What do you think God would have said to such a request for a throne and throne room made out of inanimate material? What do you think the God who speaks worlds into existence would have said? Do you think God would have said anything other than, "Lucifer, my dear son, of course you can have this chair and room if you derive joy from it. No worries, I can speak millions more into existence if I have need of another."

Did Lucifer really want to sit on a chair in a room all alone, or did Lucifer seek a different throne? What throne? He wanted to be enthroned in the Spirit temple, in the hearts and minds of intelligent beings as the one most loved, adored, trusted, valued, the one who could wield his power over others, by governing their hearts and minds!

Lucifer, seeking to enthrone himself in the hearts and minds of intelligent beings sought to dethrone God as trustworthy through his claims of equality with Christ and allegations that God the Father is unfair, arbitrary, and the maker of laws and enforcer of those laws.

And that is what Paul describes in 2 Thessalonians:

- He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God (2 Thessalonians 2:4 NIV84)

MONDAY

Read second paragraph,

- When war broke out in heaven, the angels had to decide—would they follow Jesus or Lucifer? What was the nature of this war in heaven? Was it a physical war, or a war of ideas, or both? We don't know the details, but the conflict was physical enough that Satan and his angels eventually were "cast out," and a place was not "found for them in heaven any longer" (Rev. 12:8, 9, NKJV). This war obviously includes some kind of physical element. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 8).

What do you think of the idea that the heavenly conflict was physical in some way? What of this historical quotation?

- God could have destroyed Satan and his sympathizers as easily as one can cast a pebble to the earth; but He did not do this. Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power. (The Desire of Ages p. 759).

Hmmm…was the war a physical war? To suggest there was some aspect of the war that was physical seems misleading. If it was a war of might and power it would have been over in an instant—but what would have happened in the hearts and minds of the loyal angels if God had used might and power to destroy Lucifer? Fear and distrust and thus rebellion and sin spread.

So, no, might and power and physical conflict were not part of this war. Then how do we understand Satan and his sympathizers being cast out of heaven?

When was Satan cast out, does Revelation 12:8,9, which was cited by the lesson, say when Satan was cast out? No, but does Scripture elsewhere suggest when Satan was cast out of heaven?

- Jesus answered and said, "This voice did not come because of Me, but for your sake. Now is the judgment of this world; now the ruler of this world will be cast out. And I, if I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all peoples to Myself." (John 12:30-32 NKJV, emphasis mine).

According to Jesus when was Satan cast out and restricted to the earth? At the crucifixion, why? Because the truth had destroyed his lies and no angel in heaven would listen to him anymore, not because some physical force was being used.

In fact, don't we have evidence from the book of Job that Satan was still entering and leaving heaven prior to the cross?

Consider this historical quote from The Desire of Ages two pages from the previous quote:

- Satan saw that his disguise was torn away. His administration was laid open before the unfallen angels and before the heavenly universe. He had revealed himself as a murderer. By shedding the blood of the Son of God, he had uprooted himself from the sympathies of the heavenly beings. Henceforth his work was restricted. Whatever attitude he might assume, he could no longer await the angels as they came from the heavenly courts, and before them accuse Christ's brethren of being clothed with the garments of blackness and the defilement of sin. The last link of sympathy between Satan and the heavenly world was broken. (The Desire of Ages 761).

In the Great Controversy there is no employment of physical might and force on God's part to win the war, because what God wants is our love, trust, loyalty, friendship and that can only be won by God's methods of truth, love, and freedom, any use of might, power, and force destroys all that God wants.

TUESDAY

Planet Earth becomes Involved

How did Earth get dragged into the war which began in heaven?

What came first, Lucifer's rebellion, or God creating Earth and mankind?

Evidences:

- Satan was in Eden from the beginning to tempt, suggesting that he was already in rebellion.
- Job 38:4-7: "Where were you when I laid the earth's foundation? Tell me, if you understand. Who marked off its dimensions? Surely you know! Who stretched a measuring line across it? On what were its footings set, or who laid its cornerstone—while the morning stars sang together and all the angels shouted for joy? (Job 38:4–7 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Then there is this historical quote showing that the Adventist reformers saw it this way, from EG White:

- Angels on probation had been deceived by Satan, and had been led on by him in the great rebellion in heaven against Christ. They failed to endure the test brought to bear upon them, and they fell. Adam was then created in the image of God and placed upon probation. He had a perfectly developed organism. All his faculties were harmonious. In all his emotions, words, and actions, there was a perfect conformity to the will of his Maker. (Confrontation p. 18, emphasis mine).

So Satan rebels, why bring Earth into it?

My understanding is God wins with evidence, not declarations and claims, nor by forcing His way through punishment. Lucifer, as a created being, alleged equality with Jesus who was manifesting in the form of an angel, but Jesus is fully God. He used this allegation to accuse God of arbitrariness and restrictions on liberty, i.e., God won't let me go into counsels that Michael goes into.

So, how can God expose Satan's lies, expose that God is not arbitrary, wouldn't it be evidence revealing or demonstrating that there is a difference between Lucifer and Michael—and what would be a way to do that? How about bringing Earth into the setting as the stage to demonstrate the difference? And the Earth at that time was a dark void in space, an deep abyss covered only by darkness. And I can imagine God saying to Lucifer, "You claim equality with Michael, well, here is this dark whole in the Milky Way a deep nothingness. Show us what you can do. Use your power to create." And of course Lucifer the created being can't do anything so then, after appropriate time, Michael steps forward and says, "Let there be light…"

Remember who the Bible teaches is the member of the Godhead through whom all things were created:

- In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was with God in the beginning. Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made. (John 1:1-3 NIV84).
- In the past God spoke to our forefathers through the prophets at many times and in various ways, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom he made the universe. (Hebrews 1:1-2 NIV84).
- For by him all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things were created by him and for him. (Colossians 1:16 NIV84).

Earth and humankind was not a new idea conceived of by God after Satan's rebellion, but God chose to bring Earth and mankind into existence at this time in universal history as evidence to demonstrate that Jesus is in fact fully God and far superior to Lucifer.

And the lessons of Jesus creating Earth were to go far beyond merely creating physical reality, Jesus created a planet teaming with life, and He crowned this creation by creating Adam and Eve in the image of God and the entire planet was built upon the design law of love in which every living creature lives by giving freely to other creatures. And Adam and Eve were created as two individual beings of the same substance with unique individualities but capable of becoming one in love and in that unity of love creating beings in their own image.

This creation not only demonstrates Jesus is fully God, but is designed to reveal the design laws of God, as Adam and Eve were intended to govern the planet in perfect love. We also see demonstrated in this creation why God didn't allow Lucifer into counsels Jesus entered when we recognize why

Adam and Eve didn't include the giraffe or elephant into their planning sessions. It was not because they were making up arbitrary rules or were selfish but the animals could not contribute to the discussion. And the gap between a human and an animal is much smaller than the gap between a created being and our infinite God. Lucifer was not admitted to the counsel that Jesus attended because he couldn't process the information, not because God was selfish or restrictive.

And this is why Lucifer targeted Earth above all others because he wanted to coopt the lesson book and occupy God's throne inside the spirit temple, to reside enthroned in the hearts and minds of people created to be image bearers of God and thereby get us, by our lives, attitudes, actions, and choices to misrepresent God. Satan wanted to replace in the human temple the spirit of love and trust with the spirit of fear and selfishness.

And thus the need of a Savior—Jesus, the promised seed of Genesis 3:15, came to reveal the truth about God to win us to trust, but also to eliminate the infection of sin from the species human, to eradicate fear and selfishness and restore in the human being the spirit of love, truth, freedom, and trust. And Jesus, by His victory in a weakened humanity demonstrated that Adam's fall in a perfect humanity was not because of some manufacturer's defect. Sin is not attributable to God!

In Jesus we have God in human form perfectly revealing the character of God and exposing Satan as a liar while simultaneously destroying the infection of fear and selfishness and restoring God's perfect law of love as the basis of life in humanity.

What happened to God's image in Adam and Eve? What was the purpose of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil? Why did God place it in the garden? What does it reveal about God's law and how He governs?

Since Adam and Eve were created in the middle of a war over God's character, law, methods, and trustworthiness—a war of ideas, they had to be exposed to the issues and decide for themselves what type of people would they become—what would they choose to know. Would they choose the truth and love of God and thereby know good, know loyalty, love, truth, faithfulness and godliness, and life or would they choose lies, and know evil, fear, guilt, shame, selfishness and death? Sadly, they chose to know evil by believing lies.

God placed the Tree of Knowledge in the Garden for them to freely choose what they would know for themselves, not know cognitively, but know by experience, in heart and character. Consider these historical quotes, do you agree?

- God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automation. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of character. . . . It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. (Conflict and Courage p. 13.3, emphasis mine)

- Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors, and it was only by repentance toward God and faith in the promised Messiah that they could hope ever to regain the lost image of God. (Review and Herald January 5, 1886, par. 8)

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- Broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness
- Fear and selfishness cause acts of sin
- Acts of sin damage mind, body, character, and relationships a terminal condition

Do we understand that we (human beings) were created with the high calling of revealing the truth about God, that we are to be images bearers of God, that we still, because of Jesus, have the privilege of choosing to know good, to live out the living law of God and be solidified into loyalty to God?

Adam and Eve in Eden had the ability to choose only good, but instead they corrupted themselves with fear and selfishness by believing lies about God and breaking trust with Him. We are all born with that infection of fear and selfishness and without remedy we will die. God understood this, and therefore, because He is love, He sent His Son to do for us what we could not do. Jesus came, partook of this terminal sin condition and eradicated it and restored sinless life sinless love into the humanity He assumed and thus became the second Adam and we by faith may partake of that divine sinless nature and be reborn with a new life, new motives, new desires to love God and others and no longer be slaves to fear and selfishness.

WEDNESDAY

Read first two paragraphs,

- Adam and Eve have sinned, and God has told them that they must leave their garden home. From now on, toil and suffering will be their lot. Will they have to suffer and finally die with no hope? Is death the end of everything?

  It was at this point that God gave them the promise recorded in Genesis 3:15. Looking directly at Satan, the serpent, He said: " 'I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed and her Seed. He shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise His heel' " (NKJV). They may not have fully understood at that moment exactly what this meant, but they knew they could hope again. In some way, through the "Seed of the woman," their redemption would come. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 10).

Why will their lot now be toil and suffering? Are the toil and suffering an inflicted punishment by God or the natural result of nature no longer being under the full governance and dominion God had given to Adam?

And what is the importance of the Genesis 3:15 promise in regard to how we understand the Old Testament?

It is the key to understanding the entire OT narrative. Once Adam and Eve sinned no human could be saved without Jesus coming as our Savior. The entire OT narrative focuses on the fulfillment of this promise and Satan's warfare to oppose and try and stop it from happening. The two antagonistic principles are warring out through human history.

Read the fourth paragraph,

- Do you ever wonder if God really loves you? Look at the Cross—look at the crown of thorns, look at the nails in His hands and feet. With every drop of blood that Jesus shed on Calvary, God is saying, "I love you. I do not want to be in heaven without you. Yes, you've sinned; you sold yourself into the hand of the enemy; yes, in and of yourself you are unworthy of eternal life. But I've paid the ransom to get you back." When you look at the Cross, you never have to wonder again if you're loved. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 10).

There is no doubt that the cross of Christ, His selfless, freely given, sacrifice reveals God's love to us, and we are so thankful that God is love, and God has provided everything for our salvation. And what Jesus did for us at the cross will be our science and song, our study and our inspiration, the focus of never-ending insights and heart moving love throughout all eternity. We will never stop growing in our insight of God and His character, but also into the significance of the infinite sacrifice of Christ for us at the cross.

One of the healthiest actions we can take is to regularly contemplate the life of Jesus, understanding that we are seeing God live out a human life, God walking, talking, and acting, God in humanity being tempted, abused, rejected, despised, mocked, tortured, and killed; We should stop regularly and consider what it means that when we have seen Jesus we have seen the Father, that no one ever had to intercede with Jesus to protect them from Jesus, even Judas, Jesus' betrayer, didn't need someone in between, Jesus washed his betrayers dirty feet.

Do we realize that Jesus is God acting and that it is done to inform us of who God is, how much the Father loves us, and how the Father will treat us—including all who betray and reject Him? And what happened to Judas, how did God in human flesh respond to Judas? He looked upon Him with infinite love, sadness, and loss—"Oh my son, my child, my friend, how I longed to heal you, to take you under my wings and protect you but you wouldn't let me." And Judas, looking into those eyes of infinite love and mercy went out and hanged himself. God did not inflict punishment upon Judas, but terrible suffering of heart, mind, soul, the guilt and shame of his own sin and actions led him to kill himself. This is an example to us, it is what God does to the wicked in the end, when infinite truth and love flows free all the rejectors have the full weight of their own guilt and shame and all the harm and evil they have perpetrated upon others come down upon them, the reality of their own condition in the face of God's infinite love, compassion, sadness and grief for them. They will know that God is not against them, but grieves at what they have chosen to become and they do not want to live in His presence, they beg for the mountains to fall upon them and give up their life preferring eternal nonexistence.

God's love is incredible and we, including myself, do not appreciate it fully, in fact we never will, we can only grow in our experience of His love, but there will always be more depths to experience.

Is there anything in the paragraph we just read that didn't seem quite right, that while written with the utmost good intentions, nevertheless introduces subtle distortions that perpetuate lies about God and the Great Controversy?

What about this section, any problem with this?

- "Yes, you've sinned; you sold yourself into the hand of the enemy; yes, in and of yourself you are unworthy of eternal life. But I've paid the ransom to get you back."

Is there a difference between selling oneself into slavery and being born into slavery?

Adam and Eve certainly chose to go from sinless freedom into the slavery of sin, but what about the rest of us, did we choose that, or for us is it as David wrote in Psalm 51:5 that we are born in sin conceived in iniquity?

We are all born in the slavery of sin. And think about it: doesn't it mean something different in how we understand our problem, our responsibility, our guilt, to believe we individually did this to ourselves, that somehow we didn't have to choose sin but we did, versus the truth that since Adam and Eve sinned none of the rest of us had a choice to not be a sinner?

This is important, the legal model focuses on behavior, on acts, on deeds, and thus will always introduce the idea that our problem is our choice to sin, the sins we have committed, and the idea that we have sold ourselves into sin. But this is a lie. Adam and Eve sold themselves into sin, and because they had been given by God the ability to procreate beings in their image, all of their children are born with this sin condition.

And this is the difference, the legalists believe sin is behavioral, we believe it is a state of being that is out of harmony with God that results in sinful behaviors.

Jesus would support our view, for Jesus in Matthew 5 drew a distinction between the behaviors and the heart condition that leads to the behaviors. He pointed out that sin is the heart condition that leads to the behaviors. And when did each of us get this sinful heart condition, the heart motivation or spirit of fear and selfishness? It is the life we inherited from Adam.

Thus, we are born with a terminal condition we did not choose, dead in trespass and sin, and this terminal condition without remedy results in acts of sin, but we are not born legally guilty. And through Jesus Christ we are each given a choice to surrender the sin-infected, fear-driven life we inherited from Adam, to surrender self, the fear, selfishness, guilt and shame, and receive freely a new life, the life of Jesus, the life of purity, love, truth, freedom, the life of righteousness that Jesus worked out for us, so that it is no longer the old fear-ridden selfish me living but the new loving, trusting, friend of Jesus living. This is the offer God is making through His Son, the only question is will we accept.

And sadly, the penal legal lies have obstructed people from this life transforming experience because it teaches them that they need a legal adjustment in records to pay a debt so they will be declared righteous while they remain unrighteous.

What about the ransom idea how do we understand it? Jesus said

- "The Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many." (Matthew 20:28 NIV84).

So the idea of ransom is very biblical—but what law lens do we understand it through?

What is the function of a ransom? It is the price necessary to free one held in bondage. What holds us in the bondage of sin? The lies about God that we believe that keep us from trusting Him, and our own carnal nature. And what is the price to free us? The truth will set us free—and it is the truth about God that Jesus revealed that wins us from distrust to trust, and in that trust we open our hearts and receive the life of Christ we are reborn with a new heart and right spirit. Thus the ransom price to free us is what reality, built on God's design law, required—truth and a new righteous life and that price was paid to you and me.

Read the questions at the bottom of the page:

- How did Christ answer Satan's charges on the cross? In the light of the great controversy between good and evil, what did His death accomplish? (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 10).

How do you answer these questions?

- Satan said sin does not result in death, he said to Eve you will not surely die. Does Jesus death on the cross, when He who knew no sin was made sin for us, reveal that sin in fact does lead to death?
- And did Satan allege that God must inflict punishment for sin? The Adventist reformers believed that it was Satan's lie that God is required to punish sin, the reformers who were advancing the design law truth and who were opposed by the legalistic leadership took the position that sin pays its wage of death by separating people from God who is the source of life, but Satan twisted this to allege death comes out from God as punishment and that God is required to use His power to punish sin or there is no justice. In other words, the Adventist reformers took the position that imposed law and imposed punishments are the lies of Satan. This is described in the book The Desire of Ages:

- In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that, should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. (Desire of Ages 761, emphasis mine).
- And at the cross what is revealed? Did God lay a hand on His Son? Do we see fire raining down to torture Jesus? Or do we have the testimony of Jesus Himself that the Father simply stepped back, let go, and abandoned Jesus—that God did not use any power of any kind upon His Son to harm Jesus. Thus, the charge that God is the source of death, inflicted punishment, the one whom we must be protected from is refuted.
- But have we read in many places where theologians and church leaders today are teaching God's law and justice require God to punish sin, and therefore God killed Jesus in our place?

- Satan alleged God's law is arbitrary and requires inflicted punishment, and at the cross do we see the exact opposite, that it is human law that inflicts punishments and God's law is design law, that people reap what they sow as it says in Galatians 6:8.
- Satan alleged God is selfish and that creatures are required to sacrifice but God wouldn't sacrifice for His creatures. Do we see in Jesus that God is truly love and that Christ being equal with God didn't grasp to power but surrendered Himself all the way to death to save His children?
- Do we see that God did not create any manufacturer's defect in Adam?
- Do we see that though God has all power He is perfectly trustworthy with the power because He will never use the power to force His way, that He will even forgive those who torture and kill Him.
- Others?

THURSDAY

Read third paragraph,

- To state it very simply, Jesus presents us before the universe as clothed in His righteousness, saved by His death, and redeemed through His blood. Everything we should have been, He was. In Christ there is no condemnation for the sins of our past. In Christ our guilt is gone, and through His mighty intercession, the grip of sin on our lives is broken. The chains that bind us are loosed, and we are free. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 11).

Are you encouraged by such words? Beautiful imagery, but the question is what does it mean?

The robe of righteousness, redeemed by His blood, chains that bind us are all figures of speech, images, metaphors that require us to interpret them to understand objective reality. Remember, our God is the God of reality, the Creator. He is real. He built a real universe. There is a real enemy, a real sin problem, and Jesus is our very real Savior, who has provided a very real solution, that resolves the sin problem in us.

So, how do we understand these metaphors—do they become real for us, or do they remain mystical, almost magical? Do we teach them in a way that instead of leading our minds to greater understanding of reality we create fantasies that obstruct our growth in truth, in reality?

For instance—here are two ways to understand the robe of righteousness metaphor, do both teach the same thing? Are both enlightening the mind? Are both teaching reality or is one creating a fantasy that obstructs reality?

- The robe of Christ righteousness represents the perfect sinless and righteous life and character developed by Jesus as our substitute. When we accept Jesus as our Savior by faith, His righteous life is legally accounted to our record in heaven, and figuratively we are covered by the robe of His righteousness so in the judgment when the Father looks at us, He does not see our unrighteous and sinful characters, He sees the perfect character of His Son which covers over our unrighteous character as we receive the legal application Jesus' righteous life by faith.

Or

- The robe of Christ's righteousness represents the perfect sinless and righteous life and character developed by Jesus as our substitute. When we by faith accept Jesus as our Savior we open our hearts and minds to Him, He, via His representative the Holy Spirit, enters into our hearts and minds and recreates us in righteousness, our thoughts, attitudes, desires, motives are changed to be that of Jesus, we end up living righteously just as Jesus is righteous because we have become partakers of the divine nature, it is no longer our sinful selves but Christ lives within us—we are actually cleansed, renewed, reborn, recreated to be the righteousness of God. So when God looks upon us in the judgment He sees the righteousness of Christ because we are in fact righteous.

Do both of these teach the same thing? No! One is fantasy, false, a lie, which one? The first one, and what is that lie based upon? The lie that God's law functions like human law and justification is legal adjustment so the metaphor of the robe gets misconstrued into a legal fiction that obstructs people from experiencing genuine healing.

Here is another quote from the Adventist reformers who were rejected by the Adventist leadership, this author was shipped to Australia after the 1888 GC in which design law was rejected. She wrote this while in Australia and it is found in Christ's Object Lessons:

- This robe, woven in the loom of heaven, has in it not one thread of human devising. Christ in His humanity wrought out a perfect character, and this character He offers to impart to us…

> When we submit ourselves to Christ, the heart is united with His heart, the will is merged in His will, the mind becomes one with His mind, the thoughts are brought into captivity to Him; we live His life. This is what it means to be clothed with the garment of His righteousness. Then as the Lord looks upon us He sees, not the fig-leaf garment, not the nakedness and deformity of sin, but His own robe of righteousness, which is perfect obedience to the law of Jehovah. (Christ's Object Lessons 311, emphasis mine).

So, why does God see the robe of Christ's righteousness when He looks at the saved? Because we have been partakers of the divine nature and have the righteousness of Christ reproduced within us! In other words, it is real, not pretend as the legalists teach.

What about the blood—what does that mean? There are two views of the blood, that it represents the death of Jesus, the legal death penalty paid, or that it represents the life of Jesus, the righteous sinless life given as a gift to us.

What is the truth? Leviticus 17:11 tells us the life of the animal is in the blood, not the death of the animal. Jesus said in John 6 that we must eat His flesh and drink His blood—what does that mean? Is He saying we must take death into ourselves from Jesus—or are we already dead in trespass and sin and we need a new life, that we must surrender our old terminal sin-life and receive a new life through faith and it is metaphorically taught as drinking the blood or the sinless life of Jesus?

What are the chains that bind us and how is the grip of sin broken? The chains are the chains of lies, fear, selfishness, guilt, shame, and habits. These chains are broken by receiving the truth which destroys lies and wins us to trust. In trust we open the heart and experience the love of God, and His love casts out our fear, and we receive the righteousness of Jesus and live new lives. We in love choose to do what is right instead of what is wrong and that is called right living or righteousness and over the course of time, because our hearts constantly focus upon Jesus, because we choose to trust Him, because we choose to respond to His love, because we choose to grow in truth we receive ever increasing insight, understanding, and power and we grow, mature, and develop from children/babes into mature Christians growing up into the full stature of Christ Jesus.

Where is Jesus interceding for us? Is Jesus interceding with His Father? Is the Father against us? Is Jesus interceding with the Holy Spirit? Who is against us? What are the chains that bind us? Jesus intercedes in our hearts and minds; He intercedes with the powers of darkness to protect. He intercedes in events on Earth, but Jesus does not intercede with His Father because His Father loves us Himself, in Jesus' own words:

- I am not saying that I will ask the Father on your behalf. No, the Father himself loves you (John 16:26-27 NIV84).

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 2
The Central Issue: Love versus Selfishness

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

What a great title—for this is the central issue in the war: love versus selfishness.

And what is the primary emotional driver of selfishness? Fear, fear of punishment, failure, rejection, loss, etc. It is the breakdown of love and trust.

As soon as Adam and Eve believed the lies about God the circle of love and trust was broken and they ran and hid because they were afraid.

Because of God's love and grace God did not abandon humanity to this terminal sin condition, but God immediately began intercession—He put enmity between Satan and humankind, there are two antagonistic principle fighting for every human heart. As soon as Adam sinned, God began intervening in the hearts and minds of sinful human beings to convict of sin, to give a longing for something better, to cause us to feel dissatisfied with sin to woo us back to Him.

Because of God's love not letting go of humanity there is a war happening within the hearts and minds of every human being—a war between love and trust versus fear and selfishness.

We cannot overcome the spirit of fear within our own hearts, the spirit of fear that we inherited from Adam, the spirit of fear that causes us to make fear-based selfish choices. There is no resource we naturally possess that can give us the victory because the victory requires a change in spirit, a change in heart attitude, a change in motivational energy that drives our decisions. We must be reborn from a spirit of fear to a spirit of love and trust and that spirit comes from Jesus.

If you have read my two blog series posted right now: Salvation and the Cleansing of our Spirit-Part 1 and Part 2 How Jesus Our Substitute Cleanses Our Spirit I encourage you to read it, for it is the conclusion of a long study and is an expansion in my own understanding of what Christ accomplished for us.

And Paul describes these two antagonistic principles:

- There is therefore now no condemnation to those who are in Christ Jesus, who do not walk according to the flesh, but according to the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from the law of sin and death. (Romans 8:1-2 NKJV).

When we are in Christ, which means we are in union with Him, that we have been reborn with a new heart and right spirit, the spirit of love and trust, then we are no longer terminal, no longer dying of sin, thus our hearts are judged as having been set right, put right with God, which is the reality of being justified, like Abraham whose distrusting heart was changed to trusting God and after his heart changed from distrust to trust, Abraham was recognized to be righteous, because he had experienced a real change—his heart was right with God, i.e., righteous.

And thus, we, with the new heart and right spirit live according to the Spirit, which is the Spirit of love and trust and that is the Spirit of life, for God's laws are the design laws of truth, love, and freedom and once we are restored to harmony with these design laws we are in harmony with the Spirit of life itself, and we are freed from the control of law of sin and death which is the me-first survival-of-the-fittest drive that comes from fear and selfishness.

Thus, as Paul says later in Romans 14, "whatever is not of faith is sin" whatever comes from the spirit of fear and selfishness is sin.

This is the war, going on for every heart and mind, do we love and trust Jesus so much that we surrender to Him, die to our old fear ridden selfish lives and receive through faith a new spirit of love and trust or do we instead cling to fear and selfishness but create all kinds of philosophies to justify our selfishness such as:

- Godless evolution
- All forms of paganism
- Legalism as Paul deals with in Romans that the Jews had fallen into, and which Christianity has also fallen into with its human law lens and the penal legal theologies?

The lesson points to the destruction of Jerusalem in AD 70 and Jesus' prophecy before His crucifixion which blends the destruction of Jerusalem and the events before the second coming, and then the lesson says:

- In the destruction of Jerusalem, we discover a foreshadowing of Satan's strategy both to deceive and destroy God's people at the end time. Jesus' instruction in Matthew 24 clearly outlines last-day events in the context of Jerusalem's fall. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 14).

Are there lessons for us to learn in regard to the Great Controversy and the current events happening in the world from Jesus' prophecy in Matthew and its fulfillment in the destruction of Jerusalem?

The book, The Great Controversy, opens with this prophecy and the destruction of Jerusalem. I am going to share with you sections from the 1888 version, the version that came out the year of the great divide in the Adventist church, when the official leadership rejected the advancing light of God's law being design law and instead held onto the legalism of Roman imposed law, just like the Jews did with their interpretation of law. And if we don't reject the Romanization of Christianity and return to worshiping God as Creator whose laws are design laws then we will fulfill exactly the same fate, result, outcome the Jews who rejected Jesus experienced at the destruction of Jerusalem.

Now consider this statement—I start with it, because it is actually ambiguous, it leaves itself open to be interpreted a variety of ways and those who cling to the imposed human law way of seeing things will take statements just like this one lift it out of its context and cite it to support their false view that God is required by law and justice to use His power to punish and destroy. I am showing this statement because the author who wrote it, saw things our way and shortly after this statement, in the very same chapter which unpacks the prophecy of Matthew 24 and the destruction of Jerusalem, she describes in detail what this statement means, how it actually functions and occurs and how those who teach God is using His power to punish and destroy are advancing Satan's lies. Why does this happen? Because this author's views were rejected and she was shipped to Australia after the 1888 GC.

But here is the first quote that can be misunderstood if one doesn't keep reading:

- Jesus declared to the listening disciples the judgments that were to fall upon apostate Israel, and especially the retributive vengeance that would come upon them for their rejection and crucifixion of the Messiah. Unmistakable signs would precede the awful climax. The dreaded hour would come suddenly and swiftly. And the Saviour warned his followers: "When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place (whoso readeth, let him understand), then let them which be in Judea flee into the mountains." [Matthew 24:15, 16; Luke 21:20.] When the idolatrous standards of the Romans should be set up in the holy ground, which extended some furlongs outside the city walls, then the followers of Christ were to find safety in flight. When the warning sign should be seen, those who would escape must make no delay... (The Great Controversy 1888 ed., p. 26 emphasis mine)

The legalists among us, those who believe God's law functions like human law, will take comments like this one and suggest that God does in fact make legal judgments against sin, and then use His power to inflict punishment for sin. They do this because they truly believe God's law is nothing but made up rules like creatures make, the sad truth is, those who think this way, and worship a god who is the source of pain, suffering and death inflicted as punishment for law breaking are like the Jews 2000 years ago who sided with God's enemy to crucify Christ all the while holding membership in God's church, believing the fundamental beliefs, and advocating for law-keeping.

Jerusalem represents in Bible symbolism the people of God, the children of God, the church of God. To the degree you believe you are a member of the people/church of God, then you are symbolically part of end-time Jerusalem and the lessons that Jerusalem experienced are to be applied to us.

Now, consider what this author describes as the judgment of God and retributive vengeance in the following paragraphs, take note of the unpacking in the same chapter of that language and events and notice what law God functions and operates upon, in other words what kind of law is God's—imposed rules requiring God to use power to inflict punishment, or design law that requires God to use power to heal and save and when God lets go then Satan and sin cause the destruction:

- The Jews had forged their own fetters; they had filled for themselves the cup of vengeance. [What kind of law is described here? Perhaps not clear yet, but doing it to oneself is different than an outside authority doing it to you.] In the utter destruction that befell them as a nation, and in all the woes that followed them in their dispersion, they were but reaping the harvest which their own hands had sown. [What kind of law is this? Is reaping what one sows a punishment inflicted by an outside authority or the natural consequences? This should be enough to interpret the author's meaning of retributive vengeance, that God let's people go to reap what they have chosen and violating God's design laws result in ruin and death. But the author doesn't leave it here, she goes on.] Says the prophet, "O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself;" "for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity." [Hosea 13:9; 14:1.] Their sufferings are often represented as a punishment visited upon them by the direct decree of God. [By whom? Who represents these punishments as direct decree of God? All those Christians who believe God's law functions like human law. Martin Luther, the great reformer, took this punishing god view and the legalists within our church who cling to the idea that God's law functions like human law do the very same thing. But note who the author says is the source of this suffering and pain.] It is thus that the great deceiver seeks to conceal his own work. [Who is the one who brings the pain, suffering, and death? Satan—and who does the Bible say holds the power of death? Satan (Heb 2:14) and who does the Bible say is the murderer from the beginning? Satan, and who destroys death and brings life and immortality to light? Jesus! Understand, much of what is being taught in the church are Satan's lies about God which are the fruit of believing the lie that God's law functions like human law.] By stubborn rejection of divine love and mercy, the Jews had caused the protection of God to be withdrawn from them, and Satan was permitted to rule them according to his will. [God uses His power to create, heal, and protect. When we reject God we separate ourselves from His life giving presence and place ourselves under the power of God's enemy, the father of lies, the one who holds the power of death.] The horrible cruelties enacted in the destruction of Jerusalem are a demonstration of Satan's vindictive power over those who yield to his control. (The Great Controversy 1888 ed., p. 36, emphasis mine)

  We cannot know how much we owe to Christ for the peace and protection which we enjoy. It is the restraining power of God that prevents mankind from passing fully under the control of Satan. [This is how God uses power, to protect, to heal, to redeem, to restore, to build up not tear down, not destroy. Satan is the destroyer Jesus is the restorer. Oh how God must weep when the people who are called by His name promote a false god with the attributes of His enemy!] The disobedient and unthankful have great reason for gratitude for God's mercy and long-suffering in holding in check the cruel, malignant power of the evil one. But when men pass the limits of divine forbearance, that restraint is removed. God does not stand toward the sinner as an executioner of the sentence against transgression; but he leaves the rejecters of his mercy to themselves, to reap that which they have sown. [What law is described? How does it function? God is not the executioner of the sentence against transgression—executioners are required in human law systems, in Satan's kingdom, when laws are nothing but made-up rules. But in God's kingdom, breaking His design laws results in ruin and death unless the Creator heals, restores, fixes the damage. But God can only do that with our consent, with our agreement, with our cooperation, because it is the only way God can save our unique individuality. If God were to use divine power to override our freewill choices He would erase us, replace us with a programmed simulation of a person, a robot, a computer. But it would not be us. Thus, God seeks to win us by the methods of His Spirit, truth and love, to freely surrender to Him and cooperate with Him for healing of our hearts and minds. But if we refuse Him, He sadly lets us go to reap what we have chosen and we suffer and die from sin, not as an inflicted punishment from God. But God's enemy has infected the church, the temple of God, with the lie that God's law functions like human law and it is taught from the pulpits around the world that God's justice is the infliction of punishment for sin. Oh horrible deceit, demonic lie!] Every ray of light rejected, every warning despised or unheeded, every passion indulged, every transgression of the law of God, is a seed sown, which yields its unfailing harvest. The Spirit of God, persistently resisted, is at last withdrawn from the sinner, and then there is left no power to control the evil passions of the soul, and no protection from the malice and enmity of Satan. [Again, do you see how this author keeps emphasizing that God is not the destroyer, the punishment does not come out from God, that the punishment is the natural result of sin—just like the Bible teaches. Yet, almost all of Christianity has accepted the Romanization of Christianity that God's law functions like human law and teaches God is the source of inflicted torture and death. We have a message that is to lighten the world and prepare the world for Christ's return a message to return to worshiping God as Creator, which requires we reject the imposed law lie and recognize all of God's laws are design laws.] The destruction of Jerusalem is a fearful and solemn warning to all who are trifling with the offers of divine grace, and resisting the pleadings of divine mercy. Never was there given a more decisive testimony to God's hatred of sin, and to the certain punishment that will fall upon the guilty. (The Great Controversy 1888 ed., p. 36, emphasis mine)

The Saviour's prophecy concerning the visitation of judgments upon Jerusalem is to have another fulfillment, of which that terrible desolation was but a faint shadow. [What kind of judgments visited Jerusalem? Were they arbitrary decrees? Where they judicial, legal, judgments? Or were they the diagnostic judgments of what actually is? What God says in Hosea 11:7 "my people are bent on turning away from me." God diagnoses them as hardened in rebellion, what more can He do, so He lets them go to reap what they have chosen. He places them in the hands of the god they prefer.] In the fate of the chosen city we may behold the doom of a world that has rejected God's mercy and trampled upon his law. [And this is the entire world of the unsaved, those who claim there is no God, and those who claim to believe in God but like the Jews 2000 years ago prefer a god who is like Satan in character, whose god makes up rules and uses power to punish rule-breakers]. Dark are the records of human misery that earth has witnessed during its long centuries of crime. The heart sickens and the mind grows faint in contemplation. Terrible have been the results of rejecting the authority of Heaven. But a scene yet darker is presented in the revelations of the future. The records of the past,—the long procession of tumults, conflicts, and revolutions, the "battle of the warrior, with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood," [Isaiah 9:5.]—what are these, in contrast with the terrors of that day when the restraining Spirit of God shall be wholly withdrawn from the wicked, no longer to hold in check the outburst of human passion and Satanic wrath! The world will then behold, as never before, the results of Satan's rule. (The Great Controversy 1888 ed., p. 37, emphasis mine) [What happens when God removes His restraining hand? And we are seeing that happen more and more every day. And why is the Spirit withdrawn? Where is the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit on Earth? Our hearts and minds, the Spirit temple. So what happens when billions harden their hearts against the Holy Spirt? The Spirit is slowly withdrawn. This is not an arbitrary decision on God's part, it is the natural result of people preferring Satan and his methods to God's.]

So, what is God's retributive vengeance? God's letting go and allowing people to reap what they have sown. It is when God stops using His divine power to hold at bay what Satan and sin do to sinners. Is this how you have always heard it presented in the church? Now let's consider this paragraph again, with the explanation of the author in mind and consider its application to our situation today:

- Jesus declared to the listening disciples the judgments that were to fall upon apostate Israel, and especially the retributive vengeance that would come upon them for their rejection and crucifixion of the Messiah. Unmistakable signs would precede the awful climax. The dreaded hour would come suddenly and swiftly. And the Saviour warned his followers: "When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place (whoso readeth, let him understand), then let them which be in Judea flee into the mountains." [Matthew 24:15, 16; Luke 21:20.] When the idolatrous standards of the Romans should be set up in the holy ground, which extended some furlongs outside the city walls, then the followers of Christ were to find safety in flight. When the warning sign should be seen, those who would escape must make no delay... (The Great Controversy 1888 ed., p. 26, emphasis mine.)

What is the abomination that causes desolation?

The abomination of a false god with a false law and a false standard of righteousness—and when we see that false standard standing on holy ground we know the warning has been given and it is time to flee.

And what did we see during COVID? We saw the false standard of made up rules, human laws, imposed upon people to coerce consciences standing on the holy ground of church institutions, in the holy place of human hearts and minds when leaders of churches embraced the lie that it is righteous to coerce the consciences of their own members, employees and students—in a worldwide lockdown and assault against truth and love all under the guise of doing what is right and just. It is an abomination of truth, of righteousness, of love and billions embraced it as right, and sadly within the church this method of governing, this type of law has replaced God's design law and it is taught that God's justice is God using power to inflict pain, suffering, and destruction.

We have seen the armies of the world join forces with the church to coerce consciences and now the armies have stepped back, just like in AD 70, and we have a few moments of peace to flee—but not geographically because the finally events are worldwide, it is time to flee spiritually, to cut our heart ties to systems that use beastly methods, to establish our affections, faith, loyalty and devotion only to God and unite with all peoples who worship our Creator and practice His design laws methods.

Read last paragraph,

- We will study Satan's twofold strategy both to deceive and destroy God's people. What the evil one fails to accomplish through persecution, he hopes to achieve through compromise. God is never caught by surprise, and even in the most challenging times He preserves His people. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 14).

Satan's strategy is actually more than two-fold, it is a stepwise progression that follows a certain pattern. Here are the steps that Satan uses over and again, we will examine them from Bible stories and see how he uses these same methods on us:

- Deception—Satan lied to Eve in Eden, and he approached Jesus as an angel of light. He is the father of lies and he always seeks to deceive, to lie and get us to believe his lies.
- Inducements—bribes, offers of something to make us more or reward us in some way, typically appealing to ego, esteem, power, prestige, position. Something to introduce and inflame that lie that we can't trust God with our position, our calling, our mission, we need to act in self-interest. It is often accompanied by fear, fear of losing the opportunity if you don't act for self. He offered Eve to become like God. He offered Jesus all the kingdoms of the world.
- Miracles—Eve was presented with the miracle of a talking serpent; Jesus was miraculously transported to the temple and then tempted to call upon God to perform a miracle by throwing Himself off the temple. These miracles by Satan were not illusions, not pretend, they were real. And Satan can perform certain miracles and will do so again before Christ returns.
- Threats—Jesus was threatened repeatedly by the Jews at the instigation of Satan, was threatened with rejection, abandonment of friends, betrayal, His reputation was tarnished, eventually threatened with death by the Jews and threatened by Pilate before Pilate finally condemned Him to death.
- Physical assault, abuse, torment—acts of real injustice and wrong.
- Death

What is the goal of Satan's attacks and strategy? He wants to displace God's law of truth, love, and freedom from the hearts and minds of people. He wants to efface the image of God in humanity and replace it with the law of fear, selfishness and coercion, making us in the satanic image. Notice how his strategies are designed to do this.

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust and incite fear and selfishness corrupting the character.
- Accepting inducements to do wrong inflames selfishness and breaks trust with God, incites fear and selfishness and corrupts the character
- Believing miracles over the truth and evidence God has given surrenders the mind leading to choices that breaks the circle of love and trust inciting fear and selfishness corrupting the character
- Threats are designed to incite fear undermine trust and lead one to act selfishly to protect self, after all isn't self-defense right? Then why did Jesus say we should turn the other cheek?
- But the big one which is right now being employed as we approach the final events before Christ's return, the strategy that is going to deceive all but the elect, is the perpetration of real wrong, real injustice upon innocents, which is designed by Satan to cause a real sense of outrage, righteous indignation, and a desire for justice, which tempts the righteous to embrace and practice Satan's methods to make things right, to use might and power, the power of force to inflict punishment upon the wrong doers. This was the temptation Jesus faced during His trial and crucifixion, injustice upon injustice, to the One who held all power. Would He use power to punish injustice or would He forgive His wrongdoers? And this is what is happening in the world today. Satanic forces are doing more and more injustice of all kinds and the goal is to inflame outrage in the people of God to get them to choose to embrace and join with the beastly powers of this world to use the power of the state to do justice, to punish wrong doing. But Jesus said we are to love our enemies and pray for those who abuse us.
- And finally, if Satan cannot get God's people to choose his methods and become like him in character then he will inspire those who are like him and who do value his methods to seek to destroy, even kill, those who refuse to be corrupted, all under the guise of doing what is right. The wicked always end up persecuting and seeking to kill the righteous. Take their influence away. And when it is led by churches and governments, it is always couched in some way as doing something for the greater good, to stop evil.

SUNDAY

Read third paragraph,

- It is difficult to understand such an event as the destruction of Jerusalem in the light of God's loving character. History reveals that tens of thousands died as the Roman general Titus led his armies against the city. Jerusalem was devastated. Men, women, and children were slaughtered. Where was God when His people suffered so greatly? The answer is clear but not easy to grasp fully. God's heart was broken. His eyes were filled with tears. For centuries He reached out to His people. By their rebellion against His loving-kindness, they forfeited

> His divine protection. God does not always intervene to limit the results of His people's choices. He allows the natural consequences of rebellion to develop. God did not cause the slaughter of innocent children in the destruction of Jerusalem; the tragic death of the innocents was Satan's act, not God's. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 15).

This is very well said, I am so happy to see this in the quarterly and it demonstrates that there are those in the church who are advancing the true gospel, who have not rejected the design law of God and who see God's character in its true light. This is so encouraging to read.

Read bottom pink section,

- Reflect on the following statement: we do not judge God's character by events we see around us; rather, we filter all the events we see through the prism of His loving character as revealed in the Bible. Why is this such good counsel? (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 15).

I think this a good idea, a good process, but what is the problem with this approach? What if one has the wrong view of God's character? What if one views God as the source of pain and suffering, as an authoritarian dictator whose justice requires him to punish sin? If one believes God functions like this and then they interpret events through the lens of such a character, what conclusions do they draw?

My point is that it is right to understand events through the lens of God's character rather than understanding God's character through the lens of events—but what is the basis of determining if we understand God's character correctly?

It is His law—that is the determining factor. If we believe God's law functions like human law, then that believe requires that we view God's character as authoritative and the source of inflicted punishment and death. But if we view God's law as design law then we view things in their right light, God is our Savior, Healer, Deliverer and Friend and is never the source of pain, suffering, and the wages of sin death.

Some people will say Jesus is the lens, and of course He is as He is God in human flesh and He told us that if we have seen Him we have seen the Father. However, millions who believe that Jesus is God the Son and who say they believe He is the exact representation of the Father still view the Father in a different light than Jesus. They see Jesus as a loving Savior and the Father as a stern judge, a punisher of sin who needs to be pled with by Jesus, why? Because despite saying they believe Jesus reveals the Father, the lie that God's law functions like human law causes them to teach that the work of Jesus as our Savior is to protect us from God's just punishment. But that representation is false. We must come back to worshiping God as Creator and reject the Romanization, the human law infection from our beliefs about God.

Read third paragraph,

- God is sovereign and overrules events on earth for the ultimate accomplishment of His divine purposes. Although at times God alters His original plans based on our human choices, His ultimate plan for this planet will be fulfilled. There will be times when the people of God experience hardship, persecution, imprisonment, and death itself for the cause of Christ. But even in the most challenging of times with Satan's most vicious attacks, God sustains and preserves His church. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 16).

Any thoughts or questions about this? Have you ever struggled with the idea of God's sovereignty and His use of divine power to govern things on Earth?

Does God make things happen the way He wants them to? If so, did God want Adam and Eve to sin—some people teach that yes, God did, but did He? I do not believe so, I believe God wanted Adam and Eve to stay sinless, faithful, and loyal.

So what is the balance between God's sovereignty and our freedom, God's will and our will?

Does God alter His plans because of our choices?

- God feeds the children of Israel manna but they beg for meat and what does God do?
- God's plan for Israel coming out of Egypt to occupy Canaan was or Him to send in the hornet and pestilence ahead of the people and as the inhabitants slowly leave the land the Israelites would occupy it, but what did the people want and what did God do?
- God warned them not to have kings, His preference was that He would be their God and lead them, but what did the people insist upon and what did God do?
- God wanted Israel to become a nation of priests to evangelize the world, but that nation chose to reject Christ and crucify Him, so what did God do?
- Other examples?

Do we see God's plan being worked out despite human rejection, rebellion, and interference with it? And how is God working out His plan, with might and power to force His way, or with truth, love, and freedom to win all who will choose life?

TUESDAY

The lesson is about the new converts, Christians being faithful during persecution—what enabled them to be faithful?

To what or who were the early Christians faithful? Were they faithful to an organization, a denomination, a creed, a list of fundamental beliefs, or were they faithful to their Friend Jesus Christ? Is it that the early Christians came to know Jesus personally and experienced His presence in their hearts and minds and they had been won over to God's methods, character, principles, and standards that they had experienced both in their relationship with God—in how God had treated them—but also in their own personal lives having applied those principles to how they treat others? And thus they had a reality-based experience with God and the things of God and the threats could not cause them to believe evil is good, or up is down, or wrong is right?

What about as we face the final events on planet Earth, what will enable us to remain faithful?

What does it mean to be sealed?

What does it mean for probation to close?

What does it mean to stand during this time without an intercessor?

Does our law lens impact our understanding of these concepts?

WEDNESDAY

The first sentence for the lesson states,

- The early Christian church grew not only because its members preached the gospel but also because they lived the gospel. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 18).

What does it mean to live the gospel?

Does it matter what we think the gospel is? What is the gospel?

The message of the 3 angels of Revelation 14 is the message of the eternal gospel—what is the eternal gospel and how do we live it?

Is the eternal gospel only eternal good news for eternity future, or is it also eternally good news in eternity past?

And in eternity past, before humankind was created, was it true then that Jesus needed to die for our sins at that time? So the death of Jesus as our Savior is part of the good news, but the good news is something more than that, what could it be?

Isn't the eternal good news the good news about God Himself, that God is love, that God is not like Satan alleges, that God's laws are design laws and God is reliable, trustworthy, the same yesterday, today, tomorrow and His character, government, and laws never change and are the protocols of life, health, and happiness—and that He gives us real freedom?

So, we live the gospel by living out the design laws of God in a love/trust relationship with our Creator. In that relationship we experience the spirit of courage and love and no longer are controlled by the spirit of fear we inherited from Adam. And we live the gospel by practicing the methods of God in governance of self as we interact with others. In other words, we live the gospel by implementing the design laws of God in how we treat others, truth, presented in love, leaving others free. We do not use human law to coerce consciences of people.

Satan is the one who seeks to incite fear, for the more fearful we are the less we are able to think and love. The easier we are to manipulate and the more likely we are to choose the methods of selfishness and coercion to make ourselves feel safe. This is how Satan works to trick people into cooperating with their own destruction.

Just look around the world at all the lies about climate change which is something people cannot see, smell, touch, measure, or identify with the senses God has given them. It is an invisible threat that they can only recognize by believing voices of authority—and those voices are godless voices who don't know Jesus and reject the Bible. Because the climate change propaganda is all a lie from the father of lies. It is exactly the opposite of God's promise in Genesis that the seasons and harvest would not change as long as the Earth continues.

- As long as the earth endures, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night will never cease (Genesis 8:22 NIV84).

And it denies the science that the planet, since the burning of fossil fuels has become more green, more human friendly, the deserts and uninhabitable spaces are reducing and the planet is become more lush and habitable for us.

If you haven't read our blogs God's Promises and Climate Change Lies Part 1 and Part 2 I encourage you to do so.

But the lies constantly bombard people to the point they react to the lies with fear and go along with decisions that take their freedom, take their wealth, and undermine their actual health and happiness.

Understand, what is happening in the world under the spectrum of protecting the climate has nothing to do with protecting the climate—it has to do we taking away your freedom, to limit your ability to travel freely and cheaply, to limit your ability to provide for your family, heat your home, and be autonomous while simultaneously shifting wealth from the people to the few elites of business who are behind these so called climate saving interventions. But in reality almost all the changes are more harmful to the environment and planet Earth than the use of fossil fuels. Woe be to those who harm the Earth, these godless exploiters of the planet and the people are going to one day have truth come bearing down on them and there will be a weeping and gnashing of teeth—but the bigger question is how many billions are being deceived by these lies to cooperate with their own destruction? Will our church, like they did with COVID, join forces with the godless governments and Earth worshiping green movement leaders to form a coalition to force such changes upon us that are contrary to God's design, kingdom, and promises? Watch for it.

It is incredible to watch so many good people colluding voluntarily with their own destruction.

Read bottom pink section:

- Discuss: What role does the church have in cooperating with Christ in proving Satan's charges wrong? (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 18).

Thoughts? Do we have a role? What role? What do you think of this text?

- The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. (Romans 16:20 NIV84).

What does this mean? Satan being trampled under our feet? How? Is this literal, that the physical body of Satan will be walked on by us or is this a metaphor?

What does it mean to trample God's law under our feet? Doesn't it mean we don't value it, we walk all over it, ignore, discount, reject, and override it?

What does it mean to trample Satan under our feet?

What is under our feet? Dirt, trash, refuse, the things we throw away, the things we scrape off the bottom of our shoes.

So, to trample Satan under our feet means that we have come to revile the things of Satan, his methods, principles, actions, attitudes, motives, desires, and laws are sewage to us. This happens when we are freed from the imperial law concept and in a loving relationship with God have a new heart and right spirit, the things of this world grow dim, we want to scrape the things of Satan off our feet, we walk in supremacy and purity above the dirt of this world.

Have you heard of last generation theology? The idea we must be perfect as a people before Jesus returns. Is the idea of us being perfect a human or godly idea?

Jesus said,

- Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect (Matthew 5:48 NIV84).

What does this mean? What law lens do we understand this through?

If we have a human law model then this means deeds, performance, actions.

But if we have a design law model this means heart motive and intent, do we love God with all our hearts minds souls and strength, are with mature in heart, not perfect in task performance. Are we faithful friends of God's who will not break trust with God no matter what the trial, tribulation or temptation?

Examples of this in history are:

- Job
- Daniel
- Shadrack, Meshack, Abednego
- The apostles who died as martyrs

And the final group who are ready to meet Jesus when He comes are described in Revelation as:

- They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death. (Revelation 12:11)

They overcame Satan and his demonic forces by the life of Jesus (symbolized by the blood) which they have internalized thus they have a new heart and right spirit that loves God and loves the truth and their testimony is the same testimony that Jesus gave about God and they do not love self so much that they would use the methods of this world to try and save themselves.

THURSDAY

Read the second through fifth paragraphs:

- One of the greatest revelations of God's love was demonstrated when two devastating pandemics plagued the early centuries around a.d. 160 and a.d. 260. Christians stepped forward and ministered to the sick and dying. These plagues killed tens of thousands and left entire villages and towns with scarcely an inhabitant. The unselfish, sacrificial, caring, loving ministry of Christians made a huge impact on the population. Over time, thousands, and eventually hundreds of thousands, and then millions in the Roman Empire became believers in Jesus during these two epidemics. Love, outgoing concern, and organized, selfless care of the sick and dying created an admiration for these believers and the Christ they represented.

  Rodney Stark's The Rise of Christianity is a modern historical narrative portraying these historic events in a new and improved light. In it he describes how during the second epidemic the whole Christian community, which was still heavily Judeo-Christian, became a virtual army of nurses, providing the basic needs for the suffering community to survive.

> "At the height of the second great epidemic, around a.d. 260, . . . Dionysius wrote a lengthy tribute to the heroic nursing efforts of local Christians, many of whom lost their lives while caring for others.
> "Most of our brother Christians showed unbounded love and loyalty, never sparing themselves and thinking only of one another. Heedless of danger, they took charge of the sick, attending to their every need and ministering to them in Christ, and with them departed this life serenely happy; for they were infected by others with the disease, drawing on themselves the sickness of their neighbors and cheerfully accepting their pains."—The Rise of Christianity (Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press, 1996), p. 82. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 19).

Isn't that a beautiful description of the love of Christ displacing fear and selfishness and people no longer loving their own lives so much as to shrink from death. Instead they loved God and others more than self and sacrificed themselves to help others. And the gospel spread!

Now, contrast that with what we saw from many churches during COVID?

What was dominating the landscape? Did we see Christian hospitals, schools, and churches protecting the consciences of people or did we see them more concerned for their safety and financial success to the point that they were willing to betray sacred trusts and coerce people to comply?

2024 Second Quarter: The Great Controversy
Lesson #3: Light Shines in the Darkness

by Linda Ojala

SABBATH

Memory Text:

"Then Jesus said to them, 'A little while longer the light is with you. Walk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you; he who walks in darkness does not know where he is going' " (John 12:35, NKJV).

When I was in school studying about the young blind and deaf Helen Keller learning to "see" and "hear" via finger and hand gestures, my English teacher gave us extra credit for going a full day blindfolded. That day revolutionized my life; there are so many things you take for granted when you can see! But if you can't see, how do you know what food it on the plate? Are there bugs in it, or mold on it? When you put food on a fork, how much food is on there? What about keeping soup on your spoon? When you pick up your glass, where do you put it back down? When is the food gone? How do you dress in clothes that match? When you drop something, how do you find it? How do you know which path to walk without signs? Not to mention the inability to read, drive, enjoy scenery and art, or the faces of those around you. Who might take advantage of your blindness to cheat, steal, or beat you up? Believe me, from that day to this, I cherish my sight!!

So, when Jesus asked a blind man that had been crying out loudly, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!" what he wanted Jesus to do for him, I can assure you that I understand his simple request, "Lord, I want to see." And Jesus had a plain and simple response, "Receive your sight; your faith has healed you."

Our daily spiritual prayer needs to be, "Lord, I want to see."

"Your Word is a lamp for my feet, a light on my path." Psalm 119:105

In the Bible, light and truth represent each other. As light allows you to physically see, truth does the same thing spiritually. Though our eyes are naturally drawn to light, our sin-sick souls are naturally drawn to the dark. Darkness in either dimension is said to be the absence of light. One of the many ideas presented in Come and Reason early on that has stuck with me is this scenario: you are lost in a pitch dark cave, alone for a week in total darkness, until someone finds and rescues you. If they rescue you at midnight, and you are brought out of the cave, your eyes feel fine. But if you are brought out at noon, your eyes can't tolerate the light. It is so bright and painful! So, when you allow the Holy Spirit to help you "see" the truth, as painful as that might be, He does it in doses you can handle throughout your life. "Surely the day is coming; it will burn like a furnace. All the arrogant and every evildoer will be stubble, and the day that is coming will set them on fire," says the Lord Almighty. "Not a root or a branch will be left to them. But for you who revere my name, the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its rays. And you will go out and frolic like well-fed calves. Then you will trample on the wicked; they will be ashes under the soles of your feet on the day when I act," says the Lord Almighty."

But if you do not allow the Holy Spirit to take what Jesus created, a perfect character, perfect love, and put that inside you instead of the darkness, when Jesus comes, how will you withstand the total, unveiled revelation of the fiery light of truth? Deuteronomy 4:24 and Hebrew 12:29 call God a "consuming fire." Isaiah 9:17 points out that "wickedness burns like fire." It reminds me of people who go into an MRI that have metallic paint in their tattoos. That also burns like fire, because the metal is moved by the strong magnet, creating pain. In God's case, wickedness cannot bear up in God's presence, because His truth cannot be held back. Can you imagine a dark mind coming into direct contact with the brilliant source of truth in the universe? No place to hide, no rationalizations that hold up; nothing to do but to face the truth of who you are, what you have done to yourself and others, and the total ripple effect of cause to effect that happened because of the wicked darkness you kept inside you? You could have chosen to be healed, to have light replace the darkness, but you would not. No wonder people beg for the mountains and rocks to fall on them to hide them from His face! Revelation 6:15-17. Daniel 7:9, 10 describes the judgment like this: "As I looked, thrones were set in place, and the Ancient of Days took his seat. His clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him. Thousands upon thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him. The court was seated, and the books were opened."

Isaiah 33:13-17 talks about what happens when God himself comes to earth to rescue His people," The sinners in Zion are terrified; trembling grips the godless: "Who of us can dwell with the consuming fire? Who of us can dwell with everlasting burning?" Those who walk righteously and speak what is right, who reject gain from extortion and keep their hands from accepting bribes, who stop their ears against plots of murder and shut their eyes against contemplating evil – they are the ones who will dwell on the heights, whose refuge will be the mountain fortress. Their bread will be supplied, and water will not fail them. Your eyes will see the king in his beauty and view a land that stretches afar.

Celebrity Debby Boone shared in the Woman's Devotional Bible a wonderful example of what the presence of light can do. "Every school morning for the past two year, precisely at 7:00 am, I have taken a deep breath, climbed up the stairs, and opened the door to my eight-year-old son Jordan's bedroom. Each time I've steeled myself for the coming battle required to wrench his eyelids apart to start a new day. Most of the time I would leave his room convinced that he was well on his way to being dressed and would be downstairs ready to eat breakfast within ten minutes, only to climb those same stairs at 7:30 am, push back the door, and find him sound asleep. A couple of weeks ago, all this changed. And I had nothing to do with it. Jordan started leaving his window shutters wide open when he would go to sleep. The morning light would gently filter in and quite naturally and quickly awaken him. I now walk into his room and find him sitting at his small desk, completely dressed in his school uniform, wondering when breakfast will be ready. Jordan and I no longer have struggles in the morning. The presence of light has solved the problem completely. As I read the beginning verses of Isaiah 60, my mornings with Jordan came to mind. I asked the Lord to show me how to allow His light to awaken places in my heart that I have been content to leave sleeping in the darkness and comfort of my soul. It's hard to wake up when you are surrounded by darkness. And we can't transform ourselves into what we should or want to be any more than Jordan could wake himself up just because he knows he should be up. Exposing ourselves to the light and presence of the Lord's love not only will uncover the dark places of our heart but also will fill them with light so that "the glory of the Lord rises upon you" Isaiah 60:1. But how do we expose ourselves to His light? That's the easy part….just by leaving the shutters of our hearts open. Come to God with an honest expression of willingness to allow Him to change us – by His wonderful and brilliant light."

What influenced your spiritual and religious choices?

To become a Christian?
A Seventh day Adventist?
To attend, watch or read Come and Reason Ministries' presentations?

This year has especially difficult for me. I have had to learn a lot about grieving and forgiving. I imagine that Christ's cross in standing strong in the middle of a raging river, and in order not to be washed away, I must constantly hold onto that cross with both hands. If I am holding onto anything else… bitterness, anger, jealousy, pride, selfishness, material things, bad relationships, etc… I will be swept away. The Holy Spirit gives me the power to hold on, the strength to do what is right and light, and to turn away from darkness. That is a visual that helps me understand the position in which I stand in this world and with God. Nothing else compares to what Jesus delights to do inside me! He wants me to trust Him with outcomes, avenging, judgment, cleansing away the bad, filling me with God and with good.

Then how do we share this light?

Get on the nightstand
Ask Questions
Tell stories as Jesus did (examples of various dirtiness of plates, what tornado did to oaks and wildflowers)
God has an unlimited problem-solving tool box, which He will show us how and when to use

It is amazing that our Creator, who is the most intelligent, creative, capable problem solver in the universe, a being consisting of LOVE, powerful to save, heal, teach, rescue, wants to be intimate with us. He wants to be our daily friend and companion. He has proven Himself to be worthy of our trust and love. Are we drawn to the light, like moths, or away from the light, light roaches? In the end, there will only be two groups, no matter how many religions have developed. It is Christ on the cross, flanked by a thief who died and a thief who was saved. That is our choice, plain and simple.

So, our mission, should we chose to except it, is the mission of Jesus. Isaiah 61 gives the mission parameters. So we show God's character, His light by:

Preaching good news to the poor
Binding up the broken hearted

Proclaiming freedom fro captives
Proclaimng the year of the Lord's favor (God is with you!)
Proclaiming a day of vengeance of our God
Comforting all who mourn
Provide for those who grieve in Zion
Bestow a crown of beauty, the oil of gladness, the garment of praise

Are we a planting of the Lord for the display of His splendor?

In the book of Revelation, considering the devil, we see he is called a serpent (because he is cunning), and a dragon (because he desires to destroy). In order to keep us in the dark, what are some of the serpent dragon Satan's strategies?

1. Partial truth, just enough to make us think we are right
2. Too proud to admit we are wrong when new, true light is presented
3. Encouraging us to think that if we are too busy to pray or read the Bible, we will stay in the same relationship with God as we had before.
4. The blending of Christian teachings with pagan practices
5. Comparing ourselves to each other
6. Create ongoing fear and pressure of potential loss of health, job, family, money, good climate
7. Other ideas?

SUNDAY - Compromise: Satan's Subtle Strategy

Compare John 14:6 (Jesus said, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me") with John 8:44 (He also said, "You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father's desires. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is NO truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies."). What a contrast between Jesus' character and Satan's is seen in these two passages!

Throughout the centuries, Satan has used the strategy that worked in heaven with angels and with Eve in Eden, and now with us, to use lies, distortion of the truth, and creation of doubt in God and His Word to lead God's creatures astray.

"Satan well knew that the Holy Scriptures would enable men to discern his deceptions and withstand his power. It was by the word that even the Saviour of the world had resisted his attacks. At every assault, Christ presented the shield of eternal truth, saying, 'It is written.' To every suggestion of the adversary, He opposed the wisdom and power of the word. In order for Satan to maintain his sway over men, and establish the authority of the papal usurper, he must keep them in ignorance of the Scriptures. The Bible would exalt God and place finite men in their true position; therefore its sacred truths must be concealed and suppressed. This logic was adopted by the Roman Church. For hundreds of years the circulation of the Bible was prohibited. The people were forbidden to read it or to have it in their houses, and unprincipled priests and prelates interpreted its teachings to sustain their pretensions. Thus the pope came to be almost universally acknowledged as the vicegerent of God on earth, endowed with authority over church and state."—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, pg 51

But the priest and rulers thought they had light; all the light they needed. Jesus gave the parable of a priest who loudly and publicly prayed, ""God, I thank you that I am not like other people – robbers, evildoers, adulterers – or even like this tax collector. I hast twice a week and give a tenth of all I get." But the tax collector stood at a distance. He would not even look up to heaven, but beat his breast and said, "God, have mercy on me, a sinner." Jesus judged that the tax collector went home justified before God. "For all those who exalt themselves will be humbled, and those who humble themselves will be exalted." So, what does it mean to "humble yourself?" How does that bring light into our hearts, and salvation to our souls?

This world messages us all the time to think of ourselves as better than others, rich over poor, cultured over uncouth, smart verses dumb, and on and on in so many different ways. Because, after all, "I'm worth it!" But like most things in God's kingdom, His ways are the exact opposite of this world's ways of believing. While He calls us His friends, His brothers, His children, and inheritors of the kingdom, he gave us an example of what that meant when He bent down and washed His disciples' filthy feet, on the very night when each of them was going to betray, deny or desert him. He said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their high officials exercise authority over them. Not so with you. Instead, whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant, and whoever wants to be first must be your slave – just as the son of man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many." This humility, this unselfishness is light!

Both King Saul and King David were confronted by disobedience to God's commands, but while Saul rationalized his behavior, David confessed and agreed that God was right; David was wrong. He was called, a man after God's own heart. This humble confession of wrong is light!

MONDAY - Savage Wolves

Acts 20:29 expressed Paul's concern that "savage wolves will come in among you, not sparing the flock". In other words, believers would face fierce persecution from within the church.

Heresies would enter the church. False doctrines would be substituted for divine truths. Pagan practices would prevail. In the fourth and fifth centuries, compromise subtly crept into the Christian church, with mission advance being the probable justification. But the terrible result was a departure from the truth of God's word.

In 2 Thessalonians 2:7-12, Paul's comment, "the mystery of lawlessness does already work," is significant. Even in Paul's day, there was a gradual departure from the truth of God's Word regarding obedience to God's law. This departure would flourish in the later centuries.

Contrary to the second commandment, idols were introduced into Christian worship. For millennia, idols were in the forefront of all pagan religions. To make Christianity more acceptable to heathens coming into the Christian church, pagan deities were renamed as so-called saints. Sunday, the day of worship for the sun god, was gradually adopted as the day of Christian worship in honor of the Resurrection. This false day, not sanctioned in Scripture prevails even now.

What kind of compromises do we see entering the church today? More important, what kind of compromises might we be making, perhaps by blending truth and error?

Some people get very worried about the truth of the Bible when they hear of different interpretations by various translators, a comma here, an added word there. If we can't trust that the Bible is still staying exactly what God meant it to say, then they won't believe or follow any of it. But I have found that even with various interpretations, the vital things we need to be saved are preserved there. We find there that God is the creative force behind our existence, that He warned us to stay away from danger, but once our original parents got involved with danger and distrust, God developed a plan (at the cost of His own life) to rescue and heal our doomed race. We now have the same choice Adam and Eve had….trust God and follow His light and life-giving commands to Him, or distrust God and go into darkness…to our doom. All of the questions we have, someone in the Bible asked and was answered by God. We can find our answers there. I think of the Bible as a big jigsaw puzzle, with pieces hidden everywhere. It is a pleasure to put the pieces together and see the final result of what God hid there for us to find. The answers! We need to find the answers for ourselves, guided by the Holy Spirit. The way, the truth and the life are there for us to find and learn more about.

"Create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew a steadfast sprit within me. Do not cast me from your presence or take your Holy Spirit from me. Restore to me the joy of your salvation and grant me a willing spirit, to sustain me. THEN I will teach transgressors your ways, and sinners will turn back to you.

Whether we are lost or saved is totally the result of our own decisions. We have a choice. God will honor our choice, but it is a strange work for Him to have to let go of any of us into eternal non-existence (Romans 1). Much like it would be strange for us to try to rescue our child who has fallen into the freezing ocean, only to have them repeatedly push our hands away and refuse to hold on to be saved. They would choose to sink and drown rather than have help from us. Heartbreaking! You can see God's heart on this issue in multiple places in the Bible, for example:

Isaiah 65:1-3 "I revealed myself to those who did not ask for me; I was found by those who did not seek me. To a nation that did not call on my name, I said, "Her am I, here am I!" All day long I have held out my hands to an obstinate people, who walk in ways not good, pursuing their own imaginations – a people who continually provoke me to my very face…"

Matthew 23:37 "Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who kill the prophets and stone those sent to you, how often I have longs to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, and you were not willing. Look, your house is left to you desolate."

Deuteronomy 30:19,20 'This day I call the heavens and the earth as witnesses against you that I have set before you life and death, blessings and curses. Now choose life, so that you and your children may live and that you may love the Lord you God, listen to his voice, and hold fast to him. For the Lord is you life, and he will give you many years in the land…."

When we believe lies about God and how He runs His universe, it not only influences others within our church, but also those outside of the church, effectively taking God's name in vain. What are some of the ways Satan seeks to weaken the Bible's influence on us?

- Scientific endeavors (Before the flood and today)
- Biblical Scholarship
- Procrastination
- Business
- Rushing through reading of the Bible
- Not seeking the direction of the Holy Spirit
- Not digging into the "Why" of what you read
- Becoming more interested in solving earthy problems than in our mission and connection with God
- Taking one verse and making a whole doctrine from it
- Not asking how what you are reading says about God's character
- Wrong doctrines leave people open to attack by demons (for example the state of the dead, eternal burning hell, secret rapture…)

TUESDAY – Safeguarded by the Word

The Bible is the infallible revelation of God's will. It presents Heaven's plan for humanity's salvation. Since "all Scripture is given by the inspiration of God," it is "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim. 3:16, NKJV). That is, "all Scripture" is inspired by God; not some parts or some parts more than others. The whole Bible must be accepted as the Word of God. Otherwise the door is wide open for deception.

The Bible clearly reveals God's infinite love in the light of the great controversy. It also exposes satanic delusions and reveals the devil's deceptions. Satan hates the Word of God and has done everything possible throughout the centuries to destroy its influence.

After all, what would we know about the plan of salvation without the Bible? How much, if anything, would we understand about the birth, life, teachings, and ministry of Jesus? Without the Scriptures, would we even begin to comprehend the depth of Christ's sacrifice, the glory of His resurrection, the power of His intercession, and the majesty of His return?

We must fight against any and all attempts to undermine its authority or inspiration, even from those who, while professing great love of the Bible, bring doubts about it, even subtly. Tragically, especially through the inroads of modern thinking, many theologians and Christians focus so much on the human side of Scripture that the Bible becomes the word of man instead the Word of God. The Bible, they argue, is the writings of kings, shepherds, a fisherman, priests, poets, and others who shared their understandings and conceptions of God, of nature, and of reality the best that they, in their time and place, understood them.

If this were true, why should we, living today in the twenty-first century, really care about what these people thought, much less make what they thought the foundation of our hope for eternity?

Psalm 119:105, 116, 130, 133, and 160 give insights from the psalmist, such as, “Your word is a lamp for my feet and a light on my path,’ “uphold me and I will be delivered, “it gives understanding to the simple,” and “redeem me from human oppression.’

WEDNESDAY – Human Reasoning Apart from Scripture

The Holy Spirit works through our minds. He invites us to explore the mysteries of the universe. As someone has aptly stated: “As Christians, we do not check our brains at the door of the church.” Nevertheless, the brilliance of human reasoning alone is incapable of discovering the divine truths of Scripture. Truth is not a matter of human opinion. It is a matter of divine revelation.

One of the devil’s most effective deceptions is to lead us to believe that human reasoning, unaided by the Holy Spirit and uninformed by the Word of God, is sufficient to understand God’s will. There may be a way that seems right to us, or even to entire cultures, but it may be totally wrong in the eyes of God.

Mark Finley, who wrote this quarter’s lessons, shared the following: “A few years ago, my wife and I decided to do some hiking in the forest near the hotel we were staying at for the night. Typically, I am fairly good at directions, and after hiking for about an hour or so taking various trails, I was quite confident that I could find our way back with little difficulty. But soon we found ourselves hopelessly lost in the forest. The sun was going down, and I feared the worst. Thankfully, we met some other hikers who knew the way. We had been at least five miles off course but near a main road. Since their car was parked nearby, they offered us a ride back to our hotel. Discovering someone who knew the way and someone who had the ability to get us back to our destination made all the difference for us.”

God has not left us alone on our journey from earth to heaven. The Holy Spirit points us to the sacred Scriptures that lead us homeward. Truth and error, right and wrong, good and evil—these can be correctly understood only in light of God’s Word. That which contradicts God and His Word is error, and error is always dangerous; that which is in harmony with God is truth and goodness. How important that we make God’s Word our final arbiter of truth and morality.

Why is the human mind without the aid of the Holy Spirit incapable of discovering divine truth? Discuss the relationship between human reason and divine revelation. How does reason actually help us understand divine revelation? For example, look at Daniel 2, a prophecy that covers world history from the time of Babylon to the Second Coming. How does a prophecy like this powerfully appeal to human reason?

What shifts our paradigm, and breaks us out of our cocooned beliefs to see new revelations from God?

These are some of mine:

- Jesus pleading with the Father
- The realization that, as a nurse, I am a recording angel
- Tem commandments are like an MRI
- The hospital of salvation, instead of the courtroom

THURSDAY – Battle for the Mind

The Moody Bible Institute produced a film about pilots, who flew into the jet stream before people knew there was one. Their instruments told them they had reached their destination; however, they didn't believe it because they weren't due to reach their destination for several more hours. So, they kept on flying, but never reaching their destination. When their plane went down due to lack of fuel, they each tried walking in the same direction, still looking for the city for which they had aimed. Their bodies were found in the desert at various locations…having never found their destination. Of course, had they relied on their instruments, they would have arrived safely.

An illustration of how our inner ears work was also given in this presentation, showing how a person can think they are still turning in one direction, while they are actually turning in the opposite direction. This is why pilots who fly in stormy weather have to have IFR certifications, or Instrument Flight Rules. Even seasoned pilots must adhere strictly to their instruments, and fight their instincts to fly by how they feel about their position in the sky. John F. Kennedy is a sad example of an inexperienced pilot "flying by the seat of his pants" and ending up crashing; killing himself and his passengers. He would have been better off to have put his autopilot on…it would have gone by the plane's instruments.

We can think we are so right, but be so very wrong. Satan takes advantage of our tendency to believe we are right, no matter what, by presenting falsehood so very close to the truth that we will embrace it, without searching the scriptures to find the truth. God knows our best path and will share it with us, if we spend our time talking and listening to Him. He does have this annoying tendency to wait until the very last minute to show us the path…to see if we will try to solve the problem on our own, like Abraham. He tests us to see if we will trust Him and wait for His answers. He will finally shine a light from the end of our challenging tunnels and shows us the way to take. Learning this about Him helps us to show others how to find the light at the end of their dark tunnels of life.

2 Cor. 4:4 says, "whose minds the god of this age has blinded, who do not believe.." What does this mean? How are their eyes blinded? How are eyes opened?

The Greek word for "mind" in this passage is noema. It literally means our perception or mental faculties. The SDA Bible Commentary makes an enlightening statement about this verse. "The battle between Christ and Satan is a battle for the minds of men. (Rom. 7:23, 25; 12:2; 2 Cor. 3:14, 11:3; Phil. 2:5, 4:7, 8). Satan's principal work is to blind or darken men's minds. He does this by keeping them from the study of God's Word, by deranging the powers of the mind through the excesses of body and soul, by wholly occupying the mind through the things of this life, and by appealing to pride and self-exaltation." Volume 6, p. 854

The lack of knowledge on the part of the lost is not because they COULD NOT know. It is because they WOULD NOT know. Many have had every opportunity to know truth but chose not to believe, and Satan blinded their eyes. Satan's kingdom is a kingdom of darkness. As The SDA Bible Commentary adds, "The gospel is the only means by which Satan's diabolical schemes and deceptions can be exposed, and by which men can see the way from darkness to light."—Volume 6, p. 854. The essence of the New Testament message is the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus. Jesus is at the heart of the gospel and is the center of scripture. All /Scripture testifies of Him (John 5:39).

During the early centuries of the Christian church, the New Testament believers were totally committed to Christ as the One who was the light in their darkness. They were redeemed by His grace, transformed by His power, and motivated by His love. Even death could not break their bond of loyalty to Christ. They recognized the devil's deceptions in the glorious light of the gospel. Christ has always had men and women who, by His grace, have stood courageously for His truth. In these early centuries, the light of Christ's love, grace, and truth shone through the darkness.

FRIDAY – Further Thought

The same spirit of hatred and opposition to the truth has inspired the enemies of God in every age, and the same vigilance and fidelity have been required in His servants. The words of Christ to the first disciples are applicable to His followers to the close of time: 'What I say unto you I say unto all, Watch.' Mark 13:37."—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, pp. 56, 57

In many parts of the world, especially where people have free access to the Bible, Satan has employed other means to weaken its influence. One very effective way has been through various scientific endeavors or even biblical scholarship, which sometimes takes positions that, if accepted, would undermine trust in the Word of God. For example, though the book of Daniel dates itself to more than 500 years before Christ, many Bible scholars date it, instead, to the middle of the second century B.C. They argue that it had to be written at this time; otherwise the prophet would have been accurately telling the future, and that can't happen. Therefore, they argue, Daniel was not written when it says it was but, rather, hundreds of years later. Unfortunately, this lie about the Bible is one of many that modern scholarship seeks to foist upon us. And more unfortunately, many people accept this error because, after all, Bible scholars are teaching it. No wonder Paul warns us, "Test all things; hold fast to what is good." (1 Thessalonians 5:21)

Satan's major attempt in the great controversy between good and evil is to malign God's character and present Him as an authoritarian, unloving tyrant. How does the evil one attempt to do this, and what is God's response to his lies?

In 2 Corinthians 11:14, 15, Paul confirmed, "…Satan himself masquerades as an angel of light. It is not surprising, then, if his servants also masquerade as servants of righteousness. Their end will be what their actions deserve."

The apostle Peter affirms that “no prophecy is of private interpretation” (2 Pet. 1:20). How can we be sure we do not distort the meaning of Scripture to achieve our own ends? Why might this be easier to do than we realize? How can we safeguard ourselves against it?

The Bible depicts the great controversy in terms of a conflict between two radically opposite forces, such as light versus darkness or truth versus lies. True, the side of evil clamors for a compromise with the truth, for such compromise is evil’s only chance of survival. The side of evil seeks to secure its survival at any cost in order that it might destroy that which is good or of God. That is why the devil has continually been at work to lure the church into compromise. Unfortunately, the church fell into compromise, as did humanity’s first parents. The effects of these compromises are seen and felt to this day. God, however, who is the Source of truth and light, will never compromise. Trust in God and faithfulness to the truth, as revealed in Jesus through Scripture, will safeguard the church from compromise and prevent us from falling prey to the devil.

Let’s talk about compromise.

In various social contexts, such as family life and politics, compromise is considered acceptable and, in many situations, even desirable. Generally, the word “compromise” refers to reaching an agreement, to settling, by mutual concession, for the middle ground between the positions of two or more parties. The key to such an agreement lies in “concession”: each side must cede something so that both, or all, sides can continue to coexist or live together. In some cases, each side compromises because none has the strength to convince, or overcome, and control the other side by force. In other cases, the parties compromise simply because they want to live together peaceably as neighbors, or as family, in love or mutual respect.

In the context of the latter perspective, compromise certainly has a positive connotation, appearing as a solution to conflict and as an opportunity for peaceful coexistence. These types of compromises are common in our daily lives and involve negotiation or tolerance. However, in general, compromise is perceived as a negative phenomenon, implying the loss of an essential value, principle, truth, or quality. A compromised lot of medicine, immune system, national identity, education, morality, reputation, harvest, or military position is all undesirable and unacceptable because these threaten our very way of life or existence. The mixture of the ideas of worship in paganism with those in Christianity causes confusion and contamination of the truth. We need unvarnished truth, but we are not always happy with pure truth. We look to symbols, to artifacts, to relics as a way to imagine God and His power, but these symbols tell us nothing about the true God, and merely serve to lower our conceptions of who He really is. Why do you think the Ten Commandments list making no forms of anything in heaven, earth or waters to worship? None of these things compares in the least way to God. Christians need to remove the paganism from our beliefs, to keep and share the light of truth! Darkness is just outside the light and only waits to return when the light dims or goes out.

How about God? Could not He compromise with the rebel angels or with fallen humans to avoid the war in heaven and to allow all to coexist peacefully? Could He not, at least, tolerate the opposing party? If the opposing side wanted independence or autonomy, could not God grant this request?

Could He not simply give the rebels a region somewhere in a corner of the universe where they might live by themselves instead of being exterminated?

First, there is a qualitative difference between our daily negotiations and the compromise that Lucifer was desirous of achieving. God created us with all the freedom necessary to express ourselves, to interact and negotiate with others, in love and in righteousness. However, there are some physical and moral limitations that cannot be compromised because these limits constitute the very foundation of our existence. This foundation is comprised of the truths that God is our Creator, our Provider, our Lawgiver (and as such, reveals how we should live our lives in order to be happy), and our King. God is the Source of our life. We simply cannot exist without Him. Lucifer wanted to change this very foundation. He challenged God's character, status, and authority and claimed that humans are gods (Gen. 3:4), having existence in themselves and having ability to create their own meanings of, and standards for, life and happiness.

Second, and closely related to the point above, is the nature of sin. Sin is not merely holding a dissenting opinion. Sin is the conscious and deliberate rebellion against, and rejection of, God's claim that He is the only Creator, Provider, Lawgiver, and King. Sin cannot tolerate the existence of such a God. The foundational impulse of sin is to topple this God from His throne and install self as the king. The devil, however, offers a compromise. He would be willing to renounce his call for a total rejection of God's existence as long as he, Lucifer, was also recognized as a god. God, on the other hand, allows no room for such a compromise or negotiation with sin. What can He concede on His part? To say that He is not the Creator? To say He is not the Provider? To say that He is not the Source of life and standard of happiness and morality? To say that angels and humans can have life without Him? Any of these would be a lie. While compromise would be a triumph for the devil, compromise would mean capitulation for God.

Third, and closely related to the first two points, the situation described above is not only about truth and honor but constitutes the ultimate life-and-death situation. Let us imagine for a moment that we are Adam and Eve. We are in a setting in which Satan and God explain their positions to us prior to the fall into sin. Satan claims that God lies to us, that we are autonomous, that we are gods, and that we are immortal. Furthermore, he asserts that we can reject God's claims and will not die (Gen. 3:4) because we contain life, original and underived, within ourselves. Further, Satan accuses God of using His claim of being the Source and standard of life to control us all; this divine claim, for Satan, is dictatorship, autocracy, abuse, deception, and injustice. According to Satan, the fact that God does not want to compromise corroborates his allegations. For this reason, Satan calls us to break free from God's "lies" and "abuse" and experience a new consciousness and autonomy, wherein we discover and enjoy our infinite and eternal divine potential. But aren't these just allegations and speculations? Do we not run the risk of dying or disappearing from existence if we disconnect from God? Is it worth trying, just to prove a theory empirically? Lucifer certainly thought it was worth taking the risk.

God, on the other hand, tells us that He is the only Creator and Provider, and thus we cannot exist without Him. He tells us that if we do not believe Him, if we reject Him and His affirmations, we will disconnect from Him, the Source of life, and we will die, that is, disappear from existence. God explains to us that this outcome is not mere speculation but a fact because He is our Creator. We did not create ourselves, and we are not eternal. This fact alone, based on His Word, must be sufficient for us to believe Him. However, God points out that His claims are also evidenced by our past and present life: that is, as long as we have believed Him and lived with Him, everyone has been happy. The entire universe has been running smoothly, and no one has died. God further explains to us that He cannot compromise not only because He is right but also because if He renounces His throne, all of us and the entire universe will disappear from existence since He is the only Provider or Sustainer of existence and life. For this reason, God calls us to believe Him, to trust Him, to stay with Him, and to live happily with Him forever.

If you witnessed such a debate, whom would you have believed?

Fourth, unfortunately for humanity, our primeval parents accepted Lucifer's speculation. Was the risk worth taking? No. The choice of our first parents turned into a tragedy for them and for the entire human race. Moreover, this conclusion is not mere speculation but is based on historical and empirical evidence. Instead of feeling divine and living forever after disobeying God's law, humanity felt empty, naked, and full of shame, their hearts and relationships broken (Gen. 3:7, 8). Moreover, the human race began to suffer and die. However, Lucifer did not stop his speculations against God's government; he proposed more compromise. We are immortal, he now claimed, because we have an immortal soul, which, after death, goes to a spiritual, ethereal sphere. Tragically, most people have fallen into the trap of believing that falsehood. Moreover, Lucifer now began calling on God and humanity to accept the reality of the existence of sin and death as the new normal. In the many non-biblical religions that have prevailed throughout human history, Satan has proposed to redefine and reinterpret suffering and death in order to avoid their pervasive presence, which constantly undermines his lying claims.

Fifth, God remained true to Himself. He explained that Adam and Eve remained alive after rejecting Him, not because Satan was right in his claim that we are immortal, nor because God compromised. Rather, Adam and Eve did not die because God, in His eternal love for humanity, had a plan of salvation, which started operating as soon as humans fell into sin. According to this plan, God, far from compromising, gave us a new opportunity to choose to be saved, live, and stay with Him. But this new opportunity and salvation were not the products of compromise. We must not confuse compromise with God's patience, love, and grace. Rather, salvation and the new opportunity for life spring from God's sacrifice. Precisely because God did not, and could not, compromise, He sacrificed. But He did not sacrifice us. Rather, He sacrificed His own life. If compromise were possible, He would not have needed to die in our place. But because He did not compromise, He chose rather to die in our place in order to uphold His truth, to manifest His love and righteousness, and to save us from the guilt and power of sin. Moreover, He did not compromise because He knew the consequences of compromise: suffering, misery, and death of the entire humanity and universe.

For the same reasons, God's true people do not compromise. True, traditional Christianity compromised the revelation of God's truth in Scripture. However, God worked to restore His truth in order that He might save as many as possible. For this reason, His faithful remnant church happily collaborates with Him to help spread His truth by reflecting His light.

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 4
Standing for the Truth

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

The title for the lesson, Standing for the Truth—what truth are we to be standing for?

- That there is a God in heaven who is the Creator of heaven and Earth?
  - Don't the Jews and Muslims believe that?
  - Didn't those who crucified Christ believe that?
- That Jesus is our Savior?
  - Don't all Christian groups believe that?
  - Do we have any truth for this time that we want to share with all groups, including Christians of other denominations?
- That the Bible Sabbath is Saturday?
  - Didn't the Jews who crucified Jesus believe this?
- That humans are mortal beings and eternal life originates and comes only from God?
  - Don't many other groups believe this?
  - Is this the truth that saves people?
- That Jesus is coming soon?
  - Don't most Christians believe this?
- That there is a sanctuary in heaven and Jesus is our heavenly High Priest? Ah, the unique SDA doctrine—is this the essential truth that we are to take to the world, the truth of the sanctuary in heaven and Jesus' work there?

What is the truth that we are to stand for?

What about the truth about God Himself—that God is not like Satan has made Him out to be?

- For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. (2 Corinthians 10:3-5 NIV84, emphasis mine).

And what is the single most important belief that shapes, impacts, determines what we believe about God, His character, methods, principles, and trustworthiness? What we believe about God's law.

If we believe God's law functions in any way like human law, made up rules that require infliction of punishment, then we always believe things about God that are not true of God but are like Satan in some way. Those who believe God's law functions like human law will teach things like:

- God's justice is using power to inflict punishment for unpaid for sin.
- God is required by law and justice to torture and kill unrepentant sinners.
- God killed Jesus as our substitute to satisfy His wrath or to meet the demands of the law or to pay our legal penalty.
- God cannot look upon our sin without becoming angry and needs a mediator in between Him and us to propitiate His wrath.
- God is the source of death.
- God cannot forgive outright but requires a legal payment in order to forgive.
- Sin doesn't actually harm the sinner and cause death, sin is rule-breaking and gets one in legal trouble and God harms you for it.
- Jesus' must hide our record from the Father in the judgment in some way or the Father will be required to use power to kill us. So beautiful metaphors about the robe of righteousness, or the sacrificial system, or the cleansing power of Jesus' blood etc. get perverted to teach appeasement, one member of the Godhead working on another member to influence, appease, propitiate, calm-down, satisfy the anger of God.

And on the list goes, but all of these descriptions present God with attributes of Satan.

The truth we are called to take to the world, the truth we are called to stand for, is the truth about God Himself, and we get ever clearer understanding of God's true character, methods, and principles when we reject the human view of law and recognize all of God's laws are design laws—the protocols the Creator built reality to operate upon.

Read last paragraph,

- Throughout the centuries, men and women have been willing to experience martyrdom rather than give up their faith in Christ. Their sacrifice rekindles our courage. The story of their commitment to Christ renews our own commitment. This week we will look at some biblical principles that motivated the Waldenses and later Reformers, such as Huss and Jerome, to stay faithful to the Lord no matter what—even at the threat of death from the same power that killed Polycarp: Rome, but now in the papal phase. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 30).

Haven't you been inspired by the faithful standing for their faith—even to the point of being martyred? And it is certainly true that many faithful followers of Jesus have been persecuted and killed for their faith throughout history.

Does this mean then, that standing faithful all the way to martyrdom is a sign of being right with God? If we see people who stand by their faith all the way unto death, does that mean they are on God's side, standing for the right thing? What about those who:

- Burned to death with David Koresh?
- Strap bombs on themselves and blow themselves up in cafés or fly airplanes into buildings?

We are certainly inspired by the stories such as Stephen being stoned, Paul being beheaded, and the martyrs for Christ throughout human history—but is willingness to die good evidence that the cause the person died for is the right cause?

What is better evidence than a person's willingness to die for the cause? The truth, the truth manifested in harmony with the design laws of God as evidenced in Scripture, science/nature, and real-life experiences.

SUNDAY

The day's lesson is entitled Persecuted Yet Triumphant and focuses on the 1260 years of persecution during the Middle and Dark Ages.

Most of you have heard the details of these various Bible prophecies, the day year principle the start date for this prophecy in 538 AD and the completion date in 1798. If you haven't and you would like these details, please read our magazine Unmasking the Beasts of Revelation 13 & 17 which you can get here in the lobby, read online on our website, or if you have a US postal address can order at requests@comeandreason.com and we will ship it to you at no cost.

What I want to emphasize today, are the goals and methods of Satan's warfare. His goal is not to kill all humans—his goal is replace God in the hearts and minds of human beings so that:

1. We worship, admire, esteem, value him and
2. We become like him in character so that he therby replaces the image of God that we were created to bear with his own.

And the methods of Satan are:

1. Lies (John 8:44)
2. Imposed laws (Ecclesiastes 5:8; Daniel 7:25; Jeremiah 8:8)
3. Police & prosecution /accusation (Zechariah 3:1; Revelation 12:10)
4. Judicial power/rulings (Matthew 27:19-26)
5. Economics (Matthew 6:24; 27:17-21)
6. War (Daniel 7:21; Revelation 13:11)
7. Death (Hebrews 2:14)
8. Education/Indoctrination (Acts 7:21; Daniel 1:5)
9. Ownership/usurped authority/pride (Genesis 47:16, Isaiah 14:13,14)
10. Fear (Genesis 3:10)

Satan's strategy in applying these methods follow a certain pattern:

- Deception—Satan lied to Eve in Eden, and he approached Jesus as an angel of light. He is the father of lies and he always seeks to deceive, to lie and get us to believe his lies.
    - There are many ways Satan deceives, one of the most effective is through the evangelism of his converts, those who are true believers in his falsehoods. Through them we see many virtues—we perceive their sincerity, their devotion, their commitment, their passion, their willingness to sacrifice for their cause, sometimes their concern for others, but what we don't receive or perceive from these bearers of false gospels is the truth.
    - Just imagine the many advocates for the COVID jab, masking, lockdowns, and other harmful actions during the beastly attack on our liberties. Many true converts to the lies demonstrated real passion, real sincerity, real devotion to their cause—they wanted to save lives, many had love in their hearts mixed with fear of losing those they loved and begged and pleaded with family members to take actions they believed were life-saving. But they didn't have the truth, and those actions if taken only harmed.
- Inducements—bribes, offers of something to make us more or reward us in some way, typically appealing to ego, esteem, power, prestige, position. Something to introduce and inflame that lie that we can't trust God with our position, our calling, our mission, we need to act in self-interest. It is often accompanied by fear, fear of losing the opportunity if you don't act for self. He offered Eve to become like God. He offered Jesus all the kingdoms of the world.
    - We saw this during COVID, get a jab and get a donut, or a free gift card or a sticker or pin identifying yourself as a morally superior person who loves others.
- Miracles—Eve was presented with the miracle of a talking serpent; Jesus was miraculously transported to the temple and then tempted to call upon God to perform a miracle by throwing Himself off the temple. These miracles by Satan were not illusions, not pretend, they were real. And Satan can perform certain miracles and will do so again before Christ returns.
- Threats—Jesus was threatened repeatedly by the Jews at the instigation of Satan, was threatened with rejection, abandonment of friends, betrayal, His reputation was tarnished, eventually threatened with death by the Jews and threatened by Pilate before Pilate finally condemned Him to death.
    - We saw this during COVID, threats to take away liberty, restrict travel, removed digital platforms, fire from jobs, lose scholarships, fines, arrest and more.
- Physical assault, abuse, torment—acts of real injustice and wrong.
    - We saw this during COVID pastors arrested for not closing their churches, small business shut down while the big box stores stayed open, violence against people who refused to comply.
- Death

We saw most of these during COVID—just think how much more intense it is going to be the next go around when Satan impersonates Jesus and performs all kinds of miracles and the world is faced with another global ending threat that if people don't comply and following this leader we are going to die. Then the death penalty will be advanced and our only hope is Jesus returning to save us.

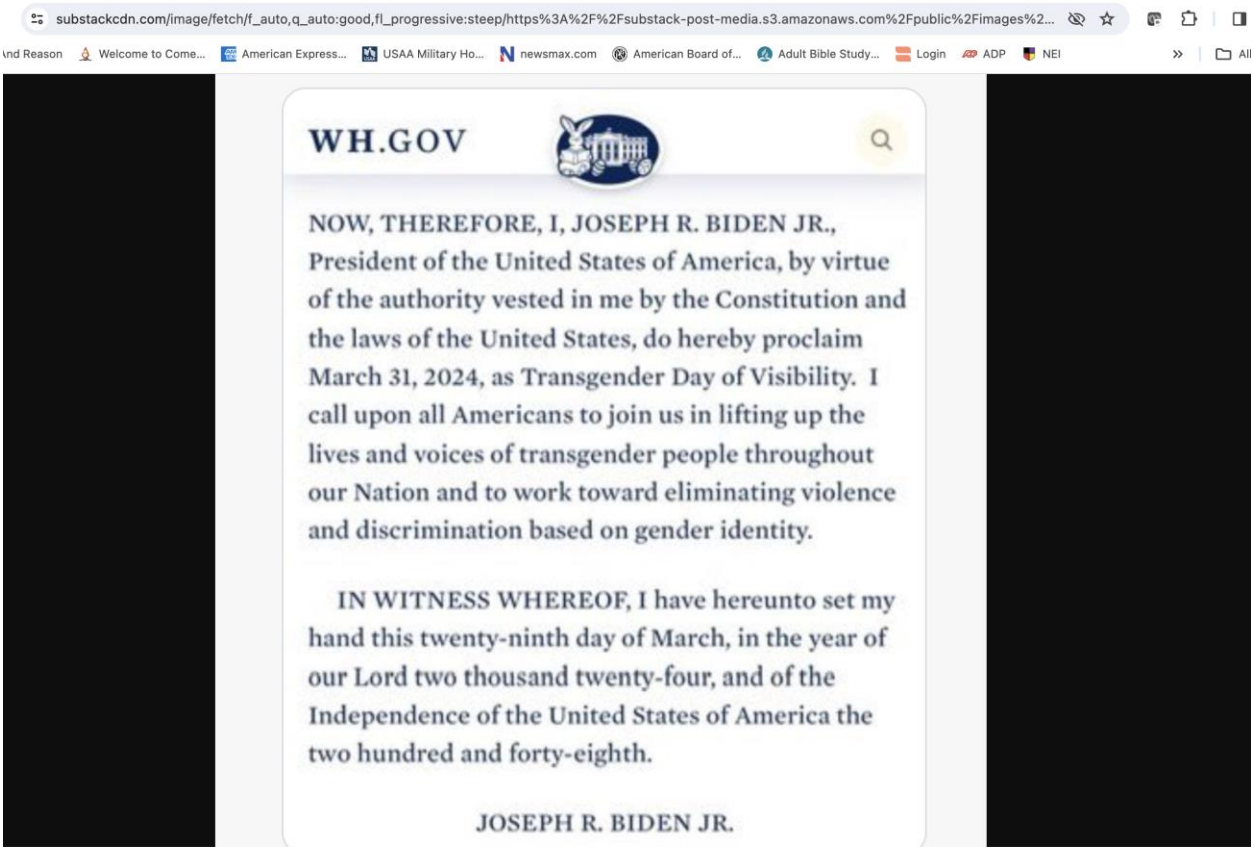
Satan's strategies are designed to get us to choose him and his methods over God and God's methods:

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust and incite fear and selfishness corrupting the character.
- Accepting inducements to do wrong inflames selfishness and breaks trust with God, incites fear and selfishness and corrupts the character
- Believing miracles over the truth and evidence God has given surrenders the mind to the miracle worker leading to choices that breaks the circle of love and trust inciting fear and selfishness corrupting the character
- Threats are designed to incite fear undermine trust and lead one to act selfishly (i.e., by hurting others) to protect self, after all isn't self-defense right? Then why did Jesus say we should turn the other cheek?
- But the big one which is right now being employed as we approach the final events before Christ's return, the strategy that is going to deceive all but the elect, is the perpetration of real wrong, real injustice upon innocents, which is designed by Satan to cause a real sense of outrage, righteous indignation, and a desire for justice, which tempts the righteous to embrace and practice Satan's methods to make things right, to use might and power, the power of the state and the power of force to inflict punishment upon the wrong doers. This was the temptation Jesus faced during His trial and crucifixion, injustice upon injustice, to the One who held all power. Would Jesus use power to do so-called justice by punishing the overt wrong doers or would He forgive His persecutors—those doing real evil, real wrong? And this is what is happening in the world today. Satanic forces are doing more and more injustice of all kinds and the goal is to inflame outrage in the people of God to get them to choose to embrace and join with the beastly powers of this world to use the power of the state to do justice, to punish wrong doing. But Jesus said we are to love our enemies and pray for those who abuse us that we may be children of our Father who is in heaven.
    - We saw Satan's tactic manifested on Easter when the President of the United States released the following proclamation:



This had nothing to do with blessing, benefiting, or helping people struggling with gender confusion. Don't be confused by the sophistry, subtlety, and misdirection of the evil one. This has to do with tempting righteous people by actions that offend them, so they will seek to make it right, to do justice by embracing and applying Satan's methods and thereby they change themselves from living representatives of God and His design laws of love and truth, to beings in the image of God's enemy.

We must instead recognize the truth of God's character and design laws—that we cannot make anyone righteous, or society righteous, by using imposed rules and coercive enforcement. We must recognize, as Jesus did on the Cross, that the injustice being perpetrated by evil people cannot be resolved or remedied by using the very same methods that they use. We must recognize, as Jesus did on the Cross, that those crucifiers were not actually destroying Jesus, they were destroying themselves. And likewise, we must recognize that when people do evil to us, they are not destroying our souls, they are actually destroying their own souls, warping their own characters, searing their own consciences, and hardening their own hearts—because that is how reality works. We must see through design law and know this is unavoidable and stop seeing events through imposed law where we believe it is right and just to use power to punish them for their wrongdoing. This is the only way we can prevent Satan's evil seeds from infecting our own hearts. We must have God's law of love written within us so that we, like Jesus, like Stephen, can say "Don't lay this to their account.

Father forgiven them they don't know what they are doing. They think they are doing right by seeking to destroy us, but we know that they are only destroying their own souls—and we will, just like you Father, miss them when we are in heaven with you."

- And finally, if Satan cannot get God's people to choose his methods and become like him in character then he will inspire those who are like him and who value his methods to seek to destroy, even kill, those who refuse to be corrupted, but it will all be advanced under the guise of doing what is right, of only doing justice. The wicked always end up persecuting and seeking to kill the righteous and thereby take their influence away. And when it is led by churches and governments, it is always couched as doing something for the greater good, to stop evil, to save the nation, to save lives, or to save souls or to save the organization. As Caiaphas said, "it is better for one man to die than the nations." (John 11:50).

Read first paragraph,

- The book of Jude was written sometime before A.D. 65 to faithful Christians who were "sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ" (Jude 1:1, NKJV). These faithful believers were urged to "contend earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered to the saints. For certain men have crept in unnoticed, . . . who turn the grace of our God into lewdness" (Jude 1:3, 4, NKJV). This admonition meant even more to believers in the Middle Ages after pagan practices had flooded into the church and human traditions compromised the Word of God. For many centuries, people, such as the Waldenses, stood as champions for the truths of Scripture. They believed that Christ was their only mediator and the Bible their sole source of authority. "In every age there were witnesses for God—men who cherished faith in Christ as the only mediator between God and man, who held the Bible as the only rule of life, and hallowed the true Sabbath."—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, p. 61. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 32).

The lesson is focusing on how Christianity became infected with all kinds of superstitions, human traditions, and false beliefs that resulted in human beings taking the name of Jesus—calling themselves Christians, yet going on Crusades, practicing the Inquisition, burning those who believed differently at the stake and many more un-Christlike activities.

The question is how could this happen? How could these ideas get into the hearts and minds of people so that they thought it was virtuous, righteous, honoring Jesus to act is such ways?

In Isaiah chapter 58, we find the following prophecy:

- Those from among you shall build the old waste places; you shall raise up the foundations of many generations; and you shall be called the Repairer of the Breach, The Restorer of Streets to Dwell In (Isaiah 58:12 NKJV).

But what is the wall that has been breached? And what is the breach that we are to repair?

This imagery is taken from ancient Jerusalem, whose wall that protected it and the temple at its center was broken down when Babylon attacked Israel, sacked the city, destroyed the temple, and took the people captive. Then, after 70 years of captivity, the prophets Ezra and Nehemiah led a remnant of Israelites back to Jerusalem to not only rebuild the temple but also to repair the wall that had been breached (broken down).

In 1 Corinthians 10:6, the Bible tells us that the stories of the Old Testament were recorded as examples to us. This means that the Bible record is more than just a historical account; it is a record of real historical people, events, and places, recorded under divine inspiration to teach eternal realities. The specific lives and events recorded in Scripture were included by the inspiration of God for the purpose of advancing the plan of salvation—thus, most of the historical events have object-lesson significance to teach God's plan to save sinners.

Israel was taken captive by Babylon:

- Babylon is symbolic of the worldly and ungodly systems and sinful methods under which the people of God are held captive and are called to leave before Jesus comes (Revelation 18:2–4).
- Jerusalem is symbolic of the people of God, of Zion, in which the righteous live and the temple of God is found.
- The temple is symbolic of God's plan to heal and save people from sin; it is the place where sinners are restored to at-one-ment with God. In other words, the temple is symbolic of God's work through Jesus to cleanse the spirit temple from sin and restore sinners to unity with God.
- The destruction of the temple is symbolic of the destruction of the truth about God and His plan to heal and save in the minds of people—the setting up of the abomination that causes desolation in the wing of the temple, the setting up of a false system in place of the true plan to save and heal.

The historical events of Babylon breaking down the walls of Jerusalem, destroying the temple, and taking the people captive symbolize the corrupt systems of this world (Satan's kingdom with its methods, principles, practices, and laws) warring against the true people of God (the church) in an attempt to break down the protective wall that God has given to safeguard our hearts and minds and take the people captive, in heart and mind, to a false system of worship that is represented by Babylon. This is why the call goes out in Revelation 18 for God's people to come out of Babylon; it is because God's people are being held captive in this fallen and corrupt system.

This same truth is taught in a variety of ways in Scripture—for instance, the little horn of Daniel 7:21 and the beast of Revelation 13:7 warring against the saints and taking them captive describe the same events.

The apostle Paul describes this same breach, the same taking captive of hearts and minds, in 2 Thessalonians 2:4, where he describes the man of lawlessness setting himself up in God's temple and proclaiming himself to be God. Paul is describing the man of sin, the lawless one, breaching the walls of protection that God has placed around His people and entering God's temple, setting himself up as the one worshiped instead of God.

Paul wrote this passage about 20 years after Jesus' resurrection and ascension into heaven. Satan did not ride into heaven and set himself up there. And the temple in Jerusalem was destroyed shortly after Paul wrote this passage, so Satan did not set himself up in that temple. Therefore, Paul is not talking about either the temple in Jerusalem or the one in heaven; rather, he is talking about the Spirit temple where our Creator God is to be enthroned. It is by breaching the wall of protection God has given us that has enabled Satan to storm in and take captive the hearts and minds of people and enthrone himself as the god that billions worship today.

The question for us today is: What is the protective wall, how was it breached, and how do we rebuild it?

The Breached Wall

Isaiah adds some details that give important clues to the nature of the wall that has been breached, the wall that protects our hearts and minds:

- If you turn away your foot from the Sabbath, from doing your pleasure on My holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy day of the LORD honorable, and shall honor Him, not doing your own ways, nor finding your own pleasure, nor speaking your own words, then you shall delight yourself in the LORD; and I will cause you to ride on the high hills of the earth, and feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father. The mouth of the LORD has spoken (Isaiah 58:13,14 NKJV).

Isaiah identifies one of God's commandments in connection with the repairing of the breach. This suggests that the wall of protection may be connected to God's law. Jeremiah and the writer of Hebrews go further than Isaiah; they identify the entire law of God as pivotal to our restoration in the new covenant:

- This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the LORD. I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people (Jeremiah 31:33; Hebrews 8:10 NIV84).

There were two covenants because there are two kinds of law in play—God's design laws and the imposed laws that creatures make up. The old covenant was formed at Sinai when the Israelites chose a covenant of law and performance over a covenant of love and trust. In other words, the Israelites believed and practiced the idea that God's law functions like human-imposed law, rules imposed that they were to obey, and if they didn't, then their sense of justice would demand that they be punished, but if they did obey, then they believed they would earn rewards. This is the covenant that Paul exposes as false in the books of Romans and Galatians—the legal, rules-oriented, works system of law-keeping rather than faith, rather than love and trust that comes from reconciliation with God and living in harmony with how He built life to operate.

The old covenant was based on the people's false belief that God's law is imposed and that righteousness is to be found in their law-keeping, which earns either rewards or punishments meted out justly by a "just God." But as can be seen in the Jeremiah and Hebrews texts above, while God's new covenant is not legal it also has law involved, but in the new covenant, the people recognize and embrace the truth that God's laws are design laws, the laws the Creator has built reality upon and not rules like humans make up. God's laws must become the principles upon which hearts and minds operate, not merely rules to govern external behavior. Jeremiah makes clear how God's laws function:

- This is what the LORD says: "If I have not established my covenant with day and night and the fixed laws of heaven and earth, then I will reject the descendants of Jacob and David my servant and will not choose one of his sons to rule over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes and have compassion on them" (Jeremiah 33:25, 26 NIV84, my emphasis).

God's laws are "the fixed laws" that govern heaven and earth! God's laws are the laws the Creator has built reality to operate upon, such as the laws of physics, health, and the moral laws. Created beings cannot speak reality into existence and, therefore, we make up rules that we call "laws," but our rules require external enforcement through the infliction of punishment.

This is how Satan, a created being, governs. Imposed laws with imposed punishments are how the kingdoms of this world function—and Jesus said His kingdom is not of this world! (John 18:36). His kingdom does not function like human kingdoms; it is not built upon made-up rules that require the infliction of external punishments. Jesus is the Creator, His kingdom is reality itself, and His laws are the laws that govern and sustain reality.

The wall of God's protection is the wall of reality, of design law, of the protocols He built reality to function upon. When we understand and appreciate God's design laws, it always causes us to worship God as Creator and to understand that sin, breaking God's design laws, is the cause of pain, suffering, and death, while God is the source of life, healing, and salvation. But when we exchange God's design laws for Satan's imposed-law system, then we exchange the truth of God's character for Satan's and teach that God is the source of torture and death, which He inflicts upon the unrepentant as "just" punishment for sin. Thus, the lawless one, the one who denies and replaces the design laws of God with made-up, imposed rules, sets himself up in God's temple (human hearts and minds) proclaiming himself to be God.

Isaiah prophesied that before Christ returns, there will be a people who repair the breach. These people will recognize the design laws of God that Jesus spoke about when He said,

- "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind." This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: "Love your neighbor as yourself." All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments" (Matthew 22:37–40 NIV84).

Just like the remnant of Israelites who left Babylon under the leadership of Nehemiah, this end-time remnant will leave the systems of imposed-law theology. (Remember, of all the nations that interacted with Israel in the Bible story arc, Babylon was the first to create an imposed legal code—the code of Hammurabi. Thus, Babylon rightly represents the kingdoms of this world and the theological constructs that teach that God's kingdom functions like human kingdoms, with made-up rules and imposed punishments.)

The end-time remnant will reject this sinful human-law view of God's kingdom and return to worshiping God as Creator, understanding that His laws are the protocols that reality itself functions upon.

But because the prophecy connects repairing the breach, the broken wall, with the Sabbath, Seventh-day Adventists (SDA), have concluded that this prophecy means returning to worship services on the Bible Sabbath instead of Sunday. But this prophecy is much broader than a weekly day of worship! It encompasses every aspect of living, for it calls us to delight in the Sabbath—not merely keep it as a rule we must follow. This means that the prophecy is calling us to return to living in harmony with God's design laws for life, of which the Bible Sabbath is symbolic, or a sign.

Consider the origins of sin. The angels who followed Satan into rebellion, into disobeying God's law, did so before there was a weekly Sabbath. The sin problem did not originate over a Sabbath-versus-Sunday question, and it will not end over such a surface/superficial/shallow question. The sin problem will end over what these two days represent: They are signs—or pennants or marks or emblems—of two types of law and, therefore, two types of government and, ultimately, two different gods.

The Sabbath was created as a day set apart by God; Sunday was not created by God as a day set apart from the other days, but it became a day set apart from the other days of the week through human legislation. Thus, the two days represent two types of law—design law and imposed law.

The deeper issue is not the actual day, but the law and government the days represent. One of the founders of the SDA Church understood this difference, writing:

- The prophet thus points out the ordinance which has been forsaken: "Thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in. If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on My holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable; and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the Lord." … This prophecy also applies in our time. The breach was made in the law of God when the Sabbath was changed by the Roman power. But the time has come for that divine institution to be restored. The breach is to be repaired and the foundation of many generations to be raised up (The Great Controversy, p. 452, emphasis mine).

  In the time of the end every divine institution is to be restored. The breach made in the law at the time the Sabbath was changed by man, is to be repaired. God's remnant people, standing before the world as reformers, are to show that the law of God is the foundation of all enduring reform and that the Sabbath of the fourth commandment is to stand as a memorial of creation, a constant reminder of the power of God. In clear, distinct lines they are > to present the necessity of obedience to all the precepts of the Decalogue. Constrained by the love of Christ, they are to co-operate with Him in building up the waste places. They are to be repairers of the breach, restorers of paths to dwell in (Prophets and Kings, p. 678, emphasis mine).

Notice here that the author did not write, "The breach was made by the change in the Sabbath" or that "the change of the Sabbath is the breach in the law," but that the breach occurred "at the time" or "when" the Sabbath was changed by man. The breach in the law was not simply the changing of the Sabbath; the true breach in the law is the change in how we understand God's law, from design law to imposed rules—the type of law that can be changed.

The changing of the Sabbath to Sunday is the evidence, the fruit, the result of the beach. It is the proof that the Christian world believes God's law functions like human law, and, therefore, sin is rule breaking, and God's justice is the use of His power to inflict punishment upon sinners, in which He becomes the source of pain, suffering, and death from which we need protection. In this way, Satan has successfully set himself up in God's Spirit temple to be worshiped by billions. It is a sad fact that today, almost the entire Christian world, regardless of denomination, no longer recognizes that God's laws are design laws.

Thus, the true repairers of the breach of Isaiah's prophecy will be those who teach the truth that God's laws are design laws and not imposed rules. In so doing, we call people back to worship the Creator who made the heavens, earth, sea, and fountains of water (Revelation 14:7). We teach people reality and how to cooperate with God to actually become the righteousness of God (2 Corinthians 5:21).

And we recognize that even if we do value the Bible Sabbath yet continue to believe the lie that God's law functions like human law, we have not repaired the breach; we have not left the Roman system of worship; we have not left Babylon; and we are still advancing the counterfeit to God's kingdom, just as the Jews did two thousand years ago when they had the Bible Sabbath but the wrong law and the wrong god.

So, with design law, we understand that the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. We understand that it is God's gift, promise, evidence, demonstration, revelation of His character and how His design-law government functions—how He governs. We understand that God does not use power to force His way; this is the truth of the Sabbath's gift to us! For love exists only in an atmosphere of freedom, of which the Sabbath is a sign. God is the Creator—He has all power, and the danger with all power is that it can intimidate, it can cause fear, it can damage individuality, it can undermine love, it can shut down thinking, it can lead to mindless pawns and drones doing what the powerful sovereign says or else—so God created the Sabbath, a revelation, demonstration, evidence that He does NOT govern by imposed law and enforced rules. For after six days of using His immense power to create, the Sabbath was set apart by God when He STOPPED using power, when He rested, when He created a time for His creatures to think and consider and come to their own conclusions without the threat of punishment being inflicted by Him.

Thus, the Sabbath is a memorial to God as Creator and His design laws that all reality is built upon—for what God wants from His intelligent creatures is our love, trust, loyalty, devotion, and friendship, and that can never be achieved through imposed law, through the use of might and power; it cannot be achieved through intimidation, threats, and inflicted punishments. In fact, when people present God as the cosmic enforcer and punisher, they advance Satan's rebellion and undermine trust in God, negating the very purpose and function of the Sabbath—a sign that God is holy and restores us to holiness when we trust Him! (Exodus 31:13; Ezekiel 20:12).

So I invite you to join me in repairing the breach in the wall by rejecting the lie that God's laws function like human law, made-up, imposed rules and by embracing the truth that God is Creator and His laws are design laws upon which all reality is built to function. Reject the lie that God is the source of pain, suffering, and death inflicted upon sinners, and instead realize that it is sin, the breaking of God's design laws for life, that brings forth death, recognizing that God is the source of life—the One whom through Jesus restores His living law into our hearts and minds (Hebrews 8:10). I implore you to realize that Babylon, that system of imposed laws, with its made-up rules and punishing god, is fallen. Hear God's call to His people to come out of that unjust, fear-inducing, fallen, and broken system and return to genuine Creator worship!

WEDNESDAY

The focus of the lesson is the Reformation—what is your understanding of the Reformation? What is being reformed?

Here is a warning written by EGW March 1, 1915, four months before her death. It is profound, it emphasizes the reformation that we need and exposes the infection that has corrupted the gospel in the SDA church and which has impaired our ability to fulfill our mission since ever since 1888.

- A great reformation is needed among the people of God. Many sapless and unfruitful branches are to be removed from the parent vine. Everything will be shaken that can be shaken, that that which can not be shaken may remain. (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 1, emphasis mine) [Those to be removed are those who have a form of godliness without power—no spiritual fruit because they have a religion of rules with a god of imposed law and inflicted punishments—a legal religion]

  The enemy has worked upon the minds of some, and has led them to do violence to our past experience by mingling with the truth erroneous and false theories. He has led ministers and teachers to weave into their doctrines some pleasing figures of his own invention. Every deviation from the truth as we have advocated it in the past is a departure from truth that has been witnessed by the Holy Spirit, and upon which God has placed His seal. (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 2, emphasis mine) [This is exactly what happened to the SDA church at the 1888 GC, when the leadership rejected the design law truths and wove into our teachings the invention of Satan that God's laws are imposed laws and the church has ever since taught many right doctrines through the wrong law with the wrong god, the god of this age who makes up rules and imposes punishment through external power]

Truth must stand in its own order, linked only with truth. Unbelief disturbs the balance of the system of truth, and tends to destroy the whole. The mind that cherishes sentiments that tend to destroy the foundation of the faith that has made us what we are becomes confused, and can not discern between truth and error. (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 3, emphasis mine) [Sentiment is emotional attachment to opinion. It is an unwillingness to allow new truth to replace the traditional beliefs that feel good to the person. Those who hold to imposed law have sentiment that it is correct and they don't want to give it up. They often look for authorities to tell them the answer, what does the pastor say, what do the conference officials say, what does the Biblical Research Institute say, what does the president of the General Conference say—not what is the truth. These conscientious rule-keeping people cannot discern between truth and error for they have not learned for themselves how to discern truth.]

The truths that have been substantiated by the manifest working of God are to stand fast. Let no one presume to move a pin or foundation-stone from the structure. Those who attempt to undermine the pillars of our faith are among those of whom the Bible says that "in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 4, emphasis mine) [What is a doctrine? It is a teaching, so those undermining the pillars of our faith are those who advance the teachings of devils, and what has the devil taught? That God's law is imposed and that God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, and death as punishment for rule-breaking. All those who teach God's law is imposed rules that He enforces through imposed punishments are among the ones who are undermining the pillars, just listen to the rest of this warning and the specific emphasis she focuses upon in regard to the pillars she is talking about]

One step from the path in which God has ordained us to walk, places us where we are subject to the temptations of Satan. This is represented in the case of Adam and Eve. Outside of God's way, we may be led to believe a lie. But angels of God will commune with those who obey His laws. Let mind and heart be united in following in the light that God has given. Keep soul and body pure and clean and holy. When we do those things that God has commanded in His word, angels of God will act as our teachers. Our happiness is dependent upon our living a righteous life. (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 5, emphasis mine) [What law is she referencing here? She explains in the next three paragraphs, but before we read them, can we figure it out from this one? From where does happiness come? It is a by-product of healthiness in all domains of life, and health only comes from being in harmony with the laws of health, we cannot have health in violations of the laws of health. Thus, she is already leading us to understand the undermining of the pillars of God is the replacing God's design laws with the types of laws that creatures make up, but don't take my word for it, here is what she wrote.]

We are subject to certain laws, even as the plants are subject to law. Every tree will bear its appointed fruit. Disobedience to the laws that govern our being results in sickness and suffering and death. (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 6, emphasis mine) [What kind of laws are plants subject to, made up rules, or design laws? What kind of laws govern our being? Can she be more clear? Well she doesn't leave it there.]

The soul is also subject to laws, and a disregard of these laws, by the wresting and misinterpretation of scripture, will result in the sickness and death of the soul. Those following in a path of error lose from the heart the genuine peace of Christ, and become like the troubled sea, casting up mire and dirt. (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 7, emphasis mine) [What kind of laws is the soul subject to? The same type, design laws, the protocols God built souls to exist and operate upon. Following a path of error that destroys the soul is the disregarding God's design laws and replacing them with the imposed law lies that Rome brought into Christianity, the wine of Babylon, the lie that God's law works like human law and those who believe this believe lies about the sin problem, God's character, the plan of salvation and teach all kinds of things that interfere with God's true plan to heal the heart, mind, soul and thus they are sick of mind and soul. They live in fear, fear of someone finding out about their sin, fear of some sin not being erased from the books, fear of standing in the judgment without an intercessor, fear of what God would do to them if it wasn't for Jesus protecting them from Him and on and on the fears go, all fruit of Satan's lies about God's law taught in Christianity.]

Spiritual life is the result of the action of the soul in obedience to the word and in harmony with the laws of God. Let the soul be regulated by the law, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind." "This do, and thou shalt live." (Bible Training School March 1, 1915, par. 8, emphasis mine). [This is design law—the law of worship, by beholding we are changed, the law of exertion, the law of love, the law of liberty, the law of truth! We are restored as we embrace the truth and are won to trust in God and in that trust relationship we open the heart and experience the indwelling Spirit that heals the brokenness, takes away the guilt, shame, fear, and gives us new desires and as we choose those new desires we receive divine power to carry them out and we are transformed to mature into those who possess the mind of Christ!]

This is a call to repair the breach in the wall that protects our hearts and minds and to establish Jesus, our Creator and Savior and Sustainer back onto the throne in our Spirit temples!

THURSDAY

Read the first two paragraphs,

- What was it that cheered the faithful Waldenses during the horrible persecutions they faced? What gave Huss and Jerome, Tyndale, Latimer, and the martyrs of the Middle Ages courage to face the flames and the sword? Faith in the promises of God. They believed Christ's promise: "Because I live, you will live also" (John 14:19). They found His strength sufficient for life's greatest trials. They even found joy through fellowship with Christ in His sufferings. And their faithfulness was a powerful witness to the world.

> They looked beyond what was to what will be. They knew that, through the resurrection of Christ, death was a defeated foe. For these courageous men and women, the stranglehold of death was broken. They clung to the promises of God's Word and came away victorious. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 35).

Didn't the persecuting Roman church also believe that Christ defeated death? So, was the belief that Christ defeated death the defining belief that separated the persecuted from the persecutors?

And wasn't the Roman church, while physically persecuting and executing people in various horrible ways, actually threatening something worse? Wasn't the Roman church threatening eternal torture, damnation, in hell?

So what gave them hope, that Christ defeated death, or that Christ was NOT the kind of God who acted like the church leaders who were persecuting them were acting? That they knew God's love personally and had experienced God's grace in their heart and mind, and their personal connection with God through Jesus Christ and the indwelling Holy Spirit gave them courage, peace, confidence, and ability to stay faithful—not merely the belief in a right doctrine.

Their victory was through Jesus as in trust in Him they died to fear and selfishness and were reborn into a life of love and trust in a personal Savior that they could surrender their souls to. It wasn't faith in correct doctrines, such as mortality of the soul, or Jesus' victory over death, or the Sabbath, or any other doctrine—our doctrines only have saving value to the degree they connect us with Jesus Christ and help us enter into actual living harmony with Him. Their victory came through their faith and trust in Jesus!

TUESDAY

Any questions or areas of interest from Tuesday's lesson?

The lesson focuses on the persecutions by the Roman church during the Middle and Dark Ages.

Who do you understand is represented by the first beast of Revelation 13?

It has been taught by many Protestants that the first beast of Revelation 13 represents the Roman church, the papacy. But this is only partially true.

If you recall, the first beast of Revelation 13 has 7 heads and 10 horns, and one of the heads was wounded and that wounded head was healed. And that wounded head is believed to represent the Roman church—but there are six other heads. So how does the entire beast represent the Roman church, what are the other six heads?

- The seven heads are seven hills on which the woman sits. They are also seven kings. Five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet come; but when he does come, he must remain for a little while (Revelation 17:9,10).

- Hills = high places or places of worship (Leviticus 26:30; 1 Kings 14:23; 2 Kings 16:4).
- Seven false systems of worship
- The head is where one thinks, reasons, worships and determines what is best
- The heads direct the use of the various powers (horns)

Five have fallen at the time John wrote this in the first century:

1. Paganism
2. Godlessness
3. Eastern mysticism
4. Islam
5. Judaism

One is and One is to come later:

6. Christianity which became Romanism
7. False Protestantism (the Protestantism of imposed law that will join with the end-time beast and use the power of the state to pursue "justice")

So, the beast with seven heads is a chameleon beast that uses the ten powers of Satan to persecute the saints. In some places and times in history—like when Israel was taken captive by Babylon—the beast was controlled by the pagan head, in communist lands the same ten powers are wielded by the godless head to persecute the saints, in Islamic lands the same ten powers are wielded by the Islamic head to oppose and persecute the saints, and in the Middle and Dark Ages Europe it was the Roman church that controlled the ten powers to persecute the saints.

During the Old Testament times the Bible story arc focuses our attention, through the lives and events recorded, on the fulfillment of the promise of Genesis 3:15, the coming Messiah. This is why we focus on Abraham's children, through Isaac not Ishmael, and Isaac's children through Jacob not Esau, and then narrow down all the way to the tribe of Judah. It explains why the Bible doesn't say much about other people groups in the world because the entire focus of the Bible is the plan of salvation and that centers on Jesus, the promised Messiah.

Likewise, after Jesus' incarnation, sinless life, sacrificial death, and victorious resurrection and ascension, the Bible story arc focuses on those who carry the gospel forward, who take the true plan of salvation. Thus, Bible prophecies, like Revelation 13 that reach into the future focus on the events in the world where God's people are advancing the gospel and Satan's power is opposing them. So, Revelation 13 focuses on those who are advancing the gospel on earth moving us toward the final events on the planet.

From where does our courage to stand come? It comes only from our faith relationship with Jesus Christ!

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 5
Faith Against All Odds

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

When you hear ideas like the lesson title, Faith Against All Odds, do you have a clear understanding of this is? What is faith?

From dictionary.com the word faith can mean:

1. confidence or trust in a person or thing: faith in another's ability.
2. belief that is not based on proof: He had faith that the hypothesis would be substantiated by fact.
3. belief in God or in the doctrines or teachings of religion: the firm faith of the Pilgrims.
4. belief in anything, as a code of ethics, standards of merit, etc.: to be of the same faith with someone concerning honesty.
5. a system of religious belief: the Christian faith; the Jewish faith.
6. the obligation of loyalty or fidelity to a person, promise, engagement, etc.: Failure to appear would be breaking faith.
7. the observance of this obligation; fidelity to one's promise, oath, allegiance, etc.: He was the only one who proved his faith during our recent troubles.
8. Christian Theology. the trust in God and in His promises as made through Christ and the Scriptures by which humans are justified or saved.

The Greek for faith in the NT is pistis and is translated belief, faith, trust and means to have confidence. In English the best overall single word would be trust.

Can someone have faith/belief/trust/confidence in a faithless or untrustworthy person, idea, or system?

What is to be the basis of our faith?

What does it mean to have faith against all odds? Doesn't it simply mean that we trust Jesus no matter what!

And how is it that we experience this faith or trust? By coming to know God in truth, in reality, for who He actually and truly is. And this is why Jesus said life eternal is knowing God (John 17:3), because when we come to know Him we automatically will trust Him.

It is the lies about God that we believe that keep us from knowing Him that undermine a deeper trust in God.

Many people instead of trusting God directly, trust in the mechanics of their religion—they trust in the sacraments, they trust in the rituals, the ceremonies, the observance of law, Sabbath keeping, right eating. Or they trust in someone to represent them and plead for them to God, whether Mary, the saints, or Jesus Himself. They trust in a legal payment of sinless human blood, but they don't actually know and trust God because they believe lies—that God killed Jesus, or that God cannot forgive outright, that God requires legal payments or sacrifices be offered to Him in order to get Him to forgiven and not punish. All of this prevents genuine faith/trust in God.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Ephesians 2:8-9:

- For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast. (Ephesians 2:8-9 NIV84).

What does this text mean? What law lens do we understand the words through?

- What is grace?
- What does it mean to be saved?
- From what are we being saved?
- What is faith?
- How is faith a gift of God?

If we have the idea in mind that God's law functions like human law, then from what are we be saved?

- We are being saved from the so-called just punishment of God for our sins, from the punishment for our law-breaking.

But if we have design law in mind then from what are we being saved?

- We are being saved from sin, from the condition of being out of harmony with God's design laws for life.

And this salvation is offered to us because of God's grace—God's graciousness in His active, willful, specific, direct intervention by the use of His powers to work out for us, through His right hand agent Jesus Christ, the cure, remedy, solution, to our sin condition because there is absolutely nothing we can do to heal or fix this terminal sin-condition ourselves. Our response to this amazing grace is to choose to trust or have faith in Him and willingly cooperate with Him and He then heals and fixes us. Thus I render this passage in the Remedy as:

- It is only because of God's grace that you have been healed through trust–and you did not create this trust yourself, but it was established through the evidence of God's character revealed in the gift of Jesus Christ. This is not by some human work–No way!–so there is no room for anyone to boast. (Ephesians 2:8-9 REM).

The lesson also asks that we read Romans 3:23, 24, but let's read versus 21-26 to get a clearer picture of what Paul intends. We will read it from the NIV first, then contrast it with the GNT, and finally the Remedy. As you hear these words, consider the law lens you are hearing/thinking through:

- But now a righteousness from God, apart from law, has been made known, to which the Law and the Prophets testify. This righteousness from God comes through faith in Jesus Christ to all who believe. There is no difference for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, and are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus. God presented him as a sacrifice of atonement, through faith in his blood. He did this to demonstrate his justice, because in his forbearance he had left the sins committed beforehand unpunished—he did it to demonstrate his justice at the present time, so as to be just and the one who justifies those who have faith in Jesus. (Romans 3:21-26 NIV84, emphasis mine).

What do you hear? What is the message? Do you hear something healing or something legal?

The Greek for faith and trust is the same, and the Greek for righteous/righteousness and justify/justice is the same.

The NIV seems to suggest that God sent Jesus to die to show God's justice, which through the human law model means the right or proper punishment, which some people use this text to teach that God executed Jesus in our place to pay a legal penalty—to do a human style of inflicted punishment justice. But justice is simply doing what is right, to justify something is to put it or set it right, to rightify it, which is the righteous or just action. But we hear the words justice and righteousness differently, yet in the Greek they are the same word.

So notice how the GNT renders this, and I am showing this to demonstrate that my rendering of righteous and righteousness instead of just and justice in the Remedy is not something I have made up, but is a legitimate translation of the Greek:

- But now God's way of putting people right with himself has been revealed. It has nothing to do with law, even though the Law of Moses and the prophets gave their witness to it. God puts people right through their faith in Jesus Christ. God does this to all who believe in Christ, because there is no difference at all: everyone has sinned and is far away from God's saving presence. But by the free gift of God's grace all are put right with him through Christ Jesus, who sets them free. God offered him, so that by his blood he should become the means by which people's sins are forgiven through their faith in him. God did this in order to demonstrate that he is righteous. In the past he was patient and overlooked people's sins; > but in the present time he deals with their sins, in order to demonstrate his righteousness. In this way God shows that he himself is righteous and that he puts right everyone who believes in Jesus. (Romans 3:21-25 GNT, emphasis mine).

Do you see how when the translators use righteous and righteousness instead of justice it changes the tenor of the passage and leads our minds to a clearer understanding of reality? The issue in this cosmic war is not about power but about God's trustworthiness, and Satan has accused God of being unjust by not punishing sinners, for that is how Satan works—he uses power over others to coerce and punish, but God uses power to heal and to save.

Jesus died to demonstrate the truth of God's righteousness, God's character, that death does not come out from God as an infliction, it comes from unremedied sin when God stops using power to hold its destructiveness at bay. We see this first in Gethsemane when Jesus fell down dying as the weight of sin was separating Jesus from His Father and an angel had to revive Jesus because more truth was yet to be revealed. And at the Cross, Jesus, the sinless one, demonstrated what happens when God let's go and stops using power—for God did not use any power to harm His Son, but simply let Him God to reap what Jesus freely chose to do. And Jesus chose to become sin for us even though He knew no sin personally. And the rest of the universe saw Satan unmasked as the liar that he is and God vindicated as the righteous holy source of truth, love, liberty and life that He is, when God did not do anything to harm Jesus, yet Jesus died.

But sadly, Satan has succeeded in infecting Christianity with the lie that God's law functions like human law and instead of understanding the truth that God, at infinite cost to Himself, revealed to us, billions continue to believe and teach that God's justice is the infliction of punishment, the justice of imperialism, the justice of the kingdoms of this world, the justice that Satan uses.

We are called at this time in history to reject the imposed law lie and return to worshiping God as Creator and understanding His laws are design laws, and then we understand the incredible truth of who God is in reality, as Jesus revealed Him to be and we are won to love and trust Him and not trust in the mechanics, payments, or interposers between us and God! This is one of the reasons Jesus came to die as our substitutionary Savior—to reveal the truth to win us back to trust. So, I rendered this passage in the Remedy as follows:

- But now God has revealed a healthy state of being—a character that is right and perfect in every way—that did not come from the written code, but is exactly what the Scriptures and the Ten Commandments were pointing your minds toward. This perfect state of being comes from Christ and is created within us by God when we place our trust in him. Our trust in him is established by the evidence given through Jesus Christ of his supreme trustworthiness. There is no difference among any ethnic groups, for all humanity is infected with the same disease—of distrust, fear and selfishness—and is deformed in character and falls far short of God's glorious ideal for humanity. Yet all who are willing are healed freely by God's gracious Remedy which has been provided by Jesus Christ. God presented Jesus as the way and the means of restoration. Now, through the trust established by the evidence of God's character revealed when Christ died, we may partake of the Remedy procured by > Christ. God did this to demonstrate that he is right and good—because in his forbearance he suspended, for a time, the ultimate consequence of us being out of harmony with his design for life—yet he has been falsely accused of being unfair. He did it to demonstrate at the present time how right and good he is, so that he would also be seen as being right when he heals those who trust in Jesus. (Romans 3:21-26 REM, emphasis mine).

Now, let's examine the lesson:

Read first paragraph,

- God has provided salvation as a gift. His Holy Spirit leads us to accept by faith what Christ has so freely provided through His death on Calvary's cross. Jesus, the divine Son of God, offered His perfect life to atone for our sins. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 42).

What does this paragraph mean to you? What is the message you hear?

- What is salvation?
- From what are we being saved?
- What has Christ so freely provided through His death?
- What does it mean He offered His perfect life to atone for our sins?

What is atonement? The original meaning of the word, when used in the 1611 KJV of the Bible, meant to bring to alienated parties back into unity, back to oneness. So, what does it mean Jesus atones for our sins?

Does the law lens, and the level of moral decision-making matter in how we understand atonement?

The first four levels of moral decision-making are all based on imposed rules, fear, and selfishness:

1. Reward and Punishment
2. Market Place Exchange
3. Social Conformity
4. Law and Order

Levels 5-7 are based on design law, other-centered love and how God constructed reality to work:

5. Love for others
6. Principled-based Living
7. Understand friend of God

And the various atonement models correspond to these different levels of development, how people explain things in the way that their minds can comprehend. Like a child explaining why it is right to brush one's teeth because mommy has a rule, whereas the adult explains it through the laws of health. Neither person is being evil, both are doing what they believe is right, both are brushing their teeth, but the child is immature, and still needs oversight and supervision to do what is right. Likewise, the immature in Christ are described as infants, children, not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. They are not rebellious, they are not disobedient, they are not doing evil—they are simply children and as such are still not trustworthy members of the family. In the same way you wouldn't trust your loving child to decide for themselves their meal plan, what foods to eat—not because your child is evil, but because they are immature and will innocently choose unhealthy things that harm them. So they need ongoing supervision and protection from a loving parent—this is the purpose of the written law.

This demonstrates the problem in much of Christianity, we have a lot of people with good hearts who haven't matured as Paul counsels us to do, who are still teaching things in childlike understanding and thus they are not yet trustworthy friends of God, instead of doing right because it is right, because it they understand and agree, they think it is a matter of law keeping and avoiding legal trouble.

So, let's look at the atonement models through the seven levels.

LEVEL 1: Reward and Punishment
Right and wrong is determined by receiving rewards and avoiding punishment.

- Satisfaction Theory of the atonement: God said don't do something, but when Adam and Eve disobeyed their sin dishonored and offended God. Therefore, in his justice, he responds with angry vengeance to execute the disobedient to satisfy his wrath. But Jesus stepped in between God and man to become humanity's substitute. Thus, instead of killing man, God killed his Son in our place and this is how his justice is satisfied.

LEVEL 2: Marketplace Exchange
Right and wrong is determined by an equitable agreement between two parties, also known as quid pro quo – "I'll do something for you if you do something for me."

- Ransom Theory of the atonement: Because earth and humanity are now the legal property of Satan and under his control, the devil claimed legal rights to this earth and the lives of the descendants of Adam and Eve. Therefore, God struck a bargain with the devil to exchange the life of Christ for the lives of the rest of humanity.

LEVEL 3: Social Conformity
Right and wrong is determined by community consensus, for example, when a child says, "But everyone else is doing it."

- Governmental Theory of the atonement: In order for everyone to be convinced that God is fair and right in dealing with sin and sinners when He inflicts punishment, somebody had to pay the price. That somebody is Jesus, because He's the only one who could pay that price to get mankind off the hook.

LEVEL 4: Law and Order
Right and wrong is determined by a codified system of rules, impartial judges, imposed punishments, and respect for authority.

- Penal Substitution Theory of the atonement: Jesus died to pay the legal penalty the law demanded and the heavenly judge imposed. The law must be kept. Man broke the law, thus justice demands and requires the imposition of the proper punishment. Someone had to be executed to pay the legal penalty. Jesus became our substitute and was executed in our place by God the Father (as the righteous judge) to pay that penalty. In doing so, the integrity of the law is maintained and sinners can be pardoned, but only if they claim the legal payment made by Jesus

LEVEL 5: Love for Others
Right is determined by doing what is in the best interest of others. Wrong is determined, not by a checklist of rules, but by not doing what is actually helpful and beneficial for another.

- Moral Influence Theory of the atonement: Sin separated us from God and corrupted our hearts, so that we no longer trusted God, but God loved us too much to let us go, so Christ's death was the means to reach us with his love and restore us to trust in him.

LEVEL 6: Principle-Based Living
Right is understanding the design protocols and principles upon which life is constructed to operate and intelligently choosing to live in harmony with them. Right is not doing something because a rule says to do so, but because it actually work this way.

- Recapitulation and Christus Victor Theories of the atonement: Christ's life, death, and resurrection is understood to be the only means to fix what sin had done to God's creation. When mankind sinned, the condition of humankind was changed, placing us out of harmony with God and his design for life. Humankind was now held in bondage by their own condition of sinfulness (carnal nature), their terminal state (death), and the lies about God told by Satan. Christ came to break these powers and fix what sin has done to this creation. Thus "he who knew no sin became sin for us, so that we might become the righteousness of God." 2Cor 5:21.

LEVEL 7: Understanding Friend of God
Those at this level not only have love for God and others (Level 5), not only understand God's design protocols for life (Level 6), but also understand God's purposes and intelligently choose to cooperate in fulfilling their role in His purposes.

Jesus said to His disciples in John 15:15, "I no longer call you servants, because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you."

- Healing Substitution Reality: The plan of salvation is understood to have a deeper and broader intent than just the redemption of the human species. Both level five and six are true: God's character of love has been misrepresented, His methods of truth, love, and freedom have not been fully understood, so God had a larger purpose than just the salvation of humankind; He was also solidifying the unfallen beings in loyalty to His design methods and character of love.

The Bible uses the language of satisfaction, ransom, and government and thus there is a level seven understanding of these ideas on atonement.

Level 7 Understanding of Satisfaction Theory

- Creation is out of harmony with God and in a terminal condition.
- God is like a parent whose child is dying of leukemia—what is the only thing that will satisfy?
- A remedy that heals and saves!
- "He will see the result of the suffering of his soul and be satisfied." (Isaiah 53:11, emphasis mine).

Level 7 Understanding of Ransom Theory

- A ransom is the price required to free someone from bondage.
- What holds us in bondage?
- Lies about God and our carnal natures.
- What is the price to set us free?
- Truth and a new nature (bread and wine).

Level 7 Understanding of Governmental Theory

- God rules on design law—love, truth, and liberty.
- God can heal minds—i.e., win to love and trust—only in harmony with His methods: "God's kindness leads you toward repentance." Romans 2:4
- Thus, God's government and design laws are sustained as the only method upon which life, health, and peace operate.

Penal Substitution?

- This language is not in Scripture—it is made up. It was invented by Martin Luther to undermine the teaching on Purgatory as he taught all sins of all people for all time were placed on Jesus and punished in Jesus and thus there remains no sins for the saved to be purged in purgatory.

When we trust Jesus, we open the heart and receive the indwelling Holy Spirit who takes the victory of Christ and reproduces it in us; we get new desires, motives, attitudes, and are reborn with a new heart and right spirit; we become partakers of the divine nature; it is no longer our sinful selves living, but Christ living within us. And this is our reality when we trust or have faith in Jesus!

What do you understand Jesus' death accomplishes that provides salvation for human beings?

What is the cause of death? Is it from sin, the sinfulness in us separating us from God or is death inflicted by God as punishment for sin?

Jesus came to reveal the truth to destroy the lies and to restore the perfect pure righteous spirit of love and eradicate the contamination of fear, selfishness, guilt and shame from humanity.

Thus Jesus partook of the life given to Adam, contaminated and infected by Adam, and Jesus purged the infection and restored sinless righteousness into humanity and became the new head of humanity, the second Adam, the vine of life that we must be grafted into through faith in order to receive the indwelling Holy Spirit, the Holy Life of God that brings renewal, refreshing, cleansing, new motives, new desires, so that it is no longer our old fear-ridden, selfish, sinful selves living but Christ lives in us. We become partakers of the divine nature. And thus we are literally restored to at-one-ment with God through the victorious life of Jesus Christ.

Read second paragraph,

- Divine justice demands perfect obedience. Christ's perfect life stands in place of our imperfect lives. The divine law we have broken condemns us to eternal death. The Bible is clear. Through our sinful choices, we have "fallen short" of God's ideal for our lives. We have sinned. Left to ourselves, we cannot meet the just, righteous demands of a holy God. As a result, we deserve eternal death. But there is good news. The apostle Paul assures us, "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Rom. 6:23, NKJV). It is a gift, undeserved; if it were by works, we would earn it, and if there is any one truth that shines out of the gospel, it is that we cannot earn salvation. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 42).

What do you hear in this paragraph? What is the message?

What is divine justice? What law lens are you understanding it through? Justice is doing what is right or just and that is always defined or determined by the law. For instance, it is just or right to punch someone in the face in boxing, it is unjust to do so in soccer. It is just to drive 160 mph on the autobahn in Germany it is unjust to do so on the interstate in Tennessee. The law determines what is right or just.

So, how we understand God's justice is directly determined by how we understand God's law. The justice of creatures is the justice of imposed law, which is always the infliction of what is deemed to be just punishments. But the justice of the Creator is to eliminate all defects, all disease, all injury, all harm, all pain, all suffering, to eliminate death and to restore all things to perfection. God's justice is healing the oppressed, not punishing the oppressor—why? Because breaking design law always injures the one who breaks it and results in its own punishment unless the person is healed by the Creator.

The lie of Satan is that God's law functions like human law and therefore God is required by law to use power to inflict punishment and if He doesn't do it, then He is not just.

Why does God's justice demand perfect obedience to the law? Justice is doing what is right, so we could say God's right way of doing things demands perfect harmony with the laws of reality, or that God demands that those who want to live must breathe. Why? Because that is how life is constructed to operate. So, God's right way is the way of life which is perfect harmony with how He built it to operate—and the plan of salvation is healing and restoring all who trust Him into harmony with His design law. Thus the new covenant is writing His laws on our hearts and minds.

What does it mean that Christ's perfect life stands in place of our lives?

In reality, according to Scripture, how many "breaths of life" did God breath into human beings? One! God formed Adam out of the dirt of the Earth and breathed into him the breath of life. Every other human being throughout history is an extension of that same breath of life. Eve was created from living tissue taken from Adam, from that same breath of life. And God gave Adam and Eve the ability to procreate and after they sinned, they contaminated that breath of life, that animating energy, that spirit with fear and selfishness and thus through Adam we are born with a spirit of fear. But God, through Jesus gives us a spirit of power and love and sound mind.

Understand reality, after Adam sinned, God still had the ability to form a new body out of dirt and breathe another breath of life into another body and create another human—but that person would not be part of Adam. That person would be a similar yet distinct creation not of this creation. In order to save the humanity that God created in Eden, Jesus had to partake of that very breath of life, that animating spirit that Adam contaminated and purify it, purge the infection of fear and selfishness. And He did that. Jesus' humanity was descended through David as Paul tells us in Romans, and he was born of a sinful woman as Paul writes in Galatians, a woman born under law, the law of sin and death. And through Mary Jesus partook of the very life given to Adam and contaminated by Him. But Jesus' Father was the Holy Spirit and in Jesus He had the Spirit of love and trust and was able to choose only to live out the life of righteousness, love, and trust, despite being tempted in every way just like us through the spirit of fear that came down from Adam through Mary. We see this in Gethsemane when His humanity tempted Him with fear, with anguish, with the selfish temptation to not go through the Cross. But with every temptation Jesus rejected the temptation of fear and selfishness and chose to love perfectly, living out the spirit of righteousness and thereby developed and solidified a perfect mature human character and at the cross He destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness He inherited through Mary. He rose in a purified humanity with only the spirit of love animating Him and became the second Adam, the new head of humanity and thus stands in the place where Adam was created to stand in the heavenly counsel. His human life stands for all humanity for He is a real human who picked up humanity broken and damaged by Adam and perfected it.

What do you think of the following:

- The divine law we have broken condemns us to eternal death. The Bible is clear. Through our sinful choices, we have "fallen short" of God's ideal for our lives. We have sinned. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 42).

When did you or I or anyone other than Adam, Eve, and Jesus, ever have a choice not to be a sinner? Are we sinners because we have chosen to sin, or do we sin because we were born sinners?

This presentation in the lesson is a classic and fundamental lie that stems from the belief that God's law is like human law and that the acts of sin are the problem, rather than the truth that Adam chose to sin and we are all born in sin conceived in iniquity (Psalm 51:5), that we didn't have a choice to be anything other than sinners. So, it is a lie that we are in this situation by our choice. We are in this situation by Adam's choice and by our birth.

But God's grace sent Jesus to give us a real choice, and the choice we have through Jesus is not to avoid being a sinner, but despite being born a sinner, we, through Jesus, can choose to be reborn righteous, to receive a new heart and right spirit, to leave the sinful life we inherited from Adam behind and live a righteous life through faith in Jesus.

So, we are not responsible for being born a sinner. We are not held accountable for that situation, nor will we be held accountable for the fact we have committed sins—what we are held accountable for is rejecting Jesus, refusing to be reborn in heart and mind, and preferring sin and sinful living to righteousness, truth, and love.

Notice what Jesus said,

- "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. [God didn't loan Jesus to us. He gave Him. Jesus became a real human being because God loved us. God doesn't need Jesus to do something to God for God to love us. But God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself. God as Creator understood that sin severs the connection to Him and life and will result in death unless He, the Creator, fixes the problem. And because God is love He sent His Son to fix the problem, to do for us that which we could not do for ourselves.] For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. [God is not in the condemning business, but the saving business. And Jesus came to save by positively removing the cause of death from humanity.] Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because he has not believed in the name of God's one and only Son. [From where does condemnation come? Those who hold to the human law view teach condemnation comes from the heavenly magistrate, from the heavenly courts upon those who haven't accepted the legal payment of Jesus' blood to pay for their sin crimes. But this is all false. Think laws of health, condemnation comes from the sin condition itself. Those who don't believe or trust Jesus don't open the heart to accept His healing presence, they don't receive the rebirth experience, they don't experience a new heart and right/righteous, spirit/life. Thus, they remain condemned, or terminal, because the condition we all inherited from Adam is that of sin and death, we are born dead in trespass and sin. We are not born guilty, we are born terminal.] This is the verdict: Light has come into the world, but men loved darkness instead of light because their deeds were evil. Everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for fear that his deeds will be exposed. But whoever lives by the truth comes into the light, so that it may be seen plainly that what he has done has been done through God." (John 3:16-21 NIV84). [We are not held accountable for the condition with which we are born, we are held accountable for rejecting the free remedy of Jesus Christ—the light that has come into the world. Consider and HIV infected man and woman have an HIV infected baby. What did the baby do wrong? Nothing! The baby is not guilty, but it has a condition it did not choose, but without remedy will result in symptoms and death. If a free remedy is offered and the child at the age of comprehension persistently refuses the remedy—are they accountable for that? And what causes their condemnation the symptoms they have, or the condition which causes the symptoms because they refuse the remedy?]

What do you think of the idea that we deserve eternal death? Why? Does the law lens make a difference? Would you say to parents who had a child born with a terminal illness "Your child deserves death"? Why or why not? Why do Christians teach that we deserve death? Was it our fault we were born with this sin condition? It would be better to say—those who refuse life, refuse healing, refuse restoration deserve to reap what they have chosen which is death. But that is different than saying we deserve death because of our own sinfulness or sins.

SUNDAY

The lesson title is God's Word Alone, and focuses on the importance that Scripture had to the Reformers.

Have you ever heard the Latin, sola scriptura? Which means Scripture alone for our doctrines and teachings?

Is it actually biblical to teach sola scriptura or in teaching only the Bible do we actually deny the Bible?

Does the Bible teach that God communicates to us only in Scripture, or that God communicates to us in a variety of ways, all of which rightly understood always harmonize, so that Scripture can be used as one of our sources of truth—but not the only source of truth?

Let's use the Scripture to examine this question of whether the Bible teaches only Scripture, or does it teach using Scripture along with other threads of evidence that are to be harmonized?

- Who wrote the very first books of the Bible? Moses—who lived somewhere around 1200-1300 BC. Did Noah, Melchizedek, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and others have the Bible to read? Did God communicate with these people in some way? Was it through Scripture?

- After Moses, and later the prophets, wrote the Scriptures, how many copies were available? Did God restrict His saving work to only humans who could access the Scriptures? How much of the Scriptures do we think Naaman studied? Do we have indications He became a worshiper of the true God?
- And throughout human history, even since the Reformation and printing presses, have there been people who have never had a Bible to read? Are they lost without any hope or does the Holy Spirit still strive with them to bring them to salvation and communicate through other avenues? What other avenues?
- How did God reach Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Enoch, Melchizedek and others? Through direct conversation, dreams, visions, nature, impressions of the Holy Spirit?
- What was the avenue God used to reach Naaman, Nebuchadnezzar, and Darius? The direct witness of other people who themselves knew and trusted in God. Does God work to reach people through the testimony of His friends?
- Paul wrote, in Romans 1:20
    - For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse. (Romans 1:20 NIV84).

  What do we learn about God from nature? What kinds of laws does nature operate upon? And shortly after writing that God reveals Himself in nature so that men are without excuse Paul writes in 2:12-15:
    - For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.)

  What is the new covenant? Having the law written upon the heart and mind. Paul is saying that these people who have never had the Bible brought to them, but who have responded to influence of the Holy Spirit enlighten their minds to the truth about God revealed in nature that they are reborn to be children of God.

  In the book the Desire of Ages we read the following, in perfect harmony with what Paul wrote in Romans:

    - Those whom Christ commends in the judgment may have known little of theology, but they have cherished His principles. Through the influence of the divine Spirit they have been a blessing to those about them. Even among the heathen are those who have cherished the spirit of kindness; before the words of life had fallen upon their ears, they have befriended the missionaries, even ministering to them at the peril of their own lives. Among the heathen are those who worship God ignorantly, those to whom the light is never brought by human instrumentality, yet they will not perish. Though ignorant of the written law of God, they have heard His voice speaking to them in nature, and have done the things that the law required. Their works are evidence that the Holy Spirit has touched their hearts, and they are recognized as the children of God. (Desire of Ages 638).

- And the Bible teaches God speaks to us through reality, through life experiences. It tells us to
    - Taste and see that the LORD is good (Psalm 34:8 NIV84).
    - Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger here; see my hands. Reach out your hand and put it into my side. Stop doubting and believe." (John 20:28 NIV84).

So, what role does Scripture play in our relationship with God and finding truth?

Is there a danger in using any of these threads of truth alone?

What is the danger?

- Science alone leads to godlessness
- Experience alone leads to mysticism or nihilism
- Scripture alone leads to confusion, 41,000 different Christian groups arguing that the Bible supports their view

When we return to design law, we harmonize all three threads and find reality, the truths that reality itself is built to operate upon.

And this results in our ability to read the Bible and be blessed by it. But sadly, there are many in the "Bible only" camp who are like those that Jesus said these words to:

- You diligently study the Scriptures because you think that by them you possess eternal life. These are the Scriptures that testify about me, yet you refuse to come to me to have life. (John 5:39-40 NIV84).

How sad, these faithful Bible students ended up rejecting and crucifying Jesus—all the while thinking they were worshiping God. Could Christians experience the same problem? How? By separating the threads and reading the Bible through human imposed law systems, which teaches a false god who is the source of pain, suffering, and death as so called just punishment.

MONDAY

The lesson points our attention to the Reformers translating the Bible into the language of the people.

What do you understand about inspiration and the legitimacy of translations?

Are the words of the Bible inspired? No—the people who wrote the Bible were inspired by God with truths but those prophetic penmen chose the words familiar to them, from their experiences and knowledge base, to express those truths. Thus, the words are not inspired, the men were, and the inspired truths are in ideas or meaning being communicated by the words.

Thus, it is legitimate to replace Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek words with new language words as long as the original ideas, meaning, and truths are brought through.

Here is a historical view of how inspiration works, do you agree?

- The Bible points to God as its author; yet it was written by human hands; and in the varied style of its different books it presents the characteristics of the several writers. The truths revealed are all "given by inspiration of God" (2 Timothy 3:16); yet they are expressed in the words of men. The Infinite One by His Holy Spirit has shed light into the minds and hearts of His servants. He has given dreams and visions, symbols and figures; and those to whom the truth was thus revealed have themselves embodied the thought in human language. (Great Controversy v.3)

What about translations—what makes a translation legitimate? Is it that the translators have a theological degree? Is a translation done by committee better than one done by an individual? What if one knowingly paraphrases? What about the KJV, is it literal or a paraphrase? KJV paraphrases 60% of the time and adds many words not in the original. Why? Because it is necessary to bring over the meaning in the most accurate way.

The purpose of Scripture is to reveal truth—to the degree it is written in a format or style that prevents the truth from being understood it serves no divine purpose. For instance, a Bible written in Korean would serve no purpose for me, for I cannot read one word of Korean and could not benefit in any way as no truth could be communicated to me from that language as long as I cannot read it.

So, to the degree a Bible translation or paraphrase makes the true meaning more clear to the reader the more effective it is in God's cause. To the degree the translation obscures the true meaning the less effective it is in serving God's purpose.

This of course in no way suggests the very best Bible translation ever done, with the most accurate language possible, could be rightly understood without the enlightening presence of the Holy Spirit. We always need the Holy Spirit to rightly understand Scripture, regardless of the version we are using.

What versions have you found to be most helpful? Have you found it beneficial to read in more than one version to get a better sense of the underlying meaning?

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph,

- One day while studying in the university library, Martin Luther came to a turning point in his own life. He discovered a Latin copy of the Bible. He never knew before that a book like this even existed. With sheer delight, he read chapter after chapter, verse after verse. He was amazed at the clarity and power of God's Word. As he pored over its pages, the Holy Spirit illuminated His mind. He sensed the guidance of the Holy Spirit as truths obscured by tradition seemed to leap off the pages of Holy Writ. Describing his first experience with the Bible, he wrote, "O that God would give me such a book for myself!" (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 41).

Aren't we all thankful and appreciative of Martin Luther? What an incredible witness. I can't imagine the struggles, difficulties, problems he had to deal with. His ability to recognize truths and challenge falsehood and ultimately translate the Bible into German for the people was a turning point in the Reformation.

Yet, as much as we admire Luther, we must remember Luther did not know all truth, and in fact, Luther had serious limitations in his understanding.

Luther's famous position of sola scriptura isn't the same as yours and mine, why? When Luther said it, he only meant 62 books of the Bible, while we mean 66. Luther did not accept as inspired Jude, James, Hebrews, and Revelation.

Think that through. If you don't accept those four books as inspired, will certain truths not be included in your understanding as you put the pieces together?

Consider having a jigsaw puzzle and trying to put the pieces together to see the picture, but a number of pieces are not included, would that alter the conclusion?

Luther never had a Great Controversy in heaven over God's character and trustworthiness, because he rejected Hebrews and Revelation. Thus, for Luther, the sin problem is all about us. Luther never realized God's law is design law, but continued to see things through imposed Roman law and thus Luther invented penal substitution theology. He did this because he wanted to undermine the Catholic doctrine of purgatory, which taught certain sins not having been purged during this life needed to be purged after death before the soul could enter heaven. Luther defeated that teaching with penal substation theology which taught that all sins of all people from all time, past, present, and future were placed on Jesus our righteous substitute and punished in Him at the cross so that no sins are left unpunished for those who accept by faith His substitutionary sacrificial payment to be purged in purgatory.

Yet, as much as this was beneficial to remove the fear and manipulative control of purgatory it kept the veil of imposed laws lies obstructing the truth of God's character and government. And thus the Reformation continued on after Luther as other Reformers came along and discovered more truths not advocated by Luther.

THURSDAY

The title is Obedience: The Fruit of Faith

What does this mean to you?

What types of obedience are there? Paul deals with this in Romans, there are two types of law—imposed law and design law. The imposed law view leads to the old covenant, which is the obedience that springs from law, from rules, from threats, from punishments and/or rewards. And that obedience is always false, for it springs from selfishness and fear.

Paul contrast the obedience of law with the obedience of faith, or love and trust, from a heart that loves God, loves others, and loves truth, loves reality, a heart that wants to live healthy, wants to be in harmony with what is right—because it is right, because life actually works best that way. This is the obedience of an understanding friend of God, not the obedience of a servant.

The imposed law view, with its legal requirements, results in the obedience of servants, do it because the master said it. But what God wants is our understanding friendships, our agreement, that we do what we do because it is in our heart to do it because we have been fully persuaded in our own mind that it is best.

Now, being fully persuaded in our own mind, having our hearts converted so that we truly want the ways of God, does not mean we in our own strength life the godly life—no, we make the choice, but God provides the power.

The victorious life is a life of daily cooperation with God where we are in living engagement with God through His Holy Spirit. The Spirit enlightens, woos, convicts, instructs, leads, and brings us to decision points, and we are left completely free to say yes or no, and when we say yes to the truth, then we receive divine power to succeed. But we don't get the power until we say yes.

One of the founders of the SDA church described it this way, and notice that this is actual, it is real, it is something happening within the believer. It is not declarative, it is not fantasy, it is not legal.

- We are laborers together with God. This is the Lord's own wise arrangement. The cooperation of the human will and endeavor with divine energy is the link that binds men up with one another and with God. The apostle says, "We are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building" (1 Corinthians 3:9). Man is to work with the facilities God has given him. "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling," He says. "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure" (Philippians 2:12, 13).—(2 Mind Character Personality p.694)

- There are two grand forces at work in the salvation of the human soul. It requires the cooperation of man with the divine agencies-- divine influences, and a strong, living, working faith. It is in this way only that the human agent can become a laborer together with

God. The Lord does not sanction in any one of us a blind, stupid credulity. He does not dishonor the human understanding, but, far from this, He calls for the human will to be brought into connection with the divine will. He calls for the ingenuity of the human mind, the tact, the skill, to be strenuously exercised in searching out the truth as it is in Jesus. . . . Ye are labourers together with God. (Our High Calling 310).

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 6
The Two Witnesses

by Tim Jennings

SUNDAY

The lesson points our attention to Revelation 11:3-6:

- And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy for 1,260 days, clothed in sackcloth." These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of the earth. If anyone tries to harm them, fire comes from their mouths and devours their enemies. This is how anyone who wants to harm them must die. These men have power to shut up the sky so that it will not rain during the time they are prophesying; and they have power to turn the waters into blood and to strike the earth with every kind of plague as often as they want. (Revelation 11:3-6 NIV84).

Who are the two witnesses?

The lesson cites several lines of evidence that leads to their conclusion in the last paragraph. These include the prophecy of Zechariah chapter four of two olive trees giving oil into the golden lampstands, how oil represents the Holy Spirit, and how the Psalms tells us that God's word is a lamp unto our feet and a light to our path. And that these two witnesses prophecy or bear witness to God and advance God's truth and kingdom.

We read their conclusion in the last paragraph,

- Who are these two witnesses? In view of these biblical points and the characteristics given in Revelation 11, we can conclude (not dogmatically, however) that the two witnesses are the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, communicating God's light and truth to the world. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 47).

I really like how the lesson said that their conclusion that the Old and New Testaments are the two witnesses is not a dogmatic one, meaning they are open to change that view with new evidence or better explanation—that is a very healthy attitude.

What do you think? Is there a better explanation for the two witnesses than the Old and New Testaments? I think there is. I think the Bible, both old and new testaments together, is one of the two witnesses.

If I am right, what is the other witness?

- "You must be on your guard. You will be handed over to the local councils and flogged in the synagogues. On account of me you will stand before governors and kings as witnesses to them. And the gospel must first be preached to all nations. Whenever you are arrested and brought to trial, do not worry beforehand about what to say. Just say whatever is given you at the time, for it is not you speaking, but the Holy Spirit. (Mark 13:9-11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- "Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes, famines and pestilences in various places, and fearful events and great signs from heaven. But before all this, they will lay hands on you and persecute you. They will deliver you to synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors, and all on account of my name. This will result in your being witnesses to them. But make up your mind not to worry beforehand how you will defend yourselves. For I will give you words and wisdom that none of your adversaries will be able to resist or contradict. (Luke 21:10-15 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- [Jesus] said to them: "It is not for you to know the times or dates the Father has set by his own authority. But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth." (Acts 1:7-8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

So, could the two witnesses be, the Bible and the people of God who are empowered by the Holy Spirit to give witness to the truth contained in the Bible?

Do the other elements of the prophecy fit for the people of God who are empowered by the Holy Spirit and enlightened by the Scriptures?

- And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy for 1,260 days, clothed in sackcloth." These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of the earth. If anyone tries to harm them, fire comes from their mouths and devours their enemies. This is how anyone who wants to harm them must die. These men have power to shut up the sky so that it will not rain during the time they are prophesying; and they have power to turn the waters into blood and to strike the earth with every kind of plague as often as they want. (Revelation 11:3-6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Do the following elements fit the people of God witnessing His truth?

- They receive power from God to be His witnesses.
- They give His true message, i.e. prophecy, for 1260 clothed in sackcloth, meaning in mourning cloth because they are not free, they are persecuted, hunted, and have to do so secretly.
- What about the two olive trees, representing the Holy Spirit, are the people of God empowered by the Holy Spirit to be witnesses for God?

- What about the two lampstands—do they represent the people of God?
    - Jesus said "You are the light of the world. A city on a hill cannot be hidden. Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on its stand, and it gives light to everyone in the house. In the same way, let your light shine before men, that they may see your good deeds and praise your Father in heaven." (Matthew 5:14-16 NIV84, emphasis mine).
    - In the sanctuary service, from where the lampstand imagery is taken, the lampstand had a central stand of gold, which represents Jesus our perfect sinless human substitutionary Savior, who is the Word made flesh and the source of truth and light—the light that lightens all men. But attached to the central stand were six lamps. The number six represents humanity who was created on day six. Thus the lampstand, represents our perfection when united with Christ—as six plus one equals 7. And we become lights that give light of God's kingdom of truth, love, and freedom as we are infilled by the Holy Spirit that flows into us through Jesus, the central stand, the connecting link between heaven and Earth. And, in the sanctuary rituals each morning and evening the high priest, and only the high priest (who symbolically represents Jesus our heavenly High Priest), trimmed the wicks on the lamps, symbolically acting out how Jesus works in our hearts to trim away the old sinful habits, lies, lusts, biases, prejudices, wounds, and crud of this world so that we burn more brightly for Him.
- What about fire coming out of their mouths to devour the enemies? What comes out of the mouth? Truth, this is the fire of truth that devour lies and represents the fire of God's infinite glory that we give testimony and witness to, the truth of His character of love and truth, which consumes all out of harmony with it.
- What about shutting up the sky so it won't rain?
    - Revelation is a symbolic book, most of this is symbolic not literal and the book is pulling from the Old Testament to help inform us of the truth for the prophetic future of when John was writing.
    - We have an object lesson from historic Elijah when he did this, but what is the application to our day?
    - Malachi also prophesied about this:
        - "See, I will send you the prophet Elijah before that great and dreadful day of the LORD comes. He will turn the hearts of the fathers to their children, and the hearts of the children to their fathers (Malachi 4:5-6 NIV84)
    - These witnesses will give the testimony or witness of Elijah—and what was Elijah's message? Why did he call for there to be no rain? Because they were worshiping a false god that they believed brought the rain and thus no rain showed he was powerless. And at Mt. Carmel Elijah called for them to choose which God they would worship, Yahweh or Baal. The final issues are the same, a call to leave Baal worship behind and return to Creator worship. Remember who Baal was—the god of rain, thunder, lightning, weather and harvest, the son of El, the god who fought the great serpent, the leviathan, who fought against Mot the god of death, who in his battle with Mot dies and rises again to bring life to the land. What was wrong with worshiping this god? Baal required payment, appeasement or else he would punish. Baal was a god of imposed rule, of inflicted punishments, it is the god of imposed law. We find ourselves in the same situation today. And God's two witnesses at this time in history call people back to worshiping the Creator.

- What about turning water to blood and call plagues—this is referring to Moses when he stood before Pharaoh and, and like Elijah, confronted pagan, false god worship and called people back to worship the true God. Which is what we are to do by presenting the message of the 3 angels, to call people to, like Elijah did, judge God correctly, to stop worshiping a pagan god who makes up rules and uses power to inflict punishment for rule-breaking and needs sacrifice offered to him in order not to punish or hurt, and return to worshiping the Creator whose laws are design laws and who is the source of life.

Thus, this is how I rendered Revelation 11:3-6 in the Remedy:

- But I will empower my two witnesses–the true Church and the written Word–to proclaim the truth about me, though covered with a shroud of human traditions, for 1260 days." These two are like lamps—standing firm for the Lord, proclaiming my word on earth; like two olive trees—filled with the oil of the Holy Spirit. If anyone tries to obstruct their work with lies and distortions, the fire of truth will be spoken and consume all such enemies–this is how all who want to destroy truth will die. These witnesses have the power that exposes false ideas about God—the same power that Elijah had when it would not rain, thus exposing Baal as false; the same power that Moses had when water turned to blood and plagues covered the land, exposing the Egyptian gods as false. (Revelation 11:3-6 REM).

What do you think of the idea that the two witnesses are 1) the people of God enlightened by 2) the Word of God?

Consider this quote in FRIDAY's lesson from the Great Controversy:

- "When the Bible was proscribed by religious and secular authority; when its testimony was perverted, and every effort made that men and demons could invent to turn the minds of the people from it; when those who dared proclaim its sacred truths were hunted, betrayed, tortured, buried in dungeon cells, martyred for their faith, or compelled to flee to mountain fastnesses, and to dens and caves of the earth—then the faithful witnesses prophesied in sackcloth. Yet they continued their testimony throughout the entire period of 1260 years. In the darkest times there were faithful men who loved God's word and were jealous for His honor. To these loyal servants were given wisdom, power, and authority to declare His truth during the whole of this time."—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, pp. 267, 268. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 52, emphasis mine).

Does this quotation support the idea that the two witnesses are the Bible AND the faithful men of God who loved God's word and faithfully witnessed the truth?

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on the portion of the prophecy of Revelation 11 where the two witnesses are killed, with this interpretation starting with the third paragraph,

- In the French Revolution, the government officially established the Cult of Reason as a state-sponsored atheistic religion, intended to replace Christianity. A Festival of Reason was held nationwide on November 10, 1793. Churches across France were turned into Temples of Reason, and a living woman was enthroned as the Goddess of Reason. Bibles were burned in the streets. God was declared nonexistent, and death was pronounced to be an endless sleep. Satan worked through godless men to kill God's two witnesses. Their dead bodies would "lie in the street of the great city which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified" (Rev. 11:8, NKJV).

  Egypt was a culture of many gods that denied the true God (see Exod. 5:2). Sodom represents gross immorality. In the French Revolution, God's two witnesses—the Old and New Testaments—lay dead as a result of the atheism and immorality that ran rampant as normal restraints were loosed in revolution and bloodshed.

  Revelation 11:9 says that the bodies of God's two witnesses would lie unburied for "three-and-a-half days" (NKJV), i.e., prophetic "days" representing three and a half literal years. Atheism was at its height in the French Revolution, at least for about three and a half years. This period extended from November 26, 1793, when a decree issued in Paris abolished religion, to June 17, 1797, when the French government removed its restrictive religious laws. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 49).

I believe this is another dual fulfillment prophecy, like Jesus' description of the destruction of Jerusalem and the end of the world. The destruction of Jerusalem was not the end of the world, but the events there hold lessons for us as we approach the end of the world. Likewise, Revelation is not about the French Revolution, it is a warning for the events leading to the second coming of Christ and thus the events of the French Revolution are a local regional fulfillment of a larger global event yet to come.

Multiple prophecies exist like this in Scripture:

- Jesus' prophecy of destruction of Jerusalem/end of the world
- Joel's prophecy of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit—local regional fulfillment at Pentecost, global fulfillment before the second coming
- Isaiah's and Ezekiel's prophecy about human kings (local regional fulfillment) pointing to the fall of Lucifer, (greater global fulfillment)
- Malachi's prophecy concerning Elijah—local regional with John the Baptist who proceeded Christ, greater global fulfillment with the Elijah message before the second coming

- Second beast of Revelation 13 with lamblike horns representing the USA (local regional fulfillment), pointing to Satan impersonating Christ (greater global fulfillment)

These events in France impacted a very small part of human civilization. While in France these prophetic elements were fulfilled, it is not true that they were fulfilled in the other parts of Europe and the world where the Bible was still held in high esteem at that time. It is my belief, that the full fulfillment of this prophecy will be the global rejection of the truth of God as revealed in the Bible and by His true church and the world wondering after the beast and the entire world becoming as Jesus said, like it was in the days of Sodom, which I believe we are seeing transpiring right now in this very generation.

Peter wrote this about Lot:

- Lot, a righteous man, who was distressed by the filthy lives of lawless men (for that righteous man, living among them day after day, was tormented in his righteous soul by the lawless deeds he saw and heard) (2 Peter 2:7-8 NIV84).

I am currently experiencing this same thing, so much of the news, TV, movies, what is happening in our schools, in our communities is so vile, perverted, exploitive, abusive, and corrupt it makes me sick and I can't watch it. I can't even stand to read most of the news articles anymore.

What we see happening is that God's Holy Spirit is being withdrawn and demonic spirits are influencing the people and society is decaying.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph,

- At the end of the French Revolution, God's Word would, figuratively, come to life again. There would be a mighty revival. Great fear would fall on those who saw God's Word once more become the living power of God unto salvation. At the end of the eighteenth century, God raised up men and women who were committed to taking the gospel to the ends of the earth. People spread the message of the Bible rapidly. One such person was William Carey, who traveled to India and translated the Bible into dozens of local dialects. Propelled by the power of the Bible, missionaries were sent around the world. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 50).

Did you notice something the lesson did here? And I agree with it, but what they did supports my view and undercuts their own previously stated conclusion that the two witnesses are the Old and New Testament and that the complete fulfillment of the prophecy is the French Revolution.

They moved away from France to the entire world, and the brought in the people who took the gospel to the world. I agree with this move because I believe the two witnesses are the true church and the Bible, and the French Revolution is only a regional fulfillment not the complete fulfillment.

Are we seeing the complete fulfillment now? When the godless forces of this world who deny the Bible, who have worked to eliminate it from our discourse and society, who lead the green climate change movement—which is a lie and a specific denial of God's promises to us—who were behind the COVID gain of function research, release, and then the greatest abuse of human rights in history, who are advancing the lie that male and female is a mental construct not a biological God-designed reality, who are behind the DEI falsehoods, who promote lawlessness such as open borders, who promote no standards in education, who claim Christianity is racist and abusive, that a two parent home with a mother and father is a form of white supremacy, who want to evolve humans to human 2.0 through genetic and cybernetic manipulation. Are we seeing the ever-increasing decadence, crime, abuse, and exploitation and activities designed and intended to destroy the image of God in people, to increase fear, advance selfishness, and destroy the unity of people to have healthy community? Do we see demons working to destroy the image of God in people?

Isn't the greater global fulfillment of these events occurring right before our eyes?

And we must be careful to guard our hearts for Satan is using all of this evil to infect our hearts with anger, rage, hate—and it is now we must keep watch, watch over our hearts, we must purposely choose to love our enemies, to pray for those who are doing all this evil, to see them as our sin-sick brothers and sisters, family members who are destroying themselves, that we might be sons of our Father who is in heaven. As Jesus said,

- "Be careful, or your hearts will be weighed down with dissipation, drunkenness and the anxieties of life, and that day will close on you unexpectedly like a trap. For it will come upon all those who live on the face of the whole earth. Be always on the watch, and pray that you may be able to escape all that is about to happen, and that you may be able to stand before the Son of Man." (Luke 21:34-36 NIV84).

We must be careful to watch our own hearts and not become angry, bitter, selfish, and hateful. We must love the enemies of God like Jesus, like Paul, like Stephen even though they will seek to destroy us and all that we hold dear, we cannot win by devolving into hatred, politics, use of earthly powers to try and advance what we think is right. We win like the early church advanced the gospel, by living out God's principles in governance of ourselves in how we treat others, not by taking over governments.

But do you see the need for the two witnesses to rise up? Do you see how the true people of God, who have the Word of God in their hearts and minds and are able to accurately present God's reality-based truths for this time, are needed to give their witness, to give the testimony of Jesus to the world? This can only be done if we return to worshiping God as Creator and understand His laws are design laws—our God is the God of reality! Satan is the father of lies, the make-believe, the pretend, the reimagined way of thinking—of fantasy.

The lesson asks us to read Psalms 119:89 and 111:7-8:

- Your word, O LORD, is eternal; it stands firm in the heavens. (Psalm 119:89, NIV84)
- The works of his hands are faithful and just; all his precepts are trustworthy. They are steadfast for ever and ever, done in faithfulness and uprightness. (Psalm 111:7-8, NIV84)

What do these texts mean?

Is the Psalm, when it says, "Your word is eternal" talking about the Bible?

Read the last two paragraphs,

- God's Word may be attacked, or suppressed, but it will never be eradicated. Even many professed Christians undermine its authority in various ways, questioning parts of the Bible or so emphasizing the human elements that it all but loses its divine stamp, and God's truth is undermined.

  We must never, in any way, allow ourselves to be seduced by these attacks on the Word of God. It is still alive today, speaking to human hearts, breathing new life into those who are willing to listen to the Word and follow its teachings. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 50).

It appears the lesson is applying these Psalms to the Bible, and we certainly do refer to the Bible as the Word of God.

So, I think it is quite legitimate to believe these Psalms are including in its reference the written Word of God, but my question is whether these Psalms are restricted to the Bible or even primarily intended to point our minds exclusively to the Bible? are these psalms pointing our minds to God the Creator of reality and His word which is truth itself, reality, how things are, and is most perfectly revealed in Jesus the Word made flesh?

Let me be clear—I am not in any way diminishing the Bible. The Bible is the Word of God and it is in the Bible that we learn about Jesus the living Word of God. But I believe God's Word means the totality of His Word, the truth that ever flows from God in all avenues of His divine disclosure and revelation. And God has given us the written word as a touchstone, for us to use as a reference and compare any future claims of inspiration—because God would make future revelations of truth because truth is unfolding and the Bible is a reference guide to differentiate the true word of God from falsehood. Therefore, in my view, God's Word includes:

- His direct revelations in speaking to people like Adam and Eve in Eden, the spoken revelations of the coming destruction of Sodom He made to Abraham, the directions He gave to Moses when He spoke face to face as a man to a friend.
- His revelations in dreams and visions like He did to Joseph, Pharaoh, Daniel, and John

- His truths spoken by His prophets like the words spoken to Nineveh by Jonah
- His truths written by His prophets—the Bible
- The testimony given in nature—The heavens declare the glory of God (Psalm 19:1), and God's divine nature is seen in what He has made (Romans 1:20).
- The testimony given by the transformation of lives when the Holy Spirit recreates a person to leave selfishness and sin behind and live lives of love and trust in harmony with God and His design laws for life
- The truth spoken by God's teachers, pastors, evangelists, and gospel workers

The Word of God is the truth, for God is the truth and the source of all truth. And while the Bible is the inspired divine revelation of God to us, the written Word, it can be misused, misunderstood, misapplied, and used to harm—especially when it is used alone without connection to the other evidentiary threads God has given us. Jesus Himself said to religious people who were studying the God-inspired Holy Scriptures:

- You diligently study the Scriptures because you think that by them you possess eternal life. These are the Scriptures that testify about me, yet you refuse to come to me to have life. (John 5:39-40 NIV84).

Jesus is not undermining the inspiration of the Bible—He is stating that one can study the Bible in such a way that it doesn't do any good.

The lesson admonishes us not to allow ourselves to be seduced by attacks on God's Word—my point is that the attacks on God's truth are multipronged. There are the attacks of godlessness, of the idea that there is no God and that the Bible is just a book of fables. But there is another attack, and that is that the Bible is a codebook of deeds to be done and sins to be shunned. In other words, that the Bible is a legal book, a book of laws that must be obeyed with the idea that the God's kingdom is like the kingdoms of the world. This causes a form of godliness without power and people can be religious, claiming belief in a long list of right doctrines, including reverence for the sacred text, but still be enemies of God, why? Because they have accepted a different attack on the Bible, an attack that changes and obscures the truths contained in the Bible.

We protect ourselves from this attack on the Word of God, by including all the threads of evidence that God has provided and harmonizing them. The integrative evidenced based approach that seeks the harmonized truth from Scripture, Science/Nature, and Life Experiences.

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph,

- Despite the attacks of the enemy, God's work on earth will come to a glorious climax. The gospel will be preached to "every nation, tribe, tongue, and people" (Rev. 14:6, NKJV). The great controversy between Christ and Satan will end with Christ completely defeating the powers of hell. God's kingdom will triumph over evil, and sin will be eradicated forever from the universe. Revelation 11 begins with Satan's attempt through the French Revolution to destroy the Christian faith and eradicate belief in God, but the chapter ends with the triumph of God's kingdom over the principalities and powers of evil. It provides encouragement to all who go through fiery trials for the cause of Christ and His truth. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 51).

Why hasn't Jesus come? What is the cause of the delay? Do we have a role to play in hastening the day? What is our role?

Consider this historical quote, by one of the founders of the Seventh-day Adventist church. The quote refers to Adventists after the 1844 disappointment. Recognize that this reference is not referring to the Seventh-day Adventist organized church, for it wasn't organized until 1863. This reference is to the wide body of Christians from all denominations that were part of the Great Awakening and who were looking forward to the second coming of Christ, and in particular those who were followers of Baptist preacher William Miller who proclaimed that the 2300 prophecy of Daniel 8:14 would end with the coming of Jesus on October 22, 1844. It is this group of people, that are referred to in this quote. And then the author makes a suggestion as to why Jesus has not yet come. What do you think of this suggestion for the delay:

- Had Adventists, after the great disappointment in 1844, held fast their faith and followed on unitedly in the opening providence of God, receiving the message of the third angel and in the power of the Holy Spirit proclaiming it to the world, they would have seen the salvation of God, the Lord would have wrought mightily with their efforts, the work would have been completed, and Christ would have come ere this to receive His people to their reward. (Evangelism 695.3; 4LtMs, Ms 4, 1883, par. 52)

So this author, in 1883, has taken the position that the work could have been finished if that initial group of Adventists—from a wide variety of denominations—would have received the message of the third angel—thoughts?

What is this message of the third angel that would have made such a difference?

- A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice: "If anyone worships the beast and his image and receives his mark on the forehead or on the hand, he, too, will drink of the wine of God's fury, which has been poured full strength into the cup of his wrath. He will be tormented with burning sulfur in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb. And the smoke of their torment rises for ever and ever. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and his image, or for anyone who receives the mark of his name." This calls for patient endurance on the part of the saints who obey God's commandments and remain faithful to Jesus. (Revelation 14:9-12 NIV84).

What do you think? If we could broadcast this message, word for word, on every TV and radio station, every internet site, every podcast, so that every single person in the entire world hears this read to them, would that finish the work? Why or why not?

Well first, this is the concluding message that cannot be understood without the two preceding messages.

Let's do a quick review of all three messages and then see what has been rejected in the third, including by the majority of those who have formed and become the Seventh-day Adventist church. If you would like more detail on this and to have something to share with others, our magazine The Final Message of Mercy to the World: The Three Angels is available on our website. You can read it online, send the link to friends, download a pdf, or order print copies to share. But let's read the first two messages:

- Then I saw another angel flying in midair, and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation, tribe, language and people. He said in a loud voice, "Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water."

  A second angel followed and said, "Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great, which made all the nations drink the maddening wine of her adulteries." (Revelation 14:6-9 NIV84)

The eternal gospel is the eternal good news, which is the good news that has always been true in eternity past as well as eternally true through all the future. And that good news is the truth about God, that God is not like Satan has alleged. And Satan has alleged that God is untrustworthy, that God functions like a creature, that God is selfish, makes up rules, and uses power to inflict punishment for rule-breaking. The good news is that all of this is a lie. We are called by the first angel to stop judging God to be like a human dictator, to give Him glory by revealing the truth about Him as Creator, He who made the heavens, earth, sea and fountains of water which means we realize that God's laws are design laws, the laws reality is constructed to exist and operate upon and they are not the kinds of laws sinful creatures make, imposed rules that require imposed punishments.

When we do this we are called to leave Babylon, that system of imposed law with its imposed punishments is fallen and corrupt. Babylon, of all the nations that interacted with Israel in the Bible story arc, is the first nation to have a codified system of law and order, the code of Hammurabi, and thus rightly represents the fallen kingdoms of this world. Just look around and see how unjust imposed laws are. One can never get love, trust, loyalty, friendship or true justice by inflicting punishments upon people. Thus we are to judge God rightly and leave behind all the systems and theologies that teach a penal legal, imposed law, punishing god behind.

Then, when we do that we realize the true message of the three angels and can comprehend the beauty of the third angel. The message is about worship—are we worshiping God as Jesus revealed Him to be, the Creator and Sustainer of reality whose laws are design laws? Or are we worshiping the imposter, the god of this age, whose laws are like our laws, made up rules that require that false god to use power to punish? The law of worship is a design law, by beholding we are changed. We become like the God we admire, worship, and follow and thus those who reject the first and second angels' messages and continue to worship a god who is like Satan, the god of imposed rules and inflicted punishments will either mark themselves in character to be like him, or mark themselves in practice to be like him. And then they experience the law of liberty when God sets them free to reap what they have chosen for themselves, when God stops using power to hold at bay what sin does to the sinner. And they experience the full consequences of truth and love when God's life-giving glory is unveiled and they have full knowledge of what they have done to themselves and others and they are tormented by their unremedied sin in the presence of the holy angels and the lamb.

The message of the third angel is the message of design law, of reality, of how things actually work. And EGW was telling us we cannot finish the work and hasten the day until we leave the Roman imposed law lies behind and finally teach the truth about God's character and government which is built upon designs laws of truth, love, and liberty.

The lesson asks us to read Revelation 11:19:

- Then God's temple in heaven was opened, and within his temple was seen the ark of his covenant. (Revelation 11:19 NIV84).

What do you think John saw? Was John seeing reality or a symbolic representation of reality?

Well consider other things John saw in this very same vision recorded in the book of Revelation:

- I turned around to see the voice that was speaking to me. And when I turned I saw seven golden lampstands, and among the lampstands was someone "like a son of man," dressed in a robe reaching down to his feet and with a golden sash around his chest. His head and hair were white like wool, as white as snow, and his eyes were like blazing fire. His feet were like bronze glowing in a furnace, and his voice was like the sound of rushing waters. In his right hand he held seven stars, and out of his mouth came a sharp double-edged sword. His face was like the sun shining in all its brilliance. (Revelation 1:12-16 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Is John seeing reality, or a symbolic representation of reality?

- After this I looked, and there before me was a door standing open in heaven… and there before me was a throne in heaven with someone sitting on it. And the one who sat there had the appearance of jasper and carnelian. A rainbow, resembling an emerald, encircled the throne. Surrounding the throne were twenty-four other thrones, and seated on them were twenty-four elders. They were dressed in white and had crowns of gold on their heads… In the center, around the throne, were four living creatures, and they were covered with eyes, in front and in back. The first living creature was like a lion, the second was like an ox, the third had a face like a man, the fourth was like a flying eagle. Each of the four living creatures had six wings and was covered with eyes all around, even under his wings. (Revelation 4:1-8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Is John seeing reality, or a symbolic representation of reality?

- Then I saw a Lamb, looking as if it had been slain, standing in the center of the throne, encircled by the four living creatures and the elders. He had seven horns and seven eyes… (Revelation 5:6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Is John seeing reality or a symbolic representation of reality?

- Then God's temple in heaven was opened, and within his temple was seen the ark of his covenant. (Revelation 11:19 NIV84).

Is John seeing reality or a symbolic representation of reality?

What is the reality that we are to understand from these symbols?

Can you think of other words to describe the reality of what is represented?

The OT sanctuary was given to help us understand these things, what was it that occurred symbolically in that old system? The cleansing of people from sin and the restoration of the people to unity, at-one-ment with God.

So the temple is a symbolic representation of God's plan of salvation. His actions to resolve and remove sin from His universe.

But how does God do this?

What is the problem sin caused that God needs to fix?

Where does sin exist, operate, occur, happen? Does sin happen in non-living matter, do we find sin in rocks, stars, moons, asteroids, photons, neutrinos, atoms?

Does sin exist in books or records? When we read in our Bibles the record of David's sin with Bathsheba, is that record we are reading sin? If we could erase all the records of David's sin from all recording devices, whether printed Bibles, or memory sticks, or internet websites, or heavenly records, if we could erase from the entire universe the record of David's sin, have we gotten rid of sin?

No! understand reality, erasing record books does not eliminate, remove, or cleanse God's universe from sin, because non-living matter cannot sin, but we can keep a record of sin carved in stone, or recorded in ink—but that record is not sin and erasing that record doesn't remove or eliminate sin.

So, whatever Christ is doing in the Temple in heaven it is not erasing facts of history from recording devises.

So, what is the symbolism teaching us?

Where does sin occur? It occurs in living beings and if God wants to remove sin from His universe where does He have to act, what needs to be cleansed?

Notice what David prayed for after his great sin—he did not pray to have records erased, notice what he prayed:

- Wash away all my iniquity and cleanse me from my sin… Cleanse me with hyssop, and I will be clean; wash me, and I will be whiter than snow. (Psalm 51:2 & 7 NIV 84, emphasis mine)

David understood that salvation is cleansing us, our hearts and minds, our characters, our spirits and souls must be cleansed.

That is why in the new covenant God writes His law in our hearts and minds, and that is symbolically taught by the ark of the covenant, which is at the center of the temple.

The ark is the place of at-one-ment, where all things in heaven and earth are reconciled to Christ by the application of His victory at the cross.

The lid to the ark was made of solid gold and represents Jesus—connected to the lid were the angels representing the unfallen heavenly host, the Shekinah glory represents the Godhead, resting on the lid, and below the lid was the box made of porous wood covered in gold. This represents defective sinners, who are perfected by the righteousness (gold) of Jesus. In the box were three elements that symbolically represent how we are transformed and cleansed from sin:

- Manna—represents the living Word, Jesus that we partake and are won to trust, then in trust we open the heart and element 2
- The law is written upon our hearts, the living law of God, the design law methods and motives of truth, love, and liberty that we with our reborn hearts and minds begin to practice and that results in element 3
- Aaron's rod that budded and brought forth almonds, we who were dead in trespass and sin come to live and bring forth peaceable fruits of righteousness

So what is Jesus doing in heaven as our High Priest? He is cleansing the temple, which means what? He is cleansing His people from sin and preparing His people, to be with Him. He is bringing us into at-one-ment, and this is the wedding of Christ, what happens at a wedding? The two become one, at-one-ment. And where to weddings happen? They are sacred joinings happening in sacred spaces, rightly depicted in the temple. The day of atonement depicts the time in history when Jesus finishes the work of cleansing His bride to meet Him face to face.

What about the records? The Bible says that the names of people are recorded in the Lamb's book of life, and in the Bible names represent character, and thus what is recorded is not historical accounts, but individualities. When a person dies, the body returns to dust, the life energy—spirit—returns to God who gave it, but the soul, the psyche, the individuality is safely stored on the heavenly servers, the Lamb's book of life awaiting download into a new body at the resurrection. Paul describes this perfectly in Thessalonians.

- Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. According to the Lord's own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep. For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. Therefore encourage each other with these words. (1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 NIV84).

Notice that the dead are in a state of sleep and are coming back with Jesus from heaven, but they are also rising out of the ground. How? Because their bodies returned to dust and God creates new bodies for them at the resurrection, but their software, their individuality, their souls have been sleeping in heaven secure in Jesus.

So, cleansing the records in heaven is only achieved by cleansing the hearts and minds of people, it is never achieved by legal mechanics or erasing facts of history.

FRIDAY

In the last paragraph, the lesson quotes this from the book The Great Controversy

- "Unless the church will follow on in His [God's] opening providence, accepting every ray of light, performing every duty which may be revealed, religion will inevitably degenerate into the observance of forms, and the spirit of vital godliness will disappear."—The Great Controversy, p. 316. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 52, emphasis mine).

Is this not describing a church that has rejected the design law light and embraced and clung to the imposed law view?

Read the question at the bottom of the lesson:

- What are some of the teachings today, held by many Christians, that are based on tradition and not on the Word of God? (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 48).

Can you think of any?

- A denomination holds the keys to salvation rather than Jesus
- Ceremonies have saving power
- All people have eternal life whether saved or lost, only the place and conditions of their life change—some live in heaven others live eternally in hell
- God's law functions like human law
- God is the source of pain, suffering and death inflicted as punishment for sin
- Salvation is a legal process
- Jesus must plead to the Father to save us from the Father's wrath
- Jesus must present His sacrifice to the Father to pay our sin debt
- Jesus must present His merits to the Father to remind the father of the sin debt He has already paid
- Salvation is being saved from God's punishment for sin
- Sunday is a sacred day of the week
- Others?

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 7
Motivated by Hope

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Last week the first question in our Q&A time was "When does hope become fantasy?" And the answer I gave was, "Whenever and wherever it is detached from reality."

For hope to be more than wishful thinking, imaginary dreams, fantasies—our hope must be connected to objective reality—so, upon what do you base your hope and what is the basis for that choice?

I believe the God of love exists and it is the most rationale decision to place one's hope in Him, because the various threads of evidence are overwhelmingly conclusive, consistent, rational, reasonable, and provide the best framework for life, health, and decision-making. And those threads of evidence are:

Science: Non-living matter exists on physical laws, such as the laws of physics and gravity—and those laws are constants, they are reliable, predictable, testable, and do not discriminate. They provide evidence to the God of Creation, the laws He built reality to operate upon. The heavens declare the glory of God.

Non-living matter and the physical laws provide the building blocks for living organisms. But life itself is built upon the law of love—and this law is also a constant, testable, reliable, predictable. Love is the principle of giving, and all living organisms operate upon it. With every breath, we give away carbon dioxide (CO2) to the plants and the plants give oxygen back to us. If you put a plastic bag over your head and "hoard" your CO2 for yourself, then you will die. Everything that lives gives. Cease to give and one dies. I believe in the Creator God of love who spoke reality into existence and built this planet with its life in six literal day and rested on the seventh day because life requires the simultaneous existence of diverse forms of interdependent life that give to each other. Only our God of love could have spoken these complex, mutually sustaining, symbiotic forms of life into existence at the same time. It is scientifically impossible for this to happen without an intelligent Creator.

What we can prove scientifically, measure, and test all confirm the God of love.

- Science proves that order never comes on its own but requires the input of an intelligence.
- Science proves that life, as we know it, never comes from non-living matter, only from another living organism.

- Science proves that all life requires three elements: matter, energy, and coded information (DNA) and science proves that information never codes itself; coded information requires an intelligence.

But science and nature are not the only reasons I believe in and have hope the Creator God of love. The next reason is:

Scripture: The Bible reveals that the Creator God of love did not hold on to power but surrendered power, position, and prestige to become our Savior. He suffered and died in order to reach us with His love and provide the solution to our terminal sin-condition so that we might have eternal life (Philippians 2:5–8; John 3:16; 2 Corinthians 5:21; Hebrews 2:14, 15; 2 Timothy 1:10). Love only exists in freedom. At the cross, Jesus not only provided the remedy to our terminal sin-condition, but He also proved that He is trustworthy. He showed that He would rather die than use His power to take away our freedom, even the freedom to kill Him.

The Scripture provides us meaning. We are created in the image of God, with abilities like God. We have identity; individuality; and the ability to think, act, build, and procreate. We have a purpose and a future. Our current life is not the sum totality of our existence. In Christ, we have a vision of a better life, an immortal life, in a world restored to sinless perfection, a world with no fear, no selfishness, no exploitation, sickness, pain, suffering, or death—a world where every single person loves others more than themselves.

But nature and the Bible are not the only reasons I believe in and have hope in the Creator God of love, but also because of:

Experience: I have felt pain in this world—the pain of loss, broken relationships, sickness, and injury. I have suffered from my own poor choices. I have felt the cruelty of selfishness, exploitation, and unkindness from others. And I have found that God's principles heal. I have experienced the comfort, healing, restoration, and peace that come only from Jesus, from trusting Him, embracing His truth, living in harmony with His principles, practicing His methods, trusting His promises, and living in His presence. I have experienced His healing hand and know that the God of love is real and the only source of life, health, and happiness.

I believe that the God of love exists and is the best place to place our hope because it is scientific; because it gives life meaning and purpose and a vision of a better future; and because it is the healthiest way to be. Happiness only exists in harmony with God and the laws He has built life to operate upon.

Consider what the Bible says about hope:

- To you, O LORD, I lift up my soul; in you I trust, O my God. Do not let me be put to shame, nor let my enemies triumph over me. No one whose hope is in you will ever be put to shame, but they will be put to shame who are treacherous without excuse. Show me your > ways, O LORD, teach me your paths; guide me in your truth and teach me, for you are God my Savior, and my hope is in you all day long. (Psalm 25:1–5 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Where is the psalmist's hope placed? And what is the psalmist asking for? To know reality, to know God's design laws, how things actually work, why things are the way they are. Notice, the hope is in God, in reality, in the truth—there is no hope in falsehood, no hope in fantasy, in wishful thinking, in a re-imagined future, in denying the truth, in proclaiming that your truth is your truth…there is only real hope in God, in eternal truth, in following the truth where it leads. But people place hope in all kinds of lies, fantasies, wishful thinking, dreams but in the end if they reject reality, reject our God of love, no matter how hopeful they are, their situation is hopeless.

And what evidence does the Bible give us that our hopes in God are not fantasies but are reality?

Evidence from nature:

- "But ask the animals, and they will teach you, or the birds of the air, and they will tell you; or speak to the earth, and it will teach you, or let the fish of the sea inform you. Which of all these does not know that the hand of the LORD has done this? … Though he slay me, yet will I hope in him." (Job 12:7-9 & 13:15 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- You answer us with awesome deeds of righteousness, O God our Savior, the hope of all the ends of the earth and of the farthest seas, who formed the mountains by your power (Psalm 65:5–6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Evidence from life experiences:

- For you have been my hope, O Sovereign LORD, my confidence since my youth. From birth I have relied on you (Psalm 71:5–6 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- The LORD delights in those who fear him, who put their hope in his unfailing love. (Ps 147:11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Evidence from Scripture:

- Do not snatch the word of truth from my mouth, for I have put my hope in your laws. (Psalm 119:43 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- May those who fear you rejoice when they see me, for I have put my hope in your word. (Psalm 119:74 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- You are my refuge and my shield; I have put my hope in your word. (Ps 119:114 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- I wait for the LORD, my soul waits, and in his word I put my hope. My soul waits for the Lord more than watchmen wait for the morning, more than watchmen wait for the morning.

> O Israel, put your hope in the LORD, for with the LORD is unfailing love and with him is full redemption. He himself will redeem Israel from all their sins. (Ps 130:5–8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

But the question from last week was when does hope become fantasy? When it is detached from reality—and the Bible describes this as well:

- A horse is a vain hope for deliverance; despite all its great strength it cannot save. But the eyes of the LORD are on those who fear him, on those whose hope is in his unfailing love, to deliver them from death and keep them alive in famine. We wait in hope for the LORD; he is our help and our shield. In him our hearts rejoice, for we trust in his holy name. (Psalm 33:17–21 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- The prospect of the righteous is joy, but the hopes of the wicked come to nothing. (Proverb 10:28 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Why do the hopes of the wicked come to nothing?

Consider the following proverb, what is the reality it describes regarding hope?

- Discipline your son, for in that there is hope; do not be a willing party to his death. (Proverb 19:18 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Is there some design law at work in this proverb? Is there some real life condition, problem, issue, that if parents don't work against, through loving discipline, will lead to death? And is this testable, is there evidence to confirm this is so? Is this a promise that good parenting guarantees a good outcome, or that loving discipline offers hope?

And why is there so much false hope in the world—so much fantasy-based hope?

- This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Do not listen to what the prophets are prophesying to you; they fill you with false hopes. They speak visions from their own minds, not from the mouth of the LORD. They keep saying to those who despise me, 'The LORD says: You will have peace.' And to all who follow the stubbornness of their hearts they say, 'No harm will come to you.' (Jeremiah 23:16–17 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- For a time is coming when people will no longer listen to sound and wholesome teaching. They will follow their own desires and will look for teachers who will tell them whatever their itching ears want to hear. They will reject the truth and chase after myths. (2 Timothy 4:3-4 NLT).

Who are the prophets that are filling the people with false hope today? Those who are telling precious souls who are struggling with identity confusion that there is hope in mutilating their bodies; those telling honest souls to be afraid of global disaster and to place there is hope in carbon control; that hope is found in more government, more laws, more taxes, more punishments, less freedoms, there is hope in removing objective truth, in declaring people to be competent when they have no competence and giving diplomas to those who have not merited them (very similar to the penal substitutionary theology that claims God declares people to be righteous while in reality they are unrighteous). And as we see people placing their hope in all kinds of myths and fantasies that their itching ears want to hear what is the outcome?

- The desire of the righteous ends only in good, but the hope of the wicked only in wrath. (Proverb 11:23 NIV84, emphasis mine).

What is wrath? God letting go, when God stops using His power to hold at bay the destruction their rebellious choices bring, when God sets people free to reap what they have insisted upon—and the people end up enslaved to fear, addictions, sickness, and demonic forces and ultimately, just as the Bible says those who sow to the carnal nature from that nature reap destruction (Galatians 6:8).

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the hope of the second coming of Jesus—Do you share in this hope? What has given you the greatest confidence that Jesus is coming again?

- Bible Promises that He will come again—such as Jesus' own testimony in John 14:1-3 and the writings of the Apostles like Paul in 1 Corinthians 15 and 1 Thessalonians 4, and Peter 2 Peter chapter 3.
- Old Testament References such as Isaiah
    - "As the new heavens and the new earth that I make will endure before me," declares the LORD, "so will your name and descendants endure." (Isaiah 66:22 NIV84).
- Bible Prophecies
    - Daniel 2, the multi-metal image, which ends with a rock, not cut by human hands striking the image on the feet of iron and clay and destroying the image, and the interpretation is as follows:
        - "And just as you saw the iron mixed with baked clay, so the people will be a mixture and will not remain united, any more than iron mixes with clay. In the time of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor will it be left to another people. It will crush all those kingdoms and bring them to an end, but it will itself endure forever. This is the meaning of the vision of the rock cut out of a mountain, but not by human hands—a rock that broke the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver and the gold to pieces. The great God has shown the king what will take place in the future. The dream is true and the interpretation is trustworthy." (Daniel 2:43-45 NIV84).

    - The progression of the future kingdoms exactly as God foretold, from Babylon, to Medo-Persia, to Greece, to Rome, to Europe broken into many competing countries never to be united again—we are living in that time waiting for the second coming.
    - All the other prophecies in Daniel and Revelation, Zechariah, and the other prophets.
- The Great Controversy perspective—does the Bible make any sense at all, is there really any point to its teachings, if Jesus never comes again? Isn't the entire point, the message of the Bible that God is going to eliminate sin and restore His creation back to sinless perfection where there is no more pain, suffering, sickness, betrayal, sin, evil, exploitation, abuse, guilt, shame, and death? The entire focus of the mission of Jesus Christ is the eradication of evil from His universe and thus, if we don't believe in that mission, there is nothing worth believing in. This is the same argument Paul makes in 1 Corinthians 15 when some were arguing that there is not resurrection—and the resurrection is tied directly to the future restoration of all things into sinless perfection, i.e., the second coming of Christ is when the resurrection of the righteous occurs. And notice Paul's argument:
    - "But if it is preached that Christ has been raised from the dead, how can some of you say that there is no resurrection of the dead? If there is no resurrection of the dead, then not even Christ has been raised. And if Christ has not been raised, our preaching is useless and so is your faith. More than that, we are then found to be false witnesses about God, for we have testified about God that he raised Christ from the dead. But he did not raise him if in fact the dead are not raised. For if the dead are not raised, then Christ has not been raised either. And if Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile; you are still in your sins. Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ are lost. If only for this life we have hope in Christ, we are to be pitied more than all men." (1 Corinthians 15:12-19 NIV84).
- Signs of the times
    - Scoffers
        - First of all, you must understand that in the last days scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires. They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised? Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation" (2 Peter 3:3, 4 NIV84, emphasis mine).
    - This sign was fulfilled in the late 18th and early 19th centuries during the Enlightenment, which directly opposed the Great Awakening. The Great Awakening was a religious movement that called people's attention to the nearness of the second coming of Christ. But this movement was countered by the Enlightenment, in which godless scientific views and human reason replaced a belief in God, and godless evolutionism spread throughout the world. In the wake of godless evolution came communism and other godless philosophies that scoff at the idea that Jesus is coming again.

      Not only is the world today filled with scoffers, but the critics of God have come to dominate the scientific, educational, and media landscape, creating a societal attitude that those who continue to look for Christ's return are less educated, ignorant, or foolish.

But those of us who know God and trust the Bible know, just as Peter prophesied nearly 2,000 years ago, that it is the scoffers who are failing to understand reality. So, our first sign, which also gives us a timeframe for when the end-times began, is the rise of godless evolutionism, with its scoffers that ridicule our expectation of Jesus' return.

- Wars and rumors of wars
  - You will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet (Matthew 24:6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

  - Jesus here refers to the never-ending regional struggles, tribal wars, crusades, and conflicts throughout the Dark and Middle Ages prior to the "end times," which began in the 19th century with the completion of the 1260 year prophecy which ended 1798 and the Enlightenment. The end times come after these wars. Notice the shift from wars to our third sign nations and kingdoms rising against each other.

- World wars, natural disasters, famines, pandemics
  - Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes, famines and pestilences in various places, and fearful events and great signs from heaven (Luke 21:10, 11 NIV84, emphasis mine).
  - Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places. All these are the beginning of birth pains (Matthew 24:7, 8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- After the long history of wars and conflicts through the Dark and Middle Ages, after the Enlightenment and the rise of the scoffers, we enter the 20th century and experience WWI, WWII, nuclear weapons, wars in Korea, Vietnam, Afghanistan, Iraq, Kuwait, and Syria, and terrorism around the world. The 20th century, with its two world wars and other military conflicts, saw more people killed by war than any other century in human history. And we have seen ever increasing national conflicts and wars, some like WWI and WWII military wars, but now we are seeing economic and social and cultural wars. And in the past fifty years, the world has seen massive famines, the threats of climate change, HIV, SARS, Swine Flu, COVID, and the increasing frequency of earthquakes, hurricanes, destructive storms, and other disasters. But all of this is the beginning of the birth pains.

When a woman goes into labor, the time of delivery has begun. In other words, she has entered the "end time" of her pregnancy—but the labor isn't instantaneous. The pains get more frequent and more intense right up until delivery. We are now in the time of the end, the time of ever-increasing rapidity of events leading up to our Savior's return!

Understand that no matter what we do, things on Earth are not going to get better until Jesus returns. And the worsening of conditions on Earth, the increasing labor pains as the Earth itself groans under the weight of sin, will be used by the scoffers to incite fear, turn minds away from God, and promote their godless solutions that will solidify power into a global coalition that persecutes the righteous.

- The promise of an era of peace and safety

  Paul also used the metaphor of a woman going into labor when referring to the return of our Lord, adding an interesting detail:

  > Now, brothers, about times and dates we do not need to write to you, for you know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night. While people are saying, "Peace and safety," destruction will come on them suddenly, as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape. But you, brothers, are not in darkness so that this day should surprise you like a thief. You are all sons of the light and sons of the day. We do not belong to the night or to the darkness. So then, let us not be like others, who are asleep, but let us be alert and self-controlled (1 Thessalonian 5:1–6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

When those who don't know God—the scoffers, the evolutionist, the humanists, the communist, the Marxist, the leftist, those who are desperately seeking to save themselves and "save the earth"—are saying, "This is the way we can have global peace and safety," sudden destruction will come, as labor pains on a pregnant woman.

They will be unaware that sudden destruction is coming, but why? Because they have given up a belief in God, they no longer trust Scripture, they have accepted the false narrative of godless evolution and secular humanism, and they believe peace and safety can be achieved through the implementation of their worldly agenda. This is the delusion of socialism, of communism, of globalism, of the Green movement—that we can save the planet. They claim, "We can create a new world order in which all nations come together to stop climate change, to stop the destruction of the environment, to eliminate poverty—all doable through a new globalism that we can create with new economic realities that will bring in a new era of peace and safety. Just reimagine the future!"

But Jesus continues His warning and our next sign:

- Increased divisions in society, loss of faith, persecution of believers in Jesus

  > Then you will be handed over to be persecuted and put to death, and you will be hated by all nations because of me. At that time many will turn away from the faith and will betray and hate each other, and many false prophets will appear and deceive many people (Matthew 24:9–11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Then, at the time of the end, at the time after the scoffers arise, at the time when the labor pains have begun, after the nations have had global wars, after the increase in natural disasters and pestilence, then those loyal to Christ will be persecuted, some put to death, and hated of all nations. Then people will betray each other to find security for themselves.

And what do we see in the world today? Christians beheaded in some parts of the world. Christians ridiculed for resisting the new world order, scorned for standing against the restrictions of liberty, hated for holding to faith in Jesus, vilified for voicing the hope in God and warning of Christ's soon return. Those who share the Christian view are called evil, the gospel is called hate speech, laws are passed to criminalize sharing the gospel message.

The governments of the world are becoming ever more dominated by global corporations in the West, communism in the East, and Islam in the Middle East—all of which are hostile to Christianity and all moving toward consolidation of power through globalism. Consider how COVID-19, a pestilence originating in a communist country, has been used to incite fear, divide society, and increase governmental control. Note how big business and global media coordinate together to advance a narrative to increase fear and give more power to a few ruling elites, destroy small business, which makes individuals more dependent on either the state or big corporations. All of this undermines individual liberties. Government leaders are encouraging people to spy on their neighbors, to report family members who violate arbitrary edicts from local government leaders—and often these rules are violations of law and due process. Governments close houses of worship and restrict freedom of assembly and interfere with free commerce. Governments and big tech censor speech, seeking to silence voices that oppose the formation of their global coalition. The signs of the nearness of Christ's return are everywhere!

- Love of most will grow cold
  - Because of the increase of wickedness, the love of most will grow cold (Matthew 24:12 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Because of the increase in wickedness—which is all the violations of God's designs, laws, methods, and principles—the love in the hearts of most people grows cold. Because of the denial of God and the rise of the lies of secularism, humanism, socialism, evolutionism; because of the breakdown of families; because of the assault on our common heritage and community values, because of the penal legal god who requires appeasement and payment taught in too many places, love is dying in the human heart.

- So caught up in entertainment and living, people are unaware
  - As it was in the days of Noah, so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man. For in the days before the flood, people were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, up to the day Noah entered the ark; and they knew nothing about what would happen until the flood came and took them all away. That is how it will be at the coming of the Son of Man (Matthew 24:37–39 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Incredible! The people before the Flood knew nothing about what was going to happen despite Noah preaching for 120 years and building a giant boat. How did they not know? Because they were consumed with pleasure-seeking, eating, drinking, and marrying. They were too busy either being entertained or living their lives to be bothered with eternal realities.

This is exactly the state of the world today: It is caught up in increasing consumption of mind-altering substances, or leaving reality behind for their preferred fantasy world of video games, social media activity, TV shows, movies, sports, concerts, amusement parks, or anything else to consume and distract the mind. This is the world today—ignoring the warnings of Jesus, ignoring the signs of the end all around, and living merely for the pleasures of the moment.

- The good news about God's kingdom of love lightens the world
  - But he who stands firm to the end will be saved. And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come (Matthew 24:13, 14 NIV84, emphasis mine).

But those who stand firm for the truth of God's kingdom of love will be saved! We will be the ones who take the good news about God and His kingdom of love to the world. We will advance the cause of liberty, for love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. We will stand for truth in a world of falsehood and propaganda. We will glorify God by revealing His character of love in how we treat our neighbors. We will call people back to the truth of our Creator by teaching people God's design laws—the laws our Creator built reality to operate upon, demonstrating that harmony with God and His design laws are the only way to health and happiness.

The truth about God and His kingdom of love, in the face of a world consumed with greed and selfishness, is the final message to lighten the world for Christ's return. It is the final message of mercy, the message of hope, the message of God's true character of love that Jesus revealed. It is the message that Satan hates because God's love destroys the fear Satan works so hard to incite.

So, as you see the signs all around us, don't let fear rule your heart; instead,

- "When these things begin to take place, stand up and lift up your heads, because your redemption is drawing near" (Luke 21:28 NIV84).

Do you have hope in the soon coming of Christ?

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Baptist preacher William Miller who in the early 19th century began preaching the soon coming of Jesus Christ, based on the prophecy of Daniel 8:14, unto 2300 days then shall the sanctuary be cleansed, in which he thought the sanctuary was the earth and the cleansing was the second coming. He calculated the date of the fulfillment of that 2300 year prophecy starting with the decree to rebuild and restore Jerusalem after the 70 year captivity, which was 457 BC to conclude or end in 1844.

Of course, Jesus did not return in 1844, so many believed his entire understanding was wrong, but others re-examined their beliefs and the prophecy in light of Scripture and discovered the error was not on the dates, but on the meaning of the sanctuary and its cleansing. This led to a new understanding of the fulfillment of the prophecy, and the teaching within the SDA church of the heavenly sanctuary message—which was supposed to teach Jesus making His people righteous, so that we become the righteousness of God as 2 Corinthians 5:21 teaches, but instead, got twisted by the legalists who rejected the truth of God's design law and clung to the Roman view of imposed law, that the work in the heavenly sanctuary is a legal work, a human court room type of work.

Before I explain what the true message is all about, are there any questions people have about this?

We have explained this in detail in our magazine The Wedding of Christ to His Bride: Preparing the Church for the Second Coming which you can read online or download a pdf or order print copies to share.

The big overview of this message is very simple—before Jesus comes He cleanses His bride and makes her ready to meet Him face to face. As Scripture says, we shall see Him face to face for we shall be like Him (1 John 3:2). We become like Him by the work of Christ via the Holy Spirit healing, cleansing, renewing, recreating us in actual righteousness. This requires our heavenly physician, high priest, Savior, to examine and judge what is wrong in our hearts and minds, where we are out of harmony with Him and His Father, and to apply His blood (which is symbolic of His sinless life) to us, so that we become partakers of the divine nature, so that we receive an actual new heart and right spirit, so that it is no longer our old fear-ridden selfish sinful selves living, but Christ living in us, so that our thoughts, desires, motives are cleansed from fear and selfishness and we are set right, purified, cleansed to be like Jesus. This is the reality of the message.

It is a simple message. Jesus became a real human being. Took up humanity damaged and infected with fear and selfishness by Adam. Was tempted in all points like we are, but Jesus destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness, killing those elements at the Cross and rewrote, restored, implanted the purity of heaven, the motives of perfect love and trust into the humanity He took upon Himself. He rose again as a human being, sinless, righteous, and perfected by His work and self-sacrifice. Now, He offers His life, His victory to everyone who trust Him, we receive from the Holy Spirit the mind of Christ, the spirit of power and love and sound mind, we are renewed, cleansed, restored, recreated to be like Jesus and thus when He comes we see Him face to face because He has done His final work to prepare His bride, His people living on Earth to meet Him without ever seeing death.

The 2300 year prophecy is the vision of the future God gave to His friend Daniel. God looking down the corridors of time, tells Daniel that there are 490 years (70 sevens) left for your people Israel to fulfill their mission, to be the avenue for the Messiah. In the middle of that final 7 years of the 490 years, Jesus will put an end to all the symbolic ceremonial sacrifices by becoming the true sacrifice to cure the sin problem. But after Jesus finishes His work on Earth and returns to heaven, Satan counters the work of Jesus and introduces a false interpretation and meaning of what Christ accomplished. The little horn power wars against the saints—and this war is not primarily physical, it is the war of lies about God, and the man of sin, the man of lawlessness sets himself up by his lies in the spirit temple, the hearts and minds of people, proclaiming himself to be God. And because of this false god being enthroned in the spirit temple as the god who is worshiped, it will be 2300 years before enough truth is recovered to cleanse the spirit temple, the hearts and minds of people and prepare them for the second coming. Thus, it will be 2300 years before the sanctuary will be cleansed, before the truth that God is not an imperial dictator who makes up rules and uses power to inflict punishment for rule breaking is recovered, it will be that long before the Bible is translated and printed and distributed into enough languages and to enough people that the truth can set the captives free and people can leave the false system of Babylon and begin worshiping the Creator God whose laws are design laws and thereby experience full trust and be cleansed settled and sealed to meet Jesus when He comes.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses more on the prophecy of Daniel 8:14, which I agree with, but I have not found it is very helpful in sharing this end time message with non Adventists, and within the Adventist church there is a lot of confusion about this message, so I have not found this approach to be very helpful. And thankfully, as with many truths in Scripture, God has presented this same truth in other language, metaphor, symbols and description. And that is what we use in the Bride magazine, and that is the symbolism of the annual feast days.

The purpose of the ceremonial system was to teach the plan of salvation, to teach the reality of Jesus. In that symbolic system, there were seven annual feasts that were like a theatrical play meant to illustrate, to teach sinful humans, God's saving plan from the fall of Adam to the earth made new. Each of the seven major feasts had a real-life fulfillment and covered a portion of human history from Adam's fall all the way to the earth made new:

- Passover: The first feast in the annual cycle was the Passover. As soon as Adam and Eve sinned, God "passed over" their sins. He "left the sins committed beforehand unpunished" (Romans 3:25 NIV84) and promised a Passover Lamb who "takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29 NIV84). This feast had its fulfillment in Jesus—the Passover Lamb, who was crucified on Passover Friday. The time in human history covered by this feast was from Adam's sin until Christ's death on the cross.
- Unleavened Bread: This feast was concurrent with the Passover and symbolizes that after Adam's sin, God immediately began dispensing truth unmixed with error (symbolized by the unleavened bread) to nurture and feed His children. The bitter herbs represent the bitterness caused by sin, which became a part of human life. Both the Lamb slain and the bread without yeast represent Christ, the source of truth and healing for sinful humanity.

  This Passover meal was eaten before the death angel came, which symbolizes that God had predetermined to "passover" our transgression and provide a remedy to save and heal us from our terminal sin condition. Jesus is our remedy; He is the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world (Revelation 13:8).

  The Feast of Unleavened Bread symbolized the internalization of the truth about God as provided by Christ. The time period represented in the Feast of Unleavened Bread is from Adam's fall until the crucifixion of Christ. This feast was replaced with the communion service to commemorate the sacrifice of Christ after the crucifixion and to represent the continual necessity of the partaking of Jesus to be saved.

- The Wave Sheaf: This was also symbolic of Christ, who is the sinless first fruit raised from the dead. Just as the wheat is buried in the ground, symbolically dying, and comes forth in newness of life, so also Christ was buried in the ground, came forth in newness of life, and brought forth many righteous with Him. The time frame represented by this ceremony was from the time of Christ's resurrection until Pentecost—the time Jesus and those resurrected with Him witnessed in person in Jerusalem (Matthew 27:52, 53).
- Feast of Weeks (Pentecost): The truth spreads and takes root in many hearts and a harvest is experienced. This was fulfilled during Pentecost two thousand years ago, when the Holy Spirit fell upon those believers of the early church and the truth about God spread throughout the known world. The time frame covered is from ad 31 (Pentecost) until the nineteenth century.
- Trumpets: A special message for the end of time that is to awaken the end-time church (symbolized by the ten virgins in Christ's parable) from their slumber and announce Jesus, the Bridegroom, is coming soon. Prepare! Get Ready! Christ is coming back soon! This trumpet call is to call the people to the wedding of Christ, the Groom, with His bride, the church, and occurred with the Great Awakening in the nineteenth century.
- Atonement: At-one-ment is the time immediately before the second coming of Christ, when the Groom puts the final cleansing touches upon His bride, wedding her to Himself, purifying her into complete harmony of heart, mind, motive, method, and character with Him, for "we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2). This is the time in which we are living today!
- Tabernacles: This feast symbolically taught the time after the wedding (two becoming one), when the saints tabernacle (dwell) with God away from the world of sin in the earth made new. This is the wedding supper of the Lamb.

Just as the Old Testament Passover feast had a real and literal fulfillment when Jesus died as our Passover Lamb on Passover Friday, so also there is a real and literal cleansing, uniting, bonding, and at-one-ment of the Bridegroom and His bride that precedes the second coming. We are living in that time right now!

So Jesus is in heaven working through His agencies to heal the hearts and minds of those who have placed their faith/trust in Him to prepare us for His return.

FRIDAY

The lesson quotes two paragraphs from the book The Great Controversy:

- "Like the first disciples, William Miller and his associates did not, themselves, fully comprehend the import of the message which they bore. Errors that had been long established in the church prevented them from arriving at a correct interpretation of an important point in the prophecy. Therefore, though they proclaimed the message which God had committed to them to be given to the world, yet through a misapprehension of its meaning they suffered disappointment."—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, pp. 351, 352.

"Yet God accomplished His own beneficent purpose in permitting the warning of the judgment to be given just as it was. The great day was at hand, and in His providence the people were brought to the test of a definite time, in order to reveal to them what was in their hearts. The message was designed for the testing and purification of the church. They were to be led to see whether their affections were set upon this world or upon Christ and heaven. They professed to love the Saviour; now they were to prove their love. Were they ready to renounce their worldly hopes and ambitions, and welcome with joy the advent of their Lord? The message was designed to enable them to discern their true spiritual state; it was sent in mercy to arouse them to seek the Lord with repentance and humiliation."—The Great Controversy, p. 353. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 62, emphasis mine).

When the Lord puts someone to the test, what is He testing? It is always the same ultimate reason behind the test: Do they trust God or not? Do they have faith/ confidence in God or not? And does their faith/trust/confidence go beyond the belief of devils who tremble, to the faith that is a living faith that results in loyalty to God?

Such tests are necessary in this world of sin because we cannot grow in faith, in trust, unless we are placed in a position in which our faith is tried or tested and we choose to exercise our faith. We must choose to say no to the fear, the insecurity, the doubts, the temptations to act to save self and, instead, choose to apply the truth and do what we understand is right, what is God's will for us in that situation, and trust God with the outcome.

This is the issue; it has always been the issue—are we faithful, loyal friends of God who actually trust Him even when we don't understand everything that is happening?

Jesus asked this very question about His second coming:

- When the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on the earth? (Luke 18:8 NIV84).

When Jesus comes again, will He find people who trust Him, who will be faithful to Him, who have chosen to trust Him with their lives, futures, fortunes, and families? Or will He only find people who claim to believe in Him but who have put their trust in their rules, rituals, ceremonies, blood payments, wealth, institutions, and the power they can wield over others—all in His "name," of course?

Paul said,

- "Everything that does not come from faith is sin" (Romans 14:23 NIV84).

God wants us to return to a living confidence, trust, and faith in Him, and He allows events to come upon us that will test our faith, put us in positions in which we have to decide whether we scheme, calculate, plot, plan, connive, manipulate, bend the rules, make excuses, cheat in order to save self, or whether we stand for what we know is right and trust God with how it turns out.

David, when he was dedicating materials and his son for the building of the temple, prayed:

- I know, my God, that you test the heart and are pleased with integrity. All these things have I given willingly and with honest intent. And now I have seen with joy how willingly your people who are here have given to you. O LORD, God of our fathers Abraham, Isaac and Israel, keep this desire in the hearts of your people forever, and keep their hearts loyal to you (1 Chronicles 29:17, 18 NIV84, emphasis mine).

God doesn't test, as a human teacher would, to discover the answer—God already knows the answer. God tests so we can actively choose to trust and, thereby, grow, develop, advance, and mature. It is for our development that God tests.

This is why God provided the test in Eden with the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil—it was the simplest of tests, yes, but it was a place for our first parents to exercise their abilities to think and choose to trust God—or not—and, thereby, either develop mature godly character or corrupt their character with fear, selfishness, guilt, and shame—the knowledge of evil. God, of course, wanted them to know only good, but they chose to know evil.

What God wants cannot be created by Him nor chosen by Him. God wants our love, devotion, trust, friendship, and loyalty. He wants us to internalize into our hearts and live out His living laws and, thus, develop Christlike character. This requires us to be placed in circumstances and situations in which we have to choose to trust God or not. So God tests us, but He never allows the test to be more than we can handle at any given point in our development. He has promised:

- No temptation has overtaken you except such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you are able, but with the temptation will also make the way of escape, that you may be able to bear it (1 Corinthians 10:13 NKJV).

God always provides everything necessary for our healing, salvation, and deliverance from fear and selfishness.

- He provides the truth that destroys lies and wins us to trust (John 8:32)
- He provides the love that casts out the fear (1 John 4:18)
- He provides the Savior, His Son, who became a real human and as a human, using only human abilities, chose to love and trust His Father in all things and received as a human the empowering of the Holy Spirit to succeed in all things. And as a human, Jesus developed a perfect righteous and mature human character and destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness that Adam introduced into humanity when he broke trust with God. Thus, Jesus became the new head of humanity, the second Adam (Hebrews 2:14, 4:15, 5:9; 2 Timothy 1:10; 1 John 3:8).

- He provides the Holy Spirit to bring the truth home to our hearts and minds, to convict of sin, to convict of duty, and then (John 14:16) …
- He provides freedom, real freedom, to accept and choose the truth or reject it—and when we choose the truth (Joshua 24:15; Galatians 5:1) …
- He provides the opportunity to test our faith, situations that require us to choose—do we trust God? Do we choose what we know is in harmony with His will, purposes, instructions, guidance, design laws for life and trust Him with outcomes, or do we choose to break trust with Him and seek to advance and save ourselves?
- When we choose to trust Him, He then provides divine power, the indwelling Holy Spirit, to give us the ability to carry out the truth, to stand firm in the face of fear, threat, selfish temptations with a peace that passes understanding, with love for our enemies, with a vision of eternity as we choose to keep our eyes fixed on Jesus and our hearts loyal to Him.

God brings people into circumstances that are beyond their ability so that they will choose to turn to Him, ask for His deliverance, and learn to trust Him; i.e., increase their faith in Him. I encourage you that when faced with tests to remember the secret to victory is turning to Jesus, to:

Do you think the error that the Earth was the sanctuary was the only error that was still operating in their minds? No! They still hadn't cast off the error about God's law.

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 8
Light From the Sanctuary

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

The lesson focuses our attention on Baptist preacher William Miller who in the early 19th century began preaching the soon coming of Jesus Christ, based on the prophecy of Daniel 8:14, unto 2300 days then shall the sanctuary be cleansed, in which he thought the sanctuary was the earth and the cleansing was the second coming. He calculated the date of the fulfillment of that 2300-year prophecy starting with the decree to rebuild and restore Jerusalem after the 70-year captivity, which was 457 BC to conclude or end in 1844.

Of course, Jesus did not return in 1844, so many believed his entire understanding was wrong, but others re-examined their beliefs and the prophecy in light of Scripture and discovered the error was not on the dates, but on the meaning of the sanctuary and its cleansing. This led to a new understanding of the fulfillment of the prophecy, and the teaching within the SDA church of the heavenly sanctuary message—which was supposed to teach the final work of Jesus to make His people righteous, so that we become the righteousness of God as 2 Corinthians 5:21 teaches, to prepare us to meet Him face to face, but instead, got twisted by the legalists in the camp who rejected the truth of God's design law and clung to the Roman view of imposed law, And instead of teaching the reality of Jesus actually removing sin from people the sanctuary message has been corrupted into is a legal work, a human court room type of work.

I have presented this material in the framework of the organized church but from the design law view in a variety of places: The Sanctuary and Feast Days Seminar

The Power of Love Training and Equipping Course lecture 12: The Sanctuary Metaphor Cleansing of the Temple

The Wedding of Christ to His Bride: Preparing the Church for the Second Coming Magazine

The Heavenly Sanctuary and Investigative Judgment for the Modern World magazine which is specifically written for SDAs with many EGW quotes

So, today I am not going stay locked in their legal framework but am going to present this in a new fashion.

Let's start with the most important, foundational question that every person must decide before they study this material—because their conclusion on this question will determine the conclusions they draw all the way through their study of this material. And this question is:

What law lens are you looking through? How does God's law function? Do you believe God's laws are design laws the protocols reality functions upon, or do you believe that God's laws function no differently that the laws creatures make up, rules that require judicial oversight and the infliction of external penalties.

If you believe any part of God's government uses imposed laws with inflicted punishments, then your conclusions about the beautiful symbolism taught through the sanctuary system will be perverted, twisted, and distorted to such a degree that you will end up worshiping a creature in place of the Creator, while you claim to be worshiping the Creator—just as the Jews who crucified Christ did as recorded in John chapter 8. They claimed God as their Father, and Jesus told them they were of their father the devil. Why? Because they believed God's law functioned like human law, they were legalists, they believed law-breaking required infliction of punishment, they believed sacrifices were required to pay the sin-debt to the offended god or that god's law.

So, every question, every metaphor, every Bible verse, every parable, every symbol God has given us, gets warped and distorts our understanding and leads us away from God if we teach it through the lens of imposed law, including this beautiful message of cleansing the sanctuary.

So, first question, How do you understand God's law functions? Design protocols that reality is built upon and breaking those laws takes one out of harmony with God, out of harmony with how God built life to operate and without God's intervention to fix the problem results in pain, suffering, and death? Or do you believe that God's law functions like human law, a system of rules that have no inherent consequence and that sin creates a legal problem, we are under external legal condemnation from God and God is the source of pain, suffer, and death that He inflicts as so-called just punishment for our sin-crimes and therefore something must be done to God or God's law to pay the penalty so God won't kill us?

Consider the following questions in regard to how we understand God's law and the cleansing of the sanctuary from sin:

- What is the sanctuary that is being cleansed?
- Where is the cleansing of the sanctuary taking place?
- From what is the sanctuary being cleansed?
- Where does sin actually happen? Does sin happen in record books or in hearts and minds?
- Can God cleanse the universe from sin by erasing historical documents, by erasing records?
- Does adjusting legal status in books remove sin from hearts and minds?
- If God is going to cleanse His universe from sin, from where must the sin be removed?
    - If we have a legal records vault in heaven, where the recorded sins of all the people have been written down, and Jesus and His angels go through all those records and erase all the recorded sins from the records of all the people who made a legal claim of Jesus' blood as their sin-price paid to the Father, but the sinners who claimed the blood of Jesus as their legal payment did not have their hearts cleansed from sin, has Jesus cleansed His universe from sin?

- If we have a legal records vault in heaven, where all the sins ever committed by every person is recorded and Jesus and His angels do nothing to that written record, in fact, that written record stands for all eternity (say a copy of the Bible with David's sin with Bathsheba), but Jesus cleanses the hearts, minds, characters, souls, spirits of all those who surrender in faith to Him so that the sinners are restored to holiness, righteousness, and have a new heart and right spirit, the mind of Christ and are at-one with God fully—the people are cleansed from sin and all who refused to be cleansed are die eternally—then has Jesus cleansed His universe from sin?
- Which of these two versions cleanses the universe from sin?
- Which version keeps sin in existence?
- Which version is based on design law and which is based on imposed law?
- Which version would Satan want taught?

And this is the problem with Christianity as a whole and the Adventist doctrine on the Investigative Judgment as it has been taught by the legalists in the church since 1888 when they rejected the advancing light of God's design law and embraced the lie that God's law functions like human law.

The big overview of this message is very simple—before Jesus returns He cleanses His bride and makes her ready to meet Him face to face. As Scripture says, we shall see Him face to face for we shall be like Him (1 John 3:2). We become like Him by the work of Christ via the Holy Spirit healing, cleansing, renewing, recreating us in actual righteousness. This requires our heavenly physician, high priest, Savior, to examine and diagnose (judge) what is wrong in our hearts and minds, where we are out of harmony with Him and His Father, and then to apply His blood (which is symbolic of His sinless life) to us, so that we become partakers of the divine nature, so that we receive an actual new heart and right spirit, so that it is no longer our old fear-ridden selfish sinful selves living, but Christ living in us, so that our thoughts, desires, motives are cleansed from fear and selfishness and we are set right, purified, cleansed to be like Jesus. This is the reality of the message.

It is a simple message. Jesus became a real human being. Took up humanity damaged and infected with fear and selfishness by Adam. Was tempted in all points like we are, but Jesus destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness, killing those elements at the Cross and rewrote, restored, implanted the purity of heaven, the motives of perfect love and trust into the humanity He took upon Himself. He rose again as a human being, sinless, righteous, and perfected by His work and self-sacrifice—the second Adam, the new head of the human species. Now, He offers His life, His victory to everyone who trusts Him, and metaphorically is grafted into Him the branch. We receive from Jesus, through the work of the Holy Spirit the mind of Christ, the spirit of power and love and sound mind, we are renewed, cleansed, restored, recreated to be like Jesus and thus when He comes we see Him face to face because He has done His final work to prepare His bride, His people living on Earth, to meet Him without ever seeing death.

So, now let's go through the Biblical evidence and compare some of the writings from the most influential founder of the SDA church on this uniquely SDA teaching, to document that our position, based on design law, is the one that is real, is true, is the genuine message that explains what is transpiring right now.

The points we want to clarify and specify are the following:

- What is the heavenly sanctuary?
- What contaminates it?
- What does it mean to cleanse it?
- What is atonement and how is it related to cleansing the sanctuary?
- What are Christ's intercessions?
- What are the records in heaven and the judgment taking place during this time?
- Why wait until 1844?

Common SDA View

After the Great Disappointment in 1844 those who believed the sanctuary was the Earth and its cleansing meant the second coming, reviewed Scripture and discovered that the Bible never taught that the sanctuary or temple of God is the Earth, but that the Bible describes two sanctuaries or temples—the Old Testament tent/building built according to the instructions given to Moses, which was a pattern of the things in heaven. And the sanctuary in heaven where Jesus our heavenly High Priest ministers in our behalf. Those who realized this developed the teaching that Jesus as our heavenly high priest is working in our behalf in the heavenly sanctuary and that final work to cleanse the sanctuary began in 1844.

But because the legalists in the camp rejected the advancing light of God's design law and actual righteousness by faith, the entire message has been presented in a legal distortion:

- Christ entered the Most Holy Place in a building in heaven.
- He began cleansing the sanctuary from the sins of people.
- The Investigative Judgment began.
- All cases of professed followers are reviewed.
- God judges each case keeping some and rejecting others—based on whether sins have been retained in the books.
- Opening the books and doing this before the heavenly beings vindicates God's judgment.
- It culminates in the Second Coming.

I agree with the termination date of Daniel 8:14 ending in October 1844, and I agree with the final work of Jesus as our heavenly High Priest cleansing His sanctuary before He returns. However, what I disagree with is the human law lens that the legalists in the camp have used to redefine all the elements in a false light that has kept the truth away from not only Adventists, but the rest of the world.

So, let’s put this in reality, in the light of God as Creator, understanding it through design law.

The heavenly sanctuary where Jesus ministers as our heavenly High Priest—what is it? More specifically, if we use Scripture, and for Adventists, since this is a uniquely Adventist doctrine, if we use the writings of EGW, what is the building material of the heavenly sanctuary? From what is this temple in heaven, where Jesus ministers in our behalf, constructed?

- Tell him this is what the LORD Almighty says: `Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the LORD. It is he who will build the temple of the LORD, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.'.. Those who are far away will come and help to build the temple of the LORD, and you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me to you. This will happen if you diligently obey the LORD your God." (Zechariah 6:12-15, emphasis mine).

If God’s temple already existed in heaven—then why did God tell His prophet Zechariah that Jesus will leave heaven to BUILD the temple of the Lord, and that others far away will come and help him build the temple of the Lord? Is this temple that Jesus is building by human hands or one that is not built by human hands? Is this temple the great temple in the heavens or are we speaking of a third temple?

Well consider other Scripture regarding this temple that Jesus left heaven to build, what is the building material of this temple:

- As you come to him, the living Stone—rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to him—you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ. (1Peter 2:4, 5, emphasis mine)

- Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens, but fellow citizens with God's people and members of God's household, built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus himself as the chief cornerstone. In him the whole building is joined together and rises to become a holy temple in the Lord. And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit. (Ephesians 2:19-22, emphasis mine).

- For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, God's building. (1 Corinthians 3:9, emphasis mine).

- Don't you know that you yourselves are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you? If anyone destroys God's temple, God will destroy him; for God's temple is sacred, and you are that temple. (1Corinthians 3:16, 17, emphasis mine)

- What agreement is there between the temple of God and idols? For we are the temple of the living God. As God has said: "I will live with them and walk among them, and I will be their God, and they will be my people." (2 Corinthians 6:16, emphasis mine).

- But Christ is faithful as a son over God's house. And we are his house, if we hold on to our courage and the hope of which we boast. (Hebrews 3:6, emphasis mine).

- The point of what we are saying is this: We do have such a high priest, who sat down at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven, and who serves in the sanctuary, the true tabernacle set up by the Lord, not by man. (Hebrews 8:1-2, emphasis mine)

- What tabernacle was set up by the Lord and not by man?
- Is it a building made out of non-living matter, gold, silver, dead trees, goats' skins or is it built out of living beings?
- If the sanctuary already existed in heaven, why did Jesus leave heaven to build it?
- Is it the temple that Jesus left heaven to build built out of the living stones, you and me?
- Why does Jesus need others far away to help him build it?
- Is this temple that Jesus must build Himself one built by humans or by God?
- Is this temple then the heavenly sanctuary or is it a third temple, and if so where is it?

- Tell him this is what the LORD Almighty says: `Here is the man whose name is the Branch, and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the LORD. It is he who will build the temple of the LORD, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.'.. Those who are far away will come and help to build the temple of the LORD, and you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me to you. This will happen if you diligently obey the LORD your God." (Zechariah 6:12-15, emphasis mine).

- Jesus left heaven to build the sanctuary where God dwells
- It is built out of Himself as the chief cornerstone
- With the help of the Apostles, those far away
- And each one of us are to be living stones built together into a house for the Lord
- This is why the Bible says…

- Surely goodness and love will follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever. (Psalm 23:6, emphasis mine).

- Him who overcomes I will make a pillar in the temple of my God. Never again will he leave it. I will write on him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which is coming down out of heaven from my God; and I will also write on him my new name. (Revelation 3:12, emphasis mine).

Why will we never leave the sanctuary? Because it is a prison and we are locked in a single geographic location for all eternity or because we are the sanctuary and we will never again leave our loyalty, our unity, our devotion, our holiness and our oneness with God?

EGW Comments:

- We are God's great building. Every stroke, every stone put into the building is only a part of the whole. Every worker is himself to become just what God designs he should be in building his own life with pure, noble, upright deeds, that at the end he may be a symmetrical structure, a fair temple, honored by God and man. God must be in this work. "Ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building." Through you He has worked, and will work to do honor to His name by trusting to you these great responsibilities… The Lord would have you stand forth as Daniel, every phase of your character under His own ministration, that day by day you may grow into a structure that will stand forth, not as a perfect whole in itself, but connected with the work of other chosen workmen, as a beautiful temple for the Lord, a living witness to the value, stability, and nobility of the man who keeps his eye single to the glory of God. (2 Manuscript Releases, p. 339, emphasis mine).

  The first tabernacle, built according to God's directions, was indeed blessed of Him. The people thus were preparing themselves to worship in the temple not made with hands--a temple in the heavens. The stones of the Temple built by Solomon were all prepared at the quarry and then brought to the Temple site. They came together without the sound of ax or hammer. The timbers were also fitted in the forest. The furniture was likewise brought to this house all prepared for use.

  Even so, the mighty cleaver of truth has taken out a people from the quarry of the world and is fitting this people, who profess to be the children of God, for a place in His heavenly temple. We want the cleaver of truth to do its work for us. We are taken from the quarry of the world. The material must not be a dead substance but living souls, and these souls must be brought out of the quarry of the world, where the hand of God can fit them for the temple in heaven. We are here as probationers, and we must pass under the hand of God. All rough edges and rough surfaces must be removed and we must be stones fitted for the building. We are brought into church capacity with defects of character, but we must not retain them. We must be fitted and squared for the building. We must be "laborers together with God," for we are "God's husbandry," we are "God's building." In view of this we must see that our temple is not defiled with sin. We should be lively stones, not dead ones, but live ones that will reflect the image of Christ. We must be worshipers in spirit and in truth. (3 Manuscript Release p. 231, emphasis mine).

What is the building material of heavenly sanctuary? Dead matter or living beings?

What Contaminates the Heavenly Sanctuary?

- When he [Satan] lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies (John 8:44 NIV84)

- "From the opening of the great controversy it has been Satan's purpose to misrepresent God's character and to excite rebellion against His law, and this work appears to be crowned with success." (Patriarchs and Prophets p. 338, emphasis mine).

Satan attacked God in heaven by alleging God makes up rules and enforces His rules with inflicted punishments, therefore God is no different than any other creature, except in power, and because God's laws are made up rules God is the source of pain, suffering, and death—therefore God is not truly trustworthy, if you don't do what He says, He will kill you. This attack on God's character is built upon an attack against God's law, suggesting God's laws function like the laws creatures make up rather than the laws the Creator builds reality upon. And because of this, Satan undermined trust in God:

- "God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God." (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890, emphasis mine)

- "Eve believed the words of Satan, and the belief of that falsehood in regard to God's character, changed the condition and character of both herself and husband. They were changed from good and obedient children into transgressors..." (Review and Herald, January 5, 1886 par. 8, emphasis mine).

- Lies believed break the circle of love and trust
- Broken love and trust result in fear and selfishness (As soon as they sinned they ran and hid because they were afraid)
- Fear and selfishness lead to acts of sin
- Acts of sin damage mind, body, character—a terminal condition

Our spirit temples are damaged by lies about God, fear, selfishness, and sinful choices:

- The acts of the sinful nature are obvious: sexual immorality, impurity and debauchery; idolatry and witchcraft; hatred, discord, jealousy, fits of rage, selfish ambition, dissensions, factions and envy; drunkenness, orgies, and the like. I warn you, as I did before, that those who live like this will not inherit the kingdom of God. (Galatians 5:19-21 NIV84).

What contaminated the heavenly temple? Lies Lucifer told about God that were first believed by 1/3 or the angels and then believed by Adam and Eve, and believing those lies resulted, not in a legal change, but in a lethal change. Their characters were changed, rather than knowing, in experience, in heart, in mind, in attitude, in character love, trust, loyalty, devotion, honesty, fidelity, peace, joy, and the attributes of God—they instead chose to know distrust, fear, selfishness, guilt, shame and sin.

They changed themselves, their sanctuaries, their spirit temples were contaminated and because all living beings compose or make up the heavenly temple, the heavenly temple is contaminated.

But because of Adam and Eve's belief in the lies, fear and selfishness replaced love and trust in their hearts and minds, and because of our human sin-condition we have added to the contamination of our spirit temples—we corrupted ourselves even more, with sins, bad habits, biases, prejudices, corrupt thinking, lusts, evil passions.

- What contaminates the sanctuary?
    - Lies about God
    - Our own sinful/carnal nature, the lusts, passions, habits etc.

What does it mean to cleanse the heavenly sanctuary?

David prayed:

- "Wash away all my iniquity and cleanse me from my sin… Cleanse me with hyssop, and I will be clean; wash me, and I will be whiter than snow. (Psalm 51:2, 7 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Where does sin happen? In record books or in people? Where does God need to do His cleansing work if He is to have a universe where no sin exists, in record books or in hearts and minds? If the heavenly sanctuary is built out of living beings, then in order to cleanse the heavenly sanctuary what needs to happen? Hearts and minds of people need to be cleansed, just as David prayed!

EGW Commentary:

- In the cleansing of the temple, Jesus was announcing His mission as the Messiah, and entering upon His work. That temple, erected for the abode of the divine Presence, was designed to be an object lesson for Israel and for the world. From eternal ages it was God's purpose that every created being, from the bright and holy seraph to man, should be a temple for the indwelling of the Creator. Because of sin, humanity ceased to be a temple for God. Darkened and defiled by evil, the heart of man no longer revealed the glory of the Divine One. But by the incarnation of the Son of God, the purpose of Heaven is fulfilled. God dwells in humanity, and through saving grace the heart of man becomes again His temple. God designed that the temple at Jerusalem should be a continual witness to the high destiny open to every soul. But the Jews had not understood the significance of the building they regarded with so much pride. They did not yield themselves as holy temples for the Divine Spirit. The courts of the temple at Jerusalem, filled with the tumult of unholy traffic, represented all too truly the temple of the heart, defiled by the presence of sensual passion and unholy thoughts. In cleansing the temple from the world's buyers and sellers, Jesus announced His mission to cleanse the heart from the defilement of sin,—from the earthly desires, the selfish lusts, the evil habits, that corrupt the soul. "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of His coming? and who shall stand when He appeareth? for He is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap: and He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and He shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver." Malachi 3:1-3. (Desire of Ages p. 161, emphasis mine).

From what does the heavenly sanctuary need cleansing? The lies about God that people believe that break trust in God and cause fear and selfishness, AND the subsequent corruption of character, the evil habits, lusts, passions that form from the choices made from the spirit of fear and selfishness.

The cleansing of the heavenly temple is not some cleansing of a structure built out of gold, or legal books by erasing ink marks, it only happens by cleansing hearts and minds of people from sin.

Notice, EGW quotes from Malachi, and that prophecy tells us Jesus comes to His temple for a cleansing work, and specifically tells us He cleanses the Levites, which represent the priesthood of believers, those who have placed their faith in Jesus.

Do you think Malachi is speaking of a different cleansing than that of Daniel 8:14, or do you think Malachi is describing the same event as the prophecy of Daniel 8:14, the cleansing of the sanctuary?

EGW had an opinion about this, do you agree? It appears the legalist in the SDA church who took control after 1888 have not agreed with this:

- The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of Days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi, are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25. (The Great Controversy, p. 426, emphasis mine).

What is atonement and how is it related to cleansing the sanctuary?

The Day of Atonement cleansing of the sanctuary concept, is derived directly from the Jewish feast days. The purpose of the ceremonial, symbolic, system was to teach the plan of salvation, to teach the reality of Jesus.

If the metaphors, symbols, ceremonies are not connected to reality—then they teach fantasy and that is what happens when people teach these beautiful God-given symbols through Satan's imposed law lies.

- "The gifts and sacrifices being offered were not able to clear the conscience of the worshiper. They are only a matter of food and drink and various ceremonial washings—external regulations applying until the time of the new order… But those sacrifices are an annual reminder of sins, because it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins." Hebrews 9:9.10, 10:3, 4

In that Old Testament symbolic system, there were seven annual feasts that were like a theatrical play meant to illustrate, to teach, God's saving plan from the fall of Adam to the earth made new. Each of the seven major feasts had a real-life fulfillment and covered a portion of human history from Adam's fall all the way to the earth made new:

- Passover: The first feast in the annual cycle was the Passover. As soon as Adam and Eve sinned, God "passed over" their sins. He "left the sins committed beforehand unpunished" (Romans 3:25 NIV84) and promised a Passover Lamb who "takes away the sin of the world" (John 1:29 NIV84). This feast had its fulfillment in Jesus—the Passover Lamb, who was crucified on Passover Friday. The time in human history covered by this feast was from Adam's sin until Christ's death on the cross.

- Unleavened Bread: This feast was concurrent with the Passover and symbolizes that after Adam's sin, God immediately began dispensing truth unmixed with error (symbolized by the unleavened bread) to nurture and feed His children. The bitter herbs represent the bitterness caused by sin, which became a part of human life. Both the Lamb slain and the bread without yeast represent Christ, the source of truth and healing for sinful humanity.

  This Passover meal was eaten before the death angel came, which symbolizes that God had predetermined to "passover" our transgression and provide a remedy to save and heal us from our terminal sin condition. Jesus is our remedy; He is the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world (Revelation 13:8).

  The Feast of Unleavened Bread symbolized the internalization of the truth about God as provided by Christ. The time period represented in the Feast of Unleavened Bread is from Adam's fall until the crucifixion of Christ. This feast was replaced with the communion service to commemorate the sacrifice of Christ after the crucifixion and to represent the continual necessity of the partaking of Jesus to be saved.

- The Wave Sheaf: This was also symbolic of Christ, who is the sinless first fruit raised from the dead. Just as the wheat is buried in the ground, symbolically dying, and comes forth in newness of life, so also Christ was buried in the ground, came forth in newness of life, and brought forth many righteous with Him. The time frame represented by this ceremony was from the time of Christ's resurrection until Pentecost—the time Jesus and those resurrected with Him witnessed in person in Jerusalem (Matthew 27:52, 53).

- Feast of Weeks (Pentecost): The truth spreads and takes root in many hearts and a harvest is experienced. This was fulfilled during Pentecost two thousand years ago, when the Holy Spirit fell upon those believers of the early church and the truth about God spread throughout the known world. The time frame covered is from ad 31 (Pentecost) until the nineteenth century.

- Trumpets: A special message for the end of time that is to awaken the end-time church (symbolized by the ten virgins in Christ's parable) from their slumber and announce Jesus, the Bridegroom, is coming soon. Prepare! Get Ready! Christ is coming back soon! This trumpet call is to call the people to the wedding of Christ, the Groom, with His bride, the church, and occurred with the Great Awakening in the nineteenth century and the Millerite movement.

- Atonement: At-one-ment is the time immediately before the second coming of Christ, when the Groom puts the final cleansing touches upon His bride, wedding her to Himself, purifying her into complete harmony of heart, mind, motive, method, and character with Him, for "we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2). This is the time in which we are living today!

- Tabernacles: This feast symbolically taught the time after the wedding (two becoming one), when the saints tabernacle (dwell) with God away from the world of sin in the earth made new. This is the wedding supper of the Lamb.

Just as the Old Testament Passover feast had a real and literal fulfillment when Jesus died as our Passover Lamb on Passover Friday, so also there is a real and literal cleansing, uniting, bonding, and at-one-ment. We are living in that time right now!

So, understanding this lesson we realize that Jesus is now fulfilling the reality to which the day of atonement feast pointed, and what was that reality? If we have the human law lie working in our heads, we teach the false theory of legal adjusting, reviewing record books, making legal payments, etc.

But when we return to design law, we realize the truth, that Jesus is accomplishing what He prayed to His Father to accomplish, to bring all those who believe in Him into at-one-ness, real unity. It is finishing the work of removing from all who trust Him fear and selfishness, distrust and rebelliousness, restoring us to a living trust that we won't betray Him.

- Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has… made known to us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he purposed in Christ, to be put into effect when the times will have reached their fulfillment—to bring all things in heaven and on earth together under one head, even Christ. (Ephesians 1:3, 9,10 NIV84, emphasis mine).

God's mystery, the plan to remove sin and restore all things to unity, to at-one-ness, when the times have reached their fulfillment, when the longest time prophecy in the Bible is complete, Jesus enters His final work before the second coming of bring all of us back into unity with Him.

This Great Controversy quote, we just cited, EGW says that the prophecy of Daniel 8:14 and Malachi 3 and the wedding of Christ to His bride describe the same event:

- The coming of Christ as our high priest to the most holy place, for the cleansing of the sanctuary, brought to view in Daniel 8:14; the coming of the Son of man to the Ancient of Days, as presented in Daniel 7:13; and the coming of the Lord to His temple, foretold by Malachi, are descriptions of the same event; and this is also represented by the coming of the bridegroom to the marriage, described by Christ in the parable of the ten virgins, of Matthew 25. (The Great Controversy, p. 426, emphasis mine).

Atonement, is when the two shall become one, that is a wedding.

- "Return, O backsliding children," says the Lord; "for I am married to you (Jeremiah 3:14 NKJV).

- For your Maker is your husband—the Lord Almighty is his name—the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer; he is called the God of all the earth (Isaiah 54:5 NIV84).

- I promised you to one husband, to Christ, so that I might present you as a pure virgin to him (2 Corinthians 11:2 NIV84).

Atonement, two becoming one, is the metaphor described as Jesus being united to His bride, which is the church.

- A marriage, as God designed, is not a legal declaration but an intertwining of hearts, minds, and selves into a greater whole—it is a holy union.

- And a healthy, holy, marriage requires—healthy, holy people!

So in order for us to enter into full unity, at-one-ment the oneness Jesus prayed for, we must be purified, cleansed, made holy.

But here is another comment, and in this quote EGW is describing God's leading in the aftermath of the Great Disappointment, in the aftermath of 1844—what do you think is described? Do you think it describes a building in heaven made out of inanimate material with a courtroom and legal adjustments?

- "Jesus sent His angels to direct the minds of the disappointed ones to the most holy place, where He had gone to cleanse the sanctuary and make a special atonement for Israel. Jesus told the angels that all who found Him would understand the work which He was to perform. I saw that while Jesus was in the most holy place He would be married to the New Jerusalem; and after His work should be accomplished in the holiest, He would descend to the earth in kingly power and take to Himself the precious ones who had patiently waited His return. (Early Writings 251).

What does this mean? Do you think Jesus is getting married to a building made out of gold and silver?

- Hallelujah! For our Lord God Almighty reigns. Let us rejoice and be glad and give him glory! For the wedding of the Lamb has come, and his bride has made herself ready. Fine linen, bright and clean, was given her to wear." [Fine linen stands for the righteous acts of the saints.] Then the angel said to me, "Write: 'Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb!'" (Revelation 19:6–9 NIV84, emphasis mine).

There is a wedding, and then there is the wedding supper. The wedding itself is the uniting in loving commitment of heart, mind, and soul of the two spouses. The wedding celebration follows that joining.

But the wedding, the uniting with Christ cannot happen if we in heart, mind, spirit, soul don't trust Him, if are still in rebellion against Him, if we prefer lies, prefer selfishness, prefer the methods of Satan to those of our Savior—so in order for that at-one-ment to happen, in order for us to be bonded, sealed, settled, into eternal unity with Jesus we must be cleansed from the sin in our hearts and minds.

And when do the saints experience their hearts being bonded into unshakable loyal love to Jesus—before or at the Second Coming? When do the saints experience the cleansing of their hearts and minds from fear, selfishness, guilt, and shame so that they can stand firm in every trial—before or at the Second Coming? And when is the celebration, the wedding supper?

- Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and there was no longer any sea. I saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride beautifully dressed for her husband. … One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came and said to me, "Come, I will show you the bride, the wife of the Lamb." And he carried me away in the Spirit to a mountain great and high, and showed me the Holy City, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God (Revelation 21:1, 2, 9, 10, emphasis mine).

Why is the New Jerusalem described as the bride of Christ? It is symbolic, Jesus is not marrying buildings—Jesus is being united with His people, and thus He is cleansing His people from fear, selfishness, sin, and distrust, and sealing them into eternal at-one-ment with Him. The New Jerusalem is the Most Holy Place, note the following similarities, it is the place in which we are united with Christ again:

- The MH place is in the shape of a cube; the NJ is in the shape of a cube.
- The most holy place was covered in gold; the heavenly city is paved in gold. In Scripture, gold is symbolic of the purity of Christ, the righteousness and holiness of God's character of love.
- The NJ has 3 gates on each side, with the names of the 12 tribes—corresponding with the way the 12 tribes camped around the sanctuary.

- The most holy place was lighted by God's Shekinah presence; the city is lighted by God's eternal presence (Revelation 21:21, 22).
- In the most holy place was the covenant box, the place where the covenant was accomplished—the covenant of cleansing, uniting, bonding; in the city are the saints, the living temples in whose hearts the new covenant (marriage covenant) is accomplished.
    - The shekinah represents God
    - Angels the unfallen host
    - Lid of the ark Jesus
    - Wooden box covered in gold sinners restored to unity with God by the righteousness of Christ
    - Wood symbolizes man—grown from the dirt of the earth as man was formed from the dirt of the earth.
    - But to be part of the holy box the wood had to be cut free of its roots which tie to the earth and covered in gold and we must be cut free of our ties to this sinful earth and covered in the gold—righteousness of Christ.
    - The manna was the first element placed in the covenant box and represents the saints first partaking of the "bread of heaven" (John 6:32–35), Jesus the living Word made flesh (John 1:1, 14; 6:53–58); the truth as it is in Jesus wins them to trust (betrothal/conversion).
    - The law was the second item to go into the covenant box; this represents the saints, once betrothed (converted) to Christ, opening their hearts to Him; He writes His living law of love into their hearts and minds (wedding/new covenant/cleansing) and renews them in righteousness.
    - Aaron's rod that budded was the last item to go into the covenant box; this represents the saints who were dead in trespass and sin but, having accepted the proposal (converted) and experienced the union (wedding/cleansing), come alive and bring forth peaceable fruits of righteousness. This symbolically represents both the reborn life bringing forth Christian fruits and also the glorification of those wedded to Christ living eternally fruitful lives in loving union with the Lord.
- The city has a foundation with the names of the 12 Apostles and the Lamb, indicating it is not inanimate, but it is the living temple, sanctuary, church, people of God Paul wrote about built upon the Apostles and Jesus.
- The most holy place is where the high priest conducted a special ceremony: the ceremony of atonement; the ceremony of cleansing; the ceremony of washing away sin and purifying the people (bride); the ceremony of bringing the people into "at-one-ment" with God, of two becoming one. In other words, it was a wedding ceremony! And this ceremony happened at the end of the annual cycle of feasts, right before the Feast of Tabernacles; i.e., tabernacling or cohabitating with God.

The cleansing of Christ's bride and the cleansing of the heavenly temple are the same event!

And so John wrote in Revelation,

- I did not see a temple in the city, because the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are its temple. (Revelation 21:22, emphasis mine)
- Him who overcomes I will make a pillar in the temple of my God. Never again will he leave it. I will write on him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which is coming down out of heaven from my God; and I will also write on him my new name. (Revelation 3:12, emphasis mine).

And this is why God writes His name on us, which is His character, and the Bible connects this restoration of God's image, God's name in us, with the unity or at-one-ness of being part of the temple which is the New Jerusalem.

What are Christ's intercessions?

So what does Jesus intercessions in the heavenly sanctuary in our behalf mean?

- Therefore he is able to save completely those who come to God through him, because he always lives to intercede for them. (Hebrews 7:25 NIV84, emphasis mine).

What law lens are you thinking through? If human law, then the problem is we are in legal trouble with God and God must inflict just punishment, so Jesus pleads as our defense attorney to the judge, reminding the judge of the legal payment of His blood that He has made and we have accepted so the judge will declare us legally righteous, forgiven, pardoned, even though we remain unrighteous and sinful.

This view is, at best is childish, immature, infantile, and as Hebrews 5 says, not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. At worst, it is a counterfeit that tricks people into a false security in which they have a form of godliness without any power.

What is the truth? Design law, how reality actually functions.

- Where does sin happen? In people
- Who is the accuser of the people? Satan
- Who listens to what Satan alleges?
    - Does God and the holy angels get tricked by Satan's lies? No! Then who is being tricked and continuing to distrust God and live in fear and act selfishly despite claiming to believe in Jesus? We are!
- Then where or with whom is Jesus interceding?

- In our hearts and minds and this is exactly what the Bible teaches, that Jesus is God's envoy, ambassador, representative, intermediatory, mediator, who brings the truth, love, grace, and healing power of God to us to win us back to love and trust and cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

Consider EGW's comment regarding Jesus work, how He intercedes in our behalf:

- As Satan accused Joshua and his people, so in all ages he accuses those who are seeking the mercy and favor of God. In the Revelation he is declared to be the "accuser of our brethren," "which accused them before our God day and night." The controversy is repeated over every soul that is rescued from the power of evil and whose name is registered in the Lamb's book of life. Never is one received from the family of Satan into the family of God without exciting the determined resistance of the wicked one. Satan's accusations against those who seek the Lord are not prompted by displeasure at their sins. He exults in their defective characters. Only through their transgression of God's law can he obtain power over them. His accusations arise solely from his enmity to Christ. Through the plan of salvation, Jesus is breaking Satan's hold upon the human family and rescuing souls from his power. All the hatred and malignity of the archrebel is stirred as he beholds the evidence of Christ's supremacy, and with fiendish power and cunning he works to wrest from Him the remnant of the children of men who have accepted His salvation. (5 Testimonies 470.1, emphasis mine) [where is such a battle taking place? Where is the work of Jesus occurring that will rescue a sinner from Satan's power? Where does Satan's powers of lies and selfishness occur? Who listens to Satan's lies, who believes Satan's accusations? Who would Christ need to plead with to persuade them that His sacrifice is sufficient to free the sinner from sin? Would God need to be persuaded that the sacrifice of Christ is sufficient? Would the sinner?]

  He [Satan] leads men into skepticism, causing them to lose confidence in God and to separate from His love; [who is listening to Satan's accusations? With whom does Christ need to plead in order to overcome the accusations and restore their confidence?] he tempts them to break His law, and then he claims them as his captives and contests the right of Christ to take them from him. He knows that those who seek God earnestly for pardon and grace will obtain it; therefore he presents their sins before them *to discourage them. [Notice the dynamic here. The author doesn't say that Satan knows if he can find a sin that the person committed that they forgot to confess and ask forgiveness for that it remains on the legal registry in heaven and God will be forced to pronounce them guilty and Satan wins his legal case. Satan is not trying to persuade God to condemn. NO! Satan knows that all who trust God will, as Isaiah 55 says, receive FREE pardon from God and grace that heals and restores them and gives them a new heart and empowers them to overcome the accusations and temptations of Satan. So Satan accuses the sinner to the sinner to discourage the repentant sinner tempting them to give up and let go of their faith in Jesus. So, again, where is Christ plea directed?] He [Satan] is constantly seeking occasion against those who are trying to obey God. Even their best and most acceptable services he seeks to make appear corrupt. [To whom is Satan seeking to make our best seem corrupt? To the repentant sinner in order to discourage and dishearten us so WE GIVE UP. So, to whom would Christ be pleading, God or us, to not listen to the accusations of Satan?] By countless devices, the most subtle and the most cruel, he [Satan] endeavors to secure their condemnation. [By whom? From whom is Satan seeking to get the sinner condemned? Christ Jesus? He is at the Father's right hand and is also interceding for us—also, in addition to who, the Father and who is the Father interceding with? With the accusations of the devil that try and discourage us!] Man cannot meet these charges himself. In his sin-stained garments, confessing his guilt, he stands before God. [Exactly, we don't stand before God and say, "I don't need Jesus. I can cure my own sin condition. In fact, I really haven't sinned, I am righteous in my own strength." NO! We stand before God and say, "Father I acknowledge I was born in sin and conceived in iniquity. I was born with a terminal sin condition I didn't choose this condition and I have had many symptoms along the way, many sins and shortcomings from your glorious ideal. I have been fearful and selfish and acted out against your law. I have no ability to change my heart, to heal my condition. I confess I am dead in trespass and sin. I am only here before you because Jesus overcame where I could never overcome and Jesus has gifted me His victory, His mind, His heart, His love, His motives, His character and it is no longer I that live but Jesus lives in me through the indwelling Spirit." Note what happens next.] But Jesus our Advocate presents an effectual plea in behalf of all who by repentance and faith have committed the keeping of their souls to Him. He pleads their cause and vanquishes their accuser by the mighty arguments of Calvary. [For all who acknowledge their condition Jesus pleads effectively TO THEM, "My grace is sufficient for you." I have engraved YOU on the palm of my hand. My victory is your victory. Trust me and I will make you whole! The accusations of Satan that we are too sinful to be saved are vanquished by the effectual plea of Jesus to you and to me!] His perfect obedience to God's law, even unto the death of the cross, has given Him all power in heaven and in earth, and He claims of His Father mercy and reconciliation for guilty man. [Whose mercy? God's mercy, God so loved the world that He sent Jesus to procure the Remedy and then empowers Jesus with all the power of heaven to distribute it to us to heal and save us. God doesn't win God's mercy, or beg God to be merciful, He claims the mercy that is God's, because of God's mercy Jesus was sent and became our Remedy to sin.] To the accuser of His people He declares: "'The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan.' These are the purchase of My blood, brands plucked from the burning." [Jesus doesn't plead His blood to the Father, Jesus rebukes Satan and refutes his accusations. And listen to what Jesus says to us.] Those who rely upon Him in faith receive the comforting assurance: "Behold, I have caused thine iniquity to pass from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment."… [He removes the fear, the guilt, the shame, the selfishness, the sin-condition and gives us a new heart and right spirit, writes His law of love into our inmost beings so that it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me.] (5 Testimonies 470.2, emphasis mine)

The fact that the acknowledged people of God are represented as standing before the Lord in filthy garments should lead to humility and deep searching of heart on the part of all who profess His name. Those who are indeed purifying their souls by obeying the truth will have a most humble opinion of themselves. [This is the investigative judgment. The investigation of our own hearts/minds/characters and the investigating the truth about God to experience the healing power of Christ purging and cleansing us from sin to prepare us to meet Him face to face.] The more closely they view the spotless character of Christ, the stronger will be their desire to be conformed to His image, and the less will they see of purity or holiness in themselves. But while we should realize our sinful condition, we are to rely upon Christ as our righteousness, our sanctification, and our redemption. We cannot answer the charges of Satan against us. Christ alone can make an effectual plea in our behalf. He is able to silence the accuser with arguments founded not upon our merits, but on His own. (5 Testimonies 471.1, emphasis mine)

Jesus is interceding with you and me to keep us from being tricked by Satan's lies.

What are the records in heaven and the judgment taking place during this time?

What is written in the heavenly records?

- But you have come to Mount Zion, to the heavenly Jerusalem, the city of the living God. You have come to thousands upon thousands of angels in joyful assembly, to the church of the firstborn, whose names are written in heaven (Hebrews 12:22, 23 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- Nothing impure will ever enter it [New Jerusalem], nor will anyone who does what is shameful or deceitful, but only those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life. (Revelation 21:27, NIV84, emphasis mine).

- "At that time Michael, the great prince who protects your people, will arise. There will be a time of distress such as has not happened from the beginning of nations until then. But at that time your people—everyone whose name is found written in the book—will be delivered." (Daniel 12:1, emphasis mine)

- "He who overcomes will, like them, be dressed in white. I will never blot out his name from the book of life, but will acknowledge his name before my Father and his angels." (Revelation 3:5, emphasis mine)

What is written in the records in heaven? The names of the righteous, and in the Bible what do names represent? Character! Our individualities, who we have chosen to become in heart, mind, character based on whether we have accepted the truth and been reborn so that Christ lives within us with new hearts and right spirits, or not.

Thus the work of Jesus in the records is merely the metaphorical way of describing the reality of Jesus' work of cleansing our hearts and minds from fear, selfishness, distrust, guilt, shame and all the evil habits we have developed, so that when He appears we will see Him as He is because we shall be like Him!

Consider, this EGW commentary regarding the records in heaven:

- Remember, your character is being daguerreotyped [photographed] by the great Master Artist in the record books of heaven, as minutely as the face is reproduced upon the polished plate of the artist. What do the books of heaven say in your case? Are you conforming your character to the Pattern, Jesus Christ? Are you washing your robes of character and making them white in the blood of the Lamb? "Behold, I come quickly; and My reward is with Me, to give every man according as his work shall be" [Revelation 22:12]. . . . (Letters and Manuscript Releases vol. 5 letter 51, emphasis mine).

- Remember that this world is God's daguerreotype [photograph] office. The pictures of all who live here, old or young, are being made in the books of heaven. What shall the likeness be? (Letter 78, 1901. 3MR 352, emphasis mine).

The heavenly records are like medical records, they are an accurate record of reality, have we accepted Jesus as our remedy and been healed, transformed, cleansed, or not. It is that simple. And these records of reality, recorded by God's recording angel, are compared to the book sealed with the seven seals that Jesus opens, which I believe is God's book of foreknowledge, and as the two are compared by the onlooking universe, it will be confirmed that God foreknew all of this, yet did not use His power, or abilities, including foreknowledge to manipulate selfishly or take away individual freedom. And thus Satan's allegations are refuted and God's character and design laws and government are vindicated and all say "worthy, worthy, worthy is the Lamb who was slain!"

There are four judgments in Scripture—we are only going to consider two at this moment.

The First Judgment

In Eden, we find the evidence of the first judgment. Satan lied to Adam and Eve, as he did the angels in heaven about God, and Adam and Eve had to make a judgment: Who would they believe, who would they trust—God or the serpent?
The first judgment is our judgment of God—do we judge Him to be trustworthy or not? It is that simple.

We see this first judgment at Mount Carmel, when Elijah confronts the 450 priests of Baal and challenges the people:

- If the LORD is God, worship him; but if Baal is God, worship him! (1 Kings 18:21 GNT).

The apostle Paul picks up this theme and states it explicitly in Roman 3:4:

- Let God be true but every man a liar. As it is written: "That You may be justified in Your words, and may overcome when You are judged" (Romans 3:4 NKJV, emphasis mine).

The Second Judgment

When we understand design law, we can see that Adam and Eve's sin did not create a legal problem; it created a lethal problem. It is God's diagnostic judgments on both a planet wide scale and individual scale. God judging what is necessary for Him to do to keep open the avenue for the Messiah and His therapeutic judgments to bring about His healing plan. Such as the Flood, to keep open the avenue for the Messiah to come, for without Jesus no human could be saved. Throughout the Old Testament we see God making many diagnostic and therapeutic judgments, unfortunately, people who have believed the lie that God's law functions like human law have misconstrued the events to falsely believe God is acting judicially, to punish rather than to save.

There is another aspect of God's healing, therapeutic judgment: His work in the hearts and minds of people. David understood this and prayed:

- Examine me, O God, and know my mind; test me, and discover my thoughts. Find out if there is any evil in me and guide me in the everlasting way (Psalm 139:23, 24 GNT).

And this is the same judgment going on in the heavenly sanctuary that we already read about in Malachi's prophecy:

- "Suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the Lord Almighty. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Then the Lord will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness, and the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable to the Lord, as in days gone by, as in former years. "So I will come near to you for judgment" (Malachi 3:1–5 NIV84).

This is the "judgment" of the Great Heavenly Physician, our Creator: examining us, diagnosing what is wrong in us, and determining what is the best therapeutic intervention to bring to bear to heal and restore us. This is the judgment of our High Priest going on in heaven as He examines the people and prepares them for His return, to complete His healing of them so that when He does come, we will be like Him—for "we know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is" (1 John 3:2 NIV84). This healing, this transformation, this final work of preparation is what Malachi describes above—the cleansing of our temples, the purifying of the Levites (His people today), is all taught metaphorically in the Day of Atonement ritual.

Why wait until 1844 to do this final work?

Because of how reality works, because God is the Creator, because His laws are design laws, and His cleansing is the cleansing of hearts and minds of people from lies, fear, and selfishness and that requires the truth be presented effectively—for God cannot win love, trust, loyalty, devotion, friendship by the use of external might and power to punish and kill those who don't give Him love, trust, loyalty and friendship.

And we are in a war…

- "For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ." 2 Corinthians 10:3–5

And the Bible foretold that after Jesus finished His earthly mission and ascended back to heaven, Satan counterattacked and set himself up in God's temple, the hearts and minds of people, pretending to be God and it would be 2300 years, or until 1844 until enough truth was recovered in order for Jesus to be able to cleanse His people on Earth from these lies.
Daniel, prophesying about the same events regarding the cleansing of the sanctuary, describes the war and why it needs to be cleansed:

- "I beheld, and the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them; Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom." Daniel 7:21, 22 KJV

This little horn power is winning until judgment is given, imparted, provided to the saints, until they receive judgment, discernment, the ability to differentiate the truth from the lies, which means until enough truth is recovered that they can reject the imperial dictator lies about God and return to worshiping Him as Creator, which requires rejecting the human imposed law lie and realizing God's laws are design laws.

Paul wrote:

- "Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God" (2 Thessalonians 2:3–4 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Satan did this by getting Christians to believe God's law functions like human law, imposed rules that require imposed punishments, and thus the god worshiped is not the Creator, but an imperial dictator who is the source of pain, suffering and death, inflicted as so-called just punishment. But the Bible tells us that Satan is the one who wields the power of death and Jesus destroys him and his power, and Jesus destroys death and bring life and immortality to light.

God, looking down the corridors of time, told His friend Daniel it would be 2300 years until He could cleanse His sanctuary from these lies because it would be that long until the Bible was translated to the people, until the eternal gospel that is to lighten the entire world is presented, the eternal good news about God as Creator whose laws are design laws so that people can make a right judgment about God and break away from the fallen system of human law represented by Babylon.

The 2300-year prophecy is the vision of the future God gave to His friend Daniel. God looking down the corridors of time, tells Daniel that there are 490 years (70 sevens) left for your people Israel to fulfill their mission, to be the avenue for the Messiah. In the middle of that final 7 years of the 490 years, Jesus will put an end to all the symbolic ceremonial sacrifices by becoming the true sacrifice to cure the sin problem. But after Jesus finishes His work on Earth and returns to heaven, Satan counters the work of Jesus and introduces a false interpretation and meaning of what Christ accomplished. The little horn power wars against the saints—and this war is not primarily physical, it is the war of lies about God, and the man of sin, the man of lawlessness sets himself up by his lies in the spirit temple, the hearts and minds of people, proclaiming himself to be God. And because of this false god being enthroned in the spirit temple as the god who is worshiped, it will be 2300 years before enough truth is recovered to cleanse the spirit temple, the hearts and minds of people and prepare them for the second coming. Thus, it will be 2300 years before the sanctuary will be cleansed, before the truth that God is not an imperial dictator who makes up rules and uses power to inflict punishment for rule breaking is recovered, it will be that long before the Bible is translated and printed and distributed into enough languages and to enough people that the truth can set the captives free and people can leave the false system of Babylon and begin worshiping the Creator God whose laws are design laws and thereby experience full trust and be cleansed settled and sealed to meet Jesus when He comes.

- "Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the Lord Almighty. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver." (Malachi 3:1–3)

- I did not see a temple in the city, because the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are its temple. (Revelation 21:22 NIV84, emphasis mine)

God and the Jesus the Lamb are the temple and we dwell forever as pillars in unity, oneness, friendship and love with them, as the bride is cleansed and wedded, atoned—made at-one with Jesus forever.

SUMMARY

- What is the heavenly sanctuary?
    - The combined structure built by God out of living beings
- What contaminates it?
    - Lies about God and our own sinfulness
- What does it mean to cleanse it?

    - To remove the lies and the fear and selfishness and restore in Jesus, His character, love, truth, freedom, holiness, righteousness so that we become the righteousness of God.
- What is atonement and how is it related to cleansing the sanctuary?
    - Bringing us into at-one-ment with God, the wedding of Christ to His bride where we are sealed and settled so that nothing can move us from our loyalty to Him
- What are Christ's intercessions?
    - His pleas to you and me to trust Him and let Him heal us, His actions to intervene and intercede with Satan, the lies, distortions, our guilt, shame, and anything that separates us from Him to win us back to love and trust.
- What are the records in heaven and the judgment taking place during this time?
    - The accurate transcript of every individuality, who we actually are in heart, mind, character, and our judgments to trust Jesus and Jesus' therapeutic judgments to heal and cleanse.
- Why wait until 1844?
    - Because God only wins with God's methods, truth, love, freedom and it wasn't until that time in history that the truth, the Bible, was translated and modern printing on communications and travel increased to the point that enough truth was recovered about God that people could have the opportunity to reject the lies and return to full loyalty of trust and have their sanctuaries cleansed.

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 9
The Foundation of God's Government

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

A great title for the lesson, because the foundation of God's government is the central issue in the Great Controversy.

And what is the foundation of any government? The law, and thus the lesson points us to the central question—how do we understand God's law? Sadly, the lesson has yet to embrace the truth about God's law and instead continues to present The Lie That Deceived Angels, Infects Christianity, and Delays the Second Coming of Christ. If you haven't read our magazine by that name, please do so, for it lays out the central issue over God's law which slants everything we believe about God and the Bible.

If we understand God's law functions like that of a creature, imposed rules, then we always conclude that God's justice is legal, the use of His power to inflict artificial penalties to punish rule-breaking. And in such a worldview God becomes the source of pain and death.

But when we return to worshiping God as Creator we recognize that His laws are the laws reality is built to exist and operate upon and every single law of God is for our health and benefit. The more we choose to live in harmony with God's design laws the healthier and happier we become. The more we choose to violate God's design laws the more sickness, pain, suffering, we experience before we ultimately die unless we turn back to God and allow Him to heal us.

The message that the SDA church was given to take to the world was a call to turn people back to worshiping the Creator God whose laws are design laws. EGW wrote:

> The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition. (The Great Controversy p. 582, emphasis mine)

The final issue in this war is over how we understand God's law and, thus, how we understand God's character and government to function. If the church is to finish the Reformation and hasten the day of our Lord, it must reject the Roman idea of law and return to worshiping the Creator.

> Between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah will come the last great conflict of the controversy between truth and error. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle not between rival churches contending for the supremacy, but between the religion of the Bible and the religions of fable and tradition. (Prophets and Kings. p. 625, emphasis mine).

The final conflict is not a battle between rival churches! It is over the laws of men versus the precepts of God. What kind of laws do men enact? Imposed-law, made-up rules. But God's law is design law, the laws that sustain the operations of life itself. The final conflict will be over this issue.

Yet, sadly, far too many Christians are caught up in denominational fighting when the real issue is over whether we are worshiping the Creator or a creature.

Read first paragraph,

- Through intensive Bible study, Adventists came to understand the significance of the law in the Most Holy Place of the heavenly sanctuary. Looking into the heart of God's law, they also discovered the significance of the Sabbath, the fourth commandment. In fact, this commandment more than any other clearly identifies God as our Creator, the foundation of all true worship—a theme that will be especially relevant in the final days of earth's history (see Rev. 14:6–12). (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 72, emphasis mine).

We were certainly given light on the significance of the law, in 1888 when Jones and Waggoner brought the truth that the Ten Commandment law, referred to by Paul in Galatians was "added" and did not exist in eternity past, including the Sabbath. But the leaders of the church rejected that light and instead of appreciating the true significance of the seventh-day Sabbath undermined the truth and hid the light away from the people under a false burden of legalism and rule-keeping, i.e., that the Sabbath is an arbitrary test of obedience.

EGW confirmed the position of Jones and Waggoner:

- I am asked concerning the law in Galatians. What law is the schoolmaster to bring us to Christ? I answer: Both the ceremonial and the moral code of ten commandments. … "The law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Gal. 3:24). In this scripture, the Holy Spirit through the apostle is speaking especially of the moral law (Selected Messages, vol. 1. Review and Herald Publishing Association, 1958, pp. 233, 234, emphasis mine).

Let's be very clear on a couple of points:

- Every Bible scholar of every denomination will acknowledge that the Sabbath of the Bible is the same Sabbath the Jews keep to this day, from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday—there is no dispute between people who have studied the question as to which day of the week is the Bible Sabbath.
- The question is whether it matters—and this is the real failing of the SDA church since 1888 for they have embraced the right day but have promoted it with Satan's reason, that it is a made up legal test of loyalty to God and thus while keeping the right day as the Sabbath they are teaching the wrong law, imposed law, the law that creatures make up, and thus they are promoting the wrong God, just as the Jews did 2000 years ago. If we want to finish the Reformation, if we want to hasten the day of the Lord, if we want to give the special message for this time, we must reject the lie that God's law functions like human law and returning to worshiping Him as Creator—yes we keep the beautiful and wonderful blessing of the seventh-day Sabbath but we present it in its design law reality and remove the legalism attached to it by the lie.

The history we have in the Gospels has been demonstrated that imposed law, rule-keeping, legalism is a false theology with Satan as the god being worshiped, when 2000 years ago the church of God, the people specially called by God, protected by God, blessed by God, the people who had the inspired writings, who had the sanctuary message, who had the health message, who had the seventh day Sabbath kept is all legally and they rejected the Lord of the Sabbath and killed Him.

In the SDA church, we have done the exact same thing, the blessings of God to help prepare us to meet Him have been corrupted because the leadership of the church rejected the design law truth brought to our church in 1888 and instead embraced the Roman idea of law, that God's law are made up rules that require legal oversight, and EGW wrote about the delegates at 1888 who rejected the truth that the 10 Commandments written on stone are not eternal, they were added because of man's sin, and instead taught God's law is a written down set of rules, like humans make. Listen to what she said about the Adventist leadership:

And this is only one quote, there are others in which she says similar things:

- But all the universe of heaven witnessed the disgraceful treatment of Jesus Christ, represented by the Holy Spirit. Had Christ been before them, they would have treated him in a manner similar to that in which the Jews treated Christ. (1888 1478.2, emphasis mine)

So first question is, have the Adventist leadership truly appreciated the significance of the Sabbath, or have they mispresented both the Sabbath and God's government by continuing to understand it through Roman law, through human law, through imposed law, teaching that it is a rule that we must keep and that God enforces through inflicted punishments?

Let me be clear, I am not and will not undermine the significance, blessing, value, holiness, sacredness of God's Sabbath—no, it is the legalists, the law-keepers, the rule-makers, the religious leaders who teach the Sabbath is a rule that must be kept lest God inflict punishment who undermine it. And it is so sad, heartbreaking really, that people can be enemies of God while they claim to be worshiping God and keeping His commandments—which is the exact lesson we have recorded in the Gospels.

And the root cause of this is the belief that God's law functions like human law—when one believes that lie they can have all the right doctrines, but are worshiping the wrong god, and applying the methods of God's enemy—force, coercion, and inflicted punishments.

So, what is the significance of the law in the Most Holy Place in the heavenly sanctuary?

This is symbolic language taken from the OT Sanctuary service. In that old covenant system the law was kept in the box, in the ark under the lid. But in the new covenant where is the law written? In the hearts and minds of people (Hebrews 8:10).

In last week's lesson we learned that the construction material of the heavenly sanctuary is what? Living beings! So, what is the imagery of the law in the Most Holy place intended to lead our minds to understand? That God is working to remove the law of sin and death from our hearts and minds, to remove the law of survival of the fittest, the law of fear and me first and restore into our hearts and minds the His law of love, truth, and liberty, such that we are united with Him in at-one-ment in intimacy, which means we know Him, and we are "known" and this is life eternal (John 17:3), this is unity, this is the cleansing of the sanctuary, this is healing and restoration, this is recreation in Christlikeness, this is being a living stone built together in a house for the Lord, this is having the living law of love the law upon our hearts.

Read the second paragraph,

- Satan's aim from the beginning has been to thwart the worship of God through undermining the law of God. He knows that to offend "in one point" means to be "guilty of all" (James 2:10); so, he encourages people to transgress God's law. Satan hates the Sabbath because it reminds people of the Creator and how He is to be worshiped. But it also is enshrined in God's law in the Most Holy Place of the heavenly sanctuary. Because the law is what defines sin, as long as people seek to be faithful to God, then His law must continue to be valid, including the Sabbath commandment. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 72, emphasis mine).

It is true that if we break God's law in one point we break it in all points—but only if we understand God's law is design law. If we think God's law is imposed rules, this is not true. Is it true that if someone cheats on their taxes, they are also guilty of child molestation? Is it true that if someone commits adultery, they are also guilty of murder or selling drugs to kids? Would you accept it as true if someone came to you and said, "because you lost your temper and cursed your neighbor you are guilty of rape?" Or would you say, "no I am not!" So the only way it is true that breaking the law in one point means we break it in all points is if we understand that God's law is design law, the protocols of love.

So,

- If we bear false witness against our neighbor we fail to love
- If we dishonor our parents we fail to love
- If we commit adultery we fail to love
- If we murder we fail to love
- If we steal we fail to love
- If we covet we fail to love
- If we have other gods we fail to love

- If we take God's name, calling ourselves Christian but misrepresent Him by teaching He is an imperial dictator source of death, we fail to love
- If we find worthy of our affections false images of God we fail to love
- If we don't remember the Sabbath and don't embrace the truth its existence reveals to us, which means holy living, we fail to love

Failing to love is the transgression of God's law, and the Ten Commandments were added for the need of fallen humanity.

And the Sabbath was created as a gift specifically for humanity but also as an evidence of God's character and government, His design laws, a proof, that Satan lied, a revelation and confirmation that God is love and He gives us genuine freedom—for love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom.

Satan hates the weekly Sabbath because it is evidence that he lied about God. So Satan attacks the Sabbath in a variety of ways, one way is trying to replace it or get people to forget it so they don't appreciate and realize the truth of God's character, so they accept the lie that God's character is like Satan's, a rule-maker and inflictor of punishments. Or he tries to trick people into teaching the right day of the week but as a legal requirement or made-up rule, imposed under threat of punishment like the Jews and sadly many Adventists have done this. All of which works to replace the truth about God with a lie, a false god in the hearts and minds of the worshipers.

The lesson says the Sabbath reminds people of the Creator—it most certainly can, however, the Jews claimed God as their Father in John 8, but Jesus said that despite their Sabbath keeping, Bible believing, and claims to worship the Creator God, that Satan was their father. So, consider this: if they had the weekly Sabbath and also believed God is Creator, how could Jesus say that Satan was their father?

Because they believed God's law functions like that of a creature! And this was borne out by the evidence of the methods they employed in how they treated others, including Jesus. The brought forth from their hearts the fruits of Satan's character because they worshiped a dictator god.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph,

- The Day of Atonement was a day of judgment. All of Israel was commanded to take part in this event by repentance, soul searching, and refraining from all work (see Lev. 23:29–31). On this day alone the high priest would enter the Most Holy Place to make atonement for sin. There, in the innermost apartment of the sanctuary, was the ark of the covenant. Within the ark was God's Ten Commandment law, written on tables of stone. The golden cover of the ark was called the mercy seat, where blood was sprinkled to cleanse the sanctuary from sin. God's presence was manifest in Shekinah glory above the mercy seat. Every sacrifice offered revealed God's mercy toward sinful human beings, but the Day of Atonement shows that sin is remembered until the day of judgment (Heb. 10:3) and that it could really be removed only through faith in the blood of Christ to cleanse from sin (1 Pet. 1:18, 19). There, in the presence of God, mercy and justice beautifully combine. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 73, emphasis mine).

How do you understand this in light of last week's lesson?

What is the first question we must ask? What law lens are we viewing things through. So, let's go point by point and contrast the two:

- The Day of Atonement was a day of judgment.
    - If viewed through the human law lens what does this mean? Legal examination, ensuring proper punishment was paid by someone, did the person confess their sin and claim the legal payment of Jesus' blood to their sin record in heaven? If so, then the sin recorded in the book can be erased by the mighty power of Jesus' blood and the sinner can be declared righteous while they remain unrighteous.
    - Design law—judgment is our examination of the evidence in the Great Controversy and judging if God is like Jesus revealed, Creator and Sustainer whose laws are design laws, or do we believe God is like Satan, like Baal, a being with immense power but who makes up rules and uses his power to punish rule breakers? We judge whether we can trust God and allow Him to enter our hearts and minds or whether we need a mechanism, a mediator, a payment, a shield, covering, or some other action to be done to an offended god—and instead of trusting God, we trust the mechanic, work, intervention being done to that offended god to protect us from it?
    - And judgment is God's diagnostic judgments, determining who has judged Him correctly and therefore opened their hearts and invited Him into their inmost holy place and He as our heavenly High Priest enters our sanctuaries and diagnostically judges what is wrong, what falsehoods still operate within us that undermine trust, what passions, fears, insecurities doubts, guilt, shame needs to be removed to heal and restore us into the full stature of Christ and He then cleanses all the defects in us restoring us in heart and mind to righteousness, we become the righteousness of God, the living law of love is written upon our hearts, we are cleansed by the blood (life) of Jesus, which we partake of via the indwelling Holy Spirit. We are at-one with Jesus again.
- Make atonement for sin.
    - Imposed law—means making the legal payment to the heavenly government so God's imposed law justice can be satisfied and the legal payment made
    - Design law we realize that atonement is at-one-ment bringing two into oneness, thus we realize it is Jesus cleansing His people from everything that separates them and restoring us to unity with God and Himself.
- The golden cover of the ark was called the mercy seat
    - Imposed law—it is a place where the payment of blood is legally applied to remove the record of sins, pay the legal penalty, assuage or propitiate the wrath of God to legally merit—through the blood of Jesus mercy from God who grants forgiveness and restrains His wrath

- Design law we realize that the golden cover was not called a mercy seat until Martin Luther (the person who invented penal substitution theology to undermine the doctrine of purgatory). Luther created that title when he translated the Bible into German. Paul uses the name of the lid, which is called the cover, applying that name to Jesus. Jesus covers us, with His grace, His love, His healing power—He substitutes Himself between sinful man and sinless heaven, and becomes the connecting link and the means whereby God's purity, holiness, righteousness is restored into humanity, thus the blood is the symbolic way of showing the very life of Jesus is perfectly reproduced in all who have surrendered to Jesus as their Savior.

- Blood
  - Imposed law—it represents the death penalty paid for our sin crimes
  - Design law—it represents the sinless, holy, and pure life of Jesus that we internalize and partake of, as Leviticus taught, the life is in the blood—(not the death). Consider these two quotations, regarding the blood:
    - "In the study of the Bible the converted soul eats the flesh and drinks the blood of the Son of God, which He himself interprets as the receiving and doing of His words, that are spirit and life." (Fundamentals of Christian Education 378, emphasis mine).
    - "The leaven of truth works a change in the whole man, making the coarse refined, the rough gentle, the selfish generous. By it [the truth] the impure are cleansed, washed in the blood of the Lamb." (Christ's Object Lessons 102, emphasis mine).
  - If we include these insights into our understanding of the sprinkling of the blood by the High Priest to cleanse the sanctuary—what then is happening in reality? Who needs to internalize the truth and be cleansed? Does the Father need truth presented to Him? Does the Father need to be cleansed? Does a building made out of brick, gold, silver need to be cleansed? Of course not, we need to be cleansed.
  - Jesus is cleansing hearts and minds from sinfulness, purifying the believers, again nothing penal or legal going on, it is actual, just as we discussed last week.
- Sin is remembered until the day of judgment
  - Imposed law—there is a legal registry and all sins are recorded and are brought up in the courtroom of heaven to be adjudicated and determine if the proper legal penalty has been paid for each sin crime, i.e., the blood of Jesus has been applied to all the confessed sins, those asked to be forgiven, but if one sin remains on the book, because you forgot to legally ask for Jesus' blood to be applied, then God will be required by law and justice to kill you for that sin, and in fact all the other sins you did remember to ask for forgiveness will be returned the record and your total torture time will be calculated based on all the sins you ever committed and then God will use divine power to inflict this torture, performing a miracle to keep you from dying until all the torture has been completed. Then God will kill you. Now, the legalists won't say it this way, but will dress it up in fancy theological words to make it sound more holy and righteous, but the meaning is the same. And it is all a lie, it is Satan's perversion of the gospel which occurs when the imposed law lie is believed.

- Design law—sins are symptoms of sinful hearts and minds, and the symptoms, the sins, are forgotten from the relationship as soon as the underlying sin condition is healed or addressed—because they are no longer relevant to reality. The sins are not forgotten as long as the condition remains any more than we forget a child has a fever of 106 as long as they are sick, but when they are well the fever is no longer thought about—we don't have amnesia for the fact they had a fever, but it isn't thought about or considered when the child is well. Likewise, with God there is no registry of sins, no accounting book of misdeeds, there are spiritual medical records that accurately reflect the real-time real-life condition of every heart and mind. This is why the Bible says:
  - "God is love" and "love keeps no record of wrongs" (1 John 4:8 and 1Corinthians 13:5)
  - "Our message is that God was making the whole human race his friends through Christ. God did not keep an account of their sins, and he has given us the message which tells how he makes them his friends. God was making the whole human race his friends through Christ; or God was in Christ making the whole human race his friends." (2 Corinthians 5:19 GNT, emphasis mine).

MONDAY

The Immutability of God's Law

What does this mean? That God's law cannot be changed—what is the only type of law that is not changeable? Design law, the protocols reality is built upon, for to change that type of law destroys reality itself, it would destroy the fabric of the cosmos as God created it. But changing imposed laws doesn't destroy reality.

Now, what about the Ten Commandments—are they eternal or added?

- Did God's law exist in heaven when Lucifer rebelled? Yes!
- Did the seventh-day Sabbath exist in heaven when Lucifer rebelled?
  - Jesus said the Sabbath was made—if it was made it had a beginning, and He said it was made for man—indicating it began when man began, thus wasn't in existence in heaven when Lucifer rebelled.
  - EGW wrote:
    - The Sabbath of the fourth commandment was instituted in Eden. After God had made the world and created man upon the earth, He made the Sabbath for man. After Adam's sin and fall nothing was taken from the law of God. The principles of the Ten Commandments existed before the fall and were of a character suited to the condition of a holy order of beings. After the fall the principles of those precepts were not changed, but additional precepts were given to meet man in his fallen state. (Story of Redemption 145, emphasis mine)

- If the Sabbath didn't exist when Lucifer rebelled in heaven and if "The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God."(The Great Controversy p. 582, emphasis mine), then how is the Sabbath involved in the final events?

The lesson will attempt to make it a test between which day of week one attends worship services, the Bible Sabbath or the festival of Sunday, but if the final issues are the culmination of the controversy that began in heaven over God's law when Lucifer rebelled, and the Sabbath was not part of the opening rebellion over God's law, how is it involved in the end of this conflict?

And that leads us to TUESDAY's lesson, The Sabbath and the Law

Read third paragraph,

- At the conclusion of Creation week, God rested in the beauty and majesty of the world He had made. He also rested as an example to us. The Sabbath is a weekly pause to praise the One who made us. As we worship on the Sabbath, we open our hearts to receive the special blessing He placed in that day only, and in no other day. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 75, emphasis mine).

I have heard this argument my entire life and I agree with it—I do believe there is something special about the Sabbath, however I have never heard a Adventist leader tell me what that special blessing is. I have asked multiple Adventist pastors and leaders, what is that special blessing, but what they describe is not a blessing exclusive to the Sabbath. What do you think?

The lesson lists us a couple of potential special blessings, but remember, we are looking for what the lesson claims is a blessing that is associated with the seventh-day Sabbath and no other day. If we can experience the blessing on another day, then while that may be a blessing, it is NOT the special blessing of the Sabbath, for the special blessing must be exclusive to the Sabbath and no other. Do you agree with this premise?

So let's test the lesson's assertions:

- A Memorial of Creation—it is true that we can remember creation and God as Creator and the Sabbath reminds us of God's creatorship—but is this exclusive to the Sabbath? What about the seven-day weekly cycle, irrespective of which day is the Sabbath, do all the days together organized in a seven-day week give evidence of God's Creatorship? For all the other time measurements, days, months, years, we have astronomic events, the movement of planet and moon to measure these times. But the weekly cycle is established only by creation, so does the Sabbath alone, by itself establish God as Creator, or does the weekly cycle give evidence of this? And does the weekly cycle give evidence for all to consider even without a Bible, for anyone from any time in history could inquire, why do we have 7-day weeks, what is that based upon? And the Bible also teaches that the heavens declare the glory of God and nature reveals God as Creator. So while it is true the Sabbath speaks to God as Creator, this blessing is not exclusive to the seventh-day.

- The Sabbath as a sign of the plan of salvation—it is true that Jesus rested in the tomb over the Sabbath day and has connected the Sabbath with rest in Him as our Savior—however, Jesus also left us the memorial of communion and baptism which teach us of His death for us and the plan of salvation. And people celebrate His death and resurrection on Easter Sunday, the first day of the week upon which He rose from the dead. So, while we certainly can be blessed by celebrating Jesus' victory over sin and death each Sabbath, that blessing is not exclusive to the Sabbath.
- The Sabbath as a weekly pause to praise and celebrate God—while it is certainly a blessing to do so, are we somehow prohibited or restricted from pausing and praising God on other days of the week? And if we pause to praise God on another day of the week, will we not be blessed by doing so? When Daniel paused three times each day to praise and worship God every day of the week, did he experience blessing or was he only blessed when he did so on the Sabbath? So, it is certainly a blessing to pause each week to praise God, but pausing to praise God and spend time with Him does not set the Sabbath apart from other days.

So again, what is the special blessing of the Sabbath? What does the Sabbath provide that no other day of the week can?

Consider the Sabbath in Eden, before Adam and Eve sinned. Was its purpose there so that they could physically rest and recover from a hard work week?

- What was the condition of the world when the Sabbath was made?
- Consider the type of activities that Adam and Eve did during the six work days while in Eden:
    - Went for walks in nature
    - Studied nature
    - Interacted with the animals
    - Walked with God in the cool of every week day
    - Appreciated God and all He had done in the creation of the world
    - Talked with angels
    - Did they have to pull weeds?
    - Was there any planting to do?
    - Any harvesting and storing in barns?
    - Any fertilizing, irrigating, or pesticides to spread?
    - Were there houses to build?
    - Was there laundry, vacuuming to do, or dishes to wash?
    - Was there anything for them to do that we call work?
- What was the purpose of the Sabbath in Eden?

In other words, were Adam and Eve's non-Sabbath activities very similar to the activities we find valuable to do on Sabbath?

Did Adam and Eve do any of the following on Sabbath in Eden?

- Attend church services?
- Have communion ceremony?
- Go to confession?
- Do penance?
- Pay tithe or bring offerings?
- Would they still walk in nature, pick fruit from the trees to eat, interact with the animals, converse with God and angels?
- So what was different for Adam and Eve about the Sabbath than any other day of the week?
- Was the difference primarily in their behavior or something else?

Could the purpose of the Sabbath in Eden be in what the day itself revealed? Could it be in what the day itself represented? And could the Sabbath day reveal something about God that God wants every human to understand, to know both intellectually but also experientially about Him? Could the Sabbath be different from the other six days of the week not because of what Adam and Eve did differently, but because of what God did differently on the seventh day of creation week?

As the commandment says "for in six days God created the heavens, earth, sea and all that in them is, but on the seventh-day God rested." The Sabbath is a memorial to God's character and methods of truth, love, and freedom—the Creator God on Sabbath STOPPED using power. The Commandment calls our attention to the contrast of what God did—and we have failed to recognize it and instead focus on His incredible power to create or our own selves, our behavior.

Praise God we serve the Creator the all-powerful one—but the question isn't whether He is powerful, the question in the Great Controversy is whether God can be trusted with the power, and thus the Sabbath is proof, evidence, of God's character and methods. That despite having all power, He gives us real freedom—He does NOT use His power against His creatures. He does not force Lucifer and the rebelling angels into line. He leaves all free!

Thus, because God created Adam and Eve in the middle of this war He also created the Sabbath to be a reminder, a sign, a signal, an indicator, a testament, an evidence, a memorial, a flag, pennant, signet, a revelation, a proof of God's character, methods, principles, law, and form of government!

The Sabbath was made by God and it was made holy, blessed, sanctified, set apart, how? Was the Sabbath made holy by legislation? Was it made holy by declaration, or was it made holy by both design and action, by deed, by how it came to be, by what God tied to that day in its origin by His actions to rest and not use power? In other words, the Sabbath was set apart at and by creation and the actions of God in its origin.

Thus the Sabbath is evidence of God's character and methods in a way the other six days are not, the other six days we learn God has power. Only the Sabbath reveals that God is love and gives us real freedom and thus we are safe in the universe with Him for all eternity for He will never use His power against us. Just the opposite of the imposed law legalists who teach God will use power to punish Sabbath breakers.

Is there some divine power attached to and contained within the Sabbath, some power we need in the controversy?

Paul wrote in Romans:

- I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes (Romans 1:16 NIV84).

What is the power that Paul is referring to that is found in the gospel? What type of power is this? Is this the power of physical might? No! it is the power of truth and love, the truth and love of God's character, methods, principles and design law.

This is the same good news power contained in the Sabbath!

The Sabbath is a sign, a symbol, an evidence, a proof, a promise, a commitment, a reality built into time itself of God's character and design law government. The war in heaven began when Lucifer alleged God is arbitrary, a rule-maker, a being who uses power to take away freedom through infliction of punishment for rule-breaking. In other words, Satan's rebellion started by attacking God's law, teaching that God's laws are nothing but made up rules and as we have discussed this one lie changes everything we believe and think about God, undermining trust in God.

So, how does the Sabbath and our observance fit into God making us holy if it is not a rule that we are required to keep?

Consider this historical quote:

- All through the week we are to have the Sabbath in mind and be making preparation to keep it according to the commandment. We are not merely to observe the Sabbath as a legal matter. We are to understand its spiritual bearing upon all the transactions of life. All who regard the Sabbath as a sign between them and God, showing that He is the God who sanctifies them, will represent the principles of His government. They will bring into daily practice the laws of His kingdom. Daily it will be their prayer that the sanctification of the Sabbath may rest upon them. Every day they will have the companionship of Christ, and will exemplify the perfection of His character. Every day their light will shine forth to others in good works. (Testimonies to the Church vol. 6 p. 353).

What is described here? Is this describing a one day in seven experience or a daily experience?

The Sabbath is a gift from God that is to be employed by us as a spiritual weapon in our cooperation with God to be a holy priesthood all week long as we remember the Sabbath and all it reveals and incorporate those principles into our daily living!

How is the Sabbath useful in our holiness?

How does the Lord make us holy?

- Does God do this with divine power alone, or is there a part that we must play in that process of our being made holy?
- Do we have choices to make?
- Do our choices have any impact in our salvation and our being made holy by God's divine power?
- Can God make someone holy while they actively choose to rebel against Him?
- Can a person make themselves holy by anything they can do apart from God?
- Is there some type of choosing that we must make that is involved in God's plan to transform and save us? What? And how is the Sabbath involved?

Is salvation about making sure we have the right set of doctrinal beliefs? That we have a correct understanding of which day is the Sabbath, how to perform biblical baptism, belief in a literal 7-day creation week, accurate understanding and practice of tithing and offerings, correct understanding of marriage, right beliefs about the state of the dead, accurate interpretation of Bible prophecy?

Does correctly and rightly understanding all these truths mean one has salvation?

Understand, salvation is not found in believing the right list—salvation is found in trusting the right God.

And if one has the right list, but understands that list, including the Sabbath, through imposed law, then they have the wrong god.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson title is the Mark of the Beast

What do you understand this to be?

There are longer versions of this idea, but the following quote gets the point across:

- The sign, or seal, of God is revealed in the observance of the seventh-day Sabbath, the Lord's memorial of creation. . . . The mark of the beast is the opposite of this--the observance of the first day of the week. (Testimonies to the Church vol. 8, p. 117).

Any concerns or questions about this statement?

Statements like this are often misunderstood and misused because they are viewed through the imposed law model.

And the lesson provides a quote that makes clear is it not about the specific day, but the methods of imposed law and coercive enforcement associated with the day, from FRIDAY's lesson

- "Christians of past generations observed the Sunday, supposing that in so doing they were keeping the Bible Sabbath; and there are now true Christians in every church, not excepting the Roman Catholic communion, who honestly believe that Sunday is the Sabbath of divine appointment. God accepts their sincerity of purpose and their integrity before Him. But when Sunday observance shall be enforced by law, and the world shall be enlightened concerning the obligation of the true Sabbath [which is the embodiment of liberty], then whoever shall transgress the command of God, to obey a precept which has no higher authority than that of Rome, will thereby honor popery above God. [By preferring the methods of Rome, of imposed law, of coercion of conscience, of imperialism, of the beast, rather than the principles of truth, love, and liberty that originate in God]. He is paying homage to Rome and to the power which enforces the institution ordained by Rome. [Remember all imposed law comes from Satan and all compelling power comes from Satan. It is the methods employed that are the problem.] He is worshiping the beast and his image. [Not by going to church on Sunday, but by embracing, agreeing, with, and practicing the methods of the beast, imposing law and coercing others to obey.] As men then reject the institution which God has declared to be the sign of His authority, and honor in its stead that which Rome has chosen as the token of her supremacy, they will thereby accept the sign of allegiance to Rome—'the mark of the beast.' And it is not until the issue is thus plainly set before the people, and they are brought to choose between the commandments of God and the commandments of men, that those who continue in transgression will receive 'the mark of the beast.' " (The Great Controversy, p. 449, emphasis mine). And they mark themselves in their forehead when they believe and prefer the methods of imposed law with coercive enforcement, and they mark themselves in their hands when they don't agree in heart, but go along with their support and works to protect themselves and their property and wealth instead of standing for truth, love, and liberty—all symbolized by the Bible Sabbath.]

What is a mark or sign?

A symbol that stands for or signifies something else: So these two days of worship stand as signs or symbols for something else, what? Two types of governments or two ways of governing!

How did the Sabbath become a day set apart from the other days? By creation, by design, thus the Sabbath is a sign of God's government or kingdom which operates upon design law.

How did Sunday get set apart as a day of worship from the other days? By legislation, by man-made rules. Thus Sunday becomes a mark or sign of imposed law and represents governments that are made by sinful beings—because created beings cannot build reality, we can only make up rules and enforce those rules with inflicted punishments. So these two days are symbolic, or signs, of two types of laws, which result in two types of governments, which have two different gods.

Consider the days as flags of two different governments or seals of two different governments. Are the flags of the government the government, or only signs, marks, or symbols of the government?

The flag of the USA has historically stood for liberty and equality of all persons, the land of opportunity. Those who oppose these historic principles over the last decade have worked hard to attack the flag, to devalue it, to kneel rather than stand with hand over the heart when the national anthem is played, to work to assign false values of exploitation, enslavement, and abuse to the flag. Why? Are such attacks actually attacks on the flag, or attacks against the government that the flag represents?

Likewise, the various attacks against and actions to replace the Bible Sabbath are not primarily attacks against the Sabbath day. They are attacks intended to undermine and replace God's design law government with Satan's imposed law government—replacing God's kingdom of love, with Satan's fear-based kingdom of survival of the fittest, and dethroning Jesus and enthroning Satan into our hearts and minds as the one we admire and worship.

Could a person wear the flag of one country, which marks them as being a member of that country, but actually be a traitor and fighting for the other side?

Think about that when you consider who is on God's side and who is on Satan's side by merely what day a person attends church.

So, what is the mark of the beast? Is it attending church on a day other than Sabbath? Consider this quote:

- The time has come for the true light to shine amid moral darkness. The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the word of God. (Review and Herald, July 13, 1897 par. 5).

What decision did the beast make and what ideas did it advocate that are in direct opposition to the word of God? Is it not the idea that God's law is imposed and God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, and death as punishment for sin? And justice requires the sovereign to use power to inflict external punishment on rule-breakers? And the church, having changed the day of worship from Sabbath to Sunday in their legislative counsels give evidence or a mark that they do not consider God's law to be design law, but believe God's law is like human law, imposed rules that can be changed.

Thus the issue in the end, of which the two days stand as signs, is the issue of God's law of love, versus Satan's imposed law construct; God's rule of love versus Satan's rule of fear and selfishness;

God's design law versus worldly imposed laws. It comes down to the methods one practices and the two days are symbolic of two systems.

And what does the beastly systems of the earth do? They coerce, they force, they inflict punishment for disobedience. Consider this quote:

- But when the decree shall go forth enforcing the counterfeit sabbath, and the loud cry of the third angel shall warn men against the worship of the beast and his image, the line will be clearly drawn between the false and the true. Then those who still continue in transgression will receive the mark of the beast. (Evangelism 234, 235).

Is the mark about the day upon which one attends church, or is it about the law one believes God governs by and therefore the methods employed, and ultimately the character one forms as they become like the god they worship?

The mark is about the methods one employs in how they treat others, which law people embrace into their hearts in how they live and treat others. Do they practice, truth, love, and freedom, or do they employ lies, fear/selfishness, and coercion?

Thus, any time we use power to coerce the conscience of others we are acting beastly and marking ourselves as loyal to the beast and not loyal to the kingdom of God.

THURSDAY

The lesson focuses on the 3 angels' message of Revelation 14. If you haven't read our magazine The Final Message of Mercy to the World: The Three Angels, we invite you to do so as we present this message through design law.

But any questions about the message of the three angels?

How do you explain them to people?

SABBATH

What comes to mind from the lesson title? Let's define spiritualism and then explore why God warns against it and how we can protect ourselves from it.

Spiritualism, in all its forms, whether communing with the dead—seances, Ouija boards, Tarot cards, or other forms of spiritualism such as crystal balls, reading tea leaves, palm reading, astrology, or communing directly with demons—satanic occult worship, or spiritualism that is dressed up in Christian language and given Christian labels—all if it has one common root: The pursuit of knowledge without the investigation of evidence or the use of reason!

And the result of spiritualism—despite its desire to gain knowledge is actually the damaging of minds, the rejection of facts, evidence, and truth, the diminishment of discernment, the undermining of reason, the belief in the irrational, fantastical, and superstitious.

Consider:

- Eve at the Tree of Knowledge—she is confronted with the miracle of a talking serpent, something that wowed the senses and astonished the understanding, and then she was tempted to gain knowledge without investigating the evidence for herself and using her reason to examine all the facts and truths of the situation that God had previously provided.
- King Saul sought out the witch of Endor because he wanted knowledge
- Why do people go to fortune tellers?
- Why do people read horoscopes?

How much truth does Satan have on his side? How much truth is on God's side?

So, if Satan is to succeed, what is an essential strategy that he must employ to get people to follow him? The denial, devaluing, undermining, sidelining of the truth, a willingness to believe based on something other than truth—so spiritualism in its fullest definition includes all the strategies and methods of demons to divert minds away from truth and accept lies and falsehoods, this can be:

- False signs, wonders, and miracles
- Emotionalism, activities designed to stir emotions and make one susceptible to suggestion or replace evidence, truth, and facts with emotional experiences, such as praying long and hard until the feelings change while ignoring the truth that God has given.
- Various mind-altering substances designed to interfere with reason and understanding and create false experiences like hallucinogens (perhaps why in Revelation 9:21 and 18:23 the Bible describes the wicked using sorceries in the KJV and magic in the NIV version and the Greek translated as sorceries or magic is pharmakeia. Sadly, some have interpreted this to mean all medicine, it does not, it means the various potions and substances concocted by shaman, witches, magic men and others to cause altered states of reality in order to deceive and alter the mind's ability to tell fantasy from reality. If we were treating a disease state such as schizophrenia that causes hallucinations and delusions with medication that restored reason and clear thinking this would not be the pharmakeia or magic of the wicked, but moving minds back to God's design and restoring the ability to discern truth from fiction or falsehood.

- Mystical practices designed to awe, shock, and suspend investigation of evidence and the use of critical reasoning, many religions of the world use pomp, ceremony, ritual, smoke and mirrors, incredible edifices, all designed to suspend thinking and create a wondering mind that is susceptible to molding and shaping
- Authority of office, believe because the person in charge said so—this is the way the beast of Revelation works—and is a form of spiritualism, of deceiving and seducing minds, by declaration, claim, proclamation, rule that is contrary to truth, God's methods and principles, seeking to get people to surrender their minds to another person.

Consider this historical quote about Jesus' method, from the book The Desire of Ages, do you agree with the application and method described from the facts of Jesus' life?

- The King of glory stooped low to take humanity. Rude and forbidding were His earthly surroundings. His glory was veiled, that the majesty of His outward form might not become an object of attraction. He shunned all outward display. Riches, worldly honor, and human greatness can never save a soul from death; Jesus purposed that no attraction of an earthly nature should call men to His side. Only the beauty of heavenly truth must draw those who would follow Him. The character of the Messiah had long been foretold in prophecy, and He desired men to accept Him upon the testimony of the word of God. (Desire of Ages 43, emphasis mine).

It is clear Jesus did in fact use the method of avoiding the pomp, circumstance, wealth, position, family connections, or other elements of earthly power and advanced truth, not just fact truth, but truth lived out in a righteous, sinless, life that embodied the living law of love.

Why does God use this method? God is all powerful; He could out-duel Satan in a battle of signs and wonders so easily. God could perform bigger and better miracles and could easily demonstrate more power that Satan without ever resorting to direct violence to harm Satan—why doesn't God use this method?

And this question connects to last week's lesson and the true purpose of why God created the Sabbath as a gift for us and why we are to remember it.

The reason God doesn't use such methods is because He cannot get what He wants if He used such methods—and what does God want? What is God's desired outcome from this conflict with Satan? Is God's desire only to eliminate sin from the universe? God could do that by wiping out all intelligent life—but then what? What does God want? He wants to eliminate sin while winning His intelligent creatures to love, trust, loyalty, devotion, friendship, faithfulness, understanding. Can God achieve this outcome, winning people to genuine love, trust, and friendship by the use of might and power, even if it is only miracle working might and power? Or does increasing the display of might and power intimidate, awe, shock, and shut down understanding and lead to mindless obedience based on fear?

That is why the Bible teaches “not by might nor by power but by my Spirit says the Lord Almighty.” (Zechariah 4:6).

And the Sabbath was given as a gift to humanity when God RESTED, when God stopped using power, when God stepped back and created a time for free thinking and contemplation, when God’s character of love, truth, and freedom was revealed in action and deed by the creation of this blessed day.

Understand, if God were like Satan alleges, if God’s law functioned like Satan’s kingdoms, the kingdoms of this world—made up rules that require infliction of punishment—there would be no weekly Sabbath; there would be no true freedom. God would have demonstrated His power, recited the rules, and then given people a choice, conform or be punished. But the Sabbath proves God’s laws are design laws and that love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. And God gave us this gift because in His foreknowledge He knew we needed to remember all week long the truth about God, His character, His methods, His design laws and live them out all week long because in this world, the natural sinful heart believes the highest form of justice is law and law enforcement. The Sabbath calls us to a higher standard of reality—to Creator worship whose laws are design laws.

So, Satan, the great deceiver has a multiple forms of spiritualism, tricks to divert the minds of people away from the truth, to get them to stop reasoning and thinking. Our responsibility is to reject all such methods and practices and exercise our God given reasoning powers to be lovers of the truth and grow in truth every day in our relationship with God so that, as Paul wrote, we are fully persuaded in our own minds and have become mature people who can discern the right from the wrong.

Read first paragraph,

- Decades ago, stories surfaced about near death experiences (NDEs), in which people who died and were then revived gave incredible accounts of what they had seen and heard while “dead.” Millions now believe that these accounts are evidence that the dead are not really dead. This foundational belief of spiritualism is one of Satan’s most widespread and effective deceptions. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 80).

Many people believe Near Death Experiences (NDE) preview to what happens when a person dies. Most NDEs have a common theme, a narrow corridor or narrowing of the world, an approaching bright light, a person representing someone from the other side and a line, from which there is no return, if crossed. These events are typically described as peaceful, transcendent, beautiful, and euphoric. Reports of NDE experiences go back almost 2000 years and are reported by approximately 20% of people who suffer a heart attack and are revived.

Interestingly, however, a person does not have to be near death to experience a NDE. A 1990 study at the University of Virginia Health Sciences Center in Charlottesville of 58 people who had experienced NDEs found that half would have survived without medical care. Something as innocuous as fainting can produce an NDE.

There are many theories about the cause of NDEs to include hypoxia (lack of oxygen to the brain), which could trigger seizures in the temporal lobes and cause the symptoms of NDE, hypotension (loss of blood pressure to the brain), endorphin and enkephalin (brain produced mood elevators and pain killers) release, drugs injected during resuscitation, low blood sugar and other metabolic processes.

Kevin Nelson, a neuropsychologist at the University of Kentucky, has done research into NDEs and offered another reasonable explanation. NDEs are a form of sleep disorder called REM intrusion in which dreams occur in a non-sleep state. During this time a person is awake but paralyzed, may experience the sensation of floating, will have vivid dreams that would be experienced more like a hallucination and have out of body experiences. All of this will be remembered quite vividly after the event is over with a sense of conviction to the veracity of the experience.

A study published in 1994 by Thomas Lempert, then at the Rudolph Virchow Clinic in Berlin, Germany, documented how volunteers made themselves faint through a combination of hyperventilating, standing, and breath-holding. Many of them experienced euphoric NDE-like sensations such as floating out of their body, entering another world, or encountering supernatural beings. This is thought to be due to activating the vagus nerve which stimulates the brainstem to cause these NDEs. This would explain the high occurrence of NDE in people being resuscitated from a heart attack as vagal nerve stimulation occurs during this process.

The Bible is silent on near death experiences. But what is interesting is that the entire idea that the dead can communicate to us, or that we continue to be aware and conscious after death based on near death experiences is all based on an obvious lie that everyone ignores—and it is stated right in the name of the events—what is the lie?

The people having near death experiences are NOT dead! They may be near death, but they are not dead. And therefore what they are experiencing are the experiences of a living being, not a dead being, so the only rational and accurate conclusion is that these are experiences of living beings and cannot shed light on what the dead may or may not experience, because in fact, the people are not dead.

The reason people believe these NDEs are insights into what happens at death is because they believe other lies, such as what death actually is. Some people think that death when the heart stops beating. I have had patients tell me they died and were revived because their hear stopped beating and they were resuscitated. But the heart stopping beating is not death. Many people have had their heart stop beating, in fact many people have had their hearts removed and another person’s heart implanted and those people are not dead.

True and actual death (what the Bible calls first death) is necrosis; it is not cessation of the normal function of a bodily organ for a brief period of time, it is the necrosis of the body as a whole and most particularly the brain. This is what happened to Lazarus and why Jesus waited 3 days to go resurrect him. He wanted there to be no doubt that Lazarus was dead, and Martha's words are so helpful. When Jesus said to roll away the stone, she warned that it would stink because the body had begun to decay. That is death.

These near-death experiences are happening to people BEFORE they die, while they are still alive, and therefore to conclude anything happening to the living is evidence of what the dead experience is factually wrong and a method to deceive. But do you see how deeply lies have become imbedded into people's thinking that this very obvious and simple truth is denied?

Putting this obvious truth together what the Bible reveals about what the dead know and what do we learn? What stories are recorded from Lazarus after his resurrection? None, why? Because the Bible tells us the dead know nothing (Ecclesiastes 9:5,6). In fact, in 100% of the cases in the Bible where a person died and was resurrected the Bible records nothing from them of their experience while dead.

Further the Bible warns against consulting those who claim to be able to communicate with the dead, for they are actually communicating with demons—fallen angels who are impersonating the dead.

- When you enter the land the LORD your God is giving you, do not learn to imitate the detestable ways of the nations there. Let no one be found among you who sacrifices his son or daughter in the fire, who practices divination or sorcery, interprets omens, engages in witchcraft, or casts spells, or who is a medium or spiritist or who consults the dead. Anyone who does these things is detestable to the LORD, and because of these detestable practices the LORD your God will drive out those nations before you. You must be blameless before the LORD your God. (Deuteronomy 18:9-13 NIV84).

So, if we are using our reasoning ability, and we are also using the evidence we have, we must conclude that there is no evidence that near death experiences provide any information on what the dead know or experience.

Read the second paragraph,

- In fact, spiritualism began back in Eden with the serpent's lie to Eve, "You will not surely die" (Gen. 3:4, NKJV). This idea also lay at the root of one of the greatest spurious religious movements of the nineteenth century with the Fox sisters' claim, later admitted to be fraudulent, that they could receive answers to their questions from spirits of the dead. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 80).

In Genesis, before sin, we have God telling Adam and Eve that if they should break trust with Him and eat the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil, they would die. We have Satan telling Eve that she will not die. Who is telling the truth?

Why then do most Christians teach that Satan was telling the truth, that people continue to live in some form or another regardless of whether they are righteous or wicked if God said that if they sin they would die?

Because there is an underlying premise that is believed by many, it comes out of paganism and it along with the imposed law lie infected Christianity, and that lie is that when God created Adam and Eve He created them with some part of their being that is immortal, their spirit or their soul is believed to be immortal, so that it is believed that when God said they would die He meant only their body would die, but that their spirit or soul would live on eternally either in heaven if they partake of salvation or in the torments of hell if they are not saved.

But it is an assumption without evidence that God created humans with some part of them that is immortal. What are the problems if we conclude humans were given immortality in Eden?

First, this believe is a direct attack on the character of God, whether people realize it or not. What does it say about God if we believe that He created Adam and Eve with immortality?

- Either God doesn't have foreknowledge, or He is naïve, or He is malicious and sadistic, why?
- Consider, what does it say about God if Adam and Eve were created with immortality and sinned and also have the ability to procreate children and pass along both immortality and their sin-condition? In other words, what would it say about the Creator if He created them with the ability to create beings in their image and they sin and then have children who have immortal souls but are born into sin not by their own choice but Adam and Eve's, and some of those children live only a few years and never have the gospel presented to them and then die bodily, but have their "immortal souls" tormented in the fires of hell for all eternity?
- If this is true then what kind of God must God be? Either He doesn't know the future—and is also naïve—"Well I never thought that could happen, boy, sure caught me off guard there," or He is sadistic and malicious, "Yeah, I knew billions of people would never choose salvation, but I created them in such a way that they will be tormented for all eternity despite them never having a choice to avoid it."

No, the doctrine of natural immortality of the soul is a lie, it is demonic, it is designed to create distrust in God and undermine the truth about God's character. But we don't have to conclude this based only on our ability to reason out the implications of such a doctrine—the Bible is quite specific on this.

Evidence from Scripture that immortality is not possessed by humans, but a gift of God to the righteous:

- After God drove the man out, he placed on the east side of the Garden of Eden cherubim and a flaming sword flashing back and forth to guard the way to the tree of life. Gen 3:24
    - Why bar the way to the tree of life if they were already immortal?
    - How is barring the way to the tree of life an act of mercy, not a punishment for sin? Because it prevented there from being immortal sinners. Living in sin without the hope of healing and salvation is not happiness, it is torment and God will not allow this.
- "God, the blessed and only Ruler, the King of kings and Lord of lords, who alone is immortal and who lives in unapproachable light" (1 Timothy 6:15,16).

- "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. (John 3:16)
- "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 6:23)
- "The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction; the one who sows to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life." (Galatians 6:8).

Could anyone really have happiness in heaven, have all tears wiped away as is promised in Revelation—if for all eternity future we hear the wails, cries, suffering, and torment of our unsaved loved ones?

Think about it, what happens in the hearts of any righteous person when they hear an animal crying in pain? How much more when we hear people being tormented? Can you think of anything more demonic, more intended to turn hearts away from love and trust in God, than the belief that heaven will be a place where the righteous are happy while their loved ones are being tormented for all eternity by God? It is a lie!

God would save every lost soul if He could, but He cannot force people to love Him, and to force those who prefer lies to truth, who have hardened themselves in selfishness, who prefer evil to righteousness, exploitation to selfless service, villainy to nobility into His unveiled glorious presence where the fires of infinite truth and love burn freely would be torment to them. Thus, He gives them freedom to choose what they desire. And when He unveils His life-giving glory, and the righteous are transformed, and radiate those fires of truth and love from their being, like Moses on the mountain, or Moses and Elijah at transfiguration, the wicked beg for the mountains to fall on them and hide them from love and truth. They would rather not exist than to live in purity, in holiness, in righteousness. So God grants them their choice, in harmony with His character of truth, love, and freedom—He sets them free to reap what they insist upon, complete and eternal separation from Him the source of life and they die eternally. Thus the punishment from sin is reaped from sin, and that punishment is eternal, but the punishing, the torment, the suffering is not eternal as the wicked are gone for all eternity. The memory of them is not gone, the righteous will remember for all eternity the choice of the wicked, the actions of God, and the reality of God's character and government and recognize how God longed to save these people, but love cannot be forced, and that the only just and merciful action God can take, that is in complete harmony with His character and design laws is to set them free to reap what they have sown into their own characters.

SUNDAY

Read third paragraph,

- Witchcraft is demonic. It seduces people into false worship and counterfeits a genuine relationship with God, but it can never satisfy the deepest needs of the heart. Spiritualism is at the heart of Satan's plan to take the world captive. But Jesus, by His grace and power, sets captives free from the chains of evil that bind them. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 81).

What is witchcraft? What is the power of witches, sorcerers, warlocks, witch doctors, and shamans?

Their power is the ability to deceive and seduce minds into believing lies, to get people to surrender thinking, to believe things that are not true, that contradict reality, and they use a variety of methods, signs, wonders, tricks, slight-of-hand, sometimes working with demons (fallen angels) to perform miracles or signs and wonders. But the goal is to seduce minds into believing things that are not true, to suspend reason, and to surrender decision-making to some other power than a noble, God-inspired, self-governance—the last fruit of the Spirt.

Examples:

- King Saul visited the witch of Endor. Saul had already been given immense amount of truth to know this was all a fraud, a con, a lie, not from God but from the evil one—yet Saul rejected all of this truth which, had he applied it to his life would have protected him from the deception he accepted because he would have never gone and listened to the witch in the first place. When visiting the witch he already believed a lie before he got there, that the witch was able to provide him knowledge without the use of reason or actual evidence. He believed the witch could conjure up Samuel's disembodied spirit and get counsel from Samuel. What Saul experienced was a fallen angel, commonly known as a demon, impersonating Samuel, and that demon lied to Saul and gave him a report designed to discourage and frighten Saul, which it did and led to Saul's poor choice and ultimately the taking his own life by suicide. Multiple layers of lies in this experience designed to seduce the senses and confuse the mind and discourage the spirit leading to hopelessness and surrender.
- All the forms of pagan worship in Scripture that seduce the senses and impair thinking with the rituals, sensual passions, fertility rights, intoxicating substances and superstitious irrational beliefs. Paul addresses this in Romans 14 speaking about foods offered to idols. The weak in faith, those who don't understand reality, believe that if they eat food offered to an idol then that idol will have some power over them. The problem is not in the food, or its being offered to the idol, but in the lie that a piece of stone or wood could have some power over them, the danger is in the fear-based superstitious belief. The mature in faith know it is non-sense and can eat anything without fear, but the immature cannot, not until they grow up and understand the truth. This is how demons work, they work through various falsehoods to inflame fear, diminish reasoning abilities, and get people trapped in false, fantastical, superstitious, irrational belief systems—including many things taught in Christianity.
- People going to seances or using Ouija boards, horoscopes or other spiritualistic activities etc. The people doing these activities already believe multiple lies, that the dead can communicate with us; that these devices have some ability to connect to another realm; that there is no God or there are no demons; or that witchcraft and the occult is just an innocent game; and they suspend reason, suspend the investigation of evidence and surrender their minds to what they see and hear from these sources.

- Speaking in tongues—receiving a message from what some believe to be supernatural sources that they cannot understand for themselves and is accepted as truth without investigating the evidence, comparing with Scripture, and reasoning for self.
- Praying for the burning bosom instead of using reason and investigating the evidence in Scripture, science/nature, and experience. In other words, replacing truth with feelings.

Any modern examples of warlocks or witches working in society today—and remember their power is to get people to suspend reason, believe on some authority, claim, proclamation that denies evidence, denies reality, and promotes a message that is directly contrary to Scripture and the truth God has revealed?

- All those world leaders who keep calling people to re-image reality. In other words, they are telling people to replace reality with imagination, with make-believe, with pretend, with what is not true, with fantasy, with myth, with cunningly devised fables.
- Examples of this include the promoters of the lie that there is no male and female—and let me be clear here. I am not speaking about people who suffer from some identity problem, people with real mental of physical conditions that cause them distress and who need our love and compassion and help. I am speaking of people who deny reality, and twist the truth. The truth is there are real people who are confused, who are struggling, but rather than seeking to help these people, the deceivers in society instead exploit this vulnerable group to create and promote the lie that there is no male and female, that gender is just a made up idea. It is demonic, it is spiritualistic, it is designed to get people to suspend reasoning and to accept claims that deny reality, and to deny the truth that God has revealed to us. For the Bible is clear, God made them male and female. Again just as in the NDE which in their name tell you it is not death, but near death, meaning the people are still alive and thus cannot tell us about death, but this obvious fact is denied and ignored to embrace the lie. So too in the trans-gender movement the name also reveals the lie. Consider, can you take a trans-continental flight if there are no continents? You can't be trans-gendered if there are no male and female. And male and female is not defined by how one feels but by objective physical facts, just like someone in America may feel like they are in Europe, but that feeling doesn't change reality. And while we can move a person from one continent to another, we cannot change North America into Europe—likewise a male can never become a female or vice versa. But minds can definitely be confused and we need to help people who are confused, just as we seek to help people who are confused about where they are.
- The promoters of the Green movement, and the lies related to climate change—all demonic lies that specifically deny the truth of God's Word, when God promised that the climate and seasons would continue until the Earth is destroyed at the second coming and then remade anew at the third coming.
- Those who promote the lie that God's government works like human governments and that God's law is imposed made up rules and justice is the infliction of punishment and obedience to God is blind obedience to voices in position of authority. This is fantasy; it is falsehood; it is not reality in God's universe; it is, in fact, demonic.

MONDAY & TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on what the Bible teaches us about death. Is death a punishment inflicted by God for sin, or is it a natural consequence of sin when God stops using power to hold it at bay?

The problem is that the term death is used in Scripture to describe two different states: first death describes the death that both the righteous and wicked experience and is described in Scripture, both Old and New Testaments, as a sleep, a state of suspended animation in which the person is unaware of what is transpiring?

Human beings are created by God and have three components, body, soul, spirit.

- Now may the God of peace himself make you completely holy and may your spirit and soul and body be kept entirely blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Thessalonians 5:23 NET, emphasis mine).

Interestingly, computers are also tripartite and serve as a poignant object lesson. In order to have an operational computer, one needs hardware, software, and an energy source. Having only one or two of these three will result in a computer that will not operate. All three are required for actual functioning.

In a similar way, to have an operational (functioning) human being, it requires all three components—body, soul, and spirit:

- The Greek word for body is σῶμα [soma] and is analogous to a computer's hardware, including the CPU—the physical machine, including our brain.
- The Greek word for soul is ψυχή [psuche], from which we get psyche, as in *psych*iatry and *psych*ology, and it means our individuality—our heart, unique personhood, character, identity. It is analogous to a computer's software (including database/datasets/data).
- And the Greek word for spirit is πνεῦμα [pneuma], from which we get pneumonia or pneumatic, and it means wind, air, or breath—as in the breath of life. This is our energy source—the life-energy originating from God.

When a computer runs out of power, what state does it go into? It "sleeps." This is exactly how the Bible describes those who die the first death: they "sleep," awaiting the resurrection (Psalm 7:5, 13:3; Matthew 9:24; John 11:12, 13; 1 Thessalonians 4:13). With this in mind, we can now answer what actually happens to the various components of a human being at death.

At the first death:

- The body returns to dust (Genesis 3:19, Psalm 44:25, Ecclesiastes 3:20);
- The spirit—life energy—returns to God who gave the breath of life (Ecclesiastes 12:7);
- But what about the soul (psuche/psyche)—the individuality, the software? Where does that go?

If someone stole your laptop and was threatening to destroy it but you had a perfect copy of the data backed up on a cloud server, then you might say, "I'm not afraid of the one who can destroy my laptop (hardware/body/soma) but cannot destroy the software [soul/psuche]." This is like what Jesus described in Matthew 10:28 when He spoke about those who might kill us for our faith in Him.

Why is it that the killing of the body cannot destroy the soul? Because the soul is our individuality, our unique personhood, and it is distinct from the body. The question is, where does the soul go when it is absent from the body? The apostle Paul answers:

- Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: (For we walk by faith, not by sight:) We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord (2 Corinthians 5:6–8 KJV).

But where would our souls/individualities/software be stored in heaven? Would it not be in the heavenly records—the Lamb's Book of Life ("servers"), where our names/characters are recorded? If someone destroyed your laptop but your data was safe on a cloud server, the data would not be active and operational but dormant—awaiting download to new hardware. Likewise, when our bodies die and decay to dust, the breath of life returns to God, and our souls/individualities are safely stored on the heavenly "servers" in the presence of the Lord, in what state are they? They are asleep/dormant/in stasis, awaiting download into new bodies (hardware) at the resurrection.
Paul brilliantly describes this very process:

- Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. The Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever (1 Thessalonians 4:13–18 NIV84).

Did you notice that the very same righteous dead who arise out of the ground are also coming down out of heaven with Christ—and that they are described as coming from heaven in a state of sleep? How can this be? Because their souls/individualities/software, which are stored on the heavenly "servers," are coming down with Christ to be downloaded into their new immortal bodies during the resurrection at the second coming! Jesus, the Builder of our tripartite beings, understood this, proclaiming:

- I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in me will live, even though he dies; and whoever lives and believes in me will never die (John 11; 25, 26 NIV84).

The righteous may sleep, but they never die. Their individualities are safe with Christ in heaven!

But the Bible says:

- "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 6:23 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- "The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction" (Galatians 6:8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- "Sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death" (James 1:15 NIV84, emphasis mine).

These texts seem to make it clear that death is the direct result of sin, not an infliction by God, and the Bible says elsewhere that the power of death is Satan's power, not God's:

- "Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil" (Hebrews 2:14 NIV84, emphasis mine).

The power of death is the devil's power and that God does not inflict death as punishment for sin, then what do we do with texts like this one?

- "See now that I myself am He! There is no god besides me. I put to death and I bring to life, I have wounded and I will heal, and no one can deliver out of my hand" (Deuteronomy 32:39 NIV84).

Is the Bible contradicting itself? Does God use Satan's power? Is God the source of life and death? Is death inflicted by God?

It all depends on how we understand God's law functions, if we understand God's law is imposed rules then we falsely believe God is the source of death inflicted as punishment.

But when we return to design law, understanding that God is Creator and all His laws are the protocols that He built reality and life to operate upon—like the laws of physics, health, and the moral laws—then we realize that God is not the source of death, but that death is the result of breaking away from God and His design protocols for life, like breaking the law of respiration by tying a plastic bag over one's head.

Then what do we do with Deuteronomy 32:39? We cannot ignore this text, so how do we understand it?

As we do with all Scripture, we place it in the setting of the entire inspired record, the setting of the Great Controversy, and we do not form our understanding only on one text. And with just a little more Bible searching, we find this clarifying text:

- "The LORD brings death and makes alive; he brings down to the grave and raises up" (1 Samuel 2:6 NIV84).

In this passage, we can see the answer through Hebrew parallelism, in which the second phrase expands upon the first—and what do we learn? That God is in control of what the Bible calls the first death, not the second death; that God causes the first death but not the second death and that He will raise people from the first-death experience.

As the great Reformer Martin Luther wrote, "It is enough for us to know that souls do not leave their bodies to be threatened by the torments and punishments of hell, but enter a prepared bedchamber in which they sleep in peace" (Weimarer Ausgabe, 43, 360, 21–23 (to Genesis 25:7–10); also Exegetica opera latina, Vol 5–6 1833 p. 120 and the English translation: Luther's Works, American Edition, 55 vols. (St. Louis: CPH), 4:313).

The first death is not the end of life; it is a pause in one's life—the life will continue at the resurrection.

The second death is the death that is the "wages of sin" death (Romans 6:23); it is the death in which both body and soul are destroyed. This death does not happen to anyone until after the judgment—after the second resurrection at the end of the 1,000 years. This is the death that occurs when one is completely and permanently cut off from God, who is the source of life. And the second death has no power over the righteous, only the wicked (Revelation 2:11; 20:6).

Understanding these two types of death allows us to understand Deuteronomy 32:39 and 1 Samuel 2:6 and how the devil, not God, holds the power of death.

God is the source of the first death—the sleep-death, which is an artificial state of suspended animation instigated and caused by God's grace to limit the destructiveness of sin and to allow time for the plan of salvation to be carried out. If not for God's grace in suspending for a time the ultimate consequences of sin (second death), there would be no first death, only the second death. But the Bible tells us that God in "his forbearance had left the sins committed beforehand unpunished" (Romans 3:25 NIV84). God intervened to create this artificial state of sleep-death so that Jesus' mission to come and overcome as our substitutionary Savior could be accomplished.

Thus, the Bible rightly tells us that God is in control of the sleep-death, and it is God's power to bring this sleep-death and to awaken people from it. But the sleep-death is not the death that is the wages of sin! The death that is the wages of sin is the death that Satan causes—and which Jesus came to destroy:

- "The last enemy to be destroyed is death" (1 Corinthians 15:26 NIV84).

- "Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel" (2 Timothy 1:10 NIV84).

So, we have two deaths described in Scripture. The first death, the sleep-death, which is not death at all but a period of suspended animation in which a person awaits resurrection, is the artificial state of grace controlled by God for the purpose of saving humanity from sin.

But the second death, eternal death, which is a state of annihilation and from which there is no resurrection, is not from God—it is the result of unremedied sin and is the fruit of Satan's power to alienate people from God, the source of life.

And the second death occurs not when God uses power to inflict it, but when He stops using His power to prevent it. In other words, God has been using power to hold at bay what sin does, but in the final end, God "lets go" and surrenders the persistently rebellious to reap the full consequences of what they have insisted upon, separation from Him, the source of life, and they die eternally. Just as Galatians says: "The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction" (6:8 NIV84).

God is the source of life; Satan and sin are the source of death!

WEDNESDAY

Read the first paragraph,

- The devil will use "signs and wonders" and spectacular miracles to deceive multitudes just before the coming of Jesus. Commenting on the deceptive power of demonic spirits, Ángel Rodríguez makes this telling statement: "Their power of persuasion is to be found not in the content of their message but in the power of supernatural manifestations called 'signs' or 'miracles.' They perform/do (poieō) signs, thus appealing to the affective side of human beings rather than to their discretionary and rational abilities. The fact that these signs are performed by demons shows that the unifying force of the message of the three demons [dragon, beast, and false prophet] is spiritualistic in nature—God is not their source or origin. As the cosmic conflict approaches its closure, demonic power will enter the arena of human history in an unprecedented way. Spiritualism, whose very foundation is the non-biblical teaching of the immortality of the soul, will nearly take the world captive."—"The Closing of the Cosmic Conflict: Role of the Three Angels' Messages," unpublished manuscript, p. 6. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 84).

What is spiritualism? The pursuit of knowledge without the investigation of evidence or the use of reason. And what are the three demonic forces foretold in Revelation? The dragon, beast, and false prophet—and what do these descriptors represent about the powers of spiritualism, the power to deceive? They all deceive, so they all use lies, but they do so with different approaches or methods.

- The dragon—that ancient serpent—uses signs, wonders, miracles, magic.

- The beast—uses imposed laws, rules, authority of office—we saw this during COVID when Fauci used his office to declare things to be true that were in fact known to be false, and then used the power of the state to induce or punish to get compliance with the falsehood.
- False prophet—false doctrines, claims, proclamations with false theologies, lies specifically about God, God's methods, and God's law—in other words, it is righteous, moral, and good to use power to punish people because that is what God does, that is God's justice and sometimes one has to kill, so wars are justifiable, and therefore we can go on crusades to kill in order to advance righteousness.
    - This happens in the church when religious leaders appeal to their office, the religious leaders in Christ's day did this repeatedly, accusing the common people of being uneducated and asking them if any of the leading theology professors believe in Jesus? Threatening people from worship services or membership, and we see this today being practiced by organized churches.

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 11
The Impending Conflict

by Tim Jennings (anouncements last page)

SABBATH

Read second paragraph,

- The aim of this week's lesson is to reveal the coming conflict over worship. Satan will challenge God's authority by attempting to undermine God's law. Specifically, the Sabbath will become the center of a global conflict over worship. Satan hates the Sabbath because he hates the Creator. He will use coercion, pressure, and force to break our commitment to Christ. There will be a collision of beliefs over the true and false day of worship. God's final appeal is an appeal to faithfulness to Christ despite persecution, an economic boycott, imprisonment, and a death decree. This week's study emphasizes Jesus' strength to take us through earth's final conflict. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 88, emphasis mine).

This is a great paragraph—but could become not so great if what? If it is read through the human law lens, the imposed law lens, if we understand design law, this paragraph is great so let's go through it.

- Conflict is over worship
    - Imposed law worship is doing the right ritual, following the right ceremonies, obeying the right rules in the right way to be loyal to the god and its requirements; false worship is either false definitions of doctrines—believing the wrong things, erroneous rituals, or breaking the rules laid out by the god. False worship for the legalist would be holding to doctrines that are untrue; playing the wrong music in church; having the wrong people lead the worship service—say an unordained person leading communion; or for some having a woman lead worship; not being ceremonially baptized in the right ritualistic way—say sprinkling instead of immersion; going to church on the wrong day; not using the right words when praying, saying Jesus instead of Yeshua for instance; for some it is reading the Bible in any version other than the King James and on and on the list goes. But the focus of worship for those who think through the human law lens is on us, what we are doing, are we obeying the right rules, do we have the right definition of the doctrines, have we claimed the right blood to pay the sin debt, have we confessed all the sins we have committed and gotten the payment applied to our account, have we paid the proper pre-tax tithe, do we observe the right Sabbath, do we have proper behaviors on the Sabbath—no water above the knee for instance or no conversations about anything but Bible topics etc.
    - Design law understands that God is Creator and His laws are the protocols reality operates upon and one of them is the law of worship—as Scripture describes it is by beholding we are changed (2 Cor 3:18). We understand that we become like the God we admire and worship. And that our view of God is determined by what we choose to believe about God's law. If we believe God's law is imposed, then that belief causes us to view God as the source of inflicted punishment as justice—and the beast of Revelation will eventually use these very tactics and as long as the beast is using the tactics to enforce the right rules—say baptism by immersion and church attendance on Saturday the Bible Sabbath, the legalistic Adventist will say, "this is our god we have waited for him" because they believe it is only right and just to punish those who refuse to obey. But we recognize that breaking God's design laws damages and cuts one off from the source of life and thus unremoved sin that is clung to in the heart brings its own punishment—eternal death. And God has been using His power to hold death at bay and keep open the avenue for us to be reconciled, healed, and restored into unity with Him. Thus we worship the God of love and by admiring, adoring, esteeming, and valuing Him we realize that He can never get love, loyalty, devotion, friendship, and trust by threatening to punish people who don't love, who don't trust.

    - So we agree the final conflict is over worship—and our worship is about which God we prefer and that is determined by the law we believe God has built His universe and government upon.
- A question of authority
    - The authority of the beast, of Satan, of the systems of the world is the authority of position, of office, of power and strength, of ability to punish.
    - The authority of God is the authority truth itself—God is truth and His authority rests in reality—He is the Creator; He is the Sustainer; He is the Healer and Redeemer! Only in harmony with Him, in unity with Him is there life, health, and happiness. God's authority does not come from claims, proclamations, declarations—from position, but from reality, from the truth itself.
- Satan undermines God's law
    - Satan undermines God's law by replacing in the minds of people the truth that God's law is design law with the lie of imposed law and thereby replaces worship of the Creator with worship of a creature.
- The Sabbath is central in the question of worship
    - The truth that is embodied in the Sabbath—which is the truth about God is central in the question of worship. The Sabbath is evidence, proof, revelation given to humanity as a sign, a flag, a beacon, a lighthouse in this dark sinful world built right into time itself and set apart by God when God RESTED, when God ceased using power, when God refused to inflict punishment upon Satan and his rebel angels, when God showed, proved, revealed that His laws are design laws of truth, love, and freedom. We have real freedom with God and God doesn't use external power to coerce or force.
- Satan hates the Sabbath—not simply because he hates Jesus, no he hates the Bible Sabbath because it is evidence that he lied, that God is the God of truth, love and freedom. The Sabbath wouldn't exist if Satan's version of things was true, thus he hates people recognizing the reality of the meaning of the Sabbath, why God gave it to us as a gift, in the same way President Nixon hated the Watergate tapes. Nixon didn't hate the Watergate tapes because he hated democrats, but because they exposed his wrongdoing. This is why Satan hates the Sabbath. But when we frame this as he hates the Sabbath because he hates Jesus, we miss the bigger truth and purpose of the Sabbath that it is proof of how God's government works, evidence that God does not run His universe on a made up system of rules to test us by.

- And this is where many Adventists are blind, Satan seeks to take the Bible Sabbath, the sign of our freedom with God, the evidence that God is love, and twist it to teach just the opposite, that God is not love, but a severe judge seeking to punish the disobedient. Satan does this by getting many people to teach the seventh-day Sabbath is a made up rule, that it is an arbitrary test of obedience—in other words they teach the right day of the week to be the Sabbath, but they teach it through the wrong law, the imposed Roman law and thus they promote the worship of a creature rather than the Creator. This is one of the lessons we have from the Jews in Christ's day. They had the right Bible Sabbath, but the wrong concept of God's law and thus they worshiped the wrong god on the right day of the week. Jesus Himself told them directly when they claimed to be worshiping the Creator that they were in fact worshiping Satan (John 8).

- The beast will use coercion, pressure, force
  - And this is the key, God never coerces consciences—for to do so would destroy individuality, it would actively obstruct and prevent what He wants, which is our love and friendship, our loyalty and trust. But imposed law always uses coercion and force and they call it justice.
- There will be a conflict over true and false worship—represented by the true and false day of worship
  - Yes, true worship is the worship of our Creator God of love whose laws are design laws and we worship Him in truth and give Him glory when we internalize into our hearts, minds, and characters His living law of truth, love, and freedom in how we govern ourselves and how we treat others. This is the New Covenant, having God's law written upon our hearts and minds. And we only experience this by returning to the truth about God, which means rejecting the imposed law lies—and the Sabbath is a sign that God is the one who makes us holy, through His methods of truth, love, and freedom that wins us to trust.
  - The two days, then, are symbolic of two types of law, Sabbath—Design Law; and Sunday—imposed or legislated law. So those who remember the Sabbath to keep it holy are those who have experienced heart renewal and have the living law of love written upon their hearts and their characters so they are like Jesus in character; they live the truth, they love and they leave others free. Whereas those who are beastly believe God's laws are rules that require enforcement, and those who believe this believe the only way to have a just society is to pass laws regarding worship and use the power of coercion to force people to comply—so that we all can return to a safe and healthy society, a better and more just world.

    Some believe this will only happen when Jesus comes with a rod of iron and He rules with external force as He has perfect knowledge and no one will every be falsely punished or punished more than they deserve. In other words, some believe the problem with human imposed law is that it is applied inconsistently by flawed humans who make mistakes, or intentionally manipulate the system, but when Jesus comes He will use this method of external infliction of punishment with perfect motives and perfect knowledge and then it will be right to do. These individuals fail to understand reality, how love functions, what happens to individuality when force is applied—and thus those who believe this will be ready to receive Satan when he impersonates Christ.

Sunday, because it became set apart for worship by human legislation and law enforcement is symbolic of this methodology—but let's be clear—going to church on Sunday does not give one the mark of the beast—it is using the methods of coercion upon others that gives one the mark of the beast. In other words, it is rejecting God's design laws of truth, love, and liberty and embracing and apply Satan's imposed laws into one's character in how one lives that corrupts the character and marks one as a follower of God's enemy. In lesson 9 of this quarter, on Friday's lesson, there was the following quote from the book The Great Controversy, please note this author describes exactly what I am saying:

- "Christians of past generations observed the Sunday, supposing that in so doing they were keeping the Bible Sabbath; and there are now true Christians in every church, not excepting the Roman Catholic communion, who honestly believe that Sunday is the Sabbath of divine appointment. God accepts their sincerity of purpose and their integrity before Him. [Why? Because man looks on the outward appearance but God looks on the heart. The legalists, those who accept the impose law lies look at behavior, but God looks at the motives of the heart, not the specific technical fulfillment of a rule.] But when Sunday observance shall be enforced by law, and the world shall be enlightened concerning the obligation of the true Sabbath, then whoever shall transgress the command of God, to obey a precept which has no higher authority than that of Rome, will thereby honor popery above God. [It isn't the specific day it is the enforcing of that day which brings the issue to a head, which causes the contrast between two systems, to methods, two types of laws, and true God and the imposter god. Those who are loyal to the true God will recognize that coercing consciences is beastly and they will side with those they see standing for truth, love, and liberty. And to transgress the commandment of God, to break the Sabbath is not a legal behavior, it is a choice of the heart and mind. It is choosing to value and apply the methods of God's enemy over the methods of God. Isaiah tells us that true Sabbath observance requires that we delight in it, not keep it as a rule. And delight cannot be forced, legislated, or commanded.

  When one understands these principles and chooses as just, as right, the methods of enforcement, of inflicted punishment upon others on matters of conscience—they are demonstrating themselves beastly regardless of what day they attend worship services. This was revealed for all with eyes to see during COVID when almost every person had to make a choice in what methods, what principles, what laws they would internalize into their own hearts and minds in how they treated others. Would they, if they believed in the jab or if they didn't believe in the jab, present the truth as they understood it, in love, with pleas for friends and family to choose what they were advocating, but then leave others free? Or would they believe it is right and good to force people, to put economic sanctions, travel restrictions, restrict worship, use law enforcement to pressure people to comply, to refuse to associate, to vilify, to accuse of evil intentions such as wanting to kill others? Sadly, we saw many people who call themselves Christian and who lead out in Christian organizations taking the position to use the beastly methods—why? Because they have accepted the lie that God's law functions like human law and they could not find in the Bible or their church documents any rule against experimental injections so they concluded this issue had nothing to do with worship, and so they used the power of their office and position to pressure people, employees, students, church members. Why? Because many are already worshiping the imposter dictator god whose laws are imposed rules and it is only just to use the power of the state to enforce rules upon people when those rules are the right rules.] He is paying homage to Rome and to the power which enforces the institution ordained by Rome. He is worshiping the beast and his image. [Not by innocently and honestly worshiping the God of love, truth, and freedom on Sunday—but by colluding with and practicing the methods of coercion in the enforcement of Sunday worship.] As men then reject the institution which God has declared to be the sign of His authority, [the sign of His authority—which is truth, love, and freedom, the design laws emanating from our Creator and which sustain all things] and honor in its stead that which Rome has chosen as the token of her supremacy, they will thereby accept the sign of allegiance to Rome—'the mark of the beast.' And it is not until the issue is thus plainly set before the people, and they are brought to choose between the commandments of God and the commandments of men, that those who continue in transgression will receive 'the mark of the beast.' " (The Great Controversy, p. 449, emphasis mine).

- A couple of other quotes from the same author that confirms my conclusions:
- All through the week we are to have the Sabbath in mind and be making preparation to keep it according to the commandment. We are not merely to observe the Sabbath as a legal matter. We are to understand its spiritual bearing upon all the transactions of life. All who regard the Sabbath as a sign between them and God, showing that He is the God who sanctifies them, will represent the principles of His government. They will bring into daily practice the laws of His kingdom. Daily it will be their prayer that the sanctification of the Sabbath may rest upon them. Every day they will have the companionship of Christ, and will exemplify the perfection of His character. Every day their light will shine forth to others in good works. (Testimonies to the Church vol. 6 p. 353, emphasis mine).
- The time has come for the true light to shine amid moral darkness. The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the word of God. (Review and Herald, July 13, 1897 par. 5, emphasis mine).
- And what decision is that? That God's law is imposed and justice is inflicting punishment for disobedience.

- We are called to stay faithful to Jesus

- We stay faithful by trusting Jesus with outcomes and refusing to join with forces that would coerce the consciences of others. We live the design laws methods of God!

See Unmasking the Beasts of Revelation 13 and 17 Magazine

Our view does not find the lesson has wrongly interpreted the various symbols of Revelation 13—but that it is incomplete in the interpretation. In other words, the lesson has left many elements uninterpreted and this creates conclusions that are only partially true and leaves people open to misunderstanding.

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 12
Earth's Closing Events

by Tim Jennings

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

A NEW CHILDREN's BOOK IS NOW AVAILABLE: Biblical Concepts Made Easy, by Stephanie Land. It is a fun book with puzzles that teaches children the truth about God, His design laws, and answers difficult questions regarding moral decision making and why suffering happens. These are available for you and your family and to share. We will ship them at no cost to any US Postal address. They will also be for sale on Amazon as an individual book and we will have them for sale at bulk discount pricing on our website for schools and church groups to purchase and give to their youth. Please get a copy and share with your youth pastor or leader and give them the contact information where they can order on our website.

Most of our class today is going to be via power point, continuing to unpack the beasts of Revelation 13 and 17 as these are topics that the lesson focuses upon for this week—Earth's Closing Events. However, before we do that there are a couple of points I want to highlight from the lesson.

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph,

- Throughout the ages, the great controversy has been a battle between truth and error. Satan is a liar and the father of lies (John 8:44). Jesus is the author of all truth. He declared, " 'I am the way, the truth, and the life' " (John 14:6). The truth that sets us free from Satan's deceptions is found in God's Word. The Bible unmasks Satan's strategy and reveals God's plans. Scripture is a lamp to our feet (Ps. 119:105). The psalmist declares, "The entrance of > Your words gives light; it gives understanding to the simple" (Ps. 119:130, NKJV). He then adds, "The entirety of Your word is truth" (Ps. 119:160, NKJV). (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 97, emphasis mine).

Thoughts? Everything said in this paragraph is true—and I agree with it—yet, it left the issue wide open for misuse, misdirection, misinterpretation, and deception—how? It did not identify the central issue in the war. Yes, it is a battle between truth and error—but over what? Yes, the truth does set us free—but what truth? Is it the truth about how to be baptized, or which day is the Sabbath, or the state of the dead, or any other of our doctrines? No, those are not the central truths in the war. The central truth that must be setting, the truth that unmasks Satan and reveals God's plan and then causes the Bible to be a lamp to enlighten us, is what?

Consider Jesus' words to see if the most important truth was left out of the paragraph:

- You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and these are they which testify of Me. But you are not willing to come to Me that you may have life. (John 5:39-40 NKJV).

- "Eternal life means knowing you, the only true God, and knowing Jesus Christ, whom you sent. I have shown your glory on earth; I have finished the work you gave me to do. Father! Give me glory in your presence now, the same glory I had with you before the world was made. I have made you known to those you gave me out of the world. (John 17:3-6 GNT).

- Anyone who has seen me has seen the Father. (John 14:9).

- You diligently study the Scriptures because you think that by them you possess eternal life. These are the Scriptures that testify about me, yet you refuse to come to me to have life. (John 5:39-40 NIV84).

Now consider the first paragraph again and ask, are all the ideas true, and yet still something is missing?

- Throughout the ages, the great controversy has been a battle between truth and error. Satan is a liar and the father of lies (John 8:44). Jesus is the author of all truth. He declared, " 'I am the way, the truth, and the life' " (John 14:6). The truth that sets us free from Satan's deceptions is found in God's Word. The Bible unmasks Satan's strategy and reveals God's plans. Scripture is a lamp to our feet (Ps. 119:105). The psalmist declares, "The entrance of Your words gives light; it gives understanding to the simple" (Ps. 119:130, NKJV). He then adds, "The entirety of Your word is truth" (Ps. 119:160, NKJV). (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 97, emphasis mine).

Can one use this paragraph to teach the truth about correct doctrines, the correct fundamental beliefs, the correct day of worship, the correct way to go through ceremonial baptism, searching Scripture for the truth on these things but cling to the lies about God because one holds the wrong law concept?

In other words, the lesson rightly tells us that the controversy is a battle between truth and error but LEAVES OUT the central issue over God's character, and our belief about that is determined by how we understand God's law functions! And this leaves room for people to believe they are pursuing the truth, that they are loyal to God and the Scripture while they are God's enemies, just like the Jews 2000 years ago.

TUESDAY

Read first paragraph,

- In the last days, the great controversy will be played out, in a dramatic way, over worship. Do we worship the Creator, or do we worship the beast and its image? There is no middle ground. The first angel of Revelation 14 urges men and women to " 'worship Him who made heaven and earth, the sea and springs of water' " (Rev. 14:7, NKJV). In further support of heaven's appeal, the third angel reveals the dire consequences of worshiping the beast: "The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation" (Rev. 14:10). By contrast, those who worship the Creator are described as keeping "the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus" (Rev. 14:12, NKJV). (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 99, emphasis mine).

What determines whether we are worshiping the Creator or a creature? The law one believes their God's government operates upon. What we believe about God's law determines what we believe about God.

Consider this dialogue between the church leaders and Jesus Christ—and remember these church leaders were the Adventists of their day. They were the ones with the Bible, Sabbath, health message, sanctuary message, believers in the one true Creator God and they specifically claim that they are worshiping the Creator God and notice what Jesus says in this interaction:

> "Abraham is our father," they answered.
> "If you were Abraham's children," said Jesus, "then you would do the things Abraham did. As it is, you are determined to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham did not do such things. You are doing the things your own father does." [They claim virtue by genetics, by biology, claiming promises God made to Abraham. But Jesus tells them that Abraham's true children are those who do what Abraham did, those who respond to the truth by placing their faith, their trust in Jesus, by having hearts that love truth and grow in the truth about God, His methods, practices, and principles. And Jesus goes further and tells them that God recognizes relationship based on the qualities of character one forms, based on the principles, the type of law one chooses to operate their lives upon. And these people have chosen not the God of truth, of love, of liberty, of design law. But they have chosen the god of lies, of fantasy, of selfishness, of imposed rules with coercive enforcement.]

> "We are not illegitimate children," they protested. "The only Father we have is God himself." [So the legalists up their claim—they claim to be Bible believing worshipers of the Creator God and they are seventh-day Sabbath keepers. Notice what Jesus says.]
> Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, you would love me, for I came from God and now am here. I have not come on my own; but he sent me… You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father's desire. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies. Yet because I tell the truth, you do not believe me! Can any of you prove me guilty of sin? If I am telling the truth, why don't you believe me? He who belongs to God hears what God says. The reason you do not hear is that you do not belong to God."
> The Jews answered him, "Aren't we right in saying that you are a Samaritan and demon-possessed?" (John 8:39-48 NIV84, emphasis mine). [When one rejects the truth, when one's heart prefers the lies, the lies about God's character, the lies about God's government, which are based in the lies about God's law—then when they hear the truth they not only reject it they claim those with the truth—Jesus Himself—is demon possessed.]

So, putting this together with our lesson's paragraph—what does it mean to worship the Creator? Is it enough to be a loyal observer of the seventh-day Sabbath? No! And this is where all but the very elect will be deceived. Those who observe the seventh-day Sabbath as an imposed edict from a god who makes up rules and who uses his power to inflict punishment for rule-breaking will find themselves in the same camp as those Jews Jesus was speaking to in John 8. They will claim they are children of the Creator, that they are worshiping the Creator God, but they will sadly discover that they are children of the devil.

Now we turn to completing our exploration about the beasts of Revelation 13 and 17, the seal of God, the mark of the beast and the final events on planet earth.

2024 2Q The Great Controversy Lesson 13
The Triumph of God's Love

SABBATH

What a great lesson title—The Triumph of God's Love.

Does love triumph in the end? Does love triumph in the end on its own? Is the only power of God that causes the triumph the power of love, or does the triumph in the end require another power of God to be combined with it?

God is love but God is also true. The Holy Spirit is called the Spirit of truth and love. It is these two powers together that actually win the day.

Love alone can be broken by lies—which happened in Eden. Lies believed break the circle of love and trust.

Truth without love can be used to harm not heal, can cause one to become arrogant and unkind.

The ultimate victory is God's love and truth advancing together to heal the mind and hearts of people.

The last paragraph from MONDAYs lesson is the following quote from the book The Great Controversy:

- "The cross of Christ will be the science and the song of the redeemed through all eternity. In Christ glorified they will behold Christ crucified. . . . That the Maker of all worlds, the Arbiter of all destinies, should lay aside His glory and humiliate Himself from love to man will ever excite the wonder and adoration of the universe."—Ellen G. White, The Great Controversy, p. 651.

Science corresponds to our thinking, comprehension, understanding—our thoughts, our minds—it is the internalization, acceptance, identification with and application of the truth. This corresponds to our left brain.

Song corresponds to our emotions, heart reaction, affections—our spirits, our feelings—it is the internalization, acceptance, identification with and application of God's love. This corresponds to our right brain. Thus, God wins by cleansing us from lies, fear, and selfishness.

Our thoughts and feelings, our minds and hearts, our souls and spirits combined make up our characters and our hearts and minds, our souls and spirits, our thoughts and feelings, will for all eternity rejoice in Christ and what He has done for us.

What is the method or mechanism for love's triumph?

- We love because God first loved us. (1 John 4:19 GNT).
- You will know the truth and the truth will set you free (John 8:32).
- God's kindness leads you toward repentance (Romans 2:4 NIV84).
- "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him. (John 3:16-17 NIV84).

It is through the revelation of truth and love that we are won back to truth and love!

Can love triumph through imposed law and law enforcement?
What happens to love if one uses the methods of enforcement?

God's kingdom is not like the kingdoms of this world. God's kingdom operates upon design laws and He wins by His divine and holy methods. Specifically love wins through the application of truth while leaving people free—the law of liberty—love only exists and grows in an atmosphere of freedom. Take away freedom and love is eliminated:

- We can program computers or robots to function with perfect obedience—but robots and computers cannot love.

- God could program people—He is God, infinite in power, but if He did that, we would be reduced to robots, to machines, and would no longer be beings who bear the image of God because God is love and we would no longer be able to love.
- If instead of programming like a computer, we instead control the environment, only giving food and water if people do what we want, do we get love?
- What if we give lists of rules and inflict punishments to enforce our rules, do we get love?

How does God triumph with love?

Consider these two historical quotes, and notice the application of the law of liberty in these quotes—why God has acted the way He has:

- Our first parents, though created innocent and holy, were not placed beyond the possibility of wrongdoing. . . . They were to enjoy communion with God and with holy angels; but before they could be rendered eternally secure, their loyalty must be tested. At the very beginning of man's existence a check was placed upon the desire for self-indulgence, the fatal passion that lay at the foundation of Satan's fall. The tree of knowledge, which stood near the tree of life in the midst of the garden, was to be a test of the obedience, faith, and love of our first parents. While permitted to eat freely of every other tree, they were forbidden to taste of this, on pain of death. They were also to be exposed to the temptations of Satan; but if they endured the trial, they would finally be placed beyond his power, to enjoy perpetual favor with God. . . . (Conflict and Courage13.2, emphasis mine) [I am pausing here before this author completes her explanation to inquire, How do you hear this? Do you hear this through the imposed law lens? God made a rule and if they disobeyed then He would be required by law to inflict punishment? Did He test them as a set up for them to fail? Do you see God testing them to find out what they would do, as if He didn't know the future? Or do you understand reality, God's design law methods of love and liberty? Do you realize this is the only way God can obtain what He wants—love, loyalty, friendship, trustworthiness, devotion—by presenting free intelligent beings an opportunity to think for themselves, consider issues for themselves, and to make a choice for themselves as to what they believe, what they prefer, what they will know in their own mind, heart, character, and experience. Will they choose to know truth, love, and loyalty, and exercise their freedom to trust God and know by experience, action, and choice what it means to be a trustworthy friend of God? Or will they choose to believe lies, and choose to know fear, distrust, selfishness, doubt, guilt, shame, sin, and evil? The only way they could know life, to know in function, in character love, is to choose truth and love. And God provided them this opportunity for them to experience and know for themselves God's love, truth, and friendship. Notice what the author of this paragraph says next as to what she meant by the words I just read for this is the next paragraph she wrote.]

  God might have created man without the power to transgress His law; He might have withheld the hand of Adam from touching the forbidden fruit; but in that case man would have been, not a free moral agent, but a mere automation. Without freedom of choice, his obedience would not have been voluntary, but forced. There could have been no development of > character. . . . It would have been unworthy of man as an intelligent being, and would have sustained Satan's charge of God's arbitrary rule. (Conflict and Courage 13.3, emphasis mine).

Do you see the law of liberty applied in the description of the purpose of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil? This test was not a legal test, it was design law reality being applied to free beings for them to test themselves and decide what kind of people they would become. Why? Because God can get love and loyalty only in an atmosphere of freedom!

Do you see how the traditional Christian teaching of God's law and God using His power to inflict punishment for sin destroys freedom and undermines love and actually obstructs God from achieving what He wants for and from us?

Here is the second quote, and we read this last week at the end of our presentation:

- "God could have destroyed Satan and his sympathizers as easily as one can cast a pebble to the earth; but He did not do this. Rebellion was not to be overcome by force. Compelling power is found only under Satan's government. The Lord's principles are not of this order. His authority rests upon goodness, mercy, and love; and the presentation of these principles is the means to be used. God's government is moral, and truth and love are to be the prevailing power." (The Desire of Ages 759, emphasis mine).

How can God win by love?

- Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit,' says the LORD Almighty. (Zechariah 4:6 NIV84).

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph,

- The close of human probation is followed by a time of trouble " 'such as never was since there was a nation, even to that time.' " Revelation 16 describes seven last plagues that will be poured out on the wicked world. But, as with the plagues that fell on Egypt, God's people will be shielded from them. Note the promise in Daniel: " 'And at that time your people shall be delivered, every one who is found written in the book' " (Dan. 12:1, NKJV). This must be referring to the "book of life" (see Phil. 4:3; Rev. 13:8; Rev. 20:12, 15; Rev. 22:19). If we have stayed faithful to Jesus, our names will not be blotted out of the book of life (Rev. 3:5). (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 105).

What closes human probation? Is it a time preset by God and when the clock runs down Jesus stands up from His intercessory role and says, "ready or not, time's up; here I come"?

Or does probation close when every human heart is settled either into loyalty to God or hardness against God so that no person will change their mind. For the righteous, no temptation, to trial, no tribulation will cause them to break trust with God—they are perfect like Job, perfect in their trust of God. And for the wicked they have destroyed the faculties that respond to truth and love and no further amount of truth and love will have any impact upon them.

This is what closes probation. It is a combination of events occurring in the world that bring people to this point—it is a combination of the gospel being presented in its true light in contrast to the methods of Satan being advanced globally, specifically the principles of truth, love, liberty of conscience resisting the rule of law being advanced by the earthly powers under the guise of saving lives and doing justice.

But, if we have a forensic, human law view, we may falsely think that the close of probation is when Jesus finishes reviewing all the records in heaven and all the heavenly judicial decisions have been completed, when Jesus finishes deciding what names of the righteous He keeps in the books and which ones He removes. Some believe that it is when that legal accounting work by God is complete that determines the close of probation—have you ever heard this?

It all goes back to how we understand God's law—this legalistic way of describing things is based upon believing God's law functions like human law and distorts things in ways that undermine trust in God and cause fear.

When we return to reality, to design law, we understand the records in heaven are merely the accurate description of what is the true condition of each heart and mind—like accurate medical records. Nothing in a medical record causes the patient to live or die, nothing in the heavenly record determines whether a person receives eternal life or eternal damnation.

For the patient, it is what is actually happening in their body that determines whether they live or die, and the medical records merely document that reality. So too for our eternal salvation, it is what is actually happening in our hearts and minds that determines our eternal destiny and the heavenly records merely document that reality.

The various false human-law legal views, such as penal substitution theology, create fantasies that cloud minds and prevent hearts from being healed as they teach people to seek legal adjustment in record books in heaven and the hiding of the truth from the Father by the blood of Jesus who declares us righteous while we remain unrighteous.

Questions?

The lesson makes a comparison between the plagues at the end and the plagues of Egypt—how are these plagues similar and how are they dissimilar?

They are similar in that they are plagues that are part of God's judgments against people for their hardness of heart and rebellion against Him, and the plagues are unpleasant and cause distress to those who experience them.

They are dissimilar in that the plagues of Egypt occurred when God judged it was time to use power to intervene with therapeutic actions to expose the gods of Egypt as false in order to win both Hebrews and Egyptians to faith in Him. God's actions in Exodus were not actions to punish sin, but were specifically designed to expose sin and falsehood by the revelation of truth in action and thereby win the people to trust in Him. Thus God's use of power in Egypt was saving, healing, and therapeutic, not punitive. As God said,

- "I did this so that you might know that I am the Lord your God." (Deuteronomy 29:6, NIV84).

The plagues at the end of time are called the wrath of God poured out without mixture. God's wrath is when God judges that no more use of power will save anyone else, all are sealed either into loyalty or rebellion and therefore God ceases to use power. And when God stops restraining or hold at bay the destruction that comes from sin and the chaos that results when His presence is removed, the forces of evil are unrestrained and more destruction happens. This is the punishment of sin—the punishment that sin itself causes and brings when God no longer protects us from it. Paul describes this in Romans 1:18-32 and we have read those verses many times.

Thus, the plagues at the end of time are the step-wise withdraw of God's presence and power from the earth and Satan gaining more control over both people and the elements to act—much like we see in the book of Job when God removed His restraining hand and Satan began to destroy.

EG White, one of the founders of the SDA church describes it this way, and I agree with her assessment, because this is describing how design law functions. Do you agree with these descriptions?

- "I was shown that the judgments of God would not come directly out from the Lord upon them, but in this way;

  "They place themselves beyond His protection. He warns, corrects, reproves, and points out the only path of safety; then if those who have been the objects of His special care will follow their own course, independent of the Spirit of God, after repeated warnings, if they choose their own way, then He does not commission His angels to prevent Satan's decided attacks upon them.

  "It is Satan's power that is at work at sea and on land, bringing calamity and distress, and sweeping off multitudes to make sure of his prey, and storm and tempest both by sea and land will be, for Satan has come down in great wrath. He is at work. He knows his time is short and, he is not restrained; we shall see more terrible manifestations of his great power than we have ever dreamed of." (Manuscript Release vol. 14, p. 3, emphasis mine).

- Satan has studied the secrets of nature, and he uses all his power to control the elements as far as God allows. It is God that shields His creatures from the destroyer. But the Christian world has shown contempt for His law, and the Lord will do what He declared that He would—remove His protecting care from those who rebel against His law and force others to do the same. Satan has control of all whom God does not especially guard. He will favor and prosper some, in order to further his own designs; and he will bring trouble upon others, and lead men to believe that it is God who is afflicting them. (From Here to Forever 360, emphasis mine)

  While appearing as a great physician who can heal all their maladies, Satan will bring disease and disaster until populous cities are reduced to ruin. In accidents by sea and land, in great conflagrations, in fierce tornadoes and hailstorms, in tempests, floods, cyclones, tidal waves, and earthquakes, in a thousand forms, Satan is exercising his power. He sweeps away the ripening harvest, and famine and distress follow. He imparts to the air a deadly taint, and thousands perish. (From Here to Forever 360, emphasis mine).

Sadly, those who hold to the imposed law view falsely teach that the two plagues are God using power to inflict punishment, that God is the source of pain, suffering, and death and conflate the two instances of plagues to misrepresent God rather than discerning the truth.

Read second paragraph,

- In the time of trouble, God's people have a personal relationship with Jesus so deep that nothing can change it. Their consummate desire is to please Him in all things so that, through the work of the Holy Spirit, they will be as pure as He is pure. There was nothing in Christ's heart that responded to Satan's deceptions. We can reflect this aspect of His character, as well. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 105).

There is no doubt that all the saved will have a personal relationship with Jesus that will not change. They will absolutely want to please Jesus, no question about it. And the saved will have nothing in their hearts that resonates with or prefers Satan, so true.

Then what conclusion do you draw from this paragraph—isn't it that salvation is achieved by forming a personal relationship with Jesus?

Is that the core of salvation—or is salvation something that we experience from and through our personal relationship with Jesus but if one has a personal relationship with Jesus and doesn't experience what salvation actually is they won't be saved.

I am asking, is it possible to have a personal relationship with Jesus and still not be saved because the core element that our personal relationship with Jesus is suppose to cause to happen in us didn't happen? In other words, can a person have a personal real, one-on-one, for themselves, relationship with Jesus and not be saved?

Consider Lucifer in heaven—did he have a real, individual, personal, for himself relationship with Jesus?

What about Judas on earth—did he have his own, individual, personal relationship with Jesus?

What did Lucifer and Judas not have despite their personal relationship with Jesus? –They didn't trust Him and didn't love Him more than themselves!

What is the core element that is the actual reality of what it means to be saved? It is what Jesus described to Nicodemus, it is being reborn, it is receiving through our relationship with Jesus a new heart and right spirit, it is dying to fear and selfishness and living to love and trust, it is being recreated in the inner man, it is recreation by the Holy Spirit that is achieved through our personal relationship with Jesus. For a personal relationship with Jesus to result in salvation it must cause our sinful distrusting heart to be changed to love and trust—in other words, we must come to actually trust Jesus and love Him and His methods, design law, and principles.

Lucifer broke trust and never restored it, and Judas never trusted Jesus, never died to self and was never reborn to love God and others through a genuine trust in Jesus.

Is there a danger in thinking salvation is in the relationship with Jesus, rather than being transformed by the work of the Holy Spirit through our relationship with Jesus?

What if someone prefers the false Christ, the imposter, the imposer of law and the inflictor of punishments and they believe he is god, that the enforce of law "Jesus" is the true Jesus, could they form a relationship with that Jesus, and could they in that relationship trust that Jesus to pay their legal penalty, erase their sin crimes from the records, and to one day punish all their enemies for their unrepentant sin crimes and then go out in the name of that god to do justice, to advance on others with law and punishment to put down rebellion and sin—just like Saul of Tarsus did before the Damascus road?

And what will Jesus say to such worshipers when they claim they were doing all of this in His name? He will tell them to go away He never knew them—they actually didn't have a trust relationship with Him, but preferred His enemy instead.

Yes—salvation is found in a personal relationship with Jesus—but salvation means healing, it means saving from sin, it means restoring God's law in us and cleansing our hearts, minds, and characters from fear, selfishness, and distrust and that requires we know God and Jesus Christ and die to self and actually come to trust Jesus and be reborn to love God and others more than self.

Read last paragraph,

- There are some who have misunderstood the concept of living through the time of trouble without a mediator. Jesus ceases His mediation in heaven's sanctuary when everyone has made their final decision for or against Him. But this does not mean we are alone during this time, > trusting our own strength. Jesus has assured us He will be with us always (Matt. 28:20). Faith trusts when it cannot see and believes even when the world around us is falling apart. During the time of trouble, our faith strengthens and our longing for eternity increases so that our one desire is to live forever with Jesus. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 105).

I like how the lesson says He finishes His mediation when everyone makes their decision for or against Him. But what has He been doing? What is His mediation?

If we have a forensic view, a human law view, then we often project in ideas about Jesus doing legal accounting, or arguing like a lawyer to His Father, or pleading His blood as a payment etc., all of which create fearful concepts of what happens if Jesus isn't there to intercede with the angry and wrathful Father? This is all a lie.

There is nothing wrong with the Father—there is something wrong with us and Jesus is the Father's agent to mediate the covenant of grace to humanity. First, by taking up humanity damaged by sin and purifying and perfecting it as our substitute, and second by applying His victory into the hearts and minds of every sinner who trusts Him to heal and transform!

He is the mediator of the new covenant, the covenant of love and trust and God has no deficiencies that need addressing, resolving, healing, correcting, removing, or cleansing. But we do, thus Jesus mediates God's plan to heal and restore us back into unity with Himself and the Father. And once He has done that, cleansed and sealed us into eternal loyalty and friendship such that nothing can shake us from it, His work as mediator is done and now He enters His final cleanup phase, reaping the harvest from the Earth, separating the wheat from the tares, the sheep from the goats, and bringing to final conclusion of the sin problem.

Read first paragraph,

- Jesus' words, " 'Let not your heart be troubled,' " are His reassurance that He will never leave us and is coming again to take us home. This world is not our home. A better day is coming. Once in every 25 verses, the New Testament speaks of the return of our Lord. When the days are dark and the oppressive enactments of a church-state power threaten our lives, the promise of Christ's coming fills our hearts with hope. This is the "blessed hope" that has inspired the faithful people of God in every generation. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 106).

What strategies does Satan use to destroy people's hope? The common root action needed to destroy hope is to get people to take their eyes off Jesus, in any way he can, by such things as:

- Focusing on personal problems, finances, health issues, family conflicts

- Focusing on other people's problems, dramas, issues
- Focusing on worldly threats, climate change, wars and rumors of wars
- Focusing on entertainments of any type
- Focusing on work—even work for the Lord to the point we take our eyes off Jesus
- Focusing on evil and what the evil are doing to the point we become discouraged and hopeless
- Focusing on ourselves—our sins, our responsibilities, our duties, our commandment keeping or lack thereof etc.
- Focusing on the extent of the sin and evil problem in the world, which is overwhelming to human abilities to address
- Others?

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses on the millennia—what happens during the Millenia?

The millennia is a future event described in the highly symbolic book of Revelation, which means it is open for a variety of divergent interpretations. And in fact, there are a variety of different teachings within Christianity on what happens during the millennia. We can go through the various texts and demonstrate why we think our view is the most reasonable view, but at the end of the day what is important is the following:

- Does our interpretation accurately represent or misrepresent God's character, methods, and principles?
- Does our interpretation make God out to be like Satan has alleged?
- Does our interpretation teach God functioning in a way that violates His own design law?
- Does are interpretation function to increase fear, shut down thinking, increase a servant rather than friend's relationship with God?

So let's examine one common view of the millennia and compare it with our view and inquire, which is most consistent with God as Jesus revealed, with our God who IS love, with God who is Creator and whose laws are design laws, and therefore which view functions to increase trust, decrease fear, and promote eternal security in which sin never arises again?

- Some Christians believe that there is a secret rapture coming in which the righteous dead and righteous living all disappear from the Earth and are taken to Jesus and for the next 7 years the wicked rule on the Earth and it is the time of tribulation when the plagues fall. At the end of those 7 years Jesus, the New Jerusalem, and the saints return to Earth and all the wicked are killed in a great physical battle with Jesus who leads His forces to victory. Then Jesus sets up a government on earth in which the Christians rule with Jesus for 1000 years. During that 1000 years new children are born to the saved and some of those children rebel and choose to sin but Jesus is now ruling with a rod of iron so there will be no trials, no investigation, no inquiry, only swift justice directly from king Jesus who punishes all the disobedient.

- What type of principles, law, methods, and government are described in this interpretation?
- Are the principles, methods, and law those of God's or Satan's?
- First, there is a secret rapture—who is the one in the controversy who operates in secret and who conducts their business in the open?
- Who is the one who operates in darkness and who is the light that lightens all men?
- Who is the one who has no truth and thus must depend on secrecy and no investigation or inquiry and who has all truth and asks us to come and see, come and reason?
- Who would like a place where the wicked rule unrestrained by God and what kind of place would that be—a place without any grace, goodness, kindness, love, truth, hope, a place of total depravity and sin? It would be a place of torture and torment—and what kind of a god would create a place of torment and torture?
- After the 1000 years, who would want a future in which sin continues to arise God or Satan?
- And what kind of law is being applied when Jesus is described as using power to inflict punishment upon sinners?
- This entire theology is deeply infected with Satan's view of God and God's law, and therefore must be rejected. Those who believe this are conditioning their minds to accept Satan when he comes impersonating Christ.

In our view there is a tribulation which precedes the second coming of Christ, which is brought about by the outworking of God's design laws and reality itself. God's end-time witnesses are first sealed (settled into the truth so that they will not be shaken out of their loyalty to God) and then the four winds begin to be loosed. As billions of people choose the lies, reject God, and harden their hearts against heaven the Holy Spirit is slowly withdrawn from the Earth and Satan and his demonic forces get more freedom to act. The contrast between the righteous—those who are kind, truthful, loyal, faithful, patient, meek, loving, forgiving, gentle, noble, trustworthy and Christlike, and those who are cruel, selfish, deceitful, faithless, impulsive, demanding, arrogant, unforgiving, belligerent, debased, perverse, untrustworthy and satanic becomes ever more stark.

These events are permitted to assist those who have not settled into one of the two camps to discern and choose—the events themselves place people into positions where they have to choose, in governance of themselves, what methods, what law, they are internalizing and practicing and thus every person will decided for or against Jesus by the methods and law they choose to apply to themselves in how they live and treat others. Remember Jesus said as we have done it unto the least of these we have done it unto Him.

Once every heart is settled either into loyalty or disloyalty, then Jesus stands up and the plagues begin to fall. And the plagues are not God using power to inflict harm, but they are the result of God giving people what they have freely chosen—a life without Him. So He sets the world and people free from His protective care in a step wise fashion. While the wicked are given what they have chosen, separation from God's presence and protection and thus suffer under the plagues, the righteous are also given what they have chosen, intimacy, unity, and oneness with God and His angels are sent to watch over them, protect, them and provide for them in this difficult time—like Elijah when the angels fed him.

This ends with the second coming of Christ at which time all the wicked who are still alive on Earth die the first death, the death the Bible describes as a sleep. All the wicked who are already in the grave stay in the grave. All the righteous who have died through history and have been asleep in death arise at the voice of Christ and the trumpet call of God and the righteous on the Earth are changed in the blink of an eye when this mortal puts on immortality. All the righteous through all history are gathered together to meet Jesus in the air as Paul describes in Thessalonians. And Jesus takes all the saints away from the Earth for 1000 years.

All the righteous are in heaven, all the wicked are asleep in death, and the planet is returned to its state before God created here, what is described in Genesis 1:1 a dark, deep abyss, where Satan is bound with his angels for 1000 years.

During the 1000 years the saints reign with Christ in heaven and this is a time for every person to learn, to grow, to understand, to ask questions, to complete their Christian education in the things of God. It is not a time to develop Christian character, that has already happened that is why they are in heaven. It is a time for the saved to settle in their minds the things they didn't understand, the things they were accepting on faith. It will be a time to clarify and clear up issues that left questions and uncertainties, about God, the origin of sin, why Jesus had to die, who is saved and why some people we thought should be there are not there and on and on. It is God opening Himself and all the records of all history up for examination and evaluation—because God is the God of truth and light and love and He wins us to eternal loyalty by the truth, not by operating in secret.

One example of the kinds of things that will happen for the righteous during the 1000 years will be those people who are saved but haven't yet heard about Jesus will learn about Jesus and all He did for us.

The Bible describes this group this way:

- What may be known about God is plain to them, because God has made it plain to them. For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse. (Romans 1:19-20 NIV84, emphasis mine)

- All who sin apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who sin under the law will be judged by the law. For it is not those who hear the law who are righteous in God's sight, but it is those who obey the law who will be declared righteous. (Indeed, when Gentiles, who do not have the law, do by nature things required by the law, they are a law for themselves, even though they do not have the law, since they show that the requirements of the law are written on their hearts, their consciences also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing, now even defending them.) (Romans 2:12-15 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time, declares the Lord. I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people. (Hebrews 8:10 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- If someone asks him, 'What are these wounds on your body?' he will answer, 'The wounds I was given at the house of my friends.' (Zechariah 13:6 NIV84).

When you get to heaven will you have a lot of questions? Will one of them be, "Jesus, where did you get those wounds on your body?" Or do you know the answer to that question already? So what does it imply that some will ask this question? That some will be there who have not yet heard the full story, yet they have responded to the truth about God that is revealed in creation, and received the indwelling Holy Spirit, who took the victory of Christ and applied it to their hearts so they were reborn with a new heart and cleansed mind. In other words, they were still saved by and through Jesus, but now need to learn the full story that no one had ever told them before.

Now, which of these versions of the millennium is most consistent with the God of love, truth, and freedom, in harmony with His design laws, and consistent with Jesus and what He revealed, and instills greater love and trust?

At the end of the day this is all future and I don't debate these details, my concern is do we present them in such a way that presents God in His true character of love, in harmony with His design law methods, that engenders trust or do we incite fear and distrust—this is the real concern. As long as we are engendering trust, and helping people grow in harmony with God's design law principles, then the specific details can be clarified during the 1000 years if we have some of them incorrect.

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph,

- During the millennium, the righteous will have an opportunity to observe firsthand God's justice and love in how He has dealt with the sin problem. Who doesn't have questions they would like to ask God about a lot of things? Now, during the millennium in heaven, the redeemed get to ask those questions. If a loved one or close friend is absent from heaven, the saved have the opportunity to understand God's decisions more fully. In a new way, more forcefully than ever before, the redeemed will grasp God's powerful attempts to save every person who has ever lived. They will realize anew that everyone who is lost has missed out on heaven because of their own personal rejection of Christ. Only then does God bring final judgment—the second death, which is eternal destruction—on the lost. (Adult SS Guide 2nd Q 2024, The Great Controversy p. 108).

What do you understand this to mean? What does it mean observe firsthand God's justice? If we are reviewing records is that firsthand observation or second hand observation? So what is firsthand observation? Will the wicked be resurrected one at a time and brought before a tribunal in heaven in which we hear God interrogate them and then we make a judgment about their case and decide how long they deserve to be punished before God kills them?

Some teach that we will be sitting on committees in heaven and making such determinations about all the wicked, deciding how much torture each person must receive before they are executed—is that what they mean or do they mean something else?

What does this sentence mean,

- "If a loved one or close friend is absent from heaven, the saved have the opportunity to understand God's decisions more fully"?

It seems like it doesn't fit with the following two sentences:

- "In a new way, more forcefully than ever before, the redeemed will grasp God's powerful attempts to save every person who has ever lived. They will realize anew that everyone who is lost has missed out on heaven because of their own personal rejection of Christ."

These seem to be contradictory—if every person is lost by their own personal rejection of Christ, then what is God's decision in the lost being lost?

Is there a suggestion that God as the sovereign has the final decision whether someone is saved or lost? What kind of law functions this way, where the judge determines guilt or innocence, the judge determines pardon or punishment? That is human law, this is a distortion if it means God's decisions are determinant in someone's salvation.

No, the only person who has determining power for someone's salvation is that person. God doesn't decide any person's eternal destiny, every person decides their own. God has provided the means and opportunity for all people to be saved and He wants all to come to salvation—so God's choices are the actions of mercy, grace, and love to provide us that choice. The reason anyone is lost is because they have spurned every opportunity, all truth has been rejected, every mercy despised, every entreaty spurned—until the individual has hardened their heart and mind beyond healing. God's judgment doesn't determine this outcome, God's judgment is diagnostic and simply identifies what is.

So, what are we doing during the 1000 years? We are personally examining any and all evidence that we need to examine to confirm for ourselves that this is in fact true. That every single action of God was therapeutic, loving, merciful, redemptive, and created opportunities for salvation and that no person is lost because of an act of God or a neglect of God.

What is the final judgment?

There are four judgments in Scripture;

The First Judgment
The first is our judgment of God—which Adam and Eve had to make in Eden, and which every person in history has been called to make since. Is God like Yahweh then worship Him, but if like Baal, worship him.

The Second Judgment
We talked about some time ago and are God's therapeutic judgments throughout history. His diagnosis of the problem and His judgment of what is the best intervention or treatment for the problem. This would include the investigative judgment in which Jesus determines what is necessary to cleanse and heal all who have trusted Him throughout history , and simultaneously the living are judging the evidence of who God is and choosing to trust God.

The Third Judgment
The third judgment is the judgment that the righteous render during the thousand years after they are taken to heaven and all the evidence of history is before them.

- I saw thrones on which were seated those who had been given authority to judge. And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of their testimony for Jesus and because of the word of God. They had not worshiped the beast or his image and had not received his mark on their foreheads or their hands. They came to life and reigned with Christ a thousand years (Revelation 20:4–6 NIV84).

This is also not a judicial process; it is an answering of all the questions people have about the great controversy. It is the assessment, discerning, and settling of minds regarding how God's laws govern all reality. It is the confirmation of what sin does and how salvation occurs—and why some are saved and others are not when God loves all equally, wants all to be saved, and is all powerful.

This judgment by the saints includes more than judging why some of our friends and loved ones are not in heaven; it also includes judging what the angels did and how they possibly could have rebelled:

- "Do you not know that we will judge angels?" (1 Corinthians 6:3 NIV84).

In the future, during the Millennium, the saints will review the history of what transpired on earth and the lives of the lost, humans and angels alike, and they will judge that there was nothing more that God could have done. God's design laws and government will stand vindicated, and God will not be falsely blamed for any soul not being in heaven. Without this judgment, doubt about God's goodness would remain in the hearts and minds of those, who like the thief on the cross, were saved near the end of their lives and didn't have time to work through all their doubts and misunderstandings. This is the judgment in which the saved exercise their God-given ability to think, reason, discern and settle all their questions so that sin will never arise again.

The third judgment is not a judicial process but a review of reality, of actual history, of applying our understanding of the design laws of God and making the judgment that all who are lost are lost because that is what they prefer and that there was nothing more God could have done for them.

The Fourth Judgment
The fourth and final judgment is the judgment that occurs at the end of the thousand years. It is often called the Great White Throne Judgment.

- I saw a great white throne and him who was seated on it. … And I saw the dead, great and small, standing before the throne, and books were opened. Another book was opened, which is the book of life. The dead were judged according to what they had done as recorded in the books (Revelation 20:11, 12 NIV84).

Surely this judgment must be judicial … right? No, it isn't.

What is recorded in the books of life? The names of people (Philippians 4:3, Revelation 3:5, 13:8, 17:8, 20:15, 21:27). But in Scripture, names are symbolic of one's character. So, what is recorded is our actual characters, which we have developed through our judgment of God—our judgment to trust Him, to open our hearts to Him, to embrace His design laws and methods of truth, love, and liberty or not. Our judgments of God result in whether we open the heart and are reborn—or harden our hearts in selfishness. Our characters develop along whichever line our judgment decides about God, whether we trust Him and His methods or reject them. Thus, we are judged, diagnosed, based on what is the actual condition of our character.

Here's another way to say it: The books record the accurate picture of who we are in heart—they are like medical records. The records don't determine the condition; they merely record the condition.

This is exactly what Jesus taught when He said:

- Make a tree good and its fruit will be good, or make a tree bad and its fruit will be bad, for a tree is recognized by its fruit. You brood of vipers, how can you who are evil say anything good? For out of the overflow of the heart the mouth speaks. The good man brings good things out of the good stored up in him, and the evil man brings evil things out of the evil stored up in him. But I tell you that men will have to give account on the day of judgment for every careless word they have spoken. For by your words you will be acquitted, and by your words you will be condemned (Matthew 12:33–37 NIV84).

What is being described? Character—the actual condition of each heart, a diagnosis of what the reality actually is. God is the God of reality, the builder of all Creation. His laws are the protocols upon which life operates. There has never been a heavenly judicial law court like humans make; the idea that God is an arbitrary judge who is the source of inflicted punishment for sin is a lie from Satan.

The fourth and final judgment is not judicial; it is the final confirmation of the accurate diagnosis of each heart and mind:

- He who is unjust, let him be unjust still; he who is filthy, let him be filthy still; he who is righteous, let him be righteous still; he who is holy, let him be holy still (Revelation 22:11 NKJV).

THURSDAY

The final end at the end of the 1000 years,

Consider this commentary, part of it is quoted in the lesson, I am giving a little more from the book The Great Controversy:

- At last the order to advance is given, and the countless host moves on—an army such as was never summoned by earthly conquerors, such as the combined forces of all ages since war began on earth could never equal. Satan, the mightiest of warriors, leads the van, and his angels unite their forces for this final struggle. Kings and warriors are in his train, and the multitudes follow in vast companies, each under its appointed leader. With military precision the serried ranks advance over the earth's broken and uneven surface to the City of God. By command of Jesus, the gates of the New Jerusalem are closed, and the armies of Satan surround the city and make ready for the onset. (The Great Controversy 664).

- Now Christ again appears to the view of His enemies. Far above the city, upon a foundation of burnished gold, is a throne, high and lifted up. Upon this throne sits the Son of God, and around Him are the subjects of His kingdom. The power and majesty of Christ no language can describe, no pen portray. The glory of the Eternal Father is enshrouding His Son. The brightness of His presence fills the City of God, and flows out beyond the gates, flooding the whole earth with its radiance. (The Great Controversy 665).

- As soon as the books of record are opened, and the eye of Jesus looks upon the wicked, they are conscious of every sin which they have ever committed. They see just where their feet diverged from the path of purity and holiness, just how far pride and rebellion have carried them in the violation of the law of God. The seductive temptations which they encouraged by indulgence in sin, the blessings perverted, the messengers of God despised, the warnings rejected, the waves of mercy beaten back by the stubborn, unrepentant heart—all appear as if written in letters of fire. (The Great Controversy 666).

- The whole wicked world stand arraigned at the bar of God on the charge of high treason against the government of heaven. They have none to plead their cause; they are without excuse; and the sentence of eternal death is pronounced against them. (The Great Controversy 668)

- Satan sees that his voluntary rebellion has unfitted him for heaven. He has trained his powers to war against God; the purity, peace, and harmony of heaven would be to him supreme torture. His accusations against the mercy and justice of God are now silenced. The reproach which he has endeavored to cast upon Jehovah rests wholly upon himself. And now Satan bows down and confesses the justice of his sentence. (The Great Controversy 670).

- Every question of truth and error in the long-standing controversy has now been made plain. The results of rebellion, the fruits of setting aside the divine statutes, have been laid open to the view of all created intelligences. The working out of Satan's rule in contrast with the government of God has been presented to the whole universe. Satan's own works have condemned him. God's wisdom, His justice, and His goodness stand fully vindicated. It is seen that all His dealings in the great controversy have been conducted with respect to the eternal good of His people and the good of all the worlds that He has created... The history of sin will stand to all eternity as a witness that with the existence of God's law is bound up the happiness of all the beings He has created. With all the facts of the great controversy in view, the whole universe, both loyal and rebellious, with one accord declare: “Just and true are Thy ways, Thou King of saints.” (The Great Controversy 670).

Then the cleansing fires of truth and love burn free and lies and selfishness are burned up, those with the greatest resistance and longest record fight the truth and love the longest and so all do not surrender to the flames of truth and love at the same time. Satan resists the longest, but eventually, he too surrenders and gives up on life not wanting to live in the unveiled presence of God with the full weight of his own evil bearing down on his own mind and heart. And then the fires of combustion break forth and the elements melt in the heat and the God recreates the Earth anew the home of the righteous.

The Beginning of the Gospel

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

Introduction

The introduction starts with describing how in Mark the demon possessed people recognized Jesus as the Messiah, the Son of the Most High God, and how Jesus commanded them to keep silent. Then the lesson says the following in the second paragraph:

- But Jesus rather consistently commands that they keep this information quiet. Why this command for secrecy? Bible students for centuries have mulled over this question. It even has a name in scholarship—the Messianic Secret. Why would a Gospel want us to keep quiet about who Jesus is? (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 2).

Did you notice what the lesson did—innocently to be sure, but did it nonetheless? The lesson introduced an interpretation, most likely accepted from Christian tradition, that Jesus commands secrecy. Is this true or false? Did Jesus command secrecy or did He command that the demons be silent?

Are those ideas, Jesus commanding demons to be silent and Jesus commanding secrecy the same?

Is God the one who operates in secrecy or is the devil the one who operates in secrecy? Does God want things to remain hidden or bring things out in the open? Is God the source of darkness or light that exposes the darkness?

Who is the source of all truth and who has no truth on his side? Who then requires secrecy and who wants the full light of truth to shine forth?

Is commanding the demon-possessed in His day to keep quiet the same as commanding you and I in our day to keep quiet? Or, in fact, are we commanded to share the gospel with the world?

Read the third paragraph:

- What will become clear in this journey through the Gospel of Mark is that not only is there secrecy in this book—there also is amazing revelation. It can rightly be called the revelation/secrecy motif, and it runs through the Gospel of Mark. Although, at the end of the book, all the secrecy is surprisingly replaced with a powerful revelation of Jesus. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 2).

So glad the lesson here acknowledges Jesus is revealing truth—yet continues to suggest this idea that secrecy may be coming from Jesus, the idea that there a motif being used of mixing secrecy with revelation.

Who is the one who wants to mix the true and the false?

- In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was with God in the beginning. Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made. In him was life, and that life was the light of men. The light shines in the darkness, but the darkness has not understood it. (John 1:1-5 NIV84, emphasis mine)

- This is the message we have heard from him and declare to you: God is light; in him there is no darkness at all. (1 John 1:5 NIV84).

In reality, there is the battle between good and evil, light and darkness, truth and lies, reality and fantasy, life and death. There is revelation and there is obstructing of revelation, there is secrecy.

The question is do we find such mixture of these elements in God's character, God's kingdom, God's methods, and God's law? Or do we find this mixture today because this world is the battleground between good and evil, between light and dark, between truth and lies?

So, is Jesus commanding secrecy? No, He is commanding that the enemies be silent so that people will not look to them for light and truth. He is here from heaven as the light; He is here to dispel the darkness; He is here as a revealer of the secrets; to expose the liar and He does this by His methods which are evidence revealed in action and deeds achieved, by teaching and instruction through the lessons of life, how reality works. The demons work through claims, proclamations, through authority of position, through intimidation, through suspending thinking.

Jesus tells them to keep silent not because He wants secrecy, but because He wants the truth to be seen unmixed with error, without confusion, without the testimony of His enemies. He doesn't want their endorsement because their spoken truth on who He is will lead some to listen to what else the demons have to say and thus the demons introduce falsehood—a mix of revelation and secrecy, light and darkness—the domain of demons, which sadly seems to be being applied to Jesus by the lesson, which is not unexpected whenever people have rejected God's design law and operate upon imposed law. The Jews in Christ day, with correct doctrines, the correct Bible, the correct rituals, the correct Sabbath, did this all the time. They mixed the true doctrines with the wrong law and the wrong character and methods of God which mislead.

And is this question leading us to truth or does the question mislead?

- "Why would a Gospel want us to keep quiet about who Jesus is?"

Doesn't this imply the Gospel wants us to keep quiet about Jesus?

Does Jesus want us to keep quiet about Him or does Jesus want us to tell everyone the truth about Him?

I don't think the lesson authors are intentionally trying to mislead, not at all. I think they intend, with the purest motives, to help us understand—but people cannot explain what they themselves do not know. So, even with good intentions if one only knows the false system of imposed rules then that is what one teaches.

We are in a war between the source of all truth and the father of lies, and the father of lies constantly tries to imbed falsehood in with the truth—this is his most destructive form of deception. Lies mixed with truth do much more harm than complete falsehoods alone, for the truth becomes the element that allows people to accept the lie and the lie corrupts the heart and mind undermining trust in God and inciting more fear while people believe they are advancing the truth. And the central issues are the beliefs we hold about God—2 Cor 10:3-5.

Read the sixth paragraph:

- The second half of Mark, from Mark 8:31 to the end of the book, answers the question, Where is Jesus going? The answer is shocking. He is going to the cross, the most ignominious and shameful manner of death in the Roman world. And it is such an unexpected destination for the Messiah, who His followers think will defeat Rome and establish Israel as a powerful nation. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 3, emphasis mine).

Why did His followers think this?

- What about Genesis 3:15, the seed of the woman will be bruised?
- What were all the lesson taught by the sacrifices and sanctuary?
- What about Isaac being saved by a substitutionary sacrifice?
- What about Isaiah 53 which describes our suffering and dying Savior?

Didn't the Bible teach them that the Savior was coming to suffer, be rejected, and die as a means of dealing with the sin problem?

Why didn't they understand this? Why did they think He was coming to defeat Rome and establish and earthly kingdom?

Because they read the Bible through the imposed law lens. They thought legally. They thought justice is achieved by law and law enforcement, and they were looking for a Messiah to come and enforce his way through might and power, to punish and destroy their enemies.

What about the Christian world today? What is almost the entire Christian world teaching about the kingdom that Jesus is coming to set up? Isn't it that He is coming with might and power to inflict just punishment upon His enemies and establish a kingdom that He rules with a rod of iron?

And this is why so many Christians will accept Satan's impersonation of Christ, because they believe the methods and principles of Satan are God's.

SABBATH

Interesting title—The Beginning of the Gospel—I think the title means the book of Mark which is one of the four books we call the four Gospels, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. And thus the title means, we are going to explore the beginning of the book of Mark, not the origins of the good news.

But the title lends itself to ask that other question—when did the gospel begin—the gospel that Jesus said we are to take to the world—the eternal gospel? Does that gospel have a beginning?

How would you define that gospel—what is it?

Revelation says it is an eternal gospel—good news that is eternal good news, good news in eternity past as well as throughout all eternity future.

What is that good news? The truth about God, that God is not the kind of being that Satan has alleged, and God's character, laws, methods are not those of a creature, but of the Creator God of love—truth, love, liberty.

Does this good news about God have a beginning? No—because God doesn't have a beginning—that is why the good news is eternal because God is eternal and the good news is the good news about God which destroys the lies and wins us to trust and in trust we die to fear, sin, selfishness and are reborn with a new heart and mind, we receive the life of Jesus and become new beings united with God in love and trust.

Read the memory verse:

- Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came to Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel." (Mark 1:14-15 NKJV).

What does this mean? The kingdom of God is at hand, what kingdom?

Jesus said that His kingdom is not of this world—was He correct, or did He make an error in that statement, an oversight?

Wasn't Israel still on the Earth, even though under Roman occupation, didn't they still have a king, and wasn't the Sanhedrin still functioning? Didn't they have a temple, and weren't they still following the blueprint given to Moses?

Yet, Jesus said His kingdom is NOT of this world. He didn't say, "My kingdom is not of this world, except for Israel, that is my kingdom."

The nation state of Israel was never His kingdom—they were His chosen people to fulfill a mission (which they barely did, but they did)—but their national sovereignty, imposed laws, judicial system despite being set up by the directions given by God through Moses does not represent the kingdom of God—Jesus rejected that system as His kingdom.

In fact, all the kingdoms of this world are Satan's, and he offered them to Jesus.

Why was Israel not God's kingdom of earth?

Because it operated upon imposed laws with imposed punishments and not upon design law. It used the power over others method of coercion, it did not rule in the hearts of people, but over their behaviors. Then why did God Israel the various laws if His kingdom doesn't function in this way?

The answer is simple and straightforward: The rules given to Israel were for the setting up of a civil government in a sinful world to bring order and stability to a rebellious, unrighteous, self-centered, and sinful people who did not have hearts reborn to love God and others, people who had not experienced the new covenant of having design law written upon their hearts, a people who functioned upon the same me-first, fear-based, survival-of-the-fittest principles as the godless world around them, people who were just freed from being slaves of pagans.

This was to allow for the gospel, the good news about God to be carried forward so His true kingdom of love, the new covenant where He writes His law on our hearts and minds, could be established.

The imposed rules were not intended to represent how God's government works; rather, they were intended to establish societal order among this sinful people to protect them from decaying into infighting, political intrigue, and tribal wars, which was already starting to occur with Korah and his rebellion, so that they could accomplish the mission for which they were called—to be the human avenue through whom the promised Messiah of Genesis 3:15 would come and to preserve the inspired writings.

In Romans 13 the apostle Paul describes how God uses human imposed law via civil governments to provide order in a sinful world but contrasts it with the law of love—God's design to love our neighbors which must be written upon the heart. And to help people realize the need to have the law of love written upon their hearts God added laws, both ceremonial and the Ten Commandments (Galatians 3).

Jesus said

- And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come. (Matthew 24:14 NIV84).

The Jews were looking for a kingdom of this world. Jesus said when the good news of His kingdom of truth, love, and liberty goes to the world then the end will come. But sadly Christianity accepted Rome's idea of law and have taken another gospel to the world, the gospel of a kingdom of law, of rule, of imperialism, of external judgment and inflicted punishment—a false gospel and God is waiting for people to return to worship Him as Creator and take the good news of His kingdom of love to the world, which requires we reject imposed law and return to understanding all of God's laws are design laws.

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on the author of the book of Mark, who was John Mark. The SDA Bible Commentary has the following:

- The unanimous and consistent testimony of Christian tradition points to John Mark as the author of the Gospel that bears his name. The name Mark is from the Latin Marcus, and is the surname of the writer (Acts 12:12, 25). His first name was John (see ch. 13:5, 13). His mother's name was Mary (ch. 12:12). He was a cousin of Barnabas (Col. 4:10), who at one time had been a resident of the island of Cyprus (Acts 4:36). Mark's home in Jerusalem seems to have been the house in which was the "upper room" (see on Matt. 26:18), where, for a time at least, some of the apostles lived after the resurrection and the ascension (John 20:19; Acts 1:13), and where members of the early church in Jerusalem assembled (Acts 12:12). It was John Mark who accompanied Paul and Barnabas on the first part of their first missionary journey (ch. 13:5, 13). On a later journey, Mark accompanied Barnabas to the island of Cyprus (ch. 15:36–39). Later he seems to have worked under the direction of Peter and Paul (1 Peter 5:13; Col. 4:10 2 Tim. 4:11). The fact that the Gospel carries the name of so inconspicuous a man as Mark is indirect evidence of its genuineness and of his authorship. Had the book been a forgery, the name of a more well-known person who had been associated personally with Jesus, such as the apostle Peter, would no doubt have been attached to it. There is no valid reason to doubt either the authenticity of the book or that Mark was its author. Papias, bishop of the city of Hierapolis, about 10 mi. (16 km.) from Collossae and Laodicea in Asia Minor, is the first known writer who speaks of Mark as the author of this Gospel. (Nichol, F. D., ed. (1980). The Seventh-day Adventist Bible Commentary (Vol. 5, pp. 561–563). Review and Herald Publishing Association.)

The lesson focuses on the struggles of John Mark, how he started out on a missionary journey with Paul, but then quit and went back to Jerusalem, and later wanted to rejoin Paul, but Paul wouldn't have him back on his team, so Barnabas took him, and then later he went with Peter.

The lesson quotes EGW, and we will read a little farther than their quoted portion from the commentary Acts of the Apostles:

- Mark, overwhelmed with fear and discouragement, wavered for a time in his purpose to give himself wholeheartedly to the Lord's work. Unused to hardships, he was disheartened by the perils and privations of the way. He had labored with success under favorable circumstances; but now, amidst the opposition and perils that so often beset the pioneer worker, he failed to endure hardness as a good soldier of the cross. He had yet to learn to face danger and persecution and adversity with a brave heart. As the apostles advanced, and still greater difficulties were apprehended, Mark was intimidated and, losing all courage, refused to go farther and returned to Jerusalem. (Acts of the Apostles 169.3)

  This desertion caused Paul to judge Mark unfavorably, and even severely, for a time. Barnabas, on the other hand, was inclined to excuse him because of his inexperience. He felt anxious that Mark should not abandon the ministry, for he saw in him qualifications that would fit him to be a useful worker for Christ. In after years his solicitude in Mark's behalf was richly rewarded, for the young man gave himself unreservedly to the Lord and to the work of proclaiming the gospel message in difficult fields. Under the blessing of God, and the wise training of Barnabas, he developed into a valuable worker. (Acts of the Apostles 170.1)

  Paul was afterward reconciled to Mark and received him as a fellow laborer. He also recommended him to the Colossians as one who was a fellow worker "unto the kingdom of God," and "a comfort unto me." Colossians 4:11. Again, not long before his own death, he spoke of Mark as "profitable" to him "for the ministry." 2 Timothy 4:11. (Acts of the Apostles 170.2)

I believe this is a reasonable and accurate historical account of the events recorded in Scripture. And these events in Scripture are recorded for our benefit. What are the lessons we can derive from the account of Mark becoming discouraged, leaving his initial commitments, Paul losing confidence in him and refusing to work with him, Mark being mentored by Barnabas and Peter and recovering himself and Paul regaining confidence in him?

What was revealed by Mark's initial withdrawal from service? What was the likely cause? Was it evil in Mark—was it that he wanted to pursue a worldly course with his life? Had he rejected Jesus? Did he choose a new god? Or did he get overwhelmed with various feelings and was unprepared for the investment of time and energy, didn't have the emotional mental stamina, and wasn't prepared for the rigors of the struggle. This would be immaturity, or lack of preparation.

Did that mean he was now cast off by Jesus, that he had lost his salvation, that he had forever forfeited his usefulness for God and God's cause? Obviously not, but could the devil tempt a person in such a situation to think this? And if a person believes this lie then what happens? The problem is not the initial disengagement, but the lies that get in the head and prevent one from growing, maturing, and returning to Jesus.

And might the devil bring to mind a Bible text to discourage and undermine a person's faith?

- Jesus replied, "No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for service in the kingdom of God." (Luke 9:62 NIV84).

Does this text mean that John Mark was unfit for Jesus' service because he started and then turned back? Again, obviously not as John Mark was very useful to God's cause, then what does this text mean?

Consider,

- "Man looks at the outward appearance, but the LORD looks at the heart." (1 Samuel 16:7 NIV84).

Man looks at the behavior—someone started in service, but pulled back—then man judges that person to be unfit.

God looks at the heart—the motive, someone starts in service but is only unfit if their heart was not right. In other words, they started the service because they thought they could make a name for themselves and then turned back because they never really embraced the truth and principles of God, they didn't get the accolades they sought for themselves, they didn't get the position, recognition, or validation they wanted, so they left the cause. This is different than the person whose heart does love God and seeks to honor Him, but who hasn't yet developed the experience, stamina, energy, or perspective, and it is in this very hardship of the experience of giving up a particular mission that they learn about themselves, go to Jesus to overcome what they had not previously seen in themselves that interfered with their initial attempt, and they go out again better equipped having struggled through their first failed attempt.

The one Jesus spoke about is one who leaves Jesus completely and is no longer interested in kingdom of God or the true gospel. Mark represents those whose hearts never left Jesus, but they may have left a particular endeavor but still want to work for Jesus in another endeavor.

So, I rendered it in the Remedy this way:

- Jesus said, "No one who puts their hand to sowing seeds of truth — yet has their heart longing for the world — is capable of sharing the Remedy from the kingdom of God." (Luke 9:62 REM).

So, back to John Mark, what other lessons do we learn from his life experiences?

What was likely a key factor in enabling Mark to overcome his immaturity? The events that followed his leaving Paul. His conscience convicted him; Paul lost confidence in him, which would have likely been upsetting to him; Barnabas and Peter almost certainly counseled him. He was sure to have spent time in prayer and reflection on what transpired, and as evidenced by his later actions, he experienced a maturing of character and became reliable and trustworthy.

Can you think of other Bible examples of this process?

- All of the disciples except Judas—look at their journey with Jesus, how at the beginning they were vying for who would be first, and at the end, right before the crucifixion, they were still vying for who would be first and were unprepared for the crucifixion. Were discouraged, Thomas about to give up his faith. The disciples on the road to Emmaus, doubting and about to give in. Yet, they were all searching, looking, and willing to reexamine themselves and the evidences and they grew and matured.
- Peter of course, his denial of Jesus, and that experience did not put the pathology of fear and selfishness into Peter's heart, it revealed it, exposed it to Peter and all of us in such a way that Peter really couldn't deny to himself any longer that despite three years with Jesus he had not yet been fully converted. This is why Jesus said to him, prior to those events, when you are converted feed my sheep. And that event, caused Peter to go out, weep bitterly, wrestle with himself in union with God, and the working of the Holy Spirit to overcome the fear and selfishness and experience a new heart. And after that, Peter was a changed man—did that mean Peter was mistake free, error free? No, his heart was right, but his understanding and judgments were not flawless and thus he made a mistake with the Judaizers requiring Paul to correct him publicly—but that was not done out of fear and selfishness, it was done out of a desire to reach the Jews and not offend, yet is was an error and introduced wrong concepts that would have been destructive. And because his heart was renewed, rather than pridefully objecting and claiming his Apostleship as his authority to advance his own judgments, he accepted the correction.
- David after the Bathsheba/Uriah incident—did that incident place the infection of fear and selfishness in David's heart, or was that incident the graphic and undeniable exposure of the fear and selfishness still operating in David's heart? And what happened to David afterward? He wrote Psalm 51, experienced full and complete repentance, rebirth, recreation of a new heart and right spirit and then became a man after God's own heart.
- Moses after he murdered the overseer.

The evidence of Scripture is clear—we are all born infected with sin, fear and selfishness, and God is working through Christ to heal us, to give us a new heart and right spirit of love and trust. As we are won to trust in Jesus we enter into a conflict with our old motives, methods, beliefs, attitudes and while we may have the good intention to honor God, we still may be immature, still have old biases, prejudices, beliefs, attitudes, or simply not developed the maturity to handle certain responsibilities and we try before we are ready and fall short. It is then the devil will step in and try and discourage us and it is then we must remember these stories, the evidences God has given us, the reality of what is transpiring, the truth of who God is and go to Jesus, fall down before Him, wrestle against the lies, fear, selfishness and old habits in union with Jesus and this is how we advance, how we overcome, how we mature.

Was Paul wrong for refusing to work with John Mark again? No, he judged that John Mark wasn't ready at that time for the rigors of what Paul was going to face. And that feedback to Mark required him to do some introspection and evaluate if there was some truth to Paul's concern.

Does that mean John Mark should be rejected by the church and not allowed to serve in any capacity? No, and we are all blessed because of the fact Paul didn't take him again but others did.

What does this mean for us in our personal discourses and relationships within the church? Not every person who is a true follower of Jesus is well suited to fill every position in which they might volunteer or be drafted, and once in that position, they might become overwhelmed, discouraged, and give up that mission—but that doesn't mean they are a backslider, or a rejector of Jesus—it might only mean they were not well suited for that role.

TUESDAY

The lesson asks us to read Mark 1:1-8, let's read it from the Remedy:

- The Remedy originated with Jesus Christ, God's Son. God's spokesman Isaiah wrote: "I will send my herald before you, who will prepare the people for your arrival. A voice calling in a dark and desolate land: 'Prepare your minds, untwist your hearts, and make ready for the Lord to come with his healing Remedy.'"

  And so John arrived, immersing people in a desolate region, and preaching, "Immerse your minds into truth and love and turn away from lies and selfishness so that your sinful hearts can be healed. "From all over Judea and Jerusalem huge crowds of people flocked to John, and confessing their sinfulness, they were immersed by him in water in the Jordan River. John was dressed in a camel hair cloak, tied with a leather belt and he ate locust and honey found in the wild. He proclaimed, "The One coming after me is so awesome, I am not even worthy to tie his shoes. I only immerse you in water, but he will immerse your minds and characters with the Holy Spirit." (Mark 1:1-8 REM).

Do you like this version, or do you prefer other more traditional versions that say things like, "preaching a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins" Mark 1:4 NIV84)?

What would you say was the purpose of John's preaching? What was it to achieve? Was John preaching about legal adjustments or what John preaching about actual changing of hearts and minds?

And while John was a real historical person, who really preached a message for the people of that day as recorded in Scripture—he also is the fulfillment of a prophecy, someone that prophecy predicted would return—who?

- "See, I will send you the prophet Elijah before that great and dreadful day of the LORD comes." (Malachi 4:5 NIV84).

- As John's disciples were leaving, Jesus began to speak to the crowd about John: "What did you go out into the desert to see? A reed swayed by the wind? If not, what did you go out to see? A man dressed in fine clothes? No, those who wear fine clothes are in kings' palaces. Then what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet. This is the one about whom it is written:

  " 'I will send my messenger ahead of you, who will prepare your way before you.'
  I tell you the truth: Among those born of women there has not risen anyone greater than John the Baptist; yet he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he. From the days of John the Baptist until now, the kingdom of heaven has been forcefully advancing, and forceful men lay hold of it. For all the Prophets and the Law prophesied until John. And if you are willing to accept it, he is the Elijah who was to come. He who has ears, let him hear. (Matthew 11:7-15 NIV84).

Who is the prophet Elijah returned? Jesus says it wasn't the individual person who went to heaven in a fiery chariot, but the one who came with the message of Elijah, the message that called people back from Baal worship, the legalistic worship of a legalistic punishing god, to the worship of Yahweh the Creator. And John is the one who fulfilled this role 2000 years ago. But this is another example of a dual fulfillment prophecy—with a lesser regional fulfillment and a greater global fulfillment.

John was the lesser regional fulfillment—what is the greater global? It is when the people of God give the end time message of Elijah to the world, preparing the world for the second coming of Christ, as John called people to prepare to meet Jesus at His first coming.

And Jesus quoted an Old Testament verse:

- 'I will send my messenger ahead of you, who will prepare your way before you.'

I had always linked this in my mind with the verse John quotes from Isaiah about make the paths straight and thought this was from Isaiah, but it is not, do you know what verse Jesus links with the Elijah message? Malachi 3:1:

- "See, I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the LORD Almighty. But who can endure the day of his coming? Who can stand when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap. He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; he will purify the Levites and refine them like gold and silver. Then the LORD will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness (Malachi 3:1-3 NIV84).

This is the message the Elijah people will give at the end of time, it is the message of Jesus coming to His Temple for the purpose of cleansing the Levites, the priesthood of believers, to prepare them, to purify them, to unify them into eternal at-one-ment with Him so the people will be ready to meet Jesus when He comes. We describe this cleansing of the sanctuary message, this cleansing of the bride of Christ in our recent talk Light from the Sanctuary

Read third paragraph,

- The Spirit drove Jesus out into the wilderness. The word "drove" is from the Greek word ekballō, the common word used in the Gospel of Mark for driving out demons. The Spirit's presence here illustrates the power of the Holy Spirit in Jesus' life. The Lord is already starting the journey of His ministry, and He immediately confronts Satan. The sense of the struggle in the scene is displayed by the reference to 40 days of temptation, the presence of wild animals, and the angels ministering to Jesus. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 10).

Why did the Spirit lead Jesus into the wilderness? Didn't the Holy Spirit know Jesus would be tempted? Aren't we supposed to pray for God to lead us not into temptation—but it appears here that Jesus was led into the wilderness for the purpose of being tempted—why?

Because that was exactly part of why Jesus came—He came as our substitutionary Savior—the second Adam, to take up humanity damaged by Adam and to overcome where Adam failed, to be tempted in all points like we are but to instead of sinning, to overcome sin, fear, selfishness, and ultimately death itself—which He did. Thus the only way to achieve the victory is to face the pathology and destroy the lies with truth, confront the fear and overcome with love, to be tempted with selfishness and choose selflessness. And in Jesus God lived fully overcoming by exercising only human abilities and powers as Jesus' trusting His Father to succeed and did not rely on His own divine abilities.

Read last two paragraphs,

- An unusual characteristic of the opening scene of the Gospel of Mark is that Jesus is presented as a character with both divinity and humanity. On the side of divinity: He is the Christ, the Messiah (Mark 1:1), the Lord announced by a messenger (Mark 1:2, 3), mightier than John (Mark 1:7), the beloved Son on whom the Spirit descends (Mark 1:10, 11). But on the side of humanity, we see the following: He is baptized by John (not the other way around, Mark 1:9), He is driven by the Spirit (Mark 1:12), tempted by Satan (Mark 1:13), with wild animals (Mark 1:13), and ministered to by angels (Mark 1:13).

  Why these contrasts? This points to the amazing reality of Christ, our Lord and Savior, our God, and yet also a human being, our brother and our example. How do we fully wrap our minds around this idea? We can't. But we accept it on faith and marvel at what this truth reveals to us about God's love for humanity. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 10, emphasis mine).

Thoughts? What do you hear is the message? Is it, “While God is infinite and we can never fully comprehend God, yet we are to think, reason, and understand to the fullest extent possible and our understanding and appreciation will grow through all eternity?” Or did you hear, “God’s ways are beyond our ability to comprehend so we don’t think about them—we just accept them on faith without seeking to understand?”

I really dislike the merger of a truth with an action that is against God’s desire for us. The truth is that we cannot FULLY wrap our minds around this—we cannot FULLY comprehend God—that is true. But that does not mean we cannot comprehend and understand many things of God, His character, methods, nature, motives, design laws, aspects of His sacrifice, and grow in our understanding through time.

In fact, Jesus said He wants us to understand, that He wants us to be His friends who do understand and not be unthinking servants who simply obey because the master said so (John 15:15).

This type of logic really bothers me because it presents itself as virtuous, as righteous, as a good thing, as pious, holy, saintly, meek and humble—but it is actually none of those things. It is a deception to keep people from knowing the truth for themselves; it prevents people from understanding and being set free by the truth. Satan has no truth on his side so he must get people to accept and believe things based on faith without understanding, without comprehension, to believe things that are not supported by evidence, things that are irrational and unreasonable—that is why they cannot be thought about—because if one thought one would see the lie. So, people are taught, don’t question, don’t think, that would be a lack of faith, just believe.

But while we cannot FULLY comprehend the things of God, we can understand a lot about why this contrast is there and the reason Jesus had to become human. This contrast is there, inspired by God and written by Mark, because our salvation requires both to be true. Our salvation requires that Jesus had to be fully human in order to save the species God created in Eden. But He also had to be fully God in order to address the lies Satan told about God that started the war in heaven deceived angels, and then deceived Adam and Eve. Both must be fully true in order to both save humanity and also bring an end to the cosmic war over God’s trustworthiness.

So it is quite understandable as to why both are presented and necessary. Jesus is God who became fully human. He was the merger of two lives, or life-forces, or spirits—the breath of life, or spirit, breathed into Adam which Adam corrupted with sin, and the Holy Spirit, who was the Father of Jesus’ humanity. In Jesus the spirit of fear inherited from Adam was opposed, overcome, eradicated, and replaced with the spirit of love, truth, and holiness and became the new life source for humanity—connecting humanity back to God the source of all life. And when we are converted, won to trust, we surrender our old life, our old spirit of fear and selfishness, and receive the indwelling Holy Spirit who imparts a new spirit of love and trust that comes from Jesus. We are reborn with new motives and desires and become part of the family of heaven.

Read Mark 1:14-15:

- After John was put in prison, Jesus went into Galilee, proclaiming the good news of God. "The time has come," he said. "The kingdom of God is near. Repent and believe the good news!" (Mark 1:14-15 NIV84).

What is the time referred to by Jesus? The fulfillment of the prophecy of Daniel 9, 70 weeks set aside for the Jews to fulfill their mission to be the avenue through whom the Messiah would come.

And Jesus did come and reported that the kingdom of God is near—what kingdom? How would you describe it? What is the basis of His kingdom?

What did Jesus mean when He said,

- "The kingdom of God does not come with your careful observation, nor will people say, 'Here it is,' or 'There it is,' because the kingdom of God is within you. (Luke 17:20-21 NIV84).

What does this mean? Is it related to 1 Samuel we quoted earlier, man looks on the outward appearance but God looks upon the heart?

What kind of kingdom functions inside of person?

What is the basis of any kingdom? Its law—what kind of law functions inside a person?

What is the new covenant—God writing His laws upon our hearts and minds—how does this happen? Is it a list of rules?

Can God get His law upon our hearts and minds by might, power, enforcement of any kind? How does He win?

Truth, love, and freedom is the only means to be used.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Light from the Sanctuary Presentation: Several weeks ago I presented our understanding of the Sanctuary message from the design law reality, God's plan to heal and cleanse us so we are ready to meet Him when He comes. We have this video along with the power point slides available online and have sent out an email this week with the promotion and link. We are asking you to forward it with your recommendation or encouragement to all of your Adventist family and friends. Ask them to view it and see if this isn't the first presentation that actually makes sense on this subject.

A NEW CHILDREN's BOOK IS NOW AVAILABLE: Biblical Concepts Made Easy, by Stephanie Land. It is a fun book with puzzles that teaches children the truth about God, His design laws, and answers difficult questions regarding moral decision making and why suffering happens. These are available for you and your family and to share. We will ship them at no cost to any US Postal address. They will also be for sale on Amazon as an individual book and we will have them for sale at bulk discount pricing on our website for schools and church groups to purchase and give to their youth. Please get a copy and share with your youth pastor or leader and give them the contact information where they can order on our website.

A Day in the Ministry of Jesus

by Tim Jennings

MONDAY

I want to follow up on a topic that was in last week's lesson, but is also in this week's lesson and we find it in Monday's lesson, in the fifth paragraph,

- Next, the command to come out of the man is understandable, but why the command, " 'Be quiet' " (NKJV)? Beginning here in Mark, a remarkable motif appears: Jesus' call for silence regarding who He is. Scholars call this the "Messianic Secret." (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 16).

This idea of secrets, of Jesus promoting secrecy, let's unpack this a little more.

The lesson asks us to read Mark 1:23-26:

- Just then a man in their synagogue who was possessed by an evil spirit cried out, "What do you want with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are—the Holy One of God!"
  "Be quiet!" said Jesus sternly. "Come out of him!" The evil spirit shook the man violently and came out of him with a shriek. (Mark 1:23-26 NIV84).

Why did Jesus tell the demon to be quiet? Was Jesus wanting secrecy? Was Jesus starting a secret society, a mystery religion? No! Jesus is the light, and Jesus never promoted a Messianic Secret, it is exactly the opposite. Was telling a demon to be quiet same as saying I want my mission to be a secret? So why did Jesus tell the demon to be quiet—and I want you to see this. It is important, because Jesus told the demon to be quiet because Jesus wanted to truth to be seen, understood, revealed, and promoted, the opposite of a secret.

Was the demon telling the truth?

No, the demon lied, but the lie was mixed with a truth which made it all the more dangerous and effective at obscuring the truth. What is the lie the demon mixed with the truth that the demon was attempting to promote—the lie that if believed would undermine the plan of salvation while people claim Jesus as their Messiah?

Let me say that again—the plan of the demon was to infect the thinking of people in such a way that they could acknowledge Jesus as Messiah, the Son of the Most High God, and still be lost and still promote Satan's lies about God and Satan's kingdom under the name of Jesus—and the words of the demon included the lie that would cause this to happen if believed. And sadly, this demon's lie has been believed and taught as truth for millennia in Christianity and is still being taught. And sadly, our quarterly writers/editors believe this lie that that is why they conclude this is a Messianic Secret motif, rather than seeing that Jesus' instructions are just the opposite, it is the Messianic Revelation of truth motif.

What is the lie? That Jesus is the source of inflicted punishment, destruction for sin, the type of punishment that comes from imposed law.

Those who wrote our lesson believes this to be true, that Jesus will use power to inflict external punishment and death for sin, thus they see no problem, no error, no falsehood in the words of the demon and therefore conclude Jesus must want secrecy.

We see the same lie promoted by other demons—Satan's forces have a gameplan, they have an agenda, they have a false view of God that they actively work to promote and get people to accept, and we read it again in Matthew 8:28-29:

- When he arrived at the other side in the region of the Gadarenes, two demon-possessed men coming from the tombs met him. They were so violent that no one could pass that way. "What do you want with us, Son of God?" they shouted. "Have you come here to torture us before the appointed time?" (Matthew 8:28-29 NIV84)

What is the lie the demons are telling?

That God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, torment, and death, which is quickly and easily accepted as truth by people who believe God's law functions like human law.

The people hear the demon acknowledge Jesus as the Son of the Most High, and then hear the fear, and the question "Have you come to destroy us? Have you come to torture us before the appointed time?" and people accept, embrace, and promote the lie that God is the source of torture and death inflicted upon demons and unrepentant sinners.

No wonder Jesus told the demon to keep quiet. Sadly, so much of Christianity, including leaders in the SDA church, are still teaching these lies from demons about God.

The message for this time, the message that is to lighten the world for Christ's return is that God is not like Satan has made Him out to be. God is the Creator and God's laws are the laws life itself is built upon, deviating from God's design, breaking God's laws, harm the one who breaks them and results in pain, suffering, and death unless healed by the Creator. God uses power to heal, to save, to redeem, to hold at bay the destroyer. God does not use power to torture and/or kill—second death as punishment for sin. But if we believe the demons lies, that God's law functions like human law, then we naturally believe the words of the demons that Jesus is one day going to torture and kill—and Satan is counting on that for he will do exactly that when he impersonates Christ.

Was Jesus promoting secrecy? No, He was advancing the truth, but Jesus often told the people He healed to keep quiet, and the disciples not to share their belief He was the Son of God. If He wasn't using the Messianic Secret motif—why did He do this? Because He was the light to lighten all men only by the means, methods, principles of God.

- Methods—God's methods are to win based on the truth, on reality, which is through the revelation of evidence, truth in action, versus those who have no truth and thus must rely only on proclamations, declarations, claims, and testimony of others. Jesus wants people to see for themselves. When John the Baptist's disciples came and asked if He was the One, He told them to spend the day and watch. See the evidence, don't just accept a verbal declaration, don't accept the conclusions of others, understand and know the truth for yourselves. So, Jesus is telling people to be silent so He can reveal the evidence in action and people will learn how to think through things for themselves and not rely on other people's testimony alone for their faith. They are to hear the testimony, like people from Samaria who heard the testimony of the woman at the well and then came to learn from Jesus directly and no longer believed based on the woman's testimony, but because they knew the truth for themselves.

After I prepared this week's lesson, I came across this quotation from the book Education as I was reading during my morning devotions. Please consider this in light of what we have just discussed:

- It is a fact widely ignored, though never without danger, that error rarely appears for what it really is. It is by mingling with or attaching itself to truth that it gains acceptance… The mind that depends upon the judgment of others is certain, sooner or later, to be misled. (Education 230).

And sadly most of church history the organized churches have taught people to surrender their judgment to the church leadership, to trust the priests, popes, church counsels, pastor, the Biblical Research Institute, the General Conference Committee, rather than thinking for themselves as Paul taught in Romans 14—every person is to be fully persuaded in their own mind.

Other reasons Jesus told people to be quiet included:

- Impact on mission—Jesus didn't want to alert his human enemies to the fact that the one they opposed was in the area, thus drawing more opposition
- Prejudice and bias from the religious authorities against the people who were receptive to the gospel, thus decreasing the arbitrary rule application that would create social outcasts, and prevent people from being restored to community

In Monday's lesson the study guide quotes Mark 1:22, let's read that verse:

- The people were amazed at his teaching, because he taught them as one who had authority, not as the teachers of the law. (Mark 1:22 NIV84).

What does this mean?

What authority did Jesus wield?

Did Jesus teach with the authority of:

- The Sanhedrin—today known as the General Conference Committee? In other words, did Jesus teach with the support and endorsement of the organized church leadership?
    - Then how could His teachings be with authority if the authorized church on earth did not recognize, endorse, and support Him? In fact, how could He teach with authority if they were actively telling people He was teaching heresy?
        - Did this dynamic, church leaders opposing truth, happen only to Jesus or throughout all history? Did the priests of Israel often oppose the prophets? Read Jeremiah?
        - Did church leadership oppose the Reformers?
        - Could this happen today? Could church leaders today still oppose those who are teaching with the authority of heaven?
- The state—did Jesus have the endorsement of governmental office?
    - Pilate could speak with the authority of Rome.
    - Matthew could speak with the authority of Rome on matters of taxation. Did Jesus speak with the authority of the government?
- Academic credentials—did Jesus speak with the authority of academic endorsement, a degree from a recognized university? Board certification from a recognized credentialing body?
    - In fact, didn't they wonder how He could teach with such wisdom having never gone to their universities and never completed an academic degree?
- If Jesus didn't have the authority of the church, of the state, of academia, of some professional society, then upon what did His authority in teaching rest? What about the authority of truth? Jesus taught reality, the truth of God and His kingdom of love.
- But why does the Bible say He taught with authority but adds, "NOT as the teachers of the law"? What does this contrast mean?
- Were the teachers of the law teaching the wrong Sabbath, the wrong festivals, the wrong tithe percentage, the wrong list of clean and unclean meats?
- What were the teachers of the law doing that undermined the authority of their teaching?
- Didn't the teachers of the law have the endorsement of the General Conference Committee—the Sanhedrin, and didn't they have the authority of office, and the academic credentials to teach—to be subject matter experts? And didn't they claim the authority of Scripture and of Moses and God Himself? But their teachings didn't have the authority of Jesus, why? What was wrong with their teaching? They were not speaking with godly authority but with earthly authority—what is the difference?
    - God's authority rests in truth and love in harmony with His character, design laws, and methods—in other words reality.
    - Earthly authority rests in coercion, compelling power, rules, declared positions of power, the office itself, the laws enacted, the degrees attained, regardless of whether it is true.

    - We see this in the world today like never before—people declaring things to be one way when in reality they are the exact opposite.
- Consider Saul of Tarsus before the Damascus road when he was arresting Christians and persecuting the followers of Christ. Did he have the authority of the Sanhedrin, of his appointed office, of the law, and the local government? But did he speak with the authority of God? Why or why not?
- What was Jesus' authority—was it coming from position, endorsement, office, academic degree, or was it innate in some way and can we wield that same authority?

Isn't it the truth itself that gave His words authority? To the degree anyone is speaking truth they are speaking with authority for the truth is authoritative.

Consider these historical quotes:

- Jesus' manner of teaching was beautiful and attractive, and it was ever characterized by simplicity. He unfolded the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven through the use of figures and symbols with which his hearers were familiar, and the common people heard him gladly; for they could comprehend his words. There were no high-sounding words used, to understand which it was necessary to consult a dictionary. He illustrated the glories of the kingdom of God by the use of the experiences and occurrences of earth. (Christian Education 126, emphasis mine). [Christ came to reveal mysteries, to unveil secrets, as the light of the world. He used illustrations that made it easy for people to understand reality. He did not use metaphor or symbol to hide reality, but to reveal it. He chose simple words, not complex theological jargon that people don't understand, like propitiation, expiation, vicarious substitution, and so on. And He connected the truth to real world experiences because God is the God of reality. He showed and taught that God's truth always translates into real world living, not theoretical constructs for some future life. The integrative evidence-based approach—He explained Scripture connected to science and nature and life experiences.]

- Christ came to unveil divine truth to the world. He taught as one having authority. He spake as never man spake. There was no hesitancy in His manner, not the shadow of a doubt in His utterances. He spake as one who understood every part of His subject. [He had confidence in His demeanor because He was speaking reality-based truths that He understood. We cannot teach what we do not understand, and sadly many Bible teachers do not understand God's design laws and thus they teach a distorted legal religion, the confused system of conflicting beliefs the Bible symbolically describes as the fallen system of Babylon. Jesus confronted this legal distortion with the religious leaders of His day and we are still battling this legal mindset in the church today.] He could have opened mysteries which patriarchs and prophets desired to look into, which human curiosity had been impatiently desirous of understanding. But when men could not discern the most simple, plainly stated truths, how could they understand mysteries which were hid from mortal eyes? [Why couldn't they discern them? Because their understanding was warped through a system of rules and rule enforcement. They didn't understand the design laws of God, the principles upon which life was built to operate. Thus they couldn't comprehend deeper truths. If you don't understand the basic rules of math, you can't understand algebra. The design laws of God are the basics, if we get those wrong then all our other conclusions are going to be distorted.] Jesus did not disdain to repeat old, familiar truths; for He was the author of these truths. He was the glory of the temple. Truths which had been lost sight of, which had been misplaced, misinterpreted, and disconnected from their pure position, He separated from the companionship of error; and showing them as precious jewels in their own bright luster, He reset them in their proper framework, and commanded them to stand fast forever. [He reset them in design law, in reality, all of Jesus' parables teach design law and overthrow imposed law—the governing system of creatures.] What a work was this! It was of such a character that no finite man could comprehend or do it. Only the divine Hand could take the truth which, from its connection with error, had been serving the cause of the enemy of God and man, [This is how Satan is most successful, mixing error with truth—as the demons were doing when Jesus silenced them. Today this would be doing something like having 28 true doctrines and then mixing in the lie that God's law works like human law, which requires God to legally enforce the breaking of those doctrines, rules, beliefs. The error about law corrupts the meaning of the correct 28 fundamentals the correct doctrines end up serving the enemy of God as the people are lead to conceive of God as an authoritarian dictator who is required by law to use his power to inflict pain, torture, and death upon the wicked, and who even killed his innocent son to pay our legal penalty, and to whom we must offer the blood of a human sacrifice to avoid his anger and wrath. This was the problem with the Jews 2000 years ago, they had the right doctrines set in the wrong law and thus they rejected and killed Jesus.] and place it where it would glorify God, and be the salvation of humanity. [Only as we return the true doctrines into the setting of design law are we able to present the true doctrines where they bring glory to God and salvation to humanity.] The work of Christ was to give again to the world the truth in its original freshness and beauty. He represented the spiritual and the heavenly, by the things of nature and experience. [Here it is again, the integrative evidence-based approach—Scripture is understood only as it functions in reality, in the laws of nature and real-life experiences. The truth of God completely overthrows the human imposed law system, which is a system of made-up rules with artificial externally inflicted punishments. We can only teach with authority when we teach reality, the truth of God's design laws and how it functions in reality.] He gave fresh manna to the hungry soul, presented a new kingdom which was to be set up among men. (Fundamentals of Chrsitian Education 236, emphasis mine).

The Jewish rabbis presented the requirements of the law as a wearing round of exactions. They did just what Satan is doing in our day,—presented the law before the people as a cold, rigid code of commands and traditions. Superstitions buried the light, the glory, the dignity, and far-reaching claims of the law of God. [What is the problem? Imposed law, that lie that God's law functions like human law, made up rules with inflicted punishments, that lead to nonsensical superstitious thinking that darken minds, increase fear and distrust of God, and harden hearts. This is what a legal religion does. This is what penal substitutionary theology does and all theology that teaches God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, and death. It undermines trust and dethrones human reason. God's design law has far-reaching claims, for God's design laws are the operational basis for everything and reach to the subatomic quantum level of creation itself and it claims that life requires harmony with the protocols God built it to exist and operate upon.] They professed to speak to the people in the place of God. After the transgression of Adam, the Lord spoke no longer directly with man; the human race was given into the hands of Christ, and all communication came through Him to the world. It was Christ who spoke the law on Mount Sinai, and He knew the bearing of all its precepts, the glory and majesty of the law of heaven. In His sermon on the mount, Christ defines the law, and seeks to inculcate in the minds of His hearers the far-reaching claims of the precepts of Jehovah. [What did Christ teach? That sin happens in the heart and leads to bad behaviors or deeds, it is the lust in the heart, the hate in the heart. He taught that justice is not the infliction of so-called just punishments, it is not eye for an eye, but it is to love your enemies and pray for those who abuse you. This is design law, how life is built to operate. But Satan's kingdom is the kingdom of a creature who cannot build reality and thus he must make up rules and enforce those rules with inflicted punishments. All the kingdoms of the world work this way and all of them are Satan's. And the Jews accepted this idea of law as God's and thus corrupted and perverted the sacrificial system to teach appeasement and legal payment rather than loving self-sacrifice to heal and restore. Jesus came and reset it all in the light of design law]. His instructions came as a new revelation to the people; and the teachers of the law, the scribes and the Pharisees, as well as the common people, were astonished at His doctrine. The words of Christ were not new, and yet they came with the force of revelation; for they presented the truth in its proper light, and not in the light in which the teachers had set it before the people. He showed no regard for the traditions and commandments of men, but opened the eyes of their understanding to behold wondrous things out of the law of God, which is the foundation of His throne from the beginning of the world; and as long as the heavens and the earth remain, through the ceaseless ages of eternity, it will be the great standard of righteousness, holy and just and good. (Fundamentals of Christian Education 237, emphasis mine). [It only seemed new to the people because they were so deeply indoctrinated into the lie that God's law is imposed, that justice is the proper infliction of punishment, that sin is rule-breaking, that God is the source of punishment for sin, that sacrifice is offered to pay the sin-debt to an offended god. They were so deeply indoctrinated into pagan beliefs about God that the truth Jesus revealed seemed completely new to them. And sadly, it is like this in Christianity today. We are not presenting anything new, but it seems new to those who have been indoctrinated into the penal legal way of thinking about things. We are simply doing the work Jesus has called us to do, placing things back in their proper light.]

SABBATH

Read last paragraph,

- This "Sabbath with Jesus" at the beginning of Mark gives the reader a sense of who Jesus is. In the entire section for this week's lesson, there are very few of His words recorded: a brief call to discipleship, a command to a demon, a plan to visit other locations, and the healing of a leper with instructions to show himself before a priest to be clean. The emphasis is on action, particularly healing people. The Gospel writer likes to use the word immediately to illustrate the fast-action movement of Jesus' ministry. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 14).

Why did the Jewish religious leaders have a problem with Jesus? Consider, what He actually did—He healed people of diseases, including lepers, He fed the hungry, He visited with the tax-collectors, Samaritans, women, prostitutes—why did these actions cause such hatred from church leadership?

Because they had a law, a legal way of seeing things, and in their minds sickness, disease, poverty, homelessness were God's inflicted punishments for sin—if you keep the law, obey the rules, do right then you receive reward, if you break the law, then you deserve punishment. Jesus, by healing the sick and feeding the poor, was overthrowing their legal religious system. They believed God was punishing people, and who was Jesus to remove it? Remember He even forgave sins!

Consider this historical commentary,

- It was generally believed by the Jews that sin is punished in this life. Every affliction was regarded as the penalty of some wrongdoing, either of the sufferer himself or of his parents. It is true that all suffering results from the transgression of God's law, but this truth had become perverted.

  Satan, the author of sin and all its results, had led men to look upon disease and death as proceeding from God—as punishment arbitrarily inflicted on account of sin. Hence one upon whom some great affliction or calamity had fallen had the additional burden of being regarded as a great sinner.

  Thus the way was prepared for the Jews to reject Jesus. He who "hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows" was looked upon by the Jews as "stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted;" and they hid their faces from Him. Isaiah 53:4, 3.

  God had given a lesson designed to prevent this. The history of Job had shown that suffering is inflicted by Satan and is overruled by God for purposes of mercy. But Israel did not understand the lesson. The same error for which God had reproved the friends of Job was repeated by the Jews in their rejection of Christ (The Desire of Ages, p. 471, emphasis mine)

They rejected Jesus in His healing of the sick, His raising of the dead, His feeding of the poor because they believed God was punishing such people for law-breaking, and therefore Jesus was doing injustice. This was confirmed in their mind when Jesus Himself was crucified.

Jesus was not concealing the truth, hiding the truth, promoting secrecy, He was confronting the lies through revelation of truth in action, deeds of truth, demonstrations of how reality works—but they were blind guides keeping people blind, just like many Bible teachers today who continue to teach a legal religion.

SUNDAY

Read Mark 1:16-20:

- As Jesus walked beside the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and his brother Andrew casting a net into the lake, for they were fishermen. "Come, follow me," Jesus said, "and I will make you fishers of men." At once they left their nets and followed him. When he had gone a little farther, he saw James son of Zebedee and his brother John in a boat, preparing their nets. Without delay he called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired men and followed him. (Mark 1:16-20 NIV84).

Then read the last paragraph:

- But why does Mark not fill in more details? Likely, it is to emphasize the power of Jesus. He calls, and willing fishermen answer, and their lives, and the world itself, are never the same. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 15).

The lesson makes an assertion, a conclusion, an assumption, applies an interpretation as to why Mark doesn't fill in more of the details and it is to emphasize the power of Jesus—He calls, the voice of His authority has spoken, and it is so compelling they drop everything and follow. Hmmm…. Do you agree?

What are other possible reasons Mark doesn't include more details, as John does?

- Mark's emphasis was simply to identify these initial followers of Jesus establishing Peter, Andrew, James and John as early followers of Jesus.
- His first century audience likely already knew the details of the calling and this is a reminder not intended to be a deep dive into the stuff they already knew.
- Mark wants his letter/gospel to be short and he intentionally abbreviates things to the most salient elements rather than writing a treatise, as he wants the entire letter read in one setting during meetings.
- This was Peter's gospel and it was written to remind the people of what Peter had already told them, which is suggested by the following in 2 Peter:

    - So I will always remind you of these things, even though you know them and are firmly established in the truth you now have. I think it is right to refresh your memory as long as I live in the tent of this body, because I know that I will soon put it aside, as our Lord Jesus Christ has made clear to me. And I will make every effort to see that after my departure you will always be able to remember these things. (2 Peter 1:12-15 NIV84).

What of the idea that it is appealing to Jesus' power—well what power? The power of charisma? The power of authority—He commanded them and they were powerless to resist the command?

In Revelation 5 Jesus is represented as a lamb with seven eyes and seven horns, the horns are symbolic of the seven powers of God that Jesus wields, which are:

1. Power of creation (Genesis 1; John 1:1–3,14; Colossians 1:16, 17; Hebrews 1:1, 2)
    - While on earth some believe this was demonstrated when He healed the man born blind. The only way to know in that time if an infant was born blind was if the infant was born without eyes. If it had eyes it is possible they lost vision later, but without eyes we can be certain was born blind. And Jesus healed this man by making mud and rubbing it on his eyes. Some interpret this to mean, just as God in the beginning formed Adam out of the dirt of the earth, that here Jesus formed new eyes out of the dirt wielding the power of creation.
2. Power of truth (John 14:6; Matthew 10:34; Ephesians 6:17; Hebrews 4:12; Revelation 2:12)
3. Power of love (1 John 3:16, 4:8; John 15:13)
4. Power of life over death; resurrection power (John 11:25, 11:38–44; Romans 1:4; Revelation 1:18)
5. Power to forgive and save/heal from sin (Matthew 1:21, 9:6; John 3:16; 2 Corinthians 5:21; 1 John 1:9)
6. Power that sustains and holds all reality together and the laws that govern reality (Matthew 14:25–29; Mark 4:39; Colossians 1:17)
7. Power over time, including foreknowledge—the ability to see through time (Genesis 2:2-3; Joshua 10:12, 13; Daniel 2:28; Isaiah 46:10; Mark 2:28)

So Jesus uses the seven powers of God and none of them are coercive, declarative, proclamations, or imperial.

TUESDAY

Read first four paragraphs,

- After the amazing synagogue service, Jesus retires with His small band of disciples (Peter, Andrew, James, and John) to Peter's home, evidently to spend the rest of the Sabbath day in a friendly meal and fellowship.

  But a note of concern overshadows the scene: Peter's mother-in-law is ill with a fever, which back then meant you either got better or died. They tell Jesus of the sickness, and He takes Peter's mother-in-law by the hand and raises her up. She immediately begins to provide for their needs. What a powerful example of the principle that those who have been saved, healed, by Jesus will minister to others as a result!

  Throughout Mark it is often the case that Jesus heals by touching the affected person (see Mark 1:41; Mark 5:41), though other times no touch is mentioned (see Mark 2:1–12, Mark 3:1–6, Mark 5:7–13).

> Jesus was not done with ministry that day. After sunset many came to Peter's house for healing, no doubt from seeing what happened at the synagogue that day or from hearing about it. The fact that the Gospel writer does not tell his readers that people delayed because of the hours of the Sabbath indicates that he expected his readers to know about the Sabbath. This feature of Mark is consistent with his readers being Sabbath keepers. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 17).

Does this description raise many questions in your mind? What?

- Why did the people wait until after Sabbath to come to Jesus?
- Were they taught something about the Sabbath that was an actual barrier, hindrance, obstruction keeping them from coming to the Lord of the Sabbath? What?
- Could it be that the Sabbath is a rule made up that requires legal enforcement and there are all types of behaviors one is forbidden from doing on the Sabbath and thus, they were afraid of breaking the Sabbath law by going to Jesus?
- What about today is it possible to present the Bible Sabbath in such a way that it actually makes it harder for people to come to Jesus? Any examples?
- What are we forbidden from doing on the Sabbath?
    - Work—which is defined where in Scripture? It isn't!
    - Is that all we are forbidden from doing? What about disliking the Sabbath? Isaiah 58
    - Isn't true Sabbath keeping when one delights in the Sabbath, so wouldn't that mean we are not supposed to dislike it?
    - And then does the imposed law view, with all its rules and threats, the cause of many people disliking both the Sabbath and the god of the Sabbath and thus the method of legal Sabbath keeping is the very cause of Sabbath breaking, as it changes one's heart to something other than love and trust.
- Was Peter's mother breaking the Sabbath when she began working and serving them? Why or why not?
- What about Jesus, did He break the Sabbath when He healed her? The people were waiting until after the Sabbath to pursue getting healed, should Jesus have also waited to heal her?
- Why did Jesus perform so many miracles on the Sabbath, remember the man who was a paralytic for 38 years (John 5)? Jesus purposely healed him on Sabbath, this wasn't an acute sickness, it was a chronic condition, one more day wouldn't have mattered, or Jesus could have gotten there on Friday—why did Jesus choose the Sabbath to perform His healing?
- What is the purpose of the Sabbath, what is it to reveal to us? What are we to remember when we remember the Sabbath? Aren't we supposed to remember the truth about God—that God rested, that God stopped using power, that God did not use power to punish Lucifer and the rebellious angels, that God does not force people into compliance, that God leaves us free. Thus the Sabbath is God's sign to us that He will heal and save all who trust Him, through His methods of truth presented in love. It is the only way to save any sinner, because the use of might and power to change minds destroys individuality. Thus the Sabbath, God's truth presented in love while leaving us free—how reality works, is the sign that God makes us holy through the application of His design laws.

WEDNESDAY

The lesson focuses on Jesus praying with His Father and encourages us to have an active prayer life. My blog a week ago explored the secret to getting prayers answered, which is to meet the conditions set out by God.

- If you abide in Me, and My words abide in you, you will ask what you desire, and it shall be done for you. By this My Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit (John 15:7, 8 NKJV).

When we abide in Jesus, our hearts are surrendered to Him; our minds hunger for truth and actively assimilate His Word into our hearts; our attitudes, desires, motives, and longings are changed from selfishness to love; and we desire to glorify God. Then, with hearts that live to give glory to God, to uplift Jesus, to advance His kingdom, our prayers are gladly received and God answers them with the wisdom of His infinite foreknowing self. His answers will meet our true need and His greater purposes, and we, who live in abiding trust, rejoice in the varied ways and timing of God's response.

But there are many prayers that God does not pay attention to—prayers that God does not "listen" to or answer.

- The selfish prayer: God does not answer the selfish prayer because such prayer, no matter how religiously it may be phrased, means: "Give me what I want so I can continue to rebel against you, injure my soul, waste resources, and harm others."
- The pretender prayer: A prayer from a person who doesn't actually believe in God but prays to manipulate others who do believe. "He who comes to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him" (Hebrews 11:6 NKJV).
- The proud prayer: A prayer people make to be seen; to advance themselves as more righteous, more holy, better than others; to be recognized as a religious leader and gain power over others; or to put others down. It was the prayer of the Pharisee recorded in Luke: "God, I thank You that I am not like other men—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this tax collector. I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all that I possess" (18:11, 12 NKJV).
- The rejector-of-truth prayer: A prayer said by those who may even be praying for the right thing but do so while they knowingly deny truth and choose what they know is wrong. This would be a person who prays for better lung function while continuing to smoke, or a person who prays for a happy and healthy marriage while they commit adultery.
- The whiny, complaining, negative prayer: The kind of prayer made with no interest in resolution, no desire to work things out, no desire to mature themselves, to heal, to change the destructive feelings, no openness to hear God speak, but simply to lodge a complaint and justify their role as victim and how life is not fair to them.
- The proforma prayer: The prayer done by rote, by ritual, by form without any thought or active engagement of the heart in pursuit of a connection with God. Man looks on the outward appearance (other humans can observe the act of performing a prayer), but God looks upon the heart and knows when the person is not praying but merely reciting a ritual.

While there are many prayers that God does not pay attention to, God smiles upon and longs to hear prayers from honest hearts, from people who believe in Him and genuinely desire to connect with Him, to know His will, hear His voice, abide in His presence, be transformed by His love, be strengthened by His power to carry out His will, those who have surrendered self and long to give glory to Him by growing daily in truth, to become mature Christians who manifest His character, and have the ability to live the principles of God, to apply the methods of God in how they govern themselves and treat others.

God will answer all such prayers!

I encourage you to pray—daily and often—but make prayer a conversation with God; talk to Him like you would talk with a friend, which means you must know Him, have faith in Him, and come to understand Him. And make your most intimate prayers private, seeking solitary places to commune with heaven, places without distractions, where you can abide in the quiet and hear the still small voice of God responding (1 Kings 19:12). When you know Him, you will understand His methods, His design laws, and will be more sensitive to His answers, for just as you would with a true friend, you will realize that He will not give certain responses because they are out of character for Him.

And when you encounter moments that seem to be silence, remember that God is your friend and ask yourself what would you do or think if your human friend responded with silence. Wouldn't you reflect and think, "What did I just ask? Do I already know the truth, the right course, the best action, but want something different and my friend is giving me time to reconsider?" Then when silence seems to be God's response, apply that wisdom and ask: "Is this a problem that I already know the answer to, that God has previously led me to solve? Do I need to solve this one on my own because God has given me the wisdom, principles, and methods already and now I need to apply them so I can mature and grow rather than seeking Him to tell me every answer?" If so, then ask God for the confirmation to proceed and apply His methods to the situation, actively remembering the vital truths applicable to your situation, thinking through your choices, and keeping your heart open to His leading while you move forward with a thankful heart, also remembering that Jesus has promised never to leave us or forsake us and that we can receive His power as long as our hearts are actively seeking to glorify Him.

Finally, if you are praying for strength to do God's will, you must remember that we do not receive the strength for the task until we choose to apply the truth and engage in the mission. The smoker doesn't get the strength to quit until they choose to quit; the runner doesn't get the endurance to finish the race until they are running the race; the waters do not part until our feet get wet. (See Joshua 3:13.)

The next time you pray, remember Jesus' promise:

- And I will do whatever you ask—that is in harmony with my character, methods, and principles—so that the Son may bring honor and glory to the Father by revealing the healing and life-giving power of his methods. You may ask me for anything in harmony with my character and methods, and I will do it (John 14:13, 14 REM).

THURSDAY

The lesson focuses on healing of a leper. In the Bible, leprosy was a metaphor for sin—and it is an excellent metaphor because, leprosy destroys the pain fibers so when one touches a hot stove they don't feel pain and thus they experience much more damage than if they did feel pain.

Sin sears the conscience and thus we don't feel conviction, guilt, shame, or discomfort and persist in destructive living doing much more damage to our souls.

Read third paragraph,

- Jesus, however, is moved with compassion toward the man and touches him. "Then Jesus, moved with compassion, stretched out His hand and touched him, and said to him, 'I am willing; be cleansed' " (Mark 1:41, NKJV). This action should have defiled Jesus until the evening, when He would be required to bathe to become ritually pure again (compare with Leviticus 13–15). But Mark is clear that Jesus' action of touching the sick man cleanses him of his leprosy. Thus, Jesus was not defiled by touching the man. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 19).

Do you agree that Jesus was not defiled by touching the man?

Jesus became sin though He knew no sin so that we might become the righteousness of God 2 Corinthians 5:21.

Jesus was not defiled by becoming sin, instead in Jesus sin was destroyed, death was destroyed, life was restored, sin was purged, humanity was cleansed from sin in Jesus Christ.

If we were to represent this symbolically what are the symbols for the cleansing life of Jesus—flesh and blood of the sacrificial animal, bread and wine. And in the OT system, did the blood of the sacrificial animal cleanse or defile? It cleansed.

Then why do some teach that the blood applied to the sanctuary defiled the sanctuary?

Jesus instructed the leper not to tell it was Jesus who healed him? Why? Because it would risk the priests rejecting him and refusing to declare him cleansed and allowing him back into the community.

Notice here the conflict between reality—design law and made up imposed law. When Jesus healed the leper that was reality, the leper was clean, no longer a leper. Will the acknowledgement of the priest change that reality? No, the leper was leprous free no matter what the priest says, however, the Jewish community is not operating upon design law, it is operating upon civil law, made up rules, and the word of the priest and the enforcement of their soldiers and the community is not based on reality, but on declaration—the word of the priest.

Jesus did not want this man to be rejected by the made up laws now that he was actually healed.

Further, Jesus didn't want the people to create such a stir about Him at that time that it would motivate His enemies to become more active in opposing Him and thus hindering His ministry.

But the man after being confirmed by the priest as being healed, broadcast loudly that Jesus had healed him.

The lesson describes it in the last paragraph like this:

- But the cleansed leper does not seem to understand this, and in disobedience to Jesus' command, he spreads the news far and wide, making it impossible for Jesus to enter towns openly for His ministry. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 19).

Do you agree that the man was in disobeying the Lord? Hmmm….this is how one sees things when one accepts Satan's lies about God's law. Jesus gave a command, you didn't behave the way He instructed, and therefore you are in disobedience. It is all about behavior rather than motivation.

Was the man doing this because he was rebelling against Jesus, or because he was for Jesus? This is not a reflection of a person disobeying but a person misunderstanding and being immature but who is still doing what they are doing from a heart seeking to uplift the Lord.

2024 3Q The Book of Mark Lesson 3
Controversies

by Tim Jennings

SUNDAY

Read first paragraph,

- The man was paralyzed; his four friends, therefore, had to carry him to Jesus. After they tore through the roof and let the man down into Jesus' presence, Mark 2:5 notes that Jesus saw their faith. How can faith be visible? Like love, it becomes visible in actions, as the persistence of the friends openly illustrates. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 23).

I like the idea here that faith is displayed in action. This is the point that James makes, that faith without action is dead.

But how would you describe faith—what is it?

Is there a difference between faith and trust and belief? In the Greek there is only one word for all three English words, pistis. Do we assign different meanings in English to these three words? Do you hear them all the same?

What is the meaning of saving faith? Does it matter in what or whom we place our faith? Any examples of faith that does not save?

- Faith in any savior other than Jesus?
- How about faith in one's works?
- How about faith in a blood payment to pay one's legal debt to the cosmic king?
- How about faith in doctrines—in other words, having faith that one believes the right things and this causes one to have faith they have the truth and thus are saved? Such as having the right Bible, eating the right foods, going to church on the right day—just like the Jews who crucified Christ.
- Others?

Are we saved by faith? Or are saved by God, by Jesus, through faith—so again, what is faith?

Faith is more than belief, the devils believe and tremble, but they are not saved by believing Jesus is the Savior of the world. Saving faith is our trust in Jesus. We enter a state of salvation when our hearts are changed from distrust to trust.

In Scripture the natural, fallen, carnal heart is described as being at enmity to God (Romans 8:7). Our heart's attitude, motives, desires, toward God that we inherit from Adam is one of fear and selfishness, a heart that does not trust God.

Abraham experienced a change of heart from distrust to trust—that is when Abraham went from a state of being dead in trespass and sin, to a state of being set right with God, a state of being saved by faith, by trust, and the literal, real, actual change in Abraham's heart attitude toward God is justification. Abraham was set right or justified when He chose to trust God rather than distrust God and that is why God recognized, accounted, or reckoned Abraham as justified or set right, because he was in fact set right by faith.

There is nothing legal going on in salvation, there is reality, we are really out of harmony with God. We are really infected with fear and selfishness. Our natural hearts really distrust God and act selfishly. It is a fact that we cannot do anything in our might or power to change the condition of our hearts. It is a fact that Jesus came and became a real human being, taking up humanity damaged and infected by Adam and overcame where we could not, purged the infection of fear and selfishness and restored God's perfect love into humanity and became the bridge between fallen humanity and God. And It is a fact that we can be reborn, recreated, renewed, have a new heart and right spirit, if we trust or have faith in Jesus, just like Abraham.

But some may ask, why is faith or trust necessary for our salvation—why can't God simply save everyone—doesn't He have the power? Isn't He omnipotent?

What does it mean to be saved? To be healed, but what kind of healing? It is healing of the heart and mind, of the preferences, of the attitudes, of the alignment of the desires, motives, methods, and principles of the animating energy that moves us to act—salvation is purging, eliminating, removing, the contaminating motives of fear, selfishness, lust, pride, envy, greed and all such elements from our being, from our hearts and minds, and replacing it with love, trust, selflessness, honesty, self-control, patience, kindness, goodness, gentleness that our motivating energies are those of God and His kingdom, that we prefer the methods, principles, and design laws of God.

And this can only happen with our agreement, with our choice to say yes to God, to open our hearts and minds in trust—for if God were to use His power to make such a change in our being without our agreement—He would erase our individuality and create robots that do what He programs them to do, but such entities could not love, would not be free, and would not be you and me.

Thus, God presents the truth in love and leaves us free to choose. We must decide whom we will trust, will we trust God and open our hearts to Him, choose to stay faithful to Him when our feelings tempt us, when our friends and family mistreat us, when our church lets us down, when our nation betrays us, when the wicked assail us—will we trust Jesus with our lives, with the outcome of events, with the future—or will we choose to act to save ourselves, to protect ourselves through the methods, means, and motives of this sinful world?

Will we align with the powers of this world, governmental powers, church powers, and act to coerce others in order to protect ourselves? This is what the beast system will do, it will lead the world to join together to pass laws that are stated to benefit the world at the expense of liberty, of love, of truth, and of freedom of conscience. People will have to choose, do they go along with the law, with the state, with the church who tells them that it is not a religious issue to coerce the conscience of people on medical issues; or do they choose, in governance of self to be true to the principles of God?

Saving faith is a trust in Jesus such that we choose loyalty to Him in the way we live, the methods we use, the protocols that govern our being.

These friends of the paralytic had faith, they had confidence, trust, that Jesus could heal, could resolve the problem, so in faith they went to Jesus. That is what faith does, it acts to carry out what is in harmony with God's methods, purposes, principles and will. That is faith that works.

Read second paragraph,

- The man's obvious need was physical. However, when he comes into Jesus' presence, the first words Jesus pronounces refer to forgiveness of sins. The man speaks not a word during the entire scene. Instead, it is the religious leaders who object (in their minds) to what Jesus has just said. They consider His words blasphemous, slandering God, and taking on prerogatives that belong only to God. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 23).

Why did Jesus tell him his sins were forgiven? What was the common belief of the people back then about the cause of physical sickness? That it was punishment from God for sin, thus the man had the burden of not only being sick, but feeling under the curse of God for his sins. To be sure he is a sinner as we all are, but it is a false conclusion that sickness in this world always occurs because of individual sin. But this is what they believed.

The man needed healing of his soul as well as his body because his mind was infected with lies, particularly lies about God—that God is the type of being to use power to inflict punishment for sin. Jesus, God in human form reveals the truth that God is the source life, health, and healing and God uses power to remove sickness and heal people, not cause sickness as punishment for sin.

Sadly, I get emails frequently from people who sincerely believe that God's justice requires God to use His power to inflict punishment for sin. Why? Because they believe that while there is natural consequence for breaking the laws of health, these sincere souls also belief that there would be no punishment for breaking God's moral laws if God didn't inflict it, which means they don't believe God's moral laws are design laws, but functionally are no different than the laws humans make up. They have accepted Satan's lie about God's law and therefore God's character—that God runs His universe like a creature runs their domain—on made up rules that require external enforcement.

This leads them to believe and teach that God wields Satan's power. The Bible tells us that,

- Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil (Hebrews 2:14 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. (2 Timothy 1:10 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive. But each in his own turn: Christ, the firstfruits; then, when he comes, those who belong to him. Then the end will come, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father after he has destroyed all dominion, authority and power. For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. The last enemy to be destroyed is death. (1 Corinthians 15:22-26 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus is the source of life and destroys death, which is the power of the devil, and is the wages of sin, but sadly so many Christians continue to teach that God is the source of death inflicted upon people as punishment for sin. It is so sad.

What is forgiveness and how does it fit in with salvation?

- Can anyone be saved without God's forgiveness?
- Does God forgiving a sinner mean they are saved?
- Can someone be forgiven by God and still lost?
- What comes first God's forgiveness or man's repentance?

- Does God forgive people who do not repent? Consider those who crucified Jesus!

There are some versions of Christianity that teach Jesus died to pay our legal debt with His blood so that God could legally forgive us? Is this true? No, it is false. God forgave us before Jesus died, but God's forgiveness does not heal the damage done, it does not restore righteousness into humanity or eliminate the infection of sin in humanity.

The theology that teaches that forgiveness equals salvation is based upon human law and the belief we are in legal trouble and the obstacle to salvation is God's anger, or wrath, or unforgiveness, or the legal requirement the law demands in order to be pardoned or forgiven. However this idea is worded, the problem in this view is in God and God must be fixed in some way. It is all a lie.

The truth is that God is love and God forgives freely, but we are not saved, healed, redeemed, until we respond to God's forgiveness and repent, open our hearts in trust and receive the victory of Christ through the work of the Holy Spirit.

- But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8 NIV84).

God did not wait for man to repent; He forgave instantly because He so loved the world that He sent us His Son.

While God's forgiveness is essential and required for salvation, for if God was unforgiving we could not be saved, we must recognize that God being forgiving, granting forgiveness, freely extending forgiveness doesn't equal salvation because the obstacle in salvation isn't in God, it is us and thus the change to achieve salvation must occur in humanity not in God. We must be won from distrust to trust so that we open the heart for God to heal us.

When Adam sinned God did not get changed and God's law did not get changed, Adam was changed. Thus salvation does not require anything to be done to God nor God's law, but requires something be done in humanity to fix what sin has done.

Jesus is the agent of the Godhead who carries out the purpose of the Father to deal with sin. Jesus became human for the purpose of eliminating sin from the entire universe, including humanity.

God's forgiveness is freely given and it is the kindness of God that leads us to repentance and it is in repentance that we receive into our hearts the Holy Spirit who brings us the life of Christ, the animating energy, desires, motives of love, truth, freedom and we begin acting, choosing, living these principles empowered by the Holy Spirit developing a character like Jesus.

Read fourth paragraph,

- These religious leaders lost sight of what really mattered: justice, mercy, and walking humbly before God. So obsessed with defending their understanding of God, they were blinded to God's working right before their eyes. Nothing indicated that the men changed their minds about Jesus even though He gave them more than enough evidence to know that He was from God, not only by letting them know that He could read their minds (no simple feat in and of itself) but also by healing the paralytic in their presence in a way that they could not deny. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 23).

The religious leaders lost sight of justice? Didn't the religious leaders object because they wanted justice? Didn't they object because they thought the law was being broken and to break the law is unjust, and justice requires law keeping? And when the law is broken justice requires inflicted punishment. Weren't they upset with Jesus because they viewed Him as the unjust one?

Why did they think this?

Didn't we see the same issue during COVID when many religious leaders lost sight of justice?

How would you describe justice to someone?

And the lesson points out that they couldn't see the truth of reality which was being manifested before them because they were so obsessed with defending their understanding of God. That means they were blinded by their religious beliefs, their doctrines, their theology rather than leading them to know God obstructed them from knowing God.

And this has been one of Satan's primary traps throughout all human history—false systems of theology, beliefs, that trap people into mindsets that obstruct them from seeing truth. And the core lie through them all is God's law is imposed and God's justice is inflicting punishment—sadly this core lie still infects all of Christianity, including our church.

Read first three paragraphs,

> Tax collectors in Jesus' day were civil servants under the local or Roman government. They were unpopular among the Jewish population in Judea because they often exacted more than required and became rich off their countrymen. A Jewish commentary on religious law, the Mishnah tractate Tohoroth says, "If taxgatherers entered a house [all that is within it] becomes unclean."
> Thus, it is not surprising that the scribes inquire disapprovingly, "Why does He eat with tax collectors and sinners?"
> How did Jesus respond to their question? He doesn't reject it. Instead, He turns it on its head, indicating that people who are sick, not who are healthy, need a doctor. He thereby claims the moniker of spiritual doctor, the One who can heal the sin-sick soul. And should not a doctor go where the sick are? (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 24).

Jesus said,

- "It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners." (Mark 2:17 NIV84).

What is revealed by Jesus' answer? Is Jesus merely, only, justifying why He interacts with what the religious leaders consider the dregs of society, or does His answer have additional truths that we might overlook in the context of what His critics are doing?

What was the basis of Jesus answer? Were any principles involved in Jesus answer? Did His answer not only justify His actions in His associations, but simultaneously include deeper truths that were a direct refutation to Satan's imposed law penal/legal kingdom?

Why didn't Jesus answer by saying, "It is not those who are legally correct who need a lawyer, but those in legal trouble who need a lawyer. I have not come for those who are legally right, but for those who are legally condemned."

Wouldn't such an answer have justified His association with the dregs of society? But it would have misrepresented God and His kingdom to be like human kingdoms based on imposed law.
Don't you find it significant that Jesus did not answer with a legal description but with a medical healing description, upon design law?

Sadly, the legal system continues to infect the thinking of far too many and leads to the same disastrous outcomes as it did for the Jews 2000 years ago when their law-keeping prevented them from accepting Jesus.

Read the last paragraph,

- Jesus continues with two illustrations that highlight the contrast between His teaching and that of the religious leaders—unshrunk cloth on an old garment and new wine in old wineskins. What an interesting way to contrast the teaching of Christ and the religious leaders. It shows just how corrupted the ways of the teachers had become. Even true religion can be turned into darkness if people are not careful. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 24).

Do you think the authors of the lesson would believe Jesus' words apply to what is taught in our quarterly, that the teachings of the lesson are the old wine in old wineskin and we need to reset it with new wine in new wineskins?

Back in 2019 we posted a guest blog from one of our class members entitled New Wine in Old Skins and I want to share some of those insights today.

> The blog describes the difference between the container—which is thinking style/worldview/governance system preference and the contents—the actual values/norms/mission of an individual or group.
> For example, the Marine Corps and organized crime groups share the same container: Loyalty, command and control, clearly defined behavioral norms and punishment for transgression, well-defined hierarchy and decision rights, enforced rules of engagement, and so on.
> Now consider the vast difference in the contents—the missions and values of the two organizations.
> The tensions in the church today are thought to be rooted in disagreement around the contents (doctrine, norms, and practices). However, I suggest the root of the tensions goes much deeper and is really about the container.
> Christianity's container has changed very little since Constantine co-opted the fledgling theology in a shrewd political move. He took the governance approach of imperial Rome (which had worked very well for centuries) and filled that container with Christian theology; he replaced the pagan metaphysics with fresh, new Christian theology.
> But the new theology was tainted by the old container—fundamentally changed (adulterated)—so that it could be successfully held within the imperial mindset. The promise of Christ's message to the world, in the form of Christian theology, was soured because it was held within a human-governance worldview.

The imperial governance container reused by Constantine was… authoritarian, hierarchical, based on the rule of law, self-serving, and self-protective. Emphasis was placed on behavioral right and wrong, group norms, compliance and punishment, the human need for justice, and a focus on the visible (hand) instead of the invisible (heart).

Jesus used the metaphor of filling an old wine skin with new wine, something the people of his day clearly knew to avoid. New wine continues to ferment, and a new wine skin will stretch to accommodate the pressure produced by the carbon dioxide. The new wine skin takes a particular form due to the maturing of the new wine.

New wine, placed into an old wine skin that has stretched once and hardened, will burst the old skin and waste the wine. Or the new wine will be contaminated with bacteria and turn to vinegar.

Jesus was trying to get his listeners to grasp the unavoidable outcome of placing truly new light within an old-thinking container. And he had a great example of a reused wine skin at his disposal: the theocracy of the Jewish governance system—largely self-serving, self-protective, authoritarian, and hierarchical; that is, a rule-of-law governance model.

The reason that the metaphor of the wine skins is so powerful is that we have a very difficult time seeing the problem: our human tendency to ascribe to God the system of governance that we use to survive in this fallen world.

The rule of law is the most effective governance system ever developed. But the problem is that this adaptation is profane; it works, but it is also of this world and a direct result of our sinful condition and the forces of chaos we face. This old wine skin, formed by the human need for authoritarian governance in response to survival-of-the-fittest dynamics is not a part of God's design, as clearly illustrated in the life of Christ.

Many praise the Reformation and laud the new wine. Martin Luther dumped out a portion of the old wine of Catholic theology and norms, but because he continued to use the old Roman Catholic container, he contaminated the new wine with the old. Protestant theology was adulterated by contact with the old wine skin.

We Adventists are satisfied that our church founders dumped a portion of old wine from mainline Protestant theology and replaced it with new wine. But the new wine, pressed in the excitement of the Awakening, was also contaminated by using the old wine skin, which has been passed down from pagan Rome.

And our message to the world is still not truly new wine, and it smells of vinegar. All this is due to using the old container—creating God in our image, believing that God's governance of the universe mirrors human systems of governance that emerged due to our sinful condition.

The rule of law evolved for one purpose: group survival. By dampening intragroup conflict and chaos, the group is strengthened against external existential threats. And as such, when inter-group conflict grows, those given leadership positions are expected to apply a heavy hand, "for the good of the organization." Does this sound familiar?

What would a new wine skin need to look like to hold the new wine that Jesus referenced? Think about the Good News without the contamination of the Roman wine skin. This is hard for us to envision, because a human system of governance for a religious organization formed by the fermentation of truly new light has never existed, except for a short time during the life of Christ and possibly the very early church.

In his understanding of reality, Christ saw past the profane usefulness of human governance systems based on group survival. He valued the progress of the individual and the value of the individual over the integrity and safety of the system. He understood, because of his divine perspective, that earthly group success and survival were temporal and not important compared to the healing of the individual character.

He was an outspoken critic of the use of coercion by those in positions of authority focused on behaviors, conformity, and group norms. And this was because these rules/norms/policies/enforcements evolved to protect the system and the collective, rather than out of concern for the spiritual health and well-being of the individual. Jesus was also notorious for non-compliance with the Jewish rule-of-law theocracy.

We have yet to see a new wine skin emerge that will successfully hold and protect the Good News, while it completes fermentation and maturity. That container, patterned on the life of Christ, will not look like the familiar kingdom-of-man container, which every historical theocracy and all successful contemporary denominations have adopted. When we refer to God as king, lord, judge, or ruler, we reinforce our mental model of a god created in our image.

The true kingdom-of-God container (wine skin) on this earth will take form based on the fermentation and influence of truly new wine. That form of governance, worldview, leadership, and organizational design will emerge based on the living and active nature of the new wine.

For this to happen, Christ's life must be the template for the system of governance. And the eternal good of the individual must always outweigh the perceived threats to the integrity and security of the system. If this principle is not reflected in form of the container, then we are destined to use an old wine skin to carry the good news to the world. This has been and will be ultimately futile.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention again on the Sabbath and Jesus claiming to be Lord of the Sabbath. Let's revisit last TUESDAY's lesson on page 17 of the adult study guide and read first four paragraphs:

- After the amazing synagogue service, Jesus retires with His small band of disciples (Peter, Andrew, James, and John) to Peter's home, evidently to spend the rest of the Sabbath day in a friendly meal and fellowship.

  But a note of concern overshadows the scene: Peter's mother-in-law is ill with a fever, which back then meant you either got better or died. They tell Jesus of the sickness, and He takes Peter's mother-in-law by the hand and raises her up. She immediately begins to provide for their needs. What a powerful example of the principle that those who have been saved, healed, by Jesus will minister to others as a result!

> Throughout Mark it is often the case that Jesus heals by touching the affected person (see Mark 1:41; Mark 5:41), though other times no touch is mentioned (see Mark 2:1–12, Mark 3:1–6, Mark 5:7–13).
> Jesus was not done with ministry that day. After sunset many came to Peter's house for healing, no doubt from seeing what happened at the synagogue that day or from hearing about it. The fact that the Gospel writer does not tell his readers that people delayed because of the hours of the Sabbath indicates that he expected his readers to know about the Sabbath. This feature of Mark is consistent with his readers being Sabbath keepers. (Adult SS Guide 3rd Q 2024, The Book of Mark p. 17).

Does this description raise any questions in your mind? What?

- Why did the people wait until after Sabbath to come to Jesus?
- Were they taught something about the Sabbath that was an actual barrier, hindrance, obstruction keeping them from coming to the Lord of the Sabbath? What?
- Could it be that they believed that the Sabbath is a rule made up that requires legal enforcement and there are all types of behaviors one is forbidden from doing on the Sabbath and thus, they were afraid of breaking the Sabbath law by going to Jesus?
- What about today is it possible to present the Bible Sabbath in such a way that it actually makes it harder for people to come to Jesus? Any examples?
- What are we forbidden from doing on the Sabbath?
    - Work—which is defined where in Scripture? It isn't!
    - Is that all we are forbidden from doing? What about disliking the Sabbath? Isaiah 58
    - Isn't true Sabbath keeping when one delights in the Sabbath, so wouldn't that mean we are not supposed to dislike it?
    - And then does the imposed law view, with all its rules and threats, become the cause of many people disliking both the Sabbath and the god of the Sabbath and could it be that legal Sabbath keeping is the very cause of Sabbath breaking, as it changes one's heart to something other than love and trust.
- Was Peter's mother-in-law breaking the Sabbath when she began working and serving them? Why or why not?
- What about Jesus, did He break the Sabbath when He healed her? The people were waiting until after the Sabbath to pursue getting healed, should Jesus have also waited to heal Peter's mother-in-law?
- Why did Jesus perform so many miracles on the Sabbath, remember the man who was a paralytic for 38 years (John 5)? Jesus purposely healed him on Sabbath, this wasn't an acute sickness, it was a chronic condition, one more day wouldn't have mattered, or Jesus could have gotten there on Friday—why did Jesus choose the Sabbath to perform His healing?
- What is the purpose of the Sabbath?
    - Why did God create the Sabbath as a gift for human beings?
    - What is it to reveal to us?
    - What are we to remember when we remember the Sabbath? Aren't we supposed to remember the truth about God—that God rested, that God stopped using power, that God did not enforce His law that God did not use power to punish Lucifer and the rebellious angels? And therefore we are reassured to know that God does not force people today into compliance, that God leaves us free! Thus the Sabbath is God's sign to us that He will heal and save all who trust Him, through His methods of truth presented in love. It is the only way to save any sinner, because the use of might and power to change minds destroys individuality. Thus the Sabbath is the sign of God's character and methods, when God presented truth in love while leaving His creatures free—how reality works. The Sabbath is the sign that God makes us holy through the application of His design laws.

- But sadly, the legalists in the camp, those who have embraced Rome's lie that God's law functions like human law, teach the Sabbath is a legal test of obedience and teach that worshiping on the wrong day will be punishable by torment and death at the hands of God—the exact opposite of what the Sabbath reveals.

WEDNESDAY

Read Mark 3:20-30:

- Then Jesus entered a house, and again a crowd gathered, so that he and his disciples were not even able to eat. When his family heard about this, they went to take charge of him, for they said, "He is out of his mind." And the teachers of the law who came down from Jerusalem said, "He is possessed by Beelzebub! By the prince of demons he is driving out demons." So Jesus called them and spoke to them in parables: "How can Satan drive out Satan? If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. If a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand. And if Satan opposes himself and is divided, he cannot stand; his end has come. In fact, no one can enter a strong man's house and carry off his possessions unless he first ties up the strong man. Then he can rob his house. I tell you the truth, all the sins and blasphemies of men will be forgiven them. But whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will never be forgiven; he is guilty of an eternal sin." He said this because they were saying, "He has an evil spirit." (Mark 3:20-30 NIV84).

What does this mean? How do you explain it?

What do you think about his family saying Jesus is out of His mind? Are they saying the same thing the religious leaders are saying when they said Jesus was demon-possessed?

My view is that the disciples, His brothers and family, were all struggling to understand Jesus through the lens of this world's laws and value system. It did not make sense to them that you get more by giving away what you have—no you get more by taking from others. It did not make sense to them that you get strength by service rather than be eating and rest.

His family and disciples recognized that Jesus was something different, that He was blessed of God, that He was a source of good and righteousness, but I think they thought Jesus was a little naïve and didn't really understand the ways of the world, and needed some help from them. They may have looked at him like the absent-minded professor who is so focused on his research he doesn't stop to eat and sleep or coordinate his shirt and pants etc. This is what I think His family was thinking, but the religious leaders thought He was actually working against God, was a heretic, was trying to overturn their faith, and thus they really thought He was from the devil.

And Jesus' responses again, beautifully refutes their allegation by an appeal to reality, to design law, how things actually work, not to some claim, or proof text.

Let's read these verses from the Remedy:

- Once Jesus returned home, a crowd gathered so quickly that neither he nor his disciples had time to eat. When those who considered themselves "close to Jesus" heard how the crowds were constantly pressing him, they thought, "He's not thinking clearly enough to handle all the fame," so they sought to manage Jesus' time and schedule. And the theology professors, who taught a legal religion, came over from Jerusalem and said, "He wants to be a celebrity, and just like the devil, he tries to make himself the center of attention. He uses Satan's power to drive out evil forces." So Jesus confronted them publicly with parables: "How can Satan enter into a person, and by entering, get rid of Satan? Think about it: It would be like using water to get rid of wetness. If a kingdom fights against itself, it collapses. If a family turns against each other, its cohesion is destroyed. If Satan opposes himself, he neutralizes his own efforts, his work collapses, and his effectiveness is ended. It is not possible to enter the domain of a strong man and take away his possessions unless one first neutralizes the strong man. Only when the strong man is restrained can one take his possessions. So here is the simple truth: Every sin — every deviation from God's design — can be healed. But anyone who speaks against the Holy Spirit cannot be healed, either now or in the future, for it is the Spirit who works in the heart to administer the Remedy, and the Spirit only works in a willing heart. Closing the heart to the Spirit prevents healing and results in eternal sinfulness." He told them this because they were closing their hearts by saying, "He is working through an evil spirit." (Mark 3:20-30 REM).

2024 Q2: Themes in the Gospel of John - Lesson #4
Witnesses of Christ as the Messiah

by Linda Ojala

SABBATH

I love John's Gospel, as well as his 3 short letters and The Revelation of Jesus Christ! John was thought to be the youngest of the disciples, and he is the only disciple who wasn't murdered; but not for lack of trying, because they did try to boil him in hot oil. When that didn't work, they banished him to the Isle of Patmos, where he died as a very old man. His preserved writings are especially for those who love to see "behind the lines." They start at the very dawn of infinity and reach down to Jesus' triumph and restoration of unity in His universe.

For those of us who are older, perhaps feeling a bit useless compared to previous years, and are tempted to think we are no longer of much use to God or to others, let me read this quote from the wonderfully insightful book called "The Acts of the Apostles," pages 573, 574 by Ellen G. White (EGW):

> "The history of John affords a striking illustration of the way in which God can use aged workers. When John was exiled to the Isle of Patmos, there were many who thought him to be past service, an old and broken reed, ready to fall at any time. But the Lord saw fit to use him still. Though banished from the scenes of his former labor, he did not cease to bear witness to the truth. Even in Patmos he made friends and converts. His was a message of joy, proclaiming a risen Saviour who on high was interceding for His people until He should return to take them to Himself. And it was after John had grown old in the service of his Lord that he received more communications from heaven than he had received during all the former years of his life.
> The most tender regard should be cherished for those whose life interest has been bound up with the work of God. These aged workers have stood faithful amid storm and trial. They may have infirmities, but they still possess talents that qualify them to stand in their place in God's cause. Though worn, and unable to bear the heavier burdens that younger men can and should carry, the counsel they give us is of the highest value.
> They may have made mistakes, but from their failures they have learned to avoid errors and dangers, and are they not therefore competent to give wise counsel? They have borne test and trial, and though they have lost some of their vigor, the Lord does not lay them aside. He gives them special grace and wisdom.
> Those who have served their Master when the work went hard, who endured poverty and remained faithful when there were few to stand for truth, are to be honored and respected. The Lord desires the younger laborers to gain wisdom, strength, and maturity by association with these faithful men. Let the younger men realize that in having such workers among them they are highly favored. Let them give them an honored place in their councils.

As those who have spent their lives in the service of Christ draw near to the close of their earthly ministry, they will be impressed by the Holy Spirit to recount the experiences they have had in connection with the work of God. The record of His wonderful dealings with His people, of His great goodness in delivering them from trial, should be repeated to those newly come to the faith. God desires the old and tried laborers to stand in their place, doing their part to save men and women from being swept downward by the mighty current of evil. He desires them to keep the armor on till He bids them lay it down."

In every respect John has always been an amazing witness to what he experienced with and about God. and we can also bear witness to the truth of he wrote. -- Acts of the Apostles," pp 573, 574

This lesson focuses on witnesses John the Baptist, Andrew and Simon Peter, Philip and Nathaniel, Nicodemus, and the disciple John.

But I would submit that even prior to these, there were many other witnesses:

- Isaiah seems like a book of information that Jesus in heaven gave Isaiah about the whole life and mission of Jesus on earth. Then, when Jesus was born on earth, he used this book to inform himself of that information. It's very interesting to read Isaiah from that viewpoint.

John the Baptist's father, the priest Zechariah, was filled with the Holy Spirit, after he named his son John and regained his ability to hear and speak, and publicly gave this testimony:

"Praise be to the Lord, the God of Israel, because he has come to his people and redeemed them.He has
- raised up a horn of salvation for us in the house of his servant David (as he said through his holy prophets of long ago),
- salvation from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us—
- to show mercy to our ancestors and
- to remember his holy covenant, the oath he swore to our father Abraham: to rescue us from the hand of our enemies, and
- TO ENABLE US TO SERVE HIM WITHOUT FEAR in holiness and righteousness before him all our days.

"And you, my child, will be called a prophet of the Most High; for you will
- go on before the Lord to prepare the way for him,
- to give his people the knowledge of salvation through the forgiveness of their sins, because of the tender mercy of our God, by which
- the rising sun will come to us from heaven to shine on those living in darkness and in the shadow of death,
- to guide our feet into the path of peace." -- Luke 1:68-79 NIV

Mary's husband Joseph was told by an angel that his fiancé's son was actually the Son of God, so Joseph's witness was believing and taking action as he was instructed and was instrumental in keeping Jesus safe in the face of murderous intentions of Satan through King Herod.

Then, of course, there were the Angels giving the good news of Jesus' birth to the shepherds near Bethlehem and guiding the wise men to Jesus. These witnesses told others about the good news and the wise men believed what they were told, going home a different way, and were also part of the escape plan to keep Jesus from being killed.

It's interesting to me that these wise men knew more about the birth of this tiny King than God's own leaders. Remember Daniel, who was made head of all the wise men in Babylon? I believe the wise men kept the prophetic information given them by Daniel, and acted on it when Jesus was born.

Simeon was a witness to the Messiah, when Jesus was brought to the temple in Jerusalem for circumcision:

> "Now there was a man in Jerusalem called Simeon, who was righteous and devout. He was waiting for the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was on him. It had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not die before he had seen the Lord's Messiah. Moved by the Spirit, he went into the temple courts. When the parents brought in the child Jesus to do for him what the custom of the Law required, Simeon took him in his arms and praised God, saying: "Sovereign Lord, as you have promised, you may now dismiss your servant in peace. For my eyes have seen your salvation, which you have prepared in the sight of all nations: A LIGHT FOR REVELATION TO THE GENTILES, AND THE GLORY OF YOUR PEOPLE ISRAEL."
> The child's father and mother marveled at what was said about him. Then Simeon blessed them and said to Mary, his mother: "This child is destined to cause the falling and rising of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be spoken against, so that the thoughts of many hearts will be revealed. And a sword will pierce your own soul too." Luke 2:25-35 NIV

And then there's Anna, who was also at the temple at the same time, and was Christ's second witness:

> "There was also a prophet, Anna, the daughter of Penuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was very old; she had lived with her husband seven years after her marriage, and then was a widow until she was eighty-four. SHE NEVER LEFT THE TEMPLE BUT WORSHIPPED NIGHT AND DAY, FASTING AND PRAYING. Coming up to them at that very moment, she gave thanks to God and spoke about the child to all who were looking forward to the redemption of Jerusalem." -- Luke 2:36-38

The Testimony of John the Baptist

Jews in Jesus' time expected two messiahs, one priestly and the other royal. But when He came, they did not recognize Him in either of these categories.

Isaiah 40:1-5 predicted the part John would play:

> "Comfort, comfort my people, says your God. Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her hard service has been completed, that her sin has been paid for, that she has received from the Lord's hand double for all her sins. A voice of one calling In the wilderness "prepare the way for the Lord; make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be raised up, every mountain and hill made low; the rough ground shall become level, the rugged places a plain. And the glory of the Lord will be revealed, and all people will see it together. For the mouth of the Lord has spoken." A voice says, "Cry out." And I said, "What shall I cry?" "All people are like grass, and all their faithfulness is like the flowers of the field. The grass withers and the flowers fall, because the breath of the Lord blows on them. Surely the people are grass. The grass withers and the flowers fall, but the word of our God endures forever." You who bring good news to Zion, go up on a high mountain. You who bring good news to Jerusalem, lift up your voice with a shout, lift it up, do not be afraid; say to the towns of Judah, "Here is your God!" See, the Sovereign Lord comes with power, and he rules with a mighty arm. See, his reward is with him, and his recompense accompanies him. He tends his flock like a shepherd: He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart; he gently leads those that have young. Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, or with the breadth of his hand marked off the heavens? Who has held the dust of the earth in a basket, or weighed the mountains on the scales and the hills in a balance? Who can fathom the Spirit of the Lord, or instruct the Lord as his counselor? Whom did the Lord consult to enlighten him, and who taught him the right way? Who was it that taught him knowledge, or showed him the path of understanding? Surely the nations are like a drop in a bucket; they are regarded as dust on the scales; he weighs the islands as though they were fine dust. Lebanon is not sufficient for altar fires, nor its animals enough for burnt offerings. Before him all the nations are as nothing; they are regarded by him as worthless and less than nothing. With whom, then, will you compare God? To what image will you liken him? As for an idol, a metalworker casts it, and a goldsmith overlays it with gold and fashions silver chains for it. A person too poor to present such an offering selects wood that will not rot; they look for a skilled worker to set up an idol that will not topple. Do you not know? Have you not heard? Has it not been told you from the beginning? Have you not understood since the earth was founded? He sits enthroned above the circle of the earth, and its people are like grasshoppers. He stretches out the heavens like a canopy, and spreads them out like a tent to live in. He brings princes to naught and reduces the rulers of this world to nothing. No sooner are they planted, no sooner are they sown, no sooner do they take root in the ground, than he blows on them and they wither, and a whirlwind sweeps them away like chaff. "To whom will you compare me? Or who is my equal?" says the Holy One. Lift up your eyes and look to the heavens: Who created all these? He who brings out the starry host one by one and calls forth > each of them by name. Because of his great power and mighty strength, not one of them is missing. Why do you complain, Jacob? Why do you say, Israel, "My way is hidden from the Lord; my cause is disregarded by my God"? Do you not know? Have you not heard? The Lord is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He will not grow tired or weary, and his understanding no one can fathom. He gives strength to the weary and increases the power of the weak. Even youths grow tired and weary, and young men stumble and fall; but those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint." NIV

This reminds me a lot of what God says to Job in chapters 38-42 when they finally talk. What God was John preparing people for?

John's ministry and mission was to prepare the way for the messiah by being a voice to make straight paths for Him, baptizing people with water and calling for repentance. John also said,

> "I baptize you with water for repentance. But after me comes ONE WHO IS MORE POWERFUL THAN I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry. HE WILL BAPTIZE YOU WITH THE HOLY SPIRIT AND FIRE. His winnowing fork is in his hand, and he will clear his threshing floor, gathering his wheat into the barn and BURNING UP THE CHAFF WITH UNQUENCHABLE FIRE." -- Matthew 3:11-12 NIV

Most of us will recall that in the days before super highways, men would go in front of a traveling King and fix the road so his path would be as smooth as possible. They would fill in the dips and take down the the bumps.

Since our mission is like John's, in that we are preparing for Christ's second coming, how can we "fix the road" for Jesus, like John did?

Let's think about how we could present these:

- Clear up misconceptions about who God is
- Point to God as our powerful creator
- Understand how God's Holy Spirit baptizes us
- Clearly explain what it means to be baptized with fire
- Present how God uses his power - to grant true freedom, to serve His creation, to heal us from sin, to save us from eternal death and prepare us for understanding and meeting "the unquenchable fire."

> "Therefore the Lord, the Lord Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel, declares: "Ah! I will vent my wrath on my foes and avenge myself on my enemies. I will turn my hand against you; I WILL THOROUGHLY PURGE AWAY YOUR DROSS AND REMOVE ALL YOUR IMPURITIES." -- Isaiah 1:24,25 NIV

> "Surely wickedness burns like a fire; it consumes briers and thorns, it sets the forest thickets ablaze, so that it rolls upward in a column of smoke." -- Isaiah 9:18 NIV

John declared Jesus to be "The Lamb of God who TAKES AWAY THE SIN OF THE WORLD." As John baptized Jesus with water, "he went up out of the water. At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting on him. And a voice from heaven said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased." -- Matthew 3:16,17 NIV

How does Jesus take away the sin of the world?

> "Who has believed our message and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed? He grew up before him like a tender shoot, and like a root out of dry ground. He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him, nothing in his appearance that we should desire him. He was despised and rejected by mankind, a man of suffering, and familiar with pain. Like one from whom people hide their faces he was despised, and we held him in low esteem. Surely he took up our pain and bore our suffering,
> BUT
> he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was on him,
> AND BY HIS WOUNDS WE ARE HEALED.
> We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to our own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all. After he has suffered, he will see the light of life and be satisfied; BY HIS KNOWLEDGE MY RIGHTEOUS SERVANT WILL JUSTIFY MANY, AND HE WILL BEAR THEIR INIQUITIES." -- Isaiah 53:1-6,11 NIV
> "The sinners in Zion are terrified; trembling grips the godless: "Who of us can dwell with the consuming fire? Who of us can dwell with everlasting burning?" Those who walk righteously and speak what is right, who reject gain from extortion and keep their hands from accepting bribes, who stop their ears against plots of murder and shut their eyes against contemplating evil— they are the ones who will dwell on the heights, whose refuge will be the mountain fortress. Their bread will be supplied, and water will not fail them. Your eyes will see the king in his beauty and view a land that stretches afar." -- Isaiah 33:14-17 NIV

The Lamb of God

The Hebrew nation was looking for a Messiah who would deliver them from Rome. The goal of the gospel of John was to change their understanding of the Messiah. They needed to recognize in Jesus the fulfillment of the prophecies regarding the coming King, who would renew the relationship between God and His people.

Since today, this very day, is Yom Kippur to the Jews of today, and corresponds to the Day of Atonement in the yearly sanctuary service, I want to take a little side trip to talk about this a bit. The temple services were in every aspect a witness about Jesus and how He saves us. The feast days were all about the steps in our journey from destruction to salvation. From the Passover through the Feast of Tabernacles; from passing over our sins when the blood of a pure young lamb was on their doors and in our hearts, through to living or tabernacling with God again. It is The Lamb who TAKES AWAY THE SIN OF THE WORLD.

On the Day of Atonement, to atone for sin and purify the Sanctuary of the accumulated record of the sin of the people and priests, two goats were presented. One goat was sacrificed to death for the life of God's people, but the sins of the people were symbolically placed on the head of the other goat. Was that goat killed? No, it was lead out to the desert and left there.

This reminds me of Satan's final condemnation:

> "How you have fallen from heaven, morning star, son of the dawn! You have been cast down to the earth, you who once laid low the nations! You said in your heart, "I will ascend to the heavens; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of Mount Zaphon. I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High." But you are brought down to the realm of the dead, to the depths of the pit. Those who see you stare at you, they ponder your fate: "Is this the man who shook the earth and made kingdoms tremble, the man who made the world a wilderness, who overthrew its cities and would not let his captives go home?" All the kings of the nations lie in state, each in his own tomb. But you are cast out of your tomb like a rejected branch; you are covered with the slain, with those pierced by the sword, those who descend to the stones of the pit. Like a corpse trampled underfoot, you will not join them in burial, for you have destroyed your land and killed your people. Let the offspring of the wicked never be mentioned again." – Isaiah 14: 12-20 NIV

Add to that this information in Revelation:

> "And I saw an angel coming down out of heaven, having the key to the Abyss and holding in his hand a great chain. He seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil, or Satan, and bound him for a thousand years. He threw him into the Abyss, and locked and sealed it over him, to keep him from deceiving the nations anymore until the thousand years were ended. After that, he must be set free for a short time. I saw thrones on which were seated those who had been given authority to judge. And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of their testimony about Jesus and because of the word of God. They had not worshiped the beast or its image and had not received its mark on their foreheads or their hands. They came to life and reigned with Christ a thousand years. (The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were ended.) This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy are those who share in the first resurrection. The second death has no power over them, but they will be priests of God and of Christ and will reign with him for a thousand years. When the thousand years are over, Satan will be released from his prison and will go out to > deceive the nations in the four corners of the earth—Gog and Magog—and to gather them for battle. In number they are like the sand on the seashore. They marched across the breadth of the earth and surrounded the camp of God's people, the city he loves. But fire came down from heaven and devoured them." -- Revelation 20:1-9 NIV

Satan is left on this planet, which he has reduced to a wilderness, and with no living people to tempt for a thousand years, to contemplate the results of his rulership, as symbolized by the goat in the desert. These are such solemn times!

So how is the Lamb of God a witness?

The lesson tells us to read Jesus' lamb-like qualities:

- Mark 10:45, which says Jesus came to serve and to give His life as a ransom for many; Romans 5:6, Christ died for us while we were yet sinners; and
- 1 Peter 2:24, by His wounds we are healed. Verse 25 asks us to return to the Shepherd of our souls.

TUESDAY

The Two Disciples of John

Two of John the Baptist's disciples heard what he had said about Jesus being Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world. Andrew (Simon Peter's brother) and Philip left John to follow Jesus from then until the rest of their lives. Both went and found another person - Andrew brought his brother Simon, and Philip brought Nathaniel. So, as witnesses are are to believe in Jesus, follow Him to learn from and follow His teachings, and invite others to "Come and See" for themselves!

I find it interesting that no church leaders were among the 12 disciples. Why?

> "If John and Andrew had possessed the unbelieving spirit of the priests and rulers, they would not have been found as learners at the feet of Jesus. They would have come to Him as critics, to judge His words. Many thus close the door to the most precious opportunities. But not so did these first disciples. They had responded to the Holy Spirit's call in the preaching of John the Baptist. Now they recognized the voice of the heavenly Teacher. To them the words of Jesus were full of freshness and truth and beauty. A divine illumination was shed upon the teaching of the Old Testament Scriptures. THE MANY-SIDED THEMES OF TRUTH STOOD OUT IN NEW LIGHT. It is contrition and faith and love that enable the soul to receive wisdom from heaven. Faith working by love is the key of knowledge, and everyone that loveth "knoweth God." -- 1 John 4:7… If Nathanael had trusted to the rabbis for guidance, he would never have found Jesus. It was by seeing and judging for himself that he became a disciple. So in the case of many today whom prejudice withholds from good. How different would be the result if they would "come and see!"

> While they trust to the guidance of human authority, none will come to a saving knowledge of the truth. Like Nathanael, we need to study God's word for ourselves, and pray for the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit. He who saw Nathanael under the fig tree will see us in the secret place of prayer. Angels from the world of light are near to those who in humility seek for divine guidance." -- The Desire of Ages, EGW, pp 139,140

Should we be seeking new light as the disciples were?

> "The Reformation did not, as many suppose, end with Luther. IT IS TO BE CONTINUED TO THE CLOSE OF YHIS WORLD'S HISTORY. Luther had a great work to do in reflecting to others the light which God had permitted to shine upon him; yet he did not receive all the light which was to be given to the world. From that time to this, new light has been continually shining upon the Scriptures, and NEW TRUTHS HAVE BEEN CONSTANTLY UNFOLDING." -- The Great Controversy, EGW, pg 148

Philip and Nathaniel

The lesson points out that prejudice easily blinds the eyes from seeing people for what they are really worth. When Philip called Nathaniel to "Come and See" for himself about Jesus, he added, "of Nazareth.' Undoubtedly, he knew this would not set well with Nathaniel. So of course, Nathaniel uttered the prejudicial line, "Can anything good come from Nazareth?" Fortunately, his friendship with Philip was stronger than his prejudice. We need to be friends of people first!! Show them we care, before they care enough to believe us.

We see in this encounter that the best way to deal with prejudice is not some exalted philosophical or theological argumentation, but rather to invite the individual to experience the truth personally for themselves.

If you have eve seen gemstones before they are cut and polished, you will note that they don't usually look that special. But cutting and polishing them and then exposing them tonight brings out the beautiful facets! With close observation, we see even greater facets! We need to keep looking for and sharing the beautiful facts of truth!!

They thing I notice about Jesus is His insight into people, more so than His outright miracles. Jesus knew Nathanial, while sitting under the fig tree, "a true Israelite in whom there is no deceit," and that built trust into Nathaniel.

THURSDAY

The Witness of Nicodemus

You have to Love Nicodemus. He was a highly respected member of the elite Sanhedrin; he had a paid position he didn't want to lose. Now he was a searcher! Not content with going along with the party line, he dug for the truth, even going so far as to meet with Jesus under the cover of darkness. He was a teacher of teachers, yet he learned from his visit that he had never really understood God's plan for mankind, to be saved from sin, rather than the Romans. He, with us, learned the true meaning of the serpent on the pole lifted up for the believing Israelites to be healed from the venom of the snake. "That everyone who believes in Him may have eternal life." Nicodemus seems to have taken the rebuke and learned his lesson, because after Jesus died, he bought 75 lbs of spices to use for Jesus' burial, and helped Joseph of Arimathea bury Jesus in Joseph's tomb.

I used to think that when Jesus said:

"no one can ENTER the kingdom of God unless he is born of water and the Spirit," He meant we couldn't go to heaven. But in a different version on this discussion between Jesus and Nicodemus was, "Jesus replied, "Very truly I tell you, no one can SEE the kingdom of God unless they are born again." -- John 3:3 NIV

Thinking of binoculars, if someone hands binoculars to you usually you have to adjust the focus so that you can see and identify clearly. The Holy Spirit does that same thing for us. Unless He refocuses our spiritual eyes, we can't even SEE the kingdom of God. We can't perceive it and it seems foolish to us.

> "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but TO SAVE THE WOLD THROUGH HIM. Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because they have not believed in the name of God's one and only Son. THIS IS THE VERDICT: Light has come into the world, but people loved darkness instead of light because their deeds were evil. Everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for fear that their deeds will be exposed. But whoever lives by the truth comes into the light, so that IT MAY BE SEEN PLAINLY THAT WHAT THEY HAVE DONE HAS BEEN DONE IN THE SIGHT OF GOD." (The NIV says, 'WHAT HAS BEEN DONE HAS BEEN DONE THROUGH GOD.") -- John 3:16-21
> "In the interview with Nicodemus, Jesus unfolded the plan of salvation, and His mission to the world. In none of His subsequent discourses did He explain so fully, step by step, the work necessary to be done in the hearts of all who would inherit the kingdom of heaven. At the very beginning of His ministry He opened the truth to a member of the Sanhedrin, to the mind that was most receptive, and to an appointed teacher of the people. But the leaders of Israel did not welcome the light. Nicodemus hid the truth in his heart, and for three years there was little apparent fruit.

But Jesus was acquainted with the soil into which He cast the seed. The words spoken at night to one listener in the lonely mountain were not lost. For a time Nicodemus did not publicly acknowledge Christ, but he watched His life, and pondered His teachings. In the Sanhedrin council he repeatedly thwarted the schemes of the priests to destroy Him. When at last Jesus was lifted up on the cross, Nicodemus remembered the teaching upon Olivet: "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." The light from that secret interview illumined the cross upon Calvary, and Nicodemus saw in Jesus the world's Redeemer.

After the Lord's ascension, when the disciples were scattered by persecution, Nicodemus came boldly to the front. He employed his wealth in sustaining the infant church that the Jews had expected to be blotted out at the death of Christ. In the time of peril he who had been so cautious and questioning was firm as a rock, encouraging the faith of the disciples, and furnishing means to carry forward the work of the gospel. He was scorned and persecuted by those who had paid him reverence in other days. He became poor in this world's goods; yet he faltered not in the faith which had its beginning in that night conference with Jesus.

Nicodemus related to John the story of that interview, and by his pen it was recorded for the instruction of millions. The truths there taught are as important today as they were on that solemn night in the shadowy mountain, when the Jewish ruler came to learn the way of life from the lowly Teacher of Galilee." -- The Desire of Ages, EGW, pg 176, 177

I love a God who is not intimidated by questions!

This is Paul's take on living the life of a witness for God:

FRIDAY

Further Thought

Though I am free and belong to no one, I have made myself a slave to everyone, to win as many as possible. To the Jews I became like a Jew, to win the Jews. To those under the law I became like one under the law (though I myself am not under the law), so as to win those under the law. To those not having the law I became like one not having the law (though I am not free from God's law but am under Christ's law), so as to win those not having the law. To the weak I became weak, to win the weak. I have become all things to all people so that by all possible means I might save some. I do all this for the sake of the gospel, that I may share in its blessings. Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one gets the prize? RUN IN SUCH A WAY AS TO GET THE PRIZE. Everyone who competes in the games goes into strict training. They do it to get a crown that will not last, but we do it to get a crown that will last forever. Therefore I do not run like someone running aimlessly; I do not fight like a boxer beating the air. No, I strike a blow to my body and make it my slave SO THAT AFTER I HAVE PREACHED TO OTHERS, I MYSELF WILL NOT BE DISQUALIFIED FOR THE PRIZE. -- 1 Corinthians 9:19-27 NIV

How do we become witnesses to the Messiah? We become intimate with God, really know Him, then get to know and care about others and show them how to be saved and become witnesses.

> "How, then, are we to be saved? "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness," so the Son of man has been lifted up, and everyone who has been deceived and bitten by the serpent may look and live. "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." John 1:29. The light shining from the cross reveals the love of God. His love is drawing us to Himself. If we do not resist this drawing, we shall be led to the foot of the cross in repentance for the sins that have crucified the Saviour. Then the Spirit of God through faith produces a new life in the soul. The thoughts and desires are brought into obedience to the will of Christ. The heart, the mind, are created anew in the image of Him who works in us to subdue all things to Himself. Then the law of God is written in the mind and heart, and we can say with Christ, "I delight to do Thy will, O my God." Psalm 40:8." -- The Desire of Ages, EGW, pp 175

The Testimony of the Samaritans

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Read first paragraph,

- Who were the Samaritans? The northern kingdom of Israel had been taken captive by the Assyrians in 722 b.c. To create political stability, the Assyrians dispersed their captives throughout their empire. Likewise, captives from other nations were brought to populate the northern kingdom, and these became the Samaritans, who practiced their own form of Judaism. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 38).

to Wikipedia there persists today a small group of Samaritans numbering less than a couple thousand. They are considered by some in Israel to be Jews, by others they are considered a separate group. They have distinct beliefs from the Jews, some of which are:

- The believe only in the first five books of the Bible written by Moses and a different version of the book of Joshua
- They believe that the high priest Eli was a scammer who was a false high priest and made a counterfeit ark of the covenant and created a false worship center at Shiloh to keep people from worshiping at the true center in Mount Gerizim.
- They believe that the promised messiah does come through Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, but not Judah; that he has not yet been born and will be a descendant of Joseph, this is likely because the Samaritans are thought to be descendants of Joseph's two sons Ephraim and Manasseh.
- They believe that when their messiah, which they call the Taheb, comes he will be a prophet like Moses and prophecy or lead for 40 years; that he will bring all true Israelites back to the promised land, and then the resurrection will happen; that he will find the original tent of meeting constructed by Moses on Mt. Gerizim and then he will die and be buried on that mountain.
- They observe Sabbath from Friday sunset to Saturday sunset and observe all the feast days described in Leviticus.
- They have their own high priest.
- They believe Mt. Gerizim is the most holy site while the Jews believe it is Jerusalem.
- Most importantly, this group, like the Jews, reject Jesus Christ as Messiah.

Most Jewish religious leaders through history, and also in Christ's day, believed the Samaritan religion was a false religion, a counterfeit of what God gave through Moses and His prophets. We would agree with this conclusion.

But how did Jesus treat the Samaritans? Did Jesus condemn them because they were caught up in a system of beliefs that were erroneous in many ways? Did Jesus refuse to present the truth to them because they had a different understanding of the Bible and the instructions contained therein?

What does Jesus' parable of the Good Samaritan tell us regarding what Jesus thought about their divergent doctrines? In the story there was the injured person and the Levite, Jewish priest, and Samaritan—who is the one that Jesus intended to be considered the one right with God? The Samaritan—but the Samaritan would hold to a lot of erroneous doctrinal beliefs and fail to do the correct religious instructions, sacrifice in the right way, pay tithe to the right organization etc.—how could he be right with God while holding to erroneous doctrinal beliefs and doing the wrong religious activities?

Conversely, the Levite and priest would both hold to the correct doctrinal beliefs and engage in the correct religious practices, pay tithe to the right organization, sacrifice in the right place and the right way etc., yet they were not right with God. How can it be that believing the right doctrines and doing the right behaviors these men were not right with God?

So what makes one right with God?

What about today? In your church organization, what has been the emphasis on what makes one right with God? Is it on believing the correct beliefs and paying tithe to the right organization, getting baptized in the right way, with the right words, by the right authorized person, doing communion in the right way etc.?

Or is it about a right heart attitude and living lives that love God and others and love truth and thus be willing to be corrected and follow unfolding truth as our infinite God of truth reveals it to us? Didn't the Samaritans embrace Jesus and the truth He revealed and asked Him to stay longer with them? This revealed that their hearts were open to truth, but the Jewish leaders were hardened against truth because they were defending their own doctrinal beliefs, orthodoxy, and practices.

Those who hold to doctrines and ceremonies often reject truth that would change their current beliefs or their religious practices and end up enemies of God and their fellow humans under the guise of being godly.

What does Jesus' attitude toward the Samaritans tell us about the things they and the Jews fought over?

What was it the Samaritans needed? Was the saving message for the Samaritans different than what the Jews needed? What about the rest of the world?

So Jesus' said to his disciples:

- But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth." (Acts 1:8 NIV84).

The true gospel message is the exact same message for every human being whether Jew or gentile, black or white, free or slave, man or woman, for we all suffering from the same sin-sickness and all need the same Remedy Jesus Christ!

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on John 4:1-4 asking us the background of Jesus' visit with the woman at the well:

- The Pharisees heard that Jesus was gaining and baptizing more disciples than John, although in fact it was not Jesus who baptized, but his disciples. When the Lord learned of this, he left Judea and went back once more to Galilee. Now he had to go through Samaria. (John 4:1-4 NIV84).

What is going on that caused Jesus to leave Judea?

Consider this commentary,

- But the disciples of John looked with jealousy upon the growing popularity of Jesus. They stood ready to criticize His work, and it was not long before they found occasion. A question arose between them and the Jews as to whether baptism availed to cleanse the soul from sin; they maintained that the baptism of Jesus differed essentially from that of John. Soon they were in dispute with Christ's disciples in regard to the form of words proper to use at baptism, and finally as to the right of the latter to baptize at all. (The Desire of Ages 178, emphasis mine).

What is the problem? Jealously, which is a manifestation of selfishness, which is driven by fear—fear of insignificance, loss of esteem, power, position, relevance and is not motivated by love for others or advancing God's kingdom, even though people often deceive themselves that they are only jealous for God's kingdom like the Pharisees did.

And fear and selfishness, causing jealousy, leads one to attack others seen as a threat in order to defeat the enemy, so people criticize, find fault, devalue others. In the process one highlights differences in action, method, mode, words chosen, and even alleged rights all intended to elevate self and devalue the other. Things like: "They dress differently, speak differently, don't follow the same script, use lake water for baptism while we use river water; they don't have the right or authority to baptize, they haven't been ordained."

And all of this obscures the reality of God's kingdom, the focus is on rules, enforcement, legality, who is authorized and who is not, truth by declaration, position, and power rather than evidence, fact, reality—and that method not only does not change hearts and minds, it obstructs the healing of hearts and minds.

And that is what human politics does—it gets people to argue, to use the methods of claims, proclamations, authority, imposed law, rules, deceit, propaganda, threats, fear, intimidation, manipulation, accusation, using human organizations and rules to cause stress and problems all intended to divert minds away from evidence, facts, truth, incite fear, jealousy, envy, hurt, and thereby get people aligned with one leader or group or another for the purpose of exploiting the people for the power of the political elites. The founding documents of the USA were intentionally designed to limit the ability of the elites to exploit the masses and it is why those principles have been and are under attack, because Satan's government is the government of the few elites exploiting the masses for the benefit of the elites.

What did Jesus do? Why didn't Jesus stay and argue? What did leaving the area do? Took the emotional/relational fuel away, no one to argue with, no one to point at, no one to be offended by—and because there wasn't social media to follow Him everywhere or keep rerunning video in edited and distorted ways, things settled down.

Read John 4:5-9:

- So he came to a town in Samaria called Sychar, near the plot of ground Jacob had given to his son Joseph. Jacob's well was there, and Jesus, tired as he was from the journey, sat down by the well. It was about the sixth hour. When a Samaritan woman came to draw water, Jesus said to her, "Will you give me a drink?" (His disciples had gone into the town to buy food.) The Samaritan woman said to him, "You are a Jew and I am a Samaritan woman. How can you ask me for a drink?" (For Jews do not associate with Samaritans.) (John 4:5-9 NIV84).

What do you hear happening?

What do you think about Jesus' actions?

What does the woman's answer indicate?

Do you think she felt honored? Do you think she felt curious, offended, fearful, confused?

Imagine a black woman during Jim Crow and a white man asking her to drink from her cup. What might she think? Might she think: What is wrong with this man? Could she be concerned it was some type of a trick?

This encounter between Jesus and the woman is about cultural biases and discrimination, how human fear and selfishness infect hearts and put up barriers to the gospel and how the true gospel of Jesus Christ breaks through all such artificial barriers. God sees all people as part of the same human family in need of the same healing solution and He wants all to come to salvation. But human beings, infected with fear and selfishness, are highly vulnerable to experiencing innocuous differences as threats and allowing those differences to cause biases and prejudices.

The Samaritans were treated by the Jews as second-class citizens, seen as dirty, unworthy, evil heretics and discriminated against. So in our culture today that same unchristlike attitude is seen in all forms of racism, sexism, and all the various biases and bigotries that cause people to devalue and exploit, abuse, and discriminate against other people based on innocuous differences.

True Christianity recognizes all people are made in the image of God, are descended from Adam and all have infinite worth and value; that Jesus died for them as well as for you and me.

The cause racism and all forms of exploitation is sin, fear and selfishness in the heart. And the solution for sin in all its forms, including racism, is Jesus in the hearts of people, removing fear and selfishness from the hearts and restoring God's living law of love into hearts and minds, so that we love others as our self.

The only righteous basis for us to discriminate—meaning to set up barriers of association, intimacy, trust, marriage, business, and fellowship is one of character: honesty versus dishonest, loyalty versus disloyalty, accepting Jesus as Savior versus rejecting Jesus and elevating another false god as the lord of their life. It is right to discriminate on the basis of godliness versus ungodliness of heart, mind, method, motive, and character in regard to who we trust, form alliances with, marry, enter into business etc. But while it is necessary for health to set healthy boundaries, we still love those individuals, our hearts ache for them knowing that without Jesus they are suffering and slowly dying and we actively seek to reach them with the saving gospel of Jesus Christ. This is the only biblical basis for discrimination and separation and one taught all throughout the Scripture.

This is the application of love which always rejoices with the truth 1 Corinthians 13. The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of truth AND love. When the Spirit of God is present both truth and love are being advanced and in that atmosphere we have freedom:

- Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. (2 Corinthians 3:17 NIV84).

Let me expose a trap of Satan, how Satan gets people to advance his cause under the lie that they are fighting for God, or advancing the gospel, or fighting against evil, or fighting against racism. He does this by separating truth and love in a variety of ways, and when this happens freedom is lost and people become mental and emotional slaves controlled by emotionalism, feelings, or false beliefs.

I want to say to anyone listening, if you have experienced discrimination, mistreatment, rejection, vilification in this world because of some aspect of your being like race, national origin, sex—I want you to know that you are loved. You are loved with a supreme love by our supreme Creator God who came to this earth to provide you with everything necessary for your health, healing, wellbeing, happiness and eternal life. And the only path for health, happiness, healing, and eternal life is the path of truth and love working in your heart and mind.

- Love without truth is not kind—it's cruel; Truth without love is not healing—it's destructive.

Understand, though, that neither our love or God's love for a person changes objective reality nor prevents the damage of breaking away from God's design laws for life. We can love a person who believes they can fly and in their false belief jumps off the Empire State Building—but their sincere belief that they can fly doesn't change the design law of gravity, and our love for them doesn't protect them from the truth of what their choice will do to them.

Sin breaks the design laws of life, the protocols built into the fabric of reality that our hearts, minds, spirits, and souls operate upon. God's love never changes, but if we do not respond to His love by following and internalizing the truth, then we will still suffer and die while God continues to love us.

Yes, every single person is loved by God, but He wants more for everyone of us than simply to let us know that He loves us—He wants us well, healthy, restored to perfection, freed from fear, guilt, shame, and sin. He wants to restore His design laws for life within us. He will love us no matter what we do—but we will not experience healing, restoration, wellbeing no matter what we do. Our choices actually matter, our choices in what we believe, who we trust, and what methods we apply to our lives determines what happens to us.

And the devil works very hard to separate truth and love. He does this by getting people to apply some truth without love, without concern, without the welfare for others in their heart and the truth is then used to discourage, to bring guilt and shame, and to cause despair. Imagine if we only had the truth of our own mistakes, sins, and sinfulness without the truth of God's love, grace, and healing remedy provided in Jesus? Such truth without the love and grace of God would only discourage and destroy. Thus the devil works to separate truth from love.

But love, in the form of sympathy and empathy, can be separated from the truth, where people feel the pain, suffering, and hurt that innocents have experienced at the expense of abusers and rather than bringing truth united with love to heal the wounded, they instead get tricked by the wicked, through their empathy, to take actions that are outside of God's design, take actions that use Satan's methods as the intervention, the solution, the treatment to fix the wrong and this only causes more harm.

This is what wokeism and critical theories do. They rely on a two-step deceit process to create a reinforcing loop of evil that destroys all involved, but tricks people involved into thinking they are doing good while in fact they are causing more harm.

Satan's first step is to deceive in order to incite acts of injustice, and the second step is to advance a good cause (e.g., racial justice) but by the application of his, not God's, methods. Let's unpack this two-step trap in detail.

> Step One: Satan's first step is to deceive by replacing God's standard with a false standard. The ungodly forces do this by replacing the godly division of human society, which is the divide between moral good and evil (i.e., honesty versus dishonesty, kindness versus cruelty, loyalty versus disloyalty, etc.—what the Bible describes as the sheep and goats, wheat and tares, righteous and wicked, saved and lost) with some other innocuous difference occurring among people groups (race, gender, language, ethnicity, national origin, etc.) and then attribute moral value, privilege, and/or superiority/inferiority to these innocuous differences, thereby inflaming fear, selfishness, jealousy, envy, hate, violence, and subsequent acts of injustice against those deemed inferior.

In step one, some people believe the lie that skin color or gender or national origin actually makes some people inferior or less valuable or worthy. Their own insecurity causes them to fear losing what they have to others more capable or qualified. Thus, rather than making decisions upon objective reality, hiring the most qualified, people who are driven by fear and selfishness rather than love and trust, will hire people who are more like them to make them feel more secure—they will discriminate against people they see divergent from them, whether it is racially different, or ethnically different, or socially different.

Healthy discrimination is based on God's separation. We assertively want to discriminate against hiring people who will lie, cheat, and exploit. If we are hiring for a daycare, we definitely want to keep out pedophiles. But we also want to keep out incompetence. If we are hiring an airline pilot, we want to discriminate against those without a pilot's license. But objective ability is not always documented with some official licensure. If we are hiring a person as our receptionist, some people are objectively better in their interpersonal skills, deportment, the way they present themselves, mood regulation, impulse control than others—and this is not determined by the ungodly divisions, it is NOT determined by skin color or gender, but by character and maturity.

However, the lie of Satan is that character differences don't matter, it is the superficial divisions that matter. Thus the selfish sword of injustice cuts on both sides. The insecure will not hire the most competent who are of a different race or background because of their fear. They will project out threats that do not exist and vilify those of a different background without reason and not see the problem is in their own character, projecting out their own pathology and thus discriminate unjustly.

They will form lies that some races or groups are actually better than others based on these superficial innocuous differences. This lie leads to the creation of various caste systems (including the historic divine right of rulers and the lie that there is an actual difference between people of the royal class and commoners). And these arbitrary divisions cause people to inflict real injustice upon the innocent—slavery, Jim Crow, aristocracy versus commoner, and many other forms of exploitation, abuse, and restrictions of human freedom.

This step-one deception has been used to divide society for millennia—and people still fight over this lie today. But as evil as this step-one deception is, the step-two trap is even more diabolical.

Step Two: Satan's second step is designed to ensnare good people, those who recognize and reject the step-one lie and are outraged at the injustice they see and experience. Satan entraps them by tricking them into pursuing justice, "social justice," by using satanic methods.

Those who are tricked into adopting the step-two deception, rather than pursuing justice by advancing the gospel and placing Jesus and God's methods of doing right at the center, instead place the various injustices of the wicked at the center—the center of their attention, movement, media, and emotions. Racism, sexism, and various other wrongs are focused upon in order to inflame anger, outrage, and stir up a sense of injustice and, thereby, seduce these compassionate souls to accept the solution that Satan offers—"social justice" by the application of imposed human law, coercion, and external power to force behavior change, rather than by winning people to love and trust. But this only perpetuates new injustices and keeps the system of conflict and division going and actively keeps Jesus out of hearts and minds, thereby obstructing the only real solution to racism and all other forms of human injustice.

This methodology is central to Critical Race Theory and the other Critical Theories, which all function along this two-step deceit process: Identify objective racial or other injustices, label Christianity and its values as racist—thereby turning minds away from Jesus—and then introduce the solution of "social justice" through so-called "Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion," which are all antagonistic to both individual and societal health.

What makes this process so diabolical is that this method of seeking "social justice" causes people to feel good, to feel like they are doing right, to even believe they are advancing God's kingdom—after all, they are opposing racism or some other evil—yet they fail to recognize that these very policies and practices are a violation of God's principles, violations that only incite more division and cause more harm.

Read John 4:7-15:

- When a Samaritan woman came to draw water, Jesus said to her, "Will you give me a drink?" (His disciples had gone into the town to buy food.) The Samaritan woman said to him, "You are a Jew and I am a Samaritan woman. How can you ask me for a drink?" (For Jews do not associate with Samaritans.) Jesus answered her, "If you knew the gift of God and who it is that asks you for a drink, you would have asked him and he would have given you living water."

  "Sir," the woman said, "you have nothing to draw with and the well is deep. Where can you get this living water? Are you greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well and drank from it himself, as did also his sons and his flocks and herds?"

> Jesus answered, “Everyone who drinks this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks the water I give him will never thirst. Indeed, the water I give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life.”
> The woman said to him, “Sir, give me this water so that I won’t get thirsty and have to keep coming here to draw water.” (John 4:7-15 NIV84).

What lessons do you take from this story?

What method does Jesus use to engage the woman? Why do you think the woman was intrigued rather than offended? In other words, why didn’t she take offense and say, “I am not beneath you. You have no right to tell me to draw you water; I am not your slave”?

I think it is because of what the Bible is incapable of communicating to us—the Bible does not give us the tone of Christ’s voice, the look in His eye, the gentleness and compassion of His attitude toward her. All we have are the words of Christ.

Her response of engagement and inquiry informs us that she did not take offense but instead was shocked that a Jew would even speak to her. And I suggest, she was shocked because she discerned in Him actual kindness and respect to her as a person and that He was not demeaning to her.

So Christ’s first action is to see her as a person, as a child of God, as a soul who is loved, valued, cherished, but one who is also wounded, hurting, and in need of healing, of saving, of redeeming.

Knowing the biases and bigotry between the two peoples, Jesus doesn’t attempt to lecture, to instruct, to direct, such an action would likely be seen as demeaning, devaluing, judgmental, as ridiculing; instead He puts Himself in the position of the one who needs something from her. In doing so He demonstrates several things: that He is not repulsed by her; that He doesn’t devalue her; that He finds her worthy to engage and interact with and would appreciate her help in drawing water.

But once she engaged with Him, He immediately speaks to the longing of her soul, a water that quenches her deepest thirst and need. And she asks for this water.

What does the symbolism of water teach us about what Jesus is offering?

Consider what water does and how it has object lesson application to the plan of salvation:

- Water composes the largest portion of our physical being and is required for life
    - Genesis chapter one tells us that water covered the face of the deep and the spirit hovered over the water
    - We are made of water and the life animating energy, the breath of life, comes from God
    - Without water we will die and without the animating life energy, the Spirit of God, we will die
- We must drink water regularly or we dehydrate and die

    - We do not have life in ourselves, we must stay connected to God or we will decay and die
- Water refreshes
    - The Holy Spirit brings life to our bodies, minds, and spirits and refreshes us
- Water washes away dirt or cleanses
    - The Holy Spirit cleanses our hearts and minds from sin, fear, selfishness, guilt, and shame
- Water cools a fever
    - The Holy Spirit cools our tempers, irritability, jealousies, and rage changing our demeanor from pushing to get our own way to trusting Jesus with our lives and how things turn out
- Water puts out fire
    - The water of life, the cleansing presence of the Holy Spirit, increases our faith and extinguishes all the fiery darts of Satan, the fiery darts of fear, hurt, resentment, and various temptations
- Water has three states, solid, liquid, gas
    - God has three persons, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit
- Water can be polluted
    - The life energy, spirit, breath of life, God breathed into Adam was pure love, but Adam contaminated his life, his spirit, with fear and selfishness and we are all born in sin, conceived in iniquity, born with spirits contaminated with fear and selfishness because this is the only life, the only spirit, Adam and Eve had to reproduce life with.
    - Jesus came to purify the wellsprings of life. To eradicate fear and selfishness and restore in humanity the pure life of love and trust. And through Jesus we can die to the old life of fear and selfishness and be reborn and receive the new life, the new spirit of love and trust with its animating and motivating energy. This is the water of life offered to the woman and to you and me.
- When the earth became polluted with sin water cleansed the earth—and in the end the Spirit of God, the unveiled glory of God, will wash over the earth and cleanse it from all sin
- Water symbolizes the cleansing of hearts and minds in baptism—but the H2O doesn't cleanse the soul from sin it represents the Holy Spirit cleansing the heart and mind when we submit and surrender and are immersed in heart and mind into the cleansing power and presence of the Holy Spirit, i.e., experience baptism of the Spirit.
- Water coming from the Rock in the desert represented the pure Spirit of God coming through and from Jesus to humanity that heals, purifies, recreates us in righteousness, and gives us eternal life.
- In Elijah's day it did not rain for 3.5 years, an object lesson for the lack of the Holy Spirit because they turned their hearts away from God to Baal. Rain is symbolic of the pouring out of the Holy Spirit upon hearts and minds that bring the harvest of spiritual fruit, and we need the latter rain today more than ever.
    - What will enable the Holy Spirit to be poured out? Will God pour out His Spirit to empower people to lie about Him, to bring forth fruit of a satanic character?

    - So, isn't the truth about God as our Designer, our Creator, which is predicated upon rejecting the imposed law lie, part of the end-time message that prepares hearts and minds to receive the outpouring of the Holy Spirit?
- Turning water into wine—what do you think this symbolically represents?
    - The water is the purifying presence of the Holy Spirit, the cleansing power of God. The wine represents the sinless righteous life of Jesus. The clay jars represent human beings who are made out of the clay or the dirt of the earth. Turning water into wine inside the clay jars, represents the water, Spirit of God working inside of us convicting us of sin, revealing the truth in love, which brings us to repentance. In repentance, we open our hearts and minds to God and the cleansing water of the Holy Spirit removes our guilt, removes our shame, removes our fear and selfishness, and we receive the wine which is symbolic of the blood, which is symbolic of the life of Christ. Thus we experience a new life, with new motives, the life of Jesus, it is no longer I that lives but Christ lives in me (Gal 2:20), we become partaker of the divine nature (2 Peter 1:4).
    - It is not enough to simply have the guilt and shame washed away, we must be reborn with a new life, a new spirit, which is the wine, the life of Christ animating and living within us.

This is the living water Jesus offers to the woman at the well. Drink of the water of truth and love and if you do you will not only be cleansed you from the guilt and shame from you past, but you will stop living a fear-based life always seeking for self and instead will be reborn with the life of Christ a life of love and trust that will become a well of love and truth that will flow out of you to others.

TUESDAY

The lessons cites Ezekiel 36:25-27, which is an incredible passage—what do you understand this to mean?

- I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. (Ezekiel 36:25-27 NIV84).

What do you understand this to be saying?

Is this describing a legal solution to salvation? What is it describing? If it is describing healing, then what is being referred to by laws?

What kind of law?

Notice Ezekiel says that the Spirit of God will move us to follow God's law—what does that mean? Does it mean that God, through His Spirit, takes control of the driver's seat of our life and makes the choices, that we become puppets and He pulls the decision-strings?

Or does it mean that we experience a new animating energy, drive, motive, that the law of survival of the fittest, the law of sin and death, the law of fear and selfishness which has previously motivated us to action is replaced with God's design law of love and trust and we identify with, value, and are motivated by love for God and others and with that new life, new energy, new desire, new identity in Christ we choose to live in harmony with God and His design laws for life because we like it, love it, and prefer it.

And when we make the choice for the good, because we are in loving partnership with Jesus, we receive, experience, draw upon, are empowered by the Holy Spirit to succeed in carrying out the righteous choice. In other words, the Holy Spirit gives us the new heart, the new motive, the new desire—and we say yes and choose to live by those new motives, and as we choose the good we receive the divine power of God that enables us to actually succeed. The new life comes from God, the power to succeed comes from God, the wisdom and truth comes from God, the love comes from God, but the choice to say yes, the choice to act upon the truth and love of God comes from us.

Consider, what is the reason you do not, and would not, molest a child? Is it because there is a rule, a law, that says it is illegal, or is it because there is something in you that recoils, is repulsed, that causes you to rather die than do something so horrible?

This is exactly what we see when Joseph was approached by Potiphar's wife and she tries to seduce him. He recoils from the thought, not because there is a rule and he fears legal punishment, but because his heart is so in tune with God that the thought is disgusting and offensive to him.

This is not legalism. This is not human law. This is design law and is what happens when God's living law of love and truth is written upon our hearts. We are healed, transformed, renewed and we do live God's law because we love God's methods and ways.

Read second paragraph,

- Jesus was seeking to reach these people with spiritual truths, even though He used illustrations from the natural world to do so. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 41).

Why do you think Jesus used illustrations from the natural world to teach spiritual truths?

What kind of law does the natural world operate upon? It is the best way to teach truth, to teach reality. God is the God of reality and all His creation operates upon design law, including our hearts and minds. Thus teaching lessons from the natural world teaches how reality works, it exposes the lies of Satan that God's law functions like human law; the lie that claims that God is the source of inflicted pain and suffering and death. It teaches the reality that sin deviates from the way God built life to function and causes pain suffering and death unless healed by our Creator. Thus Galatians says,

- The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction (Galatians 6:8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Read the last paragraph,

- Abruptly, Jesus changes the topic of discussion, telling the woman to go call her husband and come back. Why the sudden shift in topic? The woman's actions bespoke avoidance. Jesus could read her heart. She must face her situation to find healing. "Before this soul could receive the gift He longed to bestow, she must be brought to recognize her sin and her Saviour."—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 187. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 41).

What do you hear being described? What is Jesus doing? Dealing with reality. This woman must accept her accurate diagnosis and the true remedy that cures.

Satan works to deceive on both points. He deceives people into thinking that they are spiritually healthy when they are not, and thus they don't seek Jesus to heal them.

- On hearing this, Jesus said to them, "It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners." (Mark 2:17 NIV84).

Can you think of any examples of this?

- Pharisees in Christ's day, but they represent a class of people through history, who?
- Legalists—all those who have a legal rules-oriented religion and who believe they are right because they are a member of the right organization, or have done the right rituals, or keep the right Sabbath, or dress in the right clothes, or eat the right foods. In other words, they believe they are righteous by their law keeping.
- Heavenly legalists—those who know their law-keeping make them right with God, so they substitute Jesus' law keeping and feel secure because they have claimed the legal payment of Jesus' life and death and rest secure that their legal status in heaven has been changed even though they remain unrighteous in heart, they falsely believe they are okay because they claim they are legally declared righteous in heaven
- Both of these groups are the Laodiceans—those who say "I am rich; I have acquired wealth and do not need a thing." But Jesus says to them, "you do not realize that you are wretched, pitiful, poor, blind and naked." (Revelation 3:17 NIV84).
- He tricks people into believing that as long as they are morally righteous people and live civilly right lives that they will be saved.

But Satan deceives on the other side as well, those who are convicted of sin, realize their need of a Savior, the evil one will attempt to trick into accepting a false solution, a false savior, a false means of salvation to fix the problem:

- Buddha fell to this deceit—he recognized his problem, his fear of death and solved his problem by turning inward with emptying mediation until he experienced a self-induced altered mental state of euphoria and no longer had the conviction of the Holy Spirit
- The lie that God's law functions like human law and salvation is in legal adjustment through same payment to the punishing and offended deity.
- The lie that there is no God and therefore no right and wrong and therefore no need of a Savior.

WEDNESDAY

Read John 4:16-24:

- He told her, "Go, call your husband and come back."

  "I have no husband," she replied.

  Jesus said to her, "You are right when you say you have no husband. The fact is, you have had five husbands, and the man you now have is not your husband. What you have just said is quite true."

  "Sir," the woman said, "I can see that you are a prophet. Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, but you Jews claim that the place where we must worship is in Jerusalem."

  Jesus declared, "Believe me, woman, a time is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem. You Samaritans worship what you do not know; we worship what we do know, for salvation is from the Jews. Yet a time is coming and has now come when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for they are the kind of worshipers the Father seeks. God is spirit, and his worshipers must worship in spirit and in truth." (John 4:16-24 NIV84).

What is going on here?

Jesus focuses in on her spiritual need, on her long history of insecurity and seeking comfort in the arms of various men rather than making God first in her life. This inward look causes her discomfort, she doesn't want to be exposed, she doesn't want to discuss this area for which she is ashamed, feels guilty, and inadequate, so she shifts the conversation to something historically controversial between the Samaritans and Jews, the authorized place of worship.

How does Jesus deal with her question?

What does Jesus' answer mean for us today?

What does it mean for all the people in the world who are constantly fighting over so-called holy sites or places?

What does it mean for those who believe the geographic location is important in worship and/or end time events?

Where is the battlefield between Christ and Satan?

- For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. (2 Corinthians 10:3-5 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Where is the battlefield? And what is the battle fought over? The knowledge of God, who we believe God to be!

And is this a physical battle? Is it a geographic battle? Do you see as the final events unfold on the world it will be all about seducing people into accepting, internalizing, and applying the methods of Satan in governance of self in how we address and solve problems. Will we be loyal to God and present the truth in love and leave others free or will we, in pursuing justice, use external laws with law enforcement to coerce consciences of people in order to do what is right, in order to save lives—like what happened during COVID?

What does it mean to worship God in spirit and in truth?

Consider this Bible commentary:

- He desired to lift the thoughts of His hearer above matters of form and ceremony, and questions of controversy. "The hour cometh," He said, "and now is, when the true worshipers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship Him. God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." (The Desire of Ages 189).

  Here is declared the same truth that Jesus had revealed to Nicodemus when He said, "Except a man be born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3, margin. Not by seeking a holy mountain or a sacred temple are men brought into communion with heaven. Religion is not to be confined to external forms and ceremonies. The religion that comes from God is the only religion that will lead to God. In order to serve Him aright, we must be born of the divine Spirit. This will purify the heart and renew the mind, giving us a new capacity for knowing and loving God. It will give us a willing obedience to all His requirements. This is true worship. It is the fruit of the working of the Holy Spirit. By the Spirit every sincere prayer is indited, and such prayer is acceptable to God. Wherever a soul reaches out after God, there the Spirit's working is manifest, and God will reveal Himself to that soul. For such worshipers He is seeking. He waits to receive them, and to make them His sons and daughters. (The Desire of Ages 189, emphasis mine).

2024 4Q Themes in the Gospel of John Lesson 6
More Testimonies About Jesus

by Tim Jennings (annoucements last page)

During Q&A #4 last week, I mentioned that EGW had made comments about men of means helping God's cause. Several asked me for references. There are more, but here are a couple:

- The Lord will work upon human minds in unexpected quarters. Some who apparently are enemies of the truth will, in God's providence, invest their means to develop properties and erect buildings. In time, these properties will be offered for sale at a price far below their cost. Our people will recognize the hand of Providence in these offers and will secure valuable property for use in educational work. They will plan and manage with humility, self-denial, and self-sacrifice. Thus men of means are unconsciously preparing auxiliaries that will enable the Lord's people to advance His work rapidly. (Counsels on Health 227, emphasis mine).

- The Lord has made men his stewards, and has entrusted to them the means to carry forward his work. When the poor have done all they can to advance the cause, the Lord will bring in men of means to carry on the work. (Gospel Worker 298, emphasis mine).

SABBATH

The Memory Text is John 12:32, but let's read verses 31 and 32:

- "Now is the time for judgment on this world; now the prince of this world will be driven out. But I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself." (John 12:31-32 NIV84).

What is the event to which Jesus is referring? His crucifixion.

His crucifixion is the event, yet Jesus said that this event is the "judgment on this world." How is His crucifixion the judgment on this world?

- At the crucifixion do we find a heavenly court being held with books being opened, legal processes happening, forensic evidence being presented, judicial rulings?
- Are the people of the world, including His crucifiers going through a heavenly judgment process?
- Even for those who claim that God's judgment is like ours a legal courtroom, do they teach that the court was set and the books were opened at the cross or at a later date?

- So how is Jesus' crucifixion the time of the judgment of this world?

Consider Paul's position on the judgment:

- If some did not believe, does their unbelief nullify the faithfulness of God? Absolutely not! Let God be proven true, and every human being shown up as a liar, just as it is written: "so that you will be justified in your words and will prevail when you are judged." (Romans 3:3-4 NET, emphasis original).

What type of judgment is going on? Is this a legal process, an external authority reviewing arguments and making a ruling? Or is this the judgment of intelligent beings in regard to whom they will believe and whom they will trust?

Is this not the judgment Jesus was referring to, that the liar and deceiver had cast a spell over the minds of men and had confused the angels in heaven and the only way to destroy the lies of Satan was to reveal the truth and expose the lies; and the lies to be destroyed are the lies about God and thus only God could reveal the truth about Himself.

And the lies about God are centered upon God's law, by getting beings to believe God's law is arbitrary and imposed we misconstrue the character of God and teach that God is the source of pain, suffering, and death.

At the cross all of this was revealed to be a lie. God did not lay a hand on Jesus. God did not use power to harm His Son. God surrendered Jesus to His choice to be our Savior, and stopped using power to protect Jesus; He set Jesus free to reap what Jesus' had freely chosen. And Jesus had chosen to be our substitutionary Savior, to take our place, to confront every temptation, to suffer abuse, to face the shame of sin and despise it and destroy it through choosing supreme infinite love.

And the character of the Father and Son, their methods and principles, their eternal design laws for life are all revealed at the cross—because they are in operation at the cross, because they are lived out by Jesus at the cross.

And Satan is exposed as a liar, as the source of pain, suffering, and death and we are empowered with the evidence and truth to make a judgment, to decide, we can choose to reject the lies of Satan and embrace the truth and thus cast Satan out of our hearts and minds by choosing to trust Jesus and opening our hearts to Him.

Thus Jesus brings judgment by revealing the truth for this is how reality works. When the truth is revealed every person who becomes aware of the truth must decide how they will respond to it. Every person makes a judgment in response to the truth do they believe it and follow it or deny it and reject it and continue to follow the lie. This is what Jesus did at the cross.

Sadly, Satan understood the truth revealed at the cross exposed him before the onlooking universe. This is why all sympathy for him was lost in heaven, why he was cast out of all the affections of the angels, why no angel would listen any longer to anything Satan would say. And he knows that when the truth of the cross is rightly understood it frees human hearts and minds, this is why he has worked so hard to pervert the meaning of the cross into a legal payment. The same lie he used on angels, that God's law is imposed and requires God to punish, he has used on Christianity. Christianity Romanized when it accepted Rome's idea of law, that God's law is imposed and sin is a legal problem and requires external punishment. The final message is to reset all the Bible truths, but especially the truth about God and what Jesus accomplished at the cross back into Creator worship, back into the design law reality of our Creator God.

One other point is that in the Greek the word "men" is not in the text as inspired by the Holy Spirit. Jesus did not say that He would draw all "men" to Him at the cross, but that He would draw all to Himself, meaning all the intelligences in heaven and on earth.

- For God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross. (Colossians 1:19-20 NIV84, emphasis mine).

To present the work of Christ as only for human beings restricts the full extent of His work and accomplishments and makes it easier for people to misconstrue the sin problem as a legal one. When we see the biblical truth that Jesus was not only saving humanity through His life, death, and resurrection, but was simultaneously destroying him who holds the power of death that is the devil (Hebrews 2:14) and securing the unfallen angels in their loyalty, we recognize something much more significant was happening than making legal payments. Consider this commentary:

- But the plan of redemption had a yet broader and deeper purpose than the salvation of man. It was not for this alone that Christ came to the earth; it was not merely that the inhabitants of this little world might regard the law of God as it should be regarded; but it was to vindicate the character of God before the universe. To this result of His great sacrifice—its influence upon the intelligences of other worlds, as well as upon man—the Saviour looked forward when just before His crucifixion He said: "Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all unto Me." John 12:31, 32. The act of Christ in dying for the salvation of man would not only make heaven accessible to men, but before all the universe it would justify God and His Son in their dealing with the rebellion of Satan. It would establish the perpetuity of the law of God and would reveal the nature and the results of sin. (Patriarchs and Prophets 68, emphasis mine). [The sin problem began in heaven with angels and spread to earth. God's plan through Christ deals with the entire sin problem not just the human sin problem. While the angels in heaven remained loyal, all the lies of Satan had not been exposed and refuted. Thus, in saving humanity from sin, Jesus simultaneously reveals truth that destroys Satan's lies and solidifies the angels in their loyalty thus preventing the spread of distrust and fear when Satan and sin are finally eliminated. And the issue is over God's law—how do we understand law? Satan alleged God's law is arbitrary, made up rules, requiring God to use power to punish and this confused the angels in heaven, and the death of Christ revealed the truth about God's law. Sadly, Satan has infected Christianity with his same lie that God's law functions like human law and almost all of Christianity teaches that God's law requires God to use God's power to inflict death on Jesus as legal punishment for sin, which is contrary to the evidence of what transpired.]

From the first the great controversy had been upon the law of God. Satan had sought to prove that God was unjust, that His law was faulty, and that the good of the universe required it to be changed. In attacking the law he aimed to overthrow the authority of its Author. In the controversy it was to be shown whether the divine statutes were defective and subject to change, or perfect and immutable. (Patriarchs and Prophets 69, emphasis mine). [How did Satan attack God's law? The same author, in other places, explains her understanding, does this add up, does it make sense? Is it reasonable? Is it consistent with Scripture?]

In the opening of the great controversy, Satan had declared that the law of God could not be obeyed, that justice was inconsistent with mercy, and that should the law be broken, it would be impossible for the sinner to be pardoned. Every sin must meet its punishment, urged Satan; and if God should remit the punishment of sin, He would not be a God of truth and justice. (The Desire of Ages. p. 761, emphasis mine). [What kind of law requires the infliction of punishment? Imposed law, the types of law that creatures make up. God is Creator and His laws are design laws, the protocols reality functions upon, to transgress them causes the harm, brings the suffering, separates from the source of life and results in death unless healed by our Creator. Consider another quote:]

But in heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of. In their ministry the angels are not as servants, but as sons. There is perfect unity between them and their Creator. Obedience is to them no drudgery. Love for God makes their service a joy. So in every soul wherein Christ, the hope of glory, dwells, His words are re-echoed, "I delight to do Thy will, O My God: yea, Thy law is within My heart." Psalm 40:8. (Thoughts from the Mount of Blessing. p. 109, emphasis mine). [What kind of law is in operation and beings are in harmony with it but they don't even know about it? Consider when Isaac Newton discovered the law of gravity and told his friends about the law—how many would say, gravity is a law, huh, never considered that it is just how things work. This again is a description of design law, not imposed law. You may disagree with this author, but she is consistent in her presentation. God's laws are design laws. Sin transgresses the laws upon which reality is built and results in ruin and death unless healed by our Creator, and that was the mission of Jesus. Satan, a creature, alleges God's law and government are no different that than of a creature. Thus the same author wrote the following in the opening of the book The Great Controversy:]

The great controversy [is] between Christ, the Prince of life, the Author of our salvation, and Satan, the prince of evil, the author of sin, the first transgressor of God's holy law. Satan's enmity against Christ has been manifested against His followers. The same hatred of the principles of God's law, the same policy of deception, by which error is made to appear as truth, by which human laws are substituted for the law of God, and men are led to worship the creature rather than the Creator, may be traced in all the history of the past. Satan's efforts to misrepresent the character of God, to cause men to cherish a false conception of the Creator, and thus to regard Him with fear and hate rather than with love, his endeavors to set aside the divine law, leading the people to think themselves free from its requirements, and his persecution of those who dare to resist his deceptions, have been steadfastly pursued in all ages. They may be traced in the history of patriarchs, prophets, and apostles, of martyrs and reformers (EGW, The Great Controversy, p x.1, emphasis mine). [When we substitute imposed law for design law we are led to worship a creature rather than the Creator. The special message that is to lighten the world at this time in history is a message that calls people back to Creator worship, but we have thus far failed to do so because we have presented our doctrinal truths through Satan's imposed law lens and that lie distorts everything and obstructs the truth about God. Thus the message necessary to complete the mission is resetting it all in the setting of Creator worship, which is design law.]

The last great conflict between truth and error is but the final struggle of the long-standing controversy concerning the law of God. Upon this battle we are now entering—a battle between the laws of men and the precepts of Jehovah, between the religion of the Bible and the religion of fable and tradition (The Great Controversy* p. 582, emphasis mine).

Continuing on with the quote from Patriarchs and Prophets:"

- From the first the great controversy had been upon the law of God. Satan had sought to prove that God was unjust, that His law was faulty, and that the good of the universe required it to be changed. In attacking the law he aimed to overthrow the authority of its Author. In the controversy it was to be shown whether the divine statutes were defective and subject to change, or perfect and immutable. (Patriarchs and Prophets 69, emphasis mine).

  When Satan was thrust out of heaven, he determined to make the earth his kingdom. When he tempted and overcame Adam and Eve, he thought that he had gained possession of this world; "because," said he, "they have chosen me as their ruler." He claimed that it was impossible that forgiveness should be granted to the sinner, and therefore the fallen race were his rightful subjects, and the world was his. But God gave His own dear Son—one equal with Himself—to bear the penalty of transgression, and thus He provided a way by which they might be restored to His favor, and brought back to their Eden home. Christ undertook to redeem man and to rescue the world from the grasp of Satan. The great controversy begun in heaven was to be decided in the very world, on the very same field, that Satan claimed as his. (Patriarchs and Prophets 69, emphasis mine). [What do you hear? Notice, Satan makes claims, assertions, allegations, proclamations, and they have a legal frame. He claims humans chose him as their ruler, as if our choice could change reality and make Satan into our creator and the sustainer of our being. He claims that forgiveness is impossible. He claims we are his rightful or legal subjects. And notice that Jesus bears the penalty of transgression, not the penalty of God, but the penalty that naturally comes from breaking design law in order to restore humans back into harmony with heaven.]

It was the marvel of all the universe that Christ should humble Himself to save fallen man. That He who had passed from star to star, from world to world, superintending all, by His providence supplying the needs of every order of being in His vast creation—that He should consent to leave His glory and take upon Himself human nature, was a mystery which the sinless intelligences of other worlds desired to understand. [1 Corinthians 4:9 we are spectacle a theater to angels] When Christ came to our world in the form of humanity, all were intensely interested in following Him as He traversed, step by step, the bloodstained path from the manger to Calvary. Heaven marked the insult and mockery that He received, and knew that it was at Satan's instigation. They marked the work of counteragencies going forward; Satan constantly pressing darkness, sorrow, and suffering upon the race, and Christ counteracting it. They watched the battle between light and darkness as it waxed stronger. And as Christ in His expiring agony upon the cross cried out, "It is finished" (John 19:30), a shout of triumph rang through every world and through heaven itself. The great contest that had been so long in progress in this world was now decided, and Christ was conqueror. His death had answered the question whether the Father and the Son had sufficient love for man to exercise self-denial and a spirit of sacrifice. Satan had revealed his true character as a liar and a murderer. It was seen that the very same spirit with which he had ruled the children of men who were under his power, he would have manifested if permitted to control the intelligences of heaven. With one voice the loyal universe united in extolling the divine administration. (Patriarchs and Prophets 69, emphasis mine). [Satan is the author of pain, suffering, and death. Satan is the murderer from the beginning. Hebrews 2:14 tells us that Jesus destroys him who holds the power of death that is the devil, and that Jesus destroys our last enemy death. Yet most of Christianity, believing the lie that God's law functions like human law, imposed rules, teaches that God, not Satan, holds the power of death and that God wields death and inflicts death upon the disobedient as just punishment. Some even teach that God killed Jesus on the cross. And in so doing they teach Satan's lies and prevent people from coming to a true knowledge of God and experiencing the salvation so freely offered.]

If the law could be changed, man might have been saved without the sacrifice of Christ; but the fact that it was necessary for Christ to give His life for the fallen race, proves that the law of God will not release the sinner from its claims upon him. It is demonstrated that the wages of sin is death. When Christ died, the destruction of Satan was made certain. But if the law was abolished at the cross, as many claim, then the agony and death of God's dear Son were endured only to give to Satan just what he asked; then the prince of evil triumphed, his charges against the divine government were sustained. The very fact that Christ bore the penalty of man's transgression is a mighty argument to all created intelligences that the law is changeless; that God is righteous, merciful, and self-denying; and that infinite justice and mercy unite in the administration of His government. (Patriarchs and Prophets 70, emphasis mine). [God's laws are design laws and cannot be changed. Like the law of respiration. If someone jumps into the ocean with weights tied around their legs, the law cannot be changed to meet them in their drowning state. The only way to save them is to put them in harmony with the law. Thus God works through Jesus to restore His living law into humanity, not to pay a penalty to Himself or the law. But there is a penalty that comes from the broken law, and Jesus at the cross experienced that penalty, the separation from His Father, which was necessary for Him to die, and He had to die to destroy the infection of fear and selfishness, the corrupted life that we all inherit from Adam and replace it with His pure, sinless, life that He received as a human at his incarnation from His Father the Holy Spirit. There was and is nothing penal/legal doing on. It is all reality, design law, restoration to God's original design for life.]

Thus when Jesus was lifted up, He not only revealed the truth to destroy the lies, He accomplished in His humanity the Remedy to the human sin condition and Hebrews says:

- "Once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him" (Hebrews 5:9 NIV84).

Wasn't He always perfect? He was always sinless, but biblical perfection is maturity of character and character cannot be created it must be developed. And Jesus developed a perfect and mature sinless human character.

All of this reality based thinking, understanding design law, understanding the setting of the Great Controversy, here is how I paraphrased John 12:31-32:

- "Now is the time for the infection of selfishness and sin in this world to be fully diagnosed and revealed as destructive; now, Satan — the prince of this selfish world — will be driven out into the open, out of the shadows, out from behind his lies and distortions about God and God's methods, out where all can see him as the murderer he truly is, and thus out of the hearts of all who love me. When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw all intelligences throughout the universe to me." (John 12:31-32 REM).

SUNDAY

Read last paragraph,

- John 3:31–36 continues the comparison between Jesus and John, showing the superiority of the Messiah over His forerunner. With John's testimony pointing toward Jesus, the idea of witness is again emphasized. Those who receive that testimony and believe in Jesus have eternal life. Those who do not receive Him remain under the wrath of God. That's what the text says. God loves the world and sent His Son to redeem the world (John 3:16, 17). But those who refuse the gift offered them will have to pay the penalty for their own sins—eternal death. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 47, emphasis mine).

What is the message you hear in this paragraph?

What law lens are you understanding these words through?

The lesson is referring to John 3:36, in which reads:

- Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life, but whoever rejects the Son will not see life, for God's wrath remains on him. (John 3:36 NIV84).

What does this mean? What is God's wrath?

Our understanding of wrath depends on our understanding of God's law. If we believe God's law functions like human law, made up rules that require judicial oversight and enforcement through external penalties, then we believe God's wrath is the use of God's power to inflict pain, suffering, and death as punishment. But this method is the method of Satan. Satan's wrath is that of using external power to cause harm.

When we understand the truth that God is Creator and His laws are the laws reality itself is built to operate upon, then we understand that God's wrath is the opposite of Satan's—it is NOT when God uses power but when God ceases to use His saving power that He has been using to hold at bay the pain, suffering, and death that sin causes. God's wrath is when God let's go and allows people to reap what they insist upon.

Paul tells us this in Romans 1:18-26, that God's wrath is God letting go, giving up, releasing to reap what is sown. And Paul confirms this in Galatians 6:8, those who sow to the carnal nature from that nature reap destruction.

And Paul ties this all together for us in Roman 4:25 where Jesus was "delivered up" (NKJV, ESV), "delivered over" (NIV84), "handed over" (GNT, NRSV, NLT), "given over" (NET). But the Greek is the exact same as Paul uses in Romans 1:24,26,28 where it says "God gave them up."

Jesus, as our substitutionary Savior, experienced on the cross the wrath of God against sin, and what did God do? God let Him go, gave Him up, surrendered Him to reap what Jesus freely chose and what did Jesus choose? To go through the cross in love in order to eliminate the cause of death and restore the cause of life into humanity. God did not lay a hand on His Son. God did not use power to inflict torment or death upon His Son. God ceased using His protective and sustaining power and set Jesus free to reap what Jesus had chosen and thus Jesus' own testimony "My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?"

Consider these historical quotes, note the type of law involved, the actions of God, all consistent with Scripture

- "And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is being interpreted, My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" The wrath of God fell upon Christ. This was the hiding of the Father's countenance. (18 Manuscript Release 731, emphasis mine).

- David had neglected the duty of punishing the crime of Amnon, and because of the unfaithfulness of the king and father and the impenitence of the son, the Lord permitted events to take their natural course, and did not restrain Absalom. When parents or rulers neglect the duty of punishing iniquity, God Himself will take the case in hand. His restraining power will be in a measure removed from the agencies of evil, so that a train of circumstances will arise which will punish sin with sin. (Patriarchs and Prophets 728, emphasis mine).

- God bears long with the rebellion and apostasy of His subjects. Even when His mercy is despised and His love scorned and derided, He bears with men until the last resource for leading them to repentance is exhausted. But there are limits to His forbearance. From those who to the end continue in obstinate rebellion, He removes His protecting care. Providence will no longer shield them from Satan's power. They will have sinned away their day of grace. (Review and Herald, September 17, 1901 par. 7, emphasis mine). [What is the limit God's forbearance? The obstinate rebellion that sears the conscience and destroys the faculties that respond to truth and love so that no more time, mercy, love, truth, grace will have any impact, and therefore God, in harmony with the law of love and liberty, sets people free to reap what they have chosen—His wrath happens, He stops using power to protect them from what they have insisted upon]

  God keeps a reckoning with the nations. Not a sparrow falls to the ground without His notice. Those who work evil toward their fellow men, saying, How doth God know? will one day be called upon to meet long-deferred vengeance. In this age a more than common contempt is shown to God. Men have reached a point in insolence and disobedience which shows that their cup of iniquity is almost full. Many have well-nigh passed the boundary of mercy. Soon God will show that He is indeed the living God. He will say to the angels, "No longer combat Satan in his efforts to destroy. Let him work out his malignity upon the children of disobedience; for the cup of their iniquity is full. They have advanced from one degree of wickedness to another, adding daily to their lawlessness. I will no longer interfere to prevent the destroyer from doing his work." (Review and Herald, September 17, 1901 par. 8, emphasis mine).

What is the wrath of God? God's stopping the use of intervening power and allowing people to reap what they have chosen. We are born terminal, dead in trespass and sin. Without divine intervention our condition inherited from Adam is incompatible with life and without intervention from our Creator to heal us we will die. Thus, all those who reject the remedy remain terminal, and when they pass the point that no amount of truth or love will have any redeeming healing impact, then God will let them go to reap what they have chosen and that is His wrath, and the penalty is the result of their choice, eternal non-existence. And that penalty comes from sin, it is not inflicted by God.

Read first paragraph,

- The Jews looked for a Messiah to come who would deliver them from the rule of Rome. Long under oppression, the Jews believed that the Messiah would not only overthrow Rome but would establish them as a great and powerful nation. John's words, however, calling Jesus "the Lamb of God," although directly pointing to His atoning sacrifice, were probably misunderstood by the majority of people. They might have not known what he was talking about at all. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 48).

Why do you think the Jews, who were blessed with the 39 books of the Old Testament, all of which taught the truth of the coming Messiah and the nature of God's eternal kingdom, did not understand? Why did they look for a Messiah who was like a human dictator? Why did they want a Messiah who would use might and power to inflict punishments upon their enemies?

If we could go back to Christ's day and ask one of the scribes or Pharisees the following questions, what answers do you think we would get?

- Do you want the promised Messiah to come?
- Do you anticipate the Messiah doing away with sin and evil or promoting sin and evil?
- Would you like for the Messiah to do good or to do evil?
- What is the good you anticipate the Messiah will do when He comes?

And wouldn't they say something like—He will punish rebellion; He will destroy the wicked; He will reward the righteous; He will overthrow our enemies; He will establish a kingdom on David's throne and rule with a rod of iron.

And what is the basis of these ideas? What law underlies them all? It is imposed law and the use of external force to either inflict punishment or distribute rewards. It is human law; it is the government of a creature. It is Satan's methods and principles.

And do we see this same way of thinking being taught throughout Christianity today. They will say that Jesus' first coming was for the purpose of paying the legal penalty for sin, but His second coming will be for the purpose of using power to destroy sin, punish sinners, and reward the righteous. The exact same kingdom type, methods, and imposed law structure that the Jews were looking for.

But Jesus said that His kingdom is not of this world. That the kingdom of God is within us. And He had already revealed through the prophets that God wins not by might nor by power but by His Spirit, which is the Spirit of truth and love.

And truth and love destroys lies and selfishness in hearts and minds and wins rebels into loving, loyal, and trustworthy friends of God.

We have been given a special message to prepare the world for Christ's return and that is a call for people to worship God as Creator and stop worshiping Him as if He were a dictator. And that requires we reject the imposed human law lie and understand all of God's laws are design laws.

Consider this historical quote and how if we are to effectively give the special message of the three angels of Revelation 14 which calls people to worship God as Creator, we must put it in the setting of design law:

- Men and women cannot violate natural law by indulging depraved appetite and lustful passions, and not violate the law of God. Therefore He has permitted the light of health reform to shine upon us, that we may see our sin in violating the laws which He has established in our being. All our enjoyment or suffering may be traced to obedience or transgression of natural law. Our gracious heavenly Father sees the deplorable condition of men who, some knowingly but many ignorantly, are living in violation of the laws that He has established. And in love and pity to the race, He causes the light to shine upon health reform. He publishes His law and the penalty that will follow the transgression of it, that all may learn and be careful to live in harmony with natural law. He proclaims His law so distinctly and makes it so prominent that it is like a city set on a hill. All accountable beings can understand it if they will. … To make plain natural law, and urge the obedience of it, is the work that accompanies the third angel's message to prepare a people for the coming of the Lord (Testimonies, vol. 3, p. 161, emphasis mine).

It is only when we understand God's laws are the design protocols that reality operates upon will we be able to present the truth about His character and government. As long as we cling to the lie that any part of God's government uses imposed law, we will continue to misrepresent God and distort the message of the 3 angels.

TUESDAY

Read John 6:48-56:

- I am the bread of life. Your forefathers ate the manna in the desert, yet they died. But here is the bread that comes down from heaven, which a man may eat and not die. I am the living bread that came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. This bread is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world."

  Then the Jews began to argue sharply among themselves, "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?"

  Jesus said to them, "I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you have no life in you. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day. For my flesh is real food and my blood is real drink. Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me, and I in him. (John 6:48-56 NIV84, emphasis mine).

How did the Jews respond to this?

What is going on here? Where is the imagery of flesh and blood coming from? It is from the sacrificial system.

What prevented the Jews from understanding what Jesus was telling them? They though concretely; they did not understand the reality to which the symbols were pointing.

John 1 tells us that Jesus is the Word of God made flesh, that the living thoughts of God, His character, truth, love, methods, principles, motives, self dwelt in Christ bodily; that we see the thoughts and ideas of God lived out in Jesus.

Thus, as food is taken into the body and becomes building blocks of our body's structure and provides energy to our systems, so too the truth of God, when taken into our hearts and minds becomes the building blocks of our understanding, perspectives, believes, values, morals and the motivating energy to our actions. As we are won to trust based on this truth, we open our hearts and receive the life of Christ, the life is in the blood (Leviticus 17:11), and this is drinking the blood, partaking of the divine nature and we receive new motives, desires, and attitudes of the heart—the life of Christ.

But the Jews did not understand this because they refused to think beyond the literal to its true application in reality.

Many Adventists do this exact same thing when it comes to the heavenly sanctuary and Christ's mediatorial work for us. They think concretely; they think of literal buildings made of inanimate material; some form of parchment or record books with literal lists of bad deeds and the literal application of Jesus' blood to the books to erase the record of sin. They think of some human law system with a tribunal, review of records, weighing out what is a just punishment for the unrepentant and the eventual literal infliction of punishment by God.

All of this is caused by their failure to understand God's law is design law and that the OT Sanctuary service was theater, was symbolism, was metaphor, was designed to elevate the mind to reality of the elimination from sin, not from inanimate structures or books, but from hearts and minds of intelligent beings.

WEDNESDAY

Read last paragraph,

- As we have already seen, Jesus' hour of glory is the cross. Thus, the Father's testimony about Jesus points to the great sacrifice of the Lamb of God for the sins of the world. It is the > culmination of His earthly ministry. His death in our behalf paid the full penalty for all our sins, and in Him, by faith, we never have to face that penalty ourselves. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 50).

What is the penalty? To whom is it paid? What happens if Jesus didn't pay the penalty—what would the Father do?

Can anyone point out how the lesson starts with the Bible truth and substitutes the human law lie?

The second sentence points out that Jesus' sacrifice was for the sins of the world—a little ambiguous, meaning not precise, but not wrong, as it leads the mind to think of what John the Baptist said, and since we are focusing on John the Baptist's testimony this is a reasonable link and he said:

- The Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world! (John 1:29 NIV84).

So the biblical truth is that Jesus is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world, which could be stated as a sacrifice for the sins of the world. But the Bible is more precise, to take away the sin of the world.

The rephrasing subtly moves the focus from the sin of the world to the sins, which can lead the mind to think of deeds rather than the sin condition which is the cause of the misdeeds.

But worse, the lesson substitutes Jesus as the solution that takes away sin which is curative, healing, and replaces that with Jesus taking the penalty, but without explaining the purpose was to eliminate the cause of death and restore life. They leave it as penalty replacement, He takes the penalty so we don't have to take the penalty, which suggests the problem is the penalty which someone has to pay. Not so, the problem is the condition of sin which someone has to remove and there was no way to remove the sin condition without going through the trial, suffering, and death—which was the means of destroying or killing the infection of fear and selfishness. In other words, it was the only way to eliminate sin from humanity. And yes, if we don't accept Jesus and receive from Him a new heart, a new spirit of love, a new life, and instead cling to the life, the spirit of sin, fear, and selfishness, then from that condition we reap death. But the issues isn't one of penal legal substitution, it is one of reality, of eliminating the death causing condition and replacing it with a sinless life.

THURSDAY

Read John 7:45-49:

- Finally the temple guards went back to the chief priests and Pharisees, who asked them, "Why didn't you bring him in?"

  "No one ever spoke the way this man does," the guards declared.

> “You mean he has deceived you also?” the Pharisees retorted. “Has any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed in him? No! But this mob that knows nothing of the law—there is a curse on them.” (John 7:45-49 NIV84).

What is happening in this exchange?

What happened to the guards that they did not bring Jesus in as directed?

What did they hear? They heard truth. They saw with their own eyes, heard with their own ears, thought with their own minds, and they comprehended by observation, evidence, reason, and truth that Jesus was not like everyone else, that Jesus spoke with the authority of truth and manifested in action love, grace, kindness, mercy, gentleness and He was not a terrorist, a threat to good order.

What did the religious leaders do? They accused, they condemned, they name-called, and they appealed to the authority of position, office, degree, education, but not evidence, truth, and facts.

Understand, this same dynamic is happening all around us, people making claims based on the authority of their office, position, power, education that contradicts objective reality, facts, evidence, and truth.

And when people do not obey the claims and directives of those who are using their office as authority, when people instead identify with and follow objective truth, what do those who are rejecting truth do? They attack, vilify, demean, accuse and seek to use the power of the state to arrest and intimidate.

Consider what happens when people refuse the gender ideology? Or the climate change lies? Or the godless evolution propaganda? Or all the COVID scam? Or the various other hoaxes and frauds?

Minds are being attacked and people are being conditioned to stop thinking, stop reasoning, stop examining evidence, and believe based on the authority of the one who said it, and they are being intimidated with various threats, social isolation, rejection, fines, loss of jobs and privileges if they do not go along with the lies and falsehoods.

We are living right now in the middle of the Great Controversy in which hearts and minds are under assault with evil methods tempting people to collude with lies and falsehoods in order to protect and advantage self. Bow down to the idol of wokeism or be thrown in the fiery furnace of social annihilation.

2024 Q4 Themes in the Gospel of John, Lesson 7
Blessed Are Those Who Believe

by Russell Atkins

SABBATH

> "Jesus said to him,'Thomas, because you have seen Me, you have believed. Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed' " (John 20:29, NKJV).

From the lesson:

> Throughout his Gospel, John has a diversity of people—people with different backgrounds, beliefs, and experiences—all testify- ing to who Jesus was.
> " 'Behold the Lamb of God!' " [John the Baptist] (John 1:36, NKJV). " 'We have found the Messiah' " [Andrew - Peter's brother] (John 1:41, NKJV). " 'We have found Him of whom Moses . . . wrote' " [Philip to Nathanael] (John 1:45, NKJV). " 'Rabbi, You are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!' " [Nathanael to Jesus] (John 1:49, NKJV). " 'Could this be the Christ?' " [Woman @ the Well] (John 4:29, NKJV). " 'We ourselves have heard Him and we know that this is indeed the Christ, the Savior of the world' " [Fellow Samaritans based on interacting with Jesus] (John 4:42, NKJV). " 'Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life' " [Peter to Jesus] (John 6:68, NKJV). " 'I believe that You are the Christ, the Son of God, who is to come into the world' " [Martha to Jesus before Lazarus' resurrection] (John 11:27, NKJV). " 'Though I was blind, now I see' " [Man born blind] (John 9:25, NKJV). " 'Behold your King!' " [Pilate to jews again] (John 19:14, NKJV). " 'I find no fault in Him' " [Pilate to jews] (John 19:6, NKJV). " 'My Lord and my God!' " [Thomas after examining Jesus] (John 20:28, NKJV).
> (Adult SS Guide Q4 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John, pg 56)

Who were some of these people, and why did they testify as they did to the identity of Jesus?

SUNDAY
Harking Back to Abraham

Jesus speaking to the jews:

> "Your father Abraham rejoiced to see My day, and he saw it and was glad." [John 8:56, NKJV].

The lesson asks

> Why was Abraham's witness so important that it was included in John's gospel?
> Through type and promise God 'preached before the gospel unto Abraham.' Galatians 3:8. And the patriarch's faith was fixed upon the Redeemer to come. Said Christ to the Jews, 'Your father Abraham rejoiced that he should see My day; and he saw it, and was glad.' John 8:56, R.V., margin. The ram offered in place of Isaac represented the Son of God, who was to be sacrificed in our stead. When man was doomed to death by transgression of the law of God, the Father, looking upon His Son, said to the sinner, 'Live: I have found a ransom.' — Patriarchs and Prophets, pg 154

The jews argued with Him stating, "You are not yet fifty years old, and You have seen Abraham?" [John 8:57 NKJV].

Jesus destroys their argument with, "Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I AM." [John 8:58 NKJV]. The church leadership then gathered stones to "throw at Him". Why was the jewish political / church leadership so animated to kill Jesus?? What is the root of their animosity?? What about Christian leadership today?? Will it manifest the same hatred for the same reasons??

The lesson correctly identifies the root of the problem contrasting Paul's description of Abraham's righteousness by faith in Romans 4: 1-5:

> What then shall we say that Abraham, our ancestor according to the flesh, has discovered regarding this matter? 2 For if Abraham was declared righteous by works, he has something to boast about—but not before God. 3 For what does the scripture say? "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness." 4 Now to the one who works, his pay is not credited due to grace but due to obligation. 5 But to the one who does not work, but believes in the one who declares the ungodly righteous, his faith is credited as righteousness.
> Romans 4: 1-5

Abraham's heart went from a natural distrust of God [thanks to sin], to a position of trust [thanks to Jesus], and he started on the pathway to righteousness by faith in a future event. He developed an understanding of the nature and function of God's Design Law. My suspicion is Abraham better understood the Design Law from the beginning of his life than we do. It's generally accepted that Babylon was the first "nation" that had a codified law, and nearly every culture since then has followed suit. Abraham did not have to unlearn the error that seems to function in our DNA that God's Law functions just like human laws. Scripture is silent on what the Laws of Sodom were, but it doesn't take much imagination to figure out that they were pretty lax in their legislation / enforcement if they existed at all.

MONDAY

The Witness of Mary.

Mary anointed Jesus with some expensive fragrant oil at Simon's house. The lesson surmises that this was done in gratitude for the forgiveness of her "sins" and for the resurrection of Lazarus. The whole house was filled with the heady fragrance of the oil[s] and Judas rebuked her, claiming that the gift should have been sold and the proceeds given to "the poor". Jesus states:

> Leave her alone, she kept it for the day of my burial. For you will always have the poor with you, but you will not always have me."
> [John 12: 7,8 NET].

Many on the political left reject this Scripture along with the ones in Deuteronomy 15 and Matthew 26 / Mark 14, and in their utopian zeal tell us that poverty can be eradicated with a variety of government imposed programs of excessive taxation or universal basic income. These programs are at war with God's Design Law of Liberty, Sowing & Reaping, and Exertion. How?

John takes an aside to make clear to the reader the nature of Judas' character [John 12:6]. He's a thief. Jesus knew this beforehand and still protected Judas' reputation. The disciples found out about Judas' thefts after his death.

> The fragrant gift which Mary had thought to lavish upon the dead body of the Saviour she poured upon His living form. At the burial its sweetness could only have pervaded the tomb; now it gladdened His heart with the assurance of her faith and love. . . . And as He went down into the darkness of His great trial, He carried with Him the memory of that deed, an earnest of the love that would be His from His redeemed ones forever.
> (The Desire of Ages, pg 560)

Our sense of smell is one of the most primitive and a familiar scent can trigger some deep memories / emotions. Imagine Jesus in Gethsemane, his humanity wrestling with powerful emotions to deviate from his chosen path, praying for Devine strength, feeling the loss of connection with his Father, and getting a whiff of the perfume originally bought for His burial, and getting strengthened to continue along with His decision. Or hanging on the Cross, and feeling the pain of nails in His hands and feet; his back raw flesh from two floggings pressed against rough wood, splinters jabbing in His spine; the crown of thorns that pierced his skull, and a slight change in breeze brings the faint scent of the perfume on his punctured feet mixing with the odor of sweat and blood, strengthening Him to continue the fight against His human nature from his mother and surrender His life to His Father — "in to your hands, I commit my Spirit, Father".

TUESDAY

The Unwitting Witness of Pilate.

The lesson recommends reading the EGW Desire of Ages chapter "In Pilate's Judgement Hall". I wholeheartedly agree.

> Christ's persecutors had tried to measure His character by their own; they had represented Him as vile as themselves. But back of all the present appearance another scene intruded itself,—a scene which they will one day see in all its glory. There were some who trembled in Christ's presence. While the rude throng were bowing in mockery before Him, some who came forward for that purpose turned back, afraid and silenced. Herod was convicted. The last rays of merciful light were shining upon his sin-hardened heart. He felt that this was no common man; for divinity had flashed through humanity. At the very time when Christ was encompassed by mockers, adulterers, and murderers, Herod felt that he was beholding a God upon His throne.
> (Desire of Ages, pg 731[emphasis mine).

When Jesus was returned to Pilate he was "disappointed and much displeased." He had already told the mob Jesus was innocent of their false charges and wanted to be done with their mess. He did, however, agree to have Jesus scourged. For those who don't know what Roman scourging involved, it was a deeply cruel beating. The prisoner was tied to a post, while a punisher swung a short stick with 3-6 leather straps attached to the end of it. Embedded in the ends of the leather straps were sharp pieces of iron or bone that dug in to the prisoners skin and ripped it apart when the straps were jerked away for the next lash. Jewish law limited the beating to 40 lashes, so typically a prisoner was given 39 lashes ["twoscore less one"], however the Romans had no such limitations, and no body part was off limits. Many victims died with 39 or less.

> Concerning the Romans flagrum, the church historian Eusebius of Caesarea recounts in vivid, horrible detail a scene of scourging. He says, "For they say that the bystanders were struck with amazement when they saw them lacerated with scourges even to the innermost veins and arteries, so that the hidden inward parts of the body, both their bowels and their members, were exposed to view" > (Ecclesiastical History, Book 4, chapter 15).

The jewish accusers of Jesus noted Pilate's weakness in capitulating to having an "innocent" man scourged to placate them and they pressed for more.

> Here Pilate showed his weakness. He had declared that Jesus was innocent, yet he was willing for Him to be scourged to pacify His accusers. He would sacrifice justice and principle in order to compromise with the mob. This placed him at a disadvantage. The crowd presumed upon his indecision, and clamored the more for the life of the prisoner. If at the first Pilate had stood firm, refusing to condemn a man whom he found guiltless, he would have broken the fatal chain that was to bind him in remorse and guilt as long as he lived. Had he carried out his convictions of right, the Jews would not have presumed to dictate to him.

> Christ would have been put to death, but the guilt would not have rested upon Pilate. But Pilate had taken step after step in the violation of his conscience. He had excused himself from judging with justice and equity, and he now found himself almost helpless in the hands of the priests and rulers. His wavering and indecision proved his ruin.

Pilate is an example of those described in Revelation as receiving the mark of the beast in their hands. He was not a true believer in the jews or their accusations about Jesus, but he wanted to curry their favor, and was afraid of ill reports getting back to Caesar possibly jeopardizing his position, so he "went along" to protect self. God was still trying to reach Pilate and gave him another evidence via the letter from his wife regarding her vision. He still vacillated and offered them the release of a prisoner, Jesus or Barabbas, for their Passover. The jews would have none of it and demanded Christ be crucified, and welcomed the release of Barabbas.

> Pilate yielded to the demands of the mob. Rather than risk losing his position, he delivered Jesus up to be crucified. But in spite of his precautions, the very thing he dreaded afterward came upon him. His honors were stripped from him, he was cast down from his high office, and, stung by remorse and wounded pride, not long after the crucifixion he ended his own life. So all who compromise with sin will gain only sorrow and ruin. "There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.
> The people of Israel had made their choice. Pointing to Jesus they had said, "Not this man, but Barabbas." Barabbas, the robber and murderer, was the representative of Satan. Christ was the representative of God. Christ had been rejected; Barabbas had been chosen. Barabbas they were to have. In making this choice they accepted him who from the beginning was a liar and a murderer. Satan was their leader. As a nation they would act out his dictation. His works they would do. His rule they must endure. That people who chose Barabbas in the place of Christ were to feel the cruelty of Barabbas as long as time should last.
> (Desire of Ages, pg 738 (emphasis mine)

WEDNESDAY

The Witness of Thomas

The lesson asks "What major mistake did Thomas make?"

Did Thomas make a mistake or did he exercise his discernment in not surrendering his decision making to another disciple or an authority figure. I'm willing to give Thomas some grace in wanting to examine evidence for himself. To be fair, the other disciples would not likely have lied to Thomas about seeing Christ, but I still affirm him for wanting to evaluate the evidence himself. Sister White disagrees with me:

> Thomas "cast himself at the feet of Jesus crying, 'My Lord and my God.' Jesus accepted his acknowledgment, but gently reproved his unbelief: 'Thomas, because thou hast seen Me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed.' The faith of Thomas would have been more pleasing to Christ if he had been willing to believe upon the testimony of his brethren. Should the world now follow the example of Thomas, no one would believe unto salvation; for all who receive Christ must do so through the testimony of others.

Many who are given to doubt excuse themselves by saying that if they had the evidence which Thomas had from his companions, they would believe. They do not realize that they have not only that evidence, but much more. Many who, like Thomas, wait for all cause of doubt to be removed, will never realize their desire. They gradually become confirmed in unbelief. Those who educate themselves to look on the dark side, and murmur and complain, know not what they do. They are sowing the seeds of doubt, and they will have a harvest of doubt to reap. At a time when faith and confidence are most essential, many will thus find themselves powerless to hope and believe.
(Desire of Ages, pp 807, 808)

God never asks us to believe, without giving sufficient evidence upon which to base our faith. His existence, His character, the truthfulness of His word, are all established by testimony that appeals to our reason; and this testimony is abundant. Yet God has never removed the possibility of doubt. Our faith must rest upon evidence, not demonstration.
(Steps to Christ, pg 105 emphasis mine)

THURSDAY

Our Witness of Jesus.

From the Lesson:

> Imagine having been there, in person, in the flesh, and having seen Jesus do many of these miracles. We'd certainly believe, wouldn't we? We'd like to think so; but, in some ways, we have even more reasons to believe in Jesus than did those who actually saw the miracles.
> (Adult SS Guide Q4 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John, pg 61)

Why?

Why indeed? Are we advantaged in any way

The lesson makes excellent points on this — we have the history of the 1st century church; all of the gospels; history of Paul's conversion / missions / letters; fulfillment of a variety of prophecies including the persecution of the believers in medieval Europe, & those being fulfilled in real time now; the compilation of both Old and New Testaments into our Bible; advances in science supporting Scriptural accounts of beginnings and events; and OUR unique experience with the Holy Spirit making effectual Christ's accomplishments and transforming our characters to ones like His.

2024 Q4 Themes from the Gospel of John Lesson 8
Fulfilling Old Testament Prophecies

by Lori Atkins

memory text is from John 5:36 but I want to read it in context from The Remedy

> 31 "If the only evidence of who I am and of the truth I bring was my own proclamations about myself, such evidence would not be reliable. 32 But there is an abundance of other evidence that verifies that what I say is true, and this evidence is reliable and valid. 33 "You already inquired of John, and he has confirmed the truth of who I am. 34 It is not because I need his testimony that I mention this, but I hope you will accept his testimony and be healed. 35 John was a source of light — on fire to reveal the truth — and for a time you willingly rejoiced in it. 36 "I have evidence more compelling than John's testimony: the very work of revealing the truth of the Father's character and the fact that his principles of love, truth and freedom are the foundation of life, while exposing that Satan's principles of selfishness and survival-of-the-fittest lead only to death. This is the work I am doing, and it is the evidence of who I am and that the Father has sent me. 37 Not only this, but the Father himself has given evidence that he has sent me. But you have never understood his truth nor comprehended his character, 38 nor do you have his methods in your hearts, because your minds are so in tune with Satan that the revelation I have brought about the Father is rejected as faulty. 39 You diligently study the Scriptures because you think that in them you will find some secret that will give you possession of eternal life, but the Scriptures are simply the written revelation about me; 40 yet you refuse to come to me and accept the healing I offer, and live. 41 "Praise from people is not important to me nor does it matter to me, 42 but I know you. I know you do not love God's methods of self-sacrificing love. You would not be willing to lay your life down for another. No! Instead, you prefer Satan's methods of survival-of-the-fittest, and you would gladly kill to protect yourself. 43 I have come as a direct revelation of the Father–his thoughts made visible and audible–and you will not accept that the Father is like me, or that I am sent from the Father to reveal him. But if someone comes promoting their own agenda, seeking to make a name for themself, you eagerly accept and praise them because self-promotion is in harmony with your own self-centered hearts. 44 How can you claim to trust in God when you seek praise from each other, refuse to accept God's truth, and refuse to cooperate with him in the healing of your minds. 45 "Stop thinking that I will accuse you before the Father, or that the Father's attitude is what determines your destiny! I and the Father are One, and we do not accuse anyone. Your destiny is determined by the choices you make; and by choosing to reject the Remedy that > Moses taught, you accuse yourselves. 46 You claim to believe in Moses and tout him as your guiding light, but everything Moses wrote was designed to teach you about me. 47 But since you have already rejected the Remedy he wrote about, how are you going to believe the Remedy now, that I am here?" "But I have a greater witness than John's; for the works which the Father has given Me to finish—the very works that I do—bear witness of Me, that the Father has sent Me".

Who was Jesus speaking to here? He was speaking to theee most prominent religious leaders…the most preeminent theological and historical scholars…who had memorized the Torah, many who were likely descendants of the very Old Testament prophets in question…how could these folks possibly miss the very pinnacle of Old Testament prophecy…how could they not recognize the very thing that every single generation of humanity (not just the Jews) had been looking for and waiting for since the promise given to Adam and Eve (and Satan!) in the garden of Eden? Remember what God said to the serpent in Genesis 3:14-15? "So the Lord God said to the serpent, 'Because you have done this, Cursed are you above all livestock and all wild animals! You will crawl on your belly and you will eat dust all the days of your life. And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will crush your head, and you will strike his heel." What a seemingly benign verse, and yet it is perhaps the most important text in all of Scripture – it is literally the promise of salvation for the entire universe (all things in heaven and on earth)…but for we humans down here on this little rock nestled in a tiny corner of the Milky Way and groaning under the weight of sin, it is the promise of healing…of restoration…of remedy for our terminal condition. And don't underestimate that enmity…that is the only thing that even gave humanity a snowball's chance.

Consider this quote:

> "The Lord says, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman." The enmity does not exist as a natural fact. As soon as Adam sinned, he was in harmony with the first great apostate, and at war with God; and if God had not interfered in man's behalf, Satan and man would have formed a confederacy against heaven, and carried on united opposition against the God of hosts. There is no natural enmity between evil angels and evil men; both are evil through transgression of the law of God [which law? Being out of harmony with God's design laws is the common component that unites them], and evil will always league against good. Fallen men and fallen angels enter into a desperate companionship." (Signs of the Times, July 11, 1895)

This text, this promise made in Genesis 3:15 sets the stage for and is the key to understanding the entire Old Testament! Once Adam sinned no human could be saved without Jesus, our Messiah, coming and overcoming where we could not. The entire OT narrative is the battle between God's forces working to bring the Messiah to save humanity and bring an end to Satan and sin and secure the universe unfallen, and Satan working and warring to prevent the coming of the Messiah. This gives us insight into why the Bible focuses our attention on the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and then Judah, because it is through them that the Messiah comes. It gives insight into why God intervened with the Flood, the Tower of Babal, Sodom, and many other places, it was all all all about keeping open the avenue for the Messiah, because without Jesus no human being could be saved. The Genesis text also gives us insight into God's intercessions or interventions. Once Adam sinned God intercedes in three places or ways, and this text reveals one of them. God intercedes in human hearts with the Holy Spirit to convict of sin, to instill a desire for Him, for right, for life – that's that enmity. As we just read in that quote, without this intercession in our hearts there would be a perfect union between fallen human beings and fallen angels. We can still see this in individuals who reject the workings of the Holy Spirit and sear their consciences and harden their hearts, they become fully united to Satan and under his demonic influence. But the entire human race would be in that state if it wasn't for God interceding in our hearts in this way. God also intercedes in holding back the principalities and powers of darkness, putting up a hedge of protection around the righteous. And third, God interceded in the natural result of sin within the human species by Jesus becoming incarnate and destroying the carnal infection of fear and selfishness (the death causing principle) and restoring God's living law of love (the life causing principle) back into the human species, thereby becoming the second Adam and opening a new and living way back into the presence of God for us!

So, back to my original question: how could these prominent, preeminent, religious leaders and historical theological experts miss the fulfillment of their most cherished prophecy? One of the founders of the SDA church had a theory and wrote about it in Christ Object Lessons:

> "When Christ came, the Jews did not recognize Him to whom all these symbols pointed. The had the word of God in their hands; but the TRADITIONS which had been handed down from generation to generation, and the HUMAN INTERPRETATION of the Scriptures, hid from them the truth as it is in Jesus. The spiritual import of the sacred writings was lost. The treasure house of all knowledge was open to them, but they knew it not. (Christ Object Lessons, pg 104)

What traditions?

How can passing down generational traditions possibly hide the truth as it is in Jesus?

Let's examine some Christian traditions. We will find some harmonize with the Bible, some contradict it, and others do neither. And consider, which of these traditions have actual salvation significance? There are some traditions that are consistent with Scripture and some are not—but even between these, how many are salvation issues—i.e. the tradition will separate the saved from the lost?

- Using musical instruments or not in worship at church
- Baptism by immersion or sprinkling
- Attending church on Sabbath or Sunday or Wednesday evening
- Elevating the Priest or Pastor on a platform above the congregation
- Having sermons/lectures with no audience participation
- Having special music
- Having a church building owned by a denomination
- Having denominations at all
- Ordaining pastors or priests as a separate spiritual class from church members
- Having ordination of men and not women or ordaining both
- Celibacy of the priesthood or married pastors and priests
- Children's story during the worship service
- Passing a collection plate for tithes and offerings during the worship service

How many of these traditional are actually essential to salvation? How many denominational divisions do we have because of one or more of these traditions? If they are not essential to salvation, then why are we divided over them?

That brings us to the second reason why the Jewish leaders missed the Messiah. What do you think is meant by "the human interpretation of Scriptures" in the quote? Although the Pharisees in Christ's day were students of the Bible and devoted long hours to becoming experts on Scripture, they accepted the wrong/human interpretation of God's law and how it functions – the lie that God's law is an imposed set of rules that require policing and punishment – and we know that adopting that human interpretation of the Scriptures, that construct that says God's laws function like human's imposed laws, has some very predictable consequences, and they experienced all of them - they practiced the methods of this world, the rejected truth when it was presented, they hardened their hearts and seared their consciences, and ended up murdering the very God they claimed to serve.

This is Satan's primary strategy to represent God as an imperial dictator, whose laws are made up rules enforced through threats and inflicted punishments. As long as people believe this, it obstructs the ability of Jesus to make all things new because such beliefs obstruct love and trust and incite rebellion, fear, and selfishness. Further, such beliefs, via the law of worship, cause people to become like that God and they will begin to practice the pursuit of justice through the methods of Satan – imposed laws, more rules, more external control, more coercion and force, all in the name of justice and they will be ripe for Satan to come and impersonate Christ claiming he is coming to restore order, bring justice, and punish wickedness. Just as the Jewish leaders did, far too many Christians think that Jesus/the Messiah is coming to set up a kingdom that runs just like earthly kingdoms, with top-down, power over, and infliction of punishment for disobedience.

Who is actually going to come and give them such a kingdom?

This is Satan's grand strategy, to infect minds with the lie that God's law works like human law, with imposed rules that require legal action and external enforcement. That idea corrupts everything:

- The cross is corrupted into God legally executing His Son and Jesus dying to pay a legal penalty to a god who is the inflictor and source of death
- The wicked are tortured and killed by God and God is feared rather than loved
- Theologies are taught that are designed to hide us or protect us from God (covered by robe of righteousness, intercessor pleads to the punishing god not to punish etc.) because we don't trust Him—we don't actually have faith in God we have faith in the legal payment of Jesus!
- Holiness is perverted to rule-keeping, performance, obedience to law
- Churches fracture as they fight over the right definition, of terms or understanding of texts, or the right mechanics for worship or the right rituals
- Justice is distorted into accurate record keeping and "just" infliction of punishments
- People are deceived into believing justice can be achieved through human governments if only we get the right laws passed or officials in office.

The beastly system of Revelation will not arise seeking injustice. It will not arise by claiming to promote evil. It will arise pursuing justice—the specific justice doesn't even matter—it might be racial justice, economic justice, gender justice, environmental justice, justice for the unborn—but whatever justice is pursued it will be advanced by using human governments to pass laws that will be enforced by fines, sanctions, revocation of business licenses, restrictions of freedoms such as travel, assembly, speech, canceling of memberships, imprisonment, and an eventual death penalty. All of this in the pursuit of justice, of doing what is right to save the planet, to save lives, to protect the innocent, the help the down trodden, free the oppressed...but will be accomplished by using Satan's kingdoms, methods and principles. This is all designed to infect hearts and minds with Satan's beastly methods and it will deceive - if it were possible - even the very elect.

I want to discuss the topic of this weeks lesson – the Old Testament prophecies fulfilled by Christ's birth, death, and resurrection, but I am going to use a lengthy quote from Acts of the Apostles that references one of Paul's sermons rather than John…because the sermon does such a great job of associating a vast number of those OT prophecies with the evidence that Christ was indeed the long awaited Messiah who came to fulfill them.

> In preaching to the Thessalonians, Paul appealed to the Old Testament prophecies concerning the Messiah. Christ in His ministry had opened the minds of His disciples to these prophecies; "beginning at Moses and all the prophets, He expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself." Luke 24:27. Peter in preaching Christ had produced his evidence from the Old Testament. Stephen had pursued the same course. And Paul also in his ministry appealed to the scriptures foretelling the birth, sufferings, death, resurrection, and ascension of Christ. By the inspired testimony of Moses and the prophets he clearly proved the identity of Jesus of Nazareth with the Messiah and showed that from the days of Adam it was the voice of Christ which had been speaking through patriarchs and prophets.

Plain and specific prophecies had been given regarding the appearance of the Promised One. To Adam was given an assurance of the coming of the Redeemer. The sentence pronounced on Satan, "I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel" (Genesis 3:15), was to our first parents a promise of the redemption to be wrought out through Christ.

To Abraham was given the promise that of his line the Saviour of the world should come: "In thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." [God gave the promises to Abraham and his seed. The Scripture does not say "seeds," meaning many people or all his descendants, but "your seed," meaning one single person, who is Jesus Christ."] Genesis 22:18; Galatians 3:16.

Moses, near the close of his work as a leader and teacher of Israel, plainly prophesied of the Messiah to come. "The Lord thy God," he declared to the assembled hosts of Israel, "will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto Him ye shall hearken." And Moses assured the Israelites that God Himself had revealed this to him while in Mount Horeb, saying, "I will raise them up a Prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and will put My words in His mouth; and He shall speak unto them all that I shall command Him." Deuteronomy 18:15, 18.

The Messiah was to be of the royal line, for in the prophecy uttered by Jacob the Lord said, ["But the scepter will not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from your descendants, until Shiloh – the Remedy to sin – comes and cleanses the people."] Genesis 49:10.

Isaiah prophesied: "There shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots." "Incline your ear, and come unto Me: hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David. Behold, I have given Him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people. Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that knew not thee shall run unto thee because of the Lord thy God, and for the Holy One of Israel; for He hath glorified thee." Isaiah 11:1; 55:3-5.

Jeremiah also bore witness of the coming Redeemer as a Prince of the house of David: "Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. In His days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is His name whereby He shall be called, The Lord Our Righteousness." And again: "Thus saith the Lord: David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel; neither shall the priests the Levites want a man before Me to offer burnt offerings, and to kindle meat offerings, and to do sacrifice continually." Jeremiah 23:5, 6; 33:17, 18. –

Even the birthplace of the Messiah was foretold: "Thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall He come forth unto Me that is to be Ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting." Micah 5:2.

The work that the Saviour was to do on the earth had been fully outlined: "The Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon Him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord; and shall make Him of quick understanding in the fear of the Lord." The One thus anointed was "to preach good tidings unto the meek; ... to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn; to appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that He might be glorified." Isaiah 11:2, 3; 61:1-3.

"Behold My servant, whom I uphold; Mine elect, in whom My soul delighteth; I have put My Spirit upon Him: He shall bring forth judgment to the Gentiles. He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause His voice to be heard in the street. A bruised reed shall He not break, and the smoking flax shall He not quench: He shall bring forth judgment unto truth. He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till He have set judgment in the earth: and the isles shall wait for His law." Isaiah 42:1-4.

With convincing power Paul reasoned from the Old Testament Scriptures that ["…Scriptures absolutely teach that the only way for the Messiah to save humanity was for him to suffer, die, and rise from the dead. Then he told them, 'This Jesus that I am telling you about is the Messiah!'"] Had not Micah prophesied, "They shall smite the Judge of Israel with a rod upon the cheek"? Micah 5:1. And had not the Promised One, through Isaiah, prophesied of Himself, "I gave My back to the smiters, and My cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not My face from shame and spitting"? Isaiah 50:6. Through the psalmist Christ had foretold the treatment that He should receive from men: ["But I don't feel like a son of God; I feel low, like a worm — loathed and reviled by people. Any who see me taunt and scorn me; they sneer insults and shake their heads, saying: 'He claims he trusts God; let God rescue him now! Let the Lord save him, since he loves him so much."] ["My bones protrude — easy to see; my enemies stare in triumph, gloating over me. They divide my garments among themselves and roll dice for my clothing."] ["I am like a stranger to my own family, an alien to my own siblings. A passionate desire to complete God's healing plan and restore God's house consumes me; I accept the abuse meant for you, in order to protect and heal you."] ["Slander, scorn and rejection have broken my heart; such animosity and callousness sicken me. I look for sympathy, but there is none, for someone to comfort me, but found no one. They gave me poison for food and vinegar to quench my thirst."] Psalm 22:6-8, 17, 18; 69:8, 9, 20-21.

How unmistakably plain were Isaiah's prophecies of Christ's sufferings and death! "Who hath believed our report?" the prophet inquires, "and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? For He shall grow up before Him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: He hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see Him, there is no beauty that we should desire Him. He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from Him; He was despised, and we esteemed Him not.

"Surely He hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed.

"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all. He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet He opened not His mouth: He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He openeth not His mouth. He was taken from prison and from judgment: and who shall declare His generation? for He was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was He stricken." Isaiah 53:1-8. (Acts of the Apostles, pp 221-226)

What do we think about the Isaiah 53:4 text…the NIV says:

"Surely He took up our pain and bore our suffering, yet we considered him punished by God, stricken by him and afflicted."

What does our Seventh-Day Adventist Bible Commentary say about this verse?

> "The enemy made it appear that the sufferings of Jesus were punishment inflicted upon Him by a vengeful God because He was a sinner. If that were true, He could not be the world's Redeemer" (Vol. 4, p. 291).

The commentary also references The Desire of Ages page 471, which reads:

> "It was generally believed by the Jews that sin is punished in this life. Every affliction was regarded as the penalty of some wrongdoing, either of the sufferer himself or of his parents. It is true that all suffering results from the transgression of God's law, but this truth had become perverted. Satan, the author of sin and all its results, had led men to look upon disease and death as proceeding from God, as punishment arbitrarily inflicted on account of sin. [Arbitrary, is an infliction of punishment that is not inherent, in other words, imposed law versus design law. If someone commits murder why does one person get 10 years in prison, another 20, another life, another the death penalty? Because all these penalties are arbitrary and inflicted, the legal penalty to murder is not inherent, thus the author is saying the legal penalty theory is from Satan!] Hence, one upon whom some great affliction or calamity had fallen had the additional burden of being regarded as a great sinner.
> Thus the way was prepared for the Jews to reject Jesus. He who "hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows" was looked upon by the Jews as "stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted;" and they hid their faces from Him. Isa. 53:4, 3.
> God had given a lesson designed to prevent this. The history of Job had shown that suffering is inflicted by Satan, and is overruled by God for purposes of mercy. But Israel did not understand the lesson. The same error for which God had reproved the friends of Job was repeated by the Jews in their rejection of Christ. (Desire of Ages, pg 471)

God warned us through Isaiah that this very misunderstanding would occur that we would misunderstand and teach that God was the One who struck him, killed him...that God punished Jesus at the Cross. The Jews believed it and thus rejected Christ—Christians still believe it and while accepting Christ they REJECT the truth about God that Christ revealed, and instead promote a false God concept...all based on believing the lie that God's law functions like human law. Once we reject that lie and embrace the truth that God's law are design laws, we realize that weare dead in trespass and sin and Jesus condescended in unimaginable ways to take up our humanity…to take upon himself our terminal sin condition in order to overcome and cure it, and Jesus himself served as God's agency through which the Triune Godhead accomplished their goal of eradicating sin and saving the human species.

Back to the quote…

> Even the manner of His death had been shadowed forth. As the brazen serpent had been uplifted in the wilderness, so was the coming Redeemer to be lifted up, "that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.
> "One shall say unto Him, What are these wounds in Thine hands? Then He shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of My friends." Zechariah 13:6.
> "He made His grave with the wicked, and with the rich in His death; because He had done no violence, neither was any deceit in His mouth. Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise Him; He hath put Him to grief." Isaiah 53:9, 10. (Acts of the Apostles, pg 226)

What does verse 10 mean?

- NIV: Yet it was the Lord's will to crush him and cause him to suffer
- GNT: The Lord says, "It was my will that he should suffer"
- NKJV: Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise Him;

He has put Him to grief The SDA Bible commentary on this passage states:

> "The Lord was not delighted that His Servant, Messiah, should suffer, but rather, in view of the eternal welfare of men and the security of the universe, it was best for Him to suffer. 'It pleased the Lord' in the sense that 'it was the will of the Lord.' Only thus could the plan of salvation succeed. The sufferings of Christ were part of the eternal plan." (SDA Bible commentary , vol. 4, pg 291).

This is well said—it pleased God that Jesus, in perfect accord with Himself, perfectly revealed the Father and perfectly fulfilled His mission to heal and save humankind. So, while God did not enjoy His Son's suffering, He was pleased for His Son to carry out His purpose to save humankind and the only way to do this was to partake of our human nature, confront the carnal nature and destroy it restoring the species human back to God's original ideal. It would be like a parent whose child was dying of leukemia having another child who was a bone marrow match – they would be pleased the healthy child donated bone marrow to save their sibling, and even though the parents wouldn't enjoy healthy child suffering through the donation process, they would be pleased with it because of what it accomplished.

OPTIONAL:

> But He who was to suffer death at the hands of evil men was to rise again as a conqueror over sin and the grave. Under the inspiration of the Almighty the Sweet Singer of Israel had testified of the glories of the resurrection morn. He joyously proclaimed, ["My heart rejoices, my mouth proclaims glad tidings, and my body rests in hope, because you will not leave me in the grave, nor will you allow your perfect Remedy to decompose. You will proclaim me as the only way of life, filling me with the joy of your life-giving presence and with the pleasure of living with you forever."] Psalm 16:9-11. – {AA 227.1}

Paul showed how closely God had linked the sacrificial service with the prophecies relating to the One who was to be "brought as a lamb to the slaughter." The Messiah was to give His life as "an offering for sin."

> [OPTIONAL] Looking down through the centuries to the scenes of the Saviour's atonement, the prophet Isaiah had testified that the Lamb of God "poured out His soul unto death: and He was numbered with the transgressors; and He bare the sin of many and made intercession for the transgressors." Isaiah 53:7, 10, 12. – {AA 227.2}

> [OPTIONAL] The Saviour of prophecy was to come, not as a temporal king, to deliver the Jewish nation from earthly oppressors, but as a man among men, to live a life of poverty and humility, and at last to be despised, rejected, and slain. The Saviour foretold in the Old Testament Scriptures was to offer Himself as a sacrifice on behalf of the fallen race, thus fulfilling every requirement of the broken law. In Him the sacrificial types were to meet their antitype, and His death on the cross was to lend significance to the entire Jewish economy. – {AA 227.3}

What broken law? How did Christ's death/sacrifice on behalf of the fallen race fulfill every requirement of that law?

> Paul told the Thessalonian Jews of his former zeal for the ceremonial law and of his wonderful experience at the gate of Damascus. Before his conversion he had been confident in a hereditary piety, a false hope. His faith had not been anchored in Christ; he had trusted instead in forms and ceremonies. His zeal for the law had been disconnected from faith in Christ and was of no avail. While boasting that he was blameless in the performance of the deeds of the law, he had refused the One who made the law of value. – {AA 228.1}

But at the time of his conversion all had been changed. Jesus of Nazareth, whom he had been persecuting in the person of His saints, appeared before him as the promised Messiah. The persecutor saw Him as the Son of God, the one who had come to the earth in fulfillment of the prophecies and who in His life had met every specification of the Sacred Writings. – {AA 228.2}

As with holy boldness Paul proclaimed the gospel in the synagogue at Thessalonica, a flood of light was thrown upon the true meaning of the rites and ceremonies connected with the tabernacle service. He carried the minds of his hearers beyond the earthly service and the ministry of Christ in the heavenly sanctuary, to the time when, having completed His mediatorial work, Christ would come again in power and great glory, and establish His kingdom on the earth. Paul was a believer in the second coming of Christ; so clearly and forcibly did he present the truths concerning this event, that upon the minds of many who heard there was made an impression which never wore away. – {AA 228.3}

For three successive Sabbaths Paul preached to the Thessalonians, reasoning with them from the Scriptures regarding the life, death, resurrection, office work, and future glory of Christ, the "Lamb slain from the foundation of the world." Revelation 13:8. He exalted Christ, the proper understanding of whose ministry is the key that unlocks the Old Testament Scriptures, giving access to their rich treasures. – {AA 229.1}

The Source of Life

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Read Memory Verse:

- Jesus answered, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. (John 14:66 NIV84).

What does this text mean?

Jesus is the way? The way where, to what, and how is He the way?

This text is an excerpt from Jesus answering a question from Thomas, who asked a question in response to something Jesus just told them, so let's read John 14:1-5:

- "Do not let your hearts be distressed. You believe in God; believe also in me. There are many dwelling places in my Father's house. Otherwise, I would have told you, because I am going away to make ready a place for you. And if I go and make ready a place for you, I will come again and take you to be with me, so that where I am you may be too. And you know the way where I am going."
  Thomas said, "Lord, we don't know where you are going. How can we know the way?" (John 14:1–5 NET).

So, in context of Jesus statement and Thomas's question, the way to which Jesus is referring leads to where? Is it not the way back to unity with God, the way back to God's original purpose in creating Adam and Eve, the way back to perfection, sinlessness, love, at-one-ment?

Consider Hebrews 10:19-23, is this the way Jesus was referring to?

- Therefore, brothers, since we have confidence to enter the Most Holy Place by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way opened for us through the curtain, that is, his body, and since we have a great priest over the house of God, let us draw near to God with a sincere heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled to cleanse us from a guilty conscience and having our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold unswervingly to the hope we profess, for he who promised is faithful. (Hebrews 10:19–23 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus opens the new a living way the way back into at-one-ment with the Father! And notice what Hebrews says that way entails and what it does not entail. It entails cleansing us, healing us, restoring us, renewing us—it does not entail paying a blood payment to the Father, for God so loved us that He sent His Son to restore us to unity with Him by removing sin from us.

So what is did Jesus make this way through, metaphorically it is the veil in the temple, but what does that represent? What is it that has been obstructing our unity with God? Some say the veil represents Jesus' body, but was Jesus the obstacle to being united with God or is Jesus the way through the obstacle? So, again, what has been obstructing human beings from being united with God?

The lies that Satan told about Him and His Father that we have believed and our own fallen carnal nature—and Jesus is the truth that tears through the veil of lies AND Jesus destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness that He inherited through Mary and restored God's living law of love into humanity, thus Jesus destroyed the veil of death and brought life and immortality to light, opening again the way through the lies and the terminal sin condition back to unity with the Father.

Thus, my paraphrase of Hebrews 10:19-23:

- Therefore, brothers and sisters, since Jesus died to bring us the truth about God and to eradicate selfishness from humanity, we no longer need to be afraid but can confidently enter the Most Holy Place–God's very presence–because Christ's death revealed the truth about God and ripped open the veil of lies told by Satan that blinded our minds, and destroyed the infection of selfishness that separated us from him. And since we have this great ministering priest who ministers the truth to all, let the truth permeate us, cleansing, transforming and changing us as we draw near to God in heart, mind, purpose, method, principle and character, so that we may have ultimate confidence and trust in him who has revealed himself to be completely trustworthy. (Hebrews 10:19-23 REM)

Do you agree that Jesus is the only way to salvation? Why? Because there is one human species created by God in Eden—every other human being is descended from Adam. This one human species all suffer with the same terminal sin condition brought upon all of us by our human parents Adam and Eve (Psalms 51:5). And there is only one solution to this terminal condition—we must exchange the terminal life of fear and selfishness for the eternal life of love and trust. And it is only possible for us to experience this exchange of life because Jesus became a real human being, partook of the same life breathed into Adam and which was corrupted by Adam. He partook of that life through His mother Mary, but because the Father of His humanity was the Holy Spirit Jesus was born capable of not only experiencing temptation in every way just like we do but also capable of exercising His human power of choice to say no to the spirit of fear and selfishness inherited from Adam and yes to the spirit of love and trust inherited through the Holy Spirit. And at the cross Jesus destroyed the spirit of fear and selfishness, and arose in a humanity purified and perfected, thus Jesus destroyed the lies that separate us from the Father by perfectly revealing the Father to us, but Jesus also destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness, what the Bible calls the carnal nature or drives cleansing and purifying the species human. In the person of Jesus Christ, who is not only the Son of God but also the Son of Man, the species human, the species created in Eden was redeemed, cleansed, purified, perfected, and restored to perfect unity with the Father. And simultaneously, through what Jesus accomplished, the truth was revealed that solidifies the unfallen worlds in their loyalty and the remedy to our sin condition was procured and each one of us is offered eternal life, the free, pure, holy, life of Christ that we can receive if we choose to trust Him.

This is reality—there is nothing penal legal going on, through Jesus the way back into oneness with the Father is open for all who will simply surrender to Him in trust.

SUNDAY

Read the first paragraph,

- In John 1:1, the apostle clearly states that Jesus is God, the divine Son. Consequently, in John 1:4—"In Him was life, and the life was the light of men" (NKJV)—the reference to life here has to be divine life, underived eternal self-existence. Because He has life within Himself, He can lay down His life and take it again (John 10:17). And, because He has life within, He can give life to whom He will (John 5:21; compare with John 14:19). (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 73).

Jesus as the Son of God has life original to Himself, underived from another source and immortal. But Jesus, as the Son of Man, as a human, partook of life that had a beginning, He partook of the life breathed into Adam and thus Jesus' divinity has no beginning, but His humanity did. There was a time a little more that 2000 years ago that Jesus did not have a human life—He only had His divine life. But now Jesus is both fully divine and fully human and because Jesus eliminated from the humanity He took upon Himself the infection of fear and selfishness, the humanity He now holds is immortal.

Do you agree with this or am I misstating it in some way?

And Jesus offers to share His immortal life with you and I, we can receive the immortal life of Christ through trust. As Paul wrote, "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me" (Galatians 2:20) or as Peter wrote "you may be partakers of the divine nature" (2 Peter 1:4 NJJV).

Read the fourth paragraph,

- Just as the bronze serpent took the place of the Israelites who had been bitten by serpents, so Jesus took our place, we who have been struck down by sin. He took the penalty that was ours so that we might have the life that was His. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 73).

How do you understand this paragraph. What law lens do you understand it through?

Is there a penalty for sin? Yes, did Jesus suffer because of our sin, suffering He did not deserve and which was not naturally His own? Yes, and because of His voluntary choice to take our place, to substitute Himself, and win a victory that we could not win, can we, if we choose to trust Him and follow Him, avoid the penalty of sin? Yes!

Is it possible that these truths could be understood in a way that interferes with people experiencing the free salvation Jesus' offers despite claiming they are saved by Jesus? How might that happen?

It all depends on the law lens—if one holds to Satan's lie that God's law functions like human law. Then the penalty for sin is legally inflicted suffering and death inflicted by God and God becomes the obstacle to salvation and Jesus' death is the means whereby we are able to be protected from God. The legal lens actually undermines our trust in God, instead of seeking God's presence, the legal theologies create all kinds of theoretical and theological mental defenses to hide us and protect us from God because we believe the lie that if this isn't done God is required to use His power to kill us. People will write things like this, published in the Review December 2023:

- To spare us, God poured out His wrath against the violation of His law (sin), not on the violators of His law (sinners) but on the sinless Jesus, the only way that God could "be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus" (Rom. 3:26). In short, rather than killing us for violating His law, the Father killed Jesus instead. … Or, to put it crudely, the Father killed Jesus so that He wouldn't have to kill us" (Goldstein, C. "Law, Freedom, Love." Adventist Review, online edition, Dec 8, 2023, https://adventistreview.org/cliffs-edge/law-freedom-love/?fbclid=IwAR3wAGrpMo-HQQi2KFAlHxfD47q5Aam6lZ6yJTNk-5FH7QZr66b8h_3CqX0, emphasis mine).

But when we return to worship God as Creator and realize the truth that God's laws are the design protocols upon which reality is constructed to operate, we understand that death does not come out from God, death comes from breaking away from God and the laws upon which He constructed life to operate. Just as the Bible teaches:

- For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Romans 6:23 NIV84).
- Sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death. (James 1:15 NIV84).
- The one who sows to please his sinful nature, from that nature will reap destruction; the one who sows to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life. (Galatians 6:8 NIV84).

God is the source of life, life comes from God, sin severs our connection with God and life and naturally results in eternal death unless the sin is removed and life is restored within. This is what Jesus has done for humanity and is doing for each person who trusts Him.

God, through Jesus, destroys death, death is the power of Satan, not the power of God:

- Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death. (Hebrews 2:14,15 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. (2 Timothy 1:10 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- Then the end will come, when he hands over the kingdom to God the Father after he has destroyed all dominion, authority and power. For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. The last enemy to be destroyed is death. (1 Corinthians 15:24-26 NIV84, emphasis mine).

God is the source of life and through Jesus God destroys death—because death is the result of distrusting God, of breaking His design laws. But when people accept the lie that God's law functions like human law, imposed rules, they teach that God is the source of death and then create all kinds of legal fictions that operate in hearts and minds as a barrier obstructing our unity with God.

People trust in the blood, the payment, the erasing of the records, the mediatorial pleading of Jesus, or Mary, or the saints to plead mercy from the Father, but they do not actually trust the Father and they live in fear of the day that the intercessor is removed and they must stand in the presence of the Father without an intercessor.

But those of us who know the truth of God's design law and worship God as Creator, look forward to the day Jesus our intercessor finishes His work of cleansing our hearts and minds from sin and once He has finished His work of restoring the image of God within us, of removing fear, sin, and selfishness, of sealing us both intellectually and spiritually so that we cannot be moved, then He can stop interceding to bring us back into at-one-ment with the Father because we will be at-one and ready to meet Him face to face.

Just as John wrote,

- We know that when he appears, we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is. (1 John 3:2 NIV84).

MONDAY

The lesson asks, "How do we receive eternal life?"

What would you say to someone who asks this of you?

Consider this story from Acts:

- The jailer called for lights, rushed in and fell trembling before Paul and Silas. He then brought them out and asked, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" They replied, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved—you and your household." Then they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all the others in his house. At that hour of the night the jailer took them and washed their wounds; then immediately he and all his family were baptized. The jailer brought them into his house and set a meal before them; he was filled with joy because he had come to believe in God—he and his whole family. (Acts 16:29-34 NIV84).

What lessons do we learn from this story and does it raise any questions that need clarifying?

- How could they be baptized on the same day they chose to believe in Jesus? Didn't the apostles get this wrong—weren't they supposed to have this family say the sinner's pray, then enroll in several weeks of Bible study classes to learn the correct doctrines—what some might call "indoctrination" and weren't they required to give up their Sabbath job, change their diet, quit using alcohol, and start paying tithe before they could be baptized?
- Doesn't the Bible say that the devil's believe and tremble (James 2:19)? So what does it mean to believe in Jesus? Is there another word in our modern English that the Greek is also legitimately translated into that better captures the true meaning? Yes, trust, trust your heart, mind, soul, life, future, fortune, self into Jesus' care. Just like a patient will trust themselves to a surgeon and while under anesthesia trust the surgeon to do a work that the patient cannot do for himself, and then afterward trust the instructions of the surgeon, keep the wound clean, take the medicine as prescribed, do the exercises assigned etc. So, too, when we trust Jesus we open the heart and ask Him to come in and do the things we cannot do, but we also trust Him by doing the things which are ours to do. Thoughts?

Salvation happens when the heart/mind that was living in fear and selfishness surrenders to Jesus in trust and receives, through their trust, AKA faith, a new heart and right spirit, a new animating energy of love and trust and from that point forward it is no longer the old fear-ridden selfish life animating the person, but a new life, a new animating power, the presence and power of Jesus Christ in the person of the Holy Spirit giving us new desires, insights, motives, and power as we daily choose to say yes to the Spirit of truth and love and no to the spirit of fear and selfishness.

The lesson asks the following question,

- How does the promise of having eternal life impact how we view our temporal life here?

This is actually quite a significant question, can you think of examples from the Bible, from history, from recent events, of how Satan tricks people into valuing temporal life over eternal life, or how inflaming fear of losing temporal life causes people to make choices to distrust God and align with Satan in method and practice?

The life we all inherit from Adam is the life infected with fear and selfishness, the natural drive of this fallen state is the survival of the fittest drive, when we are threatened the fear causes us to act to harm others to protect ourselves. It is considered justifiable and right to defend self against assault, to kill rather than be killed.

At the cross, Jesus demonstrated another method—trusting God with one's life rather than acting to protect one's life. Jesus did not use power to protect self, to act in self-interest, but instead surrendered His life into the care and keeping of the Father.

Daniel, the three worthies, Stephen, the martyred apostles and martyrs down through history have all done the same thing.

And Revelation tells us that those who are ready for translation, the true remnant at the end of time are described in these words:

- They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death. (Revelation 12:11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Satan's method is to inflame fear, fear of injustice, fear of abuse, fear of death and then get people to promote a good cause, justice, stop abuse, save lives, but through the application of his methods of force and coercion.

The high priest Caiaphas went down this path when he said,

- "You know nothing at all! You do not realize that it is better for you that one man die for the people than that the whole nation perish." (John 11:49-50 NIV84).

And we saw this same trap, this same trick, used worldwide during COVID when nations, corporations, some churches and church leaders, spoke just like Caiaphas—it is better to harm a few to protect the many lest the entire nation perish, or lest our corporation lose its government funding etc.

We saw the same thing in the recent election cycle when pundits constantly promoted various fear inducing messages to get people to act unrighteously to protect self.

We can never win God's cause by using Satan's methods and that is the trap. Satan will, if he can, try to advance an evil cause, murder, rape, abuse. But not everyone will be seduced into overt evil, so he tricks them into trying to remedy the evil by promoting a righteous cause, but with his evil methods. This is what will happen when the beast rises and why only the elect will be saved, because only those who know God's design laws will be able to differentiate between the righteous goal and the unrighteous methods being employed.

This was articulated by some in the last election cycle, some think it is justifiable to do whatever it takes to prevent the other side from being elected to office, even if it means lying, cheating, or whatever, the ends justify the means. But this is a trap of Satan. Notice, I didn't say which side, for people on extremes of both sides get caught into such traps.

TUESDAY

The lesson is about believing and the new birth experience. What do you understand the new birth to be?

Can a person believe in Jesus and not experience a new birth? Don't the devils believe and tremble?

So believing in Jesus must mean more than acknowledging or being confident in the reality of Jesus and Him being the Son of God.

So how is belief connecting to a new birth?

Can a person be saved without a new birth experience or is the new birth experience required for salvation? Why or why not?

Is the new birth experience different from or the exact same event as justification? Is the new birth experience something that happens in record books or something that happens in hearts and minds? What about justification—is it legal happening in books or is it actual happening in people?

Isn't justification setting right what is wrong? And what is wrong that needs to be set right? Isn't it the sinful heart of human beings?

There are two aspects to justification for the human race:

1. Jesus, as our human substitute, took upon Himself the terminal sin condition with which Adam infected the species and being tempted in all points like we are overcame that condition and eradicated it at the cross. Thereby, in the individual humanity, brain, person, of Jesus Christ the race, the species that God created in Eden, was reconciled, justified, put right with God again. But Jesus in reconciling the species in His personhood, as He was a real human who lived sinlessly using human abilities, simultaneously developed the remedy that will cure, heal, save all who trust Him. That leads to the second aspect of justification—individual justification
2. Individual justification is only possible because Jesus first justified, reconciled, set right the species in His person becoming our sinless second Adam, the metaphorical vine into which we can be grafted and receive a new life, be reborn and experience the new spirit of love and trust, the animating energy of the divine nature, having Christ live in us. This is what Abraham experienced. His natural human heart was like yours and mind, as Romans describes enmity to God—distrusting and against God. But Abraham experienced a change from distrust to trust and only AFTER Abraham's heart was set right or put right in trust with God did God reckon, declare, credit, Abraham as being justified or righteous because he was in his heart right with God again.

This is true justification, it is real, actual, literal, not legal, not declared, not pretend, as the Bible says:

- God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God. (2 Corinthians 5:21 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Being reborn means that we receive, through our faith or trust, the indwelling Holy Spirit that comes with the divine spirit of love, the animating energy of the divine nature, the life of Christ that motivates us with new desire and enables us to choose to love, to live honestly, to say no to the carnal drives of fear and selfishness and thus we become righteous through our faith or trust in Jesus.

Read the last paragraph,

- Faith, biblical faith, based on the work of the Holy Spirit in our hearts, is the foundation of our faith. “Faith is . . . the great blessing—the eye that sees, the ear that hears.”—Ellen G. White, In Heavenly Places, p. 104. The humanistic approach to faith states that we must find a foundation, the criteria for faith, and then believe. In contrast, the biblical approach states that faith is the foundation, a gift from God (Eph. 2:8, 1 Cor. 1:17–24, 1 Cor. 2:1–6). We start with the foundation of faith, and then from there we grow in understanding and grace. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 75, emphasis mine).

What does this mean? Are they saying as Christians we are not to have a foundation for our faith?

I must not be understanding this—are they saying we must have faith based on something other than evidence, reason, facts, truth, historical accomplishments, reality revealed, that we are just believe without evidence?

How much truth is on Satan’s side? Zero, how must is on God’s side 100%, so in this battle for hearts and minds who benefits if we turn minds away from evidence, facts, truth? Satan does—so the idea that faith is not based on a foundation of truth, facts, evidence is a lie. All our faith is built upon reality, the truth that God has revealed to us in Scripture, Nature/science, and Experiences.

Consider:

- Faith comes from hearing the message, and the message is heard through the word of Christ. (Romans 10:17 NIV84)
- "God never asks us to believe, without giving sufficient evidence upon which to base our faith. His existence, His character, the truthfulness of His Word, are all established by testimony that appeals to our reason; and this testimony is abundant. Yet God has never removed the possibility of doubt. Our faith must rest upon evidence, not demonstration. Those who wish to doubt will have opportunity; while those who really desire to know the truth, will find plenty of evidence on which to rest their faith." (Steps to Christ 105, emphasis mine)

WEDNESDAY

Read last paragraph,

- The sin of the Hebrews when they were at Kadesh Barnea was to doubt the Word of God. God had asked them to go up and take the land. Twelve spies were sent to Canaan to spy out the land. They came back with two reports. The majority gave a negative report. There are giants > in the land, walled cities, weapons we have never seen before, and well-trained armies. By contrast, we have been slaves in the land of Egypt with little military experience. Ten spies voted no, based upon the overwhelming evidence from a human standpoint. Two spies voted yes based upon their faith in the overwhelming power of the Word of God. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 76).

What happened here?

Did the spies who recommended not going in give a false report when they reported there were giants in the land and walled cities, strong armies? Were they making that up?

So their report of strong enemies in the land was accurate—what was the problem?

The lesson wants us to believe that their problem was simply that they didn't believe what God had said. But was it that simple? Or, were there other facts and evidences that the nay-sayers left out of their ability to understand the situation and trust God?

Was there evidence of God's existence, His leading, power and plan for them from the 10 plagues of Egypt, the manna, the fire by night and cloud by day, Moses' face radiating light whenever he left God's presence?

Did they have evidence of God's presence, power, and care for them?

Is God asking them to believe in and trust Him simply because He said so, or had God given evidence upon evidence of His love, presence, trustworthiness, reliability, and care for them to base their faith in Him?

God had told them why He sent the Ten Plagues?

- "I did this so that you might know that I am the Lord your God." (Deuteronomy 29:6).

So they had lots of evidence of God's existence, trustworthiness and reliability and they were not called upon to believe or trust simply because God said so.

Why do you think some people want to take the position that we are to believe without evidence? What kind of system is that? What kind of system operates upon claims, declarations, proclamations, voices of authority, power, and position? This is Satan's method, it is the method of imposed law, arbitrary rules, made up systems—this is how Satan sought to get power in the beginning of the controversy:

- You said in your heart, "I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain. I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High." (Isaiah 14:13-14 NIV84, emphasis mine).

This is all claims, declarations, proclamations. Lucifer is not saying that he is becoming a divine being, that he actually has infinite powers—it is not reality based, it is fantasy, make-believe, artificial, imposed, authority by claiming power and attempting to exert it over others—which is how all human governments work—by made up rules and external enforcement.

The fact our lesson argues for the approach of believing God based on God saying it is evidence that they believe in the imposed law made up system.

Understand God always speaks truth and we are wise to believe, listen, and follow His Word—but understand the difference, it is critical. What God says is true because it is how reality is, God's saying it doesn't make it true—He says it because it is true.

And God wants us to understand reality, understand the truth for ourselves.

But ten of the spies going into Canaan didn't trust God—why not? They did not keep their minds/hearts focused upon God, but instead focused upon the threats which incited fear and caused them to think of worldly ways to survive—let's leave, bypass, go around.

Did you see this same problem happening during COVID—many people diverted away from the principles of God and replaced love with fear and justified coercing others in order to make themselves feel safe, rather than simply presenting the truth in love and leaving others free to decide for themselves?

Do you see this happening as we approach the end times, people living in fear of what the government will do and fretting and worrying about how they will survive, rather than keeping their eyes fixed on Jesus and resting in His promise to provide for us?

I love this thought,

- We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord has led us, and His teaching in our past history. (Christian Experience and Teaching p. 204).

THURSDAY

Read first paragraph,

- "Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe stands condemned already because [he has] not believed in the name of God's one and only Son. . . . Everyone who does evil hates the light, and will not come into the light for fear that [his] deeds will be exposed. But whoever lives by the truth comes into the light" (John 3:18–21, NIV; compare with John 1:10). (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 77).

What does this mean? Why are people condemned? Is this a legal condemnation or a terminal state of being that causes the condemnation?

We are born in sin conceived in iniquity, dead in trespass and sin—this is a terminal condition we inherited from Adam. Without remedy the natural result is eternal death. Thus, those who refuse the remedy are condemned to die from the condition with which they were born. They are not in legal trouble, they are in lethal trouble. And they are not guilty of having the condition, but all who die of it will be guilty of rejecting and refusing the free remedy that would cure them of this condition.

Read third paragraph,

- Eve was given light on how to relate to the tree in the center of the garden. Satan tempted her to bring the light into question. She tested God's word by reasoning that a God of love would not destroy the creatures whom He created. She also relied upon the data of her senses. The serpent has eaten of the fruit and now has the power to speak. Perhaps the serpent is right. If I partake of the fruit, I may become like God! Deceived, she turned away from the light. And her husband chose the same path. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 77, emphasis mine).

What is the lesson trying to suggest? Are they suggesting that God will destroy the creatures He created and that Eve was wrong to conclude that a God of love would not destroy the creatures whom He created?

It all depends on how one understands God's law.

If one believes the lie that God's law functions like that of a creature, imposed rules requiring the infliction of external punishment, then one believes what the lesson suggests.

If one believes that God's laws are design laws, the protocols reality functions upon, then one recognizes that Eve's conclusion is correct—God will not destroy His creatures. But if one recognizes the truth that God will not destroy His creatures but is tricked into believing God's law is imposed rules—they one believes falsely that there is nothing wrong with eating the fruit since God won't destroy one for it, but the problem was never with God, the problem is that sin breaks the laws upon which life is built and destroys the sinner, just as the Bible says:

- The wages of sin is death Romans 6:23
- Sin when full grown brings forth death James 1:15
- Those who sow to the carnal nature from that nature reap destruction Galatians 6:8

It would be like saying to a child whose parents warned them not to play Russian roulette, or not to take illegal drugs or smoke, "She tested the word of her parents by reasoning that her parents that love her would not destroy the children they procreated" so there must not be any harm in playing Russian roulette, do drugs, or smoking.

The injury, harm, death doesn't come from God, Eve was correct in her conclusion that God would not destroy the children He created—in fact God so loved the world that He died to save those children. She was wrong in her belief that God's law functions like human law—she failed to understand the nature and character of sin, of breaking away from God's law of love and truth.

Read last paragraph,

- Christ had at His disposal the same humanistic tool of thought used by Adam and Eve, the antediluvians, and Israel at Kadesh Barnea. He could have asked why a God of love would leave His Son in the wilderness for 40 days and nights without food and protection. He also could have determined to prove His Sonship by turning stones into bread! Instead, He answered with the Word of God. He operated on the level of heavenly things rather than on earthly patterns of thought. How easily He could have rationalized His way to a wrong decision, which so many people, even people of faith, often do. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 77, emphasis mine).

Why did Jesus not ask these questions? Because He understood design law—He understood that humanity was infected with the spirit of fear and selfishness, that the animating energy passed down from Adam and Eve was dissonance, out of harmony with heaven, incompatible with life as God constructed the universe to operate and that He came to eradicate the spirit of fear and selfishness animating human beings and replace it with the spirit of love and trust. In order to do that He had to be tempted in all points like we are, He had to face the temptations and choose with His human abilities to do only what is harmony with the spirit of love and trust. Thus He understood He could not accomplish His mission without going there, so there was no rationalizing mindset, there was mission completion mindset because Jesus did not operate upon the lie of imposed law with the false penal legal payment theology.

2024 4Q Themes in the Gospel of John Lesson 10
The Way, the Truth, and the Life

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Read the second paragraph,

- Interestingly, the famous seven "I AM" statements form a bridge across the Book of Signs and the Book of Glory. These are "the bread of life" (John 6:35, 41, 48, 51), "the light of the world" (John 8:12, John 9:5), "the door" (John 10:7, 9), "the good shepherd" (John 10:11, 14), "the resurrection and the life" (John 11:25), "the way, the truth and the life" (John 14:6), and "the true vine" (John 15:1, 5). (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 80).

What significance do you find in the "I AM" statements?

Jesus is clearly calling Himself God, and referencing back to when God spoke to Moses as the bush,

- Moses said to God, "Suppose I go to the Israelites and say to them, 'The God of your fathers has sent me to you,' and they ask me, 'What is his name?' Then what shall I tell them?"
  God said to Moses, "I AM WHO I AM. This is what you are to say to the Israelites: 'I AM has sent me to you.' " (Exodus 3:13–14 NIV84).

What does this mean? What is God saying in this?

God is self-existent, the originator of all things and the sustainer of all things. Jesus is making it clear that it is through Him that all things were created and through Him that all things hold together.

- He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. For by him all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things were created by him and for him. He is before all things, and in him all things hold together. (Colossians 1:15–17 NIV84, emphasis mine).

- In the past God spoke to our forefathers through the prophets at many times and in various ways, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom he made the universe. The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being, sustaining all things by his powerful word. (Hebrews 1:1–3, NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus is God, full, complete, and infinite. And God is the source of all things and the sustainer of all things. He exists above and outside of space and time as we know it and it is from Him that everything we know and comprehend exist and hold together.

Let's consider the seven I AM's. What do they mean?

- "the bread of life" (John 6:35, 41, 48, 51)
    - Jesus is the source of all sustenance, physical, mental, spiritual, relational. He is the source of truth, love, and freedom. He is the source of all energy, physical matter, all that is nutritious and healthy for every aspect of our being. Every nurturing element we experience ultimately has its source in Jesus.
- "the light of the world" (John 8:12, John 9:5)
    - Jesus is not only the source of all truth and light, but He is the member of the Godhead who left infinity, left the domain of the divine and entered not just our space-time continuum, but He who knew no sin became sin for us so that we might become the righteousness of God (2 Cor 5:21). He left heaven and came down to Earth and became a real human being in order to bring us the light of heaven, the truth, love, and freedom of God.
        - In him was life, and that life was the light of men. The light shines in the darkness, but the darkness has not understood it… The true light that gives light to every man was coming into the world… No one has ever seen God, but God the One and Only, who is at the Father's side, has made him known. (John 1:4-5, 9, 18 NIV84, emphasis mine).
        - We know also that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true. (1 John 5:20 NIV84).
- "the door" (John 10:7, 9)
    - Jesus is the connecting link between Earth and heaven, only in and through Jesus is humanity reconnected and restored to unity with God and heaven. It is only through Jesus that life returns to humanity. Adam and Eve infected humanity with sin, the death causing principle, and Jesus, by becoming a real human not only revealed the truth, He restored the sinless life originating in God back into the species and became the only way, the only door, the only gate, path, road, ladder, or access point back to sinless perfection and reconciliation with God.
- "the good shepherd" (John 10:11, 14)
    - Jesus is not only our Creator, Sustainer, Savior, and Healer, He is our Protector, Director, Guide, and Friend, the one who watches over us, guides us, leads us, provides for us just like a shepherd does for his flock.
- "the resurrection and the life" (John 11:25)
    - Jesus is the resurrection and the life—the cure to death, the victor over death, the one who destroyed death and brought life and immortality to life (2 Timothy 1:10; Heb 2:14). Jesus is NOT the victim of death, the legal payment for a death penalty, and He is certainly not the source of death—He is the resurrection from death and the source of life. Satan is the one who holds the power of death—and we must stop putting Jesus and the Godhead in the role of eternal death dealers as the punishment for sin—they are not the source of death, they are life. Death comes from sin—Life comes from God and is restored into humanity through Jesus.

- "the way, the truth, and the life" (John 14:6)
    - Jesus is the full embodiment of God lived out in humanity who revealed the truth that destroys lies and wins to trust and also destroyed the infection of fear and selfishness and restored in humanity God's living law of love, the protocols for life, thus saving humanity from eternal death.
- "the true vine" (John 15:1, 5)
    - Jesus is the second Adam, the new head of humanity, the one who contains life and we can receive that life only as we are grafted into Him through trust.

Did you notice none of who Jesus is or what He accomplished is legal, it is all actual, achievement, reality, the way things exist, operate, and function because our God is the God of reality and who Jesus is and what He accomplished is real, not some fictional legal adjustment.

SUNDAY

The lesson points our attention to John chapter 13 where Jesus washes the feet of His disciples in the upper room.

What are some of the lessons from this story?

I think one of the most important revelations and evidences is in verse 3:

- Jesus knew that the Father had put all things under his power, and that he had come from God and was returning to God; so he got up from the meal, took off his outer clothing, and wrapped a towel around his waist. After that, he poured water into a basin and began to wash his disciples' feet, drying them with the towel that was wrapped around him. (John 13:3-5 NIV84, emphasis mine).

What do we learn?

Jesus had all power, all things were placed under His power. He is fully God. If we have seen Him we have seen the Father, and what did Jesus do, as our human substitutionary Savior, with all power? He served, He used power to help others, He humbled self and refused to use power to exalt self or protect self. This is the exact opposite of how Satan and the kingdoms of this world use power and function.

Satan and all who unite with him always seek power for self and use power to rise over others and exploit others for their benefit. Throughout all human history every single nation has had a few ruling elites exploiting the masses for the benefit of the elites. This is why God warned the Israelites not to have kings, because the royal class would exploit the people for the benefit of the ruling class.

All the kingdoms of the world operate on this principle of a few exploiting the masses through imposed law and artificial and arbitrary authority over others.

Jesus, the Creator and Sustainer of all, has real power, real authority invested in Him by reality—He is a divine being; He is the Creator and Sustainer, and He uses power to serve, to build up, to protect, to uplift, to heal and restore the people:

- Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus: Who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be grasped, but made himself nothing, taking the very nature of a servant, being made in human likeness. And being found in appearance as a man, he humbled himself and became obedient to death—even death on a cross! Therefore God exalted him to the highest place and gave him the name that is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father. (Philippians 2:5-11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus sacrificed self for the uplifting of His creation and did not seek honor and glory for self and therefore is honored and glorified. Satan, however, sought to advance and exalt himself:

- You said in your heart, "I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain. I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High. But you are brought down to the grave, to the depths of the pit. " (Isaiah 14:13-15 NIV84, emphasis mine).

These two beings, Jesus Christ and Satan, practice two opposing methods, principles, or laws. Jesus lives out perfectly God's design law of love, selflessness, and beneficence and as such not only saves others, but is Himself exalted. Whereas, Satan, practices the methods of a creature, imposed rules, selfishness, self-exaltation, artificial, declared, imposed authority attempting to rule over others and not only destroys all who follow him, but ultimately separates himself from life and despite all his efforts to advance himself he only destroys himself. Why? Because his actions break the design protocols life operate and exist upon—not because God functions like Satan and uses external power to punish Satan.

So the first lesson we learn from Jesus is that the more power we receive in God's kingdom the more we are to use it to help and bless others and as we do this we experience greater blessings ourselves.

Other lessons?

The foot washing also is a symbol, metaphor, teaching tool of our need for ongoing cleansing from sin while we continue to live in this world of sin.

Our initial cleansing from sin is symbolically represented by baptism, in which the person is submerged in water, symbolically representing the reality of the entire being, heart, mind, soul and spirit being immersed in the cleansing waters of the Holy Spirit who washes away our guilt, shame, fear, dread, doubts, worries, lies and recreates in us love and trust and transforms us by the truth.

But once we have been reborn with a new life of love and trust, we still live in this world of sin and we will be confronted with lies, injuries, wounds, fears, anxieties, resentments, hurts, worries, temptations, frustrations, mistakes and missteps, shortcomings and personal failings, and it is important that this dirt from walking the road of life in this sinful world be washed away. And this is symbolically represented by the foot washing service in which Jesus washes the feet of those who are His. The reality of it is our daily surrendering to Jesus and being cleansed each day by the daily washing of the Holy Spirit in our lives and our humble growth in grace and service to others.

What is the purpose of the ceremony? What is the benefit and are there any dangers?

The idea behind the ceremony is to be a teaching tool by experience, to stimulate or remind people to do introspection, consider the various elements of pride, arrogance, temptation, sin, guilt, fear etc. and ask the Holy Spirit to remove any of this dirt from our hearts and minds, and then to act upon the new motives in service to others. But the ceremony is only that, a ceremony that is to remind us, help us, lead us into actual living lives of godly love and service to others.

The danger is that the ceremony can instead of being understood as a teaching tool, become construed to possess some saving benefit, some merit, making one somehow clean from sin or righteous because they participated in the ceremony. Worse, it can become a litmus test of orthodoxy or righteousness virtue signaling where people become spiritual proud for participating and judge others who don't participate as not being as good, virtuous, or righteous.

So the ceremony can be a blessing if understood and experienced as Jesus intended, but can also be an obstacle if misunderstood and misused. And what makes the difference in how ceremonies like this one are experienced? The law lens one holds as they approach it. If one believes God's law functions like human law, then they are vulnerable to experience the ceremony as a rule, a mandate, a legal requirement or condition for salvation, and to believe that if one doesn't do it then one is not being obedient, they are in fact disobedient and can't be cleansed from sin because they are not complying with the rules Jesus set out.

But if one believes the truth that God's laws are design laws then one realizes this is all ceremony and symbolism designed to lead our minds to experience the reality of cleansing our hearts and minds from sin and live authentic lives of Christian service and they do not experience the ceremony as a legal requirement but an opportunity to remember reality and reaffirm their humble surrender to Christ and rest thankfully in His cleansing power and presence.

But this confusion about ceremony and symbols is not new, consider what God told the Israelites about ceremonies:

- Hear the word of the LORD, you rulers of Sodom; listen to the law of our God, you people of Gomorrah! "The multitude of your sacrifices—what are they to me?" says the LORD. "I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals; I have no pleasure in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats. When you come to appear before me, who has asked this of you, this trampling of my courts? Stop bringing meaningless offerings! Your incense is detestable to me. New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations—I cannot bear your evil assemblies. Your New Moon festivals and your appointed feasts my soul hates. They have become a burden to me; I am weary of bearing them. (Isaiah 1:10–14 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Who is God addressing here? The Israelites, but He—God—calls them Sodom and Gomorrah—why? What does this mean? What is God saying? How can the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob be Sodom and Gomorrah?

- As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, your sister Sodom and her daughters never did what you and your daughters have done. 'Now this was the sin of your sister Sodom: She and her daughters were arrogant, overfed and unconcerned; they did not help the poor and needy. They were haughty and did detestable things before me. Therefore I did away with them as you have seen. Samaria did not commit half the sins you did. You have done more detestable things than they, and have made your sisters seem righteous by all these things you have done. Bear your disgrace, for you have furnished some justification for your sisters. Because your sins were more vile than theirs, they appear more righteous than you. So then, be ashamed and bear your disgrace, for you have made your sisters appear righteous. (Ezekiel 16:48-52 NIV84, emphasis mine).

How is this possible? What does it mean? How was Israel more vile than Sodom and Gomorrah?

Who do you recognize as being more vile—the single woman who goes into prostitution, or the married woman who while married goes into prostitution while pretending to be faithful to her husband?

Sodom and Gomorrah—were selfish, they did not show love to the strangers who visited them, no hospitality but sought to exploit and abuse others for their own gratification. This is the outworking of fear and selfishness, the exact opposite of God's living law of love.

But the Sodomites did not profess loyalty to Yahweh. They had not entered into a relationship with God. They had not presented themselves to the world as representatives of the God of heaven. In other words, they were not in the position of the Bride of Christ—they were acting out loyalty to their god, Satan and revealed him accurately.

But the Jews had accepted God's proposal, they had entered into relationship with God. They had taken the position of the bride, claimed to be representatives of Yahweh—yet they were just as selfish, unconcerned, exploitive, manipulative, deceitful, arrogant, prideful, and sinful as the Sodomites, but it was worse because they claimed they represented God. Thus, they not only were destroying their own souls as the Sodomites were doing, but were making it appear this is how God functions and thus obstructed others from coming into as saving knowledge of God.

- Again the word of the LORD came to me: “Son of man, when the people of Israel were living in their own land, they defiled it by their conduct and their actions… wherever they went among the nations they profaned my holy name, for it was said of them, ‘These are the LORD’s people...’ “Therefore say to the house of Israel, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the LORD, declares the Sovereign LORD, when I show myself holy through you before their eyes. For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. You will live in the land I gave your forefathers; you will be my people, and I will be your God. I will save you from all your uncleanness. (Ezekiel 36:16-29 NIV84, emphasis mine).

They were more vile than Sodom because they did the same selfish, sinful, exploitive living as the Sodomites but they claimed to represent God and thus they profaned the name, character, methods, and principles of God’s kingdom obstructing the plan of salvation rather than promoting it.

Yet God prophesies that He will bring glory to His own name by revealing His grace through them. But this prophecy along with others is, incredibly being used to continue to misrepresent God and lead people into error. I have heard many Christians today focus on this prophecy and some like it about God restoring the Jews to their land as being fulfilled by the nation state of Israel today. But, they ignore entirely the point of the prophecy, it is not about the geography, it is about the character. And the prophecy cannot be fulfilled unless the people are reborn to have Jesus restored into their hearts and minds and they become righteous and reveal the truth about God. That only happens when we rejected the imposed law lies and return to design law function, love for God and others.

So watch the devil do what he has done throughout history, get people to embrace the Bible but teach it through imposed law lenses so that people end up legalistic Christians using the might of human laws and force of arms to do battle with others all under the name of doing good or some mandate from God.

This condemnation of Israel being Sodom is the same condemnation that God gives to the false church, known as the great prostitute in Revelation, the church that claims to represent God and be the bride of Christ, but who instead of internalizing the design law methods of Jesus embraces and takes into their hearts, mind, character, the imposed law lie of Satan, taking Satan’s seed of legalism and imperialism into her heart and teaches a false Christianity that functions like Rome, with an imperial dictator god who is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, and death as the legal punishment for sin. This is the harlot of Revelation and the true church, the pure bride, is composed of people who have had their spirit temples, their sanctuary, their hearts and minds washed and cleansed by the Holy Spirit from the lies of Satan and have returned to worshiping God as creator, meaning they have rejected the imposed law lie and embraced the truth that God's laws are design laws and reset all their doctrines into this setting. These are the ones who at this time in history God reveals His name, His character through.

Back to God's condemnation of Israel's rituals and ceremonies: Who gave them all these instructions? God did, then why is God berating them for doing the various ceremonies He told them to do?

Because the ceremonies had become meaningless; the people were doing them without thought. These ceremonies were only teaching tools to engage the mind to think and comprehend reality and because the people were not thinking the ceremonies had become obstructions to understanding reality, obstacles to the truth and thus God hates anything that darkens hearts and minds.

This is the danger in ceremony, it can become an obstruction to actual thinking, which if that happens, obstructs the truth and the transforming power of the Holy Spirit. This is why God says just a few verses later:

- Come now, let us reason together," says the LORD. "Though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they are red as crimson, they shall be like wool." (Isaiah 1:18 NIV84).

God connects reasoning with Him and cleansing from sin. If we refuse to reason, to think, to comprehend, then we are not able to know the truth, we will not be able to discern right from wrong, and we will not be empowered to choose the right and be set free.

So ceremonies can be very helpful and beneficial but only as they engage our thinking to comprehend and appreciate the truth to which they were designed to teach.

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention again on Jesus being the way, truth, and life and in that context states the following in the second paragraph,

- John 1:18 says that the only begotten (better translated here as unique) God is the One who has made the Father known. To make known in this text is the Greek verb exēgeomai, meaning to explain, interpret, exposit. We get the word exegesis from this. It means to bring out the meaning. Thus, Jesus Christ is the link to the Father, the One who explains or interprets the Father to a fallen world. Consequently, He is the way or path to the Father. Without Him, we are limited in our understanding. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 83).

There is no doubt that Jesus is the way to the Father; that He is the Father's thoughts made audible and visible, an exact representation of the Father and that through Him we learn the truth about the Father. So, I never want to do anything to diminish this reality.

However, what is this knowledge that Jesus brings? Is it proper exegesis that is the knowledge? Or if we limit ourselves to exegesis do we fall short of the knowledge that Jesus brings?

Jesus said in John 17:

- Now this is eternal life: that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent. (John 17:3 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Is Jesus referencing proper exegesis or a different kind of knowledge?

When we think of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil, was it the tree of proper exegesis?

No, it was the Tree where they would choose to know by experience, by action, by choice what they would know—love, loyalty, faithfulness, fidelity, honor, virtue, trust, and godliness—would they know good in their heart, mind, soul, and character, or would they believe the lies and know evil, fear, selfishness, guilt, shame and all the pain and suffering it brings?

Likewise, life eternal is not proper exegesis, it is returning in heart, mind, character, and experience to knowing God personally. It is knowing God, not knowing about God simply with proper exegetical references.

Or course we want to do proper exegesis, always the truth, but can a person do proper exegesis and still not know God?

WEDNESDAY

Read first paragraph,

- Again and again in John's Gospel, truth is connected to Jesus, to His Father, and to the Holy Spirit. Truth is connected with Jesus, the Word (logos), and with light—in contrast to darkness (John 1:1–14, John 3:19–21). And, too, falsehood is connected with the devil and sin (John 8:44–46). Consequently, truth in John is not simply a matter of facts and figures. It does involve such things, but more than this, the idea of truth contains a moral aspect of faithfulness to God and to His will. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 84).

What do you think of the idea that truth contains a moral aspect of faithfulness to God and His will? Yes, if we follow the truth we will live in harmony with God and His will and this will be morally right, no doubt about that.

But what is morality or moral decision-making? It is the aspect of deciding what is right and wrong—and how can we determine what is right and wrong, what defines or determines it?

Is right and wrong determined by whomever is in charge, something is right because God says it is right, and wrong because He says it is wrong—or does God say something is right or wrong because it actually is that way and it is still that way even if God doesn't say so?

For instance, the book Patriarchs and Prophets describes a time in eternity past when God found it necessary to verbally declare that Jesus was fully and equally God. Did Jesus only become fully and equally God when and because God said it, or did God say it because Jesus was, in fact, fully and equally God and always had been?

- The King of the universe summoned the heavenly hosts before Him, that in their presence He might set forth the true position of His Son and show the relation He sustained to all created beings… There had been no change in the position or authority of Christ. Lucifer's envy and misrepresentation and his claims to equality with Christ had made necessary a statement of the true position of the Son of God; but this had been the same from the beginning. Many of the angels were, however, blinded by Lucifer's deceptions. (Patriarchs and Prophets 36 and 38, emphasis mine).

So when God declares something to be so, does His declaration make it so, or was it already that way, but because of sin, lies, misunderstanding, confusion God finds it necessary for the sake of His creatures to state clearly the way things are?

And this is true of God's law. God's laws are design law, the protocols reality is built upon, emanating from His being, sustaining all things. God's verbal description of His law does not establish it, He states it because it is the way things are as He created them.

So is the Sabbath holy because God said so, declared it holy, or did God declare it holy because it was holy?

The Bible says God blessed and sanctified the Sabbath day—what does that mean? He blessed it by legal declaration, making an imposed law that requires external enforcement through inflicted punishments? If that is what God did, then that would not have been a blessing but a cursing for that is the way Satan's kingdom works, that would have sustain Satan's charges against the government of God rather than refute them. No, God did not make a legal rule, an imposed law. God blessed and sanctified the Sabbath by action, conduct, creation—by reality. The Sabbath was made, created, built into time by the God who controls space and time, whose laws are the basis of the operations of all reality. And the Sabbath was made in the context of a war against God's rulership. And the Sabbath was set apart from the other six days NOT when God used power, but when God stopped using power, when God rested, when God left all His creatures free to think and decide for themselves. The Sabbath was created at the end of creation week of this planet and is invested, made, created, built by the revelation of truth, love, and freedom when God refused to use external power to punish Lucifer, to force Satan to comply, to operate the way of a creature. Thus the Sabbath is holy, made and created as a sign, evidence, revelation, demonstration of God's character of love. It exists because God exists and God is love and love only exists in freedom. And thus, for the same reasons God found it necessary to declare the true position of Jesus, God also declared the reality of the sacredness, holiness, blessedness of the Sabbath day. But His declaration doesn't make it so. He declares it because it is so.

Here is one historical quote that describes this reality:

> There is no such thing as weakening or strengthening the law of Jehovah. As it has been, so it is. It always has been, and always will be, holy, just, and good, complete in itself. It cannot be repealed or changed. To "honor" or "dishonor" it is but the speech of men. (Prophets and Kings. p. 625, emphasis mine).

This is not how the laws of creatures work nor how Satan's kingdom operates. Satan and all creatures cannot speak reality into existence, we cannot create from nothing. We cannot establish the laws that reality operate upon, so we make up rules and call them law and enforce our rules by external enforcement. This leads to the belief that law is declared, it is imposed, it occurs when the ruler proclaims it, like the laws of Nebuchadnezzar or the Medes and Persians described in the book of Daniel.

God wants His people to be faithful to Him, like Job, Daniel, the three worthies, but such faithfulness, love, loyalty, cannot be obtained by God by using imposed rules with external enforcement. It only happens by truth, love, and freedom, when all the loyal are fully persuaded in their own minds (Romans 14:5).

Thus God wants us to know the truth, reality, God's character, nature, methods, principles, and the laws upon which all reality function. When we know the truth, we are won to love and trust by the revelation of truth. And we freely surrender in trust and receive a new heart and right spirit with new desires that frees us from lives of fear and selfishness. We are won to loyalty, we are not threatened into behavioral obedience under fear of punishment.

THURSDAY

Scripture and the Truth—what is the purpose of the Bible? What truth does it contain? What are its limits? How can it be misused?

Is it possible for people to be firm Bible believers and be God's enemy?

- You diligently study the Scriptures because you think that by them you possess eternal life. These are the Scriptures that testify about me, yet you refuse to come to me to have life. (John 5:39-40 NIV84).

Isn't this sad, people studying Scripture but doing it in such a way they do not benefit from it. Can this happen today? How?

When people believe the lie that God's law functions like human law and then Scripture becomes a code book of deeds to be done and sins to be shunned, a way to shut down thinking, a way to believe without evidence, on claims, and proof texts without actually understanding reality—just like the religious Bible quoting leaders who crucified Jesus.

MONDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Jesus' promise to come again—and asks why should we believe Jesus is going to come again?

Why do you believe in the second coming of Christ?

- Because the one who promised is reliable and trustworthy!
- Because the Bible is reliable and trustworthy and not only did Jesus promise it, but Scripture describes the new heaven and earth repeatedly
- Because of the many prophecies and promises already fulfilled in Scripture
- Are there any other specific reasons why you believe?

Are there any signs or evidences that Jesus coming is soon?

1. Scoffers

> First of all, you must understand that in the last days scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires. They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised? Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation" (2 Peter 3:3, 4 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Have we seen this? This sign was fulfilled in the late 18th and early 19th centuries during the Enlightenment, which directly opposed the Great Awakening. The Great Awakening was a religious movement that called people's attention to the nearness of the second coming of Christ. But this movement was countered by the Enlightenment, in which godless scientific views and human reason replaced a belief in God, and godless evolutionism spread throughout the world. In the wake of godless evolution came communism and other godless philosophies that scoff at the idea that Jesus is coming again.

2. Wars and rumors of wars

> You will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet (Matthew 24:6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus here refers to the never-ending regional struggles, tribal wars, crusades, and conflicts throughout the Dark and Middle Ages prior to the "end times," which began in the 19th century with the Enlightenment. The end times come after these wars. Notice the shift from wars to nations and kingdoms rising against each other.

3. World wars, natural disasters, famines, pandemics

> Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be great earthquakes, famines and pestilences in various places, and fearful events and great signs from heaven (Luke 21:10, 11 NIV84, emphasis mine).
> Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places. All these are the beginning of birth pains (Matthew 24:7, 8 NIV84, emphasis mine).

After the long history of wars and conflicts through the Dark and Middle Ages, after the Enlightenment and the rise of the scoffers, we enter the 20th century and experience WWI, WWII, nuclear weapons, wars in Vietnam, Korea, Afghanistan, Iraq, Kuwait, and Syria, and terrorism around the world. The 20th century, with its two world wars and other military conflicts, saw more people killed by war than any other century in human history. And in the past fifty years, the world has seen massive famines, the threats of climate change, HIV, SARS, Swine Flu, COVID, and the increasing frequency of earthquakes, hurricanes, destructive storms, and other disasters. But all of this is the beginning of the birth pains.

When a woman goes into labor, the time of delivery has begun. In other words, she has entered the "end time" of her pregnancy—but the labor isn't instantaneous. The pains get more frequent and more intense right up until delivery. We are now in the time of the end, the time of ever-increasing rapidity of events leading up to our Savior's return!

Understand that no matter what we do, things on Earth are not going to get better until Jesus returns. And the worsening of conditions on Earth, the increasing labor pains as the Earth itself groans under the weight of sin, will be used by the scoffers to incite fear, turn minds away from God, and promote their godless solutions that will solidify power into a global coalition that persecutes the righteous.

4. The promise of an era of peace and safety

Paul also used the metaphor of a woman going into labor when referring to the return of our Lord, adding an interesting detail:

> Now, brothers, about times and dates we do not need to write to you, for you know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night. While people are saying, "Peace and safety," destruction will come on them suddenly, as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape. But you, brothers, are not in darkness so that this day should surprise you like a thief. You are all sons of the light and sons of the day. We do not belong to > the night or to the darkness. So then, let us not be like others, who are asleep, but let us be alert and self-controlled (1 Thessalonian 5:1–6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

When those who don't know God—the scoffers, the evolutionist, the humanists, those who are desperately seeking to save themselves and "save the earth"—are saying, "This is the way we can have global peace and safety," sudden destruction will come, as labor pains on a pregnant woman.

They will be unaware that sudden destruction is coming, but why? Because they have given up a belief in God, they no longer trust Scripture, they have accepted the false narrative of godless evolution and secular humanism, and they believe peace and safety can be achieved through the implementation of their worldly agenda. This is the delusion of socialism, of globalism, of the Green movement—that we can save the planet. They claim, "We can create a new world order in which all nations come together to stop climate change, to stop the destruction of the environment, to eliminate poverty—all doable through a new globalism that we can create with new economic realities that will bring in a new era of peace and safety."

But Jesus continues His warning:

5. Increased divisions in society, loss of faith, persecution of believers in Jesus

> Then you will be handed over to be persecuted and put to death, and you will be hated by all nations because of me. At that time many will turn away from the faith and will betray and hate each other, and many false prophets will appear and deceive many people (Matthew 24:9–11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Then, at the time of the end, at the time after the scoffers arise, at the time when the labor pains have begun, after the nations have had global wars, after the increase in natural disasters and pestilence, then those loyal to Christ will be persecuted, some put to death, and hated of all nations. Then people will betray each other to find security for themselves.

And what do we see in the world today? Christians beheaded in some parts of the world. Christians ridiculed for resisting the new world order, scorned for standing against the restrictions of liberty, hated for holding to faith in Jesus, vilified for voicing the hope in God and warning of Christ's soon return.

6. Love of most will grow cold

> Because of the increase of wickedness, the love of most will grow cold (Matthew 24:12 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Because of the increase in wickedness—which is all the violations of God's designs, laws, methods, and principles—the love in the hearts of most people grows cold. Because of the denial of God and the rise of the lies of secularism, humanism, socialism, evolutionism; because of the breakdown of families; because of the assault on our common heritage and community values, love is dying in the human heart.

7. So caught up in entertainment and living, people are unaware

> As it was in the days of Noah, so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man. For in the days before the flood, people were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, up to the day Noah entered the ark; and they knew nothing about what would happen until the flood came and took them all away. That is how it will be at the coming of the Son of Man (Matthew 24:37–39 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Incredible! The people before the Flood knew nothing about what was going to happen despite Noah preaching for 120 years and building a giant boat. How did they not know? Because they were consumed with pleasure-seeking, eating, drinking, and marrying. They were too busy either being entertained or living their lives to be bothered with eternal realities.

This is exactly the state of the world today: It is caught up in increasing consumption of mind-altering substances, or leaving reality behind for their preferred fantasy world of video games, social media activity, TV shows, movies, sports, concerts, amusement parks, or anything else to consume and distract the mind. This is the world today—ignoring the warnings of Jesus, ignoring the signs of the end all around, and living merely for the pleasures of the moment.

8. The good news about God's kingdom of love lightens the world

> But he who stands firm to the end will be saved. And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in the whole world as a testimony to all nations, and then the end will come (Matthew 24:13, 14 NIV84, emphasis mine).

But those who stand firm for the truth of God's kingdom of love will be saved! We will be the ones who take the good news about God and His kingdom of love to the world. We will advance the cause of liberty, for love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. We will stand for truth in a world of falsehood and propaganda. We will glorify God by revealing His character of love in how we treat our neighbors. We will call people back to the truth of our Creator by teaching people God's design laws—the laws our Creator built reality to operate upon, demonstrating that harmony with God and His design laws are the only way to health and happiness.

The truth about God and His kingdom of love, in the face of a world consumed with greed and selfishness, is the final message to lighten the world for Christ's return. It is the final message of mercy, the message of hope, the message of God's true character of love that Jesus revealed. It is the message that Satan hates because God's love destroys the fear Satan works so hard to incite.

So, as you see the signs all around us, don't let fear rule your heart; instead,

> "When these things begin to take place, stand up and lift up your heads, because your redemption is drawing near" (Luke 21:28 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Other reasons to believe in the nearness of Christ's return?

2024 4Q Themes in the Gospel of John Lesson 11
The Father, the Son, and the Spirit

by Tim Jennings

SUNDAY

Read the second and third paragraphs,

- Unfortunately, Lucifer brought sin into this world. Sin is, among other things, a disruption of our relationship with God. It misrepresents who God is. Thus, Jesus took upon Himself our human nature in order to restore knowledge of God and to bring salvation to humanity.

  While here, Jesus submitted His life to the Father, living according to His guidance. He said, " 'I and My Father are one' " (John 10:30, NKJV). " 'The Father is in Me, and I in Him' " (John 10:38, NKJV). " 'If I do not do the works of My Father, do not believe Me' " (John 10:37, NKJV). (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 89).

Do you believe Jesus and the Father are one? Are they one only in the way that Jesus prayed for Him and His followers to be one or are they one in a different way?

Do we believe that if we have seen Jesus we have seen the Father? Do we believe that Jesus is more than a human being but also God?

This is a critical truth and when understood dispels much of the confusion and lies that are circulating about God.

Have you noticed an ongoing attack on the Godhead by, in my experience, very well-meaning and good-hearted people who only want to be true to Scripture—and the attack I am speaking of is the denial of the three members of the Godhead, the move to deny the existence of the Holy Spirit and to relegate Jesus to something less than the Father.

These arguments never are based in reality—how reality functions, but always based in philosophy, theory, proclamations, claims, assertions, textual criticism, and a refusal to integrate all the evidence God has provided. To undermine the full divinity of Jesus also undercuts God's plan to win the Great Controversy.

When it comes to matters of theology the Bible is always our first and primary source of evidence and truth. So, let's start with the Bible and its evidence and then consider how reality functions and the implications in the Great Controversy over what conclusion we draw.

What Bible evidence would you offer to someone who rejects that Jesus is fully and equally God in all aspects with the Father?

- In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was with God in the beginning. Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made… He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world did not recognize him…The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us. We have seen his glory, the glory of the One and Only, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth… No one has ever seen God, but God the One and Only, who is at the Father's side, has made him known. (John 1:1-3, 10, 14, 18, emphasis mine).

Who was the Word that became flesh? Jesus, and Jesus was with God from the beginning and Jesus was God and Jesus is the revelation of the glory of God.

- For in Christ all the fullness of the Deity lives in bodily form (Colossians 2:9 NIV84).

It was through Jesus that all things were made:

- For by him [Jesus] all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things were created by him and for him. He is before all things, and in him all things hold together. (Colossians 1:16,17, emphasis mine).

Jesus is fully God, Creator, from whom all reality was Created and who existed from the beginning with the Father.

Jesus claims the name of God:

- "I tell you the truth," Jesus answered, "before Abraham was born, I am!" (John 8:58).

- "I and the Father are one." (John 10:30)

The Apostles recognized Jesus as God:

- Thomas said to him, "My Lord and my God!" (John 20:28).
- We know also that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true. And we are in him who is true—even in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life. (1John 5:20, emphasis mine).

And we are only to worship God:

- Jesus answered, "It is written: 'Worship the Lord your God and serve him only.'" (Luke 4:8 NIV84 quoting Deuteronomy 6:13)

- At this I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me, “Do not do it! I am a fellow servant with you and with your brothers who hold to the testimony of Jesus. Worship God! (Revelation 19:10 NIV84).

Did Jesus reject worship when Thomas worshiped Him?

And angels worship Jesus:

- And again, when God brings his firstborn into the world, he says, “Let all God’s angels worship him.” (Hebrews 1:6 NIV84, emphasis mine)

How do we deal with the question of Jesus being first born if some suggest He is a divine being but is the offspring of the Father, not eternally co-existent with the Father?

Who was Abraham’s firstborn son, the one who inherited the promises of God? Isaac, but who was the son naturally born first to Abraham—it was Ishmael. So in the Bible firstborn does not mean simply biological descent but means the one who is the inheritor of the blessings, the one who is the head of the family. And Jesus is the firstborn over all Creation, the one through whom God’s promises, power, blessings flow to all creation.

- For to us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be on his shoulders. And he will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. (Isaiah 9:6 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Who is the child that was born? Jesus, who is fully and completely God. And how can God’s heavenly eternal government be on His shoulders unless He is Creator, the originator of the design laws and the one in whom all things hold together?

So, we have many Bible texts that testify to the divinity of Jesus, now let’s talk about reality and how it functions.

The Bible tells us that Jesus is fully God and equal with the Father that Jesus is the exact representation of the Father, that the Godhead dwells in Jesus bodily; if we have seen Jesus we have seen the Father. So, the first reality-based understanding is to realize that if Jesus is not fully God then these texts are not true.

- If Jesus were an angel then His life tells us something about angels, not about God.
- If Jesus were an angel, then what we learn about God is that He is willing to sacrifice angels but not Himself.
- If Jesus is a demi-god, subordinate god, later to the stage god, then we learn something about the demi-god, that the subordinate god is willing to sacrifice self but the Father is not.

We can all declare things about someone we know, but we cannot live the life of someone we know. The only way that if we have seen Jesus we have seen the Father, is if Jesus is fully and equally God. Any diminishment in the full divinity of Jesus undermines the plan of salvation and sustains one of Satan's charges that God is not truly love, not truly willing to sacrifice for His creation.

Consider these historical quotes:

- By coming to dwell with us, Jesus was to reveal God both to men and to angels. He was the Word of God,—God's thought made audible. (The Desire of Ages p. 19).

- Satan's lying charges against the divine character and government appeared in their true light. He had accused God of seeking merely the exaltation of Himself in requiring submission and obedience from His creatures, and had declared that, while the Creator exacted self-denial from all others, He Himself practiced no self-denial and made no sacrifice. Now it was seen that for the salvation of a fallen and sinful race, the Ruler of the universe had made the greatest sacrifice which love could make; for "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself." 2 Corinthians 5:19. It was seen, also, that while Lucifer had opened the door for the entrance of sin by his desire for honor and supremacy, Christ had, in order to destroy sin, humbled Himself and become obedient unto death. (The Great Controversy p. 502, emphasis mine).

If Jesus is not fully God then we do not learn that God is self-sacrificial, but that He is willing to sacrifice others to protect self.

Some might argue that I am using philosophy—not at all—it is not philosophical, it is again how reality works. We, in reality, learn of the person who is acting by observing and interacting with that person. Thus, we learn of God through the life of Jesus only if Jesus is in fact God. We can learn of God healing and restoring power, His kindness, love, grace, and mercy, methods and principles in the lives of people who have accepted God, but we are learning through their experience, their perspective, their understanding, their words, acts, and deeds, all of which filter and impact the light of heaven and thus we are not seeing God in action as another individuality is acting, is choosing. It is only from God Himself that we get pure unadulterated truth lived out in action.

The Bible gives all kinds of evidence about God. Historical accounts of God interacting with people, descriptions of God by His penmen, evidences of His words and declarations as recorded by the prophets, but ultimately the purest, truest revelation and evidence is in the life of Jesus who is God in humanity.

Jesus, who is God in humanity, taught there was a third member of the Godhead called the Comforter, Counselor, or Spirit:

- "If you love me, you will obey what I command. And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Counselor to be with you forever—the Spirit of truth. The world cannot accept him, because it neither sees him nor knows him. But you know him, for he lives with you and will be in you." (John 14:15-17, emphasis mine)

Notice Jesus did not say what many deniers of the Trinity say, that God would send His own presence. Jesus did NOT say: "If you love me, you will obey what I command. And I will ask the Father, and He will come to you to be with you forever—His spiritual presence will be with you. The world cannot accept the Father's spiritual presence, because it neither sees Him nor knows Him. But you know Him, for he lives with you and will be in you."

Jesus did say,

- "But the Counselor, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you all things and will remind you of everything I have said to you." (John 14:26, emphasis mine)

- "When the Counselor comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who goes out from the Father, he will testify about me." (John 15:26, emphasis mine)

The Old Testament teaches God is a plurality, not a singularity:

- Then God said, "Let us make man in our image, in our likeness..." (Genesis 1:26, emphasis mine)

Even the text quoted by Jews and Muslims that "God is one" teaches a plurality, not a singularity:

- "Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God is one LORD" (Deuteronomy 6:4).

    - Notice the passage in English uses "Lord" and "God". The reading of this passage with the Hebrew names for "Lord" and "God" would go like this: "Hear, O Isreal: Yahweh our Elohim, Yahweh is One."

    - What is interesting is that the word Elohim in Hebrew is plural and is the same word used for God in Genesis 1:26. Thus an accurate English reading might go like this: "The One is more than One yet is One"

    - In Hebrew there are two words for "one," Yacheed and Echad. The first indicates singular unity as in one and only, the second indicates compound unity, as the oneness of two or more. In this text Echad is used along with the plural name of God Elohim indicating the oneness of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

The Old Testament also provides texts in which all members of the Godhead are referenced:

- And now the Sovereign Lord [Father] has sent me [Son], with his Spirit [Holy Spirit]. This is what the Lord says— your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel (Isaiah 48:16,17).

- "Here is my [Father] servant [Son], whom I [Father] uphold, my [Father] chosen one [Son] in whom I [Father] delight; I [Father] will put my Spirit [Holy Spirit] on him [Son] and he [Son] will bring justice to the nations. (Isaiah 42:1)

The Old Testament teaches the close love relationship between them:

- "Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, and against the man that is my fellow, saith the LORD of hosts: smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered." (Zechariah 13:7 KJV)
    - The Man who is my friend NCV
    - The Man who is close to me NIV

- "Then I was the craftsman at his side. I was filled with delight day after day, rejoicing always in his presence, rejoicing in his whole world and delighting in mankind." (Proverbs 8:30 NIV84).

So, the Bible gives strong evidence for the plurality of our One God, supporting the idea that the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are a perfect unity of three separate individualities. But, for me all the above evidence is not what is most compelling. The most compelling evidence for me that God exists in plurality rather than singularity is the nature and character of God Himself—how reality functions.

The Bible says, "God is love." (1John 4:8). Further the Bible teaches that this love is "not self seeking." (1Corithians 13:5). Love is outward moving, other-centered. Therefore, God, being love, could not be love in isolation because love requires an object to pour itself upon. Love is other-centered! God's nature and character of love, rightly understood, is the most powerful argument for the plurality of God and we see this in the Old Testament texts above as the Father is delighting in the Son and the Son rejoicing in the Father and the Spirit loving them both.

Some might again argue that I am making a philosophical argument—no, again, I am observing how reality functions. Love cannot function or exist in isolation as a singularity. If we say there was a time when God the Father existed alone before Jesus then at that time in eternity past God is no longer love, but something else. And the minimum number for true other-centered, selfless, love is three. With two you can get narcissistic reinforcement, but three requires selfless sacrifice for the benefit of the others.

And we see this all through the Bible Jesus never seeks glory for self but always seeks to uplift the Father, the Father is always promoting and exalting and glorifying Jesus, the Holy Spirit is uplifting and advancing both the Father and the Son.

Therefore, when God created us in His image He created "them male and female" and the "two shall become one" united in a triune relationship – husband, wife and God indwelling their hearts via His Spirit! And they were told to be fruitful and multiple in the world before they sinned. Why? So they could grow and develop in true other-centered godly love, which requires more than just the two of them. As they have children and seek to give of self for their children, they function in love, thus God creates other intelligences and gives of Himself for them.

Those who seek to destroy the truth about the plurality of the Godhead undermine the truth about God's character of love whether they intend to or not, and in so doing, place an obstacle to the only healing remedy for sin: God's "perfect love [that] casts out all fear." As we see the truth about God as revealed in Jesus, the lies about Him are removed and we are won to trust and in that trust He pours His love into our hearts (Romans 5:5) and we are transformed to be like Him!

Amongst the founders of the SDA church there was debate regarding the doctrine of the Trinity. Some saw Christ as the offspring of God and, as such, not a "created" being, but was of the same "substance" as the Father, yet still not equal to the Father for the Son arose from the Father. This idea goes back millennia and is sometimes referred to as Arian theology.

But, Ellen G. White opposed this theology and came out strongly in favor of the Bible position above. Here are a few of her quotes:

- Christ, the Word, the only begotten of God, was one with the eternal Father,--one in nature, in character, in purpose,--the only being that could enter into all the counsels and purposes of God. "His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of peace" (Isa. 9:6). His "goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting" (Micah 5:2). (Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 34, emphasis mine).
- The Jews had never before heard such words from human lips, and a convicting influence attended them; for it seemed that divinity flashed through humanity as Jesus said, "I and my Father are one." The words of Christ were full of deep meaning as he put forth the claim that he and the Father were of one substance, possessing the same attributes. (The Signs of the Times, Nov. 27, 1893, p. 54, emphasis mine).
- Yet the Son of God was the acknowledged Sovereign of heaven, one in power and authority with the Father. (The Great Controversy, p. 495).
- "In him was life; and the life was the light of men" (John 1:4). It is not physical life that is here specified, but immortality, the life which is exclusively the property of God. The Word, who was with God, and who was God, had this life. Physical life is something which each individual receives. It is not eternal or immortal; for God, the Life-giver, takes it again. Man has no control over his life. But the life of Christ was unborrowed. No one can take this life from Him. "I lay it down of myself" (John 10: 18), He said. In Him was life, original, unborrowed, underived. This life is not inherent in man. He can possess it only through Christ. He cannot earn it; it is given him as a free gift if he will believe in Christ as His personal Saviour. "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3). This is the open fountain of life for the world. (Selected Messages vol. 1, p 296, emphasis mine).
- The Holy Spirit was the highest of all gifts that He could solicit from His Father for the exaltation of His people. The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power. It is the Spirit that makes effectual what has been wrought out by the world's Redeemer. It is by the Spirit that the heart is made pure. Through the Spirit the believer becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Christ has given His Spirit as a divine power to overcome all hereditary and cultivated tendencies to evil, and to impress His own character upon His church. (The Desire of Ages 671, emphasis mine).

- There are three living persons of the heavenly trio; in the name of these three great powers--the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit--those who receive Christ by living faith are baptized, and these powers will co-operate with the obedient subjects of heaven in their efforts to live the new life in Christ. (Evangelism, p. 615, emphasis mine).

Some Protestants attack the Trinity truth because they have been tricked into believing this is a doctrine originated by the Roman church and that Protestants should therefore reject it as not being in the Bible. This is often put forth with the argument that the word "trinity" cannot be found in the Bible, or the challenge, "Show me from the Bible a text with the word trinity in it."

But this would be like saying that we don't believe in the Investigative Judgment because we cannot find that term in the Bible. Or that words like atonement, justification, or sanctification are translated words, not Greek or Hebrew words and therefore not in the original Bible therefore we should not believe these ideas.

The term one uses to describe the Godhead is NOT what matters, what matters is the truth about God that we understand and believe regardless of what words we choose when we talk about it. It is what those words mean that matter.

Others object to the Trinity because the Bible appears to represent Jesus as subordinate to the Father and they wonder what this means if not that Jesus was a later addition, a being born or begotten from the Father.

The idea that Jesus is "subservient" to the Father is a misunderstanding that results from not appreciating God's character and the way His government works. In God's economy,

- "Whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me and for the gospel will save it" (Mark 8:35).
- "So the last will be first, and the first will be last." (Matthew 20:16).

God's kingdom is the kingdom of love and love gives for the wellbeing of others. Thus Jesus is "exalted" because Jesus surrendered all and gave all for others. This exaltation is not "conferred" by the Father to the Son, but a result of the accomplishment of the Son in perfectly revealing and carrying out the Trinity's character and purpose.

- Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus: Who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be grasped, but made himself nothing, taking the very nature of a servant, being made in human likeness. And being found in appearance as a man, he humbled himself and became obedient to death—even death on a cross! Therefore

> God exalted him to the highest place and gave him the name that is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father. (Philippians 2:5-11 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus sacrificed self for the uplifting of His creation and did not seek honor and glory for self and therefore is honored and glorified. Satan, however, sought to advance and exalt himself:

- You said in your heart, "I will ascend to heaven; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of the sacred mountain. I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High. But you are brought down to the grave, to the depths of the pit. " (Isaiah 14:13-15 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Another way to understand it, (recognizing of course that our finite minds are trying to probe the Infinite God so we will inevitably come up short of complete understanding), is that the Godhead voluntarily assumed different roles or functions for the accomplishments of Their joint purposes (a loving way all share together in giving for Their creation). Any of the three could have assumed any of the functions. We would err in concluding that when one of the three assumes a function that He was not capable of functioning in the role of the others.

As I understand their chosen roles, the Father acts as the source of all. The Son is the medium, mediator, advocate, conduit, agent through which the Father reveals Himself or acts particularly in linear space time—the member of infinity who leaves infinity and interacts with the creation on the plane of creation. And the Holy Spirit is the actualizer or applier of what the Father and Son have achieved. Thus God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself (2Corinthians 5:19). Jesus' work on Earth was the acting out of the Father's will. As Jesus said, not His will but the Father's be done. His completed mission and victory over sin are applied to the lives of believers by the work of the Holy Spirit. In creation we have the Father as the source, the Son as the architect, designer, and builder and the Spirit as the actualizer or implementer of Their design.

So, with this understanding we realize what Christ meant when He said, "I do nothing of myself." Christ takes from the Father to fulfill all the Father's purposes for His universe. In this sense we can see Christ turning to the Father, not to persuade the Father to be kind, but to receive the fullness of the Father's purpose of love for His creation and carry that purpose out in meaningful action!

We also see throughout Scripture that the Son never seeks glory for self but constantly seeks to bring glory to the Father and the Father is constantly uplifting the Son and the Spirit is giving witness to the glory of both Father and Son. In other words, the Godhead functions in perfect other-centered love.

The lesson focuses on God's actions after Adam's sin, how sin severed our relationship with God and God's plan to restore that relationship:

- To accomplish the restoration of this relationship, one Member of the Godhead became human. Thus, the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, manifesting the glory of God (John 1:14–18). As a result, humanity has received His fullness and grace. This is what Jesus came to share, to declare the glory of God so that the relationship broken by sin might be restored, at least to all who were willing to accept by faith what has been offered them in Christ Jesus. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 90).

Why is the truth that Jesus is fully God essential for not only our salvation, but in order to eliminate sin from the universe?

Consider this position, taken by one of the Adventist Reformers after the 1888 GC in which the message about design law was rejected and leadership officially accepted the imposed law view with its false penal legal solution to the sin problem. It was written by EGW, do you agree and does it give insight as to why Jesus must be fully God?

- Christ came to represent the Father. We behold in him the image of the invisible God. He clothed his divinity with humanity, and came to the world that the erroneous ideas Satan had been the means of creating in the minds of men, in regard to the character of God, might be removed. We could not behold the glory of God unveiled in Christ and live; but as he came in the garb of humanity, we may draw nigh to our Redeemer. We are called upon to behold the Lord our Father in the person of his Son. Christ came in the robe of the flesh, with his glory subdued in humanity, that lost man might communicate with him and live. Through Christ we may comprehend something of him who is glorious in holiness. Jesus is the mystic ladder by which we may mount to behold the glory of the infinite God. By faith we behold Christ standing between humanity and divinity, connecting God and man, and earth and heaven. (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890, par. 5, emphasis mine). [If Jesus is not fully God then we are not learning of God in the life of Jesus and the lies about God cannot be removed by the actions of a being other than God.]

  Christ came to save fallen man, and Satan with fiercest wrath met him on the field of conflict; for the enemy knew that when divine strength was added to human weakness, man was armed with power and intelligence, and could break away from the captivity in which he had bound him. Satan sought to intercept every ray of light from the throne of God. He sought to cast his shadow across the earth, that men might lose the true views of God's character, and that the knowledge of God might become extinct in the earth. He had caused truth of vital importance to be so mingled with error that it had lost its significance. The law of Jehovah was burdened with needless exactions and traditions, and God was represented as severe, exacting, revengeful, and arbitrary. [How? By asserting that God's law is not design law, not the protocols reality is built to operate upon, but made up rules that functions like human law, imposed rules requiring external authority.] He was pictured as one who could take pleasure in the sufferings of his creatures. The very attributes that belonged to the character of Satan, the evil one represented as belonging to the character of God. [Again by getting us to believe God's law functions like human law we believe God functions like a creature, using power to inflict punishment for rule-breaking and thus Satan replaces the truth about God with his own characteristics] Jesus came to teach men of the Father, to correctly represent him before the fallen children of earth. Angels could not fully portray the character of God, but Christ, who was a living impersonation of God, could not fail to accomplish the work. The only way in which he could set and keep men right was to make himself visible and familiar to their eyes. That men might have salvation he came directly to man, and became a partaker of his nature. (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890, par. 6, emphasis mine). [Again if Jesus is anything less than God He could not fulfill the mission of the Godhead and eliminate sin and rebellion from the universe because could not reveal the truth about God necessary to destroy the lies that caused the distrust and rebellion. It is how reality works.]

The Father was revealed in Christ as altogether a different being from that which Satan had represented him to be. [Isaiah 9:6 for unto us a child is born His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, a Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.] Said Christ, "Neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him." The love of Jesus, expressed for the fallen race in his life of self-denial and sufferings, is the manifestation of the Father's love for a sinful, fallen world. Christ endured shame and grief and death for those who despised his love and trampled upon his mercy… (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890, par. 7, emphasis mine).

Man was God's workmanship, made after his image, endowed with talents, and fitted for a high destiny. But Satan has worked to obliterate the divine image, and to impress his own image instead of the image of God in man's nature. ["The reason the Son of God appeared was to destroy the devil's work" (1 John 3:8 NIV84). Jesus condescended to humble himself, to take human nature, and by uniting divinity with humanity, he proposed to elevate man in the scale of moral value. All heaven was poured out in the gift of God's dear Son… The redemption of man is a wonderful theme, and the love manifested to the fallen race through the plan of salvation, can be estimated only by the cross of Calvary. The depth of this even angels cannot sound. That God could consent to become flesh, and dwell among fallen beings, to lift them up from their helplessness and despair, is an unfathomed mystery. He whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, whose dominion endureth throughout all generations, made himself to be sin for us that he might lift up all that are bowed down, and give life to those who are ready to perish. (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890, par. 8, emphasis mine).

Oh, that men might open their minds to know God as he is revealed in his Son!... Those who would behold this glory would be drawn to love Jesus and to love the Father whom he represented. Christ exalted the character of God, attributing to him the praise, and giving to him the credit, of the whole purpose of his own mission on earth,—to set men right through the revelation of God. In Christ was arrayed before men the paternal grace and > the matchless perfections of the Father. In his prayer just before his crucifixion, he declared, "I have manifested thy name." "I have glorified thee on the earth; I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." When the object of his mission was attained,—the revelation of God to the world,—the Son of God announced that his work was accomplished, and that the character of the Father was made manifest to men. (Signs of the Times January 20, 1890, par. 9, emphasis mine).

Why is it a requirement for our salvation that Jesus is fully and completely God and any other lesser being that somehow lived a sinless life and died on the cross would fail to be able to provide salvation?

What is the cause of sin in heaven and what is the cause of sin on Earth?

Satan is the father of lies and his foundational lies are about God, and thus we must have the truth of God restored in order to have the lies removed and be won back to trust in God:

- For though we live in the world, we do not wage war as the world does. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. (2 Corinthians 10:3-5 NIV84).

Lies believed break the circle of love and trust and cause fear and selfishness—this is the problem that sin causes. And the only way to remedy this is to reveal the truth about God that restores trust.

And what was Satan's mode, method, point of attack to undermine God's character and get people to believe God is actually like him, severe, revengeful, unforgiving, and arbitrary, and being who is the source of pain, suffering and death and who requires appeasement, something done to assuage His anger and wrath lest He use divine power to torture and kill?

He misrepresented God's law as functioning like human law. And wherever and whenever any being, angel or human, believes that God's law functions like human law, imposed rules, their minds are trapped into lies about God, and they falsely believe that justice is using external power to inflict punishment on law breakers. Thus, they worship a creature instead of the Creator and misrepresent God as being like Satan.

This is what Rome did to Christianity. When Constantine converted he used the power of the state to make Christianity the legal religion and passed all kinds of laws enforcing Christian worship. And the Roman bishop became the head of the western Roman empire when Constantine moved the capital to the Constantinople, now Istanbul. And the Roman bishop, as a Roman governor of the empire, used the power of the state to enforce Christian law. When the Roman empire fell, the Roman church continued to function and continued to function with its cannon law, Roman hierarchical structure with a Caesar-like leader who is elected by the senate, (college of cardinals); and the church and world, in this legal system of imposed law with a false god that is the source of inflicted pain and suffering for sin, went into the Dark Ages.

The Reformation is a call to leave the Romanization of Christianity, to return to worshiping God as Creator, stop seeing Him as a dictator, and this requires we rejected the imposed law view of things and return to understanding that all of God's laws are design laws.

People get confused because of the Ten Commandments and instructions given to Moses. They think that the Ten Commandments and the other Levitical laws are evidence that God's law does function like human law. This was the great schism in Adventism in the 1888 GC where our church was blessed with the message of design law, that was embraced and promoted by the Reformers Waggoner, Jones, and EGW, but was rejected the legalists in leadership.

Jones, Waggoner, and White taught that the various written laws including the Ten Commandments were all added and are not eternal. They were added specifically for the need of sinful human beings as helpful guides, diagnostic tools, and protective hedges until the people could mature in love and trust and experience the restoration of God's eternal living law written upon hearts and mnids.

This is the final message of mercy to go to the world—the truth about God's character of love, worshiping God as Creator, rejecting Satan's view of God as dictator and source of death. And we only are able to do this when we rejected the Roman law lie with all its baggage and distortions.

TUESDAY

Read last paragraph,

- Jesus' claims about His relationship to the Father are astonishing. He asserts that all of His teachings are the teachings of the Father; that all He says He had personally heard from the Father; that belief in Him is the same as belief in the Father; that both His very words and His works are all of the Father; and that He and the Father are united in loving and working for the salvation of humanity. What a powerful testimony to the closeness of Jesus to His Father in heaven! (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 91).

This is so well said and absolutely true, God was in the Son reconciling the world to Himself, the fullness of the Godhead dwelt in Jesus bodily. Jesus said if we have seen Him we have seen the Father.

Can you think of any doctrines taught within Christianity, both Catholic and Protestant, that deny this and teach the opposite, that there is a difference between the two?

Jesus as our mediator in heaven pleading His blood to the Father to pay for our sin to propitiate the Father's wrath, to assuage the Father's anger, to do something to the Father because if Jesus doesn't do this then the Father would lash out in anger and hurt us. In other words, we are kept safe only by the Jesus working upon the Father. In the Roman church they also have Mary and the saints up there pleading to either Jesus or the Father for blessings.

I remember one Catholic colleague describing why he valued the ministry of Mary in heaven so much. He said, no one can influence a son more than his mother and when he prays to Mary, Mary goes to Jesus and influences Jesus to grant the blessing that he is praying for.

Consider what such a teaching says about God. Many Protestants do the same thing when they teach Jesus pleads with the Father to get the Father's blessings. But this is not what the Bible teaches:

- What, then, shall we say in response to this? If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all—how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. Who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us. (Romans 8:31-35 NIV84, emphasis mine).

It is only by the truth, the truth that Jesus is fully and completely God, the truth that God's laws are design laws, that we are able to free our minds from the lies about God and see Him as Jesus revealed Him to be. And this truth destroys the lies and restores us to trust. In trust we open our hearts and experience the indwelling Holy Spirit who takes the victory of Jesus and reproduces it in us so that it is no longer I that live, but Jesus lives in us.

And this is why some attack the divinity of the Holy Spirit, they want to undermine the application of Christ's victory in people. Understand, Jesus, in His own personhood became a real human being, descended from Adam and overcame sin and restored the species human to unity with God. In the individual person of Jesus the species human was saved, the truth of God was revealed. If no other individual human being were saved, because Jesus became a real human being and overcame as our substitutionary Savior, the species was saved. There will always be a sinless human being because Jesus is fully human.

We are not individually saved because of the historical fact of what Jesus did. We are individually saved when we receive, participate, partake, the victory of Jesus into our own hearts and minds, as Peter wrote, when we partake of the divine nature through faith or trust. It is the work of the Holy Spirit to not only bring truth and love to our hearts to convict us of sin and enlighten us to God's love and Jesus as our Savior. It is also the work of the Holy Spirit to infuse us with the life, the spirit, the animating motiving energy of Jesus Christ—to reproduce in us the living law of love that compels us and enables us to live lives of love rather than fear and selfishness.

And the lesson quotes from the book The Desire of Ages in WEDNESDAY's lesson:

- "In describing to His disciples the office work of the Holy Spirit, Jesus sought to inspire them with the joy and hope that inspired His own heart. He rejoiced because of the abundant help He had provided for His church. The Holy Spirit was the highest of all gifts that He could solicit from His Father for the exaltation of His people. The Spirit was to be given as a regenerating agent, and without this the sacrifice of Christ would have been of no avail. The power of evil had been strengthening for centuries, and the submission of men to this satanic captivity was amazing. Sin could be resisted and overcome only through the mighty agency of the Third Person of the Godhead, who would come with no modified energy, but in the fullness of divine power." (The Desire of Ages, p. 671, emphasis mine).

The Holy Spirit is the sealing presence and power of God:

- And you also were included in Christ when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. Having believed, you were marked in him with a seal, the promised Holy Spirit (Ephesians 1:13 NIV84).
- And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. (Ephesians 4:30 NIV84).

The saved in Revelations are sealed with a seal on their foreheads—how is that seal connected to the Holy Spirit?

Consider this description of the sealing by EGW, and see if it gives insight into the seal of God and how the Holy Spirit is the seal, the sealing agent?

- "Just as soon as the people of God are sealed in their foreheads—it is not any seal or mark that can be seen, but a settling into the truth, both intellectually and spiritually, so they cannot be moved—just as soon as God's people are sealed and prepared for the shaking, it will come. Indeed, it has begun already." (EGW, The S.D.A. Bible Commentary 4:1161, emphasis mine).

The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of truth and love. The Holy Spirit is the source of truth, enlightening our minds, bringing conviction, but leaving us free. If we choose to submit to the Holy Spirit and are converted we believe the truth, the lies are displaced, and we become settled into the truth so that we cannot be moved. That is being settled intellectually or sealed intellectually—this is the cleansing or sealing of our minds, our thoughts, and mental processes, morals, values. But the Holy Spirit is also the Spirit of love, the animating, motivating, energy of altruism, beneficence, self-sacrificial service, love for God and others. When we are won to trust and open our hearts God pours His love into our hearts (Romans 5:5). We not only experience how much God loves us, but we have the Spirit of love operating within inspiring, motivating, and compelling us with love. As we choose love we are cleansed from fear and selfishness, perfect love casts out the fear and we are spiritually settled or sealed that we would rather die that exploit others. We become partakers of the divine nature and Christ lives in us via the indwelling Holy Spirit. Thus the sealing is only possible by the work of the Third Person of the Godhead, the Holy Spirit.

This is why Satan attacks the Trinity because he wants to misrepresent the divine character undermining trust, cause confusion about God's methods, principles, and design laws. And interfere with the application of Christ's victory in the hearts and minds of sinners, so even if they rightly believe that Jesus is Savior, they don't open their hearts in trust to experience the indwelling Spirit that seals them, but instead traps them in a false legal theology in which they claim legal payment to an offended god.

THURSDAY

Read the fourth paragraph, which are quotes from Jesus' prayer in John 17:

- " 'This is eternal life, that they may know You, the only true God' " (John 17:3, NKJV), not God, whoever we think He is. " 'I have made your name known to those whom you gave me, . . . and they have kept your word . . . and know in truth that I came from you' " (John 17:6, 8, NRSV). " 'Sanctify them by Your truth. Your word is truth' " (John 17:17, NKJV). (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 93).

What does this mean?

Do we see again why it is a requirement that Jesus is fully God?

2024 4Q Themes in the Gospel of John Lesson 12
The Hour of Glory: The Cross and Resurrection

by Tim Jennings

SABBATH

Read memory text:

- Then Pilate said to him, "So you are a king?" Jesus answered, "You say that I am a king. For this purpose I was born and for this purpose I have come into the world—to bear witness to the truth. Everyone who is of the truth listens to my voice." (John 18:37 ESV, emphasis mine).

Jesus came into the world for a purpose—what?

Remember when Peter pulled out his sword, Jesus told him to put it away and said,

- "Do you think I cannot call on my Father, and he will at once put at my disposal more than twelve legions of angels? But how then would the Scriptures be fulfilled that say it must happen in this way?" (Matthew 26:53-54 NIV84).

Did Jesus go through the cross against His will or in harmony with His own will, understanding, purpose, goals, mission?

Jesus had a purpose in becoming incarnate. He came to accomplish something, what?

To eliminate sin from His universe and save humanity from sin and restore this world back to sinless perfection.

Wouldn't all Christians, regardless of denomination, regardless of how they explain the details of the atonement agree that Christ's mission, the reason He came and died was as the solution to the sin problem? Wouldn't all agree that Jesus is the answer, the way, the solution, the antidote, the divine response that the Godhead initiated to address and eliminate sin from existence?
So we ask the question, Why did Jesus have to die in order for God to save humanity and eliminate sin from the universe?

In order to accurately understand the solution we must understand the nature of the problem the solution resolves.

So, what is the problem that sin caused that the plan of salvation, Jesus incarnation, sinless life, death, and resurrection solves?

If the problem is presented as a legal problem then what will the solution be? A legal solution.

If the problem is presented as a problem with God's anger, wrath, need for justice, something going on with God, then what will the solution be? A mediatorial act to present God with something to impact, change, propitiate, assuage God's anger wrath or law.

If the problem is presented as a condition of being, something that is deadly, terminal, wrong in sinners then what will the solution be?

Let's approach this a little differently, let's present some of the atonement theories, and seek to identify based on the theory what is the problem this theory is attempting to solve. In other words, what does such a theory indicate the sin problem is?

- Traditional satisfaction theory, in which Jesus died to satisfy God's anger, wrath, or sense of justice—to satisfy God? What does this solution suggest is the problem that needed fixing?
    - God was angry and offended by sin and His sense of holiness, righteousness, and personhood needed to be satisfied. And the death of Jesus satisfies God.
    - Doesn't such a view place the sin problem with God that there is something in Him that needs fixing or resolving? That our sin changed God in some way and Jesus needed to do something to God?

But the Bible says that God doesn't change:

- "I the LORD do not change." (Malachi 3:6 NIV84).
- Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever. (Hebrews 13:8 NIV84).

Consider these quotes as evidence that the traditional satisfaction view is trying to solve a problem in God:

- What did Christ's suffering and death actually accomplish that allowed the Father to provide the human race with salvation? … Scripture teaches only that Christ became a 'propitiation,' a 'sin offering,' or a 'sacrifice' for sins...Essentially, this means that Christ, because he was guiltless, sin-free and in favor with God, could offer himself up as a means of persuading God to relent of his angry wrath against the sins of mankind… Anger against sin shows the personal side of God, for sin is a personal offense against him. God is personally offended by sin and thus he needs to be personally appeased in order to offer a personal forgiveness. In keeping with his divine principles, his personal nature, and the magnitude of the sins of man, the only thing that God would allow to appease him was the suffering and death of the sinless representative of mankind, namely, Christ. (Robert Sungenis, Founder and President of Catholic Apologetics International Publishing: Not By Faith Alone (Santa Barbara: Queenship, 1997), pp. 107-108.)
- We affirm that the atonement of Christ by which, in his obedience, he offered a perfect sacrifice, propitiating the Father by paying for our sins and satisfying divine justice on our behalf according to God's eternal plan, is an essential element of the Gospel. ("A Call to Evangelical Unity," Christianity Today, June 14, 1999, emphasis mine.).

When Adam and Eve sinned did God get changed? No, then the solution, why Jesus had to die is not to fix God. What about in SDA theology? Has the idea that sin changed God and that Jesus died to solve or fix God in some way entered the teachings and publications of the SDA church?

- Paul always speaks of people being reconciled to God (2Cor 5:19; Rom 5:10; Col. 1:20). He never refers to God being reconciled to us. In spite of that fact, however, we should recognize that sin affected both sides. Humanity's rebellion and sense of guilt alienated it from God, while God was separated from humankind by His necessary hatred of and judgment on sin (His wrath). Christ's sacrificial death (propitiation) removed the barrier to reconciliation from God's side. (Knight, George, The Cross of Christ, p. 74, emphasis mine.)
- Christ's self-sacrifice is pleasing to God because this sacrificial offering took away the barrier between God and sinful man in that Christ fully bore God's wrath on man's sin. Through Christ, God's wrath is not turned into love but is turned away from man and borne by Himself. (Seventh-day Adventist Believe 27, p. 111, emphasis mine.)

What do these two quotes describe happening? Where is the problem sin caused that these quotes claim Jesus' death address? Where is the barrier that these quotes claim Jesus' death removes?

But this is not the truth that the SDA church is supposed to be teaching. The truth that came to the church in 1888, the truth written about and promoted by EGW, but which was rejected by official leadership at 1888. Notice who she says is responsible for the barrier:

- To break down the barrier that Satan had erected between God and man, Christ made a full and complete sacrifice, revealing unexampled self-denial. He revealed to the world the amazing spectacle of God living in human flesh, and sacrificing Himself to save fallen men. What wonderful love! (Signs of the Times, September 24, 1902, Review & Herald Publishing, emphasis mine)

One view is the barrier is God's anger and wrath. The other view is that Satan did something to erect a barrier between God and man that is removed by the Revelation of Jesus' self-denial, God's love, and what His sacrifice accomplished.

So several theories have the sin problem being God, God's attitude, God's need for satisfaction, God's anger and wrath—we reject that when Adam sinned that God got changed.

But there are other theories, what do these proposed explanations teach is the problem that they are trying to solve?

- For a loving God to maintain His justice and righteousness, the atoning death of Jesus Christ became 'a moral and legal necessity.' God's 'justice requires that sin be carried to judgment. God must therefore execute judgment on sin and thus on the sinner. In this execution the Son of God took our place, the sinner's place, according to God's will. (Seventh-day Adventist Believe 27, p. 111, emphasis mine).

- Why did God the Father choose a cross to be the instrument of death? Why did He not choose to have Christ instantly beheaded or quickly run through with a spear or sword? Was God unjust in executing judgment on Christ with a cross when He could have done it by beheading, a noose, a sword, a gas chamber, a bolt of lightening, or a lethal injection? (Whidden, W., Ministry Magazine, February 2007. http://www.ministrymagazine.org/archive/2007/February/sinners-in-the-hands-of-god.html, emphasis mine).
- To spare us, God poured out His wrath against the violation of His law (sin), not on the violators of His law (sinners) but on the sinless Jesus, the only way that God could "be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus" (Rom. 3:26). In short, rather than killing us for violating His law, the Father killed Jesus instead. … Or, to put it crudely, the Father killed Jesus so that He wouldn't have to kill us" (Goldstein, C. "Law, Freedom, Love." Adventist Review, online edition, Dec 8, 2023, https://adventistreview.org/cliffs-edge/law-freedom-love/?fbclid=IwAR3wAGrpMo-HQQi2KFAlHxfD47q5Aam6lZ6yJTNk-5FH7QZr66b8h_3CqX0, emphasis mine).

What is the problem these explanations are trying to fix? It is a legal one. They view the sin problem as legal, which is all predicated on the idea that God's law functions like human law, imposed rules, and thus justice requires the infliction of proper punishment by the ruling authority in order to maintain the integrity of the law, the authority of the government, and the justice, which means punishment, for the law breaker.

But all of these theories are false, distortions, in fact are corruptions and manifestations of Satan's attack on the truth. After the victory of Jesus at the cross Satan did not let that victory stand unchallenged, he immediately began undermining the meaning, introducing falsehoods to pervert it and ultimately use the cross to teach his own lies about God. He has done this by getting Christians to believe that God's law functions like human law, the laws of creatures and if we accept this lie, then we believe justice is infliction of punishment, that Jesus came to take our punishment, that God's justice is the source of that punishment and therefore God killed Jesus.

This line of thinking presents God as the source and inflictor of death, but the Bible teaches that Jesus' victory at the cross was for the purpose of destroying death:

- Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. (2 Timothy 1:19 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- For he [Jesus] must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet. The last enemy to be destroyed is death. (1 Corinthians 15:25-26 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil—and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death (Hebrews 2:14-15, emphasis mine).

Notice the Bible teaches that Jesus' death, which is the solution for the sin problem, destroys death and the devil who holds the power of death. But the common theologies, including those that have dominated the SDA church since 1888 teach that God holds the power of death not Satan and that God wields the power of death as just punishment for sin. This is a lie.

What is the problem that sin caused that the plan of salvation fixes?

Sin separates from the source of life and causes death and the plan of salvation destroys death and brings life and immorality to light by removing the breach, the infection, the fear, selfishness and distrust and reconnecting living beings to God the source of life.

But how can Jesus free us from the fear of death if we teach that death comes out from God as just punishment?

If God is the source of death inflicted as punishment for sin, how can Jesus destroy death, doesn't the power of death continue to reside/originate in God who can wield it if sin ever presents again in the future? Haven't you even heard this taught by some, the idea that when this is all done if anyone ever sins again Jesus won't have to die, God will simply kill them on the spot.

But these lies about God, His law, the meaning and purpose of the cross did not catch God by surprise—He foresaw it all and forewarned us:

- Surely he took up our infirmities and carried our sorrows, yet we considered him stricken by God, smitten by him, and afflicted. (Isaiah 53:4, emphasis mine).
- "Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God." (2Thesselonnians 2:4, emphasis mine).

What temple? The spirit temple—and how did Satan do this? By getting Christians to exchange the truth that God's laws are design laws for the lie that God's laws function no differently than human laws, imposed rules that require legal enforcement. This was the Romanization of Christianity, the moving away from a reality based Creator God worship to a fantasy based creature worship in which the god is now viewed as the source of pain, suffering, and death from whom we need protection through mediation and payment of various kinds.

When we believe the lie that God's law is imposed, we believe the sin problem is penal legal and Jesus came to take our punishment and God is the legal authority who enforces the law through punishment, the minimum being death, and it is falsely taught that God is the source of death. Satan in character, method, motive, and function replaces God and is being worshiped in the spirit temple in the place of God. And people teach that God killed Jesus for justice sake.

The SDA founders were focused on completing the Reformation, on advancing the unfolding truth, on carrying the final message of mercy to the world, on restoring the purity of the gospel as Jesus revealed it and God blessed those Bible students with the truth about design law, but that truth was rejected by the legalists in the camp just as the legalistic Jews rejected it when Jesus presented it. Just as the legalist fought against Paul when he presented the truth about design law. Just as the legalists through all Christian history have done.

Once Constantine converted and the church Romanized the idea of Roman law, imposed law, cannon law became orthodoxy and no branch of Christianity has freed itself from this imposed law lie and all still teach that God's justice is the use of power to inflict punishment.

But what is the truth? What is the true problem that sin caused and that Jesus fixes so that God both saves humanity and also eliminates sin from His universe?

1. Jesus revealed the truth, which exposed Satan as liar, secured the unfallen universe & wins humans to trust
    - "For God was pleased to have all his fullness dwell in him, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven, by making peace through his blood, shed on the cross." Colossians 1:19-20

2. Destroyed Satan and His power
    - "Since the children have flesh and blood, he too shared in their humanity so that by his death he might destroy him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil." Hebrews 2:14

3. Destroyed the infection of selfishness and cured humankind
    - "Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." 2Timothy 1:10

How did Jesus destroy death?

- What is the basis of life?
    - God – the life emanating from God flows out to all in unity with Him and who continue to live in harmony with His design
- What happens if one breaks this design?
    - One severs the connection with the source of life and dying they die
    - Death is the natural outcome of selfishness
    - In order to destroy death Jesus had to remove, eliminate, eradicate from the species human the death causing principle and restore the life causing principle into humanity.
    - He did this by becoming human, partaking of the life descended from Adam, the life now terminal, infected, corrupted, the purged that corruption and restored perfection, love, life.

- Adam formed from dust
- Eve from Adam's side
- You and me from sinful mother and father
- Jesus in none of these ways

- But when the time had fully come, God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under law, to redeem those under law, that we might receive the full rights of sons. Galatians 4:4-5
- The Holy Spirit was His Father. Matthew 1:18

- Jesus was "tempted in every way, just as we are - yet was without sin." Hebrews 2:14

- And each one of us "is tempted when, by his own evil desire, he is dragged away and enticed." James 1:14

Did Jesus experience the internal temptation to save Himself? Yes in Gethsemane.

Why did Jesus have to die?

- God formed Adam out of the dirt, and then breathed into Adam the breath of life, this is the pneuma, which is translated spirit. It is the animating life energy that originates only in God.
- When Adam sinned he changed the animating motivating energy from love and trust to fear and selfishness. His own spirit, his own energy, his own motivation, his own natural inclinations, desires, and drives, the power that moved him to action was changed from love and trust to fear and selfishness and this drives Adam to run and hide from God.

And Adam and Eve were given procreative abilities to share their life—the breath of life breathed into Adam and corrupted by Adam. They only had that life to share and that life is now infected with fear and selfishness—it is the only life, the only spirit, the only animating energy they have to pass on. Thus they have children born in sin conceived in iniquity (Psalm 51:5). We are not born legally guilty, we are born infected with a terminal condition. This condition is incompatible with life. It motivates, natural drives, one to distrust, to seek to advance and protect self, to flee from God, to cut oneself off from God and His life giving presence. In fact, it is antagonistic to God and life. It is the law of sin and death, the survival of the fittest motivation and drive.

Jesus came and partook of this very life. The very same life breathed into Adam and passed down through the generations, through David and through Mary (Romans 1:3; Galatians 4:4).

But the Father for His humanity was the Holy Spirit who came upon Mary and Jesus' humanity was conceived within her. Thus Jesus is born with a humanity that is capable of being tempted in all points like we are, yet He lived without sin. He could experience the internal fear, the emotional anguish, the internal temptation to act in selfishness and flee from death—as is seen in Gethsemane. But Jesus was born with a holy spirit, with a pure animating energy He received from the Holy Spirit and thus Jesus as a human grew in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man. He lived a sinless life. He never developed a bad habit, and while He could be tempted in ways Adam in Eden was not, He overcame every temptation by the exercise of His human brain in choosing always YES the spirit of love and trust and always choosing NO to the spirit of fear and selfishness. At the cross Jesus destroyed death, the spirit of fear and selfishness that Adam brought into the race and rose again in a humanity that was descended from Adam yet one which was purified, purged, perfected, and restored to God's original intention when He created Adam.

Thus Jesus became the second Adam, the source of salvation for all who trust Him.

- Although he was a son, he learned obedience from what he suffered and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him (Hebrews 5:8-9 NIV84, emphasis mine).

Jesus was tempted in all points like us and as a human learned by experience humble submission, surrender to His Father's will, which He Himself said "not my will by thy will be done" at the height of His greatest temptation in Gethsemane. And although He was always sinless, Bible perfection is maturity of character, and Jesus as a human had to overcome where Adam failed. Jesus had to use His human abilities to develop a perfect sinless human character in love and trust to His Father and thereby destroy the infection of fear and selfishness. It was only by doing this that Jesus could eradicate sin from humanity, reveal the truth to destroy lies, and secure the universe unfallen in its loyalty.

So Paul writes:

- For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind. (2 Timothy 1:7 NKJV).

God did not give us the spirit of fear we inherited that spirit from Adam. Through Jesus Christ God restores in us the spirit of power and love and sound mind, self-control.

With all of this in mind, let's unpack the Romans 8:1-15 and see how Paul describes this exact reality, how we are infected with a spirit of fear and selfishness and Jesus came to destroy that animating power, energy, life, spirit from humanity and restore in us the spirit of love and trust. And as we go through you will see how the penal legal fraud has a form of godliness but denies the power, denies the animating presence of God and keeps people trapped in cycles of fear and selfishness while claiming legal solutions to a lethal condition.

- Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, because through Christ Jesus the law of the Spirit of life set me free from the law of sin and death. [Why is there no condemnation? If you believe God's law functions like human law, then you read this to mean that Jesus paid the legal price to God or God's law by dying in our place and therefore there is no legal condemnation and we are legally pardoned or set free. But when we return to design law we realize that we are actually dying of a terminal condition, the life we inherited from Adam is corrupt, and Paul in this very passage describes how this life is enmity to God, in hostility or rebellion to God, and incapable of pleasing God, for the spirit of fear and selfishness causes us to flee from God and seek to protect ourselves. This animating power, energy, spirit, is the survival of the fittest principle that every single human since Adam is born with by having received this spirit from both their father and mother. Paul describes how all nature groans under this law of sin and death, the survival drives that only destroy and naturally result in death unless removed and replaced by the law of the Spirit of life. And thus we have no condemnation because our being, our hearts and minds, have been freed from the control of fear, we have a new animating energy a new spirit of love and trust—and Paul describes this in the following verses. But the penal theories teach people to claim legal pardon and removal of legal condemnation through the fiction of legal adjustment while leaving people dying of this terminal sin condition.] For what the law was powerless to do in that it was weakened by the sinful nature, God did by sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful man to be a sin offering. And so he condemned sin in sinful man, in order that the righteous requirements of the law might be fully met in us, who do not live according to the sinful nature but according to the Spirit. [The written law is external, it is outside of our hearts and minds. It has no power, no animating energy, no capacity to fix, restore, heal, recreate, regenerate. It can only expose, diagnose, communicate, reveal that we are dead in trespass and sin, that we are sick in heart and mind. Our sinful nature is the life of fear and selfishness and it is incapable of animating, empowering, motivating to love and trust. Our animating spirit of fear and selfishness cannot cause us, inspire us, motivate us, empower us to live love. It can only cause us to live in fear and selfishness. Thus living out God's law is impossible because our nature is weakened, damaged, infected, animated by fear and selfishness. This is why Jesus came to condemn all deviations from His design that cause pain, suffering and death, and restore the law of life back into the species human and into the hearts of all who trust Him and are reborn to live by the animating power of the Spirit.] Those who live according to the sinful nature have their minds set on what that nature desires; but those who live in accordance with the Spirit have their minds set on what the Spirit desires. [Both the converted and unconverted have a sinful nature, a spirit of fear and selfishness. It is the only life, spirit, animating energy that we can be born with. But the unconverted set their minds on gratifying, living, defending, and promoting self of responding to and growing in the spirit of fear and selfishness. They do not die to self. They do not surrender self to Jesus and do not receive the Holy Spirt. They are not reborn. But the converted, while they still have the animating spirit of fear and selfishness inherited from Adam, have been won to love and trust and have surrendered self to Jesus. They have been indwelt by the Holy Spirit and receive through trust a new animating power, and they choose set their minds on living to love God and others.] The mind of sinful mane is death, but the mind controlled by the Spirit is life and peace; [The mind of fear and selfishness is the mind empowered, controlled, driven, animated by the spirit of fear and selfishness and this is the law of sin and death. Fear and selfishness sever God's design law of life, break the law of love and trust, sever our connection with God the source of life. The only outcome without replacement with the spirit of life, is ruin and death. But the mind who has surrendered self, who has died to the spirit of fear and selfishness, receives a new animating energy, spirit, life, power, the Holy Spirit who brings the life of Jesus and their mind is now empowered, inspired, directed, controlled by the Spirit of life.] the sinful mind is hostile to God. It does not submit to God's law, nor can it do so. [Our natural mind animated and controlled by the spirit of fear and selfishness is hostile to God and incapable of submitting to God's law of truth, love, and freedom. Fear and selfishness drives, causes, manifests, leads to, inspires, only actions that lead away from God. Just as Adam and Eve ran from God as soon as they sinned. The only power they had at that point was the power of the spirit of fear and selfishness. And without rebirth, without the indwelling Holy Spirit, the only animating power we have is fear and selfishness and thus we are incapable in our natural self of surrendering to God. This is why even repentance is a gift of God. When we have a desire to leave the life of sin, that is the Holy Spirit working upon us to woo, call, instill a desire for life. All we can do is choose the truth and surrender the infection of fear and selfishness and receive the free gift of a new life, a new spirit to indwell and empower us.] Those controlled by the sinful nature cannot please God. [Because they are living out the survival drives of fear and selfishness which runs away from God, counter to how God built live to operate and is the cause of all pain, suffering, and death.]

You, however, are controlled not by the sinful nature but by the Spirit, if the Spirit of God lives in you. And if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Christ. [When we surrender our natural life, the spirit of fear we inherited from Adam in trust to Jesus we receive a new animating energy, the Spirit of love and trust. This is reality. The life we were born with is dead in trespass and sin. We must receive a new life from Jesus in order to have eternal life because our natural life inherited from Adam is the spirit of fear. We must have a new spirit of Christ, the life of Christ. And if we do not receive this new spirit of Christ we are not saved. And we cannot receive the spirit of Christ by claiming legal payments be applied to our books in heaven. This is why the penal legal theologies are so corrupt. They teach a form of godliness but they deny the animating power that recreates people into godliness. We must receive the spirit of Christ so that we can say what Paul said, "it is no longer I that live but Christ lives in me." Gal 2:20] But if Christ is in you, your body is dead because of sin, yet your spirit is alive because of righteousness. And if the Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead is living in you, he who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies through his Spirit, who lives in you. [The sin problem is a real problem of being. Adam corrupted the spirit, the life given to him in Eden with fear and selfishness. This is a terminal condition. The only way to save humanity was to partake of this life, become a real human being, face the temptations this condition brings, and destroy the infection of fear and selfishness and replace it with a spirit of love and trust. Jesus did this in His person and offers us the free gift of His Spirit. We can partake of a new animating energy, the pure love of Christ that we can receive through trust and thus we can say no to the spirit of fear and yes to the spirit of love.] Therefore, brothers, we have an obligation—but it is not to the sinful nature, to live according to it. For if you live according to the sinful nature, you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the misdeeds of the body, you will live, because those who are led by the Spirit of God are sons of God. For you did not receive a spirit that makes you a slave again to fear, but you received the Spirit of sonship. (Romans 8:1-15 NIV84, emphasis mine). [This is reality—it is recreation, transformation, through receiving a new animating energy, a new life, a new spirit operating and functioning with us. The spirit of fear does not come from God, it came from Adam and it must be replaced with the spirit of love and trust that comes from Jesus. And when we surrender self in trust and receive this new life, the indwelling Holy Spirit who takes what Christ achieved and reproduces it in us, our heavenly records are cleansed because God's records are the records of reality. And the reality is we were born in sin and conceived in iniquity. We were all born with only a spirit of fear and selfishness, and that spirit causes us to act hostilely to God and out of harmony with Him and His design laws. In other words, to sin. Thus we must be reborn and receive a new life, a new animating energy, a new spirit, the spirit of Christ, of love and trust. And our heavenly records document that change and we are now children of God. And from that moment we live to love God and others and grow in godliness."]

Notice how Peter describes this very process of living a new spiritual life, a life animated by love and trust and how this causes us to live and suffer like Jesus because we are confronting and putting to death the spirit of fear and selfishness we inherited from Adam.

- Therefore, since Christ suffered in his body, arm yourselves also with the same attitude, because he who has suffered in his body is done with sin. As a result, he does not live the rest of his earthly life for evil human desires, but rather for the will of God. (1 Peter 4:1–2 NIV84).

The spirit of fear we inherited from Adam leads us to live selfishly and sin. The spirit of love and trust we receive from Christ leads us to say no to the spirit of fear and selfishness and this causes the old self to suffer, but when we say yes to the spirit of love and no to the spirit of fear and selfishness we are done with sin.

Do you see how the infection of the imposed law lie into Christianity has completely corrupted the gospel and caused a form of Christianity that is without power—a penal legal form?

Jesus is waiting for the gospel, the eternal good news about Him, His character, His design law methods of truth, love, and freedom, the true plan to heal and restore sinners to go to the world and then the end will come.

SUNDAY

The lesson asks what is the truth?

It points to the discussion between Jesus and Pilate when Pilate dismissed Jesus by asking "What is truth?" In other words, Pilate was not seeking truth, but dismissing truth, basically saying everyone has their own version of the truth, who can know what truth is.

Has this attitude toward truth gone away, or is it still prominent today?

Have you heard it expressed in ideas like, "That's your truth not my truth"?

What is the problem with this expression?

It is not about truth at all, but just like Pilate it is a means to avoid the truth.

What is truth—it is reality, that simple. And Satan is the father of lies and as such his positions are all overthrown and exposed by truth, by reality. Thus Satan seeks to divert minds away from truth, away from reality, and replace reality, replace truth with anything else.

What kinds of strategies does Satan use to divert minds away from truth, away from reality?

- Fantasy, fiction, myth, mystery, fable, make-believe
    - Godless evolution
    - Impose law views of God
    - All false religions
    - Anything that denies objective reality—almost everything taught by woke culture is fiction, fantasy, make believe and requires the suspension of reason and the denial of facts and evidence.
- Authority, proclamation, claims without evidence
    - This was used by the church of the Dark Ages and also by communism, fascism, and wokeism
- Faith without evidence
    - All movements use faith, but the godless and evil movements have people place their faith in anything other than the true God—faith in a cause, a person, a belief, a country, a lie and teach that faith is believing without evidence
- Love, devotion, conviction, strong feelings
    - Satan will use love, but when Satan uses it it is always love for something or someone that is divorced from truth. The Bible teaches that love rejoices with the truth. But Satan cannot abide the truth, so will use love to promote falsehoods, either false ideas, or false practices
    - Love for a person that causes an individual to not speak healing truth in order to avoid upsetting that person. This is manifested in society by political correct speech. The lie that is wrong to say anything someone else might find offensive. It doesn't matter if what is spoken is true and done in love, the lie suggests that if someone will be offended then love wouldn't speak it. Thus in various parts of the world those who advance this lie have passed laws that make it hate speech to speak truth, such as it is a crime to pass out The Great Controversy because it exposes the Dark Ages church as abusive, or promoting godly marriage is hate speech against the LGBTQ community.
    - Devotion to wrong causes
    - Devotion to good causes by using evil methods
    - Feelings of various kinds, but especially fear—this is how Satan motivated the world to abuse the liberties and violate the consciences of their neighbors during COVID. It is how various Christians justified and participated in such ungodly methods. And the reason church leaders failed to side with righteousness, the reason so many sided with the states to coerce. It is because they believe the lie that God's law functions like human law. As such they do not understand how reality works. Instead, they need to be told what is right and wrong, what the answers are. They are the infants spoken of in Hebrews 5, still on milk, still on the elementary teachings, not acquainted with righteousness. They may have good motives, they may want only to help, to bless, to protect, but they cannot be trusted to lead any more than you would trust your 6 year old loving child to lead. Not because they are actively in heart in rebellion, but because they are immature and easily deceived. They are like someone in a math class who wants to do really good and doesn't want to make any mistakes so they go to the text book find the key and memorize all the correct answers. And when the question is asked what is 2 + 2 they answer correctly "4" But when asked why, they say "Because the text book said so." These are many of our leaders. They know many right answers, but when asked why is that the right answer they say, "Because the Bible says so." But when the child who knows the right answer to the math problem because they memorized the key is faced with a problem that is not in the textbook, they cannot answer it, because they have never learned the principles of math, they don't know how reality works, they only know the example questions. This is how many Christian leaders are. They read the Bible to find the answers to the example questions and memorize those answers—and those answers may very well be the right answers. But they don't know design law, they don't know the principles of God, they don't know why it is right or wrong, and thus when a new problem arises, like should we cooperate with governments and pressure our students, employees, and patients to take an experimental injection with no safety data, or should we provide a letter supporting conscientious objection—they went to the Bible, the textbook but they couldn't find anything about vaccines, injections, or experimental medicines and so they could not solve the problem because they have never learned the principles of God. This is why Paul taught that every person must be fully persuaded in their own mind. We are not to surrender our thinking to church leaders. The mature are those who have developed by practice the ability to discern the right from the wrong (Hebrews 5:14).

- Miracles, signs, wonders
    - These can be faked, the truth cannot
- Shock and Awe
    - Intimidation which can either incite fear or just awe which shuts down thinking
- Loyalty to people or causes

MONDAY

The lesson focuses on how Pilate left Jesus and went out to dialogue with the people to try and persuade them to release Jesus because he didn't find Jesus worthy of death. But we know how that turned out. They threatened to accuse him to Caesar that he was supporting someone claiming to have kingly authority.

But, what do you think would have happened if Pilate would have stopped, stayed with Jesus, and asked the following:

Jesus, I don't find anything in you worthy of death nor supporting the charges against you. I am in a pickle here. I would like to release you. Can you give me any insight or advise on what I can say to the crowd that will get them to back down and stop demanding you be crucified?"

What do you think Jesus would have said?

Is there a hint of what Jesus might have said, in these words?

- Jesus answered, “You would have no power over me if it were not given to you from above. Therefore the one who handed me over to you is guilty of a greater sin.” (John 19:11 NIV84).

Might Jesus have said what He said to Peter,

- “Do you think I cannot call on my Father, and he will at once put at my disposal more than twelve legions of angels? But how then would the Scriptures be fulfilled that say it must happen in this way?” (Matthew 26:53-54 NIV84).

Or do you think Jesus might have repeated the words He said to John the Baptist when John protested baptizing Jesus,

- Jesus replied, “Let it be so now; it is proper for us to do this to fulfill all righteousness.” (Matthew 3:15 NIV84).

Remember what Jesus said to James and John when they asked to sit on the right and left side in His kingdom?

- “You don’t know what you are asking,” Jesus said. “Can you drink the cup I drink or be baptized with the baptism I am baptized with?” (Mark 10:38).

Didn’t Jesus have to go through these experiences in order to reveal the truth and destroy the cause of death?

TUESDAY

It Is Finished—what was finished?

Was the entire plan of salvation finished?

What was finished?

The revelation of truth which exposes the lies of Satan and the destruction of death and restoration of life into humanity.

In other words, the procurement of the remedy which when applied will eliminate sin from the universe and ultimately bring the final end of all pain, suffering, sin, death, and rebellion.

But it still needs application.

If you have never read it I recommend the chapter in the book The Desire of Ages entitled "It Is Finished." One of the best every written on this subject by anyone.

And it is all about design law, how lies break the circle of love and trust, how the truth about God's law must be revealed. How the use of might and power to eliminate Satan would not resolve the sin problem but would spread fear and rebellion. That what God wants is our love, trust, loyalty, friendship, devotion and this cannot be achieved through imposed law and inflicted punishments, but only by design law of truth, love, and freedom.

It is an incredible chapter and well worth the read. Questions about what was finished?

WEDNESDAY

The Empty Tomb—praise God Jesus rose from the dead. Jesus has destroyed death and brought life and immortality to light—how?

Consider this quote,

- Satan with his fierce temptations wrung the heart of Jesus. The Saviour could not see through the portals of the tomb. Hope did not present to Him His coming forth from the grave a conqueror, or tell Him of the Father's acceptance of the sacrifice. He feared that sin was so offensive to God that Their separation was to be eternal. Christ felt the anguish which the sinner will feel when mercy shall no longer plead for the guilty race. It was the sense of sin, bringing the Father's wrath upon Him as man's substitute, that made the cup He drank so bitter, and broke the heart of the Son of God. (The Desire of Ages 753, emphasis mine).

How did Jesus experience this? Because He partook of our humanity, the life inherited from Adam and could be tempted in all points like us, because that life is the life of fear and thus Jesus could experience fear and did.

But Jesus never gave in to fear. Despite the fear, the temptations, the inability to see through the tomb, Jesus trusted His Father—in other words Jesus lived by faith and won by faith, as all humans must. So this author goes on to write:

- Amid the awful darkness, apparently forsaken of God, Christ had drained the last dregs in the cup of human woe. In those dreadful hours He had relied upon the evidence of His Father's acceptance heretofore given Him. He was acquainted with the character of His Father; He understood His justice, His mercy, and His great love. By faith He rested in Him whom it had ever been His joy to obey. And as in submission He committed Himself to God, the sense of the loss of His Father's favor was withdrawn. By faith, Christ was victor. (The Desire of Ages 756, emphasis mine).

Christ overcame as a human who lived in trust based on evidence, experience, truth, reality of who God is.

But the question is, if Jesus could not see through the portals of the tomb, what was the basis of these comments:

- For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of a huge fish, so the Son of Man will be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth. (Matthew 12:40 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- From that time on Jesus began to explain to his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things at the hands of the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and that he must be killed and on the third day be raised to life. (Matthew 16:21 NIV84, emphasis mine).
- When they came together in Galilee, he said to them, "The Son of Man is going to be betrayed into the hands of men. They will kill him, and on the third day he will be raised to life." And the disciples were filled with grief. (Matthew 17:22–23 NIV84, emphasis mine).

If you believe the commentary that on the cross Jesus could not see through the portals of the tomb, then what do we make of these Bible verses?

One option is to believe the commentary is wrong, it is just that person's view of things, but since the Bible is our standard of faith, not a commentary, and it clearly teaches Jesus did accurately predict His death and resurrection that He must have been able to see through the portals of the tomb.

However, I believe this conclusion would be wrong. I believe both the Bible and the commentary are true—how? Because Jesus did not make His description and prediction on His death and resurrection by looking through time and seeing through special prophecy future events. No, He made His prediction based on knowing how design law works. He understood the nature and character of sin, that sin causes death, that humankind is infected with the spirit of fear that must be eliminated and removed and when it is and the spirit of love and trust is restored, the spirit of life that emanates from God, then the natural result is life, resurrection. So He predicts not based on prophetic view through time, but on the knowledge of design law and reality.

Just as everyone of you can predict what will happen if I let go of a pen—it will fall, even though that is a future event, you can predict it accurately because you understand the law of gravity. Thus Jesus knew exactly what He came to do and what would happen when He succeeded.

THURSDAY

Jesus despite being crucified is still concerned with others and ensures that His mother is cared for.

What does this teach us about God?

2024 4Q Themes in the Gospel of John Lesson 13
Epilogue: Knowing Jesus and His Word

by Tim Jennings (announcements last page)

SABBATH

The title for this week's lesson is, Knowing Jesus and His Word, what does this mean to you?

Is there a difference between knowing Jesus and His Word and knowing the Bible, or knowing theology, or knowing the doctrines of the church?

Read our memory verse:

- You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and these are they which testify of Me. (John 5:39 NKJV).

Was the problem these religious leaders had that they were not Bible students, that they had given up reading the Bible for novels or other entertainment?

If they were faithful Bible students, and let's add to that, not only faithful Bible students but faithful church attenders and also faithful tithe payers, if they were faithful in all of this, what was their problem?

Is it still possible today that there are people who read the Bible, diligently searching the Scriptures, are faithful church attenders, and faithful tithe payers but fail to know Jesus and His Word?

- "Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but only he who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!' (Matthew 7:21–23 NIV84, emphasis mine).

How is this possible? How is it possible for people to be faithful students of the Bible, to claim Jesus as their Savior, to work actively and faithfully in ministry and be an evildoer?

Because their faith, their belief, their commitment, their Bible reading is processed through lies, they have rejected the truth of who Jesus is and have preferred a false Christ in his place. They reject the truth of God as Creator and prefer a god who is like them in character, who makes up rules and uses power to punish rule-breakers. Thus they use the words of Jesus but the methods and character of Satan.

Read first paragraph,

- John's Gospel, like Mark's, ends with a meeting in Galilee. This final lesson on John deals with that meeting but integrates it with the theme of how we know Jesus and the Word of God—a concept that runs through the fourth Gospel. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 104).

Is the "Word of God" words?

Is there power in the words?

Do we need to have the right words in order to experience the power of God or to know God?

Do we need to pray with the right words, not in the name of Jesus, but of Joshua, well not Joshua, but Yashua?

If we think the power is in the words do we enter into superstition, into witchcraft, and sorcery seeking the right incantation?

Is the power in the words spoken, or in the meaning of the words?

When Paul wrote,

- I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes (Romans 1:16 NIV84).

Was he referring to the word "gospel" that there is power in the word or in the idea, the truth, the meaning of what that word "gospel" is intended to convey?

And what if we use the word gospel but understand it to mean something other than what Paul intended, does it still contain the power of God?

When we consider the Bible, the inspired Word of God—is the power in the words, or the truths, the meaning that originate in and reconnect us to God, who is the source of all truth and power?

So if Satan can get us to use the same words but change the meaning of the words he can introduce lies into our minds that cut us off from God. This is what sorcery is all about. Sorcerers are people who work to gain power over people's minds through a variety of means, but the goal is the same, to gain power over minds. In ancient times they used various hallucinogens, the proverbial witches brew, to make people more susceptible to mind control, in our day such chemicals can be used, but more often mind control is pursued through propaganda, which includes changing the meaning of words to cause confusion and interfere with people being able to tell what is real from fantasy in order to interfere with people being able to discern truth from lies, good from evil.

Do we believe the words of the Bible are inspired or the prophets who wrote the Bible were inspired with truth and they chose the words to convey those truths and thus it is the ideas, the meaning, the truths in the Bible that are inspired not the words?

Do we recognize words are not reality, they are symbols of communication that convey concepts—and the concepts conveyed may be true or false. Thus the power again is not in the words, but the meaning being conveyed.

For instance when you see the letters TREE you are not seeing a plant, a tree, you are seeing a symbolic representation of a tree. You can not get life sustaining nutritious by reading the words, apple, walnuts, and avocados. The words are not the reality and do not provide any life-giving power. In order to gain the energy, nutrition, and life from the food one must actually eat it, take it into their body.

Likewise, the words truth, love, righteousness, God, Jesus, do not contain any life-giving power they are symbolic representations of reality—but in order to benefit one must actually partake of the reality to which those words are representing.

Imagine the physical starvation, suffering, and death that you could cause if you got people to believe that health came from getting together to read about food, and sing songs about food, but they don't actually eat food. Or, if they believe that they must eat something but you get them to replace real fruit with wax fruit.

This was the problem with the Jews in Christ's day—they read the words, but never understood the meaning and replaced the true meaning with falsehoods, thus they took into their minds and hearts the words of Scripture but none of its power because they took in lies—false meanings, the words had their true meaning replaced with a lie.

This has happened in Christianity when Christians replace the truth of God's law being design law with the lie that God's law functions like human law. We read the words of Scripture but fail to understand the truth those words are intended to convey, and we end up with a form of godliness without power—until we return to accept and ingest the true meaning—then we experience the power of God; the truth really does set us free!

We do not believe there is power in syllables or words, but in the truth, in the meaning, and thus it is okay to replace Greek, Aramaic, and Hebrew words with English, German, French and other language words as long as one brings the most accurate meaning across. It is the truth that is inspired and which contains the power, not the words.

Consider these historical quotes, do you agree?

- Merely to hear or to read the word is not enough. He who desires to be profited by the Scriptures must meditate upon the truth that has been presented to him. By earnest attention and prayerful thought he must learn the meaning of the words of truth, and drink deep of the spirit of the holy oracles (Christ's Object Lessons, 59, emphasis mine).

- The Bible is written by inspired men, but it is not God's mode of thought and expression. It is that of humanity. God, as a writer, is not represented. Men will often say such an expression is not like God. But God has not put Himself in words, in logic, in rhetoric, on trial in the Bible. The writers of the Bible were God's penmen, not His pen. (Selected Messages vol. 1, p. 21, emphasis mine).

- It is not the words of the Bible that are inspired, but the men that were inspired. Inspiration acts not on the man's words or his expressions but on the man himself, who, under the influence of the Holy Ghost, is imbued with thoughts. But the words and thoughts receive the impress of the individual mind. The divine mind is diffused. The divine mind and will is combined with the human mind and will; thus the utterances of the man are the word of God. (Selected Messages vol. 1, p. 21, emphasis mine).

So what is the Word of God? First and foremost it is Jesus—Jesus is the Word made flesh—He is God and from Him truth originates and emanates. And the Bible contains divine truth. These divinely inspired truths were revealed to the Bible writers and the writers chose the words and expressions to convey the truths. If we want to know the Word of God we must go beyond the syllables to find the divine truths, the reality-based meaning contained within the writings, within the stories and events recorded.

And to do that we must incorporate and integrate all the truth God reveals to us and God reveals truth in Scripture—so we must always include Scripture. But the Scripture teaches God reveals truth in two other threads, two other modes, means, or places:

- Science and nature—the laws the cosmos, this planet, and life is built upon, the design laws. As Paul wrote in Romans 1:20 God's divine nature is revealed in what He has made, or the psalmist, the heavens declare the glory of God.
- Experience—taste and see that the Lord is good.

The problem with much of modern Christianity is that it has divorced the Bible from reality, from nature and God's design laws built into reality, and from our experiences—the way reality actually works. And this results in reading the Bible in a fantastical light, through the light of Roman law, imposed law, imperialism, and many teach a false punishing god who is like Satan in character.

Read second and third paragraph,

- Though they were with Jesus more than three years, the disciples were still greatly unprepared for the Crucifixion and Resurrection, even though Jesus had told them again and again what would happen.
  Unfortunately, they didn't take Him at His word. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 104).

Does this tempt us to look back at them and feel sadness for them, "Poor disciples, why couldn't they just take Jesus at His word?"

But do we apply it to ourselves? Are we ready for the final events that are about to come upon the world? Are we taking Jesus at His word or are we falling into similar traps the disciples did?

What does it mean "They didn't take Him at His word."?

What does it mean to take someone at their word?

Is the lesson suggesting that if Jesus said it, we should believe it, not doubt it, and not question it?

Hmmm….

When Jesus came to Abraham and told him that He was going to destroy Sodom, did Abraham simply take Him at His word—"God has said it, I believe it, that settles it." Or did Abraham start questioning—humbly and respectfully to be sure, but did he question? And Abraham is called a friend of God. What about Moses when God told Him He was going to wipe out the people and start over? And also later when God told Moses he could not go into the promised land, did Moses simply say "—"God has said it, I believe it, that settles it." Or did Moses ask questions, and Moses is called a friend of God.

Does God want us to simply hear the words He has spoken and do them, or to ask questions, to seek to clarify, to comprehend the true meaning?

Let's check a little church history about the problem of taking Jesus at His word.

In 831 Frankish abbot Paschasius Radbertus released a paper entitled De corpore et sanguine Christi (Concerning Christ's Body and Blood). According to former Secretary of Education and historian William Bennett from his book, Tried by Fire: The Story of Christianity's First Thousand Years:

> "Radbertus concluded that since God is truth and cannot lie, Jesus' declaration that the elements of the bread and wine used in communion were his body and blood and must be taken literally. For Radbertus, the consecration of the elements mystically transformed the bread and wine into the physical body and blood of Jesus Christ." (Bennett, William, Tried By Fire: The Story of Christianity's First Thousand Years. Nelson Books, Nashville, TN, 2016).

And from this paper came the Catholic doctrine of Transubstantiation, that when a person takes the communion wafer and swallows it, it mystically, magically, transforms into the actual flesh of Jesus.

For over 800 years, no one, Apostle, prophet, pope, or peasant believed such an idea, but in the mid 9th century this idea came forward, based on what? On an abbot who took Jesus at His word, literally taking the words spoken concretely and failing to understand the true meaning conveyed in the words.

This came from the inability of people to see past words, symbols, metaphor to reality, to the truth the words symbolically represent and instead taking words literally.

The disciples were doing the opposite, they were failing to realize Jesus was being literal, was telling them what was going to happen to Him in reality. But the truth He was telling them was too distressing so they either didn't believe it, or interpreted it in some way that meant something different than what Jesus meant.

What is the lesson? We must seek the enlightening presence of the Holy Spirit, the Spirit that inspired the Bible writers with the truth that they communicated in their words so that when we read it we can understand the true meaning behind the words.

And truth builds on truth, establishing foundational truths that are testable truths are essential in rightly understanding the Bible. What are some foundational truths that impact what meaning we derive from the Bible?

- How we understand God's law—which determines how we understand God's character and methods
    - If we believe God's law functions like human law then we always conclude God is the source of inflicted pain, suffering, and death as just punishment for sin and create theologies to hide and protect us from God. If we embrace the truth that God's laws are design laws and return to Creator worship, then we realize that pain suffering and death originate in breaking the laws of life and severing our connection with God. Then our theologies are focused on advancing the truth about God and removing the barriers that Satan has placed between us and God, restoring trust in God, opening ourselves fully to God so we can experience His healing and recreative presence restoring the image of God in us.
- How we understand God's character and methods
    - God is love and is the source of life; death comes out from sin and breaking away from God. God's actions are always for the healing and restoration of His creation. Thus any interpretation that suggests God is the one who destroys, is the source or cause of eternal death—wages of sin death—is a lie and we can reject such interpretations of the Biblical record.
- The various design laws themselves, like truth, love, liberty, worship, exertion etc.
    - If theologies teach ideas that violate these design laws we can reject them. Such as the law of liberty; love only exists in an atmosphere of freedom. God cannot achieve His goal of restoring us to love, trust, friendship, loyalty by threatening to kill us if we do not love and trust Him. Thus the Bible teaches God works "not by might nor by power but by the Spirit says the Lord" Zech 4:6. This is testable, we can test our theologies and interpretations of Scripture against this.
- The method one uses to determine truth—is it prayerful, humble examination of the evidence in harmony with truth thus far understood, exercising one's reasoning ability to integrate the various threads of evidence into harmonized comprehension; or is it by praying long and hard for a warm feeling despite what the evidence reveals?

- What do we prioritize in our understanding of Scripture? Is it the claims and proclamations or the actions, achievements, accomplishments of God in history?
    - Do we ignore the evidences of God's actions through history and instead focus on the places where God is proclaiming? Or do we require our understanding of God's proclamations and declarations to be harmonized with His actions in history?
    - The Bible says "God is love" but this text alone, without the historical evidence of God's actions through time, particularly in the life of Jesus Christ is meaningless. It is the accomplishments, the actions of God that are the most persuasive evidences, not the syllables spoken. Thus, Jesus is the Word made flesh—Jesus in living action is how we understand God, how we see the truth.
- Do we prioritize miracles and wonders over evidence, facts, and testable truths?
- Do we integrate the entire inspired record or base our beliefs on a little bit here and there?
    - One of the things I have found to be a source of conflict, disagreement with those who hold to the penal model is that often those models are built in limited data, Scripture without science/nature and experience, or a few verses of the inspired record not balanced and harmonized with others. The more pieces of the puzzle you can bring into place the clearer the picture becomes.
- Preconceived ideas or biases which are assumed to be true that obstruct or prevent us from understanding the real truth. For the disciples they believed things like sickness was punishment from God. God governs with might and power and the Messiah is coming to overthrow Rome and establish Himself on David's throne and rule with a rod of iron.
    - Do we have biases about the events leading up to the return of Jesus that could blind us to what is actually happening?
- Others?

Read the fourth paragraph,

- We today can be in danger of doing the same thing: hearing or even reading the Word of God but not listening to it, not abiding in it, and not obeying it. That is, not accepting it as the light that should guide our thoughts and actions. This, unfortunately, is where, perhaps unwittingly, too many Christians are. (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 104, emphasis mine).

You see the portions I highlighted—it struck me quite profoundly, why did the authors not include in this list, "not understanding, not comprehending, not seeking the true meaning, not reasoning?" As God has said, "Come let us reason together though your sins are like scarlet they will be white as snow." (Isaiah 1:18). It is by reasoning out the truth with God that we are cleansed from sin.

Could one of the traps of Satan be to get people to be very religious and even read the Bible but to take it literally, as it reads, without seeking the meaning, the divine truth contained within and thereby deceive people through their reading of the Bible? Or replace the true meaning with false meanings of those words—thus believing because the book said so, not because it is so.

I want to suggest the danger is in reading the Bible without a humble surrendered heart to God that genuinely desires to know the meaning, the divine truth brought by the enlightening of the Holy Spirit.

When we approach the Bible like a code book, with the belief it is God's list of rules for us to obey, we close our minds to the enlightening power of the Holy Spirit and end up legalistic religionists just like the Jews who crucified Christ.

SUNDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Jesus after His resurrection when He meets the disciples on the beach and His conversation with Peter in which Jesus asks Peter three times if Peter loves Him.

What do you understand this conversation is about? Why is it included in Scripture? What are we to learn from this? Does it tell us anything about the character of God? Does it tell us anything about God's methods? Does it tell us anything about our human nature and what we need for salvation?

Let's read this encounter and I want you to think—what is revealed, what is evidenced, what truths are contained in this account, what are we seeing and what are we not seeing?

- When they had finished eating, Jesus said to Simon Peter, "Simon son of John, do you truly love me more than these?"
  "Yes, Lord," he said, "you know that I love you."
  Jesus said, "Feed my lambs."
  Again Jesus said, "Simon son of John, do you truly love me?"
  He answered, "Yes, Lord, you know that I love you."
  Jesus said, "Take care of my sheep."
  The third time he said to him, "Simon son of John, do you love me?"
  Peter was hurt because Jesus asked him the third time, "Do you love me?" He said, "Lord, you know all things; you know that I love you."
  Jesus said, "Feed my sheep. I tell you the truth, when you were younger you dressed yourself and went where you wanted; but when you are old you will stretch out your hands, and someone else will dress you and lead you where you do not want to go." Jesus said this to indicate the kind of death by which Peter would glorify God. Then he said to him, "Follow me!" (John 21:15-19 NIV84).

What do you see, learn, understand from this story?

- Perhaps the most obvious lesson and reason this is included in Scripture is to assure the church, the believers, that Jesus accepts Peter back into fellowship and recommissions him as His representative, ambassador, Apostle. So, one reason this story is here is so that all Christians through history can know that Peter was reconciled to Jesus and his ministry was under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit and his writings are inspired and trustworthy.

- Do we learn anything about the character of God? God is gracious, merciful, forgiving and longs for reconciliation with us even when we sin, when we act selfishly, when we willfully choose what we know is wrong, God is longing to restore us to sonship with Him. As Paul wrote God is for us—always for us.
- Did Peter need this experience? Why?
    - What had his actions done to him?
    - Had his denial of Jesus caused Jesus to love him less?
    - Had Jesus become Peter's enemy?
    - Was there some anger or wrath or legal demand that Jesus had that needed to be ventilated and expiated so that Peter could be reconciled to Jesus?
    - Or was Jesus always on Peter's side, always for Peter?
    - So Peter's sin did not change Jesus. But did it do something to Peter? What?
    - Did it cause him to experience fear, guilt, shame, doubt, worry, dread, apprehension, inadequacy? Could his sin cause him to doubt whether he could be accepted back? Could his sin cause him to consider that Jesus might have a right to be mad at him and expect some punitive action from Jesus?
    - Did Peter need to have his guilt, shame, fears, doubts, and all such consequences of his sin removed from his heart and mind? Do you see this happening in their interaction?
- Was Peter fully restored and reconciled to Jesus? Was Peter saved after his denial and sin?
    - Did you find anything in this encounter of a penal legal nature? Do you find Peter asking Jesus to apply His blood to Peter's record in heaven to pay for the sin that he had committed?
    - Understand what this reveals—it reveals reality, the problem of sin, which is a condition of being, fear and selfishness, which manifested in Peter when he chose to respond to the temptation of fear by acting selfishly and denying Jesus. And fear is only overcome by love, perfect love casts out fear. And Peter's guilt and shame is removed by experiencing the truth of who Jesus is, and surrendering himself in trust and he is reconciled, reborn, no longer trusting in self to stand up and do right, but humbly submitted to Jesus.

Read the bottom question,

- Why is humility so key in anyone seeking to know the Lord? (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 105).

As I was reading the lesson for this week I just happened to read the following in the book The Desire of Ages, consider this in light of the question, it is commenting on Jesus' warning to beware the leaven of the Pharisees:

- The hypocrisy of the Pharisees was the product of self-seeking. The glorification of themselves was the object of their lives. It was this that led them to pervert and misapply the Scriptures, and blinded them to the purpose of Christ's mission. This subtle evil even the disciples of Christ were in danger of cherishing. Those who classed themselves with the followers of Jesus, but who had not left all in order to become His disciples, were influenced in a great degree by the reasoning of the Pharisees. They were often vacillating between faith and unbelief, and they did not discern the treasures of wisdom hidden in Christ. Even the disciples, though outwardly they had left all for Jesus' sake, had not in heart ceased to seek great things for themselves. It was this spirit that prompted the strife as to who should be greatest. It was this that came between them and Christ, making them so little in sympathy with His mission of self-sacrifice, so slow to comprehend the mystery of redemption. As leaven, if left to complete its work, will cause corruption and decay, so does the self-seeking spirit, cherished, work the defilement and ruin of the soul. (The Desire of Ages p. 409, emphasis mine).

Read John 21:20-23:

- Peter turned and saw that the disciple whom Jesus loved was following them. (This was the one who had leaned back against Jesus at the supper and had said, "Lord, who is going to betray you?") When Peter saw him, he asked, "Lord, what about him?"

  Jesus answered, "If I want him to remain alive until I return, what is that to you? You must follow me." Because of this, the rumor spread among the brothers that this disciple would not die. But Jesus did not say that he would not die; he only said, "If I want him to remain alive until I return, what is that to you?" (John 21:20-23 NIV84).

What do you understand is going on here? What is revealed? What are the lessons for us?

Is there an almost irresistible temptation to look at what others are doing, to compare self to others, to investigate the mission, calling, and mission of others?

What is the problem with doing so?

- Can incite jealousy, envy, and competition, division, and strife
- Can divert us from the mission God has called for us
- Takes our focus off of Jesus and we lose sight of where He is leading
- By beholding we are changed, and if we don't remain focused on Jesus and fulfilling His calling for our lives then we interfere with His plan to transform and heal us as well as whatever the mission He has for us

TUESDAY

The lesson focuses our attention on Light and Darkness, what do these terms mean in the context of good and evil, righteousness and sin, salvation and damnation?

Light is a symbol of truth, of being enlightened, of understanding reality, the way things actually are; darkness is a symbol of ignorance, confusion, of falsehood, fantasy, fiction, myth, and fable.

God lives in unapproachable light—this isn't about photons, it is about truth, infinite truth and it is unapproachable by finite beings because we can never assimilate, process, contain, all knowledge, all truth. While we can advance in the truth, grow in the truth, move forward in the truth, we will never approach infinity, there will always be more for us to learn, discover, and advance in.

But Jesus said,

- The eye is the lamp of the body. If your eyes are good, your whole body will be full of light. But if your eyes are bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If then the light within you is darkness, how great is that darkness! (Matthew 6:22, 23).

What does this mean? Is the eye, the lamp, the light? No, it is not the light, it is not the truth, but the medium through which the light or truth shines.

Jesus is telling us that if something is wrong with the faculties that are designed to recognize, understand, process, and receive the truth, then rather than being enlightened, one will not only remain in the dark, but also the previous understanding (light) they had will prevent them from seeing new light.

So how exactly does heavenly light become darkness to people? How does truth that was once believed become lies that prevent one from understanding further truth?

In 5 CE, when Jesus was just a toddler, it was heavenly truth (light) that the Messiah who was promised to Adam and Eve (Genesis 3:15) and who would descend through Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob was soon to be revealed to the world and start His earthly ministry.

But since 33 CE, after Jesus' death, resurrection, and ascension, is it still heavenly light—truth—that the Messiah is going to be born in Israel, that the Messiah is yet to come?

If one rejected the truth that Jesus is the fulfillment of those promises, if one rejects the truth that Jesus is the unfolding and realization of those promises then those very truths become darkness to those who have rejected Jesus.

If someone today rejects Jesus as Messiah and clings to the Old Testament prophecies about a Messiah who they believe is yet to be born in Bethlehem, are they in the light or are they in darkness?

Because the eyes (minds) of those who rejected Jesus were biased, prejudiced, selfish, and preferred the lies to the truth, the light was rejected and did not "enlighten" those who crucified Jesus Likewise today, all who reject advancing truth will find that previous truth has, in fact, become darkness (falsehood) to them. And until they accept the truth that they are currently resisting they will remain in the falsehood of presenting a truth from the past which is not truth for today.

This has happened throughout human history when people discover a truth appropriate for their time in history but do not advance in the unfolding truth.

Can you think of any examples of this?

One example of this in the Adventist Church is how the message of the three angels of Revelation 14 was initially presented as the heavenly light shown down upon Adventist reformers, but as the truth was advancing, many in leadership rejected the advancing light at the 1888 General Conference in Minneapolis and, thus, the truth has become darkness to them.

In our magazine The Final Message of Mercy to the World: The Three Angels, we describe in detail what we understand to be the unfolding truth of these messages. The truth that was rejected by leadership in 1888 was the truth about God's law being design law—the protocols upon which the Creator built reality to operate, and that the Ten Commandment law was not always in existence but was added by God as a gracious therapeutic tool specifically designed for human sinners.

But if one rejects the advancing light, if one understands God's law to be imposed rules, the kind of laws that sinful humans make up, then one not only ends up worshiping a creature instead of the Creator, but they also interpret Scripture, including the three angels, via human legal systems—heavenly courtrooms, legal records, legal judgments, legal payments, inflicted punishments, etc., and thus the light becomes darkness.

However, when we return to worshiping the Creator and understand His laws are design laws, then one reads the three angels as they are supposed to be read—God's final warning to the world of how reality works and what happens to those who reject Him and His design laws for life and the light does its job, it enlightens and ennobles those who accept it

The high points of the 3 angels' messages are:

- The central thread of the messages is about worship.
- The first angel focuses on the eternal good news, which is the good news about God that is true in eternity past as well as eternity future—that God is not like Satan has alleged Him to be. He is the God who creates reality, whose laws are design laws, the protocols life exists and operates upon. We are called back to worship Him as Creator, and we are to stop worshiping a creature in the place of the Creator, and, thereby, give glory to God, for the hour in human history has come for people to make a right judgment about God—the hour of His judgment has come!

- When we recognize the truth about God, we realize the system of imposed law with a punishing god is the fallen system of Babylon, the system of confusion that has resulted in the more than 41,000 different Christian groups arguing over whose doctrines are right, whose creeds are correct, whose fundamental beliefs are accurate. We are called to come out of that worldly way of thinking and functioning and return to worshiping our Creator by living in harmony with His designs for life (i.e., have His living law written upon our hearts and minds—Hebrews 8:10). When we return to design law understanding there is unity rather than division. Human laws cause arguments over such things like should marijuana be legal, for medical uses only or recreational uses? Can people grow their own or should we regulate it and tax it? How much can one produce, should we fine people who sell without a license? But no humans argue over whether we can pass laws to make marijuana healthy or not—it is what it is, it is either healthy or harmful and our laws cannot change the reality of what it is. Design law understanding always brings unity, imposed law always causes division.
- But if we don't return to design law, if we instead reject the light and cling to the imposed-law lies, then, via the law of worship (by beholding we are changed; 2 Corinthians 3:18), we become like the false creature-god we worship and are marked in our characters (foreheads) and works (hands) to be like the beastly god we worship and …
- Via the law of liberty, God sets us free to reap that which we have sown into our hearts, minds, and souls. After long, patient, gracious, merciful interventions by God, when people ultimately reject His truth and love, God gives them freedom and lets them go to reap the results of their own choices (Galatians 6:8). He stops using His power to protect them from what sin does, and this is known as God's wrath (Romans 1:18, 24, 26, 28). When God no longer shields people from the devastation of breaking His design laws, then they reap the suffering that unremedied sin brings.
- And via the law of love and truth, when the wicked stand in God's life-giving glory, the eternal fires of infinite truth and love that flow out from God like a river of flames (Daniel 7:10; Hebrews 12:29), the unsaved come into full awareness of their own selfishness, guilt, shame, and evil and they can no longer hide from the reality of who they have chosen to become and what they have done to others. And the unremoved sin in them causes them to suffer and flee from existence. They choose to die rather than live in God's presence. But the memory of their condition and choices remain forever as lessons for all the righteous.

This is the God of reality restoring all things back into harmony with how He constructed life to exist and operate, back into harmony with Himself and His design laws for life. And this is the message of light to enlighten the world but I becomes a message of darkness when it is presented through human law with a dictator god who is having legal tribunals and uses his power to torture and kill.

WEDNESDAY

The title for the day is Theology from "Above" or From "Below"

What does this suggest to you?

Read the first paragraph,

- This man came to Jesus, the Light of the world, but he had made up his mind to believe only if Jesus healed his child. We could say this man's theology was a "theology from below." Theology from below sets rules and standards for God and His Word. Human ideas, as flawed and as limited and as subjective as they are, become the final authority on how people interpret the Word of God. What a dangerous trap to fall into! (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 108).

Is there anything more human, more corrosive, more destructive to our theology than replacing the truth of God's design law with human imposed law? There are many historical quotations that document how Christianity accepted Roman law in place of God's law. I encourage you to check out our magazine, The Lie That Deceived Angels, Infects Christianity, and Delays the Second Coming of Christ which is filled with references, here are two:

- The great controversy [is] between Christ, the Prince of life, the Author of our salvation, and Satan, the prince of evil, the author of sin, the first transgressor of God's holy law. Satan's enmity against Christ has been manifested against His followers. The same hatred of the principles of God's law, the same policy of deception, by which error is made to appear as truth, by which human laws are substituted for the law of God, and men are led to worship the creature rather than the Creator, may be traced in all the history of the past. Satan's efforts to misrepresent the character of God, to cause men to cherish a false conception of the Creator, and thus to regard Him with fear and hate rather than with love, his endeavors to set aside the divine law, leading the people to think themselves free from its requirements, and his persecution of those who dare to resist his deceptions, have been steadfastly pursued in all ages. They may be traced in the history of patriarchs, prophets, and apostles, of martyrs and reformers (The Great Controversy, x.1.emphasis mine).

- Men and women cannot violate natural law by indulging depraved appetite and lustful passions, and not violate the law of God. Therefore He has permitted the light of health reform to shine upon us, that we may see our sin in violating the laws which He has established in our being. All our enjoyment or suffering may be traced to obedience or transgression of natural law. Our gracious heavenly Father sees the deplorable condition of men who, some knowingly but many ignorantly, are living in violation of the laws that He has established. And in love and pity to the race, He causes the light to shine upon health reform. He publishes His law and the penalty that will follow the transgression of it, that all may learn and be careful to live in harmony with natural law. He proclaims His law so distinctly and makes it so prominent that it is like a city set on a hill. All accountable beings can understand it > if they will. … To make plain natural law, and urge the obedience of it, is the work that accompanies the third angel's message to prepare a people for the coming of the Lord (Testimonies for the Church, vol. 3. p. 161, emphasis mine).

THURSDAY

What have you found in your experience that helps you abide in Christ?

FRIDAY

Question 3 asks,

- "Why is it usually difficult to lay aside self as the arbiter of truth?" (Adult SS Guide 4th Q 2024, Themes in the Gospel of John p. 109).

Do you find this a good question or is it a flawed question?

What did Paul mean when he wrote in Romans 14:5 that every person is to be fully persuaded in their own mind?

Or Hebrews 5:14 that the mature have developed by practice the ability to discern good from evil, truth from falsehood?

What do these texts mean? That we think or don't think, that we reason or don't reason?

The question is flawed because it advances Satan's imposed law lie way of approaching things.

According to dictionary.com an arbiter is:

- a person empowered to decide matters at issue; judge; umpire.
- a person who has the sole or absolute power of judging or determining.

This is how human authority works, a ruling power determining what is true or not true, balls or strikes, guilt or innocence. Because the lie about God's law is accepted, many conclude that it is presumptuous for us to be arbiters of truth, that only God can decide what is true or not. But this is a subtle deception.

Truth is truth and our perspectives, beliefs, understandings never determine what is true or not true—we decide in governance of ourselves what we believe is true or not. We each must decide what we will believe. The truth is reality itself, the way things are, and we absolutely cannot change that. But each of us has the power to decide what we will believe and we are either developing minds that love truth, are advancing in truth, want to comprehend and embrace truth, and thus are developing the ability to differentiate truth from falsehood, or we are not. And in fact truth has no saving power on a person unless they determine for themselves it is truth and choose to believe and apply it. We must be fully persuaded in our own minds of the truth it is the only way we can be won to trust and it is through trust that we are healed, saved, transformed.

One of the ways the devil tricks people into not developing the discernment skills, not maturing, is by such ideas as are imbedded in this question. We are not arbiters of truth, we are not to think, reason, question, we are simply to take God's word as it reads and believe because the Bible said so, or God said so, or Jesus said so, or the prophet said so, or the pastor, priest or teacher said so. But this is not what God wants nor what the Bible teaches.

So, I believe people who write such questions do so in all innocence, without any evil intention, this is an artifact of ignorance, of believing a lie, but they introduce a falsehood and advance false principles. And this is exactly why every person must think for themselves, even the apostle Peter had to be corrected by Paul.
