These stories are for us—real history but object lessons. We have examined how we are being surrounded by Satan's powers, as we go to God like Hezekiah, humbly, realizing our inability to defeat these worldly powers, God gives us a sign also, have you seen it, do you recognize it, a sign given us to strengthen our faith and confidence that we will be victorious?

Consider this passage in light of this idea about God giving signs:

> Also I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the LORD made them holy. (Ezekiel 20:12 NIV84)

What is the Sabbath here? A sign—of what? What is the purpose of this sign? Why is it given? It is a sign that God will heal us, make us holy, deliver us from fear and selfishness and restore us to righteousness.

Do we better understand Jesus' words? "The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath." (Mark 2:27 NIV84).

Do we recognize the weekly Sabbath as a sign, an evidence that:

- God exists and is real
- God governs reality including time
- God is Creator and Recreator—meaning healer
- God's laws are design laws
- God is faithful
- God keeps His promises
- God is active in healing us, in making us holy

Understand the weekly Sabbath is evidence a sign of all of this—how and why? The 7-day weekly cycle exists only because of God's construction of time. All our other markers of time are astronomic:

- Years marked by Earth rotating around the Sun
- 24-hour days marked by Earth's rotation
- months marked by the Moon's orbit in relation to the Earth
- seasons marked by the Earth's axis tilt in its orbit to the Sun
- But the 7-day week exists only because God created it and every culture in the world has it—no naturalistic godless explanation exists for it.
- And what does the Sabbath day itself signify in this weekly cycle that reveals our Creator?
- It is a sign that God is Creator; His laws are design laws, the supreme law being love; that truth is revealed by God with evidence of action and history—God created; that God's economy is the economy of giving, love built into nature; that God's government is built upon truth, love and liberty, God gave evidence during creation week of His power revealing truth, but on day seven God rested from using power and created a time for intelligent beings to think freely without coercion—historic evidence or truth revealed in action. The Sabbath was constructed, created, built as a day to remember and see truth, as a sign of God's methods, principles and character.
- the Sabbath is also the memorial of Christ's victory over sin and death so we know that those who trust Him are freed from our fear of death.
- We are to remember the Sabbath as a sign that our Creator God is real, powerful, but equally gracious whose character is love and whose laws are love, who gives us real freedom and who will defeat all our enemies if we resist the fear, embrace the truth, open our hearts to Him and surrender or lives, fortunes, and eternal existence to Him! Remember the Sabbath as a sign that God will heal us and make us holy!

Do you see the weekly Sabbath as a sign that God has given to humanity of His promise to heal us, save us, make us holy? Or do you see it as an obligation, a rule you must keep in order to be holy? And if you see it as a rule you must keep what system are you part of?

WEDNESDAY

Read third paragraph, "In response to Hezekiah's…" Do you think God was boiling with molten fury? What do you think God's attitude toward the Assyrians was?

Who was Naaman? He was a Syrian general who got leprosy and whom God healed and became a worshipper of God—how? Wouldn't God hate Naaman and have boiling fury against him?

Does God love the Assyrians less than the Hebrews?

Do we find in the record of the Old Testament that the people of Israel and Judah were more righteous in how they lived than the pagans around them?

Or is the history that the descendants of Jacob were just as wicked as the nations around them?

Then why did God intervene to protect Judah?

Read the last paragraph, "The God of the Hebrews…" this is the key—the entire OT is focused on the coming Messiah—God working to fulfill His promise to have Jesus come and Satan working through his kingdoms to destroy the avenue for Messiah.

The Assyrians were being used here by Satan to try and destroy the final branch of the family tree through whom Jesus would come. Notice, God did not stop the Assyrians from assimilating and dissipating the 10 tribes to the north, because Jesus wasn't coming through one of those. It was only when the last branch was threatened that God acted to protect that family line so the entire world could be saved.

How do we understand God using power to kill in this story? Is God the source of death? No! God does not kill—yet we find God doing so here—or do we?

Does it make a difference to remember the difference between first and second death? This is sleep in the grave, not eternal annihilation, and God doesn't call first death, death, He calls it sleep, just like your computer going into sleep mode. It isn't operating, but it also isn't destroyed or dead. So too all humans who have died have died the death of sleep and will arise again. Thus God has killed no one for sin, that death happens after the 1000 years and after judgment.

Consider you had a 19 y/o son who was high on drugs and in that state had your other 5 younger children cornered and poured gasoline over them and was about to light them on fire. You have a tranquilizer gun and can shoot your 19 y/o with a strong tranquilizer and put them to sleep or you could do nothing and stand by and watch 5 of your children burn to death what do you do?

This is a metaphor to what God did in OT times. He at times put some of His children to sleep for the purpose of saving all those who will let Him.

2021 1Q Isaiah: Lesson 8
Comfort My People

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Consider the Title for this week Comfort My People

What does this mean? How does God comfort?

- If you were dying from cancer, would compassionate friends be a comfort?
  - Would pain medicine, nausea medicine, competent medical care be a comfort?
  - But what would bring you the most comfort?—healing!

- If you were a prisoner of war would a kind guard be a comfort?
  - Would good food, clean accommodations and clothing, packages and letters from home be a comfort?
  - But what would bring you the most comfort? –would it be freedom and going home?

In this world of sin how does God comfort?

- Does God comfort with:
  - loving family and friends
  - food, clothing, shelter, financial resources
  - healthcare or healing
- But does God's plan to comfort, go far beyond this and if carried to completion result in eternal healing, and freedom from sin?

But what does it mean to be freed from sin? Is it a molecule, is it a bacteria, is it made out of matter? Sin is rooted in lies, in falsehood which breaks God's design protocols for life resulting in a state of being that is out of harmony with God's design and results in suffering, misery, pain; in other words, being in sin is not comfortable.

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness—this internal state of fear and selfishness is a painful state, there is no peace here, no comfort, no joy, and this state leads to
- all the acts of sin as people seek to comfort themselves with various human coping strategies that make the condition worse
- damages mind, body, character, relationships—this is a terminal condition

And there is no comfort or peace in this condition—but God comforts us. If we have diagnosed the problem correctly that sin is a condition of being out of harmony with God, filled with fear and selfishness, then we should be able to see God's plan to comfort—to remove sinfulness and heal us?

How does God remove sin? How does God remove fear and selfishness from our hearts and minds and restore His law in our hearts thereby comforting us?

Jesus is key, without Jesus this could not happen—but what does Jesus provide that comforts us?

Jesus is the Word made flesh and as such Jesus is the truth made flesh—we see in Jesus the truth about God and what does truth do to lies? Truth destroys lies and sets us free.

So the first thing Jesus provides us is the truth. But if we accept the truth that Jesus reveals and reject the lies of Satan and are won back to trust in God—is that sufficient to remedy the sin problem? Or did Jesus need to provide us something more than truth in order to cure the sin problem and free us from fear and selfishness? So what more is needed to fulfill God's plan to comfort in addition to bring us the truth and win us to trust? What else do we need? A new heart and right spirit, a new nature, sinless human character—can any of us work hard and develop this?

I love this description in the book The Desire of Ages:

> The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; [Why? For the same reason the law of respiration requires we breath. It is how life is built by God to operate, only in harmony with the law of love do we find comfort.] and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. [Jesus, as a human being, was tempted in every way like us, felt the pull of the survival drives, felt fear, but instead chose to love perfectly thus destroying the infection of sin in humanity and became our Savior. Heb 5:8,9. He gives us the gift of a holy life and perfect character.] His life stands for the life of men. [He becomes the second Adam. The new head of humanity. Our King—the living vine to whom we connect and receive life] Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. [We have remission of sins through forbearance, or grace, not through legal payment. Think of it as a child with sickness who gets the remedy to their condition, the past symptoms are of no account once they are well. Our past acts of sin are irrelevant once we are cured, healed, set right, no longer out of harmony with God, once His law is written upon our hearts and minds.] More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. [Who builds up the sinner's character? God build it up taking the life of Christ and reproducing it in those who embrace the truth and surrender their lives to Him in trust and cooperate with Him.] Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. DA 762.2

But if this is so, if it is sin that destroys our peace, creates a sickness in heart, mind, character, relationships that brings pain and suffering, if Jesus is God's means to heal us, to set us free, then why is the Holy Spirit called the Comforter?

Also from The Desire of Ages:

> The Comforter is called "the Spirit of truth." His work is to define and maintain the truth. He first dwells in the heart as the Spirit of truth, and thus He becomes the Comforter. There is comfort and peace in the truth, but no real peace or comfort can be found in falsehood. It is through false theories and traditions that Satan gains his power over the mind. By directing men to false standards, he misshapes the character.[Oh do we see this happening in society today? Do you see false standards being proclaimed and accepted and do you see people becoming more Christlike or more debased, abusive, unloving, violent, fearful, selfish and controlling?] Through the Scriptures the Holy Spirit speaks to the mind, and impresses truth upon the heart. Thus He exposes error, and expels it from the soul. It is by the Spirit of truth, working through the word of God, that Christ subdues His chosen people to Himself. … DA 671.1
> The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. [Wait, what? Do you believe this or not? What does this mean? Without the Spirit the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. This is only true in design law, in how reality works. Jesus revealed truth that when accepted wins to trust and procured the remedy that heals our hearts—but that remedy needs application in our hearts, which is what the Spirit does. But if we accept Satan's lie about God's law that it is imposed, and then teach the lie that sin is a legal problem rather than a condition of being, and then teach the lie that Jesus died to pay our legal debt, and then teach the lie that salvation is getting a legal declaration of that payment made in the courts of heaven or in our legal record book—then all that could be made without the regenerating agency of the Spirit. The penal legal view is the wine of Babylon that intoxicates the world, it misrepresents God and keeps people's minds and judgments impaired while they feel good about their salvation, yet they remain terminal.] The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power. [Do you see why Satan wants to minimize the work of the Holy Spirit, to diminish or eliminate the Holy Spirit from our beliefs? Since Satan failed in stopping Jesus from coming to Earth as our Savior, and failed in his assaults on Jesus during His human life on Earth, Satan now works to stop us from receiving the Holy Spirit as the agency which applies the remedy in our hearts. He gets people to believe there is no Holy Spirit so they don't even ask for this Third Person of the Godhead to transform them.] It is the Spirit that makes effectual what has been wrought out by the world's Redeemer. It is by the Spirit that the heart is made pure. Through the Spirit the believer becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Christ has given His Spirit as a divine power to overcome all hereditary and cultivated tendencies to evil, and to impress His own character upon His church. DA 671.2

So how does God bring us comfort? By healing our hearts and minds and freeing us from living under the domination of fear, selfishness, guilt and shame.

What does the healing progression look like? It starts where the sinful progression began.

- The damage started with Lies believed breaking the circle of love and trust—so the healing starts with
- Truth believed destroying lies and winning us back to trust
    - Jesus is the source of all truth—in Old Testament times Jesus is the member of the Godhead acting in human history thus giving evidence or truth
    - Jesus is our Savior, our incarnate God who was tempted in every way like we are yet, as a human overcame the temptation of Satan, overcame the carnal drives of fear and selfishness and developed a perfect sinless human character
    - The Holy Spirit is the agency that connects the dots of truth in our minds, brings together the historic activity of Jesus to win us to trust, to bring us to repentance
- In trust we open the heart and the Holy Spirit comes in and takes the victory of Christ and reproduces it in us so it is no longer our sinful fear-ridden selves but Christlike loving selves that live
    - Thus the Holy Spirit applies the truth to remove lies and win to trust and the Holy Spirit writes the law of God, the character of God as lived out by Jesus in our hearts as we trust Him
- We choose to follow Jesus in practicing His methods and receive the regenerating power of the Holy Spirit that enlightens, transforms and enables us to love even our enemies, and we do acts of love, kindness, benevolence, self-sacrifice and in so doing
- We grow in godliness and are lights in this world witnessing His kingdom to others and receive eternal life

Is this process of being set free from sin, being delivered from fear and selfishness fun? Or can the process be agonizing, painful, distressing before it is comforting? Why?

Because once there is brokenness of any kind, there are no pain free options.

Understand, we are born in sin and conceived in iniquity—we are not born guilty, under legal penalty, we are born terminal, with a condition we didn't choose. But, this condition, if unremedied will result in all kinds of symptoms (sins) which cause more sickness, pain, suffering and ultimately death.

God's healing plan works to free us from fear and selfishness and restore us to eternal life, righteousness, but this requires we "die to self" it is a painful experience to face our own sickness of heart, to let the truth diagnose us, to stop trying to justify ourselves, to admit we cannot save ourselves and can only accept the remedy provided by Jesus. And applying the remedy, choosing the truth, breaking the old habits can also be initially painful. There may be physical withdrawal, their may be cravings, there may be relationships that need to be severed, there may be jobs that need to be terminated, there may be enterprises we need to withdraw from, there may be TV programs we need to stop watching.

But, as we follow God's healing plan the initial pain fades away and we grow in godliness and are freed from fear, guilt, shame, the selfish drives lose their power and we experience real peace, real comfort.

Satan tricks the world with the suffering caused by sin, the pain, and the fear of more pain. The brokenness in the heart and in relationships that sin causes incites greater fear, greater distrust of others, which inflames the fear of getting hurt again, which leads to acts of selfishness and pleasure seeking, something to take away the pain in the heart and mind. This fear driven, me first, pain avoiding selfish drive to comfort ourselves is what causes all the evils in the world:

- all addictions are caused by people seeking to comfort themselves
- all human governments with their imposed laws and people seeking social justice through imposed laws and punishments are people who have been hurt, who are afraid, and who are seeking to make themselves feel safe, to comfort themselves through Satan's kingdoms of imposed laws and imposed punishments
- all vengeance seeking is people who are hurt and afraid seeking to comfort themselves
- all totalitarianism, communism, socialism is fear driven people seeking to comfort themselves
- all abusing spouses abuse because they are afraid, insecure and seek to make themselves feel stronger in control by using power over those weaker
- all verbal attacks—the mean cutting and hurtful comments—come from those afraid who are seeking to protect themselves by taking down someone perceived as a threat
- all eating disorders are people who are filled with fear and insecurity and who are seeking to comfort themselves with food (bingers) or control (restrictors)
- all cheating, lying, stealing, embezzling, toxic waste dumping is done by people afraid, insecure and seeking more wealth, more stuff to comfort themselves and feel safe
- all violence against others is done by those afraid, insecure and seeking to comfort themselves, make themselves safe in some way

Understand the times in which we live. The four winds are being loosed and the enemy goes around like a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour. A lion's roar doesn't injure, it incites fear. The enemy is filling the world with fear message after fear message, and the world is being driven into his arms as they seek to comfort themselves by applying his methods of rules, coercion, control, violence, intimidation, restriction of liberties.

At this time in human history God calls for a people to give the final message of mercy to the world—the message of the truth about His character of love. It is love that casts out fear, it is truth that destroys lies and frees minds and brings true comfort. But love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom.

We must reject the imposed law systems of the world, we must reject the penal/legal theologies and come back to the truth that our God is the Creator of heaven and earth whose character is love and whose laws are the design protocols for life. Our Creator God has come to earth to free us from fear, free us from selfishness and comfort us by healing us with the truth and with a new nature.

SUNDAY

Read Isaiah 40:1-2:

> "Comfort, comfort my people,"
> says your God.
> 40:2 "Speak kindly to Jerusalem, and tell her > that her time of warfare is over, > that her punishment is completed.
> For the LORD has made her pay double for all her sins." (Is 40:1–2NET).
> Comfort, yes, comfort My people!"
> Says your God.
> 2 "Speak comfort to Jerusalem, and cry out to her,
> That her warfare is ended,
> That her iniquity is pardoned;
> For she has received from the LORD's hand
> Double for all her sins." (Is 40:1–2NKJV).

Do you read both of these the same? Do they mean the same thing to you?

The lesson takes the view of punishment and that God is punishing Israel. The lesson asks, "There time of punishment has finally ended. What punishment was that?" They answer, "There are many answers to this question, There was the punishment administered by Assyria, the rod of God's anger…"

What do you think?

What questions do you have? This is another example of how one's biases before reading the Scripture—including the Hebrew—impacts one's understanding and how one translates. If we believe God's law functions like human law and justice requires inflicted punishment, then we are more likely to translate as the NET and read it as the lesson authors. But if we understand God's law as design law then we translate it differently, the NKJV is closer.

The next verse of chapter 40 reads:

> A voice of one calling:
> "In the desert prepare the way for the LORD;

make straight in the wilderness
a highway for our God. (Is 40:3 NIV84)

What is this referring to? John the Baptist preparing the way for Jesus—hmmm….if this is referring to the first advent of Jesus, would the verses before it, verses 1 and 2 also refer to that time?

Why do we take the first two verses to speak of literal Jerusalem and the wars going on around them, but the next verse about John the Baptist and the rest of the chapter about Jesus our Savior?

What is the ultimate comfort, when God speaks about comforting His people is the comfort He has in mind merely deliverance from foreign occupation or is God's plan to delivery from sin, of which deliverance from foreign occupation is an object lesson?

Is the message of the Old Testament primarily about God delivering Israel the nations around them, from human enemies? Or is the message of the Old Testament a record of real historical events that not only record history but reveal a larger reality and plan? What do the historical records reveal besides the lives of the people and nations recorded?

- The truth about God's character—God reveals Himself in history as an actor and His methods are revealed
- The truth about sin and what it does to people and God's creation
- The truth about Satan, who the destroyer actually is
- God's plan to save and heal

Thus the Old Testament is primarily the record of God working to fulfill His promise to bring our Messiah as a descendant of the woman to save humanity from sin and Satan battling to stop that plan.

With that in mind, what do we understand Isaiah 40:1,2 to be about?

That we will have comfort because our warfare against principalities and powers of darkness is going to end, our iniquity—the terminal condition with which we are born and which causes so much suffering and pain is going to be cured, a remedy is being provided.

Consider this description from the book Prophets and Kings beginning on page 722—it is the last chapter in the book:

> In the darkest days of her long conflict with evil, the church of God has been given revelations of the eternal purpose of Jehovah. His people have been permitted to look beyond the trials of the present to the triumphs of the future, when, the warfare having been accomplished, the redeemed will enter into possession of the promised land. These visions of future glory, scenes pictured by the hand of God, should be dear to His church today, when the controversy of the ages is rapidly closing and the promised blessings are soon to be realized in all their fullness. PK 722.1 [Do you recognize the signs in which we live? Do you see the final events rapidly fulfilling? Are you keeping in mind the vision of the future restoration that God has given us to encourage us?]

Many were the messages of comfort given the church by the prophets of old. "Comfort ye, comfort ye My people" (Isaiah 40:1), was Isaiah's commission from God; and with the commission were given wonderful visions that have been the believers' hope and joy through all the centuries that have followed…PK 722.2 [What is the ultimate comfort God gives us? It is freedom from sin in a world made new!]

Clad in the armor of Christ's righteousness, the church is to enter upon her final conflict… she is to go forth into all the world, conquering and to conquer. PK 725.2 [What is our armor? How do we conquer? Over what are we to conquer? Are we to conquer evil through human governments? Do we gain the victory with more laws, more sanctions, more inflicted punishments?]

The darkest hour of the church's struggle with the powers of evil is that which immediately precedes the day of her final deliverance. But none who trust in God need fear; for "when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall," God will be to His church "a refuge from the storm." Isaiah 25:4. PK 725.3 [When is the darkest hour? It is upon us, we are entering into the final events. But do we need to fear? Not if we reject the systems of the world, not if we refuse to follow where fear leads and instead trust God and follow where love leads!]

In that day only the righteous are promised deliverance. [Why? Deliverance from what? Notice the text from Isaiah that this author quotes right after her statement that only the righteous are promised deliverance.] "The sinners in Zion are afraid; fearfulness hath surprised the hypocrites. Who among us shall dwell with the devouring fire? who among us shall dwell with everlasting burnings? He that walketh righteously, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil; he shall dwell on high: his place of defense shall be the munitions of rocks: bread shall be given him; his waters shall be sure…" Isaiah 33:14-16. PK 725.4 [What is being described? What is the fire? Why do the righteous live in it? Why do the wicked get consumed by it? What does truth do to a lie? What does infinite love do to selfishness? This is design law—the reality of each person's heart and minds either healed or not healed that makes the difference.]

And as the prophet beholds the Lord of glory descending from heaven with all the holy angels, to gather the remnant church from among the nations of earth, he hears the waiting ones unite in the exultant cry: "Lo, this is our God; We have waited for Him, And He will save us: This is the Lord; We have waited for Him, We will be glad and rejoice in His salvation." Isaiah 25:9... PK 727.3 [Oh, are you looking forward to that day?]

In the visions of the prophet, those who have triumphed over sin and the grave are now seen happy in the presence of their Maker, talking freely with Him as man talked with God in the beginning… PK 729.1

"Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she hath received of the Lord's hand double for all her sins." Isaiah 65:18, 19; 33:24; 35:6, 7; 55:13; 35:8; 40:2. PK 729.5 [Notice how this author applies the text, to what events, to what people? To the saved of all time, it is not about a few people at one point in time, it is about the righteous of God being delivered from sin. And are they receiving double punishment or double comfort for all their sin? Jesus is the Lamb of God who takes away our sin, we not only receive freedom from guilt and shame here on earth, real comfort in our hearts and minds, we receive eternal life—we receive double comfort NOT double punishment!]

As the prophet beholds the redeemed dwelling in the City of God, free from sin and from all marks of the curse, in rapture he exclaims, "Rejoice ye with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: rejoice for joy with her…" PK 729.6

There every power will be developed, every capability increased. The grandest enterprises will be carried forward, the loftiest aspirations will be reached, the highest ambitions realized. And still there will appear new heights to surmount, new wonders to admire, new truths to comprehend, fresh objects of study to call forth the powers of body and mind and soul…PK 731.1 [For all eternity future we advance, develop, grow, expand, walk forward in the truth—what an incredible future God has for those who love Him!]

To us who are standing on the very verge of their fulfillment, [Understand, that is you and me right now today, we are on the verge of their fulfillment!] of what deep moment, what living interest, are these delineations of the things to come—events for which, since our first parents turned their steps from Eden, God's children have watched and waited, longed and prayed! PK 731.3

Fellow pilgrim, we are still amid the shadows and turmoil of earthly activities; but soon our Saviour is to appear to bring deliverance and rest. Let us by faith behold the blessed hereafter as pictured by the hand of God. He who died for the sins of the world is opening wide the gates of Paradise to all who believe on Him. Soon the battle will have been fought, the victory won. Soon we shall see Him in whom our hopes of eternal life are centered. And in His presence the trials and sufferings of this life will seem as nothingness. The former things "shall not be remembered, nor come into mind." "Cast not away therefore your confidence, which hath great recompense of reward. For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise. For yet a little while, and He that shall come will come, and will not tarry." "Israel shall be saved ... with an everlasting salvation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end." Isaiah 65:17; Hebrews 10:35-37; Isaiah 45:17. PK 731.4

Look up, look up, and let your faith continually increase. [Look up, fix your eyes on Christ—don't look down, don't focus on the news, the trials, the world's systems, the world's injustices, the world's methods. Look up!] Let this faith guide you along the narrow path that leads through the gates of the city into the great beyond, the wide, unbounded future of glory that is for the redeemed…. PK 732.1

The nations of the saved will know no other law than the law of heaven. [The saved will not know—be intimate with, have written in their hearts—any law other than God's design law of love, truth, freedom. The saved will not be marked in their hands or foreheads with imposed law, with rule enforcement, with seeking justice through legislation, through infliction of punishment, through power over others. No! in heaven the saved will know only God's law for it will be written upon their hearts and minds!] All will be a happy, united family, clothed with the garments of praise and thanksgiving…PK 732.2

"The Lord shall comfort Zion: He will comfort all her waste places; and He will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the Lord…" Isaiah 66:23; PK 733.2

How does God comfort His people? With truth and love and restoration to righteousness—to His perfect design for life, writing His law in our hearts and minds!

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "An unnamed herald…" what is this about? What is God's glory? His character, and where in human history is God's character revealed most clearly? In Jesus—that is why the Bible says that the second temple, which was physically smaller than Solomon's, was more glorious than the Solomon's because Jesus walked there in human form.

Does this give any insight to us today living at the time of the 3 Angel's message—where we are called to give glory to God? How are we to do this? Why is it important?

What is referred to by Isaiah 40:3-4?

A voice of one calling:
"In the desert prepare
the way for the LORD;
make straight in the wilderness
a highway for our God.
4 Every valley shall be raised up, every mountain and hill made low;
the rough ground shall become level,
the rugged places a plain. (Isaiah 4:3-4 NIV84)

What is this about? Is it about physical roads or is it a metaphor for the highway of ideas that lead into the heart and mind?

> "A voice calling in a dark and desolate land: 'Prepare your minds, untwist your hearts, and make ready for the Lord to come with his healing Remedy.'" Mt 3:3 The Remedy

And who is the one who makes the way for the Lord? For the first advent it was John the Baptist, whom Jesus said was the Elijah to come.

And we are told by Malachi that:

> See, I will send you the prophet Elijah before that great and dreadful day of the LORD comes. He will turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers… (Mal 4:5-6 NIV84)

Who is this Elijah? This is referencing the final message to go to the world to prepare the hearts and minds of people on Earth to meet Jesus. This is the message of the 3 Angels—when given through design law lenses. This is the message of God's character of love, which frees our hearts from fear and selfishness and restores God's law in our hearts and minds. Because it is only God's design law of love restored in the hearts that brings true reconciliation, that brings people back together in love and trust, that truly comforts. The message of imposed law, of legal religion, of rules and rule enforcement is the message that divides and fractures, it is the message of fear, of control, of force, of snitches and the beastly system of Revelation.

God calls upon His true people who love Him to take forth this end time message to prepare the world for His return!

TUESDAY

Read Isaiah 40:9

> Go up on a high mountain, O herald Zion!
> Shout out loudly, O herald Jerusalem!
> Shout, don't be afraid!
> Say to the towns of Judah,
> "Here is your God!" (NET)

The lesson makes an interesting point that the herald in Hebrew is feminine or female in verse 40:9, but in other places in Isaiah the herald is male.

The lesson goes on to point out that God's heralds are both male and female:

- The heralds in Isaiah

- Simeon and Anna in the Temple at Jesus' birth
- Mary Magdalene was the first to announce Jesus' resurrection followed by the men

What do we understand this to mean? Is there any significance? Do we find that God subordinates women below men or that God treats them equally?

In God's design is a complete human being male or female or is a complete human being the union of male and female?

What is the significance of this? How does love function? Can love function in a singularity? Can a single person alone on an island love—or does love require an other? Is love a living principle of action?

Was humankind built by God to be the showcase, the highpoint, the repository of His living law of love? Thus, the two shall be one—just like the Godhead is not a single individuality but a plurality of oneness of love.

And in God's design was either party, male or female, (husband or wife) to rule over the other? No, Eve was taken from Adam's rib—his side, not his head to rule over, not his foot to be ruled over, from his side, to be his companion, his completion, his second self.

All subordination of women, in any fashion, to diminish them beneath the power, authority, rule of men is part of Satan's kingdom. It is a perversion of God's design.

Any subordination of men, in any fashion, to diminish them beneath the power, authority, rule of women is part of Satan's kingdom. It is a perversion of God's design.

Equality, full, free and complete, the perfect partnership of other-centered love and trust is God's design and what is experienced as God completes His healing plan in our hearts.

So, in God's plan of evangelism, of taking the gospel to the world, men and women are to share equally in the joy, privilege and responsibility of sharing the truth with the world.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson points out that in Isaiah 40 Isaiah develops the themes of God's mercy and God's power—what do you understand this to be?

God is the all-powerful Creator—how can this truth be used to incite fear rather than comfort?

What if we have an all-powerful god whose laws are imposed rules, who uses his power to inflict punishment, who is the source of pain and suffering and death? Would having a god who is like Satan in character in possession of all power bring us comfort?

So, merely having all power is not sufficient to bring us comfort or to win our trust. Trustworthiness is NOT established by power. This is critical and God, who is the God of truth always provides evidence to reveal this. Often God will give a declaration of the truth, but He never stops with declaration because His laws are design laws, the protocols upon which reality works, and thus reality will reveal the truth over time.

So God does declare in Zech 4:6 "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit,' says the LORD Almighty. (NIV84)

But God doesn't merely declare this, He provides historical evidence to reveal that might and power do not restore love and trust—

- The flood—followed by the tower of Babel—might and power followed by rebellion
- The 10 plagues of Egypt—followed by a golden calf orgy—might and power followed by rebellion
- Korah, Dathan, Abiram being swallowed by the earth—followed by more murmuring and rebelling from the people—might and power followed by rebellion
- Fire at mount Carmel—followed by more rebellion and idol worship—might and power followed by rebellion

No, might and power does not restore love and trust—it can only restrain rebellion.

What does restore love and trust—the Spirit of truth and love—truth destroys lies and wins to trust and love casts out fear. But this requires we each think and examine the evidence for ourselves in an atmosphere of freedom; it is the work of the "still small voice" not the work of thunder.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Idolatry destroys a…" Why did God say that we are to have no other gods before Him? Because of the law of worship—by beholding we are changed. We actually become like what we admire and worship and as the highest created beings on planet earth there is nothing we can worship other than God that advances us. Anything other than the infinite God that we worship degrades us.

God wants our highest development and only by worshipping Him, the infinite Creator God of love, can we experience perpetual growth, development, advancement and eternal life.

What about worshipping false ideas about God? Is this a problem today?

Consider this historic quote, do you agree?

> Thousands have a false conception of God and His attributes. They are as verily serving a false god as were the servants of Baal. Are we worshiping the true God as He is revealed in His Word, in Christ, in nature, or are we adoring some philosophical idol enshrined in His place? God is a God of truth. Justice and mercy are the attributes of His throne. He is a God of love, of pity and tender compassion. Thus He is represented in His Son, our Saviour. He is a God of patience and long-suffering. If such is the being whom we adore and to whose character we are seeking to assimilate, we are worshiping the true God. {FLB 59.8}

To Serve and to Save

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read the memory text: "Behold! My Servant whom I uphold, My Elect One in whom My soul delights! I have put My Spirit upon Him; He will bring forth justice to the Gentiles" (Isaiah 42:1 NKJV)

Who is the Servant in this text? Jesus, and Matthew applies it specifically to Jesus:

> Aware of this, Jesus withdrew from that place. Many followed him, and he healed all their sick, warning them not to tell who he was. This was to fulfill what was spoken through the prophet Isaiah:
> "Here is my servant whom I have chosen, > the one I love, in whom I delight;
> I will put my Spirit on him, > and he will proclaim justice to the nations. (Mt 12:15-18 NIV84)

Do we have other New Testament passages that record Jesus as the fulfillment of this prophecy?

> As soon as Jesus was baptized, he went up out of the water. At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and lighting on him. And a voice from heaven said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased." (Mt 3:16-17 NIV84)

What else do you notice about this prophecy?

Who are the various players in this text? Who is the speaker? Who is the Servant and who is the Spirit?

> Behold! My [Father] Servant [Jesus] whom I [Father] uphold, My Elect One [Jesus] in whom My [Father] soul delights! I [Father] have put My Spirit [Holy Spirit] upon Him [Jesus]; He [Jesus] will bring forth justice to the Gentiles"

So here in the Old Testament we find the gospel prophet not only prophesies about Jesus coming, but rightly reveals the entire Godhead, Father, Son and Holy Spirit and that they work cooperatively to achieve this outcome—our salvation.

Remember our class last week when we read the quote out of the book The Desire of Ages in which the author wrote that without the Holy Spirit the sacrifice of Christ would be of no avail because the Holy Spirit is the actualizing agent in us, it is the Holy Spirit that makes effective what Christ achieved.

And for Jesus, as a human being, He achieved the victory through the same power available to us—the power of the Holy Spirit. In other words, Jesus was tempted to use His own personal divine abilities (turn stone to bread) but He never used His own abilities. All He achieved as a human, whether miracles or His victory over all temptation was achieved through the power of the indwelling Holy Spirit.

Jesus not only reveals to us the truth about God, but Jesus reveals to us the secret to our own personal victory over sin. Consider this historic quote:

> Christ lived a human life that He might be man's example in all things. He endured temptation even as every human being must endure. He believed God as we must believe. He learned obedience even as we are required to learn obedience. And He overcame as we must overcome. His path lay through manifold temptations; therefore He knows how to succour those who are tempted. BEcho September 3, 1900, par. 13

Do you agree? Disagree?

What about the last portion of our memory text, “he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles” or “he will bring justice to the nations.” How do you understanding this, what does it mean?

What law lens do you understand justice through?

If we accept Satan’s lie that God’s law functions like human law, imposed rules and that according to Satan “every sin must meet its punishment” (DA 761) then what is justice? –under human law justice is always the infliction of punishment for disobedience—this is Satan’s lie about God from the beginning and it is the lie that is still taught in every government of the world and every religion that holds to Satan’s view about God’s law.

For those who have rejected the kingdoms of this world with their imposed law as being representative of God’s government and have returned to worship God as Creator, we realize that God’s laws are design protocols upon which reality is built to operate. Breaking these laws results in death unless the Creator heals the damage. All the laws of health demonstrate the difference between imposed laws and design laws.

The battle between Christ and Satan is a battle for our minds—Satan’s methods and principles damage our minds, God’s heals our minds.

In the Dark Ages the beast of Revelation that warred against the saints warred by getting people to believe things that didn't make sense and practice principles that were contrary to reality, to God's design for justice.

Things that didn't make sense like:
God is love but if you don't love and obey Him He will burn you in hell

- You can shorten people's suffering in purgatory with money
- You can have your sins erased by going on a crusade and killing people

During this time in history if people questioned the church and its teachings they were:

- accused of heresy called heretic
- ostracized
- had their fortunes, lands taken away
- fined
- imprisoned
- killed

Do we see these same methods being practiced today by the image to the beast of Revelation? after my recent blog where I discussed the downside of using modern day examples as some people get too emotional and I reflected that maybe it is better to use Bible examples, I received so many emails from people telling me that the modern day examples really help them learn to apply God's principles in our lives today and encouraged me to keep doing it. So, I am going to, but let me say, if you don't like the examples I am using, okay, substitute a different example of your own, but don't lose sight of the underlying principles and methods we are exploring, simply because you don't like the example that demonstrates the principles. Stay focused on the principles and methods, that is the key point.

Let's use the example currently impacting the entire world to demonstrate the fallacy of the two laws—COVID-19.

This virus, if it infects you, violates the laws of health by subverting your body's normal processes and inciting viral reproduction that damages the body leading to death if not stopped. This is true for all viral infections. Thus, violating the laws of health results in death unless the individual is put back in harmony with the laws of health by eliminating the virus. This is a metaphor for sin—which is a sickness of character that is terminal without remedy.

Many human governments have passed various made-up human laws in an attempt to stop the spread of the virus. This is like the Dark Ages church which passed many laws to try and stop the spread of sin. Now, let's examine what justice looks like when both laws are broken—design laws (laws of health) and imposed laws (made up rules).

And regardless of the good intentions (and let's give all those in government or the church who pass these made-up laws the best motives of only wanting to save lives and be helpful) but irrespective of good intentions, the made-up human laws are not reality—they are simply made-up rules that require external enforcement and inflicted punishments and they do not guarantee protection.

If in the Dark Ages you comply with the church rules, go to mass, have your infants baptized, go to confession, say Hail Mary's, pray to the saints, go on a pilgrimage—does any of this mean you will be cleansed from sin and have eternal life?

If today you comply with an imposed law to wear a mask, shut down your business, and stand six feet apart, does this mean you will avoid getting infected with the virus and are guaranteed to live? And if you obey these laws but still get infected what happens if you appeal to the governor and say—"Hey, I wore my mask. I shut down my business. I obeyed all the laws. Can you please legally pardon me from this infection so I won't get sick and die?"

This is a great metaphor for what penal/legal theologies of have done. They have replaced the reality of sin being a spiritual condition of heart and mind that is deviant from God's design that results in death unless remedied, with a legal fiction that sin is a judicial problem that requires legal payment and pardon. They teach millions to claim legal pardon from God on the basis if the blood payment of Jesus, yet don't tell people how to experience actually renewal of heart and mind and freedom from the domination of fear and selfishness—sin.

Imagine during the Dark Ages someone lives where they are legally required to go to confession or have their infants baptized—the purpose of course is to ensure righteousness and to save their eternal life. But what if a person doesn't obey this law, yet still has a saving relationship with Jesus Christ? What is wrong with disobeying these laws? What would the church do and why?

Imagine today that your son or daughter lives in a municipality in which a law has been passed for them to close their business to reduce the risk of spreading COVID. What happens if your child opens their business and never gets exposed to COVID? What would be wrong with running their business if no exposure ever happens? But what would the state do? Why would the state need to do this? What kind of punishment is this?

Imagine you are the governor of that state and your child breaks the law and opens their business, and from that act a customer infects your child with COVID. You become aware your child is now infected as a direct result of disobeying the law that you imposed to protect them. If you do what is just, what is right:

- do you have your child executed for disobedience?
- If you do what is just or right do you seek to inflict punishment upon your child?
- Perhaps you think yes, the law must be upheld, regardless of whether it is my child or not, they need to be fined and their business license revoked—so you do that. Has that resolved your child's condition? Is your concern about enforcing the made-up laws or saving your child?
- What if as you enforce the law to fine or punish your child for breaking the law you imposed, his older brother intervened and said, "No, don't punish my brother. I love him, punish me in his place. I will pay his fine." Would that be just for you to allow? And if you allowed the innocent to be punished in place of the guilty, how does that resolve your child's infection?

- What was the purpose of the law you passed, was it to close businesses or was it to prevent infection?
- And since the infection hasn't been prevented, how does imposing a fine on your child help your child? It doesn't.
- This is the fallacy of the penal legal model, the idea that inflicting punishment to uphold the law somehow resolves the sin problem. It doesn't because the sin problem isn't a legal problem any more than being infected with COVID is a legal problem—being infected is a health problem. Likewise, sin is a spiritual health problem and eternal health problem.
- So, if you do what is just or right, in harmony with the law of love and the laws of health what action do you take for your infected child? If you had a remedy that would cure your child, say hydroxychloroquine or ivermectin with Vit D and Zinc, would you give it to your child?

This is the problem with the world today—people are more invested in seeking some form of justice through human laws, through imposed rules, through sanctions and inflicted punishments than actually doing what is right—what is healing and restorative. Just look at all the changes in the made-up laws that are occurring between the Trump and Biden administrations—some people are happy others upset, but the people of God recognize it is all artificial and none of it is the justice of God's kingdom.

Worse, what is happening during COVID is an assault on your mind. Realize there are forces at work to destroy your capacity to discern right from wrong, healthy from unhealthy, as Isaiah wrote:

> Woe to those who call evil good > and good evil, > who put darkness for light > and light for darkness, > who put bitter for sweet > and sweet for bitter. (5:20 NIV84)

Irrational and inconsistent messaging, contradictory and false positions, destructive and irrational ideologies are being promoted, repeated in words and images, and these lies infect minds getting people to believe things that don't make sense and are opposite of truth—just like the church of the Dark Ages did. Examples:

Logitech Superbowl commercial:

> "we stand there in defiance, that's right We're the makers, the groundbreakers, we're the creators, the screamers, the dreamers, we defy expectations, perceptions and misconceptions, we defy what logic says we should look like, sound like, be like, we defy algorithms and entire industries, see we defy that little voice that says Oh no we can't with a roar back that says Oh yes we will, because to create the future we must defy the logic of the past WE MUST DEFY LOGIC." https://www.ign.com/videos/logitech-super-bowl-55-commercial-defy-logic

What is the message? Logic isn't logic, it is anything we want it to be and in fact we can't succeed unless we deny logic, and we can't go into the future successfully unless we reject the logic of the past past and what history has to teach us. Then we can become the makers and creators of logic and reality.

Whose message is this? Who is the father of lies and must deny truth and reality because, all truth, all reality exposes him and his methods as destructive?

But for those who love truth, what is the truth on the question of logic and history?

> Only be careful, and watch yourselves closely so that you do not forget the things your eyes have seen or let them slip from your heart as long as you live. Teach them to your children and to their children after them. (Dt 4:9).

What are we to teach to our children? The history of God's actions in the past! Why? What happens if we forget?

Speaking about the history in the Old Testament Paul writes:

> These things happened to them as examples and were written down as warnings for us, on whom the fulfillment of the ages has come. (1 Co 10:11).

One of the founders of the SDA church wrote:

> We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord has led us, and His teaching in our past history. CET 204.1

Who wants us to forget history? Why? What happens to our minds when we disconnect them from reality, from facts, from history, from logic?

The Bible teaches that the mature are those who have developed by practice the ability to discern right from wrong. (Heb 5:14) This means that they have developed the ability to think for themselves, they understand how reality works.

But Satan and his kingdoms of this world don't want people to think, to discern, they want followers. They want people to believe on claims, proclamations, declarations; they want people who can't differentiate evidence and facts from fiction and fantasy. Then such people will follow whoever happens to tell them what they want to hear, regardless of whether it is true or not.

Our minds are under assault to accept lies as truth and lose the ability to reason, to discern. Examples, some of which have been going on for decades:

- Godless evolution, which generations are now taught in school and which all public universities adhere to and all government research centers, all research funding, and all peer review journals support. Yet this view must deny overwhelming evidence that refutes their godless worldview. And what happens to the mind? It is not simply that they believe a lie about life's origins, it is that their minds are conditioned to deny evidence, deny facts and accept the view of the "authorities" the professors, the experts. But the experts have lost their ability to actually see reality, they are the blind leading the blind. This is exactly the same method of the Dark Ages church—deny evidence, reality, teach ideas that contradict the evidence, then ostracize, fine, and punish all who question the orthodox narrative.

- "There is no truth, your truth is your truth, my truth is my truth"—this idea is corrosive and teaches people that all views are equally valid—there is no objective reality. So, who do we follow in such a world—whoever has power and authority. It moves us away from maturing back to immature levels of functioning.
- "There is no male or female, gender is what one decides." Consider the damage to the mind this lie creates. This lie isn't actually about male and female it is about getting people to deny every-day reality, to deny objective facts. It is our modern-day example of the Emperor's Clothes. And this leads to things like the new President's ruling that male-to-female transgender individuals can compete in female sports. Objective reality doesn't matter and if you try to point out reality you are accused of being a bigot, intolerant, and threatened with being canceled, de-platformed, being mobbed—a modern day heretic and treated just like the Church of the Dark Ages treated heretics. But what is the truth about this?
    - Biological males get testosterone production at puberty that cause marked physical enhancement of their bodies—they grow taller, their muscles grow bigger, their bones become denser, and they get larger hearts and lungs with greater oxygen carrying capacity than women. Additionally, testosterone provides muscle memory, so that muscles remember to regrow more quickly after a period of atrophy, as they have more nuclei that don't go away when testosterone lowers. These physical benefits to athletic performance persist, even if a biological male person later identifies as a transgendered woman and artificially lowers their testosterone production.
    - But truth doesn't matter, facts don't matter—we must deny reality in order to be accepted—our minds are under assault. "Look, the Emperor's clothes are beautiful!"

Let's take another example from the Superbowl, in fact from the entire football season both college and pro; and that is the question about wearing masks. Now, let's all just assume mask wearing reduces viral transmission—it is a question still being debated, but let's for the sake of our discussion, assume that in fact mask wearing does work to reduce transmission of COVID.

What is the messaging about wearing masks?

- If you don't wear a mask you are at high risk of dying. You must wear a mask in order to be safe!
- If we assume that the masks are effective and will reduce your risk of contracting COVID-19, and you don't wear one is that the same thing as putting yourself at high risk of dying? No—if our assumptions about lowering transmission are correct, not wearing a mask merely puts one at greater risk of contracting COVID—but in order to be at high risk of dying the virus that you might catch has to not just contagious but virulent—and COVID isn't. The risk of dying from COVID is based on other factors than the virus itself. Such as the age of the person, their baseline health status, and their genetics; in other words, is the individual in a compromised or weakened health status. Also, it begs the question of therapeutics—are there interventions that can be brought to bear that can effectively treat the COVID infection and there is a large body of research that says yes there is. So even if one contracts COVID that doesn't necessarily put them at high risk of dying. Different people have different risks.

- And then what of people like my wife, who had COVID already, recovered, and have been tested, have antibodies, and donated convalescent plasma—does they need to wear a mask? But why is there no provision for the millions like her?

And this contradiction in the messaging was revealed in the Superbowl and all season long and our minds are presented with something that doesn't fit:

- We see players, week after week, team after team, up in each other's faces breathing on each other, sweating on each other and they are not wearing masks—And they are not dying!
- But then the broadcasters show us images of the coaches along the sidelines, standing many feet away from others and they are all wearing masks or the very same players who just came off the field after breathing all over each other in the trenches sit down by themselves many feet from others and put on a mask. Hmmm…why?
- Because we must be sent the right visual optics, the right visual images that reinforce the idea that if you don't wear a mask you are at high risk of dying—that you can't function safely in society if you don't have a mask on. If you don't have a mask on you should be afraid, you could die.
- We are being conditioned to deny history, to deny reality right before our very eyes, to accept authoritarian rule even if it doesn't make sense, to take it on faith that someone in charge knows better, they know what is right, don't ask questions, just believe and do it.
- Understand, these football players are not putting their lives on the line to play in these games—all season long, both professional and college.
- Some of you may remember a player named Ryan Clark who played for the Pittsburg Steelers. He has sickle cell trait, and a few years ago when the Steelers were in the playoffs and had to play the Denver Broncos in Denver, he did not go to Denver and play in that game. Why? Because his life was really in danger. If these players lives were in real danger from not wearing a mask, they wouldn't be playing and we all know it.

Understand what is happening and this isn't about COVID. What is happening is our minds are being purposely manipulated to be less capable of thinking, more fearful, more willing to trust others to tell us the answer, more willing to accept authoritarian rules and this leads to intolerance

- Consider this, you are wearing your mask and you go into a store somewhere a patron comes in not wearing a mask. What is your response?
- Are you tempted to be irritated?
- Do you fear you are at risk?
- Do you want to report them and make them comply? But why?
- If your mask is protecting you how is it you become afraid if that person isn't wearing one?
- After all, if the mask really keeps you safe aren't you just as safe wearing yours whether they wear one or not?
- If you are wearing your seatbelt and see the person in the car next to you not wearing their seatbelt do you become afraid for your health?
- If your mask is protecting you why are you distraught that someone else isn't wearing one?

Jesus describing events leading up to His coming said:

> Mark 13:12 "Brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child. Children will rebel against their parents and have them put to death. 13 All men will hate you because of me, but he who stands firm to the end will be saved." [Are we starting to see families divide? Are we conditioning people to become so fearful, so survival driven, so devoid of love that they will turn on their own church family, their own biological family and report them to the state? The first trickles are starting and it will only get worse. The mask mandates are part of this mental conditioning.]

Now I am speaking about misinformation and using that misinformation to impose mask MANDATES. I am not in any way criticizing VOLUNTARY mask wearing. In fact, I want to go on record supporting every person who wants to wear a mask voluntarily. Why? Because it is about you thinking, reasoning, and concluding for yourself what is best in your situation, which strengthens your reasoning ability—it is not ultimately about the mask it is about your mind! But those who want to break down your individuality, your ability to think and to act as an agent of God, do not want you to decide to whether to wear a mask or not. What they want is for you to comply, to surrender the choice to the higher authority—that is the point. Your agreement is not required, your compliance is. That is the goal, condition you to accept lies as truth and irrational application of imposed laws by the ruling authority. Then when more irrational laws come down, you will be less capable of resisting them.

How much better if we present truth and evidence to people, and then leave them free to make their own decisions?

We received this email from an online listener this week,

> Dr. Jennings reveals truth over and over again…here is a most recent example of what I'm referring to:
>
> In this [week's] live class, Feb. 6th, he mentioned the enemy will come with some type of "justice" cause suited for a person's mindset; then he listed a whole list:
> Economic > Racial
> Well, I was amazed as I witnessed this very point being played out with some of my friends.
> The topic was the "reality czar" Tim brought up. After class I verified it, gained an understanding of what it was and shared it with some of my Christian friends. Some of them actually thought it was a good idea!!!!! Their thinking was, because of all the "misinformation," lies- someone should monitor what is put out there and it would be "just" to protect people from "misinformation"!!!!!!!!!

I was dumbfounded, but it was an example in real-time of what Tim was talking about.

When I asked them about freedom of speech, they were willing to give up their freedom if it kept "misinformation" from being put "out there"!!! (For the good of the people!!!!!!)

Then I asked them whose reality they thought the "reality czars" would be promoting? Do you think they will dig into evidence for the truth or make declarations based on their own biases? Well, to that they stopped to ponder.

Who should decide reality for you or me? Certain people in the media have constantly held up scientists—are you willing to listen to the scientists, should we listen to the scientists, or should we examine the evidence for ourselves—whether it be on global warming or COVID or anything else?

How many remember the science articles on the safety of tobacco, or the articles that said there was no association between tobacco and cancer back in the 1960's and 70's? What did we learn from that? That science can be corrupted by money and politics to misinform us. Do we think this stopped with tobacco?

I cited two articles a few weeks ago that were published in The Lancet and the NEJM that were both fraudulent and later retracted. But there are many more articles that are published that are not good science, that are funded by interest groups to give certain results and they do.

So, as we consider the question of justice—I hope you will realize there is no justice in human systems, human imposed laws, there is only punishment biasedly applied with various interests-groups perpetually vying for power in order to advance their view of justice. This is Satan's kingdom—and it is only going to get worse until Jesus comes.

Consider this historic quote from one of the founders of the SDA church, do you agree or disagree and why?

> "Because of Satan's accusing power, it was not the plan of God to deal with him as he deserved. The tempter would throw all the blame of his course upon others who were below him. He would make it appear that if he could have moved according to his own judgment all this demonstration of rebellion would have been avoided."
> "The condemning power of Satan would lead him to institute a theory of justice inconsistent with mercy. He claims to be officiating as the voice and power of God, claims that his decisions are justice, are pure and without fault. Thus he takes his position on the judgment seat and declares that his counsels are infallible. Here his merciless justice comes in, a counterfeit of justice, abhorrent to God."
> – Christ Triumphant (CTr) p. 11 and - Letter 16a, 1892

Remember a few weeks ago we went through the six powers of Satan and one of those powers is the power of accusation, another is the power of imposed law and coercive enforcement. Look at what is happening in society today—accusations without evidence and then punishment inflicted by the state.

God's methods are quite different. God's justice is always healing, restorative, and in harmony with the laws He built reality to operate upon. Thus God justly left Satan free to tell his lies and incite his rebellion, because that his how love and liberty work, while God went about revealing truth to destroy lies and win to trust. It is Satan and Satan's methods that don't leave free, that silence dissenting voices, that de-platform, that censor.

Consider this quote in light of God's versus Satan's methods:

> Satan's representations against the government of God, and his defense of those who sided with him, were a constant accusation against God. His murmurings and complaints were groundless; and yet God allowed him to work out his theory. [Satan is a liar and accuser. His accusations are groundless because there is no truth on his side. Yet God gives real freedom. God did not censor Satan. God did not take down his Twitter account, or block him from social media. God left Satan free. Why? If you think it is right to censor, to de-platform, to silence opposition voices—for the good of the people to save lives—whose methods are you preferring?] God could have destroyed Satan and all his sympathizers as easily as one can pick up a pebble and cast it to the earth. But by so doing he would have given a precedent for the exercise of force. [What is a precedent? An action that serves as justification for future actions. God would NOT do this. Why? What happens to love when force is used? Do you think it is right and just to use force to make people comply, to punish sin? Whose kingdom do you prefer?] All the compelling power is found only under Satan's government. [How much? All, why? What type of law is Satan's kingdom built upon? Made up rules, which can only be enforced by compelling power, infliction of punishment. God's kingdom is built upon design law, the protocols life operates upon—break them and you injure yourself.] The Lord's principles are not of this order. He would not work on this line. [God will not work by rule enforcement, only Satan does. How many Christians are eager to join the ranks of the enemy and support the state in enforcing rules upon others. But we can never win friends this way, we can never convert, we can never eliminate fear and selfishness and restore love in this manner.] He would not give the slightest encouragement for any human being to set himself up as God over another human being, feeling at liberty to cause him physical or mental suffering. This principle is wholly of Satan's creation. [Yet how many today in society believe it is right and just to have other humans be authority over us, and to punish us if we don't go along with the approved narrative?] RH September 7, 1897, par. 7
> The principles of the character of God were the foundation of the education constantly kept before the heavenly angels. These principles were goodness, mercy, and love. [How do these principles operate?] Self-evidencing light was to be recognized and freely accepted by all who occupied positions of trust and power. [What does self-evidencing light mean? How reality works, it is obvious because its what actually transpires. Like football players not dying when they don't wear their masks exposes the lie that we can only be safe when we wear one.]

They must accept God's principles, and, through the presentation of truth and righteousness, convince all who were in his service. [What method is this? Truth presented in love leaving others free. This is what we practice. We never seek to coerce, to force, to compel. We might not be persuaded by an opponents argument, but we will leave them free to have it.] This was the only power to be used. [What is the only power the people of God are to use? Truth, love, freedom!] Force must never come in. [What must never come in? But what if we need to save lives? Shouldn't we use force then? Isn't it right to force people then? When God didn't use compelling power on Satan was He not concerned with saving lives? Understand reality—force can save individual lives in the short run, but can never end violence, conflict, and save lives in the long run. The use of force only perpetuates sin and ongoing conflict and continuation of the loss of life.] All who thought that their position gave them power to command their fellow beings, and control conscience, must be deprived of their position; for this is not God's plan... [Wow—too bad both church and state leaders don't know this. Understand, the role of earthly governments is not to promote righteousness, it is merely to restrain chaos and anarchy. Our Constitution is written not to grant us rights—our rights are inalienable and give to us by God. The Constitution is written to restrain the government from encroaching upon the principles of God for healthy living—in other words our God-given right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. But many now are using government to seek to command their fellow beings and control conscience—if you don't support and defend the popular views then you need to be silenced, be punished, be sent to reeducation camps, have your business shut down, be accused of inciting an insurrection, or being racist, or sexist and what do accusations do? They intimidate people into silence, using powers to coerce and pressure people to comply to false worldviews. Consider in academia how professors will be blackballed, lose positions, lose grants, lose research opportunities, not be published if they don't support the godless theory of evolution.] RH September 7, 1897, par. 8

In the councils of heaven it was decided that principles must be acted upon that would not at once destroy Satan's power; for it was God's purpose to place things upon an eternal basis of security. [What does this mean? How can things be put on an eternal basis of security? What happens in hearts when people are threatened with punishment to comply? Are they convinced? So what would be needed to successfully destroy Satan and his power and put things on eternal basis of security? Evidence revealed over time while leaving people free. Which method do you see human governments employing? Which method do you prefer and which will you practice?] Time must be given for Satan to develop the principles which were the foundation of his government. [What are they? Lies, imposed laws, inflicted punishments, coercive enforcement, accusation, human economics, division and destructions and death] The heavenly universe must see worked out the principles which Satan declared were superior to God's principles. God's order must be contrasted with Satan's order. The corrupting principles of Satan's rule must be revealed. The principles of righteousness expressed in God's law must be demonstrated as unchangeable, perfect, eternal… [Where is this contrast between God's government and principles and Satan's government and principles made and most clearly seen? First and foremost, in the life of Jesus. Jesus revealed the truth of God's character, methods and principles and Satan exposed himself as a murderer by shedding the blood of Jesus. But Jesus has sent us to be lights in the dark world. The second place this contrast is made is in the lives of those who are taken out of the world, who have the laws of Satan and the kingdoms of the earth cut out of their hearts and have God's laws written in. It is we who are to give glory to God at this time in history by loving God and others, and by practicing His methods and refusing to be deceived into pursuing justice through imposed laws, human governments and inflicted punishments.] RH September 7, 1897, par. 10

The Lord allowed Satan to go on, and demonstrate his principles. God did reveal that his principles were right, and he carried the worlds unfallen and the heavenly universe with him; but it was at a terrible cost. His only begotten Son was given up as Satan's victim. The Lord Jesus Christ revealed a character entirely opposite to that of Satan. [Satan's method is rules over. He sought to climb up and reign over by authority and power. Jesus, who being by nature God, did not think equality was to be grasped but surrendered…] As the high priest laid aside his gorgeous, pontifical robes, and officiated in the white linen dress of a common priest, so Christ emptied himself, and took the form of a servant, and offered the sacrifice, himself the priest, himself the victim. RH September 7, 1897, par. 12

By causing the death of the Sovereign of heaven, Satan defeated his own purpose…He was allowed to go on until his administration was laid open before the worlds unfallen and before the heavenly universe. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he uprooted himself from the affections of the unfallen beings. He was seen by all to be a liar, a thief, and a murderer. RH September 7, 1897, par. 13 [Who killed Jesus? Who is the murderer and is guilty of shedding Jesus' blood? Satan! Yet his lies have been so effective that the majority of Christians still teach that God killed Jesus at the cross to enforce justice and pay our sin debt. This is Satan's lie about law carried out in perverse theology. And we wonder why so many Christians are willing to accept the events that are happening in the world today.]

God sees that the same course of action is being pursued the world over. Men and women come to the place where the road diverges; it is either right or wrong...[And only the mature, those who have developed by practice the ability to discern the right from wrong know which road to take!] RH September 7, 1897, par. 14

Today Satan is working upon human minds by his crooked principles. These will be adopted and acted upon by some who claim to be loyal and true to God's government. How shall we know that they are disloyal and untrue?—"By their fruits ye shall know them." God does not force any one. He leaves all free to choose. [The principles of Satan are lies, imposed law, inflicted punishment, coercion. Even if you believe a lie about some topic, say COVID, you can still avoid joining Satan's team by refusing to embrace, support, or promote his methods of legal mandates, imposed punishments, judicial enforcements. In other words, God's people present the truth in love, live that truth in their lives, and leave others free. In the COVID climate, that would mean the people of God present the truth about COVID as they understanding it, practice the principles of health that they understand work best, but leave others free to believe differently and practice differently. Just like we do with eating meat or not, smoking or not, using marijuana or not etc.] But he says, "By their fruits ye shall know them." The Lord will not write as wise those who cannot distinguish between a tree that bears thorn-berries and a tree that bears olives. RH September 7, 1897, par. 15

Individually, we are deciding our eternal destiny, deciding whether we shall enjoy the highest honor that can be given to man, even an eternal weight of glory, or be ranked with Satan by possessing his character, by dishonoring God because we profess to be Christians while misrepresenting Christ. Those who choose to reveal the character of the arch-deceiver identify themselves with him beyond the possibility of a change, because they choose not to see themselves as wrong. This was the course that Satan pursued. RH September 7, 1897, par. 16

The lesson focuses on the two servants—one Jesus the ultimate suffering servant, and the other the people of God, or as the lesson suggests the nation of Israel as a servant of God.

The lesson asks in the middle of the page, "What is the role of the servant nation?"

What was Israel chosen for?

- Were Abraham's children chosen for exclusive salvation?
- Is salvation determined by genetics?

What were they chosen for?

For a mission—what mission? Consider this quote from the book, Christ's Object Lessons:

So God had chosen a people from the world to be trained and educated by Christ. The prophet says, "The vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah His pleasant plant." Isa. 5:7. Upon this people God had bestowed great privileges, blessing them richly from His abundant goodness. He looked for them to honor Him by yielding fruit. They were to reveal the principles of His kingdom. In the midst of a fallen, wicked world they were to represent the character of God. {COL 285.1}

What was their purpose? To reveal the principles of God's kingdom and represent the character of God—for what purpose? To prepare the world for the first advent and be the branch of the human family tree through which Messiah would come.

So, the purpose of Abraham's family was to know God, be faithful to Him and reveal Him and His character and design laws in word and deed to evangelize the world and prepare the world for Jesus.

MONDAY

The lesson asks "What is the role and character of God's unnamed Servant, whom God chooses and upon whom He puts His Spirit?"

Well this is talking about Jesus—and what is Jesus' role and character?

The lesson gives 5 options and wants us to choose them all:

1. He provides justice for the nations
2. He accomplishes His goals quietly and gently, but successfully
3. He is a teacher
4. He serves as a covenant between God and the people
5. He gives light or hope by healing blindness and liberating prisoners

What do these mean to you? Do any stand out? How would you explain them? Does the law lens we use make a difference in our understanding of each?

TUESDAY

The lesson points out that Isaiah prophesied that Cyrus would be the ruler who set the Jews free to return to Jerusalem 150 years before he lived. This is a profound prophecy demonstrating God knows the future before it actually happens.

> who says of Cyrus, 'He is my shepherd > and will accomplish all that I please;
> he will say of Jerusalem, "Let it be rebuilt," > and of the temple, "Let its foundations be laid." ' (Isaiah 44:28 NIV84)

Does the fact God knows Cyrus by name and calls Cyrus "my shepherd" mean that Cyrus was alive someone in the universe before Cyrus was born? Is this speaking about Cyrus being alive or about God's foreknowledge and calling?

This is the same type of foreknowledge and meaning of

> Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, > before you were born I set you apart;
> I appointed you as a prophet to the nations." (Jeremiah 1:5)

God foreknew Jeremiah—this text says nothing about when Jeremiah became a living being. Notice, the text says God knew Jeremiah before Jeremiah was formed in the womb.

Why are prophecies like these important? Turn to WEDNESDAY

Because they give us hope in the times of trial and difficult. Because of prophecies like these we know God is in charge and is working out His plan of salvation and we will be delivered.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "God calls and names Him…" Who is Israel that is called back to God? Who are those that are considered descendants of Abraham?

Who did Jesus say was the father of the genetic Jews who opposed Him, while on earth?

> You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father's desire. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies. (John 8:44 NIV84)

How can this be? Is Jesus revealing a truth here?

Why was Abraham's name changed from Abram? Because he would be the father of one nation—no many nations. Who are considered part of Israel?

> If you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise. (Galatians 3:29 NIV84)

2021 1Q Isaiah: Lesson 10
Doing the Unthinkable

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

This week we examine Isaiah 53, let's read starting in verse 3 from the NIV84:

"He was despised and rejected by men,…"

Why was he despised and rejected by men?

- Was does this mean?
- Was He rejected because there was something defective or wrong about Him?
- Or He was rejected because there was something wrong with those who rejected Him?
- Is there a lesson in this for us when people reject us?
- How many people live in fear of being rejected or thought ill of? But what do other people's attitudes reveal?
- When other people are bigoted, judgmental, racist, what does it reveal?
- Do we learn the lesson?
- Sin in the heart causes fear, selfishness and then hatred of all things righteous. Those in darkness don't want to come into the light lest their evil deeds be exposed. So, when we are being mistreated or rejected, it is appropriate (since we are sinners) to reflect briefly and examine the truth of ourselves and ask, if we brought this on ourselves. But we must not let other people's actions be the measuring stick of our peace with ourselves. Other people's actions are a revelation of their character, not ours—from the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.

  Remember Satan is the accuser and one of his powers is the power of accusation. Many people live in fear of what others think and that fear causes greater concern for self and they are easily manipulated to take actions that will prevent others from rejecting them, rather than living with their hearts singly focused on bringing glory to God. Jesus was despised and rejected—because of the sin in the hearts of people, not because of some defect in Jesus.

"…a man of sorrows, and familiar with suffering…"

Why was Jesus sorrowful? What caused His sorrow and suffering? Certainly, Jesus felt the aches of sore muscles, the hunger pains after a long day, the fatigue of a tired body, and during crucifixion weekend the bodily suffering of the torture inflicted upon Him. But was His sorrow and suffering primarily about Himself?

Consider this quote from The Desire of Ages:

> "In the temptation in the wilderness, Satan had been defeated, and his rage was great. Now he determined to bring sorrow upon Christ by striking John. The One whom he could not entice to sin he would cause to suffer." DA 224.1

How did Jesus suffer? What caused it? It was His love for us and seeing our pain from sin that caused His suffering. Parents, what causes you to suffer the most, isn't it when you see your children being damaged by sin, whether their own or as victims of others?

What this the only source of His heartache and sorrow and suffering? From The Desire of Ages:

> "The withdrawal of the divine countenance from the Saviour in this hour of supreme anguish pierced His heart with a sorrow that can never be fully understood by man. So great was this agony that His physical pain was hardly felt." DA 753.1

"…Like one from whom men hide their faces he was despised, and we esteemed him not…."

Why was Jesus despised? Why didn't we esteem or value Him?

"[4] Surely he took up our infirmities and carried our sorrows,…"

What does this mean? What law lens do you see this through?

He who knew no sin became sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God—what does this mean?

How did Jesus take up our infirmities? Was this a legal taking up or an actual state of being? When Jesus became incarnate what humanity did He take up—a sinless humanity like Adam in Eden or a humanity infected with fear and selfishness like ours? Is our carnal nature an infirmity? Does it weigh us down with sorrow? Did Jesus partake of humanity like Adam had or like we have?

But does that mean Jesus' had a humanity exactly like ours? No, this is another trap debate of Satan. His classic strategy is to set up two lies or false views and then get people to choose one and fight the people who have chosen the other when both are still wrong. In this case the old argument of prelapsarian versus postlapsarian—did Jesus have a humanity like Adam's before sin (prelapsarian) or like ours (postlapsarian), and the answer is neither.

Jesus was unique. Consider how Jesus became human. Adam was taken from dirt and created a living being directly by God—is that how Jesus' humanity came to be? Eve was taken from the side of a sinless Adam, is that how Jesus' humanity came to be? Every other human in history, including you and me, are born from a sinful mother AND a sinful father—is that how Jesus' humanity came to be? No, Jesus was born of a woman under law (Gal 4:4), the law of sin and death, thus through Mary Jesus partook of our sinful or fallen nature, which connected Him to us and made His humanity part of this creation and enabled Him to be tempted in every way just like we are. But Jesus' Father was the Holy Spirit who came upon Mary and caused the pregnancy, thus Jesus is unique—a blend of our humanity and His divinity. Thus, He carried or took upon Himself our terminal condition and carried all the sorrow and pain it causes in order to cure it and save us

"…yet we considered him stricken by God, smitten by him, and afflicted…"

Isaiah prophesied that we would misunderstand the mission, we would fail to see it was for our healing, and instead would teach that His suffering would be inflicted upon Him by God, that God would actually strike His own sinless Son and afflict Him.

And this is exactly what Christianity has taught through the lie of penal substitution theology. It is taught that we are in legal trouble with God, that God placed all the bad deeds on Jesus and then God used His power to punish Jesus ultimately executing Him at the Cross. This is all fraudulent and a lie based on believing the lie that God's law functions like human law. Once we reject that lie and embrace the truth of God's law as design law we realize that we are terminal in sin and Jesus came to cure the condition and was God's agency to accomplish the goal of the Triune Godhead, eradicating sin and saving humanity

Notice how Matthew applies this text in Matt 8:16-17:

> "And when evening had come, they brought to Him many who were demon-possessed; and He cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all who were ill in order that what was spoken through Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled, saying, "He Himself took our infirmities, and carried away our diseases." (NAS)

Bearing our griefs and carrying our sorrows does not mean that Christ "paid the penalty" for our sins, but instead means that he took away from us our griefs and sorrows (ie took away our sicknesses). The healing of the physical illnesses during His life on earth was a metaphor or acting out of the plan of salvation to heal us from sin completely.

"[5] But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities;
the punishment that brought us peace was upon him, and by his wounds we are healed…"

How do you explain this?

- What crushed Him physically?

- What crushed His heart?
- Is there any evidence that His Father used power to in any way injure, harm, punish Jesus?
- Was the suffering coming out from the Father?

What did the Father do?

- He let Him go, abandoned Him, why?
- Was it that once this commodity called sin was placed on Jesus the Father was so offended, sickened, disgusted with Jesus that He couldn't stay by any more so He ran away?
- No! God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself (2Cor 5:19).

Why did God let go Jesus at the cross? It was the only way for Them (God the Father, Son and Holy Spirit) to complete the mission Jesus came to Earth to complete—eradicate sin from humanity and save the species. Remember why Jesus stayed away from Lazarus for three days? Because had He gone sooner Lazarus wouldn't have died that first death. Jesus could not die on the cross and complete His mission if the Father, the source of life, didn't severe His connection with His Son and let Him go. Thus, the Father letting go was not the Father being angry, upset, disgusted, or punishing, it was the Godhead in full and complete mutual cooperation achieving the purpose of why Jesus came! It is how reality works!

How did Peter use this passage? 1 Pet 2:24:

> 24 and He Himself bore our sins in His body on the cross, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness; for by His wounds you were healed. (NAS)

Notice Peter explicitly says that Jesus' sacrifice was to heal us, transform our hearts, remove sin from us, that we die to fear and selfishness and live to righteousness through the victory or wounds of Christ! There is nothing penal legal going on.

"6 We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to his own way;
and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all…"

What does this mean?

- First we are all selfish, so without the work of the Holy Spirit in our hearts and minds we all go our own way, watch out for self—
- and God has taken this terminal me-first fear ridden selfish condition and placed it upon Christ through the humanity Christ assumed when He was born of Mary.
- This is how He is tempted in every way just like we are—yet without sin.
- We are not only tempted externally, but also internally, and in Gethsemane we see that Jesus was tempted by His own humanity to act to save self. But He chose to deny that temptation and love others perfectly, thus He died to selfishness upon the Cross and restored God's law in the humanity He assumed.

- This is why He arose on the third day and could accurately predict His resurrection even though He could not see through the portals of the tomb. His prediction was not based on a prophetic vision of the future where He saw through time to the other side of the tomb, but was the prediction of One who knows how He built life to operate, understands the design law of love and knew that when selfishness was removed, and love, God's law perfectly restored into the humanity He assumed, death would be destroyed and life and immortality brought to light. (2Tim 1:10)

"[10] Yet it was the LORD's will to crush him and cause him to suffer, and though the LORD makes his life a guilt offering,
he will see his offspring and prolong his days, and the will of the LORD will prosper in his hand…"

What does this mean? What law lens do you read it through? If you believe the lie that God's law works like human law, made up rules that require imposed punishment, then this text is used to teach the lie that God used divine power to crush Jesus and cause Him to suffer. Thus many theologians teach the lie that God killed Jesus on the cross to pay our legal sin debt.

But if we embrace the truth of God's design law we understand that it was the weight of sin, the sense of guilt, separation from His Father, the fear and selfishness, the pull of the nature He assumed that crushed Him and caused Him to suffer. That God did make him a sin offering in that God so loved the world He gave His only begotten Son so that any who trust Him will be saved. He offered Him up freely—for what purpose? To be our Remedy, to cure the sin condition we could never cure.

"[11] After the suffering of his soul,
He will see the result of the suffering of his soul and be satisfied (Margin)…"

What does this mean? Some who hold to the lie about God's law being like human law teach the satisfaction theory of atonement and teach that God was angry, wrathful and needed a sinless blood payment to assuage His wrath or satisfy His sense of justice and Jesus' blood satisfies God in this way. But this is all false.

What is the truth? If you had a child dying of cancer, what is the only thing that truly satisfies? A remedy that cures, that puts the cancer into remission. Thus, God sees the result of the suffering of Christ, which is the saving of humanity and though it was terrible, agonizing, infinitely painful, He is satisfied with the result because He has saved the children that He loves.

"… by his knowledge (or the knowledge of him) my righteous servant will justify many,
and he will bear their iniquities…"

What does this mean? What does justify mean? Those who embrace the lie that God's law functions like human law teach that justification is a legal process of applying Jesus' blood as a legal payment to the account of the sinner and God legally declaring them to be righteous even though they are not righteous.

Such a concept is completely contrary to the Bible. The Bible teaches "God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God." (2 Co 5:21 NIV84).

God justifying or setting right is God actually fixing the hearts and minds of people, putting us right with Him again. Our natural hearts distrust God and are at enmity with God. Abraham trusted God, meaning his distrusting heart was set right, put right, or justified with God and once Abraham's heart was changed from distrust to trust, THEN God accounted or recognized Abraham as justified.

God justified or set the human species right with Himself in the person of Jesus Christ through the victory of Jesus as the cross. Each individual is justified when they respond to what God has done through Christ and have their hearts changed from distrust to trust. I like this quote from The Desire of Ages:

The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. DA 762.2]

SUNDAY

In the last paragraph we read "..for some unthinkable reason He doesn't save Himself! This is so strange that people didn't believe it. At Jesus' cross, leaders mocked Him: 'He saved others; let him save himself if he is the Messiah of God, his chosen one!'"

Was the reason unthinkable? From the human perspective it is completely unthinkable, from the wisdom of the world it is right to save self—but from God's perspective, from Heaven's system, love seeks not her own. "For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me will find it." (Mt 16:25 NIV84).

So after all we just examined, why was the death of Christ on the cross necessary for our salvation?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Isaiah 51:13…." Is God's quest unthinkable?

If you had a child that you had instructed not to ever get in the medicine cabinet and you came in and found your child had just eaten an entire bottle of medicine—if you intervened to save your child would that be unthinkable?

Why do they suggest God's plan to save us is unthinkable? Isn't it quite understandable if the core motive is love?

What makes the plan of salvation so hard to understand? Isn't it because it has been perverted with the human law model that results in all kinds of contradictions? Can you think of any contradictions that have been taught in Christianity?

- God is love and only wants your love but if you don't love Him He will torture and kill you
- God is just and only does what is right, and therefore God punished the innocent Jesus so the guilty sinners can be pardoned
- You can trust God but if you don't trust Him He will torment you in hell for all eternity
- Jesus and the Father are One—if you've seen Jesus you've seen the Father—but Jesus must intercede with the Father pleading His blood to the Father to prevent the Father from killing you
- God wants to have a close relationship with us, but if God were to get too close to us He would kill us for our sin, so we must have an intercessor to protect us or shield us from God's wrath.
- God knows all things but if I accept Jesus and am covered with His righteousness, then God doesn't know how sinful I am, when He looks at me He is unaware of my sinfulness and only sees the sinlessness of Jesus

I could go on all day. The penal legal model of atonement is all a lie, it is a fraud, it is built upon Satan's lie about God's law that God's law functions like human law and it damages the minds of those who believe it.

It is only coming back to worship God as Creator, which requires we understand His laws are design laws that life is built upon those laws we free ourselves from all the contradictions and everything harmonizes and makes sense and God is always beautiful and exactly as Jesus revealed Him to be.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, "Compare this with…" Why did Job suffer? Why did Jesus suffer?

George Fifield and 19th century theologian wrote:

> He [Jesus] took our sorrows, our griefs, all the conflicts of our lives upon him, and was tempted in all points as we are. He took the injustices of our lives upon him too. It is a fact that you and I have to suffer for many things for which we are not at fault. All my suffering is not the result of my sin. Some of it is; but just as long as sin exists, injustice exists. As long as men sin, men will be sinned against. Just so you and I will have to suffer for the sins of others; and so God, to show that he knew and realized all that, let him that was perfectly innocent, take the injustice and sin of us all. O brethren and sisters, he did not bear some other grief or some other sorrow, but he bore our griefs and our sorrows. He was pierced through by them, and the Lord permitted it, because there was healing in it for us; not that he might appease God, or reconcile him unto us. G.E. Fifield, God is Love, Chicago, Theodore Reese, 1897

Why did Job suffer? Because there is sin in the world and there is evil in the world and evil people do evil things. Why did Jesus suffer—to provide remedy, reveal the truth to destroy lies and win us to trust, and to provide a new nature, a sinless character that we can receive as a free gift. To heal our sinfulness and write His living law of love into our hearts.

When you have been through something terrible, and you meet someone who has suffered in the same exact way—soldiers who have been in combat together, parents who have had children die, people who have lost houses to fire or flood—when we know another person has been through what we have gone through—what does that do for us?

Do you realize Jesus has been tempted and suffered in every way just like us?

WEDNESDAY

The bottom green section reads, “The weight, the guilt, the punishment for the sins of the whole world—every sin, by every sinner—fell upon Christ at the cross, at once, as the only means to save us!”

thoughts? What do you understand this to be saying?

Let’s be very clear—our position is that no human being could be saved without the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. His coming to earth as our Savior is non-negotiable for our salvation.

But, why He had to die, what He accomplished, how we understand it, that is open to a variety of interpretations and many of them within Christianity are distorted and false.

Before we try to unpack this statement and find some light in it, let’s first set some parameters that will help us avoid confusion.

What law lens are we going to understand this through? If we choose the world’s view of law, the rule of law, imposed rules that require infliction of punishment, then we will distort all Christ achieved through Satan's lies and ultimately believe God is like Satan in character, an inflictor of pain, suffering and death in order to be just.

But, when we understand God is our Creator and His laws are design laws, then we understand all of this differently. Let's contrast this statement through the two law lenses:

- Guilt
  - Under imposed law guilt is a legal guilt, a state of legal condemnation that requires legal penalty or punishment or payment.
  - But under design law guilt is the mental and emotional experience that sin causes in the heart and mind of the sinner, the internal sense of condemnation and fear that drives people to deny, blame, rationalize and justify and separate themselves from God and others. Thus, the guilt of sin Jesus experienced, that awful sense of guilt and separation from His Father that sin causes.
- Punishment
  - Under imposed law punishment is inflicted by the ruling authority and thus God becomes the source of inflicted pain, suffering and death.
  - Under design law punishment is the punishment that sin itself brings as it damages us and separates us from God ultimately resulting in death for those who won't let God heal them.
  - Consider this historic quote: "We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death.? 1SM 235.2
- Sins
  - Under imposed law sins are deeds, bad acts, and are recorded in books and every act must be tracked, recorded and punished.
  - Under design law sins, the acts are symptoms of the condition of sinfulness, the condition of fear and selfishness infecting the heart. As Jesus taught in Matthew 5.
  - Under imposed law it is fraudulently taught that all bad deeds of every person were placed on Christ and God inflicted the appropriate amount of punishment on Christ for all the trillions of sins of all the people through history. This of course is silliness and fantasy and makes God out to be completely corrupt as He inflicts punishment upon an innocent.
  - Under design law however, we understand sinfulness to be a terminal condition of being out of harmony with God and how He built life to operate. We understand that none of us could restore God's design for life back in humanity and that Jesus came and took this terminal condition upon Himself in order to cure, to overcome, to eradicate fear and selfishness and restore love within humanity. Now this makes perfect sense and is perfectly rationale.

Read next sentence in green section, "What does this tell us about how bad sin is, that such a price had to be paid in order to redeem us from it?"

How do you understand this language of payment for sin?

What is the ransom price? To whom is the ransom paid?

THURSDAY

What is atonement? What does the word actually mean? How would you explain it?

The lesson suggests some texts at the bottom to compare with the message of Isaiah 53, let's look at Psalms 32:

" Blessed is he whose transgressions are forgiven, whose sins are covered."

What does this mean? What law lens do you read it through?

- Does "forgiven" mean a legal pardon or personal attitude toward the sinner—God's graciousness, that He doesn't hold it against us?
- What does it mean to cover sin?
  - Does it mean to cover over, to hide, to erase from record books?
  - Or does it mean to cover for, to take responsibility, Jesus saying, "I've got you covered. I'll take care of it and fix it for you?"
  - So from the Remedy:

    "Happy are they whose wicked minds are restored to perfect purity, whose selfishness is eradicated."

"2 Blessed is the man whose sin the Lord does not count against him and in whose spirit is no deceit…"

What does this mean? What law model do you read it through? What does it mean to count sin against him, why would the Lord not count someone's sin against them?

From the Remedy:

"Happy is the person whose infected heart the Lord transforms to perfection, in whose mind there is no deceit."

When we are unhealed, still dead in trespass and sin, the Lord must be truthful, must accurately diagnose us and our sin-sick condition. But when we have been reborn, when the law of God is written in our hearts and minds, then the Lord no longer counts our sin against us, i.e. no longer finds any sinfulness in us to heal as we have been healed and the past symptoms (deeds) are irrelevant for those who are healed.

"3 When I kept silent, my bones wasted away through my groaning all day long.
4 For day and night your hand was heavy upon me;
my strength was sapped
as in the heat of summer.
5 Then I acknowledged my sin to you and did not cover up my iniquity.
I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the Lord"— and you forgave
the guilt of my sin…"

What does this mean?

From the Remedy:

> When I held onto my guilt and shame, refusing to talk to God,
> I stressed myself and my body decayed > because every day I screamed, "no!" denying the truth.
> 4But day and night > your healing hand pressed firmly upon me;
> my resistance evaporated > like water in the summer heat.
> 5Then I admitted my sin-sickness to you > and did not hide my character-deformity.
> I said, "I will confess > my selfishness to the Lord" — > and you healed me > and freed me from guilt.

Do you see how design law brings such clarity to the sin problem and God's plan of salvation, why we suffer when we sin and how God heals us?

2021 1Q Isaiah: Lesson 11
Waging Love

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

What did you think about the picture for the lesson this week?

- What comes to mind?
- What kind of war is depicted?
- Did you notice that the spearheads are in the shape of hearts?
- Can we win people to love by threatening to kill them if they don't love us?
- Is the war of love waged by violence, coercion, force or any compulsion to comply?

We are in a war—but what kind of war? How are we to wage it?

> For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ (2 Co 10:3–5 NIV84).

- What are the weapons of the world? If you haven't been reading my blogs I am in the middle of a six part blog series on the powers of Satan and how to defeat them
    - Lies—we don't lie we wield the sword of truth
    - The kingdoms of the world with their imposed law with coercive enforcement—we don't coerce we live in harmony with design law, present the truth in love and leave others free
    - Worldly economics—we don't wage economic warfare, we don't seek to punish people financially, we seek to relieve poverty
    - Accusations—we don't accuse, we present the love of God the sacrifice of Jesus, the reality of what sin does
    - Temptation and division—we don't temp and we don't divide, we are peacemakers who through the power of the gospel unite
    - Death and destruction—don't kill or destroy

Any other texts come to mind on how we wage war?

> "Don't think that I have come to make peace with a selfish world. I have not come to bring peace with selfishness, but a sword to cut selfishness out of the hearts of people. I have come to cut dysfunctional family ties: to free a son from selfish loyalty to his father's ambitions and > feuds, to sever a daughter from the control of an oppressive and manipulative mother, to cut through the fear and hostility a daughter-in-law has toward her mother-in-law. A person's worst enemies are often members of their own family.

> "Those who love parental approval more than they love me are untrustworthy of me and the Remedy I bring; and those who love the approval of their children more than me are untrustworthy of me and the Remedy I bring. Anyone who refuses to die to selfishness and follow me — loving others more than self — cannot be trusted by me to distribute the Remedy I bring. Whoever seeks to save self remains infected with selfishness and will die of their unhealed condition, but whoever surrenders self in love to me will experience healing of heart, and will find eternal life. Matthew 10:34-39 Remedy

Read first paragraph, "A Jewish cantor…" Will this work in every situation? For the heart, mind and character of the one who acts like Jewish cantor's—yes! But will all enemies respond positively? Consider Jesus and how some responded in love while others hated Him and sought to kill Him.

We are only responsible for being the lights of God's kingdom in the world, we are NOT responsible for how things turn out, for converting others, for how people respond.

SUNDAY

Read Isaiah 55:1:

> Ho, everyone who thirsts, come to the waters; and you that have no money, come, buy and eat! (Is 55:1 NRSV).

What is the message of this verse?

Does it remind you of a verse in the New Testament?

> You say, 'I am rich; I have acquired wealth and do not need a thing.' But you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind and naked. Therefore I counsel you to buy from me gold refined by fire so that you may be rich; and white robes to clothe you and to keep the shame of your nakedness from being seen; and salve to anoint your eyes so that you may see. (Rev 3:17,18 NIV84).

Let's examine these two texts. What are the various elements and what do they mean and what is described?

- There is a need—thirst, nakedness, poverty, blindness, wretchedness
- There is failure to understand the situation
- Water
- Gold

- White robes
- Eye salve
- Money—which we don't have
- Instruction to buy and to eat, be rich, dressed, and see

What do the various elements represent? From the book, The Desire of Ages:

> As it was in the days of Christ, so it is now; the Pharisees do not know their spiritual destitution. To them comes the message, "Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked: I counsel thee to buy of Me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear." Rev. 3:17, 18. Faith and love are the gold tried in the fire. But with many the gold has become dim, and the rich treasure has been lost. The righteousness of Christ is to them as a robe unworn, a fountain untouched. To them it is said, "I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent." Rev. 2:4, 5. {DA 280.3}

- Water—the water of life, which is the living connection with God—that we experience through faith and love and the more we drink the water of life this life of love wells up in us to be a fountain to others. The living connection we have with God flows out in a righteous life of truth and love that quenches the soul thirst of others leading them to Jesus the fountain of life.
- Gold—faith/trust and love
- White robes—the righteousness of Christ reproduced in our characters
- Eye salve—discernment we develop as we cooperate with the Holy Spirit and practice God's methods
- Money—which we don't have—and which is not needed to purchase all of this

How do we purchase faith, love, a righteous character, eternal life?

Read second paragraph, However, if you add…" thoughts?

Does this answer the question of how we buy faith, love, a living connection with God and Christlike character? Do you have a clear understanding from this paragraph?

Does God buy our salvation? From whom?

How is it God offers us forgiveness freely if He has to also buy it?

Do we buy salvation from God by offering God the blood of His Son?

How is the blood involved?

What does the blood represent?

What law lens do you use to understand these things?

If we have the human law lens—imposed rules with made up inflicted punishments, then we see things through the systems of this world. And the systems of this world are Satan's kingdom, including human economics of buying and selling. And when we try to explain God's kingdom through the lens of Satan's systems, we pervert the truth.

God seeks to break our minds out of the systems of this world, the corruption of made-up laws that require imposed punishments, the corruption of made-up economy of buying, selling, owning, by describing that we must buy without money.

This doesn't compute to us and that is the point, it is designed to get us to think—how can this work? And the only way it does work is to reject the lies of Satan, the systems of Satan, the falsehoods of imposed law and human economics and return to design law, how reality works. When we do this, we find our answers and all the metaphors fit reality perfectly.

The purchase price or ransom price is that which is necessary to free us from the bondage of sin. And what is it that holds us in the bondage of sin?

Through the lie that God's law functions like human law, it is taught that what holds us in bondage is the legal condemnation and the impending death sentence that a god of "justice" (human law justice) must inflict upon us to uphold his made-up human-like law. Thus, in that view—it is fraudulently taught that Jesus died to either pay God or pay God's law the legal price necessary to get legal pardon.

But if we reject human law and embrace design law then we realize that we are held in bondage by two things:

- the lies we believe about God that keep us from trusting Him, and
- our carnal natures

Then the purchase price is:

- the truth that destroys lies and wins us back to trust and
- a new, sinless, perfected, humanity that Jesus procured and freely offers to us.
    - I see this as a three-fold process
        - First, Jesus as a human in His own mind/brain lived a sinless life, was tempted in all ways like us, destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness, developed a perfect character and established a sinless perfected humanity, thus becoming the second Adam—the second head of humanity, our sinless Savior.
        - Second, we receive from Christ a new heart and right spirit, this is the gift of a new character that is reproduced in us through cooperation with God. We are yoked with Christ through the yoke of love and trust and the Holy Spirit brings the character traits of truth, love, peace, patience, kindness, self-control etc. to us and inspires us with these, but we simultaneously choose them to accept and live them out. Thus we are reborn with new Christlike character that develops within us and it is "no longer I that lives but Christ lives in me." We grow and develop. It is not our work to develop this character, it is our work to receive, accept, and choose to live out what the Spirit inspires and empowers within us through trust.

- Third, at the second coming we become partakers of the divine nature fully—this mortal puts on immortality and we are fully recreated into eternal perfection.

So, God forgives all freely, but forgiveness from God was never an obstacle to salvation; our accepting God's forgiveness was the obstacle. God freely forgives—but God's personal pardon was not sufficient to save us from sin because God's personal pardon doesn't fix the problem of sin in us. In order for us to actually be saved we must have our hearts and minds set right, this means we must be restored to trust in God and receive the victory of Christ applied in us by the Holy Spirit.

Without the truth as revealed by Jesus we would not believe God has freely forgiven. Even with the evidence Jesus has provided billions still don't believe that God is like Jesus revealed; most Christians still teach that God was not free to forgive, that He had to pay a legal price to buy our pardon. But this isn't true—God freely forgives (as Isaiah 55 tells us) and then sent His Son to pay the price of revealing the truth to destroy the lies and also fixing what Adam did to the species human. And to whom is the truth and a new human nature provided, or paid? To you and me and this is why Jesus said, about His blood payment that:

> I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me, and I in him. (Jn 6:53–56 NIV84).

Where is the purchased price applied? In us! This is the truth that the penal/legal lie obstructs.

What do you think of these two texts, buy without money?

Any other text come to mind, particularly related to Isaiah 55, being thirsting and in need of water?

What about the woman at the well—was she thirsty? And did Christ offer her the water of life? But did she have to buy it? Was there a transaction? Yes, there was a transaction—the water of life was freely offered by Jesus yet, she still had to purchase it with something other than money—with what? What was the transaction?

Perhaps we could say it this way, the water of life could not be consumed until the woman did something—what? Stopped lying, she had to be truthful about herself and her need and accept that she could not quench her own thirst.

What is the transaction we are to have with God? With what do we purchase all that God offers?

- We make an exchange—we let go of that which we value most—self
- We exchange our lies for the eternal truth
- We exchange blindness for discernment
- We exchange foolishness for wisdom
- We exchange fear and selfishness for love and trust
- We exchange pride for humility
- We exchange guilt and shame for peace and honor
- We exchange evil for righteousness
- We exchange the poverty of soul for the richness of Christlike character
- We exchange war for peace
- We exchange division and conflict for unity and harmony
- We exchange imposed law for design law
- We exchange human governments that coerce with God's government that leaves free
- We exchange soul-sickness for spiritual-health
- We exchange death for eternal life

Read Isaiah 55:7-13:

> Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. [What difference between being wicked or evil and being sinful? Sinfulness is the condition of being infected with fear and selfishness—this is the sin condition, the me-first survival drive, the carnal nature that tempts us. This is what all humans have because of Adam's fall. But, wickedness or evil is not merely having the sin-condition, it is choosing to embrace sin and practicing the methods of selfishness, of pursuing to advance self at the expense of others, of willfully violating God's design laws for life. Evil is exploiting others! We sinners are to forsake this me-first method of the world and pursue God's methods of truth and love. And one of Satan's biggest deceits is promoting evil—exploiting others—through human governments. In other words, passing imposed laws by governments that exploit and injure others—so people can feel righteous, i.e. law abiders, while doing evil. Think about Corban during Christ's day. About burning people at the stake in the Dark Ages, and today the rising of the beast of Revelation which will advance its pursuit of justice through exploitation others—all done through passing laws. But the immature, those who believe God's law functions like human law are deceived into participating with politics and human governments to pass the laws they believe are right rather than living God's kingdom of love.] Let him turn to the LORD, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon. [Is this what you were taught that God freely pardons? Or were you taught that God cannot freely pardon, that God had to send Jesus to pay the legal price of the death penalty in order to enable God to be able to pardon? Do you see how accepting the lie that God's law functions like human law corrupts the gospel? Notice, right > after God says that He freely pardons, what He says next] "For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways," declares the LORD. [What is the way of this world when a wrong has happened? What is justice of human governments with imposed laws? It is always infliction of punishment. But God's ways are not our ways, notice what God says next] "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts. [How much higher is heaven than earth? It is infinitely higher—God's ways are supreme, higher, better than the ways of earthly governments. When will we accept this truth and stop corrupting the presentation of the kingdom of God with earthly rule of law lies? Notice what God says next to illustrate how heaven is higher than earth] As the rain and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return to it without watering the earth and making it bud and flourish, so that it yields seed for the sower and bread for the eater, [What kind of law is this? This is design law—the laws of nature. This is the law of love, giving, built into reality. It is the law of sowing and reaping, it is the law of watering, it is the law of truth. You don't get grapes from planting mustard seeds. God is the source of all life, truth, love and He sends the sunshine and the rain on the righteous and wicked. His laws do not make a distinction between people—people make a distinction in how they live in relation to God's laws] so is my word that goes out from my mouth: It will not return to me empty, but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it. You will go out in joy and be led forth in peace; the mountains and hills will burst into song before you, and all the trees of the field will clap their hands. Instead of the thornbush will grow the pine tree, and instead of briers the myrtle will grow. This will be for the LORD's renown, for an everlasting sign, which will not be destroyed." (NIV84)

What is being described? God's methods being applied in hearts and minds result in healing and transformation, so that we stop producing fruits of sinfulness, the painful thorns of violating of God's design for life, but instead having had His law written on our hearts and minds we are new creatures in Christ who bring forth the fruits of the Spirit and receive eternal life.

Read the last two paragraphs,

> The theme of redemption is one that angels desire to look into; it will be the science and the song of the redeemed throughout the ceaseless ages of eternity. Is it not worthy of careful thought and study now? …
> The subject is inexhaustible. The study of the incarnation of Christ, His atoning sacrifice, and mediatorial work will employ the mind of the diligent student as long as time shall last; and looking to heaven with its unnumbered years, he will exclaim, "Great is the mystery of godliness." My Life Today 360

What does the phrase "the science and the song" mean?

What is science—something that is testable, evidence-based and reproducible. Thus, the plan of salvation is based in reality, on design laws, something that is testable and results in the same outcome every time it is applied. Salvation is scientific and will employ our intellectual study for all eternity.

And it is scientific because it is the outworking of design law being applied in living beings. The imposed law lie obscures reality and makes salvation mystical, magical, superstitious, nonsense (you must have ritual baptism done in a certain way, or a certain place, or by a person who has been ordained by the right organization or you can't be saved; you must have your body circumcised or you can't be saved; you must attend church services on the right day of the week; you must eat or not eat the right foods or wash your hands in the right way; you must believe God loves you but will torture and kill you if you don't love Him to uphold His law) and thinking people see the contradictions and reject God because of the false theories taught in world religions. We have a better message, a message that calls for people to worship the Creator and integrates Scripture with science and experience—testable, reproducible, scientific!

What is a "song"? Something that moves us, that is emotional, stirs the heart strings, that expresses passion and love. And while what God has done through Christ to save us is based on solid design laws and the construction protocols He built into the universe, so it is scientific…yet it is the most profound demonstration of love that moves the soul, stirs the heart and uplifts the spirit with the deepest appreciation and most moving song. So we will sing praise with never ending verse and developing melody through all eternity future.

Thus, our science and our song represents our entire being—our intellectual brain and our emotional brain—total and complete!

What does "atoning sacrifice" mean to you? Through what law lens to you hear this through? If human imposed law what does it mean? If design law what does it mean?

What does "mediatorial work" mean to you? Through what law lens to you hear this through?

- If human imposed law what does it mean?
    - Someone pleading or interceding with the ruling authority to show mercy and not punish. Thus Christianity has falsely represented Jesus as our Mediator standing in heaven pleading His blood to the Father to obtain mercy from a punishing and wrathful God
- If design law what does it mean?
    - Someone who intercedes between two parties to bring reconciliation, and works to fix the areas where the brokenness in the relationship has occurred. In our situation with God, where does the work need to be done, with God or in us? So Jesus mediates the truth of God to us and the love of God to us and works in us a change of character restoring us back into unity with God. This is His mediatorial work.
    - But did the unfallen angels have confusion that threatened their unity with God that needed to be removed? And who was the agent to do this for the angels?
    - One of the founders of the SDA church saw it this way, what do you think?

      "While we rejoice that there are worlds which have never fallen, these worlds render praise, and honor, and glory to Jesus Christ for the plan of redemption to save the fallen sons of Adam, as well as to confirm themselves in their position and character of purity. The arm that raised the human family from the ruin which Satan had brought upon the race through his temptations, is the arm which has preserved the > inhabitants of other worlds from sin. Every world throughout immensity engages the care and support of the Father and the Son; and this care is constantly exercised for fallen humanity. Christ is mediating in behalf of man, and the order of unseen worlds also is preserved by his mediatorial work. Are not these themes of sufficient magnitude and importance to engage our thoughts, and call forth our gratitude and adoration to God?" {RH, January 11, 1881 par. 4}

Read the bottom green section, "Look at the bad things…" What do you think of this description? Are the bad things we have done the problem or are they symptoms of the problem?

If David never committed adultery with Bathsheba or murdered Uriah would that mean he was sinless? What was David's problem that needing resolving—a legal accounting of historic deeds of bad acts, murder and adultery, or a change in heart that caused him to commit these acts?

TUESDAY

Read Isaiah 58:1-8:

"Shout it aloud, do not hold back.
Raise your voice like a trumpet.
Declare to my people their rebellion and to the house of Jacob their sins. [The lesson points out that this passage is playing on the themes of the Day of Atonement. Ten days before the Day of Atonement the trumpet would blow, calling people to prepare for the Day of Atonement. What is this voice calling people to do? What is the reality that the Day of Atonement was to teach? Cleansing an earthly building? Cleansing a heavenly building? Legal accounting and record erasure? Cleansing the Spirit Temple, hearts and minds of sinners from sin to prepare them to meet God?]
2 For day after day they seek me out;
they seem eager to know my ways, as if they were a nation that does what is right and has not forsaken the commands of its God.
They ask me for just decisions and seem eager for God to come near them. [What is described? What is meant by "as if"? God is making the point that what they profess to be doing is not what they are actually doing. What do they appear to be doing? Seeking God, but what are they really doing? Advancing themselves—so how is this possible? They have exchanged design law for imposed laws, rules, regulations, rituals and are religious through legal means not through God's plan to heal hearts.]
3 'Why have we fasted,' they say,
'and you have not seen it?
Why have we humbled ourselves, and you have not noticed?'
"Yet on the day of your fasting, you do as you please and exploit all your workers. [Notice the point, God exposes that they do religious ritual to get "credit" to get "gold star" from God, to get some advancement for self. But God says, that their so-called obedience or following of God's instruction is false because, He says "you do as you please" in other words they are selfish. But they are more than selfish, they are evil for the core of evil is exploiting others. And they do evil while professing to be seeking God, representing God and promoting God's kingdom. This is what happened when Jesus came, the Jewish leaders rejected and killed Him while claiming to be serving God. This is what the Dark Ages church did, and this is what Christianity does when it seeks to advance God's kingdom by using Satan's methods of law and human governments, OR when it teaches God's law functions like human law and salvation is getting a legal payment made to a god who will kill you without it. Notice what God describes next that they do while they keep their religious fasts and holy days]

4 Your fasting ends in quarreling and strife, and in striking each other with wicked fists. [How much of Christianity is just like this? Divided and arguing, quarreling, striking each other with accusations and allegations—I don't mean merely disagreeing on concepts, I mean labeling people and attacking them personally? And Christianity, when we practice Satan's imposed law model, fractures and divides into more than 40,000 different sects arguing among ourselves. Worse, we seek to advance justice through human governments rather than via God's methods of healing hearts and minds.]
You cannot fast as you do today and expect your voice to be heard on high.
5 Is this the kind of fast I have chosen, only a day for a man to humble himself?
Is it only for bowing one's head like a reed and for lying on sackcloth and ashes?
Is that what you call a fast, a day acceptable to the LORD? [What is God calling out? Their ritual fasts, religious bowing, covering of head, wearing sackcloth and ashes—as if some merit or good comes from rituals acted out without heart change. So the Lord makes it plain to them that what He wants is a change of heart to love each other]

6 "Is not this the kind of fasting I have chosen: to loose the chains of injustice and untie the cords of the yoke, to set the oppressed free and break every yoke?
7 Is it not to share your food with the hungry and to provide the poor wanderer with shelter—when you see the naked, to clothe him, and not to turn away from your own flesh and blood?
8 Then your light will break forth like the dawn, [What kind of light? Break forth where? Remember darkness covers the people and gross darkness the people—so the light of truth and love lived out shines into the hearts of people's darkened minds] and your healing will quickly appear; [What kind of healing? Is it merely physical as we tend to the sick, or is this spiritual healing as we practice the methods of God in our lives?]

then your righteousness will go before you, and the glory of the LORD will be your rear guard. (Is 58:1–8NIV84). [What is it we are to do as part of the Three Angel's Messages of Revelation 14? Give glory to God—which means what? Reveal His character in our lives by living out His design law of love. And why are we to do this? Because the hour of His judgment has come—which is a reference to what? The Day of Atonement—which Isaiah 58 is referring to. And what is the Day of Atonement primarily about? It is about reconciliation, it is about removing sin from hearts and minds, or cleansing the Spirit Temple of the righteous from sin so we are ready to meet God face to face.]

WEDNESDAY

Read Isaiah 58:12

Your people will rebuild the ancient ruins and will raise up the age-old foundations;
you will be called Repairer of Broken Walls,
Restorer of Streets with Dwellings. (NIV84)

What is this referring to? What is it we are to repair?

Consider this quote from a book called Prophets and Kings:

> The spiritual restoration of which the work carried forward in Nehemiah's day was a symbol, is outlined in the words of Isaiah: "They shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities." "They that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in." Isaiah 61:4; 58:12. {PK 677.2}
> The prophet here describes a people who, in a time of general departure from truth and righteousness, are seeking to restore the principles that are the foundation of the kingdom of God. They are repairers of a breach that has been made in God's law--the wall that He has placed around His chosen ones for their protection, and obedience to whose precepts of justice, truth, and purity is to be their perpetual safeguard. {PK 677.3} [What are principles? Design laws—we are to restore the design laws—why do they need to be restored? Where do they need to be restored? What has caused the breach? Where is the breach?]
> In words of unmistakable meaning the prophet points out the specific work of this remnant people who build the wall. "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on My holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable; and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:13, 14. {PK 678.1} [If we identify the Sabbath as an arbitrary test of obedience and teach people that if they refuse to accept it they will be breaking God's law and God will be required to punish them—are we repairing the breach or doing just the opposite, make the breach bigger?]

In the time of the end every divine institution is to be restored. The breach made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed by man, is to be repaired. [Notice, the breach is not the change of the Sabbath, the breach was made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed—what was the breach? The concept of law changing from design law to imposed, which resulted in the change of the Sabbath. No committee votes to change the law of gravity, so the change of the Sabbath is evidence of the breach, but not the breach itself. The breach we must repair is how we understand God's law and government, which is design law, not imposed law.] God's remnant people, standing before the world as reformers, are to show that the law of God is the foundation of all enduring reform [why? Because it is the law of life, the principles upon which life is established and operates. One cannot have health in violations of the laws of health] and that the Sabbath of the fourth commandment is to stand as a memorial of creation, a constant reminder of the power of God. [What do you hear when you hear this? Do you think might and power? If so, why does Zechariah say not by might nor by power but by the Spirit says the Lord? What power did God display on the 7th day of creation week? Is the Sabbath a memorial to physical power of to another power—the power of truth and love and freedom, the power of God's character, the power of the gospel, of design law. What did Paul say, "I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: first for the Jew, then for the Gentile." Romans 1:16 NIV84. What kind of power is the gospel? What kind of war has Satan waged? A war of ideas, words, not a war of power. Then what kind of power is necessary to defeat Satan? The power of truth and love. Do we see the Sabbath as a memorial of truth, love and freedom? Or to we misrepresent it by promoting the idea of imperialism and force?] In clear, distinct lines they are to present the necessity of obedience to all the precepts of the Decalogue. Constrained by the love of Christ, they are to co-operate with Him in building up the waste places. They are to be repairers of the breach, restorers of paths to dwell in. See verse 12. {PK 678.2}

What was the breach made in the law when the Sabbath was changed? It was not the mere change of the day of worship—the breach was the idea that God's law is imposed law—this is the breach we are to repair.

Isaiah not only prophecies that God's people will be repairers of the breach but also raise up the foundations of many generations. What does this mean, the foundations of many generations?

What are the foundations of God's government that Satan has torn down in the minds and hearts of people that we are to raise up?

What is the foundation of any government? It is the law upon which it is built. So, would the foundation of God's government be God's law? And what type of law would that be, design law or imposed law? And how has Satan torn down the foundation and how do we raise it up?

Consider these historic quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church:

> The law of love is the foundation of God's government, and the service of love the only service acceptable to heaven. ST December 15, 1914, par. 1

> Love must be the principle of action. Love is the underlying principle of God's government in heaven and earth, and it must be the foundation of the Christian's character. This alone can make and keep him steadfast. This alone can enable him to withstand trial and temptation. COL 49.1

> The law of love being the foundation of the government of God, the happiness of all created beings depended upon their perfect accord with its great principles of righteousness. [why? Because happiness is a by-product of healthiness in all domains, and healthiness is only possible in harmony with the laws of health—the laws upon which life is constructed to operate. So again, this statement reveals that God's law is design law, not imposed rules like humans make.] God desires from all His creatures the service of love—homage that springs from an intelligent appreciation of His character. He takes no pleasure in a forced allegiance, and to all He grants freedom of will, that they may render Him voluntary service. [What kind of law forces and compels? Imposed law!] GC 493.2

What is the foundation that we are to raise up? It is the same as the repairing of the breach, which is restoring the truth about God's design laws, which are all expressions of God's character of love.

Do you see the issue in the war has always been over God's character and Satan has always attacked God's character by attacking how we conceive of law, either design law or imposed law.

So the object lesson truth is that we are to repair the breach, to raise up the foundations, which means we are to restore the truth that God's laws are design laws and are always expressions of love.

We will not repair the breach by getting every person in the world to go to church on Saturday while teaching that God's law is imposed and God in order to be just must inflict punishment upon sinners.

THURSDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Isaiah 58:13,14 which is about the Sabbath, and turning away from doing one's own pleasure and calling the Sabbath a delight.

Is the Sabbath important at this time in earth's history? Why? What difference does it make?

I am going to read a quotation, used by some to make themselves feel good about their behavior, and too often used to accuse or condemn people who worship on Sunday. But let's consider this quote carefully:

- The sign, or seal, of God is revealed in the observance of the seventh-day Sabbath, the Lord's memorial of creation. . . . The mark of the beast is the opposite of this--the observance of the first day of the week.--8T 117 (1904). {LDE 224.3}

What do you understand this statement to mean? What law lens to you read it through?

- Is the issue in our salvation, in our preparation to meet Jesus, in our being ready to translate into heaven without seeing death as simple as which day of the week a person worships upon?
- If a person absolutely insists on worshipping on the Bible Sabbath does that guarantee they won't get the mark of the beast?
- Those who crucified Christ 2000 years ago wanted Him off the Cross by sunset why? So they could keep the Sabbath – does that mean they had the seal of God?
- Does Satan care if a group of people worships on Sabbath as long as they worship him?

Here is another quote from the same person as the previous quote, consider it in light of what we have presented:

> Be sure the Sabbath is a test question and how you treat this question places you either on God's side or Satan's side. The mark of the beast is to be presented in some shape to every institution and every individual.--Ms 6 1889, p. 6. (Written Nov. 4, 1889.) {3MR 189.2}

If God's law is not imposed rules but design protocols, then how is the Sabbath a test question? How is the mark of the beast to be presented in some shape to every institution…Is it merely which day of the week one attends worship, or is it the methods employed and practiced by the worshipper and is it possible that these two days symbolize two different methods of governing?

What is a mark or sign?

A symbol that stands for or signifies something else:

- The sign of the cross stands for what?
- The goat's head symbolizes what?
- What is a flag? Is the US flag a sign or symbol of the USA? Is the flag the same as the United States of America?
- Could someone wear the US Flag and be working for another government?
- If someone wears a cross are they saved because it is the sign of our crucified Savior?
- If someone has a goat ornament hanging on their Xmas tree, does that mean they are condemned because a goat's head symbolizes Satan?
- If someone worships on Sabbath are they saved because it is a sign of God?
- If someone worships on Sunday does that mean they are lost?

Question, are these two days themselves the reality, or are they symbols, signs, marks of some deeper reality, just as a cross, goat's head or flag?

Is it possible the days mentioned are signs because they symbolize something that demarcates God's government from Satan's? Could they stand as signals, signets, of the mode of governing each side uses? Could these days, in their origin as days of worship, contain the very elements of the two types of governing – God's vs Satan's?

Here are some more quotes:

> "Christ died to save sinners, not in their sins, but from their sins. [Imposed law constructs all teach that we are saved in our sins, from the legal penalty, but not saved from our sins, that we continue live sinfully until Christ returns. The truth is that God actually transforms us here and now and we stop living for self, and we live in love for God and others] The warning given in Revelation shows us the terrible consequence of transgression. By lips that will not lie, God's law is declared to be holy, just, and good. Our duty to obey this law is to be the burden of the last message of mercy to the world.[1] God's law is not a new thing. It is not holiness created, but holiness made known. [Think about rules a parent has for handwashing, or exercise, or sleep etc. Those rules are not healthiness created, but healthiness made known.] It is a code of principles expressing mercy, goodness, and love. It presents to fallen humanity the character of God, and states plainly the whole duty of man. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 4}
> "'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength.' This command contains the principles of the first four precepts. And 'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Upon these two great principles, the Word of God declares, hang all the law and the prophets. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 5}
> "These principles are made known by the third angel's message, which declares that the Creator has always required and always will require obedience to his royal law. [Why does the Creator require obedience? Why does the Creator require we breathe? Because that is how life is built to operate. Remember the law is not holiness created but holiness made known. The commandments did not impose a law, but made the law known] But this law has been disregarded and transgressed, and is now being ignored by the churches. Human enactments are placed where God's law should be. [Imposed rules take the place of designed reality] Sunday, a child of the Papacy, has taken the place of God's holy Sabbath. As Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image, and set it up to be worshiped by all, so Sunday is > placed before the people to be regarded as sacred. This day bears not a vestige of sanctity, yet it is held up to be honored by all. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 6}

[1] It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy, and truth… The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is a revelation of His character of love. The children of God are to manifest His glory. In their own life and character they are to reveal what the grace of God has done for them. {COL 415}

Understand it is not about worshipping on Sunday—get that clear, just like there is no wrong in worshipping on Wednesday night, or Tuesday or Thursday. It is what the Sunday, within the religious system represents!

And what is the implication of changing the Bible Sabbath to Sunday? What does this act mean in regard to how God and his government are understood? How can a church vote to change the day of worship? What must first happen concerning God's law?

So what does it mean if an ecclesiastical board votes to change the Sabbath? That they believe God's law is imposed, and therefore believe God is like a Roman emperor a cosmic dictator. And accepting this change in the law is the root to the beast system.

And this lie comes out in the rest of Christian doctrines, like God is required to punish; penal substitution theology; eternal burning hell; Jesus died to pay or legal debt; etc. etc.

So let's review – what makes the Sabbath holy?

- What significance is it that the Sabbath was "made" or created?
  - It is not "legislated" any more than any other aspect of God's creation. The earth was made, the animals were made, angels were made, mankind was made, and the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath.
- What significance is it that the Sabbath was "made"?
  - When was the Sabbath made?
  - What was happening in the universe?
- What did God do? He RESTED – what does that mean?
  - If He RESTED what was God not doing? He was no longer prosecuting His war, His case. He wasn't pressing his agenda. He wasn't intimidating. He wasn't using his power to force his way!
- It is God's Sabbath – the day He rested, the day He revealed by action how He handles opposition, how He treats enemies, how He deals with allegations and rebellion. He gives us freedom!
- What does it reveal that God created the Sabbath in the context of an assault on his right to rule?
- The Sabbath was "made" as further evidence of God's character of love; truth presented in love leaving us free. The first six days of creation week we learn God has power, but the Sabbath reveals God does not coerce or pressure or threaten with His power, but leaves us free. The Sabbath is evidence of God's character of love, established upon the principles of truth, love and freedom.
- The Sabbath is evidence that Satan's allegations about God, that God imposes rules, that God imposes punishments, that God abuses power are all lies. This is why Satan hates the Sabbath, because rightly seen and understood it reveals Satan as a liar.

- Satan hates the Sabbath in the same way Richard Nixon hated the Watergate tapes or Clinton hated Monica's dress. Nixon would have loved to destroy the tapes, and in fact tried. Clinton would have loved to destroy the dress. And Satan tries to destroy the Sabbath, to distort and twist the evidence into something it isn't. How? By replacing it or twisting it into an imposed law test.

Therefore, the Sabbath stands symbolic, as a sign, of those who value God's law of love, and practice his methods of presenting the truth in love and leaving others free.

Then what is the mark of the beast?

> The time has come for the true light to shine amid moral darkness. The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the word of God. {RH, July 13, 1897 par. 5}

What decisions did the beast make and what ideas did it advocate that are in direct opposition to the word of God?

That God's law is imposed, and as an imposed law it can be changed, amended, abrogated, altered, thus, under the imposed law construct Sabbath can be changed to Sunday. And, imposed laws require judicial proceedings, investigation, records, judgments, imposed punishments. Therefore, coercive pressure is used to punish law breakers and ensure obedience.

Thus the issue in the end, of which the two days stand as signs, is the issue of God's law of love, versus Satan's imposed law construct; God's rule of love versus Satan's rule of fear and selfishness; God's natural law versus worldly imposed laws. It comes down to the methods one practices and the two days are symbolic of two systems.

Here is another quote from the same founder who wrote the others we have read:

> In striking contrast to the wrong and oppression so universally practised were the mission and work of Christ. Earthly kingdoms are established and upheld by physical force, but this was not to be the foundation of the Messiah's kingdom. In the establishment of his government no carnal weapons were to be used, no coercion practised; no attempt would be made to force the consciences of men. These are the principles used by the prince of darkness for the government of his kingdom. His agents are actively at work, seeking in their human independence to enact laws which are in direct contrast to Christ's mercy and loving-kindness. {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 2}
> Prophecy has plainly stated the nature of Christ's kingdom. He planned a government which would use no force; his subjects would know no oppression. [no arrests, no detainments, no imposed punishments, no force] The symbols of earthly governments are wild > beasts, but in the kingdom of Christ, men are called upon to behold, not a ferocious beast, but the Lamb of God. Not as a fierce tyrant did he come, but as the Son of man; not to conquer the nations by his iron power, but "to preach good tidings unto the meek;" "to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;" "to comfort all that mourn." He came as the divine Restorer, bringing to oppressed and downtrodden humanity the rich and abundant grace of Heaven, that by the power of his righteousness, man, fallen and degraded though he was, might be a partaker of divinity. [which is healing and restorative, an expression of the law of love, the law life is built to operate upon] {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 3}

Those who promote a god who acts like a Roman emperor, who imposes law, who inflicts punishment, are actively promoting the system of the beast—even if they worship on the Bible Sabbath!

Here is the problem regarding days of worship, of which Sunday is a sign:

> But when the decree shall go forth enforcing the counterfeit sabbath, and the loud cry of the third angel shall warn men against the worship of the beast and his image, the line will be clearly drawn between the false and the true. Then those who still continue in transgression will receive the mark of the beast.--Ev 234, 235 (1899). {LDE 225.4}

Notice it is not about Sunday, but the "enforcing" worship, about the use of arbitrary power to coerce, this is beastly. This is Satan's way.

And we are to repair the breach in the law by returning people to worship the Creator whose laws are design laws, of which Sabbath is a sign. And those who do this practice the methods of truth, love and liberty and will not use the governments of the world to seek justice.

2021 1Q Isaiah: Lesson 12
Desire of Nations

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

During our recent leadership workshop my mind was triggered by Linda Ojala's comments on gratitude and I wrote a little something for fun that we posted on Facebook this week, for those who don't follow on Facebook I thought I would share it here:

> If you use your aptitude promoting platitudes, then with certitude you will have a magnitude of disquietude and turpitude.
> So, develop an attitude of gratitude by embracing the multitude of the Lord's beatitudes and you will have solitude and fortitude. –Tim Jennings

Read memory verse:

> The Gentiles shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising. (Is 60:3 NKJV). Nations come to your light, kings to your bright light. (NET)

- Who are the Gentiles or Nations?
- Who are the ones that have the light and to which the nations are to come?
    - Is this speaking primarily of genetics or something else?
    - Israel was called of God for a purpose to enlighten the world about the truth of God and prepare the world for the Messiah. They were the avenue for the Messiah—God worked to keep them from being destroyed so Messiah could come through them. But did they fulfill their other purpose of being a light to the world as a nation, as a people?
    - The Old Testament is not only the record of real people who did real things—in other words a record of history—the historic events were selected to be recorded by God because they also are object lessons to a larger reality.
    - So, who are the ones with the light that are to attract nations today?
- What is the light that is to attract the nations?
- What would be the rising light or dawn of those who have this light?

Jump to TUESDAY's lesson and read the second paragraph, "In Hebrew…" What do you think—is Isaiah 60 speaking of Zion or Jerusalem in the nation of Israel today as the ultimate fulfillment or is it speaking of something else of which Zion or Jerusalem is a symbol—perhaps the New Jerusalem? And who will live in the New Jerusalem? Won't it be the righteous, the saved?

So, when you think of the feminine and then a city which is to be a light to the world to draw the people to God—what comes to mind? Are we not speaking about the church, the bride of Christ?

Read second to last paragraph, "God had a universal purpose…"

What was the blessing to the world that was to come through Abraham and his descendants? It was Jesus—the Messiah!

Back to SABBATH's lesson, the first paragraph is a quote from Faith and Works p. 36 and a sentence in the quote reads:

> "Nothing but His righteousness can entitle us to one of the blessings of the covenant of grace."

What does this mean to you?

- What is the idea of entitle mean?
- Is this legal, based on some imposed law, like the title to a piece of land or the title to a car?
- Is it a right we have—we are entitled—when we claim the blood of Jesus we get our title to heaven, our right to be there?
- Is the title some element of reality, some aspect of design law? How might that be?
    - When we receive the righteousness of Christ do we become reborn? Do we get a new heart and right spirit? Are we transformed? Does our character change? And what is the way character is represented in Scripture? By our name and we get a new name—and what is another way of naming something? Do we give things titles—chapters or books? Do we get a new title when we partake the righteousness of Christ do we get the title Christian or the title Godlike or Christlike or family of God?

Does this quote from the same author in the book The Desire of Ages p. 300 help?

> "The proud heart strives to earn salvation; but both our title to heaven and our fitness for it are found in the righteousness of Christ."

Both our title and our fitness are found in the righteousness of Christ—what does this mean? Is this legal or healing or both?

Consider this quote from the same author:

> By the one who had revolted in heaven the kingdoms of this world were offered Christ, to buy His homage to the principles of evil; but He would not be bought; He had come to establish a kingdom of righteousness,[not the kingdoms of this world, not a kingdom of imposed law, not a kingdom of buying and selling, but a kingdom of truth and love, of righteousness] and He would not abandon His purpose. With the same temptation Satan approaches men, and here he has better success than with Christ. To men he offers the kingdom of this world on condition that they will acknowledge his supremacy. [What are the kingdoms of this > world? Imposed law, power over, coercion, money, control and he offers this to people today but what is required?] He requires that they sacrifice integrity, disregard conscience, indulge selfishness. [This is what happens to all who seek to advance God's kingdom of righteousness through human governments and imposed law] Christ bids them seek first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; but Satan walks by their side and says: Whatever may be true in regard to life eternal, in order to make a success in this world you must serve me. [But how does it say it? By making success in this world what is valued, the measuring stick, the barometer of right and wrong. Thus people pursue more power, money, fame, and control through government and they believe their success on earth is evidence of God's blessing] I hold your welfare in my hands. I can give you riches, pleasures, honor, and happiness. Hearken to my counsel. Do not allow yourselves to be carried away with whimsical notions of honesty or self-sacrifice. I will prepare the way before you. Thus multitudes are deceived. They consent to live for the service of self, and Satan is satisfied. While he allures them with the hope of worldly dominion, he gains dominion over the soul. [And what is the message of today? We must make the world right, we must do social justice, we must save the planet, we must have dominion, but all through Satan's methods of imperial rules and coercive enforcement] But he offers that which is not his to bestow, and which is soon to be wrested from him. In return he beguiles them of their title to the inheritance of the sons of God. DA 130.2

What is our title to heaven? We are entitled as children of God to heaven—to God's kingdom. We receive new title, or name, or character—Godlike and receive as God's children the kingdom of truth, love, freedom and all the blessings of our Creator. And what enables us to have this title? The righteousness of Christ, but consider this quote from the same author—how is it related?

> The righteousness by which we are justified is imputed; the righteousness by which we are sanctified is imparted. The first is our title to heaven, the second is our fitness for heaven.—The Review and Herald, June 4, 1895. MYP 35.2

What does this mean? Is imputed a legal proclamation, giving us legal title through the payment of Jesus and imparted healing make us fit for heaven? What law lens do you understand the words imputed and imparted through?

What about this quote—how does it fit?

> Christ offers a love that passes knowledge. This love is not something kept apart from our life, but it takes hold of the entire being. [Is this something legal happening in records, or something happening in us? Is it imputed love or imparted love?] The heaven to which the Christian is climbing will be attained only by those who have this crowning grace. This is the new affection which pervades the soul. [Is this legal, some declaration, some accounting in books, or actual transformation in people, where is love pervading? And what is the righteousness of Christ—is it not the perfect character of God lived out in humanity and isn't God's character love?] The old is left behind. Love is the great controlling power. When love leads, all the faculties of mind and spirit are enlisted. Love to God and love to man will give > the clear title to heaven. 19MR 349.2 [What is our clear title to heaven? Love—which originates where? From Christ, and where is this love poured, applied, put, placed, active? In the soul, the person, the entire being and this gives us title to heaven—and our title is justification—is this imputed or imparted?]

Do you hear love for God and others differently from the righteousness of Christ?

- Can you have the love for God legally applied in an accounting way, or does love have to live in us, change us and we have to love in heart and action?
- So if our title is imputed righteousness, but our title is also the love of Christ that we have for God and others is that something we experience or something that God legally applies to books?

What is the difference between imputed and imparted righteousness?

- Impute means to attribute or ascribe something, impart means to invest or give something.

Does imputed righteousness change us or does imparted righteousness change us or do both change us?

Consider this quote:

> "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (2 Cor. 3:18). [What law is this? This is the law of worship, it is a design law not a rule imposed. It is how reality works] Beholding Christ means studying His life as given in His Word. We are to dig for truth as for hidden treasure. We are to fix our eyes upon Christ. [But where is modern media focusing our attention? On threats in the world which focuses on self, inciting more fear. We are to focus on Christ!] When we take Him as our personal Saviour, this gives us boldness to approach the throne of grace. By beholding we become changed, morally assimilated to the One who is perfect in character. [Is what is being described a legal process or a transformation, healing of the heart and mind?] By receiving His imputed righteousness, through the transforming power of the Holy Spirit, we become like Him. The image of Christ is cherished, and it captivates the whole being. {AG 96.4} [So what is going on here? Is there a difference between imputed and imparted righteousness? Is it a legal difference?]

So what changes us imputed or imparted or both and what is the difference?

Imputed righteousness is the righteousness of Christ that God pours into us through the activities of the Godhead—Father, Son and Holy Spirit—to bring us to repentance; and repentance is the change of heart from rebellion to trust. This treating us as still part of the heavenly family, loved, cherished, valued, esteemed, the apple of God's eye, despite our sin, our fear, our selfishness, our guilt and shame is what sets us right; this is what takes a broken branch and grafts it into the vine—Jesus, and this is also known as? Justification!

> Or do you show contempt for the riches of his kindness, tolerance and patience, not realizing that God's kindness leads you toward repentance? (Roman 2:4 NIV84)

Romans 2:4 is describing imputed righteousness—God's righteousness driving God to attribute to us righteousness we don't deserve. In other words, God so loved the world He gave His only Son. It is this righteousness working on our hearts that wins us or brings us to repentance and that is the moment of individual justification or setting right, or being grafted to the vine, or being adopted and thus we get a new name, a new title, child of God.

Once the imputed righteousness of God has set us right, reconnected us to the Vine Jesus, our hearts are no longer closed in rebellion, but open in trust and we receive the imparted righteousness or Christ that heals, matures, and sanctifies us?

So we are transformed or saved by both the imputed and imparted righteousness of Christ.

I think this quote from The Desire of Ages agrees our conclusions:

> The proud heart strives to earn salvation; but both our title to heaven and our fitness for it are found in the righteousness of Christ. The Lord can do nothing toward the recovery of man until, convinced of his own weakness, and stripped of all self-sufficiency, he yields himself to the control of God. Then he can receive the gift that God is waiting to bestow. [Notice the heart must change, this is the title to heaven, the imputed righteousness changing the heart from distrust to trust which is justification, setting us right and then we receive the imparted righteousness with transforms us, heals us and makes us fit to live in God's presence] From the soul that feels his need, nothing is withheld. He has unrestricted access to Him in whom all fullness dwells… {DA 300.1}

The title is Desire of Nations—what is the Desire we all have? We have the desire to go home, to be back in loving unity with God and His heavenly family—thus Jesus is what we desire because only through Jesus do we have our title and our fitness that restores us to God's family.

SUNDAY

Read Isaiah 59:1, 2:

> Surely the arm of the LORD is not too short to save, nor his ear too dull to hear. But your iniquities have separated you from your God; your sins have hidden his face from you, so that he will not hear. (NIV84)

What does this mean?

Read second paragraph, "God chooses to…" Some good thoughts in this paragraph—sin does separate us from God, sin does destroy our relationship with Him. This is well said. But what about the idea that God chooses to ignore the plea of the people because of their sin—does that sound right to you?

No, it is not right. God doesn't ignore sinners in sin—what does the Bible teach about God's response to sinners in sin?

- For God so loved the world that He sent…
- While we were yet sinners Christ died for us…
- If God is for us who can be against us…
- God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself…

No, God does not ignore sinners, this is not the message of Isaiah 59. God's provisions for our deliverance from sin are always available, He never ignores such a plea. But those who are crying out in Isaiah are ignoring God and His instructions and directions for returning to the path of life

What is the reason the lesson suggests God is ignoring their pleas? Imposed law. When we accept the lie that God's law is like human law, imposed rules, then one sees God's sovereignty in a warped way—God is in charge through His imposed will and thus if God doesn't actively intervene it is because He is choosing to ignore.

Design law realizes that God's laws are design protocols for life. The law of love is supreme and love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. Thus God is sovereign but reigns by sustaining His character, methods and designs for life, including freedom—because love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. Thus God never forces or compels. Our sin, our choice to resist the Spirit of truth and love, our rejection of His presence in our lives prevents God from answering our prayers because to do so while we rebel violates our liberty. It is like this:

- a person prays for a happy marriage while they cheat on their spouse or beat their spouse—if their marriage ends in divorce was God ignoring the prayer for a happy marriage?

This is what is happening: They are praying for outcomes that depend on harmony with God and His designs for life while they continue to reject God and violate His design laws for life. So, there is nothing God can do for them. He isn't ignoring them—He is sustaining the laws of life, the laws of His universe in dealing with them. And He sent Isaiah and other prophets to try as an answer to their pleas, to enlighten and save them. But they ignored and killed God's messengers.

MONDAY

Read second paragraph, "To begin…" What do you think of this? They reference a Bible verse to support their conclusion that redemption must be based on forgiveness:

> No longer will a man teach his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest," declares the LORD.

> "For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more." (Jeremiah 31:34 NIV84)

Do you think they have made their case? Do you agree? Or do you say, "wait a minute, what law lens is this being viewed through and is this a correct view of the verse?"

Is this sounding a little legal? We claim the righteousness of Jesus and we are judged as justified or just because God forgives us based on Jesus' shed blood?

That explanation is based on trying to understand the Bible through the lie that God's law works like human law, imposed rules requiring infliction of punishment.

But if we have design law then we realize that sin damages the sinner, just like we just read in Isaiah 60. We realize that God is always for us. We realize that sin is a condition of being, a terminal condition, that needs healing, restoration, recreation to righteousness and that forgiveness isn't merely God forgiving, it is about removing sin from the sinner. We must not read Jeremiah 31:34 alone, cutting God's words off in midstream, we must read the entire message starting in verse 33:

> "This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time," declares the LORD. "I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people. No longer will a man teach his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest," declares the LORD. "For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more." (Jeremiah 31:33, 34 NIV84)

Now what is the message? It is first a message of healing, transforming, renewal and restoration of the relationship with God such that we know and trust Him (this is life eternal John 17:3)—it is taking out the infection of fear and selfishness and restoring God's design law, the living law of love into the heart and THEN God doesn't need to remember our sins anymore because they are no longer in us, are not an issue, don't need addressing.

It is like a parent who is a physician with a child struggling with disease, say leukemia, and while sick the child had vomiting and diarrhea or irritability and yelled at their siblings or parent. As long as the child is sick the parent cannot forget the cancer, the symptoms cannot be ignored if the parent loves the child and wants to save them. The parent must diagnose (judge) the condition accurately and provide a remedy to put the cancer into remission; but once the child is well the parent doesn't need to remember all the symptoms of the sickness—the vomiting, diarrhea and irritable outbursts are all forgiven and forgotten.

From the book Thoughts from the Mount of Blessing

> But forgiveness has a broader meaning than many suppose. [What is the meaning many suppose? Legal, but that is warped, narrow, and not the issue. Of course genuine forgiveness will include this, but it is so much more.] When God gives the promise that He "will > abundantly pardon," He adds, as if the meaning of that promise exceeded all that we could comprehend: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways My ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts than your thoughts." Isaiah 55:7-9. God's forgiveness is not merely a judicial act by which He sets us free from condemnation. It is not only forgiveness for sin, but reclaiming from sin. It is the outflow of redeeming love that transforms the heart. David had the true conception of forgiveness when he prayed, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." Psalm 51:10. And again he says, "As far as the east is from the west, so far hath He removed our transgressions from us." Psalm 103:12. MB 114.1

Of course, God the Creator, the Sovereign, the Builder of reality the Creator of all the laws upon which all life operates forgives us—this was never in question. If one wants to consider the legal elements of forgiveness God legally forgave us immediately. This forgiveness from God, His personal pardon as sovereign was given before Christ died, but as we discussed last week—His personal pardon wasn't the obstacle to our salvation—our own sinful condition is the obstacle. Thus the right understanding of forgiveness goes far beyond God's personal pardon, it includes the provision of all that is necessary to heal and restore us to sinlessness!

Read third paragraph, "Most people think…" How do you hear what they are saying? Do you hear it as "who has received a new heart" or "who has been legally pardoned?"

They reference Romans 3:23-26, from NKJV:

> for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, whom God set forth as a propitiation by His blood, through faith, to demonstrate His righteousness, because in His forbearance God had passed over the sins that were previously committed, to demonstrate at the present time His righteousness, that He might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.

How do you understand it? What law lens do you read it through? When you hear terms like propitiate or justify is your mind pulled down legal paradigms?

Consider this quotation from the book The Desire of Ages and tell me which vies does this quote harmonize with, the lesson author's legal view or our design-law healing view:

> Christ could, if He chose, save Himself from death. But should He do this, He must abide alone. He could bring no sons and daughters to God. Only by yielding up His life could He impart life to humanity. Only by falling into the ground to die could He become the seed of that vast harvest,—the great multitude that out of every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, are redeemed to God. DA 623.4 [Why? Is this legal—no payment made to God and thus God would have to execute us? Or, is it that the truth of God would not be revealed to destroy lies and win us to trust and no remedy would be procured—no sinless human character developed for us to receive as a free gift?]

With this truth Christ connects the lesson of self-sacrifice that all should learn: "He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal." All who would bring forth fruit as workers together with Christ must first fall into the ground and die. The life must be cast into the furrow of the world's need. Self-love, self-interest, must perish. And the law of self-sacrifice is the law of self-preservation… To give is to live. The life that will be preserved is the life that is freely given in service to God and man. Those who for Christ's sake sacrifice their life in this world will keep it unto life eternal. DA 623.5 [What law? What kind of law is this? This is how God's kingdom works, it is reality, it is not arbitrary legal rules]

The life spent on self is like the grain that is eaten. It disappears, but there is no increase. A man may gather all he can for self; he may live and think and plan for self; but his life passes away, and he has nothing. The law of self-serving is the law of self-destruction… DA 624.1 [What law? The law of sin and death—what kind of law is this? This is not arbitrary legal rules and inflicted punishments, but how reality works!]

Only through the death of Christ could Satan's kingdom be overthrown. Only thus could man be redeemed, and God be glorified… DA 624.4 [What does this mean? Only through the death of Christ could Satan's kingdom be overthrown—what is Satan's kingdom? The kingdom of lies, of imposed law, of coercion, of destruction and death, the kingdom of selfishness and sin. Only by Jesus' death could this kingdom be overthrown—why? From where is it overthrown?]

"Now is the judgment of this world," Christ continued; "now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all unto Me. This He said, signifying what death He should die." This is the crisis of the world. If I become the propitiation for the sins of men, the world will be lighted up. Satan's hold upon the souls of men will be broken. The defaced image of God will be restored in humanity, and a family of believing saints will finally inherit the heavenly home. This is the result of Christ's death. DA 625.4 [What is the result of propitiation? How do you hear it here? Is it legal or something else? If Christ becomes the propitiation

- the world will be lighted up—what does this mean? That the lies about God will be exposed and the truth about God and His kingdom revealed, which has its impact where? Does the lighting up of the world with truth impact God or impact sinners? Does it change God or change sinners? Thus, the first result of the propitiation is not to change God or God's law, but to enlighten us and win us back to trust in God.
- The next, Satan's hold upon souls will be broken—what holds our souls in bondage? The lies we believe and fear and selfishness, the carnal nature. The propitiation breaks the hold of Satan over our souls—where is the effect of the propitiation, on God? on God's law or on us?
- Next, the defaced image of God will be restored in humanity. Again, where is the effect of the propitiation? In us, it is real, it is transformational, it is healing, it is recreational—it is NOT legal. It is the outworking of God's design law in healing us!

Here is how I rendered Romans 3:23-36 in The Remedy:

> for all humanity is infected with the same disease — of distrust, fear and selfishness — and is deformed in character and falls far short of God's glorious ideal for humanity. Yet all who are willing are healed freely by God's gracious Remedy which has been provided by Jesus Christ. God presented Jesus as the way and the means of restoration. Now, through the trust established by the evidence of God's character revealed when Christ died, we may partake of the Remedy procured by Christ. God did this to demonstrate that he is right and good — because in his forbearance he suspended, for a time, the ultimate consequence of us being out of harmony with his design for life — yet he has been falsely accused of being unfair. He did it to demonstrate at the present time how right and good he is, so that he would also be seen as being right when he heals those who trust in Jesus.

So, what view do you hold to in regard to salvation and the understanding of what forgiveness actually means?

What is the relationship between faith and works?

Under imposed law it is always tension and confusion—but under design law it is simple to understand—we reap what we sow.

If we sow into the heart lies and selfishness (in other words we have faith in the methods and principles of Satan) then we reap fruits of rebellion, sin, hardness of heart, corruption of character and destruction. But, if we open the heart to the Spirit of truth and love and have the seeds of truth and love sown into the heart exercising our faith in God, trusting Him and practicing His methods, then we reap the fruits of the Spirit and our lives are transformed and will be evidenced in our behaviors.

There is no tension and conflict between faith and works they are linked by reality, by the laws upon which life is built.

The last sentence on the page reads, "The preconversion life of sin has already been washed away by the blood of the lamb."

What does this mean?

THURSDAY

Read first two paragraphs, "When in Nazareth…" Do you see Jesus returning to use power to inflict pain and suffering on His enemies to take vengeance upon them? Does Jesus return smiling at the righteous and scowling at the wicked? Does He return with two faces—a loving kind face and a vengeful punishing face?

So why do some rejoice at His return and others run and hide begging for the mountains to fall on them?

Why do some experience love and happiness at His return and others experience pain, suffering, weeping and gnashing of teeth?

Does Jesus treat the righteous and wicked differently? Is Jesus less kind, less gracious, less loving, less merciful to the wicked than He is to the righteous? Or asked another way, is Jesus more angry, vengeful, punitive, punishing, unkind to the wicked than the righteous?

What law lens do we look at this through? The lie of human law teaches that Jesus does indeed treat them differently, that He uses His power to inflict pain and suffering and death as a punishment for their sins. The design law view teaches that the wicked suffer terribly for their sins, but it is a result of unremedied sin in their characters when they come into the presence of infinite truth and love where their denial and lies can no longer shield them from the reality of their own condition and what they have done. Thus it is the truth itself, the truth of their own choices and condition that torments them, not God—God stops shielding them, stops veiling His infinite self and fires of love and truth flow over all—the righteous thrive and are renewed in God's presence, but the wicked are tormented by God's presence.

The middle of the lesson asks, "How do you reconcile the notion of a loving God with a God who also promises vengeance? Are the ideas incompatible? Or do you understand vengeance as a manifestation of that love?"

Read the last two paragraphs, "Though Jesus has told us…" How do you hear these last two paragraphs? What law lens do these paragraphs present?

It is Satan's view that justice requires punishment because Satan's kingdom is the kingdom of imposed law.

God's kingdom of creation, of design law, requires the God of love to heal, to provide remedy and to leave free and if the Creator lets go or leaves free what happens to those who refuse remedy?

There is a punishment for sin, but from where does it come, from God inflicting it upon those who would otherwise live eternally if God simply restrained His anger, or from sin when God stops using power to hold the destruction that sin brings at bay?

Why does destruction come in Revelation 7 when the 4 angels act—what do they do? They let go what they have been holding back.

Consider this description from the book The Great Controversy:

> God does not force the will or judgment of any. He takes no pleasure in a slavish obedience. He desires that the creatures of His hands shall love Him because He is worthy of love. He would have them obey Him because they have an intelligent appreciation of His wisdom, justice, and benevolence. And all who have a just conception of these qualities will love Him because they are drawn toward Him in admiration of His attributes. {GC 541.3}

The principles of kindness, mercy, and love, taught and exemplified by our Saviour, are a transcript of the will and character of God. Christ declared that He taught nothing except that which He had received from His Father. The principles of the divine government are in perfect harmony with the Saviour's precept, "Love your enemies." God executes justice upon the wicked, for the good of the universe, and even for the good of those upon whom His judgments are visited. He would make them happy if He could do so in accordance with the laws of His government and the justice of His character. [What does this mean? What laws? What justice?] He surrounds them with the tokens of His love, He grants them a knowledge of His law, and follows them with the offers of His mercy; but they despise His love, make void His law, and reject His mercy. While constantly receiving His gifts, they dishonor the Giver; they hate God because they know that He abhors their sins. The Lord bears long with their perversity; but the decisive hour will come at last, when their destiny is to be decided. Will He then chain these rebels to His side? Will He force them to do His will? {GC 541.4}

Those who have chosen Satan as their leader and have been controlled by his power are not prepared to enter the presence of God. Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. Can they enter heaven to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC 542.1}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to heaven and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,-- every soul filled with love, every countenance beaming with joy, enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb, and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,-- [what does that light look like? From where does it come? Do you integrate texts like these: “the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him. Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him.” (Dan 7:9-10 NIV84) “for our ‘God is a consuming fire.’” (Heb 12:29 NIV84)? Is this fire harmful? Do the righteous get injured by it? Why not? What about the wicked, why do they experience pain in this fire? From where does the pain come, from the fire or from unremedied sin?] could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb? No, no; years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for heaven. Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. [What is being described? Do you integrate texts like "They called to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb!" (Rev 6:16 NIV84)? What kind of law? What is the reason? Is God acting justly? He is executing justice?] The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from heaven is voluntary with themselves*, and just and merciful on the part of God. [Who decides the fate of the wicked? What does it mean voluntary with themselves? It is what they want, is it right and just on God's part to grant them exclusion from heaven? What kind of law?] {GC 542.2}

Like the waters of the Flood the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. [Why are they lost? Who made them incurable? Is this just on God's part? Is it an infliction that their condition does not bring upon them?]{GC 543.1}

Read Isaiah 61:1:

> The spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me, because the LORD has anointed me; he has sent me to bring good news to the oppressed, to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and release to the prisoners; to proclaim the year of the LORD's favor… (NRSV)

What does this text mean? When was this fulfilled?

- Did you notice again that Isaiah correctly details the Godhead—we have the Holy Spirit, the Father and Jesus all in the same text. This happens multiple times in Isaiah.
- Anointed—means what?
- What is the good news?
- Who are the oppressed and what is the cause of the oppression?
- What causes brokenheartedness and what binds up the broken heart? Would this be related to writing God's law on the heart? How?
- Who are the captives? What holds them captive? What sets them free? Is there a cost to their freedom? To whom is the freedom or ransom price paid?
- Who are the prisoners and what is the prison and how are they released?
- What is the meaning of the year of the Lord's favor?

2021 1Q Isaiah: Lesson 13
Rebirth of Planet Earth

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

What do you think of the title for this week's lesson?

As a Christian, what do you believe the future for this planet is?

Read Memory Verse: "For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth;
And the former shall not be remembered or come to mind." (Is 65:17 NKJV)

What is going to happen to this planet?

> Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and there was no longer any sea." (Re 21:1 NIV84)

What is going to happen to this planet?

> In the beginning you laid the foundations of the earth,
> and the heavens are the work of your hands.
> They will perish, but you remain;
> they will all wear out like a garment.
> Like clothing you will change them > and they will be discarded.
> But you remain the same,
> and your years will never end. (Ps 102:25–27 NIV84).

> Lift up your eyes to the heavens, > look at the earth beneath;
> the heavens will vanish like smoke,
> the earth will wear out like a garment > and its inhabitants die like flies.
> But my salvation will last forever, > my righteousness will never fail. (Is 51:6 NIV84).

> Neither their silver nor their gold > will be able to save them > on the day of the LORD's wrath.
> In the fire of his jealousy the whole world will be consumed, for he will make a sudden end of all who live in the earth." (Zep 1:18 NIV84).

What is going to happen to planet Earth?

Can we stop it?

Because the Earth is going to be destroyed by God and replaced with a new Earth, a planet free from all marks of sin, does that mean we do NOT have to be good stewards, that we are free to pollute, that we are free to destroy the Earth? No!

We have a responsibility to be good stewards—why?

- What happens to the Earth if we are good stewards? It still gets destroyed in the end.
- What happens to us if we are negligent, selfish, and unfaithful stewards? We harden our hearts and obstruct God's healing plan and are lost in the end.
- What happens to us if we are good stewards, living in harmony with God's design, protecting nature and helping others? We develop mature Christlike character and will be saved in the end.

So, yes! We are to be good stewards and care for the planet, we are not to exploit the animals etc. But if we are good stewards—what happens to the planet?

Now—let's be very clear—let the truth come home to your mind, our enemy the liar, the father of lies, has advanced his false worldview and is seducing Christians into joining his ranks through their desire to be good stewards. What am I talking about?

What is the philosophy that the world is embracing today? Is the modern, so-called enlightened view that there is a God in heaven, the Creator, who is returning to eradicate sin and who will recreate this world in perfection, or is the accepted popular view that there is no God, we evolved from lower life forms and our future is up to us?

And what future do those who reject God, who believe we evolved from lower life forms see? They see over-population of the Earth that will destroy the planet and the only way to have a future is that we must act to save ourselves.

The lie that is being foisted on the world today is that because there is no God, this planet is our mother our lifeboat and it has limited resources and if we don't stop population growth, carbon emission, consuming of the forests and fishing out the oceans, then the planet is going to die and humanity will die. Therefore, we must save the planet. And in order to save the planet we must stop consuming, stop using fossil fuels etc., stop filling the earth with waste, plastics, garbage.

Understand there are two grand world philosophies—a Creator God who created the Earth and life upon it. In this worldview, God loves us—human beings made in His image—and the future is a future of hope in which the Earth, as we know it, is going to be destroyed and a new perfect Earth will be created by God. There is nothing we can do to stop this and in this view people are more valuable than the planet. We do NOT seek to save the planet at the expense of the people, we take the gospel to the world to save the people!

But in the godless Green worldview, there is no God and we must save ourselves. In this view, if we don't act then overpopulation will consume all the resources and eventually destroy the planet, so we must stop this process. In the Green worldview the planet is more valuable than the people. Understand, if you give your support to political movements that advance the Green worldview, you are empowering those agencies that will one day kill you and your descendants. The future for them is to reduce the population and protect Earth's limited resources for themselves and their descendants.

Martin Armstrong, an economist, posted a satire about Greta, the cute little Swedish girl who became famous as a Green activist. He wrote as if she had a dream of the future where the Green had a world without any more petroleum products when she wakes up:

> She tossed aside her cotton sheet and wool blanket and stepped out onto a dirt floor covered with willow bark that had been pulverized with rocks. "What's this?" she asked.
> "Pulverized willow bark," replied her fairy godmother.
>
> "What happened to the carpet?" she asked.
>
> "The carpet was nylon, which is made from butadiene and hydrogen cyanide, both made from petroleum," came the response.
>
> Greta smiled, acknowledging that adjustments are necessary to save the planet, and moved to the sink to brush her teeth where instead of a toothbrush, she found a willow, mangled on one end to expose wood fiber bristles.
>
> "Your old toothbrush?" noted her godmother, "Also nylon."
>
> "Where's the water?" asked Greta.
>
> "Down the road in the canal," replied her godmother, 'Just make sure you avoid water with cholera in it"
>
> "Why's there no running water?" Greta asked, becoming a little peevish.
> "Well," said her godmother, who happened to teach engineering at MIT, "Where do we begin?" There followed a long monologue about how sink valves need elastomer seats and how copper pipes contain copper, which has to be mined and how it's impossible to make all-electric earth-moving equipment with no gear lubrication or tires and how ore has to be smelted to a make metal, and that's tough to do with only electricity as a source of heat, and even if you use only electricity, the wires need insulation, which is petroleum-based, and though most of Sweden's energy is produced in an environmentally friendly way because of hydro and nuclear, if you do a mass and energy balance around the whole system, you still need lots of petroleum products like lubricants and nylon and rubber for tires and asphalt for filling potholes and wax and iPhone plastic and elastic to hold your underwear up while operating a copper smelting furnace and . . .

"What's for breakfast?" interjected Greta, whose head was hurting.

"Fresh, range-fed chicken eggs," replied her godmother. "Raw."

"Why raw?" inquired Greta.

"Well, . . ." And once again, Greta was told about the need for petroleum products like transformer oil and scores of petroleum products essential for producing metals for frying pans and in the end [Greta] was educated about how you can't have a petroleum-free world and then cook eggs. Unless you rip your front fence up and start a fire and carefully cook your egg in an orange peel like you do in Boy Scouts. Not that you can find oranges in Sweden anymore.

"But I want poached eggs like my Aunt Tilda makes," lamented Greta.

"Tilda died this morning," the godmother explained. "Bacterial pneumonia."

"What?!" interjected Greta. "No one dies of bacterial pneumonia! We have penicillin."

"Not anymore," explained godmother "The production of penicillin requires chemical extraction using isobutyl acetate, which, if you know your organic chemistry, is petroleum-based. Lots of people are dying, which is problematic because there's not any easy way of disposing of the bodies since backhoes need hydraulic oil and crematoriums can't really burn many bodies using as fuel Swedish fences and furniture, which are rapidly disappearing – being used on the black market for roasting eggs and staying warm."

This represents only a fraction of Greta's day, a day without microphones to exclaim into and a day without much food, and a day without carbon-fiber boats to sail in, but a day that will save the planet. https://www.armstrongeconomics.com/world-news/climate/gretas-nightmare/

Understand this satire is what the elites that push the Green movement want—they want a future in which about two-third of the world's population die. They want the planet and the resources for themselves and their descendants.

The Green is not a movement of love, a movement of people who believe in the God of love, it is a movement that is led by those who do not believe in the Biblical worldview and thus they do not value human life over the planet—they value self-preservation. But they know that they cannot present their true agenda because everyone else also values self-preservation, so they present their agenda through the lens of what we must do this to save the planet lest we all die. But the impact, if their reforms become reality, will not impact all equally, the wealthy, the elites will have their private generators, medical facilities, laboratories, factories, work force, it is the masses, the poorest, that will be without heat, food, water, medicine, shelter it is the masses that will die.

When you hear the rhetoric about saving the Earth consider implementing what they want to do and the consequences—it will lead to mass starvation, rationing of resources and the reduction in population, because the Green values the planet more than the people.

Consider what Peter wrote about the future of Earth:

> First of all, you must understand that in the last days scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires. 4 They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised? Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation." 5 But they deliberately forget that long ago by God's word the heavens existed and the earth was formed out of water and by water. 6 By these waters also the world of that time was deluged and destroyed. [Do we have scoffers today that scoff at the idea of Creation, and scoff at the idea of a worldwide flood and Noah's ark? They deliberately forget—meaning they deny evidence and truth. Understand that the evidence of intelligent creation of life is irrefutable at this point. Life requires matter, energy and coded information found in the DNA of all living organisms. It is impossible for information to code itself. All reasonable people know this, but they all deny it purposely. And these people who deny evidence, deny truth, cling to a false worldview are the ones who are leading the Green movement. And since they have denied the evidence of God, and have denied God then who do you think is leading them, inspiring them? It is Satan—the Green movement is not a godly movement and young people you need to realize this and reject it.] 7 By the same word the present heavens and earth are reserved for fire, being kept for the day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men. [Why? What does this mean? What law lens do we see this through? This is talking about God's accurate diagnosis that these people have hardened their hearts, destroyed the faculties that respond to truth and love and therefore no amount of truth or love will win them. This is what happens when one persistently rejects evidence, truth and love. Paul writes in 2Thes 2:11-12:
> > "They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. For this reason God sends them a powerful delusion so that they will believe the lie and so that all will be condemned" (NIV84)
> What does this mean? What law lens do you hear this through? What happens to the mind that refuses truth? What is the only thing left for the mind to believe if it rejects truth? Lies, they become delusional. This is what is happening in the world today. As people reject the truth about God and believe evolutionism their minds become less capable of recognizing other truths and thus they reject them. We see this in the world today—people rejecting obvious truths like the reality that there is male and female—yes in every species. But agendas are going forth denying this reality. In California, there is currently a bill in the CA assembly, that if passed will fine stores $1000 if they have a boys and girls clothing or toy section. Minds are being damaged. We live in a time of scoffers and liars and we must cling to the truth or our minds will be damaged as well.]

8 But do not forget this one thing, dear friends: With the Lord a day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like a day. 9 The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance.

10 But the day of the Lord will come like a thief. The heavens will disappear with a roar; the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the earth and everything in it will be laid bare. 11 Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what kind of people ought you to be? You ought to live holy and godly lives 12 as you look forward to the day of God and speed its coming. That day will bring about the destruction of the heavens by fire, and the elements will melt in the heat. 13 But in keeping with his promise we are looking forward to a new heaven and a new earth, the home of righteousness. (2 Pe 3:3–13 NIV84).

What is the future of planet Earth? Understand reality, this planet is going to be destroyed. Before God returns and recreates it anew, things are going to get worse and we cannot stop it. Satan is going to use the worsening conditions on the planet to incite fear, fear of climate change, rising oceans, terrible storms, famine, pandemics, and Satan will cause these calamities to increase and thereby increase fear. This will cause those who have rejected God to become more fearful and seek to save themselves by taking greater coercive control and passing more laws and taking away more freedoms and ultimately seek to cull the population to try and save the planet.

The righteous, those who love people and speak the truth, will be targeted as agitators and the cause of these problems.

Consider this historic quote about the end time judgments of God:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3

Are there Bible texts to support this? Revelation 7, the angels holding back the four winds—they are described as having power to destroy the land—how? By letting go what they hold back.

If you are a Christian and you are supporting the movement of the Green, you are supporting the enemy of God; you are empowering those who value the planet more than the people and whose policies are designed to cull the population in order to save the planet. As children of God, we love people and want as many people as possible to come to salvation, which means we don't want to cull the population, we want to bring people to Jesus.

Don't misunderstand what I am saying—I already said it once today, but will say it again because some will misunderstand if I don't. Rejecting the Green movement does not mean we fail to be good stewards of the Earth in the way we govern ourselves. We will practice God's methods and not pollute, not abuse animals, not exploit the environment etc. But we will not give our support to a godless movement that values the planet more than the people and will initiate policies that will result in injuring billions in the name of saving the planet.

What do you think of the second part of our memory verse: "the former shall not be remembered or come to mind"?

Does it mean that we won't remember our sin-sick lives? We won't remember our sins, our heartaches, our healing, our deliverance?

What is the problem if we believe we won't remember the events of sin and God's deliverance from it?

- Then it can all happen again—what protects the universe from sin ever arising again is that all remember what sin is, what sin does, and what God did to eradicate sin and save sinners. Without this knowledge then the lies could rise again.
- What happens to our appreciation and love for God if we don't remember? Jesus said that those who are forgiven much love much, if we don't remember all that Jesus did for us will we still love and appreciate and trust Him as much?
- What does it mean to sing a song of our experience, as the Bible says we will do, if we don't remember our experience?
- If we don't remember our sins and our deliverance from them, then will David and Bathsheba remember Solomon is their son and how they got together? Will Uriah remember he was married to Bathsheba and wonder how David became her spouse?

So whatever this means it doesn't mean erasure of the memory of historic reality or facts—remembering those historic events is essential for a secure future without the risk of sin arising again.

So what does it mean then?

Consider this quote from The Great Controversy:

> Satan's rebellion was to be a lesson to the universe through all coming ages, a perpetual testimony to the nature and terrible results of sin. [If Satan's rebellion is to be lesson through all coming ages and a perpetual testimony to the nature of sin, what is required? Isn't that we must remember what happened with sin here on earth?] The working out of Satan's rule, its effects upon both men and angels, would show what must be the fruit of setting aside the divine authority. [Some argue that we remember Satan's sin and rebellion but not our own, but this author says we remember the effects of sin upon both men and angels. And what is the greatest impact of sin's effect and the lessons each of us must learn—what sin has done in other people's lives or our own sins and our redemption from sin?] It would testify that with the existence of God's government and His law is bound up the well-being of all the creatures He has made. Thus the history of this terrible experiment of rebellion was to be a perpetual safeguard to all holy intelligences, to prevent them from being deceived as to the nature of transgression, to save them from committing sin and suffering its punishments. GC 499.1 [In a universe where there is real love there is real freedom and real freedom requires informed choice, knowledge, awareness. If God were to erase memory, He would only be creating an environment where sin could rise again. And God will NOT do that. It is a sad fact that many Christians teach the lie that God erases all memory of our sins.]

From the SDA Bible Commentary on this passage:

> Some have felt that the prophet here predicts a future oblivion concerning things on this earth, at least concerning past sins. The Hebrew of this verse need not be so understood. Zakar, translated "remembered," frequently defines the action or condition that results from conscious memory. For example, the statement that the children of Israel "remembered not the Lord their God" (Judges 8:34) does not mean that God never entered their conscious mind. It simply means that the people did not render unto Jehovah the worship that a knowledge of Him should have led them to render (see on Judges 8:34). If such a shade of meaning is to be attached to Isaiah's statement, then the passage may be understood to assert that a memory of former things will no longer distress or annoy the mind or cause feelings of remorse…
> A knowledge of the history of the great controversy will be the safeguard against any future repetition of the evil experiment of sin (GC 499) (Vol. 4, pp. 332–333).

So what does this mean? Not that we don't remember, but that these historic facts that we do remember, don't intrude into our minds, don't cause us fear, distress, guilt, shame, we will no longer think of them and worry whether we are good enough, or whether others will like us or love us because of these past sins. We remember our sins and tell our stories of God's redemption, patience, love, forbearance, Christ's sacrifice, our deliverance and healing and give thanks to God and rejoice in His salvation.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Through the prophet…" What is going on here? How do we understand the destruction of the wicked?

The way it is worded in the lesson it sounds like an act of infliction, God uses power to inflict an outcome that the wicked would not otherwise reap if God didn't do it to them.

What is the truth? Does sin destroy or does God destroy? Could the wicked live eternally if God simply refused to use power to kill them?

Do the wicked, including Satan, have life that originates with them? Do they have the ability to live on their own disconnected and separated from God? Or, does all life originate from God and is sustained by God?

So, what does sin do to the relationship between God and sinners? Sin severs the relationship, and if that disruption in our relationship with God is not fixed, if the sin is not removed and if we are not restored to unity with God, what happens?

If a branch is cut off from the vine, what happens to that branch if it is not grafted back into the vine? What causes the death of the branch?

Understand reality, the wicked die, but why do they die?

So, we read in Isaiah 33:14-16:

> The sinners in Zion are terrified; > trembling grips the godless:
> "Who of us can dwell with the consuming fire?
> Who of us can dwell with everlasting burning?"
> 15 He who walks righteously > and speaks what is right, > who rejects gain from extortion > and keeps his hand from accepting bribes, > who stops his ears against plots of murder > and shuts his eyes against contemplating evil—
> 16 this is the man who will dwell on the heights, (Is 33:14-16 NIV84)

Who dwells in the consuming fire and eternal burning? The righteous not the wicked—why? What is this fire?

- Moses and the bush Exodus 3:2
- Sinai Exodus 24:17

- Solomon's Temple dedication 2 Chronicles 7:2
- Lucifer amongst fiery stones Ezekiel 28:14, 16
- Ancient of days and rivers of fire Daniel 7:9, 10
- God is a consuming fire Hebrews 12:29
- New Jerusalem Revelation 22:5

Satan's grand lie is: the place you don't want to go is the place of eternal burning and consuming fire—but that place is God's very presence!
The righteous are transformed—just as Moses' face radiated after 40 days in God's glory. Exodus 34:29–35

But the people shrank back—why?

The wicked are destroyed by the brightness of Christ's coming.
2 Thessalonians 2:8 what does this mean? Isn't this God inflicting it upon them?

Consider this description from the book The Great Controversy:

> God does not force the will or judgment of any. He takes no pleasure in a slavish obedience. He desires that the creatures of His hands shall love Him because He is worthy of love. He would have them obey Him because they have an intelligent appreciation of His wisdom, justice, and benevolence. And all who have a just conception of these qualities will love Him because they are drawn toward Him in admiration of His attributes. {GC 541.3}
>
> The principles of kindness, mercy, and love, taught and exemplified by our Saviour, are a transcript of the will and character of God. Christ declared that He taught nothing except that which He had received from His Father. The principles of the divine government are in perfect harmony with the Saviour's precept, "Love your enemies." God executes justice upon the wicked, for the good of the universe, and even for the good of those upon whom His judgments are visited. He would make them happy if He could do so in accordance with the laws of His government and the justice of His character. [What does this mean? What laws? What justice?] He surrounds them with the tokens of His love, He grants them a knowledge of His law, and follows them with the offers of His mercy; but they despise His love, make void His law, and reject His mercy. While constantly receiving His gifts, they dishonor the Giver; they hate God because they know that He abhors their sins. The Lord bears long with their perversity; but the decisive hour will come at last, when their destiny is to be decided. Will He then chain these rebels to His side? Will He force them to do His will? {GC 541.4}
> Those who have chosen Satan as their leader and have been controlled by his power are not prepared to enter the presence of God. Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. Can they enter heaven to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC 542.1}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to heaven and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,-- every soul filled with love, every countenance beaming with joy, enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb, and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,-- [what does that light look like? From where does it come? Do you integrate texts like these: "the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him. Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him." (Dan 7:9-10 NIV84) "for our 'God is a consuming fire.'" (Heb 12:29 NIV84)? Is this fire harmful? Do the righteous get injured by it? Why not? What about the wicked, why do they experience pain in this fire? From where does the pain come, from the fire or from unremedied sin?] could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb? No, no; years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for heaven. Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. [What is being described? Do you integrate texts like "They called to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb!" (Rev 6:16 NIV84)? What kind of law? What is the reason? Is God acting justly? He is executing justice?] The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from heaven is voluntary with themselves, and just and merciful on the part of God. [Who decides the fate of the wicked? What does it mean voluntary with themselves? It is what they want, is it right and just on God's part to grant them exclusion from heaven? What kind of law?] {GC 542.2}

Like the waters of the Flood the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. [Why are they lost? Who made them incurable? Is this just on God's part? Is it an infliction that their condition does not bring upon them?]{GC 543.1}

In the middle of the lesson it reads:

In God's "new world order," Gentiles would not only join God's people but they also would be equal partners with Jews in the combined community of faith that would be a "royal > priesthood." Therefore, the distinction between Jews and Gentiles would become functionally irrelevant.

> Paul, the missionary to the Gentiles, proclaims: "There is no longer Jew or Greek…. for all of you are one in Christ Jesus. And if you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's offspring, heirs according to the promise." (Gal. 3:28,29 NRSV).

Is it true? Are we all, Jew or Gentile, now part of the promise and considered royal priests of God? Does that include women?

Did you notice the lesson authors cut out part of what Paul proclaimed, they put in an ellipse and edited out male or female, I wonder why?

If we are all priests of God, both Jew and Greek, male and female, as Paul wrote it, what does that mean functionally in how we work for God? And why did the authors cut out male and female?

The bottom green section asks, "In light of the Cross, in light of the gospel commission, why is any kind of spiritual or ethnic or even political elitism so abhorrent in the sight of God?"

What about gender elitism—that only men can be ordained, or church leaders, or pastors? Is this abhorrent in the sight of God?

THURSDAY

Read Isaiah 66:22-24:

> As the new heavens and the new earth that I make will endure before me," declares the LORD, "so will your name and descendants endure. 23 From one New Moon to another and from one Sabbath to another, all mankind will come and bow down before me," says the LORD. 24 "And they will go out and look upon the dead bodies of those who rebelled against me; their worm will not die, nor will their fire be quenched, and they will be loathsome to all mankind." (Is 66:22–24 NIV84).

What does this text mean?

Read the second paragraph, "Though there are…" Do you like this explanation? Does it satisfy or are there questions unanswered? What questions are not answered?

Did the Sabbath exist before sin? No, it existed before human sin, but not before angelic sin. If it didn't exist before sin what was its purpose in being created (remember the Sabbath was "made")? Will that purpose remain for all eternity? Is this the reason for the Sabbath—a perpetual reminder of God's character, methods, laws, and principles—truth, presented in love, leaving us free?

Is the Sabbath a legislative order, a legal requirement? Will we be monitored in heaven and have citations issued for Sabbath violations?

As the lesson indicates we may worship many days of the week, so the Sabbath is more than a day to worship—what?

What does it mean that the Sabbath is a day of rest? What would a day of rest be like in a sinless world?

What do you think about the description of looking on the dead bodies and the worm not dying and the fire not being quenched?

Is this literal? Will dead bodies have worms (maggots) in them that live in fire and can't die and the fires never go out? Is the new earth a volcanic pyre of smoke and death? Will the new earth be covered in dead bodies? Or is this symbolic?

We have read about the elements burning in the fervent heat in 2Peter, we have read about consuming in Isaiah 33:14, and we read here in Isaiah 66 about suffering and fire that won't go out. We also read in Revelation 14 about the wicked burning in sulfurous fire and their torment rising forever and ever. And then we read in Revelation 20:

> Then death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. The lake of fire is the second death. If anyone's name was not found written in the book of life, he was thrown into the lake of fire. (Re 20:14–15 NIV84).

So what is all of this? What kind of fire is it? How do we put it all together?

One of the founders of the SDA church wrote the following describing events after the 1000 years and the final eradication of sin:

> Satan rushes into the midst of his followers and tries to stir up the multitude to action. But fire from God out of heaven is rained upon them, and the great men, and mighty men, the noble, the poor and miserable, are all consumed together. I saw that some were quickly destroyed, while others suffered longer. They were punished according to the deeds done in the body. Some were many days consuming, and just as long as there was a portion of them unconsumed, all the sense of suffering remained. Said the angel, "The worm of life shall not die; their fire shall not be quenched as long as there is the least particle for it to prey upon
> Satan and his angels suffered long. Satan bore not only the weight and punishment of his own sins, but also of the sins of the redeemed host, which had been placed upon him; and he must also suffer for the ruin of souls which he had caused. Then I saw that Satan and all the wicked host were consumed, and the justice of God was satisfied; and all the angelic host, and all the redeemed saints, with a loud voice said, "Amen!" EW 294.2

How do we explain this?

- Does God perform a miracle to keep people alive to torment them in fire until the die?
- Why do some suffering longer?
- What is the cause of the suffering?
- What is the fire?
- What kind of fire can destroy death—death and the grave are thrown into the lake of fire? The fire of life!
- These are the unveiled fires of God's life-giving glory the fire of truth and love—and what happens to those in that fire? And why do some live longer? Because they fight it longer, resist it longer, and because some have many many more lies for the truth to burn through. Another way to say it is that some have more sins in their minds for the truth to burn through and Satan with the greatest amount of lies, distortions, denial, selfishness and sin struggles to resist the truth the longest. But the truth burns through and each sinner sees the truth, experiences the reality of their own sinfulness, guilt, shame and the reality of the pain they have caused others. This is a terrible torment of unremedied sin in their minds and eventually they all accept the TRUTH of THEIR condition and surrender their lives and die.
- The fire that torments those with the mark of the beast in Revelation 14:10 happens "in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb."
- Then, the fires of combustion burn the corpses and cleanse the earth

Questions?

SUNDAY

What will the new Earth be like?

Read Isaiah 11:6-9:

> The wolf will live with the lamb,
> the leopard will lie down with the goat,
> the calf and the lion and the yearling together;
> and a little child will lead them.
> 7 The cow will feed with the bear, > their young will lie down together,
> and the lion will eat straw like the ox.
> 8 The infant will play near the hole of the cobra, > and the young child put his hand into the viper's nest.
> 9 They will neither harm nor destroy > on all my holy mountain, > for the earth will be full of the knowledge of the LORD > as the waters cover the sea. (Is 11:6–9).

What does this mean? Is this literal or is this a description to teach the idea that there will be no killing there, no animal will eat another, no animal will be poisonous or predatory? In other words, the new Earth will be completely safe because there will be no sin and nature will be restored to perfection.

TUESDAY

What does it mean to you to be a missionary for God? Is this only going to foreign lands, or are we missionaries in our community?

Read second paragraph, "Just as the Israelites…" What is the reason grain offerings are used in this way? What is the object lesson?

In order for grain to bring forth more grain what does it have to do?

> I tell you the truth, unless a kernel of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it remains only a single seed. But if it dies, it produces many seeds. 25 The man who loves his life will lose it, while the man who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. (Jn 12:24–25 NIV84).

Can we take the truth about God and love of God to people if we don't have the truth and love of God in our hearts?

And how do we get the truth and love into our hearts? We must "die to self" we must fall on the rock Jesus and be broken, we must be born again. Thus the metaphor of the grain being buried and bringing forth more grain.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Change in Class Time: April 3, 2021 our class will start meeting at 10:00 a.m. and go until 11:00 a.m. Then we will have a live 30 minute Q&A for our online viewers. This will be one of the benefits for members only.

Have you notice the changes to the website? Have you noticed it is faster to load? Dean Scott has been working furiously to move our website from a provider that was becoming slower and slower, to our own, unshared, virtual private server. He has also changed the core operating system the website used to create content on demand to a new one that powers 64% of all websites today. This required updating the multitude of articles and adding new features. He's currently creating a member's section, which will contain exclusive content.

New Member's Section: March 20, 2021 we will open our new Member's Section to new applications. This will be FREE and will contain member's only content, so it will require creating an account on our website. We are currently loading The Remedy audio to this section and when complete, will remove it from Soundcloud (due to their addition of advertisements during playback). We will also have other exclusive content on this site as well.

Our goal, as a ministry, is to continue to enhance your growth and experience with the wonderful, life-changing message of God's design and healing plan.

2021 Q2 The Promise: Lesson 1
What Happened?

by Russell Atkins

In order to understand what was needed as a remedy for mankind, of which the Covenant is a symbol, we need to understand what happened in the "beginning." NOT the beginning of Scripture or the beginning of our earth. NOT the beginning of the time of trouble or the latter rain. We need to understand the very beginning – the creation of the first intelligent being, and the beginning of sin itself. We need to imagine how Lucifer came to believe God's design law was imposed on His creation, and how those laws, instead of guaranteeing the happiness and freedom of intelligent beings, were presented as restrictive, selfish, arbitrary, and damaging.

This week's lesson is about the "fall" of mankind, but we need to understand the context within which mankind was created in the first place – a universe at war. God could have just made declarations that He was right, and as the Sovereign of the universe, everyone better get on board. But no – He provided evidence. Not proof, but evidence, and the distinction between the two is critical. Irrefutable proof can be coercive, and coercion has no place in God's government. Evidence is given to intelligent beings and then they are free to question, debate, and accept or reject the evidence given.

Once we conceptualize God's gift of the Creation of Earth and mankind as evidence refuting the allegations of Lucifer, we can better understand the cost of mankind's "fall" and the Promise / Covenant given as a Remedy.

From the introduction of the lesson:

> In 1588, a young English woman (seven months pregnant) looked out over the sea, and what she saw—the Spanish Armada, with 130 heavily armed ships planning to invade the island—so frightened her that she went into premature labor, the midwife being fear.
>
> Fear, in fact, was an apt image for her child, Thomas Hobbes, who became one of Europe's greatest political theorists. Living at a time when England had been wracked by civil war and endless religious violence, Hobbes wrote that humankind, without a strong, all-encompassing government, existed in a state of perpetual fear—fear of instability, fear of conquest, and, most of all, fear of death. People lived in what he called "the war of all against all" and that unless something radical was done, human life would be, he warned, nothing but "solitary, poor, nasty, brutish, and short."
> What was the solution? Hobbes said that there was only one: the people must place themselves under a single power that would reduce all their wills to a single will and that would exercise complete authority over them. This power, this sovereign—be it a single man or an assembly of men—though wielding absolute hegemony over the nation, would end the terrible conditions that made their lives so fearful and unstable. In other words, in exchange for all their rights, the people got peace and security instead. This transfer of power, from the people to the sovereign, is what Hobbes called the "covenant."

The covenant idea, however, did not originate with Hobbes. On the contrary, thousands of years earlier, God made a covenant with Israel, a covenant whose roots, in fact, went back even further in time. Unlike Hobbes's covenant, which was initiated and promulgated by the people, this covenant was initiated and promulgated by the true Sovereign, the Creator of heaven and earth. Also, though Hobbes's covenant was motivated solely by fear, God's covenant is motivated by love, His love for the fallen race, a love that led Him to the Cross.

Thus, because of what Christ has done for us, we love God back, and just as in the Hobbesian covenant, in which the subjects had to surrender to the sovereign, we surrender, too—our sinful ways, our fears, our twisted notions of right and wrong. We do this not to gain something in return, but because we already have been given the best that the Sovereign can give—Jesus Christ and the Redemption found only in Him.

How does it all work? It is as simple as an exchange: Christ takes our sins and gives us His righteousness so that, through Him, we are accounted as righteous as God Himself. In this way, sin is no longer attributed to us; it no longer must keep us separated from Him. Murderers, adulterers, bigots, liars, thieves, and even the incestuous can all be viewed as righteous as God Himself. And this wonderful gift, this accounting of righteousness, comes to them by faith, and faith alone. Hence the phrase, "righteousness by faith."

But it does not end there, either. Murderers, adulterers, bigots, liars, thieves, and even the incestuous can, through Jesus, enter into a relationship with God, because Jesus' blood brings not only forgiveness but cleansing, healing, and restoration. We are, through Christ, born again, and through this experience God writes His holy law upon the fleshy tables of our hearts. Thus, murderers, adulterers, bigots, liars, thieves, and the incestuous no longer do the things they used to do. From and by this inward law, all of life is shaped for the believer. These people desire to work out what God puts within them, and that desire is matched with the promise of divine power. Here is the essence of what it means to live in covenant relationship with God.

This quarter, then, we look more closely at what God's covenant is, what it offers, even what it demands. Though drawn from many sources, the lessons rely heavily on work of the late Gerhard Hasel, whose insights into the Word (where the covenant promises are revealed) will give encouragement, hope, and understanding in order that we can learn something that, perhaps, Hobbes never did: "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear" (1 John 4:18).

Does this introduction make sense to you? Are you able to discern what is being communicated? What Law lens are you viewing the above with? Do you agree with the above passage? Be prepared to defend your answers…

I highly recommend reading Patriarchs and Prophets chapters 1-4. There are deep insights to the origin of sin, the Creation, the Trees, Adam and Eve's fall, and the Promised One – The Remedy for sin.**

SABBATH

> "Then God said, 'Let us make ~~hu~~mankind in our image, according to our likeness...' So God created ~~hu~~mankind in his image, in the image of God he created them; male and female he created them" (Genesis 1:26, 27, NRSV)

It's entertaining that we cannot use the term "mankind" anymore because certain groups get angry. I will use the term "mankind". Direct your spittle flecked rage at your gender studies professors.

What does it mean to be made in "God's image"?

Is it 2 eyes/ears/arms/legs? Is it 1 nose/mouth/brain? Is it the capability to reason/use judgment? Is it emotions? Is it our procreative abilities, and our dominion [e.g., sovereignty] over the Earth? Is it our ability to freely give of ourselves for the betterment of others? Is it more than these things?

Read that last sentence again. "… male and female he created them." The current cultural climate in the West demanding that you stop using sex-based pronouns [he/she] and start using sex-neutral ones strikes at the foundation of a Creator God and perpetuates the lie of evolution.

Subjective	Objective	Possessive Adjective	Possessive Pronoun	Reflexive
She (She is here)	Her (I called her)	Her (Her hands are wet)	Hers (That is hers)	Herself
He	Him	His	His	Himself
Ze	Zir	Zir	Zirs	Zirself
Xe	Xem	Xir	Xirs	Xirself
Sie	Hir	Hir	Hirs	Hirself
They	Them	Their	Theirs	Themself

them.

Let this chart sink in for a moment. This is the result of years' worth of debate, and countless hours and dollars of "higher education" spent coming up with these new pronouns simply to avoid REALITY.

> "Once you deny reality, it immediately begins working against you." -- unknown.

If the zealots within the religion of "equalism" can coerce us to give voice to the lie that there is no male or female, then they can make us say or believe any lie.

The lesson correctly notes that at the end of Creation, things were perfect and asks, "what happened?"

What happened, indeed?

From the bottom of Sabbath's lesson: What does the Bible teach about origins? What kind of relationship did God want with humanity? What was the purpose of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil? What hope was given to Adam and Eve immediately after they fell?

Great questions. Do we have any answers? Do we only use Scripture to answer these questions of origins? Does science and experience play any role?

SUNDAY

Turtles All the Way Down

Read the 1st paragraph in Sunday's lesson then cue the flat earth contingent bombarding us with e-mails and social [disease] media messages.

The lesson asserts that God does not attempt to prove He's Creator – He expects us to take it on faith. Is this correct?

It is inconsistent with the God I know. The God I [now] know provides ample EVIDENCE that He's Creator and invites me to examine the EVIDENCE and leaves me free to accept or reject the EVIDENCE.

MONDAY

In the Image of the Maker

Again, I ask what does it mean to be made in "God's Image"?

Some say it's the ability to bring forth life in our image, but most of nature has that ability as well, so is procreation really what distinguishes humans from other animals?

What is nature's prime driving force in procreating? Instinct.

How do humans differ, or do we? Is his bringing any Scripture to memory?

> [10]…and especially those who indulge the flesh in its corrupt passion and despise authority. Reckless, self-centered, they speak abusively of angelic majesties without trembling, [11] whereas angels who are greater in might and power do not bring a demeaning judgment against them before the Lord. [12] But these, like unreasoning animals, born as creatures of instinct to be captured and killed, using abusive speech where they have no knowledge, will in the destruction of those creatures also be destroyed, [13] suffering wrong as the wages of doing wrong. 2 Peter 2: 10-13.

Are we not called to use our reason, guided by a clear conscience, and discernment to engage our wills to choose to act in accordance with God's design laws for human procreation and everything else?

See if this quote adds any insights:

> "Man was to bear God's image, both in outward resemblance and in character. Christ alone is "the express image" (Hebrews 1:3) of the Father; but man was formed in the likeness of God. His nature was in harmony with the will of God. His mind was capable of comprehending divine things. His affections were pure; his appetites and passions were under the control of reason. He was holy and happy in bearing the image of God and in perfect obedience to His will." PP 45.

The lesson asserts that both Adam and Eve were made "from the same material." Is this accurate? Adam was made from Earth. Eve was made from Adam. Consider what men relate best to – it's the world [Earth] we live in. We test, experiment, explore our earth. Now consider what women relate best to – it's men [e.g. relationships].

> "Men test ideas. Women test men." Jordan Peterson.

Consider the EGW quote at the end of Monday's lesson…

> "…Eve was created from a rib taken from the side of Adam, signifying that she was not to control him as the head, nor to be trampled under his feet as an inferior, but to stand by his side as an equal, to be loved and protected by him." PP 46. emphasis mine.

What on earth did Eve need protection from in perfect Eden?

TUESDAY

God and Humankind Together.

God tells Adam and Eve to be fruitful and multiply -- to fill the Earth and "subdue" it. Again, what needed subduing in a perfect Creation? What did Eve need protection from?

In Genesis 1: 29, God tells mankind He has given them every plant yielding seed and every tree that has fruit yielding seed as their food. In Genesis 2: 16, 17 God told Adam he may eat from every tree in the garden EXCEPT one – the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Are these passages ringing any bells regarding their eventual fall? Hint: See Wednesday's lesson.

God initiated the relationship with mankind. He introduced Eve to Adam and presided over their wedding. He came and walked & talked with them both in the cool of the evening [Gen. 3:8], and they were visited by angels who educated them regarding the fall of Lucifer and his host as well as the design laws of Heaven.

> "The holy pair were not only children under the fatherly care of God but students receiving instruction from the all-wise Creator. They were visited by angels, and were granted communion with their Maker, with no obscuring veil between. They were full of the vigor imparted by the tree of life, and their intellectual power was but little less than that of the angels. The mysteries of the visible universe— "the wondrous works of Him which is perfect in knowledge" (Job 37:16)—afforded them an exhaustless source of instruction and delight. The laws and operations of nature, which have engaged men's study for six thousand years, were opened to their minds by the infinite Framer and Upholder of all. They held converse with leaf and flower and tree, gathering from each the secrets of its life. With every living creature, from the mighty leviathan that playeth among the waters to the insect mote that floats in the sunbeam, Adam was familiar. He had given to each its name, and he was acquainted with the nature and habits of all. God's glory in the heavens, the innumerable worlds in their orderly revolutions, "the balancings of the clouds," the mysteries of light and sound, of day and night—all were open to the study of our first parents. On every leaf of the forest or stone of the mountains, in every shining star, in earth and air and sky, God's name was written. The order and harmony of creation spoke to them of infinite wisdom and power. They were ever discovering some attraction that filled their hearts with deeper love and called forth fresh expressions of gratitude. PP 50.

WEDNESDAY

At the Tree.

It is important to review what our law lens is when we contemplate God placing the "tree of the knowledge of good and evil" in the midst of Eden. If we have an imposed law viewpoint then the tree was an arbitrary test of loyalty and obedience, and acknowledgement of God's sovereignty. If we have a design law viewpoint then the tree was necessary for the development of character in our first parents in accordance with the Laws of Truth, worship, exertion, liberty, and Love.

It was a simple task. Avoid eating of the fruit of one tree.

Consider Satan's question to Eve: "Did God say you may not eat from any tree in the garden?" Implied in this question is the premise that God is stingy, and selfish. He does not really care about His creation; He just wants to lord his sovereignty over it.

Now consider Eve's reply to Satan: "From the fruit of the trees of the garden we may eat; [but] from the fruit of the tree, which is in the middle of the garden, God has said, 'You shall not eat from it or touch it, or you will die.'" Emphasis mine.

Eve is recorded as the first human to lie about God. God never forbade them from "touching" the fruit [according to Scripture], and in fact, Mrs. White states that Satan used this against Eve when he placed the fruit in her hand, and she did not immediately die.

THURSDAY

Breaking the Relationship

Eve was deceived into sin. Adam "listened to his wife" [Gen 3: 17] and sinned willingly.

Does the law of gravity treat differently the person who was tricked in to jumping off a cliff and the person who jumps willingly? Do the laws of health treat differently the person who ignorantly eats a poor diet and refuses to exercise and the person who willingly does these things? To ask is to laugh. I think this is one of the best evidence that God's law is design law and not imposed law. If His law is imposed, Eve could have simply been "pardoned", or God could have chosen "not to prosecute" because she was deceived. Adam, on the other hand, would have had to die.

> "Eve really believed the words of Satan, but her belief did not save her from the penalty of sin. She disbelieved the words of God, and this was what led to her fall. In the judgment men will not be condemned because they conscientiously believed a lie, but because they did not believe the truth, because they neglected the opportunity of learning what is truth. Notwithstanding the sophistry of Satan to the contrary, it is always disastrous to disobey God. We must set our hearts to know what is truth. All the lessons which God has caused to be placed on record in His word are for our warning and instruction. They are given to save us from deception. Their neglect will result in ruin to ourselves. Whatever contradicts God's word, we may be sure proceeds from Satan." PP 52.

In the garden, God told the universe of a coming redeemer – a Remedy for the condition that mankind had brought on itself. The entire rest of the Old Testament is the history of God's actions and restraint in order to bring the Remedy to Earth in the person of Jesus of Nazareth, and Satan's efforts to prevent it.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 2
Covenant Primer

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

Read Quarterly Intro First Four paragraphs, "In 1588…"

Do we see these dynamics today? Do we see fear rising? Do we see people willing to give up freedoms in order to feel safe?

What does a covenant of fear seek? Control!
What does a covenant of love seek? Freedom!

Read second paragraph page 3, "How does it all…" Thoughts?

What is the problem with this paragraph? What is the root lie that it is based upon? That God's law functions like human law.

Truths:

- God is love
- God is Creator
- God created humans sinless
- Adam and Eve sinned taking humanity out of harmony with God and God's design laws for life. Humanity would die unless God intervened
- Jesus is our Savior, Messiah and no human could be saved without the incarnation and victory of Jesus

All of these things are true—the question is, as the lesson asks, "How does it all work?"

And our answers depend upon whether we see the issues through God's law or through human law.

If we accept the lie that God's law functions like human law, then we give answers like the quarterly just gave.

But if we reject the human law construct, and return to design law, the laws our Creator built reality to operate upon, then we understand that Christ took our sinfulness upon Himself in order to eradicate the infection of fear and selfishness and be the connecting link that reconnects humanity with God. Jesus, as a human, was tempted in every way just like we are but instead of choosing to sin, Jesus chose to live sinlessly, righteously, or another way to say it, He lived out God's design law perfectly. Thus, Jesus, in His humanity, developed a sinless human character and destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness that causes death.

He arose on the third day with a perfected humanity and became our Savior—as Hebrews 5:9 says: "once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him." NIV84

Bible perfection is about maturity of character, which had to be developed. Jesus was sinless, but He also developed a mature character and this He offers as a free gift to all who accept it.

Thus, "God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God." (2 Co 5:21 NIV84).

Notice the big contrast between what the Bible teaches and the lesson presents—Jesus is our substitute, and because He took our position and won the victory we can never win, we, through trust, are healed to BECOME righteous! We are not declared righteous even though we are not. This is the big lie that keeps so many trapped in sin.

This penal legal fraud is so corrupt because it takes the most amazing good news and makes it into a trap that prevents billions from experiencing the healing and joy that God has provided for them in Christ.

Jesus said the same thing to Nicodemus. Jesus didn't say, "Unless a man be legally pardoned" or "Unless a man has my righteousness credited to his account in heaven." Jesus said, "Unless a man is born again" i.e. receives a new heart and right spirit, receives my righteousness into his mind and actually becomes righteous.

Now if we want to use the language of "accounting" or "accounted" or "credited" righteous, what is the only "righteous" way we can actually use that language in regard to our righteousness?

Can we be accounted righteous by God if we are in fact not righteous? Will God lie and say we are one thing when we are actually not? No! We can only be accounted as righteous AFTER we have been made righteous by the victory of Christ being reproduced in us via the Holy Spirit.

Galatians 3:6 is a classic passage that the penal legal adherents who apply human law models love to quote to support their false supposition that our righteousness is declared and not actual righteousness. It reads:

> Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness. KJV

According to the Enhanced Strong's Lexicon, the word translated "accounted" in the KJV or "credited" in the NIV, is logizomai (pronounced: low-geeze-oh-my) and means:

> to reckon, count, compute, calculate, count over… This word deals with reality. If I "logizomai" or reckon that my bank book has $25 in it, it has $25 in it. Otherwise I am deceiving myself. This word refers to facts not suppositions. Strong, J. (1995). Enhanced Strong's Lexicon. Woodside Bible Fellowship.

So if God "logizomai" or accounts Abraham as righteous it is because Abraham has righteousness in him, otherwise God deceives Himself and all of us and God is not a deceiver.

Despite the actual meaning of the word, the way the vast majority of the Christian community teaches that the accounting is a "proclamation" "supposition" but not fact, a declared legal accounting or adjustment not an actual righteousness in the believer.

The reason people teach this falsely is because, having rejected the truth about God's law, having accepted the lie that God's law functions like human law, they have misdiagnosed the sin problem and thus misconstrue the solution—the plan of salvation.

To those who hold the false legal view, the sin problem is a legal problem, that we broke rules and the ruling authority finds us guilty of breaking the law and is required to inflict punishment for law breaking; but they also teach that God loves us, so sent His Son to take our legal position and placed the legal burden of our sins on His Son and then God, to be legal and just, punished His Son in our place and if we accept this legal payment of the blood of an innocent human sacrifice, then God will legally account His Son's death as our legal payment and we get to be declared legally righteous even though we remain unrighteous in heart, mind and character.

It is all a grand fiction that teaches people to continue to live sinfully while they claim they are legally righteous in heaven's judicial system. This makes God out to be a terribly capricious, unjust and untrustworthy being. Such a god inflicts punishment on the innocent and declares the guilty just or righteous, this god promotes lies by declaring unrighteous beings to be righteous when they are not. This entire system creates a deity that cannot be trusted.

When we return to design law, we recognize that after Adam's sin the condition of humankind was changed from sinless love and trust, to hearts filled with fear, selfishness and distrust of God.

The natural heart is enmity against God (Rom 8:7)—we don't trust Him.

Thus, the Bible teaches that AFTER Abraham trusted God he was reckoned, accounted, or recognized as being righteous—why? Because his untrusting heart had been changed, or set right, or justified into trust, this is why God counted or accounted Abraham as right or righteous because His heart actually was put right with God. This is reality, in the trust relationship, we open the heart and receive into our hearts and minds the righteousness of Christ "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me." This is why God accounts us righteous, because as 2Cor 5:21 says, "we become the righteousness of God."

SABBATH

In the first paragraph the lesson states, "This is a summary of the whole quarter, as we take one day each to look at the early covenants, the ones that in their own way were all present-truth manifestations of the true covenant, the one ratified at Calvary by the blood of Jesus, the one that we, as Christians, enter into with our Lord."

This correct—and this is a key to understand all the covenants—all the covenants of the OT were various local or situational manifestations, templates, object lessons, applications of the one true covenant the covenant of grace.

In other words, the covenant of God is God's healing plan—the actions God initiated and carries out to remedy the sin condition. Beneath the grand plan are many smaller interventions that are part of that grand plan and reveal the grand plan, but we should not lose site of the true covenant because of the local covenant.

For instance, the covenant not to destroy the world again by a flood is merely part of the larger covenant—the flood was a therapeutic intervention to keep open the avenue for Messiah, to keep the plan of salvation operational, to work out the larger true covenant of grace fulfilled in Christ.

All the covenants are communications from God of what He would do. Whenever there is some responsibility for human beings, it is always the responsibility that design law, reality, requires!

- Covenant with Adam was what God would do, He would send a Savior—Adam responsibility—to believe or trust that God would do it and unite with God in heart first and action second
- Covenant with Noah is what God would do, He would not destroy the world again with a flood again—humanity's responsibility—believe it to be true and unite with God in heart first and action second
- Covenant with Abraham is what God would do, He would make a great nation from Abraham's descendants and the Messiah would come through his children—Abraham's responsibility—to trust God would do it and unite with God in heart first and action second
- New Covenant is also what God will do, He will reveal truth, destroy sin and Satan and restore His perfect design law in humanity by living it out as a human and then restoring His law in the people who trust Him, ultimately healing His universe—our responsibility—to trust Him and unite with Him in heart first and action second.

SUNDAY

The lesson suggests the covenant with God is like a marriage covenant which defines both a relationship and an arrangement—what do you think of this idea?

The lesson states that "the covenant obligation was obedience to God's will as expressed in the Ten Commandments…" Is this true?

Are the Ten Commandments the complete and ultimate expression of God's eternal law? Or are the Ten Commandments a list added after sin that did not even exist before Sinai?

- Did Adam and Eve in Eden have a law to honor their mothers?
- Did angels have a law in heaven to honor their mothers and fathers, or that sins would pass down the generations?
- How is the Sabbath defined according to Scripture—sunset Friday to Saturday—this planet rotating in relationship to our sun that didn't exist until day four of creation week of this planet. Yet Job 38 tells us the angels were already in existence.

The commandments were added and Paul makes it clear they were added in Galatians—the law was added as both a diagnostic tool and protective hedge for the sick and immature.

But God's law of love, the moral principles upon which life is constructed are eternal, they are principles the Ten Commandments are based upon, and this is why the greatest law is to Love the Lord with all your heart, mind, soul, and strength and neighbor as yourself.

The law of love originates in God Himself for God is love and God created His universe to operate upon the law of love. Thus, our covenant responsibility is to trust God and have our hearts reunited in love to Him such that He restores His living law of love within us.

As we are going to discuss in detail each of the covenants in future lessons, we won't go into each one in detail today. Instead, we will examine in detail an old article I found while studying for this week's lesson. It is from the pamphlet The Savior of the World entitled The Covenant of Grace, written by WW Prescott and I want us to unpack it together. Do you agree or disagree with what is described?

> When I become confused over the apparent chaos in world affairs, and am perplexed over some of my own trying experiences, and a suggestion of doubt about the love of God arises in my mind, I find an antidote for such a poisonous atmosphere by thinking of Jesus and Calvary. [Can you see why I was intrigued by this article? Are we tempted today to become confused, perplexed, distraught, upset over the chaos in the world or our own struggles? I would recommend the same antidote—Jesus and Calvary.] God does love us. His thoughts toward us are "thoughts of peace." Jeremiah 29:11. [Do you realize how the false legal view distorts and obstructs this truth. Billions of Christians falsely believe God is against us, a severe judge waiting to punish sinners, being who needs His Son to pay a penalty, to offer His blood as a payment in order not to kill us. Yet, they turn around and say "God is love while teaching this." It creates conflicts in the mind that don't make sense and damages human reason and causes people to lose the ability to discern and makes them more vulnerable to authority, someone in authority to tell them what to believe, think and do. The truth is that God's thoughts toward us are thoughts of peace!] He has given us full proof of His love. What more could He do for us that He has not done? Isaiah 5:4. "What then shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who is against us? He that spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not also with Him freely give us all things?" Romans 8:31, 32. [Do we recognize God is always for us and never against us!] Away with doubt and fear! "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in Thee." Isaiah 26:3."O Jehovah, Thou art my God; I will exalt Thee, I will praise Thy name." Isaiah 25:1.

In considering the wondrous love of God as revealed to us in redeeming us from sin and its dreadful consequences, [What is God redeeming us from—sin, not His own anger, wrath or inflicted punishment! Do you see the lie embedded in much of Christianity that Jesus came to take away our punishment—this isn't true—Jesus came to take away our sinfulness, to restore us back to God's original and perfect design of love] it may throw light upon the whole problem of His manifested grace if we give some thought to the divine purpose in creating us. [What was God's purpose in creating us?] This is clearly stated in the Scriptures. God speaks of His sons and daughters as those "whom I have created for My glory." Isaiah 43:7. And He further says of Israel, "Thou art My servant; Israel, in whom I will be glorified." Isaiah 49:3.

Creation was an act of love on the part of a holy God in bringing into existence beings who could reveal the glory of His own love. [What does love do? How does love function? What do loving parents naturally want to do? Why do they want to have children? What is God's purpose? To love us, to give us every ability and capacity to grow and develop to be as much like Him as a created being can be—thus we have abilities to love, but also to procreate and to have dominion—but to be experienced as God designed it, in loving service. Thus we are to rule as Christ rules through loving service!] Love formed us in His own image, that we might love. [What is our purpose? To love!] Genesis 1:26. Hence the fundamental law of our being, and the very purpose for which we have been redeemed, was expressed by our Lord when He was asked to distinguish between the commandments in the law: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments the whole law hangeth, and the prophets." Matthew 22:37-40. [What is the fundamental law of our being, our purpose? To love—what kind of law is this? Is it a rule or is this built into our being, a protocol upon which our very lives are constructed to operate? Can love be generated by threatening to punish those who don't love? Do you see the perversity of how human law works? Do you see the perversity of suggesting that God will use power to externally inflict punishment on those who don't love Him? Such lies, when believed, break the circle of love and trust and obstruct God's healing love from entering the heart.

The fundamental law of our being is to love, and Satan seeks to coopt this law, to hijack it, to replace the love of God and the love for with something else. Satan seeks to get us to love something other than God, to love power, money, ourselves, our looks, our countries, our race, our political parties, our gender and then fight anyone who doesn't love what we love the way we love it. It is a perversion of our fundamental design that destroys rather than heals!] In our relation to God nothing can take the place of this love. [Why? Because God has rules that if we break it, He will punish, or is it like saying: in our body nothing can take the place of blood? If we replace our blood with anything but blood what happens? If we replace love for God with duty to God, fear of God, obligation, legal rule-keeping to honor God, what happens? If we replace love with anything else and still seek God what happens? And if we love anyone or anything more than God what happens?] "If I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and if I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profiteth me nothing." 1 Corinthians 13:3. A burning body cannot be substituted for burning love. And why?-Because God made us to reveal His character of love by living with Him in the atmosphere of His love; anything short of this will not satisfy the heart of God. [Why? The answer given is because this is how we were made by God—it is how we are built, our design, to operate upon the living law of love! And why would God not be satisfied if we choose not love? Why would a parent not be satisfied if a child with leukemia refused a life-saving bone-marrow transplant?]

Sin banishes love and genders hatred. [What does sin do? Does sin cause an outcome? Is this outcome predictable? Then it becomes a diagnostic tool or measure we can use to discern whether God's principles are active or sin is active. In the world today, do we see more love or more hatred and less love? Then what does that mean? It means there is more sin and what is sin? Transgression of God's design laws for life. In other words, we see more hatred and less love because people are seeking to advance their agendas through imperialism, rule of law, legislation, coercion, the power of the state, violations of the law of liberty. People are not practicing God's law of presenting truth in love while leaving others free, instead they are presenting lies, propaganda, and using coercion to silence and intimidate and punish all who don't believe the lies. Satan's kingdom is advancing by using more imposed laws to restrict more liberties and when that happens love is always damaged and rebellion instilled.] Sin seeks to abolish the law of love to God and man, and to put in its place the law of selfishness. [What is described here? It is not simply doing bad things, sin interferes with God's design, obstructing our actual life and function, damaging and destroying those who sin. And when someone sins against us or someone we know or love, the act of sin will plant a seed in our hearts, a seed of hurt, anger, frustration, resentment, and if not removed then the wrong done will inflame our own fears and selfishness (carnal drives) and we will be tempted to seek to resolve our fear by retaliating, directly or through legal means, suing, getting political power and changing laws and forcing others to comply. In other words, each time a person sin they not only damage themselves, they spread seeds into other hearts that if not rooted out cause others to become more fear-ridden and selfish, i.e. sinful. We pluck out such sin-seeds by God's grace, by forgiving the wrong doer, by applying truth and understanding the wrong doer is searing their conscience and hardening their heart, by love for the wrong doer and uplifiting them in prayer for God's grace to reach them, and by practicing God's methods in how we conduct ourselves. We are to be lights in a dark world, and the light shines the brightest in the darkest places. So it is when the darkness of Satan's methods are practiced that we have opportunity to live the light.] Sin has no time or place for the worship of God, but sets up the idolatry of self. Sin must be dealt with in order that the purpose of God in our creation may not be thwarted, but that the image of God may be restored in us. And God has dealt with sin. [Why must sin be dealt with? So that God's purpose in our creation may be achieved—and what is that purpose? To glorify God in love! To live lives of love! And who deals with the sin problem? And what does it mean to deal with it—does this sound like a legal solution in a book is required, or something in the living soul is required?]

Man was originally crowned with glory and honor, and given dominion over the world (Psalm 8:5; Genesis 1:26), empowered to reign upon a throne of love; [What kind of crown? One of Glory and honor—what does this mean? From where would humanity's glory and honor originate? From our Creator, who built us with the abilities, capacities and operational protocols to love, beings in His image, and what is the throne upon which we are to reign? The throne of love! Remember Ezekiel's vision of God's throne, it rests upon a moving wheel inside a rotating circle inside a moving wheel—the law of love is the foundation of God's throne and is to be ours! What kind of throne or government or authority or law is this? Contrast this with Satan's government—remember in Isaiah Satan is described as seeking to ascend to rule over and this is how all the kingdoms of the world govern, by a few ruling elites exercising power to exploit, dominate and take from the masses to maintain their power. But Jesus, did not think equality with God was something to hold on to, but surrendered Himself all the way to the cross in order to uplift the masses. This is the government or throne of love it is exactly the opposite of the kingdoms of this world.] but distrust of God dethroned him [mankind], and he became the slave of sin. [What happened? Lies believed break the circle of love and trust. Notice, we became enslaved to fear and selfishness, to sin, through distrusting God. Not through breaking rules, the acts of sin are the manifestations of distrust displacing love and the outworking of fear and selfishness in the heart.] The purpose of God in the gospel is to restore man to his place on the throne by renewing the love of God in his heart, and so enabling him to conquer selfishness; "He that overcometh, I will give to him to sit down with Me in My throne, as I also overcame, and sat down with My Father in His throne." Revelation 3:21. Love is the all-conquering power, and love will win. [How is it we are restored to the throne that God has for us? Is this a legal process where God sends Jesus to pay a legal penalty, take punishment, and declare us righteous even though we are not? No, it is literal, actual, restoring God's living law of love into the heart and mind of all who are restored to trust in God. It is love enabling us to overcome fear and selfishness.]

The source and ground of our salvation is the grace of God, which is love dealing with sin. [What is grace? It is love dealing with sin, to achieve what? The eradication of sin from the heart and mind, the restoring of love into our inmost being!] The assurance of this love manifested in saving grace is made known to us in the promises of God, which constitute the covenant of grace. [What is the covenant of grace? Love manifested to eradicate sin from sinners!] The fundamental promises, designated as the "new covenant," are thus expressed; "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will accomplish [margin] a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah; not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to lead them forth out of the land of Egypt; for they continued not in My covenant, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord. For this is the covenant that I will covenant [margin] with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put My laws into their mind, and on their heart also will I write them: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to Me a people: and they shall not teach every man his fellow citizen, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know Me, from the least to the greatest of them. For I will be merciful to their iniquities, and their sins will I remember no more." Hebrews 8:8-12… [What is the covenant, the agreement—we agree to trust God and He agrees to fix us—to remove fear and selfishness and restore His law of love in us!]

… The moral law, which is to be written in the heart, is the law of love. [What is the moral law? Where is it to be written? Is this a list of rules? Is the moral law imposed like human law, or is it design law, protocols upon which life is built by God to operate?] It [the moral law] is the expression of the very nature of the God of love as interpreted to us in the life and teachings of Christ, who said, "I have kept My Father's commandments." John 15:10. To keep this law is to love as God loves. To the natural heart this is impossible, and so God has promised to give us a new heart: "A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you." Ezekiel 36:26. In harmony with this provision is the prayer of David: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a steadfast [margin] spirit within me." Psalm 51:10. We may call this conversion, or regeneration, or the new birth, or the new creation; but in any case it is the impartation of a new life from God, that life which is love, and is revealed in loving. [Is this describing a legal accounting or an actual healing, recreating, transformation of the heart and mind? Understand, our God is the Creator, the God of reality, the God who is love and who built life to operate upon love. Sin is a breach in that law, that results in death unless remedied by God through the work of Christ. Thus, God has covenanted to provide us a new heart and right spirit to heal all the damage, if we trust Him. There is nothing legal in the covenant it is the covenant of love not rules.] Those who have this experience are "partakers of the divine nature" (2 Peter 1:4), and that nature is expressed in obedience to the divine law of love.

"When the principle of love is implanted in the heart, when man is renewed after the image of Him that created him, the new covenant promise is fulfilled, 'I will put My laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them.' And if the law is written in the heart, will it not shape the life? ... [When is the covenant promise fulfilled? Notice, it is when the heart is changed back into the image of Christ. It is not fulfilled in a legal declaration that we are accounted righteous even though we are not righteous. If we haven't been transformed to righteousness, if we haven't been reborn, if we haven't had a new heart recreated within, the covenant of grace has not been realized in our lives. The penal substitution theology is a lie and a fraud that cheats people out of what God wants to do in their lives.] Here is the true test. If we abide in Christ, if the love of God dwells in us, our feelings, our thoughts, our purposes, our actions, will be in harmony with the will of God as expressed in the precepts of His holy law." [What is the true test? Our thoughts, feelings, purposes, actions being restored to harmony with God. Does this sound like being declared righteous even though we are not, or as 2Cor 5:21 says, we become the righteousness of God?]

And this experience is guaranteed to us by the promise of God, and is provided for us through the indwelling of the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of love: for we know that "the love of God hath been shed abroad in our hearts through the Holy Spirit which was given unto us." Romans 5:5. "Salvation is of Jehovah." Jonah 2:9. [Who is the agency that makes this experience a reality in the believer? The Holy Spirit—do you see why Satan works to destroy our value of the Holy Spirit in various ways?]

Obedience to the law of love is not a hardship, not a burdensome duty imposed upon us as the price of blessing from God, [notice the language this author uses, God's law is NOT

IMPOSED upon us, it is not some obligation we must do as the price to receive God's blessings!] but the fruit and the test of our fellowship with God through the Spirit. But at the same time it is the absolute condition of maintaining our standing before God. [What does this mean? What law lens are you hearing this through? Obedience to design law is not a burden any more than breathing is a burden. Living out God's design laws bring life, health, joy, happiness, and invigorate us. Breaking the design laws destroy us, cause us suffering and pain. Why is obedience an absolute condition of maintaining our standing before God? For the same reason that breathing is an absolute condition for maintaining our health!]

At the very root of the relation of a creature to his God, and of God admitting the creature to His fellowship, lies the thought of obedience.... In the promise of the new covenant it takes the first place. God engages to circumcise the hearts of His people-in the putting off of the body of the flesh, in the circumcision of Christ-to love God with all their heart, and to obey His commandments. The crowning gift of Christ's exaltation was the Holy Spirit, to bring salvation to us as an inward thing. The first covenant demanded obedience, and failed because it could not find it. The new covenant was expressly made to provide for obedience. To a life in the full enjoyment of the new covenant blessing, obedience is essential." [How is obedience possible? Though the agency of the Holy Spirit working in the heart—to do what? Change the heart, obedience is the living out of God's law of love, which is only possible after the heart has been renewed, recreated, circumcised, transformed, justified, set right, which the Holy Spirit does when we trust God! This is healing, not legal. So, again, why is obedience essential? Is it a legal obedience, like obeying human law, or the obedience of free people who desire to live in harmony with God and His design laws for life?]

The enabling power for such a life of obedience is ministered to us in this most helpful promise: "I will put My Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in My statutes, and ye shall keep Mine ordinances, and do them." Ezekiel 36:27. This means simply that God in Christ has personally assumed the responsibility for our life of love and obedience, according to the covenant promise which He has made in these words: "I will give them one heart and one way, that they may fear Me forever, for the good of them, and of their children after them: and I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from following them, to do them good; and I will put My fear in their hearts, that they may not depart from Me." Jeremiah 32:39, 40. This is the gospel of the grace of God. This is the covenant of grace. Here is the distinguishing feature of Christianity as interpreted to us by Inspiration. By promise and by oath God has pledged Himself as the Saviour of those who trust in Him, that "we may have a strong encouragement, who have fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us." Hebrews 6:18. "Jehovah, Thou wilt ordain peace for us; for Thou hast also wrought all our works for us." Isaiah 26:12. Blessed assurance! Strong encouragement indeed! [Is this a legal process or an actual activity of God in the species human…First in Jesus Himself as a human and secondarily the work of God via the Holy Spirit applying in us the victory of Christ to regenerate and recreate us. Thus the covenant is God's treatment plan, God's activity and actions to nullify sin and restore His righteousness, His design of love in us through Jesus! So the agreement or covenant is—God sending Jesus to be our remedy, to take up the broken condition of humanity caused by Adam and cure, fix, cleanse, restore the human condition back to sinless perfection, first in the humanity He assumed, and then, to work in each person who trust God to infuse us with a new heart, right motives, desires, the character of Christ via the work of the Holy Spirit. God does all of this in the covenant, our responsibility is to trust Him and choose to align ourselves with Him following His directions in our lives.]

Another feature of the new covenant, the covenant of grace, which marks its superiority over the old covenant, is that it has a gloriously efficient mediator, even Jesus the Son of God. [How do we understand Jesus as mediator? To whom is Jesus working to influence and change? Where is Jesus' activities being applied? Where is the effect needed if we are to be saved? Does God need Jesus to work on Him? Do we need Jesus to work on us?] We have not come to Mt. Sinai, but to Mount Zion, and "to Jesus the mediator of a new covenant" (Hebrews 12:24); to Jesus who has shared with us in our experiences of temptation (Hebrews 4:15) and knows our need: "for there is one God, one mediator also between God and men, Himself man, Christ Jesus, who gave Himself a ransom for all." 1 Timothy 2:5, 6. Through His mediation all the blessings of the new covenant are ministered unto us. [To whom are the blessings of the new covenant ministered? to us, not to God!] By His life of suffering obedience, culminating in His death on the cross, He has made atonement for our sins. [What does this mean? What laws lens do you hear it through? Atonement, at-one-ment, reconciliation. Our sinfulness has damaged us and separated us from God, Jesus' victorious life is the means through which God seals the breach, reconnects us to Him, fixes the problem, restores unity, makes us one or at-one with God again. When Adam sinned God did not get changed, God's law did not get changed, but the condition of humankind did get changed inciting a disconnect, rebellion, a break in our unity with God. We became filled with fear and selfishness and no longer operated upon God's design law of love. Thus, atonement is reuniting us to God. Jesus is the means whereby God fixes the brokenness and simultaneously maintains the integrity of His law, why? Because the means of fixing the sin problem is through the application of His law, through living out of and restoration of His law in humanity. The new covenant, writing my law in the heart and mind. You cannot have health while violating the laws of health, you only have health by restoring one to living in harmony with the laws of health. Thus, God fixes the sin problem through restoring His living law into humanity.] Exalted at the right hand of God and sitting upon the throne of grace, He has "become the surety of a better covenant" (Hebrews 7:22), and through His mediation the gifts of God are supplied to us, and all the requirements of God are wrought in us. [Again, to whom is the mediation ministered and the requirements provided? To us!] Through His mediation the covenant of grace, instead of being a mutual agreement, is resolved into His "precious and exceeding great promises" (2 Peter 1:4), of which He Himself is the yea: "[For no matter how many promises God has made, they are "Yes" in Christ. And so through him the "Amen" is spoken by us to the glory of God]." 2 Corinthians 1:20. Apart from His mediation, we should be utterly helpless, "having no hope and without God in the world." Ephesians 2:12. [Why? Is it because apart from His mediation we would not have anyone to influence God, to plead with Him to bless us, or to turn away God's anger and wrath and God would lash out to destroy us? Or is it because apart from Christ's mediation we would not have the remedy to our terminal sin condition and would die in trespass and sin?]

But some one may feel like suggesting, "You are making it too easy for the transgressor by placing all the responsibility for success in the Christian life upon God." Do not misunderstand me. There is one thing which God does not do, and which He does not permit any other person to do. He has given to us freedom of will, and He will not disregard it. I can say No to God, and He will be governed accordingly, but I must take the inevitable consequences. In this sense I am the arbiter of my own destiny. I can take my own choice. [What law is active in this description? The law of liberty, and why is this law operational and why won't God violate the law of liberty? Because love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom, if God were to threaten to kill us if we don't submit it would destroy love and incite rebellion. If God were to make the choice for us, manipulate our minds in some way, it would destroy our individuality and make us robots. God will not do this because He is love and did create us in His image with our own individuality to operate upon His living law of love. Why if we say no will God "be governed accordingly"? Is this some law outside of God that God is bound to obey? No, it is because God is bound by Himself, His own nature, character of love and God will not violate the law of liberty because to do so would not only destroy love, destroy our individuality and incite rebellion, it would violate His own character and nature.] This privilege and its meaning were recognized by Moses, the man of God, when he solemnly declared to the people, "I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that I have set before thee life and death, the blessing and the curse: therefore choose life, that thou mayest live, thou and thy seed." Deuteronomy 30:19. There is no power which will compel us to choose to commit sin. There is no power which will compel us to choose to do righteousness. We alone are responsible for the choice which we make. Therefore we commit no sin without first consenting to it, and an act is charged against us as sin when we consent to do that which we know to be contrary to the will of God. [And is the sin problem the act, or is the act the evidence of the sinful condition of the heart and the real problem is a fear ridden selfish heart out of harmony with God's law of love?]

Judas was a traitor at heart before he actually betrayed his Lord. [There it is, the issue is always the heart, the behaviors are the manifestation of the heart. This is why a legal religion always fails because legal religions focus on outward appearance, on behavior, but God's kingdom is within you, it is the kingdom of love that heals the heart and then the behaviors change.] He deliberately chose to do the infamous deed, for we read that "he consented, and sought opportunity to deliver Him unto them in the absence of the multitude." Luke 22:6. We imitate Judas when we consent to commit a known sin. The will determines our way of life.

Everything depends on the right action of the will. The power of choice God has given to men; it is theirs to exercise. You cannot change your heart, you cannot of yourself give to God its affections; but you can choose to serve Him. You can give Him your will; He will then work in you to will and to do according to His good pleasure. Thus your whole nature will be brought under the control of the Spirit of Christ; your affections will be centered upon Him, and your thoughts will be in harmony with Him."

Such are the results of making a right choice.

I do not need to be told that the god of this world will use every possible means to keep us from choosing to serve God. I know it in my own experience. He paints the glories of the world in glowing colors, and promises all that the natural heart desires, if we will only choose to worship him. [And what does it mean to worship Satan? Does this mean joining a satanic cult? How do people worship God's enemy? Is it not by aligning their hearts with the methods, motives, principles and actions of Satan? And what are those? Lies, fear, selfishness, coercion, exploitation—like pursuing social justice through more human government, law, coercion and punishment!] But we must not forget that "there is no truth in him," and that "he is a liar, and the father thereof." John 8:44. In his service all joy ends in bitterness of soul, all selfish pleasure destroys the capacity to love, and all hope is quenched in everlasting despair. [All selfish pleasure destroys the capacity to love. This is design law. This is what sin does, it sears the conscience, hardens the hard, damages the reason. In other words, sin persisted in will eventually destroy the faculties that respond to truth and love—it destroys the capacity to love. Notice, the author did not say all pleasure, all selfish pleasure and that is what the world offers—selfish pleasure. Worse, it offers it in a way that justifies the selfishness, claiming it is healthy and right and ridiculing godliness as judgmentalism] Do not listen to his fables of deceit.

From the first promise of victory over the serpent, made in Eden (Genesis 3:15), to the last promise of the advent of our Lord in glory to reward those who have been redeemed by His loving mercy (Revelation 22:12), we are dealing with the covenant of grace. [There has always and only been one covenant, the covenant of grace, all the others are simply various manifestations of it.] The call to us now, as to His people of old, is, "Come ye, and join yourselves to Jehovah in an everlasting covenant that shall not be forgotten." Jeremiah 50:5.

"Saving faith is a transaction, by which those who receive Christ join themselves in covenant relation with God." [What kind of covenant? A relation—not a legal transaction. And the relationship operates upon love, truth, liberty, trust—it is the outworking of God's character built into the laws He constructed reality to operate upon.]

Let each one of us say with absolute sincerity, "Into this covenant of a wholehearted love in God and in me I do with my whole heart now enter." Thrice blessed is he who will thus accept the inestimable blessings of the covenant of grace.

MONDAY

How was the covenant with Noah a manifestation of the true covenant of grace fulfilled through Jesus?

- Satan was working to destroy the avenue for the Messiah
- God worked with the one human and his family still loyal to God to keep open the avenue for the Messiah

Was the decision to destroy the earth in the flood done as punishment for sin as grace working to heal and save? What law lens do you use?

If you deal with those stuck in the human law lie and teach God was punishing sin at the flood—ask them, in their model, when does the judge inflict punishment, before or after judgment? And since the judgment is future, even in their model, the actions of God cannot be for punishing sin, it must be for another purpose, which is the covenant of grace acting to keep open the avenue for Messiah.

TUESDAY

Read Genesis 12:1-3, from the NIV84:

> The LORD had said to Abram, "Leave your country, your people and your father's household and go to the land I will show you. "I will make you into a great nation and I will bless you; I will make your name great, and you will be a blessing. I will bless those who bless you, and whoever curses you I will curse; and all peoples on earth will be blessed through you."

What does this mean?

From The Remedy:

> The Lord had told Abram, "Leave your homeland, your relatives and your father's house, and go to the land I will show you. My plan is for your descendants to become a great nation that lives out my methods, for they will be the avenue for the Messiah. I will change your character and make it a great example of my healing plan – that healing comes through trust – and you will be a blessing.' I will bless those who bless and support you, but those who oppose you I will oppose; and the entire human race – all earthlings – will be blessed through you."

How is this the true covenant of grace?

WEDNESDAY

Exodus 6:1-6 God tells Moses how He will deliver Israel from Egypt in fulfillment of the covenant promise to Abraham.

For what purpose was the promise given to Abraham and what purpose in bringing Israel out of Egypt?

Are these different covenants or all part of the one true covenant?

THURSDAY

The New Covenant—which is recorded in Jeremiah 31 and Hebrews 8 and 10, and it is writing the law on the heart and mind. Is this a new covenant, as in, never been thought of before or is it the true covenant that people forgot or didn't understand?

The lesson asks how do we understand the law being written into the heart?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph and discuss, "The yoke…"

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Change in Class Time: April 3, 2021 our class will start meeting at 10:00 a.m. and go until 11:00 a.m. Then we will have a live 30 minute Q&A for our online viewers. This will be one of the benefits for members only.

New Member's Section is now open: This is FREE but will require a sign in and will contain member's only content. We are currently loading The Remedy audio to this section of our site and will eventually remove it from Soundcloud. We will have other exclusive content on this site as well.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 3
All Future Generations

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

Last week I read a quotation from an article entitled The Covenant of Grace from a pamphlet entitled Savior of the World. I said this was written by EG White. One of our online listeners, Kent Johnson, emailed that it was written by WW Prescott, another SDA pioneer. I doubled checked and Kent is right. I made this mistake for three reasons, 1) I got the quote from the EG White Estate website and didn't see the small note that it was written by WW Prescott 2) the concepts expressed are true and consistent with design law understanding of things and 3) being very familiar with the writings of EG White the writing style read like her. So, I went and did a little research comparing the WW Prescott article with some of EG White's writings and in some places he quoted her directly but didn't reference her. All the Bible texts are referenced, but some quotes are in quotation marks but with no reference. Other places it is just very similar in style but not a direct quote, the concepts are the same:

WW Prescott article is in black EGW in red below it:

> It may throw light upon the whole problem of His manifested grace if we give some thought to the divine purpose in creating us. This is clearly stated in the Scriptures. God speaks of His sons and daughters as those "whom I have created for My glory." Isaiah 43:7. And He further says of Israel, "Thou art My servant; Israel, in whom I will be glorified." Isaiah 49:3. Creation was an act of love on the part of a holy God in bringing into existence beings who could reveal the glory of His own love Love formed us in His own image, that we might love. Genesis 1:26. Hence the fundamental law of our being, and the very purpose for which we have been redeemed, was expressed by our Lord when He was asked to distinguish between the commandments in the law: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments the whole law hangeth, and the prophets." Matthew 22:37-40.

> Every act of self-sacrifice for the good of others will strengthen the spirit of beneficence in the giver's heart, allying him more closely to the Redeemer of the world, who "was rich, yet for our sakes became poor, that we through His poverty might be rich." And it is only as we fulfill the divine purpose in our creation that life can be a blessing to us.—The Review and Herald, December 7, 1886. Counsels on Stewardship 20.2
> Every faculty, every attribute with which God has endowed us is to be used to His name's glory. Man must cooperate with Christ to restore the moral image of God in man, and it is in wearing the yoke of Christ, and learning daily Christ's meekness and lowliness, that Christ can use him to be a blessing to his fellow men. This Day with God 90.2

> The yoke that binds to service is the law of God. The great law of love revealed in Eden, proclaimed upon Sinai, and in the new covenant written in the heart, is that which binds the human worker to the will of God. DA 329.3

There is one thing which God does not do, and which He does not permit any other person to do. He has given to us freedom of will, and He will not disregard it. I can say No to God, and He will be governed accordingly, but I must take the inevitable consequences. In this sense I am the arbiter of my own destiny. I can take my own choice.

> The law of love being the foundation of the government of God, the happiness of all created beings depended upon their perfect accord with its great principles of righteousness. God desires from all his creatures the service of love,—homage that springs from an intelligent appreciation of his character. He takes no pleasure in a forced allegiance, and to all he grants freedom of will, that they may render him voluntary service. GC88 493.2

Sin banishes love and genders hatred. Sin seeks to abolish the law of love to God and man, and to put in its place the law of selfishness.

Man was originally crowned with glory and honor, and given dominion over the world (Psalm 8:5; Genesis 1:26), empowered to reign upon a throne of love; but distrust of God dethroned him, and he became the slave of sin. The purpose of God in the gospel is to restore man to his place on the throne by renewing the love of God in his heart, and so enabling him to conquer selfishness; "He that overcometh, I will give to him to sit down with Me in My throne, as I also overcame, and sat down with My Father in His throne." From the first promise of victory over the serpent, made in Eden (Genesis 3:15), to the last promise of the advent of our Lord in glory to reward those who have been redeemed by His loving mercy (Revelation 22:12), we are dealing with the covenant of grace.

> Before the foundations of the earth were laid, the covenant was made that all who were obedient, all who should through the abundant grace provided, become holy in character, and without blame before God, by appropriating that grace, should be children of God. This covenant, made from eternity, was given to Abraham hundreds of years before Christ came. With what interest and what intensity did Christ in humanity study the human race to see if they would avail themselves of the provision offered. Fundamentals of Christian Education 403.1

Memory text: “But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD.” (Gen 6:8 KJV)

> “But Noah found favor in the eyes of the LORD.” (NIV84)

What do you think this means? Does it mean:

- Noah was the only one who figured out the secret to get God to be gracious?
- That God wasn’t gracious to anyone but Noah?
- That God plays favorites and God preferred Noah and didn’t like the other people on Earth?
- Noah took advantage of the grace/favor God made available to everyone? If this is how you read it, why does it say found favor in the Lord’s eyes?

Here is how I rendered it in The Remedy:

> "But the Lord was pleased that he had a friend in Noah."

There is certainly nothing wrong with the translation from the Hebrew in the KJV or the NIV, then why did I paraphrase it as I did?

Note the context of this statement:

> The LORD saw how great man's wickedness on the earth had become, and that every inclination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil all the time. 6 The LORD was grieved that he had made man on the earth, and his heart was filled with pain. 7 So the LORD said, "I will wipe mankind, whom I have created, from the face of the earth—men and animals, and creatures that move along the ground, and birds of the air—for I am grieved that I have made them." 8 But Noah found favor in the eyes of the LORD. (Gen 6:5-8 NIV84)

Is the context emphasizing the issue from Noah's or God's perspective? So, to me it seemed more accurate to render it as focusing on God, that despite the heartache God experienced because all His other children were wicked, with hearts hardened against Him, He was pleased that Noah was his friend. But the traditional way of translating this makes it sound like God just couldn't take it any more and was going to lash out to punish, but Noah was fortunate to find favor in God's eyes.

Here is my paraphrase of these verses from the design law understanding:

> The Lord saw how human beings, by choosing to indulge selfishness, had completely corrupted themselves, destroying in themselves his design of love, and how their every desire was totally selfish and their hearts sought evil all the time. 6 The Lord grieved at their suffering, and his heart ached over humanity's terminal condition. He also grieved at the action his love must take in order to slow the spread of sin and to keep open the avenue for the Messiah to come and save the human species. 7 So the Lord pronounced his therapeutic plan: "I will remove the malignantly selfish humans from the face of the earth that I have made; I will remove humans and animals, both large and small, and the birds of the air. Having to do this grieves me, for I have created them." 8 But the Lord was pleased that he had a friend in Noah.

The lesson gives the example of how bacteria multiple rapidly through fission with one cell becoming two, two becoming four, four becoming eight and so on. And then states, "This microscopic phenomenon in the natural world illustrates the rapid growth of evil after the fall."

What are the strengths and weaknesses of this illustration?

- Strengths—sin is like an infection in that once it is has invaded, once it has become part of a heart or mind, it will spread and increase on its own unless actively opposed.

- Weakness of the illustration—we are not petri dishes in which bacteria grows on its own. We have individuality, the power to think and choose and God did not leave us on our own. God has provided every resource necessary to stop the spread of sin in our hearts and minds and prevent the corruption of our characters and to restore us to righteousness.

The Bible tells us in Genesis 3 that God promised the Messiah to come and eradicate sin and save humanity. It tells that God would put enmity between the woman and the serpent. This means that God would intercede in human hearts to convict of sin, to woo, to put a desire for something better, to draw us—to give us power to resist sin and overcome it. God did not abandon us to the power of sin, but has been interceding to restore us to sinless perfection. From the very first moment sin entered, God has been interceding in three places:

- God intercedes in our hearts and minds to draw us back to Himself
- Here is an historic quote from EGW commenting on God's intercession in human hearts:
    - The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God, and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship. {ST, July 11, 1895 par. 5} [Understand if the heart is not under the influence of the Holy Spirit it is naturally in harmony with satanic agencies. Meaning, that even if Satan isn't specifically tempting, encouraging, guiding, inspiring, the unrepentant heart, devoid of God's influence, will value the same methods as Satan, will practice the same principles, come to the same conclusions and take the same actions as the evil one. These actions are the activities driven by fear and selfishness, known as survival of the fittest. These actions will lead to lying, manipulating, seeking to dominate and control others, power over, passing laws and enforcing those laws with coercion, taking away liberty, inciting more fear, the destruction of love, inciting more division, exploiting others to protect self. All of this will be the natural results of human action without specific temptation of Satan's agents if humans are not under the influence of God's Spirit.]
- God intercedes with the principalities and powers to put a hedge of protection around us to limit the power of evil to harm in order to allow all who will to choose Him and be reborn with new hearts to receive eternal salvation.
    - The book of Job reveals God restrains evil forces
    - Elisha and the angel army holding back the Assyrians
    - God holding back the scorpions and snakes in the desert
    - The four angels holding back the four winds of strife
    - God's actions in OT times to keep open the avenue for the Messiah
- God interceded in the course of sin itself, in what sin naturally does to human beings when Jesus "who knew no sin became sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God." (2Cor 5:21)

- Jesus became human, with a humanity subject to our weakness and temptations and was tempted in every way like we are, yet without sin (Heb 4:15). He exercised the power of His human abilities to trust His Father and receive power from His Father to live victoriously over internal and external temptations to act selfishly, (the temptation of the survival drives seen in Gethsemane). And He established in humanity a perfect, sinless, human character thus becoming our Savior (Heb 5:9), altering the natural results of what sin would do by picking up humanity damaged and terminal from Adam's sin and fixing, healing, perfecting, cleaning it. (2Tim 1:10)

So while it is true that sin, if unchecked, would multiply like a bacterial infection, it is not true that sin has been left without remedy to stop it.

SUNDAY

The first paragraph contrasts the perfection of God's creation at the end of creation week with the wickedness before the flood and states, "the transgressions and rebellion were clearly something that even a loving, patient, and forgiving God couldn't tolerate."

What does this mean to you? How do you hear it? What is the message that you take away from it?

The transgressions and rebellion were "clearly something that a loving, patient, and forgiving God couldn't tolerate"? Clearly?

Does it make it sound like things got so bad God just couldn't take it anymore, that God becomes intolerant? Does is make it sound like God only has so much patience and when God reaches the limit of His patience He just can't take anymore wickedness and lashes out to crush those in rebellion?

Does it make it sound like God is not infinite, but limited in patience, limited in His ability to tolerate offenses against Him, limited in self-restraint, that there is a limit beyond which God simply can't take it anymore?

Now, I want to be very clear. We believe there are limits, real limits, real limitations to how far sin can go, no question about it; but are those limits of how far sin can go, limitations in God, or limitations in sinners?

Can we rephrase the concept of limits on sin in some way that expresses it better, that expresses the limitation as being due to the limitations of human nature and not some limitation in God's character of love? And can we understand God's actions to intervene as evidences of His limitless, infinite, love and patience acting when sin reaches a limit whereby any further patience on God's part no longer has any redemptive value, but would only allow pain, suffering and the obstruction of God's saving plan? In other words, can we see God's actions as infinite patience and love acting with mercy to heal and save when sin reaches a limit that the only way forward for life and health is for God to act, to excise necrosis?

What law lens does one read the events through?

If human law, then God is acting to punish; He gives His law. He gives warnings and time, and if people won't change, then God must inflict punishment. This is how most people read Scripture and stories like the Flood because they assume God's law works like human law.

But with the design law view, we realize God waits until waiting any longer will do no good. He waits until the limits of resilience in the sinner is surpassed and the faculties in the sinner that respond to truth and love are irrevocably destroyed and no amount of truth and love will have any impact on them. Then God acts, not to inflict punishment, but to therapeutically intervene to limit suffering and save the species, in this case keep open the avenue for Messiah.

How long did God wait? Until there was only one righteous man and his family left on the Earth! Does that sound like God became intolerant or impatient? Just the opposite, it sounds like infinite love and patience waiting until there was nothing more love could do except act therapeutically in order to save the species.

The lesson makes a great point in the third paragraph, "Genesis 6:5 and 11…" This is true; sin is progressive, the law of diminishing returns, the same sinful activity that brought the initial reward, pleasure, or thrill, will be less rewarding the next time, so the sinful activity has to become more vulgar, corrupt, vile, extreme, a bigger dose, compounded with others abuses in order to get the thrill:

- the gambler has to risk more, make bigger bets
- the addict has to take more, bigger doses or compound with other substances
- the sex addict has to watch and indulge in ever devolving acts
- serial killers start with abusing animals, then killing animals and work their way up to people

Not only is the practice of sin progressive, it simultaneously destroys the faculties that prefer righteousness. Every act of sin sears the conscience, warps the character, hardens the heart so that minds become warped. The human heart is deceitful above all things and utterly wicked (Jer 17:9). The unrepentant lie to themselves, and others—"this isn't sin." They:

- Deny, distort, blame, project, externalize, obfuscate, accuse others
- They hate all messages that would counter their sinful lives, not just written or spoken messages, but the lives of the righteous who won't participate in their sinful choices. Those in darkness won't come into the light lest their evil deeds be exposed.
- It isn't enough that they are left free to corrupt themselves, because of what sin does; sin always causes guilt, fear, shame, inadequacy until the conscience is fully seared, so the unrepentant sinner must live in a world of lies to minimize their sense of guilt and shame.
- They seek to deny their own guilt and shame by demanding that people around them (society) accept them and tell them that they are okay. They cannot leave people who have different values free to live differently, but will seek to corrupt the innocent into their own sin or expel or destroy those who remind them of their own sinful lives. We see this in high schools where those using drugs work so hard to get those who don't use drugs to partake and if the some won't join in, then they are rejected and ostracized, or even intimidated, mocked, and bullied.

- The unrepentant will seek to silence voices that speak truth; they will seek to destroy the livelihoods of those whose lives are not conforming to their wicked standards.
- Look at Daniel—he didn't go around pointing out the sin in other's lives. He didn't go around preaching about the falsehood of the Babylonian and Persian gods. He merely went to his window and prayed to God three times a day and lived his life by refusing to participate in activities that gave honor to pagan gods. And what did the pagans do? They sought to destroy him.
- Look at God's prophets through Old Testament times, how many were persecuted.
- Look at Jesus—He spoke truth to the people and those wicked leaders sought to destroy Him. Same with the Apostles.

The wicked cannot stand those who live godly lives and speak the truth in love.

This is another evidence that those who have discernment can use to determine where God's enemy is at work. The people of God present the truth in love and leave others free. The enemies of God always seek to abuse, coerce, compel, restrict, restrain, punish, silence, eliminate the sources of truth:
- The Dark Ages church persecuted and sought to destroy the Reformers
- Nazi Germany persecuted and sought to destroy all voices that opposed their persecution of the Jews
- Communist countries always persecute and silence voices who challenge their authority, expose their abuses
- What about today—who seeks to de-platform, silence, coerce, intimidate, and use the power of either the state or commerce to inflicted punishment for speaking up and refusing to go along with agendas that violate liberty?

There was a progression to the wickedness, the hardening of the hearts of people in Noah's day. Do we see a similar thing happening today? Let's examine the progression in Noah's day and compare the pattern to today:
- First, they rejected God and adored nature in the place of the God of nature and came to value their own genius, ingenuity, and works of their hands and thus they forgot the knowledge of God—selfishness, rather than love, became the primary drive to existence
    - This led to worship of the created instead of the Creator, and in harmony with the law of worship, they became more debased
    - Has the theory of evolution become dominate in the world today? Are people forgetting the knowledge of God? And what happens when we worship the created rather than the Creator?
- Second, they became sexually perverse rejecting monogamy and engaging in polygamy and rather than marriages of co-equals men dominated women and women used their sexuality to seduce men
    - Has human sexuality become perverted in society today? Has God's design for marriage been devalued?
    - Has pornography grown like no time in human history?

    - Has gender itself come under attack?
- Third they became violent, taking by force whatever they wanted, including the women they wanted and blood sport became a passion
    - Have we seen in the world today increasing violence and the decreasing value of human life?
    - Have we seen groups advancing their agenda through mobs, riots, and violence?
    - Have we seen the state using more coercive powers of force and intimidation?
    - Have we seen increasing terrorism and wars?
- Fourth they perverted their diets and began eating animals
    - Have we seen in the world today the perversion of human diet and undermining of human health?
    - Have we seen the foods God created to nurture us replaced with foods God never gave for us to eat?
    - Have we seen the foods God did give us processed and altered with various man-made dyes, chemicals, preservatives that alter its nutritional value?
    - Is human health and mental health undermined by unhealthy diet? Absolutely!
- Fifth they perverted nature—it is my view that the dinosaurs are the result of various breeding, hybridization and other experiments done by the antediluvians to create creatures of violence for their blood sports. And because they were not part of God's creation they were not included on the ark.

From one of the founders of the SDA church, EG White, commenting on events prior to the flood:

> But if there was one sin above another which called for the destruction of the race by the flood, it was the base crime of amalgamation of man and beast which defaced the image of God, and caused confusion everywhere. God purposed to destroy by a flood that powerful, long-lived race that had corrupted their ways before him. He would not suffer them to live out the days of their natural life, which would be hundreds of years. It was only a few generations back when Adam had access to that tree which was to prolong life. After his disobedience he was not suffered to eat of the tree of life and perpetuate a life of sin. 3SG 64.1
> Every species of animal which God had created were preserved in the ark. The confused species which God did not create, which were the result of amalgamation, were destroyed by the flood. 3SG 75.2

Do you think this is too fantastical, that the writer was using her imagination to create fiction, or the writer was writing truth?

- Have we seen in the world today the corruption of nature itself, man-made bio weapons, viruses altered in virology labs and released upon the population?
- Have we seen the making of animal hybrids that are not part of God's creation?

Well, today, more than 6000 years from the fall, when we don't have the vitality they did, this is what we are doing today:

Hybrid animals today:

- Liger—a cross between a tiger and a lion
- Zonkey—a cross between a zebra and a donkey
- Jaglion—cross between a jaguar and lion
- Geep—cross between a goat and sheep
- Grolar bear—cross between a polar and brown bear
- Coywolf—cross between a coyote and wolf
- Wholphin—cross between a false killer whale and dolphin
- Beefalo—cross between a buffalo and cow
  https://www.boredpanda.com/strange-hybrid-animals-that-are-hard-to-believe-actually-exist/?utm_source=google&utm_medium=organic&utm_campaign=organic

But what about human-animal hybrids?

- "In a remarkable—if likely controversial—feat, scientists announced that they have created the first successful human-animal hybrids. The project proves that human cells can be introduced into a non-human organism, survive, and even grow inside a host animal, in this case, pigs." https://www.nationalgeographic.co.uk/science-and-technology/human-pig-hybrid-created-lab

- Human Monkey hybrids created in China https://singularityhub.com/2019/08/13/wait-what-the-first-human-monkey-hybrid-embryo-was-just-created-in-china/

- Mice with human brain cells are smarter https://www.intelligentliving.co/mice-human-brain-cells/

These are just some of the amalgamations that have occurred in our day.

Are we seeing the world corrupting itself just like it did prior to the Flood? And what is the impact upon the hearts and minds of people of these actions?

What is the role of the Christian in combating this activities?

- First we share the everlasting gospel, which calls people back to worship the Creator God—calling people out of both the godless worldview AND the imperial dictator god worldview, to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water. We share the good news of our God of love whose laws are design laws that life itself is built upon! And thus we always live out God's design laws and never seek to advance God's cause using Satan's methods, for regardless of how righteous the cause, when Satan's methods are brought to bear it will worsen the problem. The various coercive practices and loss of liberties brought about under the COVID rules are already demonstrating a devastating result that will in the end kill millions more than any potential lives saved from the virus.
- Second share God's original design for human relationships—God designed marriage of two co-equals who are joined together in bonds of other-centered love. We call people out of self-centered, survival driven, fear-based relationships in which individuals seek power over others to dominate and control them. We oppose the sexual exploitation of others and the lies about human gender and sexuality that are infecting the world.

- Third we refuse to use violence, coercion, intimidation, or compelling power to force our way. We present the truth in love and leave others free and we trust God with the future. We do not use the methods of the world, imperialism, threat, inflicted punishments, to force people to comply with the truth as we know it. Thus we are peacemakers, not war makers.
- Fourth we return, as far as possible, to the healthiest diet we can consume in the circumstances where we live. We teach the principles of healthy nutrition and advocate for healthy lifestyle, but we leave others free to decide for themselves.
- Fifth we protect nature, we as far as possible seek to be good stewards of the planet and the animals on the planet. We do not seek to advance the human being by splicing in animal DNA, or computer chips creating cyborgs. We recognize that we are created in the image of God and any attempts to improve on the human being will eventually degrade it. This does not mean we avoid medical interventions, prosthetics, designed to restore lost function whether cochlear implants, or artificial joints, of course we do. It means we don't seek to evolve the species into some next generation of so-called advanced species, what some are calling human 2.0.

TUESDAY

The Covenant with Noah—read Genesis 6:18:

> But I will establish my covenant with you; and you shall come into the ark, you, your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives with you. (RSV)

What is the covenant? Is this a separate covenant from the covenant of grace or is it part of that covenant?

What is the covenant of grace? The promised Messiah to remedy sin and save humanity.

Was the covenant with Noah necessary to achieve or fulfill the covenant of grace? Yes, so it is part of the larger covenant, a local and specific action to carry out the covenant of grace, keep open avenue for Messiah to save the world.

Read third paragraph, "However unique this…" Do you like the way this is expressed? What does it suggest? How would you say it differently?

Did the sin problem affect human beings differently than God? Yes, we were dying, terminal, corrupted, damaged, broken—God remains sinless, perfect, infinite, unsullied—but was God without injury? No, God had been wounded by loss, by grief, by heartache from the rebellion and sin in His universe and the loss of His heavenly family as well as Adam and Eve.

So, certainly we need a solution to do something different for us than God personally needed to for Himself—we needed healing, God didn't. But the very same solution that heals us also benefits God in that He has the joy of saving the people He loves. We benefit by personally being healed, saved, delivered from sin—God doesn't need this. God benefits by saving those He loves, both His human family and also stopping the loss of more of His heavenly family.

Parents, if you act to save your child from dying from some condition, do you benefit from that action? Of course, in a different way than the child who is healed, but you are benefited because you love the child. So God's benefit is because He is love!

So, understanding this that God's benefit is saving the lost and protecting His heavenly family from rebellion, here are some quotes I find do a good job in dsecribing this larger perspective on what God accomplished through Christ:

- For God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross. (Col 1:19-20 NIV84)
- But the plan of redemption had a yet broader and deeper purpose than the salvation of man. It was not for this alone that Christ came to the earth; it was not merely that the inhabitants of this little world might regard the law of God as it should be regarded; but it was to vindicate the character of God before the universe. To this result of His great sacrifice--its influence upon the intelligences of other worlds, as well as upon man--the Saviour looked forward when just before His crucifixion He said: "Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all unto Me." John 12:31, 32. The act of Christ in dying for the salvation of man would not only make heaven accessible to men, but before all the universe it would justify God and His Son in their dealing with the rebellion of Satan. It would establish the perpetuity of the law of God and would reveal the nature and the results of sin. {PP 68.2}
- By coming to dwell with us, Jesus was to reveal God both to men and to angels. He was the Word of God,--God's thought made audible. In His prayer for His disciples He says, "I have declared unto them Thy name,"--"merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth,"--"that the love wherewith Thou hast loved Me may be in them, and I in them." But not alone for His earthborn children was this revelation given. Our little world is the lesson book of the universe. God's wonderful purpose of grace, the mystery of redeeming love, is the theme into which "angels desire to look," and it will be their study throughout endless ages. Both the redeemed and the unfallen beings will find in the cross of Christ their science and their song. It will be seen that the glory shining in the face of Jesus is the glory of self-sacrificing love. In the light from Calvary it will be seen that the law of self-renouncing love is the law of life for earth and heaven; that the love which "seeketh not her own" has its source in the heart of God; and that in the meek and lowly One is manifested the character of Him who dwelleth in the light which no man can approach unto. DA 19, 20
- That which alone can effectually restrain from sin in this world of darkness, will prevent sin in heaven. The significance of the death of Christ will be seen by saints and angels. Fallen men could not have a home in the paradise of God without the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. Shall we not then exalt the cross of Christ? The angels ascribe honor and glory to Christ, for even they are not secure except by looking to the sufferings of the Son of God. It is through the efficacy of the cross that the angels of heaven are guarded from > apostasy. Without the cross they would be no more secure against evil than were the angels before the fall of Satan. Angelic perfection failed in heaven. Human perfection failed in Eden, the paradise of bliss. All who wish for security in earth or heaven must look to the Lamb of God. The plan of salvation, making manifest the justice and love of God, provides an eternal safeguard against defection in unfallen worlds, as well as among those who shall be redeemed by the blood of the Lamb. {5BC 1132.8}

Does God benefit from the covenant? Yes, but in different ways than we do.

Regarding the covenant or agreement—can God save a sinner without that sinner's participation or agreement? Can a sinner be saved without God?

God, through Christ becoming human and living sinlessly and overcoming and reestablishing God's law into the species, could save the human species, which He did in Christ. But any other individual human God cannot save without that individual human's consent and active participation.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Few natural phenomenon…" Do you see how Satan will take something of God and exploit, abuse, pervert, coopt it for his agenda to injure and harm?

Other examples of Satan doing this?

- The law of worship—replacing the truth of God for a lie and getting people to worship the created or anything other than God and being damaged by it.
- The Sabbath—either rejecting it completely and losing the benefits of weekly rest and time with God and the evidences that the Sabbath reveals in God's design law methods of truth, love and freedom. Or keeping the day but replacing it with imposed law understanding such that it becomes a rule people must keep in which the Sabbath misrepresents God as imperial and punishing.
- Marriage—rejecting co-equals operating upon other-centered love where the relationship builds up both parties, they expand and grow as they unite their complementary abilities in loving union and instead making marriage something else—hierarchical in which one spouse dominates and rules over the other; polygamy in which true union of co-equals never occurs; cohabitation without marital commitment; adultery and every other means to subvert the relationship.
- Foods given by God for our health replaced with foods never given to us by God to eat, or by manipulating the foods to such a degree with added manmade chemicals that the foods become harmful rather than nurturing.
- Replacing God's law with man's law and teaching that justice is infliction of punishment rather than eliminating defects and restoring to health

Read third paragraph, "The Lord said He would…" Have all humans been benefited from the covenant of grace given in Eden, even those who reject it?

Hasn't God held at bay the full consequences of sin to allow the plan of salvation to be carried out and offered to all humanity? Isn't this a benefit to all humanity whether they accept it or not? So in that regard God's actions to carry out the covenant of grace is just like the covenant with Noah.

THURSDAY

The lesson raises the concept of the remnant, those who are left. Noah and his family being a remnant. What does this concept mean to you?

Who are the remnant today?

Read sixth paragraph, "At the time of the Flood…" What do you understand the concept of God being Judge and the judgment to be?

What law lens to you understand it through? If human law then what does it mean?

If design law what does it mean? To make it simple and help you shift your mind from a false human law model of judicial proceedings with artificial imposed rules and punishments, just replace the word "judgment" with the word "diagnosis" and "judgments" with "therapeutic interventions" and you will get it right.

God looked upon the world and diagnosed or judged that all hearts were beyond healing except Noah and his family.

- He judged that the rest of the world had rejected Him and practiced sin so long that they had destroyed the faculties that respond to truth and love and there was nothing more He could do to save them.
- He judged that if He didn't intervene that Noah and his family would be destroyed and the avenue for Messiah would be closed and the entire human species lost.
- Thus He judged a therapeutic action was necessary. He needed to act to put to sleep the rebellious and terminal children so that the healthy children would not be destroyed and the avenue for Messiah would reman open and the human raced saved.
- Further, He judged that the conditions on Earth had to be changed to reduce the easiness of life, to make life harder in order that the necessities of living would occupy their time and reduce time for sinful indulgence.
- Further, He judged that it was necessary to reduce life span to 120 years so that the truly wicked could not influence as many generations and accumulate as much power and thus again limit the spread of sin and rebellion.

So, through design law we see the Flood as an incredible manifestation of love, mercy and grace in carrying out the plan of salvation and nothing in it of a punitive or arbitrary nature.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 4
An Everlasting Covenant

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

What is a covenant? A solemn agreement, a contract.

What is the everlasting covenant? What is the everlasting agreement or contract?

- God covenants, agrees, commits, contracts to do something we need and we are required to do something in order for the covenant or agreement to be fulfilled in our lives
- What has God agreed, committed, contracted to do?
    - God agreed to send Jesus to be our Savior and through Jesus deliver humans from sin, restore planet Earth to perfection, establish an everlasting kingdom and give the Earth to Abraham's descendants with Christ as the supreme Ruler
- What did Abraham agree, contract, commit, to do?
    - To trust God and follow God's directions

Is this a legal contract or simply an expression of the agreement that reality requires in order for salvation to occur?

Is marriage a covenant relationship?

- And as God designed marriage was it a legal contract?
- What kind of agreement or covenant is marriage as God designed it?
- And marriage is used as a metaphor for the relationship between Christ and the church, so what insight does the marriage covenant give us about the covenant of grace?

Is the New Covenant, the covenant of grace, a legal agreement or something else? Is it the agreement that healing, saving, restoring sinners requires in the universe God built?

- What is required in order for sinners to be saved?
    - Is faith or trust required?
        - Faith or trust in God is the means whereby the requirement of salvation are applied into the believer—so without faith or trust the sinner cannot be saved. But does faith or trust save the sinner?
        - Consider a person dying of a terminal illness and the doctor has a cure, but the patient doesn't trust the doctor and refuses to allow the doctor to administer it, will the patient be saved?
        - Consider the dying patient trusts the doctor but the doctor has no remedy to cure the terminal condition, will their trust in the doctor result in their getting well?

No, it requires the patient have faith or trust and permit the doctor to apply the remedy, but the doctor must have a remedy that heals.

- So our faith or trust is required in order to access, receive, partake of what God provides that saves us—but our trust does not save or heal us, the remedy provided by God does.
- So, Hebrews 11:1 "Faith is the substance of things hoped for…" Substance comes from the Greek hypostasis—which has two parts, hypo as in hypoglycemia or hypo tension and it means low or under and was translated as sub, as subway or submarine. And stasis means something solid, something in stasis doesn't change or waver. So it was translated as the stance, substance. Which is in English literally faith is our understanding—and understanding has two meanings, our comprehension and also our agreement—we have an agreement with God based on our understanding of the problem, who God is, what He has provided and our confidence in Him. Thus our faith is based on solid evidence of reality and also an expression of our agreement with God. Just like a marriage covenant—when you covenant in marriage you trust or have faith in your spouse and that faith is your understanding of their love, trustworthiness, and commitment to you and also your commitment and responsibility to them.
- So faith is required but faith does not heal, it is the avenue through which we connect with God to receive the remedy which heals and that faith is an intelligent, enlightened understanding of God, the sin problem and His solution.

- Grace, is grace required or our salvation?
  - If God is not gracious, if God does not act in grace toward us or extend grace toward us, then would He have sent Jesus?
  - So yes, grace is required, without a gracious God extending grace we could not be saved.
  - But God was always gracious, even before humankind sinned. But sin required an action from God, an expression of grace that was never before needed; and that action, that intervention, is God's work, favor, beneficial activity to provide the remedy or cure to our sin condition.
    - This activity, intervention, active working of God's power to heal us from sin is grace and it is not earned by us, the remedy is not procured by is, it is not worked for, bought, or an any other way compensation to us for something we have done. So in that sense it is unmerited grace, unearned. But, because of who we are to God, He loved us so much that He sent His only Son—so while we didn't do anything to merit it, we merit it because of who we are to God—His creation, His children, designed by Him to glorify Him. We are His and that is why we merit it, but not because of some work.
- Forgiveness, is forgiveness required?
  - If God refused to forgive then we couldn't be saved, so yes forgiveness is required.
  - Is God's forgiveness a legal action in a court, or a personal action from His heart?

        - Did Jesus forgive His murderers at the cross? Did that save them?
            - They didn't open their hearts to receive the forgiveness and with it the transforming power of God to save and heal them.
        - Does God's personal forgiveness fix the damage sin has caused? No, so something more is required.
        - So God's forgiveness is required—both from God and within the sinner, meaning the sinner must receive into their heart that forgiveness which results in repentance and conversion and receiving the remedy that heals or saves us.
    - Is an erasure of historic records required to save sinners?
        - Will a coverup of what happened move sinners from death to life? No!
        - Will erasure of historical records heal or change sinners? No! So this is not needed to save sinners.
    - Is an adjustment of God's attitude required to save sinners—assuaging His wrath, propitiating His anger?
        - Is God the problem, the obstacle? When humans sinned did God get changed? Does any activity need to be done to God to fix God so sinners can be saved? Or did Adam's sin change the condition of human beings and God needs to remedy, fix that condition in order to save sinners?
        - So no payment, appeasement, or propitiation to God is needed to save sinners
    - Is a legal payment to the law or lawgiver required?
        - Did God's law get changed when Adam sinned? No! So again, nothing needs to be done to God or God's law to save sinners, but something does need to be done to human beings to save us. What?
        - So no legal payment is needed to save sinners.

What is required to save us?

- What is the basis of life? God is the source of all life, and what has God constructed life to operate upon? Perfect harmony with Him, which is His law built into nature itself. God's design law for life is the law of love, the protocol of beneficence upon which life is constructed to operate. This law originates in God Himself, emanates from God and is sustained constantly by the outflow of God's energy and sustaining power. Life only exists in harmony with God.
    - Our current life on earth is due to grace, to God acting to create an artificial bubble of reality to allow the plan of salvation to occur. We are metaphorically speaking, on artificial life support, while God does spiritual heart surgery on us, restoring our hearts and minds back to His design so we can be taken off this artificial life support and live eternally in His presence.
- Sin transgresses this law, the protocols life is built upon, and sin, the breaking of the law, causes death.
    - The wages of sin is death Romans 6:23
    - Sin when full grown brings forth death James 1:15
    - Those who sow to the carnal nature, from that nature reap destruction Galatians 6:8
    - Salvation requires that the law of life be restored as the operating principle in the living being in order for there to be life.

- So salvation of sinners requires that we must:
  - be reborn
  - have a new heart and right spirit
  - have the law written on the heart
  - have the mind of Christ
  - die to fear and selfishness and be resurrected to love and truth
  - have the heart of stone removed and a tender heart put within
  - have circumcision of the heart
  - die to self and have Christ live within us

So, we have a terminal condition inherited from Adam that we did not choose and which results in eternal death unless it is remedied. We cannot procure the remedy, so God sent Jesus to do that for us.

God covenants or agrees to take up this terminal condition, to become human and subject to all the weakness and temptation of this condition and eradicate the sin-infection, to destroy the death causing principle and restore the law of life into humanity, thereby saving the species and simultaneously providing the remedy to all who trust Him. When we trust Him, we receive via the Holy Spirit the victory of Christ in our hearts and minds. We die to selfishness and fear and are born again with motives of love and trust.

So the covenant: God agrees to provide the cure and we agree to trust God, open the heart and let Him heal us and then follow His directions or prescription.

This a legal contract it is the relational agreement reality requires to heal sinners. Why? Because we could not procure the remedy and God cannot use power to force a change in our hearts and minds without destroying our individuality. His healing of us requires our agreement—our understanding, our trust or faith in Him in order for Him to work in our hearts and minds and heal us without destroying our unique personhoods.

Consider these historic quotes that document what we are teaching is not new not something we invented, as it shouldn't be because the sin problem and its solution have been the same since Adam sinned. This first one is one of my favorites:

> The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. [What does the law require? a righteous life—is this a righteous life in the sinner, or a righteous life in a non sinner? Where is the righteous life to be that the law requires? What kind of law is this? Why does the law require it? Why don't we have a righteous character to give?] He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. [Heb 5:9 "once he was made perfect he became the source of salvation for all who obey him." Bible perfection isn't about sinlessness, Jesus was sinless but He had to "become" perfect. Bible perfection is about maturity of character. God can create sinless beings, Lucifer, Adam, Eve, but those sinless beings did not "perfect" or mature their character, they become corrupt. After Adam's sin there were no human beings with sinless character—"all have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God."

But life requires perfect harmony with God's design laws because life is built to operate upon them. So Jesus became human and as a human was tempted in all points like we are yet lived out, as a human, using human abilities, by constant trust in His Father, a sinless life thus developing a perfect human character. At the cross He destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness and established permanently God's law of life into the humanity He assumed—thereby saving the species while simultaneously procuring the remedy we need. This is why He arose on the third day and could predict that He would arise, not because He had a prophetic vision of the future, but because He knew the law of love is the protocol of life and when that law was perfectly into His humanity and the infection was eliminated He would arise again. The grave could not hold Him. So Peter says in Acts 2:24 it was impossible for death to hold Him.] These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. [He offers us a holy life and perfect character—Not in some legal way applied to some registry in heaven, but actual, within us. "It is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me" Gal 2:20. Revelation describes those who are saved as "these are they who do not love their lives so much as to shrink from death" vs. 12:11. Fear and selfishness, the survival of the fittest drives, are overwritten with God's law of love, and these individuals, through trust in Jesus, have been transformed. They are saved/healed.] His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. [Where is this happening, in a courtroom, in a record book, or in the believer? This is actual, literal, real transformation and healing. It is not legal in a courtroom!] God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Rom. 3:26. {DA 762.2} [Notice that justifying is building up or putting the human character right with God again, the law is fulfilled IN THE BELIEVER not in a legal court!]

But the law requires that the soul itself be pure and the mind holy, that the thoughts and feelings may be in accordance with the standard of love and righteousness.--RH, Apr 5, 1898. (2SM 211.) {2MCP 564.1} [What are the thoughts and feelings combined? Our moral character, so the law requires our character be in harmony with the standard of love—which is the law of love, which is the protocol upon which God built reality to operate. Why does the law require this? For the same reason the law of respiration requires we breathe.]

The divine law requires us to love God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves. Without the exercise of this love, the highest profession of faith is mere hypocrisy. . . . {A New Life NL 32.1} [Do you see this can be no other law than design law—why? Can you get love through legislation, or imposition, or threat, or coercion, or inflicted punishment? Understand, human law, imposed law, is made up and enforced through punishment—and love can never be generated in such a way. Therefore, if God's law requires us to love God and our neighbor, it cannot be like human law. Satan has infected Christianity with the destructive lie that God's law is like human law, imposed rules requiring imposed punishment. This has resulted in Christianity teaching and worshipping a false god who is like Satan in character, a being who uses his power to torment and inflict death to punish sin.]

So there is a covenant—an agreement with God—what is it?

What was the covenant with Abraham?

- Was it different than the covenant given to Adam, the promise of Jesus, or what is the continuation of that same covenant, adding the specification that Jesus would come from Abraham's descendants?
- Was the covenant with Adam to provide a Savior to save only one ethnic group, or to provide salvation for all human beings?
- Was the covenant to Abraham only for those who are genetic descendants, biological relatives, of Abraham or was the covenant for all humanity?
- Who is considered a descendant of Abraham and heir to the promises of God given in this covenant?
- What was the land promised to Abraham?

My view is that God gave multiple explanations of the covenant to Abraham as recorded in Genesis, and God referenced both the local establishment of the nation of Israel as the conduit for the Messiah and the larger promise of deliverance from sin and restoring the Earth to sinlessness.

The various promises to Abraham are:

> The LORD appeared to Abram and said, "I will give this land to your descendants." (Gen 12:7 NCV).
> The LORD said to Abram… "Lift up your eyes from where you are and look north and south, east and west. All the land that you see I will give to you and your offspring forever. I will make your offspring like the dust of the earth, so that if anyone could count the dust, then your offspring could be counted. Go, walk through the length and breadth of the land, for I am giving it to you." (Ge 13:14–17 NIV84).
>
> Then the word of the Lord came to him… "Look up at the heavens and count the stars—if indeed you can count them." Then he said to him, "So shall your offspring be." Abram believed the Lord, and he credited it to him as righteousness. (Gen 15:4-6 NIV84)
> As for me, this is my covenant with you: You will be the father of many nations. No longer will you be called Abram; your name will be Abraham, for I have made you a father of many nations. I will make you very fruitful; I will make nations of you, and kings will come from you. I will establish my covenant as an everlasting covenant between me and you and your descendants after you for the generations to come, to be your God and the God of your descendants after you. The whole land of Canaan, where you are now an alien, I will give as an everlasting possession to you and your descendants after you; and I will be their God." (Ge 17:4–8 NIV84).

Do you hear elements of God's promise to Abraham's biological family to work through them to bring about the larger promise given to Adam? Do you hear elements of a promise that goes far beyond just the land of Palestine?

So, I paraphrased Genesis 13:14-17 as:

> The Lord said to Abram, "Look around you in every direction – north, south, east and west. The whole earth – all that you see – I will give to you and your descendants forever. I will make your descendants beyond counting – like trying to count the dust of the earth. Go ahead and walk about the land that I am giving to you."

My view is that God was communicating to Abraham the working out of the everlasting covenant to save the species, restore Earth to perfection, and the planet will become the home of the righteous.

So, God has covenanted to save humanity. He chose Abraham to be the progenitor of the family through whom Jesus would be born—but the covenant was not restricted to his biological descendants, but given to all those who are like Abraham in character.

The Jews in Christ day believed the promises to Abraham were based on biology, genetics, and Jesus told them they were wrong:

> I know you are Abraham's descendants. [Jesus acknowledges their genetics] Yet you are ready to kill me, because you have no room for my word. I am telling you what I have seen in the Father's presence, and you do what you have heard from your father." [But Jesus tells them that their genetics doesn't determine whose children they are; He tells them that they have a different father than Abraham]
> 39 "Abraham is our father," they answered. [They protest and insist that it is genetics that matters]
>
> "If you were Abraham's children," said Jesus, "then you would do the things Abraham did. [Now Jesus makes it clear, being a child of Abraham is not about genetics, it is about being like Abraham in character, about trusting God, having the faith of Abraham, living out God's methods and following where God leads. In fact, in Scripture the faithful are often referred to as the children of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—why? Because the three represent the covenant lived out—We must have the faith of Abraham and thus are children of Abraham, but we must also have a miracle birth (be born from that which is dead—remember Sarah womb was considered dead. So we which are dead in trespass and sin must be reborn by the power of the Holy Spirit) and thus are children in Isaac, and we must in union with God wrestle against our own fears, selfishness and sinfulness to be overcomers and thus are children of Jacob and get a new name Israelites—heirs of the promise.] As it is, you are determined to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham did not do such things. You are > doing the things your own father does." [Jesus again makes it clear we are children of whose character we emulate and develop.]

>
> "We are not illegitimate children," they protested. "The only Father we have is God himself." [Again they protest Jesus' revelation and now claim God as their Father.]
> Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and now am here. I have not come on my own; but he sent me. Why is my language not clear to you? Because you are unable to hear what I say. You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father's desire. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies" (John 8:37-44 NIV84). [Jesus makes it unmistakable, genetics are irrelevant, what matters is character. Those who have faith like Abraham are children of Abraham. Those who reject the truth, don't trust God, prefer a legal religion with an imperial dictator god are children of their god the devil]

Paul wrote the same thing: "And if you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's descendants, heirs according to the promise." (Galatians 3:29 New English Translation)

So, what is the covenant? What is God's responsibility? What is ours?

We are to trust, or have faith and obey—what does it mean to obey?

In the New Testament the Greek word for obedience, obey, to obey is: πακοή [hupakoe /hoop·ak·o·ay/

And it has two halves—the first half is where we get hypo, as in hypoglycemia, or hypotension, or hypodermic and means low, or under, and the last half is where we get acoustics and acoustical, and means to listen or hear. And thus the Biblical meaning of obedience is a humble willingness to listen, learn, comprehend and hear was God is teaching.

This is why Jesus said repeatedly, things like, hearing though they do not hear, or let him who has ears, hear. So people say things today like, "Do you hear me?" "Are you listening?"

So what does it mean to be obedient in God's kingdom? It is about performance, or about heart motivation?

Why is this our responsibility in the covenant?

- What is the war between God and Satan over? God's character and trustworthiness
- Where is the battlefield? Our minds and hearts (2Cor 10:3-5)
- What are the weapons of Satan? Lies, imperial law and human governments or force to coerce, human economics—buying selling owning—greed, accusation, temptation to sin, division and death. All designed to inflame fear and inspire more selfishness to protect self at the expense of others.

- What are the weapons of God? Truth, love and freedom, which provides evidence to build or faith or trust and we exercise that faith in active interacting or relationship with God, talking to Him, connecting with Him—i.e. prayer, reading the Bible, meditating upon God, His design law, nature, what Christ accomplished at the cross. We humbly listen and choose to embrace and act upon those principles of God that He reveals to us. Thus, we work out our salvation with awe and humility, constantly covenanting with God in our daily cooperative relationship with Him.
- What is it that determines who is considered righteous—behavior or the condition of the heart?
- But, as the heart is healed do the behaviors change?
- But what is the key to changing the heart? Trust in God
    - and what is the key to trusting God? The truth
    - and what is the key to understanding and assimilating truth? A humble willingness to listen and learn—which is Biblical obedience!
    - Thus as we obey, as we listen, learn and follow Him in action, we gather more evidence by experience of God's goodness, the reliability of His methods, the constancy of His laws, the peace, joy, love, and spiritual healing of His presence, and our trust or faith increase based on the evidence of our experience with Him harmonized with Scripture and His design laws for life.

Thus our responsibility in the covenant with God is to listen, think, really hear what God is saying to us, trust Him and choose what He reveals to us.

SUNDAY

Read paragraphs 3-5, "When God first entered…" What does the name Yahweh mean to you? The eternal self-existent God. The being who has life original, unborrowed, underived from another source.

Who is this Yahweh? Jesus said it was Him, "I tell you the truth," Jesus answered, "before Abraham was born, I am!" (John 8:58 NIV84).

Do you see why the Jews wanted to kill Him? Jesus is Yahweh—the eternal self existent one, with life original, unborrowed, underived.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on another of God's names, El-Shaddai, which means Almighty God, what does this mean to you?

Who is this being? It is also Jesus—He is the member of the Godhead who interacts with human beings throughout the Old Testament. Paul says Jesus was the rock from whom Israel drank!

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the change in name from Abram to Abraham.

What is the significance of a name in the Bible? It is about character.

So, when we consider God's various names what are we to be learning? Things about His character. And what is the most significant aspects of God's name, character, that we are to know? What part of God's name came under attack by Satan?

- Did Satan allege God was not powerful?
- Satan's attack was upon God's trustworthiness, which was through allegations of imperialism and partiality—arbitrary rules arbitrarily applied

Have humans struggled with knowing God? Have human beings accepted various lies about God? Has God worked to bring us back to the truth about Him?

There are several attributes of God that recur through Scripture that God repeatedly utilizes to differentiate Him from the multitude of false gods, what are some of these?

- God is Creator—all false gods cannot create—meaning God is the life-giver
- God is eternal—He has no beginning—all false gods are created
- God is forgiving, He freely pardons—all false gods require payment, appeasement, offerings to purchase pardon
- God is truth—all false gods are liars
- God is love—all false gods are selfish
- God sacrifices Himself to uplift His creation—all false gods demand the worshippers sacrifice to uplift the god
- God governs via design laws—all false gods govern via imposed rules with imposed punishments

There are many names for God in the Bible, but they all reveal elements of His character and methods of love, how He as Creator built reality to operate and His plan to restore us to unity with Him and eternal life.

Notice how God describes what he does for the sake of His name in Ezekiel:

> "Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, declares the Sovereign Lord, when I show myself holy through you before their eyes.

> " 'For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws…(Ezekiel 36:22-27 NV84).

What does the Lord do to magnify His name? He heals hearts and mind!

And how is this possible? What is the means, mechanism, mode of healing hearts and minds?

Can hearts and minds be healed by:

- Legislation?
- Imposed laws?
- Threats of inflicted punishment?
- Coercion?
- Imprisonment?
- Judicial action?
- Declaration?
- Legal accounting in books?
- Jesus pleading to God to be gracious?
- Jesus pleading to God to be forgiving?
- Rituals such as water baptism or eating a communion wafer?
- Going to church on the right day?
- Eating the right foods?

What is the only method to actual glorify God's name and removing hearts of stone and putting in tender hearts so that we live out God's law of love?

> Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit,' says the LORD Almighty. (Zechariah 4:6 NIV84)

And the Spirit is the Spirit of truth and love. God wins us with the truth and then pours His love into our hearts. In trust, we open our hearts and the Spirit takes the victory of Christ and reproduces it in us, we get new desires and motives of God's living law of love produced within us. We are literally transformed in character. And only the Creator God can do this.

And when this happens, we get a name change—for our character changes and our "names" are registered in the "books" of heaven. Our characters are recorded as healed and renewed in heaven.

Abraham's name is changed in Genesis chapter 17. Let's read verses 1-14 from The Remedy and see what you think? Do you agree? Have I missed something?

1When Abram was ninety-nine years old, the Lord appeared to him and said, "I am El-Shaddai – the Almighty Creator God. If you go where I direct; if you stop depending on yourself and perfectly trust me, 2then our agreement that you and your descendants are to become my helpers in fulfilling my plan to save humanity can go forward, and I will bless you with many descendants."

3Abram, overwhelmed with awe, dropped to his knees and put his face to the ground. And God said to him, 4"This is the agreement that I made with you: Through you and your descendants my promise to save humanity will be accomplished, thus you will be the father of many nations. 5You will no longer be called Abram (which means 'exalted father'), henceforth you will be known as Abraham (which means 'father of many'), for I have made you the father of many nations. 6I will make you extremely fruitful; I will make nations of you, and kings will come from you. 7I will carry out my promise of grace – to provide the Remedy, free and complete, to all who trust me. This is as an ongoing promise to you and your descendants for generations to come: I will be your God – your Savior, Protector and Sustainer – and the God of all who trust me like you do.8The entire land of Canaan, where you are now a foreigner, I will give to your descendants as part of my plan to fulfill my everlasting promise of grace – my plan to save humanity. I will be their God."

9Then God instructed Abraham, "You must keep our agreement: You agree to trust me and follow my instructions, and I agree to heal your heart and mind; you and your descendants must keep our agreement – as you trust me, I will heal your hearts and minds. 10This is my promise to you and your descendants. Our agreement – which cuts fear and selfishness out of your hearts and writes love into your hearts – you are to inscribe symbolically, as a reminder, on your flesh, by having every male among you circumcised. 11You are to undergo circumcision, and it will be a sign of our agreement – your trust in me and in my healing of your heart and mind. 12For generations to come, every male among you is to be circumcised on the eighth day after his birth. This applies to all males born into your family as well as those born to your servants or any foreign-born servants whom you purchase. 13Whether they are born in your household or bought with money, all males must be circumcised. My promise to heal you will be inscribed on your flesh as an ongoing reminder of our agreement. 14Any male who is uncircumcised and refuses to be circumcised will be cut off from the people, for he has broken the agreement – he has refused to trust me and let me heal him and cut fear and selfishness out of his heart."

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "As we have seen so far…" this is well said, it is always the covenant of grace, the covenant of God to send the Messiah to remedy the sin problem and provide us a free remedy that we can partake through faith or trust.

The lesson asks us to read Genesis 18:19, the lesson puts the verse at the top of the page and has chosen the KJV, which reads:

> For I know him, that he will command his children and his household after him, and they shall keep the way of the Lord, to do justice and judgment; that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that which he hath spoken of him.

What do you think of this translation?

What does justice and judgment connote? Does it lead your mind down legal paths? Do you get tempted to think legal or imposed laws, rules, deeds, tribunals, examination of records, judicial findings, need of legal payment etc?

Here are some other translations of this verse:

- For I have chosen him, so that he will direct his children and his household after him to keep the way of the LORD by doing what is right and just, so that the LORD will bring about for Abraham what he has promised him." (NIV84)
- I have chosen him so that he may command his children and his household after him to keep the way of the LORD by doing what is right and just. Then the LORD will give to Abraham what he promised him." (New English Translation)
- For I know Abraham and have chosen him to head the family through whom I will fulfill my promise to save humanity. He will teach his children and their families to live in harmony with me and my design for life, to do what is right and exercise good judgment, and I will fulfill through Abraham what I promised him I would do." 2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 5
Children of the Promise

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read the story in the lesson, “A father and…” Do we know Jesus is coming back to get us? Do we have the same confidence of this little girl?

Why wasn’t the little girl afraid? Was she floating in an ocean free of sharks? So she wasn’t afraid of abandonment, she didn’t doubt her father would return, but why wasn’t she afraid of sharks while she waited for her father’s return? Because she didn’t focus her attention on sharks, she focused her attention on her father’s promise.

Where does the Bible tell us we are to focus?

> “Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith…” (Hebrews 12:2 NIV84).

What would have happened to the little girl’s attitude had she focused on the possibility of sharks or fatigue or drowning? Could her worrying about such things have actually burned up more energy and exhausted her sooner?

Are we vulnerable today to taking our focus off of Jesus and allowing the dangers in the world to fill our minds and overwhelm our hearts?

What happens if we focus upon:

- COVID
- Global warming
- Over population
- Social injustice
- Governmental abuse

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424
comeandreason.com
topics@comeandreason.com

- Gun violence
- Or any other danger in this world?

Who is the prince of this world? What is his goal? It is critical that at this time in human history we keep our eyes fixed on Jesus and fulfill our responsibilities in how we live, practicing His methods in our lives while trusting our Savior with the future, with how things turn out.

SUNDAY

Read Genesis 15:1:

> After this, the word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision: "Do not be afraid, Abram. I am your shield, your very great reward" (NIV84).

What does this mean?

What does it mean that God is Abram's shield?

Shield from what?

Is this primarily a temporal shield from physical disease, starvation, attack from marauders, or is it something more, a spiritual shield, a shield against fear, selfishness, and eternal death?

Is it a shield from Satan's attacks that would seek to destroy his faith, to destroy his usefulness in God's plan—and what is God's plan? To bring Messiah to heal him and the human race from sin and save us eternally—so is God shielding merely from temporal problems or is His shielding from temporal problems for the working out of His plan of salvation and deliverance from eternal ruin and death?

In fact, if we look at God's shielding from a spiritual perspective—about carrying out the plan of salvation to save sinners—does God sometimes NOT shield people from personal temporal trials and even death because they are spiritually healed and have eternal life and their temporal trials or death, while not brought about by God, God does not interfere to prevent because it will be the means to reach others and bring more people to salvation? Consider the martyrs during the time of Rome how their deaths in the arena led many to Christ.

The lesson asks, “Why would the first thing the Lord says to Abram be, ‘Fear not?’ What would Abram have to fear?”

From where does fear originate or come? It comes from sin and being out of harmony with God. As soon as Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because they were afraid.

The sin condition itself incites fear, guilt, shame a sense of inadequacy, fear of rejection, of not being good enough, insecurity, and fear of punishment. This comes from the condition and it is magnified when exposed to God’s love and truth.

When a sinner comes close to godly truth and love their sense of personal shortcomings, sinfulness, defectiveness becomes more intense and this causes a greater sense of fear. The individual either surrenders themselves in trust to God or runs from God. Thus, every time an angel appears to one of God’s prophets they first thing they say is “fear not” or “don’t be afraid.”

We have nothing to fear from God, we have something to fear from the sin condition, from sin itself, from refusing to allowing God to heal us.

It is like cancer, we don’t need to fear the cancer doctor, we need to fear unhealed cancer.

Or it is like going to the dentist, we don’t need to fear the dentist. He or she is there to help us, to identify any cavities and fix them. Yet, many people are afraid of going to the dentist—why? Because the healing process can be painful, even when the dentist is gentle.

Likewise, this truism holds: Once there is brokenness there are no pain-free options. There is only healing or remaining broken and getting worse. Going to Jesus requires dying to self, circumcision of the heart, crucifying the flesh and this process is painful to the self. It is going through the valley of the shadow of death led by our shepherd in the path of righteousness for the restoring of our soul. Yes, it is painful, but not harmful; it results in healing, renewal and the resolution of pain and a life of joy and happiness. Yet, many people reject healing and instead choose the path of pain avoidance, of what feels good right now. It would be like taking pain medicine for a cavity instead of getting the tooth fixed.

This is what Eastern meditation does—it avoids the valley of the shadow of death by self-directed emptying meditation that results in calming the fear circuits and creating a sense of disconnection from the immediate. Biblical meditation leads one to truth, the truth of their condition and the truth of our God of love who longs to heal us; and then God leads us through the healing process, which is transiently painful, but results in transformation of the heart and curing of the sin problem.

So, where does fear come from? From sin and it is resolved by experiencing God's love transforming our hearts. Perfect love casts out all fear.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the promise to Abraham and his "seed" and how all the nations of the earth would be blessed.

What does this mean?

Are the promises to Abraham just to the genetic descendants of Abraham or to all humanity?

God has covenanted in Genesis 3 to save the human species. He chose Abraham to be the progenitor of the family through whom Jesus would be born—but the covenant was not restricted to his biological descendants; it was given to all those who are like Abraham in character.

The Jews in Christ day believed the promises to Abraham were based on biology, genetics, and Jesus let them know their understanding was wrong:

I know you are Abraham's descendants. [Jesus acknowledges their genetics] Yet you are ready to kill me, because you have no room for my word. [They are not lovers of truth. They are not open to be led out of lies into the light of truth. Remember those who are lost in the end are those who did not love the truth and thus be saved. The Bible doesn't say that the saved know ALL truth, for none of us know all truth, only God is infinite and knows all things. The saved are those who have hearts that love truth and want to grow in the truth when it is presented and the Holy Spirit enlightens them to see and understand it. But these leaders didn't have minds and hearts that loved truth, in fact they hated it and constantly worked to obstruct it. Thus the means to heal them they rejected.] I am telling you what I have seen in the Father's presence, and you do what you have heard from your father." [Here Jesus tells them that their genetics doesn't determine whose children they are; He tells them that they have a different father than Abraham even though they are genetically descended from Abraham.]

"Abraham is our father," they answered. [They protest and insist that it is genetics that matters]

"If you were Abraham's children," said Jesus, "then you would do the things Abraham did. [Now Jesus makes it clear who is a child of Abraham and it is not about genetics; it is about being like Abraham in character, about trusting God, about having the faith of Abraham, about living out God's methods and following where God leads. In fact, in Scripture the faithful are often referred to as the children of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—why? Because the three represent the covenant lived out—We must have the faith of Abraham and thus are children of Abraham; but we must also have a miracle birth (be born from that which is dead—remember Sarah womb was considered dead. So we which are dead in trespass and sin must be reborn by the power of the Holy Spirit) and thus are children in Isaac; and we must, in union with God, wrestle against our own fears, selfishness and sinfulness to be overcomers and thus are children of Jacob and get a new name Israelites—heirs of the promise.] As it is, you are determined to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham did not do such things. You are doing the things your own father does." [Jesus again makes it clear we are children of whose character we emulate and develop.]

topics@comeandreason.com

> "We are not illegitimate children," they protested. "The only Father we have is God himself." [Again they protest Jesus' revelation and now claim God as their Father.]
> Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and now am here. I have not come on my own; but he sent me. Why is my language not clear to you? Because you are unable to hear what I say. You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father's desire. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies" (John 8:37-44 NIV84). [Jesus makes it unmistakable, genetics are irrelevant, what matters is character. Those who have faith like Abraham are children of Abraham. Those who reject the truth, don't trust God, prefer a legal religion with an imperial dictator god are children of their god the devil.]

Paul wrote the same thing: "And if you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's descendants, heirs according to the promise." (Galatians 3:29 New English Translation)

What of the genetic descendants? They are also promised salvation through Christ—there is no difference between any human being—there is no Jew or Greek, there are only sinners who have accepted Jesus and been reborn, healed, saved, and sinners who have not accepted Jesus and remain terminal. Thus the Bible divides humanity into only two groups:

- Saved and lost
- Wheat and tares
- Fruitful vine and withered vine
- Faithful woman and harlot
- Righteous and wicked
- Sheep and goats

But humanity divides itself into many various groups and then fights against each other, such as:

- tribes
- races

- ethnicities
- nations
- political parties
- religions
- denominations
- sports fans
- climate change believers and climate change deniers

In America, the greatest divisions seem to be along race and politics—yet the racial division in the 21st century is a manipulation and diversion to prevent the people from genuine unity, from uniting. The real cause of the majority of conflict, hostility and division in our society is not caused by racism in the hearts of the vast majority of people, it is caused by classism—by powerful wealthy elites who control various media outlets and constantly inflame racial tensions to prevent the financial middle and lower classes from uniting and electing leaders that represent their concerns and breaking up these mega-corporations that are now directing the policies of this nation and in fact the world, all of this the move toward globalism. These mega corporations don't want national boundaries because they can't make as much money in one nation, they need to operate in all nations, getting the cheapest labor to produce their products and then selling their wares around the world with minimal taxes, tariffs and trade barriers.

And so, they incite racial divisions to prevent a majority of the people from uniting and acting to break up their power and monopolies and influence.

It is exactly as Revelation predicted, the beastly system is forming and will coerce through various means including economic means to advance its agenda. There will only be two groups in the end—the righteous and the wicked and they will not be separated by denomination, political party, race, nation—they will be separated by character!

The lesson in the first paragraph states that Jesus, "would at the cross pay for this sins of 'all the families of the earth.'"

What does this mean?

What law lens are we reading this through?

- To whom is the payment made?
- What is the payment?
- Is it blood? Is it death?
- Is it a human sacrifice?
- Is it paid to God?
- What kind of god requires a human sacrifice?
- Is it paid to Satan?
- What would God need a payment for?
- What is the purpose of a blood payment?
- Do we need to understand what the payment is for, what it is to accomplish?
- Does the law lens we look through impact our understanding?
- What questions do you have about this?

Under design law does it may more sense? If a parent donates a kidney to save their child dying of renal failure—has the parent "paid a price" to save their child? What kind of price is paid? Is it a legal price? Is it a price paid to the doctor or hospital? Who receives the donated payment of a kidney? The one dying and why is this the price necessary to save them?

This is the reality—we are terminal and dying of a condition we did not choose but were born with. Jesus came and paid the price necessary to save the species, procure the remedy to cure our condition, and thus the payment is made to us. And what is that payment? It is metaphorically taught as flesh and blood (John 6:53-56) or bread and wine—but what is it? The Word or truth to destroy lies and win to trust and the new sinless life/character of Christ which is represented by the "blood" –the life is in the blood—Leviticus 17:11.

Read last paragraph, "No question…" First, we agree completely that Jesus is the means whereby the covenant is realized. Well said!

But there is a word used in this paragraph that too often is misunderstood, a word that is used by those who advance the imposed law concept to create a falsehood that obstructs God's plan of salvation. And the word? "accounted."

The way it is taught is that this is a legal accounting, some forensic adjustment in ledgers somewhere in heaven, in which we are accounted or declared to be righteous through the legal application to a book in heaven when we remain unrighteous. This is a lie.

The Bible teaches that “God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.” (2Cor 5:21 NIV84)

This is substitutionary atonement—or substitutionary at-one-ment. Jesus our substitute, took our terminal sin condition upon Himself in order to overcome it, cure it, become our remedy SO THAT we might BECOME the righteousness of God. This is the healing substitution model. It is based upon reality, upon God’s design laws, in harmony with the character of God.

But the penal legal lie is based on human imposed law and makes God out to be the source of pain, suffering, death and it is taught that God must be appeased by the blood of His Son in order to not use His power to kill us.

Now I have some good news and sad news, not bad news, sad news. The good news is that our message is penetrating and many people are responding to this incredible good news and having their minds freed from the lies about God. The message of God’s character of love is reaching hearts and mind and changing lives—that is the good news! But the sad news is that the promoters of the imposed law view of God are attacking us again. It is very sad to see this, but it is evidence of our success at countering their false views.

Recently, I became aware that another pastor is going around presenting a PowerPoint program entitled “Tim Jennings”—yes, his title slide is my name. His presentation is not a mere discussion of doctrinal beliefs, contrasting various theological positions, even a discourse on what he believes is faulty theology. No, this is a specific and personal attack designed to discredit me, and do you think he is presenting an honest program, an accurate description of what I teach and then merely disagreeing and showing why he disagrees? No, he has created multiple false characterizations of what I teach, woven in with a couple of quotations of others used by me, to represent me as teaching things I do not teach.

First, I want to comment on his method.

He doesn't attack my actual beliefs or positions, but other people's positions that he assigns to me. He does this in two ways, first he identifies historic references that I have cited, such as Irenaeus and Robert Franks, and then takes their positions (not mine) on atonement and attacks those theories making it appear that those views are mine when they are not. I cite these historic sources to demonstrate that the church did not always promote penal substitution, not to endorse those theories. The second way he does this is by quoting an email he received and using the emailer's description of what they think I teach and then attacking that view as if that is my position. What he does not do, is take my view as presented in my various materials and address truthfully what I teach. Instead he assigns to me, by association, views that are not mine and attacks these false views.

The three big lies he presents are that:

1) I don't believe Scripture and think myself superior to the Bible and have taken it upon myself to correct errors in the Bible.
2) I don't believe in the substitutionary nature of Jesus sacrifice for our salvation and
3) that I teach Moral Influence Theory.

These assertions are false! I absolutely believe in the inerrancy of Scripture, but not the inerrancy of translation. But he attacks me for paraphrasing the Bible. He uses EGW quotes about letting the Bible speak for itself and that men should not seek to correct the Bible. He compares me to Joseph Smith. This is another fraudulent allegation by association. Joseph Smith believed the Bible has errors that needed correction. I do not. I believe the Bible is without error in the truths revealed for salvation—however, translators are not without error. There are many errors that have entered via translation that are not in the original Greek or Hebrew. The comma placement when Jesus was talking to the thief on the cross; the insertion of the word "men" when Jesus said "when I be lifted up I will draw all men unto me" are just a couple of examples. The purpose of translation is to make the meaning of the original manuscript most understandable. Not the original words, the original meaning. But, he sets up The Remedy falsely as my attempt to correct the Bible rather than my attempt to make the Bible's message most truly and accurately understood. This is quite different than what Joseph Smith did. He also doesn't compare my paraphrase with the Greek, but with other English translations, which I criticize for being done after the imposed law construct became accepted orthodoxy and thereby introducing false legal concepts. The reason he does this is that he has the false law premise and falsely believes the Bible should teach appeasement theology, when it doesn't teach any such thing.

I teach that salvation is only possible because of the substitutionary death and resurrection of Jesus, but teach that this at-one-ment is a healing restoration to unity with God through Jesus' accomplishments, not penal-legal, not paying some legal price to God or God's law. We don't believe that God needed something done to Him, but sinners needed something done to us. And what we needed is two fold—we needed to be influenced morally—influenced with the truth about God to reject the lies and be won to trust. But if we stopped at this point and only taught this much, then we would be teaching the Moral Influence Theory. But we never stop here, we always say that our salvation required more than a revelation of truth to win us to trust; our salvation also required an actual remedy to cure our sin condition and we could not develop it. Jesus, as our substitute, took our sin condition upon Himself and overcame it. He developed a perfect, sinless, human character and destroyed the infection of the carnal nature (fear and selfishness). This is what the law requires and what Jesus objectively achieved, and it is a requirement for our salvation (DA 762). This view is presented widely in my blogs, The God Shaped Brain, the God and Your Church Seminar, the Power of Love Seminar. In the God Shaped Heart I actually go through the various atonement models and demonstrate how they correlate with the different moral developmental levels and that what we teach is level 7—healing substitution. Yet this pastor failed to acknowledge this and instead presented only a portion of our position to make it appear we teach something we don't teach. He is publicly lying to people about what I teach. Did this pastor contact me first before going forward with his presentations? No.

Finally, this is a public accusation against me personally—it is an attempt to malign me and our ministry with his false view or understanding of me, rather than following God's principle of first coming to me to clarify and truly understanding what I teach and then if he disagrees do so honestly. He quote EGW many times in his attack on me, so here is a quote from her that I would like to share with him:

> Those who cannot impartially examine the evidences of a position that differs from theirs, are not fit to teach in any department of God's cause. 1SM 411.2

Why does this pastor, and others in church leadership, do this? Because their views are false and they know their views cannot stand up to truth. Thus they fear actually discussing their positions openly. I have, on multiple occasions, offered to have public discussions with those who think like this pastor, allowing each person to present their views, ask questions, answer questions, in front of a live audience and broadcast live, but these individuals won't do it. The truth can afford to be fair, it loses nothing by close investigation so I don't fear such discussions, in fact I want it because I want my views corrected in any place they are inaccurate. But, those who hold the imposed law model, don't want such a discussion because it would expose their errors and so they create straw men, false representations, about me and what I teach and attack those false representations and then feel good that they don't believe those false views. This is exactly how the Pharisees treated Christ, alleging He didn't obey the law or support what Moses taught.

So, if you have friends around the circle who hear some of these people doing this, be prepared to call them on it. First ask either your friend who heard the program, or the speaker, if the speaker has called me, talked to me, given me an opportunity to clear up any questions they have? If not, why is your friend listening to them? Why is the speaker presenting such things without talking to me first? Second, ask them how they understand God's law functions—if they claim it is both design and imposed, ask them to explain how they see any aspect of God's law being imposed, what laws are imposed? How are they imposed? And then explore this with evidence. And if you have a chance to talk with the speaker ask them if they would be willing to have a public discussion with Dr. Jennings live, to present the two views and answer questions.

TUESDAY

In the first paragraph the lesson quotes Augustine commenting on the human condition, "This life of ours—if a life so full of such great ills can properly be called a life—bears witness to the fact that, from its very start, the race of mortal men has been a race condemned."

He goes on to describe many corruptions, struggles, woes of sinful humanity—but what do you think is meant by "a race condemned?"

When you hear condemned what comes to mind? Doesn't this term typically connote the idea of judicial condemnation?

I don't know if that is what Augustine meant or not, but the first definition in the dictionary is:

- pronounced guilty; sentenced to punishment, especially capital punishment

Is this how you hear condemned? This is the condemnation of imposed law, a ruling authority passing a sentence.

There is another definition in the dictionary that is closer to what we understand God's reality to be, but could be misunderstood if not thought through:

- deemed or declared unfit for use or service: One of the condemned buildings is going to be demolished to make room for luxury apartments.
    - Why is the building deemed or declared condemned—because its actual condition is deteriorated, decayed, run down, unfit. The declaration doesn't make it so, the declaration acknowledges what actually is.
    - This is how it is in God's reality. This is why the wicked, unrepentant, are condemned in the end because they are corrupt in character and beyond healing. God's pronouncement, or judgment, is simply the accurate diagnosis of what is. God's judgment doesn't determine their condemnation, it merely confirms the reality of their terminal state.
    - Some will focus on the human legal aspects of local government and say that regardless of the actual condition of the building it isn't condemned until the building inspector declares it condemned. As if a building is safe until the inspector gets there, or it is the inspectors declaration that makes it so. No, the condemnation is inherent in the condition, the inspector merely acknowledges what is.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on the promise to Abraham that his descendants would form a great and mighty nation and in the second paragraph, the lesson states: "God repeated to Jacob, with the added information that the promise would be fulfilled in Egypt (Gen 46:3), though Jacob did not see it."

What is the significance of this? What does it mean? How do you understand it?

First is it an evidence of God's foreknowledge? Yes, here is another example that God does actually know the future, including the future choices of people. Some who hold to open theism and teach God doesn't know the future choices of people, fail to acknowledge that events like this cannot occur without people making choices:

- Joseph's brothers choosing to sell him into slavery
- the traveling slavers choosing to going to Egypt
- Potiphar choosing to buy Joseph and then choosing not to kill Joseph when his wife made false allegations against him, but instead to imprison him.
- Pharaoh's decision to imprison the baker and cup bearer.
- Then God intervenes with dreams for the baker, cup bearer and later for Pharaoh, but God's interventions are happening around all the freewill choices of people that God foreknew and thus God told Jacob they would grow in Egypt.
- Then Pharaoh chooses to give land to Joseph's family, Jacob and the family decided to move to Egypt and accept Pharaoh's offer.

Why did God not only foreknow this, but actively worked to bring this about? What is the context in which these events are playing out?

- The working out of the plan of salvation—the coming Messiah
- Satan is working to stop God's plan to save humanity, God is working to bring Jesus to save us.

- God has told Abraham that it is through his descendants that the Messiah will come. What does Satan do? Does he go on vacation to seek to destroy this branch of the human family?
- What actions can you see that are works of God's enemy and if not countered would have resulted in interfering and obstructing God's plan to be realized through Abraham's descendants?
    - Sarah's temptation to take Hagar and fulfill the promise
    - Sodom, Gomorrah and the other cities—their perversity and corrupt cultural influence if not removed would be a seducing and destructive influence on Abraham's descendants and thus God excised them
    - Jacob's sons, Simeon and Levi, dishonest dealing with the Shechemites, which would incite hostility in the various nations around them to seek to destroy them
    - Joseph's brother's jealousy—where did that originate, who was the inspiring source?
    - The famine—without God's intervention, what would have likely happened to Jacob's family? Who would have wanted that outcome? Is there evidence from Scripture that Satan can affect weather?
    - Then their captivity in Egypt—who inspired Pharaoh with jealousy to turn on the Hebrews and enslave them? And what was the goal of the enslavement? To degrade them, to destroy the image of God in them, to corrupt them and harden their hearts and thus close the avenue for Messiah.
    - Why did God allow the captivity? Why didn't God intervene sooner, send someone like Moses at the very beginning of the enslavement to lead them out? Because Satan had other human agents, states, nations, groups, that would have attacked and destroyed them and the children of Israel needed to grow their numbers large enough to be a sustainable population and group. Thus, while in Egypt they were protected by the Egyptian government from all the other nations and could increase and grow until the time was right to leave Egypt. This view of why God permitted them to be slaves in Egypt is held by many Jews.

The lesson asks why God wanted to make a nation, a special people, out of Abraham's descendants? What was God's purpose?

Read the last paragraph, which is a quote from Christ's Object Lessons:

> "The children of Israel were to occupy all the territory which God appointed them. Those nations that rejected the worship and service of the true God were to be dispossessed. But it was God's purpose that by the revelation of His character through Israel men should be drawn unto Him. To all the world the gospel invitation was to be given. Through the teaching of the sacrificial service Christ was to be uplifted before the nations, and all who would look unto Him should live." COL 290.1

What do you hear in this quotation? What was God's purpose for Israel?

Reveal His character—which is what? Love, truth, liberty.

To whom is the gospel given—all humanity and Israel was to be God's representatives, helpers, agents, spokespersons to take the truth about God, the good news about God, to the world.

What was the sacrificial system supposed to do? Teach people about Jesus—meaning it was all symbolic, educational, theatrical, metaphorical, none of that system was actual. Jesus is the actual, Jesus is the Lamb of God slain from the foundation of the world.

The other nations were to be dispossessed what does this mean in regard to God's desire to save all the people of the world?

In the very process of dispossessing God was saving those who were savable—consider Rahab, she is not only saved from mortal death, saved from being driven out of Canaan, she is saved from eternal death and becomes one of the progenitors of Jesus. This is incredible, a non-Jew becomes an ancestor to Jesus by being incorporated into Israel through faith. This is another revelation that salvation isn't about genetic descent, but about character—about trusting God and having the heart changed. Later Ruth, the Moabitess, is also grafted into Israel through faith and becomes another ancestor of Jesus.

What does this tell us about the others non-Hebrews who were either killed or drive out of the region?

Why did this happen?

THURSDAY

Read the first paragraph, “However much the plan of salvation…” Do we have a role to play in our own salvation? What is it?

Can we be saved without Jesus? Can Jesus save a sinner without their cooperation?

This is the core difference between Arminianism and Calvinism.

Arminianism is named after Jacobus Arminius who opposed John Calvin’s view of unconditional election.

Historic Calvinism has 5 main points and uses the acronym T.U.L.I.P to remember them:

- T—Total depravity of humankind. We are born corrupt, at enmity to God, with a carnal nature that naturally wars and rebels against God and we can do nothing to change this situation.
    - In this view total depravity includes our inability to choose to respond to God and accept His offer of salvation. It fails to recognize that God in Genesis 3 immediately interceded in the human condition to put enmity between Satan and sinful humans, putting in a desire for something better, convicting and wooing us and thus giving us the power to choose God, to open the heart to God and receive the indwelling Spirit, which provides the power to resist sin. In other words, while we cannot overcome sin, we do have the power to choose to trust Jesus.
- U—Unconditional Election. This means that God chooses to give some people eternal life because God wills it regardless of what that person wants, chooses or does. God's election is sovereign and overrules any choice on the part of the sinner—and is an evidence of God's love.

    - This is a gross perversity as it is a violation of the law of love and the law of liberty, and teaches that love is authoritarian, domineering and forces it way and doesn't grant real freedom. It is impossible to get genuine love without freedom. Further, if God were to do this, it would erase the individuality of the sinner and make a programmed robot.
- L—Limited Atonement. Calvinism teaches that the atonement was made only for the elect, not for all humans. That Jesus death did not make it possible for all human beings to come to salvation, but only those who God chose to save.
    - They make this argument for several reasons, but all of them are based in multiple layers of false assumptions. Calvinists believe the lie that God's law functions like human law and Jesus' death was necessary to pay our legal sin debt.
    - This distortion of God's law as imperial, God making up rules and then enforcing His way, leads to a distorted view of the atonement. They ask questions, "If Christ's death was for all men, then why are all men not saved?" "Couldn't a sovereign God save all men if He wanted to?" etc. Thus, because they misunderstand God's law, they misunderstand God's sovereignty and think that whatever happens, like some being lost, is because God wants them lost, worse, God chooses for them to be lost.
        - Understanding God's law as design law fixes this because we understand His sovereignty correctly—God is Creator, who built reality to operate upon design protocols, the supreme one being love, and love requires real freedom. Robots, computers, cannot love. Thus God sustains and maintains His laws, including liberty, which means that some freely choose to reject the love and life that God offers.
- I—Irresistible Grace. This means what is says, to whomever God decides to hit with His grace they are unable to resist it and will be saved. According to this teaching God's grace cannot be resisted. Thus, only those who God chooses are saved. The lost are lost because God didn't choose them and hit them with irresistible grace.

  - Again this teaching violates the law or liberty, would erase individuality, destroy personhood, created robots and make human beings devoid of the image of God.
  - Who wants to destroy the image of God in man? This doctrine teaches ideas that if they were true would result in the destruction of individuality, identity, capacity to think and do, and ability to love, creating instead robots controlled by the supreme power.
  - And what kind of God would God be if He actually operated this way? This is exactly Satan's view of God—a being who arbitrarily chooses to do things—just like make up laws and enforce them.
- P—Preservation of the Saints. Essentially means that if God has chosen you and hit you with irresistible grace, then He preserves you so you can never be lost.
  - It is a form of once saved always saved, but even more corrupt because in the Calvinist view you don't even have to initially choose. You are a passive pawn in the hands of a controlling god. And such a view again destroys individuality and the ability to love because we have no freedom and are merely puppets directed at the whims of God.

Arminianism—advances the principles of freewill, that God provides what is necessary for salvation for all human beings, but each person must choose to accept what God offers. This view retains our individuality and is in harmony with the law of liberty thus advances the restoration of the images of God within and retains our ability to love.

So John Wesley was Armenian and so is the Methodist tradition as well as the Baptist and Adventist traditions and many others.

FRIDAY

Read third paragraph, "Now read Hebrews…" What about us today, do we realize that we are just passing through, that this current Earth is not our home? Do we get too attached to our houses, communities, nations or other earthly possessions or groups and forget this earth is not our home?

What difference does it make for you to keep you mind focused on our eternal home?

Read first paragraph,

> "It was no light test that was thus brought upon Abraham, no small sacrifice that was required of him. There were strong ties to bind him to his country, his kindred, and his home. But he did not hesitate to obey the call. He had no question to ask concerning the land of promise—whether the soil was fertile and the climate healthful; whether the country afforded agreeable surroundings and would afford opportunities for amassing wealth. God has spoken, and His servant must obey; the happiest place on earth for him was the place where God would have him to be." PP 126.3

From where does happiness come?

Read and discuss questions.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 6
Abraham's Seed

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read memory text, "But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light" 1Peter 2:9 NKJV).

What does this text mean to you? Does it help you know who you are?

Are you a royal—a prince or princess? Are you chosen by God as His special child? Are you a priest—whether male or female?

Do you experience these facts as part of your identity, your sense of self, or are they just words?

What difference does it make in how you live to be a royal prince or princess of God's celestial government and a priest of His court?

What is the function of a priest? To minister—to minister what? The text tells us, marvelous light—what is the marvelous light we are to minister?

Isn't it the truth of reality—which is first and foremost the truth about God Himself—His character of love, Him as Creator, His laws as design laws, how life is constructed to operate upon love, and the marvelous light of healing truth found in Jesus that delivers us from sin and death to eternal life?

SUNDAY

Sunday's lesson pulls out another descriptor of God's people besides royalty and priesthood, but a holy people, just as Peter does.

What does it mean to be holy? What is holiness?

- Set apart? Set apart from what? The world, from sin?
- So if we are set apart from sin would that be the same as being restored to righteousness, being healed, being transformed, being made at-one with God again?
- When Moses went to the burning bush he was instructed to take off his shoes because he was standing on holy ground—what does that mean?

- The Bible repeatedly says that the Sabbath is holy—a holy day, which is not an object, but time—how is the Sabbath holy?
- When Israel went to Sinai a boundary was put around the mountain and it was set apart as holy—what does that mean?
- When they build the sanctuary it had a holy place and a most holy place, what does that mean?
- The high priest wore on his turban a plate of pure gold with the inscription "Holy to the Lord"
- The golden altar and all the utensils used in the sanctuary service were holy to the Lord
- Anything that was touched by the blood of the sacrificial animal become holy

So, what is holiness, what does it mean to be holy? How can objects and time be holy? Is it merely an arbitrary declaration by a rule-making God, or is there something objective, something based in reality that is going on?

- What was different about the burning bush and the ground around from every other bush and ground in the region?
- What is different about the time of the Sabbath hours from every other day of the week?
- What was different about Sinai than every other mountain in the region?
- And what was different about all the elements of the sanctuary then any other instrument or blood of any other animal?

Everything that was holy was set apart to reveal truth about God in a way that the similar could not:

- The burning bush and ground were God met Moses revealed to Moses truth about God and His presence that the other bushes and ground did not and could not do—God's presence was literally there, the bush was shining literally, the ground was impacted by God's physical presence. This was not a declaration—it was a reality of God being there and manifesting truths to Moses in that place. Exactly the same reality at Sinai.
- The Sabbath was created as a day which reveals God's methods and character. Days 1-6 of Creation Week, reveals God's power to create, but Day seven reveals God's character and how He wields power—He presents truth, in love, and then leaves His intelligent creatures free to think for themselves. God rested, God stopped using power in the face of an assault on His right to rule. Thus, the Sabbath is set apart at Creation as a time that is invested with God's character and principles and a time for us to rest, reflect, and remember God and His methods and practice those methods in our lives.
- The Sanctuary and all its elements were set apart as teaching tools and object lessons to reveal truths about God and His plan to heal and save.

So what is holiness—being set apart from the profane, the worldly and being united with God in His kingdom of love to fulfill His purpose and live in harmony with Him and His methods. Thus His people are called a holy people a holy nation.

Here is one historic quote do you agree or disagree?

> Those whom God accepts and sanctifies to Himself are called to be diligent and faithful in His service, being set apart and devoted to Him. It is not a form of godliness, nor a name upon the > church records, that constitutes "a living stone" in the spiritual building. It is being renewed in knowledge and true holiness, being crucified to the world and made alive in Christ, that unites the soul to God. The followers of Christ have one leading object in view, one great work: the salvation of their fellow men. Every other interest should be inferior to this; it should engage the most earnest effort and the deepest interest. 2Testimonies 168.1

What is holiness?

It is being set apart from the profane, what is worldly, sinful and being united with God, cleansed by Christ.

I want to suggest that holiness is perfect harmony with God, ultimately in every domain of existence—thus holiness is healthiness. Anything that violates God's design laws for life is unholy and damages and destroys. God, through His agencies, is working to restore us to holiness, which restores us to harmony with God and results in eternal life.

Would being holy mean that we live in harmony with God's laws—and what type of laws are those?

Consider this historic quote:

> At this time the church is to put on her beautiful garments,—"Christ our righteousness." [What is this describing? Now it is very interesting that in 1888 a message was presented to SDA church that was about moving away from a legal accounting to actual transformation, to becoming the righteousness of God as 2Cor 5:21 states, but the church leadership didn't like that advancement in truth and when EGW endorsed that message, leadership shipped her away to Australia—the farthest point from North America one can go and still be on planet earth, and leadership chose to teach that righteousness by faith is a covering over sinfulness in a legal way so the Father cannot see our unrighteousness—that we are declared righteous even though we are not. But EGW wrote in Christ's Object Lessons that "When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness." COL311] There are clear, decided distinctions to be restored and exemplified to the world in holding aloft the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. The beauty of holiness is to appear in its native luster in contrast with the deformity and darkness of the disloyal, those who have revolted from the law of God. Thus we acknowledge God, and recognize His law, the foundation of His government in heaven and throughout His earthly dominions. [What does this mean? What is God's law? What kind of law? Is it related to the final message of mercy, to worshipping Him who made the heavens, earth, sea? Is it connected to holiness? Is it beautiful to be restored to God's perfect design for life? Can one be perfect, sinless, flawless, without any defect or deformity while violating God's law? Is any defect, deformity or flaw beautiful? So, what is the beauty of holiness? Restoration to God's design, harmony with God's law, healing! Holiness is to appear in its native luster—what does this mean? Native luster? Its original beauty and setting and where did God originally place His law? In the hearts of Adam and Eve!

> God's law is a living law, the protocols of life, and holiness is having God write His law again on our hearts and minds.] His authority should be kept distinct and plain before the world; and no laws are to be acknowledged that come in collision with the laws of Jehovah. [What does this mean? Does it mean a specific commandment change or does it mean the entire concept of law, that we are not to embrace and teach God's law as functioning like human law, imposed rules requiring imposed punishments? Do you think it is beautiful to imagine a god that would use power to torture and kill his creatures? But isn't that what all of Christianity teaches that a holy God must torture for all eternity or kill the unrepentant sinners? Why? Because they have accepted the lie about God's law. When we return to worshipping the Creator and present the 3 Angel's message as we were called to do, then we will glorify God and call people out of that fallen system of confusion.].... Christian Experience and Teachings 207.2

So, what is holiness? Restoration of the law of love into the heart and mind of the individual such that we love like God loves, Jesus said:

> "You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I tell you: Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. [Notice in the context of love Jesus uses the example of design law in nature] If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? And if you greet only your brothers, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect (Matthew 5:43-6:1 NIV84).

The law of God is a living law—a parameter of life. Love cannot be understood, or function in the dead. It doesn't operate on stone. Rocks don't love. Love requires life and life requires love.

Consider this historic quote from the SDA BC 1117:

> Holiness is the gift of God through Christ. [What kind of gift? Is it a gift that is legal, registered in a book in a building in some remote corner of the universe, or is it a gift of life, a gift of transformation of the inmost being? Those who receive the Saviour become sons of God. They are His spiritual children, born again, renewed in righteousness and true holiness. Their minds are changed. [What is described here as true holiness? Being reborn, renewed—this is actual, literal, just as Scripture teaches in 2Cor 5:21] With clearer vision they behold eternal realities. They are adopted into God's family, and they become conformed to His likeness, changed by His Spirit from glory to glory. [What is happening? Healing, regeneration, transformation—we are to be holy—which is a change in our living reality] From cherishing supreme love for self, they come to cherish supreme love for God and for Christ. . . . {6BC 1117.13}
> Accepting Christ as a personal Saviour, and following His example of self-denial--this is the secret of holiness (ST Dec. 17, 1902). {6BC 1117.14}

So what is holiness? Having God's living law of love written on the heart, which is the same as the New Covenant. And this law is the law of life, the protocol life is built upon and always results in healing and happiness. Thus, holiness is healthiness, which brings happiness.

thoughts?

Read first paragraph, "There is no question…" What of the idea that this choice was a total act of God and there was nothing in the people that deserved this grace?

This is very poorly stated and mixes up ideas that cause confusion. Let's see if we can clarify the issue:

- God's actions are always 100% God's action
- God's choices are always 100% God's choices
- So, God choosing Abraham's descendants was 100% God's choice, no question about that
- But, does that mean Abraham didn't have to make a choice, Isaac, Jacob and their descendants through the generations—does God choosing them as His representatives and to be the avenue for the Messiah mean that they didn't have a choice in the matter?
- Or does history show just the opposite, that millions in fact did choose to reject God's choice and instead made idols their gods? But God foreknew a remnant of Abraham's descendants would remain a faithful avenue for the Messiah and retain the Scriptures for the rest of humanity.
- They use the word "deserve" and by that I believe they mean Abraham and his descendants didn't get chosen as a reward from some good work, it wasn't compensation, it wasn't pay, it was not something they had a right to by some righteousness in them or some action they created.
- But, it doesn't mean that God's choice to call Abraham's family was devoid of something in them—it wasn't. God chose Abraham and his descendants because God knew Abraham and many of his descendants were not beyond healing, and many would respond to Him and be restored to trust and be saved and thus be the avenue for the Messiah.

God made promises to Abraham that his descendants would form a great and mighty nation and God repeated the promise to Isaac and Jacob and told Jacob that the promise would be fulfilled in Egypt (Gen 46:3).

What is the significance of this? What does it mean? How do you understand it?

First it an evidence of God's foreknowledge! Here is another example that God does actually know the future, including the future choices of people. Some who hold to open theism and teach God doesn't know the future choices of people, fail to acknowledge that events like this cannot occur without people making choices:

- Joseph's brothers choosing to sell him into slavery
- the traveling slavers choosing to go to Egypt and sell Joseph there

- Potiphar choosing to buy Joseph and then choosing not to kill Joseph when his wife made false allegations against him, but instead to imprison him.
- Pharaoh's decision to imprison the baker and cup bearer.
- Then God intervenes with dreams for the baker, cup bearer and later for Pharaoh, but God's interventions are happening around all the freewill choices of people that God foreknew and thus God told Jacob they would grow in Egypt.
- Then Pharaoh chooses to give land to Joseph's family, Jacob and the family decided to move to Egypt and accept Pharaoh's offer.

Why did God actively worked to bring this about? What is the context in which these events are playing out?

- The working out of the plan of salvation—the coming Messiah
- Satan was working to stop God's plan to save humanity, God was working to bring Jesus to save us.
- God had told Abraham that it was through his descendants that the Messiah would come. What does Satan do? Does he go on vacation or seek to destroy this branch of the human family?
- What actions can you see that are works of God's enemy and if not countered would have resulted in interfering and obstructing God's plan to be realized through Abraham's Seed?
    - Sarah's temptation to take Hagar and fulfill the promise
    - Sodom, Gomorrah and the other cities—their perversity and corrupt cultural influence if not removed would be a seducing and destructive influence on Abraham's descendants and thus God excised them
    - Jacob's sons, Simeon and Levi, dishonest dealing with the Shechemites, which would incite hostility in the various nations around them to seek to destroy them
    - Joseph's brother's jealousy—where did that originate, who was the inspiring source?
    - The famine—without God's intervention, what would have likely happened to Jacob's family? Who would have wanted that outcome? Is there evidence from Scripture that Satan can affect weather?
    - Then their captivity in Egypt—who inspired Pharaoh with jealousy to turn on the Hebrews and enslave them? And what was the goal of the enslavement? To degrade them, to destroy the image of God in them, to corrupt them and harden their hearts and thus close the avenue for Messiah.
    - Why did God allow the captivity? Why didn't God intervene sooner and send someone like Moses at the very beginning of the enslavement to lead them out? Because Satan had other human agents, states, nations, groups, that would have attacked and destroyed them and the children of Israel needed to grow their numbers large enough to be a sustainable population and group. Thus, while in Egypt they were protected by the Egyptian government from all the other nations and could increase and grow until the time was right to leave Egypt. This view of why God permitted them to be slaves in Egypt is held by many Jews.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Deuteronomy 28, the promises and curses to Israel depending on what Israel does.

Read the second paragraph, "The first part…" How do you understanding this?

If you read Deuteronomy it says God will bless and God will curse—what does this mean? Does it mean that God uses His power to injure, to harm, and I am not talking about discipline here, I am not asking about a therapeutic intervention. I am asking, Does God use power to inflict curses or harm that if God merely restrained Himself from acting the sinner would not otherwise reap? Is God the source of pain, suffering and death?

Then why does the Bible read like it does as if the Lord is causing this and is bring this upon them?

What is the purpose of these promises and warnings?

At what level of maturity are most of these people?

Does a parent talk differently to a 4-year-old than a 24-year-old?

Might a loving parent threaten to inflict pain onto a child who plays in the street? Why? In the child's mind what would be wrong with playing in the street? Why does the parent allow the child to think the problem with playing in the street comes from the parent?

This is what we read in the OT, God stands between His children and the reality of breaking design law and allows Himself to be viewed as the inflictor of pain and suffering and punishment to prevent them from destroying their souls in idolatry and rebellion, so that they can grow up and realize that God was never the actual source of pain and suffering, any more than the parent who threatens to spank the child playing in the street is the source of destruction. But sadly, many never grow up and even today still teach that God in order to be just must punish sin.

TUESDAY

Read Jeremiah 11:8: "Yet they did not obey or incline their ear, but everyone followed the dictates of his evil heart; therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but which they have not done." (NKJV)

Read first paragraph, "Look at the above text…" How do you understand this? Is God doing something bad? The lesson suggest it is something bad—is it?

- Is it bad for a parent to discipline an unruly child?
- Is it bad for a dentist to pull a rotten tooth?

- Is it bad for a surgeon to excise a cancer?

Does our understanding of what is transpiring make a difference?

What happens in the character of people if they sin without negative consequence?

What happens to a person with leprosy? Why? Leprosy damages the nerves that signal pain, thus when a person with leprosy touches a hot stove, or cuts themselves, they don't feel it and do much more damage to themselves. The pain we feel with a burn or cut alerts us something is wrong and we minimize the damage.

Leprosy is a metaphor for sin because sin sears the conscience, it makes us insensitive to the damage sin causes us and we engage in more destroying more and more of our souls, debasing more of our character.

So, God bringing increasing amounts of painful consequences to people acting outside His law of love is evidence of love, designed to get them to repent, to turn around to be saved.

But all of this wisdom requires we reject the imposed law lie, the idea that God's law functions like human law and embrace the truth that God is Creator and His laws are design laws.

If we hold to the imposed law lie, then we see sin as merely bad deeds, breaking rules, and rule-breaking requires external enforcement and infliction of punishment to uphold the law. Thus God is the source of pain and suffering as law enforcer.

But design law realizes that the pain and suffering comes from sin itself and God may artificially intervene with discipline and therapeutic boundaries like a loving parent or doctor, seeking to heal and restore.

The lesson asks us to compare the pre-flood world and God's actions in bringing the flood and God's curses on Israel—what are the parallels?

What is the overall landscape or context? Humankind is dying of sin and God promised to send Jesus as our Messiah to save us and Satan is working to obstruct God's saving plan. That is the context—that is the theme of the Bible.

In that context what do we see and learn?

The lesson says, "for the most part, the history of national Israel was repeated pattern of apostasy followed by divine judgments…"

What do you understand this to mean and be? How do you hear "divine judgments"?

What law lens do you hear this through?

What does "judgments" mean in the human law world, when law functions like we make up, rules that require enforcement?

What does "judgments" mean when we see God as Creator and His laws are the laws life is built to operate upon?

Understanding this reality, then what is the "judgment"? Is it a legal judgment or is it the accurate diagnosis of what happens when we violate God's design laws?

The question of judgment is confusing because in the Bible there are at least four judgments:

The First Judgment:

- "Let God be true but every man a liar. As it is written: 'That You may be justified in Your words, And may overcome when You are judged.'" Romans 3:4 NKJV
- Satan lied about God.
- Jesus reveals the truth about God.
- We must judge: Is God like Satan says—or is God like Jesus revealed? (Elijah Carmel)
- This judgment of ours determines whether we choose to trust God and open our hearts or not.
- "I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. He said in a loud voice, 'Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.'" Revelation 14:6, 7

The Second Judgment:

- "'Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come,' says the Lord Almighty. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Then the Lord will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness, and the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable to the Lord, as in days gone by, as in former years. 'So I will come near to you for judgment.'" Malachi 3:1–5

- This is the Judgment of the Great Physician, diagnosing what is wrong and determining the best therapeutic intervention.
    - God bringing "judgments" upon rebellious people throughout history to alert, to convict, to redeem, to protect, to redirect, and to keep open the avenue for Messiah (Flood, Sodom, captivity).
- Jesus' work in the heavenly sanctuary to determine (judge):
    1. Who has trusted Him and given Him access to their hearts and
    2. What residual elements of sin remain to be removed in order to perfect them for the resurrection and second coming

Third Judgment:

- "I saw thrones on which were seated those who had been given authority to judge. And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of their testimony for Jesus and because of the word of God. They had not worshiped the beast or his image and had not received his mark on their foreheads or their hands. They came to life and reigned with Christ a thousand years." Revelation 20:4–6
- "Do you not know that we will judge angels?" 1 Corinthians 6:3
- In the future, the saints review the history of what transpired and the lives of the lost and of angels, and judge God's actions in saving who is saved and not saving who is not saved, which confirms that every lost person is lost because they actually don't want to be in heaven, so that no doubt is left in any mind as to why the unrepentant are not in heaven.

Fourth Judgment

- "I saw a great white throne and him who was seated on it. … And I saw the dead, great and small, standing before the throne, and books were opened. Another book was opened, which is the book of life. The dead were judged according to what they had done as recorded in the books." Revelation 20:11, 12
- And what is recorded in the books of heaven?
- The names are written there, and in the Bible what does name represent? Character! And what determines our character? Who we have chosen to trust—either opening our heart to Jesus and allowing Him in or clinging to fear and selfishness.
- "Make a tree good and its fruit will be good, or make a tree bad and its fruit will be bad, for a tree is recognized by its fruit. You brood of vipers, how can you who are evil say anything good? For out of the overflow of the heart the mouth speaks. The good man brings good things out of the good stored up in him, and the evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in him. But I tell you that men will have to give account on the day of judgment for every careless word they have spoken. For by your words you will be acquitted, and by your words you will be condemned." Matthew 12:33–37 NIV84
- What is being described? Character—the actual condition of each heart, a diagnosis of what actually is.
- The end of the 1,000 years:
    - New Jerusalem is on earth and the gates are open and no one comes in.
    - The wicked acknowledge they were wrong and God was right—but they attack the city anyway.
    - They then experience the fire of unveiled truth and love and cry for the mountains to fall upon them, reaping what they have sown: eternal non-existence.
    - And all the saved judge that God could have done nothing more to save them.
    - There is no human law court determining guilt or innocence and imposing punishments—that is Satan's lie.

So how do you understand judgment?

Read fourth paragraph, "This brings up something…" Well said, the covenant is not a legal agreement, it is a holy relationship of love and trust in which we surrender self and experience the indwelling Spirit that infuses us with new motives, desires, attitudes, methods, principles—the character of Christ.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on the remnant. What is a remnant? Who are the remnant?

Read second paragraph, "The purpose of God…" Do the remnant reveal God's glory? And what is God's glory? His character, which is what?

What is the message for the world today?

> Then the dragon was enraged at the woman and went off to make war against the rest of her offspring—those who obey God's commandments and hold to the testimony of Jesus. (Rev 12:17 NIV84)

What does it mean to obey the commandments of God?

What does it mean to hold to the testimony of Jesus?

What was Jesus' testimony? "If you have seen me you have seen the Father"

So the true remnant will give the same testimony about God Jesus gave, which means the true remnant will teach what about God's law and government?

What did Jesus teach about God's law and government?

Below is a review of some of Jesus' parables which demonstrates He taught God's law as design law:

The Lamp | Matthew 5:14–16

- If one lights a lamp and allows it to do what it does naturally, it shines and illuminates. What kind of law is revealed in this parable? God's truth and love will always shine out through the lives of those who possess it, brightening the world around them. And if one tries to hide the light, they are working against how reality operates.

New Cloth on Old Garment | Matthew 9:16, 17

- What happens when new cloth is sewn onto an old garment? The new cloth tears the old fabric. Why? Does a ruling authority inspect the garment and issue a decree that is enforced by government agents, who tear a bigger hole? Or is it design law—how reality works? This is the same lesson taught in the story of the new wine in old skins, which one of our class members wrote an excellent blog about. The good news about God—the gospel—cannot be sewn onto the old garment of legal religiosity; it requires a new heart for the new truth.

The Sower | Matthew 13:1–23

- Why do the same species of seeds grow differently? Is it because God uses His power to miraculously make the seeds grow differently? Or are the seeds equally healthy when planted and receive equal amounts of sunlight and rain, but the soil in which the seeds are planted is different? Which represents what? The hearts of people into which the seeds of truth are planted; again, what kind of law is involved?

The Leaven | Matthew 13:33, 34

- What is the lesson of leaven? How does leaven work? Is it that God inspects the flour and, if the flour contains leaven, then God uses miraculous power to make it rise, but for those who don't use leaven, God refuses to perform the miracle so that their bread doesn't rise? No—it is a natural result of design law at work, how these various substances function in harmony with the laws that God built life to operate upon. It is the kingdom of God's reality.

The Net | Matthew 13:47–50

- What determines which fish are kept and which are discarded? It is the condition of the fish themselves—there is no jury, no prosecutor, no defense lawyer, no judge. It is all based on the actual condition of the fish. So too, in the end of time, people will be separated by their condition of heart: having accepted Jesus and been renewed in love—or rejected Jesus and been hardened in selfishness. This is design law and not a penal/legal issue at all!

What Comes Out of the Mouth | Matthew 15:10–20

- Why is it that what goes into a person's mouth does not determine his cleanliness, but rather what comes out of his mouth? What kind of law is involved? Is the person who speaks evil unclean because someone hears what they say, reports it to authorities, which causes a judicial review and a legal ruling that declares them unclean? Or do the words and actions of a person reveal the actual unclean nature of their character?

Laborers in the Vineyard | Matthew 20:1–16

- This is a great parable because it powerfully exposes the fallacy of imposed law—the lie of penal (legal) salvation. The workers who worked one hour got the same pay as those who worked all day. What did those who worked all day think? What do you initially think when you hear this story? What if we added to the story that those who worked all day were people of color while those who worked only one hour were white—and they all got the same pay? Is that fair?

It is totally unfair if we have an imposed-law view, but if we have a design-law view and understand how reality works, we immediately see just how fair God's kingdom is.

The payment is eternal life; this is the reward. The field is the earth, where we work with Jesus to save souls. Those who worked all day had salvation early in their lives and the privilege of working with God and, therefore, coming to know Him and His truths more fully and growing in character and skill in God's methods. They applied His methods early in their lives and became more skilled in laboring for Him and applying His principles, which means they became more mature than those who worked only an hour. The thief on the cross came at the last hour and got the same pay (eternal life), but he did not have a lifetime of growing with God. But if one holds the human-law model, the penal lie, then this parable appears unfair. This is why the Pharisees hated what Jesus taught!

The Two Sons | Matthew 21:28–32

- One son says he will work in his father's field but then doesn't; the other son says he will not work in his father's field but then does. What is the lesson? That actions speak louder than words. It is what we ultimately do with our lives that matters, not what we initially say. How many are being duped today because they go merely on the words people say and don't look at their actions? Lies are words; truth is how reality works. Thus, the parable is another example of the application of design law revealing the truth in spite of the words spoken.

The Ten Virgins | Matthew 25:1–13

- What makes the difference between the wise and foolish virgins? Why don't lamps give light without oil? Is it that God performs a miracle for those who have oil but refuses to perform a miracle for those who don't? Or is it how reality works—that lamps do not burn without fuel? Can any human have the light of God's character shine forth from their life without the oil of the Holy Spirit in their hearts? We can have the Bible (lamp) without the oil (Spirit), but we cannot have light (godly character) without the oil. So who decides who are the wise and who are foolish? Who has the oil—and who doesn't? What law is involved?

Ten Talents or Gold Coins | Matthew 25:14–30

- This parable beautifully describes the law of exertion! What happens if you don't use the talents you possess—if you don't use it, you lose it. But if you apply yourself, you gain more abilities. No jury, no presentation of evidence, no judge passing sentence—it is the reality of the outcome of our choices.

The Good Samaritan | Luke 10:29–37

- In this parable, which person is right with God: the priest, Levite, or Samaritan? What determined who was right with God? How many Sabbaths did the Samaritan keep? How many sacrifices did he make at the temple? How much tithe did he pay? How many kosher meals did he eat? Do you see what mattered was not a list of rules—but having God's love in the heart. What law is this?

The Beaten Servant | Luke 12:47, 48

- The servant who knows his master's will but doesn't do it receives many stripes, but the servant who doesn't know his master's will receives few stripes. Is this, as the penal/legal adherents claim, proof positive that God's law is imposed and functions like human law, with God inflicting different amounts of punishment upon sinners?

Not at all! Jesus did not say that the servants were beaten by the master—only that they would receive differing amounts of blows, or stripes or pain or suffering, depending on how much they actually knew. Jesus is again describing how reality works—we actually experience differing amounts of guilt, shame, regret, and sin-damage to our hearts and minds depending on how much truth we know and choose to reject. It is simply how reality works and how I paraphrase it in The Remedy:

"The aide who understands the Master — his design, the problem being addressed, and how to apply the Remedy — and either doesn't heed his instructions or applies a false remedy will suffer many blows: a guilty conscience, warped character, damaged reason, broken relationships and ultimately, a destroyed soul. But the one who doesn't know about the Remedy or how to apply it and therefore doesn't share it, or applies a false remedy will suffer few blows — regret, disappointment, and grief."

In all of these parables, Jesus revealed that the kingdom of God is based upon the laws that our Creator built into the fabric of reality—and that these are an expression of His character of love. Jesus never taught penal/legal theology! God's law originates in His being, and emanates from Him. All creation is sustained by Him. It is Satan's lie that God's law functions like human law: imposed rules that require imposed punishments.

At this time in Earth's history, God is calling for His people to come out of the confusing systems of religiosity based on imposed rules and inflicted punishments. So reject the penal/legal lie and worship Him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and fountains of water.

The remnant teach call people back to worship Him who made the heavens, earth and sea, design law worship!

THURSDAY

Who is spiritual Israel?

> You are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus, for all of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, slave nor free, male nor female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. If you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise. (Galatians 3:26-29 NIV84)

Who is an heir of the promises made to Abraham? All those who have faith like Abraham!

It is about character, not genetics, Jesus made this plain when He told the Jewish leaders that they were of their father the devil.

The lesson says, "By baptism we acquire kinship to Christ and through Him acquire the right to participate in the promises made to Abraham."

What baptism?

What does "the right" sound like? Does it introduce a legal connotation?

FRIDAY

Read first paragraph, "No distinction…" Why does God make no distinction regarding nationality, race, cast? Where do such distinctions come from?

How many races did God create? Would the various races in the world today be a result of sin impacting God's creation?

Would the physiological changes we see in the world today, such as shortening lifespan, wrinkles, aging, shortened height, obesity, diabetes, cancers be a result of sin altering God's physical design for human beings?

What about differences in skin color?

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

New Member's Section is now open: This is FREE but will require a sign in and will contain member's only content. You will have the option of making your contact information available to our other members—over 240 people have already done this and we have members from all over the world, currently 20 different countries, and most with multiple people signed up. There is a search engine where you can search to find people close to you to network with.

The Remedy Audio and Could It Be This Simple? Audio are both available in the members section to stream or download and listen.

Our website is filled with free resources:

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 7
Covenant at Sinai

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SUNDAY

Read first two paragraphs, "As a people…" The lesson asks: "How could the Lord win them back to Himself?"

How does God win them back? What are the obstacles God has in bringing the people back into loving fellowship with Him?

Does their being slaves, being uneducated, abused, oppressed, mistreated, having human life devalued, being immersed in pagan culture and practices have any impact on their minds and their ability to process truth, trust others, trust God, believe in God, believe God is good, and to love?

In other words, does God have to take into account where their mindset and understand of things are and meet them there? And does God have to speak a language that they will understand?

So, where does God start with people who have lived as slaves?

What will be the most important factor for slaves to win them to believe in Him and follow Him above all the other gods they have heard about?

Would the most important factor for these slaves be—God is love, gentle, kind and meek and God loves you? Why or why not?

When we consider the seven levels of moral development do we see exactly why God did what He did, why He acted as we read and how God slowly led them from infancy to maturity, at least for those who would learn?

What are the seven levels and do we see God speaking to the people at each level?

1. Reward and punishment: The most basic level of understanding whether something is right is if we receive reward and wrong if we are punished.

   This level of functioning is normal for small children and a necessary starting point in our learning. But for an adult to operate at this level something is terrible wrong. This is a slave mentality, don't think, don't understand—just do what the master says to avoid the whip. This is the level of the Nazi soldiers who put people in the gas chamber. Why did they do it? They would be punished if they didn't, so it was right to do as they were ordered. This is ancient Israel as slaves in Egypt, doing what the master said to avoid punishment.

Are we seeing society moving toward level one thinking—fear of deplatforming, fear of censoring, fear of riots, fear of mobs, fear of governmental sanction, fear of economic ruin, travel restriction, don't ask questions, don't think, shut up and do what you are told?

At stage one, a ruler establishes his right to rule by displays of power and vengeance upon his enemies. He rules by threat of punishment and hope of reward. Mercy, or failure to punish, is seen as evidence of weakness, not morality, by stage one mentality. People at this level see a God of mercy as a marshmallow God and insist God must use his power to torture and kill his enemies.

God meets people where they are, so with ancient Israel and the people of Egypt he first established his credentials to rule by acts of punishment upon the Egyptian gods, and by mighty, spectacular miracles demonstrating the Egyptians gods were not gods at all. "I did this so that you might know that I am the Lord your God." (DT 29:6)

Level one decision-making is so primitive it doesn't even require a brain; the mind is completely sidelined. Animals, plants, and bacteria avoid painful stimuli and grow toward rewarding stimuli. This level of functioning is not worthy of human beings created in the image of God. In fact, it is Satan's goal to reduce us to "brute beasts creatures of instinct" operating at level one. (2Pet 2:12)

2. Marketplace exchange: Level two morality is the quid pro quo system of right and wrong; you do something for me in exchange for something of agreed value in return. You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours, the let's make a deal mindset.

   This is ancient Israel at Sinai, with "an eye for an eye and tooth for tooth" mentality and saying when the law was first read, "All the Lord has said, we will do." (Ex 19:8, 21:24)

   At level two vengeance is a moral duty. People who do evil must be paid back with an equal amount of pain and suffering. This is the level of retributive justice. The idea that justice means paying back proper amounts of pain and suffering upon the perpetrator. To not return pain and suffering is considered immoral. Sadly, far too many people still make decisions at this level.

   This level of understanding of right and wrong also manifests itself in the health-wellness gospel. If you do the right rituals, attend the right church, or say the right prayer every day for thirty days then God fulfills the bargain by giving you better health, wealth or expanding your territory. At this level it is a simple business transaction with God: If you do right, you are blessed by God, if you don't do right you are not blessed by God.

   Level two development requires only the most minimal amount of mental awareness. Monkeys, dolphins, dogs can operate on this level seeking to make a deal—to get a treat for doing a trick. Again, okay for small children, but not worthy of mature beings created in God's image.

3. Social conformity: At this stage right and wrong is determined by community consensus. This is the child who says, "Everyone else is doing it." Right is determined by the approval of peers. Individual vengeance not allowed, forgiveness is preferred, but group punishment is deemed just. If group punishment doesn't happen, then social order is undermined.

   This was ancient Israel when they wanted kings. All the other nations had kings, so it must be right and Israel demanded to have kings. This was also manifested by ancient Israel collectively punishing those who didn't conform to the agreed norm.

   Level three decision-making also doesn't require thinking, reasoning or significant engagement in higher cortical activity. Many herd animals function just like this, determining the right way to go is the way the herd goes, even if it's right over the cliff.

   Following the herd, the group, what's popular in culture can bring an emotional sense of security, but doesn't develop the person into a son or daughter of God.

4. Law and order: At level four right and wrong is determined by a codified system of rules, impartial judges and imposed proscribed punishments. At this level individuals defer judgment to properly elected or otherwise constituted authority. Right is getting a proper pay or reward for good work, and proscribed infliction of punishment for breaking the rules. Authority figures are rarely questioned, "He must be right he is the president, the judge, the pastor, the pope."

   Elementary school children operate at this level and find security, predictability, and peace in the rules. At this level "tattletales" abound as children are intolerant of "rule-breakers" and demand "fairness," which is typically some imposed punishment. The black and white thinking of this level of operation leads to fragmenting into divergent groups or cliques who share a common core set of group rules and who will demean and criticize those who don't share their rules.

   This was ancient Israel at the time of Christ – "we have a law!" they proclaimed, as they sought to stone Jesus for healing on the Sabbath. The Jews in Christ's day were also separatists who were intolerant of those who didn't keep their rules and obey their rituals.

   This is much of our modern world, with its codified laws, courts, prosecutors, judges, juries and imposed punishments. Authority at this level rests in the coercive pressure of the state to bring punishment upon those who deviate from the established laws. At this level police agencies and law enforcers are required to monitor the populace, search for breaches in the law and inflict codified penalties.

5. Love for others: Level five morality understands right is determined by doing what is in the best interest of others, realizing people have value in who they are irrespective of the rules. Wrong is when our actions are objectively harmful to others.

   Jesus demonstrated this level of functioning when he touched lepers, spoke to women, socialized with tax collectors, healed on the Sabbath, and turned over money tables in the Temple. All of these acts were acts of love but violated the laws of the Jewish authorities. The Pharisees, operating at level four and below wanted to stone Him for breaking their rules.

6. Principle based living: Level six decision-making understands the design protocols or principles upon which life is constructed to operate and intelligently chooses to live in harmony with them. It is not doing something because a rule says to do so, but because it is understood to actually work that way.

   Mature individuals recognize governments can pass laws to make substances, such as tobacco, "legal" but they can never pass laws to make them healthy. Thus, level six thinkers don't use such substances, not because of its legal status but because they violate the laws of health and damage body and brain.

   Jesus lived in harmony with God's principles, revealing God's character of love in all He did. And all His parables taught design laws not imposed laws.

7. Understanding Friend of God: At level seven a person not only has love for God and others, not only understand God's design protocols for life, but also understands God's purposes and intelligently chooses to cooperate in fulfilling their role in his purposes.

   Jesus said to his disciples in John 15:15 "I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you."

   Persons functioning at level seven understand the truth about God's character of love, his nature and design for life, the origin of evil, the nature of sin, the weapons of Satan, the original purpose for the creation of humanity, the fall of humanity into sin, God's working through human history, the purpose of the Cross, and the ultimate cleansing of the universe from sin.

The history of Israel is the history of reality—how God works, truth, presented in love, leaving people free. God cannot heal hearts and minds without the active free-will participation of that person why? Because God cannot "create" or miraculously give certain things such as:

- maturity cannot be instantly given, it must be developed.
- Trust
- Reciprocal love –God can and does love us with infinite love, but our love for God must be given freely, it cannot be programmed like a computer, it cannot be forced
- Loyalty

- Friendship

The lesson asks us to read Exodus 19:4: "You yourselves have seen what I did to Egypt and how I lifted you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself" (NET).

What is the imagery of lifting on eagles wings supposed to teach?

Read fourth paragraph, "These illustrations…" What is the lesson?

- Can an eaglet fly when it is hatched?
- Can an infant walk?
- Why can't a newly hatched eaglet fly? Why can't an infant walk?

What is the lesson?

- Does the eaglet and infant have to be fed by the parent, and ingest the nurturing food so their body can grow?
    - Do newborn Christians have to be fed the bread of life, the truth of God and ingest that food—those truths and principles into their heart and minds—in order to grow?
- Do eaglets and infants need the protection of their parents in order to not be ravaged by predators?
    - Do babes in Christ need protection from God and others mature Christians in order to not be ravaged by the wolves in sheep's clothing?
- Do eaglets and infants need parents to teach them how to fly or walk and to help them grow?
    - Do babes in Christ need mature Christians to help mentor them and teach them God's methods and principles for living, how to reason, how to discern and problem solve, how to handle powerful emotions, how to stand on their own two feet?
- Do eaglets and infants need to actual develop the abilities within themselves before they can fly or walk on their own?
    - Do babes in Christ need to actually grow up, mature before they can actually walk the Christian walk—be responsible for Christian duties?

And what does maturity look like according to Scripture?

> We have much to say about this, but it is hard to explain because you are slow to learn. In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. But solid food is for the mature, who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil. Therefore let us leave the elementary teachings about Christ and go on to maturity, not laying again the foundation of repentance from acts that lead to death, and of faith in God, instruction about baptisms, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment" (Heb 5:11–6:2 NIV84).

What is immaturity? It is levels four and below functioning that we just reviewed, which focuses on self, on:

- Reward or punishment
- Getting a good deal
- Being accepted by the crowd
- Getting one's legal debt paid or avoiding legal trouble

But we are to move beyond Sinai, beyond the childish immature things and grow up into maturity, because if we don't we are not acquainted with righteousness—true maturity is level five and above who:

- Love God and others more than self
- Live in harmony with God's design laws or methods
- Intelligently cooperate with God to fulfill His purposes

And we see this in the various atonement models people teach and believe:

Atonement through the 7 levels:

Level 1 reward and punishment:

Because God said don't do something, but they did and God got offended and responded with angry vengeance, taking the life of Jesus in our place.

This is the Satisfaction Theory of Atonement

Level 2 marketplace exchange:

Because Satan now had rights to this earth and claimed the lives of the sons of Adam and daughters of Eve, and God struck a bargain with the devil to exchange the life of Christ for the life of humans. Or Aslan had to give his life to the White Witch to free the son of Adam.

This is the Ransom Theory of Atonement

Level 3 social conformity:

So that all will agree that God's government is fair in dealing with sin.

This is the Governmental Theory of Atonement

topics@comeandreason.com

Level 4 law and order:

To pay the legal penalty the law demanded and the heavenly judge imposed. The Law must be kept. Man broke the Law. Someone had to pay the penalty. Jesus paid that penalty. The integrity of the Law was maintained.

This is the Penal Substitution Theory

Level 5 love for others:

Because He loved us too much to let us go and His death was the means to reach us with His love and restore us to trust in Him.

This is Moral Influence Theory

Level 6 principle based:

It was the only means to fix what sin had done to God's creation. When mankind sinned, they deviated from God's design for life and their condition was terminal. Christ came to fix what sin did to this creation. Thus "he who knew no sin became sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God." 2Corinthians 5:21

This is the Christus Victor and Recapitulation Theories

Level 7 understanding friend of God:

Christ died to reveal truth to win us to trust (John 8:32), destroy death (2Timothy 1:10), destroy sin and Satan (Hebrews 2:14), restore humanity back to God's original ideal (1John 3:8), and secure the universe unfallen in its innocence. "All things in heaven and in earth are reconciled to Christ at the cross." (Colossians 1:20)

This is the The Healing Reality

The Mature Ways to Understand the Bible Metaphors of Salvation:

Satisfaction Theory

- Creation is out of harmony with God and in a terminal condition
- God is like a parent whose child is dying of leukemia—what is the only thing that will satisfy?
- A Remedy that heals and saves!
- "He will see the result of the suffering of his soul and be satisfied" Isa 53:11

Ransom Theory

- Ransom is the price required to free from bondage

- What holds us in bondage?
- Lies about God and our own carnal nature
- What is the price to free?
- Truth and a new nature (bread and wine)

Governmental Theory

- God rules on design law—love, truth, & liberty
- God can only heal minds, i.e. win to love and trust in harmony with His methods
- Thus God's government, design laws, are sustained as the only method upon which life, health and peace operate

Penal Substitution Theory

- This metaphor is not found in Scripture but is a lie based upon accepting false human imposed law and obstructs God healing plan
- Added law (10 Commandments, ceremonial law etc.) is rightly understood as setting healthy boundaries for the immature to protect, diagnose, teach and lead to Christ for healing

Moral Influence Theory

- Accepted as part of the reality needed to heal
- But understood as being incomplete—in addition to winning us to trust, a real remedy to fix the damage of sin and to restore God's original design for human character was needed

Christus Victor and Recapitulation

- Understood as Christ's victory over all opposition to His methods here on earth:
- Truth overcomes lies; Love overcomes selfishness
- Jesus took up humanity broken and damaged by sin and perfected it!

Healing Reality

- Accepts Moral Influence of truth to destroy lies and win to trust
- Accepts the Victory of Christ over Satan directly and over the carnal nature to destroy the infection of fear and selfishness and restore love within
- And realizes All things in heaven and earth are reconciled to Christ at the cross. (Col 1:18-20)

MONDAY

The lesson quotes Exodus 6:6: "Therefore, say to the Israelites: 'I am the LORD, and I will bring you out from under the yoke of the Egyptians. I will free you from being slaves to them, and I will redeem you with an outstretched arm and with mighty acts of judgment" (Ex 6:6 NIV84).

What do you understand "might acts of judgment" to mean?

When you hear judgment what comes to mind? The Hebrew for judgment is sapat—but this word is not speaking of one branch of government, judicial

From the Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament:

> The primary sense of šāpaṭ is to exercise the processes of government. Since, however, the ancients did not always divide the functions of government, as most modern governments do, between legislative, executive, and judicial functions (and departments) the common translation, "to judge," misleads us. For, the word, judge, as šāpaṭ is usually translated, in modern English, means to exercise only the judicial function of government. Unless one wishes in a context of government—civil, religious, or otherwise—consistently to translate as "to govern or rule," the interpreter must seek more specialized words to translate a word of such broad meaning in the modern world scene. For the participle NIV uses "leader." Culver, R. D. (1999). 2443 שָׁפַט. R. L. Harris, G. L. Archer Jr., & B. K. Waltke (Eds.), Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament (electronic ed., p. 947). Chicago: Moody Press.

So God's great acts of judgment are not judicial, legal, penal, they are God exercising His Sovereign authority in the running of His government to fulfill His covenant promise to Adam to bring the Messiah in order to heal His creation.

Read third paragraph, "The word redeem…" What does this mean?

How do you understand the ransom metaphor now?

What was the price that was paid? Why was it paid, to whom was it paid?

TUESDAY

Read third paragraph, "This covenant…" Is this a different covenant than the previous or merely the most recent iteration of the same covenant—God working to fulfill His promise to bring the Messiah?

In the last paragraph the lesson states, "Though the Lord had redeemed Israel from the bondage of Egypt, He wanted them to understand that redemption had a greater, more significant meaning than merely freedom from physical bondage. He wanted to redeem them from sin, the ultimate slavery, and this could happen only through the sacrifice of the Messiah, as taught in the types and symbols of the sanctuary service…."

God wants to give us freedom—Paul wrote to the Galatians:

> "It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Stand firm, then, and do not let yourselves be burdened again by a yoke of slavery" (Ga 5:1 NIV84).

What is Paul talking about?

What kind of slavery is this? What is the cruelest type of slavery—is it not the slavery that takes away your mind, your identity, your soul?

Jesus said, "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul" (Mt 10:28 NIV84).

The cruelest slavery is the slavery that enslaves the mind, that destroys individuality, that crushes the spirit, that sears the conscience, that causes a person to be enslaved to destruction, sin, and prefer their slavery.

One time I was consulted to see a man who was in the ICU in liver failure from alcohol dependence. I was asked to get him into rehab, but he refused. He knew he was dying of liver failure, and that if he went home and drank again he would likely die, but he told me he would rather die than stop drinking. He didn't want to die, he would like a new liver so he could keep drinking.

His attitude was different from others I have seen die from alcoholic liver failure—others I have known didn't want to drink any more, they wanted freedom but for various reasons in their life kept relapsing, but they also kept trying, longed to be free. These were like the Apostles in Gethsemane—their spirit is willing but the flesh is weak.

But the man in the ICU had no desire to be free, his slavery was beyond physical addiction, his mind was enslaved.

Today many are enslaved to various things:

- addictions
- fears
- debts

But the biggest enslavement I see in society today is the enslavement to worldly systems of imperialism. I won't say more, but look around and you will see the minds enslaved to all kinds of false ideas, false standards, false values that are contrary to God's design laws.

The sanctuary service given by God to ancient Israel is, as the lesson says, symbolic, object lesson, metaphor—it teaches a larger reality. It had no saving benefit in the acted-out system. It was all theater, a grand play, with great costumes, an immaculate stage, and a detailed script—we call Scripture.

But none of that acted-out theater had any saving value—it all taught the larger reality of Jesus. I want to remind everyone that we have a seminar series on website that unpacks the meaning behind the various symbols showing how it all taught the larger reality of Jesus and God's plan to save us from sin. The link is: https://comeandreason.com/category/media/sanctuary-feast-days-seminar/

Read first two paragraphs, "In these verses the Lord…" Why doesn't it work this way? Isn't God Sovereign? Can't He do whatever He wants? Doesn't the Bible say:

> "I will have mercy on whom I have mercy, > and I will have compassion on whom I have compassion."
>
> It does not, therefore, depend on man's desire or effort, but on God's mercy. For the Scripture says to Pharaoh: "I raised you up for this very purpose, that I might display my power in you and that my name might be proclaimed in all the earth." Therefore God has mercy on whom he wants to have mercy, and he hardens whom he wants to harden (Ro 9:15–18 NIV84).

What does this mean? Does God just harden people?

What is the theme of this passage? Paul is writing to Jews who are not inclined to see Gentiles as part of the promises to Abraham. Paul is making the point that God's mercy is up to God and He can be merciful to anyone and it doesn't matter about genetics. What matters is the condition of hearts and minds and how we respond to God's invitation.

Thus God has the right to be merciful to whomever He chooses, and who does God choose to be merciful to? Every single person—then why doesn't everyone experience God's mercy? Because not everyone responds to God's mercy, just like not everyone accepts God's forgiveness even though God personally forgives everyone.

What about hardening of Pharaoh's heart? Who did it?

The Bible describes the hardening of Pharaoh's heart in three ways:

Description #1 – God hardening Pharaoh's heart

- "The Lord said to Moses, "When you return to Egypt, see that you perform before Pharaoh all the wonders I have given you the power to do. But I will harden his heart so that he will not let the people go." Exodus 4:21
- "But I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and though I multiply my miraculous signs and wonders in Egypt, he will not listen to you. Then I will lay my hand on Egypt and with mighty acts of judgment I will bring out my divisions, my people the Israelites." Ex 7:3,4
- "But the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart and he would not listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the Lord had said to Moses." Ex 9:12

Description #2 – Pharaoh's heart became hard

- "Yet Pharaoh's heart became hard and he would not listen to them, just as the Lord had said." Ex 7:13
- "Then the Lord said to Moses, "Pharaoh's heart is unyielding; he refuses to let the people go." Ex 7:14

- "But the Egyptian magicians did the same things by their secret arts, and Pharaoh's heart became hard; he would not listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the Lord had said." Ex 7:22
- "The magicians said to Pharaoh, "This is the finger of God." But Pharaoh's heart was hard and he would not listen, just as the Lord had said." Ex 8:19

Description # 3 – Pharaoh hardened his own heart

- "But when Pharaoh saw that there was relief, he hardened his heart and would not listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the Lord had said." Exodus 8:15
- "But this time also Pharaoh hardened his heart and would not let the people go." Ex 8:32
- "When Pharaoh saw that the rain and hail and thunder had stopped, he sinned again: He and his officials hardened their hearts. So Pharaoh's heart was hard and he would not let the Israelites go, just as the Lord had said through Moses." Ex 9:34,35

Which of these descriptions is the inspired one? Which is true? All of them, but how? How are all three true?

It requires we understand design law, how reality works, how hearts actually become hardened—and how do they?

What happens to a person when they are convicted of some truth—don't they have to make a decision—either to accept and apply it or resist it, ignore it, reject it?

And what happens to a heart that rejects truth? It hardens—that's how it works. So, if a person is never presented with truth their heart doesn't become as hard as the one who has rejected the truth.

God gave Pharaoh more evidence and truth than any other ancient leader and Pharaoh was convicted, and then in each instance hardened and rejected the truth.

Thus God hardened Pharaoh's heart by bring truth to him over and over again, but Pharaoh hardened his own heart by choosing to reject it over and over again, and thus Pharaoh's heart was hardened.

But the immature, the level four and below, read the Scripture about God hardening Pharaoh's heart as God using divine power to turn Pharaoh into a puppet and destroy Pharaoh's individuality. Such a teaching, whether they realize it or not, perverts the divine character and presents an arbitrary rule-maker who functions like a human dictator.

But the question remains, Why did God present truth to Pharaoh when He, in His foreknowledge, knew Pharaoh would reject it and experience a hardened heart?

Even though Pharaoh was going to reject the truth, God knew it is only by the presentation of truth that sinners can be set free (John 8:32). God would not deny Pharaoh the opportunity to be freed from sin. God would not deny Pharaoh the opportunity to be saved. Therefore God presented truth to Pharaoh in order to reach his heart and save him; God did not force Pharaoh's will. Pharaoh freely chose to reject the truth and when Pharaoh hardened his heart, God used Pharaoh as a powerful demonstration of the futility of worshipping false gods. The lessons of Egypt were publicized throughout the ancient world and awareness of the true God spread.

Therefore, God presents truth, which sets free all those who accept it, but God does not force the will of individuals to either accept or reject the truth. When we reject the truth our hearts harden in proportion to the truth rebuffed. The Bible record of all three descriptions of this event is accurate. God hardened Pharaoh's heart by presenting truth in such a way that Pharaoh was forced to make a decision upon it. But it was Pharaoh who hardened his own heart by rejecting the truth and refusing to repent.

THURSDAY

The lesson asks about the promises and why Israel failed to experience them in full? They point us to Romans 9:30-32:

> What then shall we say? That the Gentiles, who did not pursue righteousness, have obtained it, a righteousness that is by faith; but Israel, who pursued a law of righteousness, has not attained it. Why not? Because they pursued it not by faith but as if it were by works. They stumbled over the "stumbling stone…. Since they did not know the righteousness that comes from God and sought to establish their own, they did not submit to God's righteousness." (Ro 9:30–32; 10:3 NIV84).

What does this mean?

What is the righteousness that comes by faith?

What if we change what Israel did, a righteousness that they work for, their own good deeds, into a legal accounting of vicarious righteousness that we claim in a legal way applied to our accounts in heaven by Jesus? Does this result in the righteousness of God in us?

And this is what Christianity has been tricked into doing, we have just exchanged one false legalism for another, the first was the legalism of our legal obedience earning, meriting or creating our own righteousness. The second is believing the lie that Jesus came to fulfill legal requirements and that we claim His perfection in some legalistic accounting scheme in books in heaven, rather than Jesus perfected humanity and offers to imbue His righteousness into our hearts and minds if we trust Him, making us right with Him, making us righteous.

The truth of Scripture though is that:

> God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God." (2 Co 5:21 NIV84).

The promises are the promises to heal hearts and minds, to restore us to righteousness, to write His design laws of life into our hearts and minds, our inmost being. This is the reality, of which the Sanctuary was designed to teach.

So what is a legalist? A legalist is someone who is preoccupied with their legal standing—whether through their own legal works or through the legal works of a vicarious substitute—both are legalists.

The true Christian is the one who is reborn in heart and mind to be like Christ in character, having God's design laws for life reproduced in their inmost being as the wellspring of action and motive, such that "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me."

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 8
Covenant Law

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Online listener John Gross, after hearing our description of the atonement models and the ransom price being what was needed to free us from bondage of sin, the truth to free us from lies and a new sinless human nature developed by Christ which we partake by faith, thus the price was paid to us—he sent this quote from EGW:

> "The Lord requires of every Christian, growth in efficiency and in capability in every sense. He has paid us our wages, even his own blood and suffering to secure our obedience… For our sakes Christ became poor, that we through his poverty might be made rich. He descended in humiliation from depth to depth in our behalf until he reached the cross. He could go no farther in self-denial and self-sacrifice. It was impossible for divine condescension to reach a lower depth. This wonderful sacrifice moved all heaven, and can we look upon it without our hearts breaking at the sight? May the Lord have pity upon us in our hardness of heart, and may he give us a new heart to honor and glorify his name." The Home Missionary, June 1, 1897

Read first paragraph, "One of the important…" What does it mean? What does the path of righteousness look like? What does it feel like? It is the path that leads through the valley of the shadow of death—why?

What is required for the sinner to experience in order to be righteous? Conversion, being reborn, or another way to say that is, we must die to the old self and be resurrected with Jesus with a new heart and right spirit. This conversion experience is the "valley of the shadow of death"—in which we feel like we are dying on the inside, but in which, when we trust Jesus and follow our Shepherd, we only die to sin and selfishness.

What does it mean "for His name's sake?" What is symbolized by God's name? His character—how does our going down the path of righteousness connect to God's name? Where does God want to write His name or place His character? In us, we were created by God to be living temples in which God dwells by His Spirit and thus those who follow our Shepherd through the valley of the shadow of death are following Him in the path of righteousness where He restores in us His true character or name!

Which takes us to the next paragraph in the lesson, "What are the safe…" When you read about the commandments of the Lord, or when you read about God's law—what comes to mind?

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424

Do you ask, "what law lens"? Does it matter when we think of the law of God whether we are thinking of design law or imposed law?

If the people read "God's commandments and law" through the human law lens, where does that path lead? It leads to all forms of legalism:

- the legalism of the Jews at Sinai, "all the Lord says we will do"
- the legalism of the Pharisees in Jesus' day, who crucified Jesus as a law breaker
- the legalism of the Dark Ages church who enforced its law on people even burning people at the stake
- the legalism of penal substitution theology which promotes the lie that God's law functions like human law, imposed rules and that sin is a legal problem from which we need a legal solution so the imperial cosmic judge wont kill us.
- Thus legalism is the focus on legal standing and legal solutions that always results from believing the lie that God's law functions like human law and thus sin is legal trouble requiring a legal solution.

That doesn't mean we undermine or discount God's law—quite the contrary. The design law view uplifts, sustains, upholds, magnifies and validates God's laws as the protocols that life and reality are built upon and they are beyond any change or abrogation. We either die from being out of harmony with them, or we are restored by the power of God to live in harmony with them.

So comparing the referenced Psalms from different versions:

Psalms 119:35:

- Make me to go in the path of thy commandments;
  For therein do I delight. (KJV)

- Keep me obedient to your commandments, because in them I find happiness. (GNT)

- Guide me in the path of your commands, for I delight to walk in it. (NET)

- Lead me to live according to your ways, because it brings me health and happiness. (REM)

Psalms 119:172:

- My tongue shall speak of thy word:
  For all thy commandments are righteousness. (KJV)

- I will sing about your law, because your commands are just. (GNT)

- My tongue will sing of your promise, for all your commandments are right. (NRSV)

- Let my tongue sing of your revelations of truth, for all your laws are perfect — the protocols for life and health. (REM)

The lesson says, "God's law is a safe, firm path through the treacherous swamp of human existence." Absolutely true—as long as one understands God's law is design law. But as soon as one believes God's laws are like human law, rules imposed requiring legal enforcement, then one leaves safety and will ultimately cause injury to themselves and others:

- Jesus was accused of being a law breaker and rejected and crucified
- The disciples were accused of being law breakers, of harvesting grain on the Sabbath, of not washing their hands properly before eating
- Jesus told them that when they convert people to their religion—which was converting them to Judaism, God's chosen people the true Sabbath, the inspired Word given through God's prophets, yet because they substituted human imposed law, Jesus told them they make people twice the sons of hell.
- Look through history all the problems that religions have caused always have their root in legal enforcement of their religious code on others. Whenever people return to design law, love, truth, freedom healing occurs.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "Jewish tradition…" "For whatever reasons…" What is your understanding of God's reasons for choosing Israel?

To me it is very simple—God foreknew that in this branch of the human family enough people would choose to stay faithful to Him, that despite Satan's worst attacks and attempts to try and destroy them, He would succeed in fulfilling His promise to Adam and Eve, to bring our Messiah.

What do you think of this sentence, "They had no merit of their own that would make them worthy of God's love and His choice of them as His people"?

What about Gabriel or Adam and Eve in Eden before sin—did they have merit of their own that made them worthy of God's love and God's choice of them to fulfill the roles given to them? Did Lucifer before his fall?

In other words, are we saying that when we are good—perhaps sinless like Gabriel we merit God's love, but when we are sinners (being born in sin without any choice of our own to be born this way) we do not merit God's love? If this is true, is it actually love or is it what some call "conditional love"?

What kind of god would that god be if only the righteous merit his love?

But the Bible says, "For God so loved the world that He sent His only Son…" "While we were yet sinners Christ died for us."

Love based on merit is not love!

The lesson asks a very pertinent question regarding God's election of Israel, "What did God choose Israel for?"

Was Israel chosen for exclusive salvation? No, what were they chosen for? To be God's helpers in spreading the truth about God, the problem of sin, God's solution of the coming Messiah, preparing the world for the first Advent of the Messiah.

The lesson states in the second paragraph, "As Seventh-day Adventists, we like to view ourselves as the modern-day counterpart to Israel, called by the Lord, not to be the only ones redeemed but to proclaim the message of redemption to the world, in the context of the three angels' messages. In short, we believe we have something to say that no one else is saying."

What are the parallels between the Jews of Christ's day and the SDA church?

- Both observe the save weekly Sabbath
- Both believe God is Creator of earth and life on it is six literal days resting on the 7th day
- Both have a sanctuary message
- Both have a dietary or health message
- Both promote the importance of tithes and offerings
- Both were called to prepare the world for the Advent of the Messiah
- Both believe they were blessed by God with individuals with special inspiration and have writings of dead prophets

Is that where the similarities end?

Do we believe that ancient Israel was called by God to be His people to prepare the world for His coming? Do we believe that being called by God for this purpose would have elevated their value as a military target in Satan's estimation? In other words, because they were called by God would Satan have put them at the top of his hit list to seek to infiltrate, divert, pervert and destroy?

What about the SDA church—if their view is correct and they are the end-time counterpart with a special message to call the world to prepare to meet Jesus, would they also be targeted by Satan for infiltration, infection, perversion and destruction?

Ancient Israel was attacked literally, by warring nations—but those nations failed to destroy Israel, they were attacked by paganism but that also eventually failed, but what didn't fail, what was the one strategy that succeeded in getting the nation to reject Jesus as their Messiah and to crucify Him? Infecting their minds with the lie that God's law functions like human law and thus they became legalists and rejected the Creator.

Do we see any parallels in Christianity and the SDA church to what caused Israel to fail? Specifically, to we see in Christianity and the SDA church the embracing of human law as God's law and what has that done to the message that is to prepare the world for Christ's return?

What is the unique message to be given to the world today—the 3 angels' messages? How would you describe it?

Let's examine the third angel's message—in it is the gospel, the righteousness by faith message—but let's read it and ask, what is the good news? Do you hear it in this message?

> A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice: "If anyone worships the beast and his image and receives his mark on the forehead or on the hand, he, too, will drink of the wine of God's fury, which has been poured full strength into the cup of his wrath. He will be tormented with burning sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb. And the smoke of their torment rises for ever and ever. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and his image, or for anyone who receives the mark of his name." This calls for patient endurance on the part of the saints who obey God's commandments and remain faithful to Jesus. (Re 14:9–12 NIV84).

What is the good news?

> A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice: "If anyone worships the beast and his image and receives his mark on the forehead or on the hand, [God's law of worship is revealed here and upheld and sustained by God. The law of by beholding we become changed or in psychiatry we know as modeling.
>
> Paul describes these same events about how things will be just before the coming of the Lord:
> "Concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our being gathered to him, we ask you, brothers, not to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord has already come. Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God." (2Thes 2:1-4 NIV84)

This is describing the church of the Dark Ages arising and rejecting God's design laws and infecting the Spirit Temple, the minds of human beings with the anti-Christ, anti-God, anti-love, anti-design law message of human law, that God's law works like human law, imposed rules requiring God to inflict punishment for rule-breaking. And the Spirit temple became defiled requiring our heavenly High Priest to cleanse our temples before He returns to get us. This is the message of the 3 angels—the message of worshipping God as Creator and rejecting the dictator views of God.

Paul goes on describe the results of believing the lawless one, the one who denies God's design laws and promote justice through legislation, enforcement, punishment which only causes more division and hostility, notice why the wicked perish:

> The coming of the lawless one will be in accordance with the work of Satan displayed in all kinds of counterfeit miracles, signs and wonders, and in every sort of evil that deceives those who are perishing. They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. For this reason God sends them a powerful delusion so that they will believe the lie and so that all will be condemned who have not believed the truth but have delighted in wickedness. (2 Th 2:9–12 NIV84).

The mark is the counterpart to the seal of God—God's people are sealed in their foreheads, which is where we reason, think, choose, it is symbolic of character, love, loyalty. The lost are marked in their foreheads or hands, because there are two groups of lost, the believers in Satan's ways, and the practitioners of Satan's ways.

These lost people marked in the forehead are marked in their minds as rejecting truth, they develop characters of selfishness, control, fear, anti-love.

The mark of the beast in the forehead symbolizes people who believe the lies of Satan the methods of the beast are right and have formed characters like Satan. The mark in the hand are those who don't agree with the practices, actions of the beast and wouldn't initiate the abuses themselves, but also do not have God's character reproduced within, thus they still live to protect self, so they go along with the beast in practice (the work of their hand) and enforce the methods of the beast in their lives and others in their community. From Nazi Germany Hitler, Goebbels, Mengele would examples of be people who would be marked in their foreheads—their characters, beliefs, mindsets were corrupt. They believed in what they were doing. The Nazi soldiers and German citizens who cooperated, who willingly went along to protect self would be the ones marked in their hands.

The message of this angel is saying that God gives each person freedom to worship the God they prefer, but if they reject the truth, reject the remedy provided by Jesus, then they reap what they have sown into their own lives and will be marked in character to be beastly, or in conduct to be beastly.

> he, too, will drink of the wine of God's fury, which has been poured full strength into the cup of his wrath.

God's law of liberty is revealed here. God truly let's go all who insist on rejecting Him and refusing the remedy provided by Jesus. As painful as it is for God and for the lost, God is love and love only exists in freedom. So God lets them go to reap what they have sown—and this in Scripture is known as God's wrath (Romans 1:18-32). Again, good news that God never forces any to comply or do what He says.

> He will be tormented with burning sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb.

This is the revelation of God's laws of love and truth—God's life-giving presence is described in Scripture as a consuming fire, but it is the same fire seen at Pentecost. It is infinite love and infinite truth unveiled and flowing over the earth and its inhabitants again. Notice where this place of torment occurs, "in the presence of the holy angels and the Lamb." This is good news because to the righteous this same fire invigorates, brings joy, brings peace, happiness, health and eternal life. But to the wicked it is a place where they suffer terrible torment—but why? The good news is revealed that the torment doesn't come from God, it comes from sin when God let's go His protection and stops shielding the wicked from what sin does to them.

> And the smoke of their torment rises for ever and ever.

The good news that the lessons of what happened, that sin causes pain, sin causes suffering, sin causes death, and refusing God's healing results in the torment and death—those lessons will never be forgotten. Just as smoke remains after something is consumed in fire, these lessons will remain in the minds of the saved for all eternity so that sin will never arise again. And that is good news.

> There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and his image, or for anyone who receives the mark of his name."

There is no rest because they have embraced the lie about God's law functioning like human law, a system of imposed rules that requires imposed penalties. This false earthly sinful legal system is symbolized by a mark or sign of imperial rule and that is the church's legislative change of worship from Sabbath to Sunday. But God gave the Sabbath at the end of Creation week as a sign of His methods and design laws for governing. Therefore, those who embrace God's design law methods and have the law written on their hearts enter God's rest as symbolized by the Sabbath. The first thing Adam and Eve did after coming to life on Creation Friday was to enter Sabbath rest with God. Likewise, when the new Christian is truly converted they enter into a state of rest with God, rest from fear, guilt, shame, sin, selfishness and all the legal penal lies and they Remember the Sabbath all week long as they practice God's methods of truth, love and freedom in how they live. But for those who reject God's design laws as symbolized by the Sabbath, and who insist God's law is imposed and God is the punisher of rule breakers, they never experience rest with God, they remain alienated and disconnected just like the Pharisees, because such beliefs about God's laws actually interfere with trust—they need someone to protect them or hide them from the god they really don't trust.

> This calls for patient endurance on the part of the saints who obey God's commandments and remain faithful to Jesus. (Re 14:9–12 NIV84).

More good news, that the patient saints, those who have God's law written on their hearts and minds, are sealed, healed and restored to unity with God and thus live in harmony with God's laws and are faithful in telling the truth about God and His design laws of life. They reject the imposed penal/legal lies told by the beast and its various agents and don't seek justice through legislation and governmental enforcement but by living justly in how they treat others.

Do we have a special message at this time in earth's history?

MONDAY

Read Deuteronomy 4:13:

> "He declared to you his covenant, the Ten Commandments, which he commanded you to follow and then wrote them on two stone tablets." (Dt 4:13 NIV84).

Why did God write the 10 Commandments in stone?

Are the 10 Commandments eternal—meaning they have always existed?

Are the 10 Commandments written in stone in heaven for the angels?

Did God have a law written in stone or some other substance in heaven posted for the inhabitants to obey before Lucifer rebelled?

Consider this quotation from the book Thoughts from the Mount of Blessings as the author describes her view of how the angels in heaven obeyed God and their views on law—what do you think?

> The will of God is expressed in the precepts of His holy law, and the principles of this law are the principles of heaven. [What does this mean? Are the expressions of God's law in precepts the same as the principles or are they referring to two different things? And if so, what are the differences? Expressed precepts would be referring to the written law, the 10 Commandments. But are principles the same as expressed precepts? So, which is described here as the law of heaven? The principles, what are the principles of God that is the law of heaven that are expressed in the precepts—love for God and others!] The angels of heaven attain unto no higher knowledge than to know the will of God, and to do His will is the highest service that can engage their powers. MB 109.1
> But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. [Why not? Because the heavenly beings do not consider law as imposed man-made rules, but as design protocols, how things work. It isn't a spirit of legality that causes you to not jump off a bridge, or not to smoke, it is love for life. Likewise all righteousness is love for God and others.] When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of. [What kind of law can be in force and people are obeying it but they have not thought about it; they haven't been told about it; they don't even realize there is a law? Only design law can function this way. Consider Isaac Newton telling his friends his discovery about the law of gravity—don't you think they might > have said, "Law—hmmm…I never thought it was a law, it just how things work"? Have you considered that Satan's rebellion against God was a rebellion against God's law? Now do you think Satan came right out and said "I am rebelling against God! I want to overthrow God! I am a better god that God?" No, what did he likely do to rebel against God? He would have made it appear he was seeking a better way, that there was something wrong with how God was doing things—and in this case it was by alleging God is a rule-maker and if you break His rules God will punish.] In their ministry the angels are not as servants, but as sons. There is perfect unity between them and their Creator. Obedience is to them no drudgery. Love for God makes their service a joy. So in every soul wherein Christ, the hope of glory, dwells, His words are re-echoed, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God: yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. MB 109.2

So, in heaven no law written on stone, it wouldn't make any sense, but there is a law that is in operation and disobedience cannot be ignored—why? Because all disobedience to God's law damages, it must be addressed in order to stop the damage and heal the injury.

Read first paragraph, "However much we have been stressing…" Why is grace not a license to sin?

Read Romans 3:5-8:

> But if our unrighteousness brings out God's righteousness more clearly, what shall we say? That God is unjust in bringing his wrath on us? (I am using a human argument.) Certainly not! If that were so, how could God judge the world? Someone might argue, "If my falsehood enhances God's truthfulness and so increases his glory, why am I still condemned as a sinner?" Why not say—as we are being slanderously reported as saying and as some claim that we say—"Let us do evil that good may result"? Their condemnation is deserved. (Ro 3:5–8NIV84).

What do you understand is being taught here?

From The Remedy:

> But if our sickness and selfishness make God's enduring, healing love easier to see and understand, how do we interpret that? Do we say that since our wickedness makes God's goodness easier to see, since our selfishness makes God's love easier to comprehend, since our sickness makes God's Remedy easier to understand, that we are therefore helping God win his case? Is God unjust if he doesn't give us a free pass? (I am using a human argument that fails to understand the basic principles upon which the universe operates.) Absolutely not! If that were the case, how could God allow anyone to experience the consequences of the persistent refusal of his life-giving Remedy? Some who see sin as a legal problem might argue, "If I were to lie in order to help God reveal what truthfulness is and thus increase his glory, I am actually on his side helping him, so why should I suffer the fate of a sinner?" They might as well try claiming–as we are being falsely accused of saying–"It is by doing wrong that the right occurs. It is by doing evil that good results. It is by acting selfishly that love grows." Those who teach such > things deserve the consequence of a depraved and destroyed mind, which is the only result of practicing methods at variance with God's. They fail to understand that violations of God's law of love actually damage the sinner and destroy God's image, methods and principles within them. (Ro 3:5–8 REM).

This is why disobedience cannot help God's cause, it only causes more injury, even though our sin has brought to light God's grace and love more fully.

Read second paragraph, "When you think about what a covenant…" My reaction was—this is sick! Its twisted, is gross, its perverse—and is exactly what the legal lie has done to God's universe and the church.

This is so sad—but let's bring truth to bear. What is the essential elements for a marriage to be healthy? Love and Trust!

What kind of law can you legislate, or rule can you pass or boundary can you enforce upon another that will cause them to love you and make them more trustworthy?

What happens in a marriage when it is based on rules and laws?

So what is the purpose of the written law, who is it for?

> We know that the law is good if one uses it properly. We also know that law is made not for the righteous but for lawbreakers and rebels, the ungodly and sinful, the unholy and irreligious; for those who kill their fathers or mothers, for murderers, for adulterers and perverts, for slave traders and liars and perjurers—and for whatever else is contrary to the sound doctrine that conforms to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which he entrusted to me. (1 Ti 1:8–11 NIV84).

Who is the written law given for? The wicked, the immature, the rebellious, in other words, not for those who are reconciled to Christ—it serves no function for them.

For the lesson to suggest that our relationship with God requires rules and rule-enforcement is one of the grossest perversions of God's character possible, it perverts the gospel and obstructs God's healing plan.

Does that mean the righteous are lawless—absolutely not—it means they are living the law of God as it is written in their hearts but it is something not even thought of.

When you give your spouse or child a hug, do you think? Well, the law requires that I hug them, I want to be obedient, I don't want to get punished, I don't want to get in legal trouble so, I will do my duty and obey the law and give my spouse a hug?

Or, as the lesson states, do righteous husbands and wives think, "Well I sure would like to commit adultery, but I don't want to get in legal trouble, so I won't cheat on my spouse because the rules say not to; but if it wasn't for those pesky rules I sure would."

It is foolish to teach such things. Just as Paul says, only perverts—those who have perverted God's law—think this way.

How do you explain:

> You shall not make for yourself an idol in the form of anything in heaven above or on the earth beneath or in the waters below. You shall not bow down to them or worship them; for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God, punishing the children for the sin of the fathers to the third and fourth generation of those who hate me, but showing love to a thousand generations of those who love me and keep my commandments. (Ex 20:4–6 NIV84).

Does God inflict punishment on the descendants of sinners? Then what do you do with Ezekiel 18?

> The word of the Lord came to me: [2] "What do you people mean by quoting this proverb about the land of Israel:
> " 'The fathers eat sour grapes, > and the children's teeth are set on edge'?
> [3] "As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign Lord, you will no longer quote this proverb in Israel…
> [5] "Suppose there is a righteous man > who does what is just and right…
> [9] He follows my decrees and faithfully keeps my laws. That man is righteous; he will surely live, declares the Sovereign Lord.
> [10] "Suppose he has a violent son, who sheds blood or does any of these other things [11] (though the father has done none of them)…
> [13] Will such a man live? He will not! Because he has done all these detestable things, he will surely be put to death and his blood will be on his own head.
> [14] "But suppose this son has a son who sees all the sins his father commits, and though he sees them, he does not do such things…
> [17] He withholds his hand from sin… He keeps my laws and follows my decrees. He will not die for his father's sin; he will surely live…
> [19] "Yet you ask, 'Why does the son not share the guilt of his father?' Since the son has done what is just and right and has been careful to keep all my decrees, he will surely live. [20] The soul who sins is the one who will die. The son will not share the guilt of the father, nor will the father share the guilt of the son. The righteousness of the righteous man will be credited to him, and the wickedness of the wicked will be charged against him.
> [21] "But if a wicked man turns away from all the sins he has committed and keeps all my decrees and does what is just and right, he will surely live; he will not die. [22] None of the offenses he has committed will be remembered against him. Because of the righteous things he has done, he will live. [23] Do I take any pleasure in the death of the wicked? declares the Sovereign Lord. Rather, am I not pleased when they turn from their ways and live?

[24] "But if a righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits sin and does the same detestable things the wicked man does, will he live? None of the righteous things he has done will be remembered. Because of the unfaithfulness he is guilty of and because of the sins he has committed, he will die.
[25] "Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' Hear, O house of Israel: Is my way unjust? Is it not your ways that are unjust? [26] If a righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits sin, he will die for it; because of the sin he has committed he will die. [27] But if a wicked man turns away from the wickedness he has committed and does what is just and right, he will save his life. [28] Because he considers all the offenses he has committed and turns away from them, he will surely live; he will not die. [29] Yet the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' Are my ways unjust, O house of Israel? Is it not your ways that are unjust?
[30] "Therefore, O house of Israel, I will judge you, each one according to his ways, declares the Sovereign Lord. Repent! Turn away from all your offenses; then sin will not be your downfall.
[31] Rid yourselves of all the offenses you have committed, and get a new heart and a new spirit. Why will you die, O house of Israel? [32] For I take no pleasure in the death of anyone, declares the Sovereign Lord. Repent and live! (Ezekiel 18:1-32 NIV84)

How do we harmonize these verses? Design law! When we sin we change ourselves, we cause epigenetic alterations in our DNA expression that passes to our children 3-4 generations down making them more vulnerable to sin, addiction, selfishness, etc. Further, our sins are passed along through our examples, teaching, education, and practices to our children, thus their characters are molded by ours. So if a child chooses to reject wickedness that the parent passed along and choose loyalty to God then they don't suffer any guilt, but if they choose to agree and embrace wickedness either from what was passed along or by rejecting the righteousness taught by the parent, they they reap destruction.

So, God's punishing of the descendants in the Commandment is about God's design laws being sustained. You having freedom to make choices in governance of yourselves and those choices change you and you then have the ability to procreate beings in your image and you pass along to your children advantages or disadvantages based on both your own inheritance and choices before you had children and what you teach your children. God's design created us this way and God's laws sustain these abilities thus God takes ownership over His design and laws, but it is still our choices that make the changes and only character is what matters when it comes to Great question to open the lesson, "What are your first thoughts when you think of law?" Yes, this is the key question to almost all issues of theology—if your concept of law is wrong almost every conclusion from the Bible will be wrong.

Read fifth paragraph, "The part played by the law…" If the lesson means by natural law—the natural law of sin and death, i.e. survival of the fittest, the strong dominating the weak, then yes, they are correct. But if the lesson means by natural law that they couldn't live by the design laws of God, then they are wrong.

Consider Romans 1:20 and then 2:12-16:

> For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse….[What is Paul saying? What is revealed in nature? Why are men without excused? So Paul establishes that God's divine nature is seen in what He has made then goes on to describe something incredible] All who sin apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who sin under the law will be judged by the law. For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.) This will take place on the day when God will judge men's secrets through Jesus Christ, as my gospel declares. (Ro 1:20; 2:12–16 NIV84).

What is described?

What kind of law is this? They don't have Torah, they don't have rules, a code, but something is written upon their heart? What?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "God's law is…" What does a transcript of His character mean to you? What are the strengths of this analogy where does it break down?

Consider DNA—a transcript of a person—it is the hidden code that codes for their life. God's law is like this, it is the hidden foundation of life, the building blocks of life. But, can we understand the fullness of a person by studying the code written on paper?

Can we know the person's laugh, love, heart, motives, smile, ingenuity by studying the code?

Can we know the fullness of God's character by studying any written law? No! It is a transcript not the fullness—God's law is living just like DNA is supposed to be living. We only truly understand in living beings.

The universe is under unvarying moral and physical laws—absolutely true—well said, which means they cannot be imposed, legislated or function like human law.

The lesson asks in the middle "If God's law cannot save a person from sin, why did He make it a part of the covenant? (Hint: see Amos 3:3)"

> Do two walk together unless they have agreed to do so? (Am 3:3 NIV84).

So, if God's law cannot save why is it part of the covenant?

What is the basis of life? God and how did God construct life to operate? In harmony with Himself, His character of love. Thus, God's laws are the basis of life. So, harmony with God is harmony with God's laws and is harmony with life.

So, while God's laws are not the source of life, they are the structure, protocol, basis upon which God extends His life-giving energy to flow out to the universe and thus harmony with God's laws is harmony with God reconnecting to the source of life.

Once Adam sinned, humans were disconnected and put on artificial life support to allow Jesus to come and reestablish the sinless perfect connection back into the species human, putting God's design law back into humanity. Thus, the law isn't the source of our salvation Jesus is, the law isn't the source of life God is (and Jesus is as a member of the Godhead He has life original unborrowed underived), but the law is the expression and outflow of God's person whereby God built, sustains and governs life. So we are saved by Jesus who becomes the connecting link back to God and the Spirit working to write God's law, the character of Christ which is a transcript of God's law into our hearts.

The lesson states that, "Because God is not only the Creator of the world but also its moral Governor, law is essential for the happiness of His created, intelligent beings to live in harmony with Him."

thoughts? What type of law? How do you understand it? What happens if we get created intelligent beings to change their view of law from design law to imposed law?

Consider this commentary on sin's origin in heaven from the book The Desire of Ages:

> In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. DA 761.4

What kind of law is Satan promoting? Imposed, human like law, which requires the infliction of punishment. And what happened when heavenly intelligences accepted this idea? Rebellion, division, destruction of love!

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "God openly…" Why is obedience a basic part of the covenant with God?

If you went to the doctor with a terminal condition and were given a treatment that would cure you, what would be a basic part of that covenant with the doctor—if you wanted to get well? Would it not be obedience, compliance, following the instructions? Why?

And what happens if a patient doesn't follow the instructions? What does the doctor do? Does the doctor kill them?

And does following the instructions and taking the medicine mean the patient produced their own cure or saved themselves?

In the second paragraph the lesson states, "The people could reject the gift, deny the grace, and turn away from the promises. The covenant, as with salvation, never negates free will. The Lord does not force people into a saving relationship with Him; He doesn't impose a covenant upon them."

So true, well said—yet, if most Christians believed this, why do most Christians teach that God will kill those who don't let Him save them?

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

New Member's Section is now open: This is FREE but will require a sign in and will contain member's only content.

The Remedy Audio and Could It Be This Simple? Audio are both available in the members section to stream or download and listen.

Our goal, as a ministry, is to continue to enhance your growth and experience with the wonderful, life-changing message of God's design and healing plan.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 9
Covenant Sign

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

Last week I mentioned that one of the founders of the SDA church, EG White, in aftermath of the 1888 General Conference where the leaders rejected the Design Law healing model of righteousness by faith and chose instead to stay with the imposed law view of penal substitution, she said that they would have treated Christ like those who crucified Him had He been there.

Someone asked for that reference. It is:

> On many occasions the Holy Spirit did work, but those who resisted the Spirit of God at Minneapolis were waiting for a chance to travel over the same ground again, because their spirit was the same. Afterward, when they had evidence heaped upon evidence, some were convicted, but those who were not softened and subdued by the Holy Spirit's working, put their own interpretation upon every manifestation of the grace of God, and they have lost much. They pronounced in their heart and soul and words that this manifestation of the Holy Spirit was fanaticism and delusion. They stood like a rock, the waves of mercy flowing upon and around them, but beaten back by their hard and wicked hearts, which resisted the Holy Spirit's working. Had this been received, it would have made them wise unto salvation; holier men, prepared to do the work of God with sanctified ability. But all the universe of heaven witnessed the disgraceful treatment of Jesus Christ, represented by the Holy Spirit. Had Christ been before them, they would have treated him in a manner similar to that in which the Jews treated Christ. {1888 1478.2}

The lesson is about the Sabbath as a sign of the covenant. What is the covenant? The covenant of salvation—how would you state it?

- God provides everything necessary to save human beings through Jesus Christ the Messiah, we trust Him to do it corporately and individually and follow His instructions.

Did the Sabbath exist before or after sin? After Lucifer sinned in heaven.

Did the Sabbath exist before or after human sin? Before Adam and Eve sinned in Eden.

Did the Sabbath exist before or after the covenant with Adam? Before the covenant with Adam.

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424
topics@comeandreason.com

If the Sabbath was created before Adam sinned and before the covenant with Adam, how is it part of the covenant of salvation?

Is the Sabbath part of the evidence necessary to defeat the father of lies? What is that evidence?

Was the Sabbath made for man or man for the Sabbath?

What was the purpose of the Sabbath in Eden before humans sinned?

- How did Adam and Eve begin their lives? They entered into Sabbath rest with God before they worked.
- Is your view that we work six days and then rest, or we rest and then work six day?
- What is the difference? What is the spiritual lesson?
- Can we do any good work for God if we don't rest in Him and what Christ has done for us first?
- So, is resting in the work of the Lord, the Sabbath of the Lord a legal work a legal test of obedience, or is it something else? What?

SUNDAY

The lesson points out that Jesus said that Sabbath was made for man not man for the Sabbath. The Sabbath was made—it had a beginning, at the end of Creation week—meaning the Sabbath did not exist back when Lucifer rebelled in heaven.

Why is this important—especially to SDAs who value the Sabbath?

SDAs have taught that the final conflict will involve the Sabbath in contrast to Sunday—SDAs have held this up as a test issue, a demarcation issue—but is it possible that SDAs have not accurately presented how and why these days are involved and have thereby misrepresented the real issue?

Consider these comments from one of the founders of the SDA church—and let's keep in mind the question of the Sabbath and how it fits in.

> The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering,—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. (GC 582.2)
> There is no such thing as weakening or strengthening the law of Jehovah. As it has been, so it is. It always has been, and always will be holy, just, and good, complete in itself. It cannot be repealed or changed. To "honor" or "dishonor" it is but the speech of men. (PK 625.1)

> Between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah will come the last great conflict of the controversy between truth and error. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle not between rival churches contending for the supremacy, but between the religion of the Bible and the religions of fable and tradition. (PK 625.2)

If the last great conflict between truth and error is just the completion of the longstanding battle over God's law which began in heaven, then how does the Sabbath fit in since the Sabbath did not exist in heaven when the conflict over God's law began? So, while the Sabbath is involved because it is somehow connected to God's law, it cannot be simply about the Sabbath.

In order to understand the Sabbath question accurately, we must first understand God's law accurately, we must first understand how God's law was the issue with the angels in heaven. Once we identify this problem, then we can move on to understand the question of the Sabbath and any other question about God's law as we approach the final events leading up to Christ's return.

Satan attacks God's law in some way? How and why?

How did angels in heaven, before Lucifer rebelled, view God's law? Historic Adventism saw it this way:

> But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of. (MB 109.2)

What kind of law cannot be weakened or strengthened, has always been, and will always be, and is in force but unthought of? None other than the design-laws upon which reality is built to exist! Imposed rules, like humans make—which require external enforcement—must be posted, beings must be informed or instructed about them in order to hold them accountable. But not design law.

Consider again the example of Isaac Newton telling his friends about the law of gravity, might they respond with "Wow, never thought there was a law, its just how things work."

So, what did Satan do to attack God's law in heaven? From the book The Desire of Ages the author describes:

> In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. DA 761.4

What kind of law requires God to inflict punishment for disobedience? Imposed law. This is the foundation of the long-standing conflict over God's law—is God's law the type of law that requires Him to inflict punishment or is God's law design law, the protocols of life that requires Him to heal the damage done to the sinner, lest if He does nothing, they die from taking themselves out of harmony with life? All those who teach the inflicted punishment view are advancing Satan's attack on God's law, government and character.

So, if you are an SDA and you value the position of the founders of the SDA church, especially EGW, then the final issues will come to a head over the same thing the war in heaven began over, which is a question over God's law. And it is not primarily a question about the Sabbath; it is a question of how God's law functions, what kind of law it is and any Sabbath questions fall into this bigger issue.

Why is the question of God's law important to answer?

Consider what kind of God one believes God to be based on the law they accept as God's law?

If God's law functions like human law, requiring judicial oversight and infliction of external punishments and death by God—what kind of God is that?

In such a universe where the deity kills his own disobedient children:

- Is there real freedom?
- Without liberty can love exist?
- What happens in the hearts and minds of intelligent beings when they are threatened?
- From where does death originate in such a universe?
- Safety in such a universe is through restraints put upon the ruling authority—this is why the penal legal people cling so desperately the imposed law lie. It gives them perverse power over God claiming legal authority over His wrath by the blood of Jesus who paid the legal penalty for them therefore God has no legal right to kill them. The legal penal theologians live in fear of what would happen if Jesus wasn't there to restrain the Father from lashing out with punishment. It is exactly paganism, the worshipper, through some ritual, incantation, blood sacrifice controlling the power of the deity.
- What happens to trust, love, loyalty, development of individuality in an atmosphere without liberty?

Understand, Satan's original lie in heaven is that God's law requires God to punish rule-breakers. This represents God to be a being other than love, a being who is the source of pain, suffering and death, a dictator, power-monger, and one who cannot be trusted. Thus rebellion spreads and love and trust are destroyed.

The final issues will revolve around the question of law and authority. Those who value Satan's view of law and justice will use Satan's methods of imposed law and coercive enforcement to get people to comply with their views. This is the beastly system of Revelation. It may be through governments, it may be through big business (no one buying or selling or traveling or going to college or entering buildings), but the coercive pressure will be the same.

Here is the formula for Satan's methods:

- Lies that when believed break the circle of love and trust—
- This incites fear and selfishness—survival drives
- This results in seeing more threats which increase fear and the need to protect self
- which results in using power, might, force to control, compel, coerce or destroy others in order to make self feel safe

Examples:

- Sadam Hussein
  - Lies about weapons of mass destruction in Iraq were told
  - Increased fear in people which increased our need to protect self—survival drives
  - which resulted in the use of might and power to eliminate the threat and compel compliance
- Nazi Germany
  - Lies about Jews were told
  - Increased fear of economic and other injury
  - Increased need to protect self
  - use of might and power to coerce, compel and destroy—and it started with lies, then incremental laws that restricted liberties, and eventually genocide
- Climate change
  - Lies are told—lies that there no God, no future other than global warming and destruction of the planet, no new heaven and new earth
  - increased fear
  - increased desire to protect self—survival drives
  - increased use of compelling power to raise oil prices, restrict liberty, restrict scientific investigation, restrict free speech
- COVID19
  - real virus but lie after lie has been told and continues to be told
  - increasing fear
  - with increased survival drive
  - with increasing sense of threat when minimal to no threat exists, such as the lie that there is a 10% transmission rate in outdoor environment, so we must wear masks outdoors, when the transmission rate is actually less than 0.1% outdoors. Or the lie that you must be 6 feet apart to avoid transmission, but 6 feet doesn't provide any more benefit than 3 feet. But these lies incite fear, which cause people to see others who are not wearing masks or inside of 6 feet as threats.
  - use of governmental and economic coercion to pressure people to comply
  - Some are calling for forced injections of everyone? If people under the advice of their own doctor don't get the vaccine, because they survived the infection and have antibodies that give them better immunity than the injection, they are being threatened with travel restrictions, some are calling for laws to prohibit people from entering any public business or building unless they have a vaccine passport—but why? Think about it? Measles is much more contagious and deadly than COVID—why don't we make people get a measles vaccine passport to travel or enter buildings or go to sporting events? Because once YOU have been vaccinated you are protected from measles—others are not a threat to you. What is the messaging that says even though you are vaccinated you are not safe if others are not vaccinated doing to the minds of people? There is a lie imbedded in here—either the vaccines don't work, which means the messaging about protecting yourself by getting it is a lie, or you being at risk if someone else doesn't get the vaccine is a lie.

How is this happening? It is Satan's methods at work. Note the process:

- A virus is released that causes disease, illness, death in some—viruses are not part of God's creation, they are infections to God's creation. Just like computer viruses are not part of the operating system of any computer software maker, the computer viruses are made by hackers intent on harming, so too viruses in nature are not part of God's original creation, but part of Satan's attack on it. And evidence now reveals that this COVID 19 virus is a bat virus that was purposely augmented by humans in a lab in China, with funding from the NIH. https://nicholaswade.medium.com/origin-of-covid-following-the-clues-6f03564c038
- The virus and illness and deaths incite fear in people—fear is Satan's number one emotion that drives selfishness.
- Note in society today, we have a virus, but worse than the virus we have lies upon lies being told. The cure for lies is the truth, but the truth is not to be tolerated in our society today, free speech is censored, people asking legitimate questions are maligned, de-platformed, called names like "conspiracy nuts" or "antivaxxers" all designed to keep the lies from being exposed. These methods alone should warn people to the agenda of those who are practicing them.
- The lies incite more fear, fear causes people to become more self-centered, more survival driven, which causes people to be more threat sensitive—in other words, the more fearful the more easily people perceive others as threats, even when they are not.
- The fear and heightened sense of danger, the heightened drive to survive, the heighten sense of threat from others, damages love, incites actions to protect self at the expense of others. We need villains, enemies we can destroy, control, eliminate, imprison to make ourselves feel safe—it doesn't matter that these perceived enemies are not actually a danger to us, we still force our agenda to make us feel safe.
    - So we lie about the risk of outdoor spread which increases fear
    - We mandate community masks despite the evidence that they provide no protection and actually cause harm to many https://www.mdpi.com/1660-4601/18/8/4344/htm
    - We shut down houses of worship
    - We shut down schools
    - We deny families the ability to be with loved ones in hospice or in hospitals going through medical procedures despite overwhelming, long standing scientific evidence that all health outcomes are improved when people have their family with them and all outcomes are worsened when people are socially isolated—but truth doesn't matter, we must make people comply.
    - We shut down free speech, we can't have people asking questions

- We do human medical experimentation and use coercive tactics to pressure people to participate while we continue to lie about the dangers

What does fear cause people to do? And where does the Sabbath fit into all of this?

The memory text for this week is Exodus 31:16-17:

> The Israelites are to observe the Sabbath, celebrating it for the generations to come as a lasting covenant. It will be a sign between me and the Israelites forever, for in six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, and on the seventh day he abstained from work and rested.' " (Ex 31:16–17 NIV84).

How is the Sabbath a sign of the covenant of salvation, the covenant of grace? Remember sin began before the Sabbath—the issue in the long-standing struggle is over God's law—and the Sabbath is part of that, but how?

I am going to read a quotation, used by some to make themselves feel good about their behavior, and too often used to accuse or condemn people who worship on Sunday. But let's consider this quote carefully:

- The sign, or seal, of God is revealed in the observance of the seventh-day Sabbath, the Lord's memorial of creation. . . . The mark of the beast is the opposite of this--the observance of the first day of the week.--8T 117 (1904). {LDE 224.3}

What do you understand this statement to mean? What law lens to you read it through?

- Is the issue in our salvation, in our preparation to meet Jesus, in our being ready to translate into heaven without seeing death as simple as which day of the week a person worships upon?
- If a person absolutely insists on worshipping on the Bible Sabbath does that guarantee they won't get the mark of the beast?
  - Those who crucified Christ 2000 years ago wanted Him off the Cross by sunset why? So they could keep the Sabbath – does that mean they had the seal of God?
- Does Satan care if a group of people worships on Sabbath as long as they worship him?

Here is another quote from the same person as the previous quote, consider it in light of what we have presented:

> Be sure the Sabbath is a test question and how you treat this question places you either on God's side or Satan's side. The mark of the beast is to be presented in some shape to every institution and every individual.--Ms 6 1889, p. 6. (Written Nov. 4, 1889.) {3MR 189.2}

If God's law is not imposed rules but design protocols, then how is the Sabbath a test question? How is the Sabbath, which didn't exist when Lucifer rebelled in heaven, related to the conflict over God's law that began in heaven? How is the mark of the beast to be presented in some shape to every institution…Is it merely which day of the week, or is it what the day symbolizes, what the day signifies in regard to God, his character and method of governing?

FRIDAY

The lesson, the lesson points out that the Sabbath contains the name of God as Creator and the sphere of His influence i.e. heavens, earth, sea and all that is in them and "in these two aspects the Sabbath commandment has the characteristics that are typical of seals."

The lesson is making the case that these elements make the Sabbath the seal of God—this understanding is a level four, human law understanding of the seal of God, name, territory, authority, it is understanding God's law through human law model. Simply listing God as Creator and the entire universe as His is not the true seal of God, even though God is Creator and all reality is His.

What other Bible texts speak of God's seal?

- "Do not harm the land or the sea or the trees until we put a seal on the foreheads of the servants of our God" (Rev 7:3 NIV84). –is this talking about the Sabbath? Maybe having the fourth commandment tattooed on our foreheads?
- "Now it is God who makes both us and you stand firm in Christ. He anointed us, set his seal of ownership on us, and put his Spirit in our hearts as a deposit, guaranteeing what is to come" (2 Co 1:21–22 NIV84).
- "And you also were included in Christ when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. Having believed, you were marked in him with a seal, the promised Holy Spirit…" (Eph 1:13 NIV84).
- And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. (Eph 4:30 NIV84).

What is the seal of God? The character of God being reproduced in His people by the Spirit of God! Being so settled into the truth both intellectually and spiritually that we cannot be moved. The Spirit of God is the Spirit of Truth and Love—and we are settled intellectually when we are settled into the Truth about God and His design laws and character which win us to trust. We are settled spiritually when we die to selfishness and have love written into our characters such that we are those "who do not love their lives so much as to shrink from death."

This is the seal of God. The mark of the beast is the opposite, it is being marked in mind/heart/character—symbolized by the mark on the forehead—to be beastly, to be selfish, to be fear driven, survival driven, willing to coerce and compel others in order to protect yourself, and especially if it is through legal action of governments. The mark in the hand represents those who don't believe the methods are right, but go along with the laws that compel and coerce others, even participating as enforcers in order to protect themselves, to not lose their property, travel privileges, licenses, businesses etc.

And how does the Sabbath fit into this? Those who are renewed in heart to have the character of God live out God's law of love—they present the truth, in love and leave others free—which the Sabbath is a sign or flag or pennant or evidence of God's methods.

What is a mark or sign?

A symbol that stands for or signifies something else:

- The sign of the cross stands for what?
- The goat's head symbolizes what?
- What is a flag? Is the US flag a sign or symbol of the USA? Is the flag the same as the United States of America? And historically the flag stood for liberty, for freedom for all!
    - Thursday, I went to my grandchildren's elementary school musical program. The entire program was a patriotic presentation, songs like: You're a Grand Old Flag, The Star Spangled Banner, My Country Tis of Thee, The Battle Hymn of the Republic. They emphasized the land of liberty in which we live. And what was striking to me is how different my experience was this time than every other time in my life I have been to such programs. In every other time in my life such songs stirred up a sense of patriotic pride in America, a sense of happiness for the liberties and freedoms we have, a sense of joy. But this time I was struck by a deep sense of sadness—the contrast between the liberties we had throughout all of my life and the current infringement and restrictions of our freedoms.
    - If you remember the musical The Sound of Music when the family performed in the musical competition, Captain von Trapp sang Edelweiss, he called it a love song, it was just before the Nazi's took over Austria—he was mourning the loss of liberty and freedom that was falling upon them. That is exactly what I felt—are you aware? Do you recognize the evil powers that are at work taking away our God-given freedoms?
    - But note what the liars, the enemies of liberty have done—they have attacked the symbol of freedom in America—the US flag, by kneeling at sporting events and claiming the flag represents slavery, oppression, abuse, the exact opposite of freedom. The enemies of truth and liberty have taken the symbol of freedom and turned it into a symbol of slavery.
    - And what has happened in society as people have started to believe the lie that the US Flag is a symbol of slavery and abuse? Division, hostility, conflict, and an erosion of freedoms—how? By more lies, lies such as critical race theory, there is no male or female gender is your choice, that we are safer without police, that free speech is a threat to democracy and must be censored or silenced, all of these lies and more incite greater fear, which cause more survival drives, which cause people to feel more threatened, and this causes more legislation and rules that restrict liberty.
- The Sabbath is like the US Flag in this way—it is a sign of the freedom we have in God's government, under God's design laws. But it, just like the US Flag, has come under attack by Satan—by two primary ways:
    - Satan has mispresented the Sabbath through imposed law and the flag of our freedom is taught as a test of obedience, a day of restricted liberty, a day of rule-keeping, a day of fear if you break it you will get punished.

  - Or by replacing it with another flag, another day—Sunday, a worship day that came about through legislation, through imposed rule-making. Sunday was not made by God as a day set apart for freedom, for rest in God. It was made as a work day. But the church, in counsel, voted to make it a rest day. This is human law and thus Sunday symbolizes imposed law, it is a flag of a foreign power, foreign to God's government.
- There is another Commandment that God gave with a unique instruction—not a "thou shalt not" but an affirmation—"honor your mother and father"
  - But what are the liars in our society doing—the same ones who attack liberty?
  - Did you hear they want to change Mother's Day to "Birther person day"?
  - Every thinking person in the world knows a mother is more than just a birthing chamber—yet the haters of God want to destroy another institution of God—the family.
- Now could someone wave the US Flag and be working for another government?
- Can someone worships on Bible Sabbath and be working for Satan's kingdom and receive the mark of the beast?
- Can someone worships on Sunday and be advancing God's kingdom of love and be sealed of God?

If we accept that these two days are signs or marks of loyalty to one side or the other, does that actually inform us of whom is on which side?

These two days of worship are distinct in their origin as days of worship, and thus contain the very elements of the two types of governing – God's vs Satan's—design law that governs reality versus imposed rules that require infliction of punishment. This is the real issue in the war.

Here are some more quotes:

> "Christ died to save sinners, not in their sins, but from their sins. [Imposed law constructs all teach that we are saved in our sins, from the legal penalty, but not saved from our sins, that we continue live sinfully until Christ returns. The truth is that God actually transforms us here and now and we stop living for self, and live to love God and others. This is the opposite of the world, the opposite of the methods that drive people to force others to comply to make themselves feel safe] The warning given in Revelation shows us the terrible consequence of transgression. By lips that will not lie, God's law is declared to be holy, just, and good. Our duty to obey this law is to be the burden of the last message of mercy to the world.[1] [The law as the last message? How? Because it is the truth of God's law being design law, which represents God as Creator and overthrows the lie that God is a cosmic dictator who inflicts punishment for disobedience.] God's law is not a new thing. It is not holiness created, but

[1] It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy, and truth… The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is a revelation of His character of love. The children of God are to manifest His glory. In their own life and character they are to reveal what the grace of God has done for them. {COL 415} > holiness made known. [Think about rules a parent has for handwashing, or exercise, or sleep etc. Those rules are not healthiness created, but healthiness made known.] It is a code of principles expressing mercy, goodness, and love. It presents to fallen humanity the character of God, and states plainly the whole duty of man. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 4}

>
> "'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength.' This command contains the principles of the first four precepts. And 'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Upon these two great principles, the Word of God declares, hang all the law and the prophets. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 5}
> "These principles are made known by the third angel's message, which declares that the Creator has always required and always will require obedience to his royal law. [Why does the Creator require obedience? Why does the Creator require we breathe? Because that is how life is built to operate. Remember the law is not holiness created but holiness made known. The commandments did not impose a law, but made the law known. And last week we explored how the 3rd angel's message is the warning of what happens when one chooses to violate God's design law, one after the other—the natural, unavoidable destructive results when God stops artificially protecting people from the damage their choices naturally cause.] But this law has been disregarded and transgressed, and is now being ignored by the churches. Human enactments are placed where God's law should be. [Imposed rules take the place of designed reality] Sunday, a child of the Papacy, has taken the place of God's holy Sabbath. As Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image, and set it up to be worshiped by all, so Sunday is placed before the people to be regarded as sacred. This day bears not a vestige of sanctity, yet it is held up to be honored by all. {RH, April 27, 1911 par. 6}

Understand it is not about worshipping on Sunday—get that clear, just like there is no wrong in worshipping on Wednesday night, or Tuesday or Thursday. It is what the Sunday, within the religious system represents!

And what is the implication of changing the Bible Sabbath to Sunday? What does this act mean in regard to how God and his government are understood? How can a church vote to change the day of worship? What must first happen concerning God's law?

So what does it mean if an ecclesiastical board votes to change the Sabbath? That they believe God's law is imposed, and therefore believe God is like a Roman emperor a cosmic dictator. And accepting this change in the law is the root to the beast system.

And this lie comes out in the rest of Christian doctrines, like God is required to punish; penal substitution theology; eternal burning hell; Jesus died to pay or legal debt; etc. etc.

So let's review – what makes the Sabbath holy?

- What significance is it that the Sabbath was "made" or created?

  - It is not "legislated" any more than any other aspect of God's creation. The earth was made, the animals were made, angels were made, mankind was made, and the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath.
- What significance is it that the Sabbath was "made"?
  - When was the Sabbath made?
  - What was happening in the universe?
- What did God do? He RESTED – what does that mean?
  - If He RESTED what was God not doing? He was no longer prosecuting His war, His case. He wasn't pressing his agenda. He wasn't intimidating. He wasn't using his power to force his way!
- It is God's Sabbath – the day He rested, the day He revealed by action how He handles opposition, how He treats enemies, how He deals with allegations and rebellion. He gives us freedom!
- What does it reveal that God created the Sabbath in the context of an assault on his right to rule?
- The Sabbath was "made" as further evidence of God's character of love; truth presented in love leaving us free. The first six days of creation week we learn God has power, but the Sabbath reveals God does not coerce or pressure or threaten with His power, but leaves us free. The Sabbath is evidence of God's character of love, established upon the principles of truth, love and freedom.
- The Sabbath is evidence that Satan's allegations about God, that God imposes rules, that God imposes punishments, that God abuses power are all lies. This is why Satan hates the Sabbath, because rightly seen and understood it reveals Satan as a liar.
  - Satan hates the Sabbath in the same way Richard Nixon hated the Watergate tapes or Clinton hated Monica's dress. Nixon would have loved to destroy the tapes, and in fact tried. Clinton would have loved to destroy the dress. And Satan tries to destroy the Sabbath, to distort and twist the evidence into something it isn't. How? By replacing it or twisting it into an imposed law test.

Therefore, the Sabbath stands as evidence, as a sign, of those who value God's law of love, and practice his methods of presenting the truth in love and leaving others free.

Then what is the mark of the beast?

> The time has come for the true light to shine amid moral darkness. The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the word of God. {RH, July 13, 1897 par. 5}

What decisions did the beast make and what ideas did it advocate that are in direct opposition to the word of God?

That God's law is imposed, and as an imposed law it can be changed, amended, abrogated, altered, thus, under the imposed law construct Sabbath can be changed to Sunday. And, imposed laws require judicial proceedings, investigation, records, judgments, imposed punishments. Therefore, coercive pressure is used to punish law breakers and ensure obedience.

Thus the issue in the end, of which the two days stand as signs, is the issue of God's law of love, versus Satan's imposed law construct; God's rule of love versus Satan's rule of fear and selfishness; God's design laws versus worldly imposed laws. It comes down to the methods one practices and the two days are symbolic of two systems.

Here is another quote from the same founder who wrote the others we have read:

> In striking contrast to the wrong and oppression so universally practised were the mission and work of Christ. Earthly kingdoms are established and upheld by physical force, but this was not to be the foundation of the Messiah's kingdom. In the establishment of his government no carnal weapons were to be used, no coercion practised; no attempt would be made to force the consciences of men. These are the principles used by the prince of darkness for the government of his kingdom. His agents are actively at work, seeking in their human independence to enact laws which are in direct contrast to Christ's mercy and loving-kindness. {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 2}
> Prophecy has plainly stated the nature of Christ's kingdom. He planned a government which would use no force; his subjects would know no oppression. [no arrests, no detainments, no imposed punishments, no force] The symbols of earthly governments are wild beasts, but in the kingdom of Christ, men are called upon to behold, not a ferocious beast, but the Lamb of God. Not as a fierce tyrant did he come, but as the Son of man; not to conquer the nations by his iron power, but "to preach good tidings unto the meek;" "to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound;" "to comfort all that mourn." He came as the divine Restorer, bringing to oppressed and downtrodden humanity the rich and abundant grace of Heaven, that by the power of his righteousness, man, fallen and degraded though he was, might be a partaker of divinity. [which is healing and restorative, an expression of the law of love, the law life is built to operate upon] {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 3}

Those who promote a god who acts like a Roman emperor, who imposes law, who inflicts punishment, are actively promoting the system of the beast—even if they worship on the Bible Sabbath!

Here is the problem regarding days of worship, of which Sunday is a sign:

> But when the decree shall go forth enforcing the counterfeit sabbath, and the loud cry of the third angel shall warn men against the worship of the beast and his image, the line will be clearly drawn between the false and the true. Then those who still continue in transgression will receive the mark of the beast.--Ev 234, 235 (1899). {LDE 225.4}

Notice it is not about Sunday, but the "enforcing" worship, about the use of arbitrary power to coerce, this is beastly. This is Satan's way.

But what if it is not enforcement of a day of worship, but enforcement of defilement of your Spirit temple? If you were told that you couldn't go to college unless you eat a piece of pork—as an SDA, Jew or Muslim what would you do? But what if you are told you can't go to college unless you get an experimental RNA based injection that will invade your cells and instruct them to start making a foreign protein what will you do?

Consider this quote from a book called Prophets and Kings:

> The spiritual restoration of which the work carried forward in Nehemiah's day was a symbol, is outlined in the words of Isaiah: "They shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities." "They that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in." Isaiah 61:4; 58:12. {PK 677.2}
>
> The prophet here describes a people who, in a time of general departure from truth and righteousness, are seeking to restore the principles that are the foundation of the kingdom of God. They are repairers of a breach that has been made in God's law--the wall that He has placed around His chosen ones for their protection, and obedience to whose precepts of justice, truth, and purity is to be their perpetual safeguard. {PK 677.3} [What are principles? Design laws—we are to restore the design laws—why do they need to be restored? Where do they need to be restored? What has caused the breach? Where is the breach?]
>
> In words of unmistakable meaning the prophet points out the specific work of this remnant people who build the wall. "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on My holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable; and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:13, 14. {PK 678.1} [If we identify the Sabbath as an arbitrary test of obedience and teach people that if they refuse to accept it they will be breaking God's law and God will be required to punish them—are we repairing the breach or doing just the opposite, make the breach bigger?]
> In the time of the end every divine institution is to be restored. The breach made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed by man, is to be repaired. [Notice, the breach is not the change of the Sabbath, the breach was made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed—what was the breach? The concept of law changing from design law to imposed, which resulted in the change of the Sabbath. No committee votes to change the law of gravity, so the change of the Sabbath is evidence of the breach, but not the breach itself. The breach we must repair is how we understand God's law and government, which is design law, not imposed law.] God's > remnant people, standing before the world as reformers, are to show that the law of God is the foundation of all enduring reform [why? Because it is the law of life, the principles upon which life is established and operates. One cannot have health in violations of the laws of health] and that the Sabbath of the fourth commandment is to stand as a memorial of creation, a constant reminder of the power of God. [What do you hear when you hear this? Do you think might and power? If so, why does Zechariah say not by might nor by power but by the Spirit says the Lord? What power did God display on the 7th day of creation week? Is the Sabbath a memorial to physical power of to another power—the power of truth and love and freedom, the power of God's character, the power of the gospel, of design law. What did Paul say, "I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: first for the Jew, then for the Gentile." Romans 1:16 NIV84. What kind of power is the gospel? What kind of war has Satan waged? A war of ideas, words, not a war of power. Then what kind of power is necessary to defeat Satan? The power of truth and love. Do we see the Sabbath as a memorial of truth, love and freedom? Or to we misrepresent it by promoting the idea of imperialism and force?] In clear, distinct lines they are to present the necessity of obedience to all the precepts of the Decalogue. Constrained by the love of Christ, they are to co-operate with Him in building up the waste places. They are to be repairers of the breach, restorers of paths to dwell in. See verse 12. {PK 678.2}

What was the breach made in the law when the Sabbath was changed? It was not the mere change of the day of worship—the breach was the idea that God's law is imposed law—this is the breach we are to repair.

Isaiah not only prophecies that God's people will be repairers of the breach but also raise up the foundations of many generations. What does this mean, the foundations of many generations?

What are the foundations of God's government that Satan has torn down in the minds and hearts of people that we are to raise up?

What is the foundation of any government? It is the law upon which it is built. So, would the foundation of God's government be God's law? And what type of law would that be, design law or imposed law? And how has Satan torn down the foundation and how do we raise it up?

Consider these historic quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church:

> The law of love is the foundation of God's government, and the service of love the only service acceptable to heaven. ST December 15, 1914, par. 1

> Love must be the principle of action. Love is the underlying principle of God's government in heaven and earth, and it must be the foundation of the Christian's character. This alone can make and keep him steadfast. This alone can enable him to withstand trial and temptation. COL 49.1

> The law of love being the foundation of the government of God, the happiness of all created beings depended upon their perfect accord with its great principles of righteousness. [why? Because happiness is a by-product of healthiness in all domains, and healthiness is only possible in harmony with the laws of health—the laws upon which life is constructed to operate. So again, this statement reveals that God's law is design law, not imposed rules like humans make.] God desires from all His creatures the service of love—homage that springs from an intelligent appreciation of His character. He takes no pleasure in a forced allegiance, and to all He grants freedom of will, that they may render Him voluntary service. [What kind of law forces and compels? Imposed law!] GC 493.2

What is the foundation that we are to raise up? It is the same as the repairing of the breach, which is restoring the truth about God's design laws, which are all expressions of God's character of love.

Do you see the issue in the war has always been over God's character and Satan has always attacked God's character by attacking how we conceive of law, either design law or imposed law.

We will not repair the breach by getting every person in the world to go to church on Saturday while teaching that God's law is imposed and God, in order to be just, must inflict punishment upon sinners.

So what does it mean the Sabbath was made for man? For what purpose? A gift, a gift of what—a rule we must keep or a resource for our healing, for our protection? How?

Remember the Sabbath to keep it holy? What does this mean?

- If you commit sin on Sabbath have you made the Sabbath less holy?
- If you do righteousness on Sabbath have you made it more holy?
- Is it about keeping the Sabbath holy or keeping ourselves holy?
- Can we keep ourselves holy one day in seven?
- Then, what about "Remember the Sabbath" is the Lord telling us that this day, given for man, is a resource to help us all week long remember something that will work to help us live holy lives? What?
- Could it be to Remember God's design law, God's methods, of truth presented in love leaving others free. So that all week long we practice those methods in how we deal with others?

Consider this quote:

> All through the week we are to have the Sabbath in mind and be making preparation to keep it according to the commandment. We are not merely to observe the Sabbath as a legal matter. We are to understand its spiritual bearing upon all the transactions of life. All who regard the Sabbath as a sign between them and God, showing that He is the God who sanctifies them, will represent the principles of His government. They will bring into daily practice the laws of His kingdom. Daily it will be their prayer that the sanctification of the Sabbath may rest upon them. Every day they will have the companionship of Christ, and will exemplify the perfection of His character. Every day their light will shine forth to others in good works. 3TT 20.3

MONDAY

Sabbath before Sinai—the lesson points out that the Israelites were given manna to collect six days each week, but on Friday they collected double portion and none fell on Sabbath. This occurred before the law was given at Sinai, an evidence that the Sabbath existed before the written law was given.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson states:

> "The Sabbath as a sign of knowledge
> The Sabbath as a sign of sanctification

What kind of knowledge? What does it mean "This is life eternal that they might know you the only true God and Jesus Christ whom you have sent" John 17:3?

So, if we have the right Sabbath day, does that mean we know the Lord and are sanctified? Did the Pharisees who crucified Christ have the right Sabbath day?

Did having the right Sabbath day function as a sign that they knew God and were sanctified? Why not? What about us today?

When we have the right Sabbath day, but the wrong law lens, i.e. believe the right day under the imposed law understanding, then we remain in Satan's kingdom and still don't know God and end up rejecting Jesus, while we claim we are advancing the gospel of Jesus.

THURSDAY

The lesson points out that those who Remember the Sabbath to keep it holy will be blessed by God.

What about those who do this on Sunday instead?

Bubba and Cindy Cathy, owners of Chick-fil-la close their stores every Sunday because they love Jesus and want to honor Him. Are they blessed?

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

New Member's Section is now open: This is FREE but will require a sign in and will contain member's only content.

The Remedy Audio and Could It Be This Simple? Audio are both available in the members section to stream or download and listen.

Our goal, as a ministry, is to continue to enhance your growth and experience with the wonderful, life-changing message of God's design and healing plan.

SHARING campaign May: Fundamental Focus: A Closer Look At God

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 10
The New Covenant

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Jeremiah 31:31-34:

> "The time is coming," declares the LORD,
> "when I will make a new covenant > with the house of Israel > and with the house of Judah.
> 32 It will not be like the covenant
> I made with their forefathers > when I took them by the hand > to lead them out of Egypt, > because they broke my covenant, > though I was a husband to them,"
> declares the LORD.
> 33 "This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel > after that time," declares the LORD.
> "I will put my law in their minds > and write it on their hearts.
> I will be their God,
> and they will be my people.
> 34 No longer will a man teach his neighbor, > or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' > because they will all know me, > from the least of them to the greatest,"
> declares the LORD.
> "For I will forgive their wickedness > and will remember their sins no more." (Je 31:31–34 NIV84).

What is the difference between the New Covenant and the Old Covenant?

- Was God different in the two?
- Did God offer something different?
- Does God do something different—for instance in the old He wrote the law on stone and in the new He writes it on the heart—why?
- What covenant did Adam, Enoch, and Abraham participate in, the new or the old?
- What about people after Sinai? What covenant did Moses and Elijah participate in—both already taken to heaven?

Read the first paragraph, "It is clear…" thoughts? What do you hear?

And this is so sad to read—it is again diagnostic that the authors of the lesson continue to operate under the false law lens—the idea that God's law function like human law and that sin is rule-breaking, and salvation is legal adjustment of a blood payment to one's account through faith.

They really don't see that the covenant at Sinai is not the same as the new covenant because it was not based on faith but on works, it was not based on healing the heart by God, but based on obedience to rules. In other words, the New Covenant is the covenant of design law in which God heals the damage in hearts and minds. The Old Covenant is the covenant of human law in which sinners perform and obey rules and bring sacrifices to pay their way into the grace of an offended God.

Consider this historic quote from Eternity Past:

> The covenant of grace was first made with man in Eden. After the Fall, there was given a divine promise that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. To all men this covenant offered pardon and the assisting grace of God for future obedience through faith in Christ. It also promised eternal life on condition of fidelity to God's law. Thus the patriarchs received the hope of salvation. EP 258.6 [Hope of salvation based on what? The promised seed to come—which would destroy our enemy. This agreement or covenant offers pardon and grace to enable us to live in harmony with God's law and eternal life is only available in harmony with God's law—why? So, what is the covenant promising? To restore sinners to harmony with the principles, protocols, laws of life]
> This same covenant was renewed to Abraham in the promise, "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." Genesis 22:18. Abraham trusted in Christ for the forgiveness of sins. It was this faith that was accounted unto him for righteousness. [What is this? What came first, the recognition, accounting, of Abraham as righteous or Abraham's change of heart to trust God? And consider you have a spouse that doesn't trust you at all, is afraid of you, suspicious, won't listen, is constantly seeking to do their own thing—but then they have a genuine change of heart and come to truly trust you completely—what happens in your relationship? What do you recognize of them? What can now happen in your marriage that could never happen before? Do you see how corrupt the penal legal lie is that teaches that Abraham had faith in a payment that enabled God to legally account him righteous even though Abraham wasn't set right or justified or made righteous? It is a lie. Abraham's natural, sinful heart, which is at enmity to God, was transformed, put right, set right. When Abraham trusted God, the God of all truth recognized or reckoned or accounted it to be exactly what it was, a right heart, why? Because through trust Abraham was in dwelt with the Holy Spirit who healed and transformed Him, wrote the law upon Abraham's heart and mind. This is another way of saying, having the mind of Christ, or circumcision of the heart, or receiving the character of Jesus.] The covenant with Abraham also maintained the authority of God's law. [What law and what authority? The law of life, the law of love, the law upon which life is built and its authority is over the operations of all life, including the mind. And thus, the covenant was the restoration of God's law within the heart and mind of Abraham which resulted in Abraham living out his trust in application and following God's directives] The testimony of God was, "Abraham obeyed My voice, and kept My charge, My commandments, My statutes, and My laws." Genesis 26:5. Though this covenant was made with Adam and renewed to Abraham, it could not be ratified until the death of Christ. [What does this mean—ratified? Is this some legal stamp, some forensic execution of documents, some formal signing ceremony? Or is this ratification something actual, something real? Ratified simply means "confirmed" The promise to provide the Remedy to sin was made to Adam and to Abraham—the seed of the woman—but the promise wasn't "confirmed" "ratified" or "realized" until the seed of the woman, Jesus, actually came, lived sinlessly and destroyed "him who holds the power of death that is the devil" (Heb 2:14) and "destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light" (2Tim 1:10). In other words, the ratification was the actual accomplishment of Jesus living out God's law as a human, being tempted in all points like we are, exposing Satan's lies and developing a sinless human character thereby destroying the infection of fear and selfishness and becoming the connecting link that restores God's living law of love back into the species human.] It had existed by the promise of God; it had been accepted by faith; yet when ratified by Christ, it is called a new covenant. The law of God was the basis of this covenant, [What law? The design law of love] which was simply an arrangement for bringing men again into harmony with the divine will, placing them where they could obey God's law. EP 259.1 [What is the new covenant? An arrangement for brining human beings into harmony with God and God's law. It is not a legal adjustment, a payment, a judicial process. It is the process of fixing in human beings the deviation from God's design sin has caused!]

Another compact—called in Scripture the "old" covenant—was formed between God and Israel at Sinai, and was then ratified by the blood of a sacrifice. [This "other" compact is not the New Covenant, it is something else, what?] The Abrahamic covenant, ratified by the blood of Christ, is called the "second," or "new" covenant, because the blood by which it was sealed was shed after the blood of the first covenant. EP 259.2

But if the Abrahamic covenant contained the promise of redemption, why was another covenant formed at Sinai? In their bondage the people had to a great extent lost the knowledge of the principles of the Abrahamic covenant. [What did they lose the knowledge of? What are principles? What kind of law are principles?] In delivering them from Egypt, God sought to reveal His power and mercy, that they might be led to love and trust Him. [How can you lead someone to love and trust you? Can you get love and trust by giving a list of rules and promising rewards for obedience and threatening punishment for disobedience? But isn't that what parents often do for children? And do children come to love and trust parents who may do this very thing? What is the difference when parents give rules with promises of reward and threats of punishment and when the state does it? Does it always work with children? Do some children rebel? If rules and rule enforcement cannot engender love why do parents set rules? Is it a greater evidence of love to have no rules for children or to have rules? What is the key for children to come to genuinely love and trust their parents who have set rules with promises and threatenings? Isn't it getting to know the heart of the parents and coming to understand the purpose of the rules, i.e. how reality actually works, so that they eventually appreciate their parents setting the rules to protect them from themselves in their immaturity? But what if the parents set non-sense rules, rules that have no connection to reality, but are just arbitrary? Or at least the parents never understood the reasons and thus the children never learned the reasons and only obeyed for fear of punishment?] He bound them to Himself as their deliverer from temporal bondage. EP 259.3

But they had no true conception of the holiness of God, [What is your conception of holiness? I was not taught a conception of holiness that made sense to me. I was taught a concept that was mystical, fearful, threatening—but what is a more accurate view of holiness? Perfect harmony with God and God's law which is the basis of life, so holiness is actually perfection, restoration God's original design for life, to perfect eternal healthiness and happiness.] of the exceeding sinfulness of their own hearts, their utter inability, in themselves, to render obedience to God's law, and their need of a Saviour. EP 260.1 [They didn't understand that sin is an issue of heart, mind, character, motive, not mere behavior and therefore salvation is healing the inner being, not adjusting the legal standing—how many still don't understand this today and are teaching the New Covenant is merely an extension of the old? No, the old covenant is a legal covenant based on the false law concept of the former slaves. The New Covenant is the restoration in the sinner of God's law of life, that heals and transforms the being to live in God's presence.]

God gave them His law with the promise of great blessings on condition of obedience: "If ye will obey My voice indeed, and keep My covenant, ... ye shall be unto Me a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation." Exodus 19:5, 6. The people did not realize the sinfulness of their own hearts and that without Christ it was impossible for them to keep God's law. [Again, the old was based on external, behavior, performance, law, code, ritual, the New is based on the condition of the heart, dying to the old being reborn with a new heart and right Spirit received by faith.] Feeling able to establish their own righteousness, they declared, "All that the Lord hath said will we do, and be obedient." Exodus 24:7. [And this is the basis of the penal legal theologies, we form a god that is the god-king, (If you haven't been reading the current blog series Who Created Whom— An Exploration of the Origin of Our Favorite God I encourage you to read it. A guest blogger has written it and I have really enjoyed it. , part 2 went up Thursday and the final part will go up this Thursday), imperial dictator ruler, who makes up laws and teach that justice is the inflicting of punishment for law breaking, and then we make up the theory that salvation is getting legal adjustment through the right payment made to the heavenly judicial system. And in this way, we exert power over God by applying the right payment, the blood of a sinless human sacrifice, that restrains or legally prohibits God from killing us. We create a false priestly class who intercedes with sinners and this god navigating the complex and confusing theological legal landscape for us. But it is all based on Satan's lie about God's law. We must reject it and leave this old covenant behind and embrace the New Covenant of actual healing, having God's design law of life restored into our hearts and minds] They readily entered into covenant with God. Yet only a few weeks passed before they broke their covenant and bowed down to worship a graven image. Now, seeing their sinfulness and their need of pardon, they were brought to feel their need of the Saviour revealed in the Abrahamic covenant and shadowed forth in the sacrificial offerings. Now they were prepared to appreciate the blessings of the new covenant. EP 260.2

MONDAY

The lesson asks us to read Hosea 2:18-20 and consider its implication in the New Covenant, but let's read verses 14-23:

> 14 So I am going to take her into the desert again; [This is a reminder of leaving Egypt, which represents bondage in sin. So God is saying, I will lead you out of the bondage of sin, to the desert where you will be free. But the desert is also where you cannot provide for yourself, where you will live and thrive only as you depend upon me and eat the bread of heaven I provide, which is the truth and drink the water I provide, which is the water of life—my love—the living law of love restored into humanity by Jesus.] there I will win her back with words of love. [What is it that wins us to God? Law, rules, threats, or love? As Paul wrote in Romans 2:4 "the kindness of God leads us to repentance."] I will give back to her the vineyards she had and make Trouble Valley a door of hope. [vineyards represent life, thriving, development, living, productivity, fruits of the harvest—and in this case Jesus is the Vine we are the branches, as we are connected to the Vine, we who were dead in trespass and sin, receive the life of Christ and the dead branches come to life and produce fruits of righteousness—our lives blossom—despite the hardships and troubles in this life] She will respond to me there as she did when she was young, when she came from Egypt. [This is the end-time people of God who are called out of the world, out of Babylon out of the false legal systems, out of the slavery of this world and into true covenant relationship with God in which they love God and others more than self] Then once again she will call me her husband—she will no longer call me her Baal. I will never let her speak the name of Baal again. [Wow—what kind of a relationship is marriage? It is a covenant relationship based on mutual love and trust. This is a reference to the New Covenant, in which we come into unity with God, in which He writes His law upon our hearts and minds and we love and trust Him. And notice, when we genuinely enter into the new covenant, in which God writes His law on our hearts and minds, and we are united with Him, then we will not call God Baal—and who was Baal?
>
> Baal was son of El; Baal was the god of weather, thunder, renewal, harvest. Baal fought against the great serpent the leviathan, and also against Mot, the god of death. In his battle with Mot Baal dies and rises again to bring life to the land. Now, what is wrong with worshipping a god who is the son of the father god, who is the creator and governor of the nature, who fights the great serpent, who fights against death and dies and rises again to bring us life? Baal required appeasement, payment, sacrifice to merit the blessings. Baal became Zeus to the Greeks, Jupiter to the Romans, Thor to the Norse people and Jesus Christ to all those who worship a god who requires the blood of a human sacrifice be paid in order not to kill us.
> God is saying that when we enter into the New Covenant with Him and genuinely know Him (life eternal is knowing God John 17:3) then we will no longer call God Baal. We will finally see the truth that the penal legal theologies are pagan and false and we will be united in heart with our God and when we finally do this, then Malachi's prophecy of Elijah coming again to call the people out of Baal worship is realized, notice what God says happens when we finally reject the imposed law Baal-god] At that time I will make a covenant with all the wild animals and birds, so that they will not harm my people. I will also remove all weapons of war from the land, all swords and bows, and will let my people live in peace and safety.

19 Israel, I will make you my wife;
I will be true and faithful;
I will show you constant love and mercy and make you mine for ever. [What does God do? He heals nature, He removes the survival of the fittest infection from His creation so the animals stop killing each other, and the people stop killing each other, and we are united in eternal union with our Creator God!]

20 I will keep my promise and make you mine, and you will acknowledge me as LORD.

21–22 At that time I will answer the prayers of my people Israel.
I will make rain fall on the earth, and the earth will produce corn and grapes and olives.

23 I will establish my people in the land and make them prosper.
I will show love to those who were called "Unloved", and to those who were called "Not-my-People"
I will say, "You are my people," and they will answer, "You are our God." (Ho 2:14–23 GNT). [And who is included in this promise? All human beings, from all races, nations, tribes, cultures, and languages!]

The lesson also asks us to look at Ezekiel 11:19-10:

> I will give them a new heart and a new mind. I will take away their stubborn heart of stone and will give them an obedient heart. Then they will keep my laws and faithfully obey all my commands. They will be my people, and I will be their God. (Eze 11:19–20 GNT).

What is described? What kind of salvation is this? What kind of law is this?

I was reading in the book Steps to Christ this week and read the following, describing the New Covenant, what do you think is being described?

> When, as erring, sinful beings, we come to Christ and become partakers of His pardoning grace, love springs up in the heart. [What is this? Is it a declaration, a proclamation, a legal adjustment or a living reality, an actual change in experience and function?] Every burden is light, for the yoke that Christ imposes is easy. Duty becomes a delight, and sacrifice a pleasure. The path that before seemed shrouded in darkness, becomes bright with beams from the Sun of Righteousness. SC 59.2

The loveliness of the character of Christ will be seen in His followers. It was His delight to do the will of God. Love to God, zeal for His glory, was the controlling power in our Saviour's life. Love beautified and ennobled all His actions. Love is of God. The unconsecrated heart cannot originate or produce it. It is found only in the heart where Jesus reigns. "We love, because He first loved us." 1 John 4:19, R.V. [What is described? Is this a legal process or an actual recreating of the heart, the wellsprings of action?] In the heart renewed by divine grace, love is the principle of action. [What is described? Healing, regeneration, renewal, notice the next words] It modifies the character, governs the impulses, controls the passions, subdues enmity, and ennobles the affections. [This is not some legal accounting in books, this is the outworking of the law of life, of design law, of God's law of love, which is a living law rewriting the operating systems of the soul] This love, cherished in the soul, sweetens the life and sheds a refining influence on all around. SC 59.3

There are two errors against which the children of God—particularly those who have just come to trust in His grace—especially need to guard. The first, already dwelt upon, is that of looking to their own works, trusting to anything they can do, to bring themselves into harmony with God. He who is trying to become holy by his own works in keeping the law, is attempting an impossibility. All that man can do without Christ is polluted with selfishness and sin. It is the grace of Christ alone, through faith, that can make us holy. SC 59.4 [What is described here? Is this saying it is the grace of Christ alone, through faith, that legally declares us holy even though we are not? No! It this is describing real righteousness by faith, actually healing of the soul, heart, mind, character. We are changed. This is the truth!]

The opposite and no less dangerous error is that belief in Christ releases men from keeping the law of God; that since by faith alone we become partakers of the grace of Christ, our works have nothing to do with our redemption. SC 60.1 [Why is this dangerous? Because God's law is the law of life, the protocols upon which life is built, salvation restores us to live out the law, not violate it. And if we were to continue to break God's law such actions injure us and result in our death. It would be like an alcoholic with liver failure getting a liver transplant—a new lease on life, but the liver transplant that brings new life, doesn't give the person license to keep drinking because the alcohol violates the laws of health and will still result in their death. The person must live in harmony with the laws of health if they want to live. This is how it is with all of God's laws including the moral laws.]

But notice here that obedience is not a mere outward compliance, but the service of love. [If it is not outward compliance what is it? What kind of law is focused on outward compliance? Imposed law, but God's law is not like this. So what kind of law is God's law?] The law of God is an expression of His very nature; it is an embodiment of the great principle of love, and hence is the foundation of His government in heaven and earth. [Where does God's law originate? His nature, His character, it is the expression of Himself that exudes from Him and is what life is built to operate upon. What law is the foundation of God's government in heaven AND earth? Do you see how Christianity has failed to present the truth about God's law and government and how the message to lighten the world, the 3 angels' messages is the message of the truth about God's character, law and government? The First Angel is the message of the good news, the eternal good news about God and His design law for life—it is a call to worship the Creator to make a right judgment about who God is. The Second Angel is the message of the corruption of the Babylonian system of imposed law, the rule of law god is a lie and we are to come out of that system and back to worship our Creator whose law is design law. And the Third Angel gives the message of what happens when God's design laws are persistently violated and God sets people free to reap what they have chosen.] If our hearts are renewed in the likeness of God, if the divine love is implanted in the soul, will not the law of God be carried out in the life? When the principle of love is implanted in the heart, when man is renewed after the image of Him that created him, the new-covenant promise is fulfilled, "I will put My laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them." Hebrews 10:16. And if the law is written in the heart, will it not shape the life? [What is described here as the New Covenant? Is it legal or is it healing, recreational, actual? No legality at all!] Obedience—the service and allegiance of love—is the true sign of discipleship. Thus the Scripture says, "This is the love of God, that we keep His commandments." "He that saith, I know Him, and keepeth not His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." 1 John 5:3; 2:4. Instead of releasing man from obedience, it is faith, and faith only, that makes us partakers of the grace of Christ, which enables us to render obedience. SC 60.2 [Why? Because faith results in renewal of heart to live in harmony with God's design laws of life!]

TUESDAY

Read the third paragraph, "Though the new…" God is the same yesterday today and tomorrow—so if we are saying about the old and new covenant that it is the same Creator God of love involved in both and who has the same goals and who heals through the same methods then that is, of course true.

But is the covenant to save individual sinners a one-sided arrangement?

God covenanted or promised to save the human species and did this in the person of Jesus without our help.

But, for individual sinners, does it require the active involvement, engagement, participation of the individual sinner to be saved?

So, if the Old and the New covenant are the same, why are they called Old and New, why not just one covenant?

While God is the same, the actual agreement or arrangement of the two are not.

In the New Covenant, which is the actual plan of salvation—the only treatment plan that actual heals or saves sinners—the law is written upon the heart.

If the old covenant was the same, why didn't God write it upon the hearts of the people at Sinai? Was God unwilling to write it upon their hearts? Or were the people unwilling to let God write it upon their hearts? And since they wouldn't let God write it upon their hearts, what was God's purpose in putting it on stone? Wasn't it to act as a promise and a diagnostic instrument and a protective hedge for children, for the immature?

- The 10 Commandments as a Promise—if you trust me and let me heal your heart, then you will not have any other gods before me, you will not make graven images, you will not misrepresent my name/character, you will remember the liberty and freedom of my methods by honoring my Sabbath, you will honor your parents, and won't murder, commit adultery, steal, bear false witness and covet.
- The 10 Commandments as a Diagnostic Tool—the law exposes the corruption of the sinful heart, how far from love we are, our terminal condition, and also leads back to Jesus who will heal us fulfilling the promise of what we will look like if we let Him write the law on our hearts
- The 10 Commandments as a Protection—even before the sinner trusts God and allows Him to heal the heart, if they choose not to murder, commit adultery, steal, worship false gods etc. they are protected from greater damage to their hearts, minds, characters, and consciences

But what was the problem with the old covenant? It was the people's false belief that it was a legal agreement with God that if they performed correctly, behaviorally, then they would get the blessings, but if they didn't they would be punished by God. It is all based on the false human law model, which gives them power over the deity through legalistic performance, ritual, sacrifice etc. They made it pagan and sadly Judaism, Islam and Christianity continue to operate on this false paradigm.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Yesterday…" Do you see the imbedded false legal distortions?

They say it is by the forgiveness of God that we enter into covenant relationship. Now let's be very clear—if God did not forgive, we could not be saved, we could not enter into salvation, or covenant with Him—this is absolutely true. But, was God's forgiveness ever an obstacle to our salvation? In other words, was God's forgiveness something that needed to be procured or was it always freely given, never unavailable, never an obstacle?

Pagan religions, those based on human law, the god-king idea of a supreme dictator all teach that the offended god must receive something—a sacrifice, a bribe, an offering, a legal-payment, in order to merit, earn, legally permit the god to forgive. This is a lie regarding our Creator God, this idea is what Baal required.

God forgives all freely—it is Satan who alleges God cannot do this, from the commentary The Desire of Ages:

> In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. When men broke the law of God, and defied His will, Satan exulted. It was proved, he declared, that the law could not be obeyed; man could not be forgiven. Because he, after his rebellion, had been banished from heaven, Satan claimed that the human race must be forever shut out from God's favor. God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. DA 761.4

It is always Satan's version of law that makes forgiveness from the deity the issue. But this is a lie. God forgives everyone, but not everyone is saved. Those who put Jesus on the Cross, were forgiven by Jesus, but they remained lost because the true barrier to their salvation was not removed and the true barrier is what? Sinfulness! Sin their own hearts kept them out of God's grace, their refusal to surrender in love and trust to Jesus, which is known as repentance.

So, when a wrong is perpetrated upon another, the wrong or sin causes injury to the wrong-doer's heart/mind/character and the bonds of love and trust within the relationship are damaged. The sinner experiences fear, guilt, shame. In order for reconciliation to happen, for the relationship to be actually healed, for the two to be at-one, two things need to occur.

- The injured party must forgive—which God does
- The offending party must repent—have a change of heart!

So, in order for the paragraph to be accurate it should read, "The bottom line is that salvation by faith is in God who forgives all our sin freely without any work or payment from us, and it is His kindness, His free pardon, His forgiveness that leads us to repentance. As a result of His forgiveness and our repentance we enter into relationship together in which He heals all the damage caused by sin and gives us the gift of eternal life."

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "The book of Hebrews…" What does the idea of Jesus as our High Priest ministering in the sanctuary in heaven mean to you?

What law lens do you understand this through?

According to Scripture what is the building material of the sanctuary in heaven?

> Paul says, "Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's house [sanctuary/temple], built on the foundation of the > apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. In him the whole building [sanctuary/temple] is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. And in him you too [you all] are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit. Ephesians 2:19-22.

>
> And Peter says, "As you come to him, the living Stone--rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him-- you also, like living stones [building blocks of the Temple], are being built into a spiritual house [Temple] to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ." 1 Pet 2:4,5.
>
> And Paul says, "For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, God's building [Temple]…Don't you know that you yourselves [the church] are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you? If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him; for God's temple is sacred, and you [you all] are that temple." 1 Cor 3:9,16,17.
>
> Him who overcomes I will make a pillar in the temple of my God. Never again will he leave it. I will write on him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which is coming down out of heaven from my God; and I will also write on him my new name. Revelation 3:12

From the commentary The Acts of the Apostles:

> Through the ages that have passed since the days of the apostles, the building of God's temple has never ceased. We may look back through the centuries and see the living stones of which it is composed gleaming like jets of light through the darkness of error and superstition. Throughout eternity these precious jewels will shine with increasing luster, testifying to the power of the truth of God. The flashing light of these polished stones reveals the strong contrast between light and darkness, between the gold of truth and the dross of error.
>
> Paul and the other apostles, and all the righteous who have lived since then, have acted their part in the building of the temple. But the structure is not yet complete. We who are living in this age have a work to do, a part to act. We are to bring to the foundation material that will stand the test of fire—gold, silver, and precious stones, "polished after the similitude of a palace" (Psalm 144:12). To those who thus build for God, Paul speaks words of encouragement... : "If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward." ... The Christian who faithfully presents the word of life, leading men and women into the way of holiness and peace, is bringing to the foundation material that will endure, and in the kingdom of God He will be honored as a wise builder.—The Acts of the Apostles, 598, 599.

Or consider this quote from the same author:

> The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple > in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use. {3MR 231.3}

> Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}

If the sanctuary in heaven is built out of living beings, is that a real sanctuary or a pretend sanctuary?

I ask this because many people ask me if I believe in a real sanctuary in heaven—and I do—but when I use the Scripture to demonstrate what it is actually constructed out of, they suddenly accuse me of no longer believing in a real physical sanctuary.

It is as if to them, inanimate matter, gold, silver, wood, which is what idols are made out of, which cannot sing, pray, worship, praise, love, trust, are somehow more real that living intelligent beings.

So, if the sanctuary in heaven is composed of living beings, what is Jesus our High Priest doing there?

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

2021 Q2 The Promise: Lesson 11
The New Covenant Sanctuary

by Lori Atkins

SABBATH

What do you think about this week's lesson? I had a couple of thoughts while studying it… it sounded familiar, like the traditional view of the OT sanctuary system and atonement. It also made me a little frustrated and a little sad…it gave me some insight into how pagan God constructs and penal legal substitution theology has infected our church just like so much of Christianity. And it made me really grateful…grateful for the Holy Spirit who enlightens and continues to shine new light on old truths…grateful that I found Come and Reason…and grateful that I have some different answers and explanations when faced with these penal legal lies and distortions. Answers and explanations that are consistent with scripture, with science and God's natural design laws and methods, and consistent with my experience of God's character of love. So, what I'm going to do today is look at both the OT sanctuary symbols, the rituals, and the meanings from the healing reality perspective with a design law lens…and then look at the new covenant heavenly sanctuary with the same healing reality and design law view. Now remember, Dr. Jennings held an entire one-day seminar focused on the OT Sanctuary, decoding the symbols, the rituals, the feast days…so we are only going to hit just a few of the high points. But the seminar is called "The Sanctuary and Feast Days: A Hidden End Time Message", and we recorded it, made it into a DVD, and it is available to watch right on our web site…stay tuned for the members-only Q&A after 11, and I will show you how to find it. Everything I needed to prepare this lesson study today is available on our web site.

All Bible metaphor points to one reality – the truth about God's character of love, His methods and principles (design laws), and His plan to heal and restore each of us – along with the whole universe – back to his design.

Remember…if a metaphor, or symbol, or parable, or simile does not point to some larger reality, then it is no longer metaphor…it is merely fantasy. Of course, the challenge is to interpret the symbolism correctly…and there is something even worse than not understanding a symbol's meaning… attributing a false meaning to the symbols is worse, because then you believe you "have the truth", and you stop looking for correct answer or the true meaning.

Not one element of the OT sanctuary is to be taken literally…every element is symbolic in some way…it all points to a larger reality, so in order to correctly understand it we must decode the symbols and the metaphors…and correctly understand the larger reality to which it is pointing.

I believe some of the content in this week's lesson illustrates some of the ways in which the sanctuary (OT and heavenly) has been terribly misunderstood, which has resulted in gross distortions about God, His character and methods, and the plan of salvation…and keeps millions trapped in a distorted belief system that has no power to heal and transform. It should be no surprise that the imperial law construct is the basis for these distortions and misunderstandings…believing that God's laws function like human laws – just a system of rules, without inherent consequences, that requires judicial oversight and infliction of external penalties or punishments… leads folks to misinterpret the meaning and significance of the OT animal sacrifices, the requirement of bloodshed as a legal process in a judicial system. However, notice what the Bible actually says about OT sacrifices in Hebrews 9 and 10:

> The gifts and sacrifices being offered were not able to clear the conscience of the worshiper. They are only a matter of food and drink and various ceremonial washings – external regulations applying until the time of the new order…But those sacrifices are an annual reminder of sins, because it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins.

Animal sacrifices were NEVER able to deal or address or take away the sin problem, and God told them this during OT times – while the ceremonial system was active – in Isaiah 1:

> "The multitude of your sacrifices – what are they to me?" says the Lord. "I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals; I have no pleasure in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats…wash and make yourselves clean. Take your evil deeds out of my sight! Stop doing wrong, learn to do right! Seek justice, encourage the oppressed. Defend the cause of the fatherless, plead the case of the widow."

God was not interested in animal sacrifices…He was interested in changing people to be more like Christ. As Hosea so eloquently puts it, "I want your constant love, not your animal sacrifices. I would rather have my people know me than burn offerings to me."

So, if these elaborate ceremonies and animal sacrifices could not cleanse from sin, then what in the world was the purpose? It was theater…a drama or a play to engage the sinner, (in this case primitive, dark-minded, slave mentality) in activities designed to teach, to transform, and to enlighten. Can you imagine placing your hands on the head of your pet doggy or pet kitty, confessing some sin you committed, looking in their sweet sad eyes while you cut their throat and watch them die? Do you think that might have an impact on you…on even the most darkened, crusty, hard-hearted person? This was part of the purpose – to cause you to be sickened by sin…to have a gut revulsion to its destructiveness…to make you want to never participate in sin again. But there was an even bigger purpose…the entire Levitical system was a drama, a play, a little theater. Again, this system was given to a group of recent slaves…they were uneducated, likely illiterate…so God directed them through Moses to build a very impressive stage (the sanctuary/temple), with intricate costumes, expensive props, and provided them with a very detailed script. The Israelites were the cast, the acting troupe, and they were to act out in yearly cycles a revelation of God's plan to heal and save humankind from sin – for themselves, for the surrounding nations, and for the entire universe.

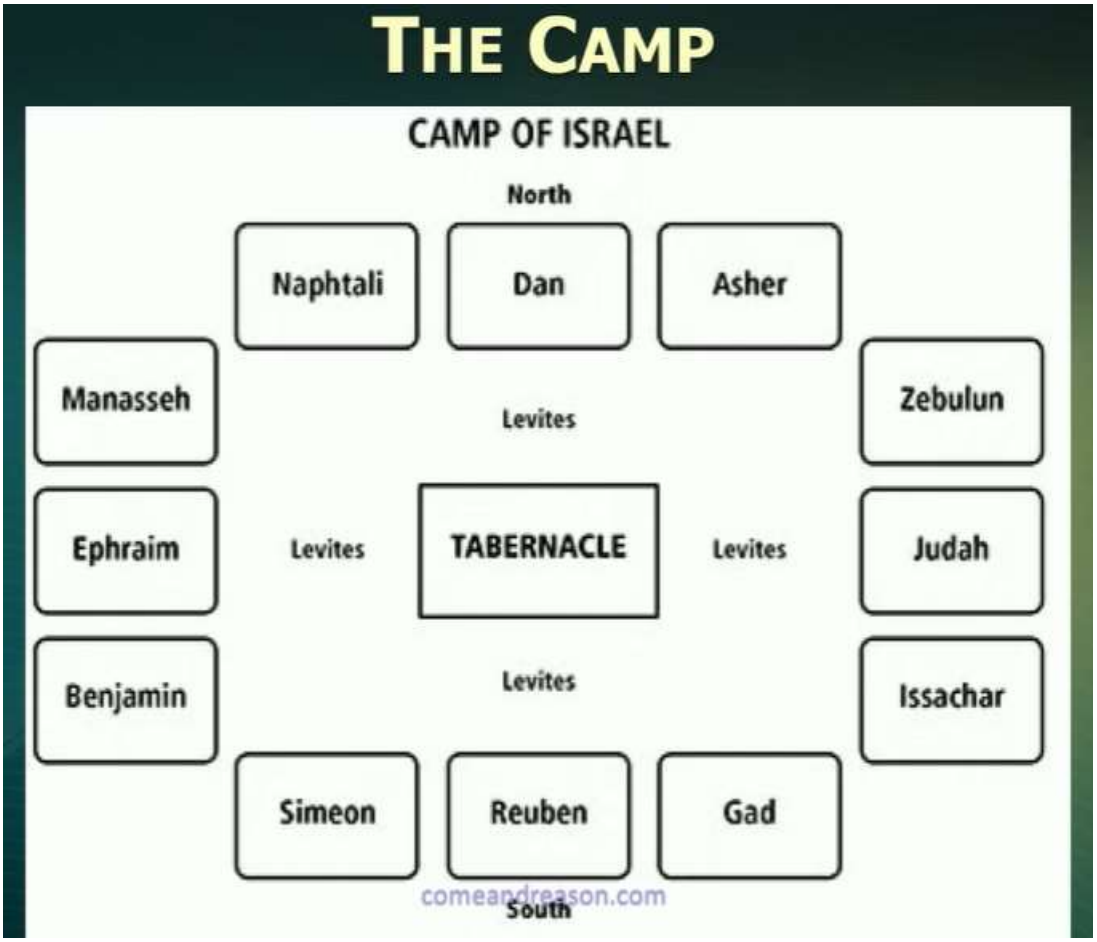
Salvation was NOT dependent on participating/acting in this play nor was being an Israelite…to be saved, you only had to experience the reality to which the drama/play was pointing. Many of the actors became so consumed with following strictly to the letter of the script that they failed to comprehend and embrace the reality to which it points…so consumed and focused on the rituals and the rules that when Jesus – THE larger reality – came and dwelt among them, they hated him and they killed him.
OT Sanctuary – Decoding the Symbols

The overarching theme of the entire drama: Humanity is separated from God by sin, and God is working through Christ to bring humanity back into unity with himself, by restoring in our hearts his character of love (at-one-ment). The tabernacle was placed in the center of the camp, and the tribes/people are camped all around the outskirts, separated from God with the Levites in between. This is symbolic – the twelve tribes represent the unconverted peoples of the world…and the Levites, the priesthood of believers, the people of God stand between God and them, going out to minister the gospel, the good news, the attributes of God to the tribes of the world, bringing them back to a knowledge of the true God, bringing them to the temple/tabernacle. They camped in a rectangle to represent people in every walk of life, on all four corners of the earth we find that God's Levites are ministering to bring people to Him.



Three main elements in the OT sanctuary system all represent Christ, but at three different stages of time. Moses represents Christ in His pre-incarnate form, and notice the similarities:

MOSES	CHRIST
• He spoke to God face to face • Left God's presence and confronted the ruler holding the Israelites in slavery • Set the people free and built the sanctuary	• He spoke to God face to face • Left God's presence to confront the ruler of this world holding humanity captive • Set us free and built the true sanctuary

The Lamb – represents Jesus as a human during his 33-year sojourn here on Earth.

High Priest – represents Jesus after His life/death/resurrection/victory on Earth and ascension to heaven.

Now let's see if we can interpret and understand the meaning of the sin offering ritual while at the same time decoding the remaining sanctuary symbols…first, for a non-priest Jew – a member of the twelve tribes – what lesson does it teach us? The sinner would come and place his hands on the head of the sacrificial animal and confess his sin…why on the head do you think? This is symbolic of where sin happens…it happens in the mind, and the sinner (not the ministering priest) would cut the circulation…the life is in the blood, and what does the blood do in the body…it circles…this is an object lesson of how love works, love is other-centered, it just keeps giving and giving, never-ending giving…yet sin severs the principle of giving and the blood stops circling and the animal dies…sin severs my design, the principle of love, the law of life, and results in death. The sacrificial animal (and its blood) represents sinless Jesus, who took our terminal sinful condition upon Himself, in order to fix humanity and become our remedy. The blood was carried by the ministering priest in vessels – both the priests and the vessels represent the priesthood of believers carrying the gospel message, the truth of God's kingdom throughout the world. The life is in the blood/the blood is life – the life of Christ and life is only carried in living beings…love is carried in you…and as you love other people, you become the hands and feet Christ, thus you carry the love or the blood of Christ to others…you're a vessel.

For the non-priest Jew, that blood was poured out at the base of the brazen alter, and represents a foundational change in the heart of the sinner, the conversion from distrust and selfishness to love and trust. The horns on the altar represent the defects in character that we develop living in sin (Jer. 17:1)…this is why the blood was applied to the horns on the brazen altar, and represents the work of Christ in our hearts, new character development, old pathways/habits being pared back, character defects are being removed and replaced with new motives, new desires, and new Christ-like character traits (some might say "merits").

The inner fat of the sacrificial offering being removed and burned is symbolic of Christ's victory on earth overcoming the internal temptation of the carnal nature, as we see in Gethsemane when he agonizes and is tempted in every way just like we are yet without sin, He is destroying that internal survival drive of fear and selfishness…represented by the inner fat that you cannot see from the outside, those internal fears and insecurities we all have, Christ destroyed those in his mission and it's symbolically represented by burning it away. This is why every time you read about the fat being burned, it's a pleasing aroma to the Lord…not the actual smell, symbolically it's pleasing to him… just like if you have a child with leukemia, and the child gets radiation treatments to burn away the cancer, that burning away the cancer is pleasing to you. So, burning away the fat…burning away the fear and selfishness in our hearts…that is pleasing to the Lord.

Washing the organs represents the cleansing of the inner man, removing guilt, shame, selfishness, and fear from the heart. Separating the fat from the organs and burning it represents Christ's work of destroying the carnal nature and circumcision of the heart, cutting away the ties to all those destructive things we were attached to prior to conversion. Burning the organs represent the work of the Holy Spirit within to burn away the old desires and recreate new motives and values.

The fire represents the Holy Spirit. Before the blood was applied, it represents the unconverted person being convicted of sin, being drawn, being wooed…after the blood is applied, it represents the transforming power, the renewal, the healing, the regeneration.

The priests would eat the meat of the sacrificed lamb, which represents that as we minister the gospel, and share and teach others the truth of God's kingdom, we are strengthened by partaking of as we're sharing and ministering to others.

The ritual and meaning of the sin offering was a little different for the Daily Priests in their white robes – they represent the priesthood of believers, and the white robes represent the renewed character of Christ that is being developed within them. The sinning priest confessed sin on the head of the sacrificial animal, and then cuts the circulation and the animal dies. The blood is carried by the ministering priest in vessels, but this time the blood is not poured out initially at the base of the brazen altar…it is taken into the holy place.

Holy Place – Contrasting with the bronze altar, which was covered with an impure metal…the HP is covered in gold – a pure metal and it represents the church, which has the purity of the truth and love of Christ. The door to the HP was always kept open, it was never closed…and the door represents Jesus Christ, who is the way, the truth, the life, the entry point for a person's salvation…He is the way in in order to come into fellowship with God and with each other in the church. The door was always kept open and the light from the lampstand would shine out into the courtyard…thus, the light of Christ shines out and would draw people from the world into church.
So, instead of being poured out on the brazen altar, the priest's sacrificial blood is taken into the HP and is sprinkled seven times before the veil…why would that be necessary? Imagine you're a priest working in the sacrificial system, daily priests in their white robes symbolic of a Christian who loves God…you're in the church, you're in the Holy Place, you love God, you long to see him more clearly…maybe you ask like Moses did, "Lord, let your glory pass before me," you know the Shekinah's back there and you want to see God face to face…but as you look to see God more clearly, there's something in the way, something blocks your view…what is blocking your ability to see God? What does this veil represent? What happened to the veil? It was destroyed…rent from top to bottom by God when Christ died. What obstructs our view of God, but when Christ dies that obstruction is torn/ripped/destroyed and now I can see God more clearly? Satan's lies about God and our own carnal natures we are born with. Angels on the veil represent God's agencies sent to help us battle these two forces and overcome…but no angel could break the barrier, only the son of God could break the barrier, and thus Jesus destroyed the lies of Satan and the infection of fear and selfishness, and opened a new and living way back through the barrier into unity with God. So why does the blood get sprinkled 7 times before this veil? If the veil represents the obstruction that prevents us from seeing God clearly – the lies and misrepresentation and distortions about God – then when a person who carries the name Christian, a person who says "I'm like Jesus" goes out an commits sin, do they make it easier for people to see God, or do they add to the obstruction? Therefore, it takes the perfection of Christ or seven times to overcome the additional obstructions that we Christians put in the way when we misrepresent Christ with our lives (twice the son of hell?).

Then the blood was taken over to the golden altar and placed on the smaller horns there, showing that the blood of Jesus or the character of Jesus is cleansing them and removing the habit patterns and the vestigial remnants of sin from the heart of the repentant believer. Prayers were only offered by the converted, thus the incense in burned on the golden altar…no incense was burned on the bronze altar because the unconverted don't offer their praise and prayers. Incense represents Christ's character lived out and wafting out over the camp, so when they would burn incense it's not only our prayers but also our adoration – the way we live our lives to celebrate and testify what God has done for us, this is the sweetness of our lives as we have been renewed by Christ, and so the incense burning on the golden altar would waft out over the camp and draw the people groups of the world into interest in what's happening in the sanctuary. Fire on the golden altar represents the Holy Spirit working in our hearts to enlighten, to provide wisdom, to enable, to equip, to transform, to renew, to regenerate.

The remaining blood is poured out at the base of the brazen altar, representing God's power to reach the unsaved people of the world as we within the body of Christ are gracious to each other and forgiving of each other…as we handle the sinfulness that we all still struggle with, and help each other overcome, people are witnessing that and their hearts are touched and brought to conversion.

Other items in the Holy Place included:

The Lampstand – represents the Word of God…thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path…but both the living and the written word of God are represented here. The central stand, also made of solid gold, represents Christ (the word made flesh), and there were six branches attached to the central stand…six is numerically representative of humanity or mankind…six branches, humankind, connected to Jesus Christ makes seven, which is perfection or completion…and so only connected to Christ can we be completed or perfected and enabled to shine light and truth into the world.

The Oil – represents the Holy Spirit. The bowls at the top of the stand represent the hearts of those who have accepted Christ, as the word enlightens their minds and the Holy Spirit burns within with light and truth and witness for God's kingdom. What was interesting is only the High Priest (Jesus) trimmed the wicks of the lamp, evening and morning…no one else. Only Jesus works in our hearts to heal and transform and cut away the dross, cut away the encumbrances, cut away the old habits, cut away the distortions so that we burn brighter and brighter for Him.

The Table – it was made of wood but covered in gold…this represents Jesus, our incarnate God, who became human but was perfect, gold, sinless. On the border of the table…this is the only element of the sanctuary service that was not measure in cubits, it was measured in hands breadth, symbolically suggesting that the hand of God is protective around His son and what His son provides for us. There were twelve loaves of unleavened bread (without yeast), representing the bread of heaven/life (without sin)…the word of God that we are to ingest and partake of. The twelve loaves represent the twelve tribes in the theatre, and the twelve tribes represent all the people groups of the world…and thus the word of God, His provisions, are sufficient for all the people groups of the world. Incense on top of the twelve loaves represents the sweetness of Christ and Christ's perfect character.

The Wine – represents the perfect character and sinless life and love of Jesus Christ that we are to "drink"/ingest. Interestingly, what would happen every sabbath, the daily priests in their white robes, representing the priesthood of believers who've been renewed and reborn to have Christ-like characters, enter the Holy Place…which is the church…and with the high priest, who represents Jesus, they would together eat the bread…which is the Word of God, and burn the incense…which is symbolic of offering prayers and praise to God every sabbath in church.

What about the Most Holy Place – what do we find there?

While the Holy Place is the church, the Most Holy Place is the universe cleansed of sin and restored to at-one-ment and perfection with God. We find the Shekinah glory or God's presence, we find angels which represent unfallen sinless beings, we find the lid of the ark made of solid gold which represents Jesus. Let's look at the box beneath the lid…so we've got God represented, we've got Jesus represented, we've got angels represented, who's not represented so far? Sinners saved – that's the box! The box was made of porous wood covered in pure gold (the perfection of Christ)…so human beings, who were sinners, who have through Jesus Christ been perfected and renewed to righteousness and restored into unity with God. What did the box contain? Three things were kept there and they were put in the box in a specific order on purpose…understanding the symbolism is quite beautiful because the box represents the hearts of the converted restored into unity with God…and the first thing that went into the box was…manna….the bread from heaven…Jesus is the bread of heaven, so the first thing a sinner must partake of in order to have their hearts restored is they must partake of Jesus, the Word of God, the light than lightens all men, and as we partake of Jesus we are won to trust, the lies are destroyed, the fear is taken away, we open our hearts to him in trust…and when we open our hearts to Him, the second thing goes in the box, and that was the Ten Commandments, the law, and it says that He writes His law in our hearts and minds as we open our heart in trust, and thus we get new motives, a new operating system, a new method, God's principles and designs of other-centered love and truth and freedom are regenerated within us…and then the third thing goes in the box, Aaron's rod that was dead and had no life comes to life and begins budding as we who were dead in trespass and sin now bring forth the peaceable fruits of righteousness – we live again for God's kingdom. The lid is not Jesus covering the broken law…it was the unbroken instance of the law that went into the ark, because it's not the broken law being covered, it is the perfect righteousness of Christ being reproduced in the heart, written on the heart again…it's an unbroken law being restored in us. Again, Jesus is the lid of solid gold that connects the entire universe…notice the Shekinah is touching/connected to the lid, the angels are on the lid, the converted peoples of the world are touching the lid…all things in heaven and on earth are reconciled or brought together under one head, Jesus Christ…he is the unifying link that brings the universe back into oneness or at-one-ment.

Unity is the goal…the entire drama is designed to teach God's plan to eliminate sin and restore the universe to at-one-ment. The sin offering represents, in symbol, the plan to heal and restore individuals by removing sin – not from record books or account legers or smoke-filled rooms in heaven – but from the hearts and minds of people. Salvation is found in the reality – not in the symbols – and that reality is Jesus Christ!

New Covenant Heavenly Sanctuary

So, Christ is our faithful and merciful heavenly High Priest, he has entered into the Most Holy Place in the heavenly sanctuary, and is engaged in His High Priestly ministry…what does that look like? What have we been taught?

God, in order to refute the lies of Satan and reveal His true character has kept records, but not to judge us by, but to demonstrate that all those who are lost are lost because they have refused God's remedy. There is also another set of records in which our sins are recorded, but these records are not judicial records; they are the actual individualities of each person whose characters are perfectly recorded in heaven. In other words, every unrepented sin is recorded in the character of the unrepentant. This is why Jesus says, "Let him who is righteous be righteous still…"

Here is a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church, because this is what was supposed to be understood in teaching the sanctuary message:

> Remember, your character is being daguerreotyped [photographed] by the great Master Artist in the record books of heaven, as minutely as the face is reproduced upon the polished plate of the artist. What do the books of heaven say in your case? Are you conforming your character to the Pattern, Jesus Christ? Are you washing your robes of character and making them white in the blood of the Lamb? "Behold, I come quickly; and My reward is with Me, to give every man according as his work shall be" [Revelation 22:12]. . . . {Testimonies on Sexual Behavior, Adultery, and Divorce 62.1}
> Every passing hour of the present is shaping our future life. These moments spent in carelessness, in self-pleasing, as if of no value, are deciding our everlasting destinies. The words we utter today will go on echoing when time shall be no more. The deeds done today are > transferred to the books of heaven, just as the features are transferred by the artist onto the polished plate. They will determine our destiny for eternity, for bliss or eternal loss and agonizing remorse. Character cannot be changed when Christ comes... {Testimony to Ministers 429.3}

> You must remain pure and true and firm, remembering your character is being imprinted upon the books of heaven. {Our High Calling 317.4}

Those records (of a person's character) are recorded in the heavenly sanctuary—because the heavenly sanctuary is constructed out of living stones, the actual people who make up the temple where God lives by His Spirit – the priesthood of believers.

> "In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and > sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,--from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Mal. 3:1-3. (DA 161).

Jesus is right now in the Most Holy Place in heaven, leading all the agencies at His disposal in the work of cleansing the minds, hearts, and characters of His people from the lies about God, the removal of selfishness, and the restoration of righteousness. They are the building blocks of His heavenly sanctuary.

> “The cases of all are pending in the heavenly sanctuary. Day by day angels of God are watching the development of character… All defects must be remedied. The character must be assimilated to the character of Christ... At an infinite cost a fountain has been prepared for our cleansing. In the blood of the Son of God we may wash our garments of character, and make them white.” (ST, April 17, 1901).

What is the reality these symbols point toward?

- Blood of Jesus = Character of Jesus
- Garments = Our character
- Washing in the blood of Jesus = Remove selfishness and assimilate the selfless character of Jesus

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 12
Covenant Faith

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Special thanks to Tom Price, Steve Morris, and Kent Johnson. We just finished 322 orders of CIBTS and misc orders.

Read memory text: "But that no one is justified by the law in the sight of God is evident, for "the just shall live by faith" Galatians 3:11 NKJV).

What does this mean?

The just are those whose hearts have been set right with God, those who have had love for God and others written into their hearts so that they are no longer governed by fear and selfishness. The just are the right or the righteous and they choose in governance of themselves to do what they know is right and trust God with the outcomes—they have faith in God for how things turn out.

Example, Shadrack, Meshack and Abednego on the plain of Dura. They had to decide in governance of themselves what they would do, bow or not bow to the idol—the just, or right—whose hearts have been healed and who love God more than self, choose to do what is right and they did not bow and they trusted God with how things turned out. They didn't know God would save them, but they trusted God with their lives because their hearts were restored to atonement with God.

This is the state of those who are ready for translation, Revelation describes them in "And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, and they did not love their lives to the death" (Re 12:11 NKJV).

The blood is metaphor for the life of Christ. These individuals have died to self and been reborn with the righteousness of Christ, His life, His character, within them, as Paul wrote "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me." Because of this their testimony is the truth about God and His character of love. They embrace God as Creator and promote the truth about His design law and government—the word of their testimony refutes the imperial lies about God and they have hearts that do not operate on the survival drives of me-first.

This is genuine righteousness by faith.

If you haven't read the three-part blog series Who Created Whom: An Exploration of the Origin of our Favorite God written by a guest author, I encourage you to read it.

You will discover how our sin condition, the condition of fear and selfishness, with the chaos and the fight for survival has resulted in the development of the law-and-order method of imposed rules and inflicted punishments. How this way of governing only exists in sinful spaces, in places with beings operating out of harmony with God, that in heaven, in holiness there is no such thing as law and order as we know it. And that humanity merged the idea of law-and-order with belief in God making the god-king concept and projected Satan's false view of God onto God and has taught God runs His universe like sinful beings run nation states. It is a lie.

I encourage you to read it—it is so well done.

The lesson reflects on Homer's Odyssey and how Odysseus had many obstacles on a long struggle home that were inflicted by the gods to cause an appropriate amount of suffering before the gods decided it was enough and let him reach home.

Then the lesson states, "In one sense, we are like Odysseus, on a long journey home. The crucial difference, however, is that unlike Odysseus, we can never 'suffer enough' to earn our way back. The distance between heaven and earth is too great for us to atone for our mistakes. If we get home, it will have to be only by the grace of God."

It is true that our suffering will not do anything to fix the sin problem, save us, or return us to oneness with God. Suffering does NOT remove sin.

But, the way this is worded is incredibly sad, because it is fosters misunderstanding and perpetuates falsehoods about God.

What problems do you hear in this?

Is our problem that needs fixing "our mistakes" that we need to atone for? Or, are we born in sin conceived in iniquity? Is our problem the mistakes of life, or is our problem a condition into which we were born that we did NOT choose, yet if unremedied will result in our eternal death?

So the biggest problem with this paragraph is that it misdiagnoses the sin problem as a problem of our making mistakes. In other words, the sin problem is behavioral, bad acts, choices we make. This is how human governments function. But God's government is about reality, about the condition and attitude of the heart. And our problem is the condition of sin into which we are born that without remedy does indeed result in mistakes, bad acts, sins. But the sins are the symptoms of that condition, not the cause of our sin condition, which do worsen the condition, and if persisted in will destroy the very faculties capable of responding to God for salvation.

Adam and Eve are the ones who chose to infect themselves with sinfulness, with fear and selfishness, and every other human being since has been born with this terminal condition.

So, the lesson authors, and all those who hold the penal legal lie, always misdiagnose the sin problem as acts, deeds, behaviors, and therefore, always promote a false remedy that has no power to save. As Paul wrote, they have "a form of godliness but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them" (2 Timothy 3:5 NIV84).

What do you hear with phrases like, "We can never suffer enough to earn our way back"?

Are they suggesting that suffering is a requirement to salvation? That while we couldn't suffer enough, Jesus could and it was His suffering that saves us by paying the appropriate price of pain and death?

SUNDAY

Read the first paragraph, "The Old Testament…" This is so poorly understood and again confuses and obstructs the truth about the plan of salvation—it is so sad.

Let's highlight the truth here first—it is true that people were saved in Old Testament times in the exact same way as they are in New Testament times—by grace through faith in the Messiah, the promised Seed to crush the serpent's head. It is through Jesus that all humans throughout all history experience salvation.

The lesson says it is by faith alone, but it is not by faith alone—it is by grace through faith.

> For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast. (Eph 2:8–9 NIV84).

Grace is God's work—it is God's initiative and actions that provide the remedy, the means and resources to heal us, to save us, to restore us, to recreate us, to transform us, to fix us—and Jesus is the individual through whom God provides all of this. Faith is our trust in God by which we partake of what God has provided through Jesus.

The next point the lesson misrepresents is about works, as if we have no role to play in our salvation. For those who continue to see the problem through human imposed law, they always misunderstand and always will. It is impossible for them to see the truth while believing a lie, thus their view of salvation and what Christ has done is always false, distorted, perverted.

What is the truth? That God, in the person of Jesus, saved the species human and simultaneously procured, produced, achieved, the remedy that will save any individual human who trusts God and participates in God's healing plan.

So, no human contributes in any way to the saving remedy or the saving of the species, that was 100% done by God through Christ. But every human that is saved works with God for their own salvation. Thus the Bible says:

> "continue to work out your salvation with fear and trembling, for it is God who works in you to will and to act according to his good purpose" (Php 2:12–13 NIV84).

And James wrote:

> But someone will say, "You have faith; I have deeds."
> Show me your faith without deeds, and I will show you my faith by what I do. You believe that there is one God. Good! Even the demons believe that—and shudder.
> You foolish man, do you want evidence that faith without deeds is useless? Was not our ancestor Abraham considered righteous for what he did when he offered his son Isaac on the altar? You see that his faith and his actions were working together, and his faith was made complete by what he did. And the scripture was fulfilled that says, "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness," and he was called God's friend. You see that a person is justified by what he does and not by faith alone. (Jas 2:18–24 NIV84).

What does this mean? Our individual salvation is a cooperative effort—it requires the work of God in Jesus to reveal the truth that wins us to trust, and also it requires a real remedy that fixes the sin condition, that restores in us godliness, righteousness, a new heart and right spirit etc. Jesus revealed the truth and in His person restored God's living law into the species human destroying the death causing principle of fear and selfishness.

So, everything we need for salvation is provided through Christ, but our individual salvation requires our willful participation, we trust God and we choose to follow His directions. Our works do NOT produce the remedy, they receive and live out the remedy. This is the only means whereby God can heal our hearts and minds while retaining our individuality.

The penal legal lie claims that we are righteous by a legal declaration while we remain unrighteous in heart and mind—such a teaching is fantasy. It is a fraud, it is like saying a person with terminal metastatic cancer who has a doctor remove the pathology report from their medical record and write into the record a report saying they don't have cancer is now cancer free and healthy. They are not and they continue to get worse. Likewise, the penal lie teaches that people are declared righteous in heaven, while they remain unrighteous on earth. This means they continue to live unrighteously, which means they continually add more damage to their hearts and minds, their consciences get seared, their hearts harden, they become more like Satan in character, like the Pharisees who crucified Christ, but all the while presenting themselves as religiously loyal to God.

So, EG White, who embraced the truth righteousness by faith message of 1888, in which we become righteous wrote, in harmony with what Paul and James wrote as quoted above:

> We are laborers together with God. This is the Lord's own wise arrangement. The cooperation of the human will and endeavor with divine energy is the link that binds men up with one another and with God. The apostle says, "We are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building" (1 Corinthians 3:9). Man is to work with the facilities God has given him. "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling," He says. "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Philippians 2:12, 13).--MS 113, 1898. {2MCP 694.3}

> There are two grand forces at work in the salvation of the human soul. It requires the cooperation of man with the divine agencies-- divine influences, and a strong, living, working faith. It is in this way only that the human agent can become a laborer together with God. The Lord does not sanction in any one of us a blind, stupid credulity. He does not dishonor the human understanding, but, far from this, He calls for the human will to be brought into connection with the divine will. He calls for the ingenuity of the human mind, the tact, the skill, to be strenuously exercised in searching out the truth as it is in Jesus... Ye are labourers together with God. {OHC 310.5}

The third point is what we owe the law—the penal lie teaches that we owe the law a death penalty to be paid. But what does the law actually require? Does it require death, or does it require perfect harmony with it in order to have life?

Here are some historic quotes that are beautiful and with which I agree completely—they are all evidences of design law, how reality works, and understanding design law, like the laws of health, what do the laws of health require if you break them? They require simply that an individual be restored to harmony with them. If a person breaks the laws of health and drinks poison, their salvation, their healing, does NOT require someone be killed in their place, saving them requires the toxin be eliminated and the damage be fixed so the person is restored to harmony with the laws of health.

This is exactly what God's law requires—note what these quotes describe:

> The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. [This is the remedy. This is the work of God, the grace of God, independent of any other human work or action. This is what we can never achieve, or work out on our own.] These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. [This is the remedy, the new heart, the mind of Christ, the character of Christ that we receive by faith.] His life stands for the life of men. [This is the corporate salvation, the saving of the species. Jesus is now the second Adam, the representative head of the human race.] Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. [No legal penalty, just like a doctor that cures a patient doesn't require something be done for the various symptoms the patient had while sick.] More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Rom. 3:26. {DA 762.2} [This is the truth of salvation, that through faith we become the righteousness of God!]

> But the law requires that the soul itself be pure and the mind holy, that the thoughts and feelings may be in accordance with the standard of love and righteousness.--RH, Apr 5, 1898. (2SM 211.)

The divine law requires us to love God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves. Without the exercise of this love, the highest profession of faith is mere hypocrisy. . . . {A New Life NL 32.1}

God's law requires that justice and right be exercised between man and his fellow man; it requires that we shall not injure our neighbor in his property, his feelings, his health, or his good name. [Is this what you see in the actions of those in our society today who claim to be advocating for social justice? Do you see them protecting their neighbors property, feelings, health and good name?] It requires compassion for the afflicted, even if he be our enemy, that in all our associations with our fellow beings we shall show the same love and care that we would wish to have exercised toward ourselves. Who can stand before this great moral standard, and plead not guilty? {ST, January 7, 1897 par. 3} [Understanding design law enables us to do this. We don't have to hate the smoker, we have compassion on him for we know what he is doing to his own health. Likewise we don't have to hate the liar, the cheat, the bigot, the racist, they are all searing their own consciences, hardening their own hearts—it is sad!]

While the law is holy, the Jews could not attain righteousness by their own efforts to keep the law. The disciples of Christ must obtain righteousness of a different character from that of the Pharisees, if they would enter the kingdom of heaven. God offered them, in His Son, the perfect righteousness of the law. If they would open their hearts fully to receive Christ, then the very life of God, His love, would dwell in them, transforming them into His own likeness; and thus through God's free gift they would possess the righteousness which the law requires. [What is described here? Actual healing and transformation of heart and mind. But what does the penal legal lie teach? That we are declared righteous even though we are not.] {MB 54.2}

> Obedience to the law is essential, not only to our salvation, but to our own happiness and the happiness of all with whom we are connected. [Why? What law? If a person dying with alcoholic liver failure gets a liver transplant and thus a new lease on life, are they now free from the laws of health, are they free to drink more alcohol without damaging the new liver that will result in their death? Life, health, and happiness are only possible in harmony with God's law for God's law is the protocol life is built upon.] "Great peace have they which love Thy law: and nothing shall offend them" (Ps. 119:165), says the Inspired Word. Yet finite man will present to the people this holy, just, and good law, this law of liberty, which the Creator Himself has adapted to the wants of man, as a yoke of bondage, a yoke which no man can bear. But it is the sinner who regards the law as a grievous yoke; it is the transgressor that can see no beauty in its precepts. For the carnal mind "is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be" (Rom. 8:7). . . . {NL 32.2}
> That which God required of Adam before his fall was perfect obedience to His law. God requires now what He required of Adam, perfect obedience, > righteousness without a flaw, without shortcoming in His sight. God help us to render to Him all His law requires. We cannot do this without that faith that brings Christ's righteousness into daily practice. {2SM 380.4} [Why does God require this? For the same reason that we are required to breathe—it is how life is built to operate!]

But in TUESDAY's lesson, the last paragraph, we read:

> "the righteousness that saves us is a righteousness that is credited to us, a righteousness that is (to use a fancy theological term) imputed to us. This means that we are declared righteous in the sight of God, despite our faults; it means that the God of heaven views us as righteous even if we are not. This is how He saw Abram, and this is how He will see all who come to Him in 'the faith of Abraham'" (Rom 4:16).

Oh, how incredibly sad, that these people, who I believe sincerely want to follow God, are so deeply immersed into the imposed law lie that they are just like the Pharisees in Christ day who devoted themselves to their religion, but ended up rejecting Christ.

> Is it true that Jesus works in heaven to pull the wool over His Father's eyes?
> Is it true that God, the source of all truth, all perfection, all knowledge, declares things to be something it is not? Does God lie, commit fraud, deceive? Or does God declare us righteous, because we are actually set right in heart and mind with God again? What is the natural state of the sinful heart—trust or distrust of God? Enmity, and Abram trusted God first and after Abram's heart was changed from distrust to trust God reckoned him as righteous or right because he was!

What is imputed righteousness? Which righteousness transforms us? The legal liars tell us imputed is what God legally accounts to us, while the imparted is what transforms us.

I say these distinctions are not significant in practice—both are operational in us and both transform.

> He would have us comprehend something of His love in giving His Son to die that He might counteract evil, remove the defiling stains of sin from the workmanship of God, and reinstate the lost, elevating and ennobling the soul to its original purity through Christ's imputed righteousness. TMK 206

> "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (2 Cor. 3:18). [What law is this? The law of worship, by beholding we are changed, it is a design law, how reality works] Beholding Christ means studying His life as given in His Word. We are to dig for truth as for hidden treasure. We are to fix our eyes upon Christ. When we take Him as our personal Saviour, this gives us boldness to approach the throne of grace. By beholding we become changed, morally assimilated to the One who is perfect in character. By receiving His imputed righteousness, through the transforming power of the Holy Spirit, we become like Him. The image of Christ is cherished, and it captivates the whole being. {AG 96.4}

> In ourselves we are sinners; but in Christ we are righteous. Having made us righteous through the imputed righteousness of Christ, God pronounces us just, and treats us as just. He looks upon us as His dear children. Christ works against the power of sin, and where sin abounded, grace much more abounds. {AG 181.4} [God pronounces us just and treats us as just when? When we have been made righteous—through what? Through the imputed righteousness of Christ. The entire penal legal theological construct is false. It is based on the wrong diagnosis of the problem and thus constructs an entirely fraudulent treatment model that functions to keep people trapped in unrighteousness, sinfulness, while adhering to the church's religious behavioral requirements and claiming legal status change in some heavenly courtroom. It is so sad.]
> We aim too low. The mark is much higher. Our minds need expansion, that we may comprehend the significance of the provision of God. We are to reflect the highest attributes of the character of God. . . . The law of God is the exalted standard to which we are to attain through the imputed righteousness of Christ. {OHC 364.2}

Back to SUNDAY, read third paragraph,

> Christ has shown that His love was stronger than death. [What is the basis of life? God, from whom all life is derived, and what is the law upon which life is built? The law of love. So His love is stronger than death. What does it mean? Christ "destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light" 2Tim 1:10, and "by his death he destroyed him who holds the power of death that is the devil" Heb 2:14. What does this mean? Death comes from violating God's design law of love. The law of love is the law of life. Fear and selfishness, which result from believing lies, causes separation from the law of love and results in death. Adam and Eve, choosing to believe lies had love fractured and fear and selfishness instilled, thus they became terminal. We are born with this survival drive, this terminal condition. Christ, through Mary became human, partook of our nature, and was tempted in all points like us. He was tempted with fear and selfishness and strong human emotions to act to save self. But, Christ chose to love others instead and gave His life freely. Thus at the cross love overcame fear and selfishness, the cause of death. Christ destroyed the death causing principle operating in the humanity He assumed and restored the law of love, the law of life into the humanity He assumed by choosing, with His human brain to love perfectly. This is why He rose again and could predict He would arise again, because He knew what God's law does.] He was accomplishing man's salvation; and although He had the most fearful conflict with the powers of darkness, yet, amid it all, His love grew stronger and stronger. He endured the hiding of His Father's countenance, until He was led to exclaim in the bitterness of His soul: "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" [Why? Could Christ eliminate the infection of fear and selfness without facing and overcoming death? And could Christ die if His Father remained connected to Him? So the only way for Christ to accomplish His mission was for the Father to surrender Christ to what Jesus chose to accomplish. Thus, the Father was NOT punishing Jesus, but the two together were carrying out their joint plan for the salvation of humanity and this was only possible through the death of Christ] His arm brought salvation. The price was paid to purchase the redemption of man, when, in the last soul struggle, the blessed words were uttered which seemed to resound through creation: "It is finished." EG White 2T 212 [What was the price and to whom was it paid? If you child is dying of renal failure and you donate a kidney to save them, have you paid a price to save them? Is it a legal price? So, our salvation did require a price—that price is metaphorically taught in the flesh/blood or bread/wine analogy—what do they represent? The Word became flesh, the flesh represents the truth, Jesus is the truth in living flesh and what does truth do to lies? It destroys them. Thus, the truth sets free. What holds us in bondage of sin? The lies we believe and our own carnal nature. So, the first price to be paid was the truth which destroys lies and win us to trust. But we also are held in bondage by fear and selfishness, we need a perfect and righteous human character and this we cannot produce or provide. So Jesus did this for us and this is represented in the blood, "the life is in the blood" thus, when we first partake the Word, the flesh, the bread (remember Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink." Jn 6:53–55 NIV84). So we partake the truth and are won to trust and then we open the heart and receive the life of Christ which is symbolically represented by the blood. So, the price of salvation is truth and a new human character that is paid to us to heal and restore us to perfect righteousness.]

MONDAY

The lesson quotes 1Peter 1:18,19 about how we were ransomed—we just described the ransom price and to whom it was paid—the price was truth to destroy lies and win us to trust and a new sinless human character, but paid to us that results in our healing and restoration.

Read last paragraph, "We have this promise…" Notice how they have us owing the law a debt—what are your thoughts on this?

What does the law require? What law, what law lens are we seeing this through?

When we accept the lie that God's law functions like human law, then it is falsely taught that the law requires punishment, and the minimum punishment is death, thus it is taught that only Jesus, the infinite one, could pay the debt to the law to cancel the demands of inflicted death. This is pagan pure and simple—a deity that will kill us unless we offer that deity the right sacrifice, in this case the blood of an innocent infinite being.

But, some of the legal people will object to what I just said, they will say "you are misrepresenting us. God doesn't demand the life of His Son—God's law does. We wrote the paragraph precisely and it says the debt was owed to God's law, not to God. You have done us an injustice."

Well, ask these same people from where does God's law originate and they will say God. And ask them whose character does the law represent and they will say God, that it is a transcript of His character. So, if the law originates in God and it is a transcript of His character to suggest the law requires the death of an innocent be paid to it, but God doesn't is another lie that the legal people tell. They must lie because the system is built on lies. If they told the truth no one would believe them and they would lose their followers.

Read the bottom pink section, "Imagine that in an art museum…" Do you think this is an accurate analogy? What is the problem with this analogy and how could it be presented more accurately?

They describe the crime or sin being done to the painting, but then they shift the focus away from the painting to the monetary value of the painting. Money is an artificial construct made by man, just like imposed laws. They have created a false monetary debt beyond the ability of the parents to pay, just like they create a false legal debt.

The analogy would be more accurate to say, that neither the child nor the parents have the ability to restore the painting to its original beauty. But Rembrandt is alive and he smiles at the child, and removes the ink and restores the painting to is original beauty. God, through Christ, removes the damage of sin, of fear, of selfishness, and restores God's original law and design of love back into humanity, first in His own humanity that He assumed, and then in all who trust Him.

WEDNESDAY

Read the second paragraph, "The same term is employed in other…" What is the lesson doing here? They are attempting to make the case that because the same term "reckoned" or "regarded" is used by people in the Bible to reckon or regard things to be other than what they actually are, that means God does this with our righteousness. What is the problem with this argument?

- People are sinners and God is holy, sinless and perfect. Does God conduct Himself as sinners?
- Just because the term can be used in this way does it mean it is always used in this way. In other words, can the term reckoned or regarded be used to reckon or regard what actually is? So just because a couple of places people use it this way does NOT mean God uses it this way.
- The example of Rachel using this word in regard to her father is an allegation she makes against her father, it does not mean it is true. In other words, the Pharisees in Christs' day regarded Jesus as having a demon—does that mean because Jesus didn't have a demon that the work regarded is rightfully used to reckon was doesn't exist, or that the person reckoning is wrong about what they are reckoning? Well when God reckons us as righteous it is because He has actually made us righteous.
- The example counting the offerings and tithes as if it was corn from the threshing floor of wine from their winepress. The lesson wants you to believe that God is setting up a system where He counts something that isn't as something else. This is a result of several cognitive distortions—first, failure to diagnose the sin problem accurately—again thinking it is legal and then going to the text with the wrong legal lens. Second, failure to understand the metaphorical nature of the sanctuary service. Third, failure to be able to abstract symbols to their true meaning. When God says that when they bring their tithes and offerings they will be counted as corn from the threshing floor or wine from the winepress—what do those symbols mean? The winepress and threshing floor is where impurities are pressed out or blown away to get the pure wine or corn. And the metaphor of the winepress or threshing floor was to teach the healing of hearts and minds from sin, the pressing out of our fear, guilt, selfishness and producing good fruit of character. So, the metaphor is saying, when they gave tithes and offerings it will be accepted because it is coming from hearts that have been purified. So the lesson creates another fraud in its attempt to support the lie that God reckons us as righteous when we remain unrighteous.

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "As they near…" Where do we need the righteousness of Christ? Consider this quote from the book Christ's Object Lessons, which was written after the 1888 General Conference in which the delegates rejected the righteousness by faith message.

Is this description in harmony with the lesson or presenting something different?

> This robe, woven in the loom of heaven, has in it not one thread of human devising. Christ in His humanity wrought out a perfect character, and this character He offers to impart to us. "All our righteousnesses are as filthy rags." Isaiah 64:6. Everything that we of ourselves can do is defiled by sin. But the Son of God "was manifested to take away our sins; and in Him is no sin." Sin is defined to be "the transgression of the law." 1 John 3:5, 4. But Christ was obedient to every requirement of the law. He said of Himself, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God; yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. When on earth, He said to His disciples, "I have kept My Father's commandments." John 15:10. By His perfect obedience He has made it possible for every human being to obey God's commandments. When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. COL 311.4

Turn to FRIDAY's lesson and read first paragraph, keep the COL quote above in mind as we read and consider answer how we bring the merits of Christ to God. I am going to start the quote two sentences before the lesson does, see if it sets a different tone:

> Righteousness is obedience to the law. The law demands righteousness, and this the sinner owes to the law; [What does the law demand? But the lesson has been teaching the law demands the death of a sinless substitute to pay the debt payment. This author says the law demands righteousness and this is what we owe the law. Why? Because the law is design law and we owe harmony to it if we want to live] but he is incapable of rendering it. [Why? Because we were born with a condition of fear and selfishness that makes it impossible on our own for us to live in harmony with the law of life. It isn't our fault, we can't fix it, so God provides the remedy.] The only way in which he can attain to righteousness is through faith. By faith he can bring to God the merits of Christ, and the Lord places the obedience of His Son to the sinner's account. [How do we bring the merits or achievements of Christ to God? Where are the merits or achievements of Christ placed? Where does God write His law of life? So, when, by faith, we surrender to Christ we receive the life of Christ in us, our thoughts are brought into harmony with His, we live His life. It is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me. We become partakers of the divine nature. So that when we come to the Father we bring the merits, achievements, character of Christ to the Father because His character is reproduced in us through faith. Thus, our account, our life receives the obedience, the perfection, the victory of Christ in us.] Christ's righteousness is accepted in place of man's failure, and God receives, pardons, justifies, the repentant, believing soul, treats him as though he were righteous, and loves him as He loves His Son. [Christ is first accepted as the second Adam and the species is restored to righteousness in the person of Jesus, and then individuals who have faith or trust receive the righteousness of Christ reproduced within them and God recognizes this change of heart and receives them, pardons, justifies or fixes or puts right all that is wrong in those who respond in faith by repentance.] This is how faith is accounted righteousness; [How, by actually healing the heart of people and restoring them to righteousness.] and the pardoned soul goes on from grace to grace, from light to a greater light. He can say with rejoicing, "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Titus 3:5-7). 1SM 367.1

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

2021 2Q The Promise: Lesson 13
The New Covenant Life

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read the memory text: "I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly" (Jn 10:10 NKJV).

What does this mean?

- Is there life without God?
- Is there death with God?
- John 17:3 eternal life is knowing God, which is an intimate union with Him. He is the source of life, life originates in God and we have life only as we are connected to Him. If life eternal is knowing God then what is eternal death? What is Satan's power?
- What does abundant life mean—is it chronological length of years? Then for those who believe in eternal burning hell, would that mean tortured souls have an abundant life—they would have a lot of it, but would that mean they have the abundant life that Jesus promised?
- How can one experience abundant living?
- Can one have abundant living while violating God's design laws for life?
- Can you have abundant life without freedom—as a POW, as a slave, what about a slave to sin?
- Can you have abundant life without health, what about with a mind that is damaged or with brain disease?

In the middle of the second paragraph the lesson states, "The Lord cares about our lives now; He wants the best for us now."

Do we always receive what is best for us here and now? WARNING this is a trick question—it depends on whom we are focusing the question upon. Do we always receive from God what is best for us—yes. God always does, in governance of God, what is best for us—but God's choices are impacted by our choices. So, sometimes we experience things in life that are not best for us because we chose to do it our way rather than God's way, but God continues to work to bring us back to Him and His design for life, but that path may go through experiences we would not have had to go through had we not deviated from God's plan to begin with. Also, God isn't the only actor impacting our lives. God doesn't choose everything that happens to us—other free-beings are making choices that impact us as well. So not everything that happens to us is directly from God but everything God does for us is for our good.

> "And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose" (Ro 8:28 NIV84).

Consider these two quotes, do you agree?

> God is too wise to err, and too good to withhold any good thing from His saints that walk uprightly. Man is erring, and although his petitions are sent up from an honest heart, he does not always ask for the things that are good for himself, or that will glorify God. When this is so, our wise and good Father hears our prayers, and will answer, sometimes immediately; but He gives us the things that are for our best good and His own glory. God gives us blessings; if we could look into His plan, we would clearly see that He knows what is best for us and that our prayers are answered. Nothing hurtful is given, but the blessing we need, in the place of something we asked for that would not be good for us, but to our hurt. CCh 345.2

> God never leads His children otherwise than they would choose to be led, if they could see the end from the beginning, and discern the glory of the purpose which they are fulfilling as co-workers with Him. Not Enoch, who was translated to heaven, not Elijah, who ascended in a chariot of fire, was greater or more honored than John the Baptist, who perished alone in the dungeon. "Unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on Him, but also to suffer for His sake." Philippians 1:29. And of all the gifts that Heaven can bestow upon men, fellowship with Christ in His sufferings is the most weighty trust and the highest honor. DA 224.5

Do you agree with this?

In the second paragraph, the lesson also states: "The covenant is not some deal where you do this and this and this and then, a long way off, you will get your reward. The rewards, the gifts—they are blessings that those who by faith enter into the covenant relation can enjoy here and now."

What does this mean? What are the blessings we get now if we enter into the agreement, the covenant with God?

- A new heart and right spirit
- A mature character
- Freedom from guilt and shame
- Acceptance with God and peace of heart and mind
- A sound mind
- Self-control
- Love that casts out all fear
- Deepening friendship with and trust in Jesus
- If we practice applying God's methods we develop discernment

Are we promised in the covenant relationship with God that here and now we will:

- have perfect health?
- never suffer pain or persecution?
- never experience injustice?
- have wealth, fame, earthly success?

In other words, the promises of God for a better life now are not what the health/wellness gospel teach—that God brings us earthly wealth, power, fame, and bodily health. Those are not directly relevant to our eternal destiny, and in some cases may actually interfere with God's healing of our hearts and minds.

What God promises us now is a new heart and right spirit, to heal our characters so that:

- the dishonest becomes honest
- the selfish becomes loving
- the disloyal becomes loyal
- the impulsive becomes patient
- the cruel becomes kind
- the vengeful become forgiving
- the hard-hearted become merciful
- the ungodly become godly
- the fearful become courageous
- the wavering become steadfast and reliable

We are not promised new biology until this mortal puts on immortality. While sometimes God does perform miracles of healing the body, say cancer goes into remission—that person still lives in a body subject to aging, decay and death. In other words, God's plan for physical healing doesn't truly happen until the second coming when we received immortal bodies.

We must not let Satan discourage us when we don't experience earthly success. We must continually seek to glorify God in our lives, our characters, how we conduct ourselves. And the places where godliness shines brightest is not when everything is going well, but in the face of trials and tribulation.

And today in the world it is a constant battle—our minds and characters are under assault like never before. Every person is being tested, what kind of character are you developing—one that practices the methods of Jesus, truth, love, freedom or one that will use the power of force to compel compliance.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read 1John 1:4: "And these things we write to you that your joy may be full" (1 Jn 1:4 NKJV).

What is the difference between happiness and joy and from where do they come? How do we experience happiness and joy?

Both happiness and joy are byproducts. This means that you cannot get happiness and joy directly; they are the result of some other action, much like sawdust is a byproduct of woodworking, or pain is the byproduct of injury, or guilt is the byproduct of sin.

Happiness is the byproduct of healthiness in all domains—physical, mental, emotional, relational, and spiritual. When we are physically ill, our happiness is diminished, undermined, impaired; mental or emotional illness—not happy; relationship conflict—not happy; spiritual sickness (guilt, shame, condemnation)—not happy.

Happiness is the byproduct of healthiness in all domains, and healthiness is experienced only when we are in harmony with God's design laws for life—the protocols upon which the Creator God has built reality to operate. When we break the laws of health, sickness, disease, and suffering occur—thus undermining our happiness.

This is why the Bible repeatedly tells us, "Happy are those who keep God's law!" (Proverbs 29:18 GNT).

While we cannot choose to "be happy" or seek to directly obtain happiness, we can make healthy choices to live in harmony with God's design laws for life. And as we choose healthiness, the byproduct is ever increasing happiness.

However, many people fail to understand this and, instead of pursuing healthiness, they substitute pleasure-seeking, something which in the immediate moment will make them feel good. But this all-too often violates the laws of health (e.g., drugs, alcohol, casual sex, gambling, etc.) and causes only greater unhappiness. This often leads to addictions, as people, rather than seeking healthiness, double down on more pleasure-seeking.

While happiness is the byproduct of healthiness, joy is the byproduct of using one's energies in harmony with God's purposes.

God created humankind in His image and purposed that we should love others; should use our abilities to create, develop, advance, and discover; and should invest our physical and mental energies in godly achievement.

Parents, for example, experience joy in procreation. Artists and musicians experience joy in pouring out their passion in beautiful works. Farmers experience joy in a bountiful harvest. Scientists and mathematicians experience joy in new discoveries. And we all experience the greatest joy when we love others—when we give of ourselves for the good of others. This is why abundant life, health, happiness, and joy are found in living like Jesus, "who for the joy set before him endured the cross" (Hebrews 12:2 NIV84).

This is the secret to experiencing happiness and joy:

- Happiness is a byproduct of healthiness, which is experienced only when live in harmony with God's design laws, having them written in our hearts and minds.
- Joy is the byproduct of living out God's purposes in our lives, ultimately loving others as God has loved us.

And as time unfolds every person will be faced with the choice of whether they want God's law written on their heart or the law of sin and death. God is permitting things to unfold before the second coming in such a way that each and every person will face a choice for Jesus—how? Not in the evangelistic since of an altar call or a profession of faith—but in the reality sense of whose law do you choose to apply to your life in how you treat others.

Will you:

- love others—present truth, in love, leave others free, sacrifice yourself, your resources to help others, protect others, shelter others, stand for truth even though the heavens fall OR
- love self first—and will withhold truth, spread falsehood, coerce others, support governments who will violate individual liberties, participate in the promulgation of lies, coercion, force, report people who don't comply to the government, refuse to shelter others, protect others, help others?

In so doing every person chooses either Jesus or Satan, for Jesus said:

> Inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me (Mt 25:40 NKJV).

Every person on Earth will face a choice for or against Jesus in how they treat others, in what methods they employ. And the final deception will be so powerful if it were possible even the elect will be deceived. The final deception will be about protecting others, saving others, we must do this to save lives, those who resist are being selfish:

- A teacher who refuses to call a little boy a girl or a little girl a boy is being selfish and cruel we must fire that teacher
- A young person who doesn't want to get an experimental medicine for a disease that has almost no chance of killing them, while the treatment has a higher chance of harming them is selfish, we must prohibit them from attending college
- A world-renowned immunologist, highly respected and credentialed who speaks out a warning of the dangers of giving experimental agents to people who have already recovered from a certain illness is censored, for spreading dangerous information
- Church members tell their fellow church members it is loving to coerce others into getting an experimental treatment to save lives, they support actions to restrict liberty, freedom of travel, commerce, assembly, speech and worship for those who won't comply

Every person is deciding right now and will continue deciding—are you accepting Jesus and becoming like Jesus or are you being duped, under the lie of loving others, to use the methods of coercion to violate the law of liberty, to compel and force others to comply?

The true follower of Christ presents the truth in love and leaves other free. The true follower of Christ never seeks to silence opposition, instead they destroy lies by wielding the sword of truth, they overcome selfishness by living out God's love.

MONDAY

The lesson points out attention to Romans 8:1

"There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus, who do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit" (Romans 8:1 NKJV).

What does this mean?

Why is there no condemnation? What kind of condemnation? From where does the condemnation come?

Note the text says, "who do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit." So what is described? Is this a legal adjustment or is this explicitly stating there is no condemnation because they have had a change of heart, they live in harmony with God's design law because they now live according to the Spirit?

When a building is condemned, why is it condemned? Because of its dilapidated and corrupt condition. But, if the building is restored to perfection will it still be condemned?

This is what Paul is saying, for those in Christ they are renewed, restored, healed, recreated, perfected by the indwelling Spirit (which means matured so that they love God and trust Him so that they would rather die than betray Him); they are no longer corrupted in heart, mind, character and thus they are not condemned.

And how does this happen? Paul tells us in the next verse:

> "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from the law of sin and death" (Romans 1:2 NKJV).

What are the laws referred to in this passage?

The law of the Spirit of life is the law of love, God's design law, that is written upon our hearts and minds. And the law of sin and death is the law of fear and selfishness, the survival of the fittest drives, kill or be killed. Paul is saying that when we, in trust, surrender to Christ we "die to self" and the law of love, the law upon which God created life to operate is restored in us and this sets us free from fear and selfishness and thus free from the death causing principle. We have life as we receive the life of Christ.

We then will live out God's principles:

- In Christ there is no Jew or Greek, male or female, free or slave, all are united—there is no black or white. If we live out the law of love we see all human beings as God's children and we don't buy into the world's theories of racial divisions.
- We are lovers of truth, we not only share the truth, we have minds that love the truth. But one of Satan's traps is to get people to accept a lie, act on the lie, speak the lie and this lie then becomes more deeply ingrained into their minds, their values, their beliefs, their sense of self and it becomes harder for the truth to set them free.
    - Good hearted doctors who believe a treatment to be good, but in reality the intervention is false, resist the truth that would change their practice:
        - Germ theory was resisted by the medical professionals when Pasteur and Lister presented their evidence
        - The abandonment of bleeding and leaching was resisted
        - Tobacco smoke was prescribed by doctors for lung disease and many promoted it as an invigorating agent—there was resistance to accepting the truth that tobacco is a carcinogen
        - Zyprexa, an antipsychotic was marketed for schizophrenia and bipolar disorder. Eli Lilly presented the risks and side effects fraudulently, purposely downplaying the obesity and diabetes risks from this medicine. Eventually they settled a multi-billion dollar lawsuit for their underhanded practices. But doctors who had believed the lies were complicit not only in prescribing it, but in promoting it, lecturing on it, educating other medical professionals falsely. And the doctors who accepted the lies were resistant to accepting the evidence of Zyprexa's role in causing obesity and DM until the evidence was too overwhelming to resist any longer.
        - Why does this happen? Because once a lie is accepted and acted upon a good-hearted person doesn't want to believe that they were duped, that they didn't know better, that they did something to harm others. And that means many good-hearted doctors will be part of promoting the falsehood until such overwhelming evidence comes to bear that the denial and lies can no longer hold back the evidence. I think the same thing is happening today on a certain health intervention.

The same process happens in religion with pastors and priests—resistance to advancing truth because they don't want to believe what they were teaching all along was false.

Only those who are lovers of truth, who are humble enough to acknowledge they don't know everything and are eager to grow and advance in the truth will be protected from this happening.

The lesson goes on to describe the case of a man who murders a woman and gets caught by going to her grave and asking her for forgiveness, the lesson concludes that it was his guilt that caused him to get caught.

The lesson then states,

> "Of course, though none of us (we hope) has ever done anything as bad as what that young man did, we are all guilty; we have all done things we are ashamed of, things that we wish we could undo but cannot.
> "Thanks to Jesus and the blood of the new covenant, none of us has to live under the stigma of guilt. According to the text for today, there is no condemnation against us. The ultimate Judge counts us as not guilty, counts us as if we have not done the things we feel guilty about."

Here again the lesson confuses issues because they are blinded by the wrong law. It is impossible to understand the truth while holding to lies. And the lesson authors continue to cling to the lie that God's law functions like human law, imposed rules requiring judicial oversight.

It is true we have all done things for which we feel guilt, for which we regret and that we cannot undo. But why did we do those things? Did any of us have a choice not to be a sinner? Could we choose to start life out like Adam and Eve as sinless beings? No, we were all born in sin and conceived in iniquity. Thus, we all sin because it is our nature. Our only choice is to accept healing, salvation or reject it. In accepting Jesus, accepting salvation, then we are reborn with new motives and divine power to live from motives of love rather than motives of selfishness.

So condemnation doesn't come to us because we are sinners, we are condemned when we refuse the Remedy of Jesus Christ!

Thus Oswald Chambers wrote in My Utmost for His Highest:

> Sin is something I am born with and cannot touch— only God touches sin through redemption. It is through the Cross of Christ that God redeemed the entire human race from the possibility of damnation through the heredity of sin. God nowhere holds a person responsible for having the heredity of sin, and does not condemn anyone because of it. Condemnation comes when I realize that Jesus Christ came to deliver me from this heredity of sin, and yet I refuse to let Him do so. From that moment I begin to get the seal of damnation. "This is the condemnation [and the critical moment], that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light . . . " (John 3:19)

Condemnation comes not when we are born into sin, nor when our sin condition results in symptoms, acts of sin, but when we refuse the light, the truth, the remedy that would heal and restore us to righteousness.

This is what Paul meant when he wrote that the wicked "perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved (2Thes 2:10 NIV84).

It is by accepting the truth that lies are dispelled, we are won to trust and choose to open the heart to God and the Holy Spirit enters our hearts and renews us with Christ's motives of love for God and others. This is being reborn and partaking the remedy. From that moment we daily surrender and walk in truth and love battling the temptations of lies, fear and selfishness.

What about the idea that the ultimate Judge counts us not guilty, is that what happens?

No, it isn't what happens at all—this is again a false legal perversion of reality. What happens is that the ultimate Judge judges us healed, restored, renewed, recreated.

Consider King David, what happens when Satan tries to accuse David as a murderer and adulterer?

> Does God say, "Well let me see. Yes, I see here right in the book of 2Samuel that David committed adultery and had Uriah murdered. Oh, my, I thought David was a real friend of mine, now wait now just a minute. Jesus—do you have anything to add before I pass a verdict?" And Jesus steps up and says to the Father, "Well yes Father, you are looking at the wrong book there. That's the Bible you are reading. Here take this book, it is one that I have applied my blood to. Please use it and relook up King David." So the Father opens the new book and finds David, son of Jesse and reads, "David, son of Jesse, born in Bethlehem of Mary, lived a sinless life, died on the cross." And the Father turns to the heavenly court with a big smile and says, "Sorry about the confusion folks, King David has a new record entered into the court and his actual life is erased from the record and in its place he is credited with the life of Jesus and therefore I find no evidence that David is guilty of sin. I declare David not guilty!" Is this what you believe happens?

This is not what happens! If one wanted to use such a courtroom scenario to try and teach the truth, then it would have to go like this. God looks to Satan and says:

> "Satan are you still trying to pawn off your fake imposed law system as the way my kingdom runs? No one here believes your lies any more. Of course we all know the historic deeds of what David did, and those facts of history never change. What changed was David, He trusted me and received a new heart and right spirit and the infection of fear and selfishness was purged. His spirit temple has been cleansed! He is now my friend, free from your lies and purified from your methods of selfishness. Your legal charges have no standing here. I rebuke you again! Next case."

Understand, we are never declared not guilty—we are either healed or not healed, that is the issue.

It is true that because of God's grace, because of living in a trust relationship with Him, that God removes from our hearts and minds the guilt, shame and fear that sin brings. Praise God. But this is not a legal guilt, it is the actual experiential guilt that violating the law of love causes.

Back to SUNDAY

Read the last paragraph, "Yet, notice, too..." What does it mean that Jesus opened the way for us to enter into close fellowship with God?

What is obstructing the way, blocking the way to God? What are the obstacles that prevent us from entering into close relationship with God?

- Lies we believe about God that keep us from trusting Him—thus Jesus is the truth, the Word made flesh and "you will know the truth and the truth will set you free"
- Our own fallen nature, our fears and selfishness, our inherent survival drives that operate antagonistically to God's design of love. Our internal guilt, shame and fear.

So what is needed to remove these barriers so we can enter into relationship with God?

We need the truth about God to dispel the lies and win us back to trust in God and we need to be reborn; we need new hearts and minds; we need the mind of Christ; we need the character of Christ reproduced in us.

Jesus destroyed both the lies of the devil and the infection of fear and selfishness that obstruct our returning to unity or at-one-ment with God!

- Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death (Hebrews 2:14-15 NIV84).
- Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light (2Tim 1:10 NIV84).
- The reason the Son of God appeared was to destroy the devil's work (1John 3:8 NIV84).
    - What has Satan been working to achieve? To destroy the image of God in humankind and put Satan's image where God's should be. Satan works to live, or reside, or be enthroned in the spirit temple, our hearts and minds. This is why the temple must be cleansed before Christ comes. This is why we must have Christ living within.

Christ's destruction of the lies and our fallen nature that obstruct our reconciliation with God is also taught symbolically, acted out in the little theater known as the sanctuary? Where?

What is the only part of the sanctuary that God destroyed when Jesus died? The veil—the veil obstructed or prevented the priests in their white robes, who represent the priesthood of believes, from entering into the full presence of God and being reunited, or at-one with God. At the cross Jesus destroyed the barrier and opened a new a living way through the veil, which represents the lies of Satan and the carnal nature that keep us separated from God.

So through Jesus we can enter again into union with God. He is the new and living way through the lies and through our own fallen sinful natures when we in trust die to self and are reborn with a new heart and right spirit.

In the sanctuary service there were three sections which represented three different divisions of humanity in the plan of salvation:

- The court—which represents the world where the priests and the non-priests interact. This represents the priesthood of believers sharing the gospel and bringing people to conversion, which was symbolically acted out with sacrifices at the brazen altar. The brazen altar was made from impure metal, the mixture of two different metals, represented the divided or impure hearts of the unconverted.
- The holy place—which represents the church, covered in gold which represents the purity of Christ's character; the golden lampstand representing the Word of God, both living Word Jesus and written word the Bible. The showbread which represents Jesus, the golden altar which represents the converted purified hearts of the faithful. In the holy place only the priests and high priest entered, symbolic of the church, the converted. The daily priests in their white robes, representative of their characters being like Jesus, would enter every Sabbath and join with the High Priest, who represented Jesus, to eat the show bread, which represents internalizing the Word of God, both the truth of Jesus but also internalizing the living truth in loving relationship with God.
- The most holy place—represents the universe at-one again with God—a universe free from sin. The ark was covered by a lid made from solid gold. That lid represents Jesus, through whom all things in heaven and earth are united. The shekinah represents the Father and hovered over the lid, it's light shining down touching the lid, the angels represents the heavenly beings touching the lid, and the box below the lid represent saved human beings all united by Jesus.

Thus the church, the priesthood of believers in the holy place are separated from entering heaven by the veil, which was ripped open by Jesus at the cross. It is only through Jesus that the lies about God are destroyed and the carnal nature (fear and selfishness) is destroyed and we receive a new heart and right spirit to enter back into at-one-ment with God. Thus Jesus is the new and living way into unity with God.

Consider this quote:

> Christ said, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." Satan has planted himself between God and man, and seeks to intercept every ray of light that God would have come to man. [The veil, with angels sewn on it seeks to intercept the light coming from the Shekinah glory of God in the MH place.] He casts his awful shadow across the earth, and envelops the human race in spiritual darkness. [The holy place, the church, would be in darkness except for the Lampstand, which represents Jesus, who is the light that lightens the world. And the door from the holy place to the courtyard was always kept open thus the light from Jesus shines out of the church to lighten the world. Without the light from Jesus, darkness covers the people, gross darkness the people. And we see in the world today what is happening as the belief in God is being replaced with godless evolutionism—terrible darkness is enshrouding the minds of people] But through Jesus Christ, the Father is pleased to reveal his character to his chosen people. O, then walk in the light, appreciate the light, and step by step advance from light to a greater light. RH Feb 13, 1894

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "As earlier…" Is salvation possible without receiving a new heart? Is salvation something other than this? No, this is salvation, it is healing, transformation, regeneration, recreation. Any theory of salvation that teaches we are saved by a legal adjustment is a lie.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson talks about death and the promise of eternal life.

It says, "Of course, we all die, but according to Jesus, this death is only a sleep, a temporary hiatus that—for those who believe in Him—will end in the resurrection of life."

One of the great areas of confusion throughout Christianity is the question of life and death. This is confused because there are two deaths described in Scripture, one that is the result of unremedied sin and one that is an artificial state of grace permitted by God, and most people confuse the two or conflate the two.

So let's define the terms:

First death refers to the cessation of biological activity of the body, but in which the individuality of the person is not destroyed. It is referred to in Scripture as a state of sleep. This is the death from which there is a resurrection. This is similar to a computer running out of power, it goes into a state of sleep, but the data is not destroyed. And thus, when power is restored to the computer it lives again. Or, if you have your data backed up on a cloud and someone destroys your machine, you can get new hardware, upgraded even, and download your data from the cloud and you have just resurrected your computer.

Second death is the death from which there is no resurrection. It is the death in which both the body and the individuality, the soul, (psyche), software are destroyed.

Both the righteous and the wicked die the first death, the sleep death. Only the unhealed wicked die the second death.

When God said to Adam in the day you eat you will surely die, what death was referred to?

What death did Jesus die? Did Jesus merely sleep in the grave like all of us? No! He did not die the first death. Did Jesus die the death that destroys the individuality and from which there is no resurrection? No!

According to Scripture Christ, by His death, "Destroyed him who holds the power of death that is the devil" (Heb 2:14) and destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light (2Tim 1:10).

There is a difference between dying the second death and destroying the second death.

When we understand what causes death—sin, which is violation of God's design law of life, we understand why the wicked die in the end, because they persist in being severed from God and His design protocols for life. We also understand that at the Cross Jesus destroyed the death causing infection of fear and selfishness and restored God's law of love back into humanity, by the exercise of His own human abilities to love and trust perfectly. Thus, He arose on the third day as the natural, normal, inevitable result of eliminating the cause of death and restoring the basis of life. Thus His death was the means of destroying death, it was not suffering the second death.

What Christ experienced at the Cross and what the wicked experience in the end are quite different:

- Christ died trusting the Father – Luke 23:46
  The wicked die distrusting the Father – Revelation 6:16
- Christ died longing to see the Father – Mark 15:34
  The wicked die hiding from the Father – Revelation 6:16
- Christ died when the Father's presence was hidden – Mark 15:34
  The wicked die when the Father is fully revealed – 2 Thes 2:8
- Christ died less than 72 hours – Luke 24:1-8
  The wicked die eternally – Malachi 4:1-3, Romans 6:23, James 1:15, 2Pet 3:10-12
- Christ died when love overcame selfishness – John 3:16, 10:17,18, 1John 3:16
  The wicked die overcome by selfishness – Revelation 21:8

Further, the Bible says that

- Then death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. The lake of fire is the second death (Rev 20:14 NIV84)
  - Hades here means the grave—how can one kill death? By life, and what then is this lake of fire? It is the earth when God's life giving glory flows over it again, where God's presence is the light. And the righteous live in this glory forever, but death, and all deviations from God's design are eradicated by life, truth, love.

Where there is similarity between Christ's death on the cross and the death of the wicked in the end, is in God's actions. God's actions toward Christ and the wicked in the end are the same. God surrendered Jesus to experience what Jesus chose, which was to go through the Cross and be our Savior. God granted Jesus His freewill choice and separated from His Son, so that Jesus could complete His mission of defeating Satan and defeating death. And God also, in the end, will grant all the wicked their freewill choice to be eternally separated from Him and they pass into the second death and eternal non-existence.

THURSDAY

The lesson speaks of Covenant Mission and how without purpose life becomes meaningless. We absolutely agree with this. This is why so many of us have joined together in forming Come and Reason Ministries and why so many have joined with us in sharing this beautiful end-time message with the world.

We are so thankful for all of you who join us each week to study, who watch us online, who share our resources, who teach this message to others. Haven't you found that your life has more joy as you participate in sharing God's end-time message with others?

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: In February Come and Reason Ministries board met and prayerfully considered our vision, how to reach more people with this life changing message. We decided that our ability to do more is limited by our lack of space and facilities and we have decided to begin looking for a permanent facility for our Ministry—whether renovating a property or building on. The goal will be to build a professional recording studio with auditorium for our weekly class and other events, where we can begin producing more materials—possibly more live programming and live call in or interactive programming.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 1
Living in a 24-7 Society

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

During Q&A last week a question came in that I deferred until class this week as we are starting a new quarter with a study guide entitled Rest in Christ and the first week's lesson is focused on Sabbath rest.

The question from last week is:

> I clearly understand how 9 of the 10 commandments are a diagnostic tool. But how is it that if I am a healthy Christian I will remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy? How is this done without being legalistic? I am still having a hard time wrapping my mind around Sabbath being a day of freedom vs a day of rule keeping. Thanks!

How would you answer this question?

What law lens do we look this through?

If we look through imposed law, then the Sabbath is s test of obedience a rule to keep and if you don't you get punished. Taught in this way, it undermines both love and trust and incites rebellion. Just look at the millions who have rebelled because of such teachings.

But what do we understand about the Sabbath through design law?

The Sabbath was designed, built, created by God differently than the other six days of the week. God Himself acted differently and created or designed this day with different purpose—what is the difference about the Sabbath as God created it from the other six days?

The first six days of the week are days where God created, God worked, God expended power and energy—but the seventh day God Himself stopped working, stop creating—God rested—why? What does that reveal? Why would God create a day in which He stopped working and rested?

Because at that time in universal history Satan's rebellion was under way. Questions about God's goodness, God's trustworthiness, God's use of power, God's law needed answers. Satan alleged God was arbitrary, that God made up rules and used His power to punish rule-breakers, basically that God runs His universe the way we see sinful humans run human governments today. What does the Sabbath have to do with such allegations?

If God were to run His universe on threat, on inflicted punishment, on intimidation, on domination, on power over others, would there be a weekly Sabbath day in which God rested? No! God created planet earth demonstrating His power to create. He created a new species and shared with them pro-creative power, godlike abilities, and dominion to rule and govern. Earth was a mini-heaven where Adam and Eve, two separate beings united as one in love could create beings in their image and govern—all operating on love. And then God rested—God said, "You have heard the allegations, you have seen the evidence, now universe, take 24 hours aside, consider for yourself, come to your own conclusions, no pressure, no intimidation, I rest my case."

Would the Sabbath exist if God is like Satan says? Are we in the middle of this same war? Do we need evidence to demonstrate and reveal the truth about God to free us from Satan's lies? Is the Sabbath a weekly evidence, its very existence that God is our Creator and that His laws are design law, that in Him we are free and He does not intimidate, or inflict punishment?

So the Sabbath's primary purpose is revelation and evidence of God's character, methods and law of love—truth presented in love while leaving us free. All true Sabbath observers will practice these methods.

But the commandment says we are to remember the Sabbath to keep it holy—what does this mean?

In this world of sin, as we choose to come apart from the world's business, work, responsibilities and rest in the Lord our trust in Him grows—but the Sabbath is more than that time to exercise this—we can have confidence in our rest because of what the Sabbath reveals about God—it is this intelligent understanding of the Sabbath that magnifies our growth in godliness

But if the Sabbath is not a delight, if instead we are level four and below and keep the Sabbath because we are:

1. seeking to get a reward or avoid punishment
2. doing our part of the deal with God so we can get a blessing
3. accepted by our church group—part of the remnant
4. avoiding legal trouble, ensuring we do the right stuff at the right time

Then we are not actually benefitting from the Sabbath because it becomes a day in which self is still center, in which we do good, we obey, we avoid legal trouble; but if keep the Sabbath for these reasons and then don't receive what we expect from God, say a blessing, a better job, then we are angry at God feel let down, become disillusioned and perhaps give up on God.

When we understand Design Law we understand the blessings of the Sabbath are primarily spiritual, experiencing the principles of God in our hearts, minds and characters and we love our Creator God who presents truth in love and leave us free.

So, why do we keep the Sabbath, for self, to get something, to avoid legal trouble, or to glorify God by incorporating His principles of truth, love and freedom into our character and celebrating with Him the freedom from guilt, shame, and sin each week, and then remembering all week long what the Sabbath represents, what it reveals? We do this because it makes sense, because we are persons of integrity, because we love who God is and want to be like Him!

Regarding the Sabbath I have considered there are truths on different levels or layers, from basic truths to more complex truths.

- First truth what day is the Sabbath?
- Second truth what does the Sabbath reveal?
    - God's character and methods of love, God as Creator, His laws as design laws
    - Is the Sabbath the only place these truths about God are revealed?
        - No but the Sabbath is the sign God chose to reveal these truths, and thus stands as God's emblem, sign, flag, mark of His kingdom and government, His methods and principles
    - Can a person learn these truths about God without understanding the Sabbath?
        - Yes, Romans 1:20 God's divine nature is revealed in what He has made so that men are without excuse. This would of course include the Sabbath for the Sabbath was made—and made for man, for us to not only rest, but for us to see and understand its purpose, which brings us to the third truth.
- Third truth what is the purpose of the Sabbath?
    - a gift to us from God for our sanctification—for our cleansing from sin, for our restoration to holiness:
        - "I gave them my decrees and made known to them my laws, for the man who obeys them will live by them. Also I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the LORD made them holy" (Eze 20:11–12 NIV84).
    - to reveal truth and give people the time/place to choose with whom they will align, whose law they will embrace in practice, thus what character they develop
    - can a person learn the truth of God's character, design laws, methods and choose to apply them to their lives and rest each week from their work to honor God, but not have the first truth and thus do so on Sunday?
        - Yes, knowing about the Sabbath in its true light becomes a blessing, but salvation isn't knowing about the Sabbath, salvation is knowing Jesus and trusting Him such that we open the heart and have the Holy Spirit sanctify us such that we practice God's principles of truth, love and freedom, even if we don't know about the Sabbath.
- Fourth truth what is the impact on people to rest on the Sabbath?
    - The Sabbath is a gift from God to assist us in our sanctification a time to choose who we will trust, to choose love for God over advancing self. Thus the Sabbath rest is a time for character transformation as we exercise our choice in who we love, who we trust with our lives, our fortunes, our careers.
    - Does this happen only one day a week?
    - This is why we remember the Sabbath in the setting of the Great Controversy all week long.
        - Consider this quote:

- All through the week we are to have the Sabbath in mind and be making preparation to keep it according to the commandment. We are not merely to observe the Sabbath as a legal matter. We are to understand its spiritual bearing upon all the transactions of life. All who regard the Sabbath as a sign between them and God, showing that He is the God who sanctifies them, will represent the principles of His government. They will bring into daily practice the laws of His kingdom. Daily it will be their prayer that the sanctification of the Sabbath may rest upon them. Every day they will have the companionship of Christ, and will exemplify the perfection of His character. Every day their light will shine forth to others in good works. 3TT 20.3

- Thus the Sabbath is a gift to us to give us the opportunity to solidify our characters in love and trust to God and to practice God's methods of truth, love and freedom.
  - But when the Sabbath is perverted through the imposed law lie it becomes a tool of the enemy to harden hearts so much that people actually kill the Creator and run home to observe the Sabbath.
- How do people choose for or against the Sabbath?
  - If a person doesn't appreciate the significance of the first truth—the specific day of the week, but they appreciate the second and third truth and choose God, and trust Him and practice His methods of truth, love and liberty and rest in trust of God on Sunday are they a Sabbath keeper?
  - If a person has the first truth, the right day of the week, but doesn't appreciate God's law as design law and therefore teaches the Sabbath as an arbitrary test of obedience and they don't appreciate the third truth and thus choose to obey out of fear of punishment and support punishing others who disobey—are they Sabbath keepers? Were the Jews who crucified Christ Sabbath keepers?

Love only grows in an atmosphere of liberty—if the Sabbath is a day in which liberty is restricted, in which we are bound by rules, in which we live in fear of deeds—of doing the wrong thing lest we get into legal trouble, then the Sabbath obstructs love and incites fear. This is always what happens when people believe the lie that God's law functions like human law.

The real purpose of the Sabbath is evidence of God's law and methods. This is why the Sabbath is a sign, a flag, a mark, a pennant of God's government. It stands as a sign of the Creator whose laws are design laws, truth, presented in love, leaving people free, no coercion, no inflicted punishment. This is what the Sabbath reveals and represents. We remember it all week long and practice those methods in our lives. And then on Sabbath we choose to disengage from self-advancement pursuits, to surrender our plans or work our agenda into God's hands to trust Him with our lives, to come apart and rest in God.

We weekly choose:

- to put God before ourselves
- to put God before our plans
- to put God before our work, school or whatever else we value.

By making this choice to surrender in trust to God, to rest in Him our faith grows, are characters are transformed and we are renewed in righteousness. All week long we remember God's methods and principles and we look forward to our weekly vacation from the burdens of life and the time we will have resting in our Creator again the next Sabbath.

But if the Sabbath is an arbitrary test, if it is legal, if it is about do's and don'ts then all week we don't look forward to it, it isn't a day of rest and freedom but a day where we are restricted, can't do this, can't do that for fear of a mark on our legal account in heaven that if we don't get the blood of Jesus to erase we will be punished for, punished with eternal death. Thus in the legal system the Sabbath doesn't refresh it stresses.

But let's consider a quote from one of the founders of the SDA church, how do you hear it?

> Every person has been placed on trial, as were Adam and Eve in Eden. [When you hear trial, to you hear a legal event, a court room, or do you hear something like the Olympic trials where people are put to the test? What test are they put to in the Olympic trials? Is it a legal test?] As the tree of knowledge was placed in the midst of the Garden of Eden, so the Sabbath command is placed in the midst of the Decalogue. In regard to the fruit of the tree of knowledge, the restriction was made, Ye shall not eat of it ... lest ye die. Of the Sabbath, God said, Ye shall not defile it, but keep it holy.... As the tree of knowledge was the test of Adam's obedience, so the fourth command is the test that God has given to prove the loyalty of all His people. The experience of Adam is to be a warning to us so long as time shall last. It warns us not to receive any assurance from the mouths of mortals or of angels that will detract one jot or tittle from the sacred law of Jehovah.—The Review and Herald, August 30, 1898. CTr 355.5

What kind of a test is this? Is this a legal test? A test of rule-keeping? Or is this a test of character, a test of who one chooses to be and become?

Take a moment to consider through design law (how reality functions) God's actual purpose in placing the Tree of Knowledge in the garden. What did He want for and from Adam and Eve? How was this tree necessary for them to fulfill and achieve what God desired for them?

What meaning do you take from the name of this tree – the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil?

Do you see it as the tree of data-download, fact assimilation or of knowing reality? Do you understand it as the place where Adam and Eve would decide what they would know?

What does it mean to know something or someone?

Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent (John 17:3 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Is knowing God and Jesus merely cognitive – to know facts, information, data? No. In the Bible, to know means to have an intimate experiential knowledge of something or someone. Think of the difference between knowing about someone from reading a biography and actually knowing them as a friend or family member. Or the difference between knowing about swimming because you have seen it in the Olympics and knowing how to swim.

The Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil wasn't a place of theoretical knowledge, cognitive knowledge, or academic knowledge. God and the angels had already informed Adam and Eve about Satan, about evil, and about death being the result of sin. The two had been instructed.

Adam and Eve had information, factual knowledge. But having mere facts is not what the Tree was about – it was about experience, knowing by experience, by choice, either good or evil. Choose to trust and believe God and know good – or choose to believe lies, distrust God, and know evil.

God told them, "It is at this tree you will have knowledge, so choose well; choose not to partake of the fruit and you will know good – you will know love, trust, loyalty, devotion, maturity, integrity, joy, peace, and godliness. All of this will solidify in your character. So please, my beautiful children, choose to know good! But if you choose to partake in the fruit, you will know evil – you will know fear, selfishness, insecurity, guilt, shame, distrust, pain, suffering, and death. Please, my beautiful children, don't choose to know evil."

So the same author who wrote the quote about the Sabbath being a test similar to the Tree of Knowledge, wrote the following:

> Our first parents, though created innocent and holy, were not placed beyond the possibility of wrongdoing. . . . They were to enjoy communion with God and with holy angels; but before they could be rendered eternally secure, their loyalty must be tested. At the very beginning of man's existence a check was placed upon the desire for self-indulgence, the fatal passion that lay at the foundation of Satan's fall. [Will they choose love and trust or will they choose selfishness. This is the question. God can create sinless beings, but God cannot create the character of the sinless being. The character, the kind of person, loyal, loving, faithful, true, or deceitful, selfish exploitive, is developed by the being. The Tree was placed there for them to choose what they would know in heart, mind and character, a check, a place to say NO to selfishness and YES to love and loyalty] The tree of knowledge, which stood near the tree of life in the midst of the garden, was to be a test of the obedience, faith, and love of our first parents. While permitted to eat freely of every other tree, they were forbidden to taste of this, on pain of death.[Why? What happens when one chooses selfishness? Where does life come from? If one severs their connection to God, the source of life what happens?] They were also to be exposed to the temptations of Satan; but if they endured the trial, they would finally be placed beyond his power, to enjoy perpetual favor with God. . . . {CC 13.2}
> God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automation. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character. . . . It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, > and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. {CC 13.3} [What was the purpose of the Tree? It was to let them decide what kind of being they would be—for them to test themselves, choose love and trust or choose lies, fear, selfishness and distrust. Is this an arbitrary test with inflicted punishment, or is it the test of reality, of design law, of what they must as sentient beings go through in order to become, by action, by choice, by their individual determination, solidified in love and godliness?]

So what about the Sabbath? It is the same, it is evidence of God's methods and principles and we must choose what kind of people we will be, what methods we will practice. The Sabbath represents the government of God, the government of design law and those who choose to honor God will practice His methods in their lives and remember the Sabbath and what it represents all week long.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us why God created the Sabbath a rest day before anyone was even tired?

Read first two paragraphs, "Even before…" What was the purpose of the Sabbath in a sinless world? Well, while the Sabbath was created before Adam and Eve sinned, was the Sabbath created before or after sin in the universe? After, so does the Sabbath have some utility in dealing with sin in the universe? Is it a special gift or blessing to human beings in a universe where sin exists?

What is Satan's allegation against God? That God is arbitrary, makes up rules, that God's law is imposed and God must punish. How does God reveal that His law is design law?

God created a new world, and the entire planet was a microcosm of the universe. All the various forms of life on the planet living only by giving to others. Receiving energy from the sun, radiating out freely to all, giving life to the plants which give oxygen to the animals which give carbon dioxide back.

Then God created Adam and Eve, human beings in His image with dominion, to govern in love, and procreative abilities to make beings in their image.

Then God said to the universe, "You heard the allegations, you have seen the evidence given, I rest my case. Take 24 hours aside and consider for yourselves and choose—no pressure, no coercion."

What does it say about God, that in a war over His right to rule, instead of using power to force everyone into compliance, He created a day for freedom to think and choose?

Recently a well-known SDA scholar, endorsed by one of the SDA conferences, made a video about the question of Sunday as a day of worship being an issue before Christ returns. He made the case that what Ellen White wrote in the Great Controversy and other places about Sunday being a test, or being the mark of the beast, or Sabbath being a test, is likely not to happen. He made the case that this was a conditional prophecy for her day and that she is a classic prophet not an apocalyptic prophet.

A classic prophet is like Micah, one who is inspired with a message for the people of their day, with predictions that would only occur if the people responded properly, but if not they would not occur. In other words, conditional prophecies.

Apocalyptic prophets are like Daniel and John who wrote about future events for the world or all people. This SDA theologian made the case that the predictions about Sunday as a mark of the beast are not going to happen because they were conditional and the followers of Christ in the 19th century failed to fulfill their part to bring about the final events.

As I listened to this person I understood his position, but he had one major flaw in his understanding—he understands God's law as imposed and thus doesn't understand that the two days are symbols of two systems, two laws, two governments: God's law is design law and is represented by the Sabbath which was built, created, designed as a day of rest. Satan's government is imperial, made up rules that require external infliction of punishment and is represented by Sunday which became a day of rest by legislation.

The historic two days of worship within Christianity—Sabbath and Sunday—stand as two banners, signs, flags, marks, pennants that represent two divergent systems of governing. Just as the US Flag—the grand old Stars and Stripes—is a symbol or sign of the United States of America, so these two days of worship are signs of two different systems of governing. However, the flag is not the reality for which it stands. The US flag is only a symbol of the USA. And a person can wave the flag of America while being an enemy of the US.

And notice how the enemies of freedom have attacked the US flag. The US flag has always been a symbol of the principles of the USA—freedom and justice for all. Yet, the enemies of liberty, the enemies of truth, the enemies of justice have gone on a propaganda campaign to make the flag into a symbol of oppression, of intolerance, of exploitation and what has happened in American since the symbol has been attacked? The principles of equality, of liberty, of genuine justice have been undermined in America and we have seen terrible injustice, mobs, violence, restrictions of liberties of all kinds, censuring, inciting of fear, restrictions on free speech, religion, and assembly.

Likewise, Satan attacks the Sabbath, the sign of God's creatorship and the design laws of truth, love, liberty. He attacks it by either reframing it as an arbitrary test of obedience or replacing it with a day legislated and in both cases God's design law is replaced with imposed law in the minds of people and trust in God is undermined and hearts are hardened.

Understanding all of this, we can see that Sabbath is a sign of something larger than a day to go to church upon—it is an evidence of a system of governing to which we adhere and live in harmony with God and His government all week long, not just one day in seven.

Salvation in Christ is about restoring sinners to holiness; it is not about restoring the Sabbath to holiness. And rightly understood, the Sabbath is a "sign" that God makes us holy: "You must observe my Sabbaths. This will be a sign between me and you for the generations to come, so you may know that I am the Lord, who makes you holy." (Ex 31:13).

We can't be holy only one day in seven, so the Sabbath is a sign of a way of living, a loyalty, an embracing of and transformation back into God's design, to which we live all week long. Further, every seven days, the Sabbath affords an opportunity for us to exercise our trust in God and rest in Him, thus choosing to identify with His kingdom of love.

So Sabbath will always be a sign of God's government—design law, the principles of truth, love and freedom. And Sunday will always be a mark of imperialism, imposed law with imposed punishments. And these two systems will be the test in the end. Those who are sealed of God, of which the Sabbath is a sign, will have the law of God, truth, love, liberty sealed into their characters such that they live out these principles—these are Sabbath keepers—regardless of which day they go to church upon. And those who receive the mark of the beast, will embrace the system of imposed laws, use government and imperial power to coerce and force others regardless of which day they go to church upon.

The lesson talks about the benefits of rest, about how so many people are sleep deprived and in need of physical rest.

Let's talk about this. It is the law of restoration. Once a finite being expends a resource, we must rest and recover in order to have more to spend.

The lesson points out that people are sleep deprived and this is true.

Over 49 million Americans report sleep difficulties impair concentration, more than 18 million report memory problems related to sleep loss and over 40 million Americans report impairments in daily functioning such has work, hobbies, finances or driving. [i]

People with chronic sleep problems suffer higher rates of diabetes mellitus, obesity, hypertension, depression, cancer and die younger than those who get normal sleep. [ii]

A CDC's analysis found that 34% of people sleep less than 7 hours per night, 48% report snoring, 37.9% report unintentionally falling asleep during the day, and 4.7% report falling asleep while driving. [iii]

The US Department of Transportation estimates there are 100,000 accidents, 1,550 fatalities and over 40,000 injuries each year due to drivers impaired by sleepiness. [iv]

Sleep is critical to our health. Are brains are very active and use much energy.
The brain weighs about three pounds, which is 1-2% of the body weight, but uses 20% of the body's energy. This high metabolic activity means it is producing a lot of by-products of metabolism, which need to be removed from the brain cells. The waste removal occurs during sleep. When we are asleep our brain cells contract expelling the byproducts of metabolism from the fluid (cytoplasm) inside the neurons out into the cerebrospinal fluid to be removed from the brain. [v] If we don't get normal amounts of sleep we interfere with the brain's ability to remove these metabolites. Over time this can contribute to increased oxidative stress and neuronal loss, accelerating the aging process.

This is why infants, toddlers, children and adolescents need more sleep than adults—their brains are assimilating more data and structurally going through much more modification and change and thus they have more byproducts of metabolism to clear and data to assimilate.

According to the National Sleep Foundation, recommendations for sleep by age are [vi]:

- Newborns (0-3 months): 14-17 hours
- Infants (4-11 months): 12-15 hours
- Toddlers (1-2 years): 11-14 hours
- Preschoolers (3-5 years): 10-13 hours
- School-age (6-13 years): 9-11 hours
- Teenagers (14-17 years): 8-10 hours
- Young adults (18-25 years): 7-9 hours
- Adults (> 25 years): 7-8 hours

Memories consolidate in sleep. In two studies college students were randomized into two groups and given made up words to memorize and recall those words immediately after exposure and then twelve hours later. One group was kept awake and the other group got to sleep. Those who slept during the intervening twelve hours not only were able to recall more words than those who didn't sleep, but they were able to recall more words than they did immediately after learning them twelve hours previously. [vii]

But it is not merely the number of hours slept during each twenty-four hour day that is important. Studies also show that the when one sleeps is critical to optimum health. Sleeping at night, in harmony with nature's biorhythms—awake when the sun in up and sleeping when the sun is down—is much healthier than working during the night and sleeping during the day. In fact, according to research by Eva S. Schernhammer, M.D., published in the American Journal of Preventative Medicine in January 2015, those who work third shift for five years or more die younger and having significantly higher rates of heart disease than those who do not work third shift; and those who work third shift for fifteen years or more die at higher rates from lung cancer than those who work day shift. [viii] Not only is sleep a physical requirement for life and health, but when one sleeps is critical to maintaining ones optimum health and slowing the aging process.

What Is Normal Sleep? Many people think normal sleep is going to bed, sleeping 7-8 straight hours and then waking up. No human brain sleeps this way. Normal sleep goes in stages with multiple awakenings each night.

So it is true that we need physical rest, it is true that people need sleep and many are sleep deprived. But the Sabbath was not given for this reason.

Our physical rest comes each night with sleep. But the Sabbath rest is not for physical rest, it is for mental rest, for decompression from life's stresses, to come apart and unwind, relax and refresh the mind, the heart, the soul in a love relationship with God.

Have you heard of the Blue Zones? Dan Buettner's book? He researched the five areas in the world which have the highest concentration of people living to be over 100, and these are the five zones:

- Blue Zones
  - Ikaria, Greece
  - Nicoya, Costa Rica
  - Okinawa, Japan
  - Sardina, Italy
  - Loma Linda, CA
- What unique about Loma Linda
  - Hetergeneous

And Loma Linda has a high concentration of SDA's. Buettner sought out lifestyle activities that he concluded led to longer and healthier lives and this is what is said on the Blue Zones website about Loma Linda:

> "Find a sanctuary in time to decompress. …Observance of the Sabbath strictly occurs from Friday to Saturday night, giving Adventists a weekly time to focus on family, friends, God and nature." http://www.bluezones.com/live-longer/education/expeditions/loma-linda-california/

So the Sabbath is beneficial, but not for physical rest, for mental rest, to destress, to experience relaxation of the mind and soul, which decreases the stress cascade, reducing inflammatory processes in the body.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, "The Hebrew Old Testament…" Do you experience Sabbath as a holiday? I think this is a great way to think about it—a weekly vacation, a day off from all the burdens of life, not just employment, but from laundry, housekeeping, schoolwork.

I have many good Christians as patients who work all week, go to church on Sunday and then Sunday afternoon is filled with housekeeping, laundry, yardwork and they never actually rest. And they are exhausted, burning out, tired.

Taking 24 hours vacation each week is restorative and doing so in a love relationship with our Creator builds our trust in Him. If we understand the evidence of the Sabbath, why it exists, the methods and government of God and choose to honor God by resting on His Sabbath for all these reasons we grow in our wisdom and our characters become more like Christ as we practice God's methods in our lives.

The lesson asks us to read Deuteronomy 31:16 and asks, "What kind of rest is being talked about here?"

> And the LORD said to Moses: "You are going to rest with your fathers, and these people will soon prostitute themselves to the foreign gods of the land they are entering. They will forsake me and break the covenant I made with them. (Dt 31:16 NIV84).

What kind of rest? Do you understand the first death experience as a rest? As a cessation from work, as a pause, as a relief, as a mercy, as an artificial state of suspended animation while the plan of salvation is completed?

What is Paul talking about here?

> For I am already being poured out like a drink offering, and the time has come for my departure. I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Now there is in store for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award to me on that day—and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing. (2 Timothy 4:6–8 NIV84).

What happens when a person running a race crosses the finish line? Do they keep running or do they rest?

Is Paul talking about going to heaven right then, or about resting in the grave until the day when the Lord appears and resurrects him?

Do we see this as God's grace at work?

Then do we understand all the deaths of all the people throughout all history thus far are sleep, are this suspended state, are under God's grace in an artificial state waiting for resurrection.

This is critical to understanding history and Scripture. The wages of sin is not sleep, not suspended animation awaiting resurrection. The wages of sin is death, eternal nonexistence. No human being has yet experienced this. All who have died are in a state of suspended animation awaiting resurrection to receive their reward, either eternal life, or eternal death, depending on what they have chosen.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson points us to Hebrews four, lets read the first 5 verses:

> Therefore, since the promise of entering his rest still stands, let us be careful that none of you be found to have fallen short of it. For we also have had the gospel preached to us, just as they did; but the message they heard was of no value to them, because those who heard did not combine it with faith. Now we who have believed enter that rest, just as God has said,

> "So I declared on oath in my anger,
> 'They shall never enter my rest.' "
>
> And yet his work has been finished since the creation of the world. For somewhere he has spoken about the seventh day in these words: "And on the seventh day God rested from all his work." And again in the passage above he says, "They shall never enter my rest."
>
> It still remains that some will enter that rest, and those who formerly had the gospel preached to them did not go in, because of their disobedience. Therefore God again set a certain day, calling it Today, when a long time later he spoke through David, as was said before:
> "Today, if you hear his voice, > do not harden your hearts."(Heb 4:1–7 NIV84).

What does this mean? How do you explain it? What law lens do we understand it through?

Here is the Remedy version:

> 1 Therefore, since the Remedy is still available, and the promise of complete healing and perfect rest still stands, let us be careful that none of us be found to have rejected it.2 For we also have had the good news of God's healing truth presented to us just as they did; but the message of truth had no value to them because they did not believe it nor did they trust the one who gave it.3 But we, who have trusted God on the basis of the truth Christ provided, experience healing and enter that rest, and our minds are at peace. As God has said, "So I granted them their persistent choice and said, 'Since they refuse the truth–the Remedy I freely offer–they will never be able to enter my rest and get well.'" It was not because God's perfect rest was not available–for it had been ready since his work of creation was complete — 4 as the Scriptures say elsewhere regarding the seventh day: "And on the seventh day, God rested his case. He had finished all his work of providing the evidence needed to refute the lies of Satan."5 And yet in another passage he says, "If they refuse the truth, if they reject the evidence I have provided, their minds will never find rest and they will not get well."
> 6 The opportunity to find God's healing and rest still remains, even though those who formerly had the good news of God's healing truth presented to them did not get well or find rest because they refused to believe the truth and trust God.7 Therefore God again and again presents his healing Remedy, and he set a certain day which he called "today," when much later he spoke through David in the same Scripture as before: "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds."

THURSDAY

The lesson points to Cain and how he would be a restless wanderer and asks why Cain would never find rest?

Read second paragraph, "When God said…" This is well said.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

New Music in Member's Section

Brad & Donna Horne, online members in Australia, created an album that they have graciously donated to our ministry to share with those who love this message.

Brad wrote:

> I had always wanted to create an album that would tell the bible story that could be used to target believers as well as non believers. I had attempted a few false starts and the idea didn't really go anywhere apart from a few sketchy iPhone recordings.
>
> I then read Journal of the Watcher and loved the story and was blown away by the illustrations, this book gave me the context and frame work to get my album idea up and running, and with the covid19 fiasco, the impetus to hurry up and get this idea done.
>
> So my wife and I wrote the songs and started recording the album which took approximately 12 months.
>
> When I read The God-Shaped Brain, I came across the word Hilasterion, and remember thinking that would make a great album name—that was years ago, funnily reading that word from Tim's book became our album name. Jesus is our Hilasterion who brings reconciliation and makes peace.
>
> So long story short this album had a lot of it inspiration/influence via Come and Reason Ministries. The album tells the story of the war in heaven and finishes with Parousia , the king is coming, divided in 3 section themes 1. Old Testament, 2. Jesus' ministry, 3. Contemporary influence.

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 2
Restless and Rebellious

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read Memory Verse: "These things happened to them as examples and were written down as warnings for us, on whom the fulfillment of the ages has come" (1Co 10:11 NIV84).

As we have said before, Scripture not only records real historic people doing real historic events, but the selection of those people and events serve a larger purpose: to reveal the plan of salvation being played out, God's principles versus Satan's principles and often times serves as object lessons to the Great Controversy.

The lesson title—Restless and Rebellious, does this title fit society today?

Are there lessons from God's Word that instruct us, that are examples to us, that warn us as to why restlessness and rebelliousness come and how to protect ourselves?

What is a synonym for restlessness?

- agitated
- anxious
- disturbed
- nervous
- troubled
- uneasy
- fretful
- unpeaceful

What causes such a state? What takes away our peace, incites anxiety, nervousness, fear, worry, agitation? Perfect love casts out all fear—as soon as Adam and Eve sinned they ran and hid because they were afraid. So

- Anything that takes us away from God, out of harmony with Him and His Being design laws for life will cause restlessness and rebellion
- Anything that reconciles us to God restores His love into our hearts removes restlessness and rebellion

Do we have examples in the Bible of how Satan works to injure us, to incite restlessness and rebellion?

Turn to SUNDAY and the lesson points us to Israel being restless in the wilderness.

They are complaining about their food, longing for the fleshpots of Egypt. God is providing manna, but they want the food of Egypt—what is the lesson?

- What is manna symbolic of? It is symbolic of Jesus, the bread of heaven
- What are the fleshpots of Egypt symbolic of? All the things of this world that people try to fill their hearts with, to nurture their souls with—wealth, power, excitement, worldly entertainment, pleasures of the senses, toxic relationships—anything but Jesus and God's methods.

So, what caused ancient Israel's restlessness? Hearts that preferred the world over Jesus. Is there a lesson for us today?

And with this restless spirit, not finding themselves satisfied with the things of God, remaining hungry for the things of the world, what happened?

God sent quail—not for one meal, but for an entire month, they had to eat it every meal for a month, until they got sick of it. Why? What is the lesson?

When we insist on rebelling against God, insist on doing things our own way, after God's warnings, what does God do? He lets us have what we prefer and reap what we have sown—why?

Do we see this in society today? God wants us to learn, preferably from studying His Word and applying the truths of Scripture, but if we reject God and refuse His Word and won't learn directly from Him and His instructions, then He sets us free to learn from reality, from what happens when we reject His plan, methods, and design.

So today, do we see that the church is wandering in the wilderness and filling herself with the meat of this world?

- television
- success is getting more wealth, more fame, more clicks, more followers on social media
- God's law works like human laws and we can get justice by imposing rules—we just need the right judges, justices, presidents, senators
- science is superior to Scripture, we evolved from lower life forms or God used evolution to create us
- public schools are just as good as Christian schools, let's give our kids a public education
- there is no objective reality, no objective truth, your truth is your truth and my truth is my truth
- marriage isn't a man and a woman
- transgender women are not really men and should be able to compete in female sports
- if you love people you don't speak things they might find offensive
- if you love people you surrender your freedoms to make them feel safe

And just like Israel we are getting sick and we are suffering.

Turn to MONDAY and what is the next lesson we learn from ancient Israel on its way to Canaan?

> Then Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married; for he had married an Ethiopian woman (Nu 12:1 NKJV).

Two problems are highlighted here:

Challenging God's messenger and Racism

When we take our eyes off God, when we prefer the methods of the world, we become prideful, we don't accept God's truth and therefore don't accept God's leaders who promote God's truth, jealousy and division arise, including racism.

In society today, do we still teach that the USA was established on the principles of liberty, on inalienable rights given to us by our Creator God, and that the government was set up to restrain the big powers (government, church, aristocracies—big business) from encroaching upon our inalienable rights, and that as long as these godly principles are valued and practiced the USA grows stronger? People unite under these principles despite different ethnicities, cultures, backgrounds.

Consider trying to go to many other countries in the world—Mexico, Guatemala, Russia, China, Japan—and not being a native of those countries see what happens if you try to become a citizen, hold government office, and change the laws? Will you be assimilated, accepted as a Mexican, Guatemalan, Russian, Chinese or Japanese? No—you will always be considered an outsider. But in the USA, what happens when an immigrant comes here legally and gains their citizenship? Are they accepted? Why? Because it is NOT based on race or ethnicity, American culture has historically been based on shared values of liberty and justice for all. We have inalienable rights granted to us by our Creator and all human beings are given these by God and government's role is to protect those rights.

And where did this core values that America is founded upon come from? From the Protestant Reformation, from putting the Bible into the hands of the people and as God's Word was again studied the principles of God were assimilated into hearts and eventually freedoms were established and the US Constitution was written.

But what has happened in America since as we have advanced the values of Black Lives Matter, Critical Race Theory, 1619 Project, Wokeism and the lie of equity? These movements attack the principles of the Reformation. They try and recast our American history under the lie that the government was built on exploitation, abuse, and slavery. No—slavery existed in old European powers that colonized the Americas. The US government was established on different principles to move away from those abusive systems. And it has. But the woke movements of today deny history and are filling minds with lies.

And what is the result? Our society is dividing and fracturing—tribalism. Understand, wherever the principles of BLM, CRT, wokeism are applied the lives of all people, but especially people of color get worse.

How did God deal with Miriam and Aaron when they raised the race card? He struck Miriam with leprosy—why? What does it signify? Leprosy is symbolic of sin. Leprosy destroys the pain fibers so that people lose the pain when they are doing something injurious, like touching a hot stove. This is what sin does and especially racism, the idea that people are less because of the color of their skin damages the conscience, warps the character. MLK Jr. had it right, it isn't about skin color it is about character.

The evil we see in society today does not come from white society, it does not come from black society, or Hispanic society. It comes from evil leaders who use race as an issue to divide and they are inspired by their father the devil, just like the leaders who crucified Christ 2000 years ago.

God's striking Miriam with leprosy was to be a lesson that should have taught the people to trust God and to trust the leadership of Moses. Our own national history of slavery and exploitation of people based on race, should have taught us the foolishness and destructiveness of dividing people based on race. But, instead, people are just as slow to learn today as ancient Israel. And today millions are buying into the lies of:

- racism as reparation
- racism as defund the police
- racism as hiring quotas for businesses or admission to schools
- racism as aide to farmers
- racism as white privilege or white rage

This perversity of BLM, CRT and wokeism has metastasized into all forms of identity politics designed to destroy character development, individual application, hard work, and godliness in society, so we have profiling for privilege based on gender, sexual orientation, and race. And all the while the people doing this claim it is white people who are the evil ones.

Understand reality—these attacks on what the CRT and BLM proponents call whitism is an attack on Protestant Christianity—on the principles of the Bible. American was founded by Protestant Christians who reclaimed God's Word as the rule of life and found in God's Word the principles of liberty, of inalienable rights given to us by our Creator that are not to be violated by any earthly power. Those people happened to come from Europe and happened to be primarily white. But if the African people were the ones to have recovered the Bible then they would have been the ones to establish such a society. It isn't about race at all it is about the principles of God found in the Bible. But Satan doesn't want people to see that so instead he focuses on the color of the skin of the people who founded the USA rather than the principles upon which the country was established.

The liars and dividers in society try to recast history into a lie to destroy the principles of Christianity—liberty and justice for all—and thereby tear down the unity that sets America apart from all other nations in history.

Just open your eyes and look at what happens, what we call outcomes, reality. God is the God of reality. You cannot get health while violating the laws of health, and so when God's principles are broken, injury and decay always result. Look at the municipalities where these divisive principles are put into practice. You will see every single time a decreasing value of human life, crime soaring, murder rates soaring, homelessness soaring, education falling, the development of godlessness with self-control plummeting.

Stop accepting the lies—be lovers of truth. Don't harden your hearts, turn to God and His methods and love all people, but don't love all methods.

But the Israelites don't learn the lessons and in TUESDAY's lesson they return to their distrust of God and listen to Korah and his group and what did they do?

So, let's recap and see if we can put this into perspective for us today:

- The children of Israel are symbolic of the people of God. They were slaves in Egypt. The people of God are slaves in sin. God sent a deliverer to lead them out of slavery. God sent Jesus to lead us out of sin.

- The Israelites were led through the Red Sea; the people of God are led through baptism.

- The Israelites are being led to the promised land—we are being led to the heavenly promised land.

- On the way to the promised land God feeds them manna to nurture, strengthen and prepare them; on the way to heaven God feeds us the bread of heaven, Jesus, the Word of God, to nurture, strengthen and prepare us.

- The Israelites rebel over the manna. They wanted something with spice, better flavor, something thrilling and exciting. Christianity rejected the plain truths of the Word of God, the bread of heaven, and instead chose the meat of Egypt, meaning the methods, principles, and practices of the world and preferred the imposed law method with power over, authoritarianism.

- God let the Israelites have meat until it was coming out of their noses; and God let the church have the methods of the world, imperialism, power over, made-up rules until the church and the world went into the Dark Ages and the people were sick of the authoritarian methods of the world and they turned back to the manna, the Bible and it was translated into the languages of the people and the Enlightenment began. Then the people fled to a new land and established a new form of government to restrict the powers that impose themselves upon the liberties of the people and the Reformation continued, the people were preparing to enter the heavenly Canaan.

- In the desert on their way to the promised land God not only gave the Israelites manna, but before the 10 Commandments were given at Sinai, every week they received double portion of manna on Friday and they rested on Sabbath. Thus God gave them His weekly Sabbath.

- As the Reformation continued Bible studying Christians led by a Baptist preacher William Miller became convicted of prophecies in Daniel and Revelation that Jesus was coming soon to deliver us from sin and take us to the promised land. Other Christians, believing they were indeed on the way to a new earth, recovered the Sabbath truth and began resting each week according to the Sabbath and sharing the message of Christ's soon return to the world.

- But in ancient Israel, God's messenger and leader Moses was challenged for authority by those who objected to him marrying an Ethiopian/Cushite woman.

    - Christianity is divided by racism, we are not united as one in Christ, but even as the SDA church is officially formed in 1863, the civil war is under way to end slavery. As slavery ends, the Christian world has the opportunity to unite in Christ, regardless of race, but instead it remains divided by race. And we haven't yet entered the promised land.

      But God intervened and Miriam is struck with leprosy, then she is healed. In the USA, the land of the free, the place where the people who are ingesting the bread of heaven, studying the Word of God and no longer embracing the doctrines made up by men, the southern slave-holding states are devastated by the Civil War and the northern states suffer the loss of hundreds of thousands of their sons. But the states recover, race relations improve, equality for all people advances, eventually we have a black president. Race relations are improving, until the last few years where the race-baters and race haters are again advancing an agenda of racial division.

- As ancient Israel is on the border of the promised land, about to enter, the spies bring back a report, 10 discouraging, we can't do it, they are strong, two an encouraging report, a land of milk and honey and with God we will win.

  At this point, Korah's rebellion occurs. Korah and cohorts challenge God's messenger for leadership. In the progression of the Reformation, preparing people to meet Christ, the SDA church sees itself as the next link in the Reformation process. In 1888 a message came to the church through Jones and Waggoner and endorsed by EG White, but the leadership challenged the messengers, rejected the message and sent EG White to Australia. Rather than the people of God entering the promised land, we have been wandering in the wilderness.

Consider this description of the events of Korah's rebellion from the commentary From Eternity Past and see what lessons apply for us today:

Korah, the leading spirit in this movement, a cousin of Moses, was a man of ability and influence. He had become dissatisfied with his position and aspired to the dignity of the priesthood. For some time Korah had been secretly opposing the authority of Moses and Aaron, though He had not ventured upon open rebellion. He finally conceived the bold design of overthrowing both the civil and the religious authority. Dathan and Abiram, two princes, readily joined in his ambitious schemes and determined to divide with Korah the honors of the priesthood. EP 277.2 [Do we find people of ability both in the church and in civil government who are interested only in themselves, who are working against the principles of God, who will work to divide the church or society in order to get more power for themselves?]

The feeling among the people favored Korah. In the bitterness of their disappointment, their former doubts, jealousy, and hatred returned, and again their complaints were directed against their patient leader. They forgot that they were under divine guidance, that the presence of Christ went before them, and that from Him Moses received directions. EP 277.3 [Do we find segments of society who feel life isn't fair, that they have been victimized, that things are against them, that the system isn't just? Do we find the knowledge of God has been rejected by many in society? Are people rejecting the God-led beliefs in the founding of this nation and instead reframing it as a godless nation? And those who believe the lies are easily manipulated and exploited by leaders claiming to take up their cause, to help them, to advance them, to give them justice? Did Korah's leadership lead Israel to a better outcome? What about these leaders of BLM, wokeism and CRT—is society improving, or are the very ones these leaders claim to be helping experiencing the most terrible devastation of their lives and communities as these woke leaders get more power?]

Unwilling to die in the wilderness, they were ready to believe that it was not God but Moses who had pronounced their doom. Although the marks of God's displeasure at their perverseness were still before them, they did not take the lesson to heart. EP 277.4 [Unwilling to believe that God and God's designs and principles have any bearing on outcomes in society today people instead blame race, white people, and claim we will never have the utopia of "equity" unless we replace the system of meritocracy, of hard work, with identity equity. We must tear down the flag, the symbol of liberty and justice for all; we must rename the schools, tear down the statues of the great men who advanced the principles of Protestantism, the principles of liberty. It can't be that God's design for families has any bearing on success, no, it must be something else. But what does the data actually show?

From the Institute for Family Studies,

- Black children from two parent homes consistently do better than white children from single parent homes:
  - 36% of young black women from intact families have graduated from college compared to just 28% of young white women from single-parent families.
  - 14% of young black men from intact families have been incarcerated, compared to 18% of young white men from single-parent families.

- 13% of black children in intact families are poor compared to 33% of white children in single-parent families.

Is it racism keeping blacks in poverty, or is it rejecting the manna, rejecting God's Word, God's design for human families and black families replacing fathers with Uncle Sam? No, we must not accept the truth; it can't be breaking God's design for families at work, it must be institutional racism. It can't be that policies proclaimed to help have actually decimated black families and it is the destruction of the family unit that negatively impacts all people regardless of skin color. The data shows, black or white or Hispanic, people have greater success in life when the families are intact and when God's principles are practiced. But, we can't acknowledge Biblical principles so let's call it institutional racism. Let's not turn people back to God, let's not educate them on godly principles, instead let's teach them there is no God and that the system is rigged against people because of color—and the only way to fix this so-called institutional racism is for the government to make laws mandating racism by making preferences based on race—so we will have quotas on admissions to school, not based on ability, achievement, or hard work, but based on race. And anyone who questions the new racism must be called a racist. And just like Israel we continue wandering in the wilderness restless and rebellious.]

He who reads the secrets of all hearts had given His people warning and instruction as might have enabled them to escape the deception of these designing men. They had seen the judgment of God on Miriam because of her jealousy and complaints against Moses. The Lord had declared: "With him will I speak mouth to mouth." "Wherefore, then," He added, "were ye not afraid to speak against My servant Moses?" Numbers 12:8. These instructions were not intended for Aaron and Miriam alone, but for all Israel. EP 277.5 [We should have learned the folly of racism from slavery and Jim Crow, but we haven't and leftism is bent on repeating it and anyone who questions it is labeled a racist]

Korah and his fellow conspirators were of the number who went up with Moses into the mount and beheld the divine glory. But a temptation, slight at first, had been harbored until their minds were controlled by Satan. They first whispered their discontent to one another and then to leading men of Israel. At last they really believed themselves actuated by zeal for God. EP 278.1 [Those who advance principles contrary to God's design laws, contrary to God's methods both in the church and in civil government, will have their minds controlled by Satan and will come to believe that they are doing right, even working for God, while they implement the principles of Satan—imperialism that uses power over others. They will advance their agenda with lies, deceit, manipulation, coercion, censuring, deplatforming, and arbitrary division by race, for they are not following the Spirit of God. For in Christ Jesus there is neither Jew or Greek, male or female, free or slave. When we are united by the Spirit of God, our human biological difference are irrelevant, the only thing that truly divides is character, methods and principles]

They were successful in alienating two hundred and fifty princes. With these influential supporters they felt confident of greatly improving upon the administration of Moses and

Aaron. EP 278.2 [These liars in the church and society are successful in garnering a variety of leaders to their cause and all claim that they will make the church or society better, but it only worsens.]

Jealousy had given rise to envy, and envy to rebellion. And they deceived themselves and one another into thinking that Moses and Aaron had themselves assumed the positions they held, that these leaders had exalted themselves in taking the priesthood and government... EP 278.3

Korah and his associates enlisted the support of the congregation. The charge that the murmurings of the people had brought the wrath of God was declared a mistake. They said that the congregation were not at fault, since they desired nothing more than their rights; but Moses was an overbearing ruler; he had reproved the people as sinners when they were a holy people. EP 278.4 [And this is the key. These perverse leaders in the church and society are jealous of those who are successful and they play off the petty jealousies in others to gain support for themselves. They tell the people that the problem is NOT their own lack of self-discipline, their own failure to apply themselves, to live in harmony with God's laws. The problem is the bad leadership of people in power who make rules, who tell you to work harder, who call you to account for sin and crime—that is whitism, racism and must be rejected. We can only really be free if we defund the police, have no borders, open the prisons to violent criminals, while we imprison people who refuse to close their business, or who speak against us. We must burn the flag, we must tear down the institutes of justice. It isn't the fault of the people it is the fault of institutional racism.]

Korah's hearers thought they saw clearly that their troubles might have been prevented if Moses had pursued a different course. Their exclusion from Canaan was in consequence of the mismanagement of Moses and Aaron. If Korah would be their leader and encourage them by dwelling upon their good deeds instead of reproving their sins, they would have a very prosperous journey; instead of wandering in the wilderness they would proceed directly to the Promised Land. EP 278.5 [If only we had more laws giving racial preferences to people of color, had more taxes and reparations, had more equity then we could have real fairness and justice in society, all our troubles will be over, we would have a real promised land. But it is all a lie. Only God's methods, God's design laws function to heal and bring true unity, health and happiness.]

Then consider this from the same author:

"When I purposed to leave Minneapolis, the angel of the Lord stood by me and said: [The following is a quote is written as coming from the angel of the Lord, which you will discover is Jesus as the speaker claims the people as His and He is the source of grace given to the people.] "Not so; God has a work for you to do in this place. The people are acting over [re-enacting] the rebellion of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. I have placed you in your proper position, which those who are not in the light will not acknowledge; they will not heed your testimony; [What was EGW advocating? The healing view of the gospel promoted by

> Jones and Waggoner. Righteousness by faith message—which is actual, real, genuine righteousness within the heart/mind of those who trust in Jesus. The rebuilding and healing of our characters when we trust in Jesus—the fulfillment of the day of at-one-ment metaphor, the purifying of the bride, the groom receiving His bride bringing her into unity/oneness with Him, the cleansing of the sanctuary. But church leadership rejected this healing view and chose instead to embrace the false imperial legal view of declared righteousness even though we are not. They rejected the manna and chose the fleshpots of Egypt. This, is, according to the angel of the Lord, like Korah saying "we can't succeed in going into the promised land." And church leaders, who prefer the imperial law view, have been telling Adventists ever since that we can't succeed in experiencing Christ's righteousness, sin is too great, God can't give us power to be victorious in our lives so we will be prepared to stand in God's presence when Jesus returns; these liars claim we can only be declared legally righteous, even though we are not.] but I will be with you; My grace and power shall sustain you. It is not you they are despising, but the messengers and the message I send to My people. [Friends of Come and Reason around the world, realize that when you are told you are not welcome, you cannot teach your Bible class, that you cannot share the wonders of God's love that has so transformed your life—that it is not you they are rejecting but Christ they are rejecting.] They have shown contempt for the word of the Lord. Satan has blinded their eyes and perverted their judgment; and unless every soul shall repent of this their sin, this unsanctified independence that is doing insult to the Spirit of God, they will walk in darkness. I will remove the candlestick out of his place except they repent and be converted, that I should heal them. They have obscured their spiritual eyesight. [What does this mean? By refusing the truth of God's design law, by holding to Rome's imperial law lie, they have blinded themselves to how reality works and live in a fantasy of confusion and contradictions mirroring this sinful world with a god who is the source of pain, suffering and death which they call justice. And if they persist in teaching this, they become blind and incapable of seeing the truth or leading others into the promised land. And the SDA church has been wandering in the wilderness for over 130 years.] They would not that God should manifest His Spirit and His power; for they have a spirit of mockery and disgust at My word. Lightness, trifling, jesting and joking are daily practiced. They have not set their hearts to seek Me. They walk in the sparks of their own kindling, and unless they repent, they shall lie down in sorrow. Thus saith the Lord: "Stand at your post of duty; for I am with thee, and will not leave thee nor forsake thee." These words from God I have not dared to disregard."–Letter 2a, 1892, pp. 4, 5. Now, regarding what is happening in America today, how do we understand this through the lens of Bible prophecy?

If you haven't read my blog King of the North versus King of the South and Today's End-Time Events I encourage you to do so.

In Daniel 11 the king of the south is symbolized by Egypt and represents the forces of godlessness, atheism, humanism, earth worship, communism. And the king of the north is symbolized by Babylon and Rome and represents religious imperialism, the Dark Ages church, people who claim a belief in God but will use the power of human might to force their moral agenda on others.

The final movements of this long prophecy are the king the south attacks the king of the north and the king of the north storms out against him and destroys him, takes his wealth, power etc. Are we seeing the attack of the king of the south right now?

- What power on earth today is a power built on godlessness, that actively denies God, oppresses free religion, obstructs Bibles and Bible schools and teachings—communism?
- What power on earth today is one of the most racist countries in history and has committed all kinds of crimes against people of other races and people who continue to believe in God?
- What power on earth today has done gain function research on a corona virus making it easier to infect humans?
- What power on earth today released a bioengineered coronal virus into the human population and then disappeared the doctors who tried to warn the world, stopped in-country travel in and out of ground zero, but kept international travel in and out of ground zero open, refused to let CDC and other world health officials in to investigate, and has lied to the public repeatedly about its origins?
- What power on earth has used its pundits in the media to stir up racial conflict in the USA in order to divide and distract us?
- What power on earth has used its influence over media and tech giants to prevent evidence that opposes the false narrative?
- What power on earth is one of the world's worst polluters and continues to make more coal burning power plants and exploits the planet more than any other, while at the same time working through its operatives in the USA, the UN and global media to get western countries to ruin their economies with all types of so-called green energy solutions?
- What country benefits when the USA is fragmented and divided upon racial issues, has a suffering economy, and higher energy prices?
- This power and all of its puppets and pundits are part of the king of the south making an all-out attack on the king of the north—the principles of Protestantism—freedom and liberty—seeking instead a totalitarian system of a few ruling elites controlling the masses—socialism, communism.
- If I am right about Daniel's prophecy, then religious conservatives are going to reclaim power and crush the forces of the king of the south—BUT HERE IS THE KEY—God's people are not in either group. The Beautiful Land is in the middle, God's people are caught in the middle between these two conflicting philosophies and powers and we must be vigilant not to join either side.

The lesson points us to Numbers 14:11,12 where God threatens to destroy the people and start over with Moses family and Moses intercedes with God.

Read the second paragraph, "This is the moment…" What do you hear? What is the lesson suggested from this paragraph?

"And just as the Lord did then because of Moses' intercession, thus He does for us because of Jesus, because of His death and resurrection and intercession for us."

So, if it wasn't for Moses God would have killed the people? Aren't we glad that God had Moses there to talk Him down, that Moses had more patience, more love, more compassion, more self-control that God. If it wasn't for Moses interceding, God would just of lost it and killed them all. Is this the lesson they want us to learn?

Sadly, most Christians actually believe this. That God is required by law to kill us except for Jesus standing their holding back His anger and wrath.

But, reason through the issues for a minute.

- Does God have foreknowledge or not?
- Was it a surprise to God when Moses pleaded as he did? Did God say, "Oh my, sure didn't expect Moses to care this much. I was positive that Moses would be glad to get rid of these rebellious and irritating people. Well, if I had thought Moses would plead as he is, I certainly would never have even brought up the idea of wiping them out. Hope people don't find out about this, don't want them thinking Moses loves them more than me."
- Or, do we believe God did know exactly how Moses would respond?
- And if God did know how Moses would respond, then did God also foreknow how He was going to respond to Moses' intercessions?
- Then was God ever really going to destroy the people? No!
- Then what is going on? Why did God do it?

What is the bigger story? The plan of salvation, God working to bring the Messiah to destroy Satan and the infection of sin and through His work to heal hearts and minds, restoring humans back to God's design of selfless love.

Who is watching? According to Scripture who longs to look into these things? Angels. So, can you see God saying to His angels in heaven, after all that God has done for Israel, the miracles in Egypt, the parting of the Sea, the manna and still the constant rebellion, could some of the angels have concerns that God's plan just wasn't working? So, God says to the angels, "My methods work, but they take time. Let me show you. Remember Moses 40 years ago murdered an overseer and ran away to protect himself. But after 40 years with me, watch now what happens." And the angels see Moses willing to sacrifice himself to save others. And God looks to the angels and says, "See, my methods work!"

This is the reality, all the penal legal interpretations are lies and pervert the gospel truth.

Read fifth paragraph, "Yet, there are costs…" Read Hebrews 3:7- 4:11 from The Remedy:

> "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds as you did in the rebellion in the desert, during the opportunity to partake of God's cure, where your fathers broke my heart by trying their own remedies and rejecting the truth which I brought and for forty years patiently tried to heal them.

10 That is why I was so angry with what happened to that generation, and said, 'Their minds continually reject the healing truth, and they refuse to practice my ways of health and live.' So I granted them their persistent choice and said, 'Since they refuse the truth–the Remedy I freely offer–they will never be able to enter my rest and get well.'"

12 See to it, brothers and sisters, that none of you cling to lies about God and retain a selfish, distrusting mind that turns you away from the living God. But daily build each other up in the truth, as long as there is still time, so that none of you may be blinded, confused, and hardened by the lies about God. We have become partakers of Christ's character if we hold firmly till the end to the confidence we initially had in the truth about God, revealed by Christ. As has just been said: "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds as you did in the rebellion."

16 Who were they who heard the message of healing truth but instead rebelled and preferred lies? Were they not all those whom Moses led out of Egypt? And with what was God angry for forty years? Was it not with having to watch his children persistently reject his healing ways and slowly die and fall in the desert? And whom did God tell that they could never get well and find rest as long as they rebelled against the only Remedy if not those who died in the desert? So we see that they were not able to get well and enter into God's rest because they didn't trust him or accept the truth he revealed.

4:1 Therefore, since the Remedy is still available, and the promise of complete healing and perfect rest still stands, let us be careful that none of us be found to have rejected it. For we also have had the good news of God's healing truth presented to us just as they did; but the message of truth had no value to them because they did not believe it nor did they trust the one who gave it. But we, who have trusted God on the basis of the truth Christ provided, experience healing and enter that rest, and our minds are at peace. As God has said, "So I granted them their persistent choice and said, 'Since they refuse the truth–the Remedy I freely offer–they will never be able to enter my rest and get well.'" It was not because God's perfect rest was not available–for it had been ready since his work of creation was complete — as the Scriptures say elsewhere regarding the seventh day: "And on the seventh day, God rested his case. He had finished all his work of providing the evidence needed to refute the lies of Satan." And yet in another passage he says, "If they refuse the truth, if they reject the evidence I have provided, their minds will never find rest and they will not get well."

6 The opportunity to find God's healing and rest still remains, even though those who formerly had the good news of God's healing truth presented to them did not get well or find rest because they refused to believe the truth and trust God. Therefore God again and again presents his healing Remedy, and he set a certain day which he called "today," when much later he spoke through David in the same Scripture as before: "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds."

> 8 For if Joshua had already given them healing of character and rest for their minds, God would not have spoken later about another day of rest still to come. There remains then a Sabbath-rest–a rest in the evidence and truth of the character of God–which heals and transforms the people of God; for anyone who rests in the achievements of Christ rests from working to save themself, just as God rested from his work. Let us therefore make every effort to rest in the truth about God as revealed by Christ, so that no one will fall by following the example of distrust and refusal to accept the truth.

THURSDAY

What is the difference between faith and presumption?

- Faith is trust—trust in God and doing what God has instructed; living in harmony with God's designs and principles because we trust Him and follow where He leads
- Presumption—is to presume we know better, doing our own thing, following our own inclinations, presuming them to be what God would have us do—but typically while ignoring the evidences before us of what God has already revealed to us about what He would have us do

Examples:

The children of Israel did not have faith when they refused to enter Canaan at the urging of the two faithful spies.

They did have presumption when God told them they would wander in the wilderness for 40 years and then they tried to enter, presuming they would now do what God had previously wanted them to do.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon! We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

Vision for Come and Reason: We have found a building that will work for our ministry and have the building under contract to purchase and are now in the process of doing the various due diligence. If all the inspections, appraisals etc. work out then we will obtain the property and after than have to renovate the interior for our purposes.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

New Member's Section is now open, including a New Discussion, The Remedy audio book, Could It Be This Simple? audio book, and just added, Stone's Of Eden's new music album, Hilasterion, by Brad & Donna Horne, online members in Australia, They have graciously donated their album to our ministry to share with members those who love this message.

Brad wrote:

> I had always wanted to create an album that would tell the bible story that could be used to target believers as well as non believers. I had attempted a few false starts and the idea didn't really go anywhere apart from a few sketchy iPhone recordings.
>
> I then read Journal of the Watcher and loved the story and was blown away by the illustrations, this book gave me the context and frame work to get my album idea up and running, and with the covid19 fiasco, the impetus to hurry up and get this idea done.
> So my wife and I wrote the songs and started recording the album which took approximately 12 months.

When I read The God-Shaped Brain, I came across the word Hilasterion, and remember thinking that would make a great album name—that was years ago, funnily reading that word from Tim's book became our album name. Jesus is our Hilasterion who brings reconciliation and makes peace.

So long story short this album had a lot of it inspiration/influence via Come and Reason Ministries. The album tells the story of the war in heaven and finishes with Parousia , the king is coming, divided in 3 section themes 1. Old Testament, 2. Jesus' ministry, 3. Contemporary influence.

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 3
The Roots of Restlessness

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

The memory text is James 3:16, let's read James 3:16-18 from the Good News Translation

> Where there is jealousy and selfishness, there is also disorder and every kind of evil. But the wisdom from above is pure first of all; it is also peaceful, gentle, and friendly; it is full of compassion and produces a harvest of good deeds; it is free from prejudice and hypocrisy. And goodness is the harvest that is produced from the seeds the peacemakers plant in peace (Jas 3:16–18 GNT).

Do you hear a contrast between the principles of the world (the principles of sinfulness) and the principles or wisdom of God?

How would you describe that difference?

Is there a causal relationship between jealousy/selfishness and disorder/evil?

What is evil—in every culture of the world, evil, at its root, is defined the same, regardless of a belief in God or not, regardless of religion or not—what is evil?

Evil is exploiting others for selfish gain. It is not seeking success for self—that is not considered evil (remember the Bible says we are to covet earnestly the best gifts 1 Co 12:31 KJV). Evil is seeking success for self through means that take advantage or exploit others. For instance:

- Cheating in school so you get a scholarship would be considered evil as it advances you through falsehood and takes a resource away from the person who did not cheat and would have received the scholarship had cheating not occurred. However, it is not considered evil to get the scholarship through honest application and hard work even though others who also worked hard didn't get it because you had higher grades.
- Spreading lies about a competitor's product to ruin their reputation so you can gain market share is considered evil. However, making a better product, or working harder in marketing your product which gains market share is not considered evil.
- Passing laws that give advantage to some while denying others the equal opportunity, such as Jim Crow laws, would be considered evil. Creating laws the ensure equal opportunity for all people to apply themselves is not considered evil.

This definition exposes two antagonistic principles—love, which protects others seeks to benefit others, and selfishness or the survival drive which seeks to advance or protect self even at the expense of others.

What is the emotional basis that drives jealousy and selfishness? Fear—fear of death, injury, failure, rejection, not being good enough, not being esteemed enough, fear of inadequacy.

What is it that casts out all fear? Love, from where does such love come?

The fear we are talking about is the fear of sin, of selfishness, it is not the startle response you get when a car swerves into your lane—that is an alert mechanism. It is not the fear of heights, that is a wired warning measure.

The fear that causes evil is the fear of being inadequate, fear of not being good enough, fear of not being loved, of being rejected, being defective, being guilty, shameful, fear of failure, fear of not surviving that leads one to see others as enemies, as competitors, as opponents to be defeated so you can get ahead, rather than seeing others as loved family members who have their own fears, insecurities, weakness and struggles and who need our love, encouragement, support and friendship.

When we experience others through the lens of common brotherhood the various differences become irrelevant and we grow stronger together. Can anyone think of an example from our society in which people from all different cultures and backgrounds and races and religions come together and form friendships, cohesive, life-changing and life-trusting relationships? The US military.

In the US military, units are formed with people of all races, all religious backgrounds, various political views, different beliefs about the environment. But, in training and in combat they unite around their shared and common values—of respect for each other as Americans, the principles of liberty, the value of respecting the other's individuality, and they grow to love the other person. Bonds of real friendship form—the bonds of brotherhood. We call this morale, or cohesion and it is these bonds of love that overcome fear and allow military units to succeed in the face of real life-threatening dangers. It is the only power that consistently overcomes the inherent fear of combat and causes people to put themselves in danger, to sacrifice self and not flee.

If you wanted to ruin a military, undermine their strength, make them less capable of succeeding in their mission and thereby undermine and weaken a nation—what strategy might you use?

- You could equip them poorly
- You could educate and train them poorly
- You could infect them with biological agents to get them sick so they couldn't function
- But you could also infect their minds and hearts with ideas that break down morale and cohesion, ideas that would prevent the bonds of brotherhood from forming.

Is there anything like that happening in both society and the military and if we are not careful in the church today? Yes, Critical Race Theory—this is a corrosive and racist philosophy that undermines unity, cohesion, morale and incites bigotry, prejudice, jealousy, and inflames selfishness.

But in Christ it is not to be this way. Jesus praying to His Father right before His crucifixion, looks through the corridors of time and prays for you and me. He prays:

> I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me. I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me (Jn 17:20–23 NIV84).

It is through our unity in Christ, one on common values, love for God and each other, regardless of race, ethnicity, nationality—this is how we reveal that we are part of God's family!

Paul wrote:

> You are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus, for all of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, slave nor free, male nor female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus (Ga 3:26–28 NIV84).

Who do you think is behind a philosophy that divides, increases jealousy, inflames selfishness and undermines love and cohesion?

From where does fear come? Two sources—lies believed break the circle of love and trust—broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness.

So, the first source is believing lies that lead to fear and selfishness. But fear and selfishness lead to acts of sin, acts of seeking to protect self at the expense of others, the survival drives and this causes more fear and more selfishness.

Once we commit an act of sin, we have more fear, fear of getting caught, fear of being punished, fear of being rejected, fear of not being loved and therefore we seek to increase our security, to make our fear go down and if we don't repent, if we don't experience God's love in our hearts healing us so that we seek the best for others, then the only means left to make ourselves feel better is what?

- More lies! We tell ourselves "it wasn't me it was the woman you gave me; I deserved that; it isn't evil; sin is an outdated term; well at least my sin isn't as bad as those priests who molest children; they deserved it…"
- We seek to gain more physical or political or economic power in order to both protect ourselves, be a greater threat to those we fear, and to force others to comply with our views and agree with our lies—all so that we can avoid the truth, because the truth convicts and brings fear to the unrepentant. So, the unrepentant, the evil, need to ban free speech as truth exposes lies; they will seek to censor others because they are afraid of free speech, afraid of those who speak the truth because their lies cannot stand up to the truth. If the liars cannot shout down the truth-speakers, then the liars seek to take away the truth-tellers opportunity to speak; they remove their channels or remove them by imprisoning them or even killing them. They will seek to remove their influence by labeling them with the vilest allegations—racist, bigot, child-murderer, or, as they did Jesus, crazy or demon possessed—conspiracy nut. The Dark Ages Church did this to all who stood up for truth and so is the anti-God political parties in the US today

- Watch for these methods. Those who don't follow Jesus, who don't practice God's methods will always end up attacking people, they will write blogs about people or make videos about people attacking the messenger with various allegations. They do this because their message can't stand up to the truth. The true followers of God don't do this, they present the truth in love and leave others free. So our ministry attack lies, not liars; we attack falsehoods not falsifiers; we attack selfishness, not the selfish; we attack fear, not the fearful. As Paul said,

  > For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ (2Cor 10:3-5 NIV84). [We demolish the lies, the falsehood, the pretensions, we do not attack the people. Those who attack others, who accuse others, are not acting as Jesus would act. Recognize it; don't fall into it.}

- But even the archangel Michael, when he was disputing with the devil about the body of Moses, did not dare to bring a slanderous accusation against him, but said, "The Lord rebuke you!" (Jude 9 NIV84).

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Matthew 10:34-39:

> "Do not suppose that I have come to bring peace to the earth. I did not come to bring peace, but a sword. For I have come to turn
>
> > " 'a man against his father, > > a daughter against her mother, > > a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law—> > a man's enemies will be the members of his own household.'
>
> "Anyone who loves his father or mother more than me is not worthy of me; anyone who loves his son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me; and anyone who does not take his cross and follow me is not worthy of me. Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it (Matthew 10:34-39 NIV84).

thoughts?

Read second paragraph, "Matthew 10:35-39 is really…" What do you think about this idea that honoring our parents is a legal requirement?

What law lens does it sound like they are advancing?

How many of you honor your parents because it is a legal requirement? How many parents want their children to honor you because it is a legal requirement?

Does making the commandment a legal requirement enhance or undermine God's kingdom? Does it enhance or obstruct the actually honoring of our parents?

If a person hates their parent in their heart, but on the surface acts in ways that appears they are honoring their parent, in order to keep the law, because it is a legal requirement and the law is all about behavior—what actually happens in the heart, mind and character of such a person? They solidify the character of a liar and a fraud. This type of teaching actually injures souls and obstructs the plan of salvation!

Man looks on the outward appearance the Lord looks on the heart. God's primary concern is about the character, the heart, the mind, not the behavior. Behaviors are always secondary, never primary. But the imposed law lie has people focus on behavior, irrespective of the heart.

The lesson also introduces a point that many get confused upon, "if that love would trump the hearer's commitment to Jesus, it required a tough decision."

Can we love anyone, genuinely, with godly love, without God's love in our hearts? No! Fallen humanity is not capable of generating actual love, we can only receive God's love and share that love with others as we are loved by God.

To the degree anyone lives out real love for another, it is always a manifestation of God working in their heart via the Holy Spirit, regardless of that person's claimed belief in God or not.

Thus, when we have God's love in our heart and we live out that love, we will never love others in a way that denies God. Any action that denies God under the idea of love is not godly love, it is a counterfeit to love.

The term love has many nuanced meanings. In the Greek there are multiple words for love, but in English we have one word and we confuse the different types of love all the time.

- A person can love their car or love their house or love certain colors or foods. This is not godly love—other-centered love.
    - This is an expression of pleasure, of personal enjoyment or preference in one's experiences in the things of life.

        - This is our hearts affections, what we cherish. It can be selfish or not. God wants us to love life, to experience pleasure and joy in "whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy (Philippians 4:8 NIV84). So if we cherish things that draw us closer to God, and it is their connection to God that makes them valuable to us, then such love of things is not evil.
        - But this can also be selfish when these things become a source of our security, our worth, our identity, and we value things over God and people, and when we will deny God and exploit people to get things that we love, that make us feel better, and not to lose them.
    - So we must love God more than things.
- Another type of love is erotic love, these emotions of attraction, of desire to have another person physically is not godly love. It is a corruption of God's design in which love seeks to uplift and bring pleasure and joy to another, not get pleasure and joy from another.
    - Physical arousal and attraction are absolutely part of God's design, but when it becomes primary, when it is no longer the pleasure of bringing joy to another, but what one can get for self, then it is not love. And erotic love in our society is not godly love, it is pleasure seeking. And this type of love, of seeking for self, gets exploited selfishly through porn, sexual addictions, prostitution etc.
- Another type of love is, in the Greek phileo or brotherly love. This is the love we are to have for one another, our family members, but also our church family and human family—and is the love seen in the bonds of brotherhood in the military.
    - This is very close to godly love, but can also perverted by selfishness, in which people seek to fill a void in their heart through being loved by another human being, rather than God first. Thus they need others to "love" them in order to feel good about themselves; they need someone to find them attractive, to want them. The relationship isn't sought to give and uplift and love another, but to get from the other. It can be quite tricky to see because the needy person, in order to get accepted, to get the affirmation, validation, love they crave, will often abase themselves and do all kinds of self-injurious behavior just to be accepted. This is not driven by love for the other, but by fear for self and it is the most destructive counterfeit to love and is called co-dependency. If you haven't watched our lecture on Healthy Love versus Love Addiction, I would encourage you to do so.
    - Chapter 8 of my book Could It Be This Simple?, entitled Love's Counterfeits, is about this false-love and the last paragraph in that chapter contrasts the differences between a true love relationship and a dependent relationship. You can use this as a test to examine your relationships to determine if they are operating upon genuine godly love or are a fear-based counterfeit.
        - Godly love casts out fear—dependency is driven by fear and the need to make the fear go away.
        - Love is healing—dependency is destructive
        - Love is freeing—dependency is controlling
        - Love is interested in another—dependency is about self

    - Love is stable—dependency is unstable, chaotic
    - Love is fearless—fear ridden
- Then there is agape love, godly love, the love that cares for another more than self, the love that sacrifice self to protect others. The love that gets out of a foxhole and runs into danger to save a friend. The love of a mother running into traffic to save her child. This type of love is antagonistic to the survival drives, to me-first. This type of love casts out all fear.

So, the lesson's point out the need for hard decisions in deciding on whether we love God or our family. Well, if we practice godly love, loving God first and then apply His love to our actions to others, then all actions toward others will be intended for their eternal good. It is when we allow our feelings, our fear of rejection, our fear of loss, our fear of what another will think, the false belief that we are responsible for what others think, or how they will react to impact our decisions that we find confusion over love for God and others.

When we need others to like us, approve of us, validate us in order for us to function, to feel whole, then we have placed others in the place in our hearts where God should be and will deny God in order to keep attached to the other. Further, we will fail to actually love the other because fear of losing them will cause us to compromising living and speaking the truth in love and setting healthy boundaries.

There is a natural transition from childhood to adulthood. In childhood, the child will naturally listen to and follow the parent, even if the parent is leading against God's will. But, as the child matures, they will go through separation individuation in which their heart, mind, individuality separates and individuates from their parents. They will form their own identity be able to grant their parents permission to think differently, so the adult child can stand for truth and tolerate the rejection of their parent. This is what God wants, for each person to mature and come to know Him for themselves and to have His law written in the heart.

So, Matthew 10:34-39, from The Remedy:

> Don't think that I have come to make peace with a selfish world. I have not come to bring peace with selfishness, but a sword to cut selfishness out of the hearts of people. I have come to cut dysfunctional family ties: to free a son from selfish loyalty to his father's ambitions and feuds, to sever a daughter from the control of an oppressive and manipulative mother, to cut through the fear and hostility a daughter-in-law has toward her mother-in-law. A person's worst enemies are often members of their own family.
> "Those who love parental approval more than they love me are untrustworthy of me and the Remedy I bring; and those who love the approval of their children more than me are untrustworthy of me and the Remedy I bring. Anyone who refuses to die to selfishness and follow me — loving others more than self — cannot be trusted by me to distribute the Remedy I bring. Whoever seeks to save self remains infected with selfishness and will die of their unhealed condition, but whoever surrenders self in love to me will experience healing of heart, and will find eternal life" (Matthew 10:34-39 The Remedy)

Do we see similar struggles in society today as people have not formed their identities upon God, and thus have a terrible loss of sense of self, and desperately need to be validated by others? They live in fear of rejection, of what others think of criticism and go along with all kinds of distortions in order to be accepted?

MONDAY

Read the first paragraph, "As in the case of aspen…" Is there an expression of sin that is not selfish? Well there are results of sin in the world that are not acts of selfishness, like a person being born blind, or all nature groaning under the weight of sin—but all these results of sin are a result of selfishness even if they are not acts of selfishness.

Is there any sin that is not selfish?

Consider these historic quotes—do you agree or disagree?

> All sin is selfishness. Satan's first sin was a manifestation of selfishness. He sought to grasp power, to exalt self. A species of insanity led him to seek to supersede God. And the temptation that led Adam to sin was Satan's declaration that it was possible for man to attain to something more than he already enjoyed, possible for him to be as God Himself. The sowing of seeds of selfishness in the human heart was the first result of the entrance of sin into the world. God desires every one to understand the evil of selfishness, and to co operate with Him in guarding the human family against its terrible, deceptive powers. The design of the gospel is to confront this evil by means of remedial missionary work, and to destroy its destructive power by establishing enterprises of benevolence. WB September 9, 1902, par. 3
> There is a great work to be done for many of us. Our minds and characters must become as the mind and character of Christ. Selfishness is inwrought in our very being. It has come to us as an inheritance, and has been cherished by many as a precious treasure. No special work for God can be accomplished until self and selfishness are overcome. To many everything connected with themselves is of great importance. Self is a center, around which everything seems to revolve. {Historical Sketches 138.7}
>
> At the cross of Calvary, love and selfishness stood face to face. Here was their crowning manifestation. Christ had lived only to comfort and bless, and in putting Him to death, Satan manifested the malignity of his hatred against God. He made it evident that the real purpose of his rebellion was to dethrone God, and to destroy Him through whom the love of God was shown. {DA 57.2}

The lesson points us to the story in Luke 12:

> Someone in the crowd said to him, "Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me."
> Jesus replied, "Man, who appointed me a judge or an arbiter between you?" Then he said to them, "Watch out! Be on your guard against all kinds of greed; a man's life does not consist in the abundance of his possessions" (Lk 12:13–15 NIV84).

Jesus goes on to tell the parable of the rich fool who built bigger barns for his wealth only to die.

There are some very powerful lessons in this story and parable, what are they?

First, what law lens are we reading the Bible through and understanding life through?

Did the man who approached Jesus believe an injustice had happened to him? Did he want justice to be done?

But what law lens did this person seek to get Jesus to use to give him justice? What did he want Jesus to do?

- The man wanted Jesus to make a ruling—what kind of law requires a judge to make a ruling? Human law, imposed law.
- And what kind of law is property law? It is imposed, made up human law.
- And what did Jesus say to him? He was not appointed as judge. He didn't come to administer imposed law, to make legal rulings!

Jesus didn't come to the earth to take up a legal issue, and He uses this encounter to again expose the difference between God's kingdom and the kingdoms of this world. The man wanted a legal ruling, but Jesus said that a legal ruling wasn't what he needed nor what Jesus had come to do.

What was needed? A change to the actual condition of the man's heart. These two brothers cared more for property than they did for one another. Jesus wanted to restore love into their hearts, to bring them out of this world's kingdom that seeks to get for self and into the kingdom of God, which seeks to give to others. He made it plain that it doesn't matter how much earthly wealth one accumulates, if the heart is not healed then all is lost.

This sinful world focuses on self – our rights, our privileges, our inheritance. We want a ruling by someone in authority – a judge, an umpire, a referee, a magistrate, a pastor, a CDC official. We want someone to make a ruling, tell us the answer, to decide for us. But Jesus said He was here to change hearts, not act as judge. He said:

> As for the person who hears my words but does not keep them, I do not judge him. For I did not come to judge the world, but to save it. There is a judge for the one who rejects me and does not accept my words; that very word which I spoke will condemn him at the last day. For

> I did not speak of my own accord, but the Father who sent me commanded me what to say and how to say it (John 12:47–49 NIV84).

There is a judge, and it is not Jesus. Rather, the judge is "that very word," the truth, reality itself. Sheep are sheep, and goats are goats; wheat is wheat, and weeds are weeds. A judge doesn't make a sheep a sheep or a goat a goat; they are what they are. Reality is the judge. Those who reject the words of Jesus – the truth – retain lies about God; they refuse to trust Him and, therefore, they harden themselves in selfishness and fear. They solidify themselves into evil people who hate love, truth, and freedom.

But those who love the truth that Jesus reveals reject the lies of Satan and are won back to trust in God; they open their hearts and experience the indwelling Spirit and have God's design protocol for life – His living law – written upon their hearts and minds (Hebrews 8:10). They are transformed and healed.

Too many people today are jealous of another's possession, envious of someone else's achievements, covetous of some other's station, and they want someone in authority to pass laws to ensure they get what they think is their fair share—and there is a name for this perversity—it is called equity. Equity is the application of external power to arbitrarily force outcomes to be of a certain result, regardless of reality, ability, achievement. Equity is not equality—equity—is the catch phrase of the liars, the jealous, those who are warring against the principles of God's kingdom. Be very clear on this. God is not about equity—God is about equality—God's laws impact all people equally. But people do not choose to live in harmony with God's law equally. You CANNOT get equitable outcomes with unequal actions—equity is a philosophy based entirely on fraud, deceit, and lies.

We must be careful that we are not like this jealous and selfish brother. We don't want to hear Jesus say to us, "You fool!" We don't want to be tricked by Satan, tempted by fear and selfishness, into exchanging the riches of God's kingdom – which is a heart that loves, one that is true, one that respects the individuality and freedoms of others, one that values what God values – for the meager baubles of this world.

TUESDAY

The lesson points to the dangers of selfish ambition and directs our attention to the disciples vying for who would be the greatest in Jesus' kingdom.

Read third paragraph, "Conversion is foundational…" this is well said. Notice what the lesson said, "We experience a transformation of our values and ambitions." This is the heart of salvation—transformation of character, renewal of heart, recreation of the inner person, death to fear and selfishness and arising to a new life of love as Jesus indwells the heart.

This is not legal—it is actual! This is righteousness by faith!

The lesson points out that after 3.5 years with Jesus the disciples were still struggling with this selfish ambition in their hearts and this is a very sad commentary on the human heart.

But, what changed the disciples? What finally broke through and resulted in their heart transformation? Was it:

- Finding the right Bible quotes and reading them? (though there is nothing wrong with memorizing Bible passages)
- Was it a threat of punishment?
- Was it realizing they were in legal trouble for their selfish attitudes?
- Was it a rule—a new commandment, you are to love one another and once they had that new rule it fixed their hearts?
- Was it the truth and love of God revealed at the cross? The truth about God's character and methods of love, contrasted with the methods of the world—fear and selfishness, power over, force, intimidation, versus "Father forgive them they don't know what they are doing."
    - Did the cross convict them? Did the revelation of Jesus cause them to realized that they were harboring the same motives of selfishness that the Jews and Romans acted upon in crucifying Christ? I submit it was the Cross that revealed to them the love of God and the sickness of sin in them, and they wanted the selfishness and fear out of their hearts. They wanted to be changed, they fell down and were converted and their hearts were changed.
- The only power to free us from fear and selfishness is the power of truth and love, the Spirit of God working in the heart to win us with the evidence of truth and the outworking of love.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "A hypocrite is somebody…" Was Jesus trying to publicly shame them? Do you see it that Jesus was seeking to humiliate them, or is this the final act of grace from Jesus for them before His crucifixion? Was this Jesus giving them the strongest presentation of truth, the clearest description of their condition, and the most accurate diagnosis of their problem in order to give them one more opportunity at repentance, healing and salvation?

Also, notice Jesus speaks to them as a group, not to them individually. He is speaking of their methods and describes their actions; thus He is not saying every Pharisee is like this, consider Nicodemus, or Joseph of Arimathea. He is saying those who practice these methods, who act in this way are, and each individual would have to consider whether this applies to them or not. It is not the same as saying, "Pastor Joe, you are a hypocrite…" etc. It was not a personal attack nor an action designed to humiliate or shame, but an exposure of methods designed to convict and lead to repentance and also to stand as a witness down the generations for all people to examine themselves so we don't fall into the same trap.

Let's read Matthew 23, starting in verse 13 from The Remedy:

"Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! [Why did I paraphrase it this way? Most translations have “Woe to you” what is woe? grief, distress, affliction. So, Jesus is saying they will be afflicted and distressed. What law lens? If we have design law we understand that deviating from God’s design only brings pain, suffering, distress, affliction—thus the only future they will have who do this is a miserable one.] Your false teachings obstruct people from being healed and entering God's kingdom of love. You certainly are not healed and do not enter into salvation, but worse still, you actively work to prevent others, who want to be saved, from being healed.

14 Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You con widows from their homes, yet you make public displays of praying long prayers. Unhealed you choose to remain! Your suffering will be most severe. [Why will their suffering be severe? From where does their suffering come? Under Satan’s lie about God’s law the suffering comes as a legal infliction from God upon law breakers. But the truth of God’s kingdom is that breaking God’s law injures those who refuse God’s healing and the only possible result is suffering and death]

15 "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You go around the world trying to convert one person, and when you do, you indoctrinate them so deeply into your false penal system that they become twice as much the child of lies and selfishness as you are.

16 "Misery is yours, you irrational and unthinking teachers! Unbelievably, you say: 'If anyone swears by the temple, it doesn't count; but if anyone swears by the gold of the temple, then they are bound by the oath.'17 You make no sense at all! Think about it: Which is truly most important–the gold, or the temple that makes the gold holy?18 Another of your sayings is: 'If anyone swears by the altar, it doesn't count; but if anyone swears by the gift on the altar then they are bound by the oath.'19 You don't understand the simplest truths! Think about it: Which is truly most important–the gift, or the altar that makes the gift holy?20 Don't you get it? The one who swears by the altar swears by it and everything on it.21 And whoever swears by the temple, swears by it and by the One whose dwelling place it is.22And oaths sworn before heaven are promises made before God’s throne; and the One who sits on it knows the true intent of the heart. [Do you see the contrast between imposed law and design law? The religious leaders embraced the lie that God’s law is imposed, made up rules like humans make. And just like lawyers always do they find loopholes, or applications that are inconsistent or even contradictory. Jesus is making it plan that God reads the intent of the heart—it doesn’t matter what you swear by, the attitude of the heart is what matters and not ritual, no oath, no place, or material can change the heart. It is about reality of character or heart, not public pretense or proclamation.]

23 "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You keep rules, such as proudly paying a pre-tax tithe and even giving a tenth of the herbs in your garden, but you fail to do what actually matters–to live in harmony with God’s Law, which is his design for life. You fail to ‘do what is right because it is right.’ You are not merciful but judgmental and critical, and you cannot be trusted to protect those struggling with sin. You should have lived lives of love for others, without neglecting the simple instructions of God.24 You are truly irrational and unthinking teachers! You are so focused on keeping the rules — such as dietary laws — that you fail to understand that their purpose is to promote health. You're so confused that you actually think it would be a virtue to die of starvation rather than eat something not on the 'approved' list.

25 "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You work so hard to make yourselves look good on the outside, but the inside–the heart–is full of selfishness, arrogance, and greed.26 You truly don't understand anything about God's kingdom! The mind, the character, the heart — they all must be cleansed first, and then the outside will also be clean.

27 "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You are like highly polished burial vaults: they look beautiful on the outside, but inside are nothing but the bones of the dead, and everything that defiles.28 You are just like that. On the outside you appear to people as good and righteous, but on the inside you are full of lies, selfishness, and evil. You are great counterfeits!

29 "Misery is yours, you who teach a legal religion, you penal theologians, you counterfeits! You go to great lengths to give praise and honor to God's spokespersons and church leaders of the past.30 You say, 'If we would have lived back then, we would never have rejected God's spokespersons or joined those who killed them.' 31 By such claims you condemn yourselves, because you acknowledge such actions are wrong, yet by your actions today you reveal you are the true descendants of those who murdered God's spokespersons. You're just like them32 and your sins pile on top of the sins of your forefathers! [In the SDA church, how many leaders say if they would have been at the 1888 GC they wouldn't have rejected the righteousness by faith message, while they go right on teaching the penal/legal lie of declared righteous even though we are not!]

33 "You slippery serpents! You brood of venomous vipers! You think you can cure yourselves with your own snake oil?34 It's because of your false remedy — your penal legal trickery — that I am sending my spokespersons, instructors and Bible scholars, some of whom you will attack, kill, and crucify; others you will beat–some physically, some verbally–right in church, running them out of town with beatings and the most vicious gossip.35 The pure and holy lives that have been sacrificed through history — from Abel, all the way through to Zechariah the son of Berekiah, who was murdered right in church, at the altar — testify the truth to you.36 But the sad truth is that this generation will reject all this evidence.
37 "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you sick and hard-hearted people who have rejected the Remedy, killed God's spokespersons, and stoned those sent to you with the cure! How my heart has longed to pull you to safety, like a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you would not let me.38 Look around: I leave your house to you abandoned without Remedy, and infected without cure.39 For I tell you plainly, when you see me next, you will say: 'He is the One sent by God to reveal God's true character and provide the Remedy.'"

THURSDAY

The lesson rightly points out that overcoming restlessness always begins with Jesus! And asks us to read John 14:1-7:

From The Remedy:

> "Don't let fear and doubt trouble your hearts. Put your full trust in God and trust me too. 2 In my Father's home, there is room for all who want to be there; if this were not true, I would have told you. I am going there to direct all my Father's resources who are not only preparing heaven for you, but also preparing you for heaven.[Do you think I have introduced something unintended by Jesus or is this truth that Jesus intended?] 3 And when all things are ready, I will come back and take everyone who has been brought back into unity with the principles of heaven to be there with me, so that we may all be together. 4 You now know the way to the place where I am going."
> 5 Thomas was confused and said, "But Lord, we don't know where you are going, or how to get there, so how can we know the way?"
>
> 6 Jesus answered gently, "I am the Way back to my Father, I am the Truth revealing my Father's character and the principles upon which life is based, I am the Source of all life. I am the Bridge, and no one comes to the Father except through me–because all truth revealing the Father has been provided by me. 7 If you really knew me, you would know my Father as well, for the Father and I are One. From now on, you do know him and have seen him, for I am the Father's thoughts made visible and audible."

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: We have found a building that will work for our ministry and have the building under contract to purchase and hope to close in the next week or so, then we will have to do renovations.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so. We also are resistant to going into debt, so we are quite cautious and have already turned down a couple of options because the cost would have required significant debt.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the right property and bless the process that any resources we use will be spent wisely and most economically.

NEW RESOURCE SOUTH AFRICA: Could It Be This Simple? is now available in in Afrikaans. We want to give special thanks to Jacques van den Heever, who spent many hours proof reading and working with editors and translators to get this resource availab.e Thank you Jacque!

It is available as a FREE download on our website, but if you are in South Africa and would like one in print, then email Jacque at comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

There will be a small postage charge of R50 (around $4) or you live near Somerset West you are welcome to pick one up in person.

It is our prayer that this will be a blessing to many to enlighten their minds to see the truth about God.

Special Baker Books has made the digital version of The God Shaped Heart available for a short time for $1.99 for either Kindle readers on Amazon or Nooks at Barnes and Noble.

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon! We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 4
The Cost of Rest

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SUNDAY

Read second paragraph, "David saw…" The lesson brings up two kinds of laws: Human imposed laws—David, the king, didn't have to follow the rules that governed everyone else—i.e. the law of the land, but he was not above God's law, what does this mean?

- Why isn't David above God's law?
- Is it because God sent Nathan to confront Him, God is keeping a record and God knows and God won't let David get away with it?
- Why did God send Nathan? Was it to enforce the law?
- Or was it because David was already suffering and didn't know it and God sent Nathan to save David, to heal David, to bring David to repentance?

The lesson is quite correct in pointing out the difference between human law and God's law. These two law types are the root difference between God's government and Satan's government. The two types of law are the key to rightly understanding the Bible, God's methods, character, principles and actions. When we replace God's law with Satan's imposed law lie, then we misunderstand the Bible and misrepresent God.

Read the next paragraph, "Indeed, the law is there as a protection…" Was David's only problem that Bathsheba got pregnant, the affair became public knowledge, and this caused the problems? If Bathsheba had not gotten pregnant, no one found out about the affair, his family didn't rebel then would David have gotten away with it?

What is the problem with committing adultery—is it a legal problem or does the action itself do something to the adulterer? What does it do?

From my book The God-Shaped Heart p. 241-249:

> King David
>
> Consider the lessons from the life of King David. Early in his life, he experienced incredible victories over a lion and in single combat with the giant Goliath. Yet later, he suffered crushing defeat with Bathsheba and Uriah.
>
> - How could David have such singular victories with the lion and Goliath only to fail so horribly with Bathsheba?
> - Was the defect in David's character that was revealed in his actions with Bathsheba not present within him when he faced the lion and Goliath?

- Or was that defect there, in his heart, at those earlier times in his life but simply not yet fully exposed and therefore not yet removed?
- What was the most significant difference about the situation David faced with the lion and Goliath when compared to Bathsheba?
- Would objective reality with the lion and Goliath provide David with confidence in his own human ability to defeat them, or were both those situations beyond David's innate ability to handle?
- Were they the types of situations that would almost automatically cause David to look outside of himself for help, to seek another power to overcome, to not trust in himself and thus turn to God? In those situations David did indeed trust in God and not in his own strength.

Throughout much of David's life, he found himself in situations when his own human strength was not sufficient for the task—not only with Goliath and the lion but also a bear, years of running from Saul, and in combat with enemies. Each of these situations instinctively caused him to reach out to God for help. As the old saying goes, "There are no atheists in foxholes."

But when David saw Bathsheba bathing below his balcony, he was in a different place. David was now king. He was in a position of authority, power, apparent control, safety, security, and wealth. He was a beloved and popular ruler. Perhaps David thought he could handle it. He didn't need God for this. This situation was in his ability to manage. (This is likely the reason God instructed him not to take a census, because David would be tempted to believe his strength was in his spearmen, infantry, bowmen, and cavalry and forget his true strength had always been in God.) But this is when David's hold on God collapsed. This is when selfishness took control of David's heart.

- Did the selfishness manifested in David when he took Bathsheba suddenly originate at this point in his life for the first time?
- Or was this selfishness always within David, but it wasn't until this time, when trials, challenges, and tribulations seemed in the past, that David was most vulnerable to its corrupting influence breaking out into the open.
- What was necessary for David to be saved? To be reborn, to die to self, to have a new heart and right spirit re-created within—to be healed in the inner man!
- When do you think this ultimate conversion experience happened for David? Wasn't it after his failure with Bathsheba, after Nathan confronted him?

It was then that David finally understood that he had a terminal condition of heart with which he was born and that he could not change. He needed God to heal and transform him from within. His action with Bathsheba wasn't the problem, it was the manifestation, the outward symptom of a problem deep within that, if not removed, would ultimately destroy him. When David realizes his true condition, he doesn't seek a legal solution. He doesn't perform rituals. He finally understands reality and writes Psalm 51. Reading this psalm through the lens of design law, David's amazing wisdom comes into stunning clarity.

[1]Have mercy on me, O God, according to your unfailing love; according to your great compassion blot out my transgressions.

From where do you think David wants his sin blotted out—recorded history or his heart, mind, and character? [if David wanted his sin blotted out of recorded history, then he sure didn't get that prayer answered since it was recorded in Scripture for every generation to read about.]

[2]Wash away all my iniquity and cleanse me from my sin.

He realizes something is wrong within his heart that needs purifying.

[3]For I know my transgressions, and my sin is always before me.
[4]Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight, so that you are proved right when you speak and justified when you judge.

He acknowledges his condition is terminal and that he cannot run from it; no matter where he goes he carries his sinful self there. God's diagnosis of his terminal condition is perfectly accurate.

[5]Surely I was sinful at birth, sinful from the time my mother conceived me.

He realizes this problem has been within him his entire life. He was born this way, infected with fear and selfishness.

[6]Surely you desire truth in the inner parts; you teach me wisdom in the inmost place.

He understands that what God wants is to heal what is broken in his heart and mind.

[7]Cleanse me with hyssop, and I will be clean; wash me, and I will be whiter than snow.

He acknowledges that only God has the healing solution. Only the Creator can re-create him back to God's original intent. [And using the symbols of the sanctuary service here is evidence that the sanctuary service was just symbolic of cleansing the heart and David understood that that old system didn't save but merely taught the deeper lessons.]

[8]Let me hear joy and gladness; let the bones you have crushed rejoice.
[9]Hide your face from my sins and blot out all my iniquity.

He is asking to be renewed, to have the crushing guilt and shame taken out of his heart, to be glad again, and to have fear and selfishness blotted out of his character so that he can one day see God face to face [10]Create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me.

He again acknowledges his need and desire for God to heal his heart, change his motives, and renew his mind so that they operate upon other-centered love.

[11]Do not cast me from your presence or take your Holy Spirit from me.

He acknowledges God's presence is where he wants to be, and only the Holy Spirit can fix what is broken inside and enable him to stand in God's presence.

[12]Restore to me the joy of your salvation and grant me a willing spirit, to sustain me.

He asks for the joy of healing and strength to stay compliant with God's treatment plan.

[13]Then I will teach transgressors your ways, and sinners will turn back to you.

He acknowledges the responsibility and privilege to share God's remedy with others dying of the same condition.

[14]Save me from bloodguilt, O God, the God who saves me, and my tongue will sing of your righteousness.

He specifically requests to have his heart healed from murder, from willingness to kill another child of God, and knows such freedom results in rejoicing and praise. [He isn't asking for merely the guilt to go away for the murder, but to remove the motives that led him to murder.]

[15]O Lord, open my lips, and my mouth will declare your praise.

He acknowledges that his natural heart cannot even praise God, but all praise is the outflow of God's healing love transforming him.

[16]You do not delight in sacrifice, or I would bring it; you do not take pleasure in burnt offerings.

He recognizes that rituals are meaningless, and God doesn't want them.

[17]The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and contrite heart, O God, you will not despise.

He realizes God wants the healing and restoration of his children back into harmony with him—his design of love—his protocols of life.

[18]In your good pleasure make Zion prosper; build up the walls of Jerusalem.

He asks God to make his helpers effective in revealing the truth and distributing the remedy to the world.

[19]Then there will be righteous sacrifices, whole burnt offerings to delight you; then bulls will be offered on your altar.

He understands that if Israel rightly represents God, then the rituals will be effective teaching tools to help people open their hearts and minds to experience the genuine remedy—the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world.

All through Scripture the message is the same. Humankind is infected with fear and selfishness (sin), which is deviant from God's design for life and is a terminal condition (dead in trespasses and sin). God is working through Christ to heal each person, restoring in them God's heart of love! This is what God is seeking to achieve in each of us—complete transformation of heart.

The Question Legal Theologies Cannot Answer

Design law, love in the heart, heals and removes confusion and misunderstanding, but imposed law injures and obscures. If you have friends stuck in imposed-law constructs, ask them this question: When did sexual relations between David and Bathsheba no longer constitute sin for David? This question has no right answer for those operating at level four and below. Every answer they provide is flawed. The following are typical level four answers:

- When he repented. But isn't repentance turning away from one's sinful behavior? Did David turn away from Bathsheba or to her?
- When God legally forgave and pardoned. Does that mean if a person today has a sin problem, for example, adultery or pornography, that once they ask God for forgiveness they can continue with ongoing adultery or pornography and it is no longer sin?
- When David married her. Is God's law superseded by human culture and tradition? Is polygamy not a violation of God's law even when local customs accept it? If today a Christian moved to a country where polygamy is legal, would it be acceptable to have more than one wife? Or would it still violate God's law to do so?

Sinful humanity (and level four thinking) looks on the outward appearance, but God looks on the heart (1 Sam. 16:7). The issue is not primarily the behavior but the motivation of the heart. The relationship between David and Bathsheba was sinful when it was motivated by selfishness in the heart. It was selfishness that caused David to commit adultery. It was selfishness that caused David to murder Uriah—and all of this was sinful.

However, after David was confronted by Nathan, he had a true change of heart motive. He died to self, love replaced selfishness in his heart, and he wrote Psalm 51. With a heart that genuinely loved others more than self, David's motivation was no longer to exploit Bathsheba for his own pleasure but instead to heal and restore to her what his selfishness had taken from her. And what had he taken from her? By his adultery and the murder of her husband, David had taken her name, reputation, station, livelihood, property, and home, and she likely would have ended up homeless and perhaps a prostitute. David had also taken away the one who loved and cherished her, the one who adored her and poured love into her life. The only way, in that society, that David could restore to her what he had taken was to marry her and genuinely love her.

This is real repentance, not merely turning away from a behavior but turning away from the selfishness in the heart and living a life of love. The penal theologies, based on level four thinking and focused on the bad deed, would have added injury to injury by demanding that David turn his back on Bathsheba and abandon her to a devastated life. But love heals, love restores.

Those at level four also misunderstand the death of the child from David and Bathsheba's first pregnancy. The imposed-law view alleges this story is another example of God punishing sin—God killing the infant to punish David. Not so! We must remember Israel at that time was functioning in the role of God's actors to display God's plan to heal and restore from sin (1 Cor. 4:9; see chap.10 above). David, as king, was on center stage. The eyes of the world have been reviewing his life for millennia. The child that failed to survive (who was born with some condition that was not consistent with life, some congenital defect that caused death) was the product of selfishness. This is an exact object lesson: selfishness does not bring life; selfishness violates God's design for life and results in death. However, when love rules in the heart, then life, health, and wisdom occur. After David's heart was transformed, he and Bathsheba had a child born of love—Solomon—blessed with the wisdom of God!

MONDAY

The lesson asks why Nathan told a story to David before confronting his sin? It was a communication tool to help bring David to conviction, to get past David's own fear-based defenses and denial.

Why does David say his sin was against God? Because David betrayed God. God had been faithful to David. God had:

- delivered David from Saul
- given David victory over Goliath
- delivered David from the lion and bear
- protected David in multiple combat operations
- chosen David to be king and given David the country
- given him health, wealth, power, fame, intelligence

And David was God's representative and David misrepresented God, betrayed the trust God placed in Him in this situation. David's first loyalty and responsibility and friendship was to God and David only sinned against Bathsheba and Uriah because he first walked away from his loyalty to God.

TUESDAY

The lesson title is Forgiven and Forgotten? Read first paragraph, "After David had…" When does God extend forgiveness, before or after repentance?

Does God need Jesus in order to extend forgiveness to forgive us from His heart?

If Jesus didn't die would God have an unforgiving attitude, would He refuse to forgive us?

Does Jesus' death do something to get God to forgive us?

Another way to ask it, which came first, God's forgiveness or Jesus' death?

If God forgives us without Jesus' death on the cross for our sins, then why did Jesus have to die for our salvation?

Let me be clear—Jesus' death as our Savior, as our substitute, was an absolute requirement to save human beings from sin—yet it was not a requirement to get the Father to forgive us.

So, again, if God forgives without Jesus' death on the cross for our sins, and yet we couldn't be saved without Jesus' death, then why did Jesus have to die?

Because salvation is not legal issue, Jesus death wasn't needed for forensic, legal reason because sin is not a legal problem. Sin is a problem with our state of being—namely we are out of harmony with God and God's design laws for life. We are dead in trespass and sin. In other words, we have a terminal condition and salvation requires a remedy to that condition. It requires the remedy be procured and that trust be established so the dying will take the remedy.

Thus, Jesus' death was necessary to destroy the lies of Satan about God and restore us to trust, and also to procure the remedy that heals us—which is a perfect, sinless, mature human character built upon the operational application of God's law by a human intelligence—Jesus. Jesus is our second Adam, the One who, with human abilities, was tempted in all points like us but without sin and who through the application of His power of choice destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light by restoring God's design law of love back into the humanity He assumed.

So, forgiveness—God forgives all, all are forgiven by God. But, all to not accept God's forgiveness. The kindness of God does not cause all to repent, all do not open their hearts to receive the forgiveness and love of God to be reborn, to partake of Jesus, to be recreated in heart, to have God's law written upon their hearts; so even though God forgives everyone, those who refuse to accept are not healed and remain in a state of unforgiveness. These would be evidenced in those who crucified Christ. Jesus forgave them, yet they didn't respond to His forgiveness and thus they remained, in heart, mind, character, unforgiven—hardened, selfish, eternally lost. thoughts?

So, understand, in God's kingdom forgiveness is about reality, about God being a forgiving God, but a God of truth and while God forgives all from His heart, God does not deny the sinner the ability to reject that forgiveness and remain unforgiven.

What about forgetting? Does forgiveness mean forgetting?

> "I, even I, am he who blots out > your transgressions, for my own sake,
> and remembers your sins no more." Isa 43:25

"For I will forgive their wickedness
and will remember their sins no more." Heb 8:12

What do these texts mean? Is this talking about memory erasure or something else?

- Can our angels read our Bibles? Do they know about David's sin with Bathsheba? How can they if it has been forgotten in heaven?
- What about in the new heaven and Earth, will we know each other? Will we know our mothers and fathers and spouses and children?
    - So consider when David, Bathsheba and Uriah are talking and up walks Solomon and says "Hi Mom!" What happens then?

- Misunderstand the judgment –
    - Under imposed law the judgment is judicial and sin are bad deeds that we do and the record of the deeds must be erased and memory must be purged so no one knows because if people knew they wouldn't trust us, or wouldn't like us and we would live in fear and insecurity so the penal lie teaches that the texts mean memory erasure.
    - Under design law though we realize that the deeds are the symptoms of sinfulness in the heart and mind and that sin is erased from the character, selfishness is purged from the heart, evil is eradicated from the mind, but we all remember the history of how we suffered in our own lives from sin before Jesus healed us and we are thankful for this.
        - It is like having a child with cancer—while they are sick we must focus on the cancer and make all the interventions necessary to put the cancer into remission. But once they are well, permanently well, we don't have to think about the cancer any more. But do we forget the doctor who cured her?
    - Mary Magdalene anoints Jesus feet
        - "those forgiven much love much"
    - Imagine being nominated to serve in children's department and someone says….
- So how do we understand those texts about not remembering?
    - Analogy of child who fibbed coming home "here comes that little liar…"
- One can safely "forget" ONLY when reconciliation has occurred

Consider this historic quote:

> Every question of truth and error in the long-standing controversy has now been made plain. The results of rebellion, the fruits of setting aside the divine statutes, have been laid open to the view of all created intelligences. The working out of Satan's rule in contrast with the government of God has been presented to the whole universe. Satan's own works have condemned him. God's wisdom, His justice, and His goodness stand fully vindicated. It is seen that all His dealings in the great controversy have been conducted with respect to the eternal good of His people and the good of all the worlds that He has created. . . . The history of sin will stand to all eternity as a witness that with the existence of God's law is bound up the happiness of all the beings He has created. With all the facts of the great controversy in view, the whole universe, both loyal and rebellious, with one accord declare: "Just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints." {Mar 346.2}

WEDNESDAY

In the middle of the lesson we read, “When Adam and Eve sinned, they hid from God’s presence (Gen 3:8). Why do you think David’s request, even after his sin, is so different?”

Was David’s response to his sin different than Adam and Eve’s? No, it wasn’t. Adam and Eve ran and hid because they were afraid, covered themselves with fig leaves and tried to make excuses.

David, when Bathsheba told him she was pregnant, ran and hid and tried to cover his sin with more sin, trickery, get Uriah to sleep with her, then murder.

But God came to Adam, gently, bringing Adam to realize God wasn’t his enemy and Adam repented and looked for the Savior.

God sent Nathan to David with a parable, which brought David to repentance and his heart was changed and he looked forward to the Savior.

So, there is no difference. Our natural selves always react to sin with fear—fear of punishment, death, reprisal, rejection, shame, guilt and we always seek to cover it up ourselves, to make excuses, to blame others.

It is only in relationship with God, experiencing God’s grace, God’s love, that the fear is overcome, that we open the heart and experience the Spirit renewing us with the motives of Christ.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, “Probably the most natural…” What happens if we forget our past mistakes, our past stumbling, our past sins?

Multiple different philosophers have expressed this idea in a variety of ways: “Those who don’t know history, or forget the past, are doomed to repeat it.”

Is this true? Why is this true? It is only true because of design law, and the problem of sin—the law of sin and death, fear and selfishness.

It is not true that doing an experiment with certain chemicals in a lab, that if you lose your notes, forget the combination of steps, that you are doomed to repeat the exact same experiment. It is not true that if you forget the specific route you took on a long journey cross country, that if you travel again you are doomed to take the exact same route.

What is true is the law of God and what deviations from God's design law bring, the law of sin and death—every time because it is how reality works.

If we forget the principles of God, of truth, love, liberty, then in every case over time intolerance arises, abuse occurs, societies divide with elites rising to control assets, governments, religions and the masses are exploited and taken advantage of. This is what Satan's methods do—every time. History is clear, Satan's form of government is rulers who use power to dominate, control, take from others and inflict punishments upon those who don't comply. All kingdoms of this world are Satan's. God's kingdom is not of this world and operates upon design law, love, truth, liberty.

- Satan's form of government is opposed to God's. God is creator—Satan is a created being. God's law is design law; Satan's is imposed rules. God rules by love; Satan rules by fear and selfishness. God sacrifices self to uplift others; Satan sacrifices others to exalt himself.
    - Satan says he will ascend to the throne of God and rule over Isaiah 14
    - Jesus, who did not think equality with God was something to be grasped humbled himself into the form of a servant all the way to the cross in order to uplift others
- When Satan took Jesus to the mountain and tempted Jesus with the kingdoms of the world, how many kingdoms did Satan claim were his and did he offer to our Messiah? All of them—understand all the kingdoms of the world are Satan's. Jesus said, "My kingdom is not of this world, if it were my followers would fight."
- Satan's kingdom is the kingdom of power over, of imposed law, of made up rules, of enforcement, of coercion, of dominance, which throughout all human history has always resulted in a few ruling elites dominating over and exploiting the masses.
    - The Pharaoh's of Egypt
    - The Shoguns and then emperors of Japan
    - The emperors of China
    - The emperors of Rome
    - The Kings and Queens and Popes of Europe
- There have always been, in every culture, three primary powers that form coalitions to exploit the masses:
    - The government
    - The religious leaders (shamans, priests, popes)
    - The aristocracy—big money, big business, shipping magnets, land owners
- These are the principles of Satan, but something happened that eventually led to a new form of government and that was the Reformation. The Word of God was put into the hands of the people. As God's Word was studied, the principles of truth, love and liberty took root in human hearts again. The Enlightenment occurred. God's design law principles for life were applied—the law of exertion—if you want something to get stronger you must exercise it. So, people began to value hard work, then education, moral principles, and above all liberty, autonomy, self-governance.
- These Protestant principles led to the formation of the first government in human history built to promote both religious and civil liberty. The US Constitution and bill of rights was specifically designed under the belief that human beings have certain inalienable rights endowed to us by our Creator and the purpose of government was to restrain other powers and people from encroaching upon these rights.

    - Thus the US government was established to give power to the people and restrain:
        - the government itself—no search without warrant, no tax without representation, to restriction of movement, or commerce etc.
        - the religious powers—people were to liberty of conscience
        - the aristocracies—big business
- This created the first country which purposely sought to establish and advance the principles of liberty and justice for all—which are godly principles that came directly out of the Reformation. Satan hates it and these principles have been under attack from the beginning.
- Today we find that the United States is about to completely reject these principles and begin practicing all the same exploitive powers of all human governments throughout history—and this is part of the Bible's end-time warning to the people of God
- The opponents of liberty and justice, those who want to strip away our inalienable rights and establish a ruling elite will do so by claiming they are advancing some form of justice, it might be:
    - justice for the environment
    - justice for people of color
    - justice for the unborn
    - justice for the weak and vulnerable
- But their methods will not be the methods of God, which is truth, presented in love, leaving people free, which converts the heart. They will not use government to restrain powers from encroaching inalienable rights, they will do just the opposite, they will use governmental powers to force their way, violating our inalienable rights while claiming they are only seeking justice, or equity. It is Satan at work, see it for what it is.
    - They will not unite, they will divide. They will lie, they will manipulate, they will accuse, they will silence, deplatform, censor, intimidate, riot, arrest, cheat, commit fraud. And any who stand up for truth, for openness, for actual equality as free moral agents, being created in the image of God, will be accused of being racists, or some other hater.
- They will divide people into classes that don't exist in God's kingdom in order to incite conflict and undermine unity—divide and conquer. In God's kingdom there is neither Jew or Greek, male or female, we are all one in Christ. When Jesus returns there are not many denominations, there are sheep and goats and they are divided based on character—what methods to they live. Do they love others or do they exploit others and in so doing each person decides for or against Jesus. As you have done it unto one of the least of these you have done it unto me.
    - In the USA it was built in which people united on these principles of liberty and justice for all—but now it is being divided.
    - Understand the USA is unique as a nation in all history—all other countries are tribal, they are racist, they are divided by ethnicity—but only in the USA were the principles of liberty and justice for all, a meritocracy, ability, character valued and what mattered. Anyone could succeed if they applied themselves and worked hard—but all of that is being denied and people are being taught a fraudulent system of values that is an attack on the Bible and the principles of God.

- God permits these events to unfold so that every person can decide, what law to they prefer, what methods they will practice, what God they worship—the God of love whose laws are design laws, or the god of this world, imperial, imposed rules, punishing god?

The difference this time though, is that when the USA finishes its denial of the lamblike principles of civil and religious liberties, when it speaks like a dragon and pursues justice through more inflicted rules and coercive pressure, there will be nowhere left on earth for the righteous to flee to establish a new government based on liberty.

Understanding this we see why those who seek to destroy the USA, the land of liberty, are so persistent in their attempts to tear down our history, to replace it with lies. It is why they:

- relabel the land of the free as the land of the enslaver
- relabel communism as socialism
- must rename college and sports teams
- Tear down statues of American heroes
- Remove names of the founders from schools and districts
- Reframe the flag from a symbol of liberty and justice for all to a sign of abuse and enslavement
- Change the date of the founding of the USA to a time before the USA was founded, they want people to believe the USA was founded by the colonies that we went to war to free ourselves from, to the European colonial powers that brought slaves here. But it requires a denial of reality, when slaves were brought here the USA didn't exist—how conveniently they forget that.
- Change the language and make you stop speaking words like mother—we must call mothers birther persons, or husband and wife, we must say partner; we can no longer use pronouns of male or female.

It is essential for the forces of evil to succeed that they destroy truth, destroy the record of history so that Satanic forces can arise and reenact the same abusive policies that take away liberty, undermine thinking, corrupt development, destroy individuality, and obstruct God's plan to heal hearts and minds.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

NEW RESOURCE SOUTH AFRICA: Could It Be This Simple? is now available in in Afrikaans. We want to give special thanks to Jacques van den Heever, who spent many hours proof reading and working with editors and translators to get this resource availab.e Thank you Jacque!

It is available as a FREE download on our website, but if you are in South Africa and would like one in print, then email Jacque at comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

There will be a small postage charge of R50 (around $4) or you live near Somerset West you are welcome to pick one up in person.

South Africa also has some newly printed materials including tracts, meditation guides, and CIBTS. If you are interested in getting copies for yourself or to share, please email comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

Special Baker Books has made the digital version of The God Shaped Heart available for a short time for $1.99 for either Kindle readers on Amazon or Nooks at Barnes and Noble.

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon! We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 5
Come To Me

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

Before we get into the lesson for this week, some of my recent comments have stimulated some concerns that I feel I need to be address publicly. I am going to read an email I received this week that is representative of some of the concerns and then address those concerns. But before I do, this topic is a hard topic, it is often emotional, visceral and can lead to division rather than unity. The only way we can successfully explore the concerns is with humble hearts filled by the Holy Spirit with a willingness to follow truth wherever it leads.

Our goal at Come and Reason Ministries is first and foremost to glorify God, to speak well of our Creator, to reveal His character and methods of love in the most winsome and accurate way possible, to apply His methods to our lives and in doing so to help people learn to discern, to develop their God given reasoning powers to think for themselves, to grow up into the full stature of sons and daughters of God. To this end, we frequently seek to not only reveal God's character, methods and principles warring against the prince of darkness throughout Scripture and history, but to explore how this battle enters into every phase of human experience.

Many years ago, I read the following paragraph from the book Education and it became a philosophy for me, something that I have strived to achieve and a method that we at Come and Reason Ministries apply:

> The student should learn to view the word as a whole, and to see the relation of its parts. He should gain a knowledge of its grand central theme, of God's original purpose for the world, of the rise of the great controversy, and of the work of redemption. He should understand the nature of the two principles that are contending for supremacy, and should learn to trace their working through the records of history and prophecy, to the great consummation. He should see how this controversy enters into every phase of human experience; how in every act of life he himself reveals the one or the other of the two antagonistic motives; and how, whether he will or not, he is even now deciding upon which side of the controversy he will be found. Ed 190.2

This is why I consistently teach from Scripture focusing upon God's design laws, providing examples from Scripture and history, but I also frequently seek to apply these principles to what is happening in our world today—because the conflict enters into every phase of our lives.

But, unfortunately, speaking about events in our own hearts, our own churches, our own cities and countries, can sometimes be misunderstood, can sometimes allow people to believe that I have stopped teaching the gospel and become a political activist. To the degree that my comments lend themselves to being viewed as advocating for some political interpretation I regret this and I will seek to do better to be clear that I do not advocate for political parties, that my comments are intended to demonstrate the two antagonistic principles active in every phase of human experience.

So let me say this clearly and plainly. I do not now, nor have I in the past advocated for any political party or politician. I do advocate for principles of God's kingdom and have written about how God's principles and Satan's principles of government are interacting in every phase of our experience, as the quote above said we should do. I explored this my blog Why Satan Hates the US Constitution.

The same author who wrote the book Education wrote the following in the book The Great Controversy, she applies God's principles to history, demonstrating how the two antagonistic principles really do enter into human governments and where the USA fits into this:

> "And he had two horns like a lamb." The lamblike horns indicate youth, innocence, and gentleness, fitly representing the character of the United States when presented to the prophet as "coming up" in 1798. Among the Christian exiles who first fled to America and sought an asylum from royal oppression and priestly intolerance were many who determined to establish a government upon the broad foundation of civil and religious liberty. Their views found place in the Declaration of Independence, which sets forth the great truth that "all men are created equal" and endowed with the inalienable right to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." [Notice the difference here between equality and equity. Equality is equality of moral worth, endowed by God with the same value as human beings, the same rights of life, liberty of person to pursue happiness. The design laws of God apply equally to all. But none are promised equal outcomes, equal talents, equal abilities, equal roles, equal income, equal happiness—no. Outcomes cannot be given, only liberty, opportunity, governments can seek to restrain the abusive powers from encroaching upon our individual liberties. Equity turns this upside down, it seeks to undermine liberty and encroach upon opportunity by forcing outcomes upon people based on some factor that is irrelevant to the position—such as skin color, or gender rather than merit, talent, ability, achievement.] And the Constitution guarantees to the people the right of self-government, providing that representatives elected by the popular vote shall enact and administer the laws. Freedom of religious faith was also granted, every man being permitted to worship God according to the dictates of his conscience. Republicanism and Protestantism became the fundamental principles of the nation. These principles are the secret of its power and prosperity. [These are the outworking of God's law of liberty. The secret to the USAs power and prosperity. So if you are an enemy of the US, an enemy of individual development, what would you need to attack and undermine? Republicanism and Protestantism, which is religious and civil liberty.] The oppressed and downtrodden throughout Christendom have turned to this land with interest and hope. Millions have sought its shores, and the United States has risen to a place among the most powerful nations of the earth (The Great Controversy, p. 441). [Why do millions seek to come to the US, still today, this week a milestone in illegal immigrant arrests was made over 1 million arrests at the southern border in the first six months of this new administration—but why are so many flocking here if the USA is the most racist, abusive, intolerant country in the world? Why are they not flocking to China, or Venezuela? This is the difference between evidenced based thinking and declarations and claims. Those who don't know how to think for themselves believe what others tell them, but those who understand evidence realize that the reason people do flock here is because of the principles of liberty established as foundational to our government and which are under attack.]

Is this author of the Great Controversy being too political or is this author describing two antagonistic principles and how they are battling through human history? Do we see these principles under attack in our society today? We will unpack this more in a moment.

In another blog, The Law of Liberty and Society Today I describe one of God's design laws, the law of liberty. I describe how love requires freedom, that whenever freedoms are taken away love is damaged, rebellion is instilled and if freedom isn't reestablished over time the constant domination of others results in the slow erosion of individuality, the ability to think and reason and people become shadows of those who wield power.

In another blog, BEWARE: THE CURRENT CLAIM OF "INSTITUTIONAL RACISM" IS REALLY AN ATTACK ON CHRISTIANITY I document God's principles as described from Scripture, His design for humanity that 1) God created us with individuality, our own identity and ability to think and reason that we are to develop by exercise and this requires liberty, freedom of conscience and choice 2) God created families with fathers and mothers and that love for each other starts in the family and is how God built life to operate 3) God created nature and His laws are the protocols upon which nature operates thus God created science, the true investigation of evidence that is testable and reproducible and reveals truth and 4) God designed humans for useful labor and gave Adam and Eve work in a sinless world, that we only gain strength through exercise, and that failure to engage in useful labor is damaging to human character.

After describing these Bible principles, I quote word for word from a chart from the National Museum of African American History and Culture, posted in the Smithsonian Institute. It states: "White dominate culture, or whiteness, refers to the ways white people and their traditions, attitudes and ways of life have been normalized over time and are now considered standard practices in the United States." And then goes on to describe what it perceives to be the standard practices of whitism: 1) Rugged Individualism 2) Two parent family structure 3) Emphasis on Scientific Method 4) History [European-centered] and 5) Protestant Work Ethic.

What this reveals is that what is happening in America today is an attempt to attack the principles of God, the principles of the Bible, by labeling these very principles as racist, as whitism.

So, putting together what we have read so far, there are two antagonistic principles at war in human history. God's principles of truth, love, freedom, the equality of all people as children of God warring against Satan's principles of lies, selfishness and coercion, people are merely animals evolved from lower life forms. We war against Satan's lies about God, including those that try and reframe the principles of Republicanism and Protestantism as whitism. They are not.

The same author who wrote the book Education and The Great Controversy described the dangers of letting others do our thinking for us, when we believe based on authority rather than discerning the truth for ourselves; when we believe base upon who said it rather than the evidence, whether it be the pastor, the conference president, the pope, the governor, a CNN or FoxNews anchor, the CDC, the NIH, or whomever; when we believe based on authority, rather than being able to evaluate evidence for ourselves, we damage our minds and she says we become unfit for heaven.

It is like a person who takes math a class but instead of learning how to work problems, they simply memorize the answers given by the teacher. Even if they have the right answers, they still have no ability to solve problems. This is happening in society today, people don't know how to solve problems, how to differentiate between proclamations, claims, declarations and actual evidence. Listen to what this author says from 2T 129:

> If we mistake the wisdom of man for the wisdom of God we are led astray by the foolishness of man's wisdom. Here is the great danger of many in -----. They have not an experience for themselves. They have not been in the habit of prayerfully considering for themselves, with unprejudiced, unbiased judgment, questions and subjects that are new and that are ever liable to arise. They wait to see what others will think. If these dissent, that is all that is needed to convince them that the subject under consideration is of no account whatever. Although this class is large, it does not change the fact that they are inexperienced and weak-minded through long yielding to the enemy, and will always be as sickly as babes, walking by others' light, living on others' experience, feeling as others feel, and acting as others act. They act as though they had not an individuality. Their identity is submerged in others; they are merely shadows of those whom they think [are] right. Unless these become sensible of their wavering character and correct it, they will all fail of everlasting life; they will be unable to cope with the perils of the last days. [We are in the perils of the last days. The lies and propaganda are intense. Millions are demonstrating how they have not developed the ability to discern and believe based on authority of the office rather than truth and evidence and millions are being deceived] They will possess no stamina to resist the devil, for they do not know that it is he. Someone must be at their side to inform them whether a foe or a friend is approaching. They are not spiritual, therefore spiritual things are not discerned. They are not wise in those things which relate to the kingdom of God. Neither young nor old are excusable in trusting to another to have an experience for them. Said the angel: "Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm." A noble self-reliance is needed in the Christian experience and warfare. 2T 129.2

Do we see this in society today? Do we see millions believing what they are told, rather than differentiating evidence from the spin, the interpretation of evidence given by others? Just a week ago I posted a blog, Your Mind and Media Manipulation—How to Protect Yourself in which I unpacked the difference between facts and interpretation of facts and how the media often presents things just the opposite of what the facts actually reveal.

This is critical because our decisions are only as good as the information upon which they are based. If you want to control people then you prevent them from having accurate information, you keep them ignorant. This is what all communist and totalitarian governments do. This is what the church of the Dark Ages did by locking away Scripture. But God is the God of truth, truth always heals and frees—which is what happened when the Bible was translated into the language of the people and they started reading it—the Reformation which led to the US Constitution and the principles of liberty, equality and justice for all.

Those who operate upon God's methods don't seek to silence opposition voices, they want the opposition because lovers of truth will become more efficient and presenting the truth. But liars will be exposed. And liars will seek to silence and to misinform.

Thomas Jefferson wrote:

> "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be." (as cited in Padover, 1939, p. 89) ". . . whenever the people are well-informed, they can be trusted with their own government; that, whenever things get so far wrong as to attract their notice, they may be relied on to set them right." (as cited in Padover, 1939, p. 88) https://www.varsitytutors.com/earlyamerica/jefferson-primer/jefferson-education-franchise

Consider the education of the populace and what is happening in our schools. It is not surprising that those who seek to destroy Republicanism and Protestantism want to tear down history and replace it with a false narrative. It is not surprising that they insist on graduating from one grade to the next individuals who cannot read or do basic math, and those who cannot reason. And why they attack those who suggest that we require competence to advance students to the next grade with slurs of racism and whitism.

In the 2T quote above, the author talks about people not having an experience for themselves, or relying on others to give them an experience. I frequently get the argument about personal experience from people of color. Some will cite their experiences with racism and suggest that I don't have their experience therefore I am not able to speak on this issue.

Consider from the same author another quote about experience:

> As I have before stated, you, my sister, rely upon experience. Your experience decides you to pursue a certain course. But that which many term experience is not experience at all; it is simply habit, or mere indulgence, blindly and frequently ignorantly followed, with a firm, set determination, and without intelligent thought or inquiry relative to the laws at work in the accomplishment of the result. 3T 68.3
> Real experience is a variety of careful experiments made with the mind freed from prejudice and uncontrolled by previously established opinions and habits. [What is real experience? It is careful experiments, problems solved in a variety of ways, with a mind free from prejudice, bias, opinion, habits, preconceived ideas in order to observe what is actually happening—how reality works. It is the outworking of God's design laws in reality in contrast > to Satan's imposed laws] The results are marked with careful solicitude and an anxious desire to learn, to improve, and to reform on every habit that is not in harmony with physical and moral laws. The idea of others' gainsaying what you have learned by experience seems to you to be folly and even cruelty itself. But there are more errors received and firmly retained from false ideas of experience than from any other cause, for the reason that what is generally termed experience is not experience at all; because there has never been a fair trial by actual experiment and thorough investigation, with a knowledge of the principle involved in the action. 3T 69.1

This perspective is based upon design law, testing how reality works. And we have a recent example from society of false experience, of setting aside reality and design law. Those of us who know design law predicted something and sure enough the evidence supports our predictions. We predicted that the BLM movement to defund the police would result in worsening crime and harm to communities. But the BLM group claimed that their experience taught them that police are bad, abusive, white supremacist and the source of violence upon people of color, that if we only get rid of these enforcers of white power then communities of color would thrive, would improve, and abuses and exploitation would stop.

But, those of us who understand Scripture, who understand God's design laws, understand that crime isn't a racial issue, it is a sin issue and sin is in the heart of all human beings, and that when restraining powers are removed from the wicked then crime surges, that the malevolent will seize the opportunity and the powerless and innocent will suffer.

And what has happened in communities where police have been reduced? Soaring crimes of all kinds, not just violent crimes, but destruction of property, rampant stealing and shoplifting resulting in stores closing in communities, which injures the residents who now have to travel farther for basic needs. And what people have suffered the most? People of color. This is reality, it is completely predictable for those who understand God's design laws. The so-called experience that police are the problem isn't reality, police, in general, make communities better, despite the occasional officer who betrays their trust and commits crime themselves and needs to be removed. It is now so obvious that even the current president has come out for more police. Understand reality—if black lives really mattered to BLM, they would never have advanced the defund police movement. BLM doesn't care about black lives, they care about power and about undermining the principles of Republicanism and Protestantism. But because they have titled themselves with "Black Lives Matter" those who have never trained themselves to look at evidence, those who have no individuality, those who rely on someone in authority to tell them the answer, hear the label "Black Lives Matter" and believe the organization is actually beneficial to people of color—what a grand deception.

Let me say it this way, BLM is like the Marlboro Man—the Marlboro Man was a depiction that was purposely designed by tobacco executives to suggest that you can have better health, vitality, strength, and manliness if you smoke Marlboros but the reality is that cigarette smoking destroys health. Likewise, BLM is designed to suggest better lives for black people, while the principles advanced by BLM destroy the lives of all people but especially people of color.

Now, having said all of this, I want to read an email I received this week and unpack it. It is a disturbing email, but a serious email that expresses a real problem we, God's children, are confronted with and I believe that we must take these concerns seriously and answer the questions. This email is one of a several correspondences I have received over the last month or two expressing similar ideas.

> Dr. Jennings, you often laud the principles the U.S. was founded upon. Yet you fail to acknowledge the continual pervasive presence of principles of white supremacy embedded in the U.S. constitution. There is no greater evidence of satanic influence (lies and selfishness) than white supremacy. It is clearly why Donald Trump was elected. It is why Mr. Trump correctly asserted that he could shoot someone on 5th Avenue and not lose supporters, and it clearly continues to be the dominant controlling influence in the Republican Party. Your unwillingness or inability to address this is as telling as Adventism's unwillingness or inability to address the truths you clearly articulate about God's principles and design laws. All of the kingdoms of this world, including the United States, are the kingdoms of Satan. You have been dog whistling and tacitly supporting this ideology. Are you capable of objectively acknowledging this self evident truth? How can asking America to live up to the principles she espouses be racist? Are you capable of repudiating white supremacy without equivocation?

I can't tell you the sadness I feel when I read or hear feedback like this; it breaks my heart.

To the writer—as a Christian—I love you. I am sorry for any injustice, racial or otherwise, you have experienced in your life. I was born in sin and conceived in iniquity, I have nothing in myself to commend myself to you or anyone else. It is only by God's grace, by Jesus in me that there is anything of value in me. I cannot right any wrongs you have suffered, but I can point you to Jesus who can.

I don't know the person who wrote this—Is the writer black or white, I don't know, but I want us to be united in Christ. Can we be? Only if we both have Christ in our hearts, only if we both die to the methods and ways of this world, only if we both embrace and practice the methods of God.

Let me address his concerns specifically.

First, I have been saying for a long time, and have written in multiple places, that ALL the kingdoms of this world are Satan's and all of them operate upon the principles of imposed law and therefore do injustice. So thank you for reminding us of this. I have written that the lamblike principles of religious and civil liberties established in our Constitution are going to be repudiated and that, just as the Bible teaches, the beast with lamblike horns will speak like a dragon. I describe this in my blog series The Six Powers of Satan and How to Overcome Them Part 2 and Babylon the Mother of Harlots: It's Time to Come Out I am citing all of these blogs as evidence that I have been teaching these truths for a long time, because the author of the email seems to be unaware that we hold this position. So I am not merely claiming that I do, I am providing historic evidence of doing so.

In my blog King of the North versus King of the South and Today's End time Events I describe how Satan has two grand forces at work throughout history, the forces of the King of the South which is godlessness represented by Egypt and includes paganism, evolutionism, humanism, secularism, communism opposed by the King of the North which is religious imperialism represented by both Babylon and Rome, and are those who believe in God but use the power of the state, might and force, to coerce people to comply with their religious views. And how the beautiful land, God's people, are in neither of these two group. Satan pits these two forces against each other, but God's people are caught in the middle and Satan tries to get God's people to pick one of these two sides when both are his. We see this battle in society today. Wokeism, leftism, socialism, greenism, BLM, transgenderism, all of this is part of the godless king of the south movement and it is pushing its agenda strongly, attacking the forces of the king of the north and, if we understand Daniel 11 correctly, the king of the north, religious imperialism, is going to storm out against the king of the south and destroy him. And God's people are in neither of these two groups. I have been saying this all along.

So I have not been dog whistling for the GOP or the political right. I have been advocating for the principles of liberty, for truth, for individuals to think for themselves, to learn to discern, to be able to tell the difference between actual evidence and interpretations, to apply God's design laws to the problem and come to godly solutions.

But I understand why some feel like am advocating for the right—when you stand on the left and someone calls you to the middle—you are necessarily being pulled to the right. And when you stand on the right and someone calls you to the middle you are necessarily being pulled to the left. When I have written and advocated for equality for gay people, to treat them equally under the law and to love them like Christ, I have been accused of advocating for the left. But I am not. I am advocating for the living application of the design laws of God in how we live.

Now let's talk directly about racism. It is a real problem, but before we can talk about it, we must define it. If we use the same word but assign different meanings to the word then we are no longer talking about the same thing and we misunderstand each other.

In other areas I have given concise definitions to help clarify confusing issues:

- Spiritualism—the pursuit of knowledge without the investigation of evidence or the use of reason
    - We can see spiritualism in any form, astrology, voodoo, Tarot cards, palm reading—it is all the same, seeking knowledge without evidence and without reason
- Legalism—a preoccupation with law and legal standing
    - whether legalism of works, or sacrifices, or indulgences, or vicarious legalism of legal records getting expunged in courtrooms in heaven. It is still all legalism.
- Racism is a preoccupation with race. It is using race as a factor in decision-making instead of ability, character, talent, achievement, merit, accomplishment etc.
    - With this definition we can identify racism wherever it manifests, whether white supremacy, Japanese/Chinese racism, German/Slavic racism, or white inferiority/black supremacy—the false guilt that drives race-based decision-making today. At its root racism is all the same, using race as a factor to demarcate and differentiate rather than objective measures of character, ability, talent, achievement, merit.

If we take a Biblical worldview then we understand that there is one race—the human race and that all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, that there is no one righteous, no not one; and we are all suffering from the same condition of sinfulness and in need of the same Savior. What matters is not ethnicity, but character. In a Biblical worldview there are only two groups, the sheep and the goats, the wheat and the tears, the saved and the lost. So, as Paul wrote,

> You are all sons of God through faith in Christ Jesus, for all of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, slave nor free, male nor female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. (Ga 3:26–28 NIV84).

We are either in Christ or we are not. Those who are in Christ the outward appearances don't separate us. But if we remain worldly, then outward appearance is supremely important. It is the ungodly who look at the outward appearances, just as Scripture says:

> "Man looks at the outward appearance, but the LORD looks at the heart" (1Sam 16:7 NIV84)

So, to the emailer—I am sorry for your hurt, for whatever wrong you have experienced in this world—but Jesus said, "In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world." (John 16:33 NIV84).

In this world we will experience injustice, because all the kingdoms of this world are Satan's. It is only in Christ that we find health, life, peace, joy, and unity. I want to be united with Christ, One with Him in love for God and others. In order for us to overcome the world, to overcome fear, selfishness and racism, we must have God living in us. It requires we become united in God's methods, principles and ways.

What is it that separates people? What is it that causes the greatest division? What is the most significant obstacle between people being united? Is it our skin color, or is it our hearts and minds?

If we both have Jesus in our hearts and love others more than self, will our skin color be a problem? But if we have hurt feelings, jealousy, a sense of life being unfair, a feeling of being disadvantaged, a sense of being taken advantage of, of not being valued, of being misjudged, of being diminished based on our race, and we look to the kingdoms of this world to make it right, to fix the problem, to get the right laws, right judges, right enforcement will we ever be united? Never—this is Satan's grand trick, incite real injustice and then trick people into pursuing justice through Satan's laws, Satan's kingdoms, Satan's methods which only incite more injustice and cause more division.

We at Come and Reason Ministries stand for equality of all people as children of God. We want to see all things in heaven and earth reconciled together under one head, Jesus Christ. We seek to advance the good news of God's kingdom that, when brought into hearts, unites all of us into one family, the family of God. We are one people—children of God—who have the same principles or laws of God written into our hearts and thus we mature in character to be like Jesus. And this unity cannot be accomplished through legislation and imposed human laws.

Anything that undermines God's design of love, unity in Christ, equality of all people as children of God is evil and we oppose it.

Thus we oppose racism in every and all of its forms, because racism divides. And of course we oppose white supremacy—but saying this in society today is like saying we oppose cigarette smoking—which we do. There was a time when people didn't know the dangers of cigarette smoking—worse when doctors prescribed it for lung disease, as a treatment to make one healthy. But today, only people with impairments in thinking, mentally deranged individuals, think cigarette smoking is healthy. Likewise, there isn't anyone in society that I know, who actually thinks white supremacy is okay, or advances white supremacy. This is why I don't often say it, because it simply is understood, like smoking, to be wrong—it is common knowledge.

- What are the principles of the Bible in regard to race and how we treat each other?
- What are the principles of BLM, CRT and wokeism—are they the same as Bible principles?
- Racism is a preoccupation with race, of using race as a criteria for decision-making instead of ability, competence, character, achievement etc. do we find the principles of racism being practiced, endorsed, institutionalized, and advanced in society today? Where?

Martin Luther King Jr. said,

> Darkness cannot drive out darkness: only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate: only love can do that (Strength to Love, 1963)

Understand reality—we cannot get rid of racism by practicing racism. If we make race a criteria in our decision-making, our policy making, or admissions to schools, our priorities in awarding government contracts, our practice for corporate advancement then we are only perpetuating racism, not eliminating it.

We cannot drive out racism from hearts, minds and society by screaming racism or by practicing race-based hiring practices as a means of correcting historic racism—that only perpetuates racism. The only way to eradicate racism is to love people in Jesus, to practice God's methods in our lives, and to create equal opportunity for individual ability, hard work, merit, talent and achievement to differentiate. No matter how well-intentioned, corrective race-based practices are by definition racist and perpetuate racism.

Jesus said,

> How can Satan enter into a person, and by entering, get rid of Satan? Think about it: It would be like using water to get rid of wetness (Mark 3:23 The Remedy).

Martin Luther King Jr. knew this and famously said,

> I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character.

In God's kingdom, it is about the quality of each person's heart, mind, and character. This is what really matters: Is a person like Jesus in his or her heart—or not? The color of one's skin is irrelevant.

Understand this reality: Human governments can never resolve racism, because at its core, racism is a heart problem, not a behavior problem, and no laws imposed by governments can instill love in the heart.

Yes—governments can and should remove laws that are racist (Jim Crow Laws, for instance) and ensure that the laws that are passed treat all people equally. But as soon as the government moves from treating all people equally under the law to advancing policies that favor one racial or ethnic or gender group over another then the government has institutionalized racism.

And those who are godless will always do this because the godless don't care about uplifting people, the godless want power and they purposely craft policies to exploit the masses for their own empowerment.

So we, as Christians, must not be duped into joining any of these political forces, we must stand on the principles of God, which are His design laws, which are freedom for all, because love only grows in an atmosphere of freedom.

From the Remedy of the Lord in Song: The Psalms chapter 19:7-13:

> The design law of God is perfect, > restoring one's life.
> The principles of the Lord are constant, > imparting wisdom to those without it.
> The prescriptions of the Lord are right, > bringing happiness to the life.
> The protocols of God are brilliant, > enlightening the mind.
> Worship of the Lord heals > and is everlasting.
> The decisions of the Lord are always correct > and completely righteous.
> They are more valuable than gold,
> even much refined gold;
> they are sweeter than honey,
> even from the honeycomb.
> They teach those who serve you how reality works — > in living in harmony with them there is great benefit.
> Who can identify every defect in their heart?

Heal everything — even what I cannot see.
Change my heart — refrain me from selfish choices;
don't let selfishness control me.
Then I will be spiritually healthy, free from deviations from your great design.

SUNDAY

Read Matthew 11:28-30:

> Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light (Matthew 11:28-30 NIV84).

The lesson asks us what rest? How does Christ give us this rest?

Is this physical rest? Is it rest for our souls, for our internal struggles, rest from fighting to survive—not just survive on earth, food and shelter, but to survive the weight of shame and guilt that sin brings? Is it that we need rest from our own fears, insecurities, and selfishness?

How do we get this rest?

The lesson states in the first paragraph that "Jesus does not curry favors; He puts the finger where it hurts…" What do you understand this to mean?

What law lens do you understand it through?

When a person has appendicitis and goes to the ER, does the doctor put their fingers on the abdomen? Does the doctor put their finger where it hurts? Why?

Is Jesus speaking in ways to draw attention to where the problem is? Why?

What is the first step in saving a sinner? Isn't it that the sinner must recognize their condition, be convicted of their sinful state, be convinced that they have a problem and that they cannot fix it themselves? And then, that there is a Savior who can remedy the problem for them?

So, is Jesus trying to harm or seeking to heal?

But what will patients often do when the doctor probes a wound? They will instinctively push the doctor's hand away—why?

Do we do this with the Holy Spirit, with Truth, with godly people in our lives?

With this in mind, Jesus seeking to awaken them to their need, their problem, the lesson points out that Jesus tells them it will be more tolerable on the day of judgment for Sodom than for these people. Why?

Notice Jesus' words, "But I say to you that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for you" (Matthew 11:24 NKJV).

What does this mean? What law lens are you hearing this through? More tolerable, what does tolerable mean? Other versions use the word bearable. What does bearable mean? Is it inflicted or is it something that naturally occurs?

What would cause these people to have more to bear in the judgment than Sodom a city so wicked that God destroyed it?

What causes the suffering? It is unremedied sin in the heart, mind and character—and those who have had the greatest opportunity to repent, who have had the greatest truth that they have refused will have the greatest guilt to bear.

So, from The Remedy NT starting in verse 20:

> Because the people in the cities where Jesus performed most of his miracles refused to turn away from selfishness and accept the Remedy, he pronounced the unavoidable result:[21] "Korazin, your suffering will be great, and Bethsaida, your agony will be horrible! If the evidence and miracles that were presented to you would have been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have humbled themselves, rejected selfishness, accepted the Remedy, and been restored to love.[22] On the day each person faces ultimate truth, Tyre and Sidon will have less guilt and agony to bear than you.[23] And you, people of Capernaum, will you soar into heaven? Oh no! You will shrivel up and decay into the depths. If the miracles performed in you were done in Sodom, that city would still be here today.[24] On the day each person faces ultimate truth, Sodom will have less guilt and agony to bear than you." (Matthew 11:20-24 REM)

In the fourth paragraph the lesson states, "Jesus' ability to give rest is based on His divinity and His oneness with the Father."

What do you think about this? What does it mean? The assumed part of the sentence needs to be recognized. Yes, Jesus' oneness with the Father is key—but so is His oneness with us. It was that Jesus was fully human AND fully divine. It was Jesus by restoring God's character, God's methods, God's design laws for life back into the species human while fully revealing the truth of God's character to us that He is able to give us rest.

Here is an historic quote:

> The humanity of the Son of God is everything to us. It is the golden chain that binds our souls to Christ, and through Christ to God. This is to be our study. Christ was a real man; He gave proof of His humility in becoming a man. Yet He was God in the flesh. When we approach this subject, we would do well to heed the words spoken by Christ to Moses at the burning bush, "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground" (Exodus 3:5). We should come to this study with the humility of a learner, with a contrite heart. And the study of the incarnation of Christ is a fruitful field, which will repay the searcher who digs deep for hidden truth. 1SM 244.1

Praise God that "Christ Jesus:

> 6 Who, being in very nature God, > did not consider equality with God something to be grasped, > 7 but made himself nothing, > taking the very nature of a servant,
> being made in human likeness.
> 8 And being found in appearance as a man, > he humbled himself > and became obedient to death—> even death on a cross! (Php 2:5–8 NIV84).

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Christ saying to us, "Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." (Mt 11:29–30 NIV84).

What is a yoke? What does it do?

A yoke is not a bridle, it is not a bit, it is not designed to compel or to force or to inflict pain. What is the function of a yoke? It shares the load!

Jesus is saying that we are to yoke up with Him, to join forces with Him, to be united with Him and He will help us carry the load and only with His yoke can we succeed!

What is the yoke that joins us to Christ, that relieves the burdens of life, that lifts the weight, that energizes us, invigorates us, gives us life and makes life easy? The law of love!

It is the yoke of love, love for God and love for others that joins our hearts and minds to Jesus and relieves us of fear, guilt, shame and the need to force our way. The duties of life become joys as we carry them out in love.

This is from the book The Desire of Ages:

> The yoke that binds to service is the law of God. The great law of love revealed in Eden, proclaimed upon Sinai, and in the new covenant written in the heart, is that which binds the human worker to the will of God. If we were left to follow our own inclinations, to go just where our will would lead us, we should fall into Satan's ranks and become possessors of his attributes. Therefore God confines us to His will, which is high, and noble, and elevating. He desires that we shall patiently and wisely take up the duties of service. The yoke of service Christ Himself has borne in humanity. He said, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God: yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. "I came down from heaven, not to do Mine own will, but the will of Him that sent Me." John 6:38. Love for God, zeal for His glory, and love for fallen humanity, brought Jesus to earth to suffer and to die. This was the controlling power of His life. This principle He bids us adopt. DA 329.3

This is design law—it is how God built life to operate. We cannot grow, develop, advance through being idle, through lack of exercise, through allowing others to solve our problems, fulfill our duties, do our work. It is for our health, wellness, development that we are each given burdens of life to fulfill and we are to unite with Christ in carrying out these responsibilities in life.

Practices and protocols that remove life's responsibilities from people destroy character, undermine health, wellness and inflame selfishness. People who are not united with Christ, working with the yoke of loving service in life, will be yoked with great burdens of this world that crush them.

From the same author who wrote The Desire of Ages:

> But instead of taking the yoke of Christ, [which is the yoke of God's law of love which motivates us to live lives of loving service] how many bind upon their souls a galling yoke, a grievous burden. Many wear a load of care, worldly perplexities are accepted, worldly customs are followed, worldly fashions practiced, and their character is marred, their life made a weariness. Jesus would have them lay aside this yoke of bondage, and take upon them his yoke of love, that they may learn to be meek and lowly in heart. The weakest soul, wearing Christ's yoke, bearing his burden, may become strong in his grace, and he will find the yoke easy, the burden light. ST January 19, 1891, par. 5

In the middle of the second paragraph the lesson states, "Both the Father and the Son are working unitedly to save humanity."

This is well said—this is exactly right. The Father and Son are one, united in love and purpose to eradicate sin and save sinners.

TUESDAY

The lesson talks about meekness, which is the opposite of pride and arrogance. Meekness doesn't place confidence in self, but in God.

But the lesson rightly points out that the meek are not doormats, they are not pushovers, they don't compromise principle to be liked or to make others happy with them. They stand firm in the face of opposition because their focus is not on self, it is on God and on love and truth.

Those who are doormats, who allow others to bully them into compromising are not meek in the Biblical sense, they are fearful, and frequently needy of other's approval and give in to avoid being rejected. This is not selflessness, it is a form of selfishness, but the selfishness of self-doubt and fear of rejection rather than arrogance and pride. But self is still in the center.

The truly godly meek have Jesus in the center. They don't seek to gain attention for self, but seek to uplift God and Jesus to make them the focus.

Read the last two paragraphs, "Jesus' humanity and meekness… What is the problem with this description? What law lens is being advanced? Is this how God's government works, or this fallen human law and government projected onto God?

What is a better way to describe the reality of what Jesus and the Father have done to save us and why they had to do it?

WEDNESDAY

Read second bold section near the bottom, "In Galatians 5:1…" What are the two yokes referred to here? How does Christ set us free?

One is the yoke of love, God's design law of love, the other is the yoke of the law of sin and death, the yoke of fear and selfishness.

How does Christ free us from the law of sin and death?

From The Remedy

> Christ has set us free from selfishness, free from fear, free from ignorance about God — free to be his friends. So stand firm in the truth about God as revealed in Jesus, and don't let yourselves be duped back into a system of rituals and works motivated by fear and selfishness. (Galatians 5:1 REM)

THURSDAY

Read the last paragraph, "The immediate context…" How does love function?

To love others means that we seek to do what is in their best interest, even when they might want something else. In order to do this, we must not only have loving concern for the other person, but we also must understand God's design laws, how reality works, what the problem is—and then, when appropriate, use our ability to act in harmony with God's design laws to bring healing influence to others.

If you're hiking with your spouse and she falls and breaks a leg, and you need to splint her leg, but doing so will cause more pain, would it be an act of love to splint the leg? Would it be loving to have surgery even if that caused pain? And when it is time for physical therapy and your spouse cries from the pain, is it an act of love to do her exercises for her?

What if it is not a broken leg, but a broken heart—she has been traumatized in the past and is hurting—is it an act of love to focus on merely relieving her pain, or to focus on healing the emotional wound even if the work to heal it is painful? What if she gets angry and accuses you of attacking her—is it love to accept the accusation and apologize for trying to help?

Once there is brokenness, there are no pain-free options. The path of love is to bring healing, even though the healing interventions are painful. Unfortunately, many people focus merely on the immediate experience and instead of seeking to heal, seek to relieve the pain or discomfort and, thus, actually harm. Love understands design law and reality and acts to heal and restore even if it is painful.

So love doesn't act by doing what feels best, but what is best.

What happens when we love the organization more than the people?

Do we sacrifice people in order to protect the institution? Would organizations protect child molesters in order to protect the institution's name and reputation even if it means other innocents might get harmed?

Might individuals get disfellowshipped in order to protect the institution?

Might someone be crucified in order to protect the nation?

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 6
Finding Rest in Family Ties

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

Because we didn't get to lesson 5 last week, I want to share just a couple of high points from lesson 5 and then go into lesson 6, and especially because lesson six is about families and these principles apply to our family relationships.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Christ saying to us, "Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." (Mt 11:29–30 NIV84).

What is a yoke? What does it do?

A yoke is not a bridle, it is not a bit, it is not designed to compel or to force or to inflict pain. What is the function of a yoke? It shares the load!

Jesus is saying that we are to yoke up with Him, to join forces with Him, to be united with Him and He will help us carry the load and only with His yoke can we succeed!

What is the yoke that joins us to Christ, that relieves the burdens of life, that lifts the weight, that energizes us, invigorates us, gives us life and makes life easy? The law of love!

It is the yoke of love, love for God and love for others that joins our hearts and minds to Jesus and relieves us of fear, guilt, shame and the need to force our way. The duties of life become joys as we carry them out in love.

This is from the book The Desire of Ages:

> The yoke that binds to service is the law of God. The great law of love revealed in Eden, proclaimed upon Sinai, and in the new covenant written in the heart, is that which binds the human worker to the will of God. If we were left to follow our own inclinations, to go just where our will would lead us, we should fall into Satan's ranks and become possessors of his attributes. Therefore God confines us to His will, which is high, and noble, and elevating. He desires that we shall patiently and wisely take up the duties of service. The yoke of service Christ Himself has borne in humanity. He said, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God: yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. "I came down from heaven, not to do Mine own will, but the will of Him that sent Me." John 6:38. Love for God, zeal for His glory, and love for fallen > humanity, brought Jesus to earth to suffer and to die. This was the controlling power of His life. This principle He bids us adopt. DA 329.3

This is design law—it is how God built life to operate. We cannot grow, develop, advance through being idle, through lack of exercise, through allowing others to solve our problems, fulfill our duties, do our work. It is for our health, wellness, development that we are each given burdens of life to fulfill and we are to unite with Christ in carrying out these responsibilities in life.

Practices and protocols that remove life's responsibilities from people destroy character, undermine health, wellness and inflame selfishness. People who are not united with Christ, working with the yoke of loving service in life, will be yoked with great burdens of this world that crush them.

From the same author who wrote The Desire of Ages:

> But instead of taking the yoke of Christ, [which is the yoke of God's law of love which motivates us to live lives of loving service] how many bind upon their souls a galling yoke, a grievous burden. Many wear a load of care, worldly perplexities are accepted, worldly customs are followed, worldly fashions practiced, and their character is marred, their life made a weariness. Jesus would have them lay aside this yoke of bondage, and take upon them his yoke of love, that they may learn to be meek and lowly in heart. The weakest soul, wearing Christ's yoke, bearing his burden, may become strong in his grace, and he will find the yoke easy, the burden light. ST January 19, 1891, par. 5

LESSON 6
SABBATH

The lesson states in the last paragraph, "Family relationships often are complicated and painful, leaving us restless, hurt, and carrying loads of emotional baggage that we, in turn, off-load on others."

Have you had some family relations that were painful, and hurt you and left you with baggage? I think everyone has.

What are we to do when we have someone in our family—an adult—who is acting in ways that are harmful, injurious, painful, hurtful to others, someone who doesn't shoulder responsibility for themselves, someone who pursues the easy road not the healthy road and despite much resources provided they still haven't matured, haven't grown up, haven't learned self-governance, personal responsibility?

1. Assess their capacity—their innate ability to grow and mature. If they are like my aunt Sandy, mentally handicapped, and don't have capacity then it would be wrong of us to expect more from them than they are capable of achieving. But within their capacity, we absolutely should expect them to achieve up to what they are capable. So my aunt was able to become a person who was helpful, would make her bed, do her own hygiene, do simple chores around the house, volunteer at the Samaritan Center under supervision. But she required external oversight and supervision her entire life. But love sought to help her grow to the fullest extent she was capable of achieving. And she loved Jesus, she loved going to church, and she loved people.

2. Love provides people opportunity for development—this would include:
    a. during childhood—love, affection, security, food, clothing, shelter and appropriate boundaries and discipline
    b. education/instruction followed by opportunity to apply and feedback and re-opportunity to learn and apply
    c. eventually love sets free those who have capacity to self-govern even if they don't develop or use that capacity and then allows them, when of appropriate age, to reap the results of what they have chosen. Consider the story of the Prodigal Son.
3. Love sets boundaries—with everyone—love decides on who enters the inmost affections of our hearts and circles of trust and this is based on the trustworthiness of the other person, not on how they are related to us. While we may love a child deeply, we may not be able to let them into our circle of trust if they have proven themselves untrustworthy.

MONDAY

The title of the day's lesson is Dysfunction at Home and focuses on Abraham and Sarah and the conflict that occurred with Hagar and then with Isaac and Esau and Jacob and then with Jacob's children.

What lessons in family governance, family leadership, family dynamics do you learn from Abraham's family?

Why do you think the stories of Abraham's dysfunctional family are recorded?

These are lessons to us to teach us the reality of the two antagonistic principles contending for supremacy in the hearts and minds of all human beings since Adam's sin.

These Bible stories reveal that without God's love working in our hearts then fear and selfishness (sin) corrupts us and we will betray and exploit others, even those closest to us—our own families. These stories reveal the unavoidable results of sin—which is anti-love, selfishness and fear, the survival drives.

These stories document that sin destroys, not God, and how that destruction happens. Further they reveal that the only solution to sin is God's law of love, God's methods and principles applied to the life.

Joseph's brothers allowed their fear, selfishness, and jealousy to take control of their hearts, minds, and actions. Had they truly loved Joseph, they would have celebrated him and rejoiced when their father honored him. But they loved themselves more. So they sold him as a slave and misled their father into believing Joseph was killed by wild animals.

Joseph suffered terrible injustice. Injustice from his brothers. His human rights were violated. He was not treated as an individual, but as property. He was taken by slave-traders and sold in a slave market to Potiphar.

There is no question that what happened to Joseph was wrong; it was sin; it was unjust. Yet, Joseph had no ability to stop it. He could not control the choices of others. Joseph had to decide, how he would, in governance of self, deal with the injustice:

- Would he become resentful, bitter, hateful?
- Would he fantasize about getting even with his brothers?
- Would he pray to God to take vengeance upon the Egyptians?
- Would he seek to sabotage and injure those who treated him as a slave?

- Or would Joseph surrender his life to God?
- Would he seek God's presence, God's methods, God's law, God's purpose in his life?
- Would he trust God to right his wrongs and would he refuse to become bitter, angry, and let selfishness corrupt his character?
- Would Joseph, in the face of injustice, become corrupt or would he become more just, more righteous through living out God's methods in his life?

Joseph chose to trust God and apply God's methods to himself. And how did Joseph treat Potiphar? Joseph was faithful, loyal, reliable, diligent, true, dedicated, honest, and carried out all of his slave duties with integrity. This is incredible. It is anti-culture, anti-worldly, anti-human justice.

Why would Joseph do this? Potiphar was an Egyptian. He wasn't a member of Joseph's family. He wasn't a descendant of Abraham. He wasn't a worshipper of Yahweh. He was a pagan, an idol worshipper, but worst of all—he was a slave owner! He must be a corrupt person and certainly buying Joseph and owning him as a slave makes Potiphar undeserving of Joseph's loyalty—right?

Was Joseph loyal to Potiphar because Potiphar deserved it, or was Joseph loyal because Joseph deserved it, because of who Joseph was—a loyal subject of the Creator God who sought to honor God by living out God's law of love in the face of injustice?

One of Satan's biggest traps in this world is to incite real injustice and then get people to seek justice through the application of Satan's methods, Satan's laws, Satan's principles of inflicted punishments and retaliation—because they deserve it. It is right, Satan says, for us to be angry, resentful, bitter, to harbor fantasies of suffering toward our enemies. It is right in the world's system to use whatever means necessary to ensure those we decide are bad get what they deserve.

So, it is just to riot, to destroy other's properties, to shoplift, to disrupt traffic, to drag people out of their cars and beat them, to lie, to falsely accuse, as long as it advances our social justice, then it is right and just to behave this way—oh how Satan rejoices.

But Joseph didn't seek to undermine his slave master. Yet despite Joseph's high moral standard, his faithful and loyal service, he suffers more injustice. Joseph is accused of sexual assault and imprisoned for crime he did not commit. What an outrage, falsely accused, falsely imprisoned after years of loyal and faithful service. Certainly now it is right and just for Joseph to be resentful, angry, bitter and to seek justice.

But how did Joseph respond? Did he become bitter, angry, hateful? Did he seek to retaliate? Did he fantasize about getting even? No, he lived out God's law of love in governance of himself and trusted God with the outcome. And eventually, through God's miraculous interventions, Joseph is elevated to the second most powerful position in the world—second only to Pharaoh himself.

And once Joseph had real power, what did he do? Joseph had the authority to right all past injustices against him. He could have punished Potiphar's wife and Potiphar if he wanted. By today's world's standards it would have been just and right to put them in prison or fine them or make them pay reparations. Why didn't Joseph do it, he had the power?

What would have happened to Joseph, to his heart, mind and character if he practiced the methods of this sinful world in seeking justice? What kind of person would Joseph have become had he harbored resentment, anger and bitterness and longed to retaliate, had he sought to make Potiphar and his wife pay or later sought to make his brothers pay?

What happens to the hearts of people in society today when they focus on past wrongs (real wrongs just like Joseph or imagined) either to them or to their ancestors and they hold to anger, bitterness, resentment and seek to use the governments of this world to make others pay? That is Satan's goal to corrupt character through embracing his methods of justice!

Do you see how all the kingdoms of this world are Satan's and that using human governments to inflict punishment to make others pay only spreads sin, causes more hatred, division, conflict, impairs the gospel from advancing and corrupts character?

If Joseph would have applied the philosophy of today's world and rebelled against Potiphar in overt or covert ways—say had the affair with his wife. What would have been the likely outcome? Joseph would most likely have been executed. And then he wouldn't have been there to protect his family during the famine and Satan would have succeeded in terminating the family line that would bring the Messiah.

God cannot win His cause through people whose hearts harbor resentment, anger, bitterness, a desire for retaliation, people who long to inflict punishment on others or seek to force reparations. God can only win his cause through people who trust Him and allow Him to eliminate fear, selfishness, anger, bitterness, jealousy and the desire for retaliation from their hearts and minds and restore His love, His character within so that we love our enemies as Christ loves us. This is the only way forward and the social justice movements of the world are traps of Satan designed to inflame selfishness, incite division, cause more hostility between people and corrupt character—all under the name of justice so people can feel good while they do injustice. It is the exact same trap of the Dark Ages Church, burning people at the stake in order to save them.

Only God's laws of love, truth and liberty heal and unite, only as we trust God with our lives, our futures, the outcomes and stay faithful in governing ourselves in harmony with His principles can we overcome Satan and the powers of this world.

As I was thinking about Joseph, about the threats from society, government, the abuses and injustices he suffered and how today we are faced with threats that are designed to incite fear, to inflame our desire to protect self, to use the survival mechanisms of this world, I read Psalms 27:1-6 in The Remedy:

> The Lord enlightens me and heals me —
> Why should I be afraid? The Lord keeps me safe —
> Why should I be afraid?
>
> When selfish people attack me and try to destroy me, > they will stumble and fall.
>
> Even if surrounded by an entire army,
> I will not be afraid;
> even if the army attacks,
> I will trust the outcome to God.
>
> There is one thing I desire from the Lord;
> one thing my heart truly wants:
> to be part of the Lord's family and live in his house all my life,
> to gaze upon his beauty,
> to have him as my teacher.
>
> He will shelter me from danger;
> he will keep me safe in his home > and will establish me, secure, on the immovable Rock.
>
> My character will rise above the selfish enemies around me.
> With joy I will offer my heart as his temple;
> I will sing — yes! — I will sing praises to the Lord. Psalms 27:1-6 REM

We like Joseph, when faced with injustice must decide, whose methods will we practice, whose principles will we advance—those of this world or those of Jesus Christ? And by choosing Jesus and His methods our characters grow to be more like Him!

So what are the principles we are to apply in our own families—that we can see in the life of Joseph?

- Healthy relationships require healthy people and healthy people are in governance of themselves
    - Joseph didn't have authority over what his brothers did; he didn't have authority over what the slave traders did; he didn't have authority over what Potiphar or his wife did or what Pharaoh or his cup bearer did. And he certainly didn't have authority over what God did. Joseph only authority over what he did in governance of self. Would he trust God? Would he surrender his life to God? Would he trust God with outcomes? Would he, in his own heart and mind and practice the methods of God? Would He forgive those who wronged him? Would he let fear and selfishness control his decisions, or would his love for God and others direct his actions?
        - Consider his decision with Potiphar's wife—how was Joseph's decision and outworking of love?
        - Was his refusal of Potiphar's wife an action of love for God?
        - Was it an action of love for Potiphar?
        - Was it an action of a healthy self-love—protecting his own integrity, heart, mind, character?
        - Was it action of love for Potiphar's wife? How? What would happen to Potiphar's wife's character if she carries out her adultery? So, if Joseph loves Potiphar's wife, like Jesus, does Joseph collude with actions that sear her conscience, harden her heart and corrupt her character?
        - But if Joseph is motivated primarily with fear and selfishness to protect Joseph and get whatever Joseph can get, or perhaps with anger and resentment at Potiphar for being a slave and wants to get back at Potiphar, what action would Joseph take?
    - Healthy relationship require healthy people—and healthy people are in governance of self—so Joseph demonstrates healthy self-governance. Did that mean his relationships were all healthy relationships? Why not? Because others were not healthy!
        - Understand this critical point—you cannot have healthy relationships with others if you yourself are not healthy if you do not live out God's principles and methods in your own life. But even when you do, you cannot have healthy relationships with others who are unhealthy!

- Healthy relationships require healthy people and healthy people are in governance of themselves
- Healthy people own their shortcomings
    - The unhealthy, unconverted, immature, blame others, deny, distort, project, but don't look in the mirror and seek to own their own problems and through God's grace overcome them.

- If we want healthy relationships we must deal with our own selves first and ensure we are owning our own shortcomings and through God's grace working to overcome them. We must stop trying to blame our spouse or children or parents for our problems
- Adam – it wasn't me it was that woman….

Healthy families require healthy parents and

- healthy parents are in governance of themselves and practice God's methods and principles
  - Abraham brought conflict into his family by surrendering his decision-making to Sarah and violating God's methods and principles in taking Hagar. It was NOT Sarah's decision with whom Abraham slept—it was Abraham's. But Abraham surrendered that choice seeking to placate and appease Sarah, seeking to accommodate her, seeking to make her happy. And worse he sought it through a pagan custom that violated God's design, methods and plans.
  - Healthy parents will work together, will seek unity, will seek to find agreement—but at the end of the day, each person must govern themselves in accord with their own conscience and not surrender their decision making to their spouse.
  - Questions about this?

Healthy families require healthy parents and healthy parents are in governance of themselves, practice God's principles and

- set healthy boundaries and enforce the boundaries they set:
  - never set a boundary they are not willing to enforce
  - Spelling B analogy
  - Boundaries provide structure and safety & security
  - Baby born cries, unless wrapped tight….
  - Same rules which say you can't go out into the street in the child's mind says the street can't come in to harm them. But what if you never enforce your boundary? No security, increased fear and acting out and undermined trust

Does setting healthy boundaries apply only to parents and children or to all relationships?

Read fourth paragraph, "Some cultures emphasize…" What is the relationship between personal commitment and corporate or community commitment?

Can there be community or corporate commitment without personal commitment?

Can corporations or institutions be saved or only people?

Can corporations love?

I have heard a lot about corporate repentance growing up. People refer to Daniel's prayer as an example of this in Daniel 9. However, as I reread Daniel 9 with design law in mind my view of this passage has changed. Daniel's prayer is not about corporate salvation, because corporations are not saved, only people are saved. Daniel's prayer is about corporate mission—about Israel being put back on the field, getting off the bench, of God fulfilling His purpose to bring the Messiah through Israel and complete the plan of salvation to save people. That is the focus and that is the answer Daniel gets from His prayer. God gives him the vision that through the remnant of Israel, God's promise in Genesis 3:15 of the Seed of the woman who would crush the serpent's head would come. That the promise of the Seed of Abraham who would save the world would come through this remnant. That is it. There is nothing in the process that says corporate Israel will be saved, only that corporate Israel would fulfill its purpose of being the avenue for the Messiah, and also protecting the Scriptures and teaching tools given to them.

So, in regard to corporations today, such as Come and Reason Ministries, it is the people who are saved and the corporation is only as effective in carrying out God's purposes as the people who make up that corporation are. It is as we commit ourselves to God and work in harmony with His methods and principles and follow His leading and trust Him with outcomes that God is able to use our corporation and the resources He has blessed us with to fulfill purposes for Him.

And what do we see as God's purpose for His people at this time in human history?

To present the final message of mercy to the world—the truth of His character and methods of love in the setting of the message of the 3 angels!

Read the last paragraph, "To find rest…" What do you think of this idea that God has only children no grandchildren? What does it mean? It means we cannot pass along salvation to our children, each person must accept Jesus for themselves, to die to selfishness and be reborn as a child of God.

But does that mean we cannot pass along advantages and disadvantages to our children and grandchildren?

The commandment says that sins pass down 3-4 generations—what does this mean?

This is an outworking of design law—God created Adam and Eve with the ability to procreate beings in their image. This means that as they lived their lives and through life experiences changed themselves they would have children with characteristics similar to them.

This is not just the genetic sequences that code for things like height, eye color, skin color, shape of the face, structure of the hands, the various physical characteristics. No, we also pass along the epigenetic instructions telling the various genes how to express themselves.

Our choices in life change us epigenetically and we pass along to our children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren either advantages or disadvantages through molecules that attach to the DNA.

In my lecture The Developing Brain, which is on our website and the link is in the notes, I give many scientific examples of this and explain it in detail.

Here are some comments by one of the founders of the SDA church, written back in the 19th century, before the discovery of DNA, before the discovery of epigenetics, and some historically scoffed at these insights, but science has proven them to be exactly correct.

- The nobler the aims, the higher the mental and spiritual endowments, and the better developed the physical powers of the parents, the better will be the life equipment they give their children. In cultivating that which is best in themselves, parents are exerting an influence to mold society and to uplift future generations.... {1MCP 139.1}

  Through the indulgence of appetite and passion their energies are wasted, and millions are ruined for this world and for the world to come. Parents should remember that their children must encounter these temptations. Even before the birth of the child, the preparation should begin that will enable it to fight successfully the battle against evil. {1MCP 139.2}

- The physical and mental condition of the parents is perpetuated in their offspring. This is a matter that is not duly considered. Wherever the habits of the parents are contrary to physical law, the injury done to themselves will be repeated in the future generations. . . . {AH 172.1}
- A genuine conversion changes hereditary and cultivated tendencies to wrong. --Lt 105, 1893. (6BC 1101.) {1MCP 145.4}

  - Studies document that:
  - Pregnant mothers with negative thinking patterns, pessimistic, critical, depressigenic thought patterns, alter the developing brain of their children increasing the risk of depression in them later in life
    - (Am Journal of Psychiatry 2013; 170:434-441).
  - If mothers are highly stressed during pregnancy their stress hormones cross the placental barrier and alter, epigenetically, the braking mechanism of the fetal brain and child is born less capable of calming themselves, more irritable, anxious and socially impaired than that child would have been if mother was not highly stressed during pregnancy
    - Medina, J. Psychiatric Times, April 2010, p. 16
    - https://www.psychiatrictimes.com/view/transgenerational-transmission-of-resilience-after-catastrophic-trauma
  - What one eats alters their epigenetics and this passes along and what one eats while pregnant alters the gene expression of the fetus
    - Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, DOI: 10.1073/pnas.0806560105
    - Biology Published 2008 https://www.semanticscholar.org/paper/Jacob-and-the-Spotted-Sheep%3A-The-Role-of-Prenatal-Backon/194ef71dd0af81f87cebdeda41ac64a85bc44a74
    - Eur J Hum Genet. 2006 Feb;14(2):159-66.
    - http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/16391557

- Cognitive Behavioral Therapy in trauma survivors epigenetically alters the genes controlling resilience and stress response restoring the brain function back to pre-trauma activity, i.e. restoring health.
  - Biological Psych, Vol 74,(1) Dec 2013 p. 793-800

So while we cannot pass along salvation, we can pass along healthier equipment that enhances the ability to make healthy choices.

TUESDAY

Read bottom green section, "There are many groups…" Why does healthy God-like love not accept ourselves as we are?

But does healthy God-like love devalue us or consider us worthless or wormlike?

Why or why not?

From where does our value and worth originate or come? The lesson says it comes from outside of ourselves, if they mean by that that God is the source of all creation and everything that exists was created by Him and ultimately has is source and worth in Him, then of course this is correct.

But if they mean that we have no worth as individuals in ourselves because we are sinners would that be correct?

Or do we have worth in who we are because we are God's creation, human beings created in the image of God to be temples for the Spirit of God. So we have inherent worth as humans regardless of any good we have done, it is built in by God in our creation.

But, does that inherent value or worth, which God demonstrates in that "while we were yet sinners Christ die for us" mean that we are healthy or good or righteous? No—we have worth in who we are, creations of God, but we are sick in sin, terminal and dying and our worth won't change that.

So, love looks in the mirror of God's design law and acknowledge there is something wrong with us, something we did NOT choose that will kill us unless remedied. And God so loved the world, valued us so much, that He sent His only Son so that whoever trust Him He will heal, cure, and restore to eternal life.

So, I see worth and righteousness as different things. We have inherent worth has human beings, but we are still terminal and have no righteousness within us, nothing good in ourselves or any ability to restore us to goodness or godlikeness—all of our goodness is a gift received through Jesus via the work of the Holy Spirit in us.

THURSDAY

Read last paragraph, "Our relationships are miniature reflections…" What are the two antagonistic principles raging in the Great Controversy?

- love versus selfishness

What are the primary methods of these two principles?

- love operates on truth and liberty
- selfishness operates upon lies and coercion

What is the principle emotions of the two?

- love operates on desires to benefit others, for the welfare of others, compassion, and joy in the welfare of others
- selfishness operates on fear of loss, fear of rejection and lust or longing to protect or get for self, which brings relief and pleasure. So it operates on the pleasure principle, what feels good.

Do we see these two principles at war through human history?

Do we see them coming to a final confrontation in the world today?

Why do so many people prefer the methods of Satan, lies and coercion of others?

Because they are motivated by fear and selfishness. Fear is a powerful motivator, when people are afraid they will sacrifice principles to feel safe. They will give up liberties, they will lie, deceive, cover up, blame others, allow others to take the fall for them.

So, Satan is described at the end of time as a roaring lion—a lion's roar doesn't actually harm, it incites fear. And when animals are afraid they respond with:

- Freezing—they stop doing what they would normally do, stop gathering nuts, stop building their nests, stop their service for others—we are afraid, we stop ministry, stop meeting, stop choir practice, stop visiting shut ins, we freeze when we are afraid.
- Flight—the animal who hears the lion's roar if it doesn't freeze, then may flee, run away, seek to hide, seek to avoid the threat. So many when they hear fear messaging today are seeking to run away, to hide, to avoid the conflict. Just be silent, don't speak up, don't stand for truth, don't resist the liars, just hide in the crowd.
- Fight—or if cornered, if freezing doesn't work, if fleeing doesn't work, then when cornered animals will fight. How many Christians are being tricked into fighting, but not fighting with the weapons of God, but fighting with the weapons of the world. Paul said,
    - "For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ" (Co 10:3–5 NIV84).

- We are to fight with truth, love and liberty, presenting the truth about God and His methods in love, but leaving others free. We are not to seek to take control of governments to force our way, but we are to present the corruption of Satan's methods that people use to take away liberties of others all in order to make themselves feel safe.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: Good News—we are now the owner of the property at 4922 La Collina Way, Collegedale, TN

It is a two-story building with over 14,000 square feet. We will occupy the first floor, which is a little over 7000 square feet. But before we move in, we need to do renovations to prepare for our classes and ministry production. We will have a theater studio that can seat up to 130 people, so we can record and broadcast programs with a live audience. We will have a kitchen, so we can have regular potlucks. There's also a large, ready-to-use room that we plan for children, so parents can come to our class while their children have a meaningful program and time for them.

The next step in the process is to get contractors to bid on the renovation, choose one, and get the space prepared for our occupancy.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public, so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so.

So, please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us to find the contractor and bless the process, so that the resources you bless us with will be spent wisely and most economically to further increase the outreach of this ministry.

NEW RESOURCE SOUTH AFRICA: Could It Be This Simple? is now available in in Afrikaans. We want to give special thanks to Jacques van den Heever, who spent many hours proof reading and working with editors and translators to get this resource availab.e Thank you Jacque!

It is available as a FREE download on our website, but if you are in South Africa and would like one in print, then email Jacque at comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

There will be a small postage charge of R50 (around $4) or you live near Somerset West you are welcome to pick one up in person.

South Africa also has some newly printed materials including tracts, meditation guides, and CIBTS. If you are interested in getting copies for yourself or to share, please email comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

Special Baker Books has made the digital version of The God Shaped Heart available for a short time for $1.99 for either Kindle readers on Amazon or Nooks at Barnes and Noble.

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon! We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 7
Rest, Relationships, and Healing

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

I received this email this week:

> I just want to thank God for your ministry. I recently discovered it as I was searching online for more 'meat' to the sabbath school lesson study discussions. I was weary of the humdrum and prayed about something more substantive. And! Come and Reason appeared in the search. It has been less than 6 months. I am learning about God in a better view than before. I like this God better! This way of thinking about what God has revealed in His word is more consistent with who He is. May God continue to make your ministry fruitful to the building up of His kingdom!

And I also received this email this week:

> Dear Dr. Jennings and C&R Team,
>
> Our family has been so blessed by your ministry, books, seminars, and weekly Bible studies. We were particularly touched by the latest study which focused on today's events and your loving response to a troubling email you received.
>
> I write to you today with a heavy heart requesting prayer for my current situation at work. You see, I am a Federal employee at a medical clinic, and have just received notice of the National mandate that we must receive the COVID vaccine within 8 weeks or face unemployment. I knew this day may come, but am still concerned nonetheless as I have a health condition that I feel would worsen if I were to take this experimental shot. I had hoped to use my talents in this job and retire with benefits, but it looks like that may not be an option. Pray for me and my family as we seek His wisdom and guidance in these uncertain times. Thank you and > God bless you and your team for what God is doing through you at this critical time in earth's history!

What is your reaction to this?

Do you only hear a medical problem, an employment problem, a political problem, or do you see the issues of the Great Controversy at play?

Two weeks ago I read this quote from the book Education:

> The student should learn to view the word as a whole, and to see the relation of its parts. He should gain a knowledge of its grand central theme, of God's original purpose for the world, of the rise of the great controversy, and of the work of redemption. He should understand the nature of the two principles that are contending for supremacy, and should learn to trace their working through the records of history and prophecy, to the great consummation. He should see how this controversy enters into every phase of human experience; how in every act of life he himself reveals the one or the other of the two antagonistic motives; and how, whether he will or not, he is even now deciding upon which side of the controversy he will be found. Ed 190.2

Do you see that the two antagonistic principles are front and center over this issue? Do you see how right now, how we handling this situation we are deciding our characters, our methods, the principles we prefer and align with?

We are entering into the very final movements before Christ returns. The battle is heating up, and I want to be prepared, and I want you to be prepared.

We are being placed into positions in which we are being asked to make a decision—to decide what we will do in governance of ourselves—take an experimental injection or not, wear mask or not, attend church or not, visit family or not—and how we will treat others, what principles will we practice?

But upon what are we to base our decision? Each of us are trying to decide, what is best, what is right, what is truth. But which rationale, ideas, beliefs, conclusions, options are we ourselves able to directly validate or confirm? In other words, isn't it the case that we are being asked to make a decision based on who we trust?

- Do you trust the government? The CDC, the NIH, the health department?
- Do you trust politicians either left or right?
- Do you trust media personalities either left or right?
- Do you trust popular opinion?
- Do you trust your doctor? How many doctors do you know that have personally done research on viruses, and then specifically on COVID 19 and have themselves confirmed what they are reading in the various medical outlets? I have not.
- Are doctors ever wrong—even when the majority agree?
    - What about on the majority view when Pasteur presented germ theory?
    - What 100 years ago when doctors prescribed tobacco as a treatment for lung disease?

How did doctors come to leave the wrong idea behind?

What method was used to lead out of wrong conclusions into right ones?

And this takes us to the heart of the Great Controversy, the war between Christ and Satan that began in heaven.

In heaven when Lucifer started his rebellion were the angels able to do primary research and uncover evidence to confirm who was telling the truth, Lucifer or God? Did the angels have to decide who they would trust?

And we face the same battle for our minds today, a question of who we can trust.

But what decision do you make when you can't do primary research and uncover the evidence for yourself?

If you have time, you wait and see, allow things to unfold and the truth eventually reveals itself. But if you don't have time, if you are forced to make a decision then…

Examine the methods—if people genuinely want the truth and are pursuing truth what attitude do they have and what method to they employ when questions arise, when data come up that question the accepted narrative?

Historically in medicine products get approval for use in America by doing double blind placebo-controlled studies that demonstrate effectiveness and reveal various side effects, risks or negative outcomes. But it is understood that the study population is always a narrow population, it doesn't represent the wide range of genetic and physiological differences found in the population as a whole, and thus it is understood that once a product enters the larger population new side effects or problems may emerge that were not seen in the studies.

Historically, medical standards encouraged reporting of complications or harm suspected to be caused by various treatments. Standard medical practice has been scientific, loving and pursuing truth, evidence, facts and when such reports were made they were recorded and actively investigated to confirm or refute, by evidence, the concern. This is a healthy and mature approach to any question—truth loses nothing by investigation.

There have been multiple products over the years that have come to market only later to be either removed because of unknown serious problems emerged, like death, or they receive a new black box warning about risks not initially understood.

Doesn't the approach of being open to the evidence and following it where it leads sound reasonable? Doesn't it give you greater confidence when concerns are met with a willingness to investigate and uncover what is true?

Who would not be willing to do this? Wouldn't it be a those who know their position is false, that their product has a problem, and the truth will expose them?

There have been products like this that have come to market; Zyprexa is one of them. A very effective antipsychotic, but known by the company to increase DMII and obesity, the company purposely misrepresented the data and worked to obstruct investigation and lied about the signals doctors were seeing in their patient populations and resisted research to determine the facts because they already knew the facts.

When you either know there is a problem, or suspect there is a problem, or have it good now and believe any investigation will only expose problems, then you really don't want the truth and facts to come to light, then you don't encourage investigation and inquiry. The manufacturer plead guilty to a criminal charge and paid a $1.42 billion dollar settlement.

We see the same methods of refusal to investigate evidence when it comes to the COVID vaccine.

- Research has come out with evidence that the COVID-19 spike protein, which the injections stimulate the body to produce, have been demonstrated to bind to heparin binding proteins, which in the brain increases the accumulation of beta-amyloid proteins (Alzheimer's disease), Tau proteins (Alzheimer's disease), alpha-synuclein (Parkinson's and Lewy Body disease), prions (spongiform disease). https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0006291X2100499X

  This research suggests that the vaccines could lead to neurodegenerative changes and dementias. What would be the godlike, ethical, moral, response? Would it be to actively investigate? Would it be to inform the public and give them the option of waiting for more information on this or is the godlike response to suppress this information and not inform people before they get an experimental injection? Perhaps this will turn out to be a false signal and the vaccines don't contribute to increased neurodegenerative changes, but until we know shouldn't people be informed and given the option? Why withhold the evidence and push the vaccine?
- Over 12,000 deaths from the vaccine have been reported in the VAERS database in 7 months, which calculates into approximately 1 in 13,000 risk of dying from the vaccine—assuming those numbers are not depressed. Should people be informed of these numbers and given the option to take it or not? What is the godlike approach? What about for children who have essentially no risk from the disease, should they be required to take the shot where 1 in 13,000 may die?
- When pathologists who have spent the last 16 months examining blood samples of COVID recovered people report that:

  - "A natural infection induces hundreds upon hundreds of antibodies against all proteins of the virus, including the envelope, the membrane, the nucleocapsid, and the spike. Dozens upon dozens of these antibodies neutralize the virus when encountered again. Additionally, because of the immune system exposure to these numerous proteins (epitomes), our T cells mount a robust memory, as well… T cell memory to those infected with SARSCOV1 is at 17 years and running still." Whereas the vaccine triggers the body to make the spike protein and the immune system to only create antibodies to the spike protein.
    - What would be an honest, ethical, and truth-loving response? Should we actively investigate? If this is true wouldn't this be easily verifiable? And if it is verified and true would it give millions of recovered individuals comfort, reassurance and reduce fear? And would recovered individuals need to worry about re-exposure and mask wearing or getting vaccinated? Why the refusal to verify or refute this? Why coerce recovered individuals who have antibodies to get the experimental injection? https://www.dailyveracity.com/2021/07/19/cdc-vaccine-deaths-pass-10000-as-efficacy-of-the-jab-plummets-data-suggests-those-naturally-infected-do-better-than-the-vaccinated/
- Other physicians, who have seen increased vascular problems in their vaccinated patients became concerned that the spike protein produced from the mRNA vaccines were binding to the body's smallest blood vessels and triggering micro-clots with subsequent vascular and cardiac problems, one physician began doing d-dimer blood studies and found that 62% of his patients who had had the vaccines had this micro clotting problem. https://principia-scientific.com/doctor-heart-failure-from-mrna-jabs-will-kill-most-people/
  - What is the healthy, godlike approach? Is it reasonable to investigate, to determine if this is real or some false signal, some other non associated problem this doctor is finding?
- July 25, 2021 the New South Wales, Australia, health department released figures on the COVID hospitalizations:
  - 141 in hospital
  - 43 in ICU

- 18 on ventilators
- 60 under the age of 55
- 28 under the age of 35
- of the 43 in ICU 1 in their teens, 7 in their 20, 3 in their 30
- all but one has been vaccinated
- https://rumble.com/vkba8x-update-from-sydney-all-new-covid-hospitalizations-involve-vaccinated-indivi.html
- Do you remember warnings that the vaccine might cause anti-body enhancement that makes one more susceptible to bad outcomes if infected? This happened in previous corona virus vaccines in the animal studies. Is this happening in humans? Should we investigate?
- Should people be warned of the possibility and given liberty to decide whether they take the injection or not?

What is the ethical, truth-seeking, approach to these and many other problems that doctors are finding? Wouldn't it be to actively investigate, see if this is real, reproducible, documentable, or some artifact, something unrelated? Why isn't it being investigated? Why aren't people being told the potential risks? What does it mean that officials suppress such medical data and don't actively investigate it and instead attack those who present these concerns?

And why the hard push to force the injection on everyone right now? Is there a crisis? Are hospitals overwhelmed right now? 164 million Americans have been vaccinated, estimates of up to 100 million people have recovered from COVID—meaning together the vast majority of the population is protected. Why the push, the mandates, the coercion, even on people who have recovered and have documented antibodies?

Why the persistent slanted and fear magnifying media coverage—like telling people only how contagious the delta variant is over and over again, but always leaving out that it is much less virulent than the original virus—meaning mild disease and very little chance of a bad outcome.

I am not saying any of these concerns are proven, what I am demonstrating is that normal medical ethics and godly principles of investigation and truth-seeking are not being followed by the pro-vaccinators. Why?

Why did the director of the CDC get on national news and tell people that children are dying at a higher rate from COVID than from seasonal flu, when the CDCs own data, published on their website, is exactly the opposite, children die at a much higher rate from seasonal flu than from COVID. And the government has never recommended mask mandates for seasonal flu, or forced vaccination for seasonal flu, which is more lethal to children than COVID.

So, while I can't do primary research myself. I can spot the methods being employed by the pro-COVID vaccinators. And the method of the pro-vaccinators are not the methods of standard medical ethics, nor the methods of truth and liberty.

This is part of the Great Controversy, impacting our minds, setting us up for the great final deception.

Satan has no truth on his side, so he cannot appeal to evidence and truth. He must use other methods. Of course he uses lies. But more than just falsehood, he depends on the authority of office, position, proclamations, claims, declarations, and trust in someone else to tell you're the answer to get others to believe and follow without investigation or evidence.

In religion this manifests with ideas like "just believe" "have faith" "If you have faith you don't need evidence" "feelings are reliable and you can trust them" "the Bible said it I believe it that settles it" and "he's the pastor, priest, rabbi, mullah, or pope—who are you to question?"

In society today it is, "the CDC says, Dr. so and so says, the NIH says, the New England Journal says."

And this approach, appealing to the authority of office, is not creating a new lie, a new deception. Believing the experts is now the definition of "following the science." When many news outlets and politicians say follow the science or we follow the science, they don't mean actual scientific evidence, they mean expert opinion. And those who don't believe the so-called experts are called science deniers. Yesterday in Psychiatric News, which is a professional medical newspaper, there was an article entitled Anti-Vaxxers and Water Witches: Mistrust of Science and the Limits of Reason. The article stated the following about those who don't want the vaccine:

> The common thread in these personal vignettes is, of course, a deep-seated denial of science and a mistrust of scientific experts—a word that is nowadays pronounced with a kind of dismissive hiss. Indeed, experts in epidemiology and infectious disease, such as Anthony Fauci, MD, are not merely doubted by a substantial proportion of the public—they are threatened with bodily harm for advocating vaccination against COVID-19. It is easy to explain away such science denial as the result of mistaken information and biased reasoning… https://www.psychiatrictimes.com/view/anti-vaxxers-water-witches-mistrust-of-science-limits-of-reason?utm_source=sfmc&utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=07302021_PT_BIO-21-PSD0303_eNL_BioXcel&eKey=dHJqNzc3QHlhaG9vLmNvbQ==

Don't accept the person in authority and you are a science denier.

But you can tell whether the person in authority is advancing truth or not, is a lover of truth or not, because if they are not on the side of truth they will use Satan's next method when anyone challenges them with evidence or presents truth that exposes their position as false.

They will seek to silence the voices of opposition—shout them down, label them heretic, fire them, retract their articles (not rebut the article with evidence-based scholastic evidence), cancel their engagements, de-platform them, imprison them and even kill them. This is what happened to God's Bible prophets, the Reformers and is what is happening today to any who seek to merely bring the truth to light.

If the vaccines are really safe and effective, asking questions and pursuing evidence will only confirm that. But the fact that these methods are employed by the pro-vaccinators suggests they have something to hide.

Satan also uses the methods inducement, bribes, payoffs, giving you some reward for doing wrong, but if you don't take the payoff then you are threatened with something painful. The classic Godfather approach, take the bribe or have your legs broken.

Satan used all these methods on Christ:

- He tempted Jesus by lying; presenting himself as an angel from heaven when he was not, and by misquoting Scripture to try and deceive
- He offered Jesus a bribe—all the kingdoms of the world
- He inspired the religious authorities to denounce him and allege His miracles were done by Satan's power—seeking to "deplatform" Him
- and ultimately he used coercion and threat, violence, at the crucifixion

God's methods are truth, presented in love, leaving free. These are the methods of God's people.

Listen to this historic quote—do you agree?

> "Christ seldom attempted to prove that truth is truth. He illustrated truth in all its bearings, and then left His hearers free to accept or reject it, as they might choose. He did not force anyone to believe."
> Evangelism, 171.1

Should we also practice this method? Only in religion or in all avenues of life?

What methods do you see being practiced by the proponents of the experimental injection?

- Do they want honest and open investigation of the evidence?
- Do they want to leave people free?
- Do they seek to censor people, to restrict information, to silence?
- Do they use incentives to bribe people to get the injection—gift cards, free meals, bonuses etc.?
- Do they use threats, lose your job, can't go to school, can't travel, can't shop, can't worship, can't visit family, lose your license, lose your business, arrest?

But, some will email me and protest. They will say the government simply wants to save lives. They will ask how can I be so insensitive, they will ask if I want to kill people!

But this is a false argument. Doctors who asked questions about Zyprexa or any other treatment, voicing concern that it may be causing harm are not seeking to harm, but to protect their patients. My questions are not designed to kill people, just the opposite, my questions are designed to save people—and this includes saving people from both temporal illness and death, but even more importantly save them eternally, save their minds from being corrupted by destructive practices.

The methods being employed by the pro-vaccinators are not the methods of God. They are not actively pursuing the truth.

And to be clear, you can be pro-vaccine and still be godly, because you use godly methods to advance it. You present your understanding, rationale, and reasons in love but leave others free. You don't coerce or bribe others to do what you want them to do. The specific action isn't the primary concern; it is the methods. And I am warning against the prevailing mainstream culture, which is not grounded in the scientific method or the principles of the Bible. How many Christians are falling into this Satanic spirit—and are willing to practice beastly methods to get people injected?

I am neither for nor against the vaccine—you must make that decision for yourself. But I am for truth, love, and freedom, for applying the methods of God in every activity of life, including how we address the COVID crisis.

The methods being employed—notice again, I'm not saying the experimental injection itself; I'm saying the methods being employed—the deceit, authority, bribery, coercion, and threats to get people to take this treatment are beastly. If you go along with these methods now and support them being used on others, you are embracing the methods of the beast and are actively preparing your mind to accept them again when the next issue comes along that is presented as necessary to save lives.

Jesus does not work this way.

Only those who have developed the ability to discern, to think for themselves, to examine evidence, to practice God's methods, and have not surrendered their minds and thinking to others will be able to handle the final deception soon coming upon the world.

There is a well-known process to get good people to do evil. Psychologist Philip G. Zimbardo, PhD, describes the steps necessary in order to get good people to do evil. This comes from an article written back in 2004—long before COVID:

1. Provide people with an ideology to justify beliefs for actions.
    - We will die if we don't take this action
    - The only way to stay safe is to do this
    - We must do this to save lives
2. Make people take a small first step toward a harmful act with a minor, trivial action and then gradually increase those small actions.
    - Socially distance
    - Limit visits with friends and family
    - Wear masks
    - Stop going to church
    - Close businesses
    - Get an experimental injection
    - Punish people who won't get the injection
3. Make those in charge seem like a "just authority."
    - The CDC, Dr. Fauci, the NIH, health department are to be trusted, they are the just authority
4. Transform a once compassionate leader into a dictatorial figure.
    - Anyone, including your compassionate doctor, who doesn't want to get the injection wants to kill people
5. Provide people with vague and ever-changing rules.
    - Wear masks don't wear masks
    - Fully vaccinated don't need masks/fully vaccinated need masks
    - Vaccines are effective; being vaccinated doesn't prevent reinfection
6. Relabel the situation's actors and their actions to legitimize the ideology.
    - There are the vaccinated and the unvaccinated—the vaccinated are those who love others and want to protect life, the unvaccinated are selfish, don't care for others, and are willing to kill people
7. Provide people with social models of compliance.
    - Look if you get the shot you can travel, go to work, don't need to mask everywhere, can go out to eat, compliance makes life easier, you can keep others safe, you will be good and righteous
8. Allow dissent, but only if people continue to comply with orders.

- Of course you can voice your complaint as long as you get your shot and wear your mask

9. Make exiting the situation difficult.
    - If you don't get your shot you can't travel, you can't go to college, you will lose your job, you will be a danger to others and thus you must be punished.
    - https://www.apa.org/monitor/oct04/goodbad

These steps are well documented to lead people to join groups that will do harm to others. Do we see these methods being employed today?

But that is not all. Have you heard of deindividuation? It is the process of a person losing their individual identity and surrendering their mind and actions to the group—it is part of the process that leads to mob mentality and groupthink. It is described by social psychologists in classic lynch mobs and genocide.

Social psychologists have researched factors that lead to deindividuation, the loss of identity. When this happens people feel less personal responsibility; they surrender responsibility to the group and are less compassionate, will exploit and hurt others more easily, will more readily break rules and act in anti-social ways. And what is one factor that has been demonstrated to consistently contribute to deindividuation? Anything that hides your identity—so online avatars lead to people more willing to verbally act in unkind ways online, to join online mobs to bully and hurt others.

But in person, anything that hides the face—so mirrored sunglasses lead to more willingness to hurt others, but wearing masks has an even bigger effect. This is why the KKK used masks, it is why antifa uses masks, it is also why mask wearing by the populace is counterproductive to good social order and leads to more conflict, breakdown of compassion, decrease in love and increased willingness to hurt others as well as increased anxiety and mental health problems.

Studies of groups find that when we identify with a group, dress similarly, march together, chant together, sing together, that physical and athletic performance is improved shortly after the group experience. This is why military units train together, dress alike, march together, sing cadence together. They become a more effective force together than just a group of individuals.

However, when military units have to function in chemical or biological warfare zones where they have to wear masks, their effectiveness is severely compromised and the wearing of masks contributes to the highest level of psychiatric casualties.

Then why didn't KKK mobs or antifa mobs become ineffective when they wore masks? Because their mob became a group identity without any significant opposition or threat. Had an unmasked, organized and trained military unit shown up to combat any KKK or antifa mob you would see that group disintegrate and flee the field almost immediately.

This also goes to team sports, unified and cohesive they perform better, divided and fractured they fall apart. It goes to national resolve, the spirit of the nation.

What impact do you think it will have on children in schools for another year? Will they lose their sense of self, become more programmable, less capable of developing their own identity, more willing to surrender to the group? This is the overt and stated goal of those pushing woke policies—they want to break down individual identity and enhance group think.

The biblical, godly method is to present the truth in love and leave others free. We do NOT coerce, compel, force or seek to override a person's individuality. We seek to enhance and develop individuality and self-governance.

We are lovers of truth, we want to have truth, facts, evidences presented to correct us and lead us into ever-increasing reality based understandings of life. So we don't seek to silence dissenting voices, we are willing to engage in conversation with those who disagree with us. But those who either don't have truth, don't love truth, or don't have the ability to discuss the truth, instead will resist advancing truth and seek to silence dissenting voices.

Read memory text: "And now, do not be distressed and do not be angry with yourselves for selling me here, because it was to save lives that God sent me ahead of you" (Genesis 45:5 NIV84).

What does this text say to you?

Why was Joseph not angry with his brothers?

Did Joseph forgive his brothers?

When did Joseph forgive his brothers, before they arrived in Egypt or only after he tested them?

Was Joseph's testing of his brothers to determine whether Joseph would forgive them or not?

What was the purpose of the testing of the brothers?

Did Joseph hold any attitudes, beliefs, choices, that led or enabled him to forgive his brothers? What were those?

Did Joseph's belief and trust in God enable him to forgive?

Did Joseph's belief in God give him a worldview, a perspective on events that helped him let go of resentment, bitterness and hate?

Did believing in God and the promises made to Abraham, help Joseph embrace a larger purpose than just himself?

Did Joseph still see himself as part of Abraham's family, as part of the of Israel, as a member of the group that God had called to fulfill His purpose?

Does it make a difference in conflict resolution if we see the other side as being within the same group as us or whether we see them as outside of our group?

Does this impact us today as well? What happens if we stop seeing ourselves as part of the same group as others, but see others as outside our group?

Let's look at history:

- Protestants and Catholics—when they viewed each other as heretic, evil, apostate, as an enemy of God what was the result? When they see each other as fellow human beings and part of the Christian family how do they treat each other?
- Same question for Christians and Jews or Jews and Muslims?
- What about historic tribal divisions in Africa, in Europe, in the Americas?
- This is why a common enemy unites previous opponents—because the new common enemy puts the previous opponents into the same group.
- Group identity can form on many levels—tribe, race, language, religion, etc. Historic nation states formed along tribal, racial and language lines, with religion used by the leaders to control the people—the shamans, witch doctors, priests, popes etc. The USA was different, it was formed on a common set of values—a belief in a Creator who endowed all human beings with inalienable rights and the purpose of government was to restrain the abusive powers of the government, religion and aristocracies from violating individual liberties. Thus group identity was not on race, or religion, or tribe, but upon the principles of civil and religious liberty—one nation under God with liberty and justice for all—the group united on shared values!

I am reading a very interesting book recommended by one of our online listeners Dr. Terry Utt, entitled The Coddling of the American Mind: How Good Intentions and Bad Ideas Are Setting Up a Generation for Failure by Greg Lukianoff, Jonathan Haidt.

- Lukianoff is a graduate of American University and Stanford Law School. He has described himself as a "pro-choice liberal" and an atheist.

- Jonathan Haidt is an American social psychologist, Professor of Ethical Leadership at New York University Stern School of Business, and author. His main areas of study are the psychology of morality and moral emotions.

I share their backgrounds because I want you all to understand, this is not political, these writers are not right-wing conservatives. What I teach in this class are God's design laws and methods, these are eternal truths that transcend denominations, nations, races, political parties.

In their book these two political liberals do an excellent job of describing three lies, they call them untruths, that are ravaging college campuses and society in general and have become dominant with the igen or generation Z, which is the group that began college in 2013. The three big lies or untruths are:

- What doesn't kill you makes you weaker
- Always trust your feelings
- Life is a battle between good people and evil people

They identify from ancient wisdom writings—Confucius, Buddha, Socrates, Plato etc. common truths that all the great sages agree upon and then demonstrate that the three core untruths popular and taught on campuses today are opposite ancient wisdom.

- What doesn't kill you makes you weaker
    - Truth—what doesn't kill you makes you stronger—the idea being that we only grow through challenges, through overcoming obstacles, through the painful and difficult experiences in life. This is an outworking of one of God's design laws—which one? The law of exertion. Can you think of a Bible text that supports this idea?
        - "we also rejoice in our sufferings, because we know that suffering produces perseverance; perseverance, character" (Ro 5:3–4 NIV84).
    - So accepting the lie has led to concepts of avoiding things that are difficult, trials, obstacles, emotionally upsetting things. We must be safe, we need safe spaces, places where our ideas won't be challenged, where our concepts won't be exposed as flawed, where words won't upset us. We must remove names from buildings, or statues, or books, we must change names of teams because these are insensitive and hurt us and it isn't safe to be in a society that would injure us in this way. And what happens to minds and characters when the lie is accepted? Destruction of minds and characters, people get weaker, they don't get stronger.

- Always trust your feelings
    - All the great sages have taught that emotions energize but are not to be trusted as emotions can lie. Can you think of a Bible text that supports this?
        - When tempted, no one should say, “God is tempting me.” For God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone; but each one is tempted when, by his own evil desire” (Jas 1:13–14 NIV84).
    - When people accept this lie then if they feel hurt the other person has assaulted them. And anything that hurts is aggression, words are violence and it is okay to use physical violence to stop the speech of others because their words hurt us and are violence. Facts, evidences and truths don’t matter, only our feelings matter.
        - They create falsehoods like this: Words that offend cause stress; stress increases inflammatory factors in the body which causes physical harm; thus offending words are acts of violence. What is wrong with this thinking? Replace words causing stress with anything else—such as your boyfriend or girlfriend break up with you causes stress, stress causes physical harm, therefore a breakup is an act of violence. Or, making a poor grade on an exam causes stress, stress harms the body, therefore if a teacher gives a bad grade it is an act of violence against you. Or being held accountable for sin, being brought to conviction, this causes stress and stress harms the body therefore the Holy Spirit convicting of sin is an act of violence.
- Life is a battle between good people and evil people
    - Throughout human history the sages have described that there is a battle between good and evil occurring in every human heart. But the new view is there isn’t a battle between good and evil as principles, methods, motives of our hearts—there are only good and evil people. Thus, if someone disagrees with your view, challenges your beliefs and hurts your feelings, they are evil and evil must be destroyed.

They cite several studies on how humans divide into groups, and that it doesn’t matter how people get divided into groups, once they are divided into groups they begin thinking of “us versus them” and they treat people in the “us” category better than the “them” category. Studies have demonstrated that it doesn’t matter if people are divided by a coin toss, or by guessing the number of dots on a page full of dots, once they are divided into groups, people that are not in their group are treated worse than those in their group.

Other research using fMRI scans evaluated brains of people who were watching videos of other people having their hands touched either by a Q-tip cotton swab or pricked by a needle. When the hand being pricked by the needle was labeled as belonging to a person who had the same religion as the one watching, the area of the watcher’s brain that handles pain showed larger spike of activity than when the hand being pricked was labeled as belonging to a person of another religion.

But what is interesting is that when groups were arbitrarily assigned, like by a coin toss, the same differences in response occurred in the brains of the watchers when a hand being pricked was from someone in other group.

I find the book quite compelling in its description of what has been happening in society the last 8 years or so. They do a good job of documenting the seeds for this going back to at least the 1960s and how it roots are in Marxist philosophy but shifting the focus from money to power. It creates two groups, the evil are those with power and the righteous are those without power.

And, in what is being taught in colleges today, power isn’t about actual power such as being in office, controlling assets, being wealthy or even being physically strong—no having power in this new philosophy is defined as being of the same identity as the historic powerholders—heterosexual, white male, which immediately equates with being evil. Being virtuous, or righteous is defined as having identity of the historic disenfranchised—specifically non-binary sexual orientation, black, and female.

It doesn’t matter whether you are a former black president of the United States living in a $14 million dollar mansion in an exclusive neighborhood—you are disadvantaged and powerless and therefore righteous. And if you are a heterosexual white male, working as a day laborer living in a trailer and on Medicaid and food stamps to provide for your family, you are empowered, privileged and therefore evil.

This is the philosophy of BLM and CRT and it divides society and undermines the principles of Christianity. This is the exact opposite of what Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. did.

Reverend King appealed to common-humanity principles in his appeal for change in society. He appealed to the great principles of Protestantism established in the Declaration of Independence in order to overcome racism and bring unity to society.

Dr. King appealed to shared morals and identities. He constantly referred to the family and its value. He called all human beings brothers and sisters, recognizing we are all members of God's family. He advanced the unifying principles of love and truth. He said:

- "Love is the only force capable of transforming an enemy into a friend."
- "Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that."
- "When the architects of our republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note…Even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream. I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of the creed: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.'"

Do you see how Dr. King, in seeking equality, did so by advancing the principles of Christianity, of the common values of children of God? Do you see that Dr. King recognized that the founding of the United States was based upon the principles of God and that they needed to be supported and advanced not denied and overturned?

What is happening in society today is an assault on truth, it is an assault on love, it is an assault on health, wellness, development, individuality. It is an assault on hearts and minds designed to divide and destroy.

Joseph had suffered real injustice at the hands of his brothers and Potiphar, but he remained true to God; he embraced God's principles; he practices God's law of truth and love; he did not seek revenge; he remained part of the group, part of Abraham's descendants and sought to heal and reconcile with his brothers. Thus Joseph forgave his brothers.

If Joseph rejected God would he have been as likely to forgive?

Who was the primary beneficiary of Joseph's forgiveness of his brothers?

Who would have been the first person injured if Joseph had refused to forgive? And how would Joseph have been injured?

What about today? Are the lessons we are learning about injustice and forgiveness only applicable to ancient people, or do those same principles hold true today?

Christ divided people into two groups—the wheat and tares, sheep and goat, righteous and unrighteous—how is that different that the corruption we are seeing today?

Here is the difference:

Righteous	Unrighteous
Uses methods of God	Uses methods of Satan
Are honest	Are dishonest
Loves all people including enemies	Loves only those in one's group
Gives to help all humans	Gives to self and one's group
Divides based on character	Divides based on externals/race sex
Is healthy/lives in harmony with life	Is unhealthy and causes death
Uses power to heal and restrain	Uses power to coerce, kill, harm
Leaves others free	Takes freedom from others

SUNDAY

The lesson points out that Joseph had real power and could have taken revenge upon those who wronged him—why didn't he?

Would Joseph have been wrong to punish his brothers? Why or why not?

What would have happened in the heart and mind of Joseph had Joseph refused to forgive his brothers? What about had Joseph take the path "I will forgive once they have been punished appropriately" and then he inflicted some punishment upon them?

Does forgiving people mean we let them get away with abuse and exploitation?

The lesson rightly points out, "Practicing biblical principles in our relationships will not mean that we ever can or should accept abuse." Why not?

If we accept abuse who gets injured? Everyone—we get injured, those who witness (like children in the home) get injured, and the abuser gets injured.

Who has the most serious injuries when abuse is inflicted?

- Who has the most serious injuries when Jesus was beaten and crucified—Jesus or those who abused Him?
- What about when Stephen was stoned, Stephen or those who stoned him?
- What about when we are mistreated?

Why is it that the abuser never gets away with it?

When we fail to understand the nature of sin—that it injures and damages the sinner, when we instead falsely think that sin is a legal problem, then we can falsely believe the sinner will get away with their abuse unless caught and punished. Some unload this to God holding out for the day when the future legal judgment happens and God punishes them as much as they deserve, but that view creates a barrier between the victim and God and prevents true healing of the heart of the victim. It leads to more intolerance and sets people up to pursue social justice through more human laws and human governments—i.e. joining with the beast of Revelation.

Read fourth paragraph, "We have all been bought through Jesus' blood, and legally we are all His. Anyone who is abusive is attacking Jesus' property."

Does this comfort you?

How do you hear this idea? What is the implication? If Jesus didn't die for us, are we not His? We are only His because of the price He paid?

And what is that price? To whom is it paid? Why is a price necessary? Is it a legal price, the lesson seems to suggest it is, what kind of law is that?

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Joseph had forgiven…" This is an excellent insight.

When we are wronged by others, we have to decide, will we apply God's methods to our own lives in order to heal, or will we infect our hearts with lies, Satan's methods of hate, anger, revenge, bitterness and only get worse?

Read third paragraph "All communications…" Why didn't the brothers find rest, peace, more happiness, joy?

What if they asked Jesus to pay their legal sin-debt to the Father for selling Joseph into slavery—would they have peace then? Why or why not?

What happens to people who try to deal with their sins through legal means? Did the Pharisees in Jesus' day try to deal with their sins through legal means? And what happened to them?

Do you see how the legal penal model cheats people from salvation and obstructs healing of heart and mind?

What about the idea of "paralyzing fear of God's retribution"? What is this about?

- Is the problem with sin what God will do to you for it or what sin does to you?
- If God were simply to get some anger management classes and refuse to use His infinite power to exact retribution upon sinners—what would happen to unrepentant sinners? Would they live forever? Would they > have health and happiness? Is Satan right that sin doesn't harm, only God harms for sin?

Jesus said to Nicodemus that only those who are born again can see the kingdom of heaven. But, the Bible says that when Jesus returns that every eye will see Him, even those who pierced Him—how is it that only the born again see the kingdom of heaven, but the unrepentant see Jesus coming in glory?

When Jesus comes again, some see a loving Savior, but others see a fearful punisher—and are terrified and beg the mountains to fall on them and hide them. Is what people see different because Jesus uses miraculous powers to present Himself differently to the two groups—or is what people see different because of their own minds, hearts, attitudes, characters, beliefs?

In other words, those who know Jesus for who He is rejoice and see a loving Savior, but those who have believed Satan's lies about God don't see the truth, the kingdom of God, which is the kingdom of love. What they see is an imperial dictator who makes up rules and punishes rule breakers and they fear retribution.

So what about retribution? What law lens do you see it through?

> Upon the slothful servant the sentence was, "Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents." Here, as in the reward of the faithful worker, is indicated not merely the reward at the final judgment but the gradual process of retribution in this life. As in the natural, so in the spiritual world: every power unused will weaken and decay. Activity is the law of life; idleness is death. [What law is being described? What kind of law is this? Is it design or imposed? And according to this author it is the same in the spiritual as the natural world. And she describes this reaping of destruction from violating God's design laws as retribution.] "The manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal." 1 Corinthians 12:7. Employed to bless others, his gifts increase. Shut up to self-serving they diminish, and are finally withdrawn. He who refuses to impart that which he has received will at last find that he has nothing to give. He is consenting to a process that surely dwarfs and finally destroys the faculties of the soul. COL 364.1 [What is destroying the soul? Is it an outside infliction or the natural result of sinfulness?]

Let none suppose that they can live a life of selfishness, and then, having served their own interests, enter into the joy of their Lord. In the joy of unselfish love they could not participate. They would not be fitted for the heavenly courts. [Why? What unfits them? Is it that they didn't get the right legal price applied to their account? Or is it they didn't have selfishness replaced with God's law of love in their hearts and minds?] They could not appreciate the pure atmosphere of love that pervades heaven. The voices of the angels and the music of their harps would not satisfy them. To their minds the science of heaven would be as an enigma. COL 364.2

And then consider this quote from The Great Controversy:

God has given to men a declaration of His character and of His method of dealing with sin. [which is what? In harmony with His character of love and methods as Creator, which means design law] "The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty." Exodus 34:6, 7. "All the wicked will He destroy." "The transgressors shall be destroyed together: the end of the wicked shall be cut off." Psalm 145:20; 37:38. The power and authority of the divine government will be employed to put down rebellion; yet all the manifestations of retributive justice will be perfectly consistent with the character of God as a merciful, long-suffering, benevolent being. {GC 541.2} [What do you hear? Is this an infliction of external punishment, or the application of design law? What power, it says the power and authority of the divine government—what power do you think power like human governments or like the Creator God of love? Does you keep in mind while reading things like this other quotes like this one from *The Desire of Ages: "*God could have destroyed Satan and his sympathizers as easily as one can cast a pebble to the earth; but He did not do this. Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power." {DA 759.1} So what power? The power of love and truth! But how can love and truth punish? Keep reading…]

God does not force the will or judgment of any. He takes no pleasure in a slavish obedience. He desires that the creatures of His hands shall love Him because He is worthy of love. [Can God get this by threatening and then inflicting external punishment on people who would otherwise not reap it? No! Imperial/imposed law violates the law of liberty and coerces and forces and thus destroys love. He can only get this by leaving people free!] He would have them obey Him because they have an intelligent appreciation of His wisdom, justice, and benevolence. And all who have a just conception of these qualities will love Him because they are drawn toward Him in admiration of His attributes. [What does God want? Our love and trust—and how is that achieved? So, you see Satan's power of lies to get us to conceive of God as a being other than love, a dictator who inflicts pain and suffering, which undermines our ability to love and trust God. This is what penal substitution theology does.] {GC 541.3}

The principles of kindness, mercy, and love, taught and exemplified by our Saviour, are a transcript of the will and character of God. Christ declared that He taught nothing except that which He had received from His Father. The principles of the divine government are in perfect harmony with the Saviour's precept, "Love your enemies." [Wait, love your enemies is the principles upon which God executes justice and punishes sin? How does that work? Only by design law!] God executes justice upon the wicked, for the good of the universe, and even for the good of those upon whom His judgments are visited. [What does this mean? Executes justice—what is justice, doing what is right, and what is right? Is it right to give people the freedom to choose? Is it right to let people reap what they have chosen after repeated attempts to win them to love and trust? And when does God let them go to reap what they have chosen, when they are still healable/savable or when they have destroyed within themselves the faculties that respond to truth and love? And how is it good for the wicked for God to do this? Because, if God did not let the wicked go, did not let the wicked who are hardened in sin die, then God would create, by His power, a place of torment and God would never do this. Thus, for mercy, for love, for the best for the wicked, He executes justice, the right thing for them and sets them free from Him the only source of life.] He would make them happy if He could do so in accordance with the laws of His government and the justice of His character. [What are the laws of His government? Design laws and you can't force people to love you, or enjoy goodness and purity] He surrounds them with the tokens of His love, He grants them a knowledge of His law, and follows them with the offers of His mercy; but they despise His love, make void His law, and reject His mercy. While constantly receiving His gifts, they dishonor the Giver; they hate God because they know that He abhors their sins. The Lord bears long with their perversity; but the decisive hour will come at last, when their destiny is to be decided.[decided by who? a judge in heaven or each person decides their own destiny?] Will He then chain these rebels to His side? Will He force them to do His will? {GC 541.4}

Those who have chosen Satan as their leader and have been controlled by his power are not prepared to enter the presence of God. [Why can't they enter God's presence? Is it because God doesn't want them there, God is angry and wrathful and hasn't had the price paid to Him for that unrepentant sinner? No, it is because of their condition!] Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. [Fixed by who? How did it become fixed? What law caused it to become fixed?] Can they enter heaven to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC 542.1}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to heaven and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,-- every soul filled with love, every countenance beaming with joy, enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb, and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,--[what does that light look like? From where does it come? Do you integrate texts like these: “the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him. Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him.” (Dan 7:9-10 NIV84) “for our ‘God is a consuming fire.’” (Heb 12:29 NIV84)? Is this fire harmful? Do the righteous get injured by it? Why not? What about the wicked, why do they experience pain in this fire? From where does the pain come, from the fire or from unremedied sin?] could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb? No, no; years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for heaven. Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. [What is being described? Do you integrate texts like “They called to the mountains and the rocks, “Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb!” (Rev 6:16 NIV84)? What kind of law? What is the reason? Is God acting justly? He is executing justice?] The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from heaven is voluntary with themselves, and just and merciful on the part of God. [Who decides the fate of the wicked? What does it mean voluntary with themselves? It is what they want, is it right and just on God’s part to grant them exclusion from heaven? What kind of law?] {GC 542.2}

Like the waters of the Flood the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. [Why are they lost? Who made them incurable? Is this just on God’s part? Is it an infliction that their condition does not bring upon them?]{GC 543.1}

The title is forgive and forget—what do you think about this?

Does forgiveness mean forgetting?

> "I, even I, am he who blots out > your transgressions, for my own sake, > and remembers your sins no more." Isa 43:25
>
> "For I will forgive their wickedness
> and will remember their sins no more." Heb 8:12

What do these texts mean? Is this talking about memory erasure or something else?

- Can our angels read our Bibles? Do they know about David's sin with Bathsheba? How can they if it has been forgotten in heaven?
- What about in the new heaven and Earth, will we know each other? Will we know our mothers and fathers and spouses and children?
    - So consider when David, Bathsheba and Uriah are talking and up walks Solomon and says "Hi Mom!" What happens then?

- Misunderstand the judgment –
    - Under imposed law the judgment is judicial and sin are bad deeds that we do and the record of the deeds must be erased and memory must be purged so no one knows because if people knew they wouldn't trust us, or wouldn't like us and we would live in fear and insecurity so the penal lie teaches that the texts mean memory erasure.
    - Under design law though we realize that the deeds are the symptoms of sinfulness in the heart and mind and that sin is erased from the character, selfishness is purged from the heart, evil is eradicated from the mind, but we all remember the history of how we suffered in our own lives from sin before Jesus healed us and we are thankful for this.
        - It is like having a child with cancer—while they are sick we must focus on the cancer and make all the interventions necessary to put the cancer into remission. But once they are well, permanently well, we don't have to think about the cancer any more. But do we forget the doctor who cured her?

  - Mary Magdalene anoints Jesus feet
    - "those forgiven much love much"
  - Imagine being nominated to serve in children's department and someone says….
- So how do we understand those texts about not remembering?
  - Analogy of child who fibbed coming home "here comes that little liar…"
- One can safely "forget" ONLY when reconciliation has occurred

Consider this historic quote:

> Every question of truth and error in the long-standing controversy has now been made plain. The results of rebellion, the fruits of setting aside the divine statutes, have been laid open to the view of all created intelligences. The working out of Satan's rule in contrast with the government of God has been presented to the whole universe. Satan's own works have condemned him. God's wisdom, His justice, and His goodness stand fully vindicated. It is seen that all His dealings in the great controversy have been conducted with respect to the eternal good of His people and the good of all the worlds that He has created. . . . The history of sin will stand to all eternity as a witness that with the existence of God's law is bound up the happiness of all the beings He has created. With all the facts of the great controversy in view, the whole universe, both loyal and rebellious, with one accord declare: "Just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints." {Mar 346.2}

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Luke 23:34:

Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing."

And then asks what we learn about forgiveness from Jesus' example?

Did Jesus forgive them? Did He have authority to forgive sins? Did Jesus have to get some of His blood presented to Himself so He would forgive?

Does the Father need Jesus' blood presented to Him for the Father to forgive?

The lesson states in the bottom paragraph, "The Cross is the best example of what it cost God Himself to forgive us."

What are your thoughts about this?

If we define forgiveness as the entire process of restoring a sinner to eternal life and healing the heart and mind—then this is true—we learn what it cost God to heal and save.

But if we mean by forgiveness the typical definition of the word today, either personal pardon, not holding a grudge, not seeking revenge, or legal pardon, either way, then this is not true. The cross was not necessary for God to pardon and the sin problem wasn't legal in nature so didn't need a human law court legal ruling.

What the cross demonstrates is the what it cost God to as the Bible says:

- destroy him who holds the power of death that is the devil
- destroy death and bring life and immortality to light, and,
- destroy the devil's work.

In other words, the Cross reveals the high cost to God to cure the sin problem, heal sinners, defeat Satan and eradicate sin from the universe and none of this was legal in nature.

God gave His personal pardon or forgiveness without price, without payment, but that personal pardon did not restore sinners or cure the problem, only Christ's life as a human could do that.

THURSDAY

The lesson states, “While it may not always be wise to restore relationships, this does not mean that we cannot forgive.”

Does forgiveness mean restored trust? Why or why not?

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Vision for Come and Reason: We are now the owner of the property at 4922 La Collina Way, Collegedale, TN

This property is two stories with over 14,000 square feet. We will occupy the first floor a little over 7000 square feet. But before we move in we need to do renovations to prepare for our classes and ministry production. We will have a theater studio so we can record and broadcast programs with a live audience. We will have a kitchen so we can have regular potlucks. We plan on a children's room so parents with younger children can come to our class while the children have a children's program.

The next step in the process is to get contractors to give us an official bid for the renovation, choose a contractor and get the space renovated.

NEW RESOURCE SOUTH AFRICA: Could It Be This Simple? is now available in in Afrikaans. We want to give special thanks to Jacques van den Heever, who spent many hours proof reading and working with editors and translators to get this resource availab.e Thank you Jacque!

It is available as a FREE download on our website, but if you are in South Africa and would like one in print, then email Jacque at comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

There will be a small postage charge of R50 (around $4) or you live near Somerset West you are welcome to pick one up in person.

South Africa also has some newly printed materials including tracts, meditation guides, and CIBTS. If you are interested in getting copies for yourself or to share, please email comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon! We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 8
Free to Rest

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Last week I explored how events in our world are teaching people to practice the methods of Satan in their lives, preparing them to accept those same methods on a new issue or topic.

I examined the methods of lies, the use of office or authority to proclaim a position rather than demonstrate the evidence and pursue truth, of accusation, of calling those who challenge a position heretic or science denier, of inducements/bribes/payoffs and coercion, force intimidation and how all of these Satanic methods are used by the pro-vaxxers and not those asking for more evidence and urging caution.

I said we want to be truth seekers, investigate the evidence. And I am happy to report that on one of the points that I presented last week turns out to be a misstatement. I have been informed that the health official in Australia that said all but one of the hospitalized patients had been vaccinated, meant to say all but one was unvaccinated. This is beautiful, it is exactly how the lovers of truth are to work. Thank you to those who emailed to bring us this clarification.

On another point, I mentioned that pathologists who have spent the last may months examining blood samples of COVID recovered people report that:

> "A natural infection induces hundreds upon hundreds of antibodies against all proteins of the virus, including the envelope, the membrane, the nucleocapsid, and the spike. Dozens upon dozens of these antibodies neutralize the virus when encountered again. Additionally, because of the immune system exposure to these numerous proteins (epitomes), our T cells mount a robust memory, as well… T cell memory to those infected with SARSCOV1 is at 17 years and running still." Whereas the vaccine triggers the body to make the spike protein and the immune system to only create antibodies to the spike protein.
> https://www.dailyveracity.com/2021/07/19/cdc-vaccine-deaths-pass-10000-as-efficacy-of-the-jab-plummets-data-suggests-those-naturally-infected-do-better-than-the-vaccinated/

After class last week I came cross new research in an article dated July 28, 2021, which documents that this is, in fact, true. According to JAMA Network, in an article entitled "Überantibodies From Recovered COVID-19 Patients Could Spur New Therapeutics and Vaccines," recovered individuals had developed multiple different antibodies to COVID-19 and that "two of the antibodies were 'ultrapotent' at tiny concentrations across all 23 of the variants the scientists tested, including the highly transmissible B.1.1.7 (alpha), B.1.351 (beta), and B.1.617.2 (delta) versions."
https://jamanetwork.com/journals/jama/fullarticle/2782673?guestAccessKey=f93a08a1-db6e-428d-

86d7-3935e87bd31d&utm_source=silverchair&utm_campaign=jama_network&utm_content=covid_weekly_highlights&utm_medium=email

Then on Wednesday night another article came across my desk, entitled: Long-term Persistence of Neutralizing Antibodies to SARS-CoV-2 Following Infection. The data shows that there are effective antibodies to SARS-CoV-2 13 months post infection—as far out as people were able to be tracked thus far. https://link.springer.com/article/10.1007/s11606-021-07057-0

Yet a report came out this week from the CDC, a survey of citizens in Kentucky that states that those recovered from COVID but remain unvaccinated have twice the reinfection rate of the vaccinated and urged the recovered people to get vaccinated. There is something wrong here—it doesn't add up. It doesn't make sense with our understanding of all other illnesses, it doesn't make sense with the hard science antibody data I just presented.

Understand, this isn't simply about COVID or its treatment—it is about your mind. One of the mechanisms used to get people to surrender thinking, to become passive, to accept authority, to go along with rules that restrict liberty is to incite fear and then present conflicting data, ever changing rules, and keep you in a sense of uncertainty where you feel like you can't figure it out so you will turn to the government, the authority to tell you what to do. Psychologically, it will make you feel safe to follow the rules even if those rules are harming you and your family and our society.

Then one of our board members had a family member send them a link to an article, entitle: Fact Check-No evidence that Pfizer's COVID-19 vaccine causes Alzheimer's disease

The article's opening paragraph states, "As of this article's publication, the COVID-19 vaccine manufactured by Pfizer-BioNTech has not been shown to cause Prion diseases or neurodegenerative diseases such as Alzheimer's and Lou Gehrig's disease (ALS). Experts say a paper circulating online does not provide legitimate evidence otherwise." They go on to reference an article that was published by someone they say is a known anti-vaxxer and suggest this to undermine the concern as anti-vaxxer fears.
https://www.reuters.com/article/fact-check-no-evidence-that-pfizers-covi/fact-check-no-evidence-that-pfizers-covid-19-vaccine-causes-alzheimers-disease-idUSL1N2MZ382

If you remember I referenced an article that found that the spike protein which is on the virus and the study looked at COVID recovered pts and the impact the spike protein had, and I pointed out that this very same spike protein is produced by the vaccines; and this spike protein binds to heparin binding protein in the brain increasing the accumulation of various proteins associated with Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, Lewy Body, spongiform disease. So, this was sent, does this refute what I presented?

I present this not to argue the medical facts, but to demonstrate how to reason and think, how to differentiate what is being said.

- The article I referenced was published after the one linked above.

- The author they identify who they say is an antivaxxer is not the author of the paper I referenced—but even it was the fact someone is an antivaxxer doesn't mean what they say or present is false. The evidence and facts stand or fall on their own and need to be examined on their merits.
- The Fact Check-No evidence that Pfizer's COVID-19 vaccine causes Alzheimer's disease article did not provide evidence that the vaccines are safe, they only state that the vaccines have "not been shown to cause…." Not being shown to cause the problem is not the same as not causing it; it means that the evidence is not yet in to know because such neurodegenerative changes take time to manifest and be shown. So it is true that the vaccines have not been shown to cause these conditions, but it is not true to say that they are known not to cause these conditions. We don't know yet. It very well may turn out that they don't cause these problems, lets' hope they don't, but the truth at this time in history is, we don't know, it is a possibility based on real scientific facts.
- The point of the article I referenced was that the spike protein produced by the vaccines is the same spike protein that was shown in the recovered pts to bind to heparin binding receptor in the brain, they state "we have shown that the SARS-CoV-2 S1 RBD binds to a number of aggregation-prone, heparin binding proteins including Aβ, α-synuclein, tau, prion, and TDP-43 RRM." https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0006291X2100499X
- So, my point was that there is scientific evidence of potential risk that these could cause these neurodegenerative changes, and that it warrants investigation to prove it or disprove it and that standard medical ethics require that we provide this information before an experimental injection be giving to warn of possible but yet unproven negative outcomes.

So thank you to all who reached out with the information to clarify or question this.

I received the following in a letter this week:

> Good Morning Tim,
>
> I hope this note finds your, your family and all the Come and Reason Team doing well. I've said it before but will say it again, my husband and I are so grateful you listened to God's call and became his spokesperson with this vital end-time message! We've been so blessed because of it and thank you so much for all the resources you and your Come and Reason Ministry provide us.
>
> I found this little 'gem' this morning in a devotional written by EG White called Our High Calling and thought I'd share it with you and your team. It speaks so clearly to design law I think, the law of worship to be specific. I am finding myself, too often, looking down instead of up. In our current world's environment I can often be distracted by shadows and there are plenty of them today!
>
> As I write to you this morning, it is early and the sun is just beginning to rise and I am anxious about the rumored announcement that President Biden may be making today mandating all federal employees get the vaccine or weekly testing. He has already mandated that all VA employees get it so I won't be surprised if he does the same for federal employees. I live in a state governed by a very left leaning liberal who will, I know, follow suit and mandate vaccines for all state employees. As I work for the school district I will be included in that mandate. My husband and I have been preparing for this even as we could see the writing on the wall that it was a possibility, but none the less, we were hopeful that it wouldn't happen.

We've been keeping it in prayer too and have been impressed that if/when I lose my job, it will be the sign we need to sell our home in town and move onto some property we've purchased. The Lord is always faithful and gives us all we need at exactly the time we need it so we are at peace with this decision. He has brought people into our life who have discernment like we do so we have a small network started of support for when times get really bad, i.e. food shortages, monetary collapse. We are all willing to pull together and share our skills, knowledge etc. and support one another.

I never thought that I would be on the side of the 'radicals' as the mainstream thinkers call us. I've always been a quiet, 'you leave me alone and I'll leave you alone' person but I find myself being 'pushed' out of that comfort zone into one that puts me in a position to be more outspoken. I don't think it's a bad thing for me but it sure can add to my discomfort! on the upside, it gives me lots of opportunity to share God's design laws with people! Well, I best go and look forward to the day when I can sit down with you and really share all that has happened to us because you were faithful to God's call. It won't happen here on earth probably, but there's always heaven!

God bless you Tim, you and your ministry are in our prayers.

This is the 'gem' from Our High Calling:

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter! Isaiah 5:20. OHC 26.1

God is light, and in Him is no darkness at all. If there were no light, there would be no shade. But while the shade comes by the sun, it is not created by it. It is some obstruction that causes the shadow. So darkness emanates not from God, but is the result of an intruding object between the soul and God.... Disregard of the light that God has given brings the sure result. It creates a shadow, a darkness that is more dark because of the light which has been sent.... If a man withdraws himself from light and evidence, and yields to Satan's seducing arts, he himself draws the curtain of unbelief about him, so that light cannot be distinguished from darkness. More light and evidence would only be misunderstood by him. The greater the evidence, the greater will be the indifference. This will lead the deceived soul to call darkness light and truth error. OHC 26.2

Satan is constantly working to lead men to deny the light. It is but a step from the straightforward path to a diverging one, in which Satan leads the way, and where light is all darkness, and darkness light.... It is a dangerous thing to open the heart to unbelief, for it drives > the Spirit of God away from the heart, and Satan's suggestions come in.... We must ... avoid the first admission of doubt and unbelief. OHC 26.3

>
> "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Galatians 6:7. God destroys no man. Every man who is destroyed will destroy himself. When a man stifles the admonitions of conscience, he sows the seeds of unbelief and these produce a sure harvest.... OHC 26.4
>
> "They would none of my counsel, they despised all my reproof. Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices. For the turning away of the simple shall slay them, and the prosperity of fools shall destroy them. But whoso hearkeneth unto me shall dwell safely, and shall be quiet from fear of evil." Proverbs 1:30-33. OHC 26.5

Then I, in my devotions came across this, written back in 1902, in the Australian Union Conference Record, August 1, 1902:

> And those also who are dead in trespasses and sins demand our service. The man who is wholly absorbed in his counting room, the man who finds pleasure at the gaming table, the man who loves to indulge perverted appetite, the frequenter of the theatre and ball-room, [we could put the Netflix junkie, the PlayStation and Xbox addict] put eternity out of their reckoning. The whole burden of their life is, What shall we eat? what shall we drink? and wherewithal shall we be clothed? They are not in the procession that is moving heavenward. They are led by the great apostate, and with him will be destroyed. All around us are souls perishing in their sins. Every year thousands upon thousands are dying without God and without hope of eternal life. The plagues and judgments of God are in the land, and souls are going to ruin because the light of truth has not been flashed upon their pathway. AUCR August 1, 1902, par. 3 [What are the judgments of God? Remember the same author wrote the judgment of God don't come directly out from Him, but when people refuse Him, His healing, protection, and warnings and insist on going their own way, He sets them free and no longer protects them from Satan's attacks and the plagues come out from Satan. Do we understand viruses are not from God? Viruses are strands of either DNA or RNA code that can infect cells and redirect the cell's machinery to produce more of the virus—me,me,me and more of me! This is the physical outworking of selfishness. If something isn't done to stop it then it kills the host, and ultimately the virus will die if another host isn't found to infect. God did not create viruses to injure and harm His creation any more than Microsoft or Apple create viruses to infect their operating systems. No, enemies create viruses. Viruses are because of sin. The immune system is part of God's kingdom, and the immune cells sacrifice themselves to save the host. The current COVID virus exists why? Because human beings, in a country of God-denying evolutionists, thus not under the direction of the Holy Spirit, engineered it, and then released it. God does not stop people from rebelling from Him, but whenever this happens injury and harm comes. Is the world currently suffering under a plague?]
> The heart of God is moved. Souls are very precious in His sight. It was for this world that Christ wept in agony; for this world He was crucified. God gave His only begotten Son to save sinners, and He desires us to love others as He has loved us. He desires those who have a knowledge of the truth to impart this knowledge to their fellow-men. AUCR August 1, 1902, par. 4

Now is the time for the last warning to be given. There is a special power in the presentation of the truth at the present time; but how long will it continue?—Only a little while. If ever there was a crisis, it is now. AUCR August 1, 1902, par. 5

What shall we say, what can we say, to arouse those who know the truth, both ministers and lay members, to a sense of their responsibility? How can they be led to feel the burden of imparting to others the truth God has imparted to them? O that they were awake to the purposes of God and to their individual responsibility! Then would they use every gift, every talent, in the work of giving to the world the truth for this time. The number of laborers would greatly increase, and the work would grow in influence and extent. God's people would be light-bearers, shining amid the darkness of this degenerate age. AUCR August 1, 1902, par. 6

God has given all something to do. Those who are willing to work in self-denial and self-sacrifice will find their place. But those who seek only a safe and easy place need to be converted. [How many today are advancing the philosophy of safe-spaces, of avoiding hard truths, of silencing anyone who speaks words that causes conviction of sin, that makes them uncomfortable? Yes, all such people who seek an easy place a safe place need to be converted!] Until their hearts are renewed, their purposes changed, God has no use for them in His work. By an unreserved consecration we are to prepare ourselves for His service. Our ministers are not to hover over the churches, regarding the churches in some particular place as their special care. And our churches should not feel jealous and neglected if they do not receive ministerial labor. They should themselves take up the burden, and labor most earnestly for souls. Believers are to have root in themselves, striking firm root in Christ, that they may bear fruit to His glory. As one man, they are to strive to attain one object,—the saving of souls. AUCR August 1, 1902, par. 7

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses on rest from physical sickness, sometimes when our bodies are unwell, when we have tests pending, or diagnosis looming, we can lie awake at night worrying.

What has been helpful for you to find peace when facing health problems?

What is not helpful?

I received this letter in the mail from Bill Swinney, a 98-year-old WWII veteran, and wanted to share some excerpts.

A lot of wisdom packed into a few words. The overall theme is living in harmony with God’s design. You can’t have health in violations of the laws of health, mental, physical or spiritual. Very insightful.

The lesson focuses our attention on the paralytic let down through the roof, whom Christ healed, but first forgave his sins.

Read fourth and fifth paragraphs, "For the paralytic…"

The lesson does an excellent job of pointing out how the fallacy of human imposed law system with its need to blame, accuse, judge, punish, infects our thinking along health issues, but is it only health issues? What about sin issues?

Isn't the problem with sin the exact same thing, it violates God's design laws for life, damages the sinner and will result in death without God intervening to heal and restore?

Read bottom green section, "When someone gets sick…" thoughts?

Let's answer the second question first, why is it helpful to understand the cause of sickness? To help heal and to avoid repeating the injuring or getting sick again if one gets well.

With that in mind, what are the reasons people have health problems today?

- Sin in the world—the world is infected with Satan's principles and all nature groans under the weight of sin. Because of this there are all kinds of physiological abnormalities that have nothing to do with individual sin, yet things are not functioning as God designed. People can be born blind, deaf, with congenital heart problems, with genetic problems like muscular dystrophy etc. The disciples asked Jesus, who sinned that this man was born blind him or his parents, and Jesus said neither. We must not attribute all illness or physical handicaps as a result of sin.
- But does that mean all illness, physical handicaps or disabilities are always a natural result of sin in the world and never due to individual sin or choices to violate God's law? What about a person who commits adultery and gets a sexually transmitted disease? Could their disease be a result of sin? What about a person who commits adultery and feels guilt and shame, doesn't repent, begins lying and deceiving to cover their sin and they experience more fear, anxiety, activating stress pathways, gets ulcers, hardening of the arteries and dies of a heart attack? Or, they cope by using alcohol or drugs to try and avoid the guilt and use dirty needles and get HIV infected would this be a result of their sin?
- Can we tell if someone is suffering from a sexually transmitted disease if they committed sin or not? No! They may have had an unfaithful spouse who brought them the disease. They may have gotten it in a blood transfusion. They may have been sexually assaulted etc. etc.
- Other reasons people suffering from physical problems? They are victims of the sins of others—trauma, or poison, or toxins in the environment
- Accidents, negligence, or unforeseen consequences are another reason people suffer
- What about aging even if someone lives a perfectly healthy life—what happens to all of us over time? Is this normal in God's design? Understand that from God's perspective all die young, God designed humans to live eternally. Thus, the aging and decay we see is a result of sin ravaging us despite our best lifestyles. However, this first death is not the death of sin, it is the mercy, the artificial state of grace that God permits in order for the plan of salvation to be carried out.

MONDAY

The lesson points out that often times we don't consider an illness until we have symptoms and then many times people believe the symptoms are the problem and seek only symptom relief instead of treating the actual illness.

Can you think examples like this? Perhaps lung disease due to smoking and rather than quitting smoking, the person wants medicine to help their lungs, or oxygen but they continue to smoke?

In psychiatry one of the places I see this most commonly is with the emotion of anxiety. Anxiety is almost always a symptom of some other problem. Anxiety to our minds is like pain to our bodies. Pain is designed to tell us something is wrong—if you feel pain somewhere in your body, hopefully your first thought isn't "I have a pain disorder" and your first action isn't "I need pain meds." Hopefully, your first thought is "What is wrong that is causing the pain and what is needed to fix that problem so the pain will go away?"

- Is it a thorn?
- Is it a cavity?
- Is it arthritis?
- Is it a fracture or sprain?

With anxiety it is the same way, the first thought should be what is causing the anxiety?

- Rarely it is a physical cause. A person with hyperthyroidism can present with panic attacks. If one doesn't consider why is this person having panic, what the anxiety is a symptom of, and instead merely diagnosis panic disorder and gives anti-anxiety meds, the person will not get well. In fact they could die from complications of untreated hyperthyroidism. But this is rare.
- If someone is holding your head under water, what do you experience before you pass out? Panic. Sometimes people have panic because they find themselves in circumstances with too many problems, responsibilities, deadlines, bills, and they feel like they are drowning.
- Sometimes it is a result of historic trauma that caused both brain and mind changes—impacting how we process life experiences—through a threat matrix instead of a security matrix.
- Sometimes it is because of failure to have the life experiences needed to prepare the brain to manage life stress. Children who are neglected don't develop the same top-down love pathways that calm the fear circuits.
- Sometimes anxiety is due to unhealthy thinking patterns
- Sometimes it is due to not having a relationship with the Lord
- Sometimes it is due to filling the mind with fear inducing messages
- Sometimes it is due to real world problems being handled without the Lord

So, whatever the problem, mental, physical, spiritual—getting to the root and resolving it is absolutely the best approach.

TUESDAY

Read first three paragraphs, "Based on data…" This is well said, Major Depression or Clinical Depression is a physiological brain/body problem with multiple contributing factors.

The lesson goes on to focus on Elijah and his depression after Mt. Carmel and how he ran away. Strictly speaking, from a modern diagnostic approach, Elijah would not be diagnosed with Major Depression, but with an adjustment disorder with depressed mood.

Both conditions would have a person feeling depressed, despondent, perhaps hopeless, discouraged, fearful, perhaps suicidal—but the adjustment disorder is a person facing a situational stressor that overwhelms their coping. It is sudden, and if the stressor is removed, they almost immediately improve and the depression resolves.

The person with clinical depression, or Major Depression, has alteration in brain function and ability to function in life across the domains of life, like appetite, sleep, concentration, energy, thinking, that persists for a minimum of two weeks. Even if there is a situational stressor, removing that stressor does not resolve the depression.

Let's talk a little about Major Depression, what it is, what contributes, and what you can do to help protect yourself or lifestyle and Bible principles that are documented to have anti-depressant benefit:

When someone is depressed they have alterations in normal brain circuitry function:

- The Prefrontal Cortex, where one thinks, reasons, plans, is under active so a person in a state of depression would have a more difficult time concentration, problem solving, handling stressors. So they get overwhelmed more easily, don't engage, withdraw, are more moody, irritable, get overwhelmed more easily.
- The orbital cortex, where one normally experiences a conviction of wrong doing, if one were doing something wrong, is overactive in depression so people will often feel a sense of guilt, or inadequacy or not being good enough.
- The Anterior Cingulate Cortex, where we experience a sense of empathy, compassion and also where we choose, is under active. So people who are depressed will feel emotionally distant from people, isolated, disconnected and also have a difficult time making decisions.
- The amygdala where we experience fear, apprehension, warning, alertness is over active so people will often experience anxiety, worry, dread, and inability to relax with sleep disturbance
- The nucleus accumbens where we experience pleasure and reward is under active so even when good things happen people in depression don't feel any reward.

This leads to negative and worried thought patterns, irrational looping on fears and over value on possible negatives and undervaluing the positives, which only fuels the neurocircuitry imbalance.

This imbalance leads to increased inflammation in the body, with elevated cytokines which interfere with synaptic signaling so people will experience fatigue, malaise, concentration problems, sleep disturbance, loss of appetite, aches and pains all over their bodies.

This state leads to changes in the brain altering how genes are expressed and proteins that keep the brain healthy, called neurotrophins, are turned off in depression and certain brain regions can thin, this includes both the prefrontal cortex—where we reason, think, problem solve, have self governance, and also the hippocampus where new learning takes place.

All treatments for major depression reverse this process, turn one of the neurotrophins BDNF, and eventually reverse the circuitry imbalance.

Anything that pushes one toward the circuitry imbalance would push one toward depression; anything that incites bodily inflammation can also push one toward depression.

This is where the lifestyle and spiritual factors come in.

What types of thought patterns will disrupt brain circuits?

- Denial, refusing truth, believing lies
- Unresolved guilt
- Resentment, bitterness, grudge-holding

These thought patterns decrease normal PFC function, increase orbital function, contributing to worried thoughts with increased amygdala activity, with increased sense of anxiety, fear, worry, and thus increased inflammatory cascades.

What resolves this circuitry disruption if caused by these factors?

- Truth replacing lies
- Repentance and reconciliation—particularly with God, not necessarily with others
- Forgiveness—forgiving those who have wronged us

Do you see one reason depression is so high in the world today? Our world today is becoming ever more godless, ever more worldly and justifying the need to punish the wrong doer, seeking so-called justice through human law systems, which is the opposite of God's system. These imposed laws and punishments only cause more injustice, cause people to hold on to wrongs, to fantasize about seeing their wrong doer punished etc. Or, the wrong doer denies their wrong or justifies and defends their wrong and doesn't repent.

But another factor is anything that increases inflammation in the body can increase the risk of depression so:

- Study of 9000 adults examining amount of fast food and junk food consumed (pizza, hamburgers, doughnuts, croissants, candy, cakes etc)
- Those who ate junk food 40% higher rate of depression that those who did not
- Any amt increased risk, dose dependent curve. Public Health Nutr. 2012;15:424-432

- Smoking
- Alcohol abuse
- Drug Abuse
- DM type 2 increases risk 24%
- Chronic pain

I won't talk about medications today, other than to say, antidepressants work—not for every person, but for millions they work and are life-saving. In addition to anti-depressants, there is Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation, FDA approved non drug treatment for depression that gives magnetic pulses across the scalp directly to the brain activating the PFC and moving the neural circuits back toward their non depressed state. Also, 10,000 lux light therapy, works for many people. If used it is most effective before 7 a.m. and 18 inches from the face. It can trigger mania in bipolar patients and usually works in a couple of days.

Other interventions—resolving guilt, forgiving the wrong doer, finding peace with God. Surrendering outcomes to God.

Truth based therapies, like CBT, are documented to restore the brain circuits back to their non-depressed activity and have antidepressant activity.

Social connectivity, being with friends, family, socially interacting is anti-depressant and social isolation increases depression.

- Exercise
    - Increases insulin sensitivity
    - Turns on BDNF, Vascular GF, Nerve GF
    - Increases endorphins, enkephalins, DA

- Plant based diet
    - 41 studies, 20 longitudinal. Evaluated various diets, Mediterranean diet, the Healthy Eating Index, the Alternative Healthy Eating Index, the Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension (DASH) diet, and the Dietary Inflammatory Index.

- Four studies involving 36,556 adults, adherence to a Mediterranean diet, had a 33% decreased risk of depression.
- At the other end of the spectrum, eating a pro-inflammatory diet high in fat, sugar, and processed food was linked with higher depression risk, according to data from 5 longitudinal studies involving 32,908 adults. Nutrients that are anti-depressant—this is not exhaustive, but some:

- L-methyl folate
- omega 3 Fatty acids
- Vit D
- N-acetyl cysteine

Sleep:

- OSA – Cognitive impairments, mood disorders and loss of gray matter which reversed with treatment
- Sleep disorders double the risk of depression
- During sleep the brain cells contract expelling metabolic waste and increasing clearance from brain, including beta amyloid

Altruism—volunteering

- Adults who volunteer (after accounting for variables such as education, baseline health, smoking, etc.)
    - Live longer, have less illness, less disability, less depression, less dementia and live independently longer than those who did not. Post, S. Altruism and Health Perspectives from Empirical Research, Oxford University Press, New York, 2007: p. 22, 26).

Worshipping a God of love—studies show that regular worship and meditation on a God of love activate the anterior cingulate cortex, calms the amygdala and works to restore the brain circuits back to their non-depressed state.

WEDNESDAY

Read second paragraph, "When Elijah finally…" This again is the dysphoria of situational problems. A crisis came, emotions are strong, physical fatigue impacts, choice is made, but afterward the mind judges the choice to be less than ideal, even wrong and one feels guilt and disappointment with because they didn't do what they believed was best. Why?

Typically because some feeling dominated the moment—whether fear, or lust, or anger—but typically our poor decisions in real time, which result in guilt are based on some feeling taking control.

If you remember last week we discussed the book, The Coddling of the American Mind: How Good Intentions and Bad Ideas Are Setting Up a Generation for Failure by Greg Lukianoff, Jonathan Haidt. And they identified three untruths which have dominated college campuses and are spreading across the nation to the destruction of all of us, and the second untruth that many accept today is always trust your feelings.

Feelings can lie and in fact Satan tempts us through our feelings. Feelings are not facts, feelings are not truths. But in society today, Satan's deceit is so pervasive that many have come to label feelings as truth—this is my truth, when in fact they are talking about feelings. It is quite destructive.

Read third paragraph, "That can be a painful…" What is described here? Seeing ourselves as we are can be painful—why?

Is seeing reality harmful? Then why is it painful?

Is it necessary for our eternal salvation for us to see the truth of ourselves? Why? Then would Satan want to have people see themselves as they are? It depends—if Satan can get a person to see their own shortcomings in an environment and mindset that is without hope for healing—then yes he would want that because it will lead to nihilism, hopelessness, depression, destructive behaviors and even suicidality.

But, if we see our true condition under the umbrella of God's love and grace, knowing Jesus and knowing He can heal us—then we don't become despondent and hopeless we surrender to Jesus and become reborn into the kingdom of God—and Satan definitely doesn't want this.

So, what strategies will Satan employ to prevent people from conversion, which requires they know some aspect of the truth about God and their condition.

- Lie about reality
    - no God, no sin, just evolved from lower life forms so whatever you find in yourself it is part of nature and is good
    - there is a god but it is a punitive legal god who is the source of pain and suffering legally inflicted to punish sin—and all the negativity and destruction that comes from the fear, guilt and legal solutions
    - there is no god just energy in the universe and we recycle through endless cycles of life until we finally develop ourselves along the path of the light, the good, the moral and eventually enter nirvana. In this worldview, whenever we are faced with some truth about ourselves that causes stress and anxiety we meditate, emptying our minds until we experience the peace that comes from calming our amygdala, but we don't ever confront the inherent selfishness by surrendering to Jesus and being reborn with a new heart and new motives.

- Seek to avoid reality of one's own condition through denial, blame, accusation, justification of whatever sin they may have committed, it is someone else's fault
- Seek to self-medicate through alcohol, drugs legal or illegal all designed to take the feeling of conviction away
- Distract self through entertainment
- Invest in diabolical or destructive purposes
- Invest in a purpose that might be good but employ Satan's methods to achieve it, this gives a false sense of earned goodness, working and fighting for a higher purpose while one is still destroying their character

The lesson points out that sometimes depression can be so bad that people will think about death and suicide.

EGW wrote many years ago, commenting on Job's struggles in the book Prophets and Kings:

> Into the experience of all there come times of keen disappointment and utter discouragement—days when sorrow is the portion, and it is hard to believe that God is still the kind benefactor of His earthborn children; days when troubles harass the soul, till death seems preferable to life. It is then that many lose their hold on God and are brought into the slavery of doubt, the bondage of unbelief. Could we at such times discern with spiritual insight the meaning of God's providences we should see angels seeking to save us from ourselves, striving to plant our feet upon a foundation more firm than the everlasting hills, and new faith, new life, would spring into being. PK 162.1

Let's talk about Suicide: Risk and Prevention

The major risk factors for suicide are:

- genetics
- mood disorder (major depression)
- pessimism
- misreading social cues
- impulsivity
- impaired learning.

Fifty percent of suicide risk is genetic, meaning suicide risk is inheritable and does run in families. This does not mean that a person is predestined to die by suicide if they have family members who have died by suicide, but they do have an increased risk for it. This risk can be mitigated by awareness and purposeful interventions to prevent or treat the other factors that increase risk, thereby reducing suicide risk even in those who have genetic vulnerability. There isn't a specific gene that increases the risk; instead, it's the interaction of hundreds if not thousands of genes. Thus, even though the genetic risk is well documented, a specific genetic test is not available.

Depression
People with a history of recurrent major depression have a 13-fold increased risk of suicide. Major depression is the most important and treatable risk factor for suicide. Many people believe that suicide risk goes up because of some stressful life event while failing to realize that many of the stressful life events are the result of major depression that is not being treated.

When people are depressed, they are more likely to:

- socially isolate, be unavailable, be easily overwhelmed, and thereby experience relationship problems and breakups
- call in sick to work, have impaired job performance, and thereby lose their job
- fail to pay bills either because of lost work and can't afford to, or lost attention to life's responsibilities, and thereby lose their car or home or have creditors calling

So, the life stressors people attribute as the cause of suicide may, in reality, be due to underlying depression that is not being treated.

Studies show that not all people with depression experience suicidal thoughts, but those who have a pessimistic mindset in addition to being depressed are the ones at increased risk. Even when the depression is treated and remits, those at higher risk for suicide continue to manifest a pessimistic outlook on life compared to depressed people who are not suicidal.

The point here is that hope and hopefulness in the face of depression and real-life stressors reduces suicide risk, whereas pessimism increases the risk.

In my experience suicide is almost always thought about when a person experiences some type of pain, whether mental, emotional, physical and lose hope of escaping the pain and suicide becomes the exit door to their suffering. Thus, if hope of escape from the suffering, a legitimate treatment or path forward that will deliver the person can be provided and they embrace the hope, generally suicidal thoughts remit.

Research documents four factors, occurring simultaneously, that work together to drive suicidal behavior. Those four factors are:

- Recurrent major depression
- Misreading social cues
- Impulsivity/reactivity
- Impaired learning

Brain studies reveal that when given standard tests that require them to determine emotional states by looking at faces, those at high risk for suicide misread the faces in ways that incite fear, hurt, rejection—which is a dysfunction of dorsolateral prefrontal cortex, the part of the brain where we reason, think, and problem solve.

Further, those at increased risk demonstrate impaired response inhibition—the ability to pause, think, and make a wise choice. When given a choice of receiving $50 immediately or $300 in 30 minutes, those at risk for suicide take the $50 right away, whereas those at low risk for suicide wait the 30 minutes. This is impairment in response inhibition, the ability to stop an impulse and wait for a better opportunity.

People at high risk also demonstrate impaired learning from previous events. We have all experienced situations in which something stressful has occurred, inciting anxiety, fear, and worry—but eventually, the problem passed. People at low risk for suicide are able to learn from such events so that when new stressors occur, they are able to remember that things will get better, the stressor will resolve, and life will improve. But people at high risk fail to learn this, and each new stressor is experienced with overwhelming fear and often hopelessness.

It should be noted that all of the above risk factors are worsened by alcohol and drug abuse. Such substances increase mood disorders, damage thinking and learning circuits, increase impulsivity, and often contribute to increased life stress (financial, relational, and legal problems).

Interventions
What are the factors with proven efficacy in reducing suicide?

- Removing the means—removing guns and lethal pills from home
- Treating depression with psychotherapies and medications; both reduce suicide
- In-school education about risks and warning signs and ways to get help
- Limiting media reporting and coverage of suicides
- Alcohol- and substance-use treatment

THURSDAY

In the second paragraph states, “Entering into God’s rest has to do with healing—with slowly unlearning negative though patterns and destructive habits. God does not rush healing.”

This is well said. Why does it take time to win a person to trust? Why can’t God simply use divine power to overwhelm resistance and heal a person’s heart?

A person convinced against their will is of the same opinion still.

Genuine healing of the heart, mind, soul, character requires the complete and full participation of the individual. We must, as Paul says in Romans, be fully persuaded in our own minds. We must choose the truth, choose to trust, choose to align ourselves with God. We don’t have the power to fix, heal, transform ourselves, we have the power to choose and in choosing God, choosing truth, choosing to trust we open the heart to God and receive divine enlightenment for further growth but also power to carry out and live the truth we have chosen in humble surrender to God.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

New Resource South Africa: Could It Be This Simple? is now available in in Afrikaans. We want to give special thanks to Jacques van den Heever, who spent many hours proof reading and working with editors and translators to get this resource availab.e Thank you Jacque!

It is available as a FREE download on our website, but if you are in South Africa and would like one in print, then email Jacque at comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

There will be a small postage charge of R50 (around $4) or you live near Somerset West you are welcome to pick one up in person.

South Africa also has some newly printed materials including tracts, meditation guides, and CIBTS. If you are interested in getting copies for yourself or to share, please email comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon! We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 9
The Rhythms of Rest

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read memory text: "Then God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because in it He rested from all His work which God had created and made" (Genesis 2:3 NKJV).

Read first paragraph, "Who can imagine…" What does the Sabbath mean to you?

Have you experienced the Sabbath as a day "to be" rather than a day "to do" OR "not to do"?

Is the Sabbath relevant to our world today? How?

Does the world need rest? What kind of rest does God offer through the Sabbath?

Was the Sabbath made for man or man for the Sabbath?

The Sabbath was made—it had a beginning, at the end of Creation week—meaning the Sabbath did not exist back when Lucifer rebelled in heaven.

Why is this important—especially to SDAs who value the Sabbath?

SDAs have taught that the final conflict will involve the Sabbath in contrast to Sunday—SDAs have held this up as a test issue, a demarcation issue—but is it possible that SDAs have not accurately presented how and why these two days are involved and have thereby missed the real issue?

Consider these comments from one of the founders of the SDA church—and let's keep in mind the question of the Sabbath and how it fits in.

> The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering,—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. (The Great Controversy 582)

> There is no such thing as weakening or strengthening the law of Jehovah. As it has been, so it is. It always has been, and always will be holy, just, and good, complete in itself. It cannot be repealed or changed. To "honor" or "dishonor" it is but the speech of men. (Prophets and Kings 625)

> Between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah will come the last great conflict of the controversy between truth and error. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle not between rival churches contending for the supremacy, but between the religion of the Bible and the religions of fable and tradition. (Prophets and Kings 625)

If the last great conflict between truth and error is just the completion of the longstanding battle over God's law which has always been and always will be, then how does the Sabbath fit in since the Sabbath did not exist in heaven when the conflict over God's law began?

How did angels in heaven, before Lucifer rebelled, view God's law? Historic Adventism saw it this way:

> But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of. (MB 109.2)

What kind of law cannot be weakened or strengthened, has always been, and will always be, and is in force but unthought of? None other than the design-laws upon which reality is built to exist! Imposed rules, like humans make—which require external enforcement—must be posted, beings must be informed or instructed about them in order to hold them accountable. But not design law.

Consider again the example of Isaac Newton telling his friends about the law of gravity, might they respond with "Wow, never thought there was a law, its just how things work."

So, what did Satan do to attack God's law in heaven? From the book The Desire of Ages the author describes:

> In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. DA 761.4

What kind of law requires God to inflict punishment for disobedience? Imposed law. This is the foundation of the long-standing conflict over God's law: is God's law the type of law that requires Him to inflict punishment or is God's law design law, the protocols of life that requires Him to heal the damage done to the sinner, lest if He does nothing, they die from taking themselves out of harmony with life?

How did the Sabbath become a sanctified day, a day set apart from the others? The Sabbath was made this way—i.e. by creation. Thus the Sabbath represents design law, truth, love, liberty.

How did Sunday become a day of religious observance? By legislation, by human enactment, thus it represents the system of imperialism, or Satan's view of law.

And throughout the history of the Christian church, how has Sunday been treated? By legal restrictions and legal enforcement.

If we accept the lie that God's law functions like human law, requiring judicial oversight and infliction of external punishments and death by God—what kind of god is that?

Understand, Satan's original lie in heaven is that God's law requires God to punish rule-breakers. This represents God to be a being other than love, a being who is the source of pain, suffering and death, a dictator, power-monger, and one who cannot be trusted. Thus rebellion spreads and love and trust are destroyed.

The final issues will revolve around the question of law and authority. Those who value Satan's view of law and justice will use Satan's methods of imposed law and coercive enforcement to get people to comply with their views. This is the beastly system of Revelation.

But God gave us a sign to help us remember His design laws:

> I gave them my decrees and made known to them my laws, for the man who obeys them will live by them. Also I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the LORD made them holy. (Eze 20:11–12 NIV84).

The one who embraces God's design laws lives in harmony with God's laws, the laws upon which life is built. And the Sabbath was given as a sign that God is the one who makes us holy or sanctifies us. What do you understand this to mean?

Do you understand it to mean: The Sabbath is a sign to God and other people that we are obeying the right rules so God can recognize His obedient children and legally account us righteous in heaven?

Or consider this scenario, is this how you understand the Sabbath as a sign: You are a prisoner of war, or you are trapped behind enemy lines, and you see someone flying the American Flag (if you are a US citizen) if you are Australian, you see the Australian flag, or British you see the Union Jack. When you see the flag what does it do for you? If this was like the old westerns and you see the flag and hear the bugle charge of the cavalry, what would you experience? Would you be encouraged? Would your hope surge?

So, do you hear God saying to us: "Remember my Sabbath—it is not a day for you to perform, to earn my grace, for you to work either for your livelihood or for your salvation, in fact it is a day for you to rest. It is my gift to you—it is a sign from me to you that I built right into time so it can never be taken away. It is my sign to let you know that when you trust me I will heal you, save you, deliver you from sin, restore you to righteousness by returning you to harmony with my eternal law of love that life is built to operate upon. When the devil's forces are raging at the end of time, when the governments are beastly, when freedoms are being encroached—Remember my Sabbath—I will heal and save you and am coming back soon!"

Is this how you hear the promise that the Sabbath is a sign—one God has given to us, not one we are to give to God?

Can you see these two methods of governing—imperialism versus design law, involved in the Sabbath Sunday question? Is this the only place you can see these two systems at war? Can Satan advance his beastly system without specifically pursuing Sunday legislation, but by using the same methods on another issue?

> Be sure the Sabbath is a test question and how you treat this question places you either on God's side or Satan's side. The mark of the beast is to be presented in some shape to every institution and every individual.--Ms 6 1889, p. 6. (Written Nov. 4, 1889.) {3MR 189.2}

How is the Sabbath a test question and the mark of the beast to be presented in some shape to every institution…Is it merely which day of the week, or is it what the days symbolize, what the days signify in regard to God, his character and method of governing versus Satan, his character and method of governing?

Does Satan care if a group of people worships on Sabbath as long as they worship him? Was Satan disappointed with the Jews who crucified Jesus because they wanted Him off by sunset in order to keep the Sabbath?

The two days represent two systems, God's character, methods and government of love versus Satan's system of lies, imposed rules and coercive enforcement—it is the two laws, the two methods, the two governments and thus God who is love versus Satan who is selfish.

Those who embrace God and His character and law of love, open their hearts in trust and are sealed—but what does that mean? They have their hearts and minds settled into God's methods, character and principles in how they live and treat others via the work of the Holy Spirit. They have the law written on the heart and mind:

- "And you also were included in Christ when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. Having believed, you were marked in him with a seal, the promised Holy Spirit…" (Eph 1:13 NIV84).
- And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. (Eph 4:30 NIV84).

The lost are marked as beastly when Satan's law and methods are solidified into their characters in how they treat others.

> The time has come for the true light to shine amid moral darkness. The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the > same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the word of God. {RH, July 13, 1897 par. 5}

What decisions and ideas? That God's law is imposed law, that justice requires enforcement of law, and the practice of those methods upon others.

Thus the issue in the end, of which the two days stand as signs, is the issue of God's law of love, versus Satan's imposed law construct; God's rule of love versus Satan's rule of fear and selfishness; God's design laws versus worldly imposed laws. It comes down to the methods one practices, and by practicing those methods one chooses which God they worship and what character they develop, and the two days are symbolic of two systems.

> In striking contrast to the wrong and oppression so universally practised were the mission and work of Christ. Earthly kingdoms are established and upheld by physical force, but this was not to be the foundation of the Messiah's kingdom. In the establishment of his government no carnal weapons were to be used, no coercion practised; no attempt would be made to force the consciences of men. These are the principles used by the prince of darkness for the government of his kingdom. His agents are actively at work, seeking in their human independence to enact laws which are in direct contrast to Christ's mercy and loving-kindness. {RH, August 18, 1896 par. 2}
>
> Prophecy has plainly stated the nature of Christ's kingdom. He planned a government which would use no force; his subjects would know no oppression. [no arrests, no detainments, no imposed punishments, no force] The symbols of earthly governments are wild beasts, but in the kingdom of Christ, men are called upon to behold, not a ferocious beast, but the Lamb of God…{RH, August 18, 1896 par. 3}

Here is the formula for Satan's methods:

- Lies that when believed break the circle of love and trust—
- This incites fear and selfishness—survival drives
- This results in seeing more threats which increase fear and the need to protect self
- which results in using power, might, force to control, compel, coerce or destroy others in order to make self feel safe
- Do we see this happening in the world today with COVID19
    - real virus but lie after lie has been told and continues to be told
    - increasing fear
    - with increased survival drive

In normal medical research when an investigational treatment is given and someone dies shortly thereafter, what is the response?

- Autopsy—is there evidence the death was related to the treatment or not

- We have over 12,000 deaths reported to VAERS from the vaccine—why haven't any funds been directed toward autopsies to actually discover if these deaths are caused by the vaccine or not? Is it because the government already know they answer and they don't want the evidence?
- One pathologist has done a few autopsies on those who died after receiving the vaccine. He has the tissue samples that reveals that the spike proteins from the injections are found bound to mitochondria in cells across the body, lung tissue, brain, heart and other tissues causing inflammation and leading to death; and he shows the path slides of actual individuals who have died from the vaccine documenting spike proteins causing inflammation across the body's organs. Is this just artifact in the few individuals he autopsied or is it something that is actually occurring in larger groups? What is the ethical and moral approach? Why is the government not pursuing this? https://rumble.com/vkopys-a-pathologist-summary-of-what-these-jabs-do-to-the-brain-and-other-organs.html
- Animal studies document that after injecting the spike protein it rapidly crosses the blood brain barrier and binds to brain cells of the animals https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/33328624/ Putting this together with the previous research I presented in lesson 7 and 8 that the spike protein in the brain increases accumulation of other toxic proteins that cause Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, Lewy Body, and spongiform diseases, and the autopsies revealing that spike proteins are bound to brain cells—should we warn people about the potential risk before they get vaccinated?

One pathologist reports that after vaccination a shift in normal immune cells occurs where CD8 lymphocytes are not functioning normally. These cells keep chronic infections like herpes viruses in check, but also monitor and kill cancer cells in our bodies as they arise. He reports a 10-20 fold increase in uterine cancers in his lab in the last 6 months since the roll out of the vaccines. Is this because our ability to fight cancer is impaired by the vaccines? He doesn't know, but the science is there to suggest this could be happening and needs real investigation.

Understand something very clearly—most politicians are not interested in the health of their citizens, they are interested in power. I won't go through all the human experimentation done on people in America by the US government, whether LSD trials, or the syphilis experiments on black men.

Let's just remember what happened in the USA regarding tobacco use. I am old enough to remember a decades long debate in this country whether tobacco caused cancer and heart disease or not. This debate raged through society and the medical community. Doctors had historically prescribed tobacco for disease, evidence began to emerge that it caused disease. This information was not met with enthusiasm—in fact it was actively fought against.

There were scientific papers published denying any relationship of tobacco and cancer—of course these studies were funded by the tobacco industry.

Tobacco advertisements used to be on TV in America, but the US Congress eventually passed a law to ban them—why do you think that was? Do you think our politicians became concerned for the health of the people, and recognizing the dangers of tobacco took action to protect us? No! It was the tobacco industry using their lobby in congress that got the politicians to ban tobacco ads—why? Because the anti-tobacco forces were spending dollar for dollar on anti-tobacco ads on TV and were having a major impact, so they decided to get the ads banned from TV and went to billboards and other media targeting kids with things like Joe Camel. Understand, politicians in general, don't care about our health—they care about power.

Do you think any political forces could be using COVID to advance their power and control?

There is a debate happening in society, what is the best way to handle COVID. The majority of people want to be healthy, want to be safe from infection, but the information is confusing and often times conflictual. The politicians use this to garner more power by inciting fear and obstructing actual solutions that would resolve the problem.

UNDERSTAND THIS: The politicians don't want you to be less afraid, because then they lose your willingness to comply with restrictions on your liberty! So they suppress information that would resolve this crisis.

Let's reason through some things happening so you can understand and see how your mind is being manipulated and how those who value Satan's methods of governing are trying to get you to embrace as righteous his methods of coercion and control over others.

Let's examine something we all have a lot more familiarity with—the seasonal flu, influenza. For as long as any of us can remember there has been an annual flu vaccine that is produced—why?

- Why a new flu vaccine every year?
- Because the flu virus mutates, and the previous vaccine is ineffective against the new strain. Such viral mutation is normal and expected.
- As viruses replicate, various errors in replication occur, which cause new strains to emerge. When the mutation alters the antibody binding cites, the new strain is "resistant" and the previous years' vaccines are ineffective.
- The COVID vaccine causes the body to produce antibodies to the spike protein—a single site on the virus, whereas the unvaccinated recovered have much broader immunity with antibodies to multiple sites on the virus, which have been demonstrated to be effective against all variants.
- According to JAMA Network, in an article entitled "Überantibodies From Recovered COVID-19 Patients Could Spur New Therapeutics and Vaccines," recovered individuals had developed multiple different antibodies to COVID-19 and "two of the antibodies were 'ultrapotent' at tiny concentrations across all 23 of the variants the scientists tested, including the highly transmissible B.1.1.7 (alpha), B.1.351 (beta), and B.1.617.2 (delta) versions." And other studies document that the recovered individual maintains long-term immunity.
- The vaccines, however, target the spike protein and nothing else, causing selective pressure, leading to the rise of variants including the Delta variant—resulting in the current vaccine being less effective. Yet, instead of acknowledging this, the medical "experts" are blaming the unvaccinated.

- What would you say if during the next influenza season we promoted the flu vaccine from four years ago? Yet that is what is happening with COVID right now when experts continue to promote an original vaccine for a mutated virus.
- This is what is happening with the delta version and other versions of the COVID virus—they are mutations of the original SARS2 virus, but we are giving the vaccine for the original version and it simply isn't as effective against the mutated versions.
- What increases the likelihood of mutations arising? Vaccines which target one area of the virus but not others.
- People who have naturally recovered from COVID infection have a wide range of antibodies targeting multiple sites on the virus and the virus cannot mutate multiple sites at once thus the naturally recovered are the least likely to contribute to the rise of new variants than the immunized.

- But what are we being told? We are being told that it is the unvaccinated that are driving the rise in the delta version and new infections and that we can't be safe until everyone gets vaccinated. This is medically wrong, scientifically wrong.
- Evidence for this? A small fairly-closed society, the island of Gilbratar with around 35,000 people have administered enough vaccine doses to vaccinate 116% of their population—meaning more than every person getting two doses of the vaccine. And they had an outbreak of new infections in July. https://graphics.reuters.com/world-coronavirus-tracker-and-maps/countries-and-territories/gibraltar/
- A study of Cleveland Clinic employees found that "Not one of the 1359 previously infected subjects who remained unvaccinated had a SARS-CoV-2 infection over the duration of the study." https://www.medrxiv.org/content/10.1101/2021.06.01.21258176v2

Not only is the general media misinforming us—but the professional medical media is also misinforming us. This week I received an email with a link to an article on MDEdge entitled: "As COVID resurges, vaccinated Americans rage against holdouts"

The article opens with:

> The rising anger among vaccinated Americans comes as health officials are reporting huge spikes in new cases, hospitalizations, and deaths. Meanwhile, only about half of all Americans fully vaccinated, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The article goes on to cite President Biden's vaccine mandate for federal workers, then various other politicians calling for mandates, it cites how various hospitals and businesses are requiring it.

Then the article says:

> Experts say the 90 million unvaccinated Americans are most at risk from COVID and have helped the new Delta variant gain a foothold and spread, posing a risk of "breakthrough" cases even in vaccinated people.

Yet, this is just the opposite of what is likely happening, it is the vaccinated that are driving the rise of the delta version, whereas the unvaccinated recovered are not. Haven't you heard of all the vaccinated getting reinfected? The vaccines provided narrow limited immunity.

Then they interview a person who has been vaccinated and who believes it is the unvaccinated that are making everyone unsafe. He says:

> "In the interest of public safety, I believe the government and private businesses need to [make] life difficult for the unvaccinated… They should not be allowed to dine at restaurants, ride public transportation, attend concerts, or broadly be in spaces with large concentrations of people without passing a COVID test at the door.

The article goes on to identify Christians as the largest group of holdouts who are resisting the vaccine.

The entire article, in a medical news website, is a misinformation propaganda piece designed to split society into two groups, inciting fear of one group, identify that group as enemies of the state and justifying the use of force, coercion, and mandates, restrictions of liberties.

Do you agree with this sentiment? Are you willing to join forces with the government to utilize methods of coercion, force, intimidation on others to violate their conscience?

My friends—we are in perilous times

Remember Sabbath and Sunday stand for two systems of governing, truth, love, liberty—the Sabbath, versus lies, imposed law, coercion—Sunday. Can we only recognize beastly methods on worship days, or can we see the same beastly methods with other issues, the willingness to coerce others to comply, not with where they take their body on Sabbath or Sunday—i.e. to church or not, but with what they put in their Spirit temples?

I am going to read some EGW quotes about Sunday law enforcement but replace Sunday, Sunday laws, Sunday enforcement with COVID, COVID laws and COVID Enforcement.

> There are many, even of those engaged in this movement for [Vaccine] enforcement, who are blinded to the results which will follow this action. They do not see that they are striking directly against religious liberty. There are many who have never understood the claims of the Bible [laws of life and health] and the false foundation upon which the [COVID vaccine] rests. .LDE 126

> When our nation shall so abjure [renounce] the principles of its government as to enact [Covid vaccine enforcement], Protestantism will in this act join hands with popery. [popery wasn't about differences in theology, popery was about authoritarian rule, the use of the state to compel and coerce enforcement to its dogmas—the inquisition, the imprisoning, burning at the stake etc.]--5T 712 (1889). {LDE 128.2}

Protestants will throw their whole influence and strength on the side of the papacy. By a national act enforcing the [vaccine mandates] they will give life and vigor to the corrupt faith of Rome, reviving her tyranny and oppression of conscience.[this is the issue, tyranny and oppression of conscience on any issue of conscience]--Mar 179 (1893). {LDE 128.3}

Satan puts his interpretation upon events, and they think, as he would have them, that the calamities which fill the land are a result of [the unvaccinated]. Thinking to appease the wrath of God these influential men make laws enforcing [mask wearing, business shut downs and vaccination].--10MR 239 (1899). {LDE 129.4}

When our nation, in its legislative councils, shall enact laws to bind the consciences of men in regard to their [Spirit temples, enforcing experimental vaccination], and bringing oppressive power to bear against those who keep the [their Spirit temples pure], the law of God will, to all intents and purposes, be made void in our land, and national apostasy will be followed by national ruin.--7BC 977 (1888). {LDE 133.5}

Those who promote a god who acts like a Roman emperor, who imposes law, who inflicts punishment, who coerce consciences are actively promoting the system of the beast—even if they worship on the Bible Sabbath!

Some of us may find ourselves called before courts, governing bodies, or other organizations to stand up for God's principles at this time in history.

As I was preparing for class this week I came across another quote and found it compelling:

I have been surprised at being asked by physicians if I did not think it would be more pleasing to God for them to give up their medical practice and enter the ministry. I am prepared to answer such an inquirer: If you are a Christian and a competent physician, you are qualified to do tenfold more good as a missionary for God than if you were to go forth merely as a preacher of the word. I would advise young men and women to give heed to this matter. Perilous times are before us. The whole world will be involved in perplexity and distress, disease of every kind will be upon the human family, and such ignorance as now prevails concerning the laws of health would result in great suffering and the loss of many lives that might be saved. Counsels on Health 503.3

While Satan is constantly doing his utmost to take advantage of men's ignorance and to lay the foundation of disease by improper treatment of the body, it is best for those who claim to be sons and daughters of God to avail themselves while they can of the opportunities now presented to gain a knowledge of the human system and how it may be preserved in health. Counsels on Health 504.1

Did you know that:

- Plant based and pescatarian diets reduce moderate to severe COVID outcomes by 73%? https://nutrition.bmj.com/content/early/2021/05/18/bmjnph-2021-000272
- "individuals with Vitamin-D deficiency were 80% more likely to acquire COVID-19 infection as compared to those who have sufficient Vitamin D levels" https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC7973108/
    - What increases vitamin D levels? Appropriate amounts of sunshine. One of the 8 natural remedies.
- Did you know that research shows that:
  "Oxytocin (OXT) carries special functions in immunologic defense, homeostasis and surveillance. It suppresses neutrophil infiltration and inflammatory cytokine release, activates T-lymphocytes, and antagonizes negative effects of angiotensin II and other key pathological events of COVID-19. Additionally, OXT can promote γ-interferon expression to inhibit cathepsin L and increases superoxide dismutase expression to reduce heparin and heparan sulphate fragmentation. Through these mechanisms, OXT can block viral invasion, suppress cytokine storm, reverse lymphocytopenia, and prevent progression to ARDS and multiple organ failures" https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/33513400/

  And what increases natural bodily oxytocin? Social connections, being with people you love and who love you. Touching others, hugs, massage, holding hands, joining together in groups to worship. Anything that increases human connection and bonding.

  So what undermines oxytocin? Social distancing and wearing masks, which increase fear, and fear activates stress pathways that increase inflammation and undermine the body's ability to fight infections.

If the government was actually serious about stopping the spread of COVID would they ship tens of thousands of infected people who illegally entered this country around the country? And if they really thought the vaccine was lifesaving and effective, why aren't they giving it to all these unvaccinated as they enter before they dump them in US cities?

We are to live out the principles of God; to live in harmony with God's designs. Understand, right now our characters are being tested: Whose laws are you going to embrace and practice in governance of yourself—are you going to embrace the beastly system of imperialism and coercion, or God's design laws of truth, love and liberty?

SUNDAY

Read fourth paragraph, "God stooped and began…"

What was the pinnacle of creation week on earth prior to Sabbath rest?

Humankind—and in the creation of humankind when was that completed? With which individual?

In God's creative pattern as demonstrated in Genesis, how did it progress?

Which substance was the better substance from with which to create, mud or a sinless living being?

So, what is the pinnacle of creation, the crowning act? Wouldn't it be Eve?

Is this why after sin men have consistently sought to dominate women?

But, in truth, is Adam complete as a human being without Eve—in God's design? And is Eve, complete as a human being without Adam?

In the beginning, God created sinless perfection. Adam and Eve were created as equals, with neither one to rule over the other, but to live in the perfect harmony of other-centered love.

One Christian writer put it this way:

> God Himself gave Adam a companion. He provided "an help meet for him" – a helper corresponding to him – one who was fitted to be his companion, and who could be one with him in love and sympathy. Eve was created from a rib taken from the side of Adam, signifying that she was not to control him as the head, nor to be trampled under his feet as an inferior, but to stand by his side as an equal, to be loved and protected by him (Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 46).

Adam was made in God's image, and God is love. Adam could not advance, develop, or experience the fullness of Godlike love without someone for him to serve, to love, to give of himself to uplift. Eve was created as a "helper" to Adam – to help him experience and grow in Godlike love as he gave of himself for her good. And Eve was to receive this love and have it flow back to Adam in loving service for him. Thus, in unity with God, the three reveal and represent the Triune perfection of Godlike love.

Equality in God's design is the equality of moral worth – the equal need of both male and female to be united as "one" in other-centered love, and the equal treatment of God's design laws upon both. God purposely did not make them equal in abilities, but with complementary abilities that when united in godly love would expand, ennoble, develop, and elevate both partners beyond that which either one could experience or achieve individually. It is in this unity of love that humanity flourishes and becomes truly godlike. Thus, Satan hates this God-designed unity of equal partners in other-centered love and seeks to destroy it.

MONDAY

The lesson is about the rest we have in the weekly Sabbath that God created in Eden.

The seven day weekly cycle is a powerful evidence of creation. There is no naturalistic evolutionary explanation for the 7 day weekly cycle, the day measured by Earth's rotation on its axis, or months measured by moon rotating around the earth, and the year earth rotating around the sun. The week has no cosmological basis, yet every society has the 7 day week, even those that don't come from Judeo-Christian background. Why?

Evolution cannot explain it, the Bible does.

Every time in history when societies try to implement different arrangements they fail.

There is an article in Chronobiology International; The Journal of Biological and Medical Rhythm Research, entitled: Seven-day human biological rhythms: An expedition in search of their origin, synchronization, functional advantage, adaptive value and clinical relevance. https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/full/10.1080/07420528.2016.1236807

The article documents a 7 day weekly biorhythm found throughout many plant and animal species in nature including humans. What are your thoughts about this?

Is it evidence for God? The creationist would say yes, it certainly fits. But the evolutionist will take the same evidence and argue that these are natural rhythms that the ancient writers incorporated into their descriptions about creation, just like days months and years.

This is the difference between evidence and declaration—the evidence is there for people to see, but the evidence can be interpreted through the lens of the Bible or the lens of godlessness.

THURSDAY

Read second and third paragraph, "Because Sabbath means celebrating…" What do you think of the idea that Sabbath keeping does not begin on the seventh day?

Consider this quote:

> All through the week we are to have the Sabbath in mind and be making preparation to keep it according to the commandment. We are not merely to observe the Sabbath as a legal matter. We are to understand its spiritual bearing upon all the transactions of life. All who regard the Sabbath as a sign between them and God, showing that He is the God who sanctifies them, will represent the principles of His government. They will bring into daily practice the laws of His kingdom. Daily it will be their prayer that the sanctification of the Sabbath may rest upon them. Every day they will have the companionship of Christ, and will exemplify the perfection of His character. Every day their light will shine forth to others in good works. 3TT 20.3

So if it is to be an every day thing what does that mean? Doesn't it mean true Sabbath observance is not legalistic, it isn't about the day, but about the government, about the law itself, about the methods and principles? And thus those who embrace the methods of Satan, imperialism, rules, enforcement on the seventh-day Sabbath are actually Sabbath breakers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Come and Reason Ministry is now the owner of the property at 4922 La Collina Way, Collegedale, TN

This property is two stories with over 14,000 square feet. We will occupy the first floor a little over 7000 square feet. But before we move in we need to do renovations to prepare for our classes and ministry production. We will have a theater studio so we can record and broadcast programs with a live audience. We will have a kitchen so we can have regular potlucks. We plan on a children's room so parents with younger children can come to our class while the children have a children's program.

The next step in the process is to get contractors to give us an official bid for the renovation, choose a contractor and get the space renovated.

Please keep us in your prayers that the Lord will lead us use resources wisely and most economically.

NEW RESOURCE SOUTH AFRICA: Could It Be This Simple? is now available in in Afrikaans. We want to give special thanks to Jacques van den Heever, who spent many hours proof reading and working with editors and translators to get this resource availab.e Thank you Jacque!

It is available as a FREE download on our website, but if you are in South Africa and would like one in print, then email Jacque at comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

There will be a small postage charge of R50 (around $4) or you live near Somerset West you are welcome to pick one up in person.

South Africa also has some newly printed materials including tracts, meditation guides, and CIBTS. If you are interested in getting copies for yourself or to share, please email comeandreason.sa@gmail.com

God is Love Children's Book Available on Amazon: We are happy to announce that our children's book, God is Love, is now up on Amazon and is available for prime shipping! You might have trouble finding it at first because it's new and doesn't have any reviews yet. Reviews are paramount in helping others search for and find items on Amazon. If you search "God is Love Stephanie Land" you should be able to find it. For a limited time, we are offering it on Amazon for only $10, which is cheaper than it is currently being sold on our ministry website. If you purchase it through Amazon, you can leave a "verified purchase" review which will help to get the book to populate when people do a search. The more reviews the better!

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 10
Sabbath Rest

by Tim Jennings

SUNDAY

The lesson this week is again about the Sabbath. It emphasizes that this is the only commandment that tells us to Remember—what is it we are to remember when we remember the Sabbath?

- God as Creator
- God as Deliverer
- God as Healer and Sanctifier

When you consider the Sabbath what does it mean to you? How has the Sabbath been a blessing to you?

- A day of rest and recovery
- An evidence of God as Creator so a source of encouragement and hope and confidence in God
- An evidence of liberty, that God never coerces
- A weekly vacation from life's burdens
- A time with family, friends and God
- A reminder that we were created in God's image and didn't evolve from lower life-forms, which confirms our identity as beings with moral worth and inalienable rights given to us by our Creator
- Proof that Satan lied about God and God's government and law—how? If God were the kind of god Satan alleged, imposer of rules and punisher of rule-breakers, then would God have created a day of freedom to think, or would He have enforced His law with punishment?
- An evidence of how God governs, truth, presented in love and leaving free—design law—a sign, flag, reminder of God's methods that we are to practice in our lives.
- Others?

The seven-day weekly cycle is a powerful evidence of creation. There is no naturalistic evolutionary explanation for the 7-day weekly cycle, the 24-hour-day is measured by Earth's rotation on its axis, months are measured by moon rotating around the earth, and the year is measured by the earth rotating around the sun. The week has no cosmological basis, yet every society has the 7-day week, even those that don't come from Judeo-Christian background. Why?

Evolution cannot explain it, the Bible does.

Every time in history when societies tried to implement different arrangements they failed. Why? Because the 7-day weekly cycle was built into Earth's reality by the Creator of Earth.

There is an article in Chronobiology International; The Journal of Biological and Medical Rhythm Research, entitled: Seven-day human biological rhythms: An expedition in search of their origin, synchronization, functional advantage, adaptive value and clinical relevance. https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/full/10.1080/07420528.2016.1236807

The article documents a 7-day weekly biorhythm found throughout many plant and animal species in nature including humans. What are your thoughts about this?

MONDAY

The lesson points out that the Sabbath is also evidence that we have freedom only with Jesus, only under God's government. How? Because only in harmony with God's design laws for life do we have real freedom, every violation of God's law enslaves us in some way.

- violate the laws of health, lose health and lose freedom
- violate the moral laws and don't repent, experience shame, guilt, reap real-life consequences, and lose ability to reason and think accurately—lose liberty
- I have an entire blog describing various laws of God and how Satan uses these laws to enslave and destroy us https://comeandreason.com/how-satan-uses-gods-laws-against-us/

How does the Sabbath fit in?

The Sabbath is evidence of creation, of design law, of freedom to think and choose, of how reality works. True Sabbath observance is only done by those who have God's law written in the heart and thus live out the law all week long.

The Sabbath is a sign and evidence of God's principles, in contrast to imperialism, or imposed laws like humans make. The Sabbath calls our attention to nature and the laws upon which nature operates—design laws. Consider this quote:

> Christ's purpose in parable teaching was in direct line with the purpose of the Sabbath. God gave to men the memorial of His creative power, that they might discern Him in the works of His hand. The Sabbath bids us behold in His created works the glory of the Creator. [What do we learn about God by observing His creation? Certainly we can learn God is powerful to create everything by His word. But is that the only lesson? What other lessons? What about design law, laws that the universe is built to operate upon, that none of them can be changed without destroying creation. And how do God's laws work? What principles are revealed in God's laws? What about love, do we see love built into nature? Is there anything arbitrary built into nature? Should the Sabbath teach us that God is a judicial ruler who inflicts punishment, or should the Sabbath teach us just the opposite? When we study nature what do we learn about the ways and means punishment happens for violating the laws of nature or health? It is never externally inflicted, it is inherent. External intervention is required to save, heal, those who have injured themselves.] And it was because He desired us to do this that > Jesus bound up His precious lessons with the beauty of natural things. On the holy rest day, above all other days, we should study the messages that God has written for us in nature. We should study the Saviour's parables where He spoke them, in the fields and groves, under the open sky, among the grass and flowers. As we come close to the heart of nature, Christ makes His presence real to us, and speaks to our hearts of His peace and love. COL 25.1

>
> And Christ has linked His teaching, not only with the day of rest, but with the week of toil. He has wisdom for him who drives the plow and sows the seed. [Notice the Sabbath commandment is connected not just with rest but also with labor, six days you shall work but rest on the seventh. God gave Adam and Eve useful labor in Eden, before sin. Useful labor teaches reality, design law, cause and effect, sowing and reaping. It builds character, wisdom, determination, integrity, self-discipline. The Sabbath embraces is the law of exertion—if you want something stronger you must exercise it—and the law of restoration—after a finite being expends energy we must rest and recover; and the Sabbath embodies the law of worship—by beholding we become changed, and the law of love putting God first in our lives as well as the law of liberty, truth presented in love leaving others free. We are to remember the Sabbath and thus remember God's design laws, the character of God and live out His laws al week long. What happens if we create policies and actions to undermine useful labor for those capable of it—say universal basic income? Is it a Bible principle that the capable should be compensated if they do not work? If a man will not work, he shall not eat." (2 Th 3:10) This is another example of the wisdom of the world is foolishness, it is violation of God's design laws and destroys, but all under the umbrella of compassion or concern—what a deceit.] In the plowing and sowing, the tilling and reaping, He teaches us to see an illustration of His work of grace in the heart. So in every line of useful labor and every association of life, He desires us to find a lesson of divine truth… COL 26.1

So God created during 6 days and rested on the 7th and gave the Sabbath as a sign or evidence of His design laws and methods of truth, love and liberty. It was all perfect, but something went wrong—what?

Is there another law at work in the world today opposed to God's law?

> Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, because through Christ Jesus the law of the Spirit of life set me free from the law of sin and death. (Ro 8:1–2 NIV84).

What is the law of sin and death and where did it come from? It is the law of survival of the fittest, kill or be killed, it is the opposite of the law of love. It is the law upon which viruses operate, me, me, me and more of me. God did not make viruses, they are corruptions of God's design introduced by an enemy to cause harm.

What did Christ say about the weeds being planted in the field of wheat? An enemy had done it.

Who is the enemy? What is taught by the parable?

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424
topics@comeandreason.com

Consider this historic quote:

> Christ never planted the seeds of death in the system. Satan planted these seeds when he tempted Adam to eat of the tree of knowledge which meant disobedience to God. Not one noxious plant was placed in the Lord's great garden, but after Adam and Eve sinned, poisonous herbs sprang up. In the parable of the sower the question was asked the master, "Didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?" The master answered, "An enemy hath done this" (Matthew 13:27, 28). All tares are sown by the evil one. Every noxious herb is of his sowing, and by his ingenious methods of amalgamation he has corrupted the earth with tares. 2SM 288.2 [this includes every disease, every pathogen, including viruses]
>
> Then shall physicians continue to resort to drugs, which leave a deadly evil in the system, destroying that life which Christ came to restore? Christ's remedies cleanse the system. But Satan has tempted man to introduce into the system that which weakens the human machinery, clogging and destroying the fine, beautiful arrangements of God. The drugs administered to the sick do not restore, but destroy. Drugs never cure. Instead, they place in the system seeds which bear a very bitter harvest.... 2SM 288.3

Before you get upset—we must understand this in the context of when it was written, identify the principle, and then apply the principle being described and not interpret what is said in a false light.

This next quote is from a medical student inquiring from EGW what constitutes drugs. Note the list of what was referred to as drug medication in her day:

> "From our study of the Testimonies and the little work, How to Live, we can see that the Lord is strongly opposed to the use of drugs in our medical work....Several of the students are in doubt as to the meaning of the word 'drug' as mentioned in How to Live. Does it refer only to the stronger medicines as mercury, strychnine, arsenic, and such poisons, the things we medical students call 'drugs,' or does it also include the simpler remedies, as potassium, iodine, squills, etc.? We know that our success will be proportionate to our adherence to God's methods. For this reason I have asked the above question." 2SM 278.3
>
> Your questions, I will say, are answered largely, if not definitely, in How to Live. Drug poisons mean the articles which you have mentioned. The simpler remedies are less harmful in proportion to their simplicity; but in very many cases these are used when not at all necessary. There are simple herbs and roots that every family may use for themselves and need not call a physician any sooner than they would call a lawyer. I do not think that I can give you any definite line of medicines compounded and dealt out by doctors, that are perfectly harmless. And yet it would not be wisdom to engage in controversy over this subject. 2SM 279.1

So do you see that her comments were quite right, that the so-called drug medications of her day were poisons, the injured the system and doctors were being trained to give them.

Are there any meds given today that are perfectly harmless? No—it is always a risk/benefit analysis—always.

Does this mean that in all circumstances, medicines that could injure a healthy person should never be given to the sick?

The following is from a letter from EGW's son, Willie:

> "One time while we were in Australia, a brother who had been acting as a missionary in the Islands, told mother of the sickness and death of his first-born son. He was seriously afflicted with malaria, and his father was advised to give him quinine, but in view of the counsel in the testimonies to avoid the use of quinine he refused to administer it, and his son died. When he met Sister White, he asked her this question: 'Would I have sinned to give the boy quinine when I knew of no other way to check malaria and when the prospect was that he would die without it?' In reply she said, 'No, we are expected to do the best we can.'"—W. C. White letter, September 10, 1935.—Compilers.]—Counsels on Health, 261 (1890).

So what do you understand the principle EGW is advocating?

The ethical principle of Primum non nocere, which is Latin and means "first, do no harm." It is the principle of non-maleficence; it means that our interventions should not inflict injury, harm, or worsen the outcome. It often means that it is better to do nothing than to act in ways that add injury, cause harm, or worsen the condition. It is the principle of weighing the potential risk against the potential benefit. It is the principle that the cure must not be worse than the disease.

It is all about restoring to health, healing. Thus one must weigh the risks against the benefits and make an informed decision. But this requires accurate and complete information. Our decisions are only as good as the information upon which they are made.

Thus, if we are lied to, or have critical information withheld, then our ability to make informed decisions is undermined.

Who is to make the decision for your medical treatment and my medical treatment, what medicines we take into our bodies?

We are in a war for hearts and minds. The methods of God are truth, love, liberty. Present the truth, live the truth—which is love lived out—and leave people free to decide.

But the methods of Satan are lies that incite fear and fear results in survival drives that cause people to seek to control others to make themselves feel safe, and if others cannot be controlled, then they must be punished and eventually eliminated.

I read the following in the prologue to a sci-fi novel this week entitled, Battleground by Joshua Dalzelle. It was published in June 2019. It is from the perspective of one of the characters:

> "What I learned during this time is that, for the most part, people don't truly hate each other. It is the governments that sow discord, encourage people to distrust and fear those who come from someplace else. Large groups are easier to control if you give them two things: something to fear, and a solution to protect them from it. With those two things, people are willing to turn over control of much of their lives to the government."

Has this ever happened in history? Is it happening today? Is this a method used by those who seek political power?

How is it others can manipulate you? Are we, each of us individually, right now under the influence of some political force or power other than Jesus? Are we currently having our minds influenced and directed by forces other than the Holy Spirit?

Let's test it for a moment. Consider how you react to any of the following statements. And imagine, I came in without preamble, without setting this up as a test—and just came out and said these things as positions I believe are true. Consider your reaction if I did that.

- Global warming and climate change is a scam—it is a false narrative designed to manipulate you.
- Hillary Clinton was one of the most honest politicians ever and we would have been better off if she had become president.
- Donald Trump was a brilliant leader and the world would be better off if he could be the president of the world.

Did any of these comments cause you to react with anger, hate, hurt, frustration or any strong emotion? Then it is evidence you are being manipulated.

Governments manipulate by creating narratives designed to incite either fear or hate and then provide a proposed solution you can embrace if you empower someone or some group.

What is the solution to protect yourself from such manipulation?

- Jesus! Fix your eyes on Christ, remember God's kingdom is NOT of this world.
- Do not buy into the lie that God's kingdom is of this world.
- Do not accept the lie that you can get justice through human governments.
- Do not look to human governments, media, etc. for truth—you can look to them for information—but that information needs to be filtered through a discerning mind who understands the principles and methods of God.
- Do not form your identity upon human standards—know who you are as a child of God.
- Do not look to others to make you feel good, to "fit in" to feel part of something so you can feel loved or accepted. Look to Jesus to fit into His kingdom, to hear Him say, "well done thou good and faithful servant." Those who look to human groups for acceptance are vulnerable to manipulation and abandoning of the truth.

- Have God's law written upon your heart—and this is the law of love:
    - Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments." (Mt 22:37–40 NIV84).
- Do not buy into the lie of us versus them—all have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God. It is only by the grace of God that we are able to live better than the worst sinner in the world.
- When we accept the lies and embrace either fear or hate we impair the prefrontal cortex and become less capable of thinking. But when we love it calms the fear circuits and activate the thinking circuits and enables us to have better discernment of truth, to think more clearly, to be less vulnerable to manipulation and deception. This is another reason we are to love our enemies—because in so doing we free our minds from manipulation. Loving our enemies not only aligns us with God and His character, methods and laws, but frees our minds to think, reason, comprehend truth and not be drawn into the schemes of Satan.
- When we love and have solidified our minds on God's truths and we know Him personally, we embrace His methods and we understand and practice God's design laws, we are further protected and enabled to discern truth from error. The mature are those who have developed by practice the ability to discern right from wrong Heb 5:14.

We are being manipulated today more than ever, we must unplug from the world's multiple narratives and put Jesus and His kingdom of love first in our hearts and minds.

I have been very concerned for you our listeners—I have received numerous emails over the last month or two from people thanking us for our exploration of God's laws and methods in relationship to current events. But I have also received emails from those who say they can't watch us anymore because they perceive us being too political and not spiritual, from getting away from the Bible.

This really saddens me, for we live in the world, but are not to be of the world. How are we to live out God's law in the world if we don't apply His methods to our day-to-day decisions?

So this week, I was reading in a book called The Great Controversy and came across some pertinent passages for today. And instead of me just applying the two antagonistic principles at war, I will read some excerpts from this book and hopefully this will satisfy both groups—continuing to demonstrate God's principles to us today, but because it is coming from another author, perhaps those who think I am not being spiritual will recognize this is the spiritual battle for our times. We are starting in the chapter entitled "Liberty of Conscience Threatened,"

> Romanism [this term means imperialism, use of imposed law and enforcement to coerce conscience] is now regarded by Protestants [Protestantism is the principle of religious liberty, present the truth in love and leave others free. Thus, we have here the two antagonistic principles, the two laws at war, imposed human law, versus God's design law. It is not about rival churches or about specific doctrines but about the underlying laws, governments and methods employed.] with far greater favor than in former years… [Meaning that Protestants are now coming to believe that imperialism is righteous and we can get justice through imposed law.] The time was when Protestants placed a high value upon the liberty of conscience which had been so dearly purchased. They taught their children to abhor popery [authoritarian ruler coercing people] and held that to seek harmony with Rome would be disloyalty to God. But how widely different are the sentiments now expressed! GC 563 [Liberty of conscience is the heart of Protestantism, yet Protestants, having never fully rejected imposed law and have forgotten the abuses and coercion of conscience in the Dark Ages and are now aligning themselves with forces to do this to others.]

It is Satan's constant effort to misrepresent the character of God, the nature of sin, and the real issues at stake in the great controversy. [How? By getting us to accept the lie that God's law functions like human law, therefore God must use power to externally enforce His law and punish law-breakers, and therefore it is righteous for us to coerce, compel and enforce law upon others.] His sophistry lessens the obligation of the divine law and gives men license to sin. [Would divine law include the laws of health?] At the same time he causes them to cherish false conceptions of God so that they regard Him with fear and hate rather than with love. [How? Again, by getting people to accept the human-law construct as God's. Thus God's laws can be modified, changed, updated, replaced, and if we get legal dispensation from the church, or get a legal payment made by Jesus to God in heaven then we can keep on in sin because sin doesn't actually harm, it is God that harms us for it, but Jesus took the punishment from God for us so God won't harm us now.] The cruelty inherent in his own character is attributed to the Creator; it is embodied in systems of religion and expressed in modes of worship. Thus the minds of men are blinded, and Satan secures them as his agents to war against God. [By promoting justice through imposed laws and forced obedience.] By perverted conceptions of the divine attributes, heathen nations were led to believe human sacrifices necessary to secure the favor of Deity; and horrible cruelties have been perpetrated under the various forms of idolatry. GG 569 [And Christianity teaches today that a human sacrifice was needed to present to God a legal payment to secure His favor.]

It is not without reason that the claim has been put forth in Protestant countries that Catholicism differs less widely from Protestantism than in former times. There has been a change; but the change is not in the papacy. Catholicism indeed resembles much of the Protestantism that now exists, because Protestantism has so greatly degenerated since the days of the Reformers. GC 571 [Remember we are speaking of imperialism, imposed law, forced obedience Romanism, versus liberty of conscience Protestantism. What has changed is that Protestantism is becoming more and more enthralled with imposed law and the lie that justice can be achieved through imposed law and forced obedience—compelling the consciences of others. Do we see this happening right now?]

If the reader would understand the agencies to be employed in the soon-coming contest, he has but to trace the record of the means which Rome employed for the same object in ages past. [This means look at the methods employed, not the specific doctrine it was employed to advance.] If he would know how papists and Protestants united will deal with those who reject their dogmas, let him see the spirit which Rome manifested toward the Sabbath and its defenders. GC 573 [Again, the author is telling us to look at the METHODS employed regarding how it treated those who valued the Bible Sabbath, not specifically the Sabbath itself.]

Royal edicts, general councils, and church ordinances sustained by secular power were the steps by which the pagan festival attained its position of honor in the Christian world... [What methods? Proclamations, imposed rules, legislation, authority of office, backed up by coercive enforcement. This is what we are to be watching for. Romanism, overruling conscience on any subject by edict, authority of office—perhaps an executive order, law and punishment.] GC 574

The royal mandate [or executive orders] not proving a sufficient substitute for divine authority, Eusebius, a bishop who sought the favor of princes, and who was the special friend and flatterer of Constantine, advanced the claim that Christ had transferred the Sabbath to Sunday. Not a single testimony of the Scriptures was produced in proof of the new doctrine... GC 574. [What is the method of Satan here? Since the imposed law, the mandate—are we hearing anything about mandates today—lacked sufficient evidence to support it, it was advanced through a CLAIM. In other words, Eusebius, a doctoral church historian and theologian, gave his expert opinion that this was true. He claimed it, declared it, used the authority of position and office. Are we seeing this happening in society today? Proclamations being advanced with expert opinion but without reproducible testable evidence, in fact, much of the opinions are contrary to the evidence. I give one example of this, an interview on cnbc with Scott Gottlieb, MD, former FDA commissioner and now on the board of Pfizer. He is asked if the vaccines offer better immunity than natural immunity and he says "we do believe that the vaccines offer a broader compliment of immune protection than natural immunity…" You can hear this at 4:20 into the interview https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QvT1tPA4XM4

According to JAMA Network, in an article entitled "Überantibodies From Recovered COVID-19 Patients Could Spur New Therapeutics and Vaccines," recovered individuals had developed multiple different antibodies to COVID-19 and "two of the antibodies were 'ultrapotent' at tiny concentrations across all 23 of the variants the scientists tested, including the highly transmissible B.1.1.7 (alpha), B.1.351 (beta), and B.1.617.2 (delta) versions." And other studies document that the recovered individual maintains long-term immunity.

A study of Cleveland Clinic employees found that "not one of the 1359 previously infected subjects who remained unvaccinated had a SARS-CoV-2 infection over the duration of the study."

But it is a lie, it is a claim, it is the authority of office that contradicts all the actual scientific, testable, reproducible evidence. We see the exact same methods of Romanism, of authority of office, of claims denying the evidence being used today as during the Dark Ages. This is what we have been warned against. What did the Dark Ages, beastly church, do after it made claims, proclamations for compliance and mandates?

Later it was decreed that rich men should be punished with the loss of half of their estates; and finally, that if still obstinate they should be made slaves. The lower classes were to suffer perpetual banishment…GC 574 [What methods are employed? Are we seeing calls today to use financial punishment, loss of employment, restrictions of liberty for those who won't do what the authorities tell them to do in governance of their own self and the maintenance of their own health?]

Later the pope gave directions that the parish priest should admonish the violators of Sunday and wish them to go to church and say their prayers, lest they bring some great calamity on themselves and neighbors... GC 575 [And this week the pope admonished Christians to get the vaccine lest they bring some great calamity upon themselves and their neighbors. No respect for conscience. No willingness to present evidence to persuade. Instead, obfuscation, threat, intimidation, control, force. https://www.npr.org/sections/coronavirus-live-updates/2021/08/18/1028740057/in-a-message-to-americans-pope-francis-says-getting-vaccinated-is-an-act-of-love]

In NYC right now if you don't have your vaccine passport you cannot buy or sell, you cannot go into a grocery store, restaurant, department store, theater, business or any building with three walls and a roof, other than a hospital or clinic. In Washington state health-care workers, including physicians are being mandated to take the vaccine—why if it is so healthy are so many health-care workers not taking it?

This is beastly—it is coercive. It is based on a lot of false information to incite fear and take away liberty.

Understand, getting the vaccine or not getting the vaccine has no bearing on your salvation—but it very well may have a bearing on your health. There will surely be people in heaven who have taken this vaccine and there will surely be people in heaven who have refused it. The vaccine itself is not a salvation issue.

But, the methods you are willing to employ in getting others to take it will have a bearing on your salvation. If you are willing to coerce, manipulate, pressure, compel, punish others who won't get it, using state, corporate or other powers to pressure people to violate their consciences you are practicing beastly methods. You are choosing which law you prefer and what character you are developing.

God is permitting this to happen right now so that every person is confronted with two antagonistic methods, principles and laws. The law of love, truth, freedom, and the law of deceit, fear, selfishness, survival and coercion.

Open your eyes—wake up. This is a worldwide event, every nation in the world, every person in the world if being faced with this. The pro-vaxxer forces in the world are using all of Satan's methods and rejecting the methods of God. The question is not primarily about the vaccine—it is about the methods. In some parts of the world they are literally holding people down and forcibly injecting them against their will. Is this godly? In other places they are arresting doctors who try and treat COVID infected people in the early stages to prevent hospitalization. Why? Because early treatment reduces hospitalization and death by 85%. I provide the links to this research and protocols in my blog COVID and the Death of the Independent American Physician.

We have online followers who work for Adventist Health system and have been told that they either get the vaccine or they will be fired from their job. Really? What is the rationale? What method are you employing? Is it that you want to ensure your staff don't get sick and leave their post, in other words it is a force-retention rationale? If so, then how does that work if you are willing to fire them and reduce your work force?

Is it you fear transmission to patients and getting them sick? But hasn't it already been documented that the vaccinated get reinfected and can transmit the disease, so if that is the reason, the vaccine doesn't prevent transmission.

So again, what is the rationale for compel experimental medical treatment on people who do not want it? Do you exempt all who have recovered at a bare minimum?

From the next chapter in The Great Controversy, entitled "The Impending Conflict," > Satan works through the elements also to garner his harvest of unprepared souls. He has studied the secrets of the laboratories of nature, and he uses all his power to control the elements as far as God allows... It is God that shields His creatures and hedges them in from the power of the destroyer. But the Christian world have shown contempt for the law of Jehovah; and the Lord will do just what He has declared that He would—He will withdraw His blessings from the earth and remove His protecting care from those who are rebelling against His law and teaching and forcing others to do the same. Satan has control of all whom God does not especially guard. He will favor and prosper some in order to further his own designs, and he will bring trouble upon others and lead men to believe that it is God who is afflicting them… GC 589.2

> He will bring disease and disaster, until populous cities are reduced to ruin and desolation. Even now he is at work. In accidents and calamities by sea and by land, in great conflagrations, in fierce tornadoes and terrific hailstorms, in tempests, floods, cyclones, tidal waves, and earthquakes, in every place and in a thousand forms, Satan is exercising his power. He sweeps away the ripening harvest, and famine and distress follow. He imparts to the air a deadly taint, and thousands perish by the pestilence. [Viruses are not from God, they are Satan's work] These visitations are to become more and more frequent and disastrous. Destruction will be upon both man and beast... GC 589.3

And then the great deceiver will persuade men that those who serve God are causing these evils… GC 590.1 [Yes, it is the unvaccinated, those who are not convinced in their own minds. Those who want to follow the dictates of their conscience in governing their spirit temples, they are the dangerous ones. They are harming us, they must be punished, they must be forced to be injected with an experimental agent. And why must they be forced? Because the truth is not on the side of the vaccinators. There is no long-term safety data, they don't have any actual scientific evidence that these are safe, Worse the actual evidence shows they are not effective and are dangerous, actually kill some people. So the truth is not on their side, they must employ the methods of lies and coercion just like the Dark Ages church.]

Satan's policy in this final conflict with God's people is the same that he employed in the opening of the great controversy in heaven. He professed to be seeking to promote the stability of the divine government, while secretly bending every effort to secure its overthrow. And the very work which he was thus endeavoring to accomplish he charged upon the loyal angels. The same policy of deception has marked the history of the Roman Church. It has professed to act as the vicegerent of Heaven, while seeking to exalt itself above God and to change His law. Under the rule of Rome, those who suffered death for their fidelity to the gospel were denounced as evildoers; they were declared to be in league with Satan; and every possible means was employed to cover them with reproach, to cause them to appear in the eyes of the people and even to themselves as the vilest of criminals. So it will be now. While Satan seeks to destroy those who honor God's law, he will cause them to be accused as lawbreakers, as men who are dishonoring God and bringing judgments upon the world. GC 591.1

God never forces the will or the conscience; but Satan's constant resort—to gain control of those whom he cannot otherwise seduce—is compulsion by cruelty. Through fear or force he endeavors to rule the conscience and to secure homage to himself. To accomplish this, he works through both religious and secular authorities, moving them to the enforcement of human laws in defiance of the law of God. GC 591.2

If you are an SDA leader of any institution, church, conference, hospital, school—recognize where you are in history. This is the point in history you have professed you were preparing for your entire Adventist life. You stand before the onlooking universe and they are watching—to whose kingdom are you going to be loyal? Are you going to stand with Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, with Elijah, with Joshua who told the people "Choose you this day whom you will serve!" You, SDA leader are right now choosing which God you are serving by the methods you employ in the treatment of your employees, students, and church-members.

The principles of God NEVER violate conscience, never compel, never coerce—it is truth, presented in love and leaving people free.

SDA leader wake up and recognize your responsibility is to the people not the corporation, not the organization, not the institution. It is NOT better for one man to die than the nation—don't fall into the trap of sacrificing people to save an organization. Your responsibility is to God and to stand for God's methods and principles to carry out God's methods in the fulfillment of your duties, in how you treat others.

SDA leader—reverse your course—cease and desist from all vaccine mandates. Provide letters of religious exemption to any member who wants them. Do not abandon God's people at this time—fulfill your responsibilities. Be like Esther, for who knows if you were not put in your position for a time just like this.

Just consider the witness we could have—consider if every SDA institution worldwide right now stood up for the principles of truth, love and liberty—stood up and opposed coercion, mandates, intimidation, stood in direct opposition to the methods of the beast—right now today the world could be lighted with the glory—character of God, the gospel could go to the world as the entire world would be confronted with the two laws, the two methods, the two governments.

SDA church— Don't be like the Jews who 2000 years ago missed their opportunity—stand up, awake, don't miss your opportunity lest Jesus raise up the rocks to cry out and bring in others who will stand up for His kingdom of truth, love and liberty.

For those of you under threat of losing your job. Pray, pray for God's wisdom and intervention. Pray for courage to live your convictions. Who knows how God may use your witness to open the eyes of others to the difference between His law, kingdom and methods and that of the beast. Who knows how many your standing for truth in love will reach. But understand that hospitals, or any business, cannot function if they terminate everyone who refuses the vaccines. They are using intimidation, to make you afraid. They are trying to get you to comply under fear, or resign. But don't do it. You are in the right, they are in the wrong. So with grace, kindness, love, firmly refuse the injections and make them fire you. If you resign, you have no recourse, but if they fire you they open themselves up to huge liability and there will be many lawsuits that will cost them a lot of money.

Understand again—this isn't ultimately about getting or refusing the injection, it is about the methods you will employ in how you treat others! We are marking ourselves in heart, mind and character of the kinds of people we are, whose law we have embraced by how we treat others.

But I want to also say, that there are groups out there that are not helping the cause of God when they focus on the physical instead of the character. They are putting out videos suggesting it is the mark of the beast to get the vaccine. They make fantastical inferences that within a certain arrangement of bonds in our DNA we can find God's name YHWH written there, if we apply the number where these bonds occur to the Hebrew alphabet—as if God's true name, which no one knows is Hebrew. As if God and angels speak Hebrew, as if Hebrew was the language of Adam in Eden. But they go on to claim that these vaccines are designed to erase the name of God from our DNA and put Satan's name there so Satan can set himself up in God's temple etc.

This is superstition, it is crazy talk, it is not Biblical and it undermines and obfuscates the true message for this time. Have nothing to do with it. The seal of God and the mark of the beast both have to do with our character, the law of God internalized into our hearts and minds and how we function. God's living law of love, truth and liberty, versus fear, selfishness coercion, imposed rules etc.

The lesson asks us to read Romans 6:1-7, this is from The Remedy:

> What then should we say about this amazing healing plan? Should we spread the infection of distrust and selfishness and cause more devastation and destruction so that the power of God's healing solution may be more fully displayed? Absolutely not! We have taken the antidote, and the infection of distrust and selfishness has been purged from our hearts and minds. How then can we choose to be reinfected with distrust of God and practice selfish methods again? Or don't you realize that all of us who were immersed into union with Christ Jesus were immersed into selflessness and have died to self-centeredness? We symbolically demonstrate that we have joined him in dying to self by being buried in water, in order that–just as Jesus rose from the dead, displaying the life-giving glory of the Father–we too may live a new life, displaying God's glorious character.
>
> If we have joined him in dying to self, we will absolutely join him in his resurrection and in new life! For we know that when our old selfish hearts and fear-ridden minds trust God and surrender to be crucified with Christ–the infection of selfishness is purged, and our hearts are no longer controlled by Satanic principles, as anyone who dies to selfishness is free from Satan's methods, principles, and control.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on the application of the Sabbath rest to every person under your governance—if you have strangers visiting, afford them the Sabbath rest. If you have animals, servants, all should be afforded a Sabbath rest.

What is the lesson, what are we to learn about this? Why is this important? What impact does it have on us?

Should we enforce the Sabbath on others imperially? Or should we not require work of others on Sabbath, but leave them free to labor if they choose?

Should we, if we had the reins of government, pass laws to make it illegal to work on Sabbath to ensure everyone benefited from Sabbath rest?

If we believe that working on the Sabbath injures people, shouldn't we pass laws to protect them from self-injury of working on Sabbath?

Why would we not do this?

What is the Biblical principle of Sabbath observance?

> "One man considers one day more sacred than another; another man considers every day alike. Each one should be fully convinced in his own mind" (Ro 14:5 NIV84).

What happens in the heart of those who are forced to do something they are not persuaded to do?

Is this only true regarding religious things—what about other activities in life?

What happens to people who are forced into an addiction recovery program by threat of imprisonment—if they never become persuaded that they have an addiction and never become persuaded that they need recovery?

What about people getting forced medical treatment of any kind?

Is it godly to force this upon people? Do we force Jehovah's Witnesses to take life-saving blood transfusions—why not?

What happens in the minds, hearts and characters of the people who believe it is righteous, it is godly, it is necessary, to pass laws to force people to take medical treatments?

If we go along with such behavior are we becoming more like Jesus or more like the beast?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on how the Sabbath can become legalistic with all kinds of rules and regulations—how the Jews in Christ's day burdened in with silly and restrictive rules that made it the most burdensome day of the week that everyone dreaded and were eager for it to pass.

Have you ever experienced the Sabbath in this way?

How can we avoid this?

What actions have you taken to make it the most celebrated and joyful day of the week?

THURSDAY

The Sabbath as a sign—we have talked about this many times, so share with me, how you understand the Sabbath is a sign, how is it a sign, a sign of what, what purpose is it, how are we benefited by it?

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 11
Longing for More

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

We are living in perilous times and I have been inundated with emails and phone calls of all kinds since our last class, listeners, nurses, doctors who are under threat of losing their jobs if they don't comply with mandates. Others who express frustration at me for not just talking about the SS lesson and instead taking time to talk about COVID.

Friends—is it not the two antagonistic principles entering into every phase of human experience that EGW wrote about in Education? I want Jesus to come. I want people to be ready to meet Him. I want the final message of mercy to go to the world and this issue has the attention of every person on the planet and calls every person on the planet to decide what methods they will use in how they live and treat others. Has there been any other issue in our lifetime that reached a far and wide as this?

I received this email this week:

> Dear Come and Reason Ministries:
>
> If possible could you give some encouragement?
>
> It seems during Sabbath Lesson Time, there is presentation of End Time Fear. Now that I am thinking Evil is more Powerful than God, that you don't really believe what you're saying as you are expanding your ministry, now that evil is to fall on us at any second. Before I am so fearful to come out of my home because the Government is about to come get me.
>
> I realize Adventists have heard this end of the world stuff all their lives; and are used to it and mostly ignore it, and still go on living life; not all of us have the courage to just keep living life even now the End Is Near.
>
> I do understand your need to get the end time message out, however if you could also offer, hope, also teaching God is more powerful than evil, that too is a message. God's word continually says: Fear Not. Do Not be afraid: I am with you until the end. We need to work on our relationship with God.
> Because it doesn't matter if it is the end of the world or just the end of a human life; a relationship with God is most important.

Thank you for your recommendation—it is helpful and I will work on this. For many of us, when we see these events, we understand them in the context of the metaphor that Jesus used of a pregnant woman going into labor. When the labor pains begin most pregnant women and their families, even though they know it will be painful, also are excited and happy because they know that "delivery" is at hand. Thus, the hope is inherent in the pains that come because we know what the result is—delivery from sin and being taken to heaven in new immortal bodies to be with Jesus! But if a pregnant woman went into labor not realizing she was pregnant, then only fear and terror. So too, those who don't understand the what is happening, the times in which we live and don't have a saving relationship with Jesus will be very fearful.

Luke's record of Jesus's description of the end time events Jesus says, "When these things begin to take place, stand up and lift up your heads, because your redemption is drawing near." (Lk 21:28).

So, our hope is not in ourselves, our bank accounts, our church institutions, and our hope is not in our governments. Our hope is in Jesus Christ. He will never leave us or forsake us.

A couple of historic quotes that give encouragement:

> In the hour of greatest need when discouragement overwhelms the soul, then it is that Jesus comes very near. The hour of man's necessity is God's opportunity. He sees our danger and provides help for us. Unseen by us, he saves us from the foe. RH April 18, 1907, par. 4
> None need abandon themselves to discouragement and despair… There is hope for you in Christ. God does not bid us overcome in our own strength. He asks us to come close to His side. Whatever difficulties we labor under, which weigh down soul and body, He waits to make us free. MH 249

But as a means to spread the gospel, the good news, to bring the light of heaven to all people, Jesus needs people who trust Him and can lean upon Him for strength in the face of trials, difficulties and stresses. He necessarily allows events to unfold so that the people of God, who refuse to conform to the methods of the beast, the methods of imperialism, coercion, control, will give witness to truth, love and liberty. These witnesses will be called before counsels and leaders to say NO! to the coercion of their consciences and reveal a higher understanding of reality. We are living in that time in history and God is calling for His saints to stand up and lift up our heads, to keep our focus upon Him because He is drawing near to empower us to give the true witness about His design laws of truth, love and liberty so that the good news about Him will go to the world and Jesus will come soon!

SUNDAY

The lesson points us 1Corinthians 10:1-11, which recounts the children of Israel going through the Red Sea and their time in the wilderness:

> "These things happened to them as examples and were written down as warnings for us, on whom the fulfillment of the ages has come. So, if you think you are standing firm, be careful that you don't fall! No temptation has seized you except what is common to man. And God is faithful; he will not let you be tempted beyond what you can bear. But when you are tempted, he will also provide a way out so that you can stand up under it. (1 Co 10:11–13 NIV84).

Do you find hope is this passage?

Hebrews 13:3-5 encourages us with this words:

> "God has said, 'Never will I leave you; never will I forsake you.' So we say with confidence, 'The Lord is my helper; I will not be afraid. What can man do to me?'" (Heb 13:5–6 NIV84).

We are not abandoned, we are not cast off. But Satan is like a roaring lion, inciting fear to get us to choose to run away, to doubt, to let go of God. It is then, when the fear gets the most intense that we are to cling to Jesus, spend more time in prayer, more time in the Word, less time focused on the threats and more time focused on our Savior.

Remember Hezekiah when the Assyrian army surrounded Jerusalem—he had the singers sing praises to God and God delivered them. We must keep our eyes focused on Christ and praise the beauty of His character of love. This praise goes beyond song, though. We are to give this praise by glorifying God in our lives, by living out His methods in our character, this is the praise we are to give.

So Paul reminds us that ancient Israel is an example to us that God will not forsake us or allow temptations to be more than we can bear, but always provide a way for us if we trust Him!

Then Paul goes on to say the following in chapter 11:

> If some unbeliever invites you to a meal and you want to go, eat whatever is put before you without raising questions of conscience. But if anyone says to you, "This has been offered in sacrifice," then do not eat it, both for the sake of the man who told you and for conscience' sake—the other man's conscience, I mean, not yours. For why should my freedom be judged by another's conscience? If I take part in the meal with thankfulness, why am I denounced because of something I thank God for? So whether you eat or drink or whatever you do, do it all for the glory of God. (1 Co 10:27–31NIV84).

What is being described here? Consider this—was Paul giving them an Old Testament Bible study or was Paul using the Old Testament to bring out God's principles and truths that were to be applied to the problems they were dealing with in their day?

If Paul were transported by God through time and stood here among us today and was able to teach us—would he primarily do an Old Testament Bible study, telling us about how God dealt with things in the past, or would he be using those truths from history as examples to teach us how to apply God's methods and principles in our lives today? In other words, would he focus on the realities of our current situations and apply God's principles to them?

We are to live out God's principles in our lives—our first loyalty is to God, to present ourselves to God in the best condition, for the greatest usefulness in His cause, which means we live in harmony with His methods to maintain our greatest health.

We cannot win God's cause or fulfill God's purposes by practicing Satan's methods.

Paul is talking about foods offered to idols here. Saying that in his spiritual understanding an idol is nothing but inanimate stone, wood, or metal and can do nothing to the quality of the food and therefore, he can eat it without any problems. But, if he was with someone who believed in the idol and told him the food was offered to an idol and eating it would cause the other person to now believe Paul's health, wisdom, strength, vitality, energy, were coming from the blessings of the idol, that this would introduce falsehood into the mind of the other person and Paul, in good conscience, could not participate in colluding with this lie. So while the idol can do nothing to the quality of the food, the belief in the idol can do something to a person's mind and character.

For Paul this issue wasn't about the quality of the food itself, but the spiritual impact the belief about idols has on hearts and minds. That doesn't mean there are not fact-based discussions of nutrition and health to be had, it just wasn't the point of this Bible passage.

Paul is focused on a higher principle than physical nutrition—whatever we do, wherever we do it, we do it to glorify God. Each one of us must decide, under the dictates of our own consciences, what is best in how we govern ourselves and how we honor God with our lives. And we must leave others free to decide for themselves—persuade with evidence—absolutely, but we never compel others to comply with our beliefs.

In this case the focus was on food, but it was not about nutrition or physical health, it was about worship—pagan worship, allowing false ideas into the mind. Standing up for the truth about God in the context of eating—not allowing our food to introduce false beliefs that obstruct the gospel, is one action in governance of self that each person must decide for themselves..

Does this mean that Paul takes no position on the physical aspects of our health and the use of our bodies?

> Therefore, I urge you, brothers, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God—this is your spiritual act of worship. Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is—his good, pleasing and perfect will. (Ro 12:1–2 NIV84).

Presenting our bodies to God is an act of worship and is connected with the renewing of our minds. Anything that undermines our physical health necessarily diminishes are ability to carry out the Lord's duties. Physical illness also makes it harder to think, focus, and undermines resolve. So maintaining our physical health puts us in the best physical position to cooperate with God for the healing of our minds.

What does it mean to present our bodies to God as a living sacrifice? Does this have anything to do with the health message? Who is to decide for whom what someone puts in their body?

If you are an SDA leader who won't give a religious exemption to your parishioners who have a conscientious objection to getting the COVID vaccine—let me ask you this:

Would you give your members a religious exemption if they were required either by government or employer to do any of the following:

- Eat a piece of pork?
- Drink one glass of alcohol containing wine?
- Smoke one cigarette?

Now, of the following, which has the potential to do more harm to one's body, the spirit temple?

- Eating a piece of pork?
- Drinking one glass of wine?
- Smoking one cigarette?
- Or getting the COVID vaccine?

And if a person has a conscientious objection to each of them, what happens to their minds if they are coerced to do comply with an action that violates their conscience? Why would you support such an action?

Why would you give letter of conscientious objection for the first three that pose no risk of health harm at all, but you wouldn't for the one action that has the potential to kill them? Why wouldn't you support them in their decision as to which risks they want to take, how they honor God with their bodies? Why won't you stand by them as they decide what the Holy Spirit convicts them to do?

Certainly, someone will suggest it is because the first three actions impact only themselves, while the COVID vaccine is designed to benefit others. So even though the vaccine has risks, one might argue, that because it may benefit others it is righteous to compel compliance for the sake of stopping disease and benefiting others. Keep this in mind as we explore further this question—we will come back to it and expose that this reasoning is a trap of Satan.

Consider this historic quote from The Desire of Ages:

> In matters of conscience the soul must be left untrammeled. No one is to control another's mind, to judge for another, or to prescribe his duty. God gives to every soul freedom to think, and to follow his own convictions. "Every one of us shall give account of himself to God." No one has a right to merge his own individuality in that of another. In all matters > where principle is involved, "let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind." Romans 14:12, 5. In Christ's kingdom there is no lordly oppression, no compulsion of manner. The angels of heaven do not come to the earth to rule, and to exact homage, but as messengers of mercy, to co-operate with men in uplifting humanity. DA 550.6

Class have you been confused with all the data around COVID? Let's be gracious to our church leaders, our community leaders, our local health officials, those who are willing to compel others. For the vast majority, I believe they really want to do what is right, and I am sure most are making the decisions they truly believe are the right or best, and many are confused by the debate and plethora of data. I know doctors who are confused by all of this so it is a virtual certainty that non-medical people—our church leaders will be confused. There are several reasons for all this confusion.

1. There is an active misinformation campaign going on; purposeful falsehoods have been put out by government agencies and professional medical outlets including peer review journals; active censuring of information is obstructing a free, honest and open debate which is critical for good decision making and for truth to be win the day. Suppression of evidence allows for lies, misunderstanding and confusion to persist. But, this alone would not be sufficient for the church leadership to be confused as they are. The misinformation campaign is occurring in conjunction with several other practices that the church should be protected from, but instead the church is complicit in promoting.
2. Authority-based decision-making. Too many people have practiced authority-based decision making—meaning they have learned to trust some person with a higher degree or education or training to tell them the answer, rather than developing by practice the ability to discern the right from the wrong (Heb 5:14).

   Remember this historic quote—consider it in light of what is happening today:

   > If we mistake the wisdom of man for the wisdom of God we are led astray by the foolishness of man's wisdom. Here is the great danger of many in -----. They have not an experience for themselves. They have not been in the habit of prayerfully considering for themselves, with unprejudiced, unbiased judgment, questions and subjects that are new [like COVID] and that are ever liable to arise. They wait to see what others will think. If these dissent, that is all that is needed to convince them that the subject under consideration is of no account whatever. Although this class is large, it does not change the fact that they are inexperienced and weak-minded through long yielding to the enemy, and will always be as sickly as babes, walking by others' light, living on others' experience, feeling as others feel, and acting as others act. They act as though they had not an individuality. Their identity is submerged in others; they are merely shadows of those whom they think [are] right. Unless these become sensible of their wavering character and correct it, they will all fail of everlasting life; they will be unable to cope with the perils of the last days. They will possess no stamina to resist the devil, for they do not know that it is he. Someone must be at their side to inform them whether a foe or a friend is approaching. They are not spiritual, therefore spiritual things are not discerned. They are not wise in those > things which relate to the kingdom of God. Neither young nor old are excusable in trusting to another to have an experience for them. Said the angel: "Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm." A noble self-reliance is needed in the Christian experience and warfare. 2T 129.2

This surrendering our thinking to some authority is a longstanding problem in religions. Jesus was criticized for not having been educated by the rabbis. Our ministry has been criticized by the penal/legal theologians because I don't have a degree in theology. The idea being, we must defer our thinking to the theologians to know what is theologically right or not. This is false. This type of thinking is part of Romanism, or popery, that a person in authority can decide what is right and make a mandate that others must adhere to. The principle of Protestantism is that we are the priesthood of believers, we have been given by God our own unique individualities, with minds capable of development and learning. We are to reason things out for ourselves and Paul explicitly states in Romans 14:5 that every person is to be fully persuaded in their own mind. We don't get persuaded by authoritarian claims and threats, but by convincing evidence. But when truth does not support the one in charge, they must resort to coercion.

But this reliance on expert opinion is exactly how medicine is working today and how COVID decisions are being made. The policies are based on expert opinions masquerading as science, not actual reproducible science that is persuasive. This is why they must use mandates and threats. Typically mandates and coercion is only needed when one doesn't have persuasive evidence—like the Dark Ages church, like those who teach a penal/legal model of salvation and like those who are mandating the COVID vaccines, the lockdowns, mandated masks—none of these positions are based on reliable reproducible evidence of long term safety or efficacy and thus they must rely on coercion and force.

3. Third reason is selective evidence. Historic problems in theology arise when people use proof texts, here a little and there a little, rather than integrating all the inspired record into a cohesive whole. Likewise, with the COVID situation much confusion exists because people will take one study, or one piece of data and make a policy or position on it without balancing it with the rest of the record and with godly principles and common sense. For instance, not counting the cost of injury to children to close schools and focusing only on avoiding children being infected with a disease that causes them essentially zero risk.

4. Fourth forgetting principles because of focusing on facts. If our church leaders would recognize and prioritize the principles of God, the design laws of God, truth, love and liberty, recognizing that God never compels, never coerces, but leaves people free to decide, then they would be protected from making decisions that violate conscience. But when they focus on medical facts only, they can be led to embrace methods contrary to God's methods to advance a good medical goal.

5. Fifth reason failure to use the integrative evidence-based approach. The fifth reason people are having problems in deciding what is right on the COVID issue, in addition to misinformation, trusting others to tell them what to think, using limited pieces of the evidence, and unprincipled decision-making, is that they have not embraced and integrated God's truths and principles from the inspired record to the COVID question.
    a. The Bible teaches us that truth is revealed in three threads harmonized—Scripture, Science and nature, and life's experiences
    b. EGW wrote:
        i. The great storehouse of truth is the word of God—the written word, the book of nature, and the book of experience in God's dealing with human life. {COL 125.2}
        ii. Rightly understood, both the revelations of science and the experiences of life are in harmony with the testimony of Scripture to the constant working of God in nature. {Ed 130.3}
    c. When we separate the three threads we have problems—science alone historically leads to godlessness, experience alone to mysticism or nihilism, and Scripture alone to a lot of bad theology and division in the body of Christ.
    d. COVID has revealed a new problem when we use science divorced from Scripture—and that is we develop practices that are imbalanced, unethical, and coercive. In other words, if we use science without Scripture we can pursue a good goal by using Satan's methods and ultimately cause more harm. Here is wisdom the SDA church should be advancing, but it is not:
        i. "The truth for this time embraces the whole gospel. Rightly presented, it will work in man the very changes that will make evident the power of God's grace upon the heart. It will do a complete work and develop a complete man. Then let no line be drawn between the genuine medical missionary work and the gospel ministry. Let these two blend in giving the invitation, "Come, for all things are now ready." Let them be joined in an inseparable union, even as the arm is joined to the body. Counsels on Health 516
    e. The SDA message was to be a message built on design law that integrates the reality of our total person, physical, mental, spiritual all aspects operating upon design laws and only in harmony with God and His methods is life and health found. Instead, the church rejected design law at the 1888 GC and embraced the imposed law lie and not only has taught a fraudulent legal salvation in which God is the source of inflicted death who must be paid the blood of a sinless human sacrifice not to kill us, but has also divorced the gospel from the medical work. Because of the law of worship—we become like the God we worship—when an authoritarian god, who imposes laws and imposes punishments for law-breaking is worshipped, people become more authoritarian. Thus, it is not surprising that many SDA leaders think it is righteous to use authoritarian measures on others—mandates, coercion—as long as it is for a good cause—like saving lives.

       Thus, the church, in addition to to teaching a fraudulent legal plan of salvation rather than the healing reality that restores people to godlikeness, is vulnerable to being > coopted by false-medicine and false-science and practicing the methods of the world upon its employees, students and members as leadership joins with the systems of the world to coerce consciences of people and advance practices that are not needed by the vast majority of those who honor God with their entire beings.

I am going to unpack for you the integrative evidence of protection and health benefits that the SDA church has been blessed with and could be taking to the world but isn't, and demonstrate how in rejecting these principles and joining with the governments to enforce mandates they are not only injuring their own characters but advancing the kingdom of God's enemy.

> God has put it in our power to obtain a knowledge of the laws of life. This knowledge has been placed within our reach for use. We should employ every facility for the restoration of health, taking every advantage possible, working in harmony with natural laws. Counsels to the Church 306

You are all familiar with the 8 natural remedies:

What does science reveal regarding the natural remedies in relation to COVID and prevention of hospitalization and death?

- Plant-based or Pescatarian diet reduces hospitalization by 73%
- Sunshine raises vitamin D levels and vitamin D levels between 50-100 reduce COVID infections by 80%
- Fresh air—even the governments EPA website states: "Ensuring proper ventilation with outside air can help reduce indoor airborne contaminants, including SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19, and other viruses. However, by itself, increasing ventilation is not enough to protect people from exposure to the virus that causes COVID-19."
    - One doctor estimates that fresh air reduces transmission of COVID 70-80%
- Temperance—avoiding harmful substances—like alcohol, which the government deemed an essential business during lockdowns.
    - Even the WHO states "Alcohol has a deleterious effect on your immune system and will not stimulate immunity and virus resistance."
    - In a comprehensive article entitle "COVID-19 pandemic and alcohol consumption: Impacts and interconnections" researcher write: "In recent years, conclusive evidence has been gathered that alcohol increases the risk of infectious diseases, especially HIV infection, tuberculosis, pneumonia with germs resistant to treatment and difficult to eradicate… The association between bacterial and viral lung infections and ethanol dependence is supported by multiple pathophysiological mechanisms:

      - reducing the number of T lymphocytes - by preventing proliferation and by altering cell turnover;

- favoring a pro-inflammatory status through an increased level of proinflammatory cytokines, such as tumor necrosis factor alfa (TNF α) and interleukins 1 and 6 (IL-1, IL-6);

- decreases the function and number of NK (Natural Killers) cells responsible for removing infected or malignant cells;

- disturbance of macrophage functions in the lung alveoli;

- damage to the respiratory ciliated cells which plays an essential role in filtering pathogenic microorganisms.

- Other research documents that acute alcohol consumption impairs lymphocyte response for the next 24 hours after consumption.

Now, what is the risk of harm from eating a plant-based or pescatarian diet, getting consistent fresh air, sunshine to keep your vitamin D levels up and avoiding alcohol? ZERO risk of harm and several of these factors alone reduce risk of infection, hospitalization and death by more than the vaccines—who knows the benefit of doing them all, I couldn't find this measured.

What is the benefit of the vaccine? Pfizer reduces risk of COVID, hospitalization and death by around 42% and Moderna and Johnson/Johnson by around 67%. But these benefits of the vaccines are waning with every mutation. And what are the long-term health risks of the vaccines? Unknown, but there are short term health risks from these that are well documented.

So here we have lifestyle measures that studies indicate have greater protection than the vaccines while the vaccines add risks that the lifestyle measures do not. Why is the church silent on this? Consider the opportunity the church has if it were to advance the principles of God at this time?

But this research focuses only on the physiological benefits. As Christians, we are interested in more than just the body, we are interested in the soul the spirit, eternal life, restoring people to unity to God. Thus, we are interested in the methods practiced and the character one develops.

I have provided the links to the documents demonstrating the efficacy in the natural remedies in preventing COVID transmission, hospitalizations and death. Let's assume for a moment that all if this is verified and all agree such actions do provide these benefits—why then are we NOT advocating for governmental or employer mandates that require:

- every person to eat a plant-based or pescatarian diet?
- raising health insurance premiums on all who do not have their vegetarian diet passport?
- ban on all alcohol products until COVID is resolved?
- all people must open their windows and ventilate every building 3 times per day
- all people must walk outdoors in the sunshine 15 minutes a day and get vitamin D levels checked and levels up to 50-100 range?

Would you support mandating these behaviors because we could save lives if we did? Why not? And these intervention have no risks associated with them.

Then why are Christians supporting vaccine mandates that have less benefit than the natural remedies and carry more risk and more cost? Again, this isn't about the vaccines—it is about the methods.

I received another email this week.

> Dear Dr. Jennings: I am so thankful for your ministry and have become increasingly distressed over the increasing mandates and loss of our liberties since the beginning of the pandemic in early 2020. I am a Public Health Nurse in my 49th year of nursing practice, but I have known since day 1 of this pandemic that we were being indoctrinated with lies, misinformation, and distortions over a virus with a 99% or greater recovery rate. I realized very quickly that this is not about public health, but instead is a real-life battle between good and evil over hearts and minds. Sadly, many have decided that the government knows best and have given up their freedoms to breathe clean fresh air, spend time with friends and family, and have control of their own bodily autonomy.
>
> I retired from CA State service as a Nurse Consultant in 2013. I then decided to go to work for Placer County as a Public Health Nurse on a part-time basis. When Covid hit, all public health nurses were mandated away from their regular jobs to do case investigations and contact tracing for Covid + patients. I did this probably a month when I came to realize that what I was doing by locking down people in quarantine or isolation was pure evil. I told my boss I was going to stay home unless they had a need for me to do my regular duties in California Children's Services (CCS). Of course they called me back right away and told me that I wouldn't have to do Covid duties any longer, and to please come back to my regular CCS job. So I did, and I continued to watch them abuse full-time PHNs mandating them to do full-time case investigations, and Covid testing in facilities, hotels, homes, and testing sites, in addition to their regular duties. I kept waiting for the restrictions to ease, but they only ramped up. Some people worked from home, but when they came to the office, it was staggered so there were fewer workers on site. Masking was mandated while indoors, and if people shared an office, they were split apart, sometimes at great distance from others in their own program. I finally quit this job in Jan, 2021 when they put me on quarantine, saying I had been exposed to a person who had tested + for Covid.
> The insanity at _____ SDA Church, as you can imagine, has been to close the doors for many months since the beginning of the pandemic, then open with masks and social distancing, along with temperature checks at the door, then close doors and hold services in a tent outside this summer with masks and distancing, to now open church with mask mandates that will probably never end. This, I understand, is coming from the Northern CA Conference, who will not deviate from government mandates. I have been attending a Sunday Church in Rocklin for nearly a year now, as they were the only church in the area to open their doors since Spring of 2020, in defiance of the governor's mandate to stay closed. I will never return to the SDA Church where I have been a member for nearly 50 years. I didn't leave my church. My church left me. Now Adventist Health is mandating the Covid-19 Vax for all of their healthcare workers. Some of their staff had a protest in front of Rideout Adventist Hospital in Marysville on Aug. 13, so my son-in-law, Abel and I joined them.

I really appreciated your last Sabbath School Lesson on Sabbath Rest, along with your blog on loss of the independent physician. I fully agree with you and I cannot understand Adventists, or anyone else who is willing to wear masks, take experimental vaccines, or be subject to any other government mandates, because compliance means giving up your God-given freedoms. We know the persecution will continue and prophesy is being fulfilled. I look forward to your SS lessons each week, as I need that support, assurance, and the truths and guidance applicable to these challenging times we live in.

May God continue to bless you and your ministry.

This is an email from Australia:

Dear Dr Tim, staff and Bible class members
Thank you so much for your incredible ministry.

We have been following you for about 3 or 4 years and we love your Bible study class , Dr Tim and its members. Previously I've written to you saying this class 'feels like home'. You don't dodge the elephants in the room so to speak.

Dr Tim thank you for speaking out about the vaccine. We pray for your protection daily.

I have just learnt that vaccination will be mandatory for all teachers come October. I have been ill with Chronic Inflammatory Response Syndrome (CIRS) and Lyme but was hoping to return to high school teaching in some capacity as I love teaching and the comradery/community. So I am very saddened and concerned. Both Covid and the vaccines have made people with these diseases very sick.

One of our friends just resigned from his nursing job after ten years of faithful service because of mandatory vaccination. He is no longer able to provide an income for his young family.

This is happening around the world in many places. Could you guys please pray we would stand strong in Jesus strength, and in His endurance and His faithfulness. Lord have mercy
Thank you and God bless you all xxx

How many of you heard that the government approved with full approval the Pfizer COVID vaccine this week? How many believe this is true and if you get the Pfizer vaccine you are now getting an FDA fully approved vaccine and no longer an experimental injection?

On August 26, 2021 the President of Loma Linda University, whom I have great respect for and whom I view as a very godly man seeking to promote healthy principles, put out a public letter advocating for the COVID vaccines in which he wrote that the "Pfizer's vaccine is now approved by the FDA for general use." This statement reveals why we must not let others do our thinking for us. Many of us would hold great confidence in the recommendations of the president of such a prestigious institution and who has impeccable medical and public health degrees. Yet, our decisions are only as good as the information upon which they are based. And by writing this statement, he reveals he is basing his opinion on misinformation. If we have misinformation, then even with good motives and intentions we can make unhealthy decisions.

I had a patient call me Wednesday because her GI doctor told her that now that the FDA has fully approved the Pfizer vaccine she needs to get it. But it is a big con, a fraud, a deception, a trick purposely crafted to make it appear that the Pfizer injection available in the USA is approved when you will still be getting an experimental injection. Let me explain and then I will read from the FDA documents themselves.

- The FDA issued an approval to Pfizer's subsidiary's BioNTech's product branded Comirnaty.
- The original Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine that received emergency use authorization had its emergency use authorization extended or continued.
- The approved product Comirnaty was approved without any new studies, but relied on the same studies as the EUA injection.
- Further, with all previous vaccines, the process to get full approval the FDA required an external advisory committee to review all the data, risks, benefits and confirm the FDAs position that the product was safe, effective, and with reasonable risks. In this case, the FDA decided that because there was no concerns about risks with the experimental injections there would be no need for an external advisory committee review, so they waived it.
- There was no efficacy studies of the approved product against the delta variant.
- But most egregious of all, the FDA made a slight of hand ruling, stating that the approved vaccine can be used interchangeably with the original experimental emergency use Pfizer product.

So, they approve a product with no new data by bypassing the normal external advisory review and no testing against delta. Fully approved vaccines, by US law, can be mandated. And fully approved vaccines have certain liability protections for the consumer. Meaning if you get the approved vaccine and are injured you can sue and have access to the vaccine compensation funds.

Now comes the evil part, the deceit, the trick, the purposeful crafted manipulation to exploit you and protect the big pharmaceutical corporations.

This approved product Comirnaty is not available in the US, so the FDA–here comes the slight of hand watch for it—wrote an internal note that the approved version and the emergency use version can be used interchangeably, but with different legal status. Meaning, with the FDA approval of the new product employers can now mandate you to take the vaccine because it has been approved, but because it isn't available they can substitute the unapproved experimental UEA version. And if you take the EUA version and have a bad outcome you cannot sue, you cannot file worker's comp, you cannot get reimbursed for damages. You take all the risks with no liability for the manufacturer, the government, the employer, the doctor, the pharmacy etc.

Here is the FDA language:

> The licensed vaccine has the same formulation as the EUA-authorized vaccine and the products can be used interchangeably to provide the vaccination series without presenting any safety or effectiveness concerns. The products are legally distinct with certain differences that do not impact safety or effectiveness.
> https://www.fda.gov/media/150386/download

This adds a new level of evil—not just mandating someone take a medical treatment for a condition they don't have, but deceiving them into believing the treatment has been approved, is proven safe, has minimal risk, and that they have some liability protection while actually giving them something that hasn't been approved, which isn't proven safe, and for which the company has no liability. This ruling allows for the legal forcing of people to take risks with no liability upon the manufacturer who is making billions of dollars or those who require it as part of employment.

Is Adventist Health Systems going along with this? It appears, from the information I have at this time, that they are—this is evil. And SDA leaders should know better, and would know better had they embraced the integrative evidenced-based approach which requires harmonizing science with Scripture and living out God's principles in how we live our lives.

God never coerces the conscience and as a people we need to stand up at this time in history for the kingdom of truth, love and liberty.

But even if you get the product that has received the FDA full approval, is it reliable? Can we trust it to be safe?

In a study published in the JAMA entitled Postmarket Safety Events Among Novel Therapeutics Approved by the US Food and Drug Administration Between 2001 and 2010 researchers found

- 222 novel therapeutics were approved, and there were 123 postmarket safety events involving 71 products that required FDA action.
- Manufacturers needed to add 61 black box warnings to call attention to serious or life-threatening risks.
- Three products were withdrawn from the market.
- Drugs used to treat mental illness and drugs that went through an accelerated approval process had a higher number of "events," the study found.

Another historic deception that Satan has used throughout human history is the idea of exchanging eternal life for temporal life.

- Daniel, the three worthies, Jeremiah, Isaiah, Jesus, the Apostles, the martyrs through history all had their temporal lives threatened—they could save their temporal lives if they gave up their eternal lives.
- In the Dark Ages this was also practiced, but consider, who was giving up their eternal lives—Jerome, Huss, Tyndale—who died as martyrs or those who killed them?
    - And from the perspective of the persecutors, why did they do it?
    - Were the persecutor's mindset—"We know we are evil. We know we are wrong. We know we are on Satan's side and we need to kill the righteous and lose our eternal souls"?
    - No, they thought they were doing right—and what were they thinking they were trying to do? Save lives, save people from apostacy, heresy etc.
- And today, we have this same theme—people are willing to use Satan's methods of deceit, coercion, threat, control, in order to save temporal lives from COVID, but in using these methods many are throwing away their eternal lives!

These are real spiritual issues. Satan is seeking to deceive, if possible, the very elect. Only those who have developed by practice the ability to discern for themselves, who have internalized God's design laws into their hearts, who integrate, as far as possible, all the evidences and truths God has provided and who trust God will be able to resist the deceptions being practiced.

So what are the spiritual elements at war during the COVID pandemic:

- Truth versus lies (it isn't about COVID it is about the methods. If we lie in one place we develop the character of a liar. If we don't reason, don't think, don't discern but trust others to tell us we atrophy or God-given individuality. Thus as EGW said in Education the two antagonistic principles enter every phase of human existence.)—and multitude of lies have been told here are a few:
    - The virus was a natural wild virus that mutated on its own
    - There was no gain of function research
    - It did not come from a lab in Wuhan
    - Dr. Fauci and the NIH was not involved with the gain of function research funding
    - Mask wearing diminishes viral transmission
    - Mask wearing decreases your risk of hospitalization and death
    - There are no effective therapeutics or treatments
    - The vaccines are proven safe
    - COVID is a virulent disease
    - Saving lives is the most important factor in decision making
    - Six feet of distance must be maintained to avoid transmission
    - Ivermectin doesn't work and is dangerous
        - Metanalysis of 15 studies revealed evidence of an 86% reduction in COVID infection
        - FDA came out this week warning against Ivermectin—why? Because people were using veterinary doses and taking higher than human dosages and having side effects—thus they warn against using it for COVID, not because human meds at human doses don't work, but because veterinary doses cause side effects. And why are people taking animal products? Because the FDA and its mindless minions obstruct people from getting safe human formulated dosages.

    - Hydroxychloroquine doesn't work and is dangerous
        - Two studies were published earlier in Lancet and NEJM that claimed this were dangerous, both studies later retracted because the information was fabricated.
        - Hundreds of peer review studies show it is effective in early treatment of COVID
    - You should not treat it until you get short of breath
    - Vaccines provide the best protection against COVID 19
    - We, the government, want to stop the spread of COVID 19—that is why we open the southern border bring in over 200,000 illegal aliens tens of thousands infected, actively ship them around the country to communities without permission or notice.
    - We, the government, want to stop COVID but we don't put out any early treatment protocols that are published in peer review journals as universal guidelines.
    - The vaccines don't cause deaths in anyone
    - Heightening fear by distorting the data—New COVID cases are presented without the high recovery rates to create a false sense of terror
    - Deaths are not age stratified—for instance, have you been getting messaging that your children are at risk from this because of all the positive cases? There are 72 million people under age 20 in the USA and how many have died from COVID? Somewhere around 260—this is not a pandemic of the young. Your children are not in danger of a virulent disease.
- Declarations/proclamations/claims versus evidence
- Coercion versus liberty
- censuring versus freedom of speech and expression
- Accusation on reputation rather than addressing the evidence
- Greed/mammon/money—don't discount the impact of greed and money
    - The same people who funded the gain of function research are many of the ones who developed the vaccine technology, are many hold the patents or stock in the vaccine companies, and are the ones who are making billions on the vaccines and are the ones who are obstructing any evidence that would undermine the need for the vaccines.
- Satan's government—authoritarianism over versus leaving people free to decide for themselves
- Fear versus love

Finally on this question there is the risk/benefit analysis. Just consider how your decision-making has been impacted by the false-narratives, the censored and highly biased media propaganda campaign that has conditioned you to believe that we must, in order to save lives, shut down schools, mask kids, mask adults, shut down business, shut down churches, force an experimental vaccine upon people and more.

Why, if you think any of this is reasonable, is the justification for doing it—to save lives right?

Then would you support, on the same principle of the necessity to save lives—but with even more certainty than all these COVID interventions, mandates for the following:

- Universal governors on all vehicles, except emergency vehicles, that will restrict speed to 25 mph? Why not? We would with 100% certainty save millions of live worldwide every year from dying in auto-accidents if we did this? If you are unwilling to do this does that mean you don't love your neighbor? That you are callous and a sociopath who wants to kill people?
- Ban all fast-food restaurants, sodas and tobacco products—and mandate plant-based or pescatarian diet? We know with 100% certainty that if we did this we would save millions of lives, and reduce all kinds of chronic diseases and improve quality of life and health. If you don't want to do this does that mean you don't love others and want to see more death? Why would you be unwilling to mandate this knowing it would save lives? And we would also do something else with this action, what? We would seriously reduce the need for billions of dollars of pharmaceuticals to be sold every year to treat chronic conditions. Have you ever considered that there are people in our society that don't want true health, they want chronic sickness that they can treat with a pill or annual injection that will make them billions? A news report just announced that the government is going to approve the third injection at 6 months rather than 8 months.

Do you realize how your normal lifelong skill of assessing risks and benefits, the cost of an intervention has been undermined by the media and false-narratives—this is a spiritual war going on, seeking through fear to get you to surrender your mind to some external authority and to employ Satanic methods of coercion upon others to force them to do something against their conscience.

God's people do NOT use Satan's methods to advance His kingdom. We are to come out of Babylon and stand apart.

The lesson also asks us to read Hebrews 8:5:

> They serve at a sanctuary that is a copy and shadow of what is in heaven. This is why Moses was warned when he was about to build the tabernacle: "See to it that you make everything according to the pattern shown you on the mountain." NIV84

Is a copy, shadow, pattern—the reality?

If you see the blueprints to a building, is that a copy, shadow or pattern? Is that the same as the building?

Can God use symbols, metaphors, similes, parables, types to teach more than one thing at a time? Can there be multiple truths woven together in the same symbol or type?

Think about the Come and Reason Logo—the symbol of our ministry. It represents our ministry but within the symbol there are different things represented:

- The ministry as a whole
- The Bible as our foundation

- The heart and mind
- The C and R that form the heart/mind as we come and reason together from God's word a flame comes forth, the Holy Spirit that enlighten and empowers
- But the flame also represents our witness, our lives that shine forth in the darkness, we are lights to lighten the world

Does God's little theater teach multiple truths and have multiple threads that are simultaneously true and woven together?

The Sanctuary symbolism, the little theater teaches at least the following:

- Jesus Christ—destroy this temple and in three days He will raise it again. The entire structure teaches us about Jesus:
    - Jesus is the sacrificial lamb
    - Jesus is the High Priest
    - Jesus is the Lamp—the light that lightens the world
    - Jesus is the showbread, the bread of heaven the truth of God that we internalize
    - Jesus is the wine—the perfect character of love that we ingest
    - Jesus sinless life is the blood carried in the vessels that brings life to us and cleanses from sin
    - Jesus is the fragrance of God the incense
    - Jesus is the pure gold
    - Jesus' righteousness is the pure white robes
    - Jesus is the way through the veil to atonement with God
    - Jesus is the lid to the ark that reconciles and restores the universe to unity or oneness thus Jesus is the at-one-ment
- The plan of salvation
    - Human beings are apart from God spread throughout the four corners in the world represented by the tribes of Israel
    - God's people, represented by the Levites, are witnesses, and go out to bring the people into the body of Christ, the church, or in the metaphor to the temple
    - The brazen altar represents the unconverted hearts that receive Christ, the sin offering sacrificed upon it and the blood poured out at the base
    - The golden altar represents the converted heart—it is in the holy place, representing the church with the lampstand, the word of God and Christ the living Word, and the Showbread and wine. The heart of the converted prays to God and incense burned on the golden altar.
    - The ark in the most holy place represents the universe reconciled to God again—the Shekinah represents the Father, the angels the angelic heavenly host, the box represents the saved sinners who are covered in gold, the righteousness of Christ and who have partaken the manna-the word of God the truth, and been won to trust and opened their heart and had the living law of God written upon their hearts (represented by the 10 Commandments), and though they were dead in trespass and sin they came to live and bore the fruits of righteousness (represented by Aaron's rod that budded).

- Our own hearts and minds, our bodies our Spirit Temples
    - Jesus said that unless we eat his flesh and drink His blood we have non part with Him. The flesh of the sacrificial animal represents the words of truth, which are also represented by the unleavened bread. We are to ingest the truth, lies are dispelled, as flesh or bread taken into the body become building blocks to our physical bodies, so truths taken into the mind become building blocks to our beliefs, schemas, worldviews and wins us to trust. In trust we open the heart and God pours His love into our hearts, we receive the life of Christ, the character of Christ represented by the blood. And it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.
- The Corporate temple, the church and body of Christ
    - Each of us are living stones built together into a house for the Lord, thus the temple also teaches God's plan for the heavenly sanctuary, built out of living beings who have been fitted for heaven.

Here are some historic quotes to consider:

> The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use. {3MR 231.3}
>
> Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}
> This world is God's workshop, and every stone [every person] that can be used in the heavenly temple must be hewed and polished until it is a tried and precious stone, fitted for its place in the Lord's building. But if we refuse to be trained and disciplined, we shall be as stones that will not be hewed and polished, and that are cast aside at last as useless. – {ML 268.3}

It may be that much work needs to be done ... , that you are a rough stone, which must be squared and polished before it can fill a place in God's temple. You need not be surprised if with hammer and chisel God cuts away the sharp corners of your character until you are prepared to fill the place He has for you. No human being can accomplish this work. Only by God can it be done. And be assured that He will not strike one useless blow. His every blow is struck in love, for your eternal happiness. He knows your infirmities and works to restore, not to destroy. – {ML 268.4}

A character polished after the similitude of a palace ... may shine in the courts of the Lord forever. – {ML 268.5}

The trials of life are God's workmen, to remove the impurities and roughness from our character. [cleansing of the sanctuary] Their hewing, squaring, and chiseling, their burnishing and polishing, is a painful process; it is hard to be pressed down to the grinding wheel. But the stone is brought forth prepared to fill its place in the heavenly temple. Upon no useless material does the Master bestow such careful, thorough work. Only His precious stones are polished after the similitude of a palace." {MB 10.3}

Paul and the other apostles, and all the righteous who have lived since then, have acted their part in the building of the temple. But the structure is not yet complete. We who are living in this age have a work to do, a part to act. We are to bring to the foundation material that will stand the test of fire—gold, silver, and precious stones, "polished after the similitude of a palace" (Psalm 144:12). To those who thus build for God, Paul speaks words of encouragement... : "If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward." ... The Christian who faithfully presents the word of life, leading men and women into the way of holiness and peace, is bringing to the foundation material that will endure, and in the kingdom of God He will be honored as a wise builder.—The Acts of the Apostles, 598, 599.

Are the events right now happening in the world placing people in situations where they have to decide what methods they will employ in how they treat others? Will this impact their character development?

MONDAY

The lesson points to the importance of the shed blood of the sacrificial animal and asks what was its importance and that it was necessary for our atonement.

What do we understand this to mean?

What law lens do we read this through?

If imposed law then sin is a legal problem and justice requires inflicted punishment and thus someone has to die the death penalty inflicted by the ruling magistrate. Jesus didn't do any sin that would legally require Him to die, so He could be our substitute and have our sins applied to His account and God could punish Him in our place and thus at the Cross God killed Jesus for our sins and the blood represents that legal payment that we can claim to our account and if we do God declares us to be righteous even though we are not.

Do you see the lie after lie after lie in this view? Can you name some of them?

- sin is a legal problem
- God's law functions like human law
- sin requires punishment
- sin can be transferred from one person to another
- it is righteous and just to punish an innocent for the crimes of the guilty
- sin doesn't actually harm God harms you for it
- God is the source of death—thus Eastern philosophies that teach the eternal existence of good and evil, life and death are true as in this model death comes out from God as an inflicted punishment upon those who would otherwise live if God didn't act to kill them
- God declares things to be one way when they are actually another, thus God is not entirely truthful
- others?

This view is so corrupt it keeps people trapped in a form of godliness with no power to heal and save. Worse, because of the design law of worship, people who hold this view and worship such a god become like that god and they become willing to use force and power on others. This is what we read about in the Great Controversy last week when the author described how Protestantism has become more and more like Romanism—in that they have forgotten the principle of freedom of conscience and believe justice can be obtained through external law enforcement.

So what is the purpose of the shed blood? Why did Christ have to die?

We have multiple resources on our website that explores the various atonement models, here is one of them: https://comeandreason.com/pol-09/

TUESDAY and THURSDAY

The lesson asks us to read Hebrews 4:1-11, I am going to read it from The Remedy:

> [1] Therefore, since the Remedy is still available, and the promise of complete healing and perfect rest still stands, let us be careful that none of us be found to have rejected it.[2] For we also have had the good news of God's healing truth presented to us just as they did; but the message of truth had no value to them because they did not believe it nor did they trust the one who gave it.[3] But we, who have trusted God on the basis of the truth Christ provided, > experience healing and enter that rest, and our minds are at peace. As God has said, "So I granted them their persistent choice and said, 'Since they refuse the truth–the Remedy I freely offer–they will never be able to enter my rest and get well.'" It was not because God's perfect rest was not available–for it had been ready since his work of creation was complete — [4] as the Scriptures say elsewhere regarding the seventh day: "And on the seventh day, God rested his case. He had finished all his work of providing the evidence needed to refute the lies of Satan."[5] And yet in another passage he says, "If they refuse the truth, if they reject the evidence I have provided, their minds will never find rest and they will not get well."

> [6] The opportunity to find God's healing and rest still remains, even though those who formerly had the good news of God's healing truth presented to them did not get well or find rest because they refused to believe the truth and trust God.[7] Therefore God again and again presents his healing Remedy, and he set a certain day which he called "today," when much later he spoke through David in the same Scripture as before: "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds."
> [8] For if Joshua had already given them healing of character and rest for their minds, God would not have spoken later about another day of rest still to come.[9] There remains then a Sabbath-rest–a rest in the evidence and truth of the character of God–which heals and transforms the people of God;[10]for anyone who rests in the achievements of Christ rests from working to save themself, just as God rested from his work.[11] Let us therefore make every effort to rest in the truth about God as revealed by Christ, so that no one will fall by following the example of distrust and refusal to accept the truth.

Why did they not enter that rest?

What about us today? Have we entered that rest? What would prevent us?

They saw enemies and didn't trust God to provide a solution?

So what was Satan's strategy to defeat the people at that time? To get them to focus on the threat rather than God as their source of strength.

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 12
The Restless Prophet

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Many of you will be relieved to know that in this lesson we will not be talking about liberty of conscience related to COVID vaccines or spending time on that issue. But because of emails demonstrating that what I have been trying to achieve on this issue has been misunderstood by some, I need to clarify what has been the focus of our ministry over the last few weeks.

Some have thought that I have not been focusing on the Bible or the gospel. This following is a portion of a response to one of the listeners:

> And what is the message for this time? Is it not the message of God's character that results in the sealing of the saints into the character of God? And how does that happen--by first knowing God and second choosing to apply God's law, methods, principles to our lives in how we treat others. If we claim cognitive knowledge of God's character but still practice the methods of Satan then we develop the character of Satan. So, how do you think the final message of God's character that transforms people goes forward? It is by living out of God's principles of truth, love and liberty in how we treat others. The COVID issue, with lies, coercion, accusation, silencing, fear peddling etc. is one of Satan's end time attacks on God's people to get them to choose to "save lives" by the application of Satan's methods thereby allowing them to think they are doing a godly work while they ruin their character and misrepresent God with the application of Satanic methods. Reading EGW more widely, especially about the final events right before Christ comes, and we discover she describes events will unfold that will put people into positions that will require them to act out/live out the true principles they cherish thereby solidifying their characters into either Christlikeness or satanic. I believe the COVID mandates are part of this end-time issue by getting people to choose to coerce and compel other people's consciences rather than presenting truth in love and leaving them free.

> The COVID issue is a worldwide issue. And the church, with all its institutions, has the opportunity to present the true gospel by standing up for the principles of God--truth, love, liberty--respecting conscience, opposing coercion of conscience on this issue. Could you imagine if the SDA worldwide church, schools, hospitals, clinics, missions all of them actively opposed coercion on this issue (not oppose promoting the vaccine with evidence and liberty but oppose the methods of imperialism) that attention of millions perhaps billions would be drawn to the church. People would inquire, "who are these people" the opportunity would be given to present God as Creator, His design laws (health message) and the principles of love which always leaves free. And Jesus in describing the end when separating the sheep from the goats said the differentiating factor was how they treated Jesus in the person of others, "as you have done it unto the least of these you have done it unto me." Thus, it isn't just the theological construct one holds of God it is also living out the love of God in how we treat others, meaning truth presented in love, leaving others free. So, this issue is setting the world up, as they practice coercing others for a "good cause" to "save lives" then those methods become accepted into their hearts, their characters change and they will accept them again on the next issue.

So we will step back from the application of God's methods in regard to this issue and focus on the material in the lesson today.

SUNDAY

Jonah ran away from God's call—why?

Read the fourth and fifth paragraphs, "Historical and archeological records…" The Assyrians were enemies of the people of Judah and Israel. Israel had already fallen, the people were dispersed, and terrible atrocities were perpetrated upon the descendants of Israel.

What would have been a normal attitude of the Israelites toward the Assyrians after such atrocities?

Have you been watching the news the past two weeks about Afghanistan? Bombings, shootings, reports that ISIS K and the Taliban have put aside their differences until all infidels, meaning Christians, have been hunted down and killed. As you see these reports, what is your attitude?

Do we understand Jonah may have had a negative attitude toward the Ninevites?

What do we learn from Jonah's experience that is important for us today at this time in Earth's history?

What did God want from Jonah? Did God want Jonah to hate the Ninevites or love them? But these people were cruel to Jonah's people—surely the God of justice would want to punish them for their crimes, right? Surely, Jonah was right to run away until God saw the righteousness of getting the Assyrians to pay reparation, right?

Or was there something wrong with Jonah that Jonah didn't want to take this message of repentance to Nineveh? Could it be that Jonah didn't fully understand reality? That Jonah didn't fully comprehend the sin problem, that Jonah was seeing things through a human, worldly lens and not through God's perspective?

What does sin do to sinners? What happens to people who are cruel to other people?

So, if someone is cruel to you and yours what happens inside of them? From God's perspective, if you are in a saving relationship with Jesus and someone treats you badly, what does God want in that situation?

Does God want us to be useful in some way for Him, to somehow present a saving message to the very ones who mistreated us?

Is that what we want to do if someone mistreats us?

- If you are gay and you have been denied services, or mocked, or belittled, or beaten up, what is your natural desire toward those who have mistreated you and what would God have your attitude and actions be toward those who have mistreated you?
- If you are black and you have been falsely arrested, accused, denied work, mistreated, discriminated against, what is your natural desire toward those who have mistreated you and what would God have your attitude and actions be toward those who mistreat you?

- If you are white in society and have experienced reverse discrimination, denial of promotion through what you consider woke policies what is your natural desire toward those who have mistreated you and what would God have your attitude and actions be toward those you determine have wronged you?
- If you are a vaccinated in society what is your attitude toward those who are unvaccinated and what would God have your attitude and actions be toward the unvaccinated?
- If you are an unvaccinated who has been pressured, fired, denied travel, or wronged in some other way, what is your attitude toward those who have mistreated you and what would God have your attitude and actions be toward those who wronged you?

Do we find a lesson for our lives today in the story of Jonah?

Did Jonah, as a Jew, have reasons to harbor negative feelings toward the Assyrians? Could Jonah have developed biases and prejudices—were these totally the fault of Jonah, or could they have been the result of wrongs done to Jonah's people and perhaps Jonah himself?

Do we see one of Satan's strategies here? How does Satan advance His kingdom? Isn't by inspiring people to do real wrongs to other people which offends and incites bitterness, hatred, and if possible retaliation?

What is the solution? If you experience real wrongs, is the best solution to seek retribution—inflicted punishment to make the perpetrator pay the proper price? If external punishment is used, will it result in the highest level of peace, love, joy and friendship?

What is needed to bring lasting peace? What are God's methods to deal with wrongs?

Have you heard "an eye for an eye and the whole world will go blind"?

Can we advance God's cause by seeking retribution on those who have done us wrong?

What about "justice" through state power, can we advance God's kingdom by using the power of the state to punish wrongdoers? If we get congress to fund a war and invade another country and do it legally, a "just" war. Will this result in advancing God's cause?

What about laws to compel and force people we disagree with to do things our way—we are not talking about restraining people from overtly harming another, but requiring them to behave the way we want for instance:

- Jim Crow laws restricted blacks and allowed discrimination based in law and enforced by government, these laws coerced and compelled blacks to behave in certain ways in society—these laws were wrong and righteousness required they be removed.
- What about laws that prevent same sex couples from having the same civil liberties and legal privileges in society as married heterosexual couples? Is creating laws that give individuals the freedom to have civil unions or marriages under the law the same as requiring people to marry?
- What about laws that require people to participate in the wedding of someone else—bake cakes or do flower arrangements or photography? Is there a difference between restraining people from obstructing someone's wedding and forcing people to participate in the wedding?
- What about laws that obstruct the government and others from interfering with your religious practice, in other words, freedom of religion, is that the same as laws that require people to attend church, or to rest on a certain day of the week?

In the Bible human governments only use power righteously to restrain those who would harm others. Whenever governments cross the line to advance their morals by forcing the consciences of others, they abuse their power and advance Satan's kingdom, because they will violate liberty, do injustice, incite rebellion and divide society into hostile and warring factions—very much like we see happening in the world today.

So, we are talking about Jonah—he lived in a time when he experienced real atrocities done to his people and terrible violence and abuse and then he received a message from God to go to these very same people and call them to repentance—to warn them that if they don't change they will be destroyed.

Consider the implications, if the people genuinely repent what would that mean for Jonah? Wouldn't it mean some of these people will be in heaven—Jonah could have them as neighbors for all eternity.

Consider our situation—someone as done real wrong to your or your people—enslaved them, gone to war against them, imprisoned them, lied, discriminated, stolen from you or your people.

What would be your response if God came to you and said, "I want you to go to those people with a message of my love, call them back to me, call them to repentance so you can live eternally with them"?

What did Jesus say?

> "You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' 44 But I tell you: Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, 45 that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. 46 If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? 47 And if you greet only your brothers, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? 48 Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect" (Mt 5:43–48 NIV84).

Why did Jesus say this?

What is perfection in this passage? It is about task performance, or is it about love? And what law did Jesus highlight in this passage as an example of God's law? The laws of nature, design laws, these laws do not discriminate but treat all the same—these are not imposed rules, and cannot be achieved by legislation.

What determines who ends up in heaven? Will our relationship with Jesus have anything to do with it?

Will people who end up in heaven be friends with Jesus and become like Jesus in heart attitude, in love for God and others, and in character in how they live and treat others?

Will every person, in their own lives, have to decide for or against Jesus? But how will this happen in places like Afghanistan now that all the Christians are being killed, or in places like China which has cracked down on Christians?

It is by each person being faced with circumstances in which they must decide what law they apply to their own heart in how they treat others. There are two antagonistic principles at war for every heart and mind—God's design law of love, truth, liberty and Satan's law of sin and death, more commonly known as the survival drives of fear, selfishness manifested in the world in imposed law and coercive enforcement.

Everyone will make a clear choice as to which methods they practice in the treatment of others. And it is the world's unfolding events that bring people to the critical decision point. As the world continues to globalize, as governments increase their coercive pressure, as liberties are removed, as lies increase, as fear and selfishness magnify, and as crisis after crisis occurs, governments will add to their laws and increase their demands, pressure, and control.

As this happens, every person will be faced with the choice of whether they live out God's law or the law of sin and death.

As we enter into the last moments before Christ returns, God permits events to unfold in such a way that each and every person will face a choice for Jesus—but not in an evangelistic way, not primarily in the form of an altar call or a profession of faith. No, the choice each person makes for or against Jesus is when each person chooses the principles and methods they prefer and practice regarding how reality actually works, especially in how they treat others.

Will we:

- Love others more than self and, therefore, present the truth to others, in love, while leaving them free to decide for themselves; sacrifice ourselves, our resources, and our safety to help, protect, and shelter others?

Or will we:

- Love self first by withholding truth for fear of rejection, retaliation, arrest, firing from our job, censuring; spread falsehood, coerce others, support governments that violate individual liberties, use force; report others who don't comply to the government; refuse to shelter others, protect others, and help others?

It is in how we treat others that we choose whose law we embrace—God's or Satan's; this is how every person chooses either to accept or reject Jesus in the last days, even those in far remote places who have never heard the name Jesus, for our Savior said:

> When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit on his throne in heavenly glory. All the nations will be gathered before him, and > he will separate the people one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. He will put the sheep on his right and the goats on his left.

And notice Jesus doesn't separate the people based on race, or nationality, or culture, or creed, or denomination, Jesus separates people based on what law they live out in the way they treat others, and thereby how they treat Him:

> Then the King will say to those on His right hand, 'Come, you blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; I was a stranger and you took Me in; I was naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; I was in prison and you came to Me.'
>
> Then the righteous will answer Him, saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink? When did we see You a stranger and take You in, or naked and clothe You? Or when did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?' And the King will answer and say to them, 'Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me.'
>
> Then He will also say to those on the left hand, 'Depart from Me, you cursed, into the everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was hungry and you gave Me no food; I was thirsty and you gave Me no drink; I was a stranger and you did not take Me in, naked and you did not clothe Me, sick and in prison and you did not visit Me.'
> Then they also will answer Him, saying, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to You?' Then He will answer them, saying, 'Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.' And these will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into eternal life (Matthew 25:31-46 NKJV).

Yes, every single person will choose—either to love others or not. As events unfold, we will be faced with more threats, more anxieties, more fear, and we will be tempted to retaliate, to use force, to kill or be killed as a means of protecting self. But the saved of God are described in Revelation with these words, "They did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death" (Revelation 12:11 NIV84).

For the translated, those who are ready to meet Jesus, love has cast out fear. They don't have a death wish, they are not suicidal, they love life, but they don't fear death—they would rather die than break their love for God and others.

This is not a power we can conjure. It is not a force of will. This power is the power of love transforming the soul, it is the power of God to cast out al fear, it is the power of Jesus living in the heart. It is the result of the cleansing of the Spirit temple by the indwelling of Christ. This is a supernatural work that occurs only by a living trust relationship with Jesus. It is the result of coming back into a true knowledge of God, by worshipping the Creator, by beholding Him and being transformed by His presence.

Consider this quote from the book Ministry of Healing:

> Like our Saviour, we are in this world to do service for God. We are here to become like God in character, and by a life of service to reveal Him to the world. In order to be co-workers with God, in order to become like Him and to reveal His character, we must know Him aright. We must know Him as He reveals Himself. MH 409.1
>
> A knowledge of God is the foundation of all true education and of all true service. It is the only real safeguard against temptation. It is this alone that can make us like God in character. MH 409.2
>
> This is the knowledge needed by all who are working for the uplifting of their fellow men. Transformation of character, purity of life, efficiency in service, adherence to correct principles, all depend upon a right knowledge of God. This knowledge is the essential preparation both for this life and for the life to come. MH 409.3

And the author goes on to quote Scripture where Jesus is the revelation of God to us. If we have seen Jesus, we have seen the Father. In Jesus is the fullness of the Godhead.

Thus we fix our eyes on Christ. If we want to be victorious over fear, to love like Jesus loves, to love our enemies, we must unplug from the world and connect with Jesus; we must reject human justice and embrace God's justice; we must stop advancing human governments and advance the government of God.

What does this look like?

> Christian de Chergé was a French Catholic monk and the Trappist prior of the Tibhirine monastery in Algeria. With the rise of radical Islam in 1993, Father Chergé knew that his life was in danger. But instead of leaving Algeria, Father Chergé chose to stay and continue his witness to the gospel of Jesus Christ. On May 24, 1996 Father Chergé was beheaded by Muslim radicals. Anticipating his death, Father Chergé had left a testament with his family to be read upon the event of his murder. The testament in part reads:
> "If it should happen one day — and it could be today — that I become a victim of the terrorism which now seems ready to encompass all the foreigners living in Algeria, I would like my community, my Church, my family, to remember that my life was given to God and to this country. I ask them to accept that the One Master of all life was not a stranger to this brutal departure. I ask them to pray for me: for how could I be found worthy of such an offering? I ask them to be able to associate such a death with the many other deaths that were just as violent, but forgotten through indifference and anonymity.
>
> My life has no more value than any other. Nor any less value. In any case, it has not the innocence of childhood. I have lived long enough to know that I share in the evil which seems, alas, to prevail in the world, even in that which would strike me blindly. I should like, when the time comes, to have a clear space which would allow me to beg forgiveness of God and of all my fellow human beings, and at the same time to forgive with all my heart the one who would strike me down.
>
> Obviously, my death will justify the opinion of all those who dismissed me as naïve or idealistic: 'Let him tell us what he thinks now.' But such people should know that my death will satisfy my most burning curiosity. At last, I will be able — if God pleases — to see the children of Islam as He sees them, illuminated in the glory of Christ, sharing in the gift of God's Passion and of the Spirit, whose secret joy will always be to bring forth our common humanity amidst our differences.
>
> I give thanks to God for this life, completely mine yet completely theirs, too, to God, who wanted it for joy against, and in spite of, all odds. In this Thank You — which says everything about my life — I include you, my friends past and present, and those friends who will be here at the side of my mother and father, of my sisters and brothers — thank you a thousandfold.

And to you, too, my friend of the last moment, who will not know what you are doing. Yes, for you, too I wish this thank-you, this 'Adieu,' whose image is in you also, that we may meet in heaven, like happy thieves, if it pleases God, our common Father. Amen!"
–Father Christian de Chergé

http://brianzahnd.com/2015/02/last-testament-beheaded-christian/#more-4442

I want to love my enemies like this, but I know it is not natural to my heart. I know that I need the grace of Jesus, I need a supernatural work. I am far too easily pulled into feelings of resentment or anger and this is a trap of Satan.

I want us all to see Jesus more clearly, to focus upon Him, to know His love and to be transformed, so that when the trials come, the threats, the enemies attack the love of God will overflow us and extinguish the fear and we will be like Jesus and love even our enemies.

It is my view, that as the end-time events unfold, there will be two classes of people—those who have God's law of love written on their hearts so that in action, in deed, in function, they love God and others, versus those who have fear and selfishness established as the law of their life and they live out those methods in how they treat others.

We will be faced with a choice, do we love our enemies, pray for those who spitefully use us, or do we harbor hate, resentment, bitterness and seek to use power, including the legal power of the state, to punish and force others to comply to what we think is right.

Every person will decide. God help us because I know I cannot love my enemies in my strength. I want to, I want that kind of love, but I know how infected I am with fear, with selfishness and I know it will only be possible through a supernatural work in me.

It is through our daily practices, preparing ourselves through worship and time with Jesus that we develop the trust, the faith, the relationship with God so that when faced with such circumstances we are capable of receiving the power to love our enemies.

We will all ultimately live out the law that we have embraced and cherished. Consider this quote from Conflict and Courage:

> Each actor in history stands in his lot and place; for God's great work after His own plan will be carried out by men who have prepared themselves to fill positions for good or evil. In opposition to righteousness, men become instruments of unrighteousness. But they are not forced to take this course of action. They need not become instruments of unrighteousness, any more than Cain needed to. . . . {CC 371.2}
>
> Men of all characters, righteous and unrighteous, will stand in their several positions in God's plan. With the characters they have formed, they will act their part in the fulfillment of history. In a crisis, just at the right moment, they will stand in the places they have prepared themselves to fill. Believers and unbelievers will fall into line as witnesses to confirm truth that they themselves do not comprehend. All will cooperate in accomplishing the purposes of God, just as did Annas, Caiaphas, Pilate, and Herod. In putting Christ to death, the priests thought they were carrying out their own purposes, but unconsciously and unintentionally they were fulfilling the purpose of God. {CC 371.3}
>
> God looks into the tiny seed that He Himself has formed, and sees wrapped within it the beautiful flower, the shrub, or the lofty, wide-spreading tree. So does He see the possibilities in every human being. We are here for a purpose. God has given us His plan for our life, and He desires us to reach the highest standard of development. . . . {CC 371.4}
>
> He desires the youth to cultivate every power of their being, and to bring every faculty into active exercise. . . .[law of exertion] Let them look to Christ as the pattern after which they are to be fashioned. [law of worship] The holy ambition that He revealed in His life they are to cherish--an ambition to make the world better for their having lived in it. [the law of love] This is the work to which they are called. {CC 371.5}
>
> You want now to . . . so relate yourself to society and to life that you may answer the purpose of God in your creation. [level seven moral development, understanding friend of God who loves God and others, lives in harmony with God's design laws and carries out in their lives God's purposes for their lives.] {CC 371.6}

So Jonah had character issues to work out for himself, is this a lesson for us?

MONDAY

The lesson points out that while Jonah was in the belly of the fish, he prayed to God and specifically focused his mind on the Lord's holy temple.

The lesson asks why would Jonah focus on the temple?

What is the significance of the temple in this context?

What is the purpose of the temple?

The temple was given by God as a teaching tool to teach truths about the sin problem and God's solution for it. There are multiple truths and have multiple threads that are simultaneously true and woven together.

So Jonah looking to the temple was looking for salvation for deliverance, temporal perhaps, but most certainly eternal deliverance. What do we learn about God's plan of salvation by looking at the temple?

The Temple/sanctuary/little theater teaches at least the following:

- Jesus Christ—destroy this temple and in three days He would raise it again. The entire structure teaches us about Jesus:
    - Jesus is the sacrificial Lamb
    - Jesus is the High Priest
    - Jesus is the Lamp—the light that lightens the world
    - Jesus is the showbread, the bread of heaven the living Word of God made flesh that we internalize
    - Jesus is the wine—the perfect character of love that we ingest
    - Jesus sinless life is the blood carried in the vessels that brings life to us and cleanses from sin
    - Jesus is the fragrance of God the incense that draws us to God
    - Jesus is the pure gold of sinless perfection

  - Jesus' righteousness is the pure white robes of godly character
  - Jesus is the way through the veil to at-one-ment with God
  - Jesus is the lid to the ark that reconciles and restores the universe to unity or oneness thus Jesus is the place and means of reconciliation and restoration—the mercy seat
- The plan of salvation
  - Human beings are apart from God spread throughout the four corners in the world represented by the tribes of Israel
  - God's people, represented by the Levites, are witnesses, and go out to bring the people into the body of Christ, the church, or in the metaphor to the temple
  - The brazen altar represents the unconverted hearts that receive Christ, the sin offering sacrificed upon it and the blood poured out at the base
  - The golden altar represents the converted heart—it is in the holy place, representing the church with the lampstand, the word of God and Christ the living Word, and the Showbread and wine. The heart of the converted prays to God and incense burned on the golden altar.
  - The ark in the most holy place represents the universe reconciled to God again—the Shekinah represents the Father, the angels the angelic heavenly host, the box represents the saved sinners who are covered in gold, the righteousness of Christ and who have partaken the manna-the word of God the truth, and been won to trust and opened their heart and had the living law of God written upon their hearts (represented by the 10 Commandments), and though they were dead in trespass and sin they came to live and bore the fruits of righteousness (represented by Aaron's rod that budded).
- Our own hearts and minds, our bodies our Spirit Temples
  - Jesus said that unless we eat his flesh and drink His blood we have non part with Him. The flesh of the sacrificial animal represents the words of truth, which are also represented by the unleavened bread. We are to ingest the truth, lies are dispelled, as flesh or bread taken into the body become building blocks to our physical bodies, so truths taken into the mind become building blocks to our beliefs, schemas, worldviews and wins us to trust. In trust we open the heart and God pours His love into our hearts, we receive the life of Christ, the character of Christ represented by the blood. And it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.
- The Corporate temple, the church and body of Christ

- Each of us are living stones built together into a house for the Lord, thus the temple also teaches God's plan for the heavenly sanctuary, built out of living beings who have been fitted for heaven.

Here are some historic quotes to consider:

> The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use. {3MR 231.3}

> Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. {3MR 231.4}

> This world is God's workshop, and every stone [every person] that can be used in the heavenly temple must be hewed and polished until it is a tried and precious stone, fitted for its place in the Lord's building. But if we refuse to be trained and disciplined, we shall be as stones that will not be hewed and polished, and that are cast aside at last as useless. – {ML 268.3}

> It may be that much work needs to be done ... , that you are a rough stone, which must be squared and polished before it can fill a place in God's temple.

You need not be surprised if with hammer and chisel God cuts away the sharp corners of your character until you are prepared to fill the place He has for you. No human being can accomplish this work. Only by God can it be done. And be assured that He will not strike one useless blow. His every blow is struck in love, for your eternal happiness. He knows your infirmities and works to restore, not to destroy. – {ML 268.4}

A character polished after the similitude of a palace ... may shine in the courts of the Lord forever. – {ML 268.5}

The trials of life are God's workmen, to remove the impurities and roughness from our character. [cleansing of the sanctuary] Their hewing, squaring, and chiseling, their burnishing and polishing, is a painful process; it is hard to be pressed down to the grinding wheel. But the stone is brought forth prepared to fill its place in the heavenly temple. Upon no useless material does the Master bestow such careful, thorough work. Only His precious stones are polished after the similitude of a palace." {MB 10.3}

Paul and the other apostles, and all the righteous who have lived since then, have acted their part in the building of the temple. But the structure is not yet complete. We who are living in this age have a work to do, a part to act. We are to bring to the foundation material that will stand the test of fire—gold, silver, and precious stones, "polished after the similitude of a palace" (Psalm 144:12). To those who thus build for God, Paul speaks words of encouragement... : "If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward." ... The Christian who faithfully presents the word of life, leading men and women into the way of holiness and peace, is bringing to the foundation material that will endure, and in the kingdom of God He will be honored as a wise builder.—The Acts of the Apostles, 598, 599.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on the success of Jonah's message, that the people repented, then asks, "What does it mean to truly repent of our sins?"

Is there a difference between repentance and confession?

Is repentance in any way connected with justification?

Is repentance needed for salvation? Is justification needed for salvation?

What leads us to repentance?

> "God's kindness leads you toward repentance" (Romans 2:4 NIV84).

So it is the truth about God, His character of love manifested to us in Christ that leads us to repentance—and what is repentance?

What of these description?

> No repentance is genuine that does not work reformation. The righteousness of Christ is not a cloak to cover unconfessed and unforsaken sin. It is a principle of life that transforms the character and controls the conduct. Holiness is wholeness for God, entire surrender of heart and life to the indwelling of the principles of heaven. From Heaven with Love 369.2

> The Bible does not teach that the sinner must repent before he can heed the invitation of Christ, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest." Matthew 11:28. It is the virtue that goes forth from Christ, that leads to genuine repentance. Peter made the matter clear in his statement to the Israelites when he said, "Him hath God exalted with His right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins." Acts 5:31. We can no more repent without the Spirit of Christ to awaken the conscience than we can be pardoned without Christ. SC 26.2

> Christ is the source of every right impulse. He is the only one that can implant in the heart enmity against sin. Every desire for truth and purity, every conviction of our own sinfulness, is an evidence that His Spirit is moving upon our hearts. SC 26.3

So repentance is a gift from God to us, it is a change in heart, it is a result of coming to Christ, it is a result of experiencing God's goodness as manifest in Christ, and salvation is not experienced without it.

It is an outworking of the Spirit of truth and love, bringing truth and love to enlighten the soul to the horror of sin, the reality of the sickness of fear and selfishness and the beauty of God and His character, methods and principles of love. That truth impacts the soul to surrender to Christ longing for a new heart and right spirit, we have dissatisfaction with the things of the world and long to be more and more like Jesus. We are therefore reborn, with new heart motives. This is genuine repentance and it is setting the heart right with God again, it is the justifying of the individual sinner with God, putting the heart that is at enmity back into love and trust with God again.

This is different than the justification of the species achieved by Jesus as our substitute.

When Adam sinned, not only was he as an individual out of harmony with God (at enmity with God), but the entire species was also out of harmony—because every human is descended from Adam and born infected with fear and selfishness. After Adam and before Jesus, there were no sinless human beings—none. Jesus became human to remedy that situation, to become the connecting link to heaven, the one human being in which God's design law of life was perfectly lived out, thereby restoring harmony with God's design law into the human family.

In so doing, Jesus became the new head of a renewed and cleansed humanity—our second Adam.

In the person of Jesus Christ, the species human was justified—set right, put right—with God. He became human and was tempted in all points just like we are, yet He was without sin (Hebrews 4:15). In the human life experience of Jesus, He accomplished something real, something no other human could, something objective: He developed with the use of only His human abilities a perfect, sinless human character, thereby restoring God's design law of love back into the species human. In the person of Jesus, the human race was put right with God—we were justified.

> Although he was a son, he learned obedience from what he suffered and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him (Hebrews 5:8, 9 NIV84).

Wait … wasn't Jesus always perfect?

He was always sinless, yes, but Bible perfection means maturity of character and character cannot be created, it must be developed by the choices of the sentient being.

Jesus developed, as a human, a perfect, mature sinless character, restoring God's law of love into the species human. In so doing, He as our substitute set the species human right with God; i.e., He justified the species and became our remedy to sin, the source of salvation for all who follow Him.

When we are won to trust, we open the heart and receive the indwelling Spirit, who takes the character of Christ and reproduces it in us, such that "I no longer live, but Christ lives in me" (Galatians 2:20 NIV84). This is true biblical justification.

As Paul wrote to the Corinthians, "God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God" (2 Corinthians 5:21 NIV84).

> God offered him, so that by his blood he should become the means by which people's sins are forgiven through their faith in him. God did this in order to demonstrate that he is righteous. In the past he was patient and overlooked people's sins; but in the present time he deals with their sins, in order to demonstrate his righteousness. In this way God shows that he himself is righteous and that he puts right everyone who believes in Jesus (Romans 3:25,26 GNT, emphasis mine).

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on Jonah's concern with self, fear of what others would think of him, fear of being considered a false prophet and thus he was angry when Nineveh didn't get destroyed.

At its root, what was Jonah's problem? His primary motive was self; his primary focus was self; his primary concern was self.

It wasn't merely that he was tempted with selfishness, it was that he focused upon himself; he did focus upon love for God, concerned about God's reputation, concerned about God's heart—the pain God would experience to lose all His children in Nineveh, and Jonah didn't have love for the people of Nineveh. If Jonah loved the people of Nineveh like you love your children what would his response have been when they repented and God spared them?

So, this illustrates that God was not only working to save the people of Nineveh, but also to heal and restore Jonah, to bring Jonah to the point of realizing that he still had a serious residual infection of fear and selfishness in his heart that needed removal.

What lessons do we learn from this to apply to our lives today?

THURSDAY

The lesson asks us to read the book of Jude, this is from The Remedy:

> 1Jude, an ambassador and representative of Jesus Christ and a brother of James,
> To those who have responded to God's call — who are being transformed by God's healing love and nurtured by Jesus Christ:
> 2May you continue to grow in the abundance of God's mercy, peace, and love.
> 3My dear friends, I have longed to write to you about God's healing plan (his Remedy in which we share), but instead, I must write to warn you to defend the truth about God as revealed by Jesus — this precious truth that is the foundation of our faith and the secret with which we have been entrusted.4Scripture from long ago tells that those who reject this truth remain terminal and cannot be healed. Such people have slipped in among you and are attempting to twist the truth about God. These people, even though they purport to be believers in God, are actually godless because they have rejected the truth about God's true character and principles, and instead, teach a powerless gospel that misrepresents God, fails to transform lives, and denies that Jesus Christ is our Lord and the source of our healing and restoration.
> 5So let me remind you–even though you are well aware of these facts–that the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt to be his partner in teaching the truth about God and distributing his healing Remedy throughout the world. Unfortunately, God found it necessary to put into the grave those who rejected him and worked to stop his plan.6And the angels who rejected the truth about God chose to leave heaven and have become so settled into lies about God that no amount of truth and love can reach them; their minds are bound in darkness, and they are awaiting the final Day when the diagnosis of all will be revealed.7In a similar manner, the inhabitants of Sodom and Gomorrah rejected the truth about God, and their minds became so settled into lies about him that they were beyond healing: they gave themselves over to sensual indulgence and perversion. They stand as evidence of what will happen to all those who reject the truth about God and are exposed to eternal fire.

8In the very same way, these infiltrators create imaginary fantasies about God and the universe. They abuse their bodies, reject divine authority, and make fun of holy beings.9But even the archangel Michael, when he raised Moses from the dead, did not slander the devil who tried to stop him and claim Moses for himself. Michael merely said, "Stand aside; you have no right or authority here."10Yet these infiltrators make fun of truths they don't even comprehend; they reject reason, and instead, like animals, do whatever they feel by instinct, thereby destroying the capacity for knowing truth, and causing their own destruction.

11Oh, how sad–how terribly sad and horrible it will be for them! They have chosen, just like Cain, to reject truth and go with passion; they have sought, like Balaam, to reject beneficence and seek riches for self; they, like Korah, have rejected humility and sought to promote themselves in power and authority. 12These people are festering cankers at your fellowship meals, claiming to be Christian but seeking only to get the best for themselves, trying to get attention and recognition, or gorging themselves without regard for anyone else. They are like clouds without rain–useless and blown around by the wind; they are like leafless, fruitless trees, uprooted and completely dead.13They are like the waves of the sea — tossed in any direction their feelings are surging; their lives are turbulent whirlpools of shame. They are like the lost stars of heaven on their way to eternal nothingness and darkness.

14It was Enoch — the seventh descendant of Adam — who prophesied about people like this: "Be aware, the Lord is coming to earth with millions of his holy angels15in order to bring about the accurate diagnosis of all things–to bring all selfish beings face to face with their own terminal condition, with the pain and suffering they have caused, and with all the lies about God they have told."16These people are complainers, faultfinders, criticizers, always making excuses for themselves and blaming others; they only care about themselves and constantly follow their own selfish desires; they brag about themselves and use flattery to manipulate and exploit whomever they can.

17But, my dear friends, remember what the ambassadors of our Lord Jesus Christ warned us would happen.18They said, "In the last days, there will be people who laugh at truth, make fun of godliness, and prefer to follow their own passions, lusts, and desires."19It is people like these who cause factions to form, who split families in two, who break congregations apart–and they have come in among you. They follow their own base instincts and feelings, for they have rejected God's Spirit.

20But you, dear friends, as you talk to God — with your minds enlightened by the Holy Spirit — continue to build your characters and relationships upon the holy truth about God and on his methods and principles.21Continue to be conduits of God's love as you allow the mercy and grace of our Lord Jesus Christ to heal you and bring you back into full unity with him and give you life everlasting.

22Be merciful to those who don't understand and who live in doubt;23don’t stand idly by when you see others destroying themselves in ignorance and selfishness, but proclaim God’s healing Remedy and rescue them from burning up their lives in sin. Be kind and patient with sinners, but hate the selfishness that covers them like putrid, germ-saturated clothing.

24To him who is able to heal you completely so that you can stand in his glorious presence with perfect character, rejoicing when we meet him face to face,25to the only God — our Savior through Jesus Christ — be all glory, majesty, power and authority from before time began, and now, and forevermore! Amen.

2021 3Q Rest In Christ: Lesson 13
The Ultimate Rest

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, "Have you ever felt…" We all recognize we are in a war—a cosmic war—but it is not only a war between Christ and Satan, Christ and Satan stand at the head of their two forces.

What is the core issue in the war?

Do Christ and Satan stand at the head of two opposing governments, two opposing systems, two types of law and rulership? And does choosing participation in either side impact us? Do we become like either Christ or Satan depending on whose side we identify with, methods we practice, and who we ultimately trust?

And what does that reveal about whose government is actual supreme?

Why do we become like either Christ or Satan? Is it a legal process or literal, transformational—by beholding we are changed? This is the law of worship. We become like the God we admire and worship; when we trust Jesus we open the heart and the Spirit enters bringing new motives, new desire, new insights, new strength and we act on these new insights, motives, desires with new strength and are transformed. But if we choose fear and selfishness then those attributes solidify in our characters and we become like Satan, eventually destroying the very faculties that are sensitive to truth and love—meaning the lost eventually move past healing and transformation, no amount of truth or love has any redeeming impact upon them anymore.

This is reality and thus, even in the war God's supremacy is revealed. Satan cannot win, because Satan cannot create, Satan cannot sustain life, Satan cannot heal and restore, Satan can only break, destroy and kill. There is nothing legal going on, it is all actual.

Read second paragraph, "Life, then, is really…" We absolutely agree that the war is more than a human war, that there is a cosmic war, that there are angel armies involved, that God's Spirit is at work, that "our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms" (Eph 6:12 NIV84), meaning there are non-human forces operating outside of our space-time continuum—in some aspect of time or space we cannot see or move in and out of—but does this mean there is warfare still going on in heaven, in God's dwelling place, where Gabriel and the loyal angels live? Or does it mean, that the heavenly beings are engaged in the war but the only place warfare is happening now is on Earth?

Prior to the Cross we have evidence that the war was still being waged in heaven—in the first chapter of Job, Satan goes to heaven and launches a propaganda campaign against God, spinning facts to try and undermine trust in God and recruit more angels to his side. The war was still being waged amongst the angels in heaven.

But is that still happening today?

Consider these insights:

> From the first the great controversy had been upon the law of God. Satan had sought to prove that God was unjust, that His law was faulty, and that the good of the universe required it to be changed. In attacking the law he aimed to overthrow the authority of its Author. In the controversy it was to be shown whether the divine statutes were defective and subject to change, or perfect and immutable. PP 69.1 [What kind of law is subject to change? So Satan's attack from the very beginning is that God's law is not design law, it is merely rules made up and enforced with external power, thus undermining the character of God, making Him be viewed as a dictator, and thereby undermine trust in God and turning angels and humans away from God.]
>
> To the angels and the unfallen worlds the cry, "It is finished," had a deep significance. It was for them as well as for us that the great work of redemption had been accomplished. They with us share the fruits of Christ's victory. DA 758.2 [How do sinless beings share in the fruits of Christ's victory? How do they benefit from Christ's life, death, and resurrection? Did they need the cross? Yes, was it for a legal payment? What was it for?]
>
> Not until the death of Christ was the character of Satan clearly revealed to the angels or to the unfallen worlds. The archapostate had so clothed himself with deception that even holy beings had not understood his principles. They had not clearly seen the nature of his rebellion… DA 758.3 [Christ was the truth, the Word made flesh, the living embodiment of God, the One who the fullness of God dwelt bodily. And what did Christ reveal in His human life? How did Christ respond to injustice? How did Christ wield power? From whom did Christ demand worship? Whom did Christ compel and coerce? Whom did Christ inflict punishment upon? Whom did Christ accuse? Do we see a different character lived out by Jesus than by any other human? Do we see a different law lived out? Do we see a different method of governing? Is this a lesson for us today?]
> God could have destroyed Satan and his sympathizers as easily as one can cast a pebble to the earth; but He did not do this. Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power. DA 759.1 [This is one of the most important truths ever to be revealed and one for which all the saved will embrace and practice. Truth and love are the prevailing powers of God's government. God wants our love, trust, loyalty, devotion, friendship and this cannot be achieved by legal means, by legislation and the infliction of punishment, by compelling and coercing. In fact, those means lead to more rebellion. All compelling power is found in Satan's government, the Lord never does this.]

It was God's purpose to place things on an eternal basis of security, [By having God's law of love written into hearts, where beings are settled into truth, love, liberty and are genuine friends of God, who would rather die than betray Him or live out of harmony with God's design] and in the councils of heaven it was decided that time must be given for Satan to develop the principles which were the foundation of his system of government. He had claimed that these were superior to God's principles. Time was given for the working of Satan's principles, that they might be seen by the heavenly universe…. DA 759.2 [What are Satan's principles that needed to be developed so their corruption and destructiveness could be revealed? The rule of law, imposed law, coercion, force, the governments of this world!]

Satan saw that his disguise was torn away. His administration was laid open before the unfallen angels and before the heavenly universe. He had revealed himself as a murderer. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he had uprooted himself from the sympathies of the heavenly beings. Henceforth his work was restricted. Whatever attitude he might assume, he could no longer await the angels as they came from the heavenly courts, and before them accuse Christ's brethren of being clothed with the garments of blackness and the defilement of sin. The last link of sympathy between Satan and the heavenly world was broken. DA 761.2 [What broke the last link of sympathy? It was the revelation of truth—Jesus revealing God's character, methods, principle and Satan revealing his. Why was Satan's work restricted to this earth after the cross? Was there a force shield? What kind of war is it? It is a war of ideas, of lies versus truth and the battlefield is the hearts and minds of intelligent beings. So, when the intelligences in heaven were settled into the truth about God, when all sympathy for Satan was lost, there were no minds or hearts willing to listen to Satan anymore, none of his ideas, distortions, lies, innuendos, or propaganda had any impact on heavenly beings anymore. Thus, his work was restricted to the hearts and minds of the only beings in the universe who still believed him, valued him, think like him and will follow him—human beings.]

Yet Satan was not then destroyed. The angels did not even then understand all that was involved in the great controversy. [What else was there? Wasn't the issue only about who was telling the truth, who they needed to trust? No—it isn't enough to be eternally secure to believe Jesus is telling the truth, we must also understand why this is so. It isn't enough to be secure to believe your math teacher knows the answers to the problems, in order to be secure one must know how to do math, we must mature to be able to discern right from wrong, to not only love and trust God, but to be understanding friends of God.] The principles at stake were to be more fully revealed. And for the sake of man, Satan's existence must be continued. Man as well as angels must see the contrast between the Prince of light and the prince of darkness. He must choose whom he will serve… DA 761.3 [For our sake Satan was to continue on longer—how is this for our sake? Because we must decide, we must see for ourselves the difference between the methods and principles of God and that of Satan. And if we can't see this difference in the subtle ways they manifest, then what will God allow to happen? Won't He allow more and more evidence, more truth, more obvious differences to be manifested so that we can see the difference between the principles of God and that of Satan? This is the rise of the beast of Revelation—a system built completely on imposed law, coercion, infliction of punishment all under the guise of seeking to make a better world, to improve lives, to save lives. So what was the specific concept that we all needed to understand more clearly that required Satan's existence to be continued? Here is the next paragraph.]

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. [What kind of law is Satan describing? A law which created beings can make, a system of rules that require oversight and coercive enforcement. This is Satan's lie about God's law and as we look through history we see this repeats itself over and over again. And at the end of time, the beastly system of Revelation uses imposed law to force its way, to create mandates, to restrict travel, to force compliance, no one can buy or sell…] …God could not be just, he urged, and yet show mercy to the sinner. [What is the basis of this allegation? What kind of justice is this? What law is this based upon? Again this is imposed law, and thus the allegation is that to not impose punishment is to not uphold the law. However, when we understand Design law, we realize that justice is not about punishment, but restoring or healing people back to harmony with the design-law.] {DA 761.4}

But even as a sinner, man was in a different position from that of Satan. [Different position how? Different legal position? Or different position in objective reality? Note how] Lucifer in heaven had sinned in the light of God's glory. To him as to no other created being was given a revelation of God's love. Understanding the character of God, knowing His goodness, Satan chose to follow his own selfish, independent will. This choice was final. There was no more that God could do to save him. [Why? Was Jesus unwilling to give His life for Lucifer? Was Jesus unwilling to pay a "legal penalty"? Didn't we just read that the death of Christ was for angels and the unfallen worlds as well as humans, so Jesus did die for angels—just as Colossians says, "all things in heaven and earth are reconciled to Christ at the cross." Then, did God love Lucifer less than humans? Was God playing favorites? No! No! It was because Lucifer had destroyed in himself the capacity to respond to truth and love. He had seen, understood, and participated in God's love and rejected it. Thus he changed himself, hardened his own heart and corrupted his character. This again, is design law. Just the same way Pharaoh hardened his heart—when truth is presented a person must decide to accept or reject it, when we reject truth we harden, when more truth comes we have an opportunity to repent and be healed, but it requires humbling oneself and acknowledging where the lie was believed. If we refuse and instead reject the additional truth then we harden ourselves more until at some point we destroy the ability to respond to love and truth. This is what Lucifer did. Adam and Eve, while deceived, while infected with fear and selfishness, had not rejected truth that would win them to repentance and had not destroyed within themselves the faculties capable of responding to truth and love.] But man was deceived; his mind was darkened by Satan's sophistry. The height and depth of the love of God he did not know. For him there was hope in a knowledge of God's love. By beholding His character he might be drawn back to God. [What is it man needs? Is it a legal penalty paid? No, the legal solution is what people think up when they are operating under Satan's false view of God's law. But when we understand the truth, then we realize we need to be set right in heart and mind with God, meaning we need the lies removed and truth to win us to trust and love restored within the heart by the indwelling Spirit of God!] {DA 761.5}

Through Jesus, God's mercy was manifested to men; but mercy does not set aside justice. [What does this mean? What law lens do we view justice through imposed or design? What difference does it make?] The law reveals the attributes of God's character, [which is what?] and not a jot or tittle of it could be changed to meet man in his fallen condition. [Why? For the same reason the law of respiration cannot be changed to meet a person drowning. God's law is the protocol upon which life is constructed to operate.] God did not change His law, but He sacrificed Himself, in Christ, for man's redemption. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. {DA 762.1} [Which means that Christ was carrying out God's purpose to fix what sin did to humanity, set humanity back into harmony with God's law—design! Notice the next paragraph's description about justice.]

The law requires righteousness,--a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. [Notice this is Christ, as a human, using human abilities, developing a perfect human character and then healing humans back to this perfect state. This is literal not metaphorical.] Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. {DA 762.2} [If you see someone drowning, is it right and just to pull them from the water and administer CPR to revive them? What law are you operating under? Why, if you want them to live, must you do this? This is God's justice and what He accomplished for us through Christ. He pulls us from drowning in sin and breathes into us the breath of life, the Spirit of God Himself comes into us to give us new life with new motives and desires! We are resurrected from sin and death into a new life in Christ.]

God's love has been expressed in His justice no less than in His mercy. [Mercy is God not abandoning sinners to die, not retaliating, not seeking to punish; Justice, doing what is right by sending Christ to destroy sin and restore God's law in humanity in order for us to be restored to life, to be set right or made right, justified, this is what is right or just. I just put up a blog this week in Justification by Faith, if you have any questions about what that is through the design law view, I encourage you to check it out. Justice is the sustaining of the operations of God's laws, including the law of liberty, justice is giving people freedom to reject God's healing remedy and reap what they sow.] Justice is the foundation of His throne, and the fruit of His love. It had been Satan's purpose to divorce mercy from truth and justice. He sought to prove that the righteousness of God's law is an enemy to peace. But Christ shows that in God's plan they are indissolubly joined together; the one cannot exist without the other. "Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other." Psalm 85:10. {DA 762.3} [How does Satan attempt to divorce mercy from justice? By getting us to believe the imposed law lie, which results in a split Godhead in which Christ in mercy dies to pay a legal penalty for our sins to a wrathful father who is the administrator of just punishments. Thus, justice is separated from mercy in the way we perceive and describe God—leading to theologies in which Jesus must protect us from the Father. 1. Jesus pleads His blood to the Father. 2. Jesus covers us with His blood so the Father can't see us. 3. Jesus applies His blood to our record books so the Father can't punish us for our bad deeds. 4. Jesus is our heavenly attorney to argue our case before the Father to protect us from His judgment and punishment. 5 Jesus took our place and was executed by His Father on the cross to pay for our sins. All of this is the divorcing of mercy from truth and justice by created a false caricature of the Godhead.]

By His life and His death, Christ proved that God's justice did not destroy His mercy, but that sin could be forgiven, and that the law is righteous, and can be perfectly obeyed. Satan's charges were refuted. [How? What was the just or right thing for God to do? Fix the problem, which was accomplished through Christ developing a perfect character. What charges of Satan were refuted? That every sin must meet its punishment, that transgressing God's law requires punishment. These lies were refuted at the Cross. But Satan still gets legal theologians to teach the lie when they teach that all sins, past, present, future were put on Christ and punished by God at the Cross.] God had given man unmistakable evidence of His love. {DA 762.4}

Another deception was now to be brought forward. [History now repeats itself] Satan declared that mercy destroyed justice, that the death of Christ abrogated the Father's law. [What kind of law can be rescinded, changed, or abrogated? Imposed law, the kind of laws created beings make. Design law cannot be changed or abrogated. Thus Satan's allegations that began in heaven that God's law requires punishment, i.e. imposed law, now repeats itself and is accepted by the vast majority of humans, including Christians.] Had it been possible for the law to be changed or abrogated, then Christ need not have died…It was because the law was changeless, because man could be saved only through obedience to its precepts, that Jesus was lifted up on the cross. [Why? Because the law is the protocol of life, and only in harmony with it is there salvation, or healing!] Yet the very means by which Christ established the law Satan represented as destroying it.[How? Twofold, one by declaring the law is no longer binding, which is only possible if the law were imposed rules. But, also, amongst those who claim the law is still binding, by tricking them into accepting the imposed construct, thus they claim loyalty to God's law and all the commandments, while they present it as imposed rules requiring God to inflict punishment. They, thereby misrepresent God, the Cross and God's law and ultimately practice Satan's methods of coercion as they will one day force other on some point of conscience or go along with governments that do, as long as it is for a good cause, perhaps to save lives.] Here will come the last conflict of the great controversy between Christ and Satan… [This is where we are today in Christianity, fighting a battle over God's law, not which day of worship, but which law—imposed or Design law. We are to call people back to worship Him who made the heavens… to Designer worship.] {DA 762.5}

By substituting human law for God's law, Satan will seek to control the world… [How? Not simply by a change in rules, but a change in the entire idea of law from the law the Creator builds life upon, to imposed rules so that people will seek to achieve justice through human governments and enforce their beliefs upon others. Notice the next paragraph…] {DA 763.1}

Men will surely set up their laws to counterwork the laws of God. They will seek to compel the consciences of others, and in their zeal to enforce these laws they will oppress their fellow men. [Here we have it—the use of compelling power, which is always used in imposed law systems. This is what is happening in the world today and far too many Christians are going along with it. But they will say, "Lord, Lord, we prophesied in your name, we cast out demons and performed miracles in your name—we did this to save lives. And of course, in your name, to honor you and save lives, we forced people against their will to get the jab because we know that you want to save lives and we know those people are ignorant, are not scientific and that the jab isn't a religious issue, it is a science issue. So we know you would want us to coerce, compel and force in order to save lives." And Jesus replies, "Get away from me you workers of iniquity, I never knew you."] {DA 763.2}

The warfare against God's law, which was begun in heaven, will be continued until the end of time. Every man will be tested. Obedience or disobedience is the question to be decided by the whole world. All will be called to choose between the law of God and the laws of men. Here the dividing line will be drawn. There will be but two classes. Every character will be fully developed; and all will show whether they have chosen the side of loyalty or that of rebellion. {DA 763.3} [Notice the paragraph, it is about developing character, character of love like Jesus, in which we sacrifice ourselves for others, present truth in love and leave others free. Or, character like the beast, where we use compelling power to coerce conformity! This is the test we all must face. And the final deception will be so subtle that if possible the elect will be deceived? How because it will be set up as a law for the good, for saving lives, for protecting others, for saving the planet. And those who won't comply will be presented as the enemy of the good. But notice what this author says comes next, after these two classes have formed, after every character is tested.]

Then the end will come. God will vindicate His law and deliver His people. Satan and all who have joined him in rebellion will be cut off. Sin and sinners will perish, root and branch… [Why? Mercy—God would not use His power to keep people in a place of torment, but grants them their choice to be separate from Him, the only source of life.] {DA 763.4}

This is not an act of arbitrary power on the part of God. The rejecters of His mercy reap that which they have sown. God is the fountain of life; and when one chooses the service of sin, he separates from God, and thus cuts himself off from life. [This is design law, not imposed penalties!] He is "alienated from the life of God." Christ says, "All they that hate Me love death." Ephesians 4:18; Proverbs 8:36. God gives them existence for a time that they may develop their character and reveal their principles. This accomplished, they receive the results of their own choice. By a life of rebellion, Satan and all who unite with him place themselves so out of harmony with God that His very presence is to them a consuming fire. The glory of Him who is love will destroy them. {DA 764.1}

At the beginning of the great controversy, the angels did not understand this.[What did angels not understand? God's law as design law, as an outworking of His character of love. They were confused by Satan's lies that God's law functions like human law. Thus history repeats itself as humans suffer the same confusion and many today are willing to use Satan's methods to coerce consciences in order to seek justice or save lives.] Had Satan and his host then been left to reap the full result of their sin, they would have perished; but it would not have been apparent to heavenly beings that this was the inevitable result of sin. A doubt of God's goodness would have remained in their minds as evil seed, to produce its deadly fruit of sin and woe. [This is how many Christians, including in our own church, view things; they fail to understand the truth of God's law and instead teach the same distortion that God must kill the wicked, rather than the truth that unremedied sin itself results in death! And because they accept Satan's lie about God's law, they are willing to accept Satan's methods of compelling others for a good cause.] {DA 764.2}

But not so when the great controversy shall be ended. Then, the plan of redemption having been completed, the character of God is revealed to all created intelligences. The precepts of His law are seen to be perfect and immutable. Then sin has made manifest its nature, Satan his character. Then the extermination of sin will vindicate God's love and establish His honor before a universe of beings who delight to do His will, and in whose heart is His law. {DA 764.3}

SUNDAY

A Vision of the End—it is about the future, what the future hold for the believer, and refers us to Revelation 21:1,2, in which we are promised a new heaven and a new earth, free of all sin, death, disease and pain the home of the righteous.

What is the Biblical view of the future? What happens to this planet as we know it according to the Bible?

Is there anything we can do to stop the destruction and recreation of the Earth by God? Should we try to stop this?

Does that mean, because we understand the future will result in the Earth as we know it being destroyed and a new Earth being created, that we are free to exploit, abuse, pollute, and destroy the planet? No, we are to be good stewards in how we govern ourselves and manage the Earth God has given us.

But, despite the best management possible, what happens to this planet?

Is the future of the Earth in the Biblical worldview the same as the evolutionary, Green worldview?

For those who reject the Bible, who reject the belief in God, who accept the lie that human beings evolved from lower life forms, what does the future worldview look like? It looks like over-population, depletion of the planet's resources, global warming and a mass extinction event—we eventually kill ourselves.

So, if you hold the godless worldview, what would you want to do? Would you want to intervene to stop the extinction of the human species, the destruction of the planet?

Now, in the godless worldview, what is more important to protect, individual human lives, or the planet?

In the Biblical worldview, what is more important to protect, the planet or individual human lives?

If people with the godless worldview were in power and could advance actions and agendas based on their worldview that were intended to save the planet what might those actions look like?

- Would the rate of population growth need to be controlled?
    - If the godless view is truly believed in, would leaders be able to wait until the majority of the planet were convinced of the urgency and willingly cooperated with population control, or would leaders need to take actions that would curb the population regardless of individual willingness to participate?
    - What might that look like?
    - Would governments restrict the number of children a family is permitted to have? Have we already seen this in the world?
    - Would easy access to abortion be part of it?
    - Would birth control be part of it?
    - Would impacting human sexuality through whatever means possible, fertility or gender identity, or media and social media messaging targeting children and adolescents to increase same sex relationships be part of it?
    - Other actions?
- Would carbon emissions need to be controlled?
    - Would carbon emission controls be simply about environmental protection, or would these controls be used to restructure society, shift national autonomy, incite restrictions on resources, ultimately impacting population growth?
- What about wars?
    - Would wars be a means to kill more people and prevent opposition groups from gaining power?
- What about biological agents—human engineered viruses—and their treatments?
- Would resources need to be managed?
- Would people be valued each with inalienable rights to be protected, or would people be viewed as commodities to be managed for the benefit of the whole?

- Would there be investment in science designed to accelerate the evolution of human beings to higher form, either through genetic engineering or cybernetic enhancements?
- Would people who value the Biblical worldview be supported or vilified?
- Would the principles of autonomy and liberty be protected?

Do we view the future from a Biblical worldview, or from a godless worldview? How many of the various agendas and narratives of the godless have made their way into your worldview and are you aligning with while you continue to claim a belief in God?

MONDAY

The Countdown to Jesus' Return—the lesson points us to Matthew 24 and other Bible passages that give us signs of His return. Let's look at some signs of Jesus' soon return:

1. Scoffers

First of all, you must understand that in the last days scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires. They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised? Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation" (2 Peter 3:3, 4 NIV84).

This sign was fulfilled in the late 18th and early 19th centuries during the Enlightenment, which directly opposed the Great Awakening. The Great Awakening was a religious movement that called people's attention to the nearness of the second coming of Christ. But this movement was countered by the Enlightenment, in which godless scientific views and human reason replaced a belief in God, and godless evolutionism spread throughout the world. In the wake of godless evolution came communism and other godless philosophies that scoff at the idea that Jesus is coming again.

Not only is the world today filled with scoffers, but the critics of God have come to dominate the scientific, educational, and media landscape, creating a societal attitude that those who continue to look for Christ's return are less educated, ignorant, or foolish.

2. Wars and rumors of wars

You will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet (Matthew 24:6 NIV84).

Jesus here refers to the never-ending regional struggles, tribal wars, crusades, and conflicts throughout the Dark and Middle Ages prior to the "end times," which began in the 19th century with the Enlightenment. The end times come after these wars. Notice the shift from wars to nations and kingdoms rising against each other.

3. World wars, natural disasters, famines, pandemics

> Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes, famines and pestilences in various places, and fearful events and great signs from heaven (Luke 21:10, 11 NIV84).

Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places. All these are the beginning of birth pains (Matthew 24:7, 8 NIV84).

After the long history of wars and conflicts through the Dark and Middle Ages, after the Enlightenment and the rise of the scoffers, we enter the 20th century and experience WWI, WWII, nuclear weapons, wars in Vietnam, Korea, Afghanistan, Iraq, Kuwait, and Syria, and terrorism around the world. The 20th century, with its two world wars and other military conflicts, saw more people killed by war than any other century in human history. And in the past fifty years, the world has seen massive famines, the threats of climate change, HIV, SARS, Swine Flu, COVID, and the increasing frequency of earthquakes, hurricanes, destructive storms, and other disasters. But all of this is the beginning of the birth pains.

When a woman goes into labor, the time of delivery has begun. In other words, she has entered the "end time" of her pregnancy—but the labor isn't instantaneous. The pains get more frequent and more intense right up until delivery. We are now in the time of the end, the time of ever-increasing rapidity of events leading up to our Savior's return!

Understand that no matter what we do, things on Earth are not going to get better until Jesus returns. And the worsening of conditions on Earth, the increasing labor pains as the Earth itself groans under the weight of sin, will be used by the scoffers to incite fear, turn minds away from God, and promote their godless solutions that will solidify power into a global coalition that persecutes the righteous.

4. The promise of an era of peace and safety

Paul also used the metaphor of a woman going into labor when referring to the return of our Lord, adding an interesting detail:

> Now, brothers, about times and dates we do not need to write to you, for you know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night. While people are saying, "Peace and safety," destruction will come on them suddenly, as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape. But you, brothers, are not in darkness so that this day should surprise you like a thief. You are all sons of the light and sons of the day. We do not belong to the night or to the darkness. So then, let us not be like others, who are asleep, but let us be alert and self-controlled (1 Thessalonian 5:1–6 NIV84).

When those who don't know God—the scoffers, the evolutionist, the humanists, those who are desperately seeking to save themselves and "save the earth"—are saying, "This is the way we can have global peace and safety," sudden destruction will come, as labor pains on a pregnant woman.

They will be unaware that sudden destruction is coming, but why? Because they have given up a belief in God, they no longer trust Scripture, they have accepted the false narrative of godless evolution and secular humanism, and they believe peace and safety can be achieved through the implementation of their worldly agenda. This is the delusion of socialism, of globalism, of the Green movement—that we can save the planet. They claim, "We can create a new world order in which all nations come together to stop climate change, to stop the destruction of the environment, to eliminate poverty—all doable through a new globalism that we can create with new economic realities that will bring in a new era of peace and safety."

But Jesus continues His warning:

5. Increased divisions in society, loss of faith, persecution of believers in Jesus

> Then you will be handed over to be persecuted and put to death, and you will be hated by all nations because of me. At that time many will turn away from the faith and will betray and hate each other, and many false prophets will appear and deceive many people (Matthew 24:9–11 NIV84).

Then, at the time of the end, at the time after the scoffers arise, at the time when the labor pains have begun, after the nations have had global wars, after the increase in natural disasters and pestilence, then those loyal to Christ will be persecuted, some put to death, and hated of all nations. Then people will betray each other to find security for themselves.

6. Love of most will grow cold

> Because of the increase of wickedness, the love of most will grow cold (Matthew 24:12 NIV84).

Because of the increase in wickedness—which is all the violations of God's designs, laws, methods, and principles—the love in the hearts of most people grows cold. Because of the denial of God and the rise of the lies of secularism, humanism, socialism, evolutionism; because of the breakdown of families; because of the assault on our common heritage and community values, love is dying in the human heart.

The historic big three societal defensive barriers to this tidal wave of fear we are seeing today have been God, family, and country. But since the Enlightenment, since the rise of evolutionism and secularism, these three "other-than-me" values have been removed. The messaging today is that there is no God, families are the "misogynistic domain of the patriarchy," and our countries are abusive relics of colonial exploitation and abuse. This leaves people with nothing greater than themselves, which results in increasing fear and a sense of isolation. This leads to a sense of hopelessness; there is no purpose to life other than survival, and people become increasingly fearful and concerned for their own safety and wellbeing. Fear of global warming, fear of economic collapse, fear of COVID and we see love growing cold. Thus, society devolves into ever increased pleasure-seeking, trying to numb the fear as love grows ever colder.

7. So caught up in entertainment and living, people are unaware

> As it was in the days of Noah, so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man. For in the days before the flood, people were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, up to the day Noah entered the ark; and they knew nothing about what would happen until the flood came and took them all away. That is how it will be at the coming of the Son of Man (Matthew 24:37–39 NIV84).

Incredible! The people before the Flood knew nothing about what was going to happen despite Noah preaching for 120 years and building a giant boat. How did they not know? Because they were consumed with pleasure-seeking, eating, drinking, and marrying. They were too busy either being entertained or living their lives to be bothered with eternal realities.

This is exactly the state of the world today: It is caught up in increasing consumption of mind-altering substances, or leaving reality behind for their preferred fantasy world of video games, social media activity, TV shows, movies, sports, concerts, amusement parks, or anything else to consume and distract the mind. This is the world today—ignoring the warnings of Jesus, ignoring the signs of the end all around, and living merely for the pleasures of the moment.

8. The good news about God's kingdom of love lightens the world

> But he who stands firm to the end will be saved. And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come (Matthew 24:13, 14 NIV84).

But those who stand firm for the truth of God's kingdom of love will be saved! We will be the ones who take the good news about God and His kingdom of love to the world. We will advance the cause of liberty, for love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. We will stand for truth in a world of falsehood and propaganda. We will glorify God by revealing His character of love in how we treat our neighbors. We will call people back to the truth of our Creator by teaching people God's design laws—the laws our Creator built reality to operate upon, demonstrating that harmony with God and His design laws are the only way to health and happiness.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on the Three Angels' Messages of Revelation 14—I wish we had time in the lesson to do a deep dive on this. But, we don't today.

But I want to announce that we have a new Pamphlet, in production on the Three Angels' Messages from the Design Law perspective. We will have that very soon, it is with the designer right now getting the layout and as soon as we get that back it will go to print, so hopefully within the next month or two.

And when we do, perhaps we ought to have a special 3 Angels broadcast, where we go over what is in the Pamphlet? What do you think? Let us know if you would like to have a Sabbath afternoon live broadcast on the message of the 3 angels when our pamphlet is ready?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on our rest in the first death, the sleep death, that what we call death is merely a sleep and is not the death of sin, which is the second or eternal death.

Understanding this, is why we can know that God has never killed anyone, God has put many to sleep, put them into the grave, but every one will rise again in either the resurrection of life or the resurrection of damnation and each of the lost arise with the same train of thoughts that they had when they died, and will finish their lives by the exercise of their own choices.

If you would like more on the state of humanity, what death is, and the final end of sin and sinners, here are some resources:

THURSDAY

The lesson focuses on Philippians 4:4-7:

> Rejoice in the Lord always. I will say it again: Rejoice! 5 Let your gentleness be evident to all. The Lord is near. 6 Do not be anxious about anything, but in everything, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. 7 And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus. (Php 4:4–7 NIV84).

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy 1
Preamble to Deuteronomy

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read memory verse:

> He who does not love does not know God, for God is love. (1John 4:8 NKJV).

What does this text mean?

What does it mean to know God? This is not knowing about, it is a personal connection with, an intimate relationship with, it is a heart bonding of two beings becoming one.

We read about this in John 17, Jesus, praying to His Father, says in verse 3:

> Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent. (Jn 17:3 NIV84).

And then goes on to say:

> "Holy Father, protect them by the power of your name—the name you gave me—so that they may be one as we are one… My prayer is not for them alone. I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message, that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me. I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me." (Jn 17:11, 20–23 NIV84).

What is Jesus praying for?

So, what does our memory verse mean?

Can a person have a cognitive knowledge of God and still not know Him?

Can a person be a preacher of Scripture and still not know God? What about those who crucified Christ? What about those who say to Jesus in the end, "Lord, Lord…"

As events unfold on planet Earth, right now today, what differentiates the children of God from the children of wickedness?

If they love God, how will they treat others? Will those who love God use the power of the state to force others or will those who love God refuse to unite with the state in compelling other people?

SUNDAY

Read the first four paragraphs, "First John 4:8…" This is well said. Congratulations Cliff Goldstein, who is the principal contributor and also editor of this quarterly. This is well said!

Is God being love something that is turned off and on depending on circumstances?

Is there a time when God is something other than love?

Is there a time when love can function without freedom?

Is there a time when love will take freedom away?

- What about discipline? If we discipline someone is that unloving? A parent putting a child in time out?
- What about a government imprisoning a convicted murderer—is that a violation of God's law of love? Why or why not?

Is there a time when justice will require God to take freedom away?

- What takes away our freedom—God or violations of God's law? How and why?

Is there a time where love will use power to inflict punishment upon people?

If God were to do this, then would people still be free?

So, what happens to the wicked in the end? How does God bring about the end of sin and sinners without taking away freedom?

Consider this commentary from the Great Controversy:

> God has given to men a declaration of His character and of His method of dealing with sin. [which is what? God is love, He never stops being love, so His dealing with sin, must be an expression of love and how love functions, which means design law] "The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty." Exodus 34:6, 7. "All the wicked will He destroy." "The transgressors shall be destroyed together: the end of the wicked shall be cut off." Psalm 145:20; 37:38. The power and authority of the divine government will be employed to put down rebellion; yet all the manifestations of retributive justice will be perfectly consistent with the character of God as a merciful, long-suffering, benevolent being. {GC 541.2} [What do you hear? Is this a contradiction? Is the author describing an infliction of external punishment, or the outworking of design law? What power is being employed? The author says the power and authority of the divine government—what power is that? Do you think of power like human governments or like the Creator God of love? Do you keep in mind while reading things like this other quotes like this one from The Desire of Ages: "God could have destroyed Satan and his sympathizers as easily as one can cast a pebble to the earth; but He did not do this. Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power." {DA 759.1} So what power? The power of love and truth! But how can love and truth punish? Keep reading…]

God does not force the will or judgment of any. He takes no pleasure in a slavish obedience. He desires that the creatures of His hands shall love Him because He is worthy of love. [Can God get our love, trust, devotion, friendship by threatening us and then inflicting external punishment on people who don't give it? No! Imperial/imposed law violates the law of liberty and coercion destroys love. He can only get love by leaving people free!] He would have them obey Him because they have an intelligent appreciation of His wisdom, justice, and benevolence. And all who have a just conception of these qualities will love Him because they are drawn toward Him in admiration of His attributes. [What power is described here? The power of truth and love revealed that draw people to God. It is Satan's power of lies that get us to conceive of God as a being other than love, a dictator who inflicts pain and suffering, which undermines our ability to love and trust God. This is what penal substitution theology does.] {GC 541.3}

The principles of kindness, mercy, and love, taught and exemplified by our Saviour, are a transcript of the will and character of God. Christ declared that He taught nothing except that which He had received from His Father. The principles of the divine government are in perfect harmony with the Saviour's precept, "Love your enemies." [Wait, love your enemies is the principles upon which God executes justice and punishes sin? How does that work? Consider how it is a function of love for God's enemies to be destroyed in the end. It will become obvious, but it is only a function of love if we understand it through design law! Impose law violates liberty and is not love.] God executes justice upon the wicked, for the good of the universe, and even for the good of those upon whom His judgments are visited. [What does this mean? Executes justice—what is justice, doing what is right, and what is right? Is it right to give people the freedom to choose? Is it right to let people reap what they have chosen after repeated attempts to win them to love and trust? And when does God let them go to reap what they have chosen, when they are still healable/savable or when they have destroyed within themselves the faculties that respond to truth and love? And how is it good for the wicked for God to do this? Because, if God did not let the wicked go, if God held on to them despite their hardened and rebellious hearts, then God would create, by His power, a place of torment and God would never do this. Thus, for mercy, for love, for the best outcome for the wicked, He executes justice, the right thing for them and sets them free from Him the only source of life.] He would make them happy if He could do so in accordance with the laws of His government and the justice of His character. [What are the laws of His government? Design laws and you can't force people to love you, or enjoy goodness and purity] He surrounds them with the tokens of His love, He grants them a knowledge of His law, and follows them with the offers of His mercy; but they despise His love, make void His law, and reject His mercy. While constantly receiving His gifts, they dishonor the Giver; they hate God because they know that He abhors their sins. The Lord bears long with their perversity; but the decisive hour will come at last, when their destiny is to be decided.[decided by who? a judge in heaven or each person decides their own destiny? Who determines if a person accepts or rejects truth?] Will He then chain these rebels to His side? Will He force them to do His will? {GC 541.4}

Those who have chosen Satan as their leader and have been controlled by his power are not prepared to enter the presence of God. [Why can't they enter God's presence? Is it because God doesn't want them there, God is angry and wrathful and hasn't had the price paid to Him for that unrepentant sinner? Is it because God can't handle their presence, it would offend Him, He would get angry and lash out? No, it is because of their condition!] Pride, deception, licentiousness, cruelty, have become fixed in their characters. [Fixed by who? How did it become fixed? What law caused it to become fixed?] Can they enter heaven to dwell forever with those whom they despised and hated on earth? Truth will never be agreeable to a liar; meekness will not satisfy self-esteem and pride; purity is not acceptable to the corrupt; disinterested love does not appear attractive to the selfish. What source of enjoyment could heaven offer to those who are wholly absorbed in earthly and selfish interests? {GC 542.1}

Could those whose lives have been spent in rebellion against God be suddenly transported to heaven and witness the high, the holy state of perfection that ever exists there,-- every soul filled with love, every countenance beaming with joy, enrapturing music in melodious strains rising in honor of God and the Lamb, and ceaseless streams of light flowing upon the redeemed from the face of Him who sitteth upon the throne,--[what does that light look like? From where does it come? Do you integrate texts like these: "the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him. Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him." (Dan 7:9-10 NIV84) "for our 'God is a consuming fire.'" (Heb 12:29 NIV84)? Is this fire harmful? Do the righteous get injured by it? Why not? What about the wicked, why do they experience pain in this fire? From where does the pain come, from the fire or from unremedied sin?] could those whose hearts are filled with hatred of God, of truth and holiness, mingle with the heavenly throng and join their songs of praise? Could they endure the glory of God and the Lamb? No, no; years of probation were granted them, that they might form characters for heaven; but they have never trained the mind to love purity; they have never learned the language of heaven, and now it is too late. A life of rebellion against God has unfitted them for heaven. Its purity, holiness, and peace would be torture to them; the glory of God would be a consuming fire. They would long to flee from that holy place. They would welcome destruction, that they might be hidden from the face of Him who died to redeem them. [What is being described? Do you integrate texts like "They called to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the face of him who sits on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb!" (Rev 6:16 NIV84)? What kind of law? What is the reason? Is God acting justly? He is executing justice?] The destiny of the wicked is fixed by their own choice. Their exclusion from heaven is voluntary with themselves, and just and merciful on the part of God. [Who decides the fate of the wicked? What does it mean voluntary with themselves? It is what they want, is it right and just on God's part to grant them exclusion from heaven? What kind of law?] {GC 542.2}

Like the waters of the Flood the fires of the great day declare God's verdict that the wicked are incurable. [Why are they lost? Who made them incurable? Is this just on God's part? Is it an infliction that their condition does not bring upon them?]{GC 543.1}

Do you see how God's execution of justice is an expression of His character of love and is the best that He can do for the wicked in the end?

MONDAY

The lesson points out that Isaac Newton didn't discover gravity—everyone functioned upon it, but he discovered that gravity was a constant and was a law that nature operated upon. The lesson goes on to say, "though Newton's contribution was in the area of natural law, the same principle holds true with moral law."

Again, this is well said, this is absolutely right. Moral law is just like natural law in this way, design protocols upon which God has created reality to operate, and life and health are only possible in harmony with God's design laws for life.

Here is a beautiful description from the book Education:

The same power that upholds nature, is working also in man. The same great laws that guide alike the star and the atom control human life. The laws that govern the heart's action, regulating the flow of the current of life to the body, are the laws of the mighty Intelligence that has the jurisdiction of the soul. From Him all life proceeds. Only in harmony with Him can be found its true sphere of action. For all the objects of His creation the condition is the same--a life sustained by receiving the life of God, a life exercised in harmony with the Creator's will. To transgress His law, physical, mental, or moral, is to place one's self out of harmony with the universe, to introduce discord, anarchy, ruin. {Ed 99.2}

The lesson points out that God destroyed the world with a flood—we have spoken on this in detail in several lessons recently, so I won't go over it again now, but wanted to pause and ask if anyone has a question about this?

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Genesis 12:1-3:

> The LORD had said to Abram, "Leave your country, your people and your father's household and go to the land I will show you.
>
> 2 "I will make you into a great nation > and I will bless you;
> I will make your name great,
> and you will be a blessing.
> 3 I will bless those who bless you, > and whoever curses you I will curse;
> and all peoples on earth > will be blessed through you." (Ge 12:1–3 NIV84).

Then the lesson asks, "Today, looking back after the cross, after the death of Jesus and the spreading of the gospel, how do we understand what God was promising to do through Abram?"

When the Genesis text says God would make a great nation from Abram, what is that referring to? Was it referring to the state of Israel that exists today? What then?

What was the purpose of calling Abram and the nation his descendants were to form?

How is it all the people on the earth would be blessed through him? And would the purpose of the nation be? And what is that blessing to the world?

Here is how I paraphrased it in The Remedy:

> The Lord had told Abram, "Leave your homeland, your relatives and your father's house, and go to the land I will show you. 2My plan is for your descendants to become a great nation that lives out my methods, for they will be the avenue for the Messiah. I will change your character and make it a great example of my healing plan – that healing comes through trust – and you will be a blessing.'3I will bless those who bless and support you, but those who oppose you I will oppose; and the entire human race – all earthlings – will be blessed through you."

What was the purpose of ancient Israel? To be the messengers of God, His helpers to share the knowledge of God and prepare the world for Christ's first advent.

Because they were chosen by God for this purpose—this is why the Bible focuses our attention on them—it is all about fulfilling the promise of Genesis 3:15, the coming Messiah.

It is also why these people are specifically targeted by Satan for destruction, because Satan was working to obstruct the plan of salvation, the coming Messiah.

The lesson asks in the bottom pink section, "Today, how do we as Seventh-day Adventists see ourselves in relation to the rest of the world?"

Do we see ourselves as being called for a purpose, to fulfill a mission? What is the purpose?

Like the Jews were called to prepare the world for the first advent of Jesus, SDAs see their purpose in calling the world to prepare for the second advent of Jesus.

The SDA church shares several elements in common with ancient Israel:

- The seventh-day Sabbath
- A sanctuary message
- A health or lifestyle message
- An advent message
- The inspired record—the Word of God

What is the purpose of these common resources?

- The seventh-day Sabbath
  - An evidence of God as Creator and His laws as design laws
  - A reminder that He makes us holy—or heals us from sin
  - An opportunity to practice trusting Him each week in how we live
- A sanctuary message
  - To enlighten us to the plan of God to heal our hearts and minds and restore us to at-one-ment with Him
  - To encourage us, educate us in how we can participate with God and give us hope
- A health or lifestyle message
  - To help us experience the highest quality of life here and now, keeping us in the best condition for God's cause possible
  - To enlighten us to the laws of health which are design laws and help us realize that the plan of salvation is just like this, restoring God's law within us—it is healing us.
- An advent message
  - To give us hope and motivate us to fulfill our role in God's cause of taking the final message of mercy to the world
  - To point us to a better world free of sin, disease, death
  - To keep us focused on our mission and protect us from getting caught up in the business or entertainment or problems of this world
- The inspired record—the Word of God
  - To provide us the evidence of God in dealing with the sin problem—who God is and how He functions leading us back to trust in Him

- To protect us from letting experience or science lead us into mysticism or godlessness

What is necessary to be ready for Jesus' return?

If someone asked you, "What is the message the SDA church has for the world?" What would you say to them?

Would you say:

> "It is the darkness of misapprehension of God that is enshrouding the world. Men are losing their knowledge of His character. It has been misunderstood and misinterpreted. At this time a message from God is to be proclaimed, a message illuminating in its influence and saving in its power. His character is to be made known. Into the darkness of the world is to be shed the light of His glory, the light of His goodness, mercy and truth…The last rays of merciful light, the last message of mercy to be given to the world, is the revelation of His character of love." Christ's Object Lessons, p.415

If so, how is this message different than the message of John Wesley who said,

> "What then is the mark? Who is a Methodist, according to your own account?" I answer: A Methodist is one who has "the love of God shed abroad in his heart by the Holy Ghost given unto him;" one who "loves the Lord his God with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his mind, and with all his strength. God is the joy of his heart, and the desire of his soul; which is constantly crying out, "Whom have I in heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire beside thee! My God and my all! Thou art the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever!"

So, what is different about the message the SDA church has for the world and that of John Wesley or any other Christian who teaches the love of God?

Because the message of the Advent message places the sin problem in the setting of the Great Controversy over God's character and law. It is the message that takes the truth of God's love to its ultimate conclusion and application in the heart, character, methods, law and government of God—exposing and eradicating from the hearts and minds of people the imposed law lies that have infected Christianity and corrupt the views of God taught within Christianity.

> Both the redeemed and the unfallen beings will find in the cross of Christ their science and their song. It will be seen that the glory shining in the face of Jesus is the glory of self-sacrificing love. In the light from Calvary it will be seen that the law of self-renouncing love is the law of life for earth and heaven... {DA 19.2}

> But turning from all lesser representations, we behold God in Jesus. Looking unto Jesus we see that it is the glory of our God to give. "I do nothing of Myself," said Christ; "the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father." "I seek not Mine own glory," but the glory of Him that > sent Me. John 8:28; 6:57; 8:50; 7:18. In these words is set forth the great principle which is the law of life for the universe. All things Christ received from God, but He took to give. So in the heavenly courts, in His ministry for all created beings: through the beloved Son, the Father's life flows out to all; through the Son it returns, in praise and joyous service, a tide of love, to the great Source of all. And thus through Christ the circuit of beneficence is complete, representing the character of the great Giver, the law of life. {DA 21.2}

The message that prepares the world for Christ's return is the truth of God's character of love, but that truth is bound up in understanding God's law. It is only by coming back to understanding love is more than emotion, more than compassion, it is a principle, a law, a functional outworking of God's very nature that reality is built upon, that we are enabled to reject Satan's imposed law lie.

It is the lie of imposed law that infected beings in heaven and broke down their love and trust in God. It is the imposed law lie that caused Adam and Eve to break trust with God in Eden. It is the imposed law lie that corrupted the church of Rome and infects the entire world so that Christians around the world teach that God must use power to inflict pain and suffering upon sinners, that Jesus died to pay a legal penalty to the Father so the Father won't kill us.

The message the SDA church was given is the completion of the Reformation, to leave the fallen worldly systems of imposed laws behind and worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water.

In this worship, by beholding Him we are changed, we stop aligning with the kingdoms of this world, we stop trying to advance the kingdom of God through human governments, legislation, imposed rules, infliction of punishment. We instead focus our energy on love for God and living that love in how we treat others.

All the fundamental beliefs, rightly understood, are merely the extension of this truth of God's character and design law of love:

- the Sabbath is a sign or evidence of God's methods of truth presented in love leaving free;
- the message of the three angels, the first is the eternal good news about God, that He is love and His laws are design laws, it is a call to stop worshipping the imperial dictator god formed by Rome and worship Him who created, whose laws are design laws, to judge God correctly as Jesus revealed Him to be and thereby be transformed in character to live out God's law, give Him glory for the time has come for people to make a right judgment about God. With this truth we leave Babylon, the fallen system of imposed law and legal enforcement, with a punishing god that requires the blood of a human sacrifice. But if we reject the messages of the first and second angel, then we reap what we sow, our characters become like the imperial dictator god we have chosen instead of the creator and we mark ourselves as beastly, and when we come into the presence of the holy angels and the Lamb we will be burned with divine fire, the fire of God's infinite love and truth and it will be a terrible torment and the memory of the devastation that unremedied sin causes will be remembered by the righteous for all eternity.
- The cleansing of the sanctuary is the message of the cleansing of the hearts and minds of sinners to prepare us to stand in God's unveiled glory—to seal us, for the Bible says that when

> He appears we shall see Him face to face for we shall be like Him. And what cleanses us—the truth about God that wins us to trust so that we open the heart to receive the Spirit reproducing the character of Christ within us.

It is all the same, our message is the message of reality, to leave behind the myths, the superstitions, the fantasies, the falsehoods that have infected so many minds, churches and theologies and embrace the truth as it is in Jesus.

WEDNESDAY

Focuses our attention on the covenant at Sinai—what do you understand happened there?

Did a legal system of salvation get started then?

When is the first time in human history that we have a written law of God? At Sinai—did the law of God begin as Sinai?

Was the law of God in existence in heaven? In what form?

Did the angels in heaven have a law to honor their mothers and fathers or sins passing down their generations?

Jesus said the Sabbath was made for man, when was the Sabbath made? So, did the angels in heaven have the Sabbath?

Did the 10 Commandments as we know them exist in heaven or were they added later?

Here are a couple of historical quotes:

> The law of God existed before the creation of man or else Adam could not have sinned. After the transgression of Adam the principles of the law were not changed, but were definitely arranged and expressed to meet man in his fallen condition.55 FLB 80.2

> The angels were governed by it [the law]. Satan fell because he transgressed the principles of God's government. After Adam and Eve were created, God made known to them His law. It was not then written, but was rehearsed to them by Jehovah.56 FLB 80.3

> If man had kept the law of God, as given to Adam after his fall, preserved by Noah, and observed by Abraham, there would have been no necessity for the ordinance of circumcision. And if the descendants of Abraham had kept the covenant, of which circumcision was a sign, they would never have been seduced into idolatry, nor would it have been necessary for them to suffer a life of bondage in Egypt; they would have kept God's law in mind, and there would > have been no necessity for it to be proclaimed from Sinai or engraved upon the tables of stone. And had the people practiced the principles of the Ten Commandments, there would have been no need of the additional directions given to Moses. {PP 364.2}

Then the lessons points out that everything God instituted at Sinai was ratified with blood, sprinkled with blood and asks what the blood signifies?

Everything in the sanctuary services, the Levitical service and ceremonial law is symbolic—nothing is literal. The tent itself, the altars, the instruments, the robes, the priests themselves, the sacrificial animals and the blood all of it, is symbolic of something else—what?

So the blood represents the blood of Jesus, and this represents what? His perfect sinless human character or life which was developed for us. Thus the sprinkling of blood is the symbolic way of saying the receiving of the righteousness or perfect sinlessness of Jesus into our hearts and minds that transform and heal us.

This is why Jesus said in John 6, unless we eat His flesh and drink His blood we have no part with Him. In the symbolic system the blood was sprinkled throughout the physical tent or temple, in the reality it is to be internalized into the Spirit temple.

The flesh and blood are symbols that were replaced with new symbols bread and wine but they symbolize the same thing what? Flesh/bread—symbolize the Word (Jesus) made flesh, and as we take in literal flesh or bread it becomes building blocks for our physical bodies, so too taking in the Word of Truth the truth becomes building blocks for our beliefs, ideas, constructs, perspectives which destroys lies and wins us to trust. In trust, we open the heart to Jesus and receive the indwelling Spirit who takes the victory of Christ and reproduces it in us, such that "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me" this is the blood, the life or character of Christ taken in. All taught in the symbolism.

THURSDAY

Thursday is about the rebellion of the people and their refusal to trust the Lord and obey His instructions and how they were "punished" by wandering in the wilderness for 40 years until a new generation grew up.

What kind of punishment was this? It was reaping what they had chosen, they chose not to go in and God let them have what they chose.

Is there a lesson in this? What about going into the eternal promised land, what happens to those who refuse?

Have we been wandering in the wilderness? Why?

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy 2
Moses' History Lesson

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

I have been receiving many emails, two I want to share with you.

I received this email this week:

> Dear Dr. Jennings, I consider myself to be a Bible believing Christian who is, at this time, attending a Baptist church. I have been listening to your Bible study class for years. I would like to encourage you to continue to present the truth about the Covid virus and the vaccine. I had Covid in April 2020 and was hospitalized for two weeks and was on oxygen for months, I know first-hand how bad the virus can be. We all need to be careful and concerned about others but the way our government is presenting information and forcing the vaccine is wrong. Please continue to inform people about the lies and point out that this is not God's way. May God continue to bless you and your ministry.

Here is another email:

> Dear Dr. Jennings,
> I just want to thank you and tell you how grateful I am for you and how God is speaking through you in these times we are living in. You are spot on with everything I hear that comes out of your mouth!!
>
> I appreciate how honest you are each Sabbath lesson when you start off with the emails that you receive from some of your listeners that are discouraged or don't understand why you speak so much about what is (TRULY) going on in our World in your Sabbath school lessons.
>
> I also want to express (and I feel this is from God) "Keep sharing The Truth as you have been and warning people of what's to come but more importantly what we as Christians are supposed to be doing in this turbulent time" (as you have been doing) THANK YOU!!
>
> I at times have been frustrated with my fellow Christians around me who are SO fearful. I have said many times to them ….God's word is very clear when HE says "DO NOT FEAR" He NEVER said "Do not fear except when Covid hits"
>
> Back in the beginning of 2020 when we all heard about Covid, I started praying to the Lord asking, Lord, what is going on? And by day 3 God gave me PEACE to the degree that I have not been surprised by anything that has happened.

I have watched so many people become deceived (some that I am very surprised by) but your words Dr. Jennings and what you are teaching in your lessons has been such a blessing because it's exactly what the Lord revealed to me when He gave me peace, and I believe that God has blessed you with a brilliant mind to do the research and speak TRUTH and to do it BOLDLY for Him!!!

11 years ago I know that the Lord unveiled my eyes to how the enemy really works.

On April 28, 2010 my family faced a horrible tragedy known as the "Craigslist murder" in Edgewood, Washington where 4 people came into our home terrorized, zipped tied us and held a gun to the back of my head with a countdown on it ! That night ended tragically in them shooting my husband 3 times in front of our 2 boys and killing him.

The 3 of us were spared for some reason to where they probably should have just killed us all because we were witnesses. But I believe God put His hand over us that night for He had plans for us and that was to glorify Him just as Genesis 50:20 says "What man meant for evil, God meant for good"

My husband Jim Sanders was a Christian man and the love of my life when he was taken in that horrific way with our 10- and 14-year-old boys suffering through that tragic night!!

And so, there with my husband lying on the floor gasping for his last breath and my hand on the doorknob waiting for the ambulance…. I looked up and I said these words that I will never forget. … "God if I believe in your Holy Word I have to believe it here and now and to TRUST YOU"

So, in all the hysteria of the tragic loss of my husband, we then had to go through 4 separate murder trials….and then repeat one of those trials 4 years later totaling 5 murder trials of getting raked over the coals by the murderers' defense attorneys!

But through all that, I felt like God showed me what evil really looked like and supernaturally through Him I was able to separate the evil act from the person and look at them as God "created" these 4 people that did this "evil act" and I knew that I was to pray that they would come to know Christ so that it would not destroy me and also knowing that if we are to be forgiven by Christ we too have to forgive as well.

Two days before my husband's death we were having a Bible study in our home and a gal asked a question… Can murderers go to heaven? And my husband's response was "yes murderers can go to heaven if they turn their life over to Christ."

Two days later he died on the floor only 5 ft. from where he made that statement! I don't think that was by accident that that happened in that way; it was almost like a preparation for what was to come and that I was to continue to carry on the Lord's mission laid out for us.

For like myself, Jim so passionately wanted to see people come to Christ and I have lived that out since that terrible day knowing that there's evil in this world and that my discerning spirit now being highly sensitive to the devil's attacks since 4-28-2010 has made me so much more aware of his deceitful ways that I WON'T let the devil win or take me down!!

Dr. Jennings you are right, WE have to "stand firm in our faith"

I believe God has primed me for these days right now. And I am even more convinced because on September 2, 2021 my sister-in-law (56 yrs old) who was a very strong Christian passed away from Covid because she did not get the correct treatment in the hospital like ivermectin, etc. and just like everything you've talked about we do have a cure but they aren't spending time on "the curing people" (because the government does not care).
They just want everybody to get vaccinated, which is such the work of Satan!

My sister-in-law passed away on her oldest son's birthday and it has been very frustrating to lose her in this way and tragically for the family we all now have to live without her! She has been taken out of this turbulent world but we remain here. Therefore I know that God has a purpose and a plan for us to stand firm in our faith and be BOLD for HIM.

Dr. Jennings I wanted to share a little bit of my story because I know you truly are one that really gets it and what is REALLY going on here and "who" is behind it!

So in closing I want to share with you how I became a listener of yours. It was the video you did on homosexuality and Christianity! My son (that was 10 years old at the time of our tragedy) told me after he graduated from High School that he was gay… It definitely was a shock! He is now 22 and a Christian (raised from birth [to love Jesus]); it has saddened me because he has been in torment at times because of how some Christians have made him feel because of the way he feels he was created and who he is.

Your video was such a HUGE blessing!! My son had been researching on his own just to make himself feel better about everything (since he felt like he wasn't accepted by Christians) Well we listened to your video and it was "life-changing" and definitely brought tears to both of our eyes.
It helped us to understand the biological part of the creation (I've watched your video 7 times) I especially love how you ended the video by saying to Christians: "If you still do not believe or even look at the possibilities in how they were created then you still have to look at Christ's love and that is the most important thing! For if we don't show Christ's love how are we ever going to draw anybody to Him?"

And in these times, I so agree with you that from day one of this whole Covid thing….
Christians (some) NEED TO WAKE UP!!

I know this is an extremely long email and if you made it through all of it I thank you for taking the time…MANY blessings to you and all those that make your ministry possible!

-In Christ-

Thoughts about this email?

- Do you think she has experienced evil in her life?
- Do you recognize the power of God's methods of truth, love, freedom that helped her overcome the assault of evil? She didn't become bitter, she didn't hate, she didn't seek to retaliate—she forgave and prayed for the salvation of those who murdered her husband.
- Do you think she is right to recognize how fear is infecting Christianity and how so many are being manipulated by fear?
- Fear is an intruder, it is part of sin, and we cannot overcome fear by might, power, threat, rules, legislation, coercion, control, forced obedience, destruction of those who don't go along with our thinking. What is the only way to overcome fear? Love—perfect love casts out all fear. And where do we find love? Will we find perfect love in any resource of this world? In any human government? In the Christianity of imposed law? No, we find perfect love only in Jesus and in returning to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water. It is returning to Creator worship, whose laws are design laws. We cannot win the war by legislation, mandates, rules, executive orders—"for though we live in the world we do not wage war as the world does…"

SABBATH

The lesson states,

> "Moses gives them a history lesson, a theme that is repeated all through the Bible: remember what the Lord has done for you in the past.
>
> "This admonition should mean something to us, we who are on the borders of a better Promised Land; 'In reviewing our past history, having traveled over every step of advance to our present standing…I am filled with astonishment, and with confidence in Christ as leader. We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord as led us, and His teaching in our past history.' –E.G. White Life Sketches, p. 196."

What a perfect quote for the day in which we are living. How many people do you know that are afraid of the future? Do we need to fear the future? Why not?

What does the future hold for those who are faithful? It will hold trials, it will hold difficulties, it will hold temptation—why?

- Because Satan hates Jesus and attacks those Jesus loves

- Because events will unfold in such a way that every single person will decide for or against Jesus in the law and methods they apply to their own lives in how they treat others. Do we love the Lord and our neighbor so that we present truth in love and leave free, or are we dominated with fear so much that we join with the beastly governments of the world to coerce and compel others in order to protect ourselves?
- In doing this every person will reveal one of two characters; every person will be sealed or marked into one of two characters.
- This is happening right now

We have nothing to fear for the future except we forget how the Lord has led us in the past. How has the Lord led you in the past?

Come and Reason started out as a weekly Bible study class, but the message of God's character of love and His design laws was rejected by some in church leadership who prefer the dictator god and the imposed law view.

We had our class canceled; we were banned from the local church facility and college properties; we had letters, emails and videos made about us that misrepresented us. We were tempted with emotions of hurt, frustration, anger which tempted us to retaliate, to hit back, to go to war against the local leaders. But, instead we prayed and asked God to take away our hurt and anger and we prayed for the people who were mistreating us. It wasn't instant, but our feelings changed, we established Come and Reason Ministries as a not-for-profit organization and began producing materials to give away and share this message. And God has blessed us over the last 11 years. Doors have opened, we have distributed materials all over the world, we have hubs in South Africa and Australia sharing these resources, many speaking opportunities have opened, we have many new friends, people who pray for us, others who donate, others who share our resources and this message continues to advance.

There is a lesson—when faced with adversity, when mistreated, when lied about, when the feelings of injustice, anger, resentment, desire to lash back arise, it is then we must go to Jesus and ask Him to fill our hearts with love for our enemies, to pray for those who would mistreat us. For it is in times of adversity that several critical things happen:

1. God is able to reveal His methods most powerfully and reach people who would not otherwise be reached (Daniel and the lion's den; the fiery furnace; stoning of Stephen; martyrs in the arena of Rome and the Reformers etc.)
2. Our faith is exercised and strengthened as we choose in governance of self to do what is right and trust God with how things turn out
3. Our characters are solidified into godliness by choosing to embrace and apply God's laws and methods or our characters are solidified into the satanic by choosing to embrace and apply Satan's laws and methods.

SUNDAY

The lesson points our attention to Exodus 32:31-32 right after the Israelites have made a golden calf and God threatens to destroy them and start over with Moses, that Moses asks God to forgive them or blot his name out of the book.

Read second paragraph, "Even though Moses…" What does it mean that to forgive means to bear the sin? Is this a legal process being described, or is it something else?

Read the next two paragraphs, "Thus we have, early…" How do you hear this? Through what law lens?

If we read this through the human law lens, then what is often described? That sin is a legal problem and God, in order to be just, must inflict punishment for sin that would not otherwise occur, but God loves us so sent Jesus and put all the sins of every person upon Jesus and punished Jesus in our place to pay the legal requirements of inflicted punishment for sin.

But, if we understand God's law as design law, how do we understand what is transpiring?

Sin takes a person out of harmony with the law that God built life to operate upon. Adam did this to humanity and all of us are born in sin, conceived in iniquity (Ps 51:5). Thus we are born "dead in trespass and sin" or have a terminal sin-condition. We are not born legally guilty, we are born terminal. God, sent Jesus to become sin, though He knew no sin, so that we might become the righteousness of God (2Cor 5:21). This is substitution—that Jesus becomes the second Adam, takes upon Himself our sinful condition, the terminal state and as a human being is tempted in all ways like us, but instead of succumbing to fear and selfishness eradicates fear and selfishness by loving perfectly and restoring God's law of life back into the species human. Thus He becomes the new head of humanity, the second Adam.

God's law is vindicated; God's character is vindicated; and God's design protocols for life are restored into the species human. God can but just and the justifier of Him who trusts in Jesus.

I was reading yesterday in the book The Great Controversy the chapter The Origin of Sin—if you haven't read that chapter in a while, I highly recommend it, very powerful. Here is a section from that chapter:

> The same spirit that prompted rebellion in heaven still inspires rebellion on earth. Satan has continued with men the same policy which he pursued with the angels. His spirit now reigns in the children of disobedience. Like him they seek to break down the restraints of the law of God and promise men liberty through transgression of its precepts. [God's law is design law—how does Satan seek to break down God's design law? With the same methods he used in heaven, which was? Lies believed break the circle of love and trust resulting in FEAR and selfishness, which results in imposed rules or laws to control others. Thus, he breaks down God's law by the imposition of law! Do we see this today? Those who operate at level four and below moral development, are the people to follow rules, to seek to be obedient, who think sin is a legal problem, and who will seek to comply with laws. When government passes laws they will enforce them. Level five and above moral development, which only about 25-30% of people achieve, love others and will live out God's design laws, but end up being persecuted by the level fours and below.] Reproof of sin still arouses the spirit of hatred and resistance. [Reproof of the transgression of God's design law, i.e. reproof of the lies, of the censoring, the coercion, the mandates, the imposed rules to coerce consciences results in hatred and resistance] When God's messages of warning are brought home to the conscience, Satan leads men to justify themselves and to seek the sympathy of others in their course of sin. Instead of correcting their errors, they excite indignation against the reprover, as if he were the sole cause of difficulty. From the days of righteous Abel to our own time such is the spirit which has been displayed toward those who dare to condemn sin. GC 500.1 [And sure enough those who stand for liberty of conscience today are accused as being the cause of the difficulties in the world]

By the same misrepresentation of the character of God as he had practiced in heaven, causing Him to be regarded as severe and tyrannical, Satan induced man to sin. And having succeeded thus far, he declared that God's unjust restrictions had led to man's fall, as they had led to his own rebellion… GC 500.2 [He misrepresents God as a rule-giver and inflictor of punishment for sin thus causing men to distrust God and rebel.]

In the atonement the character of God is revealed. The mighty argument of the cross demonstrates to the whole universe that the course of sin which Lucifer had chosen was in no wise chargeable upon the government of God… GC 500.4

It was Satan that prompted the world's rejection of Christ. The prince of evil exerted all his power and cunning to destroy Jesus; for he saw that the Saviour's mercy and love, His compassion and pitying tenderness, were representing to the world the character of God… [What won the day for Jesus? Living out God's law of truth, love and liberty while being assaulted with every evil attack Satan could bring. And in this time in human history, Christ's followers are to be His representatives, His lights in a dark world, to reveal His character to bring glory to Him—by doing what? Will it be that we will be assaulted with every evil power Satan can wield, lies, accusations, coercion, force, violence, financial threat and ruin, homelessness like Elijah, and how to we reveal God's kingdom? Isn't it by clinging to Jesus, by loving our enemies, praying for those who spitefully use us, by refusing the methods of violence, coercion, control, intimidation, by living out truth, love and liberty?]

The penalty of the law fell upon Him who was equal with God, and man was free to accept the righteousness of Christ and by a life of penitence and humiliation to triumph, as the Son of God had triumphed, over the power of Satan. Thus God is just and yet the justifier of all who believe in Jesus. GC 502.3 [What do you hear? What law lens? The penalty of the law fell upon Jesus, not the punishment of God. What is the penalty of the law? Why did it fall upon Jesus? Jesus who knew no sin took our sin condition upon Himself, was tempted in every way just like we are yet without sin. He felt the temptation of the fallen nature to act in self-interest. But with every temptation He overcame by love and trust in His Father. "Father into your hands I commend my spirit." And man was free to accept what? A legal payment? No! Man was free to accept the righteousness of Christ—meaning Christ developed a perfect sinless righteous human character and we are free to accept this into our hearts and be reborn and then live a life of penitence and humiliation—meaning selfless love, not self-exaltation. And we triumph over sin and Satan as Christ did, by love and trust in the face of injustice.]

How do we understand what was happening when Moses pled with God not to destroy Israel?

We must remember the context—which is the Great Controversy. At this point in human history, not all the angels in heaven were settled, some still had sympathy for Lucifer, Satan was still trying to win the heavenly beings to his side, but Satan was also working to try and destroy the avenue through whom the Messiah would come. This is the landscape upon which the events in Exodus are taking place.

Does God have foreknowledge? Yes—did God know that Moses would plead with Him as he did? Yes, and did God know that He would not actually destroy the people? Yes, of course He did. Then, this is not about God being angry, wrathful, frustrated, impatient, and fortunately He had a friend in Moses who loved the people and had more patience than God and could intercede with God to talk God down from His anger. This idea is offensive, corrupt, vile and is Satan's version of events because it misrepresents God and sadly is the most common version taught in Christianity.

But the truth is that God was never about to kill the people and didn't need to have Moses plead with Him, but instead took this opportunity to demonstrate what happens in hearts and minds of sinners, of murderers, who spend time with God. Moses, the murderer of the overseer, the fearful person who ran away to protect himself, after time with God had been transformed, reborn, recreated, renewed with God's law of love written in his heart. And when God Himself offers to exalt Moses and start over with Moses' family, Moses instead of embracing the exaltation, offers to sacrifice himself to save others.

Can't you see God turn to the angels in heaven and say, "I told you, my methods work. Those who trust me are restored fully to my methods of love."

This is what is truly happening in the plan of salvation!

MONDAY

In Sabbath's lesson we are reminded of the importance of not forgetting history, of not forgetting God, of not forgetting how God has led us in the past.

What are some of the ways that people today have forgotten God?

Read first paragraph, "Despite some of the error…" What are some of the ways that people today have forgotten God?

- godlessness, evolutionism
- false god concepts—a dictator god
- taking eyes off God and focusing on the problems of the world, bills, climate change, fires, floods, hurricanes, pandemics…
- busyness in good causes so we don't take time with God
- others?

The lesson asks what happened at Kadesh Barnea and what is the lesson? The Bible records real people, real history, doing real stuff, but the reason these events are chosen is because they reveal the plan of salvation being worked out and often serve as object lessons to the larger reality.

- The people had been held in captivity in Egypt—this represents being captives in sin and surrounded by a pagan and/or godless worldview. This represents the entire plan of salvation, humans bound in the slavery of sin and God leading us out. But it also represents the people of God in the Dark Ages. The Hebrews were God's chosen people to evangelize the world, but had become slaves in Egypt. The church became God's chosen people to evangelize the world, but the church became infected with pagan views of God just as Egypt was pagan and thus the Christian world was enslaved to a false god-construct and the imperial methods of the world. God worked to lead the people out of Egypt, so too God led the Reformers to lead the minds of people out of the pagan views of God that infect the church.
- God led the Israelites to Sinai where He gave the people the law and the tabernacle. This represents leading the Reformers back to the truth of God's law as design law, and the Sanctuary message of cleansing the Spirit Temple to prepare the people of God to be at-one with Him, to tabernacle with Him in His presence, i.e. to enter the Promised Land.
- After the law and tabernacle were given, God led the people directly toward the Promised Land. After God led the Reformers to return to God's law, reject pagan views, and embrace the cleansing of the sanctuary message God led the people to prepare to enter the heavenly Canaan.
- As God led the people from Sinai toward the Promised Land, the terrain became more difficult and the people, primarily from the mixed multitude, began to complain. As God led the Reformers who were preparing for the second coming of Christ, toward the heavenly Promised Land, difficulties arose, and among those who clung to the pagan view of God's law opposition entered into the camp; those who clung to imposed law were not pleased with the direction in which the message was going.
- While God was feeding the people the bread of heaven, the disgruntled people began to clamor for the fleshpots of Egypt, so too while God has provided truths from heaven to feed our souls, the disgruntled Christians have clamored for the laws, methods, and practices of the world. Many have rejected the message for this time of God's design law and have clung to the wine of Babylon, the lie that God's law functions like human law, and thus have developed a form of godliness with no power.
- God gave them the meat that they demanded and they ate the quail until they were sick and many died. So too, when we reject God's design laws and embrace the methods, principles and practices of the world God lets us have what we insist upon and people become more legal, more rules-oriented, more coercive, more controlling and the people get sick, characters become corrupt and millions die. We see this happening right now and sadly millions/billions of Christians and Christian organizations are embracing the beastly methods the church is sick and many are spiritually dying.

- God brought the Israelites to the border of the Promised Land, and God has brought us to the border of heaven. But the report of ten of the spies focused on threats rather than on God and His promises, and fear took hold in the hearts of the people. As the Advent Reformers were advancing the truth, presenting the message of righteousness by faith that would prepare the people to enter the heavenly Promised Land, Satan's agents in the church diverted the minds away from God's promise to heal and restore to the lie of imposed law and legal declarations. And today the focus is on the threats from the world, rather than the promises of God and fear is paralyzing the church and God's people.
- Caleb and Joshua voiced the true message, but the ten unfaithful spies denounced them. In our own history, Jones and Waggoner voiced the true message of righteousness by faith, pointing to God's design law and healing of heart and mind. But they were denounced by the legal adherents. And today we have been pronouncing God's methods of truth, love, liberty and have been denounced by those who want to use government to mandate, coerce, compel and force.
- Then Korah, one of the Levites, led a rebellion against Moses and God's plan to lead the people into the Promised Land. Likewise, the penal legal adherents in the church led a rebellion against the righteousness by faith message and the church has been wandering in the wilderness.

Consider this quote from EG White regarding the events of the 1888 GC:

> "When I purposed to leave Minneapolis, the angel of the Lord stood by me and said: "Not so; God has a work for you to do in this place. The people are acting over the rebellion of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. [What did these three do at the border of Canaan? What were the people doing in 1888?] I have placed you in your proper position, which those who are not in the light will not acknowledge; they will not heed your testimony; but I will be with you; My grace and power shall sustain you. [What was the message? Actual healing of hearts and minds, righteousness by faith as 2Cor 5:21 teaches, but it was rejected for the penal legal lie of declared righteousness even though we are not righteous] It is not you they are despising, but the messengers and the message I send to My people. [The messengers were Jones and Waggoner and the message was healing of hearts and minds, real righteousness by faith.] They have shown contempt for the word of the Lord. Satan has blinded their eyes and perverted their judgment; and unless every soul shall repent of this their sin, this unsanctified independence that is doing insult to the Spirit of God, they will walk in darkness. I will remove the candlestick out of his place except they repent and be converted, that I should heal them. [What is described? They reject truth and their minds become darkened, and unless they repent, meaning reject the lies and embrace the truth, they cannot be healed. But if they would God would heal them. It is about healing, not legal forgiveness.] They have obscured their spiritual eyesight. They would not that God should manifest His Spirit and His power; for they have a spirit of mockery and disgust at My word. Lightness, trifling, jesting and joking are daily > practiced. They have not set their hearts to seek Me. They walk in the sparks of their own kindling, and unless they repent, they shall lie down in sorrow. Thus saith the Lord: "Stand at your post of duty; for I am with thee, and will not leave thee nor forsake thee." These words from God I have not dared to disregard."–Letter 2a, 1892, pp. 4, 5. (To "Dear Nephew and Niece, Frank (F.E.) and Hattie," Nov. 5, 1892.) {3MR 191.2}

The leadership of the SDA church at the 1888 GC took the position of Korah and rebelled against God and have led the church into the wilderness of penal legal theology, from which the church has still not recovered.

So, when Israel was about to enter the Promised Land—what did Satan do to interfere with God's plan, to get them to balk, to get them to stop, to get them to resist God, to get them to rebel?

- Fear messaging
- Worldly living—long for the comforts of this world
- Inspire leaders who value Satan's methods
- Seek temporal safety over trusting God and being loyal to Him

Do we see this today?

Consider this quote:

> The greatest want of the world is the want of men—men who will not be bought or sold, [do you see how Satan attacks? How many are feeling the pressure to compromise their consciences, their beliefs, their principles for a gift card, ability to travel, to keep their job?] men who in their inmost souls are true and honest, [How many of our leaders, whether in government or in our own church are willing to respect the conscientious choices of others, or who are willing to use pressure, coercion, threat to advance what they believe is right? Is this honest and true or is it a deceit?] men who do not fear to call sin by its right name, [It is sin to violate God's laws, including the law of love and the law of liberty. Whenever we engage in practices that coerce or compel or pressure the consciences of others we are sinning against God and our fellow human beings.] men whose conscience is as true to duty as the needle to the pole, men who will stand for the right though the heavens fall. Ed 57.3 [True to duty, what duty? Isn't it true to God, to live out His methods, to reveal His character, to have His law be the supreme standard of conduct in how we treat others? How do we become such people?]
> But such a character is not the result of accident; [It is not a genetic happenstance, an accident of birth, biologically randomly determined. Character cannot be created it must be developed.] it is not due to special favors or endowments of Providence. [Such a noble character is not the result of God playing favorites, God does not choose to magically endow some with mature and strong character and others with feckless wavering character. No, each person develops their own by the choices they make when faced with temptation. Our characters are not developed in the good times, but it is in the furnace, in the heat of spiritual battle, when the hammer blows of our enemy falls upon us and we lean into Jesus, we choose to resist the pull of fear, reject the actions of selfishness, say no to the survival drives. It is when we love instead > of hate, forgive instead of harbor resentment, it is when we live the truth and leave others free rather than seeking to compel others that we develop a noble character. Or, instead we can choose the fear, choose to act in self-interest, choose to advance a cause to force others to comply—for their own good of course—but in so doing we develop a different character.] A noble character is the result of self-discipline, of the subjection of the lower to the higher nature—the surrender of self for the service of love to God and man. Ed 57.4 [Each one of us right now in this COVID crisis is deciding who we will trust, what methods we will practice in how we treat others, and what character we will develop.]

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention upon God's organization of the people and that God is a God of order, not disorder. In the last paragraph it reads, "Though we sometimes hear people rail against 'organized' religion (what would they prefer, 'disorganized' religion instead?), the Word of God, especially the New Testament, acknowledges no other kind but an organized one."

When people rail against organized religion what is it they are really railing against?

They are railing against the valuing of the organization over the people:

- It is better for one man to die than the nation, as Caiaphas argued regarding the crucifixion of Jesus
- The cover up of child molesting priests or pastors to protect the organization
- The disfellowshipping of people who question orthodox views
- The practice of rule enforcement over loving of people

Oswald Chambers recognized this problem:

> Reconciliation means the restoring of the relationship between the entire human race and God, putting it back to what God designed it to be. This is what Jesus Christ did in redemption. The church ceases to be spiritual when it becomes self-seeking, only interested in the development of its own organization. The reconciliation of the human race according to His plan means realizing Him not only in our lives individually, but also in our lives collectively. Jesus Christ sent apostles and teachers for this very purpose—that the corporate Person of Christ and His church, made up of many members, might be brought into being and made known. We are not here to develop a spiritual life of our own, or to enjoy a quiet spiritual retreat. We are here to have the full realization of Jesus Christ, for the purpose of building His body. ("The Spiritually Self-Seeking Church," My Utmost for His Highest.)

In my experience, people never rail against helping other people, they rail against rule enforcement that smacks of institutional protection at the expense of the people.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses again on Moses pleading with God not to destroy the people and emphasizes the argument of Moses that God's reputation would be injured after leading the people out of Egypt if He should kill them in the wilderness.

The lesson notes "the idea that God is to be glorified in His people."

What does this mean? How is God glorified in His people?

Is this a message for us today?

> Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. He said in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water." (Re 14:6–7 NIV84).

What does this mean? How would you explain this to someone today?

- What is the eternal gospel?
- What does it mean to fear God?
- What is the significance of "the hour of his judgment?"
- What is the call to worship about?

So, how do we glorify God?

THURSDAY

Read the first three paragraphs, "In Deuteronomy 2…" How do you explain the instructions to kill everyone, men, women, and children?

What would you have done had you been there?

Do you think God would have been angry if a person had such a tender heart that they didn't want to kill another, but like Moses would give their life for the wicked?

What happens in the hearts and minds of people when they kill another human being? Does it make for greater psychological health? Does it bring greater sense of peace? Do those who kill others typically become more gentle? Or do they become hardened, more callous?

Why would God instruct them to do this then?

Didn't God kill the first born of Egypt? Didn't at a later time an angel kill 180,000 Assyrians? Didn't God still have the ability to do this, kill them Himself? Then why did God have the people do it?

Was it God's first plan?

> I will send my terror ahead of you and throw into confusion every nation you encounter. I will make all your enemies turn their backs and run. 28 I will send the hornet ahead of you to drive the Hivites, Canaanites and Hittites out of your way. 29 But I will not drive them out in a single year, because the land would become desolate and the wild animals too numerous for you. 30 Little by little I will drive them out before you, until you have increased enough to take possession of the land. (Ex 23:27–30).

So this was God's plan—what happened to this plan? The people didn't go along with it.

Why instruct to kill everyone then? What does God want, maximum killing or minimum killing? Maximum PTSD or minimum PTSD?

So from God's perspective, if they insist on fighting, what course results in the least amount of people killed in war, and the least amount of people participating in the violence? By getting it over in one generation, wiping them all out, so that there isn't perpetual generational war for thousands of years. But, they disobeyed on this as well and there has been perpetual war in the Middle East with essentially every generation scarred by it.

FRIDAY

Read Friday's lesson, "As Creator…" What is the problem here? FOTAP—the Fallacy of the Assumed Premise.

What is the assumed premise? That God's law functions like human law, and therefore God can arbitrarily do anything.

God is Creator and God is Sovereign but God cannot do anything—what can God not do and remain the God Jesus has revealed Him to be? God cannot coerce, compel, or force the conscience. Why? Because it is a violation of His law of liberty, and love only exists in freedom.

So God's sovereignty is revealed in sustaining His laws that govern reality and these laws are design laws, not imposed rules.

The idea of judgment is presented as imperial, punitive, imposed, judicial, which is based on the lie that God's law functions like human law.

Several problems here, even in their model. First, the judgment is a future event yet they have God punishing sin before the judgment. Second, the punishment for sin is eternal death, not sleep death, and all of these people died the first death and will arise again at the end of the 1000 years to face judgment. So, in their own false legal view their conclusions are contradictory and create confusion.

We agree that God's elimination of these people was part of God's actions to keep open the avenue for the Messiah. This is the real issue, so His actions had nothing to do with punishing sin, but His judgment here was the judgment of a physician judging the people as necrotic and needed to excise the necrosis to bring about the cure.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

AACC Report: The American Association of Christian Counselors World Conference was held in Orlando Florida—over 6000 in attendance, people from all 50 states and multiple countries. It was wonderful to be together again with believers and friends. Less than 5% of people wore masks during the event.

Our ministry gave away over 10,000 items:

- Could It Be This Simple?
- The Remedy New Testament
- The Remedy Psalms
- God Is Love Children's Book
- The Meditation Guide
- Tracts

We had incredible positive responses from people, stories of lives being changed from using our resources and applying God's design law methods. One man told of an addiction recovery program his ministry runs and four years ago he listened to one of my programs, then went to our booth and got our materials and started using our materials in their recovery program and over the last four years, he reported, that they have had a three-to-four-fold increase in the number of their patients remaining sober.

Pray that God will use the resources we distributed to heal more hearts and minds for His kingdom.

Come and Reason Property update: A production consultant has examined the property and we are now working on getting contractors to give us a bid.

It is not our way to do fundraisers and we will not do a fundraiser or send out donation requests, however, several people have recently approached us and asked if our ministry has any needs and recommended that we make our vision and plan to have our own facility public so that anyone who want to support us in this endeavor can do so.

2021 Q4 Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 3: The Everlasting Covenant

by Linda Ojala

SABBATH

Covenants today:

My mother lives in a subdivision that has covenants. For those of you who are not familiar with this type of covenant, it is a lengthy list of items you can and cannot do if you are going to live there….what you can have in your yard, what type of animals you can have, what type of changes you can make to your house, or the size of the house you build….and on and on. Why would anyone want to live where there are so many rules, you ask?

Mostly, people who agree to this list want to maintain their house's value and live among other people who share this outlook. They are willing to agree with each other to accomplish this purpose….retain and enhance value.

5 years ago, when my father needed a ramp, we elected to put it inside the garage, which was big enough to accommodate a ramp. It has been a real lifesaver! Why didn't we put it outside the house? Mainly, we didn't want to have to get permission from the leadership of the subdivision to make changes to the outside of the house. But also we didn't want to advertize that disabled people live there that they might be a helpless target for criminals, so that the ramp would not have to undergo degradation due to weather, and so we wouldn't have to be in bad weather while getting into and out of the car.

A covenant is a very valuable tool. We agreed, we promised. We kept our covenant promise.

What happens if we break that promise? Consequences! In a subdivision, fines and poor relationships with your neighbors who know we signed the covenant agreement and are now breaking it, which lowers the value of their houses. They don't want to live with our mess.

My husband and I live out in the country where no covenants are in place. Guess what? Neighbors can do anything they like to their property and behave any way they like. So, where there was once neighboring woods now holds a house with a yard full of trash and toys. If our neighbors want to shoot their guns, they do. My sister and her husband built a home in the country, only to have industrial chicken coops built just down the road.

A covenant is very valuable.

Marriage is a covenant, when we make promises to another person that we plan to keep, but these days, often don't. Why is it so easy to break our promises?

God considers Himself our husband and we believers are His bride. We look down at the Israelites and think to ourselves that we wouldn't turn away from Him like they did, we wouldn't complain about everything like they did, we wouldn't worship anything else like they did. But is that true? Are there ways we do that very thing….are we too busy, are we focusing on and complaining about the behavior of the "others", and are we spending much more time with entertainment, politics, business or hobbies, etc. than we spend with God? Just keep track of how you spend your time for a week, and you will have your answer.

Today, let's take a real look at our covenant with God. As Elijah asked on Mount Carmel, "How long will you waver between two opinions? If the Lord is God, follow Him; but if Baal (or anything else that has your primary attention) is God, follow him!"

How can you be commanded to love someone you can't see, hear or touch? Does this bring out the rebel in you?

How can we love and trust someone we cannot see, hear or touch…an invisible being? Ideas?

- Letters that share the thoughts and feelings, questions and concerns
- Stories other people share about what that being has done for them
- Seeing a requested response actually occur (God helps with not only big problems, but gives you "flowers")
- Experiencing healing changes in your mind and heart, and at times your body

Psalms 34:8-9, 12-15: "Taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the one who takes refuge in him. Fear the Lord, you his holy people, for those who fear him lack no good thing….whoever of you loves life and desires to see many good days, keep your tongue from evil and your lips from telling lies. Turn from evil and do good; seek peace and pursue it. The eyes of the Lord are on the righteous, and his ears are attentive to their cry;"

It's harder for some to love and trust God because they have been hurt and betrayed by people here on earth that promised to love and protect them, or gave birth to them. God has to find a way past all of that hurt, anger and distrust, though He had nothing to do with causing it.

To me, one of the most poignant texts in the Bible is Isaiah 65:1,2, where God says: "I revealed myself to those who did not ask for me. I was found by those who did not seek me. To a nation that did not call on my name, I said, 'Here am I, here am I.' All day long I have held out my hands to an obstinate people, who walk in ways not good, pursuing their own imaginations'."

Hosea 11 describes God's perspective on His relationship with His people Israel, "When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called my son. But the more they were called, the more they went away from me….It was I who taught Ephraim to walk, taking them by the arms, but they did not realize it was I who healed them. I led them with cords of human kindness, with ties of love. To them I was like one who lifts a little child to the cheek, and I bent down to feed them….My people are determined to turn from me. Even though they call me God Most High, I will by no means exalt them. How can I give you up, Ephraim? How can I hand you over, Israel?...My heart is changed within me; all my compassion is aroused. I will not carry out my fierce anger, nor will I devastate Ephraim again. For I am God, and not a man – the Holy One among you."

Covenant is mentioned 334 times in the Bible. It must be very important to God!

This week's memory text is: "'And I will establish My covenant between Me and you and your descendants after you in their generations, for an everlasting covenant, to be God to you and your descendants after you' " (Genesis 17:7, NKJV).

From the middle section of the first page: "God out of His saving grace and love offers you a salvation that you do not deserve and cannot possibly earn; and you, in response, love Him back "with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength" (Mark 12:30, NKJV), a love that is made manifest by obedience to His law: "For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments" (1 John 5:3, NKJV).

Do we not deserve to be saved? To be healed of our terminal condition of sin? Are we not God's children…even the bad ones? Did we choose to be born terminal? I would submit that God could do nothing less than what He did to accomplish our salvation, not only because he loves us that much, but because we do deserve to be healed, to have a chance to make a different decision than Adam and Eve did. We didn't ask for this. We can't be held accountable for what Adam and Eve did to our species.

We can be held accountable for not taking the medicine that Jesus died to produce. His character and love replacing the selfish thoughts and actions that we do even at the expense of others.

The Covenant with God IS how you take your medicine and become healed. He promises to be Your God, your Healer, your Savior. You promise to love and trust Him enough to open that door He is knocking on and let Him into your heart. There, He will make the changes inside that we are simply unable to do on our own. Christ IS our substitute; His life, like a transfusion, replaces ours, which He sacrificed His life to make possible. His human life was made perfect IN the sacrifice.

As a nurse, I find it interesting that the Bible uses the metaphor of "Blood". The DNA in our blood and how it is expressed holds the instruction manual for who we are, how we are different from others. Jesus' DNA was uniquely human and Godly. What an amazing swap He offers us! A transfusion of holiness! A complete removal of the virus of sin from our brain's computer!

John 17:25, 26: Jesus prayed for His disciples and for all of us when He said, "Righteous Father, though the world does not know you, I know you, and they know that you have sent me. I have made you known to them, and will continue to make you known in order that the love you have for me may be in them and that I myself may be in them."

SUNDAY

The Covenant and the Gospel

First Paragraph:

> All through the Bible, the covenant and the gospel appear together. Though the idea of covenant existed before the nation of Israel (for example, the Noahic covenant), and though the covenant promise was made before the nation of Israel existed, it was expressed prominently through God's interaction with His people, starting with their fathers, the patriarchs. And even from the start, the central truth of the covenant was the gospel: salvation by faith alone.

From the second half of the page:

> Abraham believed God, believed in God's promises to him, and thus he was justified before God. Abraham sought to uphold his end of the covenant by obedience (basically, doing what God told him to do), such as seen in Genesis 22, when he showed the whole watching universe that he totally trusted God by being willing to sacrifice his son Isaac at Mount Moriah. "His faith is accounted for righteousness" (Rom. 4:5, NKJV).

That's why, Paul would use Abraham as the example of what it means to live by the covenant promises God had made with His people. This theme echoes throughout the Bible. Paul brought it up another time in Galatians 3:6, where he again quotes Genesis 15:6, about Abraham's faith being "accounted . . . to him for righteousness" (NKJV), and he refers back to the promise first made to Abram about all nations being blessed in his seed (Gal. 3:8, 9).

The covenant promises are made to all, Jew and Gentile, who "are of faith" (Gal. 3:7) so they are justified by faith without the deeds of the law, however much they are obligated, because of the covenant, to obey the law. I found this confusing.

Our favorite question: What law lens are we looking through? God's laws are the foundation of life and breaking them takes life away. Much like staying underwater longer than you have air causes death unless you come up for more air. Breaking God's law of respiration causes death.

How does faith and law work, if we are saved by faith alone? By opening up our hearts to take in all that Christ gives us, including a desire to keep the law.

When Jeremiah talks about the new covenant, he does so in the context of the law: " 'But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord: I will put My law in their minds, and write it on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people' " (Jer. 31:33, NKJV), reflecting language that goes back to the book of Leviticus: "I will walk among you and be your God, and you shall be My people" (Lev. 26:12, NKJ

In today's society, "saved by grace" has come to mean, that if you say you believe in Christ, you are saved. But according to Jesus' brother, James 2:18, 19. "But someone will say, 'You have faith; I have deeds.' Show me your faith without deeds, and I will show you my faith by my deeds. You believe that there is one God. Good? Even the demons believe that…and shudder!'"

And looking toward the very end of time, which is where I believe we are, Revelation 14:12 says, "This calls for patient endurance on the part of the people of God who keep his commands and remain faithful to Jesus.

Even when you look at how the Bible says the good and bad people are separated, in Matthew 25: 31-46, it is the actions of help and love toward our fellowman that enable us to be saved (we have the compassionate heart of God living in us). The second death has no power over those who rise in the first resurrection. Ignoring the needs of our fellow man shows we do not have the love of God in our hearts or love others as we love ourselves, and results in eternal loss of life, the second death. Revelation 20:6, 15.

MONDAY
The Covenant and Israel

I really like this: " 'It is not because of your righteousness or the uprightness of your heart that you go in to possess their land, but because of the wickedness of these nations that the Lord your God drives them out from before you, and that He may fulfill the word which the Lord swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob' " (Deut. 9:5, NKJV; see also Deut. 9:27).

Here the covenant of grace appears: God worked for them— despite the constant mistakes. When they begged for a king, God warned them that a king would take all of the best stuff from them, but they still wanted a king. What did God do? He helped them find one. He valued a relationship with them, even when they were wrong, and insulting to God's ability to be their leader.

How do the covenant promises work?

- Exodus 2:23-25 says that God hears his people, remembers his promise/covenant and was concerned about them.
- Exodus 6:2-8 details His promises, made with "an uplifted hand" with his identity "I am the Lord."
- Leviticus 26:40-46 says God will remember His covenant when their "uncircumcised hearts" are humbled.

The last two paragraphs reflect this:

> The exodus from Egypt, the great symbol of God's saving grace, also was based on the covenant the Lord had made to their fathers. That is, even before the beneficiaries of the covenant were born, the promises were made in their behalf. Through no merit of their own, they received the promised deliverance, which God did for them through the miracles and > events of the Exodus. They went from Egypt to Sinai, where the covenant with them was "officially" established (see Exodus 20). Central to that covenant was gospel and the law, the Ten Commandments, which they were called upon to obey, a manifestation of their saving relationship with the Lord, who already had redeemed them (the gospel). Hence, again and again in Deuteronomy, they were called to obey that law as their part of the covenant, which had been ratified at Sinai.

We don't earn salvation by law. God's law describes life itself, it protects and promotes life. Jesus saves us, but the law connects us to him and to others.

We were created for life, but we deviated from the plan and found ourselves alone, separated.
The law is the pathway God gave us to return to life.

How does the law connect us? Any ideas?

- Opening up to the flow of God's life through us, we become part of the river of life again.
- Seeing even an enemy as beloved of God and in need of help, healing and salvation
- Allowing the river of life to flow out to others in good deeds, caring acts, self-sacrificing actions to reach out to the separated, hurting and lonely.
- Opening up even more to God to allow even more resources to flow through us to others

TUESDAY
The Book of the Covenant

In the Middle section, Deuteronomy 5:1–21, when Moses was trying to encourage the children of the Israelites that left Egypt, but would not go into the promised land, and ended up out in the desert for 40 years. Have faith in God this time, so that doesn't happen to you:

> Not long after the children of Israel were redeemed from Egypt, God established the covenant with them, at Sinai, just before they were supposed to enter the Promised Land. Then, after a 40-year detour, just before they are again to enter the Promised Land, which was a central part of the covenantal promise (see Gen. 12:7, Exod. 12:25), through the mouth of Moses, the Lord again gives them the Ten Commandments, a way to re-emphasize just how important it was for them to renew their covenant obligations, as well. The Lord was going to fulfill His covenantal promises to them. Now, they are obligated to uphold their end of the deal: " 'So He declared to you His covenant which He commanded you to perform, the Ten Commandments; and He wrote them on two tablets of stone' " (Deut. 4:13, NKJV).
>
> He did it at Sinai, and now He was doing it again, in Moab, just before they were to take the land promised to them through the promise made to the fathers centuries earlier, a manifestation of the "everlasting covenant" that preceded even the existence of the world. "Before the foundations of the earth were laid, the Father and the Son had united in a covenant to redeem man if he should be overcome by Satan. They had clasped Their hands in a solemn > pledge that Christ should become the surety for the human race."—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 834

> Deuteronomy 5:29 says, "Oh, that their hearts would be inclined to fear me and keep all my commands always, so that it might go well with them and their children forever."

What is difficult about the 10 commandments as listed in Exodus 20? The first 4 are how we show our love for our creator, and the last 6 are how we show our love for other people…by not hurting them in any way.

The only commandment people seem to have trouble remembering is the 4th commandment that ironically starts with "Remember" the Sabbath day to keep it holy…the seventh day (which we call Saturday in English, or Sabado in Spanish)….the day created by and commemorating our creator and His character of love, truth and freedom. He could have created the world in 6 days, then said, "Alright! You have seen my power! Kneel before me and be my slave always." But instead, he allowed us a day of freedom to consider the character of the One yielding the power.

This seventh-day period showed His genius because it cannot be owned, bought, or kept from anyone. We all pass through this glorious day once every week. We have the privilege of reconnecting with our Savior in an ever deeper way throughout our lives, and honoring Him as our God and creator!

But we may not understand what it means to "keep the Sabbath". In Luke 18:18-30, Jesus shed light on that in His discussion with the rich ruler, who asked him, "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus answered, "You know the commandments: 'You shall not commit adultery, you shall not murder, you shall not steal, you shall not give false testimony, honor your father and mother.' The ruler said, "All these I have kept since I was a boy,"

Jesus responded, "You still lack one thing. Sell everything you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come, follow me." The ruler was sad, because he amassed a lot of wealth which he did not want to part with. Jesus looked at him and said, "How hard it is for the rich to enter the kingdom of God!" People thought that if you were rich and healthy, you were blessed by God, so this came as quite a shock!

Jesus' answer shows that though the ruler THOUGHT he had kept the commandments all his life, he had not. He showed that he did not love God with all his heart because he wouldn't follow Him. He showed that he did not love others because he hoarded his good fortune instead of sharing it with others. If the shoe had been on the other foot, he would have wished a rich person would share some of his abundance with him.

Matthew 22:37-40, Jesus said, ""Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it. 'Love your neighbor as yourself,' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments."

Bearing that in mind, why do you think many Christian people today have such an aversion to keeping the law, and say that we are saved simply by what Jesus did for us? Especially when the saved deeds are pointed out in the Bible as well as knowing God?

- What kind of faith does nothing to heal you of your sin?
- Do we really want to go to heaven the way we are?
- Do we expect God will miraculously change everything about our characters and who we are when we arrive in heaven?

Matthew 7:21-23 What about these people?"

> Jesus said," Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only the one who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name and in your name drive out demons and in your name perform many miracles?' Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'"

WEDNESDAY
His Special People

In the first section, this information is reviewed:

> It's hard for us today to grasp much of what the ancient world was like at the time in which Israel was wandering the wilderness. If whole empires have come and gone, with only ruins (if that) remaining, what can we know of many of the smaller pagan nations that lived in the same area as Israel did? Not a whole lot, but we do know one thing: these people were steeped in paganism, polytheism, and some utterly degrading practices, which included child sacrifice. Try to imagine just how degrading and evil a culture and a religion would be that would do that to their own children, and do so in the name of some god! No wonder, again and again, all through the history of ancient Israel, the Lord had warned His people against following the practices of the nations around them. " 'When you come into the land which the Lord your God is giving you, you shall not learn to follow the abominations of those nations' " (Deut. 18:9, NKJV). And that's because God had called out this nation for a special purpose. By having entered into the covenant with God, they were to be a special people, a witness to the world of the God who created the heaven and the earth—the only God.

According to Deuteronomy 27:9-26 and Exodus 18:5-30, the people had sexual and behavioral practices that not only contaminated their minds and bodies, and sometimes their livestock, but "even the land was defiled."

We can tell this by the different instructions the Israelites were given when taking over a group of non-Israelites. Numbers 31 indicates they could take the spoils, and the virgin girls (after a purification process), but kill everyone else. I think we can gather that the adults had sexually transmitted diseases.

Other times they were told to destroy everything and take absolutely nothing from the town. Or they were to kill the people, but could keep the livestock. God was trying to limit the issues brought into the Israelite camp.

The bottom section asks us to consider the idea of "this day" committing to God and to His covenant requirements.

To put off decisions for God is to take our eternal life in our hands. The longer we go without Him, the further away we will be and the harder it will be to return to Him. Nothing is stagnant about this life….we are moving through space and time…and we don't get that back.

The philosophy I live by is, "Plan as if you are going to live forever, but live as though you are going to die today." We can talk about when the "end of time" will come, but truly for any of us, our end of time could be today. Satan tries to get us to procrastinate, and we are oh-so-good at that. I am. But it is a deadly mistake.

Looking at it from another perspective, the sooner we join forces with God, the sooner we experience all the benefits of healing, balance, maturity of character, depth of compassion and love, and connectedness to our creator and all people. All this and preparation for life in heaven, too!

THURSDAY
Other Images

In the bottom section, we look at this:

> "In Deuteronomy 4:20 and Deuteronomy 32:9, there is the idea of family, which, ideally, should be the closest, tightest, and most loving of bonds. God has always wanted this kind of relationship with His people. Even after their shameful rejection of Jesus during the time of the cross, Jesus said to the two Marys after He had been resurrected, 'Go and tell My brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see Me. " (Matt. 28:10, NKJV). Even as the resurrected Christ, He referred to the disciples as "My brethren," an example of love and the grace that flows from love for those who certainly didn't deserve it. That's essentially what the relationship between God and humanity has always been: grace and love given to the undeserving."

What?

Once again, let's look at this concept of "undeserving." Does a child filled with cancer deserve treatment? Put another way, do we, as God's children, filled with sin deserve treatment?

> John 3:16, 17, "For God so LOVED the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through Him."

John 15:9-17, Jesus said, "As the Father has loved me, so have I loved you. Now remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commands and remain in His love. I have told you this so that my joy may be in you and your joy may be complete. My command is this: Love each other as I have loved you. Greater love has no one than this: to lay down one's life for one's friends. You are my friends if you do what I command. I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you. You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you so that you might go and bear fruit; Fruit that will last, and so that whatever you ask in my name the Father will give you. This is my command: Love each other."

Zechariah 2:8 "For this is what the Lord Almighty says: 'After the Glorious One has sent me against the nations that have plundered you…for whoever touches you touches the apple of His eye.'"

Does that sound like God considers us undeserving? Or does that sound like we are so precious to Him that He would do anything to give a chance to know Him, open our hearts to Him, so He can heal us?

FRIDAY
Further Thoughts

"The spirit of bondage is engendered by seeking to live in accordance with legal religion, through striving to fulfill the claims of the law in our own strength. There is hope for us only as we come under the Abrahamic covenant, which is the covenant of grace by faith in Christ Jesus. The gospel preached to Abraham, through which he had hope, was the same gospel that is preached to us today, through which we have hope. Abraham looked unto Jesus, who is also the Author and the Finisher of our faith."—Ellen G. White Comments, The SDA Bible Commentary, vol. 6, p. 1077.

"Before the foundations of the earth were laid, the Father and the Son had united in a covenant to redeem man if he should be overcome by Satan. They had clasped Their hands in a solemn pledge that Christ should become the surety for the human race. This pledge Christ has fulfilled. When upon the cross He cried out, 'It is finished,' He addressed the Father. The compact had been fully carried out. Now He declares: Father, it is finished. I have done Thy will, O My God. I have completed the work of redemption. If Thy justice is satisfied, 'I will that they also, whom Thou hast given Me, be with Me where I am.' John 19:30; 17:24."—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 834.

Discussion Questions:

1) As the Seventh-day Adventist Church, in what ways should we fulfill the role that ancient Israel should have fulfilled in its time? How can we learn to avoid the mistakes that they made?

- Be in the world, but not of the world – don't distance from those who need help

- Realize that it is not because of our righteousness that we have this great treasure of truth, but because God wants us to grow spiritually, while spreading the good news to everyone

- Don't hoard the truth…it isn't "Ours"…

- Proverbs 24:11, 12, "Rescue those being led away to death; hold back those staggering toward slaughter. If you say, 'But we knew nothing about this,' does He who weighs the heart perceive it? Does not He who guards your life know it? Will He not repay everyone according to what they have DONE?"

2) Why are the gospel and the promises of the gospel so central to the whole idea of the new covenant? What texts can you find in the New Testament that show how the law and obedience to the law were not abolished under the new covenant, as commonly taught by other Christians?

- Romans 8: 7, 8, 13 "The mind governed by the flesh is hostile to God; it does not submit to God's law, nor can it do so. Those who are in the realm of the flesh cannot please God."…For if you live according to the flesh, you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the misdeeds of the body, you will live."

- Romans 13:8-10, "Let no debt remain outstanding, except the continuing debt to love one another, for whoever loves others has fulfilled the law. The commandments, 'You shall not commit adultery,' 'You shall not murder,' 'You shall not steal,' 'You shall not covet,' and whatever other command there may be, are summed up in this one command, 'Love your neighbor as yourself,' Love does no harm to a neighbor, therefore love is the fulfillment of the law."

- Hebrews 4:8-11, "For if Joshua had given them rest, God would not have spoken later about another day. There remains, then, a Sabbath-rest for the people of God; for anyone who enters God's rest also rests from their works, just as God did from His. Let us, therefore, make every effort to enter that rest, so that no one will perish by following their example of disobedience."

- Isaiah 66: 22-24, "As the new heavens and the new earth that I make will endure before me," declares the Lord, "so will your name and descendants endure. From one New Moon to another and from one Sabbath to another, all mankind will come and bow down before me," says the Lord. "And they will go out and look on the dead bodies of those who rebelled against me; the worms that eat them will not die, the fire that burns them will not be quenched, and they will be loathsome to all mankind."

3) Why do you think so many Christians say that the gospel nullifies the need to keep the Ten Commandments?

- There are many texts in the New Testament that talk of salvation by faith and not the law.

- But I like to think of the Law like an MRI. It can show you what is wrong, but it cannot heal you. You MUST go the Great Physician for healing. This healing comes by faith in the Healer. That He actually has a remedy that works, and then you actually allow Him to give it to you in daily doses!

- The devil has no interest in our healing. In fact, if it weren't for our angels, we would all be dead. Look at Job. As soon as Satan was free to do anything, what did he do? Destroyed! So, he gives the ideas to leaders of churches that salvation doesn't include actual healing to perfection. When that though it adopted, there is no effort to connect to God for the purpose of healing and becoming more and more like Jesus each day.
- "Therefore the Lord, the Lord Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel, declares: 'Ah, I will vent my wrath on my foes and avenge myself on my enemies. I will turn my hand against you; I will thoroughly purge away your dross and remove all your impurities'." Isaiah 1:24, 25

- "Strengthen the feeble hands, steady the knees that give way; say to those with fearful hearts, 'Be strong, do not fear; your God will come, he will come with vengeance; with divine retribution he will come to save you.'" Isaiah 35:3,4 What is the best retribution for a person who has been killed, diseased, deceived, etc? Healing and restoration – Salvation!

Revelation 14:6,7, "Then I saw another angel flying in midair and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth – to every nation, tribe, language, and people. He said in a loud voice, 'Fear God and give him glory because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water.'"

What is the good news here?

- This is for all eternity, not just temporary
- No one on earth is excluded
- God has given us the ability to use good judgment to identify the truth about God
- What gives glory to God is following the truth about this awesome God to the point where you understand, love and worship Him without fear (Luke 1:74 – John the Baptist's father, Zechariah's prophecy that part of the mission of Christ is to enable us to serve him without fear in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.")
- The same judgment we make about God and others, will God make about us as being healed or not healed. Unselfishly loving, or judgmental and misjudging of others and God? He makes an accurate diagnosis. Matthew 7:1,2 Matthew 25: 31-46 Isaiah 11:1-4
- The sign or banner of this creator God is the brilliant choice of a period of time (the 7th day Sabbath), rather than an icon or item (like a wedding ring). He created this 7th day as the last day of creation, where He "rests His case". A day for us to consider how He uses his mighty power, and who we are in relationship with Him. A day to keep ourselves holy through staying connected to and healed by Him. Gen.2:1-3 Exodus 8-11

E.G. White, Desire of Ages, pg 308, "'Till heaven and earth pass,' said Jesus. 'one jot or one tittle shall in nowise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.' The sun shining in the heavens, the solid earth upon which you dwell, are God's witnesses that His law is changeless and eternal. Though they may pass away, the divine precepts shall endure. 'It is easier for heaven and earth to pass, than one tittle of the law to fail.' Luke 16:17. The system of types that pointed to Jesus as the lamb of God was to be abolished at His death; the but precepts of the Decalogue are as immutable as the throne of God. Since 'the law of the Lord is perfect,' every variation from it must be evil. Those who disobey the commandments of God, and teach others to do so, are condemned by Christ. The Saviour's life of obedience maintained the claims of the law: it proved that the law could be kept in humanity, and showed the excellence of character that obedience would develop. All who obey as He did are likewise declaring that the law is 'holy, and just, and good.' Romans 7:12. On the other hand, all who break God's commandments are sustaining Satan's claim that the law is unjust, and cannot be obeyed. Thus they second the deceptions of the great adversary, and cast dishonor upon God. They are the children of the wicked one, who was the first rebel against God's law. To admit them into heaven would again bring in the elements of discord and rebellion, and imperil the well-being of the universe. No man who willfully disregards one principle of the law shall enter the kingdom of heaven."

E.G. White, Desire of Ages, pg 309, "The greatest deception of the human mind in Christ's day was that a mere assent to the truth constitutes righteousness. In all human experience a theoretical knowledge of the truth has been proved to be insufficient for the saving of the soul. It does not bring forth the fruits of righteousness. A jealous regard for what is termed theological truth often accompanies a hatred of genuine truth as made manifest in life. The darkest Chapters of history are burdened with the record of crimes committed by bigoted religionists. The Pharisees claimed to be children of Abraham, and boasted of their possession of the oracles of God, yet these advantages did not preserve them from selfishness, malignity, greed for gain, and the basest hypocrisy. They thought themselves the greatest religionists of the world, but their so-called orthodoxy led them to crucify the Lord of glory. The same danger still exists. Many take it for granted that they are Christians, simply because they subscribe to certain theological tenets. But they have not brought the truth into practical life. They have not believed and loved it, therefore they have not received the power and grace that come through sanctification of the truth. Men may profess faith in the truth; but if it does not make them sincere, kind, patient, forbearing, heavenly-minded, it is a curse to its possessors, and through their influence it is a curse to the world."

E.G. White, Council to the Churches, pg 261, "Great blessings are enfolded in the observance of the Sabbath, and God desires that the Sabbath day shall be to us a day of joy. There was joy at the institution of the Sabbath. God looked with satisfaction upon the work of His hands. All things that he had made He pronounced 'very good.' Genesis 1:31. Heaven and earth were filled with rejoicing. 'The morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy.' Job 38:7. Though sin has entered the world to mar His perfect work, God still gives to us the Sabbath as a witness that One omnipotent, infinite in goodness and mercy, created all things. Our heavenly Father desires through the observance of the Sabbath to preserve among men a knowledge of Himself. He desires that the Sabbath shall direct our minds to Him as the true and living God, and that through knowing Him we may have life and peace. When The Lord delivered His people Israel from Egypt and committed to them His law, He taught them that by the observance of the Sabbath they were to be distinguished from idolaters. It was this that made the distinction between those who acknowledge the sovereignty of God and those who refuse to accept Him as their Creator and King. 'It is a sign between Me and the children of Israel forever,' the Lord said. 'Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the Sabbath, to observe the Sabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant.' Exodus 31:17, 16. As the Sabbath was the sign that distinguished Israel when they came out of Egypt to enter the earthly Canaan, so it is the sign that now distinguishes God's people as they come out from the world to enter the heavenly rest. The Sabbath is a sign of the relationship existing between God and His people, a sign that they honor His law. It distinguishes between His loyal subjects and transgressors."

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy
To Love the Lord Your God

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

This week a group of Seventh-day Adventist Christians put out a public appeal to the SDA church entitle: To the Seventh-day Adventist Church: An Appeal in Defense of Liberty of Conscience.

It is extremely well done call for the principles of liberty of conscience, religious liberty that we have been advancing. It is open for anyone to sign onto this letter. I encourage you all to read it and if you agree sign it. The link is here.

https://libertyandhealth.org/liberty/

On Wednesday evening the group did a live webcast with Ben Carson to discuss the Biblical, moral, ethical and Constitutional principles of liberty. It was also well done.

But I noticed in the live comments going by that there were a couple of people who kept texting things like: "This isn't about liberty. If you love people you get the vaccine."

What is the problem with such a statement? Love cannot exist in an atmosphere of freedom. This is one of Satan's traps—to set up a situation in which people believe it is righteous to advance a cause by taking away freedom, by mandates, by force, by threats, by economic or other pressures.

The memory text for today is: "Love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength" (Deuteronomy 6:5 NIV4).

I had my lesson prepared on Deuteronomy and there was nothing in it about COVID, and I still have the notes and we will get to it. But, then I received an email this week, and I thought—what does love do? If I love the Lord don't I love people too? And doesn't love remain open to advancing truth? Here is the email:

> Please get back to the Bible and out of social issues and politics, such as Covid19, the Left and the Right, Afghanistan. Dr. Jennings, you are beginning to sound like a Fox News anchor. It's making me sick. I hate what you are becoming!
> You should know that leadership requires difficult decision-making. Over 700,000 people have died in this country alone, so what do you do with a virus that is spawning variants by the day? If you are not around people, you do nothing; however, if you are working around others, you vaccinate for your own safety, your family's safety and for the safety of others until this thing is > finally under control. I can see your point if the government was merely forcing this on people for reasons of obvious control of its citizenry, or as a precursor to additional enforcements in the future, but be for real. We are in a pandemic that is taking thousands of lives by the day. And yes, you should know that with every vaccination and every medication, there will be side effects, but they pale in comparison to the number of people who are being saved from the worse of the virus and most of all, death.

>
> So can we get back to the Holy Bible, our great commission, and sharing the love of Jesus as we prepare for the soon coming Savior? PLEASE!

So what does love do? This person sounds frustrated, perhaps angry? Why? It appears they are concerned I am misperceiving the danger from COVID, listening to right wing talk shows, and not speaking about pertinent Bible issues.

Well, no wonder she is upset—I would be upset too if I thought someone I valued was being misled to the point they were no longer presenting truth.

So, if you are the one who emailed—thank you for reaching out. Can we agree that the solution to all of this is the truth? Jesus said "you will know the truth and the truth will set you free." This is a principle that applies to all aspects of life—not just spiritual life. Truth frees from lies and according to Paul those who are lost in the end are lost because "they did not love the truth and thus be saved." (2 Thes 2:10).

If you go to the gym and work out with weights, your muscles will get stronger—are you then only able to use your increased strength at the gym, or can you use that strength anywhere? Likewise, when we exercise our God-given ability to reason, think, discern these abilities develop and strengthen and as we advance in discerning truth from error we are able to use our discernment skills anywhere. This is a spiritual exercise—loving truth, the discerning of truth, the moving forward in truth no matter the truth.

When I was in college and was presented with godless theories of evolution, I had to think them through and examine those theories in light of Scripture and choose what I would believe. Was this merely science, or was it a spiritual pursuit?

The righteous, the saved, are those who have minds that love truth, they are open to be corrected by facts, evidence and truth. They know they are finite beings and that their current understanding may not be 100% accurate and they are willing to examine new perspectives and evidences and update when the evidence is persuasive.

That is the type of mind I want and for which I have prayed, to grow in the truth at the earliest possible moment I can, not delay until the truth is unavoidable. This is part of what it means to be humble—a humble person is one who can learn, can update, can be corrected when they are wrong. I have not always been humble. I have believed things that were not true and had to change my beliefs and it wasn't pleasant. And I learned—I don't want to cling to error, I want to follow the truth at the earliest possible moment my mind can comprehend it.

Remember—we can never avoid the truth we can only delay the day we deal with it—and the longer we delay the worse the problem is.

So, emailer—can we examine your concerns in light of truth and the principles of God?

You are concerned about what I have been saying because you have different beliefs about what has happened and what is happening. Is our beliefs, what we believe, in whom we believe and trust, why we believe, upon what we base our beliefs important? Is examining our beliefs and establishing them in harmony with truth and God's Word a responsibility of the Christian? If we pursue the examination of our beliefs, always seeking greater truth, are we practicing Bible principles?

So, you have some beliefs that are different from mine—why? I would suggest we are incorporating different data points, and perhaps we have different methods upon which we decide what we believe.

How have you come to believe what you have?

For instance—you have stated the following beliefs:

- over 700,000 deaths from COVID have occurred in the USA
- New variants of SARS-COV2 are spawning daily
- If you interact with others responsibly then you get the COVID vaccine for one's own safety and the safety of others
- Thus, your position believes the vaccines keep you and others safe from SARS-COV2
- You believe we need to continue vaccinating "until this thing is finally under control." Suggesting you believe we can vaccinate our way to safety.
- You believe it isn't right to mandate or control people—but then say "But be for real, we are in a pandemic" which suggests you believe we are in a pandemic and that it is an immediate threat and that in such circumstances limiting freedoms by mandates is okay.
- You believe that vaccines do have side effects but they are insignificant to the number of deaths occurring from the virus.

I hope I have been able to accurately represent the beliefs you hold. It is the best I could do from the email.

How did you come to believe all of this? What method did you use?

- Did you go to the various sources and examine the data for yourself?
- Did you think it through for yourself and compare it to your understanding of reality—or did you allow an authority to tell you the answer?
- Did you base your beliefs upon what the government said, or the CDC, the FDA, the head of the NIH, or some other government official?

- Did you get persuaded because you watched interviews with people who sounded convincing and were affirmed by the talk show host?
- Is it because the legal authorities have used their legal powers to pass laws or mandates and you trust them to protect society and you accept what they say as true?
- Is it because you have a personal experience with someone who has died of COVID?
- Is it based upon a consensus of your friends, peers, neighbors? In other words, does it seem to you that the majority of people think this way so it must be true?

Understand, the issues around COVID aren't restricted to what we believe, it is also about what methods we use to decide what we believe.

The Bible describes all the governments and kingdoms of the world as being part of Satan's kingdom—and Satan is the father of lies.

- What do you think that means for human governments?
- Do you believe that our governments—any government including the USA—are honest with their people or do our governments lie to us?
- We can make a Biblical case, that since the governments of the world are Satan's and Satan is the father of lies, that human governments will not only use beastly methods of coercion, violence, force, but will also lie. Why are so many people so willing to place blind faith in their governments? Is where we place our faith a spiritual issue? Is this an end-time Bible issue?
- Why do people trust their governments? Why do they resist the idea that their governments are lying? Because they identify with their nation, their sense of self is tied up with it. "I'm proud to be an American" or whatever nationality is the patriotic attitude that impacts the self. We vote for our leaders in democratic societies and we want to believe that we are honest, so we choose to believe our government, which represents us, is honest. But our governments are not honest—they are manipulative and deceitful.
- We will not find truth by trusting the governments, what we will experience is our minds being damaged, our emotions being manipulated and our freedoms being undermined. But, if you trust blindly enough you may go into your prison believing you are being locked away for your own safety and thank them for it.

The Bible describes the Bereans (Acts 17:11) as being more noble in character because they wouldn't believe something just because one of the Apostles said it, they went home, examined Scripture for themselves and only believed when they were fully convinced in their own mind on the weight of evidence. If we shouldn't believe because one of Jesus' Apostles said it, if we still should check the evidence for ourselves if one of Jesus' Apostles said it, then how much more important for us to examine the evidence for ourselves when our government or the media tells us something?

This is a principle for all healthy belief formation. When I give a patient a copy of Could It Be This Simple? I tell them, "never believe anything just because it is in a book. I want you to read this and only believe that which you have thought through for yourself, considered, weighed, tested and concluded it is actually true. Don't believe just because I said it or it is in a book."

That is the only way for us to truly become the people that God has called us to become. There is a difference in believing 2+2=4 because the teacher said versus learning math and realizing why 2+2=4. The person who believes because the teacher said it has their mind weakened, they might know the right answer but they can't problem solve. The person who hears the teacher and then thinks it through for themselves being fully persuaded in their own mind matures. This is what God wants for us.

So, we have different beliefs—do we have different methods upon which we formulate our beliefs?

God's method for leading people into truth is by presenting the truth, in love and leaving them free. That is the method we advance at Come and Reason. That is why we are against mandates. If the truth is so compelling, then it should be straightforward to convince people, mandates should not be needed. And when you see people employing the methods of mandates, coercion, bribes, intimidation, threats, censoring, accusations, withholding of civil liberties, restricting the freedom to travel, shop, assemble, worship, be employed in order to force a behavior, an injection—you can be certain that those using those using such methods don't have truth on their side—they are not working for God's kingdom because we can never win God's cause by using Satan's methods.

So having said all of this—let's examine your beliefs again in light of evidence, facts and truth.

You believe over 700,000 people have died of COVID.

- The 700,000 number is the number used by the government. However, this is purposely misleading and false. In order to maximize the fear of COVID, which allows those in power to use emergency powers to take more freedoms, the government changed the reporting from those who died OF COVID, to those who died WITH COVID.
- This is their first lie and it magnifies the number of COVID deaths being reported and makes it appear many more are dying from COVID than actually are. This was financially incentivized by the government paying hospitals significantly more if they reported any deaths as COVID deaths, and the rules allowed them to report the death as a COVID death if they were suspected of being COVID even without a COVID test. https://www.cdc.gov/nchs/data/nvss/vsrg/vsrg03-508.pdf
- Second deception is the way they determine who has COVID, the PCR Polymerase Chain Reaction test. It makes copies of genetic material and amplifies it multiple times until it has enough to turn the reagent positive. This is the test used to determine if someone is COVID positive.
- But the more times you cycle a sample the greater the amplification and the more false positives you get. The typical run historically was under 25 cycles, but for COVID the original government recommendations were 45 cycles which created many false positives and therefore artificially inflated the reported numbers of COVID cases.
- Another problem is the tests themselves, in order to be approved they had to have a 95% sensitivity and 95% specificity. However, its predictive value will depend on the number of actual cases in the sample population.
    - For instance if you have 10,000 people getting tested and 100 of them are actually infected with COVID and 9900 are not. "The test will detect 95 of the infected persons and five will be falsely negative. For those who are not infected, 9702 will be correctly diagnosed and 198 will be false positives. The PPV is 95/95+198 or 32.4%. In this case, 2/3 of the positive results are false positives. For a prevalence of 0.1%, the PPV drops to 4.5%." https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC7934325/

- According to the FDA:
  - For example, a test with 98% specificity would have a PPV of just over 80% in a population with 10% prevalence, meaning 20 out of 100 positive results would be false positives.
  - The same test would only have a PPV of approximately 30% in a population with 1% prevalence, meaning 70 out of 100 positive results would be false positives. This means that, in a population with 1% prevalence, only 30% of individuals with positive test results actually have the disease.
  - At 0.1% prevalence, the PPV would only be 4%, meaning that 96 out of 100 positive results would be false positives.
  - https://www.fda.gov/medical-devices/letters-health-care-providers/potential-false-positive-results-antigen-tests-rapid-detection-sars-cov-2-letter-clinical-laboratory

- So the government rolls out this test which, in an environment with low prevalence, will turn out 96% false positive rate. Then the government pays for free testing and pressures healthy people without symptoms to get tested, which creates up to 96% false positives results. And that is if the test is 98% specific. Some were only 95% specific which would make the false positives even higher.
- Then the media picks up on the number of positive cases and reports it. But the news only reports the number of new cases, they don't report how many of those were asymptomatic, went home, did fine. This is designed to create a false narrative of a pandemic to increase fear and keep their emergency powers in force.
- The FDA did a class one recall on the PCR test and it is no longer approved for COVID testing.
- The third lie—the number of positive COVID cases represent the number of people with COVID. Setting aside the inaccuracy of the test, there is another accounting trick the government has done to make it seem the number of people infected is greater than it actually is. And that is counting every positive test as a new case—if the same person gets tested more than once and the test comes back positive more than once then each test is counted as a new case even though it is the same person. This magnifies the count and makes it appear worse than it really is.
- So we have an artificially inflated number of cases and it is these numbers that are still being touted to create a sense of a terrible pandemic and horrible numbers of deaths from COVID. And it is those artificially inflated case numbers that justifies the mask mandates, social distancing, business and church shutdowns and vaccine mandates.
- According to the CDCs own report only 6% of the 700,000 deaths were due solely to COVID, all the rest were people dying from other illnesses but who also had COVID. The CDC acknowledges 94% of the deaths could have been listed as from another cause, but because they had a positive COVID test, or were suspected of having COVID without a test, it was decided to list the death as a COVID death.

https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/pii/S221475002100161X#

- Then there is another problem with the number of COVID deaths. That is the CDC's treatment guidelines and recommendations. According to the guidelines, if someone tests positive they are sent home and told don't come back unless they get into distress. Then when they come back they are put on a protocol, recommended by the CDC, that includes getting Remdesivir. This is an antiviral agent that failed its studies for treating Ebola because the Remdesivir arm of that study had significantly more deaths than any other arm. And Remdesivir causes renal and other organ failure. In fact, 25% of those who have been given Remdesivir for COVID have died.
- Contrast this with what Uttar Pradesh, a state in India with 241 million people, that announced this week that 33 of their provinces are COVID free—and they have a 98.7% recovery rate from those who had been infected—how? They treated their entire population with prophylactic Ivermectin, which our government obstructs.
https://www.hindustantimes.com/cities/lucknow-news/33-districts-in-uttar-pradesh-are-now-covid-free-state-govt-101631267966925.html
- Why would the government do this? Could it be that Ivermectin treatment costs $12 whereas Remdesivir costs over $3000 per treatment? Could it be that more perceived sickness and more perceived deaths allows for more fear and more governmental control?
- Hundreds of studies have documented that early treatment protocols reduce hospitalizations and deaths up to 86%--yet our CDC, FDA, big pharma and the media continue to obstruct it.
- https://journals.lww.com/americantherapeutics/fulltext/2021/08000/ivermectin_for_prevention_and_treatment_of.7.aspx
- https://ivmmeta.com/

- The government lies about the number of cases, the number of deaths and obstructs effective early treatments, pays hospitals more if a death is counted as COVID death, gives them legal permission to count a COVID death as long as it is suspected even without a positive test, and then if someone comes in to the hospital for treatment they are instructed by the government and CDC to use a treatment that increases the likelihood of death while being obstructed from using protocols with hundreds of studies that show reduction in death.

So your first belief that we have 700,000 COVID deaths is based on false information and therefore is a false belief.

The belief that we are in a pandemic—no, we are in an endemic. An endemic is when a pathogen exists in the environment and is never going away. So any idea that we need to keep up restrictions until this is under control is fraudulent.

You believe that if you want to protect yourself and others you get the vaccine—and you know what? I agree with you—we should get vaccinated with a safe, effective, and proven vaccines if and when we are in danger of being infected with pathogens that are virulent to us (unless there is a specific medical reason not to).

Someone not a risk of an illness doesn't need to take a vaccine. There are diseases that exist in other parts of the world that we don't need to get vaccinated against unless we travel to that part of the world. There are diseases that only certain groups in society are at risk for and only they will benefit from the vaccine, so we wouldn't give vaccines to people not at risk for the disease. And children are not at risk from COVID. When they get exposed their immune systems fight it and kill it very quickly and then they have long term immunity from all variants and they do NOT spread it to others. So, anyone making a case to vaccinate children against COVID are either terribly misinformed or are lying to you and have another agenda.

- 81 million people under age 18 in US (July 2020)[1]
- Approximately 499 people under the age of 18 have died with COVID January 2020-October 2021[2] 22 deaths/month (most had serious medical problems like leukemia, cystic fibrosis etc.)
- Influenza: 372 died in 2018-2019[3] 31 deaths/month
- Suicide in 2019: 2,756 [4] 230 deaths/month

Let's talk about vaccines for adults. We have all had the polio vaccine—and everyone you grew up with did as well—how many cases of break-through polio have you seen?

If you have travelled to third world countries, you received a battery of vaccines for pathogens endemic in those areas. After you received the vaccines, did you then avoid those areas where the pathogens existed or did you go into those areas? In other words, did you need to be afraid of being exposed to the pathogens you were vaccinated against?

Actual vaccines prevent infection and transmission of an illness and once a person is vaccinated they don't need to fear or avoid exposure to the pathogen. According to the BioNTech application for the booster dose of Comirnaty (page 20) "An additional analysis appears to indicate that incidence of COVID-19 generally increased in each group of study participants with increasing time post-Dose 2 at the start of the analysis period."

Those who have been vaccinated against COVID may actually be at increased risk of infection with COVID variants with every injection they get. This type of inoculation is very likely compromising the immune system and they become less capable of fighting it. Which means they need to get new boosters every year for the new variants the previous injection will not protect them from. Does this sound like wonderful money making machine for big Pharma? Worse, those who have had one of these vaccines become carriers that transmit the variants to others.

These COVID injections are not vaccines, not in the traditional understanding of vaccines—they do not prevent infection, transmission or reinfection!

A CDC report of a TX prison outbreak:

- 185 of the 233 or 79% of the inmates were fully vaccinated
- 74% or 172 inmates contracted the virus
- 42 were unvaccinated
- 129 out of the 185 fully vaccinated individuals got infected.

So the belief that we can keep ourselves safe and others safe by these injections is a false belief, not born out by the science or evidence. In fact, the documentation from the manufacturers never claimed they would prevent infection or transmission.

Your second belief that we can get this under control through vaccination is also false. The science/evidence demonstrates that because the injections don't prevent reinfection and transmission then there is no possibility of eliminating this virus through the current campaign of so-called vaccination. And in fact, the vaccinated are the vehicles for the growth and spread of the new variants.

Viruses mutate all the time, the naturally recovered have a wide range of robust antibodies that are effective at killing the variants so they don't generally reproduce or spread from the naturally recovered. The vaccinated however, have limited immunity with antibodies targeting the spike protein, when variants emerge with sufficient change in the spike protein it can evade the antibodies of the vaccinated and reproduce and then be transmitted to others. So one could say we are now in a pandemic of the vaccinated.

So why are hospitals requiring their employees to get vaccinated? Because of financial pressure from the government, NOT because doing so will stop the spread of COVID or protect patients.

If hospitals really wanted to protect their patients from being exposed they would identify the COVID recovered employees, who have broad, robust and lifelong immunity and who do not spread it to others and they would give them all the privileges and require the vaccinated to wear masks and limit contact with others.

You suggest that being vaccinated has less risk than getting the active infection—according to the government's own data in the CMS website 59 million Americans have Medicare, that is 18% of the population. Their medical information is tracked in the government's database and according to the government's own data, just within that 18% of the population, 48,465 people have died within 14 days of receiving the COVID vaccine (19,400 were under age 80 and 28,065 over the age of 80). Do you know how many of these deaths the government counted as a vaccine death? None—because according to the government you are not considered vaccinated until 14 days after the vaccine. This is another accounting trick the government uses to make it appear the vaccines are safer than they really are.

- Researchers, examining the studies that got the vaccine EUA discovered that the study populations did not represent the at risk from the virus population. The elderly are at greatest risk of dying from COVID, whereas children and young people are at low risk of dying from the illness. The studies that got the vaccines their approval were done on populations that were mostly younger only 4.4% were 75 y/o or older. This resulted in a marked decrease in the potential risks and deaths from the vaccines in the studies. These researchers concluded and I quote:
    - "A novel best-case scenario cost-benefit analysis showed very conservatively that there are five times the number of deaths attributable to each inoculation vs those attributable to COVID-19 in the most vulnerable 65+ demographic"

https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/pii/S221475002100161X#

And this is just a small sample of the evidence that exposes the multitude of lies being told to us by the government and media. Do you see why there is such strong censorship—these lies could not stand if the truth were fully revealed. If people knew that COVID:

- is no more lethal than a moderate influenza strain
- has extremely low risk for children
- is not transmitted by the unvaccinated COVID recovered
- that children are not a threat to their grandparents
- that masks are completely ineffective and useless to stop the spread
- that the injections don't prevent infections, transmission or reinfection
- that the injections weaken the immune system and increase variants

If people knew all of this what would happen to our fear? It would go down and if we were not afraid there would be no need for government control of our lives, shut downs, masks, mail in ballots, etc. etc.

So, emailer, we have different beliefs about what is happening—but are we both lovers of truth? Do we both want to follow the truth where it leads? Are we both looking to Scripture to embrace and apply God's methods to our own minds in how we think, how we determine what to believe, and how we treat others? Are we both following the principles of truth, love and freedom? Are we placing our trust in God, in truth, or are we trusting human governments to think for us?

Is this a Biblical issue to learn to discern, to think for oneself?

Let me say this as clearly as I can—when the government uses its power to compel conscience, to coerce people to go against their loyalty to their Creator in governance of their own bodies—then the government has crossed the line and is fulfilling Biblical prophecy and acting as an agent for Satan. And if you support the government in doing so you are aligning yourself with the enemy of God, whether as an individual or as a leader of a hospital, church or corporation.

Read memory text: "Love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength" (Deuteronomy 6:5 NIV4).

What does this text mean?

What does it look like to love the Lord with all our hearts, souls and strength? Would one's strength refer to one's physical body? Are we to honor God with our bodies?

In the next verse, Moses says, "These commandments that I give you today are to be upon your hearts" (Dt 6:6 NIV84)

Love the Lord with all our hearts and souls and strength and the commandments given are to be upon our hearts. What does it mean to be upon our hearts?

What is the new covenant? God will write His law upon our hearts and minds. What does that mean?

A few chapters later Moses says this in chapter 11 verse 1,8-9, 13-14:

> Love the LORD your God and keep his requirements, his decrees, his laws and his commands always… Observe therefore all the commands I am giving you today, so that you may have the strength to go in and take over the land that you are crossing the Jordan to possess, and so that you may live long in the land that the LORD swore to your forefathers to give to them and their descendants, a land flowing with milk and honey… So if you faithfully obey the commands I am giving you today—to love the LORD your God and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul—then I will send rain on your land in its season, both autumn and spring rains, so that you may gather in your grain, new wine and oil.

What does this mean?

What law lens are you hearing this through?

How did the Jews end up applying this? Through a behavioral legal lens of rules and rule enforcement—and where did that lead? To persistent rebellion and the eventual rejection of Jesus.

What is the design law view of this passage?

Why will observing God's law give strength? Why will observing God's law result in longer life and better health? And what is the meaning of having rain in due season—autumn and spring rains, to gather grain, new wine and oil?

What happens to our health when we live in harmony with the laws of health, get good nutrition, hydration, clean air, sunshine, exercise regularly, get appropriate sleep and Sabbath rest for the mind? We get stronger, healthier, live longer.

What happens to our mental, emotional and spiritual health if we forgive those who wrong us, rather than hold grudges, if we are peacemakers, rather than constantly in conflict, if we focus upon love rather than fear? We have healthier relationships, and less mental and emotional stress, which results in less inflammatory cascades in our body, lower rates of physical health problems and thus we live longer and have better health.

What is the meaning of the rain—is it merely physical water falling from the sky, or is there an object lesson in this? Does the rain symbolize something? And what about the grain, new wine and oil?

- The rain symbolizes the work of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost and before the second coming of Christ—the first and latter rains
- The grain represents Jesus the seed of the woman, the wave sheaf, the bread of heaven, the Word made flesh, the truth about God that Jesus is
- The new wine represents the blood which represents the sinless life or perfect human character that Jesus developed and offers us as a free gift
- The oil represents the Holy Spirit applying in the life the truth and life of Jesus that heals and restores us to righteousness.

Consider this historic quote from Review and Herald October 8, 1901:

> The prosperity of God's people is dependent on their obedience. [Why? What law lens? Design law, it is the only way for health to exist] The Lord declares, "It shall come to pass if ye shall hearken diligently unto my commandments which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, and to serve Him with all your heart and with all your soul, that I will give you the rain of your land in his due season, the first rain and the latter rain, that thou mayest gather in thy corn, and thy wine, and thine oil. And I will send grass in the fields for thy cattle, that thou mayest eat and be full. Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them; and then the Lord's wrath be kindled against you, and He shut up the heaven, that there be no rain, and that the land yield not her fruit; and lest ye perish quickly from off the good land which the Lord giveth you.... RH October 8, 1901, par. 1 [Can you get love by command, by proclamation, by threat, by legislation, by rule-enforcement? So, what kind of law is God advancing when He links commandment keeping with love for God?]
>
> "Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse; a blessing, if ye obey the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day; and a curse, if ye will not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but ... go after other gods, which ye have not known…" RH October 8, 1901, par. 2 [What does this mean and blessing and cursing? What law lens are you understanding this through? Is it God using divine power to dispense blessings as rewards, like a teacher giving a gold star and cursings as punishments like a teacher paddling an unruly student? Or is it describing reality—there are blessings from living in harmony with God's design laws and there are cursings from breaking them?
>
> These words should be as distinctly stamped upon every soul as though written with a pen of iron. Obedience brings its reward, disobedience its retribution. RH October 8, 1901, par. 4 [Why?]
>
> God has given His people positive instruction, and has laid upon them positive restrictions, that they may obtain a perfect experience in His service, and be qualified to stand before the heavenly universe and before the fallen world as overcomers. They are to overcome by the blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony. Those who fall short of making the preparation essential will be numbered with the unthankful and the unholy. RH October 8, 1901, par. 5 [What does this mean? Positive instructions and positive restrictions—what is that? For what purpose? That we may obtain a perfect experience. What does perfect experience mean?

"You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I tell you: Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? And if you greet only your brothers, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect" (Mt 5:43–48 NIV84).

What is the perfection? It is the perfection of love for God and others. It is living out God's design law in heart, mind and character. It is not about task performance, but about attitude of the heart.

What does the blood of the Lamb have to do with our overcoming? The blood is a metaphor for the sinless life of Christ, His perfect human character of love lived out. When we trust Jesus we open the heart and the Spirit comes in and we receive the life of Christ "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me." We get new desires, motives, peace, joy and are empowered to succeed when we choose to love others. But we still must choose the right. And Satan will tempt us with strong feelings to choose the wrong. But God wants to free us from fear and selfishness. He wants us to grow strong in love and trust. So, if God wants us to grow strong in love and trust what will He do? Listen to the next words of the quote]

The Lord brings His people by ways they know not, that He may test and prove them. [Test and prove? What law lens do you hear this through? If imposed law, does it sound like a set up? Design law, what do you hear? What about the Tree of Knowledge in Eden—what was its purpose? To give Adam and Eve the place and means to choose what they would know—would they know love, truth, honesty, holiness, loyalty, fidelity, trust, faithfulness by choosing to live out the truth. Or would they know lies, fear, selfishness, pain suffering and death by choosing to believe and live out the lies? We are brought into circumstances where we must choose what we really believe and what we really value in the choices we make in how we live and how we treat others. This is how God's law is ultimately sealed into our hearts. God cannot form our characters for us, but He inspires us with Christ's desires, methods, motives, and then leaves us free to choose to live them in real circumstances and this solidifies Christ's character into our own.] This world is our place of proving. Here we decide our eternal destiny. [Who decides our eternal destiny? How do we decide this? Is it primarily in a evangelistic meeting with a profession of faith, or in a public ceremony? To be sure these are important moments in the life when people choose to give their hearts to the Lord, but the real healing and sealing comes after surrendering to Jesus, when we choose day by day to live as Jesus would have us live, to face the trials, to experience the temptation and to seek God and act in harmony with His will relying on His strength as we reject the fear, stand faithful in the face of rejection, or loss of earthly reputation or wealth. Satan seeks to get us to betray God through loss of anything we might value more than we value God.] God humbles His people that His will may be wrought out through them. Thus He dealt with the children of Israel as He led them through the wilderness. He told them what their fate would have been had He not laid a restraining hand upon that which would have hurt them. He speaks to them. Hear what He says: it is a revelation of the ministration of angels: "Who led thee through that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water; who brought thee forth water out of the rock of flint; who fed thee in the wilderness with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that He might humble thee, and that He might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end.... [Do you see the metaphor of this to our lives, the wilderness of this sinful world, the fiery assaults of Satan and his agents, of sickness, disease, and sin? Of the drought in the world today of godliness, of truth, of love? And our only source of the water of life is not in the nations or governments of the world, but from Jesus, the rock, and our food, what feeds our souls cannot be found on Netflix, Amazon Prime, Facebook, Youtube, Twitter or any earthly source. We must feed our souls the bread of heaven, Jesus.] Thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is He that giveth thee power to get wealth, that He may establish His covenant which He sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day. And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day that ye shall surely perish. [Why will they perish? Because God will get mad and use His power to inflict punishment because they broke His rules? No! Because of design law—if they reject Him, the Creator, their protector He sets them free, in harmony with His design law of love and liberty, to reap what they have chosen—to be under the power of the god they prefer and there is no life outside of unity with God.] As the nations which the Lord destroyeth before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the Lord." RH October 8, 1901, par. 6

It is a solemn thought that by our present course of action we are deciding our eternal destiny. [Do you understand this? By our present course in how we live, what law we apply in how we treat others. Are we applying God's eternal design law of truth, love and freedom, or are we being seduced by fear and selfishness to seek to save lives by applying Satan's laws of imposed rules, mandates, coercive enforcement and thereby writing Satan's law into the character?] Let those who know the truth practice the truth, remembering that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and is of more value than all the treasure which the world contains. [The mature are those who have developed by practice the ability to discern the right from the wrong Heb 5:14—we must practice truth for it to become part of our character. To know the truth cognitively is not how we become righteous. Just like the Tree of Knowledge was not the tree of facts or data, it was the tree where they would choose what they would know by action and function. So too, in the world right now in how we live, what law we practice in how we treat others, we are deciding what character we are forming.] The world is the Lord's vineyard, and to each one of us He says, "Go work today in my vineyard. As I have cared for you, so you are to care for the honor of my name." RH October 8, 1901, par. 7

In His dealing with ancient Israel God has given us an illustration of the result of disobedience. Even as He punished the children of Israel, so He will punish all who cause His glory to be reproached…. [How did He punish ancient Israel? Was it an infliction of something they would not otherwise reap, or was it by letting them go to reap what they chose?] They would not submit to God's way, so He permitted them to have their own way, to carry out the purposes of their unsanctified hearts. RH October 8, 1901, par. 8 [This is design law, those who sow to the carnal nature, from that nature reap destruction Galatians 6:8]

Christ warned the Jews of their danger, and entreated them to return to Him; but they were too proud to accept His overtures of mercy. They persisted in their rebellious course, and as a result the protection of God's Spirit was withdrawn from them. RH October 8, 1901, par. 9 [God is warning us today and if we don't listen, He will let us go to our destruction as well. And this is what we are seeing on a national scale. The governments of the world have rejected God and have rejected His methods of truth. They have embraced godless paganism and look what is happening. We are all reaping what they have sown.]

When Christ predicted the destruction of Jerusalem, He predicted also the destruction of the world. He saw that till the end of this earth's history men would refuse God's mercy. God has given men and women talents that they may work in His service; but many in their selfishness misuse these talents. By a love of money and a desire for the supremacy they rob God and hurt their brethren… RH October 8, 1901, par. 10 [Do you see one of the primary motivators that is happening in the world right now regarding COVID and the mandates is greed, the love of money and power, the desire for supremacy, the desire to rule over and control others?]

God's people are to maintain the elevated character of His work. They are to carry forward this work in His lines. Christ is their pattern, and He says, "Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." Let us remember that we are laborers together with God. We are not wise enough to work by ourselves. God has made us His stewards, to prove us and to try us, even as He proved and tried ancient Israel. He will not have His army composed of undisciplined, unsanctified, erratic soldiers, who would misrepresent His order and purity. RH October 8, 1901, par. 13 [What is described here? It is through our choices in how we deal with adversity, how we deal with trials, how we deal with conflict that we are being healed and sealed. Do we embrace the justice of the world, do we seek to make others pay, to use the power of the state, to enforce mandates, or do we humbly go to our Creator and seek His wisdom, follow His directives, live out the truth in love while leaving others free?]

Those who think that they can please God by obeying some other law than His, and by performing works other than those which the gospel has enjoined, are mocking God. [Like forcing people to get medical treatments that they don't want under the guise of claiming it is necessary in order to save lives. All of you who keep saying "if you love others you will get the jab, don't actually know what God's love it. You have been deceived by this world and are being foolish. If you want to advance God's love then you say, "If you love other present the truth in love and leave each person free to decide in their lives what is the action God would have them take." God's love ALWAYS leaves free—it never manipulates or coerces. And it doesn't presume to know what is best for another to do in any given situation.] They are insulting the Holy One of Israel. Warning after warning is given in the last message of > mercy to the world. Appeal after appeal is made. The worst of sinners are to hear the call. All are to be given a final test. [What is the final test? As you have done it unto one of the least of these you have done it unto me. We are all being tested right now, recognize the test. Will you live out God's law of love or will your join with the state the beast of Revelation to compel and coerce others. Will you for the sake of government funds mandate your employees get an injection they don't want? Your character is being determined by what law you apply to your life right now!] Loath to give up, sorrowful, yet hoping, Christ knocks at the door of the heart. RH October 8, 1901, par. 14

>
> When the Saviour saw in the Jewish people a nation divorced from God, He saw also a professed Christian Church united to the world and the papacy. [How? By embracing the imposed law of the world, practicing the imperial methods of compelling, mandates, coercion of the world, violating the consciences of people repudiating the principles of Protestantism—religious liberty and Republicanism—civil liberty] And as He stood upon Olivet, weeping over Jerusalem till the sun sank behind the western hills, so He is weeping over and pleading with sinners in these last moments of time. Soon He will say to the angels who are holding the four winds, "Let the plagues loose; let darkness, destruction, and death come upon the transgressors of my law." Will He be obliged to say to those who have had great light and knowledge, as He said to the Jews, "If thou hadst known, even thou at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes"? RH October 8, 1901, par. 15

So what does it mean to love the Lord with all our hearts, minds, souls and strength? To live out His design laws in all we do, trusting Him with the outcomes.

MONDAY

Read Deuteronomy 10:12-13:

> And now, O Israel, what does the LORD your God ask of you but to fear the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, to love him, to serve the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, and to observe the LORD's commands and decrees that I am giving you today for your own good? (Dt 10:12–13 NIV84).

What is the relationship between fear of God and love for God?

John wrote "There is no fear in love. But perfect love drives out fear, because fear has to do with punishment. The one who fears is not made perfect in love." (1 Jn 4:18 NIV84).

Is this a contradiction?

Read second paragraph, "In one verse…" Well the lesson rightly describes fear as awe, admiration, respect for our infinite God. The fear we are to have in love is not terror, dread, the feeling of being afraid. Fear as we normally experience it in our modern definition is a fear that is concerned for self, it drives us to we afraid of injury, rejection etc. Thus the modern definition of fear is part of the infection of sin and drives toward more selfishness and survival of the fittest instincts.

The perfect love of God drives this type of fear with its selfishness from the heart because when we experience God's love we lose site of self. When we love God and others more than self we are not fearful for self, we are not focused on self.

I have given this example—imaging crossing the street and as you step into the crosswalk you look up to see a truck running a red light and it is about to hit you—what emotion do you experience? Fear—but now consider seeing your 3 year old child toddle into the street and a truck is about to hit them, you have just enough time if you act right now to reach them and shove them out of the way, but if you do you will get hit by the truck, what do you do? You shove them out of the way. And as you see your child land safely on the grass where you shoved them, what emotion are you experiencing? Joy—but wait, you are getting hit by a truck. In the first scenario there is only fear—in the second your love has cast out your fear.

Satan works to focus us on the threats, the dangers, the pain, the costs, the hurts, the risks, to incite fear to paralyze us, to destroy our love for God and others.

God works to focus us on the truth of who He is, His character and methods of love. To get us to trust Him enough that we will open the heart and then He pours His love into our hearts. This love casts out our fear. In love, with reducing fear, God inspires us to act, to act in harmony with His methods, to make changes, to say no to old habits, to say no to old partners in sin, to stand up for truth in love and then to experience His increasing presence of love for Him and others as we gain victories and our fears are overcome.

We gain ever increasing awe, admiration, respect, and love for God as our fear for ourselves goes down.

What about the idea that we have all broken God's law and therefore deserve condemnation?

What law lens do you understand this through?

How did each of us become a sinner? Psalms 51:5, we were born in sin, we didn't choose to be sinners. And what is the result of being born with a carnal nature, being born in sin? Isn't that we will all commit sin? Are the sins the actual problem, or are the sins the symptoms of the condition with which we were born?

Thus, we are not responsible for being sinners—we are responsible for whether we accept or reject the free Remedy of Jesus that gives us a new heart of love that casts out the fear and empowers us to live lives of love and loyalty to God or not. That is it.

We don't deserve condemnation in a legal sense, we have a terminal condition and if we refuse the Remedy we deserve to die from that condition, just like a person who purposely refuses to pull the rip cord on their parachute deserves to hit the ground at what is called "terminal velocity."

God has provided in Jesus the means for every person to be healed from sin. None need to die eternally, only those who refuse Jesus and what He provides will be lost. And it will be because they prefer to die than to live in God's universe.

Read the third paragraph, "Despite the fact that we were…" Wait, we should fear Him because of His wrath, but we are not to live in fear of Him if we love Him—is this a contradiction?

What law lens do we understand this through?

What does it mean to be children of wrath?

> For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness, 19 because what may be known of God is manifest in them, for God has shown it to them. For since the creation of the world His invisible attributes are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse, because, although they knew God, they did not glorify Him as God, nor were thankful, but became futile in their thoughts, and their foolish hearts were darkened. Professing to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like corruptible man—and birds and four-footed animals and creeping things.
> verse 24: Therefore God also gave them up…
> verse 26: For this reason God gave them up > verse 28? And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a debased mind… (Ro 1:18–32 NKJV).

What is Paul describing?

What is God's wrath? Why does it come?

From Hard Sayings of the Bible:

> The human condition, which Paul describes in Romans 1:18-32, is not something caused by God. The phrase "revealed from heaven" (where "heaven" is a typical Jewish substitute word for "God") does not depict some kind of divine intervention, but rather the inevitability of human debasement which results when God's will, built into the created order, is violated. Since the created order has its origin in God, Paul can say that the wrath of God is now (constantly) being revealed "from heaven." It is revealed in the fact that the rejection of God's truth (Rom 1:18-20), that is, the truth about God's nature and will, leads to futile thinking (Rom 1:21-22), idolatry (Rom 1:23), perversion of God-intended sexuality (Rom 1:24-27) and relational-moral brokenness (Rom 1:28-32).

> The expression "God gave them over" (or "handed them over"), which appears three times in this passage (Rom 1:24,26,28), supports the idea that the sinful perversion of human existence, though resulting from human decisions, is to be understood ultimately as God's punishment which we, in freedom, bring upon ourselves.
>
> In light of these reflections, the common notion that God punishes or blesses in direct proportion to our sinful or good deeds cannot be maintained… God loves us with an everlasting love. But the rejection of that love separates us from its life-giving power. The result is disintegration and death. (Kaiser, W., et al., Hard Saying of the Bible, Intervarsity Press, 1996, P 543)

So what does it mean to be "children of wrath"?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Even amid rules…" How do you connect obedience with love?

Is the obedience God wants about performance or about heart attitude?

Consider two children, ages 4 and 14. You are weeding in your tomato garden and your 4 y/o comes up behind you and with a big smile says, "I want to help" and pulls up a tomato plant. Is this an obedient or disobedient child? Do you get angry and punish the child?

What about the 14 y/o who pulls only weeds but curses you the entire time under their breath because they aren't out playing with their friends?

Which of the two are considered obedient in the Biblical sense? Which is considered obedient in the worldly sense?

Man looks on the outward appearance but the Lord looks on the heart.

Humans and Satan are legalists, rules, imposed laws, and behavioral performance and monitoring.

God is all about the motive of the heart, which will translate into choices, but may or may not translate into effective performance—the choices will become more consistently in harmony with God, but the actual skill in carrying it out will depend on practice. One might still misspell words, even though one studies hard and tries not to.

This is the difference between a person with Asperger's and a narcissist.

Both people can appear on the outside, in the way they interact with others to be rude, abrupt, without compassion, blunt, seem to not care for the feelings of others. But the Asperger's person actually does care, has good motives, intentions to help, but has impaired social neural nets where they don't process the interpersonal cues and thus offend frequently. Whereas the narcissist is actually selfish and doesn't care about anyone but themselves.

Read second paragraph, "Again and again in Deuteronomy…" And we absolutely believe God is love and revealed His love to the people by His actions—but what do you say to those who object and say, "Yeah, God loved them so much that He would have killed them all if Moses didn't beg Him not do"?

If people teach the story of God threatening to kill the people and Moses pleading for Him not to, through imposed law, what impact does it have on how we see God? What is the design law way to see this?

Read fourth paragraph, "As Ellen G. White said it:…" Do you see design law expressed in this quote?

WEDNESDAY

Read the first paragraph, "Israel…" We agree, if we love God we obey Him—no question about it.

But does our obedience change when we obey God through an understanding friend perspective versus an obedient servant perspective? John 15:15

Is there a difference between a serving friend and friendly service?

Who are the two people in the Old Testament described as God's friends? Abraham and Moses—were they obedient to God?

When God told Abraham that He was going to destroy Sodom, why didn't Abraham say, "God said it, I believe it, that settles it. Who am I to question. I will obey." Or when God told Moses He was going to wipe out the people why didn't Moses respond with simple acceptance of what the Master said. Why did they both argue?

Were they being disobedient to argue as they did? Why not?

What does this tell us about Biblical obedience? What does God want from us?

Read the third paragraph, "This is why…" Do you agree that obedience to God means obeying the Ten Commandments?

Hmmm….are there times when we obey God by breaking the Ten Commandments?

So when king Saul chose not to kill king Agag was he being obedient to God or disobedient?

And what about Jephthah, when he sacrificed his daughter to the Lord and then we find him as one of the faithful in Hebrews, was he being obedient or disobedient?

How do we understand these stories?

Is it primarily about the deed, the behavior or the attitude of the heart?

THURSDAY

The lesson again focuses our attention on the verse to love the Lord with all our heart and then states, "What could be more 'present truth' than this command? In the very last days, when the final events unfold and everyone will be called to choose one side or the other in a very dramatic way, the commands of God (Rev 14:12) will play a crucial role."

Thoughts?

How will everyone choose?

Won't it be by the methods they apply to their heart when the decide how they treat others? Will they embrace and apply the methods of the beast, coerce and force others, or will they apply the methods of God, give of self to protect and bless others?

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy
The Stranger in Your Gates

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Read memory text: "Therefore love the stranger, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt" (Dt 10:19 NKJV).

The lesson focuses our attention on loving others and in the second paragraph quotes Jesus, "you shall love your neighbor as yourself"…(Mark 12:31).

What does this mean?

Is loving your neighbor the first and greatest commandment or the second? What is the first and greatest? "Love the Lord your God with all your heart, mind, soul and strength."

Why do we love God before we love our neighbor? Because it is in a loving trust relationship with God that we have selfishness purged, are given wisdom to comprehend reality, are empowered with strength, motivated with love, given new hearts with spirits of mercy, compassion, patience, kindness—in other words, if we don't love God first we won't be able to love anyone.

And what does it mean to love your neighbor as yourself?

What is the first rule in caregiving? The first rule in running a psychiatric ward is staff safety, not patient safety why? Because if the staff are not safe then the patients are not safe and no care can be given.

In my book, The Aging Brain I discuss caring for a loved one with dementia and the first rule is the health of the in-home caregiver. If the spouse or whomever is providing the in-home care doesn't maintain their health first, then they become disabled and can no longer provide care to their loved one.

This brings back the principle of remember the first commandment—we have our first duty to God, to maintain our health, wellness in the highest state—not for selfishness sake, but so that we can be of greatest service in God's cause, which means ministering to others as God would have us.

So, each person must establish the routines necessary to maintain their own health and wellness—regular hours of sleep, healthy diet, physical exercise, not placing demands on one's body that injures and disables (such as lifting another person if they are too large), time away from work, from the responsibilities to rest the mind and be quiet with God and rejuvenate etc. So, when one is in the role of caregiving and these basic requirements for one's own health are consistently compromised then it is time to get outside help.

Jesus consistently took time away from needy people to rest, sleep, unwind, spend time with His Father. Jesus, as a human, had to live in harmony with the laws of health and His physiology required rest and recovery, His mind required time with His Father etc.

Any disagreement with this principle?

So, if Satan cannot get a righteous person to choose to do evil, what might Satan tempt the righteous person to do that would effectively neutralize the righteous person's influence? Get them to take on too many good tasks, responsibilities, roles, duties to the point of overwhelming their limited human abilities and they burn out.

- Does this principle, of maintaining the health of the person, not for selfishness sake, but for the sake of being a benefit to others, require we sometime say no?
- Would it require we set boundaries?
- Would it require we limit how much time, energy, and resources we spend on worthy projects?

- Does this principle apply only to individuals, or does it apply to our local churches as well?
- Does your local church have unlimited membership, with unlimited human energy, and unlimited finances, or does the local church have to decide upon which projects it will invest?
- Will the local church, at times, have to say no to very worthy needs in the community and the world because to invest in all of them would bankrupt the church?
- Does saying no mean the church doesn't care about those people or projects for which they have decided to draw a boundary and limit investment?

- Does this principle apply only to individuals and churches, or does it apply to other organizations?
- What about nations, does it apply to nations?
- Do nations have responsibility to set boundaries, say at their borders, to limit the numbers of people entering the nation—not for the purpose of selfishness, but for the purpose of maintaining national integrity, health, financial solvency to be a blessing to as many people as possible?
- Do churches have the responsibility to not only set boundaries on expenditures, but also on who becomes a voting member of the church? Should a church allow into membership people who don't believe in Jesus, people who believe in godlessness, who want to become members to get into positions to teach Eastern philosophies instead of Biblical truths?
- Is it unloving for a church to set such boundaries?
- What about a nation—should a nation allow in immigrants who don't share their values of religious liberty, civil liberty, people who want to change society toward communism where the state controls the press, the state controls the education of your children, the state controls your healthcare, your liberty to travel, associate with family, your religious practices?
- Is it unloving for a nation to set such boundaries?

If you wanted to ruin a church might you trick them into over extending and bankrupting itself, or perhaps allowing unconverted people into membership who will fundamentally change the principles of practice in the church?

What about a nation, could a nation be ruined by unregulated immigration?

Is it unloving to set such boundaries? And what does it say about people who advocate for such actions claiming it is an expression of love, of compassion to do so?

So, could you be loving the strangers by setting limits on the amount of resources you expend on them in order to maintain a steady flow of support to help many more people over time? And could you love the strangers by allowing in a steady, but limited number of them, that will not overwhelm the organization or nation in order to sustain the organization's ability to support them, or would it be more loving to bring in so many that the economy collapses and many more than just the immigrants end up in poverty?

Satan is at work in the world. He is moving his agents to undermine love, to incite increasing fear, conflict, poverty, exploitation, disease. Satan hates liberty because in freedom love grows.

SUNDAY

The lessons asks us to read Deuteronomy 10:1-15:

> At that time the LORD said to me, "Chisel out two stone tablets like the first ones and come up to me on the mountain. Also make a wooden chest. I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets, which you broke. Then you are to put them in the chest."
>
> So I made the ark out of acacia wood and chiseled out two stone tablets like the first ones, and I went up on the mountain with the two tablets in my hands. The LORD wrote on these tablets what he had written before, the Ten Commandments he had proclaimed to you on the mountain, out of the fire, on the day of the assembly. And the LORD gave them to me. Then I came back down the mountain and put the tablets in the ark I had made, as the LORD commanded me, and they are there now. (Dt 10:1-5 NIV84)

Why was there a second set of 10 Commandments? Why did Moses break the first set?

Where did the second set get placed? In the Ark of the Covenant. Why? What is the lesson?

What does the ark represent?

The ark in the Most Holy Place represents the universe reconciled to God again—the Shekinah represents the Father, the angels the angelic heavenly host, the lid of solid gold represents Jesus the connecting link between God, the heavenly universe and what is below the lid/covered by the lid? The box made of porous wood covered in gold represents the saved sinners who are covered/infused with the righteousness of Christ. There were three elements in the box that were placed a certain order: the first was the manna, which represents the Word of God, the truth, of which we are to partake. It is the bread of heaven, Jesus, which destroys lies and wins us to trust. And having been won to trust, we open the heart and have the living law of God written upon their hearts (represented by the 10 Commandments) which was next placed in the ark; and once the living design law of God has been written upon our hearts and minds, we who were dead in trespass and sin come to life and bring forth the peaceable fruits of righteousness, represented by Aaron's rod that budded—which was the third item placed in the ark.

Now, there were two sets of 10 Commandments given, one that was broken by Moses and an unbroken set, which went in the ark? The unbroken set—what is the lesson, and this is huge, it is another Biblica evidence that exposes the lie of the penal legal view of salvation.

In the penal legal view of salvation, it is declared that the law was broken, and that the broken law requires a penalty be paid, and that atonement is having the blood sprinkled above the broken law to pay the legal payment for sinners so God can legally save. But, there were two versions of law, a broken one and an unbroken one. If God wanted the lesson to be that the broken law requires a blood payment, then He would have had Moses put the broken pieces of the law in the ark. But He didn't. He had Moses put the unbroken law in the ark, because the ark symbolizes the hearts of saved sinners who have had God's unbroken design law of love written in their hearts again. In other words, the sanctuary theater teaches healing and restoration and refutes the pagan systems of blood payments and legal adjustments.

Read Deuteronomy 10:14-16:

> To the LORD your God belong the heavens, even the highest heavens, the earth and everything in it. Yet the LORD set his affection on your forefathers and loved them, and he chose you, their descendants, above all the nations, as it is today. Circumcise your hearts, therefore, and do not be stiff-necked any longer (Deuteronomy 10:14-16 NIV84).

What is it that we are to understand about the heavens and earth belonging to God and everything in them? Is the most important lesson about power? Why does the entire creation belong to God? Because He made everything—AND—He sustains everything! Why is this important? What happens to any part of creation that becomes completely severed from God? It ceases to exist. What happens to any part of creation that does not become completely severed from God, but is disrupted in its operation, no longer functioning as God designed? In other words, it is no longer operating in perfect harmony with God's design laws that He built reality to exist upon? Then that part of creation will groan under the weight of sin, it will have defects, it will suffer and be compromised in its health, wellness and function in some way. And it will ultimately die if not restored back to harmony with God's design laws for life.

All things are God's for what purpose?

- So God can be built up by them?
- Does God get taxes from His creatures to fund infrastructure projects?
- Does God require praise to make God feel good?
- Did God create angels get good housekeeping services?
- What is the purpose of all creation? To be recipients of God's love, God's grace, God's energy flowing out from God to give life, health, energy, happiness, vitality and ever-expanding growth to all of God's creation. God experiences joy from the health, wellness, joy, and happiness of His creatures, just as parents experience joy from the health, happiness, wellness, joy and development of their children.

So the purpose of all creation is to receive God's love and grow in God's love.

So, what is the most important thing to know about all things belonging to God? It is God's character of love, His design laws, and how all things are built to operate upon design law of love.

What is the lesson about circumcision of the heart? Why does the heart need to be circumcised?

This is a powerful and poignant object lesson.

The physical circumcision is of the bodily organ that is designed by God to be an expression of intimate love, of life-giving love, the organ used when, as God designed, the two separate individuals come together in marital love and become one.

> "For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and they will become one flesh (Genesis 2:24 NIV84).

Circumcision physically cuts away a barrier in this union of two becoming one and is a metaphor of our hearts.

Jesus prayed that we would be one with God and each other just as He and the Father are one. This is at-one-ment. It requires we cut our heart free from all attachments to the things of this world, we cut away our love and affection to anything that we use to comfort ourselves in place of God and what God has provided. Fear and selfishness must be cut out of the heart in order for us to be at-one with God and others. This means we must have the worldly things we value, cling to, attach ourselves to cut away from our hearts so that we can have our hearts truly united with God in love and trust. As long as we feel safe and secure because of our wealth, or position, or abilities, or guns, or church membership, or rituals, or Sabbath-keeping, or we comfort ourselves with entertainment, drugs, alcohol, food, or anything else instead of God, we will not have complete union with God. So God allows events to unfold to challenge us in where we place our trust, what we look to in order to find peace and security for our hearts and minds.

Physical circumcision is painful—so too is cutting away the ties to things we have become attached to. The older a person is when physically circumcised the more painful, likewise the older a person is with deeper attachments to sin and worldliness the more painful to cut away those attachments. And sometimes, like the rich young ruler, people walk away sad rather than cutting the ties to what makes them feel secure.

We cannot tell just by looking at people who are circumcised or who are not—the only way is to become intimate with them. Likewise, we cannot tell whose hearts have been cut away from the things of the world just by looking, we have to get to know people and see them live out their principles in real life.

So, circumcision is a powerful and poignant metaphor of the cutting away of fear and selfishness and various worldly attachments used to make us feel safe and secure, and the establishing of our hearts in purity and at-one-ness with God.

What does it mean to be stiff-necked? The lesson rightly suggests stubborn. But I think the idea of stiff-necked symbolizes more—when the neck is stiff what can a person not do? They cannot turn their head and take in information from different points of view. Consider driving and never turning your head. Thus the stiff-necked metaphor goes beyond stubborn, it connotes a certain level of blindness, resistance to even considering or evaluating points of view that are different or new. Stiff-necked people become stuck in a single focus and are difficult to convert to the truth.

MONDAY

Read Deuteronomy 10:17-19:

> For the LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great God, mighty and awesome, who shows no partiality and accepts no bribes. He defends the cause of the fatherless and the widow, and loves the alien, giving him food and clothing. And you are to love those who are aliens, for you yourselves were aliens in Egypt (Dt 10:17–19 NIV84).

When the Bible uses the language that God is the God of gods, does that mean there are actually other gods? No, there are no other real gods, but there are many false gods, so Moses is communicating to people who have a history of coming from a polytheistic society in which it was commonly believed there were many gods. Remember Abram and Jacob had household gods until Jacob finally buried them all. And Egypt was a pagan polytheistic society and the Hebrews had been deeply affected by those teachings. So God is simply affirming to them, there is no God other than Him, the Creator of all reality.

What does this mean, “the great God, mighty and awesome, who shows no partiality and accepts no bribes”?

What is a bribe?

According to the dictionary a bribe is “anything given or serving to persuade or induce.”

So, the Bible says that God accepts no bribes, do you believe this? I certainly do.

But do you realize that almost all of Christianity does not believe this? Do you realize many in our own church do not believe this? Do you realize that most of Christianity teaches just the opposite of this—they teach that Jesus died to pay a blood payment to God so that God will be persuaded, propitiated, assuaged, appeased, have His wrath turned away so He will declare us to be righteous even though we are not and therefore not kill us.

Do you realize that because of the imposed law lie, the idea that God's law functions like human law, that sin is defined as a legal problem requiring inflicted punishment and legal adjustment, that it is taught that Jesus came to be punished by God in our place and then to offer His blood to His Father to pay the Father a blood payment to induce or persuade the Father to accept us back and not kill us. This is a bribe, and it is corrupt, and it is a lie based on Satan's false view of God's law.

When we return to the truth that God's law is design law, then we realize that sin changes the sinner, and without intervention from God the sinner dies from sin, just as the Bible says "sin when full grown brings forth death" or "those who sow to the carnal nature from that nature reap destruction." And Jesus was God's means to restore His living law of love, the basis for life, back into the species human and provide a way for every willing person to have this living law restored in us. Thus, there is absolutely no bribe going on, there is sacrificial love originating in God and being bestowed upon us in Jesus and His victory over sin in our behalf.

The last paragraph, in talking about how we are to love others, states, "In other words, the Lord is telling the people, Ok, maybe you are chosen, you are special, and I love you, but I love others, too, including the needy and helpless among you. And just as I love them, you must love them, as well. This is one of your covenant obligations, and an important one, too."

What does this make you think? How does it make you feel? Do you feel relieved, freed, or burdened?

Can you love people through obligation? Can you get love through legislation? Through taxation? Through forcing yourself to do things you really don't want to do?

Would you want a spouse who has a check list of duties and carries them out because it is a rule—so on their list they:

- Smile when you come home and give you a hug and a kiss
- They, then look down at the list and read the prescribed words "I love you"
- They, then ask, "Is that sufficient or do you need to hear me say those words again?" And they offer to repeat those words as many times as you need to hear them.

Would you want a marriage like this? Would you want your children to relate to you like this?

I received this email this week:

> Thank you all for everything you do. Don't let the discouraging emails derail you. There are more of us that your ministry has blessed than there are of them.

You helped my wife and I to find our way out of a stale and repetitive 17-year-old SDA experience with Revelation Seminar after seminar and knowing all kinds of facts about God and memorized Scripture but raining fire and brimstone on anyone I disagreed with on Facebook.

Your application of God's Design Laws into our everyday lives is life altering as it teaches us how to live out Jesus' character in real life through His indwelling Spirit. And for the first time in a long time, we started to see progress in the way we treated others and even each other.

When other SDA preachers always talked about denying self, they make it sound so dreary and self-punishing almost making it sound like God wants us to walk around like monks, miserable and depriving ourselves out of any pleasure. This of course is not true and incomplete.

When understood through Design Law, denying self more accurately means, If you love others more than self and you are looking out for their best interest over yours, you are in fact still denying yourself but now the heart motive is altruistic agape love like Jesus loves us and then we find joy and happiness in the whole experience not just doing the self-denying out of compliance.

I would have never understood that without your message. Thank you so very much guys for what you do. Your message has made a huge impact in my life and in my relationship with my Lord Whom I love now more than ever by seeing just how much more amazing His character is, especially in the way He has dealt with humanity through His Design Laws.

May God continue to Bless you all,

Have you had a similar experience? Is there a difference between loving others out of compliance and loving others because the heart has been changed?

This is why the new covenant is writing the law on our hearts and minds—it is the living law of love restored into the heart and mind that becomes the wellspring of action. It isn't primarily about the external behavior, but the motive that drives that behavior.

And even when we are restored to hearts that love, does God call each of us to love others in the exact same way—in other words, do we all have the same specific duties to carry out in ministry? No! Our service for God and others will necessarily be different based on God's wisdom, our talents, our position, or place in society, our willingness to work with God, our gifting by the Spirit etc.

TUESDAY

The lesson again focuses our attention on helping the stranger. What does that look like?

How can a desire to help others be used by Satan to hurt others?

When the desire to help is carried out by people who don't understand reality, who don't understand God's design laws, who don't understand the circumstance or situation, who are carrying out their ministry:

- to keep a rule
- fulfill an obligation
- obey a commandment
- make themselves feel good
- make themselves look good
- get credit

If we really want to help others we must understand reality, God's design law, the actual need of the person from an eternal point of view, not merely a temporal point of view. And then sometimes the best help we can provide is to let the person suffer—am I being harsh? Am I making this up? Am I being unloving?

Consider what Paul wrote, "For even when we were with you, we gave you this rule: "If a man will not work, he shall not eat" (2 Th 3:10 NIV84).

Was Paul being unkind, unloving, cruel? Or was Paul fulfilling the commandment to love his neighbor? How, why?

Which is more in harmony with God's design, God's law of love, what Paul wrote or the Basic Universal Income proposed by some politicians today? Understand, the Basic Universal Income is not disability income, it is not retirement income, it is not poverty subsistence—it is income to be given to able-bodied people regardless of ability to obtain employment and provide for themselves.

What would likely happen to your teenage child if you provided them with perpetual income without any requirements to achieve, they don't need to go to school, or work, you put money into their bank account every month for them to do as they please?

Consider story of the prodigal son, what did he do with his inheritance? And once he spent it all and ended up in poverty, why didn't the father intervene and give him a Basic Universal Income? Didn't the father love that child?

Understand how Satan manipulates people through empathy and compassion to take actions that approximate or mimic love, but are actually violations of God's design laws and end up injuring and harming.

We cannot effectively carry out love for others while violating God's design laws for life. In other words, effective love for others cannot be done by rules, only by living out God's design laws, which require we actually understand them!

What about God allowing Israel to be taken into captivity by Babylon—was God being unloving?

If your grandmother is weak and struggles to walk, but is still able to walk, is it an act of love to give her a motorized wheelchair for her home so that she doesn't have to walk anymore? What if your grandmother has arthritis and walking is painful—would it then be an act of love to give her the wheelchair?

If your child struggles to learn to read or do math at a fourth-grade level, is it an act of love to pass them to the fifth grade even if they haven't mastered their current level? What would happen when faced with even more difficult material at the higher level? What happens to their developing sense of self?

If you're hiking with your spouse and she falls and breaks a leg, and you need to splint her leg, but doing so will cause more pain, would it be an act of love to splint the leg? Would it be loving to have surgery even if that caused pain? And when it is time for physical therapy and your spouse cries from the pain, is it an act of love to do her exercises for her?

What if it is not a broken leg, but a broken heart—she has been traumatized in the past and is hurting—is it an act of love to focus on merely relieving her pain, or to focus on healing the emotional wound even if the work to heal is painful? What if she gets angry and accuses you of attacking her—is it love to accept the accusation and apologize for trying to help?

If your child has a temper tantrum when you don't give them candy, is it an act of love to give them the candy to stop their tantrum? What if it isn't a child, but an adult, perhaps your spouse, who yells, accuses, screams, threatens to leave, or even threatens suicide if you don't do something they want—is it an act of love to give in to them in order to calm them down?

Once there is brokenness, there are no pain-free options. The path of love is to bring healing, even though the healing interventions are painful. Unfortunately, many people focus merely on the immediate experience and instead of seeking to heal, they seek to relieve the pain or discomfort and, thus, actually harm. Love understands design law and reality and acts to heal and restore even if it is painful.

WEDNESDAY

The first paragraph states, "As believers, we have been called to reflect the character of God. Paul wrote about 'my little children, for whom I labor in birth again until Christ is formed in you'" (Galatians 4:19 NKJV).

No question we want Christ formed within us. Any questions or point to clarify in this statement?

What about the idea of being called to "reflect" the character of Christ? Is that the same as saying we have been called to "reveal" the character of Christ?

What is the difference and which do you think is more accurate to use?

Consider this quote from the book Education, does it describe a rule or a principle and if a principle does it apply even to our relationship with God, why or why not?

> Every human being, created in the image of God, is endowed with a power akin to that of the Creator—individuality, power to think and to do. The men in whom this power is developed are the men who bear responsibilities, who are leaders in enterprise, and who influence character. It is the work of true education to develop this power, to train the youth to be thinkers, and not mere reflectors of other men's thought. [Is this only other men's thoughts or not mere reflectors of God's thoughts?] Instead of confining their study to that which men have said or written, let students be directed to the sources of truth, to the vast fields opened for research in nature and revelation. Let them contemplate the great facts of duty and destiny, and the mind will expand and strengthen. Instead of educated weaklings, institutions of learning may send forth men strong to think and to act, men who are masters and not slaves of circumstances, men who possess breadth of mind, clearness of thought, and the courage of their convictions. Ed 17.2

What do you think? Do we bear God's image by thinking for ourselves, exercising godly powers of individuality, power to think and act, or do we bear the image of God by being reflectors of God's character?

Consider, is there a difference between a bicycle reflector and a headlight? What is the difference?

What did Jesus call us to be—reflectors in the world, or lights in the world?

In John 15:15, Jesus says, "I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you" (John 15:15 NIV84).

What is the difference between a servant and friend? Servants do what they are told, but they don't necessarily understand, but a friend who joins with their friend to carry out their work does so out of understanding appreciation and willing participation.

What is the last fruit of the Spirit when the Spirit has His way in our lives? It is "self-control" we have fear and selfishness removed and our liberty, our freedom to live out God's design law under the direction of our God-given abilities is restored to us. This is how we are lights in the world, not puppets, not robots, not reflectors, by living lights who freely love God and others.

Read second paragraph, "It's all kind of proverbial…" Can we achieve godly justice through human governments, human laws, inflicted punishments and coercive pressure—why or why not?

What is the best human governments can do?

- Can human government legislate unbiased laws? Laws intended to improve the lives of its citizens? Does that mean when such laws are passed that every person experiences justice under those laws?
- What else is necessary besides the best set of imposed laws humans could ever devise in order to have the least biased government possible?
- Governmental officials who have Jesus in their hearts and are mature in the things of God. Even if you have good laws, if you have godless, atheistic, pagan, or imperial law believing God-believers in office, you will have corruption in the application of the laws and injustice will occur.

The best human governments are the ones that maximize liberty for their people. But let's be very clear here—every kingdom, nation, government of this earth is part of Satan's kingdom—every one. So they are all beastly, they all commit injustice, they all injure and harm and we will NEVER achieve God's goals for humanity through human governments.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Again we see the Lord's concern…" Don't oppress them why? Because in the eyes of the Lord it is sin? Meaning what? That if the Lord didn't see it as sin it would be okay to oppress them? That oppressing people isn't sin in its own right, it is only sin because the Lord sees it that way?

Is this how we understand sin, sin is sin because God says it is, or is sin sin because it violates God's design law for health and damages and destroys those who break God's design law. And God says it to educate us, enlighten us, warn us, protect us, but even if God didn't say it, it is still sin?

Which way do you see it?

Human law doesn't work this way. Human law requires the law to be enacted by some authorized way, and then posted in some way, and breaking it isn't illegal until it is actually imposed first. For instance, illegal substances are not illegal until the specifical molecular structure is written into a new law and made illegal. Thus, new designer drugs keep getting released onto the market that are not illegal until the government identifies them and passes a new rule making them illegal. But, even without the imposed law making them illegal, all of these substances violate the laws of health. This is the difference between human law and God's law.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 6
For What Nation Is There So Great?

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

The lesson points out that the first three chapters of Deuteronomy is a history of the Lord's deliverance and what the people had been through up to that point. Then chapter four starts off with a conjunction "And now" or "So now" and in the NIV it is rendered "Hear now."

The lesson then states

> That's why the first verb that appears after "So now" is shama', the same verb (in the same form) as used in the beginning of the Shema prayer, and it means "hear" or "listen" or "obey"—a verb repeated all through Deuteronomy. Thus, the chapter begins: So now, Israel, because of what I have done for you, you must obey the following….

What do you think if this interpretation of what the Bible is saying?

Understand, what the lesson has written is commentary, it is opinion, it is expert theological opinion, but it is not words from God, it is to be evaluated by us, through the enlightening of by the Holy Spirit to come to our own conclusion. Just as is everything I teach—I am fallible, I share the best of my understanding, but I am not here to do your thinking for you, only stimulate you to think and consider and then conclude for yourself.

This is one of the reasons I like the SDA quarterly, because it is thought provoking—it stimulates me to think, it requires me to think and reason and investigate the evidence for myself. And thus, it is very useful for Bible study as long as I always remember the quarterly is not the Bible, it is a tool to help me study the Bible.

So, what do you think of this interpretation? How would you like this applied to your life by some person? Someone does a real kindness for you, maybe even lifesaving—a good Samaritan rescues you from a fire, a person donates bone marrow that saves you from leukemia, a person pays off your mortgage so you don't get evicted from your house. And they do this without you asking them, they just became aware of your need and did this for you. And then afterward, when things have settled down, they come to you and say, "So now, because of what I have done for you, you must obey and follow me…."

What do you think of this method of getting followers? What of this method to achieve obedience?

Will it work to get trustworthy and faithful followers in human relationships?

Will it work for God to get trustworthy and faithful followers? Why or why not?

It will not work because it is presented as a debt one owes and is obliged to pay back, the act of deliverance is revealed to be not an act of love, but an act of manipulation, of indenturing, of getting people in debt so they can be controlled. Thus it is a violation of liberty.

So, because I recognize design law, the law of liberty, how love functions, I immediately was cautious about this interpretation of Scripture and did what I recommend we always do, I went to the Scripture and read it to see what it says.

> Hear now, O Israel, the decrees and laws I am about to teach you. Follow them so that you may live and may go in and take possession of the land that the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving you. (Deuteronomy 4:1 NIV84).

Do you hear God saying "because of what I have done you must now obey and follow?"

Or do you hear God describing design law—in the context of reminding them He loves them and is trustworthy? So is God saying:

> Remember what I have revealed to you, what I have done for you, how I have delivered you. How nature itself is under my control. Recognize I don't need anything from you, but want to bless you and free you. So, listen, comprehend, understand, learn what I am teaching you about myself and my laws, which are how reality operates. Follow them if you want to be healthy, happy, succeed, and overcome your enemies in this world?

Which way do you think is more accurate to what God is saying in Deuteronomy?

Is God saying the same thing to us today, that we are to remember how the Lord has delivered us in the past, all that that He has done for humanity in general and also for each of us personally, and then under that umbrella of His historic acts of love, we are to learn about Him, His character, His design laws, His methods and principles and, if we want to succeed, be healthy, happy, and overcome the obstacles in this world today, then we are to live in harmony with Him and His design laws trusting Him with outcomes?

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Deuteronomy 4:2:

> Do not add to what I command you and do not subtract from it, but keep the commands of the LORD your God that I give you. (Deuteronomy 4:2 NIV84).

What does this mean? Does this mean not to add or subtract from the actual words, or not to add or subtract from the instructions, commands, directions, principles, truths?

Some people get very literalistic and believe there is something magical or supernatural about the words and that to paraphrase the Scripture adding words not in the original is to disobey this directive from God. Is it?

No! If we cannot change the words of Scripture for new words then the Bible can never be translated into any language and must be read in the original Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek. But the syllables that form words are not inspired of God—it is the concepts, truths, insights, wisdom that God inspires the Bible writers to comprehend, but the words were chosen by the humans. Thus as long as the truths, the concepts, are accurately communicated it is appropriate to replace words and even add words as necessary to bring the thought over. All translations do this. In the King James Version they will italicize all the words that are added to make it more understandable. Most of the time this is helpful. Sometimes it changes the meaning in the wrong direction, like in John 12:32:

> "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me" (John 12:32 KJV).

So adding to or subtracting from the commands is not about the words but the realities of life, the responsibilities and duties of Israel in fulfilling the purpose for God in their time.

The adding and subtracting was adding Corban that allowed people to subtract their duty to their parents. It was adding a list of deeds to the Sabbath that subtracted their love for God and the freedom the Sabbath was intended to remind us of.

The lesson asks, "why would anyone want to change God's law?"

Then they provide this quote from Selected Messages book 2, p. 107:

> Satan has been persevering and untiring in his efforts to prosecute the work he began in heaven, to change the law of God. He has succeeded in making the world believe the theory he presented in heaven before his fall, that the law of God was faulty, and needed revising. A large part of the professed Christian church, by their attitude, if not by their words, show that they have accepted the same error. But if in one jot or tittle the law of God has been changed, Satan has gained on earth that which he could not gain in heaven. He has prepared his delusive snare, hoping to take captive the church and the world. But not all will be taken in the snare. A line of distinction is being drawn between the children of obedience and the children of disobedience, the loyal and true and the disloyal and untrue. Two great parties are developed, the worshipers of the beast and his image, and the worshipers of the true and living God. 2SM 107.2

Satan began his war in heaven over an attack on God's law, advancing the theory that God's law was faulty and needing revising.

What is revealed in this statement—what is the imbedded lie hidden in Satan's attack?

That God's law is subject to revision—in other words it is not design law, it is imposed rules.

Consider the same author describing the law angels understood in heaven when Lucifer began his rebellion:

> But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of… MB 109.2 [What kind of law can be in force and people are obeying it but they have not thought about it; they haven't been told about it; they don't even realize there is a law? Only design law can function this way. Consider Isaac Newton telling his friends his discovery about the law of gravity—don't you think they might have said, "Law—hmmm…I never thought it was a law, it just how things work"?]

Remember this commentary on sin's origin in heaven from the book The Desire of Ages:

> In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. DA 761.4

What kind of law is Satan promoting? Imposed, human-like law, which requires the infliction of punishment. And what happened when heavenly intelligences accepted this idea? Rebellion, division, destruction of love!

Do you see Satan's attack? Do you understand how Christianity has been infected with this false view of God and God's law?

What is the final message to prepare the world for Christ's return? The message of the 3 Angels which is the eternal good news about God—to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water—to worship the Creator and not the dictator who imposes rules and punishes rule-breakers.

So, how is the Christian church today advancing Satan's lie about God's law? Through all penal legal theologies that teach God is the source of pain suffering and death inflicted to punish sin. That Jesus died to pay a legal penalty to God or our legal debt, or to pay God off for our sin. That it is righteous and just to inflict punishment for law-breaking. And therefore, leading its members to join with the state to enforce laws they believe are right upon others, even in violation of conscience. Human law is not God's law.

We can never achieve God's goal through Satan's methods—we cannot achieve love, friendship, loyalty, trustworthiness by legislation, rules, rule-enforcement, in other words through more human governments.

Understand, as the world has rejected God it has fallen under Satan's influence, the hearts of people have become more corrupt, the design laws of God are rejected, and arbitrary rules and standards are elevated:

- Darkness is called light and light is called darkness
- Truth is called hate speech and hate speech is called truth
- Males are called females and females are called males
- Merit is called discrimination and discrimination is called equity
- Practices that harm are advanced as cures
- Policies that injure are presented as treatments to heal.
- And society decays, the social fabric that makes a society healthy frays and greater corruption occurs—this results in more fear, greater perversion, greater pain, suffering, sickness both physical and moral and people respond by implementing more of Satan's methods—more law, more demands, mandates, rules, coercive government and greater violations of liberty—which always destroys love, damages individual development and drives to greater rebellion, division in society and injustice and human suffering.

Consider the following, written by EG White, February 26, 1914, a little more than a year before she died:

> Had Israel taken heed to the messages of the prophets emphasizing the value of "the great things" of God's law, they would have been spared the humiliation that followed. It was because they persisted in turning aside from his law that God was compelled to allow their enemies to take them captive. [What law? Imposed rules, or God's design law given through all Scripture? Remember over and again the prophetic message of justice was loving people, not rule-keeping?] "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge," was his message to them through Hosea. "Because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, ... seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God." Hosea 4:6. [What knowledge had they rejected? Creator worship whose law is design law of love, truth, freedom and they preferred pagan gods with imposed laws instead. So God would teach them reality, cause and effect, which is design law. Note what comes next] In trial and affliction they were to learn lessons that under circumstances more favorable they had refused to learn. RH February 26, 1914, par. 1 [If a child refuses to learn by the favorable circumstances of instruction not to touch a hot stove, then the child eventually learns through the trial of touching the stove and the affliction of getting burned.]
> In every age, transgression of God's law has been accompanied by the same result. [What is the result of transgressing God's law? Why?] In the days of Noah, when every precept of this law was set aside, iniquity became so deep and widespread that God could no longer bear with it…" [Why? Because God lost patience? He really isn't infinite in love, mercy, grace? Or He could no longer bear with it because to bear any more would mean the loss of Noah the last family that would work with God to bring the Messiah and thus God would lose humanity?] In the time of Abraham, the people of Sodom openly defied God and his law; and there followed the same wickedness, the same corruption, the same unbridled indulgence, that had marked the antediluvian world… The time preceding the downfall of the northern kingdom was one of similar disobedience and of similar wickedness. [What happens when people reject God's design law? Why does this happen?] God's law was counted as a thing of naught, and this opened the floodgates of iniquity upon Israel… "RH February 26, 1914, par. 2 [What would happen in a society if it was taught there are no laws of health. You can eat and drink anything, never exercise, put any drug or as much alcohol as you want into your body and it has zero impact on your health. If society lived this way what would happen? A floodgate of health problems, disability, sickness, and corruption of the species. The same is true when God's moral law, the principles of love, truth, liberty are rejected.]

And as it was then so it is today. Men boast of the wonderful progress and enlightenment of the age, but God sees the earth filled with guilt and violence. Men declare that the law of God has been abrogated, that the Bible is not authentic; and as a result, a tide of evil, such as has seldom been seen since the days of Noah and the days of apostate Israel, is sweeping over the world. [Do we live in a world where belief in God is denied, where the institutions of society declare there is no God, that we evolved from lower life forms, where the leaders of industry are also godless? What is the result of rejecting the knowledge of God?] Lawlessness, dissipation, extravagance, and corruption are coming in upon us as an overwhelming flood. Nobility of soul, gentleness, piety, are bartered away to gratify the lust for forbidden things. The taking of human life is a matter of daily occurrence. The terrible record of crime daily committed for the sake of gain is enough to chill the blood and fill the soul with horror. [Are we seeing this ins the world today?] "Judgment is turned away backward, and justice standeth afar off: for truth is fallen in the street, and equity cannot enter. Yea, truth faileth; and he that departeth from evil maketh himself a prey." RH February 26, 1914, par. 3

The time is right upon us when there will be sorrow in the world that no human balm can heal. [Are we living in this time? What is the cause of the sorrow? Rejecting of God and God's design laws. Why can't human medications, treatments, laws, interventions heal it?] The Spirit of God is being withdrawn from the world. [Why? Where is the dwelling place of the Spirit of God on earth? The Spirit Temple, the hearts and minds of people. And what happens when billions reject God and prefer the lies of Satan, the evolutionary worldview? The Spirit of God is withdrawn as we choose to reject God. And what is the result?] Disasters by sea and land follow one another in quick succession. How frequently we hear of earthquakes and tornadoes, of destruction by fire and flood, with great loss of life and property. Apparently these calamities are capricious outbreaks of seemingly disorganized, unregulated forces, but in them God's purpose may be read. They are one of the means by which he seeks to arouse men and women to a sense of their danger. RH February 26, 1914, par. 4 [Why do the calamities come? Why does God allow it? To wake the sleeping saints, the five wise virgins to understand the hour in which we live. To shine their light of godly character, methods, principles in standing for truth, loving our enemies, praying for those who persecute, while leaving others free. Of refusing to bow the knee to the imperial systems of this world, refusing to go along with imposed mandates that coerce the consciences of people under the guise of saving live.]

"As the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.... Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come." RH February 26, 1914, par. 5

The prophecies of judgment delivered by Amos and Hosea were tempered with prophecies of future glory. According to Hosea, the children of Israel were to "abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim. Afterward," the prophet continued, "shall the children of Israel return, and seek the Lord their God, and David their king; and shall fear the Lord and his goodness in the latter days." RH February 26, 1914, par. 6 [God doesn't just warn of tragedy, He encourages with the promise of deliverance to His faithful! But when is the prophecy to be fulfilled, upon which people is it applicable? Consider what this author says.]

This prophecy is to reach its complete fulfillment in the gathering out from all nations of a people prepared for the second coming of Christ. The remnant of Israel is symbolized by a woman, representing the Lord's chosen church on the earth. [It is not about genetics—it never has been. It is always about character, about having faith like Abraham to be reconciled to God in trust and through that faith/trust receive the indwelling Spirit who takes the righteousness of Christ and reproduces it us.] "Behold," he says, "I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak comfortably unto her. [What does this mean? Wilderness is away from the kingdoms of the world, it is out of Babylon—leaving the systems and methods of this world behind and returning to the garden—to worshipping the Creator whose laws are design laws.] And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for a door of hope; and she shall sing there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt. And it shall be at that day, [when? At the time of the final generation that is alive when Jesus comes again!] saith the Lord, that thou shalt call me Ishi ["My husband," margin]; and shalt call me no more Baali ["My lord," margin]. For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall no more be remembered by their name." RH February 26, 1914, par. 7 [We will call God "My husband" meaning the lover of our souls. We will be restored to at-one-ment—the two shall be one. We will be united in love and we will no longer call God "my lord" meaning master. We will be friends and not servants. This means we come back to worship God as Creator and reject the false Baalim dictator god of imposed rules, which means we return to Design Law worship and reject the human-law lie of Satan, the kingdoms of the world, and penal substitution theology.]

In the last days of this earth's history, God's covenant with his commandment-keeping people is to be renewed. [What is the covenant? Writing His design law for life into our hearts and minds!] "In that day I will make a covenant…and I will betroth thee unto me forever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in loving-kindness, and in mercies. I will even betroth thee unto me in faithfulness; and thou shalt know the Lord. RH February 26, 1914, par. 8 [What is life eternal? Knowing God—being united in heart and mind. Having His design law of love written into our hearts and minds. Consider the law that binds a man and woman together in marriage? Is this law human law? No! It is God's law of love, the binding of hearts together cannot be done by force, by legislation, by rule, by external authority. God is saying He will heal our hearts, take away our fear, and unite Himself with us in eternal love and trust if we will unite with Him!]

"And it shall come to pass in that day, [What day? The time right before the second coming of Christ. Today, our day right now!] I will hear, saith the Lord, I will hear the heavens, and they shall hear the earth; and the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil; [What does this mean? The corn is the Word, the Truth revealed in Christ, the wine is the blood or sinless life of Christ which revealed and lived out perfectly the living law of love and the oil is the Spirit of truth and love that applies into our hearts the Truth and Love of Christ, which is the righteousness of Christ, which is the law of God.] and they shall hear Jezreel. And I will sow her unto me in the earth; and I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God." Hosea 2:14-23. RH February 26, 1914, par. 9 [What is described? The application of the righteousness of Christ into all willing human hearts upon the earth to prepare us for Christ's return.]

"In that day, [what day? the time just prior to the second coming—our day!] ... the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Jacob, ... shall stay upon the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, in truth." Isaiah 10:20. From "every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people" there will be those who will gladly respond to the message, "Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come." [What will happen in this people who are the remnant, who are reconciled to God, who have the covenant of God's law restored in them?] They will turn from every idol that binds them to this earth, and will "worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters." [They reject the imposed law lies and all the pagan views of God that fill the earth and return to worship the Creator, Designer and Builder of reality!] They will free themselves from every entanglement, and will stand before the world as monuments of God's mercy. [We are God's evidence, God's witnesses, God's revelation as we are the living monuments of God's living law of love! Like Job, God will say, "Look universe, consider my friends, they are perfect and righteous in all their ways! They have trusted me and my living law if restored with them.] Obedient to every divine requirement, they will be recognized by angels and by men as those that "keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus." [This is our privilege, to receive Christ, to be reconciled to God, to have His living law written into our hearts, to have fear and selfishness purged, to have our Spirit Temples cleansed, to be lights in the darkness, to love our enemies and pray for them that would abuse us, to reject the imposed laws of this world, to say no to human justice, and to live in harmony with our Creator God of love.] Revelation 14:6, 7, 12. RH February 26, 1914, par. 10

What was God's goal for Israel? What did He want to accomplish through them beyond being the bloodline for the Messiah?

Did He want to reveal the principles of life lived out upon the earth—to contrast the difference in the two antagonistic principles?

What is God wanting from His people today, from this generation on earth? Does He want a people who have surrendered to Him and who have His law written upon their hearts so that they live out His design laws in their lives in contrast to the imposed law methods of this world?

Is that what Revelation 12:17 means:

> Then the dragon was enraged at the woman and went off to make war against the rest of her offspring—those who obey God's commandments and hold to the testimony of Jesus. (Revelation 12:17 NIV84).

Does obeying the commandments mean keeping a list of rules or living in harmony with God's design laws—having the law written upon the heart and mind? And holding to the testimony of Jesus, does that mean belonging to an organization that possesses the writings of dead prophets, or that the living people cling to or hold to the same testimony about God that Jesus gave—"If you have seen me you have seen the Father?" Thus this group of people reject the imposed law lie of a penal legal theology and live out God's design laws and present the same testimony about God as Jesus did.

This is the purpose of God's people on earth today—to reveal His character, to live out His living law of love, to give the testimony Jesus gave about His Father, to call people back to Creator worship and in the face of threat, opposition, hostility, rejection to have faith in Jesus, trust Him with the future, with the outcome, to keep our eyes on Christ and not be overwhelmed by the raging storms the devil is bringing.

This is the second message of the three angels—to come out of Babylon that fallen system of imposed and contradictory rules. We must stop seeking to get justice through human law. We must stop seeking to enforce what we believe is right through human governments. We must stop seeking to compel and coerce others to live by our moral standards. We must love God and others as Jesus has loved us—present the truth in love and leave others free.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the apostacy at Baal Peor. This was when the Midianites paid Balaam to curse Israel, but Balaam blessed Israel repeatedly, and eventually counseled the Midian kings to seduce Israel into worshipping Baal.

The strategy they employed was to send seductive women into the camp of Israel under the guise of friendship and seduce the men. Then Balaam, who was considered a prophet, invited the people to a pagan festival. At the pagan festival the senses were bombarded with music, dancing and alcohol, eventually leading the people to engage in promiscuous lewd sensual behavior, followed by worshipping Baal and offering sacrifices to Baal.

This was followed by pagan rituals being brought back into the camp of Israel.

God responds by sending a plague and Moses instructed that the leaders of Israel that participated in the pagan worship must be put to death by the members of their own tribe. As the people were repenting before the tabernacle, one leader brought a Midianite prostitute into the camp and Phineas, the son of Eleazer the High Priest, ran a javelin through them both and the plague was halted. Then God instructed the people, through Moses, to war against the Midianites and eradicate them—which they did.

What are your thoughts about these events?

What is the context of what is happening?

The overarching context is God working to fulfill His promise of Genesis 3:15, that the seed of the woman would crush the serpent's head. In other words, God is working to bring Jesus, the Messiah, without whom no human being could be saved. God had already revealed that it was through Abraham's descendants that the Messiah would come—but not all of them, not through Ishmael, it was through Isaac, and not through Esau, but through Jacob.

So the Bible focuses our attention on the plan of salvation, on the people through whom God is working to bring salvation to humanity. And Satan is actively fighting to stop God's plan. We see this repeatedly throughout the Bible record. At this point in history Satan stirs up the Midianites to try and destroy the people of God, if not literally by killing them, then by corrupting their minds and hearts and hardening them all so that none would be righteous and willing to work with God to be the conduit for the Messiah.

So God intervenes, makes a diagnostic judgment of what is happening and then makes a therapeutic judgment of what is needed to stop the assault on the hearts and minds of the people and keep open the avenue for Messiah.

This is what is transpiring.

We must remember all those who were put to "death" were put to "sleep" or first death, which is the death from which there is a resurrection. This is not the "punishment" from sin "death" that happens at the end of the 1000 years. So, it would be a mistake to equate these deaths with punishment for sin—it has another purpose, which is the therapeutic intervention to provide Jesus to save humanity. And there is also and object lesson application, but that is not the primary purpose, that would be a bonus application of the events.

TUESDAY

Read Deuteronomy 4:3,4:

> You saw with your own eyes what the LORD did at Baal Peor. The LORD your God destroyed from among you everyone who followed the Baal of Peor, but all of you who held fast to the LORD your God are still alive today. (Deuteronomy 4:3–4 NIV84).

The lesson asks, "What is the difference between those who fell into sin and those who didn't?"

Is there an object lesson for those of us living today?

Is Satan working to try and seduce the people of God today? How? What methods is he using?

What is the core of all pagan worship? It is the false law construct, imposed law, imposed rules, inflicted punishments for sin, appeasement etc.

Do we see these lies taught throughout Christianity?

And what happens in the minds and hearts of people who believe God functions this way?

What happens in the way they treat others?

Does Satan also attack God's people today through sensualism, worldliness, seduction, addictions?

The lesson states that the people must make a choice, to cling to God or not.

What does it mean to cling to God?

Does this remind you of Elijah—"If Baal is god worship him, but if Yahweh is God worship Him"?

Do we have a similar message today? Are we calling people to decide whom they will worship? Is this not the message of the three angels?

WEDNESDAY

Read Deuteronomy 4:5-9:

> See, I have taught you decrees and laws as the LORD my God commanded me, so that you may follow them in the land you are entering to take possession of it. 6 Observe them carefully, for this will show your wisdom and understanding to the nations, who will hear about all these decrees and say, "Surely this great nation is a wise and understanding people." 7 What other nation is so great as to have their gods near them the way the LORD our God is > near us whenever we pray to him? 8 And what other nation is so great as to have such righteous decrees and laws as this body of laws I am setting before you today?

> 9 Only be careful, and watch yourselves closely so that you do not forget the things your eyes have seen or let them slip from your heart as long as you live. Teach them to your children and to their children after them. (Deuteronomy 4:5–9 Niv84).

What is the message here? What law lens do we understand this through? Was this a message of rule-keeping, or of faithfulness and trust, of living out the principles of God first and foremost in heart, and secondarily through the theatrical system to reveal the larger plan to the people and any who came to study—such as later the Queen of Sheba?

What are the two truths that made Israel special, or great?

Being close to God and having His law.

What is the application of this to us today?

Immanuel—God with us. We are great as we open ourselves to God and have Him dwell in our hearts. We are great as we commune and walk with God and have His living law of love written upon our hearts so that we live out His principles.

God has already come down to us because we couldn't go up to Him. God has already provided the evidence of His trustworthiness. He has provided the Remedy to the sin problem. He has provided Jesus. He has provided His Spirit. All we have to do is choose to trust Him, open the heart to Him and He enters into fellowship with us, healing, renewing, regenerating, recreating, cleansing our hearts and minds from lies, fear and selfishness, writing His design law of love into us and we begin to live out His law.

Thus we are made great by being living temples in which God dwells by His Spirit and through that Spirit we become living conduits of God's law, God's truth, God's character in the world. We become lamps that give heavenly light in how we live and how we treat others by living out the law of God in the methods we apply to ourselves in how we treat others. We present truth, in love and leave others free. We don't align with the pagan systems of this world, with the imposed law systems to compel and coerce consciences. We don't give in to fear to the survival drives but we trust our lives to Jesus to protect and watch over.

THURSDAY

The lesson points out that when we are close to God and have His law in our lives that we have wisdom and understanding.

What is godly wisdom and how is it different from the wisdom of the world?

> The Spirit searches all things, even the deep things of God. 11 For who among men knows the thoughts of a man except the man's spirit within him? In the same way no one knows the thoughts of God except the Spirit of God. 12 We have not received the spirit of the world but the Spirit who is from God, that we may understand what God has freely given us. 13 This is what we speak, not in words taught us by human wisdom but in words taught by the Spirit, expressing spiritual truths in spiritual words. 14 The man without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him, and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually discerned. 15 The spiritual man makes judgments about all things, but he himself is not subject to any man's judgment:
> 16 "For who has known the mind of the Lord > that he may instruct him?"
>
> But we have the mind of Christ. (1 Corinthians 2:10–16 NIV84).

Read second paragraph, "At first glance…" What is the wisdom that comes from keeping God's commands?

So, were the Pharisees who wanted Jesus off the cross in order to obey the Sabbath command wise? Why not?

Is there a way of obeying the commands that obstructs wisdom, that blinds the mind, that hardens the heart? How is that?

What is the obedience that results in wisdom?

The Greek for obey or obedience is:

> 5218 ὑπακοή [hupakoe /hoop·ak·o·ay/] n f. From 5219; TDNT 1:224; TDNTA 34; GK 5633.[1]

The first part is hypo, as in hypoglycemia, or hypotension and means under, or low, or lowly, and the second half is akoe from which we get acoustic and means to listen, to hear. It means a humble willingness to listen, to learn, to be lead out of lies, misunderstanding, old habits, preconceived ideas, false beliefs and into better and more accurate understanding of reality, not just in comprehension but in practice. We listen, comprehend, trust, and apply to our lives what we understand.

In that choice to listen, think, comprehend, agree and apply we are united with God and we are empowered to carry out the will of God when we choose to follow what He has directed. In this process we are changed, our hearts are circumcised—we have cut out the attachments to the world, our characters are transformed, our neural pathways are rewired. This is growing up in Christ, receiving the mind of Christ, being sanctified.

[1] Strong, J. (2001). Enhanced Strong's Lexicon. Bellingham, WA: Logos Bible Software.

So an obedient person is one who eagerly listens for the voice of God and has the desire to hear, to understand, and to fulfill God's instructions and therefore chooses to do so to the best of their ability. It is not about perfect performance, it is about heart attitude.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 7
Law and Grace

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

What comes to mind from the lesson title – Law and Grace?

Read memory verse:

> I do not set aside the grace of God; for if righteousness comes through the law, then Christ died in vain" (Galatians 2:21 NKJV).

What does this mean?

Read first paragraph, "Christians of most denominations…" Which of the following statements is true:

- We have all violated God's law and because of this we are all sinners
- We are all sinners and because of this we have all violated God's law

Are these two statements the same?

Imposed law makes sin about the behavior—therefore they focus on the deeds and make statements as the lesson does: "And because we all have violated that law—'but the Scripture has confined all under sin' (Gal 3:22)—it's only God's grace that can save us."

The lesson seems to take the position that the first statement is the correct one, we are sinners because we have violated the law.

But when did any person you have ever known chosen to become a sinner?

Doesn't the Bible teach that "we are born in sin" (Ps 51:5)?

Doesn't the Bible teach that we were all in Adam when Adam sinned? And Adam changed himself to be a sinner and we are all born with Adam's attributes, propensities, or nature. In other words, we are born filled with fear and selfishness rather than perfect godly love.

The Scripture is absolutely true that "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Romans 6:23). But the reason all have sinned is because all are born sinners, all are born infected with a condition they did not choose and which, without remedy, results in symptoms we call sins. The sins are not the primary problem, the sins are they symptoms, the unavoidable result of the primary problem if that problem isn't treated or remedied.

Our ongoing sins, though they are not the cause but the symptoms, do add to the damage and if persisted in will destroy us, burn out the faculties that are sensitive to the Spirit of truth and love. If that happens we have moved ourselves beyond healing and there is nothing more God can do for us.

So what is the law spoken of in Galatians? This was the question that divided the SDA church leadership at the 1888 GC. The primary division at that conference was over this question—was the law that Paul was referring to, that was added to lead us to Christ, the ceremonial law of the sacrificial services, or the moral law of Ten Commandments.

Jones and Waggoner took the position it was the moral law and conference president, GI Butler, who wasn't there in person but sent letters, took the position that it was the ceremonial law. They both wrote documents laying out their positions. Butler's The Law in Galatians, and Waggoner's The Gospel in Galatians.

What would you say if I suggested that the leadership's attitude in choosing imposed law and rejecting design law at that meeting resulted in the loss of the outpouring of the latter rain and contributed to the delay in the second coming of Christ? Do you think that would be an overstatement?

Consider what EGW wrote after that event:

> "The law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Galatians 3:24). In this scripture, the Holy Spirit through the apostle is speaking especially of the moral law. [What law was added? The Ten Commandments—not the design law principles upon which life is built, but the written out code designed to meet human beings in their sin condition. It was necessary to put the law in this form, to add this form for our need. Why?] The law reveals sin to us, and causes us to feel our need of Christ and to flee unto Him for pardon and peace by exercising repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. 1SM 234.5 [To diagnose us, convict us and lead us to Christ for healing.]
> An unwillingness to yield up preconceived opinions, and to accept this truth, lay at the foundation of a large share of the opposition manifested at Minneapolis against the Lord's message through Brethren [E.J.] Waggoner and [A.T.] Jones. [Do we still see this today? People who have accepted the lie that God's law functions like human law and insist on the imposed law view of things and are unwilling to accept advancing light? And they do this by adherence to law, which gives them the conviction of being faithful, true, law keepers, just like the Pharisees in Christ's day. But what is the result in this clinging to the wine of Babylon, the idea that God's law is imposed added rules?] By exciting that opposition Satan succeeded in shutting away from our people, in a great measure, the special power of the Holy Spirit that God longed to impart to them. The enemy prevented them from obtaining that efficiency which might have been theirs in carrying the truth to the world, as the apostles proclaimed it after the day of Pentecost. [The latter rain was resisted, by what strategy did Satan succeed? By getting the brethren to cling to imposed law. Note what she says next, what could have been had they embraced the advancing truth.] The light that is to lighten the whole earth with its glory was resisted, and by the action of our own brethren has been in a great degree kept away from the world. 1SM 234.6 [The light that is to lighten the whole world they resisted. This is the message of the 3 angels—but hasn't the SDA church made it its mission to take the 3 angels' messages to the world? Have we? Have we taken the eternal gospel to the world when we present it through imposed law? Our church has been gifted with the message for this time in history, the truth about God's character of love and His design law for life—but that message and the power to take it to the world to a great deal has been obstructed through the persistent clinging to the imposed law lie with its penal substitutionary views that make God out to be the source of pain, suffering and death.]

The law of ten commandments is not to be looked upon as much from the prohibitory side, as from the mercy side. Its prohibitions are the sure guarantee of happiness in obedience. [How can this be? How can I have freedom and happiness if I am prohibited and restricted? Isn't real freedom in doing as I want with no law to restrict me? This is Satan's lie from the beginning, that God's law is restrictive. It is viewed this way when we accept the lie that it is imposed. But as soon as we return to worship God as Creator and realize His laws are design laws, then we are freed from the enslavement of sin and set free in Christ. When a parent prohibits their child from smoking, that prohibition is a sure guarantee of healthiness and happiness if obeyed, but if the child smokes they will experience disease which destroys health and happiness.] As received in Christ, it works in us the purity of character that will bring joy to us through eternal ages. [The law works in us the purity of Character if received in Christ—in other words, not our work, but the living law of love received in a trust relationship with Christ purges fear, we trust Him to watch out for us, we don't need to act in self-interest, our lives are His.] To the obedient it is a wall of protection. We behold in it the goodness of God, who by revealing to men the immutable principles of righteousness, seeks to shield them from the evils that result from transgression. 1SM 235.1 [The principles of health, life, happiness which are the outworking of God's character of love, built into reality as God's operational laws upon which life exists and functions. Now, to leave no doubt as to EGW's position and that we are speaking of design law, notice what she writes next.]

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death. 1SM 235.2 [This is design law, and the penal legal adherents reject it and thus the church continues to wander in the wilderness.]

The law is an expression of God's idea. When we receive it in Christ, it becomes our idea. It lifts us above the power of natural desires and tendencies, above temptations that lead to sin. "Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them" (Psalm 119:165)—cause them to stumble. 1SM 235.3

This conflict in 1888 reveals another example of one of Satan's strategies, that is to pit to either false or incomplete ideas or views against each other and get people to choose one side or the other. In this case it was pitting the ceremonial law versus the moral law and dividing the church to fight against each other and that obstructed the Spirit of Truth from being poured into their hearts

EGW wrote later:

> "I am asked concerning the law in Galatians. What law is the schoolmaster to bring us to Christ? I answer: Both the ceremonial and the moral code of ten commandments" 1SM 233.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "God is a God of love…" This is well said, and in fact, love cannot exist without freedom. Understanding this alone rules out all imposed law as a basis for God's government. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. So this alone should lead people to reject the penal views of God's law.

Read the second paragraph, "And central to the idea of moral freedom…" What is suggested? Are they suggesting that moral law is not design law, is not of the same type of law as the laws of nature?

I would suggest that the moral law is exactly the type of law that governs the rest of nature, but of a higher quality that only higher functioning intelligent beings can process, understand, and live in harmony with.

For instance the law of respiration is one of God's design laws for His Creation—but the rocks don't breathe, the stars don't take in oxygen and expel carbon dioxide. Thus, we would not say, that the law of respiration is a different type or quality of law than gravity because only living organisms operate upon it—gravity and respiration are both design laws. Likewise the moral law and the laws of nature are both design laws.

Consider this quote, do you agree or disagree?

> Every organ has its function, and our Creator has pledged Himself to keep our organs in a healthful condition if we will obey the laws implanted in our nature. The laws governing the physical nature are as truly divine in their origin and character as the laws of the ten commandments. Man is fearfully and wonderfully made; for Jehovah has inscribed His law by His own mighty hand on every part of the physical structure. Many are sick who might be well if they would but cooperate with God, surrendering soul, body, and spirit to His control. For in order to have health, we must keep ourselves in harmony with God's law. To have clean hands and a pure heart is to have peace and contentment of mind, and this is conducive to health. - 16MR 60.2 1892

Is this speaking only of the physical laws, or does the moral law affect our health?

Why is it that those who honor their parents live long on the earth? What happens when we don't love, but instead we resent, hate, and are controlled by fear and selfishness? We activate the fear circuits, which activate inflammatory cascades and we damage our bodies and die younger. But those who love have lower stress on the body, and live longer. It is reality, love is the basis of life.

For those who have parents that were abusive or untrustworthy, honoring them doesn't mean exposing yourself to abuse and ungodly treatment. It means living God's law in how you treat them. Thus, if they are ungodly, abusive, cruel, unkind, and unwilling to repent and grow, what is the way we honor them? By honoring their choice to be that way, recognizing the truth for what it is, and setting healthy boundaries so we don't get exploited and injured over and over again. We forgive them in our hearts so that we don't become filled with anger, bitterness, resentment etc., but we don't trust them until they prove they are trustworthy.

Consider this quote:

> Men and women cannot violate natural law by indulging depraved appetite and lustful passions, and not violate the law of God. Therefore He has permitted the light of health reform to shine upon us, that we may see our sin in violating the laws which He has established in our being. [What kind of law are the laws of health? And these laws are to teach us about what sin is. Sin is transgression of the law? What law, the moral law, and this law has been established in our beings, what does this mean? We were created in Adam as living temples in which God's design law of love was to operate and direct all functions. Sin breaks that design and displaces love with fear and selfishness. The plan of salvation is Jesus coming as the second Adam, taking up humanity infected with this perversion of love that tempts with fear to be selfish and purge the infection and restore God's law of love into the species. Jesus accomplished this for us. All who are won to trust in Jesus receive a new heart and right spirit, and have love poured in that casts out all fear and are empowered to live out God's law of love in their lives today.] All our enjoyment or suffering may be traced to obedience or transgression of natural law. [this would include the moral law, which is also design law.] Our gracious heavenly Father sees the deplorable condition of men who, some knowingly but many ignorantly, are living in violation of the laws that He has established. And in love and pity to the race, He causes the light to shine upon health reform. He publishes His law and the penalty that will follow the transgression of it, that all may learn and be careful to live in harmony with natural law. [Where did He publish it? In Scripture, but also in nature Romans 1:20. And what is the penalty and from where does it come? Gal 6:8] He proclaims His law so distinctly and makes it so prominent that it is like a city set on a hill. All accountable beings can understand it if they will. Idiots will not be responsible. To make plain natural law, and urge the obedience of it, is the work that accompanies the third angel's message to prepare a people for the coming of the Lord. 3T 161.2 [What is the message of the three angels? That God's law is not imposed, that Babylon the system of imposed law is fallen. That God is Creator and we are to worship Him, which means returning to design law understanding of who God is, His character of love, the sin problem, the solution for it, and then give glory to Him by revealing this truth at this time in history.]

The same power that upholds nature, is working also in man. The same great laws that guide alike the star and the atom control human life. The laws that govern the heart's action, regulating the flow of the current of life to the body, are the laws of the mighty Intelligence that has the jurisdiction of the soul. From Him all life proceeds. Only in harmony with Him can be found its true sphere of action. For all the objects of His creation the condition is the same--a life sustained by receiving the life of God, a life exercised in harmony with the Creator's will. To transgress His law, physical, mental, or moral, is to place one's self out of harmony with the universe, to introduce discord, anarchy, ruin. {Ed 99.2}

Why does God tell them again and again and again that their success is dependent upon their obedience to His law?

Read the second paragraph, "Even the most cursory…" A design law understanding makes this so simple—of course it is an absolute reality that obedience to the laws that life is built upon is a requirement for success.

But what of this idea of a covenant obligation?

Is marriage a covenant? And do marriages succeed as God designed for them, when the covenant is approached through obligation? What makes the covenant work? It is love, and so too our success with God is a covenant, an agreement, a trust relationship that we enter with Him:

- We agree with God that we are sinners, sick with a condition that we didn't choose and for which we cannot fix or heal.
- We agree that God is not under some external obligation to fix our sin problem, but because He so loved us He chose to take upon Himself the burden, pain, and suffering sin causes and overcome it for us to provide us the remedy.
- And we agree, if we trust Him, He will restore in us His design law of love.
- Our responsibility is to follow where He leads and choose to apply to our lives what He has revealed for us to do. And we do this freely, not because He will punish us if we don't, but because we happily trust Him and are eager to do it because we love Him, but also understand it is for our good or the good of others that God loves.
- Thus obedience in the Greek is: 5218 ὑπακοή [hupakoe /hoop·ak·o·ay/] n f. From 5219; TDNT 1:224; TDNTA 34; GK 5633.[1]

[1] Strong, J. (2001). Enhanced Strong's Lexicon. Bellingham, WA: Logos Bible Software.

The first part is hypo, as in hypoglycemia, or hypotension and means under, or low, or lowly, and the second half is akoe from which we get acoustic and means to listen, to hear. It means a humble willingness to listen, to learn, to be lead out of lies, misunderstanding, old habits, preconceived ideas, false beliefs and into better and more accurate understanding of reality, not just in comprehension but in practice. We listen, comprehend, trust, and apply to our lives what we understand.

So an obedient person is a lover of truth, one who eagerly listens for the voice of God and has the desire to hear, to understand, and to fulfill God's instructions and therefore chooses to do so to the best of their ability. It is not about perfect performance, it is about heart attitude.

What about the idea that grace is "God giving us what we don't deserve"?

This way of expressing the concept is too easily misunderstood or conveys wrong ideas.

If this is the definition of grace—being given something one doesn't deserve—does that mean when Satan murdered Jesus, because Jesus didn't deserve such abusive treatment, that Satan was giving Jesus grace?

What the lesson has inadvertently done is make grace the process of being undeserved rather than what grace actually is. They are right that grace is not earned by us, but that is the process, the manifestation of God's character of love. Consider grace as a noun and the action the gifting us the noun without merit is a verb. Grace is what we are gifted, providing it as a gift is the method, means, process—but grace is more than this free giving.

Merit is when you work hard you reap the rewards of your work.

- So if you get paid by your employer you have earned or merited your pay.
- If you get stronger muscles by exercising regularly you have earned or merited the growth in muscles.
- If you become a better musician because you practice four hours each day, you have earned or merited your proficiency.

Unmerited favor is when you receive something you didn't earn or didn't merit or don't have a right to claim as being owed to you. Grace in that sense is not ours to claim by right, but grace is not the process of being unmerited—grace is what is unmerited.

If someone gave you a glass of water when you were dying of thirst—you didn't buy it, earn it, work for it, it was a gift. One could say the water was unmerited, it was given to you freely but water is water, the method of its gifting is separate from the substance of what it is.

If the idea is that God's grace is not ours by our individual rights, or something we have earned like a salary is correct. But it is not correct to say, as the lesson says, grace is giving us what we don't deserve.

> "And Jesus grew in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men" (Lk 2:52 NIV84).

"Favor" in this text is the Greek word for "grace." Was the favor or grace Jesus received undeserved? Or did Jesus deserve it and yet still needed it and need to grow in it?

So what is God's grace?

Consider these texts:

- "For the LORD God is a sun and shield; The LORD will give grace and glory" (Ps 84:11 NKJV).
    - Who is the Sun of Righteousness that rises with healing in His wings?
    - Who is our shield from sin and shame?
    - Who did God give to us because He so loved the world?
    - So what does it mean the "Lord will give grace and glory"? Does it mean the Lord will send Jesus, the full disclosure, revelation, dispersal, outpouring, fulfillment, of God's grace and glory?

- "In the past God spoke to our forefathers through the prophets at many times and in various ways, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom he made the universe. The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being, sustaining all things by his powerful word" (Heb 1:1–3 NIV84).
    - Is Jesus God's glory revealed and poured out upon us?
    - Is Jesus God's grace given to us?

- "But each of us was given grace according to the measure of Christ's gift" (Eph 4:7 NRSV).
    - What does this mean?
    - Grace according to the measure of Christ's gift?

- "The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us. We have seen his glory, the glory of the One and Only, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth" (Jn 1:14 NIV84).
    - Is Jesus living grace and living truth and living glory?
    - What is this glory and truth and grace—how do you understand it?

- "From the fullness of his grace we have all received one blessing after another. For the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ" (Jn 1:16–17 NIV84).
    - Who is the source of this grace?
    - Is the truth separate from Jesus or is Jesus the source of truth and the manifestation of truth?
    - Is the grace separate from Jesus or is Jesus the source of grace and the manifestation of grace?
    - Is this grace a legal payment to God, or is this grace God pouring out Himself in Jesus to do something literal, real, powerful in the species human?

- "just as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, we too may live a new life" (Ro 6:4 NIV84).
    - What is God's glory?
    - God's character—but where do we find the manifestation of God's character? Jesus is the living reality of it, but what is a transcript of it? The law—what kind of law?
    - The law of love, God's character expressed in the living protocols of life—the principle of giving, God's glory diffusing out from Himself to all the universe to create and sustain all things.
    - Jesus was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father when Jesus perfectly restored God's law, God's character of love into the humanity He assumed.

- "May you be made strong with all the strength that comes from his glorious power" (Col 1:11 NRSV).
    - What is the power that makes us strong?
    - It is the truth, love, grace and glory of God that we receive from Jesus living in us when we trust God.

- "The heavens declare the glory of God (Ps 19:1 NIV84).
    - How do the heavens declare God's glory?
    - What is God's glory?
    - His character of love, His design law of love, which is a constant outworking of Himself in sustaining all things.

- "How great is your goodness, which you have stored up for those who fear you, which you bestow in the sight of men on those who take refuge in you" (Ps 31:19 NIV84).
    - God's goodness—His character of love, His grace, His truth, is stored up for those who fear Him—Does this remind you of any text for our time?
    - Fear God and give glory to Him for the hour if His judgment has come!
    - We are to be in awe of God, revere Him, it is the goodness of God that leads us to repentance (Romans 2:4). And seeing His goodness, His glory and grace revealed in Jesus, we revere Him and for those who revere Him He has stored up His goodness to pour out in us. Thus, we give Him glory because we receive His grace—we receive Jesus and it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.

- Jesus prayed:
    - "Father, glorify me in your presence with the glory I had with you before the world began… I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one: I in them and you in me. May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me" (Jn 17:5, 22–23 NIV84).
    - What does it mean to glorify God? To have fear and selfishness purged and God's law of love restored within such that we love God and others more than self. To be at-one with God again!

- "For the LORD God is a sun and shield; The LORD will give grace and glory" (Ps 84:11 NKJV).
    - Who is the Sun of Righteousness that rises with healing in His wings?
    - Who is our shield from sin and shame?
    - Who did God give because He so loved the world?
    - So what does it mean the "Lord will give grace and glory"? Does it mean the Lord will send Jesus, the full disclosure, revelation, dispersal, outpouring, fulfillment, of God's grace and glory?

- For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast. For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do" (Eph 2:8–10 NIV84).
    - The grace is a gift—like water in a desert is a gift—the gifting is gracious but the grace is more than the act, it is the substance of God's character, love, methods, power, glory—fully manifested in Jesus. We receive God—Him, His presence into our hearts when we trust Him, through faith. And He, Jesus living in us, is the living grace of God that heals and transforms us.

TUESDAY

Read the last paragraph, "The law often has been…" What kind of evil does the law protect us from?

- Does the law protect people from physical illness—consider Job, the man born blind, or all of nature (Romans 8)?
- Does the law protect people from being murdered—consider Uriah?
- Does the law protect people from natural disasters?
- Does the law protect people from rejection—consider Jesus?

What does the law protect us from? From having our characters, minds, hearts corrupted with sin, fear and selfishness.

Other people can do us harm, can perpetrate evil upon us and we can suffer from sickness, and natural disasters, evil in this world can harm us physically, emotionally, and tempt us spiritually—we are not protected against the temptations and hurts, we are protected against being corrupted in heart, mind and character if we cling to Jesus and stay faithful to His law of truth, love and liberty.

Jesus said,

> "Blessed are you when people insult you, persecute you and falsely say all kinds of evil against you because of me. Rejoice and be glad, because great is your reward in heaven, for in the same way they persecuted the prophets who were before you" (Mt 5:11–12 NIV84).

"In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world" (Jn 16:33 NIV84).

God's law doesn't protect us from being attacked by the evil forces in this world, it protects us from being corrupted by evil.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the Sabbath and it given again in Deuteronomy and this time emphasizing instead of creation, that God delivered them from slavery.

What is the significance of this change?

What is the significance of the Sabbath in relationship to God's moral law?

How is the Sabbath relevant to us today?

What is the difference in understanding the Sabbath through imposed versus design law lenses?

THURSDAY

"Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness" (Romans 4:3 KJV).

What does this mean?

Through imposed law lens?

Through design law?

The sinful heart is distrustful of God and enmity to God and God's law, it is antagonistic to God's methods and character. Abraham trusted God, in other words, his heart was changed from distrust to trust and God counted Abraham for what he was in reality, a changed man, a man who now trusted God.

And in trust, Abraham's heart and mind were surrendered into the hands of the Creator and God had liberty to work in Abraham to will and to do, and what does God do in people who trust Him? He heals, transforms and recreates into real righteousness.

So God, who spoke into existence, spoke or declared, when Abraham trusted, that Abraham is righteous and Abraham was transformed through faith by God's grace into righteousness—as all who trust like Abraham will be.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 8
Choose Life

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

What does the title make you think of?

Was the first thought temporal life or eternal life?

Read our memory verse, but let's read Dt 30:19 and 20:

> "I call heaven and earth as witnesses today against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both you and your descendants may live; that you may love the LORD your God, that you may obey His voice, and that you may cling to Him, for He is your life and the length of your days" (Dt 30:19–20 NKJV).

What does this passage mean to you?

What life is referred to here—temporal or eternal?

In Friday's lesson it quotes from The Great Controversy p 544:

> "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23. While life is the inheritance of the righteous, death is the portion of the wicked. Moses declared to Israel: "I have set before thee this day life and good, and death and evil." Deuteronomy 30:15. The death referred to in these scriptures is not that pronounced upon Adam, for all mankind suffer the penalty of his transgression. It is "the second death" that is placed in contrast with everlasting life" (GC 544).

Is there a connection with receiving life, blessings and love for God and obeying His voice? What is that connection?

Is there a connection between cursing, death and not loving God and disobeying His voice? What is that connection?

Do you see how the view of God's law we take impacts our understanding of these questions?

Do you see how the view of God's law we take impacts our understanding of God's character, if we believe the imposed law view we actually end up worshipping a different god that our Creator God.

Read the first three paragraphs in Sabbath's lesson, "Always, it's a sad story…"

What do you think of this woman's plan?

Are the premises or ideas that have caused her to pursue this path without merit? Or is there a real rational basis to her approach? For instance:

- Can we die and live again? Don't we believe Jesus died and rose again? Don't we believe Moses died and rose again, and others? Don't we believe in the future resurrection?
    - So if is possible to live again after dying, then the idea of dying and living again is not far-fetched to us.
- What about having our individuality, personhood transferred to another body—an upgraded body, a body that is not diseased an immortal body? Do we believe that this can happen?
    - Will that body be this exact same physical body we live in now, made of the same particles of matter our bodies have now, just with all the defects fixed, or will it be made of different physical matter? Consider this quotation from EGW:
        - Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. God in His own time will call forth the dead, giving again the breath of life, and bidding the dry bones live. The same form will come forth, but it will be free from disease and every defect. It lives again bearing the same individuality of features, so that friend will recognize friend. There is no law of God in nature which shows that God gives back the same identical particles of matter which composed the body before death. God shall give the righteous dead a body that will please Him. {6BC 1093.2}

- There are reports of people dying, but doing so in places where the body rapidly cooled and being resuscitated up to 18 hours later https://leaps.org/coming-back-from-the-dead-is-no-longer-science-fiction/particle-2
    - Do we know the time limit on this?
- So, is there a logic a rationale that if she were to cryogenically freeze her brain she could be resuscitated and have her individuality transferred to a new body, perhaps a cybernetic body in the future?

My view of those who have died and been resuscitated many hours later is that they were in fact not dead, as my definition of death is necrosis not mere cessation of heartbeat or brain function, cellular death is true death from my view.

A recent 60 minutes segment interviewed Yuval Noah Harari, Israeli professor of history and intellectual, author of Sapiens: A Brief History of Humankind predicts an end to homo sapiens and a replacing humans with a new upgraded species genetically or cybernetically enhanced. Or transferring our consciousness to completely artificial platforms.

He makes the difference between consciousness and intelligence. Consciousness is the ability to feel, love or hate, to have compassion, to have conviction of right and wrong, a morality. But intelligence is about problem solving. Artificial intelligence has immense problem solving ability but with no consciousness, no feelings, no conscience, no moral compass.

Who does that describe? Satan—Satan is highly intelligent, can process information, problem solve, but he has destroyed within himself the faculties that love, that have compassion, that has any conviction of wrong—yes I suspect he feels hate, anger, rage—so not a complete cyborg, but the plan to enhance humans is designed to make us more like Satan and less like Jesus. And it will be sold to us as a way to make us better, but it will not.

I wrote a blog about this in June 2021 entitled Human 2.0: The Rise of the Cyborg—Disconnecting Humans From God in which I describe my concern that these actions are designed by Satan to change the human brain in such a way that we no longer are capable of connecting with the Holy Spirit.

This is designed to destroy the image of God in humankind. This is Satan's goal to make humans to be the temple of his character. It will be presented as advancing and enhancing and improving the species—but it is just like the temptation to Eve—take the fruit to make yourself more knowledgeable, better, more godlike but it instead corrupted her and effaced the image of God in humankind. Then the antediluvians corrupted humankind further consider this quote:

> But if there was one sin above another which called for the destruction of the race by the flood, it was the base crime of amalgamation of man and beast which defaced the image of God, and caused confusion everywhere. 3Spiritual Gifts 64

Sadly millions will eagerly line up to take these augmentations if they become available.

So, is this woman's plan without rationale or logic?

So the premises that cause her to seek this path are not irrational, but what is? What is the part that does make her plan irrational and doomed to fail? That even if human technology could at some point achieve this, it would be resuscitating people into mortal bodies, still subject to death, with carnal natures and the life that they have is still infected with fear and selfishness who experience the pain and suffering that sin brings and who would likely have the image of God destroyed in the process. It is not eternal life that comes from harmony with God. It is Satan's counterfeit fruit offering people to pursue as a means to save self while remaining in sin.

So, in the end this is truly doomed to fail.

SUNDAY

The Tree of Life—any questions about this?

The lesson quotes from The Great Controversy page 532:

> "In the midst of Eden grew the tree of life, whose fruit had the power of perpetuating life. Had Adam remained obedient to God, he would have continued to enjoy free access to this tree and would have lived forever. But when he sinned he was cut off from partaking of the tree of life, and he became subject to death. The divine sentence, "Dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return," points to the utter extinction of life." The Great Controversy 532.

What does this mean?

- Would access to the tree prevent death if one were beheaded, or incinerated, or vaporized in a nuclear explosion?
- My view is that the tree provided something nutritional that prevented all physiological aging, infections, decay, provided healing powers from physical injuries much more robustly than we have now, but it would not have prevented Cain from smashing Abel's head with a stone.
- And if access to the fruit were to in some way prevent physiological death despite being beheaded, or being blasted with high dose radiation, or torn apart by wild animals, if that were true (which I don't think is so) how would the fruit have likely been used once human beings were corrupted by sin? to torture others.

Why did God remove the tree of life? If God would not have removed the tree of life from the earth after Adam's sin, what would have been the most likely result?

If there were the proverbial fountain of youth in existence today on earth, a fountain that prevented aging, and even perhaps healed injuries and diseases—who do you think would control it and who would be granted access to it?

Do you think if such a fountain existed on earth it would bring greater peace or greater conflict, greater harmony or more war, greater love or greater exploitation?

So, if the wicked, the unrepentant, those who love Satan's ways had access to the tree of life, what would be created? Hell—a place of perpetual torment, exploitation, and evil.

So, God in mercy, in love, removed the tree of life from the earth until He could fulfill His plan to remove sin from people and restore His law of love in us. Then, He will return the tree to earth and we will have access to it again.

What does "The divine sentence, 'Dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return,' points to the utter extinction of life" mean?

Does it mean God pronounced a judicial sentence upon them—they broke a rule and God sentenced them to death—or does it mean they changed themselves to be out of harmony with how God built life and the unavoidable result is decay—disconnected from God the source of life, slow wearing out, ruin and death?

God's sentence upon them did not cause their death sentence, or inflict it, God's sentence announced it, pronounced it, confirmed it, made plain the reality of their terminal condition.

Another thought about the Tree of Life—does life have its origins in a tree? Another way to ask this is—where did the tree come from? Did God create the tree? Then the tree gets its life sustaining powers from God, not inherent in itself, and thus life comes from God, not from a tree. God, for some reason, has chosen to use the tree to sustain and maintain human life in Eden, similarly to how God uses fruits and nuts today to give us life, but life really doesn't come from any tree—all life comes from God.

- In him was life, and that life was the light of men. (Jn 1:4 NIV84).

- I am the bread of life. Your forefathers ate the manna in the desert, yet they died. But here is the bread that comes down from heaven, which a man may eat and not die. I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. This bread is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world" (Jn 6:48–51 NIV84).

Consider this quote:

> "Christ is the source of our life, the source of immortality. He is the tree of life, and to all who come to Him He gives spiritual life" (RH Jan. 26, 1897). {7BC 989.8}

MONDAY

Following up on Sunday's lesson, the lesson on Monday points to multiple texts in the Bible that speak of only two options, life and death, let's look at 1John 5:11-12:

> And this is the testimony: God has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life" (1 Jn 5:11–12 NIV84).

From where does life come? And how is it that if we have Christ we have life? Why is it that if we don't have Christ we don't have life?

How is it that all choose for or against Christ if all haven't heard about Jesus?

We choose Christ whenever we choose truth, love and freedom. Jesus is love, Jesus is truth and Jesus is freedom. We only have these in union with Jesus. And we choose these in how we treat others. Jesus said, "as you have done it unto the least of these you have done it unto me."

Jesus works through His agencies on earth to bring His healing truth and love to bear on all hearts. Every person is given opportunity to choose truth, love and freedom in how they treat others—and making the choice in what we choose to do in governance of self, choose to surrender our lives into God's hands, is how we are healed and transformed.

The law of worship enters in, by beholding we are changed. So, it is imperative to inquire, which God are we worshipping—the God of truth, love and freedom revealed in creation as the basis of life (Romans 1:20), revealed fully in the life of Jesus, revealed in Scripture, revealed in reality of how things work, or do we reject the God of love and truth and embrace the god of this world, the god of fear, selfishness, control, coercion, imposed law, force and inflicted punishment, the god that seeks justice through more government?

There is no middle ground—we are either becoming more like Jesus who did not seek to reform the governments of this world, either the Jewish government or the Roman one, but came to heal hearts and minds, or we are becoming more like Satan and seek to advance our morality, our view of right and wrong through more enforcement upon others.

The second paragraph states, "In the end there is no middle ground for us human beings. Before the great controversy is completely over, sin, Satan, disobedience, and rebellion will be eradicated."

Do we agree that all sin, disobedience, evil, rebelliousness, along with Satan and all those who persist in sinfulness will be eradicated?

But how does God eradicate all wickedness along with the wicked without inciting fear and causing more rebellion?

If God were to inflict this upon people, use power to kill those who would not otherwise die, what would be the result?

Consider these quotes—do you agree?

> God could have destroyed Satan and his sympathizers as easily as one can cast a pebble to the earth; but He did not do this. Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power. The Desire of Ages 759

Now this next quote is powerful, we will unpack it, it reveals what we are dealing with right now in our world and the choice we have between the two sides, how it gets framed, and how people get duped into choosing the wrong side and the results of choosing that wrong side:

The warfare against God's law, which was begun in heaven, will be continued until the end of time. [What law? How did it begin in heaven? Were the Ten Commandments in heaven when Lucifer rebelled? When the angels realized there was a law, what was their view of that? How did Satan attack God's law? By attacking the idea of law in the minds of intelligent beings, infecting their minds with the idea that God's law is made up rules, imposed laws, which once accepted immediately causes one to view God as a rule-enforcer, the source of inflicted punishment for disobedience, which immediately undermines love and trust and fuels more rebellion.] Every man will be tested. [How? What will be the test? How will we be tested? Will it be by a rule or by methods we employ in how we live, how we treat others?] Obedience or disobedience is the question to be decided by the whole world. [What is obedience? Is it rule keeping? Were the Jews who killed Jesus obedient because they kept the Sabbath? Was the Good Samaritan disobedient because he didn't keep the Sabbath or sacrifice at temple or eat a kosher diet? Jesus said if you love me keep my commandments—which he explained was to love God and others. The sheep and goats are not separated by Sabbath keeping, they are separated by how they treat others. Do we live God's law truth, love and freedom, or do we live Satan's law of imposed rules with external enforcement upon others?] All will be called to choose between the law of God and the laws of men. Here the dividing line will be drawn. [How? Where? When? By the law we choose to practice in governance of self in the treatment of others.] There will be but two classes. Every character will be fully developed; and all will show whether they have chosen the side of loyalty or that of rebellion. The Desire of Ages 763.3 [How will they show? By the character they develop in the law they identify with and apply to their lives in how they live and treat others!]

Then the end will come. God will vindicate His law and deliver His people. [How will the end come? What causes it? How does God vindicate us?] Satan and all who have joined him in rebellion will be cut off. Sin and sinners will perish, root and branch, (Malachi 4:1),—Satan the root, and his followers the branches. The word will be fulfilled to the prince of evil, "Because thou hast set thine heart as the heart of God; ... I will destroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.... Thou shalt be a terror, and never shalt thou be any more." Then "the wicked shall not be: yea, thou shalt diligently consider his place, and it shall not be;" "they shall be as though they had not been." Ezekiel 28:6-19; Psalm 37:10; Obadiah 16. The Desire of Ages 763.4 [How is it Satan and His sympathizers are destroyed—they are cut off? Cut off from what? From the source of life, from God. What causes them to be cut off? Who decides to cut them off? They decide. They beg for the mountains to fall on them, they flee from His presence, they hate holiness, love, honesty, truth, it torments their minds to be aware of their own state and all the evil they have done.]

This is not an act of arbitrary power on the part of God. [What kind of law uses arbitrary power? Imposed law, but this is not arbitrary power, not an infliction. This is the natural result of unremedied sin.] The rejecters of His mercy reap that which they have sown. [What kind of law is sowing and reaping? "those who sow to the carnal nature, from that nature reap destruction" Galatians 6:8.] God is the fountain of life; and when one chooses the service of sin, he separates from God, and thus cuts himself off from life. [They choose to separate themselves from God—this is what sin does, hardens the heart and the sinner, if not healed, if not reconciled will voluntarily choose death over connection with God.] He is "alienated from the life of God." Christ says, "All they that hate Me love death." Ephesians 4:18; Proverbs 8:36. God gives them existence for a time that they may develop their character and reveal their principles. [How? What causes this?] This accomplished, they receive the results of their own choice. By a life of rebellion, Satan and all who unite with him place themselves so out of harmony with God that His very presence is to them a consuming fire. The glory of Him who is love will destroy them. The Desire of Ages 764.1

At the beginning of the great controversy, the angels did not understand this. [Why didn't they understand this? Because sin and death were never seen and Satan had introduced lies about what was happening.] Had Satan and his host then been left to reap the full result of their sin, they would have perished; [From what? From God letting them go, not from an infliction of death] but it would not have been apparent to heavenly beings that this was the inevitable result of sin. [Sin, not God, causes death. God is the source of life. But Satan has so infected minds with the lie about God's law most Christians, including SDAs believe God must use His power to torture and kill the wicked in the end. The church has perpetuated this lie and it is the message of the 3 Angels that is to lighten the world with the truth about our Creator God and His design laws and the real cause of death, which is breaking the laws upon which life is built. But sadly, our own church is still deeply infected with imperialism and human law constructs of God and has failed thus far to effectively take this end time message to the world.] A doubt of God's goodness would have remained in their minds as evil seed, to produce its deadly fruit of sin and woe. The Desire of Ages 764.2

But not so when the great controversy shall be ended. [Why will not doubt about God remain? Why will no rebellion remain? Because God will not use power to inflict death upon the wicked, they die of the natural results of unremedied sin in their being. As the author states elsewhere, the death of the wicked is "voluntary with themselves."] Then, the plan of redemption having been completed, the character of God is revealed to all created intelligences. The precepts of His law are seen to be perfect and immutable. Then sin has made manifest its nature, Satan his character. Then the extermination of sin will vindicate God's love and establish His honor before a universe of beings who delight to do His will, and in whose heart is His law. The Desire of Ages 764.3

Read second paragraph, "The Lord is very clear…" What do you think of this? Why would the words be the same between good and evil that Adam and Eve chose and what we choose?

Each person decides what we will know by experience, not cognitively, but functionally.

Adam and Eve were created sinless and chose to know evil, fear, selfishness in their being.

Jesus was born to a sinful mother, and through her knew by experience the temptation of sin, being tempted in every way just like we are, but Jesus chose to know in His heart and mind and character only good.

We are born in sin, conceived in iniquity, we all know sin, know fear, know selfishness both in temptation and experience, but through our faith in Jesus we can choose to die to fear, selfishness and sin, and know good—we can choose to know God and choosing this is to partake of the divine nature, to take the bread of life and thus to know life.

The lesson states, "In a real sense, the Lord said to them: Therefore, with the free will that I have given you—choose life, choose blessing, choose goodness, not death, evil, and curses."

Why must we choose? Because it is the only way for use to be healed, cleansed, restored and retain our individuality.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson points us to Deuteronomy 30 where Moses points out that when they find themselves in distress, disbursed among the nations, that when they turn back to God and obey all He told them then He would bless them and restore them.

The lesson asks what this tells us about God's grace.

Are blessings grace from God? What about cursing, is that grace from God?

What is the cursing? Isn't it the sufferings and consequences that come when people reject God, walk away from Him, insist on violating His design laws for life? And is this suffering, pain, loss grace from God or the lack of grace from God?

Under imposed law such suffering is seen as punishment for sin.

Under design law it is seen as God's grace allowing them to reap what they have insisted upon sowing into their lives. And God permits them to reap loss, pain, suffering to cause them to reflect and consider and perhaps learn and repent and choose life. But if there was no pain or suffering when we break God's law, it would only lead to greater injury, separation and eventual eternal death. Thus the so-called cursings are also God's grace working to wake us up and turn us back to God.

Do you remember this quote that I shared two weeks ago?

> Had Israel taken heed to the messages of the prophets emphasizing the value of "the great things" of God's law, they would have been spared the humiliation that followed. It was because they persisted in turning aside from his law that God was compelled to allow their enemies to take them captive. [What law? Imposed rules, or God's design law given through > all Scripture? Remember over and again the prophetic message of justice was loving people, not rule-keeping?] "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge," was his message to them through Hosea. "Because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, ... seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God." Hosea 4:6. [What knowledge had they rejected? Creator worship whose law is design law of love, truth, freedom and they preferred pagan gods with imposed laws instead. So God would teach them reality, cause and effect, which is design law. Note what comes next] In trial and affliction they were to learn lessons that under circumstances more favorable they had refused to learn. RH February 26, 1914, par. 1 [If a child refuses to learn by the favorable circumstances of instruction not to touch a hot stove, then the child eventually learns through the trial of touching the stove and the affliction of getting burned.]

Are the trials and afflictions grace? Yes!

God's grace is God working to save us—all His actions are for us, everything God does is for us.

> What, then, can we possibly say in response to this? Don't you realize that God is on our side? And if God is for us, who can be against us? God does not need convincing to be good to us; No! It is we who need convincing that God is good to us! If he did not withhold his own Son–but gave him up for us all–don't you realize that he will withhold nothing good from us? But along with his Son, he will give us all things that are for our good! Who is it, then, that brings charges against those whom God has chosen? Stop believing Satan's lies about God — it is not God who brings charges against us! It is God who sets us right with himself. It is God who heals and transforms us. Then who condemns? It is not Jesus, oh no! Christ Jesus, who died–and more importantly, who was raised from death to life–is sitting at God's right hand and is working hand in hand with his Father. Together they are interceding with the malignancy of sin in our minds and holding in check the power of the evil one, while providing the Remedy for our deliverance, healing and restoration. Who, then, shall ever separate us from the love of Christ? Shall problems, or hardships, or criticism, or persecution, or hunger, or disease, or homelessness, or nakedness, or imprisonment, or financial ruin, or terrorists, or war? As it is written: "For no matter what we face, including death, we will not doubt you; even if we are treated as sheep led to the slaughter–our confidence in you will not waver."
> In all things — no matter what we face — we are more than conquerors through trust in him who loved us. For I am absolutely convinced that God is totally on our side and nothing can separate us from his love: neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the past nor present nor future, nor any power in the universe; neither things exalted nor things debased, nor anything else in all creation–nothing can separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Romans 8:31-39 Remedy)

There is an EGW quote in the third paragraph, "All His biddings are enables." COL p. 333.

What does this idea mean to you?

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph, "Central to the covenant…" Is there a law involved here? What law and what type of law?

What happens if we insert into people's minds the idea that this is a rule, that there are imposed religious rules one must conform to—dress in a certain way on a certain day, don't do this, do do that, don't use the same kitchen utensils for meat and milk, don't push an elevator button on Sabbath for it is a spark and that is starting a fire.

If one believes worship functions like this—what kind of god are they worshipping?

And then, because of the law of worship—by beholding we are change, what happens to their mind, hearts and character?

Thus the 3 Angels' messages to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water—worship the Creator whose laws are design laws.

This was the message of 1888 that was rejected and the leadership went with the imposed law view and our church has been presenting the dictator view of God and obstructing worship of the Creator and we have languished.

Below I am including the text of an entire article printed in the Signs of the Times January 20, 1890 entitle: God Made Manifest in Christ by EGW.

This article was written in 1889, shortly after the 1888 GC. I encourage you all to read the entire thing—it is the direction the church was to go after 1888, but instead the penal legal view as advanced.

> At the first advent of Christ, darkness, covered the earth, and gross darkness the people. [Darkness about what? It was about God, the controversy has always been about God. The eternal gospel is the good news about God.] Light and truth seemed to have departed from among men, and Satan appeared to reign in undisputed power. Rival sects existed, and among those who professed to be the servants of God were displayed love of preeminence and strife for power and position. [Satan's government is rising above others, the elites rule over others and the masses serve the elites. But Jesus did not think equality with God was something to be grasped but sacrificed Himself to uplift the masses.] Souls who were desirous of light were filled with perplexity and sorrow. Many were sighing, "What is truth?" Ignorance prevailed, but many were looking for something better, looking for light that would illuminate the moral darkness of the world. [Do we find the world in this state today?] They were thirsting for a knowledge of the living God, for some assurance of a life beyond the tomb. [This is what the world is truly thirsting for today, even if they don't know it. Instead they the common view of God is simply a more powerful dictator—no different than any human ruler, imposing laws and punishments.] There were men not of the Jewish nation who prophesied that an inspired instructor would come to teach them of the truth. [God didn't limit

His revelations to the Jewish people. The Holy Spirit works on all receptive minds. The Bible is the recorded focus because it focuses us on the human family through which Jesus would come, but it isn't the total sum of all God's revelations to humankind.] There were among the Jews men who had not polluted their integrity, who read with eager anticipation the sure word of prophecy that pointed to the advent of the Redeemer. They rejoiced in the promise that God had made to his servant Moses: "I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and will put my words in his mouth; and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever will not hearken unto my words which he shall speak in my name, I will require it of him." ST January 20, 1890, par. 1

Again they read how the Lord should anoint Him to preach good tidings unto the meek, to bind up the broken-hearted, proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound, to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord. They read how he would set judgment in the earth, how the isles should wait for his law, how the Gentiles would come to his light, and kings to the brightness of his rising. ST January 20, 1890, par. 2

Christ came just as prophecy had foretold. He was the "way, the truth, and the life," and the beams of the Sun of Righteousness dispelled the moral darkness so that the honest in heart might see the truth. [What was His goal? To reveal truth that dispels lies and sets hearts and minds free. He didn't come to establish an earthly kingdom of imposed laws and forced obedience, but to free hearts from fear and selfishness.] The absence of outward display and worldly grandeur, called forth comments of disapprobation from the people. Doubt and criticism met him on every side. [Why? Over what? He was too human, too frail, to weak. He wasn't even an Olympic champion. He wasn't even a Mr. Universe body builder. He was a real human and how can a real human be the Son of God. He doesn't show power. He doesn't show wealth. He doesn't who superiority of intellect by using words and language that made others feel stupid. He was easy to approach and talk to. And He ate with sinners.] Christ himself had chosen the human conditions of his life. He had selected the lowliest place in society. He was the Majesty of heaven, and he knew that the world would bear sway by magnificence, carrying everything before its display and grandeur; but Jesus honored those whom the world looked upon with contempt. Christ's birthplace was devoid of conveniences, not to speak of riches and luxury. And his entire life in this world was in keeping with the humble home of his early experience. ST January 20, 1890, par. 3

The Saviour of the world proposed that no attraction of an earthly character should call men to his side. The light and beauty of celestial truth alone should be the drawing power. The outward glory, the worldly honor, which attracts the attention of men, he would not assume. [Why? What is the goal? What is God working to achieve? The transformation of hearts and minds. To win us back to trust, love, understanding friendship. Does this occur when people are intimidated, fearful to ask questions, awed and silenced? Understand the purpose of the Roman cathedrals, they are designed to awe, intimidate and silence the mind, to stop thinking, to make us feel small and insignificant. The Roman liturgy, robes, and altar are all designed to intimidate, not make the approach simply and safe.] He made himself accessible to all, teaching the pure, exalted principle of truth as that which was only worthy of their notice. But although so humbly born, so unpretending in life, God did not leave him without a witness. The principalities of heaven did him homage. Wonders in the heavens above and signs in the earth beneath attested his power and majesty. At his baptism a voice from heaven fell upon the ears of men, declaring, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." The bright glory of God in the form of a dove of burnished gold encircled him. John declared: "That was the true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not. He came unto his own, and his own received him not." ST January 20, 1890, par. 4

Christ came to represent the Father. We behold in him the image of the invisible God. He clothed his divinity with humanity, and came to the world that the erroneous ideas Satan had been the means of creating in the minds of men, in regard to the character of God, might be removed. [Why did He come? What was His purpose? Why was this necessary? What is the issue in the Great Controversy?] We could not behold the glory of God unveiled in Christ and live; [Why? Is it a rule that if we peak God will kill us, or is it something about reality that in our sinful state we couldn't tolerate God's unveiled glory?] but as he came in the garb of humanity, we may draw nigh to our Redeemer. We are called upon to behold the Lord our Father in the person of his Son. Christ came in the robe of the flesh, with his glory subdued in humanity, that lost man might communicate with him and live. Through Christ we may comprehend something of him who is glorious in holiness. Jesus is the mystic ladder by which we may mount to behold the glory of the infinite God. By faith we behold Christ standing between humanity and divinity, connecting God and man, and earth and heaven. ST January 20, 1890, par. 5

Christ came to save fallen man, and Satan with fiercest wrath met him on the field of conflict; for the enemy knew that when divine strength was added to human weakness, man was armed with power and intelligence, and could break away from the captivity in which he had bound him. [What holds us captive? Lies about God and our own carnal natures, our fears, guilt, shame insecurities, which are magnified by believing Satan's lies. Christ came to set us free. What is the payment called that frees one from captivity? A ransom, the ransom is the truth about God and the new nature Christ developed that He offers to us. Thus the ransom price is paid to us.] Satan sought to intercept every ray of light from the throne of God. He sought to cast his shadow across the earth, that men might lose the true views of God's character, and that the knowledge of God might become extinct in the earth. [Has Satan had success in obstructing the true views of God on earth? How? By infecting Christianity with imposed law and teaching God as dictator. Those who believe this in the church promote false views of God and many who reject the belief in God do so because of this false view of Him.] He had caused truth of vital importance to be so mingled with error that it had lost its significance. The law of Jehovah was burdened with needless exactions and traditions, and God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. [Presenting God's law as imposed and making rules etc. misrepresents God as the source of inflicted punishments] He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God. Jesus came to teach men of the Father, to correctly represent him before the fallen children of earth. Angels could not fully portray the character of God, but Christ, who was a living impersonation of God, could not fail to accomplish the work. The only way in which he could set and keep men right was to make himself visible and familiar to their eyes. [What is setting right? Justification and what is keeping right, sanctification—and what was the only way to do this? By revealing the truth about God which destroys the lies and wins us back to trust!] That men might have salvation he came directly to man, and became a partaker of his nature. ST January 20, 1890, par. 6

The Father was revealed in Christ as altogether a different being from that which Satan had represented him to be. [But which view of God dominates the church? Which view of God was advanced by our church after 1888?] Said Christ, "Neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him." The love of Jesus, expressed for the fallen race in his life of self-denial and sufferings, is the manifestation of the Father's love for a sinful, fallen world. Christ endured shame and grief and death for those who despised his love and trampled upon his mercy. He paid the debt of man's transgression upon the cross of Calvary with his own precious blood. [To whom? What was the debt? Why was it necessary to pay it? Did the Father need truth revealed to Him in order to free Him from Satan's lies? Did sinful humans need that truth? And did the Father need a new sinless nature developed for Him, or did the species human need a human to overcome sinfulness, purge it and restore God's law of love into the living creation? And Jesus is the second Adam, the one human being who developed a sinless human character eradicating the infection of fear and selfishness.] The men of his own nation, the leaders of the people, were so ensnared by the deceptions of Satan that the plan of redemption for a fallen race seemed to their minds indistinct and unexplainable. ST January 20, 1890, par. 7 [How many Christians are lost in the same confusion—with imposed law constructs, penal systems, Latin words that don't make sense?]

Man was God's workmanship, made after his image, endowed with talents, and fitted for a high destiny. But Satan has worked to obliterate the divine image, and to impress his own image instead of the image of God in man's nature. [Is this describing a legal problem, or a change in the state of being? When Adam and Eve sinned, were they still loyal, faithful, selfless, beings operating upon God's law of love but now had a legal problem—or did they actually get changed and were now infected with Satanic principles of fear and selfishness, the survival drives?] Jesus condescended to humble himself, to take human nature, and by uniting divinity with humanity, he proposed to elevate man in the scale of moral value. [How? By restoring God's law into humanity and sharing His immortal life with us.] All heaven was poured out in the gift of God's dear Son. Through faith in him the sinner could be justified, and God could yet be just in justifying the sinner; for Christ had become a propitiation for the sins of the repentant soul. [What does this mean? Set right, how? By restoring God's design law of love into us and Jesus was the means of doing this in reality.] The only plan that could be devised to save the human race was that which called for the incarnation, humiliation, and crucifixion of the Son of God, the Majesty of heaven. After the plan of salvation was devised, Satan could have no ground upon which to found his suggestion that God, because so great, could care nothing for so insignificant a creature as man. The redemption of man is a wonderful theme, and the love manifested to the fallen race through the plan of salvation, can be estimated only by the cross of Calvary. The depth of this love even angels cannot sound. That God could consent to become flesh, and dwell among fallen beings, to lift them up from their helplessness and despair, is an unfathomed mystery. [What kind of kingdom is this? What kind of government? What kind of law? Is this the elites ruling over the masses, or the Elite of elites giving and sacrificing self to uplift the masses? Understand, all human governments are Satan's because they use imposed law, punishments and seek to exploit the masses to elevate the few.] He whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, whose dominion endureth throughout all generations, made himself to be sin for us that he might lift up all that are bowed down, and give life to those who are ready to perish. ST January 20, 1890, par. 8

Oh, that men might open their minds to know God as he is revealed in his Son! Truth came forth from the lips of Jesus, uncorrupted with human philosophy. His words were from heaven, such as mortal lips had never spoken nor mortal ears ever heard. His heart was an altar on which burned the flames of infinite love. [An illusion to the golden altar in the sanctuary where incense burned. And this is to be our hearts also.] Goodness, mercy, and love were enthroned in the breast of the Son of God. He set up his tabernacle in the midst of our human encampment, pitched his tent by the side of the tents of men, that he might dwell among them and make them familiar with his divine character and love. [Again referencing the OT theater pointing us to the reality.] No one could love Christ and pay homage to him without serving and honoring the infinite God. Those who had an appreciation of the character and mission of Christ, were filled with reverence and awe, as they looked upon him and felt that they were looking upon the temple of the living God. Officers were sent to take the Son of God, that the temple in which God was enshrined might be destroyed. [Where is God to be enshrined? Only in Jesus, or in every one of us?] But as they drew near and heard the words of divine wisdom that fell from his lips, they were charmed, and the power and excellence of his instruction so filled their hearts and minds that they forgot the purpose for which they had been sent. Christ revealed himself to their souls. Divinity flashed through humanity, and they returned so filled with this one thought, so charmed with the ideas he had presented, that when the leaders of Israel inquired, "Why have ye not brought him?" they replied, "Never man spake like this man." They had seen that which priests and rulers would not see,—humanity flooded with the light and glory of divinity. Those who would behold this glory would be drawn to love Jesus and to love the Father whom he represented. Christ exalted the character of God, attributing to him the praise, and giving to him the credit, of the whole purpose of his own mission on earth,—to set men right through the revelation of God. [What was His mission? To set men right through what? What? No legal payment to God? No, legal payments were never required. The requirement has always been perfect harmony with God's law, which required it be restored into humanity. Jesus did this as a human for us, restoring the image of God in humanity, revealed the truth of God to us to dispel the lies and win us to trust. And when we trust Him He shares Himself with us we become partakers of the divine nature and our temples are cleansed.] In Christ was arrayed before men the paternal grace and the matchless perfections of the Father. In his prayer just before his crucifixion, he declared, "I have manifested thy name." "I have glorified thee on the earth; I have finished the work which > thou gavest me to do." When the object of his mission was attained,—the revelation of God to the world,—the Son of God announced that his work was accomplished, and that the character of the Father was made manifest to men. ST January 20, 1890, par. 9

Wow—what do you think of this?

The lesson talks about God being a jealous God—this is not human selfishness, jealous for ourselves, it is the jealousy of love, the jealousy of wanting the best for others. He jealous for our good. To me in our language zealous would be a better word.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 9
Turn Their Hearts

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read memory text: "But from there you will seek the LORD your God, and you will find Him if you seek Him with all your heart and with all your soul" (Deuteronomy 4:29 NKJV).

What does this text mean to you?

What is the condition to finding God? Seeking with all your heart and all your soul—what does that mean?

Another way to say it is with all your mind and all your being. When God breathed into Adam he became a living soul or a living being, so the word soul means your entire self—the word heart means the inner works of your mind, affections, longings, your true heart's desire.

Why won't we find God if we don't seek Him with all the heart and soul? Is it because God hides? Or is it how reality works—we reap what we sow, if we take apple seeds and label them pumpkin seeds and plant them do we get pumpkins?

If we study the Bible or go to church or join a church organization so that we can get approval from people, get a job, get contracts for our businesses etc. will we find God in doing this?

So God is making the point right here in the beginning of the Bible, that the motive of the heart is what matters. God is differentiating design law from rule-keeping. It has always been this way.

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the Hebrew Mi-Yitten which has the meaning of a wish, a desire, a hope, a longing that someone wants badly.

Read Deuteronomy 5:29: "Oh, that their hearts would be inclined to fear me and keep all my commands always, so that it might go well with them and their children forever!" (Dt 5:29 NIV84).

Read 6th paragraph, "Here is the Lord—Creator God…" This is so well said, so many good points in this paragraph. Let's unpack them.

topics@comeandreason.com

First, God is the Creator of all reality—and as such His laws are the laws that reality operate upon. God is sovereign in that He is Creator and also Sustainer of all reality. His sovereignty is manifested in maintaining control of what God controls. And God controls Himself and His laws, including the law of liberty. Thus, when bad things happen this is not God causing it, but God sustaining liberty why? Because love only exists in an atmosphere of liberty. If God were to override our minds, our hearts and use power to force a change upon a person that that person didn't choose for themselves, such an action would destroy the individual, erase their personhood and create either a robot, or a new naïve being like Adam was in Eden.

The only way for God to achieve His goal of our individual salvation is by winning us to trust Him. In trust we choose Him; we actively participate in the process of our own transformation:

- The truth doesn't come from us.
- The new heart and right spirit doesn't come from us.
- The law of God that is written in our heart doesn't come from us.
- The perfect sinless character that develops within us doesn't come from us.
- The power to overcome temptation doesn't come from us.
- The love that motivates and takes away our fear doesn't come from us.
- What comes from us is our choosing—daily choosing to trust God, to say yes to Him and no to temptation, to place our lives, our heart's desires, our fortunes, our families, our futures into God's hands—like Joseph, like Daniel, like Paul.
- And in making that choice of faith we enter into a real union with the Creator of heaven and earth and are transformed in that process.

So God is Creator. His laws are design laws. Liberty is a requirement to healing hearts and minds. We must choose God. So, if God cannot trample our freewill and we still be free, then do you see how this truth exposes the fraud of penal/legal system. God's law cannot work like human law. If at any point God uses His power to inflict external punishment for sin that the sinner would not reap naturally from sin, then we are not free, we are being coerced or compelled, and this destroys love and incites rebellion.

So this reality raises multiple questions—how does God bring an end to sin and sinners without violating freedom?

If love cannot be achieved through rule-keeping, through law, through threats of punishment, then why did God use so much law?

Read the last paragraph, "And just as we humans…" If the choice is ours, and the benefits of choosing God are infinite, beyond imagining and counting, and the loss of choosing against God is eternal death, what prevents so many from making the choice for God?

- Lies about God that prevent people from knowing the goodness of God and the dangers of sin—two of the most effective lies are that God is the source of inflicted pain and suffering for sin—which violates liberty and incites rebellion, and there is no God we evolved from lower life forms

- Feelings—guilt, shame, fear—which cause people to feel hopeless, too sinful or bad to be saved
- The pain of what reality requires we experience when we choose God—the crucifixion of the old nature. Once there is brokenness there are no pain free options. Choosing God may require the loss of a job, or a friend, or alienation from family, or the pain of going through detox, or the humiliation of repentance not just to God but to others.
- Destroyed faculties—some have persisted in rebellion so long that they prefer power over others to sacrificing to help others; they prefer the thrill of getting away with exploiting to the peace of living honestly; they prefer the fear of intimidation to the joy of appreciation, and God's principles simply are not appealing to some.
- Misplaced trust—some don't come to God because they have never trained their minds to think for themselves, they wait to see what others whom they have trusted will think and then follow what those people say to do.

Remember this quote?

> If we mistake the wisdom of man for the wisdom of God we are led astray by the foolishness of man's wisdom. Here is the great danger of many in -----. They have not an experience for themselves. They have not been in the habit of prayerfully considering for themselves, with unprejudiced, unbiased judgment, questions and subjects that are new and that are ever liable to arise. They wait to see what others will think. If these dissent, that is all that is needed to convince them that the subject under consideration is of no account whatever. Although this class is large, it does not change the fact that they are inexperienced and weak-minded through long yielding to the enemy, and will always be as sickly as babes, walking by others' light, living on others' experience, feeling as others feel, and acting as others act. They act as though they had not an individuality. Their identity is submerged in others; they are merely shadows of those whom they think [are] right. Unless these become sensible of their wavering character and correct it, they will all fail of everlasting life; they will be unable to cope with the perils of the last days. They will possess no stamina to resist the devil, for they do not know that it is he. Someone must be at their side to inform them whether a foe or a friend is approaching. They are not spiritual, therefore spiritual things are not discerned. They are not wise in those things which relate to the kingdom of God. Neither young nor old are excusable in trusting to another to have an experience for them. Said the angel: "Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm." A noble self-reliance is needed in the Christian experience and warfare. 2T 129.2

I share this quote a lot and I like it, because it describes reality so clearly. What is the problem for these people? They have never learned to think for themselves and they have never learned to trust Jesus for themselves. This describes people who trust others; they trust the opinion of others more than trusting Jesus and the truth directly for themselves. This is why they will fail to have everlasting life.

A third of the angels in heaven trusted Lucifer rather than examining the truth for themselves. Their misplaced trust caused them to be sympathetic to him and this allowed them to believe his lies and be turned away from God.

This is what is happening in the world now—people are being faced with decisions, personal decisions, decisions over their own health and that of their family and people are deciding—how do we choose? Who do we trust? What methods of discernment? What motivates the choice—love or fear?

Any finite being who is in a saving relationship with God can still listen to bad advise and make choices that are not the best, not what God would have them do, but not lose salvation because of this, just be injured or diminish their usefulness for God's cause.

Remember Paul taking the advice of church leaders to participate in a Jewish ceremonial cleansing—in the book Acts of the Apostles, p. 404 the author calls this advice on part of the church leaders as stemming from cowardice and it was not consistent with the gospel message. Paul didn't lose his salvation for taking this advice, but he lost his freedom, had his ministry shortened and eventually lost his life.

We each have the responsibility before God for the choices we make in carrying out the duties God has given us. We are wise to be informed with the input from others, but we are foolish if we surrender the choice of what we do in governance of ourselves to others.

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "All through the Bible…" I think the example of Peter denying Jesus is a great example of God's foreknowledge—if we accept the Bible record as accurate, which I do, then God foreknew Peter's choices before Peter made them.

Other examples:

- Judas betraying him
- The casting lots for his clothing
- The crucifixion by His people rather than stoning like Stephen
- Cyrus releasing the Jews to return to Jerusalem
- Only the need for one ark at the time of Noah

Consider this quotation from Patriarchs and Prophets:

> He that ruleth in the heavens is the one who sees the end from the beginning--the one before whom the mysteries of the past and the future are alike outspread, and who, beyond the woe and darkness and ruin that sin has wrought, beholds the accomplishment of His own purposes of love and blessing. Though "clouds and darkness are round about Him:

> righteousness and judgment are the foundation of His throne." Psalm 97:2, R.V. And this the inhabitants of the universe, both loyal and disloyal, will one day understand. "His work is perfect: for all His ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is He." Deuteronomy 32:4. {PP 43.1}

God is the Creator of all reality—including time—God is not subject to time, time is subject to God. God lives outside of our linear existence.

But some genuinely sincere people, who love God and want only to represent God in the best possible light, have real difficulty with this truth. They just can't understand how God can know the future and we still be free to decide. In their way of thinking, if God knows our actual choice, not our possible choices, but our actual choices, then to them we are no longer free to make them. What would you say to this?

- Foreknowledge is not causality—knowing the future doesn't cause it, any more than knowing history caused the history. Think about that. If you read about Moses striking the rock—that is a fact of history. We know that fact, but is our knowledge of the history what caused it to occur that way? Likewise, knowledge of the future isn't the same as causing the future.
- Another way to comprehend it is this way. What informs God of what any person does in the future—is the action that the person takes at that point in the future when they choose. The individual choices is what God knows because He is there at that place in time when they make their choice.

What would it say about God, if God didn't live outside of time, if God didn't know the future?

Read the fourth paragraph, "Notice that in…" What causes people to forget lessons from history?

- Painful or unflattering lessons that some part of us wants to forget
- Propaganda—purposeful misinformation
- Lack of education, not ever being taught history

What were the lessons that God wanted them to remember that they forgot over and over again?

- That God is love and God is trustworthy
- That God doesn't need to be persuaded to be on their side
- That God's laws are design laws not rule-keeping
- That there are no other gods
- That true worship is in living God's law in how we treat others
- That salvation is healing of hearts and minds not legal adjustment

Are we still struggling today with remembering these same truths?

Read fifth paragraph, "God's grace is amazing…" What would be the only reason God would not restore them? If they refuse to allow Him.

But what about forgiving them—what comes first, God's forgiveness or our repentance?

What leads us to repentance? The kindness of God—Romans 2:4.

Do we believe "For God so loved the world that He gave His only Son…" or do we believe, "That God was so angry at the world that Jesus had to sneak out of heaven to pay the blood price to propitiate God's wrath so that God would be able and willing to forgive us our sins?"

Yes, God is for us and is always for us and God is NEVER against us. The entire Godhead, Father, Son and Holy Spirit are in perfect unity expending every resource of their infinite selves for our salvation. There is nothing that comes from God that obstructs our salvation. There is nothing that comes from God that condemns us—all condemnation comes from sin and the accuser.

TUESDAY

Read the first paragraph, "All through the book of Deuteronomy…" Is obedience important?

Is there more than one type of obedience?

Paul take up the issue of obedience in his writings and contrasts two types of obedience. What are the two types of obedience Paul contrasts?

The obedience that springs from law versus the obedience that springs from faith.

What is the difference in these two types of obedience?

Is difference in obedience made distinct in the action, the behavior, the deeds?

- Sabbath keeping
- Tithe paying
- Food choices
- Bible readings
- Doctrinal beliefs (Creation, the Bible is inspired, state of the dead etc.)

Or, can a person who obeys based on law and one who obeys based on faith appear to be the same in their behaviors and even their core doctrinal beliefs?

What is the difference of obeying out of law and out of faith?

Does the obedience that springs from law have a different impact upon the heart and mind of the obedient than the same action that springs from faith?

Consider these two quotations:

- The man who attempts to keep the commandments of God from a sense of obligation merely--because he is required to do so--will never enter into the joy of obedience. He does not obey. [What does this mean, does not obey—the man is paying a faithful tithe—the church treasurer even checks his math. He doesn't do any work on Sabbath, his business is closed, TV off. He eats only the approved foods. What does this mean? Why is rule-keeping not actual obedience, even if the behaviors are the proper deeds?] When the requirements of God are accounted a burden because they cut across human inclination, we may know that the life is not a Christian life. True obedience is the outworking of a principle within. It springs from the love of righteousness, the love of the law of God. The essence of all righteousness is loyalty to our Redeemer. This will lead us to do right because it is right--because right doing is pleasing to God. {COL 97.3} [What does God want? He wants to change the heart. He wants our love, loyalty, friendship, understanding, devotion—and cannot God get this from us by rule keeping, imposed law, threats, or enforced compliance. It only comes from truth and love winning the heart to trust/faith.]

- A sullen submission to the will of the Father will develop the character of a rebel. By such a one service is looked upon as drudgery. It is not rendered cheerfully, and in the love of God. It is a mere mechanical performance. If he dared, such a one would disobey. His rebellion is smothered, ready to break out at any time in bitter murmurings and complaints. Such service brings no peace or quietude to the soul. {ST, July 22, 1897} [True obedience is when the heart is transformed to love God and others and then the behaviors are driven by the motive of love. What drives the behavior of the law-keeper, those who think they are obedient? It is still fear and selfishness—fear of punishment or desire for reward (level 1 and 2), fear of rejection or desire for acceptance (level 3), fear of legal trouble or desire for legal security (level 4). What drives the obedience of faith is love for God and others (level 5), understanding of God's design laws and methods (level 6) and understanding and willfully participating in God's purposes (level 7).]

Does our faith have levels of obedience that has different impact upon the heart and mind—for instance, is there a childlike faith that is real, but which doesn't really comprehend, it is an immature but real faith? And is there a mature faith that is real and also understands the reasons through the reasons why it works this way, what the best actual action is in any given situation to fulfill God's will and purpose? Does the maturity of the person, their level of understanding along with their faith have a different impact upon the heart and mind, and thus the specific behaviors might change?

For instance, could a childlike faith not eat foods offered to idols because they love Jesus and don't want to eat foods that they think could give false gods power over them. And could a mature faith love Jesus and recognize that the idols are nothing but wood and stone and thus have no power whatever and eat whatever they want, regardless of whether the animal was sacrificed to a pagan god?

How many things like this happen in Christianity in which two people of sincere faith have exactly opposite conclusions of what faith leads them to do?

How many times does Satan step into this situation and incite argument, division and even accusation with some accusing the other of being conservative, superstition, legalists or liberals and this infects hearts with hostility?

I see this in the SDA church most commonly around Sabbath keeping.

Do you see why we are not to judge the hearts of others? We are only to judge for ourselves what our duty is in God's cause.

What did Jesus say He wanted from us?

> "I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you" (Jn 15:15 NIV84).

What is the difference between a servant and friend? Do faithful servants seek to obey? So both servants and friends are being obedient, but Jesus doesn't want the service of a slave, He wants the service of a friend, what is the difference?

Understanding and agreement—Jesus wants us to comprehend His character, His design laws, His methods and realize how good He is and how good His laws are and to agree, to be fully persuaded in our own minds. To obey because it is the most rational, reasonable, logical, sensible action that we fully want with all our hearts.

Consider this quote:

> "All whom God has blessed with reasoning powers are to become intellectual Christians. [If you don't have reasoning powers you are excused.] They are not requested to believe without evidence; [What? Isn't that faith, believing without evidence? No! Who has no truth, no evidence? Satan, it is our enemy who would advance a theory that faith is believing without evidence—the one who doesn't have any.] therefore Jesus has enjoined upon all to search the Scriptures. Let the ingenious inquirer, and the one who would know for himself what is truth, exert his mental powers to search out the truth as it is in Jesus. [What laws are involved here? The law of exertion, the law of sowing and reaping, the law of worship, the law of truth.] Any neglect here is at the peril of the soul. [Why? What is the plan of salvation to accomplish? The healing of hearts and minds—can that happen without your participation? But what if we believe because we trust a really nice pastor or Bible teacher and believe what they taught us?] We must know individually the prescribed conditions of entering into eternal life. . . . We cannot allow these questions to be settled for us by another's mind, or another's judgment. . . . We cannot trust the salvation of our souls to ministers, to idle traditions, to human authorities, or to pretentions. . . . The Lord positively demands of every Christian an intelligent knowledge of the Scriptures." Review and Herald, March 8, 1887 (2RH 117:1:1 - 2:0); The Medical Missionary, May 1, 1892 [Why can't we trust salvation of our souls to our church leaders? Because it is in the process of wrestling out the truth with God for yourself that you are transformed and healed. Pastors, Bible teachers, friends can function like a trainer or coach—but they cannot do the exercises for you. You must think for yourself, reason for yourself, and choose for yourself in order for you to be transformed. "'Come now, let us reason together,' says the LORD. 'Though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they are red as crimson, they shall be like wool'" (Isaiah 1:18 NIV84).]

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks what is repentance? What is your understanding?

Consider these quotes, do they add insight?

- Again the people sought help from Him whom they had so forsaken and insulted. "The children of Israel cried unto the Lord, saying, We have sinned against Thee, both because we have forsaken our God, and also served Baalim." But sorrow had not worked true repentance. The people mourned because their sins had brought suffering upon themselves, but not because they had dishonored God by transgression of His holy law. True repentance is more than sorrow for sin. It is a resolute turning away from evil. PP 557.2
- When before the high priests and Sadducees, Peter clearly presented the fact that repentance is the gift of God. Speaking of Christ, he said, "Him hath God exalted with His right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins" (Acts 5:31). Repentance is no less the gift of God than are pardon and justification, and it cannot be experienced except as it is given to the soul by Christ. If we are drawn to Christ, it is through His power and virtue. The grace of contrition comes through Him, and from Him comes justification.... A New Life 21.2
- No repentance is genuine that does not work reformation. The righteousness of Christ is not a cloak to cover unconfessed and unforsaken sin; it is a principle of life that transforms the character and controls the conduct. Holiness is wholeness for God; it is the entire surrender of heart and life to the indwelling of the principles of heaven. DA 555.6
- Many are confused as to what constitutes the first steps in the work of salvation. Repentance is thought to be a work the sinner must do for himself in order that he may come to Christ. They think that the sinner must procure for himself a fitness in order to obtain the blessing of God's grace. But while it is true that repentance must precede forgiveness, [What does this mean? That God doesn't forgive until we repent, or we don't experience the forgiveness God has already provided until we repent?] for it is only the broken and contrite heart that is acceptable to God, yet the sinner cannot bring himself to repentance, or prepare himself to come to Christ. Except the sinner repent, he cannot be forgiven; [Without repentance we cannot experience forgiveness we cannot enter into a state of forgiveness but that doesn't mean God is unforgiving or hasn't already forgiven from His heart. Consider those who crucified Christ.] but the question to be decided is as to whether repentance is the work of the sinner or the gift of Christ. Must the sinner wait until he is filled with remorse for his sin before he can come to Christ? The very first step to Christ is taken through the drawing of the Spirit of God;

> as man responds to this drawing, he advances toward Christ in order that he may repent. 1SM 390.1

Friday's lesson quotes the following from Christ's Object Lessons p. 160:

> At every advance step in Christian experience our repentance will deepen. It is to those whom the Lord has forgiven, to those whom He acknowledges as His people, that He says, "Then shall ye remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and shall loathe yourselves in your own sight." Ezekiel 36:31. Again He says, "I will establish My covenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord; that thou mayest remember, and be confounded, and never open thy mouth any more because of thy shame, when I am pacified toward thee for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God." Ezekiel 16:62, 63. Then our lips will not be opened in self-glorification. We shall know that our sufficiency is in Christ alone. We shall make the apostle's confession our own. "I know that in me (that is, in my flesh) dwelleth no good thing." Romans 7:18. "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." Galatians 6:14. COL 160.3

What does this concept mean regarding repentance—if it deepens at every advance step is it about bad deeds or about deepening abhorrence to sin, selfishness, and all deviations from God's law as we see evermore clearly the contrast between God's character, methods, law and sin?

THURSDAY

The lesson continues the exploration of repentance and conversion and focuses on the New Testament.

Consider the story of the Prodigal Son—when was the Prodigal converted? When did the Prodigal truly repent?

- In the pigsty or when he returned home and interacted with his father?
- What brought the prodigal to repentance?
- Paul says in Romans that it is the kindness of God that leads to repentance.
- So, the prodigal found himself in terrible circumstances suffering as a consequence of leaving home and living wildly, and in that circumstance he knew he didn't like it. He knew the servants at home lived better. He was sorry for his choices and for the suffering, but he hadn't yet been converted to truly love and trust his father and embrace his father's ways.
- When he went home he fell down beginning to ask forgiveness and argue he was glad to be a servant—but then he experience the father's love, the father's kindness, the father's grace and received the restoration to sonship, with all the rights, privileges and authority—and it was then the son's heart was converted, then true repentance took hold.

When was Peter fully converted?

- "Simon, Simon, Satan has asked to sift you as wheat. But I have prayed for you, Simon, that your faith may not fail. And when you have turned back, strengthen your brothers." (Lk 22:31–32 NIV84).

- The KJV says "when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."

Did something change in Peter after his denial, his conviction of heart, his weeping bitterly, and his restoration on the beach? What? Did Peter enter into a state where he could no longer make mistakes, where he could no longer be wrong, that if Peter said it then it was like God speaking—his words had the weight of absolute and undisputed truth? No, Peter still made mistakes and had to be corrected by Paul—does that mean Peter wasn't converted, or Peter wasn't inspired? No. He was converted and inspired by the Holy Spirit. What changed was Peter never again allowed fear and selfishness to cause him to deny Jesus. In other words, fear and selfishness were displaced and love for Jesus became the driving force for Peter after this. This is true conversion, the heart being reborn, renewed, transformed from being dominated and controlled by fear and selfishness to a heart that is governed by love and trust, yet still subject to temptation by fear and selfishness.

The lesson focuses on our need to repent of our sins—what are your thoughts on this?

Is there a difference between initial repentance/conversion and ongoing repentance?

Once we have been genuinely converted, we have a new heart with new motives and new desires, but we still live in bodies that are weak, that have conditioned responses, that have memories and neural pathways from our unconverted lives before Christ. And this can sometimes manifest in a response, a reflex, an action that our new hearts don't want to be part of our life any more. How do we understand this? This is Romans 7, from The Remedy:

> Therefore, your selfish, fear-ridden heart died when you accepted the truth revealed by Christ's death, and you received a new heart from him who was raised from the dead, in order that you might grow in character–to be like Jesus–and live to honor God. [5]For when we were controlled by the infection of fear and selfishness — which resulted from distrust — the destructive passions revealed by the law were ravaging our bodies, we were terminally ill and spreading death wherever we went. [6]But now, as we die to the distrust, fear and selfishness that once bound us, the law no longer diagnoses us as infected and terminal. In fact, the law now confirms that we have a new heart–not by observing rules, but created within by the Spirit. We are now healthy and loving like Jesus.
> [7]What shall we say then? Is the law evil and selfish because it increases the amount of evil and selfishness we see? Absolutely not! I would not have known what evil and selfishness looked like if it wasn't for the diagnostic efficacy of the law. I would not have realized that coveting was evil and selfish if the law didn't say, "Don't covet." [8]But selfishness, taking advantage of the fact that the law is only a diagnostic instrument–and not a Remedy–magnified every covetous desire within me. For apart from the diagnostic ability of the law, sin is unrecognizable. [9]Once I thought I was healthy and free from the infection of distrust, fear and selfishness, but then the commandment examined me, exposed how utterly infected I was, and diagnosed me as terminal. [10]I discovered that the very commandment given only to diagnose my condition I had unwittingly attempted to use as a cure, and thus my condition only worsened. [11]For selfishness, taking advantage of the fact that the commandment could only diagnose and not cure, deceived me into thinking that I could be cured by working to keep the commandments; but instead, my terminal state only worsened. [this is describing the obedience that stems from law but only the obedience of faith saves/heals] [12]So understand this: The law diagnoses perfectly, and the commandment is the standard of what is right and good, set apart by God to reveal what is evil and destructive. [13]Did the law, which did good by diagnosing what was wrong with me, become the source of my terminal condition? Of course not! It only exposed what was already in me, so that I could recognize how totally decayed, putrid and near death I was, and so that through the lens of the commandment I might become utterly disgusted with evil and selfishness, and long for a cure.

[14]We know that the law is consistent, reliable and reasonable; but I am inconsistent, unreliable and unreasonable, because the infection of distrust, fear and selfishness has warped my mind and damaged my thinking. [15]I am frustrated with what I do! For having been restored to trust, I want to do what is in harmony with God and his methods and principles; but I find that even though I trust God, my old habits, conditioned responses, preconceived ideas and other remnants of the devastation caused by distrust and selfishness are not yet fully removed. [16]And if I find an old habit causing me to behave in ways that I now find detestable, I affirm that the law is a very helpful tool revealing residual damage in need of healing. [17]What is happening is this: I have come to trust God, and I desire to do his will, but old habits and conditioned responses — which present almost reflexively in certain situations — have not yet been totally eliminated and thus cause me to do things I do not want to do. [18]I know that my mind was completely infected with distrust, fear and selfishness, which totally perverted all my desires and faculties, so that even when distrust has been eradicated and trust has been restored, the damage caused by years of distrustful and selfish behavior has not yet been fully healed. So, I find that at times, I have the desire to do what is right, but do not yet have the ability to carry out the desire. [19]For the old habits and conditioned responses are not the good I want to do: No! They are remnants of my selfish, unconverted mind. [20]So, if I find myself doing what I no longer desire to do, it is not myself that acts, but the vestiges of old habits and conditioned responses that have yet to be removed. And through God's grace, they will soon be removed.

[21]So I find this reality at work: When I want to do good, my old selfish habits and residual feelings of fear are right there with me. [22]In my mind, I rejoice in God's methods and principles, [23]but I recognize that I remain damaged from years of being infected with distrust and practicing Satan's methods, so that even though the infection of distrust has been removed, the old habits of fear and self-promotion tempt me from within. [24]What a damaged and corrupt man I am! Who will deliver and heal me from a brain and body so diseased and deformed? [25]Praise be to God–for he has provided the healing solution through Jesus Christ our Lord! So then, I find that in my mind I am now renewed with trust in God and love of his methods, but my brain and body remain damaged by years of self-indulgent behavior.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 10
Remember, Do Not Forget

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read memory text: "Remember! Do not forget how you provoked the LORD your God to wrath in the wilderness. From the day that you departed from the land of Egypt until you came to this place, you have been rebellious against the LORD" (Deuteronomy 9:7 NKJV).

What does this mean?

Does this mean the Lord has limited patience? That God is very much like us and can be provoked to act out if we pester Him enough, if we rebel enough, or are wicked enough?

Is the message that you better obey or else God will be provoked and use His power to strike you down?

If you do think this is the message why?

If you don't think this is the message why?

How can we know which way to understand this?

By knowing God and His law—if we know God and His law then we know what this means and how to understand it.

If one understands law as imposed rules that require imposed punishments—like humans make—then one reads this and concludes God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering and death for sin. God becomes the one from whom we must be protected and the solution for sin becomes legal. This is the root of all paganism, imposed laws with imposed punishments by deities that requiring sacrifice and offering be made to propitiate wrath, expiate sin, pay the legal penalty etc.

But, when we worship God as Creator and understand His laws are design laws, then we realize that love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom and God cannot be saying that He will use His power to inflict punishment for sin, for to do so would destroy love and incite more rebellion. This line of thinking, that sin requires punishment, is Satan's trick, Satan's deception, that causes some to pursue righteousness, to pursue being orderly, to pursue law-keeping, to pursue salvation through legal mechanism so they feel righteous while they spread the infection of sin, which at its root is selfishness and fear, rather than love and trust.

Through design law we understand that rebelliousness, violating God's law, hardens the heart. So we understand the passage to mean that these people rebelled to the point that they wouldn't listen to Moses, they wouldn't listen to God Himself, they wouldn't be humble even with the pillar of fire at night and the cloud during the day. So, because God is love, because God loves them and wants to prevent their eternal destruction, the reality of what sin was doing to mindset and heart attitude required that God withdraw His protection, to allow the scorpion and snake to come in and bite them in order for them to learn from reality what they refused to learn from instruction.

Consider this quotation out of Patriarchs and Prophets:

> Moses faithfully set before the people their great sin. It was God's power alone that had preserved them in "that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water." Deuteronomy 8:15. Every day of their travels they had been kept by a miracle of divine mercy. In all the way of God's leading they had found water to refresh the thirsty, bread from heaven to satisfy their hunger, and peace and safety under the shadowy cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night. Angels had ministered to them as they climbed the rocky heights or threaded the rugged paths of the wilderness. Notwithstanding the hardships they had endured, there was not a feeble one in all their ranks. Their feet had not swollen in their long journeys, neither had their clothes grown old. God had subdued before them the fierce beasts of prey and the venomous reptiles of the forest and the desert. If with all these tokens of His love the people still continued to complain, the Lord would withdraw His protection until they should be led to appreciate His merciful care, and return to Him with repentance and humiliation. PP 428.3 [Why did God withdraw? Did God get impatient? Did God get His feelings hurt—"Look you ungrateful people, I am spending time on you, resources and energy on you, if you can't at least give me a little appreciation, then forget you. I'll let you suffer!" Is that it? Or is there another reason? What is happening to their hearts, minds and characters while they practice rebellion, cherish selfishness, grumble, complain, and blame God? So, if God continues to protect them from reality and let THEIR fantasy that things are better in Egypt fuel their grumbling, what happens to them? They harden themselves and spread the rebelliousness into their children and grandchildren. So, God was forced by reality, how love and liberty work, to remove His protections and let them become educated on reality in order to wake them up—that their fantasy isn't how reality works. Only in harmony with God's design laws is their life and health. This is happening in the world right now, in the USA right now. Many have fantasies about how reality work and some of these fantasies have recently become public policy—and for those who see outcomes, consequences, results, we see the pain and suffering caused by the pursuit of fantasy. But others must implement their fantasy and suffer the painful results before they realize the truth. But others, just like ancient Israel, will refuse the truth despite the painful consequences and die in the misery of their own making.]
> Because they had been shielded by divine power they had not realized the countless dangers by which they were continually surrounded. In their ingratitude and unbelief they had anticipated death, and now the Lord permitted death to come upon them. The poisonous serpents that infested the wilderness [Note that these serpents are the natural inhabitants of the wilderness. These were not especially brought by God to inflict punishment, they had been especially restrained by God prior to this to prevent injury. This is an important point for some people read this story and teach that because of their rebellion God used divine power to bring snakes that would not otherwise have been there in order to inflict punishment, not so. God's power is used to heal and protect not torment and kill.] were called fiery serpents, on account of the terrible effects produced by their sting, it causing violent inflammation and speedy death. As the protecting hand of God was removed from Israel, great numbers of the people were attacked by these venomous creatures. PP 429.1

Now there was terror and confusion throughout the encampment. In almost every tent were the dying or the dead. None were secure. Often the silence of night was broken by piercing cries that told of fresh victims. All were busy in ministering to the sufferers, or with agonizing care endeavoring to protect those who were not yet stricken. No murmuring now escaped their lips. [Why? Were they all suddenly reborn into faith relationships with God and had new hearts of love and trust? No, mere awareness of reality, things with God were a lot better than the fantasy their complaints were stemming from.] When compared with the present suffering, their former difficulties and trials seemed unworthy of a thought. PP 429.2

The people now humbled themselves before God. They came to Moses with their confessions and entreaties. "We have sinned," they said, "for we have spoken against the Lord, and against thee." [Is this repentance? No, this is still not repentance—it is confession and pleading or entreaties. What is it they are sorrowing over, the sin or the results of their sin? This is often the first step in repentance, but many stop here.] Only a little before, they had accused him of being their worst enemy, the cause of all their distress and afflictions. But even when the words were upon their lips, they knew that the charge was false; and as soon as real trouble came they fled to him as the only one who could intercede with God for them. "Pray unto the Lord," was their cry, "that He take away the serpents from us." PP 429.3 [Have we seen similar process being played out in the world today? I have, certain people being blamed for the cause of various problems, being accused as being the worst enemy, but those making the accusations know when they are making it that their accusations are lies—like the accusations against Nick Sandman or a certain leader colluding with Russia and many others. God permits people to reap their rebellion and all choices out of harmony with truth, out of harmony with design law, with reality, result in greater pain and suffering, which is designed by God to help people break out of the delusion in which their minds are trapped. But sadly, many double down on more lies. We see this happening right now in the world, so many decisions being made based on falsehood and the damage and injury is spreading.]

Moses was divinely commanded to make a serpent of brass resembling the living ones, and to elevate it among the people. [What does this represent? Jesus became a real human!] To this, all who had been bitten were to look, and they would find relief. He did so, and the joyful news was sounded throughout the encampment that all who had been bitten might look upon the brazen serpent and live. Many had already died, and when Moses raised the serpent upon the pole, some would not believe that merely gazing upon that metallic image would heal them; these perished in their unbelief. [Yes, some refuse to believe the truth no matter what.

Some would rather die that admit they were wrong, humble themselves and repent. We see this in society today also.] Yet there were many who had faith in the provision which God had made. Fathers, mothers, brothers, and sisters were anxiously engaged in helping their suffering, dying friends to fix their languid eyes upon the serpent. If these, though faint and dying, could only once look, they were perfectly restored. PP 430.1

The people well knew that there was no power in the serpent of brass to cause such a change in those who looked upon it. The healing virtue was from God alone. [The people knew that the brass serpent did nothing for them, it was God healing them! Do we know that our healing comes from God? Do we know that we cannot heal ourselves from sin? Can we heal our nations from sin—violence, rebellion, prejudice and all the various problems? So, if a nation were to make changes that applied God's methods what would be the result? And what would be required for a nation to do this? Wouldn't it be that people in charge would have to themselves be godly, understand God's design laws and methods?] In His wisdom He chose this way of displaying His power. By this simple means the people were made to realize that this affliction had been brought upon them by their sins. [What was the source of their affliction? Sin, not God!] They were also assured that while obeying God they had no reason to fear, for He would preserve them. PP 430.2 [What does this mean? If we don't obey God do we have reason to fear? Yes we do—but we do not have reason to fear God while in disobedience, we have reason to fear sin. The problem with the imposed law view is that it causes people to fear God who is trying to save them more than sin which actually kills them. We never need to fear God (as in terror or be afraid, awe and reverence yes) but we should be afraid to lose our connection with God, which is what sin does to us.]

The lifting up of the brazen serpent was to teach Israel an important lesson. They could not save themselves from the fatal effect of the poison in their wounds. [This is a powerful object lesson. It wasn't about a legal status, a broken rule, or being in legal trouble with God. They had an actual condition that without remedy would result in their death. Likewise, all human beings since Adam sinned are born with a sin-condition that we did not choose and that without remedy will result in our deaths. We cannot fix it, cure it, or save ourselves from the poison of fear and selfishness in our characters. The Remedy is Jesus Christ that we must receive through trust. And then, in trust we choose to do all that He leads us to do in our lives.] God alone was able to heal them. Yet they were required to show their faith in the provision which He had made. [Why did they have to show faith? Is faith of the sick person required to heal a physical wound? Do you remember the father whose son threw himself into a fire asking for his son to be healed—the father exercised faith and the boy was healed; we don't have any record that the boy exercised faith. The point being, faith does not have to be exercised to heal a physical wound, God can heal physical wounds without our participation. But, not so with spiritual wounds; wounds of fear and selfishness and sinfulness in the heart, mind and character require our faith or trust to heal—why?. Without our willingness, our trust, our agreement, then our individuality would be erased if God were to act to eliminate the patterns of sinfulness in us. It is only by our willful and trusting cooperation with God that He is able to change the current of our thoughts, instill new motives and desires and lead us to choose new patterns of behavior that we are enabled to live out by receiving His power strengthening us. So, this event is more than just physical healing, it is an object lesson for healing us from sin.] They must look in order to live. It was their faith that was acceptable with God, and by looking upon the serpent their faith was shown. They knew that there was no virtue in the serpent itself, but it was a symbol of Christ; and the necessity of faith in His merits was thus presented to their minds. [This is powerful, they knew a Savior was promised and salvation was not in themselves but in the coming Messiah! And what are His merits? His accomplishments, and what did He accomplish? The revelation of truth about God, the exposing of Satan as a liar, the demonstration that sin separates from God and results in death—that death is not inflicted by God, and the development of a perfect, mature, sinless human character that destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness, thus becoming the second Adam the new head of humanity restoring the species to unity with God.] Heretofore many had brought their offerings to God, and had felt that in so doing they made ample atonement for their sins. [Prior to this, they thought their sacrifices were paying the legal price for salvation. They viewed the object lessons through the wrong law and drew the wrong conclusion. The brass serpent experience demonstrated reality to them and is why the health message is the right arm of the gospel, because the health message operates upon design law.] They did not rely upon the Redeemer to come, of whom these offerings were only a type. The Lord would now teach them that their sacrifices, in themselves, had no more power or virtue than the serpent of brass, but were, like that, to lead their minds to Christ, the great sin offering. PP 430.3 [Why did Jesus have to die for our salvation? Was it to teach us of God's love? Why would death be necessary to teach us God loves us? Does a parent have to die to teach their children that God is love? Then why would Jesus have to die to teach us of God's love? There is only one situation in which that is true—a situation in which the children are under an actual death threat and the parent's intervention and death would save the child. If a parent saw their child in real danger, drowning, but refused to jump into the water and save the child would reveal the lack of love for the child, or at least a greater love for themselves. Or, the Titanic is sinking and a parent takes a seat on the lifeboat while their child is left to drown—that would demonstrate the opposite of love. But if the parent gave the child the seat, that would demonstrate love. So, the only place death demonstrates love is if without the action the other person would die. So, why would humans die if Christ didn't come as our substitute and Savior? It goes back to the law, to reality. Just as this object lesson of the brass serpent is teaching. They had real poison in them and we have real sinfulness, fear and selfishness in us that is contrary to how life is built to operate. Without intervention this condition results in ruin and death. Thus, if we are to live, then someone has to eradicate the infection and restore the life-giving principle into humanity. There were no humans, after Adam sinned, that could do this. So Jesus came as the second Adam and through His mother partook of the terminal condition but through the Holy Spirit, His Father, He shared His sinless immortal self. And then as a human He was tempted in all ways like us; He was tempted to act out of fear and to be selfish, to violate the law of love, the protocols of life. But instead, Jesus lived out the law of life perfectly as a human and at the cross He eradicated the infection and restored God's law back into the humanity He assumed. Thus we look to Jesus in faith, in trust and we receive by faith a new heart and right spirit, we have new longings, desires, motives and we choose to say yes to Jesus and it is no longer our fearful selfish selves that live, but Jesus lives in us.]

> "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness," even so was the Son of man "lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." John 3:14, 15. All who have ever lived upon the earth have felt the deadly sting of "that old serpent, called the devil, and Satan." Revelation 12:9. The fatal effects of sin can be removed only by the provision that God has made. [It is only through the victory of Jesus that we can be healed from sin, that our spirit temples can be cleansed and we be restored to at-one-ment with God!] The Israelites saved their lives by looking upon the uplifted serpent. That look implied faith. They lived because they believed God's word, and trusted in the means provided for their recovery. So the sinner may look to Christ, and live. He receives pardon through faith in the atoning sacrifice. Unlike the inert and lifeless symbol, Christ has power and virtue in Himself to heal the repenting sinner. PP 431.1

Let's read Paul's description of how Jesus brings peace and unity in Ephesians 2:14-17:

> For he himself is our peace, who has made the two one and has destroyed the barrier, the dividing wall of hostility, by abolishing in his flesh the law with its commandments and regulations. [The two one, referring to Jews and non-Jews. In other words, unifying people into one body. How, by destroying the dividing wall of hostility—what is the dividing wall of hostility? What caused Cain to kill Abel? What causes all hostility, division, violence, conflict? Sin, fear and selfishness, the carnal nature—thus Jesus came to destroy sin that exists in the heart of sinful humans. Sin is the dividing wall. What about abolishing in his flesh the law with its commandments and regulations? What is the purpose of the added law, the 10 Commandments and other ordinances? They were ADDED as a diagnostic instrument to expose sin, and they are no longer necessary when sin has been eliminated. Are MRIs needed when there is no disease? So Jesus destroys the need for the written law which exposes sin, by destroying sin in the heart. Why did He do this? Next verse] His purpose was to create in himself one new man out of the two, thus making peace, and in this one body to reconcile both of them to God through the cross, by which he put to death their hostility. [One new man? Yes, the second Adam, a new human being that is free from sin, free from fear and selfishness, free from the carnal drives. In Jesus the carnal nature was eliminated and God's perfect character of love was established. He did this by combining His sinless immortal life with our sinful mortal life and purging the infection of fear and selfishness; you could say He killed the carnal nature and rose again on the third day as a human being purified from the infection and with God's law perfectly restored within. Thus, through Jesus we may partake of the DIVINE nature and be part of a new humanity, cleansed and renewed—all who do are reconciled or at-one with God through the cross.] (Ephesians 2:14-17 NIV84)

Read the second paragraph, "God often tells…" Here we are reminded to remember, but in other places we are told to forget and that God forgets or will not remember our sins anymore.

When the Bible says that God will not remember our sins, does that mean memory erasure, amnesia, or something else? What does it mean?

It means that when the sin has been removed from the heart, mind and character it is no longer an obstacle to the relationship and doesn't need to be thought of anymore. It can be forgotten from the relationship—no intervention needs to be applied, no treatment, no therapy, no discipline, no monitoring, etc. We don't need to think of the days of pain and heartache that sin caused, we can now live out our love for God and others and God celebrates with us. We no longer need to experience the guilt, shame, fear, loneliness, isolation that sin brings but those days can be forgotten as a way of living—not as a fact of history.

So, the point about God not remembering is not about forgetting the facts of history, it is about not having the problem in the relationship any longer.

Would our remembering be the same? In other words, when God tells us to remember is it primarily about remembering facts of history, or is it about relational remembering, remember in a way that builds and strengthens our bonds of love and appreciation for God? It is remembering in a way that makes us more loyal, faithful and godlike, so that we become more humble, kind, generous and loving.

But there is a way to remember that works just the opposite—did the Jews who crucified Christ remember:

- That they were descended from Abraham?
- That God made promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob?
- The weekly Sabbath?
- The annual festivals?
- That God delivered them from Egypt?
- That God chose David to be king?
- That God promised David would have a son whose kingdom would never end?

Did the Jews who crucified Christ forget all these things? No, then what happened?

They forgot the true meaning of them. They remembered the historical facts but interpreted the facts through the wrong law lens and ultimately drew the completely wrong conclusions about God, their purpose as a nation, and the coming Messiah.

What about Christians today, can we fall into the same trap, remembering historical facts, various doctrinal truths, but do so through the wrong law lens so that we misinterpret the meaning to such a degree that we actually become God's enemies?

> Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'
> "Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on the rock. 25 The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house; yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the > rock. 26 But everyone who hears these words of mine and does not put them into practice is like a foolish man who built his house on sand. 27 The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell with a great crash." (Mt 7:22–27 NIV84).

My blog this week is entitled Building on the Rock and I explore this parable, how we don't have a choice to avoid the storms of life—no matter where we build, we will experience storms. Our choice is where we build. We either build upon Jesus, His kingdom, putting into practice His design laws and methods, trusting in Him and then He dwells within us building us up in godly character, OR we build on the principles and methods of this world.

Only those who build upon Jesus, putting into practice the truths, principles, methods and design laws that Jesus revealed will stand when the storms come.

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention upon the rainbow, which was to help us remember God's promise to never destroy the world with a flood again.

Has the world forgotten this? Has the rainbow come to represent something other than God's grace and plan of salvation?

And having forgotten that the world was destroyed by a flood, has this allowed for other false beliefs to enter into the hearts and minds of people that are part of what is corrupting the world today?

The apostle Peter wrote about the future of planet Earth:

> First of all, you must understand that in the last days scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires. They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised? Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation." But they deliberately forget that long ago by God's word the heavens existed and the earth was formed out of water and by water. By these waters also the world of that time was deluged and destroyed (2 Peter 3:3–6 NIV84).

Do we have scoffers today who mock the idea of Creation, who scoff at the idea of a worldwide flood and Noah's ark?

And these people who deny evidence, facts, and truth, who cling to a false worldview, they are the very ones who are leading our scientific institutions, our national and international policies. They are leading the Green movement. These people who deny Bible truth are leading the governments of the world in the COVID response. Why is it that church leaders defers to these deniers of reality?

If persons reject God and refuse to accept the truth, then who do you think is leading and inspiring them? It is Satan—the Green movement is not a godly movement, and we need to realize this and reject it. Peter continues:

> By the same word the present heavens and earth are reserved for fire, being kept for the day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men. But do not forget this one thing, dear friends: With the Lord a day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like a day. The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise, as some understand slowness. He is patient with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come like a thief. The heavens will disappear with a roar; the elements will be destroyed by fire, and the earth and everything in it will be laid bare. Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what kind of people ought you to be? You ought to live holy and godly lives as you look forward to the day of God and speed its coming. That day will bring about the destruction of the heavens by fire, and the elements will melt in the heat. But in keeping with his promise we are looking forward to a new heaven and a new earth, the home of righteousness (vv. 7–13 NIV84).

What is the future of planet Earth from a Biblical understanding? Understand reality: This planet as we know it, is going to be destroyed and replaced with a new perfect planet free from all defects.

Before God returns and recreates it anew, things are going to get worse—and we cannot stop it. Satan is going to use the worsening conditions on the planet to incite fear—fear of climate change, of rising oceans, of terrible storms, of famine, of pandemics—and Satan will cause these calamities to increase. This will cause those who have rejected God to become more fearful and seek to save themselves by taking greater coercive control, passing more laws, taking away more freedoms, and ultimately seeking to cull the population in order to try to save the planet.

If you are a Christian and you are supporting the Green movement, you are supporting the enemy of God; you are empowering those who value the planet more than the people on the planet—and whose policies are designed to cull the population in order to save the planet. But as children of God, we love people more than the planet; we want as many people as possible to come to salvation, which means we don't want to cull the population; no—we want to bring people to Jesus!

Rejecting the Green movement does not mean that we fail to be good stewards of the Earth. In the very same way we govern ourselves, we will practice God's methods and not pollute, not abuse animals, not exploit the environment—but we will also not give our support to a godless movement that values the planet more than the people, a movement that will initiate policies that will result in injuring billions in the name of saving the planet. And we are seeing this happen right now all over the world!

MONDAY

The lesson asks us to read Deuteronomy 4:32-39:

> "Ask now about the former days, long before your time, from the day God created man on the earth; ask from one end of the heavens to the other. Has anything so great as this ever happened, or has anything like it ever been heard of? [First point—ask, has any other god created life, created humankind? No! Only the true God. But notice the instruction is to ask from one end of the heavens to the other—here in the Old Testament we see that the conflict isn't restricted to the earth. There was a conflict in the heavens, ask throughout the heavens to know, is there any other god who creates life and created humankind in His image on the earth. Angels in heaven, Lucifer and Christ are not the same. Lucifer is a created being and has no power to create. Jesus is God, an infite being with no beginning and is the Creator.] Has any other people heard the voice of God speaking out of fire, as you have, and lived? [And this Creator God cares about you and speaks to you directly, personally, He doesn't stay afar off and unreachable, but comes down to where you are and talks to you directly. And will eventually give up divine abilities to become one of us in order to save us.] Has any god ever tried to take for himself one nation out of another nation, by testings, by miraculous signs and wonders, by war, by a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, or by great and awesome deeds, like all the things the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your very eyes?
>
> You were shown these things so that you might know that the LORD is God; besides him there is no other. [God doesn't just declare truth, God reveals truth. God revealed truth throughout the heavens when He created the earth and humans upon it. God revealed truth to you directly by the demonstration of power over the elements of creation, by exposing the gods of Egypt as false, by overturning the power of the most powerful nation in the world. God did all of this to give you evidence that He is real and not some fantasy made up by imagination.] From heaven he made you hear his voice to discipline you. [He spoke to you and disciplines you because He loves you and wants to heal you.] On earth he showed you his great fire, and you heard his words from out of the fire. Because he loved your forefathers and chose their descendants after them, he brought you out of Egypt by his Presence and his great strength, to drive out before you nations greater and stronger than you and to bring you into their land to give it to you for your inheritance, as it is today. [Didn't He love other people or only their forefathers? So what does this mean? He was able to have His love act, flow, move, work through their forefathers thus He loved then functionally because they trusted Him. And when God's love is functional, operational, in the being it heals and transforms and God is able to will and do according to His good pleasure, and in this case to bring about the people who will be the avenue for the Messiah to save the entire world.]
> Acknowledge and take to heart this day that the LORD is God in heaven above and on the earth below. There is no other." (Dt 4:32–39 NIV84).

Do we still need to remember this today? Do we see how hard God's enemy works to get people to forget this?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the dangers of prosperity—what are the dangers?

Is there a blessing in the struggles of life, what are the blessings of the struggles?

What does this mean?

> "Not only so, but we also rejoice in our sufferings, because we know that suffering produces perseverance; perseverance, character; and character, hope" (Ro 5:3–4 NIV84).

Does it mean that if we have no struggles, trials, sufferings that we have no hope?

Could there be danger in what the world thinks is success?

Do we help people by alleviating their suffering—does the cause of their suffering matter?

What if the suffering is a result of failure to apply oneself, or to choose avail oneself of the opportunities available?

Is it ever godly and loving to take an action that causes someone to suffer?

Why are government programs that are designed to relieve suffering often the cause of more suffering?

What is the difference between a government program and the Bible principle of helping those in need?

When Ruth and Naomi were in poverty and had no money for food what was God's method to provide for their food? Gleaning in the field, what is the principle taught in this story?

- that people were required to do as much for their own health and welfare and sustenance as they were capable of doing—that they were not required to do more than they were capable, but it would be wrong to make others do for them what they were able to do for themselves why?
    - because it would atrophy the abilities of the one not utilizing them
    - it would diminish the character of the one not living up to their abilities
    - strength comes through exertion
    - our dignity and self-worth is a result of living out the principles of God to the best of our ability, failure to engage ourselves results in loss of our sense of worth and value. We will rightly feel guilt and shame and this is corrosive to the soul.
- But what if a person is capable and won't do for themselves?
    - For even when we were with you, we gave you this rule: "If a man will not work, he shall not eat." We hear that some among you are idle. They are not busy; they are > busybodies. Such people we command and urge in the Lord Jesus Christ to settle down and earn the bread they eat. (2 Th 3:10–12 NIV84).

Is this cruel or loving to treat people as this passage instructs?

But they might go hungry, they might cry out in despair—they might complain of how unloving you are for not giving them food, they might complain that it is because of their race, or gender that they are not given a universal monthly income.

But what happens to people when they don't work and are capable of doing so?

> Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows. The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction; the one who sows to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life. Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up. Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all people, especially to those who belong to the family of believers. (Ga 6:7–10).

What is required for a person to do real good for another? That they know design law, know God's design for life and health and choose to operate in harmony with those designs. Good intentions are not enough to do good. The road to hell is often paved with good intentions. To do real good people must know God and God's laws and then know the situation and what actions will be therapeutic.

So, the difference between government programs and the Bible method is that the Bible method calls us to love others directly. We don't substitute a nameless, faceless bureaucracy for human relationships, which means we must get to know them personally. We must want their eternal best interest, and then we use our influence to create opportunities for their actual development and advancement as people created in the image of God to recover the image of God, to think and to act. We do not take actions that would destroy their individuality, that would infantilize them, that would make them shadows of others and corrupt their characters. This is what many of the government programs do, they take from people who don't want to help and this builds resentment, it also relieves from people any sense of further responsibility to actually help their neighbor, then gives to people who haven't fulfilled their life responsibilities, who don't do all they can with the abilities they have thus causing further dependence and atrophy of abilities rather than development of abilities.

Remember all governments of this earth are Satan's and they all practice Satan's methods. So many people get duped into buying into the goal and ignoring the destructive methods of achieving the goal.

THURSDAY

The lesson asks us to read Ephesians 2:8-13:

> "For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast. For we are God's workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do. Therefore, remember that formerly you who are Gentiles by birth and called "uncircumcised" by those who call themselves "the circumcision" (that done in the body by the hands of men)—remember that at that time you were separate from Christ, excluded from citizenship in Israel and foreigners to the covenants of the promise, without hope and without God in the world. But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far away have been brought near through the blood of Christ" (Eph 2:8–13 NIV84).

What does this mean?

What is God's grace—God being gracious? God doing something that we don't earn, something that isn't pay or salary or the result of our effort?

So our salvation is a work of God for us—why was this needed? Why couldn't we do it for ourselves?

What does it mean created in Christ Jesus—how are we created in Christ Jesus?

Jesus became the second Adam, the second head of humanity and in the humanity, the individual human being of Jesus, God saved/healed the species. God did something in the specific person of Jesus that overcame the damage that Adam did to the species. In Jesus God restored His living law of love and purged the infection of fear and selfishness and if we receive from Jesus what He accomplished we will be healed, restored, to do good works as an produce a fruit of His work.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 11
Deuteronomy in the Later Writings

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read Memory Text: "The LORD delighted only in your fathers, to love them; and He chose their descendants after them, you above all peoples, as it is this day" (Dt 10:15 NKJV).

What does it mean that God delighted only in the ancestors of the Jews to love them?

Does it mean God doesn't love all humans? How do you understand it?

Does this speak about God's attitude and affections or about God's ability to function in their lives, the power and function of love? In other words, it was the ancestors of these people, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, who trusted God enough to surrender to Him, to allow God to transform their hearts, to allow God's love to manifest in and through them and thus become the progenitors of a people that would be the avenue for the fulfillment of God's promise to Adam that Jesus would come?

We must put this together with the entire inspired record where God is not a respecter of persons, where they were to be a kingdom of priests that were to witness to all the nations and that Abraham's descendants were to be counted from all the peoples of the world, the promised Seed was to bless all humanity, not just the Jews.

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on king Josiah, grandson of Manasseh, who took the throne at age 8 and initiated religious reform when the book of the law was discovered.

As we have discussed before, the Old Testament is not just a record of historical events, it is also object lessons to teach the larger reality of the war between Christ and Satan and lessons for us today. Thinking about the events in Josiah's time, how the law being rediscovered brought reformation in the battle for hearts and minds, let's see if we can discern the same forces at war in our day and how returning to the truth about God's law, God's methods, God's principles frees the people and brings reformation today. Let's think about this as we examine the commentary on Josiah from the book Prophets and Kings:

> With the accession of Josiah to the throne, where he was to rule for thirty-one years, those who had maintained the purity of their faith began to hope that the downward course of the kingdom was checked; for the new king, though only eight years old, feared God, and from the very beginning "he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aside to the right hand or to the left." 2 Kings 22:2. [Are there faithful people in the world today hoping for someone to check the downward course of events in the world today?] Born of a wicked king, beset with temptations to follow in his father's steps, and with few counselors to encourage him in the right way, Josiah nevertheless was true to the God of Israel. Warned by the errors of past generations, he chose to do right, instead of descending to the low level of sin and degradation to which his father and his grandfather had fallen. He "turned not aside to the right hand or to the left." As one who was to occupy a position of trust, he resolved to obey the instruction that had been given for the guidance of Israel's rulers, and his obedience made it possible for God to use him as a vessel unto honor. PK 384.1 [Is there a lesson for each of us? For our church? Despite errors of past generations, we have the responsibility for ourselves to NOT accept the views, beliefs, traditions, practices of previous generations, even our own fathers and grandfathers, but to study God's word for ourselves, to understand God's duty for our lives for ourselves, and to choose to fulfill that the duty God has given us even if it differs from what our ancestors have done.]

At the time Josiah began to rule, and for many years before, the truehearted in Judah were questioning whether God's promises to ancient Israel could ever be fulfilled. From a human point of view the divine purpose for the chosen nation seemed almost impossible of accomplishment. [Do many Christians question God's promises today? Are many asking, where is the promise of the coming Savior? From a human point of view does it seem almost impossible to accomplish?] The apostasy of former centuries had gathered strength with the passing years; ten of the tribes had been scattered among the heathen; only the tribes of Judah and Benjamin remained, and even these now seemed on the verge of moral and national ruin. [Has the apostacy of the Christian churches gathered strength? Do we seem on the verge of moral and national ruin?] The prophets had begun to foretell the utter destruction of their fair city, where stood the temple built by Solomon, and where all their earthly hopes of national greatness had centered. [Have some of us been foretelling of the apostacy of the principles of liberty of conscience and the erosion of civil liberties, of the abuse of powers and the support of this abuse by not just politicians but by religious leaders? Churches have begun to support the discrimination of people based on vaccine status. Some churches are refusing religious services, some nations are locking unvaccinated into their homes, denying them basic civil liberties. In Revelation 17 the woman on the scarlet beast is described as a prostitute or whore. What does a woman in Bible prophecy represent—the church, so a pure woman represents the true church, those faithful to Jesus. What does a prostitute represent? But what is the different between a prostitute and an adulteress? Both are unfaithful to their husband, so both would represent people who claim to be loyal to Jesus but are not. The difference is that the adulteress is deceived and joins with another because she gives her heart to another. The prostitute sells herself for money or gain. Now, in this current COVID crisis why have so many Christian owned hospitals and healthcare systems gone along with mandates on their employees and are still doing it today? It is not for the health of the employees or the patients—the safest people in society are those who are unvaccinated COVID recovered. They have antibodies to multiple sites on the virus. They have IgG and IgM in their blood and IgA on their mucous membranes, so when they get exposed to the virus their immune systems kill it and they do not spread it. The CDC was forced to acknowledge that there is not one confirmed case of a COVID recovered individual spreading SARS COV2. But the most dangerous spreaders in society are the vaccinated. They have been given a treatment that is designed to reduce severity of symptoms. They achieve this by producing IgG and IgM antibodies to one site (spike protein) but they have no IgA antibodies. So when they get exposed the virus reproduces in their nose and throat and when it crosses into their blood they have IgG and IgM antibodies so they don't get as sick, they don't stay home, they go to work and have virus in their noses and throats and they spread it to others. This is the science, this is the reality. Then why are Christian hospital systems forcing unwanted vaccines on their employees, coercing the consciences of people, siding with the beastly powers? For money, for Medicare reimbursement, or to avoid lawsuits for not following CDC guidelines; they are selling their virtue, their principles, their honor, their character to the state for money. They are more interested in the health of their organizations than people. They can justify it any way they want but they are acting the role of the harlot of Revelation 17.] Could it be that God was about to turn aside from His avowed purpose of bringing deliverance to those who should put their trust in Him? In the face of the long-continued persecution of the righteous, and of the apparent prosperity of the wicked, could those who had remained true to God hope for better days? PK 384.2 [Are we seeing the righteous being persecuted? But don't lose hope, better days are promised for those who endure to the end.]

These anxious questionings were voiced by the prophet Habakkuk. Viewing the situation of the faithful in his day, he expressed the burden of his heart in the inquiry: "How long, O LORD, must I call for help, but you do not listen? Or cry out to you, "Violence!" but you do not save? [Do we cry out to the Lord because of increasing violence in our societies—riots, mob thieving, open attacks upon people?] Why do you make me look at injustice? Why do you tolerate wrong? Destruction and violence are before me; there is strife, and conflict abounds. Therefore the law is paralyzed, and justice never prevails. The wicked hem in the righteous, so that justice is perverted." Habakkuk 1:2-4 NIV84. PK 385.1 [Do we see in society those doing grossly illegal activity being praised and protected by various government officials, while those who seek to protect others are being maliciously slandered and prosecuted? Do we see injustice all around?]

God answered the cry of His loyal children. Through His chosen mouthpiece He revealed His determination to bring chastisement upon the nation that had turned from Him to serve the gods of the heathen.. PK 385.2 [They turned from Him not merely in worship services, the primary turning from God was in the implementation of their anti-truth narratives. In their application of selfishness and exploitation calling it justice. In the lying, cheating, abuse of power. Do we see this today? Do we see an assault on truth which is from the father of lies and is designed to destroy the minds of people? Do we see lies from the government and the media like never before? This is the practicing of principles contrary to the government of God. This is a form of paganism or false worship when we find worthy of our investment, time, energy and practice the methods of God's enemy. See what is happening in the world. Almost everything being advanced by mainstream media today is contrary to God's kingdom of truth, love and freedom. Its goal is to destroy godliness in people to make us distrust and hate each other, to incite such fear and outrage that we will be willing to embrace Satan's methods in how we treat others. The king of the south—godlessness—is making its final assault. It is purposeful and it is irrational, extremely so, for it is designed to stir up in people anger, outrage, frustration, fear to incite the king of the north—religious conservatism and imperialism to no longer be tolerant of others, but to violently put down the abuses from the other side. It is designed to tempt Christians into joining the formation of the beastly system of Revelation to seek justice through human governments and enforced laws. It is now like never before that we must keep our eyes fixed on Jesus, daily surrender our lives to Him, trust Him with our health, family, fortunes and futures. It will seem overwhelmingly right to join with forces that will use Satan's methods to achieve justice, but the righteous use only the methods of God.]

Confident that even in this terrible judgment the purpose of God for His people would in some way be fulfilled, Habakkuk bowed in submission to the revealed will of Jehovah. "Art Thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One?" he exclaimed. And then, his faith reaching out beyond the forbidding prospect of the immediate future, and laying fast hold on the precious promises that reveal God's love for His trusting children, the prophet added, "We shall not die." Verse 12. [Do we have this same faith? Do we know that as events get worse on earth that we, the faithful of God, will not die? That Jesus will redeem us and we will inherit the earth? Think about it—which nation had/has a greater claim on God's protection, ancient Israel at the time of Habakkuk or the USA? Which nation could more confidently say they were established by God to fulfill a purpose for God? And yet, what happened to that ancient nation? It was defeated by the Babylonians—and what was required of the righteous? To trust God and NOT fight the enemy forces with physical violence. What about us today?] With this declaration of faith he rested his case, and that of every believing Israelite, in the hands of a compassionate God. PK 386.1 [Do we see God's interventions to "chastise" to bring the Babylonians the way Habakkuk did, as evidence of God's compassion? What enables Habakkuk or us to do this? Understanding design law, and God's character of love, the great controversy and what God's actions are accomplishing and what would happen if God did not allow the Babylonian captivity.]

This was not Habakkuk's only experience in the exercise of strong faith. On one occasion, when meditating concerning the future, he said, "I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the tower, and will watch to see what He will say unto me." [Have you decided to stand upon your watch, to be a sentinel of truth, to stand in the breach and oppose the lies, the false narratives, the perversions of godly justice, the corruption of reality that our society is advancing? Are you refusing to bow the knee to social pressures, the god of false science, to political correctness and to the political powers coercing and compelling conscience?] Graciously the Lord answered him: "Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry. Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but the just shall live by his faith." Habakkuk 2:1-4. PK 386.2 [Are you willing to be one of the just, who, choosing to do what is right and just in governance of self, then trusts God with outcomes? Or are you going to embrace the methods of the world and claim we must violate God's principles; we must coerce other people, we must force them to take the jab because we must control the future, we must stop the pandemic? Who do you trust? Where is your responsibility? The just live by faith, by trusting outcomes to God and choosing to do what is right in governance of self, and that means they live out God's design laws of truth, love and liberty in how they treat others!]

The faith that strengthened Habakkuk and all the holy and the just in those days of deep trial was the same faith that sustains God's people today. [Do we have this faith? Are we exercising this faith? Or are we listening to the roar of God's enemy and allowing fear and the survival drives to motivate us to take matters into our own hands and seek to force others to do what we want so we can feel safe?] In the darkest hours, under circumstances the most forbidding, the Christian believer may keep his soul stayed upon the source of all light and power. [Do you believe this? Are you choosing to live this?] Day by day, through faith in God, his hope and courage may be renewed. "The just shall live by his faith." [This is a daily renewal every day we must embrace and exercise our faith/trust in God!] In the service of God there need be no despondency, no wavering, no fear. The Lord will more than fulfill the highest expectations of those who put their trust in Him. He will give them the wisdom their varied necessities demand… PK 386.3

We must cherish and cultivate the faith of which prophets and apostles have testified— the faith that lays hold on the promises of God and waits for deliverance in His appointed time and way. [Do you see this is exactly the opposite of the world's methods. The world doesn't believe in waiting for the Lord. The world believes in making its own way, of force, of demands, of mandates, of compelling power. But the righteous present the truth in love and leave free. The righteous live God's law and trust Him with outcomes.] The sure word of prophecy will meet its final fulfillment in the glorious advent of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, as King of kings and Lord of lords. [We are entering the final movements leading to Christ's return. Don't get distracted on these earthly conflicts. See what is happening, see the rise of tyranny, the satanic methods implemented under the guise of justice, but recognize them as signs of the times, as evidence of the soon appearing of our Savior and be encouraged not discouraged!] The time of waiting may seem long, the soul may be oppressed by discouraging circumstances, many in whom confidence has been placed may fall by the way; but with the prophet who endeavored to encourage Judah in a time of unparalleled apostasy, let us confidently declare, "The Lord is in His holy temple: let all the earth keep silence before Him." Habakkuk 2:20. Let us ever hold in remembrance the cheering message, "The vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry.... The just shall live by his faith." Verses 3, 4…. PK 387.2 [We are living in the time when Jesus, our heavenly High Priest is in His holy temple, cleansing the hearts and minds of His people to prepare us to meet Him. Part of this cleansing is bringing us into circumstances where we decide whom we will trust and what methods we will choose to embrace and apply in how we treat others. Will we present truth in love and leave others free, or will we join with the beastly systems of this world and enforce mandates? Will we sell our souls for Medicare reimbursements? Will we say it is better for a few of our employees to die than our hospital corporation to be closed? Will we deceive ourselves that we are obeying the law or we are saving lives and therefore it is proper and just to violate God's law in forcing compliance upon others?]

Habakkuk was not the only one through whom was given a message of bright hope and of future triumph as well as of present judgment. During the reign of Josiah the word of the Lord came to Zephaniah, specifying plainly the results of continued apostasy, and calling the attention of the true church to the glorious prospect beyond. His prophecies of impending judgment upon Judah apply with equal force to the judgments that are to fall upon an impenitent world at the time of the second advent of Christ: PK 389.1

"The great day of the Lord is near, [Do you recognize this reality?]
It is near, and hasteth greatly,
Even the voice of the day of the Lord:
The mighty man shall cry there bitterly. PK 390.1
"That day is a day of wrath, [What is God's wrath? Letting go, why? Because people insist on denying God, on doing it their way. So God lets them go. Are we living in a time when people are denying God, rejecting God's methods, principles and laws? Is humanism, evolutionism and godlessness being embraced? And as hearts harden against God, what happens to the Holy Spirit? He is slowly withdrawn from the earth and Satan and his forces gain more power on the earth and we see more chaos, breakdown in social order, more hate, more exploitation, greater calamities in nature. This is the time of God's wrath!]
A day of trouble and distress,
A day of wasteness and desolation,
A day of darkness and gloominess, PK 390.2
"A day of clouds and thick darkness,
A day of the trumpet and alarm
Against the fenced cities,
And against the high towers." Zephaniah 1:14-16. PK 390.3

"I will bring distress upon men, that they shall walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the Lord: and their blood shall be poured out as dust.... [Are we living in such times? Do you see the blindness of so many of our leaders—our political leaders, science and medical leaders and church leaders. They are blind, why? Because they don't embrace God's design law methods. They are focused on the world's system of imposed laws, of saving self, of compelling power.] Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the Lord's wrath: [Are we seeing this? Has any nation in history spent more money than our congress is spending, supposedly to "build back better" but what is actually happening? The more money they spend the worse it is going to get, why? Because they are spending money that doesn't exist. They are printing money, digitally creating it, and flooding it into the economy, this makes it less valuable, which drives prices higher. This is called inflation. And the people hurt are the poorest people in society. They will ultimately become more and more dependent upon the government, which doesn't respect them as individuals but views them as commodities to be exploited, harvested, used for the benefit of the powerful elites. The > consequences of violating God's law cannot be avoided through more spending.] but the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of His jealousy: for He shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land." Verses 17, 18… PK 390.4 [Jesus said, "I have come to bring fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled!" (Luke 12:49 NIV84). What is this fire? Is this the same fire that is to devour the land?]

Hezekiah was a righteous ruler who led the people to embrace the principles of the law and the nation prospered. But his son Manasseh was wicked, he reigned 55 years and led the people to forget God and God's law. Manasseh's son Amon, was also wicked, but only reigned two years before Josiah came to the throne. When the book of the law, which was Deuteronomy, was rediscovered this led to reformation.

Do we see lessons in this in the history of Christianity? Jesus came and was the living Word of God who reformed the understanding of God's law, government, character the plan of salvation and resulted in a reformation, and the early Christian church was built upon the Jewish reformers (Apostles).

But the law of God—the law of love, as Jesus and the New Testament writers taught it, got obscured and replaced by Roman imposed law, and did the world go into darkness.

But did the truth of God's law get rediscovered, the messages of the 3 angels that began a final reformation before Christ returns? But, did that final message also get infected in 1888 with the imposed law lie and the penal/legal fraud and the true message of the 3 angels has been delayed? And thus the Bible prophesies that the message of the 3 angels must be given again and that is the message of Revelation 18, the repeating of the 3 angel's messages, but no longer through imposed law, now in its right setting, through design law.

> We will be doing a lecture January 15, 2022 at 3 p.m. Hamilton Community Church on this topic and releasing a new sharing magazine. We will livestream this event, so mark your calendars.

The lesson points out in the fourth paragraph that "this reformation included a cleansing and purging of 'all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and Jerusalem…"

This is a metaphor of the cleansing and purging of the spirit temple, our hearts and minds from sin that is to occur before the second coming of Christ.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Deuteronomy 10:12-15, but let's read through verse 19:

> 12 And now, O Israel, what does the LORD your God ask of you but to fear the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, to love him, to serve the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, 13 and to observe the LORD's commands and decrees that I am giving you today for your own good? [Does the Lord ask anything different from us? And what does it mean to fear the Lord? What does it mean to walk in his ways? How do we love God? What has the Lord commanded of us today? Does the Lord's commands have something to do with what methods and principles we embrace and practice in our own health, what we choose to eat, or what we choose to drink, or smoke, what about what we choose to inject into our bodies? What about how we treat others? Are we do live out God's law in how we treat others? Why? Is it so we won't get into legal trouble with God? Or does breaking God's law actually damage us?]14 To the LORD your God belong the heavens, even the highest heavens, the earth and everything in it. [What is being established by this statement? Why does all creation belong to the Lord? Because He both built/created it and He sustains it. Reality only exists because God continually disperses His energy to maintain all the laws upon which the universe operates. To be cut off from God means to be cut off from life.]15 Yet the LORD set his affection on your forefathers and loved them, and he chose you, their descendants, above all the nations, as it is today. [What is the point being made? That despite God being Creator of all things, a universe so immense we cannot even image it, that He loves us and wants to save and heal us! We are valued, we are important to Him. We are not some random collection of molecules that organized themselves and came into being, we have identity and individuality as beings created in the image of God and we matter to Him!] 16 Circumcise your hearts, therefore, and do not be stiff-necked any longer. [What does this mean? We are to cut away from our hearts all worldliness, all fear, selfishness, and all the methods, practices and principles of Satan. Stop resisting reality and embrace truth, love, and liberty.] 17 For the LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great God, mighty and awesome, who shows no partiality and accepts no bribes. [What is revealed in this statement? What kind of law is always applied with partiality and can be impacted by bribes? Imposed law, but God's laws are not altered by partiality or by bribes. God is constant and His design laws are expressions of His character of love and they are not partial, they are no respecter of persons. They treat everyone the same. And God's love is for everyone the same.] 18 He defends the cause of the fatherless and the widow, and loves the alien, giving him food and clothing. 19 And you are to love those who are aliens, for you yourselves were aliens in Egypt" (Dt 10:12–19 NIV84). [This is the outworking of God's law, to love others, which cannot be done through legislation, it can only be done through heart transformation. Understand, the various governmental programs that claim to be interested in helping the poor, are a means, mechanism, gambit, to get more power for the government—to justify taking more money, to divide society into constituency groups, to create injustice and inequity under the lie of seeking justice and equity.]

TUESDAY

The lesson points our attention to Jeremiah 7:1-7, let's read through verse 8:

> This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: 2 "Stand at the gate of the LORD's house and there proclaim this message: [What is the application to us today? What is the Lord's house? The temple built on earth was a shadow or theater, a teaching tool to the genuine one. And what material is the genuine temple of God built out of, the one not built by human hands, the place where the Bible repeatedly states is God's dwelling place? It is built upon the Apostles with Christ the chief cornerstone and it is built out of the saved, the people. We are God's temple that He is cleansing. Do we see ourselves as the messengers of God standing at the gates of His temple to proclaim a message the world at this time in human history?]

" 'Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who come through these gates to worship the LORD. 3 This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Reform your ways and your actions, and I will let you live in this place. [Do we have a message of Reformation? Does God have a message for this time that the people of God are to reform? Reform about what? About how we understand God, His law, His government, what righteousness actually is. We are to worship Him who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water; we are to finally leave behind the false methods of imperialism and legal adjustment as a way to righteousness and instead embrace truth, love, liberty experienced through a faith relationship with our Creator God!] 4 Do not trust in deceptive words and say, "This is the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD!" [What is the message for us today? Might it be, "Do not trust in deceptive words and say "The Sabbath of the Lord, the Sabbath of the Lord, this is the Sabbath of the Lord"? Was the message that the temple in Jerusalem was God's temple a false message? Is the message that the seventh-day Sabbath is God's Sabbath a false message? Then why did the prophet tell them don't trust in deceptive words and say "This is the temple of the Lord?" Why would it be a false message to say "This is the temple of the Lord," when it was the temple of the Lord? What about saying "this is the Sabbath of the Lord" how could that be a false message when it is the Sabbath? When we present it as a legal requirement of a god who makes up imposed legal rules, as a test of obedience, as a behavioral requirement rather than as a gift from God to human beings built by God into reality to bless and benefit us—as part of His design for life and health.] 5 If you really change your ways and your actions and deal with each other justly, [What is godly justice? Can we get godly justice through human governments? Notice what the text says next] 6 if you do not oppress the alien, the fatherless or the widow and do not shed innocent blood in this place, and if you do not follow other gods to your own harm, [Notice it doesn't say if your government doesn't oppress, or if your government passes the right laws, or has social programs. It is about what we do in governance of ourselves. Also, notice what is described in following other gods—harming oneself. The law of worship, we become like what we worship, worshiping false gods damages us. And we worship false gods by embracing the methods, principles and practices of those gods—even if we claim we are worshipping Jesus or don't believe in God at all. Thus, if Christians embrace the method of pursuing righteousness, pursuing godly justice through human governments, laws, mandates, they are worshiping the god of this world and misrepresenting the God of heaven.] 7 then I will let you live in this place, in the land I gave your forefathers for ever and ever. [Only the righteous in heart, the meek in character, those renewed to be like Jesus in how they live and treat others will inherit the earth and live in the earth made new.] 8 But look, you are trusting in deceptive words that are worthless" (Je 7:1–8 NIV84). [How many today are trusting in deceptive words that are worthless—the penal legal deception of salvation, social justice through human governments, mandates on other people's consciences—all of this is deception.]

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Micah 6:1-8:

Listen to what the LORD says:

"Stand up, plead your case before the mountains;
let the hills hear what you have to say.
2 Hear, O mountains, the LORD's accusation;
listen, you everlasting foundations of the earth.
For the LORD has a case against his people;
he is lodging a charge against Israel. [Some Bible commentaries suggest that the mountains here refer to inanimate nature being called by God as a witness to the case against the people. However, I have another possibility to consider. In Scripture the mountains, hills, high places were the places of worship. Zion is called God's holy hill. And hills also represent places of pagan or false worship (Leviticus 26:30; 1Kings 14:23; 2Kings 16:4). God's government is open. God is the God of truth. We see glimpses of this in the first chapter of Job and the heavenly counsel. The issue against Israel is about false worship and perverse views of God and worship practices. So, I suggest God is using this language to suggest that God is speaking truth before all His enemies and reality bears witness that their false religions are false.]

3 "My people, what have I done to you?
How have I burdened you? Answer me. [God, being truth, confronts them with a question designed to get them to examine what they have been thinking. God asks, "Why do you think I have burdened you or that I have done something against you?" It is designed to expose that their apostacy stems from some lies they believe about God.
4 I brought you up out of Egypt and redeemed you from the land of slavery.
I sent Moses to lead you, also Aaron and Miriam. [God reminds them He saves and delivers]
5 My people, remember what Balak king of Moab counseled and what Balaam son of Beor answered.
Remember your journey from Shittim to Gilgal, that you may know the righteous acts of the LORD."
[God again reminds them of historical facts that demonstrate His righteousness]
6 With what shall I come before the LORD and bow down before the exalted God?
Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?
7 Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousand rivers of oil?

Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?
8 He has showed you, O man, what is good.
And what does the LORD require of you?
To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God" (Mic 6:1–8 NIV84).
[God then makes it clear rituals are meaningless, what matters is a transformed heart and mind to have God's living law written within.]

How many Christians today need this same message?

Read second paragraph, "Bible scholars…" Isn't it sad—they take the very passage designed to turn them away from a legal view of things and to a healing view of reality, and instead of seeing the healing truth they persist on interpreting it through the imposed law lie trying to make this a legal problem when it is a problem of the condition of the heart and mind. Only through design law, the law upon which reality operates is this rightly understood.

They suggest it is a legal problem because it is based on covenant law. What is the primary covenant that the Bible uses to model the plan of salvation? Marriage—it is a covenant and throughout human history, what kind of law did it operate upon?

Was Adam and Eve's marriage based in human law, imposed rules, what about Abraham and Sarah?

God's design law is about how reality operates, two hearts and minds bonding together in love, trust, respect, and devotion. This cannot be legislated. It can be betrayed, love and trust can be broken, but such law breaking is not a legal problem, it is a problem of health, of life itself. Such law breaking breaks the heart, damages the mind and corrupts the character.

This is the reality of God's kingdom. This is what Deuteronomy and Micah are teaching us. And the message for the people today is to stop viewing God as an imposer of rules and instead judge Him to be the Creator whose laws are design laws, then do what is right because it is right and right doing pleases God.

THURSDAY

Read fourth paragraph, "As Deuteronomy had said…" Why was it necessary to drive the people from the land and have them go into captivity? Was this punishment for sin, or was it a therapeutic act of mercy to keep open the avenue for the Messiah?

What made this action necessary? It was the refusal of the people to stay faithful in their responsibilities to the Lord.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 12
Deuteronomy in the New Testament

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

One of our online listeners and friends, Kent Johnson, sent this to me this week:

> My sister Kathy Brannan wrote this for a flyer to pass out to people at their church's Christmas booth after a parade. She put the thoughts together from what she's been learning from you, Graham and others just in the last few years.
>
> "A Baby Solves the Case
>
> God has a court case to solve–and it's not yours, or mine–it's His Own! (Romans 3:4) He faces a lot of serious accusations–He is either "malevolent–unwilling to prevent evil or He is impotent–unable to prevent it." Some say that neither option is acceptable, so they conclude God does not exist.
>
> Humans were given their tragic start in accusing God long ago by the chief Mudslinger, recorded in Genesis 3. God is restrictive and arbitrary, ("you can't eat from any tree?"); God is not trustworthy, ("God lied--you won't die"); God is selfish, ("He is keeping something wonderful from you"). Revelation 12:7-9 unmasks this "Mudslinger," and reveals that he began this slander with angelic beings right at the throne of God.
>
> Yes! God has a case of cosmic proportions to resolve! What is the truth about His character? The Mudslinger was quite successful in heaven, as he has been on earth! And because forced obedience only results in rebels, God gives freedom to every being in heaven and earth to decide who to believe. Satan, the Mudslinger, fights with force, deceit, and ego. God has been battling the accusations with love, freedom, truth, and... a baby!
>
> This baby came to give the greatest evidence possible to humanity and to the entire universe (Colossians 1:20) that God is trustworthy– yes, sin does cause death–not because God will punish, but because sin will separate the created from the life-giving Creator. God the Father did not kill God the Son; He withdrew and allowed Jesus to demonstrate the results of the separation that occurs from sin. (Matthew 27:46) This baby gave evidence beyond our comprehension that God is not selfish–God became a human baby and then willingly let humans, inspired by the Mudslinger, put Him to death on a cross! (Philippians 2:5-8) And this baby gave wonderful evidence that God only restricts to protect us from the damage caused by sin. When this baby grew to manhood, He said, "I have come that they might have life, and have it more abundantly!" (John 10:10) His whole life was spent in giving life and healing!

The jury is still out. This Christmas, let the truth this baby reveals convince you!"

Before we turn to lesson twelve, I wanted to examine one Old Testament references we didn't get to last week.

It is from lesson 11, TUESDAY

The lesson points our attention to Jeremiah 7:1-7, let's read through verse 8:

> This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: 2 "Stand at the gate of the LORD's house and there proclaim this message: [What is the application to us today? What is the Lord's house? [How many today are trusting in deceptive words that are worthless—the penal legal deception of salvation, social justice through human governments, mandates on other people's consciences—all of this is deception.]

Okay, back to Lesson 12

SUNDAY

The lesson asks us to read Matthew 4:1-11:

> Then Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil. 2 After fasting forty days and forty nights, he was hungry. 3 The tempter came to him and said, "If you are the Son of God, tell these stones to become bread."
> 4 Jesus answered, "It is written: 'Man does not live on bread alone, but on every word that comes from the mouth of God.'"
> 5 Then the devil took him to the holy city and had him stand on the highest point of the temple.
> 6 "If you are the Son of God," he said, "throw yourself down. For it is written:
>
> > " 'He will command his angels concerning you, > > and they will lift you up in their hands, > > so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.'"
>
> 7 Jesus answered him, "It is also written: 'Do not put the Lord your God to the test.'"
> 8 Again, the devil took him to a very high mountain and showed him all the kingdoms of the world and their splendor. 9 "All this I will give you," he said, "if you will bow down and worship me."
> 10 Jesus said to him, "Away from me, Satan! For it is written: 'Worship the Lord your God, and serve him only.'"
> 11 Then the devil left him, and angels came and attended him. (Mt 4:1–11 NIV84).

Any lessons strike you immediately?

First point is that "Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil." But we are to pray, as Jesus taught us, "lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one." (Mt 6:13 NIV84).

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424
topics@comeandreason.com

Why did the Spirit lead Jesus into wilderness to be tempted by Satan, but He leads us away from temptation?

Because Jesus' mission was to confront and overcome Satan and the temptations of sin as a human being, using only the resources available to humans, in order to restore God's law of love back into the species human, destroying the death condition caused by Adam and restoring eternal life into humanity—the humanity He assumed. Thus, Jesus became the second Adam, the new head of humanity, the mystical vine and we are the branches that get grafted into Jesus through faith. In our faith relationship with Jesus we receive a new nature—we become partakers of the divine nature and are transformed and healed to be like Jesus.

We don't have to win the victory; we get to share the victory won for us. We will never have to tread the winepress alone. We will never be left to our own strength. We are promised never to face a temptation beyond our ability to resist.

This is why Jesus was led to the desert to be tempted but we pray to not be led into temptation.

What was the goal of the temptations? To get Christ to act selfishly.

How did Jesus overcome?

The lesson states, "Jesus didn't argue with Satan or debate with him. He simply quoted Scripture because, as the Word of God, it is "living and powerful and sharper than any two-edged sword" (Heb. 4:12).

First why didn't Jesus argue or debate with Satan, but Jesus did have a discussion, even a debate of sorts, with Nicodemus?

What was the difference in the two encounters?

Nicodemus was open to truth. His mind had not been hardened beyond hope. But Satan had destroyed the faculties that respond to truth and love and there was no amount of truth that could be presented to Satan that would be redemptive to Satan. So, it would only lengthen the time Jesus would be under temptation, not the time Satan would have for the opportunity for salvation—that time was already closed.

Jesus said, "Do not give dogs what is sacred; do not throw your pearls to pigs. If you do, they may trample them under their feet, and then turn and tear you to pieces" (Mt 7:6 NIV84).

So Jesus didn't enter into discussion or debate because there was no point, Satan's mind and heart are beyond impacting with truth and love.

The second point though is a little subtler point to reason through—and that is using Scripture. The lesson quotes Hebrews and suggests that Jesus used Scripture here because it is living and powerful and sharper than any two-edged sword, but what does it mean to describe the Scriptures in this way? When we say it is living and powerful and sharper than any two-edged sword, what are we talking about? Isn't Scripture used as a two-edged sword separating bone from marrow describing how the Word of God, the truth can cut through lies, expose sin and selfishness, bring conviction, and work to circumcise the hearts from the world?

In this case, was Jesus when Jesus quoted Scripture to defeat Satan, was it to cut through Satan's heart, reach his mind, pierce his conscience and bring him to repentance?

Couldn't Jesus have resisted Satan by staying silent like He did with Pilate or Herod, or simply walking away?

Wouldn't quoting the Bible to Satan be like casting pearls before swine? Would Scripture truths have any positive impact on Satan? Then for whom where they quoted?

Certainly, Jesus as a human, tempted in all points like us, would be encouraged by quoting Scripture. Have you ever been tempted and quoted Scripture and it encouraged you? And could Jesus have quoted Scripture because He was aware that the entire universe was watching, and could His quoting of Scripture have also been as a witness to angels in heaven? And what about as a witness to all of us through history who have read this account?

So, Jesus is quoting Scripture not to pull out His sword of truth and enter into a duel with Satan, but to encourage Himself, witness the truth to all those who are still open to be influenced by the truth.

What do you think it means "you shall not tempt the Lord your God?" or put God to a test?

Here is how I paraphrased it in The Remedy NT: "Don't test God to provide miracles when he has already provided overwhelming evidence upon which to base one's beliefs and know one's duty."

There is another lesson—did Jesus have a copy of the Bible with Him when He faced temptation? Then how was He able to quote Scripture?

If we don't study, memorize, and understand Scripture before we face temptation, we will not be equipped with heavenly truths in order to resist effectively. Another way to say it is, the more Scripture we bring into our hearts and minds, the greater our resources to call upon in trials and temptations to help us overcome and the less vulnerable to deception.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Deuteronomy 10:17-19, but let's back up and read beginning in verse 12:

12 And now, O Israel, what does the LORD your God ask of you but to fear the LORD your God, to walk in all his ways, to love him, to serve the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, 13 and to observe the LORD's commands and decrees that I am giving you today for your own good? [Does the Lord ask anything different from us? And what does it mean to fear the Lord? What does it mean to walk in his ways? How do we love God? What has the Lord commanded of us today? Does the Lord's commands have something to do with what methods and principles we embrace and practice in our own health, what we choose to eat, or what we choose to drink, or smoke, what about what we choose to inject into our bodies? What about how we treat others? Are we do live out God's law in how we treat others? Why? Is it so we won't get into legal trouble with God? Or does breaking God's law actually damage us?]14 To the LORD your God belong the heavens, even the highest heavens, the earth and everything in it. [What is being established by this statement? Why does all creation belong to the Lord? Because He both built/created it and also sustains it. Reality only exists because God continually disperses His energy to maintain all the laws upon which the universe operates. To be cut off from God means to be cut off from life.]15 Yet the LORD set his affection on your forefathers and loved them, and he chose you, their descendants, above all the nations, as it is today. [What is the point being made? That despite God being Creator of all things, a universe so immense we cannot even image it, that He loves us and wants to save and heal us! We are valued, we are important to Him. We are not some random collection of molecules that organized themselves and came into being, we have identity and individuality as beings created in the image of God and we matter to Him!] 16 Circumcise your hearts, therefore, and do not be stiff-necked any longer. [What does this mean? We are to cut away from our hearts all worldliness, all fear, selfishness, and all the methods, practices and principles of Satan. Stop resisting reality and embrace truth, love, and liberty. And the sharp instrument that God uses to circumcise our hearts is the truth, found most clearly in the Scripture. I love this quote from the book The Desire of Ages:

"The Comforter is called "the Spirit of truth." His work is to define and maintain the truth. He first dwells in the heart as the Spirit of truth, and thus He becomes the Comforter. There is comfort and peace in the truth, but no real peace or comfort can be found in falsehood. It is through false theories and traditions that Satan gains his power over the mind. By directing men to false standards, he misshapes the character. Through the Scriptures the Holy Spirit speaks to the mind, and impresses truth upon the heart. Thus He exposes error, and expels it from the soul. It is by the Spirit of truth, working through the word of God, that Christ subdues His chosen people to Himself." DA 671.1] 17 For the LORD your God is God of gods and Lord of lords, the great God, mighty and awesome, who shows no partiality and accepts no bribes. [The lesson points out multiple New Testament texts that state God shows no favoritism. Is it true? What is the key truth revealed in Deuteronomy 10:17 that when understood confirms that God never plays favorites, but treats everyone with the same love, constancy, and reliability?

What kind of law is always applied with partiality and can be impacted by bribes? Imposed law, but what kind of law is never impacted by bias, opinion, emotion, prejudice, or favoritism? Design laws, and God's laws are design laws and are not altered by partiality or by bribes. God is constant and His design laws are expressions of His character of love and they are not partial, they are no respecter of persons. They treat everyone the same. And God's love is for everyone the same.] 18 He defends the cause of the fatherless and the widow, and loves the alien, giving him food and clothing. 19 And you are to love those who are aliens, for you yourselves were aliens in Egypt" (Dt 10:12–19 NIV84). [This is the outworking of God's law, to love others, which cannot be done through legislation, it can only be done through heart transformation. Understand, the various governmental programs that claim to be interested in helping the poor, are a means, mechanism, gambit, to get more power for the government—to justify taking more money, to divide society into constituency groups, to create injustice and inequity under the lie of seeking justice and equity.]

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Galatians 3:1-14, this is from The Remedy NT:

1 You foolish Galatians! Who has clouded your minds and confused your thinking such that you would prefer lies to the truth? Before your very eyes Jesus Christ was clearly portrayed as crucified, and as the only Remedy for our sin-infected minds! 2 I would like to know just one thing from you: Did you receive the Spirit of love and truth, and experience his healing power, by practicing rituals and observing rules, or was it by understanding and believing the truth that you heard? 3 Are you really so foolish that you think that after experiencing the healing power of the Spirit, which came by trust alone, you can now complete the healing process by your own effort–without the Spirit? 4 Have you really gone so far in the treatment course for nothing? And it will be for nothing if you persist in trying to heal yourselves! 5 Is it because you observe a set of rules that God enlightens your minds with his Spirit and miraculously transforms your characters, or is it because you have been won to trust by the evidence Jesus revealed?

6 Consider Abraham: "He trusted God, and his trust was recognized as righteousness: The distrust caused through Satan's lies had been removed, and through trust he was endowed with a new heart, right motives, and Christlike principles." 7 Be clear on this: All those who trust God as he did, experience the same transformation of character and are considered children of Abraham. 8 The Scriptures foretold that God would set the Gentiles right with himself by trust–just like Abraham–and announced this incredible good news to Abraham: "All nations, peoples and ethnic groups will be blessed through you." 9 So those who trust God experience healing of heart and mind — just like Abraham, who trusted God.
10 All who try to get well and experience unity with God by observing certain rituals, or following a written script, or obeying a set of rules are abandoned to their own fate, for it is written: "Abandoned to their own choice is everyone who fails in the slightest to do everything written in the Book of the Law." 11 Clearly, no one is healed and set right with God by working to follow a set of rules, because "Those set right with God live by trust." 12 The written law, as applied by the Jews, is not based on trust; on the contrary, it is based on > individual performance–on attempts to heal oneself–as it is written: "The one who works to save self will live in fear and only get worse." 13 Christ saved us from where the law leaves us–diagnosed as terminal and abandoned to die–by being himself abandoned on the cross in order to restore us to trust and to purge humanity from the infection of selfishness and death; for it is written: "Abandoned to die is everyone who is hung on a tree." 14 He saved us from a futile, self-focused works system in order that the blessings of love, life, and freedom–given to Abraham–might come to the Gentiles through Jesus Christ, so that by trust we might receive the full enlightenment, renewal, and regeneration of heart and mind that comes by the Spirit.

Read third paragraph, "Paul's point is that we…" What do you think of the lesson's description?

Can a person dying of cancer be saved from cancer by another person dying from cancer and then having their death registered in the death registry as a credit to them?

What about this: can a person dying from cancer be saved from cancer by another person getting treatment, having the cancer go into remission and then having the medical records of the healed person placed into the record of the terminal person crediting to them the healing that the other person experienced?

Understand, the entire penal/legal theory of salvation is a fraud, it is a scam, it is a lie from Satan to trap people into believing they have addressed the sin problem in their life when, in reality, they have not. Some forms of this are more grotesque than others, like the form that says you can go out and commit any sin as long as you come to confession and get absolution through a priest. But this same legal accounting of sin that the Roman church perpetrates is brought into Protestantism through penal substitutionary theology when it is taught acts of sin were punished in Jesus and salvation is the process of legally claiming His blood payment by faith so that we get His righteousness credited to us while we remain unrighteous.

Sinfulness is a condition that, because of Adam's sin, we are born with and did not choose (Psalm 51:5). Thus, we are born terminal, not legally guilty. Every human being born since Adam is born with a condition that we did not choose; therefore, we individually are not in some "legal" situation of our making—we are in a sin-sick situation of our birth. This carnal condition is what causes acts of sin and results in death (James 1:15; Galatians 6:8). The acts of sin are symptoms of the condition, not the cause of the condition.

The plan of salvation is God's intervention to eradicate the death condition and replace it with God's eternal-life condition (Romans 6:23). This requires that God's law (which is the law that life is built to operate upon) be written upon our hearts and minds (Hebrews 8:10). But we are unable to do this. This is what Christ came to do for us, to be the remedy to our condition, to eradicate the carnal nature and replace the carnal nature with a righteous sinless nature that He, as a human, developed for us.

Those who enter into a faith relationship with Jesus "die" to the old man, the carnal nature, and receive via the Holy Spirit a new heart and right spirit (Ezekiel 11:19). We receive a new nature—we become "partakers of the divine nature" (2 Peter 1:4). As Paul said, "I have been crucified with Christ and I no longer live, but Christ lives in me" (Galatians 2:20). As Scripture teaches, "God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God" (2 Corinthians 5:21).

Note, the Bible does not teach that "I have been declared to be crucified with Christ," or that "it is declared that Christ lives in me," or that "it is accounted that we become partakers of the divine nature," or that "Christ became sin for us so that we could be declared the righteousness of God." No, we are transformed and changed; the old carnal nature is put to death, and we get a new nature—we "become the righteousness of God!"

WEDNESDAY

The lesson points us to Deuteronomy 18:12 and practices that were considered an abomination to the Lord, let's start in verse 9:

> "When you come into the land which the Lord your God is giving you, you shall not learn to follow the abominations of those nations. There shall not be found among you anyone who makes his son or his daughter pass through the fire, or one who practices witchcraft, or a soothsayer, or one who interprets omens, or a sorcerer, or one who conjures spells, or a medium, or a spiritist, or one who calls up the dead. For all who do these things are an abomination to the Lord, and because of these abominations the Lord your God drives them out from before you. You shall be blameless before the Lord your God" (Deuteronomy 18:9-13 NKJV).

What is the abomination? Why is this an abomination? Is this in any way related to the abomination that causes desolation?

All of these practices are forms of spiritualism—and what is the root of spiritualism? The pursuit of knowledge without the use of reason or the investigation of evidence. It is forming beliefs based on signs, wonders, claims, proclamations, authority of someone else—it is the land of deception and trickery, Satan's domain that will destroy the minds of people.

It is only by truth reasoned out, the weight of evidence, understood and chosen that our hearts and minds are won from lies to truth, as the Desire of Ages quote said earlier.

thoughts?

Read second paragraph, "In reference to the covenant…" What do you think about the idea of having in intercessor with God?

It is true that Moses represents Jesus—in what stage of Jesus ministry?

- Moses represents Jesus in His pre-incarnate state—when Jesus was in heaven planning with the Father the plan of salvation.

- The sacrificial lamb represents Jesus during His life on earth, culminating in His sacrificial death.
- Aaron the high priest represents Jesus after His resurrection and ascension into heaven as our heavenly High Priest.

So, Jesus is our intercessor—but what does this mean? The people at Sinai asked Moses to intercede—is that what God wanted, required, or needed?

So, when Jesus came to earth, who was interceding between God and Judas as Jesus washed Judas' feet? In other words, who was washing Judas' feet? Wasn't it God doing it? Does Jesus need someone else between Him and us?

When we recognize that Jesus is fully God, what does that do to the idea of intercession?

So, we have three phases of Jesus ministry depicted to us by Moses, the lamb and Aaron—all three are interceding for us—but interceding in what, for whom, where, how?

God intercedes for us in three places or ways:

- In our own hearts and minds, God intercedes with what sin would naturally do to human beings; after Adam sinned the natural human heart is enmity to God. God intercedes in our hearts by placing enmity between humans and Satan. God intercedes by convicting us of sin, convicting us of a better land, life and future and giving us a desire for more than this world has to offer. Without this intercession in our own hearts and minds we would be fully united with Satan
    - Consider this quote: "The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God, and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship." {ST, July 11, 1895 par. 5}
- God also intercedes with the principalities and powers of darkness, with evil forces to bring about the plan of salvation. We see this in the book of Job, with Elisha and the angel armies and throughout all human history.
- God interceded with the natural course of what sin does to a sinner, when Jesus who knew no sin became sin for us and overcame and destroyed the infection of sin (fear and selfishness) and restored God's design law back into humanity, thus becoming the second Adam. Jesus opened a new avenue, a new and living way back into at-one-ment with God.
- God intercedes, through the ministry of our heavenly High Priest, in our hearts and minds not just to convict and draw, but to heal and restore, to place His law, His character in us and transform us into actual righteousness and prepare us to meet Him.

So we have Jesus interceding throughout all human history for our benefit—but never with His Father, always with any element that would injure us and alienate us from Him.

THURSDAY

Read second paragraph, "This faithfulness…" What is the penalty for sin?

To whom is the penalty paid? Why is the death penalty the penalty for sin?

Is the penalty for sin something God inflicts or is it something God holds back?

If God were not to use any divine power against the sinner, would the sinner still suffer the penalty for sin?

What difference does it make to us how we understand this?

How does Jesus' death resolve the penalty for sin?

Does every sin have to be punished? Who says it does?

> In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. DA 761.4

The lesson points our attention to Hebrews 10:28-31:

> "Anyone who rejected the law of Moses died without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses. How much more severely do you think a man deserves to be punished who has trampled the Son of God under foot, who has treated as an unholy thing the blood of the covenant that sanctified him, and who has insulted the Spirit of grace? For we know him who said, "It is mine to avenge; I will repay," and again, "The Lord will judge his people." It is a dreadful thing to fall into the hands of the living God" (Heb 10:28–31 NIV84).

How do you explain this text to those who view God as the source of inflicted pain, suffering, and death as punishment for sin?

Here is Hebrews 10:28-31 from The Remedy NT:

> In the symbolic stage play — which was designed to reveal the truth about God and his plan to heal — anyone who rejected the script of Moses was terminated from the group on the testimony of two or three witnesses. 29 How much more certain will the agonizing death be for those who reject the Son of God (the only Remedy for our terminal condition), who treat as poisonous the healing truth that his death revealed, and who reject God's Spirit that enlightens the mind with this life-saving Remedy? 30 For we know him who said, "It is up to me to determine when someone is beyond healing–when someone has rejected the only healing cure; I will decide when to let them go;" and again, "The Lord will accurately diagnose his people." 31 It will be horrible for those who remain God's enemies to experience his unveiled goodness and realize all they have rejected, and experience the full weight of their own guilt.

2021 4Q Present Truth in Deuteronomy Lesson 13
The Resurrection of Moses

Seventh-day Adventist Church
SOUTHWESTERN UNION

To: North American Division Secretariat

Date: November 11, 2021

Subject: Southwestern Union Response to NAD Memorandum on OSHA ETS

On behalf of, and with the approval of, the executive officers of the Arkansas-Louisiana Conference, Oklahoma Conference, Texas Conference, Texico Conference, Southwest Region Conference, Southwestern Adventist University, and the Southwestern Union, we have prepared the following statement, which reflects our convictions and also, we believe, those of the Seventh-day Adventist members in the Southwestern Union territory.

In light of prophetic understanding, we formally request that the North American Division and the Office of General Counsel review the OSHA Emergency Temporary Standard and consider the conflicts it presents with the beliefs and practices of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

We strongly believe that the mandates as prescribed in the OSHA Emergency Temporary Standard violate the freedom of conscience and personal choice of our employees and members. Furthermore, it is our belief that the church should not be the enforcer of government policy, as we believe in the steadfast adherence to the Seventh-day Adventist Church principle of separation of church and state. The Southwestern Union and its entities request that the North American Division advocate on our behalf in opposing this federal government overreach and violation of church-state separation.

The aforementioned entities are prepared to present this issue to their respective executive committees for authorization to disregard the OSHA Emergency Temporary Standard. Collectively, we ask that the North American Division, and the Office of General Counsel, to provide counsel, advice and defense against penalties for such actions.

In God's Service,

Stephen E. Brooks,
Executive Secretary

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "Time and again…" What about the wording of the idea that "it wouldn't be grace if we deserved it"?

I find this to be very poorly worded and always want to rephrase it. Grace is the outflow of graciousness—God is gracious. Did Jesus deserve God's grace when He grew in wisdom and stature and "favor" or "grace" with God and man?

To the degree the authors mean that we don't have a right to God's grace in that we have not created it, earned it as pay or salary, then of course no created being sinful or sinless deserves God's grace.

But I wonder if they would say that Gabriel deserves God's grace? Or would they say grace is only needed when sin happens and since Gabriel hasn't sinned he doesn't need any grace? Then, would God be less gracious to sinless angels then He is to sinners? Or, is it as Paul wrote that where sin abounds grace much more abounds? It isn't that grace isn't being poured out from God to all His creatures, because God is gracious—it is that our sin presents the situation where God's grace is magnified, most clearly manifest.

I think unearned is a better word than unmerited or undeserved. We don't earn grace, we don't have a right to claim it, and neither do the sinless angels earn it; so our attitude needs to always be one of humble thankfulness!

The problem with the "undeserving" or "unmeriting" language is that it leans toward making us think of our sins instead of God's character. We are undeserving because we have sinned, we are bad, we are no good, we are corrupt and we don't deserve anything good. This is the way the legal model takes the mind.

But this distorts the meaning and focus; God's grace is about God's graciousness. We have a sin condition that we didn't cause—Adam and Eve did. We are born with the condition. God knows this and God doesn't blame us or hold us accountable for this condition, instead God has been intervening to cure us of the sin condition, and all His actions toward us are manifestations of grace.

Think about having a grandchild who is born HIV infected, what is your attitude toward that grandchild? Wouldn't you do everything in your power to heal/save that child—and of course your own child also (the grandchild's parent). This is grace, the child and grandchild don't earn it, it is a manifestation of your love, your character. But their symptoms, whether they vomit on your carpet, or are irritable and gripe at you, or have a temper tantrum, such symptoms never change your desire to heal and save them.

The lesson asks us to read Numbers 20:1-13:

> In the first month the whole Israelite community arrived at the Desert of Zin, and they stayed at Kadesh. There Miriam died and was buried.

2 Now there was no water for the community, and the people gathered in opposition to Moses and Aaron. 3 They quarreled with Moses and said, "If only we had died when our brothers fell dead before the LORD! 4 Why did you bring the LORD's community into this desert, that we and our livestock should die here? 5 Why did you bring us up out of Egypt to this terrible place? It has no grain or figs, grapevines or pomegranates. And there is no water to drink!"
[What do you notice so far? They are blaming Moses for bringing them to where they are. But who is leading them? It is a pillar of fire by day and cloud by night—it is God that is leading them, which is Jesus leading them, but they don't like where God has led them they make Moses the target of their frustrations and accuse Moses of doing them harm. Do we see a strategy of Satan in this? False accusation. How much of this do we see in the church and the world today? So, what would cause the people to lose site of God's very presence and turn on Moses this way? Fear—they found themselves in a situation that made them afraid. What did Adam and Eve experience as soon as they sinned? They ran and hid because they were afraid. Fear is part of the infection of sin. What casts out fear? Love. But what does fear cause one to do? Look out for self, be willing to harm others. What does the roar of a lion do? It causes fear, and fear causes people to freeze, flee, or fight. At the end of time Satan roars and people become afraid and fear impairs thinking, impairs love, causes people to become more like God's enemy. We have a worldwide pandemic of fear. Almost every person on earth has been impacted by the fear pandemic, far more have been harmed by the fear pandemic than the viral pandemic. What would have prevented ancient Israel from turning on Moses? How about staying focused on God, thanking Him for His love, deliverance, constant watch care—and their love and trust for God would have made them appreciate their situation. But so many in Israel betrayed God and forgot His presence among them because of fear. So many today willing to betray God's methods in their lives so they can feel safe. We must refocus our attention off of the things of this earth, off of the virus, global warming, inflation, politics and focus our minds on God. Recognize what is happening is that God is leading His people to the heavenly promised land, preparing us to meet Jesus and Satan is trying to distract us with anything that will cause us to be afraid and take our focus off of God.]

6 Moses and Aaron went from the assembly to the entrance to the Tent of Meeting and fell facedown, and the glory of the LORD appeared to them. [Wow, just think about this: if you were a member of that group and saw the glory of God physically appear to Moses and Aaron, even from a distance, would you still keep arguing and accusing them or would you have enough awareness to realize they are following God's directions? What does it say about the people that they failed to recognize this? Remember those who came to arrest Christ, divinity flashed through humanity and they fell down, Peter cuts off an ear. Jesus miraculously restores the ear. And then, after the divinity is again veiled, what did they do—they arrested Him, they didn't worship Him. What do both of these accounts reveal? Sin damages the mind, sears the conscience and burns out the faculties that recognizes and responds to truth—so that even when truth is revealed the mind twists it, devalues it, interprets in through a false lens.] 7 The LORD said to Moses, 8 "Take the staff, and you and your brother Aaron gather the assembly together. Speak to that rock before their eyes and it will pour out its water. You will bring water out of the rock for the community so they and their livestock can drink." [Since God has foreknowledge and knew Moses would strike the rock with the staff—why didn't God tell

Moses to leave the staff behind so he wouldn't have the option of striking it? Because He did know and there remained a tiny itty bitty piece of selfishness in Moses that Satan was seeking to exploit through the outrageous behavior of the people, Jesus wanted to remove that from Moses and it required Moses to either be tempted and surrender in trust or to have it manifest and repent.]

> 9 So Moses took the staff from the LORD's presence, just as he commanded him. 10 He and Aaron gathered the assembly together in front of the rock and Moses said to them, "Listen, you rebels, must we bring you water out of this rock?" 11 Then Moses raised his arm and struck the rock twice with his staff. Water gushed out, and the community and their livestock drank.
> 12 But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not trust in me enough to honor me as holy in the sight of the Israelites, you will not bring this community into the land I give them."
>
> 13 These were the waters of Meribah, where the Israelites quarreled with the LORD and where he showed himself holy among them. (Nu 20:1–13 NIV84).

What was the problem? What did Moses do here that was the problem? Is it that he broke a rule? What does it mean he failed to honor God as holy?

Moses calls them "rebels" and strikes the rock twice—perhaps he was angry, likely he was. What kind of God would this reveal to the people?

What if Moses instead stayed patient, spoke gently to the rock and water came forth, would that have given a different witness?

In Friday's lesson, they quote from Patriarchs and Prophets page 418, we will start two sentences before them:

> More than this, Moses and Aaron had assumed power that belongs only to God. The necessity for divine interposition made the occasion one of great solemnity, and the leaders of Israel should have improved it to impress the people with reverence for God and to strengthen their faith in His power and goodness. When they angrily cried, "Must we fetch you water out of this rock?" they put themselves in God's place, as though the power lay with themselves, men possessing human frailties and passions. Wearied with the continual murmuring and rebellion of the people, Moses had lost sight of his Almighty Helper, [Does this remind you of any other Bible story? What about Peter walking on the water, what happened when he lost sight of Jesus? Yes, Moses said "must we fetch you water out of the rock?" But was it as big of an assumed power grab as many suggest? Let's reread Numbers 20:7-8: "The LORD said to Moses, 8 'Take the staff, and you and your brother Aaron gather the assembly together. Speak to that rock before their eyes and it will pour out its water. You will bring water out of the rock for the community so they and their livestock can drink.'" So God said to Moses, "YOU will bring water out of the rock." So when Moses said "Must we bring water out of the rock" was it possible Moses was acknowledging that God was the source because He didn't say "Must I > bring water out of the rock"? I wonder if Moses really thought he had the ability to bring water from the rock? Do you think Moses believed he had that power? To me the bigger issue wasn't the words "Must we" as God Himself said "You will bring" no, the bigger issue is God's character and Moses misrepresented God as angry when God wanted to show His patience, gentleness, mercy, graciousness. It was a form of taking the Lord's name in vain. When we don't act like Jesus it is a form of taking the Lord's name in vain—saying we are Christian—like Christ but then acting in another way misrepresents the name or character of Christ. I have been guilty of this just like Moses was here and I have had to repent, just like Moses and I think this is the bigger issue.] and without the divine strength he had been left to mar his record by an exhibition of human weakness. [What was the problem—the action of striking the rock or was the action a result of the problem? The problem was taking the focus off of God, of looking either to the people, the problem, the stressors, the conflict, or to self. Do we struggle with this? Do we see in society today how Satan works to take our minds off of God and get us to focus on other things?] The man who might have stood pure, firm, and unselfish to the close of his work had been overcome at last. God had been dishonored before the congregation of Israel, when He should have been magnified and exalted. PP 418.2

Read first paragraph, "According to this text…"

> But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not trust in me enough to honor me as holy in the sight of the Israelites, you will not bring this community into the land I give them." 13 These were the waters of Meribah, where the Israelites quarreled with the LORD and where he showed himself holy among them. (Nu 20:12–13 NIV84).

What do you think is meant that Moses didn't trust God enough or have faith in God?

Did Moses go to a golden calf for directions when the people accused him, or did he go to God?

Did Moses stop believing in God? What does this mean?

It means in carrying out the action He used is own judgment of what would be best at that moment over the expressed and specific directions God had given Him. When God doesn't give us expressed and specific directions then we ARE to use our own judgment—most decisions in life are like this: what shoes to wear, which route to take to work, how to respond to an accusation etc. But when God gives specific directions we are to follow His directions—or at least talk to Him about a change before we make a change—like David did about building the temple.

It seems there are two possibilities of what happened with Moses and even perhaps a combo of both and we can learn from this experience:

- Perhaps, it went something like this—Moses knew what God had directed, but in the moment, Moses thought—"I think speaking is insufficient. These people are unruly, they are rebels; they are not open to listen to a quiet voice; they need to be reminded of God's power and authority; they need a stronger hand and display to remind them that if they act up they will get a spanking." So, he chose to strike the rock twice replacing God's direction with his own judgment of what is best. I don't know that he thought any of this, but it is a possibility.

- But another possibility: Perhaps it was just an emotional impulse without thought at all—but that would then be a slip or loss of self-control, allowing emotions to overrule and perhaps that is what happened. When we allow emotions to overrule our judgment we are not trusting God. If we trust God then we stay calm in the face of opposition, but if we don't trust Him with the events, the outcomes, our own safety etc. then perhaps emotions can get out of control.

What do you think of these possibilities and the lessons for us today?

The lesson asks "What had the Lord told Moses to do, but what did Moses do instead?"

Is the lesson implying that it was the failure to do the correct act that was the problem? Is it implying that we must always do the right actions as instructed or we will be in trouble?

What about David and the showbread—was David doing the right actions that were instructed by God for the use of the showbread? Was David in trouble for that, why was he not in trouble but Moses was?

In each circumstance (Moses and David), the symbolic acts are consistent with the reality of the hearts of the actors and the hearts of the actors determine the difference.

In Moses situation, his actions mispresented God and the plan of salvation and the attitude of his heart was one of lack of faith, anger, or selfishness. Thus, God took action to discipline and therapeutically intervene to heal Moses and teach the people and all of us through history who read about it.

In David's situation, his actions represented God beautifully and the plan of salvation as the showbread represents Jesus and those who eat obtain life and health. And David's attitude was one of faith in God and love for his men with a desire to save his men and honor God.

We cannot look merely to the behaviors, it is the attitudes of the heart that matter.

Are there other Bible examples of people not doing what God directed but the person not being in trouble with God? Paul going to Jerusalem, Paul was warned if he went he would be bound, but Paul went anyway and lost his freedom and eventually his life.

Why wasn't this sin for Paul? Because his motive was to honor God, to save people, to bring the gospel to the Jews, because there was no selfishness in Paul's actions, nor rebellion against God, it wasn't wise, but it wasn't sinful.

I think in Paul's case God was saying to Paul—I'd prefer you didn't go there. These people will not accept the gospel, they will harm you, your ministry will be cut short. But I know how much you love them, how important it is for you and you won't be satisfied until you go and try. Just know, if you go, this is what is going to happen. In other words, God didn't tell him not to go, He warned him not to, but left it up to Paul.

Read third paragraph, "Verse 9 has Moses…" What do you think of this idea that it was more miraculous to speak to the rock that strike it? I have trouble with that idea? Are they suggesting that the rod was like a magic wand and using it would suggest a talisman and thus reduce the miracle, but if just spoke to it somehow it would be a greater miracle?

TUESDAY

The death of Moses—what do you understand about this?

What is the object lesson demonstrated by Moses not going into the promised land but instead he died, along with all those who wandered in the wilderness for 40 years?

Remember the Bible records real historic people doing real historic events, but these events are recorded to teach us more than history—they are recorded to teach us a larger reality. Many of the historic figures and events serve as object lessons for us—what about this event, what is the lesson?

What does a wilderness represent symbolically? It is a place without water—what does water symbolize in the Bible—i.e. the water of life? It symbolizes God's love, which is the principle of life, what life operates upon.

So a wilderness represents a place devoid of God's love and in fact a place where only from the Rock, who is Jesus, do we find the water of life, or God's love. The wilderness then represents this world of sin—a place where God's love doesn't flow except through Jesus the connecting link between God and us.

What does the Promised Land represent? The New Earth—and who gets to cross over into the New Earth, the real promised land? Those who have had God's love restored in them; those who have had God's law written in their hearts and minds; those who are attached like branches to the Vine Jesus and have Jesus love flow through them.

So why didn't Moses go over to the earthly promised land with Israel? Because the people needed to be taught the truth:

- God is love and the source of life
- God is not angry at them—God is angry at sin which separates them from Him
- He is the source of life and only those restored to love and trust have life

- Moses' actions revealed a breakdown of trust and thus he could not go over to the theatrical promised land because without trust there is no reconnection with God who pours His love/life into our hearts.

But what did the resurrection of Moses reveal? By resurrecting Moses it is demonstrated that Moses did in fact have a healed heart and that bad deeds don't keep one out of heaven, unhealed hearts do. The bad action misrepresented God, and God revealed to Moses a hidden microdot of vulnerability in need of full and complete healing, which Moses received.

After Moses' mistake, after allowing anger to take control of him and acting out of impulse instead of faith, after God pronounced the therapeutic consequence for Moses and the object lesson for the people, Moses had to choose, trust God, repent, accept God's will, or rebel, protest, complain, get angry at God, list the long list of good deeds Moses had done for God, the many sacrifices and try to justify self.

Moses' response to God's intervention is evidence that Moses accepted he needed this last little therapeutic intervention. I suspect when we meet Moses in heaven and ask him about it, he will say to us. "Jesus was so good to me there. I really needed that. I didn't realize how my feelings of irritation and frustration over the many years of the people complaining had eroded some of my love for them and undermined my trust in God and I lost site of the bigger picture for a moment. I am so glad God didn't ignore that. I never wanted to be irritable or angry with the people. I love them all so much I would have gladly given my life for them."

So, Moses dies, Read third paragraph SABBATH's lesson, "As Ellen G. White expressed it: 'Moses knew…" thoughts?

No earthly friend would be permitted to minister to him in his last hours…do you think he was COVID positive?

Of course he wasn't, but is it a torment of soul, to die alone? I recently attended a funeral of a lovely Christian woman, someone who loved our class and the family described the precious memories of their last moments with her.

I have patients who were forbidden to be with family members dying in hospice care. Others, whose family members were hospitalized and no members of the family could stay with them. What we as a society have done in denying families the ability to be with their loved ones as they leave this world is not God's will; it is not in harmony with the principles of heaven; it is not the outworking of love. It is the outworking of fear and selfishness.

Notice EGW states that Moses' severest "trial was his separation from the people of his care and love."

Yes, even the godless in our society recognize the destructiveness of isolation, of separation from loved ones. Our physical and mental health is damaged from social isolation. The immune system is undermined and we become more susceptible to infections when we are socially isolated. Our risk for post surgical complications increases when we are socially isolated. Our pain levels are higher when we are socially isolated. Depression and suicide rates increase when we are socially isolated. Oh, the damage we have done to people because we have allowed fear to direct our decision making instead of love.

WEDNESDAY

The death of Moses: what death did Moses die—first or second?

Is the first death the death that is the punishment for sin? Do the righteous die the first death? Are they being punished for their sin?

Why is there a first death? Because of sin, AND because of God's grace—God working to destroy sin and save sinners.

Consider the options, what would history look like if there was no first death? Consider the amount of suffering that would take place in our world of sin if people could be tortured—but couldn't die the first death? Or, consider the hopeless state of things if people could die but every death is the second eternal death?

Understand, the first death, as painful as it is to us to lose loved ones into the sleep death, the first death, it is a mercy, a part of God's grace, for the working out of the plan of salvation. God is not the cause of death, even the first death, but God's grace has permitted it to exist, for the body to wear down and cease functioning, while the soul—the individuality of the person (like software on your computer) is stored securely on the heavenly servers, called the Lamb's book of life. So that when Jesus returns, as Paul wrote in Thessalonians, he "will bring with Him those who have fallen asleep in Jesus."

So, Moses died the first death, the sleep death, the death where his body stopped functioning, but his soul, his psyche, his individuality, was safe and secure with Jesus in heaven. And at some point, we are not given a date, Jesus came to the Earth downloaded the software/soul/psych/individuality of Moses into a reanimated and glorified body and Moses rose from the dead.

This is our hope. Because of Jesus' victory we have the hope of eternal life, if we, like Moses, surrender in trust to Jesus and allow Him to heal our hearts and minds.

How was Moses able to be resurrected and taken to heaven before Jesus came to earth and won the victory over Satan, sin and death in our behalf? Because God lives outside of time and is not restricted to a linear existence. Once Jesus left infinity and entered into our linear existence being born as a babe in Bethlehem and procured the Remedy in our timeline, God who lives outside of time could access what Jesus has achieved and apply it anywhere in time because God lives outside of time. The point being is that Enoch, Moses, Elijah were all saved by Jesus in the exact same way we are.

Read last paragraph, "But how could Christ…" When did Moses come under the power of Satan? This is an interesting question or concept.

All nature groans under the power of sin—the power of sin is the defects and damage that has occurred on earth because of sin, it is the survival of the fittest drive, the decay, randomness, chaos and erosion that happens because we are separated from God's life-giving glory. We are all born with a terminal condition of fear and selfishness. So, in that sense we are under the power of sin, the power of the carnal nature. But because of God's grace, God intervenes in human hearts via the Holy Spirit to limit the power of temptation, the power of those drives so that no person is tempted beyond that which they are able. King Darius had Gabriel dispatched to limit the power of the temptation and leave Darius free to choose which action he wanted to take.

But when we choose to reject truth, to reject known revelation, to reject God's will, we place ourselves in harmony with Satan and allow Satan's power to gain a foothold in our hearts. Our longings for the evil, the addiction, the next gossip morsel, the next angry word, to retaliate, to hate the perceived enemy etc. grows in our heart. We are not lost, we are not cast off, but we are weakened and we must repent and seek God who will enter our hearts and heal us and then we must choose to say no to the next temptation so that we grow in godly strength.

The sin of Moses did not put Moses into legal trouble, it was a manifestation of the condition of sinfulness into which he was born and would be similar to an occult malignancy, evidence of sin, fear, selfishness still not fully eliminated.

When the author states, "he was death's lawful captive" that is quite right, not Satan's lawful captive, but death's lawful captive. Death is not an intelligence; death doesn't make accusations; death doesn't prosecute a case in court; death is a condition, a state of being separated from God who is the source of life. Death is the natural result from breaking God's design law of life and cutting oneself off from the channel of blessing. Tying a plastic bag over one's head causes a death condition, at that point we can say, the merits of tying a plastic bag over your head is that you become death's lawful captive. It is lawful for death to ensue for those who tie a plastic bag over their head.

Because of Jesus taking this death condition and eradicating it and restoring God's eternal life condition in humanity, Moses through trust received from Jesus a new life, a new heart and right spirit that Moses did NOT develop or achieve, Jesus did. Moses partook of this by trust or faith.

THURSDAY

Read third paragraph, "How long Moses…" thoughts? Isn't this a wonderful point? Again an example of God's grace. What would heaven be like if those who die the first death are in heaven conscious and awake while their little children remain on earth to struggle, suffer, be exploited, abused, enslaved, molested? How many times in history has this happened?

Would heaven be a place of comfort to watch this?

Consider Moses—if you were Moses and you fell asleep in the first death—when would you want Jesus to resurrect you—immediately so you could watch the people you knew personally, your own grandchildren, struggle, suffer, rebel, kill and be killed in war. Or would you want to wait a few centuries until at least the people you see suffering and struggling are not those you knew personally?

Read fourth paragraph, "Without the hope…" What difference does it make in your life to know that Jesus rose again and that we will also?

In our world today do we remember this?

What does it profit a man to gain the entire world and lose his soul? What is the point of this question?

What if we reworded it this way: "What does it profit a man to gain a few decades of life and lose his soul?" The three worthies on the plan of Dura, bow down or go into the fiery furnace—what is the temptation? Save your life, give yourselves a few more years of life, but at what cost?

What was the temptation for the Reformers at the stake?

What is the temptation with COVID? To act in ways that violate God's design laws in how we treat others so that we can have a few more years of life.

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 1
The Letter to the Hebrews and to Us

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

We are starting a new quarter studying the book of Hebrews.

Who wrote this book? This has been a point of discussion throughout all Christian history. For the first four centuries after Christ, the Christian community couldn't decide, there was no consensus. The author is intimately familiar with Jewish rituals, and esteems and values the OT Scriptures. This led the church to conclude that Paul was the author. However, more recent scholars have noted that when Hebrews quotes the Old Testament the quotes are exclusively and exactly from the Greek not Hebrew OT. Further, the writing style, and word selection to convey the concepts are not consistent with those chosen in the epistles known to be written by Paul. So, recent scholars have doubted the authorship by Paul.

But, the most likely explanation is that Paul is the inspired source of the truths that are conveyed in the book of Hebrews, but it was penned by an assistant, Timothy or Luke. My belief is that Paul is the author.

But, this question of authorship of Hebrews is actually not a relevant question for determining truth, it isn't ultimately important, it makes no difference, it is just like those who would question the authorship of some of EGW's writings, to the serious Bible student it is inconsequential to the only truly relevant question, which is: Is what is written true? Does it harmonize with the rest of Scripture? Does it carrying forward the truths and principles of God as revealed throughout the totality of Scripture?

It is the spiritually immature who make a big deal out of the authorship—why? Because children are those who haven't yet developed the ability to discern right from wrong—thus they need an authority to tell them the answer. The immature believe because someone said so. Thus, if we don't know who said it, how can we trust it? If Paul didn't write it, then is it inspired? If EGW didn't write it, but copied it, is it inspired, how can we trust it?

The spiritually immature are not evil, they want to be good children, they want to obey, they don't want to get into trouble that is why it is so important to them to know who wrote what so they can determine who is the authority they are supposed to trust. They don't want to trust the wrong person and be tricked.

But this is the thinking of the immature. It is like those who don't know how to do math saying, "Why should we believe that 12 x 12 is 144? We don't know who wrote that answer. If we are sure the Nobel prize laureate in mathematics wrote the answer then we will believe it." But for those who have developed the ability to do math they can discern the difference between the truth and the false.

Why do I believe Hebrews was authored by Paul and penned by an assistant? Because the theology of Hebrews is the same theology in all of Paul's epistles, namely that the rituals of the Jewish services are incapable of providing salvation—they were merely teaching tools to point to Christ. It is Jesus who is the fulfillment of the Scripture; it is Jesus who completes the object lesson; it is Jesus who opens the way back to God; it is Jesus who restores us to unity to God and takes away sin and brings us righteousness.

So the message of Hebrews is to transfer one's faith from rituals to Jesus, from animals, priests, buildings, festivals, sacrifices to Jesus.

Interestingly, the great reformer Martin Luther didn't believe Hebrews was inspired. He rejected Hebrews, James, Jude and Revelation.

This is quite significant as these are the books that most clearly teach the Great Controversy view of the sin problem, a war in heaven. He not only rejected these books, he rejected the idea of a war in heaven. Luther absolutely believed in an authoritarian God and the imposed law view of God's government.

I have no doubt that Luther was moved by the Holy Spirit to break away from the lies that he perceived and to move toward greater truth. However, it wasn't possible in his short lifetime for him to journey all the way out of the darkness into which he was indoctrinated and into the greater light—and especially so when he rejected the inspired record of much of that light. That is why the Reformation didn't end with Luther, but has continued since Luther. We esteem Luther, what a man of courage. We are thankful for Luther, but we don't teach ideas that are 500 years old and require us to reject four books of the Bible.

Sadly, many theologians, even in the SDA church, continue to advance a theology that depends on Luther's legal model of atonement. We have such a better understanding than Luther.

SUNDAY

Read fourth paragraph, "At the beginning of the Christian…." How do we deal with miracles today? If we see powerful signs and wonders should we believe the person doing the deeds has a message from God? Should the miracle convince us?

We must use the integrative evidence-based approach—which requires we harmonize Scripture, science, and experience. If we separate these threads, we get led astray. Science alone leads to godlessness, experience alone leads to mysticism, nihilism, or deception, and Scripture alone leads to confusion.

What does Scripture tell us about miracles?

> If a prophet, or one who foretells by dreams, appears among you and announces to you a miraculous sign or wonder, and if the sign or wonder of which he has spoken takes place, and he says, "Let us follow other gods" (gods you have not known) "and let us worship them," you must not listen to the words of that prophet or dreamer. The LORD your God is testing you to find out whether you love him with all your heart and with all your soul. It is the LORD your God you must follow, and him you must revere. Keep his commands and obey him; serve him and hold fast to him. (Dt 13:1–4 NIV84).

If someone appears and does real signs, wonders, miracles, and they do it in the name of Jesus, or Jehovah, or Yahweh, or Yoshua, but they teach that god is a god who makes up laws and that justice requires their god to use power to inflict punishment on law breakers, they are presenting a false god and we are not to follow them why? Because we know God for ourselves, we love God with all our heart and soul—meaning we have intimacy with God.

Imagine someone came to you and did signs and wonders and miracles and then said your spouse sent them and they claim that your spouse said that we should do thus and so, but what they said is out of character for your spouse whom you know—what would you do?

We must know God for ourselves, know Him personally. We must have an experience in His design laws and methods. We must be personally settled into the truth that we cannot be moved.

What does it mean the Lord is testing us? This is what we are facing at this time in history. God is giving us an opportunity to "test" our mettle, to test our resolve, to test our commitment, to test our sincerity, to test our character, to test our religion, to test our beliefs. In other words, as events unfold we will be presented with situations and circumstances that require us to choose what law we apply to our lives in how we live and treat others. We will be honest or lie? Will we protect others or sacrifice other to protect self? Will we stand for truth in practice or only in theological quizzes?

Remember what Jesus said:

> Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' 23 Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!' (Mt 7:22–23 NIV84).

Miracles can be counterfeited, the truth cannot. Satan does not have truth on his side thus he will counterfeit miracles and present lies. But the lies may not be the lies you expect—it is very unlikely Satan will appear and claim that Jesus is not Lord. No, he will appear and claim that Jesus is Lord. He will endorse that sin is transgression of the law. He will support that salvation requires Jesus to die for the sins of the people. And what if he endorses the Bible Sabbath? But what he won't do is practice and apply God's methods, God's design law of truth, love, and liberty. He will seek to coerce and use imposed laws, mandates, to compel compliance under the guise of the greater good, protecting others, protecting society, protecting the planet, and will likely do it with reluctance, with complaints of how he only loves us and wants to save us. But he won't leave us free, we will be pressured and compelled.

Read last paragraph "The Spirit gave early Christians…" This conviction of having sins forgiven is an important experience for all to have. The natural impact of sin upon the heart, mind and soul of the sinner is to feel guilt, shame, internal condemnation, and fear. Sin causes us to feel we are no good, that we deserve punishment. Sin warps our minds and causes us to be afraid of rejection and retaliation and to project these fears out upon God and believe God is mad, God is angry, wrathful and must punish us. Sin brings a burden a conviction that we deserve punishment and we cannot believe that God wouldn't punish us. Satan's lie is deeply imbedded in the sin experience, the lie that every sin must meet its punishment.

Therefore, God in love and mercy, meets the sinner in their place of fear, of condemnation, of guilt and shame and communicates they are forgiven. What a joy to experience the forgiveness of God. It is essential to the healing of our hearts to being reconciled to God.

But the barrier, the obstacle in our unity with God is not God—there is nothing in God that keeps us separate from Him. There is no anger, no wrath, no unforgiving attitude that blocks our approach—no it is sin in us that causes fear, guilt, shame and misjudgment of God that separates us from Him.

> "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because he has not believed in the name of God's one and only Son" (Jn 3:16–18 NIV84).

But Christianity, infected with the false law view, has not understood this truth and has taught that God must punish and cannot forgive without some legal penalty being paid:

19th Century Evangelist George MacDonald wrote:

> "The Lord never came to deliver men from the consequences of their sins while those sins yet remained … Yet, feeling nothing of the dread hatefulness of their sin, men have constantly taken this word that the Lord came to deliver us from our sins to mean that he came to save them from the punishment of their sins.
>
> "This idea has terribly corrupted the preaching of the Gospel. The message of the Good News has not been truly communicated. Unable to believe in the forgiveness of the Father in heaven, imagining him not at liberty to forgive, or incapable of forgiving forthright; not really believing him God who is fully our Savior, but a God bound—either in his own nature or by a law above him and compulsory upon him—to exact some recompense or satisfaction for sin, a multitude of religious teachers have taught their fellow men that Jesus came to bear our punishment and save us from hell. But in that they have misrepresented his true > mission." George MacDonald, Discovering the Character of God (Minneapolis: Bethany House, 1989), p. 39.

God didn't sent Jesus to pay a penalty to God, to do something to the law or Himself. When Adam sinned God didn't change, the law didn't change, but Adam and Eve were changed—they were infected with fear, selfishness, guilt, shame and ran and hid from God.

God sent Jesus to reveal the Father, to expose the lies of Satan, to remove the guilt, shame and fear that causes us to run from God and causes us to misjudge God as the source of pain and suffering and death as punishment for sin and to cure the sin problem, to overcome sin and restore God's living law back into humanity.

God did not send Jesus to condemn us but to heal and save us. But those who refuse to belief the truth about God that Jesus revealed, those who hold to the lie that God is severe and unforgiving and wont forgive unless a blood sacrifice is offered to Him to pay Him off, remain condemned because they continue to misjudge God and continue to live in fear of Him.

Remember this quote from Oswald Chambers:

> The Bible does not say that God punished the human race for one man's sin, but that the nature of sin, namely, my claim to my right to myself, entered into the human race through one man. But it also says that another Man took upon Himself the sin of the human race and put it away — an infinitely more profound revelation…
>
> Sin is something I am born with and cannot touch— only God touches sin through redemption. It is through the Cross of Christ that God redeemed the entire human race from the possibility of damnation through the heredity of sin. God nowhere holds a person responsible for having the heredity of sin, and does not condemn anyone because of it. Condemnation comes when I realize that Jesus Christ came to deliver me from this heredity of sin, and yet I refuse to let Him do so. From that moment I begin to get the seal of damnation. "This is the condemnation [and the critical moment], that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light . . . " (John 3:19) Oswald Chambers, My Utmost for His Highest, http://utmost.org

What does it mean?

We are not condemned by God because we have the sin condition—this condition is something we were born with. We didn't have a choice to be born sinless. Adam and Eve had a choice to remain sinless or become sinners, but not us. So we are not condemned by God for the condition. We are not responsible for the condition of our birth. We are not born guilty with a legal condition, we are born terminal with a lethal condition.

Thus condemnation comes when we:

- refuse the Remedy of Jesus that will cure us of this lethal condition.

- choose fear and selfishness over love,
- lies over truth,
- hate and resentment over forgiveness,
- cruelty over kindness,
- coercion over freedom,
- compelling others over respecting their autonomy,
- force over liberty.

When we do this we are condemning ourselves; we are refusing to be healed by the Spirit applying the character of Christ into our hearts and minds.

God wants to free us from the power of sin and evil—how does He do that? By giving us opportunity to choose Him.

The Spirit is the Spirit of truth and love—we will be presented with opportunities to choose, the Spirit will bring enough truth to our minds in any given circumstance that we know the truth and then we are left free to decide what we will do. When we choose the truth the Spirit gives us divine power to succeed, but we don't get the power until we choose the truth, and this is how we grow, this is how we mature, this is how we develop godly character:

> We also rejoice in our sufferings, because we know that suffering produces perseverance; perseverance, character; and character, hope. And hope does not disappoint us, because God has poured out his love into our hearts by the Holy Spirit, whom he has given us. (Ro 5:3–5 NIV84).

Note the progression—suffering, trial, difficulties in this world brings us decision points. Do we fulfill our duties as God gives them to us, or are we negligent? Do we turn to God, stand firm on His principles, trusting Him with outcomes—or when events circumstances conspire to undermine our efforts and we are short on money do we take matters into our own hands and steal, cheat, or embezzle? Do we turn to destructive substances to self-medicate away uncomfortable feelings or do we go to God, get professional help, and do the hard work of healing inner wounds?

It is only by choosing God, His methods, wrestling out the painful feelings in our trust relationship with God that we grow and when we do this, notice what happens? God pours His love into our hearts—His love casts out all fear, we experience a real transformation of motive. Our fear and selfishness is replaced with love and trust.

Trials, difficulties don't go away, but our frantic efforts to fix everything ourselves does as we have a living faith relationships with the Creator of the universe. Consider Joseph or Daniel—they had many real-life struggles, enemies, problems. There is no doubt they had anxieties and fears. I am sure they had many sleepless nights—but did God ever abandon them? And because they trusted God, because in their difficulties they went to Him, look what God was able to do through them? This is to be our experience. God is longing for people who will run to Him when difficulties arise, who will stay true to Him and not embrace the methods of the world.

Consider this quote out of the book Education:

> The greatest want of the world [listen to this description and see if this isn't desperately true today] is the want of [people]—[people] who will not be bought or sold, [people] who in their inmost souls are true and honest, [people] who do not fear to call sin by its right name, [people] whose conscience is as true to duty as the needle to the pole, [people] who will stand for the right though the heavens fall. Ed 57.3
> But such a character is not the result of accident; it is not due to special favors or endowments of Providence. A noble character is the result of self-discipline, of the subjection of the lower to the higher nature—the surrender of self for the service of love to God and man. Ed 57.4

Wow—what a great description of what the world needs today, and how can we have such a character? Only by facing difficulties and choosing to say no to fear, no to selfishness, no to the methods of this world, and seek Jesus, surrender to Him, apply His methods to ourselves in how we live and treat others and trust God with outcomes.

MONDAY

The lesson asks us to read Hebrews 10:32-34:

> Remember those earlier days after you had received the light, when you stood your ground in a great contest in the face of suffering. Sometimes you were publicly exposed to insult and persecution; at other times you stood side by side with those who were so treated. You sympathized with those in prison and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your property, because you knew that you yourselves had better and lasting possessions. (Heb 10:32–34 NIV84). Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

What is the message? Are people of conscience being publicly exposed to insult and persecution today? Are we standing by those who are honoring God with their bodies and not submitting to government mandates or are we colluding with the government to compel people to act against their conscience?

And what happens to us if we side with the government and seek to compel and force people to act against their conscience?

What does it mean to sympathize with those in prison? Is it talking about sympathizing with those like Barabbas—who are in prison because they are a danger to society, those who have ongoing evil in their hearts, and if released would seek to exploit and hurt others? Is it suggesting we should sympathize with the exploiters of others and let them out of prison, or defund the police?

Or is it speaking of sympathizing with those who have been wrongly imprisoned, imprisoned for the cause of Christ, imprisoned for standing up for conscience? Religious and political imprisonment?

If we want to apply this broadly to all people in prison, because we have a prison ministry, then what is the godly way we sympathize with those that are imprisoned for actual crimes they have committed? We see them as people suffering from sin-sickness and our prison ministry seeks to bring them the remedy of Jesus Christ that if they accept Him will change the criminal into an honest and trustworthy person. But if they don't accept Jesus, then we grieve for them because they will only get sicker in heart, mind and character, but we don't let them out of prison to injure their own selves more or others, just because we sympathize with them. So, we can still sympathize with them, but we don't ignore the reality their condition.

The lesson asks us to read Hebrews 11:24-26:

> By faith Moses, when he had grown up, refused to be known as the son of Pharaoh's daughter. He chose to be mistreated along with the people of God rather than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a short time. He regarded disgrace for the sake of Christ as of greater value than the treasures of Egypt, because he was looking ahead to his reward. (Heb 11:24–26 NIV84).

What is the lesson? What is the truth for us today?

- Do we, by our faith, love and trust Jesus more than all others? Do we identify as being part of the family of God and refuse to be known as the son or daughter of the worldly?
- Do we identify first and foremost as an image bearer of Jesus—a Christian or do we identify first as an American or Australian or Canadian or South African?
- Is our identity first and foremost as a follower of Jesus or do we see ourselves first as white, African American, Asian, Native American or Danish?
- Do we identify first and foremost as a Christian—one who follows Jesus, or do we identify as a follower of Paul, Apollos, Luther, Wesley, Joseph Smith, Ellen White, Graham Maxwell, Tim Jennings?

I served in the US Army and was conditioned to see the uniform first, and never really noticed a person's race. Are they Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force? I automatically looked at their rank, their specialty (medical, infantry, engineers etc.), their unit badge—were they in my chain of command or not, any specialty training (jump wings). The military conditioned me to evaluate people based on merit, ability, training, experience, and not race.

But the military also conditioned me to identify myself as a patriot, and American, to see the world through the lens of America being the best. And I developed a certain America-centered worldview in which as an American I thought better of myself than non-Americans.

But as I have grown spiritually I have realized this is just another trap of Satan. Human nation states are not part of God's kingdom. America is not God's kingdom. America is part of Satan's domain—all the nations of the world are part of Satan's kingdom. It has been a painful process to cut these heart-strings, to change how I identify, to become like Paul, who recognized his Roman citizenship, but didn't identify as a Roman—Paul was first and foremost Christian. And that is what I have chosen to be.

We must all face these questions of our identity, what we value in our own sense of self.

Do we value the methods and principles of God—truth, love, liberty supreme so that we would choose, like Moses, to be mistreated with the people of God—those who stand for conscience, for liberty, or do we prefer the pleasures of this world and will join with the state in order to keep our privileges?

We are living in perilous times and Satan is bringing ever increasing pressures and deceptions to bear. Only those who daily surrender to Jesus, who have a personal experience with Him, who value His methods, who have His law written upon their hearts and who trust Him with their entire lives, fortunes, families and futures will stand—it is these who endure until the end.

The lesson also asks us to read 1Peter 4:14, but let's read 12-17:

> Dear friends, do not be surprised at the painful trial you are suffering, as though something strange were happening to you. But rejoice that you participate in the sufferings of Christ, so that you may be overjoyed when his glory is revealed. If you are insulted because of the name of Christ, you are blessed, for the Spirit of glory and of God rests on you. If you suffer, it should not be as a murderer or thief or any other kind of criminal, or even as a meddler. However, if you suffer as a Christian, do not be ashamed, but praise God that you bear that name. For it is time for judgment to begin with the family of God; and if it begins with us, what will the outcome be for those who do not obey the gospel of God? (1 Pe 4:12–17 NIV84).

What is being described? Those who reject the principles of God (truth, love, liberty), those who embrace and value the methods of this world, power, control, force, authority—will hate those who represent Jesus. They will use all the powers of Satan against us. They will lie, bear false witness, accuse, twist, distort. They will do evil and then blame the righteous for it. They will make it appear that the suffering, the problems in the world are because of the righteous when it is because of them.

Consider this quote from Christ's Object Lessons:

> Whoever trusts in himself that he is righteous, will despise others. As the Pharisee judges himself by other men, so he judges other men by himself. His righteousness is estimated by theirs, and the worse they are the more righteous by contrast he appears. His self-righteousness leads to accusing. "Other men" he condemns as transgressors of God's law. Thus he is making manifest the very spirit of Satan, the accuser of the brethren. With this spirit it is impossible for him to enter into communion with God. He goes down to his house destitute of the divine blessing. COL 151.2

For those with eyes to see this is exactly what has happened with COVID. The safest people in society are the unvaccinated recovered. They have natural immunity far superior to those who have been vaccinated. But those in power deny truth, deny this reality, and continue to project the lie that it is the unvaccinated that are making society unsafe. (If you haven't seen the data, multiple animal populations are now documented to be infected with SARS-COV2, including up to 50% of the deer population. The virus will persist, it will continue to mutate in these animals and it is not going away, and the so-called vaccines will not eliminate it. The entire vaccine approach to this virus has been built on lies, misinformation, and distortion. Why? Because it has not been about eliminating the virus or treating the condition, it has been about reshaping society and the virus is just an opportunity to achieve this.)

And have you notice as more truth comes out that those who have rejected the truth become more determined to force their way upon others. More mandates, more unreasonable orders, more violations of liberty, more assaults on common sense and people are put in positions they must decide how they will act in governance of self.

TUESDAY

Read Hebrews 2:18:

> Because he himself suffered when he was tempted, he is able to help those who are being tempted. (Heb 2:18 NIV84).

What does this mean? Why couldn't Jesus help us if He didn't suffer?

The SDA Bible commentary says the following:

> The human nature of Christ felt the full force of temptation. Otherwise, Christ would not have understood the terrific struggle of a poor sinner who is mightily tempted to yield. Christ was tempted in all points "like as we are" (Heb. 4:15). He actually suffered under temptation." Nichol, F. D. (Ed.). (1980). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 7, p. 407). Review and Herald Publishing Association.

Do you agree? I do not agree with this view. I do not agree that our infinite God didn't comprehend, understand, know of our terrific struggle, that there was something beyond the knowledge of God and that God had to become human in order to learn. I reject this view.

This view, in my opinion, is a result of the legal view of salvation. They are trying to explain what is meant hear, but they don't understand the sin problem and its solution.

This is explained in Hebrews 4:15 and 5:8,9:

> For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but we have one who has been tempted in every way, just as we are—yet was without sin. (Heb 4:15 NIV84).

> Although he was a son, he learned obedience from what he suffered and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him… (Heb 5:8–9 NIV84).

It is because He was tempted like us, but unlike us, He overcome every temptation to act on fear and selfishness and instead chose to love perfectly developing a perfect sinless human character that He is able to help those who are being tempted. He is able to help us because He has procured an actual cure to treat our terminal sin condition.

EGW puts in this way:

> The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. DA 762.2

This is why His suffering enabled Him to help those of us who are suffering.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Hebrews 5:11-6:3:

> We have much to say about this, but it is hard to explain because you are slow to learn. In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food! Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant, is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. But solid food is for the mature, who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil. Therefore let us leave the elementary teachings about Christ and go on to maturity, not laying again the foundation of repentance from acts that lead to death, and of faith in God, instruction about baptisms, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment. And God permitting, we will do so. (Heb 5:11–6:3 NIV84).

What does this passage mean to us today? Do we teach children differently than adults? Why?

Why are those who are stuck on elementary teachings not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness?

What do children focus upon? Just think of any group of children, where is their focus? On rule-keeping.

Elementary schools are filled with tattle-tales, with kids monitoring other children's behaviors and tattling on those who break a rule. It doesn't matter the reasons, whether another teacher asked a child to leave class early, or to come to school in regular clothes rather than the uniform—what do the other children do?

Children are preoccupied with not getting in trouble with those in charge.

The immature are preoccupied with their legal standing, with getting their legal sin-debt paid, and with what behaviors are right and wrong.

Children do what they are told, or not, but children don't understand why.

Jesus said He wants us to be understanding friends, to be mature, to grow up, to do what is right because it is right, and those who do internalize the principles of God into their hearts and they are the ones who are acquainted with righteousness for righteousness is the restoration of God's character, His living law of love into the inmost being of people. Righteousness is not about a legal declaration that we are legally righteous while we remain unrighteous.

This takes us back to the seven levels of moral decision-making:

1. Reward and punishment:
2. Marketplace exchange:
3. Social conformity:
4. Law and order:
5. Love for others:
6. Principle based living:
7. Understanding Friend of God:

The first four levels are the levels of the immature, the focus is on self, on getting rewards, avoiding punishment, getting a good deal, being accepted and avoiding rejection, or not getting into legal trouble. Level five is the first level of the converted, the mature, it is where we love God and others more than self and we stop living with self at the center. Level six is moving beyond love, to an intelligent love, to not only having love in the heart for God and others, but understanding the methods and principles of God, His design law and making intelligent choices in how we live out God's love. And level seven goes beyond love as a motive and understanding design laws, to understanding friendship with God and intelligently participating in His purposes.

THURSDAY

Read Hebrews 10:23-39 from The Remedy:

> so that we may have ultimate confidence and trust in him who has revealed himself to be completely trustworthy.24 And think constantly how we can work with God to help each other to grow in character to be like Jesus.25 Don't stop meeting together, as some have done, but continue to encourage each other, and do so even more as you see the Day of our ultimate deliverance approaching.

26If we deliberately reject the truth about God and his loving, life-promoting methods, and instead — after God sacrificed everything to bring us this healing truth — continue to practice self-destructive methods, no further remedy remains:27only the inevitable consequences of unrestrained selfishness — the total destruction of character, perversion of mind, and abject panic and fear when God unveils his life-giving glory which transforms the righteous but consumes the wicked.28 In the symbolic stage play — which was designed to reveal the truth about God and his plan to heal — anyone who rejected the script of Moses was terminated from the group on the testimony of two or three witnesses.29 How much more certain will the agonizing death be for those who reject the Son of God (the only Remedy for our terminal condition), who treat as poisonous the healing truth that his death revealed, and who reject God's Spirit that enlightens the mind with this life-saving Remedy?30 For we know him who said, "It is up to me to determine when someone is beyond healing–when someone has rejected the only healing cure; I will decide when to let them go;" and again, "The Lord will accurately diagnose his people."31 It will be horrible for those who remain God's enemies to experience his unveiled goodness and realize all they have rejected, and experience the full weight of their own guilt.

32 Remember those first days of recovery when you had just begun to internalize the healing truth: You stood firm for what is right and healthy in the great battle against the tormenting forces of selfishness, both internal and external;33 sometimes you were attacked publicly with name-calling or even physical assault; at other times you stood up and supported fellow believers who were being mistreated.34 Your hearts went out to those imprisoned for this cause, and when your properties were seized, you remained joyful because you knew they couldn't take your possessions of real worth–God's love, a new heart, a healthy mind, and life eternal.

35 So don't become discouraged and lose confidence; your trust will be richly rewarded.36 Maintain your focus and continue to implement God's methods in your lives, and you will receive all that he has promised;37 for in the grand history of the cosmos, it is just a very short time until "He who is coming to get us will come and will not delay.

38 And those who are set right with me will live their lives trusting me; but if any stop trusting and turn away, my heart will break over them."

39 But we are not those who stop trusting and turn away into the path of self-destruction and death; we are those who trust God and are healed. (Hebrews 10:23-39 REM).

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 2: The Message of Hebrews

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read last paragraph, "Thus, Paul wrote Hebrews…" I really like how they stated the focus of mediation—Jesus is mediating the Father's blessing to us, not His blood to the Father—well said!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph and then last paragraph, "The main point…" How do you understand this idea of rulership?

- Satan is referred to by Jesus as the prince of this world.
- The kingdoms of this world are Satan's kingdoms.
- Jesus said His kingdom was not of this world

So there is some aspect of this idea where Satan has rulership—what is that?

And what of the idea that Jesus defeated Satan at the cross recovering the right to rule those who accept Him?

The lesson correctly describes Satan as a usurper and Jesus as the legitimate ruler, if that is so doesn't legitimate mean the one who is the rightful ruler or who has the right to rule? Doesn't usurper mean illegitimate or without the right?

Did Jesus not have the right to rule us before the cross?

So then what is meant that Jesus had to die to recover the right to rule those who accept Him? Is this idea even correct or is this idea false because it is based on a false premise, namely the wrong understanding of God's law?

What law lens do you see this through?

Does the language "recovering the right to rule" lead your mind into the imposed law landscape?

The design law landscape is that Jesus was always the legitimate ruler whose right to rule had never been removed, surrendered, or stolen. In fact, if Satan actually had the right to rule in any way, then Jesus coming here to try and recover a right to rule would make Jesus the invader.

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424
topics@comeandreason.com

Satan never had the right to rule. Adam was Jesus' subordinate and governed Earth under Jesus. Satan did NOT take Jesus' position or authority, but Adam's position and authority on earth. Jesus did not come to Earth to reclaim His divine authority on Earth, He always had it. Jesus came to Earth restore trust in Him and restore humanity's authority to govern the planet—and what kind of authority is that? It is not a legal authority, it is the authority of ability, of being, of capacity. Jesus came to restore humanity back to unity with God, in which God's design law of life operated within them, restoring within them the ability to carry out their office of governorship over the planet—with Jesus Himself being the second Adam or the HUMAN planetary ruler if you like that language.

Consider this quote from The Desire of Ages:

> When Satan declared to Christ, The kingdom and glory of the world are delivered unto me, and to whomsoever I will I give it, he stated what was true only in part, and he declared it to serve his own purpose of deception. Satan's dominion was that wrested from Adam, but Adam was the vicegerent of the Creator. His was not an independent rule. The earth is God's, and He has committed all things to His Son. Adam was to reign subject to Christ. When Adam betrayed his sovereignty into Satan's hands, Christ still remained the rightful King. Thus the Lord had said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever He will." Daniel 4:17. Satan can exercise his usurped authority only as God permits. DA 129.4

Did Jesus need to do anything at the cross to recover His right to rule? No! The teaching that Jesus had to recover His right to rule is a distortion based on seeing things through the false imposed law lens which is one of Satan's lies.

If we don't understand God's law correctly, then we misunderstand or misconstrue almost everything. This false idea about God's law is the metaphorical wine of Babylon that confuses or intoxicates the world.

It is beautiful to realize that Jesus' sacrifice wasn't to do something legal but to accomplish something actual—and the focus or purpose of the sacrifice wasn't to do something for God's advancement, or for God's empowerment, or for God's development, or to enhance God's rights, or reclaim His authority—it was for the children that He loves.

It is human beings that Jesus helps; it is human beings Jesus heals, saves, restores—but more; it is human beings that Jesus uplifts to a higher station than Adam possessed before the fall. We not only get our recovered position on Earth, but Jesus shares His heavenly throne with us. Truly incredible!

Read Hebrews 1:5-14 and then read the third paragraph:

> For to which of the angels did God ever say,
>
> "You are my Son;
> today I have become your Father"?

Or again,

> "I will be his Father,
> and he will be my Son"?

6 And again, when God brings his firstborn into the world, he says,
> "Let all God's angels worship him."

7 In speaking of the angels he says,

> "He makes his angels winds, > his servants flames of fire."

8 But about the Son he says,

> "Your throne, O God, will last for ever and ever,
> and righteousness will be the scepter of your kingdom.
> 9 You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness;
> therefore God, your God, has set you above your companions > by anointing you with the oil of joy."

10 He also says,

> "In the beginning, O Lord, you laid the foundations of the earth,
> and the heavens are the work of your hands.
> 11 They will perish, but you remain;
> they will all wear out like a garment.
> 12 You will roll them up like a robe;
> like a garment they will be changed.
> But you remain the same,
> and your years will never end."

13 To which of the angels did God ever say,

> "Sit at my right hand > until I make your enemies > a footstool for your feet"?

14 Are not all angels ministering spirits sent to serve those who will inherit salvation? (Heb 1:5–14 NIV84).

Third paragraph, "These verses are arranged…" What do you think of the lesson's interpretation of these verses?

What law lens? It seems to me the lesson again falls into the imposed law trap and misconstrues the meaning of these texts.

Words like "installs" "enthrones" and "confers power" implies putting in position one who didn't previously hold that position. It also suggests arbitrary power, not actual power. This is different from saying "The Father makes plain that Jesus is the royal son" or "The Father confirms the Son's authority and power over the Earth." This is the same false idea that is behind penal substationary teachings about righteousness—the falsehood that God declares us to be righteous when we remain unrighteous. No, we are recognized, accounted or declared righteous or set right with God WHEN our hearts are actually set right with God, when we are won from distrust and rebellion to trust and loyalty.

It is human law that makes arbitrary declarations. It is human law that can convict an innocent person and punish them for the crimes of the guilty while letting the guilty go free.

Does Jesus get His power from the Father, or does Jesus have divine power independent of the Father? Is Jesus fully God, pre-existent, co-equal, or does Jesus obtain His existence, authority, power and ability from the Father?

Jesus is fully God, and as God He doesn't have His power granted to Him by another; He doesn't have rights or privileges or abilities given to Him or bestowed upon Him. All power, rights, sovereignty, abilities are His by reality, by being who He is.

It is Satan's lies that have made intelligent beings question Jesus' position, power, authority both in heaven and on earth and made it necessary for the Father to clarify the truth about Jesus that has always been true. But Satan, the father of lies, twists the Heavenly Father's clarifying revelations to get people to believe God's declarations about Jesus are not simply His revelations of eternal truths, but God dispensing, investing, or giving of authority, granting of power, which introduces lies that there is a division of abilities between the Godhead.

Again, design law lens prevents us from being tricked by Satan's lies.

Consider this quote from Patriarchs and Prophets:

> Leaving his place in the immediate presence of the Father, Lucifer went forth to diffuse the spirit of discontent among the angels. He worked with mysterious secrecy, and for a time concealed his real purpose under an appearance of reverence for God. [Satan's war advances in secrecy, not openness. It is one of the methods that lies require. This is still true today. When you observe people obstructing open dialogue, honest investigation of truth and evidence, silencing opposing voices, censuring, intimidating, or soliciting secrecy (which is not the same as confidentiality) you should be wary—Satan's methods are being practiced. Remember Jesus said "I have spoken openly to the world. I always taught in synagogues or at the temple, where all the Jews come together. I said nothing in secret" (Jn 18:20 NIV84). Not only does Satan work in secrecy, he works by claiming he is working for the good, while undermining good. If Satan were in charge of a response to… say a medical crisis, he would claim he wants to protect people's health and stop disease, but his policies would ensure the disease spreads, resources are wasted, people divide rather than work together, fear and distrust increase, the interventions cause more harm than the disease itself, and the people who bring God's principles of health to bear are blamed for causing the disease and obstructing the cure.] He began to insinuate doubts concerning the laws that governed heavenly beings, intimating that though laws might be necessary for the inhabitants of the worlds, angels, being more exalted, needed no such restraint, for their own wisdom was a sufficient guide. [What is revealed in this statement? What kind of law would not be necessary for holy beings? Imposed laws. Did angels in heaven need laws on property rights, copyright laws, immigration, citizenship, mineral and drilling rights, speed limits, etc. etc.? But did angels in heaven still need to operate in harmony with the parameters upon which God constructed life? So, when Satan suggests angels don't need laws, he is suggesting God's laws are made up rules that can be applied to some and not to others. This is the original lie about God's law and is still the lie that Christianity embraces, and God is waiting for His people to present the truth about Him as Creator and call people out of the dictator views of Him to prepare their hearts and minds to meet Him face to face. This is what our Final Message of Mercy magazine is designed to do.] They were not beings that could bring dishonor to God; all their thoughts were holy; it was no more possible for them than for God Himself to err. The exaltation of the Son of God as equal with the Father was represented as an injustice to Lucifer, who, it was claimed, was also entitled to reverence and honor. [What is described in this sentence? God lives in unapproachable light 1Tim 6:16—unapproachable by whom? This light isn't photons, it isn't even the physical presence of God when God chooses to present Himself in some physical way to His creatures—as we read about in Revelation and other places. This light is a metaphor of truth and love—heavenly light. And God lives in unapproachable light of truth and love because God is an infinite being and no finite being can "approach" infinity. No matter how far down the path of assimilating truth we travel there will always be infinitely more that continues to exist beyond us. We simply do not have the capacity for assimilating infinite truth, knowledge, energy, etc. It would consume us. Thus, if God who is love, wants the closest intimacy with His creatures as is possible and the creatures cannot enter infinity, what must happen? A member of infinity must leave infinity and enter into linear existence. That member of the Godhead is Jesus. Jesus has always been the go-between, the connecting link, the mediator, between an infinite God and finite creation. And in what physical form did Jesus manifest prior to becoming a real and full and actual human? The Bible is clear, Jesus presented Himself to the heavenly beings in the form of an angel. (Exodus 3). He was NOT an angel; He only appeared in the form of an angel. He was the true light bearer and shared the name Lucifer (phosphorus in the Greek or bright and morning star) with the created being Lucifer. It was this reality, Jesus the Creator God appearing in the form of an angel that Satan misrepresented to suggest that God was playing favorites and granting Jesus privileges denied Lucifer.

Specifically, Jesus entered into the counsels of the Godhead, while Lucifer was not permitted. Why? Because Jesus is God and is an infinite being, while Lucifer is a created being and cannot enter infinity. These distinctions in access were not arbitrary rules as Satan alleged, but > the outworking of reality, of design law and manifestations of God's love. Had God permitted Lucifer to enter into where he wanted to go, Lucifer would have been destroyed.] If this prince of angels could but attain to his true, exalted position, great good would accrue to the entire host of heaven; for it was his object to secure freedom for all. But now even the liberty which they had hitherto enjoyed was at an end; for an absolute Ruler had been appointed them, and to His authority all must pay homage. Such were the subtle deceptions that through the wiles of Lucifer were fast obtaining in the heavenly courts. PP 37.1 [Satan takes a fact (Jesus goes into counsels Lucifer is not permitted to enter), twists it into a falsehood (God isn't fair; God makes up rules or laws), creating a lie, then takes that lie and creates another (we have a ruler imposed, invested with authority he didn't have before—see how Satan's lies have infected our own quarterly when one accepts the imposed law lens), that liberty is being violated that God doesn't grant freedom, which when these lies are believed results in rebellion, the breakdown of love and trust and the instilling of fear and selfishness.]

> There had been no change in the position or authority of Christ. Lucifer's envy and misrepresentation and his claims to equality with Christ had made necessary a statement of the true position of the Son of God; but this had been the same from the beginning. Many of the angels were, however, blinded by Lucifer's deceptions. PP 38.1 [God's statements, declarations of truth, don't establish the truth—the truth of Jesus' equality with God was always true. God's declaring it only became necessary because of Satan's lie. Thus in the book of Hebrews, God is NOT enthroning, investing, conferring power, or establishing something that hasn't already been true. God is revealing, declaring, making known the reality that has always been true, but Satan's lies obscured. To suggest God was investing, enthroning, conferring continues to support the lies of Satan about God, God's law and government.]

The aspect of Jesus' achievement, development, and position, etc. is not about Jesus the divine Son of God being installed, granted power, or enthroned—it is about Jesus the human being, using a human brain, human willpower, human strength to overcome the infection of sin and selfishness that Adam brought upon the species. Thus, Jesus is confirmed by God as:

- God's Son, which He always has been
- Creator, which He always has been
- co-equal with God, which He always has been
- but also now God confirms, reveals, declares, acknowledges, that Jesus is still God's Son as a human and by becoming human Jesus has NOT been diminished in His authority or position as God's Son, but has elevated humanity not only back to loyal unity with God, but to the throne of God where Jesus rules, not just Earth, but the entire universe.

This is quite a different position than suggesting God is granting, giving, authorizing Jesus with such power or authority.

What does the reference of being seated at God's right hand signify? Right hand is the position of power, of authority, of action. Jesus is God's "right hand man." In certain cultures the one who carries out the king's orders was called the king's hand—because it is the hand that carries out the action.

But some people get confused by this because of the difficulty human language has in conveying concepts about an infinite God; and because of the bias of the imposed law lens, because of the way humans rule over others; we project in distortions and misunderstanding when we read Scripture and think there is some inequality among the Godhead with the Father in some way being superior, greater, higher, more powerful etc. than Jesus or the Holy Spirit.

But all ideas of inequality amongst the Godhead are a function of our limited minds, the impact of sin on the way we understand things and Satan's lies. All attacks upon the Trinity are part of Satan's attack upon the Godhead. Yes, many sincere Christians get caught up into these lies, just like the apostles got caught up into wondering who sinned that a man was born blind him or his parents. The apostles' sincerity in following Jesus didn't mean they were free from every misunderstanding, and their misunderstandings about various things didn't cause them to be on Satan's team—it undermined their comprehension, wisdom, maturity, and ability to carry out God's purposes, but as long as they were still willing to learn, loved truth and could be corrected and give up false ideas for truth, then they remained on God's team. Both Peter and Paul are good examples of people who were sincerely wrong but could be corrected.

It is only when we reject truth, resist the Holy Spirit persistently until we destroy the facilities that respond to truth and love that we are fully lost. So, many people will be in heaven who have not understood the truth about the Trinity. But, the more truth we can assimilate and apply then the greater we are able to grow into the wisdom of God and have more of the subtle distortions removed and be even more effective in advancing God's kingdom.

Those who attack the equality of the Godhead may be sincere, but they are sincerely wrong. Many get caught up in this subtle distortion because of Jesus' statements like:

> "Why do you call me good?" Jesus answered. "No one is good—except God alone." (Mk 10:18 NIV84).
>
> "Worship the Lord your God, and serve him only." (Matthew 4:10 NIV84)
>
> "you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Mighty One and coming on the clouds of heaven." (Mk 14:62 NIV84).

Because of statements like this and the declarations of God in Hebrews chapter one, many falsely conclude that Jesus is in some way subservient or inferior to the Father. But the idea that Jesus is "subservient" to the Father is a misunderstanding that results from not appreciating God's character and the way His government works. In God's economy "whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me and for the gospel will save it" (Mark 8:35), "So the last will be first, and the first will be last." (Matt 20:16).

God's kingdom is the kingdom of love and love gives for the wellbeing of others. Thus Jesus is "exalted" because Jesus surrendered all and gave all for others. This exaltation is not "conferred" by the Father to the Son, but is a result of the accomplishment of the Son in perfectly revealing and carrying out the Godhead's character and purpose.

And Jesus is the member of the Godhead who had to carry out this plan because Jesus was the member of the Godhead whom Satan's lies were focused upon.

- So in order to expose the lie that Lucifer and Jesus are equal—Jesus was the member of the Godhead through whom all things were made.
- And because when God announced the eternal truth that Jesus was always equal to the Father, Satan made a new lie, and alleged that a ruler was now placed over them and their freedoms were taken away, because, Satan alleged, Jesus would abuse power. This is why Jesus is the member of the Godhead who had to reveal the truth—that even though He did have all power, He is safe with all power, we can trust Him, so much that He wouldn't even use that power to stop His rebellious, hate-filled, selfish, cruel, children from torturing and murdering Him.
- Jesus refuted all of Satan's lies, not by claims, but by evidence, by action. This is why in heaven, the Lamb who was slain is worthy, worthy, worthy Lord God almighty! He is worthy to have all power because He has proven the truth that He is truly safe with all power.

A better way to understand the descriptions and language of the relationship of the Godhead, is that the Godhead voluntarily assumed different roles or functions for the accomplishments of Their purposes (a loving way all share together in giving for Their creation). Any of the three could have assumed any of the functions. We would err in concluding that when one of the three assumes a function that He was not capable of functioning in the role of one of the others.

As I understand their chosen roles, the Father acts as the source of all that is good. The Son is the medium, mediator, advocate, conduit, agent through which the Father reveals Himself or acts and the Holy Spirit is the actualizer or applier of what the Father and Son have achieved. Thus God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself (2Cor 5:19). Jesus' work on earth was the acting out of the Father's heart. His completed mission and victory over sin are applied to the lives of believers by the work of the Holy Spirit. In creation we have the Father as the source, the Son as the architect, designer, and builder and the Spirit as the actualizer or implementer of Their design.

So, with this understanding we realize what Christ meant when He said, "I do nothing of myself." Christ takes from the Father to fulfill all the Father's purposes for His universe. In this sense we can see Christ turning to the Father, not to persuade the Father to be kind, but to receive the fullness of the Father's purpose of love for His creation and carry that purpose out in meaningful action!

Further, love is not self-centered, it is other centered. Thus Jesus is always exalting the Father, and the Father rejoices in uplifting the Son, and the Spirit celebrates in advancing the cause of the Father and the Son etc.

MONDAY

The title: Jesus Is Our Mediator. What does this idea mean to you?

The last paragraph in the lesson reaffirms "Jesus is the Mediator of God's blessing to us. He is the Mediator in that He is the channel through whom God's blessings flow."

This is again well said. This is the exact right way to understand Jesus' mediation.

And in thinking this way—Jesus is the agent, the channel, the avenue through which God's blessings flow—then does Jesus mediate only to sinners or does He mediate to angels as well?

Do sinless angels in heaven benefit and need the mediatorial work of Jesus?

If we understand, as I explained earlier, that God is infinite and finite beings cannot enter into infinity, do angels need a member of the Godhead to mediate God's truth, love, blessings to them, to leave infinity and connect with and interact with them?

And once sin entered, do the sinless angels in heaven need the mediation of Christ at the cross to prevent their rebellion or is the cross only for sinful humans?

Let me be clear—through Jesus we not only have a revelation of the truth about God, we not only have Satan being exposed as a liar and fraud, we not only have the revelation of what sin does, how it separates from God and results in death, but we also have Jesus destroying the infection of sin in humanity and developing a sinless human character perfecting and curing the human species from the sin-condition. Angels did not need the last part—they didn't need a new sinless nature or perfect human character. But they did need all the other parts of Christ's mediation.

Consider these historic quotes from one of the founders of the SDA church:

> That which alone can effectually restrain from sin in this world of darkness, will prevent sin in heaven. The significance of the death of Christ will be seen by saints and angels. Fallen men could not have a home in the paradise of God without the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. Shall we not then exalt the cross of Christ? The angels ascribe honor and glory to Christ, for even they are not secure except by looking to the sufferings of the Son of God. It is through the efficacy of the cross that the angels of heaven are guarded from apostasy. Without the cross they would be no more secure against evil than were the angels before the fall of Satan. Angelic perfection failed in heaven. Human perfection failed in Eden, the paradise of bliss. All who wish for security in earth or heaven must look to the Lamb of God.
> The plan of salvation, making manifest the justice and love of God, provides an eternal safeguard against defection in unfallen worlds, as well as among those who shall be redeemed by the blood of the Lamb. {5BC 1132.8}

> "While we rejoice that there are worlds which have never fallen, these worlds render praise, and honor, and glory to Jesus Christ for the plan of redemption to save the fallen sons of Adam, as > well as to confirm themselves in their position and character of purity. The arm that raised the human family from the ruin which Satan had brought upon the race through his temptations, is the arm which has preserved the inhabitants of other worlds from sin. Every world throughout immensity engages the care and support of the Father and the Son; and this care is constantly exercised for fallen humanity. Christ is mediating in behalf of man, and the order of unseen worlds also is preserved by his mediatorial work. Are not these themes of sufficient magnitude and importance to engage our thoughts, and call forth our gratitude and adoration to God?" {RH, January 11, 1881 par. 4}

Do you see the design law aspects in such descriptions?

Do you connect these quotes with Jesus' words when He said:

> Now is the time for judgment on this world; now the prince of this world will be driven out. But I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all to myself." (Jn 12:31–32 NIV84).

Or:

> For God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross. (Col 1:19–20 NIV84).

TUESDAY

Keep in mind what we just read in John 12 and Colossians 1 as we read Hebrews 2:14-16:

> Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death. For surely it is not angels he helps, but Abraham's descendants. (Heb 2:14–16 NIV84).

Do we have a contradiction? What does it mean, "For surely it is not angels he helps, but Abraham's descendants?" Didn't we just establish that His mediatorial work was for angels as well? So how is it that this text suggests it isn't angels he helps but Abraham's descendants?

This specific text is focusing on Jesus' mission to overcome death, sin, the carnal nature, fear and selfishness and cure the terminal sin condition. Angels in heaven did not need help with this—they needed the truth about God, they needed the lies of Satan exposed, but they did not need a new sinless nature—we did. It is this aspect of Jesus' mediation, ministry, work that is for humanity. So we have no conflict here at all.

WEDNESDAY

Any questions about Wednesday's lesson?

The most important thing the lesson states is in the last paragraph, that we are called by God to be a priesthood of believers. This is the heart of the Protestant Reformation, that we do not need a human priest to stand between us and God, but because of Jesus we can go directly to God ourselves. Not only that, it is a requirement for salvation that we do so.

- No other person can repent for you
- No other person can confess for you
- No other person can receive from God His grace for you
- No other person can receive God's forgiveness for you
- No other person can be enlightened with God's wisdom for you
- No other person can receive the love God wants to pour into your heart
- No other person can love God for you
- No other person can trust God for you
- No other person can be reconciled to God for you
- No other person can share your heart with God
- No other person can have a relationship with God for you

So, understand this, all religious teachings that have human beings between you and God obstruct God's plan to heal and restore you. All such teachings are in the way, they interfere, they prevent God from indwelling you and healing you.

Thus the only mediator is God Himself—Jesus Christ, who lives in those who trust Him via the Third Person of the Godhead, the Holy Spirit. Jesus, through the agency of the Holy Spirit, removes the stony heart—which is the carnal selfish nature/drives/motives and puts in a tender heart (which is the divine nature) cleansing us from sinfulness. This is the plan of salvation, restoration, healing, recreation, renewal.

The OT sanctuary service was merely theater—a drama with costumes, props and a script to act out God's plan to restore us to unity with Him.

The daily priests in their white robes represent the believers in Christ who have been reborn with new hearts and minds to possess the character of Christ represented by the spotless robes.

We are still today, as priests of God, to bring to God sacrifices—but we are to bring the real, genuine sacrifice, not the theatrical prop sacrifice. What is the real sacrifice that we are to bring?

> Therefore, I urge you, brothers, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God—this is your spiritual act of worship. Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind.

> Then you will be able to test and approve what God's will is—his good, pleasing and perfect will. (Ro 12:1–2 NIV84).

This sacrifice, offering ourselves to God results in our transformation the renewing of our minds—this is not a declaration, it is a reality. And Satan hates it. He wants to destroy the image of God in us. He wants to obstruct us from doing this and has many tricks, religious legal tricks, unhealthful living tricks, fear and selfishness tricks, perversions of love tricks—but they are all focused on the same outcome—the destruction of the image of God in people and the searing into people the character of Satan.

THURSDAY

What is the true covenant, what the lesson calls the better covenant?

> This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel
> after that time, declares the Lord.
> I will put my laws in their minds > and write them on their hearts.
> I will be their God,
> and they will be my people. (Heb 8:10 NIV84).

When was this covenant promised?

> And I will put enmity > between you and the woman, > and between your offspring and hers;
> he will crush your head,
> and you will strike his heel." (Ge 3:15).

When was this covenant accomplished? At the cross!

It is through the victory of Jesus that God is able to cleanse us from sin and give us a new heart and right spirit.

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 3: The Promised Son

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read Memory Text:

> "In the past God spoke to our forefathers through the prophets at many times and in various ways, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom he made the universe. The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being, sustaining all things by his powerful word" (Heb 1:1–3 NIV84).

Read first paragraph, "Right after Adam…" What is the significance of the Genesis 3:15 promise? Not only does it give us the reassurance of Jesus coming to be our Savior, it sets the framework for understanding the focus of the Old Testament. The focus is that of the coming Messiah—Satan working to stop the plan and God working to keep open the human avenue for Jesus' arrival. This is why we focus on Abraham, Isaac and Jacob's families and not other human families.

What about after Jesus came and won the victory and ascended back to heaven—where does the Bible focus after that? On the plan of salvation, on the agents of God taking forward the gospel. The focus shifts away from the genetic descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob to those who accept Jesus and take forward the truth that Jesus brought.

What about Bible prophecy that extends beyond the time of Jesus? It also focuses on the plan of salvation, the battle between the agents of Jesus and the agents of Satan seeking to obstruct the gospel message.

The last sentence says, "What neither Adam and Eve, Abraham, nor David probably ever imagined, however, was that their Redeemer Son would be God Himself."

Why was it necessary for God Himself to be our Savior?

What evidence do we have from Scripture that Jesus is God?

> In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was with God in the beginning. Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made. 4 In him was life, and that life was the light of men…The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us. We have seen his glory, the glory of the One and Only, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth" (Jn 1:1-3, 14 NIV84).
>
> "I and the Father are one" (John 10:30 NIV84).

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424

> "I tell you the truth," Jesus answered, "before Abraham was born, I am!" (Jn 8:58 NIV84).
>
> Thomas said to him, "My Lord and my God!" (Jn 20:28 NIV84).
>
> "For to us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be on his shoulders. And he will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace" (Is 9:6 NIV84).
>
> "For in Christ all the fullness of the Deity lives in bodily form" (Col 2:9 NIV84).
>
> The virgin will be with child and will give birth to a son, and they will call him Immanuel"—which means, "God with us" (Mt 1:23 NIV84).

SUNDAY

Read the first paragraph, "The first paragraph of Hebrews…" What do you understand the terms, "latter days" "last days" to mean? Are they the same as "the time of the end" or "end times"?

Latter days can mean later days, or future days, last days can mean these most recent or last days, the "time of the end" refers to the end of time when Jesus returns.

Much of the OT focus is on coming Messiah, thus the "latter days" often refer to the days after Messiah comes—the days after Jesus.

But the "time of the end" refers to the second coming and establishing a new heaven and a new earth.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses us again on the memory text, let's read Hebrews 1:1-4 from The Remedy:

> God has been speaking to us throughout all human history. In the past, he worked through his inspired spokespersons (and in other ways) to send his message of truth, love and hope. But in these more recent times, God's very thoughts have been made audible and visible to us in the person of his Son, who is the rightful heir of all things, and through whom the entire universe was created. Jesus Christ is the radiant glory of God's methods and principles lived out in human flesh. He is the exact manifestation of God's character—the complete revelation of his being—sustaining all things by his powerful word. After he provided the Remedy necessary to heal mankind from the infection of sin and selfishness, he took his seat at the right hand of the Majesty in heaven, thus his superiority to the angels became known throughout the entire universe, just as the name he inherited is superior to theirs.

What is the point of this?

God has been working to reveal truth to us—truth about Himself, about the sin problem, about who we are, beings created by God in His image, about our enemy, about the plan of salvation, about our choice to be reconciled to God or not—God has been working to reveal truth to us in a variety of ways, but that truth has been most clearly revealed in Jesus His Son.

Do you agree this is the message—that Jesus is the One through whom we must center our understanding of reality, including our understanding of Scripture?

Do we understand the Old Testament through Jesus, or do we understand Jesus through the Old Testament?

To understand Jesus through the Old Testament means we would accuse Him of not supporting Moses because He didn't stone the woman caught in adultery, or endorse the divorce laws, or support an eye for an eye, tooth for tooth. But to view the Old Testament through Jesus means that we understand stoning was never God's plan, but was an emergency measure due to the hardness of their hearts until He could lead them to love like He loves.

Consider this quotation from the book Christ's Object Lessons:

> "The significance of the Jewish economy is not yet fully comprehended. Truths vast and profound are shadowed forth in its rites and symbols. The gospel is the key that unlocks its mysteries. Through a knowledge of the plan of redemption, its truths are opened to the understanding. Far more than we do, it is our privilege to understand these wonderful themes." COL 133

What is the gospel—the eternal gospel? It is the truth about God; and who is the One whom has revealed God to us most fully? Jesus, "if you have seen me you have seen the Father." Thus, Jesus is the key to understanding Scripture, understanding the OT, understanding the symbolic sanctuary service.

And Jesus is represented here in Hebrews chapter one as Creator—and as Creator His law is design law, the law upon which life is built to operate. Only when we return to understanding God's law, character and government through the lens of design law do we come to right understandings and Jesus is the revelation of God lived out.

So, if you were Satan and wanted to stop the spread of the truth, the gospel, that Jesus came to reveal, and your attempt to destroy everyone who accepted Jesus by using the state (Rome) to kill them resulted in more converts to Jesus, what would you do? Infect Christianity with the lie that God's law works like human law and Christianity itself becomes the agency to imprison minds and corrupt characters by teaching a system of arbitrary rules, imposed punishments, that worships an arbitrary god who requires the blood of a human sacrifice not to kill us.

Read sixth paragraph, "Meanwhile, Jesus came to be our Representative…" Jesus is our representative—exactly so—how and why?

How did Jesus become our representative?

Why was it necessary that Jesus become human?

What did Jesus accomplish as a human?

How did Jesus defeat the serpent?

> "Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death" (Heb 2:14–15 NIV84).

What does this mean?

How does Jesus' death destroy the devil and his power?

How does Jesus' death free us from the fear of death?

Will we have to face this fear and overcome it? How? Through faith? What does that mean?

Are events unfolding in the world that incite fear of death? If people fear death does it impact how they treat others?

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on "the glory of God" and points us to texts that highlight the bright light that looks like fire as the glory of God.

What are your thoughts about this?

There is no doubt that throughout human history God has manifested radiant light as an evidence of His glory. We see this in the Shekinah; in the pillar of fire by day; in the burning bush; in Moses' face coming off the mountain; at the transfiguration of Jesus.

However, when the Bible refers to God's glory is the term "glory" restricted to some element of fiery brightness or does the fiery aspects refer to the most limited aspect of God's glory?

Can Satan manifest with fiery brightness, visual glory?

PO Box 28266, Chattanooga, TN 37424
topics@comeandreason.com

Is the glory of God merely brilliance and splendor of lights and we need to watch for the greatest fireworks show to tell who is the true Messiah?

Or, is there another aspect of God's glory that is more important than brightness and radiance?

Prophesying about the building of the second temple, Haggai gives a message from the Lord:

> I will shake all nations, and the desired of all nations will come, and I will fill this house with glory,' says the LORD Almighty… 'The glory of this present house will be greater than the glory of the former house,' says the LORD Almighty. 'And in this place I will grant peace,' declares the LORD Almighty." (Haggai 2:7–9 NIV84).
> "But many of the older priests and Levites and family heads, who had seen the former temple, wept aloud when they saw the foundation of this temple being laid, while many others shouted for joy" (Ezra 3:12 NIV84).

Why would the Bible describe the smaller temple as being more glorious than Solomon's temple? Because Jesus walked in it—meaning God Himself came to that temple—but wait, when Solomon's Temple was dedicated, the priests could not enter because the brightness of God's glory was too great (2 Chron. 5:13).

So God came to both Temples—one in His unveiled splendor; the other in human form—yet Haggai states the second was more glorious. Why? Because God's glory isn't merely about fiery splendor, it is about His character and methods of love. And it was at the second Temple that Jesus revealed the character of God most fully. Because it was at the second Temple that Christ showed that He preferred to permit His creatures to abuse Him rather than use His power in selfish ways. At the second Temple Christ demonstrated that we can trust the One who has the power. And at the second temple Jesus defeated Satan—truth prevailed over lies, and love prevailed over selfishness in the physical temple that Jesus took upon Himself and walked through the stone temple.

When Moses spoke with God, asking the Lord to show him His glory. What did God do? He responded to Moses, "I will cause all of my goodness to pass in front of you" (Ex. 33:19, NIV). Then God passed in front of Moses proclaiming, "The Lord, the Lord, the compassionate and gracious God, slow to anger, abounding in love and faithfulness, maintaining love to thousands, and forgiving wickedness, rebellion and sin" (Ex. 34:5, 6, NIV).

The fiery splendor of God can be counterfeited. Satan can appear as an angel of light and reveal some aspect of supernatural power and brilliance, but Satan cannot counterfeit God's character of love because he is selfish and will not sacrifice himself for others. Satan, when he impersonates Jesus will require others be sacrificed, he won't sacrifice for them.

Does this give insight into what it means for us to "give glory to God for the hour of his judgment has come"? What does it mean for us?

So, Hebrews is telling us that Jesus is the radiance, glory, or perfect revelation of God's character of love. How do we apply this truth to our theology?

What does this truth do to ideas that we need Jesus to plead His blood to the Father to pay for our sins?

WEDNESDAY

The lesson again focuses our attention on Jesus as Creator. Jesus being Creator is an important truth to remember when we read texts like:

> Jesus answered, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me." (John 14:6 NIV84).

Forgetting about the importance and meaning that Jesus is Creator, some people have taken the John 14:6 text and taught that no one can be saved without hearing about Jesus' earthly life and making a positive confession of faith, i.e. becoming what is commonly called a born again Christian.

But Paul wrote in Romans 1:20:

> "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse" (Romans 1:20 NIV84).

And then wrote in Romans 2:12-15:

> All who sin apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who sin under the law will be judged by the law. 13 For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. 14 (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, 15 since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts… (Romans 2:12–15NIV84).

Some people never hear the gospel message about Jesus, but they are still able to see the truth about God's methods, design laws for life, and principles as revealed in nature. If they accept these truths that the Holy Spirit brings to bear in their minds and consciences, then they have God's design law of love written upon their hearts and they are converted or saved from selfishness to love.

Those who come to God in this way are still coming through Jesus because Jesus is the member of the Godhead through whom all things were made.

So the truth that Jesus is Creator has cascading impact on our understanding of Scripture and this is an example of integrating or connecting various truths together to come to a cohesive overall understanding of God's reality.

In the third paragraph the lesson says "Jesus is also Judge." What law lens does this language convey? Are they suggesting a legal judicial process here or a physician's office, a diagnostic setting?

In both settings (court room or doctor's office) examination occurs; in both settings evidence is reviewed; in both settings judgments are made.

But are the same laws being applied in a courtroom versus a doctor's office?

Which version, which setting, more accurately reflects the truth of Jesus being a Judge?

If we accept the lie that God's law functions like human law, then we end up in a courtroom—in the false penal/legal view of salvation. Now consider this, which is commonly taught: Satan accuses us before God and the heavenly tribunal; our records of sin are open, and then Jesus our advocate steps in and pleads to the Father "my blood, Father, I have paid their debt." But in reality, the Father is watching on CNN— the Celestial News Network—because Jesus is our Judge and is actually pleading to Himself….hmmm….how does that actually work?

The penal/legal model is a lie and it always sets up all kinds of nonsense contradictions like:

- One member of the Godhead needs to plead with another member to get them to forgive, but the One pleading is also the Judge, so He is pleading to Himself—this is the two faced god that Satan loves us to believe in. You see the same thing in the penal view of the second coming, Jesus kind and loving face He shows to the redeemed, but His angry and wrathful face He shows to the lost.
- One member of the Godhead needs to hide truth by covering it, erasing it, in some way so when the Father looks at us He can't actually see us, instead He sees an avatar of Jesus in our place. But, since Jesus is the Judge, it is really Jesus hiding the truth from Himself so He doesn't know our sins, lest He would have to kill us rather than save us.
- One member of the Godhead is angry and wants to kill us and is so holy He can't stand to be near us, but another member of the Godhead loves us so much He became one of us and pleads His blood to calm down and take away the anger of the Father.

I could go on and on—but the legal view is fraudulent, based on a lie that God's law functions like human law. We must return to the truth that God's law is design law and when we do, judgment means something completely different.

In our new magazine, The Final Message of Mercy to the World: The Three Angels, we examine the four judgments found in Scripture in detail.

Here is the link to the digital flip version https://comeandreason.com/files/flipbooks/3Angels/

But let's examine the four judgments briefly and see what God's judgments actually are. (Go to the Final Message Magazine and find the Four Judgments and read them).

But some people get confused because of the bias of the imposed law lens, because of the way humans rule over others; we project in distortions and misunderstanding when we read Scripture and think there is some inequality among the Godhead with the Father in some way being superior, greater, higher, more powerful etc. than Jesus or the Holy Spirit.

But all ideas of inequality amongst the Godhead are a function of our limited minds, the impact of sin on the way we understand things and Satan's lies.

Many get caught up in this subtle distortion that there is inequality among the Godhead because of various texts in Scripture like Jesus' statements:

> "Why do you call me good?" Jesus answered. "No one is good—except God alone." (Mk 10:18 NIV84).
>
> "Worship the Lord your God, and serve him only." (Matthew 4:10 NIV84)
> "you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Mighty One and coming on the clouds of heaven." (Mk 14:62 NIV84).

Jesus in His statement about "Why do you call me good?" wasn't saying "don't call me good because only God is good" He was actually saying to this man—"You have called me good—do you realize that only God is good—and if you recognize I am good, then do you recognize that I am God?" Jesus was trying to open this man's mind to His divine status by taking a point He saw in Jesus—Jesus being good—and linking it to the larger and deeper truth of why He saw Jesus being good—namely that Jesus is God.

A better way to understand the descriptions and language of the relationship of the Godhead, is that the Godhead voluntarily assumed different roles or functions for the accomplishments of Their purposes (a loving way all share together in giving for Their creation). Any of the three could have assumed any of the functions. We would err in concluding that when one of the three assumes a function that He was not capable of functioning in the role of one of the others.

As I understand their chosen roles, the Father acts as the source of all that is good. The Son is the medium, mediator, advocate, conduit, agent through which the Father reveals Himself or acts and the Holy Spirit is the actualizer or applier of what the Father and Son have achieved. Thus God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself (2Cor 5:19). Jesus' work on earth was the acting out of the Father's heart. His completed mission and victory over sin are applied to the lives of believers by the work of the Holy Spirit. In creation we have the Father as the source, the Son as the architect, designer, and builder and the Spirit as the actualizer or implementer of Their design.

So, with this understanding we realize what Christ meant when He said, "I do nothing of myself." Christ takes from the Father to fulfill all the Father's purposes for His universe. In this sense we can see Christ turning to the Father, not to persuade the Father to be kind, but to receive the fullness of the Father's purpose of love for His creation and carry that purpose out in meaningful action!

Further, love is not self-centered, it is other centered. Thus Jesus is always exalting the Father, and the Father rejoices in uplifting the Son, and the Spirit celebrates in advancing the cause of the Father and the Son etc.

THURSDAY

What does it mean that Jesus is the begotten Son of the Father?

This is referring to the promise of Genesis 3:15—Jesus is the seed of the woman that was promised to crush the serpent's head and save the species human.

Jesus is the one sent of the Father, from the Godhead, to become a real human being in order to cleanse, heal, restore, save the human species, secure the unfallen universe in loyalty and destroy sin and Satan.

When the Holy Spirit came upon Mary, Jesus was in some way that we cannot comprehend, incarnated into the womb of a human being and was begotten as a human from God Himself.

It is straightforward and real and speaks of Jesus' humanity, incarnation, being begotten of the Father. It does not speak of Jesus' pre-existent divine state being begotten of the Father.

The lesson rightly states, "There was never a time when Jesus did not exist, because Jesus is God." However, the lesson could have gone on to say, "But there was a time that Jesus did not exist as a human." And that is the point of Hebrews and all the Bible texts that speak of Jesus being begotten by the Father.

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 4: Jesus, Our Faithful Brother

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses on Jesus as our Brother and Redeemer, on the concept of kinsmen redeemer. Read first two paragraphs, "The law of Moses…"

Are they saying Jesus is our kinsmen redeemer? Yes, He became a real human, a member of the human species in order to redeem us from sin, no question.

What does it mean for Jesus to redeem us from sin?

- Does Jesus have to pay a price to Satan to buy us back?
- Does Jesus have to pay a price to God to purchase the right to buy us back?
- What is required for us to be delivered from sin?
- Doesn't sin have to be removed from us?
- What is sin? Is it physical?
- Sin is transgression of the law—what law? –the law of love, design law
- What is it that causes transgression of the law? –lies believed break the circle of love and trust resulting in fear/selfishness the carnal nature; this nature, with which we were born, makes it impossible for us in our own strength to live in harmony with God's law. Thus, we were born with a terminal condition that we did not choose and from which we need to be redeemed.
- What is needed to redeem us? Truth that destroys lies and wins us back to trust—"you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free" (John 8:32 NIV84). And a new nature, character, heart/mind, we die to fear and selfishness as the controlling motive of our selves/identities and receive the character of Christ, "I have been crucified with Christ and I no longer live, but Christ lives in me" (Galatians 2:20 NIV84).
- So to whom is the ransom price paid to redeem us? It is paid to us—we need the truth to win us to trust and we need a new nature/character we become partakers of the divine nature.
- This is design law—it is reality, we are sick in sin and we need actual healing. There is nothing legal going on in this process.

Read third paragraph, "The nearest relative…" Are they saying that if we refuse to let Him redeem us that He will take the role of avenger and kill us to give us just punishment for our sin?

Or are they saying Jesus will use His power to torment and kill Satan and any persons who hurt us, mistreat us, abuse us, or mislead us?

What law lens do we understand this through? Do we use imposed or design law—this is a key to right understanding of Scripture:

- Imposed law: justice requires punishment and there are long theological debates over God's wrath and justice trying to explain these things, but as long as people hold to the false law idea they always end up with God as the source of inflicted pain, suffering and death upon sinners. And they always have Jesus dying to do something to God, appease, propitiate, pay a debt, provide a legal loophole to allow God to save us.
- Design law: all confusion evaporates. We have a terminal sin condition and Jesus' life, death, and resurrection were the means to heal us and restore us back to God's sinless design for life. God kills lies with truth, selfishness with love, and death with life. In the end the unsaved suffer from their unhealed sin condition just as the Bible teaches "those who sow to the carnal nature, from that nature reap destruction" Galatians 6:8. The destruction doesn't come from God, but from unremedied sin.

One key to understanding Scripture is having the design law lens, but there is another key and that is Jesus; His life and teachings.

Do we interpret the ministry of Jesus through the Old Testament, or do we understand the true meaning and lessons of the Old Testament through what Jesus Himself revealed and taught?

Do we find Jesus using power to inflict punishment upon anyone? Why not? Doesn't Jesus care what happens to people? Isn't Jesus concerned about justice?

Did Jesus teach anything about justice?

Justice is doing what is right, what is just. How do we determine what is right or just? By the law—and so we are right back at the root to the entire Great Controversy—God's law—how we understand it.

I love this quotation from The Great Controversy it is so right about the root problem that began the war in heaven and upon which it will end here on earth.

> The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. GC 582

God is the God of reality—His laws are the foundation of reality, what everything is built to operate upon. Satan is the father of lies, of made-up things, of ideas that are not based in truth, not based in reality, and that includes the fantasy that God's law is imposed and God is the inflictor of punishments for rule-breaking.

Justice is doing what is right or just—did Jesus teach justice and reveal justice? Where do we find in the life of Jesus God's design law justice revealed and a refutation of imposed law justice?

> "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments" (Mt 22:37–40 NIV84).
>
> - Is this an expression of justice—of doing what is right?
> - Can this justice be accomplished by rule-keeping or only through transformation of heart and mind?

> "You have heard that it was said, 'Eye for eye, and tooth for tooth.' But I tell you, Do not resist an evil person. If someone strikes you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if someone wants to sue you and take your tunic, let him have your cloak as well. If someone forces you to go one mile, go with him two miles. Give to the one who asks you, and do not turn away from the one who wants to borrow from you. You have heard that it was said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I tell you: Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, that you may be sons of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? And if you greet only your brothers, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect." (Mt 5:38–48 NIV84).

Do you hear justice in this texts?

- When Jesus said that if someone strikes us we should turn the other cheek, is this to be taken literally, or is He saying we should not seek vengeance, not seek to retaliate, not become angry and have hate in our hearts or a desire to hurt the other, but we should still seek their redemption—in other words take action that in that circumstance would be most helpful in reaching the other person with God's truth?
  - For instance, if a child hits their parent should the parent turn the other cheek and allow the child to strike them without consequence? Or will a loving parent discipline (disciple/teach) the child because the parent wants the child to gain self-mastery, self-discipline and not become a violent person?
  - Do we have an example of Jesus putting this into practice? Yes: "When Jesus said this, one of the officials nearby struck him in the face. 'Is this the way you answer the high priest?' he demanded. 'If I said something wrong," Jesus replied, "testify as to what is wrong. But if I spoke the truth, why did you strike me?'" (John 18:22-23 NIV84).
  - Did Jesus merely turn the other check, or did Jesus speak truth in love because truth spoken in love in that context was the most helpful action for God's cause Jesus could take—for those present and also for all of us who read it?
- The law of love seeks to heal and redeem, thus it is focused on motives of heart, not legal actions. Thus we are to love our enemies and pray for them, not seek ways to eliminate them. But in love, we may restrain them. If you had a child who was going out to commit some terrible crime, and you had the ability to stop them, would you? Why? Merely to protect the victim of their crime, or to protect your child from the soul searing, character warping consequences of committing the crime? Yes, in love we can restrain those who would actively seek to do evil to others.

    - One of Satan's lies, counterfeits to love, is sentimentalism, emotionalism, over-empathy—in which people don't set healthy boundaries, don't hold others accountable: parents who don't discipline an unruly child because the child will cry and the parent will feel bad, and what will happen to such a child? We see this is societies (municipalities) in which police are defunded, prosecutors don't enforce the laws, those who commit crimes are not held in prison but returned to society, refusal to arrest those stealing from others—all under the guise of so-called compassion for the less fortunate, the marginalized. It is a lie—it is not compassionate it is evil as it reinforces evil behavior and hardens the hearts of those committing the crime and causes more fear and distrust in the community at large.
- And what examples did Jesus give as evidence of God's actions toward the wicked? He contrasted the emergency measures to bring order to a chaotic and destructive society with Design law. You have heard it said an eye for an eye—while that was necessary to stop blood feuds and killing for any offense and establish community order, the greater reality is that the sun and rain don't discriminate based on the virtue of people. The sun shines equally on all—but the condition of the individual determines the outcome. Some shade themselves (or today use sunscreen) others don't, there is a difference in outcome—but it is not from the sun, it is from the response of the people.
- The outcome of our lives is not up to God; through Jesus He has provided everything necessary for our salvation. Now it is up to us how we respond to all God has done for us. God's love and truth shines down freely upon everyone. Salvation free in Jesus is offered to everyone. It is up to us to decide what happens to us and God leaves us free to reap what we have finally chosen. This is God's justice!

Do we have any examples of Jesus dispensing justice?

- Did Jesus give the woman caught in adultery justice? What about those who brought her? What was the justice He gave them?
- What justice did Jesus give the man who wanted Him to settle his dispute with his brother over their estate?
- What justice did Jesus give both thieves on the crosses next to Him?
- What justice did Jesus give to Herod and Pilate?
- What justice did Jesus give those who crucified Him?

Is it just or unjust to give people what they have chosen, to allow people to reap what they have sown?

The lesson asks us to read Hebrews 2:14-16:

> "Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death. For surely it is not angels he helps, but Abraham's descendants" (Heb 2:14–16 NIV84).

Read fourth paragraph, "This passage…" Do you agree with the passage? This paragraph has multiple false conclusions that leads to false understanding of reality and ultimately misrepresents God, the sin problem, and the solution for it.

Does Hebrews 2:15 say we are slaves of Satan? What does the Bible say enslaves us? Our fear of death, which is the carnal drive of me-first, the survival drives, which means we are slaves of sin—not acts, but the sinful condition. This is what we need deliverance from.

> Jesus replied, "I tell you the truth, everyone who sins is a slave to sin" (John 8:34 NIV84).

> For we know that our old self was crucified with him so that the body of sin might be done away with, that we should no longer be slaves to sin—because anyone who has died has been freed from sin (Romans 6:6-7 NIV84).

Are we enslaved by Satan or by our fear of death, by sin? If Satan and all of his angels were wiped out from earth today, would sin go away on planet earth? Would each of us be free of temptation? No, even if Satan were destroyed this moment, each of us would still have a carnal nature that tempts. Every person not surrendered to the Holy Spirit would still be under the power of fear and selfishness—this is what enslaves us.

But, after Adam sinned and the human species was fallen, God did not abandon humans to the control or enslavement of Satan. God intervened right there in Eden in human hearts and minds to prevent our hearts and minds from being fully enslaved by Satan. He put enmity between us and Satan, convicting of sin, wooing, drawing, putting a desire for something better and giving us the FREEDOM TO CHOOSE Him rather than having our minds and hearts completely enslaved by Satan.

EGW puts it this way:

> The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God, and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship. {ST, July 11, 1895 par. 5}

James tells us:

> When tempted, no one should say, "God is tempting me." For God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone; but each one is tempted when, by his own evil desire, he is dragged away and enticed. Then, after desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death" (Jas 1:13–15 NIV84).

Yes, Satan is a real living being, who is evil, selfish, the father of lies, who works against all that is good, a being to whom we can surrender our hearts and minds and to whom we can allow ourselves to become enslaved—but this isn't the core problem. The core problem is sinfulness in us, fear and selfishness, that we inherited from Adam, what we call the carnal nature with its fear of death.

And what is required to free us? Is it that we are under a legal penalty and some punishment (death penalty) needs to be inflicted? Does this passage say that there is a death penalty that transgression required? Where does the idea that sin requires a penalty be inflicted originate?

> "In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice…" DA 761.4

Satan is the originator of the idea that sin must have a punishment inflicted because Satan is the originator of the lie about God's law, that it is made up rules. If Satan were correct, that God's law functioned like human law—made up rules, then it would be true that broken law requires the infliction of punishment. But this is not true of God's law is made up rules. God's law is design law—the protocols the Creator has built life to operate upon. According to the author of the statement above, three paragraphs later in the same chapter, after making it clear that the idea that sin needs to be punished comes from Satan, she goes on to state exactly what God's law requires—and it isn't punishment listen to this:

> The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; [Why? for the same reason the law of respiration requires that we breathe—it is the law upon which life is designed to operate. There is no life without living in harmony with God's law of love.] and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. DA 762.2

So, God does not have to inflict death as a legal punishment. This is the language of Satan's view of things.

It is true that the wages of sin is death, that sin when full grown brings forth death—but it is not true that God requires a death penalty. God requires righteousness. And the only way to get righteousness in human beings is for it to be developed by the actions of a human being, and once Adam sinned we could not do it. So Jesus came and took up our cause. He became human and was tempted in all points like us but instead of choosing sin, Jesus chose to live out love perfectly and destroyed the infection, the elements in humanity that incite fear and selfishness.

In Gethsemane and at the cross the two antagonistic principles warred it out in the HUMAN heart and mind of Jesus. And Jesus chose the truth about His Father, chose love for God and love for us, and Jesus chose to trust His Father with His life and very existence rather than using His power to save Himself. Thus, Jesus destroyed the lies of Satan and the infection of fear and selfishness and purified the humanity He took upon Himself thereby developing a perfect mature sinless human character (Hebrews 5:9).

MONDAY

Read first paragraph, "Hebrews says that Jesus…" What is the significance of this for us today? In this world today do you ever feel like those who love Jesus and are loyal to God's kingdom are in the minority? And if so, does this tempt us to become discouraged, like Elijah when he felt he was the only one? And even when he discovered there were 7000 who had not bowed the knee, how did that compare to all those who had bowed to Baal?

So, Elijah wasn't alone, but was he in the minority? On earth yes, but we are to have another perspective—that of Elisha. What did he say when the armies surrounded them?

> "Don't be afraid, those who are with us are more than those who are with them" (2 Ki 6:16 NIV84).

This is our perspective when we remember God's reality—all the rest of the worlds in God's entire universe along with 2/3 of the angels are on God's side. It is Satan and the wicked that are in the minority.

The lesson points out that some early Christians were struggling with being ashamed to be called Christians, to identify with Jesus, do we ever struggle with this today?

TUESDAY

Read the third and fourth paragraph, "Hebrews also says, however…" What do you think of the statement, "Jesus came as a Savior and offered Himself as a sacrifice 'without blemish' to God for us" (Heb. 7:26-28, Heb. 9:14)?

And then the lesson goes on to say in the next sentence, "Then Jesus destroyed the power of the devil by dying as a sinless Offering for our sins, thus making possible our forgiveness and reconciliation with God (Heb. 2:14-17)."

Put those two thoughts together and ask, What is being taught here?

- Jesus dies and presents His sacrifice to the Father in order to break Satan's power and make it possible for God to forgive us?
- If He is breaking Satan's power why is He offering His sacrifice to God for us?
- Are they saying Satan holds power over God or God needs the blood of Jesus in order free Himself from Satan's control?
- Or that Jesus blood gives God some legal opening to act against Satan?
- What are they saying?

This is all misconstrued based on the false imposed law construct. Let's lay out the truth:

It all starts with God's law. How do we understand God's law? Rules made up requiring external enforcement, or the design protocols the Creator built life to operate upon?

The law of God is the standard of health, of righteousness, if we replace God's design law with human imposed law, then we misdiagnose the sin problem as a legal problem rather than a lethal problem—a problem with our state of being.

Once we understand that after Adam's sin he and Eve were not loving, faithful, righteous beings whose hearts and minds still operated upon love and trust but who now had a legal problem—no, they had a lethal problem. They were changed in their inmost being to be fearful and selfish and without intervention from God would die of their terminal sin condition.

Thus the solution—our salvation requires our condition to be changed back to love and trust and have fear and selfishness removed.

From the sinner's side of the divide, what is require of us, for us to be saved? We sinners are required to trust God. Why? Because without trust we won't open our hearts and minds to God for Him to heal and change. If God were to use divine power to force a change on an unwilling person, someone who doesn't trust, someone who doesn't willingly cooperate for their own heart transformation, that act of God would destroy that person's individuality and replace it with either a new individual or a robot. It would also demonstrate that God is a being other than love who doesn't give real freedom and forces His all to do what He wants. God will NEVER do this. Our healing, transformation, salvation requires our voluntary participation, meaning we must trust God and open our hearts to Him, inviting Him in and choose to follow where He leads.

But from God's side of the sin divide, God had to provide truth that refuted Satan's lies in order to win us to trust and secure the unfallen angels in loyalty, but something more was required in order to save sinners from sin. (To stop with only a revelation of truth to win to trust is the Moral Influence Theory of Atonement). In order to save sinners, in addition to revealing truth, God had to actually fix the damage to the human species that sin had caused and provide a real remedy that would cure the condition of all those who trust Him. Thus we read in Scripture the multifold achievements of Jesus our Savior:

- He revealed truth, which exposed Satan as liar, secured the unfallen universe, and won humanity back to trust:
    - "God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross." Colossians 1:19, 20
- He destroyed Satan and his power.
    - "Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil." Hebrews 2:14
- He destroyed the infection of selfishness and cured humankind.
    - "Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." 2 Timothy 1:10
- Destroyed the devil's work.
    - "The reason the Son of God appeared was to destroy the devil's work." 1 John 3:8

- Christ destroyed selfishness, the basis of death.
- Christ restored the law of love into humanity, the basis of life.
- His resurrection was the only outcome of the law of love being restored!
  "The law of the Lord is perfect reviving the soul." Psalm 19:7

This is why Jesus had to come to earth, become a real human, live a sinless life as a human, overcome every temptation, die to destroy the infection of fear and selfishness and restore the law of love back into the place God originally designed for it to be—the heart and mind of human beings.

Turn to WEDNESDAY's lesson, this is what it means to be made perfect:

> Although he was a son, he learned obedience from what he suffered 9 and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him… (Heb 5:8–9 NIV84).

What does this text mean? What does it mean to be made perfect? Wasn't Jesus always perfect? He was always sinless, but Bible perfection is about maturity of character. Character cannot be created by God, it must be developed by the sentient being. After Adam sinned no other human could develop a perfect mature righteous human character—this is what Jesus did for us and this is what is required for us to be saved, to receive by faith, by trust, the indwelling Spirit that takes the perfection or maturity of Christ and reproduces it in us. We die to fear and selfishness and we trust God with our lives and no longer live controlled by the fear of death—we are set free in Jesus to love God and others as He loves us.

Read third paragraph, "1. Jesus was 'perfected'…" What are they saying? Are they saying the law required God to kill? Are they saying that God was restricted by some legal authority over Himself? Are they saying Jesus had to present His blood to the Father to pay a legal debt to God lest God would be required to kill us? Who, in this view is the source of death? Do you see how they make God out to be the source of death, the one from whom we need to be protected?

What if Jesus didn't pay our debt to God—what would they say God would do?

This is the plan of salvation presented through the lens of Rome, the wine of Babylon, the lie that God's law functions like human law. Such views are pagan and not in keeping with Scripture.

THURSDAY

What do you think of the idea of Jesus as our Model or Example?

How is He not our model?

- Will any of us every have to tread the winepress alone?
- Will any of us, who seek God, ever be abandoned by God as Jesus experienced in Gethsemane and at the Cross?
- Will any of us be tempted to turn rocks to bread?

So there are aspects of Jesus' life that we will never have to face—and praise God for that.

How is He our model?

Jesus said, "As the Father has sent me, I am sending you" (Jn 20:21 NIV84).

What did the Father send Jesus to do that we are to do?

> If we are content to take a low level in the Christian life, the truth will never become wrought into a deep experience; we shall not be fruit-bearing branches; we shall not honor God. Kind words, kind looks, kind deeds, and thoughtful consideration of others,—these are the fruits that grow on the Christian tree. Jesus is our example, and we must form our characters after his. By beholding his purity and perfection, we shall be changed into the same image. [Law of worship] If Christ is dwelling in us, we shall reveal him in all our actions, and we shall see new charms in him every day. It is impossible to tell what work God will do for us and through us, if we will only consent to become channels of light. RH May 7, 1889, par. 3
>
> The Lord Jesus is our example. He came to the world as the servant of mankind. He went from city to city, from village to village, teaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing the sick. Christ spent more time in healing than in teaching. RH September 10, 1908, par. 4
>
> As our example, Christ linked closely together the work of healing and teaching, and in this our day they should not be separated. In our schools and sanitariums, nurses should be > trained to go out as a medical missionary evangelists. They should unite the teaching of the gospel of Christ with the work of healing. RH September 10, 1908, par. 5

Why?

Because healing people requires we return them to harmony with the laws of health, which are design laws. We cannot have physical health while violating the laws of health—and we cannot have eternal life while living out of harmony with God's design laws for life—the law of love, truth, and liberty.

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 5: Jesus—The Giver of Rest

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

What do you think of the title? What is the focus most likely to be?

The focus is on the Sabbath—the day of rest.

But as we consider the Sabbath, let's consider it in this context:

> The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. GC 582

Where did the controversy concerning the law of God begin? In heaven—and when Satan began his controversy over God's law in heaven, was there a Sabbath?

According to Jesus the Sabbath was made for man—not for angels, and when was the Sabbath made? At the end of creation week—and had Satan already started his rebellion over God's law? Yes, we find him in Eden from the very beginning of Adam and Eve's life.

And this quote from EGW lets us know she viewed it this way also:

> Angels on probation had been deceived by Satan, and had been led on by him in the great rebellion in heaven against Christ. [Angels on probation—what does this mean? Probation is a trial period, a period to give one opportunity to demonstrate themselves. Why were they on probation? This is insightful, Satan claimed equality with Jesus, not with the Father, why? Because Jesus was the member of the Godhead who would leave infinity and enter into linear existence and presented Himself to the angels in the form of an angel even though He is fully God. Satan became jealous of Jesus and claimed unfairness from God in allowing Jesus to go into councils that Lucifer could not enter. But why couldn't Lucifer enter? 1Tim 6:16 because God lives in unapproachable light—God lives in infinity, infinite power, infinite knowledge, and Lucifer would be destroyed if he could step into infinity.] They failed to endure the test brought to bear upon them, and they fell. [Who brought the test upon them? Lucifer—and what was the test? It was a test of loyalty, of faithfulness, of what and who they would believe and what law they would apply to their lives. Their characters were being tested when a question of God's methods, character, principles and trustworthiness was presented to them. They were presented with questions over God's law, what type of law did God run His > universe upon. Satan makes allegations of equality with Jesus and unfairness about the Father. Satan alleged it was arbitrary rules and external power to enforce behavioral control—such as denying Lucifer access to meetings he was well-qualified for. They believed the lies about God's law and thus about God and their characters were changed into fear and selfishness. Notice, what happens next—after these angels fell.] Adam was then created in the image of God and placed upon probation. [Did Adam and Even have a different probation than the angels, or was it the same—a period of time for them to develop their own views, beliefs, attitudes and choose who they would trust, what methods and principles they would live out? And in regard to the Sabbath—Satan's rebellion and fall happened before Adam, which means it happened before the Sabbath was created, which means it wasn't a question over the Sabbath day, which means the final conflict of this long-standing battle over God's law will be something much more than which day of the week we stop work upon.] He had a perfectly developed organism. All his faculties were harmonious. In all his emotions, words, and actions, there was a perfect conformity to the will of his Maker. After God had made every provision for the happiness of man, and had supplied his every want, He tested his loyalty. If the holy pair should be obedient, the race would, after a time, be made equal to the angels. As Adam and Eve failed to bear this test, Christ proposed to become a voluntary offering for man. {Con 18.2} [What happened here? What kind of test? A test of loyalty—meaning what? What character they would develop. Would they choose truth, love, liberty, trust, faithfulness, fidelity? Would they choose the knowledge of good, to be loyal to God, to know God and His methods as their way of life, what they settle into so they cannot be moved—or would they choose to know evil, fear, selfishness, believe lies, become cheats, exploiters, abusers and malcontents? Sadly, they chose the later, and Jesus chose to become human and overcome Satan and the power of sin and restore God's law into humanity, developing with His human abilities and human power a godly character loyal to God's methods and principles. Now each of us, because of Jesus, have the choice—who will we be loyal to? Who will we trust and what law will we choose as our hearts operating system in how we live and in how we treat others?]

So, back to the Sabbath—how does the Sabbath fit into the final conflict between truth and error that began over God's law before there was a Sabbath?

The Sabbath was made for man—for what purpose? Did God foreknow that Adam and Eve would fall into sin and the human race would be born into sin and struggle with sin? Yes—so He made the Sabbath with foreknowledge of our plight for a purpose—what purpose?

> Say to the Israelites, 'You must observe my Sabbaths. This will be a sign between me and you for the generations to come, so you may know that I am the LORD, who makes you holy. (Ex 31:13 NIV84).
>
> I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the LORD made them holy. (Eze 20:12 NIV84).

It is a sign that He sanctifies us or makes us holy—what does that mean?

What is the sign that God makes us holy? Is the Sabbath itself the sign, or is our Sabbath observance the sign? Or is it some combination of both?

What is a sign? It is a marker, a signal, an evidence, a notice, something that conveys meaning, something that stands or reminds us of something, an indicator.

The Sabbath itself is a sign from God to us that He makes us holy—it is to be remembered, not forgotten—but what is to be remembered about the Sabbath? How does God make us holy?

What if we have the right day of the week but attach and remember lies about the meaning and purpose of the Sabbath? What if we teach the right day of the week and to remember and keep it, but do so through the imposed law lens and the Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience?

Did the Jews in Christ's day have the right day of the week? Did they remember the Sabbath? What did the Sabbath remind them of?

- Did they remember God was Creator?
- Did they remember God delivered them from Egypt?
- Did they remember a Messiah was promised?
- Did they remember they were a special and chosen people and the Sabbath was a sign or evidence of how they were not the same as the rest of the people in the world, that they were set apart?
- And did these Jews kill the Lord of the Sabbath?

So, is remembering all of these things about the Sabbath sufficient to be prepared for the last days? Is behavioral rest for work sufficient to observe the Sabbath, to be one of the people whom God makes holy?

What is missing? What did the Jews not remember?

Design law, they didn't remember what the Sabbath really reveals, truth, love and liberty—how God works! After six days of creating, God rested. God did NOT use power to force Satan into line, to inflict punishment for rebellion. God presented truth, in love, building an entire world in which all living organisms operate upon the law of love, and created beings in His own image to govern the planet in love and then God created a day where He rested, where He stepped back, where He stopped using power, where He gave freedom to think to all intelligent beings. And God gave every one of His intelligent beings, including Adam and Eve, the ability to act righteously—they could have chosen loyalty, but instead they chose disloyalty and sin.

And God gave the Sabbath—which reveals what? Truth, love, liberty. How is God able to make people holy?

What does it mean to be sanctified or made holy?

> "May God himself, the God of peace, sanctify you through and through. May your whole spirit, soul and body be kept blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. The one who calls you is faithful and he will do it" (1 Th 5:23–24 NIV84).
>
> But just as he who called you is holy, so be holy in all you do; for it is written: "Be holy, because I am holy." (1 Pe 1:15–16 NIV84).

How does the Sabbath fit into this?

Consider this quote from the book Education regarding becoming holy or sanctified:

> The mind occupied with commonplace matters only, becomes dwarfed and enfeebled. If never tasked to comprehend grand and far-reaching truths, it after a time loses the power of growth. As a safeguard against this degeneracy, and a stimulus to development, nothing else can equal the study of God's word. As a means of intellectual training, the Bible is more effective than any other book, or all other books combined. The greatness of its themes, the dignified simplicity of its utterances, the beauty of its imagery, quicken and uplift the thoughts as nothing else can. No other study can impart such mental power as does the effort to grasp the stupendous truths of revelation. The mind thus brought in contact with the thoughts of the Infinite cannot but expand and strengthen. Ed 124.2
> And even greater is the power of the Bible in the development of the spiritual nature. Man, created for fellowship with God, can only in such fellowship find his real life and development. Created to find in God his highest joy, he can find in nothing else that which can quiet the cravings of the heart, can satisfy the hunger and thirst of the soul. He who with sincere and teachable spirit studies God's word, seeking to comprehend its truths, will be brought in touch with its Author; and, except by his own choice, there is no limit to the possibilities of his development. Ed 124.3

What did you hear? Our true joy, life, fulfillment is found only in relationship with God and the study of God's word brings us into contact with Him. There is no limit to our development along these lines because God is infinite and as we move forward in godly truth more truth is unfolded to us and we grow and develop. This is an eternal journey of discovery and joy.

And the Sabbath was given as a sign or evidence of our Creator God who is the source of truth, love and liberty. Remember the Sabbath, remember the Creator, remember God's methods, Remember truth, love and liberty. Remember that in Jesus you are free. Remember in God you are fulfilled, your purpose is realized, your development is unending. Remember the Sabbath for the God of the Sabbath will heal and restore you if you trust Him

But again, how does this fit in to the final conflict over the longstanding battle regarding God's law that began in heaven before there was a Sabbath? The book the Great Controversy continues:

The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. GC 582

The agencies which will unite against truth and righteousness in this contest are now actively at work. [Do we see agencies in the world that are active and opposed to truth and righteousness?] God's holy word, which has been handed down to us at such a cost of suffering and blood, is but little valued. [Do we see that societies around the world, including the USA have devalued the Bible?] The Bible is within the reach of all, but there are few who really accept it as the guide of life. Infidelity prevails to an alarming extent, not in the world merely, but in the church. Many have come to deny doctrines which are the very pillars of the Christian faith. The great facts of creation as presented by the inspired writers, the fall of man, the atonement, and the perpetuity of the law of God, are practically rejected, either wholly or in part, by a large share of the professedly Christian world. [Do we find this to be true? Have many Christians embraced some aspect of evolution—not adaptation that things change, but the idea that humans evolved from lower life forms? And what does that do to the belief in God? What kind of God would God be if death and destruction are necessary for the creation of humans? And if people remembered the Sabbath and what it represents, would they ever consider evolutionary origins of life?] Thousands who pride themselves upon their wisdom and independence regard it as an evidence of weakness to place implicit confidence in the Bible; they think it a proof of superior talent and learning to cavil at the Scriptures and to spiritualize and explain away their most important truths. [Do we find this happening? And yet the Bible is the supreme source of intellectual development and wisdom. The Bible themes are so deep we will never fully penetrate them, at least not this side of heaven.] Many ministers are teaching their people, and many professors and teachers are instructing their students, that the law of God has been changed or abrogated; [And here it is—the last conflict of the long standing battle is but the final struggle over the law of God which began in heaven. And what did it begin in heaven over? God's law being imposed rules that can be changed rather than design protocols for life. We must return to design law, to the reality that God's laws never change, and how does the Sabbath fit in if it didn't exist before Satan rebelled, wouldn't that be a change, adding the Sabbath? If it were a rule to be obeyed, then yes, adding the Sabbath would be evidence of Satan's allegation that God makes up rules and punishes rule-breakers. But when we realize the Sabbath is a gift that we are free to embrace and use or not then it is not a rule, it is the evidence of God's character, truth, love and freedom. The Sabbath is a sign of God's character, that His law is design law, that only in harmony with Him is their life. That only resting which means trusting Him is their freedom from sin. It is in our rest or trust relationship with Jesus that He heals us. When we come to Him He gives us rest from fear, from guilt, from shame, from the fear of death. And the Sabbath is God's flag built into time, God's evidence like the rainbow in the sky reminds us that God will not destroy the world with a flood, the weekly Sabbath reminds us of God's character of love, His methods, His trustworthiness and if we rest in Him He will make us holy.] and those who regard its requirements as still valid, to be literally obeyed, are thought to be deserving only of ridicule or contempt. GC 582.3 [Why? Because they are viewed as legal requirements from an arbitrary god and thus those who keep such rules are viewed as foolish.]

In rejecting the truth, men reject its Author. In trampling upon the law of God, they deny the authority of the Law-giver. It is as easy to make an idol of false doctrines and theories as to fashion an idol of wood or stone. By misrepresenting the attributes of God, Satan leads men to conceive of Him in a false character. With many, a philosophical idol is enthroned in the place of Jehovah; while the living God, as He is revealed in His word, in Christ, and in the works of creation, is worshiped by but few. [Teaching the Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience and that it is about our performance and if we don't do certain things in certain ways we get a demerit in a book in heaven and God will use power to inflict suffering on us and kill us for breaking the Sabbath is creating a philosophical idol—a false god while keeping the right day.] Thousands deify nature while they deny the God of nature. [Many in the green movement, the save the earth advocates, the climate alarmists are in this camp, earth is our mother and we must save her, but they deny the true God of heaven and fail to realize we are be agents of Christ to save people, not the planet, the planet is going to be recreated by Jesus.] Though in a different form, idolatry exists in the Christian world today as verily as it existed among ancient Israel in the days of Elijah. The God of many professedly wise men, of philosophers, poets, politicians, journalists—the God of polished fashionable circles, of many colleges and universities, even of some theological institutions—is little better than Baal, the sun-god of Phoenicia. GC 583.1 [How? By accepting the lie that God's law works like human law, imposed rules that require infliction of punishment, people then teach that God requires a legal payment of the blood of a sinless human sacrifice to forgive the guilty or assuage His wrath etc. Thus, they teach God is like Baal. This is penal substitution theology and other theologies that require such sacrifice to God or God's law.]

No error accepted by the Christian world strikes more boldly against the authority of Heaven, none is more directly opposed to the dictates of reason, none is more pernicious in its results, than the modern doctrine, so rapidly gaining ground, that God's law is no longer binding upon men… GC 584.1 [What kind of law can be revoked, set aside, or no longer be binding? Imposed law, rules made up like we make. Thus the real lie is that God's law is imposed. No one would suggest that because Jesus died and we are promised a new immortal body when He comes that the laws of health are no longer binding upon humans. But that is what people do when they suggest that God's moral law is not binding. Worse, they corrupt how we see and understand God and God's character. He becomes the source of pain, suffering and death, we are told, under the guise of justice.]

Wherever the divine precepts are rejected, sin ceases to appear sinful or righteousness desirable. Those who refuse to submit to the government of God are wholly unfitted to govern themselves. [What is being described here? This is design law—the law of worship, by beholding we become changed; and the law of exertion, if you want something to be stronger you exercise it. If we refuse to practice the laws upon which God built life we damage ourselves and lose capacity for self-governance. The carnal drives become stronger, wisdom is lost, discernment is lost, fear increases, survival drives take greater control, we see life through the lens of self and we become slaves of our own base instincts.] Through their pernicious teachings the spirit of insubordination is implanted in the hearts of children and youth, who are naturally impatient of control; and a lawless, licentious state of society results. [What are we seeing in society today? An absolute breakdown in social order—and where are we seeing it the most? In the municipalities that identify as liberal or left leaning, where the Bible is mocked, where a belief in God is scorned, where church attendance is ridiculed, family integrity is undermined, where accountability for one's own behavior is not required, and just as this author describes when the Bible and its principles are rejected people lose self-control.] While scoffing at the credulity of those who obey the requirements of God, the multitudes eagerly accept the delusions of Satan. [Because Satan has infected Christianity with the lie that God's law is imposed, he has been able to lead Christians to create all kinds of ridiculous and non-sensical teachings and arbitrary rules and rule-enforcement, which has led people to view God as an arbitrary dictator, which has led others to eventually reject God and the Bible altogether, which has resulted in the state of the godlessness we have in society today. And all kinds of delusional beliefs—like godless evolution, a delusional willingness to trust human governments, or if you read my blog this week on mass delusion you will see how godlessness contributes to the root causes of mass delusion in general and the delusional beliefs around COVID.] They give the rein to lust and practice the sins which have called down judgments upon the heathen. GC 584.3 [And what do we see in society? And what are God's judgment referred to here? Either therapeutic interventions to keep open avenue for Messiah and advancement of the healing remedy (gospel), or letting people go to reap what they have chosen because they are beyond healing. But those who accept Satan's lie about God's law, which began the war in heaven, today will teach the lie that God uses His power to punish the wicked. But listen to what this author says about God's judgments:

"I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

"They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, indepentent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

"It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3]

Those who teach the people to regard lightly the commandments of God sow disobedience to reap disobedience. [What is being described? What law? Design law, sowing and reaping. You cannot sow selfishness and reap love. And what are we seeing in the world today?] Let the restraint imposed by the divine law be wholly cast aside, and human laws would soon be disregarded. [Modern Western society has rejected the Bible, and teaches evolution in our schools, and godlessness has become predominant, the laws of God are not respected and what do we see in society? Are human laws being obeyed now or do mobs destroy other's properties, wholesale thefts, increasing murder and what about elected officials—are our officials obeying the laws on immigration, protecting our constitutional liberties etc.? Notice, those in leadership around the world who are the most godless, meaning they don't actually value the principles of the Bible, are the ones most willing to violate human rights, disobey the laws of their own land, and take away freedom. Many people are so blinded by rhetoric, they can't see past what is said to what is actually being done. But the mature have developed the ability to discern, to see past the words to the actions and accomplishments.] Because God forbids dishonest practices, coveting, lying, and defrauding, men are ready to trample upon His statutes as a hindrance to their worldly prosperity; but the results of banishing these precepts would be such as they do not anticipate. If the law were not binding, why should any fear to transgress? Property would no longer be safe. Men would obtain their neighbor's possessions by violence, and the strongest would become richest. [What are we seeing in the cities where police are defunded, where elected officials refuse to enforce the laws? This prediction is being proved true in our lives today!] Life itself would not be respected. [Do we see in these same cities horrible increases in murder? Yes!] The marriage vow would no longer stand as a sacred bulwark to protect the family… [Have we seen the breakdown of the family? And where is marriage less valued, in those who continue to value the Bible or in those who have rejected it?] The fifth commandment would be set aside with the fourth. Children would not shrink from taking the life of their parents if by so doing they could obtain the desire of their corrupt hearts. The civilized world would become a horde of robbers and assassins; and peace, rest, and happiness would be banished from the earth… GC 585.1 [What happens when we reject God? Do sinners have the ability to be moral, righteous, upright in their own strength separated from the power of God in their lives? No! It is unavoidable as God is rejected that sin increases and society decays.]

Courts of justice are corrupt. Rulers are actuated by desire for gain and love of sensual pleasure. [Have we seen this in societies around the world? Have we seen decisions made that hurt the people in order to empower the few?] Intemperance has beclouded the faculties of many so that Satan has almost complete control of them. Jurists are perverted, bribed, deluded. Drunkenness and revelry, passion, envy, dishonesty of every sort, are represented among those who administer the laws. "Justice standeth afar off: for truth is fallen in the street, and equity cannot enter." Isaiah 59:14. GC 586.1

The iniquity and spiritual darkness that prevailed under the supremacy of Rome were the inevitable result of her suppression of the Scriptures; but where is to be found the cause of the widespread infidelity, the rejection of the law of God, and the consequent corruption, under the full blaze of gospel light in an age of religious freedom? Now that Satan can no longer keep the world under his control by withholding the Scriptures, he resorts to other means to accomplish the same object To destroy faith in the Bible serves his purpose as well as to destroy the. Bible itself. By introducing the belief that God's law is not binding, he as effectually leads > men to transgress as if they were wholly ignorant of its precepts… GC 587 [How does he do this? By the lie that God's law is like human law and thus can be set aside.]

How does the Sabbath fit in?

It is a weekly evidence, sign, landmark built right into time of God's kingdom, God's creatorship, but also God's character and the promise of life, health and freedom we have with Him!

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph, "When God delivered…" What is your understanding of these historic events? What was God's purpose in the promise to Abraham? Was it God's purpose that Abraham's genetic descendants would live in Palestine—was this the vision, the goal? Let me restate it this way, Was God's goal, vision, plan and purpose for Abraham's descendants to live perpetually in sin in Palestine?

Or was God's purpose for Abraham, Isaac and Jacob's descendants to occupy that land for the purpose of being the avenue for the Messiah who would deliver humanity from sin and then God would give the real inheritance—the entire recreated earth to the saved—the meek shall inherit the earth?

Who are considered children of Abraham and heirs according to the promise?

> "If you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise" (Galatians 3:29 NIV84).

Israel occupying Canaan was a type of the righteous occupying the new earth. The promise to Abraham was a type and the antitype is when the meek inherit the earth—this is the true fulfillment of the promise. Any ideas that suggest that the promise to Abraham is for genetic descendants of Abraham to occupy Palestine today is a misreading of Scripture and diverts attention away from Jesus and the true gospel message.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on Hebrews 3:12-19, which itself is a reflection on the rebellion at Kadesh barnea and the lack of faith to enter Canaan. And since they didn't enter Canaan, they didn't rest from their wandering in the desert.

What is the object lesson for us? We are still wandering the wilderness or desert of this world and have not entered the heavenly Canaan because the church and world haven't accepted 3 Angels Message about returning to worship the Creator whose laws are design laws, and instead we keep teaching of an imperial dictator who must punish rule-breakers.

Let's read these verses from The Remedy:

> See to it, brothers and sisters, that none of you cling to lies about God and retain a selfish, distrusting mind that turns you away from the living God.[13] But daily build each other up in the truth, as long as there is still time, so that none of you may be blinded, confused, and hardened by the lies about God.[14] We have become partakers of Christ's character if we hold firmly till the end to the confidence we initially had in the truth about God, revealed by Christ.[15] As has just been said: "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds as you did in the rebellion." [16] Who were they who heard the message of healing truth but instead rebelled and preferred lies? Were they not all those whom Moses led out of Egypt?[17] And with what was God angry for forty years? Was it not with having to watch his children persistently reject his healing ways and slowly die and fall in the desert?[18] And whom did God tell that they could never get well and find rest as long as they rebelled against the only Remedy if not those who died in the desert?[19] So we see that they were not able to get well and enter into God's rest because they didn't trust him or accept the truth he revealed. (Hebrews 3:12-19 REM).

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph, "The unbelief…" What is this rest we are offered today? Is it by observing the 7th day Sabbath? Did the Jews in the desert, who did NOT enter God's rest, have the wrong Sabbath day?

So it must be more than the day we go to church upon—what else is it?

Read Hebrews 4:1-11from The Remedy:

> Therefore, since the Remedy is still available, and the promise of complete healing and perfect rest still stands, let us be careful that none of us be found to have rejected it.[2] For we also have had the good news of God's healing truth presented to us just as they did; but the message of truth had no value to them because they did not believe it nor did they trust the one who gave it.[3] But we, who have trusted God on the basis of the truth Christ provided, experience healing and enter that rest, and our minds are at peace. As God has said, "So I granted them their persistent choice and said, 'Since they refuse the truth–the Remedy I freely offer–they will never be able to enter my rest and get well.'" It was not because God's perfect rest was not available–for it had been ready since his work of creation was complete — [4] as the Scriptures say elsewhere regarding the seventh day: "And on the seventh day, God rested his case. He had finished all his work of providing the evidence needed to refute the lies of Satan."[5] And yet in another passage he says, "If they refuse the truth, if they reject the evidence I have provided, their minds will never find rest and they will not get well."
> [6] The opportunity to find God's healing and rest still remains, even though those who formerly had the good news of God's healing truth presented to them did not get well or find rest

because they refused to believe the truth and trust God.[7] Therefore God again and again presents his healing Remedy, and he set a certain day which he called "today," when much later he spoke through David in the same Scripture as before: "Today, if you hear his voice offering healing and restoration, do not reject the true Remedy and darken your minds."
[8] For if Joshua had already given them healing of character and rest for their minds, God would not have spoken later about another day of rest still to come.[9] There remains then a Sabbath-rest–a rest in the evidence and truth of the character of God–which heals and transforms the people of God;[10]for anyone who rests in the achievements of Christ rests from working to save themself, just as God rested from his work.[11] Let us therefore make every effort to rest in the truth about God as revealed by Christ, so that no one will fall by following the example of distrust and refusal to accept the truth. (Hebrews 4:1-11 REM).

WEDNESDAY

Entering into His Rest –what does this mean?

How do we enter into God's rest?

From what are we to rest?

Are we resting from physical labor or something else?

Are we resting only one day in seven if we enter into the rest Jesus offers?

How does the Sabbath day relate to the resting in Christ from sin? Don't we rest all week long when we are in Christ?

THURSDAY

The lesson states the Sabbath has always pointed forwarded to Redemption and a new earth… Read the third paragraph, "This has always been…" What does the Sabbath show us about the world to come?

God's character and methods—truth, presented in love, leaving us free—we have freedom, real freedom in Christ, in God's kingdom. We are liberated and totally free!

> Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, because through Christ Jesus the law of the Spirit of life set me free from the law of sin and death. (Ro 8:1–2 NIV84).

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 6 Jesus—The Faithful Priest

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, "The gulf that was caused…" Let's clarify this—there are two gulfs—one caused by sin and one innate in our beings as created beings.

The one innate in our beings is the gulf that all finite beings have with our infinite God; it is one if inability to enter into and process infinity. There is a gulf between our infinite God and sinless beings in:

- power and energy—God is all powerful and all energy originates with Him
- knowledge—God is all knowing
- ability—to create from nothing, to recreate, to heal from sin, to raise from the dead
- Time—God lives outside of time and is able to be in all points in time and knows the future—we live in linear existence
- capacity—to process infinite power and knowledge and also not be corrupted by it
- presence—to be in all points and places
- responsibility—to sustain and hold all things together

This gulf of our being finite and God being infinite cannot be bridged, we can never become infinite God. God can interact with us on our level, but we can never enter His level.

But there is another gulf, one caused by sin—and that gulf can be bridged. Jesus bridged that gulf and offers to bring us across that bridge back into unity with God. How would you describe the gulf that sin has caused in our relationship with God?

- trust—we don't trust God and we are, in our unhealed sinful state, untrustworthy to be placed in the position for which God created us. But that gulf can be bridged. We can be won to trust in God and we can be recreated by God to be trustworthy, capable of fulfilling God's calling for our lives and our species.
- love—in our unhealed sinful state, we don't love God and others as God designed for us to, thus our intimacy, our unity, our bonds of brotherhood are fractured by fear and selfishness. But this also can be bridged by coming into a trust relationship with Christ such that we die to fear and selfishness and experience the indwelling Holy Spirit reproducing Christ's motives and desires within us so that we choose God's methods in how we treat others and experience the development of characters that love God supremely and others more than self
- wisdom and understanding—we in our sinfulness value the methods of fear and selfishness, which is foolish; and there is a gulf, not merely of factual knowledge, but of functional knowledge, of wisdom on how things actually work in God's universe. The gulf of functional knowledge (not factual knowledge because we will never know all facts of reality) can be

> bridged, we can become wise in the things of God, in love, in practicing liberty, in openness to learn and follow truth, capable of discerning right from wrong.

Another point to explore in this sentence, sin causes the gulf, the breach, not God—so where does sin exist or occur? In God? In record books? Or in intelligent beings? So if sin occurs in the hearts and minds of intelligent beings, and it is that sin in them that creates the gulf with God, then where will the activity need to take place in order to bridge the gulf? Won't God's activity to redeem from sin have to take place inside the hearts, minds, characters of the sinners?

The entire plan of salvation has its effect, its outworking, its impact not upon God, not upon God's law, not in some heavenly courtroom, but upon the hearts and minds of intelligent beings—that is why in the new covenant God writes His law in our hearts and minds (Heb 8:10). There is nothing penal legal going on, it is actual transformation, restoration, healing, recreation, purifying of the sinner.

So, with that idea in mind—where does the blood payment need to be made? Where is the blood of Christ being applied? Where is our heavenly High Priest doing His work?

> Jesus said to them, "I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me, and I in him. Just as the living Father sent me and I live because of the Father, so the one who feeds on me will live because of me." (Jn 6:53–57 NIV84).

Where did Jesus say His flesh and blood need to be administered?

What of the idea that the lesson suggests that because God is holy sin cannot exist in His presence?

Where did sin begin? With whom? In whose presence? So as a fact of Biblical history this claim is false. Sin can exist in God's presence, when God acts to prevent the full result of sin from being realized in the sinner—which is an act of grace.

If God was not gracious and merciful, Satan would have reaped what sin does, severs the connection with God who is the source of life, and would have died. However, if God would have allowed this to happen, sinless beings would have misperceived and concluded Satan was correct, that God used His power to execute, to kill, that death comes from God as punishment for sin, and love and trust in God would have been severed and the rebellion and sin would have spread.

The only way to prevent the spread of rebellion, distrust and sin was to intervene with grace and prevent the immediate results and allow Satan and his sympathizers to continue to exist until the full results of their rebellion became clear and the plan of salvation was carried out.

Read first paragraph, "The basic purpose…" Why? Why was there a priesthood to mediate between God and man?

Because of sin—okay, because of sin—but who are the priests, aren't they also sinners? So, why a priesthood of sinners to mediate between God and other sinners?

Let me ask it another way—who was mediating between God and man before Sinai, before the Levitical priesthood?

So, was it God's design, intent, purpose for there to be a differentiation between priests and laity?

Consider Exodus 19 before the Levitical law was given, "Although the whole earth is mine, you will be for me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation" (Exodus 19:5-6 NIV 84).

And Peter quotes this about believers that we are to be a royal priesthood a holy nation—so, again, why did God initiate a priesthood different than the priesthood of all believers?

The Levitical priesthood was theater—Israel at Sinai entered into a theatrical play, with a stage, props, costumes and script—and the various people played different roles.

The non-Levites played the role of the unconverted people of the world with 3 tribes camped on each of the sides of the sanctuary, illustrating people at all the corners of the world who needed to be reached by those carrying the message of salvation, which is illustrated by the Levites.

But why did God set up the theater to act these things out? Because the people were so difficult to teach, so childlike, so steeped in pagan customs and beliefs, so hard-hearted, that God stooped to their level and took them to the sandbox and give them childlike illustrations and activities to teach them. But everything in the ceremonial system was only theater, illustration, object lesson—none of it was required for salvation and none of it saved from sin. Its only purpose was to teach and thereby protect from the damage that comes from living out of harmony with God and His design laws for life.

Right after God gave the 10 Commandments, we read the following in Exodus 20:

> When the people saw the thunder and lightning and heard the trumpet and saw the mountain in smoke, they trembled with fear. They stayed at a distance and said to Moses, "Speak to us yourself and we will listen. But do not have God speak to us or we will die" (Ex 20:18–19 NIV84).

God created Adam and Eve for face-to-face communication with Him. After sin, God continued to talk to people directly, even sinners, God spoke directly with Cain after Cain killed Abel.

Later God talked to Noah and to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and others, including face-to-face with Moses. God always wants to have personal, direct, communication and interaction with people. But what is God to do when the people don't want to talk to Him?

So, because of the hardness of their hearts, their fear, their unwillingness to be open to having direct interaction with God, God met them where they were and set up the theater and gave them a priesthood to act out the role and teach what He wants from all humans, for all of us to be a priesthood of believers.

The book Patriarchs and Prophets expresses it like this:

> If man had kept the law of God, as given to Adam after his fall, preserved by Noah, and observed by Abraham, there would have been no necessity for the ordinance of circumcision. And if the descendants of Abraham had kept the covenant, of which circumcision was a sign, they would never have been seduced into idolatry, nor would it have been necessary for them to suffer a life of bondage in Egypt; they would have kept God's law in mind, and there would have been no necessity for it to be proclaimed from Sinai or engraved upon the tables of stone. And had the people practiced the principles of the Ten Commandments, there would have been no need of the additional directions given to Moses. PP 364.2

So the daily priests and the entire Levitical system was added to teach, but it never had any power to save, it only pointed to Jesus and God's plan of salvation to be carried out through Christ.

Read third paragraph, "There are some important…" What do you think about this paragraph? What does it mean to offer sacrifice for our sins?

In order to understand the solution to the problem, one needs to understand the problem.

Can we agree that Jesus, and what He accomplished as a human, is God's solution to the sin problem?

Then what is the sin problem? Is it a legal problem or is it a problem of being out of harmony with God and life itself—out of harmony with God's law—the basis of life?

This goes back to how we understand law and God's character and government.

If we have the human concept of law then when we read that sin is transgression of the law, we misread it to say that sin is rule-breaking that results in legal trouble requiring the legal authority to inflict punishment. The solution then becomes a legal adjustment through one means or another, and there are many such legal fictions taught in the religions of the world, including in Christianity.

But, when we return to worshipping the Creator, whose laws are the protocols life is built upon, we understand that sin is being out of harmony with the law upon which life is built and that law is an expression of God's character, it is the law of love. We understand that we are dead in trespass and sin—meaning we have a terminal condition and that no human with the condition can cure the condition. Thus Jesus came to be our remedy, to take the terminal condition upon Himself and eradicate the sin infection and restore God's law of life back into the species human.

Read fourth paragraph, "Hebrews says that Jesus prayed…" We agree that Jesus came to save humans from the second death—but how?

What is the cause of death? From where does death come?

Did Christ die the second death? Can anyone provide an inspired reference that states this? You can't, it doesn't exist, why? Because the idea of Christ dying the second death comes from the penal/legal lie—and it would serve Satan's purposes if Christ did die the second death. For the second death is the death from which there is no resurrection and Satan would love for Christ to still be dead.

The reason some teach Christ died the second death is because they have the penal view; they understand that the wicked die the second death as the penalty for sin, and therefore, in their model someone has to pay that second death penalty. If we say Christ didn't die the second death, then in their model their legal sin-penalty hasn't been paid and they would be required to still die for their sin. This causes them to experience terrible fear and anxiety and thus they cling to their false doctrine of Christ dying the second death so they can claim their penalty has been paid and hide from their fear.

But the root to their difficult is the same root to their entire penal legal model of salvation, namely they have the wrong concept of law. They believe God's law functions like human law and that the penalty for sin is an inflicted legal penalty by God. They all teach Satan's lie that opened the controversy in heaven, that every sin must meet its punishment (DA761).

When we return to design law, we realize that the wages of sin is death (Rom 6:23), sin when full grown brings forth death (James 1:15), that the sinner needs to be delivered from sin, that the sin condition needs to be eradicated, that sinners need curing, healing, transforming, not punishing.

So, how could this occur? Someone had to eradicate the infection of fear and selfishness, the sin-condition, the carnal nature, the death-causing condition, while simultaneously restoring God's law of life into humanity and developing a sinless human nature, recreating the life-causing condition. This is what Jesus came to do.

Through Mary, Jesus partook of the terminal condition, our human nature corrupted and infected with carnal drives that tempt us, but through the Holy Spirit He had a humanity that had no affinity for the temptations, did not resonate with them, didn't like or desire the temptation. He was tempted in every way like us but without sin (Heb 4:15). In the humanity of Jesus He could experience temptation just like us—and we are tempted by our own evil desires (James 1:14). Jesus felt the pull of human emotional fear with its desire to save self when in Gethsemane and through crucifixion weekend His human emotions tempted Him. And the severity of His temptation was beyond anything we can imagine.

But Jesus chose to exercise His human abilities to say no to every temptation and to trust God and love others more than self and thus at the cross Jesus destroyed the infection, the carnal drives, the fear and selfishness that tempted Him and perfected a sinless, mature, righteous human character, restoring God's law of love, the law of life, into the humanity that He partook.

> The law requires righteousness,—a righteous life, a perfect character; and this man has not to give. He cannot meet the claims of God's holy law. But Christ, coming to the earth as man, lived a holy life, and developed a perfect character. These He offers as a free gift to all who will receive them. His life stands for the life of men. Thus they have remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God. More than this, Christ imbues men with the attributes of God. He builds up the human character after the similitude of the divine character, a goodly fabric of spiritual strength and beauty. Thus the very righteousness of the law is fulfilled in the believer in Christ. God can "be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:26. DA 762.2

So, back to the question of the second death—one could say that the carnal nature was killed at the cross by Christ, but Christ Himself did not die eternally, He conquered death and rose again in a perfected and sinless humanity.

Christ did not die the first death and Christ did not die the second death. Just as Christ's humanity was unique, His life was unique, so too His death was unique. Jesus' death was the means of eradicating sin from the species human, destroying the death causing infection of fear and selfishness, and establishing a new sinless humanity. There is nothing penal legal going on.

It is Satan's fondest dream for Jesus to die eternally, for Him die the second death and Christians who teach Jesus died the second death are teaching the fantasy of God's enemy.

But further evidence that refutes the idea that Jesus died the second death:

The Bible uses the term "second death" only in the book of Revelation in 2:11, 20:6, 20:14 and 21:8. The first two times the term is used the Bible tells us that the second death has no power over the righteous—was Jesus righteous? The second death has no power over Him! And the victorious in Christ, those who arise in the first resurrection, the second death has no power over them.

The last two texts the Bible gives us some description of what the second death actually is:

- Rev 20:14 "The lake of fire is the second death"
- Rev 21:8 "their place will be in the fiery lake of burning sulfur. This is the second death."

According to Revelation the second death occurs in the lake of fire or that dying in the lake of fire is the second death. Did Christ die in the lake of fire? When Jesus died is there any inspired evidence that Jesus died with fire reigning down upon Him? Or does the inspired record reveal just the opposite that darkness covered Him and He pled, "my God, my God why have you forsaken me" (Matt 27:45, 46)?

And what do we understand the lake of fire is? It is the fire of God's life-giving glory that the righteous live in and which consumes sin. It is the fires of infinite truth and love emanating from God. Rivers of fire flow out from God and billions of righteous stand in this fire (Daniel 7:9-10; Isaiah 33:14-15).

So what would have happened to Jesus if He were exposed to God's life giving glory? He would not have died because there was no sin in Jesus. The only way for Jesus to complete His mission and:

1. die to overcome the carnal drives of fear and selfishness,
2. to restore God's law of love, the law of life into humanity
3. to reveal the truth about God's character love that God is safe with all power and would rather let His creatures kill Him than use His power to stop it
4. to expose Satan and his sympathizers and murderers and the source of death, and
5. what God actually does to the sinner, was for the Father, the source of life, to let go, to abandon Him.

Thus the Father letting Him go was not an act of punishment upon Jesus, it was the cooperative choice of the Father and Son to complete the mission of destroying the sin infection and saving humanity. But the wicked in the end die when exposed to God's life-giving glory because they are solidified in sin, in fear and selfishness. The death of Christ on the cross and the wicked in the end are not the same experience.

Some Bible commentators add further clarification between the first and second death noting that the first death is the death from which a resurrection occurs but the second death is the death from which there is no resurrection. There is sound Biblical evidence for this conclusion (1Cor 15:12-21, 42-49, 1Thes 4:16, Rev 2:11, 20:5,6,14, 21:8).

Did Christ die a death from which there was no resurrection or did Christ rise again? "If Christ has not been raised, our preaching is useless and so is your faith" (1Cor 15:13). On two counts the Biblical evidence suggests Christ did not die the second death. Is there more evidence?

While the Bible doesn't use "second death" language in any other place, Jesus actually described the two deaths (first and second) in Matthew 10:28 when He said:

> "Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. Rather, be afraid of the One who can destroy both soul and body in hell" (Matthew 10:28).

Christ makes a distinction between two types of death. The first in which only the body is destroyed and the second in which the body and soul is destroyed. Amazingly, the word translated "soul" is the Greek word "psyche" which means "mind, identity, individuality."

So, when Jesus died on the cross, did He have His mind, identity, individuality destroyed or did He rise again as the "same Jesus" (Acts 1:11) who died?

If we use the Bible as our guide we have three demarcating features of the second death:

- lake of fire
- death without resurrection
- death which destroys both body and soul (psyche, individuality, mind)

When Jesus died were any of these identifiers met? No! The Bible seems to be making a strong case that Jesus did not "die" the second death. If He didn't die the second death then what was the significance of His death?

Jesus death was the means of actually destroying death! 2 Timothy1:10 states, Christ "destroyed death and brought life and immortality to life."

Death results where selfishness rules and death is destroyed where love reigns supreme! Christ died when love overcame selfishness, when He gave His life freely, when He chose to lay down His life voluntarily. In Christ the law of love, the law of life, was fully lived out when Christ refused to use His power to save self, but rather gave His life freely in love. In Christ, giving destroyed taking, love destroyed selfishness, life destroyed death! And thus Christ's resurrection was the inevitable, predictable, reality-based outcome of restoring the law of life perfectly into the humanity that He possessed.

The differences between Christ's death and that of those who die the second death are stark:

- Christ died trusting the Father – Luke 23:46
  The wicked die distrusting the Father – Revelation 6:16

- Christ died longing to see the Father – Mark 15:34
  The wicked die hiding from the Father – Revelation 6:16

- Christ died when the Father's presence was hidden – Mark 15:34
  The wicked die when the Father is fully revealed – 2 Thes 2:8

- Christ died less than 72 hours – Luke 24:1-8
  The wicked die eternally – Malachi 4:1-3, Romans 6:23, James 1:15, 2Pet 3:10-12

- Christ died when love overcame selfishness – John 3:16, 10:17,18, 1John 3:16
  The wicked die overcome by selfishness – Revelation 21:8

Do you see the amazing difference it makes to return to design law? Do you see how accepting Satan's lie about God's law, that it is imposed and justice requires inflicted punishment, takes away so much of what Christ actually accomplished at the cross, and worse, it makes God out to be the source of pain, suffering and death.

MONDAY

What is the significance of Jesus being a priest in the order of Melchizedek?

Who was Melchizedek?

Was he a descendant of Abraham? No! What does that tell us about the plan of salvation and the descendants of Abraham? Did one have to be a descendant of Abraham or participate in the Jewish sanctuary services in the OT in order to be saved?

No—that entire system was theater, just to teach the larger reality. And what is the larger reality? Healing of hearts and minds, removing of fear and selfishness and restoring God's law into the living being so that we are at-one with God again.

What is the point Paul is teaching about Christ by pointing to Melchizedek?

> If perfection could have been attained through the Levitical priesthood (for on the basis of it the law was given to the people), why was there still need for another priest to come—one in the order of Melchizedek, not in the order of Aaron? For when there is a change of the priesthood, there must also be a change of the law. Heb 7:11-12

What type of law is the Levitical system based upon? Since it is theater, it is a system of rules, artificially imposed and enforced. Character didn't matter for one to become a priest or even a high priest, look at all the corrupt priests in the OT. What mattered was genetic descent. The theater couldn't heal from sin, it could only serve as an object lesson, a type of the greater reality and that greater reality is how God's living law of love works. So the change of the law means a change from imposed rule-keeping to living God's law in reality, the law of life.

When the priesthood changed from Levitical to Melchizedek, the followers were to leave behind imposed law as a means of salvation, but instead Christianity became infected with the idea of imposed law as a means of salvation and has taught various forms of legal/penal salvation. We are to present the message of the 3 angels and call people back to worship the Creator whose laws are design laws. This results in healing of hearts and minds.

> The blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer sprinkled on those who are ceremonially unclean sanctify them so that they are outwardly clean. How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from acts that lead to death, so that we may serve the living God! (Hebrews 9:13-14 NIV84).

What does this mean cleanse our consciences? Is having our consciences cleansed a legal adjustment in books, or a healing of the inner being, removing fear, selfishness, guilt and shame, and restoring in us love and trust?

This is the reality—this is what Christ achieved a real remedy that heals and restores sinners back into godliness, righteousness, holiness.

TUESDAY

Read second paragraph, "Priests are mediators…" What does this mean mediating between God and man? What is mediation?

In the sin problem, where is the problem occurring—where is sin? When Adam sinned did God or God's law change? Did the condition of humanity change? And did that change cause a breach, a breakdown, a gulf in the relationship between God and man? Is that injury, damage, fracture, obstacle in God or God's law or is it in the heart/mind/character of the sinner?

Then, where is the activity going to have to take place in order for at-one-ment, reconciliation to occur? In sinners, then where is mediation going to have to happen? In sinners—those alienated need to be brought back to God.

Thus, Jesus our High Priest mediates the love, truth, righteousness, mercy, saving grace of God to us to heal and restore us back into righteousness. And we mediate the gospel, we take the good news about God to others in order to bring them to Jesus so they can experience in their lives the same healing.

> But thanks be to God, who always leads us in triumphal procession in Christ and through us spreads everywhere the fragrance of the knowledge of him. For we are to God the aroma of Christ among those who are being saved and those who are perishing. To the one we are the smell of death; to the other, the fragrance of life (2Corinthians 2:14-16 NIV84).

What is this metaphor referencing? The incense that burned in the sanctuary and wafted out over the 12 tribes drawing people to the sanctuary. We are to be so fragrant with God's grace, love, kindness, mercy, forgiveness, gentleness, goodness, that in this world people see us and are drawn to Jesus.

Read third paragraph, "Nor could the animal…" "Which alone could provide true cleansing from sin…" from where? Does this true cleansing from sin mean cleansing record books or cleansing hearts/minds/characters?

And is this related in any way to the cleansing of the sanctuary before Jesus comes? How? What is the connection?

Read last paragraph, "Jesus' coming…" what are the sacrifices we are to offer now that the Levitical system has been done away with?

- Therefore, I urge you, brothers, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God—this is your spiritual act of worship (Romans 12:1 NIV84).

What does it mean to offer our bodies as living sacrifices? Does it mean we seek to honor God with:

- what we eat and drink?
- with whom we have sex?
- how we use our hands and feet—the quality of work, whether we engage in violence against others?
- what we watch and listen to?
- what we allow injected into our bodies?

If salvation is renewal of heart, if this mortal old body that is aging and decaying is going to be replaced with a new immortal body, then what difference does it make how we use our bodies now?

We are integrated beings—body, soul, spirit—and damaging any part of us interferes with the health and wellbeing of the entire person.

If we are sleep deprived we are more prone to irritability, if we are intoxicated our judgment is impaired, if we are in pain our patience is reduced, if we are sick our capacity for helping others is diminished etc.

The purpose of maintaining our bodies in the best condition is to reduce our own burdens, temptations, give us the greatest resilience, and keep us in the best condition for the greatest usefulness in God's cause possible.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph, "Jesus received…" I like how this is described, it describes salvation as reaching the inmost parts of the being—that is exactly correct. Salvation is healing, recreation, restoration to God's original design for human beings in Eden. This happens only inside the heart/mind/character of people, not in record books.

The record books are like medical records, recording what actually is happening in the person. If we want our records to be cleansed, then we must submit to Christ to have our hearts and minds cleansed from sin.

But what do you think of the idea of Jesus' intercession "before the Father"?

There is nothing wrong with this if we understanding it as before and not to the Father. In other words, all of Jesus' actions in the plan of salvation are happening under the purview or before the Father. Jesus is, in fact, carrying out the Father's will, the Father's purpose, the Father's desire for our salvation and the Father is keenly interested and observing, watching, invested, active in the plan.

> "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him" (Jn 3:16–17 NIV84).
>
> "Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has gone, the new has come! All this is from God, who reconciled us to himself through Christ and gave us the ministry of reconciliation: that God was reconciling the world to himself in Christ, not counting men's sins against them. And he has committed to us the message of reconciliation. We are therefore Christ's ambassadors, as though God were making his appeal through us. We implore you on Christ's behalf: Be reconciled to God. God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God" (2 Co 5:17–21 NIV84).
> If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all—how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. Who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us. Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? As it is written: "For your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered." No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 8:31-39).

So, who is for us? God and Jesus is God's agent to carry out God's purpose in bringing us the knowledge of God, winning us to trust and eradicating sinfulness from us thereby conforming us to His likeness. And all of this happens before or under the will, direction and purview of the Father.

But in THURSDAY's lesson, second paragraph, "Jesus' perfect obedience during His earthly life made it possible for Him to offer Himself as an acceptable sacrifice to God (Heb 9:14)"?

Let's read Hebrews 9:14: "How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from acts that lead to death, so that we may serve the living God!" (NIV84).

What does this mean?

If God so loved the world that He sent His only Son,
If God is for us,

If the fullness of the godhead dwelt in Jesus bodily,
If the sin problem exists in human beings and not in God and God wants to save sinners, then what would God want from Jesus' life, death, and resurrection? A remedy that effectively cures the sin condition.

So, Jesus leaves God's presence, comes to earth, partakes of humanity, overcomes as a human, defeats Satan, destroys death, restores God's design law into the humanity He partook and returns to God and presents Himself to God as the means whereby God can now save the rest of us by apply His victory in us through the work of the Holy Spirit. Jesus is saying, "Here Father, I have finished the work you have given me to do. Now take what I have accomplished by making you known and restoring your character and law into the species human and use my victory to heal our children."

Any evidence to support this understanding?

> The Holy Spirit was the highest of all gifts that He could solicit from His Father for the exaltation of His people. The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power. It is the Spirit that makes effectual what has been wrought out by the world's Redeemer. It is by the Spirit that the heart is made pure. Through the Spirit the believer becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Christ has given His Spirit as a divine power to overcome all hereditary and cultivated tendencies to evil, and to impress His own character upon His church. DA 671.2
>
> The atonement of Christ is not a mere skillful way to have our sins pardoned; it is a divine remedy for the cure of transgression and the restoration of spiritual health. It is the Heaven-ordained means by which the righteousness of Christ may be not only upon us but in our hearts and characters (Letter 406, 1906). {6BC 1074.2}

2022 1Q In These Last Days: The Message of Hebrews
Lesson 7: Jesus—The Anchor of the Soul

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

Read first paragraph, "Hebrews 5:11…" The lesson sees these verses as an interruption to the discussion of Jesus being our High Priest of a new covenant in the order of Melchizedek—are these verses and interruption?

They see this as an interruption to a theological treatise to digress on the dangers of falling away from Christ because they see salvation and the ministry of Jesus as our High Priest as a legal problem happening somewhere off in the universe separate from what is actually happening in sinners.
