struggle with similar issues today?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, “Read 1 Corinthians...” What does contextualization mean as it pertains to presenting the gospel of Jesus Christ?

Are there practices that hide under the guise of seeking holiness, that actually obstruct contextualization and thus obstruct the gospel?

How about insisting on using only the KJV of the Bible? Is the KJV easily understood by people today?

Question 2 states God forgave Paul and used him in a mighty way, was the problem with Paul being useful to God's cause one of God's forgiving or not forgiving?

Biblical Missionaries 3Q 2015 Lesson 12

Paul: Mission and Message

SABBATH

Read memory text: “Brethren, I do not count myself to have apprehended; but one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forward to those things which are ahead, ¹⁴ I press toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.” (Phil 3:13,14 NKJV)

What does this text mean? How do you hear it? What has he not apprehended? What is he forgetting? Toward what is he striving?

Here are these verses from The Remedy:

Brothers and sisters, I have not yet experienced this perfect, total and complete restoration but there is one thing I can do to assist God in his plan to heal and restore: I don't lament past mistakes nor grow content with past victories; rather I constantly push for the perfection that still lies ahead.¹⁴ I press forward, constantly toward the goal of Christlike perfection, one day to experience the ultimate prize for which God has called me heavenward—the joy of seeing him face to face.

What do we learn from this passage? To fix our eyes on Christ, not on ourselves, either our shortcomings or victories.

Read second paragraph, “Paul’s 13 letters...” What do you think of these sentences: “He touched doctrinal, as well as practical, topics. He counseled, encouraged, and admonished on matters of personal Christianity, relationships, and church life.”

Is there a difference between doctrines, practical topics, church life and personal Christianity?

Is there a doctrine that is impractical or not practical?

Is there a doctrine that doesn’t affect relationships or church life?

Can doctrines be taught in such a way that they become impractical?

Are any of the 28 Fundamental Beliefs of the SDA church impractical or don’t touch the Christian life?

1. Holy Scriptures
2. Trinity
3. Father
4. Son

5. Holy Spirit
6. Creation
7. Nature of Man
8. Great Controversy
9. Life, Death, Resurrection of Christ
10. Experience of Salvation
11. Growing in Christ
12. Church
13. Remnant and Its Mission
14. Unity in the Body of Christ
15. Baptism
 - Can this be presented in impractical ways? As having some power to cleanse the soul rather than a symbolic act demonstrating one has already died to self and been immersed into the character of Christ via the Holy Spirit?
 - How about by using baptism over and again for every shortcoming?
16. Lord's Supper
 - Can this be impractical? How? What if it stays a ceremony thought to have some mystical power and one never realizes it is symbolic of humbly serving God's kingdom to others and partaking of the cleansing Spirit yourself?
17. Spiritual Gifts and Ministries
18. The Gift of Prophecy
19. Law of God
 - Can this be impractical? How? By presenting God's law functioning like human law? Thus denying the reality in which we actually live?
 - By presenting God holding a heavenly tribunal and inflicting punishments, thus causing people to create doctrines that are designed to protect us from God rather than reconcile us to Him
20. Sabbath
21. Stewardship
22. Christian Behavior
23. Marriage and Family
24. Christ's Ministry in the Heavenly Sanctuary
 - Can this be impractical? How? By presenting the message in a symbolic way, but merely transferring the symbols to a location in heaven and pigeonhole Christ into the Old Testament rituals
 - How can it be presented in a practical way? By interpreting the symbols and applying them:
 - The Sanctuary is a symbolic representation for God's dwelling place—which is???? The heart of living beings!
 - The entire system of rituals and rites were symbolic representations of God's plan, through Christ, to heal and restore human beings back into His original perfection

- There is NO legal accounting of sins taking place in the system
- There is a constant cleansing from sinfulness being done; the removal of sin from the sanctuary, heart, mind, character of God's people

25. Second Coming of Christ

26. Death and Resurrection

27. Millennium and the End of Sin

28. New Earth

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read 1Cor 1:22-14: "Jews demand miraculous signs and Greeks look for wisdom,²³ but we preach Christ crucified: a stumbling block to Jews and foolishness to Gentiles,²⁴ but to those whom God has called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God." NIV

The lesson has an interesting insight, that because of the deliverance of the Jews from Egypt with great signs and miracles, they had come to a point they wouldn't believe truth if it wasn't accompanied by a miracle.

Good idea or bad idea to wait for miracles?

Do miracles increase thinking or decrease it?

Why did Israel in Egypt need miracles? What was the purpose of the miracles there?

- Level one thinkers—slaves view right and wrong through the lens of punishment and reward
- A sovereign demonstrates his right to rule by displays of might and power
- God used miracles in Egypt to demonstrate both the impotence of the false gods of Egypt and to reach the level one thinkers confirming for them that He is powerful
- But do miracles give us any insight into the character of the miracle worker?

Do miracles differentiate truth from error?

Can a miracle support a lie?

- Serpent talking is a miracle
- Jannes and Jambres (Exod 7:11, 2Tim 3:8)
- What about statues weeping?
- What about people being healed?
- Deuteronomy 13:1-3. "If a prophet arises among you, or a dreamer of dreams, and gives you a sign or a wonder, and the sign or wonder which he tells you comes to pass, and if he says, 'Let us go after other gods,' which you have not known, 'and let us serve them,' you shall not listen to the word of that prophet or to that dreamer of dreams." (RSV)
- Matthew 24:24. "If anyone says to you then, 'Look, here is Christ!' or 'There he is!' don't believe it. False christs and false prophets are going to appear and will produce great signs and wonders to mislead, if it were possible, even God's own people!" (Phillips)

Here are some quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church:

"As spiritualism more closely imitates the nominal Christianity of the day, it has greater power to deceive and ensnare. Satan himself is converted, after the modern order of things. He will appear in the character of an angel of light. Through the agency of spiritualism, miracles will be wrought, the sick will be healed, and many undeniable wonders will be performed. And as the spirits will profess faith in the Bible, and manifest respect for the institutions of the church, their work will be accepted as a manifestation of divine power." Great Controversy 588 (1888); The Spirit of Prophecy, vol. 4, p. 405, 406

"The last great delusion is soon to open before us. Antichrist is to perform his marvelous works in our sight. So closely will the counterfeit resemble the true that it will be impossible to distinguish between them except by the Holy Scriptures. By their testimony every statement and every miracle must be tested." The Spirit of Prophecy, vol. 4, p. 411 (1884); Great Controversy 593 (1888); LDE 170; Maranatha 94, 156; RH June 7, 1906

"Let none cherish the idea that special providences or miraculous manifestations are to be the proof of the genuineness of their work or of the ideas they advocate. If we keep these things before the people, they will produce an evil effect, an unhealthful emotion. The genuine working of the Holy Spirit on human hearts is promised, to give efficiency through the Word. . . . the Bible will never be superseded by miraculous manifestations. . . . We shall encounter false claims; false prophets will arise; there will be false dreams and false visions; but preach the Word, be not drawn away from the voice of God in His Word. Let nothing divert the mind. The wonderful, the marvelous, will be represented and presented. Through satanic delusions, wonderful miracles, the claims of human agents will be urged. Beware of all this. . . . We must not trust the claims of men. . . . Nor can we trust impressions. . . . The man who makes the working of miracles the test of his faith will find that Satan can, through a species of deceptions, perform wonders that will appear to be genuine miracles. . . . If we accept not the truth in the love of it, we may be among the number who will see the miracles wrought by Satan in these last days, and believe them." Manuscript 43, 1907; Selected Messages, vol. 2, pp. 48-53, 100; MB 146; LDE 167, 170; Maranatha 156; 7MR 357

How do we test every statement and miracle? By what?

- The three threads of evidence—harmony with Scripture, God's design laws especially openness, love, truth, freedom, and experience
- If a miracle occurs and then coercive pressure is brought to bear, what conclusion do we draw?

- By their purpose—miracles that are done to prove a person's authority, for sensation, to quell questions are suspect
- Miracles done to get a person to take an action, without corroborating Scripture evidence in harmony with God's design laws are suspect Does all of this mean there are no miracles?

Through the power of Christ, men and women have broken the chains of sinful habit. They have renounced selfishness. The profane have become reverent, the drunken sober, the profligate pure. Souls that have borne the likeness of Satan have become transformed into the image of God. This change is in itself the miracle of miracles. A change wrought by the Word, it is one of the deepest mysteries of the Word. We cannot understand it; we can only believe, as declared by the Scriptures, it is "Christ in you, the hope of glory" (Colossians 1:27). . . . {AG 107.2}

The lesson is about how Paul uses the metaphor of soldiers and athletes to communicate the experience of the Christian

What are the applicable points that we learn from Paul's metaphor of a race found in 1Cor 9:24-27:

²⁴ Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one gets the prize? Run in such a way as to get the prize. ²⁵ Everyone who competes in the games goes into strict training. They do it to get a crown that will not last; but we do it to get a crown that will last forever. ²⁶ Therefore I do not run like a man running aimlessly; I do not fight like a man beating the air. ²⁷ No, I beat my body and make it my slave so that after I have preached to others, I myself will not be disqualified for the prize.

What do we learn from this passage?

- They have a goal—do you have a goal in your Christian experience?
 - What is your goal?
 - What is your purpose in running the race?
- What is the prize the Christian pursues?
 - What does success look like in this race?
 - What does a victory lap look like?
 - "The greatest among you will be your servant. For whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and whoever humbles himself will be exalted." Mt 23:11,12

- What is Paul talking about when he says running aimlessly, or a man beating the air?
 - Could this be speaking of forms of religious ritual with no power to change the life?
 - Following the law through Satan's view of imposed rules, thus worshipping a dictator?
 - Could it be religion without the knowledge of God's character and law of love?
- What is he referring to when he states he beats his body?
 - Is it some religious penance?
 - Or is it self discipline, saying no to the desires of the sinful nature?
 - "Since therefore Christ suffered in the flesh, arm yourselves also with the same intention (for whoever has suffered in the flesh has finished with sin)" 1Pet 4:1
 - What does it mean to be done with sin? How is suffering in the flesh related? When we say no to the carnal nature it suffers, but we are not participating in sin any more!
 - 1Pet 4:1 from The Remedy: "Therefore model yourself after Christ, who, when tempted to save himself, chose instead to sacrifice himself thus suffering in his human nature. So, be like Jesus; love others first and say no to temptations to act selfishly. Your selfish nature will suffer but you will be done with sin."

Here is 1Cor 9:24-27 from The Remedy:

²⁴Don't you realize that in a race, even though all the athletes run, only one wins the race and gets the prize? Not so in God's kingdom—all who run may win the prize! So run the race in harmony with God's methods of love in order to receive the prize of reunion with God.²⁵Olympic athletes spend years in rigorous training. They work hard for a crown that will not last; but we do it to be crowned with the mind of Christ, which will last forever.²⁶Therefore I run hard, with the purpose to win. I don't shadowbox.²⁷No, I fight against self, surrendering my will to Christ, and establish reason in governance of my selfish desires, so that after having shared the Remedy with others, I will not be overcome by a resurgence of selfishness and lose the prized unity with God.

TUESDAY

Read top dark section, "Do we, then, nullify the law by this faith? Not at all! Rather, we uphold the law" (Rom 3:13 NIV).

Then the lesson asks what law the passage must be talking about?

Read first paragraph, "In English translations..." What do you think of the idea of the 10 Commandments being "in force"? What does this mean?

Which law lens are you looking through?

If looking through imposed law, then the 10 Commandments are in force because they were instituted by the heavenly government and no legal action has been done to rescind them, thus they remain “on the books” or in force and God continues to police and punish violations of this law.

If you look through the lens of Design law, what do you see?

Consider Newton’s first three laws of motion:

First Law: An object at rest remains at rest and an object in motion continues at a constant velocity unless acted upon by an external force.

Second Law: The sum of external forces F on an object is equal to the mass m of that object multiplied by the acceleration a of the object: $F=ma$.

Third Law: When one body exerts a force on a second body, the second body simultaneously exerts a force equal in magnitude and opposite in direction on the first body.

Questions about Newton’s laws:

- Are they real?
- Do they apply to our lives?
- Are they in force?
- Do they apply to everyone or only those who hear about them and choose to believe in them?
- When did they go into effect?
- Are they rules we must obey or descriptions of how reality is built to function?
- If Newton had not written them down, would that mean the laws would not exist and thus would not be in effect?
- If we decide, in committee, to change the wording of the first law to read that: “an object at rest remains at rest until it receives permission from the proper church committee to move,” what happens?
- In other words, can humans change these laws?
- Are these laws imposed law or design law?

Newton did not create or enact these laws; he merely described laws that were already in effect from the moment God created his universe.

The 10 Commandments are exactly like this. They describe but do not create God's law of love, just like Newton's laws describe but do not create the laws of motion. God's design law was already in effect before the 10 Commandments were written. But human beings, with minds darkened by sin, failed to comprehend God's design of love, so God provided a distilled version of his law specifically written for the needs of fallen human beings.

The problem is that almost the entire world has accepted the lie that God's law is merely a list of rules imposed, operationally no different than the laws created beings make; rather than realizing the 10 Commandments simply codified—put to words—the eternal law of love that all reality is built upon.

Then why were the 10 Commandments given? If they were not the enacting of the law, but merely the describing of the law in words so people could begin to understand reality, just like Newton's laws of physics, why were they given?

From The Remedy Romans 3:19-20:

¹⁹Now, we know that the Ten Commandments are like a medical diagnostic instrument identifying infection and exposing disease. It diagnoses accurately everyone who is infected with distrust of God, filled with selfishness and dying of sin, so that everyone who claims to be sin-free or free of selfishness will be silenced, and the entire world will recognize their need of God's healing solution.²⁰Therefore, no one will be recognized as having a healthy relationship with God and being like Christ in character by adhering to a set of rules; rather, it is through the Ten Commandments that we become aware of our sickly state of mind.

Read last paragraph, "With the moral law..." What lens do you think the lesson is looking through? The example of speed limits suggests imposed law.

How would you have described it?

WEDNESDAY

In the middle of the lesson it asks us to read 1Cor 15:12-22, in which Paul states that if Christ hasn't risen from the dead then there is no resurrection for us humans. But Christ has risen and therefore, in the future, when he returns the dead in Christ will rise again.

Then the lesson asks:

“Why is a proper understanding of death as a sleep crucial for making sense of these texts? That is, if the dead in Christ are already in heaven, what is Paul talking about here?”

So how do you understand the mortality or immortality of humanity?

Humans are tripartite, body, soul, spirit

- Body—soma—hardware
- Soul—psyche—software/individuality
- Spirit—pneuma—energy

To be operational must have all three, if your computer runs out of power it goes to sleep. How does the Bible describe those who die? As a sleep, but Jesus said those who believe in him will never die, what does this mean?

In response to the Sadducees, who just asked Jesus about the woman who married seven brothers after each died, he said: “You are in error because you do not know the Scriptures or the power of God.”³⁰ At the resurrection people will neither marry nor be given in marriage; they will be like the angels in heaven.³¹ But about the resurrection of the dead—have you not read what God said to you,³² ‘I am [not I was] the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’? He is not the God of the dead but of the living.” MT 22:29-32

Put this together with Jesus’ statement that those who believe in him will never die and we have Jesus saying that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are still alive... how do we understand this?

This is where the SDA church has made an unfortunate error in communication, note, an error in communication, not doctrine. The SDA church describes death as a sleep—just as the Bible does, but communicates that the individuals sleep in the grave, I believe this is an error.

How can we describe it more accurately?

At death:

- The body returns to dust (Gen 3:19)
- The energy (spirit) returns to God (Ecc 12:7)
- The software/individuality (soul) safe and secure in heaven on God’s heavenly servers, the Lamb’s book of life (not in the grave)

Notice Paul’s description:

¹³ Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. ¹⁴ We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. ¹⁵ According to the Lord's own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep. ¹⁶ For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. ¹⁷ After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. ¹⁸ Therefore encourage each other with these words. 1Thes 4:13-18

How are the righteous returning from heaven but also rising out of the earth? Their software/soul/individuality is returning with Christ, safely stored on the heavenly servers (Lamb's book of life) to be downloaded into new bodies, which are built out of dirt (coming out of the ground) and breath of life given, and they begin operating again.

Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. God in His own time will call forth the dead, giving again the breath of life, and bidding the dry bones live. The same form will come forth, but it will be free from disease and every defect. It lives again bearing the same individuality of features, so that friend will recognize friend. There is no law of God in nature which shows that God gives back the same identical particles of matter which composed the body before death. God shall give the righteous dead a body that will please Him. {6BC 1093.2}

What are the problems if we conclude humans were given immortality in Eden?

- What does it say about God?
- Either no foreknowledge and also naive OR
- Malicious and sadistic, why?

Evidence from Scripture that immortality is not possessed by humans, but a gift of God to the righteous?

- After he drove the man out, he placed on the east side of the Garden of Eden cherubim and a flaming sword flashing back and forth to guard the way to the tree of life. Gen 3:24
 - Why bar the way to the tree of life if they were already immortal?
 - How is barring the way to the tree of life an act of mercy, not a punishment for sin?
- God, the blessed and only Ruler, the King of kings and Lord of lords, ¹⁶ who alone is immortal and who lives in unapproachable light, 1Tim 6:15,16
- John 3:16
- For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord. Rom 6:23
- The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction; the one who sows to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life. Gal 6:8

What are potential institutional abuses that can occur when you merge the lie that God's law is imposed with immortality of the soul?

- Church having the authority to send souls to heaven, hell, or purgatory
- People on earth can then pay money, do acts for the church, like go to war, donate land, do great works of art in order to send a soul of a loved one from hell to heaven
- Johann Tetzel—Grand Inquisitor of the Roman Church, was known for his prolific sales of indulgences. He went around sermonizing on the terrible agony and suffering of the wicked in the torments of hell, and then offered a way for his listeners to relieve the suffering of their deceased loved one: "Whenever a coin in the coffer rings, a soul from hell springs."

This was one of the points Martin Luther, the great Reformer, rejected as he rejected the doctrine the immortality of the soul:

- Luther rejected the idea of torments for the saints: "It is enough for us to know that souls do not leave their bodies to be threatened by the torments and punishments of hell, but enter a prepared bedchamber in which they sleep in peace." Weimarer Ausgabe 43, 360, 21–23 (to Genesis 25,7–10): also Exegetica opera latina Vol 5–6 1833 p. 120 and the English translation: Luther's Works, American Edition, 55 vols. (St. Louis: CPH), 4:313; "Sufficit igitur nobis haec cognitio, non egredi animas ex corporibus in periculum cruciatum et paenarum inferni, sed esse eis paratum cubiculum, in quo dormiant in pace."
- Luther also rejected the existence of Purgatory, which involved Christian souls undergoing penitential suffering after death. "Smalcald Articles, Part II, Article II, paragraph 12". Bookofconcord.org. Retrieved 15 August 2012.
- Luther affirmed the continuity of one's personal identity beyond death. In his Smalcald Articles, he described the saints as currently residing "in their graves and in heaven."

"Smalcald Articles, Part II, Article II, paragraph 28". Bookofconcord.org. Retrieved 15 August 2012.

Luther presented it like Paul in Thessalonians and like EGW in the quote above.

FRIDAY

Read question 1 "Paul avoided..." What does it mean to water down the message? Or said another way, what is the central message that must be included?

Would we water down the message if we told people the truth about God's character of love, His methods, Design, the Great Controversy over His character, our condition being deviant from His design, our need for healing, thus repentance toward God and opening the heart, inviting Him in and how God's methods apply to our lives here and now—but don't share:

- The Beasts of Daniel and Revelation
- The State of the Dead
- The Sabbath
- The Mark of the Beast
- The Heavenly Sanctuary

Can and will people be saved who have the wrong understanding of these five areas? Will any be saved to don't love and trust God?

With that being said read question 2, "Why is the state of the dead such an important teaching?"

Is it? Yes, but is being important the same as being required for salvation? It is important because of the implications it says about God, and secondarily for the potential avenues of exploitation and deceit it can set up.

Read question 3 "Dwell more on..."

- Proverbs 14:15.
 - "A fool will believe anything; smart people watch their step." (GNB)
 - "A simple man believes every word he hears; a clever man understands the need for proof." (NEB)
- 1 John 4:1,2.
 - "My dear friends, do not believe all who claim to have the Spirit, but test them to find out if the spirit they have comes from God. For many false prophets have gone out everywhere." (GNB)

Here are some quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church:

"God never asks us to believe, without giving sufficient evidence upon which to base our faith. His existence, His character, the truthfulness of His Word, are all established by testimony that appeals to our reason; and this testimony is abundant. Yet God has never removed the possibility of doubt. Our faith must rest upon evidence, not demonstration. Those who wish to doubt will have opportunity; while those who really desire to know the truth, will find plenty of evidence on which to rest their faith." Steps to Christ 105 (1892); 9MR 202; compare Education 169

"Faith in a lie will not have a sanctifying influence upon the life or character. No error is truth, or can be made truth by repetition, or by faith in it. Sincerity will never save a soul from the consequences of believing an error. Without sincerity there is no true religion, but sincerity in a false religion will never save a man. I may be perfectly sincere in following a wrong road, but that will not make it the right road, or bring me to the place I wished to reach. The Lord does not want us to have a blind credulity, and call that the faith that sanctifies. The truth is the principle that sanctifies, and therefore it becomes us to know what is truth. We must compare spiritual things with spiritual. We must prove all things, but hold fast only that which is good, that which bears the divine credentials, which lays before us the true motives and principles which should prompt us to action." Letter 12, 1890; Selected Messages, vol. 2, p. 56

"I have been shown that many who profess to have a knowledge of present truth know not what they believe. They do not understand the evidences of their faith. . . . When the time of trial shall come, there are men now preaching to others who will find, upon examining the positions they hold, that there are many things for which they can give no satisfactory reason. Until thus tested they knew not their great ignorance. And there are many in the church who take it for granted that they understand what they believe; but, until controversy arises, they do not know their own weakness. When separated from those of like faith, and compelled to stand singly and alone to explain their belief, they will be surprised to see how confused are their ideas of what they had accepted as truth. . . .

"Believers are not to rest in suppositions and ill-defined ideas of what constitutes truth. Their faith must be firmly founded upon the word of God so that when the testing time shall come and they are brought before councils to answer for their faith they may be able to give a reason for the hope that is in them. . .

"It is important that in defending the doctrines which we consider fundamental articles of faith we should never allow ourselves to employ arguments that are not wholly sound. These may avail to silence an opposer but they do not honor the truth. We should present sound arguments, that will not only silence our opponents, but will bear the closest and most searching scrutiny." Testimonies, vol. 5, pp. 707,708 (1889); GW 297-300; CWE 39,40; Maranatha 45; LDE 70

"Those who cannot impartially examine the evidences of a position that differs from theirs, are not fit to teach in any department of God's cause." Review and Herald, February 18, 1890 (2RH 368:1:3); The Ellen G. White 1888 Materials 534; ISM 411

Explores the breakdown in working relationship between Paul and Mark, when Mark became discouraged and wavered. But Barnabas believed Mark was still a member of God's team and supported Mark's inclusion in the gospel ministry.

What lesson's do we learn from this?

Who was more inspired, Paul or Barnabas?

What is the lesson?

How do we treat people who waver?

Read bottom green section, "We all make..." thoughts?

Is there a difference between forgiving someone and trusting them? What is the difference?

Is there a difference between making mistakes and choosing evil? What is the difference?

2015 Q3 Biblical Missionaries Lesson 13

Must the Whole World Hear?

This lesson, perhaps more than any other I have taught, seems to walk the tightrope/balance between the natural and imposed law constructs, probably without meaning to...because when they come to a conclusion that can't quite be explained by imposed law or penal substitution, they literally turn to the "God's ways are higher than our ways and whatever He decides, it will be just and fair and every knee will bow." But, invariably, the default position seems to return to support the penal substitution and imposed law model. Did anyone study this week's lesson and find this to be true? See if you can pick up on some of these dichotomies.

So, what comes to your mind first when you hear that question? Hear what? If the answer is "the gospel"...does it matter what gospel the whole world hears?

Let's take a look at the memory text in Sabbath's lesson...it is taken from Romans 16:25-27,

"Now to him who is able to establish you in accordance with my gospel, the message I proclaim about Jesus Christ, in keeping with the revelation of the mystery hidden for long ages past, but now revealed and made known through the prophetic writings by the command of the eternal God, so that all the Gentiles might come to the obedience that comes from faith—to the only wise God be glory forever through Jesus Christ! Amen."

The 1st paragraph in Sabbath's lesson asks two critically important questions. Would someone please read that 1st paragraph loudly for us?

As we have seen, the Lord uses people to bring the message of the gospel to others. However, throughout the ages, millions have died without knowing the biblical plan of salvation. The fact is that a majority of those who have ever lived have not heard the story of redemption or known about the good news of God's grace as revealed in Jesus Christ. This leads to two persistent questions. First, on the day of judgment, how is God going to deal with these billions who have not known Him? Second, is there salvation outside of someone's knowing the plan of salvation as it is in Jesus?

What do you think? On the day of judgment, how is God going to deal with these billions of folks who do not know Him?

Is there salvation outside of someone's knowing the plan of salvation as it is in Jesus?
Naman/Nebucadnezer/Enoch/entire OT/folks in Romans 2:14-16

“When outsiders who have never heard of God’s law follow it more or less by instinct, they confirm its truth by their obedience. They show that God’s law is not something alien, imposed on us from without, but woven into the very fabric of our creation. There is something deep within them that echoes God’s yes and no, right and wrong. Their response to God’s yes and no will become public knowledge on the day God makes his final decision about every man and woman. The Message from God that I proclaim through Jesus Christ takes into account all these differences.”

The last paragraph in the lesson starts out really well...and then basically asks us to suspend our reason and judgment, as the penal substitution model falls short of being able to explain this concept. “In the end, the crucial point to remember is that Jesus has revealed to us the character of God, and this tells us a lot about His love for all humanity and His desire for as many as possible to be saved.” I would submit that what Jesus revealed to us about the character of God...doesn’t just tell us a lot, it tells us everything about his love for all humanity. “God is a God of justice, and however He works it out, the shout will be heard across heaven: “ ‘Just and true are Your ways, O King of the saints!’ ” (Rev. 15:3, NKJV). However He works it out? Will He really be “working anything out at that point? Or will He simply be accurately diagnosing reality, and giving up/letting go of those folks who refused to love the truth and thus be healed? (2 Thes 2:10).

SUNDAY

No Other Name Under Heaven

The lesson states that some folks, called “Exclusivists”, believe that only those who hear and respond positively to “the Christian gospel” can be saved. What “Christian gospel” do you believe the quarterly is referencing here?

The lesson then says that some Christians take it a step further and claim there is no salvation outside their particular denomination and doctrines, even for other professed Christians, and it mentions the Pope’s declaration in 1302 “that it is absolutely necessary for salvation that every human creature be subject to the Roman Pontiff.” But, are Protestants immune to this concept? Acts 4:12 is referenced and we are asked what this text is saying and what we think it means. Would someone read Acts 4:12 loudly for the class?

NIV: It is by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified but whom God raised from the dead, that this man stands before you healed. ¹¹Jesus is “the stone you builders rejected, which has become the cornerstone.” (PS 118:22) Salvation is found in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given to mankind by which we must be saved.

MSG: By the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, the One you killed on a cross, the One God raised from the dead, by means of his name this man stands before you healthy and whole. Jesus is ‘the stone you masons threw out, which is now the cornerstone.’ Salvation comes no other way; no other name has been or will be given to us by which we can be saved, only this one.

The quarterly cautions against reading more into these texts than is actually written, but what does it mean...and how then can we explain texts like Zechariah 13:6 and Romans 2? What if I said, “Salvation from polio comes by no other name but Jonas Salk”? Why is that? Because he is the one who procured the remedy! Is it necessary for me to know Jonas Salk or have met him or have even heard of him...in order to benefit from what he achieved? Our salvation comes by no other name...because He is the one who achieved the remedy – the cure for our terminal condition...and He is the only one who could. He is “the way and the truth and the life” (John 14:6).

Did anyone read the analogy the lesson provided at the bottom of Sunday’s lesson? Someone please read the 4th and 5th paragraphs, start with the one beginning with “Imagine a man...” Any thoughts? Is this an accurate analogy?

Sunday’s lesson ends with a beautiful quote from the Desire of Ages that makes reference to the folks in Romans 2 we just discussed, but I am including a couple more paragraphs than what is in the quarterly:

“Those whom Christ commends in the judgment may have known little of theology, but they have cherished His principles. Through the influence of the divine Spirit they have been a blessing to those about them. Even among the heathen are those who have cherished the spirit of kindness; before the words of life had fallen upon their ears, they have befriended the missionaries, even ministering to them at the peril of their own lives. Among the heathen are those who worship God ignorantly, those to whom the light is never brought by human instrumentality, yet they will not perish. Though ignorant of the written law of God, they have heard His voice speaking to them in nature, and have done the things that the law required. Their works are evidence that the Holy Spirit has touched their hearts, and they are recognized as the children of God,” p. 638.

Do these sound like unconscious victims of smoke inhalation? Or like folks who discern God’s character in the things He has made, and have cooperated with the promptings of the Holy Spirit to have their fearful and selfish characters transformed – as is evidenced in their “works”? I believe this is a more accurate description of how salvation can happen – for all of us. Many in non-heathen “religious” or even Christian circles...are still ignorant and would do well to adopt this basic approach of worshipping the creator designer, and hearing “His voice speaking to them in nature.”

MONDAY

How Much Must One Know?

Interesting couple of paragraphs in Monday’s lesson. “Although the work of Christ provides the only means of salvation, some believe that explicit knowledge of Chris is not necessary in order for one to be saved. This does not imply that salvation is available apart from Christ but that God is able and willing to apply the merits of Christ’s work to whomever He wishes.” Is that true?! While this is the traditional way we have heard this taught, what does it mean? What are the merits of Christ’s work? It seems important that those be clearly defined:

- Living revelation of God’s character in order to win us back to trust and show us what the Law of Love looks like
- Defeated the infection of fear and selfishness in his humanity, thereby procuring a remedy for our terminal condition and offering an alternate outcome/trajectory
- Promised to reproduce everything Christ achieved via the power of the Holy Spirit...not in “whomever He wishes”, but in anyone who trusts and chooses and cooperates with that character-transforming power

“God ‘will repay each person according to what they have done.’ To those who by persistence in doing good seek glory, honor and immortality, he will give eternal life” Romans 2:6-7.

What do these concepts mean? Is God going to make sure everyone gets every bad thing done to them that they have done to others? What about those being “given” eternal life...is this an arbitrary declaration?

Also in the Desire of Ages on page 239,

“Our standing before God depends, not upon the amount of light we have received, but upon the use we make of what we have. Thus even the heathen who choose the right as far as they can distinguish it are in a more favorable condition than are those who have had great light, and profess to serve God, but who disregard the light, and by their daily life contradict their profession.” Churches are full of folks who have heard hundreds of sermons, who hear Scripture read publicly each week, but whose hearts and minds and lives and actions remain unchanged – perhaps because of what is being preached and what kind of God is being portrayed? Having a form of godliness but denying the power?

TUESDAY

Universalism and Pluralism

“Universalists” believe that in the end God is going to save all human beings, regardless of what they believed or even how they lived – because we are so closely related to God, we will all be saved no matter what. The quarterly also points out how one false doctrine of eternal torment leads to another false doctrine of universalism, because if “God so loved the world”, then how can anyone be lost, especially if being lost means eternal torment in hell? How could God burn someone He loves forever?! Obviously, because He loves them, he will only burn them for as long as they deserve. I kid. How does natural law explain why not saving the lost is the only and most loving thing God can do?

Related to universalism is “pluralism,” which is the belief that all religions are equally valid and lead equally to God and to salvation. So, no religion is inherently better than, or superior to, any other religion. For pluralists, the vast range of religious rituals and beliefs, symbols, and metaphors, are mere surface differences concealing a similar core of all religions. According to them, all faiths, at the core, teach basically the same thing – love for God/higher power, love for fellow human beings/golden rule, and hope for a blessed future life – so it would be very chauvinistic and arrogant to try to push Christian beliefs upon those who are members of non-Christian faiths.

What do you think about this philosophy that all religions teach basically the same concepts and are therefore all equally valid? If only we knew someone who could speak to this subject...if only we had a reference or a resource to go to that could tell us if what we believe really matters...oh wait. We do!

“You have power over what you believe, but what you believe has power over you!”

We have illustrated many times in this class how believing a lie literally changes us – neurologically, physiologically. Some of you may remember a story Dr. Jennings has told about attending a conference several years back at Harvard University called Spirituality in Medicine, where representatives of all religious backgrounds were allowed to speak on their spirituality and how it impacted their parishioners. At this conference a woman got up and extolled the virtues of her Wiccan faith – the pagan religion of white witchcraft – and apparently all 1,300+ folks in attendance broke out into massive applause of her and her Wiccan ways. Tim spoke at some point after her, and when he got to the podium he said something like, “While we absolutely want to support the freedom for anyone to believe as their conscience leads them to believe, but we should not confuse people’s freedom to believe whatever they want to believe...with the idea that all beliefs are equally healthy...they’re not!” An earnest belief that smoking helps you breathe easier...does not make it true.

Earnestness and sincerity do not make a misguided belief any more right or healthy. So believing in false God concepts, regardless of which specific denomination is responsible, is damaging, promotes fear, and destroys love. Belief in a loving, beneficent God is the only one shown to be healing and restorative to our minds and bodies. You can find a bunch more on this topic in both of Dr. Jennings' books, as well as in the "Healing the Mind" and "God and Your Brain" DVDs.

One other Desire of Ages quote that supports this concept:

"In all ages, philosophers and teachers have been presenting to the world theories by which to satisfy the soul's need. Every heathen nation has had its great teachers and religious systems offering some other means of redemption than Christ, turning the eyes of men away from the Father's face, and filling their hearts with fear of Him who has given them only blessing. The trend of their work is to rob God of that which is His own, both by creation and by redemption. And these false teachers rob man as well. Millions of human beings are bound down under false religions, in the bondage of slavish fear, of stolid indifference, toiling like beasts of burden, bereft of hope or joy or aspiration here, and with only a dull fear of the hereafter. It is the gospel of the grace of God alone that can uplift the soul. The contemplation of the love of God manifested in His Son will stir the heart and arouse the powers of the soul as nothing else can. Christ came that He might re-create the image of God in man; and whoever turns men away from Christ is turning them away from the source of true development; he is defrauding them of the hope and purpose and glory of life. He is a thief and a robber," p. 239.

WEDNESDAY

Sinners in Need of Grace

This lesson begins by quoting John 3:17, which is part of a very familiar passage I will read in context:

"In the same way that Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert so people could have something to see and then believe, it is necessary for the Son of Man to be lifted up—and everyone who looks up to him, trusting and expectant, will gain a real life, eternal life.

This is how much God loved the world: He gave his Son, his one and only Son.

And this is why: so that no one need be destroyed; by believing in him, anyone can have a whole and lasting life.

God didn't go to all the trouble of sending his Son merely to point an accusing finger, telling the world how bad it was. He came to help, to put the world right again (according to his original design). Anyone who trusts in him is acquitted; anyone who refuses to trust him has long since been under the death sentence without even knowing it. And why? Because of that person's failure to believe in the one-of-a-kind Son of God when introduced to him. This is the crisis we're in: God-light streamed into the world, but men and women everywhere ran for the darkness. They went for the darkness because they were not really interested in pleasing God. Everyone who makes a practice of doing evil, addicted to denial and illusion, hates God-light and won't come near it, fearing a painful exposure. But anyone working and living in truth and reality welcomes God-light so the work can be seen for the God-work that it is."

What a loaded passage! Let's work through it...why didn't God send His Son into the world to condemn it?

- Being out of harmony with natural laws does not require external policing, condemnation, or punishment
- Our condition is not our fault – HIV-infected mom and dad have an HIV-infected baby...what did the baby do? Is the baby still terminal?
- Love, mercy, desire to be in relationship with us, heal us, set everything "right"

Why is anyone who trusts in Him acquitted...and why is anyone who refuses to trust Him already under the death sentence (or condemned) without even knowing it?

Why is anyone with pneumonia who refuses treatment and antibiotics already condemned without even knowing it? We are all born in sin, conceived in inequity...we are all born terminal. Anyone who refuses to trust God and take the healing remedy remains condemned – not by God, but by their original terminal condition.

The last part of this text really struck me, "Everyone who makes a practice of doing evil, addicted to denial and illusion, hates God-light and won't come near it, fearing a painful exposure. But anyone working and living in truth and reality welcomes God-light so the work can be seen for the God-work that it is." It says anyone working and living in truth and reality welcomes God-light...it does not say anyone who behaves perfectly or never makes a mistake or who never, like Paul, does the very thing they don't want to do and acts out of fear and selfishness. So while their performance is not perfect, they have moved from darkness to light, they have "crossed over" from death to life (John 5:24), and their characters are being perfected by first trusting in God and then by working and living in truth and reality – natural laws, foundational design protocols are the basis for how reality even works!

There is a sobering quote at the bottom of Wednesday's lesson from the Acts of the Apostles, p. 9:

“The church is God’s appointed agency for the salvation of men. It was organized for service, and its mission is to carry the gospel to the world. From the beginning it has been God’s plan that through His church shall be reflected to the world His fullness and His sufficiency. The members of the church, those whom He has called out of darkness into His marvelous light, are to show forth His glory. (What is His glory?) The church is the repository of the riches of the grace of Christ; and through the church will eventually be made manifest, even to ‘the principalities and powers in heavenly places,’ the final and full display of...what? God’s might and power? God’s judgment? God’s destruction of the wicked? No...the final and full display of the love of God.”

What “church” do you believe Ms. White is talking about here? Is she pointing to a specific denomination? And what an incredible responsibility...and opportunity. What kind of job are we doing at showing forth his glory/His character...and making manifest to the universe the final and full display of God’s love?

THURSDAY

The Mission Call

I looked up the 1 Corinthians text referenced in Thursday’s lesson, and the subtitle read “Paul’s Use of his Freedom”, which I thought was neat. 1 Cor 9:19-23 in MSG reads:

“¹⁹ Though I am free and belong to no one, I have made myself a slave to everyone, to win as many as possible. ²⁰ To the Jews I became like a Jew, to win the Jews. To those under the law I became like one under the law (though I myself am not under the law), so as to win those under the law. ²¹ To those not having the law I became like one not having the law (though I am not free from God’s law but am under Christ’s law), so as to win those not having the law. ²² To the weak I became weak, to win the weak. I have become all things to all people so that by all possible means I might save some. ²³ I do all this for the sake of the gospel, that I may share in its blessings.”

Wow. What an amazing way to use his freedom! What sort of reaction might he receive from a church board today for employing these methods? Would they be heartily endorsed and supported?

The first paragraph reads, “The Lord of missions, in His wisdom, chose to work through humans to bring the message of forgiveness and salvation to the world. God chose men and women, despite their weaknesses (or because of them), to work together with the Holy Spirit and the angels. Why?

The lesson then goes on to highlight the progression from Israel being a steady light to other nations in OT times, to the salt methodology of the NT where His followers were commissioned to “go into all the world and make disciples”. How extensive was “the whole world” for the first Christians? Within a few years of the crucifixion, they had reached modern-day Cyprus, Lebanon, Syria, Turkey, Macedonia, Greece, and Italy. There is evidence that they propagated the gospel as far as southern Russia (ancient Scythia) in the north, Ethiopia in the south, India in the east, and Spain in the west...which is mind-boggling to me. If the first church was so keenly aware of the worldwide extent of its mission back then, how much more so should we be today?

Doesn't “the whole world” sometimes sound rather daunting and overwhelmingly big? One of the founders of our church has this to say about your “mission field”:

“Do not pass by the little things, and look for a large work. You might do successfully the small work, but fail utterly in attempting a large work, and fall into discouragement. Take hold wherever you see that there is work to be done. Whether you are rich or poor, great or humble, God calls you into active service for Him. It will be by doing with your might what your hands find to do that you will develop talent and aptitude for the work. And it is by neglecting your daily opportunities that you become fruitless and withered. This is why there are so many fruitless trees in the garden of the Lord. The Lord desires us to use every gift we have; and if we do this, we shall have greater gifts to use. He does not supernaturally endow us with the qualifications we lack; but while we use that which we have, He will work with us to increase and strengthen every faculty. By every wholehearted, earnest sacrifice for the Master's service, our powers will increase. We need not go to heathen lands, or even leave the narrow circle of the home, if it is there that our duty lies, in order to work for Christ. We can do this in the home circle, in the church, among those with whom we associate, and with whom we do business.” Christian Service 103

The quarterly asks this rather thought-provoking discussion question:

“If people can be saved without ever having heard the gospel, what's the point of risking life and limb in order to spread it to them?”

Is the command to “go” for the benefit of those going...or for those being reached? What impact or difference does it make in your life when you witness or share your faith? Can you truly be Christ-like...and not share your faith? What about the practical impact that can be made on a person's life who hears the truth about God's character of love, perhaps for the first time?

It also goes through some common human shortcomings and obstacles that have obscured some of our mission success stories, including:

- Poor planning for outreach, inadequate understanding of the task;

- Narrow focus on mission only as education, health care, disaster relief, and development, which overshadow preaching the gospel...can't all those things be considered preaching the gospel? In fact, can narrowly focus on those things with a servant mindset...without preaching the gospel?
- Underfunding and understaffing by the sending organizations;
- Missionaries unsuited to the task;
- Nations that forbid the preaching of the gospel.

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 1

The Prophetic Calling of Jeremiah

SABBATH

Second paragraph states, "Despite decades of fervent warning and pleadings, the people for the most part didn't listen to the messages he gave them from the Lord."

Why do you think they didn't listen?

- Do you think they thought, "We know we are wrong, we know we are fighting against the Lord, but we don't care"?
- Do you think they didn't believe Jeremiah?
- Why might they not have believed him?
- Did they have some prophecies or other Scripture they pointed to that caused them to reject Jeremiah?
- And did their misunderstanding of Scripture eventually cause them to reject Jesus?
- I was reading in the book The Desire of Ages this a.m. and came across this quotation. The context is Jesus was eating at the feast with tax collectors after calling Matthew and the Pharisees were criticizing Him to His disciples for not fasting and not following their traditions:

Jesus pointed out the power of false teaching to destroy the appreciation and desire for truth. "No man," He said, "having drunk old wine straightway desireth new: for he saith, The old is better." All the truth that has been given to the world through patriarchs and prophets shone out in new beauty in the words of Christ. But the scribes and Pharisees had no desire for the precious new wine. Until emptied of the old traditions, customs, and practices, they had no place in mind or heart for the teachings of Christ. They clung to the dead forms, and turned away from the living truth and the power of God. DA 279

It was this that proved the ruin of the Jews, and it will prove the ruin of many souls in our own day. Thousands are making the same mistake as did the Pharisees whom Christ reproved at Matthew's feast. Rather than give up some cherished idea, or discard some idol of opinion, many refuse the truth which comes down from the Father of light. They trust in self, and depend upon their own wisdom, and do not realize their spiritual poverty. They insist on being saved in some way by which they may perform some important work. When they see that there is no way of weaving self into the work, they reject the salvation provided. A legal religion can never lead souls to Christ; for it is a loveless, Christless religion. DA 280

- What was it about how the Jews at the time of Jeremiah used Scripture that prevented them from accepting Christ and hearing God's message?
 - Holding to previous interpretations and traditions and refusing new truth and light
 - What aided in the ability to resist the light?
 - Failure to interpret symbols, metaphors, object lessons, types into reality
 - Refusing to incorporate the interpretations of Scripture with nature and experience (The Integrative Evidenced-Based Approach), which is what Jesus did
 - Failure to grow past levels 1-4 in moral decision making, which resulted in seeing God as arbitrary and God's law as imposed
 - These combined errors led to believing law keeping, rule keeping of some sort, behavior, carrying out rituals, observing Sabbath and feast days, doing sacrifices (some legal religion) made them "safe."
 - Thus they had religion, claimed to be God's people, but were actually, according to Jesus, of their father the devil

Are we doing better today?

- Could Christianity be caught into a similar situation today, claiming a belief in Scripture but denying the truth about God?
 - Jesus said: "Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'" Mt 7:22,23
 - But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days. ² People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, ³ without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, ⁴ treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God— ⁵ having a form of godliness but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them. 2Tim 3:1-5
- Could the SDA church be vulnerable to this same problem, believing we are secure because we have certain Bible interpretations we cling to, but in reality we are stuck in metaphor and have failed to grasp the reality to which the metaphor points, and have also accepted an imposed law construct while refusing the integrative evidenced based approach? And with these errors could the SDA church be trapped into a false security believing we are special because of law keeping, observing a certain religious day?

What is the message of God for this time in human history?

“It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth... The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love.” Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

Why is this the last message to be given? How is this message connected to Bible prophecy, such as Daniel 8:14 and the 3 angels messages of Revelation 14 and the message of Revelation 18? And how has the message been corrupted by a false law construct and remaining stuck on metaphor?

One of the founders of the SDA church wrote the following:

The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi, are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25. {FLB 207.4}

What are these prophecies about? How are they taught? What law lens do you understand them through?

If we look through imposed law:

- God has a law that has been broken, the broken law requires just punishments
- God sent Jesus to take our punishment and God put all our sins on Jesus and punished Him in our place paying the proper legal price for the sins of humanity
- God, in order to be just and only give the proper amount of inflicted punishment to the unrepentant, keeps records of all our sins
- Those records are recorded in the heavenly sanctuary
- At the end of the 2300 year prophecy, the sanctuary is to be cleansed, thus the records are opened and a heavenly tribunal takes place in which sins are examined and those legally pardoned, because the sinner claimed the legal payment of the blood of Jesus, are removed from the record book. But any sin not legally pardoned (not repented of) is retained on the books and God will inflict the appropriate amount of punishment on judgment day.
- Jesus is right now in the Most Holy Place in a building in heaven, leading out in this examination, and whenever we pray for forgiveness, He pleads His blood to the Father and reminds the Father of His merits and the Father grants pardon and the sins are removed that that person's ledger and placed upon the shoulders of our sin bearing High Priest Jesus, who carries our sins out of the sanctuary in heaven and will one day place them on the head of Satan and punish Satan for our sins

- Further, when Jesus entered the Most Holy Place, the ark of the covenant was kept there, and in that ark is kept the 10 Commandment law, and on those tables of stone is written the Sabbath Commandment. So, those who follow their High Priest into the Most Holy Place by faith recognize the continued obligation of the Sabbath Commandment and observe the seventh day of the week. These people are God's end time remnant people, because they observe the right day of the week and trust Jesus to legally pardon their sins and remove them from the records in heaven.
- This people then is to give a message to the world, that all too often comes across like this: "Be afraid of God and worship Him as Creator by observing the seventh day Sabbath, because we are now in the antitypical day of atonement in which God is judging sinners and if you don't worship on the right day your sins will not be removed out of the record books and you will receive the mark of the beast."

This state of being is the exact state of being that Jesus faced 2000 years ago when He faced a religious community, who kept the Sabbath, observed the sanctuary law in dealing with their sins and thus felt secure in the fulfillment of their legal obligations—yet rejected Jesus and crucified the Savior of the world.

How do we see these issues if we view them through Design Law?

- God has a law, which is the protocol of love upon which life is constructed to operate. Mankind is deviant from this law and in a terminal condition. This condition requires God (the Designer) to heal and restore lest death ensue.
- God sent Jesus to take our terminal condition upon Himself and cure the condition, forge a new humanity thus achieving remedy for us
 - For he himself is our peace, who has made the two one and has destroyed the barrier, the dividing wall of hostility, ¹⁵ by abolishing in his flesh the law with its commandments and regulations. His purpose was to create in himself one new man out of the two, thus making peace, ¹⁶ and in this one body to reconcile both of them to God through the cross, by which he put to death their hostility. ¹⁷ He came and preached peace to you who were far away and peace to those who were near. ¹⁸ For through him we both have access to the Father by one Spirit. Eph 2:14-18
 - Here is this same passage from The Remedy: "For Christ himself is the Remedy that heals the species and brings peace. He has removed fear and selfishness that cause division, mistrust, prejudice and hostility.¹⁵ He did this by partaking of our human condition, and—via the exercise of his human brain—he loved perfectly, thereby destroying in his flesh (in the humanity he partook) the selfish survival-of-the-fittest drive along with the lies of Satan. In this way, he destroyed the need for the law (with all its regulations) to expose Satan’s lies and methods. His purpose was to be the template of a new humanity born out of the unification of the two—our selfish, infected condition merged with his sinless state—thereby purging selfishness from the human heart, and transforming, healing, renewing, regenerating and recreating humanity back to God’s original ideal.¹⁶ And in this new being, to reconcile the human race—regardless of ethnic background—into loving unity with God and each other through the revelation of truth at the cross, by which he destroyed the lies of Satan, reestablished trust, and removed fear, selfishness and hostility.¹⁷ He came and demonstrated the truth of God’s true character and the offer of peace available to all humanity—to those far away in darkness and those blessed with the truth of God’s word.¹⁸ For Jesus reveals the truth about God to all, and—through what Jesus has done—all have access to the Father by one Spirit.”

- God, in order to refute the lies of Satan and reveal His true character has kept records, but not to judge us by, but to demonstrate that all those who are lost are lost because they have refused God’s remedy.
- There is also another set of records in which our sins are recorded, but these records are not judicial records; they are the actual individualities of each person whose characters are perfectly recorded in heaven. In other words, every unrepented sin is recorded in the character of the unrepentant. This is why Jesus says, “Let him who is righteous be righteous still...” Here is a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church, because this is what was supposed to be understood in teaching the sanctuary message:
 - Remember, your character is being daguerretyped [photographed] by the great Master Artist in the record books of heaven, as minutely as the face is reproduced upon the polished plate of the artist. What do the books of heaven say in your case? Are you conforming your character to the Pattern, Jesus Christ? Are you washing your robes of character and making them white in the blood of the Lamb? "Behold, I come quickly; and My reward is with Me, to give every man according as his work shall be" [Revelation 22:12]. . . . {Testimonies on Sexual Behavior, Adultery, and Divorce 62.1}
 - Every passing hour of the present is shaping our future life. These moments spent in carelessness, in self-pleasing, as if of no value, are deciding our everlasting destinies. The words we utter today will go on echoing when time shall be no more. The deeds done today are transferred to the books of heaven, just as the features are transferred by the artist onto the polished plate. They will determine our destiny for eternity, for bliss or eternal loss and agonizing remorse. Character cannot be changed when Christ comes... {Testimony to Ministers 429.3}

- You must remain pure and true and firm, remembering your character is being imprinted upon the books of heaven. {Our High Calling 317.4}
- Those records (of a person's character) are recorded in the heavenly sanctuary—because the heavenly sanctuary is constructed out of living stones, the actual people who make up the temple where God lives by His Spirit.
- At the end of the 2300 year prophecy, the sanctuary is to be cleansed, and this cleansing is the cleansing of the hearts, minds, characters of His people:
 - “See, I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come,” says the Lord Almighty. ² But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. ³ He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Mal 3:1-3
 - “In the building of the sanctuary as a dwelling place for God, Moses was directed to make all things according to the pattern of things in the heavens. God called him into the mount, and revealed to him the heavenly things, and in their similitude the tabernacle, with all that pertained to it, was fashioned.

“So to Israel, whom He desired to make His dwelling place, He revealed His glorious ideal of character. The pattern was shown them in the mount when the law was given from Sinai and when God passed by before Moses and proclaimed, "The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." Exodus 34:6. ..

“Through Christ was to be fulfilled the purpose of which the tabernacle was a symbol--that glorious building, its walls of glistening gold reflecting in rainbow hues the curtains inwrought with cherubim, the fragrance of ever-burning incense pervading all, the priests robed in spotless white, and in the deep mystery of the inner place, above the mercy seat, between the figures of the bowed, worshiping angels, the glory of the Holiest. In all, God desired His people to read His purpose for the human soul. It was the same purpose long afterward set forth by the apostle Paul, speaking by the Holy Spirit:

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." 1 Corinthians 3:16, 17. (Education 34-36)

- “In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,--from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Mal. 3:1-3. (DA 161).
- Jesus is right now in the Most Holy Place in heaven, leading all the agencies at His disposal in the work of cleansing the minds, hearts, and characters of His people from the lies about God, the removal of selfishness, and the restoration of righteousness. They are the building blocks of His heavenly sanctuary.
 - “The cases of all are pending in the heavenly sanctuary. Day by day angels of God are watching the development of character... All defects must be remedied. The character must be assimilated to the character of Christ... At an infinite cost a fountain has been prepared for our cleansing. In the blood of the Son of God we may wash our garments of character, and make them white.” (ST, April 17, 1901).
 - What is the reality these symbols point toward?
 - Blood of Jesus = Character of Jesus
 - Garments = Our character
 - Washing in the blood of Jesus = Remove selfishness and assimilate the selfless character of Jesus
- "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come.” (Rev. 14:7).

- What is God's glory? His character, and how do we give Him glory? By allowing Him to heal us so we reveal His character at the time of His judgment! “Through trial and persecution the glory--the character--of God is revealed in His chosen ones.” (AA 576).
- And this people who are being cleansed from lies about God—realize His true character of love, and His design for His universe, the law of love, of which the Sabbath is a sign, begin living lives that reveal the truth about God in their characters while leaving everyone free. The methods of presenting truth, in love while leaving others free is symbolized by the Sabbath, the day in which God rested from presenting the evidence of His character. The Sabbath is the evidence of Design law—created at the end of Creation week, built as a day of reflection and consideration and worship of God.

Which message are we presenting to the world? Are we today listening to God's prophets? Or are we like Israel, stuck in misunderstanding of metaphor and blinded with a penal/legal theology because of accepting the imposed law construct?

We cannot do our mission as an end time people until we come back to the truth about God—His character and law of love!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “The prophets...” What do you hear the authors emphasizing? The need for people to realize their sin—no doubt, but do you hear them suggesting this is a condition of heart and mind that needs healing, or a legal problem that needs a legal solution?

Read second paragraph, “God's judgment was not...” How do you understand “God's judgment” referred to here? In other words, how do you understand God's actions in Old Testament times?

Do you see it as God evaluating the behavior of Israel, keeping track of the number of sinful acts, and when the bad deeds reached a certain intensity, without proper elimination through the sanctuary service, then God was required by justice, to pronounce them guilty of treason against the divine government and impose just punishments? Such descriptions are level 1-4 thinking and are based on Satan's view of God's law.

Understanding God as Creator and Builder of reality, we understand that:

- God was diagnosing the situation and intervening with loving education (His prophets telling them of the tragic results of continuing out of harmony with God's design) and when they refused to following God's treatment plan God either:
 - set them free to their own choices OR
 - Intervened with therapeutic actions intended to heal and restore all who would allow it, including at times excising malignant and necrotic lesions
- That those who refuse treatment, are eventually given up to their own choices and reap the results... slavery in Babylon etc.

Read fourth paragraph, "This task involved..." What motivation do you hear being cited here? This is level one thinking, reward and punishment—better do what God says because He can inflict more severe judgments than human beings—and provide better rewards.

Bottom pink read, "What are the prophets..." Consider these messages from Micah, Isaiah and Amos, three of God's spokespersons—what are they saying God wants?

With what shall I come before the Lord and bow down before the exalted God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?

⁷ Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousand rivers of oil? Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

⁸ He has showed you, O man, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God. Mic 6:6-8

Hear the word of the Lord, you rulers of Sodom; listen to the law of our God, you people of Gomorrah!

¹¹ "The multitude of your sacrifices— what are they to me?" says the Lord.

"I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals; I have no pleasure in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats.

¹² When you come to appear before me, who has asked this of you, this trampling of my courts?

¹³ Stop bringing meaningless offerings! Your incense is detestable to me.

New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations— I cannot bear your evil assemblies.

¹⁴ Your New Moon festivals and your appointed feasts my soul hates. They have become a burden to me; I am weary of bearing them.

¹⁵ When you spread out your hands in prayer, I will hide my eyes from you; even if you offer many prayers, I will not listen.

Your hands are full of blood; ¹⁶ wash and make yourselves clean. Take your evil deeds out of my sight! Stop doing wrong, ¹⁷ learn to do right! Seek justice, encourage the oppressed. Defend the cause of the fatherless, plead the case of the widow.

¹⁸ “Come now, let us reason together,” says the Lord. “Though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they are red as crimson, they shall be like wool.

ISA 1:10-18

“I hate, I despise your religious feasts; I cannot stand your assemblies.

²² Even though you bring me burnt offerings and grain offerings, I will not accept them. Though you bring choice fellowship offerings, I will have no regard for them.

²³ Away with the noise of your songs! I will not listen to the music of your harps.

²⁴ But let justice roll on like a river, righteousness like a never-failing stream!

AM 5:21-24

What is the message? The Lord does not want a legal religion; He doesn't want formalism, ritual; He wants healing of the inner man, a restoration of true righteousness, which is the law of love being written on the heart and mind. (Heb 8:10)

MONDAY

Last paragraph states the priests were to be moral and spiritual leaders... What is the lesson we are to learn from them?

In the Old Testament drama—the sanctuary stage play—who do the priests represent?

- The priesthood of believers; if you are a believer in Christ you are a priest.
- The white robes symbolize the character of Christ we are to assimilate into our hearts. Thus, we are to be spiritual leaders in the world.
- As the Levites camped between the other tribes and the sanctuary, leading the other tribes closer to the sanctuary (reunion at-one-ment with God) so too, we are standing as God's envoys to the world and are to be leading the peoples of the world back to a knowledge of God.

But the priests of Israel became infected with a legal religion and failed to actually know God and thus they led people into such darkness they rejected their Creator—the one to whom all the symbols pointed.

Is Christianity doing a better job of leading people to the truth about God than the priests of Old Testament Israel? Are we doing this or are we obstructing people from knowing God by perpetuating the false legal view of God that presents Him as cosmic executioner and the one from whom we must be protected? Did Christianity become infected with an imposed law concept and the world fell into an age of darkness, from which it still hasn't exited?

The Bible predicted this, "See, darkness covers the earth and thick darkness is over the peoples, but the Lord rises upon you and his glory appears over you. ³ Nations will come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your dawn." ISA 60:2,3

What is the darkness that covers the people? It is, as we read earlier today, darkness about God! We are to be lights, we are to take the knowledge of His true character and His design law of love to the world. This is the three angels messages, we are to be giving glory to God by revealing His true character to the world! What obstructs us? The infection of imposed law—which distorts everything, clinging to metaphor and symbol, and rejecting the integrative evidenced based approach!

TUESDAY

The first paragraph tells us that Jeremiah was speaking "the word of the Lord." What does this phrase mean? Does it mean the literal words were chosen by God? Or does it mean a message from God was being communicated?

When we read the Bible and understand it is the word of God, do we view the words as inspired or the people who wrote those words as inspired and thus it is about the message not the specific words chosen?

Here is an historic quote from Ellen White about inspiration. Do you agree?

The Bible is written by inspired men, but it is not God's mode of thought and expression. It is that of humanity. God, as a writer, is not represented. Men will often say such an expression is not like God. But God has not put Himself in words, in logic, in rhetoric, on trial in the Bible. The writers of the Bible were God's penmen, not His pen. Look at the different writers. {1SM 21.1}

It is not the words of the Bible that are inspired, but the men that were inspired. Inspiration acts not on the man's words or his expressions but on the man himself, who, under the influence of the Holy Ghost, is imbued with thoughts. But the words receive the impress of the individual mind. The divine mind is diffused. The divine mind and will is combined with the human mind and will; thus the utterances of the man are the word of God.--

Manuscript 24, 1886 (written in Europe in 1886). {1SM 21.2}

Then, can we feel comfortable using different words as long as we communicate the same message?

WEDNESDAY

The last paragraph states, “Imagine having to stand before hostile leaders or unruly people and give them sharp words of rebuke and warning.”

For whom are sharp words of rebuke necessary? For the immature, the hard of heart, those who don’t want to listen or think or reason.

People have different levels of psychological development, which generally means their ability to assimilate and deal with truth. People develop what are called defense mechanisms to, according to modern theory; protect the ego, the self, from disintegration. In reality, it is to protect selfishness from being removed from the heart, for these mechanisms are about denying truth, avoiding reality that would bring conviction and lead one toward maturity and healing. Those with the most primitive defenses often need strong confrontation—rebukes. If someone is wrong, but has an open heart and is willing to listen and learn, such words are not needed.

Here are some of the defense mechanisms:

Pathological:

- Denial: Refusal to accept external reality because it is too stressful, anxiety provoking (Addicts, narcissists, antisocials -- “I don’t have an addiction problem, I can handle it, It wasn’t me...”)
- Distortion: Twisting the mind around truth in order to avoid it (“This only happened because my boss doesn’t like me...”)
- Splitting: Extreme segregation of events into all good or all bad categories (black and white thinking)

Immature Defenses:

- Acting out: Unconsciously acting out in behavior unresolved emotional distress—a person who was molested and has unresolved issues might act out with promiscuity

- Wishful thinking: Making decisions on what one wishes life would be like instead of evidence and facts. Choosing to stay in a relationship based on wishing it will turn out right or he/she really loves you rather than based on the evidence of their conduct
- Idealization: Investing someone with greater virtue, intelligence, authority, value, than they rightly possess—thus deferring to their opinion and seeking their approval
- Projection: Seeing in others one's own defects and fears. A person who doesn't like to go to the store because of fear or feeling of others looking at them critically.
- Passive aggression: Anger toward others manifested passively, rather than directly admitting anger and dealing with it, one presents as supportive or not angry, but then undermines, often through procrastination or failure to do a good job.
- Somatization: Experiencing psychological distress with physical symptoms

Neurotic:

- Displacement: Separating emotions from real target, angry at boss but yells at wife
- Hypochondriasis: Insecurity about self manifested as excessive worry and preoccupation with one's health
- Intellectualization: Avoiding uncomfortable emotions via intellectual examination
- Isolation: Separating emotions from events, describing a traumatic event in great detail but showing no emotion about it
- Rationalization: Justifying one's actions as right or not having done a wrong, excuse making
- Comparing self with others: Finding someone who is worse in some trait of character and comparing self to that person as a means of avoiding dealing with one's own defect
- Regression: Reverting to behaviors that were appropriate at an earlier stage of development, whining, temper tantrums, rather than mature communication

Mature:

While the previous are all about avoiding the truth, the mature are all about assimilating and dealing with truth and overcoming defects of character:

- Respect: Recognizing the value and worth of others and the legitimacy of their thoughts and ideas
- Acceptance: Admitting and dealing with reality
- Patience: Willingness to delay gratification for a greater good
- Courage: The mental ability to stand one's ground and deal with issues
- Moderation: Self-restraint, keeping to reasonable limits, avoiding extremes not just in behavior, but beliefs
- Humility: Recognition of one's limitations and while healthy self-value, doesn't over esteem oneself

- Mindfulness: Ability to live in the here and now, rather than stuck in past (either past victories or failures) or living in future fantasy, either of success or failure.
- Gratitude: Have a thankful heart or mind toward life
- Altruism: Seeking to help others, valuing others more than self
- Tolerance: The exercise of the law of liberty, deliberately allowing others the freedom to do what you disapprove of
- Mercy: Compassion, grace, kindness to those under one's power or authority
- Forgiveness: Relinquishing one's desire for vengeance or retribution
- Anticipation: Realistic planning for future problems or needs—using seat belts
- Humor: Processing distressing emotions with witticism and humor

Which mechanisms do you use?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “The prophet is...” Would it be better to say Jeremiah’s mission was to transmit a message from God rather than the words of God?

What do you think about the idea “The emphasis here is not on the human or on human potential; it is on God’s sovereignty and power alone.”?

What does this mean? If it is about God’s sovereignty and power, why does Zechariah say “not by might nor by power but by my Spirit says the Lord?” 4:6

Is God sovereign? ABSOLUTELY! But how does His sovereignty work? Always through HIS law and design, which is the law of love and liberty, as love cannot exist without freedom. Thus coercive power or threat or might is never used. Here is an historic view:

“Earthly kingdoms rule by the ascendancy of physical power; but from Christ's kingdom every carnal weapon, every instrument of coercion, is banished.” AA 12

Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power. E.G. White Desire of Ages 759

God could have destroyed Satan and all his sympathizers as easily as one can pick up a pebble and cast it to the earth. But by so doing he would have given a precedent for the exercise of force. All the compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. He would not work on this line... This principle is wholly of Satan's creation. E.G. White Review & Herald, September 7, 1897

Read third paragraph, “One could argue...” Did you notice how the lesson rightly said, “He does not force anyone to obey and be healed.” ?

But what then does it mean “If His people will not respond to Him, His words of judgment and punishment will certainly be fulfilled as His words against Israel were fulfilled in the book of Jeremiah.”

Can God be saying, “You are free to decide, but if you decide against me I will judge you and punish you”? Is that freedom?

This is the problem of imposed law, it always puts God in the wrong light as a dictator, which is Satan’s view of God.

4th Quarter 2015 – Jeremiah: Lesson 3

Jeremiah is considered one of the “major prophets”. What is a prophet? Do his/her prophecies have to “come true” for the prophet to be genuine? Are their prophecies accurate 100% of the time? How do we discern between true and false prophets? Do we have a “prophecy” to deliver? What is it?

3. the Prophet, Muhammad, the founder of Islam.
4. a person regarded as, or claiming to be, an inspired teacher or leader.
5. a person who foretells or predicts what is to come:
 - e. a weather prophet; prophets of doom.
6. a spokesperson of some doctrine, cause, or movement. Source: dictionary.com

SABBATH

“He defended the cause of the poor and needy, and so all went well. Is that not what it means to know me?” (Jeremiah 22:16, NIV).

How eloquent.

How many times, during Old Testament history did God try and reveal Himself to his children this way? How many times did He try to reveal His Natural Law of other-centered-giving and contrast it with the pagan worship practices of the time? Has anything really changed here in the 21st century?

We can see genetics and epigenetics at work here in this lesson with “...visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me.” Ex. 20:5.

We also see the Law of Worship at work here? Any specific examples?

From Sabbath’s lesson:

“One after another, these men [Judah’s Kings] seemed totally unrepentant for their actions, even as it became clearer and clearer that their actions were bringing the calamities that the Lord, through Jeremiah, had warned would come.”

I'm not sure it became "clearer and clearer" to those involved. And, isn't that just the nature of sin? To cloud reason, dull discernment, and sear conscience? To the "wicked" their way seems the correct way [Prov. 14:12, 16:25].

SUNDAY

Under the Rule of Josiah.

Read Eccl. 10:16. How do we understand this verse in light of Josiah's history?

He was at driving age when he started to "seek God", and in his 20's when he began purging the kingdom of its idols, and repairing the Temple.

During the reconstruction of the Temple, the Book of the Law was discovered and Josiah used it as it was intended – AS A DIAGNOSTIC INSTRUMENT. He was convicted of Judah's sin and the natural consequences of living outside of "the Law", and he witnessed to his subjects by reading the book of the Law and endeavored to follow the commandments [even knowing that destruction and captivity would eventually be come about].

The lesson makes a nice point about leading by example. Do we need any of that in Christianity today?

Josiah's death marks a troubling departure from his life of following God's commandments [see 2 Chron. 35:20-24]. Any insights on this?

MONDAY

Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim: Another Descent

Jehoahaz was 23 at the time of his succession to the throne. Has anyone done the math on this? Josiah's reign was 31 years starting when he was 8. $31 - 23 = 8$. Did Josiah father Jehoahaz at 8 years old? If so, might this explain some things?

Jehoahaz only reigned 90 days, and was replaced by his brother for political reasons. Any contrasts between God's Kingdom and Earthly kingdoms noted?

Following are some selections from Jer. 22.

3 This is what the Lord says: Do what is just and right. Rescue from the hand of the oppressor the one who has been robbed. Do no wrong or violence to the foreigner, the fatherless or the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place. 4 For if you are careful to carry out these commands, then kings who sit on David's throne will come through the gates of this palace, riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by their officials and their people. 5 But if you do not obey these commands, declares the Lord, I swear by myself that this palace will become a ruin.”

13 “Woe to him who builds his palace by unrighteousness, his upper rooms by injustice, making his own people work for nothing, not paying them for their labor.

14 He says, ‘I will build myself a great palace with spacious upper rooms.’ So he makes large windows in it, panels it with cedar and decorates it in red.

15 “Does it make you a king to have more and more cedar? Did not your father have food and drink? He did what was right and just, so all went well with him.

16 He defended the cause of the poor and needy, and so all went well. Is that not what it means to know me?” declares the Lord.

17 “But your eyes and your heart are set only on dishonest gain, on shedding innocent blood and on oppression and extortion.”

This sounds suspiciously like a “liberal” political argument. Any contrast between “Natural Law” and “imposed law”?

TUESDAY

The Short Reign of King Jehoiachin of Judah

We can see in God’s Words through Jeremiah, that his anger [turning away, letting go, giving up, discipline, etc.] has a purpose for ultimate restoration. God told the Jews that their exile had a finite time period, and if they submitted and conducted themselves as good citizens, they would prosper and be returned from exile. This was Truth.

Contrast this with the experience of Saul meeting Satan in the cave of the witch of Endor [see I Sam 28: 16-20]. Satan told Saul the “truth” as well, didn’t he?

How are we to discern Truth from truth?

WEDNESDAY

At the End of the Dead End

Consider this passage:

15 The Lord, the God of their ancestors, sent word to them through his messengers again and again, because he had pity on his people and on his dwelling place. 16 But they mocked God’s messengers, despised his words and scoffed at his prophets until the wrath of the Lord was aroused against his people and there was no remedy. 2 Chron. 36:15, 16. [emphasis added]

Here we have a clear OT reference to God's wrath and his Character of Love. He tried "again and again" to reach his children "because he had pity on his people..." His wrath was aroused because "there was no remedy." Any parallels for the Day of Judgment?

From the lesson:

"There they were, hundreds of years after the Exodus, hundreds of years as the covenant people who were to be a light and a beacon to the nations (Deut. 4:5–8), and yet they were still so caught up in the prevailing culture, so caught up in the cultural and religious environment of their neighbors, that they were doing "all the abominations" of the pagans. Might there be a message there for us?"

Excellent question. Consider this:

Through the long centuries that have passed since Elijah's time, the record of his lifework has brought inspiration and courage to those who have been called to stand for the right in the midst of apostasy. And for us, "upon whom the ends of the world are come" (1 Corinthians 10:11), it has special significance. History is being repeated. The world today has its Ahabs and its Jezebels. The present age is one of idolatry, as verily as was that in which Elijah lived. No outward shrine may be visible; there may be no image for the eye to rest upon; yet thousands are following after the gods of this world—after riches, fame, pleasure, and the pleasing fables that permit man to follow the inclinations of the unregenerate heart. Multitudes have a wrong conception of God and His attributes, and are as truly serving a false god as were the worshipers of Baal. Many even of those who claim to be Christians have allied themselves with influences that are unalterably opposed to God and His truth. Thus they are led to turn away from the divine and to exalt the human [emphasis added]. THURSDAY

The Dark Years

From the lesson:

"Everything that God had warned them would happen to them is exactly what happened."

Who determined Israel's & Judah's destiny? Who determines ours? [see Matt. 12:37 & Luke 6:45].

This lesson asks us to look at Jeremiah 23. This should give us some pause [especially those of us "leading a flock"].

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 4

Rebuke and Retribution

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: “Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved, for you are my praise.” (Jer 17:14 NKJV)

What does this text tell us? Have you heard of something called parallelism? It is the method of writing where the same idea is repeated in different words. In this case the idea of healing and saving. The Scripture does this because these two ideas are synonyms, i.e. they mean the same thing.

When you consider healing—do you think this is metaphor or reality?

Why is it important to recognize salvation is healing and healing is not metaphorical?

- In the passage who does the healing?
- Who is in need of healing?
- Who gets the praise and credit for the healing?
- What role does the sin-sick person play?
- What law does healing operate upon?
- Where is the place for legal action?
- Do doctors ever give their patients rules to follow? Why?
- Did God give His patients rules to follow? Why?
- What if a patient refuses to follow the doctor’s instructions, what does the doctor do? What happens to the patient?
- What does God do to those who refuse to follow His instructions? What happens to the sinner? Why?

Read first paragraph, “What has been...” What do you understand this to mean? Why does history repeat itself? Because all human history has been a battle between two opposing principles or methods, and these methods operate in constant predictable patterns.

- Satan’s methods: Lies, selfishness, coercion, imposed law with imposed punishments
- God’s methods: Truth, Love, Freedom, Design law with natural consequences

Notice this description of how things began in heaven, what the allegations were, what Christ accomplished to deal with the crisis, and how God’s law is contrasted from Satan’s representation of God’s law. From the book The Desire of Ages:

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. [What kind of law is Satan describing? A law which created beings can make, a system of rules that require oversight and coercive enforcement. This is Satan's lie about God's law and as we look through history we see this repeats itself over and over again.] ...God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. [What is the basis of this allegation? What kind of justice is this? What level of thinking? What law is this based upon? Again this is imposed law, and thus the allegation to not impose punishment is to not uphold the law. However, when we understand Design law, we realize that justice is not about punishment, but restoring/healing back to harmony with the design.] {DA 761.4}

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. [Different position how? Different legal position? Or different position in objective reality? Note how] Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love. Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. [Why? Was Jesus unwilling to give His life for Lucifer? Was Jesus unwilling to pay a "legal penalty"? Did God love Lucifer less than humans? Was God playing favorites? No! No! It was because Lucifer had destroyed in himself the capacity to respond to truth and love. He had seen, understood, and participated in God's love and rejected it. This again, is design law. It would be like a person refusing the only antidote to poison.] But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. [What is it man needs? Is it a legal penalty? No, that is what is needed if one is operating under Satan's false view of God's law. But when we understand the truth we need to be set right in heart and mind with God, meaning we need the lies removed and truth and love restored within] {DA 761.5}

Through Jesus, God's mercy was manifested to men; but mercy does not set aside justice. [What does this mean? Do we view justice through imposed law or design law? What difference does it make?] The law reveals the attributes of God's character, [which is what?] and not a jot or tittle of it could be changed to meet man in his fallen condition. [Why? For the same reason the law of respiration cannot be changed to meet a person drowning. God's law is the protocol upon which life is actually constructed to operate.] God did not change His law, but He sacrificed Himself, in Christ, for man's redemption. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. {DA 762.1} [Which means that Christ was carrying out God's purpose to fix what sin did to humanity, set humanity back into harmony with God's law—design! Notice the next description about justice.]

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. [Notice this is Christ developing a perfect human character and then healing humans back to this perfect state. This is literal not metaphorical.] Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2} [If you see someone drowning, is it right or just to pull them from the water and administer CPR to revive them? What law are you operating under? Why, if you want them to live, must you do this? This is God's justice and what He accomplished for us through Christ.]

God's love has been expressed in His justice no less than in His mercy. Justice is the foundation of His throne, and the fruit of His love. It had been Satan's purpose to divorce mercy from truth and justice. He sought to prove that the righteousness of God's law is an enemy to peace. But Christ shows that in God's plan they are indissolubly joined together; the one cannot exist without the other. "Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other." Psalm 85:10. {DA 762.3} [How does Satan attempt to divorce mercy from justice? By an imposed law construct, which results in a split Godhead in which Christ in mercy dies to pay a legal penalty for our sins to a wrathful father who is the administrator of just punishments. Thus, justice is separated from mercy in the way we perceive and describe God—leading to theologies in which Jesus must protect us from the Father. 1. Jesus pleads His blood to the Father. 2. Jesus covers us with His blood so the Father can't see us. 3. Jesus applies His blood to our record books so the Father can't punish us for our bad deeds. 4. Jesus is our heavenly attorney to argue our case before the Father to protect us from His judgment and punishment. 5 Jesus took our place and was executed by His Father on the cross to pay for our sins. All of this is the divorcing of mercy from truth and justice by created a false caricature of the Godhead.]

By His life and His death, Christ proved that God's justice did not destroy His mercy, but that sin could be forgiven, and that the law is righteous, and can be perfectly obeyed. Satan's charges were refuted. [How?] God had given man unmistakable evidence of His love. {DA 762.4}

Another deception was now to be brought forward. [History now repeats itself] Satan declared that mercy destroyed justice, that the death of Christ abrogated the Father's law. [What kind of law can be rescinded, changed, or abrogated? Imposed law, the kind of laws created beings make. Design law cannot be changed or abrogated. Thus Satan's allegations that began in heaven that God's law requires punishment, i.e. imposed law, now repeats itself and is accepted by the vast majority of humans, including Christians.] Had it been possible for the law to be changed or abrogated, then Christ need not have died... It was because the law was changeless, because man could be saved only through obedience to its precepts, that Jesus was lifted up on the cross. [Why? Because the law is the protocol of life, and only in harmony with it is there salvation, or healing!] Yet the very means by which Christ established the law Satan represented as destroying it.[How? Twofold, one by declaring the law is no longer binding, which is only possible if the law were imposed rules. But, also, amongst those who claim the law is still binding, by tricking them into accepting the imposed construct, thus they claim loyalty to God's law and all the commandments, while they present it as imposed rules requiring God to inflict punishment. They, thereby misrepresent God, the Cross and God's law and ultimately practice Satan's methods of coercion as they will one day force other to worship as they do.] Here will come the last conflict of the great controversy between Christ and Satan... [This is where we are today in Christianity, fighting a battle over God's law, not which day of worship, but which law—imposed or Design law. We are to call people back to worship Him who made the heavens... to Designer worship.] {DA 762.5}

By substituting human law for God's law, Satan will seek to control the world. [How? Not simply by a change in rules, but a change in the entire idea of law from the law the Creator builds life upon, to imposed rules.] This work is foretold in prophecy. Of the great apostate power which is the representative of Satan, it is declared, "He shall speak great words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the Most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand." Daniel 7:25. {DA 763.1}

Men will surely set up their laws to counterwork the laws of God. They will seek to compel the consciences of others, and in their zeal to enforce these laws they will oppress their fellow men. [Here we have it—the use of compelling power, which is always used in imposed law systems. This is how Christianity, including our church presents God today. That God, in order to be just, must punish sin, just as Satan declared in heaven, thus history repeats itself.] {DA 763.2}

The warfare against God's law, which was begun in heaven, will be continued until the end of time. Every man will be tested. Obedience or disobedience is the question to be decided by the whole world. All will be called to choose between the law of God and the laws of men. Here the dividing line will be drawn. There will be but two classes. Every character will be fully developed; and all will show whether they have chosen the side of loyalty or that of rebellion. {DA 763.3} [Notice the paragraph, it is about developing character, character of love like Jesus, in which we sacrifice ourselves for others, present truth in love and leave others free. Or, character like the beast, where we use compelling power to coerce conformity!]

Then the end will come. God will vindicate His law and deliver His people. Satan and all who have joined him in rebellion will be cut off. Sin and sinners will perish, root and branch... [Why?] {DA 763.4}

This is not an act of arbitrary power on the part of God. The rejecters of His mercy reap that which they have sown. God is the fountain of life; and when one chooses the service of sin, he separates from God, and thus cuts himself off from life. [This is design law, not imposed penalties!] He is "alienated from the life of God." Christ says, "All they that hate Me love death." Ephesians 4:18; Proverbs 8:36. God gives them existence for a time that they may develop their character and reveal their principles. This accomplished, they receive the results of their own choice. By a life of rebellion, Satan and all who unite with him place themselves so out of harmony with God that His very presence is to them a consuming fire. The glory of Him who is love will destroy them. {DA 764.1}

At the beginning of the great controversy, the angels did not understand this. [What did angels not understand? God's law as design law, as an outworking of His character of love. They were confused by Satan's lies that God's law functions like human law. Thus history repeats itself as humans suffer the same confusion.] Had Satan and his host then been left to reap the full result of their sin, they would have perished; but it would not have been apparent to heavenly beings that this was the inevitable result of sin. A doubt of God's goodness would have remained in their minds as evil seed, to produce its deadly fruit of sin and woe. [How many Christians today, including in our own church, fail to understand this and instead teach the same distortion that God must kill the wicked, rather than the truth that sin itself, unremedied results in death!] {DA 764.2}

But not so when the great controversy shall be ended. Then, the plan of redemption having been completed, the character of God is revealed to all created intelligences. The precepts of His law are seen to be perfect and immutable. Then sin has made manifest its nature, Satan his character. Then the extermination of sin will vindicate God's love and establish His honor before a universe of beings who delight to do His will, and in whose heart is His law. {DA 764.3}

Where do we find ourselves now? Do you see history repeating itself over and over again? And here at this time in history God is preparing people to come back to the truth about His character and law of love, and teach the truth about Him and His Design for life!

In the next paragraph it states, "prophets, who were often called to deliver words of warning and rebuke to those who should have known better." Do we have message of warning to give to the world, to our own church and leaders? What is that message?

It is the truth about God's law of love being design law, and the need to free our minds from the imposed law, penal substitution distortion that has infected the world! To worship Him who made...

The last sentence states, "Jeremiah, whose ministry seemed to consist of nothing but rebuke and retribution: he giving the rebuke, and the leaders giving him retribution."

Is this also history repeating itself—with those who call leaders to reject the penal legal views of God with the arbitrary rules and regulations experiencing retribution from those same leaders?

SUNDAY

First paragraph states: “From the earliest chapters of Genesis to the last chapters of Revelation, the Bible presents to us only two options on how to live: we either follow the Lord with all our heart and soul, or we don’t.” What happens if we don’t?

How we answer this questions reveals much about the way we view God’s law and God’s character? Is it:

1. Like a patient who refuses to follow the treatment of the doctor and is given up to die as a result of their unhealed condition? OR
2. Like a criminal who refuses to accept the legal payment to the court and therefore the ruling authority uses its power to inflict punishment and death?

Read Jeremiah 17:5-10:

This is what the Lord says: “Cursed is the one who trusts in man, who depends on flesh for his strength and whose heart turns away from the Lord.⁶ He will be like a bush in the wastelands; he will not see prosperity when it comes. He will dwell in the parched places of the desert, in a salt land where no one lives.⁷ “But blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose confidence is in him.⁸ He will be like a tree planted by the water that sends out its roots by the stream. It does not fear when heat comes; its leaves are always green. It has no worries in a year of drought and never fails to bear fruit.”⁹ The heart is deceitful above all things and beyond cure. Who can understand it?¹⁰ “I the Lord search the heart and examine the mind, to reward a man according to his conduct, according to what his deeds deserve.”

What do you hear being described? What does “cursed” mean? What is the curse of sin? Notice the description, of plants in wastelands...this is Design law, a plant cut off from its source of nurturance and it will wither and die!

This is what happens to people who reject God, they cut themselves off from the source of life, from the living water, and dying they die.

But those who trust God are like plants that are by water, they are connected to God, the source of life, and no difficulty can destroy them.

What do you understand regarding the condition of the human heart?

What does it mean that God searches the hearts? For what purpose? Like a judge looking for reasons to reward or punish, or like a doctor seeking to heal all defects in those who will permit Him to do so?

Why the language which looks on the heart to find out the deeds? Do we have to look at the heart to find the deeds or conduct? Why this language?

Because God is speaking to children, who focus on deeds, and He is trying to teach them what Christ taught in the Beatitudes that the deeds are the outgrowth of the condition of the heart, or make a tree good and its fruit will be good. Thus, the condition of the heart will ultimately determine the actions and deeds of the life. Further it isn't about the specific deeds but the motives for those deeds, thus God looks to the heart to remove selfishness and write His character/law of love there.

How does the human heart deceive? What causes such deception?

Is this talking about simple finiteness of ability and an inability to understand complex ideas or processes, or even believing things one was taught in childhood? For instance, believing that the earth was flat at some time in the past, or coming to the wrong answer on a calculus test or physics exam?

I don't think so, I believe this text is referring to how the human mind is capable of deceiving itself about the true condition and motives of one's actions.

- A person who beats his wife but says he does it only because he loves her.
- A person who buys gifts for their spouse—telling themselves it is because they love them, but in reality it is to offset guilt, or make themselves feel better.

MONDAY

Read Jeremiah 17:1-4:

“Judah’s sin is engraved with an iron tool, inscribed with a flint point, on the tablets of their hearts and on the horns of their altars. ² Even their children remember their altars and Asherah poles beside the spreading trees and on the high hills. ³ My mountain in the land and your wealth and all your treasures I will give away as plunder, together with your high places, because of sin throughout your country. ⁴ Through your own fault you will lose the inheritance I gave you. I will enslave you to your enemies in a land you do not know, for you have kindled my anger, and it will burn forever.”

What does it mean that sin is engraved on their hearts and the horns of their altars?

The heart is symbolic of the mind/character of the person. The horns of the altar are symbolic of the character/motives of a person. Thus, a person’s decisions determine the character they develop.

What does God do? He removes His protection and lets them reap what they have chosen, the care of their false gods, and what does sin always lead to? Pain, suffering, loss and slavery. How does sin lead to slavery today?

- Are people who indulge addictions free or slaves?
- Are people who abuse their bodies free or slaves?
- Are people who cheat, free or slaves?
- Are people who violate any aspect of God’s law free or slaves?

Where is the highest freedom found? In harmony with God’s design. Anything that deviates from God’s design law results in loss of autonomy and freedom, i.e. enslaves us.

What of the idea of God’s anger burning forever? How do we understand this?

What law lens do we look through? With what or whom is God angry?

God is angry at sin, like a doctor is angry at disease, thus His anger never ends. Good doctors always hate disease, but love their patients. God will always hate sin, which damages and destroys, but He loves sinners, even those who die in the end.

Thus Oswald Chambers wrote regarding God’s wrath:

“When we speak of the wrath of God we must not picture Him as an angry sultan on the throne of heaven, bringing a lash about people when they do what He does not want. There is no element of personal vindictiveness in God. It is rather that God’s constitution of things is such that when a man becomes severed from God his life tumbles into turmoil and confusion, into agony and distress; it is hell at once, and he will never get out of it unless he turns to God; immediately he turns, chaos is turned into cosmos, wrath into love, distress into peace.

“Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord” we persuade men to keep in touch with Him.”
Conformed to His Image, pg 363

TUESDAY

Read John 3:19:

And this is the condemnation, that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.

What does this mean?

Again from Oswald Chambers:

The Bible does not say that God punished the human race for one man’s sin, but that the nature of sin, namely, my claim to my right to myself, entered into the human race through one man. But it also says that another Man took upon Himself the sin of the human race and put it away — an infinitely more profound revelation...

Sin is something I am born with and cannot touch— only God touches sin through redemption. It is through the Cross of Christ that God redeemed the entire human race from the possibility of damnation through the heredity of sin. God nowhere holds a person responsible for having the heredity of sin, and does not condemn anyone because of it. Condemnation comes when I realize that Jesus Christ came to deliver me from this heredity of sin, and yet I refuse to let Him do so. From that moment I begin to get the seal of damnation. “This is the condemnation [and the critical moment], that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light . . .” (John 3:19) Oswald Chambers, My Utmost for His Highest, <http://utmost.org>

What does this mean? We are not condemned because we are born sinners, but because we refuse the only Remedy to this condition.

Read Jeremiah 11:18-23:

¹⁸ Because the Lord revealed their plot to me, I knew it, for at that time he showed me what they were doing. ¹⁹ I had been like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter; I did not realize that they had plotted against me, saying, “Let us destroy the tree and its fruit; let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name be remembered no more.”²⁰ But, O Lord Almighty, you who judge righteously and test the heart and mind, let me see your vengeance upon them, for to you I have committed my cause.²¹ “Therefore this is what the Lord says about the men of Anathoth who are seeking your life and saying, ‘Do not prophesy in the name of the Lord or you will die by our hands’—²² therefore this is what the Lord Almighty says: ‘I will punish them. Their young men will die by the sword, their sons and daughters by famine.’²³ Not even a remnant will be left to them, because I will bring disaster on the men of Anathoth in the year of their punishment.’ ”

What do you understand is happening here? What is God doing? What is their punishment? Why does it come? Who inflicts it? What kind of law is being described here?

WEDNESDAY

Read Jeremiah 12:1-4:

You are always righteous, O Lord, when I bring a case before you. Yet I would speak with you about your justice: Why does the way of the wicked prosper? Why do all the faithless live at ease?² You have planted them, and they have taken root; they grow and bear fruit. You are always on their lips but far from their hearts.³ Yet you know me, O Lord; you see me and test my thoughts about you. Drag them off like sheep to be butchered! Set them apart for the day of slaughter!⁴ How long will the land lie parched and the grass in every field be withered? Because those who live in it are wicked, the animals and birds have perished. Moreover, the people are saying, “He will not see what happens to us.”

What does it mean?

The lesson states this is a legal problem with legal language? Is it?

What is happening in the lesson is a classic error many people make when reading Scripture—they read a Scripture and believe it is communicating God’s truth. Not in these verses, in these verses what is being communicated is Jeremiah’s heart, position, attitude. And Jeremiah was a sinful human being, with a selfish carnal nature in need of healing. He, like Jonah, Peter, David, Saul and so many more of God’s prophets had sin problems and understanding problems and often wanted vengeance upon their enemies.

Remember Psalm 137:8,9:

Babylon, you will be destroyed. Happy are those who pay you back for what you have done to us-⁹ who take your babies and smash them against a rock.

Should we take this to be an expression of God's will?

But God contrasts Jeremiah's plea with his answer in verses 7-12:

"I will forsake my house, abandon my inheritance; I will give the one I love into the hands of her enemies. [What does God do? He sets them free to their own choice. And what happens when God sets free? Why does He do this? What is the only action love can take when one insists, after all entreaties, on leaving?]⁸ My inheritance has become to me like a lion in the forest. She roars at me; therefore I hate her. [What does this mean? He hates the separation, the hostility, the rebellion in the heart that prevents them from unity with God, thus God hates watching the pain and suffering and death which is the only outcome of separation from Him]⁹ Has not my inheritance become to me like a speckled bird of prey that other birds of prey surround and attack? Go and gather all the wild beasts; bring them to devour.¹⁰ Many shepherds will ruin my vineyard and trample down my field; they will turn my pleasant field into a desolate wasteland. [What is this referring to? To Israel being trampled by paganism and rebellion]¹¹ It will be made a wasteland, parched and desolate before me; the whole land will be laid waste because there is no one who cares.¹² Over all the barren heights in the desert destroyers will swarm, for the sword of the Lord will devour from one end of the land to the other; no one will be safe. [What is the sword of the Lord? It is what the truth brings, the unavoidable results of truth. If one rejects God and chooses a path without Him, what truthfully happens? Destruction, but not at God's hand!]

THURSDAY

Read fourth paragraph, "Jeremiah understood, too..." What does this remind you of? This is a legal religion, feast days, Sabbath keeping, dressing rigidly, observing rituals, washing correctly, doing communion, claiming legal payments, all designed to legally merit some benefit from the ruling authority.

The last sentence states, "They were looking only to remove the results of the problem, not the problem itself, which was their sin and disobedience."

This is exactly what Penal Substitution Theology leads to, a legal accounting to get rid of the penalty, which in that construct is the legal (just) punishment for our sins. Thus, we get rid of the record of our sins, and get declared righteous, “even though we are not.” It is a fraud, a grand deception, which keeps good people trapped in addition and violence cycles.

The Good News is that Jesus is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world, not the punishment for sin. (Jn 1:29) God wants to give us new hearts and right spirits, not new records. He wants to heal our minds and characters not give us laundered clothing.

The last paragraph quotes Jeremiah stating, “our iniquities testify against us.” What does this mean?

How do our iniquities testify against us?

If we claim to be healthy, but are sick with smallpox would the small pox lesions testify against us?

FRIDAY

The question of trying to make sense of evil comes up and they quote EGW, read first two paragraphs, “In this regard...” Did EGW say that evil and the pain and suffering caused by it is not understandable? No, she said the REASON for evil is not understandable. But evil is understandable, it is the violation of God’s design law and it results in pain and suffering.

For instance, it is understandable that if a person pokes themselves in the eye with a knife they will suffer pain, loss of vision, and perhaps death. But, why would someone do this? What reason can be given that makes it right or understandable? None—there is no reason for sin, but we can understand that sin is deviation from God’s design and always results in pain and suffering and unless remedied—death.

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 5

More Woe for the Prophet

SABBATH

Read memory text: “O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I was deceived: Thou art stronger than I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision daily, Every one mocketh me.” Jer 20:7 KJV

- Should we take the Bible as it reads?
- Do we believe if the Bible says something it must be true?
- What do we do with passages like this?
- What is the purpose of the Bible?
- Was Jeremiah inspired when he wrote the book of Jeremiah?
- How does inspiration work? Does it mean everything he wrote was directly from God?
- Does it mean that Jeremiah understood everything correctly?
- Should we believe something written by one of God’s prophets over our own understanding of God’s character, methods and principles?
- The Bible says, “Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding;” Prv 3:5 Does this mean we are not to understand or think?
- What does it mean to not trust our own understanding, and how do we understand texts like Jeremiah 20:7?
- Who has a clearer understanding of Scripture—the ones who wrote it, or those Spirit led persons who read it years later? One Bible commentator thinks those who read it later have clearer understanding—this is from the book, the Desire of Ages:
 - They realized that the mighty God, clad in the garb of humanity, was among them. Jesus rejoiced that though this knowledge was not possessed by the wise and prudent, it had been revealed to these humble men. Often as He had presented the Old Testament Scriptures, and showed their application to Himself and His work of atonement, they had been awakened by His Spirit, and lifted into a heavenly atmosphere. Of the spiritual truths spoken by the prophets they had a clearer understanding than had the original writers themselves. Hereafter they would read the Old Testament Scriptures, not as the doctrines of the scribes and Pharisees, not as the utterances of wise men who were dead, but as a new revelation from God. {DA 494.3}

What is the purpose of Scripture? This is a key question to understand what is written there.

- Scripture’s primary purpose is to reveal the truth about God to us
- But what is the setting?

- It is the context of a war over lies about God that allege He misuses power and cannot be trusted and in a world in which people are filled with selfishness
- So, what does Scripture reveal? God dealing with people who are infected with fear and selfishness and who have many false ideas operating in their heads. We see God, always patient, gracious, kind, loving, working to heal and save, but we also see God's own helpers on earth are all infected with fear and selfishness and at times struggle with these symptoms which cause them to have doubts and uncertainties and even choose poorly:
 - Abraham—doubts the promise and takes Hagar, and lies to Pharaoh—but is father of the faithful
 - Jacob—doubts the promise and connives with mother to deceive father—but is father of the twelve tribes
 - David—struggled with fear and selfishness, lusts, cheats, then murders to protect self—but is a man after God's own heart
 - Solomon—pride, lust, and even worshipped false gods—but after all this is one of the holy men who wrote Scripture
 - Elijah—ran away in fear and discouragement wishing to die—but was taken to heaven without seeing death
 - Jonah—was a racist who wanted the Ninevites killed—but was used of God to save a city
 - Peter—denied Jesus three times with cursing and the rest ran away in fear for self—but was an Apostle of Christ

In Scripture we find real people dealing with the reality of the sin condition, which infects their hearts, tempts them, and at times discourages and even wins momentary battles in their lives. But, we also see God, who loves us for who we are, who understands our weakness, our infected state, and has a plan, worked out through Jesus, to heal and restore all who trust Him!

Read second paragraph TUESDAY's lesson: "What comes after, though, comes directly from Jeremiah's own heart, written down under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. It is the heartfelt cry of a human being who simply doesn't like the situation he is in and is crying out about it."

What did the Holy Spirit inspire Jeremiah to write? The truth of his own heart's struggles, not a reflection of cosmic reality or God's actions!

This is critical to understand when reading Scripture—far too many people read proof-texting style, find a verse, the Bible says it, well there you have it.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Removed as we...” This is well said... any examples from the OT you would like to explore?

The lesson asks us to read Jeremiah 23:14,15:

And among the prophets of Jerusalem
I have seen something horrible:
They commit adultery and live a lie.
They strengthen the hands of evildoers,
so that no one turns from his wickedness.
They are all like Sodom to me;
the people of Jerusalem are like Gomorrah.”
¹⁵ Therefore, this is what the Lord Almighty says concerning the prophets:
“I will make them eat bitter food and drink poisoned water,
because from the prophets of Jerusalem
ungodliness has spread throughout the land.”

What do you understand they were doing? What is the adultery to which the prophet speaks?

Many people take the Bible just as it reads and read sexual misconduct in this text, is that the problem?

What is adultery? It is betrayal! It is giving your heart, devotion, loyalty to another and betraying the one to whom you are committed.

From the SDA Bible Commentary on this passage:

The hypocritical boldness of the false prophets that led them to prophesy in the Lord’s name while they transgressed the Lord’s commandments was more “horrible” to Jeremiah than even the open worship of Baal. Because of the very nature of the sin of hypocrisy, there is more hope for the open sinner than for hypocrites. (Nichol, F. D. (Ed.). (1977). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 4, p. 441). Review and Herald Publishing Association.)

What do you think of God’s words to make them eat bitter food and poisoned water? To what is this referring?

Bread and water are symbols of God's word and Spirit—thus if they reject the truth from God and prefer lies, they will receive that which they have chosen, poison and bitterness.

Why do you think the Bible says it as if God is going to use His power to make it happen that way?

Any other examples of this and why?

This is because of the maturity level of the audience to whom God is speaking. He is speaking to people operating at level 1 moral development, where right and wrong is determined by reward and punishment. At this level the ruler to worship is the one with the most power because that ruler can punish all who disagree and reward those who agree. Thus, God presents Himself as powerful and throughout much of the OT you see God's spokespersons using such language. Remember Micaiah talking to Ahab?

Micaiah continued, "Therefore hear the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sitting on his throne with all the host of heaven standing around him on his right and on his left.²⁰ And the Lord said, 'Who will entice Ahab into attacking Ramoth Gilead and going to his death there?'

"One suggested this, and another that.²¹ Finally, a spirit came forward, stood before the Lord and said, 'I will entice him.'

²² " 'By what means?' the Lord asked.

" 'I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouths of all his prophets,' he said.

" 'You will succeed in enticing him,' said the Lord. 'Go and do it.'

²³ "So now the Lord has put a lying spirit in the mouths of all these prophets of yours. The Lord has decreed disaster for you." 1Kings 22:19-23

Here again is Scripture—do we take it as it reads, or do we understand something else is happening here? Does God lie? Do God's agents lie?

Who is the father of lies? Satan—so what is going on in this passage?

God, through Micaiah, is speaking to Ahab, king of Israel. God is merciful; God wants to avoid destruction of His people; God wants to send a message of warning to Ahab to cause Ahab to reconsider his choice and not go to war. So, how will God have to communicate to a worshipper of Baal? With a message that God is powerful and therefore God takes ownership, in this context, of the false message and Ahab is given a warning that the other prophets have lied and he will be killed if he goes to war.

Read Jeremiah 15:26-31:

“Among my people are wicked men who lie in wait like men who snare birds and like those who set traps to catch men. ²⁷ Like cages full of birds, their houses are full of deceit; they have become rich and powerful ²⁸ and have grown fat and sleek. Their evil deeds have no limit; they do not plead the case of the fatherless to win it, they do not defend the rights of the poor. ²⁹ Should I not punish them for this?” declares the Lord. “Should I not avenge myself on such a nation as this? ³⁰ “A horrible and shocking thing has happened in the land: ³¹ The prophets prophesy lies, the priests rule by their own authority, and my people love it this way. But what will you do in the end?”

They set traps to catch people—what is this talking about? What kind of traps?

- ponzi schemes?
- bait and switch?
- emails of missionary stranded and needs money?
- emails of won millions of dollars but held up for taxes and if pay the $10,000 tax will get the money?
- emails purporting to be from your credit card company and reporting someone has misused your card and needing to get the number and security code to ensure it is in your possession?
- What about religious traps?
 - How about you have alien neural programming in your brain causing you to do bad things and if you want to live free you must get this foreign programming out of your brain, it will only cost you $10,000 per treatment session to get this done?
 - How about systems that say if you donate we will send you a healing cloth that we have prayed over?
 - How about systems that say God is wrathful and angry and something must be done to turn away His anger and wrath?
 - From George Knight’s book, The Cross of Christ, which many theologians hold up as the best explanation of the atonement, we read:
 - “God is angry and His anger is personal and active... God’s wrath must be propitiated or turned away from the sinner. That was one aim of Christ’s self-sacrifice on the cross.” p 63,64 (emphasis in original text)
 - “The second Armageddon engagement [end of 1000 years] finds God executing His ultimate wrath not only on Satan, but on those sinners who have refused to accept (1) His principles into their lives and (2) Christ’s vicarious sacrificial propitiation (the basis of grace) that turned aside the divine wrath (judgment on sin).” p. 107

We find ourselves in the same position today as the Israelites in Jeremiah's day...people purporting to speak for God, yet telling lies about Him. This view of God is Satan's lies about God, it is all based on accepting the lie that God's law is like the laws fallen human beings make, rules without inherent consequence, which requires enforcement of penalties.

- It makes God out to be the source of pain, suffering and death.
- It undermines trust in God.
- It leads to theologies that function to protect us from God
- Here are the lies of this view:
 - God's law is imposed
 - God must inflict punishment
 - God is angry and must have something done to him to turn His anger and wrath aside or else He will lash out and destroy His children
 - Christ has a more gracious and tender character than the Father and died to save us from the Father
 - Grace wouldn't exist if Jesus didn't die to propitiate the Father
 - Divine wrath is the same as judgment on sin
 - Judgment is judicial

We, today, must learn to think for ourselves, must come to know God as Jesus revealed Him to be, must come to know God's law as the law of love, the design protocols reality functions upon and know our place in the history of the world, so that we can participate with God in telling the truth about Him to free people from enslavement to this false view—just as Jeremiah and the prophets of old were trying to do for Israel!

Back to the Jeremiah passage: What is the idea being expressed in “they do not plead the case of the fatherless to win it, they do not defend the rights of the poor”?

This is saying they are not “just” which is “right” or “righteous,” because righteousness is being and doing what is right or just. And the right or just way to be is like Jesus or God, and God is love. So God's justice is always an expression of love, which is restorative and entails all actions designed to deliver people from oppression, no punish oppressors.

But if that is so, how do we understand verse 29: “Should I not punish them for this?” declares the Lord. “Should I not avenge myself on such a nation as this?”

What is God's punishment? And what is His vengeance?

God's punishment is exactly what love does—it let's go to reap what one chooses, thus God warned them that He would punish by bringing the Babylonians, i.e. God would remove His protective hand at their insistence to be free from Him and they would end up slaves in Babylon—this is the punishment that sin itself brings, it is not inflicted by God.

And what then of vengeance? What would be the vengeance of God?

Before we read the Bible text, what was the result of their going into captivity? Did it result in humbling them and a remnant being saved and returning to the land?

Therefore the Lord, the Lord Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel, declares: “Ah, I will get relief from my foes and avenge myself on my enemies. ²⁵ I will turn my hand against you; I will thoroughly purge away your dross and remove all your impurities. Isa 1:24,25

What is God's vengeance? Upon what does God take vengeance? God takes vengeance upon sin like a doctor does disease! God's vengeance is upon sin! God work's to save sinners, not punish them!

Second to the last sentence in the Sunday's lesson states, “That despite all these evils, and more, He was willing to forgive them, heal them, and even restore them.”

Willing to forgive, does that mean He didn't forgive, refused to forgive, or remained unforgiving in some way?

This sounds again like viewing through human imposed law lenses where forgiveness takes on legal parameters and cannot be extended without proper legal aspects, including confession and repentance on part of the offender.

However, under design law, we realize that God forgives always, but His forgiveness doesn't always result in the offender accepting into their hearts His forgiveness—think of those who crucified Christ. He forgave them, but they wouldn't open their hearts, thus their condition remained in an unforgiven state, but God had forgiven them thus God was and is forgiving.

MONDAY

Read top paragraph, “The job...” Why do you think this is the case? What is it about us humans, that makes it hard to hear what God's spokespersons are saying?

Consider, however, Revelation 7, at the end of time the Bible predicts that the message given by God's spokespersons will result in a huge multitude from all over the world accepting the truth and being saved—what makes the difference?

- It will be given in a time of great tribulation or stress so people will be seeking answers
- It will be the most complete, evidenced-based, sensible and reasonable presentation of the truth about God ever given in human history
 - Even what Jesus presented when on earth was couched in parables, metaphors and symbols—but the final message is to be articulated in the most clear, reality based language possible.

In Jeremiah chapter 20 verses 1-6, Jeremiah prophesies against Pashur, telling him he will be taken off into captivity and he along with his family and friends will all die. Then the lesson asks, at the bottom, “Imagine hearing something like that prophesied against you. What would you think your initial reaction would be, as opposed to what it should be? (What should it be, anyway?)”

Isn't the first question—who is giving the prophecy? Is everyone who claims they come with a message from the Lord, really speaking for God? If a message is from God—doesn't God somehow make that apparent?

When Elijah faced the 450 priests of Baal didn't God make it apparent which of the spokespersons spoke for Him?

Was it only on that day with fire, or had God been making it apparent for some time? How?

- In the books of Moses with explicit guidelines and instructions regarding truth and lies
- With 3.5 years of drought

Other examples? When we read in Scripture where Jeremiah or other prophets say God deceives or lies—should we take this at face value and conclude, “they are speaking for God, who am I to question?” Or, something else?

So if someone prophesies against you, what is a healthy reaction?

- From the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks—consider the source, who they are, their motives, what does it say about them?
- Step back and humble talk to God yourself and ask God to lead you to know the truth—and study God's word in Scripture, Nature and Experience to evaluate if your life is living in harmony with God's design

- Other courses of action?

But what about the church, Jeremiah's prophecy was about the entire nation, what about saying such things about the church today?

WEDNESDAY

The first paragraph, starting in the middle states:

“As stated before, the God these prophets served is perfect; the prophets who served Him were not. They, like the rest of us, were sinners in need of the righteousness of Christ to be credited to them by faith (see Rom 3:22). From Noah to Peter, and everyone in between, all were sin-damaged creatures whose only hope was, as Ellen G. White says, to go before the Lord and say: ‘I have no merit or goodness whereby I may claim salvation, but I present before God the all-atoning blood of the spotless Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. This is my only plea. The name of Jesus gives me access to the Father. His ear, His heart, is open to my faintest pleading, and He supplies my deepest necessities.’ Faith and Works, p. 106.”

The lesson authors use language crafted by and is an outgrowth of accepting the imposed law construct, the false legal gospel that came from the Dark Ages in these words “the righteousness of Christ is credited to them by faith.”

I looked at every use in EGW's writings of “credited” and not once does she use it to suggest Christ's righteousness is credited to us.

In the book, The Cross of Christ, by George Knight, we have a typical presentation of justification based on Satan's view of God's law, the idea that God's law functions like human law, rules imposed that require punishment.

Paul coined the metaphor of justification to meet the problem of the legal curse of the law with its death penalty...justification brings us to the courtroom... Is a person righteous or guilty before the divine judge? In Romans 3 justification does not mean “to make righteous,” but rather “to declare righteous.” “The root idea in justification,” George Eldon Ladd writes, “is the declaration of God, the righteous judge, that the man who believes in Christ, sinful though he may be,... is viewed as being righteous, because in Christ he has come into a righteous relationship with God.”... One would expect a just God to punish those who deserve it. That is what justice means. p. 71, 72.

This is the typical view one holds when one believes God's law functions like human law, but an entire new reality opens upon us when we realize the truth that God is Creator and His law is the protocols upon which reality functions, deviations of which are incompatible with life.

Biblical justice as we have pointed out many times is delivering the oppressed, not punishing the oppressor. This idea that sin is breaking rules which requires the ruling authority to inflict punishment is satanic!

Before I read any more EGW quotes about righteousness by faith (which is justification), let's decode the quote the lesson used. First, note there is much symbolic language or ill-defined language:

- Merit—some objective fact or state of being which is worthy of reward, acknowledgment, praise
- Claim—to demand by right or by inherent fact
- Salvation—which law lens? If one uses imposed law then this takes on legal connotations, but design law this is restoration and healing
- Atonement—which law lens? appease, or restore to unity?
- Blood—symbol for life
- Lamb of God—sinless Jesus
- Sin of the world—which law lens? If imposed this is read to mean every bad act was placed upon Christ and God punished Christ for those bad acts. Under design law we realize Christ took away the terminal condition, the sinful state of being was removed by Christ!
- Plea—which law lens? Impose law then we read this as a legal plea, "Based on the innocence of Jesus who paid my penalty, I plead not guilty." But through design law we read this as a patient calling out to the doctor "save me!"
- Name of Jesus—legal view—the legal accomplishments of Jesus, speak the right name and we are granted access because Jesus has met the legal requirements in our behalf. Design law we realize name is symbolic of character and thus we have Christ's character within—it is only those who are like Christ who can actually enter God's presence, why? Because the others don't want to be there, it is torture to them because their condition is out of harmony with God, thus they run and hide and beg mountains to cover them!

So in decoded language we read:

'I have no healthiness of character or goodness of heart whereby I may claim to be in harmony with God's design and thus eternally well, but I present before God the all-healing and restoring life of the perfect Son of God, which removes all defects and deviations from God's design. This is my only hope of life, for which I call out in need. The character of Jesus heals me and enables me to enter the Father's presence.'

So the Bible teaches that justification is a change in the heart of the believer from our natural state of enmity (Rom 8:7) to a state of trust. Romans 4 states, Abraham trusted God and after his heart changed from distrust to trust, then God recognized him as righteous. One has to read into the text some legal accounting or crediting elements that do not exist in God's reality.

Here are several EGW quotes that make this quite clear:

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. [Notice this is Christ developing a perfect human character and then healing humans back to this perfect state. This is literal not metaphorical.] Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2} [If you see someone drowning, is it right or just to pull them from the water and administer CPR to revive them? What law are you operating under? Why, if you want them to live, must you do this? This is God's justice and what He accomplished for us through Christ.]

Many who hold to the imposed law concept, and thus to the false legal view, have made a big deal out of the difference between "imputed" and "imparted" righteousness. Notice EGWs use of imputed:

The great work that is wrought for the sinner who is spotted and stained by evil is the work of justification. By Him who speaketh truth he is declared righteous. The Lord imputes unto the believer the righteousness of Christ and pronounces him righteous before the universe. He transfers his sins to Jesus, the sinner's representative, substitute, and surety. Upon Christ He lays the iniquity of every soul that believeth. "He hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." 2 Corinthians 5:21. . . . {FLB 112.4} [Those who hold the legal view want to stop right hear, with this very symbolic language, rather than allowing the author who wrote those words to explain.]

Through repentance and faith we are rid of sin, and look unto the Lord our righteousness. Jesus suffered, the just for the unjust. . . . {FLB 112.5} [note we are rid of sin, not the punishment of God for sin]

Having made us righteous through the imputed righteousness of Christ, God pronounces us just, and treats us as just. [what comes first? The actual change of heart of the believer from distrust to trust, which is setting the heart right, which is justification.] He looks upon us as His dear children. Christ works against the power of sin, and where sin abounded, grace much more abounds. Where does sin abound, in record books or in hearts? Where is Christ working against the power of sin, in the courtrooms of heaven or in characters of people? Is the power of sin at work in heaven? Or is He working in our hearts and minds? "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God." Romans 5:1, 2. {Faith I Live By 112.6}

By beholding we become changed, morally assimilated to the One who is perfect in character. By receiving His imputed righteousness, through the transforming power of the Holy Spirit, we become like Him. {God's Amazing Grace 96.4}

Abundant grace has been provided that the believing soul may be kept free from sin; for all heaven, with its limitless resources, has been placed at our command... In ourselves we are sinners; but in Christ we are righteous. Having made us righteous through the imputed righteousness of Christ, God pronounces us just, and treats us as just. He looks upon us as His dear children. Christ works against the power of sin, and where sin abounded, grace much more abounds. Where does sin abound, in books or hearts? Where does grace abound? {AG 181.4}

We aim too low. The mark is much higher. Our minds need expansion, that we may comprehend the significance of the provision of God. We are to reflect the highest attributes of the character of God. . . . The law of God is the exalted standard to which we are to attain through the imputed righteousness of Christ. {Our High Calling 364.2}

He would have us comprehend something of His love in giving His Son to die that He might counteract evil, remove the defiling stains of sin from the workmanship of God, and reinstate the lost, elevating and ennobling the soul to its original purity through Christ's imputed righteousness. That I May Know Him 206

Revelation teaches that the entire world will end up worshipping Satan, other than a remnant who remain loyal to Jesus and adhere to God's commandments—what does this mean?

The entire world will worship a god who imposes laws and must punish law breakers, who have accepted the legal payment of their sins to appease and propitiate the heavenly judge—all except those who are loyal to Jesus and live in harmony with His law of love!

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 6

Symbolic Acts

SABBATH

We have talked a little bit about where the time of Jeremiah's prophetic calling fits in Israel's history as a nation, it is important to understand the time of Jeremiah within the context of the wider history of Israel – which was characterized by seemingly endless repetitions of apostasy and rebellion. Those rebellious repetitions included a partially completed conquest; the time of Judges with all its atrocities; the united monarchy with Saul's apostasy; David's adultery and Solomon's idolatry, followed by the divided monarchy (when Judah split off), with endless lists of bad kings, interrupted by a few good ones; the Assyrian captivity of the northern tribes; and the degradation of Judah that finally led to the Babylonian exile.

“During all these times, God had sent men, women, judges, prophets, priests, and kings to bring about Israel's repentance and return to the Lord, but without success. It should not surprise us that God finally used symbols and messages that pointed to the irreversibility of His judgments.”

The validity of this statement, of course, depends on how one defines “His judgments”. If these are defined as accurate diagnoses of hearts, minds, and characters...then the statement is correct –

“Israel is stubborn as a mule. How can God lead him like a lamb to open pasture? Ephraim is addicted to idols. Let him go.” Hosea 4:16-17 MSG

The impending Babylonian captivity was NOT God's inflicted punishment or judgment on Israel. It was the inescapable consequence of repeatedly ignoring God's instructions, his natural laws (letting the land rest from farming), and removing themselves from His protection and blessing.

“Hath not the potter power over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto dishonour?” After all, the man who makes the pots has the right to use the clay as he wishes, and to make two pots from the same lump of clay, one for special occasions and the other for ordinary use. (GNT)

Is that crystal clear for everybody? Paul is referencing some of the symbolism used both by and for Jeremiah, and we will talk more about that in a bit, but wanted to read this text in context from The Remedy New Testament paraphrase starting with verse 16:

“Our healing doesn't depend on some effort, desire, or work on our part, but on the fact that God is merciful and offers the Remedy freely to everyone. For the Scripture says of Pharaoh, “I raised you up so that I might pour out my truth upon you and that my character might be known throughout the entire world. And even though you resisted me and fought against me, I was patient and merciful with you.” Therefore, God is merciful to whom he chooses, and stern to those he chooses. One of you might protest and say, “Then why does God still blame us, if he does whatever he wants?” But, this complaint only shows how little you know about God and his methods and purposes. You confuse God's desire to heal and restore everyone to his original ideal with his wise plan to assign different duties and responsibilities to different individuals. You also fail to realize that different conditions require different applications of the Remedy. Doesn't the potter have the right to use some clay to make pottery for noble uses, and from the same clay to make pottery for ordinary purposes? What if God, choosing to reveal what will happen, patiently continued to offer treatment to those who refuse his healing Remedy, and yet they refused to take his free cure anyway? What if, in this way, God revealed that such people prepare themselves for death and destruction? What if he did this to make the richness of his character known to those who would accept the Remedy, and thus, by the revelation of the truth about himself, prepare them to be fully transformed into Christlike glory? This is what he has done! He has called all people, both Jews and Gentiles, to healing and restoration into Christlikeness of character and into partnership with him to spread the Remedy."

Do those texts take on different meaning using this perspective?

Three symbols from Jeremiah were chosen this week to illustrate God's lessons from Jeremiah to the citizens of Judah

- The Potter's Clay
- Smashing a Clay Jar
- The Linen Belt

Read the first paragraph from Sabbath afternoon's lesson...

"The significance of the Jewish economy is not yet fully comprehended. Truths vast and profound are shadowed forth in its rites and symbols. The gospel is the key that unlocks its mysteries. Through a knowledge of the plan of redemption, its truths are opened to the understanding." Christ's Object Lessons, p. 133.

This was written at least one hundred years ago. Do we now "fully comprehend" the significance of the Jewish economy?

What direction of revelation is this going?

What is the reality and what is the symbol?

What is the clearest presentation of the "gospel" that has been presented so far?

Who is the most reliable witness about what God is really like? "Whoever has seen me has seen the Father." John 14:9

Most Christians do not really believe this. Who would you rather see and greet in heaven? If someone were to invite you to go to see God, who would you ask for?

Would you need someone to go with you into God's presence?

Many see God with a split personality: both good and bad in the same person, almost as if there were two faces on His Head. When God separates those on His right hand from those on His left: Matthew 25:31 – 46 What will His face look like when He sends those who have not chosen Him to eternal destruction? "They insist on turning away from me... How can I give you up, Israel? How can I abandon you?" Hosea 11:7, 8

What sorrow God has for the loss of His children

The life of Christ sheds light on the Old Testament, not the other way around. Many people have devised or understood how the plan of salvation works from looking at the sanctuary service and then interpreted Christ and His Mission from that perspective. Rather than looking at Christ and understanding the sanctuary service based on the clarity revealed by the life of Christ.

What are some common problems that come from extensive use of symbols and symbolic language?

- Focusing too much or exclusively on the symbol rather than on the object or reality it points to. If you have a real, physical object...and you have a shadow of that object, which is another definition for a symbol...what is the best way to learn more about the physical object? Spend time studying the shadow or symbol of the object...or spend time studying the actual object? Can you think of any Biblical examples of when this happened?
- There is also significant opportunity for misunderstanding both the symbol and the object. If we misunderstand the ultimate reality, we will likely misinterpret the symbols...and vice versa. Look at how a misunderstanding of the penal substitution/atonement model of salvation can cause the earthly sanctuary symbols and rituals to be misinterpreted – and that can go both ways as well. The quote from COL in Saturday's lesson speaks effectively to this subject, but as I read the entire chapter...the paragraphs before and after really spoke to me and encouraged me in my study – especially when studying some of these symbols or beasts or prophecies...I can get frustrated, so hopefully they can encourage you as well:

• “The words of truth will grow in importance, and assume a breadth and fullness of meaning of which we have never dreamed. The beauty and riches of the word have a transforming influence on mind and character. The light of heavenly love will fall upon the heart as an inspiration. The appreciation of the Bible grows with its study. Whichever way the student may turn, he will find displayed the infinite wisdom and love of God. The significance of the Jewish economy is not yet fully comprehended. Truths vast and profound are shadowed forth in its rites and symbols. The gospel is the key that unlocks its mysteries. Through a knowledge of the plan of redemption, its truths are opened to the understanding. Far more than we do, it is our privilege to understand these wonderful themes. We are to comprehend the deep things of God. Angels desire to look into the truths that are revealed to the people who with contrite hearts are searching the word of God, and praying for greater lengths and breadths and depths and heights of the knowledge which He alone can give. In giving us His word, God has put us in possession of every truth essential for our salvation. Thousands have drawn water from these wells of life, yet there is no diminishing of the supply. Thousands have set the Lord before them, and by beholding have been changed into the same image. Their spirit burns within them as they speak of His character, telling what Christ is to them, and what they are to Christ. But these searchers have not exhausted these grand and holy themes. Thousands more may engage in the work of searching out the mysteries of salvation. As the life of Christ and the character of His mission are dwelt upon, rays of light will shine forth more distinctly at every attempt to discover truth. Each fresh search will reveal something more deeply interesting than has yet been unfolded. The subject is inexhaustible. The study of the incarnation of Christ, His atoning sacrifice and mediatorial work, will employ the mind of the diligent student as long as time shall last; and looking to heaven with its unnumbered years he will exclaim, “Great is the mystery of godliness.” COL pp 132-133

So...if you ever feel like your Bible study is futile...that you're not getting it? Or if you read almost weekly in your lesson quarterlies that we are not capable of or meant to understand how God works...God's ways are higher than our ways, etc., this author says "We are to comprehend the deep things of God."

Symbols: Their meaning - Past, Present, and Future

- Past: reminders of something that happened in the past
 - Abraham's altars
 - The parts of the Passover service. We often think of this as a temple service, but for many it was a local, home service/ritual (see Deut 14:22 - 26)
 - Pillar of stones at the Israeli side of the Jordan River where the Children of Israel crossed over
 - Emblems instituted at the Last Supper
- Present: Warnings, knowledge, guidance/instruction/explanation
- Future: Hidden meanings, convey information not comprehended at that time (jets, rockets, TV)
 - Daniel
 - Revelation
 - Matthew 24

Some symbols have all three meanings:

- Wedding ring
- The Sabbath has very similar qualities

Some biblical symbols are used for two different (almost contradictory) meanings.

- Lion: Christ, Satan
- Snake: Christ, Satan

What is more important: the symbol or the reality to which it points?

SUNDAY

Truth in Symbols

Read Genesis 4:3-7 story of Cain and Able's sacrifices

Read paragraph #2. Do you really think either Cain or Able understood the situation in those terms?

Why did Able's sacrifice satisfy the requirement and Cain's did not? Was it because God demanded it or was there something intrinsic within the sacrifice itself that made Cain's offering unacceptable?

"Why this frenzy of sacrifices?" God's asking. "Don't you think I've had my fill of burnt sacrifices, rams and plump grain-fed calves? Don't you think I've had my fill of blood from bulls, lambs, and goats? When you come before me, whoever gave you the idea of acting like this, Running here and there, doing this and that—all this sheer commotion in the place provided for worship? "Quit your worship charades. I can't stand your trivial religious games: Monthly conferences, weekly Sabbaths, special meetings—meetings, meetings, meetings—I can't stand one more! Meetings for this, meetings for that. I hate them! You've worn me out! I'm sick of your religion, religion, religion, while you go right on sinning. When you put on your next prayer-performance, I'll be looking the other way.

No matter how long or loud or often you pray, I'll not be listening. And do you know why? Because you've been tearing people to pieces, and your hands are bloody. Go home and wash up. Clean up your act. Sweep your lives clean of your evil doings so I don't have to look at them any longer. Say no to wrong. Learn to do good. Work for justice. Help the down-and-out. Stand up for the homeless. Go to bat for the defenseless." "Come. Sit down. Let's argue this out." This is God's Message: "If your sins are blood-red, they'll be snow-white. If they're red like crimson, they'll be white like wool." Isaiah 1

So what is God looking for in a sacrificial offering?

- Romans 12:1 – Offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God—this is your true and proper worship. The Message says, “Take your everyday, ordinary life—your sleeping, eating, going-to-work, and walking-around life—and place it before God as an offering. Embracing what God does for you is the best thing you can do for him.”
- 1 Peter 2:4-5 – As you come to him, the living Stone—rejected by humans but chosen by God and precious to him — you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.
- Psalm 51:17 – My sacrifice, O God, is a broken spirit; a broken and contrite heart you, God, will not despise.

Read Numbers 21:4 - 9: The Bronze Snake on a pole/standard

- People believed God and looked and were healed
- Came at some cost of commitment
- You had to go to a place where you could see the snake or the snake could come to you. You had to get out of your tent.
- The story of my back pain and inability to move. If Sharon had called an ambulance, how was that going to help?

Earthly sanctuary service: Read the 4th paragraph “All through the Old Testament, the earthly sanctuary service was the most detailed symbolic representation of the plan of salvation.” “The most important of all truths taught there: . . .”

What do you think is the most important truth taught by the sanctuary service?

The people must make a sacred Tent for me, so that I may live among them. Exodus 25:8

“For sin pays its wage—death; but God's free gift is eternal life in union with Christ Jesus our Lord.” Romans 6:23

Christ / God should be in the center of our camp / lives, and he is continually ministering to our needs and best interest. God is Holy and yet in the midst of our daily lives.

What we do (whether in worship or daily live) means everything to God

“Great peace have the which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them. Those who love your law have perfect security, and there is nothing that can make them fall.” Psalms 119:165

“In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice.” DA 761.4

Read next paragraph: “In fact, through the sanctuary. . .”

- What went wrong?
- What needs to be “put right”
- What is God like?
- What is God doing to restore the universe
- Can God be trusted with power
- How do you define love

How you understand these symbols will largely determine your view of these current “God actions”

Most people define love as something that is inward focused: about themselves

- Love is the outward focus of the mind for the benefit of others
- Jesus replied, “I tell you the truth, unless you are born again, you cannot see the Kingdom of God.” John 3:3

Unless we are born again we cannot even understand God’s perspective, let alone go to where God is.

I like the quote from PP 431 in Sunday’s lesson that reads:

“The Israelites saved their lives by looking upon the uplifted serpent. That look implied faith. They lived because they believed God’s word, and trusted in the means provided for their recovery.”

That faith and trust in the means provided for our recovery - the remedy - is still how we are saved today.

MONDAY

The Potter’s Clay

The lesson gives us 6 texts that compare God’s children to clay (including the creation of man). Is God maybe pointing out some differences between a creator and his creations?

Isaiah 29:16
(MSG) Doom to you! You pretend to have the inside track. You shut God out and work behind the scenes, Plotting the future as if you knew everything, acting mysterious, never showing your hand. You have everything backward! You treat the potter as a lump of clay. Does a book say to its author, “He didn’t write a word of me”? Does a meal say to the woman who cooked it, “She had nothing to do with this”? (NIV) Woe to those who go to great depths to hide their plans from the Lord, who do their work in darkness and think, “Who sees us? Who will know?” You turn things upside down, as if the potter were thought to be like the clay! Shall what is formed say to the one who formed it, “You did not make me”? Can the pot say to the potter, “You know nothing”?

Isaiah 45:9

(MSG) That I've singled you out, called you by name, and given you this privileged work. And you don't even know me! I am God, the only God there is. Besides me there are no real gods. I'm the one who armed you for this work, though you don't even know me, So that everyone, from east to west, will know that I have no god-rivals. I am God, the only God there is. I form light and create darkness, I make harmonies and create discords. I, God, do all these things. "Open up, heavens, and rain. Clouds, pour out buckets of my goodness!

Loosen up, earth, and bloom salvation; sprout right living. I, God, generate all this. But doom to you who fight your Maker— you're a pot at odds with the potter! Does clay talk back to the potter: 'What are you doing? What clumsy fingers!' Would a sperm say to a father, 'Who gave you permission to use me to make a baby?' Or a fetus to a mother, 'Why have you cooped me up in this belly?'" (NIV) "Woe to those who quarrel with their Maker, those who are nothing but potsherds among the potsherds on the ground. Does the clay say to the potter, 'What are you making?' Does your work say, 'The potter has no hands'?"

Isaiah 64:8

(MSG) Still, God, you are our Father. We're the clay and you're our potter: All of us are what you made us. Don't be too angry with us, O God. Don't keep a permanent account of wrongdoing. Keep in mind, please, we are your people—all of us.

(NIV) Yet you, Lord, are our Father. We are the clay, you are the potter; we are all the work of your hand. Do not be angry beyond measure, Lord; do not remember our sins forever. Oh, look on us, we pray, for we are all your people.

The quarterly mentions that Jeremiah faced nearly constant rejection and persecution for his message of warning and repentance...he was undoubtedly discouraged and may have wondered at times whether saving the Israelite nation was worth the struggle and the fight.

Read the second paragraph: "No question. . ." Do you believe "the Lord is in control of the world."?

Do you believe "He will triumph, regardless of appearances now."? Why? What kind of power will he use? What kind of power has he used?

Radio station on Friday said that God is in control and just as he "forced" Saul to be converted he could force any of us at any time. Is that true? If that is true, why did He not do it in the past all the time? Why does He not do it now? (Or is He doing it now and I / we are missing it?) What of free will?

What kind of power has God so far used in this world?

- creation
- flood
- release of restraint
- Christ's life

Has God ever forced people to do His will? examples?

Will God change His tactics?

What do we do with the concept of God's sovereignty?

Monday's lesson concludes with:

"We can rest assured that, despite the reality of human free will and free choices, and the often calamitous results of abusing that free will, in the end, we can hope in the absolute sovereignty of our loving and self-sacrificing God, whose love is revealed on the cross. Evil won't triumph; God and His love will."

TUESDAY

The Degeneration of a Nation

What a timely title, right? As a nation, Judah was kind of in a downward spiral...they had forsaken God, they were offering incense to other gods, shedding innocent blood with human sacrifices, and had "estranged" the physical temple and/or their spirit temples.

"The crucial point, though, is that the nation was to be holy, special to the Lord, something different and distinct from the nations around them. But that's not what happened. They lost their unique character, the distinctiveness that would have made them a witness to the world. They became just like everyone else."

The quarterly asks, what lessons are here for us? Should there be a difference in divorce rates in Christian versus non-Christian homes? Should Christian homes have lower rates of domestic violence than non-Christian homes?

"I am going to do this because the people have abandoned me and defiled this place by offering sacrifices here to other gods—gods that neither they nor their ancestors nor the kings of Judah have known anything about. They have filled this place with the blood of innocent people, and they have built altars for Baal in order to burn their children in the fire as sacrifices. I never commanded them to do this; it never even entered my mind." Jeremiah 19:4, 5

Last sentence of the first paragraph:

"They lost their unique character, the distinctiveness that would have made them a witness to the world. They became just like everyone else."

How did they do that?

- Dress
- Music
- Culture

Why is that important? What is important about being different? In what ways were they to be different?

Story of surgery frustrations/behavior/speech

- This "Moses" had much less provocation than Moses did with the COI at the rock.
- "Instead, let the Spirit renew your thoughts and attitudes. Put on your new nature, created to be like God—truly righteous and holy. . . And "don't sin by letting anger control you." Don't let the sun go down while you are still angry," Ephesians 4:23, 24, 26 (NLT)-
- Had to apologize
- Statements of those to whom I offended.

How are we truly to be different from the world?

“But the Holy Spirit produces this kind of fruit in our lives: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. There is no law against these things!” Galatians 5:22 (NLT)

“Behold,” said Jesus, “I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. Therefore be wise as serpents and harmless as doves.” Christ did not suppress one word of truth, but He always spoke it in love. He was never rude, never gave needless pain to a sensitive soul. He did not scold human weakness. He fearlessly condemned hypocrisy and evil, but tears were in His voice as He spoke His sharpest rebukes. Every person was precious in His eyes. The servants of Christ need to have close fellowship with God, or else when others irritate them self may rise up and they release a torrent of words that are not like the dew or the soft showers that refresh the withering plants. God’s servants are to fasten their eyes on Christ’s loveliness. Then they can present the gospel with divine tact. And the spirit that is kept gentle when dealing with difficult people or circumstances will speak more effectively in favor of truth than any argument, no matter how strong.” {HH 160.3}

How did Judah offend God? Jeremiah 19:4

- Forsaken me (God)
- Estranged this place
- Burned incense to other gods
- Filled this place with blood of innocents

Ways I offend God

- Poor
- Aliens
- “Others”
- Abortion
- Workers who are in different jobs than I am
- Administration personnel

Read 1 Corinthians 13

Last night, the strongest hurricane that has ever been measured and recorded in the Western Hemisphere slammed into the western coast of Mexico. What did you do when you heard about it?

- Shook your head
- Thanked God for it being somewhere else,
- Did you do anything positive, physically, to assist with this disaster?

The Lord condemned Israel for forgetting the poor, the widows, the orphans. We do not have poverty of the widows and orphans in this country like they did in ancient Israel. We do have poverty, poor education, poor career opportunities for:

- single mothers
- 80 percent of children born in the United States have minimal health insurance
- CDC 2013: 40% of children are born to unmarried mothers

Children born to unmarried mothers are more likely to grow up in a single-parent household, experience unstable living arrangements, live in poverty, and have socio-emotional problems.[1] ,[2] ,[3] ,[4] As these children reach adolescence, they are more likely to have low educational attainment, engage in sex at a younger age, and have a birth outside of marriage.[5] ,[6] ,[7] ,[8] As young adults, children born outside of marriage are more likely to be idle (neither in school nor employed), have lower occupational status and income, and have more troubled marriages and more divorces than those born to married parents.[9]

Women who give birth outside of marriage tend to be more disadvantaged than their married counterparts, both before and after the birth. Unmarried mothers generally have lower incomes, lower education levels, and are more likely to be dependent on welfare assistance compared with married mothers.[10] ,[11] ,[12] ,[13] Women who have a nonmarital birth also tend to fare worse than childless single women; for example, they have reduced marriage prospects compared with single women without children.[14] ,[15] - See more at: <http://www.childtrends.org/?indicators=births-to-unmarried-women#sthash.UHQ4Su4W.dpuf>

There are more people in poverty in the US now than anytime within the last 50 years.

“We love because God first loved us. If we say we love God, but hate others, we are liars. For we cannot love God, whom we have not seen, if we do not love others, whom we have seen. The command that Christ has given us is this: whoever loves God must love others also.” 1 John 4:19, 20

Smashing the Jar

God instructs Jeremiah to go buy a clay pot, then invite a few of the city leaders and church elders out to the city gate...go over the bullet list of atrocities we just covered in Tuesday’s lesson, warn of the impending catastrophes... and then smash the clay pot into a gazillion pieces and say,

“This is what God-of-the-Angel-Armies says: I’ll smash this people and this city like a man who smashes a clay pot into so many pieces it can never be put together again. They’ll bury bodies here in Topheth until there’s no more room. And the whole city will become a Topheth. The city will be turned by people and kings alike into a center for worshiping the star gods and goddesses, turned into an open grave, the whole city an open grave, stinking like a sewer, like Topheth.”

This behavior did not appear to win Jeremiah any friends, and sadly failed to serve its symbolic purpose to wake up or convict the Israelites. In fact, Prophets and Kings p.432 says,

“The prophet’s words, instead of leading to confession and repentance, aroused the anger of those high in authority, and as a consequence Jeremiah was deprived of his liberty. Imprisoned, and placed in the stocks, the prophet nevertheless continued to speak the messages of heaven to those who stood by. His voice could not be silenced by persecution.”

Read the highlighted box at the bottom of the page

“Think of something ruined - ruined beyond repair. What was it originally made for and what happened to it that now rendered it useless? How careful we need to be that this doesn’t happen to us!”

Did the thing get ruined because it was stated to be so? Or did it not have inherent qualities that made it so. We believe something is good, bad / useful or not useful because of its inherent qualities: not because someone declares it to be so. Something remains useful unless the declaration changes us, our perceptions, so that it is no longer useful. Just because something is declared correct, does not mean it is correct and vice versa.

THURSDAY

The Linen Belt

Read Jeremiah 13:1 – 11

- The story of the linen waistband
- Buy belt / girdle / innermost piece of clothing / underwear / loincloth
- Wear belt next to himself / contact / close to him
- Journey 350 miles, 1 month long?
- Bury the linen sash in the River Euphrates
- Travel back Home
- Travel back to the River Euphrates
- Dig up the sash
- The sash is ruined

FRIDAY

Further Thoughts

David Livingstone was a missionary in Africa at a time when that was very difficult to do. He eventually died in Africa. You could say he paid the highest price possible for the gospel of Christ, yet, there was no debt that he was paying.

“To many minds the origin of sin and the reason for its existence are a source of great perplexity. They see the work of evil, with its terrible results of woe and desolation, and they question how all this can exist under the sovereignty of One who is infinite in wisdom, in power, and in love. Here is a mystery of which they find no explanation. And in their uncertainty and doubt they are blinded to truths plainly revealed in God’s word and essential to salvation.”—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, p. 492.

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 7

The Crisis Continues

SABBATH

Read memory text: “But let him who glories glory in this, That he understands and knows Me, That I am the Lord, exercising lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness in the earth. For in these I delight,” says the Lord.” Jer 9:24 NKJV

What do you understand this text to be saying?

Does it resonate with an end time prophecy for an end time people? “Fear God and give glory to him for the hour of his judgment has come...” Rev 14:7

Could this text give insight and enlighten us as to what Rev 14:7 means?

What is the Jeremiah text telling us is necessary in order to glorify God? And what is to be the basis for our glories? The knowledge of God—can a person glorify God if they don’t actually know Him? Will this be an issue at the end of time to which Revelation points?

So, what is the Jeremiah text telling us about God, that we are supposed to know and be the basis of our glorying in Him?

From the SDA Bible Commentary on Jeremiah 9:24:

The truly wise ascribe praise to God alone, never to self (see on v. 23). The knowledge of God is the only true ground for glorying (see 1 Cor. 1:31; 2 Cor. 10:17). That man alone is truly wise in whose heart such knowledge is treasured, for it is life eternal (John 17:3). This knowledge has an intellectual aspect involving the understanding. Man’s relationship to God has a reasonable and intelligent basis. It is no blind discipleship. Man is to serve God with all the mind (Matt. 22:37). But knowing God goes beyond a merely theoretical understanding. It is an experimental knowledge. It is practical. It manifests itself in walking in God’s ways (see Job 22:21; Jer. 22:16).¹

¹ Nichol, F. D. (Ed.). (1977). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 4, p. 398). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

This is well said—the knowledge of God includes knowing God’s character, methods, design. It is an intelligent appreciation of and participation in God’s ways of doing things. This is the integrative evidence-based approach. If our understanding of God has no applicable and practical aspect then there is something wrong with our understanding.

So, the commentary, is describing Design law, not imposed law.

With this in mind, let’s unpack the further descriptors of God in the passage: “That I am the Lord, exercising lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness in the earth.”

- Lovingkindness—what is this describing? Agape love, God is love!
 - The law of love—as Jesus said God provides the sun and rain to all people without regard. God’s love and truth is poured out from heaven upon all humanity, as is the Remedy for sin—it is up to us to partake.
- What about Judgment—what is this referring to?
 - the Hebrew is mishpat and is the same Hebrew is used in Jer 5:4: “Therefore I said, “Surely these are poor. They are foolish; For they do not know the way of the LORD, The judgment of their God.” NKJV
 - Then I thought, “These are only the poor and ignorant. They behave foolishly; they don’t know what their God requires, what the LORD wants them to do. Jer 5:4 GNB
 - Then I said, “These are only the poor, they have no sense; for they do not know the way of the LORD, the law of their God. Jer 5:4NRSV
 - What is the word “judgment” referring to in our memory passage? God’s design law. It is saying we cannot glorify in God unless we know God’s character of love, and also His design law of love upon which life is built to operate
- Righteousness—means what? Doing what is right, knowing, in this context, that God always does the right thing, which is an expression of His character of love and in harmony with His law of love!

The problem we face is that these texts get translated and interpreted through the false law lens, the imposed law lens and thus all types of legal connotations, based on sinful human beings ways of making laws, gets projected onto God.

Here is our memory text from The Message:

“If you brag, brag of this and this only: That you understand and know me. I’m God, and I act in loyal love. I do what’s right and set things right and fair, and delight in those who do the same things. These are my trademarks.” God’s Decree.”

Doesn’t this sound a lot different than the typical judicial way of reading it? This is the message we are to be taking about God and the end of earth’s history—because the hour in which God’s character is being judged has come!

Read second paragraph, “Imagine what would...” Why would the crisis have been averted?

The lesson suggests the door to salvation had not been closed, what closes the door to salvation? Who closes the door to salvation?

Does God have a time on a celestial calendar and He is counting down to it and when we reach that time He shuts down opportunity? Or, is it that events transpire on earth that bring a crisis and each person either embraces truth and is transformed or rejects it and is hardened?

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “In Jeremiah 9...” What do you understand the lesson is trying to say? What are they saying about God? What kind of God are they describing?

Let’s first evaluate their assertions—when God says something He does it—is this an absolute truth, or does God say something, but if circumstances change, God adapts and changes?

- Did God tell Jonah that He was going to destroy Nineveh? Did God give Jonah any caveats that needed to be met to avert the action?
- Did God tell Moses He was going to destroy Israel and start over with him? Did God tell Moses any caveats that needed to be met in order to avert the action?
- Why does God say things and then change based on what happens? God speaks in the way that is most effective to bring about God’s purposes—to heal, save, reveal truth etc.

So, is the statement by the authors “when God says something He does it,” a completely accurate description of God? What is wrong with what they have said? They have made God out to be arbitrary and dictatorial, rigid, inflexible...

Now, let’s be fair, I think the authors are trying to make God out to be reliable, dependable, constant, predictable, a God who never changes, the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. The problem is that they focus on behavior rather than character. If they focus on God's character and methods then we find the solid Rock, the reliable, never changing gracious God of love, truth and freedom, but love changes its ACTIONS based on the needs of the situations.

When we view God's law as functioning like our own, then we make these errors of creating a dictator, rigid god.

How does the lesson make God's judgments sound? Do they sound like punishments inflicted? I find this sounding a lot like level one speech, the idea that right and wrong is determined by reward and punishment. At this level a ruler establishes the right to rule by displays of power. So the authors are describing a powerful God who can punish.

Notice the huge difference in how EGW describes these events in the next paragraph:

"The cross is a revelation to our dull senses of the pain that, from its very inception, sin has brought to the heart of God. Every departure from the right, every deed of cruelty, every failure of humanity to reach His ideal, brings grief to Him. When there came upon Israel the calamities that were the sure result of separation from God,—subjugation by their enemies, cruelty, and death,--it is said that "His soul was grieved for the misery of Israel." "In all their affliction He was afflicted: . . . and He bare them, and carried them all the days of old." Judges 10:16; Isaiah 63:9. {Ed 263.1}

Notice—the judgments of God as described by EGW are not inflictions to punish, but setting them free to experience what they have persistently chosen, separation from Him. And when one separates from God, the source of life, when one deviates from the law upon which life is constructed, the only result is pain, suffering and death.

Read bottom pink section: "What does the Cross tell us about the loving-kindness, the justice, and righteousness of God?"

- God so loved the world...His love is manifest is His giving His life for us
- Justice—is doing what is right—and thus Christ did what was right, He perfectly revealed God's character, developed a perfect human character, rejected the temptations of fear and selfishness and cured the human sin condition—all in harmony with the law upon which life is designed
- Righteousness—the perfection of God's character and methods lived out by Christ (in the Greek Justice and Righteousness are the same)

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “As we have seen...” The lesson says the people were steeped in paganism, idolatry, and false teachings.

- Who were the people who were steeped in paganism, idolatry and false teaching? They were God’s chosen, the church on earth at that time.
- Is it possible Christianity today is steeped in paganism and idolatry?
- What do you understand the essence of paganism and idolatry to be?

Idolatry and paganism, at its essence is worshipping a lie—a false view of God:

Thousands have a false conception of God and His attributes. They are as verily serving a false god as were the servants of Baal. Are we worshipping the true God as He is revealed in His Word, in Christ, in nature, or are we adoring some philosophical idol enshrined in His place? God is a God of truth. Justice and mercy are the attributes of His throne. He is a God of love, of pity and tender compassion. Thus He is represented in His Son, our Saviour. He is a God of patience and long-suffering. If such is the being whom we adore and to whose character we are seeking to assimilate, we are worshipping the true God. {FLB 59.8}

What are the elements that have been accepted by Christians, that actually cause Christianity to teach a false view of God, and thus lead people into paganism?

- 1. God’s law is imposed—thus God must inflict punishment, and requires appeasement or payment
 - Yesterday I was speaking with a man who has studied God’s word and taught others his entire life, a good man, I believe one like Nicodemus or Joseph of Arimathea. Yet this professor told me that the ransom metaphor of Scripture means that Satan laid legal claims to planet earth and a payment had to be made to free earth from Satan’s possession. And when asked to whom, he said to God.
 - Satan’s claim is a lie and it is based on a lie.
 - When Satan declared to Christ, The kingdom and glory of the world are delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it, he stated what was true only in part, and he declared it to serve his own purpose of deception. Satan's dominion was that wrested from Adam, but Adam was the vicegerent of the Creator. His was not an independent rule. The earth is God's, and He has committed all things to His Son. Adam was to reign subject to Christ. When Adam betrayed his sovereignty into Satan's hands, Christ still remained the rightful King. Thus the Lord had said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever He will." Daniel 4:17. Satan can exercise his usurped authority only as God permits. {DA 129.4}

- If Christ remained the rightful king, then did any legal action have to be taken to legally obtain rights to earth? No! This entire idea is based on the false law infection.
- What does the Ransom metaphor actually mean? Ransom is the price necessary to free someone held in bondage. What holds us in bondage? The lies about God we believe and our carnal natures. Then what is the price necessary to free us? The truth about God and a new nature, both of which Christ achieved. And who is this price provided (i.e. paid) to? You and me!
- 2. Pursuit of government support (i.e. systems of the world) for religious institutions and beliefs
 - Satan tempted Christ by offering Him the power and authority of the earthly governments
 - The church is tempted in the same way, to join with the governments of earth, and they have accepted this temptation and rather than saying, as Jesus did, "my kingdom is not of this earth" have sought to get governmental authority and practice the methods of earthly governments—in two ways:
 - one, by joining with them to pass laws in the land enforcing legal religion
 - two, by in their doctrines teaching God's government functions and operates like earthly governments—so even those churches who promote separation of church and state still fall into this trap IF they teach God's law operates like man's law!
- 3. I found this quote in the book, The Great Controversy: "The theory of the immortality of the soul was one of those false doctrines that Rome, borrowing from paganism, incorporated into the religion of Christendom. {GC88 549.3}
 - Do you agree?
 - How does immortality of the soul lead one to pagan god concepts?
 - First it colludes with Satan's lie in Eden, "you will not surely die." and makes God out to be a liar
 - Second—what kind of being would God be if immortality of the soul is true?
 - Naïve—He didn't think about the awful things that could happen if humans rebelled

- Incapable—God didn't have the ability to know what humans would do
 - Cruel and sadistic—God did know they would rebel but made them immortal anyway knowing billions would suffer eternally
 - The doctrine of immortality of the soul leads people to conceive of God in a light other than love, a cruel tyrant who is unworthy of our love and trust—and thus create theologies designed to protect us from God
- 4. Any theology that requires appeasement, propitiation, or any other action be taken to influence or persuade, or enable, or permit God to forgive and save and/or not lash out with judgment and punishment. Here are three quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church, teaching this idea:
 - With intense interest he [Satan] watched the sacrifices offered by Adam and his sons. In these ceremonies he discerned a symbol of communion between earth and heaven. He set himself to intercept this communion. He misrepresented God, and misinterpreted the rites that pointed to the Saviour. Men were led to fear God as one who delighted in their destruction. The sacrifices that should have revealed His love were offered only to appease His wrath. {DA 115.1}
 - Determined to keep the people in deception, the priests of Baal continue to offer sacrifices to their gods and to call upon them night and day to refresh the earth. With costly offerings the priests attempt to appease the anger of their gods; {PK 124.2}
 - Speaking of the Dark Ages this author writes of Christians:
 - They were taught not only to look to the pope as their mediator, but to trust to works of their own to atone for sin. Long pilgrimages, acts of penance, the worship of relics, the erection of churches, shrines, and altars, the payment of large sums to the church,—these and many similar acts were enjoined to appease the wrath of God or to secure his favor; as if God were like men, to be angered at trifles, or pacified by gifts or acts of penance! {GC88 56.1}Get quote from Knight

Do you see at the root of every pagan system is a god who must be appeased, propitiated, paid off, an angry, revengeful god whose law operates like those of sinful beings?

The lesson emphasizes the point that pagan gods cannot create and the true God is the Creator God—absolutely true—how can we apply this knowledge? By understanding the protocols upon which creation operates, i.e. realizing God's laws are never imposed rules, but always the laws that life is built upon!

When we use the fact God is Creator to appeal only to power, we revert to level one thinking and incite fear of God instead of bringing people back to love and trust in God.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, “The inhabitants...” What does “undeserving” mean and what does it not mean?

- It means they didn’t possess healthiness or goodness in and of themselves
- It does not mean they are worthless worms
- It does not mean that if they were loyal to God, observed His laws and followed the rules then they would be deserving—this is a great falsehood that many Christians buy into
- All our righteousness is filthy rags (Isa 64:6)
- All have sinned and fall short of God’s glory Rom 3:23

God doesn’t give up because they are still healable, not because they are good. God only gives up and lets go when we are beyond healing, i.e. when we have destroyed the faculties that respond to love and truth.

The last paragraph states, “Old Testament, New Testament—in the end, the message of God is the same to all of us: we are sinners, we have done wrong, we deserve punishment.”

I can’t say this more emphatically—THIS IS PAGANISM, THIS IS IDOLATRY, this is the infection of the beastly system into Christianity. It is a perversion, a distortion, a corruption of reality that in the end represents God with the attributes of Satan—but it is subtle. One can only discern the difference between the truth and the lie if one understands God’s character and law of love. Without this, then one doesn’t understand God’s methods and when reading Scripture or other Christian writings will read through human law lens and misunderstand.

I want to expose how Christian writings get misunderstood and used to present the pagan view of God, and from the same author show how the writings used to support the pagan view of God, actually mean something else entirely:

From one of the founders of the SDA church we read some quotations that are used to promote the pagan view:

- God has given in His word decisive evidence that He will punish the transgressors of His law. Those who flatter themselves that He is too merciful to execute justice upon the sinner, have only to look to the cross of Calvary. The death of the spotless Son of God testifies that "the wages of sin is death," that every violation of God's law must receive its just retribution. Christ the sinless became sin for man. He bore the guilt of transgression, and the hiding of His Father's face, until His heart was broken and His life crushed out. [What God did is stated here for those who have insight to understand] All this sacrifice was made that sinners might be redeemed. In no other way could man be freed from the penalty of sin. [The penalty of sin, not of God—what does sin do?] And every soul that refuses to become a partaker of the atonement provided at such a cost must bear in his own person the guilt and punishment of transgression.... {Darkness Before Dawn 16.4}

- The history of Israel was to be placed on record for the instruction and warning of coming generations. Men of all future time must see the God of heaven as an impartial ruler, in no case justifying sin. But few realize the exceeding sinfulness of sin. Men flatter themselves that God is too good to punish the transgressor. But in the light of Bible history it is evident that God's goodness and His love engage Him to deal with sin as an evil fatal to the peace and happiness of the universe. {PP 420.2} [what do you hear? why is sin fatal to the peace and happiness of the universe? why must God deal with it?]

We see in God's universe (i.e. under God's rulership/government/the way He has constructed His kingdom—reality to work) there is a punishment for sin—the question is what does it mean and what method does God use? Are God's ways like human governments and God uses power to inflict punishment or something else entirely?

So from the very same author of the previous two quotes, we read:

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. {DA 761.4}

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. {1SM 235.2}

David had neglected the duty of punishing the crime of Amnon, and because of the unfaithfulness of the king and father and the impenitence of the son, the Lord permitted events to take their natural course, and did not restrain Absalom. When parents or rulers neglect the duty of punishing iniquity, God Himself will take the case in hand. His restraining power will be in a measure removed from the agencies of evil, so that a train of circumstances will arise which will punish sin with sin. {PP 728.1} [Wow—did you hear that? How does God punish sin? By setting people who choose to sin, which is separation from Him, to have what they have chosen and thus they are punished by sin. This is exactly what Scripture teaches, “the wages of sin is death,” “sin when full grown brings forth death” “the one who sows to the carnal nature, from that nature reaps destructions”]

As Paul thus approaches Corinth, how striking the contrast to the close of a former journey, when Saul, "breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord," drew near to Damascus! How widely different the appearance, purposes, and spirit of Saul and Paul! Then he was intrusted with the sword of secular power, he was the agent of the Sanhedrim, the Jewish inquisitor, the exterminator of heretics, seeking victims to imprison, to scourge, or to stone. Filled with pride, he rode toward Damascus, with servants at his command to convey his prisoners to Jerusalem. Now he journeys on foot, with no outward tokens of rank or power, and no officers of justice to do his bidding. The utmost that he can do to punish those who disregard his authority, is to separate them from a society whose members are everywhere regarded as ignorant and degraded. His enemies declare that his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible. Yet the apostle is not so powerless as he is represented. He bears a commission from the King of kings. All Heaven is enlisted to sustain him. His weapons are not carnal, but mighty through God to overthrow the strongholds of sin and Satan. {Sketches from the Life of Paul 185.1}

The world is soon to be left by the angel of mercy, and the seven last plagues are to be poured out. Sin, shame, sorrow, and darkness are on every side; but God still holds out to the souls of men the precious privilege of exchanging darkness for light, error for truth, sin for righteousness. But God's patience and mercy will not always wait. Let not one soul think that he can hide from God's wrath behind a lie, for God will strip from the soul the refuge of lies. The bolts of God's wrath are soon to fall, and when He shall begin to punish the transgressors, there will be no period of respite until the end. The storm of God's wrath is gathering, and those only will stand who are sanctified through the truth in the love of God. They shall be hid with Christ in God till the desolation shall be overpast. He shall come forth to punish the inhabitants of the world for their iniquity, {TM 182}

Wow, again this sounds like some direct infliction—if one is reading this through the lens of sinful human law. But if one knows God, His character and methods, then one realizes reality doesn't work the way human law works, so notice how this same author describes the method, mechanism by which this occurs:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.*

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of."

Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

This description is in perfect harmony with Revelation chapter 7, when the angels let loose the winds of strife they have been restraining and calamities occur.

We, as Christians, have presented such a distorted picture of God to the world that millions have either rejected Him, or live in fear of His return.

It is time to come back to the truth—yes there is a punishment for sin that can only be avoided through Jesus—why? Because reality cannot be set aside to allow a person out of harmony with God's design for life to live in health, it simply isn't possible.

The great problem many have is they have never understood the truth about God's law and character and live in the darkness of human law constructs.

WEDNESDAY

Read last sentence of first paragraph, “The gospel provision, which would eventually come through the sacrifice of Jesus, would be enough to forgive all their sins and restore the people.”

What is meant by the idea that the provision would be enough to forgive all their sins?

It sounds quantitative—i.e. the sacrifice is sufficient to provide pardon for all the bad deeds?

Was the problem that God was unable to forgive without the death of Christ? No! “God so loved the world...” God forgave before Christ came, but we were still alienated in our hearts, minds, and state of being. We didn’t know or trust God and we didn’t operate in harmony with Him. Thus Christ came to reveal the truth to win us back to trust, and provide us a new humanity in perfect harmony with how God built life to exist. We, through Christ, don’t get new legal documents, we get new hearts and right spirits, we become partakers of the divine nature!

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “As we saw yesterday...” What is the punishment for spilling innocent blood?

How do we understand it?

Is sin a crime that must be punished? Or is sin a condition of being that if unremedied destroys, thus bringing its own punishment.

The legal way of seeing it is what leads so many young Christians to engage in sin.

America, the nation in which more than 82%² of people identify themselves as Christian, has the highest rate of teen pregnancy and abortion than any westernized country in the world.

- 34% of American teenage girls will get pregnant before the age of 20.
- Teen pregnancy in the United States is ten times that of Japan where less than three percent of the population is Christian,
- Four times that of France and Germany, and nearly twice that of Great Britain.³

³ Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, "Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance—United States, 2007," Surveillance Summaries, Vol. 58, No. SS-4 (June 6, 2008)

Why? When preparing to do a lecture on human sexuality to a group of Christian HS students I asked them to write down any question they had and turn it in anonymously. This question appeared more than once: “If I love my girlfriend very much, and she loves me, and God will forgive us for having premarital sex, what is wrong with premarital sex?”

The student understands correctly there is no problem with God forgiving, and there never was and never will be—but the student fails miserably in understanding the reality of God’s law and the nature of sin.

It would be like asking if God will forgive me for jabbing myself in the eye with a pencil, what’s wrong with jabbing myself in the eye with a pencil. Think about it—is the problem with such behavior, or smoking, drugs, or any other violation of God’s law a problem with getting God to forgive? No! The problem is the damage it does to us!

Second paragraph states, “How fascinating that the priests and the prophets, the ones who were supposed to be the spiritual leaders, had to be rebuked and challenged by mere ‘elders’ and ‘regular people’ who came forward in defense of Jeremiah.”

Has such a problem been true throughout human history?

- In the days of Christ did the spiritual leaders need rebuke by the common people—remember the man born blind?
- In the days of the Apostles—did they have to rebuke the spiritual leaders?
- In the Dark Ages?
- What about today?

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 8

Josiah's Reforms

SABBATH

Who was Josiah?

His great-grandfather was Hezekiah. Hezekiah was King of Judah from 715–686 BC, Hezekiah became king at age 25 and ruled for 29 years. Judah was in a weakened state at that time, and the prophets Amos and Hosea were active during Hezekiah's rule warning of impending disaster if reform did not occur. Hezekiah initiated reform in Israel. He opened the Temple, which had been closed, brought the priests back, and began religious services again. He invited the nation to celebrate the Passover, which had not been celebrated in years, and invitation was also sent to the tribes in Israel to the north.

Interestingly, that Passover was celebrated a month later than the prescribed time because the people could not get ready for it sooner. Many interesting lessons in that...

After that Passover they set about destroying the altars to the false gods, and Hezekiah even destroyed the bronze serpent Moses had made (around 1500BC), because it had become associated with a pagan god and was being worshipped.

Isaiah became active as God's spokesperson during Hezekiah's rule, and Hezekiah became sick and Isaiah told him to prepare for death. Hezekiah prayed for extension in life and was granted 15 more years.

Josiah's grandfather (Hezekiah's son) was Manasseh, who became king at age 12 and reigned over Israel longer than any other king 55 years—but who did wickedly before the Lord. He reversed the reforms of his father Hezekiah, brought in fertility worship and prostitutes into the temple, sacrificed his own son to pagan gods and was taken captive by the Assyrians who put fishhooks in his skin and drug him away. He repented sincerely and was restored to his throne and went about making reforms, but the nation never fully recovered.

His son Amon (Josiah's father), was worse than Manasseh and was so wicked that he was assassinated by his advisors after only two years on the throne and thus Josiah became king at the age of eight.

Josiah reigned from 640-609 BC. During his reign Babylon increased in power and attacked Assyria, destroyed Nineveh, which had been the capital of Assyria, and significantly decreased the ability of Assyria to maintain its control over Judah. Neco II of Egypt decided to either attack Assyria or lend aid to Assyria (most likely aid Assyria), the commentators have it both ways, but regardless needed to cross through Judah to get to Assyria. Josiah opposed him and was wounded and died from wounds suffered in the battle.

Josiah was relentless in his goal to exterminate idol worship from Judah. So intense was his desire to do this that he opened the tombs of the false prophets and had their bones burned on the altars of the false gods, desecrating them, before destroying those altars and places of worship. At age 26 he launched a project to repair and rebuild the temple and in that project the books of the law, most believe containing some portion of the first five books of Moses, were discovered hidden away in the temple. When he heard the law read to him he sent for the prophetess Huldah, asking if the judgments could be avoided, she said they could not but that they would not occur in his lifetime. He re-intensified his efforts to eliminate pagan worship and destroyed the shrines that Solomon had erected and which were still in existence in his day. (Solomon reigned from 971-931 BC)

His death was mourned deeply in Israel and Jeremiah wrote lamentations about his death:

The Lord's anointed, our very life breath, was caught in their traps.
We thought that under his shadow
we would live among the nations. Lam 4:20

Do you think Josiah did good or evil? The Bible says he did good—do you agree? Then what do you say about his destroying the shrines, altars, and other elements of pagan worship?

What has the Taliban been doing in areas of the world they control? They have been destroying various ancient artifacts associated with culture and worship they deem to be pagan. When you hear of this in the news, do you rejoice?

How do you think the people in Israel responded to Josiah's actions? Were all happy about it? What is the difference between the actions of Josiah and that of the Taliban?

- Josiah was destroying active centers of worship, which were corrupting the minds and injuring the people.
 - The Taliban are destroying artifacts of history and evidence of past civilizations, but these are not active centers of worship or actively destroying the minds of people.

- Josiah was destroying state led and state sponsored systems of worship, in other words, the government had been instrumental in setting up those place of idol-worship and therefore had a role in destroying them
 - The Taliban did not lead the people into worshipping the gods associated with the artifacts they are destroying. If the Taliban wants to be like Josiah, they need to dismantle their own government, lay down their arms, repent before the world, and lead the people to worship the God who Jesus revealed

Read first paragraph, “Parents know...” I want you to consider the following:

Patience and Prudence are members of the same church. They grew up in the same community, attended the same church schools, and both married Christian men. They are members of the same congregation and both have sons of near the same age—Patience’s son is named Rob and Prudence’s son is named Jude.

Jude from an early age is a good boy, obedient, on time, always dressed nicely, speaks politely, gets good grades in school, helps the teachers and is noted for his sharp and quick mind. He was elected class president, served on the debate team, helped with mission trips, and worked closely with school and church leaders. He is often called upon to read Scripture in church as he is well spoken, bright, and well liked. Eventually, he graduates college and becomes a member of the general conference committee and is involved in forming church policy.

Rob, on the other hand, struggles from an early age. He is talkative in school, plays tricks on other students, skips classes, doesn’t do his homework, and his grades are very poor. He gets in arguments and fights occasionally. His mother prays and prays, talks with him, and disciplines him but it doesn’t seem to help. In adolescence he begins drinking, drops out of school, hangs out with the wrong crowd and is soon burglarizing homes and stealing as a profession. He is eventually caught and as a repeat offender is imprisoned for his crimes.

Back at church Patience frequently runs into Prudence, who never fails to mention how wonderful her son is, his latest accomplishments and then, with contrived concern, always asks about Rob’s latest troubles and expresses how sad she is that Rob has caused her so much grief.

Which mother would you rather be? Which of these two children would you rather is yours?

Now, as Paul Harvey would famously say, for the rest of the story: Jude is better known as Judas, and Rob is better known not as “The Robber” but as “The Thief on the cross” who accepted Jesus as his Savior—now which child would you prefer is yours? Which child turned out to be the truly successful one? What is the point of this story?

- Man looks on the outward appearance the Lord looks on the heart
- Sometimes those in active rebellion are more open to truth than those indoctrinated into religious dogma and ritual
- We don't know the future, how things will turn out—so we must stay hopeful

The next sentence says, “Thus, much of Scripture is the story of God warning His people about not making wrong choices.”

This is well said, God is warning—not threatening! Is there a difference? Why does it often sound like threatening? Because those to whom God is speaking are unable to hear warnings in any other way.

Have you ever had a child you tried to warn, but they wouldn't listen, so the only way to warn them was to phrase it like a threat?

SUNDAY

Read top paragraph, “However much we like to talk...” What is the lesson trying to say? Each of us has our own unique way of seeing reality and our perspectives may or may not harmonize with reality.

For instance, we each have an English software package. Think about your primary language, how was it learned? It is not in the DNA, it is not programmed into the brain, it is uploaded after birth. And it is assimilated by exposure, it isn't possible for a child to avoid learning their primary language.

Yet, do you ever get up in the morning and think, “Today I am going to think in English (or whatever your primary language is)?”

If, like me, you speak only one language, everything gets filtered through it. When I look out and see a plant with trunk and leaves I see a “tree” not a baum which is the German word for tree. It is the same object, but filtered through a different lens, the lens of English.

Do you think English is the only software that got uploaded into your mind in this way? No, your beliefs about God, male/female roles, relations, your values, morals, and so much more—when you see a deer, do you see a cute animal that brings a smile, or do you see lunch? Depending on the internal belief systems, previous experiences, etc, data gets processed and understood differently.

What factors make our subjective view of the world more distorted and further from objective reality?

- Any major trauma in life—the younger the trauma the more impactful the warp, and the longer the trauma remains unresolved the more deeply the warp
- Resentment and grudge holding
- Violating God's law and refusing to repent
- Having limited facts or pieces of data, seeing only a small number of the pieces of the puzzle (The blind men and the elephant), when it comes to our world view this happens all the time:
 - Evolutionary theory is only maintained by denying and ignoring much of the evidence
 - As only one example: Geological radio-dating and astrometrics the earth and universe are billions of years old and some Christians suggest God created the earth 6000-10,000 years ago, therefore the Bible is wrong. The problem is the Bible doesn't teach the universe is 6000 years old. It says in Job that the sons of God sang for joy when the foundation of the earth was laid. The universe was created by God sometime in eternity past, we are told how long, and later God came and terraformed planet earth from ancient matter in the dark abyss in this corner of the Milky Way.
 - Bad theology happens when people do not incorporate the entirety of Scripture but take a little here and there
 - I have found in talking with people who disagree with the God of love we present, they always have multiples pieces of evidence they fail to incorporate into their view.
 - For instance—how many, before they go to Scripture and try and understand events, first understand God's design laws, like the law of love, the law of liberty, the law of worship? How many understand the nature and character of sin, that it is deviation from design law that results in damage and death to the deviant? Without these facts in one's mind, and many more like it, Scripture can very quickly become confusing.
- Filling the mind with false ideas and beliefs
 - From media
 - watch closely what the media is doing to Ben Carson and you will get lessons in deceit, distortion, and twisting of facts
 - From church
 - the number one infection is the imposed law construct that serves as a filter on how we see God
 - From family

- where children learn how men treat women and husbands treat wives, what substances are okay to put in the body, how we deal with people of different race and culture etc.
- From school
 - Why do all cultures that wish to change society start with the schoolbooks? Because children are forming their filters, their operating systems and if one can upload distorted beliefs into the children's minds they can change society
- From peers
 - Parents are most impactful on forming a child's worldview and belief system up until adolescence and then it is their peers. One of the benefits of encouraging young people to associate with those who are Christlike

Our challenge is to move ever more closely to seeing the world through God's eyes, through the reality of God's character, methods, principles, motives—how God designed reality to function. Sadly, most people have a human law construct as a filter on their minds and even when reading Scripture often misunderstand and misread because it is being warped through human law lenses.

Manasseh, we mentioned briefly before, but although he was perhaps the most wicked king in the history of Israel, not only leading the nation into paganism, fertility cult practices, occult practices and human sacrifices, it is also thought he had the prophet Isaiah put in a log and sawn in half.

But, afterward he was taken away in chains and with hooks in his nose, he repented and God forgave him and restored him to his throne—what is the lesson here?

What is God concerned with—our deeds, our record, our acts, or our hearts? God does not hold grudges, or resentment, or keep records of wrongs as 1Corinthians 13 states “love keeps no record of wrongs.” God is always for us, always seeking to save and redeem. No matter how bad you feel, how lost, how wicked, how sinful, Manasseh stands as evidence, that if you will let God, He will heal and restore you!

One of the horrible thing sin does to people is it causes them to experience fear, guilt and shame—internal, in their minds and hearts. This causes them to form beliefs based on those feelings—beliefs that if anyone ever knew of their sins they would be rejected. This deep-seated fear is another factor, besides the imposed law construct, that has led to so much bad theology.

When we were at the GC, there was one person walking around handing out his business card, with a web address, telling people “learn the truth about Tim Jennings.” He was telling people that I teach heresy. I had the opportunity to talk to him and the first thing he asked me was:

“Do you believe that our sins are being erased from the books of heaven in the investigative judgment?”

I told him that sin doesn’t happen in record books, it happens in people and God wants to erase sinfulness out of the hearts, minds, and characters of people and the books of heaven are records of our characters and as he heals us the records reflects that transformation. But, God is not erasing historical facts out of books of history.

He said in a derogatory tone, “That is what I thought you taught.”

So I mentioned the evidence of David. I asked him if we will know our own family members when we get to heaven. He unreservedly said yes. Then I asked if that is true, will David and Bathsheba know Solomon is their son? What happens when Uriah walks up? Will Uriah know Bathsheba was his wife? How can they erase that record? And if they erase it, what then happens to the line of David and ultimate to Jesus who was born of that line?

I also pointed out that the Bible says we sing a song of our experience in heaven—what experience do we have other than the experience of being healed and delivered from sin? If it is being erased from history of what will we sing? Further, when the woman anointed Jesus’ feet with the costly oil, Jesus said, “Those who are forgiven much love much.” If we don’t remember the great depth of what we have been forgiven, our love and appreciation for God is undermined.

After all this he said to me, “All I know is that there are sins I have committed in the past that are being erased from the books of heaven that no one will ever know about those sins.”

Which revealed his issue—he lives in fear, guilt and shame and he fears that if people knew of his sin he could not be loved or accepted.

This is one of the reasons the Bible says we are to confess our sins one to another—for the very purpose of demonstrating that love overrules!

Parents, think about when your children confessed some secret sin—did you love them less, did you reject them? Or did you have great compassion for them and want only to heal them and restore them to righteousness? This is God—see Him in Eden, how He approached Adam and Eve; see Him in Jesus how He dealt with the lepers, the woman caught in adultery and others!

God is always seeking to demonstrate our sin does not cause Him to reject us! Our sin causes us to reject Him! We can't believe God is really that good, that gracious and thus we create false theologies designed to DIMINISH God's graciousness by teaching Jesus had to do something to merit it from the Father—Oh How terribly sad!

First question in the pink section at the bottom asks, “Who doesn't know personally the terrible consequences that can come even from sin that has been forgiven?”

Does this sound strange? Why is this question asked? Do we sometimes think that if we get forgiveness that we avoid the problems? Where does this idea originate?

This is what happens when we live at levels 1-4 of moral development:

1. Reward and punishment—if I am forgiven then no punishment so no problem
2. Market place exchange—if I am forgiven my debt for failing my part of the deal, then no consequence because I don't have to make good on the deal
3. Social conformity—if I am forgiven I am accepted back into the group and thus no consequence
4. Law and order—if I am forgiven, I am legally pardoned, and thus no legal punishment or no consequence

This leads to young people asking—if God will forgive me for having premarital sex then what's wrong with it?

It is only when we come to realize God's law is not like man's law, not imposed rules, that God's laws are protocols upon which reality works, and even though we may be forgiven, receive new heart and right spirit, the objective results of our actions are not erased from history or reality:

- David was forgiven and repented, but Uriah was still dead, and his actions caused a split in his family and Absalom tried to overthrow him
- Samson was forgiven and repented, but was still blind and a prisoner
- Peter was forgiven and repented, but he always had the history of his denial of Christ to remember
- A person who commits adultery and contracts HIV, is forgiven and may repent and therefore be reconciled to God, receive a new heart and right spirit, and be eternally saved, yet for the rest of their life on this earth, still has the HIV infection to deal with What sin is not forgiven? What do we mean by forgiven? Are there sins that God, in His heart refuses to forgive? No—look at those who crucified Christ, he forgave them. Yet, are there sins that people don't repent of, don't seek forgiveness for, or said another way, don't accept the forgiveness God extends? So, then even though God forgives, those who refuse to accept that forgiveness remain in an unforgiven state!

MONDAY

Read last paragraph, “Unfortunately, the answer...” What do you think about the last phrase, “they faced the punishment that their sins brought upon them”?

This is well said! Do we often think of it in this light? That sin brings its own punishment, or do we get stuck into thinking God must punish sin?

Read first paragraph, “A preacher once said...” Israel wanted kings, God warned them against it, but they persisted and God chose their first two kings... Any other examples of God using His power to do something for the people He didn't want them to do?

- The quail in the desert
- The wars in conquering other nations
- The instructions on eating meat

What do we learn from this?

- Why did God give them what He warned them not to do?
- What were the people going to do?
- What were God's options?
- So God warned them of the dangers, then helped them do it anyway, and then was there to help pick up the pieces when they got what they insisted they wanted

Do we need to be careful for what we pray? Or is it more the attitude in which we pray?

Is it okay to pray for something evil or selfish, if your heart really wants it? Or, if your heart really wants it, but you know it is evil or selfish, is it better not to pray to God for it?

- “Happy are those who pay you back for what you have done to us- who take your babies and smash them against a rock.” Ps 137:8,9
- Balaam asked to curse Israel
- Moses asked not to go back to Egypt and then asked for someone else to speak for him

- Jonah asked not to go to Nineveh, and then actively tried to disobey
- Other examples?

If we have some evil desire in our heart, can we root it out on our own? Who is the only one who can? So, is it better to connect with God, even asking for something evil, or to disconnect from God? And if we connect with God, are we increasing the possibility of truth and love breaking through our misunderstanding and selfishness?

So, what is a healthy way to pray when we really want something?

“Father, I really, really, really want this—if it is possible, if it is in harmony with your will, if it won’t hurt me or others or your cause, then I ask you to do this. But Father, if this is not good, if even though from my perspective it seems the best, I trust you. I know you see millions of facts and possibilities I cannot even imagine, so God if it is not good, then don’t let me have it, and please give me some insight so I can understand.”

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read 2Kings 22:3-7:

In the eighteenth year of his reign, King Josiah sent the court secretary Shaphan, the son of Azaliah and grandson of Meshullam, to the Temple with the order: ⁴“Go to the High Priest Hilkiah and get a report on the amount of money that the priests on duty at the entrance to the Temple have collected from the people. ⁵Tell him to give the money to the men who are in charge of the repairs in the Temple. They are to pay ⁶the carpenters, the builders, and the masons, and buy the timber and the stones used in the repairs. The men in charge of the work are thoroughly honest, so there is no need to require them to account for the funds.” GNB

Read last paragraph, “Today we would say...” What do you think about the idea that if one is faithful they don’t have to account for the money they are spending? When is this true and when is this not true?

When is it true that a faithful person doesn’t have to account for the money? When they are the subordinate and have the trust of the superior.

But, what if they don’t have the trust of their superior, even if they are trustworthy?

Then, what about a superior who is trustworthy, but doesn't have the trust of the subordinates—does the superior get a pass, or does the superior have to give an account?

What about God in the Great Controversy—is He trustworthy? Is He giving an account to us and the onlooking universe? Why? Because He has an enemy that has lied about Him and many beings have believed those lies!

Do you find it interesting that in a time when the knowledge of God had been lost, the books of the law had been lost, where Manasseh and Amon had just led the people into decades of basest heathenism, that there were tradesman who were so honest and trustworthy that they didn't have to keep track of the money?

What does this mean? That the Holy Spirit is working through nature and experience to lead men to a knowledge of God and God's methods of truth, love and freedom!

Remember in Elijah's day there were 7000 who had not bowed the knee, and likely didn't have access to Scripture.

WEDNESDAY

The book of the law is found, Josiah is convicted and concerned that disaster is awaiting Israel. He calls for the prophetess who confirms this.

Read last paragraph, "Through Huldah..." What do you think of the idea of judgment and punishment used in this context? What is God's judgment? That they are beyond healing, that a therapeutic intervention is needed to save the nation and keep open the avenue for Christ. And what is the punishment? Is it an infliction by God or a natural consequence of what happens in a selfish world when we separate ourselves from God?

David had neglected the duty of punishing the crime of Amnon, and because of the unfaithfulness of the king and father and the impenitence of the son, the Lord permitted events to take their natural course, and did not restrain Absalom. When parents or rulers neglect the duty of punishing iniquity, God Himself will take the case in hand. His restraining power will be in a measure removed from the agencies of evil, so that a train of circumstances will arise which will punish sin with sin. {PP 728.1} [Wow—did you hear that? How does God punish sin? By setting people who choose to sin, which is separation from Him, to have what they have chosen and thus they are punished by sin. This is exactly what Scripture teaches, "the wages of sin is death,” “sin when full grown brings forth death” “the one who sows to the carnal nature, from that nature reaps destructions”]

As Paul thus approaches Corinth, how striking the contrast to the close of a former journey, when Saul, "breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord," drew near to Damascus! How widely different the appearance, purposes, and spirit of Saul and Paul! Then he was intrusted with the sword of secular power, he was the agent of the Sanhedrim, the Jewish inquisitor, the exterminator of heretics, seeking victims to imprison, to scourge, or to stone. Filled with pride, he rode toward Damascus, with servants at his command to convey his prisoners to Jerusalem. Now he journeys on foot, with no outward tokens of rank or power, and no officers of justice to do his bidding. The utmost that he can do to punish those who disregard his authority, is to separate them from a society whose members are everywhere regarded as ignorant and degraded. His enemies declare that his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible. Yet the apostle is not so powerless as he is represented. He bears a commission from the King of kings. All Heaven is enlisted to sustain him. His weapons are not carnal, but mighty through God to overthrow the strongholds of sin and Satan. {Sketches from the Life of Paul 185.1}

The lesson focuses on cleaning up the Temple, read third paragraph, “The king did not execute...”
What is the lesson we take from this? What is the OT temple symbolic of?

Through Christ was to be fulfilled the purpose of which the tabernacle was a symbol--that glorious building, its walls of glistening gold reflecting in rainbow hues the curtains inwrought with cherubim, the fragrance of ever-burning incense pervading all, the priests robed in spotless white, and in the deep mystery of the inner place, above the mercy seat, between the figures of the bowed, worshiping angels, the glory of the Holiest. In all, God desired His people to read His purpose for the human soul. It was the same purpose long afterward set forth by the apostle Paul, speaking by the Holy Spirit: {Ed 36.2}

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." 1 Corinthians 3:16, 17. {Ed 36.3}

So if the Temple was symbolic of the human soul, what is the lesson described here? What had accumulated in the temple? What does that symbolize within the human soul? And what removes it?

- The pagan images symbolize the pagan god constructs and methods of action that infect the human soul—power over, coercion, self-first, appeasement
- The reading of the law, symbolizes the comprehension of God’s design law, His methods, the truth about how reality works—that love cannot be achieved by force, coercion, threat, only in freedom
- The removal and rebuilding of the temple is symbolic of the removal of lies from our minds and rebuilding of our characters in harmony with God’s

In our character building we must build on Christ. He is the sure foundation--a foundation which can never be moved. The tempest of temptation and trial cannot move the building which is riveted to the Eternal Rock. {CG 166.1}

He who would grow into a beautiful building for the Lord must cultivate every power of the being. It is only by the right use of the talents that the character can develop harmoniously. Thus we bring to the foundation that which is represented in the Word as gold, silver, precious stones--material that will stand the test of God's purifying fires. In our character building Christ is our example. {CG 166.2}

Bottom pink asks, “What should the symbolism of the Passover mean to us now, as Seventh-day Adventists?” I would say as Christians?

While the institution of the Passover was pointing backward to the miraculous deliverance of the Hebrews, it likewise pointed forward, showing the death of the Son of God before it transpired. In the last Passover our Lord observed with His disciples, He instituted the Lord's Supper in place of the Passover, to be observed in memory of His death. No longer had they need of the Passover, for He, the great antitypical Lamb, was ready to be sacrificed for the sins of the world. Type met antitype in the death of Christ (Youth's Instructor, May 1873). {LHU 31.7}

What would be a potential problem of celebrating the Passover today?

2015 Q4 Jeremiah Lesson 10

The Destruction of Jerusalem

FRIDAY

“We are in continual danger of getting above the simplicity of the gospel. There is an intense desire on the part of many to startle the world with something original, that shall lift the people into a state of spiritual ecstasy, and change the present order of experience. There is certainly great need of a change in the present order of experience; for the sacredness of present truth is not realized as it should be, but the change we need is a change of heart, and can only be obtained by seeking God individually for His blessing, by pleading with Him for His power, by fervently praying that His grace may come upon us, and that our characters may be transformed. This is the change we need today, and for the attainment of this experience we should exercise persevering energy and manifest heartfelt earnestness. We should ask with true sincerity, ‘What shall I do to be saved?’ We should know just what steps we are taking heavenward.” —Ellen G. White, Selected Messages, book 1, pp. 187, 188.

This is a fantastic quote, & one I was previously unfamiliar with. Thanks to the lesson’s author for including it.

SABBATH

Within a few short years the king of Babylon was to be used as the instrument of God’s wrath upon impenitent Judah. Again and again Jerusalem was to be invested [surrounded] and entered by the besieging armies of Nebuchadnezzar. Company after company—at first a few only, but later on thousands and tens of thousands—were to be taken captive to the land of Shinar, there to dwell in enforced exile. Jehoiakim, Jehoiachin, Zedekiah—all these Jewish kings were in turn to become vassals of the Babylonian ruler, and all in turn were to rebel. Severer and yet more severe chastisements were to be inflicted upon the rebellious nation, until at last the entire land was to become a desolation, Jerusalem was to be laid waste and burned with fire, the temple that Solomon had built was to be destroyed, and the kingdom of Judah was to fall, never again to occupy its former position among the nations of earth.”—Ellen G. White, Prophets and Kings, pp. 422, 423.

According to Wikipedia: Jerusalem has been completely destroyed twice, besieged 23 times, attacked 52 times, and captured / recaptured 44 times. Sounds like a vibrant history.

SUNDAY

Weeping for Tammuz

Tammuz: Babylonian major God. Believed to die every Summer solstice, therefore women would spend 6 days mourning [weeping] his “death” which brought on shorter days, searing summer heat & drought. He was resurrected 6 months later [Winter solstice], making December 25 a time of celebration [sound familiar]. Most of the pagan deities are related to the early practice of Sun worship, which is, of course, worship of Lucifer [“The bright Morning Star”].

Tammuz became Osiris became Baal became Zeus became Jupiter became St. Peter. What do these have in common?? Appeasement, and most of them had a sexual / fertility ritual associated with their worship.

“The foulest Babylonian custom is that which compels every woman of the land to sit in the temple of Aphrodite and have intercourse with some stranger at least once in her life. Many women who are rich and proud and disdain to mingle with the rest, drive to the temple in covered carriages drawn by teams, and stand there with a great retinue of attendants. But most sit down in the sacred plot of Aphrodite, with crowns of cord on their heads; there is a great multitude of women coming and going; passages marked by line run every way through the crowd, by which the men pass and make their choice. Once a woman has taken her place there, she does not go away to her home before some stranger has cast money into her lap, and had intercourse with her outside the temple; but while he casts the money, he must say, “I invite you in the name of Mylitta” (that is the Assyrian name for Aphrodite). It does not matter what sum the money is; the woman will never refuse, for that would be a sin, the money being by this act made sacred. So she follows the first man who casts it and rejects no one. After their intercourse, having discharged her sacred duty to the goddess, she goes away to her home; and thereafter there is no bribe however great that will get her. So then the women that are fair and tall are soon free to depart, but the uncomely have long to wait because they cannot fulfil the law; for some of them remain for three years, or four. There is a custom like this in some parts of Cyprus.” Herodotus, The Histories 1.199, tr A.D. Godley (1920)

Weeping for Tammuz is demonstrating “sympathy for the devil.” This theme is still prevalent in modern comic book “mythology”.

MONDAY

The Unhappy Reign of King Zedekiah

Jeremiah was one of Zedekiah’s advisors, and yet his epitaph is “... he did evil in the sight of the Lord.” 2 Kings 24: 19, 20.

Consider the last thing Zedekiah saw with his own eyes: His children being killed, then his eyes plucked out. One wonders how deeply he lamented not following Jeremiah’s advice.

Jeremiah was imprisoned and dumped in to a muddy well for speaking the truth. How would we have been able to distinguish truth from error at that time? or now??

TUESDAY

The Fall of Jerusalem

The continual message of Jeremiah was more or less

“Through Jeremiah the word of the Lord to His people was: “Return, thou backsliding Israel, ... and I will not cause Mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, and I will not keep anger forever. Only acknowledge thine iniquity, that thou hast transgressed against the Lord thy God.... Turn, O backsliding children, saith the Lord; for I am married unto you.” “Thou shalt call Me, my Father; and shalt not turn away from Me.” “Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings.” PK 410.

The king was even too weak to be willing that his courtiers and people should know that he had held a conference with Jeremiah, so fully had the fear of man taken possession of his soul. If Zedekiah had stood up bravely and declared that he believed the words of the prophet, already half fulfilled, what desolation might have been averted! He should have said, I will obey the Lord, and save the city from utter ruin. I dare not disregard the commands of God because of the fear or favor of man. I love the truth, I hate sin, and I will follow the counsel of the Mighty One of Israel. PK 458.

Consider how difficult the destruction of Jerusalem must have been on, not only Jeremiah, but God Himself.

Note how the Babylonian general, Nebuzaradan employs the Law of Liberty when setting Jeremiah free.

But today I am freeing you from the chains on your wrists. Come with me to Babylon, if you like, and I will look after you; but if you do not want to, then don't come. Look, the whole country lies before you; go wherever you please.” Jer. 40: 4.

WEDNESDAY

All Your Heart

What comes first?? The change of heart or the seeking with all of the heart?? Does it matter which comes first??

The lesson makes it personal:

“What has been your experience with this promise [“You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart” Jer 29:13]?”

The following text is often referenced as a meaningful promise:

For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the Lord, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future. Jer 29:11.

Do events always work out the way the Lord has planned??

From the lesson:

“We have been given the prophetic gift in the wonderful minis- try of Ellen G. White. How can we be sure that we don’t show the same attitude toward her today that many (but not all) had toward Jeremiah?”

Were the Judeans supposed to blindly follow Jeremiah’s advice or were they expected to test it?? Are we intended to treat prophetic messages any differently?? What should be given more critical attention – the message or the messenger??

THURSDAY

The Seventy Years

Seventy years is no short time period. It’s slightly less than the average life span of a US male [76.3 years]. Think about how difficult this must have been to come to grips with for the children of Judah, especially the ones who believed the false prophets. Even with God’s advice to settle, build, plant, marry, and assimilate in to Babylonian society, they must have quickly realized that many of them would die there and never see their homeland again.

The lesson also brings out the valuable point that praying for the betterment & success of Babylon, and living in peace there must have been very foreign to the Judeans. They had been steeped in the “eye for an eye”, and “destroy every living thing [Cannanite]” mentality. Perhaps God was trying to bring them to a higher level of moral development [ultimately to “Love your Enemies”].

Now that they were in captivity, how were Jeremiah’s prophecies considered?? See Dan. 8

“The present is a time of overwhelming interest to all living. Rulers and statesman, men who occupy positions of trust and authority, thinking men and women of all classes, have their attention fixed upon the events taking place about us. They are watching the relations that exist among the nations. They observe the intensity that is taking possession of every earthly element, and they recognize that something great and decisive is about to take place – that the world is on the verge of a stupendous crisis. The Bible, and the Bible only, gives a correct view of these things. Here are revealed the great final scenes in the history of our world, events that already are casting their shadows before, the sound of their approach causing the earth to tremble and men's hearts to fail them for fear.” PK 537.

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 11

The Covenant

SABBATH

Read memory text: “ ‘The days are coming,’ declares the Lord, ‘when I will make a new covenant with the people of Israel and with the people of Judah.’” Jeremiah 31:31

What is this talking about? What is a covenant? What was the covenant made with Abraham?

A few months ago I was in California recording a TV interview with Mike Tucker for the Lifestyle Magazine TV show, and one of our friends and online class members, Luann Serafine, was also there. While we were talking at lunch, the covenant between God and Abraham came up and Mike mentioned that it was a Suzerain covenant, and when Luann got home she emailed me her notes on this, which I have included in the lesson notes:

Mike Tucker briefly introduced the topic of ‘covenant’ versus ‘contractual agreement’ in reference to the passage found in Gen 15: 17-21, a passage that has given me a greater insight, and appreciation for the depth of intimacy that God desires to enter into with us.

It’s been awhile since I have read my notes on this passage but I pulled them out this morning to look at them again...and thought perhaps you might enjoy them as well.

Passing Between The Halves (Gen 15:17-21)

There are no adequate modern parallels to the broad-ranging meanings of the term “covenant” as used in the Bible. The closest parallel probably resides in marriage, where a public gathering solemnizes an agreement between two people.

The type of covenant presented in the Bible is most often between two parties. The superior party was known as the suzerain; the inferior party as the vassal. Both the suzerain and vassal had specific responsibilities. Primarily in ancient societies the suzerain provided protection for the vassal, while the vassal supported the suzerain with taxes and was loyal in time of war.

The Lord and Abram joined themselves in a suzerain and vassal covenant (Gen 15:18). Like similar ancient Near Eastern covenants they held a public ceremony to ratify their relationship. The sacrifice of animals and a meal (15: 9, 10) were typical components of covenant ceremonies, as were the promises of both parties. Abram’s part of this agreement was to “believe” in the Lord (15:6), which meant to worship no other gods. The Lord promised Abram to make his descendants as numerous as the stars (15:5) and provide a homeland for them (15:18).

Two differences between ancient Near Eastern covenants and the Gen 15 covenant are striking. Usually the list of the vassal’s duties and responsibilities was much larger than that of the suzerain’s. In fact, a covenant, including the duties of the vassal, was imposed on the vassal by the suzerain. In the Gen 15 covenant almost nothing is said about Abram’s responsibilities. The focus is on what the Lord promised to Abram, not what Abram promised the Lord, as long as Abram kept the Lord cherished in his heart.

In the second difference it was usually the vassal who cut the animals in two parts and walked between them (15:10, 17). The ritual symbolically demonstrated what would happen to the vassal if the covenant was broken. The “burning torch” passing between the pieces of flesh in the Gen 15 covenant (15:17) was obviously a representation of the Lord. The symbolism of Him passing between the cut sacrifices implies that He would die before He would allow His covenant with Abram to fail. [This is beautiful].

Interestingly, Mike did not contrast the ancient Near Eastern covenant construction with the covenant design described by God in Genesis 15. As I was thinking about it, these two constructs appear as possibly one more example of the relational experience between imposed-law-contract of relationship versus God’s love-design for intimacy with us.

What is a covenant? An agreement, a contract—in the case of God’s covenant with humanity—what is it?

Read first two paragraphs in Sabbath’s lesson, “Although the Bible...” All covenants are expressions of the covenant of grace—what does this mean? It is John 3:16—God so loved the world that he gave...

God committed Himself to reverse what Adam did to the species human and restore this creation back to its original condition, and He has invited every human being to be part of that restoration!

What is conveyed in the idea of faithfulness and obedience?

What is Biblical faithfulness? Heart loyalty, devotion! Thus Rahab chose loyalty to God, but still lied...

What is obedience in the Biblical sense?

In the New Testament the Greek word for obedience, obey, to obey is: πακοή [hupakoe /hoop·ak·o·ay/]

And it has two halves—the first half is where we get hypo, as in hypoglycemia, or hypotension, or hypodermic and means low, or under, and the last half is where we get acoustics and acoustical, and means to listen or hear. And thus the Biblical meaning of obedience is a humble willingness to listen, learn, comprehend and hear was God is teaching.

This is why Jesus said repeatedly, things like, hearing though they do not hear, or let him who has ears, hear. So people say things today like, “Do you hear me?” “Are you listening?”

So what does it mean to be obedient in God’s kingdom? It is about performance, or about heart motivation?

Why is this our responsibility in the covenant?

- What is the war between God and Satan over? God’s character and trustworthiness
- Where is the battlefield? Our minds and hearts (2Cor 10:3-5)
- What are the weapons of Satan? Lies, coercion, selfish desires
- What are the weapons of God? Truth, freedom, and love
- What is it that determines righteousness—behavior or heart?
- As the heart is healed do the behaviors change?
- But what is the key to changing the heart? Trust in God, and what is the key to trusting God? The truth, and what is the key to understanding and assimilating truth? A humble willingness to listen and learn!

Thus our responsibility in the covenant with God is to listen, think, really hear what God is saying to us!

If we really hear God, we are won to trust and in trust we open the heart to Him and the Spirit comes and heals and renews us to be like Jesus!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “We look at how bad the world...” What else would God do but bear with us?

The lesson seems to be suggesting that God might do something else but bear with us, what?

They cite the example of the flood, but what is significant different about the time of the Flood and today?

At the time of the Flood Jesus had not yet come, the Remedy for human salvation had not been achieved, Satan was working to actually prevent God from fulfilling His plan to save this creation. Thus the Flood was not punishment for sin, but an act of mercy to keep open the avenue for the Messiah to come. Remember, at the time of the Flood there was only one righteous man on the entire planet—the avenue through which Jesus would come was almost closed!

This idea of using power to inflict punishment for sin is part of Satan's lies about God and it has deeply infected Christianity. God is waiting for a people to reject this lie and tell the truth about Him.

Listen to these two quotations by one of the founders of the SDA church on the struggle heavenly beings had, in Old Testament times, over recognizing God's character and methods, particularly on the use of force:

Before Christ's first advent, the sin of refusing to conform to God's law had become widespread. Apparently Satan's power was growing; his warfare against heaven was becoming more and more determined. A crisis had been reached. With intense interest God's movements were watched by the heavenly angels. Would He come forth from His place to punish the inhabitants of the world for their iniquity? Would He send fire or flood to destroy them? All heaven waited the bidding of their Commander to pour out the vials of wrath upon a rebellious world. One word from Him, one sign, and the world would have been destroyed. The worlds unfallen would have said, "Amen. Thou art righteous, O God, because Thou hast exterminated rebellion." {ST, August 27, 1902 par. 4}

For centuries God looked with patience and forbearance upon the cruel treatment given to his ambassadors, at his holy law prostrate, despised, trampled underfoot. He swept away the inhabitants of the Noachian world with a flood. But when the earth was again peopled, men drew away from God, and renewed their hostility to him, manifesting bold defiance. Those whom God rescued from Egyptian bondage followed in the footsteps of those who had preceded them. Cause was followed by effect; the earth was being corrupted.

A crisis had arrived in the government of God. The earth was filled with transgression... All heaven was prepared at the word of God to move to the help of his elect. One word from him, and the bolts of heaven would have fallen upon the earth, filling it with fire and flame. God had but to speak, and there would have been thunderings and lightnings and earthquakes and destruction.

The heavenly intelligences were prepared for a fearful manifestation of Almighty power. Every move was watched with intense anxiety. The exercise of justice was expected. The angels looked for God to punish the inhabitants of the earth. But "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." "I will send my beloved Son," he said. "It may be they will reverence him." Amazing grace! Christ came not to condemn the world, but to save the world. "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins."

The heavenly universe was amazed at God's patience and love. To save fallen humanity the Son of God took humanity upon himself... {RH, July 17, 1900 par. 6}

What does God want? Our love and trust—can love and trust be obtained by coercion and exercise of punishing power? Why Not?

Because of God's law—God's law is design law, one of those laws is the law of liberty. Whenever you violate liberty and coerce or threaten another, love is damaged and eventually destroyed and rebellion is instilled in the heart. Interestingly, those who teach God does act this way claim it is because the law requires justice and justice requires punishment, but in so doing they reveal they have accepted Satan's lies about God's law and they don't even comprehend God's law. Look at the evidence from history:

Look at what happened every time God did use power in history:

- Flood—tower of Babel—why, because they didn't believe God existed, or they didn't trust Him?
- Egypt and Sinai—and what were they doing 40 days later?
- Mt. Carmel—and what is the history after that?
- Did God ever get love and trust by use of force and punishing power?
- Zech 4:6 "Not by might, nor by power, but by the Spirit says the Lord."

Levels 1-4 of moral development: see through the lens of imposed laws, the laws that sinful beings make and thus they falsely teach and believe that justice requires God to punish.

Levels 5-7: see through the lens of love and Design law and realize deviations from God's law are destructive to all who deviate, because such deviations are violations of the very basis upon which life is constructed to operate.

If you see a sick person, psychotic, deranged, out of control, violent, cutting themselves, threatening others—what do you want for that person, especially if you love them? This is level 5 and above, all of us are sin-sick of heart and mind, with various stages of infection and derangement of our faculties. Those who are being healed and come to see reality through the lens of God's design law, develop compassion and love for those still struggling in sinfulness. But those, who have not grown past level four, see deviations from God's design as crimes that require infliction of punishment, and thus they perpetuate the lies of Satan and obstruct God from completing His plan of salvation on earth!

The second paragraph is about God's covenant with Noah, let's read that in Genesis 9:9-17:

Then God said to Noah and to his sons with him: ⁹ "I now establish my covenant with you and with your descendants after you ¹⁰ and with every living creature that was with you—the birds, the livestock and all the wild animals, all those that came out of the ark with you—every living creature on earth. ¹¹ I establish my covenant with you: Never again will all life be cut off by the waters of a flood; never again will there be a flood to destroy the earth."

¹² And God said, "This is the sign of the covenant I am making between me and you and every living creature with you, a covenant for all generations to come: ¹³ I have set my rainbow in the clouds, and it will be the sign of the covenant between me and the earth. ¹⁴ Whenever I bring clouds over the earth and the rainbow appears in the clouds, ¹⁵ I will remember my covenant between me and you and all living creatures of every kind. Never again will the waters become a flood to destroy all life. ¹⁶ Whenever the rainbow appears in the clouds, I will see it and remember the everlasting covenant between God and all living creatures of every kind on the earth."

¹⁷ So God said to Noah, "This is the sign of the covenant I have established between me and all life on the earth."

What kind of covenant is this? Is this covenant different than the covenant God made with Adam? No! This is the covenant of grace—notice that God is not requiring or asking for something in return from Noah's descendants, nor from the birds, or animals, or the earth itself. God is saying, "The earth is mine. It is now infected with Satan's principles, but I will fix it, heal it, cleanse it and restore the earth back to my original design. This is my promise. This is what I will do! Now, Noah, this promise is made to you and your descendants.”

Why? Because they were the only humans on earth and it is by reality, fact, necessity, that only Noah’s descendants from that point forward will be participants in God’s promises and work of healing and restoration.

Any thoughts about the Rainbow? What does it mean that God says He will see it and remember? Would God forget without the rainbow? Or is it spoken this way for people at level 4 and below, to comfort them? Like a parent speaking to a child?

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “Through Abraham’s seed...” What does it mean that Abraham believed God and it was accounted to him for righteousness?

The bottom pink section says, “Dwell upon the great truth that your hope of salvation comes only from the righteousness of Jesus credited to you by faith.”

It is true that our hope of salvation is only because of Jesus’ righteousness—so let’s make that absolutely clear. We are not suggesting salvation can be achieved in any other way than through Jesus and His righteousness.

However, what I am suggesting is that Satan has perverted the true meaning of what Jesus accomplished. Satan has twisted the truth about Jesus and His righteousness, how? By warping it through human imposed law constructs—this is what Daniel 7 warned about, what Paul in Thessalonians warned about, the man of sin who would twist everything and seek to change God’s law.

When we see God and His government working like human governments with imposed laws, then we falsely believe the righteousness of Christ is a legal payment, applied in a legal fashion, in a heavenly courtroom to legal records and that justification is getting ourselves legally accounted or credited as righteous “even though we are not.” This distorted view cheats people out of the actual healing and transformation of mind/heart/character that God wants for them.

In other words, having accepted the false legal idea of justification people fail to experience genuine justification—the justification Abraham did—which is genuine transformation of heart toward God!

This has been true throughout all human history. David, in Ps 51 wrote:

Create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me. Do not cast me from your presence or take your Holy Spirit from me. (vs 10,11)

Jesus said the same thing to Nicodemus. Jesus didn't say, "Unless a man be legally pardoned" or "Unless a man have my righteousness credited to his account in heaven." Jesus said, "Unless a man is born again" i.e. receives a new heart and right spirit, receives my righteousness into his mind to actually be righteous.

Thus Strong's New Testament lexicon, when describing the very word in Romans 4:5 and Galatians 3:6 that is translated "credited" or "accounted" as righteousness says:

This word deals with reality. If I "logizomai" or reckon that my bank book has $25 in it, it has $25 in it. Otherwise I am deceiving myself. This word refers to facts not suppositions.¹

Thus, Abraham, whose natural heart was enmity to God, experienced a change of heart where his heart was "set right" or "put right" or justified with God back into a state of genuine trust, and only AFTER this was he recognized, accounted or declared righteous, because he was actually right in heart with God again.

This is what we are to be teaching people and penal substitution theology, which dominates Christianity, is an infection of thought that has paralyzed the church and prevents the church from preparing the world for Christ's return. It is time we throw it out and come back to the truth about God!

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Moses and some..." What is being depicted here?

Moses goes into God's very presence; the others do not, why?

What is the role Israel is to play in the Great Controversy and plan of salvation?

- Through this family Jesus will come

- Be teachers to teach the truth about God and His plan to save
- Be the storehouse of truth, Scripture etc.

What method was God using with Israel to have them teach? Object lesson, acting out a mini-drama, the various people of the nation were all assigned roles, and all played a part. They were actors in a drama—theater. Understanding this makes everything much more easy to understand:

- Moses represents Christ in His pre-incarnate state—thus Moses goes into God’s presence on the Mount, which symbolizes Jesus going into God’s presence to plan the plan of salvation before his incarnation
- The lamb represents Jesus during His incarnation
- Aaron represents Jesus after His ascension
- Nadab and Abihu represent the priesthood of believers who follow the directions of Jesus their heavenly High Priest
- The 70 elders represent the inhabitants of the world who are in need of salvation
- The all saw God from a distance, symbolizing how God has continued to reveal himself throughout human history to all people, whether in the church or not in the church
 - At Sinai the people were frightened but Moses was not—whenever God reveals himself in unveiled glory human beings still in sin, whether believers or not, respond with fear. But Jesus is there (symbolized by Moses) to reassure us there is no need to be afraid
 - God spoke to ancient Israel in various ways and speaks to us today in various ways (written word, nature, providence, people, dreams)

Understanding ancient Israel were actors in a drama helps explains so much—like Uzzah—have you ever wondered why Uzzah died when touching the ark, but the Philistines didn’t? It is straightforward, Uzzah was in the play, the Philistines were not.

The ark is symbolic of the universe perfectly restored to unity and oneness with God, sinlessness. Uzzah’s role is that of a sinner in need of healing; what happens when unhealed sinners come into God’s unveiled glory? Thus, what happened to Uzzah was demonstrative, educational. It did not determine Uzzah’s ultimate eternal destiny, it simply accurately acted out the role in which Uzzah was acting.

The lesson asks us to read Hebrews 4:2: “For we also have had the gospel preached to us, just as they did; but the message they heard was of no value to them, because those who heard did not combine it with faith.”

Then read last paragraph, “Only by faith...” What is faith? It is trust—trusting God with your life and future outcomes.

What does faithful obedience look like?

Who was obedient to Christ, the Roman centurion who said Christ didn’t need to come to his house to heal his servant, but just say the word, yet who never observed a Sabbath (the law), or the Pharisees who crucified Christ and kept the Sabbath (the law) rigorously?

What law is a faithful person loyal to?

Did those who crucified Christ think they were being faithful law keepers? What was their error? They accepted Satan’s view of law, imposed rules that require punishment for breaking!

The lesson suggests the common misperception about the law and covenant is failure to take into account the context in which Paul is writing—I think the bigger failure is in misunderstanding the nature of God’s law itself.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson discusses the new covenant, thoughts? Notice all the covenants are communications from God of what He would do. Whenever there was some responsibility for human beings, it is always the responsibility that design law, reality requires!

- Covenant with Adam was what God would do, He would send a Savior—Adam responsibility—to believe or trust that God would do it
- Covenant with Noah is what God would do, He would not destroy the world with a flood again—humanity’s responsibility—believe it to be true
- Covenant with Abraham is what God would do, He would make a great nation from Abraham’s descendants and the Messiah would come through his children—Abraham’s responsibility—to trust God would do it
- New Covenant is also what God will do, He will reveal truth, destroy sin and Satan and restore His perfect design law in those who trust Him, ultimately healing His universe—our responsibility—to trust Him, and thus follow His prescription!

Read third paragraph, “The same law...” What is being written on our hearts? Is it a list of rules? No it is not a code of conduct, but the law of love, the very protocols upon which life works, God’s character!

Thus the 10 Commandments are not a list of rules to be obeyed, but a description of how we function when God has His Spirit living in our hearts.

Notice how God describes this through Ezekiel:

“Therefore say to the house of Israel, ‘This is what the Sovereign Lord says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. ²³ I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, declares the Sovereign Lord, when I show myself holy through you before their eyes.

²⁴ “ ‘For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. ²⁵ I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. ²⁶ I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. ²⁷ And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws...Ezek 36:22-36

Read second paragraph, “The broken body of Christ...” What link do you see in the communion service that links Old and New Testament together?

When one takes communion, one partakes of juice/wine and bread, which is symbolic of what? Bread—body and wine—blood, but what is this symbolic of? When Jesus said in John 6 unless a person eats his flesh and drinks his blood they have no part with him, to what was he referring? We know Jesus wasn’t talking cannibalism, but was Jesus suggesting the communion service? What is the reality to which the symbols point that we must partake?

Jesus is also known as the Word, John 1: “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.”

Have you ever heard the expression “devouring a book?” What does it mean to devour a book? So what does it mean to eat the body of Jesus? To devour the truth He embodies! He is truth, we must ingest the truth as Jesus revealed it into our minds and hearts. When we ingest the truth then we are won to trust and open the heart to receive the blood transfusion. The blood is symbolic of the life of Jesus. We become partakers of the divine nature! In other words, we receive the character of Jesus; this is how we partake the body and blood.

This idea that the shed blood of Jesus pays some legal penalty is false! It is a lie! It leads people to accept a false legal solution that leaves them dead in sin.

The truth is that the blood of Jesus, i.e. his life, his perfect character, sets us right in our hearts and minds with God, it at-ones us, or restores us to unity with God as we become partakers of the divine nature!

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 12

Back to Egypt

I received this email this week:

Dear come and reason Team,

I have been blessed beyond measure by the messages you have sharing. I live in the United Kingdom and am the PM Leader of my church.

Through the grace of the Holy Spirit I am planning a revival program for my church in January. I believe God led me to you via a friend who went to the General Conference Session earlier this year. I have been fasting and praying and asking God to direct me as to what He wants me to do for the revival.

As a people we have been lost in church for so long that we cannot see how lost we are and God has made it clear to me personally, for a while now, it is because I had a distorted view of who He is. When I came upon your messages a few weeks ago everything God has been showing me came together in my mind.

I so want to share these truths with my church family, to see others wake up to the love of our God.

Would it be ok to use the material and the concepts from your program in the revival program?

I thank you for allowing God to use you in this magnificent way.

SABBATH

To what is the title referring? When the threats of Babylonian aggression came, some of the people thought they could seek protection from Egypt.

If we consider the history of Israel as not only historical fact, but an object lesson—actors on a cosmic stage—what is the lesson?

- The Hebrew people were in bondage in Egypt—human beings are in bondage of sin
- Pharaoh represents Satan—who governs the world of false gods, coercion, oppression, and the powers that enslave.
- Moses represented Jesus—the deliver who delivers humanity from the power of Satan and sin

- Now, years later, the people have rebelled against God, and they are under threat, to where do they turn? Back to their previous slave master. What would this represent to us today?
 - People who have had sin problems in their lives seek God and get deliverance, but often walk away from God and disconnect from Him and then problems begin piling up in their lives and what do many do? Turn back to their previous habits that enslaved them—alcohol, drugs, tobacco, overeating, porn, shopping, overwork, romances, novels, movies, etc. etc.
- What did Israel get from Egypt? What do we get when we go back to our previous destructive habits?

Read first paragraph, “This week’s lesson...” I think we all agree that God cannot force people to be saved, but what do you think of this idea described as “the limits of grace?”

What is the typical definition of grace? Unmerited favor? How about this as a definition of grace—unearned remedy or free remedy or remedy one did not develop? But the definition I like best for grace is God’s work to heal, restore and sustain His universe!

Does God become less gracious when we refuse Him? Does the Remedy to sin become less effective if we refuse it?

So, as the lesson suggests, what limits grace? Our refusal! We must be clear to NEVER suggest God stops being gracious. Many do, many teach that God one day stops being gracious and starts being something else, something, which as they describe is not worthy of our love and trust.

The next paragraph states, “Even after everything he warned about came to pass, the people still clung to their sins and paganism and rebellion, openly defying the prophet to his face and scorning the Word of the Lord to them.”

Is this happening today in Christianity? How?

What is the essence of paganism? Broadly speaking worshipping any god but the true god—but what is the bottom line that all false gods have in common?

The Bible repeatedly draws the contrast that false gods are not the Creator—why? I believe it is because God is trying to help people realize the difference between the laws of false gods and Himself.

False gods—gods who cannot create—cannot build the fabric of space, time, matter, intelligence, relationships and thus their laws are not the protocols upon which all reality stands and operates. False gods therefore ALWAYS use imposed law which requires the god to punish disobedience, thus the false god requires some action be done to the god in order for the god not to act out violently. This is the essence of what almost all Christianity teaches—and what often happens when we try to share the true Good News that God is not like that? What happens? We are ridiculed, rejected, and people cling to their pagan god concept.

SUNDAY

Read last paragraph, “As the chapter...” Was Babylon the primary threat facing Israel? What was? The primary threat was not Babylon, but the religious and political leaders in Israel that were teaching falsehood about God.

What is the primary threat facing Christianity today—is it, as we are often told—atheism, Islam, pluralism, the liberal media?

What is the reason so many people have turned away from Christianity and oppose it? Is it because Christianity clearly and consistently reveals a God like Jesus and its members consistently love others more than self?

Do the great opposers of Christianity oppose genuine love, kindness, altruism, gentleness, willingness to help others, respect for freedom of others, truthfulness and honesty?

No! They oppose the false Christianity that has dominated the church for over 1000 years—the view that God is dictator like, his law is imposed rules that God governs like human agents; that He has tribunals, keeps records of wrongs, will punish horribly for all eternity, that God is so biased He will kill the innocent in place of the guilty. They oppose the coercive Christianity that in times past held inquisitions, burned people at the stake and demanded kings bow to it; and they oppose the Christianity of today which wants to legislate its beliefs in order to coerce everyone to obey its tenants, to have all children indoctrinated into its way of thinking.

Religion has actually convinced people that there's an invisible man living in the sky who watches everything you do, every minute of every day. And the invisible man has a special list of ten things he does not want you to do. And if you do any of these ten things, he has a special place, full of fire and smoke and burning and torture and anguish, where he will send you to live and suffer and burn and choke and scream and cry forever and ever til the end of time! But he loves you.—George Carlin

“The God of the Old Testament is arguably the most unpleasant character in all fiction: jealous and proud of it; a petty, unjust, unforgiving control-freak; a vindictive, bloodthirsty ethnic cleanser; a misogynistic, homophobic, racist, infanticidal, genocidal, filicidal, pestilential, megalomaniacal, sadomasochistic, capriciously malevolent bully.”—Richard Dawkins

“I am against religion because it teaches us to be satisfied with not understanding the world.”—Richard Dawkins

The greatest threat to Christianity is the false version of Christianity based on the idea that God’s law functions no different than our own, which today presents itself most clearly in the entire penal substitution theory of salvation. This is the greatest threat and this is what has led to so much rebellion. Why? Because it is a violation of God’s law, the law of liberty, and when one violates liberty, not only is love destroyed but rebellion ensues.

A theologian with his master’s in theology, almost has his PhD and who has worked as a pastor in the church for decades, emailed me this week asking if I believe God punishes. I presented our position with Bible and EGW quotes, and he absolutely could not comprehend what we teach.

He insisted over and over again that God is angry and wrathful and does inflict punishment and will torture and kill the wicked in the end. In his last email to me he said the following, which is diagnostic:

Again, I see both active and passive punishment here. I am comfortable with that. He is God. He can do anything He wants to do. I cannot question His actions. Satan wants me to, but I won't go there.

Do you see the problem here?

- His god is the source of inflicted punishments
- His is arbitrary and can do anything he wants
- We are not allowed to question and think
- And to question and think is framed as a satanic idea

This neatly sums up the trap much of Christian leadership finds itself in.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, “The also vowed...” I am stunned at the lesson’s interpretation of this—was this a confession of faith? This is no different than what the devils said to Christ—we know who you are Son of the Most High God—was that a confession of faith? The devils believe and tremble, is their belief a confession of faith?

What is being revealed by the suggestion that this was a confession of faith? That the lesson is operating on imposed law construct, behavior, it is not about change of character and heart; it is about performance. They were sinners, but they did their legal requirement—they confessed and made claim.

This is the fraud of penal substitutionary theology—the idea that we need to confess and lay claim to the legal payment, do the right rituals and then boom, you are a person of faith and are saved. No, faith is trust in Jesus, which requires one actually know Him, and this trust leads to an opening of the heart, a relationship ensues and the entire inner person is transformed by the indwelling Spirit!

Read fourth and fifth paragraphs, “God has to warn...” Does this sound like people who are trusting God? Was their previous proclamation of loyalty real if they are now seeking to go to Egypt?

Is it the confessions and proclamations that matter, or is it the motive that generates the proclamation?

It is the motive—one can confess, convert, proclaim loyalty, but have a heart that is not truly changed so they are not healed; they remain infected with fear and selfishness and in rebellion against God, albeit now within the guise of religion.

Consider this story from EGW:

A few weeks after this, on our way to Boston we took the steamer at Portland. A violent storm came up, and we were in great peril. The boat rolled fearfully, and the waves dashed into the cabin windows. There was great fear in the ladies' cabin. Many were confessing their sins, and crying to God for mercy. Some were calling upon the Virgin Mary to keep them, while others were making solemn vows to God that if they reached land they would devote their lives to His service. It was a scene of terror and confusion. As the boat rocked, a lady turned to me and said: "Are you not terrified? I suppose it is a fact that we may never reach land." I told her that I had made Christ my refuge, and if my work was done, I might as well lie in the bottom of the ocean as in any other place; but if my work was not done, all the waters of the ocean could not drown me. My trust was in God; He would bring us safe to land if it was for His glory... {1T 80.3}

Through the mercy of God we were all landed safe. But some of the passengers who manifested much fear in the storm made no reference to it, only to make light of their fears. One who had solemnly promised that if she were preserved to see land she would be a Christian, mockingly cried out as she left the boat: "Glory to God, I am glad to step on land again!" I asked her to go back a few hours, and remember her vows to God. She turned from me with a sneer. {1T 81.2}

I was forcibly reminded of deathbed repentance. Some serve themselves and Satan all their lives, and then as sickness subdues them, and a fearful uncertainty is before them, they manifest some sorrow for sin, and perhaps say they are willing to die, and their friends make themselves believe that they have been truly converted and fitted for heaven. But if these should recover, they would be as rebellious as ever. 1T 81

Is it about confession and claiming legal blood payments before the heavenly court or about a change in heart? Think of Proverbs 1:27-30:

When calamity overtakes you like a storm, when disaster sweeps over you like a whirlwind, when distress and trouble overwhelm you.²⁸ "Then they will call to me but I will not answer; they will look for me but will not find me."²⁹ Since they hated knowledge and did not choose to fear the Lord,³⁰ since they would not accept my advice and spurned my rebuke, Prov 1:27-30

Why does God not answer? Because they are not seeking healing, transformation of heart, a relationship with God, they are seeking to escape consequence, but with no part of them intent on a new heart and right spirit.

The last paragraph states they had a stark choice—what of today do we have a stark choice? How would you describe our choice?

Who will those who are following after the beast of Revelation think they are following? What could you say that makes the choice more distinct?

TUESDAY

Let's read Jeremiah 42 and 43, thoughts?

42 Then all the army officers, including Johanan son of Kareah and Jezaniah son of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least to the greatest approached ² Jeremiah the prophet and said to him, "Please hear our petition and pray to the Lord your God for this entire remnant. For as you now see, though we were once many, now only a few are left. ³ Pray that the Lord your God will tell us where we should go and what we should do."

⁴ "I have heard you," replied Jeremiah the prophet. "I will certainly pray to the Lord your God as you have requested; I will tell you everything the Lord says and will keep nothing back from you."

⁵ Then they said to Jeremiah, "May the Lord be a true and faithful witness against us if we do not act in accordance with everything the Lord your God sends you to tell us. ⁶ Whether it is favorable or unfavorable, we will obey the Lord our God, to whom we are sending you, so that it will go well with us, for we will obey the Lord our God."

⁷ Ten days later the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah. ⁸ So he called together Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him and all the people from the least to the greatest. ⁹ He said to them, "This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition, says: ¹⁰ 'If you stay in this land, I will build you up and not tear you down; I will plant you and not uproot you, for I am grieved over the disaster I have inflicted on you. ¹¹ Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, whom you now fear. Do not be afraid of him, declares the Lord, for I am with you and will save you and deliver you from his hands. ¹² I will show you compassion so that he will have compassion on you and restore you to your land.'

¹³ "However, if you say, 'We will not stay in this land,' and so disobey the Lord your God, ¹⁴ and if you say, 'No, we will go and live in Egypt, where we will not see war or hear the trumpet or be hungry for bread,' ¹⁵ then hear the word of the Lord, O remnant of Judah. This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'If you are determined to go to Egypt and you do go to settle there, ¹⁶ then the sword you fear will overtake you there, and the famine you dread will follow you into Egypt, and there you will die. ¹⁷ Indeed, all who are determined to go to Egypt to settle there will die by the sword, famine and plague; not one of them will survive or escape the disaster I will bring on them.' ¹⁸ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'As my anger and wrath have been poured out on those who lived in Jerusalem, so will my wrath be poured out on you when you go to Egypt. You will be an object of cursing and horror, of condemnation and reproach; you will never see this place again.'

¹⁹ "O remnant of Judah, the Lord has told you, 'Do not go to Egypt.' Be sure of this: I warn you today ²⁰ that you made a fatal mistake when you sent me to the Lord your God and said, 'Pray to the Lord our God for us; tell us everything he says and we will do it.' ²¹ I have told you today, but you still have not obeyed the Lord your God in all he sent me to tell you. ²² So now, be sure of this: You will die by the sword, famine and plague in the place where you want to go to settle."

43 When Jeremiah finished telling the people all the words of the Lord their God—everything the Lord had sent him to tell them—² Azariah son of Hoshai and Johanan son of Kareah and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, "You are lying! The Lord our God has not sent you to say, 'You must not go to Egypt to settle there.' ³ But Baruch son of Neriah is inciting you against us to hand us over to the Babylonians, so they may kill us or carry us into exile to Babylon."

⁸ In Tahpanhes the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah: ⁹ "While the Jews are watching, take some large stones with you and bury them in clay in the brick pavement at the entrance to Pharaoh's palace in Tahpanhes. ¹⁰ Then say to them, 'This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and I will set his throne over these stones I have buried here; he will spread his royal canopy above them. ¹¹ He will come and attack Egypt, bringing death to those destined for death, captivity to those destined for captivity, and the sword to those destined for the sword. ¹² He will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt; he will burn their temples and take their gods captive. As a shepherd wraps his garment around him, so will he wrap Egypt around himself and depart from there unscathed. ¹³ There in the temple of the sun in Egypt he will demolish the sacred pillars and will burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt.' "

Many major lessons let's focus on a few.

Do we get confirmation their so-called confession of faith was not a confession of faith? If we look through the theater lens what is the object lesson that applies to us?

Remember Egypt represents the world of sin, so:

- What does it mean that God told the remnant to stay in Israel?
 - That we are to stay in relationship with God, loyal to His law of love and faithful to His principles, trusting Him with the outcomes
 - thus they remain free!
- What does it mean that God promised blessings?
 - That when we trust Him, in the end we have all things restored, and here and now our decisions work to bring healing and blessings, even while enemies might be oppressing us
- What does it mean that they wanted to go to Egypt?
 - They want to return to the protection of the systems and methods of the world, i.e. selfishness, coercion, warfare, bribery, deceit, treaties, legal proclamations, human laws and enforcement, and
 - today this is a religious system with human laws, legal payments, coercive enforcement etc. i.e. penal substitution theology.
- What does it mean that they will die by sword, famine, or plague?
 - Those who reject God's methods today and instead claim security in legal payments live under the fear of coercive punishment, and will die either by:
 - violence of others,
 - spiritual starvation as they no longer ingest truth,
 - the infection of selfishness the plague of sinfulness in their own characters.
- What does it mean God's anger and wrath will be poured out?
 - That God surrenders people to reap that which they have sown
- Why does God speak in such ways?
 - Because the audience to whom He is speaking is currently operating at level one maturity and at this level the God who is powerful is the one who they listen to.
- What does it mean that God sent this message to them through Jeremiah?
 - That God never stops being the source of truth and light, and that today God has people all over the world sharing the true picture of Him and educating people on the devastating results that will happen if people persistently refuse to reconcile to God, if people stay living out of harmony with His design

- What do we learn from the response of the people?
 - That those who have solidified their characters in selfishness will refuse and deny truth and blame the messengers of love and truth
- What does it mean God will send for His servant Nebuchadnezzar to destroy?
 - Listen to this quote from EGW about the future last plagues:
 - "I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;
"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.
"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of."
 - Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

Doesn't that sound just like what God did in Jeremiah's day, He removed His restraining hand, because the people chose to separate themselves from Him, and the destroyer came. Just what Revelation 7 describes.

Read last paragraph and bottom pink section, "Human nature is human nature..." This is one of the greatest tools of Satan, to play on emotions and get people to make decisions that go against their own reason, their own judgment, their own understanding of what is healthy and best. And once the unhealthy decision is carried out, the person then begins forming all kinds of lies and self-deception to avoid the guilt and shame associated with their choice, the blame game being one of those actions.

However, how can following a "clear thus saith the Lord" be another form of self-deceit and avoidance of truth?

By refusing to think, by refusing to evaluate the meaning, by taking passages at face value when they support the belief that one needs to hold to in order to avoid the truth and hide in their own self-deception. Thus, "my Bible says God throws people in the lake of fire and I take the Bible over your reasoning."

WEDNESDAY

The lesson points out that the refugees who thought they would find protection and safety in Egypt were wrong. How does this apply to us today?

What about those who are searching for eternal security, i.e. protection, in:

- penance
- rituals
- pilgrimages
- church attendance
- dietary conformity
- Sabbath observance
- legal substitutionary atonement
- blood payments to an offended god
- the gods of the world

What are the gods of the world today?

Read last paragraph, “When self-denial...” What is being described here?

- self-denial
- enlightenment of our minds
- freedom to follow the truth

Where is the change, the impact of God’s actions occurring in this description? In the sinner, not in a heavenly court room!

What are the wonderful things of God’s law? Realizing the amazing beauty of God’s design law and breaking free of the oppressive darkness that imposed law brings.

What does it mean “responsible in proportion to the light” one has? That it is not about performance, deeds done, actions taken, but about the motive of the heart, i.e. the character transformation! The healed/saved are those who have hearts that love truth and are willing to follow and apply it wherever it leads!

What does this mean, “The claims of his law are just and reasonable, and through the grace of Christ he expects us to fulfill his requirements.”

What does God's law claim? That God is love and life is constructed to work in harmony with His character of love and is actually an expression of that love.

What does just mean? Right, so God's design for life, which is the principle of giving in a free environment is the only right way for things and it is reasonable because this is how life is actually built to operate.

And it is through Christ's power/grace that we are enabled to not only understand God's design/law but to live in harmony with that law. Why does God expect us to do so? Because He expects us to be sensible and choose life and not death—it would be like offering a drowning man a lifeline of the water, we expect him to take it.

What would keep a drowning man from taking the lifeline? Believing some lie that lifeline is from of a terrible enemy about to torture and destroy him.

Thus, when we are enlightened to see the truth of our situation, our condition, God's character of love, it is reasonable that we take the hand of our Savior, and Christ expects we will do the reasonable thing, i.e. choose His Design, when we understand it.

So, are there other EGW quotes that supports this idea of what the law requires?

- The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; {DA 762.2}
- But the law requires that the soul itself be pure and the mind holy, that the thoughts and feelings may be in accordance with the standard of love and righteousness.--RH, Apr 5, 1898. (2SM 211.) {2MCP 564.1}
- The divine law requires us to love God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves. {A New Life NL 32.1}
- His law requires your heart's supreme affection for your Maker. It requires you to do unto others as you would have them do to you. {BEcho, February 15, 1889 par. 8}
- This is the voice of God to you, my brethren and sisters who profess to keep the law of God. That law requires that you love your neighbor as yourself. Are you doing it? {RH, March 11, 1884 par. 10}
- The law requires us to present to God a holy character. It demands of men today just what it demanded of Adam in Eden,--perfect obedience, perfect harmony with all its precepts in all relations of life, under all circumstances and conditions. {ST, May 30, 1895 par. 2}

Why does God's law require this? For the same reason the law of respiration requires you to breathe, it is how life is constructed to operate—the ONLY way life can exist.

THURSDAY

Read third paragraph, "The rationale..." What does it mean they offered incense to the queen of heaven? Who was the queen of heaven?

FRIDAY

Asks a profound question, "What if you don't believe in God, how can you know good from evil?"

Romans 1:20: "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse."

Romans 2:12-15: "All who sin apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who sin under the law will be judged by the law. ¹³ For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. ¹⁴ (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, ¹⁵ since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.)"

Jeremiah 4Q 2015 Lesson 13

Lessons From Jeremiah

SABBATH

CORRECTION: One of our online listeners, Elise Nesbitt, has graciously (pun intended) emailed a helpful correction to something I said last week.

Thank you Elise for catching my confusing of two Greek words. I said that the Greek word for grace is khiros from which we get chiropractor—and while khiros is the root to chiropractor, it is not the Greek for grace. That word is charis. I have included Elise's email in the notes for those who would like to read it.

I was listening to last Saturday's class and came across the first, (yes, FIRST), thing that didn't make sense in the last 18 months of listening to you online. You mentioned the root word in Greek for chiropractor was the same root as grace. To be gracious, (LOL) I did hear you add "I believe", so my guess is that you weren't totally positive.

Your slight hesitation was correct. The Greek for "hand" is χεῖρ, χεῖρός, "khire, khiros" from which we get chiropractor. It means the instrument a person uses to accomplish their purpose.

But the Greek word for "grace" is χάρις, "charis" from which we get charisma or eucharis.

I like Thayer's Greek Lexicon definition the best: 1) that which affords joy, pleasure, delight, sweetness, charm, or loveliness; 2) good-will, loving-kindness, favor.

John 1:14 says Jesus was full of grace. Religious people usually jump directly to the second definition of grace. I've never heard anyone say Jesus was full of joy. Or that he was a pleasure to be around. Or that he was a great delight to have in one's home. Or that he was full of charm and a very sweet gentleman. Come to think of it, Jesus was the ultimate Prince Charming!

But, to be fair, Jesus does bring justification with God as a chiropractor justifies the bones and ligaments.

Thank you for challenging us and giving us opportunities to think for ourselves. I absolutely LOVE all the (trick) questions that you ask. I used to answer immediately, but now I stop and think about the question first before I answer - and then think about why I answered the way I did.

I'm so glad you stream/record the classes!

Are there any lessons you gleaned from this quarter you would like to share?

Read Memory Text: —Behold, the days are coming,‘ says the Lord, _that I will raise to David a Branch of righteousness; a King shall reign and prosper, and execute judgment and righteousness in the earth.’” Jeremiah 23:5 NKJV

I want us to spend a little time digging into this passage and comparing Scripture with Scripture this morning.

What does the word branch entail? Why might it be used?

- When people outline their family trees what do the hereditary pathways do? They branch—new branches grow out of older branches.
- The branch concept is designed to let us know this is going to be a person who is a descendant of David, a person who is really and actually human—but somehow able to do something no other human is able to do

Does this passage bring any other passages to mind? How about Isa 11:1-9:

*A shoot will come up from the stump of Jesse;
from his roots a Branch will bear fruit.
2 The Spirit of the LORD will rest on him—
the Spirit of wisdom and of understanding, the Spirit of counsel and of power,
the Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD—
3 and he will delight in the fear of the LORD.

He will not judge by what he sees with his eyes, or decide by what he hears with his ears;
4 but with righteousness he will judge the needy,
with justice he will give decisions for the poor of the earth.
He will strike the earth with the rod of his mouth;
with the breath of his lips he will slay the wicked.
5 Righteousness will be his belt
and faithfulness the sash around his waist.

6 The wolf will live with the lamb,
the leopard will lie down with the goat,
the calf and the lion and the yearling together;
and a little child will lead them.
7 The cow will feed with the bear, their young will lie down together,*

- and the lion will eat straw like the ox.*
- 8 The infant will play near the hole of the cobra, and the young child put his hand into the viper's nest.
- 9 They will neither harm nor destroy on all my holy mountain, for the earth will be full of the knowledge of the LORD as the waters cover the sea.

What is going on in this passage?

- A shoot will come up from the stump of Jesse
 - again a biological descendant of David—a human, a part of this creation
- from his roots a Branch will bear fruit
 - what kind of fruit? righteousness, fruit of a perfect and godly character
- The Spirit of the LORD will rest on him—the Spirit of wisdom and of understanding, the Spirit of counsel and of power, the Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the LORD—and he will delight in the fear of the LORD.
 - What does this mean? He will have the knowledge of God, understanding how reality works, our true condition, God's methods and design and how to fix what is wrong
 - What does fear of the Lord mean? Does it mean He will be terrified and afraid of God? Or that He will rejoice in the knowledge, wonder, admiration and experience with and of God?
- He will not judge by what he sees with his eyes, or decide by what he hears with his ears; but with righteousness he will judge the needy—
 - what does this mean?
 - Does it mean ~~man~~ looks on the outward appearance but God looks on the heart?"
 - Does it mean He will not determine health or disease, good or bad, based on externals i.e. behaviors, but by the actual motives of the heart?
 - So might we say this—~~he~~ will not diagnose by superficial appearances; but he will diagnose accurately (rightly) those who are in need of healing.
- with justice he will give decisions for the poor of the earth
 - what does this mean?
 - Which law lens do you think through when you hear the word justice?
 - Do you think through the human idea of laws, rules imposed and justice is enforcement of those rules?
 - Or do you think through Design Law, where God's laws are those protocols upon which life is based and justice is seeking to restore people to harmony with God's design for life?
 - Thus, this passage means God is constantly seeking to do that which restores the sin-sick to wellness.
- He will strike the earth with the rod of his mouth
 - what does this mean?
 - Any other texts come to mind on this one?

- How about in Revelation where it says the wicked are destroyed by the sword that comes from his mouth?
 - And what is that rod or sword?
 - It is the rod or sword of truth! Which does what? See next verse—
- with the breath of his lips he will slay the wicked—
 - what slays the wicked?
 - what is breath a symbol of?
 - It is the symbol of life, the breath of life, and life in God's universe is love—thus the rod or sword is truth and the breath is love—so the wicked are slain when their unhealed selves come into the presence of the unveiled glory of God's—His true self. God's life-giving fire of love and truth (which heal the righteous) is a consuming fire to the unhealed and is symbolized here by the rod and breath.
- Righteousness will be his belt
 - what does this mean?
 - What is righteousness?
 - It is perfection, harmony with God, His character, methods, principles, the way God constructed all reality to operate. This will be the belt, the basis upon which all things are held together.
- and faithfulness the sash around his waist
 - which means what?
 - That He doesn't waiver, He is reliable, He is consistent, predictable, dependable, trustworthy

And then note, from what the Branch accomplishes what happens:

- ⁶ The wolf will live with the lamb, the leopard will lie down with the goat, the calf and the lion and the yearling together; and a little child will lead them. ⁷ The cow will feed with the bear, their young will lie down together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox. ⁸ The infant will play near the hole of the cobra, and the young child put his hand into the viper's nest. ⁹ They will neither harm nor destroy on all my holy mountain, for the earth will be full of the knowledge of the LORD as the waters cover the sea. Isa 11:1-9
 - What is being described?
 - How does this come about?
 - Why is this the result?

What is being described is that by the result of what the Branch accomplishes the infection of fear and selfishness, survival of the fittest drive, will be eradicated from nature and nature will be restored back to God's original ideal. Dualism will be eliminated from the universe! At-one-ment is achieved when all things are again united under one head, Jesus Christ!

What insights does Zech 6:12,13 give to this process?

- Tell him this is what the Lord Almighty says: Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the Lord. ¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the Lord, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.‘

- To what is this referring? If the temple in heaven has always been in existence, then what does it mean that the Branch will branch out from his place and build the temple of the Lord?

When Jesus said to the Jewish leaders that when they destroy ~~–this~~” temple He would rebuild it in three days, to what was He referring? Does His statement have anything to do with the passage in Zechariah six?

What is a temple?

- A place of entertainment?
- A place of legality?
- A place of worship?
- A place where God dwells?
- What about the Temple Jesus built?

Let’s reread or original memory text from the NKJV:

—Behold, the days are coming,‘ says the Lord, _that I will raise to David a Branch of righteousness; a King shall reign and prosper, and execute judgment and righteousness in the earth.” Jeremiah 23:5 NKJV

Now let’s compare it to the GNB and NIV:

The Lord says, —The time is coming when I will choose as king a righteous descendant of David. That king will rule wisely and do what is right and just throughout the land. GNB

—The days are coming,” declares the Lord, —when I will raise up to David (footnote—or up from David’s line) a righteous Branch, a King who will reign wisely and do what is just and right in the land. NIV

Any noted differences? Why do you think the authors chose a translation with the word judgment rather than rule wisely and do what is right and just?

Does the expression execute judgment connote a different message than rule wisely and do what is right and just?

Why might the authors want to connote the idea of executing judgment? Could it be they are trapped in a false law construct? Could it be they are struggling to break free of the imposed law views that infected the church through imperial Rome?

Read fourth paragraph, –Such as faithfulness to God...” What does faithfulness to God and obedience to His commandments look like? What is the difference between religion of the heart and one of empty and dead rituals?

Can Sabbath observance be an empty and dead ritual? Can a person have a heart transforming experience with Christ and not be a Sabbath observer?

What is the role of the Sabbath? What law lens do you see it through? It must be seen through the lens of the central issue in the conflict between good and evil—Read...

SUNDAY

first paragraph, –Seventh-day Adventists understand...” This is well said—so with this question in mind, how does one understand the Sabbath? Does one see the Sabbath as an –arbitrary test of obedience?” If so, what kind of God would such an idea be promoting? An arbitrary God who makes up arbitrary laws and such a teaching would promote Satan’s view of God—it would be on the wrong side of the central issue in the Great Controversy.

Jesus said the Sabbath was made for man not man for the Sabbath—what does this mean? Why was the Sabbath made for man? What does it provide that is crucial in this war over God’s character and trustworthiness?

- Evidence of God’s methods and principles—proof that God is love, and completely trustworthy—how?
- In what context was the Sabbath created? War, over what? God’s trustworthiness to rule.
- What does it mean, that God, rather than using power to coerce and force all the heavenly beings into line, instead, after created earth, said, –Now, after providing this evidence of My Creatorship, after creating a planet constructed to operate in all ways upon the law of love, the principle of giving, after creating new beings with the power to procreate beings in their image—after all this to reveal my true nature, universe, I rest my case, consider for yourselves, no pressure or coercion from me. I want you to be free!”
- The Sabbath only exists because God is NOT like Satan says. He is not arbitrary, coercive, abusive, but presents truth in love and leaves us free.

- This day was provided as a weekly sign-post of God's methods and those who internalize God's law into their hearts and characters, practices God's methods—they present the truth in love and leave others free. This is what true Sabbath observance means—a seven day a week practicing of God's methods, all symbolized in the day created to remind us of God's amazing character of love Read third paragraph, –Never will it be..." Amazing love that Jesus left all to heal and save us! What does it mean he bore the guilt and shame?

Christ bore our guilt and shame—i.e. He was not guilty and He was not ashamed:

Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy set before him endured the cross, scorning its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God. Heb 12:2

Christ scorned or despised the shame of the Cross because He knew who He was and that the shame of the experience was actually upon those who rejected and crucified Him, and not on Him. He said, –Father forgiven them they don't know what they are doing..." they think they are shaming me – but it is actually shame on them. Christ, when he was lifted up –drew all" unto Himself, thus He knew His act was an act of supreme glory and not an act of shame.

What was it that crushed out His life? It was the result of the Father hiding His presence from Jesus, NOT the process of God inflicting death or using power to kill Jesus.

Did His Father use power to kill Jesus? Those who hold the penal view teach that God executed Jesus on the cross—what is terribly wrong with this teaching?

- It makes God out to be the source of death
- It teaches that if God were not to inflict death then sinners would live eternally
- It incites fear of God and undermines trust
- It leads to false theologies designed to protect from God
- It keeps people trapped in cycles of sin, powerless to break free
- It distorts how reality actually works
- It shuts down thinking and prevents the development of the image of God in man
- It justifies the use of coercive and destructive power to get one's goals
- It creates a disparity in the Godhead
- It sustains Satan's allegations that God is arbitrary and breaking His law requires inflicted punishment

What does it say about God that Jesus went through this for us? Why was it necessary? It was the only way for Jesus to build the temple of God—which is what? The dwelling place of God—which is what?

Don't you know that you yourselves are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you? 1Cor 3:16

In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,—from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Malachi 3:1-3. {DA 161.1}

What was Jesus purpose? It was to restore God's image in humanity, to cleanse this species to fix what Adam and Eve did so that we can again be a place where God can dwell by His Spirit!

Does this have any bearing on the cleansing of the sanctuary to take place before Christ returns?

Did you notice the Malachi 3 verse just read, that the Messiah comes to His temple to cleanse the Levis and make them pure—they are the building blocks of the temple, this is what it means to cleanse

God's temple to have our hearts, minds, characters cleansed from lies, selfishness and any deviation from God's design.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, –There is a document...”

Read the next paragraph, –Not quite true...” Do you agree with this?

What kind of religion did Adam and Eve have in Eden? What ceremonies? What rituals? What rites? What procedures? What creeds?

Were Adam and Eve religious in Eden? What was the essence of their religion?

Their religion was reality—God and His creation, which operated on the protocols of love and fulfilling their role within God's framework. How would you describe their role? What would the practice of such a religion look like?

What will our religion look like in the earth made new?

Today:

- Religions too often bind while Jesus sets free
- Religions separate while Jesus unites
- Religions blind with symbols, rituals, and works while Jesus restores understanding with reason, explanations and reality
- Religions focus on self while Jesus focuses on the Father

Why then did God give such instructions for organized religion after sin—particularly at Sinai?

Did humanity understand God and how God's universe i.e. reality actually worked? Did humanity understand the true situation and circumstances it was in? Did humanity have clear understanding of the Great Controversy over God's character and His plan to heal and save?

So what was the purpose of the systems put in place by God? To protect, teach, instruct and illustrate! It is exactly like what parents do for their children. Such systems provide a sense of security, reduce anxiety, give structure, teach and hopefully lead to internalization and maturation of Godly principles.

In other words, the organized system of religion given by God was a tool designed to help fallen human beings in a sinful world experience God's healing in their lives—to lead them out of ritual and to a living God—Jesus!

Do those systems ever get corrupted and end up obstructing people from knowing God and experiencing His healing?

What profession has opposed God's work with His people most consistently throughout history?

Is there any profession that through history has obstructed the work of God more than the clergy?

- Aaron builds the golden calf
- Nadab and Abihu mislead the people
- The sons of Samuel abuse the people
- The priests during the time of Elijah and beyond lead in idol worship
- The Sanhedrin at the time of Christ
- The Jewish leadership to the Apostles
- The clergy in the Dark Ages and throughout the Reformation
- What about today?

How many seminary trained clergy did Jesus select to be amongst His twelve Apostles?

Saul of Tarsus was seminary trained—and when he converted what did Jesus do? He sent him out to the wilderness for 3.5 years to reprocess his understanding of all that he had learned. Historical facts needed to be set in new understanding and then he was able to go forward with the gospel work.

Now, to be fair there have been many great men of God who were in the clergy:

- Samuel
- Paul
- Nicodemus
- Joseph of Arimathea
- Luther
- Tyndale
- Many others

I am not saying that clergy cannot be agents of God—only that the clergy is an occupation where Satan seems to work with special effort to place his agents and we would be foolish to not recognize this and do as the Scripture says, each person think for themselves and be fully persuaded in their own minds! The fourth paragraph states,

—The people do all these sinful things and then come back to the temple and ‘worship’ the true God and claim forgiveness for their sins. God is not mocked. Unless these people change their ways, especially how they treat the weak among them, they are going to face harsh judgment.” (emphasis original)

Why do the people do wickedly and then come to the temple and claim forgiveness for their sins? Could it have to do with their understanding of the sin problem and what they believe the solution is?

Does this sound like any thing we see in religion today? Is this not the essence of penal substitution theology? Sin is doing bad things; salvation is getting legal pardon i.e. legal forgiveness for one’s sins, which we get by claiming the blood of Jesus as our legal payment. So, we go out and sin, then come in to church and claim forgiveness for our sins.

But the lesson is right, it says ~~—unless~~ these people change their ways” unless they are changed in the inner person—reborn, recreated, have new hearts and right spirits etc. they will face harsh judgment—what does this mean face harsh judgment?

What is another word for judgment? Diagnosis—their diagnosis will be ~~—let~~ him who is wicked be wicked still—they are beyond healing—they are terminal.”

THURSDAY

Read bottom pink section, ~~—In~~ what are you putting...” Do we put our hope in:

- The promises of God, or the God who promises?
- The shed blood of Jesus, or Jesus who shed his blood?
- The righteousness of Christ, or the Christ of righteousness?

Am I just playing word games, or is there a difference in these? What difference?

The promises, blood, righteousness can be treated like commodities, something we can claim or accept and utilize in our negotiations/relationship with God to get what we want. This type of thinking is classic religion—focusing on some action, negotiation, ritual, rite, regulation, etc. done to influence God, but which subtly separates us from God.

But, when we focus on the God of promises, we lose all such perspective and instead find ourselves in a relationship with Him, a relationship in which we bring nothing but our sin-sick selves in need of healing and restoration. It isn't the blood we claim, it is our eternal Friend that we find!

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, —What's interesting in..." To what is the appeal to validate God as the One worthy of our worship? It is power—He is most powerful therefore we should worship Him—thoughts?

Is being most powerful the criteria that merits our worship?

First was power, i.e. whether God is most powerful, ever a question that Satan raised? No, it was never a question of who is most powerful, Satan acknowledge this and is frightened by God's power.

19th Century Congregationalist Theologian George MacDonald wrote:

—What is the deepest in God? His power? No, for power could not make him what we mean when we say God. A being whose essence was only power would be such a negation of the divine that no righteous worship could be offered him; his service would be only fear.”
(George MacDonald, Discovering the Character of God, p. 29.)

Why then does the Bible emphasize so often God is powerful? To whom is God trying to communicate? People operating at level one development and at level one development the only thing that wins is power. So God presents His power so they will start listening.

People have also misunderstood much of the meaning of what the Bible is saying on this topic. Often the Bible appeals to God as Creator and false gods as unable to create. God as the source of life, the false gods as being dead. This has also been misconstrued to be about power—it is not, it is about reality, it is about how God governs. What laws is life built upon? The universe and all reality is built about design law, which is an expression of love, this is the basis of life. This is why the Bible teaches he who pursues righteousness and love finds life, or why God's law revives the soul—because it is the basis for life.

When we truly come back to worship Him who made the heavens and the earth we come back to understand reality as God designed it, we leave behind human constructs of law and leave behind the distortion of God's character that imposed law has brought to Christianity.

Read last paragraph, —Of course...” This week I was emailed by Bob Reiswig, an online classmember, a photograph of a page in the book The Letter to the Romans by William Barclay, which reads:

Let us go back to the prophets. The prophets spoke about the wrath of God, and, very often, their message was that unless men were obedient the wrath of God would come upon them. How would that wrath be seen and operate? It would be seen in captivity and defeat, and national disaster. In other words the prophetic message was, —If you are not obedient to God the wrath of God will involve you in ruin and disaster.” In point of act Ezekiel put this in another vivid way—“The soul that sinneth it shall die.” (Ezekiel 18:4). Now if we were to put this into modern language we would use a different kind of terminology. We would say, —There is a moral order in this world, and the man who transgresses the moral law, soon or late, is bound to suffer.” That is exactly what J.A. Froude the great historian said: —One lesson, and one lesson only, history may be said to repeat with distinctness, that the world is built somehow on moral foundations, that, in the long run, it is well with the good, and, in the long run, it will be ill with the wicked.” The whole message of the Hebrew prophets was that there is a moral order in this world. The conclusion is clear—that moral order is the wrath of God at work. (emphasis original) God made this world in such a way that we break His laws at our peril. Now if we were left solely at the mercy of that inexorable and implacable moral order, there could be nothing for us but death and destruction. True, the world is made in such a way that the soul that sins must die—if the moral order is to act alone. But into this dilemma of man there comes the love of God, and that love of God, by an act of unbelievable free grace, lifts man out of the consequences of sin and saves him from the wrath he should have incurred.

The wrath of God is the inevitable punishment of sin. It is there in the structure of the universe. And it is precisely from the consequences of our rebellion against that moral order that the love of God saves us, because of what Jesus had done for us.

Paul goes on to insist that men cannot plead ignorance of God. They could have seen what God is like from God’s world. It is always possible to tell something of a man from his handiwork. And it is possible to tell something about God from the world He made. The Old Testament writers knew that. Job, chapters 38 to 41, is based on that very idea. Paul knew that. It is from the world that he starts when he is speaking to the pagans at Lystra (acts 14:17). Tertullian, the great early Christian Father, had much about this conviction that God can be seen in His world. —It was not the pen of Moses that initiated the knowledge of the Creator.... The vast majority of mankind, though they had never heard the name Moses—to say nothing of his book—know the God of Moses none the less.” —Nature,” he said, —is the teacher; the soul is the pupil.” —One flower of the hedgerow by itself I think[[I do not say a flower of the meadows; one shell of any sea you like—I do not say a pear from the Red Sea; one feather of a moor flow—to say nothing of the peacock—will they speak to you of a mean Creator?” In the world we can see God. It is Paul’s argument—and it is completely valid—that if we look at the world suffering follows sin. (emphasis original) Break the laws of agriculture—the harvest fails. Break the laws of architecture—your building collapses. Break the laws of health—your body suffers. Paul was saying —Look at the world! See how it is constructed! From a world like that you know what God is like." The sinner is left without excuse. (p. 18, 19

We must focus on Jesus because only focusing on Him is there healing and transformation!

TUESDAY

The lesson cites Romans 14:12 —So then everyone of us shall give account of himself to God.” What comes to mind when you hear this?

What does it mean? What law lens are you hearing it through?

The lesson states that in the end each of us will have to give an account of ourselves to God. Does this excite you are frighten you? Why?

If understood through the imposed law and penal view, what comes to mind?

If understood through design law and healing view, what comes to mind?

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 1 Crisis in Heaven

The third paragraph in the introduction states:

Satan's efforts to misrepresent the character of God, to cause men to cherish a false conception of the Creator, and thus to regard Him with fear and hate rather than with love; his endeavors to set aside the divine law, leading the people to think themselves free from its requirements; and his persecution of those who dare to resist his deceptions, have been steadfastly pursued in all ages. They may be traced in the history of patriarchs, prophets, and apostles, of martyrs and reformers. {GC 12,13}

This is the central issue in the war—our conception of God, do we view him with love and trust or with fear and hatred?

The quote mentions that Satan has endeavored to set aside the divine law, to lead people to think themselves free from its requirements?

How? How has Satan actually done this?

SABBATH

Read first paragraph:

The law of love being the foundation of the government of God, the happiness of all intelligent beings depends upon their perfect accord with its great principles of righteousness. [why? what law lens are you thinking through? Are you thinking like a child, level 1-4 moral development that if you disobey you are unhappy because the ruling authority has to punish you? Or are you thinking like a mature friend of God who understands God's law is design law, and deviations from it injure and destroy the deviant and this is what destroys our happiness?] God desires from all His creatures the service of love—service that springs from an appreciation of His character. He takes no pleasure in a forced obedience; and to all He grants freedom of will, that they may render Him voluntary service. {PP 34.3} [What kind of law compels, forces, coerces? Imposed law, so if you understand how these various laws function then you can recognize in this statement alone the difference between God's law and man's law]

If God takes no pleasure in forced obedience, if all are granted free will, what action is therefore excluded in regard to the function of God's law? – Coercive enforcement—inflicting punishment upon lawbreakers.

So, with this in mind, what does it mean that Satan has tried to get people to set aside the divine law and think themselves free of its requirements?

What does God's law require? Why does it require this? Which law lens do you answer the question through?

The divine law requires us to love God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves. {A New Life NL 32.1}

This is the voice of God to you, my brethren and sisters who profess to keep the law of God. That law requires that you love your neighbor as yourself. Are you doing it? {RH, March 11, 1884 par. 10}

But the law requires that the soul itself be pure and the mind holy, that the thoughts and feelings may be in accordance with the standard of love and righteousness.--RH, Apr 5, 1898. (2SM 211.) {2MCP 564.1}

Christ came to this world to live the law and represent the character of God, that the delusions which Satan had brought upon the world might be dispelled. In the sermon on the mount, He who gave the law became an expositor of the law. That sermon, so full of what it means to love and obey God, is the unfolding of His character. The law is shown to be a representation of God's character, that man may see that he must render obedience to the law if he would become a member of the royal family, a child of the heavenly King. This law requires nothing short of perfect spiritual obedience. {ST, February 24, 1898 par. 5}

What does the law requires? Love—why? Because this is the basis of life—this is like saying the law of respiration requires you to breathe—and what happens if one refuses to breathe?

So, how has Satan gotten men to think they don't have to live in harmony with the law of God? By getting them to believe they have to obey the law—did I just confuse you?

Yes, Satan wants people to think they have to live in harmony with God's law—only Satan replaces God's true law with his own perverted version of that law. Daniel 7:25 prophesied that a little horn power would seek to change God's law. Satan has seduced the world, including the Christian world, into believing God's law functions like human law, rules imposed requiring imposed punishment, thus Satan gets people to set aside God's law and instead adhere to a false law construct which distorts God's character and obstructs His plan to heal and restore His creation.

Steve Morris brought an article from our Chattanooga Times Free Press last week, let me share it with you. And you tell me, has God's law been set aside?

Chattanooga Times Free Press, December 5, 2015 page E-1.

God isn't looking at us with an angry face

I once hurt a person. Badly. The pain I caused elicited an unforgettable response—eyes flashing fire, nose compressed like a spring under pressure, jaw locked, teeth grinding. It was an angry face.

We have all seen the angry face at one time or another. It's nearly impossible to avoid, considering that we are bound to make somebody mad eventually. In my situation, the person I had offended was no mere acquaintance, which made matters worse. Grief is compounded when we hurt someone close to us, like a spouse or a parent or a friend. We don't want those we love to be angry with us. We especially don't want God to be angry with us.

Have you ever been burdened with the feeling that God is looking at you with an angry face? If you're like many people, you do. "God must be angry with me" or "I think God is punishing me" are statements I hear frequently as a pastor. Though we have been taught that God is love, many of us go on quietly believing that God is also mad.

Certainly we deserve God's anger. Our thoughts and affections and behaviors often reveal that we prefer our own way over God's. And we know, if God cares about justice at all, that he must punish our sin. Therefore, it isn't unreasonable of us to imagine a dark shadow of wrath on God's face. Our sins are many, God's judgment is certain; hell is real; and we are by nature children of wrath (Isaiah 59:12; Revelation 20:11-15; Ephesians 2:1).

And yet (what hopeful words). And yet the Bible says that there is a way to know with absolute certainty that God is not looking at you with an angry face. How can you know? Look at the cross of Jesus. The cross wasn't merely an example of love—it was a substitutionary act of love. Jesus was ~~p~~ierced for our transgressions; he was crushed for our iniquities" (Isaiah 53:5). Instead of turning his angry face upon us, God turned his angry face upon his Son. God's eyes flashed fire, his nose compressed like a spring under pressure and, with locked jaw and clenched teeth, he poured out upon Jesus the wrath we deserve. "For God so loved the world" (John 3:16)

Jesus, the sinless substitute, absorbed in himself every ounce of God's anger over our sin, fully and finally. Therefore, there is now ~~no~~ condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus" (Romans 8:1). Can you believe it? No condemnation. No angry face. If you are in Christ Jesus—that is, if you are trusting in Jesus for salvation—you can be absolutely certain that God is not angry with you. You will still grieve God with your sin and experience his fatherly discipline, but God will never look upon you in anger. All his anger has been spent in Jesus.

No wonder the birth of Jesus was accompanied by such a happy angelic announcement: "Behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:10-11). Good news of great joy, indeed. Through faith in Jesus, you can look into the face of God and see nothing but love.

David King is senior pastor at Concord Baptist Church, where he has served the last 14 years. He is married to Natalie and has three children.

What law is being described? What system is God being relegated to? Whose law is God being described as operating under?

This is evidence of the infection—the lie, the idea that God is an arbitrary being who imposes rules and then inflicts punishments. Do you see how deeply Satan's lies have infected the Christian world?

Jump back to the introduction the fifth paragraph states:

Yes, God has pledged to bear in Himself the full responsibility for all human rebellion and to suffer the consequences for every evil we have committed. Only in this way could God restore His relationship with the human race, relationships between humans, and humanity's relationship with the rest of creation.

What are they trying to say?

- Are they trying to say that God suffers in the way a parent suffers when they see their children engaged in behaviors that injure themselves? So all the human sin and evil causes God to suffer in His heart because He loves us and all sin damages and destroys that which He loves?
 - This is a healthy understanding of how God suffers over every individual sin
- Or, are they trying to say that all the sins ever committed by every person throughout all history are legal breeches in God's law and require legal accountability in the divine government, which means they must be punished. And thus all the individual acts of sin ever committed were placed upon Christ and God inflicted torment and torture upon Christ to cause Christ to artificially experience the legally proper amount of suffering for human sins?
 - In other words, would they agree with the article from the paper, that God vented His anger and wrath on His Son causing Jesus' suffering?
 - This is a destructive way to think because it is false, it is based on the lies of Satan, it reinforces lies about God's law and God's character and undermines our love and trust in God

The last paragraph in the introduction states, "Jesus has won a decisive victory at the cross."

What was that victory? What did He win and how did He win it?

SUNDAY

With our understanding of God's true law in mind, we turn to the question of the fall in heaven—how did Satan get 1/3 of the angels to rebel?

The lesson refers us to Isaiah 14 and Ezekiel 28, both of which describe the rebellion in heaven when Lucifer the light bearer became infatuated with himself and sought to get for himself rather than to give of himself.

What issue did Lucifer raise in heaven?

He called God's character and justice (what is justice?) into question? He suggested God was unfair, played favorites, was arbitrary, made up rules—how? What issue did Lucifer use to suggest some unfairness on the part of God?

He suggested there was no difference between Lucifer and the pre-incarnate Christ, yet Christ was given privileges that Lucifer was not, and this was suggested as being unfair. How could Lucifer do this so successfully? In other words how could the angels not see through this easily?

1Tim 6:16 says God lives in unapproachable light—what does this mean? Unapproachable by whom?

God is infinite—can a finite mind enter, i.e. approach, infinity? Why not?

So if an infinite God wants the closest interaction with finite beings, what must happen if finite beings cannot enter infinity? An infinite being must enter linear time—leave infinity and interact on the level of the created being. This person, this infinite divine being was Jesus. Jesus has always been the member of the Godhead who has been the go-between between infinity and finite creation, the bridge-builder, the connecting-link, also known as.... the mediator!

What form did Jesus take when, before the earth was created, He left infinity to interact with His angelic host?

What would make sense? Would Jesus want them to feel comfortable, to feel a kinship with Himself? Then what form would He take? The form of an angel—is there any Biblical evidence to support this?

- Exodus 3 where God speaks to Moses from the burning bush, but it says the angel of the Lord spoke to Moses
- When Samson's parents saw the angel of the Lord, but they saw God
- Whose voice did Jesus say the dead would hear and come forth from the grave? His voice! And whose voice does Paul say in Thessalonians will raise the dead? The voice of the archangel
- And who was it that did raise Moses? The archangel Michael
- And what name did Jesus share with Lucifer? Greek Phosphorus, which means light bearer, or bright and morning star, and translated from Greek to Latin—Lucifer! (2Pet 1:19)

So what did Lucifer allege? That he was no different than Jesus, but Jesus received special privileges that Lucifer did not get, thus Satan alleged God was arbitrary and unfair. Here is what one of the founders wrote about how sin began in heaven. It is in the book Patriarchs and Prophets:

Little by little Lucifer came to indulge the desire for self-exaltation. The Scripture says, "Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness." Ezekiel 28:17. "Thou hast said in thine heart, . . . I will exalt my throne above the stars of God. . . . I will be like the Most High." Isaiah 14:13, 14. Though all his glory was from God, this mighty angel came to regard it as pertaining to himself. Not content with his position, though honored above the heavenly host, he ventured to covet homage due alone to the Creator. Instead of seeking to make God supreme in the affections and allegiance of all created beings, it was his endeavor to secure their service and loyalty to himself. And coveting the glory with which the infinite Father had invested His Son, this prince of angels aspired to power that was the prerogative of Christ alone. {PP 35.2}

To dispute the supremacy of the Son of God, thus impeaching the wisdom and love of the Creator, had become the purpose of this prince of angels. {PP 36.1}

Leaving his place in the immediate presence of the Father, Lucifer went forth to diffuse the spirit of discontent among the angels. He worked with mysterious secrecy, and for a time concealed his real purpose under an appearance of reverence for God. He began to insinuate doubts concerning the laws that governed heavenly beings, intimating that though laws might be necessary for the inhabitants of the worlds, angels, being more exalted, needed no such restraint, for their own wisdom was a sufficient guide. They were not beings that could bring dishonor to God; all their thoughts were holy; it was no more possible for them than for God Himself to err. [what is Satan's tactic here? He is planting seeds of pride, selfishness, trying to get them to think about themselves and their rights, turning their minds away from God and His goodness] The exaltation of the Son of God as equal with the Father was represented as an injustice to Lucifer, who, it was claimed, was also entitled to reverence and honor. If this prince of angels could but attain to his true, exalted position, great good would accrue to the entire host of heaven; for it was his object to secure freedom for all. But now even the liberty which they had hitherto enjoyed was at an end; for an absolute Ruler had been appointed them, and to His authority all must pay homage. Such were the subtle deceptions that through the wiles of Lucifer were fast obtaining in the heavenly courts. {PP 37.1} [what type of law is Lucifer alleging God uses in this specific situation—liberty is ended, an absolute Rule appointed?—imposed law—always part of Satan's lies.]

There had been no change in the position or authority of Christ. Lucifer's envy and misrepresentation and his claims to equality with Christ had made necessary a statement of the true position of the Son of God; but this had been the same from the beginning. Many of the angels were, however, blinded by Lucifer's deceptions. {PP 38.1} [how many humans remain blinded by these lies? How many church leaders are not only blinded, but leading others into the darkness of these lies?]

MONDAY

Read last paragraph, —Walking _to and fro...‘ The question at the top of the lesson states, —Why does Jesus call Satan the prince of this world?’

Does title prince of this world refer to territories—physical locations, or the world of selfishness, sin, disease, decay and death—the prince of this sick world?

Does Satan have some “legal” right to this world? What legal right? Based upon what? This is commonly taught in Christianity, but such an idea is borne out of Satan’s lies about God’s law. Can Satan create? Can Satan sustain the operations of nature and the laws of nature—which are God’s laws? No! Satan has no legal right to this planet, all such ideas are a result of thinking through the false law lens.

But even if one were to operate in that legal law view—in order to speak to the children—does Satan have a legal claim? So let’s use an example of imposed law and see: Say the Mayor of Chattanooga decides to sign the city over to a foreign power—would that be “legal”? Would that stand? Why not? Because the city charter is subject to a higher governmental authority—what about Adam?

When Satan declared to Christ, The kingdom and glory of the world are delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it, he stated what was true only in part, and he declared it to serve his own purpose of deception. Satan's dominion was that wrested from Adam, but Adam was the vicegerent of the Creator. His was not an independent rule. The earth is God's, and He has committed all things to His Son. Adam was to reign subject to Christ. When Adam betrayed his sovereignty into Satan's hands, Christ still remained the rightful King. Thus the Lord had said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever He will." Daniel 4:17. Satan can exercise his usurped authority only as God permits. {DA 129.4}

So, when Jesus was referring to Satan as the prince of this world was He speaking about territory, property, physical boundaries, or about the world of selfishness and sin?

What is Satan truly the prince of? Satan is the originator of evil; Satan is the father of lies, the murderer from the beginning, the instigator or rebel and thus the progenitor of pain, suffering and death—not God. Thus Satan is the prince of this sin-sick and dying world.

This is why it is so offensive, outrageous, wrong and destructive to teach God to be the source of inflicted suffering and death upon the wicked—it takes Satan’s attributes and puts them on God. We also give Satan power and authority he does NOT possess when we teach that he has some legal claim to earth that Christ needed to reclaim.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, —We have no idea...” I am at a loss as to how they could write something like this—there were no physical battles in heaven—ever, how do we know?

First in Revelation 12:7 that says, —there was war in heaven...” the Greek for war is πόλεμος [polemos /pol·em·os/], from which we get polemic which means: —a controversial argument, as one against some opinion, doctrine, etc.”

The war in heaven was not physical, but was mental, it was over ideas, concepts, beliefs, focusing on God’s character. This is supported by 2Cor 10:3-5: —We do not wage war as the world does...”

I found a journal article, in the Review and Herald September 7, 1897 which is profound with insight into this, see what you think:

Satan's representations against the government of God, and his defense of those who sided with him, were a constant accusation against God. His murmurings and complaints were groundless; and yet God allowed him to work out his theory. God could have destroyed Satan and all his sympathizers as easily as one can pick up a pebble and cast it to the earth. But by so doing he would have given a precedent for the exercise of force. All the compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. He would not work on this line. He would not give the slightest encouragement for any human being to set himself up as God over another human being, feeling at liberty to cause him physical or mental suffering. This principle is wholly of Satan's creation. [Is the Christian world clear on this? Or has Christianity been teaching just the opposite, that justice requires God to use force? Can you see how the Christian world, with it's false idea that justice requires God to use force to kill is preparing the way for Satan to impersonate Christ?] {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 7}

The principles of the character of God were the foundation of the education constantly kept before the heavenly angels. These principles were goodness, mercy, and love. Self-evidencing light was to be recognized and freely accepted by all who occupied positions of trust and power. They must accept God's principles, and, through the presentation of truth and righteousness, convince all who were in his service. This was the only power to be used. Force must never come in. All who thought that their position gave them power to command their fellow beings, and control conscience, must be deprived of their position; for this is not God's plan. [When we choose church leaders do we choose people who refuse to use coercive tactics? Do we choose people who refuse to teach God uses force and coercion?]

{RH, September 7, 1897 par. 8}

These principles are to be the foundation of education in God's church today. The rules given by him are to be observed and respected. God has enjoined this. His government is moral. Nothing is to be done by compulsion. Truth is to be the prevailing power. . All service is to be done willingly, and for the love of God. All who are honored with positions of influence are to represent God; for when officiating, they are in the place of God. In everything their actions must correspond to the importance of their position. The higher the position the more distinctly will self-sacrifice be revealed if they are fit for the office. Every heart that is controlled by these principles will be loyal. But when those who profess to be in God's service resort to accusation, they are adopting Satan's principles to cast out Satan; and this never will work. {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 9}

In the councils of heaven it was decided that principles must be acted upon that would not at once destroy Satan's power; for it was God's purpose to place things upon an eternal basis of security. [What is necessary for eternal security? The agreement and solidification into the character of God's methods—which requires sentient beings to understand and choose the right for themselves.] Time must be given for Satan to develop the principles which were the foundation of his government. The heavenly universe must see worked out the principles which Satan declared were superior to God's principles. God's order must be contrasted with Satan's order. The corrupting principles of Satan's rule must be revealed. The principles of righteousness expressed in God's law must be demonstrated as unchangeable, perfect, eternal. {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 10} What were the principles of Satan that needed to be exposed? Imposed law with coercive enforcement, versus God's law of design law the law of love!

The Lord saw the use Satan was making of his powers, [what powers?] and he set before him truth in contrast with falsehood. Time and time again during the controversy, Satan was ready to be convinced, ready to admit that he was wrong. But those he had deceived were also ready to accuse him of leaving them. What should he do?--submit to God, or continue in a course of deception? He chose to deny truth, to take refuge in misstatements and fraud. {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 11}

The Lord allowed Satan to go on, and demonstrate his principles. [what are they?] God did reveal that his principles were right, and he carried the worlds unfallen and the heavenly universe with him; but it was at a terrible cost. His only begotten Son was given up as

Satan's victim. [what does this mean? How? Why?] The Lord Jesus Christ revealed a character entirely opposite to that of Satan. As the high priest laid aside his gorgeous, pontifical robes, and officiated in the white linen dress of a common priest, so Christ emptied himself, and took the form of a servant, and offered the sacrifice, himself the priest himself the victim. {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 12}

By causing the death of the Sovereign of heaven, Satan defeated his own purpose. [According to this author who caused the death of Jesus? Who do you believe killed Jesus? God did not kill Jesus at the Cross. Those who teach such an idea misrepresent God and support Satan's lies about God.] The death of the Son of God made the death of Satan unavoidable. [Why? If one operates under an imposed law construct this is hard to understand—unavoidable, as if the Sovereign of the universe could not avoid it? Why could it not be avoided? Design law makes this clear—because God would no longer NEED to hold back the results of Satan's choice—separation from God, which results in death. Before Christ's death Satan's death was avoided—why? Because it would have caused confusion over God's character, law, methods, and the reason Satan died. But now, God's actions and methods are clear, and God no longer needs to hold at bay what Satan has chosen—except for the humans on earth who are still confused and in the dark] He was allowed to go on until his administration was laid open before the worlds unfallen and before the heavenly universe. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he uprooted himself from the affections of the unfallen beings. He was seen by all to be a liar, a thief, and a murderer... {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 13}

Today Satan is working upon human minds by his crooked principles. [What are his crooked principles? Imposed law, coercive pressure, deception—and human minds in church leadership teach imposed law and coercive pressure are godly and just—how horrible!] These will be adopted and acted upon by some who claim to be loyal and true to God's government. How shall we know that they are disloyal and untrue?—"By their fruits ye shall know them." God does not force any one. He leaves all free to choose. But he says, "By their fruits ye shall know them." The Lord will not write as wise those who cannot distinguish between a tree that bears thorn-berries and a tree that bears olives. [What does this mean? The fruit of the method one uses when dealing with others—do you use God's methods of truth love and freedom, or Satan's method of coercive force?] {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 15}

Individually, we are deciding our eternal destiny, deciding whether we shall enjoy the highest honor that can be given to man, even an eternal weight of glory, or be ranked with Satan by possessing his character, by dishonoring God because we profess to be

Christians while misrepresenting Christ. [How? By promoting and practicing the methods of coercion, force, arbitrary rule and deception] Those who choose to reveal the character of the arch-deceiver identify themselves with him beyond the possibility of a change, because they choose not to see themselves as wrong. This was the course that Satan pursued. {RH, September 7, 1897 par. 16}

WEDNESDAY

Satan Evicted—when, how, what does it mean? What was Jesus talking about when He said: —Now is the time for judgment on this world; now the prince of this world will be driven out. But I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself.” Jn 12:31,32

Here are these verses from The Remedy:

“Now is the time for the infection of selfishness and sin in this world to be fully diagnosed and revealed as destructive; now, Satan, the prince of this selfish world, will be driven out into the open, out of the shadows, out from behind his lies and distortions about God and God's methods, out where all can see him as the murderer he truly is, and thus out of the hearts of all who love me.³² When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw all intelligences throughout the universe to me.”

To the angels and the unfallen worlds the cry, "It is finished," had a deep significance. It was for them as well as for us that the great work of redemption had been accomplished. They with us share the fruits of Christ's victory. {DA 758.2}

Not until the death of Christ was the character of Satan clearly revealed to the angels or to the unfallen worlds. The archapostate had so clothed himself with deception that even holy beings had not understood his principles. They had not clearly seen the nature of his rebellion... {DA 758.3}

Satan saw that his disguise was torn away. His administration was laid open before the unfallen angels and before the heavenly universe. He had revealed himself as a murderer. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he had uprooted himself from the sympathies of the heavenly beings. Henceforth his work was restricted. Whatever attitude he might assume, he could no longer await the angels as they came from the heavenly courts, and before them accuse Christ's brethren of being clothed with the garments of blackness and the defilement of sin. The last link of sympathy between Satan and the heavenly world was broken. {DA 761.2}

Yet Satan was not then destroyed. The angels did not even then understand all that was involved in the great controversy. The principles at stake were to be more fully revealed. And for the sake of man, Satan's existence must be continued. Man as well as angels must see the contrast between the Prince of light and the prince of darkness. He must choose whom he will serve. {DA 761.3}

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. {DA 761.4}

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love.

Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. {DA 761.5}

Through Jesus, God's mercy was manifested to men; but mercy does not set aside justice. [what does this mean? What law lens do you understand it through? Does mercy set aside the right way the universe is designed to run? The right way is the just way, or justice] The law reveals the attributes of God's character, and not a jot or tittle of it could be changed to meet man in his fallen condition. [why? For the same reason the law of respiration cannot be changed to meet someone under water] God did not change His law, but He sacrificed Himself, in Christ, for man's redemption. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. {DA 762.1}

The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. [notice what is happening—healing, recreation, renewal!] Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

God's love has been expressed in His justice no less than in His mercy. Justice is the foundation of His throne, and the fruit of His love. It had been Satan's purpose to divorce mercy from truth and justice. He sought to prove that the righteousness of God's law is an enemy to peace. But Christ shows that in God's plan they are indissolubly joined together; the one cannot exist without the other. "Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other." Psalm 85:10. {DA 762.3}

By His life and His death, Christ proved that God's justice did not destroy His mercy, but that sin could be forgiven, and that the law is righteous, and can be perfectly obeyed. Satan's charges were refuted. God had given man unmistakable evidence of His love. {DA 762.4}

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

We are very thankful to Gary Jones, who has spent the last 6 weeks here in Chattanooga researching properties for Come and Reason Ministries. This was an arduous task that none of the board members had time to do. Thanks to Gary's research we were provided with the information we needed to prayerfully review and make a decision. After reviewing all the variables involved (particularly cost factors), it was decided by the board that now is not the time for Come and Reason Ministries to purchase property. Instead, the board determined it was the time to continue to direct our resources toward producing free materials and expanding our distribution. To this end, Gary will be returning to Canada to establish a distribution hub for our materials in Canada, as Simon Harrison has done in Australia and Samuel Jacobs has done in South Africa. We are so thankful to all our Distribution Hub Directors. Please keep our ministry and team in your prayers.

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 2

Crisis In Eden

SABBATH

Read memory text: —_And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her Seed; He shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise His heel.” (Genesis 3:15 NKJV).

What does the text mean? What is God actually doing? Is God acting to cause division, discord, disunity?

The key is to ask—between what? What are Satan’s principles? In what do Satan’s principles result? Then what action would God take to cause enmity?

It means God is instilling love, kindness, patience, peace, grace, forgiveness, mercy, gentleness, goodness, honesty, truthfulness, selflessness—God is working in the hearts of men to instill these virtues and such virtues are at war with Satan and his kingdom. Therefore, these principles cause one to be separated from Satan and his kingdom of sin, selfishness and death.

Any New Testament thoughts come to mind?

—Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I did not come to bring peace, but a sword. ³⁵ For I have come to turn —_a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law— ³⁶ a man’s enemies will be the members of his own household.‘ MT 20:34-36

What does this mean? Have you ever read this and wondered how could Jesus try to divide families?

It all depends on what law lens you look through and what you understand is actually happening. Here it is from The Remedy:

"Don't think I have come to make peace with a selfish world. I have not come to bring peace with selfishness, but a sword to cut selfishness out of the hearts of men.³⁵ I have come to cut dysfunctional family ties: to free a son from selfish loyalty to his father's ambitions and feuds, to sever a daughter from the control of an oppressive and manipulative mother, to cut through the fear and hostility a daughter-in-law has toward her mother-in-law.³⁶ A person's worst enemies are often members of their own family.

Read second paragraph, “How did we...” What does the phrase “fairly early in earth’s history” mean? Does it mean early in regards to when the non-living matter on earth was made or when earth life was created on earth? Is there a difference?

Job 38:4-6 tells us that the angels were singing for joy when the foundations of the earth were created, but humankind was not around. What does this mean?

That the non-living matter found on earth was created some time before life was created on earth.

Note the description of earth in Genesis 1:2:

- “Now the earth was formless and empty, darkness was over the surface of the deep, and the Spirit of God was hovering over the waters.” NIV
- the earth was a formless void and darkness covered the face of the deep, while a wind from God swept over the face of the waters. NRSV

What does this sound like? That something was here already, before the Genesis 1 account. We are not told for how many billions of years this ancient matter was in the dark in some corner of the Milky Way before the events of Genesis 1.

So, what does it help us to comprehend to realize that non-living matter was created sometime before life on earth?

That when scientists find evidence that the rocks, the geological foundations of earth are billions of years old, this does not undermine the Biblical account because the Bible doesn’t say Genesis is the description of creation of the universe, but that Genesis is the description of terraforming one solar system in a universe already billions of years old.

But if what I am describing is correct, what do we do with Genesis 1:14-19?

And God said, “Let there be lights in the dome of the sky to separate the day from the night; and let them be for signs and for seasons and for days and years, 15 and let them be lights in the dome of the sky to give light upon the earth.” And it was so. 16 God made the two great lights—the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night—and the stars. 17 God set them in the dome of the sky to give light upon the earth, 18 to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good. 19 And there was evening and there was morning, the fourth day.

The understanding that fits most consistently with all the pieces of evidence is that this is referring to our solar system, the stars would be Venus and Mars the brightest stars in the night sky, not all the stars in the entire universe.

SUNDAY

Read fourth paragraph, ~~Humans~~ share with fish and birds the divine encouragement to be fruitful...” Any thoughts on why the authors chose the word ~~encouragement~~?”

I find this interesting—is the instructive language to be fruitful and multiple significantly different than ~~Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy?~~”

Was the instruction to be fruitful and multiple an:

- Encouragement?
- Instruction?
- Permission?
- Directive?
- Command?
- Description?
- Mission statement?
- Gift?
- Intention?

What is the lesson that earth was created to reveal? How do all living creatures on earth reproduce? What is the one common principle to all reproduction—whether sexual or asexual?

All living creatures reproduce by giving of themselves to produce their offspring—mammals, reptiles, birds, helminthes, plants, fungi, bacteria, amoeba—all living creatures give of themselves to produce their offspring. What is the lesson? Life is built on the principle of giving—this is God’s law, God’s design and deviating from it brings death.

Can you think of anything in nature that violates this principle of giving of itself to reproduce and instead reproduces by taking?

Viruses—viruses invade a host cell, take over the machinery of the host cell, redirect the resources of the host cell to make more virus until the host cell is so depleted of life sustaining energy and resources it dies and spills the virus out to infect cells around it which are also taken over by the virus which co-opts the hosts resources to produce more virus, killing the host cells, and ultimately, if something doesn't stop it, killing the host and thereby killing the virus.

What does this represent? This represents sin—the law of sin and death—taking for self rather than giving of self destroys and leads to death! This is all based on design law—either living in harmony with it or violating it.

Satan has infected the minds of humans with his virus of fear and selfishness and the entire penal substitutionary lie of salvation which further infects the hearts of humans and instead of bringing life and restoration brings suffering and death.

The lesson says, —~~Here~~ we see a glimpse of the significance of being created in God's image.”

What does it mean to be created in God's image? How are we in God's image?

What do you think of this quote from the book Education:

When Adam came from the Creator's hand, he bore, in his physical, mental, and spiritual nature, a likeness to his Maker. "God created man in His own image" (Genesis 1:27), and it was His purpose that the longer man lived the more fully he should reveal this image--the more fully reflect the glory of the Creator. All his faculties were capable of development; their capacity and vigor were continually to increase. [What is capacity and vigor? Do our capacity and vigor continually increase? Why not? When we think of heaven, do we think of a place where our capacity and vigor increase eternally?] Vast was the scope offered for their exercise, glorious the field opened to their research. The mysteries of the visible universe--the "wondrous works of Him which is perfect in knowledge" (Job 37:16)--invited man's study. Face-to-face, heart-to-heart communion with his Maker was his high privilege. Had he remained loyal to God, all this would have been his forever. Throughout eternal ages he would have continued to gain new treasures of knowledge, to discover fresh springs of happiness, and to obtain clearer and yet clearer conceptions of the wisdom, the power, and the love of God. More and more fully would he have fulfilled the object of his creation, more and more fully have reflected the Creator's glory. {Ed 15.1}

But by disobedience this was forfeited. Through sin the divine likeness was marred, and well-nigh obliterated. [How? How has God's image been nearly obliterated? In what ways?] Man's physical powers were weakened, his mental capacity was lessened, his spiritual vision dimmed. He had become subject to death. Yet the race was not left without hope. [What hope?

What do you think? What would be necessary to save a species deviant from the design and decaying into death? Does such a state sound like it needs a legal solution?] By infinite love and mercy the plan of salvation had been devised, and a life of probation was granted. [Probation—what does this mean? Probation like legal probation, or something else? What was the purpose of the probationary existence?] To restore in man the image of his Maker, to bring him back to the perfection in which he was created, to promote the development of body, mind, and soul, that the divine purpose in his creation might be realized--this was to be the work of redemption. [Does this sound legal? In fact, does the legal theories of salvation bring the vision of restoration, recreation, regeneration more clearly to light, or does it obscure it? It is Satan's goal to obscure and obstruct God's true plan behind his lies and distortions—often presented in the guise of religious piety.] This is the object of education, the great object of life. {Ed 15.2}

Love, the basis of creation and of redemption, is the basis of true education. [What does it mean—love the basis of creation?] This is made plain in the law that God has given as the guide of life. The first and great commandment is, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind." Luke 10:27. To love Him, the infinite, the omniscient One, with the whole strength, and mind, and heart, means the highest development of every power. It means that in the whole being--the body, the mind, as well as the soul--the image of God is to be restored. {Ed 16.1}

What do you hear? What does it mean to be in God's image? What is the basis of life? What is the basis of death? What is necessary to restore God's image? What type of law is being described?

Can we have God's image restored within us without having God's law of love restored within us?

Can we have God's law of love restored if we cling to and practice human imposed law constructs? Thus penal substitution, which is based upon human imposed law constructs, is an obstacle to restoring God's image within us! We must reject it and have this deep infection, this deep distortion purged from our theology, teachings, churches and schools if we ever want to fulfill our end-time mission to take the true picture of God to the world!

What about this quote:

Adam and Eve were formed in the image of God. But Satan worked constantly to destroy the divine similitude. The holy pair yielded to temptation, and God's image was obliterated. Christ put His hand a second time to the work. He would recreate human beings. [How? What method? What was necessary?] When the fullness of time came, God sent forth His Son. [Why did Christ come to earth? Why did He partake of humanity? To fix what Adam's sin did, to restore the species human back to God's original design. This is not penal legal, this is design!] Hear, O heaven, and be astonished, O earth! The appointed Instructor appears, and He is no other than the Son of God; His divinity was clothed with humanity. {Christ Triumphant 221.3}

Christ came to reveal perfection amid the imperfection of a world corrupted by disobedience and sin. The eternal Word appeared in human form, bringing with Him all grace, all healing, all efficiency. [What did He bring? What was necessary to heal and restore this creation back into God's original design!] He brought with Him the bread of life, which, if received, will be to us as the tree of life. The Inspired Word declares of this Teacher, —For Moses truly said unto the fathers, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me; him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever he shall say unto you. And it shall come to pass, that every soul, which will not hear that prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people.” {CTr 221.4}

The question of how to obtain a knowledge of God is to all a life-and-death question.[How? What method?] Read Christ's prayer to His Father, intended not merely as an important lesson in education for the disciples, but to come down through all time for the benefit of those who would read the Inspired Writings. —Father,” He prayed, —the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee: as thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him. And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent.”Manuscript 15, 1898. {CTr 221.5}

Read last paragraph, —The third blessing given...” If the Sabbath was given at the end of creation week of planet earth, did it exist before that time? If it didn't exist before that time why do some people say the Sabbath is eternal? Why do some say the 10 Commandments are eternal?

What is eternal? God is eternal, and God's law of love, the protocols upon which all creation is built is eternal.

Why was there no Sabbath before earth was created? Because it wasn't needed, why wasn't it needed? Because the allegations about God, the war over God's trustworthiness had not started and therefore the Sabbath as evidence of God's methods was not necessary.

What does the Sabbath reveal? That God presents truth in love and leaves us free. The Sabbath is proof that God does not coerce, but leaves all beings free. The Sabbath is evidence of God's character, methods and our genuine freedom in His government. And, because of the war, the Sabbath will stand through all eternity future as evidence of God's character and His creation here on earth.

The lesson suggests the Sabbath is evidence that people are more than animals?

Were instructions given that animals were to also rest on the Sabbath?

Which is a bigger gap, the relationship gap between you and your dog, or you and God?

Were animals made, designed by God, for us to have relationships with?

Would the Sabbath be a day in which it is appropriate to relate to our animals as well as to God?

Did our relationship with God get broken? When?

Did our relationships with the animal kingdom get broken? When?

Is the Sabbath of any benefit in helping us move back toward God and experiencing life as God designed? How?

Adam and Eve were given responsibility to care for the earth and all the creatures in it—what does this reveal?

If we are in God's image and are to govern the earth as God governs the universe how will we treat the animals?

Consider this next quotation for two purposes, one for what it says about how we treat animals, and second for the description of the future of those who are cruel to animals—what do we understand the description to mean and why is it described like this?

Suffering and death were thus entailed, not only upon the human race, but upon the animals. Surely, then, it becomes man to seek to lighten, instead of increasing, the weight of suffering which his transgression has brought upon God's creatures. He who will abuse animals because he has them in his power is both a coward and a tyrant. {2MCP 514.2}

A disposition to cause pain, whether to our fellowmen or to the brute creation, is satanic. Many do not realize that their cruelty will ever be known, because the poor dumb animals cannot reveal it. But could the eyes of these men be opened, as were those of Balaam, they would see an angel of God standing as a witness to testify against them in the courts above. A record goes up to heaven, and a day is coming when judgment will be pronounced against those who abuse God's creatures.--PP 443 (1890). {2MCP 514.3}

Do we have a disposition to be cruel to animals? Why are we not to be cruel to animals?

What do you think about the language of a courtroom used here? Does that mean there is a legal courtroom in heaven and God's law functions like our laws?

No—to whom is such a description written? For those who are cruel to animals—and what level of moral development would such a person be? Level 1, and what is the only thing such persons respond to? Power and threats of punishment. This is not a description of the exact method and means of how heaven works, but a description penned for the reader who is cruel to animals to connote the idea that they cannot get away with such cruelty, that they will suffer for what they have done—but written in a way that will most likely bring a conviction and lead to repentance.

But it is true, there is a record, an exact record of each person's character recorded in the heavenly servers. Angels do stand witness in the royal courts of heaven to all that has transpired here upon earth. And there will be a day when all will be accurately judged—also known as diagnosed—let him who is wicked be wicked still and him who is righteous be righteous still.

MONDAY

The lesson title is Test at the Tree—what do you think when you hear this title? What ideas come to mind?

What kind of God is conveyed?

Which law lens do you hear this title through?

What was the purpose of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil?

What are the possibilities?

- Because God didn't know what they would do and thus God needed a means whereby God could discover whether they were loyal to Him or not? Is this the purpose of the Tree? Clearly NOT!
- Because God wanted to provide them a means to develop their capacities and solidify their characters.
 - God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automaton. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character... It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. E.G. White, Conflict and Courage 33

What law is involved in the issue of the Tree? Is it imposed law or design law?

- Those who look through imposed law lenses see an arbitrary test of obedience to rules, which requires infliction of punishment if one breaks the rules. Such a conclusion is false and is evidence that the one who holds it goes to the story with the false belief that God's law functions like human laws, rules imposed that require enforcement.
 - Thus they teach that God threw them out of the Garden as an imposed punishment for their disobedience—why is this horribly wrong?
 - Because it misrepresents God's actions of love, grace, mercy and redemption to be those of a brutal dictator and stern judge
 - God did not throw them out of the Garden to punish, but to redeem—how and why? What would have happened if sinners would have access to the Tree of Life? Would sin and suffering have been reduced? Would selfishness be cured? Or would the world be more horribly corrupted? Would suffering be extended? So, the expulsion from the Garden, was not punishment, it was therapeutic and merciful to REDUCE pain and suffering!
- The law involved at the Tree of Knowledge was not imposed law, it was Design law—it was the law of exertion:
 - Strength comes by exercise. All who put to use the ability that God has given them, will have increased ability to devote to his service. Those who do nothing in the cause of God will fail to grow in grace and in the knowledge of the truth. If a man should lie down and refuse to exercise his limbs, he would soon lose all power to use them. Thus the Christian who will not use his God-given powers, not only fails to grow up into Christ, but loses the strength which he already had; he becomes a spiritual paralytic. It is those who, with love for God and for their fellow men, are striving to help others, that become established, strengthened, settled in the truth. The true Christian works for God, not from impulse, but from principle; not for a day or a month, but during the entire life. {RH, May 23, 1912 par. 13}

Thus our Creator God, provided the simplest of means for them to think through the issues, exercise their abilities and mature and grow in godliness. But instead they believed a lie!

Thus the Tree was another manifestation of God's character of love!

Read last paragraph, —The division..." Do you hear the slant put on the quote? That God needed to see—as if God didn't already know. No, this was not for God to see, it was for them to exercise and grow, for them to test their abilities and choose the right thus strengthening their characters.

TUESDAY

What did Satan do to get them to fall? Was it a temptation of appetite? Adam and Eve were starving, hunger pangs were overwhelming and they just couldn't resist them?

Was it a temptation of intoxication—like psychedelic mushrooms? What was the temptation?

It was one of distrusting God's character—believing the lie that God was not good and could not be trusted and therefore they had to act to protect and promote themselves!

Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors, and it was only by repentance toward God and faith in the promised Messiah that they could hope ever to regain the lost image of God. {RH, January 5, 1886 par. 8}

Through belief in Satan's misrepresentation of God, man's character and destiny were changed, but if men will believe in the Word of God, they will be transformed in mind and character, and fitted for eternal life. To believe that "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16), will change the heart, and reproduce in man the image of God. {1SM 346.1}

The taking of the fruit was merely the behavioral outcome of believing the lie about God.

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- Broken love and trust results in fear and selfishness
- Fear and selfishness results in destructive behavior (sins)
- Destructive acts damage mind, character, body—terminal condition

- Truth about God believed destroys lies and wins to trust
- Restored trust open heart and love poured in driving out fear and selfishness
- Restored love and trust results in acts of righteousness, sharing, giving, love and service
- Acts of righteousness results in growing in Godliness and witnessing God's kingdom

But it all starts with coming back to the truth about God—which requires we reject the false imposed human law construct with its false legal salvation theology known as penal substitution.

WEDNESDAY

Read third paragraph, —Eve became overwhelmed...” Genesis 3:7 states, —Then the eyes of both of them were opened, and they realized they were naked; so they sewed fig leaves together and made coverings for themselves.”

What are the possible meanings to —they realized they were naked?”

- Their robes of light were gone and their bodies were not covered
- Their pure hearts were gone and they were conscious of guilt and shame and became self-focused thus noticing they were naked
- Under conviction of their own consciences they experienced fear and became self-focused and afraid and their souls/characters were naked and open without excuse, but this was displaced into their bodies and they tried to cover their naked bodies?

The lesson asks what they saw when their eyes were opened? What do you think they saw? They saw imperfection—why? Because all around them was filled with defects or because they now viewed reality through a different mental lens, one of fear and threat assessment, insecurity?

Why did they try and sew fig leaves together to cover themselves?

Why were they ashamed—was it because of physical deformity? Did they look in the mirror and see scars, lesions, deformity? What was deformed? Their characters! If they were still perfect in their minds, hearts, characters, would they have been ashamed?

How did God respond?

Did God condemn them? No—He called out to them and asked who told them they were naked—in other words God is saying, —Adam, you didn’t hear me mention you were naked. I am not the one pointing it out. It is your own conscience Adam!”

Then God went about initiating His plan to fix what Adam broke! How?

Read fourth paragraph in THURSDAY’s lesson, —There had to be...” Did anything strike you as questionable?

The lesson stated, —So, God provided an animal sacrifice to point to the Savior.” This sounds almost reasonable—in fact this is so close to being right that most Christians accept it without question. They even cite a Bible text to support this claim. But let’s check the Scripture for ourselves to see what it actually says:

The Lord God made garments of skin for Adam and his wife and clothed them. Genesis 3:21

Does the text say God sacrificed an animal? Which is harder for God to do, create a living animal, or create a non-living skin of an animal?

If one wants to believe God sacrificed an animal here, one has to project that belief into the text because the Bible doesn’t actual say this.

Further, does the Bible even say it was an animal skin? If we want to project things into the text that are not there, we could just as easily project in that God provided a human skin, or an angel skin—I am NOT saying that is what happened, only that if we go down the trail of introducing ideas not in the text we can introduce all kinds of ideas.

Why would the authors, and so many Christians, assume that God killed an animal to provide them skins? What kind of God would kill to do this? Why would they think it would be done?

Because they have the view that God is the source of inflicted death as the just punishment for sin, and the animal would represent Christ and God would have to execute Christ in our place in order to provide us with salvation.

But this is all based on Satan's version of God's law. When one comes back to design law one realizes that God doesn't have to inflict death, God has to introduce life into a system that is already dying and it is not accidental that God provides a covering of skin WITHOUT God acting to kill. Jesus did not act to kill in order to provide us with a perfect robe of righteousness, Jesus surrendered Himself in love—Satan acted to kill! I do not think it is an oversight or accidental that the Bible describes God providing them a covering WITHOUT God acting to kill!

We must think critically, and question the so many deeply imbedding assumptions that sound so close to being true, but are yet based on the lie that God's law operates like human laws.

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 3

In last week's lesson we ended right before we got to a point that I think is worthy of our spending a moment to discuss.

In the fourth paragraph of Lesson Two THURSDAY's lesson it states: —There had to be another way to ensure the future of the human race. So, God provided an animal sacrifice to point to the Savior. (Gen 3:21)”

Did anything strike you as questionable about this?

This sounds almost reasonable—in fact this is so close to being right that most Christians accept it without question. The authors even cite a Bible text to support this idea that God provided an animal sacrifice. But let's check the Scripture for ourselves to see what it actually says:

The Lord God made garments of skin for Adam and his wife and clothed them. Genesis 3:21

Does this text say anything about God sacrificing an animal? Which is harder to do, create a living animal or create a non-living skin of an animal?

If one wants to believe God sacrificed an animal here, one has to project that idea into the text because the Bible doesn't actual say this.

Further, does the Bible even say it was an animal skin? If we want to project things into the text that are not there, we could just as easily project in that God provided a human skin, or an angel skin—I am NOT saying that is what happened, only that if we go down the trail of introducing ideas not in the text we can introduce all kinds of ideas.

Why would the authors, and so many Christians, assume that God killed an animal to provide Adam and Eve skins? What kind of God would kill to do this? Why would they think it would be done in this way?

Because they have the view that God is the source of inflicted death as the just punishment for sin, and the animal would represent Christ and God would have to execute Christ in our place in order to provide us with salvation.

But this is all based on Satan's version of God's law. When one comes back to design law one realizes that God does NOT have to inflict death, God has to introduce life into a system that is already dying! Remember the Scripture says we are dead in trespass and sin.

I do not think the Biblical description of God providing a covering of skin WITHOUT God acting to kill is accidental. Jesus did not act to kill in order to provide us with a perfect robe of righteousness, Jesus surrendered Himself in love—Satan acted to kill! I do not think it is an oversight or an accident that the Bible describes God providing them a covering WITHOUT God acting to kill!

We must think critically and question the many deeply imbedded assumptions that sound so close to being true, but are yet based on the lie that God's law operates like human laws.

Here is how one of the founders of the SDA church describes the first animal sacrifice:

The sacrificial offerings were ordained by God to be to man a perpetual reminder and a penitential acknowledgment of his sin and a confession of his faith in the promised Redeemer. They were intended to impress upon the fallen race the solemn truth that it was sin that caused death. To Adam, the offering of the first sacrifice was a most painful ceremony. His hand must be raised to take life, which only God could give. It was the first time he had ever witnessed death, and he knew that had he been obedient to God, there would have been no death of man or beast. As he slew the innocent victim, he trembled at the thought that his sin must shed the blood of the spotless Lamb of God. This scene gave him a deeper and more vivid sense of the greatness of his transgression, which nothing but the death of God's dear Son could expiate. And he marveled at the infinite goodness that would give such a ransom to save the guilty. A star of hope illumined the dark and terrible future and relieved it of its utter desolation. {PP 68.1}

In encourage you, when you hear this idea, that God killed the first animal to provide skins for Adam and Eve, to challenge it. Confront, gently, those who teach this idea. It might seem like something minor, but it isn't because the idea is based on an entire false understanding of God's character, law, government, the problem with sin and its solution.

On to this week's lesson...

Global Rebellion and the Patriarchs

I received this email this week:

Re: The Remedy

I would like to tell you how much I have been enjoying this version! I have been so frustrated with versions that do not talk in our language. I frustratedly say to my husband - how am I supposed to understand this stuff? Then along comes this and I love it.

Have been an Adventist for my life - am 53. Grown kids who we dragged to church all their little lives. "Doing" what we thought was best to appease an angry God (at the time).

Had a life crash - and thought I would never stop crying. Had left God cause he just seemed like another complication I could not deal with.

While crying one night on my living room floor in the wee hours of the morning, either Jesus or an Angel - someone came to me in a sweet, calm voice that was not outward but inward?? Don't know quite how to explain it really? But, I most definitely heard it say, "What about Jesus?" - I stopped my crying and lifted my head off the floor - I said, Lord? Is that You? I don't honestly know how to explain this - but, my whole heart turned away from my troubles and went all out to Him - and I said/prayed - Lord please, show me who You are.

And in short - He did.

I was surprised at the things He was showing me in my armchair at home alone??! I would often say to Him - how could this be? Lord if I am wrong - please show me.

He just kept sweetly, gently - leading me along. He opened up to me His Character - just me and Him. I would keep asking Him - how could this be? How could the Church not know this?? I kept on following - although sometimes weak kneed I must admit.

Then finally - I met someone - a couple of people actually - a family who was teaching what God alone was showing me! I heard them with my ears open - then along comes another and another. I praised God.

Now - I have The Remedy - it is perfectly what God was showing me alone in my armchair at home!

All this to say - Thank you brother - super thank you bunches ~

Your Sister in the Living God,

Then I received another email:

I have listened to the first lesson of the new quarter and find your explanation compelling. Your teaching of the lesson is the first one I listen to every week. I study and make notes of the daily lesson for myself and usually also listen to one or two other teachers who teach the same lesson. At the same time I find your bashing of those who disagree with you within the denomination disturbing. The comments you made about the nearby educational institution in this first lesson I thought were those of airing dirty laundry. It makes me reluctant to share your teaching with non Adventist friends. Thank you for reading my comments and concerns.

I want to thank the person who wrote this because it made me step back and examine myself, prayerfully, and I realized the reason I sometimes have occasional critical comments leak out is because I am no better or different than what I am criticizing. All of us who have accepted Jesus and are cooperating with Him are a mixture of His strength and our weakness, His Remedy and our sickness—the University I was criticizing is the same a mixture of God’s grace, purposed to help promote His message, and filled with human weakness. I hate my own weakness and any remnants of sin left unhealed by God’s grace. I hope you will be patient with me and pray for me as I continue to grow in God’s grace.

SABBATH

The lesson makes a very bold and accurate statement in paragraph three, –Sin not only distorts creation, it destroys it.”

This is a statement based on design law—and it is absolutely right—it is right by our observation and experience, it is right by science, and it is right by Scripture. All three threads of evidence confirm this.

And it stands in contrast to the idea from last week's lesson that God killed the first sacrifice—no God did NOT!

If sin is the source of death, then why do so many Christians teach God is the source of destruction and death?

Because God has been lied about and the lies have been extremely effective and are accepted without thought to be true.

What are the arguments people use to continue to teach that God is the source of inflicted death?

The primary arguments stem around the themes of justice, fairness and sovereignty. Those who hold to the view that God is the enforcer and inflictor of death as punishment for sin, do so because they misunderstand God's law, justice and sovereignty.

They still think through the lens of human laws and falsely believe God operates like we do. Thus, they want to believe God is strong, in control, and fair, so they adamantly teach that God must hold tribunals, keep track of deeds, and inflict pain, suffering and death.

But the lesson is right, just as the Bible teaches, the wages of sin is death, sin when full grown brings forth death—it is sin, which is deviation from how life is built to operate, that damages and destroys. Not God!

SUNDAY

Cain and Abel—what questions or concerns come to your mind when you think of this story?

Why do you think Cain acted like he did? Why was he hardened against God? Is it possible Cain came to the sacrifice with an assumption about God that was wrong?

What did Cain do for a living? Farmer, what had God said about the ground after sin?

–Cursed is the ground because of you; through painful toil you will eat of it all the days of your life. ¹⁸ It will produce thorns and thistles for you, and you will eat the plants of the field. ¹⁹ By the sweat of your brow you will eat your food until you return to the ground, since from it you were taken; for dust you are and to dust you will return.” Gen 3:17-19

Did Cain understand this, as many do today, as God inflicting a curse upon the ground and thus Cain blamed God and found God to be untrustworthy? Did Cain have a view of God as a being who had a law that required him to punish those who disobey and thus while Cain believed in God he didn’t trust God and it was manifest in how he worshipped? Does this happen today?

Cain and Abel, the sons of Adam, were very unlike in character. Abel feared God. Cain cherished rebellious feelings, and murmured against God because of the curse pronounced upon Adam, and because the ground was cursed for his sin. 1SP 54

Who did Cain blame for the curse? And what did choosing to view God as a curser, an inflictor of curses, do to Cain’s attitude?

Those who oppose what we teach hold the same view of God. At the GC I spoke to two individuals who are active in their specific work of targeting me and our ministry. They go around claiming I teach heresy. They specifically site examples like this that God did use His power to curse the ground to punish Adam and Eve for sin. This is what Cain thought, and what kind of worship did it result in? Rebellion. This is how rebellion began in heaven, by Satan getting intelligences to believe God’s law is a system of arbitrary rules that require God to punish.

But from where did the curse upon earth’s harvest and productivity arise – from God inflicting it or from earth deviating from God’s design and being infected with Satan’s principle of selfishness?

Christ never planted the seeds of death in the system. Satan planted these seeds when he tempted Adam to eat of the tree of knowledge which meant disobedience to God. Not one noxious plant was placed in the Lord's great garden, but after Adam and Eve sinned, poisonous herbs sprang up. In the parable of the sower the question was asked the master, "Didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?" The master answered, "An enemy hath done this" (Matthew 13:27, 28). All tares are sown by the evil one. Every noxious herb is of his sowing, and by his ingenious methods of amalgamation he has corrupted the earth with tares. {2SM 288.2}

If Cain would have understood the truth about God’s law, that it is design law, and that the curse was not inflicted by God, it was announced or diagnosed by God as the natural result of nature deviating from His design, then Cain might have trusted God and not murdered his brother!

How many religious people through history and even today are caught in the same trap?

Here is another quote from one of the founders of our church:

These two brothers, Cain and Abel, represent the whole human family. They were both tested on the point of obedience, and all will be tested as they were. Abel bore the proving of God. He revealed the gold of a righteous character, the principles of true godliness. But Cain's religion had not a good foundation; it rested on human merit. He brought to God something in which he had a personal interest,--the fruits of the ground, which had been cultivated by his toil; and he presented his offering as a favor done to God, through which he expected to secure the divine approval. {ST, December 23, 1886 par. 1}

Do you notice that Cain had a works oriented religion—why? Because he didn't trust God—why? Because he believed the lie that God is the inflictor of punishment against sin! Continuing the quote...

In the case of Cain and Abel we have a type of two classes that will exist in the world till the close of time; and this type is worthy of close study. There is a marked difference in the characters of these two brothers, and the same difference is seen in the human family today. Cain represents those who carry out the principles and works of Satan, by worshipping God in a way of their own choosing. [Notice the author doesn't say by not worshipping God. These followers of Satan are religious and do worship, but they worship a God who operates in the manner Satan has ascribed. In other words they worship a false god!] Like the leader whom they follow, they are willing to render partial obedience, but not entire submission to God. Man, in the pride of his heart, would like to believe that he can confer some favor upon God; that our heavenly Father may be the receiver, and not always the giver. But God will not be bribed. [This is exactly what Penal Substitution Theology teaches, that God must be bribed, only the payment is something too expensive for us to procure through our own efforts. The payment required is the blood of His Son—which humans must get to take to God by killing God's Son when He comes to save us. In this false theory God must be paid by the Son's blood or else He will kill us. This is Satan's infection, the lie of imposed law! Oh, they will say God is the giver in that God gave His Son, but they deny the split in the Godhead their theology causes.] He says: "Every beast of the forest is mine, and the cattle upon a thousand hills." "If I were hungry, I would not tell thee; for the world is mine, and the fullness thereof." Man has nothing to give that he has not first received from God. {ST, December 23, 1886 par. 7}

The Cain class of worshipers includes by far the largest number; for every false religion that has been invented has been based on the Cain principle, that man can depend upon his own merits and righteousness for salvation. {ST, December 23, 1886 par. 8} thoughts?

The classic way this is presented is that Cain represents those who do some work themselves and offer this work to God in order to pay for their sin. What type of system would such a worshipper be operating under?

A system similar to our own, in which the government takes from the people, in which the laws are imposed and in which coercion takes place. Such a government requires lawbreakers to pay their debt to society. Thus, when one holds this type of governmental operation in mind one can fall into the trap of trying to work one's way to heaven.

But, what is another trap of this type of bias? The Penal Substitutionary Theory—that the government does require a debt payment, only it is beyond us to pay and so Jesus, who owes no debt, pays our debt to His Father and we can come to the Father by offering the Father the legal blood payment of His Son.

MONDAY

The Flood—any questions about the Flood? Many questions come to my mind about this event.

Here is a description of the world leading up to the flood, the reason for the flood and the event itself by one Christian author in the book The Spirit of Prophecy Volume 1, consider some of these possibilities:

The curse did not change at once the appearance of the earth. It was still rich in the bounty God had provided for it. There were gold and silver in abundance. The race of men then living was of very great stature, and possessed wonderful strength. The trees were vastly larger, and far surpassing in beauty and perfect proportions anything mortals can now look upon. The wood of these trees was of fine grain and hard substance --in this respect more like stone. It required much more time and labor, even of that powerful race, to prepare the timber for building, than it requires in this degenerate age to prepare trees that are now growing upon the earth, even with the present weaker strength men now possess. These trees were of great durability, and would know nothing of decay for very many years... {1SP 66.3}

The people used the gold, silver, precious stones, and choice wood, in building houses for themselves, each striving to excel the other. They beautified and adorned their houses and lands with the most ingenious works, and provoked God by their wicked deeds. They formed images to worship, and taught their children to regard these pieces of workmanship made with their own hands, as gods, and to worship them. They did not choose to think of God, the creator of the heavens and the earth, and rendered no grateful thanks to him who had provided them all the things which they possessed. They even denied the existence of the God of Heaven, and gloried in, and worshiped, the works of their own hands. They corrupted themselves with those things which God had placed upon the earth for man's benefit. They prepared for themselves beautiful walks, overhung with fruit trees of every description. Under these majestic and lovely trees, with their wide-spread branches, which were green from the commencement of the year to its close, they placed their idols of worship. Whole groves, because of the shelter of their branches, were dedicated to their idol gods, and made attractive for the people to resort to for their idolatrous worship. {1SP 67.2}

Instead of doing justice to their neighbors, they carried out their own unlawful wishes. They had a plurality of wives, which was contrary to God's wise arrangement. In the beginning, God gave to Adam one wife--showing to all who should live upon the earth, his order and law in that respect. The transgression and fall of Adam and Eve brought sin and wretchedness upon the human race, and man followed his own carnal desires, and changed God's order. The more men multiplied wives to themselves, the more they increased in wickedness and unhappiness. If any one chose to take the wives, or cattle, or anything belonging to his neighbor, he did not regard justice or right, but if he could prevail over his neighbor by reason of strength, or by putting him to death, he did so, and exulted in his deeds of violence. They loved to destroy the lives of animals. They used them for food, and this increased their ferocity and violence, and caused them to look upon the blood of human beings with astonishing indifference. {1SP 68.1}

But if there was one sin above another which called for the destruction of the race by the flood, [what might it be?] it was the base crime [note what comes next in the context of this use of a legal word –crime” but note what kind of law is being violated in this crime and what the problem was in doing so] of amalgamation of man and beast which defaced the image of God, and caused confusion everywhere. God purposed to destroy by a flood that powerful, long-lived race that had corrupted their ways before him. He would not suffer them to live out the days of their natural life, which would be hundreds of years. [Some argue the flood was an infliction of angry wrath to punish sin. I think it was a therapeutic intervention to reduce pain, suffering, sin, and keep open the channel for Messiah] It was only a few generations back when Adam had access to that tree which was to prolong life. After his disobedience he was not suffered to eat of the tree of life and perpetuate a life of sin. [Why was man barred from the tree of life? As punishment for sin? No! It was as a mercy, a therapeutic intervention to reduce sin. And this is the same reason for the flood! In addition to keeping open the channel for Messiah!] In order for man to possess an endless life he must continue to eat of the fruit of the tree of life. Deprived of that tree, his life would gradually wear out... [Why would humans die? Decay! What did the tree of life prevent? Entropy, decay, wearing out. The tree of life would not have prevented beheading, incineration, nuclear vaporization—i.e. all death, only natural death] {1SP 69.1}

Noah and his family were not alone in fearing and obeying God. But Noah was the most pious and holy of any upon the earth, and was the one whose life God preserved to carry out his will in building the ark and warning the world of its coming doom. Methuselah, the grandfather of Noah, lived until the very year of the flood; and there were others who believed the preaching of Noah, and aided him in building the ark, who died before the flood of waters came upon the earth. Noah, by his preaching and example in building the ark, condemned the world. God gave all who chose an opportunity to repent and turn to him. [Did God really? Then why didn't He have Noah build more arks? Because God foreknew their choices] But they believed not the preaching of Noah. They mocked at his warnings, and ridiculed the building of that immense vessel on dry land. Noah's efforts to reform his fellow-men did not succeed. But for more than one hundred years he persevered in his efforts to turn men to repentance and to God. Every blow struck upon the ark was preaching to the people. Noah directed, he preached, he worked, while the people looked on in amazement, and regarded him as a fanatic... {1SP 70.1}

The period of their probation was drawing near its close. The unbelieving, scoffing inhabitants of the world were to have a special sign of God's divine power... [What sign?] Angels were sent to collect from the forest and field the beasts which God had created. Angels went before these animals and they followed, two and two, male and female, and clean beasts by sevens. These beasts, from the most ferocious, down to the most gentle and harmless, peacefully and solemnly marched into the ark. The sky seemed clouded with birds of every description. They came flying to the ark, two and two, male and female, and the clean birds by sevens. The world looked on with wonder—some with fear, but they had become so hardened by rebellion that this most signal manifestation of God's power had but a momentary influence upon them. [Is it credible to believe that people could be so hardened such a manifestation would have no impact on them? What about those who came to arrest Christ and saw divinity flash through humanity and then saw him put the ear back on the High Priest's servant after Peter cut it off?] For seven days these animals were coming into the ark, and Noah was arranging them in the places prepared for them. {1SP 71.3}

And as the doomed race beheld the sun shining in its glory, and the earth clad in almost its Eden beauty, they drove away their rising fears by boisterous merriment; [How many people when truth brings conviction drown out the conviction by amusement, partying, intoxication, TV, video games or other distractions?] and by their deeds of violence seemed to be encouraging upon themselves the visitation of the already awakened wrath of God. [What do we understand God's wrath to be? No longer holding back the reaping of the destruction one's actions have chosen] {1SP 72.1}

Everything was now ready for the closing of the ark, which could not have been done by Noah from within. An angel is seen by the scoffing multitude descending from Heaven, clothed with brightness like the lightning. He closes that massive outer door, and then takes his course upward to Heaven again. [Thoughts? What would you think if you saw an angel descend from heaven and re-ascend?] Seven days were the family of Noah in the ark before the rain began to descend upon the earth. In this time they were arranging for their long stay while the waters should be upon the earth. And these were days of blasphemous merriment by the unbelieving multitude. [why? Were they trying to drown out their fears and misgivings?] They thought because the prophecy of Noah was not fulfilled immediately after he entered the ark, that he was deceived, and that it was impossible that the world could be destroyed by a flood. Previous to this there had been no rain upon the earth. A mist had risen from the waters, which God caused to descend at night like dew, reviving vegetation and causing it to flourish. {1SP 72.2}

Notwithstanding the solemn exhibition they had witnessed of God's power—[which was what?] of the unnatural occurrence of the beasts' leaving the forests and fields, and going into the ark, and the angel of God clothed with brightness, and terrible in majesty, descending from Heaven and closing the door; yet they hardened their hearts, and continued to revel and sport over the signal manifestations of divine power. But upon the eighth day the heavens gathered blackness. The muttering thunders, and vivid lightning flashes, began to terrify man and beast. The rain descended from the clouds above them. This was something they had never witnessed, and their hearts began to faint with fear. The beasts were roving about in the wildest terror, and their discordant voices seemed to moan out their own destiny and the fate of man. The storm increased in violence until water seemed to come from heaven like mighty cataracts. The boundaries of rivers broke away, and the waters rushed to the valleys. The foundations of the great deep also were broken up. Jets of water would burst up from the earth with indescribable force, throwing massive rocks hundreds of feet into the air, and then they would bury themselves deep in the earth. {1SP 73.1}

The people first beheld the destruction, of the works of their hands. Their splendid buildings, their beautifully-arranged gardens and groves, where they had placed their idols, were destroyed by lightning from heaven. Their ruins were scattered everywhere. They had erected altars in groves, and consecrated them to their idols, whereon they offered human sacrifices. These which God detested were torn down in his wrath before them, and they were made to tremble before the power of the living God, the Maker of the heavens and the earth, and they were made to know that it was their abominations and horrible, idolatrous sacrifices, which had called for their destruction. {1SP 74.1}

The violence of the storm increased, and there were mingled with the warring of the elements, the wailings of the people who had despised the authority of God. Trees, buildings, rocks, and earth, were hurled in every direction. The terror of man and beast was beyond description. And even Satan himself, who was compelled to be amid the warring elements, feared for his own existence. [Why? What was happening? Did Satan fear for his existence because God was acting to destroy? Or, was God releasing His restraining hand over the laws of nature and Satan, who was the god these idolaters worshipped, was incapable of stabilizing nature and sustaining the earth. It would be like a person trying to hold a exploding grenade in their hands. He [Satan] had delighted to control so powerful a race, and wished them to live to practice their abominations, and increase their rebellion against the God of Heaven. He uttered imprecations against God, charging him with injustice and cruelty. [who did Satan blame? What was Satan's view of why this was happening? Because God was acting to inflict it as punishment and cruelty] Many of the people, like Satan, blasphemed God, and if they could have carried out their rebellion, would have torn him from the throne of justice...Angels that excel in strength guided the ark and preserved it from harm. Every moment during that frightful storm of forty days and forty nights the preservation of the ark was a miracle of almighty power. {1SP 74.2}

The bottom of the lesson states, –Either our life is blotted out, or our sins are. How does this stark reality show just how black-and-white the issues really are?”

Any questions come to mind? Is it black and white? Are there questions?

- What is sin? How do you define it?
 - breaking rules or deviating from God's design?
- Why is the life of the unrepentant sinner blotted out? How is it blotted out?
- How is sin blotted out, and from where is sin blotted out?
- Who does the blotting out?

- What is used to blot out the sin?
 - Sin at its root has two elements—lies and selfishness
 - Sin is blotted out of our characters/minds/hearts by the truth and by the love of God, which are both found in the character of Christ
 - Thus we are to be partakers of the Divine Nature,
 - This is the meaning of partaking the bread and wine or the flesh and blood of the sacrifice, the flesh represents the truth and the blood represents the life (character of love)

TUESDAY

Read fourth paragraph, “It was to impress Abraham’s...” What does this mean? Was the test of Abraham to provide evidence to God that God needed, that God didn’t somehow already know—“I wonder what Abraham will do?” Or to provide Abraham the test Abraham needed to achieve the victory and experience beneficial to Abraham while simultaneously revealing this transforming process to heavenly beings who cannot read hearts and minds and who don’t know the future?

Consider this quotation from My Life Today:

A refining, purifying process is going on among the people of God, and the Lord of hosts has set His hand to this work. This process is most trying to the soul, but it is necessary in order that defilement may be removed. Trials are essential in order that we may be brought close to our heavenly Father, in submission to His will, that we may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness. . . . The Lord brings His children over the same ground again and again, increasing the pressure until perfect humility fills the mind, and the character is transformed; then they are victorious over self, and in harmony with Christ and the Spirit of heaven. The purification of God's people cannot be accomplished without suffering. . . . He passes us from one fire to another, testing our true worth. True grace is willing to be tried. If we are loath to be searched by the Lord, our condition is one of peril. . . . {ML 92.2}

Why can purification not be accomplished without suffering? Because it is a design law that once there is brokenness of any kind, there are no pain-free options!

We are broken and deformed by sin and the healing process is painful, but it is not harmful! Only those who trust God and will follow Him and His directions in their lives will experience the victory over their own broken selves.

This is because the healing we need requires our active participation, because it is healing of our inner selves. If we were not active participants, freely choosing the painful healing road, if God were to use divine power to simply create new characters in us—we, as unique beings, would cease to exist—we would be destroyed and new beings with new identities would be created to take our place.

Therefore, God brings us to places where we can face our own weakness and make choices in harmony with Him to achieve victory over our own weakness and establish firm and healthy character in union with Him. Understand, we CANNOT do this in our own strength—we must yoke up with Christ and only in that love/trust relationship can we then experience the victory over our own weaknesses of character.

Read last paragraph, –The sacrifice required...” Notice—Satan is the legalist, Satan is the one who focuses on behavior, deeds, actions, rules—also notice God didn’t do this so He could discover what Abraham would do, but because He knew what Abraham would do and this was for Abraham’s good as well as a witness to the unfallen beings!

WEDNESDAY

Jacob and Esau—any questions about their story?

Many people point to Cain and say things like God is very particular, if you don’t do what God says God will punish or God will condemn—well what about Jacob? Did Jacob do what God instructed?

Look at how the lesson describes it in the third paragraph, –Even though Jacob’s actions seemed to ignore God’s plan. God was still there for him.”

Why the –seemed” Why not say –even though Jacob ignored God’s plan?”

Is it because their model has a hard time describing God as being so particular in one place and not another?

What is the issue? What was the difference between Cain and Jacob? Very little if one focuses on behavior, which is what the legal religions always do. But there is a big difference if one looks past behavior to reality: Cain refused to trust God, Jacob trusted God but still struggled with his own selfishness. In other words, both were infected with selfishness—Jacob had symptoms of the condition but continued to partake the Remedy, Cain had symptoms and refused the Remedy!

THURSDAY

Joseph and his brothers—questions about their story?

Third paragraph states, “Then, when Joseph told his brothers about his dream (Gen 37:5-11), he incited even more hatred and envy against himself.”

Would it have been more helpful to add “inadvertently” before incited? The way this sentence is worded lends itself to be understood as putting blame on Joseph—but the blame is with the selfishness in the hearts of the brothers. What response would have the brothers’ have had for Joseph if they had loved him like Jesus loves us?

As we review all these stories what is the critical point the lesson has completely ignored?:

- Cain/Abel
- Flood
- Abraham’s life
- Jacob/Esau
- Joseph and his brothers

The context of the Great Controversy, with humanity being in a terminal condition and in absolute need of the promised Messiah! God is working to send Jesus to heal and save and Satan is working to oppose God. In every one of these stories you see this issue being played out:

- Cain kills Abel—the righteous brother—to destroy the potential avenue for Messiah
- Flood—the entire world hardened against God except one man
- Abraham—called to be the avenue for Messiah, so targeted to be diverted how?
 - Hagar and distrusting God
 - Lying about his wife
 - Going to war—don’t you think Satan hoped to lure Abraham to war so he could kill Abraham?
 - Yet, despite Abraham’s fallen humanity and shortcomings, he overcomes them in his relationship with God!
- Jacob/Esau—Satan tempts Jacob to cheat Esau in order to incite anger in Esau to kill Jacob and close the avenue for Messiah
- Joseph and his brothers—again to destroy the family of Jacob with a famine and close the avenue for Messiah

FRIDAY

In the middle of the lesson it states, —“Of course, Jesus came to earth to die; that was the whole point.”

Was it? Was the whole point for Jesus to die? Or was the point for Jesus to save and heal (Jn 3:17), and His death was the MEANS to achieve His goal?

Read and discuss the questions

Lesson 4 Q1 2016

Conflict and Crisis: The Judges

SABBATH

What was the origin of the “great controversy”? This question must be answered correctly in order to understand all of Scripture, Nature, & our experiences. Continue to ask yourself this question as we study this lesson and the remainder of the quarterly.

For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. I Cor 10: 3-5.

From the teacher’s quarterly:

“The story of Israel during the time of the judges is remarkable for its clear cycle of (1) apostasy, (2) oppression, (3) cry for help, and (4) divine intervention. Judges were individuals chosen by God as instruments to deliver Israel from its predicament at the hands of foreign powers. Deliverance took the form of actual military conflict. The great controversy was manifested in literal military terms. It is this theme of the great controversy that provides a lens through which to view the brutal, violent encounters that make modern sensibilities uneasy in the act of imagining how a loving God could sanction the killing of individuals or of populations.”

How does the “lens” of the great controversy help us understand the “brutal, violent encounters” of the children of Israel in the decades after Joshua’s death?

What “lens” does the lesson seem to be looking through?

What was God’s criteria for choosing one of His Judges?

Why were the “military conflicts” necessary at the time of the Judges? ***

What was God’s original intent? See Ex 23:28, Deut. 7:20, Joshua 24:12 for context.

From the teacher’s quarterly:

“Unlike most manifestations of the great controversy, which are spiritual in nature, we see actual military battles in the book of Judges. In this context, such hymns as “Onward Christian Soldiers” (The Seventh-day Adventist Hymnal, no. 612) take on a new meaning. Help your students to understand what it means to be a soldier for Christ, enlisted in His army to advance His kingdom and combat the forces of oppression and darkness.”

How are the “military battles in the book of Judges” manifestations of the great controversy? How are they misunderstood?

SUNDAY

Deborah

[pronounced neb-ee-yaw] feminine. a prophetess or inspired woman: by implication – a poetess; by association – a prophet’s wife. From Strong’s Concordance.

Why would God choose a female for the task of leading the deliverance of Naphtali, and Zebulun?

How spineless was Barak? “Barak said to her, “If you go with me, I will go; but if you don’t go with me, I won’t go.”

Anyone else see a theme here?

“The heroine of the story is Heber’s wife, Jael, who is not afraid to identify with God’s people and who played a crucial role in the defeat of God’s enemies. Judging her actions from our perspective today isn’t easy. The last thing we should do, though, is use her deeds to justify deception and violence in order to achieve our ends, no matter how right those ends might be.”

How is it considered heroic to drive a nail through someone’s temple? Hadn’t God, Himself, just aided in the destruction of the entire “army”? Do we think God was proud of Jael for nailing Sisera’s head to the ground? Did Jael live with the psycho-emotional scars of taking a human life or was she unaffected? Which law lens are we viewing through?

MONDAY

Gideon

When the Israelites cried out to the Lord because of Midian, he sent them a prophet, who said, “This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: I brought you up out of Egypt, out of the land of slavery. I rescued you from the hand of the Egyptians. And I delivered you from the hand of all your oppressors; I drove them out before you and gave you their land. I said to you, ‘I am the Lord your God; do not worship the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you live.’ But you have not listened to me.” Judges 6: 7-10.

This is a loaded passage. God reviews some history [see Ex 20: 2], reminds them of what would happen to them if they forgot Him [2 Cor 10: 5], and explains why they're in subjugation to the Midianites.

From the lesson: "Despite Gideon's complaint, which was unwarranted (they were disobedient; that's why they were oppressed)..."

Was Gideon's complaint unwarranted? Note that the Angel of the Lord says to Gideon "The Lord is with you, mighty warrior." Gideon replies, "... but if the Lord is with us, why has all this happened to us?"

Were they oppressed because they were disobedient, or something else? Which law lens?

Gideon requested three miracles, the first of which was outlined by Michael. Imagine preparing scarce food only to have it consumed by fire.

Was his faith strong or weak? Were the miracles evidence of God's guidance in Gideon's endeavors? What about Gideon's efforts after the defeat of the Midianites?

But Gideon was betrayed into another error, which brought disaster upon his house and upon all Israel. The season of inactivity that succeeds a great struggle is often fraught with greater danger than is the period of conflict. To this danger Gideon was now exposed. A spirit of unrest was upon him. Instead of waiting for divine guidance, he began to plan for himself. – {From Eternity Past (EP) 400.2}

Because he had been commanded to offer sacrifice upon the rock where the Angel appeared to him, Gideon concluded that he had been appointed as a priest. Without waiting for divine sanction he determined to institute a system of worship similar to that carried on at the tabernacle. – {EP 400.3}

With the strong popular feeling in his favor, he found no difficulty in carrying out his plan. At his request all the earrings of gold taken from the Midianites were given him as his share of the spoil. The people also collected other costly materials, together with the richly adorned garments of the princes of Midian. From the material thus furnished, Gideon constructed an ephod and a breastplate, in imitation of those worn by the high priest. His course proved a snare to himself and his family, as well as to Israel. The unauthorized worship led many of the people finally to forsake the Lord to serve idols. After Gideon's death, great numbers, among whom were his own family, joined in apostasy. The people were led away from God by the very man who once overthrew their idolatry. – {EP 400.4}

Samson

The study of Samson should be required for ALL males ages 10-95. There are lot's of consistent, testable life lessons to be learned here.

From the 1st paragraph: "God, indeed, had special plans for Samson; unfortunately, things didn't work out as well as they could have." This statement could be said of EVERYONE from Adam on down to present day.

Now Samson went down to Timnah, and saw a woman in Timnah of the daughters of the Philistines. So he went up and told his father and mother, saying, "I have seen a woman in Timnah of the daughters of the Philistines; now therefore, get her for me as a wife." Then his father and mother said to him, "Is there no woman among the daughters of your brethren, or among all my people, that you must go and get a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" And Samson said to his father, "Get her for me, for she pleases me well." But his father and mother did not know that it was of the Lord—that He was seeking an occasion to move against the Philistines. For at that time the Philistines had dominion over Israel. Judges 14: 1-4.

How do we understand the idea that "... it was of the Lord – that He was seeking an occasion to move against the Philistines."?

Did God lead Samson to the Philistine woman? Did God know that Samson's weaknesses would lead him in this direction & over rule circumstances without interfering with freewill? What's going on here?

Note the complaining/whining/flattery/coercive language in the wife-to-be when trying to get the answer to Samson's riddle. Moreover, note Samson's inability to say NO to the complaining/whining/flattery/coercive language – all males ages 10-95 need to study, etc.

Do we think that God was pleased with Samson's taking the lives of so many Philistines, not to mention 300 foxes? How do we understand this within the context of Him "seeking an occasion to move against the Philistines"?

Physically, Samson was the strongest man upon the earth, but in self-control, integrity, and firmness, he was one of the weakest. He who is mastered by his passions is a weak man. Real greatness is measured by the power of the feelings that a man controls, not by those that control him. – {EP 410.3 emphasis added}.

Those who in the way of duty are brought into trial may be sure that God will preserve them; but if men willfully place themselves under the power of temptation, they will fall, sooner or later. Satan attacks us at our weak points, working through defects in the character to gain control of the whole man. He knows that if these defects are cherished, he will succeed. – {EP 410.4}

We've discussed this before. God gave Samson his strength, but didn't dictate how Samson used it. He gave Solomon his wisdom & wealth, but didn't coerce Solomon to use it for good. We often misinterpret God's servants behavior as being sanctioned or worse controlled by God, however, reality operates differently.

WEDNESDAY

Ruth

We see a consistent theme of humanity blaming God for the actions of Satan throughout Scriptural history [Ruth 1: 20, 21]. Here is insight in to the real controversy.

Evidently marriage had some similar pitfalls then, as today, and was considered a "duty." [see Ruth 3: 10, 13.]

From the last paragraph: "Talk about a living-happily-ever-after story. Unfortunately, there aren't too many of those in the Bible. Of course, there are not too many outside of the Bible either. Here, too, though, we can see how, despite the ebb and flow of life, God's will shall prevail in the end; and that's good news for all who love and trust Him."

I'm not sure how the lesson knows this is a "happily-ever-after" story, but ...

THURSDAY

Samuel

The lesson asks us to discern the subtlety of the "attack of evil" in the following passage, where there were no armies massed on borders, etc. I don't think this attack is subtle in the least. This is the core of the controversy – THE MISREPRESENTATION OF GOD'S CHARACTER.

12 Now the sons of Eli were corrupt; they did not know the Lord. 13 And the priests' custom with the people was that when any man offered a sacrifice, the priest's servant would come with a three-pronged fleshhook in his hand while the meat was boiling. 14 Then he would thrust it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot; and the priest would take for himself all that the fleshhook brought up. So they did in Shiloh to all the Israelites who came there. 15 Also, before they burned the fat, the priest's servant would come and say to the man who sacrificed, "Give meat for roasting to the priest, for he will not take boiled meat from you, but raw." 16 And if the man said to him, "They should really burn the fat first; then you may take as much as your heart desires," he would then answer him, "No, but you must give it now; and if not, I will take it by force.” 17 Therefore the sin of the young men was very great before the Lord, for men abhorred the offering of the Lord. 18 But Samuel ministered before the Lord, even as a child, wearing a linen ephod. 19 Moreover his mother used to make him a little robe, and bring it to him year by year when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. 20 And Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, and say, “The Lord give you descendants from this woman for the loan that was given to the Lord.” Then they would go to their own home. 21 And the Lord visited Hannah, so that she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. Meanwhile the child Samuel grew before the Lord. 22 Now Eli was very old; and he heard everything his sons did to all Israel, and how they lay with the women who assembled at the door of the tabernacle of meeting. 23 So he said to them, “Why do you do such things? For I hear of your evil dealings from all the people. 24 No, my sons! For it is not a good report that I hear. You make the Lord’s people transgress. 25 If one man sins against another, God will judge him. But if a man sins against the Lord, who will intercede for him?” Nevertheless they did not heed the voice of their father, because the Lord desired to kill them. I Sam 2: 12-25

Did the Lord really desire to kill Eli’s sons?

“But although he [Eli] had been appointed to govern the people, he did not rule his own household. Eli was an indulgent father. Loving peace and ease, he did not exercise his authority to correct the evil habits and passions of his children. Rather than contend with them or punish them, he would submit to their will and give them their own way.”—Ellen G. White, Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 575.

Do we see any parallels, today, with parents unwilling to “correct the evil habits and passions” of their children. Admittedly, I’m speaking from a position of ignorance, not having any children myself. However, I am a keen observer of human nature, and see this everywhere.

Samuel dealt with the same problems that Eli did, and perhaps modeled some of the same indulgences.

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 5

The Controversy Continues

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “When we compare... What does this mean?”

What does it mean to buckle?

- Does it mean to disobey an explicit instruction written in Scripture?
 - What about David and the showbread?
- Is it about saying ‘no’ to God?
 - What about the parable of the two sons, first son told his father no, but then went out into the field, the other son said yes, but didn’t
 - What about Moses telling God no when first called?
- Does it mean to lie?
 - What about Rahab? Was she buckling when she lied?
- Does it mean question God?
 - What about Abraham and questioning God about Sodom?
 - Or Moses when questioning God about destroying Israel?

What does it mean to buckle?

It means to betray one’s loyalty to God, to give into fear and selfishness and make selfish choices at the expense of love for God and others!

- Moses when he struck the rock
- Elijah when he ran away
- David with Bathsheba, and worse, murdering Uriah
- Abraham lying about his wife
- Peter denying Christ

What is the cause of the buckling? Our own fears, insecurities and failure to trust God.

What undermines our trust in God? Not knowing Him! Ideas we hold that undermine our confidence in Him.

What is the power of God that enables us to stand firm?

I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes... Rom 1:16

What is the power of the gospel? How do you avail yourself of it? Is it physical power and might or something else?

What of this description of God's power:

Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power. E.G. White
Desire of Ages 759

How are truth and love the prevailing power? What do truth and love prevail over?

Truth prevails over lies and love prevails over selfishness—if we want to prevail in this war we must come back to an accurate understanding of God's character and government, i.e. methods and designs for reality. The truth of who He is and how He works, this is power—knowledge is power, experiencing God's character is power—power to live in harmony with God!

Satan's power is lies—and thus by Christ's death He destroyed him who holds the power of death that is the devil. How? What does this mean?

How is love a power? Remember the example of crossing the street and a truck is about to hit you...

How does Satan get people to claim a belief in God, to have a form of godliness “but deny the power thereof”?

Satan does this by infecting Christianity with a false law construct, once Christianity accepted the lie that God's law functions like man's laws, rules imposed requiring imposing of punishment, he denied Christians of the power of God. Why is this so?

Because Christians had their trust in God undermined, thus the avenues for the Holy Spirit to infuse our hearts and minds with transforming love are closed:

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust—TRUTH believed destroys lies and wins to trust
- Broken love and trust results in fear and selfishness—restored trust opens the heart and God pours His love into our hearts
- Fear and selfishness results in acts of sin—love and trust results in acts of righteousness, service, giving, love
- Acts of sin damage mind, character, body, a terminal condition—acts of righteous result in growth in godliness, witnessing God’s kingdom—a healing condition

Further, when we believe lies about God, not only is the avenue for healing love closed, we make theologies to protect ourselves from God, this is fear based religion, not loved based religion.

Examples:

- Refusing to baptize people into Jesus Christ who haven’t given up their Sabbath job, or quit smoking, or drinking wine etc. We do this because we are afraid the institutional church will get contaminated by “sinners” so we refuse baptism until people clean up their lives and attest to a certain creed.
- Teaching theologies that function to protect us from God:
 - Jesus pleads to the Father His merits to pay for our sins
 - We are covered by the robe of righteousness so the Father won’t see us
 - Our sins are removed from record books in heaven so when we get there no one will know our confessed and forgiven sins
 - Jesus died to take away the wrath of God

These ideas undermine trust and worsen people’s actual spiritual condition, because of the Design law of worship—by beholding we become changed—we actually become like the God we worship, so holding such beliefs will not only incite fear, but harden us inside legal belief-boxes that cut us off from the power of God.

Read last paragraph, “The focus, and the challenge...” It is talking about deliverance in the face of stress, pain, problems—let’s consider their view, that it is faith, rather than logical consequences.

If one understands reality, what is actually transpiring and why, then one has a logical comprehension of what is taking place, does that undermine faith?

When a pregnant woman goes into labor, what room do they put her in at the hospital? The delivery room! What does she want to happen? She wants to be delivered?

Is this process painful and distressing to the woman in labor? If she has understanding of her situation, and what is transpiring, does her knowledge of her situation lessen her faith in her doctor? And if she had been having monthly prenatal visits with her doctor, and has come to know her doctor from experience and evidence, would that undermine or strengthen her faith in the doctor?

What about the case of a woman who presents to the ER in pain and is in labor, but unaware she is pregnant, she doesn't know the ER doctor who is assessing and treating her, does this impact her faith?

Faith is the logical consequence of knowing God for who He really is—supremely trustworthy!

Satan knows that the truth about God's character is so overwhelmingly beautiful, consistent, reliable, trustworthy, altogether lovely, and compelling so much that anyone who really comes to know God will trust Him. Therefore, Satan uses strategies to prevent us from knowing Him. One of them is this idea that we should believe or have faith without evidence or logic. For instance:

- God is love, but if you don't love and trust Him, He will burn you in hell—this is illogical, it doesn't work in reality at all—so what do religious people say? Oh God's way's are not my ways; I just take that on faith! Thus they believe lies about God that undermine faith and incite fear, cut them off from the power of God!
- Or, God requires legal payment and our security is found in legal blood payment of Jesus. This also undermines trust, teaching that God is the one whom we must fear, and more people fear God who is trying to save them than sin which is destroying them.

SUNDAY

The lesson is about David, first his victory over Goliath, and then his defeat with Bathsheba and Uriah. What are your thoughts?

How could David have such a victory with Goliath and fail so bad with Bathsheba?

Did David have a different character with Bathsheba? In other words, was the defect in character that manifested with Bathsheba not in David when he faced Goliath?

What was different about the situation with Goliath than with Bathsheba?

Would objective reality with Goliath provide David with confidence in his own ability to defeat Goliath? The situation with Goliath was objectively beyond David's ability to deal with on his own, thus that situation required David to look outside himself for help, to rely on another for power to overcome, to not trust in himself, and thus turn to God—thus David didn't trust in himself, he trusted that God could defeat Goliath.

But, when it came to Bathsheba, was David looking through God's perspective of reality? Was David trusting God with his life, his actions, his choices, or was David in a life situation where David felt in control, powerful, confident in himself?

David throughout much of his life found himself in circumstances where his own innate abilities were inadequate to meet the challenges of life—not only with Goliath, but with the lion and the bear while working as a shepherd, and during the many years of running from Saul, and fighting with enemies around him.

But, the sin with Bathsheba happened in a different place in David's life. David was now in a position of authority, power, apparent control, safety, security, wealth. He was a beloved and popular ruler, now David could handle it. He didn't need God any more, this was in David's ability to manage. (This is likely the reason God instructed him not to take a census—because David would be tempted to believe his strength was in his spearman, infantry, bowmen and cavalry)

Did the selfishness manifested in David when he took Bathsheba, suddenly appear in David at that time in his life, or was it always in David, but it wasn't until this situation, when trials, challenges, tribulations seemed passed that David was most vulnerable to have this infection of selfishness break out into the open?

What was necessary for David to be saved? To be reborn, to die to self, to have a new heart and right spirit recreated within! When do you think this ultimate conversion experience happened for David? Wasn't it after Nathan confronted him?

We so often look at behavior and when a person in our church has stumbled and fallen in some sin, we pick up the gossip stones and start throwing. But, isn't it often the case that like David, like Peter after denying Christ, like Moses after striking the rock, like Elijah after running away—that this is when the secret infection of fear and selfishness is exposed and the sinner finally surrenders all to God and is fully healed in heart, mind and character!

- It was AFTER Moses struck the rock that he was taken to heaven
- It was AFTER Elijah ran away that he was translated to heaven
- It was AFTER David's sin with Bathsheba and Uriah he wrote Psalms 51
- It was AFTER Peter's denial that he was converted and ready to feed Jesus' sheep

Do we allow for the falls in our own lives to be those painful moment that reveal to us the secret infection we thought we could manage on our own, and humbly fall on our knees before God and let Him have us completely to heal and restore us? Do we then get up in the newness of our recreated hearts and minds, in union with Jesus, to live for Him?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “Hezekiah was king...” What do you hear happening in this paragraph? Who is seeking to accomplish his purpose? Who is God seeking to save? What is the reason Israel is overtaken by foreign forces? Was it God’s desire for it to be this way?

When God did permit it to happen was it for the purpose of punishing, i.e. inflicting retribution? What was the purpose in allowing Israel to be overrun?

Do you see there is a much bigger reality to understand? If we fail to recognize the Great Controversy we will misunderstand or MISS what we should understand about what is happening.

But what if we do understand there is a Great Controversy, what are the other errors in understanding that can blind us to comprehending the truth of what was transpiring?

The biggest—is misunderstanding God’s law as imposed, then when one reads stories like these one falsely believes God is punishing for disobedience.

But consider the total break down in all that is reasonable if this were the case: If it were a case of imposed law not being obeyed and God inflicting punishment for breaking his law—what types of complete contradictions in all that is reasonable and logical and just and good do you see in these stories?

- God uses the pagans who are every bit as wicked as Israel to punish Israel
- God uses His power to control what people do—He needs Israel punished so He inserts Himself into the mind of these pagan leaders and inspires them to go to kill, maim, mutilate, torture, enslave, rape and destroy—really? What kind of God would He be if God were inspiring such activity?
- God would be an abuser of power one who does use coercion and force and threat, and there is no real freedom in His universe and thus no real love in His universe
- It would present God as saying He wants you to love Him, but if you don’t He will kill you

The only logical way to understand this at all, and fortunately, that is also consistent with Scripture, is Design law.

- God is acting as our protector, our Intercessor against the forces of evil in this world—
 - God intercedes in our own hearts (I will put enmity between you and the woman) against our own fear and selfishness, instilling a desire for good;
 - God intercedes against the principalities and powers of darkness (Angels with Elisha, 4 angels at four corners, holding back the snakes and scorpions in the desert for Israel) and in this story, God was holding back the evil nations around Israel. But when they repeatedly rejected Him He finally gave them what they chose, freedom from His protection. And what happens in a world in which selfishness dominates, a world without the love of God governing the hearts of men? Those with power seek to dominate and control those weaker and the enemies came and overran Israel!
 - God interceded in the natural course that sin does to the human being, in Jesus, who became sin though he knew no sin so that we might become the righteousness of God.
- Thus the punishment Israel received is the same punishment we receive when we:
 - disobey mother and touch a hot stove
 - run the toothbrush under water to show mom we brushed our teeth but really didn't
 - cheat on our exams—what is the punishment?
 - cheat on our spouses—what is the punishment?
 - Is the punishment for cheating getting caught? NO! Getting caught and experiencing some external consequence, like an F, expelled from school, separation and divorce etc. are not the punishment—such actions would be like mother spanking for not brushing your teeth. No, the punishment for cheating is a seared conscience, warped character and hardened heart less capable of love, truth, compassion and sensitivity to God's kingdom!

This past weekend I presented five talks at Carmichael SDA church in Sacramento, CA. I presented the truth about God as we know it. One of the questions that came in was, "In light of the character of God I presented, and the design law versus the imposed law constructs I outlined, what do we do when ISIS shows up in our communities bent on killing us?"

I answered by saying that it is Satan's government that works by force, coercion, and fear. That Satan wants us to get afraid and think we are in danger. It inflames our survival of the fittest drives and moves us away from love, moves us to justify killing others to protect self.

In Bible times we have the story of Jehoshaphat who faced a huge army coming to destroy his city, and what did Jehoshaphat do? He called the singers together and they sang praise to God—God confused the other army, they killed themselves and the people were delivered.

We are taught that in the future many of us may very well face situations in which our lives are threatened because of our faith? What are we to do?

Revelation 12:11 describes those ready for translations, “these are they that do not love their lives so much as to shrink from death.”

Do we trust God with our lives, so much so that we can say to God, “God if I need to die at the hands of an ISIS soldier, in order to bring that soldier to conviction, where he repents and is eternally saved, I give you my life.”

Remember Saul of Tarsus—what event was used by God to bring Saul to conviction? The stoning of Stephen. Do you think Stephen will awaken in the resurrection upset with God for not protecting him, or will he be thankful his life was used in such an effective way to reach Paul, and thereby so many millions more?

I am not saying I am ready to do this yet, but I want to be, I want to love like this and ask God to recreate in me this heart of love and trust in Him. Which takes us to...

Death Decree

What do you understand is happening in the book of Esther? Read the third paragraph, “Little did the king realize...”

What is it that gives us insight and understanding into the book of Esther? It is the Cosmic Conflict over God’s character! This is the issue—humankind was “dead in trespass and sin” in a terminal condition. God has a plan which will save the species human, but it requires Jesus to come as a human being, to be born of a sinful human woman, but a woman who trusts God.

Does Satan want this to happen? No, he is trying to obstruct it and all through OT history you see the battle—immediately Cain kills Abel, trying to destroy the righteous one, the Flood, only one righteous man on earth, Abraham is selected to be the family through whom Jesus will come and Satan attacks on all fronts:

- Gets nations to kidnap Lot, seeking to draw Abraham into a war where he can be killed
- Gets Abraham to replace Sarah with Hagar seeking to create his own line of people and obstruct the plan
- Gets Jacob's children to fight against each other
- Brings a famine attempting to starve them
- Gets wicked nations to try and destroy them
- Gets wicked individuals to try and destroy them as in the book of Esther
- Infects their religion with false god constructs
- Leads the priests to misrepresent God
- And, in Thursday's lesson, after Nehemiah rebuilds the walls, Satan leads the people to legalism and bigotry and bias and prejudice—get rid of their heathen wives, put up walls and rigid legal rules to protect them from ever going into paganism again and so they built a legal religion based on rigid rule keeping

Read fourth paragraph, “How fascinating it is...” What did the Jews face that we will face? Was it merely the death decree? Or is it something much more profound?

In the time of Rome, when Jesus was on earth, what had the Jewish religion become? A merging of church and state—their Sanhedrin worked with the State to enforce religious rules coercively. They did not present the truth in love and leave free. No, the religious authorities constantly sought to coerce obedience. How many times did they try to stone Jesus? What did they want to do to the woman caught in adultery? What did they do to Stephen? Did the Jews get permission from the Romans to stone Stephen? No, the Jews themselves were infected with Satan's version of God's character and law, thus their system was corrupt and ultimately as Jesus Himself said, they were loyal to their father the devil!

Are we today vulnerable to being caught up just like the Jews 2000 years ago, serving Satan and Satan's plans, albeit on the “right” day of the week?

Isn't that exactly what the beast of Revelation describes a union of church and state powers that coercively enforce religious rule?

What is the one central belief that is at the root to such a system? The belief that God's law functions like human law and therefore it is just and right to use the power of the state to enforce obedience.

THURSDAY

What do you understand is the lesson for us today from the experiences of Nehemiah?

Israel was not only real people dealing with real issues in their day, they were also actors on a stage and much of their history is object lesson history for the entire plan of salvation:

These things happened to them as examples and were written down as warnings for us, on whom the fulfillment of the ages has come. ¹² So, if you think you are standing firm, be careful that you don't fall! ¹³ No temptation has seized you except what is common to man. And God is faithful; he will not let you be tempted beyond what you can bear. But when you are tempted, he will also provide a way out so that you can stand up under it. 1Cor 10:11-13

So what lessons do we learn from ancient Israel that apply to us today?

- Israel slaves in Egypt—we are slaves to sin in this world
- Moses a deliver comes to free them—Jesus comes to free us
- They leave Egypt for the promised land, Christians in the first century left the ways of the world for God's methods and principles
- Israel accepts false views of God and rebels from God's plan and end up slaves again, the church accepted false views of God and rebelled from God's law and ended up in the Dark Ages, captives again of Satan's lies about God
- They had a spokesperson for God, Nehemiah, lead them to repair the walls to repair the breach and God has called for a people at the end of time to do the same, listen to this:

The spiritual restoration of which the work carried forward in Nehemiah's day was a symbol, is outlined in the words of Isaiah: "They shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities." "They that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in." Isaiah 61:4; 58:12. {PK 677.2}

The prophet here describes a people who, in a time of general departure from truth and righteousness, are seeking to restore the principles that are the foundation of the kingdom of God. [Before we even go on, what might this be? What principles of God's kingdom have been lost and at the end of time need to be restored?] They are repairers of a breach that has been made in God's law--the wall that He has placed around His chosen ones for their protection, and obedience to whose precepts of justice, truth, and purity is to be their perpetual safeguard. [How has God's law been broken down? By replacing it with imposed law instead of design law!] {PK 677.3}

In words of unmistakable meaning the prophet points out the specific work of this remnant people who build the wall. "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on My holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable; and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:13, 14. {PK 678.1} [Design law or imposed law? Can a mother force a child to eat their spinach? Can a mother make them enjoy it? Notice what is being described here, not behavior change, but a heart change! This is healing, design law! And note what comes next in the quote]

In the time of the end every divine institution is to be restored. The breach made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed by man, is to be repaired. [Notice how this is phrased, it doesn't say, the breach made in the law by changing the Sabbath, or the breach in the law was the change in the Sabbath—no. Many SDAs have mistakenly believed that the breach in the law was the change in the day. No, the breach happened at the time when the Sabbath was changed. And was is the breach, the breakdown, the fracture in God's law? The idea that God's law is imposed, that it functions like human law, rules imposed. We are to be the people, who like Nehemiah, are called at this time in earth's history to rebuild the wall. The wall of protection in the truth about God's law and character, that God's law is design law, the law of love upon which all reality is built and God is working to heal and restore His children.] God's remnant people, standing before the world as reformers, are to show that the law of God is the foundation of all enduring reform and that the Sabbath of the fourth commandment is to stand as a memorial of creation, a constant reminder of the power of God. In clear, distinct lines they are to present the necessity of obedience to all the precepts of the Decalogue. Constrained by the love of Christ, they are to co-operate with Him in building up the waste places. [What is a memorial? Something that helps us remember—what is the Sabbath designed to help us remember? God's power—and what is the foundational power of God? Truth and love—and how does the Sabbath help us remember this? The Sabbath was created in the context of a war over God's right to rule—and rather than use might to force all intelligences in the universe to bow down, God created this planet and then said, "Universe, I rest—my case—take 24 hours aside and consider the evidences for yourself, no coercion!" The Sabbath is a reminder that God is the God of truth, love and freedom! This is design law and the existence of the Sabbath is evidence Satan lied. If God were the abuser of power Satan alleges, there would be no Sabbath. This is also the Elijah message we read earlier, turning hearts of the fathers to the sons, i.e. a message of God's love!] They are to be repairers of the breach, restorers of paths to dwell in. See verse 12. {PK 678.2}

The lesson is about Elijah and the lesson states, "To say that it would not rain was a direct challenge to Baal, who was thought to bring rain to ensure fertile crops and herds that made farmers wealthy. The prevailing religious rites focused on fertility and income."

Who was Baal, was the issue primarily about fertility and income? Or was fertility and income a measure used by the people to evaluate their standing before God? Was there some other issue which was more insidious than this?

What was the problem with worshipping Baal? Was it simply a matter of using the wrong word "Baal" when worshipping God? Was it because they were not saying "Yhwh" (Yahweh)? Or was it something else?

"The Hebrew noun ba'al means 'master', 'possessor' or 'husband'. Used with suffixes, e.g. Baal-peor or Baal-berith, the word may have retained something of its original sense; but in general Baal is a proper name in the OT, and refers to a specific deity, Hadad, the W Semitic storm-god, the most important deity in the Canaanite pantheon.

"Yahweh was 'master' and 'husband' to Israel, and therefore they called him 'Baal', in all innocence; but naturally this practice led to confusion of the worship of Yahweh with the Baal rituals, and it became essential to call him by some different title; Hosea (2:16) proposed 'iš, another word meaning 'husband.'" Wood, D. R. W., & Marshall, I. H. (1996). New Bible dictionary (3rd ed.) (108).

The problem was not the syllables used as ba'al was one name used for the true God. Therefore, the problem must have been something else. There must have been some distortion presented in the character of Baal that is not in the character of God. So, what was Baal like?

Baal was the son of El (i.e. El-ohim or El-Shaddai). He was the god of weather. Often called, 'Almighty' and "Lord of the Earth." Baal was the god who brought rain, thunder, lightening, who fertilized the earth, controlled the sun and brought the harvest. Baal fought the great serpent leviathan as well as battled against Mot, the god of death. And most amazing of all, it was taught that Baal died in his battle with Mot and was resurrected from the dead to bring life to earth.

So what was the problem with worshipping a god who was the “husband and protector of Israel,” the son of El, who controlled the weather, who brought rain, sunshine, and fertility, who blessed with full harvest, who warred against the great serpent and death, who died and was resurrected to bring life to the earth? What was wrong with this god? What was Elijah opposing? What made Baal worship false?

“Determined to keep the people in deception, the priests of Baal continue to offer sacrifices to their gods and to call upon them night and day to refresh the earth. With costly offerings the priests attempt to appease the anger of their gods;” White, E.G., Prophets and Kings, p. 124.2.

And the Bible confirms this:

"So the prophets prayed louder and cut themselves with knives and daggers, according to their custom, until blood flowed." 1 Kings 18:28 ¹

Could it be that Baal represented the characteristics of Satan’s version of God, the idea that he (as god) must have bloody sacrifices in order to be appeased, have his wrath assuaged, or have his anger propitiated? And is God waiting for His church on earth to complete the reformation by eliminating this pagan god concept and restoring the true picture of God as revealed in Jesus?

So again, notice the issue is about worship, who do you trust, how do you understand God?

Is there an application today to what Elijah was dealing with in his day?

“See, I will send you the prophet Elijah before that great and dreadful day of the Lord comes. ⁶ He will turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers; Mal 4:5,6

What is the Elijah of today? Why is Elijah needed today? What is the message?

¹ Some may attempt to argue that what made Baal worship false was its gross and hedonistic practices. We assert that all such degradation is the outgrowth of worshipping a god who must be appeased, assuaged or propitiated. In the Dark Ages these ugly practices of worshipping such a god were evidenced in the inquisition and burning people at the stake. The gross forms of their worship were the fruit of the real problem, which was accepting a god who had to be paid by sacrifice to grant blessings, a god who would inflict punishment if sacrifices were not brought. And Revelation tells us that those who hold to this view of God will again torture and kill in the name of their god.

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 6 Victory in the Wilderness

I received this email this week:

Greetings from the Philippines. I thank the Lord, I found this site. I can't find enough words to express how happy am I, I found Dr. Jennings teaching about God's Love, His true character, And His Plan of Salvation for the lost humanity. Now all my questions pertaining to God's Love and His judgement in the Second coming of Jesus are now clearly answered. His teaching about the Character of God is really life-transforming. How I wish, I can have his free CD"S and DVD"S but I'm in the Philippines.

Good news for all outside the US all our DVDs and free materials are available online for streaming!

I also received this email this week:

I have recently found your ministry. We are studying Revelation. It's been really difficult to listen to teaching that is so different than your interpretation. God has put in my heart John 17:3. And ever since then I have just been praying it. My mind has been open to complete love and I have a difficult time listening to teachings that are not LOVE. Please pray for me. I understand that taking on the life of Christ includes persecution. I praying that I can find others in my community that are lovers of Truth. I suppose my request is mainly for prayer. Thank you

And an online friend sent me an article a week or two ago, and I found this in it from a Dr. Syme:

Some years later, I went to American University where I did my work in Church History and I met one of my Church History teachers and in conversation with him, he said, "You'd be very surprised to know what my present assignment is."

So I said, "Yes, I might be. Well, what is it?"

*"Well", he said, "I have been spending about two months in the White vaults."
And I said, "What conclusion did you come to?"*

"Well", he said, "The World Council of Churches has been picking up the tab. They wanted me to comment on the question of Ellen G. White because of Dr Handspicker's previous statement.” And he said, “I’ve been investigating, and they have been very courteous and they gave me every facility. But,” he said, “The thing that amazes me about Seventh-day Adventists, and the thing that amazed me particularly about the White Estate, was how they ever got any work done.” He said, “That phone, it buzzed from first thing in the morning to last thing at night. The questions, the kind of questions which any person with common sense ought to be able to answer, they would have to inquire what Ellen White said about it.”

So, evidently, some non-SDAs have picked up on the struggle some SDAs have with believing obvious truths without a confirming quote from EGW.

Sadly many people have been raised not to think for themselves, not to become mature Christians as described in Heb 5:14 who developed by practice the ability to discern the right from the wrong, but instead are conditioned to look to some other authority to tell them the answers. This is not what EGW taught.

So—for those who need an EGW quote to believe this:

Every human being, created in the image of God, is endowed with a power akin to that of the Creator-- individuality, power to think and to do. The men in whom this power is developed are the men who bear responsibilities, who are leaders in enterprise, and who influence character. It is the work of true education to develop this power, to train the youth to be thinkers, and not mere reflectors of other men's thought. Instead of confining their study to that which men have said or written, let students be directed to the sources of truth, to the vast fields opened for research in nature and revelation. Let them contemplate the great facts of duty and destiny, and the mind will expand and strengthen. Instead of educated weaklings, institutions of learning may send forth men strong to think and to act, men who are masters and not slaves of circumstances, men who possess breadth of mind, clearness of thought, and the courage of their convictions. {Ed 17.2}

"We must study the truth for ourselves. No man should be relied upon to think for us. No matter who he is, or in what position he may be placed, we are not to look upon any man as a criterion for us. We are to counsel together, and to be subject one to another; but at the same time we are to exercise the ability God has given us, in order to learn what is truth. Each one of us must look to God for divine enlightenment. We must individually develop a character that will stand the test in the day of God." Testimonies to Ministers 109,110; first published in Gospel Workers, 1892 ed., pp. 128,129; cf. 2RH 311:3:1 (RH, June 18, 1889); CW 45; ST, Feb. 6, 1893

What makes us vulnerable to being so easily confused, and therefore so willing and eager to have someone else tell us the answer, is that we have fallen victim to the sola scriptura approach, the idea that Scripture must be kept separate from science and experience, and we must not use our reason to think about it.

But, God has given us three threads of evidence to be integrated, Scripture, Science and Experience, and we are to harmonize all three. When we learn how to do this, then we can come to conclusions and understand the reality which God created.

The great storehouse of truth is the word of God—the written word, the book of nature, and the book of experience in God’s dealing with human life. E.G. White, Christ’s Object Lessons 125

SABBATH

Read memory text, “For the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.” Luke 19:10 NKJV

What do you hear Jesus say His mission to earth was to accomplish?

Can you think of any other statements of Jesus in which He describes His mission?

- For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. ¹⁷ For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. Jn 3:16,17
- Instead, whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant, ²⁷ and whoever wants to be first must be your slave— ²⁸ just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.” Mt 20:26-28
- And he said, “The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and he must be killed and on the third day be raised to life.” ²³ Then he said to them all: “If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me. ²⁴ For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me will save it. Lk 9:22-24

With all these statements—what do you hear Jesus say His mission was?

- to heal
- to save
- to recover that which was lost

- to serve
- to ransom many—which means what? To provide what was necessary to free us from our captivity—what holds us in captivity? The lies about God we believe and our own carnal natures. Then what is the ransom which is necessary to free us from such bondage? The truth about God and a new nature. Who does such a ransom get paid to?
- Give His life to die and then to rise again—Did Christ know He was going to die? Did He know He would rise again? How? What does it mean? Which law lens do you view it through? To restore his image in us!

Read the last paragraph, “This week, as we look...” Did Satan try to have baby Jesus killed shortly after His birth?

Consider the implications in light of penal substitutionary theology and the false law construct upon which it is based.

It is taught that sin is breaking God’s law, which not only requires a legal payment, but has personally offended God, inciting wrath and that the only thing that would pay the legal penalty and resolve God’s wrath was the shedding of the blood of God’s sinless Son.

Was baby Jesus sinless? Were evil men attempting to kill Him as an infant—then why stop it? If what is needed to save humanity is for a payment of innocent blood to resolve our legal debt and turn away the wrath of an offended deity, this could have been accomplished right then and there.

But, a legal payment was NEVER necessary, and killing baby Jesus would have PREVENTED the plan of salvation from being accomplished—why?

What was needed to save mankind?

What was the problem sin caused that the plan of salvation was designed to fix?

When Adam and Eve sinned did God get changed? Did God’s law change? Did the nature of humankind change? Then whatever God was going to accomplish through Jesus it wasn’t to change Himself, nor His law, because they were not changed—the impact, the effect, the transforming energy must be applied to the species human!

So, killing baby Jesus would have prevented that work from being accomplished by Jesus, because Jesus had to actually live out a life as a human in order to reverse what sin has done to the human condition.

And specifically what was that work?

- Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil. Hebrews 2:14
- For God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross. Colossians 1:19-20
 - Through the plan of salvation, a larger purpose is to be wrought out even than the salvation of man and the redemption of the earth. Through the revelation of the character of God in Christ, the beneficence of the divine government will be manifested before the universe, the charge of Satan against God refuted, the nature and result of sin made plain, and the perpetuity of the law fully demonstrated. Satan had declared that the law of God was faulty, and that the good of the universe demanded a change in its requirements. In attacking the law, he thought to overthrow the authority of its Author, and gain for himself the supreme allegiance. But through the plan of salvation, the precepts of the law were to be proved perfect and immutable, that at last one tide of glory and love might go up throughout the universe, ascribing glory and honour and praise to Him that sitteth upon the throne, and to the Lamb forever and ever. {BEcho, July 15, 1893 par. 3}

The inhabitants of all worlds will be convinced of the justice of the law in the overthrow of rebellion and the eradication of sin. When man, beguiled by Satan's power, disobeyed the divine law, God could not, even to save the lost race, change that law. God is love, and to change the law would be to deny Himself, to overthrow those principles with which are bound up the good of the universe. The working out of the plan of salvation reveals not only to men, but to angels, the character of God, and through the ages of eternity the malignant character of sin will be understood by the cost to the Father and the Son of the redemption of a rebel race. In Christ, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world, all worlds will behold the marks of the curse, and angels as well as men will ascribe honour and glory to the Redeemer, through whom they are all made secure from apostasy. The efficiency of the cross guards the redeemed race from the danger of a second fall. The life and death of Christ effectually unveils the deceptions of Satan, and refutes his claims. The sacrifice of Christ for a fallen world draws not only men, but angels, unto Him in bonds of indissoluble union. {BEcho, July 15, 1893 par. 4}

- Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. 2Timothy 1:10
 - How does the death of Christ destroy death?

- What is the basis of life?
- What then causes death?
- What did Christ's death accomplish that destroys death?
- Christ destroyed death, Christ was NOT destroyed by death, Christ destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness, when he was tempted to save self, but instead gave his life in love! Some like this language—Christ destroyed the carnal nature at the Cross and arose in a humanity He perfected and healed back to God's original design!
- Here is an EGW quote:
- The grain of wheat that preserves its own life can produce no fruit. It abides alone. Christ could, if He chose, save Himself from death. But should He do this, He must abide alone. He could bring no sons and daughters to God. Only by yielding up His life could He impart life to humanity. Only by falling into the ground to die could He become the seed of that vast harvest,—the great multitude that out of every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, are redeemed to God. {DA 623.4}

With this truth Christ connects the lesson of self-sacrifice that all should learn: "He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal." All who would bring forth fruit as workers together with Christ must first fall into the ground and die. The life must be cast into the furrow of the world's need. Self-love, self-interest, must perish. And the law of self-sacrifice is the law of self-preservation. The husbandman preserves his grain by casting it away. So in human life. To give is to live. The life that will be preserved is the life that is freely given in service to God and man. Those who for Christ's sake sacrifice their life in this world will keep it unto life eternal. {DA 623.5}

The life spent on self is like the grain that is eaten. It disappears, but there is no increase. A man may gather all he can for self; he may live and think and plan for self; but his life passes away, and he has nothing. The law of self-serving is the law of self-destruction. {DA 624.1}

- The reason the Son of God appeared was to destroy the devil's work. 1John 3:8
 - The life of Christ is to be revealed in humanity. Man was the crowning act of the creation of God, made in the image of God, and designed to be a counterpart of God; but Satan has labored to obliterate the image of God in man, and to imprint upon him his own image. Lift Him Up 48.
 - Jesus destroyed that work by restoring perfectly God's image in the species human!
- Although he was a son, he learned obedience from what he suffered ⁹ and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him... Heb 5:8,9

- The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

So what was it Christ came to achieve?

- The revelation of truth to destroy lies, which secures the unfallen worlds in loyalty
- The destruction of the infection of fear and selfishness and the restoration of God's law of love back into the Spirit Temple where it was originally supposed to dwell
- The development of a perfect, mature, HUMAN character in harmony with God's

And here is an EGW quote:

"Now is the judgment of this world," Christ continued; "now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all unto Me. This He said, signifying what death He should die." This is the crisis of the world. If I become the propitiation for the sins of men, the world will be lighted up. [truth will be revealed] Satan's hold upon the souls of men will be broken. [lies, fear and selfishness broken by truth and love and trust restored—the ransom payment of truth and love paid to us!] The defaced image of God will be restored in humanity, [in trust we open the heart and receive the character of Christ reproduced in us! We become partakers of the divine nature, metaphorically we are drinking the blood i.e. life of Christ] and a family of believing saints will finally inherit the heavenly home. This is the result of Christ's death. The Saviour is lost in contemplation of the scene of triumph called up before Him. He sees the cross, the cruel, ignominious cross, with all its attending horrors, blazing with glory. {DA 625.4}

But the work of human redemption is not all that is accomplished by the cross. The love of God is manifested to the universe. The prince of this world is cast out. The accusations which Satan has brought against God are refuted. The reproach which he has cast upon heaven is forever removed. Angels as well as men are drawn to the Redeemer. "I, if I be lifted up from the earth," He said, "will draw all unto Me." {DA 626.1}

Jesus did exactly what He said He would do—He came to save that which was lost!

SUNDAY

Read first & second paragraph, “Why did Jesus..” What do you think about restoring the dominion of Adam?

After Adam’s sin and before Christ’s victory at Calvary, was Satan the rightful ruler of planet earth? Did Satan ever have any “legal” or rightful claim to earth?

Some versions of Christianity have accepted a false idea, based on Satan’s temptations to Jesus, in which Satan claims the kingdoms of the earth as his own and offers them to Jesus. Thus some teach that Jesus had to defeat Satan in some battle of titans and reclaim the rightful title or deed to planet earth. This is all false. Satan was never the rightful ruler of earth. It is true that Satan deceived Adam and displaced Adam but Adam was subject to Christ and Christ was always the rightful ruler, and that did not change when Satan deceived Adam.

What did change was that humankind and the entire planet became infected with Satan’s principle of fear and selfishness.

Do you think all the powers we see in the life of Christ, Adam possessed before his fall? In other words, was it within Adam’s power to walk on water, heal all types of maladies (if there were any, which there were not), but manipulate the genetic code of plants and animals, talk to animals and direct the movement with sounds or thoughts, move objects etc.?

If Adam were the ruler of earth, doesn’t it make sense that Adam would have had the ability to intervene in nature and adjust, modify, change, modify and adapt nature in harmony with God’s design?

For instance, before sin Adam tended the Garden of Eden—would Adam have had the ability to hybridize plants? But would he have been restricted to the clumsy way we do it? Could Adam have had understanding of the genetic structure, epigenetic modifications, and with energy from His own person reached out and adjusted the code to cause a plant to produce different shapes or colored flowers?

Do we need an EGW quote?

Check out this description from the book Patriarchs and Prophets:

While they remained true to God, Adam and his companion were to bear rule over the earth. Unlimited control was given them over every living thing. The lion and the lamb sported peacefully around them or lay down together at their feet. The happy birds flitted about them without fear; and as their glad songs ascended to the praise of their Creator, Adam and Eve united with them in thanksgiving to the Father and the Son. {PP 50.2}

The holy pair were not only children under the fatherly care of God but students receiving instruction from the all-wise Creator. They were visited by angels, and were granted communion with their Maker, with no obscuring veil between. They were full of the vigor imparted by the tree of life, and their intellectual power was but little less than that of the angels. The mysteries of the visible universe--"the wondrous works of Him which is perfect in knowledge" (Job 37:16)--afforded them an exhaustless source of instruction and delight. The laws and operations of nature, which have engaged men's study for six thousand years, were opened to their minds by the infinite Framer and Upholder of all. They held converse with leaf and flower and tree, gathering from each the secrets of its life. With every living creature, from the mighty leviathan that playeth among the waters to the insect mote that floats in the sunbeam, Adam was familiar. He had given to each its name, and he was acquainted with the nature and habits of all. God's glory in the heavens, the innumerable worlds in their orderly revolutions, "the balancings of the clouds," the mysteries of light and sound, of day and night--all were open to the study of our first parents. On every leaf of the forest or stone of the mountains, in every shining star, in earth and air and sky, God's name was written. The order and harmony of creation spoke to them of infinite wisdom and power. They were ever discovering some attraction that filled their hearts with deeper love and called forth fresh expressions of gratitude. {PP 50.3}

So long as they remained loyal to the divine law, their capacity to know, to enjoy, and to love would continually increase. They would be constantly gaining new treasures of knowledge, discovering fresh springs of happiness, and obtaining clearer and yet clearer conceptions of the immeasurable, unfailing love of God. {PP 51.1}

Wow—can you imagine? Amazing!

Do you see the jealousy of Satan—how Satan coveted the position of Christ, and not being able to become creator, Satan coveted the position of Adam and thus sought to usurp Adam for multiple reasons, but one to gain access to this earth with its incredible design, and diversity of life!

And what has Satan done with it? He has corrupted it, infected it, and is destroying it. Only through Christ is the destructive power of Satan held at bay and ultimately removed!

Read the third paragraph, “Second, He came to bring judgment...” Sadly, they use the word judgment here, which lends itself all too easily to be misunderstood as judicial, rather than diagnostic. But Jesus did come to accurately diagnose and expose the infection of sin and to provide Remedy.

Read last paragraph, “Third, Jesus came into...” Did anyone notice the subtle change the lesson made in the Bible reference? In the first sentence they reference John 1:29, which reads: “The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and said, “Look, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!”

Notice they didn’t use the word sin; they changed it to sins? What difference does it make?

Sins leads our minds to think about deeds, behaviors, acts, breaking rules...it leads us down the false trail of imposed law with the false theology of penal substitution. It leads us to think of ourselves, our mistakes, what we have done wrong and the lie that says God must punish sinners for breaking the law.

When we use what the Bible says, and realize Jesus came to take away the sin of the world, we realize that sin is a condition, a state of being which is out of harmony with God’s design, and which we cannot fix. Jesus came to fix this condition. We further realize that the sins, the actual bad deeds, are symptoms of the condition of sin and only by fixing the condition, being reborn, etc. will the symptoms remit.

Thus, without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin—without the Remedy procured by Jesus our sinful condition would not remit back to God’s perfect design!

MONDAY

The lesson asks us to read Matthew 3:7-12:

But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to where he was baptizing, he said to them: “You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath? ⁸ Produce fruit in keeping with repentance. ⁹ And do not think you can say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ I tell you that out of these stones God can raise up children for Abraham. ¹⁰ The ax is already at the root of the trees, and every tree that does not produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire.

¹¹ “I baptize you with water for repentance. But after me will come one who is more powerful than I, whose sandals I am not fit to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. ¹² His winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor, gathering his wheat into the barn and burning up the chaff with unquenchable fire.”

The lesson asks why John uses language like this to introduce the Messiah?

Which law lens do you see it through?

If imposed law then you hear a scary power monger who will use power to punish and destroy—this is sadly how many people conceive of God.

But what if you understand God’s law as it really is, the protocols upon which reality is constructed, the law of love built into reality and to which we are currently out of harmony?

What is the current “natural” state of humankind? The Bible says we are dead in trespass and sin—which means what? We have a terminal condition, that we did not choose to have, but with which we were born.

So, what happens if God does nothing?

What happens if we refuse to receive what God has done through Christ?

So, what is it we need? To be healed and restored to unity with God, anything short of this results in our suffering and death.

So, here are these verses from The Remedy:

But when he saw the lawyers and theologians of the Pharisee and Sadducee schools arrive where he was dipping people in the Jordan, he said to them: "You poisonous snakes! What are you doing here? Do you think you can get right with God by washing in the Jordan?"⁸ Your hearts must be cleansed and characters renewed, so that your lives bring forth actions in harmony with God's character of love.⁹ And don't try claiming you're right with God because you're a genetic descendant of Abraham. Biologic descent is irrelevant. The descendants of Abraham are as numerous as the stones lying on the shore.¹⁰ The axe of selfishness is already cutting through the roots of Israel, and every person who refuses to be renewed in love and bring forth character of righteousness will be cut off and destroyed.

¹¹ "I immerse people in water, symbolizing their repentance. But one is coming after me whose sandals I am not even fit to hold. He will immerse you in the Holy Spirit and the cleansing fire of God's love and truth.¹² He sifts the wheat from the chaff, purifying his people by consuming all defects with unstoppable fire."

Read bottom section and green section, "It [Christ's first coming] came, however..." How might faithful people today have misconceptions about Christ's second coming?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "When Jesus..." Jesus did not invite temptation, meaning Jesus didn't go where He knew He would be tempted. However, the Holy Spirit led Jesus into the wilderness—did the Holy Spirit foreknow what would happen there?

Then why did the Holy Spirit lead Jesus there knowing that He would be tempted by Satan?

Because, it was necessary for Christ to achieve His mission—Jesus had to be "tempted in every way just like we are" in order to overcome with His human brain and develop a perfect human character.

What about us? Should we purposely go where we know we will be tempted? No! An alcoholic should avoid alcohol etc.

But, will the Holy Spirit lead us in paths where we will have opportunity to overcome, grow, mature, and develop mature character?

A refining, purifying process is going on among the people of God, and the Lord of hosts has set His hand to this work. This process is most trying to the soul, but it is necessary in order that defilement may be removed. Trials are essential in order that we may be brought close to our heavenly Father, in submission to His will, that we may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness. . . . The Lord brings His children over the same ground again and again, increasing the pressure until perfect humility fills the mind, and the character is transformed; then they are victorious over self, and in harmony with Christ and the Spirit of heaven. The purification of God's people cannot be accomplished without suffering. . . . He passes us from one fire to another, testing our true worth. True grace is willing to be tried. If we are loath to be searched by the Lord, our condition is one of peril. . . . {ML 92.2}

Read second paragraph, “There are dramatic...” And what did they build? They built a sanctuary, what is the object lesson application/parallel to Jesus in this?

Tell him this is what the Lord Almighty says: ‘Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the Lord.’¹³ It is he who will build the temple of the Lord, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two. Zech 6:12-13

Jesus also built a sanctuary, what temple or sanctuary did Jesus build?

What is the application of this to our understanding of the heavenly sanctuary?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is about when Satan tempted Jesus to throw Himself off the temple.

Read third paragraph, “Jesus was not...” Yes, Jesus had genuine trust in His Father, but there is another critical element that Jesus had that is left out and to which the temptation targeted, what was it?

Jesus knew who He was, the temptation was not merely about trust in God, it was targeting human fear and insecurity. We are all infected with fear and insecurity—fear rejection, fear not being liked, fear not being accepted, fear not being understood etc.

Thus, this temptation was about playing on the fear that humans struggle with in regard to our own identity.

Think through your own life experiences, how many times were you tempted (or still are) by insecurity in your own identity to do things to be accepted?

How many times do we get tempted into doing something in order to “prove” ourselves to others?

Jesus trusted His Father, but Jesus also had confidence in who He was; He was content with who He was and thus didn't NEED approval from others. Jesus didn't need to convince an angel that He was who He said He was, but only need to BE Himself.

So many people get trapped into focusing on what others think of them, rather than focusing on being the healthiest, most Christlike person they can be!

THURSDAY

The lesson is about receiving the kingdoms of the world if He will worship Satan.

read fourth paragraph, "This test focused..." What direct intervention did God do after Adam's fall?

- God intervened in the hearts of humans to put a desire for good, without this human beings would have been fully united on Satan's side
 - The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God, and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship. {ST, July 11, 1895 par. 5}
- God intervenes with the powers of darkness
- God intervened in the natural course that sin does to the sinner, by Jesus becoming sin though he knew no sin so that we might become the righteousness of God.
- Jesus never intervenes with God to change God in some way

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "Though one..." What do you think they mean by a physical conflict? Are they speaking of Jesus on earth physically battling with hunger, thirst, fatigue, and pain when whipped and crucified? Or are they speaking of some battle of physical might between two super-beings?

Or perhaps the physical battle of what sin is doing to creation with mutations and amalgamations and Jesus working in nature to physical heal and restore all that Satan has mutated and damaged?

And what if we have the Great Controversy theme, but we fail to rightly understand the nature of God's law as design law, and instead continue to believe it is imposed law?

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 7

Jesus' Teachings and the Great Controversy

Introducing a new resource available on the comeandreason.com website: James Ehrlich has taken a full 5 years' worth of notes – all the notes from 2010 through 2015 - and combined them into one single, searchable PDF document! This is huge for being able to pinpoint specific topics or key words. Find it in the Archive column of the Bible Study Class menu.

By its very definition, the GC theme is a “big-picture” view...the biggest picture...and we tend to think of it only in grand, over-arching terms, because it is a “meta-narrative” that explains a large portion of our reality. But the lesson makes the point that no matter how grand and all-encompassing the GC theme is, or how substantial the issues at stake, in many ways the Great Controversy gets played out daily, right here on our little planet...right here in our own daily lives. How?

- How we represent and reflect God's true character of love
- How we demonstrate his healing, transforming power in our own characters
- How we practice his methods, principles, government (truth, love, and freedom)
- How we love others

In Romans 3:4, Paul tells us that God is the One on trial, God is the One accused, and God is the One who will be proved innocent: Paul says:

God forbid: yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged. Romans 3:4 KJV

May it never be! Rather, let God be found true, though every man be found a liar, as it is written, “That You may be justified in Your words, And prevail when You are judged.” NASB

Certainly not! God must be true, even though every human being is a liar. As the scripture says, “You must be shown to be right when you speak; you must win your case when you are being tried.” GNT

No! God will continue to be true even when every person is false. As the Scriptures say: “So you will be shown to be right when you speak, and you will win your case.” NCV

God, may you be proved right and true in the hearts and minds of your intelligent creatures when you present yourself openly for their judgment. The Remedy

How will that happen? How will He win His case and be proven...right...the winner of the Great Controversy? It will all be decided based on the evidence. Jesus Christ is Exhibit A...He is the most convincing evidence of the true, loving character of God – if you have seen me you’ve seen the father...the father and I are one. And His life, death, and resurrection are the most convincing evidence that God is nothing like Satan has alleged Him to be. When my character is transformed from selfish to selfless I am Exhibit B...when you practice His methods of truth, love, and freedom you are Exhibit C! We all have a role in how this plays out. There is no way to have insight into this big-picture Great Controversy perspective, and think that your life is insignificant...there is no way to be unsure about your purpose here.

SUNDAY

Many Kinds of Rest

This week’s memory text is a very familiar passage from Matthew 11:28 –

“Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. ²⁹ Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. ³⁰ For My yoke is easy and My burden is light.”

From the Message:

“Are you tired? Worn out? Burned out on religion? Come to me. Get away with me and you’ll recover your life. I’ll show you how to take a real rest. Walk with me and work with me—watch how I do it. Learn the unforced rhythms of grace. I won’t lay anything heavy or ill-fitting on you. Keep company with me and you’ll learn to live freely and lightly.”

The concept of rest is very rich in Scripture. The Greek word for “rest” – “anapausis” – is very similar to words associated with Sabbath, and can be used as both a noun and a verb meaning “solemn rest”...so the same Greek word is used in “I will give you rest” and “a day of rest”.

So...we have talked about yokes in this class before: What is a yoke? What is its purpose?

A yoke is not a harness but an instrument that shares the load between two animals allowing them to work as a team to pull the load. Take My yoke upon you,” Jesus says. The yoke is an instrument of service. Cattle are yoked for labor, and the yoke is essential that they may labor effectually. By this illustration Christ teaches us that we are called to service as long as life shall last. We are to take upon us His yoke, that we may be co-workers with Him. The yoke that binds to service is the law of God. The great law of love revealed in Eden, proclaimed upon Sinai, and in the new covenant written in the heart, is that which binds the human worker to the will of God...{DA 329.3} (notice she didn’t say written on stone)

By wearing His yoke and learning of Him, we become like Him in aspiration, in meekness and lowliness, in fragrance of character. {AG 322.5}

So, what does it mean to yoke with Christ? Consider these quotations, do you agree or disagree? What are the implications?

While God was working in Daniel and his companions "to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Phil. 2:13), they were working out their own salvation. Herein is revealed the outworking of the divine principle of cooperation, without which no true success can be attained. Human effort avails nothing without divine power; and without human endeavor, divine effort is with many of no avail. To make God's grace our own, we must act our part. His grace is given to work in us to will and to do, but never as a substitute for our effort. {LHU 193.4}

We are laborers together with God. This is the Lord's own wise arrangement. The cooperation of the human will and endeavor with divine energy is the link that binds men up with one another and with God. The apostle says, "We are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building" (1 Corinthians 3:9). Man is to work with the facilities God has given him. "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling," He says. "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Philippians 2:12, 13).--MS 113, 1898. {2MCP 694.3}

There are two grand forces at work in the salvation of the human soul. It requires the cooperation of man with the divine agencies-- divine influences, and a strong, living, working faith. It is in this way only that the human agent can become a laborer together with God. The Lord does not sanction in any one of us a blind, stupid credulity. He does not dishonor the human understanding, but, far from this, He calls for the human will to be brought into connection with the divine will. He calls for the ingenuity of the human mind, the tact, the skill, to be strenuously exercised in searching out the truth as it is in Jesus. . . . Ye are labourers together with God. {OHC 310.5}

"Lifting the cross cuts away self from the soul, and places man where he learns how to bear Christ's burdens. We cannot follow Christ without wearing His yoke, without lifting the cross and bearing it after Him. If our will is not in accord with the divine requirements, we are to deny our inclinations, give up our darling desires, and step in Christ's footsteps."—Sons and Daughters of God, p. 69.

How can taking on His yoke bring rest to our souls? Hebrews 5:5 in The Remedy says,

“If they refuse the truth, if they reject the evidence I have provided, their minds will never find rest and they will not get well.”

If we surrender our lives to God, surrender our plans and our best efforts – surrender the “outcomes” to Him and simply follow His directions in carrying out our duty – doesn’t that remove worry, stress and anxiety?

MONDAY

Planting and Harvesting

Monday's lesson talks about the parable of the sower and how it contains implicit Great Controversy themes...as well as natural law themes! The law of sowing and reaping is natural design law. This is likely a familiar story to most of you, but let’s do a quick review of it in Matthew 13:

“³Then he told them many things in parables, saying: “A farmer went out to sow his seed. ⁴As he was scattering the seed, some fell along the path, and the birds came and ate it up. ⁵Some fell on rocky places, where it did not have much soil. It sprang up quickly, because the soil was shallow. ⁶But when the sun came up, the plants were scorched, and they withered because they had no root. ⁷Other seed fell among thorns, which grew up and choked the plants. ⁸Still other seed fell on good soil, where it produced a crop—a hundred, sixty or thirty times what was sown.”

Any thoughts on how this parable reveals great controversy themes?

The 2nd paragraph of Monday’s lesson contains a small quote from Christ Object Lessons, but the book’s entire Chapter 2 is devoted to this parable of the sower, and we could honestly spend the whole rest of the hour on this because it is really good...but I highly recommend it for further study.

“The sower soweth the word.” Christ came to sow the world with truth. Ever since the fall of man, Satan has been sowing the seeds of error. It was by a lie that he first gained control over men, and thus he still works to overthrow God’s kingdom in the earth and to bring men under his power. A sower from a higher world, Christ came to sow the seeds of truth. He who had stood in the councils of God, who had dwelt in the innermost sanctuary of the Eternal, could bring to men the pure principles of truth. Ever since the fall of man, Christ had been the Revealer of truth to the world. By Him the incorruptible seed, “the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever,” is communicated to men. 1 Peter 1:23. In that first promise spoken to our fallen race in Eden, Christ was sowing the gospel seed. But it is to His personal ministry among men and to the work which He thus established that the parable of the sower especially applies. {COL 37.1}

The word of God is the seed. Every seed has in itself a germinating principle. In it the life of the plant is enfolded. So there is life in God's word. Christ says, "The words that I speak unto you, they are Spirit, and they are life." John 6:63. "He that heareth My word, and believeth on Him that sent Me, hath everlasting life." John 5:24. In every command and in every promise of the word of God is the power, the very life of God, by which the command may be fulfilled and the promise realized. He who by faith receives the word is receiving the very life and character of God." {COL 38.1}

"But the teacher of sacred truth can impart only that which he himself knows by experience. "The sower sowed his seed." Christ taught the truth because He was the truth. His own thought, His character, His life-experience, were embodied in His teaching. So with His servants: those who would teach the word are to make it their own by a personal experience. They must know what it is to have Christ made unto them wisdom and righteousness and sanctification and redemption. In presenting the word of God to others, they are not to make it a suppose-so or a maybe. They should declare with the apostle Peter, "We have not followed cunningly devised fables when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eye-witnesses of His majesty." 2 Peter 1:16. {COL 43.1}

Soil by the Wayside:

"The battle for souls is real, and the enemy uses whatever means he can to turn people away from salvation. For instance, in the context of the seed falling by the wayside, Ellen G. White wrote: "The seed sown by the wayside represents the word of God as it falls upon the heart of an inattentive hearer. Like the hard-beaten path, trodden down by the feet of men and beasts, is the heart that becomes a highway for the world's traffic, its pleasures and sins. Absorbed in selfish aims and sinful indulgences, the soul is "hardened through the deceitfulness of sin." Hebrews 3:13. The spiritual faculties are paralyzed. Men hear the word, but understand it not. They do not discern that it applies to themselves. They do not realize their need or their danger. They do not perceive the love of Christ, and they pass by the message of His grace as something that does not concern them. {COL 44.2}

As the birds are ready to catch up the seed from the wayside, so Satan is ready to catch away the seeds of divine truth from the soul. He fears that the word of God may awaken the careless, and take effect upon the hardened heart. Satan and his angels are in the assemblies where the gospel is preached. While angels of heaven endeavor to impress hearts with the word of God, the enemy is on the alert to make the word of no effect. With an earnestness equaled only by his malice, he tries to thwart the work of the Spirit of God. While Christ is drawing the soul by His love, Satan tries to turn away the attention of the one who is moved to seek the Saviour. He engages the mind with worldly schemes. He excites criticism, or insinuates doubt and unbelief.

The speaker's choice of language or his manner may not please the hearers, and they dwell upon these defects. Thus the truth they need, and which God has graciously sent them, makes no lasting impression."—Christ's Object Lessons, p. 44."

Soil In Stony Places:

The seed sown upon stony ground finds little depth of soil. The plant springs up quickly, but the root cannot penetrate the rock to find nutriment to sustain its growth, and it soon perishes. Many who make a profession of religion are stony-ground hearers. Like the rock underlying the layer of earth, the selfishness of the natural heart underlies the soil of their good desires and aspirations. The love of self is not subdued. They have not seen the exceeding sinfulness of sin, and the heart has not been humbled. This class may be easily convinced, and appear to be bright converts, but they have only a superficial religion...But those who in the parable are said to receive the word immediately, do not count the cost. They do not consider what the word of God requires of them. They do not bring it face to face with all their habits of life, and yield themselves fully to its control... But the stony-ground hearers depend upon self instead of Christ. They trust in their good works and good impulses, and are strong in their own righteousness. {COL 46.4}

There are very many who claim to serve God, but who have no experimental knowledge of Him. Their desire to do His will is based upon their own inclination, not upon the deep conviction of the Holy Spirit. Their conduct is not brought into harmony with the law of God. They profess to accept Christ as their Saviour, but they do not believe that He will give them power to overcome their sins. They have not a personal relation with a living Saviour, and their characters reveal defects both hereditary and cultivated. {COL 48.1}

Soil Among Thorns:

The gospel seed often falls among thorns and noxious weeds; and if there is not a moral transformation in the human heart, if old habits and practices and the former life of sin are not left behind, if the attributes of Satan are not expelled from the soul, the wheat crop will be choked. The thorns will come to be the crop, and will kill out the wheat. Grace can thrive only in the heart that is being constantly prepared for the precious seeds of truth. The thorns of sin will grow in any soil; they need no cultivation; but grace must be carefully cultivated. (Anyone here have a garden and find this to be true? The weeds flourish with no effort at all) The briars and thorns are always ready to spring up (remember, "an enemy has done this"), and the work of purification must advance continually. If the heart is not kept under the control of God, if the Holy Spirit does not work unceasingly to refine and ennoble the character, the old habits will reveal themselves in the life. Who here has not experienced this first-hand? Men may profess to believe the gospel; but unless they are sanctified by the gospel their profession is of no avail.

If they do not gain the victory over sin, then sin is gaining the victory over them. The thorns that have been cut off but not uprooted grow apace, until the soul is overspread with them. {COL 50.4}

Who or what determines what kind of soil a person is?

“Throughout the parable of the sower, Christ represents the different results of the sowing as depending upon the soil. In every case the sower and the seed are the same. Thus He teaches that if the word of God fails of accomplishing its work in our hearts and lives, the reason is to be found in ourselves. But the result is not beyond our control. True, we cannot change ourselves; but the power of choice is ours, and it rests with us to determine what we will become. The wayside, the stony-ground, the thorny-ground hearers need not remain such. The Spirit of God is ever seeking to break the spell of infatuation that holds men absorbed in worldly things, and to awaken a desire for the imperishable treasure. It is by resisting the Spirit that men become inattentive to or neglectful of God’s word. They are themselves responsible for the hardness of heart that prevents the good seed from taking root, and for the evil growths that check its development. The garden of the heart must be cultivated. The soil must be broken up by deep repentance for sin. Poisonous, Satanic plants must be uprooted. The soil once overgrown by thorns can be reclaimed only by diligent labor. So the evil tendencies of the natural heart can be overcome only by earnest effort in the name and strength of Jesus...This work He desires to accomplish for us, and He asks us to cooperate with Him. {COL 56.2}

The quarterly says, "We need to be careful how we approach those who don't seem to respond to the gospel as we think they should." How should we always respond? Speak the truth in love and leave people free. Let everyone be fully persuaded in their own mind.

Building on Rock

Another familiar parable told by Jesus in Matthew 7 starting with verse 21...this is from The Remedy:

21 “Not everyone who professes me as ‘Lord’ will enter the heavenly kingdom of love, but only those who have partaken of the Remedy, have been healed in heart, and live in harmony with my Father who is in heaven. 22 There will be many who will cry out to me that day, ‘Lord, Lord, don't you remember that we preached many sermons, saying "Jesus saves," we performed exorcisms, saying "Jesus cast you out," and performed many miracles, saying "in Jesus' name, be healed"?' 23 Then I will tell them the reality of their situation: 'You never trusted me, and we were never united in heart. Depart, because you are hardened in selfishness!' 24 "So understand this: Those who hear the truth I speak, and apply it to their lives, are like the wise person who built their house upon a solid rock foundation. 25 Then when it rained, and flood waters rose, and winds beat against that house, it did not fall, because it stood upon solid rock. 26 But everyone who hears the truth I speak and does not apply it to their lives is like the foolish person who built their house upon sand. 27 Then when it rained, and flood waters rose, and the winds beat against that house, it collapsed with a loud crash."

The Message says: 24-25

"These words I speak to you are not incidental additions to your life, homeowner improvements to your standard of living. They are foundational words, words to build a life on (design law/reality). If you work these words into your life, you are like a smart carpenter who built his house on solid rock. Rain poured down, the river flooded, a tornado hit—but nothing moved that house. It was fixed to the rock. 26-27 "But if you just use my words in Bible studies and don't work them into your life, you are like a stupid carpenter who built his house on the sandy beach. When a storm rolled in and the waves came up, it collapsed like a house of cards."

The quarterly asks: What is so frightening about this parable? Is it frightening? The quarterly also says that "there is no way to tell the difference between the two completed houses until the floods come"...do you find that to be true...in your own life? In others?

Ms. White says in Our High Calling that building upon the rock is not merely a feeling, but a changed life.

"Satan leads people to think that because they have felt a rapture of feeling, they are converted. But their experience does not change. Their actions are the same as before. Their lives show no good fruit. (this seems to be inherent in penal substitution theology – they have a form of godliness but deny its power...there is no victory) They pray often and long, and are constantly referring to the feelings they had at such and such a time. But they do not live the new life. They are deceived. Their experience goes no deeper than feeling. They build upon the sand, and when adverse winds come their house is swept away. Many poor souls are groping in darkness, looking for the feelings which others say they have had in their experience. They overlook the fact that the believer in Christ must work out his own salvation with fear and trembling...When Jesus speaks of the new heart, He means the mind, the life, the whole being. To have a change of heart is to withdraw the affections from the world, and fasten them upon

Christ. To have a new heart is to have a new mind, new purposes, new motives. What is the sign of a new heart?—A changed life. There is a daily, hourly dying to selfishness and pride. {OHC 159.5}

WEDNESDAY

Do Not Judge

The quarterly talks about the revolutionary nature of Christ's Sermon on the Mount given early in His ministry...and it really was. He told ordinary/despised/rejected people that they were valued and blessed in God's eyes, and that they were like the two highly-prized commodities of salt and light. He told how He was the embodiment of God's law (of love), and warned of trying to impress others with their own good behavior. And Jesus taught that character is determined by what a person thinks, not just by visible actions. All these were antithetical concepts to what was commonly taught by Jewish leaders and Pharisees.

Matthew 7:1-5 says,

“Do not be a fault finder, condemning and judgmental toward others, or you will discover that you are only exposing your own defects of character. For the way you treat others reveals the attributes of your own character, and the reality of your own condition is what determines your destiny. Why do you try to find the smallest defect in someone else's character, but ignore the malignant pathology in your own? How can you possibly think you can help another remove defects in their character when all the while your character is corrupt with selfishness? You charlatans! Healthy interventions require healthy minds: first address the defects in your own character, and then you will have the clarity and ability to help another remove defects in theirs.” (Remedy)

In what ways is the reality of the great controversy revealed in these texts – how is the interplay between good and evil manifested here?

What an invitation to conduct a relentless self-examination of our own actions and motives. Rarely do we look at ourselves squarely, critically, and honestly. We set ourselves up as the standard for everyone else. The problem with this is that there is so much we do not know or understand about other people. (Man can only look on the outward appearance, but God looks at the heart motives.) It is all too easy for us to see the mistakes in them. As a consequence of our tendency to sit in judgment of others, many people have been misrepresented. Aspersion has been cast on their characters unfairly. Unfortunately, in some cases, these individuals have left the church. Christ's teaching on this subject is direct and urgent based on the spiritual damage (to self and others) that judging others can cause. Do you think this advice is also for those who tend to be too hard, judgmental, and unforgiving of themselves?

DOA quote in the middle of the page, but in context:

“Judge not, that ye be not judged.” Do not think yourself better than other men, and set yourself up as their judge. Since you cannot discern motive, you are incapable of judging another. In criticizing him, you are passing sentence upon yourself; for you show that you are a participant with Satan, the accuser of the brethren. (yikes!) The Lord says, “Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves.” This is our work...The good tree will produce good fruit. If the fruit is unpalatable and worthless, the tree is evil. So the fruit borne in the life testifies as to the condition of the heart and the excellence of the character. Good works can never purchase salvation, but they are an evidence of the faith that acts by love and purifies the soul. And though the eternal reward is not bestowed because of our merit, yet it will be in proportion to the work that has been done through the grace of Christ. {DA 314.2}

Pink box: What is the difference between judging a person and judging the rightness or wrongness of their actions...is there a difference?

THURSDAY

I Am With You Always

God made the promise, “I will be with you,” and similarly “I will never leave you nor forsake you,” a number of times in scripture...and many times the promise is made in times of hardship and duress, when God’s words would be most relevant. What should that mean to us, in practical terms, in our own lives, in our own struggles, failures, and disappointments, and even when we feel that God has let us down?

“We fail many times because we do not realize that Christ is with us by His Spirit as truly as when...He moved visibly upon the earth. The lapse of time has wrought no change in His parting promise to His apostles as He was taken up from them into heaven...The Great Teacher has delegated power to His servants, who ‘have this treasure in earthen vessels.’ Christ will superintend the work of His ambassadors if they wait for His instruction and guidance.” {LHU 175.3}

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 8

Comrades in Arms

I received a few of emails I wanted to share with you.

I have been listening to your teaching of 01/23/16 and spent most of the time giggling about your "here's a quote from Ellen White" and wondering why it's such a big deal. Not being raised or currently Adventist it seems both sad and silly. But then I began to wonder how is the clutching reliance on an Ellen White quote different from the Catholics who have a similar clutching reliance on the Virgin Mary? Both groups look to a human female for their spiritual guidance and neither trusts what God and Jesus say in the Bible without the "blessing" of the human female.

I'm sure I'm missing some profound historical SDA church doctrine. But from an outsider's perspective, it sure looks similar. –Washington State

Dear Dr Jennings, I want to give God thanks and praise for what he is accomplishing through the ministry He has given you.

We had 5 sessions at my church last week as a revival program entitled "Rekindling a Lost Passion."

We used the concepts from your ministry and some of your stories to remind people that GOD is LOVE and everything is to be understood from this principle.

People have made many comments about the program including one Pastor. People have commented that they have not looked at things from that perspective before. We are so grateful to God for the positive impact the revival program has made.

Personally, since I started studying God's word from this viewpoint my life has been transformed. I can say my troubled marriage of 15 years has been healed and my husband and I are truly happy for the first time in 15 years.

Now, when I read the word of God I understand it so much better and I can't help but see God's love radiating through the pages to humanity. God's word is living and active and I am blessed beyond measure to be having this amazing experience.

God has given me a beautiful understanding of Jn 3:16 that amazes me more and more each day.

Thank you again for your ministry. I continue to lift you and you team and your ministry up in prayer.

I have asked the South England Conference Personal Ministries Director to check out your ministry and consider inviting you to come to visit us in the UK to share. We continue to pray for God's guidance in this.

May Our God continue to bless and keep you and your family and your ministry. -- England

Greetings. I had the special privilege of hearing Dr. Jennings speak in Sacramento a few weeks ago. (I introduced myself to him as someone employed by a ministry known for its, er, emphasis on "conservative Adventism"—but I wasn't spying!) Hearing his presentations came at a pivotal moment in my spiritual journey. This pivot began about nine months ago, when the fault lines inherent in my belief-set began to crack under questions that, I suspect, most reasonable people end up asking about God and His nature. These were questions I couldn't find answers to, and they shook my faith; I was unable let it go any longer and be satisfied. My Christian experience became distant, and I was afraid; the fear in me rose like thorns, pushing me away from Jesus. And then someone heard my questions and introduced me to Graham Maxwell. And then they introduced me to Dr. Jennings' teachings, and my life has totally changed.

While I am forever indebted to the ministry that brought me into the fold of Adventism, I can tell you that this new "present truth" message is far grander and life-changing than when I shifted from agnostic and nominal Christian to Adventism. It has radically altered my worldview because it reveals a God that makes sense. It is a revolution. I believe that, whether perfected or not yet perfected, Dr. Jennings' message is the final message that must go to the world. If any message could be called "righteousness by faith," as abused as that term is by the right and the left, this is that message. One reason is that Jennings' biblical message identifies a God who is different not just over a day or a duration in hell—but whose character isn't an impossible contradiction. It's made all the difference in the world, and it gives me hope.

My journey to know God isn't complete and will never be—but I walk this path now without fear. I see people differently, and the Holy Spirit burns in my heart. Many call Dr. Jennings' message false and compromising, but it isn't false because I've seen the fruits within my mind and body. It is not compromising, because in this message is the only road to holiness that makes any sense. No longer do I behold a pagan god who is always angry, always suspicious, and therefore, by its own nature, gives me sufficient excuse to bend others to my will by might or manipulation. Instead, I behold a God who is freeing and loving, always working for our good—giving me every reason to love my enemy even to my own death, just as Jesus pleads with us. God is good.

You have a supporter and friend. Thank you for the courage to stand among Pharisees and be stoned.-- California

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “From the earliest...” The lesson notes that Jesus chose humans to take part in preaching, teaching, and ministering. The lesson says this like it is almost a surprise, like it is something amazing that He would choose humans to participate in His gospel ministry.

Do you hear it almost implied that way or is it just me?

But when we understand God’s design law, and how reality actually works, it is no surprise at all. In fact, it is not only predictable that Jesus would choose humans, it is necessary—why?

What was Jesus able to do all by Himself, and what was He not able to do without human involvement?

- Jesus, singly and alone, procured the Remedy to sin.
- Jesus singly and alone perfected the human condition.
- Jesus fixed in the humanity He assumed what Adam broke.
- Another way to say it is, Jesus perfectly restored God’s law of love into humanity and purged the infection of fear and selfishness.
- Another way to say it is, Jesus developed a perfect human character!
- Jesus revealed the Father perfectly.
- Jesus defeated the devil by using His human brain and living a perfect human life.
- All this Jesus did without any help from humanity.

But, what can Jesus NOT do without human participation? Save (i.e. heal) any other human being. Why not?

Because the healing God wants is the healing of the inner man, the renewal of character to be like God. This takes the cooperation of the sentient being. Without the cooperation of the free-will being God’s power working in them would destroy them, i.e. destroy their individuality, erase their identity.

The only way for us as individuals to be restored to righteousness is for our active cooperation with God. Thus, Jesus chooses people to be part of His mission team. Because of several of God’s design laws, this is the only way it is possible. Can you name some of them?

- The law of worship—by beholding we are changed. We actually become like the God we worship. If we spend no time thinking, contemplating, admiring, loving, desiring, choosing, embracing and internalizing more and more of our God, we are not being changed.
- The law of exertion. If you want to get stronger you must exercise. By participating with God, by experience with Him, by trusting Him, by turning to Him, by talking with Him, by acting in harmony with His design and methods, by sharing His truths, by teaching His message, by living His principles all under the guidance and influence of the Holy Spirit we are transformed, renewed, healed.
- The law of love. The more you give the more you will receive. It is by giving we open our hearts to receive. Thus God's prescription to give, to give offerings, to give of our time and energy, to minister.
- The law of liberty. Love only exists and flourishes in an atmosphere of freedom. This is why God cannot heal or save any human without their cooperation and active participation.

In other words, our involvement in ministry is part of the plan to heal us.

This is taught in the parable of the talents, those who invest what they have will be given more, those who don't invest but bury their talents lose what they have. This is not an arbitrary law. It is not about money. It is about the abilities and talents we have been given. If we invest what we have been given, practice our art, music, math, reasoning, compassion, hospitality, or whatever ability we have been given, it will grow and our talents and abilities will increase. If, however, we bury our ability and don't exercise it, don't use it, well—if we don't use it we lose it!

So, it is no surprise at all that God has chosen humans to share in the gospel ministry—we need it far more than God does!

Read last paragraph, “Pride, doubt...” Do you know what obedience is in Bible terms? It is, in the New Testament Greek πακούω [hupakouo /hoop·ak·oo·o] which means hupa, from which we get hypo, as in hypoglycemia—low blood sugar, or hypotension—low blood pressure. It means low, under, or humble. And akouo, from which we get acoustical, to listen.

Thus Bible obedience is a humble willingness to listen and learn, to be corrected, to be educated, to have your understanding “set right” to have your operating system updated and the erroneous code replaced with accurate code. It means, developing a mind that loves truth, recognizes truth and assimilates truth at the earliest possible moment.

This requires we be won to trust, if we don't trust then we won't be open to be corrected, to have error removed. We will not have our data bases updated with accurate code!

I love this quote from The Desire of Ages:

The Comforter is called "the Spirit of truth." His work is to define and maintain the truth. He first dwells in the heart as the Spirit of truth, and thus He becomes the Comforter. There is comfort and peace in the truth, but no real peace or comfort can be found in falsehood. It is through false theories and traditions that Satan gains his power over the mind. By directing men to false standards, he misshapes the character. Through the Scriptures the Holy Spirit speaks to the mind, and impresses truth upon the heart. Thus He exposes error, and expels it from the soul. It is by the Spirit of truth, working through the word of God, that Christ subdues His chosen people to Himself. {DA 671.1}

Thus the disciples when they were not listening, not open to be taught, redirected, educated, set right, were "disobedient."

What about us, we don't have to have every answer, or have every fact right, or know every question on every Bible quiz, but we have to have hearts that love truth and minds that can be taught, that are humble and willing to listen and learn—when the evidence is reasonable!

The traditional penal view of teaching focuses on behavior and claiming legal payments, and this leads to minds which become rigid and unwilling to learn. It develops attitudes of hardening hearts around a fixed set of doctrines or creeds and rejecting any advancing truth which would modify or change one's current understanding, thus even if one has a correct fact, one is a disobedient person. This is exemplified by the Pharisees in Christ's day who had the right Sabbath day, but rejected the Creator of the Sabbath—why? Because they focused on a legal religion of rules, rather than developing hearts that were willing to listen and be educated and led by advancing truth!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "When one considers..." First, now that we understand design law, and what Jesus accomplished in His person, versus what He accomplishes in us, is it really surprising that Jesus would use human beings to aid Him, or do we realize there was no option if Jesus wanted to save other human beings?

Second—what are the incredible issues at stake?

Setting the entire universe right through revealing the truth about God's character of love!

Does humanity have any part to play in that revelation?

What was God's original design for humankind? To be what? In whose image was humanity created? God's and what would be the operating system designed and uploaded into humankind originally? Would it not be perfect love?

And what is another name for this operating system? God's law, which is a living law, God's law of love is the protocol upon which life is constructed, and cannot be understood written on stone. It was only written on stone, when it was no longer written in God's original repository—the hearts and minds of human beings!

Thus the new covenant—"I will write my laws on their hearts and minds..."

So, does humanity have a role to play in the incredible issues? What was revealed when Adam sinned? What questions could be raised by an enemy?

Perhaps that there was a manufacturer's defect, that God's creation, God's construction, God's design is flawed this is why we see so much pain, suffering and sin on earth.

Jesus overcame as a human—this reveals not only God's true character, but that there was NO manufacturer's defect. Adam was perfectly designed and built!

Further, God's methods, God's law, is so perfect, that even those who were born defective, born with fear and selfishness in their hearts, if they unite with Christ can have that old corrupt system overwritten by a new operating system, i.e. a new heart and right spirit, and we who were dead in trespass and sin can be brought to spiritual life and bring forth peaceable fruits of righteousness!

Here are a couple of interesting historical quotes I found while preparing this week:

The people of God are the repositories of his law, and he tells us that we are to be a separate and distinct people. {RH, January 4, 1887 par. 14}

So, at this time, there is a people whom God has made the repository of his law. [how is this statement heard by level four and below thinkers? We have the Sabbath law and we obey the right rules, we are the guardians of the Sabbath and must protect it from violations and if you keep violating the Sabbath you will get the mark of the beast. How is it heard by level five and above? We are corrupt with fear and selfishness and we need to have our hearts and minds renewed to love God and others more than self so that “it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.” The law of love must be written into our hearts and minds.] To those who obey them, the commandments of God are as a pillar of fire, lighting and leading the way to eternal salvation. But unto those who disregard them, they are as the clouds of night. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Better than all other knowledge is an understanding of the word of God. In keeping his commandments there is great reward, [what reward? It would be like saying in exercising, eating right, avoiding tobacco there is great reward—why? Because there is great reward in being healthy, and health comes from being in harmony with the law upon which all life and health and happiness is designed to function] and no earthly inducements should cause the Christian to waver for a moment in his allegiance. Riches, honor, and worldly pomp are but as dross that shall perish before the fire of God's wrath. {ST, April 1, 1880 par. 29}

So notice this quotation from The Desire of Ages regarding the role our healing from sin has in revealing the truth about God and His character of love!

Of the Spirit Jesus said, "He shall glorify Me." The Saviour came to glorify the Father by the demonstration of His love; so the Spirit was to glorify Christ by revealing His grace to the world. The very image of God is to be reproduced in humanity. The honor of God, the honor of Christ, is involved in the perfection of the character of His people. {DA 671.3}

Read second paragraph, “Some time later...” Does this mean they were “inspired by God?”

- Did they know all things?
- Did they answer every question correctly?
- Did they win every battle and confrontation with evil?
- Were they infallible?

What about these same Apostles after Pentecost, were they inspired by God?

- Were they then infallible?
- Did they ever make any mistakes? (What about Peter having to be corrected by Paul?) Did that make Peter's epistles less inspired?

- What about Paul's writings, were they without any human error? What about 1Cor 1:14-15? "I am thankful that I did not baptize any of you except Crispus and Gaius, ¹⁵ so no one can say that you were baptized into my name." Was this an inspired statement? Oh, quickly read verse 16 "(Yes, I also baptized the household of Stephanas; beyond that, I don't remember if I baptized anyone else.)"

What is the point? Was Paul relying on his own memory or was the Holy Spirit having trouble remembering? Inspiration is not divine dictation. We do not have God as a writer expressed in Scripture. Inspiration inspires fallible human beings with new characters, new motives, new wisdom and insight, not with omniscience, or perfect biology, or infallibility. Thus, the Bible teaches, each person is to be fully persuaded in their own minds. We are not to surrender our thinking to others, even inspired persons—consider the old and the young prophet in the Old Testament!

We must think out the truths for ourselves,

"We must study the truth for ourselves. No man should be relied upon to think for us. No matter who he is, or in what position he may be placed, we are not to look upon any man as a criterion for us. We are to counsel together, and to be subject one to another; but at the same time we are to exercise the ability God has given us, in order to learn what is truth. Each one of us must look to God for divine enlightenment. We must individually develop a character that will stand the test in the day of God." Testimonies to Ministers 109,110; first published in Gospel Workers, 1892 ed., pp. 128,129; cf. 2RH 311:3:1 (RH, June 18, 1889); CW 45; ST, Feb. 6, 1893

What is this passage saying? Why must we study for ourselves? Why are others not to do our thinking for us?

For the same reason others are not to do our physical exercises for us; why is it others are not to do our physical exercises for us? Because we cannot grow stronger if we don't exercise, and our minds cannot grow stronger, our characters cannot grow stronger if we don't think for ourselves.

But think about the analogy of physical exercise, is it okay to get a coach, a trainer, and instructor to guide you in exercise? Absolutely, but at the end of the day you must still do the exercises for yourself.

Likewise having a teacher someone who can present ideas to your is okay, as long as you think them through for yourselves and only believe when you are able to comprehend, just like you did when you learned math or any other subject.

There is real danger in taking the position that we should believe based on the authority of the person who told us:

"There are today thousands of professors of religion who can give no other reason for points of faith which they hold than that they were so instructed by their religious leaders. They pass by the Saviour's teachings almost unnoticed, and place implicit confidence in the words of the ministers. But are ministers infallible? How can we trust our souls to their guidance unless we know from God's word that they are light bearers?" 4SP 413-415 (1884); Great Controversy 595-597 (1888); RH, June 7, 1906

"All whom God has blessed with reasoning powers are to become intellectual Christians. They are not requested to believe without evidence; therefore Jesus has enjoined upon all to search the Scriptures. Let the ingenious inquirer, and the one who would know for himself what is truth, exert his mental powers to search out the truth as it is in Jesus. Any neglect here is at the peril of the soul. We must know individually the prescribed conditions of entering into eternal life. . . . We cannot allow these questions to be settled for us by another's mind, or another's judgment. . . . We cannot trust the salvation of our souls to ministers, to idle traditions, to human authorities, or to pretensions. . . . The Lord positively demands of every Christian an intelligent knowledge of the Scriptures." Review and Herald, March 8, 1887 (2RH 117:1:1 - 2:0); The Medical Missionary, May 1, 1892

Why does the Lord positively demand this? For the same reason He positively demands we breathe—He is saying "I want you to know how life is constructed and live in harmony with that Design. Therefore, I want you to know me and my Father because life is built to operate upon the law of love, an expression of our character. This design has been recorded in Scripture along with the evidence of what happens when our designed is broken. So study for yourselves, understand how reality actually works and choose life, choose to live in harmony with our design!"

Read last paragraph, "One would not be..." There is much truth in this paragraph. Truly the world has suffered throughout history from the abuses of people calling themselves Christian.

What do you think the authors mean by those who go on a mission for Jesus that don't know Him? Who would you think they would include in that group?

Do you think if a person goes to a denominational training program i.e. seminary, they are considered having been taught by Jesus?

Does going to seminary and getting a degree in theology mean one has spent time with Jesus learning from Him?

What criteria does our church use for choosing leadership? Is it spending time with Jesus or getting degree in theology, or would they say both?

If Peter and Andrew, James and John—four fishermen, who had no formal seminary training, as well as Luke—a physician, and Matthew—a tax collector, we might call him an accountant today ☺, if these men were in our church today could they be elected to conference president? Is there something wrong with a system that would preclude Christ's own Apostles from leadership?

How can one know if someone has spent time with Jesus and learned of Him? Are there evidences? What would those be?

What did Jesus say? "By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another." Jn 13:35

Here is another interesting quote:

...love is the evidence of their discipleship. "By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples," said Jesus, "if ye have love one to another." When men are bound together, not by force or self-interest, but by love, they show the working of an influence that is above every human influence. Where this oneness exists, it is evidence that the image of God is being restored in humanity, that a new principle of life has been implanted. It shows that there is power in the divine nature to withstand the supernatural agencies of evil, and that the grace of God subdues the selfishness inherent in the natural heart. {DA 678.1}

Notice the focus of Jesus was on character development—there was not a test of creeds, of holding to right doctrines and as this thought came to me I found this very powerful quote, what do you think?

The apostle showed that religion does not consist in rites and ceremonies, creeds and theories. If it did, the natural man could understand it by investigation, as he understands worldly things. Paul taught that religion is a practical, saving energy, a principle wholly from God, a personal experience of God's renewing power upon the soul. {AA 451.3}

He showed how Moses had pointed Israel forward to Christ as that Prophet whom they were to hear; how all the prophets had testified of Him as God's great remedy for sin, the guiltless One who was to bear the sins of the guilty. He did not find fault with their observance of forms and ceremonies, but showed that while they maintained the ritual service with great exactness, they were rejecting Him who was the antitype of all that system. {AA 451.4}

Levels 1-4 thinkers get stuck on the symbols, the rituals, the rules, the creeds, the do's and don'ts, the behaviors and fail to see the reality to which all God-given rituals, symbols, metaphors and parables point. And that reality is first and foremost Jesus and then to the design protocols upon which all creation is constructed to operate!

What do you think is the number one ploy Satan has used to co-opt people who profess to be followers of Christ into actually misrepresenting God? I think it is by infecting their minds with a wrong conception of God's law, getting them to believe God's law functions no different than human law, thus all the methods and attributes of Satan, compelling power, coercive power, punishing power etc. come in and are taught as if these actions are of God.

I was at the town hall meeting in Atlanta a few weeks ago in which the ACA was discussed. One of the panelists argued for the government to do a massive redistribution of wealth in order to provide equity in health care to the poor and disadvantaged.

I made comments then about how there are two general ways to redistribute wealth but have thought about it more:

- One way is through charitable giving—those who have, from love in their hearts see the less fortunate and actively choose to give to help those in need. This is God's method, taught by Jesus Himself. In this method those who give are blessed with ever increasing love, grace, compassion and Christlike character development in the act of giving. Those who receive are blessed with thankfulness, their hearts are warmed in appreciation knowing that what is given is not earned, is not a right, is an expression of love for they are valuable and this inspires thanksgiving in their hearts and a desire for application of love in giving to others and improving oneself to become a giver. It is by love that love is awakened in the heart.
- But there is another way to redistribute wealth—it is the way of the beast, the way of earthly governments which the Bible describes as beasts. It is by coercive force, taking from people not yet willing to give, forcing them to give their resources to people that someone else has deemed worthy of receiving those resources. In this system those who have their wealth taken are cheated of the privilege of giving, rather than love and compassion growing in their hearts, often there is resentment, a feeling of being exploited and taken advantage of. Such actions plant seeds of discord into the heart and cause division rather than unity in society. Those who receive the redistributed wealth, often rather than feeling appreciative and thankful, feel they are entitled, that it is their right and demand more and more from others, and in fact get angry and protest when more is not given—cause further division rather than unity in society.

We cannot win God's causes by using Satan's methods! There is a reason that the church and state are to be separated. The state always uses Satan's methods, and even when their goal is a good goal, like helping those in need, they will do it with methods that ultimately contaminate the hearts of humans rather than heal their hearts.

We have a message to free people from fear and selfishness, and it is the truth about God's character of love, which is also the law of love, which is the protocols upon which reality is built, which is design law. No earthly government operates upon this law—this is the church's responsibility. We are to be the light that shines in the darkness of this world showing a better way!

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Though we don't fully..." Remember what Paul said in Romans 8, that all nature groans under the weight of sin. What do you think this means?

What about the parable of Jesus that an enemy has planted tares into the field, what is implied?

Do you agree with this historical perspective?

Christ never planted the seeds of death in the system. Satan planted these seeds when he tempted Adam to eat of the tree of knowledge which meant disobedience to God. Not one noxious plant was placed in the Lord's great garden, but after Adam and Eve sinned, poisonous herbs sprang up. In the parable of the sower the question was asked the master, "Didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?" The master answered, "An enemy hath done this" (Matthew 13:27, 28). All tares are sown by the evil one. Every noxious herb is of his sowing, and by his ingenious methods of amalgamation he has corrupted the earth with tares. {2SM 288.2}

Did Satan only alter plant life on earth, or animals and humans as well? Is all creation corrupted? Genetic defects are in all living things, God did not put them there; these are a result of sin.

Should we feel bad or guilty because of this?

Recently, I received some feedback from a group of individuals who were advocating for LGBT Adventists. They reported that my presentation on homosexuality in the Christian world, on the God and Your Church DVD, was generally experienced as very positive and helpful, but some felt I was calling them defective and made them feel bad all over again. One person expressed the idea that sexual identity variation is not a deviation that resulted from sin, but something that was built into the genome by God.

I personally reject this view, and view all biological degradation from God's design as being a result of sin, being born:

- blind
- deaf
- Down's syndrome
- Autistic
- Gay or lesbian or chimeras or AIS

Now, some groups have begun advocating that these are not defects but simple variations. Some deaf individuals resist interventions that might cure deafness because the deaf have their own language and culture. Some with high functioning autism are arguing this isn't a defect just a difference in brain wiring that confers certain advantages.

I am convinced that when all things are made new, there will be no person in heaven who is blind, deaf, paralyzed, autistic, mentally retarded, gay, lesbian, transgendered, old, weak, wrinkled, bald, suffering with arthritis, or any other deviation that is not perfect.

So, I say to someone who is blind or deaf, do you feel you are less of a human being, cursed by God, not loved by Him, not useful in His cause? I hope not, because being blind or deaf has no bearing on your worth as His child—likewise having some issue which confuses one's sexual identity has no bearing on one's value and worth as God's child. If you are Gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgendered, you need to stop feeling bad because of that condition and start realizing you are a child of God, and the issue is one of character, not biology! All of us have defective biology!

Read last paragraph, “Though the lessons...” What do you think of the idea of the “extent of Jesus’ power?”

When Jesus was on earth what was the extent of Jesus’ power?

Was Jesus using His own innate divine power? Jesus said of His own self He can do nothing—He was a human and was dependent upon His Father.

What about Samson—did Samson have supernatural strength of his own accord? So, what Samson did was dependent upon God. But, while Samson was endowed with that strength was Samson left free to use it as Samson chose?

What about Adam in Eden, did Adam in Eden have powers over nature? Remember what we read in the references last week? Where did Adam’s ability to have power over nature originate? So Adam’s abilities were from God, but did God control Adam’s use of those abilities?

What about the abilities you and I possess, music, art, intelligence or other abilities, do these originate in us or do they come from God? But, are we left free to develop them and use them how we see fit?

What about Jesus when on earth? I do not think Jesus had the same strength and innate abilities that Adam had. Jesus however was able to be the conduit of God’s life giving energy as manifested in many settings, but so were the Apostles. The question is how much of that power was endowed, like Samson’s strength, or our talents, and how much was special event driven conduction—like miracle healings? We don’t really know.

In the bottom green section it states, “Though we can see the reality of the Lord’s power, even over nature, the one place where He will not force that power is on our won will.”

Well said! Why not?

So, how many doctrines in Christianity are eliminated if we apply this truth?

- Any doctrine of God inflicting punishment (not discipline) upon sinners is eliminated
- Any doctrine in which pain and suffering originate in God
- Any doctrine in which God executes the wicked for sin (eternal death not temporary sleep—which is not punishment but therapeutic intervention)
- Any doctrine in which God must be appeased, propitiated or assuaged
- Any doctrine in which legal payments must be made

All such doctrines violate this idea of God apply His power to our will.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on the final journey to Jerusalem, right before the last supper, and the disciples were arguing over who was going to be the greatest.

Read last paragraph, “Perhaps the most...” What lessons do we learn from this?

Did the disciples know what they were doing was wrong? Were they trying to hide it from Jesus? Had they already, at some time in the past, been shown by Jesus their attitudes were wrong? Were they stumbling back into a known sin and repeating it? Were they rejected or cast off by Jesus?

How many have struggled with sin in their lives? Sin that they know is sin, sin that they have been convicted of in the past, and sin which they are repeating?

What lesson do you learn from this?

- Jesus doesn’t cast you off
- The issues isn’t one of legal standing
- The issue is one of changing oneself, hardening one’s heart, searing one’s conscience, damaging one’s character.
- It is just like a doctor patient relationship, if you are non-compliant the doctor doesn’t worsen your blood sugar if you are a diabetic and eat candy, or refuse to take your medicine, but you get worse and yet the doctor still works to heal all the damage. But this requires one to understand reality through design law and move past the false imposed law construct.

THURSDAY

The lesson focuses on the two men on the road to Emmaus and their encounter with Jesus who took them through the evidences of Scripture before revealing Himself to them.

Read fifth paragraph, “Notice that Jesus...” The lesson seems to be using this encounter of Jesus as proof for using only Scripture. However, there is a reason that only Scripture was used here, what is it?

Because this encounter was about demonstrating to these men that the Bible is true and accurate in regards to Jesus being the promised Messiah; it was only in Scripture one found the prophecies of the Messiah and God's plan of salvation laid out. Thus, Jesus used the Scripture in this particular encounter exclusively because of the truth that needed to be taught.

However, Jesus also used the two other threads repeatedly in His teaching of others. He constantly used nature and science, and taught people by experience, particularly their actual experience with Him. What did the spies say when they reported back to the Pharisees? No man speaks like Him—in other words they had an experience with Jesus and based on that experience they were changed. Doubting Thomas Jesus said place your hand in my side, stop doubting, believe—based on what in that setting?

We must integrate all the threads, not exclude two.

In the green section it states, “How, then, can we guard ourselves against any type of thinking that would cause us to question the authority of Scripture?”

What is the authority of Scripture? Is the Scripture an authoritative source of:

- Mathematics
- Physics
- Astronomy
- Medicine
- Dentistry
- Nursing

What is the authority of Scripture? It is the accurate and authoritative record of God's dealing with the rebellion against His design.

The Scripture is NOT—a codebook of rules listing how one should live and act. It is a revelation of God's character, which reveals the principles upon which one should live and act!

The Scripture is NOT—a legal document with a legal constitution or rights we may access and exercise. It is a revelation of God's law of love, the protocols upon which creation is constructed.

The Scripture is NOT—a mystical book with secret phrases, incantations, or magic mantras that we can learn to gain power or salvation. It is God's revelation of His secret plan to heal and restore all who trust Him back into His original design.

The Scripture is NOT—a powerful talisman, lucky charm, or amulet that one can carry with them to ward off evil powers or protect from painful events. It is the revelation of God’s power of love and truth to free the mind from such superstitious thinking and enlighten with reality based understanding, harmonized with science and experience that leads us back to the true knowledge of God.

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 9

The Great Controversy and the Early Church

SABBATH

Read memory text: “When they saw the courage of Peter and John and realized that they were unschooled, ordinary men, they were astonished and they took note that these men had been with Jesus.” Acts 4:13 NIV

What do you think is meant by their courage? To whom were they speaking? Who was trying to silence them? What were the potential consequences of speaking out? (They faced the religious and political authorities who threatened to beat, imprison and kill them)

Do you think they had fear? If yes, what enabled them to overcome their fear? If no, why not? Isn't fear a normal human response in such circumstances?

So what enabled them to overcome their fear?

Taking the focus off themselves and focusing on something more than self—what enables us to do this?

- Love—for another person or for God—the love of a mother for her child will cause the mother to sacrifice self without thought if she perceives the life the child is in danger
 - soldiers in combat—the reason they go into harms way is love for their brother in arms
 - Love activates the anterior cingulate cortex and calms the fear circuitry—amygdala
- Understanding reality in larger terms and operating within that reality—Matthew 10:28 the Great Controversy perspective that a person reconciled to Christ is beyond killing, they can only shut down the body, they cannot destroy the individuality, the personhood. In other words the perceived danger isn't exactly as everyone else perceives it.
 - Our understanding can be false, be delusional even, but if it is of a certain nature it can still take away fear—consider the Branch Davidians, or those who drank the Kool-Aid in Jonestown...
- Trust—trusting someone to handle the outcomes and problems for you, trusting someone has your back
 - Our trust can be placed well or can be placed poorly, but trusting in something larger than self can alleviate fear
- Having a mission, a purpose which we believe is important enough that we are willing to give ourselves for it—and this can either be good or evil.

- consider suicide bombers

Notice—all these actions take the focus off of self, thus fear decreases.

So Peter and John had courage—why did they have courage? They had all four:

- They loved God and loved others
- They understood reality in it's larger Great Controversy setting
- They trusted Jesus with their lives
- They had a mission, a purpose, larger than themselves
- Thus, they were not focusing on self!

What about the second part of the memory verse, that these ordinary, unschooled men, were able to know truth and speak words of truth beyond the understanding of the religious leaders and seminary professors. How was it possible and what does it mean for us today?

- Truth is not the exclusive property of a elite group—sometimes called the clergy
- Truth is available to every human being, what is the only requirement? A humble willingness to learn, to think, to be taught, to allow God to reveal and teach you.

I found this quote in The Desire of Ages this week, what do you think?

Christ affirmed that His word was in itself a key which would unlock the mystery to those who were prepared to receive it. It had a self-commending power, and this was the secret of the spread of His kingdom of truth. He desired Pilate to understand that only by receiving and appropriating truth could his ruined nature be reconstructed. {DA 727.3}

What do you understand this to be saying?

Jesus said, “You will know the truth and the truth will set you free.” Jn 8:32 Free from what? Lies—what lies hold us in bondage?

How do we assimilate the truth? What Bible metaphors are used to teach the assimilation of truth?

- Eating the flesh of the sacrificial lamb, which Christ transferred to Himself when He said that we must eat His flesh—which is what? -The truth, the Word!
- Eating manna—Jesus is the bread of heaven
- Eating the unleavened bread during Passover, or during communion and drinking the wine

What do all of these metaphorical examples have in common and what lesson are they teaching?

- They are eating—what law does eating operating upon?
- Design law—which is the body must have digestible molecules to provide energy and building blocks to sustain itself, repair, grow, heal—what is the lesson applied to our spiritual need?
- What happens if we eat a meal once a week?
- When we eat, do we think about consuming food as a legal work we must do in order to be healthy? “I can’t believe all these legal requirements. I have to eat every day....”
- What about when we consider daily devotional time with God? Do we consider it work? A checklist, a duty, a penance?
 - What if some say, “I don’t study the Bible, that is salvation by works, I’m saved by grace.”
- Does eating food for your body and why we do it, give us some insight into why Daniel prayed three times a day?
- Can people eat food that tastes good but is not nutritious and instead of building the body up, actually tears it down?
- Can people do spiritual ingestion, partake of spiritual activities, internalize books, songs, other ideas that instead of building up the character actual damage the mind?
- How do we know what to put in our bodies? What is healthy and what is not? Understanding God’s design—the more we understand of God’s design for life, the easier and easier it is to determine what is healthy and what is not
- What about what to put into our minds? This is one of the reasons I stopped listening to certain preachers, because they almost always misrepresented God, presented God in some way that perpetuated one of Satan’s lies about God.
 - Remember the integrative evidence-based approach, use the three threads and always come back to Jesus. If something is being taught about God that is contradictory to what Jesus revealed, then something is wrong!

We have reasoned out God’s Word, thinking through the metaphors to come to a reality based conclusion that the flesh and blood represent assimilating into our being the truth that comes from Christ. Now, here are some historical quotes:

Those who believe present truth are to practice the truth, live the truth. They are to study the Word and eat the Word, which means eating the flesh and drinking the blood of the Son of God. They are to bring that Word, which is Spirit and life, into their daily, practical life. It is the bread from heaven, and it will give life to the world.—Letter 34, 1896. {Christ Triumphant 247.5}

In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life.”
Fundamentals of Christian Education 378

How little children are educated to study the Bible as the word of God, and feed upon its truths, which are the flesh and blood of the Son of God! "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink His blood, ye have no life in you. Whoso eat[s] My flesh, and drink[s] My blood [that is, continues to receive the words of Christ, and practice them], ha[s] eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day. {FE 385.3}

Consider a computer operating system with corrupt code—what is needed? Our minds have many corrupt ideas, only by internalizing truth based ideas can our minds be healed!

Read first paragraph, “The greatest barrier...” How do preconceived opinions create a barrier?

Our preconceived opinions are like filters which determine how we hear and understand data as it comes into our minds.

For instance, if we have the preconceived opinion that a person is an ISIS agent, will that impact how we hear what they are saying?

What do we have preconceived ideas about:

- God’s law
- What sin is
- Why sin is wrong

Will these preconceived ideas alter how we understand the plan of salvation and the purpose of the Cross?

Many of you have told me that you know people who reject what we teach because some person told them that I teach heresy. But these same people have come to believe what we teach and get excited about these very same truths when they hear it from someone else...why? Because their preconceived ideas taint their ability to evaluate the evidence for themselves.

SUNDAY

Imagine you were alive 2000 years ago, Jesus has been crucified, but is now risen from the dead. You are among the people to whom He has appeared—what would you like to ask Him?

- What can we do to hasten the end of sin?
- What was the earth like before sin?
- Are we in a time dilation field?
- What can I do to help?
- Can you fix me?
- What causes people to radiate light as they come into closer unity with you?
- Or would you simply like to give Jesus a hug and tell him you are sorry that He has had to suffer all that He has?

The last paragraph points out that even after the disciples had seen Jesus for themselves they needed something else before they were ready to go and evangelize the world—what? The indwelling of the Holy Spirit—why?

Here is how our church has taught about the Holy Spirit:

The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power. It is the Spirit that makes effectual what has been wrought out by the world's Redeemer. It is by the Spirit that the heart is made pure. Through the Spirit the believer becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Christ has given His Spirit as a divine power to overcome all hereditary and cultivated tendencies to evil, and to impress His own character upon His church. {DA 671.2}

Consider the battle between Christ and Satan:

- It started in heaven with Satan misrepresenting God's character by attacking the legitimacy of Jesus and the position Jesus held in heaven
- It spread to earth by attacking the trustworthiness of God
- After Adam sinned, God has been working to save humanity and Satan has been working to obstruct that work

- In OT times we see the back and forth between these forces working on the hearts of men. Satan seeking to get humanity to close their hearts to God—and thus obstruct God’s healing plan; and God working to win humanity back to trust in Him.
- We see when Jesus was born that Satan tried to have Him killed, but failed.
- Satan tempted Jesus but failed.
- Satan had Jesus killed, but failed to destroy Him and Jesus conquered death and every other obstacle and fixed what sin did to the species human. Jesus Christ is the Remedy to our terminal sin-condition!
- But now that Jesus has achieved the Remedy, the Remedy still needs application into the hearts/minds of sinful humans, without that application it doesn’t do us any good, so what is Satan’s strategy at this time in history?
- To get people to either accept a false remedy, which has no power to actually transform—they have a form of godliness but deny the power...
- OR—to deny the Agency through which the true Remedy is applied to the believer—to teach the Holy Spirit is not real, there is no Trinity.
 - This idea that there is no Holy Spirit undermine God’s character of love, as love cannot exist in a singularity (in fact a singularity is sometimes called a black hole, which sucks everything in and gives nothing back).
 - The idea that there is no Holy Spirit implants lies into the minds of human beings that prevent them from experiencing the indwelling Spirit, which would heal and transform them. After all, if you don’t believe there is a Holy Spirit would you ask God for the indwelling of the Spirit?
 - There is also another false remedy and that is accepting a counterfeit spirit which gives wonderful emotional experience, but doesn’t transform the character to be like Jesus’!

MONDAY

Pentecost—what happened at that first Pentecost after Christ’s resurrection?

The Holy Spirit came upon them and they saw something—what?

Streams of fire—what kind of fire? Did anyone get burned? Did the building catch fire? Was this the fire a fire of combustion?

How many streams? Two, why two? Any significance?

What are the two main attributes used to describe the Holy Spirit—the Spirit of....Truth and Love. The two streams were the streams of truth and love!

And what do truth and love do?

What does truth burn out? Lies!

What does love burn out? Selfishness!

From where does truth burn out lies and love burn out selfishness?

Do you see why we need the Holy Spirit?

Read bottom green section, “Some who had...” What is the power of God to change hearts?

What power is a power that never corrupts and never wears out and never corrodes?

Let’s examine this idea of power—what kinds of power are there?

- Coercive power of various kinds—physical power with threats, intimidation, punishment—is this type of power reliable? Will the use of this type of power to gain converts result in reliable, stable, trustworthy, unshakable followers? In other words if you get converts this way do they stay loyal, will they stand against all opposition? What will cause them to collapse?
 - A bigger threat!
 - Or a better inducement!
 - Love
- Inducing power—the power of bribes, payoffs, promotions, money and power, advancement, praise, adoration—does this power result in reliable, stable, trustworthy, unshakable outcomes? Will people stay loyal who follow for what they can get against any and all opposition? What will cause them to collapse?
 - A serious threat!
 - Or a better payoff!
 - Love
- The power of lies—deceit and deception, will getting people to join your cause based on lies result in predictable, reliable, trustworthy outcomes? Will people stay loyal against all opposition? What will cause them to collapse?
 - The truth—as the truth exposes the lies they will turn on you!
 - Will threats work? Not if they still value and believe the lie—consider those in cults and extremist groups

- Will bribes work? Not if they value and believe the lie
 - Love—perhaps...love may cause one to act right but still believe the lie
- The power of love! To be loved and to love others genuinely more than self, does this result in reliable, stable, trustworthy, unshakable outcomes? Will those who follow be loyal against all opposition? What will cause them to collapse?
 - Lies—lies believed break the circle of love and trust!
- The power of Truth & Love—does truth combined with love result in something impenetrable? Yes—Lies cannot defeat understood and experienced truth, fear cannot overcome love founded upon truth! Only those who are partakers of God's nature of truth and love, which is received through the indwelling Spirit of truth and love, are transformed into beings who are unshakable. They are sealed of God, which is being so settled into the truth, but intellectually and spiritually, that they cannot be moved.

Do you see again why we need the Holy Spirit?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “The priests...” What is happening? How do those who have gone on record, writing, preaching, speaking about a certain viewpoint react when their views are exposed as false?

If they are Christlike in character, they humble themselves, step back, correct their previous teachings and move forward in the truth. But, if they instead are driven by pride, by a need to justify themselves, to prove self right, they react with hostility and anger and seek to destroy the message and messenger who exposes their ideas as false.

Have any of you experienced this?

We have friends from all over the world who write us and tell us as they share these views about God's true character of love in their churches certain people become angry, upset and begin attacking them and using authority or other intimidating tactics to try and stop the truth.

Our position has always been that the truth loses nothing by close investigation. We have no need to try and silence others, let them share their ideas, we are happy to discuss with them and share our ideas and let the people decide which is more reasonable, which is more evidenced based.

However, those who hold to positions for which the evidence doesn't support get threatened at such an approach and instead will seek to silence those who teach truths that expose their errors.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “The disciples...” Is this surprising? Is it surprising that those who oppose the truth would make up lies and spread them about Stephen? Why is this not surprising?

In fact, is this predictable?

“Blessed are you when people insult you, persecute you and falsely say all kinds of evil against you because of me. ¹² Rejoice and be glad, because great is your reward in heaven, for in the same way they persecuted the prophets who were before you. Mt 5:11,12

“Then you will be handed over to be persecuted and put to death, and you will be hated by all nations because of me. Mt 24:9

How could Jesus predict this? Was it only because God lives outside time and can see the future? Or is there another reason He could predict this?

Can you predict what will happen if:

- I let go of this pen?
- A person smokes two packs of cigarettes per day?
- If a man cheats on his spouse?
- If someone violates liberty in a relationship?

God’s laws are constants upon which reality is built—understanding those laws and how they work, one can predict what will happen when someone violates those laws.

- It is predictable that selfish people will exploit others.
- It is predictable that when fear increases people who do not have love in their hearts become more selfish.
 - What happens in society when people are feeling scared for their lives? What happened in New Orleans after Katrina?
- It is predictable, that the more effectively we present God and His kingdom of love, the more those who hold to the other view will work to stop us.

Read bottom green section? “Sometimes we see...” Have you ever experienced evil? How do you understand it when it appears evil seems to win?

Understanding the nature and character of sin will prevent you from ever thinking evil can win—evil can never win, it is impossible, it would be like saying death results in better life, or disease brings better health, or sewage brings fresh water.

When you understand God’s design law, you understand that the person perpetrating evil is in a self-destructive spiral down, there is no good outcome for evil.

THURSDAY

Read Acts 10:9-16 (from the NIV):

⁹ About noon the following day as they were on their journey and approaching the city, Peter went up on the roof to pray. ¹⁰ He became hungry and wanted something to eat, and while the meal was being prepared, he fell into a trance. ¹¹ He saw heaven opened and something like a large sheet being let down to earth by its four corners. ¹² It contained all kinds of four-footed animals, as well as reptiles of the earth and birds of the air. ¹³ Then a voice told him, “Get up, Peter. Kill and eat.”

¹⁴ “Surely not, Lord!” Peter replied. “I have never eaten anything impure or unclean.”

¹⁵ The voice spoke to him a second time, “Do not call anything impure that God has made clean.”

¹⁶ This happened three times, and immediately the sheet was taken back to heaven.

What is the lesson? Is this vision about food? What is it about?

Here it is from The Remedy:

⁹ The next day around noon, as they were approaching the city, Peter went up on the roof to talk with God. ¹⁰ He was hungry, and smelling the aroma of the meal being cooked, was longing to eat. Just then, he had a vision ¹¹ in which he saw the skies open, and an object—that appeared to be a large sheet—being lowered to the earth by its four corners. ¹² It contained every known animal, reptile and bird. ¹³ A voice instructed him, “Peter, sacrifice any of these and eat.”

¹⁴ But Peter protested, “Lord, there must be some mistake! I have never sacrificed nor eaten anything impure or not on the approved script.”

¹⁵ The voice spoke to him again. “Don’t reject as ‘unapproved’ or ‘impure’ what God has healed and made clean.”

¹⁶This vision was repeated three times, and then the sheet disappeared into the sky.

What is the lesson being taught?

The bottom green asks, “First, how can we recognize the prejudices that we hold, and, second, in the power of God, how can we be purged of those prejudices?”

What power can purge us from prejudices? The power of truth and love!

What truth? That all human beings are descendants of Adam, and all of us are suffering with the same condition and all are in need of the same Remedy and that Remedy is found only in Jesus Christ!

2016 Q1 Rebellion and Redemption Lesson 10

Paul and the Rebellion

SABBATH

“When the perishable has been clothed with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality, then the saying that is written will come true: ‘Death has been swallowed up in victory’ ” (1 Corinthians 15:54, NIV).

Does this text trigger anything in your minds? What do we understand “death” to be? [See John 17:3.] From the Lesson:

“But as anyone who has read Paul knows, the apostle’s emphasis has always been on Christ and His ultimate victory for us. However much Satan succeeded in overcoming God’s covenant people through the centuries, the devil utterly failed against Jesus, and in Jesus all the covenant promises have been fulfilled, thus ensuring salvation for all who claim it in faith and obedience, Jew and Gentile. Christ’s faithfulness also ensures the ultimate demise of Satan (Heb. 2:14) and the end of the great controversy.”

Read this paragraph through the lens of “imposed” law. What does it tell us through this lens?

Now read it through the lens of “natural” law. Does it tell us something else?

SUNDAY

Adam and Jesus

What was Adam & Eve’s primary task after creation? To reveal God’s Character and Government to the on looking universe.

Since they failed, what was needed? To reveal God’s Character and Government to the on looking universe, AND a healing remedy for mankind.

If Adam needed Eve to reveal God’s government, why didn’t Jesus marry?

What does it mean to be “spared from God’s last judgment against sin”? [1st paragraph].

Romans 5: 12-21 from the Remedy

Therefore, the infection of distrust of God, which deformed humanity's heart and mind with selfishness and fear, and which results only in death, infected the human race when Adam accepted Satan's lies about God and broke trust with him. This infection of fear and selfishness is inherited by all human beings, so all are born infected.¹³ This is revealed by the fact that before the written law was given, the infection of distrust, fear and selfishness was already present in the world. But this infection of distrust, fear and selfishness is not diagnosable without the law.¹⁴ Nevertheless, even without being diagnosed as infected with this terminal condition, humans still died, all the way from the time of Adam to Moses—even those who did not break a specific command, like Adam did—revealing that the problem is the infected state of our minds and not a legal issue with God. Adam, the first man, being the conduit through which the infection entered humanity, also represents the one man who is the conduit of the antidote that cures all those who accept it.

¹⁵But the gift of the antidote is not like the infection. For if everyone is born infected with a terminal condition because of the choice of Adam, how incredibly effective must the antidote supplied by Christ be, since it cures all who take it!¹⁶ Again, the gift of the antidote is not like the result of the breach of trust. Adam's breach of trust infected all humanity, therefore all humanity is diagnosed as sick and dying. This occurred without each individual choosing to be infected; but the antidote, which came after humanity had been severely damaged and deformed by selfishness and sin, brought cleansing, purification, health and complete restoration.¹⁷ If, by the choice of one man's distrust, selfishness and death permeated all humanity, how much more will those who accept the Remedy that Christ has achieved experience restored trust and complete healing to live forever with God!

²⁰The written law was added so that the infection of distrust and selfishness could be more easily seen and diagnosed. As the exposure of sin and selfishness increased, God's willingness to heal increased all the more,²¹ so that, just as distrust and selfishness brought deformity and death, even more importantly God's gracious Remedy, brought by Jesus Christ, results in complete healing and life eternal.

Does this passage give us any insights in to the Great Controversy? Did you read any other versions/paraphrases?

From the lesson: “Even the giving of the Ten Commandments on Mount Sinai could not stop death and the sin problem. The law only clarified what sin is. It was not the answer to sin. The problem of sin and death could only be solved through the sacrifice of Jesus. Jesus paid the debt through the “gracious gift” of His own life (Rom. 5:15, 16, NLT).”

The law began to clarify [i.e. diagnose] what sin is. There's no commandment against molesting a dead horse, so that must not be a sin, right?

The problem of sin and death could only be solved through Jesus' self sacrifice.
Who did Jesus pay the "debt" to?

MONDAY

The Church "Building"

Earth is the quarry and the work-shop where men are to be fitted and refined for the courts of Heaven. As the stones composing Solomon's temple came together in the wall a perfect fit, without the touch of ax or hammer or any other instrument, so will the resurrected saints, and those who are alive at the time of his coming be caught up together to meet the Lord in the air, each one fitted for the great change and taking his proper place in the temple of God's love. 3SP. 41 [emphasis added].

Does this give any new insights to the passage about us being "God's temple" ? [1 Cor. 3: 16, & 1 Cor. 6: 19].

What is the purpose of "The Church"? See Ephesians 3: 1-12.

To me, who am less than the least of all the saints, this grace was given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ, and to make all see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the ages has been hidden in God who created all things through Jesus Christ; to the intent that now the manifold wisdom of God might be made known by the church to the principalities and powers in the heavenly places, according to the eternal purpose which He accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord, in whom we have boldness and access with confidence through faith in Him. Eph. 3: 8-12.

How is the church "built"?

What is the purpose of the "Spiritual Gifts" ? See 1 Cor. 12 [full chapter]

Even so you, since you are zealous for spiritual gifts, let it be for the edification of the church that you seek to excel. 1 Cor. 14: 12.

From the lesson:

"We need to notice two things. The first is that the context is speaking about the church and how it is built up. It is not talking primarily about health. God does not destroy people who abuse their bodies with bad lifestyle choices; they destroy themselves. (Later, Paul does talk about our bodies being the temple of the Holy Spirit in connection with our moral choices in 1 Corinthians 6:15-20.)"

The second thing is that each time the word you is mentioned in these two verses, it is plural in the Greek. An individual is not being addressed, but a group. So, if anyone does anything to destroy the church, he or she is in serious trouble. God warns that He will destroy the person who tries to destroy the church.” [Emphasis added].

Where does “God warn He will destroy the person who tries to destroy the church”?

I searched “destroy the church” in Scripture [12 translations] and in EGW writings – only one version of Scripture [New Life Version] and 16 EGW references contain the phrase. See below.

“Yes, I know that when I am gone, hungry wolves will come in among you. They will try to destroy the church. Also men from your own group will begin to teach things that are not true. They will get men to follow them. I say again, keep watching! Remember that for three years I taught everyone of you night and day, even with tears.

“And now, my brothers, I give you over to God and to the word of His love. It is able to make you strong and to give you what you are to have, along with all those who are set apart for God. Acts 20: 29-32.

In vain were Satan's efforts to destroy the church of Christ by violence. The great controversy in which the disciples of Jesus yielded up their lives did not cease when these faithful standard-bearers fell at their post. By defeat they conquered. God's workmen were slain, but His work went steadily forward. The gospel continued to spread and the number of its adherents to increase. It penetrated into regions that were inaccessible even to the eagles of Rome. Said a Christian, expostulating with the heathen rulers who were urging forward the persecution: You may “kill us, torture us, condemn us.... Your injustice is the proof that we are innocent Nor does your cruelty ... avail you.” It was but a stronger invitation to bring others to their persuasion. “The oftener we are mown down by you, the more in number we grow; the blood of Christians is seed.” GC 41.

Note: This quote was repeated in 6/16 references, and the others were references to Paul’s efforts to destroy the early church, and other men’s efforts to destroy the modern church.]

I didn’t find any reference saying God would destroy those who try to destroy the church. In fact, Paul states he gives his readers “...over to God and to the word of His love.”

Is there something that happens “naturally” to the one who, in confederacy with Satan, attempts to “destroy the church”?

TUESDAY

The Church as a Body

Why do you think the Holy Spirit inspired Paul to compare the church with the human body? Why not some branch of human government or legal process?

If God had a perfect design for the human anatomy & physiology, doesn't it stand to reason that he has a perfect design for the anatomy & physiology of His church, as well? Even with diseased members.

WEDNESDAY

The Armor of God

Is there a danger in taking the “warfare” metaphor literally? [reference the Dark Ages, or current branches of Islam, Judaism, & Christianity, etc.] What kind of war are we fighting? [see 2 Cor. 10: 4, 5]

For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty in God for pulling down strongholds, casting down arguments and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ

Let's examine the armor [Eph. 6: 10-17]:

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Put on the whole armor of God, that you may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places. Therefore take up the whole armor of God, that you may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore, having girded your waist with truth, having put on the breastplate of righteousness, and having shod your feet with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, taking the shield of faith with which you will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God

Note that Paul, first, tells us what the warfare is, and why the armor is important [vs 10-13], and then explains what that armor is.

Belt = Truth [Truth eradicates the lies that are part of our DNA].

Breastplate = Righteousness [heart transformation yields Righteousness – Christ weaves His character in to ours, i.e. “covered with the robe of righteousness”]. Doing that which is Right, because it's right.

Shoes = Gospel of Peace [True conversion cannot happen without our wanting to share our experience. Note it's a gospel of “Peace” NOT the “wrath of the Lamb”].

Shield = Faith [syn. Trust based on EVIDENCE. Not a blind faith.]

Helmet = Salvation [conscious understanding & cooperation with God's methods, principles, & government yields healing or Salvation]. Level 7 – Friend of God.

Sword of the Spirit = Word of God [see Heb. 4: 12] This is not a “God said it, I believe it, that settles it” use of the Word of God, nor is it an actual weapon to beat others over the head with. Again, it’s a “Friend of God” approach, where we understand God’s Word is LIFE itself, because He designed it to function in harmony with His Character of Love.

THURSDAY

The Last Enemy

Death had already been defeated [2 Tim 1: 10], so why does Paul tell the Corinthians that death is the last enemy? [1 Cor. 15: 26] Which death is Paul talking about in 2 Timothy? Is it a different death than in his letter to the Corinthians? Consider that the “sleep” we know as “death” is an untold blessing to humanity.

The coming of the Lord has been in all ages the hope of His true followers. The Saviour’s parting promise upon Olivet, that He would come again, lighted up the future for His disciples, filling their hearts with joy and hope that sorrow could not quench nor trials dim. Amid suffering and persecution, the “appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” was the “blessed hope.” When the Thessalonian Christians were filled with grief as they buried their loved ones, who had hoped to live to witness the coming of the Lord, Paul, their teacher, pointed them to the resurrection, to take place at the Saviour’s advent. Then the dead in Christ should rise, and together with the living be caught up to meet the Lord in the air. “And so,” he said, “shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words.” 1 Thessalonians 4:16-18 GC. 302.

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 11

Peter on the Great Controversy

Last weekend I was privileged to be invited to attend an event in Scottsdale, AZ called The Agape Project—Love and Transformation Two-Day Symposium. There were thought leaders from all over the nation, from across a wide range of denominational backgrounds, but all came together for one purpose—to discuss God’s character of love and how to we make the message of God’s love the central message in Christianity.

The organizers had read The God-Shaped Brain and it really helped them personally make a positive change in their lives and this is why I was included. They also read Could It Be This Simple? and recommended the books to the attendees. I met several wonderful people who are passionate about putting God’s character of love front and center in their ministries and in Christianity as a whole.

They created a Facebook page to promote the message about God’s love and in a few months have over 8000 people following. We are excited to be part of this project and will keep you informed as we move forward in sharing this message.

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: “But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light” (1Pet 2:9 NKJV).

What does this text mean?

This is quite profound—who, prior to Christ, was chosen by God? Abraham and his descendants—they were God’s chosen people, His priesthood, His nation, His special people. But Peter, who is a Jew, is saying that now that is no longer true—God’s special people are not Israel—they are not the chosen, select, royal priesthood, holy nation—who is? All those who accept Jesus and leave the lies of Satan and the methods of fear and selfishness behind and enter into the truth about God and His methods of love and truth!

Now, some fail to understand the Bible is teaching about a spiritual kingdom, made up of people with Christlike character and instead think that genetics are what matters. They don’t understand the meaning of what Peter is writing and promote the idea that literal Israel, the nation in the Middle East, is God's chosen nation. Not so, look at the methods they practice, they practice the methods of the world, coercion, deceit, threats, intimidation—thus they have not left the darkness for the light.

Further, when Peter uses the term “nation” is Peter speaking of a specific territory, with physical boundaries, national identifiers like flags etc.? In other words a member of the United Nations?

No, Peter is not speaking of a nation with physical boundaries, but a nation that is unified in its trust in God and its people being transformed to be like Jesus in character!

As Paul wrote to the Philippians:

But our citizenship is in heaven. And we eagerly await a Savior from there, the Lord Jesus Christ... Php 3:20

What does it mean to be chosen generation or chosen people? (The Greek is genos and means descendants, people, generation, kind, kindred, race, nation, sort).

Is it speaking of a specific generation, that group living only in the first century AD, or is Peter speaking of the people who partake of Christ?

What does chosen mean?

Well consider the Jewish nation—were they chosen by God? Yes—for what? Was God saying “I choose to save you and not the rest of humanity?” No!

Many people get confused on this idea of God choosing—because they misunderstand what God is choosing people for, they forget John 3:16:

“For God so loved the WORLD that he gave his only begotten Son...”

God, through Christ chose to save the entire world—not just a select few. The reason all humanity won't be saved is not because God chose some and didn't choose others, but because people refuse to partake of what God accomplished through Christ.

But throughout human history God has chosen people (individuals and groups) for specific missions!

- Abraham was chosen to be the father of a many nations and his descendants to be God's helpers in teaching the truth

- Jacob was chosen to be the avenue through which God's healing plan would be realized
- Moses was chosen to lead Israel out of Egypt
- Israel, as a nation, was chosen to be God's representatives to the world to tell the world the truth about God and lead the entire world into a trust relationship with God—but they failed and rejected their calling
- Christians were then chosen to be God's ambassadors, taking the truth about God to the world—they are chosen to be God's agents to the world so that a vast multitude from every nation, kindred, tribe and people may be saved!

Remember in Old Testament times people didn't have to be descended from Abraham to be saved—look at:

- The patriarchs before Abraham
- Melchizedek
- Rahab
- Ruth
- Naaman
- Nebuchadnezzar
- Queen of Sheba

So here is the memory verse for today from The Remedy:

But you, who trust God and build upon the Stone, are a select and special people—royal ministers of God's healing Remedy, a clean and purified nation, a people whose hearts and minds are in unity and oneness with God—who with words and lives may commend him who called you out of the darkness of fear and selfishness into his wonderful light of truth and love.

SUNDAY

The lesson explores what it means to go from Darkness to Light. Read 1John 1:6-7

If we claim to have fellowship with him yet walk in the darkness, we lie and do not live by the truth. But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, purifies us from all sin.

What is the darkness? What is the light?

What about the Dark Ages—what made them dark? Did the Dark Ages happen because people did not believe in God—or is it that the god in which they believed was a lie and thus their minds became darkened?

Paul says in Romans chapter one that the people of that time exchanged the truth about God for a lie, they preferred images made with their own hands to the knowledge of God and their minds became darkened, depraved and futile.

The Bible is making the point that the concept of God we hold either enlightens if it is accurate and true, or darkens if it is false. Is there any scientific evidence to support this?

Yes—modeling—by beholding we become changed. Our brains actually rewire based on the things we admire, worship, spend time engaged in doing. All the way down to our DNA, our genes change expression based on what we admire and worship. Remember the studies by Newberg and his group at the University of PA, or the studies on CBT and brain function. All described in The God-Shaped Brain and presented in the God and Your Brain Seminar.

This is from the book, Christ's Object Lessons p 415:

"Behold," says the Scripture, "the darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people; but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and His glory shall be seen upon thee." Isa. 60:2. {COL 415.2}

It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy, and truth... {COL 415.3}

The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is a revelation of His character of love. The children of God are to manifest His glory. In their own life and character they are to reveal what the grace of God has done for them. {COL 415.5}

The light of the Sun of Righteousness is to shine forth in good works--in words of truth and deeds of holiness. {COL 416.1}

Is the world in darkness about God and His character of love today? The people from all over the country that were at the symposium I attended last week would say—absolutely.

Paul prophesied to Timothy:

But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days.² People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boastful, proud, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy,³ without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good,⁴ treacherous, rash, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God—⁵ having a form of godliness but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them. (2Tim 3:1-5)

Notice—these are not the atheists and agnostics, these are people who have a form of godliness but deny the power—we would say they deny the power because they deny the power of love—how and why?

What is it that breaks the power of love?

Lies believed break the circle of love and truth... You remember the cascade of events.

As long as we hold to lies about God, those lies obstruct God's love from doing its healing work—we deny the power of God.

What lie, is the core, most foundational lie of all lies currently operating within Christianity that undermines the ability of people to see God's true character of love?

The lie about God's law!

God is Creator—He made space, time, energy, matter, life, relationships, our minds. His laws are the protocols upon which all reality is constructed to operate, like the laws of gravity, physics, thermodynamics, health, and the laws that govern relationships and the functioning of our minds.

God is love and when He built His universe all reality is constructed to operate upon the principle of love, the principle of giving... You remember the examples in nature and science, respiration, water cycles, citrus acid cycle etc. etc.

The NT church taught this, that love is fulfillment of the law, because the law of love is the protocol upon which life is built, as the Bible says, “The law of the Lord is perfect reviving, bringing life to the soul.” Remember the example of someone with a plastic bag over their head, if we simply remove the bag and put them in harmony with the law, what happens? They revive!

But after Constantine converted the idea of God’s law was changed and the church began to teach that God’s law functions no different than that of what created beings can make, rules which require coercive enforcement.

With this change in the way humans think about God’s law the world entered into an age of Darkness:

Remember the differences between design law and imposed law:

Design Law

Violations incompatible with life
Require the designer to heal lest death ensue
The problem is sin in humanity
Christ’s mission to fix what was wrong in humans
Transformation of heart is the key
God is viewed as Healer

Imposed Law

Violations not incompatible with life
Require the ruler to execute lest unpunished rebellion ensue
The problem is anger in God
Christ’s mission to pay legal penalty to God and assuage is wrath
Legal adjustment is the key
God is viewed as executioner & judge

With the imposed law in mind—what is the problem, what happens?

One of God’s design laws (how things actually works) is the law of worship, by beholding we become changed. So when the church began teaching the wrong idea of law, they distorted the character of God into a severe judge and taught justice is not delivering and healing the oppressed, but punishing the oppressor. So, by beholding this type of god Christians became like this god and what resulted:

- The crusades
- The inquisition
- Indulgences
- Burning dissenters at the stake
- Arbitrary beliefs and rules
- The Dark Ages!

And today?

- Child abuse rates no different in Christian homes than non-Christian homes
- Spouse abuse rates no different
- Pornography use no different
- Addictions no different

Why? Because Christianity is still infected with a lie about God's law and character, and thus a misdiagnosis about our own condition: most Christians believe they are in legal trouble and thus they seek legal solutions. If the diagnosis is wrong, the solution is usually wrong. Thus this entire false law construct, with its false legal diagnosis, and its false legal solution obstructs the transforming power of love from doing its work in the hearts, minds and characters of people. There is a form of godliness while denying the power thereof.

We need to leave the darkness and enter the light!

MONDAY

The lesson asks us to read 1Pet 4:1-7, unfortunately it asks us to stop one verse short of the most significant verse in the text, so let's read through verse 8:

Therefore, since Christ suffered in his body, arm yourselves also with the same attitude, because he who has suffered in his body is done with sin. ² As a result, he does not live the rest of his earthly life for evil human desires, but rather for the will of God. ³ For you have spent enough time in the past doing what pagans choose to do—living in debauchery, lust, drunkenness, orgies, carousing and detestable idolatry. ⁴ They think it strange that you do not plunge with them into the same flood of dissipation, and they heap abuse on you. ⁵ But they will have to give account to him who is ready to judge the living and the dead. ⁶ For this is the reason the gospel was preached even to those who are now dead, so that they might be judged according to men in regard to the body, but live according to God in regard to the spirit. ⁷ The end of all things is near. Therefore be clear minded and self-controlled so that you can pray. ⁸ Above all, love each other deeply, because love covers over a multitude of sins.
(NIV)

Let's examine first verse one—what does it mean? Does it give a key to being done with sin? What key?

Some read this as physical mortification of the body, using devices to flagellate or beat oneself to inflict physical pain as a means to be done with sin, is this what Peter is speaking about? –No!

Such an idea comes from the false law construct—the idea that sin is breaking rules, broken rules require infliction of punishment, Jesus as our substitute was punished for our sins, thus He suffered, so if we want to be like Him, then we must inflict physical suffering on our bodies and we will be done with sin. All false, because of a false understanding of reality—i.e. God’s law.

Come back to design law and we understand something completely different.

Peter is speaking of the conflict between our fallen (fleshly) nature and our renewed (spiritual) nature, or a neuroscientist might say between the limbic system and the Prefrontal Cortex, or between judgment and feelings.

Let’s take the example of an addict to any substance, first determine what makes using such substances wrong?

- Is it wrong to smoke because the law says so—so if a teen turns 18 then is it no longer wrong to smoke? Or, is it wrong to smoke regardless of age because it violates the laws of health? This is a good example of the difference between God’s laws and man’s—humans can pass laws to make marijuana legal, they can never pass laws to make it healthy.
- So, back to the addict, if they are convicted of the need to quit, and they choose to stop, will they go through a period in which they suffer in their flesh—cravings? But as long as they are suffering, what are they not doing? They are not partaking of their addiction, thus they are done with it. It is only by giving in to the desire that they are engaging in sin, i.e. violating God’s design laws. This is true across all sin, whether it is lust, anger, greed, arrogance, we will initially suffer in our flesh, or human impulses, but if we say no, if we restrain ourselves and follow our good judgment enlightened by the Holy Spirit, then we are done with sin.

What do you think about the rest of the passage?

The reason we are admonished to live in harmony with God’s physical health laws and moral health laws is because when we deviate from His design we damage ourselves and make it harder to choose what is healthy and right.

Consider the example of alcohol intoxication—it is wrong, not because it breaks a rule for underage drinking, or driving while drunk, or that some angel in heaven writes you a citation and your intoxication gets registered in your heavenly ledger and you now need to get some legal payment applied in order to resolve the legal debt—no!

It is wrong because it impairs your higher cortical function and disinhibits your limbic system and results in increased likelihood of you doing something your better judgment would stop you from doing.

- Why to adolescent guys want to get girls drunk?
- Why do casinos give away free alcohol?
- More than 50% of fatal accidents are associated with an impaired driver (30% from alcohol)
- Violence is increased when alcohol is involved—almost 700,000 college students are assaulted each year by someone who has been drinking
- Each year 97,000 students between 18-24 report alcohol-related sexual assault
 - <http://www.niaaa.nih.gov/alcohol-health/overview-alcohol-consumption/alcohol-facts-and-statistics>

When we fail to care for our bodies we are more likely to become sick, and when sick we are impaired in our ability to be of use (service) i.e. love others and instead need others to minister to us. Thus, as Christians we have the responsibility, to the best of our ability, to maintain the health of our bodies so that we maintain the health of our minds and stay in the best condition to be of the greatest usefulness to others. This reveals God's character of love in action.

Do you see the difference between design law and imposed rules?

What about verse 8, what is it saying? Love doesn't merely cover over sin, love destroys it and heals the damage of sin!

From The Remedy:

Therefore model yourselves after Christ, who, when tempted to save himself, chose instead to sacrifice himself and thus suffered in his human nature. So, be like Jesus: love others first, and say 'No' to temptations to act selfishly. Your selfish nature will suffer, but you will be done with sin.²As a result, right now on earth, you will no longer live your life controlled by feelings, passions, and desires, but rather you will live intelligently—choosing to follow God's will—in harmony with the law of love.³You have surely spent enough time living like pagans and the ungodly, who allow their impulses, desires, and lusts to control them as they engage in orgies, debauchery, drunkenness, betrayal, and disgusting idolatry.⁴They think you are weird because you won't join them in debasing themselves so they criticize and make fun of you.⁵But they will be speechless when they stand before God and have to explain to him why they rejected the Remedy—that he freely provided, and that cures all who accept it—whether currently living or dead.⁶This is the reason the good news about God has been proclaimed throughout all history—even to those who are now dead, but who were diagnosed while alive, as everyone is diagnosed—so that everyone could partake of the Remedy and have their characters restored to perfect love, as God’s character is perfect love.

⁷The end of life as we know it on planet earth is near. Therefore, keep your mind clear and sharp, and maintain governance of yourself so that you can always talk clearly with God.

⁸Above everything, love each other completely because love destroys sinfulness.

Read second paragraph, “Peter encourages...” What do you think about this idea of giving account of oneself before God? How do you understand this idea? Do you see God as a magistrate, a judicial being, seeking to find what is wrong in order to inflict just punishment? Or do you see God as the heavenly physician who always diagnosis accurately the condition of each person’s heart in order to therapeutically intervene and heal?

The third paragraph states, “Instead of us being concerned about being accepted by others and conforming to their opinions and their demands and their expectations of us, Peter admonishes believers to be kind and loving to those we come in contact with.”

What is the danger in allowing the opinions of others to influence your actions?

What happens inside of you when your judgment directs you to a certain course of action, but you allow your fear of what others will think to overrule your judgment and you instead go along with others?

Every time this happens we damage ourselves, our judgment is an ability, it is not instantly destroyed when we do this. But when we go along with others instead of following our own judgment, we then judge ourselves internally and say to ourselves, “I’m ashamed of you, you make me sick, you’re weak, spineless...” our self-esteem (self-estimation) falls and we then become more needy of validation from external sources to offset or internal insecurity and low feelings. Thus, we will be more vulnerable the next time to give in because we can’t tolerate rejection.

The only way out of this is to apply the truth—to thine own self be true—which means to choose to do in governance of self, what your own judgment determines is best and leave other’s free to have whatever opinion of you they wish.

This is a design law, the law of liberty, when we violate this design law then love is damaged, rebellion instilled and individuality destroyed.

The last paragraph notes that Israel was influenced by the pagan cultures around them rather than converting those cultures to the truth about God.

How has the church today been influenced but the world rather than converting the world?

Primary way is by accepting the world's type of law and teaching God's law functions the same way, rules imposed that are coercively enforced. This type of thinking has corrupted Christianity.

Think of places where Christians are actively seeking to use Satan's method of coercion to enforce their way, rather than converting people with truth and love.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, "Maybe this is why..." What does it mean to be a partaker of the divine nature?

What is God's nature? Love—God is love. How do we become partakers of God's nature of love?

Consider a computer—hardware, software, and energy source. Humans, Soma (body, hardware), Psyche (soul, software), Pneuma (spirit, energy). Mankind was constructed with perfect physiology (hardware) and software, but the software became corrupted. Humanity is an organism that is capable of reproduction—but from what source does the reproduction come? In other words, if a person wants to reproduce, from where does the reproductive template, (gametes) come? -From themselves. And if the ones reproducing have corruption in their code what will they pass along?

This is the human condition—corrupted by Adam and infected with fear and selfishness. We need new natures. But how to get a new nature into the species that is corrupted?

Some person must rewrite the code, rewrite into the character (heart/mind) of human beings God's original operating system—God's divine nature of love must be put back into humanity. How?

Jesus became human and by the exercise of His human brain loved perfectly as a human being and wrote into the species human God's design parameters (law) of love. We don't have to create this perfect human nature—Jesus did.

And now, because of what Jesus did, the Holy Spirit will take Christ's victory and reproduce it in us, so that it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me, we get new motives, desires, thoughts that are in harmony with God. We become partakers of the divine nature—but this is only possible because of:

1. Christ's life, death and resurrection—victory
2. The work of the Holy Spirit in us

Because Christ's victory is historic, there is nothing Satan can do to stop what Christ has already done, i.e. defeat him. Christ has already won the victory and has destroyed the infection that causes death and developed a perfect human character.

So, Satan's goal today is to obstruct human beings from partaking of the Remedy Christ has procured. He has multiple strategies to do this:

- getting people to believe there is no God and thus they have no need of a remedy to heal their character
- getting people to believe their problem is not a defect in heart/mind/character but a legal problem so they pursue legal solutions rather than heart renewal
- getting people to deny the existence of the Holy Spirit so that even if they believe in God and Jesus they close their hearts to the working of the Holy Spirit and do not experience the application in their being of the Remedy Christ achieved read third paragraph, "How we view..." What do they mean "God disturbing our little world"?

What do you think of when you think of the end of time?

Consider ISIS—they see themselves as fulfilling prophecy, they are working to incite a world war, which they believe is analogous to Armageddon and will result in the coming of their messiah, who will punish all their enemies.

What kind of a messiah are they longing for? A god of vengeance and violence, who uses power to coerce and kill to get his way.

What about Christians—what is a common teaching about how Christ will return? That He returns with a rod of iron to use power to kill and torture His enemies. Is such a depiction any different in character than the god that ISIS is looking for?

Can God get what He wants by the use of might and power?

What does God want? He wants our love and trust—can you get love and trust by the use of might and power? Zech 4:6. If the conflict between God and Satan were a question of might and power then the war with Satan would have ended a millisecond after it began.

It has never been about might, it has been about love and trust and love and trust cannot be obtained by using might and power. This idea that God is coming back to use might and power to torture and kill is a lie and if God did this rather than winning beings to love and trust Him such actions would result in instantaneous fear and rebellion.

So how do we understand the final end of sin and sinners? According to Scripture what is God's presence described as? And who lives in this fiery presence? And what happens to those who prefer lies and selfishness when they experience infinite unveiled love and truth? What do they do? They beg for the mountains to fall on them, they don't want to live, they voluntarily surrender their lives, why?

Is this an external infliction or the unavoidable results of living out of harmony with God's design and what sin does to the sinner?

Read bottom green section, "In our quest..." What do you think of this idea of Christ's righteousness credited to us? If it is credit to we have to pay it back? Is it merely a loan—credit? Is it a declaration of something that is untrue?

This idea of credited righteousness is based on the false law construct—it is not credited, it is gifted! We become partakers of the divine nature, we become transformed, we become renewed, we get new hearts and right spirits.

Justification is taking what was out of harmony and putting it right, and what was out of harmony was humankind, our hearts operating on fear and selfishness. Justification was first established in the humanity of Jesus Christ who set the human species right with God by writing God's law of love into the humanity He lived out, and then for each sinner, we are set right (justified) when our distrusting hearts are set right with Him again (i.e. we trust Him) and rebuilding us back into His image.

Here is a quote from a book The Desire of Ages:

The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift [not credit a gift] to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2}

Notice what is just—it is just and right to heal and save, to put people out of harmony with design back into harmony. This is justification!

WEDNESDAY

Read 2Pet 3:3-7:

First of all, you must understand that in the last days scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires. ⁴ They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised? Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation." ⁵ But they deliberately forget that long ago by God's word the heavens existed and the earth was formed out of water and by water. ⁶ By these waters also the world of that time was deluged and destroyed. ⁷ By the same word the present heavens and earth are reserved for fire, being kept for the day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men. (NIV)

From The Remedy:

First, understand and don't be surprised that in the last days, scoffers and doubters will arise; they will prefer the sickness of selfishness while ridiculing the cure, labeling the infection of selfishness as 'normal.'⁴They will say, "Survival-of-the-fittest is the way the universe runs. We are here because of this law, not because of divine creation. Where is this so-called God? Where is the 'coming' He promised? Ever since human history has been recorded, the principles of evolution have governed life, and all things continue just as they always have."⁵But these scoffers deliberately deny the truth and ignore the fact that long ago, by God's word, the world was created out of water and with water.⁶They reject the fact that it was by these same waters that a flood destroyed the world,⁷and they refuse to believe that the same word has testified that the present world, which is kept for the day of final diagnosis and the elimination of everyone and everything deviant from God's design, will be destroyed by fire.

Do you think the scoffers Peter is referring to includes those who embrace the idea of evolution?

What about Theistic evolution?

Rebellion and Redemption 1Q 2016 Lesson 12

The Church Militant

I received the following email a couple of weeks ago (edited for length):

Just wanted to share with you a short Letter to the Editor which I wrote that was just published on Thursday, 2/25/16.

A gentleman had written into our local Harrisonburg, VA paper, the Daily News-Record, to point out a number of questions that were not answered by the Bible plus some others that were, but seemed to go against science. He was implying that the Bible was of little value to a thinking person. This really bothered me! :) I prayed about how to reply to his letter. I once was equally as confused, and I truly empathized with him and with so many others who believe the Bible is full of contradictions and misinformation. I was limited to no more than 150 words, so I just pointed him - and others who think the Bible makes no sense to a rational person - to your ministry.

I wish now that I had been able to state what you recently said in a [Bible Study Class], that the Bible is not actually an "authority" on everything in this world. It is an account of how God has been managing the fallout for mankind from The Great Controversy. While we can learn much from it and from reading between the lines, it does not hold all the answers - such as how dinosaurs fit into Creation? (That was one of his questions.) However, I did at least get across the message that God EXPECTS us to use our brains to understand Him, ourselves, and this world by quoting Isaiah 1:18.

I also mentioned you and the Integrated, Evidence-based Approach you developed and Come and Reason Ministry as being a source for solid answers to the questions this man had presented.

You and your ministry have been tremendously helpful to me and my husband. I always thought of myself as having a very strong faith, but it is so much stronger now that I am learning to apply your Integrative, Evidence-based Approach to what the Bible tells us about God's true character of Love and Mercy. My cognitive dissonance has been resolved, finally, and I did not have to wait until I reached Heaven!

It used to be so hard to believe in the inspiration of all Scripture and also believe that God IS Love. For 20 of my younger years, I actually could not rationalize it. I actually HATED God when I first started to read the Old Testament for myself at Age 15 and wanted to run as far from Him as I could. It's a miracle I survived those years, but He protected me in my ignorance and folly. He drew me closer, little by little, with amazing personal miracles that built up my belief and love for Him. I eventually gave in and rationalized that His ways were beyond my understanding, loftier than my thoughts and ways. It worked for me, but it left me uncomfortable when witnessing to my agnostic, science-minded friends.

No one else was willing to give God the benefit of any doubt as I was. Your ministry has changed that! Now, the Bible makes sense to me, and I am able to intelligently discuss Jesus and The Great Controversy with everyone and anyone, confident that I won't be thought a fool for believing the God of the Old Testament is Love, just as Jesus is Love.

Before, it seemed I didn't have "two legs to stand on," but now, I can actually say I have THREE! God's Word, Nature/science, and direct evidence from personal experience all come together for me now in a meaningful way. It all makes perfect sense now. Finally, I am totally secure in knowing God is and always was CONSISTENTLY loving toward all, including Satan. What a cosmic relief!

Thank you for so effectively sharing your open-minded, rational approach to knowing our God. No one else that I know is so capably merging science with God's word. It's just such a blessing to us believers with scientific training, especially ones like me who consider Ellen White a modern day prophet. I also want to say that your analysis of Evolution vs Creationism in your blog is so "elegant" in its simplicity. Brilliant! I have shared it with many, who all agree.

Be blessed many times over for all you do for the Lord and others!

SABBATH

The Church Militant

What do you think of the title? What is the church? Who makes up the church?

My brothers, some from Chloe's household have informed me that there are quarrels among you.¹² What I mean is this: One of you says, "I follow Paul"; another, "I follow Apollos"; another, "I follow Cephas"; still another, "I follow Christ."

¹³ Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Were you baptized into the name of Paul? 1Cor 1:12, 13

What is Paul saying? If he was speaking today what might he say, "One of you says 'I follow Calvin,' another 'Wesley,' another 'Ellen White,' still another 'I follow Christ.' Is Christ divided...?"

What is the church? Is it a denomination? Do we show we are growing up into maturity by divisions? Listen to Paul in Chapter 3 of 1Cor:

Brothers, I could not address you as spiritual but as worldly—mere infants in Christ.² I gave you milk, not solid food, for you were not yet ready for it. Indeed, you are still not ready.³ You are still worldly. For since there is jealousy and quarreling among you, are you not worldly? Are you not acting like mere men? ⁴ For when one says, “I follow Paul,” and another, “I follow Apollos,” are you not mere men?

⁵ What, after all, is Apollos? And what is Paul? Only servants, through whom you came to believe—as the Lord has assigned to each his task. ⁶ I planted the seed, Apollos watered it, but God made it grow. ⁷ So neither he who plants nor he who waters is anything, but only God, who makes things grow. ⁸ The man who plants and the man who waters have one purpose, and each will be rewarded according to his own labor. ⁹ For we are God’s fellow workers; you are God’s field, God’s building. 1Cor 3:1-9

Heb 5-6 says those who are on milk “are not acquainted with righteousness” – in other words they are not righteous. Those described as being on milk are still worldly – and what is his description of this? Divisions within the church arguing over who follows who, would this include denominational divisions?

Any thoughts on how we should view denominations?

John Wesley’s Dream:

John Wesley had a dream which affected his life’s work tremendously. He dreamed that he died and came to the gate of heaven. He was anxious to know who had been admitted, so he questioned the keeper:

“Are there any Presbyterians here?”

“None”, replied the keeper of the gate.

Wesley was surprised. “Have you any Anglicans?” he asked.

“No one!” was the reply

“Surely, there must be many Baptists in Heaven?”

“No, none”, replied the keeper.

Wesley grew pale. He was afraid to ask his next question:

“How many Methodists are there in heaven?”

“Not one,” answered the keeper quickly.

Wesley’s heart was filled with wonder. The angel at the gate then told Wesley that there were no earthly distinctions in heaven. “All of us here in heaven are one in Christ. We are just an assembly who love the Lord”.

Wesley was then taken downward, downward to the entrance of Hell. He met the keeper of the gate there.

"Have you any Presbyterians here?" asked Wesley.

"Oh, yes, many," answered the keeper.

Wesley stood still, "Have you any Anglicans?" he asked.

"Yes, yes, many", answered the keeper.

"Are there Baptists in there"? Wesley continued to ask.

"Of course, many," replied the keeper.

"Wesley was afraid to ask the next question. "Are there any Methodists in Hell?"

The keeper of the gate grinned. "Oh Yes, there are many Methodists here."

Wesley could hardly speak. "Tell me, have you any there who love the Lord?"

"No, no, not one, not one" he answered. "No one in Hell loves the Lord"!

What about SDAs, will there be SDAs in heaven? What about in hell?

What do you take as the truth of this dream? It affected Wesley profoundly and his theology was shaped by it.

John Wesley's words:

"What then is the mark? Who is a Methodist, according to your own account?" I answer: A Methodist is one who has "the love of God shed abroad in his heart by the Holy Ghost given unto him;" one who "loves the Lord his God with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his mind, and with all his strength. God is the joy of his heart, and the desire of his soul; which is constantly crying out, "Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire beside thee! My God and my all! Thou art the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever!"

If any man say, "Why, these are only the common fundamental principles of Christianity!" thou hast said; so I mean; this is the very truth; I know they are no other; and I would to God both thou and all men knew, that I, and all who follow my judgment, do vehemently refuse to be distinguished from other men, by any but the common principles of Christianity, -- the plain, old Christianity that I teach, renouncing and detesting all other marks of distinction. And whosoever is what I preach, (let him be called what he will, for names change not the nature of things,) he is a Christian, not in name only, but in heart and in life. He is inwardly and outwardly conformed to the will of God, as revealed in the written word. He thinks, speaks, and lives, according to the method laid down in the revelation of Jesus Christ. His soul is renewed after the image of God, in righteousness and in all true holiness. And having the mind that was in Christ, he so walks as Christ also walked.

Did Wesley leave out anything essential from this statement? How many groups does the Bible describe when Christ returns? Two:

- Sheep and goats
- Virtuous woman and harlot
- Fruitful vine and withered vine
- Wheat and tares
- Saved and lost

So, when we think of the Church Militant, what do we think? Do we think of an organized denomination, or all of those who are like Christ in character and accurately reveal God and His will on earth?

This is what one of the founders of the SDA church said:

There is a strife between the forces of good and evil, between the loyal and the disloyal angels. Christ and Satan are not at an agreement, and they never will be. In every age the true church of God has engaged in decided warfare against satanic agencies. Until the controversy is ended, the struggle will go on between wicked angels and wicked people on the one side, and holy angels and true believers on the other. {Christ Triumphant 28.2}

And,

Satan is trying to lead men and women away from right principles. The enemy of all good, he desires to see human beings so trained that they will exert their influence on the side of error, instead of using their talents to bless their fellow men. And multitudes who profess to belong to God's true church are falling under his deceptions. They are being led to turn away from their allegiance to the King of heaven. {Counsels to Parents, Teachers and Students 494.1}

Paul writing to the Corinthians said they were being worldly, would that be the same as being led away from God's true principles? What might it look like to be led away from God's true principles? What is a principle? A design protocol – and how do people get led away from principles? By replacing them with imposed rules, arbitrary commands—this is being worldly and this is how Rome infected the church with the idea that God's law is a list of imposed rules.

Thus the church, rather than being a organization of love and truth, becomes authoritarian, imposes rules, enforces rules, polices, criticizes etc. Just look at history:

- Dark Ages

- Today—look at how Christians are acting regarding marriage, abortion etc. They are too often trying to use authority, state authority to enforce their beliefs, rather than promoting their views with love and freedom

What do you think of this quote?

The life of Christ was a life charged with a divine message of the love of God, and he longed intensely to impart this love to others in rich measure. Compassion beamed from his countenance, and his conduct was characterized by grace, humility, truth, and love. Every member of his church militant must manifest the same qualities, if he would join the church triumphant. The love of Christ is so broad, so full of glory, that in comparison to it, everything that men esteem as great, dwindles into insignificance. When we obtain a view of it, we exclaim, O the depth of the riches of the love that God bestowed upon men in the gift of his only begotten Son! {Christian Education 76.3}

Was Christ at war when He lived on earth as a human being 2000 years ago?

And what kind of war did He wage? What about the church today? What kind of war are we to wage?

For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. ⁴ The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. ⁵ We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. 2Cor 10:3-5

What kind of war is this? Where is it fought? What weapons do we use?

What is God, through Christ, fighting to achieve?

He is fighting to save the lives of His children—from what? Sin—which is what? Deviation from God's design for how life is constructed, thus God is fighting to restore in human beings His law of love—His character of love, which is the protocol upon which life is based.

So—God wants our love and trust—and if we trust Him, He will pour out the Holy Spirit to transform us through love and truth!

Some like to focus on the fact that God will destroy sin—yes God destroys sin. The question is how? How do God's weapons work (this is just a partial list)?

- truth destroys lies and wins to trust
- compassion disarms guardedness
- grace overcomes prejudice
- humility defeats pride and arrogance

- gentleness vanquishes cruelty
- peace triumphs over uncertainty
- forgiveness eradicates resentment and bitterness
- freedom destroys coercion and promotes love
- life destroys death
- love destroys selfishness and fear and transforms the soul

Why don't we get more victories in the church? Because we too often substitute Satan's weapons for God's—and we cannot win God's cause with Satan's methods!

- truth destroys lies and wins to trust—Satan's method is to use lies:
 - Have you ever seen deception used by church leaders?
 - Those religious leaders who crucified Christ, look at the testimony of those who spoke against Christ at His trial
 - What about those who
- compassion disarms guardedness—Satan's method is to justified guardedness:
 - Have you seen actions taken by church leaders against an individual because the leaders were afraid of what would happen if they didn't?
- grace overcomes prejudice—Satan's method is to promote prejudice:
 - Consider the KKK and supposedly they use the Bible
 - Or all types of prejudice—religious prejudice, Protestant against Catholic or vice versa...
- humility defeats pride and arrogance—Satan's method is to justify pride and arrogance: How is this seen in the church?
 - We are the remnant?
 - We are the chosen?
 - We have the truth?
 - We are rich and in need of nothing?
 - We are theology professors, pastors, priests....
- gentleness vanquishes cruelty—Satan's method is to justify cruelty but call it justice:
 - God is required to punish wickedness
 - God will torture each person for unrepentant sin
- peace triumphs over uncertainty—Satan promotes uncertainty:
 - How can you know what God's will is?
 - Do you really believe God wants you do to that?
- forgiveness eradicates resentment and bitterness—Satan promotes accountability, record keeping, legal pardon, i.e. don't forgive until the person repents, thus we must punish the unrepentant
- freedom destroys coercion and promotes love—Satan's method to coerce:
 - Dissenters should be burned at the stake
 - Crusades
 - Let's get control of our governments and pass laws requiring people to live in accordance with our beliefs

- life destroys death—Satan’s method states that death destroys death and thus Christianity is infected with the idea that God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, torture and death
- love destroys selfishness and fear and transforms the soul—Satan’s method is to replace love with fear and selfishness and thereby destroy the soul:
 - God’s law is no different than ours and God therefore must punish lawbreakers—therefore we must fear God
 - We can claim legal pardon for our sins, but we experience no transformation as we continue to live in fear of facing God in the judgment and pray Jesus will be there to protect us and plead our case

Here is a fascinating quote from The Faith I Live By:

Has God no living church? He has a church, but it is the church militant, not the church triumphant. [meaning what? the church is at war, and the war is for the hearts and minds of people, a war over two methods, principles of living, a war over love versus selfishness] We are sorry that there are defective members. . . .While the Lord brings into the church those who are truly converted, Satan at the same time brings persons who are not converted into its fellowship. While Christ is sowing the good seed, Satan is sowing the tares. There are two opposing influences continually exerted on the members of the church. One influence is working for the purification of the church, and the other for the corrupting of the people of God. . . . {FLB 305.2} [do you believe this? there are influences WITHIN the church that are working for the corruption of God’s people? What would those influences look like? Would it not be those influences that are antagonistic to the truth about God? Those influences which represent God as severe, arbitrary, imposing laws, punishing, the source of inflicted torment and death?]

Although there are evils existing in the church, and will be until the end of the world, the church in these last days is to be the light of the world that is polluted and demoralized by sin. . . {FLB 305.3}

Then I found this perspective very interesting:

The church militant is not in this world the church triumphant. From generation to generation, the enemy has been marshaling his forces against God. His enmity against the law of God has increased as time has passed. And his followers are at enmity with any one who has moral courage to depart from evil, and bear witness to the truth. They pay no respect to the divine law, but they are strict in enforcing human laws. [How do you hear that statement? Do you hear it as, “They pay no respect to the design protocols of love upon which God constructed life to operate, but they strictly enforce imposed rules...”? And could those human rules be constituted around the commandments?] They are not in harmony with God. They are not attracted by his righteousness. In their human judgment they will condemn men who conscientiously keep the commandments of God. But God's children will not be frightened from their purpose by the proud, presumptuous opposition of evildoers. By faith they see a crown of life awaiting those who are victorious, and they press forward toward the mark for the prize of their high calling in Christ Jesus. {RH, July 26, 1898 par. 8}

SUNDAY

The lesson begins a review of the seven churches listed in Revelation to draw lessons from what was written to them. How do you understand those churches, who do they represent, who is the message for? Does it have any application in our day?

Read first paragraph, “In Revelation 2:1...” What part is symbol or metaphor, and what part is literal?

Was Jesus holding seven stars in His hand or are the stars symbolic? Then what about the lampstands—are they literal or also symbolic? If symbolic are there actual lampstands in heaven?

So, if we consider what the lesson is saying, that the seven lampstands represent seven churches—is there some place where such symbols originate?

What about in the OT sanctuary service, which itself was a pattern of something seen in heaven. What is it all trying to reveal?

What is the key? -To understand the truth about God in the setting of the Great Controversy.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on the messages to Smyrna and Pergamum. Revelation 2:9, part of the message to Smyrna: “I know your afflictions and your poverty—yet you are rich! I know the slander of those who say they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan.”

What is the synagogue of Satan? What is the temple of the Holy Spirit?

What then would be the synagogue of Satan? Would it be human beings who have solidified their characters to represent Satan and his methods?

Here is a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church:

The great controversy between the Prince of light and the prince of darkness has not abated one jot or tittle of its fierceness as time has gone on. The stern conflict between light and darkness, between error and truth, is deepening in its intensity. The synagogue of Satan is intensely active, and in this age the deceiving power of the enemy is working in the most subtle way. Every human mind that is not surrendered to God, and is not under the control of the Spirit of God, will be perverted through satanic agencies. {CTr 249.2}

The enemy is working continually to supplant Jesus Christ in the human heart, and to place his attributes in the human character in the place of the attributes of God. He brings his strong delusions to bear upon the human mind in order that he may have a controlling power. He seeks to obliterate the truth and abolish the true pattern of goodness and righteousness, in order that the professed Christian world shall be swept to perdition through separation from God. He is working in order that selfishness shall become worldwide, and thus make of no effect the mission and work of Christ. {CTr 249.3}

Christ came to the world to bring back the character of God to humankind, and to retrace on the human soul the divine image. Through His entire life Christ sought by continuous, laborious efforts to call the world's attention to God and to His holy requirements in order that people might be imbued with the Spirit of God, might be actuated by love, and might reveal in life and character the divine attributes. . . . {CTr 249.4}

Satan has a large confederacy, his church. Christ calls them the synagogue of Satan because the members are the children of sin. The members of Satan's church have been constantly working to cast off the divine law, and confuse the distinction between good and evil. Satan is working with great power in and through the children of disobedience, to exalt treason and apostasy as truth and loyalty. And at this time the power of his satanic inspiration is moving the living agencies to carry out the great rebellion against God that commenced in heaven. {CET 207.1}

What do you think is the root of this synagogue? It is the false belief that God's law is like human law, and that God is like Satan in character a being who must inflict pain, suffering, torture and death to punish lawbreakers. People who hold to this type of false god are those who compromise the synagogue of Satan.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on the message to Thyatira and Sardis, lets read Revelation 2:18-29 first (from The Remedy)

Rev 2:18 "To the messenger to my recovering children in the church in Thyatira, write:

This message is from Jesus—the Son of God—whose eyes shine brightly like a fire, and whose feet glow like metal in a furnace: ¹⁹ I know the choices you have made, your love and devotion, your service and dedication, and how your healing progresses as you are achieving more now than when you first took the Remedy.

Rev 2:20 Yet I have diagnosed this problem: You have accepted the teachings of Jezebel, which make me look like Baal—a being who imposes law, inflicts torture, and must be appeased. Her teachings mislead people into internalizing pagan ideas about God—including God being like Baal and requiring bloody payments—and thus committing spiritual adultery by giving their hearts to a false god. ²¹ I have given her time to turn away from the lies about God, but she refuses; ²² so I will let her reap the suffering that comes from operating outside my design for life. And all those who accept her view of God commit adultery with her and will suffer terribly unless they reject the lies and return to the truth about God and his methods of love. ²³ I will destroy her offshoots—then all my children will know that I diagnose perfectly the condition of hearts and minds—and I will provide to each person what is in accord with their own choice. ²⁴ Now for the rest of you in Thyatira: Those who have rejected the lies about me and refused to believe that I am like Satan alleges—no other burden will come upon you; ²⁵ just hold true to what you currently know until I return.

Rev 2:26 Everyone who prevails by completing the treatment and lives in harmony with my methods of love until the end, I will free from the power and authority of the nations.

Rev 2:27 ‘He will intervene with an unbreakable shepherd’s rod; he will destroy the nation’s ability to coerce and deceive, like iron crushing pottery.’

I will give them the same power to break free as I received from my Father. ²⁸ I will give them the morning star—I will give them all of myself.

Rev 2:29 Those whose minds are open to truth will understand what the Spirit reveals to the churches.

Read Revelation 3:1-6 (from The Remedy):

Revelation 3:1 “To the messenger to my children in the church in Sardis, write:

This message is from Jesus, who directs the seven intelligent beings standing before the throne of God, and the seven messengers who are—like bright stars—shining forth the truth: I know your choices. You appear to be alive—living in harmony with the law of love—but you are dead in fear and self-centeredness. ² Wake up before it is too late! Heal what remains viable but is about to die if you don’t take action soon, for despite all your rituals and religious acts, you are devoid of love in the sight of my Father. ³ Remember the Remedy you have received: accept it, apply it to your lives, and turn away from the ways of the world. But if you refuse to wake up to your condition and embrace the truth, you will be unaware of what is happening, and my coming will be like a thief's—you will not know the time I will come to you.

Rev 3:4 Yet you still have a few faithful people in Sardis whose characters have not been stained with selfishness. They will walk by my side, dressed in the perfection of my character of love—pure and white—for they are healed. ⁵ Everyone who prevails by completing the treatment and lives in harmony with my methods of love until the end will also have character perfect and pure. I will never remove them from the book of life, but proclaim to my Father and his angels that they have been completely healed. ⁶ Those whose minds are open to truth will understand what the Spirit reveals to the churches.

WEDNESDAY

The first sentence states, “The church is commended for keeping Christ’s word and for not denying His name, even though their strength appears to be quite weak.”

What does it mean to deny the name of Jesus?

What is the name? It is the character of Jesus—so what would it mean to deny the character of Jesus? —It would be to call yourself a Christian but to misrepresent Christ. How does this happen?

Is it referring to those who, after accepting Christ, stumble and fall and commit sin? —No—absolutely not! It is speaking of people who say they are Christian but live and teach the very opposite of God’s character of love:

Last paragraph states, “The promises to the overcomer from this church include being made a pillar in God’s temple...” What does this mean?

Does it mean they are turned to granite, or stone, or silver and become a load-bearing column in a building in heaven?

Is this literal or symbolic? Then what about the temple in heaven? Is the temple in heaven real? —Absolutely—the question that is most significant, and for which many have failed to answer is—from what is the temple in heaven constructed?

This passage informs us the building blocks of God’s heavenly sanctuary are the saved—living beings who have been rescued and healed from sin! Consider what Peter wrote, we are living stones built together into a house for the Lord.

THURSDAY

The lesson focuses on Laodicea, read Revelation 3:14-22 (from The Remedy):

Rev 3:14 “To the messenger to my children in the church in Laodicea, write:

This message is from Jesus—the consistent, reliable, faithful and true Witness—who is the origin of God’s creation: ¹⁵ I know your choices. I know that you are neither on fire with love, nor do you appear cold with selfishness. I wish you were either on fire for my kingdom, or clearly opposed to it! ¹⁶ But because you are a lukewarm mix of cold hearts practicing selfish methods while appearing to be on fire for my kingdom, you misrepresent me and make me sick to my stomach. I am about to vomit you out. ¹⁷ You claim to be spiritually rich and full of heavenly treasure, thinking you have the truth and are in need of nothing, but you are so self-deceived that you don’t realize you are devoid of my character of love. You are decrepit, pathetic, bereft of true godliness, with minds so closed that you can’t even comprehend truth. You stand naked and exposed. ¹⁸ My prescription for you is to exchange your corrupt motives for the gold of godly love purified through fiery trials, so that you can be rich in what heaven values. Exchange your filthy, selfish characters for the perfect character of Christ—pure and white—so that you can cover the shame of your imperfection. And apply the salve of the Holy Spirit to your minds, so that you can see and understand the reality of your own condition, and that of God’s kingdom of love.

Rev 3:19 It is those whom I love that I diagnose and provide these therapeutic interventions, so take ownership of yourselves: turn away from destruction and apply the Remedy. ²⁰ I am here now! I am standing at the door to your hearts, knocking with truth and love. If any hear my voice and open their hearts, I will come in and commune with them, and they with me.

Rev 3:21 Everyone who prevails by completing the treatment, and lives in harmony with my methods of love until the end, will sit enthroned with me—just as I overcame, and sit enthroned with my Father. ²² Those whose minds are open to truth will understand what the Spirit reveals to the churches.”

FRIDAY

Read the quote—what does it mean? Are you thinking through imposed law or design law?

Here is a key:

- divine law—God’s character of love and the protocols upon which all creation is constructed to operate
- atonement—oneness, unity, fixing what was broken, restoring creation back into God’s original design. Only the One who is the source of perfect truth and love could restore it into humanity.
- Only Jesus could fix what Adam did to humanity and restore the species to unity with God—because the curse of breaking God’s design for life is death—Jesus destroyed death by perfectly living out the law of love, the law of life

- Jesus was treated despicably and had the guilt and shame of such treatment poured upon Him

When you read the author's thoughts on the quote, what level of moral development are they explaining things through?

Rebellion and Redemption Q1 2016 – Lesson 13

Redemption

SABBATH

Think about how the final events in Earth's history make sense in the framework of "The Great Controversy". I think this is the only context that we can make sense of them.

“ ‘And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes; there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying. There shall be no more pain, for the former things have passed away’ ” (Revelation 21:4, NKJV).

If God will wipe away every tear, might there be some tears shed to be wiped away?

From the lesson:

“People often ask, why did evil arise in the first place? Central to the answer is freedom. True freedom, true moral freedom, involves risk, because if persons (or beings) are truly free, then they must have the option to do wrong.” Option to do wrong? Imposed or natural law lens? Is speeding wrong if you're not caught? Does Newton's 3rd Law of Motion care if you're caught?

“Fair enough, but the next question arises: Why then didn't God just blot them out when they did wrong and spare the rest of us the horrible results of rebellion?

The answer gets to the heart of the great controversy. As we will see this week, the Lord runs a kind of “open” government, and though much about Him and His ways are mysterious, He will resolve the great controversy in a way that will forever end all questions about His self- denial, goodness, justice, love, and law.” God's government is not “kind of open” – it's OPEN wide. Anything we don't understand about it is because we could not conceptualize, appreciate, tolerate, comprehend the truth of it. See John 16: 12.

SUNDAY

Binding Satan

What is it that “binds” us to Satan's side in the controversy?

1. Lies Believed about God's Character, Law, Trustworthiness, etc.
2. Our genetic sinful “Nature” passed on from our 1st parents.

What breaks those bonds?

1. TRUTH.
2. Application of Christ's Character, Donning the Robe of Righteousness, Dying daily to self, replacing the heart of stone with one of flesh, circumcision of the heart, etc.

What will “bind” Satan after the 2nd Coming of Christ?

We could say that Satan has been bound to Earth since the Crucifixion. Since Calvary, human beings have been the only species that would listen to him. With no more humanity on Earth [righteous in Heaven & wicked killed by the glory of the 2nd Coming], where would he go, and what would he do?

Have you ever heard the theory that God will “bind” Satan to Earth for 1,000 years to ponder his sins? Does this make sense, given Scripture’s account of what happens after the Millennium?

Isn’t it more reasonable to consider that with the Holy Spirit completely withdrawn from Earth, that Satan will be “bound in darkness” just like before Creation? He may even be in a “sleep” like his human followers, we don’t know.

MONDAY

The “Why” Questions

The lesson asks us to read Revelation 20: 4.

4 And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years. 5 But the rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection. 6 Blessed and holy is he who has part in the first resurrection. Over such the second death has no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years. Rev. 20: 4-6. NKJV.

What will our role in “judgment” be? What does it mean to have judgment committed to you? Any other texts coming to mind? Daniel 7: 22, maybe?

21 I beheld, and the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them; 22 Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom. 23 Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which shall be diverse from all kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces. Dan. 7: 21-23. KJV.

NOTE the difference in translations:

21 “I was watching; and the same horn was making war against the saints, and prevailing against them, 22 until the Ancient of Days came, and a judgment was made in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came for the saints to possess the kingdom. 23 “Thus he said: ‘The fourth beast shall be^[SEP]A fourth kingdom on earth,^[SEP]Which shall be different from all other kingdoms,^[SEP]And shall devour the whole earth,^[SEP]Trample it and break it in pieces. Dan. 7: 21-23. NKJV.

Which one is correct? Which one has a legal connotation? Which one sounds transformational? I think the lesson is on point regarding us being able to get our “why” questions answered, however, I believe most of our “judging” will still be regarding God’s methods & principles and how they were applied or rejected [i.e. the medical record model].

TUESDAY

Final Judgment.

From the lesson:

“In Bible times, there were two places for judgment: the city gate and before the king’s throne. The elders at the gate decided all the small cases, but the king decided all the large issues. His was the final word in ensuring justice. Similarly, the Bible pictures God enthroned as King of the universe, guaranteeing that justice is finally done (Rev. 20:11–15).”

What’s wrong with this comparison? See John 18: 36.

Jesus answered, “My kingdom is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, My servants would fight, so that I should not be delivered to the Jews; but now My kingdom is not from here.”

7 Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison 8 and will go out to deceive the nations which are in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the sea. 9 They went up on the breadth of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city. And fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them. 10 The devil, who deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where the beast and the false prophet are. And they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

11 Then I saw a great white throne and Him who sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away. And there was found no place for them. 12 And I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God, and books were opened. And another book was opened, which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to their works, by the things which were written in the books. 13 The sea gave up the dead who were in it, and Death and Hades delivered up the dead who were in them. And they were judged, each one according to his works. 14 Then Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. 15 And anyone not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire. Revelation 20: 7-15. NKJV.

The lesson asks “how do we understand these momentous events?” I echo that question.

WEDNESDAY

A New Heaven and a New Earth

What will make Heaven, “Heaven” for us? Streets of gold? Pure clean air/water? Healthy food? A mansion? No sickness or death? The presence of Christ? What about being surrounded with people who love you more that they love themselves? People who would sacrifice their place in Heaven if it made you happier?

Read Isaiah 30: 26 below.

Moreover the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun, And the light of the sun will be sevenfold, As the light of seven days, In the day that the Lord binds up the bruise of His people And heals the stroke of their wound. NKJV.

This is the prophetic text that some use to support the theory that the Flood was caused by mankind, and not a judgment from God & He simply warned humanity for 120 years via Noah that the calamity was coming. They believe that the Earth “made new” will be just as it was at Creation. I’m not so sure on this one, though it does have some merits.

Envision the Holy City landing on Earth. Revelation 21 tells us it will be the shape of a cube [12,000 furlongs = 1,500 miles]. Imagine a city 1,500 miles high [7,920,000 feet].

On 12, October 2012, Felix Baumgartner climbed in to a capsule attached to a weather balloon, rose to 127,851 feet [23.4 miles], and jumped. He reached a speed of 846.3 mph in his descent. He jumped from 1/100th of the height of the Holy City [? the 1st floor?].

Does this give any perspective?

We simply cannot picture what God has in mind for the restoration of Creation.

But as it is written: “Eye has not seen, nor ear heard, Nor have entered into the heart of man, The things which God has prepared for those who love Him.” I Cor. 2: 9. NKJV.

THURSDAY

No More Tears

When Scripture tells us “God will wipe away every tear ...” [Rev. 21:4], doesn’t it make sense there will be some tear that need to be wiped away? If we spend 1,000 years in Heaven pouring over the medical records [the books], and being trained in the diagnostic process [judging humans & angels], we will, undoubtedly, have some questions, and some tears, when we see why some of our loved ones are absent.

I’ve been thinking that our time on Earth functions like medical school. Medical school provides a foundation to be built on. When physicians finish their didactic training, they still don’t know much about their eventual specialty.

Out time in Heaven will function like a medical residency / clinical training. Most physicians choose a specialty that entails another 4-10 years of clinical training. A lot of building on the foundation of medical school occurs here.

But the learning [hopefully] isn’t finished yet. Most physicians like to stay current with techniques/research, and attend continuing education classes. Also, by this time in their career, are starting to encounter other practitioners that need teaching along the way. This is how the rest of eternity will function – always learning and always teaching [angels and other intelligent “sons of God”] about the healing remedy Christ provided us in His life, death, and resurrection.

The Book of Matthew Lesson 1 2Q 2016

Son of David

I received this email from an online listener:

I recently downloaded the Remedy app and have been reading it alongside my other Bibles during my quiet time.

So many times, turning to your paraphrase is like using (pardon the illustration) nasal spray, in that it often clears the congestion of some tricky passages. Like I said, I have only had it for a few days, but thus far it's been a joy.

Thank you and the team at Come and Reason for making this resource available, and may God use it to further grow His Kingdom.

Here is another email recently received:

THANK YOU so much for you podcast. My wife, sister-law, and best friend have had their lives impacted TREMENDOUSLY! Please use this offering for whatever ministry needs it most. Blessings!

An update from Gary Jones and Come and Reason Ministries in Canada:

*We have started receiving email request for DVDs from across Canada and we have purchased envelopes and a tape gun for shipping the DVDs. We have set up an account with Canada Post that gives us a 5% discount. We also started a Bible study class with non-Adventists; we have 5 to 7 people coming so far. One person in the class has already said that the DVDs and the book Could It Be This Simple? has changed his way of thinking and has give him back a God that he loves, not fears. Another guy comes from a Mormon and Baptist back ground, he also likes the Could It Be This Simple? book and has requested a couple of copies he can share others.*

We are working on starting other study Class in Nova Scotia, Plus helping the ones others have started. I received a email from someone in Alberta yesterday asking for 5 DVDs for their class and I know of one other class in British Columbia as well. Do you thing C&R could maybe build a page on the C&R Web page that could be set up for people that would like to start a home and or church study groups but do not know where to start and how to plan a class? I would be willing to work with some others from the C&R family in Tennessee to discuss what and how to put together a study group starter page.

P/S you said some people from the church would not like the C&R approach to sharing the gospel, well it's starting to happen.

SABBATH

Read memory text: "He will save His people from their sins." MT 1:21 NKJV

What does this mean? What lens do you read this text through—design law or imposed law?

If this is through imposed law what is commonly taught?

One of our class members emailed me a paragraph from a sermon she heard in her church a couple of weeks ago. What do you think?

"Jesus died on Calvary. Here's a question: 'What did it do for God?' It is called, in theological terms, the 'objective' side of the atonement.

What did it do for God? God was involved, the Bible says 'God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself'. So, what did it do for God? There was a legal issue. Man had broken the law, the punishment was death. How is it God can preserve His law, preserve His righteousness, preserve His integrity, and take care of man at the same time? The cross has an objective side - what God did, what God accomplished - it's called by theologians the 'forensic' side, forensic meaning legal. There was a legal issue and God solved it with the cross. We can read in Romans 3 verse 26, it identifies the struggle that God had regarding the salvation of man. It says in verse 26, 'To demonstrate at the present time His righteousness, that He might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.' So, how can God be just and justify the sinner at the same time? That's the side called the objective side. What did the cross do for God? Well, it settled the legal problem. It gave mankind the opportunity to be right with Him." <http://s3-us-west-2.amazonaws.com/audio.collegedalecommunity.com/2016/EN-2016-01-30-Faith-and-Works.mp3>

What law lens is this pastor preaching through? This is through human law constructs, not God's law, this is a false understanding that misrepresents God and is part of what keeps Christians trapped in a form of godliness with no power.

God's law is not imposed but design law. When we understand this then we realize that the memory verse means what it says, Jesus came to restore us to wholeness, to heal us, to cleanse us, to fix what is broken in us, to cure us from sinfulness.

Save—the Greek sozo actually means to heal, to make whole, to restore—so if you are injured, poisoned, snake bitten—and go to the ER and say “Please, save me!” For what are you asking? Healing! This is salvation!

In fact salvation is the root salvo—from which we get salve, (ointment to heal) or salvage (to reclaim from the garbage and restore to good use).

There is nothing in Bible salvation that has to do with a judicial process—those are man’s laws, God’s laws are the laws of life, and it is all about healing and restoring.

From The Remedy:

She will have a son, and you are to name him Jesus—God heals—because he will heal and restore humanity from selfishness and sin."

The pastor used Romans 3 to promote the idea of a forensic legal atonement, notice how Ellen White uses the same Scripture:

The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. [Why does the law require this? As a payment? No, for the same reason the law of respiration require we breathe—it is how life is designed/constructed to operate] He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. [Is this subjective or objective? This is the objective achievement of Christ that the legal theologians miss. In other words they diminish Christ's true achievement of actually rebuilding the species human to perfection and instead pervert Christ's sacrifice of healing love into a legal payment to an offended god.] These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. [remission of sins through what? God's forbearance NOT a legal payment] More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. [Notice this is Christ developing a perfect human character and then healing humans back to this perfect state. This is healing, this is design law, this is how life is actually built to work!] Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2} [If you see your child drowning, is it right or just to pull them from the water and administer CPR to revive them? What law are you operating under? Why if you want them to live must you do this? This is God's justice and what He accomplished for us through Christ.]

The lesson points out that, “humans might look on the outward appearance but God looks on the heart.”

What is the outward appearance? It is behavior, and what kind of law monitors behavior? Imposed law! But what about the heart? What kind of law monitors the heart?

SUNDAY

Matthew starts his book by establishing the genealogy of Jesus, thoughts about this?

The lesson asks us to discuss what the following texts tell us about Jesus?

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. ² He was with God in the beginning. ³ Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made. John 1:1-3

What do we learn about Jesus from this passage?

- Was there a time Jesus didn't exist?
- Was there anything made that didn't come through Jesus?
- What type of being is described in this passage?
- Who then, is Jesus?
- This verse doesn't tell us, but why do you think Jesus was the member of the Godhead through whom all things were made?

In the past God spoke to our forefathers through the prophets at many times and in various ways, ² but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom he made the universe. ³ The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being, sustaining all things by his powerful word. After he had provided purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty in heaven. Hebrews 1:1-3

What do we learn about Jesus from this verse?

- Appointed heir over all things—what is the context?
 - It is the context of fallen humanity and God reaching out to communicate to fallen men, and having used all other means of communication, God finally sends His Son, and appoints His Son heir over all things.
- What does this mean?
 - Some use passages like this to suggest Jesus isn't fully God, or isn't eternal because He was appointed heir. He was appointed Adam's replacement, the second Adam, the human heir to the human kingdom, by becoming incarnate and curing the terminal condition that Adam plunged the world into. Yet, this being—is the one who actually made all things, thus is able to cure and fix it!
- He not only made all things, He achieved the remedy and having done so, returned to His rightful place in the universe—next to His Father.

“But you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though you are small among the clans of Judah, out of you will come for me one who will be ruler over Israel, whose origins are from of old, from ancient times.” Micah 5:2

What do we learn about Jesus from this verse?

- That Jesus would become human
- That Jesus would rule over Israel—and who does Israel represent in the little theater? –The entire world!
- And where does Jesus come from? –Ancient time—eternity!

While Jesus was teaching in the temple courts, he asked, “How is it that the teachers of the law say that the Christ is the son of David? ³⁶ David himself, speaking by the Holy Spirit, declared: “ ‘The Lord said to my Lord: “Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies under your feet.” ’ ³⁷ David himself calls him ‘Lord.’ How then can he be his son?” Mark 12:35-37

What do we learn of Jesus from this verse?

- That Jesus is king David’s Lord!

Read fourth paragraph, “By coming to dwell..” What do you think of the idea that Jesus was revealing God to angels?

How many people say they have a hard time believing in God because they can’t see Him, that if they were in heaven they could believe more easily? What, then, about this idea that one of the goals of Jesus coming to earth was to reveal God to angels?

Do you ever think that here on earth we get a better view of God from earth than the angels in heaven? How?

- We must first recognize that Jesus is fully God—if we take the view that Jesus is anything less than God, then Jesus reveals a God who is willing to sacrifice a lesser creature to protect Himself.
- But, accepting Jesus is fully God, what do we learn about God in Jesus that the angels needed to understand?

What did Jesus reveal about God that needed to be revealed to angels?

- But the plan of redemption had a yet broader and deeper purpose than the salvation of man. It was not for this alone that Christ came to the earth; it was not merely that the inhabitants of this little world might regard the law of God as it should be regarded; but it was to vindicate the character of God before the universe. To this result of His great sacrifice--its influence upon the intelligences of other worlds, as well as upon man--the Saviour looked forward when just before His crucifixion He said: "Now is the judgment of this world:

now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all unto Me." John 12:31, 32. The act of Christ in dying for the salvation of man would not only make heaven accessible to men, but before all the universe it would justify God and His Son in their dealing with the rebellion of Satan. It would establish the perpetuity of the law of God and would reveal the nature and the results of sin. {PP 68.2}

- By coming to dwell with us, Jesus was to reveal God both to men and to angels. He was the Word of God,--God's thought made audible. In His prayer for His disciples He says, "I have declared unto them Thy name,"--"merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth,"--"that the love wherewith Thou hast loved Me may be in them, and I in them." But not alone for His earthborn children was this revelation given. Our little world is the lesson book of the universe. God's wonderful purpose of grace, the mystery of redeeming love, is the theme into which "angels desire to look," and it will be their study throughout endless ages. Both the redeemed and the unfallen beings will find in the cross of Christ their science and their song. It will be seen that the glory shining in the face of Jesus is the glory of self-sacrificing love. In the light from Calvary it will be seen that the law of self-renouncing love is the law of life for earth and heaven; that the love which "seeketh not her own" has its source in the heart of God; and that in the meek and lowly One is manifested the character of Him who dwelleth in the light which no man can approach unto. DA 19, 20
- To the angels and the unfallen worlds the cry, "It is finished," had a deep significance. It was for them as well as for us that the great work of redemption had been accomplished. They with us share the fruits of Christ's victory.

Not until the death of Christ was the character of Satan clearly revealed to the angels or to the unfallen worlds. The archapostate had so clothed himself with deception that even holy beings had not understood his principles. They had not clearly seen the nature of his rebellion. {DA 758}

- That which alone can effectually restrain from sin in this world of darkness, will prevent sin in heaven. The significance of the death of Christ will be seen by saints and angels. Fallen men could not have a home in the paradise of God without the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. Shall we not then exalt the cross of Christ? The angels ascribe honor and glory to Christ, for even they are not secure except by looking to the sufferings of the Son of God. It is through the efficacy of the cross that the angels of heaven are guarded from apostasy. Without the cross they would be no more secure against evil than were the angels before the fall of Satan. Angelic perfection failed in heaven. Human perfection failed in Eden, the paradise of bliss. All who wish for security in earth or heaven must look to the Lamb of God.

The plan of salvation, making manifest the justice and love of God, provides an eternal safeguard against defection in unfallen worlds, as well as among those who shall be redeemed by the blood of the Lamb. {5BC 1132.8}

Did angels need God revealed to them? Col 1:18-20, why?

What kind of a war are we in? Is it over might and power? Why not? Can God get what He wants by exercising might and power?

Why was it necessary for Christ to become human?

Why didn't Christ merely manifest in human form like He did in OT times to Abraham? –Because that is not how reality works, the way reality works—God's law—is that Christ had to actually partake of the sinful/sick/terminal condition in order to cure it.

God could create a new species out of dirt at any time he chooses, but to save this particular species, Christ had to partake of it and cure the infection and restore it back to God's original design—the only design upon which life actually works!

MONDAY

The lesson emphasizes that Jesus is a descendant of David—why is this important? It establishes that Jesus was actually human, but also in the little theater that Jesus was a member of the royal line, the one prophesied to be ruler, king, deliverer.

Have you considered David was a type of Jesus?

- David was the least significant of his brotherhood—Jesus became not just a human, but a slave, humbling Himself to the cross (Philippians 2:5-8)
- David was a shepherd whose flock was being attacked by a lion and who singly and alone defeated the lion—Jesus is our Shepherd whose flock is being attacked by Satan a roaring lion and Jesus singly and alone defeated Satan
- David and his people were attacked by an army with a giant leading it, all the people were afraid, but David, trusting God, defeated the giant cutting off his head—the human race was attacked by an angel army led by the father of lies and Jesus left all power behind, became a lowly weak human and by trusting His Father defeated that giant crushing his head—just as the Scripture says.
- David broke with tradition and fed his men show bread, applying design laws of love and health over arbitrary rules—Jesus broke with tradition and healed on Sabbath, touched lepers, spoke to women, foreigners, prostitutes, tax collectors, refused to stone the woman caught in adultery and instead applied design law—law of love and healing!
- David was pursued and harassed by his own government and attempts were made on his life, but he eventually becomes king—Jesus, as a human, was pursued and harassed by his own government and multiple attempts were made on His life, but even though they eventually kill him, he destroys death and arises to be King of Kings!
- David fell into terrible sin as king and repented and out of his repentance came forth, from that terrible event, wisdom—Solomon. Jesus became sin though He knew no sin, and from that terrible experience came forth the true wisdom of God—God’s perfect character of love restored into humanity!

I mentioned above that one of the things David and Christ did, is that they ignored arbitrary rules and applied design law, the law of love. What do you think about this quote, which my sister emailed me this week?

The great sin of the Jews was their rejection of Christ; the great sin of the Christian world would be their rejection of the law of God, the foundation of his government in Heaven and earth. The precepts of Jehovah would be despised and set at naught. Millions in bondage to sin, slaves of Satan, doomed to suffer the second death, would refuse to listen to the words of truth in their day of visitation. Terrible blindness! strange infatuation! {4SP 22.2}

Do you hear the warning that the great sin of the Christian world will be in accepting human law instead of God’s law? And God’s law is the foundation of His government—which means what? The protocols upon which reality is built. When we exchange design law for human imposed law concepts we fall into this category of rejecting God’s law!

TUESDAY

Read first three paragraphs, “Women weren’t...” Why would such a woman be specifically listed in the genealogy of Christ? Well, consider the men who are in the genealogy of Christ?

- Abraham—warrior, liar, polygamist
- Jacob—liar, polygamist
- Judah—polygamist and adulterer
- David—murderer and adulterer
- Solomon—polygamist, idolater, child killer
- Manasseh—idolater, murderer, child killer

These are just the highlights—what does it tell us?

That the entire human race is infected with sin and that all suffer from the same condition, male or female, and all are in need of the same solution. Further, it tells us Christ didn’t inherit any advantages, but took upon Himself our humanity, with all its liabilities.

So, back to the women in the genealogy of Christ three women are mentioned besides His mother Mary: Tamar, Rahab, Ruth—what do all three have in common? –They are not descendants of Abraham!

This is the point, not that Tamar pretended to be a prostitute, or that Rahab was a prostitute, or that Ruth was the descendant of incest—the big point is that they were NOT Jews, Hebrews, descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob!

What does this signify—why is this important? It reminds us that Jesus didn't come to save only the Jews—He came to save the entire race!

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “As has often...” thoughts? What does this mean?

What does Romans 5:12-14 mean?

¹² Therefore, just as sin entered the world through one man, and death through sin, and in this way death came to all men, because all sinned— ¹³ for before the law was given, sin was in the world. But sin is not taken into account when there is no law. ¹⁴ Nevertheless, death reigned from the time of Adam to the time of Moses, even over those who did not sin by breaking a command, as did Adam, who was a pattern of the one to come.

What do you hear happening? Is it that the world is condemned under a judicial death sentence and the heavenly magistrate is lining people up and executing them? No, that death reigns because of the condition of humanity since Adam's sin, even before the written law was given at Sinai, because it wasn't about a legal problem but a condition of being out of harmony with design law—the law upon which life is constructed.

Here is this passage from The Remedy:

Therefore, the infection of distrust of God—which deformed humanity's heart and mind with selfishness and fear, and which results only in death—infected the human race when Adam accepted Satan's lies about God and broke trust with him. This infection of fear and selfishness is inherited by all human beings, so all are born infected.¹³ This is revealed by the fact that before the written law was given, the infection of distrust, fear and selfishness was already present in the world. But this infection of distrust, fear and selfishness is not diagnosable without the law.¹⁴ Nevertheless, even without being diagnosed as infected with this terminal condition, humans still died, all the way from the time of Adam to Moses—even those who did not break a specific command, like Adam did—revealing that the problem is the infected state of our minds and not a legal issue with God. Adam, the first man, being the conduit through which the infection entered humanity, also represents the one man who is the conduit of the antidote that cures all those who accept it.

Remember Oswald Chambers quote about not being condemned because of the heredity of sin, but for not accepting the remedy to the heredity of sin?

Read last paragraph, “That's the point...” Does one's view of the sin problem contribute to greater or lesser discouragement?

In other words, when we view sin as a legal problem, and our behaviors as demerits to be punished does it result in greater discouragement?

What about when we view it as a health problem?

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, “It’s a great irony...” What does it mean that the people who came to worship Christ were Gentiles?

How did they know about Christ?

The light of God is ever shining amid the darkness of heathenism. [What does this mean? Can a person be walking in a saving relationship with God in a heathen religion?] As these magi studied the starry heavens, and sought to fathom the mystery hidden in their bright paths, they beheld the glory of the Creator. [What were they studying? Who were they learning about? What kind of law would they discover in studying nature?] Seeking clearer knowledge, they turned to the Hebrew Scriptures. In their own land were treasured prophetic writings that predicted the coming of a divine teacher. [Are these prophetic writings included in the 66 books of the Bible?] Balaam belonged to the magicians, though at one time a prophet of God; by the Holy Spirit he had foretold the prosperity of Israel and the appearing of the Messiah; and his prophecies had been handed down by tradition from century to century. But in the Old Testament the Saviour's advent was more clearly revealed. The magi learned with joy that His coming was near, and that the whole world was to be filled with a knowledge of the glory of the Lord. {DA 59.3}

Does this mean people can come to know God from sources other than the Bible?

All who sin apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who sin under the law will be judged by the law. ¹³ For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God’s sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. ¹⁴ (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, ¹⁵ since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.) Rom 2:12-15

Did these wise men become Jews? Did they sacrifice at the Temple? Did they keep the feast days? Were they believers in Christ? Will they likely be in heaven?

What lessons for us today?

Read last paragraph, “This story should...” How many feel secure in salvation because of membership in an institution?

Is salvation found by institutional affiliation? What does it mean to be saved?

The Book of Matthew Lesson 2 2Q 2016

The Ministry Begins

I received this email from an online listener:

Dear Come and Reason Friends,

You are one of the biggest blessings I have ever received! Your DVDs and lessons could not have come on a better time in my life.

I have experienced in the past year many difficulties that if it wasn't for this wonderful view of God that I have discovered through this ministry, I would not have been able to respond in love and forgiveness. My heart is being transformed everyday by the Calvary looking God you preach. Hallelujah !! I have tears in my eyes as I write.

My life has taken a complete turn from where I was heading. My children were afraid and often confused by the rules that made no sense. They often asked me questions to which I had no answers. Questions where God would appear like a bipolar being. I often felt afraid and frustrated for not being able to have a reasonable and intelligent answer to their concerns.

My 15 year old loves listening to Dr. Jennings and even said he would like to preach some day. When I asked him what would he share about he said, "God's Wrath" He sees now that most everybody in our church has a misunderstanding of who God is(He has never preached by the way) This is very encouraging for me. To hear my boy say he wants to speak on a topic that is so miss understood and scary...

I have shared your DVDs with friends and family. Thank you. One of the great blessings that came in the last box was the lessons you sent. I wasn't expecting them but I quickly devoured them. The one on abuse so resonated with me. It helped me to see that often we make God to be like an abuser when he is not and why so many of our men and woman are like that. The other lesson on The Cosmic Conflict Over God's Trustworthiness is blessing me and many more, let me explain what I do.

I am from Central America. Most of my family is scattered in different parts of the globe. They all have the same view of God that I had growing up. A distant, exacting, and ready to punish us with tragedy type-of-God. We communicate through a family chat and often one of my brothers sends devotionals from EGW writings that have been arranged in a way that it leaves one more afraid of God. He means well but thinks fear and coercion are God's ways for that is how he views Him. Some in the group respond with comments that are fear based and some just don't. I thought I had to do something because it saddened me to see my family surrounded in this darkness.

I'm still learning and know I will continue to learn about God's beautiful character throughout eternity but I decided to share what I have been learning through the Cosmic Conflict Lesson.

I have been translating each individual lesson and voice recording them for my family. To my surprise, they have also been taking the recordings I send and sharing them with others! I prayed that God would open their understanding to this message and seal it in their heart. I can already see the difference in the devotionals my brother sends. They are taking an amazing turn from a message of "repent or burn" towards a loving God pleading to us that we won't reject him because he loves us eternally.

On our conversations on the phone he has often said, "thank you for sharing, I have never heard it this way!" I still have much work to do and pray as I come to know my Savior better each day that I can speak for him to others.

Bless you for all you do. I will continue supporting this ministry as I am able. I want to give your DVDs to my church members and I'm requesting, if possible 100 copies of each one of your three DVDs.

SABBATH

Read the second paragraph, "I didn't understand what..." What is the meaning of life? Is there a secret that we are supposed to know? What is that secret?

Now to him who is able to establish you by my gospel and the proclamation of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery hidden for long ages past,²⁶ but now revealed and made known through the prophetic writings by the command of the eternal God, so that all nations might believe and obey him—²⁷ to the only wise God be glory forever through Jesus Christ! Amen. Rom 16:25-27

What is this mystery? And why has it been hidden? Who hid it? Is it still being hidden today?

And he made known to us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he purposed in Christ,¹⁰ to be put into effect when the times will have reached their fulfillment—to bring all things in heaven and on earth together under one head, even Christ. Eph 1:9,10

What is the mystery? Is it unity, restoration, healing? Why is this a mystery? Why is this a secret?

Surely you have heard about the administration of God's grace that was given to me for you,³ that is, the mystery made known to me by revelation, as I have already written briefly.⁴ In reading this, then, you will be able to understand my insight into the mystery of Christ,⁵ which was not made known to men in other generations as it has now been revealed by the Spirit to God's holy apostles and prophets.⁶ This mystery is that through the gospel the Gentiles are heirs together with Israel, members together of one body, and sharers together in the promise in Christ Jesus.

⁷ I became a servant of this gospel by the gift of God's grace given me through the working of his power.⁸ Although I am less than the least of all God's people, this grace was given me: to preach to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ,⁹ and to make plain to everyone the administration of this mystery, which for ages past was kept hidden in God, who created all things.¹⁰ His intent was that now, through the church, the manifold wisdom of God should be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly realms,¹¹ according to his eternal purpose which he accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord. Eph 3:2-11

What is this mystery? Again why was this mystery kept hidden? What does it mean that it is the bringing in of the Gentiles? How is this a mystery?

I have become its servant by the commission God gave me to present to you the word of God in its fullness—²⁶ the mystery that has been kept hidden for ages and generations, but is now disclosed to the saints.²⁷ To them God has chosen to make known among the Gentiles the glorious riches of this mystery, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory. Col 1:25-27

What is the mystery? It is the mystery of salvation—how God takes humans, deformed in sin and restores them back to righteousness. And what is the secret to this mystery?

My purpose is that they may be encouraged in heart and united in love, so that they may have the full riches of complete understanding, in order that they may know the mystery of God, namely, Christ,³ in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. Col 2:2-3

So what is the mystery and why has it been mysterious? It is the mystery about God, His nature, character, government and underpinning it all is the mystery of His law—the law of selfless love!

When we seek for appropriate language in which to describe the love of God, we find words too tame, too weak, too far beneath the theme, and we lay down our pen and say, "No, it cannot be described." We can only do as did the beloved disciple, and say, "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." [1 John 3:1.] In attempting any description of this love, we feel that we are as infants lisping their first words. Silently we may adore; for silence in this matter is the only eloquence. This love is past all language to describe. It is the mystery of God in the flesh, God in Christ, and divinity in humanity. Christ bowed down in unparalleled humility, that in his exaltation to the throne of God, he might also exalt those who believe in him, to a seat with him upon his throne. All who look upon Jesus in faith that the wounds and bruises that sin has made will be healed in him, shall be made whole. {CE 77.1}

What is the mystery? God's character of love, which manifests in all His actions, but most powerfully in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus—but then how this love is more than sentiment—this love is power—power to heal and restore sinners to unity with God!

What is this mystery of which Paul writes to the Ephesians and to the Colossians..."which hath been hid from ages and from generations?" {ST, March 25, 1897 par. 2}

Many have endeavored to define the mystery which Paul here mentions. But it embraces much, and our ideas in regard to the love, the goodness, and the compassion of God are strangely limited. Because our knowledge of spiritual things has become so dwarfed and enfeebled, we have not advanced from light to greater light. The Lord has not been able to open to our understanding many precious things. In view of the losses which we have sustained by our earthliness and commonness, [could this mean our earthly law concept, our common-law concept of God's government?] we have much to make us humble. {ST, March 25, 1897 par. 3}

God had a knowledge of the events of the future, even before the creation of the world. He did not make his purposes to fit circumstances, but he allowed matters to develop and work out. He did not work to bring about a certain condition of things, but he knew that such a condition would exist. The plan that should be carried out upon the defection of any of the high intelligences of heaven,—this is the secret, the mystery which has been hid from ages. And an offering was prepared in the eternal purposes to do the very work which God has done for fallen humanity. {ST, March 25, 1897 par. 4}

What is the mystery? How could the Creator God, the Ruler of all reality—humble Himself, divest Himself of all divine prerogatives, become a human being, with a corrupt and weakened humanity, be abused by His own creation and die a horrible death—how could this be?

This is the mystery—they mystery of God's character of love!

The incarnation of Christ is a mystery. The union of divinity with humanity is a mystery indeed, hidden with God, "even the mystery which hath been hid from ages." It was kept in eternal silence by Jehovah, and was first revealed in Eden, by the prophecy that the Seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head, and that he should bruise his heel. To present to the world this mystery that God kept in silence for eternal ages before the world was created, before man was created, was the part that Christ was to act in the work he entered upon when he came to this earth. And this wonderful mystery, the incarnation of Christ and the atonement that he made, must be declared to every son and daughter of Adam, whether Jew or Gentile. His sufferings perfectly fulfilled the claims of the law of God. [what does this mean? How do we understand it, through what law lens? The law of God claims to be the foundation upon which life is built. It claims there is no other way of operation in which life is eternally secure and sustainable. How did Jesus suffering fulfill this claim? By demonstrating that love is more powerful than selfishness and His resurrection was its proof.] None of the apostles could have filled the deficiency, had there been any. {ST, March 25, 1897 par. 8}

Is love more powerful than selfishness? Have the claims of God's law been sustained and fully met in Christ?

Can we participate in that victory and experience that love in our lives?

Read bottom pink section, "How can we avoid..." What about witnessing to ISIS?

Christian de Chergé was a French Catholic monk and the Trappist prior of the Tibhirine monastery in Algeria. With the rise of radical Islam in 1993, Father Chergé knew that his life was in danger. But instead of leaving Algeria, Father Chergé chose to stay and continue his witness to the gospel of Jesus Christ. On May 24, 1996 Father Chergé was beheaded by Muslim radicals. Anticipating his death, Father Chergé had left a testament with his family to be read upon the event of his murder. The testament in part reads:

"If it should happen one day — and it could be today — that I become a victim of the terrorism which now seems ready to encompass all the foreigners living in Algeria, I would like my community, my Church, my family, to remember that my life was given to God and to this country. I ask them to accept that the One Master of all life was not a stranger to this brutal departure. I ask them to pray for me: for how could I be found worthy of such an offering? I ask them to be able to associate such a death with the many other deaths that were just as violent, but forgotten through indifference and anonymity.

My life has no more value than any other. Nor any less value. In any case, it has not the innocence of childhood. I have lived long enough to know that I share in the evil which seems, alas, to prevail in the world, even in that which would strike me blindly. I should like, when the time comes, to have a clear space which would allow me to beg forgiveness of God and of all my fellow human beings, and at the same time to forgive with all my heart the one who would strike me down.

Obviously, my death will justify the opinion of all those who dismissed me as naïve or idealistic: 'Let him tell us what he thinks now.' But such people should know that my death will satisfy my most burning curiosity. At last, I will be able — if God pleases — to see the children of Islam as He sees them, illuminated in the glory of Christ, sharing in the gift of God's Passion and of the Spirit, whose secret joy will always be to bring forth our common humanity amidst our differences.

I give thanks to God for this life, completely mine yet completely theirs, too, to God, who wanted it for joy against, and in spite of, all odds. In this Thank You — which says everything about my life — I include you, my friends past and present, and those friends who will be here at the side of my mother and father, of my sisters and brothers — thank you a thousandfold.

And to you, too, my friend of the last moment, who will not know what you are doing. Yes, for you, too I wish this thank-you, this 'Adieu,' whose image is in you also, that we may meet in heaven, like happy thieves, if it pleases God, our common Father. Amen!"

Is such love a mystery? What has hidden the truth about God, His character and methods?

It has been hidden behind a wall of lies and false teachings originating with Satan in heaven and it was Christ who revealed the truth about God's character and the plan of salvation—that it is about actual state of being, not legal standing or legal processes.

The imposed law construct, penal substitution theology is part of the wall of lies that keeps the mystery of God hidden. This week I was listening to Christian radio, and the topic was about Easter. Someone called in and asked the two theology professors, who were guests on the radio program, to explain the purpose of animal sacrifices in the Old Testament:

First Theologian: The reason in Leviticus 17 for...that there has to be punishment with death for sin, and so in Leviticus 17 when the animal sacrificial system is being established it says this, Leviticus 17:10 “Any Israelite or any alien living among them who eats any blood—I will set my face against that person who eats blood and will cut him off from his people. For the life of a creature is in the blood, and I have given it to you to make atonement for yourselves on the altar; it is the blood that makes atonement for one's life.” See blood represents life and there has to be the punishment of death for sin, so therefore an animal had to take the punishment and give its life—it's blood—so that the offerer could live. That was the substitution. What my former professor here at Moody used to call, the exchange of life. Louis Goldberg called it that, the exchange of life. The animal dies, the person lives. And so that's the reason for the Old Testament sacrifice for atonement.”

Second Theologian: “A couple of things in the New Testament. In Luke's gospel it talks about how on the night that he was betrayed and Jesus was having the Passover meal “And in the same way He took the cup after they had eaten, saying, “This cup which is poured out for you is the new covenant in My blood.” That is it's the death of Jesus that comes about because of his blood loss among other things, his blood loss as well is the thing whereby he was our atoning sacrifice. His death is required for us as well in order to save us. Paul talks about in Romans 5:9 “Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from the wrath of God through Him.” And so it's very much the same principle. In the Old Testament, the death of an animal was required to take care of the human sin problem and now we have not the death of an animal but of the very Son of God who dies for us. And so his loss of blood is the thing whereby he succumbed on our behalf..

We use the illustration of a credit card. The bill comes at the end of the month and you can't afford it so what do you do? You pay the minimum. And the next month you've gotten more credit on it, and you have the last bill accruing and more interest and you pay the minimum. That's what the Old Testament sacrifices were like, they were paying the minimum. But when Messiah came he paid the interest and the principle and took it all away. That's what his atonement was like.

Host: And all future bills

Second Theologian: Yes, all future bills as well (Chris Fabry Live March 23, 2016, Moody broadcasting, The second hour beginning at minute 12:25 the guests are Michael Vanlaningham and Michael Rydelnik <http://www.moodyradio.org/Chris-Fabry-Live/2016/03-2016/2016-03-23---The-Centurion---Bible-Q---A/>)

Do you hear the layers of falsehood, distortion, darkness—I was heartbroken as I listened to this, millions of Christians being steeped in such a distortion of reality. Their entire explanation is through the false law lens. Can anyone bring evidence to bear demonstrating the falsehood of these ideas promoted on that radio program?

First identify the lies:

- Sin requires punishment
- Animal blood can atone for sin
- The death of an animal was required to deal with sin
- The physical blood of Jesus is what atones for sin
- Our sins are like legal debts that accrue and need to be paid
- That physical blood of Jesus pays for that debt

Now the evidence that exposes the lies

- Sin requires punishment
 - Therefore, just as sin entered the world through one man, and death through sin, and in this way death came to all men, because all sinned—¹³ for before the law was given,

sin was in the world. But sin is not taken into account when there is no law. ¹⁴ Nevertheless, death reigned from the time of Adam to the time of Moses, even over those who did not sin by breaking a command, as did Adam, who was a pattern of the one to come. Rom 5:12-14

- Sin is a state of being out of harmony from God's design for life. This state-change occurred when Adam sinned, and all sinners are born in a terminal condition—dead in trespass and sin. This condition is what causes death, not breaking rules, thus people were dying before the written law was given, because they were already out of harmony with God's design law—from birth.
- Oswald Chambers wrote: The Bible does not say that God punished the human race for one man's sin, but that the nature of sin, namely, my claim to my right to myself, entered into the human race through one man. But it also says that another Man took upon Himself the sin of the human race and put it away — an infinitely more profound revelation...

Sin is something I am born with and cannot touch— only God touches sin through redemption. It is through the Cross of Christ that God redeemed the entire human race from the possibility of damnation through the heredity of sin. God nowhere holds a person responsible for having the heredity of sin, and does not condemn anyone because of it. Condemnation comes when I realize that Jesus Christ came to deliver me from this heredity of sin, and yet I refuse to let Him do so. From that moment I begin to get the seal of damnation. "This is the condemnation [and the critical moment], that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light." (John 3:19)
<http://utmost.org/the-nature-of-degeneration/>

- In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. {DA 761.4}
 - The idea that sin needs to be punished is Satan's idea, and those who promote it are promoting Satan's idea of law and government
 - God's idea is that sinners need to be cured, remedied, healed and restored— while sin is eradicated from their beings!
- Animal blood can atone for sin
- The death of an animal was required to deal with sin
 - The law is only a shadow of the good things that are coming—not the realities themselves. For this reason it can never, by the same sacrifices repeated endlessly year after year, make perfect those who draw near to worship. ² If it could, would they not have stopped being offered? For the worshipers would have been cleansed once for all, and would no longer have felt guilty for their sins. ³ But those sacrifices are an annual reminder of sins,⁴ because it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins. Heb 10:1-4

- The physical blood of Jesus is what atones for sin
- Our sins are like legal debts that accrue and need to be paid
- That physical blood of Jesus pays for that debt
 - Jesus said to them, “I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you.⁵⁴ Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.⁵⁵ For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink.⁵⁶ Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me, and I in him. Jn 6:53-56
 - The blood is metaphorical—we are not saved by being washed in red corpuscles. We are saved by having our hearts washed by the truth and love—the very life of Jesus who is the source of truth and love and who developed a perfect character of which we may partake!

The entire construct presented in the radio show is based on false law construct, the idea that God’s law functions no different than human law, and thus requires punishment. This is the darkness in which the world is currently trapped; this is the lie that obstructs the final message of mercy from going to the world.

SUNDAY

Title—John the Baptist and “Present Truth”

What is present truth? The truth needed for the people living at that time?

Let’s see if we can uncover progressive truth. What was the truth for these times in history and see if each point in time has a more complete truth for us today:

- Adam and Eve after their fall?
 - Savior is promised to deliver humanity from sin
 - What is the more complete truth? Jesus has come and has defeated Satan and the species has been saved, now it is just a matter of individual salvation
- What was the truth for Noah’s day?
 - A way of salvation is prepared for all who will choose
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? That we are to choose not mere temporal salvation from a flood, but eternal salvation from sin
- What was the truth for Moses day?
 - God will deliver from slavery and lead to a promised land
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? That through Christ God has defeated the ruler of this world, freed us from the slavery of sin, and is leading all who will follow to the eternal promised land—but how many of us are like ancient Israel—grumbling along the way?

- What was the truth for David's day?
 - God will deliver from enemies and establish us in his kingdom
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? God continues to deliver us from all earthly opposition and establish us in his eternal kingdom—when we accept Jesus our citizenship is in heaven!
- What was the truth for Daniel's day?
 - God will watch over his children in captivity and has a plan to deliver and save
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? God is watching over us here on earth today and has a plan to deliver and save us for all eternity—but like Daniel we may wait our entire life!
- What was the truth for Nehemiah's day?
 - Leave the world behind, build the temple of God and prepare for the Messiah
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? We are to leave the world's view of religion and law behind and establish in our Spirit temples the truth about God and His character and methods of love, preparing to meet the Messiah
- What was the truth for John the Baptists day?
 - Turn away from the kingdoms of the world for God's kingdom of love has come
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? Turn away from selfishness and sin for God's kingdom of love is at hand—Jesus is about to return!
- What was the truth for Paul's day?
 - The truth about God has been revealed and the remedy for sin has been provided to all humanity through Jesus Christ
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? The full integration of the truth about God as seen in Scripture, science and experience in the setting of the Great Controversy over God's character and methods of love—these truths are applicable to all people regardless of race, culture, or religion.
- What was the truth for Luther's day?
 - Christianity is infected with lies and must be purified with truth
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? That the root infection is the imposed law construct and we are called to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and all that in them is, called back to Designer worship!
- What was the truth for EGWs day?
 - The purifying process is to continue as we come back to the truth about God's character of love in the setting of the Great Controversy
 - What is the more complete truth for us today? God's law is the law of love and The Sabbath is a sign of God's character of love and true Sabbath keepers possess the character of Christ. That God is waiting for a people on earth to be so settled into the truth about Him and His law of love, that nothing can move them and they will be empowered to share this message in the setting of the Great Controversy all over the world.

- What is the truth for us today?
 - God is waiting for a people to be so settled into the truth about Him, His character, His methods—design law of love, so that they cannot be moved—then the winds will loosen and the end will come

With this in mind here are a couple of historic quotes:

Our warfare is aggressive. Tremendous issues are before us, yea, and right upon us. Let our prayers ascend to God that the four angels may still hold the four winds, that they may not blow to injure or destroy until the last warning has been given to the world. Then let us work in harmony with our prayers. Let nothing lessen the force of the truth for this time. The present truth is to be our burden. The third angel's message must do its work of separating from the churches a people who will take their stand on the platform of eternal truth. [what does this mean? Could it mean separating from institutional loyalty and methods, to become members in a body motivated by Godlike love? In other words, stop focusing on level four and below, divisions, and rules, but on level five and above, God's design law, character, methods and principles?] {6T 61.2}

The very work that is essential for every one who receives the present truth, is to aim at perfection of character, and thoroughness in winning souls to Christ. Be determined that you will advance and improve in your work, and then you will be continually progressing; for those who have received this light feel that they must bring more of the Spirit of Christ into their own life and character as they advance, else they cannot bring it into the lives of others. {RH, July 26, 1887 par. 5}

“It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth...The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love.” Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

Read last paragraph, “Notice how central Jesus is...” What do you think of this idea of a final reckoning?

The lesson asks us to read MT 3:7-12:

But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to where he was baptizing, he said to them: “You brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the coming wrath? 8 Produce fruit in keeping with repentance. 9 And do not think you can say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ I tell you that out of these stones God can raise up children for Abraham. 10 The ax is already at the root of the trees, and every tree that does not produce good fruit will be cut down and thrown into the fire.

11 "I baptize you with water for repentance. But after me will come one who is more powerful than I, whose sandals I am not fit to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire. 12 His winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor, gathering his wheat into the barn and burning up the chaff with unquenchable fire."

What does it mean? How do you understand it? What law lens do you look through? What do you understand the terms to mean?

What causes the division? Is Jesus a divider or uniter? Does Jesus do the dividing or is the dividing caused by sin? What do you understand judgment to be?

From The Remedy:

But when he saw the lawyers and theologians of the Pharisee and Sadducee schools arrive where he was dipping people in the Jordan, he said to them: "You poisonous snakes! What are you doing here? Do you think you can get right with God by washing in the Jordan?"⁸ Your hearts must be cleansed and characters renewed, so that your lives bring forth actions in harmony with God's character of love.⁹ And don't try claiming that you're right with God just because you're genetic descendants of Abraham. Biological descent is irrelevant. The descendants of Abraham are as numerous as the stones lying on the shore.¹⁰ The axe of selfishness is already cutting through the roots of Israel, and every person who refuses to be renewed in love and bring forth character of righteousness will be cut off and destroyed.

¹¹ "I immerse people in water, symbolizing their repentance. But One is coming after me whose sandals I am not even fit to hold. He will immerse you in the Holy Spirit and in the cleansing fire of God's love and truth.¹² He sifts the wheat from the chaff, purifying his people by consuming all defects with unstoppable fire."

Is about Jesus' temptation in the wilderness. Read memory text Monday and first paragraph Tuesday, "Matthew 4:1...

Why was Jesus led by the Holy Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted, and why are we to pray to lead us not into temptation?

Jesus had a different mission than us—what was Jesus' mission? To overcome Satan, to overcome temptation, to exercise His human brain to be righteous, to reject sin, to develop as perfect character! Thus Jesus had to face the temptations and using His human brain choose no in order to develop a perfect character.

Why did Jesus have to do this? Because Jesus had to fix what Adam broke—and because of Adam’s sin there were no humans with sinless character, and all humans suffered with internal temptations. Jesus came to develop a perfect character and destroy the infection of selfishness and fear which tempts us.

Read bottom Tuesday pink section. There is no excuse for Adam and Eve’s sin, but what about each of us being born with sinful natures—is that our fault?

What do we not have an excuse for? For rejecting the free remedy which will heal and transform us!

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to read MT 4:13-16:

When Jesus heard that John had been put in prison, he returned to Galilee. ¹³ Leaving Nazareth, he went and lived in Capernaum, which was by the lake in the area of Zebulun and Naphtali—
¹⁴ to fulfill what was said through the prophet Isaiah:

¹⁵ “Land of Zebulun and land of Naphtali, the way to the sea, along the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles—

¹⁶ the people living in darkness have seen a great light; on those living in the land of the shadow of death a light has dawned.

What is being said? What is the point? That Jesus the light of truth shines into the minds of people darkened by Satan’s lies about God.

THURSDAY

The call of the fishermen, read last paragraph, “Jesus chose...” What does this tell us about the mindset we need in order to be useful in God’s cause?

FRIDAY

The top section states, “Though, no question, some parts of the Old Testament, such as the sacrificial system, are no longer binding upon believers, we must never make the mistake of somehow relegating the Old Testament to an inferior status to the New.”

First the lesson is correct, the Old Testament is not less inspired than the New Testament—but it was written by different people, with different assumptions, different immediate concerns, different levels of revealed truth, different premises. The New testament has the advantage of having Jesus in person to clarify and interpret and set in right ways the meaning of the Old.

But what of the idea of the sacrificial system being binding—was it ever binding? And if so, in what way, for whom and for what purpose?

2016 Q2 The Book of Matthew Lesson 3

The Sermon on the Mount

SABBATH

Memory Verse: “When Jesus had finished saying these things, the crowds were amazed at his teaching, because he taught as one who had authority, and not as their teachers of the law” Matthew 7:28 NIV

What do the current Presidential candidates want for themselves?

What outcomes do the Democratic and Republican parties want in the current Presidential election?

What outcome does the current electorate want from the Presidential election?

Recent surveys (2010) show that about 40% of Americans believe that Jesus is likely to return by 2050. This varies from 58% of white evangelical Christians, through 32% of Catholics to 27% of white mainline Protestants.[36]

GotQuestions.org

- Question: "What is the Second Coming of Jesus Christ?"
- Answer: The second coming of Jesus Christ is the hope of believers that God is in control of all things, and is faithful to the promises and prophecies in His Word. In His first coming, Jesus Christ came to earth as a baby in a manger in Bethlehem, just as prophesied. Jesus fulfilled many of the prophecies of the Messiah during His birth, life, ministry, death, and resurrection. However, there are some prophecies regarding the Messiah that Jesus has not yet fulfilled. The second coming of Christ will be the return of Christ to fulfill these remaining prophecies. In His first coming, Jesus was the suffering Servant. In His second coming, Jesus will be the conquering King. In His first coming, Jesus arrived in the most humble of circumstances. In His second coming, Jesus will arrive with the armies of heaven at His side.

What was the context for Christ's delivery of the Sermon on the Mount?

- Sequence
 - Baptism
 - Fast and Temptation in the wilderness
 - Judean Ministry (approximately one year)
 - Healing of the invalid by pool of Bethsaida.
 - Rejection by the religious establishment
 - After John was imprisoned, Jesus withdrew from Judea to Galilee
 - Preaching: “Repent for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.”
 - First disciples were recruited

- Going throughout Galilee teaching in synagogues, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every kind of sickness.
 - Crowds flocked to see this new prophet
- Expectations
 - What was Christ's message?
 - It was about the "Kingdom"
 - "Turn away from your sins, because the Kingdom of heaven is near!" GNT Matt 4:17
 - Recruitment of Peter, Andrew, James & John
 - "The Jews looked for the coming One, not as a Saviour from sin, but as a great prince who should bring all nations under the supremacy of the Lion of the tribe of Judah." TMB 7.1
 - "In place of the one coarse garment which was their covering by day and their blanket at night, they hoped that Christ would give them the rich and costly robes of their conquerors." TMB 10.1

The Sermon on the Mount consumes approximately three chapters of Matthew:

- The Beatitudes
- The Believers and the relationship with the world (salt & light, the teachings of Moses & the prophetic writings, personal righteousness)
- Personal relationships
- Giving to the Poor: Prayer
- Fasting
- What you value (God vs wealth)
- Anxiety and God's provisions
- Judging others
- Prayer
- The Golden Rule
- The tree and its Fruit
- What foundation are you building on?

So why did Christ say these things?

- Rules of behavior?
- Principles of heaven?
- Guidelines for the believer?

Every teaching is a verbal description of what God is like

The Beatitudes... God is:

- not spiritually arrogant
- mourning for lost souls
- gentle
- hungers and thirsts for righteousness in His children
- merciful

- pure in heart
- peacemaker
- persecuted for the sake of doing the right thing
- insulted and persecuted
- subject of all sorts of evil sayings against Him

- Salt of the earth
- Light of the world
- The source of all of Moses teachings and the writings of the Prophets

- He is not angry with His brethren
- He only has good things to say about His children
- He will not divorce His wife except for unchastity

The Believers and the relationship with the world (salt & light, the teachings of Moses & the prophetic writings, personal righteousness)

- Personal relationships
- Giving to the Poor: Prayer
- Fasting
- What you value (God vs wealth)
- Anxiety and God's provisions
- Judging others
- Prayer
- The Golden Rule
- The tree and its Fruit
- What foundation are you building on?

Read third paragraph. "The Sermon on the Mount is the most powerful sermon ever preached..."

Fourth paragraph: "And yet, we must not just listen to this sermon; we must apply it.

- How do we do that?
- How does anything we believe translate into something we are?

It seems it is easier to grab a set of rules of behavior and apply them to your external life than change what you believe and trust and alter the inner workings of your personality. We may adopt behavior for very selfish reasons:

- Talk a certain way
- Dress a certain way
- Limit activities to an accepted standard
- We can do all these things for an anticipated reward or benefit to us.
- And yet, we may not wholly agree with any of it. . .

We will never come to change our behavior to be God-like until we see God in a positive light and truly understand His character as portrayed in the Sermon on the Mount. That He is like those things.

We become like the object or person we worship and admire. (2 Corinthians 3:18)

“And eternal life means to know you, the only true God, and to know Jesus Christ, whom you sent.” John 17:3 GNT

It wasn't until fairly late in the writing of the New Testament that the statement of “God is Love” was made. (1 John 4:8)

However, the attributes of God had long previously been demonstrated from the Creation of the World to the demonstration by His Son that God is “others centered” in all His actions and principles.

- Happy, others centered, not showy, servanthood.
- 1 Corinthians 13
- Galatians 5:22 “The Spirit produces love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness (humility), and self control.”

These texts are just a recapitulation of what God has demonstrated to the whole universe and are the center of the themes that angels love to see and tell. (1 Peter 1:10-12)

SUNDAY

Principles and Standards

First Question: Summarize what stands out the most in your mind about what the Sermon on the Mount says to you.

- What is it like to be like God?
- Happy, others centered, no showy, servanthood.
- See 1 Corinthians 13

Read fourth paragraph: “Ellen G. White writes: “In the sermon on the Mount He sought to undo the work that had been wrought by false education, and to give His hearers a right conception of His kingdom and of His own character. . .” The Desire of Ages p.299

MONDAY

The Sermon Versus the Law

Read the first paragraph. Would this same discussion take place over the law of gravity?

- If the law of God is a law enacted, maybe.
- The law is the principle upon which the universe is constructed.
- The consequences of replacing the law of God would be. . .

Read Genesis 15:6

- How does reading the same passage in a different translation alter your perception of what is said?

- NIV: Abram believed the Lord, and he credited it to him as righteousness.
- NASB: Then he believed in the Lord; and He reckoned it to him as righteousness.
- GNT: Abram put his trust in the Lord, and because of this the Lord was pleased with him and accepted him.
- Be wary of your translator!
- Preconceived ideas alter how you translate something. This is true whether the original language is Spanish, Hebrew, Greek or Swahili.

This whole page appears to be in the context of a legal understanding of salvation or at least an external process that is applied to an individual.

- Salvation is about two people: A human being and God
- We are saved by God
- We are not saved by a substance, process or transaction.
- We are saved by a gracious being “who loved us and gave himself for us.” Galatians 2:20

TUESDAY

The Righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees

At the bottom half of the page: Read Micah 6:6-8

The next paragraph: Even in the Old Testament time. . .”

- “. . .the scribes and Pharisees were definitely not a model on how a follower of the Lord should live.”
- Who is a “model” of humanity for us?
 - Only Christ! The church leaders should never be our model.
 - What then of the statement in 1 Corinthians 11:1?
 - Read 1 Corinthians 10:31- 33
 - Paul is not using his life as an example. He is encouraging them to use the same principles in their own working out of their lives.
 - Read Galatians 2:19, 20
 - Go back to the introduction of 1 Corinthians.
 - 1 Corinthians 1:12, 13 and then in 3:4 - 9

WEDNESDAY

The Principles of the Kingdom

Matthew 5:48 “You must be perfect - just as your Father in heaven is perfect.”

It is all about love.

Read last paragraph on page: “The important thing. . .”

THURSDAY

Receiving the Words of the Kingdom

Read Matthew 13:44 - 52

- Parables
 - Treasure
 - Pearl
 - Fish
 - Disciple brings out new and old out of his storage room to “implied: feed when necessary”
- “The other crucial point is the great value each man placed on what he had found.
- Read the last paragraph: How does that happen?
- “Christ has given us no assurance that to attain perfection of character is an easy matter. A noble, all-round character is not inherited. It does not come to us by accident. A noble character is earned by individual effort through the merits and grace and Christ. God gives the talents, the powers of the mind; we form the character. It is formed by hard, stern battles with self. Conflict after conflict must be waged against hereditary tendencies. We shall have to criticize ourselves closely, and allow not one unfavorable trait to remain uncorrected. . . .

A character formed according to the divine likeness is the only treasure that we can take from this world to the next. Those who are under the instruction of Christ in this world will take every divine attainment with them to the heavenly mansions. . . .

The heavenly intelligences will work with the human agent who seeks with determined faith that perfection of character which will reach out to perfection in action. To everyone engaged in this work Christ says, I am at your right hand to help you.

As the will of man cooperates with the will of God, it becomes omnipotent. Whatever is to be done at His command may be accomplished in His strength. All His biddings are enablings.

Character is power. The silent witness of a true, unselfish, godly life carries an almost irresistible influence. By revealing in our own life the character of Christ we cooperate with Him in the work of saving souls. It is only by revealing in our life His character that we can cooperate with Him. And the wider the sphere of our influence, the more good we may do. When those who profess to serve God follow Christ's example, practicing the principles of the law in their daily life; when every act bears witness that they love God supremely and their neighbor as themselves, then will the church have power to move the world. . . .

We know not what results a day, an hour, or a moment may determine, and never should we begin the day without committing our ways to our heavenly Father. . . . When unconsciously we are in danger of exerting a wrong influence, the angels will be by our side, prompting us to a better course, choosing our words for us, and influencing our actions. Thus our influence may be a silent, unconscious, but mighty power in drawing others to Christ and the heavenly world.”

Further Thoughts

Question #1: What would it be like living in a world where everyone followed the principles found in the Sermon on the Mount?

Don't worry.

We will get to find out: it is heaven!

The Book of Matthew Lesson 4 2Q 2016

“Get Up and Walk!” Faith and Healing

I received this email from an online listener in Canada:

Bedtime again, and I've got the computer tuned to your "station", to the Bible study discussions. I'll turn it on, crawl into bed, and be asleep within 10 minutes. You might interpret that as an insult, as a suggestion that your discussions are boring or soporific in nature - but no. It is such a comfort to know that God is not standing by waiting to record every misdeed, every selfish thought.

I grew up imagining myself in that famous art piece: the ten commandments looming over the scene, God judging me, Jesus standing beside me - but how could he stand beside me when I'd betrayed him so many times?

Your totally sensible message that God is the Great Physician, anxious to heal me, anxious to pick me up when I fall, anxious to change my mindset so that I will turn from loving self to loving others, is such a comforting message. I need not fear the judgment day anymore than I need to fear going to an earthly physician.

Having fallen asleep within 10 minutes, I often awaken at 3 or 4 a.m. and retune the discussion, sometimes doing that several times during the night, until by morning I stay awake listening to the whole wonderfully healing and encouraging message.

Not only do the discussions encourage me, but now I read the Bible and the little red books with a totally different mindset.

So, thank you for your ministry (and thank you to those who make it possible) - and for the restful sleeps I now enjoy.

Good night and God bless!

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “If you made a list...” Have any of you struggled with the fear of death? If you have it means—you are human: Heb 2:14,15:

Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death.

How does the death of Christ free us who are held in the slavery of the fear of death?

Did you know that the fear of death is what triggered the entire religion of Buddhism?

- Buddha left the confines of his luxurious apartments, and encounters for the first time in his life:
 - A decrepit old man.
 - A severely ill man.
 - A corpse being carried to the funeral pyre by mourners.
- Buddha realizes his mortality and experiences fear of death.

How did Buddha deal with his fear of death?

- Buddha dealt with this fear of death by Eastern Meditation, seeking to avoid the fear by looking inward, causing an altered state of brain function of suppressed left cortex function, which allows one to enter a state of disconnect with reality. But, does such meditation actually change the condition which causes death?

Did Jesus also face the fear of death? When?

Then he [Jesus] said to them, “My soul is overwhelmed with sorrow to the point of death. Stay here and keep watch with me.” Going a little farther, he fell with his face to the ground and prayed, “My Father, if it is possible, may this cup be taken from me. Yet not as I will, but as you will.” MT 26:38,39

What did Jesus do when He faced death? Did He turn inward to an emptying meditation allowing Him to avoid reality and experience a false comfort?

No—Jesus realized why humanity faced death—why? Why does humanity face death?

Because it is out of harmony with the law—protocols—upon which life is constructed. Life is built to operate upon other centered love, beneficence and giving. Sin is violation of this design, it is fear and selfishness, and breaks the circle of life, resulting in death.

Humanity is in a terminal condition—dead in trespass and sin. So, what Christ faced was something entirely different than any human being ever. Every human being before Christ had only the infection of fear and selfishness with a character warped. But Jesus had a different choice, what was Jesus’ choice?

He had three options 1. accept Satan which He would never do, but it was an option. 2. Abandon humanity to its fate—eternal death—and return to heaven, or 3. Cure the condition, fix what was wrong in the nature and character of humankind and thereby provide the remedy to all who would accept it.

But how—how would Christ be able to provide a remedy? He had to partake of the condition and destroy the death-causing infection and develop a perfect, sinless human character. The only way to accomplish this was to face death, and rather than avoid the fear of it through meditation as Buddha had done, to overcome it with love!

When did Christ face this battle to surrender in love or act to save self? His first battle was in the desert when he was tempted to act in self interest, use divine power make bread for himself (sensualism), brag or show off (egotism), or seek advancement for himself (materialism).

But the ultimate battle came where?

In Gethsemane, listen to this description from the Desire of Ages:

The disciples awakened at the voice of Jesus, but they hardly knew Him, His face was so changed by anguish... {DA 689.2}

Again the Son of God was seized with superhuman agony, and fainting and exhausted, He staggered back to the place of His former struggle. His suffering was even greater than before. As the agony of soul came upon Him, "His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground."... {DA 689.3}

... Jesus sought again His retreat, and fell prostrate, overcome by the horror of a great darkness. The humanity of the Son of God trembled in that trying hour. [Why is this significant? Because He was forging a new humanity, destroying the infection of fear and selfishness and restoring God's character/law of love] He prayed not now for His disciples that their faith might not fail, but for His own tempted, agonized soul. The awful moment had come—that moment which was to decide the destiny of the world. The fate of humanity trembled in the balance. [What was the choice that made the fate of humanity hang in the balance?] Christ might even now refuse to drink the cup apportioned to guilty man. It was not yet too late. He might wipe the bloody sweat from His brow, and leave man to perish in his iniquity. He might say, Let the transgressor receive the penalty of his sin, and I will go back to My Father. [What is the penalty of sin? Notice not the punishment of God, this is quite significant. It is the penalty that sin brings, which is transgressing God's design law. It would be like saying someone who refuses to drink receives the penalty of dehydration and eventual death] Will the Son of God drink the bitter cup of humiliation and agony? Will the innocent suffer the consequences of the curse of sin, to save the guilty? The words fall tremblingly from the pale lips of Jesus, "O My Father, if this cup may not pass away from Me, except I drink it, Thy will be done." {DA 690.2}

Three times has He uttered that prayer. Three times has humanity shrunk from the last, crowning sacrifice. [what is Christ experiencing? Temptation to save self. From where is the temptation arising? From the humanity of which He partook] But now the history of the human race comes up before the world's Redeemer. He sees that the transgressors of the law, if left to themselves, must perish. [Why must they perish? Is it because if Jesus doesn't die God would be either unwilling or legally unable to forgive them? No! It is because if Christ doesn't complete His mission there will be no remedy to provide that will heal human beings from their terminal condition!] He sees the helplessness of man. [How are we helpless? We are helpless to cure ourselves!] He sees the power of sin. The woes and lamentations of a doomed world rise before Him. He beholds its impending fate, and His decision is made. He will save man at any cost to Himself. He accepts His baptism of blood, that through Him perishing millions may gain everlasting life. He has left the courts of heaven, where all is purity, happiness, and glory, to save the one lost sheep, the one world that has fallen by transgression. And He will not turn from His mission. He will become the propitiation of a race that has willed to sin. [which means what? Propitiate, means to conciliate, which means to make favorable, which means...he makes the race favorable, how, by what? By fixing what is broken, by eradicating the carnal nature (fear and selfishness) and perfecting humanity back to God's original design!] His prayer now breathes only submission: "If this cup may not pass away from Me, except I drink it, Thy will be done." {DA 690.3}

Having made the decision, He fell dying to the ground from which He had partially risen. [What is happening? Why is he dying here? Has any being laid a hand on Him? He chose love! He chose to surrender and not save self! He chose to give himself thus in Christ human character is restored back to God's perfect design for life.] Where now were His disciples, to place their hands tenderly beneath the head of their fainting Master, and bathe that brow, marred indeed more than the sons of men? The Saviour trod the wine press alone, and of the people there was none with Him. {DA 693.1}

But God suffered with His Son. [How did God suffering with His Son? Why did the Father not step in? What is the Father's goal? What does the Father want to happen? God was in the Son reconciling the world to himself. The Father wants to see humanity cured. Thus, as horrible as it is to watch, the Father is pleased to allow this to happen for the same reason Jesus is "for the joy set before him he endured the cross." It was the only way to cure our condition.] Angels beheld the Saviour's agony. They saw their Lord enclosed by legions of satanic forces, His nature weighed down with a shuddering, mysterious dread. [From where is the dread originating? What are satanic forces doing?] There was silence in heaven. No harp was touched. Could mortals have viewed the amazement of the angelic host as in silent grief they watched the Father separating His beams of light, love, and glory from His beloved Son, they would better understand how offensive in His sight is sin...[Why was the Father separating His beams from the Son? Was it because the Father disapproved of Jesus? Was it because the Father was angry at Jesus? Was it because the Father was venting wrath and anger on Jesus? Was it because the Father was hurting Jesus? Or was it because it was the only way for Christ to complete His mission of healing humanity and providing Remedy? Could Christ complete his mission of destroying the infection of fear and selfishness (carnal nature) without dying?

Could He die as long as the Father kept His life-giving energy flowing into Jesus? No—God had to separate Himself from His Son, in order for Jesus to be able to destroy the infection of fear and selfishness. The only way to do this was for Jesus to partake of the infection, experience the temptation to save self, but choose, with His human brain to love, to surrender self, to refuse to use power to save Himself, all the way unto death. And in so doing Jesus would rid His humanity of the infection and rise again in a new humanity perfected back to God's original ideal. The only way to do this was to die—and thus God had to separate Himself from His Son and allow that process to take place. This was a terrible experience for our Infinite God, for them to experience this separation. But there was NEVER any punishment inflicted from the Father and NEVER any legal payment going on! {DA 693.2}

The worlds unfallen and the heavenly angels had watched with intense interest as the conflict drew to its close. [Close where? He hadn't been crucified yet, why a close? The earth has persisted for 2000 years since then, so what does it mean drew to a close? Because the decision was made by Jesus which ensures the outcome!] Satan and his confederacy of evil, the legions of apostasy, watched intently this great crisis in the work of redemption. The powers of good and evil waited to see what answer would come to Christ's thrice-repeated prayer. Angels had longed to bring relief to the divine sufferer, but this might not be. No way of escape was found for the Son of God. [Why? Because there is no way to change God's character, design, methods, law—how He constructed life, the only way to fix what Adam did was through this path] In this awful crisis, when everything was at stake, when the mysterious cup trembled in the hand of the sufferer, the heavens opened, a light shone forth amid the stormy darkness of the crisis hour, and the mighty angel who stands in God's presence, occupying the position from which Satan fell, came to the side of Christ. The angel came not to take the cup from Christ's hand, but to strengthen Him to drink it, with the assurance of the Father's love. He came to give power to the divine-human suppliant. [This did not reduce Christ's suffering, but extended it because He didn't die there, but suffered throughout the rest of the weekend. And how was Jesus strengthened? Note how—] He pointed Him to the open heavens, telling Him of the souls that would be saved as the result of His sufferings. [It was the power of love—showing Jesus the people who would be saved is what aroused the love in His heart and empowered Him to endure!] He assured Him that His Father is greater and more powerful than Satan, that His death would result in the utter discomfiture of Satan, and that the kingdom of this world would be given to the saints of the Most High. He told Him that He would see of the travail of His soul, and be satisfied, for He would see a multitude of the human race saved, eternally saved. {DA 693.3}

Christ's agony did not cease, but His depression and discouragement left Him. The storm had in nowise abated, but He who was its object was strengthened to meet its fury. He came forth calm and serene. A heavenly peace rested upon His bloodstained face. He had borne that which no human being could ever bear; for He had tasted the sufferings of death for every man. {DA 694.1} [When did Jesus taste the suffering of death for every man? In Gethsemane!]

Do we need to fear death? Why or why not?

Read last paragraph, “Despite all its...” Why has the plan of salvation not spared us from the earthly death?

The death the Bible calls sleep is a merciful limit to a life of sin. This first death experience is not the enemy—eternal death is the enemy. First death is an artificial state, permitted by God’s grace, to limit evil, limit suffering, and allow God’s healing plan to progress.

Consider what the earth would be like if humans lived only as long as the antediluvians did? What would the earth be like if humans lived 900 years today? Do you think the kind, benevolent, patient and tender would survive?

They didn’t in Noah’s day. In Noah’s day it got to the point there was only one righteous man living on the entire earth. And then when Jesus was on earth, the world could only tolerate Him for 33 years and they killed Him.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “After preaching...” I am glad the lesson said leprosy was “one of the greatest examples of just how wretched and fallen Satan’s realm had become” because it is not the greatest example—what are greater examples than leprosy?

- The callousness and lack of love in the hearts of people—how Christ was treated by the religious leaders for instance, how the leaders treated lepers was a greater demonstration of the wretchedness of humanity than the leprosy itself.
- Demoniacs were much more wretched than lepers

Is leprosy sin? Is selfishness and meanness to others sin? So which is more wretched, leprosy—a physical illness—or the hardness of a selfish heart?

Why was leprosy chosen as a metaphor for sin? Because leprosy damages the nerves which transmit pain, thus the person becomes “numb” “callous” and all the subsequent damage and destruction is self-inflicted. This is a perfect metaphor for sin, which sears the conscience, hardens the heart and results in people destroying themselves!

Read third paragraph, “The fact...” What was Jesus revealing by touching the leper? This was a powerful demonstration that when the perfection of Jesus touches the wretchedness of our sinfulness, the sinfulness is cured, the defective are perfected, the defiled is made pure.

My sister emailed me this last evening:

Jesus almost always made a point of touching the sick individual when healing. If you look at how much symbolism was used in the Old Testament and think about Christ healing on earth being symbolic for something more than just showing his power it can be pretty eye opening. He was compelled to do all this healing while here on earth because it represented what he is doing for us now in the temple of heaven. Taking on our sins, absorbing them within himself, and cleansing us by his perfection to make us whole again. Thus, the need to touch the leper and provide healing. Instead of looking at each individual story of healing if you look at all of them in their entirety and ask what was it representative of it is pretty clear. He was trying to communicate his true purpose or intervention.

What implication does this have when we consider the impact that the “blood” of the sacrifice has when it comes into contact with something? In Scripture the blood of the sacrificial animal always cleansed, always made holy, always purified, it NEVER defiled anything. This was demonstrated when Jesus touched the leper. It reveals the reality that Jesus has become human, He has been tempted in every way just as we are, yet without sin, He has partaken of our humanity and He has cured it!

Read next paragraph, “The work of Christ...” Did you notice the language used? “Thus it is with the leprosy of sin,—deep-rooted, deadly, and impossible to be cleansed by human power.”

Do you notice she doesn’t say, impossible to be forgiven, or legally pardoned, but cleansed, cured, renewed, made whole!

Sin is a condition of being that is out of harmony with God and His design for life. We need healing and restoration, and that is what God accomplishes through Christ.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, “There’s a good reason...” What is the good reason Daniel spends so much time dealing with Rome?

Could it be because it would be the primary agent to infect Christianity with the false law construct that the entire world still accepts?

But regarding the Roman centurion who seeks healing for his servant, what do you think of the story?

What lessons are learned? That humans cannot change design laws, that the servant was struggling with a health problem and no legislative action from the organized government could fix it. He needed the Designer to fix what was wrong. Further Jesus is not a racist—Jesus is here to save all human beings regardless of ethnicity, nationality, religion, etc.

Read MT 8:10-12:

When Jesus heard this, he was astonished and said to those following him, “I tell you the truth, I have not found anyone in Israel with such great faith. ¹¹ I say to you that many will come from the east and the west, and will take their places at the feast with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. ¹² But the subjects of the kingdom will be thrown outside, into the darkness, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.”

What does it mean?

Here it is from The Remedy:

When Jesus heard such confidence and understanding, he was deeply moved and said to those with him: "I tell you plainly, I haven't found one person in all Israel with such unshakable confidence.¹¹ Understand this clearly: There will be many who come from other cultures around the world who will feast together in heaven with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.¹² But many others, who—because of ancestry or upbringing—considered themselves members of God's family, will be abandoned into eternal darkness, with great weeping and heartache."

What is happening? What determines who is feasting in heaven and who is left out?

- Nationality?
- Race?
- Legal adjustment of one's standing?
- Partaking of rituals?
- Day of worship?
- Membership in a particular organization?

It all comes down to: who has had selfishness replaced with love in their character—or another way to say it, who has been reborn, recreated, renewed, who is like Jesus in character, who has been healed and transformed by partaking of Jesus via the work of the Holy Spirit.

TUESDAY

MT 8:25-34 recounts Jesus calming the storm and Jesus casting the demons out of the man and into the herd of swine.

The lesson asks, “What do both of these accounts teach us about the power of God? How can we draw comfort from what we see here about His power, especially as we struggle with things so much greater than ourselves?”

What do you learn about God's power?

What kind of power was being used? What was God's power used upon? Did God use power to change hearts and minds?

Can God win what he wants to win by the use of power?

What are some of the ways people get confused today over God's power?

Consider the different types of power:

- Coercive power—where does it originate? Does God use it?
- Inducing power, bribes—where does it originate? Does God use it?
- Deceiving power—where does it originate? Does God use it?
- The power of love—where does it originate? Does God use it?
- The power of truth and love—where does it originate?
- Restraining power—what is restraining power? It is when one intelligence, who has superior understanding, intervenes in the freewill choices of another to alter outcomes. Examples: parents restraining a child running into the street; health officials quarantining a person with Ebola infection; mental health officials forcibly restraining and medicating a violent psychotic individual; God holding back evil forces or restraining them from entering a man's mind.

What are the limitations on God's power?

Are there things God cannot do?

- Can God save a person against that person's will? Why not?
- What does it mean to be saved? It means to have a change of heart where selfishness and fear are replaced by love and trust.
- Can God eradicate selfishness and fear from a person and instill love and trust by use of might and power?
- If God were to overwrite your personal choices and program you with love and trust, would you still be you? No, while He has the power to do so, such an act would 1. destroy your individuality and 2. be a violation of God's very nature, character and law of love and liberty.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is about the paralytic, and Jesus speaking that his sins were forgiven before healing the man.

Read second paragraph, "How fascinating..." What are the lessons?

How much of his suffering was from unforgiven sin versus how much was from his belief that his physical sickness was proof that he had unforgiven sin?

Today, how many suffer with illness, and on top of that problem have the additional burden of believing it proves they are unforgiven sinners?

When was this man forgiven by God? Was God withholding forgiveness until Jesus saw the man and was moved by his pitiful state? Was God withholding forgiveness until Jesus asked Him to forgive the man?

What was the obstacle to the man being forgiven—was there an obstacle on God’s side? Was there an obstacle on the man’s side? What obstacle?

How many people today suffer in the same way, not experiencing forgiveness because of believing some lie about God or themselves, that God won’t forgive, or they are too sinful for God to forgive, or God requires some payment to forgive, or their sickness is evidence God hasn’t forgiven etc?

Read last paragraph, “A Seventh-day Adventist pastor...” Were most of the miracles of the Bible done for the strong in faith or for the weak in faith?

- Plagues of Egypt
- Thundering at Sinai
- Water from the rock
- Gideon and the fleece
- Fire at Carmel

What about the Apostles, when they were miraculously delivered from prison, was it primarily for their benefit, or so they could be a benefit to others?

THURSDAY

The lesson examines the story of a person saying he would follow Jesus after he went home to bury his father. And Jesus said, “let the dead bury the dead.”

What do you think it means “let the dead bury the dead?”

The lesson points out that one interpretation is that the man’s father wasn’t dead yet, and the person was saying to Jesus that he needed to wait until he got his inheritance in order to follow Jesus.

But, I think there is another application, one I have had to use with many patients who have struggled with grief. I have some patients who get stuck in grief, for years and years, sometimes decades and they are still grieving and can’t seem to heal. They have not reengaged in life, but have allowed themselves to sit with the dead. They have neglected their living children in order to grieve the dead child.

So, could this text also mean let the dead bury the dead, but the living need to engage with the living. The living have real work to do for the good of others?

Read Matt 9:13 “But go and learn what this means: ‘I desire mercy, not sacrifice.’ For I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners.”

What does the text mean? Why does Jesus want mercy rather than sacrifice? Because the sacrifices in the OT were symbolic of cleansing the heart and restoring love into it. Thus mercy was a fruit of a heart being cleansed. Sacrifices were merely acted out symbols, not reality.

Read bottom pink section, “Though the context is different, how does the principle apply even today, even when we substitute the idea of animal sacrifice with the sacrifice of Jesus? That is, how can we be careful that we don’t let religious beliefs or practices, no matter how right, get in the way of doing what really matters to God?”

What really matters to God?

The Book of Matthew Lesson 5 2Q 2016

The Seen and the Unseen War

SABBATH

What do you think of the title? What is the war? Where is it waged? What weapons are being used by both sides?

Is this a battle of might and power? How do we know this is not a physical battle?

And there was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon and his angels fought back. Rev 12:7

The Greek for war is: πόλεμος [polemos /pol-em-os/] from which we get polemic, a war of words, a war of ideas.

The Bible says Satan is the father of lies—where do lies have their power? Do lies have power over rocks, or rivers, or the sun, or air, or plants or animals? Where do lies have power? In the minds of intelligent beings. And what do lies do?

They infect the heart—they infect the self, the core person, the character and incite fear and selfishness.

What does God want to accomplish in this war?

- Destroy sin—is that all God wants?
- Could God destroy sin by destroying all beings He created in the universe? Is that what God wants a sterile universe devoid of life?
- God wants more than the eradication of sin—God wants the healing and restoration of His children.
- Can God achieve His goal, win the war, by the use of might and power? Why not?

Then what are the weapons God uses? Truth love and freedom—any Bible texts come to mind?

- Truth will set you free Jn 8:32
- 2Cor 10:3-5
- The memory verse for today

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, “Scripture is the Word of God...” Do you find our memory text difficult to understand? Read first three paragraphs in MONDAY’s lesson: “Bible students...”

Is the memory verse difficult to understand? What is difficult to understand?

If one views the texts through imposed law lenses, and falsely concludes God’s government functions like human governments, then this text is difficult to understand—which is it, using might to forcefully advance, or being beaten down forcefully by others. It seems to be one or the other.

But when we return to God’s design law of love, then this becomes easy to understand. God’s government is the government of love, truth and freedom, at war with Satan’s government of coercion, deceit and selfishness. So, God’s government is being violently attacked by Satan, but the power of love and truth forcefully advance as it is being violently attacked. Nothing demonstrated this reality more powerfully than the Cross. At the Cross you have Jesus wielding the weapons of truth, love and freedom and Satan wielding the weapons of lies, coercion and selfishness. Satan violently attacked Jesus, but whose kingdom forcefully advanced at the Cross? God’s kingdom did.

You see the same when:

- Stephen was stoned, who was violently attacking, whose kingdom forcefully advanced?
- Christians martyred in arenas of Rome, who was violently attacking, whose kingdom forcefully advanced?

Do we see these two weapons wielded in other settings? What about Gandhi and the British Empire?

How does Satan’s kingdom seek to advance? By use of might and power to intimidate, coerce and eliminate opposition.

How does God’s kingdom go forward forcefully? By love, forgiveness, truth, grace, patience—and where does God’s kingdom exercise it’s power? In the hearts, minds, characters of people. God’s kingdom transforms people—when God’s weapons are used, it turns enemies into friends:

Anyone who is joined to Christ is a new being; the old is gone, the new has come. ¹⁸All this is done by God, who through Christ changed us from enemies into his friends and gave us the task of making others his friends also. ¹⁹Our message is that God was making the whole human race his friends through Christ. God did not keep an account of their sins, and he has given us the message which tells how he makes them his friends. 2Cor 5:17-19 GNT

This is what God is fighting for—for His friends, for his children, for their healing. This type of war is fought upon design law, not imposed law. God can never win by using coercion, might, power.

Billions are deceived into thinking that it is Godly to use coercive power to achieve God's goals—this is returning to the Dark Ages when people were burned at the stake in order to “save” them and send their souls to heaven.

- Taliban and ISIS use coercion to promote their way
- Remember Christians in Rwanda
- Or Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland
- Or so-called Christians who blow up abortion clinics
- What about using government to coerce conscience?

Saul prior to Damascus road, thought it was right and proper to use coercion to evangelize. He thought it was how God worked, but then he learned God's true methods and wrote that every person is to be fully persuaded in their own minds. We never coerce.

We cannot win God's cause by using Satan's methods! Many Christians do not understand this and are being duped right now into advocating for actions that are designed to coerce conscience. But many liberals don't understand this and are advocating for the same thing, just on a different issue.

In this war Jesus said that the gates of hell would not prevail against the church. What does this mean? What type of weapons are gates? Defensive weapons.

Satan has lied, and by his lies he has infected the hearts and minds of human beings and established his beachhead, his hold on the species human. However, lies cannot hold against the truth. The truth about who God is as revealed in Christ will destroy the stronghold of lies and free people.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to examine several Bible verses to discuss the reality of a great controversy.

Let's read Matthew 12:25-37, this is from The Remedy:

²⁴ The Pharisees heard the crowd's growing confidence in Jesus and sought to undermine him: saying, "This is evil sorcery. It is by power from Beelzebub—lord of devils and flies—that he drives out demons."

³⁰ "Whoever is not united with me—working on my team to unite humanity together in love—is against me, causing division and disunity.³¹ So let me tell you plainly: Every sin—every deviation from God's design—can be healed, except the rejection of the Spirit, for the Spirit administers the Remedy which renews the heart in love.³² Anyone who speaks against the Son can still be healed, but speaking against the Holy Spirit cannot be healed, either now or in the future, for it is the Spirit that works in the heart to administer the Remedy, and the Spirit works only in a willing heart.³³ Make a tree good and it will bring forth good fruit; make a tree bad and it will bring forth bad fruit—for a tree is recognized by its fruit.³⁴ You slither and plot like a pit of vipers. Do you really think that you, who are evil in heart, can say anything good? For the true character of one's heart is revealed by what a person says and does.³⁵ The good person speaks and does good out of the wellspring of good stored within them, and the evil person speaks and does evil out of the wellspring of evil stored within them. So, speaking against the Holy Spirit reveals that one's heart is closed to the working of the Spirit.³⁶ I tell you plainly, every word spoken will be accounted for—an accurate symptom will be tied directly to the correct diagnosis of each person's heart.³⁷ The words you speak reveal the true condition of your heart, either 'healed' or 'terminal.'"

Is there a warfare theme in this text?

What kind of war is being described by Jesus? A war for the heart, and what is the Agency of God that brings victory? The Holy Spirit, and what are the characteristics of the Holy Spirit? Truth and Love—and where do truth and love have their power? What does truth destroy? What does love destroy?

Why is this the method to be used? Because God wants to heal and save His people and if God were to simply use divine creative energy to overwrite your minds with a new perfection, then you, the person you are, would not exist. Your unique individuality can only be saved through a cooperative relationship with God, in which the truth wins you to trust Him and you personally choose to cooperate with Him, surrendering to Him, inviting the Spirit within to transform and heal.

Read Isaiah 27:1:

On that day the Lord will use his powerful and deadly sword to punish Leviathan, that wriggling, twisting dragon, and to kill the monster that lives in the sea.

What does this mean? Does it sound like God will use His power to inflict punishment? Let's add another text:

Isaiah 26:21,22 See, the LORD is coming out of his dwelling to punish the people of the earth for their sins. The earth will disclose the blood shed upon her; she will conceal her slain no longer. In that day, the LORD will punish with his sword, his fierce, great and powerful sword.

What does this mean?

Those operating at level four and below, the imposed law construct, will read these verses and conclude God will use might and power to destroy. They fail to understand the reality of God's kingdom, how design law functions, and how to integrate Scripture.

Note Revelation 19:19-21:

Then I saw the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies gathered together to make war against the rider on the horse and his army. But the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet who had performed the miraculous signs on his behalf. With these signs he had deluded those who had received the mark of the beast and worshiped his image. The two of them were thrown alive into the fiery lake of burning sulfur. The rest of them were killed with the sword that came out of the mouth of the rider on the horse, and all the birds gorged themselves on their flesh.

The sword is coming out of the rider's mouth, who is the Rider? The Rider is Christ. What is the sword coming out of His mouth? Is it speaking of a large piece of metal? No, what comes out of a person's mouth? Words and what kind of words does Christ always speak? Truth! Therefore, the sword is symbolic of the truth. "The word of God is living and active. Sharper than any double-edged sword, it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow; it judges the thoughts and attitudes of the heart." Hebrews 4:12

The wicked are destroyed "because they did love the truth and thus be saved." 2 Thes 2:10.

In other words the wicked have hardened their minds in lies, solidified their characters in falsehood, warped their selves in deception and the sword of God is the truth that cuts through their lies right to their inner self.

When people sin they are convicted with guilt, this is the work of the Holy Spirit. No one likes guilt and we all want it to go away. There are only two ways to resolve appropriate guilt, God's way – repentance, restoration and reconciliation. And Satan's way, lies, denial, distortion, externalization. Adam said after his sin, "It wasn't me. It was that woman you gave me. If she had not brought me the fruit I would have never ate it. Don't blame me, blame her."

This is the hardened condition of all those who have not opened their hearts and minds to the Spirit of Truth here. What will it be like for those who have lived in the darkness of lies to come face to face with infinite truth, truth which can not be denied, truth that cannot be avoided, truth which sears through to their souls? Their minds cannot take it and they die.

Rom 16:20:

And God, our source of peace, will soon crush Satan under your feet.

The grace of our Lord Jesus be with you.

What does this mean? How does God crush Satan under our feet?

From The Remedy:

And when we open our hearts to love others completely, totally selflessly at all costs, rejecting Satan's methods of selfishness, then the God of peace crushes Satan and all his lies under our feet. May the grace of Christ be with you.

Genesis 3:14-19:

So the Lord God said to the serpent, "Because you have done this, "Cursed are you above all the livestock and all the wild animals! You will crawl on your belly and you will eat dust all the days of your life. ¹⁵ And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will crush your head, and you will strike his heel." ¹⁶ To the woman he said, "I will greatly increase your pains in childbearing; with pain you will give birth to children. Your desire will be for your husband, and he will rule over you." ¹⁷ To Adam he said, "Because you listened to your wife and ate from the tree about which I commanded you, 'You must not eat of it,' "Cursed is the ground because of you; through painful toil you will eat of it all the days of your life. ¹⁸ It will produce thorns and thistles for you, and you will eat the plants of the field. ¹⁹ By the sweat of your brow you will eat your food until you return to the ground, since from it you were taken; for dust you are and to dust you will return."

How do you understand this?

Those who oppose the message we present about God, and instead prefer the dictator view of God, frequently use these passages as evidence that God does punish for sin.

What about cursing the serpent? The serpent is not a sentient being. It doesn't have a character, a moral conscience, and therefore cannot choose to sin. Thus, the actions of God in causing the serpent to crawl on its belly, is not punishment. It is not discipline to teach snakes something. Then for whose benefit was this done? For humankind, but how does this action help sinful humans? It was an action to reveal, in a perpetual object lesson, the destructive results of aligning with Satan, of choosing to deviate from God's design. Exaltation does not occur, degradation occurs. And of course real life validates this.

Further, a Messiah was promised to come and undo what Satan's infection did to this creation. To heal and to save humanity and the earth.

What about Genesis 3:16, how do you understand it? “Your desire will be for your husband, and he will rule over you.” The immature think God is inflicting this upon women and wrongly conclude it is God’s desire or will for wives to be subjugated to the authoritarian rule of their husbands.

But the mature realize what naturally happens when love is replaced by selfishness in the heart—the strong dominate the weak and the weak long to be protected by the strong! Again, God is not using power to inflict an outcome, but is accurately diagnosing the condition of humanity and announcing what will now transpire as a result of their sin-infected hearts.

What about the increase in pain in childbearing? Is God using power to punish for sin? The Hebrew here in some versions is translated sorrow rather than pain. Does that make a difference, “I will greatly multiply your sorrow in childbirth.”

- Is this speaking of physical pain of labor?
- Or something else?
- God designed his universe to run on other centered love—when running in perfect accord with His design there was no pain or suffering.
 - But now sin entered, what happens when love tries to express itself on earth now, in this world of sin?
 - Does it meet opposition?
 - Is there sorrow involved in living lives of love?
 - What object lesson could powerfully represent the struggle of love to overcome sin and bring forth a new life in Christ?
 - Could it be the struggle of giving birth?
 - So, could the sorrow, struggle, and pain of labor be a therapeutic intervention to remind all of us, that because of sin, love will win, but only through trial, pain, through sorrow. Jesus was called a man of sorrows—why? In our memory text we explored how God’s kingdom advances as it is attacked. Could this be revealed in the sorrow of labor, new life comes forth only through pain in a world of sin?

What about “Cursed is the ground because of you; through painful toil you will eat of it all the days of your life. It will produce thorns and thistles for you, and you will eat the plants of the field. By the sweat of your brow you will eat your food until you return to the ground, since from it you were taken; for dust you are and to dust you will return.” (GEN 3:17-19)

Level one through four thinkers conclude: God has rules. Those rules were broken, therefore God, in justice, had to inflict punishment so that justice is served.

But level five through seven thinkers understand a larger reality. They understand that God’s laws are design parameters—the protocols upon which nature operates. And when Adam sinned nature became infected with an antagonistic principle along with an enemy that was now afoot infecting God’s creation with deviations from his design (mutations). (MT 13:28) The mature include in their understanding of Genesis what Paul wrote in Romans, that all nature groans under the weight of sin.

(8:22) Thus, design law adherents realize God is not inflicting punishment, but accurately diagnosing and announcing reality—what Adam’s actions have naturally resulted in—that nature now brings forth thorns, thistles, weeds and it will be harder to produce the desired crop. And that Adam, out of harmony with God’s design for life, disconnected from God’s full life-giving presence, will slowly deteriorate and die.

Read Ephesians 6:10-18: From The Remedy:

Finally, stay strong in your connection and devotion to the Lord and his mighty power.¹¹ Arm your minds with God's complete set of armor so that you can join the ranks of Christ's soldiers and stand successfully in the face of the devil's schemes.¹² For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, with man-made weapons, but against all individuals, entities and powers that misrepresent God and darken minds, and against Satan—the originator of lies about God—and his cohorts who also misrepresent God in the heavenly realms.¹³ Therefore arm your minds with God's full set of armor so that when Satan's grand deception comes and it seems the heavens are about to fall, you are able to stand; and when you have done everything to present the truth and expose Satan's lies—don't falter; stand!¹⁴ Stand firm, with the truth of God wrapped around you like a belt, with a righteous, Christlike character developed within—like a breastplate,¹⁵ and the peace that comes from accepting the good news about God—like track shoes providing good traction and a solid foundation.¹⁶ Also, hold fast the shield of trust, which extinguishes all the burning fear and insecurity brought by the devil's temptations.¹⁷ Take with you the helmet of a healed mind—a mind protected from the assaults of Satan; and attack the lies about God with the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God—the truth.¹⁸ And talk with God with an enlightened mind, intelligently, on all occasions, about all of your concerns, requests, plans, and issues. With all of this in mind, be alert and always keep praying for the God's people.

WEDNESDAY

Why the battle gets nasty? Why do you think?

The lesson points us to the life of John the Baptist and how he died at the hands of Herod. Why did Herod kill John the Baptist?

Is there a difference between how God’s government functions and how human institutions function? What’s the difference?

How do institutions function? What methods, what laws do they use? Do they use design law or imposed laws? Do they ever rise above level four?

Are institutions vulnerable to institutional protection at the expense of members? Was John a member of Israel? Did he get sacrificed to protect Herod’s power?

Jesus fared no better than John the Baptist; the leaders of God's organized church on earth said, "You do not realize that it is better for you that one man die for the people than that the whole nation perish." (Jn 11:50) Better to kill an innocent than allow damage to the institution.

And throughout church history every denominational church institution has sacrificed souls to protect their system. Organizational cover-up of child molestation in order to protect the institution has been well documented in the media, but at what cost? -The exploitation and injury of more innocents.

Consider the parable of the Good Samaritan, who is the person that is recognized as being right with God? It is not the priest or Levite, those who had the right doctrinal definitions, who participated in the right religious rituals, who attended the right worship programs, who worshipped on the right day. No! It was the Samaritan, who, as far as we know, never sacrificed at Temple, or kept the Sabbath, or ate a kosher diet. So what did the Samaritan have right? He had love in his heart—he loved others more than self!

The Samaritan gave of his time, energy, and resources to help another, with no expectation of return. This is love! This is God's goal. This is what Jesus taught, "As I have loved you, so you must love one another. By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another." (Jn 13:34,35) We are only truly followers of Christ if we have hearts that love—nothing else will suffice, no ritual, no doctrinal definition, no legal adjustment, no organizational membership—love is the life blood of God's universe and only those who have such love are genuine members of God's family!

If anyone says, "I love God," yet hates his brother, he is a liar. For anyone who does not love his brother, whom he has seen, cannot love God, whom he has not seen. (1Jn 4:20)

Oswald Chambers recognized this problem:

Reconciliation means the restoring of the relationship between the entire human race and God, putting it back to what God designed it to be. This is what Jesus Christ did in redemption. The church ceases to be spiritual when it becomes self-seeking, only interested in the development of its own organization. The reconciliation of the human race according to His plan means realizing Him not only in our lives individually, but also in our lives collectively. Jesus Christ sent apostles and teachers for this very purpose— that the corporate Person of Christ and His church, made up of many members, might be brought into being and made known. We are not here to develop a spiritual life of our own, or to enjoy a quiet spiritual retreat. We are here to have the full realization of Jesus Christ, for the purpose of building His body. ¹(emphasis mine)

¹ <http://utmost.org/the-spiritually-self-seeking-church/>

We can only fulfill God's purpose of living in love, being conduits of God's love to help heal others, by returning to design law.

Does this mean organizations are bad? Not at all, organizations are quite useful as they help us pool resources to achieve mission: schools, hospitals, worship centers, shelters, helping the homeless, provide concerts, weddings, teaching, outreach etc. etc.

Organizations are quite useful—but we must remember their purpose—their purpose is to help reach souls for God's kingdom. When the organization operates loses its vision of saving souls and instead becomes self-promoting, then organizations can fail to promote healing and actually obstruct it.

Another point, when John sent his disciples to ask Jesus if he was the one, how did Jesus respond?

What did Jesus provide to John? What did Jesus not do? Jesus provided evidence—Jesus did not respond with a declaration—“Yes it is I, the Messiah, believe!”

What does this tell us about what God wants from us? What method does He use?

THURSDAY

A lost cause—what is a lost cause? Satan's position and all who side with him, why is it a lost cause?

Was there ever a pathway to win for Satan? Why not? If Satan actually succeeded in defeating Christ on earth, what happens? Does God die? If God dies (which He would not and cannot) but if God dies what happens to the rest of the universe? It ceases to exist—so Satan and all who follow him die.

If Christ would have been defeated on earth, what would have happened to God? He would have grieved because He would have lost humans, this special creation would have died, along with Satan and all who align with him, but God would not have died. Satan's win was still a loss for Satan and all who align with him—why? Because Satan's idea of a win is total separation from God, who is the source of life. Satan is delusional—his entire government is based on a lie, that God's government is imposed, and that Satan can have life on his own separate from God—delusional.

It would be like an astronaut, on an umbilical cutting the umbilical to be free from the ship and thinking he could continue to live.

Read last paragraph, “Just as Satan lost...” Why is our only protection to be on Christ's side?

The Book of Matthew Lesson 6 2Q 2016

Resting In Christ

SABBATH

Read memory verse: “Come to me all you who are weary and burdened and I will give you rest.” (MT 11:28 NIV)

What kind of rest? Rest from what? Work? What type of work?

Would it not be rest from trying to save self, rest from trying to earn love, rest from trying to justify one’s significance, rest from trying to prove self—the rest of being loved for who you are, for being understood, and rest from trying to fix your own character?

Read first paragraph, “Christ was a living...” What does this mean a living representative of the law?

What kind of law would this be? Does it reveal something about how God’s law functions? How does it function?

Can God’s law be understood written on stone? Why or why not?

It cannot—because God’s law is the law of life, and stone is not alive. Stone cannot accurately reveal a living law.

Then why did God write the 10 Commandments on stone?

First—because God’s law of love was no longer written as the operating system upon the hearts of humans.

Second—because we needed it, because we needed a diagnostic instrument to reveal our terminal condition and lead us to our Designer for healing.

Why then the law? It was added because of transgressions, until the offspring would come to whom the promise had been made; and it was ordained through angels by a mediator. (Gal 3:19)

I am asked concerning the law in Galatians. What law is the schoolmaster to bring us to Christ? I answer: Both the ceremonial and the moral code of ten commandments... “The law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal. 3:24). In this scripture, the Holy Spirit through the apostle is speaking especially of the moral law. {ISM 233, 234}

What about the question Jesus asked, who can convict him of sin?

What is sin? transgression of the law—which law? The law of love, can Jesus be convicted of transgressing the law of love?

But, what about imposed rules—did Jesus violate any imposed rules?

- Did He heal on Sabbath?
- Did He instruct people to carry loads on Sabbath?
- Did He endorse His disciples pulling heads of grain on Sabbath?
- Did He speak with women, prostitutes, tax collectors, Samaritans?
- Did He drive out the moneychangers?
- Did He stop participating in the annual feasts—what about the Lord's supper, did He simply participate in the Passover Festival, or did He replace it, which means He stopped participating in the Passover?

What does this tell us about the traditions that enter into religion?

What is it that ultimately matters? The condition of the heart!

Read the second paragraph, "Jesus' life fully reflected the meaning..." He was the law of God lived out—no doubt—what command did Jesus give them?

To love each other—this is the command, and all law hangs upon love for God and each other.

Do we get more love when we focus on the 10 Commandments? What happens when we focus on the 10 Commandments? Typically, we get more restrictions, more guilt, more behavior focus and less love.

We get more love when we focus on Jesus, thus the Bible says, "Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy set before him endured the cross, scorning its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God." (Heb 12:2)

Can love be commanded? Then why the 10 Commandments?

How does God get love? Can God get love from people by the use of might and power?

We must put the 10 Commandments back into their proper place—and they were added because fallen human beings needed them—for what? To diagnose and bring us to Christ—but then we are to shift our focus AWAY from the law and place our focus upon Christ! It is only in experiencing in our relationship with Christ, His love, His presence, that we can actually be changed. When we stay focused on the 10 Commandments, which many do, we actually obstruct God's healing plan!

SUNDAY

When you think of a yoke, what comes to mind? What is the purpose of a yoke? What does it do? It is not a bridle; it is not a bit.

A yoke is an instrument that allows one to engages in service, and which shares the load—thus it is an instrument of love!

"Take My yoke upon you," Jesus says. The yoke is an instrument of service. Cattle are yoked for labor, and the yoke is essential that they may labor effectually. By this illustration Christ teaches us that we are called to service as long as life shall last. We are to take upon us His yoke, that we may be co-workers with Him. {DA 329.2}

The yoke that binds to service is the law of God. The great law of love revealed in Eden, proclaimed upon Sinai, and in the new covenant written in the heart, is that which binds the human worker to the will of God. If we were left to follow our own inclinations, to go just where our will would lead us, we should fall into Satan's ranks and become possessors of his attributes. Therefore God confines us to His will, which is high, and noble, and elevating. He desires that we shall patiently and wisely take up the duties of service. The yoke of service Christ Himself has borne in humanity. He said, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God: yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. "I came down from heaven, not to do Mine own will, but the will of Him that sent Me." John 6:38. Love for God, zeal for His glory, and love for fallen humanity, brought Jesus to earth to suffer and to die. This was the controlling power of His life. This principle He bids us adopt. {DA 329.3}

What is yoke? The yoke of love—and from your own experience, when you are doing something from love, does it make the burden easier?

Read last paragraph, "What else does Jesus mean..." Resting in Jesus means moving one's life into harmony with God's design (i.e. law) and the law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the soul. We actually get healthier, more energetic, feel better, have less disabilities when we live in harmony with God's design—laws:

- Exercise regularly (law of exertion), and while you are using energy and there many be muscle burn while exercising, regular exercise results in greater energy, less fatigue, less pain, better sleep, better mental & physical health.
- Altruism (law of love)—those who volunteer live longer, have less disability, less mental health problems, less dementia and stay out of nursing homes longer than those who don't volunteer
- Law of worship—by beholding we become changed, worship a God of love become more loving, worship a dictator, become more abusive. theatrical.

- Law of liberty—violate liberty in relationships and conflict arises, love is damaged, rebellion is incited, which cause inflammatory cascades which undermine health, promote liberty and love grows!

Living in harmony with God’s design brings rest, brings peace, brings health! This is not magic, it is not a supreme being keeping score and handing out rewards or punishments. It is the way God constructed life to work.

MONDAY

Read top paragraph, “If, as so much...” Because he was dealing with Jews who had burdened their system with inordinate number of restrictions?

How much time did He spend in Samaria talking about the Sabbath?

Read second paragraph, “Knowing that one of the reasons...” Is this the problem? It came down to them failing to avoid work on Sabbath?

No, this was not the issue—read Amos 8:5-6:

“When will the New Moon be over that we may sell grain, and the Sabbath be ended that we may market wheat?”— skimping the measure, boosting the price and cheating with dishonest scales, ⁶ buying the poor with silver and the needy for a pair of sandals, selling even the sweepings with the wheat.”

Notice they were keeping the Sabbath, they were avoiding work, but they didn’t love the Sabbath, it wasn’t a delight to them and they were watching the clock so they could get out as soon as the sun set in order to cheat people.

This issue was not the Sabbath, the issue was the selfishness in their hearts and characters.

The Sabbath was a sign that God makes them holy and they were not holy people:

Also I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the Lord made them holy.

“ ‘Yet the people of Israel rebelled against me in the desert. They did not follow my decrees but rejected my laws—although the man who obeys them will live by them—and they utterly desecrated my Sabbaths. (Eze 20:12,12)

How did they desecrate the Sabbaths? By doing work? No! The problem was they were observing the Sabbath with selfish, hardened, evil hearts! In other words, they obeyed the Sabbath law without love, without renewal of the inner man. They kept the Sabbath like the Pharisees did, who killed the Lord of the Sabbath.

What about today? How many SDAs religiously keep the Sabbath, but they find no joy in it. It is not a delight. They watch the clock waiting for sundown so they can go about their business? Then they are also desecrating the Sabbath.

So, what do we learn from Israel's captivity? Why did they go into captivity? Because they were plowing fields on Sabbath? No, because they rejected God and would not allow Him to heal their hearts!

This is an accurate illustration of what happens in reality when we won't let God heal our hearts, we become slaves of sin!

Can parents coerce, pressure, threaten their children to eat broccoli, or spinach, or kale? Yes, but can parents make their children enjoy it?

God can use threats to get behavioral conformity. He can never get love by using threats.

A sullen submission to the will of the Father will develop the character of a rebel. By such a one service is looked upon as drudgery. It is not rendered cheerfully, and in the love of God. It is a mere mechanical performance. If he dared, such a one would disobey. His rebellion is smothered, ready to break out at any time in bitter murmurings and complaints. Such service brings no peace or quietude to the soul. {ST, July 22, 1897 par. 11}

How many churches have taught their children a god who imposes rules, keeps track of any breaking of the rules and threatens to punish—and then seen their children rebel and leave the church? Or, if they don't leave stay and become rigid legal religionists.

Read the last four paragraphs, "If a hen lays an egg..." Do you read this and get inspired? Does it draw you closer to God? If God did require this what would it say about God?

Do we have any such elements in our worship practices today?

At the GC in San Antonio there were signs in restaurant windows, "Get your Sabbath Vouchers here." What witness were we giving to the non-believers in San Antonio? It is okay to eat in their facility, buy their food, have them wait on us, just as long as we use a voucher, not cash?

What is a voucher? A piece of paper with a proscribed amount of valuable that can be exchanged for goods and services. What is cash?

What picture of God do we present with such behaviors?

How can we present the Sabbath that is reasonable, inspiring, sensible?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, “This was the climate...” How do you view the Sabbath? Through which law lens—a rule imposed to test our obedience or a design for our health, for us to participate in and benefit from?

What of this idea that the Sabbath is a day of worship and fellowship “that we cannot do during the workweek”? Can persons worship God and fellowship together on Sunday? In what ways can they not do this on Sunday?

This is stated many times by SDA theologians—but whenever I have asked church leaders, what can be experiences on Sabbath that cannot be experience on Sunday I never get answers? Why? Because they view it through imposed law. Through design law something is different, but what?

Does this question sound similar to the question the woman at the well asked Jesus?

“Sir,” the woman said, “I can see that you are a prophet.”²⁰ Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, but you Jews claim that the place where we must worship is in Jerusalem.”

And what was Jesus’ answer?

²¹ Jesus declared, “Believe me, woman, a time is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.”²² You Samaritans worship what you do not know; we worship what we do know, for salvation is from the Jews.²³ Yet a time is coming and has now come when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for they are the kind of worshipers the Father seeks.²⁴ God is spirit, and his worshipers must worship in spirit and in truth.” (JN 4:19-24)

What about the Sabbath, if she would have asked Him, you Jews worship on Sabbath, we worship on Friday, or Sunday, what might Jesus have said? Would He likely have said, “The Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience. If you don’t observe it you cannot be saved and God will, in justice, punish you?”

Or would have has said something similar?

"Believe me, dear woman, the day on which one worships God is not what ultimately matters; it is the condition of the heart of the worshiper that matters. Very soon, you will see those who worship on Sabbath want me off the cross in order to observe that day. You Samaritans worship a confusing tradition of rituals that does not enlighten the mind and has no ability to heal the worshiper; we worship the Creator God, and our minds are enlightened and healed by him because all he asks of us is sensible and reasonable. The time has come that all true worshipers will worship the Father with an intelligent, reasonable understanding of who he is—loving, admiring, and respecting the truth about his nature, character, and methods. These understanding worshipers are the kind the Father seeks. God is intelligent and reasonable, and his worshipers must worship him intelligently and reasonably, appreciating and valuing the truth of God's methods and principles. The Sabbath is a sign made for human kind, but the Sabbath is not the reality—the Lord of the Sabbath is the reality.

Did I just say anything to diminish the value and sanctity of the Bible Sabbath? If you think I did, then please reevaluate what I said, because I did not.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, “It is very interesting...” thoughts? Do you find the arguments most persuasive?

One reason is because regardless of the day of worship, what kind of hearts did they manifest by how they treated each other on Sabbath?

Do you think if they were doing all of this behavior on Sunday, Jesus would have said, your problem is you are missing the right day, please deny healthcare to people in need on Sabbath rather than Sunday and all will be well?

It wasn't about the Sabbath—it has NEVER been about the Sabbath. It has always been about the kind of person God is and the hearts, minds, characters of His people!

The Sabbath cannot be kept holy by people with unholy hearts!

The Sabbath is a gift, a tool, an evidence, a sign—created by God for a need in universal history, what need? To demonstrate God's character in the context of war when great might and power was being wielded.

What is the danger in wielding might and power? That people may stop thinking and obey out of fear. Is this what God wants?

So when Jesus was performing miracles and the masses were growing because of this, He stopped. Why?

On the road to Emmaus, did He perform miracles to convince them? Why not?

Whenever God did use might and power in the past did He get what He wanted?

- Flood—Babel
- Plagues upon Egypt—golden calf
- Fire at Carmel—more rebellion

God wants only the obedience of understanding friends, only intelligent cooperation, trust and love. This can only come when we freely evaluate the issues and come to agreement.

Thus, when Jesus needed to demonstrate His equality with the Father and He created earth, there was the danger of beings bowing out of fear, out of intimidation. So, after six days of expending immeasurable amounts of power, God the Son said, “I rest my case.” God the Son suspended the use of power, He rested and left His intelligences free to think, evaluate, come to their own conclusion.

The Sabbath is a sign, an evidence, a proof, that God is love, that God presents truth in love and leaves us free. That God does NOT coerce. Thus, true Sabbath observers are those who have seen the evidence of God’s character, been won to trust, open the heart and are transformed to be like Him!

Thus the Sabbath is a sign for all those who value God’s methods and practice them!

Why does the lesson spend so much time on the Sabbath—and if you look over our past quarterlies this subject comes up over and over again, why?

THURSDAY

Read MT 12:12 “Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath.” Why is it lawful? What law?

The lesson point us to Isaiah 58:7-13

Repair the breach, what does this mean? What is the breach in God’s law? The acceptance of the imposed law construct, the replacing of God’s design law of love, with the imposed law of man.

The Sabbath is the sign, pointing us to creation—because creation operates upon design law. Sunday is the mark of arbitrary, legislated, imposed rules that require policing and inflicted punishments.

Thus those who teach the seventh day Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience and that if we don’t keep it God will punish, have accepted the lie of Satan. The breach in the law remains.

The only way to repair the breach is to restore the law of love, the design law back into our understanding and operations.

The spiritual restoration of which the work carried forward in Nehemiah's day was a symbol, is outlined in the words of Isaiah: "They shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities." "They that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in." Isaiah 61:4; 58:12. {PK 677.2}

The prophet here describes a people who, in a time of general departure from truth and righteousness, are seeking to restore the principles that are the foundation of the kingdom of God. [what are the principles that are the foundation of the kingdom of God? It is the law of love, truth, liberty, design protocols.] They are repairers of a breach that has been made in God's law--the wall that He has placed around His chosen ones for their protection, and obedience to whose precepts of justice, truth, and purity is to be their perpetual safeguard. {PK 677.3}

In words of unmistakable meaning the prophet points out the specific work of this remnant people who build the wall. "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on My holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable; and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:13, 14. {PK 678.1}

In the time of the end every divine institution is to be restored. The breach made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed by man, is to be repaired. [The breach made in the law AT THE TIME the Sabbath was changed. The change of the Sabbath was not the breach in the law, it was the evidence of the breach in the law. The true breach in the law was the change in the idea of how God's law functions—from design law to imposed rules. When does a church committee vote to change the laws of gravity or respiration? Why not? Because they cant, so what does it mean that the church did vote to change the Sabbath law? It means that they no longer see God's law as design law, but imposed rules. This led to the infection of a punishing God, in need of legal payment in order to be saved. The legal theory of atonement is the fruit of this change in the law and as long as we continue to teach the legal theory of atonement we have NOT repaired the breach in God's law.] God's remnant people, standing before the world as reformers, are to show that the law of God is the foundation of all enduring reform and that the Sabbath of the fourth commandment is to stand as a memorial of creation, a constant reminder of the power of God. In clear, distinct lines they are to present the necessity of obedience to all the precepts of the Decalogue. Constrained by the love of Christ, they are to co-operate with Him in building up the waste places. They are to be repairers of the breach, restorers of paths to dwell in. See verse 12. {PK 678.2}

Lord of Jews and Gentiles

SABBATH

What do you think of the title? Why do we even have such a title? Why isn't the title, Lord of Humanity?

What was one of the most common titles Jesus gave Himself? Wasn't it "son of man"? Which means, human being, He didn't call himself, "son of Judah."

Why didn't Jesus refer to Himself as son of Abraham, or son of Jacob?

Where does this division of Jew and Gentile come from?

God's calling of Abraham and promising to make a great nation from his descendants.

So, for what was Abraham called?

He was called for a mission—what mission? To be the avenue through which the Savior, Messiah, Redeemer, Remedy for the entire human race would come—and in that mission to develop a group who were to be prepared to meet the Messiah and assist in saving the entire world.

So understanding that calling—who would be considered descendants of Abraham? Anyone who trusts God and thereby assists God in accomplishing God's purpose in saving all humanity.

Any Bible texts support this position?

Rahab and Ruth—did were they descendants of Jacob? Did they become part of the Jewish nation? Were they even in the ancestry of Jesus? Who then is a Jew?

Romans 4:16,17:

¹⁶ Therefore, the promise comes by faith, so that it may be by grace and may be guaranteed to all Abraham's offspring—not only to those who are of the law but also to those who are of the faith of Abraham. He is the father of us all. ¹⁷ As it is written: "I have made you a father of many nations." He is our father in the sight of God, in whom he believed—the God who gives life to the dead and calls things that are not as though they were. Rom 4:16,17 NIV

What do you hear?

- What does “of the law” mean? What law? This is a reference to the Law of Moses, or the Levitical law and is referring to those who were part of the acting troupe known as Israel and Judah—those responsible for acting out the play in the theater known at the Jewish Temple
- What does “of the faith” mean? Those who trusted God, like Abraham, but who were not actors in the Jewish theater, just as Abraham never acted in the Jewish theater.
- What does it mean “gives life to the dead”? Who is this referring to? Those who are in the terminal condition of sinfulness, deviant from God’s design i.e. dead in trespass and sin—the entire human race after Adam’s sin.
- What does it mean, “calls things that are not as though they were”? Calls those that were not part of the acting troupe, not part of the genetic descendants of Abraham, as though they were because while they didn’t take part in the symbolic acting out of the plan of salvation, they did partake of the genuine Remedy—Jesus Christ!

So, Romans 4:16,17 from The Remedy:

¹⁶Therefore the restoration to a perfect state of being and the inheritance of eternal life on a renewed earth come by trusting the One who made the promise to do it. This transformation is accomplished by God's graciousness and is guaranteed to all the children of Abraham—not only his genetic descendants, who were given the written diagnostic code, but also to his spiritual descendants who, just like him, trust God. Abraham is the father of all who trust God.¹⁷As it is written: "I have made you the father of many different ethnic groups." The God in whom Abraham trusted—the Creator God who is the source of all life and who calls things into existence from nothingness—considers all of us who trust him to be descendants of Abraham.

Read memory text: “I, the Lord, have called you in righteousness; I will take hold of your hand. I will keep you and will make you to be a covenant for the people and a light for the Gentiles.” (Isa 42:6)

What is the meaning of this text? To whom is it referring? It is referring to Jesus who is the Savior of all humanity, not just the Jews.

SUNDAY

The lesson is about feeding of the five thousand, which counted only the men, so the mass of people was much larger than five thousand.

Just before the feeding of the five thousand John the Baptist was beheaded, Jesus hears the news, and retreats to a desolate area, and the crowds follow him there.

Read third paragraph, “There is, however,...” What do you think of the idea that this was more than meeting immediate physical needs, but also a fulfillment of sending manna from heaven?

How did Jesus further develop this idea?

I tell you the truth, he who believes has everlasting life. ⁴⁸ I am the bread of life. ⁴⁹ Your forefathers ate the manna in the desert, yet they died. ⁵⁰ But here is the bread that comes down from heaven, which a man may eat and not die. ⁵¹ I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. This bread is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.” John 6:47-51

How did the Jews interpret Jesus’ words? They took them literally—and what reaction did they have?

What does it mean to eat the flesh and drink the blood of Jesus? How do we partake of the flesh and drink the blood of Jesus today?

Is it in communion service? Or, is the communion service only symbolic of the reality?

Do we risk similar problems that the Jews had of getting stuck in metaphor and failing to experience the reality to which the metaphor points?

What is the reality? What is the real bread and wine the real flesh and blood?

Do you feel confident in drawing your own conclusion that Jesus is the Word of God—the Word made flesh, and that we ingest the flesh/bread when we study God’s word. The truth that Jesus brought/revealed becomes to us the meat, the substance, the building blocks of our thoughts, our ideas, our beliefs, which for our attitudes and help shape our characters.

Christ, the truth of God, is the source of all truth and thus feasting on Christ, is partaking truth, which dispels lies, falsehood, distortion, misunderstanding, confusion. The truth changes our thinking, our ideas, our conception of reality, and thus the truth that Christ reveals and brings is the data, the actual particles of information that our concepts, ideas, and beliefs are built out of. So, just like nutrients for the body, the truth from Jesus is real food for the mind!

Can we feel comfortable with this and realize that there is no healing power, no saving effect from eating physical bread and wine? These are only symbols to remind us to THINK!

The Word of God contains our life insurance policy. To eat the flesh and drink the blood of the Son of God means to study the Word and to carry that Word into the life in obedience to all its precepts. Those who thus partake of the Son of God become partakers of the divine nature, one with Christ. They breathe a holy atmosphere, in which only the soul can truly live. They carry in their lives an assurance of the holy principles received from the Word—their lives are worked by the power of the Holy Spirit, and they have an earnest of the immortality that will be theirs through the death and resurrection of Christ. Should the earthly body decay, the principles of their faith sustain them, for they are partakers of the divine nature. Because Christ was raised from the dead, they grasp the pledge of their resurrection, and eternal life is their reward. {Hvn 54.2}

As I understand it, bread and flesh symbolize the truth, the Word of God, and the blood/wine, symbolize the perfect life/character of Christ that we receive, AFTER we have comprehended enough truth about God that we trust Him enough to open our hearts and allow in the Holy Spirit, who takes the character of Christ and reproduces it in us. So it “is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.”

The Comforter is called "the Spirit of truth." His work is to define and maintain the truth. He first dwells in the heart as the Spirit of truth, and thus He becomes the Comforter. There is comfort and peace in the truth, but no real peace or comfort can be found in falsehood. It is through false theories and traditions that Satan gains his power over the mind. By directing men to false standards, he misshapes the character. Through the Scriptures the Holy Spirit speaks to the mind, and impresses truth upon the heart. Thus He exposes error, and expels it from the soul. It is by the Spirit of truth, working through the word of God, that Christ subdues His chosen people to Himself. {DA 671.1}

So, after Jesus feeds the crowd, what begins to happen in the crowd?

The crowd begins to foment the idea of proclaiming Jesus King and forcing Him onto the throne.

How did Jesus respond? He told the disciples to get in the boat and head to the other shore while he dismissed the crowd.

Why? What does God want from us? What is God's goal? What is He trying to achieve?

He wants our love, our trust, our devotion, our confidence in Him and His ways, our loyalty. Can God get this by displays of might and power? What do displays of might and power do? They shut down thinking, they inspire a sense of being overwhelmed so one surrenders to power, to intimidation, but what is the problem with such surrender? Any supernatural being can cause such a reaction—but only God possesses truth, only God is worthy of our trust.

What can God not create? God can create sinless intelligent beings, but can God create, by use of power and might, love, devotion, loyalty?

God can create programmed robots, that would be reliable, but can robots love? Can robots choose to be loyal? Can robots adore? Can robots be devoted?

God cannot create mature, loyal, devoted, trustworthy beings capable of genuine love—because character cannot be created, character must be formed by the exercise of the free will choices of the intelligent beings.

So Jesus, when He saw they were following Him for the miracles, stopped for a while.

On the road to Emmaus He did the same thing:

He maintained His disguise till He had interpreted the Scriptures, and had led them to an intelligent faith in His life, His character, His mission to earth, and His death and resurrection. He wished the truth to take firm root in their minds, not because it was supported by His personal testimony, but because the typical law, and the prophets of the Old Testament, agreeing with the facts of His life and death, presented unquestionable evidence of that truth. When the object of His labors with the two disciples was gained, He revealed Himself to them, that their joy might be full, and then vanished from their sight (ST Oct. 6, 1909). {5BC 1125.12}

God uses the methods He does because it is the only way to achieve our full restoration to beings in His image!

In the work of redemption there is no compulsion. No external force is employed. Under the influence of the Spirit of God, man is left free to choose whom he will serve. In the change that takes place when the soul surrenders to Christ, there is the highest sense of freedom. The expulsion of sin is the act of the soul itself. True, we have no power to free ourselves from Satan's control; but when we desire to be set free from sin, and in our great need cry out for a power out of and above ourselves, the powers of the soul are imbued with the divine energy of the Holy Spirit, and they obey the dictates of the will in fulfilling the will of God. {DA 466.4}

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on the events after Jesus dismissed the crowd. The disciples were on the water and Jesus walks out to them. Peter walks on the water, but turns back and loses sight of Jesus, begins to sink, cries out and is saved. Once in the boat Jesus calms the storm and they are amazed.

What do we learn from this story? How did the disciples first respond when they saw Jesus walking on the water?

They were afraid—why?

Was Jesus doing something threatening? Was Jesus a danger to them? Then why were they afraid? Because Jesus doing something outside their scope of understanding; He was Jesus doing something unexpected. Was Jesus presenting Himself in a way they did not anticipate and thus they failed to recognize Him?

Does this ever happen to us? Do we ever fail to recognize God, or God's movements, because God is moving in a way that is outside our expectations, comfort zone, understanding and thus we become afraid of what we are seeing—even though it is the movements of God?

What about those who are afraid new ideas, a perspective of God they have not heard before, perhaps a God who doesn't use power to threaten and kill? Now, isn't it interesting that those who hold the view of God that He tortures and kills His enemies, are afraid when a God of love who doesn't torture and kill is presented. Why are they afraid?

Is it because their minds have settled into a certain view that new ideas are seen as threatening? Do people ever restrict God to conform with their limited understanding?

As I was preparing this lesson I came across a quote I had read before, but realized it was applicable to this discussion and demonstrates this has been a problem throughout human history. This is from one of the founders of our church:

There is no excuse for any one in taking the position that there is no more truth to be revealed, and that all our expositions of Scripture are without an error. The fact that certain doctrines have been held as truth for many years by our people, is not a proof that our ideas are infallible. Age will not make error into truth, and truth can afford to be fair. No true doctrine will lose anything by close investigation... There are those who oppose everything that is not in accordance with their own ideas, and by so doing they endanger their eternal interest as verily as did the Jewish nation in their rejection of Christ. The Lord designs that our opinions shall be put to the test, that we may see the necessity of closely examining the living oracles [what are living oracles? Does it suggest anything about the kind of law involved? Would it not be a living law, the law of life, the law of love, the protocols reality actually operate upon?] to see whether or not we are in the faith... [in the faith, what does this mean? If their opinions are not in harmony with the living oracles then does that mean they are not in the faith?] {RH, December 20, 1892 par. 1}

From the description of the Laodiceans, it is evident that many were deceived in their estimate of their spiritual condition. They regarded themselves as rich, as possessing all the knowledge and grace that was needed; but yet they lacked the gold of faith and love, the white raiment of Christ's righteousness. [what is the gold? Trust and love! and what is the white clothing? a Christlike character] They were destitute and poverty-stricken, walking in sparks of their own kindling, and preparing to lie down in sorrow... [Why were they destitute? Because they didn't have trust and love and Christ's character reproduced within—what would they cling to instead? What could be held to instead? Could it be a legal pardon? A legal payment? A legal claim that has no power to transform the inner person? what does sparks of their own kindling mean?] {RH, December 20, 1892 par. 2}

In unmistakable language our position is presented before us. Apart from Christ we have no merit, no righteousness. Our sinfulness, our weakness, our human imperfections make it impossible that we should appear before God, unless we are clothed in Christ's spotless righteousness. We are to be found in him, not having our own righteousness, but the righteousness which is through Christ. [What does this mean? We have a terminal condition that we cannot heal. Jesus provides a real remedy that cures our terminal condition. DA 762] {RH, December 20, 1892 par. 3}

But there is hope for every one; for "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." If the love of God is not appreciated, and does not become an abiding principle in the hard heart to soften and subdue the soul, we are utterly lost.[actual transformation, not legal representation and payment] The Lord has no reserve power with which to influence man. He can give no greater manifestation of his love than that which he has given. Heaven's richest gift has been freely offered for your acceptance. [How do you hear this? The richest gift was paid to God to get God to accept you, or the richest gift was given to get you to accept the truth about God and trust Him? Well notice the next sentence] If the exhibition of the love of Jesus does not melt and subdue your heart, by what means can you be reached? Has the love of Christ failed to bring forth an earnest response of love and gratitude? Then let it not remain in this condition of hardness another day. Open your heart, and receive Christ, the best gift of heaven. Let not cruel unbelief lead you to refuse the heaven-sent gift. Let not Christ say of you, "Ye will not come unto me that ye might have life." {RH, December 20, 1892 par. 4}

Read the top dark section, "Therefore, the Lord said..." What is it the Lord wants? He wants transformation of the hearts of people—what were the people doing? They were being religious—they were saying the right words, attending the right ceremonies, observing the right day, eating the right food, paying the right tithe, speaking the right words, but what were they not doing? They were not partaking of the remedy, they were not being transformed in heart to be like Jesus.

How much of Christianity is stuck in the same process? Why? Because at the root, the problem is a false diagnosis that sin is a legal problem that requires a legal solution. So people focus on behavior, on bad deeds, and on teaching ideas that focus on getting our legal punishment taken by someone else so we can be legally pardoned.

But such a religion doesn't change the heart!

Matthew 15-1-20 focuses on ritual and how the Jews thought ritual actually mattered—they thought it really mattered what one ate, whether one washed their hands or not before they ate etc.

Do we struggle with any of these issues today? Do we ever feel that we have sinned if we eat the wrong food?

Food cannot change the character—but food can undermine the ability to form a healthy character—how? Unhealthy diet can undermine health, and the sicker we are the more self-focused we become. The sicker we are the more difficult it is to be able to minister to other, to actually operate as a giver, in harmony with God’s design. It is not impossible to minister to others when sick, only that sickness makes it more difficult, thus unhealthy diet undermines our health, makes our brains less efficient so harder to learn, and makes our bodies less healthy which puts obstacles in our way of living lives in harmony with God’s plan, which can undermine character development.

Does that mean every morsel of food has moral value, is a moral decision of good or evil? Absolutely not! It is about the general trend of the life! The attitude of the heart, not the molecules of food in any given moment.

Read bottom pink section, “We all hate hypocrisy...” What ideas tend to increase hypocrisy?

What ideas decrease hypocrisy?

Anything that makes us more selfish will increase hypocrisy, anything that makes us more loving with concern for the welfare of others will decrease hypocrisy.

Operating on survival motives increase hypocrisy, operating on love decreases it.

Rule keeping increases hypocrisy, principle based living decrease hypocrisy.

Theologies that focus on rules, law, imposed law, incite fear and lead to more hypocrisy.

Theologies that focus on design, love, God’s character and methods enhance love, diminish fear and lead to genuine living.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is about the story found in Matthew 15:21-28 of the woman who asks Jesus for help, but he initially rebuffs her.

Read paragraphs 3-5 “What if you...” What do you imagine Jesus’ tone was when He said this? Do you think He sounded harsh or was there something in His voice that suggested He was not closing the door on her?

Could His tone have been such that it sounded like He was reciting what others thought, but He Himself didn’t think this?

What do you think of the idea that Jesus was placing Israel in a priority position in the plan of salvation and others in a dependent status?

Did Israel have a priority position? A priority is something that is more important than others? Was Israel more important to God than other human beings?

Consider Isaiah 19:18-25:

¹⁸ In that day five cities in Egypt will speak the language of Canaan and swear allegiance to the Lord Almighty. One of them will be called the City of Destruction.

¹⁹ In that day there will be an altar to the Lord in the heart of Egypt, and a monument to the Lord at its border. ²⁰ It will be a sign and witness to the Lord Almighty in the land of Egypt. When they cry out to the Lord because of their oppressors, he will send them a savior and defender, and he will rescue them. ²¹ So the Lord will make himself known to the Egyptians, and in that day they will acknowledge the Lord. They will worship with sacrifices and grain offerings; they will make vows to the Lord and keep them. ²² The Lord will strike Egypt with a plague; he will strike them and heal them. They will turn to the Lord, and he will respond to their pleas and heal them.

²³ In that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will go to Egypt and the Egyptians to Assyria. The Egyptians and Assyrians will worship together. ²⁴ In that day Israel will be the third, along with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing on the earth. ²⁵ The Lord Almighty will bless them, saying, “Blessed be Egypt my people, Assyria my handiwork, and Israel my inheritance.”

From the SDA Bible Commentary on this passage: “The Israelites had come to look upon themselves as being the Lord’s people exclusively. They forgot that He was the God of all the earth and that He desired all nations to be saved. Isaiah here points out to the people of Israel their opportunities and responsibilities. The time was to come when heathen Assyria, as well as Egypt, would know God.” ¹

What was the priority for God? Saving all humanity, which means keeping open an avenue for the Messiah to be incarnate and fulfill His mission of revealing the truth about God, refuting the lies of Satan, exposing Satan, destroying the carnal nature, destroying death, and developing a perfect human character, thus becoming the Remedy to sin, i.e. fixing what Adam’s sin did to humanity so that every human being has access to God’s healing and can be saved.

¹ Nichol, F. D. (Ed.). (1977). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 4, p. 185). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

THURSDAY

Read third paragraph, “Yet, this was always...” Yes, God has always been the God of all humanity and interested in saving all humanity. Israel was chosen to be the conduit through which Jesus would come to provide Remedy—Jesus has done that. Israel now has no further special place as a genetic group—they stand on equal footing with all humanity. God loves all human beings and wants all human beings to be saved!

The lesson asks us to read Romans 4:1-12: From The Remedy:

¹What about our father Abraham: what did he understand about this issue?² If Abraham was somehow healed by his own efforts at keeping a set of rules or performing certain rituals, then he would have his own healing formula to promote, and would not need trust in God.³ But what does the Scripture say? "Abraham trusted God, and his trust was recognized as righteousness because the distrust caused through Satan's lies had been removed, and through trust he was endowed with a new heart, right motives and Christlike principles."

⁴Now, when a person works, their wages are earned and are not a gift or an endowment.⁵ But the person who doesn't try to earn God's Remedy by working for it, but instead comes to know and trust God—that person's trust is recognized as righteousness because the distrust caused by Satan's lies has been removed, and through trust they receive from God transformation of heart and experience God's own righteous character created within.⁶ David says the exact same thing when he describes the blessedness of the person to whom God bestows his perfect cure without them working to earn it:

⁷"Happy are they whose wicked minds are restored to perfect purity, whose selfishness is eradicated.

⁸"Happy is the person whose infected heart the Lord transforms to perfection."

⁹Is this gracious re-creation of mind only for the small number of humans who have been physically circumcised, or is this for all humanity? We have been saying all along that Abraham trusted God—and his trust was recognized as righteousness because trust in God replaced mistrust of God—and through trust he was endowed with a new heart, right motives, and Christlike principles.¹⁰ And when did God accept his trust as righteousness? Was it before he was circumcised or after? It was before!¹¹ Circumcision was the sign—a seal in his body—of the new heart and mind he had already received when he was still uncircumcised. Therefore Abraham is the father of all who trust in God (whether they are circumcised or not circumcised), those who are endowed with a new heart, right motives and Christlike principles—just like Abraham was.¹² Don't be confused; he is also the father of those who are not only circumcised physically, but who have also trusted God and have been endowed with new minds and Christlike principles, just like Abraham had before he was circumcised.

The Book of Matthew Lesson 8 2Q 2016

Peter and the Rock

SABBATH

Read second paragraph, “The New Testament...”

a faith and knowledge resting on the hope of eternal life, which God, who does not lie, promised before the beginning of time, Titus 1:2

But join with me in suffering for the gospel, by the power of God, ⁹ who has saved us and called us to a holy life—not because of anything we have done but because of his own purpose and grace. This grace was given us in Christ Jesus before the beginning of time, ¹⁰ but it has now been revealed through the appearing of our Savior, Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. 2Tim 1:8-10

Is this a reference to before God created anything, or before God created this earth?

Notice how the author of the book Education uses the phrase “before time began”?

Then will be opened before him the course of the great conflict that had its birth before time began, and that ends only when time shall cease. The history of the inception of sin; of fatal falsehood in its crooked working; of truth that, swerving not from its own straight lines, has met and conquered error--all will be made manifest. The veil that interposes between the visible and the invisible world will be drawn aside, and wonderful things will be revealed. {Ed 304.3}

Is this author referring to a time before God created anything, or before God created the earth? Could the Bible writers be referring to the same time?

The King James Version translates 2Tim 1:9 as:

Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began

The SDA Bible commentary on this passage states:

“before times eternal,” that is, before the long ages of this earth’s history. In His foreknowledge God was prepared to meet the tragedy and crisis of sin before it entered our world (see Rom. 16:25, 26; see on Matt. 25:34; 1 Cor. 2:7). Because of God’s omniscience, past, present, and future are alike known to Him; no earthly event can surprise Him. Knowing that sin would be a personal attack by created beings against His authority, and thus against His character, God was always prepared to demonstrate His love and fairness, not only to a sinless universe, but also before those who had despised divine love. See on John 1:14; 3:16; Rom. 5:5–10.¹

We are not told how linear existence works on other worlds, one event following another event in the flow of time. However, inspiration does tell us that when earth was created there is not only linear time, one event follows another, but there were measurements of time created—the Sun, Moon and Sabbath were created to measure time.

Is anyone aware of any inspired reference to the measurement of time that is not related to Earth's Sun, Moon or Sabbath?

The point is that before time began on earth God had already conceived of a plan to save humanity—What was the plan that was conceived within the mind of God before time began?

How would you describe that plan?

The next paragraph states, “That’s why Jesus didn’t...” Do we agree that Jesus had to die, that he must die in order to save humanity? Yes we do agree, there was no other way to save us. But what about the last sentence in that paragraph, “His death was the only way that humanity could be saved from the penalty of transgression.”

How is this statement absolutely true, and how can it be misunderstood such that the statement becomes false?

What is the penalty of transgression? Death “the wages of sin is death” Rom 6:23

From where does that penalty arise or come? From sin itself—unremedied, unremoved sin destroys the sinner. “sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death.” James 1:15 “The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction” Gal 6:8

So, it is absolutely true, Jesus’ death was required to save us from sinfulness, which if unremedied results in death—why? What is sin? Sin is lawlessness. 1Jn 3:4, which means being out of harmony with God’s law. And God’s law is the design protocol upon which life is built, so it makes perfect sense that if one is out of harmony with the protocols of life then life will not continue and death occurs. If one steps out of harmony with the law of respiration and refuses to breathe—what happens—death. This is the truth of God’s Word.

So Christ’s death was needed to accomplish what?

¹ Nichol, F. D. (Ed.). (1980). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 7, pp. 329–330). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

- Reveal truth to dispel lies and restore us to trust
- Destroy the infection of fear and selfishness (carnal nature) and develop a perfect character restoring God's law of love into humanity. This is how he destroys death, by destroying the infection of lies, fear and selfishness that breakdown trust and violate the law of life (love) and in so doing restore God's design to humanity (1John 3:8)

How can the statement above be misconstrued to teach a falsehood? When it is presented through imposed law rather than design law. Then the problem with sin is breaking the rules and getting into trouble with the ruling authority, who must use external power to inflict the death penalty. Thus, in this false law model Jesus' death is presented as the means of paying legal penalties and propitiating a wrathful deity; the penalty of transgression is taught as coming out from God not from sin. Thus God is presented as the problem that needs fixing, this undermines trust in God, doctrines are created to protect and hide us from God which obstructs the healing of heart and mind that God longs to provide us.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "Imagine what it must..." What questions would you like to have asked Jesus?

- Why did you use a serpent as an image in the wilderness to represent you?
 - Because we are dead in trespass and sin, infected with the lies of the serpent and our primary drive is fear and selfishness, which originate in the serpent. In other words, we are infected with the poison of the serpent.
 - Only Jesus, who takes up our serpent infected condition can cure it and become our Remedy
 - And Israel needed to realize that only by trust in Jesus could they be saved—that there is no legal solution, there is in objective healing of the condition of the being—which is accomplished by Jesus.
 - From EGW: "The lifting up of the brazen serpent was to teach Israel an important lesson. They could not save themselves from the fatal effect of the poison in their wounds. God alone was able to heal them. Yet they were required to show their faith in the provision which He had made. They must look in order to live. It was their faith that was acceptable with God, and by looking upon the serpent their faith was shown. They knew that there was no virtue in the serpent itself, but it was a symbol of Christ; and the necessity of faith in His merits was thus presented to their minds. Heretofore many had brought their offerings to God, and had felt that in so doing they made ample atonement for their sins. They did not rely upon the Redeemer to come, of whom these offerings were only a type. The Lord would now teach them that their sacrifices, in themselves, had no more power or virtue than the serpent of brass, but were, like that, to lead their minds to Christ, the great sin offering. {PP 430.3}
- Can we come to heaven now?
- What can we do to accelerate your plan to eliminate sin?

- Others?

Do you think the disciples asked any questions like this?

“Jesus did many other things as well. If every one of them were written down, I suppose that even the whole world would not have room for the books that would be written.” John 21:25

When the Seven Thunders spoke, I started to write it all down, but a voice out of Heaven stopped me, saying, “Seal with silence the Seven Thunders; don’t write a word.” Rev 10:4

Do you think some answers may have been given to individuals in the past but have not been revealed generally?

Does that mean that some of us today could get answers to questions we have had...is it possible?

So, the question for the lesson—Who was Jesus? Peter answered, “You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.” You are the Messiah, the Savior, the Deliverer, the Anointed One... which means what?

Who is Jesus?

- God
- Creator
- The Go-Between connecting infinity (Infinite God) with finite creation
- Originator and Conclusion (or Beginning and End)
- Template upon which life is constructed
- Source of all energy, space, time, matter, life, truth
- Savior, Deliverer, Restorer
- God, who merged Himself with humanity and now lives in a human body

MONDAY

The lesson asks us to read Matthew 16:17-20. I am going to read it from the NIV and from The Remedy and I want you to consider which is more accurate and what evidence supports the accuracy of each?

Jesus replied, “Blessed are you, Simon son of Jonah, for this was not revealed to you by man, but by my Father in heaven.”¹⁸ And I tell you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not overcome it.¹⁹ I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven; whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.”²⁰ Then he warned his disciples not to tell anyone that he was the Christ.

Jesus smiled and said: "Well done, Simon, son of Jonah. You did not gain this truth from humans, but from my Father in heaven."¹⁸ And though you are Peter—your name meaning small stone—it is on the solid Rock of the Son of Man that I will build my church, and hell's barricade of selfishness and lies will not stop it.¹⁹ I will give you the Spirit empowering you with truth and love, which are the keys to the kingdom of heaven. Whatever you bind to truth and love on earth will be bound to truth and love in heaven, and whatever you loose from fear and selfishness on earth will be loosed from fear and selfishness in heaven."²⁰ Then Jesus instructed his disciples not to tell people that he was the Messiah, because it was not yet time.

How do we know whether Jesus was referring to Peter or Himself when He said “on this rock I will build my church”?

Who does Peter refer to as the rock upon whom the church is built?

Peter, full of the Holy Spirit, answered them, “Leaders of the people and elders: ⁹if we are being questioned today about the good deed done to the lame man and how he was healed, ¹⁰then you should all know, and all the people of Israel should know, that this man stands here before you completely well through the power of the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth—whom you crucified and whom God raised from death. Jesus is the one of whom the scripture says: ‘The stone that you the builders despised turned out to be the most important of all.’ Acts 4:8-10

Come to the Lord, the living stone rejected by people as worthless but chosen by God as valuable. ⁵Come as living stones, and let yourselves be used in building the spiritual temple, where you will serve as holy priests to offer spiritual and acceptable sacrifices to God through Jesus Christ. For the scripture says:

“I chose a valuable stone, which I am placing as the cornerstone in Zion;
and whoever believes in him will never be disappointed.”
This stone is of great value for you that believe; but for those who do not believe:
“The stone which the builders rejected as worthless turned out to be the most important of all.”
And another scripture says:
“This is the stone that will make people stumble,
the rock that will make them fall.”
They stumbled because they did not believe in the word; such was God’s will for them.
1Pet 2:4-8 GNT

Here is 1Pet 2:4-8 from The Remedy:

⁴And as you come to Christ, who was rejected by people but was chosen by God and is precious to God because he is the living Foundation Stone of God's true temple ⁵realize that you also are living stones—the conscious, breathing, sentient building blocks—whom God is using to construct his eternal temple. You are a holy priesthood bringing intelligent, reasonable and loving self-sacrifice—that is in harmony with God’s character of love—through your union with Jesus Christ. ⁶This is exactly what the Scripture is talking about:

"See, I will put a Stone in the Land of Promise: an especially chosen, perfect foundation Stone; and whoever trusts in him and is set in harmony with him will never be put to shame."

⁷For you, who know and trust God, this Stone is life's one true treasure; but to those who don't know or trust God, "This Stone was thought to be worthless, and rejected; but it is actually the one upon whom all life is built."

⁸"A Stone of pure love that trips up selfish human beings, and a Rock of holiness, humility and truth, over whom the sinful, proud and deceitful fall." They trip and fall because they prefer selfishness to love, and unhealed selfishness is a terminal condition—exactly as God diagnosed.

What is the basis for the idea the Peter is the stone upon which the church is built? This same passage, which denies what Peter taught himself, but also because people think concretely rather than abstractly. If people understood design law, and that what God is building is being constructed out of living beings, then one realizes that it cannot be built on the template of a sinful human being, but only on the template of God’s perfect Son.

Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God’s people and members of God’s household, ²⁰ built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. ²¹ In him the whole building is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. ²² And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit. Eph 2:19-22

Read Mt 16:21-23:

From that time on Jesus began to explain to his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things at the hands of the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and that he must be killed and on the third day be raised to life.

²² Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him. “Never, Lord!” he said. “This shall never happen to you!”

²³ Jesus turned and said to Peter, “Get behind me, Satan! You are a stumbling block to me; you do not have in mind the things of God, but the things of men.”

The lesson asks why is Jesus so tough on Peter? The lesson suggests Peter wasn’t trying to save Jesus but steer Jesus, thoughts?

Do you think Satan was speaking through Peter like Satan did through the serpent in Eden?

So what did Jesus mean by saying get behind him Satan? Was Jesus speaking to Peter or Satan or both?

How was Satan speaking at that moment? Was Peter aware he was speaking Satan's thoughts?

How could Satan get Peter to speak such ideas? Does it mean Satan was in Peter's mind manipulating Peter's thoughts?

No, it doesn't mean this. All selfishness is from Satan, thus, when someone has selfishness in their own heart, and from their heart their mouth speaks selfish words, they are speaking Satan's language, the language, ideas, principles that have their origin in Satan—but that doesn't mean that person is being mind controlled by Satan or demon possessed.

Read Mt 16:24-27:

²⁴ Then Jesus said to his disciples, "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. ²⁵ For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me will find it. ²⁶ What good will it be for a man if he gains the whole world, yet forfeits his soul? Or what can a man give in exchange for his soul? ²⁷ For the Son of Man is going to come in his Father's glory with his angels, and then he will reward each person according to what he has done.

What does this text mean? What two principles are contrasted in this text?

What is the law of life and what is the law of sin and death? The law of life is the law of love—which functions how? Selfless giving!

The law of sin and death is survival of the fittest—which functions how? By taking for self.

So, what does it mean he who seeks to save his life will lose it, but he who loses his life for Christ will find it?

What is necessary to be able to do this? Love and trust, which require we come back to a true knowledge of God, Jn 17:3...

Is the text speaking of willingness to die for one's beliefs or one's cause?

What is it speaking of?

The grain of wheat that preserves its own life can produce no fruit. It abides alone. Christ could, if He chose, save Himself from death. But should He do this, He must abide alone. He could bring no sons and daughters to God. Only by yielding up His life could He impart life to humanity. Only by falling into the ground to die could He become the seed of that vast harvest, -the great multitude that out of every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, are redeemed to God. {DA 623.4}

With this truth Christ connects the lesson of self-sacrifice that all should learn: "He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal." All who would bring forth fruit as workers together with Christ must first fall into the ground and die. The life must be cast into the furrow of the world's need. Self-love, self-interest, must perish. And the law of self-sacrifice is the law of self-preservation. The husbandman preserves his grain by casting it away. So in human life. To give is to live. The life that will be preserved is the life that is freely given in service to God and man. Those who for Christ's sake sacrifice their life in this world will keep it unto life eternal. {DA 623.5}

The life spent on self is like the grain that is eaten. It disappears, but there is no increase. A man may gather all he can for self; he may live and think and plan for self; but his life passes away, and he has nothing. The law of self-serving is the law of self-destruction. {DA 624.1}

What type of law is being described in this passage? Is this the law of God that was violated by Satan? Does this passage teach that the law of self-serving is the law of God-destruction? No! But that is what almost all the world believes, that if you sin God will destroy you, and they claim it is only just. All such teachings are an infection, showing the serpents venom of lies about God still cloud the mind!

WEDNESDAY

The lesson is about the transfiguration when Moses and Elijah appear with Jesus, read second paragraph, "How fascinating..." What does it mean they spoke about His decease?

What do you think they discussed?

Don't you think they were discussing the completion of Jesus' mission to planet earth, which was to culminate in His death that weekend in Jerusalem?

Why do you think of all the beings God could have sent to encourage Jesus, Moses and Elijah were chosen?

- They are both human, and would remind Jesus of His victory, what it would achieve
- Symbolically, Moses represents the humans that are saved in the resurrection and Elijah those who are translated without seeing death
- But, Moses and Elijah also remind Jesus, by their presence, that He wins. They are only there in heaven because Jesus wins—if Jesus would have failed they would not have been in heaven. So, they are reminders of the fact that no matter how bad it gets, Jesus will win.
- But why not Enoch, rather than Elijah? What else was specifically helpful that Moses and Elijah could share with Jesus—from their experience on earth?
 - Did both Moses and Elijah have confrontations with Satan's forces?
 - Did both Moses and Elijah stand up to Satan's forces for the benefit of the people enslaved by sin?

- And did both Moses and Elijah, at some point, get overwhelmed with human emotion and slip up?
- So, could they also share from their experience that no matter how bad the emotions get, don't let the emotions take control, trust the Father!
- Was such a testimony something that angels could share?
- Could Moses and Elijah also share incredible thankfulness and love for their salvation, for being forgiven, for the healing they had received because of what Jesus was doing? Would this be encouraging to Jesus?

THURSDAY

This is the story of the religious leaders asking Peter whether Jesus paid the temple tax. Peter answered poorly and said yes, which validated the wrong conception the religious leaders were trying to teach about Jesus.

Read second paragraph, "Ellen G. White writes..." How did Jesus handle Peter's misrepresentation?

Read next paragraph, "We can learn much..." In this case, once Peter made his statement what options were available?

Would the truth of who Jesus was had been better served to start a dispute over paying the temple tax, or would that question have diverted people's attention away from what really mattered?

Do we ever get caught up into arguing over theological points that are nothing but distractions from what really matters?

What do you think really matters? The truth about God—it is always about the truth about God—His character, methods of truth, love and freedom!

The temple tax would have distracted from that truth, so Jesus took the action of paying it, in a way that demonstrated He was no mere human, which allowed the issue to fade away. If He didn't pay it after Peter said He would then allegations and arguments over who pays the tax etc. would arise diverting attention, having paid it as He did would diminish His enemies (Satan primarily) from wanting to draw attention to it as the miracle would cause many to think more deeply about who Jesus is. Thus, Jesus handled it to let it fade away and not be a distraction to His real mission.

And the very next verses of Scripture, after Jesus deals with the temple tax are:

At that time the disciples came to Jesus and asked, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?"

² He called a little child and had him stand among them. ³ And he said: "I tell you the truth, unless you change and become like little children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. ⁴

Therefore, whoever humbles himself like this child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.
MT 18:1-4 NIV

What quality about the little child Jesus is emphasizing? Humbleness, which functionally means what? Do small children, typically have teachable minds, minds that don't trust themselves, but want to learn? When a child colors in a book, or draws a picture, or does almost anything what do they want to do? They want to show mommy or daddy or both? Why? Because the child doesn't know whether it is good or not until someone tells them. A child born into the world doesn't know left from right, up or down, that the sky is blue and the grass is green. They must be told everything, thus all children look outside themselves for answers. They are not arrogant thinking they know everything, but ignorant and humble willing to allow that others know more and thus are teachable.

What is the Bible word for a humble willingness to listen and learn?

Obedience—the Greek [hupakoe /hoop·ak·o·ay/] hypo, under, akoe, from which we get acoustical or acoustic, means to listen, so Bible obedience is a humble willingness to listen, to learn, to be teachable by truth and evidence, like children who are eager to learn!

Bible obedience is not primarily about performance, but a willingness to learn, improve and develop based on advancing truth.

This is why the wicked who are lost perish “because they did not love the truth and thus be saved.”
1Thes 2:10

Is this how you understand greatness? Do we teach in Christianity that the great in heaven are those with minds that are capable of learning, and are eager to understand and follow the truth?

Do we see why Jesus didn't pick any theologians to be members of the 12 Apostles? They viewed themselves the teachers and experts and were no longer open to be taught—they were disobedient. But Jesus did choose a physician—along with fishermen, and a tax collector. Why? All of them could be taught.

Even today there is a big difference in the educational philosophy of theologians and physicians. Physicians are educated that truth is unfolding and that our conclusions need to be based upon evidence and thus we are taught to give up beliefs that prove false and move forward with new beliefs as evidence is revealed.

Many religionists however are indoctrinated into a belief system that obstructs learning—how? Because God never changes, they merge that reality with the idea that their ideas about God and theology should never change, thus too often people get stuck in their theological constructs believing that changing their ideas would somehow deny their faith in God.

FRIDAY

In the middle of the lesson it states, “Why didn’t Jesus simply hand Peter the money and tell him to pay it rather than perform such an amazing feat in order to solve what was a relatively small problem? The text doesn’t say. However, as the lesson said, it does show us the incredible power of God, which should not be surprising to us. After all, we see evidence of his incredible power all the time. our mere existence, much less than that of the visible cosmos, is an amazing manifestation of the power of our God.”

What is the emphasis? God’s power—what level of moral development needs to be reassured God is powerful?

This is level one thinking—the most basic level. This is where God started with the slaves of Egypt—by 10 plagues to show who was more powerful.

But, in heaven did Satan ever allege God had no power or that Satan had more power than God?

Power was never the question—it was the character of the One who wields the power that has been questioned.

Further, can God get what He wants by using power? Why not?

Because power incites fear, and fear incites selfishness and undermines love and trust.

The only way to overcome fear and selfishness is with love and truth, that is why Jesus stopped using power to perform miracles when the crowds grew.

Whoever then humbles himself as this child, he is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven”
9. Read the first sentence of paragraph #3: “To define true greatness, Jesus called a child to stand before Him . . .”

- iv. Philippians 4:8 (NASB) "Finally, brethren, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is of good repute, if there is any excellence and if anything worthy of praise, dwell on these things."

TUESDAY

Idols of the Soul

20. Matthew 19:16 - 20 The story of the rich, young, ruler.
21. Read Revelation 19:7 - 8
- a. "Let us rejoice and be glad and give the glory to Him, for the marriage of the Lamb has

- come and His bride has made herself ready.” It was given to her to clothe herself in fine linen, bright and clean; for the fine linen is the righteous acts of the saints.”
22. Read Isaiah 64:6
- a. For all of us have become like one who is unclean,
And all our righteous deeds are like a filthy garment;
And all of us wither like a leaf,
And our iniquities, like the wind, take us away.
23. What are the correct outward works called in the Bible?
- a. Righteousness
 - b. Why is some righteousness correct and other righteousness is “filthy rags”?
24. Christ’s Object Lessons page 311 “By the wedding garment in the parable is represented the pure, spotless character which Christ’s true followers will possess. To the church it is given “that she should be arrayed in fine linen, clean and white,” “not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing.” Revelation 19:8; Ephesians 5:27. The fine linen, says the Scripture, “is the righteousness of saints.” Revelation 19:8. It is the righteousness of Christ, His own unblemished character, that through faith is imparted to all who receive Him as their personal Saviour. {COL 310.3}

The white robe of innocence was worn by our first parents when they were placed by God in holy Eden. They lived in perfect conformity to the will of God. All the strength of their affections was given to their heavenly Father. A beautiful soft light, the light of God, enshrouded the holy pair. This robe of light was a symbol of their spiritual garments of heavenly innocence. Had they remained true to God it would ever have continued to enshroud them. But when sin entered, they severed their connection with God, and the light that had encircled them departed. Naked and ashamed, they tried to supply the place of the heavenly garments by sewing together fig leaves for a covering. {COL 310.4}

This is what the transgressors of God’s law have done ever since the day of Adam and Eve’s disobedience. They have sewed together fig leaves to cover the nakedness caused by transgression. They have worn the garments of their own devising, by works of their own they have tried to cover their sins, and make themselves acceptable with God. {COL 311.1}

But this they can never do. Nothing can man devise to supply the place of his lost robe of innocence. No fig-leaf garment, no worldly citizen dress, can be worn by those who sit down with Christ and angels at the marriage supper of the Lamb. {COL 311.2}

Only the covering which Christ Himself has provided can make us meet to appear in God’s presence. This covering, the robe of His own righteousness, Christ will put upon every repenting, believing soul. “I counsel thee,” He says, “to buy of Me ... white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear.” Revelation 3:18. {COL 311.3}

This robe, woven in the loom of heaven, has in it not one thread of human devising. Christ in His humanity wrought out a perfect character, and this character He offers to impart to us. "All our righteousness are as filthy rags." Isaiah 64:6. Everything that we of ourselves can do is defiled by sin. But the Son of God "was manifested to take away our sins; and in Him is no sin." Sin is defined to be "the transgression of the law." 1 John 3:5, 4. But Christ was obedient to every requirement of the law. He said of Himself, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God; yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. When on earth, He said to His disciples, "I have kept My Father's commandments." John 15:10. By His perfect obedience He has made it possible for every human being to obey God's commandments. When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. {COL 311.4}

The guests at the marriage feast were inspected by the king. Only those were accepted who had obeyed his requirements and put on the wedding garment. So it is with the guests at the gospel feast. All must pass the scrutiny of the great King, and only those are received who have put on the robe of Christ's righteousness. {COL 312.1}

Righteousness is right doing, and it is by their deeds that all will be judged. Our characters are revealed by what we do. The works show whether the faith is genuine. {COL 312.2}

It is not enough for us to believe that Jesus is not an impostor, and that the religion of the Bible is no cunningly devised fable. We may believe that the name of Jesus is the only name under heaven whereby man may be saved, and yet we may not through faith make Him our personal Saviour. It is not enough to believe the theory of truth. It is not enough to make a profession of faith in Christ and have our names registered on the church roll. "He that keepeth His commandments dwelleth in Him, and He in him. And hereby we know that He abideth in us, by the Spirit which He hath given us." "Hereby we do know that we know Him if we keep His commandments." 1 John 3:24; 1 John 2:3. This is the genuine evidence of conversion. Whatever our profession, it amounts to nothing unless Christ is revealed in works of righteousness. {COL 312.3}

The truth is to be planted in the heart. It is to control the mind and regulate the affections. The whole character must be stamped with the divine utterances. Every jot and tittle of the word of God is to be brought into the daily practice. {COL 314.1}

He who becomes a partaker of the divine nature will be in harmony with God's great standard of righteousness, His holy law. This is the rule by which God measures the actions of men. This will be the test of character in the judgment. {COL 314.2}

The Book of Matthew Lesson 10 2Q 2016

Jesus in Jerusalem

I received this email from Gary in Canada:

As you know last month C&R Canada grew by 9 people with the formation of the C&R branch in Yarmouth Nova Scotia. Well so far this month we have had one man ask to be baptized because of the Sure Word Bible Study program that C&R Canada Kentville branch puts on at a local non denominational outreach center known as Open Arms. But that's not all, the man's wife would like to do Bible studies and get baptized with her husband. She comes from a Jehovah's Witness background and because she did not follow the teachings of that organization in her youth, she and her family are shunned by some of the people from that organization. But she likes the changes she sees in her husband and she is now willing to do the studies. But wait there's more, one of the other men that comes to the class is looking at joining, or at least going to the local SDA church, but that's not all, yes there's more, his wife has been watching the C&R DVDs and is starting to get interested in the God is love teachings. But wait, there's more. I volunteer at Open Arms and work with men that are on their way to recovery from—well you name it. Anyway, one of the guys is working doing construction work with the first guy I mentioned, and he also would like to start doing Bible studies. Hold on just like the commercial there's more. We have a seasonal worker here from Jamaica, that likes the God of love not wrath approach to teaching and he would like to have C&R come to Jamaica this Dec and help set up a C&R branch there. His dream is to do full time evangelism. So if C&R Canada can work out some details I will go to Jamaica this Dec. Did you notice the time of year WINTER? Yes it's a hard job working with C&R but some one has to do it. God is good. But wait there's more, one of the professors at our local University, known as Acadia University is passing out your books to students that have shown a strong interest in the God of love. The best part of this last bit of news is some of the students are from other countries and other faiths and will be taking the books home with them this summer. Last but to me most important part is my thanks to the C&R class there in Tennessee and online and to all the supports of Come and Reason Ministries. Without you, all of the people just mentioned would have never heard this message at this time. And I believe God's timing is never wrong. Tell a friend share the News. This message changes lives and puts light where darkness once dwelled.

*Thank you for all your time and effort. God Bless you.
Gary.*

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, “In Matthew 20:27, 28, Jesus said...” How do we understand the idea of ransom?

This is a metaphor and one used to teach something about the atonement. And there are many theories about the atonement out there, and it is one of the issues that theologians get very animated about.

Let's review the reason Christ had to die, the idea of atonement through the seven levels of moral development and note how the various theories commonly taught in Christianity fit in:

1. Reward and punishment: Because God said don't do something, they disobeyed and did what God said not to do. This dishonored God. God was offended and in his justice responded with angry vengeance to execute the disobedient to satisfy his outrage. But Jesus stepped in and became humanity's substitute and God killed him in our place and is satisfied that his honor and justice are preserved. This is the Satisfaction Theory of Atonement.
2. Marketplace exchange: Because earth and humanity was now the legal property of Satan and under his control, the devil claimed legal rights to this earth and the lives of the sons of Adam and daughters of Eve. Therefore, God struck a bargain with the devil to exchange the life of Christ for the lives of the rest of humanity. This is the Ransom Theory of Atonement.
3. Social conformity: Because everyone must be convinced of the fairness of God in punishing sin. Somebody had to pay so that God can be seen as fair in how he deals with sin and sinners; and Jesus is the one who pays that price. This is the Governmental Theory of the Atonement.
4. Law and order: In this view, Jesus dies to pay the legal penalty the law demanded and the heavenly judge imposed. The law must be kept. Man broke the law and justice requires the imposition of the proper punishment. Someone had to be executed to pay the legal penalty. Jesus became our substitute, was executed in our place (by the Father as the righteous judge) to pay that penalty. The integrity of the law is maintained and sinners can be pardoned if they claim the legal payment made by Jesus. This is Penal Substitution Theory of Atonement.
5. Love for others: Because sin separated us from God and corrupted our hearts so that we no longer trusted God. But God loved us too much to let us go and Christ's death was the means to reach us with his love and restore us to trust in him. This is Moral Influence Theory of Atonement.
6. Principle based living: In this view, Christ's life, death and resurrection is understood to be the only means to fix what sin had done to God's creation. When mankind sinned the condition of humankind was changed to be out of harmony with God and his design for life. Humankind was now held in bondage by their own condition of sinfulness (carnal nature), their terminal state (death) and the lies about God told by Satan. Christ came to break these powers and fix what sin did do this creation. Thus "he who knew no sin became sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God." 2Cor 5:21. This is the Recapitulation and Christus Victor Theories of Atonement.
7. Understanding Friend of God: At this level the plan of salvation is understood to have a deeper and broader intent than just the redemption of the human species.

Level seven includes level five understanding that humanity was held captive by lies about God that undermines our ability to trust him. And that God loved us too much to let us go therefore, so he sent Jesus who, as part of his mission, revealed truth to destroy Satan's lies in order to win us back to trust (morally influence). (Jn 8:32, Heb 2:14).

Level seven also includes all the elements of level six understanding, that human kind was not only held in bondage by the lies of Satan, but by our own carnal (selfish) natures. And that God through Christ not only destroyed the lies of Satan thereby destroying the devil's power (Heb 2:14), he also destroyed the carnal nature thereby destroying death, and perfectly restored God's law of love—God's character—back into the species human, thereby perfecting the species and bringing life and immortality to light. (2Tim 1:9,10, 1Jn 3:8, Heb 5:8,9) As the early church fathers would have said, Jesus picked up humankind broken off in Adam and carried it to completion.

But level seven also understands that God has a larger purpose than just saving humanity. God has also been working to secure the unfallen intelligences in their confidence, trust, and loyalty to him—to protect them from disaffection and keep them eternally safe. “All things in heaven and in earth are reconciled to Christ at the cross.” (Col 1:20 emphasis mine)

Atonement at level seven is understood in its true Biblical meaning of at-one-ment—complete unity with God—a universe without any deviation anywhere from God and his design of love. As Jesus himself prayed just before his crucifixion: “I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. (Jn 17:20,21 emphasis mine)

This unity is the mystery of God. His secret plan to heal all who trust him, while eliminating all deviations from his design (sin and unrepentant sinners) in such a way that all the saved along with the unfallen intelligences will be solidified in the unshakable unity of love and trust. This is only possible through the accomplishments of Jesus Christ:

And he made known to us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he purposed in Christ, to be put into effect when the times will have reached their fulfillment—to bring all things in heaven and on earth together under one head, even Christ. (Eph 1:9,10 emphasis mine)

This is the Healing Plan of Atonement.

Now when Christ used the metaphor of ransom for many, was He speaking of the level two concepts we just reviewed? No, what happens is that people operating at level two hear the ransom metaphor and apply to level two understanding. But Christ's metaphors are understandable through level 7 understanding.

So ransom through level seven—what does a ransom do? It is the price necessary to free someone held in bondage. What holds sinners in bondage?

The lies about God that we believe that keep us from trusting Him, AND our own carnal natures. What then is the price necessary to free us? The truth that will destroy the lies and free our minds to trust, and a new perfect nature/character, and Jesus provides both and both could only be achieved by His sinless life, selfless death and resurrection!

To whom was such a price paid? To us! We are the ones who needed the truth and we are the ones who needed a new nature, and thus ransom rightly understood confirms level seven, God's Healing Plan.

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses on the time the Jews returned from 70 years captivity and rebuilt the temple. The elders who had seen Solomon's temple cried in distress because the new temple was so small, but God had His prophets prophecy that the second temple would be more glorious than the first temple—how? How was the second temple more glorious?

Because Jesus walked there? But didn't God's presence come physically to the first temple when it was dedicated? So God's presence blessed both temples, why is the second more glorious?

Because God's glory is not power—it is character! And Jesus revealed God's selfless character of love more perfectly at the second temple than the first.

So, then what would it mean when the first angel of the three angels of Revelation 14 says to "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water." Rev 14:7

Would it have something to do with character? How do we glorify God?

²² "Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. ²³ I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, declares the Sovereign Lord, when I show myself holy through you before their eyes.

²⁴ " 'For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. ²⁵ I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. ²⁶ I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. ²⁷ And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. (Eze 36:22-27)

In the Bible, what is the name representative of? Character, so God is saying His character has been misrepresented by the people who claim to represent Him. Did the Jews misrepresent God? Have Christians misrepresented God? And what is it that God does to reveal His true name/character? He transforms the character/hearts of the people to be like Him!

This is in harmony with the message of the 3 angels, that God is waiting for people who come to know Him and trust Him and He will transform them to be like Him in character—to love like He loves!

The bottom paragraph is commenting on Christ's entry into Jerusalem riding upon a donkey, and states, "The multitude were convinced that the hour of their emancipation was at hand. In imagination they saw the Roman armies driven from Jerusalem, and Israel once more an independent nation."

Was their emancipation at hand? Yes, but from what? Was Christ about to accomplish what was necessary to free humanity from the bondage of sin? Absolutely, so their emancipation was at hand, this was true—but what was the problem with Israel? They misunderstood their situation. They had the wrong diagnosis. They thought their problem was bondage to Rome, when their problem was bondage to sin. Thus, they were looking for an earthly deliverance, rather than deliverance from sin.

What about Christianity today? Do many have the same problem? Do many accept a false diagnosis and thus a false solution? What would be the common false diagnosis? That sin is a legal problem and thus people are seeking delivery from a legal punishment, rather than realizing we are sinful in heart and mind and need delivering from sin, NOT delivering from God's punishment for sin.

In the bottom pink section it states, "Again and again, we see how Scripture was fulfilled, and yet at the time, the people didn't understand it. What lessons might we take away for ourselves about how preconceived notions could distort truth?"

thoughts? Do we as Christians struggle with the same problem, being duped in believing in the wrong type of delivery?

The Jews 2000 years ago were looking for delivery from a human government—are Christians today? Are Christians today teaching a theology that is promoting delivery from a human law construct? The idea of imposed law that requires punishment by the ruling authority?

The first paragraph states, "From the earliest days of fallen humanity, animal sacrifices were God's chosen means to teach the world the plan of salvation, salvation by grace through faith in the coming Messiah... Thus when God called Israel as His chosen people, 'a kingdom of priests and a holy nation' (Exod. 19:6 NKJV). he also established the sanctuary service as a fuller and more complete explanation of salvation."

What was the purpose of the animal sacrifices and what did they teach?

On a Christian radio program before Easter a person called in and asked why the animal sacrifices in the OT and this was the explanation given by one of the guest theologians:

The reason in Leviticus 17 for...that there has to be punishment with death for sin, and so in Leviticus 17 when the animal sacrificial system is being established it says this, Leviticus 17:10 “Any Israelite or any alien living among them who eats any blood—I will set my face against that person who eats blood and will cut him off from his people. For the life of a creature is in the blood, and I have given it to you to make atonement for yourselves on the altar; it is the blood that makes atonement for one’s life.” See blood represents life and there has to be the punishment of death for sin, so therefore an animal had to take the punishment and give its life—it’s blood—so that the offerer could live. That was the substitution. What my former professor here at Moody used to call, the exchange of life.

What are the problems with this explanation?

- It is based on imposed law and the requirement of payment to expiate sin
- It argues for a means of salvation without Christ, that in some way an animal was sufficient to deal with sin
- It makes the problem legal rather than a condition of being
- It denies much of the Old Testament evidence of people being saved without animal sacrifices

Notice the Biblical evidence:

- “The multitude of your sacrifices— what are they to me?” says the Lord. “I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals; I have no pleasure in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats... wash and make yourselves clean. Take your evil deeds out of my sight! Stop doing wrong, learn to do right! Seek justice, encourage the oppressed. Defend the cause of the fatherless, plead the case of the widow.” (Isa 1:11,16,17)
- With what shall I come before the Lord and bow down before the exalted God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old? Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousand rivers of oil? Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul? He has showed you, O man, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God. (Mic 6:6-8)
- the gifts and sacrifices being offered were not able to clear the conscience of the worshiper. They are only a matter of food and drink and various ceremonial washings—external regulations applying until the time of the new order... But those sacrifices are an annual reminder of sins, because it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins. (Heb 9:9,10; 10:3,4 emphasis mine)

But perhaps Hosea puts what God wants, what he has always wanted and been working to achieve, most succinctly:

- “I want your constant love, not your animal sacrifices. I would rather have my people know me than burn offerings to me.” (Hos 6:6 GNT)

Do we have examples of people being saved in OT who did not participate in animal sacrifices?

- Naaman
- Nebuchadnezzar
- Melchizedek
- Daniel and his three friends
- Esther and Mordecai
- Jethro
- The widow and resurrected son who housed Elijah

So what was the purpose of the animal sacrifices? Animal sacrifices were merely teaching tools, lessons, designed to teach what?

What do you think was the primary purpose of such sacrifice?

Take a moment and imagine you had to personally take a lamb, so cute, gentle, cuddly, and because of your sin look into its trusting eyes and cut its throat and watch it die, while it looked at you—what would that teach you? Would it make you sick? Would it cause a revulsion inside of you so that you would never want to sin again? Would it cause a hatred of sin? Could this be the first, foremost, and primary point of the animal sacrifices? Could all the other theological lessons be secondary?

What are the lessons we are to learn from animal sacrifices?

- Sin kills not God
- God provides the sacrifice necessary to remedy the sin problem
- Sin severs the circulation (the circle of love) the law of life and results in death
- Without a substitute to cure our condition all humanity will die of this terminal state
- The Savior would be as gentle and non-threatening to us as a lamb
- They ate the meat of the sacrificial animal, indicating that we must internalize what the life of Jesus—the Lamb of God in order to be restored to unity with God

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on Jesus cleansing the temple, read second paragraph, “But the cleansing...” When the authors merge “judgment” with “reap the results of their doleful choices” what is the likely conclusion?

Is it suggesting the results of poor choices, sin, are those of a judicial system? Are they suggesting the results that come to sinners is like the results that come to those who speed and get ticketed? In other words, are they suggesting the results are those of an imposed law construct?

What if they used diagnosis and debridement instead? When a wound is filled with gravel or dirt in order to heal the wound the dirt needs to be cleaned out—this is called debridement. Was Jesus debriding the sanctuary, removing infecting elements in order for healing to occur? Does it make a difference to see Jesus acting as an enforcer inflicting punishment, or as a Savior debriding and healing?

Read third paragraph, “Jesus cursed the fig tree...” Is a fig tree a free moral agent capable of love, loyalty or selfishness and rebellion? Then, could the fig tree sin? Then could the fig tree be punished for sin? Then what was happening? Jesus was providing an object lesson, what was the lesson?

What would be the wrong lesson to draw from the enactment? The wrong lesson is that God uses His power to inflict death upon sinners.

The right lesson is that God pronounces or diagnosis the condition of each person accurately, the tree was used as an object lesson to reveal this.

WEDNESDAY

Read top sentence, “If you had a few days left to live, what would you do with them?”

The lesson asks us to read MT 21:33-46, this is from The Remedy:

³³ "Consider another parable: A developer planted a vineyard on his property. He put a security fence around it, built a watchtower, and constructed a winepress. Then he leased the vineyard to some farmers and went away on a trip.³⁴ When the harvest was due, he sent a servant to collect his portion of the fruit.³⁵ The farmers attacked the servants: they beat one, murdered another, and stoned a third.³⁶ The owner sent more servants, but they were all abused and despised in the same way.³⁷ Finally, he sent his only son, thinking, 'They will honor my son.'³⁸ But when the farmers saw the son, they greedily said to each other, 'This is the heir to this property. Come on, let's kill him and claim the inheritance for ourselves!'³⁹ So they grabbed the son, dragged him out of the vineyard, abused, and then killed him.⁴⁰ Now, what do you think the owner will do to these farmers when he comes to his vineyard?"

⁴¹ They answered, "He'll destroy those scoundrels and lease the vineyard to others, who will give him his portion of the harvest."

⁴² Jesus looked straight at them and said, "Exactly! But somehow, you fail to understand what you read in the Scriptures where it says, 'The stone rejected by those in charge of building has become the foundation stone; God has made sure it would be this way and it is incredible to us.'"

⁴³ "So let me make this plain to you: God's kingdom of love and truth will be taken away from you who cling to lies and selfishness, and given to those who will bring forth fruit of righteousness.⁴⁴ Whoever falls down on this stone will be broken in pieces of humility, but the weight of truth from this stone will crush whomever it falls upon."

⁴⁵ When the church leaders, lawyers and theologians heard Jesus' parables, they understood very clearly that he was talking about them.⁴⁶ They schemed for ways to arrest him, but were afraid to take action because the crowds were huge, and the majority of people thought Jesus was a spokesman of God.

The lessons asks us to identify the various characters:

- The Landowner—God
- Farmers—Jews
- Servants—God's spokespersons/prophets
- Son—Jesus
- New Tenants—Christians

Read bottom pink section, "Two different ways..." Jesus is the rock, if we fall upon Him in humility our selfish hearts are broken and we are rebuilt by God into His image. But, if instead the weight of truth that is embodied in Jesus falls upon the heart and mind of an unrepentant person—what happens? They cry out for the mountains to fall on them—they are crushed by it.

THURSDAY

What do you think of the title—The Cost of Grace? What is the cost of grace? Read third paragraph, "When we look at the Cross..."

Did it cost God a lot to deal with the sin problem? Absolutely—does that mean the price is a legal price?

What do you make of the idea of bearing God's wrath against sin—what is God's wrath against sin?

What law model do you view it through? If imposed law, then there is nothing inherently wrong with sin and if God doesn't act then no bad happens, so God must act and inflict pain and suffering and death. Thus, in this penal legal model God becomes the source of pain, suffering and death and Christians create doctrines designed to hide and protect us from God rather than reconcile us to Him.

In the design law model, sin is deviation from God's law upon which life is constructed, and results in pain suffering and death. If God doesn't act death ensues. Therefore, God acted through Jesus to provide remedy to our terminal condition. In this view God's wrath is His cessation of interventions to hold at bay what unremedied sin brings—i.e. God letting go to reap what one chooses.

Which view is more Biblical?

Romans 1:18-34—God’s wrath is revealed... he gave them up, three times Paul says this, indicating what God actually does.

And what did God do to Jesus on the Cross—He gave Jesus up to reap what Jesus freely chose—God did not intervene to stop it, thus Jesus experienced God’s wrath on the Cross.

And Paul ties it all together in Romans 4:25 when referring to Jesus on the Cross, he uses the exact same Greek as in Romans 1:24,26, 28 where he says “God gave them up.” However, most translators disguise the exact language by expressing it differently, such as “delivered over” rather than “given up.”

The lesson is about the parable of the wedding feast found in Matthew 22, and a person without a wedding garment is cast out, what does this teach?

Read last paragraph, “The garment represents...”

The Book of Matthew Lesson 11 2Q 2016

Last Day Events

I received this email this week:

I have been listening to your broadcasts via You-Tube or MP3 for about a year. The ideas make me want to run in all directions at once like a cartoon cat. I've tried to share with my children and husband, but they feel angry and threatened that ideas about God they have held so long are apparently set at naught. As a person caught in spiritism and other superstitions until the age of 16, the Advent message coming to me in my 16th year--that Heaven is real and that God would only burn you for a little while--seemed bright light.

I clung to Jesus, avoiding His mean Father, and thought it maturity when I finally came to be "OK" with the Father. Still, I always believed in my secret heart that God was just looking for a way to kill me. What a revelation to find that He really doesn't want to kill me. It has taken me months to let that notion seep through every nook and cranny of the way I think and live. Still, from time to time I become fearful that letting go of all the rules and simply accepting a God of love is dangerous to my eternal salvation--what if it really isn't so easy?! What if this is a deception or strong lie? Then, I will have lost immortality. What if feeling free in my chest, with no tension when I think about God is actually the lie? There must be something I'm missing. Those notions come to me again and again. It's like the painful life that floods into my hands after I've slept on them and stopped my circulation. The circulating blood is life to my hands, but it still hurts to get the blood flow going again. I fight off the notion that God is dangerous with prayer and with reasoning, thinking, reading, listening to your broadcast, talking with friends who brought me to understand Design Law in the first place.

The 'How-To' part of loving is my next task. I am 'nice' and never thought that I was selfish and unloving. I am. Yet, I am no longer resigned to staying that way. My husband and children were raised in Adventism and will have none of my off-beat notions that God is safe, loving, Lord of the Sabbath and is not trying to kill anybody. My youngest son, a late adolescent, actually believes that God kills people despite all our flowery language attempts to hide that fact. He says he loves God, and understands that "God has to do what God has to do, but let's not lie to each other about it, Mom--He kills people." My hope and prayer is that my sons will someday 'hear' this message--maybe when their souls are as hungry and desolate as was mine--though I am seeking ways to make it sooner rather than later. My husband is simply angry that the Adventism he learned at his beloved mother's knee is being impugned on some level, though he can't say how. He will come around because he loves me. I will love, and pray, and wait, and set out literature, and talk Design Law at every chance. I could go on, except that all you really wanted to know was my address so that I can receive three Remedy hard-copies I requested. I will give one to my youngest to take to college with him, one to my eldest son who is dutiful and will read if I ask, and keep the other for myself and my husband. Thank you for your ministry. Please let me know what books I can purchase in quantity to 'seed' the reading table at the front of my church. People are desperate for something to read on Sabbath as the sermons do not always scratch where they itch.

SABBATH

What does the title bring to mind? What do you consider last day events to be? Are we in the “last days”?

What is God waiting for?

The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance. 2Pet 3:9

What does this mean? Why do people perish? What is the cause—the reason?

So, what is necessary for people not to perish?

What is repentance?

What does God want from us? He wants our love, trust, loyalty—which means He wants us to experience a change of heart—which is repentance.

Why will people perish if they don't have love, trust, and loyalty to God?

What is the basis of life? From where does life originate? Upon what is life constructed to function?

What happens to people who are out of harmony with love and truth in the presence of God? Why?

So, what is God waiting for? What prevents people from coming to love, trust and loyalty to God? Would it be misunderstanding, preconceived ideas, lies, falsehoods about God?

When you think of last day events, does Daniel 12:4 come to mind:

O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. (KJV)

What does this mean? Have you ever seen presentations which show advancement in science, transportation, engineering as fulfillment of this text? Is it?

I don't think so—the Bible isn't a book about science primarily, it is a book about God and His character—so what might this text be referring to?

Consider the NRSV:

But you, Daniel, keep the words secret and the book sealed until the time of the end. Many shall be running back and forth, and evil shall increase.”

They have interpreted knowledge to be the knowledge of evil—what do you think?

Again, I don't think so, the Bible is primarily a book about God's character which has been misrepresented by Satan and which Christ came to perfectly reveal.

Could John 17:3 have any bearing?

Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent.

Is the knowledge of God what is to increase at the end of time?

“It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth...The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love.” Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

Could the knowledge that is to increase at the end of time be the true knowledge of God? That knowledge which will work to cleanse the temple from the lies about God and prepare a people to meet Jesus?

This is the message of the three angels—

Then I saw another messenger flying in midair, and he had the eternal good news about God's character of love to proclaim to everyone living on earth—to every nation, tribe, language, and people—which represents a movement of people who arise to proclaim the truth about God's character of love throughout the world.⁷ He said in a clear, resounding voice, "Be in awe of God, and glorify him by living his methods of love, because the hour has come for everyone to make a judgment about God, and worship the Designer, Creator and Builder who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and springs of water— all of which operate upon his law of love." Rev 14:6.7 The Remedy

What are some of the other signs that Jesus disclosed? Let's read Matthew 24:4-8:

⁴ Jesus answered: "Watch out that no one deceives you. ⁵ For many will come in my name, claiming, 'I am the Christ,' and will deceive many. ⁶ You will hear of wars and rumors of wars, but see to it that you are not alarmed. Such things must happen, but the end is still to come. ⁷ Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places. ⁸ All these are the beginning of birth pains.

What do you think of these signs? What lessons do they teach us? Have these signs occurred?

What lesson from the analogy of birth pains? How do birth pains progress? And what do they lead to?

Will things get better or worse on earth before Christ returns? Why? Why do things get worse?

Is God using His power to inflict punishment?

Revelation states angels with the vials of God's wrath are poured out upon the inhabitants of the earth—what does this mean?

Through what law lens do you view such texts? What level of moral development?

Levels 1-4 of moral development, those the Bible describe as still on milk and not acquainted with righteousness view such texts through imposed law and conclude God is using power to inflict punishment for disobedience.

Levels-5-7 of moral development—those the Bible describe as the mature, view such texts through design law and understand God is the source of life, and a time comes in human history when people will be let go, or set free by God to reap their choice to be separated from Him.

And what term does the Bible use to describe God's action of letting go and ceasing interventions to protect? God's wrath! Romans 1:18-32, makes clear God's wrath is letting go—so what is happening in Revelation?

God letting go—of what? Who is it that controls nature? God, and what happens if God let's go His control, what will nature do? Why?

Why would God let go? What would cause God to do such a thing? Where is the dwelling place for the Holy Spirit on earth? The hearts and minds of people. Does the Holy Spirit force His way into hearts? So what happens if people permanently harden their hearts to God? The Holy Spirit is slowly withdrawn—why? Who makes the choice to close out the Holy Spirit from earth?

Here is a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church describing the final plagues on earth:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

The title is Blind Guides—what do you make of this title? To what are they blind?

The lesson encourages us to read Matthew 23, let's start in verse 13 (from The Remedy) and see if we can discover to what the leaders were blind. But as we do, we must remember that Jesus is God and God is love, so what tone do you think Jesus had in His voice as He spoke? I would encourage you to think as if you were speaking to the person you love the most, your spouse, your child and they were in the role of these religious leaders.

¹³ "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! Your false teachings obstruct people from being healed and entering God's kingdom of love. You certainly are not healed and do not enter into salvation, but worse still, you actively work to prevent others, who want to be saved, from being healed.¹⁴ Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You con widows from their homes, yet you make public displays of praying long prayers. Unhealed you choose to remain! Your suffering will be most severe.

¹⁵ "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You go around the world trying to convert one person, and when you do, you indoctrinate them so deeply into your false penal system that they become twice the child of lies and selfishness as you are...

²³ "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You keep rules, such as proudly paying a pre-tax tithe and even giving a tenth of the herbs in your garden, but you fail to do what actually matters—to live in harmony with God’s Law, which is his design for life. You fail to ‘do what is right because it is right.’ You are not merciful but judgmental and critical, and you cannot be trusted to protect those struggling with sin. You should have lived lives of love for others, without neglecting the simple instructions of God.²⁴ You are truly irrational and unthinking teachers! You are so focused on keeping the rules—such as dietary laws—that you fail to understand that their purpose is to promote health. You’re so confused that you actually think it would be a virtue to die of starvation rather than eat something not on the ‘approved’ list.

²⁵ "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You work so hard to make yourselves look good on the outside, but the inside—the heart—is full of selfishness, arrogance, and greed.²⁶ You truly don’t understand anything about God’s kingdom! The mind, the character, the heart—they all must be cleansed first, and then the outside will also be clean.

²⁷ "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You are like highly polished burial vaults: they look beautiful on the outside but inside are nothing but the bones of the dead, and everything that defiles.²⁸ You are just like that. On the outside you appear to people as good and righteous, but on the inside you are full of lies, selfishness, and evil. You are great counterfeits!

²⁹ "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You go to great lengths to give praise and honor to God’s spokespersons and church leaders of the past.³⁰ You say, ‘If we would have lived back then, we would never have rejected God’s spokespersons or joined those who killed them.’³¹ By such claims you condemn yourselves, because you acknowledge such actions are wrong, yet by your actions today you reveal you are the true descendants of those who murdered God’s spokespersons. You’re just like them³² and your sins pile on top of the sins of your forefathers!

³³ "You slippery serpents! You brood of venomous vipers! You think you can cure yourselves with your own snake oil?³⁴ It’s because of your false remedy—your penal legal trickery—that I am sending my spokespersons, instructors and Bible scholars, some of whom you will attack, kill, and crucify; others you will beat—some physically, some verbally—right in church, running them out of town with beatings and the most vicious gossip.³⁵ The pure and holy lives that have been sacrificed through history—from Abel all the way through to Zechariah the son of Berekiah, who was murdered right in church, at the altar—testify the truth to you.³⁶ But the sad truth is that this generation will reject all this evidence.

³⁷ "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you sick and hard-hearted people who have rejected the Remedy, killed God’s spokespersons, and stoned those sent to you with the cure! How my heart has longed to pull you to safety, like a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you would not let me.³⁸ Look around: I leave your house to you abandoned without Remedy, and infected without cure.³⁹ For I tell you plainly, when you see me next, you will say: 'He is the One sent by God to reveal God's true character and provide the Remedy.'"

To what are they blind? They are blind to the truth about God; they don't understand His methods; they don't realize His law is the basis upon which life is constructed and instead think God's law and government operate like human governments. They are people who lead others into false beliefs, lies, distortions of reality that harden hearts and obstruct healing.

Any examples of blind guides today?

All the theology based on imposed law which represents God as:

- The source of inflicted punishment, suffering and death
- The One who needs to be paid, appeased, or propitiated
- The One who we need to be hidden from or protected from

Can you recall teachings that present ideas that function to protect us from God?

Such examples would be evidence of blind guides. Remember David prayed, "search me and see the wicked way in me" "create in me a clean heart O God and renew your right spirit within me."

- God is for us
- Jesus said if you have seen me you have seen the Father
- The Father was in the Son...
- God so loved the world...

God is our Creator, Redeemer and Friend! This is to be our prayer—"find every defect in me and heal me." But this only happens when we come back to the truth about God as Jesus revealed. Thus, those of us at the end of time are given this warning:

Then the dragon was enraged at the woman and went off to make war against the rest of her offspring—those who obey God's commandments and hold to the testimony of Jesus. Rev 12:17

What are the commandments of God?

"A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another. By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another." Jn 13:34,35

What is the testimony of Jesus? —would it not be the truth about God that Jesus revealed—if you have seen me you have seen the Father? How many today are holding to Jesus' testimony about His Father and how many today have rejected Jesus' testimony and are presenting another version of God?

In Sunday's lesson it points out that the Jewish nation was chosen by God to be a kingdom of priests and it was prophesied they would be a great nation and many blessings etc. would come to them. However, this didn't happen and Jesus said their house is left to them desolate—how do we understand the prophecies of the OT that never came to pass?

Is it possible, God through His prophets, at certain times in history, will lay out before His people two paths, two futures... if you choose this then this is what you will experience, but if you choose that, then your future will be something entirely different?

Do we ever do this today even without the advantage of foreknowledge: if you choose to continue using drugs your life will be ongoing conflict, problems—relationships broken, brain damaged, health ruined—but if you choose recovery then healing, wellness, and salvation will be found?

Can we do similar things today? Was God doing this in OT times, laying out before them two paths—and when they chose the one path the other closed for them?

Do we have such options before us as individuals? What about before the organized church? Could the institutional church get so lost in its institutional goals it fails to fulfill its purpose for Jesus?

2000 years ago this happened, but from the nation of Israel (i.e. the membership of that organization) came individuals who did fulfill God's purpose. Could such a thing happen today—could individual members from institutional churches come together around the final message of mercy and take that message to the world while the institutions focus on institutional matters?

TUESDAY

What is the abomination that causes desolation? This is where we can see a dual application to Christ's words—He was warning the people in His day about fleeing Jerusalem before its destruction.

Now, did Jesus have a prophetic vision in which he actually saw the future events—or did He so understand God's methods and principles, and also the character and nature of Satan, that He could make this prediction?

For instance:

- If I let go this pen what happens? Can you predict such a future event, even before it happens? How can you?
- If a person has a pattern of drunk driving and continues to drink and drive can you predict what will eventually happen? How can you predict this?
- If a woman is married to a man who has beaten her severely for years, and she leaves him. Then he asks her to return and states that he will never do it again, but he gets no treatment to help with his anger issues. He makes no repentance before God, can you predict what will eventually happen if she returns? How can you predict this?

- If you knew God was using divine power to hold back the scorpions and snakes in the desert around ancient Israel, could you predict what would happen if God stopped using His power to do this? What? Snakes and scorpions would infest and people would get bitten. Why would this happen? Does it take prophetic gift to predict this?
- What happened to Israel at the time of Daniel when God removed His protective hand? The nation of Babylon came and conquered them—why did Babylon do this? Was such action on the part of Babylon predictable?
- Could Christ predict, knowing that the Jewish nation had just rejected Him and would therefore be set free to reap their choice to be without God’s protection, that Satan would inspire the worldly powers to come and destroy the nation of Israel, and especially the Temple—the object lesson designed by God to teach His plan to heal and restore? Was such a future predictable to all who understand God’s nature, character, how God’s law works, the choice of Israel, and the nature and character of Satan and selfish humanity?

When we understand Design Law, and understand the nature of things, some things are predictable without having special revelation—remember the story of the scorpion and the frog—the scorpion asks the frog for a ride across the lake. The frog says “no if I let you on my back you’ll sting me and I’ll die.” The scorpion responds, “If I stung you we would both drown and die. I wouldn’t do that.” The frog says, “Okay hop on.” Half way across the lake the scorpion stings the frog, as the poison is making its way through the frog the frog says, “Why did you do that, now we are both going to drown.” The scorpion said—“it’s my nature.”

Scorpions sting, snakes bite, Satan destroys—God heals and saves—always! This is always predictable.

Now, does anything I have said mean that God does not give special revelation to His prophets? Does anything I have said mean Jesus didn’t have special revelation when He spoke? No, it doesn’t mean that. It isn’t either one or the other. Both are true. Those who are friends of God will understand His character, methods, laws, and the nature of Satan and the world and thus can predict certain outcomes from this. But God will also, when God sees fit, provide special revelation revealing future events to some of His spokespersons.

What I am trying to lead people to understand is that we can have much greater maturity in our thinking. Life can become less mysterious and more predictable as we come ever closer to God and understand His design and the nature of things.

WEDNESDAY

The Second Coming—what do we expect to happen before this day?

ISIS believes in a second coming. They are “Adventists.” They have an apocalyptic vision for the future. They believe they have a role to play and they are committed to their role. They believe they are to incite a world war which will usher in their messiah to come and kill all their enemies.

Do we have a vision and understanding of how the future is to go and do we have a role to play?

Revelation chapter 7 describes these events—an angel telling the four angels to hold back the winds of strife until God’s spokespersons are sealed, and then they let loose, calamities happen, but from the witness of the spokespersons a great multitude from all over the world is saved.

What role do we have to play?

First we must become so settled into the truth in understanding and character that nothing can shake us from it. We must be sealed of God, transformed in heart to love like He loves.

In this process we are to be honing our ability to share the truth about God with others, speaking, sharing, loving others—revealing God’s true character.

And we are to choose—to commit ourselves to a cause—are we as committed to Goodness, Truth, Love, Freedom, Kindness, Integrity, Gentleness and true Godliness as ISIS is committed to their cause?

Then we share in every way possible the truth about God’s kingdom, His methods of love and we expose as graciously as possible the distortions that obstruct God’s healing plan.

Can we predict what will happen to us if we are effective in presenting the truth about God? God will bless our efforts, we will gain more skill and success in presenting the truth, and Satan and Satan’s agents will attack us and seek to undermine what we are doing. Is this predictable?

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, “Jesus is clear...” Do we expect Jesus to return?

Is the idea of coming when not expected for all people or only the unfaithful? Do the faithful remain expectant? Remember the parable of the unfaithful servant? Luke 12:42-48 (from The Remedy)

⁴²Jesus gave this answer. "Who then is an intelligent and wise manager—one qualified to share the Remedy effectively in order to nurture the master's staff? ⁴³It will be the most awesome experience for that aide when the master returns to find them reliably doing so. ⁴⁴Truly, that aide will be trusted with all the master possesses. ⁴⁵But what if the master's aide is self-centered and says to himself, 'The master has been gone a long time, and who knows when he will return?' and rather than nurturing the staff, they berate, abuse and mislead them, and then go and use the master's resources to party with gluttons and drunkards? ⁴⁶That aide will be totally surprised, caught completely unaware, on the day their master returns. The master will let that wicked servant go, cutting their relationship and casting them out with all the other counterfeits and frauds who have peddled false remedies.

⁴⁷"The aide who understands the Master—his design, the problem being addressed, and how to apply the Remedy—and either doesn't heed his instructions or applies a false remedy will suffer many blows: a guilty conscience, warped character, damaged reason, broken relationships and ultimately, a destroyed soul. ⁴⁸But the one who doesn't know about the Remedy or how to apply it and therefore doesn't share it, or applies a false remedy will suffer few blows—regret, disappointment, and grief. The more you are given, the more you possess to share with others; the greater your abilities, the more gifts you have to give away.

What about the parable of the 10 virgins, all were asleep, but 5 were still ready and had oil in their lamps, what does this mean?

The oil of grace gives to men the courage, and supplies to them the motives, [heart change] for doing every day the work that God appoints to them. The five foolish virgins had lamps (this means a knowledge of Scripture truth), but they had not the grace of Christ. Day by day they went through a round of ceremonies and external duties, but their service was lifeless, devoid of the righteousness of Christ. The Sun of Righteousness did not shine in their hearts and minds, and they had not the love of the truth which conforms to the life and character, the image and superscription, of Christ. The oil of grace was not mingled with their endeavors. Their religion was a dry husk without the true kernel. They held fast to forms of doctrines, but they were deceived in their Christian life, full of self-righteousness, and failing to learn lessons in the school of Christ, which, if practiced, would have made them wise unto salvation.-- Review and Herald, March 27, 1894.

In the parable of the virgins, five are represented as wise and five as foolish. The name "foolish virgins" represents the character of those who have not the genuine heart-work wrought by the Spirit of God. The coming of Christ does not change the foolish virgins into wise ones. When Christ comes, the balances of Heaven will weigh the character, and decide whether it is pure, sanctified, and holy, or whether it is unclean, and unfit for the kingdom of heaven. Those who have despised the divine grace that is at their command, that would have qualified them to be the inhabitants of heaven, will be the foolish virgins. They had all the light, all the knowledge, but they failed to obtain the oil of grace; they did not receive the truth in its sanctifying power. {RH, August 19, 1890 par. 8}

Notice the judgment is about the accurate diagnosis of the heart of each person, who has actually partaken the Remedy provided by Christ and been changed to be like Christ in character, and who has only put on an external profession of being a follower of God but never actually partaken of the Remedy.

The Book of Matthew Lesson 13 2Q 2016 Crucified and Risen

I received this email this week from a gentleman in Michigan:

Dear Come and Reason Class,

I have been listening to your studies for almost four years now. I was brought up in a different faith and have been petrified my whole life of God. I studied about God up until about 12 years of age and believed that I would burn in hell for eternity. For the next 45 years, I pursued the things of this world, but the Spirit was always calling me as I knew there was a God through nature. I could see the vast sea of stars in the universe and knew there was something bigger out there.

A friend and I were always interested in Daniel and Revelation, trying to figure out the end times. Five years ago, I came to the Adventist church through the Revelation seminar. From that day to today, I have been blessed to learn about God's character and government. I have come under some extreme pressure within our conference when I brought up Come and Reason, but I rarely take other's opinions as fact. One time a sister sent me an article from the internet titled "What's wrong with Tim Jennings?" and the next Sabbath, I asked "What she thought of it?" and she said "I don't know, I didn't read it" I noticed that within our conference there is organizational protection and a fear to trust one's own ability to reason. I have always wanted to find out for myself, whether it be economics, science, politics or the truth about God. So I stayed with the Design Law construct and have been liberated to understand the big picture. Once we consider Design Law, all other Bible stories and prophecies seem to fit perfectly.

This has been a slow, almost four year, journey, but there are a few that are starting to understand Design law. It is truly beautiful to see these people grasping how God operates this Universe of Love and the liberation it has provided in their lives. It blows my mind to see how consistent Design law is with what our founders believed. I hear statements like "This makes so much sense".

To make a long story short, I sent you the attached request for three copies of the Remedy yesterday, but when I went to church my brother said he was interested in one copy. Then I said "would you like two copies?" He said "yes". Then I had to ask "If he wanted three copies? He said "yes" to that as well. So within a few seconds, I gave away all three copies I requested earlier in the day. Could you please send me a case so I can get to work and quit bugging you.

Blessings to you and the entire Come and Reason Family,

And I received this last night from Dennis Kremenetsky (he attended with his fiancé Alina Heinanen):

I love everything about how Tim Jennings teaches, how he makes you want to learn for yourself. He makes you eager to learn more and not afraid to question. Not afraid to reason things out, and figure out the meaning of God's word. I lived in the Collegedale community for 18 years, and I just couldn't find my way to God. I felt pushed away by the church, more then pulled in. I gave up for a long time, but then I started coming to Come and Reason and things changed. There was some hope, something pulling me in, pushing me to question and learn. Pushing me to not be afraid and just question, so I could really see God's Love. I have just moved to Finland, and I would really love to be able to spread the word here of Come and Reason to my family and friends, and to anyone else who will listen. I just wanted to say thank you to Tim Jennings and the community of Come and Reason, I had given up and you have pulled me back into Christ. Tomorrow I will be baptized for the first time, and its all thanks to God spreading his word through Tim Jennings. Thank you all and wish you the best.

To Dennis: We celebrate today as, having come to the knowledge of God, you are baptized into the family of God! Welcome to the Family!

SABBATH

Read memory text: "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth." Mt 28:18

What does the text mean?

Is it Jesus stating that He was now reassuming the power and authority He had prior to His incarnation and for which He had limited His use during His life on earth?

Does authority connote more than power?

Doesn't authority connote the rightful use of power? Had Christ ever been in a position where He did not have the right of rulership?

Then why the need to state that authority had been given Him? Could it be that a question about Christ's legitimate place in God's universe was raised? Could it be that humans didn't realize Christ as truly equal with the Father? Do some people today still struggle with this truth and assert that Christ is a lesser being than the Father?

In the book Patriarchs and Prophets, we read about such questions being raised in heaven:

Leaving his place in the immediate presence of the Father, Lucifer went forth to diffuse the spirit of discontent among the angels. He worked with mysterious secrecy, and for a time concealed his real purpose under an appearance of reverence for God. He began to insinuate doubts concerning the laws that governed heavenly beings, intimating that though laws might be necessary for the inhabitants of the worlds, angels, being more exalted, needed no such restraint, for their own wisdom was a sufficient guide. They were not beings that could bring dishonor to God; all their thoughts were holy; it was no more possible for them than for God Himself to err. The exaltation of the Son of God as equal with the Father was represented as an injustice to Lucifer, who, it was claimed, was also entitled to reverence and honor. If this prince of angels could but attain to his true, exalted position, great good would accrue to the entire host of heaven; for it was his object to secure freedom for all. But now even the liberty which they had hitherto enjoyed was at an end; for an absolute Ruler had been appointed them, and to His authority all must pay homage. Such were the subtle deceptions that through the wiles of Lucifer were fast obtaining in the heavenly courts. {PP 37.1}

There had been no change in the position or authority of Christ. Lucifer's envy and misrepresentation and his claims to equality with Christ had made necessary a statement of the true position of the Son of God; but this had been the same from the beginning. Many of the angels were, however, blinded by Lucifer's deceptions. {PP 38.1}

So, Satan raised questions that undermined in the minds of intelligent beings the rightfulness of Christ's authority and rulership—but after the Cross all such questions have been answered, “worthy worthy worthy is the Lamb who was slain...” He is worthy to have all power because He has demonstrated He is trustworthy with all power!

But the lesson title is about the crucifixion and resurrection and I received a letter in the mail this week with the following question:

A few Sabbaths back you mentioned in SS class that you do not believe that Christ died the second death. I would very much like to hear more about this. I have listened to that lesson 3 times, however, I still have questions.

I understand of course, that Christ is alive today—so obviously did not die forever, but I thought that was because he conquered death—that because He Himself had never sinned, that death could not hold Him. Also, I have understood that Christ's psychological experience at the time was like what it will be for those who do die the second death. He experience all of our sin upon Himself while fully comprehending how far from—well I guess I would at this point say, from Design Law, those sins took Him. They were so far from design protocol that the natural consequence would be death. Isn't this what those dying the second death will experience—the natural result of not being willing to have God change/heal us?

I would love for you to have an article upon the website addressing this issue specifically. Thank you again for all you are doing to dispel the lies that Satan has woven around God's character.

There is an article in the blog section of our website entitled, “Did Christ Die the Second Death?”

If you go to our website and use the search feature at the top and type in “second death” you will find it.

But, what do you think of her question? How would you answer it?

Might it be helpful to define what we mean by the term second death?

Where would you turn to define this term? What does the Bible say about it?

The Bible uses the actual term “second death” only in the book of Revelation in 2:11, 20:6, 20:14 and 21:8.

The first two times the term is used the Bible tells us that the second death has no power over the righteous, those who arise in the first resurrection.

It is in the last two uses that the Bible gives us some definition of what the second death actually is:

- Rev 20:14 "The lake of fire is the second death"
- Rev 21:8 "their place will be in the fiery lake of burning sulfur. This is the second death."

According to Revelation the second death occurs in the lake of fire or that dying in the lake of fire is the second death. Did Christ die in the lake of fire?

When Jesus died do we have any inspired evidence that Jesus died with fire reigning down upon Him? Or does the inspired record reveal just the opposite that darkness covered Him and He pled, “my God, my God why have you forsaken me” (Matt 27:45, 46)?

So, first point—is Christ’s death like the wicked, dying in the lake of fire, or opposite dying in darkness?

What do we understand the fire to be in which the wicked die? Heb 12:29 “Our God is a consuming fire.” EGW says that “to sin wherever it is found our God is a consuming fire.” DA 107

Where does Revelation say the fire occurs?

Then another angel, a third, followed them, crying with a loud voice, “Those who worship the beast and its image, and receive a mark on their foreheads or on their hands, they will also drink the wine of God’s wrath, poured unmixed into the cup of his anger, and they will be tormented with fire and sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb. And the smoke of their torment goes up forever and ever. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and its image and for anyone who receives the mark of its name.” Rev 14:9-11 NRSV

Where is this fire? In God’s presence—here is a description of this in the book The Great Controversy:

At last the order to advance is given, and the countless host moves on--an army such as was never summoned by earthly conquerors, such as the combined forces of all ages since war began on earth could never equal. Satan, the mightiest of warriors, leads the van, and his angels unite their forces for this final struggle. Kings and warriors are in his train, and the multitudes follow in vast companies, each under its appointed leader. With military precision the serried ranks advance over the earth's broken and uneven surface to the City of God. By command of Jesus, the gates of the New Jerusalem are closed, and the armies of Satan surround the city and make ready for the onset. {GC 664.3}

Now Christ again appears to the view of His enemies. Far above the city, upon a foundation of burnished gold, is a throne, high and lifted up. Upon this throne sits the Son of God, and around Him are the subjects of His kingdom. The power and majesty of Christ no language can describe, no pen portray. The glory of the Eternal Father is enshrouding His Son. The brightness of His presence fills the City of God, and flows out beyond the gates, flooding the whole earth with its radiance... {GC 665.1}

As soon as the books of record are opened, and the eye of Jesus looks upon the wicked, they are conscious of every sin which they have ever committed. They see just where their feet diverged from the path of purity and holiness, just how far pride and rebellion have carried them in the violation of the law of God. The seductive temptations which they encouraged by indulgence in sin, the blessings perverted, the messengers of God despised, the warnings rejected, the waves of mercy beaten back by the stubborn, unrepentant heart--all appear as if written in letters of fire. {GC 666.2}

Had He appeared with the glory that was His with the Father before the world was, we could not have endured the light of His presence. That we might behold it and not be destroyed, the manifestation of His glory was shrouded. His divinity was veiled with humanity,--the invisible glory in the visible human form. {DA 23.1}

Did Christ die a death in the unveiled splendor and glory of God? Or again, did Christ die when God’s presence was hidden from Him?

And remember just before His crucifixion Jesus was transfigured—Jesus was bathed in the unveiled glory of God and what happened? No harm to Jesus! But, the wicked in that same fiery glory are consumed and it is described as the lake of fire or the second death.

Some Bible commentators add further clarification between the first and second death noting that the first death is the death from which a resurrection occurs but the second death is the death from which there is no resurrection. There is sound Biblical evidence for this conclusion (1Cor 15:12-21, 42-49, 1Thes 4:16, Rev 2:11, 20:5,6,14, 21:8). If we accept this additional demarcation then we must ask, Did Christ die a death from which there was no resurrection or did Christ rise again? "If Christ has not been raised, our preaching is useless and so is your faith" (1Cor 15:13). On two counts the Biblical evidence suggests Christ did not die the second death. Is there more evidence?

While the Bible doesn't use "second death" language in any other place, Jesus actually described the two deaths (first and second) in Matthew 10:28 when He said:

"Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather, be afraid of the One who can destroy both soul and body in hell."

Christ makes a distinction between two types of death. The first in which only the body is destroyed and the second in which the body and soul is destroyed.

The Greek word translated "soul" is "psyche" which means "mind, identity, individuality." So, when Jesus died on the cross, did He have His mind, identity, individuality destroyed or did He rise again as the "same Jesus" (Acts 1:11) who died?

If we use the Bible as our guide we have three demarcating features of the second death:

- lake of fire
- death without resurrection
- death which destroys both body and soul (psyche, individuality, mind)

When Jesus died were any of these identifiers met? No! The Bible seems to be making a strong case that Jesus did not "die" the second death. If He didn't die the second death then what was the significance of His death?

Jesus death was the means of actually destroying death!

Christ confronted the second death and conquered it, He did not "pay" the legal death penalty so many falsely believe was necessary.

2 Timothy 1:10 states, Christ "destroyed death and brought life and immortality to life." Christ destroyed the elements of Satan's government that bring death "by his death he destroyed him who holds the power of death that is the devil" Hebrews 2:14. The law of God is the law of love (Deuteronomy 6:5, Psalms 19:7, Matthew 22:37, Romans 13:10, 1 Cor 13, Galatians 5:14, James 2:8), which is the law that all life is created to operate upon. Sin is lawlessness (1John 3:4), which is trying to live outside the law of love. In other words, sin is violating the very principle that life is created to operate upon. Death results where selfishness rules and death is destroyed where love reigns supreme!

Christ died when love overcame selfishness, when He gave His life freely, when He chose to lay down His life voluntarily. In Christ the law of love, the law of life, was fully lived out when Christ refused to use His power to save self, but rather gave His life freely in love. In Christ, giving destroyed taking, love destroyed selfishness, life destroyed death! Thus Christ's death destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light! Christ's experience on the cross stands in sharp contrast to that of those who die in the lake of fire where they are overcome by selfishness.

The differences between Christ's death and that of those who die the second death are stark:

- Christ died trusting the Father – Luke 23:46
The wicked die distrusting the Father – Revelation 6:16
- Christ died longing to see the Father – Mark 15:34
The wicked die hiding from the Father – Revelation 6:16
- Christ died when the Father's presence was hidden – Mark 15:34
The wicked die when the Father is fully revealed – 2 Thes 2:8
- Christ died less than 72 hours – Luke 24:1-8
The wicked die eternally – Malachi 4:1-3, Romans 6:23, James 1:15, 2Pet 3:10-12
- Christ died when love overcame selfishness – John 3:16, 10:17,18, 1John 3:16
The wicked die overcome by selfishness – Revelation 21:8

If the Scriptures so plainly teaches that Christ did not die the second death, but rather destroyed death, then why do so many insist that He did? Because many have accepted the imposed law construct and therefore misdiagnosed the problem of sin. Rather than realizing sin destroys the sinner, that we are in a terminal state of sinfulness, that without Christ's victory we would die, many have innocently, but wrongly, concluded that our problem is actually God Himself. Many believe that God, in order to be just and uphold the imposed law, must kill, must inflict eternal death.
